Plan Your Spring Cabin Getaway

Iowa state parks offer more than 90 cabins in 19 parks across the state. Here's three reasons to book now and stay in a cabin before Memorial Day:

1. Reserve a short stay --

Between Labor Day and Memorial Day, guests can rent any cabin for as short as a two-night minimum stay. In the peak summer season, most cabins rent for a week at a time. So reserve a cabin now for a weekend getaway!

2. Visit popular parks --

In summer months, cabins in parks like Backbone State Park and Pine Lake often rent out months in advance. But many of those parks have cabin openings in spring, fall and winter. Now is a great time to explore some of Iowa's most-beloved treasures.

3. Spring into fun --

Spring is also one of the best times to visit state parks! Morel mushroom hunting, crappie fishing, bird watching and many other outdoor pursuits make spring a great time to visit.

Visit the DNR's online reservation center to view pictures, availability and amenities for each cabin -- 10 parks have cabins available year-round, and the rest open their cabins between April 1 and May 1.
