PREFACE.

The Census of Iowa 1915 is herein published by the Executive Council. The facts were gathered and reported by the assessors at the time of the regular assessment as of January 1, 1915. There is reason to believe the enumeration is by far the most complete ever made, and that the statistics not only as to characteristics of population but as to agricultural and other industries are accurate and reliable.

Much information is given other than that derived from the enumeration, especially as to business and commercial affairs, manufactures and mining, educational matters, revenues and expenditures, public and private property, and all the larger activities of the people. The information as to land and land values, farm crops and live stock, supplements the tables which have been compiled in other years and makes a continuing record of progress. So far as it has been possible to do so there has been careful comparison of the statistics for this year with similar information gathered in the past, and the analysis and discussion of the results have been with a view to showing the general trend of things and the changing conditions of life and of business.

The enumeration for the first time included an inquiry into the extent of education of the whole body of the people, and this happily confirms the claim of very high rank for Iowa in educational standing and sustains the showing that only 1 per cent of the people are to be classed as illiterate.

Analysis of the population statistics indicates that Iowa has enjoyed a steady expansion of population, as well as of increase of prosperity, this expansion continuing with only slight variation through all the decades; and if the record has appeared to show a general decline at certain periods, this has been more apparent than real. The charts and maps present graphically the changing relations of different groups of the population, especially as to general nativity and as to residence in the cities and towns or in rural communities.

The general supervision of the collection and tabulation of the statistics secured from the assessors and the careful preparation of the tables of enumeration and of agriculture have been under Mr. A. U. Swan, assistant secretary of the Executive Council; while the compilation of the miscellaneous statistics and the analysis of tables with comparisons have been done by Mr. Ora Williams, state document editor.

In the preparation of the book the policy has been followed of adhering closely to the statutory requirements as to the inquiry, but with emphasis on the things of greatest general interest, and to build upon the well laid foundation embodied in previous reports. Much new and valuable material has been added which the Executive Council has deemed worthy of a place in the records.

CENSUS OF IOWA, 1915.

The State of Iowa, which came into the Union as the twenty-ninth State sixty-eight years ago, with 56,147 square miles of territory, has a population of 2,358,066.

Herein is made of public record the essential facts regarding the people, and their activities in the direction of securing comfort, happiness and prosperity for themselves and their descendants. It is more than a listing of inhabitants. Much material is included that will afford a basis for comparisons relating to the past and the future of the State and its people.

After what is now Iowa had been definitely located on the maps, 160 years elapsed before the civilized world decided that it was a good place for home making, and even then mining and trading continued for thirty years before the first school was opened. It was fifteen years after the Louisiana territory had been secured at a rare bargain before pioneer cabins broke the landscape on the west side of the big river on Iowa soil.

But after the first sod had been turned to the sunlight, barely a dozen years sufficed to lay the foundations of a state and there was temporizing only eight years with a territorial government. In the second quarter of the Nineteenth century the frontiersmen of Iowa wrought an amazing miracle by turning the hunting grounds and the battle fields of the Indians into farms and orchards and opening the way for Christian civilization with schools and churches and colleges and newspapers. Before the century was half done home making was a reality for 200,000 sturdy people gathered from all parts of the world and engaged in conquest of the forests and prairies of Iowa.

Progress has been sure and steady in all the essentials of civilization. The needs of the people in government were met with only two counties when the territory was organized. Eight years later the state was organized with twenty-eight counties. The functions of state government were assumed on the meager allowance of $7,452.42 for the first year. Schools and colleges and churches had already been provided by the people and courts of justice had been set up to meet all disputes; and soon there was established the various institutions for the wayward, the defectives, the criminal, and the unfortunates.

The state makers put aside their zeal for early statehood long enough to resist the effort of a short sighted congress to give Iowa boundaries out of harmony with the geography of the land, and they found later they could do better than was done in the making of the first state constitution, for after 11 years a new one was framed which has sufficed with frequent patching. The geography of the State was finished in 1857 with ninety-nine counties marked off and the capitol located permanently.

COMPONENT PARTS OF POPULATION.

There was a net gain of 148,016 in the population of the State since the last state census ten years ago, or a gain of 6.7 per cent.

As compared with the federal census of five years ago the gain was 133,295, or 6½ per cent.

Principal items of the enumeration for 1915 are:

POPULATION AT VARIOUS ENUMERATIONS.

Following the first taking possession of the land for agricultural purposes in 1833 there was a great rush across the river and when Iowa territory was severed from all else in 1838 the count showed 22,859 persons in a narrow strip along the Mississippi river. When statehood came in 1846 there were 102,388. The expansion of population is shown in the following table, in which is given the total population at the several territorial, state and federal enumerations, with the annual increase per 1,000 of population:

Census	Population	Increase	Census	Population	Increase
1833	22,830	443	1865	756,209	39

GENERAL CHANGES IN TOTAL POPULATION.

Analysis of the statistics now for the first time fully available is convincing that while the growth of population has not been as great in recent years as in the era of cheap land, there has been no decade, nor any 5-year period, without some increase in the aggregate population of the State.

The last five reports of the State census count shows total population and increase as follows:

	Increase.
Year 1875, population reported.....	1,350,553
Year 1885, population reported.....	1,753,980
Year 1895, population reported.....	2,058,069
Year 1905, population reported.....	2,210,050
Year 1915, population reported.....	2,358,066

The gradual decline but not entire disappearance of population expansion accords well with common observation.

Comparing four United States Census enumerations the following result is obtained:

	Increase.
Year 1880, population reported.....	1,624,615
Year 1890, population reported.....	1,911,896
Year 1900, population reported.....	2,231,853
Year 1910, population reported.....	2,224,771

The increase in the 1870-80 decade was 430,275. Taking the figures as a whole, the result does not fully harmonize with the more even transition of the State census figures.

If it should be assumed that the U. S. Census report for 1900 was too large by say 100,000, and that of 1910 too small by say 75,000, and computation be made on this basis, the figures showing increase by decades would appear: 430,275, 287,281, 219,959 and 167,918.

*Decrease.

The State Census is taken by the regular local assessors, at the time of property assessment; the United States Census is taken by enumerators paid according to the number of names reported.

If the comparison is by five-year periods, alternating the State and United States enumerations, the result displays an irregularity the explanation for which is not easily found, and this is all the more emphasized by the fact of a comparatively large increase in the past five years.

Again assuming that the count of 1900 was 100,000 too large and that of 1910 75,000 too small, and making a table of comparisons showing the population and change each five-year period as indicated by the record, and adding a column to show what would be the record if the change suggested was made, we have this result:

Year and Census	Population	Record	Probable
		Increase or Decrease	Increase or Decrease
State 1875	1,350,553
U. S. 1880	1,624,615	274,062	274,062
State 1885	1,753,980	127,365	127,365
U. S. 1890	1,911,896	157,916	157,916
State 1895	2,058,069	146,173	146,173
U. S. 1900	2,231,853	173,784	73,784
State 1905	2,210,050	*21,803	78,197
U. S. 1910	2,224,771	14,721	89,721
State 1915	2,358,066	133,295	58,795

The column of "probable increase or decrease" is given without any pretense of information on which to base the assumption, but to show how the change proposed would give a result very much more in harmony with known facts. If comparison is made as to the changes in county population, divided as between urban and rural, the evidence is that there has been an increase in the total population of the State each five-year period, and that nearly all the recorded loss of rural population is accounted for by transfer to the cities and towns. Villages are counted as rural but when incorporated go over to the urban population.

The sudden loss of population which is indicated by the record and then unaccountable expansion of population more recently seems to be more apparent than real.

POPULATION AND WEALTH.

Expansion of private wealth has kept pace with increase of population. A comparison by decades, showing the assessment fixed for taxation purposes, affords a basis for comparison as follows:

*Decrease.

Population	Year	Assessment
102,388	1846	$ 9,939,221
517,875	1856	164,394,413

1,350,553	1875	395,423,140
1,753,980	1885	488,953,127
2,058,069	1895	559,650,824
2,210,050	1905	2,490,954,700
2,358,066	1915	4,055,607,770

IOWA EXPANSION IN ALL THINGS.

In all things needful to society there has been going forward steadily in Iowa and a wholesome expansion of the functions of government. Industrial development which was first directed to mining later grew to large proportions in agriculture and then commerce and manufacturing followed. The State manifests paternal interest in agriculture and all industry, encourages business, safeguards health, provides for the public security, and maintains schools, libraries, museums, parks and playgrounds.

There are twenty-one State institutions devoted to the higher education of the youth, the care and comfort of dependents, the relief of the afflicted or the punishment of offenders. Courts are presided over by fifty-nine district judges with an appellate bench of seven justices. Highway administration has been unified under an effective state commission. Over 27,000 teachers are annually certificated for the public schools.

The proportion of adult persons is 58.7 per cent as against 55.5 per cent ten years ago. The increase or decrease of population according to age classes in the ten years was as follows:

	1905	1915	Inc. or Dec.
Population under 5 years of age.....	233,843	237,760	3,917
Five years and under 10 years.....	242,364	240,779	—1,585
Ten years and under 18 years.....	373,309	357,381	—15,928
Eighteen years and under 21 years.....	133,823	138,765	4,942
Twenty-one and under 45 years.....	774,899	856,373	81,474
Forty-five years and over	451,812	527,008	75,196

There was a decrease in the ten years in the persons of school age. There has been an increase in the number of persons over school age and under school age. The decrease in number of persons of ages 5 to 18 inclusive was 17,513. The increase of persons aged 21 and over was 156,670. Of those 18 to 21 years old there was an increase of 4,942. It is plain that the average age of the people residing in Iowa is greater now than it was. More than half the population of the state is 21 years of age or more, and there has been an increase of over 12 per cent in the adults at the same time as a decrease of .8 per cent in the younger persons.

Iowa is one of the most American of the states. The persons native born comprise 88.8 per cent of the population. Ten years ago the proportion was 87.2 per cent. The foreign born number 11.2 per cent.

More than a half million of the Iowa people were born in Iowa.

The proportion of married persons is increasing and now is 41.5 per cent as against 38.8 per cent in 1905.

There are fifteen cities of the first class and ninety of the second class, and 788 incorporated towns. There are nine cities or towns for each county and one for every fifty-one square miles. There is one for every 1,200 persons on adjacent farms.

The percentage of urban population is 54.1 as against 48.8 ten years ago.

Illiteracy is indicated by 1 per cent. Ten years ago the percentage was 1.5 per cent.

There is expended for each person enrolled in school or college $45 annually. There is an ungraded or rural school for every ninety of rural population. There were 519,814 persons who attended school or college in 1914 and the average public school attendance was 391,132.

In institutions of higher education there were enrolled 20,275 students, or one for each thirty-five persons between the ages of fifteen and thirty years.

Newspapers or other periodicals are published one for each 2,350 of population.

There are 245 free public and other general libraries, with over 3,350,000 volumes.

Railroad mileage is 10,493, or one mile for each 224 persons and one mile for each five and a third square miles.

An average of about $13 a year for each person is paid for insurance; and the death and fire losses amount to about 48 per cent of the premiums.

There is one bank for 1,800 inhabitants, on an average, with $350 in deposits for each adult person. Banking capital increased in ten years by 50 per cent and deposits doubled in the same time.

Revenues available for public purposes amount to over $25 per person annually.

The people of the State have a permanent investment in property devoted to public uses of $75 for each inhabitant. The State owns 12,773 acres of land occupied and used for State purposes.

There are 336,012 homes owned by the occupants. For every 1,000 married couples there are 680 who occupy homes which they own.

The actual market value of privately owned property foots up about $2,761 per capita. Over six and a half billion dollars worth of property is situated in the State.

The births in the State average 37,467 a year and the deaths 20,020; or, in other words, the deaths are but 58.7 per cent of the births.

The average annual rainfall in Iowa is 31.97 inches, of which 71 per cent falls in the crop months.

Iowa farms average 164 acres each in extent, and they are reported by the farmers as worth, including land, buildings, machinery and live stock, $22,043.80 each.

More than 59 per cent of the farmers own all or a part of the land they cultivate.

Iowa farm land averages more than $107 to the acre in actual value.

Farm crops were valued at $437,225,662 for 1914, and manufactured products $310,954,000.

The coal mined in 1914 was worth $13,364,070.

The schools, the churches, the newspapers, the railroads, the market centers, the manufacturing areas, are in close proximity, and there is a more even distribution of population among all the counties of the state than in any other state of the union.

COUNTIES AND POPULATION.

There has been no change in the number or in the boundaries of the counties of Iowa since the Constitution of 1857 was adopted. The county of largest land area is Kossuth with 973 square miles, and the smallest is the adjoining county of Dickinson with 376 square miles. The county of largest population is Polk with 129,121 population, and the county of smallest population is Dickinson with 9,465. In 1870, there were seventeen counties with either no population or less than 2,000 each.

The center of population in Iowa is now but a few miles from the geographical center of the State, arguing an even disposition of the population throughout the entire state. There is, perhaps, no other state with the center of population and the geographical center so nearly at the same point.

The fact of comparatively even and uniform conditions in Iowa as affecting population is shown by the journeyings of the center of population. This has been worked out by the Federal Census Bureau. The chart shows that in 1880 the center of population in Iowa was on the south line of Marshall county, 1.8 miles south of the town of Laurel; by 1890 the center had moved 5.2 miles north and a little to the west; by 1900 it had shifted 14.1 miles to the west to a point 2.6 miles northeast by east of Collins in Story county. In 1910 it was computed to be 4.8 miles southeast of Colo in Story county, only 2.3 miles from its location of ten years before. In the thirty years the center of population had moved only about seventeen miles.

The ninety-nine counties are all agricultural counties and the rural population is well distributed among them. There is no county with a total population density below eighteen to the square mile. There are only eight other states with similar record. In Missouri there are eight counties with less than 18 to the mile; in Minnesota 27; in Nebraska 52; in Kansas 56; in Wisconsin 14; in South Dakota all but 12; in Colorado all but 4. The rural population in certain counties is large because of the presence in those counties of large camps of miners, who live outside of incorporated towns.

The counties of largest and smallest land area, in square miles, and greatest density of total and rural population, are shown in the accompanying table.

The population of the State is divided as between those residing in incorporated places and those outside of cities and towns so it is found that 54.1 per cent live in the cities and towns and 45.8 per cent outside. Ten years ago, there were only 48.8 per cent of urban population and some time within the decade the urban population passed the total of rural population. The accompanying table shows the relations between the urban and rural population for a series of years.

There are 105 cities in the State and these cities are located in eighty-nine counties of the State, leaving ten counties without any cities of first or second class. The rural population of the counties in which the fifteen cities of the first class are located showed a net decrease in ten years of 8,630; the rural population of the ten counties having no cities showed a net decrease in the ten years of 5,573:

The accompanying table shows the counties of greatest increase of population in ten years and those of greatest decrease and the amount of such increase or decrease.

MOVEMENT OF POPULATION BY DISTRICTS.

The population divided by Congressional districts shows a continuation of the tendency to a wide divergence in the population of the respective districts of the State. When the census of 1885 was taken, the district of smallest population had 143,221 and the one of largest population had 186,621. Now, the most populous district has 279,532 and the least populous district has 156,309. The most populous district of the State made the greatest gain in total population in the ten years, while the district of least population made the greatest decrease of population in the ten years. Three of the districts lost population in the ten years—the First, Sixth and Eighth districts. Marked gains were made in the Third, Seventh and Eleventh districts.

All of the districts of the State show an increase of the residents of cities and towns, the Seventh district showing the greatest increase in this respect, followed closely by the Eleventh. The population of the districts in 1885 was as follows:

First District	149,818	Seventh District	147,013
Second District	169,012	Eighth District	167,890
Third District	186,621	Ninth District	171,694
Fourth District	162,626	Tenth District	161,883
Fifth District	161,570	Eleventh District	143,221
Sixth District	147,209

CITIES AND TOWNS.

The urban population of Iowa is 1,277,950, resident in 893 incorporated places. This is two more than an average of nine to a county. The legal status of these incorporated places divides them into three classes, namely: Cities of the first class, having 15,000 or more population; cities of the second class, with 2,000 population or less than 15,000; towns, which have less than 2,000 population.

There are fifteen cities of the first class and ninety of the second class, a total of 105; there are 788 incorporated towns of which 103 have more than 1,000 population; 220 have between 500 and 1,000, and 465 have less than 500 population.

There were, in 1905, 790 incorporated places reported. Of these, eleven were cities of the first class, eighty-three cities of the second class and 696 towns. During the decade there were added to the list of incorporated towns 106, and three were abandoned, making a net increase of 103 in the incorporated places of the State. The present census raises four cities of the second class to cities of the first class, and also gives eight towns legal status as cities of the second class. There are, however, five cities of the second class with population now less than 2,000, having lost population but not classification.

The following table shows the three classes of incorporated places with number of each and population now and ten years ago.

The accompanying table shows the number of cities and towns with total urban population, also the population divided as between cities of 2,500 and over and cities and towns of smaller population, for each of four enumerations.

GROWTH OF THE CITIES.

A comparison of urban population as shown by the last three enumerations will show the relative growth of incorporated places of different sizes. The accompanying table gives a classification of cities and towns, according to the last census, with statistics showing the population of the same groups of cities and towns five and ten years ago.

The fifteen cities that are now organized as cities of the first class show an increase from what they were ten years ago of 116,130. The eleven that were then cities of the first class had a population of 353,719. The cities that are now cities of the second class had a population ten years ago 43,017 less than now.

The net increase of urban population by reason of incorporation of new towns was 20,628 in ten years. There were 106 towns incorporated with a population of 21,330, and three towns gave up their corporate existence, having had ten years ago a population of 702. The towns that had 362,384 population in 1905 now have 392,764, an increase of 30,380.

The general rule appears to be that the cities of the first class are growing the most rapidly.

While there are 465 towns under 500 population in the State, they contain only 9.7 per cent of the entire urban population.

CITY POPULATION CHANGES.

Table No. 15 in Part II gives the population of all incorporated places, cities and towns, at seven enumerations. Table No. 16 in Part II gives the population of places of 1,000 population or over with increase or decrease of population and percentage of increase or decrease of population for seven enumerations. From this latter table is obtained the fact showing the most pronounced changes in city population in ten years. The accompanying table gives the names of cities showing the greatest net increase of population and the greatest per cent of increase of population and the cities showing decrease of population and the per cent of such decrease in ten years.

NEW AND ABANDONED TOWNS.

There were three towns which appeared as incorporated places in the 1905 census which have disappeared as towns, namely: Beloit, Lyon county, 278; Bentonsport, Van Buren county, 201; Hillsdale, Mills county, 223. They had a combined population of 701.

The town of Edenville, Marshall county, was changed to Rhodes, and East Elkport, Clayton county, appears now as Garber.

There are 106 towns now reported that were not reported as incorporated ten years ago, and they have a population of 21,330.

EDUCATION.

The information gathered regarding educational matters is more complete than anything ever before attempted and the results are highly gratifying. For the first time there has been secured information showing the extent of education of the entire population and the results confirm the general belief that Iowa people rank very high in educational matters. The returns show a decline in the number of persons of school age and a corresponding decline in the school enrollment. The statistics as to colleges and college attendance make a gratifying showing.

LITERACY.

The canvass shows as to the education of the people that only one per cent are illiterate. In making this computation the plan adopted by the federal census was followed of reckoning the percentage as against the total number of persons ten years of age and over. By literacy is meant those who can write and of course are able also to read. The following table shows the extent of illiteracy for 1915 as compared with 1905:

Age Classes and Sex	Census 1905.			Census 1915.

Total	1,947,228	28,979	1.5	1,860,788	18,739	1.0

The percentage of illiteracy in 1915, among all persons 10 years of age and over, is 1. This is a lower per cent than that of 10 years ago, when the percentage was computed to be 1.5. This took into account, however, the persons between 5 and 10 years of age, many of whom were not yet in school. The percentage reported by the federal census five years ago was 1.7 per cent and this computation was on the same basis as that now made by the State census.

The United States census for 1910 reported for the whole United States 7.7 per cent illiterate. At that time, Iowa was reported as having a lower per cent of illiteracy than any other state of the Union, by .2 per cent and the report of the State census for this year, therefore, places Iowa far in advance of any other state in the matter of literacy.

The number of illiterate persons of all ages found in Iowa is 18,739. Ten years ago, the State census found 28,979 and five years ago, the federal census reported 29,889. The number of males of voting age found to be illiterate is 10,324; the federal census five years ago found 14,204 such illiterate males of voting age. Ten years ago, the State census reported 12,555 illiterate voters. The decrease in the number of illiterate persons is, therefore, quite as pronounced among the adults as among the population as a whole. Ten years ago, there was reported 13,073 females over twenty-one years of age illiterate and now only 11,499.

The number of persons found ten years ago of school age illiterate of both sexes was 3,351. This year the number between the ages of ten and twenty-one of both sexes is 1,775.

EXTENT OF EDUCATION.

Information was secured by the enumerators as to the extent of education of the people in general. This included an inquiry as to the number of years attendance in school or in school and college of those persons over the school age, as well as the information as to the school attendance of persons of school age. The tables, therefore, show not only that the persons from whom the inquiries were made have some education obtained in schools, but the extent to which they pursued studies in regular way, given by years, and this regardless of whether the school attendance was recent or remote.

The report as to extent of education, in percentages, shows as follows, the percentages being a comparison of those reporting school or college attendance as compared with the total population of school age or over:

	Male	Female	Total
Per cent who have attended grammar or common schools	78.7	73.7	76.2
Per cent who have attended high or preparatory schools	10.9	16.6	13.6
Per cent who have attended college.....	6.8	6.4	6.6

The accompanying table shows the number of persons of school age and over who have attended school or college, with the number of years of such attendance. Those reported as attending the high or preparatory schools and colleges were accounted as having necessarily attended the common or grammar schools first and are included in the latter list. The table gives the attendance divided as between the age classes—of school age and over school age—and then a consolidation of the two. The percentages given are a comparison of the number in any one class with the total number reported as having received education in schools, except in the case of the total who attended either schools or college where the comparison is between the two sexes.

Of those who attended schools 880,030, or more than half, attended eight years or more; those who attended four years, or less, number 316,689, or less than 20 per cent; of those who entered the high schools or preparatory schools 105,690 attended four years, indicating that more than one-third completed the high school after entering.

Of the 140,009 who have attended college, 32,435 attended four years.

Of those who were reported as having attended common or grammar schools 1,038,075 are over school age and 578,978 are of school age.

SCHOOL POPULATION.

The number of persons in Iowa of school age is smaller now than it was ten years ago. The number then reported was 749,496 and now the number is 736,925. There was an increase in the number of persons of school age among the native white of native parents and a decrease among the foreign born and the immediate descendants of foreign born persons.

The number of persons of school age of both sexes among the native persons of native parents is now 69.9 per cent of the whole number of school age. The number of foreign born persons of school age is only 2.2 per cent of the entire number entitled to attend school and this has been declining for a number of years.

KIND OF SCHOOL ATTENDED.

Information has been secured as to the kind of school or college attended in the year 1914. The general table No. 10 gives a complete exhibit of this information. The accompanying table shows general results.

Of the 519,814 persons of school age attending school or college, there were 431,624 attending the common or public schools. These were in the schools of the eighth grade or lower or the ungraded schools. There were of those attending the private schools 18,429. This includes parochial and other schools. There were 59,680 who attended high schools. There were 10,081 who attended college. Of all the persons attending school 187,009 or 36 per cent were between the ages of five and ten years and the remainder were between the ages of ten and twenty-one years.

Of the 491,304 who in 1914 were in the public schools, not all the year, but a portion of the year, 12.1 per cent were in the public high schools.

SCHOOL ATTENDANCE.

The number of persons of school age in attendance in schools and colleges in the year 1914 was 519,814, which is a reduction from 529,491 reported for 1904. This reduction harmonizes with the statistics gathered through the department of public instruction which indicate a reduction in the enrollment in the schools of the State. The report of the State Superintendent showed a total enrollment in the schools for 1914 of 517,559. The tables elsewhere giving age classes for the population also confirm this, by showing that the number of persons under twenty-one years of age has declined in the State in ten years.

The accompanying table shows the school attendance in 1914 by age classes, and also the number of months of such school attendance in each age class. The greatest change between 1904 and 1914 is among the persons between ten and eighteen years of age, there having been a decline of 14,608 in the number of persons of this age class attending school. There was an increase of the younger pupils in school and a slight increase among those over eighteen years of age.

As to the number of months attendance in school, the comparison is favorable. Of all persons attending school in 1914, 59.7 per cent were in school nine months or more as compared with 48.1 per cent ten years ago. These who attended less than nine months are proportionately not as numerous as they were ten years ago. This would indicate that, while school enrollment is on the decrease by reason of a smaller number of persons of school age, yet those who do go to school attend for a longer period in each year than formerly.

The number of males attending school in 1914 was 262,259, and the number of females 257,555. The difference of 4,704 in favor of the males is not as great as it was ten years ago when the difference was 8,033. It will be observed, however, by the table showing school attendance that the male students do not attend school as many months of the year, especially in the older age classes, as do the female students.

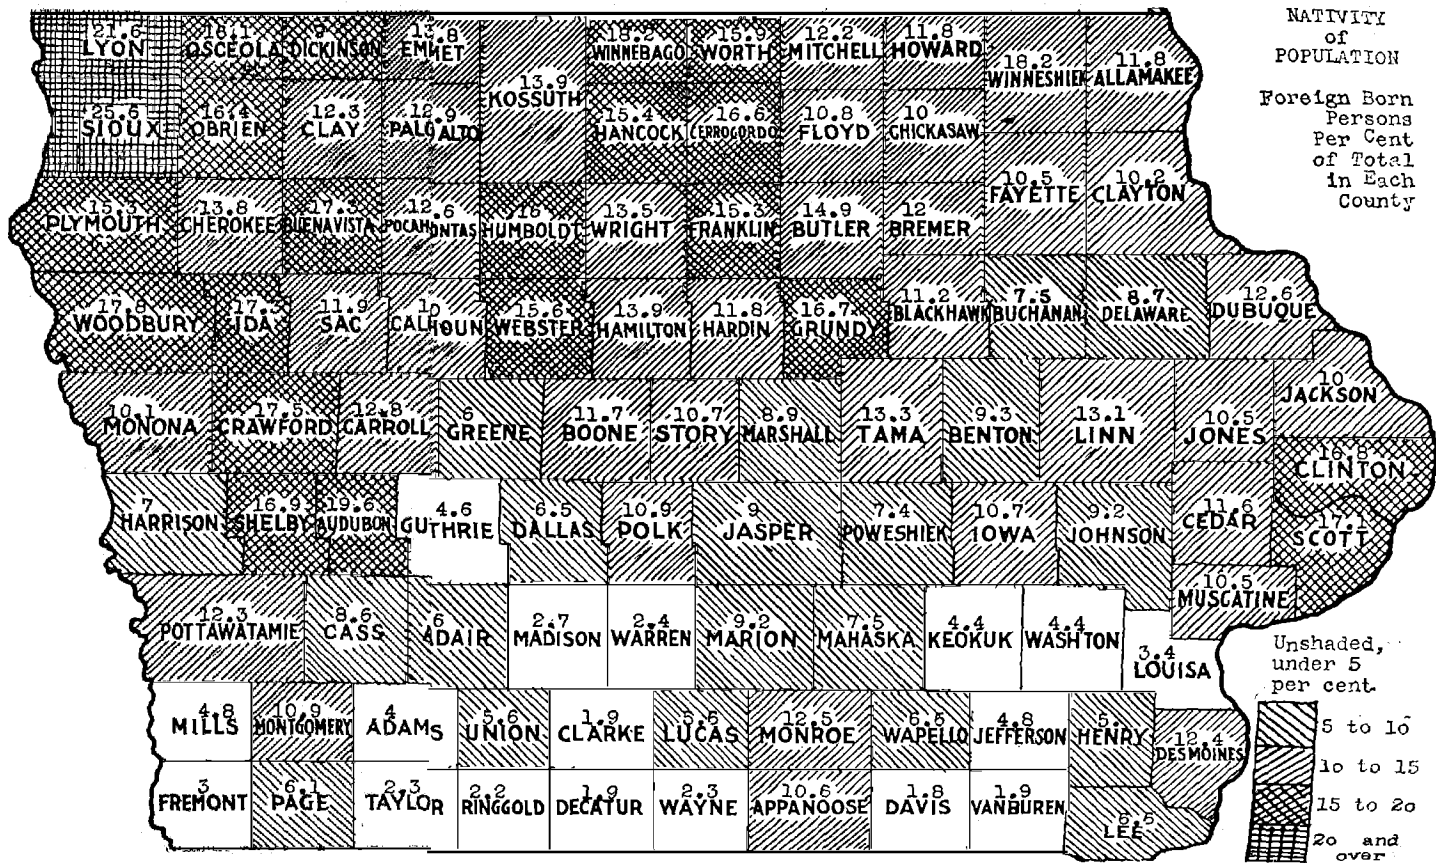

GENERAL NATIVITY.

The proportion of native born to foreign born population in Iowa is now almost exactly as eleven to one. The contrast is becoming more pronounced.

The American or native born population is now 88.8 per cent of the whole and the foreign born 11.2 per cent. The native born white population numbers 88.1 per cent of the whole as against 82.5 per cent ten years ago. The colored population is about the same in proportion as in the past; the chief change being in the proportion of foreign born white persons.

The relative proportions in the population, as between native and foreign born, are gradually changing in the direction of a more nearly native born population.

The native born are divided into classes as follows: White of native born parents, 1,422,464; white of foreign or mixed parentage, one or both parents being of foreign birth, 654,855; colored, 16,578.

The 264,169 foreign born are all white except 166.

Each enumeration for many years has shown an increase in the number of native born white of native parents, and there are now more of the native born white of foreign or mixed parentage than ever before. The colored population has shown slow increase and the proportion has remained substantially unchanged. The Indians living in Iowa are included with the colored.

Since 1890 there has been a net increase of 507,099 in the number of persons native born, or 35 per cent.

In the same twenty-five years there has been a net increase of 61,928 in the number of foreign born persons, or 19 per cent.

The number in each general nativity class is as follows:

The uniform and gradual increase in certain of these classes and decrease in the other is the marked feature of this table. It indicates a tendency which is permanent and likely to continue for some time. The percentages obtained from this table for the same years shows plainly this tendency. There is also given a column showing the general nativity percentages for the entire United States according to the federal census of 1910:

As compared with the federal census showing for the United States and for other states the Iowa enumeration shows that this state is in the class of states with relatively large proportion of native born persons. The proportion of foreign born is smaller in Iowa by 3.5 per cent than for the United States in 1910. It is smaller than for any one of the general groups of states into which the nation is divided except the southern states. It is smaller than any of the states outside of the southern group except Missouri, Indiana, Kansas and New Mexico.

The census shows the Iowa foreign born to number 11.2 per cent foreign born as against a New England proportion of 27.9 per cent; the Middle Atlantic states, 25.1 per cent; the Pacific group, 24.7 per cent. The states immediately surrounding Iowa showed percentages of foreign born as follows: Minnesota, 26.2; Wisconsin, 22; Illinois, 21.4; South Dakota, 17.3; Nebraska, 14.8; Missouri, 7.

Iowa has a much smaller proportion of colored than the United States as a whole. The percentage in the United States for 1910 was 10.7 per cent for negroes and .4 per cent for Asiatic and other races, while Iowa showed a fraction of over .7 per cent for both.

In the United States there were, in 1910, 53.8 per cent native white of native parents, while for Iowa the proportion was 60.3; the native white of foreign or mixed parentage was 25.5 per cent, while in Iowa it was 27.8 per cent.

DISTRIBUTION AS TO NATIVITY.

The tables on general nativity show some relation between geographic position in the State and the nativity question. In general, the native born population predominates in the southern part of the state, while in the northern, which is of more recent settlement, there is a larger proportion of the foreign born and their descendants.

The native white of native parents are to be found in greatest numbers along the southern border of the state. Of the ten counties having the largest percentage of this class of general nativity, seven are on the southern line of the state, and the other three are in the south central part of the State. These same ten counties show the lowest percentage of the foreign born. In this respect, Davis county leads with only 1.8 per cent foreign born. Clarke, Decatur and Van Buren each have 1.9 per cent foreign born.

The highest percentage of native white of foreign or mixed parentage is in Winnebago county, and this county with four others having a very high percentage in this general nativity class are on the northern line of the state. All of the others having more than 40 per cent of native white of foreign or mixed parentage are in the northern half of the state.

The colored population is to be found largely in the southern half of the State, except in one county where the Indians increase the percentage. Monroe county now leads all others in the proportion of colored population.

The largest percentage of foreign born in the state is in Sioux county which has more than one-quarter of its population foreign born. The adjoining county of Lyon comes next. Other counties in which the foreign born constitute a large proportion of the population are well scattered over the state, including Audubon, Winnebago, Woodbury, Crawford, Buena Vista, Ida, Scott and Shelby.

INDIAN POPULATION.

The Indian population of Iowa is almost wholly in Tama county, where there are 357 Indians. They are of the Sac and Fox tribe with possibly a very few Iowa Indians. They occupy land purchased by them and held in trust for them by the United States. The federal enumerators reported 295 of them in 1910 and 376 in 1900, and the state census for 1905 listed 346 of them. The federal census also reported 176 scattered over the state but no separate account has been kept as to these.

Of the 357 in Tama county on the "Sac and Fox Reservation," 186 are males and 171 females. The age classes of the population are as follows:

	Males	Females	Total
Under 5 years of age.....	23	28	51
Five to 10 years of age.....	19	17	36
Ten to 18 years of age.....	28	26	54
Eighteen to 21 years of age.....	7	16	23
Twenty-one to 45 years of age.....	82	51	133
Forty-five years of age and over....	27	33	60
	186	171	357

No separate record was kept of the Chinese, Japanese and others, but all are included with the colored population.

NATIVITY IN URBAN LIFE.

The general nativity of residents of cities and the larger towns has been separated from other information as to nativity, and Table No. 17 shows the general nativity distribution in all incorporated places of 1,000 population or more.

The accompanying table affords a comparison now and ten years ago as to general nativity of the population of all incorporated places of 1,000 and over:

Total.....	1,400,190	1,357,408

The proportion of native white of native parents to the total population is larger in the cities and towns than it is in the country and smaller towns. Divided on the line of places of population of one thousand or over, it is found that the percentage of native born white of native parents is 60.8 per cent against 59.9 in the rest of the State which includes the towns under one thousand and the rural population. But in both the cities and the country the proportion is now larger than it was ten years ago.

In the case of the native born of foreign or mixed parentage the situation is reversed. The proportion for the State is 27.8 per cent; for the cities and larger towns it is 25.7 per cent; for the country and small towns it is 29.2 per cent.

In the case of the foreign born white, the percentage for the State is 11.2 per cent; in the cities and larger towns it is 12.2 per cent; and in the country and small towns it is 10.5 per cent. This shows that the foreign born are proportionately more numerous in the cities than in the towns and country. The decrease in the total of foreign born was greater in the small towns and rural communities, however, than elsewhere. In 1905, the proportion was 12.8 per cent and is now 10.5 per cent showing that the immigration of the foreign born is not directed to the towns or rural communities so much as to the larger towns and cities. The tendency of the colored population is to concentrate in the cities. The colored population in cities and towns over one thousand is now 12,894, an increase of 3,748 in ten years. The population in the other half of the State is now 3,850, a decrease of 1,835 in ten years.

The proportion of foreign born white is largest in the cities of first class in Iowa, being 14.2 per cent of the population of those cities as compared with 11.2 per cent of the population of the entire State. In the towns of one thousand or over, the proportion of foreign born is 11.5 per cent or substantially the same as for the State, but in the cities of second class, the proportion is 9.4 per cent of foreign born which is a smaller per cent even than in the country and small towns.

It is, therefore, found as a necessary result of this computation that in the cities of the second class, or between two thousand and fifteen thousand population, is the largest proportion of native born persons or more than 90 per cent of their population.

It is in the towns of one thousand or over that we find the smallest percentage of colored population in the State, one-tenth of 1 per cent. The proportion of colored, however, in the small towns and rural communities is decreasing, as shown by the table.

An analysis of the nativity record for the cities and towns discloses some surprising things. Only those cities and towns of one thousand population or over are considered. There are twenty-one such places with 85 per cent or more of inhabitants native white of native parents. There were only seventeen such places ten years ago. The highest per cent of native white of native parents is in Allerton, 92.91 per cent. Ten years ago, the highest percentage was in Milton, 93.7 per cent. None of the places having such large proportion of native white of native parents is a city of the first class and most of them are incorporated towns.

There are twenty-one cities and towns with more than 37 per cent of native white of foreign or mixed parentage. The highest percentage is in Remsen, 50.73 per cent, whereas ten years ago, the highest percentage was in Marengo, 67.4 per cent. The cities of Dubuque and Davenport appear in this list, the only cities of first class in the list.

There are seventeen cities and towns with more than 20 per cent of foreign born population, the highest being Sioux Center, 36.55 per cent. Sioux City is the only city of the first class appearing in the list. Of towns having the smallest proportion of foreign born, Adel and Moulton are tied for chief honors with only 1.33 per cent foreign born. There are ten with less than 2 per cent foreign born.

The largest proportion of the colored population is in Keokuk, 7.74 per cent, but there are fifteen places with more than 2 per cent colored. These include Des Moines, Ottumwa and Fort Madison of the larger cities.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN BORN.

The proportion of native born, or those born in the United States, has been steadily increasing as compared with total population. As would be expected, also, the proportion of those born in Iowa has been increasing, showing the decline of movement of population from other states and also the decline of movement out of Iowa of the native born.

The native born population numbers 2,093,897, of which 1,061,440 are males and 1,032,457 are females. Native born white of native parents number 1,422,464, of foreign or mixed parentage 654,855, and colored 16,578.

The increase in the native born in ten years was 166,142, of which increase there were among those of native parents 158,021, of foreign or mixed parentage 1,798, and colored 6,323.

The Iowa born natives number 1,551,914, which is an increase in ten years of 171,933. The natives born in states other than Iowa number 541,983, which is a decrease of 5,791 in ten years.

The Iowa born population numbers 74 per cent of the natives, and of the Iowa born there are 780,509 males and 771,405 females.

The native Americans came to Iowa in larger number from Illinois than from any other state of the union, though practically every state is represented. Other states contributing to the Iowa population follow in this order, namely: Ohio, Missouri, Wisconsin, Indiana, Pennsylvania, New York, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas and on down the list. Ten years ago Pennsylvania was in third place among the contributing states but has dropped to sixth and Missouri has risen from seventh to third place.

The Illinois contingent showed a larger increase than from any other state, but there has been a material increase in the number of natives in Iowa from Missouri, Nebraska, Minnesota, Kansas and South Dakota, the states near to Iowa. There is also immigration into Iowa from most of the western states, and a decrease in the movement toward Iowa from the middle and eastern states.

The total number of foreign born residents of Iowa, exclusive of the colored persons, is 264,169—a net decrease of 18,128 since 1905. As in ten years ago, the largest number of foreign born came from Germany, the number being 88,450 which is a decrease from 110,167. The German born residents of Iowa now comprise 33.48 per cent of the foreign born population as against 39.03 per cent ten years ago. Next in importance in the foreign born population are those from Sweden, 25,683 and this, also, is a material decrease from ten years before. There are 24,239 from Norway and 18,955 from Denmark. The Scandinavian countries, therefore, supply the largest part of the foreign population of Iowa. From the territory of the British Empire there came into Iowa from England, 15,741; from Ireland, 14,299; from Scotland, 4,947; from Wales, 2,048 and from Canada, 11,080. From Austria the number is 7,655; from Bohemia, 9,500 and from Hungary, 1,300. There has been a material increase in the number of foreign born who came from Italy, the number being 6,261. Russia is represented by 9,896 and Greece by 4,678. The population from Turkey, Spain, Mexico, China and France is comparatively small. There has been a decrease in the immigration from northern European countries and an increase generally from the southern European countries.

YEARS IN THE UNITED STATES.

The table showing the classification of foreign born by age classes and sex and years in the United States indicates that the immigration into Iowa from foreign lands has been slightly increasing in very recent years after a marked decline of a number of years. The proportion of foreign born white who have been in the United States less than five years has increased from 10.6 per cent in 1905 to 11.3 per cent in 1915. The proportion of foreign born white in Iowa who have been five years and less than ten years in the United States increased from 6 per cent to 9.4 per cent. Those of the class between ten and twenty years in the United States decreased from 28.2 per cent to 10.8 per cent showing that the immigration into the United States, between ten and twenty years ago, either was in marked decline or the immigrants did not finally locate in Iowa in large number.

The class of foreign born white who have been twenty years and more in the United States increased in the State of Iowa from 154,364 to 180,204. This indicates that Iowa has become the final home of a good many who came to this country more than twenty years ago and that those who came into Iowa a good many years ago have shown no disposition to move out of the State. The enumeration shows that of the foreign born white in Iowa, there has been a small increase in the number who are under eighteen years of age; a decrease of those who are between eighteen and twenty-one years of age; and a decrease in all those who are older.

AGE AND SEX RELATED TO NATIVITY.

The enumeration discloses some interesting facts regarding the tendencies of population as a whole with respect to the age classes and sex division. Comparisons are made as between the sexes for all the general age classes under the enumeration of 1915 and as between the total of all age classes, comparing 1905 and 1915.

AGE, SEX, NATIVITY

INCREASING AVERAGE AGE.

The proportion of old persons as compared with young persons is increasing in Iowa. The average age of the people is greater than it was ten years ago. The older classes of persons are on the increase more rapidly than the younger classes. This tendency is more marked among the native born than with either the foreign born or the colored.

As to the class of persons under five years of age, there was an actual increase in number but slight decrease in the proportion of the population. The only material change was a decrease of 2.7 per cent among the native born white of foreign or mixed parentage.

As to persons aged five to ten years there was also a decrease of .7 per cent in the State. Again the material change was among the native white of foreign or mixed parentage, showing a decrease in this age class of 3.5 per cent.

With the persons aged ten to eighteen years there was a decrease for the State of 1.7 per cent in the ten years. Among the foreign born there was an increase of .2 per cent; among the native born of native parents a decrease of .8 per cent; but among the native born of foreign or mixed parentage a decrease of 5.0 per cent.

With those of ages eighteen to twenty-one years there was a decrease of .3 per cent, but no great difference in the proportionate change as between different nativity classes.

With the persons of ages twenty-one to forty-five years there was an increase from 35.1 per cent to 36.3 per cent for the State. There was an increase of 4.0 per cent among the native white of foreign or mixed parentage and of 1.1 per cent among the native white of native parents. But there was a decrease of 2.3 per cent among the foreign born of this age class and an increase of 1.3 per cent among the colored.

With the oldest of the age classes the increase for the State was 2.0 per cent, with decrease of .2 among the natives of native parents; an increase of 8 per cent among the natives of foreign or mixed parentage and an increase of 2.3 per cent among the foreign born.

The figures show, also, that the largest families are among the native white of native parents, or at least that with them the surviving children are proportionally more numerous than with others. Of children, or all under eighteen years of age, the number relative to the total of each nativity class is as follows: native white of native parents, 43.4 per cent; native white of foreign or mixed parentage, 31.1 per cent; colored, 28.5 per cent; foreign born, 4.3 per cent.

The fact of greater average age of the population is shown again by the facts as disclosed in regard to the proportion of the total population under twenty-one years of age and those over that age. In 1905 the minors numbered 44.5 per cent of the total population and the adults 55.5 per cent. In 1915 the minors numbered 41.3 per cent and the adults 58.7 per cent.

The preponderance of males in Iowa has been on the increase the past ten years.

There are 67,910 more males than females in Iowa as against a difference of 57,517 ten years ago. This means there are 1,059 males to each thousand females, an increase in the decade of eight per thousand in the disproportion.

The difference is greatest among those who are foreign born. There are 1,344 males to each thousand females among the inhabitants of Iowa who were born in foreign countries. Ten years ago the number was 1,229. The preponderance is most marked with those foreign born between the ages of eighteen and twenty inclusive which is an age when immigration is most common.

With the native white of foreign or mixed parentage, the difference is represented by 1,014 which is less by three to the thousand than ten years ago. Among the native white of native parents, there has been an increase in the difference from 1,030 to 1,033 in the ten years.

The colored males number 1,059 to the thousand females which is an increase of eight per thousand in the number of males.

The age at which the conditions are reversed is that between eighteen and twenty-one years, at which age the number of males in the total population is eleven per thousand less than the females.

The other classes where the usual conditions are reversed are the classes of younger colored and younger foreign born which are so small as to be of little importance.

NATURALIZATION.

There are of the foreign born white males between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five a total of 29,423 who were reported not naturalized, and forty-five years of age or over, 5,801 not naturalized. There was also reported of the colored persons twenty-one years of age or over, sixty-two who are not naturalized. There are thus 35,286 foreign born males twenty-one years of age or over who are not naturalized.

But 14,595 of these foreign born adult males are not eligible to naturalization because of not having been residents a sufficient time, and the accompanying table excludes them from consideration.

Not all of the foreign born males over twenty-one years of age are eligible to naturalization. Those who have not yet been here five years are barred from naturalization by law. In order to provide proper comparisons, these are excluded from consideration.

The number of foreign born males eligible to naturalization and not naturalized has materially increased in ten years. With almost the same number of foreign born in 1915 as in 1905 the number of not naturalized increased from 9,610 to 20,691. The proportion not naturalized among the foreign born eligible males increased from 6.9 per cent to 15.5 per cent.

The increase in the foreign born eligible to citizenship but not naturalized was almost wholly among those who are under forty-five years of age, the change being from 9.7 per cent to 34.5 per cent.

While there are in 1915 of the foreign born males, twenty-one years of age and over, 5,148 fewer in Iowa than in 1905, yet the number who are eligible to naturalization is 12,501 less. This is due to the fact that the present contingent of foreign born males of voting age has been in the United States a shorter time than in the case ten years ago. The failure to accept the responsibilities of American citizenship is most marked among the younger persons foreign born who are of voting age and the table showing years of residence in the United States of the foreign born indicates an increase in the number of those from whom naturalization might be expected but who are comparatively recent immigrants.

The table showing the source of the recent immigration and its changing character also throws some light on the increasing number of those who are not naturalized.

It is to be inferred from the tables, also, that the greater proportion of the foreign born males of voting age not naturalized remain alien by choice and not from necessity; for while there are 14,595 who have not been here long enough to secure their papers, there are 20,691 who have been here long enough but have not become naturalized.

The more recent accessions to population show a marked reluctance in accepting the responsibilities of American citizenship.

VOTERS AND VOTES.

The number of voters in the State is now larger than ever before, despite an increasing number of foreign born persons of voting age who have not qualified. The number of voters varies by reason of naturalization more than otherwise, and the number of actual voters is always much less than the number of males of voting ages.

The table showing the males of voting age takes no account of the foreign born males who are not naturalized nor of the Indians who by reason of their tribal condition are not citizens of the United States. The proportion of foreign born white males, as compared with the total of males over twenty-one years of age, is larger than in the case of actual voters, but shows a gradual decline from other years.

Total	618,974	607,365	684,639

The voting strength of Iowa in 1915 is 684,639, this being the number of males twenty-one years of age or over either natives or naturalized foreign born.

This list excludes those foreign born males, old enough to vote but not naturalized, and also the Indians. Of the foreign born white males of voting age there are 35,224 not naturalized. There are also sixty-two colored foreign born males of voting age reported not naturalized. The 109 Indian males of voting age are excluded.

Comparing the voting list of 1905 and 1915, both being state enumeration and the basis substantially the same, it is found that in the ten years there was an increase of 47,343 in the number of voters native born of native parents and an increase of 41,278 in the number of voters native born of foreign or mixed parentage. Of the foreign born voters there has been a decrease of 23,612. The increase of colored voters was 656.

A comparison with the federal census of 1910 is not possible since the federal enumerators found 56,307 foreign born males of voting age in Iowa not naturalized, which accounts for the apparent reduction in number of voters in 1910.

While only 11.2 per cent of the total population of the State is foreign born, yet 15 per cent of the voters are foreign born, despite the failure of naturalization of many who are eligible; and this is accounted for because of the very large excess of males of voting age among the foreign born.

VOTERS WHO FAIL TO VOTE.

Comparison of these tables showing actual voting strength of the State with the returns from the elections shows that over 60 per cent of the actual voters go to the polls and vote at the general elections.

There was no election in 1905, but in the next year there was a general election and the total vote on governor was 432,405, showing that, if the number of voters remained as in the year before, there were 186,569 voters who remained at home.

In 1910, the year of the United States census, there was an election and the total vote for governor came within 194,401 of equaling the number of voters. Therefore 30.3 per cent of the voters did not vote.

If the vote of the State on governor for 1914 be compared with the census figures as to number of voters in 1915 it is found that 262,042 voters failed to vote, or 38.3 per cent.

The largest total vote of the State was in 1900 on presidential electors, aggregating 530,353. This was the result of a spirited presidential campaign. The actual number of voters is not of record, but if there was the same proportion of voters to persons of voting age as now, then in 1900 there were over 73,000 stay at home voters, and only 87.8 per cent of the voters exercised their right.

If the vote of 1912 is compared with the voting strength as shown by the United States census of two years before it will be found that 76 per cent of the vote of the state was cast.

CONJUGAL CONDITION.

The enumeration of persons with regard to conjugal condition is far from satisfactory or perfect, as indicated by the fact that the enumerators found more men who are married than women who are married, but aside from this, the figures afford a basis for some comparisons.

According to the reports received, the proportion of married persons in the state is smaller than ten years ago, there being 38.8 per cent of the entire population married. As would be expected, the greater number of those who are married are between the ages of twenty-one and forty-five years. Of the persons under twenty-one years of age, who are married, there are 2,795 males and 15,309 females. Among the older persons, who are married, the males predominate.

There has been a slight decrease in the proportion of persons who are widows or widowers and a slight increase in the proportion of those who are divorced.

IOWA IN THE WARS.

There are in Iowa 13,059 survivors of the Civil War, living more than fifty years after the close of the war.

The first regiment organized from Iowa was mustered in May 14, 1861, and the last was mustered out June 22, 1866. In the sixty Iowa organizations there were men as follows: Infantry, 47 regiments, 56,067 men; cavalry, 9 regiments, 15,822 men; batteries, 4, with 920 men; miscellaneous organizations, 5,250 men; total, 78,059.

There were killed of the Iowa men, in battle, 2,017; died of wound, disease, etc., 10,011; wounded, 8,282.

Prior to this, or at other times, there were enlisted from Iowa for Indian or border wars 1,281; also a number for the Mexican war and in the state militia for various purposes.

For the Spanish-American war there were enlisted in Iowa four regiments of infantry, one signal corps, one company of immunes, two batteries, which with officers appointed to United States volunteers made an aggregate of 5,919. The casualties were one killed, 38 wounded and 163 died of disease.

Since publication of the State Census of 1905 there has been published a complete roster of the surviving soldiers and sailors living in the State. The compilation of facts for the present census brings the record to date, as to the survivors of the Civil War.

The number of veterans of the Civil War still living in Iowa in 1915 was 13,059. As compared with ten years before, this is a little more than 51 per cent, or in other words, more than half of those who were living in Iowa ten years ago are still living. The proportion of those living in the different arms of the military service remains about as in previous enumerations. There are 10,202 of the Civil War veterans who were in the infantry service.

The survivors of Iowa regiments far outnumber those of regiments from other states and from the general service, there being 5,473 of the surviving war veterans living in the State who served in Iowa regiments.

The table showing the age classification of Civil War veterans living in Iowa at this time shows that the largest age class is that of seventy years, there being 1,371 of the veterans seventy years old living in Iowa. The enumerators reported five who are sixty-four years old, the youngest class possible. They also reported three who are ninety-five; two who are ninety-six; one ninety-seven; one ninety-eight; and two ninety-nine years of age.

By dividing the surviving veterans into groups according to age, there being five years in each group, the percentage of survivors for each age class is reached. The age class of fifty-five to fifty-nine of ten years ago corresponds to the age class of sixty-four to sixty-nine in 1915. Of this class 66.1 per cent are survivors. The largest age class ten years ago was that of the ages sixty to sixty-four, now seventy to seventy-four and of this class 65.8 are survivors. Of those who, ten years ago, were sixty-five to sixty-nine, 48.3 now survive; of those who were seventy to seventy-four, 36.1 survive; of those who were seventy-five to seventy-nine, 25.7 survive; of those who were eighty to eighty-four, 8.2 survive; of those who were eighty-five to eighty-nine, 6.4 survive; of those who were over ninety, ten years ago, none survive.

The percentages here given indicate a surprisingly low death rate among persons of this age.

IOWA PHYSICAL CHARACTERISTICS.

The State is rectangular in form and, according to the United States Geological survey, now embraces 55,586 square miles of land area and 561 square miles of water surface, a total of 56,147 square miles.

Every county of the State is an agricultural county. The surface is largely prairie, broken by streams and ridges or hills. The streams are fringed with timber and many groves have been cultivated. The elevation of the zero of the river gauge at Keokuk is 478 feet and the highest point, in the vicinity of Ocheyedan, Osceola county, is a little over 1,600 feet. As the top of the bluff at Keokuk is 100 feet above the gage the range in elevation is only about 1,100 feet.

The soil is a rich and deep glacial deposit filled with plant food in most accessible form. The climate also favors production. The cold of winter, while not as severe as in the state farther north, is sufficient to disintegrate the soil; and the rains and heat of summer, not as intense as in states farther south, are sufficient to insure bounteous crops. Situated near the geographical center of the United States, the climate of Iowa is continental in type. This implies a wide range in temperature, winters of considerable severity, summers of almost tropical heat and a large percentage of sunshine. There being but little range in elevation of the various sections, the climate is similar with only such variations of temperature and rainfall as result from latitude and location with reference to the pathway of the cyclones which pass eastward over the continent.

The average annual temperature for the state is 47.4 degrees. By seasons the averages are as follows, viz.: winter, 20.8; spring, 47.5; summer, 71.7; autumn, 49.7. The highest temperature registered in Iowa by a standard thermometer is 113 degrees, occurring in July, 1901, and the lowest is 47 degrees below zero occurring in 1912. These extremes in temperature are rendered more endurable to man and beast by the prevalent dryness of the air at the time of their occurrence.

The largest annual amount of rainfall is in the southeastern portion of the state, where the average for the year is about 37 inches. It decreases gradually toward the northwest where the average amount is about 27 inches. The average for the state is 31.97 inches. During the six crop months, April to September, inclusive, more than 71 per cent of the annual precipitation occurs; and, during the four months of principal crop growth, May to August, inclusive, fully 52 per cent of the annual amount occurs.

From November to March the precipitation is light and only about 20 per cent of the annual amount. It comes, however, mostly in the form of snow, which is the best form possible for the protection of grasses and for preventing the washing and leaching of the soil in plowed fields.

The severe storms of winter, commonly known as "blizzards," are rare, and when they do occur do but little damage except in delaying railroad traffic for short periods of time.

During the winter months the precipitation is considerable heavier over the eastern part of the state than it is in the western; but in the summer months conditions are reversed, the western part receiving a slightly larger amount. Much of the rainfall comes in the form of gentle showers, but occasionally, during the passage of a cyclonic area from the southwest to the lower lakes, heavy rainfall is general over a large part of the State and continues from one to two days. Many of the summer showers are attended by thunder and lightning, and a few by heavy downpours of rain, light to heavy hail and wind squalls, which do considerable damage to crops and buildings; but the area covered by such storms is small. Once in a great while a typical tornado strikes some small section of the state during May, June or July, but storms of that character are no more liable to occur in Iowa than in other portions of the mid-continent region.

From the middle of September to the middle of November, and occasionally to the middle of December, the weather is delightful. The sky is mostly clear, the days are warm and the nights just crisp enough to be a tonic and invigorator to man and beast.

Occasionally during the summer or early fall months short periods of drouthy weather prevails over all or part of the State, but there has been more damage done by an excess than by the absence of moisture. As the farming interests are so diversified, neither drouths nor the more destructive floods have ever caused an entire crop failure. During May and June, or the season of heaviest rainfall, it frequently happens that much of the flat prairie land in the north central part of the State and all the low bottom lands along the rivers become too wet or are flooded. These conditions offer a wide field of operations to the engineer in draining the flat and preventing floods on the bottom lands.

HEALTH AND LIFE OF THE PEOPLE.

The birth rate in Iowa has been increasing in recent years and the death rate has varied but little. For every 100,000 of population in the State there are annually 934 deaths and 1,588 births. The average number of deaths in the State for the past six years has been 22,020, and the average number of births 37,467 in seven years.

There was reported for seven years the following number of births in the state:

1908	33,425	1912	37,372
1909	36,393	1913	38,521
1910	35,615	1914	44,219
1911	36,728	Average	37,467

The deaths in the State, from all causes, for a period of six years, as reported to the registrar of vital statistics, is shown in the accompanying table, which gives the deaths by years divided according to age classes.

It will be seen that while the number of deaths fluctuates the average is about 22,000 a year and the number reported for 1915 was not as large as the number for 1911.

The table showing the number of deaths from various of the well recognized preventable, infectious and epidemic, diseases, indicates that health conditions in the State have been materially improved and are more favorable to longevity than ever before. There has been a decrease in the number of deaths from each one of the diseases which are most destructive and almost complete elimination of some that have been regarded as most dangerous.

It will also be noted that there has been a marked decrease in the number of deaths among the younger persons. Infant mortality was lower in 1915 than in any save one year of the six. There has been an increase in the number of deaths among old persons and this is in full accord with the statistics as to age classes in the State, which show that there has been an increase in the number of old persons.

The number of deaths of persons under ten years of age in 1905 was 23 per cent of the total deaths for the year; for 1915 the deaths of persons under ten years of age was 18 per cent of the total for the year.

OCCUPATIONS OF THE PEOPLE.

The information obtained by enumerators as to persons engaged in gainful pursuits represented a canvass of 788,684 persons, which is 5,016 more than ten years ago. The comparison is not entirely accurate because of the fact that in 1905 the inquiry was as to all persons ten years of age or over and for 1915 as to all fourteen years or over, due to the effect of child labor laws. Table No. 13 gives the information in detail.

The occupations are divided into five general classes. Each of these classes shows a smaller number of persons listed than ten years ago, except one. The persons employed in trade and transportation increased by 70,272 in the ten years; those engaged in agricultural pursuits decreased 32,996; those in professional service decreased 2,342; in domestic and personal service the decrease was 7,702 and among the unclassified laborers the decrease was 16,965. The report shows an increase of 16,720 in the number of males engaged in gainful occupations in general and a decrease of 13,677 in the number of females.

With special reference to the employment of women, it is shown that, while in 1905 there were 10,458 females employed under eighteen years of age, only 5,704 were reported for 1915. The decrease in the number of females employed between the ages of eighteen and twenty-one was 4,060; the decrease in the number of females employed between twenty-one and forty-five years of age was 3,739 and the decrease of those over forty-five years of age was 1,124. It is thus seen that the net decrease of 13,677 in the number of women employed was common to all ages.

A striking feature of the report, as shown by comparison with 10 years ago, is the decrease in the number of persons under 18 years of age employed. The total number reported for this year is 20,693, which is a decrease of 25,733 from 10 years ago. A part of this decrease must be due to the fact that persons between the ages of 10 and 14 have been left out of consideration this year, but some of it is probably due to lessened employment of young persons in gainful pursuits. The decrease in the number of females was 4,754 and in the number of males 20,979. Among persons of this youngest age class, there was a decrease from 21,255 in 1905 to 6,222 for 1915 in the number employed in agricultural pursuits. This represents the major part of the decrease in the employment of young persons. The number of females reported employed in agricultural pursuits 10 years ago was 1,105 and this year only 89. In some other lines of work, the conditions were reversed. In professional service there was reported for 1905, 269 females and this year 197; in domestic and personal service, there was reported 10 years ago 5,800 females and this time 2,522; in trade and transportation there was reported 10 years ago 1,050 females, and in 1915, 1,746; in manufacturing and mechanical pursuits, the number of females employed decreased from 1,791 in 1905, to 1,105 in 1915.

The number of women employed in all gainful occupations 10 years ago, between the ages of 18 and 21, was 23,529 which was reduced in the 10 years to 19,469; those between 21 and 45 years of age numbered 72,682 and this was reduced to 68,942; the number over 45 years of age was reduced from 17,123 to 15,999. It will, therefore, be seen that the greatest reduction in number of women employed was among those under 18 years of age.

HOMES AND THEIR VALUE.

The enumerators secured information with regard to 336,012 homes and their ownership and value which is 35,237 more than 10 years ago.

Comparison of the two census periods shows that homes owned are now regarded as worth more than twice as much as homes 10 years ago.

The reported value of the homes owned 10 years ago was $1,449,456,274 and the increase of value in the 10 years amounted to $1,544,675,424.

The report shows, also, an increase of 2,205 in the total number of homes incumbered. The number incumbered has not kept pace with the total number of homes owned, as the per cent of the number incumbered was reduced in the 10 years from 32.1 per cent to 32 per cent. The amount of the incumbrance was increased, but not as much as the aggregate value, so that the percentage of incumbrance was reduced from 15.2 to 14.2.

The number of homes owned, 336,012, compares favorably with other population statistics, since the number of couples of married persons is about 490,000 in the State. There is practically one home owned for every six persons in the State.

PRIVATE PROPERTY AND WEALTH.

Taxes are levied against property values as listed in the first instance by local assessors. These estimates being subject to review by various boards. The assessment for taxation in this manner is theoretically at actual value, the levies being generally placed against a taxable value which is 25 per cent of the assessed actual value.

The market value of property, privately owned, is probably about six and one-half billion dollars.

The per capita wealth of the state is over $2,760 on this basis.

VALUE OF LAND AND BUILDINGS.

The assessors secured information as to value of land and all other property for 1915 and reported the same to the proper officials for taxation and, at the same time, reported on separate cards to the State Executive Council the value placed on the property by its owners to be included in the census.

The assessed actual value of farm land and the buildings thereon for 1915 was $2,337,300,000. This was on 34,507,000 acres of farm land, giving an average of $67.73 an acre adjusted to $68.01 an acre.

For census use, returns were made on all tracts of ten acres or over including only 32,951,000 acres. The market value for census purposes on this area including the value of buildings was $3,992,-100,000. This gives an average market value of $121.15 for farm land and buildings per acre.

If to the aggregate market value of land and buildings reported to the census is added the value at the same rate per acre of the 1,556,000 acres in tracts of less than ten acres each, not included in the enumeration, the sum is $4,180,600,000. This would indicate that the assessors fixed as actual value for the assessment a price about 56 per cent of that which the owners reported as market value for census purposes.

The accompanying table shows a comparison of assessment and census figures for 1905 and 1915.

VALUE OF LIVE STOCK.

The live stock values reported for assessment as actual value for 1915 is found to be about 75 per cent of the market value placed upon the same live stock for census purposes. This is in part accounted for by the fact that young animals are not listed for taxation but were included in the enumeration so that for census purposes report was made on a much larger number of animals than for taxation purposes. The following table shows the comparison between assessment and enumeration for the years 1905 and 1915.

PROBABLE MARKET VALUE OF PROPERTY.

The market value of privately owned property is plainly much greater than the assessed actual value which for 1915 aggregated $4,055,607,770.

As to two of the important elements in the list of private property, the above tables give definite information as follows:

Reported market value, farm land and buildings.....	$4,180,600,000
Reported market value of all live stock.....	336,821,000

Total market value of land, buildings and live stock..$4,517,421,000

The live stock was given an assessed actual value of about 75 per cent of the reported market value. If other personal property was assessed on the same basis, then its market value would aggregate $1,719,083,000. By adding this sum to the market value of land, buildings and live stock and adding also the value of money which is reported for assessment at $275,361,000, the aggregate reached is $6,511,876,000.

A similar computation as to value ten years ago would show that the difference then, between assessed actual value and reported market value, was not quite as great as at the present time which would suggest that market values have risen more rapidly in ten years than the assessment thereon.

The accompanying table gives the assessment value at principal periods since statehood with the percentage of the assessed actual value to the probable market value and the per capita of wealth.

EXPANSION OF PROPERTY VALUES.

1915	1,220,423,255	4,055,607,770	63	6,511,900,000	2,761

The probable market value and the per capita is a purely unofficial estimate. The basis for this estimate as to 1915 is given above, but facts are not sufficiently available to make the same definite computation as to all the other years.

The per capita wealth given has relation to this estimated probable market value and shows that the present per capita wealth is $2,761. This is a conservative estimate.

ASSESSMENT OF PROPERTY FOR TAXATION.

The value of private property assessed for taxation purposes is reported to the State. A complete showing of assessments since the beginning of state history is made in Table No. 40. In some instances, in the early years of statehood, the values made of record are evidently partly estimated. Separate assessment of railroad and similar property commenced in 1872. Figures for recent years, as herein given, differ in some instances from other tables given because of use of the values after adjustment by the state board. A table is also given in Part III showing the reported assessed taxable value of all property, by counties, for 1905 and 1915. The assessment of money and credits appears in 1915 separately. The taxable value given is 25 per cent of estimated actual values, except in the case of money and credits where the two values are supposed to be identical.

The assessed taxable value in 1905 was $622,738,675, and in 1915 it was $945,061,505, exclusive of money and credits.

The assessed actual value in 1905 was therefore $2,490,954,700.

The assessed actual value in 1915 was $4,055,607,770, which includes the $275,361,750 of money and credits.

In ten years the assessed actual value of all property had been increased by over 62 per cent.

MONEY REPORTED FOR TAXATION.

There was no separation of the assessment of money and credits in 1905, but this is now done, and the money and credits assessment, both actual and taxable values, for 1915, of counties showing largest assessment, was as follows:

Scott$10,112,376	Jackson$ 4,542,784
Polk 8,468,780	Hardin 4,432,505

Washington 4,912,929	Woodbury 4,117,356
Clayton 4,764,954	Des Moines 4,109,846

In comparing personal property assessments for the ten year period it should be observed that in 1905 the money and credits were included while for 1915 they are separated. Personal property also includes live stock. The valuation of railroad and similar corporation property is analyzed further in connection with other railroad statistics.

REVENUE FOR PUBLIC PURPOSES.

The revenue available for use in carrying on the various governmental activities of the State of Iowa and its subordinate divisions aggregates over sixty million dollars annually.

Levies against property assessed for taxation provide the major part of the revenue. It has been officially computed that these levies average for the State, for 1915, 46.68 mills on the dollar of the assessed taxable valuation of property. The aggregate of the taxes levied for 1915, as reported to the State, was $50,676,033.

Other sources of revenue for public use are the fees received by county, city and state officials, interest on public money; special taxes on insurance companies, automobiles, collateral inheritances, etc.; fines, tuition and sales of produce.

Tabulation of annual revenue makes a showing as below, the computation being in each case for the most recent year available:

The average for the State of the consolidated tax levies for various years, as computed by the Executive Council as the basis for taxation of certain classes of property, has been as follows for ten years: 1906, 41.85 mills; 1907, 41.5 mills; 1908, 41.7 mills; 1909, 43.8 mills; 1910, 45.12 mills; 1911, 46.1 mills; 1912, 47 mills; 1913, 47.7 mills; 1914, 46.8 mills; 1915, 46.68 mills.

DIRECT TAX LEVIES.

In Table No. 41 will be found a record of the reported taxes levied since statehood, so far as a record has been kept of the same. In the earlier years of statehood the State apparently kept no record of any taxes save those levied for administrative purposes, and the printed reports show that the taxes were not all collected. Beginning with 1870 a different system prevailed and the counties were required to report to the State the assessments and the taxes levied for different purposes. From time to time new funds were added and many of these do not show in the table. The levies for insane support, the poor, railroad aid, court houses, etc., are not included. For a considerable period there was no separation of the highway and bridge funds from other county funds.

In the first year of statehood the State called on the counties to contribute, by direct taxes, $7,454.42 to the support of the State, then with a population of 102,388, which made about 7 cents for each person. By 1871 the state tax levy was made to yield $967,252 and the total of all tax levies amounted to $11,267,562. Then there was a reduction of total taxes for a period of years, followed by a gradual increase, so that for 1915 the aggregate was $50,676,033.

PER CAPITA OF TAXES.

The following table shows a comparison of taxes per capita of population for the different general purposes in 1871 and in 1915:

TAXES IN THE COUNTIES.

In Table No. 42 there is a comparative showing of the taxes levied in the state for 1905 and for 1915, covering a ten year period, giving total for each county, and with the assessed valuation of the property against which the levies are made. In the ten years the aggregate of taxes levied increased from $26,061,977 to $50,676,033, or a net increase of $24,614,056. This increase in ten years included for the state general revenue an increase of $195,826, for the county general revenue $2,110,399, for the municipal funds $3,303,860, for the roads $5,834,868 and for educational purposes $8,548,144. The remainder is divided between various county funds for special purposes.

There has been an increase in the amount of taxes levied by the counties paying the largest aggregate of taxes. The six with heaviest tax account for 1905 and the six for 1915 are as follows:

DIVISION OF TAXES

TAX LEVIES AND PURPOSES THEREOF.

Tax levies are made for specific purposes and the money derived therefrom is mainly devoted to the purposes indicated. The table below gives the division of the tax levies as made for ten years, grouped into six general classes, namely: the state general revenue fund, much of which is transferred to funds for schools, roads, etc.; the state investments, which represent money used for purchase of land and erection of permanent buildings; the county general revenue; the funds for cities and towns; for roads and bridges; for schools and colleges.

MISCELLANEOUS SOURCES OF REVENUE.

The public revenue aside from tax levies forms an increasingly large item in making up the funds from which expenditures are made in all departments of government. These miscellaneous items go into general funds or for support and current expenses. They include fees, interest, special taxes, special assessments, tuition and similar items. The principal sums derived in this way in recent years, so far as information is available, are:

Years.	State	County	Municipal	School	Colleges

INTEREST COLLECTIONS FOR PUBLIC USE.

In recent years the policy has been adopted for the State, and all departments of the State, of collecting interest on public money on deposit as well as that loaned out. The income from this source is now considerable, as shown by the following partially complete table. Interest on school and county deposits has been in vogue only a few years.

Years	State funds in banks	County funds in banks	School funds in banks	College endowments	Permanent school funds
1906	$ 19,417			$ 49,336	$ 219,947

Cities reported for 1915 $48,867 interest on municipal money.

FEDERAL AID IN IOWA.

There is also revenue to the State from federal aid given for specific purposes. There is received annually from the United States for aid in the work of the State College of Agriculture and the experiment station $90,000; the aid given by the United States for care of soldiers at the state home amounted in 1913 to $53,175; the apportionment to Iowa of the funds for the support of the national guard amounts for 1916 to $84,645.

EXPENDITURE OF THE PUBLIC FUNDS.

The money available for conduct of the public business and the enlargement and upkeep of the plant with which public business is done, is distributed through many agencies and for an infinite variety of purposes, and it is not easy to trace the money to its destination or to determine on an accurate classification of expenditures. Tax levies are for specific purposes but there is much overlapping of the uses to which these funds are put. Out of the state general revenue fund there are expenditures for education, militia, fairs, courts, bonuses, etc. County funds go to support of dependents in state institutions and for educational and other purposes. Municipal expenditures cover a great variety of purposes. Of the more than sixty million dollars of annual revenues for public use at least a part is counted twice, as where one fund is transferred to another. A large part of the payments out of the State treasury represents merely disbursement of money collected and turned over to be used for special purposes. Besides the cost of administration there are payments for judicial salaries, college support and investment in land and buildings. The automobile tax is collected by the State for the use of the highway funds used locally, but it appears as an expenditure out of the general revenue. The hunters' license fund also passes through the State treasury without really becoming a part of the general revenue fund. Expenditures or payments out of the general revenue fund of the State for the last biennial period and the one of ten years before have been as follows:

PAYMENTS OUT OF COUNTY FUNDS.

Payments out of the county funds are easily grouped as to general purposes. As to much of this, the county acts as a collecting and disbursing agent only, the money going through other hands for final disposition. The state tax goes to the State Treasurer for the state general revenue fund. The taxes devoted to state investments go also to the State Treasurer, thence into permanent investment in grounds and buildings for the state and state institutions. The educational funds include, in addition to funds for schools and colleges, the taxes for agricultural extension work. The funds for bridges and roads and for municipal purposes are clearly defined. All else are grouped under the general head of county purposes. These payments or expenditures following this general grouping are fully shown in the reports of the county accountants to the Auditor of State for 1914, tabulated as to each and every county in Table 43. The aggregate for each group of expenditures for 1914 is as follows:

State support, general state revenue.....	$ 3,340,335.23
Municipal, all cities and towns.....	9,205,879.00
Educational, schools and colleges.....	17,585,341.88
Bridges and roads	14,408,812.96
State investments and land	1,397,968.84
General county and other purposes.....	14,017,526.54
	$59,955,864.45

This aggregate of over $59,000,000 includes some duplication and therefore does not represent actual expenditure. It includes some transfer of funds, and probably the payment of debts or refunding of debts. But it indicates the volume of business done through county treasuries each year.

INVESTMENT EXPENDITURES IN TEN YEARS.

There are additions being made each year to the plant with which public business is being done, and especially in buildings and grounds and the equipment of the institutions of various kinds. These investments the past ten years, partly estimated, show:

Capitol ground purchase	$ 613,067.84
At Vinton	80,446.95
State Teachers' college	538,616.88
State University	2,081,954.73

EDUCATIONAL FUNDS COMPARED.

The funds which are expended for education come largely from direct taxes, but also from interest on public money, fines and forfeitures, fees, rentals and federal aid. The following shows the major items for 1906 and 1915, the items for the Teachers' College being half of the biennial period and therefore only approximate.

EXPENDITURES FOR HIGHWAYS.

The expenditures for highways and bridges in 10 years aggregated $67,665,496 exclusive of money borrowed. Of this all but $3,400,000 was secured by direct tax levies. The following table shows the tax levies for highway purposes and for bridge purposes for the 10-year period, which constitute the major part of the funds available for these two purposes. In addition there is, also, the automobile fund and some others, and to secure information as to the actual amount expended there should be added the funds derived from bond issues and transfers:

	Highways	Bridges
1906	$ 2,325,263	$ 1,967,546
1907	2,466,161	2,178,028

OTHER REVENUE.

The automobile tax, which is collected by the State and goes to the counties to increase their local highway funds, appears on the books of the State as an expenditure out of the state general revenue fund. In the biennial period 1910-1912 the amount distributed to the various road funds was $334,739.69. In the biennial period 1912-14 the amount distributed was $1,321,897.09. For the year 1915, the first half of the last fiscal period, the amount collected in this fund was $1,324,344.54.

The hunters' license fund in six years aggregated $465,784 which was handled through the state treasury but all used for game law enforcement purposes.

EQUIPMENT FOR PUBLIC BUSINESS.

The State of Iowa, of and for itself and through its various sub-divisions necessary for effective government, has a valuable equipment for the transaction of public business, and there have been large additions to this equipment in recent years. The value of public property can be stated only as an estimate, in most instances, though in others it may be fixed at its cost, but much of the property has value that is beyond any market price. The aggregate value, on a fair estimate, of the property publicly owned and used for the benefit of the people, is over $175,000,000.

The property owned and controlled by the State directly includes real estate, buildings and equipment at the various state institutions for educational, charitable and correctional purposes listed at over 22 million dollars. This is located in 22 different places in the State, and includes farms, hospitals, colleges, quarries, factories, schools, cottages, libraries and other things.

LAND IN PUBLIC USE.

The acreage of land which is used for public purposes, not including streets in the cities and towns, nor county farm and court house sites, nor the lakes and lake beds, is as follows:

State Institution farms and grounds.....	10,397
State Educational institutions	1,778
Fish and game department land.....	30
State Fair park	283
Land at State Capitol	73
Iowa National Guard camp ground and range.....	212
Parks in cities	5,101
School grounds, estimated	14,000
Highways, 104,027 miles (Av. 50 ft. wide).....	642,162

The 12,774 acres of land owned by the State and devoted to various strictly state purposes have been gradually purchased as needed, but more than 4,000 acres have been acquired in the past ten years. The State has just purchased 40.1 acres at the capital for public buildings, monuments, etc., for $1,124,900. Many of the public highways are 66 feet wide but an average is taken, and the value fixed at the assessed value of land.

POSSESSIONS OF CITIES AND TOWNS.

The municipalities of Iowa have property that is valued at over forty-one million dollars, and this is by far the most extensive holding of property for public use in Iowa.

All of the 105 cities of the state are lighted, either with gas or electricity. Many of them own their own light plants. Of 400 towns from which information was secured, 100 were reported as lighted by their own systems, there being 87 electric plants owned. The major part of the towns secure light from private plants.

A few of the cities and about 50 per cent of the towns own their own water plants.

The reports to the state from 400 of the 788 towns show town possessions of all kinds valued at $5,184,377, which would indicate a total value for all the towns of about $10,200,000.

The reports to the municipal accounting department for 1915 from 99 of the cities of the state showed city possessions of $31,470,922, distributed as follows:

Municipal buildings and furniture.....	$2,423,533
Police equipment, markets, etc.	2,936,132
Equipment streets and alleys	231,734
Cemeteries	615,746
Electric light works	1,167,886
Water works	1,259,596
Bridges	2,923,583
Libraries	3,716,638
Parks	6,196,074

POSSESSIONS OF THE COUNTIES.

The values last reported to the state officials by county auditors on county possessions show an aggregate of $11,346,679. The court houses and grounds were listed at $6,327,796; the county jails at $855,357; the county homes and farms at $3,504,532; and the other property of the counties, $658,993.

SCHOOL PROPERTY.

The most valuable property of the people of Iowa used for public purposes is for the public schools. The reports of county superintendents to the Department of Public Instruction, show that the school houses and grounds were valued in 1915 at $37,061,740. The apparatus of the schools was inventoried at $1,915,701. There were 1,264,291 volumes in the schools, a large part of which are works of reference, so that the average value is about one dollar per volume. It is estimated that about 14,000 acres of land is in use in connection with the schools.

OTHER PROPERTY IN PUBLIC USE.

The value of the libraries in public use is not far from six million dollars, which includes many buildings and the grounds, and the books and collections. The larger part of this is included in the value set on possessions of the cities and towns and school districts.

The State owns property devoted to the use of the Iowa National Guard valued at $127,500, including the land for a permanent camp and a part of the rifle range.

The State owns the land and buildings and equipment for the annual state fairs and this has been recently inventoried by the department at $1,188,010.

The monument to soldiers and sailors at the state capitol and the various monuments on battlefields were erected with appropriations aggregating $421,870.

The public highways of the state make use of over 642,000 acres of land. There are also about 80 meandered lakes, the title to which is in the state, and all having value. The value of bridges in the cities and towns is included in the reports as to municipalities, but the value of bridges in the country is not included.

MILITARY FORCE OF THE STATE.

The Iowa National Guard, which is that portion of the militia trained and equipped for military action, is organized under a strict military code of the State and in harmony with the United States army regulations. It is supported by direct state appropriations and receives federal aid. The governor is commander in chief and directs the guard through the adjutant general and staff. There is a brigade of infantry with a commander, a battalion of field artillery, a squadron of cavalry, an engineer company and medical department. Inspections are by regular army officers.

The strength of the Iowa National Guard as shown by reports to the adjutant general as of December 31, 1915, was:

Staff departments	6
Commander First Brigade and staff.....	6
Medical department	176
Engineer company	72
First Squadron Cavalry	299
First Battalion Field Artillery.....	415
First Infantry	795
Second Infantry	870
Third Infantry	800
First Separate Company	64
	3,503

The Iowa National Guard is equipped with the same arms as the United States army. The infantry and cavalry companies are supplied with regulation rifles, the artillery companies have mounted field pieces, and the hospital and medical departments are fully equipped. The members receive pay for drill and camp service. There are two rifle ranges owned by the United States in Iowa and the State pays $4,600 for lease of other ranges. The State makes an allowance of $60,000 a year for rental of armories. The property used by the Iowa National Guard has a value estimated at:

Permanent camp ground	$ 110,000
Equipment owned by guard	15,000
Horses and mules owned by state.....	2,500
Value of armories used	1,083,500
	$1,211,000

The Iowa National Guard is now on a basis of fixed state support of $165,000 annually. The Iowa proportion of the federal appropriation for the fiscal year 1916 is $84,645. This makes the total available for use of the guard $249,645.

The State requires each organization to have an armory or suitable meeting place and there are now forty-eight of these in use in the State.

This report was prior to the going into effect of the law of 1916 which contemplates material enlargement of the organized guard of the State.

The militia of the State includes the male citizens between the ages of 18 and 45 inclusive.

Colored	4,046	4,288	4,450	.9	.9	.9
Total	460,839	475,829	509,421

The number of males of militia age, or between the ages of 18 and 45 years, is now 509,421. Not all of this number, however, is subject to military duty, for from it should be subtracted 29,467 foreign born males between the ages of 21 and 45 who are not naturalized, and a considerable portion of the 4,104 foreign born males between the ages of 18 and 21. Some of the latter are naturalized by the naturalization of their parents, but unless this is done, they are not within the militia class. This leaves about 476,000 of the males actually subject to military duty, so far as age alone governs.

There has been an increase in twenty-five years in the number of males of militia age of 109,734. The increase in ten years has been 48,581.

STATE INSTITUTIONS AND CARE OF STATE WARDS.

Iowa has seventeen institutions under management of the State Board of Control, in which live 10,000 persons for whose care, or custody, or discipline, the State has assumed responsibility. There are six for reformation or correction of offenders against law—a penitentiary, two reformatories, two industrial schools and a custodial or convict farm. Of institutions for the care and treatment of afflicted persons there are four hospitals for the insane, one for those who have tuberculosis, one for epileptics and one for victims of drugs and intoxicants. There is a home for soldiers and sailors and their wives, a school for the deaf, a home and school for orphans and a home and school for the mentally deficient. The hospital colony for epileptics has not been opened, and the custodial farm is only used in a small way as yet, and pending equipment the reformatory for women is a department of the reformatory for men.

The college for the blind, formerly under the Board of Control, has been transferred to the Board of Education.

Prior to 1898 these institutions were managed by separate boards and then were placed in charge of the State Board of Control, at which time the number of inmates was 6,793. There were 1,041 employes and there was paid for support the first six months $435,896.

The actual number of inmates December 31, 1914, was 9,936 with 1,597 employes and officers. The average number of inmates in the biennial period ended June 30, 1914, was 9,308.

The per capita cost of support for the inmates of all the institutions was reported for the last period as $400.93, which is an average cost of $3.85 per week for each inmate.

Following shows the average number of employes and inmates with expenditures and cost of support for the past ten years:

When the State Board of Control took over the institutions in 1898 the State had for their use 4,189 acres of land valued at $300,-849, personal property $597,134, buildings $7,482,735; total appraised value of the property, $8,380,718. Much of this was represented in buildings and equipment that has since been supplanted. The inventory of the property of the State at these institutions now shows an aggregate value of $12,487,150.44, the value and acreage of land being as of June 20, 1916, and the other values as reported June 30, 1915. The State has 10,397.05 acres of land for these institutions.

There has been an increase in twenty-three years from 4,544 to 9,309 in average population of inmates for each period. For a time there was maintained at three of the hospitals departments for inebriates, but these were consolidated at Knoxville and the department for women is now maintained only at Mt. Pleasant. Table No. 51 shows the population changes for biennial periods at each institution.

During the last four and a half biennial periods, or nine years, the aggregate expenditure for the institutions under the State Board of Control was $18,079,559.94. These expenditures in detail are given in Table No. 49.

For the last four biennial periods and the one year period of 1906 the aggregate was: 1906, $1,885,590.60; 1908, $3,754,768.09; 1910, $3,952,139.31; 1912, $3,942,998.09; 1914, $4,544,063.85; total, $18,079,559.94.

CARE OF THE INSANE.

The insane are cared for chiefly in State institutions, but many also are placed in asylums in the counties located on the county farms, and there are several private institutions where they are detained. The following shows their number so far as reported in recent years:

JUVENILE OFFENDERS.

Juvenile offenders are dealt with in the juvenile courts and where it is deemed necessary they may be committed to the Industrial Schools at Eldora or Mitchellville, or to the Orphans' Home at Davenport, or the Institution for the Feeble Minded at Glenwood. INMATES OF COUNTY HOMES.

The counties of the State nearly all have county farms and homes for the residence of indigent and helpless people. The normal persons are chiefly old people. County reports to the Board of Control make the following showing of inmates cared for:

In addition to the seventeen institutions, the State has recently purchased land for a stone quarry in Lyon county, and this acreage is included with that of the Reformatory.

EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES.

The pioneers who blazed the way for civilization to supplant the wild life and to make possible a great state looked early to educational facilities for their children. They established and maintained schools before there was any organized government. Before Iowa was even named they authorized by law a college and seven seminaries west of the Mississippi river. They provided for schools before they had money with which to pay the teachers, authorizing taxes for schools to be paid in "good merchantable property," and the first schoolmasters were compensated by barter. Schools and colleges grew with the young state and the zeal for education never slackened.

School attendance for certain ages is compulsory. Only one per cent of the people was found by the enumeration in 1915 to be unable to write.

The State makes provision for training teachers for the school work, and for training persons for the professions and in some degree for the trades and vocations of life. There are secondary schools and institutions of higher learning, besides private schools and private colleges.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

The present public school system, modified according to the needs of the day, was adopted in 1858. It was based on the idea of the township being the proper unit for local school administration, but this idea was later departed from, and more recently there has been return to it in school matters. Prior to 1858 the schools were developed locally, in part by taxation and in part from tuition. The first school had been opened in 1830, which was before the commencement of permanent settlement of the territory. When the school system was adopted, there were 2,200 ungraded schools in the State. The next year, when for the first time it was possible to secure complete information, the school showing included:

Number of schools in 1859, 4,243; male teachers, 2,901; female teachers, 2,364; persons of school age, 240,531; number enrolled, 142,849; aggregate cost of schools, $617,632.

The number of men engaged in teaching exceeded the number of women thus engaged until the time of the civil war, which closed many schools; but after the war there was a great impetus to education and by 1870 there were 6,919 ungraded schools and 213 graded schools, the aggregate cost of the schools being $6,191,633.

In earliest years the log schoolhouses predominated and at one time there was reported nearly 900 in use. In the fiscal year 1915 there was paid two and a half million dollars for schoolhouses and sites. School property is in use of a value exceeding forty million dollars, in which twenty thousand teachers give instruction to over a half million pupils each year. The gradual growth of the public school system is shown in a table in Part III of this report.

At no period in the history of the state has there been more substantial growth of the schools and material increase of equipment than the present. The following table shows the main facts for the decade:

In addition to the above facts regarding the status of the public school system, the reports from county superintendents to the superintendent of public instruction for 1915 show the following:

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS.

The number of ungraded schools in the state has been decreasing for fifteen years and the number of graded schools has been increasing steadily since 1870. In 1900 the graded schools comprised 31 per cent of the entire number in the state and now they comprise 41 per cent. The teachers employed in the public schools numbered 29,650 in 1906 and the reports show 26,791 in 1915, a decrease of 10 per cent; but in that period there has been an increase of over fourteen million dollars in the value of schoolhouses. The effort to secure return to the original plan of the township unit of school administration and a grouping of schools so as to admit of grading for rural schools as well as those in cities and towns has been pronounced in recent years. The first consolidated school was opened in 1897 and by the close of 1915 the reports showed 155 consolidated districts in 59 counties of the state. This resulted in the closing of 429 one-room schools.

Instruction in normal work to prepare for teaching in the rural schools is conducted under state supervision in 168 of the the high schools of the state. This work was commenced in 1913, since which time 1,738 certificates have been issued from these normal courses, and there are 3,500 students enrolled.

The State gives from the public treasury a bonus for encouragement of the consolidated schools that give special vocational instruction and for normal work in the high schools. In the fiscal period 1914-16 this aid amounted to: For consolidated schools, $134,750.00; for aid in normal training in high schools, $238,125.00.

PRIVATE AND SPECIAL SCHOOLS.

There are a large number of private schools in Iowa, mainly connected with church organizations, giving instruction to students both in the grades and in academic work. Reports to the Department of Public Instruction for 1915 show 155 of these schools with an enrollment for that school year of 23,628.

The State maintains schools at various institutions, the chief ones being the following:

	Attendance
School for the deaf	216
College for the blind	135
Soldiers' orphans' home	573
Industrial school for girls	178
Industrial school for boys	484
Institution for feeble-minded	1,467

These figures do not in all cases represent attendance, since as in the case of the institution for the feeble-minded, all the inmates are included whether in school work or not. Schools are also maintained at the reformatory and elsewhere.

Included in the list of private schools are a number of business colleges and others giving special instruction, and private institutions for training of young persons in special lines are found in many of the cities.

There is ample provision for training for the professions and skilled trades. There is a law school at the State university and at Drake university; a medical college is maintained at the State university with abundant equipment; dentistry is taught at the State university; pharmacy at the State university and at Highland Park college; veterinary science is taught at the State college, as well as agriculture, dairying, animal husbandry and like specialties; engineering is provided for at the State college and the State university. There are classes in theology at Drake university and at Dubuque college.

HIGHER EDUCATION—PRIVATE INSTITUTIONS.

The educational scheme for Iowa, as planned from the outset, included provision for education in the higher branches, and in fact, colleges were established about the same time as the earliest of the free schools. Denmark academy was established in territorial days and continued until recent years. Two years before statehood there was established at Mt. Pleasant a seminary which in 1855 became the present Wesleyan university. In 1848 Iowa college was founded at Grinnell. Others followed rapidly, Cornell at Mt. Vernon and Central at Pella in 1853, Lenox at Hopkinton in 1856, Oskaloosa in 1861, and Tabor in 1866. Many of them have fine equipment and are accumulating large endowment funds.

These colleges have land and buildings and equipment valued at over six million dollars and have an income of over a million and a half dollars. With 671 members of the faculty, including the instructors for special work, they enrolled in 27 colleges a total of 10,148 students in the school year 1914-15. Their graduates from liberal arts courses numbered 581. Their reports as to faculty and instructors, value of property and income for 1914-15 were as follows:

HIGHER EDUCATION—STATE INSTITUTIONS.

The State has established and supports three institutions of higher education under direction of the State Board of Education, in which institutions is given instruction in all collegiate and professional branches, and in normal, vocational and special work. The plan of state institutions of higher education approved by the first general assembly was for a State University at Iowa City with branches at Dubuque and Fairfield, and with normal departments at Oskaloosa, Andrew and Mt. Pleasant. Later the branches were abandoned and for a time the normal instruction was at the University, but afterwards an orphans' home was converted into a State Normal school. Under stimulus of the Morrill law an agricultural college was organized. Formerly these institutions were governed by separate boards which were abolished in 1909, when the present State Board of Education was created.

Under this same board the state has a College for the Blind, formerly managed by the State Board of Control, giving educational opportunities for blind children and including the secondary or high school branches.

These four educational institutions of the state have property, including endowments, aggregating $9,863,000. They have an annual income, derived chiefly from appropriations out of the general revenue of the state, but also from federal aid, endowment fund interest, tuitions, fees and other sources, of over two and a half million dollars. The State has invested in land, buildings and equipment at these institutions in the past ten years over five million dollars.

In the ten year period the number of members of the faculties regularly employed at the three institutions of higher education increased from 345 to 692 and the total enrollment increased from 5,694 to 10,127.

The record of results as shown by graduation of students for the college year 1914-15 is as follows:

The State has a large investment in property at the state educational institutions. An inventory of this property shows as follows as of date June 30, 1915:

The figures as to real estate values are approximately correct, and also as to endowment fund. The last inventory for the College for the Blind showed a value of $200,047.78.

In Tables No. 45 to 48 will be found a detailed report as to income of each of the institutions under the State Board of Education.

The State University was established in Iowa City in 1847. Gifts of land provided an endowment fund. When the state capital was removed, the capitol building was made the central structure of the university group. Additional land has been secured and buildings erected and equipped for all departments properly related to a university.

The State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts was opened on a farm near Ames in 1869, has an endowment fund and receives aid from the United States for the college and for the experiment station and extension work. It has the largest and most beautiful campus in the state and an extensive equipment.

The State Teachers College at Cedar Falls was opened in 1876 but there had been provision for normal instruction elsewhere. The name was changed from State Normal School a few years ago and the scope of the work has been enlarged and extended.

Since the board of education has been in charge, the College for the Blind at Vinton has been greatly improved as to equipment and in the matter of educational methods.

The reports of these various institutions show income as follows:

State University, year 1914-15.....	$ 986,513.56
State College, year 1914-15	1,296,943.43
State Teachers' College, biennium 1913-14.....	665,528.47
College for the Blind, year 1915.....	47,962.22

This money is used in part for buildings and improvements and in part for support. The State has provided by appropriation out of the general revenue of the state for support of the institutions under the State Board of Education $1,966,600 annually.

LIBRARIES.

Libraries of reference books and popular literature, and collections of historical, scientific and other materials, are numerous in Iowa and more than 3,355,000 volumes are available to the public. The State library has a collection of valuable books, many of them rare and beyond price, and has an extensive law department and a legislative reference department. There is connected with the Historical department library a large collection of bound volumes of newspapers, maps, autographs, portraits, charts, manuscripts and a historical museum. The old records of the state are preserved in the archives department. The State Library Commission is engaged in encouraging library work and extension and has direction of a traveling library which circulates all over Iowa.

There are extensive libraries at the state educational and other institutions and a historical library and collection under control of the State Historical Society. The private colleges all have large libraries and there are in the small libraries of the schools of the state 1,264,291 volumes, the support of which is compulsory.

There are 131 free public libraries, housed in buildings especially constructed for their use and maintained by taxes in the cities and towns. Of these, 34 are in incorporated towns and the others in the cities.

The following is the reported number of volumes in the libraries of the state:

The number of church congregations reported was 397 more than ten years ago. Statistics were sought directly from pastors by means of cards addressed to them from lists furnished by persons interested in the various church organizations. In many cases it was found impossible to secure responses, but all the facts are given as reported.

The church membership reported is 928,417, which is 346,577 more than ten years ago. The aggregate value of church property is reported at $47,717,451, which is $22,894,852 more than ten years ago. The following is a comparison of the totals for 1905 and 1915:

FAIRS IN IOWA.

A State Fair was held and local fairs in nearly every county before the State was ten years old, and they have continued to the present time. The State gives aid to all these fairs. The property used for the annual State Fair is owned by the State, which has appropriated for ground and buildings $514,111.47. County and district fairs receive a bonus from the State proportionate to the premiums paid, which amounted in 1915 to $48,085.98. The State also gives a bonus to associations conducting farmers' institutes and this aid in 1915 amounted to $5,219.38, and State aid for farmers' short course schools aggregated $1,432.24.

The property owned by the State and dedicated to the use of the annual State Fair comprises 283 1-3 acres, which with buildings and equipment is valued at $1,188,110. The land alone is valued at $461,833.27.

The attendance at the last annual State Fair was 245,066 and premiums were paid aggregating $69,598. The attendance reported at the county and district fairs was 1,115,605. Eleven short courses reported attendance of 23,095 and the farmers' institutes were attended by 157,214 persons.

 AGRICULTURAL STATISTICS.

The enumerators were instructed to return information as to farms and general agricultural statistics for all places of 10 acres or over. Ten years ago, the state enumerators followed the plan of the Federal census in including all places of 3 acres or over as farms. By reason of the change from 3 acres to 10 acres, as the minimum size of farms, the census for 1915 shows a decrease in the number of farms and in the number of acres included in farms and an increase in the number of acres per farm. This may be wholly due to the change in the minimum acreage of farms.

Reports were secured from 199,755 farmers operating that number of farms, as against 209,163 ten years ago.

The number of acres reported as included in farms is 32,951,056, a decrease of 277,000 from the previous census.

The average size of the farms reported upon increased from 158 acres to 164 acres, and the value of each farm, land alone being considered, increased from $7,420.55 to $17,582.47. If land and buildings are considered together, as is done in the matter of assessment, the average value of farms and buildings is found to be $19,984.98 as against $8,872.78 ten years ago. The increase in value of farms, buildings and equipment in the form of implements and machinery has been even more pronounced and this now averages $20,287.91.

The value of the land and buildings per acre as reported to the enumerators was $121.15 as against $55.85 ten years ago. There has been a slight increase in the number of tenant farmers and acres operated under leases as compared to 10 years ago.

FARM COMPARISONS.

The total value of farm land and the equipment thereof is now reported at over $4,000,000,000, which is more than twice as much as it was ten years before. The major part of this increase has been in the value of the land alone.

The enumerators for 1915 secured information as to the number of farmers operating only their own land, separate from those who not only operated their own land, but leased land in addition thereto. The number who operate their own land exclusively is 90,797 and those who operate their own land and also some that is rented is 26,951. A similar division is made as to the number operating land under cash lease and share lease. The total number of tenant farmers is 82,007, as against 70,939 ten years ago. There has been a corresponding decrease in the number of acres operated exclusively by the owners and an increase in the number of acres operated under lease.

The value of farm animals and poultry in Iowa is $350,621,975. This is $132,000,000 more than that reported ten years ago, an increase of 60 per cent.

The value of farm and garden crops produced for the year 1914 was $437,225,662. This is $190,000,000 more than the value reported for ten years before, or an increase of 76 per cent.

The value returned for cattle is greater in the aggregate than for any other class of live stock, but the value of horses, mules, asses and other draft animals is only five million dollars less. The following shows the values reported for 1905 and 1915:

VALUE OF LIVE STOCK.

The greatest increase in value of the farm crops is in the grain crops, the value for 1915 being almost double that for ten years before. A decrease in value is reported for potatoes, vegetables and fruit. Dairy products occupy third place as to value and eggs are fourth in value. The values reported for 1905 and 1915 are:

LIVE STOCK AND POULTRY.

The value of draft animals increased in the ten years by over $55,000,000 and is now reported to the enumerators as $135,924,253. A comparison of the statistics for the two census years indicated a steady increase in the number of horses, mules and other draft animals and such an increase in the colts and younger animals as would assure no reduction in the number for the immediate future.

The cattle are now worth $140,978,731, although the number of animals reported is less by over one-half million than ten years ago. The reduction has been uniform in various classes of cattle. The greatest increase in value, however, has been in the dairy animals.

The comparative table shows a slight increase in the number of swine which is now reported at 6,683,476. The value of the swine has increased from $34,464,153 in 1905 to $57,019,987 in 1915. There has been a slight increase in the number of sheep and goats in the ten years and some increase in the value thereof. The value of the poultry of the state is reported as $13,800,363 as against $8,083,184 ten years ago.

The increase in value of all live stock was about $122,000,000.

AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS.

The value of agricultural products as reported increased in the ten years by about $190,000,000 and the aggregate for 1915, being the report on the crop harvested and used in 1914, is $437,225,662. This includes the value of wool, dairy products and eggs, but does not include any portion of the live stock sold or marketed or used during the year.

The value of grain crops practically doubled in the ten years, all showing increases except barley and buckwheat. Corn still holds the first place with a value of $223,680,692, and next in value is oats and then wheat. The most pronounced increase was in the value of wheat which, in 1915, was reported as more than three times as much as in the previous ten years.

In the hay and forage crops, the big value is still in timothy hay, $27,977,850. The alfalfa crop is reported as worth more than twenty-four times as much as it was in 1904, the value being returned as $2,607,487.

The value of silage is reported as $4,308,990, no report having been made on that ten years ago.

There was only a slight increase in the value of grass seeds generally.

There was a decline in the value of garden crops and especially of vegetables.

The value of fruit and berries showed a decline in the ten-year period.

The report upon the value of eggs produced shows a total of $20,593,720 as against practically one-half that amount ten years before.

The value of dairy products increased from $30,687,274 to $38,779,869.

MANUFACTURES AND FACTORY PRODUCTION.

Manufactured products, turned out from factories and excluding hand work and the smaller establishments, amounted in value in 1914 to $310,954,000.

The capital invested amounts to $233,373,000. Persons engaged in manufacture were 84,949.

The United States Bureau of the Census compiled statistics for the year 1914 and from an advance copy of the summary the accompanying facts are secured. The summary shows a considerable increase at the census of 1914 as compared with that for 1909. In the order of their importance, from a percentage standpoint, the increases for the several items rank as follows: Salaries, 49.1 per cent; proprietors and firm members, 44.5 per cent; capital, 36.3 per cent; salaried employees, 23.9 per cent; primary horsepower, 23.0 per cent; wages, 22.5 per cent; materials, 20.4 per cent; value of products, 19.9 per cent; value added by manufacture, 19.1 per cent; wage earners (average number), 2.4 per cent; and number of establishments, 1.6 per cent.

CAPITAL INVESTED.

The capital invested, as reported in 1914, was $233,373,000, a gain of $62,154,000, or 36.3 per cent, over $171,219,000 in 1909. The average capital per establishment was approximately $42,000 in 1914 and $31,000 in 1909. In this connection it should be stated that the inquiry contained in the census schedule calls for the total amount of capital, both owned and borrowed, invested in the business, but excludes the value of rented property, plant, or equipment which was employed in the conduct of manufacturing enterprises.

COST OF MATERIALS.

The cost of materials used was $205,538,000 in 1914, as against $170,707,000 in 1909, an increase of $34,831,000, or 20.4 per cent. The average cost of materials per establishment was approximately $37,000 in 1914 and $31,000 in 1909. In addition to the component materials which enter into the products of the establishment for the census year there are included the cost of fuel, mill supplies, and rent of power and heat. The cost of materials, however, does not include unused materials and supplies bought either for speculation or for use during a subsequent period.

The census inquiry does not include amounts paid for miscellaneous expenses, such as rent of offices, royalties, insurance, ordinary repairs, advertising, traveling expenses, or allowance for depreciation.

VALUE OF PRODUCTS.

The value of products was $310,954,000 in 1914 and $259,238,000 in 1909, the increase being $51,716,000, or 19.9 per cent. The average per establishment was approximately $55,000 in 1914 and $47,000 in 1909.

The value of products represents their selling value or price at the plants as actually turned out by the factories during the census year and does not necessarily have any relation to the amount of sales for that year. The values under this head also include amounts received for work done on materials furnished by others.

VALUE ADDED BY MANUFACTURE.

The value added by manufacture represents the difference between the cost of materials used and the value of the products manufactured from them. The value added by manufacture was $105,416,000 in 1914 and $88,531,000 in 1909, the increase being $16,885,000, or 19.1 per cent. The value added by manufacture formed 33.9 per cent of the total value of products in 1914, and 34.2 per cent in 1909.

SALARIES AND WAGES.

The salaries and wages amounted to $56,232,000 in 1914, and to $43,514,000 in 1909, the increase being $12,718,000, or 29.2 per cent.

The number of salaried employees was 14,132 in 1914, as compared with 11,402 in 1909, making an increase of 2,730, or 23.9 per cent.

The average number of wage earners was 63,123 in 1914, and 61,635 in 1909, the increase being 1,488, or 2.4 per cent.

The maximum number of wage earners, 67,856 for 1914, was employed during August, while the maximum number, 68,006 for 1909, was employed during September.

The minimum number of wage earners, 60,670, reported for 1914, was employed during December, and the minimum number, 55,649 for 1909, was employed during January.

MINERAL PRODUCTION.

Mineral production in Iowa has steadily increased, in volume and value, and is making more rapid gain now than at any period of the State's history.

The first settlement of Iowa was for the purpose of securing the hidden mineral wealth, by the mining of the lead and zinc ores from the "Mines of Spain." Aside from the fur industry, mining continued for many years as the sole source of support of the white men who opened the way for the agriculturist and manufacturer. Lead and zinc mining commenced when what is now Iowa was unknown save for the great rivers that marked its boundaries, then followed coal mining, and later the gypsum beds were worked and now the clay and cement industries have grown to enormous proportions. The increase in value of the annual product is steady as to coal, but has fluctuated more as to clay and cement. There has been a decline as to stone production.

The aggregate annual production of all minerals was valued at $26,282,275 in 1914, according to the reports to the Iowa Geological Survey, as against $15,903,044 ten years before.

A comprehensive statement as to mineral production in ten years follows:

BITUMINOUS COAL.

Production of coal in Iowa commenced in territorial days and has grown steadily, with no indication of exhaustion of the supply. It was not until 1875 that the annual production was over a million tons, but by 1904 it had increased to six and a half million tons.

The coal area of the state is mainly along the lower part of the Des Moines river valley, but it extends northward to Fort Dodge and there are a few mines in the southwestern part of the state. Coal is mined in 252 mines in 22 counties of the state. The coal is a bituminous coal of good quality, the veins worked being from 4 to 8 feet in thickness. Working conditions in the mines are excellent and there is the best of state supervision and rigid regulation for protection of life.

There has been mined from the coal beds of the state about 200 million tons of the product, and it has been estimated, after careful study of the coal beds, that there still remains nearly 30,000 million tons of coal.

A large part of the coal mined in Iowa is used locally but there is some shipment to other states. The railway companies use it in large amount and several of them have purchased mine rights and have established extensive coal mines for their own use. The state has been free from controversies between the miners and operators, and wage conditions are such as to assure steadiness of work. There has been an increase from about 15,000 men employed in mine operation in 1905 to 16,057 in 1914.

The table of coal production by counties shows that the coal producing area is changing from year to year and that there has been generally an extension of the area. Table No. 67 gives details as to production by counties.

STONE.

Development of the stone industry was commenced early in the State's history. Originally the stone produced in Iowa was used practically all for building purposes. The increasing use of brick and concrete for this purpose has lessened the demand for stone. There is some compensation, however, in that the demand for crushed stone for various uses is increasing and the movement for highway improvement promises to greatly increase the demand for stone. The high point seems to have been reached in 1912 when nearly a million dollars' worth of stone was used. There has been a decline in the amount of burned lime produced, since cement has largely taken its place.

There is shown a tendency to abandonment of the smaller stone quarries and confining the production to the few counties where operations can be carried on to advantage. The leading counties in production now are Scott, Lee, Jones and Dubuque. As there is no requirement of a report on production, the statistics secured are imperfect but show the general condition of the industry.

Thirty counties make reports on stone production and these reports, found in Table No. 68, show that the industry is subject to very great fluctuations.

CLAY.

Clay products industries are possible in practically every county of the State and the industry appears to be at the beginning of its development. In 1895 there was reported a production valued at $1,870,000, which had grown to $3,487,000 in 1904. In 1914 the total value of clay products reported was $6,405,995.

The best development has been in the production of drain tile, which is in steady demand in every county of the State. The value of this product has more than doubled in ten years and comprises half of the entire clay industry of the State. There has also been a considerable increase in production of fancy and face brick and hollow blocks for building purposes. There has not been the growth in use of brick for paving purposes that had been noted the previous ten years.

GYPSUM.

The gypsum industry continues to grow. The value of the product mined and sold was reported in 1890 at $47,000. In 1904 it was $469,000. Now it has gone up to $1,321,457. There is increasing use of plaster and stucco in the building trades and a better understanding of the usefulness of the product in the arts.

The gypsum area is small, having been confined to Webster county and vicinity. Recently, however, a mine in Appanoose county has been opened with shaft 560 feet deep and a vein said to be 10 feet thick.

CEMENT.

There has been a very gratifying development in the industry of manufacture of cement from the abundant shales and limestones of the State. This is confined to two counties of the State—Polk and Cerro Gordo. It is possible to engage in cement production only in large mills and with abundant capital. All the mills that have been opened have prospered and are steadily enlarging their business. The first mill was opened in Mason City in 1908 and later, during 1910, the mill near Des Moines began operations.

In 1911 it was reported to the Geological Survey that the production was 1,952,000 barrels sold for $1,881,253.

In 1912 the report was a total of 3,190,000 barrels of a value of $2,790,396.

In 1913 there was produced 3,623,000 barrels and there was sold of the product $3,972,876 worth.

In 1914 the report showed a production of 4,233,707 barrels and the value of the product reported sold was $4,008,915.

METALS.

The report on lead, zinc and other ore production is not very satisfactory, which fairly reflects the condition of the industry. There is only small production and it is not a steady and continuing business. It is confined to a small area in Dubuque and Allamakee counties.

Lead and zinc ore mining appears to have reached high mark for the decade in 1907 when the total value was reported at $58,400. These mines having been the first opened in what is now Iowa were worked out years ago. No production was reported for 1914. See Table No. 72.

The report on production of iron ore shows that some business is now being done. For some years the surface mines in Allamakee county were worked and then abandoned. More recently outside interests have opened up the mines and in 1913-15 up to November of the latter year a total of 30,240 tons of iron ore had been shipped.

OTHER MINERAL PRODUCTION.

In addition to the information regarding the mineral products indicated above there have been collected by the Geological Survey statistics regarding other kinds of wealth secured from beneath the soil. These minor industries are showing some material development and are being encouraged. The production of sand and gravel for ten years is shown. See Table No. 74.

There is production of mineral water in Iowa at a number of places and progress has been made in developing a commercial business in the bottled waters. The table given shows the business done the past ten years. See Table No. 75.

For the years 1905-8 inclusive there was reported with the mineral water the mineral paint produced which amounted to from $3,000 to $6,000 a year, but this is not included in the given totals. The fluctuation in amount of business done is largely due to imperfect reporting rather than to changes in the business.

Mineral gas has been secured in Louisa county in small quantities. In 1911 the value was reported at $70, the next year $100, then $120 and in 1914 at $200.

There was a peat plant at Fertile and some peat was produced for use locally but no report has been received of operations.

General tables on mineral production are in Part III, Tables 67 to 75 inclusive.

TRANSPORTATION.

In the little more than 60 years of railroad building in Iowa there has been constructed and is now in operation by steam power ten thousand miles of track and by electric power nearly five hundred miles of track.

There has been only unimportant extension of railroads in the past ten years, generally to close up gaps and connect detached portions of systems, the net addition of track for the steam roads being only about two hundred miles. However, every county seat has railroad facilities, as also has almost every town and village of a hundred or more inhabitants, and a 15-minute automobile journey connects every farm house in Iowa with a railroad station.

First surveys for a railroad were made in Iowa in 1852 and by 1856 a total of 123 miles was reported in use, extending so far into the interior as the then capital of the State. The next year a railroad was built up the Des Moines river valley, and in 1858 rails were laid westward from Burlington and Dubuque. The Des Moines river was bridged in 1866, and the State was crossed in 1867, by which time the aggregate mileage had become more than a thousand, and railroad building was extending into new and unsettled districts. By 1885 the mileage had reached 7,496 and by 1905 it was 9,800.

A part of the present interurban or electric mileage was formerly operated by steam, but the major part is new. Over 477 miles of track is now in electric operation.

The railroad companies make reports to the state in two forms, one report to the railroad commission, covering fiscal years, and the other to the executive council, covering calendar years. From the latter the main facts as to condition of the railroad business are obtained as follows, the figures being for the calendar year 1914 and mileage at the close of the year :

STEAM AND ELECTRIC RAILROADS.

	Mileage	Gross earnings	Net earnings	Assessment	Taxes paid

Tables showing in detail the growth of the railroad business are given in Part III. These show that in ten years the gross earnings, or aggregate receipts, of the railroads on Iowa business increased by $32,553,368, which was over 56 per cent increase. The reports to the railroad commission give additional information, and these reports, for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1914, give the following as to sources of income and as to employes:

STEAM RAILROADS.

Leading facts regarding the business done by the steam railroads in the state the past ten years, with assessment and taxation, are given in the following table. For more detailed statement of business, see Tables 53 to 59 inclusive.

RAILROAD CONSOLIDATION.

An analysis of the tables given will show that there has been much readjustment and consolidation of lines in recent years. Some comparisons of a 20-year period will show the tendency.

There are four systems reporting over 1,000 miles of track each in Iowa and six others with over 50 miles each. The business of these groups in 1914 was as follows:

RAILROAD BUSINESS SHOWN BY GROUPS.

Groups	Mileage	Gross earnings	Net earnings
1,000 miles or more—
Chicago & Northwestern	1,611	$ 19,526,030	$ 5,025,456
Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul	1,367	16,488,631	4,653,377
Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific	2,203	18,185,440	4,394,830
Chicago, Burlington & Quincy	1,366	12,659,210	4,229,231
Total first group	7,047	$ 66,769,361	$ 18,303,894
50 miles and less than 1,000—
Chicago Great Western	769	$ 7,249,290	$ 1,344,417
Minneapolis & St. Louis	783	4,738,099	1,164,618
Illinois Central	717	6,126,917	1,028,092
Chicago, St. P., Minn. & Omaha	76	1,257,550	449,290
Wabash	212	1,404,811	242,131
Great Northern	78	574,958	149,954
Total second group	2,650	$ 21,401,625	$ 4,378,502
Total first and second groups	9,697	$ 88,110,987	$ 22,682,396
Total for 15 shorter lines	319	1,839,223	410,086
Total for state	10,016	$ 89,950,215	$ 23,092,491

From this it will be seen that the group comprising the longest four systems, with 70 per cent of the mileage does 75 per cent of the business. The first and second groups, comprising ten roads, do over 97 per cent of the business.

Twenty years ago the four systems in the first group had 4,517 miles of track, now increased to 7,047. Instead of 6 others with 50 miles each, and a total of 2,650 miles, there were then 19 others with 50 miles or more each and total of 3,318 miles. Then there were 15 shorter lines with an aggregate of 642 miles and now there are 24 shorter lines with 334 miles of track.

INTERURBAN ELECTRIC RAILROADS.

In recent years there has been such development of electric lines outside of cities that these interurban railways have been given a distinct standing in law and their reports are now kept separate from the railways operated by steam. In ten years their business has trebled. They are listed as belonging to 12 different companies. Their business, valuation and taxes are shown below :

Year	Gross earnings previous year	Net earnings previous year	Assessment for year named	Taxes paid previous year
1906			$ 483,073
1907	$ 310,941	$ 303,420	616,719	$ 18,549
1908	913,087	302,337	744,070	22,910
1909	1,235,936	466,914	804,560	23,881

1912	1,991,331	581,567	1,173,967	59,214
1913	2,255,163	763,659	1,541,579	71,928
1914	2,714,213	923,258	1,676,801	83,369
1915	2,996,366	930,310	1,810,491	101,746

OTHER TRANSPORTATION.

In addition to the railway and interurban business done in the state, there is business done by 29 car companies and freight lines, the value of the cars used in Iowa being assessed at $257,800. Ten years ago the assessment on all car companies operating cars through the state was $143,525. The assessment on sleeping cars used in the state is $427,067 as against $224,526 ten years ago.

The express business of the state is represented by the following table of mileage operated and assessment thereon :

	Miles	Assessment
Great Northern Express Company.....	77	$ 2,180.08
Adams Express Company.....	2,289	64,113.03
Wells-Fargo Express Company.....	3,150	88,202.26
American Express Company.....	4,932	157,847.53
	10,448	$312,342.95

Ten years ago there were six companies assessed at a valuation of $357,067.47.

The state has only recently taken over control of the electric transmission lines for carrying electric power from one city or town to another. Thirty-three of these have now been assessed on 514 miles of wire, the taxable value being placed at $117,352.49.

BANKS AND BANKING.

The banking business in Iowa is done under four bank systems. A small amount of banking survived the chaotic and stormy period of early Iowa history when banking as it was then known was under the ban of public condemnation. The first to emerge was the national banking system and June 29, 1863, the first national bank in the world was opened in Iowa and it continues to the present time. The old state banking laws were supplanted in 1874 by laws under which savings banks were provided, and in 1886 the banks which had been doing business under general incorporation laws were brought under rigid supervision as state banks. Many private banks also do business.

There is in Iowa an average of more than sixteen banks to a county. Almost every incorporated town has a bank and there are many in villages. There are 373 savings banks of $15,000 capital or less; but the banks of the state have an average of over $40,000 capital each and deposits of nearly $300,000 for each one. The Comptroller of the Currency received reports as of June 23, 1915, from Iowa banks of the four kinds showing the following business:

BANKS, CAPITAL AND DEPOSITS.

	Number	Capital	Deposits
Savings banks	832	$24,996,200.00	$224,671,130.34
National banks	348	23,777,270.00	140,995,226.65
State banks	323	14,394,500.00	96,952,965.21
Loan and Trust.....	20	2,670,900.00	5,520,750.26
Private banks	102	1,893,716.67	15,381,367.59
	1,625	$67,732,586.67	$483,521,440.05

The statistics regarding the state and savings banks given in the general tables elsewhere, are from the state bank call of July 6, 1915, and show a slightly different footing from the comptroller's figures, due to the fact that the manner of treating the newly organized banks differs. On the state call the state banks and loan and trust companies are grouped together.

The accompanying tables show the expansion of the banking business, in general, in Iowa, for the period on which reliable reports are to be had, and as to the different kinds of banks for the recent years.

EXPANSION OF BANKING IN 40 YEARS.

Year	No. banks	Reported capital	Per cent increase	Reported deposits	Per cent increase
1875	123	$ 5,415,402		$ 14,810,790

1915	1,621	67,606,787	50	482,189,306	109

The Iowa bank record for ten years shows a decrease in the number of private banks but an increase as to all others, the number of savings banks having increased by 87 per cent.

The national banks in 1885 had more than twice as much capital in use in Iowa as all other banks. In the next ten years the business being done under state laws had increased rapidly and the national banking capital represented only about 56 per cent of the total. At the beginning of the last decade the national banks had larger capital than either state or savings banks, but the latter led in deposits. Not until in 1914 did the aggregate of savings bank capital overtake and pass that of the national banks.

In the ten years the banking capital in Iowa has increased over 50 per cent and the deposits over 100 per cent. The largest increase in deposits has been in the savings banks. The reports as to private banks are confessedly imperfect as they operate under general partnership or corporation laws and are not required to report either to state or federal authorities.

In tables 60 to 64 the statistics in regard to the banks organized under state laws are given from the reports made to the state banking department each year nearest to June 30. The statistics regarding national and private banks are as reported to the Comptroller of the Currency.

INSURANCE.

Insurance business has steadily increased and does not now show the fluctuations incident to its early history in the state. Better law, more thorough supervision, careful management of companies, has placed the business on an enduring basis. The insurance business in Iowa of 1914 was:

	No. Companies	Premiums	Losses
Life insurance	107	$13,533,564	$ 7,592,951
Other than Life.....	397	17,653,875	7,221,451
		$31,187,439	$14,814,402

The aggregate of premiums received ten years ago was $14,315,028 and twenty years ago, $7,643,636; and of losses $4,901,563 in 1904 and $3,546,117 in 1894. A part of the apparent increase is accounted for by the fact that in previous compilations the assessment associations and the fraternal were ignored in life business, and only recently has there been complete reports on the miscellaneous forms of insurance.

The tables in Part III have been compiled to correspond with the form of organization of the companies, as recognized by the Iowa law. It may be said, however, that of the other than life business the stock and mutual companies deal almost entirely with fire insurance, and the mutual assessment associations are chiefly fire insurance companies. The columns for tornado and hail business are only for the business done by companies or associations dealing exclusively in these classes of risks, but it does not include all of the tornado or hail business. The miscellaneous column includes many other kinds of insurance.

INSURANCE TAXES AND SECURITIES.

Year	Number companies	Taxes and fees	Securities on deposit
1905	431	$ 341,999.02
1906	444	355,756.06

1915	504	584,851.47	68,868,601.78

There were, on January 1, 1915, 504 insurance companies or associations authorized to do business in Iowa, of which 107 write life insurance, 325 chiefly fire insurance and 72 deal with casualty, accident, compensation, burglary, fidelity and other forms of insurance. These companies and associations contribute largely to the revenues of the state by fees and taxes. The life companies organized under Iowa law, and others that have acquired business of such companies, keep on deposit with the insurance department securities at least equal to the legal reserve upon their policy obligations in force and this accumulation of securities shows a steady and rapid increase. The following table shows the number of companies and associations of all kinds authorized January 1st of each year, their annual payment of taxes and fees, and the securities of Iowa life companies on deposit at the close of each year.

LOSSES COMPARED WITH PREMIUMS.

That the insurance business in the state is subject to great fluctuations is shown by a tabulation in which is given the percentage of the losses incurred to the premiums received by each kind of insurance company or association on the Iowa business. This takes no account of the benefits to policy holders other than by reason of direct losses, nor of the income of the companies other than from policy payments. The table follows:

LIFE INSURANCE.

Of the life insurance business done, as represented by premiums received, the major part was done in 1914 by the non-Iowa, or domestic, companies organized as stock or mutual companies. They had about 51 per cent of the business, the Iowa companies about 22 per cent, the assessment associations 2 per cent and the fraternal beneficiary societies 25 per cent.

There were 13 Iowa stock or mutual companies doing business at the beginning of 1915 as compared with 7 ten years before. This class of companies had increased their premiums received during the year from $1,060,193 in 1904 to $3,699,934 in 1914.

The non-Iowa life insurance companies doing business number 46, as against 36 ten years before. They increased the aggregate of premiums received from $6,056,783 to $8,851,158.

There were six assessment life associations in business, 4 of which were organized under Iowa law. The business of this class shows a decline and only $201,392 was reported as collected on assessments in 1914.

The 42 fraternal societies, of which 12 were Iowa societies, in business, had collected in assessments during 1914 $4,357,827. The fraternal societies nearly doubled their business in ten years.

FIRE AND OTHER INSURANCE.

The fire insurance business is done by stock and mutual companies and by mutual assessment associations. Of the 325 authorized to do business there were: Iowa stock companies 4, Iowa mutual companies 3, non-Iowa stock companies 84, non-Iowa mutual companies 1, United States branches foreign companies 48, state mutual associations 29, county mutual associations 156. The stock and mutual companies do a small amount of business other than in fire policies.

The Iowa stock and mutual companies decreased in number from 17 to 7 and in 1914 they received $1,237,816 in premiums. Their high point seems to have been in 1910 when they received $3,406,871 in premiums. The change has been due mostly to the absorption of Iowa companies by stronger ones elsewhere.

The non-Iowa companies increased their premiums received to $7,326,952. Ten years before they received $3,317,658, and twenty years ago $2,251,956, at which time the business of the Iowa and non-Iowa companies was nearly on a par in the state.

The state and county mutual associations increased business from $925,039 in 1904 to $1,477,821 in 1914.

The statistics as to other forms of insurance are not now available for the entire time, but there has been a steady increase and new kinds of insurance are being added from time to time.

CENTER OF POPULATION.

The United States Bureau of the Census made a computation as to the location of the center of population of Iowa for each one of four different enumerations and in the last published report gave a chart showing the same. The chart shows that the center of population has not been moving rapidly in any direction and that it has for many years remained substantially near to the geographical center of the state. The United States Census Bureau chart on center of population is reprinted below:
