And Now for the Rest of the Story...

- Peter F. Drucker

Last year, I reported that the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division had been selected as one of six "Charter Agencies" by Iowa Governor Tom Vilsack. As a participant in the government "reinvention" pilot project, the Division was granted certain freedoms from the normal bureaucratic "red tape," as well as the ability to run in a more business-like fashion.

Some of the benefits included exemption from across-the-board budget cuts, the ability to hire employees as needed (waiving the state cap on the number of employees) and freedom from burdensome state purchasing requirements. Participating agencies were also eligible for performance bonuses, qualified for innovation project grants, allowed partial non-reversion of unspent appropriations and permitted to retain revenue from the sale and lease of agency assets.

In essence, the Governor afforded the Division the opportunity to operate more efficiently – to do things right – in order to generate more money from increased revenue and savings. As such, it was the Division's commitment to use its Charter Agency status to take the proper initiatives – to do the right things – to more effectively generate revenue and control alcohol.

At the conclusion of its first year as a charter agency, it appears that the Division's first charter initiatives were effective. The Division committed to increasing its revenue and savings from its wholesale operation by $1.25 million. It met that goal and then some – posting its single largest annual growth rate. An additional $9 million (for a total of $49 million) was transferred from liquor revenues over the prior fiscal year – a $7.75 million increase over the amount pledged – a 28% increase in net revenue.

The Division achieved that gain on sales of $134 million at wholesale, a growth rate of 10.34% (in dollars) and 7.83% (in cases), compared with last fiscal year's growth rate of 6.5% on $121 million in sales. While the state of the economy undoubtedly contributed to the increase in liquor sales, a growing consumer trend of purchasing liquor instead of beer was also a likely catalyst. As a Charter Agency, the Division was given the ability to act efficiently and effectively to accommodate the latest consumer trends. I would like to take a moment to review the results of key initiatives aimed at increasing revenue as well as those geared toward cost savings over the past year.

I. Revenue Growth

The Division took several identifiable steps that contributed to the increase in fiscal year revenue. The success included improved tracking for the Temporary Price Reduction (TPR) program in order to increase investment in supplier-discounted products. It also included increased efforts to work with suppliers to minimize out-of-stock products while maintaining a plentiful stock of the leading brands. Furthermore, because of current consumer trends of consuming higher-quality liquor, the Division aggressively pursued the addition of premium and super-premium products to the Division's product portfolio.

In accordance with the current premium liquor consumption trends, the Division imposed an experimental variable mark-up rate on the vodka category rather than the flat 50% mark-up. As I explained in the February 2004 issue of Iowa Liquor Quarterly, odd sizes (e.g. 50 ml, 100 ml, 200 ml and 350 ml) are marked up at 75% of the price paid by the state while popular sizes (750 ml, 1 liter and 1.75 liter) range from a 40% to 60% mark-up in two-point intervals. A principal benefit of the VMR is price compression, which encourages consumers to trade up to top-shelf spirits. While consumers can enjoy premium liquor for a lower price, the "trade-up" behavior allows the Division to collect more revenue without a corresponding increase in consumption. Better to earn 40% on a $30 sale than 50% on a $5 sale, for instance. Finally, the program aids Iowa retailers along the state border in their effort to be price competitive with out-of-state liquor stores.

II. Cost Savings

The Division did not just focus on the revenue side of the ledger. As I explained in the last Iowa Liquor Quarterly issue (August 2004), the Division was able to save a significant amount of money by handling its own warehouse and distribution duties. After its private vendor, J.A. Jones Global Services, filed for bankruptcy, the Division resumed control of its state liquor warehouse and distribution service rather than contract them out to an unknown and unproven company. Consequently, the money previously paid to J.A. Jones is now deposited into the state's general fund – all while fostering an environment conducive to innovation and customer service. As I reported last quarter, the move allowed Iowa taxpayers to save at least $1.5 million over the next two years and, minimally, $850,000 each year thereafter.

Further initiatives aimed at cost savings will involve the use of technology to reduce operating costs. The Division is working towards establishing an online liquor licensing system, an online liquor order entry system, a sales and inventory management system for the liquor warehouse and a system for electronic beer and wine tax reporting.

III. Closing

The past year for the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division, as a Charter Agency, has been a hotbed for innovation and change. The Division has significantly increased state revenues while, at the same time, achieving major reductions in its operating expenses. Given the freedom to act more efficiently without the restrictions and hassles of clearing bureaucratic “red tape,” the Division was able to take initiatives to be more effective at generating revenue and controlling alcohol. In short, given the opportunity to “do things right,” the Division was able to “do the right things.”

The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division is a unique state agency in that it generates substantial revenue to state and local governments. In fiscal year 2004, the Division generated $76 million in state funds, representing more than 1% of the state's total revenue.

The Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division transfers all profits and revenue generated back into the state's coffers to support city, county and state programs. In fiscal year 2004, the Division transferred $76 million to support state and local programs.

The Hessen Haus brings authentic German beer, cuisine and atmosphere to downtown Des Moines.

Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division

At the Hessen Haus German beer hall in downtown Des Moines, everything is big.

According to co-owners Jeff Bruning and Andy Massoth, who spent four days in Munich, Germany, gathering ideas for their newest bar, “big” is one key to making a German beer hall, or “bierhall,” authentic.

The bar, which is hand-built from wood planks, is long – running from front to back of the building. The menu, which boasts more than 50 options of German cuisine, is plentiful. The building, which endows high ceilings, large tables and an outdoor patio, is spacious. The portions, especially the Grosse Platte, a sampler of the entire menu, are overwhelming. All are reminiscent of beerhalls in Germany.

But most importantly, the beer selection, which includes 17 German beers on tap and over 20 more in bottles, is broad – to say the least.

“It’s happy, it’s loud, it’s friendly. You can go and sit at a big table with a bunch of people and be social and drink beer you can’t find anywhere else.”

ABOVE: Built into an old railroad depot at 101 4th St. in downtown Des Moines, the Hessen Haus brings a unique flavor to the city. Owners Jeff Bruning and Andy Massoth said their goal was to offer Des Moines something new. RIGHT: With a long bar, a high ceiling and several large wood tables, the Hessen Haus takes on the rustic, alpine look of a German beer hall. The principle authenticity, however, is in the 17 German beers on tap and the menu that features more than 50 options of German cuisine.

And because of a concept embraced by Bruning and Massoth, the Hessen Haus is unique to the city.

“There wasn’t a German beer hall in Des Moines,” Bruning said of their incentive to open the establishment. “No one thinks it’s a good idea to open something different. Everybody wants to beat their heads against the wall and open up the same things.

“There are a lot of sports bars, a lot of dance clubs in Des Moines,” he added. “We wanted to come up with something new. That’s kind of our niche.”

Yet Bruning insists that it takes more than beer and bratwurst to call your establishment a German beer hall. The atmosphere is important, he said, and people with German heritage are quick to judge that aspect. After nine months in business, Bruning said it’s just about right.

“It’s happy, it’s loud, it’s friendly,” said Hessen Haus bartender Vivette Perry of the atmosphere. “You can go and sit at a big table with a bunch of people and be social and drink beer you can’t find anywhere else.”

Groups of people can choose to drink a beer of their choice out of a large glass boot. Group members take turns drinking from “Das Boot,” which holds two liters of beer. (No less than four people per boot and only two boots are allowed per group in an evening.)

Employees at the Hessen Haus are required to be knowledgeable of German beer and food. “A lot of people don’t know the beer and food,” Perry said, acknowledging the long names and awkward pronunciations.

“We get quizzed by everybody that comes in. I usually ask them what kind of beer they like and get them a German beer that is similar in taste.”

The food, despite the different German names, is somewhat similar to American food, Bruning said. “Everyone’s had a pork tenderloin,” he said. “But maybe they haven’t had a jeagerschnitzel. The truth is that they are pretty much the same thing.”

Whatever you call it, according to people with German heritage, it’s pretty good. Hessen Haus Manager Tom Morris said the beer hall has received several compliments from people who know what a real German bierhall is like.

“A lot of the old Germans that come in here say this is pretty authentic,” Morris said. “A lot of people that came over from Germany are glad this is here because it reminds them of home.” ■

Meats and Game

BURGUNDY GLAZED BAKED HAM

8 to 10-pound fully-cooked boneless ham
1 can dark cherries
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup liquid from cherries
2 tablespoons cornstarch
 $\frac{3}{4}$  cup burgundy
2 tablespoons wine vinegar
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup light corn syrup
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Preheat oven to 325°F.

Place ham, fat side up, on rack in shallow, open roasting pan. Insert meat thermometer into center, and bake, uncovered, 2½-3 hours or until internal temperature reaches 130°F.

While ham is baking, drain cherries reserving  $\frac{3}{4}$  cup liquid. In a small saucepan, combine cherry liquid and cornstarch, and stir until mixture is smooth. Add burgundy, vinegar, and corn syrup; bring to a boil over medium heat stirring constantly. Stir in lemon juice; glaze will be thick and translucent.

Remove ham from oven, and carefully cut off rind. Using the tip of a knife, score fat in a diamond pattern without cutting into the ham.

Spread  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup glaze over ham, and bake 10 minutes. Remove from oven, spread an additional  $\frac{1}{4}$  cup glaze over ham, and bake 10 minutes. Remove ham from oven, and let stand for 20 minutes before slicing.

Add cherries to remaining glaze, and heat slowly just before serving. Use as a sauce for sliced ham.

ROAST WILD DUCK

Recipe yields 2 servings; increase ingredients as needed to yield additional servings.

1½-pound ready-to-cook duck
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{2}$  teaspoon pepper
3 (¼-inch-thick) slices onion
1 stalk celery
1 medium carrot, peeled
3 juniper berries (optional)
2 slices bacon
 $\frac{1}{2}$  cup dry white wine

Preheat oven to 450°F.

Rinse duck and pat dry. Sprinkle surface and body cavity with salt and pepper. Place onion slices, celery stalk, carrot, and juniper berries in cavity. Fasten skin of neck to back with poultry pin or string. Fold wingtips under body, and close cavity with poultry pins or string. Tie ends of legs together.

Place duck on rack in shallow roasting pan. Secure bacon slices across top; baste with wine. Roast 30 minutes, basting frequently with wine. (Roast longer if well-done is preferred.)

ROAST VENISON WITH WINE

Yield: 15-20 servings

7½-pound boned leg-of-venison roast
9 slices bacon
1 teaspoon salt
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon dried thyme leaves
 $\frac{1}{4}$  teaspoon pepper
2 tablespoons chopped onion
1 clove garlic, crushed
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup lemon juice
1 cup beef bouillon
1 cup burgundy

Preheat oven to 500°F.

Wipe roast with damp paper towels. Arrange 6 bacon slices on inside surface, and then roll up roast and tie securely. Arrange 3 bacon slices across top of rolled-up roast. Place roast on rack in shallow roasting pan, and sear in hot oven 10-15 minutes. Remove roast from oven, and lower temperature to 425°F.

Combine remaining ingredients, and pour over roast. Cover roast with foil. Return to oven and cook, basting occasionally with pan drippings, 2½-3 hours or until meat is tender. Strain pan drippings and serve with roast.

Vegetables

ARTICHOKE HEARTS IN WINE

2 (9-ounce) packages frozen artichoke hearts

2 cups dry white wine
2 teaspoons salt
2 teaspoons grated onion
1 teaspoon lemon juice
2 tablespoons butter or margarine, melted
1 tablespoon chopped parsley

Combine artichoke hearts, wine, salt, onion, and lemon juice in a medium saucepan, and bring to a boil. Cover, reduce heat, and simmer 5-8 minutes or until artichokes are just tender. Drain, place in serving dish, toss gently with butter, and sprinkle with parsley.

ORANGE-BRANDIED CARROTS

24 baby carrots
2 tablespoons orange-flavored liqueur
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup brandy
 $\frac{1}{4}$  cup honey
Juice of 1 lemon
2 tablespoons chopped parsley

Cook carrots in a medium saucepan in a small amount of salted water for about 10 minutes or until crisp and tender. Drain and arrange carrots in 1-quart baking dish.

While carrots are cooking, combine orange-flavored liqueur, brandy, honey, and lemon juice in a small saucepan, and boil until reduced by one third. Pour orange-brandy sauce over carrots, and marinate in the refrigerator overnight.

Microwave or bake at 350°F for 20 minutes or until hot. Sprinkle with parsley before serving.

All but hidden on Birmingham's Southside, The Garage Café is out of the way but hard to miss.

Originally a historic Southside parking garage, this unique establishment went through an incarnation as an antiques mall and boutique in the 70s, and ended up in the early 90s as The Garage Café, an eclectic deli / bar / antique shop. Businessmen and bohemians alike lounge at the bar or in the booths nearby, eating deli sandwiches and drinking Bloody Marys.

The Garage's most notable aspect is its décor. Owned by Fritz Woehle, a retired architect-turned-antique dealer, the Garage is filled to the brim with relics of a bygone era. A yellow motorcycle hangs over the doorway just inside the door; garden sculptures, bedframes and birdbaths appear outside. A canopy of ivy and twisting branches shades the open-air courtyard, lined by antique-filled rooms that once held cars. Giant works of masonry and wrought iron affect a casual, subdued atmosphere. They bring in musical acts, "...but only for the really big holidays, like Cinco de Mayo or Bastille Day," according to Robert, one of the bartenders.

The Garage is an enduring relic of Birmingham culture, by virtue of its history, its atmosphere, and its clientele. With nothing to prove, it's now entrenched as an Alabama cultural landmark.
