Past, Present & Future

"If what we are now has been the result of our past actions, it certainly follows that whatever we wish to be in future can be produced by our present actions."

Swami Vivekananda, Indian Spiritual Leader (1863 – 1902)

As most of you know, I was appointed to be the administrator of the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division by Governor Chet Culver in February and confirmed by the Iowa Senate in March. I have been administrator now for 90 days and most of my time has been spent focusing on getting to know the staff and learning all that I can about the alcoholic beverage industry including the history, present issues and future opportunities. Although there is much more for me to learn, the people who are serving here at ABD are ready to fine-tune the division's focus on four main areas: public service, efficiency, accountability and transparency.

1. Reconciling the Past with the Present.

Many areas of state government were affected by the government reorganization bill and early retirement incentives that were passed during the last legislative session. The division had eight long-time employees retire this summer and also lost three people to layoffs due to reorganization. In addition, many new laws took effect in July including micro-distilleries, wine direct shipping and new warehouse hours. Most of the changes have already been put into place at the division and we are now ready to focus on the present and future.

2. Here and Now.

The division plays many roles within the state of Iowa. It is charged with licensing, regulation, enforcement and compliance of alcohol laws, as well as generating revenue for the State through the sale and distribution of spirits and collection of taxes on beer and wine. Currently, I am focused on ensuring that all stakeholders are able to conduct their business on a level playing field within the boundaries of the law. We are committed to providing a valuable public service for our partners including, but not limited to licensees, industry members and the citizens of the state of Iowa.

3. Facing Forward to Meet the Future.

Looking to the future, a new focus on education and outreach is vital. We will be partnering with the National Alcoholic Beverages Control Association, industry members, the Governor's Office of Drug Control Policy and more to seek out opportunities for community outreach. The division will also be working with these partners to provide valuable education on the dangers of over-consumption of alcohol, drunk driving, underage drinking and other societal issues regarding alcohol.

In early August, the division will be holding a two-day strategic planning meeting to help define our responsibilities and priorities for the future. Division staff, the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission, industry members, licensees and all other stakeholders will be given the opportunity to have input, present ideas and work together.

A working group consisting of transportation drivers, warehouse operations works and office staff has been established to review all past policies and rules including internal matters and external relations. I am committed to keeping an open dialogue with all interested parties to ensure the division stays flexible and responsive to changing times and needs.

4. Conclusion.

In the three short months since I came on board, the ABD staff has addressed past issues and completed reorganization of the division. Currently, the division is focused on transparency and accountability while ensuring a level playing field for the industry. Moving forward, the ABD will be dedicated to providing valuable public service in the areas of education and community outreach and increasing efficiency. I want you to know that the division is working hard in the present to positively reshape its future.

Stephen Larson

Be Safe

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 25 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers this summer and during the upcoming Labor Day weekend.

For more information, printed materials and DVDs are available. Please visit IowaGTSB.org or these other impaired driving information websites: NHTSA.gov, StopImpairedDriving.org and StopDruggedDriving.org.

ACCOUNTANT 2

What are your job duties?

I like numbers because, ultimately, they have to balance. My job requires a lot of problem solving and investigation, which can be challenging and very interesting. In accounting, there is always a paper trail that can be retraced, similar to a series of clues. I enjoy the process to working backwards to find the anomaly that caused something to be out of balance. I also love everyone that I work with. I've made great friends at ABD and everybody works so well together.

What is your favorite part of your job?

I oversee the accounting section of the division. I am charged with creating all financial statements for the agency and I oversee accounts payable and receivable. I am also responsible for the accounting aspects of the annual June warehouse inventory.

What do you like to do in your free time?

I am a master gardener and I grow everything from fruits and vegetables to trees and hostas. Right now I have peas, cucumbers, peppers, tomatoes, zucchini, asparagus, rhubarb, strawberries, blueberries, raspberries, potatoes and garlic growing in my garden. I make jams, salsa, tomato sauce and rhubarb sauce, which my husband loves and puts on everything! I live on an acreage so I also have trees, hostas, sedums, ferns, coral bells and astilbe growing on our land.

This summer I started beekeeping. I have two hives that could have up to 30 or 40 thousand bees each. I should be able to harvest honey from one of the hives this year and then both hives in the years to come. It has been such an interesting learning experience and so much fun. I named my two queen bees Betty and Veronica!

I do a lot of stained and fused glass work. I've made windows, panels and done a few commissions. Mostly I make gifts for friends and family. I have been teaching my 11-year-old granddaughter to work with glass too. Hanging out with my three grandchildren is the most important and fun part of my life. Besides the 11-year-old, I have two 3-year-old grandchildren. They love to hang out with me outside, digging for worms and looking for toads. ■

Whiskey To Go – Go

American straight whiskeys continue to move off store shelves even in rough economic times.

BY MICHAEL SHERER

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the September/October 2009 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

Economic news, particularly the bad kind, has dominated the news for much of the past year. So it's nice to read or hear a story that's mostly good news these days. Even better when the story is about something as quintessentially American as—no, not apple pie—straight whiskey.

The category continued to grow in 2008, despite the downturn in the economy. And while a full-blown recession [in 2009] caused sales to cool somewhat, trends all point to continued category growth for retailers.

THE MORE THEY LEARN ABOUT AND EXPERIENCE AMERICAN STRAIGHT WHISKEYS WHEN THEY GO OUT, THE MORE THEY'RE TURNING TO OFF – PREMISE RETAILERS TO GET THEIR WHISKEY TO GO – GO.

The recession has had some interesting effects on the category. With consumers reluctant to spend discretionary income, they're going out to bars and restaurants less frequently, so on – premise sales have suffered. But distillers say the uptick in off – premise sales as consumers entertain more at home is picking up the slack and even offsetting the softness in on – premise sales.

At the same time, on – premise exposure and sales continue to drive consumers to seek out products at their local off – premise retailers. The resurgence of interest in classic cocktails among mixologists has encouraged consumers to experience whiskeys in a Manhattan, Old – Fashioned, mint julep, on the rocks, and any number of other drinks. “On – premise is still a key to retail success,” says Joe Uranga, vice president marketing for Wild Turkey. “That's where people try a cocktail or even a category.”

American straight whiskeys in particular have benefited as consumers expand their horizons and look for new products. More and more, consumers are looking for authenticity and heritage in the products they buy. Bourbons and other straight whiskeys handily fit the bill. “Consumers want to invest their money in things they know are real, not just a luxury image,” says Tim Rutledge, vice president, director of the Americas for Jack Daniel's.

And, as is often the case, the downturn has consumers both trading down and trading up even as they turn to a category like bourbon that offers authenticity. Consumers who are trading down to save money are turning to bourbon for both the taste experience and the product heritage. Those who can afford to splurge a little are willing to pay for quality. “Our research shows that people are seek-

THE WINE BAR

Arnold's Park

Story and Photos: Shannon Hagge

Some say Arnold's Park is best known for its nostalgic amusement park. Deidre Rosenboom, on the other hand, sees it as a thriving art community and gives locals and tourists alike the ultimate wine bar and art gallery experience.

The Wine Bar is a family-run business; Rosenboom primarily operates the business while her husband, Scott Baumgard, helps out when needed. The bar opened its doors three years ago next to an art gallery showcasing renowned local artist David Thoreson's work. Baumgard tried to secure the space for his wife as a birthday present, only to find out that she had anxiously leased it herself, eager to open her own place. Rosenboom previously had a freelance graphic design business and wanted a space that she was passionate about. "I went into business for a better quality of life for both myself and patrons while also providing an outlet for local artists," Rosenboom said.

Rosenboom strives to take the pompous out of wine and make it more informal. "Positive energy, comfortable, fun and lots of laughter. The best nights at the Wine Bar are the nights when everyone is laughing and it's filled with energy." Rosenboom believes that what makes this place work is the quality of the clientele; they are generally people looking to spend time with friends and family somewhere other than your average watering hole. One thing Rosenboom wanted to express when she opened the bar was a hands on experience, a place to welcome patrons with personal service, specializing in small town family events. While the restaurant does not have a dinner menu, they do offer cheese snack plates and desserts. Carol's Cupcakes in Spencer makes the cakes. Rosenboom recommends the champagne cake, and feels that it pairs the best with the wines.

The Wine Bar also has rotating thematic shows; the current theme is Saw you in Arnolds Park by artist Karen Cooper. Rosenboom is an artist herself and has her pottery for sale at the bar. The hand-blown and stained glass on display are from a local artist in Spencer. The jewelry is from a combination of local artists and a trip to Thailand that Rosenboom took this past winter. She collected pieces that were local to the area to bring back to Iowa, which she feels gives culture to the community.

During the summer months on Thursday and Friday evenings the Wine Bar and Art Gallery host different musical artists on the outdoor patio. Local songwriters are typically showcased; past acts have included The Nadas, Josh Davis and Bright Giant.

The Henry David Thoreau quote on the front door reads, "Go confidently in the direction of your dreams, live the life you have imagined." So why not do so at the Wine Bar and Art Gallery with good art, good wine and good friends?

ing quality more than ever,” says Wayne Rose, brand director at Brown – Forman for Woodford Reserve. “They’re looking for substance over style, and what’s comfortable.”

In a category that not even a recession can keep from growing, the authenticity and heritage of old standbys along with innovation and new products are keeping consumers interested. ## AS THE RECESSION EASES, COGNAC AND BRANDY MARKETERS LOOK FOR A REBOUND IN CONSUMPTION, THOUGH DOMESTIC BRANDY SALES HAVE BEEN HOT ALL YEAR.

BY MICHAEL SHERER

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the November/December 2009 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

If cognac and brandy represent the good life, then their fortunes these days are a good indicator of what's happening in the world at large. The good life vanished for many with the financial crash [in 2008]. At the same time, the market for cognac and brandy changed dramatically. Cognac sales decreased significantly along with many other high-end spirits segments, while the entire cognac and brandy category ended up basically flat for the year after several years of solid growth.

The story continued much the same [in 2009] with overall category sales down and the cognac segment off even more precipitously. While many of the shifts are driven by the lackluster economy, other factors are at play, and not all the news is doom and gloom. Domestic brandy is a bright spot, and as we come out of the recession, spirits makers are optimistic about a rebound in cognac sales.

The major cognac houses still push their ultra high-end marques to provide the halo of heritage and mystique of their art. But all of them are spending money on marques and programs that are more accessible to mainstream consumers.

Hennessey, for example, recently introduced Hennessey Black . . . made from a blend of 35 to 45 distinctive pale – and gold – colored eau – de – vie chosen for their floral elements, according to the company. The liquid is then aged in French oak barrels previously used by Hennessey for at least five years, producing a lighter, more floral cognac designed to mix well in cocktails.

Remy Martin VSOP . . . is putting emphasis on chilling cognac as a new and interesting way of consuming the product. “Chilling it enhances the aromas, smoothes out the flavor, and enhances the mouthfeel by making it more viscous,” says brand manager Lamar Johnson. “It’s also more mixable so it appeals to a wider audience.”

Courvoisier also is playing to multiple audiences. The brand [hosted a] three – city “Le Nez” program, an experience formerly only presented at the Courvoisier Chateau in France. The sensory experience exposes consumers to the brand in a different way and educates them about both cognac and Courvoisier.

“We need to market the category as a luxury product for all consumer segments,” says Larry Neuringer, Martell brand manager. “So we’ve increased our focus on higher marques. Our strategy is ‘show the best, sell the rest.’”

And with the economy seeming to be moving in the right direction, the [upcoming] holidays and cold – weather months are a great time to be selling cognac and brandy.

BEYOND THE SNIFTER

After you’ve taken time to savor the taste of your cognac or brandy by swirling it in a snifter and sipping it slowly, try it in mixed drinks. Here are a few popular favorites.

Cooler

2 – 2½ ounces cognac, brandy, or flavored brandy
4 – 5 ounces lemon – lime soda
Lemon wedge or other fruit of choice

Place fresh ice in a highball glass. Pour in the cognac or brandy and soda; garnish with the lemon wedge or other fruit.

Fizz

2½ – 3 ounces cognac or brandy
1 ounce freshly squeezed lemon juice
1 teaspoon superfine sugar
4 – 5 ounces club soda

Combine the cognac or brandy, lemon juice, and sugar in a shaker half-filled with fresh ice; shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into a chilled Collins or highball glass half-filled with fresh ice; fill the glass with club soda.

Sidecar

1 – 2 ounces cognac or brandy
1 – 2 ounces orange – flavored liqueur
½ – 1 ounce freshly squeezed lemon juice

Pour the cognac or brandy, liqueur, and lemon juice into a shaker half-filled with ice. Shake vigorously, and strain the mixed drink into a chilled cocktail glass.

Highball

2 ounces cognac or brandy
Ginger ale or club soda

Place fresh ice in a highball glass. Add the cognac or brandy, and fill the glass with ginger ale or club soda.

With the fall of the gravel on March 30, 2010, the 83rd Iowa General Assembly ended much the same as it began – focused on the economy. Since then, many revenue-enhancing amendments, which impact the future of Iowa’s alcoholic beverage industry, have been signed into law by Governor Culver. It is important that licensees know and understand how these changes affect their business.

Senate File 2088, dubbed the Government Reorganization Bill, made significant changes to Iowa Code Chapter 123 by creating new licenses and allowing high alcoholic content beer to be distributed through privately owned wholesalers. The bill also requires the state liquor warehouse to close on Fridays except when high volume is expected. Additionally, the number of annual tobacco compliance checks was reduced from two to one.

I. MICRO-DISTILLED SPIRITS

Class “A” Micro-Distilled Spirits Permits were established for businesses with an operational still. The law requires micro-distilled spirits to be fermented, distilled or, for a period of two years, barrel matured at the micro-distillery premises. Production is capped at less than 50,000 proof gallons annually and retail sales at the distillery are limited to off-premises consumption only.

II. HIGH ALCOHOLIC CONTENT BEER

High Alcoholic Content Beer was added to the classifications of alcoholic beverages and defined as beer that contains more than five percent, but not more than twelve percent alcohol by weight. Class “AA” beer permittees (wholesalers) are authorized to manufacture and sell high alcoholic content beer at wholesale. Special Class “AA” beer permittees (brew pubs) are authorized to manufacture high alcoholic content beer to be consumed on the licensed premises and sell the beer to Class “AA” wholesalers for resale. HF 2531 later amended SF 2088 to allow Class “E” liquor licensees to purchase high alcohol content beer from Class “AA” beer permittees and sell the beer to consumers and on-premises licensees.

III. CHARITY AUCTIONS

Charity Beer and Wine Auction Permits are now available for issuance to authorized nonprofit corporations. Organizations are limited to two charity beer and wine permits per year, with each being valid for 36 consecutive hours. Beer and wine to be auctioned may be obtained from Iowa retailers or donated by persons who purchased the wine or beer from retailers. Alcohol must be auctioned in the original containers for off-premises consumption only. Liquor licensees and wine or beer permittees may not purchase alcohol at auction.

IV. DIRECT SHIPPING OF WINE

The newly created “Direct Wine Shipper License” authorizes wineries to direct ship wine to consumers of legal drinking age. Retailers, however, are not eligible to obtain the direct shipping license. Valid proof of identity and a signature are conditions of delivery. Only couriers with the newly created “Wine Carrier’s License” may deliver wine directly shipped into Iowa.

V. ABD OPERATIONAL CHANGES.

Another new provision allows for closure of the Division’s liquor warehouse on Fridays for the next five years. However, the ABD administrator is allowed to keep the warehouse open on designated Fridays if anticipated sales justify operations.

VI. TOBACCO COMPLIANCE CHECKS.

As of July 1, 2010, retail tobacco compliance checks will only be conducted once each year instead of the previous two scheduled. An exception is made for a second check to be performed if a violation is found during the first check.

VII. LICENSED PREMISES.

House File 788 amended Chapter 123 by enlarging the definition of “licensed premises.” Licensees are now subject to administrative sanctions if they knowingly allow criminal activity on the licensed premises – including the parking lots and other outdoor areas adjacent to the building.
