EDUCATION
Estherville Uses Virtual Snow Days This School Year

Estherville Uses Virtual Days in First Year

Estherville Lincoln Central Community is using "virtual snow days" for the first school year. A virtual snow day is wh and students go online to complete le assignments from home when the we bad.

Telehealth Gives College Students a Discreet Path to Counselin

Universities and colleges are turning to telehealth platforms and mHealth tools to connect students who need mental health care but can't or don't want to walk into a health center help.

Rural broadband internet to expand in northern Indiana

An electricity cooperative is expanding broadband internet services in rural parts of northe setting the stage for possible economic growth in the region. The cooperative aims to brin broadband internet to its nearly 24,000 members, with the first expansion set to bring the 1,200 members.

This Google Quiz Tests If You Can Spot Email Phishing Scams

Identifying a phishing email isn't as easy as you might think. It's therefore no surprise that most common type of cyber-attack, accounting for 1% of all emails sent today. Google thi help people spot dodgy emails with a handy quiz to test people's credentials.

Healthtech trends to watch in 2019

2018 was a tremendous year for healthtech, with companies in the ecosystem securing ov in global investment throughout the year. With 2019 set to be another significant year, her

With faster connections and easy accessibility, these community institutions are the logica offer telehealth services.

How to minimize IoT risks on education networks

By knowing the top threats to their networks and then applying the right tools and strategi educational institutions at all levels will be better positioned to protect the sensitive data o faculty and other employees.

Cybersecurity 101: How to browse the web securely and private

Any time you visit a website, you leave a trail of data behind you. You can't stop it all — th how the internet works. But there are plenty of things that you can do to reduce your footp are a few tips to cover most of your bases.

Essential elements for building a 1:1 teaching environment

Step 1: Make a plan. That's the first piece of advice for every superintendent and school l asks about creating 1:1 environments in their schools.

Brave's privacy-focused ads to spread beyond startup's own br

Brave is trying to rebuild the internet's advertising tech so we can use free, ad-supported without worrying publishers & advertisers are harvesting our personal info. Other app dev be able to tap into the tech as soon as the second half of 2019.

Text 911 online in southeast Nebraska

Southeast Nebraska residents now have a new method of contacting 911 in times of eme Officials with the Southeast Region 911 announce that Text to 911 services are now availa public, through most wireless carriers in a 16-county area following more than a year of pl

Dole VA rolls out new Telehealth Suicide Prevention Program

There are 45,000 suicides each year in the U.S., and 18 percent are veterans. A staggeri that the Robert J. Dole VA Medical Center is working to combat with a new prevention pro

How the Utah government got a handle on 60,000 devices

Two years after an internal security assessment showed the state didn't have a clear idea devices were connected to its network, Utah's chief information security officer says his o knows precisely what devices are connected.

Iowa Officials To Award $50,000 "Computer Science Is Elementa Grants

Governor Kim Reynolds says the I-T professionals of tomorrow are sitting in classrooms a

Connect with Broadband Matters at: broadbandmatters.com
twitter.com/BroadbandIowa | facebook.com/BroadbandMattersIowa