FEMA approves disaster loans for cities of Rock Rapids and Rock Valley 'Forgives' loan for City of Mapleton

The Iowa Department of Homeland Security and Emergency Management (HSEMD) announced on Feb. 5 that the cities of Rock Rapids and Rock Valley in northwest Iowa have each been granted a Community Disaster Loan (CDL) to assist in recovering from devastating flooding last summer.

The amount of the loan approved for Rock Rapids is $513,220. The amount of the loan approved for Rock Valley is $939,094.

"Community Disaster Loans are a valuable tool to help communities maintain essential services in the aftermath of a disaster," said Patrick Hall, HSEMD Recovery Division chief and State coordinating officer (SCO) for the disaster. "We will continue to work diligently to assist these communities in recovering from this disaster."

Following the declaration of a major disaster, interested applicants may request assistance through the Governor's authorized representative. The State (HSEMD) can make the request to activate the Community Disaster Loan program. An evaluation is conducted by FEMA with local government officials to determine eligibility.

Community Disaster Loans are administered by FEMA and can be made to any local government in need of financial assistance to perform essential services. CDL applicants may include fire and police departments that provide critical community services during and in the immediate aftermath of disasters, as well as school boards, district court offices, and local governments. The maximum award for a CDL is $5 million.

City of Mapleton loan cancellation

HSEMD was also notified that a Community Disaster Loan the City of Mapleton received in 2012 for $295,571 will not need to be repaid. The loan was made to help the city recover from a tornado that ripped through the county on April 9, 2011. The tornado was part of a storm system that resulted in a Presidential Disaster Declaration for six Iowa counties.

FEMA may cancel repayment of all or part of a CDL if it is determined revenues for three fiscal years following a disaster are insufficient, as a result of the disaster, to meet the operating budget for the local government.

Severe Weather Awareness Week is March 23-27

Severe Weather Awareness Week will be held March 23-27 this year. The goal of Severe Weather Awareness Week is to provide Iowans a better understanding, and to increase awareness, of the state's spring weather hazards.

The highlight of Severe Weather Awareness Week is the annual tornado drill, scheduled for Wednesday, March 25. Schools, businesses, state and local governments, the military, and individuals are strongly encouraged to participate in the drill. Additional information on the tornado drill can be found on local National Weather Service websites.

Visit www.beready.iowa.gov for information on preparing for spring's severe weather. Ω

IDHRC to hold annual meeting

The Iowa Disaster Human Resource Council (IDHRC) will hold its annual meeting March 19, 2015, at Joint Forces Headquarters in Johnston.

This year's meeting will feature Janay Stargell, who will speak on Georgia's Praise and Preparedness Program. The program is designed for use by all houses of worship to help prepare their facility and plan for emergencies. Also speaking at the meeting will be Dr. David Myers, director of the U.S. Department of Homeland Security's Center for Faith-based and Neighborhood Partnerships. Dr.

Myers will give an overview of the center's activities and efforts at major disasters.

To register, visit https://iavoad.communityos.org/cms/IDHRC_ANNUAL_MEETING_REGISTRATION. Funding assistance for travel may be available.

The IDHRC is comprised of faith-based, non-profit, volunteer, private, and governmental organizations active in disasters. For more information, visit www.homeland-security.iowa.gov/programs/IDHRC.html. Ω

FEMA offers Assistance to Firefighters Grants forums

FEMA Region VII has a new tool for those interested in the Assistance to Firefighters Grants (AFG).

The FEMA Region VII grants team will be hosting a series of AFG informational forums. The forums will be an opportunity to discuss challenges and ask questions about the AFG program in order to help applicants be better prepared for, and manage, their applications and awards.

The next forum will be held March 18, 2015, via Adobe Connect webinar.

For information on the forums, and other resources that can assist those interested in applying for the AFG program, contact Region VII AFG program specialists Linda Davis at linda.davis@FEMA.dhs.gov or Rex Jennings at rex.jennings@fema.dhs.gov.

OMB reforms, consolidates federal financial assistance regulations

A recent change in federal financial assistance regulations may necessitate changes in grant recipients' policies and procedures.

The Super Circular is an Office of Management and Budget (OMB) reform of regulations that apply to federal financial assistance that streamlines the language from eight existing OMB circulars into one consolidated set of guidance in the Code of Federal Regulations (C.F.R.).

The Super Circular is more than just consolidation of the existing financial assistance circulars; it contains substantive changes. Be sure to review it carefully! Share it with all persons who are responsible for ensuring compliance with awards of federal financial assistance to determine if your policies and procedures will need to be changed.

The Super Circular applies to awards of federal financial assistance to all non-federal entities. Non-federal entities are states, local governments, Indian tribes, institutions of higher education, or nonprofit organizations that carry out federal awards. The definition does not include individuals. Additionally, federal entities may apply subparts A through E of the Super Circular to for-profit entities.

You can access the new regulations for the 2 C.F.R. Part 200 at this link. Additional resources can be found at:

- Crosswalk of Changes: www.whitehouse.gov/omb/grants_docs
- Council on Financial Assistance Reform Frequently Asked Questions: <https://cfo.gov/cofar/>
- FEMA Grants Information: www.fema.gov/grants

The U.S. Department of Homeland Security has adopted the Super Circular through regulation at 2 C.F.R. Part 3002.10.

For federal financial assistance from FEMA, this means:

- The Super Circular will apply to all new non-disaster grant awards FEMA makes on or after Dec. 26, 2014.
- The Super Circular will apply to all disaster grant awards FEMA makes for emergency or major disaster declarations issued on or after Dec. 26, 2014.
- The Super Circular will not apply retroactively to existing awards, with two exceptions:

1. The audit requirements in subpart F of the Super Circular will apply to all Single Audit Act audits performed for any recipient or subrecipient fiscal year that begins on or after Dec. 26, 2014. This includes audits performed under existing awards.

2. OMB has stated that recipients and subrecipients who wish to implement entity-wide system changes to comply with the new guidance after the effective date will not be penalized for doing so.Ω

Application period for HSGP and EMPG closes March 13

The application period for those eligible to apply for Emergency Management Performance Grant (EMPG) and Homeland Security Grant Program (HSGP) funding for the federal fiscal year 2015 will close March 13, 2015, at 4 p.m. Central time.

Specific information and resources for EMPG and HSGP are available within the specific funding opportunities posted in IowaGrants.gov.
