Proceedings Under Provisions of Chapter
187, Acts of the Thirty-fifth General
Assembly of Iowa, Authorizing
Sterilization of Criminals,
Insane, Idiots, etc.

For the Term Beginning July 4, 1913,
Ending December 31, 1914

DES MOINES
ROBERT HENDERSON, STATE PRINTER
1915

To the Honorable, the Governor of the State of Iowa:

We beg to submit to you a statement of the doings of this board under the provisions of Chapter 187, Acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly. We visited the Hospitals for the Insane with a view to the administration of said law in those institutions, in December, 1913. In each one of them we organized the board authorized by said act, and proceeded to examine the cases of such of the inmates as the Superintendent of each institution thought should be presented to us. It will be observed the act does not provide that notice shall be given the inmate or any one representing him, of the proposed investigation of his case, but seemingly contemplates that the examination shall be ex parte. Two of the five members constituting the board for each institution are the superintendent and the physician, men who have the care and treatment of the inmates.

At the Cherokee State Hospital the board for that institution ordered that the operation of vasectomy be performed on ten males, and the operation of ligation of the fallopian tubes be performed on four females. At the Independence State Hospital the board for that institution ordered that the operation of vasectomy be performed on two males, and the operation of ligation of the fallopian tubes on two females. At the Mount Pleasant State Hospital the board for that institution ordered that the operation of vasectomy be performed on twenty-four males, and the operation of ligation of the fallopian tubes in the case of nine females. At the Clarinda State Hospital, the board for that institution ordered the operation of vasectomy to be performed in the case of four males, and the operation of ligation of the fallopian tubes in the cases of twelve females.

Of the cases in which operations were ordered, there were performed and reported to the board as follows: At Cherokee thirteen, at Independence three, at Mount Pleasant twenty-two, at Clarinda thirteen.

We addressed each of the superintendents of the hospitals above named, the following letter.

Dear Sir: You will remember we talked when with you last, as to the advisability of having a letter from you giving your opinion as to the working of the law providing for sterilization in your institution, and anything you may want to say as to the wisdom of such legislation, and suggestions as to changes that should be made, if any, that same may be incorporated in the report of the board to the governor.

The Board of Parole from experience, observation, and study of the question, will favor the perfecting and continuing of the law. The Board of Parole, however, are of the opinion that the administration of the law in your institution and others like it, should be entrusted to the superintendents of each institution and such other officers as may be advisable and the Board of Control, rather than the Board of Parole. The Board of Parole is not in touch with matters in your institution as is the Board of Control, and that board is frequently at each institution and can oftener investigate the cases with you and as well, with less expense than the Board of Parole.

If you can, will you please write us that we may get your letter by the middle of next week, as we desire to prepare our report for the governor.

Very truly yours,

We submit the answers received as part of this report, and attach them as Exhibits A, B, C, D.

The statute makes the operation of sterilization on inmates of the penitentiary and reformatory mandatory in cases where the prisoner has been twice convicted of a felony, and some other crimes. We examined the prisoners at the penitentiary in February, 1914, and found twenty-three who were serving sentences for a second or more convictions of felony, the last conviction being for a crime committed after the taking effect of the Act of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly under which we are working. We brought each prisoner before us for examination, and explained to him the provisions of the law and in each case the person stated he had been twice or more convicted of a felony, and the sentence he was at the time serving was on account of conviction of a crime committed after the taking effect of the Iowa statute.

The board for the penitentiary ordered that the operation of vasectomy be performed in each of the cases examined. Before the execution of the order in any case, suit was begun by one Rudolph Davis on whom the operation had been ordered, in the District Court of the United States in and for the Southern District of Iowa. In this case the members of this board and the warden and physician of the penitentiary were all made parties defendant, and injunction was asked prohibiting the enforcement of the order. The reasons alleged were:

1st. That only one of the crimes constituting a felony, and the one which was the basis of his last conviction had been committed after the taking effect of chapter 187 of the acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly.

2d. That the operation of vasectomy was cruel and unusual punishment, and because thereof a violation of the constitution of the United States, which provides that cruel and unusual punishment shall not be inflicted.

3d. That the statute does not provide for notice and trial as is provided by the constitution before a citizen can be deprived of his rights.

Proceedings having been begun to test the constitutionality of the statute, and the board deeming it unwise to attempt to enforce the statute until the courts had passed on the legal questions involved, we revoked the order in the case of all prisoners at Fort Madison penitentiary. The Davis case was presented to the court and heard on the application for temporary writ of injunction, the Attorney General appearing for the defendants.

In June, 1914, the opinion of the court was filed. Temporary writ of injunction was ordered enjoining the board from enforcing its order of operation of vasectomy on the plaintiff until after the final trial of the case. The court in the opinion in this case held that the law is not ex-post facto when one of the crimes on which there had been conviction of felony, had been committed after its taking effect, and that therefore the relief demanded could not be granted on that account. The court, however, did hold that the law was in conflict with the constitution because it was depriving the plaintiff of his rights without due process of law, and that the operation constituted cruel and unusual punishment. We submit a copy of the said opinion herewith as Exhibit E.

In cases where the operation has been performed on patients at the Hospitals for the Insane, the consent of parents or guardians or others related to or having care of the patient, has been obtained. The officers of the institutions and the board thought that this precaution should be taken because of much uncertainty as to just how the statute should be construed, and the authority which it conferred. The statute in its application to the inmates of the penitentiary or reformatory makes the operation in some cases mandatory, and others the basis would be finding that procreation by the prisoner would likely result in children "with a tendency to disease, deformity, crime, insanity, feeble-mindedness, idiocy, imbecility, epilepsy, alcoholism, etc.," same as in cases of patients in the hospitals. The statute is evidently intended to include inmates of the Hospital for Inebriates, and is broad enough in its terms to include inmates of county jails and county homes where insane or otherwise mentally deficient persons are kept by the state. We have not thought it wise to attempt to put the law in operation except in hospitals for the insane and in the penitentiary. We organized the board for the School for Feeble-Minded in June, 1914, and examined a number of inmates presented to us by the superintendent, finding many who should for their own good, and in the interest of the state and the unborn, be sterilized; in only one case was the operation performed. The inmates of the school, however, at least many of them, are subject to the conclusion of parents or others having legal custody of them, as to when they should be removed, and as an attempt to enforce the law there might result in many children being removed, who for their own good and the good of society, should be retained in the custody of the state, and until there was further legislation, we did not deem it best to try to enforce the law in that institution. The public is not yet sufficiently informed as to the reasons and necessity for the law providing for the sterilization of mental, moral and physical deficients, to justify an attempt to enforce such a law too rapidly. For these reasons we have only gone as far as above set out in an effort to enforce this statute.

Granting that many persons who are afflicted with mental diseases, who are feeble-minded or epileptic or such like deficients, are likely to transmit a tendency to these conditions to their offspring and perpetuate a line of mental deficients, there would seem to us to be good reason why the state should in the interests of its own citizenship and for the good of humanity, provide for enforced sterilization of such persons. Those who have given much study and research to the question of heredity or the possibility of inherited tendencies, would seem now to generally agree that a tendency to insanity and the other conditions mentioned in our statute, or most of them, are transmissible, that children of parents so afflicted, or some of them, will be afflicted like their parents.

We have examined the history of the ancestry of the children of many mentally deficient persons, and from such examination are ready to agree with what it would seem is the conclusion of students who have given most of study to the proposition that insanity is likely to be found somewhere in the descendants of insane parents. Of course there may be cases of mental unbalance, the cause of which would not lead one to conclude that a child would be afflicted in the same way. Students and those who have given most thought to the question are not so abidingly fixed in the conclusion that a criminal disposition is transmissible to offspring. Some conclude that "crime can not be hereditary, but more the tendency to crime." The application of the law to the criminal simply because he has committed a crime, when the object is simply to prevent the growing of criminals, does not therefore have the support that sterilization of the mentally deficient with the same object in view has.

In a recent report made by a committee to the "American Institute of Criminal Law and Criminology,"* which committee has been appointed by that society for the express purpose of investigating the question of sterilization of criminals, there is a discussion of the question, "Are criminal traits as such heritable?" The committee says, "Leaving the question as to whether or not sterilization is morally, socially or legally permissible to be considered later, it must be stated here that it is granted by most authorities that the sterilization of individuals possessed of the traits mentioned in the question and in such cases the defect would be heritable, would reduce the amount of criminality in the next generation." We can scarcely conceive it possible for any one to study the question of inherited tendencies, especially in cases of insane, epileptic, feeble-minded, and those predisposed to specific diseases, and then be brought face to face with the history of families in which these conditions exist and follow from one generation to another, and not realize the necessity of preventing by sterilization, the misery endured by the offspring, the burden upon the families and upon the state, caused by procreation of persons thus afflicted.

*Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, November, 1914, page 529.

In the report referred to supra, the committee says, "In cases in which it is a certainty that all the offspring of the individual will be defective, that individual is certain to possess traits which make him a social menace, even though he were sterilized. In cases in which there is only a probability that a certain number of the offspring will be deficient the traits of the individual are such that the individual is often felt to not be a social menace in other ways. It is this latter class which makes the problem so difficult. The students of heredity do not make an exact prognosis in these cases concerning the offspring, yet they are certain that some will be defective. What is to be done? Should a person be sterilized when the probabilities are that he will have three defective children and one normal one? On the other hand, is it right that the state allow a man to procreate who is certain to have a proportion of his children defective or feeble-minded, and more than likely criminal?"

We think there is more humanity in saving one child from a life in which there are tendencies to crime, disease, immorality, imbecility, feeble-mindedness, etc., than there is of inhumanity in preventing the child being born that might be normal.

This board is of the opinion that Chapter 187 of the Acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly is not operable. We think that it should be provided in the statute authorizing the sterilization of mental and moral defectives that after the conclusion has been reached that the good of society requires sterilization of the individual, notice should be given, the case examined by the board as a tribunal with authority to take testimony offered to contradict the facts found by the board, and to enter the order for sterilization, or refuse it, as should be determined from the facts found. We do not favor the right of appeal to any other tribunal. We submit the administration of the law providing for the sterilization of inmates of state institutions which are under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Control, other than the penal institutions, should be given the Board of Control and the superintendent and the physician of each institution; in other words, that the Board of Control should be in such institutions substituted for the Board of Parole. The Board of Control must make frequent visits to these institutions and thus would there be financial saving. Besides, that board is in constant communication with the officers of such institutions, and also in possession of much information concerning the inmates. The Board of Parole however, is in much better position than the Board of Control to know the record of the prisoners in the reformatory and penitentiary; to know of their physical, mental and moral conditions both before their conviction and after their incarceration, than is the Board of Control. The law therefore as to the penal institutions should remain as it is in this respect.

The sterilization of mental and physical deficients is, as it seems to us, for the purpose of protecting the State from the increase of its mentally and physically defective population,—and not only that but also to prevent the suffering and misery that will be the result entailed on the children of such persons, and on relatives and friends on whom they must be dependent. This in no sense is a punishment, either when applied to the inmates of Hospitals for the Insane, or such like institutions, or to the penal institutions.

The classes included in any mandatory provision would be certain to include some individuals of whom it could not be said there was a liability in procreation resulting in children with a tendency to the defects justifying the operation. For this reason we do not favor a law which makes mandatory the operation in cases of either mental, physical or moral defectives.

In conclusion, we recommend:

1st. That chapter 187 of the acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly be amended or repealed, and a substitute enacted providing for the sterilization of the classes therein included, and for the reasons therein stated.

2d. That it shall be provided that an order of sterilization be entered only after hearing on notice, and that there shall be no appeal from the order entered, giving only the right of review by the higher court as provided by law.

3d. That the administration of the law remain in the tribunal now authorized, except as above pointed out.

4th. That inmates of jails and county homes or such like institutions should not be included.

5th. That the performance of the operation should not be made mandatory in any case.

Respectfully submitted this 31st day of December, 1914.

Chairman Board of Parole,

Des Moines, Iowa.

My Dear Sir: Your favor of the 28th inst. reached me today. I hasten to reply. Inasmuch as I am about to leave for a few days' absence, I have not the time to reply to your inquiry at length. To begin with, I desire to go on record as one who is very much in favor of the so-called Perkins Law. While the law as it now stands may need a few changes, I am not prepared at this time to make any suggestions.

Of the cases operated on in this institution, five have left on parole. I should have hesitated very much recommending any of these cases for a parole prior to sterilization. I believe I can truthfully say also, that in many of the cases operated on there has been a noticeable change for the better, both in their mental as well as their physical condition. I am inclined to think that the law as it now stands is rather too broad in its application, so far as the insane cases are concerned, and it may be advisable to make a change in this respect. The writer hopes that the present law, with possibly a few changes, will at least be given further trial. I am of the opinion too that public sentiment in favor of the law will have a tendency to become more and more favorable.

Sincerely yours,
M. N. VOLDING, Superintendent.

Hon. W. H. Berry,
State Board of Parole,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Dear Sir: I have your letter of the 28th and in reply will say we are very anxious to have the law so worded or changed, that there will be no question about the liability in sterilizing the patients in our state hospitals for the insane and the institution for the feeble-minded.

I believe that the authority for ordering the sterilization of these patients in our hospitals for the insane particularly, and I believe also in the institutions for feeble-minded, should be left to the superintendent of the institution, and the Board of Control, and I suggest you make this recommendation in your report to the governor.

The Board of Control visits the institutions each month, and is in close touch with the patients themselves, as well as a great many of the relatives of these patients. They are in position to advise what is best for the patients, not only the patient himself, but also the relatives. It is confusing to the relatives to have the superintendent and the Board of Control encouraging the sterilization of certain patients in our institution, and then have the Board of Parole come and pass upon these cases; in other words, the relatives and the patients get confused concerning the two boards, so I am in favor that the Board of Control, who as stated above, is in close touch with the patients and relatives, have the authority to order the sterilization of certain patients.

I am in hopes that the law may be so changed as to not have to have the consent of the relatives for the sterilization of certain patients between the ages of fourteen and fifty years. I would like to have it arranged so that the Board of Control can pass upon these cases during the semi-annual visits in the spring and fall of each year, and issue orders to the superintendent that certain patients be sterilized.

I am anxious that you recommend to the governor the enforcement of this law in our state hospitals for the insane and the institutions for the feeble-minded. The law, in my opinion, is a good one, and this work should be encouraged, as it is an advancement in the right direction.

I shall be glad, indeed, to see Iowa take a stand on this question and continue this work. Good results have already been accomplished, and there has not been a single bad result following the sterilization of any of these fifty or more cases, which we have operated on in this institution. In my opinion nothing but good can come from the sterilization of the young men and women committed to this institution as insane. I am glad to make this report to your board, and I hope that you will do all you can to get proper legislation this coming winter on this most particular matter of sterilization of the insane and feeble-minded.

Very truly yours,
C. F. APFLEGATE, Superintendent.

Gentlemen: Your letter of recent date by Judge W. H. Barry is at hand. As to my views relative to the matter of operations performed on various patients here, namely, vasectomy, I can only repeat what I said to you on your last visit.

In the cases tried, it seems to have had a beneficial influence. One patient has since gone home to a neighboring county, and from all we can learn there has been no complaint of him whatever, and he is getting along nicely. Other young patients on whom we operated have become more orderly and quiet and, while defective in mental development, which could not be improved by any treatment, the influence of the operation seems to have been favorable. Considering such slight experience as we have had, I am favorable to further operations in suitably selected cases.

Sincerely yours,

Iowa Board of Parole,

Gentlemen: Replying to your letter dated the 28th ult. signed by Chairman Berry, the following is a brief report of the progress made at this institution under the sterilization law enacted by the last session of the General Assembly:

At the Independence State Hospital the sterilization law has been utilized in the case of three patients, two males and one female. J. H., No. 11808, a male patient, single, aged fifty-one on admission January 23, 1912. The mental derangement was diagnosed as sexual perversion with dementia praecox. The patient was born in Chicago in 1861, attended the Lincoln and the Wells schools in that city, leaving school at fourteen. He was in the eighth grade doing common fractions and decimals at the time he discontinued school. He worked at various occupations, was dissipated, and spent his time from Saturday evening until Sunday night in the company of prostitutes. He had gonorrhoea when sixteen years of age. The blood serum reacted negatively to the Wasserman test. He admits bestiality, having performed the act of sodomy with a gelding. He was sentenced to the Fort Madison prison for sodomy in 1905. This patient was sterilized about January 25, 1914, the operation being vasectomy.

J. H., No. 11336, male, single, age twenty-seven years on admission April 22, 1910, diagnosis precocious dementia. The patient was transferred from the insane department of the reformatory at Anamosa, having been convicted of manslaughter and committed to prison. The patient claims that he did not know anything of his crime while engaged in the act, but that he has always been subject to spells of excitement when he would not realize what he was doing. The patient was usually quiet and well behaved, but occasionally would undergo an attack, apparently of a hysterical nature, during which time he would attack attendants and patients indiscriminately, and was with difficulty overpowered and controlled. This patient was sterilized about February 7, 1914, the operation being vasectomy.

M. T., No. 12015, a female, single, admitted November 28, 1912, age sixteen. Form of mental derangement epileptic insanity. The patient is a native of Iowa and has one brother younger than herself. The brother seems all right mentally. This patient was not considered bright as a child, but was healthy. She had very little education and of late years has been considered queer. She was never sociable and has not had any severe illness or injury. She has no bad habits and was employed in house work which she performed rather indifferently. Her menstrual periods were painful, so that it was necessary for her to go to bed at these times. The epileptic seizures usually appeared during the monthly periods. When seven years old she showed evidence of something wrong with her mind, was quite queer, although she was not thought to be insane. Just before coming to the hospital she was confused. This condition followed several seizures. This patient was rendered asexual about February 13, 1914, by the operation of ligation of the fallopian tubes.

These patients are all in the hospital at the present time. We are not able to determine that the operation has influenced the mental state of any one of them, either favorably or unfavorably. Should they be discharged or escape from the institution they would not be able to propagate their kind. The sterilization of the unfit is, we believe, in accord with advanced scientific thought. There is considerable opposition, however, to the practical application of such enactments on the part of friends of the patients. We doubt the advisability of making such acts mandatory until the public shall have been more thoroughly educated along these lines. It is difficult, if not impossible, to enforce the laws that are not supported by public opinion.

Very sincerely yours,
W. P. CRUMBACKER, Superintendent

BY THE

GOVERNOR OF IOWA

Pardons Suspensions and Commutations of Sentence

AND

Remissions of Fines

FROM

January 1, 1913, to December 31, 1914

1914

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, January 1, 1915.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

In compliance with Section 16, Article IV of the Constitution, I herewith transmit to you a report of each case of pardon, reprieve, commutation, and suspension granted, also the names of all persons in whose favor remissions of fines and forfeitures have been granted, and the amounts, for the period ending December 31, 1914.

G. W. CLARKE.
Governor.

APPLICATIONS FOR PARDONS SUBMITTED TO THE BOARD OF PAROLE—ACTS OF THE THIRTY-
FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY,
CHAPTER 186.

In compliance with Chapter 186, Acts of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, notices have been published of the applications for pardon of the following named prisoners, convicted of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to imprisonment in the penitentiary for the term of their natural lives, and said applications have been referred to the Board of Parole for their investigation and recommendation.

Roy Hull	Frank Rainsbarger
Elmer Liston	Nathan Rainsbarger
Orman McPherson	Betsy Smith
W. E. Alexander	John Penny
John Shearer

PARDONS.

HARVEY SMITH, Polk County. Committed to the Polk county jail on the 20th day of November, 1912, to serve a term of five months for the crime of indecent exposure. Pardon was recommended by the presiding judge and county attorney and same was granted on the 11th day of March, 1913.

WILLIAM HILL, Dallas County. Sentenced at the September, 1912, term of the district court to serve a term of one year in the penitentiary for the crime of wife desertion. Pardon was recommended by the presiding judge and county attorney and Mrs. Cecil Hill, the wife of said William Hill, and same was granted upon the 26th day of September, 1913.

DARRELL NICHOLSON, Dubuque County. Sentenced at the October, 1913, term of the district court to serve a term not to exceed ten years in the reformatory at Anamosa, for the crime of forgery. Pardon before commitment was recommended by the Board of Parole and same was granted on the 29th day of May, 1914.

ORMAN McPHERSON, Louisa County. Committed to the penitentiary March 24, 1897, for the crime of murder in the first degree, and sentenced to the penitentiary for the term of his natural life. Notice was published and this case was submitted to the Board of Parole, as required by law. The Board of Parole reported adversely to granting clemency. Upon a full consideration of all of the facts, I could not reach a conclusion in harmony with that of the Board of Parole but believe that, upon the whole case, Orman McPherson should have been convicted of manslaughter rather than of murder in the first degree; that if he had been, the maximum of his sentence could not have been beyond eight years. He had served seventeen years and seven months, with an excellent prison record. Being so impressed by the facts and being unable to reach any other conclusion, I, for these reasons, felt it to be my duty, under the provisions of the constitution empowering me so to do, to grant a full pardon. Pardon was granted on the 20th day of October, 1914.
