JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
DES MOINES, IOWA, JANUARY 10, 1955.

Pursuant to law, the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly of Iowa convened at 10:00 a.m., Monday, January 10, 1955.

The House was called to order by the Honorable Gladys S. Nelson, Representative from Jasper County.

Prayer was offered by the Reverend Lloyd Scheerer, chaplain of the Iowa Methodist Hospital, Des Moines, Iowa.

Stevens of Greene asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following prayer be printed in the Journal:

"Almighty God our Heavenly Father, we would "Be still and know that Thou art God," for we are Thy children. We thank Thee for this new day with all the hope and promise of better things to come.

As we pause reverently in these opening moments of a new legislative session, we feel the spiritual presence of those devout leaders who made our new nation strong. We feel that need for divine guidance that was sought by George Washington on his knees at Valley Forge. We feel again the urgency that drove Lincoln to his knees in seeking Thy divine will in his crisis. Because they sought Thee, Thou dids't bless them and make of their leadership a great nation.

All the past is looking down on us today, "Lord, God of Hosts, be with us yet, lest we forget, lest we forget." Lest we forget the high and holy challenge and responsibility that is ours today.

We thank Thee for these new officers of our state, the Governor, representatives and senators, who have been chosen to lead us and to make our laws. We feel that we have seen in them those qualities of character and leadership that can make of our state an exemplary commonwealth. We would pray Thy divine guidance upon each one of them as they chart for us our fortunes. Grant to each one of them the wisdom of a Solomon, the confidence of a Socrates, the courage of a Daniel and the love of their fellow man which alone can bring true greatness.

We thank Thee for the example of our national leader who takes time to pray for Thy guidance. We thank Thee for the campaign of prayer being carried on in our capital city by our united church leaders. We are reminded, "more things are wrought by prayer than this world dreams of." In the spirit of this great heritage we stand very humble, yet eager and expectant as children, for we know that our Heavenly Father will direct our steps aright.

All this we ask in the name of Jesus Christ our Lord, who in all He SAID and all He DID and all He WAS has revealed to us the way of Life Eternal.—Amen.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Ringgenberg of Story presented the name of the Honorable A. C. Hanson of Lyon County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

This legislature has been sent here by the people of this great state to resolve some of the problems with which we, as a people are now confronted. It is not necessary for me to list those problems. They are familiar to you all.

It is obvious that good leadership is important at all times, whether it be on the battle field, in the realm of business, industry, education, religion or government. We should choose men of courage, men of intelligence, men of understanding—and above all, men with a profound sense of justice.

In this Fifty-sixth Assembly, we are fortunate in having men both worthy and capable of a high-type of leadership. It is my purpose today to mention one who has the qualities of leadership. He is a man of experience and integrity.

The gentleman to whom I refer is the State Representative from Lyon County, and it is now my pleasure to place in nomination as Speaker of the House for the Fifty-sixth General Assembly the Honorable Arthur C. Hanson.

Thompson of Guthrie seconded the nomination of Mr. Hanson for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES:

I heartily agree with all of the remarks of the gentleman from Story County.

We will have a rocky and rough road ahead of us for the next 100 days. We will not all agree on the majority of the issues which will confront us. We need a man who is honest, fair, experienced and who has sound judgment.

Those of us who have served here in previous sessions know that the distinguished gentleman from Lyon County has all of these qualifications. It is therefore an honor and a privilege to second the nomination of the Honorable A. C. Hanson from Lyon County as Speaker of the House of Representatives for the Fifty-sixth General Assembly.

Loss of Kossuth seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly for the Honorable A. C. Hanson as Speaker of the House, and preceding his motion with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I can state that I have served with Mr. A. C. Hanson in the Fifty-third and Fifty-fourth General Assemblies. I have served with him on various standing committees and have always found him to be a man of high ideals, a man of integrity, a man of honesty and fairness and a man that, when he entered the doors of the House chambers, forgot party lines.

Motion prevailed.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable A. C. MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

In accepting the responsibility of the office of Speaker of the House of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly I am most appreciative of the honor that comes to me and the county which elected me as a member of this body.

Though I appreciate the honor I accept it in a spirit of humility, and I pray God that I may be worthy and have the ability, good judgment, the tolerance, and understanding to carry forward my responsibility in the way you have a right to expect.

I will be in a position where I sort of call the signals, but let us not forget that there are 108 House members, each of us with individual responsibility on the team working for good government in the State of Iowa.

Under our two party system the majority party, of which I am a member, must lead in the responsibility of organization, but to you of the minority party let me suggest that in our legislature all of us have equal responsibility in the business of law making, and we offer and encourage cooperation.

This session will be one with many problems. Let us all seek Divine guidance as we work toward our objective, which must be to keep Iowa progressive yet continue to build on a foundation of sound finance and due regard for the principles of a true Christian democracy.

President Watson announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Dewel moved that a committee of six, consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify Governor Elthon that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

The committee waited upon Governor Elthon and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Watson then presented Governor Elthon, who delivered the following address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am very fortunate indeed to be permitted to appear before you on this occasion to report to you on the condition of our great state, and to make certain recommendations that I believe should be considered by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly.

You and each of you are greatly honored, by your respective districts, in being sent here to speak and to act for them on the many matters that will confront you in the next one hundred days. You are the voice of your people. To you they have delegated the power to write into law their desires. They have entrusted you with the obligation of guarding their freedom. They expect you to promote the general welfare of this great state.

I congratulate each one of you upon your election, and because you are capable and willing to accept these responsibilities. I have no fear for the future of Iowa and for our republic so long as men of your caliber are willing to sacrifice your time and energies for the welfare of the citizens of Iowa.

Our nation is at peace and we are truly thankful to our God for His Grace and for delivering us from the scourge of war. In return we pledge our every effort to maintain the peace and humbly pray for His guidance toward the end that peace and righteousness shall prevail in Iowa, in the nation, and in the world.

Since you last met here in joint session, Iowa has suffered a tremendous loss in the accidental death of Governor Beardsley. Mrs. Beardsley is slowly recovering from injuries suffered in the same accident. We pray that her recovery will be complete. We extend to her and to the family our sincere sympathy.

In the past two sessions, Iowa has been very productive. Generally it has produced at a very high level. Prices have been good. Business has been above average. Labor has been well employed at good wages. Hardships have been experienced by only a few through unusual circumstances.

Iowa government has been carried on and developed in accordance with the laws and within the limits set out by the Fifty-fifth General Assembly. There have been a few instances where the appropriated funds were not sufficient to carry out the proper functions of government. In these cases the interim committee has come to the aid of the particular department in need and sufficient funds were made available.

Our road building program which was adopted by the Fifty-third General Assembly, and improved in the following sessions, has progressed well. This program is a "pay-as-you-go" program and is generally accepted by the people of Iowa. Under this program the pavements are widened, the curbs are removed, and curves are lengthened, and many miles of new pavement are constructed. Our secondary road program is progressing satisfactorily although there are certain parts of the state that because of rough terrain conditions need additional assistance. Any of these improvements can be accelerated, of course, if the citizens of Iowa wish to furnish more funds for this purpose. Building roads is a continuing program and will never be completed. We will always want better roads. We shall continue to build the best and the most roads possible with the funds made available for that purpose.

The matter of a toll road should be considered seriously but should in no way interfere with our present road program.

There has been a marked improvement in the operation of our institutions under the board of control. A larger proportion of those treated in the state hospitals are returned to normal, useful lives. These encouraging results have come about: first, because the legislature has supplied increased appropriations needed for improvements in housing, equipment and care; second, because more and better doctors, more nurses and attendants have been provided; third, because a united effort has been made through a definite program of rehabilitation. The board of control, together with the legislature, should be commended. However, there is much yet to do.

Conservation of Iowa's natural resources is very important to the welfare of the state. Great strides have been taken in preserving Iowa's soil and water resources. In parts of the state where soil erosion was neglected too long steps have been taken to prevent the further washing away of the top soil. This development must be continued. The work of soil conservation districts should be encouraged. We are fortunate in Iowa in having all of our state in a soil district. Water resources must be conserved and protected against pollution and depletion.

Our state parks and beauty spots should be preserved and maintained for the recreation and pleasure of the citizens of Iowa as well as those who visit us from without the state.

Our native birds and animals that seem to have difficulty surviving the changing conditions will have to be further protected. Iowa should never again lose its deer population.

In looking to the future of Iowa we cannot overlook the fact that Iowa is primarily agricultural. The Creator endowed Iowa with the most of the best land compared with any similar area. Because of this resource and because of the type of people who dwell in Iowa, agriculture has been developed to the highest level of any spot in the world; and we shall maintain that position ever mindful of any improvement that might be made.

Our industries should be further developed because we are situated at the crossroads of the nation where plant sites are cheap, where adequate power is available, supplies of raw materials are close at hand, and there is a constant supply of good reliable labor. I think we should keep in mind that Iowa is agricultural and any advancement of industry that would be detrimental to agriculture would be adverse to the best interest of the State of Iowa. Let's not forget that agriculture is basic in our state.

Iowa labor should have every right and privilege compatible with the general welfare of the state. Unemployment insurance and workmen's compensation should be increased and adjusted to meet present day living conditions.

We have good schools in Iowa, and our people are literate. We rank first among the forty-eight states because we have the least illiteracy of any state in the Union. This seems to contradict the general opinion expressed by many educators in the state.

Our state schools of higher learning are each outstanding in its field and the people of the state can well be proud of them. The State Board of Education should be commended for its leadership and for its continued efforts to improve and advance the standing of these institutions.

The private colleges have done a wonderful job in their field and have certainly taken a large financial load off the state in maintaining schools of high type where many of the young people of the state have been educated at no expense to the State of Iowa.

Digitized by Google

The elementary schools and the secondary schools of Iowa are numerous and every child in the state is provided schooling at public expense.

It would seem that nothing could be wrong with such a fine system. However, I am convinced that there is much room for improvement.

In the rural areas of our state many of these school units are so small that the expense per pupil is entirely too high. This certainly can be corrected through a continuation of effort toward reorganization. The problems of reorganization are difficult and should be considered in this session. I recommend that some financial encouragement be given to those schools that comply with and meet the standards set up by the legislature. These standards should be reasonable and local conditions should be considered.

There should be the best of relations and a feeling of mutual trust and understanding between the legislature and the board of education for I am sure that we all have the same ideals and the same desire to make our schools the best that we can afford for we realize that the education of our youth and the training of our children, the developing of our young people into the best and the most capable men and women of tomorrow is without doubt our greatest and first ambition.

We point with pride to the outstanding educators we have in Iowa. Our colleges are well staffed with capable men and women. The funds must be provided to keep them and to add from time to time others of outstanding ability.

We must face the fact that there is need for larger facilities to make room for the enormous crop of youngsters who will soon be knocking at the door of our secondary schools and a little later at the doors of our colleges.

Seemingly every effort has been made to promote safety in Iowa. Safety at home, on the farm, in the factory, and on the highways. These efforts have not been sufficient. The deaths on our highways are tragedies. There is one bright spot, however, the driver training classes conducted in our high schools are showing results in better and safer drivers among those who have had the benefit of this training. These classes should be conducted in every school in Iowa. Our State Safety Department is making a sincere attempt to better the situation, but we have been unable to stem the tide. Some of the contributing factors are too much speed, too much liquor, recklessness, and the lack of attention to the job while driving. This session should consider this problem and attempt the solution. One of my friends from Worth County sends me this slogan, "Drive to stay alive in '55". It will take the cooperation of the legislature, the Safety Department, press, radio, and television agencies, and the public to lick this problem, but lick it we must.

I would like to devote the remainder of my message to what I feel is the most important problem facing this legislature, and that is the matter of state finance. In recent years we haven't had to worry too much about the financial condition of our state—we had a reserve and our revenue collections were sufficient to meet the cost of services and expenditures deemed necessary by the recent legislatures.

During the last biennium, however, our expenditures exceeded revenue by some 18 million dollars. This is a serious situation and we must face it.

When I first came into the legislature twenty-two years ago our state was in a similar situation. The members of the Forty-fifth General Assembly were faced with a deficit of nearly twenty million dollars. At that time our state expenditures amounted to some 62 million dollars annually. Economic conditions at that time may have justified deficit spending—agricultural commodities were at a very low price level.

It is difficult for me to justify deficit spending during these current good times when our state income is at an all time high.

The members of the Forty-fifth General Assembly faced the financial problem of the state by adopting a broader tax base in a special session, and enacted the three point tax program which forms the basis of our state financial support today.

Incidentally, the rates established in the Forty-fifth General Assembly have been little changed. Over-all increased revenue over the years has come from the increase in income and from economic activities of the citizens of Iowa.

While I can understand the need and desirability of deficit spending at the national level, under certain conditions, this is not applicable to our state government. We have no choice but to live within our income.

On the national level we have seen a trend towards greater dependency on government. Many people and organizations look to the federal government for the solution to many of their problems. Are we having the same tendency in Iowa to look to our state government for assistance when the individual might well take care of himself and be better off in the long run. Incidentally, it is interesting to note that over fifty per cent of the general fund expenditures are various aids to the counties, cities, school districts and to individuals. This, of course, does not include road funds. In other words, the state is collecting large sums of money which is returned to the individual taxpayers through various forms of aids. We generally accept that some programs are and should be the responsibility of the state, but have we increased the state responsibility beyond the reasonable point? I raise this point because it is the responsibility of the legislature to adjust these policies in line with the common good.

Now as to the current situation. During the current biennium total appropriations amounted to 244 million dollars while total income during the same period is estimated at 226 million dollars. This means that we are deficit spending at the rate of nine million dollars per year. At this rate our "rainy-day fund" established six years ago will be exhausted with this coming biennium. That, gentlemen, is the situation on this—the opening day of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly.

Certainly there are broad general policies on which we agree and they will guide our thinking during the next one hundred days. First, we must strive for greater efficiency in our state government. Second, we must strive to eliminate over-lapping and duplication in our state government. We must plug all leaks in tax collection. With the need for money as great as it will be for the next few years, tax collecting agencies must administer their responsibilities and get maximum return, and any loopholes in the state tax law should be corrected by this legislature.

Now it seems to me that the legislature faces three choices. First, we can decide to live within our present income. This would mean an actual reduction in state expenditures and it would, of course, mean a reduction in the services of the state. Is this a practical route to follow at this time? Our second choice then is to collect sufficient revenue to meet current expenditures. This would involve no expansion in state services but rather a hold-the-line policy for the biennium. Our third choice then would be to collect more revenue and expand the services of the state in the public interest. Certain appropriations are meritorious. In the educational field, for example, our state institutions of higher learning need additional financial support to meet the increase in enrollment that they will be facing in the next few years. If we are to provide reasonable educational opportunity to all children in the state, increases in state aid for equalization purposes are desirable. And, in my opinion, the appropriations for the Agricultural Land Tax Credit law should be increased in order that all claims may be paid in full.

Now, if the legislature in its wisdom decides to increase state expenditures, they then face the real problem—where is the money coming from? Let's discuss these income sources for a moment—property taxes are a stable source of revenue. This tax base fluctuates little from year to year and property tax is an acceptable method of raising revenue. This tax, however, in Iowa is the sole support of the many county, city and local governmental functions. Property taxes of this last year amounted to over 240 million dollars in Iowa. This represents a forty per cent increase since 1950, and this was practically all local taxes. In addition, ownership of property is no longer an accurate method of determining a person's ability to pay taxes. In my opinion, the property tax is an inequitable method of raising additional revenue. Incidentally, if the legislature does not provide needed revenue from other sources, we will by operation of law have a state property tax whether we like it or not.

So, what do we have left as a source of state revenue—we have the three point tax program which has been in effect for over twenty years. As I mentioned before, over this period there has been relatively little change in the rates of these taxes. The income tax is a fair method of raising revenue because it is based on ability to pay. However, in my opinion, there is one major drawback to an increase in individual income tax, and that is the fact that this field has been preempted by the federal government. Our federal income tax rates are high and any increase in individual state income taxes would be burdensome to say the least.

The corporation income tax amounts to a little over two million dollars annually. A major increase in the tax rate would be necessary in order to bring in any significant increases in state revenue.

This leaves the matter of sales tax and use tax, which have been the backbone of our state financial structure. Last year collections from these taxes amounted to approximately 63 million dollars. This tax has a broad base. Everyone who makes purchases in Iowa makes a contribution to the support of the state government. It is an accepted tax and one which raises a considerable sum of money. This, it seems to me, is a possibility for increasing state revenue. An additional one cent sales tax, for example, will raise about 25 million dollars annually.

Now, there are other sources of revenue which the legislature could consider. Recently the congress reduced the federal luxury tax from twenty to ten per cent. A ten per cent state luxury tax would raise about two and one-half million dollars per year. There is also a possibility of expanding the sales tax to services—which are not presently included. The sales tax could also be made to apply to purchases of beer and cigarettes. In addition, consideration could be given to the elimination of certain exemptions of the present sales tax law which could produce substantial additional revenue.

Thus, this matter of state revenue, in my opinion, is a most serious problem. To borrow a phrase from my good friend, Gus Kuester, "We have reached the bottom of the barrel." Deficit spending cannot be continued. Within the coming biennium we will exhaust our reserve or surplus. We will be derelict in our duties if we do not solve this problem during this session.

There are a number of other problems that will come to your attention during the next one hundred days. There are many decisions that you will be called upon to make. These decisions should not be influenced by selfish motives, nor should they be based upon purely local conditions. We should always keep the welfare of the people of the whole state in mind, and let us remember that under our republic and in the Great State of Iowa that every citizen has every right and freedom guaranteed under our constitution and under our laws.

Let us remember that God is, and that He rewards good and evil, and that He is no respecter of persons. Let us, therefore, submit our lives and our thoughts to His will. Our nation was founded by men who were not too proud to bend a knee in prayer, who were willing to accept divine guidance, and who daily gave thanks for the blessings showered upon them. Let us follow their example in faith and obedience. Let us take advantage of every advancement in knowledge. Let us bend every effort to make a better, a richer, and a greater state. A state in which justice prevails for all, whether he be rich or poor, great or small.

Governor Elthon was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The invocation was delivered by the Reverend Walter A. Samp, D.D., pastor of the Methodist Church, Adel, as follows:

O Eternal God, who art infinite in wisdom and power and merciful and compassionate toward the children of men, we thank Thee for our great and good heritage; for a Christian civilization which has its roots in freedom's soil, for broad fields and fertile plains, for the wealth of the soil and the treasures beneath the soil. We thank Thee especially for the wealth of ideals in the hearts of our people.

We come today to ask Thy special blessing upon Thy servant whom the people of this state have elevated to the chief office in our state government. Grant unto him, we beseech Thee, physical vigor, strength of mind and heart, and above all, the wisdom to direct and order the affairs of state so that under his governance we may be blessed with honorable industry, sound learning and pure religion. Defend our liberties, preserve our unity. Save us from violence, discord and confusion, from pride and arrogancy, and from every evil way. Fashion into one happy people the multitudes brought hither out of many kindreds and tongues.

Endue with the spirit of wisdom all those whom we intrust in Thy name with the authority of governance, to the end that there may be peace at home, and that we may keep a place among the nations of the earth.

For the accomplishing of these ends, we here and now rededicate ourselves and humbly ask Thy divine guidance for those who lead and direct us. Amen.

The oath of office was administered to Lieutenant Governor-elect Leo Elthon by the Honorable Charles F. Wennerstrum, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Lieutenant Governor Elthon, President of the Senate, presiding, presented Governor Hoegh, who delivered the following inaugural address:

GOVERNOR ELTHON, MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MR. CHIEF JUSTICE, SENATORS, REPRESENTATIVES, STATE OFFICIALS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

You, the members of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, and I, as your Governor, are dedicated to serve the people of Iowa. Together, we accept the responsibilities and trust placed in us by the people of our great state. With the help and guidance of Almighty God, I pray we will have the wisdom and understanding which will prove equal to their faith in us.

To be your Governor is an honor—and a challenge—and a public trust. In all humility I accept the responsibilities of this great office.

I have served with many of you in this beautiful chamber. As a former legislator I learned to respect and appreciate the pre-eminent place of the legislature in our republican form of government. You are here to interpret the people's will and to enact into laws that which is good for all Iowa. I consider it an honor and a privilege to counsel, cooperate and work with you to this end. The formulation and passage of legislation is the sacred province of the elected representatives of the people. It is my duty to suggest—not to direct.

Iowa is a great state. We have the finest people, the most fertile and productive land, excellent communities, schools and churches, many of the world's largest industries, and above all, clean and honest government. We are indebted to those who provided for us that which is right.

Under the able guidance of the late beloved Governor Beardsley our state administration has efficiently and courageously handled the administrative, fiscal and law enforcement problems. Governor Beardsley was one of our great governors. We are indebted to him for his tireless efforts and leadership for the betterment of Iowa. His untimely death was a tragic loss to Iowa. To Mrs. Beardsley and her family we extend our prayers and hope for their future comfort. We are grateful to Governor Elthon for successfully executing the tasks that were so suddenly his responsibility. In behalf of the people of Iowa, we extend thanks to him for a difficult duty, well performed.

Digitized by Google

We have the responsibility of carrying on—to face the future with the confidence of our forebears, in building an even greater Iowa.

Twelve years ago, dressed in khaki, I last stood in this chamber. We were then at war. How grateful I am to be here today, in time of peace. Our great President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, contributed mightily to gaining the peace. His life today is dedicated to the preservation of this peace, and to the maintenance of a prosperous and free America. His leadership serves as an inspiration for all.

EDUCATION

The destiny of Iowa and our country will soon be in the hands of our children of today. Well educated children are not only Iowa's greatest assets, but they are the bulwark of a free America. We should therefore consider a problem for bettering their education as our number one objective. To meet this challenge I suggest:

1. State aid for schools on the basis of twenty-five per cent, with the specific understanding that schools must remain under local control, and with more emphasis on wise expenditures and efficiency of administration.
2. A teacher education and certification program to assure every classroom of a well trained and highly qualified teacher.
3. A school district reorganization program controlled at the local level, to provide adequate facilities and able instruction in all school units and to effect economies in maintenance and operation. Your attention is called to the recommendations of the state board of public instruction in the matter of amending the school district reorganization law.
4. Appropriations for Iowa's higher educational institutions sufficient to maintain leadership in education and research.

We must plan now to take care of our increased enrollment in all levels of education. While it may require some additional classrooms, we must first be certain that we make full use of our present facilities. In some respects, industry has set a good example for us to study.

I take this opportunity to pay tribute to the teachers in our schools and colleges, whose sacrifices and devotion have contributed so much to free government.

HIGHWAYS

Iowa, as an agricultural and industrial state, requires a balanced highway program. In devising our program we always consider the need for good arterial roads, farm to market roads, and local secondary roads.

Iowa has one of the largest and best secondary road networks in the nation—92,778 miles—a vast primary system of 8,600 miles, city and town streets of 10,200 miles, all needed to serve our great state.

Uppermost in the minds of all of us is highway safety. If we want safer roads—and there is ample evidence that wide roads with good sight distance are safer roads—it will be necessary to undertake a highway widening program of great magnitude. Death curves and death bridges must be eliminated. Improved sight distance is needed in many places. Iowa cannot afford inferior highways that invite death.

Digitized by Google

The legislature in 1949 wisely adopted a long range pay as you go highway program. Since then, our unprecedented traffic increase, the need for more adequate standards of construction, the upward spiral of road costs, the rising demand for safer and more serviceable highways, have placed this program behind schedule.

We have the responsibility to provide the improved roads the motorists of Iowa deserve. Iowa doesn't need elaborate roads, but it does need adequate roads.

To acclerate our road program, additional funds will be necessary. It should be carried out on a pay as you go basis. I urge a one-cent increase in the present gas tax rate and that the one-cent tax enacted by the Fifty-fifth General Assembly be made permanent. Let me assure you that the money which you authorize for this essential road program will be wisely spent.

Many miles of toll roads are being built in other states. Illinois to the east and Nebraska to the west have already established toll road authorities. Illinois initiates its toll road construction program this year. I suggest that you give immediate consideration to such a program so that Iowa may join its sister states in binding the East to the West. Such a program should be self liquidating and be financed solely through tolls paid by the actual users.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

The people of Iowa look to us for an effective traffic safety program. We must take immediate action to reduce the murder on our highways. I suggest the following:

1. Modernize our roads.
2. Establish fixed speed limits.
3. Strictly enforce our safety regulations.
4. Constantly stress safety education.
5. Encourage more instruction and training to improve our driving.
6. Increase the number of patrolmen on our highways, to be financed by an increase in driver and chauffeur licenses.
7. Strengthen our laws on vehicle inspection and on issuance and revocation of driver's license.
8. Emphasize the need for individual driver responsibility.

AGRICULTURE

Iowa is a great farm state. Yes, the record is conclusive—Iowa is the number one farm state. With the skill and technical ability of our farmers and with our rich soil, Iowa leads the nation in farm income. We produce seventeen per cent of the corn, fifteen per cent of the oats, nineteen per cent of the hogs and market ten per cent of the beef of the United States. Iowa is truly the breadbasket of America. We fully recognize that not only Iowa's prosperity, but that of our nation, is dependent upon a sound, stable and prosperous agriculture. The God-given new wealth produced each year from our soil is the very life blood of our economy.

Digitized by Google

Iowa is dependent upon its soil. We must therefore continue to encourage proper care of our greatest resource. Through expanded educational programs we can make great strides in the adoption of sound methods and techniques.

Through an expanded state water shed program, in conjunction with the federal government, we can attack the problems of upstream soil and water conservation and flood prevention.

Through tax credit for conservation expenditures similar to that enacted by the last federal congress, we can give further encouragement to the preservation of our resources.

We should examine our standards of quality and processing of our agricultural products to assure that Iowa's products receive their fair share on the markets. For example, it's apparent that a uniform egg grading law for retail purposes is needed in Iowa. Iowa eggs are the best and will command a premium at the market when properly identified by a uniform grading program. Giving the consumer quality eggs is good business and will benefit the producer by an increased price with no burden to the consumer. Another example—Iowa is one of the few states that does not have a marketing division in its Department of Agriculture to study marketing, transportation and consumption of farm products. Such a division would likewise benefit our farm economy.

We must assure the free flow of agricultural products into and out of Iowa, and place only such restrictions on these movements as are necessary to control disease and protect the health of our citizens.

A few years ago the legislature wisely established the agricultural land tax credit law in order to equalize property taxes for education. It is to the best interest of all Iowa that our property taxes be equitable to agriculture. To this end and in the interest of providing a financial incentive to school reorganization we should increase the appropriation for such a fund in order that all claims may be paid in full.

Right this minute the farmer's problem is not on the farm, but in the channels of trade after his products leave the farm. We must therefore expand research in marketing, production, distribution and industrial use of our farm products.

INDUSTRY

As you know, in the last decade the rural population of Iowa has decreased because of more efficient methods in production. Each year 6,000 young Iowans graduate from our colleges and 24,000 from our high schools. It is therefore imperative for the future growth of Iowa that additional job opportunities are created.

In 1945 you wisely created the Iowa Development Commission to promote our state. Since then Iowa has attracted over 860 new industries, which brought us one-half billion dollars in capital investment, 35,000 jobs with an annual payroll in excess of 120 million dollars, resulting in a 225 million dollar increase in purchasing power each year.

However, we have only scratched the surface. Now that industry is decentralizing, and is moving into the great midwest preparatory to using the facilities of the St. Lawrence Seaway, Iowa must leave nothing undone to attract industry within its borders. With what we have to offer Iowa can double its new industries within the next four years. I therefore urge that the activities of the Iowa Development Commission be immediately expanded.

Let me assure you that as your Governor I will render tireless service in the development and growth of our state. All of us should join in the selling of Iowa. With our skilled technicians, our good people, our abundance of natural resources and utility and power facilities, and our fine communities, Iowa is the most attractive state in the nation.

Iowa is America's bread basket, but Iowa can also be America's work shop.

LABOR

Industrial development in Iowa is increasing and we anticipate further expansion in the immediate future. The advancement of the health, safety and welfare of the working men and women in Iowa is therefore essential.

Economic conditions, such as an increase in wages and cost of living, require us to reexamine our present laws, in order that this important segment of our economic life is assured of progress. I therefore make the following recommendations:

1. That the unemployment compensation benefits be extended to twenty-six weeks of unemployment, and that the maximum weekly payments be substantially increased. The present "voluntary quit" law should be amended, so that an employee does not lose all his past wage credits because he quits one job.

2. That the schedule of workmen's compensation benefits be readjusted and increased. Compensation to the injured, and to the survivors of those who lose their lives in the course of employment, should be commensurate with today's wages and cost of living.

3. That the bureau of labor be made effective to better serve Iowa, and that our safety, sanitary and child labor laws be strengthened.

4. That the distinction between the requirements for authorization of check-off of union dues and deductions for other purposes be removed.

5. That the principle of free collective bargaining be maintained, by permitting management and labor to agree upon a union shop if they so desire.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Honesty and integrity in government—those are old words and old phrases. They mean nothing unless they are implemented with action.

We, who have been associated with the state government of Iowa, are proud of the honesty and integrity with which state affairs have been conducted. We are proud of the fact that unswerving law enforcement has been part of the state government's policy.

Strict and impartial enforcement of all the laws enacted by the legislature will be the cornerstone of this administration.

WELFARE

One of the most heart rending problems is the proper care and treatment of the mentally ill, the dependent and crippled children, the handicapped, the aged, blind and deaf, and those in need of medical and financial assistance. During the past few years, great progress has been made in this service. However, constant improvement must be our goal.

Recently the United States Congress increased social security payments to many of our citizens. Recipients of old age assistance were denied this increase because of certain technicalities. This should be corrected.

GOVERNMENT

In Iowa, we firmly believe that government closest to the people makes the best government. I am certain you feel as strongly as I do that local control of local matters is vital. I recommend your continuing effort in strengthening and making more efficient our local government.

For equitable representation the voice of all the people must be heard in our legislative chambers. One of the basic concepts of our republic is that of representation on both an area and a population basis as exemplified in the United States Congress. I, therefore, recommend an amendment to the constitution reapportioning the Senate on a population basis and the House on an area basis.

The terms of our state and county elective officials are too short. A four-year term would mean more efficiency and better government.

Iowa's young people of today are the best informed and most intelligent in our history. I think enough of today's young people to recommend that the minimum voting age in this state be lowered to eighteen years. I'm certain if they are given this important responsibility that they will respond. About half of our present voters did not go to the polls on November 2. If the eighteen-year-olds had the power of voting, it could well be that a greater portion of those twenty-one and over would be stimulated to vote in future elections.

After my short service in state government I have reached the conclusion that more adequate pay for the elected and other key governmental officials will make for better government. Our elected state officials should receive $10,000; our supreme court justices $15,000; our district court judges $10,000 and the other positions proportionately thereto. Your own compensation is too low, as is that of the Lieutenant Governor and the Speaker of the House. I'm not urging a spending spree—instead I'm urging you to make it possible for our good citizens to serve in public office without undue sacrifice.

For example—only six states pay the judges of their highest court less, and only eight states pay their district court judges less than does Iowa. In order that our legal talent may accept judgeships without financial sacrifice, the judiciary should be paid salaries that are adequate.

Your attorney general, with the assistance of your interim committee and the county attorneys and clerks, made a detailed survey of the work load in Iowa's judicial districts. Some valuable statistics were compiled. They show that there is a need for a more exacting and continuous type of survey.

The objective of our judicial system is to accomplish justice, with promptness and with minimum cost to the public and the suitors. To obtain effective administration of our judicial system there must be some continuing organization to gather statistics, make studies and fact finding surveys of all our courts. Many states and the federal government have such a system, resulting in making the courts more efficient and lowering the costs. I, therefore, recommend that you establish a statistician in the judicial department under the supervision of the supreme court to gather and analyze such facts. Only in this manner can we obtain the correct answers to the questions:

Are there too many different courts?

Are there too many or too few judges?

Is there need for redistricting of our courts?

Is there need for an integrated court structure?

The cost of this service should be borne by those who use the courts, through a $1 increase of district court filing fees. This would provide about $20,000 annually, which is sufficient to finance this vital project.

Every two years you face the tremendous task of keeping our laws up to date and enacting new legislation for the betterment of Iowa. Many times difficult decisions must be made by you without enough facts at hand. I therefore recommend that you establish a legislative research council to perform this important role.

VETERANS

The men and women of Iowa who served in our armed forces during the Korean War should be given the same bonus and tax exemptions as provided for the veterans of other wars. As veterans they have rendered a special service to our state and nation.

TAXATION

Property taxes are now at the saturation point. The State of Iowa years ago showed good judgment by abandoning the property tax as a source of state revenue. The state is using income, sales and other taxes to support its functions and to relieve the burden on the local property taxpayer.

There are many inequities in our present tax structure. Our people recognize that governmental services cost money, and they expect us as their servants to make certain that taxes are levied fairly and justly, commensurate with ability to pay. For these reasons, I urge that you select a special committee to make a thorough examination and study of our whole tax structure. This survey should include assessment of all classes of property and all phases of taxation.

The people of Iowa desire that their state be a leader. I'm confident they are willing to invest their fair share to build a greater Iowa. Increases in taxes are not popular, but we must have the courage to provide the revenue needed for the essential services of the state.

Digitized by Google

First, we must exhaust every possible means of getting more for our present tax dollar. Let me assure you that we in the executive and administrative branch of government will diligently work toward the end of giving the people of Iowa full value for their tax dollar. We will constantly work for more efficient and economical administration of state functions and services.

To eliminate duplication and to establish efficiency and economy in administration I suggest the following consolidations:

1. Place all fire inspection responsibilities under the state fire marshal, as recommended by your budget and financial control committee.

2. Place enforcement of the laws pertaining to commercial vehicle weights (now under the highway commission), gas tax (now under the state treasurer), motor carrier tax and supervision (now under the commerce commission), under one department.

3. Place the parole functions of the board of control over state charges at Eldora and Mitchellville under the board of parole.

4. Examine all of our inspection functions with the view of consolidating those which are feasible.

5. Place all legal advisors to state departments such as now exists in the insurance department, commerce commission, the board of public instruction, and the employment security commission under the supervision of the attorney general.

Secondly, we should improve collection of income, sales and use taxes now imposed by law by more vigorous action.

Third, require that claims for soldier's exemption of property from taxation be filed annually.

Fourth, tighten the homestead credit law as recommended by the state tax commission.

Fifth, adopt the changes in the sales and use tax laws recommended by the state tax commission.

Sixth, tax capital gains similar to the federal law.

BUDGET

It is our responsibility to see that our state government operates on a well managed fiscal basis. There must be no deficit spending.

The difficult budget problem is under intensive study. It is my expectation to present for your consideration by the first week in February a detailed outline of the financial and taxation needs of our state.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, I thank you for this opportunity to make suggestions for our future needs. Note that they are only suggestions. I have full confidence in your judgment. It will be a pleasure and a rich experience to work with you. Your counsel and cooperation will be most welcome at all times. One factor is beyond dispute: Your actions will be guided by what is good for all Iowa. And now, may God lead us in the accomplishment of this objective.

"Whereas, democracy is being attacked in one of its most prominent bastions in America, the Republic of Costa Rica;

Whereas, the purpose of state aid to schools is to equalize educational opportunities and to equalize the tax load for heavily burdened property taxpayers, and

Whereas, state collected taxes are distributed in various ways toward direct and indirect relief of property taxes; the indirect relief being distributed by way of agricultural land tax credits, homestead tax credit and soldiers exemption tax credits, and

Whereas, approximately 48 per cent of all property taxes are spent for general school purposes and

Whereas, there has been a good deal of misinterpretation and misrepresentation of facts regarding state school aid, and

Whereas, the people of Iowa are entitled to have a clear presentation of facts regarding the use of their tax dollars, and

Whereas, these indirect aids serve the purpose of lightening the property tax burden for those property taxpayers who benefit from said indirect aids,

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title agreed to.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I voted against House File 8 because I felt that there was not full and free debate and also because of the fact that the cost of collection would in most cases equal or exceed the amount which could be collected under the bill.

W. ELLIS WELLS.

I voted against House File 8 because:

1. It is unworkable. The sponsors of this bill failed to take the following into consideration: The cost of execution, which must be borne by the debtor, will in most cases exceed the amount which can be collected under the 10 per cent limit.

2. I agree with the late Governor Wm. S. Beardsley in his veto message to the Fifty-fifth General Assembly, April 15, 1953, Quote, "The purpose of the debtor's law, as it applies to the married man, is to protect the home and the family against the financial vicissitudes of life. The law was created for that purpose, recognizing the responsibility of the state in protecting the home."

C. Young, Fay Wright and Hallie Vanderventer, assigns of Dempsey Stanley, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up for consideration.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHIEF CLERK

The Chief Clerk announced the receipt of the following communication from the Supreme Court of Iowa:

TO THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

In accordance with sections 684.18 and 684.19, Code of Iowa, 1954, the Supreme Court of Iowa has prescribed and herewith reports to you rules of practice and procedure in the nature of amendments to the following designated Rules of Civil Procedure heretofore prescribed. These amendments were recommended by the court's advisory committee on Rules of Civil Procedure:

RULE 102. WHAT ADMITTED

Rule 102 is revised to read:

Every fact pleaded and not denied in a subsequent pleading as permitted by these rules shall be deemed admitted except (1) allegations of value or amount of damage, (2) allegations of a reply, and (3) facts not previously pleaded that are set forth in pleadings filed subsequent to the seventh day preceding the trial, all of which shall be deemed denied by operation of law.

(Explanation: This changes present Rule 102 by providing that facts set forth in pleadings filed subsequent to the seventh day preceding the trial, as well as allegations of value, amount of damage and a reply, are deemed denied by operation of law.)

RULE 185. CONSOLIDATION

Rule 185 is amended to read:

Unless some party shows he will be prejudiced thereby the court may consolidate separate actions which involve common questions of law or fact or order a single trial of any or all issues therein. In such cases it may make such orders concerning the proceedings as tend to avoid unnecessary cost or delay.

(Explanation: This changes present Rule 185 by substituting "shows," fourth word in new Rule 185, for "objects, stating that." Under the literal wording of the present rule a mere statement that a party will be prejudiced thereby prevents a consolidation of actions or single trial of issues. The new rule requires a showing, rather than a mere statement, of prejudice.)

RULE 294. ATTORNEY FEES

Rule 294 is amended by substituting for subsection 4 thereof the following:

Digitized by Google

4. On all sums in excess of one thousand dollars, two per cent. Provided further that in contested partition cases, plaintiff's attorney shall receive such additional reasonable compensation as the court may allow, to be taxed as part of the costs.

(Explanation: This changes present Rule 294 by allowing as a fee in favor of plaintiff's attorney in partition cases involving real estate an amount not exceeding two per cent, rather than one per cent, on all sums in excess of one thousand dollars on the sale price of the real estate. The amendment also permits the allowance of additional reasonable compensation for plaintiff's attorney in contested real estate partition cases.)

CERTIFICATE

I, Charles F. Wennerstrum, do hereby certify that I am the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa; that the foregoing amendments and revisions to the Rules of Civil Procedure were adopted and approved by the Supreme Court of Iowa and are herewith reported to the Fifty-sixth General Assembly on January 27, 1955, pursuant to Code Section 684.18 and 684.19 of the 1954 Code of Iowa by delivering same to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives on said date.

House be appointed to notify Governor Hoegh that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senator Watson of O'Brien and Senator Lucas of Boone, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Pim of Lucas and Falvey of Monroe on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Hoegh and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Watson then presented Governor Hoegh, who delivered the following budget address:

GOVERNOR ELTHON, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS, REPRESENTATIVES, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

Your state budget is a dollars and cents declaration of policy. It is the financial interpretation of the demands made by our Iowa citizens for services, balanced by their ability and willingness to pay.

In preparing the state budget recommendations, we were guided by the following principles:

1. Efficiency and economy be given full application so that the people will receive full value for their tax dollar.
2. Provide for the essential services, and at the same time maintain the financial strength of our state.
3. Develop a greater Iowa.
4. No property taxes for state government.
5. No deficit spending.

EDUCATION

The future prosperity of Iowa, to a great extent, depends upon our investment in education today. As education is improved, income of of our people increases.

The number of students in our schools and state supported colleges and university is expanding at an unprecedented pace. This expansion, plus the needs for better education, results in a greater financial demand upon our people. Unless the state responds with its indirect taxes, this need will have to be met by local communities and property taxes. We are fully aware that property taxes are already at a saturation point in many communities. For this reason, I advocate that we substantially increase our state aid for education, and that we meet today the needs for improving our educational institutions.

For state aid to schools, the amount recommended is $40,196,500 for each year (which includes agricultural land tax credit), or an increase of $16,249,000 annually (67 per cent). The recommendations increase:

Aid to handicapped children by $149,999
School transportation aid by 1 million dollars
School supplemental aid by 1 million dollars
General school aid by 2½ million dollars
Vocational education by 100 thousand dollars
Agricultural land tax credit by 5½ million dollars, and provide for equalization purposes 6 million dollars, with more emphasis on wise expenditures and efficiency of administration. When more progress is made in school reorganization additional revenue should be provided for this purpose.

For the Board of Education institutions, I have recommended an increase in the gross budget from $30,755,957 to $34,151,917.87 (11.04 per cent). Of this amount, our two colleges and university will be increased from $22,758,686 to $24,961,624. The gross budget includes estimated receipts, reflecting the increase in tuition rates. In addition, another $3,767,500 has been budgeted annually for capital improvements at the various institutions.

The gross increase for education each year for the coming biennium totals $20,842,791.87 of which $18,975,742 is provided by appropriation and $1,867,049.87 is provided by increased receipts. The Board of Education and the Board of Public Instruction have ably set forth the requirements of our schools. Their askings were in line with our educational needs, but I did not find it possible to grant all of them and keep the budget in balance.

BOARD OF CONTROL INSTITUTIONS

Iowa has made impressive progress in the treatment of its mentally ill, and in the operation of its correctional institutions. We have the responsibility of providing the needed trained personnel and adequate facilities for the proper care and treatment of the mentally ill, and keep our correctional institutions up to acceptable standards. To this end, the operating funds for the Board of Control institutions have been increased to $13,500,208 annually as compared to $11,752,480 each year in the last biennium, and the capital improvements funds have been increased to $2,000,000 from $1,884,000 annually.

The net increase for these needs each year for the coming biennium totals $1,863,728.

SOCIAL WELFARE

Recommendations of the Board of Social Welfare were accepted and approved as presented. Aid to the dependent children program was increased by $850,000 annually, but the request for the whole social welfare program is $20,000 less each year than during the last biennium. Legislative action should be taken to prevent abuse of our aid to dependent children program. I suggest the following:

1. Strengthen our divorce laws.
2. Child support by parents be made more effective.

The department's policy of enforcing the relative support laws has resulted in reduced asking for old age assistance appropriations.

ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENTS

I recommend for the state departments the amount of $12,006,959 as compared with $10,267,086 during this biennium—an increase of $1,739,873. This increase includes the amount necessary to pay the salaries of the state classification and compensation plan, and the salary raises recommended in my inaugural message.

You will recall that I then urged adequate pay for the elected and other key governmental officials, which makes for better government. These increases account for less than one-tenth of 1 per cent of the total budget.

However, the principal causes for the increase in departmental appropriations are attributed to:

1. The needs of the Department of Public Safety for strengthening the division of criminal investigation, maintaining the highway patrol at full strength, administering the new title law, providing two license plates each year, increasing the salaries in the vital division of radio communications, and increasing the state's contribution to the peace officers retirement fund as recommended by actuarial survey; accounting for $570,985 more each year.

2. The needs of the Department of Health, and to provide state funds in certain instances, where federal funds are being decreased or dropped entirely; accounting for $92,190 more each year.

3. The needs of the district courts for the increased salaries approved two years ago, and additional contribution to the judicial retirement system; accounting for $177,500 more each year.

4. The needs of the Iowa Development Commission, including civilian defense, for expansion of its essential activities in promoting Iowa; accounting for $51,520 more each year.

5. The needs of the State Conservation Commission for the proper care and maintenance of our lakes and parks; accounting for $111,400 more each year.

6. The needs of the National Guard and State Guard for its expanded activities; accounting for $105,520 more each year.

7. The needs of the State Tax Commission for improvement of its services and collection methods; accounting for $211,864 more each year.

8. The needs of the Department of Agriculture, and to provide additional state assistance to agricultural associations for improvement of the agricultural industry and for promotion of Iowa farm products; accounting for $93,900 more each year.

I hasten to point out to you that the recommendations made for state departments do not take into consideration the savings which can be perfected by the consolidations set forth in my inaugural message. If consolidations are made, and I again urge that such action be taken, appropriate reductions should be made.

We in the executive and administrative branch of government will constantly strive to be more efficient and economical in our operations.

MISCELLANEOUS

There are two essential items in the proposed budget which do not appear in the Fifty-fifth General Assembly appropriations. They are:

1. National Guard armories and armory construction program, $587,600.

2. Resurfacing of the malls, streets, parking lots and alleys of the capitol grounds, $140,735.

Digitized by Google

To meet the needs of an expanded soil and water conservation program, I am recommending an increase of $200,000 a year in the soil conservation appropriation. The proper care of our great resources is a sound investment.

In compliance with the actions of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly, it is necessary to increase the amount for the Iowa public employees retirement system from $500,000 to $1,154,586 each year.

It is estimated that the homestead tax credits will total $24,650,000 each year, an increase of $650,000 annually.

RECAPITULATION

The total recommendations for each year of the coming biennium amount to $146,073,996.50, an increase of $23,701,300.57 over that appropriated by the Fifty-fifth General Assembly.

You are to decide whether the additional services are essential. I feel that the people of Iowa want them and will pay for them. In brief they are:

$18,975,742.00 more for education (80.06%)
1,863,728.00 more for the Board of Control institutions (7.86%)
2,861,830.57 more for the other services (12.08%)

$23,701,300.57

The proposed budget for the next biennium amounts to $292,147,993. However, by perfecting savings through the consolidation previously urged, and by tightening the homestead credit law so as to comply with its original purpose of encouraging bona fide home ownership, this figure can be reduced by $1,000,000 each year making a net budget of $290,147,993. The estimated income for the biennium is $230,003,000, leaving a deficit of $60,144,993, unless additional revenue is obtained.

TAXATION

The program suggested to you is essential for the building of a greater Iowa. The people of Iowa will invest their fair share to accomplish this objective. We must have the courage to provide the additional revenue for these worthwhile services. Without the funds, the program is destroyed, as we all subscribe to the sound fiscal policy of no deficit spending.

I suggest the following methods of securing the needed funds:

1. Limit the 10 per cent sales tax diversion to the road use fund to $5,500,000 each year.
2. Extend the sales and use tax to cover:
   (a) Services, except all forms of health service, $20,000,000.
   (b) Beer and cigarettes, $2,800,000.
   (c) Equipment not readily obtained in Iowa and used in processing, $1,925,000.
   (d) Property used in interstate transportation or commerce except as prohibited by the United States and state constitutions, $500,000.

Digitized by Google

3. Extend the income tax to include capital gains, similar to the federal law, $3,000,000.

4. Additional revenue to be collected by the insurance department, $600,000.

The commissioner of insurance informs me that with modernizing amendments to the insurance law, this additional amount can be collected without injury to the Iowa insurance industry. I have instructed him to contact the appropriate committees that such amendments may be properly considered.

5. Step up our collection of income and sales taxes. Extend time for collection of income taxes on commission audits to three years. Require depreciation schedules of income tax returns be presented to the assessors for substantiation of property values. This would have the effect of either increasing property assessments or reducing depreciation values or both, $1,000,000.

6. Return to the general fund the 5 per cent of gross liquor sales now used by the military tax credit fund. This should be effective January 1, 1956, resulting in making available for fiscal year ending June 30, 1956, $925,000; for fiscal year ending June 30, 1957, $1,850,000; or a yearly average of $1,387,500.

These items make a total annual additional revenue of $31,212,500, or income for biennium of $62,425,000.

This amount with the estimated income totals $292,428,000, plus the June 30, 1955, estimated unencumbered balance of $26,933,254.42, provides total estimated funds available for the biennium ending June 30, 1957, of $319,361,254.42, less this proposed budget of $290,147,993, leaves an unencumbered balance on June 30, 1957, which is needed as a cash working balance of $29,213,261.42.

Should you find it desirable to secure other revenue to finance your legislative program, I suggest that you give consideration to the full collection of the personal income tax. This source, with capital gains included, would bring in $10,700,000 more revenue. Because it is geared to a person's ability to pay, it is a sound tax. No doubt, more revenue can be obtained from the liquor control commission by increasing the price of liquor. This should be fully explored. Other sources of revenue have been suggested. It is only wise that you consider them all.

While I favor a thorough tax study, I do not believe it wise to consider it as a holding action. Instead, we must courageously face our needs today, and proceed now with the program that will build us a greater and better Iowa.

CONCLUSION

Your comptroller, Mr. Sarsfield, his able staff and I, have devoted a great deal of time in the study of state services and in the preparation of this budget. I should like to thank them publicly for their conscientious and tireless work. We have no hesitancy in recommending the budget to you as one which meets Iowa's immediate needs and is within the capabilities of our state.

You have a great responsibility to determine the program of wise spending and of sound finances. The people of Iowa have confidence in

MINORITY REPORT ON RULES COMMITTEE

As a minority on the rules committee, I concur with the report of the rules committee except on the following two rules:

1. Opening committee meetings.

Article III, Sec. 13, of the Constitution of Iowa states as follows:

"The doors of each house shall be open, except on such occasions as in the opinion of the house, may require secrecy".

This section was wisely written into our State Constitution by our forefathers, who had the theory that the public is entitled to know what their duly elected officials in government are doing.

There is no doubt in my mind but that this rule was meant to extend to committee meetings, where the majority of the work of the legislature is done. However, in possible violation of the Constitution of Iowa, the present rule is that all committee meetings will be closed unless the chairman or the committee decides to have a public hearing, which is simply a reversal of Article III, Sec. 13. This rule—which is rigidly enforced by a doorman at each door—has the effect of barring both the public and press from a majority of the work done in committee. In these times when the Fifty-sixth General Assembly is considering measures of great import to every citizen of Iowa, it is vital that the public be fully informed in every phase of legislative work. Therefore, if the Iowa legislature is ever going to completely represent and respond to the will of the people, the people must know what their duly elected representatives are doing so they can advise them accordingly.

The theory of the closed-door meetings—meetings which in and of themselves might necessarily be innocent—creates a cloud of suspicion in the minds of the public each time a group of legislators goes behind closed doors. However, I must admit that in the committee meetings which I have attended, I have heard nothing said that could not be stated publicly. Nevertheless, in my opinion, the rule should be that all committee meetings will be open to the public and press unless a majority of the committee votes that it is in the interest of the public that they be closed. This would be in line with the Constitution of Iowa.

Therefore, I recommend the following rule be adopted as a rule of the House:

"That it be the policy of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly that the committee meetings should be open to the public and press wherever it is reasonably possible to do so, unless the committee, by a majority vote, decides to go into executive session."

2. Secret Ballots:

It is my understanding that the secret ballot is generally used only in the committee meetings of the House of Representatives of the Iowa legislature. This then excludes the standing committees of the Senate.

There is no rhyme or reason to the theory of the secret ballot. It is diametrically opposed to the philosophy that, in a democracy, the people have the right, the duty and the privilege of knowing not only what their representatives are saying, but how their representatives are voting.

It sometimes has the effect of allowing a representative to speak on one side of a subject and to vote on the other side; therefore, causing not only the public to be in the dark as to how their representatives are voting in committee, but also fellow committee members.

Therefore, I recommend that the following rule be adopted by the House:

"The secret ballot is hereby abolished in the standing committees of the House."

WILLIAM F. DENMAN.

Frey of Pottawattamie asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following report printed in the Journal:

REPORT ON PRINTING
Iowa
STATE PRINTING BOARD
State House
Des Moines 19, Iowa

February 7, 1955.

Honorable T. J. Frey,
House of Representatives.
Dear Mr. Frey:

Your inquiry regarding the increase in printing of the biennium of June 30, 1954, over the biennium of June 30, 1952, is at hand. The amount shown is $242,383.

It must be borne in mind that printing done in the period ending June 30, 1954, had to bear the increased costs from advances in labor items.

Digitized by Google

Then too, in the 1954 biennium, the Code of 1954 was printed at a cost of $102,579 and the Departmental Rules book, set up by the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, Chapter 51, cost $12,022, for a total in those two items alone of $114,601.

The Fifty-fifth General Assembly set up in law under chapter 47, section 4, that "each official, board, department, commission or agency located outside the City of Des Moines, who maintains printing equipment, or does any printing for the state or its departments shall likewise keep an accurate cost system, and make report each June 30 to the printing board of such amounts, and these shall be included in the biennial report of the state printing board."

Such items were so included in the biennial report of June 30, 1954. Therefore to get a a full picture of what was done and getting the amounts that never before had been included in the board report, they are herewith itemized, for one year, starting July 1, 1953 to June 30, 1954. They are:

Iowa State College	$ 70,530.15
Historical Society, Iowa	25,153.89
Iowa School for Deaf	1,389.98
Training School, Boys	3,890.00
Penitentiary	1,808.80
State Teachers	12,241.80
Total	$112,847.95
Cost of Code 1954 (issued each 4 years)	102,579.00
Departmental Rules book	12,022.00
Grand total extras	$227,448.95

There is actually, therefore, only a difference of $24,934.05 as an additional amount of 1954 report over 1952 report.

These figures were fully explained to the budget and financial control committee, when they met in the Printing Board office at their meeting of December 17, 1954.

Bear in mind again, that printing costs advanced sharply during the last two-year period.

Yours,
S. W. NEEDHAM.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, the Honorable Charles B. Hoeven, Congressman from the Eighth District, will be in Des Moines, Iowa, on the 11th of February, 1955;

tion on that date to commemorate the birth of Abraham Lincoln, and that he be invited to address the joint convention briefly.

Miller of Woodbury moved the adoption of the resolution.

Resolution adopted.

ADOPTION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Paul of Poweshiek called up for consideration Senate Concurrent Resolution 10, found on page 241, Journal of February 4.

Paul of Poweshiek asked and obtained unanimous consent that the author of Senate Concurrent Resolution 10, the Honorable Arch McFarlane, Senator from Black Hawk, address the House on the contents of his resolution.

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

I am very grateful for the privilege of saying a few words in support of Senate Concurrent Resolution 10. When I was asked to deliver this address today I hesitated because I thought it was out of the ordinary, but there was so much of a demand and insistence by some of the members of the House that I accepted with the understanding that I could sit in the seat which I occupied for a number of years and deliver this address from that place.

Speaking on Senate Concurrent Resolution 10, I want to say that I am interested in Iowa and I am sure that every member of the legislature is also interested in this great state. Agriculture is, of course, our basic industry and has been for years. Yet I wonder why we who live in Iowa and are members of the legislature have to, from time to time, advertise and sell our state. Perhaps Darwin was right and we did spring from the monkey but there is a difference of opinion and I will give you the monkey's viewpoint:

"THE MONKEY'S VIEWPOINT"

Richmond Rotor

Three monkeys sat in a coconut tree,
Discussing things as they're said to be.
Said one to the others, "Now listen, you two,
There's a certain rumor that can't be true—
That man descended from our noble race;
The very idea is a disgrace.

No monkey ever deserted his wife,
Starved her babies and ruined her life.
And you've never known a mother monk
To leave her babies with others to bunk
Or pass them on from one to another,
'Till they scarcely know who is their mother.

Digitized by Google

And another thing, you'll never see
A monk build a fence 'round a coconut tree
And let the coconuts go to waste,
Forbidding all other monks a taste.
Why, if I'd put a fence around a tree,
Starvation would force you to steal from me!

Here's another thing a monk won't do—
Go out at night and get on a stew,
Or use a gun or club or knife
To take some other monkey's life.
Yes, man descended, the ornery cuss,
But, brother, he didn't descend from us!"

I want to call your attention to a catastrophe that happened in Iowa 98 years ago the eighth day of March. There was a settlement of 34 people that came into Iowa because of its sunlit valleys and rich and fertile soil and settled in Dickinson County around a lake. A group of Sioux Indians surrounded that settlement and massacred 32 out of the 34 people. Fourteen year old Abbie Gardner, one of the two persons who survived the slaughter, witnessed the slayings and saw the bloody scalps of her parents dangling from long poles as the Sioux leaped through the ritual of the scalp dance in flickering firelight. In later years, Abbie Gardner returned to her old home, married, lived on the place until her death in 1921. The old Gardner cabin was purchased by the state in 1943 for a state park, known as the Abbie Gardner Sharp.

This massacre was known as the Spirit Lake massacre. I am giving you this early history to show you just what trials and tribulations the early pioneers went through in order to settle the fertile soil in this great State of Iowa so that we could be sitting here today in this great building and reaping the results of those that came here to settle this commonwealth.

Now, let's get to the reason for this resolution. I represent the county wherein the Dairy Cattle Congress is located. It is within the city limits of my city and, for that reason, so long as I am in public life I will always be interested in dairy products. You have all read of information that I am going to give you. You have also heard it and it has gone in one ear and out the other. Anyway, it is worth repeating.

IOWA is first of all states—
In value of farms,
In value of livestock on farms,
In value of cattle on farms,
In value of hogs on farms,
In value of eggs produced,
In value of chickens produced,
In number of horses,
In number of hogs,
In number of eggs,
In corn harvested,
In oats harvested.

IOWA's soil produces more wealth each year than all the GOLD MINES IN THE WORLD!

IOWA produces annually, even in the face of oleo production, as much creamery butter as do Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, New Jersey, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Wyoming, Colorado, New Mexico, Idaho, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Montana COMBINED!

IOWA produces enough BUTTER to supply the WHOLE UNITED STATES for FIFTY DAYS, and enough ICE CREAM to give each man, woman and child in Iowa 107 ice cream cones each year. Enough MILK and CREAM are sold in Iowa to supply every inhabitant of this state with 147 quarts annually.

You hear very little about the fruit that is grown in Iowa and, yet,

IOWA's annual APPLE CROP is worth more than that of any of the Pacific or mountain states.

IOWA's wool is worth more than California's strawberries.

IOWA's honey is worth more than California's figs.

IOWA'S CORN is worth more than the annual products of all the GOLD AND SILVER MINES of the United States.

IOWA'S EGG PRODUCTION is worth more than all the oranges raised in the United States.

In 1953 IOWA produced 7.7 per cent of the United States total of 61.9 billion eggs the same year.

IOWA'S HENS produce more wealth each year than all of COLORADO'S mines.

IOWA'S CATTLE are worth more than the entire tobacco crop of the United States.

The PEAK YEAR IN AGRICULTURAL INCOME was $3,280,000,000.

The FARMS of FIVE of Iowa's 99 counties exceed in value the farms of either Massachusetts, Vermont, New Hampshire, Wyoming, New Mexico or Utah.

The FARMS of TEN IOWA COUNTIES (Cedar, Clinton, Crawford, Jasper, Kossuth, Marshall, Polk, Plymouth, Shelby and Sioux) EXCEED IN VALUE the farms in any one of the states of South Carolina, Maryland, Florida, Idaho, Maine, New Hampshire, Delaware, New Mexico or Utah.

IOWA FARM VALUES were greater than that of all farms in the New England states, plus New York and Pennsylvania.

The FARMS OF IOWA are worth more than the combined farms of the 11 states of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia and West Virginia.

IOWA'S ACREAGE UNDER CULTIVATION is 96.5 per cent and there is no area like it on the face of the globe.

In the year 1952 IOWA was FIRST in the NATION to produce a BILLION DOLLAR CORN CROP—THE HIGHEST RECORD IN HISTORY.

IOWA farmers enjoy the highest standard of living. The national average is 122 and IOWA's is 177.

If you would draw a circle of 250 miles around the central part of the State of Iowa, you would draw a circle around 75 per cent of all the Class "A" land in the United States and you are sitting today in the center of this most productive area.

In the UNITED STATES there are ONE HUNDRED THREE MILLION acres of Number 1 land. IOWA has TWENTY-SIX MILLION or 25 per cent. Illinois has 14,000,000; Minnesota has 12,000,000; Missouri has 8,000,000; Nebraska has 5,000,000; South Dakota has 3,000,000 and Wisconsin has 3,000,000. I want to prove this to you in another way. What is the most productive part of Minnesota? The most productive part of Minnesota is the southern half and it borders on IOWA. The most productive part of South Dakota and Nebraska is the part that borders on IOWA. The most productive part of Missouri is the northern half that borders on IOWA and the northern half of Illinois and the southern half of Wisconsin also which border on IOWA.

IOWA is the LARGEST PIECE OF LAND in a political division WITHOUT A DROUGHT, CROP FAILURE OR FAMINE and the ONLY state that lies WHOLLY between the Mississippi and Missouri rivers.

I have made this speech over 400 times from coast to coast and, speaking once in an eastern city before a Chamber of Commerce during IOWA Centennial celebration, the secretary of the organization before whom I had spoken said that he wished that he had somebody from Pennsylvania to talk about their state like I do about IOWA. I looked him right straight in the eye and said "it just can't be done, brother, you don't have the things to talk about that we do in Iowa".

The reason I am talking about this is because I am in love with my state and I am very much indebted to Dr. William Wilfred Funk for his list of the most expressive words in the English language:

The most bitter is "alone".
The coldest is "no".
The most tragic is "death".
The saddest is "forgotten".
The most cruel, "revenge".
The most peaceful is "tranquility".
The warmest word is "friendship".
The most reverend is "mother".
The most beautiful, "love".

and that is why IOWA is the most beautiful and why I am in love with it.

Now I should like to read a poem or two which stand out from a number of poems which I receive because they express my thought along the lines that IOWA is truly a wonderful state. I quote first from a poem written by Walter H. Beam, former Secretary of the Iowa State Senate:

"OUR FAVORITE"

You ask what state I'd like the best
To live my life in; east or west
Or north or south, if I could choose,
I'd pick on Iowa. Would I lose?
No, not at all; it stands the test,
And rises high above the rest.
'Tis famed in song, and everyone knows
Iowa's "where the tall corn grows."
The fattest pig, the finest cow,
The nicest ground there is to plough,
The sweetest girls, the grandest boys,
All add their part to Iowa's joys.
She raises what we need to eat—
Potatoes, apples, corn, and wheat.
She lives in peace with all her neighbors
And trades her produce for their labors.
She never fails in time of need
To raise her part the world to feed.
So when you want a real home state,
Why not say "Iowa"—for it's great.

—Walter H. Beam.

I quote next from a citizen of my own city, Mr. Ben F. Swisher:

"IOWA"

Where the soil is fertile and crops are sure,
And the air and water and milk are pure;
Where corn is the king, and the cattle bawl
For the ears, the nubbins, the stalks and all.
That's Iowa.

Where the cities are small, but the best on earth,
Where the shortage in numbers is made up in worth,
Where graft and its kindred are not often found,
Where all of the good things of statehood abound,
That's Iowa.

Where the "Stars and Stripes" are unfurled every day
On the top of each school house—as all states should pray—
Where the boys and the girls are all taught to feel,
That the flag of our country is living and real.
That's Iowa.

Where the skies are blue, and the storms are few,
Where God sends the sunshine, the rain and the dew,
Where the women are handsome and noble and true,
Where all of the people have plenty to do.
That's Iowa.

—Ben F. Swisher.

The poem that really stands out among all is this one written by J. A. Swisher from Iowa City which was forwarded to me:

"IOWA"

If I could write as poets do
And make the words ring clear and true;
If I could sing as poets sing
And make the notes of music ring;
If I could travel far and wide
And have with me a trusty guide,
I would not seek climes far away,
I still would live in Iowa.

Oh, sometimes when the cold winds blow
I'd go down south a month or so.
Sometimes when things here fairly bake
I'd spend a week up at the lake,
And sometimes when I thought it best
I'd take a little trip out west.
But as for living, day by day,
My friends, just give me Iowa.

In Iowa the corn grows tall
It yields a harvest every fall.
In golden fields, oats, wheat and rye
Are bumper crops by mid-July.
But Iowa has culture too,
With schools and churches, not a few.
With boys and girls she, too, is blest
Of all that's good, she has the best.

If I could write as poets do
I'd write each day a verse or two
About the grandeur of the West
And of the state that I love best.
Then when my evening prayers were said
And I had started off to bed,
I'd pause a moment just to say
"Thank God for good old Iowa".

—J. A. Swisher.

In final reference to this resolution, the only thing that we are trying to do as Iowans is to assist the milk industry. We do not want to have any depressed prices for those that are producing such a large quantity of Iowa products and working so diligently to assist in Iowa's great agricultural production. I want to say that only last week the University of Wisconsin put milk dispensers in seven of their buildings and in Woodstock, Illinois a milk vending machine sells 6,000 half pints of milk on an average per month. This resolution should be adopted unanimously.

Now in conclusion, some time back when I was speaking in California, I was invited to attend a revival meeting in the Angeles Temple. A lot of you remember Aimee Semple McPherson who was a great revivalist and quite a showwoman. This meeting I was invited to attend was for men only. During the course of the sermon which was on family life, Aimee asked all of those there that were having trouble at home to stand up. They all stood up but one man who was sitting down in the front row. Aimee leaned down over the rostrum and said: "My good man, I wish to compliment you as out of all of the men gathered here this afternoon you are the only one that didn't stand up". He reached his hand high above his head and said: "Now, Aimee, just don't get too hasty, I am paralyzed and can't get up".

If someone asks you if you are a resident of the great State of Iowa, or if someone asks you if you are proud to be a citizen of this great state or, if someone asks you if you live in the "garden spot of the world", don't be paralyzed, but stand up.

I thank you.

ARCH W. MCFARLANE.

Paul of Poweshiek moved the adoption of the resolution.

Resolution adopted.

Whereas, the State of Iowa is currently spending more than its income, and the state is faced with the problem of finding new revenue with which to operate, and

Whereas, the floor of the House of Representatives is overcrowded, resulting in some confusion and inefficiency, and

Whereas, there is a great variation in the work load of legislative clerks, particularly the clerks of major committee chairmen and representatives from more populous counties, and this fact is fully recognized, and

Whereas, the House of Representatives should lead the way for more efficiency and economy, thereby furnishing an example to other departments of the state government,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, that a committee of four (4) members of the House be appointed by the Speaker to examine the facts disclosed in the survey of the Bureau of Public Affairs to examine the practices of other states using stenographic pools and utilizing fewer employees, and to report back to the House by April 1, 1955, with recommendations for a plan which could be adopted by this body for the House of Representatives in the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

President Watson presented to the joint convention the dean of the Iowa Senate, the Honorable Frank C. Byers of Linn, who introduced Dave Ennis, Explorer Scout, Troop 40, Mount Vernon. Explorer Scout Ennis addressed the joint convention as follows:

GOVERNOR HOEGH, PRESIDENT WATSON, SENATOR BYERS, REPRESENTATIVE KOSEK, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND OTHER FRIENDS:

It is my rare honor and privilege to bring you greetings from the Boy Scouts of Iowa, and to report for them during Boy Scout Week.

We are celebrating this week the Forty-fifth Anniversary of the Boy Scouts of America, incorporated at Washington, D. C., on February 8, 1910. Six years later the Congress of the United States granted us a federal charter. Today, our honorable president is Dwight Eisenhower, and our vice presidents are the other living former presidents of the United States, Mr. Truman and Mr. Hoover.

We have grown in size as youth is destined to grow. Today over three and one-half million Cub Scouts, Boy Scouts, Explorer Scouts, and their adult leaders will observe this Forty-fifth Anniversary. This anniversary is celebrated in every state in the Union, in Alaska, Hawaii, Puerto Rico and the Canal Zone. The Boy Scouts of America has established local councils in Germany and Japan for the sons of American service personnel in those countries. Of course, the Boy Scout idea has spread to many other nations; our jamboree in California a year and a half ago saw representatives from twenty-eight nations.

The theme for this Forty-fifth Anniversary of American Scouting is "Building for a Better Tomorrow." The particular method used by the Scouts in applying this theme this past year was through Conservation of Our Natural Resources. Thus Boy Scout Week—this week—will mark the completion of the National Conservation Good Turn, which was undertaken at the request of President Eisenhower. In this activity we have had the splendid cooperation of many agencies; the Soil Conservation Service, State Conservation and Forestry services and many other groups. We count ourselves a part of the "Plant Iowa" program. Thus reports are being made to local, state and federal agencies to show our accomplishments to date, and to aid in arousing "public recognition of the need for adequate protection and wise management of our soil, water, mineral, forest, grassland, and wildlife resources."

What have the Iowa Scouts accomplished in Conservation Good Turn? First, it may be said that almost 20,000 Iowa boys and leaders participated directly. Thus almost half of all the Scouts in the state engaged in conservation work. In an agricultural state like Iowa, you will be interested to know that Iowa Scouts carried out 572 projects in soil and water conservation. This included working on 193 eroding gullies and 79 eroding stream banks, 248 acres of land planted in grass, 220 soil conservation talks given and 67 exhibits built.

Another part of our Iowa Conservation Good Turn consisted of 778 projects carried out in forestry. Over 85,000 trees were planted, 566 acres of woodlot were improved, two forest fires were fought, and over 13,000 fire prevention posters were distributed.

A third part of our Conservation Good Turn included 900 projects in outdoor manners. Scouts spent over 14,000 hours helping conservation officials, 115 boat and fishing safety demonstrations were given, and over 12,000 Outdoor Code posters were distributed.

All 12 of the Iowa Scout Councils reported that conservation plans had been completed for their camp properties.

This, then, is my factual report from Your Iowa Scouts on their Conservation Good Turn. This is the report of Iowa Scouts attempting to "build for a better tomorrow." This is an effort to conserve both natural resources and boy resources.

The Honorable Jack Schroeder, Senator from Scott, presented to the joint convention the Honorable Fred Schwengel, Member of Congress, First District of Iowa, who delivered the following address:

TODAY—WHAT MIGHT HE SAY

GOVERNOR HOEGH, DISTINGUISHED COLLEAGUE REPRESENTATIVE HOEVEN, SENATOR SCHROEDER, MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, FELLOW LEGISLATORS, FRIENDS:

It would appear less than grateful if I didn't tell you that I deeply appreciate the invitation and honor you have extended to one of your kind today. . . . My friends, it is good to be back where there are so many of you with whom I have worked so long and whom I have known so well. Now, let me make a confession: This will be appreciated most by those with whom I have served, when I say to you I have coveted and now covet my place here in this Assembly at seat number 6. You see this is the first opportunity I have had to make a speech since I have been a Congressman. That's because, in Congress, they have what labor circles call seniority rights.

So, thank you—every one of you—for the fine compliment you have shown me.

But, I have been very happy and am pleased in my position as a Congressman and adjustment has come quickly and easily because I have had and have the benefit of sympathetic help and advice from the finest Congressional delegation of Senators and Representatives of any state in the Union—Hickenlooper, Martin, Talle, Gross, LeCompte, Cunningham, Dolliver, Jensen and Hoeven. I am herewith authorized and pleased to extend to you greetings and best wishes from every member of the Iowa delegation in Congress to each of you.

(Congressman Schwengel read the following letter:)

THE WHITE HOUSE
WASHINGTON

February 7, 1955.

Dear Congressman Schwengel:

It is good to learn that you have been honored by an invitation to address the Iowa General Assembly on its annual observance of Lincoln Day. I am sure this will be a most happy occasion, out in the heart of the Middle West, in the kind of country Abraham Lincoln himself knew and loved.

Please extend my greetings to the members of the General Assembly and, through them, to all the Iowans who will participate in Lincoln Day celebrations all over their State.

With my personal good wishes,

Sincerely,
s/ DWIGHT D. EISENHOWER.

The Honorable Fred Schwengel
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C.

Very briefly now, I feel constrained to give you an impression of the greatest legislative body in the world. I do this against the background and knowledge of the fact that I believe that within the hearts and minds of men and women that make up the Congress, are or must be, the way to domestic tranquility and to peace and good will through understanding. If our government fails to meet the challenge, continued domestic difficulties and world-wide conflagration will surely ensue. Realizing this makes one stand in awe and wonder. If you and I, as the people's representatives can grasp this challenge and lead the way, as I believe we must, then peace and understanding among the peoples of the world can be our reward.

History can at least point the way. We must harken to the voices coming to us from the many great patriots of the past, who, also, in difficult circumstances sought and found the fundamental philosophies and/or those things spoken of in the great Book as the truth. All this, I believe, makes it very necessary for you and me to consider these fundamentals. It is our custom in Iowa, especially on occasions like this, to pause and heed the great signposts that point toward success along the road of past history. The principal objective of history is to make sure that right decisions, correct and decisive actions, clear thinking and the plain speaking of the past are not forgotten. An even more important objective of history is to see that the wrong decisions, careless actions and ill-considered words haunting us from other days are not repeated. If we would hold the gains we have made in popular government of, by and for the people we must never forget the importance of understanding history and the great and significant contributions made by the patriots and philanthropists of all ages of the past to the cause of the people—of the people because this is what the Holy Doctrine teaches. If it were not so, to sacrifice oneself for others would be extreme folly. The devotion of these patriots to the cause of the people has made them illustrious and their memories the richest inheritance of the human race. We in Iowa can be proud of having shouldered our full load in every great national crisis and we do pause and reflect—the record shows that the Iowa General Assembly is one of the first official bodies in these United States to recognize this day and to set it aside for special attention in the memory of that Great American, the Emancipator. We have been doing this in Iowa since 1909. My authority for this claim is Claude Cook, curator for the Archives here in Iowa, and it is substantiated by the Library of Congress where we have been doing some research and we have not yet found a state which began this idea before we did.

So—in the words of Abe—"Hats off to Iowa."

When I received your invitation I thought a great deal about what I could say that might challenge your thinking and be mutually beneficial. I finally arrived at the topic announced in your program, and will try for a few moments to apply what Lincoln has said to a few areas of government and the problems of mankind that face us today.

This will include what he thought about history; why education is a great undergirding influence; why sound and sober reasoning is important; his attitude toward foreign policies; and then will touch briefly on Lincoln, the man. I make no apologies—nor should any of us—for quoting Lincoln. He is cited and quoted by Democrats, Republicans and Socialists, Liberals and Conservatives, labor leaders and capitalists, World Federalists and extreme Nationalists, agnostics and ministers (though he never belonged to any church), wets and drys, colored people and white people, and men of every race, creed, walk of life, and age group.

I spoke earlier of the importance of history. Lincoln believed history was important, too. Let me quote him. He said, on one memorable occasion: "We cannot escape history...." My, how that fits today! "We of this Congress and this administration . . .", he said, ". . . will be remembered in spite of ourselves. No personal significance or insignificance can spare one or another of us. The fiery trial through which we pass will light us down in honor or dishonor to the last generation." This he said on December 2, 1862, during his second annual message. Who can deny that this applies to me, to the Congress, to the Chief Executive? Who can deny that it applies to everyone of you here in this General Assembly? In studying his life we find that he referred often to the early pioneers and the contributions they made in their time to the upbuilding and strengthening of this our government—these patriots of the past were his guide for the present and inspired his faith in looking to the future.

Though he had less than a year's formal education and none of the advantages of modern education, it seems I can hear him say "That every man should receive at least a moderate education, and thereby be enabled to read the histories of his own and other countries, by which he may duly appreciate the value of our free institutions, appears to be an object of vital importance, even on this account alone, to say nothing of the advantages and satisfaction to be derived from all being able to read the Scriptures, and other works both of a religious and moral nature for themselves. For my part I desire to see the time when education—and by its means, morality, sobriety, enterprise and industry—shall become much more general than at present, and should be gratified to have it in my power to contribute something to the advancement of any measure which might have a tendency to accelerate that happy period." In fact, he did say this in a speech in Sangamon County, on March 9, 1832, at the age of twenty-one. Further on education, we find his name on this resolution written in the Record of the Illinois Legislature on December 2, 1840: On teacher qualification—"That the committee on education be instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by law for the examination as to the qualifications of persons offering themselves as school teachers, that no teacher shall receive any part of the public school fund who shall not have successfully passed such examination."

Though he had almost none of the advantages of a formal education, there is no indication anywhere that he ever said or inferred that "what is good enough for me is good enough for my children." No—he pointed toward higher goals for all our people via better education.

If he were invited to speak at a teacher's convention, I think I might hear him say to our teachers: Teaching is creative work with its basic materials the minds of boys and girls, the hearts and the ambitions of youngsters who want and need proper guidance. Teaching has only one motive—service to mankind. Not all will be equal in talents but even the slowest can gain if you crusade for service. Teaching is enduring work. Yes, he would agree with Henry Adams who left these words: "A teacher affects eternity—he can never tell where his influence stops."

There is much concern in many areas of our life and especially among the great leaders in educational institutions of our country, and among other leaders of our time, that there is too much appeal to the passions and baser instincts of people rather than to sober reason. Whether or not it is true, you may best be the judge. Reading the history of those times there can be no denial that there was strong appeal to the passions of the people then, and most people now know that those appeals to the lower instincts were a major factor in causing the Civil War; but, nowhere in Lincoln's writings or pronouncements are there appeals that rouse these basic instincts of the people. He spoke of this, too, on February 22, 1842, at the celebration of the birth date of another great American, George Washington. Among other significant statements in that speech, he had this to say, and I see it as a central point of this talk:

"HAPPY DAY—when all appetites controlled, all poison subdued, all matters subjected—Mind, all conquering—mind shall live and move the monarch of the world, Glorious consummation! Hail, Fall of Fury; Reign of Reason—All Hail."

Yes, he believed, practiced, and taught that sound, sober reasoning should be man's sole arbiter and that right and wrong are not measured by volume or size of print, but by moral principle.

Many students of history are inclined to class Lincoln solely as an American, giving him no international significance. He was an American, of course, in the finest sense of the word, but the very fact that our form of government, still comparatively new in the world, being then only eighty years old, was watched closely by the other nations. Some saw this noble experiment in America as a failure. Many others hoped it would fail—still others connived for its failure. Lincoln knew this. Probably more than any other man he appreciated that this, his government, was on trial. He knew, too, that he was on trial, that the eyes of the world were upon him. Without question he sensed an obligation to posterity. This naturally, then, brought him to a study of foreign affairs—a book could be written on this subject, too. Very briefly, now, let me cite some profound statements of his in this area of government.

Digitized by Google

He gave his first inaugural address, with practically no experience as an administrator, but it must have been after much thought that he had this to say:

"'You will not be surprised to learn that, in the peculiar exigencies of the times, our intercourse with foreign nations has been attended with profound solicitude, chiefly turning upon our own domestic affairs." Now listen for a minute. See how modern this seems, which is a continuation of this same speech—"A disloyal portion of the American people have, during the whole year, been engaged in an attempt to divide and destroy the Union." That's being said today, isn't it? He continues, "A nation which endures factious domestic division is exposed to disrespect abroad;"—my, oh my, how true, isn't it? And then he says "... and one party, if not both, is sure, sooner or later, to invoke foreign intervention." Take a look at the world and see where this applies. Now he says, and this should apply to us and make us think in our time. "... Nations thus tempted are not always able to resist the counsels of seeming expediency and ungenerous ambition, although measures adopted under such influences seldom fail to be unfortunate and injurious to those adopting them." The study of history shows he had real foreign problems to wrestle with and at the end of the first year he made this observation. My, how true it is. Here he was referring to the South—"... They can scarcely have failed to perceive that the effort for disunion produces the existing difficulty, and that one strong nation promises more durable peace and a more extensive, valuable and reliable commerce than can the same nation broken into hostile fragments." Then he ventured a hope for the Union when he said, "I venture to hope it will appear that we have practiced prudence and liberality toward foreign powers, averting causes of irritation..."—and now listen, listen—"... and with firmness maintaining our own rights and honor." Much more could be said on foreign policy. Time does not permit further discussion, but these I submit are some things for us to think about.

Now, let me talk for a few moments on the characteristics that made him and his greatness appreciated. Many books have been written about these characteristics—almost 3,000 of them, of which I have read but a few. Each is interesting in treating some special facet of his life. Plays have been written, poems published, but none, I believe, portrays him quite as effectively as Edwin Markham does in his poem, "Lincoln, The Man."

May I share it with you.

LINCOLN THE MAN

When the Norn Mother saw the Whirlwind Hour
Greatening and darkening as it hurried on,
She left the Heaven of Heroes and came down
To make a man to meet the mortal need.
She took the tried clay of the common road—
Clay warm yet with the genial heat of Earth,
Dashed through it all a strain of prophecy;
Tempered the heap with thrill of human tears;

Digitized by Google

Then mixed a laughter with the serious stuff.
Into the shape she breathed a flame to light
That tender, tragic, ever-changing face.
Here was a man to hold against the world,
A man to match the mountains and the sea.

The color of the ground was in him, the red earth;
The smell and smack of elemental things:
The rectitude and patience of the cliff;
The good-will of the rain that loves all leaves;
The friendly welcome of the wayside well;
The courage of the bird that dares the sea;
The gladness of the wind that shakes the corn;
The pity of the snow that hides all scars;
The secrecy of streams that make their way
Beneath the mountain to the rifted rock;
The tolerance and equity of light
That gives as freely to the shrinking flower
As to the great oak flaring to the wind—
To the grave's low hill as to the Matterhorn
That shoulders out the sky.

Sprung from the West, he drank the veloreous youth of a new world,
The strength of virgin forests braced his mind,
The hush of spacious prairies stilled his soul.
Up from log cabin to the Capitol,
One fire was on his spirit, one resolve—
To send the keen ax to the root of wrong,
Clearing a free way for the feet of God.
And evermore he burned to do his deed
With the fine stroke and gesture of a king:
He built the rail-pile as he built the State,
Pouring his splendid strength through every blow,
The conscience of him testing every stroke,
To make his deed the measure of a man.

So came the Captain with the mighty heart;
And when the judgment thunders split the house,
Wrenching the rafters from their ancient rest,
He held the ridgepole up, and spiked again
The rafters of the Home. He held his place—
Held the long purpose like a growing tree—
Held on through blame and faltered not at praise.
And when he fell in whirlwind, he went down
As when a lordly cedar, green with boughs,
Goes down with a great shout upon the hills,
And leaves a lonesome place against the sky.

—Edwin Markham.

Only an atmosphere of freedom and opportunity can produce a man about whom an author could write such beautiful literature.

Just this night before last when I was again visiting the Ford's Theatre, scene of Lincoln's assassination, these words of Markham were called to my attention: "Lincoln is a greater possession to us than all our battleships and a greater safety to us than all our arms." 'Tis true I believe,

Now, in closing, may I review briefly a little-known experience of two Congressmen who served together in 1849—106 years ago. (This account was put into the Congressional Record by George Dondero, Ranking Member of the Public Works Committee and a great Lincoln student.) One of these men was destined to become the President of the United States and one became the Vice President of the Confederacy. You will recall reading in Civil War history of the attempts made by people to put a stop to the war through negotiations. One such attempt was suggested for February 3, 1865. Lincoln did not agree to go until he found out that Alexander Hamilton Stephens, his personal friend of 16 years past and Vice President of the Confederacy and fellow Congressman, would be one of the commissioners to meet him at the conference. The conference failed, because Lincoln, very justly, would settle for nothing less than a reunion of all states. After the conference, Lincoln, rising above the heated passions of the time, recalled his early friendship with Stephens and asked him if there was some personal favor he could do for him. Stephens replied that he had a nephew who was a prisoner on Johnsons Island in Lake Erie, but his family had heard nothing from him. Could Lincoln find out something about him and get word to him that his people at home were well? The record does not leave us any comment from Lincoln; but it does show us that two days later Lieutenant John Stephens was sent for. He was brought to the President, who was very busy at the time, and who suggested that Lieutenant John spend some time with some friends he knew he had in Washington and return on February 10. On that day, Lincoln gave him a pass to go home and in a note asked that his friend Alexander Hamilton Stephens select and send in exchange an officer of equal rank imprisoned at Richmond whose physical condition required release. Then just before Lieutenant John left, Lincoln pulled a photograph of himself from a shelf, autographed it and said to him, "Suppose you take this along with you. I don't expect there are many of them down South." In May, of '65, young Stephens delivered Lincoln's letter to his uncle. The war was over. Lincoln was in his grave. Alexander Stephens, the Vice President of the Confederacy, had been arrested and taken as a political prisoner to Fort Warren in Boston. Now one of the most touching incidents in all our history is the scene in the cell at Fort Warren on the morning of June 1, 1865. Alexander Stephens is awaiting his fate. This prisoner who opposed secession and loved his Nation made an entry in his diary that morning. "It is the day set apart by President Andrew Johnson decreed as a fast day in memory of Abraham Lincoln. Rose early. As it is fast day and mourning in memory of Mr. Lincoln, I requested Mr. Geary, the Corporal, to bring me from the sutler's nothing but a cup of coffee and rolls." We can almost hear the spirit of Lincoln whispering "This hath he done in remembrance of me".

We, too, I hope have done this in remembrance of him.

Let us then rededicate ourselves to the unfinished and unending task that remains before us, so that this our government of, by and for the people shall not perish. Since we live in an Atomic age which sorely needs the Gospel of love that Lincoln lived so well, let us then remember his admonition and be sure that our attitude is one of "malice toward none and charity for all."

Carl Sandburg has said and I believe, "This is a time for remembering greatness."

The Honorable Russell A. Patrick of Sioux presented to the joint convention the Honorable Charles B. Hoeven, Member of Congress, Eighth District of Iowa, who briefly addressed the joint convention.

Governor Hoegh and official party were escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Reppert of Polk moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Hanson in the chair.

The committee waited upon Senator Hickenlooper and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

Kosek of Linn offered the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is a high privilege and a great personal honor for me to present to my fellow Representatives our guest today. Perhaps no man in Iowa less needs an introduction. Our next speaker is the senior Republican member of the Joint Committee on Atomic Energy; one of the Republicans' strongest voices in the United States Senate Committee on Agriculture, and a veteran member of the committee which has recently been called the most powerful committee in the world, the United States Senate Committee on Foreign Affairs. Our guest this morning, who undoubtedly is a warm personal friend of everyone in this room, is among that small handful of national leaders destined to help in the shaping of world events. I am sure you will understand when I first refer to him as Linn County's favorite son, but in the interest of accuracy and with considerable pride, I present him to you as Iowa's favorite son; the Senior United States Senator from Iowa, the Honorable Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

Senator Hickenlooper addressed the House as follows:

MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

I want to thank you for the honor and the opportunity of being here this morning, and to visit with you for just a little bit. This hall, believe me, brings back a lot of fond memories. Just a few moments ago I told the Senate that this year I am now eligible for the Pioneer Lawmakers, and I invited anybody from that group with a blank to meet me, and I would sign up.

I suppose you still draw names out of a hat for the seating arrangements of your new members. We all drew names out of a hat, and I drew the last one of the 108, so I got the seat where Mr. Hanson's seat is now, and I sat there the first session. I enjoyed it because we had a congenial and intelligent group there. We were in agreement, half and half—one half did, the other half did not—and so our sessions were interesting indeed.

I think that today I am thoroughly convinced . . . indeed I become more convinced each year as the years go by and I grow in understanding of government, that the fundamental strength of this country is in halls like this one in each of the forty-eight states of our Union. It is in assemblies such as this one in which we get the strength of our federated republic, the republican federation of our forty-eight different states. We get it here in greater measure than where the responsibility is lodged in a central government. Here we constantly guard our rights, our privileges, our prerogatives, and our dignity, and it is in the legislatures of the forty-eight states and the loyalty with which the states support their own government that we find their strength. This is no criticism of our federal government; as a federated country we must have a central government, which will provide the defenses which people cannot provide for themselves, and for all those things for which the federal government is responsible, but the real strength still rests in the states of this union.

Now for just a moment I would like to visit with you about some of the tensions that are abroad in the world today. Some of these tensions are within the United States, but in the main, the tensions we are under today result from the international situation, a situation which is close to the heart of every American citizen. We are a nation dedicated to peace. We have done more in the interest of peace through sacrifice of life and unlimited amounts of money, than any other country in the history of the world has ever done. Yet we do not have a secure peace in the world today. It is a matter of great concern to each of us today. In this country, in the United States so far as domestic affairs are concerned, I think we have reason for optimism. Two years ago the Korean war was ended. That ended a ten year period of war expansion in our economy. A ten year disruption in the economy was halted, and the dislocation by war in which economic and social aspects were changed. We had met the dislocations and tensions of a great war. Since then there has been comparative peace in the world, but the fundamental and startling thing which has never occurred in the world, in the modern world at least, and certainly never in this country; we did not go into a depression, and the economy of the country has extended itself onto a new and prosperous plane. If you can think of any other time a similar situation occurred, and we have not gone into a deflation or a depression, I wish you would call it to my attention, for I do not know about it.

I think it is proof positive, if you please, of the great results of the courage and the good sense of the American people who determine that they will go on with their economy in a reasonable way, in an expanding way, and in the peaceful way.

You know that when things are going all right, people don't write to members of the legislature. You may vote as your constituents like, and you don't hear much from your constituents, you don't get many letters, but let you vote wrong or something, and the letters pour in—that is human nature, isn't it? People complain when they don't like what is going on. And so it is with our so-called economy. When we have an expanding economy it doesn't create much excitement. Today we have an expanding population in this country which is growing somewhere at the rate of around two million a year. Within the next 20 to 30 years, we will have a country with a population of somewhere near two hundred million people. These people will have to be fed, to be clothed. Our American economy will have to expand to meet the demands of our growing population, the demands of our American people, and the future, indeed, looks encouraging, unless war should unfortunately be forced upon us. And now I would like to visit with you for just a minute about that situation.

I have had the great good fortune, and I count it my personal good fortune, to be able to serve on the Foreign Relations Committee and the Atomic Energy Committee with which it is closely affiliated, and to study into the ramifications of the foreign trade which is of such tremendous interest to the agricultural population of this country. My experience has led me personally into these fields, so I have been able to keep some track of economics as I have gone along. At the close of World War II we hoped for peace, but unfortunately following that war, communist encroachment and expansion quickly began to develop and whereas at the close of World War II, the communist countries controlled about eighty-five millions, today they control almost a billion people. They have expanded their control until today they control almost a quarter to a third of the people of the globe. We are aware of their efficient determination. They are consistent. They have but one goal—world control. They proceed to that end with a definite pattern. You will remember that it was Lenin first and then Stalin, who said: "The road to Paris is through Peiping in China." What they meant is that the better course for Russian expansion is across the broad reaches of China, and when China is consolidated, they will move into India, and from India, they will inundate Europe. When all Asia and Europe is consolidated, the United States would fall like a ripe peach into their hands. They have followed that pattern consistently. Unless we recognize the tragic truth of what they have been saying, we can well face great danger in the future. This is one of our tensions. Since the Korean War, the problem of the islands off the China mainland has arisen. A lot of people say what importance are these to us? They are of tremendous importance to us. Every leader, and every political leader regardless of his political affiliation, have agreed that the Island of Formosa in unfriendly hands constitutes a threat to the security of the United States which might well drive us out of the Pacific and compel us to bring our first line of defense back to the coast of the United States. It would result in the conquering of all Asia, Australia and New Zealand. Are we our brother's keeper? The answer is, we are not, except as we assume certain responsibilities which contribute to the ultimate security of the United States.

You know that up until about three weeks ago, the consistent statements that came out of Red China and Moscow was that every island would be taken, step by step, that China, nationalist China, would be driven out, and the Reds move in. They have captured a number of small islands. They went in with their forces and, on one small island, put to death every person on that island, every person who belonged to the Nationalist Chinese forces. They began firing on the Tachen Islands. Now the Tachens had some 15 to 18 thousand troops. Then about two weeks ago, the president who believes that the people are an integral part of any major decision affecting the destiny of the United States, and anything that will affect the military liabilities of the United States, and that Congress as a representative of the people should be taken into these decisions—the president submitted a resolution asking the Congress to join him in a declaration of policy. It was pointed out that we would defend Formosa, and the Pescadores. That resolution went to debate and was passed by an overwhelming vote (I think 409 to 3 in the House, and I believe 85 to 5 in the Senate), a substantial unanimity on both sides. That vote said to the president, we are with you —the time has come when we make our decision clear. We will say where we stand, and then stand for the security of the United States. Now the interesting thing is that when that resolution was passed, from that time on, there was not a single shell fired from north of the Tachens. They are only five miles away but not a bomb came over! A great fleet moved up and we evacuated 15,000 Chinese out of the Tachens without a single loss of life. The firing had almost ceased against the small islands of Matzu and Quemoy where there had been much firing at all hours, and bombing, there has been a cessation of that since we have declared ourselves as to what we will do. We declared several years ago that we would protect Formosa against attack but we did not make it as clear so far as the people represented by the Congress are concerned as we did on this. Before this resolution was passed, Red China urged the United States repeatedly to talk about peaceful maneuvers in that area. Since that resolution was adopted, we have noticed that a softened policy has been coming out of Red China. Our position has been established so far as international affairs are concerned. Now I cannot be a prophet. The Reds are a queer people. They have a queer philosophy. They have no morals. They use truth and honesty when it serves their purpose.

At no time in the past on the few occasions when the United States has taken a firm stand, have the Reds overstepped. We can recall that period when the Reds threw up road blocks, in the Berlin area, and said "Berlin is closed." We said, "It is not closed. We will send an airlift into Berlin. We will send fuel and food into Berlin." We said "If our airlift is interfered with in the least, fighter planes will escort the planes into Berlin." Not one plane of that airlift was interfered with in the Berlin area. One time when they felt they were interfered with, they were told in effect that unless the road blocks came down, the tanks would go through. The road blocks came down and we were told transportation was restored into Berlin; that trains would go in, American and British trains would go in, the tracks would be repaired, and we had a right to use them. So long as we fail to make our position clear, so long as we pursue an indecisive position, they will probe at every soft spot in the world.

I am optimistic today. I just say "optimistic" because that means a certain confidence, and I don't have that, but I lean more towards the optimistic side today than I did three or four weeks ago. I think there is more chance for a season of peace. I don't think the Reds will sign their name on the dotted line. I think we will see a season of peace and quiet. It may stop tomorrow, but I feel more comfortable today than I did a month ago.

There are many things that we have done around the world that I don't approve of and have not voted for. There are many things we have done in the world that I felt were sound. By and large, the United States has tried to work consistently for peace. We have in this country responsibilities, which we will meet. This is my personal opinion, although many feel the same way, that four years ago when this country through its special representative announced the policy of our defense in Asia and left out Korea, that had we included South Korea as a responsibility which we would assume if we must, if we had made that clear, there would have been no Korean War. Had we taken the stand we took later after the shooting started, the Reds would not have violated that land. Instead they seem to have been led to believe that we were not concerned about South Korea so they could engage in adventures there. When the free countries of the world have taken a stand, and the aggressors know they have taken a stand, the aggressor waits a long time before he violates that particular position. That is the history of many, many years, and because of the softening of the attitude which comes out of China today and the willingness to move slowly about the same, I say I am more encouraged . . . I withdraw the statement that I am optimistic.

Here is another significant note. We should never discount anything at least until conditions in the world are better than today. I picked up a ticker tape and was interested in seeing that a new series of Russian decrees has been issued, one of which is significant, which places penalties on any peasant or group of peasants who continue to poison the crops on the collective farms in Russia. The indications are that the population of Russia has been increasingly opposed to the government, especially on the farms where they raise their food the peasants are holding out just enough food for bare existence for themselves and at every opportunity they are poisoning the surplus so the rest of Russia cannot benefit. Maybe they are having internal troubles, more extensive than we realize. We know that in China today where they have taken the land away from the peasants, in Red China suffering is more rampant than at any period of time in recent history. Maybe communism is falling. I don't know. The only thing I feel is that if principle is involved, then principle must be maintained, and men of good will and who value the dignity of the human being, his opportunities and his possibilities, must definitely participate, even though it may mean, and God grant that it does not mean, tremendous sacrifice because if principle is not defended, then principle will be destroyed and we in our homes will suffer as a result of it.

I feel better today than a month ago. I hope and pray that six months from now we will feel better than we do today. I know that if we keep faith with our principles, they will prevail against the forces of darkness that are trying to defeat us.

Thank you for the honor of coming back into these halls. I feel much at home and much honored.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 11

Whereas, numerous tragedies have been occurring upon the roads and highways of the State of Iowa, including the loss of our late beloved Governor, William S. Beardsley; and

Whereas, it is generally recognized that most of these tragedies could have been avoided through the use of sound judgment, skill, and courtesy; and

Whereas, it is also generally recognized that driver-training courses are designed to improve judgment, develop skill, and encourage the practice of courtesy; and

Whereas, statistics show that students who have received driver-training courses have a lower accident rate than those who have not; and

Whereas, it is believed that the provisioning for driver-training courses in our high schools should be left to the good discretion of local boards of education;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring, that the Fifty-sixth General Assembly does hereby encourage all high schools in the State of Iowa to provide or to cooperate in providing an appropriate driver-training program for all of their students; and

Be It Further Resolved, that this concurrent resolution be referred to the State Board of Public Instruction for appropriate release to the high schools of the State of Iowa.

REPORT OF THE SENATE AND HOUSE MEMBERS OF THE IOWA COMMISSION ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION IN ACCORDANCE WITH HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 22

The report of the Senate and House members of the Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation, and a comprehensive report of the activities of the Council of State Governments in the interim is as follows:

For some years it has been the practice and custom for the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House to appoint an interim committee on Interstate Cooperation. This committee, upon adjournment of the legislature, is constituted as the Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation. The undersigned committee was duly appointed and has functioned as such in the course of the interim and has continued to maintain an active interest in legislation sponsored by the Council of State Governments in the course of the present session of the legislature.

By the terms of the act establishing the commission, Iowa has joined with the other forty-seven states of the Union in organizing and developing a Council of State Governments.

The Council of State Governments is a joint governmental agency established by the states, supported by the states, for service to the states. It acts as:

Digitized by Google

1. A medium for improving legislative, administrative and judicial practices in the states.

2. An agency for securing full cooperation among the states in solving interstate problems, both regional and national.

3. A means of facilitating and improving federal-state relations.

4. The Council exists to serve governmental progress within the individual states, among the states working together, and by the states in their relations with the federal government.

THE COUNCIL'S FOUNDATIONS

"The Council of State Governments is hereby declared to be a joint governmental agency of this state and of the other states which cooperate through it."

The Commissions, working for cooperative governmental action on numerous fronts, are the bases on which the Council is founded.

THE COUNCIL'S MANAGEMENT

The states themselves govern and control the Council. Its policies are determined by a Board of Managers, comprising forty-eight delegate members representing the forty-eight states, nineteen ex-officio members, and ten membrs at large.

Each state selects its own delegate member. Ex-officio Managers are the nine members of the Executive Committee of the Governors' Conference; the presiding heads of eight other state organizations representing executive, legislative and judicial branches of government; the Honorary President of the Council; and its Executive Director. To provide continuity of membership, the Board itself elects ten Managers at Large who serve five-year, staggered terms.

The Board meets annually and at special call to consider Council policy. It has an Executive Committee which works with the Executive Director for solution of numerous problems. The Executive Committee comprises the President of the Council, who is a Governor; the First Vice President, who is a legislator and who also serves as Chairman of the Board of Managers; two additional Vice Presidents; the Auditor, who is a state fiscal officer; the Honorary President of the Council; and the Executive Director.

The Executive Committee appoints the Executive Director, subject to the board's approval. He selects all members of the Council staff, and they operate under his direction and supervision.

THE COUNCIL AS SECRETARIAT

The Council is the secretariat for America's 7,500 state legislators, organized through the American Legislators' Association; the Governors' Conference; the Conference of Chief Justices; the National Association of Attorneys General; the National Association of State Budget Officers; the Legislative Service Conference; the National Association of State Purchasing Officials; and an Association of Administrators of the Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers. The Council has a cooperative arrangement with the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and works closely with other organizations serving state government.

Because of its activities for many state associations and its day-to-day work with individual state officials and legislators, the Council is in a position to bring to the service of each a wide understanding of the problems of all.

WHAT IT DOES

As the responsibilities of modern government grow, the states increasingly are working together—for progress in their own internal affairs, for solution of problems that cross state lines, and for improved federal-state relations.

The Council of State Governments, as the agency of all the states, contributes to the realization of these goals by:

Conducting major research projects—making the results available to the states and to many interested agencies.

Maintaining an inquiry-and-information service available to state agencies, officials and legislators.

Serving as a clearinghouse through which the states exchange their own information.

Holding national and regional meetings in which state officials and legislators survey common problems.

Acting as secretariat for a number of interstate organizations.

SERVICE FOR INTRASTATE PROGRESS

Most of the work of every state government necessarily is concentrated on its internal affairs. But this does not mean working in isolation. Almost every home task of every state has its counterparts in other states. Through meetings, publications and informal communication aided by the Council of State Governments, the experience of all states in these matters is shared.

If, for example, a given state is considering introduction of a new governmental technique, or adoption of a new public service, or improvement of an old one, it can obtain information through the Council as to action of other states on similar problems, and the results. It can judge from such shared experience what practices have worked best elsewhere. Individual states repeatedly obtain such information from the Council or at its meetings.

Certain intrastate problems, moreover, are perennial for all states or assume special significance for all at certain times. The Council undertakes special studies of such subjects, often at the specific direction of the Governor's Conference.

Thus the Council in recent years has made extensive studies in the fields of public school and higher education, the state mental health programs, highway safety and motor truck regulation, state licensing systems, state governmental reorganization, legislative processes and procedures, state judicial systems, and state-local relations. In some instances, studies are conducted by research specialists under Council supervision; in others, by members of the Council's staff; in still others, by special Council committees assisted by staff members.

Such fact-finding and study among the states have contributed to steady progress in organization, procedure and public service of state governments throughout the Union.

SERVICE FOR INTERSTATE ACTION

Numerous problems that confront government call for interstate action. The states today are adding new programs to meet these needs. They are improving the interstate programs already in existence. Much of the work of the Council of State Governments is directed to their service in this broad field.

Functional areas of interstate agencies and agreements include civil defense, disaster relief, river problems, coastal fisheries, oil conservation, regional education, regional institutions for care of the handicapped, interstate problems of crime control, probation and parole. Some of the agencies and organizations comprise a large number of states, some two or more states that adjoin each other. Many have been created through interstate compact, others through less formal arrangements. The Council of State Governments and the Commissions on Interstate Cooperation have assisted in the studies and conferences that led to the establishment of many of them. The Council and the Commissions continue to aid them in fulfilling their functions.

In addition, the Council serves the states continuously in a variety of common tasks not performed by separate interstate agencies. For many years the states have worked successfully through the Council to prevent or eliminate interstate trade barriers. They are working through it for greater uniformity in regulation of interstate highway traffic, including sizes and weights of trucks. The Council cooperates with the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws, which sponsors legislation in various fields. In recent years, the Council's Drafting Committee of State Officials, in consultation with other groups, has prepared and sponsored a series of suggested legislative acts dealing with subjects on which uniform or similar state laws might serve the public interest. Many of these now are on the statute books.

SERVICE IN FEDERAL-STATE RELATIONS

In war and peace, federal-state cooperation has been increasing through the last decade. The Council of State Governments is a principal channel through which this has been fostered and through which specific federal-state programs have been devised, then put into effect.

During World War II the Council cooperated with the United States Government and the governments of the states in setting up our nationwide system of civilian defense. Similar cooperation led to state programs for selective service, rationing, conservation and salvage, soldier-sailor voting, motor transport regulation, and other related matters. Since the war the Council has continued to act for federal-state cooperation through numerous means, including its studies of federal grants-in-aid, overlapping taxes and other intergovernmental problems, followed by conferences with federal officials and members of Congress on these subjects. An extensive study by the Council, requested by the national Commission on Organization of the Executive Branch of the Government, served as a basis for that commission's recommendations on federal-state relations. Since 1950, as international tensions mounted, the Council again assisted in preparing and developing a nation-wide program of civil defense, based on state operation, and in other federal-state activities related to defense.

The strength of our federal, democratic system requires self-reliance and strength at each level of government—state, local, national. It also requires cooperation among all levels. The Council works for the effective operation of both those principles.

SERVICE TO THE PUBLIC

All of the Council's activities are directed to the public service. It was created by the states to assist them for that over-all purpose. The Council contributes directly, moreover, particularly through its publications, to citizen information on state governmental affairs; thus it stimulates interest in them. Its standard reference works, its monthly journal and its special studies are in use in public libraries, schools and universities throughout the nation. Groups of citizens concerned with special civic problems—education, public welfare, highway traffic, public taxation, governmental structure and many others—study these materials. An informed citizenry is the basis for good government. The Council of State Governments assists interested citizens in keeping themselves informed.

The Senate and House members of the Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation elected State Representative Fred Schwengel to head the Iowa delegation as chairman and to sit on the board of managers of the Council of State Governments. Representative Schwengel resigned at the Chicago meeting, and the Iowa Commission elected Senator Walter to fill the vacancy.

The Iowa Commission attended three meetings during the interim.

I. Mackinac Island, Michigan, July 27 and 28, 1953, at which the following resolutions were adopted:

A. "The Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, meeting at Mackinac Island, Michigan, July 27 and 28, 1953, commends the national administration and Congress for enacting legislation authorizing the establishment of a Commission on Intergovernmental Relations. The Conference urges the Commission to develop a series of specific recommendations, looking toward the reduction of federal grants-in-aid to the states for domestic and general purposes and the release by the federal government of tax resources needed by the states and localities to carry on these governmental programs.

B. The Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, meeting at Mackinac Island, Michigan, July 27 and 28, 1953, reaffirms the action taken at the 1952 conference urging the federal government to withdraw from the field of gasoline taxes. The Conference further urges that federal grants to the states for highway purposes be discontinued, provided, however, that special arrangements be made for those states in which there are special problems involving unusually great federal highway mileage in relation to population and large areas of federally-owned land.

It is further recommended that the delegates to this conference urge their representatives in Congress to work for the early enactment of legislation to accomplish these purposes.

C. Whereas federal, state and local laws and departmental rules and regulations have grown to astronomical numbers and in complexity; and

Whereas this increase in number and complexity of laws, rules and regulations has made it impossible for the average citizen to know when he is breaking a law, rule or regulation;

Be It Resolved that the Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, meeting at Mackinac Island, Michigan, July 27 and 28, 1953, urges all governing bodies to work toward the reduction in the number and complexity of their laws and departmental rules and regulations.

D. The Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, meeting at Mackinac Island, Michigan, July 27 and 28, 1953, expresses its thanks and appreciation to the Michigan Committee on Interstate Cooperation and to the State of Michigan for the cordial hospitality which has been extended to the members of this Conference and their parties.

The Conference wishes also to express its appreciation to the entire staff of the Grand Hotel for their many courtesies.

The Conference also offers its thanks to the Indiana Commission on Interstate Cooperation for the invitation to hold the 1954 meeting at French Lick, Indiana, and urges that favorable consideration be given to this invitation."

CHESTER A. SCHEERER, Chairman.

MINORITY REPORT ON HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 8

I being a member of the committee on safety and law enforcement to which was referred House Joint Resolution 8, relative to my difference with the majority report of the committee I submit the following reasons:

First, I feel there are still some unsolved problems that might tend to lessen alcoholism by the expenditure of this appropriation.

Second, we know that various societies have alleviated alcoholism to some extent and in every case it has meant to the tax paying public less relief from social welfare or county funds plus making for better American homes. I wish to commend the organization for the work they are doing and I am sure that the results of their efforts save taxpayers of Iowa more money every month of the biennium than this appropriation would cost in its entirety.

H. H. SERSLAND.

everything possible to help cultivate honorable peaceful relations with the people of all nations.

However, because of the various factors that are involved in the consideration of this type of resolution, it is my opinion that it would be inadvisable to enter into extended discussion of the subject matter because of the possibility of misinterpretation and purpose.

Since there are many phases of this matter that are for decision at the national seat of government at Washington, D. C., it is, therefore, my considered opinion that this resolution can be given further friendly, sincere and serious consideration by a standing committee of the House than is possible to give the matter on the floor of the House.

Motion prevailed.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 17

A concurrent resolution to arrange for the proper observance of the centennial of the Constitution of Iowa in 1957.

Whereas, the Constitution of Iowa was adopted at Iowa City in 1857 and will be one hundred years old when the Fifty-seventh General Assembly meets at Des Moines in 1957, and

Whereas, the Constitution of Iowa has served the people of Iowa for a century with only 19 amendments, and

Whereas, the State Historical Society of Iowa in 1907, on the occasion of the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Constitution of Iowa, published all the lectures and proceedings of that historic occasion;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

That a special legislative committee be appointed, which committee shall consist of five members of the Senate, to be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and five members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker of the House.

Be It Further Resolved: That it shall be the duty of the committee to arrange for the proper observance of the centennial of the Constitution of Iowa while the Fifty-seventh General Assembly is in session, and provide for the publication of such proceedings by the State Historical Society of Iowa.

Laid over under Rule 34.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Whereas, both houses of the legislature see fit to open their day's work with prayer, and it is unseemly that they should work during the time in which is commemorated the passion and death of the Lord to whom they dedicate their daily efforts;

Whereas, many members will absent themselves from the legislative halls during that time to attend services in their respective churches;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That a special recess be held on Good Friday afternoon, April 8, 1955,

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 15

Whereas, the cost of state printing has more than doubled in the last ten years; and

Whereas, for the current biennium this cost has amounted to upwards of $2,000,000; and

Whereas, much state printing is being done under contracts by various departments without first ascertaining if it can be done in the central printing department by the state; and

Whereas, many departments are printing reports oftener than needed;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that every state department, board, commission and other agency, the divisions thereof and institutions thereunder are called upon to reduce by twenty-five per cent their demands for printing, that are not required by law, during the ensuing biennium.

MINORITY REPORT ON HOUSE FILE 522

We, a minority on the tax revision committee, hereby register our opposition to House File 522, which was reported out onto the floor on March 15, 1955, with a recommendation for passage.

We oppose House File 522 for the following reasons:

1. Because it is an unsound tax, since instead of increasing taxes proportionately with ability to pay, this act proposes to hit hardest the families with low incomes and net losses.

2. Because it is in effect a head tax (commonly referred to in the South as a poll tax) since a man must pay to file a return even though he may have lost money and receives no benefit.

3. Because it would greatly increase the work of processing returns at the expense of taxpayers and with comparatively little return. It is claimed it costs the major part of $3 to process the return. Then why cause more people to file returns which will yield only a small portion of the $3 it cost to process them?

4. Because it will not yield as much net state income as estimated, because it will add hundreds of thousands of dollars to the cost of administering the tax commission by making a lot of people file returns even though they obviously will owe no money. The principal result will be to increase the number of state employees.

5. Because it would be partially unenforceable since an individual could not be prosecuted for failure to file if the reason why he did not do so was because he did not have the money to pay the filing fee. The cost of collection of the filing fees by civil action would far surpass the $3 due.

6. Because the bill would reduce exemptions at a time when records show more than one-half of the farmers and thousands of others are either suffering losses or receiving sub-standard incomes and need more instead of less money.

7. Because in effect it increases taxes on a per capita basis without proper regard for the ability to pay.

8. Because it provides for payment of income taxes by persons who actually have no net income and makes no provision for them receiving the benefit of an operating loss refund such as the federal law provides.

We propose to substitute in lieu thereof the following:

Digitized by Google

1. Plug up the loopholes in the present income tax law as recommended by the Iowa state tax commission.

2. More economy in our state government by eliminating the many duplications of services and thereby allowing personnel reductions, for example:

(a). The agricultural department sends out one inspector to inspect the dairies; another inspector goes out and inspects the milk in the same dairies. We submit that both jobs can be done by the same man.

(b). Two inspectors are sent out to inspect the pumps at a gasoline station. One inspector holds the can, while the other inspector releases the gas into the can from the pumps. We submit that both of these jobs can be done by the same individual.

2. Provide for operating loss refunds such as are provided by federal law so persons caught by business slumps and misfortune can receive justified relief instead of paying a filing fee on the filing of their loss return.

4. Adopt all federal exemptions on our state income tax form now allowed by the federal income tax law; especially the special exemptions for old people and blind people.

5. Set up a study committee to look into where our money is going to make sure that we are getting our full tax dollar on money spent. An over-all look at how our tax money is being spent would surely bring some sound recommendations for economy in government and elimination of waste.

WILLIAM F. DENMAN, Polk County.
KENNETH OWEN, Appanoose County.

Passed on file.

The Speaker announced the special order for the consideration of House Joint Resolution 12.

Oppedahl of Humboldt asked and obtained unanimous consent that Senate Joint Resolution 7 be substituted for House Joint Resolution 12.

Senate Joint Resolution 7, a joint resolution proposing to create a special committee to make a study of taxation embracing the adequacy and equity of the entire structure of state, county, municipal, and school methods of raising revenues, to make special inquiries into the present system of taxation, to make a study of the equalization of real and personal property assessments and exemptions throughout the state as between the various counties of the state and the various taxing districts of the state, to study the question of revision or improvement in the present laws relating to the public revenues of the state and its various political subdivisions and to make such recommendations to the Governor and the next session or special session of the legislature as may be decided upon by the committee, was taken up for consideration.

Oppedahl of Humboldt asked and obtained unanimous consent to withdraw the amendment filed by him on March 17.

Oppedahl of Humboldt offered the following amendment, filed by him:

Amend Senate Joint Resolution 7 by striking all of section one (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Appointments by the Governor from the legislature, if any, shall be in equal numbers from each house."

MR. PRESIDENT, HONORED GUESTS, MEMBERS OF THE PIONEER LAWMAKERS OF IOWA, FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is a high honor to be asked to take a small part in this biennial joint convention in honor of the members of the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa who are assembled here today.

Seventy years have passed since Senator Norman Boardman of Clinton first suggested that Iowa lawmakers of years past, following the custom of the living members of past Vermont Legislatures, meet in reunion.

As a result of Senator Boardman's suggestion, some 24 former members of the Iowa General Assemblies sent out a call to a meeting, by published notice and letter, of past members of the Iowa Legislature, which meeting was to be held in Des Moines on February 24, 1886.

Such well known men in the annals of Iowa history as Josiah B. Grinnell, Benjamin F. Gue, George G. Wright, Robert S. Finkbine, C. F. Clarkson, Hoyt Sherman and Charles Aldrich joined in the call. Eighty-seven responded and were present, when the reunion opened at 10:30 a.m. in the old Foster Opera House in downtown Des Moines, on the day assigned.

Following the discussion for a formal permanent organization and a perpetuation of the reunion, the meeting was adjourned with the former Senators going to the Senate and the Representatives to the House, on the hill. Thus was the beginning of your revered association, the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa, and your affections for our state and those who served with you in our state are like the rivers of her borders, "flow on to an inseparable union."

The speeches which were made and the reminiscences that were shared at that first historic meeting of your organization were recorded and published for succeeding generations to read and study. These sacred pages of Iowa history reveal the hopes and dreams as well as the doubts and fears of those early lawmakers. Despite the hardships and sufferings of our founding fathers, optimism prevailed in their deliberations. The same basic problems faced them then that faced you in in your days as they do us today—they needed money for schools and roads. Our three state colleges were then long established, as well as most of the institutions under the present-day Board of Control. This Capitol Building had been completed and dedicated and these legislative halls occupied in 1884.

Like our forebears who settled Iowa in the 1840's, when Iowa became a member—state—of the greatest union of free men in the history of mankind, these Pioneer lawmakers were not willing to follow the beaten path, to do what somebody else had done because somebody else had done it, or to think the same thoughts of somebody else. No, they were true pioneers, self-reliant, confident and courageous.

Symbolic of these men, you are their rightful successors. Through your courage, your integrity and intense devotion, you have carried nobly forward the torch of vision and intelligent leadership. It took men richly endowed with the attributes of "faith, hope and charity" to mold and preserve for us a great state as we know Iowa today.

It has truly been said that a country which has no pride in its past, loses all inspiration for its future. The mandates which govern us are not the laws in our statute books, but a higher and better bond—a civilization composed of the consciousness and heart and mind of the people of a former time. It is to you our gratitude is due.

May we of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly ever strive in our deliberations and our work to emulate your spirit and purpose for our beloved state, so that it may be said of us as it can be said of you:

"The architect with pride may view
The edifice his brain has willed;
A grander temple honors you—
The commonwealth you helped to build."

President Elthon presented to the joint convention Representative Clark H. McNeal of Wright County who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the House and offered the following remarks:

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR ELTHON, MR. SPEAKER, DISTINGUISHED GUESTS, AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SIXTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I wish it were possible for me today to set down the proper words to welcome you on this occasion. Normally, I am not at loss for words, but today I find it difficult to bring proper words to the tip of my tongue to honor you today.

Therefore, I have chosen to select from the sage of the writers of the past, the proper phrases befitting this occasion. Thus, I feel on this occasion we should benefit not only those we honor but that we also should take a lesson ourselves, I quote these passages.

The immortal Shakepeare said:

"Their Crowns are in their hearts not on their heads
Not deck'd with diamonds and Indian stones; nor to be seen
Their Crowns are called content
Theirs are Crowns that seldom Kings enjoy."

Surely these men possess such Crowns. They must be crowned with content, for surely they have performed their tasks well.

Oliver Wendell Holmes once stated: "The greatest thing in the world is not so much where we stand, as in what direction we are moving." It is important to take a stand, and these Pioneer Lawmakers did. But more important they gave motion and direction to this great State of Iowa. It is that motion and direction for which we are grateful today. It is our aim that we the present lawmakers will continue to give purpose and direction in all things coming before us.

Thomas Carlyle said: "If there is a harvest ahead, even a distant one, it is poor thrift to be stingy of your seed corn."

Surely these men were not stingy with their seed. They were the hardy stock. We hope that they are satisfied with us who are the harvest of their years, and that we in turn may plant for the harvest ahead. An old proverb states:

"There is nothing noble in being superior to some other man.
The true nobility is in being superior to your previous self."

Without a question, these men became superior only in elevating themselves to higher standards than they possessed the day before.

In a recitation of famous authors it would be amiss for me to cease on this occasion without this quotation from Mark Twain, when he said: "I am an old man and have known many troubles, but most of them never happened."

I presume these noble statesmen here today assembled believed as we believe that the problems then facing them were the most difficult and unmanageable of any problems facing any generation, yet today they would undoubtedly be the first to admit that the problems they presumed to be unconquerable troubles, in the main, never really happened. We need not fear these problems and difficulties, if we face them in a true spirit of democracy and possessed with knowledge.

So today we hallow the memory of those departed from your midst. We honor those of you who visit us here today. We appreciate working with Pioneer Lawmakers such as the Honorable Gus Kuester, the Honorable Dewey Goode, Senator Byers, Senator McFarlane, and others. We welcome you, the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa, each and every one. May God bless you all.

President Elthon presented to the joint convention Senator Arch W. McFarlane of Black Hawk who addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONVENTION AND FRIENDS:

Before I enter upon my prepared speech, I am very pleased to have the honor of performing a very pleasant duty. At our Pioneer Lawmakers meeting this morning, C. C. Clifton of the Des Moines Register who has been covering the legislature for almost forty years was unanimously elected as an honorary member of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association. The thought among those gathered was that Mr. Clifton has been very instrumental in assisting in the passage of good legislation and helping to defeat poor legislation. His service to the State of Iowa is equal in many instances to many of the lawmakers, and it is my privilege and pleasure today at this joint convention to inform Mr. Clifton that he was unanimously elected as an honorary member of our association.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that I say to you that I appreciate the kind words that have been given by those that were chosen to give the addresses of welcome, both by the members of the Senate and House and to our presiding officer. I further wish to express my very great appreciation for the privilege of appearing before this joint convention and the members of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association and invited guests.

Forty years ago I first entered this Assembly as a young man in the Thirty-sixth General Assembly. There were many outstanding men, members of both the House and the Senate, of which I should just like to enumerate only a few. In the Senate there were Wallace H. Arney, Joseph H. Allen, Nicholas Balkema, Justin R. Doran, John T. Clarkson, Leslie E. Francis, Joseph R. Frailey, Fred P. Hagemann, Clem F. Kimball, Guy M. Gillette, Frederick Larrabee, Addison M. Parker, Robert Quigley, Eli C. Perkins and Chester W. Whitmore and in the House were William I. Atkinson, Joseph H. Anderson, Justin Barry, Henry Brady, Lee W. Elwood, William N. Gilbert, Ross C. Gray, Thomas F. Griffin, Allan J. Kane, David W. Kimberly, William F. Kopp, Peter J.

Digitized by Google

Klinker, David Mackey, Rube McFerren and Milton B. Pitt, and many others. Then in the next session came others of like importance and excellent ability. In the Senate were W. T. Evans, Perry Holdoegel, W. G. Haskell, Byron Newberry, Ed M. Smith, A. V. Proudfoot and A. L. Rule and across the hall in the House were John H. Darrah, S. W. Klaus, Ira W. Jones, John N. Slosson, J. O. Shaff, C. B. Santee, Stanley R. Smith, W. A. Mooty and, last but not least, James B. Weaver. These were all outstanding men.

I am calling these names to your attention because they are so familiar and they were untiring workers and gave the people their best so that we who follow them should profit by their labors. These members had many complications in those days and it seemed to those of that time that they were almost insurmountable, yet, they went at their labors in the same manner and with the same enthusiasm that the members of the legislature do today. It was only through their hard work and human understanding that they were able to accomplish the great things that were accomplished following out the foundation which was laid by the generation before that and leaving a more solid foundation for those that were to follow:

It happens that I have the privilege of serving today as a member of the General Assembly in companionship with four members of the House who are sons of pioneer legislators who served with me a good generation ago and that I also have the privilege of associating in the Senate with the son and a nephew of former colleagues of mine of many years ago. I make these comments because I wish to emphasize that the Iowa General Assembly is a continuing body; that it has its traditions of service which are being carried on from generation to generation by men of the same type and of the same breeding and lineage of the law-makers of the past.

We have established in Iowa a state and local system of government which, in the very nature of things, has its faults, but which I would not exchange for that of any state of the Union.

Iowa has good government, and the laws we have passed help keep it so. Iowa has good schools, established under the laws we have passed, and our successors will make them better schools.

We have set up a judiciary under which the protection of our laws is guaranteed to all, and whose integrity has never been questioned. We have established protection for our poor, our widows and our orphans. We have safe working conditions for the employees in our industries; we have shown due regard for our problems of sanitation and public health.

I myself have seen our road systems pass from paths into highways, here again we have laid the foundation for things to come.

I do not need to tell you that I am very grateful for this privilege but my duty here today is to introduce the speaker of the afternoon and I do not need to tell you that I appreciate this honor.

I do not need to mention him by name for he is known to all of you. He is probably the most distinguished public figure which Iowa has produced during the last generation of its history. His span of life is a long one, his memory is carried back to the days when northern Iowa was a relatively sparsely settled community, when the covered wagon was still a familiar sight and when the plowshares turned up buffalo horns when they broke the virgin soil.

He served his county ably as county attorney and then took his place in the halls of Congress, first for six terms as a representative and then, for one term, as United States Senator. He was a pioneer in our national program for the recognition of agriculture. He probably has done more than any man living or dead to impress upon the national consciousness the importance of agriculture in our public economy.

It was he, more than any other man, that brought about recognition of the fact that without a prosperous agriculture, the nation cannot develop any very true prosperity. He gained recognition as an outstanding statesman and his abilities were recognized by substantial support in two Republican national conventions for the office of the presidency of the United States.

After his service in Congress he returned to his native state to immediately receive recognition as one of the outstanding attorneys of his day, a distinction which he still holds as an active practitioner in the City of Des Mones.

I refer, of course, to the Honorable Lester J. Dickinson, whom I proudly introduce to you.

Senator Arch W. McFarlane presented to the joint convention the Honorable L. J. Dickinson, former Congressman and United States Senator from Iowa, who addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. CHAIRMAN, MEMBERS OF THE SENATE, AND OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, MEMBERS OF THE PIONEER LAW SOCIETY, AND GUESTS:

I am not sure that I belong in this Association for the reason that I never served in the legislature of Iowa. I never served in the House or the Senate of Iowa, but I have had a lot of fun teasing the boys as to what they ought to do and I want to say to you that the legislative program is a program in which you will be called everything except a worthy servant.

If you are in politics, cultivate a thick hide; if you don't, you will feel that somebody is taking a pot shot at you that you don't deserve, but after you have been through it for time after time, you will find people like you even if they say things you don't like to have them say. In politics you will find a lot of people who are associated with our higher groups will say "he is a politician". Be a politician. If we don't develop more politics and politicians in the United States, we will have a serious situation here because too many people are paying too little attention to what their duties are as American citizens.

I am glad to see a group of worthwhile people carrying on the duties of the legislature in Iowa. I don't care whether you have annual or semi-annual sessions. I often stated in Congress that I thought we would be better off if we didn't pass too many bills. I want to say this, that the thing the American people want to do is to get more interested in politics and less interested in some other things. I hate to hear a fellow say: " I don't want to put a school man in my school district." Well, I say to him, "Did you vote?" "No," he says, "I didn't have time." What chance, I ask you, is there of things going right if we neglect our duty to do the thing we ought to do. Why complain if you don't like what is done?

I have talked to many legislatures and legislative bodies, but I have never talked to the Iowa legislature before. My days on this earth are numbered. Arch McFarlane talked about most of the boys I knew and knew well for many years, and I will say to you frankly, and I believe that Arch will bear me out on this, it is easier to make a living in private life than it is in politics. Lots easier. There are a lot of people who think that legislative service is just a big vacation. I tell you any man who comes down here and spends his time, or any woman, will lose more than he or she could possibly draw out of the state treasury of Iowa as compensation for their services. I know.

Most important is to have men here who are good men. I am glad to see the younger fellows here. Somebody has got to move in in the place of the old fellows who are getting lame and tired and losing their heart. We, you and I, believe in development. Red Barber on the General Electric program that you listen to says that 'progress is our most important product". A lot of us folks are old enough to sit around and listen to that philosophy. I like to think that progress is the most important thing in the State of Iowa, and I like to think, too, that we have made plenty of progress. I think the men in this room have helped that progress with your vitality and enterprise.

I remember once visiting with an old friend in Texas. They had had five drouth years in Texas. I said to him, what in the world can you do in Texas, if we had had five drouth years in Iowa, I don't know what we could do. And he said to me: You can't do much to Texas that a few good oil wells won't cure!

Here in Iowa we don't have oil wells, but we do have farming. Why they limited the acreage you could plant to corn, so what did they do? They planted the rows of corn closer together. They used more fertilizer to the acre. They grew more bushels to the acre. Now where they used to grow 30 bushels to the acre they are not satisfied with less than 70 bushels to the acre, so they have just as much corn to the acre. In other words, Texas furnishes us gasoline and we furnish the corn to feed the steers. A fair exchange—corn to feed the Texas steers and gasoline for us in Iowa. That is the thing that Iowa is doing all the while. I can remember the time when we used to have these prophets of gloom who said that people will be starving, we can't grow enough crops, there isn't going to be food enough to feed them all. They never thought in those days that the Iowa farmer would narrow his rows of corn and use more fertilizer. I guess before we are through we will make 100 bushels to the acre a standard crop, and we are going in the right direction.

Legislation is a peculiar thing. There is always somebody that wants something. I read not long ago something about having a legislature of lobbyists in Des Moines. Now I believe in lobbyists because a lobbyist has got his story learned and will tell it to you and you can believe it or not or get the other side, and that way you get the information you need to get, to make an intelligent decision. The way the thing is publicized you would think a lobbyist is a cruel creature when as a matter of fact he is one of the best friends the legislator can have. Now I have been up against real lobbyists.

The next thing, it isn't good to have too much legislation. We have an old system of checks and balances. We should have two houses on this account. I don't want to see them pass any law for unicameral legislation like they have in Nebraska. It's narrowed down to a single house in Nebraska where the fellows carry on year after year and they get in certain channels and get fixed in certain lines. I am a believer in two houses. They are not too large in Iowa. Why? Because over here is one section of Iowa that has some one thing it wants. Over here is another section of Iowa that has something it wants. When you get together, you have a substantial program that is shown by the record of your legislature. It has shown that it is for the best interests of Iowa that you have this interplay of wants. Perhaps you say I don't know whether or not we should have a toll road. Oh yes, you say, they are nice in Pennsylvania, but I don't know if it would be profitable in Iowa. But if I was in the legislature I would spend a little midnight oil studying whether it would be for the best interests of Iowa or not. A lot of you people here can remember the old mud road fight. It was a sizzler. A lot of you can remember the days of the expansion of the capitol grounds, when that issue almost defeated Governor Clarke. It was that discussion which emphasized it and made it one of the real problems of Iowa, and it was decided in the right way, and it was a good way. A lot of you legislators here are too young to remember those things. I can see some of you though that can remember as far back as I can. Our legislatures have always done a good job.

On our taxes now. Sure we are approaching a system where a lot of people will retire when they get to be sixty-five years old. I won't have to work if I don't want to. I am not so sure we ought to quit at sixty-five. I am older than that now, and I still like to work. If you don't believe it, I open the office every morning a little after eight before the younger fellows get there. Of course I get up in the morning, that helps some. Then I go home right after 3:30 or 4 o'clock, and let them work! Divides things up the way they ought to be divided up.

I don't know what we ought to do with reference to our schools. I wouldn't try to suggest anything to this body, but I do believe that Iowa with the least illiteracy of any state in the union has been doing a good thing so far as our schools are concerned. I think we will continue to do so. There is one thing I do dislike about our school system. We educate good men who immediately move some place else and take a bigger job at a bigger salary than we can furnish to them in this state. But nevertheless all of these things help make Iowa, the manhood and womanhood of Iowa, the wonderful thing that it is. The thing that I think is the most important, is that whatever Iowa does, let's see that it is for the progress of Iowa that we take these steps. Let's make it forward not backward. I don't recall that Iowa has ever had to repeal many laws, in other words, most of our legislation has stood the test of time, and has weathered the storm, so there is one of the things that is assurance that what you do is for the best interests of Iowa. Of course, there are those fellows who will dispute this!

I don't know how far you ought to raise taxes. With everybody asking for more out of the government and saying that the government ought to do more for them, then somebody has to raise more money, but it means the people like it. Why I can recall when the federal government only owed about four billion dollars, now it owes 275 billion! They were just as careless with their change as I was! In other words, we cannot keep on going, expecting that the government is going to furnish us the things we need, when we ought to be able to put our own initiative in it and work it out for ourselves. Any time you have an additional dependent resting on the dole, you have one more problem for the taxpayers of your state.

I have no particular ideas that I want to suggest to you. I have often wondered how things work as well as they do. I have seen eighteen year old boys that never thought they would be as dumb as they thought their fathers were. When they got older, they found these things got deeper and deeper, and they had to find a way to solve them. Let's make ourselves independent of government resources if we can, and work out our problems under this private enterprise system we are all so proud of in this country.

You will find wherever you go, whatever you do, there are noble hearts and spirits brave. There are souls that are good and true, and if you give to the world the best that you have, the best will come back to you. For life is just the mirror of king and slave, it is just what you are and do, and if you give to the world the best that you have, the best will come back to you.

It is a real pleasure to appear before this body. Arch McFarlane gave me twenty minutes. I said I would only take twelve minutes. Actually I will only take ten minutes.

I remember men making long speeches, and the fellow that followed them made a short speech and was appreciated more. I am glad to meet this wonderful group. I believe in politics. I believe in the young men and the young women being in politics.

I will do the best I can to keep this government carrying on with the two party system. One more suggestion along that line. I always hate to hear a hardheaded business man say I am going to vote for the man. I don't care about the party. In other words he is putting his individual judgment against all the best thought in his party, and he thinks he knows more about how to run the government than a political party that is working on the job every day.

I don't believe anyone ever changed my Republicanism. I never thought I should be on an independent basis. I thought it should be in in the party, in the organization. I have dealt with the Democrats a lot. I had a lot of friends among the Democrats. They often wanted to trade favors with me and I wanted to also. We worked together. You think you can get along with the other fellow, but you know what counts? It's when they call the roll and you have ten more votes than the other side!

I just wanted to make a few friendly suggestions which come from an old fellow plodding along, practicing law, enjoying my life practicing law with the young fellows, but I enjoyed public service too. I believe in public life, in public service if you are qualified for it, and I believe you can do a real service. Don't shrink from assuming responsibility as a public servant, but help carry on the problems of your state and the problems of your nation.

Good luck and goodbye!

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Senator Byers of Linn moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Hanson in the chair.

Motion prevailed and the report adopted.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I voted against indefinite postponement of House File 372 because its passage would have provided the State of Iowa with a realistic and enforceable liquor law, which in my opinion is the desire of most of the people in Iowa. Its defeat passed up a source of revenue so badly needed at this time.

Failure to enact House File 372 into law justifies my voting against any increase in taxes during this session of the legislature.

ANDREW FROMMELT.

SENATE FILE 349 SUBSTITUTED FOR HOUSE FILE 510

Freed of Webster asked and obtained unanimous consent that Senate File 349 be substituted for House File 510, for the suspension of Rule 44 and for the immediate consideration of Senate File 349, a bill for an act relating to powers of soil conservation districts and commissioners; authorizing the establishment of subdistricts within a soil conservation district and authorizing and providing for a special tax on all real estate within the boundaries of a subdistrict for the purpose of carrying on watershed protection and flood prevention programs with the subdistricts.

Lucken of Plymouth offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend Senate File 349, section three (3), subsection eight (8), line twenty-six (26) by striking the word "four" and inserting the word "two".

AFTERNOON SESSION

The House reconvened, Speaker pro tempore Pendleton in the chair.

McCoy of Wapello offered the following concurrent resolution, proposed by him, Denman of Polk and Reppert of Polk:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 16

Whereas, the estimated annual flood damages in the Des Moines River Valley is $3,895,000, and

Whereas, in the year 1947, a flood caused total damages in the Des Moines River Valley of $19,247,000, and

Whereas, in the year 1944, a flood caused damages in the Des Moines River Valley of $4,855,000, of which $3,225,000 was crop and pasture damage, and

Whereas, in the period of the last 30 years, flood waters have ravagingly struck the Cities of Ottumwa, Des Moines and other cities 65 times, and

Whereas, projects have been set forth by the United States Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, to alleviate this gigantic loss to the economy of these counties, these projects being flood control dams at sites near Howell, Iowa, and Saylorville, Iowa, and

Whereas, on July 1, 1949, the Corps of Engineers, Department of the Army, presented to the State of Iowa plans for the construction of the flood control project at the site near Howell, and

Whereas, federal funds were appropriated for the Red Rock dam at the Howell site and all that was needed to begin the project was an approving signature by the Governor of Iowa, and

Whereas, such signature was withheld but in December, 1950, the Iowa Natural Resources Council recommended to the late William S. Beardsley, Governor of Iowa, that tentative approval be granted on the Red Rock project at the Howell site, as proposed by the United States Corps of Engineers in the project dated November 18, 1948, but that the project be deferred until the Army Engineers' report on the Saylorville dam and reservoir had been formally referred to the Resources Council and Board of Engineers, and

Whereas, those funds previously appropriated by the federal government were withdrawn and benefits to the State of Iowa thereby lost, and

Whereas, the United States Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, will in the near future transmit to the Governor of Iowa a complete analysis of both projects, and

Whereas, it is of the utmost importance to the State of Iowa that no more flood control funds be lost to the State of Iowa,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that the Fifty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, regularly assembled, does hereby, through concurrent resolution of both houses, go on record as encouraging and requesting the Iowa Natural Resources Council for and on behalf of the State of Iowa to take the necessary action leading to the expedient approval of either one or both of these projects and that encouragement be given to the construction of either one or both of these projects immediately upon completion of engineering and that the Governor of Iowa is urged to give any approval necessary and take any action that would help secure the completion of such projects before more disastrous flood loss has been incurred.

Passed on file.

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title as amended was agreed to.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Although voting in the negative at all times during action of the committee as a whole, that was a vote of protest against the Assembly's refusal to consider the $15,000,000 revenue from House File 372. It is the opinion of the Representatives from Scott that our highways are very much in need of attention, and being of open mind, feel that we cannot oppose any measure that would benefit the entire state even though our county would be the main one to suffer from an increase in gas tax. Thus we must vote for House File 146.

DIETZ of Scott.
PETRUCCELLI of Scott.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

My reason for voting "nay" on House File 146 which I sponsored is due to the fact that I am in favor of continuance of the one-cent gas tax increase, and am not in favor of the bill as amended.

THOMPSON of Guthrie.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I wish to explain my vote on House File 146. While favoring the retention of the one cent tax, the five cent total, I did not have the opportunity to vote on this in the final passage of the bill. In the final form, I could vote for four cents or six cents. I did not feel justified in going back to the four cent level. Therefore, all that was left to do was to vote for an additional one cent, making a total of six cents.

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE FILE 546

We, the undersigned, voted against the amendment providing for $175.00 limitation for the following reasons:

House File 546 will in effect force children of large families to leave school for the purpose of seeking employment in order to make up the deficit caused by the $175.00 restriction.

While very little juvenile delinquency exists in the home of Aid to Dependent Children recipients at the present time, under this bill the mothers of these children may be forced to seek employment for the same purpose of making up the deficit caused by the above-mentioned restriction, thereby leaving the children unsupervised, which will contribute to child delinquency.

We reluctantly voted for House File 546 so as not to deny funds for the Aid to Dependent Children program.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

On Friday, April 1, the State Auditor's office released a report which dealt with the same subject matter as did the resolution which I co-sponsored. Briefly, I should like to point out that upon introduction of the resolution it was explained that it was to clear the air in regard to rumors surrounding certain actions of the highway commission.

I feel that the auditor's report has found that the rumors cannot be substantiated and the commission's record has been cleared beyond a shadow of a doubt. My confidence in the commission has been restored. As I stated publicly on the floor of the House on Wednesday, March 30, 1955, the commission has done and is still doing a very good job on our highway construction and maintenance program.

ROSCOE L. POLLOCK.

MINORITY REPORT

As a minority on the cities and towns committee, I oppose the recommendation out for passage as a committee bill of House File 494 as amended.

I oppose this bill for two reasons. First of all, since the taxpayers of the City of Des Moines are paying over five million dollars for this auditorium, it seems only logical that their representatives on the city council should maintain strict control over the funds involved. Secondly, it is a well known fact that city auditoriums throughout the country—be they referred to as veterans memorial auditoriums or not—constantly lose money and have to be subsidized by the city. There is no reason to believe other than that this auditorium will also have to be continually subsidized by the city. It seems a simple rule of justice that if the taxpayers are paying and will continue to pay for this auditorium that they should maintain strict control through their representatives over the funds involved.

WILLIAM F. DENMAN.

The memorial address was delivered by Chaplain Walter D. Wigger, Men's Reformatory at Anamosa.

I am grateful to speak in behalf of the citizens of Iowa and this Assembly of lawmakers, to pay tribute to those who have rendered noble and worthy service to the State of Iowa in years when the depression, war, and postwar adjustments were upon us.

Green and tender are our memories of those who gave of their talents, time, and sometimes gave of their personal money in behalf of the welfare of our state.

We again extend our profound appreciation to their loved ones for sharing with us the lives of such noble people, who in our midst proved to be the salt of the earth and the light of the world. We will ever be grateful for the courage and sacrifices they have put forth to maintain harmony and to foster peace and prosperity among our people.

Yes, they fought a good fight. They kept the faith. They finished a good course. Henceforth, there is laid up for them a crown of righteousness.

Indeed, they have left prints upon the sands of time as the "Man of Galilee" left his prints upon the sands of time. John 8:6 "But Jesus stooped down, and with His finger wrote on the ground."

Everyone leaves fingerprints wherever they go or whatever they do. Often the person pursuing a course of crime leaves fingerprints that only a fingerprint expert can read. But those to whom we are paying tribute left impressions on the sands of time that all of us can read.

Let us think of some fingerprints which have been left for us to read.

In the wonders of nature, behold the blue sky and the clouds above us, the high hills in the distance, and the river flowing peacefully in the valley.

Marvel at the giant oak, the beautiful color of the rose and the flash of the wings of the bird flying by.

Digitized by Google

We see God's fingerprints in all these wonders.

Let us read the fingerprints of people who lived hundreds and thousands of years ago. Moses led the people to freedom into the new land. His prints are the ten commandments.

Florence Nightingale, the nurse, whose prints are found in the lives of the nurses in our hospitals.

Thomas Edison, the inventor, whose prints are to be found in many of the bodily comforts of today.

Washington, the statesman and farmer, whose prints are to be found in our government, farms.

People are to do something worthwhile in this world so that those who come after them can see and read worthy prints.

People are to leave nothing less than that which they have received of others.

Those we pay tribute to, your loved ones, our fellow-workers and friends, left worthy prints upon the sands of time. For they stooped down, with their lives, talents, and money, to write well; to write well an appreciation for nature; to write well of an abiding love for their loved ones; to write well of an appreciation for what others were doing for the welfare of the citizens of our state, nation and the world; to write well of a concern for all people—to help maintain order in all the realms of state life—to help provide many services that the people are in need of through the various schools and institutions.

As the "Man of Galilee" stooped down to write, they, too, stooped down and with their lives left an impression upon the sands of time, of which all of us can read. They left an appreciation for nature. They left an appreciation for God and all that is high and holy. They left an appreciation for all people and their varied circumstances.

Of a truth, we are aware of their noble ideals and deeds, and with grateful hearts we recall them. And in memory of those who have crossed over before us, we speak the words of the poet, Whittier:

"God calls our loved ones, but we lose not wholly what He has given;
They live on earth in thought and deed,
As truly as He is in His Heaven.

Benediction ..... Reverend Harold A. Tabor
Postlude ..... Jean Bass

SENATOR MARTIN ADDRESSES THE HOUSE

Swisher of Johnson announced the presence in the House chamber of the Honorable Thomas E. Martin, Junior United States Senator from Iowa.

The Speaker appointed Hoth of Allamakee and Swisher of Johnson as a committee of two to escort the Honorable Thomas E. Martin to the Speaker's station.

Swisher of Johnson introduced to the House Senator Martin, who addressed the House as follows:

Thank you, Mr. Swisher.

MR. SPEAKER: It is a privilege and a pleasure indeed to meet with you here on this occasion and to speak briefly to the Iowa House of Representatives.

My trip to Iowa at this Eastertime came rather unexpectedly as the United States Senate does not ordinarily recess more than two or three days at Eastertime. This year, however, the Senate has already acted upon all important legislation developed and presented to the Senate by the various committees and no important legislation is now pending on the Senate calendar. For that reason, the Senate only a few days ago decided to join with the House of Representatives in the Easter recess. Immediately upon adjournment, Mrs. Martin and I drove back to Iowa, reaching Des Moines late last night.

I should report to you briefly on the general situation as I have observed it in Congress. Our first and most far-reaching concern has to do with the war situation. I sincerely wish it were possible to cut down a bit in the extent and intensity of this speculation and I wish also we might avoid further attempts to establish fixed determinations in advance of military decisions. A brittle and fixed policy can lead to serious complications. Certainly no military leader and no Commander-in-Chief of the armed forces can afford to telegraph a prospective adversary his decisions and his plans. We must preserve some leeway for the exercise of good judgment as the occasion may require.

I have nothing but high praise for the effective and efficient training and operation of our armed forces, but we need more than that in the present state of affairs. We need, above all, the calm judgment, resolution and determination of our trusted leaders and they need the wholehearted backing of all of us.

Digitized by Google

Most fortunately for America, our great President, Dwight D. Eisenhower, is stalwart and steadfast in his temperament. He is not easily pushed around or stampeded, and his judgment has been proven time and again to be sound.

Congress itself showed extreme confidence in President Eisenhower as our great leader when they recently passed, almost unanimously, the resolution placing complete control in him for the exercise of his judgment if the occasion required special action. This bipartisan vote of confidence was a real warning to Russia that the American people are solidly behind President Eisenhower and, in my opinion, it is bound to have tremendous effect on the attitude and action of Russia.

Now let us turn to domestic affairs. In that field, the budget of planned expenditures, the tax exaction needed to meet that budget, and our debt limit are all of great concern to us today. The recent decision of Congress in the field of Federal taxation can at most be temporary unless we can reduce the Federal spending program. Because of large expenditures over the past many years, our debt limit has come to be a real problem. The present permanent debt limit stands at 275 billion dollars. Our debt on June 30 this year will stand at about 274 billion dollars. You have heard considerable about a temporary debt limit in excess of the permanent debt limit. This temporary debt limit is made necessary because of the heavy expenditures of funds in the period from July 1 to January 1 each year during which period there is not collected an equal proportion of our yearly revenues. Consequently our temporary debt is scheduled to rise to approximately 282 billion dollars by December 31. Then the new collections of income taxes will bring that indebtedness back down possibly to the 275 billion dollar permanent debt limit by June 30 of next year. If our economy continues to boom, this can be done but, of course, if our economy does not produce enough revenue, even our permanent debt limit will be inadequate at the end of the next fiscal year. For this reason, many of us in Congress are giving particular attention to the matter of reducing Federal expenditures still further. This is hard to do when 36 billion dollars of our budget is directly needed for national defense, not to mention many additional billions that will stem indirectly from national defense requirements.

On the economic front, our greatest interest here in Iowa is, of course, in agriculture. We are very fortunate in our representation in Congress on the agricultural committees. Senator Hickenlooper is serving on the Senate committee on Agriculture and Congressman Charles Hoeven, of the Eighth District, is serving on the House committee on Agriculture. They have each made outstanding records in agricultural legislation.

We do have a very real problem of surpluses. That is indeed in striking contrast to reports from Russia that indicate they have a problem of food deficits. In our opinion, of course, Russia has contributed to their shortage of food production by their system of collectivized farming which, of course, is not a problem in our country. We have a very real problem of stability of farm prices and we have a problem of price supports. The instability of our farm price structure during the past few years has arisen under the high support program which is still in force. The flexible support program is not scheduled to take effect until the harvest of 1955 crops. Just what effect the application of flexible price supports will have on the price of supported crops is not yet determined. The prices of perishable products, such as meats, is an even more direct concern to us as these perishables are not included in the support program. I, for one, have followed the farrowing record very closely because the increase in farrowing indicates that the supply of hogs going to market will likely continue to be great enough to affect hog prices barring, of course, any sharp reduction in hog numbers because of the disaster of widespread disease epidemic. I join with you in your deep concern over the stability of the price structure of all important farm products, and I am confident we can and will stabilize farm prices more effectively as the repercussions of war pass further into history.

In the industrial field, we are more fortunate today, as indicated by the mild boom that is now under way in industrial production. It is our hope, of course, that this boom will be stable and steady and that it will not get out of control so far as to precipitate a later recession. You may recall that we experienced a boom a little over a year ago that was followed by a slight recession that was of great concern to us until it was brought under control.

Wars have always created cross currents in our economy that cause fluctuations up and down in production and in price structures. We have been unusually fortunate since the end of the Korean war in stabilizing our economy against an uncontrolled boom and recession. Our national administration and Congress have watched this matter very closely and intently to the end that we are genuinely hopeful of real success in building stability into our economy and into our fiscal structure.

As you know, I believe strictly in the soundness of the thinking of the people at home. Through my questionnaire, I have tried to keep in close touch with all of you and with your constituents at home. I know you join with me in your high appreciation and value of such close consultation with them. As long as we keep close to the people we are on safe ground here in America. The high quality of American citizenship is the greatest single factor that builds our strength as a nation.

In closing, I am proud indeed to report that Senator Hickenlooper is doing an outstanding job on the committees on Foreign Relations; Agriculture; and Atomic Energy, and in the House of Representatives our Iowa members are each serving with great distinction on the following committees:

Honorable Ben Jensen, Appropriations
Honorable Karl LeCompte, Foreign Relations; and House Administration
Honorable Henry Talle, Banking and Currency; District of Columbia; and Joint Committee on Economics
Honorable Paul Cunningham, Armed Services
Honorable Charles Hoeven, Agriculture
Honorable James Dolliver, Interstate and Foreign Commerce
Honorable H. R. Gross, Post Office and Civil Service
Honorable Fred Schwengel, Public Works

I have been assigned to the Senate committees on Government Operations; and Post Office and Civil Service. The Iowa delegation has enjoyed good recognition in committee assignments.

Again, I wish to express my appreciation for the privilege of serving as the junior United States Senator from Iowa and also for the privilege of serving over the many years prior to 1955 as a member of the Iowa delegation in the United States House of Representatives.

I thank you sincerely for the opportunity to speak to you on this occasion. I look forward to visiting with each of you personally during my visit here. As I look about this room, I see many close friends with whom it has been my privilege to travel and visit about the State of Iowa for the past several years.

Thank you again, Mr. Speaker, for your hospitality.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Dwight D. Walker, district winner of the "Voice of Democracy" contest, sponsored by the Oskaloosa Junior Chamber of Commerce, in cooperation with the National Junior Chamber of Commerce, addressed the House as follows:

My name is democracy! I am the beacon of hope in a troubled world.

Digitized by Google

I can be found in an abandoned foxhole in Korea, in the Senate of the United States, and at a meeting of the P.T.A. I am present when you spend a quiet evening at home with your family, and when you go to church on Sunday. Yes, I can even be found in the broken spirit of a Russian peasant as he goes about his menial tasks under the surveillance of his government.

I cannot tell you my exact age, for no one knows just when I was born. First, I was an attitude in the minds, a gleam in the eyes, a hope in the hearts of men, who sought a new way of life, free from the oppression of a tyrannical ruler, by "divine right". These men were my fathers.

These men brought me with them, when I was still but an idea, to found a new land. The land was called America. It is my land—the land of Democracy. It was here that my life began. America and I grew up together.

My fathers loved me. They developed me, nursed me, and even fought a war, that I might live and continue to grow.

The torment and anguish which my fathers endured for me, left its permanent mark on my history. Guns roared, armies battled, and fires raged through my land, taking an immense toll of blood and human life.

But I lived, experiencing myself and bringing to my people a richer and fuller life! For, from out of the blood which my fathers shed for me, emerged the greatest document ever conceived in the mind of man—the Constitution, which gave substance to the ringing declaration . . . "that all men are created equal, and that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

My horizons widened. Countless people, imbued with the ideals of freedom, braved the wilderness, fought the Indians, endured hardships and death, and all for the sake of me—Democracy.

However, there continued to be threats to my security. My history has been blackened by a succession of wars. From the struggle for the emancipation of slaves and the preservation of my union, to the "blood-bath" of World War I. I emerged triumphant from all these trials, but my people failed to acknowledge the opportunity that fate had laid in their hands. They looked to idealistic remedies to guarantee peace to man forever.

The result was the rise of Hitlerism, and ultimately World War II. Now it is Communism, and the cold war.

But I have learned through bitter experience. I have grown from my infancy, to take my rightful place as leader of a troubled world.

I have grown—until now I am adult. But I shall never become aged as long as my people continue to value the principles for which I stand. As the minds of men gave birth to a great idea, so has this idea given birth to certain of my principles.

Election of public officials by all the people is one of these principles. Others are our public school system; the four freedoms, representative taxation, racial equality—countless proofs of my greatness.

This has been my past. But what about my future?

It has been said that my greatest enemy is indifference on the part of my people. We have seen that neglect of their duties and obligations led my people into the second World War. Citizens of America, don't let this happen again!

Speak, act, and think Democracy. Live it. Breathe it. Support it. Defend it and believe in it! But above all, do not take it for granted.

Don't become careless to the point that you lose your most precious heritage.

A great American patriot once said that I am the last, best hope of the earth.

But who am I? What kind of a power am I that I am the hope of the world?

I am Democracy. I am the power of the people.

Walter of Hardin offered the following House concurrent resolution by him, Oppedahl of Humboldt, Ringgenberg of Story, Christiansen of Worth and Edgington of Franklin:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 20

Whereas, the United States Supreme Court in an opinion written in the case of Kern-Limerick, Inc. v. Scurlock, 347 U. S. 110, has held that a contractor with a federal agency can be constituted a federal purchasing agent in the absence of a federal act prohibiting this, and thereby the contractor's purchases and use of tangible personal property are immunized from state taxation; and

Whereas, under the rule established by this opinion practically any activity engaged in by a private contractor on behalf of a federal agency can be immunized from any state taxation by appropriate contract phraseology, resulting in serious interference with state and local powers of taxation contrary to the established policy of Congress and the expressed will of the executive branch of the federal government; and

Whereas, no additional rights of taxation are sought on behalf of the states, only the restoration and the preservation of these rights which existed prior to the pronouncement of the rule here complained of; and

Whereas, if there is to be any withdrawal from the sovereign states of the Union of any portion of their power to tax government contractors there should be an equal withdrawal from the federal government of its power to tax state employees and contractors, to the end that the power to tax shall remain in balance;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, the Senate Concurring, that the General Assembly respectfully memorializes the Congress of the United States to enact as speedily as possible legislation which will secure and make certain to the states of the Union the power and right to levy and collect any nondiscriminatory privilege tax upon any privilege exercised under the protection and authority of the law of any state of the Union, except such taxes the direct incidence of which would be upon the United States.

Laid over under Rule 34.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 19

Whereas, two members of the Senate, namely, Senator DeVere Watson and Senator W. Eldon Walter, and two Representatives, namely, the Speaker, Mr. Arthur C. Hanson and Representative Elmer H. Vermeer, have been designated by the Federal Civil Defense Administration as Atomic Test Observers for what is militarily termed the "Open Shot" Atomic Explosion in the week of April 24,

SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

Oppedahl of Humboldt asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following report be printed in the Journal:

TAX COMMISSION INVESTIGATION

This report is prepared by a joint committee consisting of two members of the Senate ways and means committee and two members of the House tax revision committee. Its purpose was to make investigation of the Iowa Tax Commission with a view to determining what, if any, legislation might improve the efficiency of such commission's activities. The committee's work was confined largely to the Income Tax Department where the greatest number of administrative problems appear to exist. Preliminary to setting out recommendations, it might be helpful to describe briefly the mechanics of the department's operation.

Income tax returns are processed as follows: After being opened in the Mail Room, they are sent to the Sorting Room for separation into categories such as "Partnership", "Non-resident", "Full pay", "No pay", "No remittance", etc. The remittance checks are pinned face down to the return for endorsement. They are then run through the "validating machines" that give each return and remittance check a consecutive number, which becomes the filing number for that return. The bank deposit is made up at this time, which is checked against the validating machine total, providing an adequate control in this regard. The returns then go to the I. B. M. room (International Business Machine), where an index card is made for each return. It shows the name, filing number, year, county, social security number, marital status, total wages, taxable income, etc. These index cards are then checked by a verifying machine to prove their accuracy. This department employs 10 key punch operators and 8 verifiers. Rental on the equipment is approximately $36,000.00 annually. Daily production for each key punch machine is about 1,200 cards per day, which at 2 cards per return, represents 600 taxpayers. The cards are then run through an electronic calculator which computes the correct tax based upon the factors of income and marital status appearing on the card. Incorrect computations by the taxpayers are thus automatically disclosed. In 1953 more than 40,000 errors were detected. 10,000 of these were on returns filed as "No Pay", but which the machine calculation showed owed about $4.00 each.

The returns are then filed in batches of 50, by consecutive number. Each year's returns are filed separately. This is the system used by the federal government.

Office auditors, of which there are 12, then review the returns by examination of schedules, deductions and proper conformance with the tax law. These auditors average about 1,800 returns per week, or 45 per hour, which does not appear to allow for a thorough review. Additional tax disclosed by this audit is largely collected by corresponding with the taxpayer. Suspicious returns are referred to field auditors, of which 17 are employed. The cost of auditing an average return in the field is more than its tax yield. This is because the Iowa exemptions are relatively high, and the tax rate is low. Unfortunately, the Iowa auditing staff does not appear to have the prestige and stature in the public mind as that enjoyed by the federal field men. This probably is due to the fact that the usual deficiency is small, and the taxpayer regards it only as a nuisance; and because criminal proceedings have never been used by the state to punish tax evaders.

The commission also has 4 employees who are occupied in checking the federal income tax returns for comparison to state returns. One of the principal sources of additional tax are those cases in which the federal government has made an audit and assessed a deficiency. These instances are reported by the federal government to the Iowa Tax Commission, and follow-up is made by correspondence. Cooperation between the Iowa Tax Commission and the federal bureau is reported to be excellent.

The present system of filing has stirred some controversy. Previous to the introduction of the I. B. M. system in 1953, each taxpayer had a filing jacket in which were placed all of his returns as they were filed annually, and a single index card for each taxpayer was compiled manually showing the name, address, income and tax for the consecutive years. The filing and indexing were much slower under the older system, but the associating of consecutive years in one file is of considerable advantage in auditing. Also, many slight discrepancies in name and address which necessarily creep into the I. B. M. index from year to year were largely reconciled as the returns were filed under the old system. The number of returns filed in recent years is as follows:

	FULL PAY	PART PAY	NO PAY	TOTAL
1950	326,775	25,087	254,866	606,728
1951	352,816	33,334	251,202	637,352
1952	370,249	37,067	315,305	722,621
1953	396,509	48,908	312,991	758,408

Filing space is a major problem for the commission. At the present time, only the most recent year's income tax returns are kept in files on the second floor offices of the commission. The next two previous years' returns are kept in the sub-basement, and the 4th and 5th years in another building a block away.

Information from the federal Director of Internal Revenue indicates that from 200,000 to 250,000 more federal returns than state returns are filed by Iowa residents. Many of these are filed for the purpose of obtaining refunds or by persons who would not owe a state tax. However, estimates are that a minimum of 50,000 to 100,000 Iowans required to file state income tax returns are not filing.

The possibilities for ferreting out the non-filers who owe tax are greatly enhanced by use of the I. B. M. machines. At the present time employers having 8 or more employees are obliged to report to the Employment Security Commission the amount of wages paid to each person. Soon this will extend to all employers of 4 or more. I. B. M. cards are made in the Employment Security Commission and collated with the Income Tax filers cards, thus immediately disclosing those taxpayers who have not filed, together with the amount of the wages they received. The federal government is now preparing punch cards from its 1040-A (salary) income tax returns. If the Tax Commission can obtain duplicates of this set of cards (the reproduction of which is a simple process) they can be collated with the cards of those filing state returns. In the event the federal Treasury Department should develop a punch card system for all of its 1040 returns the detection of those failing to file Iowa returns would be virtually complete.

Because of the potentialities in the I. B. M. system for cross checking, mechanical computation, and otherwise improving the efficiency of accounting and collection practices, its advantages appear to outweigh the objectionable features. Moreover, it is felt that the system will be improved as additional experience is gained.

One of the burdens of the income tax department has to do with the accounting and follow-up collections on "part pay" returns. The Iowa statute allows a taxpayer with a liability over $10.00 to pay it in two equal installments six months apart. This authorized payment in the year following, whereas the federal withholds in the current year. There were 37,000 part-pay returns in Iowa in 1953. It requires the attention of almost six people to service them, and substantial revenue is eventually lost through non-collection.

The statute also provides a penalty for failure to file an income tax return when the same is due, but no penalty other than interest occurs where a return is filed showing tax due, but no remittance is attached. This practice is rather frequent, and should be discouraged by additional penalty.

Only a period of two years from the due date of filing the return is allowed before the state's right to audit and assess deficiency tax terminates. The federal period is three years. Frequently after a federal audit is referred to the Iowa commission it is discovered that the statute of limitations has run against collecting the Iowa tax. This period should be extended to three years.

The policy of the commission has been to place the staff of office auditors at the disposal of the public for assistance in preparing their income tax returns during the filing season. Now that the time for filing has been extended to April 30, this removes the auditors from their regular work for four months of the year. It is doubtful that the amount of tax yield pays for the time of the auditors, whereas it is estimated that the auditors would be collecting in at least $200,000.00 during the period on their regular auditing. Further, since the service is not offered generally throughout the state it can hardly be justified on the basis of public relations. The practice should be discontinued.

It appears that little or no check is available relative to Iowa income tax which may be owed by non-residents having property or business income within the state. This problem should be pursued by the commission, although no legislative solution suggests itself at present.

The committee reviewed the proposal, embodied in House File 225 and Senate File 203, whereby the Iowa income tax return would be reduced to a short form on which would be shown taxpayer's adjusted gross income from his federal return, and after minor adjustments, the Iowa rates applied. It appears that it would not be physically possible for the commission to independently prepare a complete punch card file of all federal returns as to name and adjusted gross income, for comparison with those filing Iowa returns. However, very extensive spot-checks would be feasible, and the knowledge that federal and state returns were being closely compared would no doubt encourage additional Iowa filings. The plan would give the Iowa commission the full benefit of the federal auditing staff, plus what additional audits it conducted itself. If such a plan were adopted provision should be made that the Iowa commission could secure from the taxpayer copies of his federal returns upon request. This would be necessary in all cases of audit, and especially where the Fiduciary department is required to give income tax acquittance prior to the closing of a decedent's estate. One of the principal advantages of the proposal would be to minimize the confusion to taxpayers resulting from differences between federal and state rules as to definitions of income, deductions, depreciation, etc. This confusion causes many returns to be filed improperly and multiplies the work of the auditors. Some questions have been raised as to whether the bill might effect an unconstitutional delegation of power to the federal Treasury Department or Congress by adopting the federal revenue Code. However, it is pointed out that for many years a similar adoption of federal law has been in effect in Iowa relative to the Iowa Estate Tax. Since it would automatically subject capital gains to Iowa income tax, it is estimated that enactment of the income would augment the income tax revenue by about $1.8 million. The committee feels that this bill deserves favorable consideration.

The committee studied a suggestion submitted to it which would limit the value of capital equipment subject to depreciation in the income tax return to the actual value of such equipment as reported to the assessor for local property taxes. This is an ingenious method of insuring equality of assessment, but because of certain technical problems involved the committee feels that it should be submitted to the Interim Tax Study Committee for review, rather than legislative action at this time.

The committee made special inquiry to determine whether there was evidence of any particular group of taxpayers who might be evading taxes more than the average, but found no substantial evidence that this was true. Statistics released by the tax commission indicates that approximately 87,000 farmers filed Iowa returns on which 5 million dollars of tax was due, while about 108,000 filed no pay returns. Skilled and unskilled laborers as a group filed about 150,000 returns which showed an aggregate tax due of 3 million 78 thousand dollars and about 71,000 no pay returns. However, neither field nor office audits indicated a substantially higher rate of deficiency assessments among farmers whose returns were audited as compared to other business people.

For 1953, records of the commission show that 312,991 people filed returns on which there was no tax due. The processing, filing and auditing of these returns requires considerable expense to the tax commission, and it appears reasonable that some minimum tax or filing fee be assessed to each individual having income in excess of a given figure. This is not strictly in accordance with the philosophy of the income tax which levies upon the basis of ability to pay. However, it is felt that if the minimum tax were, for instance, $10.00 on each individual having a gross or net income sufficient to require the filing of a return under the present law, that there would be no great hardship on any person, considering the varied services that the state renders, and any tendency to claim excessive or unallowable deductions by a taxpayer who might otherwise pay from $1.00 to $10.00 would be discouraged. This would produce about $3 million of additional revenue. Anything less than a minimum filing fee of $10.00 would probably be economically unprofitable to enforce.

It was not the purpose of this committee to give attention to the quality of work performed by employees of the commission nor other similar matters within the function of the executive branch of government. It is pointed out that there are obviously many devoted and conscientious individuals performing services which are vital to the State of Iowa. However, it appears that there are numbers of instances in which the retirement of over-age employees would enable the work of the commission to be carried forward more aggressively. Certain exceptions have been made to the retirement policies set forth in Chapter 97-B-46, Code 1954. While no reflection is intended upon any such persons, it is our opinion that the exceptions contained in the law should be repealed.

It is difficult to acquire and hold youthful employees due to the salary schedules, but the committee feels that further attempts should be made to interest college graduates in serving in state departments even though their tenure might not be too long.

It is further felt that morale and efficiency could be improved by a more effective schooling program for new employees, greater formulizing of auditing and reporting procedures, and a system of memorandum instructions to auditors which would keep them abreast of changing legal interpretations. It would also be helpful if department heads were given more leeway to recognize the more conscientious employees by way of wage increases.

In the inheritance tax division it appears that the state is losing some revenue because of two situations which could be altered by statutory enactment.

In the first place the present law allows remaindermen acquiring property by gift or inheritance, but subject to a life estate, to defer payment of the inheritance tax until the death of the life tenant. This creates a situation whereby many estates are held open during the lifetime of the person having present possession of the property and the result is that the state must continually be checking records to determine whether or not such people are still living. This requires the full time services of two employees. The committee feels that this department's efficiency would be improved if all remainder interests were made taxable at the date of gift or probate of estate instead of holding same in abeyance until the death of the life tenant.

It is further suggested that in probates in which the Iowa estate tax is applicable, where the decedent's property is situated in more than one state, there is sometimes tax lost because of the present wording of our statute. This is because the Iowa estate tax is stated in graduated percentages, which schedule is identical to the 80 per cent credit for federal estate tax purposes. But where a property lies in two or more states, each state commences with the lower brackets with the result that the entire 80 per cent federal credit is not fully consumed. This should be corrected so that in all instances Iowa will receive its full proportionate share of collectible tax.

The committee therefore recommends that the following legislation be enacted:

1. That the provision allowing Iowa income tax to be paid in two installments be deleted.

Digitized by Google

2. That a penalty, in addition to interest, be provided in the situation where a taxpayer files a return disclosing a tax but does not pay the same within the time required for filing the return.

3. That the period during which the state may audit income tax returns and assess deficiencies be extended from two years to three years.

4. That employees of the tax commission discontinue the preparation of tax returns for individuals.

5. The federal definitions of income deductions and related items be utilized to coordinate Iowa income tax more closely with the federal income tax, as proposed by House File 225.

6. That a minimum income tax, or filing fee of $10.00 be assessed for all persons having a gross or net income sufficient under the law to require a return to be filed.

7. That the provisions of Chapter 97-B-46, Code of 1954, authorizing exceptions to the mandatory retirement of public employees after the age of 70 be repealed.

8. That remainder interests acquired by gift or inheritance be subject to inheritance tax at the date of gift or probate instead of holding the same in abeyance until death of the life tenant.

9. That the Iowa estate tax rate be amended to insure that the full 80 per cent credit allowed by the federal estate tax act will be fully collectible by the state.

It is the opinion of the committee that the enactment of all of the above recommendations would increase state revenues by about $5,000,000.00 and would materially increase the efficiency of the Iowa Tax Commission.

Johns of Tama offered the following House concurrent resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 24

Whereas, in recent years there has been an increasing number of tax exemptions to real estate owned by educational institutions as part of their endowment funds; and

Whereas, the increase in tax exemptions has resulted in a higher tax levy to meet the loss in revenue, and the tax burden is not evenly distributed upon all taxpayers; and

Whereas, the property owned by educational institutions as part of their endowment funds is income producing and should bear the same proportionate share of the tax burden as similar nonexempt income properties; and

Whereas, bills have been introduced into the General Assembly to subject such property to taxation, but no action has been taken thereon; and

Whereas, the whole subject of tax exemptions should be surveyed and studied;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the tax study committee be directed to study the whole subject of tax exemptions to real property and give particular attention to exemption of property owned by educational institutions as part of their endowment funds under subsection eleven (11) of section four hundred twenty-seven point one (427.1), Code 1954.

PRESS AND RADIO AWARD TO PATRICK OF SIOUX

Watson of Warren asked and obtained unanimous consent to have printed in the Journal the citation awarded to the Honorable Russell A. Patrick by the Des Moines Press and Radio Club at their legislative recognition dinner, April 18, 1955; and also the remarks of James P. Ince, president, in presenting the award:

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

One of the most tireless workers in the Iowa House, the light burns in the hotel room of this man long after the session has ended for the day. Tomorrow will be another day of work—and the facts must be sifted from the fodder.

Whether it be a major bill affecting the moral fibre or the pocketbook—or a legalizing act for one of the 99 counties—each piece of legislation must get careful scrutiny. When he speaks, he speaks quietly and, it seems, with conviction. A respector of opinions, he never forces an issue or a vote. A leader must be a listener—and he listens.

Sitting in the press box, reporters find part of the game is guessing the motive of the person active on a particular bill—you might call it the story behind the story. For this man the motive seems to be a desire to do the right thing. The one sure guide is conscience.

The winner of this year's award is never one to follow in the mainstream. His opposition is firm but polite and yet there is a spirit of compromise when the oil and the water do not mix.

As chairman of a major House committee he has been instrumental in the drafting and passage of several important bills. Perhaps they are the most important of all, but that is not for us to say. He is quick to pass credit to those who work with him.

Though his health has been poor for some time, he has never wavered from the course charted by the citizens of his county and his fellow House members. He has pursued his job with vigor and courage and kept a sense of humor intact in the process.

More could be said but the picture—we think—is painted. Press members covering the House during this 1955 legislative session have picked—as the outstanding member—Representative Russell A. Patrick, the gentleman from Sioux.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I was absent from the chamber at the time the vote was taken on Senate File 183. Had I been present I would have voted "aye."

HILLMAN H. SERSLAND.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I voted for House File 577 under protest for the following reasons:

I feel and have felt that "General Aid" in the past has been a fine thing because it has spread the burden of school support for our public schools from sources other than property tax alone. The insertion of the 15 mill minimum requirement in order to qualify for this "General Aid" tends to destroy the very principle of General Aid. The attack on this aid started in the Fifty-fourth General Assembly by inserting 8 mills and the proponents have already indicated that their goal is for even higher millage requirements. I feel that this is an affront to the small school district and to the districts containing both parochial and public schools, thereby depriving these citizens (taxpayers) of General Aid. This in my opinion is wrong.

ANDREW G. FROMMELT.

CONFERENCE COMMITTEE REPORT
(House File 522)

Pendleton of Buena Vista called up for consideration the following report of the conference committee concerning House File 522:

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE:

We, the undersigned members of the conference committee appointed to consider the difference between the Senate and the House on House File 522, an act amending chapter four hundred twenty-two (422), Code 1954, providing for the reduction of credits (except for dependents) which may be deducted from Iowa individual income taxes and restricting installment payment privilege to tax of over fifty dollars, and amending chapter four hundred twenty-three (423), Code 1954, providing funds for the general fund of the State of Iowa, beg leave to report and make the following recommendations:

It is the recommendation of the conference committee that it will be necessary to increase revenue sufficient to meet anticipated budget needs. In order to effect that result, it is necssary to provide legislation creating an emergency tax revenue which will produce the necessary revenue for a well balanced budget, and to meet the necessary expenditures during the next biennium ending June 30, 1957.

It is the recommendation of the committee that this emergency revenue raising legislation shall exist until June 30, 1957 and that the tax study committee provided for by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly shall evaluate the entire tax structure in the State of Iowa including all real and personal property assessments, exemptions, credits and deductions, methods of raising revenue from other sources of taxation including consideration of the entire field of sales, uses, services, corporation, income and real and personal property taxation and that such committee shall come forth with a proposal for a well balanced program of taxation to meet the needs of the State of Iowa and to provide for the stability of such revenues in the future.

In line with the foregoing we make the following recommendations:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON CAPITOL IMPROVEMENT

Honorable Leo Elthon,
President of the Senate.
Honorable Arthur Hanson,
Speaker of the House.
Honorable Members of the Senate,
Honorable Members of the House.

We, the undersigned members of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, beg leave to report, respecting the duties performed by us, as the committee on Capitol Improvement which committee was established by the Fifty-fifth General Assembly pursuant to House Concurrent Resolution number 27 as follows:

"Whereas, it is becoming increasingly evident that some major repairs and rehabilitation are going to be necessary to preserve the exterior of the state capitol, and also that there is evidence that necessary repairs and improvements might well be made within the building itself;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, and there is hereby created a capitol improvement commission, consisting of three members from the Senate to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and three members of the House to be appointed by the Speaker of the House, for the purpose of making a survey of the physical condition of the state capitol and making a report of such recommendations to the Fifty-sixth General Assembly for such improvements as said commission might deem proper and necessary.

The following members of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly were appointed by the respective presiding officers to serve as members of this special committee:

Senator George L. Scott
Senator Henry Washburn
Senator Thomas J. Dailey
Representative Guy G. Butler
Representative Russell A. Patrick
Representative G. M. Ludwig

The committee held its first formal meeting in Des Moines on June 5, 1953, at 10:30 a.m. Permanent officers were thereupon selected as follows: Senator George L. Scott, Chairman, Representative Guy G. Butler, Secretary.

The purposes and objectives of the committee were reviewed and summarized and the committee adjourned to conduct a personal inspection of the Capitol Building, accompanied by Fred Willis, custodian, A. C. Gustafson, Chief Clerk of the House, and other state personnel, all of whom were present by invitation of the committee. Following this inspection, Chairman Scott appointed the committee members to confer with selected members of the Engineering Departments of Iowa State College, and the State University of Iowa, respecting the provision of professional assistance without charge to the state, to the committee.

Professor Leonard Wolfe, of the Department of Architectural Engineering, Iowa State College, was subsequently invited to assist the committee.

The committee met for its second session on September 1, 1953, in Des Moines at 11:00 a.m. at the Capitol Building, with Professor Leonard Wolfe present. The committee further invited Mr. Ralph Arnold, architect of the Board of Control, and Mr. Thomas Rowat, president of the Rowat Cut Stone Company of Des Moines, Iowa, to confer with the committee. Present also upon the invitation of the committee were Mr. Fred Willis, custodian, and Mr. Theodore E. Wood, of the Western Waterproofing Company of Des Moines, Iowa. It was determined that subject to the approval of the Executive Council, a demonstration repair of the bases of two columns on the north balcony, would be carried out at the earliest possible date, to allow for weather and moisture reaction upon such repair. Senator Washburn and Representative Patrick conferred with the Executive Council on September 3, 1953, representing the committee and it was suggested to proceed with the demonstration repair project and employ the Western Waterproofing Company to conduct the experimental repairs.

On September 16, 1953, arrangements were made through Mr. Willis, for members of the committee to proceed to Little Rock, Arkansas, and to Jefferson City, Missouri, to inspect the respective state capitol buildings, upon which structures Western Waterproofing had made major repairs in restoration. Representative Butler, Representative Patrick, Mr. Willis and Mr. Wolfe left Des Moines on September 28 for Little Rock, and returned on September 30. The report of this inspection is attached to the original of this report accompanied by a copy of the plans and specifications of the repair project. In summary, it may be said that the Arkansas repair project was much more extensive than would be contemplated for the Iowa capitol building, and the committee members making the trip concluded that the better way to proceed was to authorize the demonstration repair of the two selected columns, and the results of such repair might be examined by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly. In connection with this conclusion, the committee members had before them a special report by L. E. Donaldson, Director of the Indiana Limestone Institute; a copy of this special report is attached hereto for the information of the Assembly.

The committee proceeded to secure the repair of the two columns on the northwest corner of the north balcony; and invite the inspection of this work by the members of the Assembly. This repair work included the following action: Western Waterproofing Company undertook the repair under the direction of Mr. Wood. All deteriorated stone on the column bases was chipped off from the base of each column, copper dowels were inserted, and the bases were reformed with a material called "flexotex". This material has a granite aggregate, using a special binding agent, and it is claimed that it has four times the strength of Portland cement. The cement was tried first, but the cement was not flexible enough to form the bases.

In summary, based upon its research, investigations, discussions, and findings, your special committee reports the following conclusions, and makes the recommendations set out hereafter:

Conclusions:

a. There are no structural weaknesses in the Iowa State Capitol Building, internal or external. This structure is sound. Evidence of this soundness is demonstrated by the absence of any cracking of the interior plaster, or settling of the exterior walls. Expert structural engineers have examined the structure thoroughly and upon their findings this conclusion is based.

b. External stone disintegration is confined to molded members of the stone, such as the bases of columns and pilasters, and principally on the ornamental decorations of the building, such as leafing and rosettes;

Digitized by Google

there is no appreciable disintegration of the wall-bearing zone of the structure.

Recommendations:

a. That the Budget and Financial Control Committee shall be instructed to proceed, with the cooperation and assistance of the Executive Council, with demonstration repairs to the various areas of the building at a minimum of expense, where particular types of ornamentation have deteriorated; that based upon the costs of making such demonstration repairs, more complete plans, specifications and estimates be prepared by the said Budget Committee to be included in their report to the Fifty-seventh General Assembly for possible action; that the costs incident to such repairs be paid by the Executive Council from funds allocated to the Capitol Maintenance account.

b. That no "sand-blasting" of the building be permitted at any time. Despite the pleas of uninformed persons to "clean up" the exterior stone work, such "sand-blasting" operation is likely to do serious damage to the structure, and produce an undesired effect both in appearance and color. Also it might produce a porous condition which would absorb more moisture and might cause damage because of extremes in weather changes.

c. That the best professional assistance available, from the State University of Iowa, and Iowa State College, be called in for continued consultation with the Budget Committee, and the Executive Council, in formulating plans and reports for action by the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

The state capitol building has weathered the past eighty years with the qualities of its builders—firmness, unyielding strength and stability. A few self-styled critics have smirked at its general architectural lines and appearances but, to generations of Iowans, this fine building is an expression of the values of Iowa ways of living—firm and enduring. Your committee trusts that it has made some small contribution to the continued usefulness of our capitol building.

In closing, the committee states that it asks for no reimbursements for money spent by its members for travel, meals or lodging; we ask for no per diem compensation; we seek no appropriation; we do not request that the committee be extended or its work prolonged. We ask only that our report be accepted and that we be discharged.

Our compensation consists in the realization that we now know our capitol building better, and our affections for its dome, and companion towers, its columns and its walls, have grown in this service.

The Honorable G. M. Ludwig, of Johnson County, formerly a member of the General Assembly, does herewith concur in this report.

HENRY WASHBURN, Member.
RUSSELL A. PATRICK, Member.

INDIANA LIMESTONE INSTITUTE
BEDFORD, INDIANA

November 20, 1953.

Mr. Leonard Wolf,
Department of Architecture,
Iowa State College.

Re: Iowa State Capitol

Dear Mr. Wolf:

Further replying to your letter of October 27 dealing with my brief inspection a few weeks ago of the outer walls of the above captioned structure:

Usually inspection of masonry walls, especially in older structures, owes its inception to wall leakage and/or interior damage incident thereto.

I was advised by your custodian that no difficulty of this nature had been experienced. Some difficulty had developed in connection with a few of the window frames, but the origin of the difficulty was not the result of any masonry failure.

On the north portico of the structure, I was asked to observe certain weather disintegration that had taken place in the stone work. I find this disintegration is largely confined to moulded members of the stone, such as column and pilaster bases and the free ornamental leafings of certain of the caps. This disintegration in most all instances is beyond the wall bearing zone of the structure. Hence, other than appearance, there can be no ill effects from this source.

To build up these disintegrated members at some future date would perhaps be advisable. The expense incurred should not be great. The cement aggregate used should as closely match the stone as possible. Likewise, some form of rod or wire reinforcing should be used in instances where heavy application is necessary.

The outer walls generally appear to be in good shape. More close inspection might reveal some repointing and other work which would be necessary. However, the item would be minor when considered in the light of the structure as a whole.

I was asked to offer an opinion as to the advisability of having this structure cleaned, it being stated that had been or was being considered. We are not opposed to the cleaning of the buildings, in fact, many times we recommend that it be done. However, on this structure, it is my judgment any attempt to clean the stone work would be ill advised, and further, would result in disappointment.

Stone on this building, during its some 80 years, has weathered beautifully. It is a rugged structure that has served its purpose well, both in appearance and otherwise and, if reasonably maintained, should continue to do so almost indefinitely.

In my brief inspection, I was accompanied by your custodian and Mr. Thomas Rowat of the Rowat Cut Stone Company of Des Moines, Iowa, whom you perhaps know and with whom you might further discuss the subject matter, particularly as to the views expressed herein.

Senate Concurrent Resolution 26 regarding non-transfer of soil conservation functions from national to state authority.

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 26

"Whereas, the Committee on Federal Aid to Agriculture, a subcommittee of the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, has reportedly recommended to the Commission the transfer of the function of soil-conservation technical assistance to the various states; and

"Whereas, the National Association of Soil Conservation districts in the United States, and the Iowa Association of Soil Conservation Districts, representing 100 soil-conservation districts in this state, along with other individuals, groups, and organizations who are vitally interested in the program, are opposed to the reported recommendation; and

"Whereas, if the reported recommendation is approved it would place an inordinately heavy financial burden upon the State of Iowa, since the contemplated state appropriation each biennium could amount to a sum in excess of $1 million if assistance to local soil-conservation districts is to be maintained at current levels; and

"Whereas, such program would greatly retard, if not eventually destroy, the national program of soil and water conservation now being carried on, and since the problem is national in scope, it should be dealt with accordingly;

"Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the State of Iowa (the House of Representatives Concurring Therein), that the President of the United States and the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations are hereby respectfully memorialized and urged not to approve the reported recommendations of the Committee on Federal Aid to Agriculture, relative to gradual transfer of soil-conservation technical assistance functions from the national authority to the various states;

"Be It Further Resolved, that copies of this resolution be forwarded forthwith to the President of the United States, to the Chairman of the President's Commission on Intergovernmental Relations, and to the Senators and Representatives of the State of Iowa in the Nation's Capital."

SENATE FILE 425 SUBSTITUTED FOR HOUSE FILE 483

Miller of Black Hawk moved that Senate File 425 be substituted for House File 483.

Motion prevailed.

Pollock of Van Buren asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following letter printed in the Journal:

STATE OF IOWA
STATE BOARD OF EDUCATION
Des Moines, Iowa

April 22, 1955.

Representative Roscoe L. Pollock, House Chamber,
State House.

Dear Representative Pollock:

This letter is to inform you, in response to your inquiry, that the State Board of Education has concluded that it will not ask the members of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly to appropriate for capital improvements beyond the level recommended in House File 587.

This conclusion is based on the Board's belief that the joint subcommittee on appropriations has given considerable thought and discussion to the Board's requests, particularly in the light of what the committee believes the fiscal condition of the State of Iowa to be at this time. This conclusion cannot be construed as in any way a repudiation or withdrawal of recommendations of the State Board of Education for very necessary capital improvements.

The Board feels that with capital appropriations as recommended in House File 587 some progress can be made against the capital needs of the institutions in the next biennium, though deferment for another two years of some major capital projects, such as the much-needed library addition at Iowa State College, the Pharmacy building at the University and the Physical Recreation building at the Iowa Braille and Sight-Saving School will work definite hardships on the institutions and their students.

Digitized by Google

Temporary barracks and crowded conditions can go on another two years, but there's a limit.

No halfway approach to these capital problems is going to provide the space for teaching these youngsters.

The Board of Education would urge the legislators and the people of Iowa to give serious study in the next two years to a plan such as the Board presented to the sub-committee on appropriations for financing capital improvements on a long-range basis and thereby eliminating large biennial requests which have, of necessity, been presented to the Assembly.

This problem requires a long range vision and plan.

Sincerely yours,

DAVID A. DANCER, Secretary.

Section 4. The purposes of this Act are to create a county conservation board and to authorize counties to acquire, develop, maintain, and make available to the inhabitants of the county, public parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreational centers, county forests, wildlife and other conservation areas, and to promote and preserve the health and general welfare of the people, to encourage the orderly development and conservation of natural resources, and to cultivate good citizenship by providing adequate programs of public recreation.

Sec. 5. Upon petition of two hundred (200) voters in any county to the board of supervisors thereof, said board shall submit to the people of the county at the next regular election the question whether a county conservation board shall be created as provided for in this Act. If at said election the majority of votes polled for the creation of a county conservation board, the board of supervisors shall within sixty (60) days after said election, create a county conservation board to consist of five (5) bona fide residents of such county. The members first appointed shall hold office for the term of one, two, three, four and five years respectively, as indicated and fixed by the county board of supervisors. Thereafter, succeeding members shall be appointed for a term of five years, except that vacancies occurring otherwise than by expiration of term shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired term. When any member of the board, during the term of office, shall cease to be a bona fide resident of the county, he or she shall thereby be disqualified as a member of said board and his or her office shall thereupon be declared vacant. Members of the board shall be selected and appointed on the basis of their demonstrated interest in conservation matters, and shall serve without compensation, but may be paid their actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties.

Sec. 6. Within thirty days after their appointment, the board shall organize by selecting from its members a president and secretary and such other officers as are deemed necessary, who shall hold office for the calendar year in which elected and until their successors are selected and qualify. Three members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The board shall hold regular monthly meetings. Special meetings may be called by the president, and shall be called on the request of a majority of members, as the necessity may require. The county conservation board shall have power to adopt bylaws, to sue and be sued, to adopt and use a common seal, and to enter into contracts. Said board shall annually make a full and complete report to the county board of supervisors of its transactions and operations for the preceding year. Such report shall contain a full statement of its receipts, disbursements, and the program of work for the period covered, and may include such recommendations as may be deemed advisable. A copy of this report shall be filed with the state conservation commission.

Sec. 7. The county conservation board shall have the custody, control and management of all real and personal property heretofore or hereafter acquired by the county for public parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, county forests, county wildlife areas, and other county conservation and recreation purposes and is authorized and empowered:

(1) To study and ascertain the county's park, preserve, parkway, and recreation and other conservation facilities, the need for such facilities, and the extent to which such needs are being currently met, and to prepare and adopt a coordinated plan of areas and facilities to meet such needs.

In acquiring or accepting land, due consideration shall be given to its scenic, historic, archeologic, recreational or other special features, and no land shall be acquired or accepted which in the opinion of the board and the state conservation commission is of law value from the standpoint of its proposed use.

(3) The county conservation board shall file with and obtain approval of the state conservation commission on all proposals for acquisition of land, and all general development plans and programs for the improvement and maintenance thereof before any such program is executed.

(4) To plan, develop, preserve, administer and maintain all such areas, places and facilities, and construct, reconstruct, alter and renew buildings and other structures, and equip and maintain the same.

(6) To provide, conduct, and supervise programs of activities for children and adults which contribute to the physical, mental or moral well-being of the individual or group participating therein, and including any activities in the fields of music, drama, art, handicraft, science, literature, nature study, aquatic sports and athletics, or any of them, and informal play incorporating any such activities.

(7) To employ and fix the compensation of an executive officer who shall be responsible to the county conservation board for the carrying out of its policies. The said executive officer shall have the power, subject to the approval of said board, to employ and fix the compensation of such assistants and employees as may be deemed necessary for carrying out the purposes and provisions of this Act, but not in excess of those paid state conservation officers and employees for like services.

(9) To let out and rent privileges in or upon any property under its control upon such terms and conditions as are deemed by it to be in the public interest.

Sec. 8. The county conservation board may make, alter, amend or repeal rules and regulations for the protection, regulation and control of all parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, and other property under its control. No rules and regulations adopted shall be contrary to, or inconsistent with, the laws of the state of Iowa. Such rules and regulations shall not take effect until ten (10) days after their adoption by said board and after their publication once a week for two weeks in at least one paper circulating in the county and after a copy thereof has been posted near each gate or principal entrance to the public ground to which they apply. Any person violating any such rule or regulation made and promulgated as herein provided shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty (30) days, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings. The board may designate the executive officer and such employees as he may designate as police officers who shall have all the powers conferred by law on police officers, peace officers, or sheriffs in the enforcement of the laws of the state of Iowa and the apprehension of violators thereof.

Sec. 9. Amend House File 591 by adding thereto, as new sections, the contents of House File 547 as follows:

Section 4. The purposes of this Act are to create a county conservation board and to authorize counties to acquire, develop, maintain, and make available to the inhabitants of the county, public parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreational centers, county forests, wildlife and other conservation areas, and to promote and preserve the health and general welfare of the people, to encourage the orderly development and conservation of natural resources, and to cultivate good citizenship by providing adequate programs of public recreation.

Sec. 5. Upon petition of two hundred (200) voters in any county to the board of supervisors thereof, said board shall submit to the people of the county at the next regular election the question whether a county conservation board shall be created as provided for in this Act. If at said election the majority of votes polled for the creation of a county conservation board, the board of supervisors shall within sixty (60) days after said election, create a county conservation board to consist of five (5) bona fide residents of such county. The members first appointed shall hold office for the term of one, two, three, four and five years respectively, as indicated and fixed by the county board of supervisors. Thereafter, succeeding members shall be appointed for a term of five years, except that vacancies occurring otherwise than by expiration of term shall be filled by appointment for the unexpired term. When any member of the board, during the term of office, shall cease to be a bona fide resident of the county, he or she shall thereby be disqualified as a member of said board and his or her office shall thereupon be declared vacant. Members of the board shall be selected and appointed on the basis of their demonstrated interest in conservation matters, and shall serve without compensation, but may be paid their actual and necessary expenses incurred in the performance of their official duties.

Sec. 6. Within thirty days after their appointment, the board shall organize by selecting from its members a president and secretary and such other officers as are deemed necessary, who shall hold office for the calendar year in which elected and until their successors are selected and qualify. Three members of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The board shall hold regular monthly meetings. Special meetings may be called by the president, and shall be called on the request of a majority of members, as the necessity may require. The county conservation board shall have power to adopt bylaws, to sue and be sued, to adopt and use a common seal, and to enter into contracts. The county board of supervisors shall provide suitable offices for the meeting of the county conservation board and for the safekeeping of its records. Such records shall be subject to public inspection at all reasonable hours and under such regulations as the county conservation board may prescribe. Said board shall annually make a full and complete report to the county board of supervisors of its transactions and operations for the preceding year. Such report shall contain a full statement of its receipts, disbursements, and the program of work for the period covered, and may include such recommendations as may be deemed advisable. A copy of this report shall be filed with the state conservation commission.

Sec. 7. The county conservation board shall have the custody, control and management of all real and personal property heretofore or hereafter acquired by the county for public parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, county forests, county wildlife areas, and other county conservation and recreation purposes and is authorized and empowered:

(1) To study and ascertain the county's park, preserve, parkway, and recreation and other conservation facilities, the need for such facilities, and the extent to which such needs are being currently met, and to prepare and adopt a coordinated plan of areas and facilities to meet such needs.

(2) To acquire in the name of the county by gift, purchase, lease, agreement, condemnation or otherwise, in fee or with conditions, suitable real estate within or without the territorial limits of the county areas of land and water for public parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, forests, wildlife and other conservation purposes. The state conservation commission, the county board of supervisors, or the governing body of any city, town or village may, upon request of the county conservation board, designate, set apart and transfer to the county conservation board for use as parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, play fields, tennis courts, skating rinks, swimming pools, gymnasiums, rooms for arts and crafts, camps and meeting places, community forests, wildlife areas and other recreational purposes, any land and buildings owned or controlled by the state conservation commission or such county or municipality and not devoted or dedicated to any other inconsistent public use. In acquiring or accepting land, due consideration shall be given to its scenic, historic, archeologic recreational or other special features, and no land shall be acquired or accepted which in the opinion of the board and the state conservation commission is of low value from the standpoint of its proposed use.

(3) The county conservation board shall file with and obtain approval of the state conservation commission on all proposals for acquisition of land, and all general development plans and programs for the improvement and maintenance thereof before any such program is executed.

(4) To plan, develop, preserve, administer and maintain all such areas, places and facilities, and construct, reconstruct, alter and renew buildings and other structures, and equip and maintain the same.

(5) To accept in the name of the county gifts, bequests, contributions and appropriations of money and other personal property for conservation purposes.

(6) To provide, conduct, and supervise programs of activities for children and adults which contribute to the physical, mental or moral well-being of the individual or group participating therein, and including any activities in the fields of music, drama, art, handicraft, science, literature, nature study, aquatic sports and athletics, or any of them, and informal play incorporating any such activities.

(7) To employ and fix the compensation of an executive officer who shall be responsible to the county conservation board for the carrying out of its policies. The said executive officer shall have the power, subject to the approval of said board, to employ and fix the compensation of such assistants and employees as may be deemed necessary for carrying out the purposes and provisions of this Act, but not in excess of those paid state conservation officers and employees for like services.

(8) To charge and collect reasonable fees for the use of such facilities, privileges and conveniences as may be provided and for admission to amateur athletic contests, demonstrations and exhibits and other noncommercial events.

(9) To let out and rent privileges in or upon any property under its control upon such terms and conditions as are deemed by it to be in the public interest.

Sec. 8. The county conservation board may make, alter, amend or repeal rules and regulations for the protection, regulation and control of all parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, and other property under its control. No rules and regulations adopted shall be contrary to, or inconsistent with, the laws of the State of Iowa. Such rules and regulations shall not take effect until ten (10) days after their adoption by said board and after their publication once a week for two weeks in at least one paper circulating in the county and after a copy thereof has been posted near each gate or principal entrance to the public ground to which they apply. Any person violating any such rule or regulation made and promulgated as herein provided shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished by a fine of not more than $100.00 or by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than thirty (30) days, and be adjudged to pay all costs of the proceedings. The board may designate the executive officer and such employees as he may designate as police officers who shall have all the powers conferred by law on police officers, peace officers, or sheriffs in the enforcement of the laws of the State of Iowa and the apprehension of violators thereof.

Sec. 9. Upon the adoption of any county of the provisions of this Act, the county board of supervisors of such county may by resolution appropriate an amount of money from the general fund of the county for the payment of expenses incurred by the county conservation board in carrying out its powers and duties, and it may levy or cause to be levied an annual tax, in addition to all other taxes, of not less than one-fourth (¼) mill or more than one (1) mill on the dollar of the assessed valuation of all real and personal property subject to taxation within such county, which tax shall be collected by the county treasurer as other taxes are collected, and shall be paid into a separate and distinct fund to be known as the county conservation fund, to be paid out upon the warrants drawn by the county auditor upon requisition of the county conservation board for the payment of expenses incurred in carrying out the powers and duties of said conservation board. The county conservation board shall have no power or authority to contract any debt or obligation in any year in excess of the moneys in the hands of the county treasurer immediately available for such purposes. Gifts, contributions and bequests of money and all rent, licenses, fees and charges and other revenue or money received or collected by the board shall be deposited in the county conservation fund to be used for the purchase of land, property and equipment and the payment of expenses incurred in carrying out the activities of the board, except that moneys given, bequeathed, or contributed upon specified trusts shall be held and applied in accordance with the trust specified.

Sec. 10. If in the opinion of the conservation board and the conservation commission the funds available be inadequate to provide ample and suitable lands, buildings and equipment for all needed parks, preserves, parkways, playgrounds, recreation centers, and other conservation areas, it may petition the county board of supervisors to call an election for the issuance of bonds, in the manner prescribed by law, in such amount not to exceed fifty thousand ($50,000.00) dollars as the county conservation board may deem sufficient to provide the necessities of the county in these respects, whereupon the county board of supervisors shall cause to be called an election at the time and for the purpose requested in said petition.

tion in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 35, relating to purchase of chairs by legislators.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 34

Whereas, Senator J. T. Dykhouse of Lyons County will have completed twenty years of distinguished service in the Iowa legislature at the termination of his present term, and for this long period of years has contributed valuable services to the State of Iowa;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That Senator Dykhouse be presented with the chair which he occupied during the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, and that the custodian of the state house be instructed to crate the chair for shipment to the home residence of the Senator.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copper plate with the proper inscription thereon showing that the chair was presented by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly be properly attached to said chair.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 35

Whereas, several members of the House and Senate have expressed a desire to purchase chairs they occupied during the Fifty-sixth General Assembly;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the members of the House and Senate are hereby permitted to purchase the chair they occupied during the Fifty-sixth General Assembly by paying the appraised value of such chair, plus the difference between the cost of replacement and the appraised value as determined by the Executive Council.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 33

A Concurrent Resolution to urge a study of the parole system in Iowa.

Whereas, without reflection on any individual on the state parole board, the General Assembly feels that the parole system in Iowa is reactionary and lagging behind modern concepts of rehabilitation of criminals, and

Whereas, the national average in the percentage of prisoners restored to a useful place in society in 1953 was 54.8 per cent, while the Iowa percentage was 36.2 per cent for the same year or 18.6 per cent below the national average, and

Whereas, Professor Walter A. Lunden of the Department of Sociology at Ames, Iowa, has stated that "the entire parole system in Iowa needs serious reorganization," and

Whereas, aside from the humanitarian aspect of better rehabilitation of prisoners, the economic factor needs consideration since it costs from five hundred to seven hundred dollars each year to keep a prisoner at the penitentiary, and

Whereas, the General Assembly feels that consideration should be given to legislation providing for a full-time board of parole since the present board was able to give only 27 days in 1954 to interviewing prisoners at Fort Madison and since lifers have heretofore been under the exclusive jurisdiction of the Governor no consideration has been given to them by the board—some have never been interviewed, and

Whereas, a full-time board would cost very little more than is now expended on the present part-time board, and

Whereas, there has been a steady decline since 1933 in the inmates paroled from the penitentiary, and

Whereas, the General Assembly feels that the relationships between the parolees and their employers provided by the parole agents have in many cases been abortive resulting in willful parole violations, which situation should be corrected by the board,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the General Assembly in 1957 is urged to provide a joint committee of the House and Senate on parole matters to study need of revised legislation and provide recommendations in the form of bills for consideration by the General Assembly, and

Be It Further Resolved: That in the interim, the parole board strive to place the State of Iowa in a more favorable position in respect to the rehabilitation of prisoners as compared to the national record.

SENATE AMENDMENT TO HOUSE JOINT RESOLUTION 7

Amend House Joint Resolution 7 by striking the words "to the estate of William N. Judd" wherever it appears in the bill and the title and insert in lieu thereof the words "to Mrs. William N. Judd".

The following prayer was offered by the Honorable Harold A. Tabor, pastor of the Reorganized Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, Lamoni:

Our Father who art in Heaven, we pause to give our thanks to Thee for this day and for health and the opportunities we have. We thank Thee for the heritage of freedom which we believe came as a result of the labor of men who were directed and enlightened by Thy Spirit. It has been our custom to come to Thee at the beginning of each day but we desire that it shall be more than just that we come, because we desire direction and wisdom from Thee for the activities of this day. In these closing days, as a result of the pressure and strain, we often become irritated with each other. Grant that the calm of Thy patience shall be given at those times. We would pray that through the activities of this day we may have the strength of purpose and the courage to do those things that shall advance the cause of righteousness in this state and in the nation. As we separate we would pray for Thy protection and ask that through the days that lie ahead the friendships we have formed may be for the good of this state and may further Thy purposes. We ask these things in the name of Thy Son, our Reedemer. Amen.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I voted "nay" on the motion to pass Senate File 457 on file because I believe it was designed to circumvent the provisions of the Constitution of Iowa and therefore might jeopardize the entire toll road project. If the Governor chose to appoint someone other than for whom the bill was designed, the other appointee could not draw a salary.

Your legislature has met the problems of Iowa honestly and courageously and has presented a sound, constructive, and forward-looking program which will mean a greater Iowa for all of us.

The legislature has put an end to deficit spending and has provided the revenues necessary to give us better schools, improved state institutions and an accelerated road program. Increased expenditures for our public schools and for our state institutions of higher learning will prove to be an excellent investment for the entire state and will enable Iowa to maintain its place as a leader in the all important field of education. Likewise the monies to be spent in our state instiutions will enable us to accelerate our program for the care and treatment of the mentally ill, our crippled children and the handicapped. All of us, of course, are willing to help our more unfortunate fellow citizens, for this is an American tradition of brotherhood, but we should also remember that our accelerated program in this field will restore thousands of our men and women to useful and productive lives and thus benefit the entire state. The legislature has also passed an enabling act which will permit us to receive additional federal funds for medical and hospital care.

Your legislature has recognized the need for an accelerated road and highway program for the state and the additional monies to be collected will be wisely and conscientiously spent by your state highway commission in order that we may improve as fast as possible our vast network of primary highways. We are pledged to widen our eighteen foot pavements and our narrow bridges throughout the state.

This session of the legislature has also established a toll road authority and now we stand ready to negotiate with any sister state as regards a toll road across Iowa. Any toll road to be built will be self-liquidating and will be financed by the actual users of the road, not by the general taxpayers of Iowa.

Your legislature has been vitally concerned with the need for study and examination in various fields of state government. For that reason it has established several committees or agencies which will begin work shortly and whose reports and recommendations should prove to be of great value to Iowa. We have established first of all a tax study committee whose job it will be to examine and evaluate the entire tax structure of Iowa and whose further task it will be to make recommendations to the legislature in order that we may be certain that we have in Iowa a tax system fair and equitable for all.

The legislature has also brought into being a legislative research council and it is my expectation that this agency will provide us with information and research that will bring us increased economy and efficiency in all phases of state administration. We have also created the post of judicial statistician as a means of obtaining information concerning the work loads in our various courts. The data received through this agency will strengthen our judicial system and at the same time result in tax savings for the state.

The problems of water rights, irrigation and drainage affect all Iowa and a special study committee has been established to cope with these particular matters.

As Iowa continues to grow industrially we find ourselves with an ever-increasing labor population and the legislature has recognized this fact through the passage of several bills which should be of great benefit to our people. Our workmen's compensation payments have been increased from $28.00 per week to $32.00 per week and the unemployment compensation payments have likewise been increased from $26.00 to $30.00 per week. The legislature has also extended the benefits of unemployment compensation to some sixty-five thousand new workers.

All of us, of course, are aware of the importance of conservation in this rich agricultural state and our legislature has improved and expanded the state soil conservation and water shed program. It has also wisely passed legislation which will give state tax credit for expenditures made by farmers in soil conservation.

Iowans are grateful to those young citizens of our state who served their country in Korea and the legislature has passed several measures pertaining to Korean veterans. Two of these measures provide Korean veterans with benefits relating to tax exemption and civil service status while the third puts the question of a bonus for Korean veterans squarely before the people of Iowa who will have an opportunity now to vote on this important issue.

It is important that we continue in Iowa to have well qualified and able county officials and judges of our various courts and the legislature has wisely voted to increase the pay for county officials and for district and supreme court judges. These compensation increases are wise investments in good government.

The legislature has dealt at length with matters of taxation and has passed several measures which will aid us in tax collection and tax administration. A simplified state income tax form has been adopted and the soldiers exemption file by our veterans will now be filed annually so as to stop abuse by non-veterans. Another bill which should be of great value strengthens the twenty gallon gasoline limitation law now in effect.

We have also for the first time provided for full payment of agricultural land tax credit as a means of equalizing property taxes used for education. I am happy to report also that the legislature has provided for the expansion of the Iowa Development Commission and that this agency will therefore be better equipped than ever before to continue and expand its work in promoting the development and growth of our state.

The legislature has recognized the need for an examination of the problems of our minority groups and has recommended that the Governor appoint a study committee to investigate the situation of minorities and job discrimination. I am most happy to cooperate with the legislature in establishing such a committee.

Your legislature has had the ability to act quickly on matters of great urgency and has therefore passed the necessary legislation so as to make certain that no child in Iowa will ever be deprived of the anti-polio Salk vaccine.

The legislature has taken cognizance of the problems of highway safety and has, therefore, by means of a resolution urged communities to give added attention to driver education. Also passed is a bill which will strengthen the enforcement of our driving laws by providing for mandatory suspension of a driver's license upon two reckless driving convictions.

Iowa is in one sense in competition with each of her sister states. We compete with them for new citizens, new business and new industry. In this competition there is no such thing as standing still. We either forge ahead or lag behind. I am confident that the legislative program adopted by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly will enable our great state to continue its program and advance and to maintain its position as a leader in state government.

LEO A. HOEGH, Governor.

The report was received and the committee discharged.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HOUSE FILE 592

Honorable Melvin D. Synhorst,
Secretary of State,
State House,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Re: House File 592—Vetoed

Dear Mr. Synhorst:

I have today vetoed House File 592, a bill which would have permitted the product now identified as non fat dry milk solids to be sold as non fat dry milk. I have carefully considered the merits and the disadvantages of this measure, and I have held numerous conferences with persons representing opposing views. It is my considered opinion that this bill, if enacted into law, would have unfortunate consequences, both to the Iowa milk producer and to the consumer.

It is essential that there be no misleading or confusing labeling of our food products. The product covered by this bill is a reconstituted milk or milk derivative, not a true natural milk, and the elimination of the word "solids" from the definition would in my opinion lead easily to the confusion which we are seeking to avoid. It should also be noted that our present definition of the product under discussion is in accord with the Federal standards, and that there appears to be little or no possibility that these standards will be changed by the present Congress. For these reasons, I am vetoing this measure, being firmly convinced that such action is in the best interests of the people of Iowa.

Sincerely yours,

LEO A. HOEGH, Governor.

Beardsley. His untimely death occurred as the result of an automobile accident near Des Moines, Iowa, November 21, 1954.

He attended public school at Birmingham, Iowa, and was graduated from the Birmingham High School and the Bowen Institute of Pharmacy and Chemistry. He was not able to attend college, but made himself one of the best informed men in Iowa and the friend of education in all of its branches.

In a special election, he was elected to the House of Representatives to fill the term of E. H. Felton, who died in December 1947, and he served as Warren County's representative in the Fifty-second General Assembly. He previously had served as State Senator from the Clarke and Warren County district in the Forty-fifth, Forty-fifth Extra, Forty-sixth, Forty-sixth Extra, Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth General Assemblies of Iowa. In 1948 he was elected Governor of Iowa, and twice was re-elected, being one of three Iowa Governors to be elected three times.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, Lions Club, the I.O.O.F., the American Academy of Political Science, and Masonic bodies. He greatly loved children and they, in turn, reciprocated his affection. At the time of his death he was a board member of the Warren County Society for Crippled Children and Adults.

At the age of 21, he came to New Virginia, Iowa, with his wife, the former Charlotte E. Manning of Birmingham, and bought a small drug store, which he continued to operate until his death. It was there that he met with his neighbors and friends every election eve to receive the returns. Later he bought farm lands in Clarke and Warren Counties, and spent his rest periods at his farm home. He applied the principles of soil conservation to his 900-acre grain and stock farm where he eliminated streams and gullies by installing an extensive drainage system and leveling fields, bringing into new cultivation vast areas of land.

The life of Governor Beardsley typified the real spirit of America in action, the rise of the common man from a normal, hard-working American boyhood through the ordinary plain life of a country merchant and farmer to fame as Governor of a great state.

In addition to his widow, he is survived by four children: Blaine of New Virginia, Mary (Mrs. Henry F. Schieg) of Appleton, Wisconsin, Charlotte (Mrs. Doyle E. Stikel) of New Virginia, and Dan, a junior in veterinary medicine at Ames, and five grandchildren. A son, William, died in childhood.
