Working from home? Iowa EASY Air is a Great Option!

Are you social distancing and working at home but still need to submit an air permit application? If so, consider using EASY Air, the DNR's electronic air permit application system for both construction and Title V operating permit applications.

The online system comes pre-loaded with information for companies that have previously submitted permits or emission inventories – reducing repetitive data entry. Other features that speed permit delivery during this time of social distancing include:

- Always available
- Accepts online payments
- Electronic signature
- Avoid multiple hand-offs of paper application
- Instant availability of permit application to DNR permitting staff
- Avoid data entry charges for major source construction and Title V operating permit applications submitted on paper.

DNR staff are available to assist you with EASY Air. For software questions, contact easyair@dnr.iowa.gov, or Kevin Connolly at 515-725-9569 or Jason Dowie at 515-725-9523. For questions on construction permits, contact www.iowadnr.gov/airconstruction or call the helpline at 877-AIR-Iowa.
