Preface

As with the 1970 Census, the U.S. Department of Labor's Employment and Training Administration (ETA) has compiled a series of special reports for the use of program managers and other social scientists concerned with human resources.

These reports, which were designed cooperatively by federal, state and local government research staff, include much unpublished data from the 1980 Census Summary Tape Files. The reports in this series cover not only all of the major government and census designated geographic areas in the United States, but also the unique administrative areas that concern program managers. The major report series are as follows:

- 1 Population Characteristics
- 2 Employment and Training Indicators
- 3 Social Indicators for Program Analysis, Planning and Evaluation
- 4 Racial/Ethnic Socio-Economic Profiles:
  - Asian Americans and Pacific Islanders
  - Black Americans
  - Hispanic Americans
  - Native Americans
- 5 Equal Employment Indicators
- 6 Journey to Work Patterns
- 7 Labor Force Estimations

In developing these reports, ETA and Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory utilized the latest techniques of information management, data retrieval, and computer graphics display to transform census data into an effective, easy-to-use format. The overall objective is to make public information accessible.

Acknowledgments

The 1980 Census Project is a joint undertaking of the Employment and Training Administration (ETA), Region IX, San Francisco and the Lawrence Berkeley Laboratory (LBL) of the University of California at Berkeley. The overall planning and execution of the report series was carried out in the Employment and Training Administration under the direction of Walter Postle, Chief, Management Data Systems and Analysis Division, Region IX, San Francisco. Division members working closely on the project included Bruce Bargmeyer, Warner Lee, and Cheryl Mendoza. James W. Higgins of the ETA Labor Market Information division coordinated project requirements at the ETA National Office in Washington, D.C.

Work at LBL was under the direction of Carl Quong, Head, Computer Science and Mathematics Department. Harvard Holmes, project leader, coordinated the overall systems design and supervised all other aspects of the project. Robert Healey developed computer programs for census tape conversion and compression, geographic area selection, table specification, and report generation. Fred Gey, John McCarthy, and Deane Merrill developed basic elements of the database design, including data definition language, data dictionaries, and a general scheme for data caching and retrieval. William Benson enhanced the CHART program for addition of line, bar and pie charts to the report series. Aaron Marcus was responsible for graphic design, composition and statistical table layout, with substantial contributions from Iona Einowski of the State Data Program at the University of California, Berkeley. Bruce Burkhardt handled all aspects of production, including data acquisition, administration and final output. Major hardware used to produce these reports include VAX 11/780 computers, a Dicomed Computer Output on Microfilm (COM) device, and a Xerox 9700 laser printer.

Printing and distribution of the basic reports were handled by Marvin Wilson, Associate Director, Office of Data Base Services, National Technical Information Service (NTIS) in Springfield, Virginia. Alan Wenberg was the NTIS product manager responsible for coordinating production facilities.

The report series was designed to meet the data needs of the managers and staff in the employment and training field. To insure that report output meets the requirements of users, input was solicited from a variety of sources. Significant contributions to the content of the reports were made by the following offices and individuals:

Department of Labor National Office - Employment and Training Administration: Cynthia Ambler, Jeff Crandall, Betty Fautz, Matt Kessler, Alexandra Kielty, and Welforde Scales; Office of the Assistant Secretary for Policy, Evaluation and Research: Lynn Dusenberre; Bureau of Labor Statistics (BLS): Delores Turner; Office of Federal Contract Compliance Programs: Dale Barone and Sam Washington; Women's Bureau: Harriet Harper.

Technical Notes
Footnotes

These brief technical notes provide footnotes for the tables in this report, summarize the special characteristics and limitations of census data, explain special terms and data items specific to this report series, and cite references to more technical and detailed discussion of 1980 Census data topics. They are organized as follows:

1. Footnotes to items in this report
2. Data characteristics and limitations
3. Geographic area definitions
4. Item definitions and derivations.

The two major reference publications which users of these data may wish to consult and which are cited throughout these notes are the "Census of Population and Housing, 1980: Users' Guide" (cited below simply as the 1980 Census "Users' Guide"), and the "Census of Population and Housing, 1980: Summary Tape File 1 Technical Documentation" (cited below as "STF1 Technical Documentation"). The "Users' Guide" provides general information about the census, how data were collected, what questions were asked, etc., and provides an excellent overview of available publications, data, and services. The "STF1 Technical Documentation" provides detailed information about the specific computer tapes that were used to produce this report. Both publications are available in many libraries and may be ordered from the following source:

Footnotes

This section contains footnote material from the "STF1 Technical Documentation" which pertains to specific items in this report. Footnote numbers shown below and in the report tables are those defined in that publication; footnotes which do not pertain to items in this report have been omitted.

Footnote (1)

The count of households in the complete-count tabulations by definition equals the number of occupied housing units. For this documentation the term "Household" is used unless the matrix is stratified by a housing item such as tenure, plumbing facilities, etc., in which case the term "occupied housing unit" is used.

Footnote (2)

This tabulation includes vacant seasonal and migratory units. Vacant seasonal and migratory units are excluded from all other tabulations.

Footnote (3)

For data tabulated on a 100-percent basis, "Remaining Races" includes all persons in the self-designated category "Other."

Footnote (4)

"Asian and Pacific Islander" in the 100-percent tabulations includes "Japanese," "Chinese," "Filipino," "Korean," "Asian Indian," "Vietnamese," "Hawaiian," "Guamanian," and "Samoan."

Footnote (7)

Tabulations of "Persons in household" based on 100-percent data by definition are the same as tabulations of "Persons in unit." The phrase "Persons in household" is used unless the matrix is stratified by a housing item such as tenure, plumbing facilities, etc., in which case the phrase "Persons in unit" is used. Tabulations of "Persons in household" and "Persons in unit" based on sample data are not necessarily the same because of differences in the procedures used to inflate sample population and housing data.

Footnote (11)

Value and price asked are tabulated separately for non-condominium and condominium units. The non-condominium value distribution is restricted to certain kinds of "owner-occupied" units; the non-condominium price asked distribution is restricted to certain kinds of "vacant-for-sale only" units. The following are excluded from the tabulations on value and price asked for non-condominium units:

- a. Units at an address with two or more units
- b. Units on 10 or more acres
- c. Units with a commercial establishment or medical office on the property
- d. Mobile homes or trailers

The condominium value distribution is tabulated for all "owner-occupied" condominium units; the condominium price asked distribution is tabulated for all "vacant-for-sale only" condominium units.

These reports are intended to simplify use of census information, but users still need to be aware of data characteristics, definitions, and limitations. Users who do not check the definitions of census terms or who do not understand the concept of "universe" often misinterpret census data. For example, they may mistake family income for household income, may misinterpret the term "unemployed," or may not consider which type of buildings are included in the "occupied housing units" universe. It is also important to understand the limitations of census data, including both sampling and non-sampling errors. This section, which summarizes a lengthier discussion from chapter 6 of the 1980 Census "Users' Guide," addresses questions that should concern every data user.

Universes for Tabulation Items

Each tabulation in census materials and this report is an aggregate summary based on a particular "universe" of individual persons, families, households, or housing units to which data pertain. Indented row labels such as "Hispanic by Race" identify subsets of the universes identified at the top of each part of the table. Universe is thus crucial to interpretation of each table, and data based on different universes usually cannot be combined.

Complete Count and Sample Data

There were two types of 1980 census questionnaires: the short form and the long form. About 81 percent of households completed the short form, which contained seven questions about each household member, nine questions about the housing unit, and three questions to ensure that no person associated with the household was overlooked. Data derived from these questions are referred to as 100-percent or complete-count data.

A scientific sample of about 19 percent of all households nationwide completed the long form, which contained all the questions on the short form plus additional questions on 26 population and 20 housing subjects. Sampling allowed the Census Bureau to collect information on additional subjects while minimizing the overall reporting burden.

Short-form or 100-percent data are more precise, but more limited than sample data. In addition, the 100-percent or complete-count data are processed first and are, therefore, available sooner.

All of the data in this report were drawn from the first Summary Tape File released by the Census Bureau, STF1, which contains aggregate summary tabulations from complete-count or short-form 1980 Census data.

Errors

The complete count data in this report are not subject to sampling error, but may contain occasional non-sampling errors due to human and mechanical failures that inevitably occur during the course of any large-scale data collection operation such as the decennial census. Such errors include failure to enumerate every household or person in the population, not obtaining all required information from respondents, obtaining incorrect or inconsistent information, and recording information incorrectly. Errors can also occur during the field review of the enumerators' work, the clerical handling of the census questionnaires, or the electronic processing of the questionnaires. Chapter 6 of the 1980 Census "Users' Guide" cited above discusses in some detail the various types of errors that could have occurred and the quality control measures that were employed in order to minimize such errors.

As with the 1950, 1960, and 1970 censuses, there were programs at the conclusion of the 1980 census to measure various aspects of the quality achieved, including the degree of completeness of the count of persons and housing units. Although evaluation programs for the 1980 census were not completed at the time STF1 was released, preliminary estimates indicate that the rate of undercoverage in the 1980 census was reduced from 1970 undercoverage, which was estimated to be about 2.5 percent of the population.

Editing, Allocation, and Substitution

In order to produce statistics that describe the population as accurately and clearly as possible, the Census Bureau employed a variety of techniques which are described in chapters 2 and 6 of the 1980 Census "Users' Guide." After data were collected, certain unacceptable entries and blank items were edited, by machine whenever possible, and by hand when necessary.

Whenever inconsistent or blank items occurred, the Census Bureau assigned or substituted information rather than simply reporting the items as "missing." This process is called "substitution" when it involves all information for an individual or housing unit, and "allocation" when only a portion of the data items were involved. The editing process ensures that the distribution of characteristics for persons and housing units assigned by the computer corresponds closely to the distribution of characteristics for persons and housing units actually reported in the census. Specific tolerances were established for the number of computer allocations and substitutions permitted. If the number of corrections was beyond tolerance, the questionnaires in which the errors occurred were clerically reviewed. STF1 includes four tables (56, 57, 58, 59) that allow users to determine the extent of allocation and substitution for a given geographic area, but that information is not given in this report because of limitations of space and because the proportion of allocation and substitution was normally very small for areas covered by this report.

Data Item Suppression

In order to maintain the confidentiality promised to respondents and required by law, it is necessary for the Census Bureau to make sure that its public data do not disclose information about any individual. Therefore, the Bureau suppresses tabulations of characteristics of very small groups of people or housing units. The final section of chapter 6 in the 1980 Census "Users' Guide" details the rules for suppression of 100-percent data, with examples of different types of suppression and discussion of the consequences of ignoring suppression in calculations.

Several basic counts are never suppressed, even if there is a count of only one. They are as follows:

- Total population
- Total housing units
- Year-round housing units
- Occupied units
- Vacant year-round housing units
- Count of persons and households in each race or Hispanic origin group

Characteristics of persons other than race or Hispanic origin (e.g., age, relationship) are shown only if there are 15 or more persons in the geographic area.

Characteristics of year-round housing units which are not classified by occupancy status (e.g., number of rooms, plumbing facilities, etc.) are suppressed only when there are fewer than five year-round housing units in the geographic area being tabulated, regardless of the number of occupied housing units or number of persons. Characteristics of families, households, or occupied units are shown if there are at least five occupied housing units within the geographic area tabulated.

In some cases complementary suppression is applied to prevent the derivation of suppressed data by subtraction. For example, distributions of data for owners or renters are shown only when the number of owners is at least five and the number of renters is also at least five.

The population and housing suppression criteria are applied independently of each other. The 15-person or five-household criteria are also applied to each race or Hispanic origin category for items tabulated by race. Individual cells of data for specific race or Hispanic origin groups are never suppressed when there are 15 or more persons of that group in a geographic area unless required by complementary suppression.

In this report series, the three dot symbol "..." indicates data suppressed by the Census Bureau. An asterisk "*" following a value means that a data suppression occurred in one or more of the census items used in calculating the report item. For advice on the consequences of ignoring suppression for items marked with an asterisk, see the relevant section at the end of chapter 6 of the 1980 Census "Users' Guide."

The Report 1A series provides data for major government and census geographic areas. For a detailed discussion of census geographic areas, including hierarchical relationships, historical comparability, and availability of maps, see chapter 4 of the 1980 Census "Users' Guide" plus Part I and Appendix A of the "STF1 Technical Documentation."

In addition, Report 1A includes data for "Prime Sponsor Areas" defined by the U.S. Department of Labor, based on aggregations from smaller units provided by the census. A Prime Sponsor Area (PSA) is a large population nucleus and nearby communities which have a high degree of economic and social integration with that nucleus. Each PSA consists of one or more counties (or county equivalents); single cities or groups of cities (towns in New England); or balance of county or state portions.

Data Item Definitions and Derivations

Labels for Report 1A have in most cases been taken directly from STF1 labels used by the Census Bureau. For more precise definition of these terms plus explanation of how STF1 tabulations were derived from the original census questionnaires, discussion of the limitations of particular data items, and information about comparability with historical items from previous censuses, see the "STF1 Technical Documentation" Glossary. For a more general and comprehensive treatment of definitions, limitations, and historical comparability for individual data items, see the 1980 Census "Users' Guide" Glossary.

The table below identifies the specific census table cells and computations used to produce this report. Each row item in the table corresponds to a row label in the report. To the right of each item label are algebraic expressions for the count (N) and percentage (%) for each data item. (Except for values set to 100 percent, the algebraic expressions shown under "Percentage Calculation" give a fraction which varies from 0 to 1; for a percentage which varies from 0 to 100, multiply times 100.) In cases where this report uses a term that differs substantially from that used by the Census Bureau, the latter is given in parentheses below the row label that appears in the report.

In many cases, numeric values were taken directly from single cells of Summary Tape File 1, which are identified by tabulation number and subscript (e.g., tab12(2,5)), as in the "Summary Tape File 1 Technical Documentation." In cases where values were calculated using more than one census data item, standard algebraic notation is used: a plus symbol "+" for simple addition, plus symbols separated by three dots "...+" for sequential multiple addition, a dash "-" for subtraction, a slash "/" for division, and an asterisk "*" for multiplication. Parentheses "()" are used to specify subscripts and order of operations, if ambiguous.
