2015 Iowa Legislative Session Timetable

Older Americans and their advocates are celebrating this week after legislation to reauthorize the Older Americans Act (OAA) of 1965 took a giant step forward.

Although repeated requests have been made to reauthorize the OAA since it first came due for review in 2011, it was only last week that members of the U.S. Senate Health, Education, Labor and Pensions (HELP) Committee were able to successfully propose a bill to reauthorize the act.

In a strong show of bipartisanship, Lamar Alexander (R-Tenn.), Patty Murray (D - Wash.), Richard Burr (R - N.C.) and Bernie Sanders (I - Vt.) introduced the Older Americans Act Reauthorization Act of 2015 and garnered enough support among HELP Committee members on Wednesday to enable the bill to move to the full Senate.

The proposed legislation, S.192, provides for a three-year reauthorization with conservative changes to the OAA, including the modernization of the Prevention of Elder Abuse, Neglect, and Exploitation Program; strengthen the role of Long-Term Care Ombudsmen; and definitional changes related to Aging and Disability Resource Centers.

S.192 is similar to a bill introduced last session with one distinct exception: the bill addresses changes to the formula used to allocate OAA funding to the states. This controversial formula has been the reason past efforts for reauthorization have failed.

The debate surrounding the funding formula stems from a provision often referred to as “hold harmless” – a mechanism that protects states with low population growth from a reduction in minimum funding levels. Iowa is a low-growth state and has benefited from the hold harmless provision, while states with larger population growth have argued the provision results in inadequate funding.

The Older Americans Act Reauthorization Act of 2015 contains a stop-loss compromise that mandates no state will receive less than 99 percent of the funding allotted in the prior fiscal year in 2015, 2016 and 2017. After that, funding will be frozen at 2018 levels.

The stop-loss compromise applies to Title III funding received pursuant to the OAA, but it is unclear how other titles may be impacted. The Department on Aging is in the process of analyzing the proposed changes and will continue to report regarding these developments.

Bills to watch this Legislative Session

The General Assembly is officially up and running, with a steady stream of bills now being introduced and moving through committees. On the following pages, Bill Tracker details a list of bills currently being monitored by the Iowa Department on Aging.

Here is a snapshot of a few topics and bills that relate to those topics:

DEMENTIA TRAINING

- Senate Study Bill 1001 outlines several requirements regarding dementia training, including the requirement that several state departments create a taskforce to develop dementia curricula and training models; review existing educational and training components; research and review evidence-based best practices; work with licensing boards to establish educational training partnerships to support certification; review financial incentives for individuals providing care; and make recommendations no later than Nov. 15, 2015. Senate Study Bill 1001 passed subcommittee on Jan. 21 and will now make its way to full committee.

ELDER ABUSE PREVENTION

- House File 85 amends the current elder abuse Code chapter to remove exemptions from the confidential relationship requirement. Under current law, individuals working in certain industries or maintaining a certain relationship with a vulnerable elder (e.g., lawyers, fiscal agents, etc.) cannot be in a confidential relationship and cannot be subject to an allegation of financial exploitation under the elder abuse Code chapter. The legislation removes the exemptions and instead allows the court to determine a confidential relationship based upon the totality of the circumstances.
- House File 87 creates the crime of financial exploitation of an older individual and establishes associated criminal penalties. The concepts within these pieces of legislation have been a discussion point in past elder abuse task forces.
- Senate File 21 is aimed at preventing individuals who are convicted of certain crimes from recovering proceeds or benefits from the estate of the individual against whom the crime was perpetrated.

GUARDIANSHIP AND CONSERVATORSHIP PETITIONS

- Companion bills House Study Bill 44 and Senate Study Bill 1024 amend current law to ease legal procedures in the filing of a combined petition for guardianship and conservatorship. This legislation will allow a combined guardianship and conservatorship to be treated as a single proceeding with one docket number. On the House side, this legislation has already passed the Judiciary Committee.

Older Iowans lose long-time friend and advocate

On Monday, Jan. 26, older Iowans and their advocates lost a dear friend and valued colleague when Neil Wubben passed away at his home in Osage following an illness.

At 72, Neil was a distinguished and beloved member of his community and an inspiration to all Iowans. He was born and raised near Buffalo Center, Iowa, and, after graduating high school, served in the U.S. Marine Corps from 1960 to 1963. He married in 1963 and went on to attend Iowa State University, where he earned both a bachelor's degree and a Master of Science degree in Agronomy.

Neil taught vocational agriculture from 1971 to 1981 before accepting a position with Iowa State University Extension, where he served as county education director for Woodbury County from 1982 to 1984 and Mitchell County from 1985 to 2009. His life's work and dedication to educating young people resulted in his being inducted into the 4-H Hall of Fame in 2012.

In addition, Neil was very active in his church and community, serving on the board of directors for the Osage Community School District, Mitchell County Habitat for Humanity and the Elderbridge Agency on Aging. Neil chaired the Mitchell County Republican Party as was elected chair of the Older Iowans Legislature in 2013. His advocacy efforts on behalf of older Iowans led him to be appointed by the governor to the Iowa Commission on Aging, which serves as the policymaking body for the Iowa Department on Aging.

Neil will always be remembered for his commitment to education as a means of improving the quality of life for others. His good nature, insight and willingness to collaborate made him an admired and respected leader in the effort to protect the health, well-being and rights of older Iowans.

Neil is survived by his wife Karen, his sons Scott, Wade and Martin, and his grandchildren. He will be dearly missed.
