AUDITOR'S REPORT.

STATE OF IOWA,
OFFICE OF THE AUDITOR OF STATE,
DES MOINES, October 7, 1879.

To HON. JOHN H. GEAR, Governor of Iowa:

SIR—The following report of the financial affairs of the state, and of the public revenues and expenditures, for the biennial term commencing October 1, 1877, and ending September 30, 1879, both days inclusive, is hereby respectfully submitted.

GENERAL REVENUE.

The receipts of the state treasury during the fiscal term ending on the 30th day of September, 1879, have been the sum of two millions two hundred and sixty thousand three hundred and thirty-six dollars and fifty-four cents, from the following general sources, viz.:

From state tax levy and interest.....	$ 1,713,529.91
From counties for insane dues.....	262,093.44
From insurance companies, fees and taxes.....	119,909.88
From coupon and temporary school fund.....	83,657.78
From United States for swamp land script.....	27,791.25
From all other sources.....	53,354.28
Total amount.....	$ 2,260,336.54

A statement in full detail of the items comprising the above, is hereinafter given in Table No. 1. To this amount should be added the balances in the treasury at the close of the previous biennial period, September 30, 1877, which was \$73,737.39, and the grand aggregate of two millions three hundred and thirty-four thousand seventy-three dollars and ninety-three cents (\$2,334,073.93) is the total receipts of the term. Of this gross amount, the sum of \$2,143,077.99 was credited to the general revenue fund, and is an increase upon my estimates of two years since of \$51,077.99, or less than $2\frac{1}{2}$ per centum of the whole amount, which is chiefly attributable to closer tax collections by county treasurers, and also to more prompt payment of insane expenses by counties chargeable therewith.

The entire expenditures during the same period, in redemption of auditor's warrants, swamp land payments to counties, and interest upon all state indebtedness, have been the sum of two millions two hundred and fifty-nine thousand eight hundred and eighty-six dollars and fifty-six cents (2,259,886.56) leaving a balance in the hands of the treasurer of state, September 30, 1879, of seventy-four thousand one hundred and eighty-seven dollars and thirty-seven cents, distributed as follows:

Agricultural College endowment fund.....	$ 71,742.87
Permanent school fund.....	2,226.65
Coupon fund.....	217.85
Total.....	$ 74,187.37

Of the total amount disbursed as above, the sum of two millions one hundred and forty-three thousand seventy-seven dollars and ninety-nine cents ($2,143,077.99) was chargeable to the general revenue, pursuant to the appropriations of the general assembly, and consumed the entire amount of that fund, which had been received at the treasury.

The amount of state funds belonging to the general revenue, held by county treasurers and not yet paid over, on the 30th day of September, is reported to me to be the sum of $116,817.09. From this aggregate should be deducted the state warrants issued, payable from the general revenue, but not yet presented for payment, amounting to $96,993.54, and the remainder is the sum of $19,823.55, which is the real balance of general fund on hand.

I have estimated the receipts to the treasury on account of the general fund for the ensuing term ending September 30, 1881, to be the sum of $2,077,575.00, an amount reached after a careful review of the previous financial history of the state, and my experience therewith, which I deem as nearly accurate as possible for estimates of such character to be. These are necessarily based upon the laws as now in force, and unless radical change be made therein, no material increase upon the total estimate can be expected. As has been correctly stated, taxes have been generally better paid during the last term than previously, and as a consequence, the delinquent lists are much less in aggregate.

In my last report, it was shown that the delinquent state tax for all years, due on first of June, 1877, was the sum of $332,483.99, of which sixty per cent was for the year 1876 alone. The whole amount of the delinquent list, state taxes, to June first of the present year, was but $315,445.81, although it comprises two more years than are included in the previous report. Of this aggregate about sixty per cent is for the tax of the last year, sixteen per cent for the years 1877 and 1876, and the residue for 1875 and all previous years.

No reliance can be placed upon collections upon the last named lists. Experience proves, that after the lapse of three years from the date the tax becomes delinquent, the prospect for collection thereof is remote; indeed, too inconsiderable for dependence. It is, presumably true that treasurers have performed their duty, and when the taxes due were a lien upon real estate, it has been sold as the law requires: and therefore that the delinquent lists, of three years' or more standing, represent in most part the taxes levied upon personality assessments alone, which after that time has elapsed, are almost entirely uncollectible.

Of the balance, that due for the years 1876-7 and 1878, I estimate that at least thirty-five per cent will prove a total loss, while the collections of the remainder will be extended through and beyond the biennial period now commenced.

The statements appended hereto, showing separately the levies for the past two years, as originally made, the additions by subsequent assessments, and the collections thereof, substantiating the above, will be found interesting, and I trust will receive serious attention.

Again, in the report of two years since, the balances due from the counties on account of insane expenses was stated to be $121,607.26; for clothing furnished the pupils in the college for the blind, $3,933.15; for clothing for the deaf and dumb, $1,132.47; and for expenses of orphan children, $2,446.32; a total sum due of $129,119.20. The several amounts due at this date are as follows, as shown by the detailed statement hereafter given, viz:

Insane hospital expenses due.....	$ 75,224.24
Clothing for the blind.....	3,057.01
Clothing for deaf and dumb.....	613.89
Expenses of children at Orphans' Home	2,956.50
Total due.....	$ 81,851.64

Being nearly $50,000 less than for the same items due at the beginning of the term.

It will thus readily be seen that the sums likely to be realized from the delinquent tax lists, of more than one year's standing, and from the other sources named, are comparatively small, and little reliance can be placed respecting the same. Hence, in estimating the probable receipts to the treasury, from the tax levies made and to be made, and from the other items, regard has been had to all these facts, and the aggregate amount stated is believed to be the utmost probably receivable from these sources.

The estimates for the expenditures for the two years ending September 30, 1881, I have placed at the sum of two millions, thirty-nine thousand, five hundred and eighty dollars ($2,039,580.00), being $37,995 less than the probable receipts. This is inclusive of the amount necessary to redeem the war and defense bonds of 1861, amounting to $300,000, the whole of which mature on the first day of July, 1881, and for payment of which provision must be made in the tax levy of 1880, for the reason that the levy for 1881 cannot be made available until long after these bonds have become due.

Should it be deemed advisable to levy a tax for the payment of the war bonds, the per centum of levy should not be less than one mill upon the entire valuation of the state for next year, from which sufficient would doubtless be realized to redeem the bonds at the time the same become payable; and the small residue, when thereafter collected, can be converted into the general fund. In my judgment, a special levy as above will be found the best, with provision for the disposition of the surplus, as suggested; otherwise no special appropriations can be made for improvements at our various state institutions, and we would also find ourselves, at the close of the term, with a large amount of warrants outstanding beyond the ability of the state to pay, thus leaving a legacy of debt to be provided for during the ensuing fiscal period. If, therefore, a special levy be made, and I earnestly recommend that it be special, in order that every tax payer may thus know the reason for the increase of his state tax, it will be found imperative to make the rate at one mill, because at the time of the maturity of the bonds, only three-fourths of the levy of 1880 will have been collected, and it will require fully seventy-five per cent of a one mill tax to make the payment.

The suggestion has been made by many that the legislature may lawfully authorize the refunding of these war obligations in a new bond bearing a lower rate of interest, and by extending the time of payment, say for ten or twenty years, it would scarcely be noticed, in view of the rapid advancement the state is now making in every material respect. While it may be true that such a course would be within the constitutional powers possessed by the general assembly, and if so, I am clear in opinion that a non-taxable refunding bond could readily be sold even at so low a rate of interest as four per cent, I yet doubt the wisdom of such action, believing it for the best interest of the state to submit to the small increase of tax required, and thus secure the entire extinguishment of the debt, rather than to extend time of payment even at the low rate of interest mentioned.

If the plan above outlined be adopted, it will leave a surplus of about the sum of $337,995.00 subject to the special appropriations of the general assembly, within which all such appropriations must be limited, otherwise state warrants will be indorsed for interest, and large interest payments be inevitable. Even then the amounts which may be drawn from the treasury must be limited, by apportionment for each year of the term, in order to secure an equitable division of funds among all the subjects of legislative appropriation. No funds should be withdrawn from the treasury until required for actual use, and the maximum amount which may be drawn at any one time being fixed, the sum drawn should be accounted for in proper vouchers, before any additional warrants could issue. I am of opinion that duplicate vouchers should be required to be taken for all expenditures of state funds, whether by state institutions or otherwise; and that one of these should be filed in the office of the auditor of state. This is not now the case with all of our institutions.

The law makes it the duty of the auditor of state to suggest to the general assembly plans for the improvement and management of the public revenue and property. To this end, I have heretofore directed attention to various matters connected with the general subject, which I conceived of public benefit, and which, if adopted, would unquestionably tend to public advantage. Prominent among them was the

which has not generally been made strictly in accordance with law, inasmuch as the law requires assessments shall be based upon true cash values, but which, through sanction of a custom which has obtained throughout the state for a long series of years, has been upon less than one-half, and quite frequently not more than one-third, the real valuation. I have heretofore believed, and yet hold to the opinion, that if the law was adhered to, it would be better for the people than the pernicious custom which now prevails; an opinion, which I am gratified to know, is shared very generally by those who have given study to the subject, and especially by officers who have had practical experience therewith.

No additional legislation, however, is necessary, the law now being sufficiently explicit. We have only patiently to wait the time, sure to come, when after free and full discussion of the whole subject, the quickened public conscience will demand a more rigid adherence to the letter of the law, which would inevitably tend to a more equal distribution of the public burden.

When once it becomes thoroughly understood that legal valuations do not necessarily mean an increase of taxes, there will be little difficulty in enforcing the statutory requirements. An increase in valuations relates only to the per centum of levy; the rate being reduced in proportion as the valuations advance; and ought not, nor would not, in the hands of honest and efficient boards, operate to swell the volume of taxes. It is easy to see that real estate cannot escape taxation, and that through the intervention of the several boards of equalization the same is as nearly equitably distributed as possible; in fact, an examination of the record shows that the relative values of the counties are substantially correct, and no cause for complaint exists. The most serious injustice, however, is in the assessments of in respect to which greatest irregularity prevails. Not only is it true that the valuations of the same class of property in even adjoining counties assume the widest range, but it is also conspicuously true that not even the half of the personality is assessed at all! And this, not through the fault or connivance of the assessor, but because the owners do not report it, and by reason of the peculiar character of much of this property, it is impossible for the most diligent assessor to ascertain its nature or value.

The following statement shows the aggregate of all the personal property assessments in the state for the years named, being the same in which the realty was also valued:

Total personality, 1871.....	$75,201,885
Total personality, 1873.....	71,683,367
Total personality, 1875.....	79,032,896
Total personality, 1877.....	79,971,680
Total personality, 1879.....	79,618,995

That is to say, the valuation for the present year is but $586,099 more than for four years ago, and less by the sum of $352,685 than two years since; notwithstanding the fact, which all concede, that the last few years have witnessed an astonishing advancement in the material growth of the state. Nor is this all. An examination of the assessment rolls shows that the entire valuations of the personality, is but a trifle more than one-fourth of the real estate. No pretense can be made that these relative values are even approximately correct; and the injustice done the general public, and especially the owners of real estate, is readily apparent. There is a wrong here which needs correction. So long as taxation is necessary to the maintenance of government, it is the natural desire of every citizen that it be made to rest equally upon the people. The holder of real estate, however insignificant in value, is compelled to contribute to the payment of public expenses; there is no opportunity for escape. Why not the fortunate possessor of personality?

To remedy this matter, I recommended the last general assembly to so amend the law that each tax payer be required to state, on a printed blank to be furnished him, a list of his personal estate, subscribed by himself, from which the assessor should deduct the legal exemptions, and placing a proper valuation upon the residue, enter the sum thereof upon his books for taxation. Subsequent reflection, and consultation with citizens and tax payers in all parts of the state, has tended to confirm the opinion, that legislation of some such general character is needed in order to preserve a proper equilibrium among the tax payers, and I am satisfied would result in a large increase to the tax lists, and thus contribute to a reduction of the rate of tax levies. No citizen can object to any plan for the improvement of the public revenue, and if it shall be found on consideration of this subject, that it would tend to the general advantage, the law-making power cannot hesitate to inaugurate such real reform.

I am satisfied, also, that the law needs amendment respecting the office of assessor, and the time within which he is required to perform the duties of his office. At present, he is expected to commence his work on the third Monday in January, and must complete the same by the first Monday in April. In our larger cities, this is absolutely impossible, especially in those years when realty is valued, and where the assessor in the conscientious discharge of his duty desires personal acquaintance with the property he undertakes to assess. The time is much too short for thorough examination of the thousands of separate and valuable parcels, and the result is that either the work is delayed beyond the allotted time, thus causing inconvenience to boards of equalization, or the rolls are returned in an unfinished and unsatisfactory condition, to the mutual annoyance of both assessor and assessed.

The law now requires the plat-book to be delivered to the assessor on or before the 15th of January, just in time to enable him to begin, as above stated. If the law authorized real estate assessments to be commenced at an earlier date, say on the 15th of November, it would afford ample time for a careful assessment and careful comparison of values, which would result much better than as at present obtained. Such a provision need not apply except as to cities of ten thousand or more inhabitants, and then only in the year when realty is subject to assessment. In such case, provision must be made authorizing the assessor to enter upon his office immediately after his election. I am clearly of opinion, too, that the term of office of the assessor should be extended to comprise at least two years of service, as is the case with the great majority of public officers, and so adjusting the time of his election that his first year should be that in which personality is alone assessed, thus preparing him for the graver duties of the year when the real estate must also be valued. The office is one of the most important in our whole system, and I should like to see it so advanced, both as to duration and compensation, that it would command an improved business talent.

Immediately connected with this general subject of valuations, is the kindred one of taxation, and I cannot refrain from again directing attention to the propriety of so amending the law, that may be permitted, at the option of the citizen. The law imposes heavy penalties upon delinquent tax payers, and even goes so far as to compel a sale of real estate in cases where the taxes levied thereon, or upon personalty owned by the same party, are not paid within the time fixed by statute. Notwithstanding these heavy penalties, each year witnesses large sales both of real estate and personal property, in satisfaction of tax liens, thus adding further costs to an amount already too large for the delinquent to pay. There can be but one cause for this, and that in the majority of cases because the party is absolutely unable to pay his taxes when due. If, at his option, he could pay one-half the amount at the time taxes become delinquent under the present law, and the remainder by the first of September, without interest or penalty, I am satisfied the annual tax sales would be reduced more than one-half in amount, and the costs required of the willing, but unfortunate tax payer, decrease in like proportion.

Under such a system the public treasuries would not be filled to overflowing with funds, a large portion of which must there remain absolutely idle for half the year, but instead, large amounts would remain in the hands of the people, employed in active business, and thus doing public service, while the amounts collected would be amply sufficient to satisfy all the ordinary demands of government.

Again, it is undeniably true, that in nearly every case of misappropriation of public funds, it has been upon a full treasury, where the belief was reasonably cherished that a large, uncalled-for balance could be expected to be held, and therefore little risk incurred in using a portion thereof; and yet, owing to untoward circumstances, the amount could not be replaced when required, and a defalcation actually occurred, when nothing of that nature was originally intended or feared. With semi-annual payments of taxes, and consequently less amounts in the hands of public officers, the inducements to use the same would be greatly diminished, the losses become trivial, and the community spared the mortification attendant upon every such violation of trust.

There would be some additional expense incurred in the preparation of tax lists, and in the collection of taxes, under such an improved system; but the increase would be small indeed, and in no respect to be compared to the advantages which would result therefrom. I am convinced the plan has real merit, having been in vogue in other states for a long period of years and yet growing in popular favor, and cannot but commend itself to every one who will bestow upon it careful and patient examination.

During the last three years, more than hitherto, the general subject of the revenue, especially that of the assessment of property and collection of taxes, has engaged much of public attention, and elicited serious and intelligent discussion, whereat every good citizen should be heartily rejoiced. The necessity for changes in the law respecting the same, more in keeping with the rapid advancement of the state, is becoming more clearly apparent, and the time is not far distant when certain modifications will be imperative. In order, therefore, that the whole subject shall receive that studious attention its great importance demands, and that legislation thereon shall be had only after mature deliberation, I respectfully suggest the advisability of a commission of competent and experienced citizens who shall undertake an examination of these subjects, and report their conclusions to the succeeding general assembly. In no other way can these questions receive as thorough consideration, and their findings, if approved by the general assembly, would go far towards the settlement of public opinion touching these important matters.

THE MILITARY.

Chapter 147 of the Acts of 1878, required the auditor of state to make payment to certain of the state militia which had been ordered into service in anticipation of threatened riots, and appropriated four thousand dollars for that purpose. Under this authority, the sum appropriated was used, as far as it would reach, in settlement of those claims, but it was insufficient to pay all the companies entitled. Therefore, as required by law in all cases where a just claim was presented for which no appropriation existed, I certified the pay-rolls of the following companies, viz:

Battery C, 1st, Regiment.....	Capt. W. H. Hess.....	Clinton.
Company D, 4th Regiment.....	Capt. Theo. Brown.....	McGregor.
Company I, 4th Regiment.....	Capt. F. C. Merrill.....	Jasper.
Company A, 5th Regiment.....	Capt. J. Fleming.....	Ottumwa.
Company D, 5th Regiment.....	Capt. S. C. Farmer, Jr....	Fairfield.
Company B, 7th Regiment.....	Capt. G. Haverling.....	Le Mars.

These several certificates were made on the 26th day of October, 1878, and on presentation thereof to the general assembly appropriations should be made in satisfaction of the same.

The amount appropriated to carry into active effect the provisions of

was five thousand dollars, which has proved sufficient to this date, and there yet remains undrawn the sum of $1,080.96, the whole of which will doubtless be required before the close of the appropriation year. It should be borne in mind, however, that at the time of the passage of the act, the militia of the state was comparatively unorganized, and in the short time which has elapsed a thorough enrollment has been impossible. I am advised by officers cognizant of the facts, that the mustering in of new companies is progressing constantly, and that large additions to the force have been made, and more expected. Again, while the law contemplates an annual drill of the guard, and provides a meagre compensation therefor, no such parades have yet been held, and no payments required. If, therefore, the reasonable expectations of the officers are realized, and the service made effective, as it should be, the expenditures on that account will necessarily be increased. In this view, I have estimated the total expenses for the biennial term at twenty thousand dollars, an amount none too large, and almost certain to be required, if due consideration be given the importance of this subject. If the militia are to be maintained at all, let it be well done, and in a manner creditable to the state, as well as honorable to the service.

The suggestions in my former report relative to the assessment and taxation of which were embodied into a law, have proved beneficial, and the law adequate to the purpose. The taxes levied have been three per cent upon the valuation as fixed by the executive council, which have been promptly paid directly into the state treasury. No change in the law is advised. The provisions of that statute might well be adopted in relation to the taxation of

for the expenses incident to the maintenance of the railroad commission. Under the present law, a vast amount of circumlocution attends the recovery of these expenses, which can easily be avoided. The commissioners now certify to the executive council the expenses of the commission, and the council apportions the same among the different railroads in the state, in proportion to the number of miles of each company in each county, which is thereupon certified to the proper counties. The tax thus certified, when paid into the county treasury, must be kept as a separate fund, distinct from the ordinary tax collections, and as such paid into the state treasury, and there maintained separately, subject to the drafts authorized by law.

I suggest the law be so amended, that the taxes as apportioned among the several companies, shall be paid directly into the state treasury, the same as the taxes levied upon telegraph property, and thus relieve the auditors and treasurers of counties of a troublesome and unnecessary matter. No good reason can be urged for a continuance of the present circuitous method of collecting these taxes, but on the contrary, every consideration is favorable to a change, as outlined above.

THE SESSION LAWS AND CODE.

The act passed at the last session, changing the manner of distribution of the laws, has received the hearty commendations of all officers having such duties to perform. The books now remain in the custody of the secretary of state until required for actual use, losses and depreciations are avoided, and the accounts thereof between the counties and the state so simplified that future complications are impossible.

In this connection permit me to call attention to the fact, that the edition of the Code is nearly exhausted, and the state is unable longer to furnish all those for which requisition is made. To meet the requirements of public officers, and the people as well, it is necessary that a new edition be ordered at once. Even then, before the reprint can be ready for delivery, the stock now in hand will have been entirely exhausted. My opinion is, that in the present exigency, a new codification of the laws would be opportune, and be hailed with real satisfaction throughout the state. The expense could not be very heavy, and would add but little to the amount required for a reprint of the Code, whereas the advantages of codification are readily apparent.

THE ORPHANS' HOME.

In the report of two years since, it was estimated that the expense of maintaining the soldiers' orphans for the ensuing term would be $24,000, based upon the experience of previous years as to the natural decrease of children in attendance at the home; that amount being largely less than the expenditures for the same purpose during the previous biennial period. The sum actually expended has been $24,449.97.

In the estimates now submitted, I have placed the probable average attendance at eighty—a number which is likely to be maintained throughout the term; and if so, the law remaining as heretofore, the expenditures will reach the sum stated in the appropriate table.

The law authorizing the trustees to receive orphan children other than those of soldiers, has not been taken advantage of to the extent that was expected. The average attendance for the past two years has been but forty-two, whereas, in the report for 1877, the calculation as to expenses was based upon an average attendance of one hundred; and even then it was believed by many familiar with the large number of orphans in the state that the estimate was too small. The present law allows ten dollars per month for the support of each orphan, and requires that the amounts shall be charged back to those counties having wards at the home. Here is the difficulty in the whole matter. Many boards of supervisors hold the opinion that such orphans can be supported cheaper at home, and in far too many cases the children are sent to the county poor houses; therefore, the attendance at the home is exceedingly limited. This is not as it should be. The state has a solemn duty to perform in this respect, and should provide for the comfortable support of the orphans committed to its care, precisely as for many of its other wards; and if that feature of the law, the charge to the counties, was abandoned, I am confident such action by the legislature would be immediately followed by numerous accessions to the roll of children at the home, where they would be much better cared for than in the great majority of the county houses throughout the state. There is no good reason why the county should be held to payment for the support of an orphan child, and released from responsibility for the maintenance of a pupil in the college for the blind, or in the asylum for the feeble-minded, or at the soldiers' home itself. Indeed, I have ever been of opinion that the expenses of all such classes, including the patients in the hospitals for the insane, should be borne by the state at large, without re-charge to the counties, and recourse had only upon the estates of the pupil or patient, or upon their relatives, where they are able to make return for these advancements. As a general proposition the county poor houses are not the best places to which to consign the youth of the state; and if the law was amended as indicated, I am convinced the result would be a considerable increase in the attendance at the home, to the undoubted advantage of the children themselves, and a consequent dismissal of the same number from county control.

THE HOSPITALS FOR THE INSANE.

The expense attending the support of the patients in the two insane hospitals for the two years just ended has been $311,328.01, an amount considerably less than was estimated, and is attributable to two principal causes. First, the reduction of one-fifth in the monthly allowance ordered by the last general assembly, whereby but sixteen dollars per month has been paid for each public patient, instead of twenty dollars as theretofore; and, second, the withdrawal of large numbers of patients, supported at public charge, and their confinement in county asylums and poor houses. The trustees have also been compelled to order some discharges, to make room for recent and violent cases. For these, with doubtless other reasons equally good, the expenditures have been less than was anticipated.

The average attendance of patients at both hospitals for the two years has been 912. With the increased accommodations about to be afforded at Independence, it is believed the total number of patients will be considerably increased during the ensuing term; and the estimated expenditures necessary for their support has been based upon an average attendance ten per cent greater than the number now under treatment, which cannot be considered an extravagant or unlikely increase.

The total amount of these expenses charged back to the counties for the biennial period was the sum of $388,735.52.

The whole sum paid into the treasury by the several counties has been $262,093.44, and the whole amount of that fund yet in the hands of county treasurers, but belonging to the state, is $25,918.26.

INSURANCE.

The number of insurance companies authorized to do business in the state remains substantially the same as at the date of the last insurance report, April 1st, 1879. Complete lists of their names and locations are hereinafter given. No failures of any of these have occurred during the biennial term, and the people have been furnished with reliable indemnity at probably reasonable rates.

The department receives occasional information that agents of other companies, not admitted to the state, make frequent hurried visits into the country, securing more or less of insurance, and then beat a hasty retreat, lest they fall into the hands of the officers of the law, and receive that just measure of punishment such cowardice and knavery deserves; and the poor dupe who has been inveigled by them, finds out when too late, that he has been cheated, his money gone into the pockets of adventurers, and his insurance the veriest fraud, because issued by companies which are unable to comply with the reasonable requirements of our statute. The only safe way is for the citizen to demand the authority of the agent, and if he has none, refuse his confidence. The law requires every agent shall be supplied with a certificate of authority from this office, which must be renewed annually; and if he has such, it is evidence that the company he represents has made full compliance with the requirements of the Iowa law, and is presumably entitled to public confidence.

Whether or not further legislation is needed in relation to the general subject is for the wisdom of the general assembly to determine. Complaints, frequently well founded, but quite as often otherwise, are of common occurrence in insurance, the same as in all other kinds of business. Disputes will arise, especially in case of loss, between insurer and assured, as to the liabilities of the parties under the contract which, unless otherwise satisfactorily adjusted, must necessarily be referred to the arbitrament of the courts, the common forum for the settlement of all legal disagreements. Manifestly, it is impossible for laws, general in their nature, to undertake the regulation of every particular question, which may arise even under their own operation, or the conducting vast and varied business interests. This is especially true in reference to insurance, which has grown into really large proportions, and in respect to which so much of the material interests of the state are centered. In late years it has become quite common to propose legislation touching this subject, variously intended for the advantage of the companies, and again designed for their injury in certain regards.

I trust no hasty legislation will be had, but that deliberate and careful consideration be given the entire matter, to the end that while the companies shall be protected in the enjoyment of every right and reasonable privilege, the interests of the public may also be secure against imposition and extortion.

THE STATE BANKS.

The supervision of those banking associations incorporated under state law is committed to the auditor of state, who is authorized, as often as he may deem proper, to make an examination into their condition, or may, at his option, call for a report of their state and business, not to exceed however, four times in any one year.

This requirement of the statute has been strictly followed, and both examinations had and reports made, in conformity with law; the last showing of condition having been on the 27th day of September, 1879, which has been tabulated and is published herewith, and to which the attention of the general assembly, and public, is earnestly invited.

At the date of my last report, the whole number of these institutions was fifty-one, twenty of which were savings banks operating under the act of the 15th general assembly, and thirty-one which had been organized under the general incorporation law. The aggregate of their capital at that time (September 1st, 1877) was $2,376,152.54, divided as follows: Savings banks, $792,500; other banks, $1,583,652.54; and the total assets reported was the sum of $7,091,272.60, to-wit: Savings banks, $3,790,063.15; other banks, $3,301,209.45.

Since that date one of the savings banks—the Mahaska County—has voluntarily retired, and been converted into a national bank; and one new one—the Grinnell Savings—has been organized, the number remaining as heretofore.

Among the state banks three have also voluntarily ceased business, viz: Farmers' and Merchants', of Lineville, the Moulton, of Moulton, and the Union Bank of Cedar Rapids. The following new banks have been organized and certified: Capital City, of Des Moines; Citizens', of Centerville; Farmers' & Traders', of Oskaloosa; Monroe County, of Albia; and Union, of Wilton; thus making a net gain of two since last report. Applications are also on file for the organization of two additional ones, which will doubtless be approved as soon as proper examination can be made of their capital.

The whole amount of paid up capital possessed by the fifty-three banks is now reported as $2,321,605.12, and the grand aggregate of assets shown to be the sum of $7,944,813.32, an increase of $853,540.72 during the biennial period. No failures of any character have occurred, and the fact that the business of these associations has advanced to this large extent proves them to be firmly established in public confidence. During the term careful examinations were made into the standing and business of all these banks, in which I was ably assisted by Hon. Louis Case, U. S. Bank Examiner, Hon. B. F. Elbert, of Albia, and W. A. McGrew, Esq., of Ottumwa, all of whom are thorough accountants, and familiar with such business; the results of which were satisfactory to the department, and creditable to the banks themselves. Altogether, their business seemed to be conducted in a manner conducive to the integrity of these much-needed institutions.

The Savings Bank Act has now been in successful operation for five years and seems to meet every reasonable requirement to insure safety and stability to banks organized thereunder; and if some of the provisions of that act were extended to banks operating under the general law, it would be better for all concerned.

I again renew the suggestion made in my former report, that in view of the peculiar relation of banker and depositor, it would be well to require all persons engaged in such business, where deposits of funds are solicited and representations of solvency made, to make occasional reports of condition, that through the same the public may be able to determine the degree of confidence which might safely be extended to such bank or banker.

THE SCHOOL FUND.

The aggregate of the Permanent School Fund has been increased during the biennial term in the sum of $25,325.78, from the following sources, viz:

By sales of school lands in counties	$ 16,788.41
By re-sales of foreclosed contract lands.....	8,456.50
By estates, escheated to the state.....	1,223.34
	<hr/>
	$ 26,468.25
Deduct lands bid in on contract foreclosure	1,142.47

The grand total reaches the sum of three million, four hundred and eighty-four thousand, four hundred and eleven dollars and eighteen cents ($3,484,411.18), all of which, save the sum of $8,561.65, is interest bearing. The amount held in the counties, subject to loan, is $3,221,402.93, having been increased within the two years as shown above. The interest upon this sum at eight per cent is semi-annually apportioned to all the school districts in the state, in proportion to the number of persons therein between the ages of five and twenty-one years, and during the present fiscal term amounted to $560,231.88, inclusive of interest on state and Eads' loans, being an annual average of fifty cents to each individual as above. Full statements of the several semi-annual apportionments are hereafter given.

Under the present law the counties are held to payment of interest on the amount of fund in each county at the rate of eight per cent annually, regardless of the fact of their collections, which serves to compel promptness on the part of the county authorities. I am glad to be able to state, that in this respect the requirements of the law have been quite fully met, and the amount of delinquent interest is small indeed.

The amount of the permanent fund mentioned above as non-interest bearing is made up of the following items, viz:

Cash in state treasury, not apportioned.....	$ 2,226.65
Estimated real estate from Eads' foreclosures	6,335.00

The fund will also be further increased on sale of the school lands held by the state, of which there is yet considerable quantity. All this property is believed to be readily saleable, except a portion of the "Eads" realty, for which no offers have been made for many years. The tables appended to this report show the exact amount of the fund invested in each county, to which attention is respectfully directed.

Heretofore, and until within the last two years, no difficulty has been experienced in readily loaning out the fund to the people at the statutory rate of interest—ten per cent. Latterly, however, the opportunities therefor are becoming somewhat infrequent, owing to the fact that money can be elsewhere obtained at a lower rate of interest. In many of the counties it is impossible to make further loans, and the auditors thereof are notifying me to transfer their surplus under the provisions of Sec. 1883 of the Code, but which I have not been able to do save in a few cases, because no others seem to require it.

Inasmuch as it is not desirable to have any considerable portion of this fund remain idle in the hands of the counties, of which there seems to be present danger, I suggest, for consideration by the general assembly, whether or not it would be advisable to reduce the rate of interest, charging the counties seven per cent, and authorizing loans to the people at eight. The difference to the state would be but one per cent, and the one per cent of surplus would amply compensate the counties for the trouble and expense of caring for the fund, while the reduction to the borrowers would be two per cent. This done, in my judgment the entire amount can be constantly at interest.

No losses have been reported to me, and so far as my knowledge extends, none have occurred; for which gratifying fact, the State is indebted in largest degree to the painstaking care of the county auditors, who are charged with the general care of the fund and assume the responsibility thereof; but who in addition to the various other exacting duties of their offices, have yet managed to bestow careful and safe attention to this great trust. With the single exception named, of inability to loan the entire aggregate, the fund is in most excellent and satisfactory condition.

BUREN R. SHERMAN,

Auditor of State.
