REPORT OF THE ADJUTANT GENERAL

Subsequent to my last report, which covered the activities of this department up to and including June 30th, 1920, many of the problems then facing us have been solved and I can now say that the machinery of this department is functioning smoothly and efficiently. The various department heads and employees are more familiar with their duties and the experiences of the past two years have placed us all in a position to meet the requirements of the Federal Government, with a minimum of lost motion.

ACTIVITIES OF THE MILITARY DEPARTMENT

The past two years have been extremely successful in recruiting and the organization of new units. My last report showed the Guard as consisting of:

- 1 Complete Regiment of Infantry
- 10 Separate Companies of Infantry
- 8 Separate Troops of Cavalry
- 1 Battery of Field Artillery

This totals to a strength of:

- 2 Staff Officers
- 80 Line Officers
- 1,912 Enlisted Men

- 1,994 Total

These troops were stationed in sixteen cities and towns in the state.

On June 30, 1922, two years later, the Guard had increased to the following:

- 1 Brigade Headquarters
- 1 Brigade of Infantry (2 Regiments)
- 1 Regiment of Cavalry
- 1 Battalion of Artillery (2 Batteries Motorized)
- 1 Battery of Artillery (Motorized)
- 1 Ambulance Company (Motorized)
- 1 Quartermaster Detachment

This will total to a strength of approximately:

- State Staff Officers..... 9
- Brigade Headquarters..... 6

Considerable confusion and dissatisfaction has resulted from the changing policy of the War Department in its relation to the National Guard, the most injurious being the changes in pay roll forms, the unexplained delay in shipment of supplies, the changes in tables of organization, and the excessive demands of the War Department on individual officers.

In the matter of pay rolls, there have been three changes made in the past two years, which has caused delay in the preparation, and the natural consequences of finding errors and discrepancies, due to the lack of familiarity with the new forms, all of which has delayed payment.

The delay in shipment of supplies, seems to be beyond the powers of the War Department to explain, let alone, correct. This department places requisitions for necessary supplies, equipment, etc., and weeks go by, without any results, follow-ups are made, and no results. This matter has been taken up by letter, personally, and at various conferences in Washington, D. C., and Omaha, Nebraska.

and assurance has been given that conditions would be improved. We continue to suffer from the lack of cooperation.

The changes in tables of organization and equipment have caused this department a great deal of additional work, but we have accomplished the requirements as indicated by the War Department, without much dissatisfaction.

The demands made on the time of the officers of the Guard is, in the majority of cases, beyond what should be expected of men who can devote only a limited amount of time to their military duty. All officers of the Guard have a living to make first, their military service is in consequence, secondary, but it is required that they train their unit, conduct officers and non-commissioned officers schools, perform the administrative duties in connection with their unit, which demands the preparation and completion of an endless amount of paper work, and in addition, subject themselves to a rather strenuous correspondence school. They also must attend at least once a year, an officers' school, and the annual encampment. Much of this work could be lifted from their shoulders, were it possible for the War Department to detail sufficient Regular Army officers and enlisted men to the Guard for that purpose.

LEGISLATION

The 39th General Assembly was extremely sympathetic to the requirements of the Guard, and passed some very beneficial and constructive legislation. One very necessary and economical measure did not secure their favorable consideration. I refer to the question of State-owned armories. Under the present law, this department makes to each unit of the Guard, an Armory Allowance, which allowance is fixed by an Armory Board appointed by the Governor. Each unit is required to rent a building which will come within the amount fixed by the board, and which will meet certain requirements as to size, storage facilities for Government property, and rooms for drill, assembly, baths and toilets. Every city or town cannot furnish a building which would be adequate, consequently the unit must take what is available and remodel to suit.

This department is now paying out funds for Armory allowance for which the state receives no permanent benefit, except actual housing facilities. The amounts thus paid could be saved the state, if some provision were made to erect state-owned armories for each unit, and maintain same. With this thought in mind, it is suggested that a law be passed, and funds provided which will permit the erection of armories in cities or towns where arrangements can be made for the city or town to provide the building site, deed it to the state, and the state erect an armory building, costing not in excess of a certain given amount. Should the community desire or require a building costing more than the amount decided upon, any amount over the maximum allowed to be borne equally by the state and the community. In either event, the title to the property to be in the state.

RECOMMENDATIONS

CHANGES IN MILITARY CODE

It is recommended that all that part of Section 299, beginning with the words, "The Assessors," in the eighth line from the top and ending with the word "list" in the third line from the bottom, be repealed.

That the second sentence in Section 300 be repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"In this chapter, the word 'soldier' shall include all persons enlisted in the guard, or in the militia when called into service; the words, 'warrant officer' shall include those persons so designated by law or regulation; the word 'officer' shall include all persons holding a commission from the governor or other legally constituted authority; whenever the word 'company' is used in this chapter, it will be understood to apply with equal force to a troop, battery, or other unit or detachment similar to a company in organization or administration."

In Section 301, that after the word "governor" in the last line, the clause, "or other legally constituted authority," be added.

In Section 302, change the word "specified" in line two, to "required," and the first word "or" in last line, to the word "and."

Section 304, be amended by adding after the word "guard" in the third line, "and the expenditure of guard appropriations in the state of Iowa."

That Sections 306 and 307 be repealed.

That Section 308, be amended by striking out the word, "hereafter" in the first line, and changing the last word in line four to "and," and the word "or" in the ninth line to "and," and that the second and third sentences be stricken from the section.

That the word "shall" in the twelfth line of Section 309, be changed to "may."

That the word, "specified" in the third line of Section 311, be changed to the word "required" and that following the word "governor" in the third line, be inserted "or War Department," and that the last word in line four be changed to the word "and."

That Section 1313-a1 be repealed.

That Section 328 be amended by inserting after the word "state" in thirteenth line "or for which the state is accountable," and that the following be added to the section:

"The said notice may be either verbal or in writing, such notice deposited in the United States Mail addressed to the last known address of such member of the guard, shall be considered as the notice herein contemplated."

That Section 331 be repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"Sec. 331. Marksmanship medals and Service badges.

The Adjutant General from the funds at his disposal shall procure and issue distinctive badges to the officers and men of the guard entitled thereto as follows:

1. Rifle and Pistol Marksmanship.
2. State Rifle Team.
3. Service Badges.

according to the designs and patterns thereof as may be determined upon by the adjutant general and kept on file at the office of the adjutant general. Members of the guard who by order of the president serve in federal forces during a national emergency shall be entitled to count the period of such federal service toward the procurement of a service badge."

That the word "or" in the fourth line of Section 332 be changed to "and."

That Section 336 be amended, by substituting after the word "of" in the second line, "three hundred thousand dollars," instead of "two hundred and sixty-five thousand."

It is recommended that the salary of the adjutant general be increased in proportion to the increased responsibilities and duties required by the dual position he holds under the National Defense Act.

HISTORY OF NEGOTIATION FOR PURCHASE OF CAMP DODGE BY STATE OF IOWA, ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT

The final purchase and transfer of all Government improvements on State owned land at Camp Dodge, has at last been completed, and the property referred to now belongs to the State of Iowa, permitting the Adjutant General's Department to proceed with the contemplated improvements which will convert the National Guard Reservation at Camp Dodge into the finest permanent Camp Grounds in the United States.

For a number of years previous to the entry of the United States into the World War in 1917, the Military Department of the State of Iowa, had been, under proper authority, purchasing land about eleven miles northwest of the city of Des Moines for the purpose of maintaining a permanent camp ground for the Iowa National Guard. This area so purchased was named Camp Dodge, in honor of General Grenville M. Dodge, Iowa's most distinguished soldier and citizen, to whom all military men loved to refer as one of the great military commanders of the War of the Rebellion.

On July, 1917, the state owned 570.66 acres, on this reservation, which had been improved to the extent that it was available for Annual Camps and Field Training for the guard. The improvements were more or less temporary, consisting mainly of mess halls and equipment, sectional tent floors, a small water system and wiring for electric lights. In addition two permanent brick and concrete warehouses were erected, one two stories and the other three stories in height, each equipped with electric elevators and heating plants.

When war was declared in 1917, the War Department selected Camp Dodge and immediate vicinity as the most suitable for a training camp to prepare men for service from the states of Nebraska, Minnesota, North and South Dakota, and Iowa. Governor W. L. Harding, then Governor of Iowa, in the name of the State, immediately offered the state land to the Federal Government for use in its program of training. The offer was accepted by the War Department, but the emergency was so great and the time so limited that no written evidence of the mutual desire of the State and the War Department was entered into. In addition to the land offered by the State, the War Department purchased approximately 2,100 acres and leased considerable more, north of State land.

In the development of Camp Dodge during 1917 and 1918, the War Department made no distinction in the erection of buildings, construction of roads, sewers, water mains, etc., as between land owned or leased by the United States and that owned by the State of Iowa; with the result that approximately 467 buildings of the 3,000 erected are on State owned land, and in addition thereto the million gallon concrete water tank, and outlets for sewer are on State owned land.

Camp Dodge cost the Government over eight millions of dollars to build. The original cost of the buildings alone on State property was approximately one million four hundred eighty thousand dollars, to which may be added the cost of paved roads, sewer system, water mains, and water supply, electrical wiring and equipment, side tracks, etc., which would bring the total original cost of Government improvements on State land well over two million dollars.

The Armistice was signed November 11, 1918, and in December, 1918, the Adjutant General, with the consent of the Governor, opened negotiations with the War Department relative to cover equitable settlement in connection with the occupancy of Camp Dodge by the Federal Government, and the return of State land and buildings to the jurisdiction of the Military Department of the State of Iowa.

Continued correspondence and conferences, which included proposals and counter proposals, were held by the Governor and the Adjutant General with offers from the several departments of the War Department at Washington, covering the period December, 1918, to December, 1920, without any definite results being obtained.

In January, 1921, the Adjutant General submitted an entire history of the case to Governor N. E. Kendall, and pointed out the necessity of something definite being done. The Governor immediately authorized a representative being sent to Washington with specific instructions to deal with the War Department toward a final agreement and settlement. This was done and resulted in the receipt of a proposal from the Quartermaster Department, War Department, in which it was agreed to turn over to the State of Iowa, all improvements erected by the Federal Government, on State owned land, at Camp Dodge, for the sum of $34,808.95. The State of Iowa agreeing to release the United States from any claim it might have of whatsoever kind or nature, due to the occupancy of State owned land and property by the War Department, and further agreed to maintain and operate the water system for the benefit of the United States or any prospective purchase of Federal land, on a cost plus basis.

The proposals were submitted to Governor Kendall, and met with his approval. However, to properly protect the State from any future questions as to the legality of the transaction, the Attorney General rendered an opinion relative thereto, favorable in its provisions, and in addition a bill was prepared and passed by the 39th General Assembly, which authorized the Adjutant General to enter into a contract with the United States Government operation and maintenance of water system. All papers were submitted to the Secretary of War and were approved by him. On May 5, 1921, the Adjutant General went to Washington to finally close all the details connected with the transfer, and after spending five days in reaching a final agreement, returned to Des Moines with a verbal promise that all papers would be forwarded within the following week. However nothing was forthcoming, and more correspondence resulted, supplemented by efforts on the part of Iowa's Senators and Congressmen, and finally by a personal effort on the part of the Governor while in Washington, but nothing definite was accomplished until February, 1922, when the Adjutant General received a contract from the Assistant Secretary of War. This contract was not acceptable as it did not co-ordinate with the original proposal submitted and agreed upon. Before it could be analyzed and rewritten, an officer of the Quartermaster Department came to Des Moines in March, 1922, and an agreement was reached whereby for an additional thousand dollars, the State of Iowa would receive title to all Government Improvements, including the Water Plant, and would not be in any way bound to furnish water to any outside parties.

During the time these negotiations have been under way, the Board of Officers appointed by the Governor have settled on a definite plan for future improvements of a permanent nature, and in addition have completed two very essential and necessary buildings and improvements. One of which is the swimming pool and bathing pavilion, and the other the Motor Transport building. The swimming pool is 350 feet long and 150 feet wide, all reinforced concrete. The bathing pavilion has shower baths, toilets, dressing and check rooms, and will accommodate nearly one thousand people a day.

It is contemplated opening the pool and pavilion to the public during the summer season, except during the month of August, when the troops will be encamped on the ground. Agreements are being made to place it under proper supervision which will insure 100% sanitary conditions, safeguarding against accidents, water test, and proper policing.

A charge consistent with the upkeep and maintenance during the months open to the public will be made.

The Adjutant General's Department is now preparing to dispose of the old buildings and equipment, which under recommendation of the Board of Officers will either be sold to the highest bidder, or by auction. The money derived will be used to begin the permanent barracks, etc.

IMPROVEMENTS

CONSTRUCTED AND UNDER CONSTRUCTION MOTOR TRANSPORT BUILDING

This building was erected for the purpose of properly housing and protecting the Motor Equipment issued to the National Guard of Iowa, by the Federal Government, and for which the State of Iowa is responsible and accountable. The building was completed and accepted by the Camp Dodge Board of Officers on November 7, 1921, and cost $41,376.24. The architects were Pearse, Robinson & Sprague, Des Moines, Iowa, and the contractor was John A. Benson Construction Company of Des Moines.

The dimensions are 320 ft. long, 110 ft. wide, constructed of steel, tile and brick, with galvanized steel roof, and is as nearly fire-proof as is possible to make.

SWIMMING POOL

This improvement is completed with the exception of final grading, roads and work of that description.

Pearse, Robinson & Sprague of Des Moines are the architects and Stark & Knotts, the contractors. The cost of the pool will be $33,102.00 plus extras and grading roads, etc. It is estimated the work completed will amount to nearly $50,000.00.

BATHING PAVILION

This building is nearly completed, and will be ready for the annual encampment this year. Pearse, Robinson and Sprague are the architects, and the following contractors are the low bidders:

Building—Sugarman Construction Company, Des Moines.

Plumbing—Walker Plumbing & Heating Company, Des Moines.

Electric Contract—Geo. Weitz & Sons, Des Moines.

The cost will be $26,825.00 plus extras not anticipated.

TREES AND SHRUBBERY

The Capitol City Nurseries were awarded this contract, and are to do the necessary work under the direction of the architects, Pearse, Robinson & Sprague.

The improvements enumerated above are necessary to care for Government property issued to the State, and to properly provide safe and sanitary recreation facilities for the troops while in camp each year.

The contemplated permanent improvements planned will eventually provide a permanent National Guard Camp Grounds and Reservation, which will be the finest in the United States, and will place the State of Iowa in the first rank in National Guard affairs.

With the approval of the Governor, and the Camp Dodge Board of Officers, this department entered into an agreement with the Des Moines Play Grounds Association, whereby the swimming pool would be operated by them during the period it was needed by the Guard, thus making it possible for the public to have the use of the pool at a nominal charge. The arrangements made relieved the State of any expense in connection with the operation of the pool. The Play Grounds Association assuming the entire overhead, such as electric power for pumping water, the employment of life guards, check room attendants, and all expense for purifying the water and keeping the pool clean and sanitary.

The Play Grounds Association is backed by and vouched for by:

CAMP DODGE FIRE

1. I have to report that at 9:20 the morning of January 6th, a serious explosion occurred in the North Arsenal Building owned by the State at Camp Dodge. The fire was confined to the basement and was under control shortly after its occurrence and entirely extinguished by 11:30 o'clock. One man, Charles Kinsey, the Assistant Storekeeper, was seriously burned.

2. Immediately upon receipt of message from the Superintendent of the Camp Grounds, reporting the occurrence, I notified Dr. Leir of this city, and also Dr. Smith, out near Camp Dodge, to immediately attend the injured man. I then, attended by Major Coe, went out to the scene of the fire.

3. On arrival, I at once went to see the injured man, and found Dr. Smith working over him, giving him first aid, and while he was suffering considerably, indications are that no serious results will follow. I instructed them to prepare him for immediate transfer to the hospital, and then I went to the scene of the fire and found a great deal of smoke, but owing to the construction of the building, it was almost impossible to discover the extent of the fire at that time. Our own fire department had two lines of hose into the basement, but did not seem to be able to control it, and it was thought advisable to send into Des Moines for one of their chemical engines, which they promptly sent out. Owing to the amount of water in the basement, which they are pumping out at this writing, it is impossible to indicate the amount of damage done. An inspection of the building shows that the force of the explosion destroyed the furnace and blew off some of the steel curtain doors at the loading platforms and in the elevator shaft.

4. As to the cause, investigation discloses that the warehouse force were cleaning and straightening up the building, preparatory to the annual inspection; Kinsey and three of the men were working in the basement and tucked away in a corner, Kinsey found an iron bucket, filled with what appeared to be shavings and trash, and he threw same into the furnace. The explosion would indicate that the bucket contained a high percentage of gunpowder. How long it had been there, it has been unable to determine, as no one has any recollection of there being any loose powder in any of the buildings. In fact, previous to the annual camp of instruction in August last, I had ordered all powder and explosives buried outside of the building.

5. At the conclusion of my inspection and investigation, I brought the injured man into the Mercy Hospital for examination and proper treatment. The doctors assure me that there is little danger of any permanent effects from the burns, as it is what they call a flash burn and did not penetrate to any great depth, but that it would take two or three days to determine whether his eyes had received any serious injury.

CONCLUSION

I desire to acknowledge my obligation and sincere appreciation to the members of the Board of Officers, and the Armory Board, for their untiring interest, practical advice, and valued assistance to me, in meeting the many problems connected with this department.

To my assistants and employees in the office and at the State Reservation, Camp Dodge, Iowa, I am deeply grateful for the loyal and faithful service they have rendered and the prompt and intelligent discharge of their duties.

My acknowledgments are due to Lt. Col. W. A. Cornell and Major Alfred Brandt of the United States Army, assigned to duty with this department. These officers have demonstrated their ability as officers and their untiring interest in the Guard and its progress in this State, has won them the confidence of this department, and the respect and admiration of the officers and enlisted men of the Guard.

To Lt. Col. Wilbur S. Conkling, Chief Surgeon, Iowa N. G., special mention is due, for the thought and time he has devoted to the problem of proper hospital and medical attention for the Guard during the Annual Camps. To his personal efforts and the efficiency of the organization he has perfected, is due the excellent health of the troops while in Camp.

I am under great obligations to the officers and men of the Guard for their loyal support during the trying reorganization period just passed.

LOUIS G. LASHER,
The Adjutant General.

REPORT WAR ROSTER COMMISSION

The activities of this department continue along the same lines as were indicated in my last report, and since that report, the records of Iowa Soldiers have been furnished steadily by the War Department. Unfortunately, the many errors found in the cards, continue to delay the final compilation of the records. The department is now beginning to receive the records of officers, for the first time, and it is hoped, now that Congress has appropriated sufficient money for the purpose, that the entire record will be completed in the near future. On July 28, 1921, all the War Roster moving picture films were placed in permanent metal case, and delivered to the Historical Department. These films consisted of:

168th Infantry—Review at Fair Grounds, 1917; Overseas Service; Home Coming.

Camp Dodge and 88th Division; Service on Mexican Border, 1916; Iowa Guardsmen at Camp Cody.

It is estimated that 15,000 service record cards have been returned to Washington for correction.

Fifty thousand (estimated) Victory Medal cards have been sorted and filed with the records.

Ten thousand seven hundred ninety-seven Navy record cards have been corrected, filed, indexed and statistics made.

One thousand fifty-seven Marine records have been corrected, filed, indexed and statistics made.

Two hundred thousand (estimated) card index, consisting of individual records written and filed alphabetically and by army organizations, as follows:

Divisions	Signal Corps
Air Service	Coast Artillery
Medical Departments	Depot Brigade
Ordnance Departments	S. A. T. C.
Quartermaster Corps	Miscellaneous

PATROLLING

When you are called to fill the roll
 Of leader of a small patrol,
 You seize your compass, notes and map,
 Receive your orders, touch your cap;
 With greatest care your men select,
 Their weapons, packs and belts inspect,
 Appoint a second in command,
 Explain to all how lies the land,
 And what your mission is to be,
 And where you seek the enemy,
 Whatever else you have to do,
 And where your men should rendezvous,
 And even though it costs you some delay,
 Be sure to have a man to get away,
 When all these little things are done,
 Your work, at last, may be begun.

Inform the outposts of your trip
 As softly from our lines you slip,
 Choosing a quick yet hidden route,
 That none may learn you are about,
 With stealthy glance to left and right,
 You hide or run, but seldom fight,
 To hostile scouts no time devote,
 For stronger forces, send a note,
 Push through your job without delay
 And join your chief another way,
 Avoiding thus the awful fate,
 Of one who get the "dope" too late.
 Such frequently feel just as small
 As those who get no "dope" at all.

REPORT OF CAMP INSTRUCTION IOWA NATIONAL GUARD—1920
Headquarters 4th Infantry, U. S. N. G. Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 10th, 1920.

The Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

1. Pursuant to G. O. No. 11, dated A. G. O. Des Moines, Iowa, July 20th, 1920, and G. O. No. 2, dated these headquarters July 26th, 1920, Companies A, D, E, F, K, L, M, Headquarters Company, Machine Gun Company and Supply Company, 4th Infantry; the 1st, 2nd, 3rd and 4th separate companies of Infantry; Troop F, 1st Cavalry; the Sanitary detachment commanded by Major Brackney and the Field and Staff officers of the 4th Infantry went into Camp at Storm Lake, Iowa, on August 9th, 1920; camp was broken and the organizations returned to their home stations on August 25th, 1920.

2. The camp was designated Camp McHenry in honor of Captain Harry C. McHenry, the first National Guard officer from the state of Iowa to lose his life in the world's war.

3. The 3rd separate company of Infantry stationed at Storm Lake and the Camp Commander and staff arrived in camp during the morning of August 7th, 1921, and immediately began the preparation of the camp for the troops. Much of the preliminary work had been done prior to this time.

4. The organizations arrived in camp on August 9th, in good time, but on account of failure of the Illinois Central R. R. to deliver their trains to the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul R. R., who had a station at Lake Side near the camp ground, all troops were required to march from Storm Lake to camp. The baggage, on account of the long haul from the city station was also delayed in reaching the companies, but camp was fully established before sundown of the opening day.

5. All organizations except the Supply Company reported in camp with at least the minimum strength as required by National Guard regulations. The total strength of the camp being 50 officers and 1,000 enlisted men. All officers holding commissions in any of the organizations being present.

6. Colonel Douglas Potts, Capt. N. B. Russell, Lt. Oliver E. Trechter, Lt. Harry T. Morgan, Lt. William Hutson, Lt. Mose K. Pigmon, Lt. Victor E. Biehm, all of the regular army, were detailed for duty in connection with the camp and were present during the entire tour of duty.

7. The camp ground was located in a blue grass pasture on Lake Side farm about three miles from the city of Storm Lake. It had a gradual slope toward the lake which was sufficient for drainage with the exception of one day when a hard rain fell. The lake afforded excellent bathing facilities, so near at hand that it was not necessary for the men to leave the confines of the camp to enjoy them. Water for the use of the camp was obtained from a large well at the Lake Side farm and was carried to the grounds and to each kitchen in pipes. It was of fine quality and after the first three days was of a sufficient quantity but on account of the pipes being near the surface of the ground, it was too warm for drinking purposes.

There was sufficient tentage for all and, being new, it provided proper shelter. The infantry organizations, however, were short large paulins, which could have been used in providing shelter for the men at meals had they been issued.

Drill and parade grounds were near at hand and of sufficient size to carry out the programme.

8. Garbage from the kitchens was separated into liquid and solid waste by straining and the solid waste was removed daily under a contract. This arrangement was not entirely satisfactory for the reason that the contractor removed it at his convenience and the available containers were frequently filled to over-flowing before the contents were removed. The liquid waste was poured into soakage pits at each kitchen, but all of these did not work satisfactorily on account of sheet water from the lake level being present in places at a depth of four feet. In some instances incinerators were constructed from rocks but the lack of a sufficient supply of wood prevented their general construction and use. The disposal of other garbage and wastes was carried on as outlined in Par. 7, Camp Order No. 1. It required the combined efforts of all in command to enforce the sanitary regulations of the camp for the first half of the camp period but after that time all seemed to get the spirit of a clean camp and the best results were obtained.

9. The discipline of the camp was excellent, the conduct of the enlisted men when outside the camp ground was excellent and many words of commendation were received on their gentlemanly demeanor at all times. Military courtesy was very good and failures in this respect were due to lack of instruction. This being the first camp of instruction held for the National Guard since the year 1915, it was considered that the entire personnel of the camp made a wonderful showing. All seemed eager to accomplish something and this spirit was commented upon generally by the regular army officers detailed for duty with the camp.

10. Range firing was conducted on a temporary constructed range about three miles from the camp ground. Troops were sent to the range by battalions. After all had received their range instruction, a company team match was arranged for Sunday, August 22nd. The results from the range firing were not satisfactory for the reason that the range was not ready at the proper time; was only of a temporary construction and rain caused a further delay so that all firing had to be rushed to completion.

11. A camp exchange was conducted during the tour of duty and a profit of $1,502.00 was made thereon. A great deal of the success of the exchange was due to the efficient work of Lt. Gaumer, exchange officer.

12. A field meet which included only military events was held on August 24th, as provided for in Bulletin No. 2.

13. I wish to take this opportunity of thanking Colonel Douglas Potts and other officers of the regular army on duty at the camp for the valuable assistance rendered and the instruction given. The officers of the camp were all serving in new positions and the instruction given by the officers from the regular establishment was appreciated. I also wish to thank the Adjutant General, Major Coe, and their assistants for the many courtesies extended and help rendered.

14. I submit herewith copies of all camp orders and General Order No. 2 from these headquarters and Bulletin No. 2.

Lloyd D. Ross, Lieut. Colonel 4th Infantry.

Headquarters 4th Infantry, U. S. N. G. Iowa.

General Order, No. 1.

The following Sanitary Regulations are published for the guidance of all concerned:

1. The Camp Surgeon. The Camp Surgeon is charged under the Camp Commander with the general conduct and supervision of the Medical Department of the camp in the performance of its duties. He is also charged with the supervision of the sanitation of the camp. He will keep a record of all inspections, recommendations and action taken to remedy defects and report sanitary defects directly to the local commander. All failures to remedy sanitary defects will be reported in writing to the Camp Commander.

2. Regimental Surgeon. The senior Medical Officer on duty with a regiment or separate unit will be the Sanitary Officer of the organization to which he is attached. He will inspect the camp area of his unit at least once daily, paying special attention to the cleanliness and sanitation of tents, camp police, prompt and efficient disposal of refuse, sanitary condition of kitchens, exchanges, mess tents, latrines, protection of food from flies, cleanliness of utensils used in preparation in cooking and serving of foods and personal cleanliness of cooks and kitchen police. When practicable, Battalion Commanders or commanders of units less than a battalion will be present.

All sanitary defects, with proper recommendations to remedy the same, will be reported to these commanders who will take the necessary measures within their authority to correct the defects. If such action is not possible or is impracticable, they will report the condition to higher authority.

9. General Police. Battalion Commanders and Commanding Officers of units less than a Battalion, are responsible for the general police and cleanliness within the area occupied by their commands. They will see that their respective areas are ready for sanitary inspection by 9:00 a. m., and will personally inspect all parts of such area at least once daily. They will take such measures as are necessary to insure effective sanitation within companies. At the inspection, special attention will be given to the condition of the grounds, kitchens, food, and latrines. Weather permitting, all tents will be furled and bedding and clothing will be aired and sunned Tuesdays and Fridays.

Organization Commanders will assure themselves by frequent inspections that sufficient ventilation is provided for at night. Men will sleep alternately, head to foot, this to allow at least five feet separation between their heads. The bed covering shall not be pooled.

4. Water Supply. The water supply is pure and wholesome. Care must be taken to prevent contamination, by keeping all containers scrupulously clean and covered in such a manner as to prevent "dipping" and to exclude dust and other sources of infection. All water containers will be provided with spigots and individual drinking cups will be used.

5. Food and Drinks. No food, drinks or like articles will be sold in camp except at authorized exchanges and stores or restaurants authorized by the Camp Commander.

Attention is called to the use of the following foods, the elimination of which from the mess will serve to prevent a variety of intestinal disorders:

(a) Canned milk and fish opened the day before. (Milk and fish poisoning.)

(b) Hashes of meats and vegetables prepared the night previous. (Potomale Poisoning.)

(c) Excessive drinking of bottled soft drinks. (Diarrhoea.)

6. Kitchens. All food, water and utensils pertaining thereto will be protected from dust, flies and sun. Men will not be permitted to take food into their sleeping quarters. Eating utensils will be thoroughly cleaned immediately after using, and rinsed in boiling water. This can only be maintained by providing heat under the receptacle during the whole time that the rinsing process is going on.

7. Disposal of wastes. (a) Kitchen waste: Two (2) garbage cans will be furnished for the reception of wastes. One will be used for the tin cans, bottles and other non-edible material and the other for kitchen waste proper. All garbage must be separated into liquid and solid waste by straining or otherwise. The liquid waste is poured into the soakage pit and solid waste deposited in cans.

(b) Human excreta will be disposed of in the proper latrine. De-filement of the ground is prohibited. Each day the pit will be burned out with one gallon of crude oil and 15 pounds of hay or straw. The box must be kept fly tight. The latrine seats will be scrubbed with soap and water daily. When filled to within 2 feet of the top, pits will be filled with earth to within 6 inches of the surface and covered with a layer of sacking soaked in crude oil to extend 3 feet beyond the edge of the pit; the pit will then be filled in with earth and the location marked. Urinal cans will be placed in the camp street at night and removed in the morning, emptied and burned out. A lighted lantern will be used to show location of the urinal can.

(c) Picket lines will be kept broom-swept and all manure and straw hauled away daily to the designated dumping ground and burned. A weekly incineration of the picket lines will be accomplished with the use of crude oil.

(d) General waste and camp refuse, including cans and ashes, street sweepings, etc., will be disposed of at the dump designated for the purpose.

8. Men will bathe at least twice a week and wash their hands thoroughly before each meal and after visiting latrines.

9. Physical Inspection. Physical inspection will be held twice during the encampment by Medical Officers of the Command, for the purpose of examining feet, personal cleanliness, presence of vermin and contraction of venereal diseases, in the presence of the immediate Commanding Officer, at which time, all men in the command must be inspected. These inspections shall be made at a time not known in advance and preferably immediately after a formation. The dates and results of these inspections will be reported to the Camp Surgeon. A careful record of venereal disease, if any, will be made and report of same made to the unit Commander.

10. Venereal Prophylaxis Stations. Venereal Prophylaxis stations are established at the regimental infirmaries and all men who expose themselves to the danger of contracting venereal disease by sexual intercourse will immediately upon return to camp, report to the regimental infirmary of their organization for preventative treatment.

11. This order will be read once to each organization at retreat and a copy will be kept posted on the Bulletin Board of each company.

Leonard R. Greenfield, Captain 4th Infantry, Camp Adjutant.

Sheldon, Iowa, September 1, 1926.

From: Major J. J. Brackney, Sanitary Detachment, Sheldon, Iowa.

To: Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

Subject: Review of sanitary conditions at Camp McHenry and recommendations for future camps.

1. The Sanitary Detachment at Sheldon, Iowa, was ordered to attend the camp at Camp McHenry, Storm Lake, Iowa, August 9th to August 25th, in accordance with paragraph 2, General Order 11, and the first paragraph of the first camp order directed that Major Brackney commanding the Sanitary Unit, should also act as the Camp Surgeon.

2. This review is not for the purpose of discussion of what constitutes a suitable site for camp, etc., but will simply take up what might be called the external influences such as water, sanitation, garbage, etc., and will review the health of the camp as well.

3. Water. The citizens of the Camp City had promised water for the camp and it appears that no one from that city ever went to look at the water supply until the Camp Surgeon and Capt. H. E. Farnsworth went to examine it, and they discovered conditions which have already been reported and no need of repeating, but the lesson taught should not be allowed to go unrecorded, i. e., the Camp Surgeon recommends that in the future when any city wants a camp and promises water, that the state authorities send a competent military engineer and medical officer together to look over the situation to see that not only is the water of proper quality but that the supply be large enough to stand the sudden drain put on it by a large camp, because it has been proved, that where a water supply may be pure enough when not pumped to excess, still that same supply pumped to the dregs becomes a source of danger. Also the piping should be completed and water run through the pipes for some hours before the first men arrive at the Camp site to clear the pipes of sediment as well as to avoid as much as possible the lead used in plumbing.

3a. The citizens of the Camp City made every effort to furnish water after the discovery was made that the supply was not ample and they are deserving of great credit for the work which they did so heartily to make the camp a success.

4. Camp Sanitation. In the matter of Camp Sanitation there was one trouble which remained constant in camp which should be remembered in order to avoid it in any succeeding camp, and that was the disposal of garbage. We had a seemingly unavoidable constant lack of wagons to haul garbage, leaving us quite largely to the mercy of civilian contractors, who if they violated the terms of their contracts, were hard to punish in any quick and drastic manner: i. e., one got angry one morning and quit when half way through leaving half the camp in bad condition with no remedy in sight because of our own lack of wagons.

Permit the Camp Surgeon to say the supplies furnished not only for sanitation but for medical use were excellent and any note of the lack of some things is not to imply lack of essential supplies or lack of enthusiasm, because the Q. M. C. did all in their power to assist whenever asked but the shortages noted are for reference another year, because this being the first camp, and authorized so shortly before the date set did not permit the officers much chance, but in case speed again should be required these references may be of use.

5. Health of Command. The health of the Command was, in the main, excellent; no serious malady occurring and those who did develop anything requiring hospitalization were well cared for in a privately owned hospital in the city of Storm Lake, where every attention was given them by the Medical Unit. This arrangement with the Swallow Hospital was an excellent idea permitting the Medical Officers to render any medical or surgical care necessary. The infirmary in camp was a very popular place with those who were ill and the fact that over sixty reported on sick call would indicate that the men of the command had every confidence in the medical personnel, as indicated previously, however, the illnesses were not serious as a rule but only such as untrained troops suddenly thrust into active work would well be expected to develop.

The incidence of venereal disease was so little that it could almost be called "nil"; those suffering from such diseases having had them prior to camp and being detected when they got there. Storm Lake is to be congratulated on the clean moral condition of their city and the officers and men are to be congratulated on the excellent record for clean living which this camp demonstrated.

6. The assistance given the Camp Surgeon by Lt. Col. P. L. Boyer, Instructor from the regular army, was timely and of great value, as some of the work was new to the Camp Surgeon and Colonel Boyer's experience in organization much larger, during the World War, was always available when requested and his courteous manner did much to assist the medical officers.

7. Finally, permit the Camp Surgeon to say that never has he felt that he had the full support of his officers and men to such an extent as he did in this camp where the whole organization came into camp on a few days notice with only one idea, and that was of service, and the surgeons who so kindly took commissions as captains to assist in the matter are deserving of unstinted praise, not only from the Commanding Officer of their unit, but by the camp and state at large. These men gave up their work, the same as all other men in camp did, but through it all, there was no complaint, and throughout, their only aim was to make the camp a success and any honor that may be conferred upon these men for taking upon themselves these burdens when so many ex-medical officers refused to have anything to do with the camp, speaks louder in their praise than any comment possible from their Major, Captain O'Donoghue and Captain Farnsworth were in the World War, while Captain Brock has seen many years of National Guard service, although not in the World War, and these officers worked in complete harmony. Each of these officers took charge of some special detail and all worked together. These men without any previous notice assumed class work which they had not thought of doing when ordered to camp. Such men, if possible, should be retained in the service, because of their marked fitness, even if they cannot be with their unit as will be the case with this detachment where the enlisted personnel is in another city from some of these officers.

Major H. J. Brackney, Commanding Sanitary Detachment, U. S. N. G. Iowa.

Commonwealth of Iowa, Executive Department, Des Moines.

September 2nd, 1920.

Hon. Louis G. Lasher, Adjutant General of Iowa, Capitol Building.

My Dear General: Permit me to put in permanent form some of the impressions gained at the recent National Guard encampment held at Storm Lake, Iowa, and designated by the name of Camp McHenry. I have had enough experience during the past four years, inspecting camps and studying programs for military training, so that I feel I have some knowledge upon which to base an opinion.

I want to commend the program outlined by Lt. Col. Potts for the every-day work and training of the men at the camp. It was well balanced and well adapted to the needs of the men, and surely resulted in a very marked improvement during the short space of time they were in the camp. It will please me, if you will see that Lt. Col. Potts is appraised of my appreciation of the splendid service, which he has rendered to the National Guard of Iowa in connection with the camp and otherwise.

Also, I will be glad to have you convey my appreciation to Colonel Ross, who was in charge of the camp, for the splendid way in which he carried out the program and administered all of the affairs.

I am sure that with this type of work and this type of men in command, we can rest assured that the National Guard will be an efficient organization and render all the service that is contemplated for it.

Cordially yours,

W. L. Harding, Governor.

The State University of Iowa, Iowa City.

General Louis G. Lasher, Adjutant General, State of Iowa, State Capitol, Des Moines, Iowa.

Dear Sir: Pursuant to your instructions in special orders No. 133, Paragraph 1, dated July 29th, 1921, I proceeded to Camp Dodge on August 4th for the purpose of making an inspection of the water supply of that Post prior to the encampment of the Iowa National Guard. Five samples of water were collected on this trip and have subsequently been analyzed. The reports are attached hereto. On August 10th, three additional samples were collected.

I found the water supply system to be in a somewhat neglected shape and the chlorinating machines which had been installed, out of repair and without certain essential parts. These parts were reported to be in the hands of the manufacturer for repair.

It was reported at the plant that about 300,000 gallons a day was the usual pumpage. Considering the small number of men then on duty, this seems a large quantity of water and suggests that there may be important leaks in the system. A sample of water collected at the Remount Station showed the presence of a large quantity of iron and was found to be in bad bacteriological condition. A sample taken at the Mess Hall at Troop K of the 14th U. S. Cavalry and one taken outside of the Pumping Station were also unsatisfactory. Samples from the Chief Storekeeper's House and from inside the Pumping Station were in much better condition.

It was therefore thought that perhaps a thorough flushing of the mains, which you had ordered, would result in decided improvement of the quality of the water and accordingly three additional samples were taken to determine this matter. These samples showed the water to be satisfactory, although the bacterial counts were somewhat high on two of the samples, probably due to the fact that three days were occupied in shipment.

I would suggest that in future cases you have the mains thoroughly flushed as was done in this instance, and that in order to further safeguard the quality of the water, the chlorinators be kept in such condition that they may be immediately set to work should it be necessary.

An informal telephonic report of these findings was made to officers at the Camp Hospital.

From: The Adjutant General of Iowa.

To: All Officers and Unit Commanders, National Guard of Iowa.

Subject: Annual Encampment.

1. The annual encampment and target practice of the National Guard of Iowa will be held at Camp Dodge, from August 10 to 24 inclusive.

2. The entire Guard, less the artillery units, will attend. It is contemplated that all officers and enlisted men of the State Staff and Brigade Headquarters, all Regimental Field and Staff officers, all service companies less bands, all sanitary units, all mess sergeants and cooks, will be mobilized four days immediately preceding camp, for special instructions, if authority for same is received from the War Department.

3. It is desired that every effort be made to assemble the entire enlisted personnel of your command at each weekly drill for instructions preparatory to manoeuvres and target practice, prior to date of departure for camp.

4. Immediate recommendations should be submitted for the appointment of suitable officers to fill any vacancies that might exist in your command. You should also endeavor to obtain sufficient recruits to give your organization its minimum strength.

5. It is desired that all officers at your station assemble at once and devise a plan of presenting the matter of the approaching encampment to the various commercial organizations of your city, with a view to obtaining their support and co-operation in appealing to employers to encourage all members of your command to attend camp. This can be done by offering them holidays for the camp period without loss of pay and by indicating in other ways that the military organizations are considered an important and essential part of civic institutions. A letter on this subject has been addressed to the President of the Commercial club of your city. You will confer with him.

6. You will exert every effort to give this matter extended and persistent publicity between now and the date of the camp.

By order of the Governor.

In reply refer to Encampment No. 7. June 27, 1921.

From: The Adjutant General of Iowa.

Subject: The August Manoeuvre and Target Practice of the National Guard of Iowa.

1. The next annual manoeuvre and target practice of the Iowa National Guard will be held at Camp Dodge, August 10 to 24, inclusive, with the exception of the artillery, which goes to Camp Knox.

2. The Governor is anxious to see the citizen soldiery of the state become more closely affiliated with our other essential civic organizations, and having in mind a way to that end, I am taking the liberty of addressing you this letter.

3. As a foreword, I desire to say that the state is obligated to the maintenance of a National Guard, as an exercise of its constitutional and sovereign right to bear arms. The intent of this constitutional provision was to place at the disposal of the Chief Executive of the state, a final means of enforcing law and order, should, in his opinion the use of such force be justified. The state spends $265,000 annually on this force, for armories, camp grounds, rifle ranges, and administration purposes. The federal government is interested in maintaining The Guard of our state as a second line of defense to be used in a national emergency, and with a view of training it and developing it progressively, has appropriated $200,000.00 to defray the total expense of the approaching camp, and an additional $200,000.00 for the pay of officers and men and upkeep of public animals during the entire year. Thus it may be seen that approximately $600,000.00 in cash is expended annually on the Guard of the state. This does not take into consideration equipment and animals issued by the federal government without expense to the state, costing not less than one-half million of dollars.

4. In view of the importance attached to this work by the federal government and our Governor, and because of the obligation of the state to maintain law and order, and protect life and property within its own borders, by citizen soldiers, and in consideration of the large amount of money invested by our state and federal government, I am asking the active co-operation and influence of your organization, to the end, that the approaching camp may be a success.

5. The assistance desired of your organization may be briefly stated. In order that most training may be disseminated, it is necessary that each organization go to camp with at least its minimum strength. Unfortunately some employers object to members of military companies leaving their work for training and are both active and resourceful of their efforts to discourage attendance at camp. Your organization can do more to correct this condition than any other known medium by:

- (a) Assuming sponsorship for the military organization of your city, and attaching to it a committee from your organization.
- (b) Making the military organization one of the essential civic organizations of your city, installing into it a local pride and making the men feel that they carry the confidence and interest of your people.
- (c) Obtaining the local support of every business man to the extent that he will encourage enlistments in The Guard and encourage their employees, who might be members, to attend drills and encampments.
- (d) Boosting your local company as you do all other local enterprises.

5. Thanking you in anticipation of any service you may be able to render along these lines, and suggesting that you call in the captain of the military organization or organizations of your city, to meet with you or a committee for a conference, I am,

Very sincerely yours,

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

Subject: Annual Camp of Instruction, Iowa N. G.

1. Letter "Encampment No. 6," dated June 25, 1921, indicates the dates of the Annual Encampment and target practice for the Iowa National Guard will be held.

2. In this connection you are advised that inasmuch as the medical detachments of all regiments which still participate in this camp, are newly organized units, with practically no training or experience in caring for the health of a camp or its sanitation, etc., it is deemed wise to provide against any emergency which may arise, and have available a fully equipped and experienced organization which would be responsible for this very important phase of camp life.

3. To this end you are authorized to prepare a plan which will furnish the Commanding General of the camp, a well balanced camp hospital, with the necessary medical officers and assistants, and female nurses. This plan should cover the number of beds, including the linen, etc., required to properly care for the maximum. The building set aside for this purpose, is what is known as the dental infirmary, and any work necessary to make it adequate for the purpose, should be indicated to Col. Guy S. Brewer, who is in charge at Camp Dodge.

4. The expense incurred in maintaining this hospital will be borne by the state, and the doctors, assistants and nurses should be grades for pay, the same as would be paid officers, enlisted men and nurses in the regular army. They should be carried on regular state pay rolls, which can be obtained in this department.

5. You will confer with the Adjutant General on any matter pertaining to this subject on which you may be in doubt, otherwise you will proceed with full authority.

Subject: Annual Camp of Instruction, 1921, preparation to be made.

1. Each Officer will have for quarters a room approximately 8x10 ft.

Field officers will have two rooms. All officers will be furnished with cots, but no other furniture for the rooms will be furnished. Officers should bring with them their bedding roll, less cots, and other furniture, rugs, etc., for use in their rooms. In the rear of each officer's barracks are latrines and these are equipped with shower baths.

2. Line Officers will mess with their companies, in the company barracks and they should include in their equipment such dishes and table ware as will be necessary for their mess. In each regiment under the direction of the regimental commander, will be a regimental mess for field and staff. The table equipment for the regimental mess will be furnished by the officers of the mess. Kitchen equipment for regimental messes will be furnished on requisition to the Adjutant General's department.

3. Companies will be assigned to barracks. One company to a barrack, except battalion and squadron headquarters companies and troops, and the regimental medical detachments. These latter organizations will double up in barracks. Company barracks will be furnished with cots for each man. Don't neglect to bring your bed sacks. Each barrack contains a kitchen with cooking ranges, ice boxes and hot water tanks. There are separate rooms for pantry and an office for the mess sergeant. Dining rooms are furnished with tables.

4. The upper floors of the barracks will be used for sleeping quarters. One large room on the first floor can be equipped for a recreation room. Company commanders should bring books, magazines, games, etc. for the equipment of the recreation room. Such organizations as have athletic equipment such as baseball and basket ball outfits, boxing gloves, etc., should by all means bring them. Adjoining each barrack is a latrine equipped with shower baths. Impress on the men the necessity of bringing bath towels.

5. Cooks should bring plenty of dish cloths, scrubbing brushes, mops and brooms. Kitchens will be screened. There will be no excuse for not maintaining clean and orderly kitchens, and mess halls. No garbage cans will be issued at camp; each organization has had issued to it sufficient garbage cans and these must be brought to camp.

6. Each company will police around its barracks and latrines. The grass and weeds have been cut but no doubt will grow again before the camp is over. Each organization should include in its equipment, hand sickles, scythes and rakes.

7. Barracks, officers quarters, stables and latrines are lighted with electricity. Globes will be furnished and a reasonable amount of breakage will be allowed. Excess breakage of globes will be paid for from company funds.

8. Each line organization will spend five days on the rifle range, for practice. Don't forget to include in your baggage plenty of material to clean your rifles.

9. Camp Dodge is approximately 15 miles from Des Moines, and the railroad fare is 42 cents one way. It is hardly possible to make the trip to the city and back in half a day. Organization commanders should not plan on purchasing initial stores in Des Moines, but bring them with them. Perishable stores can be purchased the day before, and delivered by freight or express the next day.

10. Telephone service will be installed between camp and Des Moines. No doubt a small fee will be charged for private use to Des Moines.

11. Remember, you will need to bring, all your kitchen equipment, except the stoves. This is important.

12. Each barrack contains an orderly room and most of the barracks a store room also. The locks on these rooms are not in very good shape.

13. Noon mess will be eaten on the range, when companies are at rifle practice. This should be in the nature of a lunch only. Keep this in mind when planning for extra rations.

14. Camp hospital—It is contemplated establishing a camp hospital in charge of medical officers and female nurses, who have had extensive military experience. This hospital will be equipped to care for any emergency.

15. All garbage must be kept absolutely clean and free from tin cans and glass, or any other material except purely kitchen leavings, otherwise the contractor who removes it will refuse to take it away, and the company commander will be required to dispose of it at his own expense. All broken glass, tin cans, bottles and refuse of this nature will be kept in cans or boxes to be removed by details for that purpose. This rule will be strictly adhered to.

16. The order has been issued authorizing the "Sam Brown Belt" for the regular army, but no order has been received authorizing it for the National Guard. In view, however, of the regulations, which provides that "the uniform for the National Guard shall be the same as that prescribed for the regular army," those officers who own "Sam Brown Belts," or who desire to purchase same, may wear them until specific orders are received which prohibits such procedure.

3. The commanding officer of all medical detachments will, however, report August 6, bringing with them the mess sergeants and civilian cook as authorized in letter "Encampment Nos. 12, 18 and 19."

By order of the Governor.

Subject: Equipment.

1. Numerous inquiries are being received from organization commanders relative to what equipment other than has been indicated in letter "Encampment No. 17." 2. Each regimental commander should therefore advise his unit commanders whether they should bring overcoats and other surplus equipment which they may have on hand.

REPORT OF THE CAMP OF INSTRUCTION—HELD DURING 1921

Headquarters 133d Infantry, Iowa N. G.

Des Moines, Iowa, November 3, 1921.

The Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

1. Pursuant to provisions of G. O. No. 15, Par. 5, dated A. G. O., Des Moines, Iowa, July 29, 1921, and encampment letters of Instruction No. 8, dated A. G. O. June 28, 1921, this regiment assembled at Camp Dodge, Iowa, August 10th, 1921, for field training. G. O. No. 3 and Bulletin No. 2, these headquarters, copies of which are hereto attached, were issued and together with Camp Order No. 1, were received by all officers before their departure from home stations.
2. The regiment having been recently organized under the 1921 tables of organization, was not complete. Company M. and Bn. Hq. Co., 1st Battalion being not organized at this time. Strength of the regiment on August 10th was 54 officers and 1,071 enlisted men, attached one chaplain attached Med. branch—5 officers and 39 enlisted men, total present in camp 59 officers and 1,101 enlisted men. This attendance is considered very satisfactory, notwithstanding the fact that the number of absentees reached 172. Your attention is directed to the fact that every officer authorized for the regiment was present in camp.

3. The Service Company, less band, all the field and staff officers of the regiment and the mess sergeants and cooks of the several organizations arrived in camp on August 6th. This force was able to do all the preliminary work required so that upon the opening day of camp all administration agencies of the regiment were functioning properly and the camp was ready for occupancy.

4. Two-thirds of the organization arrived in camp in sufficient time to have their baggage delivered and their quarters ready for inspection of the camp commander at the hour ordered. In the case of three organizations, their departure from home stations was so arranged that two organizations, Company H, and Bn. Hq. Co. 2d Bn., Mason City, arrived at 9 p. m. and the other one, Company A, Dubuque, did not reach camp until midnight. The latter organization did not get its baggage until the morning of the second day of camp and was consequently delayed in beginning the training program.

5. The uniforms and equipment of the regiment were not satisfactory. The authorized issue of clothing had been requisitioned, but in many cases substitutions had been made in sizes, and the result was that one out of every five enlisted men was wearing a misfit uniform. The issue of only one cotton O. D. uniform is totally inadequate, as a change is necessary in order to permit washing during camp period. The method used to furnish shoes is unsatisfactory and always will be, as long as organization commanders are required to outfit their recruits with salvaged shoes. Ten per cent of the enlisted men wore civilian shoes for the reason that they could not be fitted from the supply on hand. Fifteen per cent of those wearing the issued shoes had trouble with their feet, due to ill-fitting shoes, once worn by someone else. The Headquarters Company of the regiment arrived in camp without any uniforms or equipment. The federal recognition of this company dated from July 12, 1921. There was some shortage in machine gun equipment and pistols. The equipment for training the signal groups in Hdq. Co. and Bn Hdq. Cos. was all short.

6. The training schedule was very satisfactory. The procedure of using alternate days for range practice was approved by all. It was realized that a more complete system of preliminary instruction must be carried out at home stations during the winter months.

7. The method of issuing rations, permitting the company commanders a certain latitude in purchasing the supplies was very satisfactory.

8. The condition of Company records is improving from time to time, but much is left to be done before they would be complete. It appears that if each officer would thoroughly familiarize himself with the records of his command, and then use his best efforts to keep them correct, that a big improvement would be made.

9. I would recommend the following suggestions for your consideration in arranging for future camps for field training.

A. That in arranging schedule for travel of troops to the camp, organizations be so routed as to arrive in camp before evening of the first day.

B. That a school of officers with competent instructors be held from thirty to sixty days before the camp period, and that they be prepared to instruct their commands in field training at this school. The training program for the camp period to be prepared with this in view.

C. That due to the large percentage of new organization in the regiment, that next year's program be prepared along the same plan as this year.

D. That an additional issue of cotton O. D. clothing be secured for issue so that each man can have two uniforms.

E. That some other methods for the issuing of shoes be tried out instead of the one now in use. Would suggest that a soldier be required to purchase his shoes at salvage price upon his leaving his command, if the same have been worn through one training period.

F. That the practice of having the Service Company, less band and the Field and Staff Officers report four days before the opening day of camp be continued, and that the Service Company, less band be retained an additional day at the close of camp to complete the collection and turning over of Government property.

G. That an early effort next year be made to secure additional instructors from the regular army for the camps' next annual period.

Lloyd D. Ross, Colonel 133rd Infantry.

Des Moines, Ia., October 31, 1921.

From: C. O. 168th Infantry, Des Moines, Iowa.

To: The Adjutant General, Des Moines, Iowa.

Subject: Report on tour of duty August 19th to 24th, 1921.

1. The 168th Infantry assembled at Camp Dodge, Iowa, pursuant to the orders of the Adjutant General. Field and Staff officers, mess sergeants and cooks, reported for duty, August 6, 1921. August 7th, 8th and 9th, the cooks and mess sergeants were busy cleaning the barracks, latrines, kitchens and mess hall equipment. Troops arrived on the 10th. The barracks and latrines had been thoroughly cleaned, cots had been set up and in each organization a warm meal was served to the men when they arrived August 10th. Some of the troop trains were late in arriving at camp due to congestion at transfer, but no serious inconvenience was suffered because of the delay.

2. Morning Report of August 10th, showed an attendance of 56 officers and 1,063 enlisted men. The absentee list consisted of one officer, 1st Lieutenant Turner of Company "L" and 217 enlisted men. This attendance was maintained during camp with the exception that during the tour of duty, 14 furloughs were issued to enlisted men, nearly all of which were on account of sickness.

2. The barracks assigned to this Regiment were in very good condition and was a decided improvement over canvas. There were some minor defects such as leaky roofs, faulty plumbing; but this caused no serious inconvenience. The troops were better sheltered and more contented than they would have been under canvas. The organizations kept their barracks neat and clean and I believe learned some lessons in cleanliness which will be of benefit to them at their home stations.

4. The ration was ample and of good quality. Some organizations experienced a shortage of rations during the first five days, owing to the ravenous appetites of the raw recruits, but before the tour of duty was over this had been corrected.

5. The drill program as prepared by Major Brandt of the Army was carried out, with one or two exceptions, as ordered. On August 13th from one to two o'clock a non-commissioned officers school was held for the purpose of teaching the non-commissioned officers the proper method of imparting instruction. The program for August 16th designated this Regiment to work on the range, but due to the fact that it rained in the morning and a Review was tendered the Governor in the afternoon, it was impossible to conform to the program laid out for that day. However, on the succeeding day, August 17th, the 168th Infantry divided the time on the range with the 133rd Infantry.

The program as laid down was one of exceptional merit and no suggestions or criticisms are offered. It is known that Major Brandt had arranged the program with the understanding that an Army officer would be detailed with each Battalion during this tour of duty; also that a school for officers and non-commissioned officers of four days duration was contemplated before the assembling of the Regiment. At the last minute it was found impossible to secure the Army Officers and that there were not sufficient funds to permit the holding of the school for the officers and non-commissioned officers. Therefore the officers and non-commissioned officers of this Regiment were not as well qualified to handle the program as had been contemplated.

6. The discipline of the camp was excellent. The officers and the men entered upon their duties with enthusiasm and a sincere desire to accomplish the work laid out. In this respect the tour of duty was of an exceedingly high standard. I attribute the excellent discipline to the fact that nearly all the privates were men who had no previous military training, and that the officers and non-commissioned officers had had such training.

7. The Regiment spent four days and a half on the rifle range shooting both slow and rapid fire, two, three and five hundred yards. Fully 75% of the enlisted men had had no previous experience in range work, so the instruction was elementary in character. I feel, however, that a great amount of instruction was gained in the handling of the rifle and ball ammunition.

8. The machine gun companies and the automatic rifle squads were formed in separate classes under the instruction of officers who had had war experience in these weapons. Their progress was very satisfactory.

9. There was a considerable shortage of equipment of all classes that interfered with the work of the Regiment. Many enlisted men were unable to secure properly fitted shoes; pistols were not issued to the machine gun companies nor the Regimental and Battalion Headquarters companies. Machine gun companies were not issued telescopic sites and other necessary equipment. The Headquarters companies were short their liaison equipment.

10. Social entertainment was provided every night during the tour of duty. This served to keep the men in camp and at no time were the number of passes authorized to be issued requested by the enlisted men. Boxing, wrestling, dancing, singing and other forms of entertainment provided by the Chaplain served to interest the men during the evening hours.

11. By direction of the Commanding General the Third Battalion of this Regiment was assembled in their barracks Saturday evening, August 20th, 1921, preparatory to going to Des Moines in the event of an expected riot. Fifteen minutes after the call had been received the Battalion was ready to move in case of an emergency.

12. The present issue of one cotton uniform to each enlisted man is insufficient to meet his needs. At least two pairs of breeches should be issued otherwise it is almost impossible to keep the cotton uniforms clean.

Guy S. Brewer, Colonel Infantry Commanding.

Headquarters 67th Infantry Brigade, Council Bluffs, Iowa.

From: Commanding General, 67th Infantry Brigade, Ia. N. G.

Subject: Iowa National Guard Encampment, 1921.

1. Pursuant to Par. 7, G. O. 15, 1921, A. G. O. Ia., the undersigned hereby submits his written report of the Iowa National Guard Encampment, 1921:

The undersigned assumed command at Camp Dodge, Iowa, August 6, 1921. Upon that date, in pursuance with Par. 1, G. O. 15, 1921, the advance details of each organization which took part in the encampment reported, and during the four days preceding the arrival of the main body of troops prepared the camp for the arriving troops.

These advance details consisted of: Brigade Hdq. Co., 67th Inf. Brig. from Winterset, Ia.; Service Co. (less band), 133d Infantry, from Fairfield, Ia.; Service Co. (less band), 168th Infantry, from Council Bluffs, Ia.; Service Troop (less band) 1st Iowa Cavalry, from Ottumwa, Ia.; Iowa Field Hospital (State of Iowa), from Des Moines.

The commissioned personnel, who reported with the advance details, consisted of the following: Commanding General, 67th Inf. Brigade, Ia. N. G., and his staff; State executive staff; Commanding Officer, 133rd Infantry, and his field and staff officers; Commanding Officer, 168th Infantry, and his field and staff officers; Commanding Officer, 1st Ia. Cavalry, and his field and staff officers.

At the same time each company in the 133rd Infantry, the 168th Infantry, the 1st Iowa Cavalry and the Brigade Headquarters company sent to the camp its mess sergeant and cooks. Of these latter it was the duty to prepare the kitchens for the troops to follow them, to clean ice boxes, tables, kitchens, ranges, etc., to draw rations, ice and get thoroughly organized between the date of their arrival, August 6, and the arrival of the main body of the troops, August 10.

The result of these preliminary arrangements was:

1. As the troops arrived on August 10, many of them late at night, they were met by members of their companies who had preceded them to camp, and were directed to their quarters.

2. They were greeted with a warm meal, which, to a travel-worn soldier, is always agreeable, and were fed without the usual long wait.

3. They found their barracks in good condition, cleaned and prepared by the advance details. Their cots were there awaiting them, and all that remained for them to do was to fill their ticks and go to bed.

4. They were ready, through the work done in advance, to go to work early August 11, the day after their arrival, in actual training, instead of, as in many camps, wasting a great deal of the fortnight's precious time in performing preliminary camp duties.

5. The confusion that always results when green men go into a new camp for the first time was avoided, and the recruits, of which 90 per cent of the men might be called, got a favorable idea of camp life.

In the work of training the schedule as drawn up in G. O. 1-a, 1921, was followed, with the exception that the brigade review, which, according to schedule, was set for August 23, was held on August 16, by order of Governor N. E. Kendall.

The governor, attended by his staff, arrived at the camp at 10 o'clock the morning of August 16. After a morning spent in a thorough inspection of the camp, the party was entertained at noonday mess at the brigade and regimental messes, the governor and other state officials at the brigade headquarters mess.

The review was held in the afternoon at 2 o'clock, on the field west of the arsenal. Two regiments of infantry and two squadrons of cavalry, with their motorized transportation, passed in review before Gov. N. E. Kendall in a manner that would have done credit to troops of as many years training as they had seen weeks. The review was marked by the presentation by Gov. N. E. Kendall of the 25-year medal of the Iowa National Guard upon Brig. Gen. Matthew A. Tinley and Col. Lloyd D. Ross, commander of the 133rd Infantry.

Immediately following the review the governor held a reception for the officers of the command at the brigade headquarters. At the evening mess the same arrangements as prevailed for the mid-day mess were followed.

The disarrangement of the schedule by the advancing of Governor's Day was taken care of by holding two battalion reviews, one by each of the infantry regiments, the following day, and by dividing August 17 on the range between the two regiments. This allowed more time on August 23 to prepare for breaking camp on August 24, so that, when the hours came for the troops to move out on the 24th all was in readiness and the movements were made on schedule.

Considerable disappointment was experienced in the failure of the sixteen regular army instructors, which we had expected, to arrive.

The commanding general was notified on August 8 that due to lack of funds the commanding general of the Seventh Corps area would be unable to furnish transportation to the officers, who were to be assigned to the national guard encampment. He immediately communicated his understanding of the situation to the Iowa delegation in congress, and was informed in return that the militia bureau had instructed the commanding general of the Seventh Corps area that the sixteen instructors were to be furnished. Later instruction verified the stand taken by the commanding general of the Seventh Corps area that his appropriation of funds was too limited to furnish the necessary transportation.

The situation was eased to a great extent by the arrival of Lt. Col. McDaniel, Inf. R. A. senior instructor with the Nebraska National Guard six days in advance of the arrival of the 134th Infantry Neb. N. G. Colonel McDaniel was assigned for that period to the Iowa troops, and aided greatly in the training of the 168th Infantry, to which he was assigned.

Although the disappointment was acute, the writer wishes to take this opportunity to speak of the attitude of the regular army officers, including the Seventh Corps area commander, and the officers assigned to the camp. They were sympathetic in every way, and gave evidence of a sincere desire to do all in their power to aid in the training of the Iowa National Guard, but were hampered by the lack of funds.

Lt. Col. William A. Cornell, Cavalry, U. S. A., Major Alfred Brandt, Infantry, U. S. A., regular army instructors assigned to the training of the Iowa troops, were most efficient, and took a genuine interest in their work. Their efforts to make the most of the short period of training were untiring, and showed wonderful results.

Several accidents marred the camp, although only one of them proved serious. This was an injury sustained by Ardis Roberdee, 18 years old, a private in Troop D, First Iowa Cavalry. Roberdee was kicked in the head by a horse after he had stumbled and fallen behind the horse in a stable. His skull was fractured. His life was saved by immediate attention by the officers of the camp hospital, in command of Lt. Col. Wilbur S. Conkling. The man was on the operating table within half an hour after the accident. In this and in many other ways the camp hospital proved its value to the camp.

Preliminary arrangements for the handling of the garbage of the camp were found unsatisfactory after a few days' trial, so arrangements were made by Lt. Col. Wilbur S. Conkling, camp surgeon, and Lt. Col. Rodney P. Fagan, camp inspector, to utilize the garbage incinerator in the northwest portion of camp. Through the kindly assistance of officials of the garbage disposal plant of the city of Des Moines, the plant was started, and proved very satisfactory.

On August 17 the 134th Infantry, Nebraska National Guard, entered Camp Dodge, occupying barracks adjoining the Iowa troops. Col. Amos Thomas, commanding officer, and his officers and men proved excellent military companions.

Amusements of the camp were in charge of the two chaplains, Chaplain Robb of the 168th Infantry and Chaplain Van Metre of the 133rd Infantry. Their arrangements were as nearly perfect as could be, some sort of amusement being furnished each night for the men. Boxing contests between units were held, and the matter of amusements became so satisfactory to the men that requests for passes, even on Saturday nights, seldom exceeded more than 25 per regiment.

In summing up, the camp proved to be successful in every way. The range work, under direction of Maj. Fred S. Hird, range officer, accomplished much in its line, and the records established by the men are highly satisfactory. The other training proved such as to be a subject of great pride to the commanding general.

6:00 to 7:00 p. m. Inspection of camp.

7:00 p. m. Guard Mounting.

Note: Guard will be performed by Troop. Instruction on this subject will be given by the officers of the Guard Troop.

2. SCHEDULES OF INSTRUCTION

- Under the supervision of Squadron commanders, Troop commanders will prepare detailed schedules of instruction.
- Squadron commanders will be held responsible for the practical and theoretical training of their Squadrons and they will prepare all field exercises.
- The training of the Troops in first aid will be under the supervision of the Surgeon.
- As the Troops have only thirty-two (32) horses each it will be necessary to combine troops in order to have exercises by Troop.
- As one (1) day of camp will come on Sunday schedule for 14 days only is prepared.

On account of the fact that some of the Troops did not have mounts prior to their arrival in Camp it was thought best to waive the formal Guard Mountings and the Parades.

Guard. The Guard work was mostly patrol guard and, taking into consideration the raw material, it was very satisfactory. At first the Troopers had some trouble in controlling their horses, but soon learned enough self confidence so as to enable them to perform their duties in a soldierly manner. Sometimes, when a Trooper would challenge an intruder, he would not get time to complete the instructions until after he had returned from the stables. But, they learned. And, they always came back and finished the job as best they could. No matter how arduous the duty, the troopers were always ready and willing to "Do it again."

Quite a number of the Officers had had experience in Guardwork and devoted a great deal of time to the instruction and encouragement of the troopers, which was fully appreciated. All the Troopers were willing to learn and they never had to be told the same thing but once.

Drill. The "School of the Trooper," "School of the Squad," "School of the Platoon" and "School of the Troop" were carried out according to schedule and the results were very satisfactory. It was certainly surprising how soon the recruits became accustomed to their mounts and learned how to handle them. Some Troopers had never been on a horse prior to the time in camp, and they were riding like old timers within a week. Even doing stunts in a "Horse Show."

The Officers worked hard with their Troops and accomplished results far beyond expectations. They certainly deserve credit for "Good work done."

Care of Horses and Equipment. The organization was very fortunate in having some experienced non-commissioned officers who knew how to handle and care for horses. At first it was slow work getting the new men lined up and taught how to care for a horse properly. The same was true as to the equipment. But, persistent efforts accomplished what, at first, seemed impossible. As soon as the new Troopers learned what was necessary to be done they just simply went at it like men who had had experience and the work was done to the entire satisfaction of those in charge. The horses had good care and showed the effects of careful grooming.

The equipment was not as well cared for as it will be in the future. The Troopers did not know what to do until after they had been instructed, but when that was done the condition of the equipment would pass inspection at any time.

Forage. At first the issue of forage was not satisfactory. Several days horses had to go on short rations. It appeared to those in charge at the stables that the parties who were furnishing the forage were not delivering as much as was reported to Major Coe. However, the matter was finally settled satisfactorily and during the balance of camp there was no report of shortage. The forage furnished was very good.

Rations. The rations were ample and in most cases were well cared for. In a few individual cases, where the cooks were new, there was a lack of knowledge that resulted in some spoiled parts, but, in most organizations there was no complaint to make.

After the first few days the cooks and helpers got the right idea and did very well.

It took continual pounding, pounding, pounding, to keep things clean, but the results obtained were very satisfactory.

The 25% cash caused some confusion until the Supply Officer got his bearings then everything moved along smoothly.

Range Firing. Troops A, B, C, D, E, F, Hq. Tr., Hq. Tr. 1st Sqdn. and Hq. Tr. 2nd Sqdn. fired at 200, 300 and 500 yds. slow and rapid fire, standing and prone; kneeling and prone, and prone. Also 15 and 25 yds. pistol range.

It is believed that better results could have been accomplished had there been more coaches. Quite a number of Troopers seemed to be firing without any definite idea of what they were trying to do. The Coaches reported that it was absolutely impossible to properly instruct so many with so few instructors.

The Troopers seemed to take an active interest in the shooting and were willing to learn. They may have wasted some ammunition but, they learned what a "KICK" means and they learned confidence in themselves and that goes a great way in making a good marksman.

Buildings. Some of the buildings were in poor condition and dirty when the Troops went into camp.

The water in two buildings was not turned on and it caused considerable trouble. In fact, the water connections for one building could not be found and, after two days digging, it was decided to make a connection with the water pipes through an adjoining building. After this was done the conditions improved wonderfully. As a general thing the sanitary conditions of the camp were satisfactory.

Animals. Troops B, C, Service Troop and the Medical Detachment reported at Camp without mounts.

Arrangements had previously been made with the 14th Cavalry, U. S. A., to loan the 1st Cavalry, Iowa N. G., sixty-four (64) head of horses for training purposes during the period of the camp.

The horses brought to camp by the Hq. Troops of the 1st and 2nd Squadron were turned over to Troops B and C.

The horses borrowed from the 14th Cav. were issued to the Service Troop and sixteen (16) head each, to the 1st and 2nd Squadron Hq. Troops.

In addition to these Cavalry horses, there were a number of private mounts furnished for Officers who did not have mounts previously arranged for.

The animals were in good condition.

The sixty-four (64) horses were turned back to the 14th Cav. August 23rd.

Transportation. This is a subject on which many sermons have been prepared, many preached, and many prayers offered for improvement, and many cuss words under cover and a few loud enough to be heard. Still we hark back to the same old question, "Well, what are you going to do about it?" and the same old answer, "I don't know."

We had 300 head of horses and mules to care for and no wagons for transportation. Plenty in camp but they belonged to the U. S. and we could not have them. Manure from the barns piling up each day and nothing to haul it in except two trucks that we could not get out in the field where we had to dump the manure.

After several days we managed to get a wagon for each organization and then we thought out troubles were over. Then it was harness. We finally got them. Then we got four green mules to haul the wagons; then we had to educate the drivers. We did it, and before camp was over we had a very satisfactory bunch of transportation, mules, harness and drivers.

Schools. Officers school was held daily at 7:00 p. m. at which time all questions relative to drill, range work, guard, daily routine and anything special were discussed and decisions rendered.

Non Com Schools were conducted by Troop Officers daily. It is suggested that Regimental Non Com Schools would be more beneficial for the reason that all the N. C. O.'s would get the same instruction.

When the schools are held by separate Troop Officers it means different instruction on technical points which means ragged work when the organizations function as Squadrons or Regiment.

Thirty minutes each day for N. C. school will work wonders.

Furlough. No furloughs were issued during the Camp period. A number of passes for short periods of time were issued to enlisted men for the purpose of attending to important business and on account of sickness.

Sickness and Accidents. The only serious sickness was a case of ptomaine poisoning in Troop "B." The entire Troop was on the move all night. No serious results, however.

The cause of the trouble was supposed to be "Canned Salmon."

Several minor accidents happened during the camp period caused principally, by kicks and being thrown from the horse.

The only serious accident was in Troop "A." A Trooper was kicked by a horse which resulted in fracture of the skull. He was rushed to the Camp Hospital where an operation was performed which saved his life. Col. Conkling reported that the Trooper would not have lived to reach a Hospital in the city. After several days treatment at the Camp Hospital he was transferred to the Methodist Hospital in Des Moines for treatment. A report from the Hospital August 24th showed him resting well and improving every day.

Entertainment. The different Regiments put on varied programs for the entertainment of the entire Camp, at different times.

The First Cavalry put on two horse shows as its part of the entertainment. Both events were successful and judging from the attendance by the general public, just what the people wanted.

Governor's Day. The Governor and Staff reviewed the entire Brigade on the afternoon of the 18th. The review was a complete success.

The Governor was very much pleased with the showing made by the Brigade and did not hesitate to express his gratification.

Conclusion. The tour of duty as a whole was a revelation of what can be done in a short time with competent officers and men who are willing to learn. The officers and men seemed loath to leave camp and expressed a desire to remain in the service longer, if possible. The discipline was excellent. The sanitary conditions of the Regiment were not up to standard, but there were excuses for defect. Take it as a whole the CAMP WAS A HUGE SUCCESS.

Battery "B," First Field Artillery, Iowa National Guard, Davenport, Iowa,
August 30th, 1921.

From: Commanding Officer, Btry. "B," 1st F. A., Iowa N. G.

To: The Adjutant General, State of Iowa,

Subject: Federal Encampment.

1. Pursuant to instructions, this Battery departed for Camp Knox, Ky., at 12:00 noon, July 25th, 1921, over the Rock Island lines, and arrived at Chicago at 5:30 p. m., same date, where supper was served.

Left Chicago at 10:30 p. m. over the Monon route, and arrived Camp Knox 9:00 a. m. July 26th, at which place Battery "A," 2nd U. S. Field Artillery, were assigned as instructors.

2. The course of instruction, as outlined, was the very best that could possibly have been given National Guard organizations.

3. The progress made by this Battery was so rapid that on the third day the tractor drivers and cannoncers manned the equipment, took the Battery to the range, and fired a problem. On the fifth day the cannoncers fired a problem without the assistance of the Regular Army instructors.

4. The drills followed were formulated by General Lassiter. The morning period of instruction was carried on entirely by the Regular Army instructors, while in the afternoon the enlisted personnel of the Battery carried out the instruction received in the morning. Captain DeWeese and Major Frankenberger, of the 2nd F. A., commented on the rapid progress made by both officers and enlisted men of this Battery.

5. No small praise is due to Captain DeWeese, whose untiring efforts were largely responsible for rounding the Battery into shape. This officer was formerly Adjutant General of the State of Kentucky, and though at this time a Regular Army Officer, his heart and sympathies are still with the National Guard. General Lassiter, also, displayed an unusual amount of interest in the course of instruction, visiting the Battery each day during the period. The treatment accorded the Battery while in Camp Knox was entirely satisfactory.

6. The Battery left Camp Knox at 8:00 p. m. August 7th, en route for home station via the Monon route to Chicago, thence via the C. M. & St. P. to Davenport.

7. By way of recommendation, would suggest that Artillery National Guard Units from this State be sent to the same Camp next year.

Subject: Range Practice at Annual Encampment, 1921.

The following report covering the small arms instruction held in connection with the Annual Encampment of the Iowa National Guard at Camp Dodge, Iowa, August 10th to August 24th, inclusive, 1921, is submitted for your information. The 67th Infantry Brigade, composed of the 133rd Infantry, 168th Infantry and the 113th Cavalry, reported at Camp Dodge on August 10th, 1921. On August 12th, 1921, the 133rd Infantry and 1st Squadron of the 113th Cavalry occupied the target range for small arms instruction; the following day the range was occupied by the 168th Infantry and the 2nd Squadron of the 113th Cavalry. Instruction was carried on for the entire period of the encampment, organizations alternating as previously mentioned. Preliminary instruction was given as provided for in Rifle Marksmanship. Classes in sighting and aiming, positions and trigger squeeze were formed, supervised by the most competent men available. No man was permitted to participate in the actual firing without having passed through these classes. It is estimated that the training was approximately 50% efficient. This is due to the fact that officers and men had little or no previous experience in target range practice. A deep interest in the training was displayed by all participating; this was reflected in the improved scores and organization as the training progressed. The pistol range was open at all times, being occupied almost exclusively by the 113th Cavalry. The Machine Gun Range was occupied alternately by the Machine Gun units of the regiments above enumerated. The practice was conducted in a systematic manner and the efficiency of each officer and man improved with each added opportunity.

Discipline throughout the entire training period was excellent. I am indebted to Col. L. D. Ross, Col. Guy S. Brewer and Major Park Findley for their untiring energy and hearty cooperation in making this phase of our military training the success that I believe it was.

It is estimated that it will take a period of approximately three years to obtain desired results in range practice.

Hon. N. E. Kendall, Commander-in-Chief, the Adjutant General, and other state officers were interested spectators during the training.

1. The following commendations and criticisms are given on the Camp of Instruction, August 9th-24th, inclusive at Camp Dodge, Iowa:

Camp: Very satisfactory. Barracks affording excellent shelter with provisions for messing and bathing.

Supply: Ample and efficiently handled.

Transportation: Sufficient and well handled, especially after all transportation was pooled.

Medical attendance and hospital facilities, excellent.

Camp Administration: Very satisfactory. Carried out with efficiency and with a minimum of friction. As the Camp Headquarters were more closely allied to the 67th Infantry Brigade, the Infantry Instructor will probably take this up in more detail.

Police and Sanitation: Not entirely satisfactory due to lack of experience on the part of many of the line officers.

Cavalry: The system of instruction was satisfactory and good results were obtained. Due to the fact that so many of the troops had been organized a very short time, some of the advanced portion of the program was eliminated.

Administration: In general very good. Commanding Officer too lenient with his officers and inclined to attend to details himself rather than require subordinates to do so.

Through an apparent misunderstanding of the duties of the Service Troop, this organization was given more than its share of fatigue.

No officer showed marked inefficiency.

Major Park A. Findley, Captain Maxwell O'Brien, Capt. George B. Little, Capt. Ray Yenter.

Subject: Field Training, Infantry Regiments, Iowa N. G., Period August 10 to 24, 1921.

The following extracts from the "Field Inspection Reports" rendered to the Commanding General 7th Corps Area on the Field Training of the 133rd and 168th Infantry Regiments, Iowa N. G., are submitted for your information, together with recommendations upon which remedial action may be based:

1. 133rd Infantry:

1. Organization: The regiment conforms in its organization to that prescribed by Tables of Organization, 1921, with the following exceptions—Not yet Federally recognized: Hdqrs. Co. 1st Bn. and Company M.

2. Antityphoid Inoculation: Of the 57 officers and 1,238 enlisted men composing this regiment only 46 officers and 172 enlisted men have received the complete inoculation. Recommendation: That steps be taken to insure the completion of this highly important protective measure at the home stations of the various units.

3. General condition of arms, uniforms and equipment. Upon arrival: Practically new and in good condition. At departure: Good, except fire arms which needed removal of metal fouling. Recommendation: That all company commanders be required to cause all metal fouling to be removed from all fire arms under their charge, as soon as practicable upon arrival at home stations. This process is prescribed in Par. 161 and 162, Rifle Marksmanship, 1920.

4. Personal Hygiene: Care of feet; first aid. Upon arrival, fair. At departure, good (considering length of service). Recommendation: That all company commanders be instructed to attach greater importance to these essential subjects. The subject of Personal Hygiene and care of the feet is treated in convenient form on pages 42 to 47, Manual for N. C. O's and Privates, 1917, and the subject of first aid, on pages 286 to 296, same manual.

5. Observance of Military Courtesy: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

6. Instruction in guard duty: Upon arrival, poor. At departure, good.

7. Physical Drill: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

8. Pitching Shelter Tents; Making Camp: Upon arrival, practically no instruction. At departure, fair. Recommendation: In view of the fact that these subjects cannot be profitably included in the regular armory drills, it is suggested that company commanders give special attention to same whenever their companies are at their target ranges at home stations.

9. Whistle and Arm Signals: Upon arrival, bad. At departure, fair. Recommendation: As these signals and their correct employment cannot be taught theoretically to any advantage, company commanders should be required to constantly employ same during a portion of each drill, and to cause all officers and N. C. O's under their respective commands to do likewise. Only constant and correct application of these signals will insure sufficient familiarity on part of the men to make these signals of practical value.

10. Bayonet Training; Combat Practice: Upon arrival, fair. At departure, good.

11. Instruction in School of the Soldier; School of the Squad: Upon arrival, fair. Non-commissioned officers lacked confidence and necessary knowledge as instructors and leaders. At departure, good (to a limited extent). Recommendation: As confidence on part of N. C. O's can only be brought about by the practice of assuming responsibility and by gaining the respect of others, based on the ability to impart knowledge and to improve, it is absolutely necessary that company commanders place the proper responsibility on their N. C. O's and require them to gain knowledge, impart that knowledge to others and to practically handle their respective units in correct manner.

12. Instruction of Platoon and Company in Close Order: Upon arrival, poor (Not the fault of Cos., as prescribed armory drill schedule did not require much progress in these subjects at that time). At departure, fair.

13. Target Practice: Upon arrival, preliminary work, poor; gallery practice, poor; range practice, practically no prior practice. At departure, range practice, fair. (The regiment was not afforded an adequate number of competent instructors.) Recommendation: As marksmen or better are not made on the target range, but by the preliminary work at home stations, it is necessary for company commanders to see that thorough and systematic instruction is given their men during the winter months at their armories, and that individual attention is given to each man, in order to protect him against acquiring the common shooting vices which are so hard to overcome on the target range and which handicap all progress. It is strongly recommended that every company acquire and maintain a target range and use same to the fullest extent.

14. Musketry training for squad, platoon and company, involving duties of leaders and distribution, direction and control of fire: Upon arrival, no prior instruction (not called for by schedule). At departure, no instruction, except in "Target Designations"—result fair. (Lack of competent instructors).

Note: It was intended to prepare the officers as instructors in this subject during the 4 days' preliminary training period which was expected to precede the encampment. As this project was disapproved by the Militia Bureau, no such instruction could be given.

15. Machine Gun Training: Upon arrival, poor. At departure, very good. Instruction given and enthusiasm displayed by the National Guard Officers who acted as instructors, under supervision of the Regimental Machine Gun Officer was "excellent." Target practice was confined to 1,000-inch range practice.

Note: It was observed that Machine Gun Companies and Officers were not equipped with "Machine Gun Service Regulations." Recommendation: That all Machine Gun Officers and companies be required to equip themselves with the prescribed copies of "Machine Gun Service Regulations."

16. Automatic Rifle Practice: Upon arrival, no prior practice. At departure, good (1,000-inch range practice only).

Note: It was observed that officers and companies were not equipped with "Automatic Rifle Marksmanship, 1929." Recommendation: That all officers of the regiment and all companies be required to equip themselves with the prescribed copies of "Automatic Rifle Marksmanship, 1929."

17. Maneuvers or Similar Exercises: Upon arrival, no prior instruction. At departure: Instruction in Advance and Rear Guard, Patrolling Outposts, including the writing of Field Orders and Messages was included in the program of instruction for this Field Training Period. Results obtained was less than fair, due to the lack of competent instructors.

Note: It was intended to prepare the officers as instructors in these subjects during the 4 days' preliminary training period expected to precede the encampment. This project having been disapproved by the Militia Bureau, no such instruction could be imparted to the officers, and there being no regular army instructors available for this purpose, no aid could be given to National Guard Officers in this respect.

18. Assembly for Drill and Instruction: Upon arrival, promptness, poor; orderliness, good. At departure, promptness, good; orderliness, very good.

19. Attendance of Officers and Men: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

20. Reveille: Upon arrival, promptness, poor; completeness of uniform, good. At departure, promptness, fair; completeness of uniform, very good.

21. Observance of Taps: Upon arrival, poor. At departure, good.

22. Conduct of men in and out of camp: Upon arrival, very good. At departure, excellent.

23. Military appearance: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good. Officers, as well as men, presented a very creditable appearance.

24. Esprit: There is evidence of development of a regimental and of company esprit, which, with proper encouragement by precept and example on the part of the officers is bound to grow.

25. Condition and Sufficiency of Arms, Uniforms and Equipment: Barring minor shortages, there is a complete equipment, except the following: Machine Gun Cos. have no pistols or holsters; Howitzer Co. has no pistol holsters. Uniforms: Complete authorized issue, except shoes; short issues in the regiment average about 10% and misfits that, according to reports, cannot be corrected by local exchange, about 20%. Recommendation: That all company officers be required to familiarize themselves with the provisions of W. D. Document 879, "Army Foot Measuring and Shoe Fitting System." Every officer and every supply sergeant is required to be equipped with a copy.

26. Condition of Barracks, Mess Halls, Latrines, etc.: Very good.

27. Instruction of Mess Sergeants and Cooks: Very good.

28. Records: Completeness, fair. Legibility, good. Instruction in keeping of, poor. Administration in the older companies is noticeably better than in the newer ones.

Note: The majority of company commanders are inexperienced as such and are not sufficiently careful in looking over papers and documents before signing same. About 70% of the Service Records are incomplete. About 60% of Form 637, A. G. O. (Individual Equipment Record) are inaccurate. Five (5) companies have no Property and Loan Records.

Recommendation: That all Company Commanders be required to procure and acquaint themselves with Special Regulations 57, "Company Administration," of which every Officer, Supply Sergeant and Co. Clerk is required to have a copy. That all company commanders be required to bring up to date in correct form, in accordance with requirements, all service records, individual equipment records and property and loan records.

29. Tables of Organization: Company officers are not equipped with Tables of Organization pertaining to their organization. Recommendation: That all unit commanders within the regiment be required to equip their organizations with the correct "Table of Organization."

30. Efficiency for Field Service: As a whole this regiment cannot be considered as efficient for Field Service, principally due to the fact that eight (8) of its component units were organized since January, 1921. The following named companies may be considered as efficient for Field Service: Service Co., Cos. C, D, F, G, I and L.

31. Especially Efficient Units: Service Co. and Cos. D and C, in the order named.

32. Especially Inefficient Units: Considering the length of their existence, no company in this regiment can be considered as specially inefficient.

33. Names of officers who displayed exceptional ability: Colonel Lloyd D. Ross, an experienced field officer and efficient regimental commander, energetic, painstaking and devoted to his duties.

Lieut. Colonel Winfred H. Bailey, an experienced, efficient and accomplished field officer.

Major Henry C. Gelger, 3rd Bn., an experienced, able and energetic field officer and organizer.

Captains Sophus Klinge, Co. C, Howard J. Rouse, Co. D, Fred R. Frost, Co. G, Harold W. Odle, Co. H, all able and especially efficient company commanders.

First Lieutenants Ralph H. Denny, Co. A; John W. Fulton, Co. F, able and especially efficient company officers.

First Lieutenant Joseph A. Meyers, Regimental Intelligence Officer, able and especially efficient.

34. Names of officers who displayed marked inefficiency:

Captain Forrest R. Wright, acting Regimental Supply officer, inefficient through lack of initiative and loyal attention to his duties; a graduate of Basic and Post Graduate Course for N. G. officers, Camp Benning, Ga. Has been given opportunities as a Co. Commander and as a Regimental Staff Officer, but has failed in both capacities to gain the confidence and approval of his commanding officers.

Captain Albert F. Swanson, rendered surplus by conversion of his former Co. F, into Hdqrs. Co., 3rd Bn., unsuitable officer material, poor disciplinarian; lacks appreciation of his duties. This officer has been given an opportunity as an acting member of the Brigade Staff, but with unsatisfactory results.

First Lieutenant Ralph C. Wright, Hdqrs. Co., 3rd Bn., unsuitable officer material, a poor disciplinarian, lacks appreciation of his position and of his duties.

Second Lieut. John R. Finger, Service Co., unsuitable officer material on account of lack of fundamental education and ability. Not capable of further development as an officer.

35. Morale of Regiment: Both the discipline and the morale of this regiment were on a whole "Excellent," and are worthy of special mention.

36. Special Recommendation Made by Major Brandt to Commanding General 7th Corps Area: That, in view of the fact that the present authorized issue of one (1) cotton, O. D. uniform is insufficient to allow for proper washing during encampment periods, that an issue of at least two (2) cotton, O. D. uniforms, per man, be authorized in the future.

II. 168th Infantry:

1. Organization: The organization of this regiment conforms to that prescribed in Table of Organization, 1921.

2. Antityphoid Inoculation: Of the 58 officers and 1,358 enlisted men composing this regiment only 32 officers and 115 enlisted men have received the complete inoculation. Recommendation: That steps be taken to insure the completion of this highly important protective measure at the home stations of the various units.

3. General condition of arms, uniforms and equipment: Upon arrival, practically new and in good condition. At departure, good, except fire arms which needed removal of metal fouling. Recommendations: That all company commanders be required to cause all metal fouling to be removed from all fire arms under their charge, as soon as practicable upon arrival at home stations. This process is prescribed in Par. 161 and 162, Rifle Marksmanship, 1920.

4. Personal Hygiene: Care of feet; first aid. Upon arrival, fair. At departure, good (considering length of service). Recommendation: That all company commanders be instructed to attach greater importance to these essential subjects. The subject of Personal Hygiene and Care of the Feet is treated in convenient form on pages 42 to 47, Manual for N. C. O's. and Privates, 1917, and the subject of first aid on pages 286 to 296, same manual.

5. Observance of Military Courtesy: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

6. Instruction in Guard Duty: Upon arrival, fair. At departure, good.

7. Physical Drill: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

8. Pitching Shelter Tents; Making Camp: Upon arrival, practically no instruction. At departure, fair. Recommendation: In view of the fact that these subjects cannot be profitably included in the regular armory drills, it is suggested that company commanders give special attention to same whenever their companies are at their target ranges at home stations.

9. Whistle and Arm Signals: Upon arrival, bad. At departure, fair. Recommendation: As these signals and their correct employment cannot be taught theoretically to any advantage, company commanders should be required to constantly employ same during a portion of each drill, and to cause all officers and N. C. O.'s under their respective commands to do likewise. Only constant and correct application of these signals will insure sufficient familiarity on part of the men to make these signals of practical value.

10. Bayonet Training; Combat Practice: Upon arrival, fair. At departure, good.

11. Instruction in School of the Soldier; School of the Squad: Upon arrival, poor. Noncommissioned officers lacked confidence and necessary knowledge as instructors and leaders. At departure, good (to a limited extent). Recommendation: As confidence on part of N. C. O.'s can only be brought about by the practice of assuming responsibility and by gaining the respect of others, based on the ability to impart knowledge and to improve, it is absolutely necessary that company commanders place the proper responsibility on their N. C. O.'s and require them to gain knowledge, impart that knowledge to others and to practically handle their respective units in correct manner.

12. Instruction of Platoon and Company in Close Order: Upon arrival, poor (Not the fault of Cos., as prescribed armory drill schedule did not require much progress in these subjects at that time). At departure, fair.

13. Target Practice: Upon arrival: Preliminary work, poor; Gallery practice, poor; Range practice, practically no prior practice. At departure: Range practice, fair (The regiment was not afforded an adequate number of competent instructors. Recommendation: As marksmen or better are not made on the target range, but by the preliminary work at home stations, it is necessary for company commanders to see that thorough and systematic instruction is given their men during the winter months at their armories, and that individual attention is given to each man, in order to protect him against acquiring the common shooting vices which are so hard to overcome on the target range and which handicap all progress. It is strongly recommended that every company acquire and maintain a target range and use same to the fullest extent.

14. Musketry training, for squad, platoon, and company, involving duties of leaders and distribution, direction and control of fire: Upon arrival, no prior instruction (not called for by schedule). At departure, no instructions, except in "Target Designations"—results, fair (lack of competent instructors).

Note: It was intended to prepare the officers as instructors in this subject during the four days' preliminary training period which was expected to precede the encampment. As this project was disapproved by the Militia Bureau, no such instruction could be given.

15. Machine Gun Training: Upon arrival, poor. At departure, very good. Instruction given and enthusiasm displayed by the National Guard officers who acted as instructors, under the supervision of the Regimental Machine Gun Officer was "excellent." Target practice was confined to 1,000-inch range practice.

Note: It was observed that Machine Gun Companies and Officers were not equipped with "Machine Gun Service Regulations." Recommendation: That all Machine Gun Officers and companies be required to equip themselves with the prescribed copies of "Machine Gun Service Regulations."

16. Automatic Rifle Practice: Upon arrival, no prior practice. At departure, good (1,000-inch range practice only).

Note: It was observed that officers and companies were not equipped with "Automatic Rifle Marksmanship, 1920." Recommendation: That all officers of the regiment and all companies be required to equip themselves with the prescribed copies of "Automatic Rifle Marksmanship, 1920."

17. Maneuvers or similar exercises: Upon arrival, no prior instruction. At departure, instruction in Advance and Rear Guard, Patrolling, Outpost, including the writing of Field Orders and Messages was included in the Program of Instruction for this Field Training Period. Results obtained were less than fair, due to the lack of competent instructors.

Note: It was intended to prepare the officers as instructors in these subjects during the four days' preliminary training period expected to precede the encampment. This project having been disapproved by the Militia Bureau, no such instruction could be imparted to the officers, and there being no regular army instructors available for this purpose, no aid could be given to National Guard Officers in this respect.

18. Assembly for Drill and Instruction: Upon arrival: Promptness, fair. Orderliness, Good. At departure: Promptness, good. Orderliness, very good.

19. Attendance of Officers and Men: Upon arrival, good. At departure, very good.

20. Reveille: Upon arrival: Promptness, good; completeness of uniform, good. At departure: Promptness, very good; completeness of uniform, very good.

21. Observance of Taps: Upon arrival, poor; at departure, good.

22. Conduct of men in and out of camp: Upon arrival, very good; at departure, excellent.

23. Military appearance: Upon arrival, good; at departure, very good. Officers, as well as men, presented a very creditable appearance.

24. Esprit: There is a fairly well developed regimental esprit, based on the history of the regiment during the World War.

25. Condition and Sufficiency of Arms, Uniforms and Equipment: Barring minor shortages, there is a complete equipment, except the following: Machine Gun Cos. and Howitzer Co. have no pistols and holsters. Howitzer Co. has no Howitzers, nor equipment pertaining to guns. Equipment: Hdqrs. Co. and Bn. Hdqrs. Cos. have no communications equipments. Uniforms: Complete authorized issue, except the following: Shoes, short issue in regiment averages about 12%, misfits that cannot be corrected by local exchange, about 25%. Recommendation: That all company officers be required to familiarize themselves with the provisions of W. D. Document 879, "Army Foot Measuring and Shoe Fitting System." Every officer and supply sergeant is required to be equipped with a copy.

26. Condition of Barracks, Mess Halls, Latrines, etc.: Very good.

27. Instruction of Mess Sergeants and Cooks: Very good.

28. Records. Completeness, fair; legibility, good; instruction in keeping of, poor. Administration in the older companies is noticeably better than in the newer ones.

Note: The majority of company commanders are inexperienced as such and depend too much on their 1st Sergeants and Co. Clerks, who are likewise without experience. About 90% of Service Records are incomplete. Eight (8) Companies have no Property and Loan Records; these records in the remaining Cos. are incomplete. Recommendation: That all Company Commanders be required to procure and acquaint themselves with Special Regulations 57 "Company Administration," of which every officer, Supply Sergeant and Co. Clerk is required to have a copy. That all company commanders be required to bring up to date in correct form, in accordance with requirements, all service records and Property and Loan Records.

29. Tables of Organization: Company officers are not equipped with Tables of Organization pertaining to their organization. Recommendation: That all unit commanders within the regiment be required to equip their organizations with the correct "Table of Organization."

30. Efficiency for Field Service: Owing to its recent organization this regiment cannot be considered as efficient for field service.

31. Especially efficient or inefficient Units: None to be reported in either class.

Office of the Instructor, Field Artillery, Iowa National Guard.

From: The Instructor.

To: The Adjutant General, Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

Subject: Report of Field Training, F. A., I. N. G., 1921.

1. The following report of Field Training of Batteries "B" and "C," led by F. A., Iowa N. G., held at Camp Knox, Ky., July 25 to August 8, 1921, is rendered for your information:

I. Housing. The Batteries were housed in permanent cantonment buildings, which were put in a complete state of repair and police prior to their arrival. Toilet and bath facilities were permanent installations, and were entirely adequate. The area was situated in close proximity to the gun sheds where drill was conducted, and contained a Y. M. C. A. hut and a parade ground.

II. Messing. Upon arrival the organization found china and glassware issued and set out in the mess halls; filled refrigerators; food for three days drawn and on the pantry shelves; hot coffee and ham sandwiches ready to serve, and Regular cooks and Mess Sgts. in charge. These latter continued in charge for instruction purposes during the entire encampment, gradually relinquishing the responsibility for the drawing and preparation of food to the N. G. cooks and Mess Sgts. as they became qualified to assume it. All meals were well prepared and plentiful, although the low ration (29.4) inhibited many luxuries.

III. Supply. Owing to the fact that the individual equipment of Battery "C" did not arrive until the Battery had left Keokuk, complete equipment was issued by the 2nd F. A. (U. S.) to that Battery. Cots (spring), mattresses, pillows, blankets, sheets and pillow-cases were issued by the Camp Quartermaster, together with the mess equipment mentioned above. All discrepancies were remedied as soon as discovered.

IV. Instruction. (See attached schedules.) Instruction was conducted by the 1st Bn., 2nd U. S. F. A., and consisted in pairing each member of both N. G. Batteries, both Officers and Enlisted Men with their opposite numbers in the Regular organizations in all drill maneuver, and administrative matters. Additional instruction was given in Guard Mounting, ceremonies (parade), tent-pitching, pistol manual and practice, and road discipline.

V. Administration. The Batteries were formed into a provisional Battalion, and were administered directly as such. Internal administration with the keeping of all records and blank forms were conducted by the Battery Commanders under the supervision of the instructor, together with the preparation of morning reports, duty rosters, sick reports, ration returns, etc.

VI. Recreation. Arrangements were made by the Camp Entertainment Officer for some form of recreation each evening, consisting of free moving pictures, dances, etc. Baseball equipment was issued, teams formed, and games played. The Batteries also were excused from drill to witness Camp League games. A week-end excursion to Mammoth Cave was conducted.

VII. Sanitation and Hygiene. The Batteries had a remarkably low sick record, an average of less than two men per day being absent from instruction from illness. Camp sanitation and personal hygiene was rigidly enforced and maintained under the Camp Sanitary Inspector.

VIII. Conclusions. The energy and application of the enlisted men of the Batteries cannot be too highly praised. The efforts and interest shown by officers and men of the 2d U. S. F. A. in connection with careful instruction was fully appreciated, and full advantage taken thereof. The results attained were excellent, and a high tribute to the efficacy of the instruction methods. It is believed that a solid foundation of practice has been laid upon which the Armory drill and instruction for the coming season may be profitably founded.

IX. Recommendations. The need for a Battalion organization was very evident, and it is recommended that same be instituted as soon as practicable. In this connection attention is invited to letter from this office dated March 1, 1921.

Training Memorandum, No. 44.

May 19, 1921.

I. PLAN OF TRAINING FOR NATIONAL GUARD UNITS AT CAMP KNOX, KENTUCKY, July and August, 1921.

1. Object. To develop during a two weeks encampment sufficient skill on the part of the individual and sufficient team work on the part of the batteries to enable batteries to operate as such in maneuvering, in firing and in tactical exercises; so that, having covered roughly during this period the most essential of the duties required of Artillery in the field, the home training of the batteries may afterward be directed toward filling up the gaps in the instruction here received.

2. Part to be played by the Regular Officers and men pertaining to the organization to which the National Guard is assigned for training. The Commanding Officer, 81st F. A., will be in charge of instruction of units assigned to work with the 81st, and the Commanding Officer, 2nd Field Artillery will be in charge of instruction for units working with the 2nd Field Artillery. In each battalion there will be an Officers' School and a Specialist School, under charge of the battalion commander. In each Battery there will be a School of Fire Discipline and a School of Maneuver, under charge of the Battery Commander. Arrangements will be made for Regular personnel to assist in the instruction, first by giving demonstrations to cover each important phase of the training, and second, by acting as Assistant Instructors. Each battery, each section, and each specialist detail will be concerned with the rapid development of the corresponding National Guard Unit assigned to it for instruction.

3. Hours of instruction. From 7 to 11:30 a. m. and from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m.; training. From 3:00 to 5:00 p. m., athletics and recreation. From 5:30 to 6:15, ceremonies.

4. Care of equipment, materiel, animals, etc. A specific feature of the training will be the care of material, equipment, motors and animals. Exact accountability for all property will be provided for. At the conclusion of each instruction period, all equipment, material, and animals used during that period will be thoroughly cared for and adequate time given to this duty, all officers concerned remaining with their units until this duty is fully performed.

5. Disciplinary instruction and ceremonies. All units will be marched to and from the places for instruction at attention. During intervals of firing instruction and fire discipline the gun squads will be given brisk exercises in posting and reforming, limbering and unlimbering, changing posts, and moving carriages. These exercises should not be unduly prolonged. They are essentially for disciplinary purposes and to inculcate alertness on the part of the cannoneer.

Each afternoon, except Saturday and Sunday, a parade or other ceremony will be held. Guard mount will be held daily.

Barracks, mess halls, latrines and grounds surrounding the same must be kept continuously policed.

6. Inspections and Competitions.

a. An inspection will be made at 6:45 each morning, except Saturday and Sunday, by the Battery Officers of each National Guard Battery, of the barracks, mess halls, latrines and area occupied by the Battery.

b. The regimental Surgeon will make a detailed inspection of the entire area occupied by the Regiment (or Battalion) at 10 a. m. each day, and will make a comparative rating daily, on the basis of 100, of each barrack, each mess hall, each latrine, and each Battery area. He will submit a report daily to Camp Headquarters, through the Regimental (or battalion) Commander, showing the results of this inspection. Copies of the report will be posted daily on battery bulletin boards.

c. At the formation for the evening parade, or other ceremony a careful inspection of each battery will be made for personal appearance and for upkeep of clothing and equipment. This inspection will habitually be made by the Battery Officers; but on the fourth day and the ninth day, the evening ceremony will consist of a formal inspection by regular officers conducted on a competitive basis to determine which Battery has the greatest number of well-turned out men.

d. On the fourth morning between 10:30 and 11:00 a. m., each battalion will have a competitive drill in fire discipline, a series of firing data being announced, and the accuracy with which the guns are laid and the instruments set being tested. The results of this test will be reported to Camp Headquarters.

e. Record will be kept by the Regular Battalion Commanders of each problem fired by National Guard Batteries, and report made to Camp Headquarters of the results achieved on forms provided for the purpose.

7. Periods of instruction.

a. Preliminary period, comprising the first four days fully available for instruction.

The object aimed at in this period is to develop individual skill on the part of the cannoneer or driver, and team work on the part of the gun squad, the section, and the Battery. Also to give officers practice in determination of firing data, in conduct of fire—using the blackboard, the indoor and outdoor terrain board—and in map problems.

b. Firing practice period, comprising the five days following the preliminary period.

The purpose of this period is to give officers and men practice in actual firing and in the solution of simple tactical problems.

The detailed training, begun in the preliminary period, will be continued and amplified throughout the period.

c. Field practice period, comprising the two days succeeding the firing practice period.

The purpose of this period is to give the Regiment, or Battalion, two days of field work, involving marching, bivouacking, the solution of tactical problems, service practice by day and by night, and the care of men and animals under conditions of field service.

8. A more detailed program for each period is outlined below.

A. Preliminary period. Four days.

FIRST DAY

7 a. m. to 11:30 a. m.

a. Fire discipline. The gun squads of each Regular and each National Guard Battery are marched to the gun park. The National Guard Battery stands at ease and observes. The Regular Battery gives a demonstration in posting the gun squads, maneuvering the carriages by hand, preparing for action, serving the pieces through a series of simulated firings with subsequent checking up of sight settings and gun layings; then in the execution of march order and in reforming the gun squads.

The National Guard Battery, after due explanation of each step, is then posted with the carriages and given a brief disciplinary drill in maneuvering the carriages by hand; then the gun squads prepare for action and have detailed instruction in the individual duties of each cannoneer, with explanation of the operation of sights, quadrants, fuze setters, etc., and also the method of functioning of gun and the ammunition. After this each cannoneer is practiced, individually, in his duties, and at the conclusion of the morning's work, each gun squad is instructed as a team in serving its piece.

1—For Horse Drawn Batteries.

b. Driving instruction. The Regular and National Guard drivers of each battery are marched to the stables; the Regular drivers give a demonstration of standing to heel, harnessing by detail, and unharnessing by detail. The National Guard drivers then repeat these operations and are instructed in fitting and adjusting harness. Regular drivers then harness again by detail lead out by pair, and illustrate the use of the aids and the method of handling the pair harnessed. The National Guard then replaces the Regular personnel and are practiced themselves in handling the pair harnessed. The teams are then formed and the Regular drivers demonstrate the method of handling the team harnessed, which process is then repeated by the National Guard drivers. Finally the National Guard drivers are instructed in leading in by pair, in unharnessing by detail, in cleaning harness and storing it and in the grooming, watering and feeding of animals.

2—For Motor Drawn Batteries.

7:00 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. Driving instruction. The Regular and National Guard driver of each battery are marched to garages. The Regular drivers give a demonstration of inspecting tractors previous to going out, filling the radiator, cranking up. Then of putting tractor away, greasing, filling with gas and oil, draining radiator. The National Guard drivers repeat these operations. The tractors are then driven for a short time, the Regular driver sitting next to and instructing the National Guard driver.

1:00 to 3 p. m. The morning work is continued and amplified. The National Guard driver assisting the Regular driver in cleaning, greasing and filling the tractor.

c. Specialist instruction. The specialists of each battalion and of the batteries thereof, are assembled in one place and instructed by the Regular Battalion Adjutant, assisted by the members of the Regular specialists details of the battalion and the batteries. The use of telephones and of the various instruments are explained in detail and each specialist is given an opportunity to practice with the instrument he is to use.

1:00 to 3:00 p. m.—a. Officers School. All National Guard officers in each battalion, except the Executive of each Battery, and a Battalion Adjutant for the specialists of each battalion, are assembled under the Battalion Commander and given one hour's practice out of doors in the determination of firing data, and one hour's practice indoors in conduct of fire, using the black board and the terrain board.

b. The morning's work in fire discipline, driving instruction and specialist instruction is continued. Unless it is considered necessary, demonstrations are not repeated by the Regular personnel for this phase of the instruction. The whole of the period of instruction is devoted to the practicing of the National Guard personnel in the details covered by the morning's work.

The Camp Veterinarian will conduct a school for stable sergeants and horseshoers; this course will deal especially with stable management and army horseshoeing. Lieutenant Guth will conduct a school for mess sergeants in mess management and the handling of the army ration.

The above schools will be held from 1:00 to 3:00 p. m. daily.

SECOND DAY

The second day is an amplification of the first, the latter half of the morning and afternoon period being devoted to developing team work of the gun squad and the team unhitched; for motor drivers, review of the first day and beginning driving by National Guard drivers. The work of the specialists and of the battery officers schools is continued progressively.

THIRD DAY

Continuation of the work of the second day. The cannoners devote the first hour to fire discipline by gun squad; the drivers devote the first hour to harnessing by detail and forming and maneuvering the teams hitched; for motor drivers maneuvering the tractor without load. At the conclusion of this hour the teams and tractors are conducted to the gun park, hitched in, and carriages limbered and the sections are moved out to the drill ground where practice is had in limbering and unlimbering, in simple maneuvers and in taking positions. After the occupation of a position has been practiced several times, fire discipline is then practiced by the gun squads.

The work of the specialists, and of the Battery Officers School is continued progressively, following the work of the preceding day.

FOURTH DAY

Continuation and amplification of the foregoing instructions. After the first hour's work employed as on the third day, the teams are hitched and carriages limbered, and the Battery moves out as such and is practiced in maneuver, in the occupation of position, and in fire discipline. Stress is laid upon the duties of the Executive. The specialists are present with the Battery and are practiced in their respective duties with the Battery. The afternoon to be a repetition of the morning except that the preliminary period before hitching, limbering and leaving part is abbreviated. On this afternoon all National Guard officers are present with their Batteries and practice in determination of firing data and in conduct of fire is had as part of the Battery Drill.

RESUME

The study of foot conditions existing in the Iowa organizations and in units of other state troops, by the undersigned in the capacity of "Provisional Podiatrist" dates back to 1916, Camp Dodge, Iowa, where Brig. Gen. G. E. Logan, A. G., Ia.; Brig. Gen. H. A. Allen, now commanding the 57th U. S. Inf.; Col. George Morgan, Cav., U. S. A., Senior Inspector-Instructor, and Lt. Col. D. S. Fairchild, Chief Medical Officer, I. N. G., now Lt. Col., M. C., U. S. A., interested themselves in this important subject matter, known as "podiatry" (Greek podos foot; iatreia healing) i. e. scientific care of the human foot.

The Sanitation of Feet in its various phases has been attended to by the undersigned on Border Service and has formed, as per copies of endorsements appended hereto, an important part of the official drill programme. (Brig. Gen. Parker, U. S. A.; L. F. Kilbourne, Major, Inf., U. S. A., in charge of Militia Affairs; Edgar L. Field, Major, Inf., late Captain 36th U. S. Inf., Inspector-Instructor.)

Inspection of feet at that period indicated approximately 75 per cent defects, produced by improperly, short fitted shoes.

Inspection of feet of the enlisted personnel of the reorganized Iowa National Guard at Camp McHenry, 1920, evidenced 40 per cent foot disabilities of static nature. (Aforesaid report and Instruction Bulletin, "Marching Efficiency and Foot Sanitation," approved and endorsed by Lt. Col. L. D. Ross, Commanding Officer of Camp McHenry, and Lt. Col. Douglas Potts, U. S. A., Senior Inspector-Instructor.)

The reports on these inspections also resulted in a War Department communication from Major General C. S. Farnsworth, Chief of Infantry, (A. J. D., O. M. B., 10-12-20), informing the undersigned that a recommendation would be made to the proper authorities with a view of assigning podiatrists to the service and that the aforementioned article, "Marching Efficiency and Foot Sanitation," would be published in the Infantry Journal.

The close relationship between: sound feet and sound health actuated Brig. Gen. L. G. Lasher, A. G., Ia.; Brig. Gen. M. A. Tinley, commanding the 67th Brig. I. N. G.; Lt. Col. W. S. Conkling, Chief Surgeon, and Major A. Brandt, Inf., U. S. A., Inspector-Instructor, to accept the tender of services of the undersigned to inspect the feet of the organizations at Camp Dodge, to render separate and consolidated reports thereon and to attend to Foot Sanitation as a means of increasing foot and general efficiency in the armed forces and industrial armies of this commonwealth.

Whereas it has been the custom of men with a unity of purpose to study certain subjects tending to benefit mankind, and whereas such studies and investigations permit of a large scope for the attainment of knowledge, of improvement and its practical application, it must be evident that eventually the organizations will benefit by these investigations.

And no one realizes the great significance of the subject herewith presented more fully than the soldier, whose feet become so prone to static disorders by reason of their varied locomotive and weightbearing functions.

SCHOOLS

In December, 1920, a School for Officers of the Iowa National Guard was held in Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and in January, 1922, in Des Moines, Iowa. All Officers of all grades were ordered to attend.

The School consisted of morning and afternoon sessions and papers were read on all phases of the Military Service of this State. Officers selected for their intimate knowledge of a given subject, were required to prepare and read a paper on that particular subject, and time was allowed for the officers present to ask questions and discuss the paper.

These Schools are of exceptional value to the Officers of the Guard, not only from the standpoint of specialized instruction, but also that it brings the unit commanders together under one roof and gives them an opportunity to compare notes, and discuss their individual problems, and gain by the experiences of others, a knowledge obtainable in no other way.

Address, delivered by Brig. General Louis G. Lasher, Adjutant General Iowa, January 12, 1922, at the opening session of the three-day school and conference for officers of the National Guard of Iowa.

Our Commander in Chief, General Tinley. Gentlemen:

As the representative of the Governor and Commander in Chief, and as the one on whom the details of the administration of the National Guard of this state falls, I extend to you, my official and personal welcome, and desire to express now, my appreciation of the co-operation and assistance I have received from you all, in perfecting Iowa's part in the greatest military organization this country has ever undertaken.

Our mission and the part we play in the general scheme of national defense, is a great one, how successfully it will be accomplished, depends entirely upon the degree of interest and enthusiasm each may have in the whole scheme, and his conscientious administration of his particular part as it relates to the whole. Personally, I know of no greater honor or satisfaction that could come to an individual, than to be placed in a position of responsibility where he can, in a definite way, be instrumental in making rules and laying plans that will tend to a better, stronger, and more efficient organization of citizen soldiers for our National defense, and at the same time, avoid trespassing on the traditional military policy of this, our country.

You are probably informed that the policy referred to is expressed by the Congress of the United States, and in consequence is a reflection of the sentiment of the whole people of this country. It is final, that we are to maintain a small regular army in time of peace, which in time of stress during a National emergency will be re-inforced by great armies of citizen soldiers. However, the experience of the World War has shown that even under the most favorable conditions, with a vast majority of the people back of the effort, and with the co-operation of powerful allies, the creation and organization of a large force requires more than a year, with the tremendous waste of money and energy which always follows a hasty organization. Hence the only constructive remedy is to organize a large and efficient National Guard which could take the field in a comparatively short period of time, immediately following mobilization. This fact is recognized by the Congress, and much against their inclination, by the War Department, and it is not necessary for me to analyze the benefits to be derived by the organization to which we belong.

The purpose of this school and conference, is to bring you all together under one roof, and put before you those things which neither time or opportunity allows at any other gathering during the year, and it is contemplated and hoped that you will, by contact with the other officers of the Guard, by conference with your battalion and regimental officers, and by suggestions from the officers at Brigade and State Headquarters, be able to obtain advice and information which will help simplify your problems. I most sincerely trust that your deliberations during these meetings will be fruitful of great good, that by the wise council of your senior officers, you will be able to demonstrate a greater interest in, and a spirit of loyalty to your organization, which will be reflected by the organization you belong to at Camp this year.

Last year, I outlined to you the new legislation, which had been passed by the Congress, and its possible effect on the Guard. The intent of the men who were responsible for the legislation referred to, was apparent to all, and was satisfactory to all, but unfortunately many sections of the law as passed, were so worded as to permit the actual intent being regulated out of existence. While it is appreciated that the Act of June 4, 1920, has not had time to be put to a thorough working test, and it has been thought wise to avoid the agitation necessary to make changes in the law, for the present at least, yet there are certain recognized discrepancies that demand immediate attention. The Adjutants General Association met in Washington, early in 1921, and presented certain proposed amendments to the law. Originally there were thirteen such proposals, of which seven were submitted to Congress. These have passed the senate, and are now awaiting action of the lower house. Since the meeting referred to, other vital questions have arisen which required another meeting of the Adjutants General, consequently General C. I. Martin of Kansas, called a meeting for December 12, 13, 14, at Washington for the purpose of analyzing these questions and endeavor to obtain legislation which would correct and improve existing conditions.

The result of this meeting indicates that the National Guard will receive the benefits of the following:

1. Authority for United States Property and Disbursing Officer to pay troops direct and that he will receive sufficient office help at Government expense to accomplish his work expeditiously.
2. Corrections in regulations, which will permit more than one officer with a Battalion Headquarters Company of Infantry.
3. That the additional pay of $240.00 per year for Captains commanding companies or like units, be extended to cover any commissioned officer under grade of Major, commanding companies or like units.
4. Authorizing one (1) additional enlisted uniform, and one (1) additional O. D. Woolen Shirt, issued to each enlisted man.

5. Use of hobnail shoes for field work only, and authorize issue of light marching shoes for Armory Drill.

6. That issue of New N. G. R. be expedited, and that all War Department books, publications and orders be issued to the National Guard through the Adjutant General of the State. These constitute the most vital questions which pertain to the National Guard as a whole, but a number of other matters were taken up on which some favorable action has been promised, such as:

Horses for certain Cavalry units.

Records of Officers and men who served in World War.

Reorganization of the National Guard Association of the United States.

In reference to the last mentioned, I do not believe all of you realize that the favorable legislation we now have from Congress, is the result of independent action on the part of the Adjutants General of the several states, and dates back to early in 1919. The fight became so bitter that from certain quarters, the charge was made openly, that the proposed program, was merely an obsession of the Adjutants General, that it was for their own personal benefit, and they went further, and said the National Guard itself did not want such legislation and was not in any way supporting the program. So plausible was the story, they nearly got away with it, as practically all the active National Guard were in France or down on the border, and were not able to speak for themselves. Fortunately we were able to obtain sufficient support from both Senate and House, to get by. This experience, however, made the Adjutants General realize more than ever, that the National Guard must stand on its two feet and make a noise. While the Adjutants General are the official voice of the Guard from their several states, the fact remains they must have the active support and co-operation of every officer and every man in the Guard, to obtain proper legislation, both state and federal. To do this, and make it effective, you must have a strong, live National Guard association in each state, which will affiliate with the National Association, which in turn, will, with the help of the Adjutants General Association, make possible any and all reasonable legislation.

At the Washington meeting, it was recommended that a meeting of the National Guard Association of the United States be held in the near future. I am in receipt of a letter from Col. Bennett Clark, calling a meeting of the National Guard Association at New Orleans, February 27th, 1922, for the purpose of reorganizing the old association and making it an active organization which will make itself felt in all matters pertaining to the Guard as a whole.

The 39th General Assembly of Iowa, amended the Military Code of Iowa in many particulars, the outstanding features are as follows:

Members of the National Guard who are drafted by the United States shall upon discharge from Federal Service, continue to serve the balance of their enlistment in the Guard, the same as though their period of enlistment had not been interrupted, by draft.

The provisions for service badges amended, so that a member of the National Guard who serves in the Federal forces during an emergency, by order of the President, may count such time toward procurement of his service badge.

The compensation of enlisted men in the Guard was changed from per diem fixed by law to the same pay received by soldiers of like grade in the United States Army.

In case a member of the Guard becomes sick, or injured while on active duty, and remains so beyond the period of active duty, he shall receive medical attention and his military pay until able to resume his civil occupation.

The statutory sums allowed to commanding officers of military units for various expenses of their commands, were repealed, and the amounts allowed for armory rent, and headquarters expense, are now fixed by an Armory Board, consisting of the Adjutant General and four other commissioned officers of the active, reserve or retired list. Its actions are subject to review by the Governor.

Each unit of the Guard showing an average attendance at drills of at least one-half of its enlisted strength for one and one-half hours each week, will receive $4.00 per member (based on its average enlisted strength) semi-annually for miscellaneous military expenses. If the attendance falls below 50 per cent of its enlisted strength, it is entitled to no allowance.

Under the provisions of the above amendments, the Armory Board made the allowance for armories, and also certain recommendations in reference to Headquarters allowance, which will be found in General Order No. 19, A. G. O. Iowa, dated October 11, 1921.

The growth of the National Guard in this state during the past year has been very satisfactory. On December 31, last year, the aggregate strength was 1,972—79 officers and 1,893 enlisted men, this was 29 per cent of our strength as authorized by the War Department, which placed us twentieth from the top of the list. On December 31, 1921, our aggregate was 3,511—164 officers and 3,347 enlisted men, making 79 per cent of our authorized strength and placing us sixth on the list.

We now have:

- 7 Officers in State Staff and Departments—no enlisted men.
- 112 Officers and 2,495 enlisted men, Infantry.
- 37 Officers and 623 enlisted men, Cavalry.
- 8 Officers and 219 enlisted men, Artillery.

In this connection I want to place credit where credit belongs. A campaign was carried on by my department to interest communities in National Guard organizations, and the officers who were active in this campaign were tireless in their efforts, they were picked because of their past service in the National Guard, their success and advancement during that service, but more particularly because of that qualification which has kept alive and made the National Guard what it was and always has been in War: The National Guard Spirit. These men were able to bring about (in spite of the rough treatment a great majority received during the World War), a come back on the part of officers who have been active in the National Guard in the past, and also to awaken in the breast of the youngster who saw service in the World War, either as an officer, non-com, or private, a desire to stay in the game and keep pace with military training. They were able to interest the youngster who had reached military age since the war, and by picturing to them their own personal experiences, bring to life a desire that they, too, could prepare for the service which their citizenship demands of them.

The efforts of this department in organizing the National Guard of this state has been toward completing Infantry, Cavalry and Artillery allotments, and to properly balance these with the necessary auxiliary units, so that we might function properly and efficiently. To do this, it became necessary to ignore the expressed desire of the War Department in regards to certain arms of the service, and also disappoint some localities which had indicated a desire for certain organizations. While this procedure may prevent us from reaching 100 per cent of our authorized allotment of troops, it was thought the best policy to pursue, by the officers who had given thought and study to the question. The following units are absolutely essential to the accomplishment of our policy, and I ask the co-operation of every officer present toward obtaining a location for these units:

- 1 Sanitary Company.
- 1 Ambulance Company—Motor Drawn.
- 1 Battalion Engineers.
- 1 Battalion Artillery (115 mm).

With the accomplishment of this, I would feel that Iowa had kept pace with her past reputation, that of always being among the best in everything.

The question of equipping the Guard has been one of the most serious problems my department has had to contend with. I feel we have done our part, and while I may open the door to the criticism that I am passing the buck, I know it to be the case that the delay in a majority of cases was not the fault of my department, nor was it the fault of the Militia Bureau, but the delay was on the part of the shipping depots, or arsenals, in effecting shipments after receipt of approved requisitions. The supply service is now in receipt of specific instruction from the War Department, to give priority to National Guard requisitions, and the chiefs of each supply service have expressed the desire and willingness to co-operate. We have already noted a decided improvement, but there is still room for more. The great trouble now seems to be lack of funds, but the deficiency bill just passed by Congress will probably remedy that phase of the situation.

A great majority of the officers present attended the last annual camp of instruction at Camp Dodge, and are more or less familiar with the contemplated plans for the future, which by the way are fast becoming an accomplished fact. A glance at the architects sketches on the walls of this chamber, will give you a very fair idea of your future home, the regimental areas, their location, the type of buildings to be constructed, etc.

I will ask General Tinley to give the architects a little time to explain in detail, some of the plans as drawn.

The swimming pool is finished and the bathing pavilion will be finished about April 15, weather permitting.

The Motor Transport Building is completed and all motor transportation stored therein.

Over one thousand trees have been planted, and some of the landscaping has been done.

Owing to an unexplained delay in the Quartermaster General's Department at Washington, the final contract completing the transfer of buildings and improvements erected by the Government on State owned land, was not completed until December 12, 1921, although every possible effort, both through military channels and by personal effort on the part of our Senators and Congressmen, has been made since February of 1921, to have the transfer completed. On December 12, the contract was forwarded to the Adjutant General of the Army and by him on December 15 to the Judge Advocate General, where it is at the present time. We are trying to pry it loose from that Department. Unfortunately this has seriously delayed our building program, as no salvage work can be started until we have absolute possession. This will entail our going into camp this year either in the present barracks or under canvas, depending entirely on conditions.

This afternoon, a special train will take you all out to camp, so that an hour may be devoted to observation of what has been accomplished during the past six months.

In conclusion, it may be helpful in the transaction of the matters that are to come before you, for me to say that the relations of the Adjutant General's Department are primarily co-operative in an earnest effort to cement together all of the elements that go to make up the National Guard of this state. We do, it is true, differ at times, but have always to this time, adjusted to what we believe to be to the best interests of the service. It must be borne in mind, that the National Guard of today, under the existing law, is to a very high degree under the supervision of the War Department, through the Militia Bureau, which in a measure ties the hands of my department in many ways, and makes impossible independent rulings practiced in the past. The law does not say much relative to the functions of the Militia Bureau, and leaves to the President and the Secretary of War, the authority to provide for them by regulations. So long as an honest effort is made by the General Staff and the Militia Bureau, to work together in a common interest, I believe this to be a better plan than to have these functions fixed by law, for the very simple reason that regulations may be changed by the stroke of a pen, while to change the law requires months of effort.

There are many discrepancies existing in the Guard of this state, which can be corrected by yourselves with a little additional effort and interest, but I will not take the time to enter into the details. This I will emphasize, and it is vital to the successful administration of the Guard, to-wit:

A greater degree of promptness in replying to correspondence from the Adjutant General's Department, closer adherence to rules of military correspondence, and the careful preparation of all paper work. Practically all forms have a foot-note explaining how they should be prepared, which if carefully studied will insure their being correct in every detail.

Finally, I desire that your presiding officer arrange to obtain an expression from every officer present, relative to the best dates to hold our annual camp of instruction this year. The time is rapidly drawing near when I will have to indicate to the War Department, our desires, and also submit estimates covering the expense incident thereto. In discussing this matter, I ask that you take into serious consideration, the expressed desires of the Governor and Commander in Chief, that these dates co-ordinate with the State Fair, so as to permit the troops being reviewed one day at the State Fair grounds. While this may entail some discomfort and additional work, it will be advantageous to the Guard of this state, in that it will impress on the minds of a large number of people from all over the state, who do not realize that they have a National Guard, and give them the opportunity to see you in action.

You all have my whole hearted wish for a Happy and Prosperous New Year.

1st Lt. Philip J. Crail, Troop "D", 113th Cav., Washington, Iowa.

Des Moines, Iowa, November 1, 1922.

To: The Adjutant General of Iowa.

Subject: Report of Iowa State Rifle shoot, 1922.

Pursuant to the provisions of G. O. 23, A. G. O., dated Des Moines, Iowa, June 30, 1922, you are advised that I reported at the State Rifle Range, 1½ miles east of Camp Dodge, Iowa, on July 16th, and assumed command of the Camp.

Capt. Charles R. Tillotson, Adjutant 133rd Inf., and Capt. Robert L. Fulton, Q. M. C., Camp Adjutant and Camp Quartermaster, respectively, were already in camp. I found all tentage erected, Quartermaster and Ordnance supplies on hand and the mess ready for the first details. I also found the target range in good condition and all targets freshly pasted.

Capt. Maxwell O'Brien, 113th Cav., assisted by Lt. L. E. Booth, 168th Inf., and Lt. J. S. Wilson, 113th Cav., in charge of the pit. Capt. O'Brien was later relieved at his own request to take charge of the rifle team from his troop. The command of the pit at this point was turned over to Capt. Henry Wormhoudt, 113th Cav. The pit service improved with each day's training, the finish leaving nothing to be desired.

All details reported in camp prior to the time specified with the following exceptions:

Reg. Hq. Co., 133rd Infantry.
Hq. Co. 1st Bn. 168th Infantry.
Co. G. 168th Infantry.
Hq. Co. 3rd Bn., 168th Infantry.
Hq. Co. 1st Squadron, 113th Cavalry.
Troop B, 113th Cavalry.

The Camp Adjutant reported the non-appearance of each of these teams to their respective regimental commander.

Owing to the inability of certain officers detailed for duty as Assistant Range Officers to report, a shortage of assistance developed in this department.

Col. Davidson, U. S. Cav., Team Captain of the 1922 Cavalry-Engineer National Match team was present with this team. Their shooting was splendid and their presence extremely helpful. The Iowa shooters who availed themselves of this source of information are appreciative of the courteous assistance rendered.

Mr. C. T. Carney, Des Moines Rifle and Revolver club, presented a beautiful silver cup to be shot for in a match additional to those set forth in the program. This match was known as The Experts Match and was won by the U. S. Cav. Eng. team.

The first day was devoted to preliminary practice and school of instruction. The most competent officers and men present worked faithfully to instruct each and every man in proper sighting and aiming, positions and trigger squeeze.

On July 18th the matches of the Iowa Rifle Association commenced, and continued without interruption until the windup of the Regimental Team Match. All matches were run off on schedule.

These contests mark the resumption of competitive rifle firing in this state, the last contest being held in 1915. The Mexican Border Service removed the possibility of holding the 1916 matches and the World War service prevented holding the matches during the intervening period.

The World War and the attending arduous duties lost to the Iowa National Guard with few exceptions that valuable corps of instructors whose splendid individual and team performances are known throughout the length and breadth of this land. To each and every one of them who chance to read this report the Iowa National Guard wishes them to know that "we miss you."

Due to the fact that the funds of the Association were low, coupled with the fact that the medal manufacturing concern in possession of the medal dies of the Iowa Rifle Association went out of business during the war, it was impossible to procure the medals in time for issue to the winners of the respective matches at their conclusion.

Recommendation is made that a Statistical Officer and Mess Officer be added to the Executive Officers staff at future matches. Also that the rifles of each organization be surveyed with a view of providing each organization with a minimum of ten new rifles with which to conduct rifle practice and equip company teams. The rifles with which the teams are now equipped do not produce the best results.

The following is the report of Capt. Charles Thilston, Camp Adjutant and Statistical Officer of the matches.

July 21, 1922.

Subject: Report of Annual Competition in Rifle and Pistol firing, 1922.

To: Major Fred S. Hird, Chief Ordnance Officer, Executive Officer.

Submitted herewith is my report covering the results of the various matches held at the State Rifle Range, July 17th to 21st, 1922. These matches were conducted as prescribed in G. O. 23, A. G. O., Des Moines, Iowa, dated June 30, 1922.

April 12, 1921.

Hon. N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa, State House: I have the honor to report my return from the conference of Adjutants General of the 7th Corps Area, held pursuant to call of the Commanding General thereof.

In compliance with special order No. 57, A. G. O., Iowa, I was accompanied by the following officers:

Colonel Lloyd D. Ross, Colonel, 4th Infantry, Iowa N. G.

Major H. D. Coe, Q. M. C., Iowa National Guard.

Capt. Harry Ward, Field Artillery, Iowa National Guard.

Col. M. A. Tinley, who will command the 168th Infantry, when that organization is completed, attended the first session of the conference.

The main topics discussed were as follows:

1. The summer encampments, where and when they would be held.
2. The proposal to have National Guard organizations take in commissioned officers of the reserve corps as officers of the National Guard.
3. The mobilization of troops in their being called out suddenly for any emergency.
4. The question of supplies, the cause of delays in obtaining same possibility of improvement.

There were approximately fifty officers present from the several states composing the Corps Area, and while many of the important questions, which are a source of worry and concern to us all were not definitely answered, due to lack of information from the War Department, we were however, able to compare our problems with those of other states, and found all were meeting with the same conditions.

As far as could be determined, the annual encampment for the Iowa troops will be held the fore part of August at Camp Dodge, with the exception of the artillery unit, which will be sent to Camp Knox for their training.

Mobilization points to be used in case of serious emergency were selected for Iowa, and will be Ft. Des Moines, Camp Dodge and Council Bluffs.

The responsible officers at company headquarters are to immediately make an effort to have troop supplies shipped to those organizations which have none, and see that shipments are made more promptly.

Colonel Ross, Major Lambert and Capt. Harry Ward left for their home stations Wednesday night. Major Coe and myself, with other Adjutants General and the Quartermaster officers remained for a further conference the following day, which conference dealt entirely with administrative matters pertaining to the accountability and responsibility of government property, its storage care and proper housing, also took up a general discussion of pay rolls, requisitions, correspondence and the problems facing us all in the reorganization of the National Guard.

The next conference will be held in October of this year.

Major Coe and myself returned to Des Moines Thursday night, arriving at 10:20 over the C., R. I. & P. railway.

May 17, 1921.

Honorable N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa, State House: I have the honor to report as follows, relative to my trip to Washington, D. C., on the Camp Dodge property, transfer, etc.:

I left Des Moines at 11:10 a. m., May 3, and arrived in Washington at 9:30 a. m., May 5. I went direct to the Raleigh Hotel and communicated with the Quartermaster General's office, and found that General Carson was ill and would not return to the office until Monday of the following week and that Major Busche was out of the city, and would not return until Wednesday of the following week. These were the only two officers competent to deal in the matter, consequently I was obliged to await their return. Having several matters of importance pertaining to National Guard administration to take up with the Militia Bureau, I made an appointment with General Carter, Chief of Militia Bureau for the afternoon of the 5th, and spent the greater part of the 6th and morning of the 7th with the different department heads in that Bureau, covering matters pertaining to the Annual Camp, pay for officers and men, and shipment of supplies. I also conferred with General Kreiger and Col. Ely of the Judge Advocate General's Department, relative to certain decisions handed down regarding pay roll of men required for camp, etc., and succeeded in having the questions involved reconsidered by that department. At a conference with General Carter, Col. Heavey and Col. Wilson, I was successful in clearing up matters pertaining to supplies of equipment, accounting and other administrative matters, and was also able to obtain favorable action in reference to the waiving of physical disability of officers who received their disability in the World War, and who desired to re-enter the National Guard of this state.

On Monday, May 9, I was able to have a preliminary conference with General Carson and his staff on the Camp Dodge matter, and was definitely indicated that nothing could be done until the return of Major Busche on Wednesday, May 11. On May 10 I returned to the Militia Bureau on a question pertaining to stables for the cavalry units here in Des Moines, which Major Coe of my office had wired me. On Wednesday, May 11, I met with Major Busche and officers of his department, and after going over the contract pertaining to the water supply as drawn by this department, no decision could be arrived at, as Major Busche refused to consider any of the provisions of the contract as drawn and intimating that the deal was off, and that the government would sell everything at Camp Dodge including that which was on state owned land. After considerable argument he was persuaded that the procedure could not be followed and he consented to a new contract to be drawn by the legal department of his office. This contract was submitted to me the following day, and after going over it, I very promptly turned it down and invited them to proceed with the condemnation proceeding they seemed to think could be instituted by the government. My taking this attitude seemed to rather clear the atmosphere, and it then developed that we could at least meet on common ground, and we started going over the entire situation again which resulted in their agreeing to draw a contract or agreement which would cover the following points:

1. That the original price as indicated in the proposal submitted to Col. Brewer when he was in Washington, should remain.

2. That the U. S. government would operate and maintain the water plant, furnish water to the state and themselves free of charge until the buildings on the government owned land had been sold. As soon as the government had completed the sale of the buildings outside state owned land, they would turn over to the state of Iowa, the water plant and the state would agree to furnish water to the purchasers of the buildings at a rate high enough to protect the state from loss in operating the system during the period the purchaser needed water. As soon as the salvage operations are completed, and the purchaser of the property no longer needs water, then the water system reverts entirely to the state with no obligation to furnish further water beyond their own needs.

It was also agreed that should the government at any time in the future require water on the area outside state owned land that the state would furnish same to the government, or permit the government to take over the plant and enlarge or operate it for its own benefit, but that it must furnish water to the state should they take over the plant.

Inasmuch as we had quite evidently reached an understanding, and that it would take several days to complete the paper work in the final settlement, I left for Des Moines Friday a. m., May 13, arriving here Saturday night.

Immediately on receipt of the papers referred to I will submit them to you for your consideration before signing. Very sincerely yours,

L. G.

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

To: Hon. N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa.

Subject: Report of meeting of Adjutants General Association of the United States at Washington, D. C., December 12th, 13th and 14th, 1921.

1. Pursuant to telegraphic authority from your Excellency, I proceeded to Washington, D. C., leaving Des Moines, December 9th, 1921 accompanied by General M. A. Tinley, Col. Lloyd D. Ross and Col. Guy S. Brewer. Colonel Howell was unable to accompany us, owing to press of business affairs.

2. We arrived in Washington at 9:00 a. m., Sunday, December 11th, and went immediately to the Raleigh Hotel, were assigned rooms, and went into informal session with those of the Adjutants General and their officers who had arrived. Those present were: General C. I. Martin, Kansas; General H. A. Moon, Alabama; General J. Van Holt Nash, Georgia; General H. J. Paul, Nebraska; General George Florence, Ohio; General Orlando Holway, Wisconsin; General H. B. Smith, Indiana; General J. S. Bersey, Michigan; General Louis G. Lasher, Iowa.

3. This informal meeting arranged the subject matter to be brought up at the convention and the procedure to be followed, so as to avoid loss of time during the regular sessions. The first formal meeting was held Monday morning at 10:00 o'clock in the Oak Room of the Raleigh Hotel, and was called to order by the President, General C. I. Martin of Kansas. A roll call showed sixty officers present and thirty-two states represented. The president introduced the Assistant Secretary of War, J. N. Wainwright, who addressed the officers. He congratulated them on the condition of the National Guard, and stated that there had never been a time in the history of the country, when the National Guard had been in better condition and on a better basis, than at present.

4. The Chairman read an invitation from General Pershing, to a luncheon at the Army and Navy Club for 1:00 p. m., Monday, December 12th. He then introduced Major General George C. Richards, Chief of the Militia Bureau, who read a paper dealing with military matters, and also answered the numerous questions submitted to him.

5. Col. M. B. Stewart of the General Staff, head of the branch handling National Guard affairs, spoke of matters vital to the National Guard, and its importance. In so doing, he took occasion to give credit to the National Guard for keeping alive the military spirit in the country during the past twenty-five years, when that spirit was at its lowest ebb.

6. A report of the Legislative Committee was read by General M. A. Reckord of Maryland, in which he detailed the seven amendments adopted and embodied in a bill drawn by the War Department and which had passed the Senate and was in the hands of the committee on military affairs of the house, ready to be brought up.

7. The remainder of the morning was devoted to appointment of the several committees and in general discussion of National Guard problems as viewed by the officials from each state.

8. At 1:00 p. m. we were guests at the Army and Navy Club of General Pershing, who entertained us at a luncheon and a delightful personal talk. At the conclusion of the lunch, a very impressive and unusual ceremony was conducted by the Assistant Secretary of War and General O'Ryan of New York, who after making the preliminary announcement and remarks, handed General Pershing a Distinguished Service Cross, to be presented by him, to General Leslie Kincaid, Adjutant General of New York, for distinguished service in France.

9. At 3:00 p. m. the meeting was called to order by the president. The first question taken up was the proposed changes in pay. Col. T. W. Hammond of the General Staff, addressed us on this topic, and explained many of the difficulties surrounding the pay question.

10. The next question was that of war records, which was discussed from all angles and the problem of Iowa in this connection is identical with that of the other states. A committee of three was appointed, with myself as chairman, to obtain proper legislation to accomplish this important work. With this end in view, I am keeping in close touch with the Washington situation, and advising the Adjutants General of the several states on the progress that is being made, and soliciting their support of the Cummins' bill, which covers all that we could desire.

11. The next meeting of the association was discussed, and its probable location was considered. St. Louis, New Orleans and Camp Benning were suggested. St. Louis was supported by the Iowa delegation, but due to the desires of the extreme eastern and western states, and in the hopes that a large representation would be present, the convention voted for New Orleans.

12. The meeting adjourned, to reconvene at 7:30 p. m. It was called to order by the president and a lengthy discussion was had on legislation to be submitted to congress, the General Staff and the Militia Bureau. Meeting adjourned at 11:00 p. m., Tuesday a. m., December 13th, meeting was called to order at 10:00. General Lord, Chief of Finance Department, addressed the meeting and outlined problems of his department, particularly in reference to the adoption of a simplified form of pay roll for the National Guard, which would permit prompt payment of National Guard officers and enlisted men.

13. A liaison committee was appointed to report on all National Guard legislation matters and on the progress being made in Washington, to correct existing regulations and laws which are antagonistic to the advancement of the National Guard. General Reckord of Maryland was appointed active chairman.

14. The meeting adjourned for lunch, and reconvened at 3:00 p. m. During the period of adjournment and reconvening, the Adjutants General and the officers accompanying them were presented to President Harding in the Executive Offices. The resolution committee read their report on the result of their deliberations, and all resolutions were adopted by the convention.

15. The meeting adjourned, to reconvene at New Orleans, February 27th and 28th, in conjunction with the meeting of the National Guard Association of the United States.

16. Wednesday, December 14th, all the officers from Iowa called on the Iowa delegation in Congress, and had lunch with them in the rooms of Senator Cummins at the Capitol Building, during lunch, an outline of just what help and assistance they could give to the National Guard, was made, and they were all enthusiastic over the program, and promised their solid support. The afternoon was spent at the War Department, calling on the heads of the several sub-departments with which we deal, and clearing up in a few hours, many subjects which ordinarily would require weeks of correspondence.

17. So far, the definite results of this meeting are shown in the following rulings from the War Department, and they mean a great deal to the several National Guard organizations in this state:

(a) One additional officer is authorized for each regimental headquarters company, each battalion headquarters company and each squadron headquarters troop.

(b) A cook is authorized for each battalion headquarters company. These items have been taken care of by War Department Regulations, and the other points brought up during the convention will require an Act of Congress, which we are promised will be an accomplished fact in the very near future.

18. While in Washington, I endeavored to obtain some definite information relative to the Camp Dodge situation, and discovered that through the efforts of your Excellency, the final contract had been forwarded from the Quartermaster General's office to the Adjutant General's office, on December 12th; that on December 15th, the Adjutant General of the Army had forwarded it to the Judge Advocate General's Department, for an opinion. Since that time nothing has been heard.

19. While it may appear unnecessary for more than one officer attending these meetings, past experience has demonstrated that one officer cannot handle the situation, and that only by sufficient representatives being on the ground, can anything definite be accomplished. The eastern states send large delegations, and in consequence, in the past, obtained what they desired, which does not always co-ordinate with the needs of the western and midwestern states. This is now recognized by them, and the states west of the Mississippi River, are having a voice in all matters pertaining to the National Guard, and should follow up on every occasion, that advantage.

Subject: Conditions at Mason City.

1. Major Viles reported to this office at 3:40 p. m. today as follows:

Judge Kelly yesterday afternoon issued an injunction prohibiting the strikers from picketing the packing plant and from unlawful assembly on the streets. Major Viles states that last night he talked to a number of strikers, and their leaders assured him that they had no intention of resorting to violence or of violating any of the laws of the State of Iowa. He is convinced that if there are any acts of violence, they will not be done at the instigation of the strikers. In conformity to the injunction issued by Judge Kelly, the pickets have been withdrawn from the streets in the vicinity of the Packing Plant.

The only damage done to date has been one broken window, and a dent in the body of an automobile owned by Mr. Decker.

2. I advised Major Viles to remain in Mason City tonight and report to this office tomorrow morning.

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

Telephone report, No. 1. Received at Des Moines, 4 p. m., Jan. 19, 1921.

From: Major Sewall C. Viles.

To: General Louis G. Lasher, Adjutant General.

1. Arrived at Mason City at about 10 p. m. January 18th, 1921, went directly to Cerro Gordo Hotel, expecting to meet the Sheriff. After waiting a reasonable length of time, and the Sheriff not showing up, I went to the police station and obtained all information possible.

2. Was up at 6 a. m. the morning of January the 18th, and immediately went out to the Packing Plant. Found everything quiet, deputy sheriffs on duty who while I was there arrested two men (strikers) for using abusive and profane language. It was reported that some trouble was had last night, but the Sheriff had followed the Adjutant General's advice and had sworn in fourteen legion men in addition to the eighteen deputies already on duty, and as soon as this force appeared everything quieted down.

3. My investigation makes it appear that the Sheriff lacks back bone, that he appears to sympathize with the strikers, and lets them know it. There is much fraternizing between the police, deputies, and strikers, and too little realization on the part of the peace officers that a line must be drawn when on duty.

4. The greatest trouble seems to be in the early evening about quitting time, and at night and I suggest that I remain in Mason City and observe conditions at night.

5. Conference with Mr. MacNider, the attorney for the Packing Plant, and other prominent citizens indicates that it would be a mistake to send troops at this time, although they all agree that it may be necessary later unless the Sheriff gets down to business.

6. In view of the above report, I ordered Major Viles to remain at Mason City, and report to me by phone in the morning the results of his observation for the period covering tonight.

Headquarters 3rd Battalion, 4th Inf., Iowa N. G.

Cedar Rapids, Iowa, January 23rd, 1921.

From: Bn. C. 3rd Bn. 4th Inf. I. N. G.

To: Adjutant General, State of Iowa, Des Moines, Iowa.

Subject: Report of Investigation of Mason City Strike.

1. Upon receipt of verbal instructions from Adjutant General Lasher by phone Tuesday, January 18th, 1921, I proceeded to Mason City, Iowa, to investigate into the necessity of sending National Guard troops to that city to control the strike at the Jacob E. Decker & Sons Packing Company.

2. Arriving at 10:00 p. m. I tried at once to see Sheriff F. E. Marsh but he was out of the city so I went to the Police Station and secured all information possible, to this effect, that there were near 400 employees of the Decker Co. on strike and near 300 men working in the plant that had been imported and picked up around town, more or less unskilled; that the men went to work in the morning from 6:30 to 7:00 and quit for the day at 5:30 p. m.; that the police had no extra men on strike duty, but that they sent a squad of 6 or 8 men down to the plant each morning and evening; that the Sheriff's office had sworn in several Special Deputies and had them on the job morning and evening, besides a few that were on duty all day.

3. Wednesday morning I went down to the plant to see the lay out while the workers were going to work. I found 8 policemen and 12 special deputies and about 40 to 50 strikers. The strikers were very noisy and called Scab a great deal at the strike breakers, but I saw no case of violence or even a striker lay his hands upon a strike breaker.

4. Wednesday A. M. I met Sheriff Marsh and he explained the situation as very satisfactory though one Special Deputy had been beat up and some stones and bricks had been thrown. I went into the affair in some detail with the Sheriff showing him S. O. No. 13 A. G. O. January 15th, 1921, ordering me to Mason City, also read him certain sections from the typed portion of the Iowa Code that were forwarded to me, explaining that in a strike of this size that there was no need of troops if he, as sheriff, did his duty and used the power the Code of Iowa gave him and that the bringing of troops to that city would put a blot upon the fair name of his city and county, as well as reflect very unfavorably as to his efficiency as Sheriff if it would show that it was impossible for him to handle an emergency.

5. Wednesday P. M. The Attorneys for the Decker Co. secured a Writ of Injunction restraining the strikers from molesting strike-breakers or property, copy inclosed with this report, this injunction had a very quieting effect and from that time on there were no more crowds or interference.

6. Wednesday evening, I secured admittance to a rather informal meeting of the Union Officials, their not knowing what I was there for, and got very well acquainted with the leaders, and from their conversation I do not believe they ever intended to do anything that would lose them the sympathy of the public.

7. While in Mason City I interviewed several men of prominence, such as C. H. MacNider, First National Bank; Bert Keeler, Mason City Brick and Tile Co.; Mr. Vanankum, Sec., Chamber of Commerce; Mr. Uptograph, Mr. Markley and Mr. Smith, all prominent attorneys; Major Rule, Capt. Hayden and others who helped me in various ways.

8. The arms and ammunition of Co. C were not very securely stored so I instructed Capt. Hayden to remove bolts from rifles and store the bolts and ammunition in county vaults at Court House to avoid any possible chance of radicals making an attempt to use these high power rifles.

9. Through the assistance of Mr. Keeler I discovered that there is a very important man in Mason City who is a leader in I. W. W. or rather the Left Wing, as it is called, by the name of H. E. Keas, operator on C. G. W. Ry. This man should be watched which Mr. Keeler is doing at his own expense now, but a report of his doings, etc., should be gotten into the hands of the proper authorities. For instance, two weeks ago, he attended a meeting in Chicago of the principal leaders of U. S. and Canada and the leader of that meeting was the right hand man of Martins, the Soviet Ambassador from Russia.

10. The principal points I discovered are as follows:

- a. Four hundred laborers on strike, account of wage cut, etc.
- b. Sheriff did not want to do too much on account of political aspirations, he wants to be next Mayor.

c. Chief of Police I understand wants to be next Sheriff.

d. Police did not swear in any Special men.

e. Sheriff has 17 Special Deputies, 8 of which are Gleason Detectives from Minneapolis.

f. One man fined for assault and battery $25.00. Fine pending good behavior.

g. Damage to property was one window in a transfer bus, broken, and a dent in the rear of Decker's car.

h. Fourteen ex-service men put on duty one evening only, this in addition to the others.

i. Police found to be very familiar with strikers, tussling, boxing and generally kidding them. I saw three clubs taken away from them in the course of the morning, of course they were given back to them but it seemed to me as very poor discipline.

j. I reported to Adjutant General's Office each day and was finally relieved by verbal order of Col. Brewer on Friday, January 21st, 1921, and left Mason City at 6:50 p. m.

Subject: Report of investigation and action taken in reference to strike at Ottumwa, Iowa.

1. I received your Excellency's telephone message at 9 p. m. Monday, November 14, 1921, in which you stated that pressure was being brought to bear on you to the end that you order National Guard Troops to Ottumwa, immediately. In view of the apparent seriousness of the situation, I entered into communication with Col. Gay S. Brewer, and ordered him to quietly assemble the Company Commanders of the three Rifle Companies, the Machine Gun Company, and the Medical Detachment, located in Des Moines, and have them make the preliminary preparations for the mobilization of their units. I also communicated with Major H. D. Coe, Quartermaster, Iowa National Guard, attached to my office, and ordered him to prepare transportation, figure his subsistence sheets and arrange with the Rock Island Railway for a special train, if needed.

2. As per your order, I then left for Ottumwa at 7:55 a. m., Tuesday, November 15th, over the Rock Island Railway and arrived in Ottumwa at 11:40 a. m. I immediately went to the Ottumwa hotel and phoned the Sheriff, the Mayor and the Chief of Police, but was unable to reach any of them. Very shortly after my arrival, Mr. Roberts, the County Attorney, reached me at the hotel, and I had a long conference with him, in which he went over the entire situation, covering the past four weeks of the strike. While in conference with Mr. Roberts, Mr. Powell of the Ottumwa Courier, Mr. Simmons of the Mining Tool Mfg. Co., Mr. Foster, Vice President of the Morrell Packing Company, Mr. Mann, Superintendent of the packing plant, Mr. Harper, Mr. Emory, the Sheriff and the Attorney for the Packing Company appeared. After a thorough discussion on all sides of the case, I arrived at the following conclusion. The strike had been in force for four weeks up to the afternoon of the day before my arrival, no attempt at violence had been made by the strikers, nor as far as I had been able to find out, had there been any definite threats in that direction. The Sheriff with the thirty or forty deputies he had sworn in, had been able to maintain order, but on Monday afternoon, the strikers suddenly began to become abusive, and in one or two instances, used physical violence against the few men who had remained at work. The Sheriff did not seem to be able to cope with the situation, and did not appear to have any idea of what disposition he should make of the men who were assisting him in the maintenance of law and order. It is my candid opinion, that had the sheriff understood the handling of crowds or mobs, he would have controlled the situation at once, and made it unnecessary to call for outside assistance. It is not my intention to convey the idea that the sheriff was in any way, cowardly, from a physical standpoint, and I am confident that had he known what to do, and possessed the moral courage to do it, he would have prevented what followed, Tuesday morning.

3. At about 6:30 Tuesday morning, November 15th, the crowds began to gather around the packing plant, principally at the main entrance the streets leading to this entrance, evidently waiting for the loyal employees to come to work at 7 o'clock. When the men and women who had been working throughout the period of the strike, appeared, there were probably 150 or 200 others who started to return. The radical element attempted first to persuade these men and women not to go to work, and followed up their persuasion with a show of violence, in which several men and women were more or less seriously injured. About this time, some of the plant officials appeared and were attacked in their cars and the cars injured and disabled. This seemed to encourage them in the idea that they could prevent the lawabiding element of the strikers from going back to work, which had been indicated by a number of them, and in consequence, the citizens of Ottumwa became extremely nervous and alarmed over the situation, particularly when it developed that the Morrell Packing Company had imported some 30 or 25 colored workmen from outside the city, and a great fear was felt by the citizens of the community, that a race riot would develop, as threats had been made to that effect.

4. I refused to commit myself relative to the immediate ordering of troops, until I had made a trip to the plant, and personally viewed the situation. This I did, immediately on the adjournment of the conference, and on arrival at the plant found approximately 1,000 or 1,200 people assembled around the entrance and the streets leading to the entrance, apparently orderly and in no way inclined to molest people coming to and from the plant. Inquiry, however, developed the fact that they were waiting until 3:30, which was the time the plant closed down for the day, and that a possible demonstration would be attempted. I mingled with the crowd and in cases where the opportunity presented itself, entered into conversation with the men, and while they had but little to say, there was a decided undercurrent, which indicated that they were ready to attempt most anything were the opportunity presented. There was no apparent definite leadership, and it seemed to be a crowd composed of a few independent spirits which would of course have a certain following any time they attempted to take any action. I spent about three hours looking over the situation and felt that your Excellency should be advised that troops were necessary. Consequently at 4:30 p. m. I called you on long distance and reported the situation as apparently very serious, but that I would not order the troops until I looked a little further into the proposition and had another conference with the business men of the city. At this conference I took up the question with the Sheriff relative to enlarging his force of deputies, and he seemed to be firmly of the opinion that it would be impossible to obtain the services of more men than he then had. It, however, did not take me long to convince him that he had the entire man power of the community to call upon, irrespective of their work or standing in the community, and that it was his duty, under his oath of office to gather a sufficient force to control the situation, temporarily at least. The County Attorney volunteered to go with him at once and deputize the necessary men, so that by six o'clock that evening, they had approximately 150 men from all walks of life in the community. These men were immediately sworn in and placed on duty until the troops could arrive. I thought this absolutely necessary, as reliable information had been received that attempt would be made to wreck a portion of the plant that night, and threats had been made to burn the homes of some of the loyal workers. I then got into communication with Colonel Brewer and definitely ordered the troops mobilized and entrained to leave Des Moines on a special at such time as would bring them into Ottumwa before daylight. I inspected the plant at various times throughout the night and found at all times that the force of deputies were on duty, patrolling the streets leading to the plant and also the plant itself, and while the crowd had diminished somewhat in the early part of the evening, there still remained a large number of men and women around the plant, apparently ready and anxious to join any demonstration, which might be started. By midnight, however, none of the strikers remained and everything was quiet until the arrival of the troops at 4:40 in the morning.

5. After I had definitely decided upon ordering the troops, I immediately looked over the ground, with the idea of properly housing and quartering them during their tour of duty, and unfortunately there appeared to be no way but to take them into the plant, as it would be out of the question to put the men under canvas outside the plant area at this time of year. This arrangement would assure the men of comfortable, sanitary quarters and make the situation much easier to handle. Cots and mattresses were provided by the packing company and the dining room of their cafeteria and Y. M. C. A. building was turned over for the use of the troops.

6. In conference with the committee of business men composed of Mr. W. T. Harper, chairman; C. T. Haw, E. H. Emery, Frank Von Schraeder, C. L. Graham, J. T. Weber, W. H. Powell and Mr. Roberts, County Attorney, I insisted that order be prepared for the Sheriff's signature, which would indicate the desires of the county and city officials relative to just how the troops should function on this tour of duty. After going over the law covering cases such as this, they permitted me to dictate the order, which I did, addressing same to Colonel Brewer, as Commanding Officer of the troops, and embodied therein, that he, as such commanding officer, was to take full charge of the Morrell Packing Plant and its vicinity, and to use his own judgment as to the proper enforcement of the law, the maintenance of order and the protection of life and property, and the order was so worded, that the responsibility of his acts in this connection would rest on the shoulders of the local authorities. This order was concurred in by the entire committee and was signed by the Sheriff and delivered to Colonel Brewer upon his arrival. I met the troops at the Union station at 4:40 a. m. Wednesday morning, November 16. Colonel Brewer was in command, Major Sands second in command. I held the train at the Union station until I could send forward by automobile an officer to view the situation in and around the plant. He returned and reported no one in sight but the deputies, so I ordered the train to proceed directly to the plant and detrain the men there. This was done with dispatch, and no confusion, and the men marched the short distance from the railway tracks into the plant, where provision had been made to serve hot coffee and sandwiches, before beginning the tour of duty. The plan of operation was immediately adopted, and Colonel Brewer and his staff inspected the approaches to the plant and stationed their patrols and guards immediately. By 6 o'clock all guards had been posted, and at 8:30 when the crowds began to gather, they were met with courteous, but firm orders to keep moving. The stores within the lines were given strict orders to prevent loitering in their places of business, and no one was, or is, permitted to congregate within the restricted area. Comparatively few employees attempted to return to work on this morning, but every indication is, that as soon as they realize they will receive protection, they will begin to report for work, each day in greater numbers.

7. Colonel Brewer and myself convened with the Sheriff, Chief of Police Mayor and executives of the packing plant, and a general plan was outlined which covered the zone in which the military force would have absolute control, and which provided that the Sheriff and his Deputies should assume the burden of dispersing any crowd which might congregate outside of that zone, and that he should have sufficient number of police and deputies within call of the troops to make any arrests, which might be necessary.

8. I want to make a brief mention here of the conduct of the soldiers, their bearing and realization of the seriousness of the situation are very satisfactory, and they go about their duties with snap and precision, worthy of more seasoned men, and give the impression that they will do all that may be required of them. Arrangements have been made with the Y. M. C. A. to provide recreation for the troops at the plant, and provisions have been made for football and baseball paraphernalia so that the idle hours of the men will be taken up in recreational sports. A drill schedule has been figured out whereby all men off duty will continue their training, and each day a certain unit will be taken to the Y. M. C. A. down town for a swim in their pool and the use of the gym has been turned over to them.

9. At a conference held at the Wapello Club, Colonel Brewer, his Adjutant, Capt. Thomas, and myself attending, the committee of business men requested that we formulate a plan of action covering the next few days and extending over the period after the troops are withdrawn. When I left, that plan had not been completed, but I feel sure that from the start we had made, that by the middle of this coming week, the troops may be withdrawn, and the Sheriff will be able to handle the situation, supported as he will be by the moral and active support of the community referred to.

10. Since the troops have been on duty, those employees who have been working, have been able to leave the plant and return to their homes without any physical violence being offered them, after they leave the restricted area, except an occasional isolated case, and when I left, even such attempts had been abandoned by the strikers.

11. I left Ottumwa over the Rock Island at noon on Friday, November 18th and was due to arrive in Des Moines at 4:30 that afternoon, but due to a breakdown of the engine, we were over two hours late, consequently I could not report to the Governor until late that same evening.

12. Colonel Brewer is to report to me by long distance phone every morning, and his report of this morning, Saturday, November 19th, is that everything is quiet and no disturbance of any kind has been attempted.

13. As soon as Colonel Brewer's final report is filed, I will render copy of same to your Excellency as supplemental to this report.

On account of the short notice in assembling the Battalion some men were picked up on the street, not having time to return to their home to secure any change of clothing, therefore, it was necessary to supply change of socks for the command, and these articles it was necessary to purchase in the open market. Subject: Special Duty of Troops at Ottumwa, Iowa.

1. The following report is submitted of the Special Duty performed by the 1st Battalion, 168th Inf., at Ottumwa, Iowa, November 15-29, 1921.

2. The Adjutant General of Iowa notified me Monday evening, November 14, 1921, that the Sheriff of Wapello county had asked the Governor of Iowa that troops be sent to Ottumwa to quell a riot, and that pursuant to the orders of the Governor he was proceeding to that point at once and ordered that I issue a warning order to the 1st Battalion, 168th Inf., to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Ottumwa should the Governor so order.

3. Major Sands, commanding the 1st Battalion, 168th Inf., and the Commanding Officers of Cos. "A," "B," "C" and "D" met me at 8:30 a. m., Tuesday, November 15, 1921, and I then ordered them to hold themselves in readiness to proceed to Ottumwa. I warned them, however, to not issue any orders concerning the proposed movement for fear a false impression might be given of conditions at Ottumwa.

4. At 7:40 p. m., November 15, 1921, I received a verbal order from Adjutant General Lasher, through Major Coe, Quartermaster Corps, Iowa N. G., that the Governor had directed the 1st Battalion, 168th Inf., to proceed to Ottumwa by special train and that he had directed that I accompany the Battalion. Verbal orders were at once issued to Major Sands to prepare his Battalion for the movement. Immediately the company commanders began assembling their organizations.

5. Before leaving Des Moines, orders were issued directing the issue of 20 rounds of guard ammunition to every man armed with a rifle and 21 rounds of pistol ammunition to every officer and man armed with a pistol. Men armed with rifles were warned not to load except on the direct order of a commissioned officer or except when they themselves were in imminent danger of assault. The Battalion, less 1st Battalion Hdqrs. Company, left Des Moines on a special train over the Rock Island railroad at 1:11 a. m., November 16th. Co. "B" having assembled only 21 men at the time the Battalion was ready to move, Capt. McMurray and his officers were directed to remain behind and bring the balance of Co. "B" men on the first regular train leaving Des Moines on the morning of November 16th. The 21 men of Co. "B" were assigned to Cos. "A" and "C." Following was the strength of the Battalion when it left Des Moines:

Col. Guy S. Brewer; Capt. James E. Thomas, Regimental Adjutant, 168th Inf.; Major H. D. Coe, Quartermaster Corps; Major E. H. Sands, commanding 1st Battalion, 168th Inf.; Capt. G. C. Greenwalt, 1st Lt. M. B. Skogsberg, 2nd Lt. H. V. Venard and 49 men. Co. "A," 168th Inf.; Capt. J. N. Wilkinson, 1st Lt. V. H. Ellingson, 2nd Lt. E. Reese and 42 men. Co. "C," 168th Inf.; Capt. W. H. Oleson, 1st Lt. D. H. Morrison, 2nd Lt. G. T. DeFord and 42 men. Co. "D," 168th Inf.; 1st Lt. Nevin B. Anderson and 7 men, Med. Det., 168th Inf.; total, 14 officers and 161 men.

Capt. E. T. McMurray, 1st Lt. R. R. Smith and 2nd Lt. P. H. Cunningham, Co. "B" and 28 enlisted men reported at 11 a. m. November 16th.

6. The special train arrived at Ottumwa, Iowa, at 4:40 a. m., November 16th. Adjutant General Lasher and Sheriff Giltner of Wapello county met me at the train. Sheriff Giltner gave me the following written communication:

Office of the Sheriff, Wapello County, Geo. H. Giltner, Sheriff.

J. A. Bright, Deputy.

Ottumwa, Iowa, November 16, 1921.

To Col. Guy S. Brewer, Commanding 168th Infantry, Iowa National Guard:

As sheriff of Wapello county, Iowa, I desire you to take charge of the situation in and around the Morrell Packing Plant. In so doing, to prohibit loitering on the streets, to permit no crowds to assemble and keep pedestrians and vehicles moving. Any person or persons found on the streets and appearing to be habitually idle and without visible means of support, to be dispersed.

Prohibit all persons without passes, after dark, or after an hour to be fixed hereafter, from being on such streets as shall be designated by me hereafter.

If it be found necessary to provide escort for any employe or employes of John Morrell & Company, between their homes and their place of work, you to arrange for such escort.

If it develops that the homes of any employes of John Morrell & Company are threatened, that section or those sections of the city where those employes reside to be patrolled.

In addition to the above you are requested to use necessary means to preserve law and order and protect life and property within Wapello county.

Respectfully,

(Signed)

Geo. H. Giltner, Sheriff of Wapello county, Iowa.

7. Sheriff Giltner at that time informed me that there had been labor disturbances at the packing plant of John Morrell & Company since October 19, 1921. That for a time these disturbances were not of a serious character, but on the morning of November 15th a mob estimated from 1,500 to 2,000 people had assembled at the entrance to the plant and in the streets surrounding the same and he and the other peace officers of Wapello county and Ottumwa, Iowa, were unable to control the same. The mob had thrown stones and bricks injuring many people on their way to work and had destroyed considerable property. Believing he was powerless to handle the situation that had developed and that the disorder would likely increase, he had called upon the Governor to furnish him troops. He stated that it was his belief that a yet larger crowd would assemble on the morning of November 16th unless prompt measures were taken to suppress it.

The sheriff also handed me a copy of a writ of Injunction issued by the Honorable D. M. Anderson, judge of the district court, in and for Wapello county, November 15, 1921, directed to the Amalgamated Meat Cutters and Butcher Workmen of North America, Ottumwa Lodge No. 236, and some seventy-five individuals, restraining them and other persons associated with them, from committing various and sundry acts of lawlessness connected with and growing out of the labor disturbances at the packing plant of John Morrell & Company.

8. Troops remained on train until the railroad company could park the train at crossing on Iowa street. While the track was being cleared General Lasher and I proceeded to the packing plant. When we arrived there we saw possibly 150 deputy sheriffs in groups about the plant. Troops detrained at 5:10 a. m., with bayonets fixed, and marched to the Morrell Packing Plant. No accommodations for troops near the packing plant were available so I immediately commandeered, from John Morrell & Company, the following buildings, which were steam heated and electric lighted: garage, gymnasium, three dining rooms used by employes to eat noon lunch, office room and quarters for myself was taken next to the timekeeper's office and across the hall from the office of the Superintendent.

9. As soon as the troops reached their quarters they unslung packs and immediately reformed. Baggage car containing kitchens, ammunition and machine guns was switched into the packing company's grounds. Co. "A," under the command of Capt. Greenwalt, was assigned positions on Iowa and Main streets, north, east and west of the plant. Co. "C," Capt. Wilkinson commanding, was assigned positions at the entrance to the plant and west on Hayne street. One machine Gun of Co. "D" was placed at the intersection of Iowa and Main streets. Co. "D" was held in reserve at the packing plant. Orders were issued Sheriff Giltner and Chief of Police Blizzard to order their officers out beyond the posts of my command and they were at once ordered to co-operate in handling the situation.

10. Strict orders were issued to the officers and men, deputy sheriffs and police officers to permit no congregating on the streets or alleys. Pedestrians and vehicles were not to be molested as long as they continued in movement. Any attempt to incite a riot was to be suppressed instantly. Strict orders were issued to the officers and men to not become excited, give their orders in a calm, dignified and gentlemanly manner, but after once having issued an order to see that the same was executed.

Shortly after the troops were stationed it was observed that groups of civilians commenced a movement toward the plant but in accordance with my orders they were not permitted to congregate and ordered to move on. Stores and business houses in the vicinity of the plant were permitted to continue their usual business.

11. Patrols from the Battalion were sent into all parts of the city within a radius of 1½ miles of the packing plant after nightfall with instructions that should they find assemblies on the streets they were to disperse them. These patrols, with the exception of Sunday night, November 20th, were continued until November 23rd. By order of the Governor the troops were withdrawn from the streets November 24th, and deputy sheriffs and police under the direction of officers of this command, performed the outside guard duty; the troops being held in readiness at their quarters to respond to an alarm should one be given.

12. At the request of the sheriff two men were detailed as guards to each street car which carried the workmen of the packing plant to and from work. These guards rode the cars from 6 a. m. to 7 a. m. and from 3:15 p. m. to 4:15 p. m. This duty was also taken over by the deputy sheriffs November 24th.

13. At the request of General Lasher, I attended a conference on November 19th, with a committee representing the business men of Ottumwa. At this conference means and methods of suppressing disorder were discussed. That afternoon, the Mayor, City Solicitor and Chief of Police of Ottumwa and the County Attorney and Sheriff of Wapello county called at my office and discussed with me plans relative to the protection of life and property. Other conferences were held during the period of duty with the peace officers representing the city and county.

14. Monday evening, November 21st, at the request of Sheriff Giltner I addressed 200 special deputy sheriffs which, on that night, he swore into the service of the State.

15. During the period of time covered by this report, except on Sundays and Holidays, there was a noticeable movement of civilians toward the packing plant, at the time when workmen were going to and returning from work; more especially at the quitting time. However, no disturbances were reported as the guards, both military and civil, permitted no loitering and insisted that pedestrians and vehicles keep moving.

16. By direction of the Governor, 4 officers and 55 men were returned to their home station at 6 p. m. November 22nd and 4 officers and 50 men on November 23rd. A number of the men of the command were permitted to return to their home station at other times when conditions at their homes or business required their services and they were no longer needed at Ottumwa. The following table shows the officers and men for duty during this tour of duty:

Date.	Officers.	E. M.	Date.	Officers.	E. M.
Nov. 15th	17	161	Nov. 23rd	12	123
Nov. 16th	17	189	Nov. 24th	8	73
Nov. 17th	17	190	Nov. 25th	8	73
Nov. 18th	17	188	Nov. 26th	8	72
Nov. 19th	17	187	Nov. 27th	8	64
Nov. 20th	17	188	Nov. 28th	8	64
Nov. 21st	16	180	Nov. 29th	8	64
Nov. 22nd	16	178

17. The packing plant is situated some distance from the business center of Ottumwa and it was necessary to secure transportation to handle supplies and troops. The first week I commandeered trucks from the packing company whenever they were needed. That practice was discontinued November 21st and a truck hired first from a private firm and the last two days at Ottumwa from the County of Wapello.

18. The Ottumwa Y. M. C. A. were extremely courteous and hospitable to the officers and men of the command. During the tour of duty the officers and men went to the Y on two occasions for a shower bath and a plunge in their pool. The two Sundays that the troops were at the plant, the Y. M. C. A. arranged and held church services. On Thanksgiving day they furnished entertainment preceding the Thanksgiving day dinner.

19. Rations and quartermaster supplies for the troops was under the direction of Major Coe of the Quartermaster Corps. The rations was of good quality and ample. Extra rations for Thanksgiving were issued. Kitchens for cooking the rations were erected just outside the dining hall.

20. By order of the Governor troops were withdrawn at 5 p. m. November 29, 1921, returning to Des Moines on the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific Railroad, arriving at 10 p. m., November 29, 1921.

MEMORANDUM

Received telephone message from Major Geiger, at 2 p. m., December 9th. Major Geiger reports that he had been with the Sheriff last night and this morning; that last night he visited the territory where they had had trouble, and noticed some windows broken in the homes of some of the packing plant employees; that one of the street cars had been attacked and the windows broken and some of the packing house employees taken from the cars and prevented from going to work. This morning he visited the vicinity of the packing plants and found they were being picketed by Union men, but that no violence was attempted; the pickets confined themselves to words only. He conferred with the packing house managers and indicated that they appeared to be somewhat nervous over the safety of their property, and want outside help to be called in to protect their places of business and permit them to operate the plant. Major Geiger discouraged the thought that the National Guard was for any such purpose; that it was up to the city officials and the Sheriff to render the necessary protection and that the National Guard would not be called until it was definitely proven that the situation had advanced beyond any possibility of local control.

He further reports that the Sheriff has made no attempt to anticipate trouble; that he apparently is not interested in anything that is being attempted in the way of lawlessness, and has so far only deputized four extra men. The same condition exists relative to the police force of the city. The Major recommended to the Sheriff that he swear in at least 75 or 100 deputies, if for no other purpose than that of showing he was prepared to meet any emergency. The Sheriff was not at all sympathetic to such advice, stated that the county supervisors were inclined to figure the probable cost of such procedure and that he could not guarantee that the men so sworn in would ever be paid. He promised, however, that he would take it up again with the proper authorities.

There seems to be a conflict in authority between the state and county officers and no co-operation can be expected between the two peace forces.

It is the general opinion of the better class of citizens, that if any attempt were made to introduce troops into the situation, that it would only aggravate the matter and start serious trouble, and that the present disturbances are no greater than what exists during normal conditions, due to the foreign element, who make up a greater per cent of the packing house employees, who have their family and personal feuds, which they settle in their own way.

It appears that the conditions are somewhat similar to the Ottumwa situation, in that the Sheriff does not want to act, and is not taking the necessary precautions to avoid serious trouble. I feel that any necessity for the Guard being called into service for the situation in Sioux City can be avoided, if the Sheriff and city officials will be made to do what they should under the law.

Inasmuch as telegrams have passed between the Governor and Mr. Kelley of the Sioux City Tribune, I thought it advisable to have Major Geiger confer with Mr. Kelley, and directed him to get in touch with Mr. Kelley today, to the end that perhaps between them, they could bring sufficient pressure to bear on the Sheriff, or the authorities responsible, to have enough deputies and extra police sworn in, to anticipate any possible outbreak.

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

MEMORANDUM

I received a telephone message from Mr. Kelley of the Sioux City Tribune at about 9 p. m. Thursday, December 8th. He stated he had received the wire from the Governor and pursuant thereto had made a personal investigation of conditions, and they were to the effect that the Sheriff and the Safety Commissioner of the city of Sioux City, could handle the situation if they were inclined to do so, but seemed to be of the opinion that it would relieve them of considerable responsibility if the Governor could be persuaded to send the troops. He also indicated that the majority of the packing house representatives did not want to have troops in the city, while one or two thought it would be a wise thing, so that they could operate their plant with imported employees, etc. Mr. Kelley indicated that the Sheriff had not taken personal charge of the situation, in and around the zone of trouble, but upon his urging him to do so, he had gone down there the previous day, and stated to Mr. Kelley, that he thought by swearing in a few deputies he might possibly be able to handle it. I requested Mr. Kelley to emphasize to the Sheriff the following facts:

First, that he must make every effort to maintain law and order and protect life and property, and that this effort would not constitute depending upon Sioux City alone, for assistance; that under the law, he could call on the entire man power of the county, and that if he felt that he could not obtain deputies within the city limits, in whom he could have confidence, it was within his powers, to go into the highways and byways, and pick such men as he felt would be absolutely loyal. I further advised Mr. Kelley that the psychology of preventing trouble, is that of preventing crowds from gathering, that in and around the locality where trouble was possible and probable, everyone should be kept moving; that three to five men constituted a crowd, and that they should be dispersed.

Mr. Kelley further advised, that in several talks with the Union leaders, and from his personal observation, they were endeavoring by every means to keep their people quiet, and avoid any violence of any description.

I did not tell Mr. Kelley that I had sent Major Geiger to Sioux City, nor did I tell him that the Attorney General had sent a man to investigate, consequently his report is absolutely independent and was not invited by any acts from state headquarters.

From: Major Henry G. Geiger, 133rd Inf.

To: The Adjutant General.

Subject: Report on Sioux City strike situation.

1. Pursuant to telephonic instructions received from the Adjutant General on December 8th, I proceeded to Sioux City for the purpose of investigating the strike situation in that city. I arrived there late in the afternoon of the 8th and at once proceeded to get in touch with the Sheriff, Mr. Jones. During the early part of the night the Sheriff and myself, accompanied by several deputies proceeded to investigate the situation.

2. In the packing house district we found many groups of strikers congregated about fires outside the plants, and, evidently there for the purpose of keeping the men from going to work inside the plants. No violence of any kind was observed. From there we proceeded to the residence districts where many of the packing house employees make their homes and interviewed a number of families whose homes had been threatened by strikers, and also several whose homes had actually been damaged, usually by having bricks or stones thrown through the windows. It seems that to date, this is the favorite method of intimidating those men who prefer to remain at work.

3. On the next morning I again visited the packing house district and found the strikers still about the buildings but in larger groups than the night before but observed no indications of violence whatever. I also, at this time, interviewed the managers of the three plants, -Cudahy, Armour and Swift. In each case they appeared very anxious that more protection be furnished; in short preferred to have the Guard called out for that purpose. On questioning them further on the subject, I found that they had no great fear of violence to their various properties but want their men protected in order that they may come and go from their work. They feel that they can operate without much trouble if that is done.

4. I also at this time, made a check of the three plants to ascertain the approximate number of men required to protect them in case of serious trouble.

5. I next proceeded to interview Mr. Mann, Commissioner of Public Safety, to ascertain his view of the matter and the precautions he had taken to cope with the situation. He informed me that his force consisted of 46 men, which was the largest number available under any circumstances—that every man not actually required in the down town district was on duty at the plants and which left him no men whatever to quell the numerous street car fights between workmen and strikers, or to protect the residence districts which had been threatened. It was his opinion that if his men could be relieved from duty about the packing plants, he could handle all other disturbances without much trouble.

6. To date the Sheriff, Mr. Jones, has only some four or five deputies and seems reluctant to call on more. He gave as his reason the expense of paying any great number of deputies and the inadequacy of that type of men for strike duty. I pointed out to him the necessity of doing all in his power before asking aid of the State and urged him to act at once before more serious trouble took place. He finally agreed to take up the matter of putting on a larger force.

7. To date the strikers have attempted very little violence of a serious nature, contenting themselves with picketing the plants and intimidating the workmen and their families. It is my opinion, that, unless conditions become very much worse, the Sheriff and the Police department should be able to cope with the situation.

8. The number of men on strike, including many former employees who have been discharged, but who are active with the strikers is estimated at about two thousand. It is estimated that it will require about six hundred men for actual guard duty to protect the various plants in case of serious trouble.

The Midland Packing Plant, which is not in use, the Goodrich building, and the Auditorium are all available for the quartering of troops. In addition to the above, the Cudahy plant has a recreation hall, large enough to quarter about two companies, available if required. Troops can be detained within easy marching distance of the above buildings and I have arranged with the Police department to cover the unloading of troops with an adequate force in case it becomes necessary to send them.

9. There being no indication of any immediate change in the situation I returned to my home station, arriving there on the evening of the 9th inst.

WAR CLAIM AGAINST FEDERAL GOVERNMENT

October 30, 1922.

Hon. N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa, State House: Under date of October 20, 1920, this department addressed a letter to the Chief, Militia Bureau, Washington, D. C., requesting advice regarding the proper procedure to follow in filing a claim against the Federal Government for money expended by the State of Iowa in preparing Iowa troops for the war with Germany. The following month, your Adjutant General was in Washington, D. C., and had a conference with the Chief, Militia Bureau, and Major Louis C. Wilson, Finance Officer of that Department, with the result I was advised to file a true copy of the ledger account and the original vouchers covering the expenditures, with the Militia Bureau, and they would forward the claim through the proper channels. Under date of December 20th, 1920, I forwarded the copy of ledger account, and the original vouchers, (after first having them photographed, the photographs being retained in this office). The claim was forwarded to the Auditor for the War Department on January 6, 1921, and by the Auditor to the Chief of Finance on January 13, 1921. The claim was returned to the Chief, Militia Bureau, on February 16, 1921, and by him to me on February 26, 1921, for additional supporting evidence. From that date on to September 13, 1922, deductions have been made from the original claim of $399,562.51, amounting to $26,987.69, these deductions being expenditures which could not properly be charged against the Federal Government.

On September 13, 1922, the Comptroller General advised this office that his department had examined and disallowed the claim of the State of Iowa, for the following reasons:

"There is no authority of law for the payment of a claim of this nature and any relief must come from action by Congress."

The ruling of the Comptroller of the Treasury is not in accord with a precedent already established, as the State of Iowa made claim for money expended for like purposes during the Civil War and the Spanish War, and received reimbursement therefor.

This department has asked the return of the original vouchers filed with the claim, the Comptroller, however, refuses to return them to the State of Iowa, on the grounds that they are a part of the permanent files of his office.

I would be grateful for your advice relative to what further steps can be taken to prosecute this claim. Very sincerely,

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

MEMORANDUM

National Guard Association of Iowa in convention, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, December 28, 1920.

ADDRESS OF LOUIS G. LASHER, THE ADJUTANT GENERAL OF IOWA

Mr. President, Members of the National Guard Association of Iowa:

In the preparation of this paper I have endeavored to continue the subject matter as indicated in my paper of December 8th, last year, which you will recall dealt with the efforts of your parental association (the National Guard Association of the United States) to obtain proper and adequate legislation for the National Guard of the United States. I told you at that time that the National Association had been instrumental in defeating the Chamberlain-Kahn and Wadsworth bills all of which had they become a law would have prevented the reorganization of the National Guard and in fact would have eliminated it completely.

The bill drafted by the law committee of your National Association never received proper consideration from Congress and in fact was eventually smothered in the committee. However, very satisfactory results were obtained, although not as much as was thought necessary, but enough to make my prediction of last year a fact. "The National Guard now has more favorable Federal laws than ever before in its history."

Briefly—The act of June 4, 1920, amends the National Defense Act both in reference to the regular establishment and the National Guard. And I want to direct your attention to those provisions of the new law which are considered exceptionally advantageous to the National Guard.

First. "Section sixty (60) is amended to provide that until July 1, 1921, companies and corresponding units of the National Guard may be recognized at a minimum enlisted strength of fifty (50); provided that the National Guard of any state, territory, and the District of Columbia may include such detachments or parts of units as may be necessary to form complete technical units combined with troops of other states."

You will note that July 1, 1921, is the time limit placed by the law for Federal recognition. Recent regulations covering this point emphasized that the minimum of fifty (50) is for recognition only, and the unit must be maintained at sixty-five (65) before July 1, 1921. It has been indicated verbally that after July 1, 1921, companies or corresponding units may be maintained at sixty-five (65), with a reserve which would bring the strength of the unit up to its required strength which is equal to the corresponding strength in like organizations of the Regular Army.

Second. The Secretary of War under the provisions of Section sixty-two (62) of the act is authorized to issue from stores now on hand and purchased for the Army of the United States, such articles of clothing and equipment as may be needed by the National Guard. This issue shall be made without charge against the Militia appropriation and shall be reimbursed for all Federal property brought into the service by the State troops.

Third. Section sixty-nine (69) provides for original enlistments in the National Guard which shall be for three years and subsequent enlistments for periods of one (1) year each, provided that persons who have served in the Army for not less than six (6) months and have been honorably discharged therefrom may within two years after the passage of this act enlist in the National Guard for a period of one (1) year and reenlist for like periods. Only one oath is required which is the oath of enlistment and which covers both United States and State. This section needs no further remark as it is self-explanatory.

Fourth. Section eighty-one (81) provides for the Militia Bureau and I will repeat it as it is written into the law:

"The Militia Division of the War Department shall hereafter be known as the Militia Bureau of the War Department. After January 1, 1921, the Chief of the Militia Bureau shall be appointed by the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, by selection from lists of present and former National Guard officers, recommended by the Governors of the several States and Territories as suitable for such appointment, who hold commissions in the Officers' Reserve Corps, who have had ten or more years commissioned service in the National Guard, at least five of which has been in the line, and who have attained at least the rank of major. He shall hold office for four years, unless sooner removed for cause, and shall have the rank, pay and allowances of a major general of the Regular Army during his tenure of office, but shall not be entitled to retirement or retired pay. While serving as chief, his reserve commission shall continue in force, and shall not be terminated except for cause assigned. Until the chief is appointed, as provided in this section, the President may assign an officer of the Regular Army, not below the grade of colonel, to perform the duties of chief. For duty in the Militia Bureau and for the instruction of the National Guard the President shall assign such number of officers and enlisted men of the Regular Army as he may deem necessary. The President may also assign, with their consent, and within the limits of the appropriations previously made for this specific purpose, not exceeding five hundred officers of the National Guard, who hold reserve commissions to duty with the Regular Army, in addition to those attending service schools; and while so assigned they shall receive the same pay and allowances as Regular Army officers of like grades, to be paid out of the whole fund appropriated for the support of the militia."

I desire to deal more fully with this section than with any other point for the reason that I believe the whole fabric of the National Guard and any benefits to be derived by it under the law depends entirely on the selection of the proper officer who first wants this office. If the National Guard is to obtain any additional legislation from Congress now or in the future, they must first demonstrate by actual results that they can function under the present law, which is the result of their own efforts and the granting of requests made by them. To make possible the showing expected, depends entirely on the type of man who is selected and appointed as Chief of the Militia Bureau. He can make it or he can break it. With this thought in mind and inasmuch as many efforts to call a meeting of the National Guard Association of the United States had met with failure the Adjutants General Association of the United States met in Chicago, June 21 and 22, last, to seriously consider this question, so vital to the future of the National Guard of the United States. Twenty-two (22) states were represented, and twenty-two (22) Adjutants General agreed to present the name of General C. I. Martin of Kansas, to the Governors of their several states for recommendation to the President as Chief of the Militia Bureau.

For the information of those who may not know General Martin, I want to say that General Martin was a field officer in the Philippines and General officer in France. He has had long years' service as an officer in the National Guard and is the type of man who would successfully fill this position, being tactful and diplomatic in the handling of problems presented to him. He possesses all the qualifications necessary to successfully administer the affairs of the office of the Militia Bureau and in my estimation would do more to obtain a correct interpretation of the law for the National Guard than any other officer so far recommended. Inasmuch as there are indications that an effort is being made in Washington to prevent the appointment of any officer not acceptable in certain quarters I submit General Martin's name to you and ask the consideration of this convention in reference to a resolution approving General Martin for Chief. The following is a list of officers so far recommended:

General C. I. Martin, Kansas.....	17	Governors recommended
Gen. John A. Hulen, Texas.....	1	Governor recommended
Lt. Col. Geo. McL. Presson, Maine.....	1	Governor recommended
Gen. R. E. Staner, Alabama.....	5	Governors recommended
Gen. W. F. Rhinow, Minnesota.....	1	Governor recommended
Col. Frank Rumbold, Missouri.....	1	Governor recommended
Col. John A. Cutchin, Virginia.....	1	Governor recommended

Section 109 will interest those of you with National Guard service of the past, although it does not seem to be attractive to the present day officers, due probably to the decrease in the size of the dollar:

"Pay for National Guard Officers. Captains and lieutenants belonging to organizations of the National Guard shall receive compensation at the rate of one-thirtieth of the monthly base pay of their grades as prescribed for the Regular Army for each regular drill or other period of instruction authorized by the Secretary of War, not exceeding five in any one calendar month, at which they shall have been officially present for the entire required period, and at which at least 50 per centum of the commissioned strength and 60 per centum of the enlisted strength attend and participate for not less than one and one-half hours. Captains commanding organizations shall receive $240 a year in addition to the drill pay herein prescribed. Officers above the grade of captain shall receive not more than $500.00 a year, and officers below the grade of major, not belonging to organizations, shall receive not more than four-thirtieths of the monthly base pay of their grades for satisfactory performance of their appropriate duties under such regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe. Pay under the provisions of this section shall not accrue to any officer during a period when he shall be lawfully entitled to the same pay as an officer of corresponding grade in the Regular Army; Provided, That section 9 of an Act amending the Act entitled "An Act to authorize the President to increase temporarily the Military Establishment of the United States," approved May 18, 1917, approved August 31, 1918, shall also apply to the purchase of uniforms, accouterments, and equipment for cash by officers of the National Guard and National Guard Reserve, whether in State or Federal service, on proper identification and under such rules and regulations as the Secretary of War may prescribe.

This provision makes it possible for a captain to draw approximately and inclusive of camp pay $907.59 a year; 1st Lt. $556.71; 2nd Lt. $466.82 a year. This in the old days would have been well worth while, and while the officers of the organization are penalized for forfeit of pay for low percentage of drill attendance of their organization, what could be more fair when you stop to consider that the drill attendance of any organization depends on the efficient administration of those same officers?

Section 110 deals with the enlisted man's pay which is adjusted so that all enlisted men will receive pay for services rendered and will not be penalized for the failure of the organization as a whole falling below a certain per cent of drill attendance. Briefly—No enlisted man shall receive pay for any month in which he shall have attended less than 60 per cent of drill or other exercises. This it was thought would be a great inducement toward enlistment and make National Guard service attractive. I regret to say it has not proven so. The pay of enlisted men including camp pay amounts to approximately the following:

1st sergeant	$199.43 per year	Horseshoers	$125.51 per year
Mess sergeant	115.50 per year	Saddlers	110.11 per year
Supply sergeant	115.50 per year	Cooks	125.51 per year
Stable sergeant	115.50 per year	Buglers	97.79 per year
Berguants	115.50 per year	Privates, 1st cl.	90.09 per year
Corporals	94.71 per year	Privates	77.00 per year

I ask those of you who served under the old conditions as enlisted men, as to whether or not this would have appealed to you at that time. The only answer that I can find to the problem, is, that due to post-war conditions the entire country, which includes the military establishments, and the industrial life of the country, are in a bad mental condition, but I am extremely glad to say that each day shows a decided improvement and an indication that we are soon to have normal times once again.

Section 111 deals with the National Guard when drafted into Federal service and provides for their retention in the Guard after discharge from Federal service, as follows:

"On the termination of the emergency persons so drafted shall be discharged from the Army, resume their membership in the Militia, and, as the State so provides, shall continue to serve in the National Guard until the dates upon which their enlistments entered into prior to their draft have expired as uninterrupted."

You will readily recognize that this provision of the law will prevent a repetition of what happened to the National Guard very recently.

It is the published policy of the War Department to develop as far as practicable under the limitations imposed by the constitution and existing law one harmonious and effective army, the Army of the United States as contemplated by the National Defense Act of June 3, 1916, as amended by the Act of June 4, 1920. I can feel some of you are inclined to be amused and I sometimes indulge in the luxury of a quiet grin myself when I remember all that has passed in connection with the statement such as I have just quoted, but he that as it may, the fact remains that under the provisions of the above mentioned act the peace establishment of the Army of the United States now consists of:

The Regular Army.

The National Guard,

The Organized Reserve.

The National Guard component of this Army is to provide in time of peace an adequate and effective force available in minor emergencies for employment by the States or by the United States. In time of war to provide an adequate balanced and effective component part of the Army of the United States for employment by the Federal Government within the United States or elsewhere.

The National Guard in this new plan is the second line increment or component of the Army in peace or in war. You will agree with me however, that the National Guard has demonstrated always that it is a very essential part of the first line.

The basic war plan covering war emergency and selected for basic requirements indicates that the peace organization should be such as to insure the effective mobilization of approximately two million men at the end of sixty days. Taking into account the authorized strength of the Regular Army and the National Guard, the first echelon or initial mobilization would be composed of:

Regular Army, 9 infantry and 2 cavalry divisions.

National Guard, 18 infantry and 3 or more cavalry divisions.

Organized Reserves, 27 infantry and 2 or more cavalry divisions, plus the required Corps and Army troops.

It has been indicated by the War Department to all Corps Area Commanders that the development and training of the National Guard is one of their most important duties, and that they should study the situation of the National Guard in their areas with a view of harmonizing and removing difficulties and developing effective co-operation. The first step in this direction is the study of the present system of supply. The inefficiency of which we are all so familiar with, in view of decentralizing control and of building up a system of localized storage of reserve equipment and supplies for each Corps Area.

The second step is to assign as far as practicable each administration unit allotted, in its entirety, to a single state.

My office is in receipt of a copy of the basic tables of organization and at the request of the commanding General, 7th Corps Area I directed Col. Howell, Col. Tinley and Col. Ross to accompany me to Headquarters of the 7th Corps Area at Omaha, Nebraska, for the purpose of conferring with the Commanding General and Adjutants General and their representatives from the National Guard of their states relative to the plan submitted.

The Divisional numbers for the 7th Corps Area are to be the 34th and 35th and the entire plan has been approved by the Secretary of War.

The entire allotment for Iowa to comply with the requirements of the law which specifies 800 men per Senator and Congressman and covering the period ending June 30, 1924, consists of:

Divisional troops	4,046
Corps troops	1,914
Army troops	3,147
General Headquarters troops	1,144
Total	10,251

which is slightly under the allotment provided for by law.

To indicate here the changes in the regimental formation and the new units and arms of the service coming under this plan would require too much time and space but I will only indicate to you in reference to infantry, cavalry and artillery. An infantry regiment will consist of:

Regimental Headquarters	5 officers.
3 battalions, each of	15 officers, 437 men
Battalion Hdqrs.	4 officers, 64 men
3 Rifle Companies, each of	3 officers, 100 men
1 Machine Gun Co. (4 guns)	2 officers, 73 men
1 Howitzer or 37 mm Company	2 officers, 60 men
1 Hdqrs. Company	2 officers, 70 men
1 Administration Co.	3 officers, 150 men
Attached Chaplain	1 officer.
Attached medical and dental	5 officers, 30 men
Cavalry regiment for regimental headquarters	5 officers.
2 squadrons, each of	15 officers, 380 men
Squadron Hdqrs.	3 officers.
4 troops, each of	3 officers, 95 men
1 Hdqrs. troop	2 officers, 105 men
1 Administration troop	5 officers, 122 men
Attached Chaplain	1 officer.
Attached medical and dental	4 officers, 26 men
Attached veterinary	2 officers, 10 men

Iowa's allotment now includes 1 battalion of field artillery, 75 mm, but under the new plan these are taken away and 1 regiment of 3 battalions 155 mm substituted therefor. This type is motorized throughout.

It is my opinion that the State of Iowa can and will organize the 3 field organization indicated above but when the time comes for us to comply in reference to engineers, corps and army troops, I have my serious doubts as to its accomplishment. It was agreed however at the conference at Omaha that we would do our best and in the meantime our efforts will be directed to the organization of infantry, cavalry and artillery.

Those of you who have had long and distinguished service in the National Guard can be of untold value in making the efforts of the Federal Government and the State officials a success in this organization work. I do not have to remind you that it is well worth while nor that it was you and your loyalty to the Guard which made it the efficient force it proved to be in the late war, but I do want to remind you that it is you with your moral and active support which will make the reorganized National Guard as efficient if not more so.

It now develops that the Military Code of Iowa should be either repealed or amended to correct such of its provisions as do not conform with the new order of things and with this end in view I have prepared an amended form covering the corrections as I see them and I ask your association to appoint a committee to go over this bill with me, report back to you and if it meets with your approval, get back of it and see to it that it becomes a law this coming session of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly.

The question of armories, I believe, is to be taken up in another paper and I hope you will discuss it fully and give me the benefit of your experience during such discussion.

I feel that perhaps I have taken up too much of your time but these matters I have endeavored to present to you are vital to the National Guard and I assumed you would want to know something about them.

In conclusion I just want to say that Iowa leads 28 states in recruiting and with a very few exceptions has a Guard recruited from the very best type of men in the State.

THE PROCEEDINGS

The National Guard Association of Iowa was called to order in its third annual session in the House Chamber at the State House, Des Moines, at 4 p. m. January 12, 1922, by Major Henry G. Geiger, vice president, in the absence of the president, Major Charles B. Robbins.

There was an attendance of 145 and the books of the Secretary showed 153 registered.

The report of Captain Wm. J. McCullough, Treasurer, showed receipts during the year of $166.98 from the Secretary and expenditures up to January 7, 1922, of $111.95, leaving on hand the amount of $55.03. The report was approved and ordered filed.

The report of Lieut. Col. Frank E. Lyman, Secretary, showed the total membership of the association to be 211, a gain of 64 from last year. Of this number, there are 58 in arrears in their dues, eight of them being members who are two years in arrears.

The total receipts from dues during the year has been $153, all paid by individual members. During the year the Secretary has turned over to the Treasurer $166.98 and there remained in his hands January 6, 1922, the sum of $6.25. The Secretary has sent to the Treasurer $111.95 in bills, which have been paid. These bills consisted principally of printing and postage. The report was ordered filed.

Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, chairman of the executive committee, made a brief verbal report of work accomplished during the session of the legislature.

Major Thomas P. Hollowell, chairman of the committee on publicity, made a brief report. Among other things he said: "When we returned from the World's War, we were told that the National Guard was dead; that every organization had been mustered out, and there would be no more National Guard. You gentlemen that have worked hard to get your organizations together look very much alive, and there is no doubt in the mind of this committee that the National Guard will continue as it has in the past, to be a great force for law and order.

General Mat A. Tinley, for the committee on armories and camp grounds, reported verbally on the work under way at Camp Dodge, which he said would result in Iowa's having one of the finest camp grounds in the nation. He urged state-owned armories as necessary for proper development of the Guard.

Lieut. Col. W. S. Conkling, as chairman of the committee on military medicine and sanitation, made a brief verbal report.

A committee to nominate officers for the ensuing year was named by the chair. It consisted of Colonel Lloyd D. Ross, Major Percy A. Lanson and General Mat A. Tinley. The committee withdrew.

Colonel Smith W. Brookhart reported verbally for the committee on small arms practice, of which he was chairman. He spoke of the years of work before the war, when rifles were not accurate and ammunition poor. He said that rifles and ammunition had been greatly improved and that the army rifle of today was unsurpassed. He gave full credit to the ordnance department, which he had criticized in the past, for the great improvements. Brief remarks were made by Major Fred S. Hird.

Lieut. Col. Knud Boberg was made an honorary member of the association by unanimous vote.

Major Arthur L. Rule made a brief verbal report as chairman of the committee on federal and state relations.

Major Herman Knapp, chairman of the committee on military schools and colleges, sent by mail a memorandum report in which he stated that World's War veterans now receive a remission of fees of $40 a year, who attend the State University of Iowa or Iowa State College. He suggested that the next legislature give a scholarship of $100 to each member of the National Guard attending these schools.

By direction of the association, the question was referred to the executive committee to investigate and report to the next meeting.

Colonel Guy S. Brewer spoke of the effort made at the last session of the legislature to secure state aid in building armories. He said that this movement should be encouraged and the people should be impressed with the necessity of better armories. He suggested that the state pay from 40 to 50 per cent of the cost and retain the title to the property.

General Tinley moved that the question be referred to the executive committee with instructions to establish a system of publicity and circulate information among Guardsmen with a view of proper action at the next meeting of the legislature.

The question of dues for organizations belonging to the National Guard Association was raised by Colonel Guy S. Brewer. He said that the present dues of $25.00 per organization was too high in his opinion, and that it should be reduced.

Colonel Smith W. Brookhart moved to reduce the dues to $5.00 per unit, and to credit the organization which had paid $25.00 with $5.00 per year for five years from date of payment. Colonel Brookhart's motion also provided that where each organization pays its $5.00, this should be considered as payment of dues for its officers. This was carried without a record vote.

Major Arthur L. Rule moved that the association request the governor of Iowa to assign to active duty the brigade commander, the colonels of the infantry and cavalry regiments and the ranking officer of artillery, and direct them to accompany the adjutant general to the annual meeting of the National Guard Association at New Orleans, the expense to be paid from the Guard fund. The motion, seconded by Colonel Brookhart, was carried.

The report of the nominating committee was read by Colonel Lloyd D. Ross, chairman, as follows:

For president, Major Arthur L. Rule, Mason City.

For Vice Presidents, Colonel Smith W. Brookhart, of Washington, Iowa, and Captain Ray Yenter, Iowa City.

For Secretary, Lieut. Col. Frank E. Lyman, Des Moines.

For Treasurer, Captain Charles Grahl, Des Moines.

No other nominations being made the committee report was adopted unanimously and the new officers named elected.

President Rule took the chair and the convention voted to leave the place and date of the next meeting to the executive committee. The meeting adjourned at 5:10 p. m.

C. M. Stanley, Lt. Col. 168th Inf., Retired Secretary.

By order of the Governor.

Loula G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

Des Moines, Iowa, September 30, 1921.

Subject: Iowa State Rifle Team at National Matches, 1921.

To: The Adjutant General of Iowa, Des Moines, Ia.

The following report covering the tour of duty of the Iowa State Rifle Team at the National Matches at Camp Perry, Ohio, for the period August 27th to September 27th, 1921, as per S. O. 148, dated August 24, 1921, is furnished for your information.

In compliance with the foregoing authority, you are advised that on the last day of the Annual Encampment, a state rifle team, comprised of the following personnel, was selected:

Team Captain—Fred S. Hird, Major Ord. Dept.

Team Coach—Forest R. Wright, Q. M. 133rd Inf. Capt.

Principals: Kendall Burch, Capt. Co. A, 133rd Inf., Dubuque; Allen Gregory, Capt. Co. H, 168th Inf., Harlan; James S. Wilson, 2nd Lt. Tr. A, 1st Cav., Iowa City; Charles R. Seitz, 2nd Lt. Co. I, 168th Inf., Glenwood; Carl H. Witt, 2nd Lt. Co. K, 133rd Inf., LeMars; William F. Nelson, Sgt. Troop F, 1st Cav., Oskaloosa; Forrest O. Wing, Co. B, 133rd Inf. Mess Sgt., Waterloo; Clyde Meneray, Supply Sgt. Co. L, 168th Inf., Council Bluffs; Walter H. Schulte, Corp. Hq. Co, 3rd Bn., 133rd Inf., Sioux City; Robert M. Tarbell, Pvt. 1st Cl. Co. B, 133rd Inf., Waterloo.

Alternates—John H. Anderson, 2nd Lt. Co. G, 133rd Inf., Fort Dodge; Joseph T. Ham, Supply Sgt. Co. A, 133rd Inf., Dubuque.

Each member returned to his home station with his organization and reported at Camp Perry on August 26, 1921.

The Iowa team participated in all the work prescribed in the Small Arms School, at the conclusion of which each officer and man was presented with a certificate of proficiency as a marksman and an instructor. The work of this school is for the purpose of developing a proficient corps of instructors in rifle and pistol firing and in my opinion the results attained justify the effort and expense. The work and the lectures which were delivered by Col. Smith W. Brookhart of Washington, Iowa, Officer in Charge of the School, were extremely interesting and highly instructive. Expert Riflemen qualifications were secured by ten team members. Sharpshooters by two, Marksman by one and one did not qualify owing to the fact that he broke a clip at the 200-yard rapid fire stage and declined to proceed further.

For the purpose of securing the greatest amount of experience under competition conditions all members of the team were entered in the National Rifle Association matches. Prizes were won as follows:

* Did not fire. * 5 shots, second clip jammed.

The team finished in 45th place.

At the conclusion of the National Team Match I had the honor of being selected team captain of the National Guard United Service Team.

Owing to the inexperience of the Iowa shooters, none made the team. This team is made up of the 20 best shots from the National Guard of all States and they competed against like chosen teams from the U. S. Army, Navy, Marine Corps and Civilians.

The National Matches were splendidly conducted and reflect the unflinching efforts of the Executive Officer, Col. M. C. Mumma and a corps of experienced and efficient assistants. The team left Camp Perry at 10:00 p. m. September 25, 1921. It affords great pleasure to add that at all times the discipline of the team was splendid, each member priding himself in maintaining the old Iowa standard.

Fred S. Hird, Major, Ord. Dept., Team Captain.

It is anticipated that flags from other organizations will eventually reach this state. The Adjutant General is endeavoring to obtain flags from the Navy, under the same authority which permits the War Department to provide them.

NATIONAL FLAG ETIQUETTE

Our National Flag, affectionately known as the Stars and Stripes, or "Old Glory," is the emblem of the sovereignty, dignity, and ideals of our Country, the United States of America.

Although it is, in its artistic conception, the most beautiful National Emblem in existence, its loftiest grandeur is in what it symbolizes, The Red in it stands for Bravery, the White stands for Liberty, and the Blue for Loyalty. By saluting our Red, White and Blue Emblem, the glorious symbol or banner of Freedom, Equality, and Opportunity you show yourself to be a true American citizen. By failing to salute it you prove yourself to be an ignorant or disloyal person.

You need not salute every piece of red, white and blue bunting you see draped in public or private or flags which fly from flagpoles or buildings, or small flags carried promiscuously by individuals. Be exceedingly careful, however, to salute the National Color as our Flag is called when it is carried by troops on foot. When carried by mounted troops it is called the National Standard.

The above principles apply to civilian organizations or schools also when they parade the National Flag with their own distinctive banner. These latter emblems, as well as regimental banners, may dip in salute to personages of proper rank, but the National Emblem in its majestic dignity renders no salute. It receives homage from all.

When the Flag is unfurled in a room it should be saluted the first time it is passed but not thereafter if those present pass it again.

To salute correctly a civilian removes his head-dress and holds it in front of his left shoulder while the National Flag is passed or honored. He should stand in an erect military manner "at attention in silence" when doing this. If seated, previously, he should arise; if walking he should halt. If in an automobile he should alight and salute.

Although there is no penalty attached for failure to salute in a similar manner the playing of the musical composition known as the "Star Spangled Banner," our National Anthem, civilians are urged to cultivate their patriotism by rendering similar honors. When no band or orchestra is present to play the above the field music or any bugle or trumpet available may sound "To the Color," which requires the full salute to the Flag. Patriotic words, officially adopted by the War Department have been written to this Army bugle-call, and they teach the same lesson as our National Anthem. The airs and words of both should be learned so that proper honors may be given. They are found at the end of this article. Indoors this is done by rising and standing at attention uncovered.

In stormy weather the civilian may modify his salute to protect his health by simply raising his head covering enough to indicate respect. Ladies, in saluting both the National Flag, the National Anthem or "To the Color," should stand at attention and remain silent. They do nothing more.

If the Flag is carried with the waterproof covering which is made for it as a weather protection, no salute is expected or given.

On Army Posts the Flag is hoisted rapidly at the first notes of Reveille, the call for waking the Army from its rest. All present should render prescribed salute. At Retreat Parade, at the close of the day, the Flag is lowered steadily with dignity and reverence, and is folded by two soldiers into a triangular shape like the Continental cocked hat. Neither in the morning or in the evening nor at any time is it ever allowed, when handled, to touch the ground. It should not be hoisted before sunrise nor allowed to remain up after sunset. In stormy weather a small Flag is used and on special occasion a Flag larger than the usual Post Emblem is displayed.

When this ceremony is performed, a band, if present, will play the "Star Spangled Banner," when troops in line formation will Present Arms with a rifle or render the salute prescribed for their particular weapon. The commissioned officers in ranks will render the right hand salute as they stand in formation. All military persons not in Army formation and in uniform, unarmed, covered or uncovered will give the right hand salute and face the Flag as it is being lowered at Retreat Parade. At all other times they should face the music. Indoors rise and stand at attention when the National Anthem or To the Color is played. The latter is played on the bugle when a band or orchestra is not available for the "Star Spangled Banner," and requires equal honors.

The National Color of an Army organization with the regimental banner is jealously guarded in the office or residence of the Commanding Officer. When they are to be used at ceremonies they are carefully secured and returned after use.

The military unit to which they are attached receives them both with great honor and respect. Sometimes a special ceremony called The Escort of the Color is directed. This teaches an impressive patriotic lesson which should be learned by all.

The best practice about the National Flag is as follows:

- (a) If possible, always suspend the Flag from a staff or pole.
- (b) If displayed on a rope or wire extending from the house to a pole or tree the blue field should be up and out from the house.
- (c) If displayed flat against a building, wall or surface the blue field should be in the upper corner and towards the northeast if practicable. The reason for this is that in science these directions are considered as positive. This has especial reference when Flags are displayed without a staff or pole.
- (d) In drawings, where the Flag is shown with a vertical staff and is placed against a flat surface at rest as it might be in a picture, the blue field, which represents the head and front of the Flag, should point towards the actual right as one faces it. This brings the field in the upper left hand corner of the Flag, which seems very appropriate when same is horizontal, with the vertical staff on the left. If the staff is revolved 90° to the right, the blue field revolves with it to the upper right hand corner of the Flag, which is now in a vertical position with a horizontal staff, as one faces it.
- (e) When used as a banner stretched across a street running east and west, the blue field should be placed towards the north; in streets running north, place field towards the east.
- (f) When used in front of a speaker's stand it should be secured flat vertically as suggested, with nothing placed upon it. Do not twist it into fantastical designs or let it be used with the entire Flag horizontal as a covering, unless it is deemed proper to use it as an altar cover with a Bible upon it.

In uncovering a monument draped with the Flag the latter is raised aloft and secured, to form an impressive part of the ceremony. Do not drape an automobile or vehicle with the Flag, unless same is used to carry the remains of a deceased military or distinguished person. Here the stars and blue field should be towards the head of the coffin. The flag is not buried when thus draping a coffin, but is removed just before the casket is lowered.

When the War Department ships a soldier's body for private burial the Flag which drapes the casket may be retained by the relatives.

When different National, State, or Foreign Flags fly with our own on different staffs our American National Flag must always be on the right but on the same level as the emblems of Nations with which we are at peace, this is proper military procedure.

If these colors were on the same staff it would be proper to have our Flag above all others and this rule should hold on any pole, rope or wire above a building.

Federal laws now punish severely anyone who uses the National Emblem for advertising purposes. Do not drape it over doors or windows, use bunting instead.

The Flag is placed at half staff in the Army in mourning for a military person. The Flag is first hoisted to the top of the pole, then lowered at half staff. Before lowering it at Retreat Parade it is hoisted to the top of the pole before it is lowered and saluted.

On Memorial Day, May 30th, the Flag, in honor of our heroic dead, is placed at half-staff from sunrise to noon and at full staff from noon until sunset.

On Flag Day, June 14, which is the anniversary of the adoption of the Flag and on July 4th, our Independence Day, display the Flag to the best possible advantage.

It is now the custom for all good Americans to display the Flag on Lincoln's Birthday, February 12, on Washington's Birthday, February 22, and on Mother's Day, the second Sunday in May. Please take note.

Old or worn-out National Flags should not be used for decoration or display. Such Flags should not be cast aside nor treated disrespectfully. They should be destroyed as a unit privately, preferably by burning in such a manner as does not indicate in any manner whatsoever disrespect or irreverence to the National Emblem of our Country.

Never lose sight of the fact that the Flag represents our Nation's dignity and ideals. It was planned primarily to fly from a staff. If this is not practicable, secure it flat preferably in a vertical position as suggested with the stars and the blue field in the upper portion. Do not treat it merely as a decorative piece of dry goods. Use red, white and blue bunting if that is your scheme or make any combination of these colors you choose.

The first "Stars and Stripes" Flag was made in accordance with a resolution introduced in Congress by John Adams on June 14, 1777. Then the thirteen States were represented by thirteen stars in the blue field in the form of a circle. According to George Washington this was an appeal to Heaven from a new constellation among the nations. Subsequently a star was added to the field every time a new State entered the family of the United States. Now with forty-eight sovereign States making our wonderful Republic, the United States of America, there are six parallel rows of eight stars each in the blue field.

By order of the Governor:

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

State of Iowa, Adjutant General's Department.

Des Moines, July 30, 1920.

1. The following extracts from communication and instructions received from the War Department is herewith published for the information and guidance of all organizations having the care of animals.

"1. Vouchers are being received in this Bureau for the payment from Federal appropriations of services rendered by civilian veterinarians and civilian horseshoers. It should be impressed upon all concerned that a mounted organization must have a duly qualified horseshoer and that the animals pertaining to the organization must be kept shod by him. He should be one of the helpers referred to in paragraph 953, National Guard Regulations. If the pay as horseshoer and helper is not sufficient inducement to secure a competent horseshoer, additional pay should be provided from state, battery, troop, company or private funds.

"2. Payment for veterinary service will not be made from Federal funds except when specifically authorized by the Secretary of War. It is not intended that civilian veterinarians be called to treat the ordinary injuries and ailments to which an animal is subject, but that the stable sergeant or one of his helpers should be competent to perform this duty. Only in extreme cases should the services of a civilian veterinarian be used. Veterinarians who receive pay from Federal funds under the Act of Congress approved June 4, 1920, will be required to furnish all necessary medical treatment of the public animals of their command.

"3. Mounted organizations which when called into the Federal service, can not keep its animals shod and otherwise care for them, is practically useless from military viewpoint, and it is not intended to furnish Federal funds for payment to civilians in order to supply such deficiencies. Where it appears that supplies are not properly used or where animals are not properly cared for, the allowance will be discontinued and the public animals will be withdrawn from the organization concerned.

"4. State authorities will furnish the information contained in this circular letter to all mounted units of the National Guard and will enjoin upon them strict adherence to the directions contained herein."

2. Any organization which has not already complied with the above will immediately do so.

By order of the Governor:

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

State of Iowa, Adjutant General's Department.

General Order No. 13.

Des Moines, September 7, 1920.

1. The following regulations relative to program of instruction for all rifle companies during the months of September, October, November and December are published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

2. The most important feature in every phase of instruction is to provide systematic and progressive programs of training which will prepare both officer and man to perform the highest duties commensurate with his ability.

3. The primary object of these programs of instruction and training is to secure uniform and efficient training of all units. This requires that instruction at the several stations coming under this order be conducted concurrently with and be definitely and closely co-ordinated.

The secondary object is to provide such supervised instruction of the several organizations as will insure the continued instruction and benefits derived at Camp McHenry.

4. It will be the constant aim of all organization commanders to properly distribute the programs over the period indicated so that interest in the work will not suffer through its becoming monotonous. With this end in view the following program is given in hours for each subject, and the proper distribution is left to the judgment of the organization commander, subject to the criticisms of the superior officers who hold jurisdiction:

(a) Physical Training	8 hours
(b) Bayonet Training	6 hours
(c) Riot Duty	6 hours
(d) School of the Platoon.....	12 hours
Total.....	32 hours

Non-commissioned officers schools will be held by all organizations at least once a week, duration of school one (1) hour. The organization commander will personally require his 1st sergeant and company clerk to study the details of company administration and office work, and such work accomplished during the drill period will be credited as proper performance of military duty.

5. Detailed schedules of instruction and the program to be followed by each organization will be prepared and forwarded each week to the Commanding Officer 4th Infantry, the Adjutant General and the Inspector Instructor.

By order of the Governor:

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

State of Iowa, Adjutant General's Department.

Des Moines, October, 1920.

1. Under the provisions of Circular No. 19, WD, Militia Bureau, dated October 14, 1916, and Par. 504, National Guard Regulations, all officers of the Medical Corps, Active and Reserve, National Guard of Iowa, will pursue a course of instruction consisting of a series of questions and answers on subjects pertaining to their duties as officers in the military service. This correspondence course is in addition to participating in the instructions prescribed for sanitary detachments and units, and other duties prescribed for medical officers, and will be under the supervision of Inspection-Instructor, Sanitary Troops, N. G., 62nd Divisional District, State House, Des Moines, Iowa.

2. This course will cover a period of five years, to be followed by a postgraduate course and such supplementary work as may be prescribed by the Secretary of War. The course will be as follows:

- (a) "Basic"
- (b) Year "A" Course: For all officers who have qualified in the "Basic" Course.
- (c) Year "B" Course: For all officers who have qualified in the "Basic" and Year "A" Courses.
- (d) Year "C" Course: For all officers who have qualified in the "Basic" and Year "A" and "B" Courses.

(e) Year "D" Course: For all officers who have qualified in the "Basic," "A," "B," and "C" Courses.

3. The course for each class will begin November 1st of each year and continue for a period of six months.

4. The scope of the work in any one course will consist of not more than six papers of not more than 60 questions each. These questions will be furnished by the Inspector-Instructor, Sanitary Troops, 62 Divisional District, N. G., and one set of papers will be completed and forwarded to him on the last day of the month indicated on the question sheet.

5. Student officers, upon receipt of the papers pertaining to the course prescribed for them, will, after a careful reading and study of the page or paragraph indicated, after each question typewrite or write out the answer to each question in his own language without immediate reference to the text.

6. Answers should be confined to the questions, and be as brief as the subject warrants. Many of the questions can be answered by yes or no, others with a few words. The aim of the course is to familiarize medical officers with their military duties and enable them to find any information pertaining to their duties in the military service.

7. Answers to questions will be made on legal cap paper, marginal ruled, the margin will not be written in.

8. Upon receipt of complete papers submitted by student officers, the Inspector-Instructor will carefully review them, making such comment and criticism as may be necessary to convey a clear understanding of the subject. All papers will be returned to student officers, who should file them for future reference.

9. If practicable, student officers will be given an examination upon completion of each paper. This examination may be oral or written, and will be conducted by the Inspector-Instructor. If written, the examination will consist of not less than ten (10) questions, taken from the questions covered by the paper submitted to the student officer during the month, so conducted as to preclude the student officer's receiving any assistance in any manner whatsoever. These examinations can be conducted during the visits of instruction of the Inspector-Instructor.

10. If circumstances are such that it is impracticable to conduct examinations after completion of each paper, a written examination will be conducted as soon as practicable after completion of the entire course, and will consist of ten (10) questions from each set of questions submitted during the course, in the same manner and under the same precautions indicated above.

11. The marks made by student officers during the correspondence course and that made by them in the final examination in the course will be the basis of determining the general average made by each student officer during the course. A general average of 75 per cent is required to qualify in each course.

General Orders No. 18.

Des Moines, October 1, 1921.

The following regulations pertaining to Summary Court and Disciplinary Policy have been prepared by the Judge Advocate, Iowa National Guard, and is published for the information and guidance of all concerned.

Your particular attention is directed to the sub-heading "Policy," Par. 12, Sec. (2) and it is expected you will govern your command as suggested therein.

SUMMARY COURT AND DISCIPLINARY POLICY AT COMPANY'S HOME STATION

For National Guard not in Federal Service.

I.—The Court: Shall consist of one officer belonging to the organization with which the summary court is to function.

(Appx. 2 M. C. M., Sec. 105, 556)

II.—Appointing Authority: Is properly the Company commander and the appointment is made on his written order, except when but one officer is present with the command he shall be the Summary Court Martial of that command. In that case, no order appointing the court will be issued and the Summary Court Officer will enter on the record that he is the "only officer present with the command." (A. W. 10, Appx. 2 M. C. Sec. 105, 556).

III.—Charges: (1) May be preferred by any person subject to Military Law, but only when the person preferring them either has personal knowledge of, or has investigated the matters set forth therein, and from such knowledge or investigation is of the opinion that there is reasonable ground for believing that an offense has been committed, that the accused is guilty of the offense, and that the offense can not be properly or adequately dealt with in any other manner. All charges and specifications must be signed by a person subject to the military laws, and under oath either that he has personal knowledge of, or has investigated, the matters set forth therein, and that the same are true in fact, to the best of his knowledge and belief. (A. W. 70.)

2. Form and contents.

(See Appx. 5 and 6, M. C. M., 560)

(3) Charge sheet will be prepared in Triplicate, using the prescribed form for each. Should the space on the charge sheet be insufficient to accommodate all the charges and specifications proposed, such additional sheets of ordinary paper will be used as may be required. In the preparation of charges care will be taken to observe the provisions of paragraphs 62, 63 64, 65, 66 and 67 M. C. M.

IV.—The TRIAL (Procedure): (1) The accused should be given a copy of the charge or charges filed against him along with a written order from the convening authority to appear before the Summary Court for trial at a certain time and place.

(Appx. 2, M. C. M., 557, Sec. 105)

(2) Arrange for witnesses to be present at same time and place.

(3) The procedure of and before Summary Court Martials will, so far, as practicable, be identical with that prescribed for General Courts Martial.

(Par. 351-287-289 and Appx. 8-602-608, M. C. M.)

(4) Accused. Failure of accused to appear after having received copy of charges, and written order from convening authority to appear at the time and place fixed for trial will authorize Summary Court to issue warrant for his arrest, and have accused brought before the court.

(Act June 3, 1916, 39 Stat. 298—Appx. 2 M. C. M. 557)

(5) Witnesses: Summary Court may compel attendance of witnesses and sentence for refusal to be sworn or to answer as provided in actions before civil courts.

(Act of June 3, 1916, 39 Stat. 298, M. C. M., 557)

V.—Punishment (Maximum): (1) May fine $25.00 for any single offense.

(2) May reduce noncommissioned officers to the ranks.

(3) May forfeit pay and allowances not to exceed $25.00 for each offense.

(4) May confine in lieu of fine, provided, confinement does not exceed one day for each dollar of fine authorized.

(See Appx. 2, M. C. M., Secs. 105-106)

VI.—Sentence (Form cf):

(See Appx. 13 M. C. M., 633)

VII.—Processes and Sentences: (1) Will be executed by the United States Marshal or his duly appointed deputy.

(Act of June 3, 1916, 39 Stat. 299, Appx. 2, M. C. M., 557)

(2) For warrant to apprehend the following is suggested:

"S. C. Record No. Headquarters Co. Inf. (or Cav.) Iowa N. G.

dent of the United States of America, to apprehend the said.....

Located at..... Iowa."

(3) For form of subpoena for civilian witness. (See Appx. 19, M. C. M., 650)

(4) For form of warrant of attachment. (See Appx. 20, M. C. M., 654)
VIII.—Record of trial by Summary Court and Form:
(See Appx. 12 M. C. M., 632, also Par. 367 (c) M. C. M., 305)

IX.—Reviewing Authority: Is the appointing authority or the officer commanding for the time being.

(Par. 369 M. C. M., 307)

X.—Reports of Trial by Summary Courts Martial: With the least practicable delay after action has been taken on the sentence, a complete copy of the record of trial will be transmitted to the Adjutant General at Des Moines, Iowa, through military channels.

(Par. 367 M. C. M., (d) 305)

XI.—Expense (while in jail): If the accused is sentenced to confinement in jail, his expense while confined until otherwise ordered will be paid first from any fines that may have been collected by the organization commander, and second from the miscellaneous fund of the organization.

XII.—Powers of Commanding Officers: (1) Disciplinary: However important the Summary Court may be in the matter of enforcing discipline, it is the duty of the company commander, for minor offenses to impose disciplinary punishment without the intervention of a Courts Mar-tal, unless the accused demands trial by Courts Martial.

(A. W. 104, M. C. M., 531)

(2) Policy: It is the policy of the War Department that commanding officers resort to their disciplinary powers under A. W. 104, in preference to employing Summary Courts Martial.

In only rare cases should a soldier be tried by a Summary Courts Mar-tal without having previously been repeatedly subjected to disciplinary punishment.

(The Policy does not leave it optional with the Commanding Officer, on the contrary, the policy requires him to resort first to disciplinary punishment. Inability to maintain discipline without summary courts martial, strongly suggests inefficiency, unless the circumstances be very exceptional. As it is the duty of a senior commanding officer to see that subordinate commanders follow this policy, he must receive the ultimate responsibility for the number of inferior court trials in the commands of his subordinate commanding officers. No Commanding Officer exercising courts martial jurisdiction can escape responsibility for an excessive number of these trials by the excuse that organization commanders have represented that trials are necessary to maintain discipline. Discipline must be maintained subject to this War Department policy, which commanding officers will rigidly enforce."

(Par. 336-a M. C. M., 260)

By order of the Governor.

Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

State of Iowa, Adjutant General's Department.

General Orders No. 19.

Des Moines, October 11, 1921.

1. Section 4, Chapter 163, Laws of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly provides:

"The Governor shall appoint an armory board which shall consist of the Adjutant General and four other officers of the active reserve or retired Commissioned Personnel of the guard. The board shall meet at such times and places as are ordered by the Governor. The four officers so appointed shall serve at the pleasure of the Governor. The board shall for each unit of the guard fix the rent allowances to be paid by the state for other than state owned armories, and shall acquire, contract, erect, purchase, sell maintain, repair, and alter state owned armories subject to such laws made and provided therefor. The board shall fix the amount to be paid commanding officers of each division, brigade, regiment, battalion, squadron, battery, troop, company, or other units of the Guard for headquarters expenses and shall provide by regulations how the same shall be disbursed by such commanding officers. The actions of the armory board shall be subject to the approval of the Governor. The allowances made by the board shall, when approved by the Governor, be paid from the funds appropriated for the support and maintenance of the guard."

2. Under the provisions of the law, his Excellency, N. E. Kendall, Governor of Iowa, appointed an Armory Board, consisting of the following officers:

Brig. General Louis G. Lasher, the Adjutant General.

Brig. General Guy E. Logan, retired.

Colonel Charles J. Wilson, retired.

Major Earl B. Bush, retired.

Major Charles W. Alkins, retired.

General Lasher, President of the Board. Major Alkins, Recorder.

3. The Armory Board convened for its first meeting on June 13, 1921, and has held subsequent meetings on June 21, 26, July 30, and August 21, and 22, 1921. The following recommendations of the board were submitted to the Governor for his approval on September 8, 1921. They were approved September 27, 1921, and are published for the information of all concerned.

GENERAL RECOMMENDATIONS

1. The Armory Board, in considering the allotments made to units of the Iowa National Guard which are organized at the present time, do so, with the thought, that the first year's allotments should be on an increased allowance, so that the organization can place the building used for an armory in first class condition on a decreased allowance; which decrease will start with the fiscal year 1922, and the amount of such decrease, if any, will be set by the Armory Board.
2. The Board recommends that when an organization is ready to construct, or remodel a building for armory purposes, the plans for same must be submitted to the Armory Board for approval.
3. That all buildings used for armory purposes, should be constructed of brick, cement, stone, or other fire proof material.
4. That modern methods of heating and lighting, lavatories, shower baths, and water closets shall be installed.
5. That adequate provision must be made for protection against fire, theft, and the elements for all Federal and State property.
6. That the social life of the organizations should be provided for in suitable rooms, with proper furnishings, etc.
7. That the organizations be required to obtain complete control of buildings or the parts of buildings used for armory purposes.
8. That all leases for armory properties, and renewals thereof be submitted to the Adjutant General for approval, before execution thereof by the organization commander, and that they shall be drawn on the standard form of lease to be provided for by the Adjutant General's Department.
9. That all armory rent allowances be paid quarterly.

To all Regimental, Battalion, and Squadron Headquarters the sum of $300.00 per year, or so much as is necessary, when such headquarters are maintained in a building where other military organizations are housed.

HEADQUARTERS ALLOWANCES

It is recommended that the Adjutant General be authorized to purchase and issue in kind to Division, Brigade, Regiment, Battalion, Company, Troop, Battery, or other auxiliary units, as have administrative duties to perform, when the same are authorized and organized, all the proper office equipment and material for the proper functioning of each organization headquarters, with the exception of an allowance in cash for postage, telegrams, and long distance telephone calls, as follows, subject to approval of the Adjutant General.

	Postage per year.	Extra.
Brigade Commander	$15.00	$10.00
Surgeon General	10.00
Judge Advocate	10.00
Chief Ordnance Officer	15.00	10.00
Regimental Commanding Officers.....	25.00	25.00
Regimental Medical Department	10.00
Battalion Commanding Officers.....	10.00
Company, Troop, Battery, or other unit Commanders.	15.00

In the past a headquarters allowance of $100.00 per year was allowed each organization, which was supposed to cover postage, stationery, office supplies and equipment, but past years experience does not demonstrate that this method is for the best interest of the State or the organization, hence the recommendation that the Adjutant General's department purchase all office equipment and supplies for issue to the various organizations on requisitions. The first cost would be very little in excess of the original $100.00 per year allowance, and the subsequent years would show a very material decrease, while the organizations would have permanent office equipment for years to come.

REGULATIONS

I. No funds except those received from the state will be accounted for in rendering financial reports to the state.

II. For each expenditure, a voucher must be taken. These vouchers must be numbered consecutively for each period. The file of these vouchers must be kept ready to submit to any inspecting officer calling for them.

III. All entertainments, or amusements, must be self supporting. Payments for them must be made from the receipts and not by diverting of state funds.

IV. All moneys issued by the state for the benefit of the National Guard Units, or officers, must be deposited in a bank, and the same paid out by check, for the purpose for which it was issued, and same will be taken up and accounted for semi-annually on an account current for the periods closing June 30, and December 31, of each year. The account current for the period closing June 30, must be filed on or before September 1, and for the period closing December 31, on or before March 1 of each year. All officers will be held strictly accountable under their official bond that all moneys issued them by the state are properly and lawfully disbursed and accounted for.

V. Each fund will be carried on the Account Current, separately, and under Credits will be extended all moneys remaining on hand from last account, or which has been received either from a former accountable officer of the organization, or from the state during the period covered by the account. Under Debits will be entered by Abstracts, all expenditures from each fund covered by the account. Included in each abstract, as voucher, the original bills of charge, attached to which must be the cancelled check of payment.

VI. Moneys received from any other source than the state will not be taken up and accounted for on the account current, neither will money received from the state, when same is to be paid to individual members for per diem be accounted for on account current.

VII. Rent Allowances: Payments from this fund, can only be made for rent, heat, fuel, light, water, repairs, permanent fixtures, or other necessary conveniences, submitted to and authorized by the Adjutant General, and janitor service, and vouchers for payment must only cover claims under above headings.

Headquarters Allowance: Under this heading only payments for postage, telephone and telegraph are allowed, and a certified statement from the responsible officer is acceptable, but such expenditure must be kept within the limits of the allowance made by the board.

Rifle Range Allowance: Under this allowance payments for the procurement, construction and maintenance of company indoor and outdoor rifle ranges are made, and include payments for the purchase, rental, building abutments or pits, constructing range house, telephone system, and material for fully equipping range for use, and for the necessary labor in so doing. Payment for per diem, or subsistence of members of the organization or other persons, in rifle practice either in shooting, scoring, coaching, or pit work, are not permissible under this allowance. Transportation of members of the National Guard Organization to which this allowance is made, may be paid out of this allowance from their home station to the range, at the discretion of the responsible officer.

Under Sec. 6, Chap. 163, Laws of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly, the rifle range allowance is increased to $300.00 per year, or so much thereof as is necessary.

Per Capita Allowance: Under Sec. 7, Chap. 163, Laws of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly, this allowance (formerly designated as miscellaneous allowance) will be paid semi-annually for miscellaneous military purposes, in the amount of $4.00 per capita, based on the average enlisted strength during such semi-annual period, but when the average attendance during any semi-annual period falls below 50 per cent of the average enlisted strength in that period, then and in that event, such organization shall forfeit all right or claim to any such allowance. All payments for bills for military uses not otherwise fully provided for, can be made, such as unpaid balance on armory rent, light, fuel, etc., range expenses over and above allowance, and transportation of members to and from range, cartage on stores to and from depot, purchase of ordnance and Quartermaster stores, etc. No payments can be made from this fund for anything connected with social entertainments, or for covering losses incurred from such entertainments. No payments can be made for per diem of officers or men for attending drills, rifle practice or other duties usually required.

VIII. The board has recommended and it has received the approval of the Governor, that all office equipment for all units shall be purchased by the state, and issued on requisition. Proper forms covering the accountability for this property will be sent all organizations.

I. Foreword.

1. Object and Bases of Training: Published as par. 85, compilation of Orders, War Department, and General Orders 112, War Department, 1919. (Military Education of the Army.)

2. Review of the Past Year's Work: 63% of the Infantry companies of the Iowa National Guard were organized and recruited during 1921. The remaining 37% of the companies, which had been organized in 1920, enlisted an average of about 25% of new recruits during 1921.

In view of these facts the training prescribed for the past year "First Year's Training," embodying the development of the individual soldier, of the squad and of the section, with the specific object of preparing these sub-units for entry into the platoon, culminating in platoon training during the encampment 1921.

3. Training Mission for 1922 (Second Year's Training).

(a) To review continuously the instruction given in the past and to further the progress of training of the individual, of the squad and of the sections.

(b) To concentrate on Platoon Training, both in close combat order, the immediate object being: To prepare Platoons to function at War Strength, by the 1922 encampment, when they will be required to take their places in War Strength Companies (provisional organizations).

(c) Prior to the 1922 encampment to complete at home stations the Preliminary Training for Target Practice, and as far as practicable, the Prescribed Course of Known Distance practice, in order to be ready for the field firing courses to be conducted during Field Training Period 1922.

One of the most important requirements for a good National Guard Company is a serviceable target range at its home station.

4. Standard of Proficiency:

(a) Minimum Specifications for Trained Infantry and Training Methods are published in Training Circular No. 8, Document No. 844, War Department, which will serve as a guide.

(b) It must be borne in mind that in the National Guard the time allotted for instruction is not sufficient to attain perfection in any one subject; but, with proper forethought, efficient instruction and honest effort on part of all members, it is sufficient for the average company to obtain a good working knowledge of all subjects prescribed. Perfection in any one subject should never be sought at the expense of the training in any other prescribed subject.

(c) It will be assumed that the completion of the instruction of National Guard Troops will normally come in a period of intensive training upon their draft into Federal Service, in time of war, and to such extent as is logical each summer camp will be regarded as a miniature period of such intensive training.

III. Recruit instruction for all Organizations:

In the present system of enlisting the National Guard the training of recruits will be an ever present problem, and it is therefore necessary that there be a clear understanding of the task and of the objective to be attained. Instructors will strive for simplicity in this training and make the work as practicable as possible, prescribing Qualification Tests which permit of advancement of the recruits from one step to another in accordance with their observed progress. So far as it is possible, the aim will be to finish recruit instruction in the armory and to take to the annual encampment organizations which are ready to work as units.

No recruit should be turned for duty or be permitted to join a permanent squad or higher unit until he has successfully passed a qualification test in the following subjects:

1. Discipline and Military Courtesy.
2. Care and Preservation of Arms, Uniform and Equipment.
3. Personal Hygiene and Care of the Feet—First Aid.
4. School of the Soldier.
5. School of the Squad.
6. Physical Drill (Recruit instruction).
7. Orders for Sentinels.
8. Preliminary instruction, Target Practice.
9. Before being turned for duty the Articles of War should be read to him and such fact noted under "Remarks" on his Service Record.

IV. Specialties:

1. FOR ALL ORGANIZATIONS: Each Company Commander will be held responsible that special practical and theoretical training is given as follows:

(a) To First Sergeants and Company Clerks: Company Administration, Special Regulations No. 56 and 57, W. D.; Military Correspondence GO. No. 23, series 1912, W. D.; Army Regulations; National Guard Regulations.

(b) To Mess Sergeants and Cooks: Management of the Company Mess and Cooking.—Manual for Army Cooks 1916.

(c) To Supply Sergeants and Mechanics: Description of the Infantry Equipment, Ordnance Document No. 1718, W. D.—Instruction for the care and repair of Small Arms and Ordnance Equipment, Ordnance Document 1965, W. D.—Basic Allowances, Circular 169, W. D., 1921—Care of public animals and leather equipment issued to the National Guard, Ordnance Document No. 10903, W. D.

(d) To Buglers: Manual of the Bugle, and Bugle Calls, I. D. R., 1911. Semaphore and Wig-Wag Signalling, Signal Book, U. S. Army, 1916—Writing of Field Messages on prescribed blank forms—Signal Corps Form No. 217 A, 1916. Use of compass and field glasses.

(e) To Runners and Agents: Use of compass and field glasses; map reading; signalling by flag with standard speed and accuracy; oral and written field messages, P. S. R., par. 32 and Signal Corps Form 217 A, 1916.

(f) To all Noncommissioned Officers: Military sketching and Map Reading—Grievances.—Use of compass and field glasses; field orders and messages, pars. 32 and 45, F. S. R. and Signal Corps Form No. 217 A, 1916.

2. For Headquarters Cos., Service Cos. and Howitzer Cos., see Training Circular No. 1, Militia Bureau, published in Bulletin No. 69, AGO., State of Iowa, April 22, 1921, and Appendix No. 1, to this training program.

V. Text Books:

All instruction prescribed in this training program will be based on the list of War Department regulations, manuals and other documents published in Bulletin No. 4, AGO., State of Iowa, January 15, 1921.

Regulations will be submitted by organization commanders concerned, to this office, in case any of the prescribed regulations, manuals or other documents have not been received to date.

VI. Schools.

The following Schools are prescribed:

1. Correspondence Schools:

- | | |
|-----------------------------------|---|
| (a) For Field and Staff Officers | } See Bulletin No. 77, Series 1921, AGO,
State of Iowa. |
| (b) For Company Officers | |
| (c) For Noncommissioned Officers. | |

2. Company Schools for Officers and Noncommissioned Officers.

In addition to the correspondence school courses, company schools for company officers and noncommissioned officers should be conducted in each company for at least one and one-half hours each week, without interfering with regular armory drills.

The specific object of this school will be to prepare officers and non-commissioned officers to act as instructors in the subjects prescribed for the following week.

No company officer or noncommissioned officer should be permitted to act as instructor until the company commander has satisfied himself that correct instruction will be imparted by him.

VII. Weekly Training Schedules:

1. The prescribing of a rigid training schedule which will fit all Infantry companies of the Iowa National Guard is impracticable, as local conditions will vary widely.

The training program, herein contained, announces the results to be obtained and prescribes the subjects of training and the time allotted to each. The arrangement of the subjects into weekly drills is intended to serve as a guide for the officers who are responsible for the execution of the program.

2. With this in view, and bearing in mind the "Training Mission" for the year, organization commanders will prepare "Weekly Training Schedules," and cause same to be posted on their armory bulletin boards at least one week in advance of the drills covered thereby, in order to enable the designated instructors to properly prepare themselves to insure smooth operation of all details.

The Weekly Training Schedule should contain the following exact information:

- Each subject of training.
- For each subject the No. or Nos. of paragraphs in the text book, on which this particular instruction is to be based.
- For each subject whether instruction is to be conducted by squad, by section, by platoon or by company.
- For each subject—The instructor must be designated.

VIII. Methods of instruction:

The National Guard Officer or noncommissioned officer is not expected to become a competent instructor in all of the technical and tactical details.

The solution of the training problem must therefore be found in such a division of work as will permit individual officers and noncommissioned officers to concentrate on only a part of the whole duty. Their work must be so laid out as to permit them to specialize on one or, at most, a few subjects, and then be developed so that they can perfect themselves to a point where their own efforts as instructors will be valuable as coming from one who has specialized in the particular subjects concerned.

The methods known as the block system are calculated to meet such a situation as confronts the National Guard, and, where applicable, it is recommended that the system be followed for a part of each training day.

All officers will arrange their departure from home stations so as to report to the Commanding General, in the house chamber, State House, not later than 10 a. m. Jan. 12, 1922.

Service uniform, without side arms, will be worn: Each officer will report with the following: Note book, pencils and list of questions he may desire brought up for discussion.

It is contemplated that the Commander in Chief, Governor N. E. Kendall, will be present to welcome the officers. The Adjutant General will review the past year's work, and the prospects for the future. WAR DEPARTMENT, MILITIA BUREAU, WASHINGTON

M. B. No. 323.361.

February 4, 1922.

From: The Chief, Militia Bureau.

To: The Adjutants General of all States, Territories of Hawaii and Porto Rico, and the District of Columbia Militia.

The following advance copy of General Orders, No. 6, War Department, January 31, 1922, is hereby furnished for your information and guidance. War Department.

General Order No. 6.

Washington, January 31, 1922.

FUNCTIONS AND DUTIES OF THE CHIEF OF THE MILITIA BUREAU AND OF DEPARTMENT AND CORPS AREA COMMANDERS RELATIVE TO THE NATIONAL GUARD.—By direction of the President, section V, General Orders, No. 64, War Department, 1920, prescribing the functions and duties of the Chief of the Militia Bureau and of department and corps area commanders relative to the National Guard, is rescinded and the following substituted therefor:

1. Under the provisions of the National Defense Act as amended by the Act of June 4, 1920, the National Guard while in the service of the United States is a component of the Army of the United States. All policies, plans, regulations, and orders, which are prepared as hereinafter directed and which affect the organization, distribution, training, and administration of the National Guard when not in the service of the United States, will take into account the constitutional and legal status of the National Guard and will have for their objects the preparation of this force for induction into the service of the United States as a component of the Army of the United States.

2. The National Guard, when called or drafted into the service of the United States, is subject to the laws and regulations governing the Regular Army so far as such laws and regulations are applicable to officers and enlisted men whose permanent retention in the military service is not contemplated by existing law. The laws and regulations governing the National Guard, while not in the service of the United States, are published in National Guard Regulations.

3. Under the provisions of section 5, National Defense Act, as amended by the Act of June 4, 1920, all policies and regulations affecting the organization, distribution, and training of the National Guard are prepared by committees of appropriate branches or divisions of the War Department General Staff, to which are added an equal number of reserve officers, including reserve officers who hold (or have held) commissions in the National Guard and whose names are borne on lists of officers suitable for such duty, submitted by the governors of the several States and Territories, and who while so serving are assigned as additional members of the General Staff. When such policies and regulations are approved by the Secretary of War, they constitute the approved policies of the War Department for the development of the National Guard, subject to paragraph 2 hereof. In the formulation of such policies and regulations the views of the Chief of the Militia Bureau will be obtained.

4. The Militia Bureau of the War Department is established by law to facilitate the administration and to promote the development of the National Guard while not in the service of the United States.

5. The primary function of the Chief of the Militia Bureau is the development of a high state of efficiency in the National Guard. The discharge of administrative details by this officer will be limited to such matters as cannot be more advantageously performed by other constituted agencies and without adversely affecting his primary function, and to such details as may involve correspondence between the Secretary of War and the authorities of the several States, Territories, and the District of Columbia.

6. The corps areas constitute the principal territorial administrative units outside the War Department and their primary function in peace and in war is the organization, training, and mobilization of troops. The development of the National Guard is a most important function of department and corps area commanders who are enjoined to give this work their personal attention and to cooperate with the Militia Bureau and the local authorities at all times to the end that uniformity in organization and training may be insured.

The functions and responsibilities of department and corps area commanders in connection with the National Guard, while not in the service of the United States, are hereinafter indicated.

The powers essential to the discharge of these functions while limited by law are sufficient to enable department and corps area commanders to maintain the National Guard troops within their departments or corps areas in a state of preparedness for induction into the service of the United States. Department and corps area commanders exercise direct command over National Guard troops only when such troops have been called or drafted into the service of the United States and have been assigned to their command by competent authority.

7. In order to insure the uniform development of the National Guard, while not in the service of the United States, and in order to provide for a more efficient administration in accordance with the foregoing principles, the following assignment of functions and duties to the Chief of the Militia Bureau and department and corps area commanders is published for the guidance of all concerned:

(e) Examination of all surveys or reports on United States property lost, damaged, or destroyed, wherein the States, Territories, the District of Columbia, or the personnel of the National Guard are involved and transmittal of same to the Chief of Finance with recommendation as to final action. If the Chief of Finance does not concur in the recommendation of the Chief of the Militia Bureau in any case, the papers in the case will be submitted to the Secretary of War for his action.

(b) The Chief of the Militia Bureau is authorized to communicate directly with the heads of branches of the War Department, and with department and corps area commanders, and vice versa, in reference to all matters pertaining exclusively to the National Guard.

(c) All proposed executive regulations having for their object the execution of acts of Congress, suggested changes in general regulations, proposed legal enactments relating to the National Guard and other troops maintained solely by the States, including estimates for appropriations for their support, and all other matters requiring harmonious and efficient cooperation with other branches of the War Department, and all matters affecting the general policy in regard to organization, distribution, equipment, and training of the National Guard, or the status of personnel of the Regular Army assigned to duty therewith, will be submitted to the Chief of Staff by indorsement or in the form of memoranda.

(b) Accomplishment of normal replacement requisitions of recognized units, when the funds therefor, including transportation, have been allotted by the Chief of the Militia Bureau.

(c) Accomplishment of requisitions for the initial equipment of new units, when the unit or units have been recognized and funds have been apportioned or allotted therefor by the Chief of the Militia Bureau.

(d) If the funds allotted department and corps area commanders are inadequate for the purposes indicated in the preceding paragraphs (a), (b), and (c) report will be made to the Chief of the Militia Bureau stating the deficiencies in each organization.

An Act to readjust the pay and allowances of the commissioned and enlisted personnel of the Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Coast and Geodetic Survey, and Public Health Service.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That, beginning July 1, 1922, for the purpose of computing the annual pay of the commissioned officers of the Regular Army and Marine Corps below the grade of brigadier general, of the Navy below the grade of rear admiral, of the Coast Guard, of the Coast and Geodetic Survey, and of the Public Health Service below the grade of surgeon general, pay periods are prescribed, and the base pay for each is fixed as follows:

The pay of the sixth period shall be paid to colonels of the Army, captains of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grades who have completed the twenty-six years' service, or whose first appointment in the permanent service was in a grade above that corresponding to captain in the Army, or who were appointed to the Regular Army under the provisions of the first sentence of section 24, Act of June 3, 1916, as amended by the Act of June 4, 1920; to officers of the Staff Corps of the Navy advanced by selection under existing laws to the rank or pay of captain; to lieutenant colonels of the Army, commanders of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grade, and lieutenant commanders of the line and Engineer Corps of the Coast Guard who have completed thirty years' service; and to the Chief of Chaplains of the Army.

pleted twenty years' service, or whose first appointment in the permanent service was in a grade above that corresponding to captain in the Army, or who were appointed to the Regular Army under the provisions of the first sentence of said section 24; to officers of the Staff Corps of the Navy advanced by selection under existing laws to the rank or pay of commander; and to majors of the Army, lieutenant commanders of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grade who have completed twenty-three years' service. Provided, That lieutenant commanders of the Staff Corps of the Navy who were appointed between the dates of March 4, 1913, and June 7, 1916, in a grade above that of ensign, shall receive the pay of this pay period after completing twenty years' service.

The pay of the fourth period shall be paid to lieutenant colonels of the Army, commanders of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grades who are not entitled to the pay of the fifth or sixth period; to majors of the Army, lieutenant commanders of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grade who have completed fourteen years' service, or whose first appointment in the permanent service was in a grade above that corresponding to second lieutenant in the Army, or who were appointed to the Regular Army under the provisions of the first sentence of said section 24; to captains of the Army, lieutenants of the Navy, and officers of corresponding grade who have completed seventeen years' service, except those whose promotion is limited by law to this grade and who are not entitled under existing law to the pay and allowances of a higher grade; and to lieutenants of the Staff Corps of the Navy, and lieutenants and lieutenants (junior grade) of the line and Engineer Corps of the Coast Guard whose total commissioned service equals that of lieutenant commanders of the line of the Navy drawing pay of this period.

The pay of the first period shall be paid to all other officers whose pay is provided for in this section.

During the existence of a state of war, formally recognized by Congress, officers of grades corresponding to those of colonel, lieutenant colonel, major, captain, and first lieutenants of the Army, holding either permanent or temporary commissions as such, shall receive the pay of the sixth, fifth, fourth, third, and second periods, respectively, unless entitled under the foregoing provisions of this section to the pay of a higher period.

Every officer paid under the provisions of this section shall receive an increase of 5 per centum of the base pay of his period for each three years of service up to thirty years: Provided, That the base pay plus pay for length of service of no officer below the grade of colonel of the Army, captain of the Navy, or corresponding grade, shall exceed $5,750. Nothing contained in the first sentence of section 17 or in any other section of this Act shall authorize an increase in the pay of officers or warrant officers on the retired list on June 30, 1922.

For officers appointed on and after July 1, 1922, no service shall be counted for purposes of pay except active commissioned service under a Federal appointment and commissioned service in the National Guard when called out by order of the President. For officers in the service on June 30, 1922, there shall be included in the computation all service which is now counted in computing longevity pay, and service as a contract surgeon serving full time; and also 75 per centum of all other periods of time during which they have held commissions as officers of the Organized Militia between January 21, 1903, and July 1, 1916, or of the National Guard, the Naval Militia, or the National Naval Volunteers since June 3, 1916, and service as a contract surgeon serving full time, shall be included in the computation.

The provisions of this Act shall apply equally to those persons serving, not as commissioned officers in the Army, or in the other services mentioned in the title of this Act, but whose pay under existing laws is an amount equivalent to that of a commissioned officer of one of the above grades, those receiving pay of colonel, lieutenant colonel, major, captain, first lieutenant, and second lieutenant, being classified as in the sixth, fifth, fourth, third, second, and first periods, respectively. Pay clerks of the Marine Corps shall receive the pay of second lieutenants of the Army of the same length of service. Contract surgeons serving full time shall have the pay and allowances for subsistence and rental authorized for officers serving in their second pay period. Commissioned warrant officers on the active list with creditable records shall, after six years' commissioned service, receive the pay of the second period, and after twelve years' commissioned service, receive the pay of the third period: Provided, That a commissioned warrant officer promoted from the grade of warrant officer shall suffer no reduction of pay by reason of such promotion. Army field clerks and field clerks, Quartermaster Corps, shall have the allowances for subsistence and rental authorized for officers receiving the pay of the first period.

Sec. 2. That no commissioned officer while on field or sea duty shall receive any increase of his pay or compensation by reason of such duty.

Sec. 3. That when officers of the National Guard or of the reserve forces of any of the services mentioned in the title of this act are authorized by law to receive Federal pay, those serving in grades corresponding to those of colonel, lieutenant colonel, major, captain, first lieutenant, and second lieutenant of the Army shall receive the pay of the sixth, fifth, fourth, third, second and first periods, respectively. In computing the increase of pay for each period of three years' service, such officers shall be credited with full time for all periods during which they have held commissions as officers of any of the services mentioned in the title of this Act, or in the Organized Militia prior to July 1, 1916, or in the National Guard, or in the Naval Militia, or in the National Naval Volunteers, or in the Naval Reserve Force or Marine Corps Reserve Force, when confirmed in grade and qualified for all general service, with full time for all periods during which they have performed active duty under reserve commissions, and with one-half time for all other periods during which they have held reserve commissions.

Sec. 4. That the term "dependent" as used in the succeeding sections of this Act shall include at all times and in all places a lawful wife and unmarried children under twenty-one years of age. It shall also include the mother of the officer provided she is in fact dependent on him for her chief support.

Sec. 5. That each commissioned officer on the active list, or on active duty below the grade of brigadier general or its equivalent, in any of the services mentioned in the title of this Act, shall be entitled at all times, in addition to his pay, to a money allowance for subsistence, the value of one allowance to be determined by the President for each fiscal year in accordance with a certificate furnished by the Secretary of Labor showing a comparative retail cost of food in the United States for the previous calendar year as compared with the calendar year 1922. The value of one allowance is hereby fixed at 60 cents per day for the fiscal year 1923, and this value shall be the maximum and shall be used by the President as the standard in fixing the same or lower values for subsequent years. To each officer of any of the said services receiving the base pay of the first period the amount of this allowance shall be equal to one subsistence allowance, to each officer receiving the base pay of the second, third, or sixth period the amount of this allowance shall be equal to two subsistence allowances, and to each officer receiving the base pay of the fourth or fifth period the amount of this allowance shall be equal to three subsistence allowances: Provided, That an officer with no dependents shall receive one subsistence allowance in lieu of the above allowances.

Sec. 6. That each commissioned officer on the active list or on active duty below the grade of brigadier general or its equivalent, in any of the services mentioned in the title of this Act, if public quarters are not available, shall be entitled at all times, in addition to his pay, to a money allowance for rental of quarters, the amount of such allowance to be determined by the rate for one room fixed by the President for each fiscal year in accordance with a certificate furnished by the Secretary of Labor showing the comparative cost of rents in the United States for the preceding calendar year as compared with the calendar year 1922. Such rate for one room is hereby fixed at $20 per month for the fiscal year 1923, and this rate shall be the maximum and shall be used by the President as the standard in fixing the same or lower rates for subsequent years.
