New Faces

Since the last issue of the ILQ, there have been a number of staffing changes at the Iowa Alcoholic Beverages Division. We've welcomed several new faces that are becoming integral parts of the Division's executive team and, sadly, said goodbye to a couple of key staffers that many of our customers have depended on.

Kirk Fischer, who we borrowed from the Department of Administrative Services for nearly a year, left this summer to begin a new venture outside of State government. Kirk was key in the development of the transportation and logistics study that lead to the implementation of the master plan, moving the Division forward and increasing efficiencies.

This summer Doug Webb, former Deputy Director of Administration, also moved on to new opportunities in the private sector. Doug oversaw accounting, IT, communications, products and was on the front line for customer service.

The Division is better for having had the experience of these two dedicated gentlemen. Thankfully we have several new additions who have taken on many of Doug and Kirk's roles into their capable hands.

Tim Iversen is the Division's Deputy Director and Chief Operating Officer. He has extensive experience in transportation and logistics, management, and customer service. Tim is overseeing the Division's day-to-day operations and leading many long term projects. He has also taken over Doug's role in customer service and has been working to meet and connect with many of our customers. Please feel free to reach out to Tim if you have not yet met him or if you have any questions, comments or concerns about the Division's operations or customer service. He can be reached at Iversen@IowaABD.com or 515.281.7406.

Tammy Plowman also joined the Division as the Comptroller. She has more than fifteen years of experience with financial management and inventory control. Tammy is managing accounting, IT, and buildings and grounds. She can be reached at Plowman@IowaABD.com or 515.725.2087.

The Division hired a new fleet manager this summer. Tom Chapman oversees the drivers and works closely with the Deputy Administrator of Spirits and warehouse supervisors to ensure that delivery operations are conducted in an efficient manner. He has nearly two decades of experience in transportation and logistics, working in fleet management, customer service, planning and account management. Tom is a key contact for our Class E customers and can be reached at Chapman@IowaABD.com or 515.725.4643.

In addition to these new faces, the rest of the Division's dedicated staff remains. As always, know that customer satisfaction is a top priority to every Division employee and you can contact anyone, for anything, at any time, and we'll all do our best to assist you.

Sincerely,

Stephen Larson

Impaired driving crashes are preventable. Great concepts such as Designated Drivers and Call a Cab programs are innovative approaches to solving this nationwide tragedy. Remember that it is illegal to text while driving. Please help in our quest to protect all Iowans from impaired drivers during the upcoming Labor Day festivities.

The Iowa Governor's Traffic Safety Bureau and the Iowa ABD would like to invite you to join us in promoting traffic safety. Nearly 23 percent of traffic fatalities last year in Iowa were attributed to drivers impaired on alcohol or other drugs.

a variety of people. Each person has a different personality, sense of humor and outlook on life that makes getting through any situation easier. I am a person who could never work indoors or behind a desk so getting out and seeing the sights of Iowa is a perfect fit for me. I also enjoy knowing all my customers on a first name basis. It creates a friendly atmosphere rather than just a business transaction.

What are your duties as a Transportation Driver?

As a transportation driver my main responsibility is to ensure all my liquor deliveries arrive at their destinations safely. I take pride in the fact that I am able to provide a reliable schedule for all my customers so they don't have to wonder when their deliveries will be arriving. Another duty of being a driver is to make sure that I provide a safe environment for other people on the roadway.

What is the most challenging part of your job?

One of the hardest parts of my job is changing routes each year. Not only do I have to say goodbye to the customers I have built friendships with over the year, I also have to learn a new route. Sometime finding new stores and getting accurate directions can be difficult when you are not familiar with the area.

What do you do in your free time?

When it is nice outside, you can find me on my Harley Davidson or out in my yard. I enjoy gardening and plant a flower garden each summer. I also enjoy being on my motorcycle and participating in charity poker runs with the 109 Eagles. These events help raise money for different charities and organizations such as juvenile diabetes and child abuse. Each run consists of a route with four different stops. At each stop, participants pick a card and at the end of the run whoever has the highest hand, wins half the pot. The other half goes to the selected charity. There is approximately one run per month with each run lasting around 100 miles.

Make the most of football season to promote liqueurs in team colors for shooters and layered drinks as well as the ingredients for pregame mix-your-own Bloody Mary cocktails.

STOCK-UP FOR GAME DAY GET-TOGETHERS

Basic Liqueur Shooters

This recipe makes 4-5 shooters.

1 (3-ounce) box gelatin of choice
¾ cup boiling water
¾ cup liqueur of choice

Dissolve the gelatin in the boiling water. Add the liqueur of choice, and stir gently until thoroughly mixed. Let the mixture cool to room temperature, and then pour it into 4 or 5 shot glasses. Refrigerate the shooters until the gelatin sets. Serve the shooters with fancy toothpicks or stirrers so they can be stirred (and liquefied) a little before drinking.

Basic Layered Drinks

These drinks can be refrigerated for up to an hour before serving. Make them in clear glasses so the colors show.

2 or more colorful liqueurs of choice

Pour the first liqueur into the serving glass. Carefully pour the second liqueur over the back of a spoon on top of the first so it floats; add as many additional "floating" layers as desired.

Basic Bloody Mary

Serve in chilled tall glasses.

4-6 ounces tomato juice
2 ounces vodka, gin, rum, or tequila
1-1½ teaspoons lemon juice
¼ teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
Several dashes of Tabasco sauce
1 teaspoon freshly grated horseradish squeezed dry, if desired
Pinch of white or black pepper
1-2 pinches celery salt
½-1 teaspoon dried or fresh chopped dill
Celery stalk with leaves

Combine all of the ingredients except the celery stalk in a shaker or mixing glass with ice; shake or stir gently. Pour (strain, if desired) the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass; garnish with a celery stalk.

GIN BLOSSOMS

The category is flourishing thanks to the cocktail craze, renewed consumer interest, and super-premium product innovation.

BY THOMAS HENRY STRENK

Note: This excerpt is printed with permission from the July/August 2012 issue of StateWays—the Beverage Alcohol Merchandising Magazine for Control States.

From traditional juniper- and citrus-accented London dry styles to the malty original Dutch version as well as newcomers infused with cucumber, lavender, and bog myrtle, the gin category is experiencing a resurgence. The other white spirit has gotten a big boost from the cocktail renaissance, and gin is currently a darling of mixologists. Of late, the category has seen a lot of new product introductions, especially at the top-shelf level, which has stirred consumer awareness and also caught the attention of a younger but more sophisticated customer demographic. Marketing and merchandising efforts from producers are helping maintain that interest. Long eclipsed by the behemoth vodka category, gin is coming into its own, sharing many parallels with its sister white spirit. Gin seems well positioned for the bright future.

"The biggest trend is gin itself: It's back!" declares Matt Pechman, Diageo brand director, Gin. "There is an explosion of new entries into the category, and consumer and trade interest is being piqued."

Gin's renewed popularity has advanced hand in hand with the cocktail craze. "Especially in the major markets, we're seeing a lot more appreciation of classic cocktails, of which gin was definitely king," notes Maria Puente, senior brand manager Beefeater and Plymouth, Pernod Ricard USA. "Brands like Beefeater and Plymouth were very dominant in a lot of the cocktails of the past because gin was the dominant spirit." Indeed, Plymouth Gin has an especially rich heritage, dating back to 1793.

"The comeback of some of the classic cocktails such as the Aviation, the Southside, the Clover Club, and the renaissance of the Negroni and the French 75—all made using gin—have brought the category to the forefront," echoes Pechman.

The cocktail revitalization is not limited to major urban areas, but it's spreading across the country. "As interest in cocktails continues to grow in markets with still-developing cocktail scenes, the use of gin in re-created and revamped classics is imminent," says Rusti Porter, marketing director for Anchor Distilling Company.

Retailers have noticed the cocktail connection. "Just like the traditional cocktails, gin is also having a resurgence," reports Patti Robinson, owner of Heritage Wine & Liquor in Centennial, Colorado. "The bars are doing a terrific job introducing people to those cocktails, and then they want to make the drinks at home."

Some of the new wave of gins, with their unusual blends of botanicals that go far beyond juniper, is intriguing a different consumer than the old Gin & Tonic crowd. These new fans tend to be younger and tapped into cocktail culture and the foodie scene, with a thirst for the new and novel.

Fueling sales growth in the gin category are the new products that stir interest both on- and off-premise. These tend to be high-end introductions that get a lot of ink from print and bloggers.

"Gin is seeing good growth and good brand development, and this industry depends upon brand development to keep consumer interest. The fact that there is brand development in the gin category is a good thing and will probably give it added strength moving forward," predicts David Ozgo, senior vice president of economic and strategic analysis of Distilled Spirits Council of the United States (DISCUS).

"The future looks bright, certainly for the premium and superpremium gins leading the way," Beefeater and Plymouth's Maria Puente concurs. "We are seeing a positive upswing in premium and superpremium brands."

If you are ever in Grinnell, Iowa, look for the yellow house on the corner of Park Street; it's the setting of a truly unique restaurant named Relish. Relish brings global flavors to a small community while providing the freshest ingredients around. In fact, their motto is "Local foods, global flavors." Owner Laura Fendt and Executive Chef Kamel Hammouda pride themselves in partnering with people within their own community to locally source ingredients for their customers.

Close partnerships between farmers, suppliers and chefs illustrate an increasingly common, symbiotic relationship that has begun to migrate from the finest dining establishments to local community restaurants. Connecting with nearby farmers and suppliers to acquire the freshest ingredients helps support the local economy, which is very important to Fendt and Hammouda. They craft the menu around the availability of local products to create seasonal meals and specialty drinks.

While the ingredients are local, Relish's menu offers

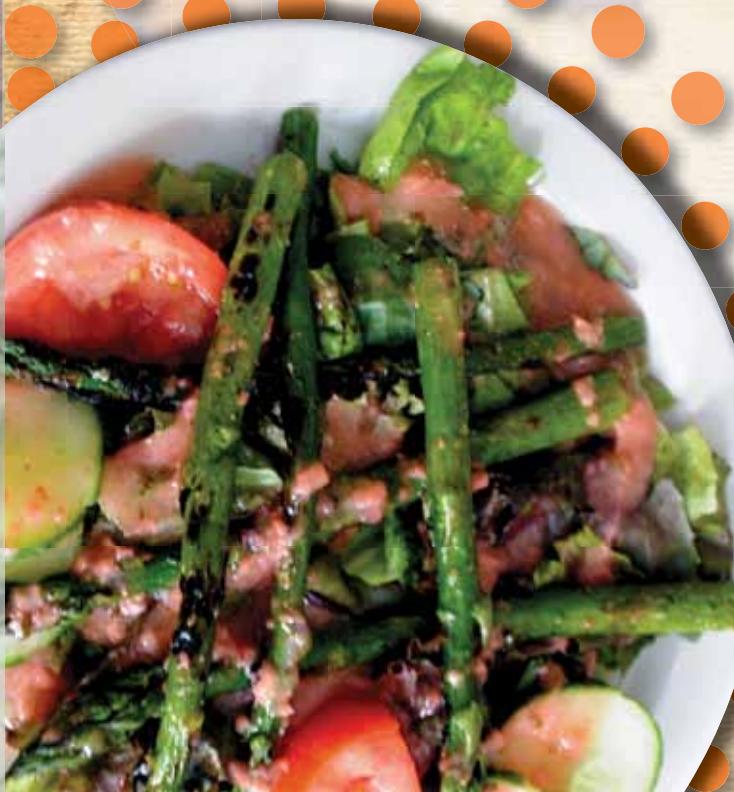

*Local Foods,
Global Flavors*

a wide variety of food and flavors from across the globe. Your pallet can enjoy flavors from the Midwest to the Middle East and countless other destinations from around the world. Make sure to drop in often, as the menu changes with the seasons.

However, there's one mainstay dish that you will always see on the menu: vegetable wellington. It's composed of grilled eggplant, feta cheese, spinach, sun-dried tomatoes and mushroom sauce baked in puff pastry. The vegetable wellington was removed from the menu once but it was quickly discovered that regular customers would still order it and even ask to take home a batch for freezing!

If you are in the mood for something new and unfamiliar try the Ta'amia, which is an Egyptian-style falafel, served with tahini, relish and pita bread. Feeling like something lighter? Try the asparagus salad. The salad contains mixed greens, seasonal vegetables grilled to perfection, asparagus and strawberry vinaigrette. Perfect for a hot summer day along with a specialty drink from the bar!

A recent addition to Relish, the bar serves local spirits as well. While they do stock long time favorites, the focus is on drinks made from Iowa distilled products. Several signature drinks utilize herbs from Relish's garden, infused into simple syrups that the mixologists use to create new and innovative cocktails.

Relish also features live music every Wednesday night from local musicians. Jazz, bluegrass and folk are among the popular genres played in the garden right outside the restaurant. The tranquil environment whisks you away to simpler days. Next time you're in the Grinnell area, stop by to enjoy the food, music and drinks and relish the local foods with global flavors.

By using homemade simple syrups, they are able to create a variety of unusual and unique flavors that many would not think to blend together. The cumquat mojito is a prime example of innovative thinking while using seasonal ingredients and local spirits. This refreshing (and eye catching) drink dances on the taste buds.

HERE'S TO THE HURRICANE!

Take advantage of the tropical storm season to feature the ever-popular hurricane cocktail. Made famous by the legendary Pat O'Brien's bar in the French Quarter in New Orleans, this simple, refreshing drink calls for three basic ingredients: rum, passion fruit syrup, and lemon juice. Encourage your customers to try the original version as well as some of the popular variations, served, of course, in either the signature "hurricane" glass or a pint jar or glass.

"Original" Hurricane Cocktail

Serve in a chilled hurricane glass or pint jar or glass.

4 ounces dark rum
2 ounces passion fruit syrup
2 ounces freshly squeezed lemon juice
Fresh ice
Lime and/or orange slices or wedges
Maraschino cherry

Combine the rum, passion fruit syrup, and lemon juice in a shaker half-filled with ice; shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass half-filled with fresh ice. Garnish with the lime and/or oranges and cherry.

Simple variations: Use gin, vodka, tequila, brandy, amaretto, curaçao, orange or raspberry liqueur, a dash of grenadine, sour mix, or grapefruit, orange, or pineapple juice in addition to or in place of some of the ingredients in the basic recipe above. Garnish with lemon, lime, orange, or pineapple slices or wedges and a cherry.

Two-Rums Hurricane

Serve in a chilled hurricane glass or pint jar or glass.

1½-2 ounces light rum
1½-2 ounces dark rum
½-¾ ounce passion fruit syrup
½-¾ ounce freshly squeezed lime juice
Fresh ice
Lime slices or wedges
Maraschino cherry

Combine the rums, passion fruit syrup, and lime juice in a shaker half-filled with ice; shake vigorously. Strain the mixed drink into the prepared serving glass half-filled with fresh ice. Garnish with the lime and cherry.

Gin-Rum-Amaretto Hurricane

½-1 ounce gin or flavored gin
½-1 ounce light rum or flavored rum
½-1 ounce dark rum or flavored rum
½-1 ounce amaretto
Dash of grenadine
1 ounce fresh pineapple juice
1 ounce freshly squeezed orange juice
1 ounce freshly squeezed grapefruit juice

LEGALLY SPEAKING

LEGISLATIVE UPDATE

As another legislative session comes to an end, it is important to recap the legislation that was signed by Governor Branstad during the 2013 session of the General Assembly that impacts the licensing, distribution and regulation of alcoholic beverages in the state.

DRAMSHOP INSURANCE

An amendment to the dramshop statute allows licensees to purchase a dramshop policy written on an aggregate limit basis. The aggregate limit policy must meet the minimum coverage requirements as determined by the Division. The Division is utilizing the rulemaking process to establish these minimum coverage requirements.

YOU HAVE QUESTIONS. WE HAVE ANSWERS.

Do you have a question about Iowa laws, administrative rules, Division policies or anything else that affects you and your business? If you need clarification on an issue, chances are that others do too. Submit your questions by email to Schaffer@IowaABD.com and use "legally speaking" as the subject of your email. We'll answer your questions immediately, but also print answers here for others to learn and benefit from.

CHARITY AUCTIONS

Authorized nonprofit organizations may now auction spirits at a charity auction after receiving a charity beer, spirits and wine auction permit from the Division. Spirits to be auctioned may be obtained from Iowa retailers or donated by persons who have purchased the spirits from an Iowa retailer or micro-distilled spirits permittee. The conditions and restrictions the law imposes on the auction of beer and wine apply to the auction of spirits (retaining a copy of a receipt for one year on donated alcoholic beverages, auctioning alcohol in the original container for off-premises consumption, restricting liquor licensees and wine or beer permittees from purchasing alcohol at auction, etc.). Prior to this legislative change, holders of a charity auction permit could only auction beer and wine.

BOTTLING BEER

A person of legal age may now remove homebrewed beer from the premises where it was bottled. Homebrewed beer may never be sold or offered in exchange for any type of consideration.

MISCELLANEOUS LEGISLATION

The Alcoholic Beverages Division's technical bill made revisions to reflect current e-commerce practices of the Division, made minor changes to improve readability, and made conforming changes where applicable.
