

SIXTH BIENNIAL REPORT

OF THE

State Inspector of Oils

TO THE

GOVERNOR OF IOWA.

REPORT OF STATE OIL INSPECTOR.

Hon. Frank D. Jackson, Governor:

SIR—I have the honor to submit herewith, in compliance with the statutes governing the inspection of illuminating oils in Iowa, the sixth biennial report of the state inspector of illuminating oils, for the period ending June 30, 1895.

For the nine months ending March 31, 1894, the office was held by Hon. J. J. Duan. From April 1, 1894, to October 18, 1894, the affairs of the office were administered by Hon. L. S. Merchant, whose untimely death took from the service of the state one of its noblest citizens and a painstaking and faithful official.

At the end of the biennial period covered by this report, inspectors were stationed as follows:

Luther A. Brewer.....	Cedar Rapids
R. M. Garrison.....	Cedar Rapids
Theo. Gultar.....	Council Bluffs
Jasper Giltner.....	Ottumwa
F. O. Udall.....	Dubuque
W. H. Goodrell.....	Iowa City
W. H. Wier.....	Davenport
Louis Weinstein.....	Burlington
H. M. Pickell.....	Des Moines
C. F. Gullixson.....	Ft. Dodge
J. K. Mason.....	Keokuk
G. D. Frink.....	Marshalltown
J. S. Bellamy.....	Knoxville
W. C. Arthur.....	Sioux City
F. N. Chase.....	Waterloo

CONDITION OF THE SERVICE.

It is a pleasure to be able to report that the inspection service in the state is in excellent condition. This is due to the fact that the deputy inspectors have at all times and under all circumstances been faithful to the trust reposed in them, and energetic and painstaking in the performance of every duty.

During the period covered by this report there have been several violations of the inspection law. Those violating the law, in the majority of cases, were farmers who had oil shipped to them in small quantities by dealers living outside of Iowa. The violations, as a rule, were not wilful ones, but were made through ignorance and because of representations made by the sellers of the oil that no inspection was needed. The deputy inspectors were active in tracing up oil so shipped and having the violators of the law fined. It is believed this practice has now been discontinued. No contraband oil is now coming into the state.

USE OF GASOLINE LABELS.

It was a wise thought on the part of the state board of health to require all dealers and handlers of gasoline to paste in a conspicuous place on every vessel containing this liquid a label indicating the dangerous character of the contents. The liberal use of these labels has doubtless saved many lives and much property. This has also been the means of educating the people to the dangers attending the careless use of both oil and gasoline, and they are becoming more cautious and careful. It is a rare thing now to learn of an accident caused by the use of these liquids. I can recall no loss of life or property during the biennium occasioned by the explosion of any vessel containing oil. There have been some explosions of gasoline, all the result of the careless handling of it.

INCREASE OF EXPENSES.

The expenses of the inspection service are gradually increasing. There are two reasons for this. The principal cause of the increased expenditure is due to the fact of the establishment of a large number of oil stations in the smaller towns of the state. In other years nearly all the oil sold in the state was distributed from tanks located only in the principal cities. Within the past year at least twenty reservoir tanks have been located in the smaller county seats. The oil is shipped in large tank cars to these smaller stations, and from there distributed, largely by wagons, to the towns near by. It would cause the state too much expense to locate an inspector at each of these smaller stations, and the deputies now at work must travel from their homes to these towns to make the tests required by the state law. Heretofore the oil has been inspected at the larger centers and shipped out in barrels to the smaller towns. The cost of travel to and fro is a considerable additional item in the total expense of the inspections.

A second cause of increased expense is due to the shipping into the state of oil in single barrels by dealers who have no point in the state from which they might make distribution of the oil to their customers. The expense of following up, testing and branding a single barrel thus sent into the state, is frequently as much as $5 or $6, or even more, but notwithstanding this seeming disproportionate expense, which I see no way of lessening, the state has derived a net revenue from the inspection service of over $200 per month for the biennium.

Below you will find tabular statements showing the number of barrels of oil rejected for the biennium, the number of barrels approved, the number of barrels of gasoline rejected for illuminating purposes, the amount of fees received for the same, and the total expense of the inspection service, exclusive of the salary of the state inspector.

For the month of March, 1895	41.69
Total	$ 12,229.21

The expenses of the service for April, May and June, 1895, exceeded the receipts by $800.20, all of which were borne by the state inspector, as there seems to be no clear provision of the law authorizing payments from the state treasury to make up any deficits that may accrue in any month or months, notwithstanding there may be at the time a good balance in the hands of the state treasurer to the credit of the inspection service. Some provision ought to be made whereby the state inspector could draw from the state treasury at the end of any month in which a deficit occurs sufficient to make good such shortage. The inspector promptly remits to the state treasurer on the 15th of each month any money there may be in his hands due the state, and it would seem but just that the state should carry the losses of the service, and not the state inspector.

Deducting from the amount sent the state treasurer the salary of the state inspector for the two years covered by this report, $4,000, and the amount due the state inspector on expenses, $800.20, there is left a net profit to the state from this department of $7,629.01, an average of $317.88 per month.

Respectfully submitted,
