The Iowa Board of Parole collaborates with the Division of Criminal and Juvenile Justice (CJJP) Planning, the Iowa Department of Human Rights, who collects and compiles data annually for our agency.

Data reliability:

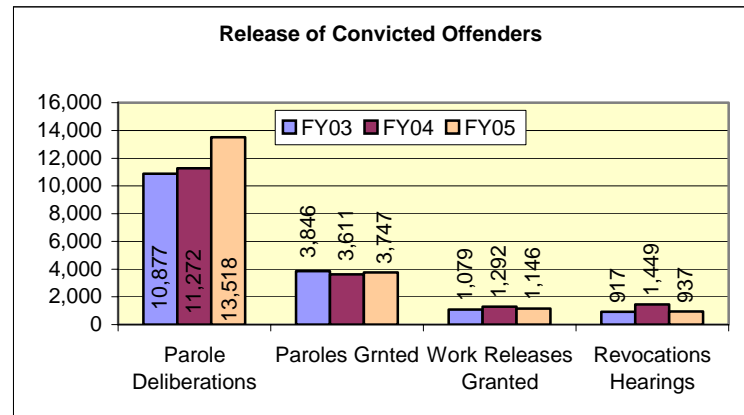

Data provide to the Iowa Board of Parole by CJJP is verified and validated by their research and statistical analysis staff.

Why we are using this measure:

The Iowa Board of Parole measures its deliberations and revocations in an effort to assist with the stabilization of the growth of Iowa's prison population.

What was achieved:

From FY '03 to FY '04 the Iowa Board of Parole has increased their number of parole deliberations in an effort to identify as many offender candidates who have been determined to be appropriate for supervised release to the community.

Analysis of results:

While the Board did increase its number of deliberations in FY '04 from FY '03, parole releases decreased in FY '04 and work releases increased slightly.

This indicates that the Board utilizes as much as reasonably possible the services offered by Iowa's community-based-corrections (CBC's) programs.

Factors affecting results:

In view that each offender's criminal case is different from the next, each must be reviewed on a case- by-case basis. As such, it is virtually not possible to "project" or "predict" exactly number of offenders that the Board may grant a supervised release
