Retailer's Guide to Scanning and Processing Coupons Fast

New to scanning coupons? Need a refresher? Here's the procedure:

- Hold the bar code under the red light of the bar code scanner
- A pop-up screen asks if the player wants an easy pick or to use a play slip (see top graphic)
- Press "Easy Pick" button for an easy pick
- Insert a play slip to use that option
- Press "Cancel" if the player doesn't know if they want an easy pick or play slip, or doesn't have a play slip ready (pressing Cancel at this point does not void the coupon)
- Once the player has decided which option they want, scan the coupon again and complete the process

Scanning a Coupon/Play From a Mobile Device

Some players may present a coupon that has been emailed to them via their mobile device. Players also may use the lottery's iPhone app to generate plays that can be scanned from their device.

The app allows players to shake their device using the app’s "Plays" feature to select numbers for a lotto play. They can then take their device to a lottery retailer and have the bar code on the screen scanned to purchase that ticket.
When a player brings their mobile device to the counter and asks the clerk to scan the code, a retailer should place the player's device under the red light of the bar code reader to scan the square bar code on the device's screen. This will produce a play from the terminal.
NOTES: Coupons may only be used once. If a coupon has already been redeemed, the terminal will give an error message: "Coupon Already Redeemed" (see bottom graphic). Keep paper coupons to balance your cash drawer; Lottery reps will not pick them up. Retailers should appropriately destroy the bar code and dispose of the coupon so it cannot be presented again.

Iowa Lottery Players Collect Lots of Prizes in Second Warehouse Dash in Chicago

Three Iowa Lottery players received delivery of electronics, televisions, video game systems and more after their participation in the Iowa Lottery's "Warehouse Dash ${ }^{\text {® " }}$ promotion on June 23 in Chicago. Their names were selected in a drawing on May 23.
Each contestant chose a partner to accompany them on a weekend getaway to Chicago and participate in a 90 -second dash through the main warehouse that supplies the prizes in the lottery's VIP Club. During their dash, the teams grabbed as much merchandise as they could, including televisions and other sought-after electronics, housewares, jewelry, camping gear, sporting equipment and more. Three previous players were selected to go on an initial Warehouse Dash in May.

Ruth Dolter of Dubuque and her husband, Gregg, grabbed more than $$ 10,000$ worth of merchandise, including TVs, high-end vacuums and electronics. Joshua Meier of Sioux City and his friend, Michael Hernandez, collected more than $12,000 in merchandise, including TVs, tools and a grill. Donna Zoutte of Knoxville and her husband, Don, chose a TV, a Blu-Ray player and a tablet computer among other things, for a total of more than $$ 6,500$ worth of merchandise.

To enter the promotion, Iowa Lottery players entered numbers from the front and back of a nonwinning $$ 10$ "Did I Win?" scratch ticket. Tickets were entered through noon May 21.
Contestants and their guests received a weekend package including hotel stay, dinner, transportation, and $1,500 travel and spending cash. The lottery paid the state and federal taxes for the prize package.

The Warehouse Dash prize package was valued at an estimated $$ 20,000$, but the total amount was determined by the merchandise each winner grabbed during the dash.

Quad City QC Mart Stores Put Lottery Products Front and Center

While he said he's never built a store from the ground up, Bill Ernst added that his Quad City-area convenience stores do a great Iowa Lottery business.

Ernst owns the QC Mart convenience store chain and says it is the largest locally owned convenience store chain in the Quad Cities area. His 10 Iowa stores are in Bettendorf, Davenport (8) and Welton. He also has five stores in Illinois.
"When I see an opportunity that I believe will make money, I buy that regardless of the footprint. We have a store that we doubled the size of, but every store is different," Ernst explains.
Since their start in Iowa 15 years ago, all QC Mart stores have carried Iowa Lottery products. Ernst believes in putting the lottery front and center.
"We try to never run out of tickets; we try to display them for everyone. For the amount of trouble it is, which is none, it's a low maintenance product that we make money on. I'm very happy with the return and the draw. You never know what the draw is until you stop having it. Then you could tell, but who wants to do that?" said Ernst.

QC Mart's district sales representative, Michelle Mendoza, said QC Mart recently chose to install 24-game in-counter dispensers in all its stores to show off as many tickets as possible in an attractive way. All QC Mart stores earn 7 percent commission for participation in the Gold Star Program.
"He's a staple in my marketplace.

He's got a lot of stores. I just pick up the phone and call him and we handle it", Mendoza said. She added that the extra eight spaces help sales of older games players still want.

Ernst said his philosophy on selling lottery tickets is simple.
"We've always put the box right in the counter, right where the customer can see them as an impulse buy - in all stores where it's possible to do that. I'm always glad to increase the visibility of the tickets because it's a good profit item. It's no maintenance. We make a lot more on our bag of charcoal, but we have to order it, get it in, price it, put it on the shelf, dust it. Instant tickets, you just don't have that," he said.

Of course, a few big winners never hurt sales either! The QC Mart at 1402 State St. in Bettendorf sold a $1 million-winning Powerball with Power Play ticket in November 2011 to Esteban and Linda Ramos of East Moline, Ill. Since then, Ernst said, lottery sales at that store have increased. In fact, the Bettendorf store was the top-selling store in the chain, including sales from July 1, 2011 - June 25, 2012. It also ranked in the top 10 percent of lottery retailers statewide for that time period.
"I immediately saw our sales go up after that [ $$ 1$ million win] because people are superstitious for whatever reason. They think, well, this location is a winning location," Ernst said.

He said his stores' locations have been at times a blessing and at other times a bit of a curse depending on the price of gas and cigarettes in Illinois versus in Iowa. He said that for the last five or six years, cigarettes have been less expensive in Illinois, affecting his overall sales in Iowa stores. However, he believes that will change with a new dollar-a-pack cigarette tax increase that went into effect for Illinois retailers June 24.
"It will drive people back across that bridge. While they're over here, they buy their gas, they buy their cigarettes [and they say,] 'Oh, I'm gonna get a Powerball ticket. I'm gonna get an instant ticket.' So I think you're going to see that turnaround fairly quickly. People only want to stop one time," Ernst said.

He will welcome all customers with open arms.
Ernst said, "[Lottery is] an important part of the business for two reasons. One is it's a customer draw. I can't tell you how many people come in for some form of lottery and then buy something else, so it's a push for our other business. And I know it pushes the other way too. Somebody will come in for a pack of cigarettes and they'll see the instant tickets and they'll go, 'Oh, give me a couple of these.' And the second reason, obviously, is it's a money-maker for us.... It increases our business and it increases our profits."
