THE STATE FLOWER OF IOWA

The Twenty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, in the year 1897, by concurrent resolution, adopted the Wild Rose as the state flower of Iowa. This action was taken shortly after the Executive Council had authorized the use of the Wild Rose as one of the decorations on the silver service presented to the battleship "Iowa." These flowers are single, and have five or rarely four petals, varying from pink to white, with numerous stamens and pistils.

THE STATE BIRD OF IOWA

The Forty-fifth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, in the year 1933, in compliance with the wishes of the Iowa Ornithological Union, designated the beautiful Eastern Goldfinch as the official bird of Iowa. Representative J. Wilbur Dole of Jefferson County introduced the resolution creating this designation, and it was adopted by both houses. The Eastern Goldfinch is a small yellow bird popularly known as the wild canary. The male is bright yellow, with black wings and tail and black top head; the female is similarly marked, but not so brilliant. They are fairly common permanent residents in the southern part of the state, but less numerous in the north. They are often seen in flocks in undulating flight.

THE SONG OF IOWA

Adopted by the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, March 24, 1911. Air: "Tannenbaum"

Words by Major S. H. M. Byers

You ask what land I love the best, Iowa, 'tis Iowa.

The fairest State of all the west, Iowa, O! Iowa.

From yonder Mississippi's stream To where Missouri's waters gleam O! fair it is as poet's dream, Iowa, in Iowa.

See yonder fields of tasseled corn,
Iowa, in Iowa.
Where Plenty fills her golden horn,
Iowa, in Iowa.
See how her wondrous prairies shine
To yonder sunset's purpling line,
O!happy land, O!land of mine,
Iowa, O!Iowa.

And she has maids whose laughing eyes, Iowa, O! Iowa,
To him who loves were paradise,
Iowa, O! Iowa.
O! happiest fate that e'er was known,
Such eyes to shine for one alone,
To call such beauty all his own,
Iowa, O! Iowa.

IOWA CORN SONG

Lyric by George Hamilton-Music by Edward Riley

Let's sing of grand old I O WAY
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho.
Our love is stronger ev'ry day,
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho,
So come along and join the throng,
Sev'ral hundred thousand strong,
As you come just sing this song,
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho.

Chorus:

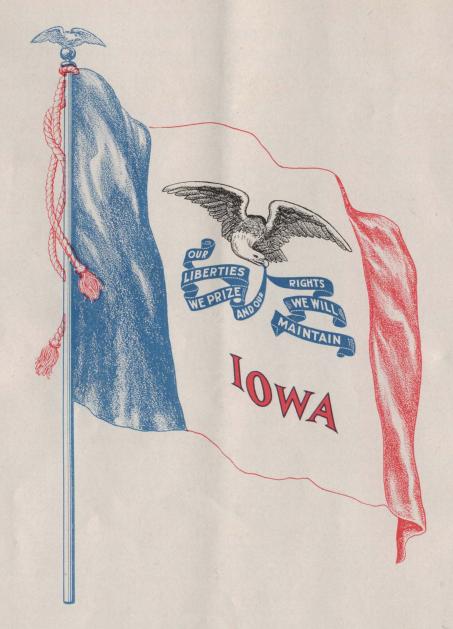

We're from Ioway, Ioway, State of all the land Joy on every hand, We're from Ioway, Ioway, That's where the tall corn grows.

Our land is full of ripening corn,
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho.
We've watched it grow both night and morn,
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho,
But now we rest, we've stood the test,
All that's good we have the best,
Iowa has reached the crest,
Yo-ho, yo-ho, yo-ho.

HISTORICAL REVIEW OF IOWA

Iowa—"beautiful land," as the Indians called the region—was first seen by white men when Marquette and Joliet touched the west bank of the Mississippi river near the mouth of the Des Moines in 1673.

Marquette, a Jesuit priest, and Joliet, a fur trader, entered the great Father of Waters by way of the Wisconsin river, June 17, and traveled down stream several days before noticing the first signs of habitation. They had almost reached what is now the southern boundary of the state when near the confluence of the Des Moines and Mississippi rivers they discerned footprints on the west bank of the Mississippi and a path leading through the woods. Following the path they came to an Indian village and met friendly Indians. History thus records the first visit of white men to the country which many years later became the State of Iowa.

In 1803 the famous Louisiana purchase was made of the territory of which Iowa was a part and gave to the territory thus secured its first government. The United States then acquired a region of 875,025 square miles, containing 560,016,000 acres, for the sum of $15,000,000.

One year later congress passed an act dividing the territory along the thirty-third parallel, the northern part being named the district of Louisiana and the southern part the territory of Orleans. In 1812 Orleans became a state called Louisiana and the region of which Iowa was a part, the Missouri territory.

In 1821 Missouri assumed statehood, leaving the region of which Iowa was a part without any organized form of government, but in 1834 it was joined with the territory of Michigan. The territory of Wisconsin was formed in 1836, including the areas later divided into the states of Wisconsin, Minnesota and Iowa. Iowa was organized as a separate territory July 4, 1838, including the portion of the Wisconsin territory west of the Mississippi and north of the State of Missouri.

The territory of Iowa was the ancient abode of the Sac, Ioway, Dakota and Fox tribes of Indians, and did not have any permanent settlers until 1833. The Indians refused permission to white settlers to come in to mine and farm, and United States troops protected their right until 1832. The Black Hawk war resulted in letting white men in, for its conclusion in 1832 brought about the cession of thousands of square miles of the eastern part of Iowa. During the next few years, practically the whole of the Iowa territory was secured from them through treaties.

The frontiersmen rushed in to farm and mine. The population increased very rapidly with the influx of prospectors and homeseekers from all parts of the union. During the ten years from 1836 to 1846 the increase in inhabitants was from 10,531 to 102,388.

Government was established among the early settlers by voluntary associations. They selected their own homes and began improving them, building huts and clearing and breaking the ground. "Claim associations" and "land clubs" were formed for the protection of their claims to the land they worked. These organizations were the only government they had and their proceedings were later recognized by the United States government.

The Act of Congress of 1838, entitled "an act to divide the territory of Wisconsin and to establish the Territorial Government of Iowa" gave the territory of Iowa its constitution. Until the formation of the State in 1846, this constitution was its fundamental law.

Iowa having separated from Wisconsin in 1838 for the want of sufficient courts for judicial relief, the question of applying for admission into the Union as a state was recommended as early as 1839. The first recommendation brought no result, and in 1840 the question of calling a constitutional convention was voted on by the people. It was defeated by a large majority, as it was again in 1842 by those who most wished to avoid an increase in taxes. In 1844, however, the vote was in favor of a convention. Application for a state government was made. The question of boundaries, a result of the question of slavery, held back its admission as a state until 1846, when on the 28th day of December it was admitted into the Union on an equal footing with the thirteen original states. It was the sixteenth state so admitted.

The first constitutional convention was convened at Iowa City, October 7, 1844. The constitution adopted by this convention was twice voted on in 1845 and each time defeated.

At a second constitutional convention at Iowa City, May 4, 1846, a constitution was approved. It was adopted by the people at an election held on the third day of August, 1846, there being 9,492 votes cast "for the constitution" and 9,036 votes cast "against the constitution." This constitution was presented to congress in December, 1846, and on the 28th day of the same month an act was passed for the admission of Iowa into the Union.

A third constitutional convention was authorized by the people by a majority of over eighteen thousand, for the purpose of revising and amending the constitution. At the November election, 1856, delegates to the convention were elected; and the convention met at Iowa City in January, 1857. The constitution adopted by this convention was adopted by the people at an election held on the 3d day of August, 1857, there being 40,311 votes cast "for the constitution" and 30,681 votes cast "against the constitution." It took effect by proclamation of the governor Sept. 3, 1857.
