Marshalltown Man Doesn't Think He's Lucky, But Wins $500,000 With Power Play

A Marshalltown man has survived a stroke and won a $500,000 Powerball prize, but doesn't consider himself all that lucky.

"I never get too excited. If it had been the big one, I probably would have. My wife did more than I did," Terry Stonewall said as he claimed his $500,000 prize at Iowa Lottery headquarters in Des Moines.

Terry Stonewall of Marshalltown

Stonewall matched the first five numbers and the Power Play number, but missed the Powerball in July 2's $160.3 million drawing. His ticket, purchased at the Git-N-Go at 902 W. Lincolnway in Marshalltown, matched the first five numbers drawn to win a $100,000 prize. However, Stonewall also purchased the Power Play option for another $1. The Power Play number for the drawing was 5, which multiplied his prize to $500,000.

"Oh, you can't beat that. If you're going to win some money, multiply it, you bet!"—Terry Stonewall "Oh, you can't beat that. If you're going to win some money, multiply it, you bet!" Stonewall said.

Stonewall, 64, has been recovering from a stroke last year. While he downplayed his excitement over his lottery luck, his wife, Greta, shed a little more light on the subject. Greta Stonewall said that when Terry told her to sit down so he could share some news, she thought something was wrong.

"Tears were welling up in his eyes. And I said, 'Just tell me!' I was yelling at him," she said. "He showed me the ticket and the article that was in the newspaper. Then I believed him."

Terry Stonewall said he will share his winnings with his children, remodel his and Greta's kitchen, invest most of the rest and maybe buy a new car. 🍀

Group of 12 Correctional Workers Wins $5,000

John Sims got the pleasant job of telling his coworkers they won $5,000 playing Powerball.

Sims, who bought the ticket for the group, looked up the winning Powerball numbers on the Iowa Lottery's web site before any of his coworkers arrived, so he had a big surprise for them when they came to work!

"I didn't say anything until everybody came in and then I started telling them. They were elated!" said Sims, a representative of the group of 12 maintenance workers from the Newton Correctional Facility. He bought the ticket at Hy-Vee, 802 S. Center St. in Marshalltown.

The workers have played Powerball together for about six years, Sims explained. They usually wait until the jackpot gets quite high before they play.

The group's members live all over Central Iowa, including Des Moines, Marshalltown, Newton and Marion. Sims said most members plan to save their winnings.

"We regretted that we didn't hit that last number, but we'll take this without arguing!" Sims said with a laugh.

John Sims of Marshalltown claimed a $5,000 Powerball prize on behalf of himself and his coworkers.

Council Bluffs Man Wins $100,000

Roger Schmitt of Council Bluffs

A Council Bluffs man has claimed one of two tickets sold in Iowa that came close to winning a $261.3 million Powerball jackpot on July 9. Roger Schmitt's ticket matched the first five numbers but not the Powerball for a $100,000 prize. He bought his winning ticket at Hy-Vee at 1706 N. 16th St. in Council Bluffs. The other $100,000-winning ticket for that drawing was sold at Konvenience Korner in Centerville and is still unclaimed.
