Looking Forward

It is hard to believe that it has been four years since I was first appointed as Administrator of the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division. The time has gone so fast and I am proud of what has been accomplished by my team. With my reappointment by Governor Branstad, May 1st marked the first day of my second term. I am honored to serve the State in this capacity and will continue to carry out those goals set forth by the Governor to bring the Division into the future.

Making Progress

Much has been accomplished in four years. I've implemented initiatives including policies and procedures for enhancing customer service while improving efficiencies and space utilization. The Division's compliance program was revived after a decade of dormancy. We now focus on providing resources and educating licensees on compliance with the laws. Informational town hall style meetings have been held in counties across the state and two online eLearning courses were created for easier access to uniform training on preventing underage sales of alcohol and tobacco.

I also focused on revitalizing the agency's relationships with partners such as licensees, other state agencies, prevention groups, trade associations, industry members and local law enforcement officials. Improved communications and cooperation has been mutually beneficial for all parties.

The Division has made progress over the last year with the implementation of Electronic Data Interchange (EDI) ordering and better inventory control tools. Customer selection continues to increase through enhanced warehouse space utilization.

Maintaining Momentum

While these have been great improvements, I am most excited about maintaining this momentum and what is on the horizon. The long awaited eCommerce customer ordering website is in progress will be launched soon. Customers will be able to order online, browse selections, save shopping carts and historical orders. Watch for email updates from the Division as we make progress, begin testing and ultimately launch this excellent tool for Class E customers.

Commission Changes

This month the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission welcomed a new member. Boone City Council member Gary Nystrom began a five-year term. His experience as a public safety and transportation committee member will be beneficial to the Commission and Division. Mr. Nystrom believes governing is all about making decision for the benefit of others and that it is critical to not only look at the immediate effects of a decision, but also the long term impact on future generations.

With Mr. Nystroms appointment, we said goodbye to Jim Clayton who served on the Commission for a decade. I am grateful for his service and his dedication to public health and safety. He has been a great asset.

Setting the Vision

While all areas of the Division’s operations were examined and improved over the course of my first term, much focus was spent on the Spirits and Distribution Bureau. As I work with the management team on strategic planning for the next four years, my vision is centered on education and outreach to licensees, local authorities and law enforcement. Now that the alcohol compliance program is up and running, we will be reviewing, expanding and enhancing our efforts in that arena to better fulfill our core function of regulating all aspects of the alcoholic beverages industry in the state of Iowa. The future is exciting and I eagerly await sharing further progress with you.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson, Administrator
Larson@IowaABD.com

What are your duties as the Chief Operating Officer?

My principle role is to oversee the management team in fulfilling the day-to-day mission of the agency. I work closely with Administrator Larson and provide collaboration and recommendations on operations, emerging issues and anything else I'm asked of.

What is your favorite part of your job?

My favorite part of my job is finding solutions and making changes that have a positive impact. Anything that can be changed for our external customers and partners, or for employees internally, that makes their jobs easier and more efficient is a win in my book. Whether it has a big impact like a new routing package or implementing EDI after years of work, or something little like a relaxed dress code at the office for a week, positively affecting change is inspiring and worthwhile.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

The Division has experienced a lot of change over the past year and we have a relatively new management team. It is challenging, but rewarding, to integrate these intelligent and strong personalities with diverse backgrounds and experiences into a cohesive team united for the mission of the Division. As we've worked together and learned more about each other, I've been able to better utilize each individual's skills and strengths to the best advantage for the team and for the organization as a whole.

What do you do in your free time?

I am a family man, sports nut and motorcycle enthusiast. I love coaching and watching my kids participate in sports and band. I've coached football, softball and basketball over the years. When I really need to get away from it all, I get on my Yamaha Stratoliner and just ride; I can't hear my phone ring and it is exhilarating and peaceful. I go to Sturgis every summer to unwind with friends and recharge my battery with no worries and no being the boss. We get to ride in a beautiful place and listen to great bands.

RUM: COOL PRODUCTS, HOT SALES

The rum category features a wide variety of offerings, with spiced and flavored leading the way.

BY JACK ROBERTIELLO

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the July/August 2013 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

When trying to describe the rum market today, the correct question to ask is, “Which rum?”

With classic white rum, it’s business as usual, the basic and most popular style of the sugarcane spirit holding its own in the marketplace. In the world of flavored rums, new iterations and combinations continue to arrive, mimicking what has been going on for some time in the vodka category and enlivening drinks and drink-making possibilities. Considered either a subset of flavors or a subcategory all its own, when it comes to spiced rum, attention is being paid to a new world of tweaks, especially in terms of higher proof and higher price, with continued brand extensions and introductions expected as the style grows in popularity. Finally, for aged and superpremium rums, long promoted by spirit fans as the next big thing, it’s still a waiting game, mostly

Despite some efforts to premiumize and upgrade the image of rum in the same way as has been successfully achieved with tequila, gin, and other spirits categories, it's been the growth in popularity of spiced and flavored rums that has continued to drive the category and attract the attention of major suppliers for the last few years. Today, the brand news, especially from those big players with deep pockets, continues to be flavor innovation.

While commercial focus has lingered on the growth of flavored and spiced, serious rums are still being marketed. Toby Whitmoyer, vice president and brand director, rum category, Bacardi USA, notes that the current on-premise trend toward brown spirits is revealing itself across all dark rums. Gary Ross, director of rums and cordials at Beam Global, says aged rums offer potential for growth like Cruzan, partially the basis for the expansion of the Distiller's Collection. Katherine Lewis, brand manager for Appleton rums, points out that the opportunities for better rums these days lie in tapping into the aged brown spirit consumer, who appreciates aged tequila, single malt Scotch, and bourbon. "Such consumers drink aged, premium brands not just for the taste but for what it says about them, [and we] will speak to them with a message that emphasizes liquid quality and premium lifestyle."

According to Alex Mejido, vice president of Blend Wine & Spirits, US agent for Venezuela's Diplomatico rum, rums that can compete in the general brown spirits arena have a golden opportunity today. "I see a significant rise in the bourbon and brown spirits in general. The consumer is more intrigued than ever with the age of a product for rum and smaller artisan brands. It is the right time for us."

HELP CUSTOMERS COOL DOWN WHILE YOUR SALES HEAT UP

Heat up your sales of rum by helping your customers cool down with these basic summertime favorites.

Basic Rum and Coke

Serve in a chilled collins glass.

2-3 ounces rum, spiced rum, or flavored rum
 3-4 ounces Coca-Cola or other cola drink

Place fresh ice in the prepared serving glass, and add the rum. Add the Coca-Cola or other cola drink; do not stir—the bubbles in the cola will naturally “mix” the ingredients.

Basic Mojito

Serve in a chilled collins glass.

12 mint leaves
 ½ lime
 2-3 teaspoons sugar
 1-2 ounces rum of choice
 Club soda
 Mint sprig
 Lime wedge

Crush the mint leaves with a pestle and mortar, and scrape into the prepared serving glass (you can crush the mint with a long-handled spoon in the bottom of the serving glass if the bottom of the glass is heavy enough). Squeeze the juice from the lime into the serving glass. Drop the squeezed lime into the glass, and add the sugar; muddle (stir) until well mixed. Garnish with the mint sprig and lime wedge.

Basic Daiquiri

Serve in a chilled daiquiri glass.

2-2 ½ ounces rum, spiced rum, or flavored rum
 Juice of ½ lime
 ½-1 teaspoon sugar syrup
 Slice of orange or other complementary fruit

Pour the rum, lime juice, and sugar syrup into a cocktail shaker half-filled with ice; shake vigorously, and strain into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with the orange or other fruit.

Basic Piña Colada

Serve in a chilled or frosted glass.

3 ounces fresh crushed ice
 1½-2 ounces rum, spiced rum, or flavored rum
 1-1½ ounces cream of coconut
 2-2½ ounces pineapple juice
 ¼-½ cup pineapple tidbits or chunks

Orange slice
 Pineapple wedge
 Maraschino cherry

Place the ice in a blender; add the rum, cream of coconut, and pineapple juice and fruit. Blend until smooth, and pour the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with the orange slice, pineapple wedge, and maraschino cherry.

Basic Frozen Daiquiri

Serve in a chilled or frosted glass.

2-3 ounces rum, spiced rum, or flavored rum
 Juice of ½ lime
 ½ teaspoon sugar syrup
 Fresh crushed ice
 Complementary fresh fruit slices or wedges

Combine the rum, lime juice, and sugar syrup in a heavy-duty blender; add at least 4 ounces of fresh crushed ice, and blend at low speed until “snowy.” Pour the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass. Garnish with fresh fruit.

NORTHSIDE CAFE

In the movie The Bridges of Madison County, Robert Kincaid (Clint Eastwood's character) said, "Things change. They always do, it's one of the things of nature. Most people are afraid of change, but if you look at it as something you can always count on, then it can be a comfort." This is true about the Northside Café in Winterset. While a lot has changed since it opened nearly 100 years ago, it is still a staple in the community with friendly faces serving up good food.

The Northside Café sits on the square in the middle of town. If you're walking by you might just miss it, but if you take a closer look you'll be pleasantly surprised. The café offers up many comfort foods right along with new innovative ideas from the mind of the owners Walter and Michele Jahncke.

The Jahnckes bought the Northside Café in 2012 after moving to Winterset from Des Moines. After buying the café, they discovered that some work needed to be done to the building. What started out as a two week renovation turned into a two month job. The building needed new wiring and duct work along with a new ceiling. The Jahnckes salvaged what they could of the original tin ceiling. Once they had finished, they were able to open in time for John Wayne birthday celebration in May.

With the café updated on the inside, it was time to do the same for the food. Walter and Michele wanted to bring big city food to a small town but soon discovered that their passion for the nontraditional was not as popular as they had hoped. Not wanting to ignore their local customer wants, they were able to revamp the menu with a mixture of both creative and comfort foods to create a balance between serving the community and Walter’s goal of becoming a regional destination.

Being able to blend the two styles has created a wonderful, eclectic selection that has something for everyone. The menu boasts many café specialties like the patty melt, pork tenderloin and bacon potato soup. It also serves food from Walter’s hometown of New Orleans such as crab cakes, the Muffuletta (a New Orleans specialty sandwich with salami, ham and provolone cheese piled high on a layer of seasoned marinated olive salad, served on a homemade grilled bun) and shrimp and crab bisque made with real crab meat and shrimp simmered in a creamy bisque with garlic, green onions and parsley.

While breakfast nowadays may be a fading tradition, the Northside Café serves up some amazing home town dishes. They use free-range eggs in the many breakfast favorites. Add a chocolate chip pancake or an orange-ginger scone from the a la carte menu to your order and you won’t be disappointed.

The Northside Café dishes up a friendly atmosphere and amazing food with a side of movie nostalgia (you can sit on the same stool Clint Eastwood sat on during the filming of The Bridges of Madison County). While movies, seasons and the menu changes, the Northside Café is here to stay.

VERSATILE PROFITABLE LIQUEURS

THE BEST PIECE OF ADVICE IS TO FIND OUT HOW THE CUSTOMER WANTS TO USE THE LIQUEUR.

BY ROBERT PLOTKIN

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from “Talking Top Shelf Spirits—Selling Superpremium Liqueurs” from the November/December 2013 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

IN A CATEGORY THAT OFFERS PERHAPS the widest range of flavors and ingredients in the spirits industry, that can be low proof as well as high proof, and that can be consumed in just about every which way, cordials and liqueurs derive from an interesting history. Dating back more than 400 years, at first the process was no more complicated than steeping spirits in a mash of fruit. Honey was often used as a sweetener to negate the biting edge of the alcohol. Gradually as the art of distillation became more precise, so did the methods used to make liqueur.

The words “liqueur” and “cordial” are essentially synonymous. They are made by blending or redistilling spirits with the extracted essence of fruits, flowers, plants, or some other typically organic item. A sweetener is added to the flavored spirit.

Many so-called proprietary liqueurs protect their age-old recipes and keep their ingredients secret, a technique, no doubt, used to increase the intrigue surrounding the product. Indeed, many of these liqueurs feature superpremium pricing, and it is often a combination of their distinct flavors and their unique histories that help spur extra sales. Still, the category is driven by its popular brands and the ongoing introduction of brands and flavor extensions.

The best piece of advice is to find out how the customer wants to use the liqueur. Those preferring to sip a liqueur after dinner will naturally gravitate to the

PROUD AMERICAN VODKA
LIMITED EDITION PACKAGE

We produce the world's only sustainable vodka in the United States, which means 360 Vodka is not only green, but it's red, white and blue too! In fact, our premium quality ingredients are locally grown, then distilled using state-of-the-art, eco-friendly American technology.

To celebrate being American owned and American made, we have created a limited edition package that celebrates and showcases our American pride.

360 Vodka proudly supports American environmental organizations with our Close the Loop program, by providing donations for each swing-top returned for reuse.

INNOVATIONS MAKE GIN MORE APPEALING

One sales key is to determine if the client prefers a dry gin or one that is softer and slightly sweet.

BY ROBERT PLOTKIN

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from “Talking Top Shelf Spirits—Upselling High-End Gins” from the November/December 2013 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

IT'S FAR TOO EASY TO PERCEIVE GINS AS SIMPLE and straightforward propositions. Their crystal clarity, featherweight bodies, and ethereal bouquets are not often considered elegant or complex, which is an unfortunate misconception. Americans now are rediscovering the simple elegance and wonderful complexity of Britain's most famous export. More than any other clear spirit, premium gins are highly individualistic and are made from recipes that endow them with well-developed, highly defined personalities. They have breeding and lineage measured in centuries.

One sales key is to determine if the client prefers a dry gin or one that is softer and slightly sweet. An innovation being well received by enthusiasts is gins distilled using fresh rather than dried botanicals.

In recent years, several new brands of gin with a lighter juniper footprint have seen success in the marketplace. The superpremium-priced Hendrick's, imported from Scotland, was one of the first and has since been followed by a bevy of so-called “American-style” gins, which likewise focus on flavors other than juniper.

LOOKING INTO THE GLASS

Can a retailer receive disposable glassware free-of-charge from a wholesaler? What about durable glassware? Does it make a difference if the retailer is an on-premises licensee or an off-premises licensee? These are all questions that may seem trivial, but transactions involving the selling and giving of disposable and durable glassware to retailers by industry members are controlled by federal and state tied-house regulations. Tied-house regulations are laws prohibiting industry members from providing “things of value” to retailers of alcoholic beverages. Use the following to serve as a guide on making purchases of glassware from an industry member:

Who is considered an industry member?

Industry member means an alcoholic beverages manufacturer, including a distiller, vintner or brewer, bottler, importer, wholesaler, jobber, representative, broker, agent, officer, director, shareholder, partner or employee of each of the above.

What is legal for an on-premises licensee?

One-Time Usage/Disposable Cups

An on-premises licensee may purchase one-time usage cups made of paper, paper laminate, or plastic from a beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member. The beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member is required to sell, not give, the one-time usage cups to an on-premises licensee. Iowa law requires the beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member to charge an on-premises licensee an amount equal to or greater than the cost of the one-time usage cups.

Durable Glassware

An on-premises licensee may purchase durable glassware from a distilled spirits industry member*. The glassware must bear advertising matter which identifies the distilled spirits industry member or their product. The distilled spirits industry member is required to charge the on-premises licensee an amount equal to or greater than the cost of the glassware.

**Note: A distilled spirits industry member who is also a beer and/or wine industry member is prohibited from selling durable glassware to an on-premises licensee.*

What is legal for an off-premises licensee?

One-Time Usage/Disposable Cups

An off-premises licensee may purchase one-time usage cups made of paper, paper laminate, or plastic from a beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member. The beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member is required to sell, not give, the one-time usage cups to an off-premises licensee. Iowa law requires the beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member to charge an off-premises licensee an amount equal to or greater than the cost of the one-time usage cups.

Durable Glassware

An off-premises licensee may purchase durable glassware from a distilled spirits industry member. The glassware must bear advertising matter which identifies the distilled spirits industry member or their product.

The distilled spirits industry member is required to charge an off-premises licensee an amount equal to or greater than the cost of the glassware.

An off-premises licensee may also purchase commemorative glassware from a beer or wine industry member for resale to consumers. The commemorative glassware must bear substantial advertising matter identifying the beer/wine industry member or the beer/wine industry member’s product. The beer or wine industry member is required to charge an off-premises licensee an amount equal to or greater than the cost of the commemorative glassware.

Record Keeping

Proper record keeping must be kept by the beer, wine, or distilled spirits industry member including the name and address of the on- or off-premises licensee receiving the item, the date sold, the item sold, the industry member’s laid-in cost of the item sold and the charges to the on- or off-premises licensee for any item.

These regulations may seem trivial, but they are designed to prevent an industry member from having an undue influence over a retailer. If you have questions contact the Division by calling 515.281.7414. 📞
