State Information

CPPC Fall Statewide Learning Network Convening

We at Community Partnerships for Protecting Children (CPPC) are excited to announce our Fall Statewide Learning Network Convening. This November 2nd, we'll deviate from our usual format of a keynote and several small breakout sessions to feature Doyin Richards. He's a father doing primary care of his daughters. Before leaving the corporate world, he did Instructional Design. He now does a Dads blog, writes children's books, and does speaking across the nation. See his bio on the attached flyer for more information on Doyin and the day's agenda.

The event will be held at the Holiday Inn Merle Hay in Des Moines. Please feel free to share this information widely. We look forward to seeing you November 2!

Federal Information:

Federal Office of Inspector General (OIG) Releases Survey to Child Care Providers

The Office of Inspector General for the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services is conducting a study on the Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF) subsidy program, a Federal-State partnership that provides eligible, low-income families with help paying for child care. States may operate their CCDF subsidy programs at the local or County level, and refer to the programs by different names, which may not include the term “CCDF.” For this study, we are examining the adequacy of States’ subsidy payment rates and how these rates compare to prices charged by child care providers.

1,000 providers have randomly been selected from a list of child care providers across the country to assist with this important study by completing a survey on child care services. The survey questions focus on descriptive information about your child care program, your charges for care, and your experiences with your States’ CCDF subsidy program, if applicable. Please be assured that no individual child care providers will be named in our study report. Answers will be combined with other responses to the survey to provide valuable information to improve the CCDF program.

Family Engagement Simulation

Parent, family, and community engagement simulation: Boosting school readiness through an effective family engagement series

What you do and say matters! Explore and practice everyday strategies to develop positive goal-oriented relationships with a family. These relationships are key to our work with children and families, including the journey toward school readiness. See a new simulation on Talking with Families about Developmental Concerns.

- Simulation 1 allows you to practice building bonds with families, beginning with an intake visit.
- Simulation 2 explores the process of developing and implementing goals with families.
- Simulation 3 explores using strengths-based attitudes to partner with families during challenging times.
- Simulation 4 helps you talk with families about developmental concerns.

National Cybersecurity Awareness Month

October is National Cyber Security Awareness Month which is an annual campaign to raise awareness about the importance of cybersecurity. The Internet touches almost all aspects of everyone's daily life, whether we realize it or not. National Cyber Security Awareness Month (NCSAM) is designed to engage and educate public and private sector partners through events and initiatives to raise awareness about the importance of cybersecurity, provide them with tools and resources needed to stay safe online, and increase the resiliency of the Nation in the event of a cyber incident.

Cyber criminals do not discriminate; they target vulnerable computer systems regardless of whether they are part of a large corporation, a small business, or belong to a home user. Cybersecurity is a shared responsibility in which all Americans have a role to play. The Stop.Think.Connect. Toolkit provides resources for all segments of the community.

Sanford Harmony Training

By attending this training, teachers, counselors and school personnel will be equipped with the information, strategies, and resources to facilitate Harmony training and coaching at their own schools or district.

Sanford Harmony, a research-based, highly effective teaching strategy that strengthens classroom communities by helping each child understand and appreciate diversity in others. By breaking down barriers, Sanford Harmony enables students to connect and collaborate at much deeper levels.

The workshop will include the screening and discussion of Resilience: The Biology of Stress & the Science of Hope. The original research was controversial, but the findings revealed the most important public health findings of a generation.

Resilience is a 1-hour documentary that delves into the science of Adverse Childhood Experiences (ACEs) and the birth of a new movement to treat and prevent toxic stress. Extremely stressful experiences in childhood can alter brain development and have lifelong effects on health and behavior.

Promising Snapshot: High-Hispanic serving ECE centers fare well on indicators of quality

A new brief from the National Research Center on Hispanic Children and Families (NRCHCF) has found that early care and education (ECE) centers serving high proportions of Hispanic kids measure as well—if not better— than their counterparts on key indicators of quality. These ECE centers reported more curriculum use, support services, and specialists on staff.

Read the brief to see what works to make these centers high-quality places of learning.

The Smart Start (North Carolina) Resource Guide of Evidence-Based and Evidence-Informed Programs and Practices

“Across the nation there is an increasing focus on the use of evidence-based practices.[1] This movement is across federal agencies such as the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration (SAMHSA),[2] and the Department of Education,[3] as well as across various fields such as medicine, mental health, and early childhood[4-6]. Research and practice in the field of early childhood are growing to help professionals provide the best services possible to produce real change.

“This guide is intended to provide the research evidence for programs and practices most commonly funded by Smart Start partnerships and primary evidence-based early childhood programs.

“Although this is not a “how-to” guide for doing community planning and systems building, program development, program implementation, and evaluation, these are essential elements for successful services.”

Is subsidized childcare associated with lower risk of grade retention for low-income children?

Evidence from Child Care and Development Fund administrative records linked to the American Community Survey

This study investigates whether low-income young children's experience of Child Care and Development Fund (CCDF)-subsidized childcare is associated with a lower subsequent likelihood of being held back in grades K-12. High-quality childcare has been shown to improve low-income children's school readiness. However, no previous study has examined the link specifically between subsidized care and grade retention. I do so here by matching information on children from CCDF administrative records to later observations of the same children in the American Community Survey (ACS). I use logistic regression to compare the likelihood of grade retention between CCDF-recipient children and non-recipient children who also appear in the ACS in the years 2008-2014 (N=2,284,857). I find strong evidence for an association between CCDF-subsidized care and lower risk of grade retention, especially among non-Hispanic Black children and Hispanic children. I also find evidence that receiving CCDF-subsidized center-based care in particular is associated with a lower risk of being held back than CCDF-subsidized family daycare, babysitter care, or relative care, again with the largest apparent benefit to non-Hispanic Black children and Hispanic children.
