The sector has added 5,380 jobs since its low point in 2010 equating to growth of 42.1 percent. However, some of that growth may not imply changes in Iowa's economy, as earlier this decade, Iowa workforce made efforts to improve reporting and reclassified some managing establishments that had been included with the industry of the company they manage.

The sector is fairly balanced between men and women. Men have a slight edge, holding 50.2 percent of sector jobs.
