

REPORT

BY THE

GOVERNOR OF IOWA

OF

Pardons, Suspensions

OF SENTENCE, COMMUTATIONS, AND REMISSIONS OF FINES.

FROM JANUARY 16, 1896, TO JANUARY 13, 1898.

PRINTED BY ORDER OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

DES MOINES:
F. B. CONAWAY, STATE PRINTER.
1898.

STATE OF IOWA,
EXECUTIVE OFFICE.
DES MOINES, January 13, 1898. }

To the General Assembly:

In accordance with the requirements of section 16, article 4 of the constitution, I herewith transmit to you a report of each case of reprieve, commutation, and pardon granted and the reasons therefor, and also of all persons in whose favor remission of fines and forfeitures was made, and the several amounts remitted, during my official term, which closed January 13, 1898.

F. M. DRAKE.

PARDONS.

A. F. HOCKETT. Mahaska county. Pardoned April 29, 1896. Committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa on June 11, 1895, for the period of his natural life, for the crime of murder in the first degree. Pardoned upon the recommendation of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly, to which the case had been referred, conditioned that he refrain from the use and sale of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE TROUT. Woodbury county. Pardoned April 29, 1896. Committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa on March 11, 1887, for the period of his natural life, for the crime of murder in the first degree. Pardoned upon the recommendation of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly, to which the case had been referred, conditioned that he refrain from the use or sale of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM SLOWEY. Clinton county. Pardoned May 5, 1896. Committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa on March 29, 1880, for the period of his natural life, for the crime of murder in the first degree. Pardoned upon the recommendation of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly, to which the case had been referred, conditioned that he abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, avoid associating with all vicious characters, never engage in buying or selling intoxicating liquors, and demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

W. B. WADDELL. Wapello county. Pardoned February 10, 1897. Committed to the jail of Wapello county on December 24, 1896, for a period of fifty days, for the crime of endeavoring to incite or procure another to commit perjury. Pardoned upon the recommendation of the trial judge, a petition signed by many prominent citizens of Wapello county, and for the purpose of restoring the defendant to the rights of citizenship.

ROBERT O'CALLAGHAN. Polk county. Pardoned January 6, 1898. Committed to the penitentiary at the January and May terms, 1896, of the district court, for a period of three years, for the offense of larceny and seven years for the offense of burglary. Pardoned because it is made to appear that since a suspension was granted him on August 10, 1896, and he was released from the penitentiary by reason of said suspension, he has been a student in the State University of Iowa, has proved himself an honorable and exemplary young man, and will graduate from the law department of the State university in the class of 1898, of which graduation he would be deprived if not fully pardoned.

PATRICK LYNCH. Polk county. Pardoned January 10, 1898. Committed to the jail of Polk county for a period of five months, for the offense of receiving stolen property. This sentence was suspended by me January 23, 1897, upon certain conditions. These conditions have been faithfully complied with, and I have decided that it will be only an act of justice to grant a pardon to this man and restore him to the rights of citizenship.

COMMUTATIONS.

JOHN W. SHAEFFER. Polk county. February 1, 1896. The sentence which was commuted by my predecessor on the 30th day of December, 1895, I suspended on condition of the payment of the fine of $500 in full, so far as the imprisonment was concerned: to remain in force during good behavior.

THAD. BROOKINGS. Polk county. February 13, 1896. Committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa, May 23, 1892, for a period of twelve years, for the crime of burglary. Commuted to imprisonment for five years and six months. It is made to appear that defendant has experienced a complete reformation, and his behavior during his confinement has been excellent. Granted upon the conditions that the said Brookings shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

GEORGE FEUERHAKEN. Pottawattamie county. February 19, 1896. Ordered to be committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, October 31, 1889, to serve a term of three years, for the crime of receiving stolen goods. Commuted to imprisonment for one year and the payment of $500. Also ordered that in the event the said George Feuerhaken shall, on or before the 19th day of April, 1896, pay in full said fine of $500 and all the costs, the sentence as commuted shall be suspended so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned during such time as he shall demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Granted upon the recommendation of many citizens of Council Bluffs, including the county attorney of Pottawattamie county, and because it is made to appear that defendant is over seventy years of age, has an invalid wife to support, and is in a very bad physical condition himself.

On the 17th day of April, 1896, it was ordered that if he paid the fine of $500 and costs in three payments, on or before August 19, 1896, imprisonment should be further suspended. On the 12th day of August, 1896, imprisonment was indefinitely suspended.

ATLEE HART. Plymouth county. February 23, 1896. Ordered to be committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa, June 21, 1893, for a period of one year, for the crime of extortion. Commuted to imprisonment for six months, and the payment of a fine of $500 and costs. Also, ordered that in the event the said Atlee Hart shall, on or before the 15th day of April, 1896, pay in full said fine of $500 and all costs of prosecution, in both district and supreme courts, the sentence as commuted shall be suspended so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned during such time as he shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Granted upon the recommendation of a large number of prominent citizens of Iowa and Nebraska who have known defendant for many years, who testify as to his previous good character and to their belief that he did not commit any intentional wrong. Recommended also by the county attorney and other county officials of Plymouth county.

CHARLES DONAHUE. Polk county. March 11, 1896. Committed to the state penitentiary at Fort Madison, March 13, 1893, for a period of four years, for the crime of assault to commit murder. Commuted to imprisonment for three years, ten months, and seventeen days. Granted in order that the defendant may be allowed the time he spent in jail before he was taken to the penitentiary, and upon the conditions that he shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM H. SPENCER. Story county. July 10, 1896. Committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, October 2, 1895, for a period of eighteen months, for the crime of burglary. Commuted to imprisonment for one year. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and a petition signed by prominent citizens of Story county; and upon the conditions that the said William H. Spencer shall abstain from the use of intoxicating ating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN HAMIL. Polk county. July 11, 1896. Sentenced to death July 30, 1894, for the crime of murder in the first degree. Commuted to imprisonment for the term of his natural life. This case came into my hands from the supreme court for fixing the date of execution. Upon a review of the papers in the case, I found the convict to be a young man, and that the killing was not in itself intended, although as it was committed in the perpetration of another crime it was murder in the first degree, and I became satisfied that the sentence should be commuted.

GEORGE WEEMS. Polk county. July 11, 1896. Sentenced to death July 30, 1894, for the crime of murder in the first degree. Commuted to imprisonment for the term of his natural life. Reasons are the same as in the preceding case.

FRED SCOLDS. Polk county. July 7, 1897. Sentenced to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, January 26, 1897, to serve a term of three years, for the crime of larceny. Commuted to imprisonment for two years, eleven months, and seventeen days. Granted for the reason that the defendant was held in the Polk county jail for a period of thirteen days after sentence was pronounced, a detention not caused through any fault or request of his.

L. B. ODEN. Sioux county. November 26, 1897. Committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa, September 26, 1897, to serve a term of sixteen months, for the crime of adultery. Commuted to imprisonment for three months. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and ten of the trial jurors, and a petition and many letters from county officials and other prominent citizens of Sioux county. Granted upon the conditions that the said L. B. Oden shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

SAM PECO. Mahaska county. November 26, 1897. Committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, January 4, 1893, to serve a term of twenty-five years, for the crime of murder in the second degree. Commuted to imprisonment for eight years. Granted upon the recommendation of trial judge, prosecuting attorney, several county officials, and a number of other prominent citizens of Mahaska county, and a letter from the prison physician saying the defendant has chronic consumption. Granted upon the conditions that the said Sam Peco shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, refrain from gambling in all ways, not visit places where gambling is carried on, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE BEABOUT. Taylor county. December 2, 1897. Committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, December 12, 1895, to serve a term of twenty years, for the crime of rape. Commuted to imprisonment for ten years. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney and eight of the trial jurors, and a large petition signed by representative citizens of Page and Taylor counties, Iowa, and Nodaway county, Mo., the home of Beabout, and where he was engaged in business at the time of his conviction.

JOHN EWING. Taylor county. December 2, 1897. Committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, March 5, 1896, to serve a term of fifteen years, for the crime of rape. Commuted to imprisonment for five years. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney and seven trial jurors, a large petition, and many letters from representative citizens of Taylor county, where the offense was committed, and of Nodaway county, Mo., the home of Ewing for a long term of years prior to his conviction.

A. L. KING. Polk county. December 9, 1897. Committed to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, June 18, 1895, to serve a term of ten years, for the crime of breaking and entering a store. Commuted to imprisonment for five years. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and the officer who arrested King. Granted upon the conditions that the said A. L. King shall hereafter abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, including beer and wine, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

RICHARD STEINECKE. Scott county. December 15, 1897. Sentenced to be committed to the penitentiary at Anamosa at the November, 1897, term of the district court, for a term of four months, for the crime of assault with intent to commit murder. Commuted to imprisonment for four months in the jail of Scott county. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney.

Nothing in this order shall be construed as releasing the said Baldwin from the aforesaid fine, or order of imprisonment for nonpayment of the fine.

J. E. LANDIS. Clarke county. January 4, 1898. Remitted fine of $400, imposed at the September, 1897, term of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs incurred in the prosecution of this case, including grand jury costs, and to remain in force during such time as the said Landis shall refrain from the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors in this state.

PETER GOTTARD, ERNEST VANOLI, and DEPAULIS TONY. Madison county. January 6, 1898. Remitted $514.55 of the amount of three fines of $300 each, imposed at the November, 1897, term of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and to remain in force during such time as the said Peter Gottard, Ernest Vanoli, and Depaulis Tony shall refrain from the further violation of the laws of the state governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

WILLIAM CUNNINGHAM. Plymouth county. January 6, 1898. Remitted $280 of the amount of a fine of $500, imposed at the October, 1890, term of the district court, for the offense of maintaining a liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs assessed against the said William Cunningham and Julia Cunningham, and to remain in force during such time as the said Cunningham shall refrain from the further violation of the laws of the state, governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

LEENDERT MAASDAM. Marion county. January 7, 1898. Remitted fine of $300, imposed at the October, 1895, term of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and to remain in force during such time as the said Maasdam shall refrain from the further violation of the laws of the state governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

THOMAS FROUD, JR. Appanoose county. January 8, 1898. Remitted three fines, aggregating $750, imposed at the September, 1894, term of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and to remain in force during such time as the said Thomas Froud, jr., shall refrain from the further violation of the laws of the state governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

C. E. MILLER. Appanoose county. January 8, 1898. Remitted three fines, aggregating $400, imposed at the October and December, 1896, terms of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and to remain in force during such time as the said Miller shall refrain from violation of the liquor laws of the state.

J. F. LZICAR. Linn county. January 8, 1898. Remitted three fines, aggregating $650, imposed by the district court for the offense of liquor nuisance. To remain in force during such time as the said Lzicar shall refrain from violation of the prohibitory liquor laws of the state.

JOHN DOHERTY. Wapello county. January 10, 1898. Remitted fine of $300, imposed at the November, 1891, term of the district court, for the offense of liquor nuisance. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and to remain in force during such time as the said Doherty shall refrain from violation of the laws of the state governing the sale of intoxicating liquors.

REMISSION OF FORFEITURE.

L. B. CALLENDER. Polk county. January 6, 1898. Canceled and set aside the forfeiture of a certain appearance bond made by the person above named as surety that one W. D. Morton would abide the judgment of the district court of Iowa in and for Polk county, Morton being charged with the offense of embezzlement, which forfeiture was declared in the sum of $1,000. It is expressly understood that this order in no manner releases the said W. D. Morton from liability on account of said charge. Granted upon the recommendation of the presiding judge by whom the forfeiture was declared, the county attorney who prosecuted, and the committing magistrate, a large petition, and a large number of letters signed by the board of supervisors of Polk county and many other prominent citizens and taxpayers of the city of Des Moines. Granted for the further reason that it is my opinion the said bond was given in good faith by the said L. B. Callender and the enforcement of the judgment would work a great hardship upon an innocent person who is unable to pay said judgment, and because it is made to appear that the said L. B. Callender has expended a considerable sum of money in attempts to apprehend the said W. D. Morton and return him for trial.

SUSPENSIONS.

CHARLES HOWARD. Jefferson county. January 20, 1896. Sentenced at December, 1895, term of the district court, to eighteen months imprisonment in the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and a large number of prominent citizens and officials of Chicago, and because it is my opinion that he has been sufficiently punished for said offense; and is to remain in force during such time as he shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen; and he is to return to his mother's home in Chicago, Ill., and there remain at home with her at work or attending school.

D. M. BRUBAKER. Lucas county. January 24, 1896. Sentenced at August, 1895, term of district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of one year, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney who prosecuted the defendant, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Brubaker shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM LLEWELLYN. Monroe county. February 7, 1896. Sentenced at October, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of four months, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of many prominent citizens of Monroe county, and because of the sickness and destitute condition of defendant's family. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Llewellyn shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and shall demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRED LOVELL. Jackson county. February 11, 1896. Sentenced at April, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of one year, for the crime of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of many prominent citizens of Jackson county, and because it is made to appear that with the exception of this offense defendant has always borne a good reputation for honesty and industry, and in my opinion he has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Lovell shall demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JEFF. OSBORNE. Polk county. February 11, 1896. Sentenced at January, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of ten years, for the crime of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, who says he always had some doubts of the defendant's guilt; and a large number of prominent citizens of Polk county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Osborne shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen in every respect.

JAMES P. HUTCHINSON. Tama county. February 25, 1896. Sentenced at March, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of five years, for the crime of assault with intent to commit rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and a large number of prominent citizens of Tama county, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Hutchinson shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRANK DELONG. Polk county. February 25, 1896. Sentenced at June, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of four years, for the crime of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and is to remain in force during such time as the said DeLong shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

WALTER ROCKHOLD. Lucas county. February 25, 1896. Sentenced at April, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term two years, for the crime of assault to murder. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney, the trial judge, and a large number of prominent citizens of Lucas county, and because I believe the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as said defendant shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

S. F. WEATHERLY. Harrison county. February 27, 1896. Sentenced at September, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of two years, for the crime of forgery. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney, the trial judge, and a large number of county officials and other prominent citizens of Harrison county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Weatherly shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM C. MILLER. Henry county. March 3, 1896. Sentenced at January, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of two years, for the crime of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the attorney who prosecuted, the prosecuting witness, eight of the trial jurors, and a large number of citizens of Henry county and of Hannibal, Mo. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Miller shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

C. C. WHERRY. Taylor county. March 4, 1896. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of two years, for the crime of forgery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition from a large number of prominent citizens of Taylor county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Wherry shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

M. J. COX. Woodbury county. March 5, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1889, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of five years, for the crime of rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney of Woodbury county, and a petition signed by the sheriff and treasurer of Woodbury county, the clerk of the court, treasurer, recorder, auditor, and county attorney of Sac county; also, on another petition from more than three hundred citizens of the state of Iowa, who state that they are acquainted with the said Cox, and that he has been an upright, moral, and industrious man, with no bad habits, and that they have an abiding confidence that he is innocent of the crime for which he stands convicted. Said suspension is to remain in force during the good behavior of the said Cox.

WILLIAM FISHER. Webster county. March 6, 1896. Sentenced at October, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of two years, for the offense of larceny from the person of another. Granted for the reason it is my opinion he has suffered sufficient punishment for the offense committed; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Fisher shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES GILLEN. Union county. March 9, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary for a term of three years, for the offense of assault to murder. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Gillen shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN MCGEE, JR. Marion county. March 9, 1896. Sentenced at September, 1888, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of eighteen years, for the crime of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and for the reason that the parents of the defendant are dependent on him for support also because it is my opinion he has been sufficiently punished for the crime committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said John McGee, jr., shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN BEVINS. Johnson county. March 11, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of two years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and petitions signed by ten of the trial jurors, seven of the grand jurors, and many prominent citizens and county officials of Johnson county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Bevins shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM J. BUHMAN. Tama county. March 12, 1896. Sentenced at December, 1887, term of the district court, to the penitentiary, for a term of seventeen years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and three large petitions signed by the citizens of O'Brien, Grundy, and Tama counties, testifying to defendant's previous good character, and because it is my opinion that said Buhman has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Buhman shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ALEXANDER NELSON, alias THOMAS WILLIAMS. Grundy county. March 14, 1896. Sentenced at December, 1889, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of ten years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the condition that the said Nelson, alias Williams, who is now confined in the insane department of the state penitentiary at Anamosa, shall be immediately taken by his father, Thomas Nelson, to the home of the latter, beyond the boundaries of the state of Iowa, for such care and treatment as a person in his condition should have.

ADOLPH BURMEISTER. Pottawattamie county. March 17, 1896. Sentenced at April, 1893, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of five years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the statement of the trial judge, who says: "If the testimony of Henry Siewertsen had been introduced at the trial of Burmeister, and had been in harmony with the affidavit of said Siewertsen (now on file in the executive office), it would have been more favorable to the defendant than that of any witness who was examined. Had this witness been examined, there is a strong probability that the result would have been different." In his opinion, Burmeister did not intend to kill Detlefsen or any one else. The county attorney also says that he believes the shooting of Detlefsen was without the intention on the part of Burmeister to take life. There is on file a petition signed by eleven of the trial jurors, five of the grand jurors, and many prominent citizens of Pottawattamie and Shelby counties, asking that Burmeister be pardoned. I am further of the opinion that Burmeister has suffered sufficient punishment for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Burmeister shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE W. LOWE. Cass county. March 17, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1889, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of sixteen years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of a large number of prominent citizens of Montgomery county, where defendant has lived the greater part of his life, who state that the defendant has a family of children that need a father's care, and because I am of the opinion the defendant has suffered sufficient punishment for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Lowe shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

J. P. MCCOY. Polk county. March 18, 1896. Sentenced at March, 1896, term of the district court, to the penitentiary for a term of one year, for the offense of uttering a forged instrument. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and a number of prominent citizens of Polk county. To take effect upon the payment of all costs, including expense of requisition and return of said defendant from Missouri for trial, and to remain in force during such time as the said McCoy shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

J. T. BASKETT. Hamilton county. March 21, 1896. Sentenced at March, 1889, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of fifteen years, for the crime of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and eleven of the trial jurors, and a petition signed by the county officials and prominent citizens of Hamilton county, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Baskett shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ARCHIE NICKLIN. Wapello county. March 23, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1892, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of five years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of W. C. Gunn, chaplain of the penitentiary at Fort Madison, who states that the said Archie Nicklin is now sick and confined to the hospital with hemorrhage of the lungs. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Nicklin shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE HOWARD. Webster county. March 24, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of three and one-half years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, a majority of the county officials of Webster county, and a number of prominent citizens of Fort Dodge; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Howard shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

C. O. NELSON. City of Des Moines. April 4, 1896. Sentenced on the 1st day of April, 1896, by the police court of the city of Des Moines, to pay a fine of $100 or be confined in the Polk county jail for a term of thirty days, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting witness, and because in my opinion the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension to take effect upon the payment of all costs, and to remain in force during such time as the said Nelson shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM FROW. Polk county. April 7, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of five years, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting witness, nine of the trial jurors and a number of other citizens of Polk county; and is to remain in force during such time as the said William Frow shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES SPENCER. Des Moines county. April 9, 1896. Sentenced at September, 1893, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of six years, for the offense of uttering a forged instrument. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, the prosecuting witness, and a number of prominent citizens of the state of Iowa. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Spencer shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

AMOS BAKER. Hardin county. April 13, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1883, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of twenty years, for the offense of robbery. Granted for the reason that the defendant has now been confined in the penitentiary nearly thirteen years, is suffering from hemorrhage, and has served nearly his full sentence less diminution for good behavior. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Baker shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN WRIGHT. Mahaska county. April 16, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1893, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of three years, for the offense of perjury. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, six of the trial jurors, and a number of the county officials and other citizens of Mahaska county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Wright shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM HIGNEY. Woodbury county. April 23, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of two years, for the crime of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and a large number of prominent citizens and county officials of the county of Woodbury. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Higney shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

D. EHLEERS. Tama county. May 1, 1896. Sentenced at February, 1896, term of the district court to pay a fine of $300 and $25 attorney's fees, and the costs of prosecution taxed at $16.85 for all of which costs execution was ordered to issue, and to be confined in the county jail of Tama county, Iowa, for a period of ninety-five days, unless said fine and costs are sooner paid, for the offense of nuisance. Granted so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned for the following reasons, which are set forth in a letter from the county attorney of Tama county, who prosecuted said defendant: "The death of an only son and the distracted grief of defendant's wife, which is greatly aggravated by the thought that the defendant is to be returned to jail." Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as said defendant shall refrain from the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Iowa, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. The above order does not in any way suspend or remit any part of the above fine, attorney's fee, or costs.

THOMAS HOOPER. Marshall county. May 5, 1896. Sentenced at August, 1895, term of the district court to the jail of Marshall county, for a period of one year, for the offense of assault with intent to do great bodily injury. Granted upon the request of the trial judge and a number of other prominent citizens of Marshall county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Hooper shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM BAUERKEMPER. Pottawattamie county. May 12, 1896. Sentenced at June, 1893, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of fourteen months, for the offense of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney and a large number of citizens of Pottawattamie county, and a statement from the trial judge, who says he had some doubt about the sufficiency of the evidence when the case was tried. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said William Bauerkemper shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ED. ROBB. Mahaska county. May 12, 1896. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of two years, for the offense of forgery. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney and a number of other prominent citizens of Mahaska county. The said Ed. Robb is, after a reasonable time, to make restitution to the party injured by the forgery and pay the costs of prosecution, abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES RAYMOND. Polk county. May 15, 1896. Sentenced at May, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary for a period of seven years, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, who says: "Subsequently I learned many facts in relation to this young man, and I am very much inclined to doubt whether the judgment of the court was entirely just." Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Raymond shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, return with his mother to the home of his parents, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN ADYE. Polk county. May 15, 1896. Sentenced at June, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of one year. Granted upon the condition that the said defendant John Abye shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HARRY WESTON. Dubuque county. May 28, 1896. Sentenced at February, 1896, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of one year, for the offense of cheating by false pretenses. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney, who prosecuted said defendant, and of M. M. Walker Company, the prosecuting and injured party. To remain in force during such time as the said Weston shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOSEPH N. WEBER. Dubuque county. July 7, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary for a term of five months, for the offense of seduction, which sentence was on the 5th day of February, 1896, by the presiding judge, commuted to seven months in the Dubuque county jail, defendant to pay cost of keeping. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, a large number of county officials, the members of both houses of the general assembly from Dubuque county, the mayor of Dubuque, and many other prominent citizens of the city of Dubuque. Said suspension is to take effect July 11, 1896, and upon the payment for keeping defendant while serving sentence in the Dubuque county jail, in accordance with the order of Judge O'Donnell when the sentence was commuted by him, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Weber shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

Lorimer shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM BURNS. Johnson county. July 14, 1896. Sentenced at November, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of seven years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney who prosecuted, and a statement from the prison physician, who says: "In my opinion he can never get well and may die from any overexertion or sudden excitement." Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Burns shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JACK DAVIS. Lucas county. August 3, 1896. Sentenced at January, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of eighteen months, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and a large number of prominent citizens of Lucas county, including the mayor of Chariton; also on a letter from the prison physician stating the defendant has consumption with failing mental powers, that his disabilities are of a permanent character, and that he will gradually grow worse as the disease progresses. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Jack Davis shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ROBERT O'CALLAGHAN. Polk county. August 10, 1896. Sentenced at January and May terms, 1896, of the district court to the penitentiary, three years for larceny and seven years for burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney, and a petition signed by a large number of prominent citizens of Polk county. As a further inducement for executive clemency, the chief executive has been assured that the subject of clemency will be removed from his former locality and educated for at least three years under strict discipline. This is also a condition of the suspension. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the defendant, Robert O'Callaghan, shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, separate himself from all his former vicious companions and associates, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE D. FOSTER. Lee county. September 12, 1896. Sentenced at March, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of three years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney, and a petition signed by many prominent citizens of the city of Keokuk, including the superintendent and principal of the high school of Keokuk which the defendant was attending at the time the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said George D. Foster shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM PHIPPS. Boone county. September 14, 1896. Sentenced at January, 1893, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of sixteen months, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney, and a petition signed by a large number of citizens of Boone county; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Phipps shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES HARRIS. Lee county. September 26, 1896. Sentenced at October, 1896, term of the district court to the peni-tentary at Fort Madison, for a term of three years, for the crime of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and the chief of police of the city of Fort Madison, and a petition signed by a large number of prominent citizens of Fort Madison. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Charles Harris shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, keep away from all vicious and criminal associates, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

W. P. BUTTLES. Jones county. October 22, 1896. Sentenced at September, 1896, term of the district court, to pay a fine of $300 and costs of prosecution, for the offense of nuisance, and upon a failure to pay the fine to be confined in the jail of Jones county for a period of ninety days. Granted, so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned, upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and the clerk, sheriff, and board of supervisors of Jones county, a large petition from the citizens of Monticello, where said offense was committed, and a statement from Dr. C. W. Wilber, who says that he has examined the defendant and finds him in a serious physical condition, and that his confinement is making rapid inroads upon his general health. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said defendant shall refrain from the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Iowa, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. The above order does not suspend or remit any part of the fine or costs.

P. W. MANNING. Linn county. October 31, 1896. Sentenced at June, 1896, term of the district court, to the county jail of Linn county, for a term of five months, for the offense of resisting an officer. Granted upon the recommendation of the Hon. Wm. G. Thompson, presiding judge who pronounced sentence, J. M. Grimm, county attorney of Linn county, who prosecuted the defendant, John Cone, sheriff of Linn county, and other prominent and reputable citizens of Linn county. FRED. HERWIG. Chickasaw county. January 4, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1896, term of the district court to pay a fine of $500, for the offense of contempt of court, and in default of payment of said fine to be imprisoned in the Chickasaw county jail not to exceed one day for each three and one-third dollars thereof. Suspended only so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, clerk of the district court, sheriff, recorder, auditor, and treasurer of Chickasaw county; a large petition signed by the most prominent and influential citizens of Chickasaw county; and an affidavit by the county physician of Chickasaw county stating that the defendant is suffering from chronic rheumatism, and the longer he is confined in jail the less able he will be to earn a living for himself and family; and because it is shown by an affidavit on file in the executive office that Herwig has a homestead of 160 acres of land in the Red River valley of North Dakota, but will forfeit that right if he cannot go and be on that land by January 10, 1897. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Herwig shall refrain from the sale of intoxicating liquors in the state of Iowa, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ROBERT PERRIGO. Union county. January 8, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of three years, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the surgeon of the state penitentiary at Fort Madison, who says: "Robert Perrigo is seriously sick with consumption, and his death is only a question of a short time," which statement is fully corroborated by N. N. Jones, warden of said penitentiary. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Robert Perrigo shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

PATRICK LYNCH. Polk county. January 23, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1894, term of the district court to the jail of Polk county, for a period of five months, for the offense of receiving stolen property. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the present presiding judge of the Ninth judicial district, who say it was clearly established upon the hearing that from the day the stolen goods were found in defendant's possession he has not used intoxicating liquors or handled them, that he is now diligently engaged in earning a living for himself and family by honest labor, and that it seems to them that if he continue in his present course no good can come from his incarceration, and they ask that his sentence be suspended so long as he shall refrain from using or handling liquors, and otherwise conduct himself as a law-abiding citizen. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Lynch shall refrain from the use or sale of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney, and the physician of the penitentiary at Fort Madison, who says: "Hopkins has been in bed since his arrival at the penitentiary, and will be as long as he is confined in the state penitentiary;" and for the further reason that his brother has agreed to take care of him when released from the penitentiary. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Hopkins shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ALFRED JOHNSON. Winneshiek county. March 31, 1897. Sentenced at May, 1894, term of the district court, to the state penitentiary for a term of three years, for the offense of assault with intent to commit rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the county attorney who prosecuted, and the parents and the parties themselves who were aggrieved, and a large petition signed by prominent citizens of Calmar and Winneshiek county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Johnson shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JESSE JEANNIN. Black Hawk county. April 5, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1893, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of ten years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the county attorney who prosecuted, and a large number of letters from citizens of Black Hawk county, who state that they believe the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Jeannin shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES ALTMANSPERGER. Pottawattamie county. April 6, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of seven years, for the offense of forgery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, assented to by the prosecuting attorney. The Seiffert & Wise Lumber company, the largest losers by the acts of the defendant, recommend it, also a majority of the county officials and many reputable citizens of Pottawattamie county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Altmansperger shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

EUGENE TALBOT. Polk county. April 13, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court to pay a fine of $500 and costs of prosecution, and to be committed to the county jail of Polk county for a period of 150 days unless said fine was sooner paid. Suspended only so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition from thirty-nine citizens of Des Moines. Suspended on the conditions that the said Talbot shall pay the fine and costs in this case in installments as follows: $25 on the first day of June, 1897, and $25 on the first day of each and every month thereafter until said fine and costs are paid in full; and that he shall refrain from the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, and demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently suspended.

MARTIN FISHER. Webster county. April 19, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1893, term of the district court to pay a fine of $400 and costs, including attorney fee of $50, for the offense of nuisance, and in default of payment of above named fine and costs to be imprisoned 120 days in the jail of Webster county. Suspended only so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, county officials of Webster county, and mayor of Fort Dodge. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Fisher shall refrain from the illegal sale of intoxicating liquors, and from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GARRET KLINE. Jones county. May 1, 1897. Sentenced at December, 1878, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa for a period of ten years, for the offense of assault to commit murder. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, county officials, and many prominent citizens of Jones county, also a petition signed by many citizens of Highspire, Pa., where the defendant resided for thirteen years prior to July, 1896. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Kline shall in every way demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE ROTH. Polk county. May 7, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1896, term of the district court to pay a fine of $300 for the offense of nuisance. Suspended only $200 of above named fine. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, eleven of the trial jurors, and four members of the board of supervisors of Polk county, and a letter from the county attorney, in which he says he is not disposed to object to any action that may be deemed proper in this case. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Roth shall refrain from any further violation of the liquor laws of the state, and shall conduct himself in all respects as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. To take effect upon the payment of all costs in the case.

BERT SWEETMAN. Polk county. May 7, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Ft. Madison, for a period of five years, for the offense of sodomy. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and a statement from the warden of the penitentiary to the effect that the conduct of the defendant has been good while in prison, and because I am of the opinion that he has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Sweetman shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where liquors are sold, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

AMELIA EVANS. Wapello county. May 8, 1897. Sentenced at October, 1893, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of fifteen years, for the offense of murder. Granted because it is made to appear that the defendant is suffering with pulmonary tuberculosis, and that her recovery is impossible in this climate, and for the reason that I believe it to be but an act of mercy that she be permitted to return to the home of her parents to spend the few remaining days of her life. To remain in force during such time as the said defendant shall demean herself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN CAYWOOD. Montgomery county. May 13, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of three years, for the offense of perjury. Granted upon the recommendation of a large number of citizens of Montgomery county, ten of the trial jurors, and because it is made to appear that most of the persons who were instrumental in securing the conviction of the defendant are in favor of his pardon. The warden of the penitentiary says Caywood has no reports against his good conduct record, and for about a year has acted as a "trustee," and has served more than half of his sentence. To remain in force during such time as the said Caywood shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRED BLACKBURN. Polk county. May 20, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of three years, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and a large number of prominent citizens of Polk county, and a statement from the warden of the penitentiary to the effect that the conduct of the prisoner has been excellent. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Blackburn shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors and opium, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors and opium are sold, and in all respects demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ROBERT CALLAHAN. Polk county. May 20, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of ten years, for the offense of robbery. Granted because I am of the opinion, after a careful consideration of letters from the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and affidavits now on file in the executive office, that defendant is deserving of clemency. To remain in force during such time as the said Callahan shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

DICK DELONG. Clinton county. May 28, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of six months, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, county officials, and many prominent citizens of Mahaska county, who certify to his previous good character, and a letter from the warden of the penitentiary, in which he states that the conduct of the said Delong has been good while in the prison. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Delong shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRED FOLGER. Webster county. June 3, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1897, term of the district court, to pay a fine of $300 and costs of prosecution of the case, for the offense of violating the prohibitory liquor laws of the state. Granted upon the recommendation of the presiding judge, the prosecuting attorney, and county officials of Webster county, and a certificate from the clerk of the district court of Webster county, certifying that the defendant has paid all the costs of prosecution of this case, and one-half of the fine. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the defendant, Fred Folger, shall refrain from any further violation of the laws of the state governing the sale of intoxicating liquors, and shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES KELLY. Mahaska county. June 5, 1897. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, to serve a term of six years, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and Rev. Wm. McKirahan, against whom the offense was committed, and because it is made to appear that this is the defendant's first offense, and he has now served more than one-half of his sentence. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Kelly shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

FRANK BRADEN. Mahaska county. June 5, 1897. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary for a term of six years, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and Rev. William McKirahan, against whom the offense was committed, and because it is shown by the records in this office that this is his first offense, and he has now served more than one-half of his sentence. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Braden shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HAYDEN MCFARLAND. Plymouth county. June 12, 1897. Sentenced at December, 1892, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a term of twenty years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, who says: "In my judgment the request made in the application ought to be granted, for it appears from reliable information that he is now very ill, and will die if not relieved from confinement. It appears that he has already been sufficiently punished, and will, if pardoned, live, if he lives at all, an upright life." There is also on file a petition signed by more than 1,000 prominent and reliable citizens of Plymouth county, including the county officials, and the city officials of Le Mars, and a letter from the prison physician and several physicians of Anamosa, saying that McFarland is suffering from pulmonary tuberculosis, with no chance for recovery, and that he has been confined in the prison hospital most of the time for the past two years; and for the further reason that I have had a special representative visit the penitentiary, and in his report to me he says that the statements now on file in the executive office regarding the defendant are true, and in my opinion it is only an act of mercy that the defendant be released to return to his parents, that they may minister to his necessities during the remaining days of his life. To remain in force during good behavior.

GEORGE R. LAIRD. Polk county. June 16, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary for a term of two years, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, who says that had the written statements referred to in affidavits which are now on file in the executive office been introduced in evidence on the trial it might have changed the result reached by the jury, adding, "In view of all these facts, I am inclined to believe that clemency to the extent of a conditional pardon would subserve the purposes of the law;" a petition signed by many citizens of Des Moines; and a letter from the warden of the penitentiary saying Laird has been an exemplary prisoner; and for the further reason I am of the opinion defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed, having less than two months of his term of sentence to serve. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Laird shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors and opium, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid all former evil associates, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

P. F. THOMSEN. Greene county. June 18, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1897, term of the district court to pay a fine of $700, and if said fine be not paid to be committed to the jail of Crawford county, for the offense of contempt by violating injunction and liquor law. Suspended only so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, the trial judge, and the board of supervisors of Crawford county, and a petition signed by a large number of the prominent citizens of Crawford county, where the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Thomsen shall refrain from violation of the liquor laws of the state, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

B. F. DUNCAN. Polk county. June 18, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court, to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of eighteen months, for the offense of uttering a forged instrument. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and prosecuting attorney, sheriff, deputy sheriff, and jailer of Polk county; a petition signed by many prominent citizens and officials of Monmouth, Ill., where the defendant has resided since the offense was committed; and a letter from G. N. Hawley, of Monmouth, Ill., for whom defendant was working when arrested, who says he is willing and will be glad to have him in his employ again. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Duncan shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid all evil associates and places of evil, and in all respects demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES D. LOOMIS. Polk county. June 18, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court, to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of one year, for the offense of embezzlement. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and prosecuting attorney; and to remain in force during such time as the said Loomis shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid all evil associates and places of evil, and in all respects demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. To take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, including the expense of his keeping in the Polk county jail during the time of the temporary suspension granted March 17, 1897.

A. J. MURRAY. Polk county. July 16, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1896, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of eighteen months, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, county officials, and many prominent citizens of Polk county; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Murray shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors and opium, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors and opium are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

J. W. ADAMS. Wapello county. July 27, 1897. Sentenced at August, 1896, term of the district court, to the jail of Wapello county, to serve a term of ten months, for the offense of assault with intent to do great bodily injury. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, county officials, and many other prominent citizens of Wapello county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Adams shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

BENJAMIN STILWELL. Marion county. September 9, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1897, term of the district court to pay a fine of $300, for the offense of liquor nuisance. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, the board of supervisors of Marion county, and a number of citizens and business men of the town of Hamilton and Marion county; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Stilwell shall refrain from any further violation of the laws of the state, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of $100 of said fine, and all costs of prosecution of this case.

WILLIAM STROPE. Van Buren county. September 9, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1896, term of the district court to pay a fine of $300, for the offense of keeping a nuisance. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and the board of supervisors of Van Buren county, and a petition signed by a large number of citizens and business men of the town of Farmington and Van Buren county; also a statement signed by three reputable physicians of the town of Farmington, saying that the said William Strobe has Bright's disease, and in their opinion would not stand confinement in jail or any place. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution of this case, and to remain in force during such time as the said Strobe shall refrain from violation of the laws of the state.

ZIGMUND VONDRACEK. Linn county. September 9, 1897. Sentenced at June, 1897, term of the district court to pay fines to the amount of $500 for the offense of liquor nuisance. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and a majority of the board of supervisors of Linn county, and a large petition from the citizens and business men of the town of Ely and Linn county, where the offense was committed. To remain in force during such time as the said Vondracek shall refrain from violation of the laws of the state, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen; and to take effect upon the payment by the said Vondracek of all costs of prosecution.

W. B. LYSLE. Woodbury county. September 10, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of two and one-half years, for the offense of embezzlement. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and a large number of prominent and reputable citizens and officials of Sioux City and Woodbury county, where the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Lysle shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN HAGUEWOOD. Delaware county. September 11, 1897. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of four years, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and a large number of citizens of Delaware county, including the sheriff; also a statement from the warden of the penitentiary, saying Haguewood has been a good and obedient prisoner. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Haguewood shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Subsequently revoked.

ED. PARKER. Adams county. September 11, 1897. Sentenced at October, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a period of five years, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and a large number of prominent citizens and business men of the town of Corning, where the offense was committed. T. H. Scranton and Andrew J. Salts, against whom the offense was committed, say they have no feeling against Parker, and are willing that the governor take such steps as he deems right. To remain in force during such time as the said Parker shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

NICK SCHREURS. O'Brien county. September 14, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1894, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of five years, for the crime of assault with intent to commit manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the prosecuting attorney, and many reputable citizens of O'Brien county, and because it is made to appear that the assaulted party suffered no injury of a permanent character, the assault was made in a fit of passion, and the prisoner's behavior in the penitentiary has been exemplary, and he has now served within ninety days of his full term of sentence, less time earned by good conduct. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Schreurs shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES ADAMS. Black Hawk county. September 15, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1895, term of the district court, to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of four years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, a petition from a large number of citizens of Black Hawk county, and a letter from the warden of the penitentiary saying that he has always found Adams industrious and obedient, and one of the very few convicts in whom trust and confidence is placed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Adams shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

PAT MURPHY. Polk county. September, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court, to the jail of Polk county, for a period of six months, for the crime of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney. The presiding judge says: "I intended at the time I sentenced him that if I found his conduct such as I wished I would recommend a pardon for him after he had served a portion of his time. He has now served nearly four months, and his conduct has been all that I could expect, and he has rendered valuable service to the county attorney. I think the ends of justice have been fully met in this case, and that executive clemency should be properly extended to him. I therefore recommend the immediate pardon of the said Pat Murphy." The county attorney indorses the above. This suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Pat Murphy shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

BERNARD HANSEN. Dubuque county. September 17, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1892, term of the district court, to the state penitentiary, for a period of twenty years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney and a letter from the presiding judge, who says: "I became satisfied, at the trial of Hansen's case, that he was not the leading spirit in the unlawful enterprise." Lee, the boy who was jointly concerned in the offense with Hansen, confesses that he was the one to blame. The judge, before whom Lee was tried, recommends the pardon for Hansen, and says he does not believe that Hansen is naturally a criminal, but was led into the commission of the offense by the more shrewd and cunning Lee. There is also a petition on file, signed by more than 200 prominent citizens of Dubuque. A further reason is that Hansen was only 16 years of age when the act for which he is now serving in the penitentiary was committed. To remain in force during such time as the said Hansen shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JERRY BROWN. Page county. September 20, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court to the jail of Page county, for a period of six months, and to pay a fine of $300, for the offense of keeping a gambling house. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney and a large number of prominent citizens of Shenandoah, where the offense was committed. The trial judge says: "Taking into consideration his age, physical condition, his service as a soldier, and other matters, I would not oppose a suspension of sentence during good behavior." Said suspension to remain in force during such time as the said Brown shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HENRY EIFERT. Bremer county. November 15, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of two and one-half years, for the offense of fraudulent banking. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, trial jurors, county officials, and a large number of other prominent citizens of Bremer county, and for the further reason, I am of the opinion that Elfert has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Said suspension to remain in force during such time as the said Elfert shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

S. F. CANNADY. Makaska county. November 18, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1893, term of the district court to pay a fine of $100 and costs, for the offense of nuisance. Granted upon the recommendation of the county attorney and ex-county attorney who prosecuted this case, three county officials and board of supervisors of Mahaska county, and other prominent citizens of said county. Said suspension to remain in force during such time as the said S. F. Cannady shall refrain from any further violation of the prohibitory liquor law of the state, abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen, and is to take effect upon the payment of all costs incurred in the prosecution of the case.

NORMAN PARKER. Chickasaw county. November 18, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1897, term of the district court, to the jail of Chickasaw county, to serve a term of one year, for the offense of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, county officials, and a large number of other prominent citizens of Chickasaw county, and certificates from physicians to the effect that the defendant is suffering from chronic nasal catarrh and bronchitis, and his health is being undermined by close confinement. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Parker shall refrain from any further violation of the laws of this state, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

J. W. BAXTER. Sac county. November 18, 1897. Sentenced at August, 1897, term of the district court, to pay a fine of $300 and costs of prosecution, for the offense of nuisance, and in default of payment of fine to be confined in the jail of Sac county at hard labor. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition signed by the board of supervisors, clerk, sheriff, county superintendent, and auditor of Sac county, and a number of other prominent citizens of Sac county. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Baxter shall refrain from any further violation of the laws of this state, and shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE BRASSFIELD. Van Buren county. November 18, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court to pay a fine of $500 and costs of prosecution, and to be committed to the jail of Van Buren county in default of the payment of the fine. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, board of supervisors of Van Buren county, and a large number of prominent citizens in the vicinity where the offense was committed. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Brassfield shall refrain from the further violation of the laws of the state, abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen. Suspended only so far as the order of imprisonment is concerned.

D. P. MINARD. Calhoun county. November 23, 1897. Sentenced at December, 1894, term of the district court to the penitentiary for a period of ten years, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, who expresses a doubt as to the guilt of Minard. The county attorney who prosecuted the defendant says there has always been a doubt in his mind whether he (Minard) was really the guilty party. All of the trial jurors and many prominent citizens of Calhoun county recommend clemency. This suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Minard shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

RAY MCKINNEY. Clarke county. November 23, 1897. Sentenced at December, 1896, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a term of two and one-half years, for the offense of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, Hon. M. L. Temple (who helped prosecute McKinney), the trial jurors, several county officials, and many other prominent citizens of Clarke county; also a statement from the prosecuting witness, who was the offended party, and her mother. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said McKinney shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GRANT ROLLINS. Webster county. November 26, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of five years, for the offense of larceny in the night-time. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, county officials, and many prominent citizens of Webster county, and because it is made to appear that, prior to the commission of the above named offense, defendant was an industrious and law-abiding citizen, and that since his incarceration he has been a good prisoner. To remain in force during the good behavior of Rollins.

JAMES H. SCOTT. Lee county. November 26, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of assault with intent to commit manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, deputy county attorney who assisted in the prosecution, and many prominent citizens of Fort Madison, and because it is made to appear from affidavits now on file in the executive office that the prosecuting witness and injured party had threatened the life of defendant, and for the further reason I am satisfied the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. To remain in force during such time as the said Scott shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES CLARK. Guthrie county. November 26, 1897. Sentenced at February, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of two years, for the offense of perjury. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition signed by the grand jurors, county officials, and a large number of citizens who live in the vicinity where the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Clark shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

RUSSELL EDMONDS. Appanoose county. November 26, 1897. Sentenced at September, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of five years, for the offense of robbery. Granted because it is made to appear by a petition signed by many citizens of Appanoose county, where defendant has lived for many years, that he had been an honest and industrious young man prior to his arrest for this offense, that his mother has died from grief on account of the incarceration of her son, and that his father is quite old and infirm and needs the assistance of his son to aid in the support of his family, and because I am of the opinion the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense committed. Granted upon the conditions that the said Edmonds shall return to the home of his father, assist in caring for him during his lifetime, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES CASE. Lyon county. November 26, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of fifteen years, for the offense of rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, a petition signed by more than two hundred representative citizens of Lyon county in the vicinity where the offense was committed, and affidavits on file in the executive office showing the character of the prosecutrix, and for the further reason I am of the opinion the defendant has been sufficiently punished for the offense he committed. To remain in force during such time as the defendant, Charles Case, shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

J. E. WALLACE. Jefferson county. December 1, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of two years, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, clerk of the district court, and sheriff of Jefferson county, and a letter from the injured party to the judge, saying, "I have no objections to signing a petition for the release of Wallace from the penitentiary." This suspension is to take effect upon the expiration of a sentence dated May 2, 1895, pronounced by the district court of Jefferson county against the said Wallace, for the offense of burglary, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Wallace shall demean himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ANNA HANNER. Montgomery county. December 1, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1897, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, for a period of six months, and to pay a fine of $50 for the offense of uttering a forged instrument. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, the attorney who assisted in the prosecution, the trial jurors, and a large number of representative citizens of Montgomery county. To remain in force during such time as the defendant, Anna Hanner, shall demean herself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

NICHOLAS ABEGGLEN. Monroe county. December 1, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, to serve a term of eighteen months, for the offense of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, and trial jurors, and a petition signed by more than three hundred citizens of Monroe county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Abegglen shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HORACE MANN. Polk county. December 2, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1896, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of breaking and entering a building. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a letter from the injured party asking for clemency, and because it is made to appear that, prior to the time this offense was committed, the defendant had borne with those who knew him a reputation for honesty and trustworthiness. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Mann shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES GANTZ. Des Moines county. December 2, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1896, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of five years, for the offense of larceny from the person. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and a petition signed by the prosecuting attorney and a large number of representative business men of the city of Burlington, where the offense was committed; and is to remain in force during such time as the said Gantz shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRED. TRAUB. Des Moines county. December 8, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, for a term of five years, for the offense of larceny from the person. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, a petition from a large number of representative business men of the city of Burlington, where the offense was committed, and a letter from the warden of the penitentiary saying that Traub had been an obedient and industrious prisoner. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Traub shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN MCCLUSKEY. Webster county. December 8, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Anamosa, to serve a term of eight years, for the offense of assault with intent to commit rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition signed by county officials and other prominent citizens of Webster county, where the offense was committed. Said suspension is to take effect December 20, 1897, and to remain in force during such time as the said McCluskey shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

GEORGE T. JUBB. Polk county. December 8, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1896, term of the district court to the penitentiary at Fort Madison, to serve a term of twenty-one months, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, a request from the injured party, the Des Moines Union Railway company, and a petition signed by many representative citizens of Des Moines, where this offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Jubb shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, provide and care for his family, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES KELLY. Polk county. December 15, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of one year, for the offense of larceny. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, letters from the attorney-general and the assistant county attorney who assisted in the prosecution of this case, and a petition signed by eight of the trial jurors and a large number of representative citizens of Polk county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Charles Kelly shall demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ISAAC CLARK. Polk county. December 16, 1897. Sentenced at April, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of ten years, for the offense of assault with intent to commit murder. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, a petition signed by representative citizens of Des Moines, a number of letters from prominent and reputable citizens of this state, and for the further reason that the said Isaac Clark was a gallant soldier in the war of the rebellion, as shown by letters from members of his regiment. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Clark shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ED. BITNER. Adair county. December 17, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1897, term of the district court to pay a fine of $800, for the offense of liquor nuisance. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, which recommendation is acquiesced in by the trial judge, a petition signed by representative citizens of Greenfield, where the offense was committed, and a recommendation from the board of supervisors of Adair county. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of all costs incurred in the prosecution of the case, and is to remain in force during such time as the said Bitner shall refrain from any further violation of the liquor laws of the state, abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

OSCAR CLOUD. Fremont county. December 20, 1897. Sentenced at November, 1893, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of eight years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, ten trial jurors, and five grand jurors, a petition signed by a majority of the county officials and a large number of prominent citizens of Fremont county. To remain in force during such time as the said Cloud shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ROBERT MUSHRUSH. Audubon county. December 21, 1897. Sentenced at December, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of five years, for the offense of manslaughter. Granted upon the recommendation of the assistant county attorney, who prosecuted the case, in whose recommendation the trial judge acquiesces, the present county attorney, and eleven of the trial jurors, and a petition from a large number of prominent citizens of Audubon county. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Mushrush shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

ED. PARKER. Shelby county. December 22, 1897. Sentenced at March, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of two and one-half years, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of 200 citizens of Shelby county, petitions signed by county officials of Shelby county, and city officials of Harlan, in which it is represented that this is the first offense of which Parker has been guilty; and letters on file from the trial judge and prosecuting attorney, in which they do not object to clemency being granted. To remain in force during such time as the said Parker shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES WYCOFF. Wapello county. December 24, 1897. Sentenced at August, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of one year, for the offense of adultery. Granted upon the recommendation of all the trial jurors, a petition signed by a large number of prominent citizens of Fairfield, the home of the defendant, a letter on file from the trial judge, in which he interposes no objection to clemency being granted, and a letter from the county attorney, acquiescing in the recommendation of the jury, upon payment of costs. Said suspension is to take effect upon the payment of all costs of prosecution, and is to remain in force during such time as the said James Wyckoff shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

PATRICK BRADY. Wapello county. December 31, 1897. Sentenced at January, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a period of two years, for the offense of cheating by false pretenses. Granted upon the recommendation of a large number of citizens of Wapello county, and letters from the trial judge, county attorney, and because it is made to appear that one of his daughters has recently died, another is very ill, and that he himself is in a very bad physical condition. To remain in force during such time as the said Brady shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES WILSON. Des Moines county. January 4, 1898. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a term of one year, for the offense of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial jurors, city officials of Burlington, and county officials of Des Moines county, and a large number of letters from prominent citizens of Des Moines county. The trial judge says he believes the ends of justice would not be defeated by clemency being extended to Wilson. To remain in force during such time as the said Wilson shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JACK KELLY. Polk county. January 4, 1898. Sentenced at January, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a term of nine years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a petition signed by a number of representative citizens of Des Moines, where the offense was committed. Granted upon the conditions that he shall return to the home of his parents in the city of DeWitt, remain there, and by his labor aid in the care and support of their family; abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN D. ALEXANDER. Pottawattamie county. January 4, 1898. Sentenced at March, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a period of one year, for the offense of breaking and entering a railroad car. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and a large petition signed by county officials and many prominent citizens of Council Bluffs, and because it is made to appear that the said Alexander has made restitution to the party aggrieved, that since the day of his indictment he has conducted himself as a law-abiding citizen, that he has lost the sight of one eye, and that there is great danger of his becoming totally blind in the event that he should be confined in the penitentiary for a period of the sentence imposed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Alexander shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

MRS. C. V. SMITH. Polk county. January 5, 1898. Sentenced at November, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a term of eighteen months, and to pay a fine of $1, for the offense of abortion. Granted upon the recommendation of six of the trial jurors, a petition and letters on file from a number of prominent citizens of Des Moines, a letter from the trial judge, in which he says he has no objections to a conditional pardon being granted to Mrs. Smith, a statement from a large number of physicians to the effect that the defendant is suffering from a malignant tumor, and that confinement in the penitentiary would prove seriously detrimental to her health if not fatal, and a statement from the prosecuting witness saying that she now believes that what Mrs. Smith did concerning her condition was done to save her life, and asks the governor to grant a pardon to Mrs. Smith. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Mrs. Smith shall in all respects demean herself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

A. E. INLOW. Shelby county. January 5, 1898. Sentenced at January, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for a term of eighteen months, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the prosecuting attorney, and a petition signed by over sixty prominent citizens and business men of the town of Harlan, where the offense was committed, including the name of the prosecuting witness, and because it is made to appear that the crime for which Inlow was convicted was participated in by others. At his trial he pleaded guilty, thereby saving the state the expense of trial; and during his confinement in the penitentiary he has been returned to Shelby county, and was an important witness for the state in securing the conviction of one of his accomplices. Furthermore, he has returned all the money that was received by him to the aggrieved party. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Inlow shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

CHARLES ROBSON. Polk county. January 5, 1898. Sentenced at January, 1894, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of ten years, for the offense of robbery. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney; a petition and a large number of letters and affidavits, including a letter from the prosecuting witness and aggrieved party, asking clemency; and a letter from the prison physician saying that Robson has been in bed for several weeks with lung trouble, and he thinks he will eventually die with consumption. Said suspension to remain in force during such time as the said Robson shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN STEWART. Polk county. January 7 1898. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of two years, for the offense of obtaining property by false pretenses. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and because it is made to appear that Stewart has made restitution to the aggrieved party. Said suspension to remain in force during such time as the said Stewart shall conduct himself in every respect as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HENRY OSBORNE. Polk county. January 7, 1898. Sentenced at December, 1883, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, for the term of his natural life, for the offense of murder in the second degree. Granted upon the recommendation of the attorneys who prosecuted Osborne, and a letter from the prison physician, who says he finds Osborne completely broken down in health; and for the further reason that the defendant is a prematurely old man by reason of his long imprisonment, and it is made to appear by letters now on file in the executive office that there is reason to believe he will conduct himself in the future as a good citizen. Granted upon the conditions that he shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect conduct himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

LEE WHITLATCH. Marion county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at February, 1896, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of burglary. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a large petition signed by county officials and other prominent citizens of Marion county. To remain in force during such time as the said Whitlatch shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

WILLIAM L. DUNGAN. Polk county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at April, 1897, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of assault with intent to rob. Granted upon the recommendation of a large number of representative citizens of the city of Burlington, including many of the present and ex-officials of that city, and the prosecuting witness and aggrieved party, and is acquiesced in by the trial judge; and for the further reason that there is now an affidavit on file in the executive office, made by one Carl Vinton, stating that Dungan is entirely innocent, that he himself was the party who made the assault, and that Dungan was not concerned in the assault in any manner. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Dungan shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, shall absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, shall not associate with disreputable or vicious people, and shall in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

FRANK MURRAY. Scott county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at September, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of five years, for the offense of larceny from the person. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge and the prosecuting attorney, and a number of letters on file in the executive office from prominent citizens and officials of St. Paul, the home of Murray, testifying to his previous good character. Granted upon the conditions that he shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid the association of disreputable or vicious people, return to the home of his mother at St. Paul, Minn., help her care for herself and family, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JAMES M. CRANDALL. Dallas county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three and one-half years, for the offense of incest. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, and many citizens of the community in which the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Crandall shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid the association of disreputable people, return to the home of his parents and aid in their support, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

S. S. CRANDALL. Dallas county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at November, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three and one-half years, for the offense of rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, prosecuting attorney, and many citizens of the community in which the offense was committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Crandall shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid the association of disreputable people, return to the home of his parents and aid in their support, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

HARRY HEISER. Pottawattamie county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at August, 1897, term of the district court to the jail of Pottawattamie county, to serve a term of one year, for the offense of assault with intent to inflict great bodily injury. Granted upon the recommendation of a number of county officials of Pottawattamie county, the mayor and many prominent citizens of Council Bluffs, where the offense was committed, and the members of the grand jury that found the indictment against Heiser. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Heiser shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

EDWIN FORSYTHE. Polk county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at September, 1893, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of rape. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, in which the county attorney who prosecuted acquiesces, and a large petition and many letters from prominent citizens of Polk county, where the offense was said to have been committed. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Forsythe shall conduct himself as an orderly and law abiding citizen.

CHARLES W. KING. Warren county. January 8, 1898. Sentenced at March, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of three years, for the offense of seduction. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, a letter from the county attorney who prosecuted, in which he says he has been requested by the prosecutrix to make no objection to clemency being granted, a petition signed by more than 300 citizens of Warren county, and another petition signed by the prosecutrix, her father and mother, and a number of the county officials of Warren county. The suspension to remain in force during such time as the said King shall refrain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.

JOHN HANNER. Wapello county. January 10, 1898. Sentenced at January, 1895, term of the district court to the state penitentiary, to serve a term of five years, for the offense of breaking and entering. Granted upon the recommendation of the trial judge, and a petition signed by many citizens and taxpayers of the city of Ottumwa, where the offense was committed, and for the further reason that he has now served more than one-half of his term of sentence, and has been a good and obedient prisoner during the time he has been incarcerated in the penitentiary. Said suspension is to remain in force during such time as the said Hanner shall abstain from the use of intoxicating liquors, absent himself from all places where intoxicating liquors are sold, avoid the association of disreputable people, and in every respect demean himself as an orderly and law-abiding citizen.
