DECLARATION OF INDEPENDENCE

IN CONGRESS, JULY 4, 1776.

THE UNANIMOUS DECLARATION OF THE THIRTEEN UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

(Adopted by the Continental Congress July 2, and authenticated and proclaimed July 4, 1776.)

When in the course of human events it becomes necessary for one people to dissolve the political bands which have connected them with another, and to assume among the powers of the earth the separate and equal station to which the laws of nature and of nature's God entitle them, a decent respect to the opinions of mankind requires that they should declare the causes which impel them to the separation.

We hold these truths to be self-evident: that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that, to secure these rights, governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed; that, whenever any form of government becomes destructive of these ends, it is the right of the people to alter or abolish it, and to institute a new government, laying its foundation on such principles, and organizing its powers in such form, as to them shall seem most likely to effect their safety and happiness. Prudence, indeed, will dictate that governments long established should not be changed for light and transient causes; and, accordingly, all experience hath shown that mankind are more disposed to suffer, while evils are sufferable, than to right themselves by abolishing the forms to which they are accustomed. But when a long train of abuses and usurpations, pursuing invariably the same object, evinces a design to reduce them under absolute despotism, it is their right, it is their duty, to throw off such government, and to provide new guards for their future security. Such has been the patient sufferance of these colonies, and such is now the necessity which constrains them to alter their former systems of government. The history of the present king of Great Britain is a history of repeated injuries and usurpations, all having in direct object the establishment of an absolute tyranny over these states. To prove this, let facts be submitted to a candid world:

He has refused his assent to laws the most wholesome and necessary for the public good.

He has forbidden his governors to pass laws of immediate and pressing importance, unless suspended in their operation till his assent should be obtained, and, when so suspended, he has utterly neglected to attend to them.

He has refused to pass other laws for the accommodation of large districts of people, unless those people would relinquish the right of representation in the legislature—a right inestimable to them, and formidable to tyrants only.

He has called together legislative bodies at places unusual, uncomfortable, and distant from the repository of their public records, for the sole purpose of fatiguing them into compliance with his measures.

He has dissolved representative houses repeatedly for opposing, with manly firmness, his invasions on the rights of the people.

He has refused, for a long time after such dissolutions, to cause others to be elected; whereby the legislative powers, incapable of annihilation, have returned to the people at large for their exercise; the state remaining, in the meantime, exposed to all the dangers of invasion from without, and convulsions within.

He has endeavored to prevent the population of these states; for that purpose obstructing the laws for naturalization of foreigners; refusing to pass others to encourage their migration hither, and raising the conditions of new appropriations of lands.

He has obstructed the administration of justice by refusing his assent to laws for establishing judiciary powers.

He has made judges dependent on his will alone for the tenure of their offices and the amount and payment of their salaries.

He has erected a multitude of new offices, and sent hither swarms of officers to harass our people and eat out their substance.

He has kept among us, in times of peace, standing armies, without the consent of our legislatures.

He has affected to render the military independent of, and superior to, the civil power.

He has combined with others to subject us to a jurisdiction foreign to our constitution and unacknowledged by our laws, giving his assent to their acts of pretended legislation—

For quartering large bodies of armed troops among us;

For protecting them, by a mock trial, from punishment for any murders which they should commit on the inhabitants of these states;

For cutting off our trade with all parts of the world;

For imposing taxes on us without our consent;

For depriving us, in many cases, of the benefits of trial by jury;

For transporting us beyond seas, to be tried for pretended offenses;

For abolishing the free system of English laws in a neighboring province; establishing therein an arbitrary government, and enlarging its boundaries, so as to render it at once an example and fit instrument for introducing the same absolute rule into these colonies,

For taking away our charters, abolishing our most valuable laws, and altering fundamentally the forms of our governments;

For suspending our own legislatures, and declaring themselves invested with power to legislate for us in all cases whatsoever.

He has abdicated government here by declaring us out of his protection and waging war against us.

He has plundered our seas, ravaged our coasts, burnt our towns, and destroyed the lives of our people.

He is, at this time, transporting large armies of foreign mercenaries to complete the works of death, desolation and tyranny, already begun, with circumstances of cruelty and perfidy scarcely paralleled in the most barbarous ages, and totally unworthy the head of a civilized nation.

He has constrained our fellow-citizens, taken captive on the high seas, to bear arms against their country, to become the executioners of their friends and brethren, or to fall themselves by their hands.

He has excited domestic insurrections amongst us, and has endeavored to bring on the inhabitants of our frontiers the merciless Indian savages, whose known rule of warfare is an undistinguished destruction of all ages, sexes and conditions.

In every stage of these oppressions we have petitioned for redress, in the most humble terms; our repeated petitions have been answered only by repeated injury. A prince whose character is thus marked by every act which may define a tyrant is unfit to be the ruler of a free people.

Nor have we been wanting in attentions to our British brethren. We have warned them, from time to time, of attempts, by their legislature, to extend an unwarrantable jurisdiction over us. We have reminded them of the circumstances of our emigration and settlement here. We have appealed to their native justice and magnanimity; and we have conjured them, by the ties of our common kindred, to disavow these usurpations, which would inevitably interrupt our connections and correspondence. They, too, have been deaf to the voice of justice and of consanguinity. We must, therefore, acquiesce in the necessity which denounces our separation, and hold them, as we hold the rest of mankind, enemies in war, in peace friends.

We, therefore, the representatives of the United States of America, in general congress assembled, appealing to the Supreme Judge of the world for the rectitude of our intentions, do, in the name and by the authority of the good people of these colonies, solemnly publish and declare, that these united colonies are, and of right ought to be, free and independent states; that they are absolved from all allegiance to the British crown, and that all political connection between them and the state of Great Britain is, and ought to be, totally dissolved; and that, as free and independent states, they have full power to levy war, conclude peace, contract alliances, establish commerce, and do all other acts and things which independent states may of right do. And for the support of this declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of Divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our lives, our fortunes, and our sacred honor.

Whereas the delegates of the United States of America in congress assembled did, on the fifteenth day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven, hundred and seventy-seven, and in the second year of the independence of America, agree to certain articles of confederation and perpetual union between the states of New Hampshire, Massachusetts Bay, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia, in the words following, viz:

ARTICLES OF CONFEDERATION AND PERPETUAL UNION, BETWEEN THE STATES OF NEW HAMPSHIRE, MASSACHUSETTS BAY, RHODE ISLAND AND PROVIDENCE PLANTATIONS, CONNECTICUT, NEW YORK, NEW JERSEY, PENNSYLVANIA, DELAWARE, MARYLAND, VIRGINIA, NORTH CAROLINA, SOUTH CAROLINA AND GEORGIA:—

Article 1. The style of this confederacy shall be "The United States of America."

Art. 2. Each state retains its sovereignty, freedom and independence, and every power, jurisdiction and right which is not by this confederation expressly delegated to the United States, in congress assembled.

Art. 3. The said states hereby severally enter into a firm league of friendship with each other for their common defense, the security of their liberties, and their mutual and general welfare, binding themselves to assist each other against all force offered to or attacks made upon them, or any of them, on account of religion, sovereignty, trade, or any other pretense whatever.

Art. 4. The better to secure and perpetuate mutual friendship and intercourse among the people of the different states in this union, the free inhabitants of each of these states, paupers, vagabonds and fugitives from justice excepted, shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of free citizens in the several states; and the people of each state shall have free ingress and regress to and from any other state, and shall enjoy therein all the privileges of trade and commerce, subject to the same duties, impositions and restrictions as the inhabitants thereof respectively; provided that such restrictions shall not extend so far as to prevent the removal of property imported into any state to any other state of which the owner is an inhabitant: provided, also, that no imposition, duties or restriction, shall be laid by any state on the property of the United States, or either of them.

If any person guilty of or charged with treason, felony or other high misdemeanor in any state shall flee from justice, and be found in any of the United States, he shall, upon demand of the governor or executive power of the state from which he fled, be delivered up and removed to the state having jurisdiction of his offense.

Full faith and credit shall be given in each of these states to the records, acts and judicial proceedings of the courts and magistrates of every other state.

Art. 5. For the more convenient management of the general interests of the United States, delegates shall be annually appointed, in such manner as the legislature of each state shall direct, to meet in congress on the first Monday in November, in every year, with a power reserved to each state to recall its delegates, or any of them, at any time within the year, and to send others in their stead for the remainder of the year.

No state shall be represented in congress by less than two, nor by more than seven, members; and no person shall be capable of being a delegate for more than three years in any term of six years; nor shall any person, being a delegate, be capable of holding any office under the United States for which he, or another for his benefit, receives any salary, fees or emolument of any kind.

Each state shall maintain its own delegates in a meeting of the states, and while they act as members of the committee of these states.

In determining questions in the United States congress assembled, each state shall have one vote.

Freedom of speech and debate in congress shall not be impeached or questioned in any court or place out of congress, and the members of congress shall be protected in their persons from arrests and imprisonments, during the time of their going to and from and attendance on congress, except for treason, felony or breach of the peace.

Art. 6. No state, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, shall send any embassy to, or receive any embassy from, or enter into any conference, agreement, alliance or treaty with, any king, prince or state; nor shall any person holding any office of profit or trust under the United States, or any of them, accept of any present, emolument, office or title of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state; nor shall the United States in congress assembled, or any of them, grant any title of nobility.

No two or more states shall enter into any treaty, confederation or alliance whatever between them, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, specifying accurately the purposes for which the same is to be entered into, and how long it shall continue.

No state shall lay any imposts or duties which may interfere with any stipulations in treaties, entered into by the United States in congress assembled, with any king, prince or state, in pursuance of any treaties already proposed by congress, to the courts of France and Spain.

* No vessels of war shall be kept up in time of peace by any state, except such number only as shall be deemed necessary by the United States, in congress assembled, for the defense of such state, or its trade, nor shall any body of forces be kept up by any state, in time of peace, except such number only as in the judgment of the United States, in congress assembled, shall be deemed requisite to garrison the forts necessary for the defense of such state, but every state shall always keep up a well regulated and disciplined militia, sufficiently armed and accoutred, and shall provide and constantly have ready for use, in public stores, a due number of field-pieces and tents, and a proper quantity of arms, ammunition and camp-equipage.

No state shall engage in any war, without the consent of the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be actually invaded by enemies, or shall have received certain advice of a resolution being formed by some nation of Indians to invade such state, and the danger is so imminent as not to admit of a delay, till the United States, in congress assembled, can be consulted; nor shall any state grant commissions to any ships or vessels of war, nor letters of marque or reprisal, except it be after a declaration of war by the United States in congress assembled, and then only against the kingdom or state, and the subjects thereof, against which war has been so declared, and under such regulations as shall be established by the United States in congress assembled, unless such state be infested by pirates, in which case vessels of war may be fitted out for that occasion, and kept so long as the danger shall continue, or until the United States, in congress assembled, shall determine otherwise.

Art. 7. When land forces are raised by any state for the common defense, all officers of or under the rank of colonel shall be appointed by the legislature of each state, respectively, by whom such forces shall be raised, or in such manner as such state shall direct, and all vacancies shall be filled up by the state which first made the appointment.

Art. 8. All charges of war, and all other expenses that shall be incurred for the common defense or general welfare, and allowed by the United States in congress assembled, shall be defrayed out of a common treasury, which shall be supplied by the several states, in proportion to the value of all land within each state, granted to, or surveyed for, any person, as such land and the buildings and improvements thereon shall be estimated, according to such mode as the United States in congress assembled shall, from time to time, direct and appoint.

The taxes for paying that proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the several states, within the time agreed upon by the United States in congress assembled.

Art. 9. The United States, in congress assembled, shall have the sole and exclusive right and power of determining on peace and war, except in the cases mentioned in the sixth article; of sending and receiving ambassadors, entering into treaties and alliances, provided that no treaty of commerce shall be made whereby the legislative power of the respective states shall be restrained from imposing such imposts and duties on foreigners as their own people are subjected to, or from prohibiting the exportation or importation of any species of goods or commodities whatsoever; of establishing rules for deciding, in all cases, what captures on land or water shall be legal, and in what manner prizes taken by land or naval forces in the service of the United States shall be divided or appropriated; of granting letters of marque and reprisal in times of peace; appointing courts for the trial of piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and establishing courts for receiving and determining finally appeals in all cases of capture; provided that no member of congress shall be appointed a judge of any of the said courts.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall also be the last resort on appeal in all disputes and differences now subsisting, or that hereafter may arise, between two or more states concerning boundary, jurisdiction, or any other cause whatever, which authority shall always be exercised in the manner following: Whenever the legislative or executive authority or lawful agent of any state in controversy with another shall present a petition to congress, stating the matter in question and praying for a hearing, notice thereof shall be given by order of congress to the legislative or executive authority of the other state in controversy, and a day assigned for the appearance of the parties by their lawful agents, who shall then be directed to appoint, by joint consent, commissioners or judges to constitute a court for hearing and determining the matter in question; but, if they can not agree, congress shall name three persons out of each of the United States, and from the list of such persons each party shall alternately strike out one, the petitioners beginning, until the number shall be reduced to thirteen; and from that number not less than seven nor more than nine names, as congress shall direct, shall, in the presence of congress, be drawn out by lot; and the persons whose names shall be so drawn, or any five of them, shall be commissioners or judges to hear and finally determine the controversy, so always as a major part of the judges who shall hear the cause shall agree in the determination; and if either party shall neglect to attend at the day appointed, without showing reasons which congress shall judge sufficient; or, being present, shall refuse to strike, the congress shall proceed to nominate three persons out of each state, and the secretary of congress shall strike in behalf of such party absent or refusing; and the judgment and sentence of the court to be appointed in the manner before prescribed shall be final and conclusive; and if any of the parties shall refuse to submit to the authority of such court, or to appear or defend their claim or cause, the court shall nevertheless proceed to pronounce sentence, or judgment, which shall in like manner be final and decisive; the judgment or sentence and other proceedings being in either case transmitted to congress, and lodged among the acts of congress, for the security of the parties concerned; provided that every commissioner, before he sits in judgment, shall take an oath, to be administered by one of the judges of the supreme or superior court of the state where the cause shall be tried, "well and truly to hear and determine the matter in question, according to the best of his judgment, without favor, affection or hope of reward;" provided, also, that no state shall be deprived of territory for the benefit of the United States.

All controversies concerning the private right of soil, claimed under different grants of two or more states whose jurisdictions, as they may respect such lands, and the states which passed such grants, are adjusted, the said grants or either of them being at the same time claimed to have originated antecedent to such settlement of jurisdiction, shall, on the petition of either party to the congress of the United States, be finally determined, as near as may be, in the same manner as is before prescribed for deciding disputes respecting territorial jurisdiction between different states.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall also have the sole and exclusive right and power of regulating the alloy and value of coin struck by their own authority, or by that of the respective states, fixing the standard of weights and measures throughout the United States; regulating the trade and managing all affairs with the Indians, not members of any of the states: provided, that the legislative right of any state, within its own limits, be not infringed or violated; establishing and regulating post offices from one state to another, throughout all the United States, and exacting such postage on the papers passing through the same as may be requisite to defray the expenses of the said office; appointing all officers of the land forces in the service of the United States, excepting regimental officers; appointing all the officers of the naval forces, and commissioning all officers whatever in the service of the United States; making rules for the government and regulation of the said land and naval forces, and directing their operations.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall have authority to appoint a committee, to sit in the recess of congress, to be denominated "A Committee of the States," and to consist of one delegate from each state; and to appoint such other committees and civil officers as may be necessary for managing the general affairs of the United States under their direction; to appoint one of their number to preside: provided, that no person shall be allowed to serve in the office of president more than one year in any term of three years; to ascertain the necessary sums of money to be raised for the service of the United States, and to appropriate and apply the same for defraying the public expenses; to borrow money or emit bills on the credit of the United States, transmitting every half year to the respective states an account of the sums of money so borrowed or emitted; to build and equip a navy; to agree upon the number of land forces, and to make requisitions from each state for its quota, in proportion to the number of white inhabitants in such state, which requisition shall be binding; and thereupon the legislature of each state shall appoint the regimental officers, raise the men, and clothe, arm and equip them, in a soldier-like manner, at the expense of the United States; and the officers and men, so clothed, armed and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on, by the United States, in congress assembled; but if the United States, in congress assembled, shall, on consideration of circumstances, judge proper that any state should not raise men, or should raise a smaller number than its quota, and that any other state should raise a greater number of men than the quota thereof, such extra number shall be raised, officered, clothed, armed and equipped in the same manner as the quota of such state, unless the legislature of such state shall judge that such extra number can not be safely spared out of the same, in which case they shall raise, officer, clothe, arm and equip as many of such extra number as they judge can be safely spared, and the officers and men, so clothed, armed and equipped, shall march to the place appointed, and within the time agreed on, by the United States, in congress assembled.

The United States, in congress assembled, shall never engage in a war, nor grant letters of marque and reprisal in time of peace, nor enter into any treaties or alliances, nor coin money, nor regulate the value thereof, nor ascertain the sums and expenses necessary for the defense and welfare of the United States, or any of them, nor emit bills, nor borrow money on the credit of the United States, nor appropriate money, nor agree upon the number of vessels of war to be built or purchased, or the number of land or sea forces to be raised, nor appoint a commander-in-chief of the army or navy, unless nine states assent to the same, nor shall a question on any other point, except for adjourning from day to day, be determined, unless by the votes of a majority of the United States, in congress assembled.

The congress of the United States shall have power to adjourn to any time within the year, and to any place within the United States, so that no period of adjournment be for a longer duration than the space of six months, and shall publish the journal of their proceedings monthly, except such parts thereof relating to treaties, alliances or military operations as in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the delegates of each state, on any question, shall be entered on the journal, when it is desired by any delegate; and the delegates of a state, or any of them, at his or their request, shall be furnished with a transcript of the said journal, except such parts as are above excepted, to lay before the legislatures of the several states.

Art. 10. The committee of the states, or any nine of them, shall be authorized to execute, in the recess of congress, such of the powers of congress as the United States, in congress assembled, by the consent of nine states, shall from time to time, think expedient to vest them with; provided, that no power be delegated to the said committee, for the exercise of which, by the articles of confederation, the voice of nine states, in the congress of the United States assembled, is requisite.

Art. 11. Canada, acceding to this confederation and joining in the measures of the United States, shall be admitted into and entitled to all the advantages of this union; but no other colony shall be admitted into the same, unless such admission be agreed to by nine states.

Art. 12. All bills of credit emitted, moneys borrowed and debts contracted by or under the authority of congress, before the assembling of the United States in pursuance of the present confederation, shall be deemed and considered as a charge against the United States, for payment and satisfaction whereof the said United States and the public faith are hereby solemnly pledged.

Art. 13. Every state shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by this confederation are submitted to them. And the articles of this confederation shall be inviolably observed by every state, and the union shall be perpetual; nor shall any alteration at any time hereafter be made in any of them, unless such alteration be agreed to in a congress of the United States, and be afterwards confirmed by the legislatures of every state.

And whereas it hath pleased the great Governor of the world to incline the hearts of the legislatures we respectively represent in Congress to approve of, and to authorize us to ratify, the said articles of confederation and perpetual union. Know ye, that we, the undersigned delegates, by virtue of the power and authority to us given for that purpose, do, by these presents, in the name and in behalf of our respective constituents, fully and entirely ratify and confirm each and every of the said articles of confederation and perpetual union, and all and singular the matters and things therein contained. And we do further solemnly plight and engage the faith of our respective constituents that they shall abide by the determinations of the United States, in congress assembled, on all questions which by the said confederation are submitted to them; and that the articles thereof shall be inviolably observed by the states we respectively represent, and that the union shall be perpetual. In witness whereof, we have hereunto set our hands, in congress

ARTICLE I.

Section 1. All legislative powers herein granted shall be vested in a congress of the United States, which shall consist of a senate and house of representatives.

Sec. 2. (1)* The house of representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several states; and the electors in each state shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the state legislature.

(2) No person shall be a representative who shall not have attained to the age of twenty-five years, and been seven years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state in which he shall be chosen.

(3) [Representatives and direct taxes shall be apportioned among the several states which may be included within this union according to their respective numbers, which shall be determined by adding to the whole number of free persons, including those bound to service for a term of years, and excluding Indians not taxed, three-fifths of all other persons.]† The actual enumeration shall be made within three years after the first meeting of the congress of the United States, and within every subsequent term of ten years, in such manner as they shall by law direct. The number of representatives shall not exceed one for every thirty thousand, but each state shall have at least one representative, and, until such enumeration shall be made, the state of New Hampshire shall be entitled to choose three, Massachusetts eight, Rhode Island and Providence Plantations one, Connecticut five, New York six, New Jersey four, Pennsylvania eight, Delaware one, Maryland six, Virginia ten, North Carolina five, South Carolina five, and Georgia three.

*The figures in parentheses are inserted for convenience of reference; they are not in the original.

†The foregoing clause included in brackets is amended by Sec. 2 of the 14th amendment, post.

(4) When vacancies happen in the representation from any state, the executive authority thereof shall issue writs of election to fill such vacancies.

(5) The house of representatives shall choose their speaker and other officers, and shall have the sole power of impeachment.

Sec. 3. (1) The senate of the United States shall be composed of two senators from each state, chosen by the legislature thereof for six years; and each senator shall have one vote.

(2) Immediately after they shall be assembled in consequence of the first election, they shall be divided as equally as may be into three classes. The seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, of the second class at the expiration of the fourth year, and of the third class at the expiration of the sixth year, so that one-third may be chosen every second year; and if vacancies happen, by resignation or otherwise, during the recess of the legislature of any state, the executive thereof may make temporary appointments until the next meeting of the legislature, which shall then fill such vacancies.

(3) No person shall be a senator who shall not have attained to the age of thirty years, and been nine years a citizen of the United States, and who shall not, when elected, be an inhabitant of that state for which he shall be chosen.

(4) The vice-president of the United States shall be president of the senate, but shall have no vote, unless they be equally divided.

(5) The senate shall choose their other officers, and also a president pro tempore, in the absence of the vice-president, or when he shall exercise the office of president of the United States.

(6) The senate shall have the sole power to try all impeachments. When sitting for that purpose they shall be on oath or affirmation. When the president of the United States is tried, the chief justice shall preside; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

(7) Judgment in cases of impeachment shall not extend further than to removal from office, and disqualification to hold and enjoy any office of honor, trust or profit under the United States; but the party convicted shall nevertheless be liable and subject to indictment, trial, judgment and punishment, according to law.

Sec. 4. (1) The times, places and manner of holding elections for senators and representatives shall be prescribed in each state by the legislature thereof, but the congress may at any time by law make or alter such regulations, except as to the places of choosing senators.

(2) The congress shall assemble at least once in every year, and such meeting shall be on the first Monday in December, unless they shall by law appoint a different day.

Sec. 5. (1) Each house shall be the judge of the elections, returns and qualifications of its own members, and a majority of each shall constitute a quorum to do business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members, in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

(2) Each house may determine the rules of its proceedings, punish its members for disorderly behavior, and, with the concurrence of two-thirds, expel a member.

(3) Each house shall keep a journal of its proceedings, and from time to time publish the same, excepting such parts as may in their judgment require secrecy; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house on any question shall, at the desire of one-fifth of those present, be entered on the journal.

(4) Neither house, during the session of congress, shall, without the consent of the other, adjourn for more than three days, nor to any other place than that in which the two houses shall be sitting.

Sec. 6. (1) The senators and representatives shall receive a compensation for their services, to be ascertained by law, and paid out of the treasury of the United States. They shall in all cases, except treason, felony and breach of the peace, be privileged from arrest during their attendance at the sessions of their respective houses, and in going to and returning from the same; and for any speech or debate in either house they shall not be questioned in any other place.

(2) No senator or representative shall, during the time for which he was elected, be appointed to any civil office under the authority of the United States, which shall have been created, or the emoluments whereof shall have been increased, during such time; and no person holding any office under the United States shall be a member of either house during his continuance in office.

Sec. 7. (1) All bills for raising revenue shall originate in the house of representatives, but the senate may propose or concur with amendments, as on other bills.

(2) Every bill which shall have passed the house of representatives and the senate, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the president of the United States; if he approve he shall sign it, but if not he shall return it, with his objections, to that house in which it shall have originated, who shall enter the objections at large on their journal, and proceed to reconsider it. If after such reconsideration two-thirds of that house shall agree to pass the bill, it shall be sent, together with the objections, to the other house, by which it shall likewise be reconsidered, and, if approved by two-thirds of that house, it shall become a law. But in all such cases the votes of both houses shall be determined by yeas and nays, and the names of the persons voting for and against the bill shall be entered on the journal of each house, respectively. If any bill shall not be returned by the president within ten days (Sundays excepted) after it shall have been presented to him, the same shall be a law, in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the congress by their adjournment prevent its return, in which case it shall not be a law.

(3) Every order, resolution or vote to which the concurrence of the senate and house of representatives may be necessary (except on a question of adjournment) shall be presented to the president of the United States, and, before the same shall take effect, shall be approved by him, or, being disapproved by him, shall be repassed by two-thirds of the senate and house of representatives, according to the rules and limitations prescribed in the case of a bill.

Sec. 8. The congress shall have power:—

(1) To lay and collect taxes, duties, imposts and excises, to pay the debts and provide for the common defense and general welfare of the United States; but all duties, imposts and excises shall be uniform throughout the United States;

(2) To borrow money on the credit of the United States;

(3) To regulate commerce with foreign nations, and among the several states, and with the Indian tribes;

(4) To establish an uniform rule of naturalization, and uniform laws on the subject of bankruptcies throughout the United States;

(6) To provide for the punishment of counterfeiting the securities and current coin of the United States;

(7) To establish post-offices and post-roads;

(8) To promote the progress of science and useful arts, by securing for limited times to authors and inventors the exclusive right to their respective writings and discoveries;

(9) To constitute tribunals inferior to the supreme court;

(10) To define and punish piracies and felonies committed on the high seas, and offenses against the law of nations;

(11) To declare war, grant letters of marque and reprisal, and make rules concerning captures on land and water;

(12) To raise and support armies; but no appropriation of money to that use shall be for a longer term than two years;

(13) To provide and maintain a navy;

(14) To make rules for the government and regulation of the land and naval forces;

(15) To provide for calling forth the militia to execute the laws of the union, suppress insurrections and repel invasions;

(16) To provide for organizing, arming and disciplining the militia, and for governing such part of them as may be employed in the service of the United States; reserving to the states, respectively, the appointment of the officers and the authority of training the militia according to the discipline prescribed by congress;

(17) To exercise exclusive legislation, in all cases whatsoever, over such district (not exceeding ten miles square) as may, by cession of particular states and the acceptance of congress, become the seat of the government of the United States, and to exercise like authority over all places purchased by the consent of the legislature of the state in which the same shall be, for the erection of forts, magazines, arsenals, dock yards and other needful buildings; and—

(18) To make all laws which shall be necessary and proper for carrying into execution the foregoing powers, and all other powers vested by this constitution in the government of the United States, or in any department or officer thereof.

Sec. 9. (1) The migration or importation of such persons as any of the states now existing shall think proper to admit shall not be prohibited by the congress prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight, but a tax or duty may be imposed on such importation, not exceeding ten dollars for each person.

(2) The privilege of the writ of habeas corpus shall not be suspended, unless when, in cases of rebellion or invasion, the public safety may require it.

(3) No bill of attainder or ex post facto law shall be passed.

(4) No capitation or other direct tax shall be laid, unless in proportion to the census or enumeration hereinbefore directed to be taken.

(5) No tax or duty shall be laid on articles exported from any state.

(6) No preference shall be given by any regulation of commerce or revenue to the ports of one state over those of another; nor shall vessels bound to or from one state be obliged to enter, clear or pay duties in another.

(7) No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law, and a regular statement and account of the receipts and expenditures of all public money shall be published from time to time.

(8) No title of nobility shall be granted by the United States; and no person holding any office of profit or trust under them shall, without the consent of the congress, accept of any present, emolument, office or title, of any kind whatever, from any king, prince or foreign state.

Sec. 10. (1) No state shall enter into any treaty, alliance or confederation; grant letters of marque and reprisal; coin money; emit bills of credit; make any thing but gold and silver coin a tender in payment of debts; pass any bill of attainder, ex post facto law; or law impairing the obligation of contracts, or grant any title of nobility.

(2) No state shall, without the consent of the congress, lay any imposts or duties on imports or exports, except what may be absolutely necessary for executing its inspection laws; and the net produce of all duties and imposts, laid by any state on imports or exports, shall be for the use of the treasury of the United States; and all such laws shall be subject to the revision and control of the congress.

(3) No state shall, without the consent of congress, lay any duty of tonnage, keep troops or ships of war in time of peace, enter into any agreement or compact with another state, or with a foreign power, or engage in war, unless actually invaded, or in such imminent danger as will not admit of delay.

ARTICLE II.

Section 1. (1) The executive power shall be vested in a president of the United States of America. He shall hold his office during the term of four years, and, together with the vice-president chosen for the same term, be elected as follows:

(2) Each state shall appoint, in such manner as the legislature thereof may direct, a number of electors, equal to the whole number of senators and repre-

representatives to which the state may be entitled in the congress; but no senator or representative, or person holding an office of trust or profit under the United States, shall be appointed an elector.

The electors shall meet in their respective states and vote by ballot for two persons, of whom one at least shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves. And they shall make a list of all the persons voted for, and of the number of votes for each; which list they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate. The president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if there be more than one who have such majority, and have an equal number of votes, then the house of representatives shall immediately choose, by ballot, one of them for president; and if no person have a majority, then, from the five highest on the list, the said house shall, in like manner, choose the president. But in choosing the president the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. In every case, after the choice of the president, the person having the greatest number of votes of the electors shall be the vice-president. But if there should remain two or more who have equal votes, the senate shall choose from them, by ballot, the vice-president.

[The foregoing clause has been superseded and annulled by the twelfth amendment, post.]

(3) The congress may determine the time of choosing the electors, and the day on which they shall give their votes; which day shall be the same throughout the United States.

(4) No person except a natural born citizen, or a citizen of the United States at the time of the adoption of this constitution, shall be eligible to the office of president; neither shall any person be eligible to that office who shall not have attained to the age of thirty-five years, and been fourteen years a resident within the United States.

(5) In case of the removal of the president from office, or of his death, resignation, or inability to discharge the powers and duties of the said office, the same shall devolve on the vice-president, and the congress may by law provide for the case of removal, death, resignation or inability, both of the president and vice-president, declaring what officer shall then act as president, and such officer shall act accordingly until the disability be removed or a president shall be elected.

(6) The president shall, at stated times, receive for his services a compensation, which shall neither be increased nor diminished during the period for which he shall have been elected, and he shall not receive within that period any other emolument from the United States or any of them.

(7) Before he enter on the execution of his office, he shall take the following oath or affirmation:

"I do solemnly swear (or affirm) that I will faithfully execute the office of president of the United States, and will, to the best of my ability, preserve, protect, and defend the constitution of the United States."

Sec. 2. (1) The president shall be commander-in-chief of the army and navy of the United States, and of the militia of the several states when called into the actual service of the United States; he may require the opinion in writing of the principal officer in each of the executive departments, upon any subject relating to the duties of their respective offices; and he shall have power to grant reprieves and pardons for offenses against the United States, except in cases of impeachment.

(2) He shall have power, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, to make treaties, provided two-thirds of the senators present concur; and he shall nominate, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate, shall appoint, ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, judges of the supreme court, and all other officers of the United States, whose appointments are not herein otherwise provided for and which shall be established by law. But the congress may, by law, vest the appointment of such inferior officers as they think proper in the president alone, in the courts of law, or in the heads of departments.

(3) The president shall have power to fill up all vacancies that may happen during the recess of the senate, by granting commissions, which shall expire at the end of their next session.

Sec. 3. He shall from time to time give to the congress information of the state of the Union, and recommend to their consideration such measures as he shall judge necessary and expedient. He may, on extraordinary occasions, convene both houses, or either of them; and, in case of disagreement between them with respect to the time of adjournment, he may adjourn them to such time as he shall think proper. He shall receive ambassadors and other public ministers. He shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed; and shall commission all the officers of the United States.

Sec. 4. The president, vice-president, and all civil officers of the United States, shall be removed from office on impeachment for, and conviction of, treason, bribery, or other high crimes and misdemeanors.

ARTICLE III.

Section 1. The judicial power of the United States shall be vested in one supreme court, and in such inferior courts as the congress may, from time to time, ordain and establish. The judges, both of the supreme and inferior courts, shall hold their offices during good behavior; and shall, at stated times, receive for their services a compensation, which shall not be diminished during their continuance in office.

Sec. 2. (1) The judicial power shall extend to all cases in law and equity arising under this constitution, the laws of the United States, and treaties made, or which shall be made, under their authority; to all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls; to all cases of admiralty and maritime jurisdiction; to controversies to which the United States shall be a party; to controversies between two or more states, between a state and citizens of another state, between citizens of different states, between citizens of the same state claiming lands under grants of different states, and between a state, or the citizens thereof, and foreign states, citizens or subjects.

(2) In all cases affecting ambassadors, other public ministers and consuls, and those in which a state shall be a party, the supreme court shall have original jurisdiction. In all the other cases, before mentioned, the supreme court shall have appellate jurisdiction, both as to law and fact, with such exceptions and under such regulations as the congress shall make.

(3) The trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury; and such trial shall be held in the state where the said crimes shall have been committed; but when not committed within any state, the trial shall be at such place or places as the congress may by law have directed.

Sec. 3. (1) Treason against the United States shall consist only in levying war against them, or in adhering to their enemies, giving them aid and comfort. No person shall be convicted of treason unless on the testimony of two witnesses to the same overt act, or on confession in open court.

(2) The congress shall have power to declare the punishment of treason, but no attainder of treason shall work corruption of blood, or forfeiture, except during the life of the person attained.

ARTICLE IV.

Section 1. Full faith and credit shall be given in each state to the public acts, records and judicial proceedings of every other state. And the congress may, by general laws, prescribe the manner in which such acts, records and proceedings shall be proved, and the effect thereof.

Sec. 2. (1) The citizens of each state shall be entitled to all privileges and immunities of citizens in the several states.

(2) A person charged in any state with treason, felony or other crime, who shall flee from justice and be found in another state, shall, on demand of the executive authority of the state from which he fled, be delivered up, to be removed to the state having jurisdiction of the crime.

(3) No person held to service or labor in one state, under the laws thereof, escaping into another, shall, in consequence of any law or regulation therein, be discharged from such service or labor, but shall be delivered up on claim of the party to whom such service or labor may be due.

Sec. 3. (1) New states may be admitted by the congress into this Union; but no new state shall be formed or erected within the jurisdiction of any other state, nor any state be formed by the junction of two or more states, or parts of states, without the consent of the legislatures of the states concerned, as well as of the congress.

(2) The congress shall have power to dispose of, and make all needful rules and regulations respecting, the territory or other property belonging to the United States; and nothing in this constitution shall be so construed as to prejudice any claims of the United States or of any particular state.

Sec. 4. The United States shall guarantee to every state in this Union a republican form of government, and shall protect each of them against invasion; and, on application of the legislature, or of the executive (when the legislature cannot be convened), against domestic violence.

ARTICLE V.

The congress, whenever two-thirds of both houses shall deem it necessary, shall propose amendments to this constitution, or, on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states, or by conventions in three-fourths thereof, as the one or the other mode of ratification may be proposed by the congress; provided, that no amendment which may be made prior to the year one thousand eight hundred and eight shall in any manner affect the first and fourth clauses in the ninth section of the first article; and that no state, without its consent, shall be deprived of its equal suffrage in the senate.

ARTICLE VI.

(1) All debts contracted and engagements entered into before the adoption of this constitution shall be as valid against the United States under this constitution as under the confederation.

(2) This constitution, and the laws of the United States which shall be made in pursuance thereof, and all treaties made, or which shall be made, under the authority of the United States, shall be the supreme law of the land; and the judges in every state shall be bound thereby, anything in the constitution or laws of any state to the contrary notwithstanding.

(3) The senators and representatives before mentioned, and the members of the several state legislatures, and all executive and judicial officers, both of the United States and of the several states, shall be bound by oath or affirmation to support this constitution; but no religious test shall ever be required as a qualification to any office or public trust under the United States.

ARTICLE VII.

The ratification of the conventions of nine states shall be sufficient for the establishment of this constitution between the states so ratifying the same.

Done in convention, by the unanimous consent of the states present, the seventeenth day of September, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of the independence of the United States of America, the twelfth. ARTICLE I.

Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof; or abridging the freedom of speech or of the press; or of the right of the people peaceably to assemble, and to petition the government for a redress of grievances.

ARTICLE II.

A well regulated militia being necessary to the security of a free state, the right of the people to keep and bear arms shall not be infringed.

ARTICLE III.

No soldier shall, in time of peace, be quartered in any house without the consent of the owner; nor in time of war, but in a manner to be prescribed by law.

ARTICLE IV.

The right of the people to be secure in their persons, houses, papers, and effects, against unreasonable searches and seizures, shall not be violated; and no warrants shall issue, but upon probable cause, supported by oath or affirmation, and particularly describing the place to be searched, and the persons or things to be seized.

*The first ten of these amendments were proposed by congress to the legislatures of the several states September 25, 1789, and were ratified by all of the states, except Connecticut, Georgia and Massachusetts, before the end of the year 1791, thereby becoming a part of the organic law, pursuant to the fifth article of the original constitution.

The eleventh amendment was in like manner proposed September 5, 1794, and was, in a message of the president to congress, January 8, 1798, declared to have been duly ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

The twelfth amendment was in like manner proposed December 12, 1802, in lieu of the original third paragraph of the first section of the second article, and September 25, 1804, was proclaimed by the secretary of state to have been duly ratified.

The thirteenth amendment was proposed February 1, 1865, and was December 18, 1865, by the secretary of state, proclaimed to have been duly ratified.

The fourteenth amendment was proposed June 16, 1866, and was July 28, 1868, by the secretary of state proclaimed to have been duly ratified.

The fifteenth amendment was proposed February 27, 1869, and was March 30, 1870, by the secretary of state proclaimed to have been duly ratified.

ARTICLE V.

No person shall be held to answer for a capital, or otherwise infamous crime, unless on a presentment or indictment of a grand jury, except in cases arising in the land or naval forces, or in the militia, when in actual service, in time of war or public danger; nor shall any person be subject, for the same offense, to be twice put in jeopardy of life or limb; nor shall he compelled, in any criminal case, to be a witness against himself; nor be deprived of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law; nor shall private property be taken for public use without just compensation.

ARTICLE VI.

In all criminal prosecutions, the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy and public trial, by an impartial jury of the state and district wherein the crime shall have been committed, which district shall have been previously ascertained by law, and to be informed of the nature and cause of the accusation; to be confronted with the witnesses against him; to have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor; and to have the assistance of counsel for his defense.

ARTICLE VII.

In suits at common law, where the value in controversy shall exceed twenty dollars, the right of trial by jury shall be preserved; and no fact, tried by a jury, shall be otherwise re-examined in any court of the United States, than according to the rules of the common law.

ARTICLE VIII.

Excessive bail shall not be required, nor excessive fines imposed, nor cruel and unusual punishments inflicted.

ARTICLE IX.

The enumeration in the constitution of certain rights shall not be construed to deny or disparage others retained by the people.

ARTICLE X.

The powers not delegated to the United States by the constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively, or to the people.

ARTICLE XI.

The judicial power of the United States shall not be construed to extend to any suit in law or equity, commenced or prosecuted against one of the United States by citizens of another state, or by citizens or subjects of any foreign state.

ARTICLE XII.

Section 1. The electors shall meet in their respective states, and vote by ballot for president and vice-president, one of whom, at least, shall not be an inhabitant of the same state with themselves; they shall name in their ballots the person voted for as president, and in distinct ballots the person voted for as vice-president; and they shall make distinct lists of all persons voted for as president, and of all persons voted for as vice-president, and of the number of votes for each, which lists they shall sign and certify, and transmit sealed to the seat of the government of the United States, directed to the president of the senate; the president of the senate shall, in the presence of the senate and house of representatives, open all the certificates, and the votes shall then be counted; the person having the greatest number of votes for president shall be the president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have such majority, then from the persons having the highest numbers, not exceeding three, on the list of those voted for as president, the house of representatives shall choose immediately, by ballot, the president. But in choosing the president, the votes shall be taken by states, the representation from each state having one vote; a quorum for this purpose shall consist of a member or members from two-thirds of the states, and a majority of all the states shall be necessary to a choice. And if the house of representatives shall not choose a president, whenever the right of choice shall devolve upon them, before the fourth day of March next following, then the vice-president shall act as president, as in the case of the death or other constitutional disability of the president.

Sec. 2. The person having the greatest number of votes as vice-president shall be the vice-president, if such number be a majority of the whole number of electors appointed; and if no person have a majority, then from the two highest numbers on the list, the senate shall choose the vice-president; a quorum, for that purpose, shall consist of two-thirds of the whole number of senators, and a majority of the whole number shall be necessary to a choice.

Sec. 3. But no person constitutionally ineligible to the office of president shall be eligible to that of vice-president of the United States.

Sec. 2. Congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

ARTICLE XIV.

Section 1. All persons born or naturalized in the United States, and subject to the jurisdiction thereof, are citizens of the United States, and of the state wherein they reside. No state shall make or enforce any law which shall abridge the privileges or immunities of citizens of the United States, nor shall any state deprive any person of life, liberty, or property, without due process of law, nor deny to any person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws.

Sec. 2. Representatives shall be apportioned among the several states according to their respective numbers, counting the whole number of persons in each state, excluding Indians not taxed. But when the right to vote at any election for the choice of electors for president and vice-president of the United States, representatives in congress, the executive and judicial officers of a state, or the members of the legislature thereof, is denied to any of the male inhabitants of such state, being twenty-one years of age, and citizens of the United States, or in any way abridged, except for participation in rebellion or other crime, the basis of representation therein shall be reduced in the proportion which the number of such male citizens shall bear to the whole number of male citizens twenty-one years of age in such state.

Sec. 3. No person shall be a senator or representative in congress, or elector of president and vice-president, or hold any office, civil or military, under the United States, or under any state, who, having previously taken an oath, as a member of congress, or as an officer of the United States, or as a member of any state legislature, or as an executive or judicial officer of any state, to support the constitution of the United States, shall have engaged in insurrection or rebellion against the same, or given aid or comfort to the enemies thereof. But congress may, by a vote of two-thirds of each house, remove such disability.

Sec. 4. The validity of the public debt of the United States, authorized by law, including debts incurred for payment of pensions and bounties for services in suppressing insurrection or rebellion, shall not be questioned. But neither the United States nor any state shall assume or pay any debt or obligation incurred in aid of insurrection or rebellion against the United States, or any claim for loss or emancipation of any slave; but all such debts, obligations and claims shall be held illegal and void.

Sec. 5. The congress shall have power to enforce, by appropriate legislation, the provisions of this article.

ARTICLE XV.

Section 1. The right of citizens of the United States to vote shall not be denied or abridged by the United States or by any state on account of race, color, or previous condition of servitude.

Sec. 2. The congress shall have power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

LAW AS TO PRESIDENTIAL SUCCESSION.

The presidential succession is fixed by chapter 4 of the acts of the Forty-ninth congress, first session. In case of the removal, death, resignation or inability of both the president and vice-president, then the secretary of state shall act as president until the disability of the president or vice-president is removed or a president is elected. If there be no secretary of state, then the secretary of the treasury will act; and the remainder of the order of succession is as follows: The secretary of war, attorney-general, post-master general, secretary of the navy and secretary of the interior. The acting president must, upon taking office, convene congress, if not at the time in session, in extraordinary session, giving twenty days' notice. This act applies only to such cabinet officers as shall have been appointed by the advice and consent of the senate, and are eligible under the constitution to the presidency.

Sec. 1994. Any woman who is now or may hereafter be married to a citizen of the United States, and who might herself be lawfully naturalized, shall be deemed a citizen.

Sec. 1995. All persons born in the district of country formerly known as the territory of Oregon, and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States on the 18th of May, 1872, are citizens in the same manner as if born elsewhere in the United States.

Sec. 1996. All persons who deserted the military or naval service of the United States, and did not return thereto or report themselves to a provost marshal within sixty days after the issuance of the proclamation by the president, dated the 11th day of March, 1865, are deemed to have voluntarily relinquished and forfeited their rights of citizenship, as well as their right to become citizens; and such deserters shall be forever incapable of holding any office of trust or profit under the United States, or of exercising any rights of citizens thereof.

[Subsequent statutes provide for the removal, upon certain conditions, of the disabilities imposed by section 1996. See Sup. to Rev. St. U. S., vol. 1 (2d Ed.) pp. 692 and 901, and vol. 2, pp. 64 and 425.]

Sec. 1998. Every person who hereafter deserts the military or naval service of the United States, or who, being duly enrolled, departs the jurisdiction of the district in which he is enrolled, or goes beyond the limits of the United States, with intent to avoid any draft into the military or naval service, lawfully ordered, shall be liable to all the penalties and forfeitures of section 1996.

Sec. 1999. Whereas the right of expatriation is a natural and inherent right of all people, indispensable to the enjoyment of the rights of life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness; and whereas, in the recognition of this principle this government has freely received emigrants from all nations, and invested them with the rights of citizenship; and whereas it is claimed that such American citizens, with their descendants, are subjects of foreign states, owing allegiance to the governments thereof; and whereas it is necessary to the maintenance of public peace that this claim of foreign allegiance should be promptly and finally disavowed: Therefore, any declaration, instruction, opinion, order, or decision of any officer of the United States which denies, restricts, impairs, or questions the right of expatriation, is declared inconsistent with the fundamental principles of the republic.

CHAPTER 3592.—An Act to establish a Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and to provide for a uniform rule for the naturalization of aliens throughout the United States.

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled. That the designation of the Bureau of Immigration in the Department of Commerce and Labor is hereby changed to the "Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization," which said Bureau, under the direction and control of the Secretary of Commerce and Labor, in addition to the duties now provided by law, shall have charge of all matters concerning the naturalization of aliens.

That it shall be the duty of the said Bureau to provide, for use at the various immigration stations throughout the United States, books of record, wherein the commissioners of immigration shall cause a registry to be made in the case of each alien arriving in the United States from and after the passage of this Act of the name, age, occupation, personal description (including height, complexion, color of hair and eyes), the place of birth, the last residence, the intended place of residence in the United States, and the date of arrival of said alien, and, if entered through a port, the name of the vessel in which he comes.

And it shall be the duty of said commissioners of immigration to cause to be granted to such alien a certificate of such registry, with the particulars thereof.

Sec. 2. That the Secretary of Commerce and Labor shall provide the said Bureau with such additional furnished offices within the city of Washington, such books of record and facilities, and such additional assistants, clerks, stenographers, typewriters, and other employes as may be necessary for the proper discharge of the duties imposed by this Act upon such Bureau, fixing the compensation of such additional employes until July first, nineteen hundred and seven, within the appropriations made for that purpose.

Sec. 3. That exclusive jurisdiction to naturalize aliens as citizens of the United States is hereby conferred upon the following specified courts: United States circuit and district courts now existing, or which may hereafter be established by Congress in any state, United States district courts for the Territories of Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Hawaii, and Alaska, the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, and the United States courts for the Indian Territory; also all courts of record in any state or territory now existing, or which may hereafter be created, having a seal, a clerk, and jurisdiction in actions at law or equity, or law and equity, in which the amount in controversy is unlimited.

That the naturalization jurisdiction of all courts herein specified, state, territorial, and federal, shall extend only to aliens resident within the respective judicial districts of such courts.

The courts herein specified shall, upon the requisition of the clerks of such courts, be furnished from time to time by the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization with such blank forms as may be required in the naturalization of aliens, and all certificates of naturalization shall be consecutively numbered and printed on safety paper furnished by said Bureau.

Sec. 4. That an alien may be admitted to become a citizen of the United States in the following manner and not otherwise:

First. He shall declare on oath before the clerk of any court authorized by this Act to naturalize aliens, or his authorized deputy, in the district in which such alien resides, two years at least prior to his admission, and after he has reached the age of eighteen years, that it is bona fide his intention to become a citizen of the United States, and to renounce forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, sovereignty, and particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which the alien may be at the time a citizen or subject. And such declaration shall set forth the name, age, occupation, personal description, place of birth, last foreign residence and allegiance, the date of arrival, the name of the vessel, if any, in which he came to the United States, and the present place of residence in the United States of said alien; Provided, however, That no alien who, in conformity with the law in force at the date of his declaration, has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States shall be required to renew such declaration.

Second. Not less than two years nor more than seven years after he has made such declaration of intention he shall make and file, in duplicate, a petition in writing, signed by the applicant in his own handwriting and duly verified, in which petition such applicant shall state his full name, his place of residence (by street and number, if possible), his occupation, and, if possible, the date and place of his birth; the place from which he emigrated, and the date and place of his arrival in the United States, and, if he entered through a port, the name of the vessel on which he arrived; the time when and the place and name of the court where he declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States; if he is married he shall state the name of his wife and, if possible, the country of her nativity and her place of residence at the time of filing his petition; and if he has children, the name, date, and place of birth and place of residence of each child living at the time of the filing of his petition; Provided, That if he has filed his declaration before the passage of this Act he shall not be required to sign the petition in his own handwriting.

The petition shall set forth that he is not a disbeliever in or opposed to organized government, or a member of or affiliated with any organization or body of persons teaching disbelief in or opposed to organized government, a polygamist or believer in the practice of polygamy, and that it is his intention to become a citizen of the United States and to renounce absolutely and forever all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and particularly by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he at the time of filing of his petition may be a citizen or subject, and that it is his intention to reside permanently within the United States, and whether or not he has been denied admission as a citizen of the United States, and, if denied, the ground or grounds of such denial, the court or courts in which such decision was rendered, and that the cause for such denial has since been cured or removed, and every fact material to his naturalization and required to be proved upon the final hearing of his application. The petition shall also be verified by the affidavits of at least two credible witnesses, who are citizens of the United States, and who shall state in their affidavits that they have personally known the applicant to be a resident of the United States for a period of at least five years continuously, and of the state, territory, or district in which the application is made for a period of at least one year immediately preceding the date of the filing of his petition, and that they each have personal knowledge that the petitioner is a person of good moral character, and that he is in every way qualified, in their opinion, to be admitted as a citizen of the United States. At the time of filing his petition there shall be filed with the clerk of the court a certificate from the Department of Commerce and Labor, if the petitioner arrives in the United States after the passage of this Act, stating the date, place, and manner of his arrival in the United States, and the declaration of intention of such petitioner, which certificate and declaration shall be attached to and made a part of said petition.

Third. He shall, before he is admitted to citizenship, declare on oath in open court that he will support the Constitution of the United States, and that he absolutely and entirely renounces and abjures all allegiance and fidelity to any foreign prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty, and particularly, by name, to the prince, potentate, state, or sovereignty of which he was before a citizen or subject; that he will support and defend the Constitution and laws of the United States against all enemies, foreign and domestic, and bear true faith and allegiance to the same.

Fourth. It shall be made to appear to the satisfaction of the court admitting any alien to citizenship that immediately preceding the date of his application he has resided continuously within the United States five years at least, and within the state or territory where such court is at the time held one year at least, and that during that time he has behaved as a man of good moral character, attached to the principles of the Constitution of the United States, and well disposed to the good order and happiness of the same. In addition to the oath of the applicant, the testimony of at least two witnesses, citizens of the United States, as to the facts of residence, moral character, and attachment to the principles of the Constitution shall be required, and the name, place of residence, and occupation of each witness shall be set forth in the record.

Fifth. In case the alien applying to be admitted to citizenship has borne any hereditary title, or has been of any of the orders of nobility in the kingdom or state from which he came, he shall, in addition to the above requisites, make an express renunciation of his title or order of nobility in the court to which his application is made, and his renunciation shall be recorded in the court.

Sixth. When any alien who has declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States dies before he is actually naturalized the widow and minor children of such alien may, by complying with the other provisions of this Act, be naturalized without making any declaration of intention.

Sec. 5. That the clerk of the court shall, immediately after filing the petition, give notice thereof by posting in a public and conspicuous place in his office, or in the building in which his office is situated, under an appropriate heading, the name, nativity, and residence of the alien, the date and place of his arrival in the United States, and the date, as nearly as may be, for the final hearing of his petition, and the names of the witnesses whom the applicant expects to summon in his behalf; and the clerk shall, if the applicant requests it, issue a subpoena for the witnesses so named by the said applicant to appear upon the day set for the final hearing, but in case such witnesses cannot be produced upon the final hearing other witnesses may be summoned.

Sec. 6. That petitions for naturalization may be made and filed during term time or vacation of the court and shall be docketed the same day as filed, but final action thereon shall be had only on stated days, to be fixed by rule of the court, and in no case shall final action be had upon a petition until at least ninety days have elapsed after filing and posting the notice of such petition: Provided, That no person shall be naturalized nor shall any certificate of naturalization be issued by any court within thirty days preceding the holding of any general election within its territorial jurisdiction. It shall be lawful, at the time and as a part of the naturalization of any alien, for the court, in its discretion, upon the petition of such alien, to make a decree changing the name of said alien, and his certificate of naturalization shall be issued to him in accordance therewith.

Sec. 7. That no person who disbelieves in or who is opposed to organized government, or who is a member of or affiliated with any organization entertaining and teaching such disbelief in or opposition to organized government, or who advocates or teaches the duty, necessity, or propriety of the unlawful assaulting or killing of any officer or officers, either of specific individuals or of officers generally, of the Government of the United States, or of any other organized government, because of his or their official character, or who is a polygamist, shall be naturalized or be made a citizen of the United States.

Sec. 8. That no alien shall hereafter be naturalized or admitted as a citizen of the United States who can not speak the English language: Provided, That this requirement shall not apply to aliens who are physically unable to comply therewith, if they are otherwise qualified to become citizens of the United States: And provided further, That the requirements of this section shall not apply to any alien who has prior to the passage of this Act declared his intention to become a citizen of the United States in conformity with the law in force at the date of making such declaration: Provided further, That the requirements of Section Eight shall not apply to aliens who shall hereafter declare their intention to become citizens and who shall make homestead entries upon the public lands of the United States and comply in all respects with the laws providing for homestead entries on such lands.

Sec. 9. That every final hearing upon such petition shall be had in open court before a judge or judges thereof, and every final order which may be made upon such petition shall be under the hand of the court and entered in full upon a record kept for that purpose, and upon such final hearing of such petition the applicant and witnesses shall be examined under oath before the court and in the presence of the court.

Sec. 10. That in case the petitioner has not resided in the state, territory, or district for a period of five years continuously and immediately preceding the filing of his petition he may establish by two witnesses, both in his petition and at the hearing, the time of his residence within the state, provided that it has been for more than one year, and the remaining portion of his five years' residence within the United States required by law to be established may be proved by the depositions of two or more witnesses who are citizens of the United States, upon notice to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization and the United States attorney for the district in which said witnesses may reside.

Sec. 11. That the United States shall have the right to appear before any court or courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings for the purpose of cross-examining the petitioner and the witnesses produced in support of his petition concerning any matter touching or in any way affecting his right to admission to citizenship, and shall have the right to call witnesses, produce evidence, and be heard in opposition to the granting of any petition in naturalization proceedings.

Sec. 12. That it is hereby made the duty of the clerk of each and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters under the provisions of this Act to keep and file a duplicate of each declaration of intention made before him and to send to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization at Washington, within thirty days after the issuance of a certificate of citizenship, a duplicate of such certificate, and to make and keep on file in his office a stub for each certificate so issued by him, whereon shall be entered a memorandum of all the essential facts set forth in such certificate. It shall also be the duty of the clerk of each of said courts to report to the said Bureau, within thirty days after the final hearing and decision of the court, the name of each and every alien who shall be denied naturalization, and to furnish to said Bureau duplicates of all petitions within thirty days after the filing of the same, and certified copies of such other proceedings and orders instituted in or issued out of said court affecting or relating to the naturalization of aliens as may be required from time to time by the said Bureau.

In case any such clerk or officer acting under his direction shall refuse or neglect to comply with any of the foregoing provisions he shall forfeit and pay to the United States the sum of twenty-five dollars in each and every case in which such violation or omission occurs, and the amount of such forfeiture may be recovered by the United States in an action of debt against such clerk.

Clerks of courts having and exercising jurisdiction in naturalization matters shall be responsible for all blank certificates of citizenship received by them from time to time from the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and shall account for the same to the said Bureau whenever required so to do by such Bureau. No certificate of citizenship received by any such clerk which may be defaced or injured in such manner as to prevent its use as herein provided shall in any case be destroyed, but such certificate shall be returned to the said bureau; and in case any such clerk shall fail to return or properly account for any certificate furnished by the said Bureau, as herein provided, he shall be liable to the United States in the sum of fifty dollars, to be recovered in an action of debt, for each and every certificate not properly accounted for or returned.

Sec. 13. That the clerk of each and every court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization cases shall charge, collect, and account for the following fees in each proceeding:

For receiving and filing a declaration of intention and issuing a duplicate thereof, one dollar.

For making, filing, and docketing the petition of an alien for admission as a citizen of the United States and for the final hearing thereon, two dollars; and for entering the final order and the issuance of the certificate of citizenship thereunder, if granted, two dollars.

The clerk of any court collecting such fees is hereby authorized to retain one-half of the fees collected by him in such naturalization proceeding; the remaining one-half of the naturalization fees in each case collected by such clerks, respectively, shall be accounted for in their quarterly accounts, which they are hereby required to render the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, and paid over to such Bureau within thirty days from the close of each quarter in each and every fiscal year, and the moneys so received shall be paid over to the disbursing clerk of the Department of Commerce and Labor, who shall thereupon deposit them in the Treasury of the United States, rendering an account therefor quarterly to the Auditor for the State and other departments, and the said disbursing clerk shall be held responsible under his bond for said fees so received.

In addition to the fees herein required, the petitioner shall, upon the filing of his petition to become a citizen of the United States, deposit with and pay to the clerk of the court a sum of money sufficient to cover the expenses of subpoenaing and paying the legal fees of any witnesses for whom he may request a subpoena, and upon the final discharge of such witnesses they shall receive, if they demand the same from the clerk, the customary and usual witness fees from the moneys which the petitioner shall have paid to such clerk for such purpose, and the residue, if any, shall be returned by the clerk to the petitioner: Provided, That the clerks of courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall be permitted to retain one-half of the fees in any fiscal year up to the sum of three thousand dollars, and that all fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings in excess of such amount shall be accounted for and paid over to said Bureau as in case of other fees to which the United States may be entitled under the provisions of this Act. The clerks of the various courts exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings shall pay all additional clerical force that may be required in performing the duties imposed by this Act upon the clerks of courts from fees received by such clerks in naturalization proceedings. And in case the clerk of any court collects fees in excess of the sum of six thousand dollars in any one year, the Secretary of Commerce and Labor may allow to such clerk from the money which the United States shall receive additional compensation for the employment of additional clerical assistance, but for no other purpose, if in the opinion of the said secretary the business of such clerk warrants such allowance.

Sec. 14. That the declarations of intention and the petitions for naturalization shall be bound in chronological order in separate volumes, indexed, consecutively numbered, and made part of the records of the court.

Each certificate of naturalization issued shall bear upon its face, in a place prepared therefor, the volume number and page number of the petition whereon such certificate was issued, and the volume number and page number of the stub of such certificate.

Sec. 15. That it shall be the duty of the United States district attorney for the respective districts, upon affidavit showing good cause therefor, to institute proceedings in any court having jurisdiction to naturalize aliens in the judicial district in which the naturalized citizen may reside at the time of bringing the suit, for the purpose of setting aside and canceling the certificate of citizenship on the ground of fraud or on the ground that such certificate of citizenship was illegally procured. In any such proceedings the party holding the certificate of citizenship alleged to have been fraudulently or illegally procured shall have sixty days personal notice in which to make answer to the petition of the United States; and if the holder of such certificate be absent from the United States or from the district in which he last had his residence, such notice shall be given by publication in the manner provided for the service of summons by publication or upon absentees by the laws of the state or the place where such suit is brought.

If any alien who shall have secured a certificate of citizenship under the provisions of this Act shall, within five years after the issuance of such certificate, return to the country of his nativity, or go to any other foreign country, and take permanent residence therein, it shall be considered prima facie evidence of a lack of intention on the part of such alien to become a permanent citizen of the United States at the time of filing his application for citizenship, and, in the absence of countervailing evidence, it shall be sufficient in the proper proceeding to authorize the cancellation of his certificate of citizenship as fraudulent, and the diplomatic and consular officers of the United States in foreign countries shall from time to time, through the Department of State, furnish the Department of Justice with the names of those within their respective jurisdictions who have such certificates of citizenship and who have taken permanent residence in the country of their nativity, or in any other foreign country, and such statements, duly certified, shall be admissible in evidence in all courts in proceedings to cancel certificates of citizenship.

Whenever any certificate of citizenship shall be set aside or cancelled, as herein provided, the court in which such judgment or decree is rendered shall make an order canceling such certificate of citizenship and shall send a certified copy of such order to the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization; and in case such certificate was not originally issued by the court making such order it shall direct the clerk of the court to transmit a copy of such order and judgment to the court out of which such certificate of citizenship shall have been originally issued. And it shall thereupon be the duty of the clerk of the court receiving such certified copy of the order and judgment of the court to enter the same of record and to cancel such original certificate of citizenship upon the records and to notify the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization of such cancellation.

The provisions of this section shall apply not only to certificates of citizenship issued under the provisions of this Act, but to all certificates of citizenship which may have been issued heretofore by any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings under prior laws.

Sec. 16. That every person who falsely makes, forges, counterfeits, or causes or procures to be falsely made, forged, or counterfeited, or knowingly aids or assists in falsely making, forging, or counterfeiting any certificate of citizenship, with intent to use the same, or with the intent that the same may be used by some other person or persons, shall be guilty of a felony, and a person convicted of such offense shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than ten years, or by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 17. thereof; and every person who prints, photographs, or in any other manner causes to be printed, photographed, made, or executed, any print or impression in the likeness of any such certificate, or any part thereof, or who sells any such certificate, or brings the same into the United States from any foreign place, except by direction of some proper officer of the United States, or who has in his possession a distinctive paper which has been adopted by the proper officer of the United States for the printing of such certificate, with intent unlawfully use the same, shall be punished by a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars, or by imprisonment at hard labor for not more than ten years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 18. That it is hereby made a felony for any clerk or other person to issue or be a party to the issuance of a certificate of citizenship contrary to the provisions of this Act, except upon a final order under the hand of a court having jurisdiction to make such order, and upon conviction thereof such clerk or other person shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than five years and by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 19. That every person who without lawful excuse is possessed of any blank certificate of citizenship provided by the Bureau of Immigration and Naturalization, with intent unlawfully to use the same, shall be imprisoned at hard labor not more than five years or be fined not more than one thousand dollars.

Sec. 20. That any clerk or other officer of a court having power under this act to naturalize aliens, who wilfully neglects to render true accounts of moneys received by him for naturalization proceedings or who wilfully neglects to pay over any balance of such moneys due to the United States within thirty days after said payment shall become due and demand therefor has been made and refused, shall be deemed guilty of embezzlement of the public moneys, and shall be punishable by imprisonment for not more than five years, or by a fine of not more than five thousand dollars, or both.

Sec. 21. That it shall be unlawful for any clerk of any court or his authorized deputy or assistant exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, to demand, charge, collect, or receive any other or additional fees or moneys in naturalization proceedings save the fees and moneys herein specified; and a violation of any of the provisions of this section or any part thereof is hereby declared to be a misdemeanor and shall be punished by imprisonment for not more than two years, or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 22. That the clerk of any court exercising jurisdiction in naturalization proceedings, or any person acting under authority of this Act, who shall knowingly certify that a petitioner, affiant, or witness named in an affidavit, petition, or certificate of citizenship, or other paper or writing required to be executed under the provisions of this Act, personally appeared before him and was sworn thereto, or acknowledged the execution thereof or signed the same, when in fact such petitioner, affiant, or witness did not personally appear before him, or was not sworn thereto, or did not execute the same, or did not acknowledge the execution thereof, shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment not to exceed five years.

Sec. 23. That any person who knowingly procures naturalization in violation of the provisions of this Act shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or shall be imprisoned not more than five years, or both, and upon conviction the court in which such conviction is had shall thereupon adjudge and declare the final order admitting such person to citizenship void.

Jurisdiction is hereby conferred on the courts having jurisdiction of the trial of such offense to make such adjudication. Any person who knowingly aids, advises, or encourages any person not entitled thereto to apply for or to secure naturalization, or to file the preliminary papers declaring an intent to become a citizen of the United States, or who in any naturalization proceeding knowingly procures or gives false testimony as to any material fact, or who knowingly makes an affidavit false as to any material facts required to be proved in such proceeding, shall be fined not more than five thousand dollars, or imprisoned not more than five years, or both.

Sec. 24. That no person shall be prosecuted, tried, or punished for any crime arising under the provisions of this Act unless the indictment is found or the information is filed within five years next after the commission of such crime.

Sec. 25. That for the purpose of the prosecution of all crimes and offenses against the naturalization laws of the United States which may have been committed prior to the date when this Act shall go into effect, the existing naturalization laws shall remain in full force and effect.

Sec. 26. ART. 6. Slavery prohibited.
Former resolutions repealed.

(1) Be it ordained by the United States, in congress assembled, That the said territory, for the purposes of temporary government, be one district; subject, however, to be divided into two districts, as future circumstances may, in the opinion of congress, make it expedient.

(2) Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the estates, both of resident and non-resident proprietors in the said territory, dying intestate, shall descend to and be distributed among their children, and the descendants of a deceased child, in equal parts; the descendants of a deceased child or grand-child to take a share of their deceased parent in equal parts among them; and where there shall be no children or descendants, then in equal parts to the next of kin, in equal degree; and among collaterals, the children of a deceased brother or sister of the intestate shall have, in equal parts among them, their deceased parent's share; and there shall, in no case, be a distinction between kindred of the whole and half blood; saving, in all cases, to the widow of the intestate her third part of the real estate for life, and one-third part of the personal estate; and this law relative to descents and dower shall remain in full force until altered by the legislature of the district. And until the governor and judges shall adopt laws, as hereinafter mentioned, estates in the said territory may be devised or bequeathed by wills in writing, signed and sealed by him or her in whom the estate may be (being of full age), and attested by three witnesses; and real estates may be conveyed by lease and release, or bargain and sale, signed, sealed and delivered by the person, being of full age, in whom the estate may be, and attested by two witnesses, provided such wills be duly proved, such conveyances be acknowledged, or the execution thereof duly proved, and be recorded within one year after proper magistrates, courts and registers shall be appointed for that purpose; and personal property may be transferred by delivery; saving, however, to the French and Canadian inhabitants, and other settlers of the Kaskaskias, Saint Vincents, and the neighboring villages, who have heretofore professed themselves citizens of Virginia, their laws and customs now in force among them relative to the descent and conveyance of property.

(3) Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That there shall be appointed, from time to time, by congress, a governor, whose commission shall continue in force for the term of three years, unless sooner revoked by congress; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein in one thousand acres of land, while in the exercise of his office.

(4) There shall be appointed from time to time, by congress, a secretary, whose commission shall continue in force for four years, unless sooner revoked; he shall reside in the district, and have a freehold estate therein in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of his office. It shall be his duty to keep and preserve the acts and laws passed by the legislature, and the public records of the district, and the proceedings of the governor in his executive department; and transmit authentic copies of such acts and proceedings, every six months, to the secretary of congress. There shall also be appointed a court, to consist of three judges, and two of whom to form a court, who shall have a common law jurisdiction, and reside in the district, and have each therein a freehold estate in five hundred acres of land, while in the exercise of their offices; and their commissions shall continue in force during good behavior.

(5) The governor and judges, or a majority of them, shall adopt and publish, in the district, such laws of the original states, criminal and civil, as may be necessary and best suited to the circumstances of the district, and report them to congress from time to time; which laws shall be in force in the district until the organization of the general assembly therein, unless disapproved of by congress; but afterwards the legislature shall have authority to alter them as they shall think fit.

(6) The governor, for the time being, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia, appoint and commission all officers in the same below the rank of general officers; all general officers shall be appointed and commissioned by congress.

(7) Previous to the organization of the general assembly, the governor shall appoint such magistrates and other civil officers, in each county or township, as he shall find necessary for the preservation of peace and good order in the same. After the general assembly shall be organized, the powers and duties of the magistrates and other civil officers shall be regulated and defined by the said assembly; but all magistrates and other civil officers, not herein otherwise directed, shall, during the continuance of this temporary government, be appointed by the governor.

(8) For the prevention of crimes and injuries, the laws to be adopted or made shall have force in all parts of the district, and for the execution of process, criminal and civil, the governor shall make proper divisions thereof; and he shall proceed from time to time, as circumstances may require, to lay out the parts of the district in which the Indian titles shall have been extinguished, into counties and townships, subject, however, to such alterations as may thereafter be made by the legislature.

(9) So soon as there shall be five thousand free male inhabitants of full age in the district, upon giving proof thereof to the governor, they shall receive authority, with time and place, to elect representatives from their counties or townships, to represent them in the general assembly: provided that for every five hundred free male inhabitants there shall be one representative, and so on, progressively, with the number of free male inhabitants, shall the right of representation increase, until the number of representatives shall amount to twenty-five, after which the number and proportion of representatives shall be regulated by the legislature: provided that no person be eligible or qualified to act as a representative, unless he shall have been a citizen of one of the United States three years, and be a resident in the district, or unless he shall have resided in the district three years, and in either case shall likewise hold in his own right, in fee simple, two hundred acres of land within the same: provided, also, that a freehold in fifty acres of land in the district, having been a citizen of one of the states, and being resident in the district, or the like freehold and two years' residence in the district, shall be necessary to qualify a man as an elector of a representative.

(10) The representative thus elected shall serve for the term of two years; and in case of the death of a representative, or removal from office, the governor shall issue a writ to the county or township for which he was a member, to elect another in his stead, to serve for the residue of the term.

(11) The general assembly, or legislature, shall consist of the governor, legislative council, and a house of representatives. The legislative council shall consist of five members, to continue in office five years, unless sooner removed by congress; any three of whom to be a quorum. And the members of the council shall be nominated and appointed in the following manner, to wit: As soon as representatives shall be elected, the governor shall appoint a time and place for them to meet together, and, when met, they shall nominate ten persons, residents in the district, and each possessed of a freehold in five hundred acres of land, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as aforesaid; and whenever a vacancy shall happen in the council, by death or removal from office, the house of representatives shall nominate two persons, qualified as aforesaid, for each vacancy, and return their names to congress; one of whom congress shall appoint and commission for the residue of the term. And every five years, four months at least before the expiration of the time of service of the members of the council, the said house shall nominate ten persons, qualified as aforesaid, and return their names to congress; five of whom congress shall appoint and commission to serve as members of the council five years, unless sooner removed. And the governor, legislative council and house of representatives shall have authority to make laws, in all cases, for the good government of the district, not repugnant to the principles and articles in this ordinance established and declared. And all bills, having passed by a majority in the house, and by a majority in the council, shall be referred to the governor for his assent; but no bill or legislative act whatever shall be of any force without his assent. The governor shall have power to convene, prorogue and dissolve the general assembly, when in his opinion it shall be expedient.

(12) The governor, judges, legislative council, secretary, and such other officers as congress shall appoint in the district, shall take an oath or affirmation of fidelity and of office; the governor before the president of congress, and all other officers before the governor. As soon as a legislature shall be formed in the district, the council and house assembled, in one room, shall have authority, by joint ballot, to elect a delegate to congress, who shall have a seat in congress, with a right of debating, but not of voting, during this temporary government.

ARTICLES OF COMPACT.

And for extending the fundamental principles of civil and religious liberty, which form the basis whereon these republics, their laws and constitutions are erected; to fix and establish those principles as the basis of all laws, constitutions and governments which forever hereafter shall be formed in the said territory; to provide also for the establishment of states, and permanent governments therein, and for their admission to share in the federal councils, on an equal footing with the original states, at as early periods as may be consistent with the general interest:

It is hereby ordained and declared, by the authority aforesaid, That the following articles shall be considered as articles of compact between the original states and the people and states in the said territory, and forever remain unalterable, unless by common consent, to wit:

ARTICLE 1. No person demeaning himself in a peaceable and orderly manner shall ever be molested on account of his mode of worship, or religious sentiments, in the said territory.

ART. 2. The inhabitants of the said territory shall always be entitled to the benefits of the writ of habeas corpus and trial by jury, of a proportionate representation of the people in the legislature, and of judicial proceedings according to the course of the common law. All persons shall be bailable, unless for criminal offenses where the proof shall be evident, or the presumption great. All fines shall be moderate; and no cruel or unusual punishments shall be inflicted. No man shall be deprived of his liberty or property but by the judgment of his peers or the law of the land; and should the public exigencies make it necessary for the common preservation to take any person's property, or to demand his particular services, full compensation shall be made for the same. And in the just preservation of rights and property, it is understood and declared that no law ought ever to be made or have force in the said territory, that shall in any manner whatever interfere with or affect private contracts or engagements, bona fide, and without fraud, previously formed.

ART. 3. Religion, morality and knowledge being necessary to good government and the happiness of mankind, schools and the means of education shall forever be encouraged. The utmost good faith shall always be observed towards the Indians; their lands and property shall never be taken from them without their consent, and in their property, rights and liberty they never shall be invaded or disturbed, unless in just and lawful wars, authorized by congress; but laws founded in justice and humanity shall, from time to time, be made for preventing wrongs being done to them, and for preserving peace and friendship with them.

ART. 4. The said territory, and the states which may be formed therein, shall forever remain a part of this confederacy of the United States of America, subject to the articles of confederation, and to such alterations therein as shall be constitutionally made, and to all the acts and ordinances of the United States, in congress assembled, conformable thereto. The inhabitants and settlers in the said territory shall be subject to pay a part of the federal debts, contracted, or to be contracted, and a proportional part of the expenses of government, to be apportioned on them by congress, according to the same common rule and measure by which apportionments thereof shall be made on the other states; and the taxes for paying their proportion shall be laid and levied by the authority and direction of the legislatures of the district or districts, or new states, as in the original states, within the time agreed upon by the United States, in congress assembled. The legislatures of those districts or new states shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil by the United States, in congress assembled, nor with any regulations congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers. No tax shall be imposed on lands, the property of the United States; and in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents. The navigable waters leading into the Mississippi and St Lawrence, and the carrying places between the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of the said territory as to the citizens of the United States and those of any other states that may be admitted into the confederacy, without any tax, impost or duty therefor.

ART. 5. There shall be formed in the said territory not less than three nor more than five states; and the boundaries of the states, as soon as Virginia shall alter her act of cession, and consent to the same, shall become fixed and established as follows, to wit: The western state in the said territory shall be bounded by the Mississippi, the Ohio, and Wabash rivers; a direct line drawn from the Wabash and Post Vincents, due north to the territorial line between the United States and Canada; and by the said territorial line to the Lake of the Woods and Mississippi. The middle state shall be bounded by the said direct line, the Wabash from Post Vincents to the Ohio, by the Ohio, by a direct line drawn due north from the mouth of the Great Miami to the said territorial line, and by the said territorial line. The eastern state shall be bounded by the last mentioned direct line, the Ohio, Pennsylvania and the said territorial line: provided, however, and it is further understood and declared, That the boundaries of these three states shall be subject so far to be altered that, if congress shall hereafter find it expedient, they shall have authority to form one or two states in that part of the said territory which lies north of an east and west line drawn through the southerly bend or extreme of Lake Michigan. And whenever any of the said states shall have sixty thousand free inhabitants therein, such state shall be admitted, by its delegates, into the congress of the United States, on an equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatever; and shall be at liberty to form a permanent constitution and state government: provided, the constitution and government so to be formed shall be republican, and in conformity to the principles contained in these articles; and so far as it can be consistent with the general interest of the confederacy, such admission shall be allowed at an earlier period, and when there may be a less number of free inhabitants in the state than sixty thousand.

ART. 6. There shall be neither slavery nor involuntary servitude in the said territory, otherwise than in the punishment of crimes, whereof the party shall have been duly convicted: provided always that any person escaping into the same, from whom labor or service is lawfully claimed in any of the original states, such fugitive may be lawfully reclaimed and conveyed to the person claiming his or her labor or service, as aforesaid.

Be it ordained by the authority aforesaid, That the resolutions of the twenty-third of April, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-four, relative to the subject of this ordinance, be, and the same are, hereby repealed and declared null and void.

DONE by the United States, in congress assembled, the thirteenth day of July, in the year of our Lord one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven, and of their sovereignty and independence the twelfth.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over the said territory shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for three years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within the said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve of all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of the said territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first Monday in December in each year, to the president of the United States; and, at the same time, two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, for the use of congress. And in the case of the death, removal, resignation or necessary absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall have, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform, all the powers and duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power shall be vested in a governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualifications of voters as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue four years. The house of representatives shall consist of twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for the members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue two years. An apportionment shall be made, as nearly equal as practicable, among the several counties, for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the said members of the council and house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the district for which they may be elected. Previous to the first election, the governor of the territory shall cause the census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties in the territory to be taken and made by the sheriffs of the said counties, respectively, and returns thereof made by said sheriffs to the governor. The first election shall be held at such time and place, and be conducted in such manner, as the governor shall appoint and direct; and he shall, at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties is entitled under this act. The number of persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes in each of the said counties for the council, shall be declared, by the said governor, to be duly elected to the said council; and the person or persons having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county may be entitled, shall also be declared, by the governor, to be duly elected: provided, the governor shall order a new election, when there is a tie between two or more persons voted for, to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place on such day as he shall appoint; but, thereafter, the time, place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties to the council and house of representatives according to population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the date of the annual commencement of the session of the said legislative assembly; but no session, in any year, shall exceed the term of seventy-five days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male citizen of the United States, above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been an inhabitant of said territory at the time of its organization, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said territory; but the qualifications of voters at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be determined by the legislative assembly: provided that the right of suffrage shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws of the governor and legislative assembly shall be submitted to, and, if disapproved by, the congress of the United States, the same shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township officers and all county officers, except judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs and clerks of courts, shall be elected by the people, in such manner as may be provided by the governor and legislative assembly. The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, shall appoint, all judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs, and all militia officers, except those of the staff, and all civil officers not herein provided for. Vacancies occurring in the recess of the council shall be filled by appointments from the governor, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislative assembly; but the said governor may appoint, in the first instance, the aforesaid officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the said legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold or be appointed to any office created or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased whilst he was a member, during the term for which he shall have been elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission under the United States, or any of its officers, except as a militia officer, shall be a member of the said council, or shall hold any office under the government of the said territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of the said territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate judges, any two of whom shall be a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of the said territory, annually, and they shall hold their offices during good behavior. The said territory shall be divided into three judicial districts; and a district court or courts shall be held in each of the three districts by one of the judges of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts and of the justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law: provided, however, that the justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter of controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed exceeds fifty dollars. And the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess chancery as well as common law jurisdiction. Each district court shall appoint its clerk, who shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held, and the said clerks shall also be the registers in chancery; and any vacancy in said office of clerk, happening in the vacation of said court, may be filled by the judge of said district, which appointment shall continue until the next term of said court. And writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals in chancery causes, shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall a trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court may appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court by which he shall have been appointed. And writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of the said supreme court shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner, and under the same regulations, as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, shall exceed one thousand dollars. And each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction, in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States, as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States. And the first six days of every term of the said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under the said constitution and laws. And writs of error, and appeals from the final decisions of the said courts, in all such cases, shall be made to the supreme court of the territory, in the same manner as in other cases. The said clerks shall receive, in all such cases, the same fees which the clerk of the district court of the United States in the northern district of the state of New York receives for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an attorney for the said territory appointed, who shall continue in office four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the Michigan territory. There shall also be a marshal for the territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, who shall execute all process issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States. He shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the northern district of the state of New York; and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars, annually, as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate judges, attorney and marshal, shall be nominated, and by and with the advice and consent of the senate appointed, by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary, to be appointed as aforesaid, shall, before they act as such, respectively, take an oath or affirmation before some judge or justice of the peace in the existing territory of Michigan, duly commissioned and qualified to administer an oath or affirmation, to support the constitution of the United States, and for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificate shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings. And afterwards the chief justice and associate judges, and all other civil officers in said territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation before the said governor or secretary, or some judge or justice of the territory who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted by the person taking the same to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and, afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of two thousand five hundred dollars for his services as governor and as superintendent of Indian affairs. The said chief justice and associate judges shall each receive an annual salary of eighteen hundred dollars. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of twelve hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each per day, during their attendance at the sessions thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles' travel in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated, annually, the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars, to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the territory, and there shall also be appropriated, annually, a sufficient sum, to be expended by the secretary of the territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses; and the secretary of the territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said territory shall be entitled to, and enjoy, all and singular, the rights, privileges and advantages granted and secured to the people of the territory of the United States northwest of the river Ohio, by the articles of the compact contained in the ordinance for the government of the said territory, passed on the thirteenth day of July, one thousand seven hundred and eighty-seven; and shall be subject to all the conditions and restrictions and prohibitions in said articles of compact imposed upon the people of the said territory. The said inhabitants shall also be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the territory of Michigan, and to its inhabitants, and the existing laws of the territory of Michigan shall be extended over said territory, so far as the same shall not be incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said territory of Wisconsin; and, further, the laws of the United States are hereby extended over and shall be in force in said territory, so far as the same, or any provisions thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the territory of Wisconsin shall hold its first session at such time and place in said territory as the governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said session, or as soon thereafter as may by them be deemed expedient, the said governor and legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said territory at such place as they may deem eligible, which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the said governor and legislative assembly. And twenty thousand dollars, to be paid out of any money in the treasury, not otherwise appropriated, is hereby given to the said territory, which shall be applied by the governor and legislative assembly to defray the expenses of erecting public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been granted to the delegates from the several territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such time and place or places, and be conducted in such manner, as the governor shall appoint and direct. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given to the person so elected.

SEC. 15. And be it further enacted, That all suits, process, and proceedings, and all indictments and informations, which shall be undetermined on the third day of July next, in the courts held by the additional judge for the Michigan territory, in the counties of Brown and Iowa; and all suits, process and proceedings, and all indictments and informations, which shall be undetermined on the said day of July, in the county courts of the several counties of Crawford, Brown, Iowa, Dubuque, Milwaukee and Des Moines, shall be transferred to be heard, tried, prosecuted and determined in the district courts hereby established, which may include the said counties.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all causes which shall have been or may be removed from the courts held by the additional judge for the Michigan territory in the counties of Brown and Iowa, by appeal or otherwise, into the supreme court for the territory of Michigan, and which shall be undetermined therein on the third day of July next, shall be certified by the clerk of the said supreme court, and transferred to the supreme court of said territory of Wisconsin, there to be proceeded in to final determination, in the same manner that they might have been in the said supreme court of the territory of Michigan.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That the sum of five thousand dollars be, and the same is hereby, appropriated out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, to be expended by and under the direction of the legislative assembly of said territory, in the purchase of a library for the accommodation of said assembly, and of the supreme court hereby established.

ORGANIC LAW OF IOWA.

AN ACT TO DIVIDE THE TERRITORY OF WISCONSIN, AND TO ESTABLISH THE TERRITORIAL GOVERNMENT OF IOWA.

(Approved June 12, 1838.)

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That, from and after the third day of July next, all that part of the present territory of Wisconsin which lies west of the Mississippi river, and west of a line drawn due north from the head waters or sources of the Mississippi to the territorial line, shall, for the purposes of temporary government, be and constitute a separate territorial government, by the name of Iowa; and that, from and after the said third day of July next, the present territorial government of Wisconsin shall extend only to that part of the present territory of Wisconsin which lies east of the Mississippi river. And, after the said third day of July next, all power and authority of the government of Wisconsin, in and over the territory hereby constituted, shall cease: provided that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to impair the rights of person or property now appertaining to any Indians within the said territory, so long as such rights shall remain unextinguished by treaty between the United States and such Indians, or to impair the obligations of any treaty now existing between the United States and such Indians, or to impair or anywise to affect the authority of the government of the United States to make any regulations respecting such Indians, their lands, property or other rights, by treaty, or law, or otherwise, which it would have been competent to the government to make if this act had never been passed; provided that nothing in this act contained shall be construed to inhibit the government of the United States from dividing the territory hereby established into one or more other territories, in such manner and at such time as congress shall, in its discretion, deem convenient and proper, or from attaching any portion of said territory to any other state or territory of the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the executive power and authority in and over the said territory of Iowa shall be vested in a governor, who shall hold his office for three years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States. The governor shall reside within the said territory, shall be commander-in-chief of the militia thereof, shall perform the duties and receive the emoluments of superintendent of Indian affairs, and shall approve of all laws passed by the legislative assembly before they shall take effect; he may grant pardons for offenses against the laws of said territory, and reprieves for offenses against the laws of the United States, until the decision of the president can be made known thereon; he shall commission all officers who shall be appointed to office under the laws of the said territory, and shall take care that the laws be faithfully executed.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be a secretary of the said territory, who shall reside therein, and hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president of the United States; he shall record and preserve all the laws and proceedings of the legislative assembly hereinafter constituted, and all the acts and proceedings of the governor in his executive department; he shall transmit one copy of the laws and one copy of the executive proceedings, on or before the first Monday in December in each year, to the president of the United States; and, at the same time, two copies of the laws to the speaker of the house of representatives, for the use of congress. And in case of the death, removal, resignation or necessary absence of the governor from the territory, the secretary shall have, and he is hereby authorized and required to execute and perform all the powers and duties of the governor during such vacancy or necessary absence, or until another governor shall be duly appointed to fill such vacancy.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power shall be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly. The legislative assembly shall consist of a council and house of representatives. The council shall consist of thirteen members, having the qualifications of voters as hereinafter prescribed, whose term of service shall continue two years. The house of representatives shall consist of twenty-six members, possessing the same qualifications as prescribed for the members of the council, and whose term of service shall continue one year. An apportionment shall be made as nearly equal as practicable among the several counties, for the election of the council and representatives, giving to each section of the territory representation in the ratio of its population, Indians excepted, as nearly as may be. And the said members of the council and house of representatives shall reside in and be inhabitants of the district for which they may be elected. Previous to the first election, the governor of the territory shall cause the census or enumeration of the inhabitants of the several counties in the territory to be taken and made by the sheriffs of the said counties, respectively, unless the same shall have been taken within three months previous to the third day of July next, and returns thereof made by said sheriffs to the governor. The first election shall be held at such time and place, and be conducted in such manner, as the governor shall appoint and direct, and he shall at the same time, declare the number of members of the council and house of representatives to which each of the counties or districts are entitled under this act. The number of persons authorized to be elected, having the greatest number of votes in each of the said counties or districts for the council, shall be declared by the said governor to be duly elected to the said council; and the person or persons having the greatest number of votes for the house of representatives, equal to the number to which each county may be entitled, shall also be declared by the governor to be duly elected; provided, the governor shall order a new election when there is a tie between two or more persons voted for, to supply the vacancy made by such tie. And the persons thus elected to the legislative assembly shall meet at such place and on such day as he shall appoint; but thereafter the time, and place and manner of holding and conducting all elections by the people, and the apportioning the representation in the several counties to the council and house of representatives according to population, shall be prescribed by law, as well as the day of the annual commencement of the session of the said legislative assembly; but no session in any year shall exceed the term of seventy-five days.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That every free white male citizen of the United States above the age of twenty-one years, who shall have been an inhabitant of said territory at the time of its organization, shall be entitled to vote at the first election, and shall be eligible to any office within the said territory, but the qualifications of voters at all subsequent elections shall be such as shall be determined by the legislative assembly; provided, that the right of suffrage shall be exercised only by citizens of the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That the legislative power of the territory shall extend to all rightful subjects of legislation; but no law shall be passed interfering with the primary disposal of the soil; no tax shall be imposed upon the property of the United States; nor shall the lands or other property of non-residents be taxed higher than the lands or other property of residents. All the laws of the governor and legislative assembly shall be submitted to, and, if disapproved by, the congress of the United States, the same shall be null and of no effect.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That all township officers, and all county officers except judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs and clerks of courts shall be elected by the people in such manner as is now prescribed by the laws of the territory of Wisconsin, or as may, after the first election, be provided by the governor and legislative assembly of Iowa territory. The governor shall nominate, and, by and with the advice and consent of the legislative council, shall appoint all judicial officers, justices of the peace, sheriffs, and all militia officers, except those of the staff, and all civil officers not herein provided for. Vacancies occurring in the recess of the council shall be filled by appointments from the governor, which shall expire at the end of the next session of the legislative assembly; but the said governor may appoint, in the first instance, the aforesaid officers, who shall hold their offices until the end of the next session of the said legislative assembly.

SEC. 8. And be it further enacted, That no member of the legislative assembly shall hold, or be appointed to, any office created, or the salary or emoluments of which shall have been increased, whilst he was a member, during the term for which he shall have been elected, and for one year after the expiration of such term; and no person holding a commission or appointment under the United States, or any of its officers except as a militia officer, shall be a member of the said council or house of representatives, or shall hold any office under the government of the said territory.

SEC. 9. And be it further enacted, That the judicial power of the said territory shall be vested in a supreme court, district courts, probate courts, and in justices of the peace. The supreme court shall consist of a chief justice and two associate judges, any two of whom shall be a quorum, and who shall hold a term at the seat of government of the said territory annually; and they shall hold their offices during the term of four years. The said territory shall be divided into three judicial districts and a district court or courts shall be held in each of the three districts, by one of the judges of the supreme court, at such times and places as may be prescribed by law; and the said judges shall, after their appointment, respectively, reside in the districts which shall be assigned to them. The jurisdiction of the several courts herein provided for, both appellate and original, and that of the probate courts, and of the justices of the peace, shall be as limited by law; provided, however, that justices of the peace shall not have jurisdiction of any matter of controversy when the title or boundaries of land may be in dispute, or where the debt or sum claimed exceeds fifty dollars. And the said supreme and district courts, respectively, shall possess a chancery as well as a common law jurisdiction. Each district court shall appoint its clerk, who shall keep his office at the place where the court may be held, and the said clerks shall also be the registers in chancery; and any vacancy in said office of clerk, happening in the vacation of said court, may be filled by the judge of said district, which appointment shall continue until the next term of said court. And writs of error, bills of exception, and appeals in chancery causes, shall be allowed in all cases from the final decisions of the said district courts to the supreme court, under such regulations as may be prescribed by law; but in no case removed to the supreme court shall trial by jury be allowed in said court. The supreme court may appoint its own clerk, and every clerk shall hold his office at the pleasure of the court by which he shall have been appointed. And writs of error and appeals from the final decision of the said supreme court shall be allowed and taken to the supreme court of the United States, in the same manner and under the same regulations as from the circuit courts of the United States, where the value of the property or the amount in controversy, to be ascertained by the oath or affirmation of either party, shall exceed $1,000. And each of the said district courts shall have and exercise the same jurisdiction in all cases arising under the constitution and laws of the United States as is vested in the circuit and district courts of the United States. And the first six days of every term of said courts, or so much thereof as shall be necessary, shall be appropriated to the trial of causes arising under said constitution and laws. And writs of error and appeals from the final decisions of the said courts, in all such cases, shall be made to the supreme court of the territory, in the same manner as in other cases. The said clerk shall receive in all such cases the same fees which the clerks of the district courts of Wisconsin territory now receive for similar services.

SEC. 10. And be it further enacted, That there shall be an attorney for the said territory appointed, who shall continue in office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, and who shall receive the same fees and salary as the attorney of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin. There shall also be a marshal for the territory appointed, who shall hold his office for four years, unless sooner removed by the president, who shall execute all process issuing from the said courts when exercising their jurisdiction as circuit and district courts of the United States. He shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees as the marshal of the district court of the United States for the present territory of Wisconsin; and shall, in addition, be paid the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for extra services.

SEC. 11. And be it further enacted, That the governor, secretary, chief justice and associate judges, attorney and marshal shall be nominated, and, by and with the advice and consent of the senate, appointed, by the president of the United States. The governor and secretary, to be appointed as aforesaid, shall, before they act as such, respectively take an oath or affirmation before some judge or justice of the peace in the existing territory of Wisconsin, duly commissioned and qualified to administer an oath or affirmation, or before the chief justice or some associate justice of the supreme court of the United States, to support the constitution of the United States and for the faithful discharge of the duties of their respective offices; which said oaths, when so taken, shall be certified by the person before whom the same shall have been taken, and such certificate shall be received and recorded by the said secretary among the executive proceedings. And, afterwards, the chief justice and associate judges, and all other civil officers in said territory, before they act as such, shall take a like oath or affirmation, before said governor, or secretary, or some judge or justice of the territory, who may be duly commissioned and qualified, which said oath or affirmation shall be certified and transmitted, by the person taking the same, to the secretary, to be by him recorded as aforesaid; and, afterwards, the like oath or affirmation shall be taken, certified and recorded in such manner and form as may be prescribed by law. The governor shall receive an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars as governor, and one thousand dollars as superintendent of Indian affairs. The said chief justice and associate judges shall each receive an annual salary of one thousand five hundred dollars. The secretary shall receive an annual salary of one thousand two hundred dollars. The said salaries shall be paid quarter-yearly, at the treasury of the United States. The members of the legislative assembly shall be entitled to receive three dollars each, per day, during their attendance at the session thereof, and three dollars each for every twenty miles traveled in going to and returning from the said sessions, estimated according to the nearest usually traveled route. There shall be appropriated annually the sum of three hundred and fifty dollars to be expended by the governor to defray the contingent expenses of the territory; and there shall also be appropriated annually a sum sufficient, to be expended by the secretary of the territory, and upon an estimate to be made by the secretary of the treasury of the United States, to defray the expenses of the legislative assembly, the printing of the laws, and other incidental expenses; and the secretary of the territory shall annually account to the secretary of the treasury of the United States for the manner in which the aforesaid sum shall have been expended.

SEC. 12. And be it further enacted, That the inhabitants of the said territory shall be entitled to all the rights, privileges and immunities heretofore granted and secured to the territory of Wisconsin, and to its inhabitants, and the existing laws of the territory of Wisconsin shall be extended over said territory, so far as the same be not incompatible with the provisions of this act, subject, nevertheless, to be altered, modified or repealed by the governor and legislative assembly of the said territory of Iowa; and, further, the laws of the United States are hereby extended over and shall be in force in said territory, so far as the same, or any provisions thereof, may be applicable.

SEC. 13. And be it further enacted, That the legislative assembly of the territory of Iowa shall hold its session at such time and place in said territory as the governor thereof shall appoint and direct; and at said session, or as soon thereafter as may by them be deemed expedient, the said governor and legislative assembly shall proceed to locate and establish the seat of government for said territory, at such place as they may deem eligible, which place, however, shall thereafter be subject to be changed by the governor and legislative assembly. And the sum of twenty thousand dollars out of any money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated, is hereby granted to the said territory of Iowa, which shall be applied by the governor thereof to defray the expenses of erecting public buildings at the seat of government.

SEC. 14. And be it further enacted, That a delegate to the house of representatives of the United States, to serve for the term of two years, may be elected by the voters qualified to elect members of the legislative assembly, who shall be entitled to the same rights and privileges as have been granted to the delegates from the several territories of the United States to the said house of representatives. The first election shall be held at such time and place, or places, and be conducted in such manner, as the governor shall appoint and direct. The person having the greatest number of votes shall be declared by the governor to be duly elected, and a certificate thereof shall be given to the person so elected.

SEC. 16. And be it further enacted, That all justices of the peace, constables, sheriffs, and all other executive and judicial officers, who shall be in office on the third day of July next, in that portion of the present territory of Wisconsin which will then, by this act, become the territory of Iowa, shall be, and are hereby authorized and required to continue to exercise and perform the duties of their respective offices, as officers of the territory of Iowa, temporarily, and until they or others shall be duly appointed to fill their places by the territorial government of Iowa, in the manner herein directed: provided that no officer shall hold or continue in office by virtue of this provision over twelve months from the said third day of July next.

SEC. 17. And be it further enacted, That all causes which shall have been or may be removed from the courts held by the present territory of Wisconsin, in the counties west of the Mississippi river, by appeal or otherwise into the supreme court for the territory of Wisconsin, and which shall be undetermined therein on the third day of July next, shall be certified by the clerk of the said supreme court, and transferred to the supreme court of said territory of Iowa, there to be proceeded in to final determination, in the same manner that they might have been in the said supreme court of the territory of Wisconsin.

AN ACT FOR THE ADMISSION OF THE STATES OF IOWA AND FLORIDA INTO THE UNION.

(Approved March 3, 1845.)

WHEREAS the people of the territory of Iowa did, on the seventh day of October, eighteen hundred and forty-four, by a convention of delegates called and assembled for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government; and whereas the people of the territory of Florida did, in like manner, by their delegates, on the eleventh day of January, eighteen hundred and thirty-nine, form for themselves a constitution and state government, both of which said constitutions are republican; and said conventions having asked the admission of their respective territories into the union as states, on equal footing with the original states:

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the states of Iowa and Florida be, and the same are hereby, declared to be states of the United States of America, and are hereby admitted into the union on equal footing with the original states, in all respects whatsoever.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the following shall be the boundaries of the said state of Iowa, to-wit: beginning at the mouth of the Des Moines river, at the middle of the Mississippi, thence by the middle of the channel of that river to a parallel of latitude passing through the mouth of the Mankato or Blue-earth river, thence west along the said parallel of latitude to a point where it is intersected by a meridian line, seventeen degrees and thirty minutes west of the meridian of Washington city, thence due south to the northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, thence eastwardly following that boundary to the point at which the same intersects the Des Moines river, thence by the middle of the channel of that river to the place of beginning.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That the said state of Iowa shall have concurrent jurisdiction on the river Mississippi, and every other river bordering on the said state of Iowa, so far as the said rivers shall form a common boundary to said state and any other state or states now or hereafter to be formed or bounded by the same: such rivers to be common to both; and that the said river Mississippi, and the navigable waters leading into the same, shall be common highways, and forever free, as well to the inhabitants of said state as to all other citizens of the United States, without any tax, duty, impost or toll therefor, imposed by the said state of Iowa.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That it is made and declared to be a fundamental condition of the admission of said state of Iowa into the union, that so much of this act as relates to the said state of Iowa shall be assented to by a majority of the qualified electors at their township elections, in the manner and at the time prescribed in the sixth section of the thirteenth article of the constitution adopted at Iowa City the first day of November, anno Domini eighteen hundred and forty-four, or by the legislature of said state. And, so soon as such assent shall be given, the president of the United States shall announce the same by proclamation; and therefrom, without further proceedings on the part of Congress, the admission of the said state of Iowa into the union, on an equal footing in all respects whatever with the original states, shall be considered as complete.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That said state of Florida shall embrace the territories of East and West Florida, which, by the treaty of amity, settlement and limits between the United States and Spain, on the twenty-second day of February, eighteen hundred and nineteen, were ceded to the United States.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That, until the next census and apportionment shall be made, each of said states of Iowa and Florida shall be entitled to one representative in the House of Representatives of the United States.

SEC. 7. And be it further enacted, That said states of Iowa and Florida are admitted into the union on the express condition that they shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the public lands lying within them, nor levy any tax on the same whilst remaining the property of the United States: provided, that the ordinance of the convention that formed the constitution of Iowa, and which is appended to the said constitution, shall not be deemed or taken to have any effect or validity, or to be recognized as in any manner obligatory upon the government of the United States.

AN ACT SUPPLEMENTAL TO THE ACT FOR THE ADMISSION OF THE STATES OF IOWA AND FLORIDA INTO THE UNION.

(Approved March 3, 1845.)

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America, in Congress assembled, That the laws of the United States, which are not locally inapplicable, shall have the same force and effect within the state of Iowa as elsewhere within the United States.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That the said state shall be one district, and be called the district of Iowa; and a direct court shall be held therein, to consist of one judge, who shall reside in the said district, and be called a district judge. He shall hold, at the seat of government of the said state, two sessions of the said district court annually, on the first Monday in January, and he shall, in all things, have and exercise the same jurisdiction and powers which were by law given to the judge of the Kentucky district, under an act entitled "An act to establish the judicial courts of the United States." He shall appoint a clerk for the said district, who shall reside and keep the records of the said court at the place of holding the same; and shall receive, for the services performed by him, the same fees to which the clerk of the Kentucky district is by law entitled for similar services.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That there shall be allowed to the judge of the said district court the annual compensation of fifteen hundred dollars, to commence from the date of his appointment, to be paid quarterly at the treasury of the United States.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That there shall be appointed in the said district a person learned in the law to act as attorney for the United States; who shall, in addition to his stated fees, be paid annually by the United States two hundred dollars, as a full compensation for all extra services; the said payments to be made quarterly, at the treasury of the United States.

SEC. 5. And be it further enacted, That a marshal shall be appointed for the said district, who shall perform the same duties, be subject to the same regulations and penalties, and be entitled to the same fees, as are prescribed and allowed to marshals in other districts; and shall, moreover, be entitled to the sum of two hundred dollars annually as a compensation for all extra services.

SEC. 6. And be it further enacted, That, in lieu of the propositions submitted to the Congress of the United States by an ordinance passed on the first day of November, eighteen hundred and forty-four, by the convention of delegates at Iowa City, assembled for the purpose of making a constitution for the state of Iowa, which are hereby rejected, the following propositions be, and the same are hereby, offered to the legislature of the state of Iowa, for their acceptance or rejection; which, if accepted, under the authority conferred on the said legislature, by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall be obligatory upon the United States.

1. That section numbered sixteen in every township of the public lands, and, where such section has been sold or otherwise disposed of, other lands equivalent thereto, and as contiguous as may be, shall be granted to the state for the use of schools.

2. That the seventy-two sections of land set apart and reserved for the use and support of a university, by an act of Congress approved on the twentieth day of July, eighteen hundred and forty, entitled "An act granting two townships of land for the use of a university in the territory of Iowa," are hereby granted and conveyed to the state, to be appropriated solely to the use and support of such university, in such manner as the legislature may prescribe.

3. That five entire sections of land, to be selected and located under the direction of the legislature, in legal divisions of not less than one quarter section, from any of the unappropriated lands belonging to the United States within the said state, are hereby granted to the state for the purpose of completing the public buildings of the said state, or for the erection of public buildings at the seat of government of the said state, as the legislature may determine and direct.

4. That all salt springs within the state, not exceeding twelve in number, with six sections of land adjoining, or as contiguous as may be to each, shall be granted to the said state for its use; the same to be selected by the legislature thereof within one year after the admission of said state, and the same, when so selected, to be used on such terms, conditions and regulations as the legislature of the state shall direct: provided, that no salt spring, the right whereof is now vested in any individual or individuals, or which may hereafter be confirmed or adjudged to any individual or individuals, shall, by this section, be granted to said state; and provided, also, that the general assembly shall never lease or sell the same, at any one time, for a longer period than ten years, without the consent of Congress.

5. That five per cent of the net proceeds of sales of all public lands lying within the said state, which have been or shall be sold by Congress, from and after the admission of said state, after deducting all the expenses incident to the same, shall be appropriated for making public roads and canals within the said state, as the legislature may direct: provided, that the five foregoing propositions herein offered are on the condition that the legislature of the said state, by virtue of the powers conferred upon it by the convention which framed the constitution of the said state, shall provide by an ordinance, irrevocable without the consent of the United States, that the said state shall never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof; and that no tax shall be imposed upon lands the property of the United States; and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war, shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the state, whether for state, county, township, or any other purpose, for the term of three years from and after the date of the patents, respectively.

AN ACT TO DEFINE THE BOUNDARIES OF THE STATE OF IOWA, AND TO REPEAL SO MUCH OF THE ACT OF THE THIRD OF MARCH, ONE THOUSAND EIGHT HUNDRED AND FORTY-FIVE AS RELATES TO THE BOUNDARIES OF IOWA.

(Approved August 4, 1846.)

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the following shall be, and they are hereby, declared to be the boundaries of the State of Iowa in lieu of those prescribed by the second section of the act of the third of March, eighteen hundred and forty-five, entitled "An act for the Admission of the States of Iowa and Florida into the Union," viz.: Beginning in the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river, at a point due east of the middle of the mouth of the main channel of the Des Moines river, thence up the middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines river, to a point on said river where the northern boundary line of the State of Missouri as established by the constitution of that state, adopted June twelfth, eighteen hundred and twenty, crosses the said middle of the main channel of the said Des Moines river; thence, westwardly, along the said northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, as established at the time aforesaid, until an extension of said line intersects the middle of the main channel of the Missouri river; thence, up the middle of the main channel of the said Missouri river, to a point opposite the middle of the main channel of the Big Sioux river, according to Nicollet's map; thence, up the main channel of the said Big Sioux river, according to said map until it is intersected by the parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes north latitude; thence east along said parallel of forty-three degrees and thirty minutes, until said parallel intersects the middle of the main channel of the Mississippi river; thence, down the middle of the main channel of said Mississippi river, to the place of beginning.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That the question which has heretofore been the subject-matter of controversy and dispute between the state of Missouri and the territory of Iowa, respecting the precise location of the northern boundary line of the state of Missouri, shall be, and the same is hereby, referred to the supreme court of the United States for adjudication and settlement, in accordance with the act of the legislature of Missouri, approved March twenty-five, eighteen hundred and forty-five, and the memorial of the council and House of Representatives of the territory of Iowa, approved January seventeenth, eighteen hundred and forty-six, by which both parties have agreed to "the commencement and speedy determination of such suit as may be necessary to procure a final decision by the supreme court of the United States upon the true location of the northern boundary of that state;" and the said supreme court is hereby invested with all the power and authority necessary to the performance of the duty imposed by this section.

Sec. 3. And be it further enacted, That, until the next census and apportionment shall be made, the state of Iowa shall be entitled to two representatives in the House of Representatives of the United States.

Sec. 4. And be it further enacted, That so much of the act of the third of March, eighteen hundred and forty-five, entitled "An act for the admission of the states of Iowa and Florida into the union," relating to the said state of Iowa, as is inconsistent with the provisions of this act, be, and the same is hereby, repealed.

ADMISSION OF IOWA.

AN ACT FOR THE ADMISSION OF THE STATE OF IOWA INTO THE UNION.

(Approved December 23, 1846.)

Whereas, The people of the territory of Iowa did, on the eighteenth day of May, anno Domini eighteen hundred and forty-six, by a convention of delegates called and assembled for that purpose, form for themselves a constitution and state government—which constitution is republican in its character and features—and said convention has asked admission of the said territory into the Union as a state, on an equal footing with the original states, in obedience to "An act for the admission of the states of Iowa and Florida into the Union," approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-five, and "An act to define the boundaries of the state of Iowa, and to repeal so much of the act of the third of March, one thousand eight hundred and forty-five as relates to the boundaries of Iowa," which said last act was approved August fourth, anno Domini eighteen hundred and forty-six: Therefore—

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the state of Iowa shall be one, and is hereby declared to be one, of the United States of America, and admitted into the union on an equal footing with the original states in all respects whatsoever.

Sec. 2. And be it further enacted, That all the provisions of "An act supplemental to the act for the admission of the states of Iowa and Florida into the Union," approved March third, eighteen hundred and forty-five, be, and the same are hereby declared to continue and remain in full force as applicable to the state of Iowa, as hereby admitted and received into the Union.

AN ACT AND ORDINANCE ACCEPTING THE PROPOSITION MADE BY CONGRESS ON THE ADMISSION OF IOWA INTO THE UNION AS A STATE.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted and ordained, As conditions of the grants specified in the propositions first mentioned in the foregoing section, irrevocable and unalterable without the consent of the United States, that the state of Iowa will never interfere with the primary disposal of the soil within the same by the United States, nor with any regulations Congress may find necessary for securing the title in such soil to the bona fide purchasers thereof, and that no tax shall be imposed on lands, the property of the United States; and that in no case shall non-resident proprietors be taxed higher than residents; and that the bounty lands granted, or hereafter to be granted, for military services during the late war with Great Britain shall, while they continue to be held by the patentees or their heirs, remain exempt from any tax laid by order or under the authority of the state, whether for state, county, township, or other purposes, for the term of three years from and after the dates of the patents respectively.

SEC. 3. It is hereby made the duty of the secretary of state, after the taking effect of this act, to forward one copy of the same to each of our senators and representatives in Congress, who are hereby required to procure the consent of Congress to the diversion of the five per cent fund indicated in the proviso to the first section of this act.

SEC. 4. This act shall take effect from and after its publication in the weekly newspapers printed in Iowa City.

The number of senators shall not be less than one-third, nor more than one-half the representative body; and at the first session of general assembly, after this constitution takes effect, the senators shall be divided by lot, as equally as may be, into two classes; the seats of the senators of the first class shall be vacated at the expiration of the second year, so that one-half shall be chosen every two years.

[By an amendment to the constitution properly proposed (17 G. A., joint res. No. 5; 18 G. A., joint res. No. 6), and adopted by vote of the electors at the general election in 1880, the words "free white" were stricken from the second line of this section.]

Senators. Sec. 5. Senators shall be chosen for the term of four years, at the same time and place as representatives; they shall be twenty-five years of age, and possess the qualifications of representatives as to residence and citizenship.

Number and classification. Sec. 6. The number of senators shall not be less than one-third nor more than one-half the representative body; and shall be so classified by lot that one class, being as nearly one-half as possible, shall be elected every two years. When the number of senators is increased, they shall be annexed by lot to one or the other of the two classes, so as to keep them as nearly equal in numbers as practicable.

Elections determined. Sec. 7. Each house shall choose its own officers, and judge of the qualification, election, and return of its own members. A contested election shall be determined in such manner as shall be directed by law.

Quorum. Sec. 8. A majority of each house shall constitute a quorum to transact business; but a smaller number may adjourn from day to day, and may compel the attendance of absent members in such manner and under such penalties as each house may provide.

Authority of the houses. Sec. 9. Each house shall sit upon its own adjournments, keep a journal of its proceedings, and publish the same; determine its rules of proceedings, punish members for disorderly behavior, and with the consent of two-thirds, expel a member, but not a second time for the same offense; and shall have all other powers necessary for a branch of the general assembly of a free and independent state.

Protest. Sec. 10. Every member of the general assembly shall have the liberty to dissent from or protest against any act or resolution which he may think injurious to the public or an individual, and have the reasons for his dissent entered on the journals; and the yeas and nays of the members of either house, on any question, shall, at the desire of any two members present, be entered on the journals.

Approval. Sec. 16. Every bill which shall have passed the general assembly, shall, before it becomes a law, be presented to the governor. If he approve, he shall sign it; but if not, he shall return it, with his objections, to the house in which it originated, which shall enter the same upon their journal, and proceed to reconsider it; if, after such reconsideration, it again pass both houses, by yeas and nays, by a majority of two-thirds of the members of each house, it shall become a law, notwithstanding the governor's objections. If any bill shall not be returned within three days after it shall have been presented to him (Sunday excepted), the same shall be a law in like manner as if he had signed it, unless the general assembly, by adjournment, prevent such return. Any bill submitted to the governor for his approval during the last three days of a session of the general assembly, shall be deposited by him in the office of the secretary of state within thirty days after the adjournment, with his approval, if approved by him, and with his objections, if he disapproves thereof.

Majority vote. Sec. 17. No bill shall be passed unless by the assent of a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the general assembly, and the question upon the final passage shall be taken immediately upon its last reading, and the yeas and nays entered on the journal.

Impeachment. Sec. 19. The house of representatives shall have the sole power of impeachment, and all impeachments shall be tried by the senate. When sitting for that purpose, the senators shall be upon oath or affirmation; and no person shall be convicted without the concurrence of two-thirds of the members present.

Who liable to; judgment. Sec. 20. The governor, judges of the supreme and district courts, and other state officers, shall be liable to impeachment for any misdemeanor or malfeasance in office; but judgment in such cases shall extend only to removal from office, and disqualification to hold any office of honor, trust, or profit under this state; but the party convicted or acquitted shall nevertheless be liable to indictment, trial, and punishment according to law. All other civil officers shall be tried for misdemeanors and malfeasance in office, in such manner as the general assembly may provide.

Members not appointed to office. Sec. 21. And when convened in extra session they shall receive the same mileage and per diem compensation as fixed by law for the regular session, and none other.

Extra compensation. Sec. 31. No extra compensation shall be made to any officer, public agent, or contractor, after the service shall have been rendered, or the contract entered into; nor shall any money be paid on any claim, the subject-matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws, and no public money or property shall be appropriated for local or private purposes, unless such appropriation, compensation, or claim be allowed by two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the general assembly.

Oath of members. Sec. 32. Members of the general assembly shall, before they enter upon the duties of their respective offices, take and subscribe the following oath or affirmation: "I do solemnly swear (or affirm, as the case may be), that I will support the constitution of the United States, and the constitution of the state of Iowa, and that I will faithfully discharge the duties of senator (or representative, as the case may be), according to the best of my ability." Such reorganization of the districts, or any change in the boundaries thereof, or any increase or diminution of the number of judges, shall take place every four years thereafter, if necessary, and at no other time.

[Amendment.] At any regular session of the general assembly, the state may be divided into the necessary judicial districts for district court purposes, or the said districts may be reorganized and the number of the districts and the judges of said courts increased or diminished; but no reorganization of the districts or diminution of the judges shall have the effect of removing a judge from office.

[By proper legislative action (19 G. A. joint res. No. 12 and 20 G. A. joint res. No. 13) the foregoing was submitted to the electors at the general election in 1884 as a proposed amendment to the constitution, and was by them adopted.]

When chosen. Sec. 11. The judges of the supreme and district courts shall be chosen at the general election; and the term of office of each judge shall commence on the first day of January next after his election.

Attorney-general. Sec. 12. The general assembly shall provide, by law, for the election of an attorney-general by the people, whose term of office shall be two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

County attorney. Sec. 13. The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year eighteen hundred and eighty-six, and every two years thereafter elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

[By proper legislative action (19 G. A. joint res. No. 12, and 20 G. A. joint res. No. 13) a proposition to substitute the foregoing for the original section was submitted to the electors at the general election in 1884, and by them adopted. The original section was as follows:

Sec. 13. The qualified electors of each judicial district shall, at the time of the election of the district judge, elect a district attorney, who shall be a resident of the district for which he is elected, and who shall hold his office for the term of four years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.]

Carrying into effect. Sec. 14. It shall be the duty of the general assembly to provide for the carrying into effect of this article, and to provide for a general system of practice in all the courts of this state.

The grand jury. (Sec. 15.) The grand jury may consist of any number of members not less than five, nor more than fifteen, as the general assembly may by law provide, or the general assembly may provide for holding persons to answer for any criminal offense without the intervention of the grand jury.

[By proper legislative action (19 G. A. joint res. No. 12 and 20 G. A. joint res. No. 13) the foregoing was submitted to the electors at the general election in 1884 as a proposed amendment to the constitution, and was by them adopted.]

ARTICLE VI.—MILITIA.

Who constitute. Section 1. The militia of this state shall be composed of all able-bodied male citizens, between the ages of eighteen and forty-five years, except such as are or may hereafter be exempt by the laws of the United States, or of this state; and shall be armed, equipped, and trained, as the general assembly may provide by law.

[By proper legislative action (11 G. A. chap. 98 and 12 G. A. joint res. No. XI) a proposed amendment striking the word "white" from this section, as it originally stood, was submitted to the electors at the general election in 1868 and adopted.]

Exemption. Sec. 2. No person or persons conscientiously scrupulous of bearing arms shall be compelled to do military duty in time of peace: provided that such person or persons shall pay an equivalent for such exemption in the same manner as other citizens.

Officers. Sec. 3. All commissioned officers of the militia (staff officers excepted) shall be elected by the persons liable to perform military duty, and shall be commissioned by the governor.

ARTICLE VII.—STATE DEBTS.

Credit not to be loaned. Section 1. The credit of the state shall not, in any manner, be given or loaned to, or in aid of, any individual, association, or corporation; and the state shall never assume, or become responsible for the debts or liabilities of any individual, association, or corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the state.

Limitation. Sec. 2. The state may contract debts to supply casual deficits or failures in revenues; or to meet expenses not otherwise provided for; but the aggregate amount of such debts, direct and contingent, whether contracted by virtue of one or more acts of the general assembly, or at different periods of time, shall never exceed the sum of two hundred and fifty thousand dollars; and the money arising from the creation of such debts shall be applied to the purpose for which it was obtained, or to repay the debts so contracted, and to no other purpose whatever.

Losses to school funds. Sec. 3. All losses to the permanent school, or university fund of this state, which shall have been occasioned by the defalcation, mismanagement, or fraud of the agents or officers controlling and managing the same, shall be audited by the proper authorities of the state. The amount so audited shall be a permanent funded debt against the state, in favor of the respective fund sustaining the loss, upon which not less than six per cent annual interest shall be paid. The amount of liability so created shall not be counted as a part of the indebtedness authorized by the second section of this article.

War debts. Sec. 4. In addition to the above limited power to contract debts, the state may contract debts to repel invasion, suppress insurrection, or defend the state in war; but the money arising from the debts so contracted shall be applied to the purpose for which it was raised, or to repay such debts, and to no other purpose whatever.

Question of incurring debt submitted. Sec. 5. Except the debts hereinafore specified in this article, no debt shall be hereafter contracted by, or on behalf of this state, unless such debt shall be authorized by some law for some single work or object, to be distinctly specified therein; and such law shall impose and provide for the collection of a direct annual tax, sufficient to pay the interest on such debt, as it falls due, and also to pay and discharge the principal of such debt, within twenty years from the time of the contracting thereof; but no such law shall take effect until at a general election it shall have been submitted to the people, and have received a majority of all the votes cast for and against it at such election; and all money raised by authority of such law, shall be applied only to the specific object therein stated, or to the payment of the debt created thereby; and such law shall be published in at least one newspaper in each county, if one is published therein, throughout the state, for three months preceding the election at which it is submitted to the people.

Legislature may repeal. Sec. 6. The legislature may, at any time, after the approval of such law by the people, if no debt shall have been contracted in pursuance thereof, repeal the same; and may at any time forbid the contracting of any further debt, or liability, under such law; but the tax imposed by such law, in proportion to the debt or liability which may have been contracted in pursuance thereof, shall remain in force and be irrevocable, and be annually collected, until the principal and interest are fully paid.

Tax imposed distinctly stated. Sec. 7. Every law which imposes, continues, or revives a tax, shall distinctly state the tax, and the object to which it is to be applied; and it shall not be sufficient to refer to any other law to fix such tax or object.

ARTICLE VIII.—CORPORATIONS.

How created. Section 1. No corporation shall be created by special laws; but the general assembly shall provide by general laws, for the organization of all corporations hereafter to be created, except as herein-after provided.

Property taxable. Sec. 2. The property of all corporations for pecuniary profit shall be subject to taxation the same as that of individuals.

State not to be a stockholder. Sec. 3. The state shall not become a stockholder in any corporation, nor shall it assume or pay the debt or liability of any corporation, unless incurred in time of war for the benefit of the state.

Municipal corporation. Sec. 4. No political or municipal corporation shall become a stockholder in any banking corporation, directly or indirectly.

Act creating banking associations. Sec. 5. No act of the general assembly, authorizing or creating corporations or associations with banking powers, nor amendments thereto, shall take effect, or in any manner be in force, until the same shall have been submitted, separately, to the people, at a general or special election, as provided by law, to be held not less than three months after the passage of the act, and shall have been approved by a majority of all the electors voting for and against it at such election.

State bank. Sec. 6. Subject to the provisions of the foregoing section, the general assembly may also provide for the establishment of a state bank with branches.

Specie bank. Sec. 7. If a state bank be established, it shall be founded on an actual specie basis, and the branches shall be mutually responsible for each other's liabilities upon all notes, bills and other issues intended for circulation as money.

General banking law. Sec. 8. If a general banking law shall be enacted, it shall provide for the registry and countersigning, by an officer of state, of all bills, or paper credit designed to circulate as money, and require security to the full amount thereof, to be deposited with the state treasurer, in United States stocks, or in interest-paying stocks of states in good credit and standing, to be rated at ten per cent below their average value in the city of New York, for the thirty days next preceding their deposit; and in case of a depreciation of any portion of such stocks, to the amount of ten per cent on the dollar, the bank or banks owning said stock shall be required to make up said deficiency by depositing additional stocks; and said law shall also provide for the recording of the names of all stockholders in such corporations, the amount of stock held by each, the time of any transfer, and to whom.

Stockholders responsible. Sec. 9. Every stockholder in a banking corporation or institution shall be individually responsible and liable to its creditors, over and above the amount of stock by him or her held, to an amount equal to his or her respective shares so held, for all its liabilities accruing while he or she remains such stockholder.

Bill-holders preferred. Sec. 10. In case of the insolvency of any banking institution, the bill-holders shall have a preference over its other creditors.

Suspension of specie payments. Sec. 11. The suspension of specie payments by banking institutions shall never be permitted or sanctioned.

Amendment or repeal of charters; exclusive privileges. Sec. 12. Subject to the provisions of this article, the general assembly shall have power to amend or repeal all laws for the organization or creation of corporations, or granting of special or exclusive privileges or immunities, by a vote of two-thirds of each branch of the general assembly; and no exclusive privileges, except as in this article provided, shall ever be granted.

ARTICLE IX.—EDUCATION AND SCHOOL LANDS.

1—EDUCATION.

The board of education shall appoint a secretary, who shall be the executive officer of the board, and perform such duties as may be imposed upon him by the board, and the laws of the state. The board of education shall have full power and authority to legislate and make all needful rules and regulations in relation to common schools, and other educational institutions, that are instituted, to receive aid from the school or university fund of this state; but all acts, rules, and regulations of said board may be altered, amended, or repealed by the general assembly; and when so altered, amended, or repealed, they shall not be re-enacted by the board of education.

Governor ex-officio a member. Sec. 9. The governor of the state shall be ex-officio, a member of said board.

Expenses. Sec. 10. The board shall have no power to levy taxes, or make appropriations of money. Their contingent expenses shall be provided for by the general assembly.

State university. Sec. 11. The state university shall be established at one place without branches at any other place, and the university fund shall be applied to that institution, and no other.

Common schools. Sec. 12. The board of education shall provide for the education of all the youths of the state, through a system of common schools, and such schools shall be organized and kept in each school district at least three months in each year. Any district failing, for two consecutive years, to organize and keep up a school, as aforesaid, may be deprived of their portion of the school fund.

A majority of the board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business; but no rule, regulation, or law, for the government of common schools or other educational institutions shall pass without the concurrence of a majority of all the members of the board, which shall be expressed by the yeas and nays on the final passage. The style of all acts of the board shall be, "Be it enacted by the board of education of the state of Iowa."

Board may be abolished. Sec. 15. At any time after the year one thousand eight hundred and sixty-three, the general assembly shall have power to abolish or reorganize said board of education, and provide for the educational interest of the state in any other manner that to them shall seem best and proper.

[The board of education was abolished by 10th G. A., ch. 52, Sec. 1.]

2—SCHOOL FUNDS AND SCHOOL LANDS.

Under control of general assembly. Section 1. The educational and school fund and lands, shall be under the control and management of the general assembly of this state.

Permanent fund. Sec. 2. The university lands, and the proceeds thereof, and all moneys belonging to said fund shall be a permanent fund for the sole use of the state university. The interest arising from the same shall be annually appropriated for the support and benefit of said university.

Lands appropriated. Sec. 3. The general assembly shall encourage, by all suitable means, the promotion of intellectual, scientific, moral and agricultural improvement. The proceeds of all lands that have been, or hereafter may be, granted by the United States to this state, for the support of schools, which may have been or shall hereafter be sold, or disposed of, and the five hundred thousand acres of land granted to the new states, under an act of Congress, distributing the proceeds of the public lands among the several states of the Union, approved in the year of our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty-one, and all estates of deceased persons who may have died without leaving a will or heir, and also such per cent as has been or may hereafter be granted by Congress, on the sale of lands in this state, shall be, and remain a perpetual fund, the interest of which, together with all rents of the unsold lands, and such other means as the general assembly may provide, shall be inviolably appropriated to the support of common schools throughout the state.

Fines, etc., how appropriated. Sec. 4. The money which may have been or shall be paid by persons as an equivalent from exemption from military duty, and the clear proceeds of all fines collected in the several counties for any breach of the penal laws, shall be exclusively applied in the several counties in which such money is paid, or fine collected, among the several school districts of said counties, in proportion to the number of youths subject to enumeration in such districts, to the support of common schools, or the establishment of libraries, as the board of education shall from time to time provide.

Proceeds of lands. Sec. 5. The general assembly shall take measures for the protection, improvement, or other disposition of such lands as have been, or may hereafter be reserved, or granted by the United States, or any person or persons to this state, for the use of the university, and the funds accruing from the rents or sale of such lands, or from any other source for the purpose aforesaid, shall be, and remain, a permanent fund, the interest of which shall be applied to the support of said university, for the promotion of literature, the arts and sciences, as may be authorized by the terms of such grant. And it shall be the duty of the general assembly, as soon as may be, to provide effectual means for the improvement and permanent security of the funds of said university.

Agents of school funds. Sec. 6. The financial agents of the school funds shall be the same that, by law, receive and control the state and county revenue, for other civil purposes, under such regulations as may be provided by law.

ARTICLE X.—AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION.

How proposed; submission. Section 1. Any amendment or amendments to this constitution may be proposed in either house of the general assembly; and if the same shall be agreed to by a majority of the members elected to each of the two houses, such proposed amendment shall be entered on their journals, with the yeas and nays taken thereon, and referred to the legislature to be chosen at the next general election, and shall be published, as provided by law, for three months previous to the time of making such choice; and if, in the general assembly so next chosen as aforesaid, such proposed amendment or amendments shall be agreed to by a majority of all the members elected to each house, then it shall be the duty of the general assembly to submit such proposed amendment or amendments to the people in such manner, and at such time as the general assembly shall provide; and if the people shall approve and ratify such amendment or amendments by a majority of the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly, voting thereon, such amendment or amendments shall become a part of the constitution of this state.

More than one. Sec. 2. If two or more amendments shall be submitted at the same time, they shall be submitted in such manner that the electors shall vote for or against each of such amendments separately.

Convention. Sec. 3. At the general election to be held in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy, and in each tenth year thereafter, and also at such times as the general assembly may, by law, provide, the question "Shall there be a convention to revise the constitution, and amend the same?" shall be decided by the electors qualified to vote for members of the general assembly; and in case a majority of the electors so qualified, voting at such election for and against such proposition, shall decide in favor of a convention for such purpose, the general assembly, at its next session, shall provide by law for the election of delegates to such convention.

ARTICLE XI.—MISCELLANEOUS.

Jurisdiction of justice of the peace. Section 1. The general assembly shall not locate any of the public lands which have been, or may be granted by congress to this state, and the location of which may be given to the general assembly, upon lands actually settled, without the consent of the occupant. The extent of the claim of such occupant so exempted, shall not exceed three hundred and twenty acres.

The elections shall be conducted in the same manner as the general elections of the state, and the poll-books shall be returned and canvassed as provided in the twenty-fifth chapter of the code, and abstracts shall be forwarded to the secretary of state, which abstracts shall be canvassed in the manner provided for the canvass of state officers. And if it shall appear that a majority of all the votes cast at such election for and against this constitution are in favor of the same, the governor shall immediately issue his proclamation stating that fact, and such constitution shall be the constitution of the state of Iowa, and shall take effect from and after the publication of said proclamation.

Proposition to strike out the word "white." Sec. 14. At the same election that this constitution is submitted to the people for its adoption or rejection, a proposition to amend the same by striking out the word "white," from the article on the "right of suffrage," shall be separately submitted to the electors of this state for adoption or rejection, in the manner following, viz.: a separate ballot may be given by every person having a right to vote at said election, to be deposited in a separate box. And those given for the adoption of such proposition shall have the words, "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the 'right of suffrage?' yes." And those given against the proposition shall have the words "shall the word 'white' be stricken out of the article on the 'right of suffrage?' no." And if at said election the number of ballots cast in favor of said proposition, shall be equal to a majority of those cast for and against this constitution, then said word "white" shall be stricken from said article and be no part thereof.

The terms of offices of senators whose successors would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The general assembly shall make such changes in the law governing the time of election and terms of office of all other elective officers as shall be necessary to make the time of their election and terms of office conform to this amendment, and shall provide which of the judges of the supreme court shall serve as chief justice. The general assembly shall meet in regular session on the second Monday in January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and also on the second Monday in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven, and biennially thereafter.

[By proper legislative action (29 G. A. joint res. No. 5 and 30 G. A. joint res. No. 1) a proposed amendment, adding the foregoing section number 16 to Article XII, was submitted to the electors at the general election in 1904, and adopted. Practically the same amendment was adopted by the people November 6, 1900, but the supreme court February 1, 1901, in the case of the State of Iowa ex rel Marsh W. Bailey vs. S. W. Brookhart, respondent, appellant, held that the amendment, section 16, was not proposed and adopted as required by the constitution, and did not become a part thereof.]

[The supreme court, April 21, 1883, in the case of Koehler & Lange vs. Hill, reported in 60th Iowa, page 543, held that the amendment, section 26, as submitted to the electors did not become a part of the constitution.]

Amendment 1. The general election for state, district, county and township officers, shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November.

Amendment 2. At any regular session of the general assembly, the state may be divided into the necessary judicial districts for district court purposes, or the said districts may be reorganized and the number of the districts and the judges of said courts increased or diminished; but no reorganization of the districts or diminution of the judges shall have the effect of removing a judge from office.

Amendment 3. The grand jury may consist of any number of members not less than five, nor more than fifteen, as the general assembly may by law provide, or the general assembly may provide for holding persons to answer for any criminal offense without the intervention of the grand jury.

Amendment 4. That section thirteen of article five of the constitution be stricken therefrom, and the following adopted as such section:

Section 13. The qualified electors of each county shall, at the general election in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-six, and every two years thereafter, elect a county attorney, who shall be a resident of the county for which he is elected, and shall hold his office for two years, and until his successor shall have been elected and qualified.

That section thirty-four (34), thirty-five (35) and thirty-six (36) of article three (3) of the constitution of the state of Iowa, be repealed and the following be adopted in lieu thereof.

Section 34. The senate shall be composed of fifty members to be elected from the several senatorial districts, established by law and at the next session of the general assembly held following the taking of the state and national census, they shall be apportioned among the several counties or districts of the state, according to population as shown by the last preceding census.

Section 35. The house of representatives shall consist of not more than one hundred and eight members. The ratio of representation shall be determined by dividing the whole number of the population of the state as shown by the last preceding state or national census, by the whole number of counties then existing or organized, but each county shall constitute one representative district and be entitled to one representative, but each county having a population in excess of the ratio number, as herein provided of three-fifths or more of such ratio number shall be entitled to one additional representative, but said addition shall extend only to the nine counties having the greatest population.

Section 36. The general assembly shall, at the first regular session held following the adoption of this amendment, and at each succeeding regular session held next after the taking of such census, fix the ratio of representation, and apportion the additional representatives, as hereinbefore required.

* Add as section sixteen, to article twelve of the constitution, the following:

Sec. 16. The first general election after the adoption of this amendment shall be held on the Tuesday next after the first Monday in November in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and general elections shall be held biennially thereafter. In the year one thousand nine hundred and six there shall be elected a governor, lieutenant-governor, secretary of state, auditor of state, treasurer of state, attorney-general, two judges of the supreme court, the successors of the judges of the district court whose terms of office expire on December 31st, one thousand nine hundred and six, state senators who would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and five, and members of the house of representatives. The terms of office of senators whose successors would otherwise be chosen in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven are hereby extended one year and until their successors are elected and qualified. The general assembly shall make such changes in the law governing the time of election and terms of office of all other elective officers as shall be necessary to make the time of their election and terms of office conform to this amendment, and shall provide which of the judges of the supreme court shall serve as chief justice. The general assembly shall meet in regular session on the second Monday in January, in the year one thousand nine hundred and six, and also on the second Monday in January in the year one thousand nine hundred and seven, and biennially thereafter.

* Practically the same amendment was adopted by the people November 6, 1900, but the supreme court, February 1, 1901, in the case of the State of Iowa ex rel Marsh W. Bailey vs. S. W. Brookhart, respondent, appellant, held that the amendment, section 16, was not proposed and adopted as required by the constitution, and did not become a part thereof.

THE GENERAL ASSEMBLIES OF IOWA.

A CHRONOLOGICAL SKETCH.

The first legislative session in which the few white inhabitants of the territory that eventually became the state of Iowa were directly interested, was held at Belmont, Wisconsin, convening October 25, 1836, and adjourning December 9th of the same year.

This was the territorial legislature of Wisconsin.

At that time there were two organized counties west of the Mississippi river, one called Du Buque and the other Demoiné. Du Buque was north and Demoiné south of a line drawn straight west from the lower point of Rock Island. These counties were created by act of the Sixth Territorial Assembly of Michigan, which at that time embraced all of what afterwards became the territory of Wisconsin, as well as of Iowa.

A census taken in September of 1836 showed the white population of these two counties to be 10,531, which entitled them to six members of the council and twelve members of the house of representatives of the territorial legislature. These were chosen at an election held on the first Monday in October, 1836, the legislature convening at Belmont, Wisconsin, on the 25th of the same month, as stated above.

At this session the county of Demoiné was sub-divided into seven counties, named as follows: Demoiné, Lee, Van Buren, Henry, Louisa, "Musquétine," and Cook, the latter being afterwards changed to Scott.

The legislative accommodations at Belmont were very poor and on the offer of Major Jerome Smith, member of the council from Demoiné county, to provide a suitable building at Burlington (Iowa), on December 3, 1836, an act was passed locating the seat of government at that place until March 4, 1839, unless public buildings should be sooner erected at Madison, Wisconsin, which had been previously selected as the permanent capital of the territory.

The second session of the territorial legislature of Wisconsin convened at Burlington (Iowa) on the first Monday of November, 1837. Its sessions were held in a two story frame building erected for its use as promised by Major Jerome Smith until it was destroyed by fire some time during the session and after that the general assembly met in Old Zion Methodist Church.

At this session the county of Du Buque was sub-divided into ten counties.

An extra session of the territorial legislature of Wisconsin was held at Burlington, convening June 11, 1838.

The congressional act creating the territory of Iowa was approved June 12, 1838. It set apart as such territory all that part of Wisconsin territory west of the Mississippi river and at that time embraced all of the present state of Iowa, most of Minnesota and a portion of the Dakotas. Under this act President Martin Van Buren appointed Robert Lucas to the office of governor and William E. Conway to that of secretary of the new territory. They assumed their duties on July 3, 1838.

The act creating the new territory provided that the legislative power should be vested in the governor and a legislative assembly to be composed of a council of thirteen members who should serve two years and a house of twenty-six representatives who should serve one year.

One of the first official acts of Governor Lucas was to issue a proclamation dividing the territory into eight legislative districts and apportioning the membership of the council and house of representatives among the counties then organized.

The first territorial legislature of Iowa convened in Old Zion Church at Burlington on November 12, 1838. Jesse B. Brown, member of the council from Lee county, was elected president of the council, and William H. Wallace, of Henry County, was elected speaker of the house. Evidently political lines were not closely drawn as the president of the council and the speaker of the house were both members of the whig party while a majority of the members of each branch of the legislature were democrats. The youngest member of the house was James W. Grimes, in after years governor of Iowa, a member of the United States Senate and otherwise distinguished. At this time he was but twenty-two years of age. S. C. Hastings, of the house, afterwards in congress and also chief justice of the supreme court of Iowa, was twenty-four years of age. Stephen Hempstead, of the council, afterwards governor of the state, was but twenty-six years of age.

This first legislative body within the boundaries of Iowa found much to do in the way of framing new laws for the government and protection of its people. Some of these laws were so carefully and wisely framed as to require but little change in the years that followed and are now on our statute books in substantially the original form, while others, framed to meet conditions that speedily changed, were long since repealed and have now only historical interest.

It may be worth while to refer to a few of the many matters that engaged the thoughtful attention of the early solons.

One act was passed, that has been but little changed, authorizing each county to elect three commissioners (now called supervisors), one to serve three years, one two years and one one year from the first election, and their successors three years each. Their compensation was fixed at $3 per day each. Four regular sessions a year were provided for, of not to exceed six days each, and extra sessions as might be necessary, of not to exceed three days each.

Another act became a law providing for "open and free common schools" for every class of white citizens between the ages of four and twenty-one years, and providing also for the admission of pupils over twenty-one years of age on terms to be fixed by the trustees (directors) of the school districts.

The organization of county agricultural societies was authorized.

The establishment of public libraries in any city, town, village or neighborhood, whenever $100 should be subscribed by the citizens for library purposes, was also authorized.

An act was passed prohibiting the sale of liquor to Indians.

Another act fixed the legal rate of interest at six per cent, except that by written contract it might be not to exceed twenty per cent.

Another act provided for the organization of a state militia.

Various acts were passed authorizing the establishment altogether of nineteen territorial roads and naming commissioners for the location of each. Some of these were somewhat indefinite as to exact points to be reached. For example, one was from Dubuque to the settlement in Delaware county. Another was from Dubuque via the territorial seat of government, provided it should be located in Johnson county; if not, then on the nearest and best route to Keosauqua, in Van Buren county, and thence to the Missouri line. Another was from Keokuk, in Lee county, to the "horse tail reach" on the Des Moines river, thence up said river to Iowa City.

Dams to provide water power for mills were authorized, to be constructed at various points on various streams.

An act was passed providing for the erection of a penitentiary at Fort Madison to accommodate one hundred and thirty-six convicts and to cost not over $40,000 exclusive of labor of convicts.

Acts were passed authorizing the establishment of ferries at twelve different points on the Mississippi river and in most cases granting exclusive rights. A general law regulating ferries provided that for ferries across all streams, except the Mississippi river, licenses must be obtained from the county commissioners.

The incorporation and establishment of academies to be located at towns and villages to the number of twelve was authorized, also the Wapello Seminary for the instruction of young persons of both sexes in science and literature. This latter was to be owned by a stock company, shares to be $10 each—"provided, that the annual income of the corporation (not including tuition, however) shall not exceed the sum of $2,000."

The Bloomington and Cedar River Canal company was authorized with capital of $200,000; "The Iowa Mutual Fire Insurance Company of Burlington"; "The Keosauqua Lyceum"; "The town of Davenport," etc.

One of the larger corporations authorized was the Burlington and Des Moines Transportation company, with capital of $1,000,000. Its purpose was to "construct and continue" a navigable canal or slack water navigation from the city of Burlington to such point on the head waters of the Des Moines river as the "directors may deem eligible." "In case the canal is not found practicable," the company may "construct and continue either a railroad or a macadamized road between the points aforesaid."

Another corporation authorized was the Burlington Turnpike company, to build a turnpike road between Burlington and a point on the Iowa river opposite the town of Black Hawk, in Louisa county; authorized capital, $100,000. Tolls were to be allowed as fixed by the law, ranging from one cent each for sheep and hogs to forty cents for a four-wheeled pleasure carriage with two horses. An ordinary four-wheeled wagon or carriage with two horses or oxen could be charged twenty-five cents.

Another act of interest was in substance as follows: "No black or mulatto person shall be permitted to settle or reside in this territory unless he or she shall produce a fair certificate from some court within the United States, of his or her actual freedom, and give bond in the penal sum of $500 that such person shall not become a charge to the county in which the bond is given or any other county in this territory, and also for such person's good behavior. If any negro or mulatto coming into the territory fails to comply with this act, it shall be the duty of the county commissioners to hire out such person for six months for the best price in cash that can be had; the proceeds to go into the county treasury for the use of such negro or mulatto as the commissioners may direct. Should any person knowingly hire or harbor such negro or mulatto without such colored person first complying with the provisions of this act, he shall pay a fine of not less than five nor more than one hundred dollars." "The right of any person to pass through this territory with his or her negroes or mulattoes when emigrating or traveling to any other state or territory or country or on a visit, is hereby declared and secured."

Acts were passed regulating the management of steamboats and prohibiting racing; providing for the appointment of a territorial treasurer, for recording town plats, and for the punishment of vendors of "unwholesome liquors and provisions."

At this session an act was passed appointing a commission to locate a permanent seat of government and providing that for three years, or until such location was made and suitable buildings erected the legislature should hold its sessions at Burlington. A supplemental act was afterwards passed locating the seat of government at some point in Johnson county where a town should be platted and called Iowa City. The sale of lots was also authorized, the proceeds to be turned into the territorial treasury.

The time for convening regular sessions of the general assembly was fixed for the first Monday in November of each year, and the governor was authorized to call special sessions at any time he might deem it "expedient and proper."

An extra session of the territorial legislature was held in July, 1839, at which session an apportionment of representative districts was made.

In August, 1839, members of the house of representatives were elected, members of the senate holding over.

The second territorial assembly convened at Burlington on November 4, 1839. Stephen Hempstead was elected president of the council and Edward Johnson speaker of the house.

At this session many acts were passed similar to those enacted at the first session, granting ferry privileges, authorizing the construction of dams, location of highways, establishment of academies, the organization of new counties, etc.

An act was passed providing for the appointment of notaries public by the governor "by and with the consent of the council" and otherwise with general provisions almost exactly as found in the law at this time.

Others of the first acts of importance in the preliminary organization of the state may be mentioned as follows:

Providing for the organization of townships;

Providing for the election of a county treasurer;

Providing for the election of a delegate to congress, judges of probate, county sheriffs, recorders, and surveyors;

Providing for the establishment of a system of common schools;

Abolishing imprisonment for debt;

Enactment of general road laws;

Among appropriations made, or accounts approved, was one of $81.50 for candles; one of $1.50 for plastering around stove pipes; $30 for cutting wood and $235 for wood furnished; stove pipes, shovels, tongs, etc. $320.

An act was passed providing for an extra session of the legislature to be held in July, 1840, for the purpose of apportioning members of the council and house of representatives equally among the several counties. It also provided that the general election for the year 1840 should be held on the first Monday in October, "but ever after on the first Monday of August." This went into effect without the governor's signature.

A concurrent resolution was adopted providing—That our delegate in congress be requested to use his best exertions to have a line of semi-weekly post coaches put upon the mail route from Davenport to Dubuque, via Pleasant Valley, Parkhurst, Wabesipinica, Camanche, Charleston and Belleview.

The per diem of members and other expenses of the territorial legislature, were paid by the general government, funds being sent from Washington to the secretary of the territory who was disbursing agent for the government. Wm. B. Conway, territorial secretary, died while the legislature was in session and his successor's acceptance not having reached Washington, when time of adjournment drew near, members grew uneasy over lack of funds to pay their bills. To meet the emergency they adopted a resolution requesting General V. P. Van Antwerp, receiver of public moneys, to advance the necessary funds and pledging the faith of the territory as security.

An extra session of the legislative assembly convened at Burlington on the first Monday in July, 1840. Its purpose was ostensibly the redistricting of the state and apportioning members of the council and house of representatives, but considerable other business was transacted. The construction of dams, establishment of ferries, location of territorial roads, organization of counties, location of county seats, incorporation of churches, etc., occupied considerable of the legislative time and attention.

The territory was divided into ten legislative districts and provision made for the election of fourteen members of the council and twenty-six members of the house of representatives.

Rent to the amount of $100 was allowed for use of the church as an assembly hall at that session.

C. Berger was allowed $25 for sawing fourteen cords of wood and furnishing three cords of ash wood for the territorial library.

The third territorial assembly convened at Burlington on the first Monday in November, 1840.

As at previous sessions considerable time was taken up in the enactment of laws locating roads, authorizing the construction of dams, establishment of ferries, organizing counties, locating county seats, granting divorces and incorporating seminaries and academies.

At this session an act was passed creating the office of superintendent of public instruction, to be filled by appointment by the governor.

An act was passed changing the time for convening the legislative assembly to the first Monday in December, and providing that the next session should be held at Iowa City, conditional on the new capitol being nearly enough completed, or some other suitable place provided.

A bill was passed authorizing the borrowing of not less than $5,000 nor more than $20,000 to be expended on the new capitol.

A. S. Stoddard was allowed $2.75 for repairing "wood-saw and horse."

The fourth territorial legislative assembly convened in a temporary building constructed for its use at Iowa City, on the first Monday in December, 1841.

Numerous bills were passed of the same nature as at previous sessions affecting public utilities.

Acts were passed fixing fees to be charged and collected by constables, sheriffs, justices, and notaries and those to be paid witnesses;—defining a lawful fence;—for the relief of the poor through township trustees;—to prevent and punish gaming;—authorizing the establishment of poor houses, organization of townships and providing for the levy and collection of a road tax.

The Maquoketa river was declared to be a navigable stream and its obstruction was forbidden.

An act was passed for the promotion of agricultural societies, $1,200 being appropriated. Of this $200 was given to the Iowa Territorial society and the balance was divided among various counties in sums of $20 up to $140; mostly $20, $25, $30 and $35 each.

Appropriations covered the cutting and furnishing wood as usual, and John Hawkins, justice of peace, was allowed $8 for swearing in twenty-two members of the house of representatives.

An act was passed providing for the submission to the voters of the question of adopting a state constitution and government.

The question was duly submitted but was rejected.

One act passed at this session divorced nineteen married couples. The bill was returned by the governor with objections but was passed over his veto by a two-thirds vote.

The fifth territorial legislature convened at Iowa City on December 5, 1842, and occupied rooms in the partly completed new capitol.

An act was passed changing the time of holding general elections to the first Monday in August.

The usual bills were passed in regard to roads, ferries, counties, schools, etc.

The sixth session of the territorial assembly convened at Iowa City on December 4, 1843.

An act was passed fixing the times for holding court in twenty-two counties which were divided into three districts, and another act was passed abolishing imprisonment for debts and repealing an act passed by the second territorial legislature of a similar nature.

An act was passed providing for taking the census and also for an extra session of the legislature to be held in June following—provided congress before that time should make an appropriation to defray the expenses of the session.

Provision was also made for submitting the question of holding a constitutional convention, to be voted on at the April election. The question carried by a vote of 6,719 for to 3,974 against and in August, 1844, 73 delegates were elected. The convention assembled at Iowa City on October 17, 1844, framed a constitution and fixed the boundaries of the proposed state. This, when submitted to the people, was rejected by a majority of 996, largely on account of unsatisfactory boundary lines fixed by congress.

An extra session of the legislature convened at Iowa City June 17, 1844.

An act was passed changing the time for electing members of the assembly from the first Monday in August to the first Monday in April next, and providing that if before March 4th congress should transfer the appropriation made for defraying the expenses of the general assembly for the ensuing year so that it might be used in payment of debts incurred by past legislatures for expenses, and the overplus if any applied to payment of expenses of a constitutional convention,—then the annual election of members for the ensuing year be entirely suspended, otherwise election to be held on the first Monday in April following.

The next and seventh regular session of the legislature convened at Iowa City on May 5, 1845.

At this session an act was passed providing for the re-submission of the question of adopting the constitution framed at the last constitutional convention and rejected later by the people, but this act provided that ratification should not be deemed an acceptance of boundaries fixed by congress, admission as a state to not be complete until any conditions imposed by congress be approved by the people.

The question was duly submitted but again rejected, the majority against it being 421.

The usual bills were passed providing for roads, new counties, etc. Also an act to incorporate the university of Iowa, and naming thirty trustees or regents.

The eighth regular legislative session convened at Iowa City on the first Monday in December, 1845.

An act was passed leasing the territorial penitentiary for three years to John W. Cohicks, who was required to feed, clothe and properly care for the prisoners and have the right to their services at any honorable labor, except on the Sabbath day. The state was to pay him also the sum of $100 per annum.

Another act was passed providing for the election of thirty-two delegates to another constitutional convention; election of delegates to be in April and they to meet in May, 1846, and proceed to frame a state constitution, the question of its adoption to be submitted to the people at the next general election. If approved by the people then to be presented to congress at the next ensuing session.

This time it was adopted and, following congressional action, became the fundamental law of the new state.

The first session of the general assembly of the state of Iowa convened at Iowa City on November 30, 1846.

An act was passed fixing salaries of state officials as follows:

Governor—$1,000 per annum.

Secretary of state—$500.

Auditor of state—$600.

Treasurer of state—$400.

Judges of the supreme court and of the district court—$1,000 each.

These salaries held for a period of ten years.

The state was authorized to issue bonds to the amount of $55,000 for not to exceed ten years at a rate of interest not to exceed ten per cent.

Numerous state roads were located, new counties organized, etc.

Skunk river from its forks in Keokuk county to its mouth was declared navigable and obstruction prohibited.

An act was passed creating a board of public works for the improvement of the Des Moines river by a system of slack water navigation—locks, dams, etc. The president of the board was given a salary of $1,000 a year and the treasurer and secretary each $800. All territorial charters for dams were declared vacated, unless owners constructed locks.

Resolutions were adopted asking congress to make appropriations for the improvement of navigation in the Iowa and the Cedar rivers.

Another act was passed locating and establishing a state university at Iowa City. Section two of the act provided that "the public buildings at Iowa City together with the ten acres of land on which they are situated be and the same are hereby granted for the use of said university; provided that the sessions of the general assembly and offices of state shall be held in the present capitol until otherwise provided for by law."

The state constitution, just adopted, provided for biennial sessions of the general assembly and fixed on the first Monday in December as the time when it should convene; election of members to be every two years on the first Monday in August; members of the senate to serve four years and those of the house two years.

An extra session of the general assembly convened January 3, 1848, on call of Governor Briggs. The needs for this session were proclaimed to be:

1st. To provide remedies for the confusion arising from defects in the school laws by which officers elected in April were declared by the supreme court as not legally chosen.

2d. To provide for the election of supreme judges and United States senators.

3d. Choose a commission to revise and codify the laws of the state. This commission compiled the code of 1851; it consisted of Charles Mason, of Burlington; William G. Woodward, of Muscatine, and Stephen Hempstead, of Dubuque.

The second, third, fourth, fifth and sixth general assemblies met at Iowa City. The fifth general assembly which convened on December 4, 1854, provided for submission to the people of the question of holding a convention to revise the constitution. The convention was held at Iowa City, convening January 19, 1857, and adjourning March 5th following.

The fifth general assembly also passed an act providing for the re-location of the state capitol "within two miles of the Raccoon forks of the Des Moines river."

The sixth general assembly, which convened on December 1, 1856, was the last to be held under the old constitution and the last session to be held at Iowa City. The new constitution provided that the general assembly should convene on the second Monday in January. Membership in the senate was limited to fifty and in the house to one hundred (since changed by amendment to one hundred and eight). It also created the office of lieutenant-governor.

The seventh general assembly convened on January 11, 1858. This was the first session under the new constitution and the first to be held in Des Moines. It was held in the plain brick building which was first leased and afterwards bought by the state and stood near where the soldiers' monument now stands, south of the present capitol.

At this session the pay of members was fixed at $3 per day and $3 allowed for each twenty miles traveled going to and returning from the capital.

An act was passed providing for the establishment of an "Agricultural College and Model Farm," and $10,000 appropriated for the purchase of land.

The twelfth general assembly, which convened in January, 1868, fixed the pay of members at $5 per day with mileage the same as before, but with the generous allowance of $3 per week for postage and $2 per week for stationery.

It was at this session that the first act was passed providing for the erection of a new capitol building.

The fourteenth general assembly which convened in January, 1872, fixed the salaries of members of the general assembly at $500 per session and $3 for every twenty miles traveled going to and returning from the capitol. Other salaries were fixed as follows: Secretary of the senate and chief clerk of the house, $8 per day each; assistant secretary and assistant clerk, $7 per day each; engrossing and enrolling clerks, $5 per day each; sergeant-at-arms, door keepers, janitors, postmasters, mail carriers and their assistants, $4 per day each; committee clerks, $3 per day each; messengers and paper folders, $2 per day each.

No allowance was made or permitted for postage, stationery, newspapers or other perquisites, except stationery necessary for the use of clerks.

An adjourned session of the fourteenth general assembly was held in the winter of 1873, convening January 15th and adjourning February 20th. The revised code was adopted at this session.

An extra session of the twenty-sixth general assembly was held in the winter of 1897 for the revision and adoption of the code of that year, now in use.

At the general election held on November 8, 1904, an amendment to the constitution was adopted providing for biennial elections, to be held in years of even numbers. The amendment extended the terms of the members for one year, and provided that the general assembly should meet in regular session on the second Monday in January, 1906, and also on the second Monday in January, 1907, and biennially thereafter.

THE LEGISLATIVE DEPARTMENT.

The legislative department of the state of Iowa is vested in a general assembly, which consists of a senate and house of representatives.

The senate consists of fifty members. Senators are elected for terms of four years; twenty-one senators being elected at one general election and twenty-nine at the next.

The house of representatives consists at present of one hundred and eight members, who are elected for terms of two years.

Sessions of the general assembly are held biennially in the odd numbered years, and they commence on the second Monday of January.

The present pay of members of the general assembly is $550 per session, the same as fixed in 1872, but mileage allowance is less, being now five cents per mile each way, between the homes of members and the capital. Members are permitted to draw such stationery as they may need for use during the session, the cost to the state for supplies so drawn varying from $1.50 to $14.00 per member. No allowance is permitted for postage.

The lieutenant-governor is the presiding officer of the senate. His pay is twice that of a member, being $1,100 per session.

The speaker of the house is chosen by the members from among their own membership. His pay is double that of other members, being the same as the president of the senate, $1,100 per session.

The lieutenant-governor appoints all committees in the senate and the speaker of the house all committees in the house.

In the regular proceedings of the senate no motions made by members are seconded but are put directly by the presiding officer, the formality of a second being waived. In the house all motions are seconded before being placed before the house by the speaker.

Sessions in both branches of the general assembly are opened by prayer. No regular chaplains are employed, but ministers from Des Moines and elsewhere over the state are assigned dates for these services and are allowed $5 for each opening prayer.

Bills passed are re-written (enrolled) by the enrolling clerk of the branch of the general assembly where the bill originates; they are then signed by the president of the senate and speaker of the house in presence of these respective bodies, in open session; then by the governor, if meeting with his approval, and then are filed with the secretary of state and by him bound in book form, after the close of a session.

THE THIRTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

Convened January 14, 1907.

RULES OF THE THIRTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY.

SENATE RULES.

REGULAR ORDER OF DAILY BUSINESS.

The following order shall govern:

1. Presentation of petitions or memorials, addressed to the Senate or the General Assembly.
2. Introduction of bills.
3. Resolutions.
4. Communications on the President's table, including House messages.
5. Reports of standing committees, in order in which they stand in the rules, except the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills, Rules and Printing.
6. Reports of select committees.
7. Third reading of bills.
8. Unfinished business before the Senate.
9. Bills and other matters.
10. General order of the day.

STANDING COMMITTEES.

1. The President shall take the Chair at the hour to which the Senate is adjourned, and call the Senate to order; and if a quorum be present, he shall proceed with the regular order of daily business, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, or unless a special order for the day shall interfere therewith. He shall preserve order and decorum, and decide all questions of order, subject to an appeal to the Senate. He shall appoint all committees, unless otherwise especially ordered. Immediately preceding the adjournment of each morning session, or, in case it can not be done during that session, then as soon after the convening of the next following session as he may find most convenient, the President shall call for corrections of the Journal of the last day's proceedings. He shall then cause any mistakes therein to be corrected by the Secretary, and the Journal shall then be approved.

2. The Senate shall, at its pleasure, elect a President pro tem., who shall hold his office during the remaining portion of the time for which the President was elected; and when the President shall from any cause be absent, the President pro tem. shall preside, except when the Chair is filled by appointment by the President.

3. There shall be appointed by the Lieutenant-Governor, at each session of the Senate, to hold their positions during such session, but subject to be discharged by the President of the Senate for inefficiency or misbehavior, or other reasons in his judgment justifying such discharge, six messengers for the Senate. And the President may appoint other messengers in the place of any discharged.

4. One-fourth of the members may have a call of the Senate, and absent members sent for and their attendance enforced.

5. When a member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the Senate, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to "Mr. President," and shall confine himself to the question under debate, avoid personalities, and the imputation of improper motives.

6. When the vote is taken viva voce, questions shall be distinctly put in this form, viz.: "As many as are of the opinion (as the case may be) say 'aye.'" And after the affirmative voice is expressed: "As many as are of the contrary opinion say 'no.'" If the President doubt, or a division be called for, the Senate shall divide—those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterwards those in the negative.

7. Every member present when a question is put shall vote, unless he shall, for special cause, be excused by a vote of the Senate; but no member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is directly and personally interested, or, except by consent of the Senate, in any case where he was not present when his name was called in the taking of the vote. Provided, that any member who was absent by leave of the Senate may vote at any time before the result is announced.

8. All motions (except to adjourn, postpone, or commit), shall be reduced to writing, if required by any member of the Senate. Any motion or resolution may be withdrawn by the mover, provided, the same has not been amended by the Senate, and that no amendment is pending thereto.

9. When a question is under debate, no motion shall be received but to adjourn, to lay on the table, for the previous question, to postpone to a day certain, to commit or amend, to postpone indefinitely, which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are named; and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit or postpone indefinitely, being decided, shall be again allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting clause of a bill shall have the precedence of a motion to amend; and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to the rejection of the bill.

10. A motion to adjourn, to lay on the table, and for the previous question, shall be decided without debate, and all incidental questions of order rising after a motion is made for the previous question, and pending such motion, shall be decided—whether an appeal or otherwise—without debate.

11. The previous question shall be in this form: "Shall the main question be now put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and bring the Senate to a direct vote upon pending amendments and then upon the main question unless otherwise indicated by the motion and ordered by the Senate, except that the member in charge of the measure under consideration shall have ten minutes in which to close the discussion, immediately before the vote is taken upon the main question. If the previous question is decided in the negative, the Senate shall proceed with the matter before it, the same as though the previous question had not been moved.

12. Any member may call for a division of a question, which shall be divided, if it comprehends propositions in substance so distinct that one being taken away substantive propositions shall remain for the decision of the Senate. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible; but a motion to strike out being lost, shall preclude neither amendments to the matter attempted to be stricken out, nor a motion to strike out and insert.

13. When a motion or question has been decided, any member having voted on the prevailing side, may move a reconsideration, on the same or next legislative day.

14. A motion to print any paper presented to the Senate may, on motion, be referred to the Committee on Printing, whose duty it shall be to report at the earliest time practicable, on the propriety of printing.

15. Every bill shall be introduced on the report of a committee, or by leave, and shall at once be given its first reading. Every bill and joint resolution shall have received three several readings previous to its passage; but no bill or joint resolution shall have its second and third readings on the same day, without a suspension of this rule; and every bill and joint resolution shall express in its title the object thereof. All rules of the Senate applicable to bills shall apply with equal force to joint resolutions. Each bill and proposed joint resolution, when introduced, shall be accompanied by a copy thereof, which shall be delivered, instead of the original, to the State Printer by the Secretary of the Senate.

16. Before the same is presented, there shall be endorsed on each petition a brief statement of the subject-matter thereof, and on each bill and joint resolution the title thereof, and in either case the name of the Senator presenting the same. In presenting a petition, the Senator shall briefly state from his place in the Senate Chamber the subject-matter to which the petition relates.

17. The first reading of a bill or joint resolution shall be for information, and, if objection be made to it, the question shall be, "Shall the bill (or joint resolution, as the case may be) be rejected?" If no objection be made, or the question to reject be lost, the bill or joint resolution shall go to its second reading without further questioning.

18. Upon the second reading of a bill or joint resolution, the President shall state it as ready for commitment, amendment or engrossment, and if committed, then the question shall be, whether to a select or standing committee, or a committee of the whole. If, to a committee of the whole, the Senate shall determine on what day. If no objection is made, the President of the Senate may refer the bill or joint resolution to an appropriate committee, or to such committee as the Senator who introduces the measure shall suggest. But if the bill or joint resolution be ordered to be engrossed, it shall be in order for its third reading any session after that day. No bill or joint resolution shall be committed or amended until it shall have been twice read.

19. (a) All bills carrying appropriations shall be referred to the Committee on Appropriations, which the Committee shall report back to the Senate not later than the first Monday after March 15th. After the third legislative day prior to said Monday, House bills shall be reported back by said Committee within three days from the reference thereof.

(b) No bill carrying an appropriation shall be introduced after March 15th except by the Committee on Appropriations.

(c) On or before the first Monday after March 15th, the Committee on Appropriations shall prepare an itemized schedule of all appropriations recommended by the Committee on Appropriations and have the same printed and laid upon the desks of members, and no appropriation bill shall be taken up for consideration and passage until the third legislative day thereafter.

20. When a question is lost on engrossing a bill, or joint resolution for a third reading on a particular day, it shall not preclude a question to engross it for a third reading on a different day. After a third reading of a bill or a joint resolution, no amendment (except to fill blanks) shall be received, except by unanimous consent of the members present; and the vote on its final passage shall be immediately taken without debate.

21. A bill or joint resolution may be committed at any time previous to its third reading.

22. In filling blanks, the largest sum and longest time shall be first put.

23. On the return of a bill or joint resolution from the House, with an amendment, it shall be placed with the third reading of bills, unless the Senate shall otherwise order. On the question of adopting the amendment the vote shall be taken on the final passage of the bill, and if the amendment be adopted by a constitutional majority, no further vote is necessary.

24. All bills and joint resolutions introduced, except local or legalizing bills, shall be printed, unless otherwise ordered by the Senate, and Committees may order to be printed any bills under consideration by them, and any substitutes for bills or resolutions reported by them.

25. It shall be in order for the Committee on Engrossed and Enrolled Bills, on Rules and on Printing, to report at any time, when no member is addressing the Senate.

26. When any special order of the day is not proceeded with on the day assigned, it shall stand as a general order on each succeeding day until disposed of, unless otherwise ordered, but its consideration can not be moved until that order of business is reached, when it shall be taken up in order of its file, and shall be taken up in order of precedence.

27. When the pending question is interrupted by a "Special Order," it shall, upon the disposal of the special order, be before the Senate in the same stage as if it had not been so interrupted.

28. Committees are permitted to employ clerks by the majority vote of the whole committee. The clerk shall be selected by such vote, and in like manner may be discharged for inefficiency, or when the services of the clerk becomes unnecessary.

29. Clerks of Senate committees, when not engaged in duties pertaining to such committees, or work assigned them by the committee chairman, shall be subject to the discretion of the Secretary of the Senate, for any labor connected with the duties of his position or his assistants. The Secretary shall, from time to time, make detail from said clerks to assist in preparing copy or correcting proof for the daily Journal.

30. All reports of committees on bills or resolutions shall be made in duplicate and be accompanied with the original bill or resolution to which the report relates: providing, that this rule shall not apply to the reports of Committees on Enrolled and Engrossed Bills.

31. When a vote is taken in any committee upon any bill or resolution before it, or any motion relating to the merits thereof, the chairman shall see that no person is present except the members and clerk of said committee, unless otherwise ordered by the committee.

32. Smoking in the Senate Chamber is hereby prohibited while the Senate is in session. And any officer or employe who shall indulge in smoking while on duty in the Senate Chamber or doorways leading thereto, shall thereby subject himself to liability of discharge.

33. Admission to the floor of the Senate Chamber shall be granted by the Doorkeeper to the Governor and his private secretary, members of the House of Representatives, the State officers and their deputies, judges of the several courts, ex-members of the Legislature, ex-State officers, and the regular reporters of the Senate and clerks of committees. No persons, except those herein specified, shall be admitted, except upon special permission of the President of the Senate, or a member of the Senate. And no person shall be permitted, by members or otherwise, to come upon the floor of the Senate or into the cloak rooms to solicit or influence Senators in their official action, or to sell any article or to solicit subscriptions. No officer, or employe elected or appointed by the Senate or any of its committees, shall solicit or endeavor to influence members of the Legislature, in their official action. Any person violating this rule shall be summarily dismissed by the Senate.

34. In case of disturbance or disorderly conduct in the lobby or gallery, the presiding officer shall have the power to order the same cleared.

35. Before acting on executive business, the Senate Chamber shall be cleared, by direction of the President, of all persons except members, the Secretary, the Sergeant-at-Arms, members enjoined and the Secretary and Sergeant-at-Arms sworn to observe secrecy.

36. When an adjournment has been ordered by a vote of the Senate, and before adjournment is declared by the President of the Senate, it shall be in order for the chairman of the several committees to announce in open Senate the time and place of meeting of their respective committees.

37. No standing rule or order of the Senate shall be rescinded or suspended, nor shall any matter, tabled upon motion, be taken up, unless by a vote of two-thirds of the members present, except an order fixing the hour to which the Senate shall stand adjourned.

38. Resolutions, including concurrent resolutions, shall not be acted upon by the Senate upon the day the same are introduced or received by the Senate, but shall lie upon the table for one legislative day if any member object to the immediate consideration thereof. But if no member object, the same may have immediate consideration. Nothing in this rule shall abridge or prevent the usual right to reference to committee.

39. The rules of parliamentary practice comprised in Cushing's Manual shall govern in the Senate in all cases to which they are applicable, and in which they are not inconsistent with the standing rules or orders of the Senate, and joint rules of the Senate and House of Representatives.

40. The duties of the officers and employes of the Senate are as stated in the paragraphs relating thereto, and appended to these rules.

The Secretary of the Senate shall have charge of the Secretary's desk, and shall see that no one is permitted therein except himself and those assisting him. He shall be responsible for the custody and safe-keeping of all bills, resolutions and other matters laid before or introduced into the Senate, except while the same are in the possession of the committee to whom the same shall have been referred, and when delivering the same to said committee he shall take a proper receipt therefor. He shall see that the Journal of each day's proceedings is correctly and fully kept, and fully made up before the next day's session, and be responsible for its safe-keeping. He shall have control of Room 25, which is assigned to said Secretary for the use of himself and his assistants. He shall endorse on every bill or joint or concurrent resolution, the date of its introduction, and by what Senator, or of its receipt from the House, and also what action relating thereto is taken by the Senate. The Assistant Secretaries shall be under his direction, and he shall assign to them their several duties in connection with the duties of the Secretary's desk.

The Sergeant-at-Arms shall wear the appropriate badge of his office; shall attend the Senate during its sessions; shall aid in the enforcement of order under the direction of the President of the Senate; shall execute the commands of the Senate from time to time, together with such process, issued by the authority thereof, as shall be directed to him by the presiding officers; shall see that the rule prohibiting smoking in the Senate Chamber is strictly enforced; shall, upon the request of any five members, have the Senate Chamber lighted up during any evening within the session, except Sunday, to an hour not later than 10:00 p.m.; shall see that no person, except one authorized to do so, disturbs or interferes with desks of the members, or with the books, papers, et., thereat; shall see that the printed bills and daily Journals are, at the earliest practicable period, properly distributed and filed upon the desks of Senators; shall have charge of the files in the Senate bill room, and shall see that no copy of bill is given out except to or upon the order of the President, a Senator, or State officers; shall see that an additional doorkeeper is detailed for duty at the Senate Chamber upon each day within the session, except Sunday, from 8:30 a.m. to 10:00 p.m., but should not five members of the Senate desire to occupy the Chamber to that hour, the detail may be relieved at 9:00 p.m.; shall have charge of the messengers of the Senate and see that they severally perform their duties, and shall promptly report to the President of the Senate any inefficiency or violations of duty on the part of said messengers. He shall direct the File Clerk, and Bill Clerk, if any employed, in the discharge of their duties.

The doorkeeper of the Senate shall wear his appropriate badge of office; shall have special charge of the main door of the Chamber during the sittings of the Senate, and shall see that the other doors of the Senate are properly attended to; shall have general charge and oversight of the additional doorkeepers of the Senate; shall detail such of the additional doorkeepers for such general or special duties as the Sergeant-at-Arms may deem proper and necessary for the efficiency of the Senate and the protection of property within the Chamber; shall see that the rule relating to the admission to the floor of the Chamber is strictly enforced; shall, ten minutes before the opening of each session of the Senate, see that the floor is cleared of all persons not entitled to occupy the same during the session; shall attend to seating visitors, and shall announce all committees and messengers from the Governor or House.

The Janitor of the Senate shall have charge, under the direction of the Sergeant-at-Arms, of the cloak and retiring rooms adjoining the Chamber, and shall see that the same are kept in proper order.

The messengers of the Senate shall attend the Senate during its sittings and perform the duties generally devolving on like employees. While the Senate is sitting, two of their number shall be detailed for service in front of the Secretary's desk. The messengers shall be under the direction of the Sergeant-at-Arms, while the Senate is not sitting, and shall attend to such duties as he may assign them.

At least four messengers shall be on duty in the Senate Chamber upon every day of the session except Sundays, from 8:30 a.m. until 6:00 p.m., whether the Senate is in session or not.

RULES OF THE HOUSE.

DUTIES OF THE SPEAKER.

1. He shall take the chair every day precisely at the hour to which the House shall have adjourned; shall immediately call the members to order, and on appearance of a quorum shall cause the Journal of the preceding day to be read.

2. He shall preserve order and decorum, and speak to points of order in preference to other members, rising from his seat for that purpose; and he shall decide questions of order, subject to an appeal to the House by any two members.

3. He shall rise to put a question, but may state it sitting.

4. Questions shall be distinctly put in this form, to-wit: "As many as are of the opinion that (as the question may be) say 'aye';" and after the affirmative voice is expressed, "As many as are of a contrary opinion, say 'no.'" If the Speaker doubts, or a division is called for, the House shall be divided. Those in the affirmative of the question shall first rise from their seats, and afterward those in the negative.

5. The Speaker shall have a right to name any member to perform the duties of the chair, but such substitution shall not extend beyond an adjournment, except that in case of the absence of the regular Speaker, the House may proceed to elect a speaker, pro tem., whose acts shall have the same validity as those of the Speaker.

6. All committees shall be appointed by the Speaker, unless otherwise especially directed by the House.

7. In all cases of a call of the yeas and nays, the Speaker shall vote; in other cases he shall not be required to vote unless the House is equally divided, or unless his vote, if given to the minority, will make the division equal, and in case of such equal division the question shall be lost.

8. All acts, addresses and joint resolutions shall be signed by the Speaker, and all writs, warrants, subpoenas, issued by order of the House, shall be under his hand and attested by the Clerk.

OF DECORUM AND DEBATE.

11. When any member is about to speak in debate, or deliver any matter to the House, he shall rise from his seat and respectfully address himself to the presiding officer by his title, saying, "Mr. Speaker," and shall not proceed until he shall be recognized by the Chair, and shall confine himself to the question under debate and shall avoid personalities.

12. When any member in speaking, or otherwise, transgresses the rules of the House, the Speaker shall, or any member may, call him to order; in which case the member so called to order shall immediately sit down, but may be permitted with leave of the House to explain; and the House shall, if appealed to, decide the case, but without debate. If there be no appeal, the decision of the Chair shall be submitted to; if the decision be in favor of the member so called to order, he is at liberty to proceed. If the case requires it, he shall be liable to the censure of the House.

13. When two or more members happen to rise at once, the Speaker shall designate the member entitled to speak.

14. No member shall speak more than once on the same question without leave of the House, nor more than twice until every member choosing to speak shall have spoken, except as provided in section 26; provided, further, when bills are being considered on their second reading debate thereon shall be limited to fifteen minutes to each member desiring to speak thereon, which may be extended by consent of the House.

15. While the Speaker is putting any question, or addressing the House, none shall walk out or across the House, or, when a member is speaking, shall entertain private discourse, nor while a member is speaking, pass between him and the Chair.

16. No member shall vote on any question in the event of which he is personally interested.

17. Upon a division and count of the House on any question, only those members standing in their places shall be counted.

18. Every member who shall be in the House when the question is put shall give his vote, unless the House for special reasons shall excuse him; but such a member must ask to be excused before commencing to take the vote on the main question.

19. When a motion is made and seconded, it shall be stated by the Speaker; or, being in writing, it shall be passed to the desk and read aloud by the Clerk before debated.

20. Every motion, except subsidiary or incidental motions, shall be reduced to writing if the Speaker or any member desires it, but this exception shall not apply to motions to amend.

21. All bills, resolutions, petitions, memorials or other papers shall be accompanied by the name of the member presenting the same, and also the name of the county.

22. After a motion is stated by the Speaker, or read by the Clerk, it shall be deemed to be in possession of the House, but may be withdrawn by leave of the House.

23. When a question is under debate no motion shall be received but to adjourn; to lay on the table; for the previous question; to postpone to a certain day; to commit or amend; to postpone indefinitely; which several motions shall have precedence in the order in which they are arranged, and no motion to postpone to a day certain, to commit or postpone indefinitely being decided, shall again be allowed on the same day, and at the same stage of the bill or proposition. A motion to strike out the enacting words of a bill shall have precedence of a motion to amend; and, if carried, shall be considered equivalent to its rejection.

24. When a resolution shall be offered or a motion made to refer any subject, and different committees shall be proposed, question shall be taken in the following order: The Committee of the Whole House; a Standing Committee; a Select Committee.

25. A motion to adjourn shall always be in order, except when a member is speaking, or the House voting.

26. The previous question shall always be put in this form: "Shall the main question now be put?" It shall only be admitted when demanded by a majority of the members present, and its effect shall be to put an end to all debate, and to bring the House to a direct vote upon amendments and then upon the main question, except that the member in charge of the measure under consideration shall have ten minutes in which to close the discussion before the vote is taken. On a motion for the previous question and prior to seconding the same, a call of the House shall be in order; but after such motion shall have been adopted no call shall be in order prior to the decision of the main question. If the previous question is decided in the negative, the House shall proceed with the matter before it the same as though the previous question had not been moved.

27. Motions to lay on the table, to adjourn, and for the previous question, shall be decided without debate.

28. When a question is postponed indefinitely, it shall not be acted upon during the session.

29. Any member may call for a division of the question, which shall be divided if it comprehends questions so distinct that one being taken away, the rest may stand entire for the discussion of the House. A motion to strike out being lost shall preclude neither an amendment nor a motion to strike out and insert. A motion to strike out and insert shall be deemed indivisible.

30. Motions and reports may be committed at the pleasure of the House.

31. No motion or proposition on a subject different from that under consideration shall be admitted under color of amendment.

32. When a motion has been made and carried or lost, it shall be in order for any member of the majority, on the same or succeeding day, to move for a reconsideration thereof, and such motion shall take precedence of all other questions except the consideration of a conference report, a motion to fix the day to which House shall adjourn, to adjourn, or to take a recess, and shall not be withdrawn after the said succeeding day without the consent of the House; and thereafter any member may call it up for consideration, provided that such motion, if made during the last six days of the session, shall be disposed of when made.

33. Petitions, memorials, and other papers addressed to the House, shall be presented by the Speaker or a member in his place; a brief statement of the contents thereof shall verbally be made by the introducer, and shall be referred to the committee of his selection, unless otherwise ordered by the House.

34. A proposition requesting information from the Governor, Secretary or any other State officer, and all resolutions shall lie on the table one day for consideration, unless otherwise ordered by the House; and all such propositions shall be taken up for consideration in the order they were presented, immediately after the reports are called for from the Select Committee, and when adopted, the Clerk shall cause the same to be delivered.

35. Any five members, if the Speaker be in the Chair, shall be authorized to compel the attendance of absent members.

36. Upon calls of the House, or in taking the yeas and nays on any question, the names of the members shall be called alphabetically, except that "Mr. Speaker" shall be called last.

37. No member shall absent himself from the service of the House without leave unless he be sick and unable to attend.

38. Upon the call of the House, the names of the members shall be called by the Clerk, and the absentees noted, after which the names of the absentees shall again be called over, and the Sergeant-at-Arms be directed by the Speaker to compel their attendance. Any member occupying his seat during a call of the House shall be counted by the Speaker and his name entered in the Journal as being present but not voting, for the purpose of making a quorum.

39. No committee shall sit during the sitting of the House without special leave.

40. A majority of the members shall constitute a quorum, and upon demand of any two members the yeas and nays shall be ordered; the members demanding the yeas and nays shall arise for that purpose, and their names shall be entered in the Journal.

41. The hours to which this House shall stand adjourned from day to day shall be nine o'clock a.m., and two o'clock p.m., unless otherwise ordered by the House.

42. A committee on pairs shall be appointed, to consist of two persons, one of whom shall be selected by the members of each of the two dominant political parties represented in the House. It shall be the duty of the committee to arrange all pairs between members, and to announce such pairs and the time for which they shall continue, to the House, which announcement shall be entered on the Journal. Thereafter neither member so paired shall vote (upon any question of a political or partisan nature) until the time of pairing has expired, unless such pair is sooner dissolved by the mutual agreement of the persons so paired. When pairs are dissolved such dissolution shall be entered on the Journal of the House.

43. All bills and joint resolutions introduced in the House shall be typewritten, accompanied by a carbon duplicate; one copy shall be marked and known as the "original" and one copy marked and designated as "printer's copy." 47. Upon a second reading of a bill, the Speaker shall state that it is ready for commitment, amendment or engrossment; and if committed, then the question shall be whether to a select or standing committee, or to a Committee of the Whole House. 51. All bills ordered to be engrossed shall be written with typewriter with black record ribbon.

52. No amendment, unless by way of correcting an error or omission, shall be received to any bill on its third reading, and no debate shall be allowed on the same.

53. When a bill shall pass it shall be certified by the Clerk, noting the day of its passage at the foot thereof.

54. No standing rule or order of the House shall be rescinded or changed without one day's notice being given of the motion therefor, nor shall any rule be suspended except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present; nor shall the order of business, as established by the rules of the House, be postponed or changed except by a vote of at least two-thirds of the members present.

Whenever either House shall amend a measure, and the other House shall refuse to concur in and adopt the amendment, the House which has adopted such amendment shall either insist on or recede from the same. But when a measure originating in one House is amended in the other, the House in which it originated may amend such amendment, and a motion therefor shall take precedence of a motion to recede, and a motion to recede of a motion to insist. In case a motion to insist on the amendment be decided in the negative, such action shall be deemed a receding from the amendment, and so entered upon the Journal of the House. In case the amendment is insisted upon, the House so insisting shall request a Committee of Conference on the subject of disagreement, and shall appoint a committee therefor. The other House shall thereupon appoint such a committee. Unless another number is specified in said request, such Conference Committee shall consist of four members from each House. They shall meet at a convenient time, to be agreed upon by their chairman, and having conferred freely, each shall report to their respective House the result of their conference. In case of agreement, the report shall be first made, with the papers referred accompanying it, to the House which refused to concur, and there acted upon; and such action shall be immediately reported by the Secretary or Clerk to the other House, the papers referred accompanying the message. In case of disagreement of Conference Committee, the papers shall remain with the House which insisted on the amendment. Should either House disagree to the report of the Committee, such House shall appoint a second Committee, and request a further conference, which shall be acceded to by the other House before adhering. The motion for a Committee of Conference and the report of such Committee shall be in order at any time. When both Houses shall have adhered to their disagreement, a bill or motion is lost.

2. When a message shall be sent from either House to the other, it shall be announced at the door of the House to which it is sent by the doorkeeper thereof, and shall be respectfully communicated to the Chair by the person by whom it is sent.

3. All messages between the two Houses shall be communicated by the Secretary or Chief Clerk, or their respective assistants.

4. When a bill shall have passed both Houses, it shall be duly enrolled by the Enrolling Clerk of the House in which it originated, and the fact of its origin shall be certified by the endorsement of the Secretary or Clerk thereof.

5. When the bills are enrolled they shall be examined by a Joint Committee of two from the Senate and two from the House of Representatives, who shall be a Standing Committee for that purpose, and who shall carefully compare the enrollment with the engrossed bills, as passed in the House, correct any errors therein, and make report thereof forthwith to their respective Houses.

6. After the report, each bill shall be signed, first by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and then by the President of the Senate, in the presence of their respective Houses.

7. After a bill shall have been thus signed in each House, it shall be forthwith presented, by Committee of the House in which the bill originated, to the Governor, for his approval, and they shall forthwith report the date of presentation, which shall be entered upon the Journal of the House in which the bill originated.

8. All orders, resolutions, memorials or other votes, which are to be presented to the Governor for his approval, shall be enrolled, examined, signed and presented in the same manner as bills.

9. When any bill, resolution or memorial, which shall have passed in one House, is rejected or adopted in the other, notice of such action shall be given to the House which passed the same. And each bill, resolution or memorial shall have properly endorsed thereon, at the time of its transmission, a statement signed by the Secretary or Clerk of the action which has been taken thereon by the House transmitting the same, with the dates thereof.

10. When a bill, resolution or memorial which shall have passed one House is rejected in the other, it shall not be again introduced during the session without five days' notice and leave of a majority of the members of the House in which the same is sought to be introduced.

11. Each House shall transmit to the other with any bill, resolution or memorial all papers upon which the same shall be founded.

12. When any report, bill or resolution shall be ordered printed by either House, without stating the number, three hundred copies shall be printed for the use of both Houses, but when any bill or resolution which may have passed one House is ordered printed by the other, a greater number of copies shall not be printed than the House making the order shall determine.

13. It shall be the duty of the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives and the Secretary of the Senate, when any document, except bills and resolutions, is ordered to be printed in their respective Houses, forthwith to communicate such order to the other House.

14. In all elections in Joint Convention of the two Houses, the names of all members shall be arranged in alphabetical order, and they shall be called upon to vote in the order in which they stand arranged.

15. It shall be the duty of the Committee on Claims in each House to keep a book of record, in which shall be entered each claim for money against the State referred to them, whether presented in favor of private persons, or municipal or other corporations, entering therein the name of the claimant, the amount of the claim, the grounds therefor, with note of the evidence offered in support of the same, and the final conclusion of the Committee thereon. At the close of the session said book of record shall be deposited with the Auditor of State to be kept by him, and he shall provide an index, showing the names of the claimants recorded therein. At any subsequent session, the same shall be delivered, when desired, to the like committee having jurisdiction of such claims, and shall always be open to the examination of the said Committee of either House.

He may demand fugitives from justice from the executives of other states, and may issue warrants, upon the requests of other governors, for fugitives found in this state.

REQUIREMENTS AS TO REQUISITIONS.

1. The application should be made by a county attorney.
2. The following must be made to appear in the application:
 - (a) The full name of the person whose rendition is asked; for example, John Doe, or a showing given that the same is unknown.
 - (b) The name of the state or territory upon which the requisition is desired, and also, if known, the name of the nearest postoffice to the point where the alleged fugitive is supposed to be.
 - (c) The full name of the person proposed for agent, who should preferably be the sheriff of the county or other peace officer.
 - (d) That the person named as agent has no private interest in the arrest of the fugitive.
 - (e) That the county attorney believes he has sufficient evidence to secure the conviction of the person to be demanded.
 - (f) That in his opinion the ends of public justice require the alleged criminal to be brought to this state for trial at the public expense.
 - (g) That the application is not made for the purpose of enforcing the collection of a debt or for any private purpose whatever.
3. The application should be accompanied by
 - (a) Original sworn evidence that the accused has, since the commission of the offense with which he is charged, actually fled from the state of Iowa (giving the date of fleeing as near as may be), and is a fugitive from the justice thereof.
 - (b) A duly attested copy of the indictment, or of an information made before the magistrate in the county in which the offense is alleged to have been committed.
 - (c) In case the application is based upon a preliminary information, affidavits should accompany the same, from persons familiar with the facts, stating the details of the crime. In all cases where the offense is one of fraud, false pretenses, seduction, or other statutory crime, this requirement is especially to be observed.
 - (d) In case the offense charged is not of recent occurrence and an indictment has not been found, a showing should be made as to the cause for delay in procuring indictment.
4. An information must be sworn to before a magistrate. One sworn to before a notary public will not be accepted as a basis for a requisition.
5. The official character of the magistrate must be duly certified by the clerk of the district court.
6. When the crime charged is forgery, if the information is not sworn to by the person whose name is alleged to be forged, the affidavit of such person should be produced or satisfactory reason given why it can not be so produced.

11. The governor can not make demand of foreign powers for the surrender of fugitives. When such surrender is desired, however, triplicate papers as above set forth must be submitted to the governor, who will, upon a proper showing, make request of the President of the United States for the issuance of the proper requisition for the extradition of the alleged fugitive. Such papers, whether the accused has been indicted or not, must be accompanied by original affidavits, detailing the facts of the offense.
12. When the fugitive has been returned, the agent, when the state is liable therefor, may file with the governor a bill made out in accordance with instructions furnished him. Upon approval thereof by the governor and a majority of the members of the executive council, the auditor of state will issue a warrant for the amount allowed. The state will be at no expense on account of returning a fugitive, if such fugitive is not indicted and tried by a jury, or does not plead guilty, unless it be shown to the satisfaction of the governor that the want of trial was not due to any fault or neglect on the part of the person or persons interested in the prosecution.

He prepares for publication all laws, resolutions and memorials passed by the general assembly, and is charged with the work of distributing the codes, code supplements and session laws.

All printed state documents, consisting of the annual and biennial reports of the various state departments, the journals of the house and senate, extracts from the laws, and other special reports, are delivered to the document department of his office, and are distributed under his direction as required by law.

Certificates of nomination and all papers and records pertaining to the election and qualification of state and district officers are filed in his office.

All papers relative to the incorporation of cities and towns, the annexation or severance of territory, and the consolidation or abandonment of municipal corporations are transmitted to him and preserved as a part of the permanent records of his office.

Applications for the registration of trade marks, labels and forms of advertising are made to him and certificates issued thereon. Applications for the registration of motor vehicles are also filed with him, and he assigns and keeps a record of the numbers issued.

The public revenues of the state are received and disbursed by the treasury department; books are kept in which are recorded the names of all persons from whom money for any purpose is received, the time received, the purpose for which the money was remitted, and the amount thereof. Receipts in duplicate are issued for each item received, and the duplicate is filed with the state auditor. When remittance of state dues is made by bank draft, check or certificate of deposit, such draft, check or certificate must be deposited for collection in some bank in the city of Des Moines which has been previously designated as a depository for state funds, and no receipt for any sum remitted by check or draft is issued by the treasury department until the depository receiving the deposit notifies the department of the collection thereof. All county treasurers and superintendents of schools and all state officers, boards or commissions are required to remit to the state treasury on or before the 15th of each month, all moneys received by them during the preceding calendar month. The treasurer of state, with the consent of the executive council, may designate banks in the city of Des Moines as depositories of state funds. Each bank so designated shall give bonds to be approved by the executive council, and shall pay interest on daily balances at such rate and at such times as may be agreed upon by the banks and the treasurer of state, with the approval of the executive council. At this time such depositories pay interest monthly at the rate of two per cent per annum.

It is the especial duty of this department to enforce the law imposing a tax upon collateral inheritances. Disbursements from the state treasury are made only upon warrants issued by the state auditor and a record is kept of each warrant paid, showing date of issue, date of payment, to whom payable, to whom paid and upon what account drawn. All accounts of each state institution under the board of control are paid by checks issued by this department in favor of the person to whom the account is payable. These accounts are not paid until after they have been audited by the board of control and an abstract of the total amount due on account of each institution and the names and post-office addresses of the persons to whom each of the several accounts are payable has been forwarded to this department by the board of control, together with a warrant or warrants of the auditor of state to cover the total amount to be paid. The state treasurer is the custodian of the permanent endowment fund of the State Agricultural College. This fund amounts to about $680,000 and is loaned at not less than five per cent, secured by first mortgages upon real estate in Iowa. Only the interest may be used by the college. This interest is payable to the state treasurer and is by him paid to the treasurer of the college. The accounts of the department are examined once each quarter by the auditor's department and may be examined by the governor at any time. The total receipts of the department for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1906, were $2,993,929, including agricultural endowment and interest funds.

Work of the Department of Public Instruction. The duties of the superintendent of public instruction are numerous and varied. They may be classified as educational, quasi judicial and ex officio.

Educational. Among the duties of an educational nature may be named his general supervision over the county superintendents and the public schools of the state which necessitate his meeting with these officers at least twice each year and the publication of numerous circulars of instruction and suggestion. He also appoints institutes and approves institute faculties, visits them and addresses the teachers in attendance; attends educational meetings and delivers educational addresses. It is also his duty to collect statistics and report on education and educational questions and the condition of the public schools of the state and to publish them in reports and in pamphlets. Among the pamphlets that have become a part of the educational needs of the state and are of national note may be named the Hand-Book for Iowa Schools, the Institute Manual, Special Day Book, Educational Directory, and the Proceedings of the Iowa State Teachers' Association. Many others of minor importance on various subjects are published.

Judicial. The quasi judicial duties of the superintendent of public instruction include the hearing of appeals from the decisions of county superintendents, the rendering of opinions in writing when requested by school officers (but in fact opinions are rendered to all who request them), and the publication of the school laws and notes on the same, and pamphlets containing session laws.

Ex Officio. Duties. The superintendent of public instruction is ex officio a member of the board of regents of the state university and of the board of trustees of the state college, chairman of the board of trustees of the state normal school, and president of the educational board of examiners.

Miscellaneous. In addition to the duties enumerated above he reports biennially to the governor on the condition of the public schools of the state and makes such suggestions and recommendations as investigation and experience dictate. He must keep a complete account of the expenditures on account of his department and the educational board of examiners and report the same to the executive council. On May 1, 1886, the first dairy commissioner took his office. The first annual report made November 1, 1887, showed annual expenditures amounting to $2,394. The object of the creation of the department was the enforcement of the laws in regard to oleomargarine and the collection of statistics upon the dairy business of the state. In 1892 the commissioner was authorized to provide milk inspection in cities of the state having more than 10,000 population and in 1900 one assistant commissioner was authorized, and in 1902 another, for work among the creameries. In 1908 the office was changed to Food and Dairy Commissioner and was charged with the enforcement of the pure food laws. At present this department is charged with the enforcement of the laws in regard to oleomargarine, butter, cream and milk; pasteurization of skimmed milk at creameries; law requiring proper sanitation at creameries and other places where dairy products are handled or manufactured; the pure food laws; and to carry on inspection of milk and cream sold in fourteen cities of the state and to collect statistics of the dairy industry of the state. There are ten employes in this department, besides the commissioner and the local milk inspectors, and the expense to the state is about $20,000 annually.

Chapter 132, Laws of the Twentieth General Assembly of 1884 provided for the creation of the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the appointment of a commissioner, defining his duties, and his tenure of office.

The work as outlined in the above act, was purely statistical, and was designed for the purpose of making inquiry into the conditions surrounding the employment of labor, its connection with the development of industries both mechanical and those arising from the natural resources of the state, the advantages and inducements offered in various localities for the establishment of desirable industries, the extent and productive value of industries already established and information relative to the home life and general welfare of the workers.

This work was carried on with success by the different commissioners and assistants and proved its value to the commercial and manufacturing interests of the state, also to the workers who were given an opportunity from time to time to express their views on the surrounding conditions, their desires for more favorable legislation, for better sanitation, ventilation, and more efficient means of protection in the operation of dangerous machinery. These reports from working people, strengthened by actual personal investigation made by the commissioners and exemplified in their reports, proved the necessity for periodical and systematic inspection of the factories and workshops by competent persons whose time could be devoted to that work. The frequent appeals thus made, backed by a desire on the part of our legislators that Iowa should not be relegated to the rear in the general march for improvement, resulted in the passage, in 1902, of a law providing for such inspection and the enforcement of requirements made, together with means for the support of men assigned to the work. A great step in advance was thus made and the work has progressed by using up-to-date methods, similar to those in vogue in the older manufacturing states, thus establishing the most important feature of the work of the department. All classes of establishments where labor is employed have been visited, a long list of improvements have been made, tending toward both safety and comfort, and proof is evident that the money provided was well expended.

Up to the close of 1905 no efficient means of restricting the employment of children had been provided. The existing law required that children under 14 should attend school 16 consecutive weeks in each year, but children of any age could be put to work all the remainder of the year, and many children of tender age were found in the factories and stores. To remedy this evil the Thirty-first General Assembly in 1906 enacted a law prohibiting the employment of children under 14 in factories, workshops, stores and some other places specified, at any time, under penalty. The work of enforcement was placed in the hands of the commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics and his assistants. The law has been partly self-enforcing. A number of employers who had been employing children under the age limit dismissed them voluntarily. Only a few employers have shown a disposition to oppose the enforcement of the law, and when proof was given them by inspectors that they were violating it, they dismissed all under the age limit at once, thus giving no immediate cause for prosecution. A better condition prevails in Iowa now than heretofore and by persistent effort on the part of members of the department conditions will continue to improve and a nearer approach to the ideal condition will be attained.

Summing up, it may be said that considering the limited appropriation and general expense of this department there has been steady advancement made in the progress of the work this bureau is intended to perform, and it is confidently expected that the future will show gratifying progress.

STATE PRINTER AND STATE BINDER.

Elected by Legislature. Term, two years; expires December 31, 1908.

Office	Name	Legal Residence	Birthplace	Compensation
State printer.....	Emory H. English....	Mason City....	Iowa.....	Profits
State binder.....	Edward D. Chassell..	LeMars.....	New York	Profits

THE STATE PRINTER.

The state printer and the state binder are elected by the general assembly biennially.

The state printer is required to maintain his office at the seat of government and provide a printing plant of sufficient capacity and equipment to do the printing of the state officers and the general assembly under a schedule of prices for composition and presswork and provisions for measurement established by the general assembly and set forth in detail in the code and the session laws.

The statutes make specific provision for the various reports to be printed and the number of each, together with other printing, and all printing which is not specifically provided for by statute is authorized and ordered by a system of requisitions, bills for same to be audited and checked by the secretary of state and duly approved before ordered paid.

All paper stock used by the state printer is purchased by the state through the executive council, and the stock is in charge of the secretary of the executive council, who issues same to the state printer upon the requisition of the latter, charging same against him, items of credit being obtained by the state printer to offset the debit charges by measurement and computation of amount of paper stock used by the printer and returned to the state in printed documents, blanks and stationery.

There is no fixed salary for this office, the state printer receiving as his entire compensation the amounts named in the schedules of prices fixed by the statutes for printing actually done and delivered to and accepted by the state. He is required to furnish a bond to be approved by the governor for $5,000, or such other amount as the executive council may determine and fix, for faithful performance of duty, and is liable also under same for any shortage that may occur in paper stock when an accounting of same is made.

THE STATE BINDER.

The state binder is required to maintain an office at the state capital equipped with machinery and appliances sufficient to do the state work. He furnishes his own building, light, heat and power, as well as machinery.

He binds all books and publications printed by the state printer. The printed sheets of laws, journals and other publications, which are to be folded, stitched or bound, are delivered to the state binder by the state printer and a receipt is given therefor. The state binder furnishes all material except paper required in book binding. All leather, cloth, thread, gold leaf, glue, paste, and other materials are purchased and furnished by the state binder without expense to the state.

The state binder receives no salary, but is paid for his work by the piece on a schedule of prices specified by law. His compensation comes from the profit on the work performed and delivered. He is held responsible for loss or damage by fire or other cause to state work which is in his bindery for binding.

On the completion of a job of binding, the books or pamphlets are delivered to the document room, the supply department or to other departments, as the case may be, and he receives a receipt therefor for every article, book or pamphlet delivered.

The style of binding, whether to be sewed or stitched, with paper, board, cloth, or leather covers, or without covers, is all specified by law and the number of copies in each style of binding is named in the statute. Some discretion, however, is allowed the executive council in regard to the number of copies of reports and documents to be printed and bound, as the demand for them may vary from year to year.

The state printer and the state binder submit their bills for work done to the secretary of state. He is required by law to audit the bills, make the necessary corrections, if any, and then to certify to the auditor of state the amount which each of said officers is entitled to receive for the work specified in the said bills. The auditor of state thereupon draws his warrants for the amounts so certified.

The staff of the commander-in-chief consists of an adjutant-general, who is chief of staff and acting quartermaster-general, an assistant adjutant-general, a quartermaster-general who also acts as commissary-general, a surgeon-general, a judge-advocate general, a general inspector of small arms practice, a chief of engineers, a chief signal officer and seven aids. The adjutant-general has the rank of brigadier-general and the assistant adjutant-general that of colonel. All other officers above enumerated, if appointed and commissioned to such offices, have the rank of colonel, and if detailed from the active membership of the guard, shall retain their rank in the guard.

The adjutant-general issues and transmits all orders of the commander-in-chief and keeps a record of all appointments, of officers commissioned by the governor, of all the general and special orders and regulations, and of such matters as pertain to the organization of the military force and his duties. He holds office at the pleasure of the governor and performs the duty of quartermaster-general in addition to his duties as adjutant-general. He has charge of the state arsenal and grounds and all other property of the state kept or used for military purposes and receives and issues all quartermaster and ordnance stores and camp equipage upon the order of the commander-in-chief. He furnishes at the expense of the state such blanks and forms as are approved by the commander-in-chief. In each year, preceding a regular session of the general assembly, he makes out a detailed report of the transactions of his office, the expenses thereof and such other matters as shall be required by the commander-in-chief for the period since the last preceding report, and the governor may at any time require a similar report.

All muster rolls, reports, returns, enlistments, discharges and complete records of the organized militia are filed and made a matter of record in his office. The records of Iowa soldiers of the Civil and Spanish-American wars are on file in his office and all information desired from such records is furnished by him. Certificates of military service of Iowa soldiers of the late wars or past service in the organized militia are given by him under the seal of the state. He is the disbursing officer of all state appropriations for the use and support of the organized militia and as acting quartermaster-general all military property is committed to his custody, which he is required to issue for the use of the militia, keeping an account of the same. He is required to furnish such reports of the organized militia of the state as the secretary of war may from time to time require. As chief of staff he is to perform his duties as such officer as directed by the commander-in-chief or required by the laws of Iowa governing its organized militia or by orders and regulations.

It is quite strange, yet true, that in the great state of Iowa, with more than sixty per cent of her population engaged in agriculture and stock raising, it was not until the year 1900 that a department of the state government was created in the interests of, and for the promotion of, agriculture, animal industry, horticulture, manufactures, etc. The Iowa department of agriculture was created by chapter 58 of the acts of the 28th general assembly. The department is managed by a board styled the board of agriculture, of which the governor, the president of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, the state food and dairy commissioner, and the state veterinary surgeon are ex officio members; the other members are the president, vice-president, secretary and treasurer and one member from each of the congressional districts of the state. The president, vice-president and the directors are chosen at a convention composed of delegates from each of the county and district fair associations, county farmers' institutes, state dairy association, horticultural society, improved stock breeders' association and the state board of agriculture.

It is the duty of the board to look after and promote the interests of agriculture, agricultural education, animal and other industries of the state; to investigate all subjects relating to improvement of methods, appliances and machinery and the diversification of crops and other products; also to investigate reports of the prevalence of contagious diseases among domestic animals, and the destruction of insects and fungus grasses and grains and other plants, the adulteration of foods, seeds and other products, and to report the result of such investigations, together with recommendations of remedial measures for the prevention of dangers resulting therefrom. It is the duty of the agricultural experiment station to co-operate with the department in carrying on these investigations. The passage of the pure food bill by the thirty-first general assembly was the result of investigations made by the department. The data, analysis and proposed bill for the regulation of the sale of commercial food stuffs, condimental stock foods, and the adulteration of seeds contained in a recent bulletin published by the department, were gathered through the efforts and work of the committee of the state board of agriculture on the adulteration of foods, seeds and other products. As no fund has ever been provided for carrying on the work outlined in section 1657-g of the code supplement of Iowa, or for the publication of bulletins and conclusions arrived at by such investigations, the department is necessarily handicapped in its work. Whatever expense has been incurred in this work has been paid out of the state fair funds.

It is the duty of the secretary of the department to annually compile the Iowa Year Book of Agriculture. This book contains the weather and crop statistics for the year, and other data and information obtainable relative to live stock, as well as the report of the meetings of the Swine Breeders' association, the State Dairy association, Improved Live Stock Breeders' association, dairy commissioner's report, together with other matters of interest to the farmer. These year books are published by the state and are for free distribution. It is also the duty of the secretary of the department to look after and enforce the provisions of the law relative to the registration of pure bred stallions that are kept for public service, sale or exchange.

The statute provides that the director of the Iowa weather and crop service is to be appointed by the governor upon the recommendation of the state board of agriculture. All county and district agricultural associations of the state receiving aid make a report annually to the office of the department of agriculture. Section 1657-l of the code supplement of Iowa places the management of the state fair with the board, as follows:

Sec. 1657-l. STATE FAIR. The board shall have full control of the state fair grounds and improvements thereon belonging to the state, with requisite powers to hold annual fairs and exhibits of the productive resources and industries of the state. They may prescribe all necessary rules and regulations thereon. The board may delegate the management of the state fair to the executive committee and two or more additional members of the board; and for special work pertaining to the fair they may employ an assistant secretary and such clerical assistance as may be deemed necessary. All expenditures connected with the fair including the per diem and expenses of the managers thereof, shall be recorded separately and paid from the state fair receipts. The said board of agriculture shall have the power to authorize or forbid the construction of street railways within the state fair grounds and may define the motive power by which the cars thereon shall be propelled and to authorize or forbid the location and laying down of tracks for street railways in said grounds.

The accession list of the state library on the first day of July, 1906, included 92,808 volumes, exclusive of the volumes of the historical department with which the miscellaneous portion of the state library was consolidated by act of the twenty-eighth general assembly. The total accessions during the year ending June 30, 1906, were 4,652 volumes.

The state library still awaits the completion of the new historical building, the east wing of which will be wholly given over to the miscellaneous portion of the library. Book stacks for the first floor of this wing have been ordered and it is anticipated that this floor will be occupied within a few months; the occupation of the other stories will depend on the provision made by the thirty-second general assembly for finishing and furnishing the building.

The librarian notes with satisfaction the steadily growing utilization of the state library by advanced students of literature, philosophy, science and social problems and by debaters in the high schools and colleges of the state; also by state legislators and those interested in state legislation. This satisfaction is enhanced by the steadily increasing ability of the library to satisfy the wants of those who visit it with serious purpose. Without extra appropriation or extra help, a legislative reference department has been established, during the past year, and the use made of the new department by legislators, legislative committee clerks and persons interested in legislation, has been surprisingly great, so much so that the work of the new department will be extended and its efficiency increased during the next two years.

The law department of the state library has been materially strengthened by an increase in its appropriation from $2,500 to $4,000, enabling the librarian to bring down to date several high-priced sets, and in other ways to add materially to the efficiency of that important department.

The completion of valuable sets of standard periodicals, legal, scientific and miscellaneous is one of the gratifying results of recent years, making the library's periodical department one of the most complete in the country.

As now organized this department dates from the first day of July 1892. Its chief purpose is the collection of historical data relating to our own state and the territory of the middle west of which it originally formed a part. Special efforts are made to collect Iowa newspapers from the earliest dates to the present time; works of state and general western history, biography and genealogy; works on the histories of all our wars from the earliest times; works relating to the North American Indians; county histories, maps, Iowa pamphlets, biographies of our noted men and women, printed or in manuscript; written or printed documents relating to early settlers and settlements; reports, catalogues and broadsides relating to the churches, educational and benevolent institutions of the state; in short, every species of data which can throw light upon local, state or western history. Two hundred ninety-four newspapers are currently received, 29 from other states, making a total of 323. The library is especially strong in genealogy, local history and the history of the civil war.

The department publishes The Annals of Iowa, an illustrated quarterly historical magazine of eighty pages, which has now completed its seventh volume. This is made up of original contributions in history and biography. By direction of the trustees it is sent free to every organized library in our state. Its price to subscribers is $1 per year.

In addition to The Annals, the historical department is to be credited with the following publications, viz., eight biennial reports: "John Brown Among the Quakers, and Other Sketches," by Hon. Irving B. Richman; "First Census of the Original Counties of Dubuque and Des Moines," edited by Dr. Benj. F. Shambaugh; "History of the Constitution of Iowa," by Dr. Shambaugh; reprints of the laws of Iowa, 1838-39 and of 1839-40, and the hitherto unpublished journals of the council and house of representatives of the extra session of 1840; "Early Settlement and Growth of Western Iowa," by Rev. John Todd.

The department has secured nearly 100 fine oil portraits of distinguished Iowans, which are now on exhibition in the art gallery of the historical building. More are promised in the near future.

The library of the historical department on January 1, 1907, consisted of the following:

Bound volumes of newspapers.....	4,300
Books and pamphlets in the library.....	14,815

The museum includes seven large cases for autograph letters, manuscripts and portraits; a collection of recent, aboriginal and pre-historic pottery—some of the most interesting specimens of which were found in our own state; a large collection of stone implements, among which is an Iowa axe weighing 31½ pounds—one of the largest ever discovered—with hundreds of flints; many teeth, tusks, and other bones of the mammoth and mastodon, all of which were found in Iowa; two large cases of birds—mostly specimens found within our state; many Iowa mammals; four large aquariums stocked with a collection of Iowa fishes; a case of Indian baskets, bead work, implements and weapons, the most of which were manufactured by the Musquakie Indians of Tama county; a collection of arms—cannon, mortars, swivel guns, rifles, muskets, carbines, swords and pistols, in use during the civil, Spanish and Philippine wars; and duplicates in bronze of most of the historic medals issued by the United States government.

By act of the thirty-first general assembly, there was established a hall of public archives, in connection with the historical department. This is doubtless the most important undertaking of the department during the past year. The work was placed under the charge of Dr. B. F. Shambaugh and is being carried on in rooms in the east wing of the historical building.

The magnificent new historical building is now nearing completion and will, it is expected, be finished and occupied within a few months. Besides the historical department and hall of archives, there will be located in the new building the state library and the Iowa library commission.

STATE MINE INSPECTORS.

Appointed by the Governor. Term two years. Expires March 31, 1908.

Office	District	Name	Legal Residence	Birthplace	Compensation
Inspector	First	John Verner	Chariton	Germany	$ 1,500
Inspector	Second	Rhys T. Rhys	Ottumwa	So. Wales	1,500
Inspector	Third	Edward Sweeney	Des Moines	England	1,500
Secretary	Lewis E. Stamm	Des Moines	Iowa	800

The office of state mine inspector was created by the eighteenth general assembly in the year 1880. At that time the mining of coal in this state was in its infancy. But few large mines were in operation and the tonnage of coal was small as compared to that of the present time. Then but one inspector was needed. Owing to the growth of the coal industry the twenty-first general assembly amended the mining laws and provided for three inspectors, and gave the governor power to divide the state into three inspection districts. Today the entire time of the three inspectors is taken up with the work of inspecting the mines of the state and seeing that they are worked in conformity with the mining laws of the state as regards safety to the employes therein, proper ventilation, condition of the shafts, escape ways in times of danger, safety catches on cages, condition of the cables for hoisting men and coal, and everything that would tend to guard against accidents to men employed in the mines.

A general office for the inspectors is maintained in the state house and a complete record is kept therein of all inspections, accidents, etc., in record books for that purpose. A monthly report is made to the governor and a general report of the conditions of the mines of the state, tonnage, accidents, number of employes, and other information relative to the coal industry, is published every two years. Copies of the state mining laws are also published and circulated. A secretary, elected by the inspectors, has charge of the general correspondence and books in the office, as the duties of the three inspectors keep them almost constantly in the field.

The coal producing counties of the state are divided into three inspection districts. The first district includes the counties of Appanoose, Lucas, Taylor, Monroe (part), Wayne and Page. Mr. John Verner, of Chariton, is the inspector in this district. This district had last year 149 mines in operation and produced 2,648,519 tons of coal.

The second district comprises the counties of Mahaska, Marion, Monroe (part), Keokuk, Van Buren, Davis, Jefferson, Wapello, and Warren. Mr. R. T. Rhys, of Ottumwa, is inspector in this district. For the year ending June 30, 1906, this district produced 2,328,624 tons of coal. The district has about one hundred mines in operation.

The third district comprises the counties of Polk, Webster, Jasper, Boone, Greene, Guthrie, Scott and Dallas. Mr. Edward Sweeney, of Des Moines, is the inspector in this district. For the year ending June 30, 1906, this district produced 2,040,342 tons of coal. About one hundred mines are in operation in this district.

BOARD OF EXAMINERS.

FOR MINE INSPECTORS, MINE FOREMEN AND HOISTING ENGINEERS.

Appointed by the Executive Council for a term of two years. Terms expire January 25, 1908. Compensation $5.00 per diem.

EDWARD GRAY, Operator, Des Moines, Polk County.

JON W. BAKER, Engineer, Secretary, Des Moines, Polk County.

HARRY BOOTE, Operator, Knexville, Marion County.

JOHN OWENS, Miner, Beacon, Mahaska County.

JOHN CALDWELL, Miner, Seymour, Wayne County.

The state mining board was created by the twenty-second general assembly, and is composed of five members: two coal operators, two miners, and one engineer. Their duties are to examine and issue certificates to those qualified to act as state mine inspectors, hoisting engineers, and mine foremen. An examination for state mine inspectors is held the first Monday in March in even-numbered years in the office of the state mine inspectors in the state house. Examinations for hoisting engineers and mine foremen are held at various times during the year in different parts of the state. A fee of two dollars for registration, and an additional fee of two dollars is required of those taking and passing the examination for mine foremen and hoisting engineers. The law requires that each certificate issued by the board shall be recorded in the office of the examining board, and shall show the name, age, residence and years of experience of the person to whom it was issued.

THE FUNCTIONS OF THE STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

Few have any conception of the varied functions of the state board of health. Chapter 16 of the code gives the board a general supervision of the lives and health of the people of the state and authorizes it to make rules and regulations respecting the public health and declares that such rules and regulations when made shall have the force of legislative enactments.

Under this general provision the board through local boards establishes, maintains and releases quarantine; requires the disinfection of persons and premises exposed to contagion; erects and maintains pest houses when needed and prevents and abates nuisances. Under this same chapter it supervises the registration in each county of marriages and (by an amendment by the thirty-first general assembly) of divorces—transcripts of which are furnished by the clerks of the respective district courts to the secretary of the state board of health by whom they are bound and deposited in the historical building.

The board also supervises the examination and registration of licensed embalmers. Over eight hundred undertakers have been thus examined and granted embalmers' permits. The result has been that the science and skill as well as the technique of the funeral director has been greatly improved and the public health has been better protected thereby. In connection with this work the board has adopted rules and regulations for the transportation of the dead so that bodies, dead of infectious diseases, may be so prepared as to be shipped without interference or danger to any points in the United States, Canada, Mexico or Cuba. The rules for the shipment of corpses are the same in the countries just mentioned—the benefits of which can hardly be appreciated unless one is unfortunate enough to require such services.

Under chapter 87, acts of the thirtieth general assembly, the board is required to make rules and regulations for the inspection of petroleum products; to determine the number of oil inspectors that shall be appointed, to examine lamps and apparatus to be used for burning gasoline for illuminating purposes and to determine their safety; and to make rules and regulations for testing miner's oil and linseed oil.

Chapter 129, laws of the twenty-eighth general assembly, makes it the duty of this board to dispose of unclaimed bodies by directing to what medical college of the state such bodies shall be sent for anatomical purposes. It provides a penalty for any "coroner, undertaker, superintendent or managing officer of any public asylum, hospital, poorhouse or penitentiary within this state into whose hands the body of a deceased person shall come, which should be delivered to a medical college or school" to refuse or fail to notify the secretary of the state board of health as to its disposition. The object of this law was not only to supply medical colleges of the state with much needed and required material in a legal way, but also to relieve counties of the expenses of burial.

Chapter 14, title 12, makes it the duty of this board with the executive council, to review and approve such rules and regulations of the state veterinary surgeon as may be deemed "necessary for the prevention and suppression, and against the spread of all contagious and infectious diseases among domestic animals in the state."

In addition to the above specified duties the board supervises the disin-terment, burial and transportation of all dead bodies within the state and keeps a record of such disinterments and burials.

The board also has, under the provisions of chapter 101, laws of the thirtieth general assembly, a thoroughly equipped and up-to-date bacteriological laboratory at Iowa City in connection with the State University where upon short notice tests are made to determine the presence of tuberculosis, typhoid fever, diphtheria, rabies, etc., and where the best methods of disinfection are determined.

In addition to these functions, now required of the board and those in contemplation, the board prints and distributes a large amount of literature—circulars, blanks, etc. It publishes a monthly Health Bulletin, now in its nineteenth consecutive year, as an official organ. There are issued 11,000 copies monthly. It is an agent by which the board can gain access to every state, county and township officer and to all physicians, embalmers and superintendents and principals of our public schools as well as to every mayor and city clerk. This publication not only gives the official transactions of the board but furnishes a large amount of information relative to the causes of diseases, the means of prevention and other matters pertaining to sanitation and hygiene.

Under chapter 17 of the code and chapter 158, acts twenty-ninth general assembly, the physicians of the board of health and its secretary are constituted the members and secretary of the board of medical examiners and as such, determine the standing of medical colleges, examine their graduates, and license those who pass satisfactory examination as physicians and osteopaths, with authority to refuse to issue certificates and to revoke those issued under certain specified conditions and the board also issues certificates on reciprocity with other states and grants itinerant licenses to those holding its certificates.

All these various functions are performed with little, if any, expense to the state—that is, the fees turned into the state in discharge of the duties prescribed very nearly equal the appropriation.

STATE HYGIENIC LABORATORY.

The thirtieth general assembly, in establishing the state hygienic laboratory, chapter 101, provided for the appropriation of one thousand dollars for additional equipment, and five thousand dollars biennially for the salary of the director, assistants and the running expenses of the laboratory.

At the first meeting of the state board of health following the passage of this bill it was decided that for the present, on account of limited funds, a great deal of work which the laboratory should do in the interests of the public health must be postponed, and that the work of the laboratory must be limited to the routine diagnostic work in connection with diphtheria, typhoid fever, tuberculosis and rabies. The bacteriological and chemical analyses of public water supplies, a problem of very great importance, must be postponed until further provision for such is made, except when the public health is eminently concerned as in epidemics of typhoid fever. At such occasions the director of the laboratory shall make a personal investigation of the epidemic and to have such bacteriological and chemical analyses of water and other substances made as are necessary to the finding and the removal of the causes of such epidemics. The rapid diagnosis of certain infectious diseases like diphtheria being of such great importance in order that proper treatment may be begun as soon as possible, the board devised a method (which places the diagnosis outfits for the collection of material in the hands of every physician) by establishing one or more culture stations in every city and town in the state where the diagnosis outfits are kept constantly on hand and given free of charge to all physicians.

In addition to its routine duties the laboratory is now preparing for an examination of the air of the various railway coaches of the state with the object of determining their sanitary condition. These examinations will be carried on in co-operation with the various railway companies.

	Terms Expire.
PETER MALCOLM, New Hampton, President	Nov. 26, 1908
HENRY E. TALBOT, Des Moines, Secretary	July 28, 1907
GEORGE BLANCHE, Belle Plaine, Treasurer	Mar. 11, 1910

The state board of veterinary medical examiners was created by chapter 93 of the Acts of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly. The members are appointed by the governor for terms of three years. They receive $5 per day each and actual and necessary traveling expenses while actually engaged in the discharge of their official duties, provided such compensation and expenses do not exceed the income of fees.

The board shall hold at least one meeting each year and as many more and at such places and times as the board may elect. These meetings are held for the purpose of examining applicants for registration and such other business as may come before the board. Any person desiring to practice veterinary medicine, surgery, or dentistry in this state must be a graduate of a legally chartered and recognized veterinary college or veterinary department of a university or agricultural college, and shall pass the examination required by said board. The applicant shall be at least twenty-one years of age and of good moral character. Any person conforming to these requirements shall receive a license to practice veterinary medicine, surgery or dentistry within this state, signed by the members of the board, which license shall be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which such person resides, the recording fee to be paid by the holder of the certificate. The fee for examination shall be $15, payable in advance to the secretary of the board. In case an applicant fails to pass the examination, he is entitled to a re-examination without additional expense, provided he presents himself for re-examination within twelve months after his first examination.

The board renders an annual account to the executive council and pays over the balance on hand to the state treasurer.

STATE BOARD OF DENTAL EXAMINERS.

Under the provision of the law the board of dental examiners must hold one or more meetings annually for the examination of applicants for license. An applicant must be in possession of a diploma from a reputable dental school (reputable being construed to be a college that maintains a course equal to the requirements to the National Board of Dental Examiners). No European diplomas are accepted.

The board issues a license to those who pass the necessary per cent of questions, which is: General average, 75%; 80% in operative and prosthetic dentistry; pathology, therapeutics and materia medica combined, 80%.

The board is also empowered to accept licenses from other states issued five years prior to date of application for admission in this state. The following states have agreed to exchange with Iowa: New Jersey, Vermont, Oklahoma, Nebraska. About 20 eastern states verbally agreed to respect the recommendations of the Iowa board.

The board is required to see that all men doing dental work in Iowa, whether maintaining offices or laboratory, or working in same, have a license and that the license is recorded with the county clerk within one year after its issue.

Renewal licenses are issued in case a dentist fails to record his license, upon the payment to the board of a fine of $25.00. During the past year and a half the board has gathered in about fifty dentists practising in the state without licenses. At present the board is checking up the state in the matter of those who failed to legalize their licenses by not recording same with county clerk.

The dental board is under the law governing boards and commissions which provides that all moneys collected must be turned into the state treasury each month. A bill for expenses and per diem must be rendered to the executive council each month.

The duties of the fish and game warden, as defined by chapter 15, of the code, are as follows:

He shall make biennially a report to the governor of his doings, together with such information for the protection of fish and game as he may think proper. He shall make monthly an itemized statement to the executive council under oath of all moneys expended and for what purpose and the number and varieties of fish distributed and in what waters; also all prosecutions made under the law. He shall have charge of the re-stocking and distribution of fish to the public waters of the state and shall impartially and equitably distribute the same. He shall faithfully and impartially enforce obedience to the provisions of the fish and game laws. He may suspend for a specified period specified portions of the fish and game laws and issue permits authorizing the person to whom said permit is issued, to take from certain designated lakes of the state, having an area of not less than two square miles, certain fish designated in said permit in any quantities and for all purposes. He shall not permit seining in said lakes between the first day of December and the fifteenth day of June.

He may grant certificates to proper parties to collect birds, their nests or eggs for scientific purposes. He shall seize and take possession, without warrant, any fish, birds or animals which have been caught, taken or killed, at any time, in a manner or for a purpose or had in possession or under control, or have been shipped contrary to law, and shall sell the same for the purpose of paying any costs, and balance of proceeds, if any, shall be turned into the school fund of the county in which the seizure is made. He shall seize and destroy without warrant or process, any net, seine, trap, contrivance, material, and substance whatever while in use or had and maintained for the purpose of catching, taking, killing, trapping or deceiving any fish, birds or animals contrary to the provisions of the fish and game laws. He may appoint such number of deputies as he may deem necessary and their duties are to report all violations of the law, to make arrests where crime is committed in their province, and to aid the warden in the enforcement of the law. The provisions of the laws makes the state fish and game warden a state marshal and it is his duty to ferret out offenders and bring them to justice.

ROBERT A. SANTEE, Cedar Falls.

L. B. COUSINS, Council Bluffs.

W. C. JACOBS, Knoxville.

The state is divided into fourteen inspection districts which may be changed as the exigencies of the service may require.

An inspector is appointed for each inspection district, one of which is designated as chief inspector, who exercises supervision over the entire inspection service of the state, except in the matter of monthly reports and payment of fees, which are forwarded direct to the secretary of state.

Inspectors are furnished by the state with suitable apparatus for making inspection of all illuminating oils sold within the state, which includes miners' oil and oils used for illuminating boats, railway cars and street cars. A sample is taken by the inspector from each tank or barrel and subjected to a test. For petroleum oil (kerosene) the Elliott cup, closed test, is used. If the vapor arising from the heating process ignites at a temperature of 105 degrees or less, the entire lot from which the sample is taken is rejected and cannot be sold or used for illuminating purposes within the state. If the "flash" does not take place until after 105 degrees is reached it is approved. Miners' oil is subjected to a gravity test of 22 degrees, Taglibue hydrometer, at a temperature of sixty degrees Fahrenheit. Oils used for illuminating boats, street or railway cars are tested to an igniting or burning point of 300 degrees Fahrenheit.

On or before the 15th day of each month, each inspector is required to make a report to the secretary of state of all inspections made during the previous month, showing each inspection made, for whom and where made, kind of oil, number of tank, degree of test, whether rejected or approved, amount of fees collected, total of oil or gasoline inspected during the month, and an itemized report of all expenses incurred, amount of fees due inspectors, deputies, and branders, all of which must be verified under oath and mailed, together with all fees collected, to the secretary of state, who is required to approve same before inspector's fees and expenses can be allowed by the executive council and a warrant ordered drawn by the auditor of state in payment therefor. Deputies and branders may be appointed by inspectors when necessary, but must be approved by the executive council. No person interested in the manufacture or sale, either directly or indirectly, in petroleum products can serve as inspector, or act as surety on his official bond, which is fixed by statute at $5,000.00. Inspectors may be removed for neglect or failure in the performance of their official duties.

All persons for whom inspections are made must report directly to the secretary of state all inspections made for them for each month.

This is compared with the inspector's report for the same month, and if any discrepancies are found, corrections are required until a complete check is secured.

Rules and regulations for making inspections are formulated and adopted by the state board of health and become effective and a part of the law when approved by the governor.

The governor is authorized to appoint from the board of professors of the State University a superintendent of weights and measures for the state, who shall have sufficient learning and mechanical skill to perform the duties of the position. The superintendent must give bond in the sum of $5,000. He has charge of the standards adopted by the state and must keep them in a building furnished by the state, from which they shall in no case be removed. The code provides further that "he shall provide the several counties with such standards, balances, and other means of adjustment, as may be ordered by them, and as often as once in ten years compare the same with those in his possession, and have general supervision of the weights and measures of the state. He shall procure and keep for the state a complete set of copies of the original standards of weights and measures, which shall be used for adjusting the county standards, and in no case shall the original standards be used for any other purpose than the adjustment of this set of copies. BOARD OF VOTING MACHINE COMMISSIONERS.

Appointed by the Governor. Term five years. Compensation not to exceed $1,500.

Terms Expire.

ISAAC BRANDT, Des Moines.....	July 3, 1910
HENRY M. BELVEL, Des Moines.....	July 3, 1910
JOHN G. HEMPEL, Elkader.....	July 3, 1910

The voting machine commission was created by an act of the twenty-eighth general assembly, providing for the use of voting machines at all state, county, city, town, and township elections. By this act the governor was authorized to appoint three commissioners, not more than two of whom should be from the same political party. The commissioners are appointed for the term of five years, subject to removal at the pleasure of the governor.

Individuals or corporations owning or interested in any voting machine may call upon the commissioners to examine the said voting machine. After such examination the commissioners are to report the results to the secretary of state, giving the capacity of such machine to register the vote of the people, its accuracy and efficiency, and its mechanical perfections or imperfections. This report is to be filed in the office of the secretary of state, and it must state the opinion of the commissioners, whether the kind of machine so examined can be safely used by the voters. Should the report state that the machine can be so used, it shall be deemed approved by the commissioners, and machines of its kind may be adopted and used at the various elections held in the state. For making such examination and report, each commissioner is to receive the sum of $150 for his compensation and expenses, but no commissioner is to receive an amount in excess of $1,500 and reasonable expenses in any one year. The fees for examination are to be paid by the individual or corporation owning or interested in the voting machine examined.

The act makes the following provisions as to the construction of the machine approved:

"A voting machine approved by the state board of voting machine commissioners must be so constructed as to provide facilities for voting for the candidates of at least seven different parties or organizations; must permit a voter to vote for any person for any office although not nominated as a candidate by any party or organization, and must permit voting in absolute secrecy. It must also be so constructed as to prevent voting for more than one person for the same office, except where the voter is lawfully entitled to vote for more than one person for that office; and it must afford him an opportunity to vote for any or all persons for that office as he is by law entitled to vote for, and no more, at the same time preventing his voting for the same person twice. It may also be provided with one ballot in each party column or row containing only the words, 'presidential electors,' preceded by the party name, and a vote for such ballot shall operate as a vote for all candidates of such party for presidential electors. Such machine shall be so constructed as to accurately account for every vote cast upon it."

Eight voting machines made by as many different companies have been examined and approved by the commission. These are: The John Blocty, examined at Chicago, Ill., July 31, 1900; the Climax, examined at Cedar Rapids, September 15, 1900; the National, examined at Sioux City, December 22, 1903; the Universal, examined at Bloomington, Ill., December 26, 1903; the U. S. Standard, examined at Des Moines, May 31, 1904, the Iowa, examined at Cedar Rapids, July 11, 1905; the Abbott, made by the Abbott V. M. Co., Hudson, Mich., and the Glenn Voting Machine, made by the Glenn Voting Machine Co., of Cedar Rapids, Iowa. Each of these machines was found to comply with the provisions of the law, above mentioned, and was so reported by the commission to the secretary of state.

The commission in making examinations has not taken into account the manner in which results, required by law, are accomplished by the various machines, the examination having been conducted only along the line of determining whether the machines would or would not comply with the law. The matter of expensiveness of construction is not investigated, this being a matter to be determined between the companies manufacturing the machines and the purchasers, the boards of supervisors and city councils. The machines so far examined vary greatly in construction, some being quite complicated and intricate, and yet each having been shown to perform perfectly the requirements of the law in every respect. This difference in construction is so great that it would be impossible to describe each in detail in the short space allotted to this subject in the Official Register.

There is no question as to the absolute accuracy of the count of "legal" voting machines, nor as to the entire secrecy of ballots cast upon them. And another important point about them is that there is no such thing as a spoiled or mutilated ballot. Every voter who enters a booth is certain of casting a ballot for somebody and having that ballot counted. No election officers sit in judgment upon how he intended to vote, throwing out or counting his vote as they see proper. The voter, when he votes, decides that matter for himself, as of right he should. For these reasons alone the voting machine should be installed in every precinct in the state. Sooner or later the voting machine will be the recognized and universal manner of expressing the will of the voters at the polls.

There is a bill pending in the thirty-second general assembly empowering the commissioners to revoke their approval of any voting machine when such machine upon a fair test in actual use does not in its operation comply fully with the requirements of the Iowa law. The merits of such a law has been demonstrated in the experience of New York state, where a machine having been passed upon and approved afterwards failed to properly perform its functions.

The inspectors are appointed by the governor to hold office for a term of two years from the first Monday in May in the even-numbered years. Each inspector is required to make an annual report to the governor on or before the first day of January, giving in detail the number and date of licenses granted pilots and engineers, number and kind of boats inspected, the fees received therefor, and other matters considered useful and of general interest.

The law provides that "any inspector, on the request of owner, agent or master of any boat other than a row boat, upon the inland waters of the state having a carrying capacity of five or more passengers, shall carefully and thoroughly inspect such boat, its appliances and machinery, and, if found in proper condition and safe for the carriage of persons or passengers, give his certificate thereof, including therein the number of persons or passengers that may be carried, and on what waters; which certificate, or a copy thereof, shall be posted in a conspicuous place on the boat, and any boat so inspected and certified shall be entitled to run for the season following the date thereof. In like manner, upon the request of any pilot or engineer for a license as such, the inspector shall forthwith investigate the competency of the applicant, his acquaintance with and experience in his business, his habits as to sobriety, and other qualifications, and, if found capable of performing well his duties, and of good habits, he shall issue his certificate authorizing him to act as pilot or engineer, as the case may be, for five years from the date thereof, unless sooner revoked for cause, which revocation when made shall take effect upon the approval of the governor. The inspector may charge and require advance payment for inspection, for each sailboat, one dollar, each boat propelled by other power with a capacity of not more than twenty persons, five dollars; those of greater capacity, ten dollars, and for each applicant for license as pilot or engineer, three dollars."

The penalty for hiring or offering to hire such boat for the carriage of passengers, without first securing the certificate above mentioned, or for permitting or receiving for carriage a greater number of persons than authorized in the said certificate, is a fine of not to exceed one thousand dollars or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed one year, or both fine and imprisonment. The same penalty applies to any person acting as a pilot or engineer without first having obtained a license, or having obtained such license, continuing to follow said avocation after his certificate has been revoked.

The state board of law examiners was created by an act of the twenty-eighth general assembly which went into effect on the 4th day of July, 1901. The attorney-general is, by virtue of his office, chairman of the board, and the other members are appointed by the supreme court.

The members of the board are paid as compensation fifteen dollars per day out of the fund arising from examination fees. Under the statute the supreme court may also appoint from time to time, when necessary, temporary examiners to assist the commission, who shall serve for one examination only.

Every applicant for admission to the bar must pass an examination by the board as to his legal attainments, and also as to his preliminary educational qualification, unless he furnishes proof of such qualification by presenting a diploma or certificate that he is a graduate of a college, high school, normal school or academy, or that he has regularly and in good faith pursued and successfully completed three years of the regular course of an accredited high school, or the certificate of the state board of educational examiners that he has successfully passed an examination by that board, or the certificate of the president of the state university or of any college in this state having an equivalent collegiate or liberal art study, that he has been found on proper certification or examination to be entitled to admission, without condition, as a student in such university or college, for which admission the applicant must have actually and in good faith acquired a general education substantially equivalent to that involved in the completion of a high school course of study of at least three years extent.

Examinations are held at the capitol at Des Moines on the first Tuesday in October and the Tuesday before the first Thursday in June, and at the university at Iowa City on the first Thursday preceding the annual commencement of the state university. Each examination continues not less than three days and is both written and oral. The examination of each candidate is marked on the basis of one hundred per cent for the entire examination, and no one is recommended for admission who does not receive a marking of at least seventy-five per cent. No candidate who fails to pass can take a second examination within three months after such failure.

Each applicant is required to pay an examination fee of five dollars.

The Iowa library commission was created by an act of the twenty-eighth general assembly in March, 1900. The growing interest in library matters and the many gifts for the erection of library buildings have made the demands on the commission heavy and constant.

The activities of the secretary cover a wide range of interests, among which are the following: Assisting any community desiring aid in planning for the submission of a library tax to a popular vote; aiding boards of trustees and librarians in organizing libraries for a business-like administration; assisting in the classifying, shelf-listing and cataloging of books; addressing women's clubs, teachers' meetings, public meetings, etc.; conferring with library trustees and city councils in the consideration of plans for new library buildings, with special reference to best working interior arrangement, etc. By correspondence also much information is given to librarians and library boards as to details of library economy, the selection and classification of books, etc.

The work of the travelling library, formerly under the direction of the state library, was seen to be so intimately connected with the work of library extension over the entire state that the desirability of transferring it to the commission was soon evident, library extension being the primary purpose of the library commission, therefore the library commission law was revised by the twenty-ninth general assembly in order to provide for the transfer of the travelling library to the Iowa library commission.

The principal activities of the commission are as follows: (1) The travelling library 16,000 volumes, which consists of (a) miscellaneous collections of fifty volume libraries; (b) books on special subjects of study; (c) books for the blind loaned singly to any blind reader in the state. These are loaned free to any community in the state complying with a simple agreement and paying transportation charges. (2) Summer library school, conducted by the secretary at the state university at Iowa City for six weeks each summer as a department of the university's summer session. (3) Periodical clearing house for the exchange of standard periodicals indexed in Poole's Abridged Index, this exchange being for the purpose of aiding small libraries in securing sets of standard periodicals without cost. (4) Publication of quarterly circular of information, leaflets and other material helpful in disseminating library information and in developing and fostering the library spirit in Iowa.

The law which provides for the organization of the Iowa Geological Survey outlined its work to be that of making "a complete survey of the natural resources of the state in their natural and scientific aspects, including the determination of the characteristics of the various formations and the investigation of the different ores, coals, clays, building stones and other useful materials."

Since its organization in 1892 the survey has carried on the work thus outlined over a large portion of the state. Up to the present time it has surveyed and mapped seventy-nine counties, covering an area of 45,068 square miles. Reports covering the physiography, the geology and the natural resources of these counties have been prepared, with especial reference to their economic products, such as coal, clay, stone for building and other purposes, water resources, etc. In addition to this line of work special investigation has also been made of the coal deposits of the state, of the gypsum beds, of lead and zinc, artesian wells, building stones, peat deposits and cement materials. Special reports have been published covering these topics, in some cases as parts of annual reports, in others as special reports. The report on coal was issued as Volume II, that on artesian wells and lead and zinc as Volume VI, and that on clays as Volume XIV. A preliminary report on cement materials is included in Volume XV, and during the current year a more complete report will be issued as Volume XVII of the annual reports. In addition to the sixteen annual and special reports already published a treatise on "The Grasses of Iowa" was issued as Bulletin No. 1 in 1901 and a supplementary report, consisting of Part 2 of "The Grasses of Iowa" was published in 1904. A preliminary report on the peat resources of the state and on tests of Iowa coals, made at the St. Louis coal testing plant, was issued as Bulletin No. 2, in 1905, and a supplementary report on cement materials was prepared as Bulletin No. 3, in 1906.

It is intended to co-operate during the coming summer with the United States Geological Survey in the making of topographic maps of those parts of the state whose coal resources make such maps particularly desirable and useful.

Examinations.—All examinations for licenses to teach are under the supervision of the educational board of examiners. There are two classes of examinations: those for state licenses and those for county.

For state licenses the board holds two regular examinations annually at Des Moines, one for diplomas the Friday and Saturday following Thanksgiving and one for certificates during the holidays. Special examinations are given at any place requested by fifteen or more candidates whose applications, credentials and fees have been filed. All examinations for state licenses must be conducted by a member of the board or its secretary.

For county certificates four regular examinations are held each year on the last Friday and the Wednesday and Thursday preceding in the months of January, June, July and October. Special examinations are appointed by the president of the board upon the request of the county superintendent of any county in which there is a scarcity of teachers. County examinations are conducted by the county superintendents.

Candidates writing at a regular examination will receive the highest grade of certificate to which their standing entitles them, but those writing at a special examination may receive provisional certificates only.

Licenses.—All licenses to teach are issued by the educational board of examiners. There are two general classes of licenses, state and county.

State licenses consist of diplomas, good during the life of the holder; state certificates, special certificates in music, penmanship and drawing and special primary certificates, all of which are issued for a term of five years, and the two-year certificate.

County licenses consist of first grade and special certificates issued for three years and eligible to renewal. Second grade issued for a period not to exceed two years eligible to one renewal and third grade and provisional certificates issued for six months not renewable, but may be extended by the county superintendent to the first day of July following the date of issue.

Registration.—To be valid in any county a certificate must be registered in the office of the county superintendent. The registration fee is in every case one dollar.

Accredited Schools.—The board of examiners constitutes a board for the inspection, recognition and supervision of schools desiring state recognition as schools for the training of teachers for the common schools. Only graduates of prescribed courses of such approved schools are eligible to be admitted to the examination for the two-year state certificates.

Library List.—The board is also required to prepare and publish a list of books suitable for rural libraries from which list the library committees of all rural schools must make selections when purchasing books for their libraries.

Organization.—Pursuant to a call signed by D. F. Wells, then of the Muscatine schools, and seventeen others, a number of teachers met in the court house of Muscatine May 10, 1854, and organized the Iowa State Teachers' Association, adopted a constitution and elected the following officers: President, J. The real work of the association began with its second session which convened at Iowa City, December 27 and 28 of the same year. After a very important meeting this session adjourned to meet at Davenport, September 4, 1855. When the time came for this meeting, so few were present it was abandoned.

An educational convention was called to meet at Iowa City June 16 to 18, 1856. At this meeting a permanent organization was effected and the constitution of the association of 1854, somewhat modified, was adopted. Since that time a session has been held each year.

At the session in December, 1905, the semi-centennial anniversary of the association was celebrated by a special campfire program, which was participated in, either in person or by letter, by many of the veterans in education in Iowa.

Meetings.—The presidents of the association, with the year and place of meeting, have been as follows: 1854, Muscatine and Iowa City, J. A. Parvin; 1855, no meeting; 1856, Iowa City and Muscatine, J. McConnell; 1906, Des Moines, J. H. T. Main.

Growth.—The association has grown steadily from less than 50 in 1860 to 1,443 in 1906. The work also has expanded until in addition to the general association there are now eight sub-divisions or sections and nine round tables to meet the present demands.

Purposes.—Its purpose at the time of its organization was said to be to "carry into efficiency the present private and public school system of education in the state of Iowa." No other organization has done more toward creating public opinion in favor of educational reforms and advancement than the Iowa state teachers' association. It has always addressed itself to the apparent needs of the hour.

The earlier sessions were often organized as institutes for presenting methods, while the more recent ones, particularly of the educational council, have been devoted to a thorough study of the educational problems of the day.

It has always stood for a high standard of morality, declaring for total abstinence in 1857.

It has favored important legislation. The establishment of a juvenile reformatory was proposed by C. C. Nestlerode in 1857, and a committee was appointed to memorialize the legislature. Graded schools were recommended in the same year. In 1859 the association voted that the Bible should be read daily in our public schools, and now no teacher may be prohibited from doing so. The board of examiners authorized to issue state certificates and diplomas as proposed by T. S. Parvin was recommended by it in 1861.

The association continued to advocate needed reforms and legislation for the improvement of our school system. Among the most important measures of recent years that have had its active support and which have become laws may be named the rural library law of the twenty-eighth general assembly, the law for compulsory attendance of the twenty-ninth and the thirtieth general assemblies, and the law creating a uniform school year and changing the time for reporting, and the one providing for uniform county certificates, passed by the thirty-first general assembly.

ADVISORY COMMISSION ON UNIFORM MUNICIPAL ACCOUNTING.

HARRY F. GROSS, Chairman, Des Moines, Polk county.
 FRANK C. NORTON, Secretary, Burlington, Des Moines county.
 FRANK T. TRUE, of Council Bluffs, Pottawattamie county.
 LOUIS FESSLER, Fort Dodge, Webster county.
 FRANK H. MUNGER, Waverly, Bremer county.
 WILLIAM E. TRUE, Sloux City, Woodbury county.
 WILLIAM P. FITCH, Mason City, Cerro Gordo county.

This commission was authorized by chapter 34 of the acts of the thirty-first general assembly. The section providing for the appointment of the commission reads as follows:

"That uniformity in the methods of accounting for and reporting the financial transactions of municipalities may be secured, the auditor of state is authorized and he is hereby directed to formulate and prescribe a system of municipal accounts and method of presenting departmental and general reports which shall be adopted and complied with in the administration of all cities or towns on and after April 1, 1907. To insure careful consideration of the merits and defects of existing methods in local accounting, the auditor of state shall appoint an advisory committee of not less than five nor more than seven persons familiar with municipal accounts, a majority of whom shall be city accounting officers."

In accordance with the provisions therein contained the auditor of state appointed the foregoing commissioners, all of whom are either now, or have been recently, connected with the accounting departments of their respective city governments. The commissioners met in Des Moines, August 16, 1906, and organized with Harry F. Gross as chairman and Frank C. Norton as secretary. The commission held several meetings and made its report to the auditor of state November 24, 1906. The following, which is a copy of the report submitted by the commission to the auditor of state, gives a statement of the nature of the investigations made by the committee, the difficulties they encountered, their conclusions and their recommendations:

"Your advisory committee on uniform municipal accounting, appointed by you in accordance with the act of the legislature passed April 5, 1906, would respectfully report as follows:

"In the study of the questions involved and of the intention of the law, your committee realizes the many intricate problems arising and that no system can at once be devised but which time and experience will, of necessity, modify.

"Your committee has investigated, as far as it has been able, the conditions of the cities of Iowa and has sought advice and data from many sources in order to aid in the conclusions drawn. The committee has endeavored to lay a foundation that will start the cities and towns of Iowa on a reasonable basis of uniform accounting, consistent also with true statistical practice. Your committee herewith submits for your consideration a 'general schedule,' with explanatory notes, which includes under its various headings and divisions, a complete statement of receipts, disbursements, debt obligations, basis of taxation, tax levies, municipal possessions, etc. The above schedule embraces all departments of city government and the accounts of the cities and towns should be so kept that the schedule can be properly filled in, as far as applicable, at the close of the fiscal year, by the accounting officer of each city or town. It is the recommendation of this committee that said schedule so completed be the official report of the accounting officer, and which under the law, shall be published and a copy certified to the auditor of state.

"Your committee also submits for your consideration a sample form of a city bill, believing that all cities and towns should be asked to adopt the same or one having practically the same features.

"Your committee has also prepared and herewith submits sample pages of clerk's (or auditor's) and treasurer's warrant registers, containing the details as contemplated by law; also forms of monthly reports of above officers, which reports appeal to the committee to be vital to good business practices of cities and towns and as evidently contemplated by law.

"Your committee also submits forms for independent divisions of city government, and for departmental reports, including those for public utilities owned and operated by cities and towns, all of which are in harmony with the general schedule above referred to. These forms and reports are merely suggestive as containing the ideas contemplated by the law and are so presented for your consideration.

"Your committee has thus far, by the forms presented, sought to lead up to the point where the accounting officers may be able to so keep their main books that at the close of the fiscal year the general schedule can easily be completed.

"The cities and towns of Iowa vary much in size and conditions, the proportion of the smaller places being great. The condition and needs of each also differ and vary from year to year, making it impossible for definite forms of the main books to be applicable for all. Your committee has given much thought and consideration to the question and advisability of submitting forms for the main books of the cities and towns, such as the general record of accounts, and has come to the conclusion that no definite book can at present be made with headings and divisions that can be used by all cities and towns alike, without at once being so voluminous and cumbersome as to be impracticable.

"It is evident that considerable latitude must be granted to the accounting officers to so arrange their main books as to meet their needs, but your committee feels that with the forms and schedules presented said officers can readily prepare their main books so as to fulfill the intention of the law. In view of the fact, however, that in many small towns, the accounting officers receive little, if any, salary, and that frequently it occurs that but little attention is paid to method of keeping the accounts, the committee submits to you sample pages of records that might aid in more systematic accounting.

"Your committee feels that you will not consider it out of place if a few suggestions are made in connection with this report, that would appear to have a bearing upon the practical working of the law under which this report is made.

"It is evident that a great amount of labor and consequently some expense to the state must naturally follow in order to reach the results intended, and that it will take time for the system to develop. Your committee appreciates the fact that your office will be called upon to handle the large amount of work in connection with the operation of the new system, and that no provision as yet has been made by the legislature to provide your office with the needed help. It is the opinion of this committee that it will prove necessary that a separate department under direction of your office be established, so that the office will not be hindered in its proper development and supervision of the cities and towns, and that the municipalities may receive the needed aid and assistance from your office.

"It is the evident intention of the law that the reports of cities and towns to the auditor of state shall be for the fiscal years ending March 31st, but certain special charter cities and independent divisions of cities close their fiscal year on December 31st.

"It is the opinion of the committee that the fiscal years should be alike in all cases and the law so amended.

"In conclusion, the committee desires to express its appreciation for the confidence and courtesy shown by you and for the willing aid and assistance rendered by your office."

Chapter 188, acts of the thirty-first general assembly created a commission to examine the subject of insurance and practice of insurance companies doing business in Iowa. It also contemplated a revision of the insurance laws of the state and a report to the thirty-second general assembly covering such recommendations as the commission, after investigation, should deem advisable. Ten thousand dollars was appropriated to enable the commission to carry on the work.

Two members from the senate and three representatives from the house, constituting the commission, met at the capitol, April 26, 1906, organized and entered upon the work which was prosecuted with energy until late in December. During this time the practical workings of some seventeen old-line life companies and assessment associations, besides twelve fraternal beneficiary societies and fourteen fire insurance companies were reviewed. Many actuaries, officers and insurance experts testified before the commission along the various lines of insurance endeavor.

The members of the commission were a unit on many of the questions involved, yet in a few of vital importance, there was a difference of opinion which finally resulted in two reports concerning the matter of treatment of the surplus by insurance companies, and of limiting the current expense account to the element of loading. In the former, the majority of the members held to the belief that a company should be required to render an annual statement to the insurance department, as to the condition of the surplus at the beginning of the previous year, together with a carefully itemized statement of the accretions thereto and from what source; the disbursements therefrom, and for what purpose, during the year, holding that a close accounting or distribution might impair the surplus necessary to be held at all times to meet the many contingencies constantly arising. From a glance at such table, it was thought, the policy-holder could determine if the fund was being unnecessarily depleted by the management. From this view the minority of the commission dissented, declaring that on future business the company should render annually to each policy-holder, a statement and provisional apportionment of surplus, and the aggregate so apportioned to be charged as a liability of the company; also a strict accounting of existing surplus.

The majority of the commission deemed it unwise, for reasons advanced in the report, to confine the companies to the estimated percentage of loading, for meeting general current expenses. The minority declare that companies should limit their average expenses to their loading account, modified preliminary term permitted.

The commission were a unit in their recommendations that companies in making any disbursement of money, in sums of $100 or more, should have the same evidenced by voucher. The commission also recommended several other propositions which in view of the evidence elicited, seemed warranted, prominent among which were the following:

Limiting the percentage of dividends which can be declared annually upon capital stock companies, to a maximum of ten per cent. They submitted several provisions which it was thought desirable to incorporate into every life policy. A plan was formulated whereby assessment life associations may re-incorporate, enabling them to conform to the law in regard to legal reserve companies, and that no assessment associations upon the old plan, be allowed to incorporate in the future.

While no recommendations concerning industrial insurance companies, was made, attention was called to the extravagancies of such associations by way of expenditures, and excessive rates charged.

Fraternal beneficiary societies were exhaustively reviewed, and it was considered expedient that all fraternal should, as a matter of absolute safety, be placed upon adequate rates. It was recommended, therefore, that no new fraternal societies be admitted to do business in the state, whose rating was less than that warranted by the national fraternal congress table of mortality, and that at a date designated in the future all fraternal shall have attained that rating. A plan was presented for the better government of their existing surplus, designating the securities in which it may be invested.

A standard uniform fire policy was recommended to be used by all fire insurance companies writing business in this state, and a form was presented. Limited co-insurance in connection with this policy was recommended.

A new draft of chapter 5, title IX, of the code, relating to mutual fire, hail and tornado companies, was presented as a substitute. The principal change urged was the accumulation and maintenance by chapter 5 companies, of a re-insurance reserve fund in amount equal to 10 per cent of one annual assessment at the basis rate charge for all policies in force.

The matter of establishing a new office, that of fire marshal, in connection with fire insurance, was discussed.

The formation of a separate state department, devoted exclusively to insurance interests, was recommended and a bill looking towards the consummation of that object was introduced.

It is provided also that the public archives shall be housed in the Historical Memorial and Art Building in rooms to be known as the Hall of Public Archives. An appropriation of $2,000 per annum for three years was made to carry out the provisions of the statute.

SUPREME COURT OF IOWA.

ORGANIZATION.

The supreme court consists of six judges, four of whom constitute a quorum for the transaction of business, but one alone may adjourn from day to day, or to a particular day, or until the next term.

The judge whose term first expires is the chief justice, and so on in rotation, except when the term of two of the justices expire at the same time the senior in age serves first as chief justice.

JURISDICTION.

The supreme court has appellate jurisdiction only in cases in chancery and constitutes a court for the correction of errors at law. It has appellate jurisdiction over all judgments and decisions of all courts of record, except as otherwise provided by law.

An appeal may also be taken to the supreme court from:

1. An order made affecting a substantial right in an action, when such order, in effect, determines the action and prevents a judgment from which an appeal might be taken;
2. A final order made in special actions affecting a substantial right therein, or made on a summary application in an action after judgment;
3. An order which grants or refuses, continues or modifies a provisional remedy; grants or refuses, dissolves or refuses to dissolve an injunction or attachment; or grants or refuses a new trial; or sustains or overrules a demurrer;

*Mr. Justice Ladd will serve as chief justice during the year 1908.

4. An intermediate order involving the merits or materially affecting the final decision;

5. An order or judgment on habeas corpus.

If any of the above orders or judgments are made or rendered by a judge, the same are reviewable, the same as if made by a court.

The supreme court has power to issue all writs and processes necessary to secure justice to parties, and to enforce its appellate jurisdiction, and it may exercise supervisory control over all inferior judicial tribunals.

It may enforce its mandates upon inferior courts and officers by fine and imprisonment, which imprisonment may continue until its mandates are obeyed.

TERMS.

There are three regular terms in each year, held as follows, to wit: The first term beginning with the second Tuesday in January and ending with the first Monday of May; the second beginning with the first Tuesday after the first Monday of May and ending with the third Monday of September, and the third beginning with the first Tuesday after the third Monday of September and ending with the third Saturday of December.

The time allotted to each term is divided as nearly as practicable into periods of four weeks each, the first part of each period is devoted to the argument and submission of cases, and the second to consultation and the preparation of opinions. Cases assigned for each period are called in their order as shown on the term docket, but no more submissions are taken for one period than in the judgment of the court can be properly considered and determined before the next succeeding session. All causes on the docket are heard at each term unless continued or otherwise disposed of by order of court.

The regular public sessions of the court are held in the supreme court room at the capitol, commencing at 9 o'clock A. M., standard time. On Tuesday and Friday of the first week of each four weeks' period submission of motions are taken before calling the calendar. Motions noticed for a day when the court is not sitting are taken on the next motion day on which the court sits.

Judgments of affirmance, rulings and orders in causes submitted and orders authorized by law may be made and entered by the court at any time regardless of the term of court.

APPEALS.

Appeals from the superior and district courts may be taken to the supreme court at any time within six months from the rendition of the judgment or order appealed from, and not afterwards. No appeal shall be taken in any cause in which the amount in controversy between the parties, as shown by the pleadings, does not exceed one hundred dollars, unless the trial judge shall, during the term in which judgment is entered, certify that the cause is one in which the appeal should be allowed, and upon such certificate being filed the same shall be appealable regardless of the amount in controversy, but this limitation shall not affect the right of appeal in any action in which an interest in real estate is involved, nor shall the right of appeal be affected by the remission of any part of the verdict or judgment returned or rendered.

SALARY.

The salary of each justice is six thousand dollars ($6,000) a year. Each general assembly also appropriates sufficient funds for the payment of stenographers, bailiff and such other incidental expenses as may be incurred by the court.

THE DISTRICT COURTS OF IOWA.

There are at the present time fifty-three judges of the district court of the state of Iowa. The state is divided into twenty judicial districts and each district is entitled to from one to four judges, the number being fixed by statute. The judges are elected for terms of four years and receive an annual salary of $3,500. Each judge appoints a shorthand reporter, who receives $6 per day for each day's attendance upon said court, and in case the per diem does not equal $1,200 per annum, then the county or counties composing the district make up the deficiency in proportion to the number of days of court held in such county or counties.

The terms of all district judges commenced January 1, 1907, and will expire December 31, 1910, except J. F. Clyde of the twelfth; A. D. Baille, of the fourteenth; N. W. Macy, of the fifteenth, and W. S. Withrow, of the twentieth districts, whose terms expire December 31, 1908.

The following is the section of the code governing the jurisdiction of the district court:

SECTION 225. Jurisdiction—civil, criminal, probate—successor of circuit court. The district court shall have general, original and exclusive jurisdiction of all actions, proceedings and remedies, both civil and criminal, except in cases where exclusive or concurrent jurisdiction is or may hereafter be conferred upon some other court or tribunal by the constitution and laws of the state, and shall have and exercise all the powers usually possessed and exercised by courts of record. It shall also possess and exercise jurisdiction in all appeals and writs of error taken in civil and criminal actions and special proceedings authorized to be taken from all inferior courts, tribunals, boards or officers, under any provisions of the laws of this state, and shall have a general supervision thereof, in all matters, to prevent and correct abuses, where no other remedy is provided.

First. The district court of each county shall have original and exclusive jurisdiction to probate the wills of, and to grant administration upon the estates of, all persons who at the time of their death were residents of the county, and of non-residents of the state who die leaving property within the county subject to administration, or whose property is afterwards brought into the county.

Second. To appoint guardians of the persons and property of all persons resident in the county subject to guardianship.

Third. To appoint guardians of the property of all such persons non-residents of the state who have property within the county subject to guardianship, or whose property is afterwards brought into the county.

Fourth. It shall have jurisdiction in all matters in relation to the appointment of executors and trustees, and the management and disposition of the property of and settlement of such estates; provided, that where jurisdiction has heretofore been acquired, the same shall be retained until such estate is closed.

The district court shall succeed to and exercise full authority and jurisdiction over the records of the circuit court, and may enforce all judgments, decrees and orders thereof in the same manner and to the same extent as it may exercise like jurisdiction and authority over its own records, and for the purpose of the issuance of process, and of any and all other acts necessary to the due and efficient enforcement of the orders, judgments and decrees of the circuit court, the records thereof shall be deemed records of the district court. Transcripts and process from the judgments, decrees and records of the circuit court shall be issued by the clerk of the district court and under the seal of his office.

SUPERIOR COURTS.

The statutes provide that any city containing five thousand inhabitants, whether organized under a special charter or under the general law for incorporation of cities and towns, may establish a superior court. There are at present four of such courts, located respectively in the cities of Council Bluffs, Cedar Rapids, Keokuk and Oelwein. The judges are elected for terms of four years and receive an annual salary of $2,000, which is paid quarterly, the first two quarters being paid from the city treasury and the last two quarters from the county treasury of the county in which said court is located.

The judges of the superior court appoints a shorthand reporter, who receives five dollars per day for each day's attendance upon said court.

The following is a copy of the section of the code governing the jurisdiction of the superior court:

Sec. 260. Jurisdiction—attachments of real estate—city prisons used. Said court shall have jurisdiction concurrent with the district court in all civil matters, except in probate matters and actions for divorce, alimony and separate maintenance. It shall have exclusive original jurisdiction to try and determine all actions, civil and criminal, for the violation of city ordinances, and all jurisdiction conferred on police courts as now or as may hereafter be provided by law, and concurrent jurisdiction with justices of the peace. Writs of error and appeals may be taken thereto from justices' courts in the township in which the court is held, and, by consent of parties, from any other township in the county. For the trial of criminal actions on information and complaint, the court shall be open at such times and under such rules as it shall prescribe. In actions by attachment, where real property is levied on by writ of attachment, the officer levying the writ shall make entry thereof in the incumbrance book in the office of the clerk of the district court, in like manner and with like effect as of levies made in the district court. Parties may be committed to the city prison for confinement or punishment, instead of the county jail, at the option of the judge. In the absence of the judge, or in case of his inability to act, then, during such time, proceedings for the violation of city ordinances may be had before a justice of the peace residing in such city.

The Board of Control of State Institutions was created under the provisions of chapter 118, laws of the twenty-seventh general assembly, which, with the amendments thereto, clothes the board with full power to manage, control and govern, subject only to the limitations contained in the act, the following named institutions:

- Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home at Davenport.
- Iowa Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown.
- School for the Deaf at Council Bluffs.
- College for the Blind at Vinton.
- Institution for Feeble-minded Children at Glenwood.
- Mt. Pleasant State Hospital.
- Hospital for Female Inebriates (Mt. Pleasant).
- Independence State Hospital.
- Clarinda State Hospital.
- Cherokee State Hospital.
- State Hospital for Inebriates (Knoxville).
- Industrial School for Boys at Eldora.
- Industrial School for Girls at Mitchellville.
- Industrial Reformatory for Females at Anamosa.
- Penitentiary at Anamosa.
- Penitentiary at Ft. Madison.

The board is also required to investigate thoroughly the reports and doings of the regents of the State University, the trustees of the State Normal School and the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, and the books and records of said institutions. It also has supervision of county and private institutions in which insane persons are kept, and of associations and societies receiving friendless children.

Prior to July 1, 1898, the foregoing state institutions, except the penitentiaries, were in charge of separate boards, each of which had its officers and each had a secretary and treasurer.

The Board of Control was organized on April 6, 1898, and took full control as provided by statute, on July 1, 1898, of the institutions subject to its control. At that time the various boards of trustees and commissioners ceased to exist.

The board publishes quarterly a bulletin of over a hundred pages, devoted to the scientific investigation of the treatment of insanity and epilepsy and the feeble-minded, and information embodying the experience of soldiers' homes, charitable, reformatory and penal institutions in this and other countries, it being the intention of the board to keep in touch with the best thought and judgment of the age.

As provided by law, under the direction of the board, the state institutions under its control are supplied with goods for their support on competitive bids, thus procuring proper supplies at the lowest market prices. An opportunity to bid is afforded anyone who indicates a desire to the board.

As to the institutions under its control the board is charged with the duty of investigating their management and financial condition; it must determine questions as to the sanity of patients in hospitals and determine when persons shall be admitted to State hospitals as State charges, and it is to divide the State into hospital and penitentiary districts. It must make biennial reports to the Governor and legislature; make a statement showing the cost of operating the institutions for the preceding two years, visit all institutions twice a year, and some of its members must visit each State hospital once a month; must meet the superintendents in quarterly conference, gather statistics, publish a bulletin, compel institutions to provide fire escapes, require employes handling State property to give bonds, require the making of an annual inventory of the State's property, make a quarterly invoice of all stores at the institutions, annually fix salaries of officers and employes, except the chief executive officers, appoint a State architect and perform many other duties.

COLLEGE FOR THE BLIND--VINTON.

Superintendent—JOSEPH E. VANCE.

Oculist—LEE WALLACE DEAN, M. D.

Steward—GEORGE H. BRUNER.

There is a regular appropriation for this institution of $22 per capita per month for nine months of each year to cover support and maintenance.

The school term begins on the first Wednesday in September and usually ends about the first of June. It is desirable that the students enter at the first and remain until the close. They may, however, be admitted at any time, and they are at liberty to go home whenever their parents send for them.

The department of music is supplied with a large number of pianos, one pipe organ, several cabinet organs, and a sufficient number of violins, guitars, bass viols and brass instruments. Every student capable of receiving it is given a complete course in this department.

In the industrial department the girls are required to learn knitting, crocheting, fancy work, hand and machine sewing; the boys, netting, broom making, mattress making and cane seating. Those of either sex who so desire may learn carpet weaving.

These advantages are free to every person, either blind or of defective vision and of suitable school age and capacity in the State. All that the friends are expected to do is to pay the traveling expenses and furnish clothing. If they are unable to clothe the pupil the necessary clothing will be furnished here and the bill sent to the county from which the pupil comes.

The session of the school begins the first day of October and continues until the last day of June of each year. Pupils should come promptly at the beginning and remain until the end of the session.

The United States government pays to the State of Iowa the sum of $100 per year for each male inmate of the Soldiers' Home, who served in any war in which the United States was engaged, which amount is used as a part of the support fund of the institution.

Persons who have property or means for their support, or who draw a pension sufficient therefor, will not be admitted to the home; and if after admission, an inmate of the home shall receive a pension or other means sufficient for his support, or shall recover his health so as to enable him to support himself, he will be discharged from the home.

Regular appropriation by the State is $14.00 per month for each member, and $10.00 per month for each employe not a member of the home.

IOWA SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME—DAVENPORT.

Superintendent—FRANK J. SESSIONS.

Physician—WILLIAM L. ALLEN, M. D.

Steward—URIAS D. RUNKLE.

There is in connection with this institution a school building, pleasant, commodious and well lighted, and it is the policy of the board to have the course of instruction of a high standard. A kindergarten is operated for the very young pupils.

The age limit beyond which children are not kept in the home is 16 years. Fewer than 20 per cent. remain to the age limit.

A library of well selected juvenile literature is a source of pleasure and profitable entertainment to the children, as from necessity their pastimes and pleasures are somewhat circumscribed.

It is the aim to provide the children with plenty of good comfortable clothing, and to have them taught to take good care of the same. Their clothing is all manufactured at the home, the large girls assisting in its manufacture. The table is supplied with a good variety of plain, wholesome food and a reasonable amount of luxuries.

The home is supported by a regular appropriation of $12 per month for each inmate and the actual transportation charges of inmates to and from the institution. Each county is liable to the State for the support of its children to the extent of $6 per month, except soldiers' orphans, who are cared for at the expense of the State.

INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN—GLENWOOD.

Superintendent—GEORGE MOGRIDGE, M. D.

Physician and Assistant Superintendent—ANTON R. SCHIER, M. D.

Assistant Physician—HARRY W. BENSON, M. D.

Steward—ED. C. COOK.

There is a regular appropriation for this institution of $12 per month for each inmate.

The purposes or objects of this institution are to provide special methods of training for that class of children deficient in mind or marked with such peculiarities as to deprive them of the benefits and privileges provided for children with normal faculties. The object is to make each child as nearly self-supporting as practicable, and to approach as nearly as possible the movements and actions of normal people. It further aims to provide a home for those who are not susceptible of mental culture, relying wholly on others to supply their simple wants.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR BOYS—ELDORA.

Superintendent—LYMAN D. DRAKE.
Steward—J. T. HARNETT.

Storekeeper—MARGARET McGRATH.

There is appropriated for the support of these schools the sum of $13 monthly for each boy and $16 monthly for each girl inmate.

The object of the institution is the reformation of juvenile delinquents. It is not a prison. It is a compulsory educational institution. It is a school where wayward and criminal boys and girls are brought under the influence of Christian instructors, and taught by example, as well as precept, the better ways of life. It is a training school, where the moral, intellectual and industrial education of the child is carried on at one and the same time.

With a few exceptions any boy or girl, over 7 and under 16 years of age, who has become habitually vagrant, disorderly or incorrigible or over the age of 9 and under the age of 16, found guilty of crime in a court of record may be committed to this school by any court of record. Any boy or girl may be discharged, or paroled from the school, at any time after one year's training, upon satisfactory evidence of reformation. They may also in exceptional cases be paroled or discharged in less than one year.

The State University of Iowa, established February 25, 1847, is an integral part of the public school system of the State. As required by law, the work of the University is based upon the preparation afforded by the duly accredited high schools of the State, whose graduates are admitted to the undergraduate and professional courses upon presentation of the proper certificates. A sense of this vital connection with the public schools determines, in a large measure, the requirements for admission to the University, its spirit, and its courses of study. The State through the University undertakes to furnish instruction in the various branches requisite for a liberal education in the liberal arts, law, medicine, dentistry, pharmacy, music, nursing, and in applied science, the various branches of engineering. It also aims to encourage research work in all departments, to produce creative scholars, and thus do its part in the enlargement of the domain of knowledge. Thus it is the general policy of the institution to foster the higher educational interests of the State, broadly and generously interpreted.

The control of the University is entrusted to a board of regents, consisting of the Governor of Iowa and the Superintendent of Public Instruction ex officio, and of one member elected by the general assembly from each of the eleven congressional districts.

The University maintains and is administered through the following organizations:

- The College of Liberal Arts;
- The College of Law;
- The College of Medicine;
- The College of Homeopathic Medicine;
- The College of Dentistry;
- The College of Pharmacy;
- The College of Applied Science;
- The Graduate College;
- The School of Music.

The College of Liberal Arts embraces:

Groups of Studies Leading to the Degree of B. A., and also of B. A. and LL.B., of B. S., and M. D., and of B. S. and D. D. S.

The School of Political and Social Science, which includes:

- A Course in Commerce;
- A Course in Administration;
- A Course in Practical Philanthropy;
- A Course in Modern History;
- A Summer Session of six weeks;

The College of Law embraces:

The Iowa Experiment Station was established in accordance with an act of congress, approved March 2, 1887, for the purpose of aiding "in acquiring and diffusing among the people of the United States useful and practical information on subjects connected with agriculture, and to promote scientific investigation and experiments respecting the principles and applications of agricultural science," under direction of the land grant colleges in each state and territory established by the act of 1862, creating such colleges. This act appropriated to each state and territory, for the purpose of agricultural investigation, the sum of $16,000 annually, and the experiment stations were thus established as a department of the land grant colleges. They are subject to the regulations of the United States department of agriculture, and are regularly inspected by officers of that department. The results of these investigations and experiments in agriculture, including live stock and all related branches, are published in bulletins issued by the experiment stations quarterly or oftener, and distributed free to all residents of the respective states who apply for them. The work of the Iowa Experiment Station along these lines has proved extremely popular and met with favor in all parts of the State and Nation, and many foreign countries as well. The reports of some of its experiments have been published entire by foreign governments, and the demand for bulletins is so large that applications outside of the State can no longer be supplied. These bulletins are free to farmers and citizens of Iowa.

IOWA ENGINEERING EXPERIMENT STATION STAFF.

- A. B. STORMS, A. M., D. D., LL. D., President.
 A. MARSTON, C. E., Director and Civil Engineer.
 G. W. BISSELL, M. E., Mechanical Engineer.
 L. E. SPINNEY, B. M. E., M. Sc., Electrical Engineer.
 S. W. BETER, B. Sc., Ph. D., Mining Engineer.
 W. H. MEEKER, M. E., Associate Mechanical Engineer.

The Iowa Engineering Experiment Station was established in accordance with an act of the State legislature in 1904 for the purpose of carrying on investigations and disseminating information helpful to the industrial interests of the State, outside of agriculture, in the same way that the Agricultural Experiment Station carries on work helpful to the agricultural interests of the State.

This act appropriated $5,000 for the fiscal years of 1904-1905 and 1905-1906 for such work. Upon the passage of the act considerable technical information became immediately available which had accumulated during the work of the Engineering Division of the State College for several years past. Fifteen Engineering Experiment Station bulletins have already been published, as follows:

Bulletin No. 1—"Iowa State College Sewage Disposal Plant and Investigations."

Bulletin No. 2—"Bacteriological Investigations of the Iowa State College Sewage."

Bulletin No. 3—"Data of Iowa Sewage and Sewage Disposal."

Bulletin No. 4—"The Chemical Composition of Sewage of the Iowa State College Sewage Plant."

Bulletin No. 5—"Bacteriological Investigation of the Ames Sewage Plant."

Bulletin No. 6—"Tests of Iowa Common Brick."

Bulletin No. 7—"Sewage Disposal in Iowa."

Bulletin No. 8—"Tests of Dry Press Brick Used in Iowa."

Bulletin No. 9—"Notes on Steam Generation with Iowa Coal."

Bulletin No. 11—"Bacterial Investigations of Sewage Disposal Plants."

Vol. II, No. 6—"The Good Roads Problem in Iowa."

Vol. III, No. 1—"Tests of Cement."

Vol. III, No. 2—"State Railroad Taxation."

Vol. III, No. 3—"Investigations of Iowa Coals."

Future bulletins on which work is under way and already partly completed will be issued on the following subjects:

"Examination of Iowa Sewage Disposal Plants, 1904 and 1905."

"Investigations of Automatic Stokers Using Iowa Coal."

"Lubricating Oils."

"Cement and Concrete Investigations."

"Feed Water for Boilers."

"Data of Waterworks."

"Ordinances of Iowa Cities Regulating Plumbing, Water Connections and Sewer Connections."

"Investigations of Iowa Limes."

"Electric Lamp Testing for Iowa Cities."

"Ten Railway Lectures."

The work of the Engineering Experiment Station will be continued in these and other lines, and is being carried on in close co-operation with the Iowa manufacturers, municipal officers and others especially interested in the industrial development of the State.

The bulletins of the Engineering Experiment Station are furnished free to residents of Iowa on request. The demand for those already published has been so great that the edition of Bulletin No. 1 is exhausted.

General Information.

The Normal School was established in 1876 as a school for the instruction and training of teachers for the public schools of the State. Its work is strictly confined to this province through the management, and is now the leading institution of its class in the United States, offering more and better opportunities for teachers than can be obtained elsewhere. The diplomas given are such as to designate the special line of teaching for which the graduate is prepared and are granted for completing courses that are definitely organized to accomplish such training in the best manner and the most reasonable time. These diplomas are Teacher of Kindergarten, Primary Teacher, Teacher of Manual Training, Teacher of Domestic Science, Teacher of Public School Music, Teacher of Physical Training, &c. The degrees Bachelor of Didactics, Master of Didactics and Bachelor of Arts in Education are conferred for the preparation that is needed for those graduates who are qualified for grammar grades, high school grades, principalships, superintendencies, specialization being allowed to such an extent in each case to guarantee that these graduates are individually able to do superior work in two or more lines.

The enrollment for 1905 and 1906 was as follows:

Regular Courses, practical teachers, 1,592; High School Graduate Courses, 764; Second Class Certificate Courses, 144; Training School pupils, 246; Total, 2,736.

The buildings and grounds are estimated to be worth $560,000, the equipment $200,000. The total expenditures from 1876 to 1906 were $1,741,426.36. The income for the school year 1906-07, including all fees and appropriations, will be approximately $200,000.

NATIONAL PLATFORM.

Fifty years ago the Republican party came into existence, dedicated among other purposes to the great task of arresting the extension of human slavery. In 1860 it elected its first President. During twenty-four of the forty-four years which have elapsed since the election of Lincoln the Republican party has held complete control of the Government. For eighteen more of the forty-four years it has held partial control through the possession of one or two branches of the Government, while the Democratic party during the same period has had complete control for only two years. This long tenure of power by the Republican party is not due to chance. It is a demonstration that the Republican party had commanded the confidence of the American people for nearly two generations to a degree never equaled in our history, and has displayed a high capacity for rule and government which has been made even more conspicuous by the incapacity and infirmity of purpose shown by its opponents.

CONDITIONS IN 1897.

The Republican party entered upon its present period of complete supremacy in 1897. We have every right to congratulate ourselves upon the work since then accomplished, for it has added lustre even to the traditions of the party which carried the Government through the storms of Civil War.

We then found the country, after four years of Democratic rule, in evil plight, oppressed with misfortune and doubtful of the future. Public credit had been lowered, the revenues were declining, the debt was growing, the administration's attitude toward Spain was feeble and mortifying, the standard of values was threatened and uncertain, labor was unemployed, business was sunk in the depression which had succeeded the panic of 1893, hope was faint and confidence was gone.

THE TARIFF LAW.

We met these unhappy conditions vigorously, effectively and at once. We replaced a Democratic tariff law based on free trade principles and garnished with sectional protection by a consistent protective tariff; and industry, freed from oppression and stimulated by the encouragement of wise laws, has expanded to a degree never before known, has conquered new markets and has created a volume of exports which has surpassed the imagination. Under the Dingley tariff labor has been fully employed, wages have risen and all industries have revived and prospered. We firmly established the gold standard which was then menaced with destruction. Confidence returned to business and with confidence an unexampled prosperity.

REVENUES.

For deficient revenues supplemented by improvident issues of bonds, we gave the country an income which produced a large surplus and which enabled us only four years after the Spanish war had closed to remove over one hundred millions of annual war taxes, reduce the public debt and lower the interest charges of the Government.

THE PUBLIC CREDIT RESTORED.

Public credit, which has been so lowered that in time of peace a Democratic administration made large loans at extravagant rates of interest in order to pay current expenditures, rose under Republican administration to its highest point, and enabled us to borrow at two per cent, even in time of war.

CUBA.

We refused to pæter longer with the miseries of Cuba. We fought a quick and victorious war with Spain. We set Cuba free, governed the Island for three years and then gave it to the Cuban people with order restored, with ample revenues, with education and public health established, free from debt and connected with the United States by wise provisions for our mutual interests.

PORTO RICO.

We have organized the government of Porto Rico and its people now enjoy peace, freedom, order and prosperity.

THE PHILIPPINES.

In the Philippines we have suppressed insurrection, established order and given to life and property a security never known there before. We have organized civil government, made it effective and strong in administration and have conferred upon the people of those islands the largest civil liberty they have ever enjoyed.

By our possession of the Philippines, we were enabled to take prompt and effective action in the relief of the legations at Pekin and a decisive part in preventing the partition and the preserving of the integrity of China.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The possession of a route for an isthmian canal, so long the dream of American statesmanship, is now an accomplished fact. The great work of connecting the Pacific and Atlantic by a canal is at last begun, and it is due to the Republican party.

THE ARID LANDS.

We have passed laws which will bring the arid lands of the United States within the area of cultivation.

THE ARMY AND NAVY.

We have reorganized the army and put it in the highest state of efficiency.

We have passed laws for the improvement and support of the militia.

We have pushed forward the building of the navy, the defense and the protection of our honor and our interests. Our administration of the great departments of the Government has been honest and efficient, and wherever wrongdoing has been discovered, the Republican administration has not hesitated to probe the evil and bring offenders to justice, without regard to party or political ties.

THE GREAT CORPORATIONS.

Laws enacted by the Republican party which the Democratic party failed to enforce and which were intended for the protection of the public against the unjust discrimination or the illegal encroachment of vast aggregations of capital, have been fearlessly enforced by a Republican President, and new laws insuring reasonable publicity as to the operations of great corporations and providing additional remedies for the prevention of discrimination in freight rates have been passed by a Republican Congress.

In this record of achievement during the past eight years may be read the pledges which the Republican party has fulfilled. We promise to continue these policies, and we declare our constant adherence to the following principles:

PROTECTION TO AMERICAN INDUSTRIES.

Protection which guards and develops our industries is a cardinal principle of the party. The measure of protection should always at least equal the difference in the cost of production at home and abroad. We insist upon the maintenance of the principle of protection, and therefore rates of duty should be readjusted only when conditions have so changed that the public interest demands their alteration, but this work cannot be safely committed to any other hands than those of the Republican party. To entrust it to the Democratic party is to invite disaster. Whether as in 1892, the Democratic party declares the protective tariff unconstitutional, and whether it demands tariff reform or tariff revisions, its real object is always the destruction of the protective system. However specious the name, the purpose is ever the same. A Democratic tariff has always been followed by business adversity, a Republican tariff by business prosperity. To a Republican Congress and a Republican President this great question can be safely entrusted. When the only free trade country among the great nations agitates a return to protection, the chief protective country should not falter in maintaining it.

FOREIGN MARKETS EXTENDED.

We have extended widely our foreign markets, and we believe in the adoption of all practicable methods for their further extension, including commercial reciprocity wherever reciprocal arrangements can be effected consistent with the principles of protection and without injury to American agriculture, American labor or any American industry.

We believe it to be the duty of the Republican party to uphold the gold standard and the integrity and value of our national currency.

THE GOLD STANDARD.

The maintenance of the gold standard, established by the Republican party, can not safely be committed to the Democratic party, which resisted its adoption and has never given any proof since that time of belief in it or fidelity to it.

AMERICAN SHIPPING.

While every other industry has prospered under the fostering aid of Republican legislation, American shipping engaged in foreign trade in competition with the low cost of construction, low wages and heavy subsidies of foreign governments, has not for many years received from the Government of the United States adequate encouragement of any kind. We therefore favor legislation which will encourage and build up the American merchant marine and we cordially approve the legislation of the last Congress which created the merchant marine commission to investigate and report upon this subject. A navy powerful enough to defend the United States against any attack, to uphold the Monroe doctrine and watch over our commerce is essential to the safety and the welfare of the American people. To maintain such a navy is the fixed policy of the Republican party.

CHINESE LABOR.

We cordially approve the attitude of President Roosevelt and Congress in regard to the exclusion of Chinese labor and promise a continuance of the Republican party in that direction.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The civil service law was placed on the statute books by the Republican party which has always sustained it, and renew our former declarations that it shall be thoroughly and honestly enforced.

THE SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

We are always mindful of the country's debt to the soldiers and sailors of the United States and we believe in making ample provisions for them in the liberal administration of the pension laws.

ARBITRATION.

We favor the peaceful settlement of international differences by arbitration.

PROTECTION OF CITIZENS ABOARD.

We commend the vigorous efforts made by the administration to protect American citizens in foreign lands and pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and equal protection of all our citizens abroad. It is the unquestioned duty of the Government to procure for all our citizens, without distinction, the rights of travel and sojourn in friendly countries, and we declare ourselves in favor of all proper efforts tending to that end.

THE ORIENT.

Our great interests and our growing commerce in the Orient render the condition of China of high importance to the United States. We cordially commend the policy pursued in that direction by the administrations of President McKinley and President Roosevelt.

THE ELECTIVE FRANCHISE.

We favor such Congressional action as shall determine whether by special discriminations the elective franchise in any State has been unconstitutionally limited, and if such is the case we demand that representation in Congress and in the electoral college shall be proportionately reduced as directed by the Constitution of the United States.

COMBINATIONS OF CAPITAL AND OF LABOR.

Combinations of capital and of labor are the results of the economic movement of the age, but neither must be permitted to infringe upon the rights and interests of the people. Such combinations when lawfully formed for lawful purposes are alike entitled to the protection of the laws, but both are subject to the laws and neither can be permitted to break them.

OUR LAMENTED PRESIDENT.

The great statesman and patriotic citizen, William McKinley, who was re-elected by the Republican party to the presidency four years ago, was assassinated just at the threshold of his second term. The entire Nation mourned his untimely death and did that justice to his great qualities of mind and character which history will confirm and repeat.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT.

The American people were fortunate in his successor, to whom they turned with a trust and confidence which have been fully justified. President Roosevelt brought to the great responsibilities thus sadly forced upon him, a clear head, a brave heart, an earnest patriotism and a high ideal of public duty and public service. True to the principles of the Republican party and to the policies which that party had declared, he has also shown himself ready for every emergency and has met new and vital questions with ability and with success.

The confidence of the people in his justice, inspired by his public career, enabled him to render personally an inestimable service to the country by bringing about a settlement of the coal strike which threatened such disastrous results at the opening of the winter of 1902.

Our foreign policy under his administration has not only been able, vigorous and dignified, but in the highest degree successful. The complicated questions which arose in Venezuela were settled in such a way by President Roosevelt that the Monroe doctrine was singularly vindicated and the cause of peace and arbitration greatly advanced. His prompt and vigorous action in Panama, which we commend in the highest terms, not only secured to us the canal route, but avoided foreign complications which might have been of a very serious character.

He has continued the policy of President McKinley in the Orient and our position in China, signalized by our recent commercial treaty with that empire, has never been so high. He secured the tribunal by which the vexed and perilous question of the Alaska boundary was finally settled.

Whenever crimes against humanity have been perpetrated which have shocked our people his protest has been made and our good offices have been tendered, but always with due regard to international obligations.

Under his guidance we find ourselves at peace with all the world and never were we more respected or our wishes more regarded by foreign nations. Pre-eminently successful in regard to our foreign relations, the President has been equally fortunate in dealing with the domestic questions. The country has known that the public credit and the national currency were absolutely safe in the hands of his administration. In the enforcement of the laws he has shown not only courage, but the wisdom which understands that to permit laws to be violated or disregarded opens the door to anarchy, while the just enforcement of the law is the soundest conservatism. He has held firmly to the fundamental American doctrine that all men must obey the law, that there must be no distinction between rich and poor, between strong and weak, but that justice and equal protection under the law must be secured to every citizen without regard to race, creed or condition.

His administration has been throughout vigorous and honorable, high-minded and patriotic. We commend it without reservation to the considerate judgment of the American people.

STATE CONVENTION OF 1904 TO SELECT DELEGATES TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION.

The State convention to select delegates to attend the national convention at Chicago, Ill., met at Des Moines, May 18, 1904.

Temporary Chairman—HON. JOHN M. IRWIN, of Keokuk, Lee county.

Permanent Chairman—HON. JOHN A. T. HULL, of Des Moines, Polk county.

Secretary—E. W. WEEKS, of Guthrie Center, Guthrie county.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The Republicans of Iowa congratulate the country upon the general prosperity which prevails; upon the triumph of the home and foreign policies of the Republican party—wise policies which are the fulfillment of the pledges of the party.

2. We congratulate the country also upon the adjustment of the Alaskan boundary dispute and work done in preventing the partition of China, and for the assertion of American rights in the far East.

3. We are proud of the influence of Iowa's two members of the cabinet, and of the constant, able and wide influence that is at all times exercised by Iowa's members of the Senate and House.

4. We commend the record of Governor Cummins, the various State officers and the General Assembly in the successful conduct of the affairs of the State.

5. We endorse the administration of President Theodore Roosevelt, and instruct our delegates-at-large to the Republican national convention, and recommend to the delegates from the several congressional districts to do all in their power to secure his unanimous nomination. President Roosevelt, called to authority under most distressing circumstances, took up the presidency with a full appreciation of the responsibilities of the position. His course has been able, courageous, patriotic; he has no ambition but to serve his country. We commend him for his splendid administration, and believe every American, regardless of party, confides in his ability, patriotism and integrity. His firmness in the right, as he sees it, and his promptness and wisdom have won the admiration not only of our own people but of the world at large. He is the worthy successor of William McKinley, whose death the American people sincerely mourn.

6. We believe in the protective tariff, which builds American factories, makes possible great and small American industries and gives employment to American labor. We believe in the American home market for the products of American farms, factories and shops. We believe it unwise to seek markets abroad by first sacrificing some part of the markets at home. And equally unwise to legislate in a manner to provoke American industries to making war upon each other. Under the protective system, newly inaugurated in 1897, the country has enjoyed unusual prosperity. Protective duties have kept work and wages at home and have furnished the revenue with which to pay the expenses of a foreign war, to rebuild the navy, to enlarge and newly equip the army, to extend our coast defenses and have made possible the Nation's expansion. Fortified by the advantages and benefits of a great home market the American manufacturers have thus had the courage and the capital with which to invade foreign markets. Our tariff system by giving assurance to the world that the revenues are ample has advanced the credit of the Nation to the first position; the same policy has converted our people into lenders instead of borrowers. We declare for faithful adherence to this system which found its highest fulfillment in laws bearing the names of William McKinley and Nelson Dingley.

7. We are in favor of reciprocity in non-competitive products only.

8. We are opposed to trusts and combines, of whatever nature organized to extort undue and exorbitant profits from the people. We rejoice in the success of President Roosevelt in his efforts to enforce in the courts the laws of Congress made to curb the improper exercise of power by these great organizations.

9. We commend the Congress and administration for the constant progress made in building an American navy; and in making certain the early realization of the aspirations of the American people by the acquisition and completion of the Panama canal.

10. To the soldiers and sailors of the republic, suitable pensions should be paid for disabilities incurred and for wounds received.

11. This convention of republicans can not conclude its labors without an expression of regret on account of the death of the chairman of the national republican committee, Senator Marcus A. Hanna, of Ohio, who exemplified in his life and character the ideal of the true American business man and patriotic citizen.

NATIONAL PLATFORM.

The Democratic party of the United States, in national convention assembled, declares its devotion to the essential principles of the Democratic faith which bring us together in party communion.

Under these principles, local self-government and national unity and prosperity were alike established. They underlaid our independence, the structure of our free republic, and every Democratic expansion from Louisiana to California, and Texas to Oregon, which preserved faithfully in all the States the tie between taxation and representation. They yet inspirit the masses of our people, guarding jealously their rights and liberties, and cherishing their fraternity, peace and orderly development. They remind us of our duties and responsibilities as citizens, and impress upon us, particularly at this time, the necessity of reform and the rescue of the administration of government from the headstrong, arbitrary and spasmodic methods which distract business by uncertainty, and pervade the public mind with dread, distrust and perturbation.

FUNDAMENTAL PRINCIPLES.

The application of these fundamental principles to the living issues of the day constitutes the first step toward the assured peace, safety and progress of our Nation. Freedom of the press, of conscience, and of speech; equality before the law of all citizens; right of trial by jury; freedom of the person defended by the writ of habeas corpus; liberty of personal contract untrammelled by sumptuary laws; supremacy of the civil over military authority; a well disciplined militia; separation of church and state; economy in expenditures; low taxes, that labor may be lightly burdened; prompt and sacred fulfillment of public and private obligations; fidelity to treaties; peace and friendship with all nations; entangling alliances with none; absolute acquiescence in the will of the majority, the vital principles of republics—these are doctrines which Democracy has established as proverbs of the Nation, and they should be constantly invoked and enforced.

ECONOMY OF ADMINISTRATION.

Large reductions can easily be made in the annual expenditures of the Government without impairing the efficiency of any branch of the public service, and we shall insist upon the strictest economy and frugality compatible with vigorous and efficient civil, military and naval administration as a right of the people too clear to be denied or withheld.

HONESTY IN THE PUBLIC SERVICE.

We favor the enforcement of honesty in the public service, and to that end a thorough legislative investigation of those executive departments of the Government already known to teem with corruption, as well as other departments suspected of harboring corruption, and the punishment of ascertained corruptionists without fear or favor or regard to persons. The persistent and deliberate refusal of both the Senate and House of Representatives to permit such investigation to be made demonstrates that only by a change in the executive and in the legislative departments can complete exposure, punishment and correction be obtained.

FEDERAL GOVERNMENT CONTRACTS WITH TRUSTS.

We condemn the action of the Republican party in Congress in refusing to prohibit an executive department from entering into contracts with convicted trusts or unlawful combinations in restraint of interstate trade. We believe that one of the best methods of procuring economy and honesty in the public service is to have public officials, from the occupant of the White House down to the lowest of them, returned as nearly as may be to Jeffersonian simplicity of living.

EXECUTIVE USURPATION.

We favor the nomination and election of a President imbued with the principles of the constitution who will set his face sternly against executive usurpation of legislative and judicial functions, whether that usurpation be veiled under the guise of executive construction of existing laws, or whether it take refuge in the tyrants' plea of necessity, or superior wisdom.

IMPERIALISM.

We favor the preservation, so far as we can, of an open door for the world's commerce in the Orient, without unnecessary entanglement in Oriental and European affairs and without arbitrary, unlimited, irresponsible, and absolute government anywhere within our jurisdiction. We oppose as fervently as did George Washington an indefinite, irresponsible, discretionary and vague absolutism and a policy of colonial exploitation, no matter where or by whom invoked or exercised; we believe with Thomas Jefferson and John Adams that no government has a right to make one set of laws for those "at home" and another and a different set of laws, absolute in their character, for those "in the colonies." All men under the American flag are entitled to the protection of the institutions whose emblem the flag is; if they are inherently unfit for those institutions then they are inherently unfit to be members of the American body politic. Wherever they may exist a people incapable of being governed under American laws, in consonance with the American Constitution, the territory of that people ought not to be a part of the American domain.

We insist we ought to do for the Filipinos what we have done already for the Cubans, and it is our duty to make that promise now and upon suitable guarantees of protection to citizens of our own and other countries resident there at the time of our withdrawal, to see the Filipino people upon their feet, free and independent to work out their own destiny.

The endeavor of the Secretary of War, by pledging the Government's indorsement for "promoters" in the Philippine Islands to make the United States a partner in speculative exploitation of the archipelago, which was only temporarily held up by the opposition of Democratic Senators in the last session, will, if successful, lead to entanglements from which it will be difficult to escape.

TARIFF.

The Democratic party has been, and will continue to be, the consistent opponent of that class of tariff legislation by which certain interests have been permitted, through Congressional favor, to draw a heavy tribute from the American people. This monstrous perversion of those equal opportunities which our political institutions were established to secure has caused what may once have been infant industries to become the greatest combinations of capital that the world has ever known. These especial favorites of the Government have, through trust methods, been converted into monopolies, thus bringing to an end domestic competition, which was the only alleged check upon the extravagant profits made possible by the protective system. These industrial combinations, by the financial assistance they can give, now control the policy of the Republican party.

We denounce protection as a robbery of the many to enrich the few, and we favor a tariff limited to the needs of the Government, economically, effectively and constitutionally administered, and so levied as not to discriminate against any industry, class or section, to the end that the burdens of taxation shall be distributed as equally as possible.

We favor a revision and gradual reduction of the tariff by the friends of the masses and for the common weal and not by the friends of its abuses, its extortions, and its discriminations, keeping in view the ultimate end of "equality of burdens and equality of opportunities" and the constitutional purpose of raising a revenue by taxation, to wit, the support of the Federal Government in all its integrity and virility, but in simplicity.

TRUSTS AND UNLAWFUL COMBINATIONS.

We recognize that the gigantic trusts and combinations designed to enable capital to secure more than its just share of the joint products of capital and labor, and which have been fostered and promoted under Republican rule, are a menace to beneficial competition and an obstacle to permanent business prosperity. A private monopoly is indefensible and intolerable.

Individual equality of opportunity and free competition are essential to a healthy and permanent commercial prosperity and any trust, combination, or monopoly tending to destroy these by controlling production, restricting competition, or fixing prices and wages should be prohibited and punished by law. We especially denounce rebates and discriminations by transportation companies as the most potent agency in promoting and strengthening these unlawful conspiracies against trade.

We demand an enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission, to the end that the traveling public and shippers of this country may have prompt and adequate relief from the abuses to which they are subjected in the matter of transportation. We demand a strict enforcement of existing civil and criminal statutes against all such trusts, combinations, and monopolies; and we demand the enactment of such further legislation as may be necessary effectually to suppress them.

Any trust or unlawful combination engaged in interstate commerce which is monopolizing any branch of business or production should not be permitted to transact business outside of the State of its origin. Whenever it shall be established in any court of competent jurisdiction that such monopolization exists, such prohibition should be enforced through comprehensive laws to be enacted on the subject.

CAPITAL AND LABOR.

We favor the enactment and administration of laws giving labor and capital impartially their just rights. Capital and labor ought not to be enemies. Each is necessary to the other. Each has its rights, but the rights of labor are certainly no less "vested," no less "sacred" and no less "inalienable" than the rights of capital.

We favor the arbitration of differences between corporate employers and their employes, and a strict enforcement of the eight-hour law on all Government work.

We approve the measure which passed the United States Senate in 1896, but which a Republican Congress has ever since refused to enact, relating to contempts in federal courts, and providing for trial by jury in cases of indirect contempt.

CONSTITUTIONAL GUARANTEES.

Constitutional guarantees are violated whenever any citizen is denied the right to labor, acquire and enjoy property, or reside where interest or inclination may determine. Any denial thereof by individuals, organizations, or governments should be summarily rebuked and punished.

We deny the right of any executive to disregard or suspend any constitutional privilege or limitation. Obedience to the laws and respect for their requirements are alike the supreme duty of the citizen and the official.

The military should be used only to support and maintain the law. We unqualifiedly condemn its employment for the summary banishment of citizens without trial or for the control of elections.

WATERWAYS.

We favor liberal appropriations for the care and improvement of the waterways of the country. When any waterway, like the Mississippi River, is of sufficient importance to demand the special aid of the Government, such aid should be extended with a definite plan of continuous work until permanent improvement is secured.

We oppose the Republican policy of starving home development in order to feed the greed for conquest and the appetite for national "prestige" and display of strength.

RECLAMATION OF ARID LANDS AND DOMESTIC DEVELOPMENT.

We congratulate our Western citizens upon the passage of the measure known as the Newlands irrigation act for the irrigation and reclamation of the arid lands of the West; a measure framed by a Democrat, passed in the Senate by a non-partisan vote, and passed in the House against the opposition of almost all of the Republican leaders by a vote the majority of which was Democratic.

We call attention to this great Democratic measure, broad and comprehensive as it is, working automatically throughout all time without further action of Congress, until the reclamation of all the lands in the arid West capable of reclamation is accomplished, reserving the lands reclaimed for homeseekers in small tracts, and rigidly guarded against land monopoly, as an evidence of the policy of domestic development contemplated by the Democratic party, should it be placed in power.

THE ISTHMIAN CANAL.

The Democracy, when intrusted with power, will construct the Panama Canal speedily, honestly, and economically, thereby giving to our people what Democrats have always contended for—a great inter-oceanic canal, furnishing shorter and cheaper lines of transportation, and broader and less trammelled trade relations with the other peoples of the world.

AMERICAN CITIZENSHIP.

We pledge ourselves to insist upon the just and lawful protection of our citizens at home and abroad, and to use all proper measures to secure for them, whether native born or naturalized, and without distinction of race or creed, the equal protection of laws and the enjoyment of all rights and privileges open to them under the covenants of our treaties of friendship and commerce, and if under existing treaties the right of travel and sojourn is denied to American citizens, or recognition is withheld from American passports by any countries on the ground of race or creed, we favor the beginning of negotiations with the governments of such countries to secure by new treaties the removal of these unjust discriminations.

We demand that all over the world a duly authenticated passport issued by the Government of the United States to an American citizen shall be proof of the fact that he is an American citizen and shall entitle him to the treatment due him as such.

ELECTION OF SENATORS BY THE PEOPLE.

We favor the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people.

STATEHOOD FOR TERRITORIES.

We favor the admission of the Territory of Oklahoma and the Indian Territory. We also favor the immediate admission of Arizona and New Mexico as separate States and territorial governments for Alaska and Porto Rico.

We hold that the officials appointed to administer the government of any territory, as well as with the district of Alaska, should be bona fide residents at the time of their appointment of the territory or district in which their duties are to be performed.

CONDEMNATION OF POLYGAMY.

We demand the extermination of polygamy within the jurisdiction of the United States and the complete separation of church and state in political affairs.

MERCHANT MARINE.

We denounce the ship subsidy bill recently passed by the United States Senate as an iniquitous appropriation of public funds for private purposes, and a wasteful, illogical and useless attempt to overcome by subsidy the obstructions raised by Republican legislation to the growth and development of American commerce on the sea.

We favor the upbuilding of a merchant marine without new or additional burdens upon the people and without bounties from the public treasury.

RECIPROCITY.

We favor liberal trade arrangements with Canada and with peoples of other countries where they can be entered into with benefit to American agriculture, manufactures, mining or commerce.

MONROE DOCTRINE.

We favor the maintenance of the Monroe doctrine in its full integrity.

ARMY.

We favor the reduction of the army and of army expenditures to the point historically demonstrated to be safe and sufficient.

PENSIONS FOR OUR SOLDIERS AND SAILORS.

The Democracy would secure to the surviving soldiers and sailors and their dependents generous pensions, not by arbitrary executive order, but by legislation, which a grateful people stands ready to enact.

Our soldiers and sailors who defend with their lives the Constitution and the laws have a sacred interest in their just administration. They must, therefore, share with us the humiliation with which we have witnessed the exaltation of court favorites, without distinguished service, over the scarred heroes of many battles; or aggrandizement by executive appropriations out of the treasuries of prostrate peoples in violation of the act of Congress which fixes the compensation of allowances of the military officers.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The Democratic party stands committed to the principles of civil service reform, and we demand their honest, just and impartial enforcement.

We denounce the Republican party for its continuous and sinister encroachment upon the spirit and operation of civil service rules, whereby it has arbitrarily dispensed with examinations for office in the interests of favorites and employed all manner of devices to overreach and set aside the principles upon which the civil service was based.

SECTIONAL AND RACE AGITATION.

The race question has brought countless woes to this country. The calm wisdom of the American people should see to it that it brings no more.

To revive the dead and hateful race and sectional animosities in any part of our common country means confusion, distraction of business, and the reopening of wounds now happily healed. North, South, East and West have but recently stood together in line of battle from the walls of Peking to the hills of Santiago, and as sharers of common glory and a common destiny we should share fraternally the common burdens.

We, therefore, deprecate and condemn the Bourbon-like, selfish and narrow spirit of the recent Republican convention at Chicago, which sought to kindle anew the embers of racial and sectional strife, and we appeal from it to the sober, common sense and patriotic spirit of the American people.

THE REPUBLICAN ADMINISTRATION.

The existing Republican administration has been spasmodic, erratic, sensational, spectacular, and arbitrary. It has made itself a satire upon the Congress, courts, and upon the settled practices and usages of national and international law.

It summoned the Congress in hasty and futile extra session, and virtually adjourned it, leaving behind in its flight from Washington uncalled calendars and unaccomplished tasks.

It made war, which is the sole power of Congress, without its authority, thereby usurping one of its fundamental prerogatives. It violated a plain statute of the United States as well as plain treaty obligations, international usages and constitutional law; and has done so under pretense of executing a great public policy which could have been more easily effected lawfully, constitutionally, and with honor.

It forced strained and unnatural constructions upon statutes usurping judicial interpretation, and substituting for Congressional enactment executive decree.

It withdrew from the Congress its customary duties of investigation, which have heretofore made the representatives of the people and the states the terror of evil doers.

It conducted a secretive investigation of its own and boasting of a few sample convicts, it threw a broad coverlet over the bureaus which had been their chosen field of operative abuses and kept in power the superior officers under whose administration the crimes had been committed.

It ordered assault upon some monopolies, but paralyzed by a first victory, it flung out the flag of truce and cried out that it would not "run amuck"—leaving its future purposes beclouded by its vacillations.

APPEAL TO THE PEOPLE.

Conducting the campaign upon this declaration of our principles and purposes, we invoke for our candidates the support not only of our great and time-honored organization, but also the active assistance of all of our fellow-citizens, who, disregarding past differences, desire the perpetuation of our constitutional government, as framed and established by the fathers of the Republic.

JUDGE PARKER'S TELEGRAM.

I regard the gold standard as firmly and irrevocably established and shall act accordingly if the action of the convention today shall be ratified by the people. As the platform is silent on the subject, my views should be made known to the convention, and if it is proved to be unsatisfactory to the majority I request you to decline the nomination for me at once so that another may be nominated before adjournment.

ALTON B. PARKER.

REPLY OF CONVENTION.

"The platform adopted by this convention is silent on the question of the monetary standard because it is not regarded by us as a possible issue in this campaign, and only campaign issues are mentioned in the platform. Therefore there is nothing in the views expressed by you in the telegram just received which would preclude a man entertaining them from accepting the nomination on said platform."

STATE CONVENTION OF 1904 TO SELECT DELEGATES TO THE NATIONAL CONVENTION. ●

The state convention to select delegates to the national convention at St. Louis, Mo., met at Des Moines, May 4, 1904.

Temporary Chairman—G. W. CULLISON, of Harlan, Shelby county.

Permanent Chairman—WALT H. BUTLER, of Des Moines, Polk county.

RESOLUTIONS ADOPTED.

The representatives of the Democratic party in Iowa reaffirm their loyalty to the historic principles of the national party and express their confident belief that upon such a broad basis the Democrats of the entire Nation can and will, present once more a solid front to the common enemy.

We declare

First—The historic principles of justice, equality and liberty upon which our party is founded were never more urgently required than now in the solution of the grave questions pressing upon us. Among these are taxation for public purposes only, local self-government and the observance of the just rights of the states under the Constitution, the freedom of the individual, unhindered by governmental interference, except to the extent demanded by law and good order. The equality of all men before the law with special privileges to none, economy in public expenditures, honesty in the public service and strict enforcement of all law without fear or favor. These are not mere generalities, they are essentials.

Second—That we recognize in the predatory trusts the greatest danger that has ever threatened the life of the Nation and the welfare of the people and we denounce their scheme of levying tribute upon all producers and consumers as a modern system of brigandage which while masquerading under the cloak of the law in fact makes of law a mockery and justice a farce. In utter disregard of the natural and constitutional rights of the farmers, the merchants and the great army of wage earners the trusts have ruthlessly seized upon every branch of production and distribution until every avenue of human endeavor is compelled to bow at the behest of these conscienceless criminals and pay tribute or cease to exist.

Third—That we denounce the vicious tariff system fostered and perpetuated by the Republican party under which the trusts have been born, bred, fattened and the species multiplied until they have every industrial and commercial interest by the throat and we demand the repeal of every tariff which denies "equal opportunities for all."

Fourth—That in William Randolph Hearst we recognize a living exponent of true Democratic faith. We hail him as the sworn and unconquerable foe of all predatory trusts, an untiring defender of the rights and liberties of the people, a true friend of labor and all legitimate business and withal a patriotic American. We commend his unselfish work for the people as a congressman, as an editor and as a private citizen in the courts where trust-owned Republican officials brazenly ignore the law and refuse to do their sworn duty and we declare him to be our choice as the Democratic nominee for President of the United States and hereby instruct our delegates to the National Convention to be held in St. Louis July 6th to vote for his nomination and use all honorable means to secure his nomination.

NATIONAL PLATFORM.

The Prohibition party in National convention assembled, recognizing that the chief end of all governments is the establishment of righteousness and justice, and believing in the perpetuation of the high ideals of a government of the people, by the people and for the people, established by our fathers, make the following declaration of principles and purposes:

THE MOST IMPORTANT QUESTION IN AMERICAN POLITICS.

I. The widely prevailing system of licensed and legalized sale of alcoholic beverages is so ruinous to individual interests, so inimical to public welfare, so destructive to National wealth and so subversive of the rights of great masses of our citizenship, that the destruction of the traffic is, and for years has been, the most important question in American politics.

IS IGNORED BY DEMOCRATIC AND REPUBLICAN LEADERS.

II. We denounce the lack of statesmanship exhibited by the leaders of the Democratic and Republican parties in their refusal to recognize the paramount importance of this question, and the cowardice with which the leaders of these parties have courted the favor of those whose selfish interests are advanced by the continuation and augmentation of the traffic, until today the influence of the liquor traffic practically dominates National, State and local governments throughout the Nation.

REGULATION A FAILURE—LICENSE MONEY A BRIBE.

III. We declare the truth demonstrated by the experience of half a century, that all methods of dealing with the liquor traffic which recognize its right to exist, in any form, under any system of license or tax or regulation, have proved powerless to remove its evils, and useless as checks upon its growth, while the insignificant public revenues which have accrued therefrom have seared the public conscience against a recognition of its iniquity.

PROHIBITORY LAW, ADMINISTERED BY ITS FRIENDS, THE ONLY HOPE.

IV. We call public attention to the fact, proved by the experience of more than fifty years, that to secure the enactment and enforcement of prohibitory legislation, in which alone lies the hope of the protection of the people from the liquor traffic, it is necessary that the legislative, executive and judicial branches of government should be in the hands of the political party in harmony with the prohibition principle, and pledged to its embodiment in law, and to the execution of those laws.

PARTY WILL ENACT AND ENFORCE PROHIBITORY LAWS.

V. We pledge the Prohibition party, wherever given power by the suffrages of the people, to the enactment and enforcement of laws prohibiting and abolishing the manufacture, importation, transportation and sale of alcoholic beverages.

NO OTHER ISSUE OF EQUAL IMPORTANCE.

VI. We declare that there is not only no other issue of equal importance before the American people today, but that the so-called issues upon which the Democratic and Republican parties seek to divide the electorate of the country are, in large part, subterfuges under the cover of which they wrangle for the spoils of office.

PARTY ATTITUDE ON OTHER PUBLIC QUESTIONS.

VII. Recognizing that the intelligent voters of the country may properly ask our attitude upon other questions of public concern, we declare ourselves in favor of:

The impartial enforcement of all law.

The safeguarding of the people's rights by a rigid application of the principles of justice to all combinations and organizations of capital and labor.

The recognition of the fact that the right of suffrage should depend upon the mental and moral qualifications of the citizen.

A more intimate relation between the people and government, by a wise application of the principle of the initiative and referendum.

Such changes in our laws as will place tariff schedules in the hands of an omni-partisan commission.

The application of uniform laws to all our country and dependencies.

The election of United States Senators by vote of the people.

The extension and honest administration of the civil service laws.

The safeguarding of every citizen in every place under the government of the people of the United States, in all the rights guaranteed by the laws and the Constitution.

International arbitration, and we declare that our Nation should contribute, in every manner consistent with national dignity, to the permanent establishment of peace between all nations.

The reform of our divorce laws, the final extirpation of polygamy, and the total overthrow of the present shameful system of the illegal sanction of the social evil, with its unspeakable traffic in girls, by the municipal authorities of almost all our cities.

STATE PLATFORM.

We, the Prohibitionists of Iowa in State convention assembled, recognize Almighty God as ruler of the universe, and His law as the standard of human law.

Whereas, the great weight of public opinion, among all classes of citizenship, among all departments of commercialism, among all moral and religious organizations, among statesmen, scholars and philanthropists, recognizes in the legalized liquor traffic men's mental, moral and financial ruin, and in the organized liquor traffic, a spirit of anarchy, endangering the liberties of our people and the flag of the republic; it realizes that the perpetuity of the Nation, now menaced by such a foe to Christian citizenship entrenched in organization, can be preserved only by uniting at the ballot box, the citizenship that stands for good government and the enforcement of the law, in support of a political party whose platform declarations carry conviction to the voting masses that if given power it will carry out its pledges.

Resolved, 1. Therefore, we the Prohibition party of the State of Iowa, reaffirm our former pledges, if given power, to prohibit the manufacture, sale, importation and exportation of intoxicants for beverage purposes. We declare for good government and enforcement of law and pledge our sacred honor to conduct the authority entrusted to us to this end.

2. We are opposed to the principle of taxation without representation, therefore, we stand for a universal qualification for the right of suffrage, regardless of sex.

3. Since the safety of government and the people's will depends so largely on the law making power, being so closely related to its constituency, we declare for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

4. To guard against corrupt legislators and class legislation, that so often thwart the will of the people, we declare for the initiative and referendum system of government.

5. To remove the danger of panics because of tariff revision, as well as the menace to trade during presidential campaigns resulting from the discussion of tariff changes, we favor a tariff commission, non-partisan in character, to study the commerce and trade relations of nations and make proper recommendations of tariff changes to Congress whenever the people's interests demand it.

NATIONAL PLATFORM.

The Socialist party, in convention assembled, makes its appeal to the American people as the defender and preserver of the idea of liberty and self-government, in which the nation was born; as the only political movement standing for the program and principles by which the liberty of the individual may become a fact; as the only political organization that is democratic, and that has for its purpose the democratizing of the whole of society.

To this idea of liberty the Republican and Democratic parties are equally false. They alike struggle for power to maintain and profit by an industrial system which can be preserved only by the complete overthrow of such liberties as we already have, and by the still further enslavement and degradation of labor.

Our American institutions came into the world in the name of freedom. They have been seized upon by the capitalist class as the means of rooting out the idea of freedom from among the people. Our state and national legislatures have become the mere agencies of great propertied interests. These interests control the appointments and decisions of the judges of our courts. They have come into what is practically a private ownership of all the functions and forces of government. They are using these to betray and conquer foreign and weaker peoples, in order to establish new markets for the surplus goods which the people make, but are too poor to buy. They are gradually so invading and restricting the right of suffrage as to take away unawares the right of the worker to a vote or voice in public affairs. By enacting new and misinterpreting old laws, they are preparing to attack the liberty of the individual even to speak or think for himself, or for the common good.

By controlling all the sources of social revenue, the possessing class is able to silence what might be the voice of protest against the passing of liberty and the coming of tyranny. It completely controls the university and public school, the pulpit and the press, and the arts and literatures. By making these economically dependent upon itself, it has brought all the forms of public teaching into servile submission to its own interests.

Our political institutions are also being used as the destroyers of that individual property upon which all liberty and opportunity depends. The promise of economic independence to each man was one of the faiths upon which our institutions were founded. But, under the guise of defending private property, capitalism is using our political institutions to make it impossible for the vast majority of human beings ever to become possessors of private property in the means of life.

Capitalism is the enemy and destroyer of essential private property. Its development is through the legalized confiscation of all that the labor of the working class produces, above its subsistence-wage. The private ownership of the means of employment grounds society in an economic slavery which renders intellectual and political tyranny inevitable.

Socialism comes so to organize industry and society that every individual shall be secure in that private property in the means of life upon which his liberty of being, thought and action depends. It comes to rescue the people from the fast increasing and successful assault of capitalism upon the liberty of the individual.

II.

As an American Socialist party, we pledge our fidelity to the principles of international socialism, as embodied in the united thought and actions of the socialists of all nations. In the industrial development already accomplished, the interest of the world's workers are separated by no national boundaries. The condition of the most exploited and oppressed workers, in the most remote places of the earth, inevitably tends to drag down all the workers of the world to the same level. The tendency of the competitive wage system is to make labor's lowest condition the measure or rule of its universal condition. Industry and finance are no longer national but international, in both organization and results. The chief significance of national boundaries, and of the so-called patriotisms which the ruling class of each nation is seeking to revive, is the power which these give to capitalism to keep the workers of the world from uniting, and to throw them against each other in the struggles of contending capitalist interests for the control of the yet unexplored markets of the world, or the remaining sources of profit.

The socialist movement, therefore, is a world movement. It knows of no conflicts of interest between the workers of one nation and the workers of another. It stands for the freedom of the workers of all nations; and, in so standing it makes for the full freedom of all humanity.

III.

The socialist movement owes its birth and growth to that economic development or world process which is rapidly separating a working or producing class from a possessing or capitalist class. The class that produces nothing possesses labor's fruits, and the opportunities and enjoyments these fruits afford, while the class that does the world's real work has increasing economic uncertainty, and physical and intellectual misery, for its portion.

The fact that these two classes have not yet become fully conscious of their distinction from each other, the fact that the lines of division and interest may not yet be clearly drawn, does not change the fact of the class conflict.

This class struggle is due to the private ownership of the means of employment, or the tools of production. Wherever and whenever a man owned his own land and tools, and by them produced only the things which he used, economic independence was possible. But production, or the making of goods, has long ceased to be individual. The labor of scores, or even thousands enters into almost every article produced. Production is now social or collective. Practically everything is made or done by many men—sometimes separated by seas and continents—working together for the same end. But this co-operation in production is not for the direct use of the things made by the workers who make them, but for the profit of the owners of the tools and means of production; and to this is due the present division of society into two classes; and from it have sprung all the miseries, inharmonies and contradictions of our civilization.

Between these two classes there can be no possible compromise or identity of interests, any more than there can be peace in the midst of war, or light in the midst of darkness. A society based upon this class division carries in itself the seeds of its own destruction. Such a society is founded in fundamental injustice. There can be no possible basis for social peace, for individual freedom, for mental and moral harmony, except in the conscious and complete triumph of the working class as the only class that has the right or power to be.

IV.

The socialist program is not a theory imposed upon society for its acceptance or rejection. It is but the interpretation of what is, sooner or later, inevitable. Capitalism is already struggling to its destruction. It is no longer competent to organize or administer the work of the world, or even to preserve itself. The captains of industry are appalled at their own inability to control or direct the rapidly socializing forces of industry. The so-called trust is but a sign and form of the developing socialism of the world's work. The universal increase of the uncertainty of employment, the universal capitalist determination to break down the unity of labor in the trades unions, the widespread apprehensions of impending change, reveal that the institutions of capitalist society are passing under the power of inhering forces that will soon destroy them.

Into the midst of the strain and crisis of civilization, the socialist movement comes as the only conservative force. If the world is to be saved from chaos, from universal disorder and misery, it must be by the union of the workers of all nations in the socialist movement. The Socialist party comes with the only proposition or program for intelligently and deliberately organizing a nation for the common good of all its citizens. It is the first time that the mind of man has ever been directed toward the conscious organization of society.

Socialism means that all those things upon which the people in common depend shall by the people in common be owned and administered. It means that the tools of employment shall belong to their creators and users; that all production shall be for the direct use of the producers; that the making of goods for profit shall come to an end; that we shall all be workers together; and that all opportunities shall be open and equal to all men.

V.

To the end that the workers may seize every possible advantage that may strengthen them to gain complete control of the powers of government, and thereby the sooner establish the co-operative commonwealth, the Socialist party pledges itself to watch and work in both the economic and the political struggle, for each successive immediate interest of the working class; for shortened days of labor and increases of wages; for the insurance of the workers against accident, sickness and lack of employment; for pensions for aged and exhausted workers; for the public ownership of the means of transportation, communication and exchange; for the graduated taxation of incomes, inheritances, franchises and land values, the proceeds to be applied to the public employment and improvement of the conditions of the workers; for the complete education of children, and their freedom from the workshop; for the prevention of the use of the military against labor in the settlement of strikes; for the free administration of justice; for popular government, including initiative, referendum, proportional representation, equal suffrage of men and women, municipal home rule, and the recall of officers by their constituents; and for every gain or advantage for the workers that may be wrested from the capitalist system, and that may relieve the suffering and strengthen the hands of labor. We lay upon every man elected to any executive or legislative office the first duty of striving to procure whatever is for the workers' most immediate interest, and for whatever will lessen the economic and political powers of the capitalist, and increase the like powers of the worker.

But, in so doing, we are using these remedial measures as means to the one great end of the co-operative commonwealth. Such measures of relief as we may be able to force from capitalism are but a preparation of the workers to seize the whole powers of government, in order that they may thereby lay hold of the whole system of industry, and thus come into their rightful inheritance.

To this end we pledge ourselves, as the party of the working class, to use all political power as fast as it shall be entrusted to us by our fellow-workers, both for their immediate interests and for their ultimate and complete emancipation. To this end we appeal to all the workers of America and to all who will lend their lives to the service of the workers in their struggle to gain their own, and to all who will nobly and disinterestedly give their days and energies unto the workers' cause, to cast in their lot and faith with the Socialist party. Our appeal for the trust and suffrages of our fellow workers is at once an appeal for their common good and freedom and for the freedom and blossoming of our common humanity. In pledging ourselves and those we represent, to be faithful to the appeal which we make we believe that we are but preparing the soil of that economic freedom from which will spring the freedom of the whole man.

NATIONAL PLATFORM.

The People's party reaffirms its adherence to the basic truths of the Omaha platform of 1892, and of the subsequent platforms of 1896 and 1900, in session in its fourth national convention on July 4, 1904, in the city of Springfield, Ill., it draws inspiration from the day that saw the birth of the Nation, as well as its own birth as a party, and also from the soul of him who lived at its present place of meeting.

We renew our allegiance to the old fashioned American spirit that gave this Nation existence, and made it distinctive among the people of the earth. We again sound the keynote of the Declaration of Independence, that all men are created equal in a political sense, which is the sense in which that instrument, being a political document, intended that the utterance should be understood. We assert that the departure from this fundamental truth is responsible for the ills from which we suffer as a Nation; that the giving of special privileges to the few has enabled them to dominate the many, thereby tending to destroy the political equality which is the corner stone of Democratic government.

We call for a return to the truths of the fathers, and we vigorously protest against the spirit of mammonism and of thinly veiled monarchy, that is invading certain sections of our national life, and of the very administration itself. This is a nation of peace, and we deplore the appeal to the spirit of force and militarism which is shown in ill advised and vainglorious boasting and in more harmful ways, in the denial of the rights of man under martial law.

A political democracy and an industrial despotism can not exist side by side; and nowhere is this truth more plainly shown than in the gigantic monopolies which have bred all sorts of kindred trusts, subverted the government of many of the states, and established their official agents in the National Government. We submit that it is better for the Government to own the railroads than for the railroads to own the Government; and that one or the other alternative seems inevitable.

We call the attention of our fellow citizens to the fact that the surrender of both of the old parties to corporate influences leaves the People's party the only party of reform in the Nation.

Therefore, we submit the following platform of principles to the American people:

The issuing of money is a function of government, and should never be delegated to corporations or individuals. The Constitution gives to Congress alone power to coin money and regulate its value.

We demand, therefore, that all money shall be issued by the Government in such quantity as shall maintain stability in prices, every dollar to be a full legal tender, none of which shall be a debt redeemable in other money.

We demand that postal savings banks be established by the Government for the safe deposit of the savings of the people.

We believe in the right of labor to organize for the benefit and protection of those who toil; and pledge the efforts of the People's party to preserve this right inviolate. Capital is organized and has no right to deny to labor the privilege which it claims for itself. We feel that intelligent organization of labor is essential; that it raises the standard of workmanship, and promotes the efficiency, intelligence, independence and character of the wage earner. We believe with Abraham Lincoln that labor is prior to capital, and is not its slave, but its companion; and we plead for that broad spirit of toleration and justice which will promote industrial peace through the observance of the principles of voluntary arbitration.

We favor the enactment of legislation looking to the improvement of conditions for wage earners, the abolition of child labor, the suppression of sweatshops and of convict labor, in competition with free labor, and the exclusion from American shores of foreign pauper labor.

We favor the shorter work day, and declare that if eight hours constitutes a day's labor in Government service, that eight hours should constitute a day's labor in factories, work shops and mines.

As a means of placing all public questions directly under the control of the people, we demand that legal provision be made under which the people may exercise the initiative, referendum and proportional representation, and direct vote for all public officers with right of recall.

Land, including all the natural sources of wealth, is a heritage of all the people, and should not be monopolized for speculative purposes; and alien ownership of land should be prohibited.

We demand a return to the original interpretation of the Constitution and a fair and impartial enforcement of laws under it; and denounce government by injunction and imprisonment without the right of trial by jury.

To prevent unjust discrimination and monopoly, the Government should own and control the railroads; and those public utilities, which in their nature are monopolies. To perfect the postal service the Government should own and operate the general telegraph and telephone systems, and provide a parcels post.

As to those trusts and monopolies which are not public utilities or natural monopolies we demand that those special privileges which they now enjoy, and which alone enables them to exist, should be immediately withdrawn. Corporations being the creature of government should be subjected to such government regulations and control as will adequately protect the public. We demand the taxation of monopoly privileges, while they remain in private hands, to the extent of the value of the privileges granted.

We demand that Congress shall enact a general law uniformly regulating the power and duties of all incorporated companies doing interstate business.

STATE CONVENTION.

The state convention was held at Des Moines, August 1, 1906.

Temporary Chairman—JUDGE H. M. TOWNER, of Corning, Adams county.

Permanent Chairman—THOMAS D. HEALY, of Fort Dodge, Webster county.

Secretary—C. M. JUNKIN, of Fairfield, Jefferson county.

PLATFORM.

The Republicans of Iowa in convention assembled declare:

We find abundant cause for rejoicing in conditions prevailing. The country as a whole is increasingly prosperous and our state is experiencing the climax of production and prosperity. We are rightly proud of the history of our party, which for so many years has determined the policies and directed the administration of our public affairs.

We commend the inspiring character, important achievements and undaunted leadership of Theodore Roosevelt. It is with exceeding pride that we contemplate the confidence reposed in him by the people of our country and the admiration which he commands from the whole world.

Iowa rejoices in the prominence and influence of its representatives in the cabinet and in congress. They have discharged the duties of public station with honor and high credit to themselves, the state and the nation, and deserve the esteem and affection of the people whom they have so faithfully served.

We approve most heartily the work of the Iowa delegation in the recent session. It is most gratifying to know that their influence was exerted in behalf of legislation which will protect the health of our people and maintain equality of opportunity upon our commercial highways.

The courageous leadership and practical administration of Governor Cummins merits our unqualified approval and we appreciate the honor conferred upon our party by him and other state officials who have given exceptional service to our people. In all the departments of state the highest degree of efficiency has prevailed and fidelity to public service is everywhere manifest. It is gratifying to know that with a tax levy for state purposes by no means burdensome and with generous support to all public obligations the state is free from debt and with ample funds for current needs.

The Republican party has always stood for the enlarged participation of the individual voter in public affairs. To this end we pledge ourselves and our party in this state to the enactment of a wise and judicious primary election law which will provide for the nomination by direct vote of all candidates for office to be filled at the general election and an expression of party preference in the selection of United States Senators.

We are unalterably opposed to the domination of corporate influences in public affairs. We favor the enactment of stringent statutes, to purge the politics of our state and nation from the corrupting influences of corporate power. And we pledge ourselves to the enactment of such laws as will render it unprofitable and unpopular for corporations to engage in politics or in any way contribute to political campaigns.

The abolishment of the free pass on railways is a most important step in curbing the influence of corporations in political affairs, and we commend the Republican legislature which has enacted a law to this end.

We are uncompromisingly in favor of the American system of protection. Duties on foreign imports should not be levied for revenue only, but should be so adjusted as to promote our domestic interests, enlarge our foreign markets, secure remunerative prices for the products of our factories and farms and maintain a superior scale of wages and standard of living for American labor. Wise and unselfish tariff laws maintained in the interest of the general welfare, equally opposed to foreign control and domestic monopoly, are essential to our commercial and industrial prosperity. We believe that all inequalities in the tariff schedules which inevitably arise from changing industrial and commercial conditions should be adjusted from time to time; and condemning without reserve all assaults upon the protective system, we favor such reasonable and timely changes as will keep the tariff in harmony with our industrial and commercial progress. We favor the reciprocity inaugurated by Blaine, advocated by McKinley and Roosevelt and recognized in Republican platforms and legislation.

The Republican party of Iowa appeals with confidence to the people of this state for approval of the wisdom of its policies and worth of its leaders. It is and always has been the party of patriotic statesmanship.

AUXILIARY RESOLUTIONS.

Since our last meeting the death of a most distinguished Iowan, the late David B. Henderson, has occurred. Reflecting with pride upon his work, we affectionately inscribe his name in the galaxy of our departed heroes and statesmen.

This convention sends cordial greeting to Iowa's beloved senior Senator, the Honorable William B. Allison, deeply regretting the circumstances that deprive us of his genial and helpful counsels. The chairman of this convention is directed to transmit by wire the spirit of this resolution to Senator Allison at his home in Dubuque.

STATE CONVENTION.

The state convention was held at Waterloo, Black Hawk county, August 7, 1906.

Temporary Chairman—DANIEL W. HAMILTON, of Sigourney, Benton county.

Permanent Chairman—CATO SELLS, of Vinton, Benton county.

Secretary—W. D. JAMIESON, of Shenandoah, Page county.

PLATFORM.

The Democratic party of Iowa in convention assembled declares its adherence and devotion to the fundamental principles of the Democratic faith, tersely asserted in the words, "Equal rights to all and special privileges to none."

We believe in tariff for revenue only and in approaching to that condition of our revenue laws there should be immediate relief granted to the people who are now being robbed by extortionate prices exacted under the shelter of the tariff.

We believe that the people of this country, who produce our wealth and pay our taxes and fight the battles of our republic, are entitled to purchase the goods manufactured in this country as cheaply as the people who reside abroad. We denounce the extortion inflicted upon our people under the pretense of protection as an outrage upon the consumer and upon the poor and upon the laboring people who produce the wealth of this country. We believe the tariff should be removed from all trust made goods and in the removal of all duties on iron, steel, lumber and coal.

We demand the enactment of such legislation as will effectually destroy all trusts and the strict enforcement of all laws concerning the same, and we denounce the executive of the State of Iowa for failure to enforce existing laws.

That we are in favor of such railroad rate regulation in the State of Iowa as will give equivalent rates and service to that afforded by the interstate commerce act and that we are opposed to the present legislation in force discriminating, as it does, against local Iowa industries, and declare in favor of such legislation as will give competition to all competitive points in Iowa with through billing anywhere in the state.

We demand that our next legislature enact a two-cent passenger fare on railroads.

We are in favor of a primary law giving to the people the selection as well as the election of all candidates from Senators down, so drawn as to protect all parties.

We favor the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people.

We are in favor of absolute and unqualified government control of interstate commerce.

We favor the enactment of such laws as shall give to all manufacturers and jobbers in Iowa the same right to ship their produce and goods to all points in Iowa as are now given by the interstate commerce law to manufacturers and jobbers in similar products or goods in other states.

We believe the politics of our state should be unhampered by the influence of corporate power and are in favor of stringent laws punishing all corporations or persons representing them who contribute campaign funds to any political organization.

We favor a terminal tax amendment to the present railroad property tax in the cities of our state.

We are in hearty sympathy with the purposes of national labor organization as set forth in the late address of Samuel Gompers, John Mitchell, et al., calling labor to assert its political rights at the ballot box, and we condemn government by injunction.

We favor the complete elimination of railway and other public service corporations from the politics of the state. To accomplish this, we favor a law providing for the assessment of railways, express companies, telephone and telegraph companies by a non-partisan commission of six men to be selected by joint session of the house and senate, no more than three members of such commission shall belong to any one political party.

We are in favor of such laws as will permit municipal ownership of public utilities and demand that the Democratic members of the legislature do their utmost to secure the enactment of such a law.

We indorse the exalted character, the peerless statesmanship and the high-minded and pure personality of Democracy's conceded leader, William Jennings Bryan, and pledge him our unqualified support for the presidency in 1908.

CALL FOR SOCIALIST STATE CONVENTION.

DES MOINES, Iowa, April 6, 1906.

To the Officers and Members of Socialist Locals and Members-at-Large of the Socialist Party of Iowa:

GREETING: In compliance with the referendum vote just taken, relating to the selection of place and date for the State convention, you are hereby advised that the convention will be held in Des Moines, July 4th.

PURPOSE.

The nomination of a complete set of State officers, and the adoption of platform and declarations of the party, as well as such other actions as may be deemed for the welfare of the party and party organization generally.

REPRESENTATION.

Section 15 of the State constitution provides:

"15. The State convention of the party shall consist of one thousand delegates, except when automatically limited by the further provisions of this section. The State committee shall apportion these delegates among the locals in accordance with the number of their members in good standing, provided, however, that no local shall be entitled to more delegates than it has members in good standing. The number of members in good standing in each local shall be ascertained by striking an average of the number of members on which State dues shall have been paid during the months intervening since the preceding State convention, except that in case of locals organized after such preceding State convention the full term of their existence shall be the basis of calculation. The delegates present from each local shall have power to cast the entire vote to which their local is entitled under this section."

Section 22 provides:

"22. Any isolated Socialist may become a member-at-large by signing the regular application for membership and paying the regular dues, and shall be entitled to attend conventions as a delegate and cast one vote."

As we have at present less than one thousand members in good standing the above sections provide that each and every member may be entitled to participate in said convention as a delegate.

CREDENTIALS.

Credentials in duplicate are enclosed herewith. The original should be presented to the delegates selected by locals, and the duplicate forwarded to the State secretary not later than July 1st.

RAILROAD RATES.

The usual reduced rates, one and one-third fare for the round trip, will be in force during the time of the convention, which should insure a large attendance.

IN CONCLUSION.

The importance of a largely attended State convention should be apparent to all. Not only is it necessary to nominate State officers and present to the citizens of Iowa our principles in the form of a platform, but congressional, senatorial and judicial candidates are to be nominated this summer, and while our party machinery perhaps in but a limited number of instances enables the holding of congressional, senatorial and judicial conventions, the State convention will afford the delegates from the various political subdivisions above outlined an opportunity of coming together and provide means by which the various candidates may be nominated. And again, our party machinery, our party organizations must be perfected and solidified in such a manner that it shall eventually become superior to that of any other party, and when this has been accomplished we shall win at the polls.

Hoping for a full attendance at the State convention, that every local will be represented, and that the deliberations will be a credit to a revolutionary working class movement, we are,

Yours for the Revolution,

L. B. PATTERSON, State Chairman.

J. J. JACOBSEN, State Secretary.

STATE CONVENTION.

The State convention was held in Des Moines, July 4, 1906.

Temporary and Permanent Chairman—A. K. GIFFORD, of Davenport, Scott county.

Secretary—J. J. JACOBSEN, of Des Moines, Polk county.

PLATFORM.

We, the accredited delegates of the Socialist party of Iowa, in State convention assembled, this fourth day of July, 1906, hereby reaffirm our adherence to the principles of the International Socialist Movement and the national platform of the Socialist party of the United States.

The present capitalist system of industry is a failure.

It is impracticable.

It has divided the people into warring classes.

It has reduced the wage workers to slavish dependence upon the capitalists for an opportunity to earn a living.

It has reduced the masses of the people to poverty.

It compels the masses of the people to work all their lives for a bare living.

It deprives the masses of the people of the benefits of the marvelous improvements in production, and hands those benefits over to the useless few.

It bars the masses of the people out from the higher things of life.

It drives thousands of men and women to suicide.

It drives thousands of men and women to insanity.

It drives hundreds of thousands of men and women to crime.

It drives hundreds of thousands of women to prostitution, because they are unable to make a living in any other way.

It drives millions of men to drink.

It puts a premium on graft and corruption.

It makes it to the financial interest of men to adulterate food and to perpetrate all the other villainous frauds and deceptions which surround us on every hand.

It causes the death or injury of millions of the people by preventable accidents.

It blights the lives of the child slaves.

It bars a majority of the children out of school altogether, and compels most of the remainder to leave school just when their education is really beginning.

It is infamously unjust to the unemployed, causing hundreds of thousands of them to become tramps.

It causes hundreds of thousands of divorces.

It has destroyed individual initiative.

It has reduced the masses of the people to a dead level.

It has made it impossible for the masses of the people to develop their individuality.

It has made it impossible for the masses of the people to own any private property worth mentioning.

It makes it hard to do right and easy to do wrong.

It makes it impossible for the people to live sanitary lives.

It promotes disease.

It brings premature death to all the people.

Socialism is the natural and the only remedy for these evils.

The Republican and Democratic parties both get their campaign funds from the capitalist class and are both run in the interest of the capitalist class. The issues which those parties fight over are merely issues between different sections of the capitalist class. The tariff question, the freight rate question, the trust smashing question, the income and inheritance tax question, and the primary election question, as presented by those parties, are merely quarrels between the capitalist robbers. None of those issues, as presented by those parties, touch the interests of the workers.

The Socialist party is the party of the working class.

The primary object of Socialism is to secure to the men and women who do the necessary and useful mental and manual work of the world the full value of their labor. The great industries of the country are now concentrated in the hands of a comparatively few private capitalists. One per cent of the people own more of the wealth of the country than all the other ninety-nine per cent of the people put together. The fact that these few capitalists own the industries enables them to appropriate to themselves most of the value of the labor of the wage worker and most of the value of the product of the farmer. In the nature of things, this must continue just as long as the industries are owned by private capitalists. The only way in which the wage worker and the farmer can secure the full value of their labor is by the public ownership and the popular management of such industries as under private ownership are the instruments of the robbery of the workers. The Socialist party stands for the public ownership and the popular management of those industries. It is therefore to the financial interest of the wage workers and the farmers to vote the Socialist ticket. And, since the small business men and the small professional men are being crushed by the capitalist class, with no hope of escape under the present system, it is also to their financial interest to ally themselves with the working class in order to secure Socialism.

While thus always aiming at the overthrow of capitalism and the establishment of Socialism, we recognize that if we elect our State and congressional candidates, we will not be able to establish Socialism immediately, but will have to wait until we elect a complete national administration. In the meantime, we declare that it is the purpose of the Socialist party to use all political powers entrusted to it to relieve, as far as possible, the hardships of the workers under existing economic conditions, and to assist them in all their conflicts with capitalism. To that end, we pledge to give our undivided support to all measures which will benefit the working class, and to oppose to the limit of our powers all measures contrary to their interests.

As measures for the relief of the workers, operating to weaken the hold of capitalism upon them, we advocate and pledge our candidates for State and congressional offices to work for legislation providing for the insurance of all workers against accident, sickness and old age; public industries for the unemployed; equal suffrage for both sexes; shortening of the hours of labor; the protection of labor union funds from liability for loss sustained by employers during strikes and boycotts; employers' liability; the employment of convict labor for public purposes only; prevention of the use of the militia to break strikes; the abolition of government by injunction; the free administration of justice; reformation in place of punishment; juvenile courts; the proper housing of the people; the abolition of child slavery; the proper education of the young; the abolition of the power of courts to declare laws unconstitutional; the abolition of the United States senate and the Iowa State senate; power to amend the national and State constitutions by majority vote; the abolition of the veto power; the election of federal judges by popular vote; the introduction of the initiative and referendum, the recall, and municipal home rule; the public ownership of the railroads, the telegraph lines, the telephone lines, and the express lines; the public ownership of the meat trust, the oil trust, the coal trust, the sugar trust, the farm machinery trust, and the other trusts; and all other measures tending to the advancement of the interests of our class.

We favor a reduction of the freight rates. But we deny that such a reduction would result in the betterment of the conditions of the people, as its advocates claim. It would not increase the wages of the wage worker. And as for the farmer and the small business man, the trusts, by putting up prices, could take back from them every cent they saved by a reduction of the freight rates. It would therefore do little good until the public ownership of the trusts is secured.

We favor an income tax and an inheritance tax. But we recognize that the benefit which these measures would bring to the workers would not be a direct benefit, and that under a Republican or Democratic administration they would not bring any benefit to the workers at all. If the workers saved anything on taxes, the capitalists would merely rob them a little more. But the Socialist party would use the income from such taxes to carry out the measures enumerated above, and thus make them beneficial to the workers.

We favor a just and fair primary election law. But the primary election bill introduced in the last legislature, by requiring voters to state their party affiliation, would have destroyed the secret ballot, and, by requiring expensive petitions, would have made it much harder for a poor man to run for office than a rich man. We will oppose any primary election bill containing those vicious features or any other provisions that are against the interests of the working class.

We call upon every intelligent voter of the State of Iowa, regardless of race, nationality or religion, to join the Socialist party, vote its ticket, build up its organization, and stand shoulder to shoulder in the fight for a better order and a higher civilization.

"Workers of the world, unite. You have nothing to lose but your chains. You have a world to gain."

STATE CONVENTION.

The State convention was held in Des Moines, May 22-23, 1906.

Temporary Chairman—REV. J. S. CORKEY, of Jefferson, Greene county.

Permanent Chairman—CAPTAIN K. W. BROWN, of Ames, Story county.

Secretary—A. U. COATES, of Perry, Dallas county.

PLATFORM.

We, the Prohibition party of Iowa, in convention assembled on this 23rd day of May, A. D. 1906, recognizing God as the Supreme Ruler of the Universe, do adopt and publish as our platform the following declaration of principles and appeal to the Christian sentiment of the State and to all good, law-abiding citizens to unite with us in support of the same.

1. We stand for civic righteousness in government and if given power by the people we promise to enforce the law against violators, irrespective of class distinction.

2. We insist that in its importance to the welfare and interest of the American people, the saloon question transcends all others; that the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage is the great curse of our age and civilization; that it can not be licensed without sin and that the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor for said purpose ought to be everywhere absolutely prohibited by law. We insist on the immediate repeal of the mulct law and the enforcement of prohibition. We also favor an amendment to our State constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquor as a beverage at the earliest practicable day.

3. We insist that a proper regard for the States in the exercise of their police power demands the speedy passage of the bill known as the Hepburn-Dolliver bill now pending before Congress.

4. We recognize the fact that the right of suffrage should depend on the mental and moral qualification of the individual and should be extended to all alike, irrespective of sex.

5. We favor the alteration of the present Australian ballot law so that it will permit the nomination of the same person as a candidate for the same office by more than one political party.

6. We favor the election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.

7. We especially condemn the policy of licensing saloons to manufacture drunkards and then taxing the people to erect and maintain inebriate asylums to take care of those legally made drunkards.

8. We declare against a political policy that upholds the incumbent public officials in the usurpation of time and energy belonging to the State for personal political ascendancy as being against that sound public policy which requires of public servants undivided attention in the diligent performance of official duties.

9. We favor a tariff commission non-partisan in character to study the commercial and trade relations of nations and make to Congress proper recommendations of tariff changes whenever the interests of the people demand it.

10. We favor the passage of an anti-pass law prohibiting common carriers of either passengers or freight, granting special privileges in the form of passes, rebates or better rates to any individual, company or corporation except to the employes of said common carrier and their families, to their attorneys and doctors when actually engaged in their service, to shippers accompanying stock, to clergymen and persons engaged in missionary and works of charity, and to the State railroad commissioners.

11. We favor the ownership by municipalities of public utilities.

12. We favor The Hague Court as a medium of settling international questions and arbitration as a means of settling disputes between corporations and individuals.

13. We favor that mode of passing laws by direct vote of the people known as the Initiative and Referendum.

CALL FOR PEOPLE'S STATE CONVENTION.

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of our office as chairman of the People's Party State committee, I hereby call a State convention of the party to be held at the Iowa Hotel in Des Moines, Iowa, on Tuesday, September 11th, 1906, at 11 o'clock a. m. of said day for the purpose of nominating a full State ticket and for the transaction of any other business that may legally come before said meeting.

This will be a mass convention, consisting of reformers, such as Populists and others who took part in the St. Louis National conference June 27 and 28, namely, Populists, members of Independence League, members of organized labor and trades councils and members of the provisional committee. Every one who is tired of machine rule of the two so-called old political parties and wish to build up a party in sympathy with the great common people are expected and urged to be present and take part in this convention.

By order of the People's Party committee.

J. R. NORMAN, Chairman.

S. M. HARVEY, Secretary.

Albia, Iowa, August 15th, 1906.

STATE CONVENTION.

The State convention was held in Des Moines, September 11, 1906.

Temporary Chairman—E. J. EMMONS, of Russell, Lucas county.

Permanent Chairman—J. R. NORMAN, of Albia, Monroe county.

Secretary—S. M. HARVEY, of Des Moines, Polk county.

PLATFORM.

We, the members of the People's party, members of the Independence League, members of organized labor, and others in sympathy with this great reform movement that is sweeping over the United States, in State convention assembled, jointly working together, renew our faith in the cause we have been working for. We hereby point with pride to the declaration of principles as laid down in the following preamble as our creed:

1. Direct legislation, the initiative and referendum, with the right of recall.
2. We demand that until such time as a government system of finance can be established that all banking institutions, national, state and private, be compelled to give security to depositors for all money received for deposit.
3. Money consisting of gold, silver and paper, issued by the Government direct to the people without the intervention of banks of issue, each dollar as good as any other dollar, and all a legal tender for all debts public and private.
4. Municipal ownership of all public utilities, including street railways, waterworks, electric light plants, gas, etc.
5. Government ownership of all railroads, telegraph and telephone lines, so that they will be run in the interest of the people and not for or by corporations.
6. Equal taxation to all classes of people alike. No special privileges to corporations, and all trust made goods to go on the free list.
7. A graduated income tax to be levied upon incomes, and the greater the income the greater the tax, so that wealth may be forced to pay its just proportion of the expenses of the Government.
8. Inasmuch as the American laborer sells his labor in competition with the European laborer, we demand that a tariff duty be levied upon the importation and immigration of foreign pauper labor to the United States sufficient to guarantee the same protection to the American laborer that is now enjoyed by the American manufacturer and other protected institutions of the United States.

Resolved, First, That inasmuch as Populism has become so popular with the thinking people all over the United States, that the conservative element of the Democratic and Republican parties have been incorporating Populism into their city, county and State administrative work.

Therefore, it would be more consistent and more effective should those in harmony with the principles of Populism vote with them and help to swell their numbers to a majority in Iowa, where they rightly belong, that there may be some relief for the great common people of the State.

Resolved, Second, That inasmuch as Socialism proposes to collect all the private estates and to form them into one vast public estate and then allow everybody a proprietary interest in and to this public estate, without reference to who did or did not own private estates, this they call "collectivism" everything in common, this word is used to deceive men into voting the Socialist ticket, but in fact means a division of all property, and the public should not be deceived in their real principle.

Therefore, That we, the Populists of Iowa, enter into a debate with them on the real principles of Populism and Socialism.

SECULAR GOVERNMENT PARTY.

STATE TICKET.

For Governor,
ANDREW TOWNSEND HISEY, of Tama county.

Mr. Hisey was nominated by petition as a candidate for governor of Iowa. The following is his platform and declaration of principles:

PLATFORM OF SECULAR GOVERNMENT.

1. To rediscover the arts which are lost; and reveal those which are hidden.
2. To complete the unfinished work of ages, right the wrongs of generations past, correct the mistakes, retrace the errors, and see to it with great care that the ills which affect the race, the foul works and foul plays do not reoccur.
3. To secure individual ownership, preserve competition in labor, complete the wage earning system, give to labor its full share of prosperity, bring to trusts, combinations, and gigantic concerns the confidence of an industrious people; and intense patriotism to the Government.

4. To surmount deplorable tendencies, lift up the fallen, strengthen the weak, connect the broken family chain, double the pleasures, deepen, widen and lengthen the lives of the people, and elevate all on the high table land of political science, above poverty, crime, ignorance and superstition. Change the environments from positive vices to negative vices, from negative vices to negative virtues, from negative virtues to positive virtues, from positive virtues to great good, great care and great hope, so one's words, works, thoughts and actions may go out into the world to do good and always be in the world.

5. Bring to each person in the generation each day of their lives the little heritage which has been directed by thoughtful persons for ages and make each person live on the interest of money.

THE DECLARATION OF SECULAR GOVERNMENT.

The declaration of secular government is the proclamation of emancipation of the human race. From poverty, ignorance, crime, disease and superstition.

It is individual, national and international liberal scientific possession, free direction, free and rightful administration and distribution of justice. Government of suggestion, preference, expedience, convenience, benevolence, prudence, reason, wisdom and necessity.

Secular government is the rightful administration and distribution of the virtues of one generation of the generation past, of past generations and antiquity, to next generation, future generations and eternity. It is liberal scientific possession, free direction of the virtues of one person to one's own self. To another person, to other persons, and all other persons in the world. Secular government is at once the free and rightful administration and distribution of these virtues of the free directed virtues of each person in the generation, and generations past, to each person in the next generation each day of their lives from the time of independence, until closed in old age and sealed in death.

The form may be democratic, republican, imperial, social, natural, scientific or anarchistic. The method is evolution, the scheme is extreme individualism and complete development of the race. The aim is the infinitely practical, the hope is happiness in this world, the principal object is intelligence, the tripled reason of being is justice, reciprocity and novelty, the secret gesture is love, sincerity and endeavor; the divinity is truth, the prayer is work, the honor is sacred, the law is kindness and healthful public opinion, the quality is organic, the dogma is equality of equilibrium, the character is profane, the history is vulgar, the course is civil, the order is heiarthic but material and progressive, the mode of activity is liberty, the beginning and the end is in doing good, the balance between is wisdom. This truth is self-evident. Each person born in the generation is a share-owner in the works of art which are the works of man, and equal share-owners of nature which are not the works of art, air, light, land and water.

The acquisitions from ages, the legacy from antiquity, the heritage from generations past, the blessings derived from the sources of art, great opportunities, great experiences, great encouragement, things uncertain, truth too delicate for the public ear, too dazzling for the public eye, convenience, excellence, and the ultimatum are the noble liberties presented, declared, defined, explained, protected, preserved and proclaimed, for each person, family and generation of all nations. In the beginning of secular government is the end of poverty and crime in this world. In the completion of secular government there is a plentitude of wealth of means, wealth of knowledge and wealth of health, directed to each person each day of their lives in the next generation. It houses, clothes, feeds and educates mankind, and makes each person live on the interest of money. The doctrine of the Hive is established to the extent of the infinitely practical and carried out perfectly to each person in the Nation.

Secular government would not desert a friend, betray a trust, pretuberate a State or defame a Constitution. Not government of one race against another race and other races; not government for one Nation against another Nation; not government for one class against another class; not government for the strong against the weak; not government for the few against the many; not government for the rich against the poor; not government for the learned against the unlearned; not government for the good against the bad; not government to compel one person to do the things he ought not to do; not government to prevent one from doing the things he ought to do, to be and to suffer; not government against all the people, liberal scientific possession, free direction, free and rightful administration and distribution of justice is based to the level of each person in the Nation, yea, a little below the level; all are elevated on the high table land of political science, far above poverty and crime, as the surface is from the bottom of the ocean.

In one word, secular government is the infinitely practical worked out to the perfection of mathematical expressions, great possibilities, great opportunities, great encouragements, great endeavor, great care, great good, great hope in this world for each person, family, generation of all nations.

Like the sun rays to the poisoned vine, and its deadly dew, the disease and the patient, the crime and the criminal, the villain and the villainy, the deadly conflict and the sacred ruins, the philosopher on the mountain side, the fleecy clouds which play hide and seek among the lofty peaks and the mountains covered with snow. Secular government reaches all, below all, above all, to all, for all, and blesses all in the generation. Possesses and directs a friendship to comparative governments and to brutality; enters no complaint, finds no fault, lays no blame, holds no grudge, and bears no resentment. Teaches one can do no good by entering complaint. It flatters, caresses and blesses the environments, the habits, the tastes, crazes and furies as it descends to the secret gesture which is love, sincerity and endeavor the inborn desire to do good; however, one may be wrecked on the crags of hard experience, maltreated by fortune, deserted and despised, abused by comparative government or sunken down low into brutality. Far down in the sinus of despair, one is more apt to see in secular government the completion of one's own nature and find possibilities, opportunities and encouragement, notwithstanding the hard experience, yea, on the account of the experience and fix permanently that which is transient; give prominence to the real; and actuality to that which is no more.

Brings safety, security, prosperity, properly freedom, friendship, family joy, dignity, grace, independence, courtesy and liberty to each person in the generation.

The above table is the official canvass of votes made by the state canvassing board. The vote by counties and precincts given in the preceding pages is the semi-official, reported by the County Auditors to the Secretary of State.

*The totals for Pocahontas county do not include the votes cast in 1901 in Cedar township, the county board of canvassers refusing to canvass the returns in this precinct on technical grounds. Later a decree of court was issued ordering the board to canvass the returns of said precinct, but before this was done the official vote had been canvassed by the state board of canvassers as above given.

The vote on president in said precinct was as follows: Roosevelt, 251; Parker, 136; Swallow, 2; Debs, 2.

THE ELECTORAL VOTE IN 1908.

The following will be the electoral vote of the States in 1908, as based upon the Apportionment Act of 1900:

States.	Electoral votes.	States.	Electoral votes.
Alabama	11	Nevada	3
Arkansas	9	New Hampshire	4
California	10	New Jersey	12
Colorado	5	New York	39
Connecticut	7	North Carolina	12
Delaware	3	North Dakota	4
Florida	5	Ohio	23
Georgia	13	Oklahoma	7
Idaho	3	Oregon	4
Illinois	27	Pennsylvania	34
Indiana	15	Rhode Island	4

Kansas	10	South Dakota	4
Kentucky	13	Tennessee	12
Louisiana	9	Texas	18
Maine	6	Utah	3
Maryland	8	Vermont	4
Massachussets	16	Virginia	12
Michigan	14	Washington	5
Minnesota	11	West Virginia	7
Mississippi	10	Wisconsin	13
Missouri	18	Wyoming	3
Montana	3
Nebraska	8	Total	483

Necessary for choice, 242.

Oklahoma will come into the Union before the next presidential election with seven electoral votes, which are included in the above enumeration. Were Arizona and New Mexico to be admitted as the State of Arizona before the presidential election, the State would have four votes. New Mexico has, however, rejected the joint statehood act of Congress, therefore the admission of another new State before the presidential election is very doubtful.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTIONS FROM 1789 TO 1904.

AGGREGATE POPULAR VOTE AND ELECTORAL VOTE FOR CANDIDATES FOR PRESIDENT AND VICE-PRESIDENT AT EACH ELECTION.

[From the World Almanac 1907.]

NOTE.—There is, properly speaking, no popular vote for President and Vice-President; the people vote for electors, and those chosen in each State meet therein and vote for the candidates for President and Vice-President. The record of any popular vote for electors prior to 1824 is so meager and imperfect that a compilation would be useless. In most of the States, for more than a quarter century following the establishment of the Government, the State Legislature "appointed" the Presidential electors, and the people therefore voted only indirectly for them, their choice being expressed by their votes for members of the Legislature. In this tabulation only the aggregate electoral votes for candidates for President and Vice-President in the first nine quadrennial elections appear.

REFERENCE NOTES TO THE SIX SUCCEEDING PAGES.

*The candidates starred were elected. (a) The first Republican party is claimed by the present Democratic party as its progenitor. (b) No candidate having a majority of the electoral vote, the House of Representatives elected Adams. (c) Candidate of the Anti-Masonic party. (d) There being no choice, the Senate elected Johnson. (e) Eleven Southern States, being within the belligerent territory, did not vote. (f) Three Southern States disfranchised. (g) Horace Greeley died after election, and Democratic electors scattered their votes. (h) There being a dispute over the electoral vote of Florida, Louisiana, Oregon and South Carolina, they were referred by Congress to an electoral commission composed of eight Republicans and seven Democrats, which, by a strict party vote, awarded 185 electoral votes to Hayes and 184 to Tilden. (i) Free Democrat. (j) Free Silver Prohibition party. (k) In Massachusetts. There was also a Native American ticket in that State, which received 184 votes. (m) Middle of the Road or Anti-Fusion People's party. (n) United Christian party. (o) Union Reform party.

AN ACT providing for the nomination, by political parties, or organizations, of candidates for various offices, and the election of delegates to conventions of said political parties or organizations, and the election of party committeemen, by a primary election, and for the holding of conventions by such political parties or organizations, providing penalties for the violations thereof, and repealing chapter forty (40), laws of the Thirtieth General Assembly and chapters forty-five (45) and forty-six (46), laws of the Thirty-first General Assembly, relating to primary elections. [Additional to Title Six (VI) of the Code.]

Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. Primary elections authorized—offices affected. That from and after the passage of this act the candidates of political parties for all offices which under the law are filled by the direct vote of the voters of this State at the general election in November, (except candidates for the office of Judge of the Supreme, District and Superior courts), for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States, and for the office of elector of the President and Vice-President of the United States, shall be nominated by a primary election, and delegates to the county conventions of said political parties or organizations and party county committeemen shall be elected at said primary election, at the times and in the manner hereinafter provided. The provisions of chapters three (3) and four (4), title six (6), and chapter eight (8), title twenty-four (24), of the Code, shall apply so far as applicable to all such primary elections, the same as general elections, except as hereinafter provided. The vote upon candidates for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States shall be for the sole purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters in the respective parties.

Sec. 2. Primary election defined. The term "primary election" as used in this act shall be construed to apply to an election by the members of various political parties for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for public office, for selecting delegates to conventions, and for the selection of party committeemen.

Sec. 3. Political party defined. The title "political party" shall mean a party which, at the last preceding general election, cast for its candidate for governor at least two per centum of the total vote cast at said election, provided that such other political organizations as may, under sections 1098 and 1099 of the Code nominate and certify candidates and have their names placed upon the ballot for the November election, shall have the right so to do in the manner and under the conditions therein prescribed.

Sec. 4. When held. The primary election herein provided for shall consist of an election by all political parties and shall be held at the usual voting places of the several precincts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, for the nomination of candidates for such offices as are to be filled at the general election in November next ensuing, (except candidates for the office of Judge of the Supreme, District and Superior courts), for Senator in the Congress of the United States in the next year preceding the filling of that office by the General Assembly, and for the electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States, in the year in which a President and Vice-President are to be elected.

Sec. 5. Judges and clerks—how selected—oath—expenses. The judges and clerks of all primary elections under this act shall be made up and selected and appointed in the same manner as for the general election held in November, and they shall take the same oath and the judges are hereby authorized to administer oaths as hereinafter provided. Vacancies shall be filled as provided for the judges and clerks of the general election, and their compensation shall be the same. The expenses of said primary election shall be paid one-half by the county in which the said primary election is held, and one-half by the State. The Board of Supervisors of each county shall audit the entire expense and certify the same to the Executive Council, which shall thereupon order a warrant for one-half the amount to be delivered to the county, which shall thereupon pay the entire amount.

Sec. 6. Australian ballot—polls open—ballots. The Australian ballot system as now used in this State, except as hereinafter provided, shall be used at said primary election in all precincts. The voter shall in all cases mark the ballot in the square before the name of each person for whom he desires to vote. In cities where registration is required by law, the polls shall be open from 7 a. m. to 8 p. m., and in all other precincts from 1 p. m. to 8 p. m. The elector voting at said primary election shall be allowed to vote for candidates for nomination on the ticket of only one political party, and that shall be the party with which he is registered as affiliated. The endorsement of the judges of election and the fac simile of the auditor's signature shall appear upon the ballots as provided by law for the ballots used for the November election. The voter shall return the ballot folded to one of the judges of election who shall deposit it in the ballot box. If any primary elector write upon his ticket the name of any person who is a candidate for the same office upon some other party ticket than that upon which his name shall be so written, such ballot shall be so counted for such person only as a candidate of the party upon whose ballot his name is written, and shall in no case be counted for such person as a candidate upon any other ticket. In case the person is nominated upon more than one ticket, he shall forthwith file with the proper officer a written declaration indicating the party designation under which his name is to be printed on the official ballot for the general election following such primary election.

Sec. 7. First declaration of party affiliation—record. At the primary election to be held in June in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight any person shall be entitled to participate therein who is a qualified elector in such precinct at the time of said primary election, and when the voter seeks to pass the guard-rail he shall indicate the party ballot he desires and one of the judges of the primary election board shall give him such primary ballot, (unless challenged, and if so challenged, then only in the event that the challenge is determined in favor of the voter), and such person shall thereupon be allowed to vote. The voter's selection shall constitute his declaration of party affiliation, and it shall be the duty of the primary election board to record his name and check his declaration of party affiliation on the poll books used by the clerks of the primary election board, and said list properly certified to by said primary election board shall be returned to the county auditor for preservation. Copies of the names and party entries on such list together with the changes of party affiliation as hereinafter provided, arranged alphabetically by surnames, shall be used at subsequent primaries for determining with what party the voter has been enrolled, and no voter enrolled under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to receive the ballot of any political party except that with which he is enrolled, but he may change his enrollment as hereinafter provided. The county auditor shall prepare for each voting precinct two of the above mentioned lists duly certified by him, and taken from the poll books of the last preceding primary election, which he shall deliver to the succeeding primary election boards in the year Nineteen Hundred Ten and biennially thereafter, at least one day prior to the day of the primary election, and which lists together with the poll books of the primary election shall be returned to the said auditor in good condition within twenty-four hours after the primary election, to be preserved by him.

Sec. 8. Change of affiliation—first voter—removal. Any person who has thus declared his party affiliation shall thereafter be listed on the poll books as a member of that political party, and such person while a resident of the same voting precinct need not declare his party affiliation at succeeding primary elections unless he desires to change his party affiliation. Any elector, who, having declared his party affiliation, desires to change the same, may, not less than ten days prior to the date of any primary election, file a written declaration with the county auditor stating his change of party affiliation, and the auditor shall enter a record of such change on the poll books of the last preceding primary election in the proper column opposite the voter's name and on the voting list. Any elector whose party affiliation has for any reason not been registered or any elector who has changed his residence to another precinct, or a first voter or citizen of this State casting his first vote in this State shall be entitled to vote at any subsequent primary election in the same manner and upon the same terms as provided in Section Seven (7) of this act, and the clerks of the primary election shall record his party affiliation and the county auditor shall add his name to the alphabetical lists for use in subsequent primary elections as provided for in section seven (7) of this act.

Sec. 9. Challengers—affidavit. Each political party shall be entitled to have two party challengers present at each polling place, to be appointed by the respective party committeemen. Any judge or clerk of the primary election or any party challenger may challenge any voter upon the grounds mentioned in section eleven hundred fifteen (1115) of the Code and such challenge shall be determined as there provided. Any elector whose party affiliation has been recorded as provided by this act and who desires to change his party affiliation on the primary election day, shall be subject to challenge. If the person challenged insists that he is entitled to vote the ticket of the political party to which he has transferred his political affiliation and the challenge is not withdrawn, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you have in good faith changed your party affiliation to and desire to be a member of the..... party." And if he take such oath he shall thereupon be given a ticket of such political party and the clerks of the primary election shall change his enrollment of party affiliation accordingly.

Sec. 10. Nomination papers—candidates—affidavit. Every publication required in this act shall be made in at least two and not to exceed four newspapers of general circulation in such county. One of such newspapers shall represent the political party which cast the largest vote in such county at the last preceding general election, and one of such newspapers shall represent the political party which cast the next largest vote in such county at said general election. In any case where the publication of a notice can not be made as hereinbefore required, it may be made in any newspaper having a general circulation in the county in which the notice is required to be published.

Sec. 16. Supplies—poll books. All necessary election supplies, including poll books as provided by law, for the general election, together with a sufficient number of official primary ballots of each party, shall be furnished for the primary election board for each precinct by the county auditor, and such poll books shall contain blank spaces for the names of the candidates of the several parties for the different offices to be written in, and blank spaces for entering by the clerks the names of the electors voting at said primary election; and upon the pages provided for entering the names of said voters there shall be ruled spaces for the listing of the names of said voters and for the designation of the party ticket voted by said elector in manner and form substantially as follows:

No.	Name	Republican	Democrat	Prohibition-ist	Socialist
1	James Smith.....X
2	Tom Jones.....	X
3	Dan Brown.....		X
4	George White.....			X

It shall be the duty of the clerks of the primary election when entering the name of a voter to place in the poll books a cross thus (X) in the column designating the party ticket which was given to said voter upon his application for a ticket.

Sec. 17. Ballots counted--returns. Upon the closing of the polls the clerks and judges shall immediately open the ballot box and proceed to take therefrom the ballots. Said officers shall count the number of ballots cast for each party, at the same time bunching the tickets cast for each party, in separate piles. As soon as the clerks and judges shall have sorted the ballots of each party, separately, they shall take the tally sheets provided in the poll books and shall count all the ballots for each party separately until the count is completed, and shall certify to the number of votes cast for each candidate for each office upon the ticket of each party. After all have been counted and certified to by the clerks and judges, they shall seal the ballots cast by each of the parties in separate envelopes, on the outside of which shall be printed or written the names of that party's candidates for the different offices, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and then seal the envelopes containing the votes of the different political parties, in one large envelope, on the outside of which, or on a paper attached thereto, shall be printed or written, in perpendicular columns, the names of the several political parties with the names of the candidates for the different offices under their respective party headings, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and at the bottom the total vote cast by each political party in said precinct, and such envelopes shall be returned to the county auditor, who shall carefully preserve the same in said condition and deliver them to the county board of canvassers. But any elector of the county shall have the right, before the day fixed for canvassing the returns, to ascertain the vote cast for any candidate in any precinct in the county, as shown on the outside of the large envelope.

Said judges of election shall deliver the returns so made, together with the poll books, including tally sheets and certificates of the judges and clerks written thereon, to the county auditor within twenty-four hours after the primary election has closed; and if the returns from any precinct be not so delivered within the said time, the county auditor shall forthwith send a messenger for any such missing returns, and said messenger shall be paid, as provided by law, for the general election.

Sec. 18. Recount of ballots. Any candidate, whose name appears upon the official primary ballot of any voting precinct, may require the board of supervisors of the county in which such precinct is situated to recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, at the time fixed for canvassing the returns of the judges of election, by filing with the county auditor not later than the day before such meeting, a showing, duly sworn to by any such candidate, that fraud was committed, or error or mistake was made, in counting or returning the votes cast in any such precinct. The showing must be specific and from it there must appear reasonable ground to believe that a recount of the ballots would produce a result different from the returns made by the judges. If such showing is made to the satisfaction of the board, thereupon the board shall recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, as to all candidates, including persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman, and make up a new return which in all subsequent proceedings shall be substituted for the returns of the judges of election for the precinct. The action of the board shall be final and no other contest of any kind shall be permitted. If a recount of the ballots of any precinct produces a result different from the returns of the judges with respect to delegates or party committeeman, the county auditor shall make or correct his certified list thereof to the chairman of the respective party central committees for the county accordingly. The term "candidate" as used in this section shall include and apply to persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman.

Sec. 19. Canvass by board of supervisors—certificates. On Tuesday next following the primary election in June, the board of supervisors shall meet, open, and canvass the returns from each voting precinct in the county, and make abstracts thereof, stating in words written at length the number of ballots cast in the county by each political party, separately, for each office, the name of each person voted for and the number of votes given to each person for each different office and shall sign and certify thereto and file the same with the county auditor.

Such canvass and certificate shall be final as to all candidates for nomination to any elective county office or office of a subdivision of a county; and the candidate or candidates of each political party for each office to be filled by the voters of any subdivision of a county having received the highest number of votes shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office; and the candidate or candidates of each political party for each office to be filled by the voters of a county having received the highest number of votes, and not less than thirty-five per centum of all the votes cast by the party for such office, shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office; and each candidate so nominated shall be entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted for at the general election without other certificate, and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the county a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents; and shall also prepare, certify and deliver to such chairman a list of the offices to be filled by the voters of a county for which no candidate of his party was nominated, together with the names of the candidates for each of such offices voted for at the primary election and the number of votes received by each of such candidates.

Sec. 20. Abstract forwarded to Secretary of State. The county board of canvassers shall also make a separate abstract of the canvass as to the following offices and certify to the same and forthwith forward it to the Secretary of State, viz:

United States Senator,
Electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States,
All State offices,
Representative in Congress,
Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly.

Sec. 21. County returns filed. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original returns to the auditor, who shall file the same and record each of the abstracts above mentioned in the election book.

Sec. 22. Canvass by State board—certificates. On the second Monday after the June primary election, the Executive Council shall meet as a canvassing board, and open and canvass the abstract returns received from each county in the State. If returns are not received from all the counties, the Secretary of State shall immediately send a messenger after the abstract returns and the board may adjourn from day to day until they are received.

The board shall make an abstract of its canvass, stating in words written at length, the number of ballots cast by each political party, separately, for each office designated in section twenty hereof, the names of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes received by each person for each office, and shall sign and certify thereto. Such canvass and certificates shall be final as to all candidates named therein; and the candidate of each political party for each office to be filled by vote of the people, having received the highest number of votes in the State or district of the State, as the case may be, provided he received not less than thirty-five per centum of all the votes cast by the party for such office, shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office and entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted at the general election without other certificate; and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the State a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents; and shall also forthwith prepare a certificate as to each office, separately, for which no candidate was nominated, together with the names of the several candidates for each of such offices voted for at the primary election and the number of votes received by each of such candidates and send such certificate to the chairman of the party central committee for the State, in case of offices to be filled by the voters of the entire State, and to the chairman of the party central committee for a district of the State, if known, in case of offices to be filled by the voters of any such district of the State composed of more than one county, and to the county auditor of each county in any such district, and to the county auditor and the chairman of the party central committee for the county, in case any such district is composed of one county.

Sec. 23. State returns filed—nominations certified to county auditor. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original abstract returns to the Secretary of State, who shall file the same in his office and record the abstracts of the canvass of the State board and certificates attached thereto in the book kept by him known as the election book; and not less than fifteen days before the general election he shall certify to the auditor of each county, under separate party headings, the name of each person nominated as shown by the official canvass made by the executive council, or as certified to him by the proper persons when any person has been nominated by a convention, his place of residence, the office to which he is nominated, and the order in which the tickets of the several political parties shall appear on the official ballot. Should a vacancy in the nominations occur and be filled after such certificate has been forwarded, a like certificate shall at once be made and sent to the proper officer together with a statement showing the reason for its subsequent issue.

Sec. 24. Tie vote—vacancies. In case of a tie vote resulting in no nomination for any office, or election of delegates or party committeeman, the tie shall forthwith be determined by lot by the board of canvassers, or judges of election, as the case may be. Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary election occasioned by death, withdrawal or change of residence of any candidate, or from any other cause, shall be filled by the party committee for the county, district, or State, as the case may be, representing the party in which the vacancy nomination occurs.

Sec. 25. County convention—delegates—committeemen. In each county there shall be held in each year in which a general election in November is to take place a county convention of each political party. Said county convention shall be composed of delegates elected at the last preceding primary election, and shall be held on the third Saturday following the primary election, convening at 11 o'clock a. m. The number of delegates from each voting precinct shall be determined by a ratio adopted by the respective party county central committees, and shall be thus determined and a statement designating the number from each voting precinct in the county filed in the office of the county auditor at least thirty days before the primary election; if not so done, the auditor shall fix the number. The requisite number of names of candidates of his choice for delegates to the county convention to which each precinct is entitled shall be written, or pasted with uniform white pasters, on the blank lines upon the ballot by the voter while in the booth, or by some one designated by a voter unable to write, after the ballots are received and before they are deposited, and the requisite number of persons from each precinct who receive the highest number of votes shall be the delegates from the precinct to the county convention. One member of the county central committee for each political party from each precinct shall be elected in the same manner in which delegates are selected. His term of office shall begin on the day of the county convention and immediately following the adjournment thereof and shall continue for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless such committeeman shall be removed by the county central committee for inattention to the duties of his position, incompetency or failure to support the ticket nominated by the party which elected him to such position. Returns shall be made by the judges of election respecting delegates and members of the county central committee in the same manner as for other offices, except that the judges of election shall canvass the returns as to delegates and members of the county central committee, and certify the result to the auditor with the returns. The auditor shall, immediately after such returns are filed, notify the delegates and members of the county central committee who have thus been elected, of their election, and of the time and place of holding the county convention, and shall on the second Thursday following the primary election, deliver a certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county. When the delegates, or a majority thereof, thus elected shall have assembled in the county convention at the time herein prescribed and at the county seat the convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the county central committee, who shall present the certified list of delegates and members of the county central committee, and a list of the offices for which no nomination was made at the primary election. If any precinct shall not be fully represented the delegates present from such precinct shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. The said county convention shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any office to be filled by the voters of a county when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election, as shown by the canvass of the returns provided for in section 19 of this act, and shall nominate candidates for the office of judge of the District court in counties comprising one judicial district of the State, and shall select delegates to the next ensuing State and district conventions of that year upon such ratio of representation as may be determined by the party organization for the State, district or districts of the State, as the case may be, but no delegates shall be so selected to any of the district conventions referred to in section 26 of this act, except judicial conventions, unless a call therefor has been issued as therein provided. The said county convention shall also elect a member of the party central committee for the senatorial, judicial, and congressional districts composed of more than one county.

Sec. 26. District convention. In any senatorial, judicial, or congressional district composed of more than one county, in any year in which a Senator in the General Assembly, a judge of the District court, or a Representative in the Congress of the United States, is to be elected, a senatorial or congressional convention may be held, and a judicial convention shall be held by each political party participating in the primary election of that year. Not less than ten days and not more than sixty days before the day fixed for holding the county convention a call for such senatorial, judicial and congressional convention to be held shall be issued by the party central committee for any such district and published in at least one newspaper of general circulation of each county composing any such district and which call shall state among other things the number of delegates each county of the district shall be entitled to and the time and place of holding the convention. Any such call shall be signed by the chairman of the party central committee for any such district, and be filed by him with the county auditor not less than five days before the county convention and the county auditor shall attach a true copy thereof to the certified list of delegates required to be delivered by him to the chairmen of the respective party county central committees. In case no nomination was made in the primary election for the office of Senator in the General Assembly in any district composed of more than one county, or for the office of Representative in Congress of the United States, as shown by the certificate issued by the State board of canvassers provided for in this act, then in any such district the chairman of the party central committee therefor shall forthwith issue such call for a convention in such district and deliver the same to the county auditor of each county in the district and in such case said call need not be published.

No such district convention shall be held earlier than the first Thursday or later than the fifth Thursday following the county convention. The convention when organized shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any such district office when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the votes provided for in section twenty-two hereof. The organization of and procedure in any such district convention shall be the same as in the State convention. Such district conventions may adopt party platforms and transact such other business as may properly be brought before them.

Sec. 27. State convention—state central committee. A State convention of each political party, composed of delegates chosen in the manner herein provided, shall be held not earlier than the third Thursday and not later than the fifth Thursday following the primary election in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, convening at such time and place as may be determined upon by the party organization. The convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the State central committee, who shall thereupon present the list of delegates, as certified by the various county conventions, and effect a temporary organization. If any county shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such county shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. Such convention when permanently organized shall formulate and adopt the State platform of the party it represents, and shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any State office to be filled by the voters of the entire State when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the returns provided for in section twenty-two hereof; and shall nominate candidates for the office of judge of the Supreme court.

It shall also elect a State central committee consisting of not less than one member from each congressional district and transact such other business as may properly be brought before it. The State central committee elected at said State convention may organize at pleasure for political work as is usual and customary with such committees and shall continue to act until succeeded by another committee duly elected.

Sec. 28. Expiring party committees. The regularly organized political committees of each party as at present or hereafter constituted may continue to act until supplanted by the committees elected under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 29. Nomination by petition. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed so as to prohibit nomination of candidates for office by petition as now authorized by law; but no person so nominated shall be permitted to use the name of any political party authorized or entitled under this act to nominate a ticket by primary vote or that has nominated a ticket by primary vote under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 30. Special elections. This act shall not apply to special elections to fill vacancies.

Sec. 31. Misconduct of election officials—penalty. Any party committeeman or any primary election or other public officer upon whom a duty is imposed by this act or by acts herein made applicable to primary elections, who shall wilfully neglect to perform any such duty, or who shall wilfully perform it in such a way as to hinder the objects thereof, or shall disclose to anyone, except as may be ordered by any court of justice, the contents of any ballot or any part thereof, as to the manner in which the same may have been voted, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

Sec. 32. Services for hire—penalty. Any person who shall agree to perform any services in the interest of any candidate in consideration of any money or other valuable thing, or who shall accept any money or other valuable thing for such services performed in the interest of any candidate, or any person paying or offering to pay or giving or offering to give money or other valuable things for such services, shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days. But nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit any person from making contracts in good faith for the announcement of his candidacy in the newspapers and for securing the names of voters required to file preliminary nomination papers and the payment of any reasonable compensation for such services.

Sec. 33. Penalties. Any person offering or giving a bribe, either in money or other consideration, to any elector for the purpose of influencing his vote at any primary election, or any elector entitled to vote at such primary election receiving and accepting such bribe; any person making false answer to any of the provisions of this act relative to his qualifications and party affiliations; any person wilfully voting or offering to vote at a primary election who has not been a resident of this State for six months next preceding said primary election; or who, at the primary election is not twenty-one years of age, or is not a citizen of the United States; or knowing himself not to be a qualified elector of such precinct where he offers to vote; or any person violating any of the provisions of this act, or of any provisions of the Code as may be hereto applied, and any person knowingly procuring, aiding or abetting such violation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

Sec. 34. Repealed. Chapter forty (40) of the laws of the Thirtieth General Assembly, relating to primary elections; and Chapters forty-five (45) and forty-six (46) of the laws of the Thirty-First General Assembly, relating to primary elections, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 35. Primary elections in certain cities. The provisions of this act shall, so far as applicable, govern the nominations of candidates by political parties for all offices to be filled by a direct vote of the people in cities of the first class and cities acting under a special charter having a population of over fifteen thousand, except all such special charter cities and cities of the first class as have by vote of the people adopted a plan of municipal government which specifically provides for a non-partisan primary election.

The duties devolving upon the county auditor, by the foregoing provisions of this act, shall, in municipal elections, devolve upon the city auditor and the duties devolving upon the board of supervisors by the foregoing provisions of this act, devolve upon the city council which shall meet to perform said duties within two days next following the primary election. The date of the municipal primary election shall be the last Monday in February of each year in which a municipal election is held in said cities, after the year 1907, and the percentage of voters signing petitions required for printing the name of a candidate upon the official primary ballot shall be the same as is required of a candidate for a county office and shall be based upon the vote cast for mayor by the respective parties in the preceding city election.

The names of candidates for ward aldermen, for city precinct committeemen and for delegates to the city convention, shall not be printed upon the official primary ballot but in each case a blank line or lines shall be provided therefore. A plurality shall nominate the party candidate for aldermen and a plurality shall elect the precinct committeemen and delegates to the city convention.

The entire expense of conducting a primary election provided for in this section shall be audited by the city council and paid by the city.

This section shall not be held to repeal any law which provides for the adoption of a plan of municipal government by vote of the people and which embraces a non-partisan primary election.

Approved April 4, A. D. 1907.

THE DEDICATION OF THE IOWA BATTLEFIELD MONUMENTS.

BY ERNEST A. SHERMAN.

The members of the Vicksburg, Andersonville, Chattanooga and Shiloh Monuments Commissions arranged, in the fall of 1906, a joint tour of the South for the purpose of dedicating the monuments and memorials which have been erected by the State of Iowa in the various southern battlefield parks and cemeteries. With this plan in view, a joint committee, of which Captain J. F. Merry of Manchester was made chairman, arranged for a special train, which started from Chicago on Tuesday, November 12th and returned to that city Sunday, November 25th. Arrangement was also made by Captain Merry with the Tennessee River Packet Company for two steamers, which met the party at Johnsonville, Tenn., conveyed them to Pittsburg Landing, acted as hotels during the two days spent there, and carried the party from Pittsburg Landing to Paducah, where the train awaited the arrival of the party.

A portion of the train, consisting of two cars, was started from Des Moines and one from Cedar Rapids. The remainder of the equipment was added at Chicago, so that the train which made the tour of the South consisted of a baggage and commissary car, hotel car "Ienza" for the band, dining car "Quantzintecomatzin," Pullman sleepers "Talavera," "Ogden," "Heidelberg," "Mauritius," "Italy," "Gogebic," and the Colorado & Southern private car of General G. In addition to those who made the entire tour, there were a number who were on board the train and boats for portions of the trip, among them being Colonel J. G. Everest of Chicago, member of the Vicksburg National Park Commission; Major and Mrs. Samuel Mahon of Ottumwa, Dr. G. O. Morgridge of Muscatine, Henry Cadie of Bethany, Mo.; Colonel E. C. Haynes of Centerville, Major J. H. Ashcraft of Paducah, of the Shiloh National Park Commission; General Basil Duke of Louisville, also of the Shiloh National Park Commission.

Twenty-seven members of the Fifty-fifth Regiment, Iowa National Guard Band of Centerville, under the leadership of George W. Landers, chief musician, were taken to supply the requisite music for the various dedication ceremonies. This band traveled in the hotel car "Tenza" and had the following membership:

- George W. Landers, chief musician.
 William Bashaw, piccolo.
 S. M. Haley, William Beckman, Paul Schaeffer, J. E. Wilkinson, I. S. Schaffer, Forest Hammans, clarinets.

The detail management of the train was in the hands of H. J. Phelps of Dubuque, division passenger agent, and F. R. Wheeler of Nashville, Tenn., district passenger agent of the Illinois Central Railway. H. M. Pickell of Des Moines represented the Rock Island lines. C. A. Rasmussen of Atlantic was in charge of the band car and transportation. Reau Campbell of Chicago, general manager of the American Tourist Association, was in charge of the dining car and commissary. N. H. Martin of Chicago supervised the sleeping car service.

Leaving Chicago Tuesday morning, November 12th, by the Illinois Central Railroad, the party reached Vicksburg at 10 o'clock the next morning, and the members were immediately driven over a portion of the battlefield park. This drive took in the National Cemetery and the north half of the Vicksburg defenses, with a stop at the beautiful and stately Illinois memorial. The afternoon was devoted to similar sightseeing and that evening a reception was tendered the Iowa visitors by the citizens of Vicksburg in the Vicksburg pavilion. This reception was a brilliant affair and was attended by all of the Iowa party and several hundred of Vicksburg's leading citizens. Incidental to the reception, the Fifty-fifth Regimental Band rendered a delightful concert program.

The formal ceremonies of dedication at Vicksburg were observed Thursday afternoon, November 15th. The Iowa party formed in procession and drove to the Iowa memorial, where a large number of Vicksburg's citizens had assembled, and the following program was carried out:

Benediction..... Rev. H. F. Sproles, D. D.

The Iowa party left Vicksburg Thursday evening, expecting to arrive at Andersonville Friday morning in time to hold the dedication ceremonies. Insufficient motive power, however, put the train so far behind schedule time that it did not arrive in Montgomery until Friday noon. As it would have availed nothing to continue the journey that day, arrangements were made to hold the train at Montgomery during the afternoon and give the members of the party an opportunity to visit that city. The Alabama State House, where the Southern Confederacy was organized, and where Jefferson Davis took the oath of office as President of the Confederate States, was visited, as well as other points of historic interest.

The train arrived at Andersonville late Friday night and the exercises, which were to have been held on Friday, were held on Saturday, November 17th, at that place. At half past ten in the morning, under weeping skies, simple yet pathetic services were held in the National Cemetery, where the Iowa memorial has been erected. Captain James A. Brewer, chairman of the Andersonville Commission, presided. The invocation was asked by Rev. S. H. Hedrix of Allerton. The Fifty-fifth Regimental Band rendered a number of appropriate selections and a detachment of United States regulars was present to fire the closing volleys. Mrs. Albert B. Cummins officiated at the ceremony of unveiling the monument. Addresses were made by Captain Brewer, by Governor Albert B. Cummins, and by General E. A. Carman, who accepted the memorial on behalf of the United States Government. The closing benediction was given by Rev. S. H. Hedrix. This was followed by the parting volleys by the regulars and "taps" by the bugler.

During the afternoon a concert of sacred music was rendered by the band at Providence Spring in the stockade, and incidental to this a number of informal addresses were delivered by various members of the party. Leaving Andersonville Saturday evening, the Iowa party, going by way of Macon, arrived in Atlanta early Sunday morning, remaining in that city until after midnight Sunday night. Many members of the party took occasion of the stop to visit the battlefields in and about Atlanta and the day spent there was a most interesting one.

The Iowa train arrived in Chattanooga Monday morning, November 19th, and two days were spent in and about that city. The ceremony of dedicating the Iowa monument on Lookout Mountain was observed Monday morning, the Iowa party going to the foot of Lookout Mountain by street car and there taking the cable incline road to its summit. The morning was a most disagreeable one, the mountain being shrouded in fog and mist, but the rain ceased sufficiently so that the ceremonies were not interfered with. The exercises at Lookout Mountain were in charge of Captain John A. Young, president of the commission; Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie gave the invocation; addresses were made by Colonel Alonzo Abernethy, General James B. Weaver, Governor Albert B. Cummins, and Captain H. A. Chambers of Chattanooga. The music was, as usual, rendered by the Fifty-fifth Regimental Band.

On Monday afternoon the dedicating exercises were held at the Iowa monument on Sherman Heights. This dedication involved a drive of about seven miles from the city. The weather of the afternoon was in decided contrast to the morning, the clouds and storm having cleared away. The exercises were in charge of Captain John A. Young; Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie gave the invocation, and Governor Albert B. Cummins made a few informal remarks. Addresses were made by Captain Mahlon Head of Jefferson, Hon. N. E. Kendall of Albia, and Captain J. P. Smartt of Chattanooga.

On Monday evening a fine concert was rendered in the lobby of the Read House by the Fifty-fifth Regimental Band, and this was attended and greatly enjoyed by all of the members of the Iowa party as well as by several hundreds of Chattanooga's citizens. Tuesday morning was devoted to sight-seeing and a large number of the Iowa party visited the Chickamauga National Military Park. In the afternoon was held the dedication ceremony at Rossville Gap. This ceremony was the principal one observed at Chattanooga and was attended by the members of the Chattanooga G. A. R. Post, the Chattanooga camp of Confederate veterans, and a large number of Chattanooga's citizens. In addition, the officers of Fort Oglethorpe, in Chickamauga Park, with the post band and a detachment of soldiers, were present and assisted in the exercises. On this occasion the formal ceremony of presenting the monuments to the State of Iowa on the part of the commission and transferring them on behalf of the State to the National Government was performed. Hon. William Frierson, mayor of Chattanooga, acted as temporary chairman and made a few informal remarks. Captain John A. Young, chairman of the commission, presided and in a touching address placed the keeping of the memorials in the hands of Governor Albert B. Cummins, representing the State of Iowa. Governor Cummins, in a beautiful and eloquent speech, transferred them to the care and keeping of the United States Government, and General E. A. Carman, chairman of the National Chattanooga Park Commission, formally accepted the monuments on behalf of the Secretary of War. Other addresses were made by Major R. D. Cramer and Mr. J. A. Caldwell of Chattanooga, who spoke as a representative of his State. The band of the Twelfth United States Cavalry from Fort Oglethorpe rendered selections and joined with the Fifty-fifth Regimental Band in "America" and kindred music.

The Iowa party left Chattanooga Tuesday evening and arrived at Johnsonville, Tenn., early Thursday morning. Here the members of the party left the train and took passage on the Tennessee river steamers, "City of Saltillo" and "City of Memphis." On these boats the journey of one hundred and twenty-five miles up the Tennessee river to Pittsburg Landing was made, the party arriving at that point Thursday morning.

The ceremony of dedicating the eleven Iowa regimental monuments which have been erected on the Shiloh National Military Park was observed the morning of arrival, the party going in conveyances from monument to monument, as they are located in various portions of the field. The order of exercises was the same for each dedication; the band gave an appropriate selection, an invocation was asked, and a short address was made. The addresses were given as far as possible by men belonging to the regiment whose memorial was being dedicated. The party proceeded first to the monuments of the Fifteenth and Sixteenth Iowa Regiments, and from that point followed the line to the south and east, visiting each monument in turn until the last of them at the extreme left of the line had been duly dedicated.

The addresses at these regimental dedications were made by the following:

Sixteenth Regiment, Captain John A. Young.

Fifteenth Regiment, Major H. C. McArthur.

Sixth Regiment, Judge Jesse A. Miller.

Eleventh Regiment, Dr. G. O. Morgridge.

Thirteenth Regiment, Captain C. W. Kepler.

Second Regiment, General James B. Weaver.

Seventh Regiment, Major Samuel Mahon.

Twelfth Regiment, Major D. W. Reed.

Fourteenth Regiment, Captain Daniel Matson, who read a short paper from Colonel William T. Shaw, commander of the regiment during the battle.

Eighth Regiment, Asa Turner and E. W. Prentiss.

Third Regiment, Colonel G. W. Crosley and Hon. J. A. Fitchpatrick.

The afternoon of Thursday was devoted to sightseeing by the members of the Iowa party, and nearly all attended the informal "At Home" of Mrs. and Miss Reed at their residence at park headquarters, near Review field.

The dedication of the State memorial at Shiloh was held on Friday afternoon, November 23d. A speaker's stand and seats for the audience had been arranged in the shadow of the monument. At half past one Colonel W. B. Bell, chairman of the Shiloh Monument Commission, called the assembly to order. Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie gave the invocation and Colonel Bell, in a touching address, presented the memorial and regimental monuments to the Governor of Iowa, who represented the State. Governor Cummins, on behalf of the people of Iowa, accepted the monuments and in turn presented them to the United States government. Colonel Cornelius Cadle, chairman of the Shiloh National Military Park Commission, accepted the monuments on behalf of the United States. Addresses were given by General Basil W. Duke, of the Shiloh National Military Park Commission; Mr. W. K. Abernethy, who spoke on behalf of the Governor of Tennessee; General James B. Weaver of Colfax, and Hon. N. E. Kendall of Albia. The benediction was spoken by Rev. Dr. A. L. Frisbie, closing one of the most interesting ceremonies of the tour.

The Iowa party left Pittsburg Landing on the steamers "City of Saltillo" and "City of Memphis" Friday evening, arriving at Paducah about 8 o'clock Saturday morning, November 24th. The day was spent at Paducah, and while there the Iowa party were royally entertained by the citizens of that city. Headquarters were made at the Elks' clubhouse, which had just been completed. A tour of the street car lines of the city was made and a reception was held at the clubhouse, at which a large number of Paducah's citizens, with their wives, assembled to do honor to their guests. The day spent at Paducah was one of the most delightful of the entire trip and will be long remembered by all who were members of the party.

The special train, which had been waiting at Paducah for the arrival of the party, left for Chicago Saturday evening, arriving in that city Sunday morning. The party separated there, its members returning to their homes in Iowa by various routes. Those living in Des Moines and along the line of the Rock Island were accorded a special train, which left Chicago Sunday morning and which brought them into Des Moines about 5 o'clock that evening, thus closing the most memorable and history-making trip that Iowa has ever known.

THE CELEBRATION OF THE FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CONSTITUTION OF IOWA.

BY JOHN C. PARISH.

In the year 1907 the State of Iowa closes the first half century of existence under the Constitution of 1857. In April, 1906, the General Assembly, looking forward to the suitable celebration of so important an anniversary, passed an act appropriating $750 to be used by the State Historical Society of Iowa in a commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the Constitution of 1857. It was eminently desirable that the celebration should occur at Iowa City, for it was at that place, then the capital of the State, that the Constitutional Convention of 1857 was held. And it was particularly fitting that the exercises should be placed under the auspices of the State Historical Society of Iowa, for the same year 1857 marks the birth of the society. While the convention was drafting the fundamental law of the State in a room on the lower floor of the Old Stone Capitol, the Sixth General Assembly in the legislative halls upstairs in the same building passed an act providing for the organization of a State Historical Society. Thus the event of 1907 became a celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the State Historical Society as well as a commemoration of the semi-centennial of the Constitution of 1857.

In due time plans were matured for a program covering four days, beginning on Tuesday, March 19, and closing on Friday, March 22, 1907. It consisted of addresses by men of national reputation in constitutional and historical lines, together with conferences on State historical subjects. On Tuesday evening, Professor Andrew C. McLaughlin of Chicago University delivered an address upon A Written Constitution in Some of Its Historical Aspects. He dwelt in a scholarly way upon the growth of written constitutions, showing the lines along which their historical development has progressed.

The speaker of Wednesday was Professor Eugene Wambaugh of the Harvard Law School, one of the leading authorities in the country upon questions of constitutional law and formerly a member of the faculty of the College of Law of the University of Iowa. Professor Wambaugh, taking for his subject The Relation Between General History and the History of Law, outlined the history of the long rivalry between the Civil Law of Rome and the Common Law of England in their struggle for supremacy, both in the old world and the new. In closing, he referred to the Constitution of Iowa as typical of the efforts of the American people to embody in fixed form the principles of right and justice.

Thursday morning was given over to a conference on the teaching of history. Professor Isaac A. Loos of the State University of Iowa presided and members of the faculties of a number of the colleges and high schools of the State were present and participated in the program. In the afternoon the Conference of Historical Societies convened, Dr. F. E. Horack of the State Historical Society of Iowa, presiding. Reports were read from the Historical Department at Des Moines and from nearly all of the local historical societies in the State. Methods and policies were discussed and much enthusiasm was aroused looking toward the better preservation of the valuable materials of local history.

The history of the Mississippi Valley is replete with events of romantic interest. From the time of the early French voyagers and explorers, who paddled down the waters of the tributaries from the north, down to the days of the sturdy pioneers of Anglo-Saxon blood, who squatted upon the fertile soil and staked out their claims on the prairies, there attaches an interest that is scarcely equaled in the annals of America. On Thursday evening, Dr. Reuben Gold Thwaites, superintendent of the State Historical Society of Wisconsin, delivered an address upon The Romance of Mississippi Valley History. He traced the lines of exploration and immigration from the north-east and east and drew interesting pictures of the activities in the great river valley when the land was young and the ways full of wonder to the pioneer adventurer.

Friday's program closed the session. On this day Governor Albert B. Cummins attended and participated in the celebration. At the University Armory, before a large gathering, he spoke briefly on the Constitution of the United States, paying it high tribute and at the same time showing the need of amendment to fit present day needs. He then introduced Judge Emlyn McClain of the Supreme Court of Iowa, who delivered the principal address of the day. Judge McClain took for his subject The Constitutional Convention and the Issues Before It. He told of that memorable gathering at the Old Stone Capitol in Iowa City fifty years ago when thirty-six men met in the Supreme Court room to draft the fundamental law for the Commonwealth.

The members of the Convention of 1857 were from various occupations. The representatives of the legal profession led in numbers with fourteen members, among whom were many men of prominence, William Penn Clarke, Edward Johnstone and J. C. Hall were there. James F. Wilson, afterwards so prominent in national politics, was a member, then only twenty-eight years of age. J. C. Hall was the only delegate who had served in either of the preceding Constitutional Conventions of the State, having represented Henry county in the Convention of 1844. There were twelve farmers in the Convention of 1857—rugged types of those men who settled upon the land and built into the early history of the State its elements of enduring strength. Among the remaining members were merchants, bankers and various other tradesmen. They were a representative group of men and they attacked the problems before them with characteristic pioneer vigor.

The Convention of 1857 chose for its presiding officer Francis Springer, an able farmer and lawyer from Louisa county. Many were the discussions that stirred the Convention. One of the first was over the proposition to move the Convention bodily to Dubuque or to Davenport. The town of Iowa City, it seems, had not provided satisfactory accommodations for the delegates; and for hours the members gave vent to their displeasure and argued the question of a removal. But inertia won and the Convention finally decided to remain in Iowa City and settled down to the discussion of more serious matters.

The Constitution of 1846 had prohibited banking corporations in the State. But there was strong agitation for a change in this respect, and so the Convention of 1857 provided for both a State bank and for a system of free banks. The matter of corporations was a prominent one before the Convention. So also was the question of the status of the negro. The issues were taken up with fairness and argued upon their merits. The Convention was Republican in the proportion of twenty-one to fifteen. The delegates had been elected on a party basis. Yet they did not allow partisanship to control their actions as members of a constituent assembly. On the 19th of January they had come together, and for a month and a half they remained in session. They adjourned on March fifth and dispersed to their homes.

That the members of the Convention did their work well is evidenced by the fact that in the fifty years that have followed only four times has the Constitution of 1857 been amended. Nor did these amendments embody changes the need of which the men of 1857 could have well foreseen. The first two changes in the fundamental law were due to the changed status of the negro as a result of the Civil War. In 1882 the prohibitory amendment was passed, but it was soon declared null by the Supreme Court of Iowa because of technicalities in its submission to the people, and so did not become a part of the Constitution. The amendments of 1884 were concerned largely with judicial matters, and those of 1904 provided for biennial elections and increased the number of members of the House of Representatives.

562 FIFTIETH ANNIVERSARY OF THE CONSTITUTION OF IOWA

With these changes the work of the Constitutional Convention of 1857 has come down to us. Fifty years have passed and twice has the Convention been the subject of a celebration. In 1882, after a quarter of a century, the surviving members met in Des Moines. Francis Springer, then an old man, was present and presided at the meeting. Out of the original thirty-six members, only twenty responded to the roll call. Eight other members were alive but unable to attend; the remainder had given way to the inevitable reaper. This was in 1882. In 1907 occurred the second celebration. This time it was not a reunion of members of the Convention, for only one survivor appeared upon the scene. It was rather a commemoration of the fiftieth birthday of the Constitution of the State. Only one member of the Convention (John H. Peters of Manchester, Iowa) is reported to be now living.

The celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the adoption of our fundamental law was marked by a unique feature. There were present and participated in the program three aged pioneers of the State, a survivor of each of the three Constitutional Conventions. These three Conventions met in 1857, in 1846, and in 1844, respectively fifty, sixty-one and sixty-three years ago. On the opening day of the celebration, J. Scott Richman appeared upon the scene. Sixty-one years ago he had come to Iowa City as a delegate to the Convention of 1846. Eighty-eight years old, with patriarchal beard and slow step, he came as the only living member of the Convention that framed the Constitution under which Iowa entered the Union. On Thursday there came from Marlon, Samuel Durham, a tall pioneer of ninety years of age, the sole survivor of Iowa's first Constitutional Convention, that of 1844. His memory ran back to the days of Iowa's first Governor, Robert Lucas, for he had reached Iowa from Indiana in the year 1840. On the last day of the program these two old constitution-makers of 1844 and 1846 were joined by a third, John H. Peters, who had come from Delaware county as a member of the last Constitutional Convention fifty years ago. They sat down together at the luncheon on Friday noon and responded to toasts with words that took the hearers back to the days when Iowa was the last stopping place of the immigrant.

Thus the celebration was brought to an end. From every point of view it was a success. Probably never again will the State see the reunion of representatives of all three Constitutional Conventions. Time must soon take away these lingering pioneers of two generations ago. But the State will not soon forget their services, for they have left their monument in the fundamental law of the Commonwealth.

STATE AND NATIONAL PURE FOOD LAWS.

BY H. R. WRIGHT, STATE FOOD AND DAIRY COMMISSIONER.

On July 4, 1906, the pure food law of Iowa became effective and the State Food and Dairy Commissioner is charged with its enforcement. On January 1, 1907, the national pure food law, known as the Food and Drugs Act, took effect and it is the duty of the Secretary of Agriculture to see that its provisions are complied with. Under the State law, goods purchased by Iowa dealers before last July are exempt until July 1, 1907; under the national law regulations have already been promulgated suspending some of its provisions in regard to labels until October 1, 1907. Under authority given the Secretary of Agriculture some years ago, certain food standards have been established "for the guidance of the officials of the various States and of the courts of justice." The effect and force of these standards is problematical. The most reasonable assumption seems to be that they certainly do not have the effect of law, but that they will probably be taken as prima facie evidence because of the weight of authority back of them. It is to the two laws set forth above that the public may look for protection of the food supply from adulteration and deception in labeling.

Under our double form of government it comes about that the State has no power to prevent the introduction of impure foods into the State, since authority over interstate commerce rests exclusively in Congress. But Congress has no authority over trade wholly within a State, and hence can not prevent the manufacture or sale of unwholesome or adulterated foods wholly within the commonwealth, nor can National laws touch the sale of products after they come into the State for the reason that police powers are specifically reserved to the State, from which it is evident that a National pure food law and a State pure food law are necessarily complements of each other; neither wholly effective without the other.

Pure food laws have existed for many years in other States, but experience has shown them to be more or less inadequate to a complete control of the evils they were designed to remedy. While they have greatly lessened the amount of impure foods sold, and to a degree have justified their cost, they have not been as effective as will be the combined State and National laws.

Under the State law the crime is the "sale" of contraband articles. Under the National law the crime is "introduction into a State or territory" of a forbidden article. The State law is a police measure and has to do most often with the retailer or local jobber or wholesaler. The National law is an interstate commerce statute and has to do with the shipper, who, naturally, is most often the manufacturer or larger jobber or wholesaler of the article. It is evident that the National law seeks to get at the source of the adulterated products and for that reason can be expected to be more effective than the State law, which has authority over products in most cases only after they have been scattered far from the place of their manufacture. Since the National law affects only interstate shipments, it is evident that the retailer or other dealer doing a business wholly in one State can not violate it; that he is interested in the State law only. There has been so much said to the effect that the National law is so much stronger than the State law that retailers and some others have come to the conclusion that they need pay little attention to the State law, which conclusion is erroneous, as the State law is of first importance to them.

The State and National food laws are not alike in their provisions and neither covers the whole of the trade in foods. The National law includes drugs, defined to include medicines for internal or external use for man or other animals. Drugs sold under names recognized in the United States Pharmacopoeia must conform to the standard of strength laid down by that authority; and all drugs and medicines must bear a statement showing "the quantity or proportion of any alcohol, morphine, opium, cocains, heroin, alpha or beta eucains, chloroform, cannabis indica, chloral hydrate, or acetanilide, or any derivative or preparation of any such substance contained therein." If hereafter the headache powders, catarrh cures and consumption remedies do not have the soothing effects formerly experienced, it will be reasonable to suppose that the manufacturer of the nostrum has replaced some one of the above list of forbidden powerful narcotics with something else less effective, and far less dangerous. The Iowa statute contains no reference to drugs.

Except in regard to drugs, the National and State laws are similar but not quite identical in their scope, definitions and general provisions. Both define foods to include "foods, drinks, confectionery and condiments" used by man or other animals. The object of every food law is to prevent the sale of detrimental foods and those that contain deleterious ingredients, or those that are decomposed or filthy; to regulate the sale of harmless foods, compounds, mixtures, imitations or blends, so that they may be sold for what they are. That is to say, the object of the pure food law is to protect the health of the public against deleterious foods, and to prevent deception and fraud in the sale of wholesome food products of every kind. The food laws, therefore, consist of prohibitions of the sale or transportation of foods that are detrimental to health, and regulations concerning the manner of labeling those food products which, while perfectly wholesome, are deceptive in appearance or as to the labels or titles under which they are sold. "Misbranded" and "adulterated" are, therefore, vital words in any food law.

Briefly stated, an article of food is "misbranded" if the label bears any false or misleading statement regarding the ingredients, the State or country where produced, or the net weight of the contents. Under the National law, the presence of a misleading picture or design condemns the article as "misbranded." The theory underlying this portion of the statutes is that the purchaser is entitled to the truth, a theory that appeals to every honest man.

"Adulterated foods" are defined extensively as those to which something has been added to reduce the quality or strength; or that have been colored to cover up inferiority; or that are imitations; or that contain added poisonous ingredients; or that are filthy or decomposed; or that might otherwise be unhealthful or fraudulent. The theory underlying this part of the statute is that the purchaser and consumer is entitled to the protection of the law in what he eats against his own lack of knowledge as well as against the practices of the seller of the goods, who may not be overscrupulous in regard to the labeling of them, and perhaps not at all scrupulous in regard to chemicals used to color, bleach or preserve his products.

In some particulars the State law is more stringent than the National law. It requires that baking powders, though not at all classed as adulterated foods, shall bear a label stating all the ingredients. Both laws permit the sale of those goods that are imitations or mixtures if they are properly labeled to show that they are "compounds, combinations, imitations or blends." The National law requires that the word "compound, imitation or blend" shall be used upon the package and label of the article; the State law in addition requires that upon such goods there shall be a label in type, not smaller than brevier heavy gothic caps, of which the following illustrates the form of required words:

"This compound maple syrup is composed of the following ingredients and none other: maple syrup and cane syrup. S. H. Jones & Co., Milwaukee Wis." The main or title label of such an article would be "Compound Maple Syrup" or "Maple and Cane Syrup," or some equivalent expression that would indicate its exact character as a mixture and not the pure unmixed syrup. It is well known that there is a growing practice of selling goods in the manufacturers' package, and upon such goods the consumer will expect to find labels properly certifying what the article is, and if it is a compound or imitation, the names of the ingredients will be given.

Deleterious ingredients in foods are mainly chemical preservatives and colors. For a long time it has been a mooted question as to what chemical preservatives and what particular colors are harmful. The National Department of Agriculture, as part of the work under the pure food and drugs act, will undertake experiments and investigation with a view to determining the matter, and its determinations will doubtless be authoritative unless overthrown in the courts. Doubtless such determination, if agreed to without opposition by purveyors of foods, will immediately be followed by changes in State laws to conform in this particular with the National law, and in cases where the State laws already are like the National statute the effectiveness of them will be greatly increased.

A considerable number of other uncertainties will probably be avoided by reason of the National law. Codfish and oysters are of course produced on the seaboard and shipped into the various States. If the National law results in the packing of the first without the use of boric acid and of the second without formaldehyde, the problem of protecting the retail customer in this State is greatly simplified. If the glucose trust may no longer ship in interstate commerce their products bleached with sulphites, they will simply not make the glucose that way, and our glucose syrups and jellies and candies will lack that more or less dangerous chemical. It is evident that food products which are almost wholly articles of interstate commerce by reason of being produced only in a single or restricted locality, as is the case with codfish and oysters, and food products the manufacture of which is controlled by a trust, or by a small number of manufacturers, as is the case with glucose, will be produced, labeled, shipped and sold in strict accordance with the law. Hence in such products, adulterations of a character that are possible only in the hands of the manufacturer will be eliminated. It is equally evident that goods which may be manufactured or put in packages equally well at any point, such as extracts and spices, will not enter largely into interstate commerce, and in the absence of State laws may be grossly adulterated without interference.

There are certain unsettled questions in regard to colors and chemical preservatives; unsettled both from a scientific and legal standpoint. These will be taken up and after proper investigations not possible to any one State, rulings will be issued. Doubtless test cases will establish in the court the correctness of these rulings and when so established they will be followed in the courts of all the States and we will then be assured as to the healthfulness of the colors and preservatives that we eat in our foods.

The National law will be easy to enforce, for the reason that all food products of whatever kind affected by it will be put up in the manufacturers' packages for shipment and so will be labeled; for the reason that the manufacturer is mightily afraid of the federal courts and will submit to regulations even if he believes them to be without foundation in law rather than to put up a fight and be advertised as a possible violator of the law; for the reason also that investigations may be made at place of manufacture and ports of entry as well as while the goods are in transit and after they have been distributed. The law gives immunity to the dealer if he has a guaranty from the seller of the goods, a great inducement to insist upon the guaranty. Naturally, the guarantor with any reputation to sustain will guarantee only proper goods.

The State laws are not so easy to enforce for the reason that not all goods are put up with manufacturers' labels upon them, and hence are easily sold under names other than the proper one. Some lard substitutes contain no lard and cost one-half as much as lard and are sold for lard without the knowledge of the consumer, even though the bulk package from which the substitute is taken may be labeled as required by National law. It is evident that this is a more difficult practice to correct than it would be if engaged in only by the packers. A dealer can add formaldehyde to his oysters, or color to his vinegar, as easily as the manufacturer. He can sell his colored distilled vinegar or his bricks of compound maple sugar under a name demanding a higher price just as glibly as the wholesaler, and with less probability of detection and prosecution. It is plain that a manufacturer or large dealer may confine his practices to a single State with absolute safety so far as the National law is concerned, and so supply the local dealer with spurious goods. The difference in the enforcement of these two laws is the difference between cutting off a tree at the roots and trying to kill it by clipping the leaves one at a time.

There have been a good many practices in the manufacture and sale of food products which have been excused by dealers on the ground that competition compelled adulterations; that demands on the part of the consumer required a cheap article, made possible only by the addition of useless or cheaper ingredients. It is the business of the food authorities to correct this peculiar business morality and to bring about a straightforward, honest, square-dealing kind of business practice that everybody agrees is right and proper; to protect the unwary consumer against the careless retailer; to protect the retailer against the eager wholesaler; to protect the wholesaler against the unscrupulous manufacturer or producer; the whole with the intention and effect to fully and completely protect the consumers of foods both as to health and the pocketbook. No laws of any character so intimately touch the life of every individual of the country, and the general interest in food laws is entirely warranted.

INTER-STATE SENATORIAL AMENDMENT CONVENTION.

MET AT THE CAPITOL BUILDING, DES MOINES, DECEMBER 5 AND 6, 1906.

The Thirty-first General Assembly of Iowa adopted the following resolution, which had been originally introduced in the Senate by Lester W. Lewis, Senator from the Seventh Senatorial District:

JOINT RESOLUTION

Directing the Governor of the State of Iowa to Invite the Governors of the Several States to Name Representatives to an Interstate Convention, to Be Held at Des Moines, Iowa, or Elsewhere, for the Purpose of Securing Such Action on the Part of the Several States as Will Result in a Constitutional Convention for the Proposal of an Amendment to the Constitution Providing for the Election of United States Senators by a Direct Vote.

Whereas, The Legislatures of many States have at various times adopted memorials and resolutions in favor of the election of United States Senators by popular vote; and

Whereas, The National House of Representatives has, in recent years, repeatedly adopted resolutions in favor of the proposed change in the method of electing United States Senators, all of which, however, have failed in the Senate; and

Whereas, Article V of the Constitution of the United States provides that Congress, on the application of the Legislatures of two-thirds of the several States, shall call a convention for proposing amendments; and

Whereas, It is believed that there is a general desire on the part of the voters of the State of Iowa that United States Senators should be elected by direct vote; therefore

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. That the Governor of the State of Iowa is hereby authorized and directed to invite the Governors of the various States to appoint and commission five delegates from each of their respective States to constitute an Interstate Convention, to be held in the city of Des Moines, Iowa, or elsewhere, to be convened in the year 1906, for the purpose of securing such action on the part of the several States as will result in the calling of a constitutional convention for the proposal of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote.

In pursuance of the resolution, Governor Albert B. Cummins sent to the Governors of all the States of the Union the following letter, enclosing a copy of the resolution adopted by the General Assembly of Iowa:

EXECUTIVE OFFICE, DES MOINES, IOWA, June 23, 1906.

Sir,—The Thirty-first General Assembly of Iowa adopted a joint resolution, a copy of which I have the honor to transmit herewith, authorizing and directing me to invite each of the Governors of the several States to appoint and commission five delegates to constitute an Interstate Convention. The purpose of the convention so to be assembled is to secure such action on the part of the States as will result in calling a Constitutional Convention for the proposal of an amendment to the Constitution of the United States providing for the election of United States Senators by a direct vote.

It is with great pleasure that I now perform the duty laid upon me by the General Assembly and solicit your co-operation in accomplishing the reform suggested in the resolution. I most respectfully invite you to appoint and commission five delegates from your State to meet with delegates appointed and commissioned by the Governors of other States, in the city of Des Moines, in the State of Iowa, on the 6th day of September, 1906, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon, to consider and act upon the subject set forth in the aforementioned resolution.

Will you kindly give me an early response, with the names and addresses of the delegates appointed?

With assurances of high regard, I am,

Yours very truly,

ALBERT B. CUMMINS,
Governor of the State of Iowa.

At the request of a number of delegates, who could not attend the convention at the time set in the invitation, Governor Cummins recalled the time of meeting as set forth in his letter and set the date for December 5, 1906.

In answer to the letter and invitation of Governor Cummins, the Governors of the following States accepted the invitation and named delegates to the convention:

Governor George C. Pardee, California.	Governor E. C. Stokes, New Jersey.
Governor Jesse F. McDonald, Colorado.	Governor Robert B. Glenn, North Carolina.
Governor Charles S. Deneen, Illinois.	Governor Andrew L. Harris, Ohio.
Governor Frank J. Hanley, Indiana.	Governor George E. Chamberlain, Oregon.

Governor Fred M. Warner, Michigan.	Governor B. B. Brooks, Wyoming.
Governor John A. Johnson, Minnesota.
Governor Joseph K. Toole, Montana.
Governor John H. Mickey, Nebraska.

The Governors of five other States expressed their complete sympathy with the movement but doubted their authority to name delegates without legislative consent.

Pursuant to the call, the convention met in the Senate Chamber of the capitol building at Des Moines, December 5, 1906, at two thirty o'clock. Governor Cummins called the convention to order and extended greetings on behalf of the State of Iowa. Committees on credentials, permanent organization and rules and resolutions were selected.

The committee on resolutions submitted, through their chairman, the following resolutions, which were adopted:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RESOLUTIONS.

DES MOINES, IOWA, Dec. 6. 1906.

To the Honorable Interstate Senatorial Convention: Your committee on resolutions beg leave to report the following preamble and resolutions with the recommendation that they be adopted by the convention:

Whereas, It is the judgment of this convention that the legislative branch of the National Government should be placed more directly under the control of the people of the several States; and,

Whereas, There exists, and has long existed, a strong popular demand for the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people, and said demand is, in the opinion of this convention, well founded; and,

Whereas, The Constitution of the United States provides only two methods whereby the provision respecting the election of United States Senators may be changed; and,

Whereas, The method ordinarily adopted, of Congress on its own initiative submitting to the several States a proposed amendment, has heretofore been ineffective, owing to the refusal of the United States Senate to submit such proposed amendment to the several States; and,

Whereas, There is no alternative for accomplishing the desired reform save an appeal by at least two-thirds of the States to Congress, asking that a Constitutional Convention be called;

Be It Therefore Resolved, That, while this convention would much prefer that Congress should submit to the several States a proposed amendment to the Constitution for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people, so that the States might pass upon it as a single question, yet, inasmuch as the Senate persistently refuses to submit such amendment, it therefore earnestly recommends that the Legislatures of the several States do, in pursuance of Article V of the Constitution of the United States, make application to the Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States.

Be It Further Resolved, That the president and secretary of this convention be, and they are hereby, instructed to transmit duly certified copies of these resolutions to the chairmen of the National committees and of the several State committees of the two leading political parties, also to the Governors of the respective States, to each member of Congress, and to the President. That, in transmitting the copies to the Governors of the States, the president and secretary of this convention shall enclose a letter, urging each of them to lay these resolutions before the Legislature of his State.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS J. KERNAN, Chairman.

Believing that the organization formed should be permanent in character, resolutions to that effect were introduced by R. R. Wallace of Illinois and F. C. Goudy of Colorado.

The committee on permanent organization and rules, in a report by their chairman, submitted the following, which was adopted:

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON PERMANENT ORGANIZATION AND RULES.

Mr. President: Your committee on permanent organization and rules, to whom was referred the resolutions of Hon. R. R. Wallace of Illinois and Hon. F. C. Goudy of Colorado, upon the subject matter therein contained respecting the status of this convention and whether it shall maintain its organization, and respecting the presentation of the resolutions adopted by this convention to the Legislatures of the different States, beg leave to make the following report:

1. The official name of the organization represented by this convention shall be "The Inter-State Senatorial Amendment Convention."

2. The committee on credentials is hereby requested to prepare a supplement roll of delegates, and to place thereon all those duly accredited, but not present; and all delegates shall be duly notified of any future meetings of this convention.

3. When the present session of this convention adjourns, it shall be to meet again at the call of the president at such time and place as he shall fix, at the request of or with the approval of the executive committee.

4. That an executive committee, consisting of five members, shall be appointed by the president of the convention, which committee shall have direction of all matters within the powers of the convention, during the intervals between the meetings of the convention. Said committee to select its own officers and formulate plans for all future work in conjunction with officers of the convention.

5. The executive committee shall call to its assistance as advisory committees, one or more of the delegates from each State, and shall prepare an address to the Legislature of each State, that has not heretofore acted on the subject, requesting the adoption of such resolutions as may be presented from time to time by this convention, and to urge upon the States of Colorado, Florida, Idaho, Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Kansas, Kentucky, Michigan, Minnesota, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Hampshire, North Carolina, North Dakota, Ohio, Oregon, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Tennessee, Utah, Washington and Wyoming, which have already acted, to renew and continue their efforts to the end that the election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people may soon be an accomplished fact.

That said executive committee shall take such other steps as this convention may direct, or as it may deem proper and advisable to further the cause represented by this convention

The convention shall be dissolved by the submission of Congress to the Legislatures of the States, under Article V of the United States Constitution, of an amendment to the Constitution providing for the election of United States Senators by the direct vote of the people.

Respectfully submitted,

THOMAS A. CHESHIRE, Chairman.

The president of the convention named the following as members of the executive committee:

T. A. Cheshire of Iowa, chairman; Thomas J. Kernan of Louisiana, Frank C. Goudy of Colorado, W. R. Ellis of Oregon, and Charles M. Kimbrough of Indiana.

OPERATION OF THE MULCT AND CIGARETTE TAX LAWS.

In answer to many inquiries relative to the operation of the mulct and cigarette tax laws, the Secretary of State sent to the County Treasurers of the State a blank asking for the following information:

First—The name of the cities, towns and townships in your county in which either, or both, of the above mentioned laws are in operation.

Second—The number of places in each of said cities, towns and townships which were subject to the mulct tax or cigarette tax, as shown by the 1906 September report of the county auditor.

Third—The total amount collected by you under the provisions of the mulct law during the year ending September 30, 1906.

Fourth—The total amount collected by you under the provisions of the cigarette law during the year ending September 30, 1906.

Replies were received from all the county treasurers.

A compilation of these returns show that for the quarter ending September 30, 1906, of the ninety-nine counties of the State there were forty-three in which the mulct law was in operation in one or more cities, towns or townships. In these forty-three counties there were reported two hundred and forty-two cities and towns and fifty-one townships as operating under the provisions of the law. In these cities, towns and townships there were seventeen hundred and seventy saloons. The collections of the county treasurers, under the provisions of the mulct law, for the year ending September 30, 1906, were reported as $1,097,052.52.

Six counties only reported collection of taxes for the sale of cigarettes and cigarette paper. The counties so reporting were Clinton, Johnson, Linn, Polk, Scott and Wapello. In these six counties there were twenty-three stores, distributed as follows: Clinton, Clinton county, two; Iowa City, Johnson county, two; Cedar Rapids, Linn county, one; Des Moines, Polk county, thirteen; Davenport, Scott county, four; Ottumwa, Wapello county, one. The amounts collected from these stores in the several counties were as follows: Clinton, $975; Johnson, $450; Linn, $300; Polk, $4,275; Scott, $1,275; Wapello, $300. The total tax thus collected in the State of Iowa for the year ending September 30, 1906, was $7,575.

Having secured from the county treasurers the names of the cities and towns in the different counties in which the mulct law was in operation, a blank was sent to the treasurers of the cities and towns asking for the following information: First, amount of yearly tax assessed against each saloon; second, the total amount collected from the saloons for the year ending September 30, 1906, under the provisions of the mulct law. Replies were received from two hundred and forty cities and towns. From these returns it is shown that seventy-six cities and towns charge no additional tax to the minimum required by law; one hundred sixty-four require an additional tax. The total collections by the city and town treasurers for the year ending September 30, 1906, was $377,092.68. The average tax paid by the saloons of the State on September 30, 1906, was $865.85.

Combining the reports received from the county, city and town treasurers, it is shown that for the year ending September 30, 1906, there was collected under the provisions of the mulct law $1,474,145.20. Of this amount, $548,536.26 was credited to general funds of the several counties wherein the mulct law was in operation and $925,618.94 to the general fund of the several cities and towns.

The Auditor of State in 1899 gathered certain statistics relative to the operation of the mulct law at that time. In his report of the statistics so gathered it is shown that there were forty-eight counties in which the law was in operation. In these forty-eight counties there were fifteen hundred and thirty saloons. The average tax at that time, July 1, 1899, was $864.45.

Statistics gathered by the Secretary of State relative to the manufacture of malt and spirituous liquors in the State show that on September 30, 1906, there were twenty-two breweries and distilleries in operation, located in thirteen cities and towns.

BIOGRAPHIES OF STATE OFFICERS

ALBERT BAIRD CUMMINS,

Governor of Iowa, was born near Carmichaels, Greene county, Pennsylvania, February 15, 1850. He is the son of Thomas Layton Cummins and Sarah Baird Cummins. His father's family came from Virginia, his mother's from North Carolina. His mother's grandfather was one of the signers of the Mecklenberg Declaration of Independence. He attended Greene Academy and Waynesburg College, the last named institution conferring upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws.

In September, 1869, he removed to Elkader, Clayton county, Iowa, and his first employment was in the County Recorder's office. In August, 1870, he entered the United States Express office at McGregor, remaining there either as clerk or messenger until the spring of 1871, when he was called to Fort Wayne, Indiana, to the deputy surveyorship of Allen county. His work there attracted the attention of officers of the Cincinnati, Richmond & Fort Wayne Railway Company, and two months afterwards he was chosen division engineer of that company, from which position he was promoted to be assistant chief engineer, and remained with the road until its completion in 1871. On the first of January, 1872, he became assistant chief engineer in charge of the construction of the Northern Central Michigan Railway and continued with it during that year. Meanwhile he had been tendered the place of assistant chief engineer of the Denver & Rio Grand Railway, and left Michigan about Christmas, 1872, intending to go to Denver to accept the position. Stopping off at Chicago en route, he found a long-desired opportunity to secure employment in a law office and study law, and he abandoned civil engineering and entered the law office of McClellan & Hodges, where he remained for two years and was then admitted to the bar. He began practice immediately and stayed in Chicago until January, 1878, when he removed to Des Moines.

Governor Cummins entered politics at the time of his permanent removal to Des Moines in 1878, but was not an aspirant for public place and did not hold office until 1887, when he was elected to represent Polk county in the Iowa General Assembly. He took an active part in the presidential campaign of 1892, and was chosen presidential elector-at-large. He presided over the State convention which selected delegates to St. Louis in 1896, and was one of the delegates to the national convention that year. The same year he was elected national committeeman for the ensuing four years, and spent three months in Chicago with the national executive committee in the conduct of that campaign.

In 1900 he was a candidate for the office of United States Senator, to succeed John H. Gear, the latter standing for renomination, and the contest became memorable in the history of Iowa politics.

The following year he was chosen as Republican nominee for Governor, on the first ballot, and in July, 1903, was renominated without opposition.

The adoption of the biennial election amendment extended his term one year, so that, in 1906, he was serving his fifth year as Governor. At this time he entered the field for a third term and was again successful.

A Republican in politics.

WARREN GARST,

Lieutenant-Governor and President of the Senate, was born at Dayton, Ohio, December 4, 1850. His father was of Holland and his mother of Irish descent. He came to Illinois with his parents in 1858, and in 1869 he established himself in business in Boone, which was then a newly established town. After remaining in business there for a time, he went to Coon Rapids, Carroll county, where he and his brother opened a general merchandise store. To this business Mr. Garst has devoted himself for years. He was married at Boone in 1889 to Miss Clara Clark. In addition to his business as a merchant, he has become interested in land and farming and banking.

He was elected to the Senate of the Twenty-fifth General Assembly and was re-elected twice, serving during the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth, Twenty-sixth extra, Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies. In the Legislature, Senator Garst quickly rose to a position of leadership and was chairman of the appropriation committee during five sessions, in which position his business training became of great advantage to the State. He was nominated by the Republicans of Iowa in convention, August 1, 1906, as their candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, and was elected at the general election held in November. He was inaugurated January 17, 1907, and assumed the duties of President of the Senate on the same date. A Republican in politics.

WILLIAM C. HAYWARD,

Secretary of State, was born in Cattaraugus county, New York, November 22, 1847, of American parents with English and Scotch-Irish ancestry. He moved with his father's family to Dakota county, Minnesota, in the spring of 1861; moved to Hancock county, Iowa, in 1864; thence to Winnebago county in 1867. He worked on a farm, attended district school, clerked in a store, taught two or three terms of school, and at the age of twenty-one entered the first class at the opening of the State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts at Ames, remaining in college until the middle of his junior year. He then returned to Winnebago county, was elected County Surveyor, and became half owner of The Winnebago Press (now Summit). In 1873 he sold out to his partner and moved to Garner, Hancock county, where he bought The Hancock Signal and was appointed postmaster, which position he held for about eleven years, when he sold his newspaper and resigned as postmaster. Soon after he helped to organize and became cashier of the City Bank of Garner, afterwards merged with the Hancock County Bank into the First National.

Mr. Hayward helped organize and was one of the officers of the company that built the so-called "Slippery Elm" Railway from below Eldora, via that city and Iowa Falls to Alden. He became associated with William Finch, under the firm name of Finch & Hayward, in the grain, coal and stock business, operating a line of twenty-five stations in Iowa, Minnesota and South Dakota. The firm moved headquarters from Garner to Davenport, Scott county, in 1886, and Mr. Hayward became a resident of Davenport at that time and has made his home there ever since.

He helped to organize the Union Savings Bank of Davenport and was its president for some years. He also served as president of the Davenport National Bank.

He was a member of the Davenport school board for nine years. He was elected to the State Senate in 1897 and re-elected in 1901, serving during the Twenty-seventh, Twenty-eighth, Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies. He was elected Secretary of State in 1906, assuming the duties of that office January 7, 1907.

Has always been a Republican.

BERYL F. CARROLL,

Auditor of State, is a native of Iowa. He was born on a farm in Davis county, March 15, 1860. His parents, Willis and Christina Carroll, moved from Perry county, Ohio, to this State in the fall of 1853 and located on a farm in Davis county in the spring of 1854. The father died in March, 1867, and the mother in February, 1903. The former was of Scotch, Welsh and Irish ancestry, and the latter of English and German. Auditor Carroll was the twelfth in a family of thirteen children, eight boys and five girls, eleven of whom are still living.

He received his early education at a country school in what is known as the White Elm school district. From the country school he went to the public high school at Agency, Wapello county, later to the college at Bloomfield, and finally to the North Missouri State Normal at Kirksville, Missouri, from which he graduated in 1884. He taught in the country schools of Davis and Van Buren counties between the times of attending the schools above mentioned. After his graduation he taught five years in the graded schools of Missouri.

While attending school at Kirksville he became acquainted with Miss Jennie Dodson, also a student at the Normal and a teacher, and was married to her June 15, 1886. They have two sons, Paul and Jean, the former eighteen and the latter six years of age. In 1889, Mr. Carroll located at Bloomfield and engaged with a brother in the business of buying and shipping stock until January, 1891, when he became editor of The Davis County Republican, which had as editors in former years Colonel S. A. Moore, General James B. Weaver, Honorable J. A. T. Hull, and John J. Hamilton. In 1892, Mr. Carroll was district elector for the Sixth Congressional District, and in 1893 was nominated for the lower house of the Legislature from Davis county, and although the county is usually strongly Democratic he was defeated by only eighty-six votes. In 1895 he was elected to the Senate from the Third Senatorial District, composed of the counties of Appanoose and Davis, over a fusion candidate of the Democrats and Populists and served in the Twenty-sixth, the extra session of the Twenty-sixth, and the Twenty-seventh General Assemblies. At the close of the session of the Twenty-seventh General Assembly he resigned from the Senate and became postmaster at Bloomfield, which position he held until nominated for Auditor of State in 1902. He is now serving his third term as Auditor, having been nominated each time by acclamation. After his election in 1902, he disposed of his newspaper at Bloomfield and has devoted his entire time to the duties of his office.

Mr. Carroll, while not a lawyer by profession, has devoted much time to the study of law and politics and has taken an active part in campaigns ever since 1890, and especially in the last campaign, when he made speeches in nearly all the congressional districts of the State.

A Republican in politics.

WILLISON W. MORROW,

Treasurer of State, was born in Guernsey county, Ohio, January 4, 1850, his parents being natives of Pennsylvania. His early life was passed in the place of his birth. He removed with his father's family in August, 1864, to Iowa, locating near Afton, in Union county. The land upon which the family settled in 1864 is a part of the farm now owned by Mr. Morrow. He was educated in the public schools of Afton, graduating from the high school. Was married in December, 1870, to Miss M. E. Roberts, but has no children living. Although Mr. Morrow has always taken an active interest in public affairs, he has held but few offices. He represented Union county in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth General Assemblies, and was a member of the board of directors of the State Fair Association for eight years, serving one year as vice-president, and for four years of the Association's most prosperous period was president of the board.

Mr. Morrow has devoted his time and energies exclusively to farming and stock raising. He owns and personally manages a finely improved and highly cultivated farm of seven hundred and sixty acres, located about one mile from the city of Afton, in Union county. His residence is in the city of Afton. He was elected Treasurer of State November 6, 1906, and assumed the duties of the office January 7, 1907. He is a Republican in politics.

HOWARD WEBSTER BYERS,

Attorney-General, was born at Woodstock, Richland county, Wisconsin, December 25, 1856, of American parentage. He received a common school education; moved from Wisconsin with his parents to Hancock county, Iowa, in 1873; located in Shelby county, at Harlan, Iowa, in 1877, and has resided there ever since except three years at Earling, in the same county. He was a farm laborer from fifteenth to twentieth year, school-teacher from twentieth to twenty-fifth year, clerk in general store from twenty-fifth to thirtieth year, law clerk from thirtieth to thirty-second year, and was admitted to the bar in 1888.

Mr. Byers was a member of the House in the Twenty-fifth General Assembly, Speaker of the House during the Twenty-sixth regular and extra sessions, and a member of the House during the Twenty-eighth General Assembly. He was a candidate for Congress in the Ninth Congressional District in 1898, and was within seven votes of the nomination for more than five hundred ballots. He was made permanent chairman of the Republican State Convention, held at Cedar Rapids when Governor Cummins was first nominated for Governor. He was elected Attorney-General November 6, 1906, and assumed the duties of the office January 7, 1907.

He is a Republican in politics.

JOHN FRANKLIN RIGGS,

The actual value placed upon Pullman cars is $11,615.17. Pullman tourist cars $6,990 each. Iowa's proportion of the standard sleeping cars used during the year 1905 would be 69,252 cars and 12,298 tourist sleeping cars.

Interested persons, having actual use for a detailed report of the telegraph or telephone assessment; will obtain a copy on application to the Secretary of the Executive Council, Des Moines, Iowa.

*Jackson called himself a South Carolinian and his biographer, Kendall, recorded his birthplace in Lancaster county, South Carolina, but Parton has published documentary evidence to show that Jackson was born in Union county, North Carolina, less than a quarter-mile from the South Carolina line. †The Democrat party of today claims lineal descent from the first Republican party, and President Jefferson as its founder. ‡Political parties were disorganized at the time of the election of John Quincy Adams. He claimed to be a Republican, but his doctrines were decidedly Federalistic. The opposition to his administration took the name of Democrats and elected Jackson, President.
