Dram Shop Reform will be the subject of a series of public forums held throughout the state this spring and summer. The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission has scheduled four public meetings to examine and review Iowa's dram shop law, Iowa Code § 123.92.

The Commission, in concert with the Iowa Hospitality Association, the Iowa Insurance Industry, bar owners and the public, will examine the current state of dram in Iowa and will explore ways to improve the existing system. Reform, not repeal, will be the focus of the review. In that vein, the ultimate objective will be to reduce the incidents of dram claims and, thereby, reduce insurance premiums for bar owners.

Dram has been the subject of several Commission meetings in recent months as the Commission sought to amend the dram administrative rule to increase the minimum dram coverage. The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Commission, on March 6, 2002, approved the first major change in the dram shop coverage in over three decades.

Iowa, like a slight majority of other states, has a dram statute holding on-premises licensed establishments that serve intoxicated patrons responsible for any resulting injury or harm. The amount of minimum coverage is determined by Division rule.

The current rate requires bars to carry a minimum bodily injury or death coverage of $10,000 per individual ($20,000 cumulative) and $5,000 for loss of support. Starting September 1, 2003, licensees will be required to expand their minimum coverage upon license renewal. The new minimum levels for bodily injury or death will be $50,000 per individual ($100,000 cumulative) and $25,000 per individual ($50,000 cumulative) for loss of support.

While the new rates may result in increased premiums for some licensees, no comments were received throughout the rulemaking process in opposition to increasing the minimum coverage. What the Commission did hear, however, was ample concern about the validity of some dram claims, dissatisfaction with dram protection and frustration with the high cost of dram. Some of the concerns appeared to be warranted, while others were merely based on misunderstanding or misinformation.

The Commission will be holding public hearings throughout the state to educate licensees, consult with the insurance industry and search for methods to reduce the cost of dram, all while continuing to provide the public with the necessary protection. The first public meeting will be held at the Division's Ankeny facility on April 30th. Additional sessions are set for Cedar Rapids (May 29), Council Bluffs (July 17) and Davenport (August 12). All forums are set for 1:30 PM at the locations designated below.

I encourage each of you to take the time to attend one of the Dram Shop Reform sessions to share your views with the Commission. I can tell you that every voice counts and I can assure you that every voice will be heard!

Best wishes,

DEKUYPER

MIX UP THE FLAVOR
www.dekuyper.com

THE KEY TO SUCCESS THESE DAYS IS "MIXABILITY." CONSUMERS CONTINUE TO DEMAND NEW FLAVOR EXPERIENCES, AND CORDIALS AND LIQUEURS ARE JUST THE TICKET.

For as long as beer, wine, and spirits have been made, flavorings have been added. Ingredients were sometimes added to make a spirit more palatable. Others were added to improve one's health. Medieval alchemists spent as much time trying to create elixirs of life as they did trying to turn lead into gold. The real, gold, it turns out, is in the cordials and liqueurs they developed.

Cordials and liqueurs comprise the second-largest spirits category in the industry behind vodka. And that category is growing, thanks to consumer taste trends. [In 2001] the category was up 1.3 percent to 17.6 million 9-liter cases, according to Adams Handbook Advance 2002. Because the category is so diverse, brand performances varied. Lots of activity and new product introductions however attest to the category's health.

Cordials and liqueurs grow as they capitalize on consumer taste trends.

BY MICHAEL SHERER,
A SEATTLE-BASED WRITER AND CONSULTANT SPECIALIZING IN
BEVERAGES AND FOODSERVICE

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the March/April 2002 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

The key to success these days is “mixability.” Consumers continue to demand new flavor experiences, and cordials and liqueurs are just the ticket. “The category has always been all about flavor and mystique,” said Ed Gualtieri, executive vice president of marketing at Barton Brands, “but we see cordials growing as a flavor ingredient in martinis, shooters, and mixed drinks.”

A number of factors are contributing to the trend. Younger, entry-level consumers have grown up on a wide variety of flavored products, especially beverages such as soda, flavored waters, teas, and energy drinks. They’re experiential and willing to experiment with flavors. At the same time, what’s old is new again. Retro is chic, and classic cocktails are in. “It’s an exciting time for cordials in general because of the resurgence in classic cocktails with a twist,” said Chris Gretchko, group product director at Jim Beam Brands. “People are experimenting with tastes in food and drinks, and the sections of the store where people can find new flavors is growing.”

What makes the category successful however also makes it difficult to get your arms around it. With so many products and so much diversity, knowing what to stock and how to merchandise your selection can be difficult. . . . “We’re seeing people trying new drinks to have fun when they’re out, then going to the store and looking for things to mix themselves,” Gretchko said.

Proprietary Brands

What makes cordials and liqueurs so difficult to categorize is that . . . they come in almost every flavor imaginable. Even when one flavor dominates, there are often so many other ingredients that it’s difficult to put a cordial or liqueur in any specific slot.

In general the category can be divided into proprietary brands, made from a secret formula often centuries old, and generic liqueurs. . . . The proprietary brands have seen mixed results depending in large part on their flavor. Products with recognizable flavors that mix well are growing faster than those that are an acquired taste or not as well known. Orange, for example, is a flavor that has taken off. Grand Marnier and Cointreau, both orange-based liqueurs, have had tremendous success in branded upscale cocktails like Cosmopolitans and margaritas. Others are trying to find ways to hitch onto the bandwagon.

“After-dinner drinks are dying off slowly,” said Duncan Horner, Benedictine/B&B brand manager at Bacardi USA. “People are drinking cocktails before dinner not after because of DUI laws and other reasons. The consumers who have after-dinner drinks are a lot older, so brands like ours are looking for ways to appeal to younger drinkers, and mixability is a key.”

CORDIAL AND LIQUEUR BASICS

“Cordial” comes from the Latin word cor, which means “heart.” Most cordials were originally made by alchemists or monks as a health remedy or elixir to soothe weary travelers. “Liqueur” comes from the Latin word liquefacere, which means to melt or dissolve, which is how most cordials and liqueurs are made. The words generally are used interchangeably.

Benedictine and B&B are promoting new drink recipes and mixability . . . with shakers, coasters, retro lamps, and retro French B&B artwork [as well as] with case bin displays, case cards, recipe neckers, and . . . gift packs. . . . Drambuie, another brand at Bacardi USA, is differentiating itself through special events targeted to younger consumers with a sense of adventure. . . . Irish Mist, imported by Allied Domecq, has been reinventing itself with a new pack design . . . and point-of-sale materials . . . to demonstrate new uses. Southern Comfort . . . is taking its mixability story to younger consumers through sponsorship of a New Orleans band's tour, a partnership with Island Oasis, joint promotion with TGI Friday's for the "Southern Hurricane," and a cranberry juice co-pack at retail.

Cordial Lines

Because consumers are interested in a variety of flavors, producers of cordial lines are finding new opportunities to take advantage of the trend. DeKuyper has had tremendous success with its Pucker line of sweet and sour flavors. . . . The brand uses a rotating label on its products with different drink recipes New case cards . . . will feature vivid 3-D graphics.

Hiram Walker has repositioned its Sour Balls line, giving it a more upscale look for use in cocktails such as flavored martinis. . . . The Mr. Boston line, produced by Barton Brands, has been successful leveraging its own Mr. Boston bar guide. . . . Other lines, such as Bols, Jacquin, and Arrow, also are capitalizing on flavored cocktails.

Creams

Baileys Original Irish Cream is still the king of creams, surpassing sales of 1 million cases [in 2001], a 6 percent gain over 2000. The brand has pursued an extended-use strategy for several years, promoting cocktails made with Baileys.

WHAT MAKES CORDIALS AND LIQUEURS SO DIFFICULT TO CATEGORIZE IS THAT . . . THEY COME IN ALMOST EVERY FLAVOR IMAGINABLE.

While Baileys most often gets the call in on-premise accounts, others do quite well at retail. Number-two Corolans has a heavy emphasis on sampling to show consumers it tastes as good as any cream liqueur on the market. . . . O'Mara's Irish Cream also has been successful with sampling, often using nonalcoholic candies where beverage-alcohol sampling is not legal to give the brand greater exposure.

The Irish aren't the only ones with a lock on cream liqueurs however. Heather Cream is a Scotch-based cream liqueur imported by Barton Brands. Tequila Rose is a tequila-based, strawberry-flavored cordial. There is even a rum-based cream, Cruzan Rum Cream, from the Virgin Islands . . . [and] from Brown-Forman is Amarula, a cream liqueur made from the marula tree in Africa.

Seeds, Nuts, and Beans

Of all the liqueurs made from seeds, nuts, and beans, Kahlúa is probably the [best known]. This coffee liqueur has been promoting its mixability for years, helping make it one of the biggest brands in the world. . . . Other well-known coffee liqueurs include Kamora, from Jim Beam Brands, and Tia Maria, a lighter, Jamaican liqueur imported by Allied Domecq.

Chocolate is another favorite cordial flavor, made from the bean of the cacao tree.

Besides crème de cocoa, which is used in a wide variety of cocktails, popular chocolate liqueurs include Godiva and Vandermint.

Nuts and seeds are the base of a number of liqueurs from Italy. Perhaps the most famous, often called the liqueur of love, is amaretto. Made with almonds and apricots, this popular liqueur now is made by dozens of producers. . . . Frangelico, made with hazelnuts, berries, and herbs, is another Italian liqueur.

Yet another pervasive flavor among cordials is licorice. Italy's sambuca is produced with fruit from white-flowered elderberry bushes; it typically turns milky when diluted with water. Opal Nera is a black sambuca that retains its color even when mixed. Cordials made with anise seed also have a licorice flavor. Anisette and pastis from France and ouzo from Greece are all versions of this type of liqueur.

Shooters

Schnapps, flavored neutral-grain spirits that originated in Germany and Scandinavian countries, has become a favorite for mini-cocktails called shooters. Since schnapps can come in so many flavors, it's ideal for mixing and creating new flavor combinations.

Many brands of schnapps stand on their own too. Peppermint and cinnamon-flavored brands . . . are intended to be consumed in shots. Fruit-flavored cordials . . . also are downed as shots, alone or mixed.

Some liqueurs are so distinctive they too are consumed as shots rather than mixed. Jagermeister, made with 56 fruits, spices, and herbs, has acquired almost a cult following among young consumers. . . . Tuaca is another liqueur consumed in shots and mixed drinks.

Tutti-Fruity and Bitter Medicine

Fruit flavors are exploding from sour watermelon in a “Sexytini” to blackberry liqueur in a “Jelly Bean.” . . . Midori, a melon-flavored liqueur imported from Japan, is capitalizing on the cocktail craze, outpacing category growth.

Perhaps the last category of cordials [includes] those made primarily from herbs, leaves, and flowers, sometimes referred to as bitters. Often consumed as an aperitif, as opposed to a cocktail or after-dinner drink, bitters are almost always diluted or mixed.

With flavor all the rage today, cordials and liqueurs can be the elixir of life your business needs.

WITH FLAVOR ALL THE RAGE TODAY,
CORDIALS AND LIQUEURS CAN BE THE

Summertime Sippers

When the temperature rises, think cool, frosty, frozen—and picture yourself sipping one of these made-for-the-shade refreshers. These summertime drinks call for lots of ice and maybe a scoop or two of ice cream. Be sure to serve them in chilled or frosted glasses to keep them cold longer (see box on page 9).

Long Island Iced Tea

This drink originated in a bar on Long Island, but it does not contain tea. Robert “Rosebud” Butt, a bartender at Oak Beach Inn in Hampton Bays, has been credited as the inventor of the original version, but over the years other bartenders have created a wide variety of variations. Try the original as well as the variation below—or create your own version. Serve this tall cool drink in a chilled highball (collins) glass. Garnish it with a lemon wedge and sprig of mint.

Original Recipe

*½ ounce vodka
½ ounce rum*

*½ ounce gin
½ ounce triple sec
½ ounce tequila
Cola*

Pour the vodka, rum, gin, triple sec, and tequila into a shaker; fill the shaker with ice and shake vigorously. Strain into the serving glass and fill the glass with cola.

Variation

*½ ounce vodka
½ ounce light rum
½ ounce gin
½ ounce white tequila
¼ ounce white crème de menthe
3 ounces sour mix
Cola*

Pour the vodka, rum, gin, tequila, crème de menthe, and sour mix into a shaker; fill the shaker with ice and shake vigorously. Pour into the serving glass, and fill the glass with cola.

Grapefruit Cooler

*1½-2 ounces blended whiskey
3½-4 ounces unsweetened grapefruit juice (freshly squeezed if available)
1½ ounce red currant syrup
¼ ounce freshly squeezed lemon juice
Orange slice
Lemon slice*

Fill a shaker or heavy-duty blender half full with ice. Pour in the whiskey, grapefruit juice, red currant syrup, and lemon juice; shake vigorously or blend until well mixed. If desired, place fresh cracked ice in a chilled highball (collins) glass; strain the mixed drink into the serving glass and garnish with orange and lemon slices.

Snowball

1-1½ ounces gin
¼ ounce white crème de menthe
¼ ounce anisette
¼ ounce crème de violette
1 ounce heavy cream

Fill a shaker or heavy-duty blender half full with ice. Pour in all the ingredients and shake vigorously or blend until well mixed. Place fresh crushed ice in a frosted margarita glass; strain the mixed drink into the serving glass.

Frosty Grasshopper

½ ounce green crème de menthe
½ ounce white crème de cacao
1½ ounces milk
1 scoop vanilla ice cream

Pour all of the ingredients into a heavy-duty blender and blend until smooth. Serve in a chilled cocktail glass. If you prefer, you can omit the milk and use 3 scoops of vanilla ice cream.

Frosty Float

½-1 ounce crème de cacao or other liqueur
1-2 tablespoons chocolate or other flavor ice milk

Pour the liqueur into a frosted cocktail glass. Float the ice milk on top.

Frozen Daiquiri

2 ounces rum
Juice of ½ lime
½ teaspoon sugar syrup*

Combine all of the ingredients in a heavy-duty blender; add at least 4 ounces of crushed ice and blend at low speed until “snowy.” Pour into a frosted serving glass.

* To make sugar syrup dissolve about 1 cup of sugar in ½ cup of water in a saucepan. Bring to a boil over medium-high heat, stirring frequently; reduce heat and simmer for a few minutes, stirring frequently, until syrup thickens. Store in an airtight container at room temperature.

Margaritas

The basic margarita features tequila, lime juice, and triple sec, but fruit liqueurs, fruit, and other ingredients may be added to vary the taste.

Margaritas can be either shaken with ice or mixed in a blender with cracked iced for frozen variations. Serve margaritas in traditional margarita glasses or large cocktail glasses. Chill the serving glass, moisten the rim with lime or lemon juice, and dip it into either coarse salt or a mixture of salt and sugar. Garnish margaritas with a slice of lime or appropriate fruit for fruited variations.

Basic Margarita

1½ ounces white or gold tequila
½ ounce triple sec
Juice of ½ large lime

Pour all of the ingredients into a shaker; fill the shaker with ice and shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into the chilled, salted serving glass.

Frozen Margarita

2 cups cracked ice
1½ ounces white or gold tequila
½ ounce triple sec
1 ounce lime or lemon juice

Put ice in a heavy-duty blender and pour in the remaining ingredients. Blend until slushy but still firm; pour the drink into the chilled, salted serving glass.

Frozen Margarita with Fruit

2 cups cracked ice
1½ ounces white or gold tequila
½ ounce triple sec
1 ounce lime or lemon juice
Raspberries, peaches, bananas, or other fresh fruit cut into small pieces
1 ounce fruit liqueur that complements the selected fresh fruit
½ ounce sour mix

Put ice in a heavy-duty blender and add the remaining ingredients. Blend until slushy but still firm; pour the mixed drink into the chilled, salted serving glass.

Chilling and Frosting Glasses

Chill glasses by placing them in the refrigerator for at least an hour. Before you start mixing the drink, fill the chilled glass with ice water. When you are ready to serve the drink, dump out the ice water and fill the glass with the mixed drink.

Frost glasses by dipping them in water and placing them in the freezer for 30 minutes.

Piña Colada

In Spanish “piña colada” means “strained pineapple,” and this delightful fruity drink features pineapple—the juice as well as chunks of the fruit—combined with rum and cream of coconut. Serve it in a chilled highball (collins) glass, and garnish it with an orange slice, a maraschino cherry, and—of course—a pineapple wedge.

1½ ounces light rum
1 ounce cream of coconut
2 ounces pineapple juice
¼ cup pineapple tidbits or chunks

Place 3 ounces of crushed ice in a heavy-duty blender; add the rum, cream of coconut, and pineapple juice and fruit. Blend until smooth; pour the mixed drink into the chilled serving glass and add garnish.

Sangria

Pour this traditional Spanish thirst-quencher from a chilled pitcher into chilled serving glasses.

¾ cup brandy
½ cup triple sec
4 cups dry red wine
Freshly squeezed juice of 1 orange
Freshly squeezed juice of 2 lemons
Sugar to taste
2 oranges, thinly sliced
1 lemon, thinly sliced
¾ cup sweet cherries, seeded
1 cup sliced fresh peaches

Combine the brandy, triple sec, wine, orange and lemon juices, and sugar in a large chilled pitcher; stir well. Add the fruit and stir gently. Fill the pitcher with ice and stir gently. Serve in chilled glasses.

How To Have a Great Time

Without Getting a Hangover

Drinking too much alcohol or drinking alcoholic beverages without eating food and drinking nonalcoholic beverages may leave you with a nasty hangover. Here are some tips to help you have a really good time without the unwanted side effects.

- Drink alcoholic beverages in moderation. Remember that a hangover is a reaction to too much alcohol in your body.
- Drink plenty of water and non-alcoholic beverages along with alcoholic ones to help prevent the dehydration that is a primary cause of hangovers.
- Drink alcoholic beverages slowly to allow your body time to digest the alcohol.
- Never drink on an empty stomach and be sure to eat something while you are drinking; food helps absorb some of the alcohol and makes it easier for your body to digest it.
- Avoid mixing different types of alcohol.
- Limit the amount of champagne or other “bubbly” alcoholic beverages you drink; the carbonation speeds up your body’s absorption of the alcohol in the beverage.
- Determine ahead of time how much alcohol you can drink to enjoy yourself without getting a hangover—and stick to your limit.
- Keep track of how many margaritas, piña coladas, and other sweet drinks you have; the sweet flavorings can mask the taste of the alcohol in these drinks, making it easy to overindulge.

If you do wake up with a hangover, try the following tips to help relieve the headache and nausea.

- Drink lots of water and juices. Sports drinks will help replace your body’s essential vitamins, minerals, and salts.

- Avoid coffee because, like alcohol, it is a diuretic and will worsen the dehydration.
- Nonaspirin pain relievers may help relieve the headache; aspirin may irritate your stomach.

Bar Tools: Shakers, Jiggers & Ponies

BEN BURFORD

For making great-tasting mixed drinks, you need to have a good-quality cocktail shaker and a jigger, pony, or measuring glass.

Cocktail shakers come in two basic kinds. Boston shakers usually have two flat-bottomed cones—an outer stainless-steel cone for the bottom and a mixing glass that fits upside-down for the top; standard shakers usually have a large flat-bottomed container, a small lid, and a strainer. Before shaking a mixed drink, make sure the parts of the shaker are properly assembled. If the parts of the shaker stick together after you shake a mixed drink, don't bang the shaker against anything—instead gently tap the “seam” where the two parts meet three or four times until the “seal” is broken.

Whenever you mix a drink, use a jigger, pony, or measuring glass to measure the ingredients carefully—just a little too much or too little of one ingredient can spoil the taste. Jiggers usually hold 1½ ounces, ponies usually hold 1 ounce, and standard measuring glasses are usually marked for various amounts unless they are souvenir glasses from a particular place or event. If your jigger, pony, or measuring glass is not marked, fill it with water and pour the water into a kitchen measuring glass to find out how much it holds.

Celebration Punches

BECKY DENNY

Summertime brings many opportunities to celebrate with family and friends—Mother’s Day, Father’s Day, graduations, first “real” jobs, engagements, weddings, anniversaries, and retirements to name just a few. Next time you’re hosting a party, consider serving a festive punch instead of or in addition to individual drinks. Letting guests serve themselves from a punch bowl will make it easy for everyone to quickly fill their glass for a toast.

For a formal celebration use a cut-glass or silver punch bowl to add an elegant touch. For more casual parties use anything large enough to hold the punch—a decorative acrylic container, new bucket, large pitcher, or even a scooped-out watermelon shell.

Festive Summertime Punch

Strawberries
Red, green, and purple grapes
Orange wedges
2 fifths Sauternes, chilled
3 cups cognac, chilled
6 fifths champagne, chilled
2 quarts club soda, chilled

Place strawberries, grapes, and orange wedges on a foil-lined tray, and freeze.

Combine Sauternes and cognac in a punch bowl. Pour in champagne and club soda; add frozen fruit.

Raspberry Punch

4 (6-ounce) cans raspberry-lemon juice concentrate, partially thawed
1½ quart club soda, chilled
2 (1 quart, 8 ounce) bottles rosé wine, chilled
1 cup cognac
1 lemon, thinly sliced
Fresh raspberries

Combine juice concentrate, club soda, wine, and cognac in a large punch bowl. Add ice, and garnish with lemon slices and fresh raspberries.

Refreshing Wine Punch

2 cups orange juice
1 (6-ounce) can frozen lemonade, thawed
½ cup orange liqueur
1 fifth (750 ml.) dry white wine, chilled
1 (28-ounce) bottle soda water
Party ice
Orange slices

Combine orange juice, lemonade, orange liqueur, and wine in a punch bowl or large pitcher. Just before serving, add soda water and ice. Float orange slices on top.

TRIED-AND-TRUE TOASTS

This summer you will probably say “Congratulations!” many, many times. If you are asked to give a toast at a graduation party, wedding reception, or other special occasion, be sincere in what you say—and say it with a smile. The honoree and your fellow guests will remember the warmth of your toast much longer than the words you say. Here are a few tried-and-true toasts to get you started.

To our best friends, who know the worst about us but refuse to believe it.

Here’s to blue skies and green lights.

Here’s to all that makes you smile!

*May the road rise to meet you,
May the wind be always at your back
And the sun shine warm upon your face,
And the rain fall soft upon your fields;
And until we meet again
May God hold you in the hollow of His hand. (a traditional Irish blessing)*

Jimmy Buffett's
MARGARITAVILLE
Cafes

For the past 20 years Jimmy Buffet has been living his life like his hit song “Margaritaville”—and he invites everyone to join in the fun by visiting one of his Margaritaville Cafes or Stores. He opened his first Margaritaville Store in Key West, Florida, in 1984 and added the Cafe three years later. In 1992 he opened the Margaritaville Store and Cafe in New Orleans followed by another Store in Charleston, South Carolina, the Store and Cafe at Universal Studios CityWalk in Orlando, Florida, and four Margaritavilles in Jamaica.

Jimmy Buffett’s Margaritaville Stores carry everything from specialty glassware and bar tools to food, furniture, clothing, and automotive accessories. You can also shop online at margaritaville.com.

While you’re shopping at Margaritaville or perhaps like Jimmy just “searchin’ for your lost shaker of salt,” be sure to sip on one of his “perfect” margaritas.

Jimmy Buffett’s Perfect Margarita

- 2 fresh lime wedges
- 2 ounces tequila oro
- 1/2 ounce tequila blanco (if desired for “bite”)
- 1 1/4 ounces lime juice
- 1/2 ounce triple sec
- Splash of orange curaçao
- Margarita salt
- Lime peel
- 1 fresh lime wedge

Fill a shaker with broken cubed ice. Squeeze 2 fresh lime wedges into the shaker and add the tequila, lime juice, triple sec, and curaçao; shake vigorously.

Rub the lime peel around the rim of a chilled margarita glass and dip the rim into the salt; partially fill the glass with fresh ice. Strain the mixed drink into the glass, and squeeze the juice from a fresh lime wedge over the drink before dropping the wedge into the glass.
