IOWA WORKFORCE DEVELOPMENT

Executive Summary

In 2014, the other services sector comprised 3.0 percent of all employment (both public and private sector) in Iowa, providing the state 44,879 jobs, with an average annual wage of $28,770. This wage was 32.4 percent lower than the statewide average of $42,536 for all industries. This wage rate is pretty on par for the region, although it is 15.2 percent lower than the national average for this sector.

Employment has grown fairly steadily since 2006, even adding jobs during the deepest recession years of 2009 and 2010. Some of the growth was offset between 2012 and 2013 when some establishments providing home health care to individuals was reclassified from private households in this sector to individual and family services sub-sector in the health care and social assistance industries, classified under the health care sector.

Since 2006, this sector has added 3,113 jobs, growing by 7.5 percent. Wages have also been steadily increasing, up 24.6 percent over the same period. Keep in mind, however that these numbers are somewhat distorted by the reclassification outlined above.

Women somewhat outnumber men in this sector, especially amongst workers under age 35. Women hold 52.9 percent of this sector's jobs.
