Recognizing the need for training for first responders and initial investigators in missing child cases, The National Center for Missing and Exploited Children (NCMEC) has developed a specialized training program aimed at the swift and successful investigation of reports involving missing and abducted children. Missing and Abducted Children: A Survival Program for First Responders and Initial Investigators, is designed to provide critical information to those officers and investigators who will respond to a missing child report and whose knowledge, skill, and ability may make the difference between prompt recovery and a protracted investigation. In addition to reactive investigative techniques, attendees will also gain valuable proactive knowledge to better prepare them for encounters with potential child predators.

Topics Covered Include: Child Abduction, Family Abduction, Runaways, Media Relations, Sexual Predators, Incident Screening, Recovery Techniques, Investigative Resources, Agency Planning. Presented in a fast-paced format, this program is accentuated with high impact videos, case histories, investigative scenarios, and group participation exercises.

The Organization - Established in 1984 and funded by the US Office of Juvenile Justice and Delinquency Prevention, NCMEC serves as the nation’s clearinghouse for information on missing and exploited children. Since its inception, NCMEC approved presenters have provided training for more than 150,000 law enforcement, criminal justice, and child protection professionals in the United States and abroad.

The Presenter – This program will be presented by Stephen Steidel, NCMEC’s Associate Director of Training. Prior to his affiliation with NCMEC, Mr. Steidel served with the Suffolk County (NY) Police Department, where he held a number of investigative and supervisory positions including commander of the Missing Persons Bureau.
