Known first as one of the sites of the infamous "Spirit Lake Massacre" and later as one of Iowa's first tourist attractions, the Gardner Cabin survives as a reminder of one of Iowa's tragic frontier events. Here you can learn the dramatic stories of Abbie Gardner and the Dakota leader, Inkpadutah. The State Historical Society of Iowa owns and preserves the Gardner Cabin and Museum. The cabin is listed on the National Register of Historic Places.

Abbie Gardner Cabin

Arnolds Park, Iowa

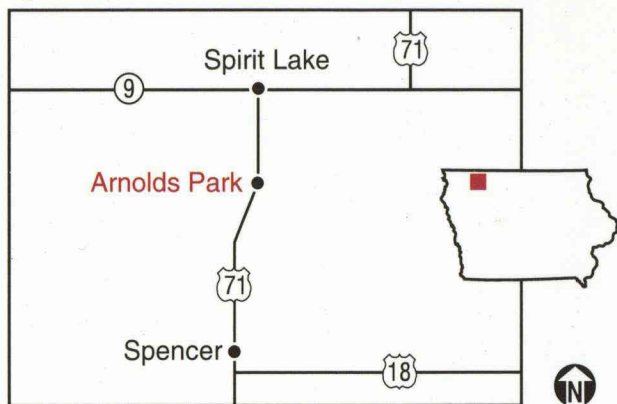

The Abbie Gardner Cabin in Arnolds Park is a surviving symbol of one of the most widely known events in Iowa history. A band of Wahpekute Dakota Indians killed 36 settlers and abducted several others, including 14-year-old Abigail Gardner. Accounts vary about who began the attack.
