LIBRARIAN'S REPORT

OFFICE OF THE STATE LIBRARIAN,

Des Moines, Iowa, June 30, 1914.

To the Honorable George W. Clarke,

Governor of Iowa and President of the Board of Trustees of the Iowa State Library:

Sir: I have the honor to make report for the biennial period between the first day of July, 1912, and the thirtieth day of June, 1914.

BOOKS IN THE LIBRARY

At the date of my last report, June 30, 1912, there were of record in the General Library and the Law Department (including the Legislative Reference Bureau), 120,387 volumes. At this date (the 30th of June, 1914), there are of record in these departments 130,946 volumes. The increase during the last biennial period shows 5,396 additions to the General Library; 5,163 to the Law and Legislative Reference Department. Of this last total, 875 are books added to the Legislative Reference Bureau, and 1,950 to the public documents, and, to the Law Department proper, 2,338 volumes.

The library consolidation law provides for a separate report from the Curator of the Historical Department, hence the additions to, and the total of, books in this department are not included in this report, though the financial report of that department is included in this report with that of the other two departments.

A PROPOSED MEDICAL DEPARTMENT

I take pleasure in reporting definite progress toward a long-desired end. Many years ago, acting under instruction from the Board, I made an attempt at a collection of medical works which should be of real service to the profession, using the works then in the library as a nucleus.

With a very small appropriation for the purchase of books, and feeling compelled to respond to the pressing needs of the Law and General Library, I had little money left for the purchase of medical works.

Later, the Board directed the librarian to take counsel with the Polk County Medical Society and procure from that society a recommendation as to the kind of books which would be most helpful to the profession. This was done, and a committee from that society recommended two long sets, one of which—the Proceedings of the London Pathological Society from Volume 1 (1848), to Volume 58 (1907), was purchased. The other, "Virchow's Archives," printed only in German, was at the time deemed too costly for purchase. Later, full sets of the two leading medical periodicals in this country, the Journal of the American Medical Association, and the New York Medical Journal, were bought in numbers and bound in volumes; and these have been continued down to date.

Meantime, through the efforts and influence of the American Library Association, a system of inter-library loans had become general. A few scholarly physicians and surgeons in Iowa have since availed themselves of the system through the medium of the State Library, and have been enabled to borrow for brief periods books and periodicals from the John Crerar Library, of Chicago, and from the Surgeon-General's Library, at Washington. In time, the cameragraph was invented, and the John Crerar Library was thus enabled to photograph at small expense and mail to me the desired pages of certain books too valuable, and periodicals too much in use, to be loaned outright. Thus, in time, it became possible to obtain almost any authority desired by the expert physician or surgeon.

What the Surgeon-General's Library and the John Crerar Library are able, within reasonable limitations, to do for the practitioners of the country, the State Library of Iowa should be able to do for the physicians and surgeons of Iowa.

A study of the card-system of a leading surgeon of Des Moines, Dr. Oliver J. Fay—with the files made by his secretary of the photographed pages thus acquired—suggested a plan which, submitted to Judge Deemer, chairman of the Book Committee of the State Library Board, and to a committee of the State Medical Society, seemed so feasible that conferences were afterwards held by Judge Deemer and myself with Doctors Hill and Pearson, representing the State Medical Society, and a general plan of cooperation was agreed upon.

The Library Board set apart as the nucleus of the proposed medical library a small room on the second floor of the Historical Building opening into the General Library, and requested the Executive Council to purchase steel book-stacks for the room. The Council promptly ordered the stacks and same have been installed.

The custodians of the library of Drake University's Medical School, recently closed, turned over to the State Library a collection numbering about 1,400 medical works. Drs. Hill, Dorr, Criley, and others, also donated several hundred volumes. These, with those already in the library, make a strong nucleus for the proposed medical department.

The State Medical Society has for the past two years had a standing committee to cooperate with a standing committee of the State Library Board. After several conferences, and an examination, by this committee, of the room set apart for the medical library, including the shelving and the books placed upon the shelves in their order as classified, a more detailed working agreement was reached by the two committees as to the best means for securing the desired end; namely: the creation of a medical library which shall ultimately prove as helpful to the physicians and surgeons of the State and to students of medicine and surgery as is the present Law Department to the courts, the bar, and students of the law.

My hope, shared by members of the committees mentioned, is that the State will make it possible for even the most remote practitioner to avail himself of the resources of the library, both by the loan of books and by the photographing of pages of books and periodicals which should not be loaned. Already the State is in possession of a cameragraph, purchased by the Executive Council in response to the request and recommendation of several departments of state, including the library, thus facilitating the reproduction of pages as proposed.

The committee representing the State Medical Society purpose to join with the State Library Board in asking the General Assembly to create a relatively small book-fund for the proposed department, and—still more important—to provide the State Library with a medical assistant who shall have the same general supervision over his department as the Curator of the Historical Department and the Law Librarian now have over their respective departments.

The proposed medical librarian, far from being a mere care-taker and book-handler, should be one who has the advantage of an edu-education in medicine and surgery, and is familiar with the languages in which the literature of his profession finds expression. He should also be more or less familiar with library science, including the art of cataloging. The plan will fail unless a salary is provided which will enable the librarian to offer to such an expert a salary sufficient to induce him to take up the task with a purpose to make it the work of a life-time. I know of no other position in the library field which, from the very start, will call for quite as much of judgment and training, and can promise quite as much of substantial achievement.

The plan agreed upon promises to solve a problem which the State Libraries that aim to cover the general field of library activities have thus far failed to solve. Iowa should lead the way to this desired end. I know, from the interest shown in "the Iowa idea," as outlined by me at the recent conference of State Librarians in Washington, that other states will be eager to follow Iowa's lead.

The State Medical Society and the State Library Board would, I have no doubt, be extremely grateful to find, next January, that your Excellency had deemed this project of sufficient importance to warrant a recommendation in your Message that it be made effective by the necessary legislation.

GROWTH AND CONSEQUENT NEEDS OF THE GENERAL LIBRARY

There has been a steady growth in the activities of the several departments of the library and an increased public appreciation of the services each has rendered.

A steadily increasing need exists for additional force in the several departments. Every biennial period accentuates that need. I have biennially presented this fact both in my reports and in several responses to the formal requests of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform, and members of the Library Board have joined me in requesting additional help. Thus far the logic of the situation has been lost on that committee, for nothing has been done by the General Assembly for the relief of the department, except a much appreciated increase in the annual appropriation. That increase clearly means more books to catalogue, plate, stamp and shelve, and the necessity of more assistants to respond to the demands of the public. And yet the General Library has the same force for handling more than twice the number of books it had fifteen years ago, and for the annual preparation of nearly twice the number of books purchased. With a much larger floor-space to cover than in 1899, the General Library has but two assistants whose duty it is to supply the wants of the public. The entire second floor of the General Library is without an attendant, for the simple reason that my two assistants on the first floor cannot be spared from that floor for any length of time. During the noon hour, and when one is temporarily serving on the second floor, the one attendant left on the first cannot alone attend to the wants of the many who at times flock to the library. Our only recourse in such frequent emergencies is to call the cataloguer from her work—which work of itself has so increased in volume as to call for an assistant-cataloguer.

LAW AND LEGISLATIVE REFERENCE

So in the Law and Legislative Reference department. With a steady and yet fast-increasing aggregate of books, documents and other material to handle for the convenience of the courts, the legislature and the general public, the Law Department proper has the same library force it has had for years, and the Legislative Reference Bureau has the single assistant it has had since 1907, when the Legislative Reference Bureau was inaugurated. It stands to reason that the usefulness of this department, with its vast documentary resources for legislative reference, could be greatly increased with additional assistance.

My assistant, Mr. A. J. Small, head of the Law and Legislative Reference Department, in response to my request makes a general statement of conditions in his department, which I am pleased to embody with my report.

"The Law and Legislative Reference Department is broadening its scope that it may be of greater service to the citizens of our State and enhance the working value of the State Library.

"A wider range of foreign exchanges is being affected. We have added several new publications to our list, including the laws of Belgium and of the Province of Natal. We have also added several files of industrial journals, among these being the New South Wales Industrial Gazette and the Labour Gazette of Canada. We have also made arrangements with the various departments of our State whereby we receive, without expense, many valuable industrial and financial periodicals which come to them.

"Mr. Fred L. Barnett has very kindly donated several fraternal publications which add to and strengthen our already splendid library.

"We are endeavoring to keep the library up-to-date in all its branches. The Executive Council has added a filing case specially arranged for legislative reference which increases the usefulness of that important bureau. All the pamphlet material possible is being secured and filed in this case under topics for convenient and ready reference. This material, along with lists and bibliographies, prepared by the staff, puts us in very good shape to serve the General Assembly and public, though we are not able to do as much nor as satisfactory work as we would like to do, owing to the lack of sufficient help.

"We ask for the Legislative Reference Bureau a substantial increase in appropriation, not for the purchase of books, but for the enlargement and development of the Bureau that it may be able to do more effective work. With the limited help at our disposal we have built up a bureau which is rendering good service to the legislature, the schools and colleges of the State, and the general public; but, with a library as large as ours to care for and the general public to serve, with the small working force allowed us, little time is left for research and other work absolutely necessary to keep the library up to the highest point of efficiency and usefulness. More than half the States have already made special provision for this most important department of library activity.

"It is difficult to specify the particular functions of work of this character. It is a matter of growth or enlargement, constantly taking up new questions of importance, and keeping abreast of the times with information in regard to them. Some of these questions require specialists in their line, while those of a general nature can be handled by the staff regularly or specially employed. There are times, however, as during the legislative sessions, when more extra help is necessary to do this work than during the intervening months when a less number is required to handle it properly. Improved equipments and specially prepared reference indexes and labor-saving devices are constantly being brought out, so it is not desirable to make a fixed and fast rule for the expenditure of money appropriated for legislative reference work. I would, however, ask that a sufficient sum be annually appropriated to be expended in these directions, subject to the approval of the Board of Trustees.

"The crying need of the Law and Legislative Reference Department is more room. The shelves are now nearly filled to the limit. To relieve the congestion, many books least used have been taken to the attic of the Capitol, but space is still short, and on the lower floors we are compelled to line books upon the ledges of the alcoves, or stack them upon the tables, there being no shelf-room for them. In this crowded condition, we are often obliged to divide and scatter sets and series of books, thus making the arrangement of the library at the very least, unscientific, inconvenient, and very unsatisfactory.

"With the hundreds of volumes, consisting of law, documents, and legislative reference, coming in each year, it is a problem hard to solve as to where we may shelve them. There is no room adjacent to the library in the Capitol available, and the question is what shall we do, not for convenience or the systematic order and arrangement of the volumes, but simply to get the necessary shelf-room in order to keep the books off the floor.

"The solution I would suggest is in line with recommendations already made, that the State erect a fireproof structure to be known as the "Temple of Justice," conveniently located, in which should be permanently housed the Supreme Court, the offices of the Clerk of Court, the Attorney General, the Commerce Counsel, and the Railroad Commission, also the Law and Legislative Reference Library, with ample reading and stack rooms.

"This would group the judicial departments and vacate about one-fourth of the Capitol building for occupancy by boards, commissions and other state departments. The congestion of the library would thus be relieved, as well as that of other departments of state; and the central location of the Law and Legislative Reference Department in a building especially provided would prove of great convenience to the judicial departments, the very nature of whose work makes it necessary to keep in close contact with the library. Several of the States have followed a plan of this kind and find it very satisfactory."

GENERAL REMARKS

It gives me pleasure to bear renewed testimony to the faithfulness and efficiency of my associates and assistants in the several branches of the work; and to the mutually helpful spirit of all who are engaged in work which correlates itself with that of the State Library, having especially in mind the mutual courtesies and helpfulness of the staff of the Iowa Library Commission, of which the librarian is an ex-officio member, and by election the president; the State Historical Department, for the finances of which the librarian is responsible, and the State Historical Society, of which the librarian is a member.

Lists of books added to the General Library, the Law Department and the Legislative Reference Bureau of that department, are published with this report, also a financial statement covering the receipts and outgoes of the General Library, The Law Department including the Legislative Reference Bureau, and the Historical Department.

Respectfully submitted,
JOHNSON BRIGHAM,
State Librarian.
