Executive Summary

The 2019 report on community water fluoridation (CWF) provides information on the fluoride status of Iowa's water supplies. This report is designed to assist local public health professionals, dental and medical providers, and the public to make informed decisions about their oral health.

Community water fluoridation is the precise adjustment of natural fluoride levels to the optimal level of 0.7 mg/L¹ to prevent tooth decay. Some benefits of community water fluoridation include:

- A cost-effective way to prevent and reduce tooth decay. For every $1 spent on CWF, $38 in dental treatment costs are saved.²
- A reduction in tooth decay by at least 25% throughout a person's lifetime.³
- A lifetime of safe tooth decay prevention regardless of age, income, or education.

In 2019, there were a total of 1,068 public water systems serving 2,842,785 Iowa residents; 146 systems adjust their fluoride level, serving 1,599,640 people; 484 systems do not adjust their fluoride levels and serve 263,046 people (Table 1).

Of the Iowa residents served by a community water system, 90.2% are receiving fluoridated water. However, while 90.2% of Iowa residents receive fluoridated water, only 59.4% receive optimally fluoridated water.

To find the fluoride level in a certain community visit the CDC website, My Water's Fluoride. This website is updated monthly by the Iowa Department of Public Health.

Glossary

Adjusted: A water system that adds fluoride to achieve optimal fluoride level of 0.7 mg/L.

Consecutive: A water system that purchases water from another water system. The consecutive water system has a water plant but does little or no treatment to the water. These water systems are optimally fluoridated if the original (i.e., parent) system is optimally fluoridated. No additional fluoride is added to the consecutive system.

Defluoridated: A water system that has very high natural fluoride levels. One system in Iowa deflouridates.

Multi-Source: A water system that receives water from numerous sources. It may get water from two or three other water systems and also provide some water itself through its own wells. The fluoridation status depends on the fluoridation status of the different water systems. No additional fluoride is added.

Natural: A water system that has a natural fluoride concentration at or above 0.6 mg/L. No fluoride is added to the system.

Non-Adjusted: A water system that has a natural fluoride level at or below 0.59 mg/L. No fluoride is added.

Iowa's Fluoride Status

The 2019 report provides information on the fluoride status of Iowa's water supplies. This document is designed to assist local public health professionals, dental and medical providers, and the public to make informed decisions about their oral health.

Community water fluoridation (CWF) is the precise adjustment of natural fluoride levels to 0.7 mg/L⁴, the optimal level to prevent tooth decay. All water, including ground, surface, and sea water has fluoride, but the level is usually less than the optimal amount. Tooth decay is a very common, chronic, preventable disease that affects all ages. One in five people has untreated tooth decay⁵ which impacts employment, social development, self-esteem, and overall quality of life.

Some benefits of community water fluoridation include:

- A cost-effective way to prevent and reduce tooth decay. For every $1 spent on CWF, $38 in dental treatment costs are saved³.
- A reduction in tooth decay by at least 25% throughout a person's lifetime⁴.
- A lifetime of safe tooth decay prevention regardless of age, income, or education.

The 2019 report includes only public water supplies and not private wells. CDC defines a public water supply as a community water system if it has a minimum of 15 service connections used by year-round residents or regularly serves at least 25 year-round residents. Examples include cities, homeowners associations, mobile home parks, rural water supplies, universities, nursing homes, etc.

The fluoride concentrations provided in this report are a snapshot in time. If a water system's level of fluoride is adjusted, a reading of the fluoride level must be taken every day at the treatment plant. That data, by law, must be provided to the lowa Department of Natural Resources (DNR) on a monthly basis. The lowa Department of Public Health works with water operators and the DNR to receive these reports in order to monitor and enter the fluoride data into the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) Water Fluoridation Reporting System (WFRS). The public can access this information through the CDC website, My Water's Fluoride. If the water system does not fluoridate, is consecutive, or is considered natural, the fluoride level must be tested at least once every three to nine years; a monthly report is not required to be sent to the DNR.

There are a total of 1,068 public water systems serving 2,842,785 lowa residents; 146 systems adjust their fluoride level, serving 1,599,640 people; 484 systems do not adjust their fluoride levels and serve 263,046 people. Of the lowa residents served by a community water system, 90.2% are receiving fluoridated water. However, IDPH can only verify that 59.4% of lowa residents served by a community water system containing fluoride are receiving optimal (0.6-1.2 mg/L) fluoridated water to prevent tooth decay on a daily basis. This is due to the fact that not all adjusted water systems add the appropriate daily amount of fluoride to stay within optimal range and/or the water system is not within optimal range for at least nine months of the year. Although the percent of residents served by an optimally fluoridated community water system appears to have decreased from 2018 (61.6%), it is important to note that the methodology of this calculation has significantly changed from 2018, due to Iowa's implementation of CDC's methodology, providing consistency among states.

The following table lists each water system by county in alphabetical order, the fluoridation status, the population served, and the average fluoride concentration for 2019. This list only identifies public water supplies and not private wells.
