Next Open Forum - April 10

As we near the end of another week of our new reality, I'd like to thank everyone who has attended our Open Forum last week. We talked about a variety of topics and got to people who understand our situations. With the state of library service in flux at the moment, I'm hoping we can spend some time hearing about how you are serving your patrons.

The next session will be this Friday, April 10 from 10:30-11:30 in my Zoom room - <https://zoom.us/j/3194336021>. Headsets or some type of microphone/speaker combo will be important. This can be "come as you are" so if you are home, great! If you are at work, that's fine too! Interruptions by children and pets will be welcome. I would like this to be pretty free and open. What do you need to talk about? I'd like to offer it every week, until we don't need it any more. Remember, this is for you to talk with other directors about whatever you are dealing with.
