County Meetings in Northwest District

Moving Online This Fall

Three Northwest Iowa counties have already scheduled their fall county meeting and not surprisingly, these meetings will be held virtually this season. It's a sadly agreed upon, but mutual decision.

In normal years, fall county meetings tend to bring together 25+ people--directors, staff, and trustees--to the host library location. Given most library meeting rooms, it would be hard to social distance that many people comfortably. And if including a continuing education component in the mix, using ZOOM this year seems the most prudent thing to do.

Which brings me to "Calling All Northwest Counties!" Calhoun, Ida, and Sac Counties are already scheduled. With calendars filling in fast, it's time to consider:

- If your county group is planning to meet this fall
- If you'd like to include a continuing education component--especially helpful for trustees in attendance
- And if you're willing to join me via ZOOM

If you've answered "yes" to these questions, then contact me for available dates in October, November, and December. This approach can also apply for those groups that hold countywide staff development days in the fall. Or groups that hold countywide board education programs in the fall.

I'll miss seeing you in the flesh, not to mention the always delicious pumpkin bars and apple cider! Happily, ZOOM is the next best thing to being there, so let me know your thoughts--call, click, or chat!
