Upcoming Maintenance on SILO Servers May 3 and 5

The servers that host the State Library's SILO services will be undergoing maintenance next week on Tuesday, May 3 and Thursday, May 5. Due to the nature of the work, the resources could be unavailable at times or all day; however, the server disruptions should not extend further than those days.

We wanted to let you know in case you receive questions from your patrons or staff. We will create a post on Library Talk early next week with a reminder and will add status updates to the thread throughout each day.

The following services will be impacted on each day:

Tuesday, May 3

- Public Library PLOW websites (about half)
- SILO ILL
- Locator
- SILO Helpdesk System
- Iowa Heritage Digital Collections

Thursday, May 5

- Public Library PLOW websites (the other half)
- State Library website
- Iowa Publications Online

Again, please keep an eye on Library Talk on those days for updates. Thank you for your understanding and patience!
