Gentlemen of the House of Representatives—I highly appreciate the honor you have conferred upon me, and the compliment I receive at your hands, in the preference you have expressed, that I should act as the presiding officer of this House. For this distinguished honor, and the evidence of your esteem and confidence, I am sincerely thankful; and I pledge you that, to the best of my ability, I will endeavor to discharge faithfully and impartially the duties of the office to which you have elected me.

I undertake the performance of my duties, appreciating keenly the grave responsibilities that rest upon me, and with much distrust of my ability to discharge acceptably the duties of the position with which you have honored me. But I derive encouragement to go forward in the discharge of my duties from the fact that your expressed choice that I should preside as Speaker of the House is an assurance that I will have the benefit of your experience to aid me, and that my efforts to serve you in this capacity will have your hearty support and charitable judgment.

We meet as the representatives of the great State of Iowa, whose wonderful growth and development stand without a parallel in the history of the nation. In the year eighteen hundred and forty-six the State had a population of only ninety-three thousand people. Now nearly two millions of happy and prosperous people reside within her borders, blessed with a prosperity that has been assured largely through wise and liberal legislation. This great increase in population has been fully equaled by the development of the State in all the material elements that assure prosperity to the citizens.

All the great interests that have developed and grown up in our State are represented here. And I trust and believe that each will receive at your hands due consideration in the enactment of such laws as will tend to give permanency to the present prosperity that abounds within our commonwealth and encouragement to every interest.

In the discharge of my duties, it will be my aim to give to every interest just and fair recognition. And I sincerely trust that our labors here will tend to effectuate the good and prosperity of the people of the State.

Permit me to thank you again for the honor I have received at your hands.

DUBUQUE, January 7, 1882.

To the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the Nineteenth General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

DEAR SIR—After my election to the Legislature last fall, I found that my business engagements were such that I could not accept the office, and, accordingly, I tendered my resignation to the Governor. The Governor at first thought he could accept it and call a special election to fill the vacancy; but he subsequently, upon further examination, concluded that he could not call an election nor accept my resignation until after I had qualified.

I write this to say that I do not intend to go to Des Moines and qualify for the purpose of resigning, and thus requiring a special election. I wish to have the expense of a special election saved to the county, if possible, and therefore will not qualify as a member, but will allow my predecessor, Mr. W. J. Knight, to hold over, which I believe he will do, if it becomes necessary.

I have the honor to be, very respectfully,

Mr. Benson made the following remarks, and offered a resolution as follows:

The memorable defense of Allatoona Pass made famous the names of two heroic men, the one a former, the other a late citizen of Iowa.

The forces of Gen. Corse at Allatoona were surrounded by an overwhelmingly large force of rebels under Gen. French. The latter, to avoid a "useless effusion of blood," had demanded an "unconditional surrender," and gave but five minutes for a reply. Gen. Corse made an emphatic answer that his troops were ready for that useless effusion whenever it was agreeable to Gen. French. His answer was followed by an immediate attack lasting five hours, and ending in the complete repulse of the enemy. During this gallant defense occurred an incident famous both in military annals and in song, and which for moral courage and heroic daring, ranks with the noted incidents of history.

Gen. Sherman was hastening to the relief of the beleaguered garrison. He had reached the summit of Kenesaw, and from there had signalled "Hold on to Allatoona to the last. I will help you."

Corse, wounded yet undaunted, wished to send a reply. Above the breastworks was a perfect hail of bullets from the enfilading fire of the enemy. Brave men cowed by the awful storm of lead blanched with fear, and refused to flag the message; a mere boy seized the flag, mounted the parapet and with a heroism almost more than human, waved that message which has been embalmed in verse and sung both in the old world and the new.

The boy hero of Allatoona was the Hon. J. W. McKenzie, of Franklin county, late judge of the 11th Judicial District, who died at Hampton, Sunday, January 15, 1882.

WHEREAS, After a long and painful illness, which has been borne with the fortitude of the heroic Christian soldier, it has pleased Divine Providence to remove from this sphere of existence our dearly beloved friend and most highly esteemed fellow citizen the Hon. J. W. McKinzie, of Franklin county; therefore,

Resolved, That in the early death of Judge McKinzie, our State and the community of which he was an honored member, has suffered an irreparable loss.

Resolved, That we recognize and keenly feel that in his death the State has lost one of its bravest volunteer soldiers, the bench and bar one of their brightest ornaments, a man whose patriotic deeds, and pure and useful life, should entitle him to be held in the most grateful recollection by all citizens of the Commonwealth of Iowa.

Mr. McCall moved that the resolution be adopted and that it with the remarks of Mr. Benson be spread upon the records of the House.

Adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

RESOLUTION.

The following resolution, introduced by Mr. Aldrich on yesterday and laid over under the rule, was taken up in regular order:

WHEREAS, The system of granting free passes on the lines of railroads in this State has grown to gigantic proportions so that it includes as the recipients of these favors nearly every class of public officials as well as their friends and dependents; and,

WHEREAS, This state of things is viewed with alarm by the people, inasmuch as it includes not only the judges of all the State courts, all the officers of State, both branches of the State legislature, and is further aggrandized by influential politicians in filling our political conventions with their friends and retainers; and,

WHEREAS, Many of the wisest and most judicious managers of the railroads look upon the whole system of gratuitous transportation as grossly evil and unjust; and,

WHEREAS, The exacting of high rates of fare from the mass of the people and allowing free transportation to a favored class is too manifestly unjust to need any characterization; and,

WHEREAS, It is believed that this evil has grown to far greater proportions than is generally apprehended or supposed.

THEREFORE, In order that data for legislative action may be made available should it be needed, and in any case, to the end that correct information may be given to the people,

Resolved, That the honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners of the State of Iowa be and they are hereby respectfully requested to report to this House, not later than the 10th day of February next, their views and opinions upon the following points:

1st. Whether free transportation, or reduced rates of fare, should be given to any class of citizens, except paupers, mendicants, or other objects of Christian charity and benevolence.

2d. Whether persons elected to public offices by the people should be allowed to accept these favors.

3d. Whether the railroad corporations should not be restrained from issuing passes to public officers.

4th. Whether limitations should be placed upon these practices by law.

5th. If the Commissioners deem this to be a wholesome and legitimate practice, that they give this body their reasons for such belief.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, duly signed by the Speaker and attested by the Clerk of this body, be forwarded to each of the Iowa Senators and Representatives in Congress, in order that the same may be duly presented to the respective bodies in which they belong.

To the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, The undersigned committee appointed by chapter 136, laws of the Eighteenth General Assembly, would most respectfully report that with the assistance of Joseph K. Davison, manufacturing jeweler of Philadelphia, we have agreed upon the following as a suitable "Badge of Honor" to be given by the State of Iowa to every soldier enlisted in the State of Iowa and honorably discharged from the army, and also to every citizen of this State who served in the navy of the United States and was honorably discharged therefrom, a pendant made of bronze copper about the size and thickness of a silver dollar suspended from a bar by swivel.

On one side is the motto: "Our liberties we prize, and our rights we will maintain." In the center and near the lower part of the medal is one large and one small base. On the upper or smaller base is the word "Iowa;" underneath the large base the figures 1861-1865.

On the small base stands the Goddess of Liberty. At her right and on the ground stands the infantry soldier with gun in front holding the same with his left hand, with his cap in his right hand. Immediately over and almost touching the soldier's head the Goddess holds in her right hand a wreath. At her left stands the sailor at parade rest with cap in hand. In her left hand she holds a wreath extended toward the sailor. On the reverse side of the pendant is a wreath surrounding the following inscription:

"The State of Iowa to——, Volunteer."

The blank is a slightly raised bar on which the soldier receiving this badge may have his name engraved. The bar to which pendant is attached is beautifully chased at either end, and in the center the coat-of-arms of the State of Iowa; securely fastened to which will be a pin for the purpose of attaching the same to the coat or vest of the wearer.

The committee will produce to the Committee on Military Affairs photographs of the badge. Such badge when ready for shipment will not cost to exceed forty cents each.

RESOLUTIONS.

Mr. Bolter offered the following joint resolution and memorial, which was read, ordered printed, and referred to the Committee on Federal relations:

MEMORIAL.

To our Senators and Representatives in Congress—We, the members of the Nineteenth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, and now assembled at Des Moines in a legislative capacity, speaking for, and representing the wish and imperative demand of the whole population of the State, most respectfully represent:

That there is no question in which all our people have so great and vital an interest as that of cheaper transportation for their products to the markets of the world. That Iowa is, and must ever remain, an agricultural State. That success in agricultural pursuits depends not only on the amount produced, but also largely on the price realized by the producer, and this is governed mainly by his means of transportation. That our products have so far outgrown our means of transportation that fully one-half of the price of all we produce is consumed in the form of freights as fixed and regulated by corporations who have full control of our present means of transportation. That the Missouri River, if properly improved from Sioux City, in the State of Iowa, to its confluence with the Mississippi, in the State of Missouri, would afford a cheap, safe, and speedy means of transportation for the four great grain-producing States; viz., Iowa, Missouri, Kansas and Nebraska.

These States had, as shown by the latest official report, an aggregate population of 5,198,103 inhabitants, and produced in the year 1880, 586,000,000 bushels of corn, or more than one-third of that of the whole of the United States. Of this, Iowa alone produces 276,000,000 bushels. In the year last named these four States produced of cereals the fabulous quantity of 780,000,000 bushels, or more than double that of the sixteen Atlantic States. An increase in the price of these vast products of ten cents on the bushel, a single year, would raise a sum ten times greater than is necessary (if properly expended) to secure a uniform channel depth of twelve feet, at low water, from Sioux City in Iowa to St. Charles in Missouri, and thereby lessen the cost of transportation at least fifty per cent and save to the producers of these four great States fully $100,000,000 per annum, and to the farmers of Iowa not less than $30,000,000 each year. That Maj. C. R. Suter, an able and efficient civil engineer, was duly commissioned by the government to survey and report upon the practicability of so improving the Missouri River as to make its navigation safe and at all times reliable, and has, within the two years last past, completed said survey and reported to Congress last winter that the Missouri can be so improved as to secure a uniform depth of twelve feet at low water from its mouth to Sioux City in Iowa, and at a cost not exceeding $10,000 per mile, and in the aggregate not exceeding $7,820,000,—see Senate Documents, Forty-sixth Congress, third session. Your memorialists are aware that large sums of money have, from time to time, and at almost every session of Congress been appropriated for the improvement of rivers and harbors in the Eastern and older States ever since the formation of our government, whereas the Middle and more western States have received but little or no encouragement by way of appropriations for a similar purpose, notwithstanding they have constantly been heavily taxed, and have responded cheerfully and liberally to every demand made by the general government. They have now grown weary and restive under and by reason of this unequal and unjust disbursement of the public funds, and therefore properly and earnestly demand such an appropriation for the improvement of their large rivers as may be necessary to secure to them a cheaper and more reliable means of transporting their vast and yearly increasing products to the marts of the world and thereby secure to them a just reward for their industry and enterprise; therefore,

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, the Senate concurring, That our Senators and Representatives in Congress be requested and instructed to take early, earnest, and persistent action by way of securing an appropriation of not less than seven million dollars for the improvement of the Missouri River between Sioux City in the State of Iowa, and St. Charles in the State of Missouri, and that they secure such other national legislation as may be necessary to insure the faithful and honest application and disbursement of the money so appropriated to the end that the work may be commenced as early as possible and completed without unnecessary delay.

That this memorial be printed, properly authenticated, and a copy sent by the Secretary of State to each of our Senators and Representatives in Congress; also, one to each Senator and Representative now in Congress from the States of Missouri, Kansas, and Nebraska.

Mr. Morgan offered a resolution, which was laid over under Rule 34, relative to a report from the Commissioner of Immigration.

Mr. Muncey offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the chairmen of the following committees; viz., Insane Hospital, Public Lands, Agricultural College, and Reform School, be authorized to employ one clerk for said committees, and that the clerk receive the same compensation as the clerks of committees of this House.

Which was adopted.

Mr. Havens offered the following resolution:

WHEREAS, The necessary appropriations to maintain the different public institutions of the State are vast in proportion and require the most careful consideration; and,

WHEREAS, Such appropriations cannot properly and justly be made without an opportunity to examine the several bills asking and making such appropriations; therefore,

Be it resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa, the Senate concurring, That all bills asking for appropriations from the State to the various institutions shall be presented to the General Assembly by Tuesday, the fourth week of the session, and that the same be acted upon by the committees to whom referred, ordered printed, and placed upon the desks of the members of the House and Senate by Tuesday, the sixth week of the session; and that said bills be made a special order, after reported, until disposed of.

Read and referred to the Committee on Appropriations.

Mr. Davidson offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Judicial Districts and the Committee on Senatorial and Representative Districts be allowed one clerk whenever in the opinion of the chairmen of these respective committees the services of such clerk becomes necessary; said clerk to receive the same compensation as other clerks of committees of this House.

Adopted.

Mr. Shearer offered the following resolution, which was not adopted:

Resolved by the House of Representatives, That all bills presented, except bills of a local character, be printed, before they are delivered to the committees, and placed upon the desk of each member.

Mr. Payne offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the Committee on Schools be and they are hereby instructed to inquire into the expediency of adopting a uniform system or series of school books, or text-books, to be used in all the public schools throughout the State, not to be changed oftener than once in a period of from five to ten years. And also to inquire into the expediency and practicability of the purchase by the State, with a view of their sale to the people at cost; and report by bill or otherwise.

Mr. Pickler moved to amend by referring to a special committee of five, of which the gentleman from Henry county should be chairman.

Mr. Payne accepted the amendment, and the motion was put and the resolution as amended was not adopted.

Mr. Havens moved that the resolution be referred to the Committee on Schools.

The motion prevailed.

Mr. Dickins offered the following resolution:

Resolved, That the committees on Fish and Game, State University, Domestic Manufactures, and Orphans' Home be allowed one clerk, said clerk to receive the same pay as other committee clerks.

Mr. St. Clair moved to amend by adding the Committee on County and Township Organization.

Mr. Dickins accepted the amendment.

Mr. Merten moved to amend by saying: "And all other committees that have not been supplied with clerks."

Pending the action of the House on Mr. Dickins' resolution relative to the appointment of committee clerks, Mr. Merten moved the extension of the time of adjournment, for the purpose of reading the announcement of meetings of committees, and the reading of communications on the Speaker's table.

The motion prevailed.

That section 1745, chapter 112, laws of 1876, be amended as follows: add after item 8, in

Mr. Dungan, from the Committee on Judiciary, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your Judiciary Committee, to whom was referred the report of the Committee on Elections in relation to the vacant seat in the delegation from the 51st District, caused by only two members from the county of Dubuque being present, while by law said district is entitled to three (3) members, respectfully report:

1. That the 51st District was represented in the Eighteenth General Assembly by the two members now present from said district and by the Hon. W. J. Knight. That at the last general election the two sitting members were re-elected and the third candidate elected, as shown by the election returns and by the certificate on file with the Secretary of State, was A. W. Daugherty, Esq.

2. Mr. Daugherty has failed up to this time to qualify as a member of this Assembly, and declines to do so, and is therefore not a member.

3. Article 3, section 3 of the Constitution of the State provides as follows:

"The members of the House of Representatives shall be chosen every second year by the qualified electors of their respective districts on the second Tuesday in October, except the years of the Presidential election, when the election shall be on the Tuesday next after the first Mouday in November, and their term of office shall commence on the first day of January next after their election, and continue two years, and until their successors are elected and qualified."

We find no law or precedent that in any way indicates that any person can be a member of the General Assembly until he has been duly elected, and, in addition thereto, has appeared at the place fixed by law and qualified.

4. The wise provision of the Constitution above noted, is to provide for the State a legislative body, and to further provide that in cases of emergency the members of that body may hold office longer than the ordinary term of two years. In times of war, or great civil trouble, there might be no general election in part or all of the State; or the member elected may die or remove from the State before the time of the meeting of the Assembly, and no election be held under the laws to fill the position; or the members chosen may fail to appear and qualify, and organize and carry on the legislative work of the State. In all these cases the members hold over under the Constitution, and the State has a law-making power with no district not represented.

5. We therefore find, that while Mr. Daugherty is the person entitled to appear as the third member from the 51st District, Mr. Knight, if now a resident of said district, is entitled to a seat as a member therefrom till such time as Mr. Daugherty shall appear, during the term for which he was elected, and qualify.

WARREN S. DUNGAN, Chairman.

RESOLUTIONS LAID OVER UNDER RULE 34.

Mr. Morgan called up his resolution, which was adopted:

MESSAGES AND COMMUNICATIONS ON THE SPEAKER'S TABLE.

The following communication was received from the Board of Railroad Commissioners, read, and ordered printed:

HON. GEO. R. STRUBLE, Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Nineteenth General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

The following communication was received at the office of the Board of Railroad Commissioners, January 21, 1882:

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, }
DES MOINES, January 21, 1882. }

To the Board of Railroad Commissioners:

SIRS—I have the honor to inform you that the enclosed resolution was adopted by the House, January 20, 1882.

E. C. HAYNES, Chief Clerk.

Resolved, That the Honorable Board of Railroad Commissioners of the State of Iowa be and they are hereby requested to report to this House, not later than the tenth of February next, their views and opinions upon the following points:

1. Whether free or reduced rate of fares should be given to any class of citizens except paupers, mendicants, or other objects of Christian charity and benevolence.

2. Whether persons elected to public office by the people, or members of the press, or political conventions of any kind, should be allowed to accept these fares.

3. Whether the railroad companies should be restrained from issuing passes to public officers, or members of political gatherings, or conventions of any kind, or reduced rates of fare.

4. Whether any, or what, limitation should be placed on these practices by law.

5. If the Commissioners deem this to be a wholesome and legitimate practice, that they give this body their reasons for such belief.

In reply to the foregoing resolutions, the Commissioners would respectfully state that they are at loss to determine what classes are referred to in section one. Complimentary tickets are given to public officers by the roads, but if we understand the theory, it is to the office, not to the man as an individual, or the representative of any class. When this term of office expires, the complimentary ticket is rarely renewed.

The only class, as such, to which reduced rates of fare are given, is the clergy. They certainly are not "mendicants, or objects of Christian charity and benevolence." It has been the practice for many years, and we understand ever since the railroad became the main channel for passenger travel, to extend to clergymen, preaching or in charge of congregations on the lines of the various roads, a certificate that enabled them to purchase tickets at half the usual rate. The preacher is engaged in the certainly laudable employment of teaching good morals and raising the standard of character in the community in which he lives. For this service he is paid by the voluntary contributions of those who "respect his spiritual character and are grateful for his instructions." This we do not regard as charity, for he renders an equivalent for all that he receives, as fully as laborers in any other profession. If allowing him to travel at reduced rates will enable him in any degree to extend his usefulness, it would be a mistake to prohibit railroad companies from to that extent aiding him in his effort.

In the second section we shall divide the enquiry, and answer the latter part first. Should members of the press or political conventions of any kind be allowed to accept these favors? It is generally understood that the press throughout the country receive passes or commutation tickets as payment for advertising, or such notices of the roads as seem to be an equivalent, and that this interchange of service assumes the character of each party paying in the goods of the other, instead of each paying in cash. If this statement is the correct one, we should certainly answer yes.

With regard to political conventions, our judgment is that under a republican form of government the best results are attained where two political parties are nearly equally balanced, and where each to gain or maintain supremacy finds it necessary to nominate for positions of public trust its ablest and purest men, and advocate measures that each can demonstrate to be for the best interest of the people. One method of keeping up these party organizations is through the instrumentality of political conventions, where men from all parts of the State meet for interchange of views and for general discussion of public policy. We feel sure that we voice the sentiment of the people of the State when we say that the delegates to these conventions are right in accepting reduced rates of fare. We are also inclined to the opinion that the railway companies, by the increased number of passengers, fully compensate themselves for the losses occasioned by selling these tickets at less than usual rates. We might further answer that we know of no power vested in the legislature that would prevent either members of the press or political conventions from accepting these reductions if they can get them.

This, however, is not the case with persons elected to public office by the people. To certain offices it has long been the custom of railroad companies to furnish free transportation to be used by the incumbent himself at his own option. The list includes the Governor and State officers, members of the General Assembly, judges of the Supreme, Circuit, and District Courts, district attorneys, sheriffs of counties and marshals of cities. The Governor and Executive Council are designated by law to list for taxation the various roads of the State. It is the duty of the General Assembly to make laws. Some of these may materially affect the interests of these corporations. It is the duty of the judges to hear and determine cases brought before them in which these corporations are parties and to interpret the law. It is a delicate matter for this Board to determine whether any or all of these officers selected by the people, and elected to fill places of honor and trust, would be influenced in the discharge of their various duties by the fact of holding complimentary tickets; if they are they certainly should not be allowed to have them, and we think we are not going too far when we add that they are unfit to fill the places for which they were chosen. As human actions are to be judged by the motives, it is a delicate thing for this Board to pass upon this paragraph of the resolution. "Whether persons elected to public office" are animated by an impure motive in accepting a "free pass" or "reduced rates of fare" is a question which the Board feel assured each member of the General Assembly can best determine for himself.

The sheriffs of counties and marshals of cities are given free transportation to aid them in pursuing criminals and guarding against thefts, from which the property of railroads suffers more than any other, being in transit more exposed and more difficult to guard. This we regard as legitimate.

In answer to the third interrogatory, we can only repeat that we would not think it advisable to prohibit railway companies from selling tickets at reduced rates to political conventions, agricultural fairs, or any convention or gathering that would interest or be of value to the citizens of the State; and we are sure that the members of the General Assembly have better means than this Board for determining whether they, or the executive and judicial departments of the State would be influenced in the discharge of their duties by accepting passes. If the legislature is satisfied that they would be, the companies should be restrained from furnishing them by stringent legislation. This practically answers the fourth interrogatory that such limitation should be placed on issuing passes that they cannot be used to corrupt any branch of the government.

The Commissioners think the fifth inquiry is sufficiently answered in what has already been said.

This subject is not a new one, and has frequently been the source of unfavorable criticism on the law makers. The practice of giving passes over the railways to persons occupying offices of trust in the State, judges, and members of the legislature, is as old as the railway itself, and probably antedated it in the packet and steamboat lines.

The earliest possible notice of the pass system that the members of the Commission have been able to find, was a letter from Ansel Bascom, a member of the House of Representatives in the State of New York, from Seneca county, in the year 1846. Mr. Bascom's letter to the president of the Auburn & Rochester Railroad Company (one of the roads that now go to make the New York Central) in which he returns the pass tendered him, says that he was elected to represent the people of his county, not the corporations chartered by the State; that he goes to Albany to make laws to check and control these corporations; that a proper and legitimate mileage is paid him by the State for his traveling expenses; that to accept a pass would be a fraud upon the State, whose money he received, and would in fact be a retainer from the corporations that it was his duty, in behalf of his constituents, to watch, and not allow them to infringe upon the business of the courts. At this time the subject of allowing railroads to carry freight in summer, and the repeal of the law requiring them to pay canal tolls was under discussion. Mr. Bascom seems honestly to have opposed both these useful measures, in the belief that the canals would be ruined if not protected by law from competition. The press of the cities and through the country generally discussed his letters. While some of them commended the high sense of honor that would prevent him from accepting anything in the nature of a bribe for his official influence, the majority treated it as a bit of political clap-trap written to give himself cheap notoriety. The effect was ephemeral, and so far as we can learn very few members were influenced by it. Mr. Bascom soon dropped out of sight as a prominent political figure, the reform of which he proposed to be the leader being too narrow in its scope, to interest the public for any great length of time, and from that day to this, with perhaps a periodical rehash of Mr. Bascom's views before them the members of the legislature and State officers have continued to regard the railroad pass as a heritage, and, for anything we can see, with all the facts and arguments that have been, or can be brought forward, will still continue to do so.

As an abstract proposition the Board believe that the entire system of passes is based on an assumption that can not well be sustained; that the roads are in some way under obligation to certain officers of a public character, and that a reciprocity with other transportation lines requires what is termed the "usual courtesies" to be extended, which means no more nor less than giving free transportation to persons who are as well able to pay as the public generally, and from whom no special return is sought or expected. We believe that no legislation would be more welcome to railway managers than a law cutting off the entire pass system, so that answer to every application, express or implied, would be that this is forbidden by statute; that every road would manage this matter better than it does, did it not fear some advantage might be gained over it by rival companies. To make it effective legislation should be general and cover more than one State.

We are not prepared to say that the management of this question should be taken out of the hands of the officers of the roads; but if it is done, the legislation, in our opinion, should be radical, thorough, and earnest; that no passes should be issued over any road in the State, except to officers and employes of the road on business for the company, and that all the courtesies formerly extended to officers of connecting and other lines be discontinued, and that some penalty attach for a violation of the law.

The Board endeavored to ascertain the extent of the system and the percentage of free to paying passage. This none of the roads were able to furnish—keeping no account. Its value would be to ascertain whether rates of passenger fare might not be reduced this percentage. It has been claimed that the parties traveling on passes average ten per cent of the entire travel, or these tickets average ten per cent of the passenger mileage. It is probable that if these persons were required to pay full passenger fare they would not travel more than half as much as they do, this would reduce the ratio to five per cent, or lessen the price of a ticket across the State, or 300 miles on a first class road, forty-five cents; for the same distance on a third class road, sixty cents. It is claimed, however, that the complimentary free transportation does not exceed two per cent of the passenger fee. Applying the same rule, the reduction on a ticket on a first class road costing nine dollars would be nine cents, on a third class road costing twenty dollars, would be twelve cents.

It is useless, however, to speculate or guess; the questions involved will never materially change, mainly presenting themselves in the future as they do now. It might be well to direct the roads of the State to keep an account of the free transportation in the future, and return this percentage with other statistics.

The following extract from a letter received from the manager of one of the Iowa roads condenses the views of them all so far as heard from: "I believe all railway managers have much trouble in dealing with the subject referred to in the House resolution. Who should receive a free pass, and on what account its issue is justified, perplexes the railway authorities quite as much as any subject with which they have to deal. If the question can be disposed of by legislative enactment it would be a great relief to railway companies.

"The percentage of free to paying passengers is not kept by our company."

The Pennsylvania constitution, adopted in 1873, has article 17, section 8, as follows:

No railroad, railway or transportation company shall grant free passes or passes at a discount to any person except officers and employes of the company.

The Arkansas constitution, adopted in 1874, has article 7, section 17, as follows:

The General Assembly shall prevent by law the granting of free passes by any railroad or transportation company to any officer of the State, legislative, executive or, judicial.

The California constitution, adopted in 1879, article 11, section 19, says:

No railroad or other transportation company shall grant free passes or tickets at a discount to any person holding any office of honor, trust or profit in this State, and the acceptance of any such pass or ticket by a member of the legislature, or any public officer other than Railroad Commissioner, shall work a forfeiture of his office.

The Board regard the clause in the California constitution as the best model for a legislative enactment. It is said that these constitutional provisions are practically a dead letter in the States above referred to, as are all statutory provisions of this character, but this Board greatly mistake the temper of the management of the Iowa roads if any legislative enactment of this kind will not be in every case scrupulously complied with.

The legislative enactment of Pennsylvania to carry out the constitutional amendment relieves all roads from the effects of it, that were chartered before its adoption.

We are unable to find anything in the laws of Arkansas or California rendering effective the constitutional provisions.

Respectfully submitted,

PETER A. DEY.

M. C. WOODRUFF.

Webster, late member of this House from Page county, we do now suspend the regular business of the Assembly, that opportunity be given for his friends and associates to pay fitting tributes to his worth as a man and legislator.

Resolved, That in his death the State is deprived of the services of an experienced legislator, who has at all times faithfully and conscientiously performed his official duties, and whose private life, by its purity, well qualified him for positions of honor and trust.

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered upon the records of this Assembly, and that a copy thereof be transmitted by the Clerk to the bereaved family of the deceased.

Resolved, That, as a further mark of respect, this House do now adjourn.

Mr. Aldrich moved that the able, beautiful, and eloquent tributes to our deceased friend and associate be spread upon the journal of the House.

The motion was adopted.

The following members spoke in seconding the resolution:

MR. EVANS, OF TAYLOR.

After the reading of the resolutions, Mr. Evans, who still had the floor, said:

MR. SPEAKER—It is well for us to suspend the regular business of the Assembly, and for an hour turn aside and strew with the flowers of memory the new-made grave of our departed brother. To those who knew Watson E. Webster in his private life, or as a legislator, this tribute will be a labor of love. As one of the committee of this Assembly appointed to escort to his late home, at Clarinda, the remains of the deceased, I bear witness to you of the love they bore him there. As the funeral train sadly halted at that station, we were met by hundreds of his friends there in the dawn of the coldest morning of the season, and they vied with us in bearing the honored casket. We bore him, as commissioned by you, home to his friends—the fireside he had so lately left in the flush of noble manhood—and there we left him for loving hearts and sorrowing friends to perform the last sad offices of affection. And as the sun fell behind the hills of the Nodaway valley on that Saturday night, his departing rays fell on a thousand homeward returning friends from the city of the dead, where they had placed their friend at rest. Knights and Workmen, and brothers of every order he had honored with his membership, and above all, the great Christian brotherhood of that community gathered that afternoon around that open grave and honored themselves by mingling their tears with those of that broken household. And when on that sabbath morning following, the sun rose over the valley of the Nodaway again, his rays kissed the new-made grave, and, I trust, fell with a benediction on the portal of that home he shall never enter again, but upon which the departed Christian has ever prayed for the blessing of the Master to rest.

MR. HART, OF LINN.

Mr. Hart of Linn next took the floor and said:

MR. SPEAKER—For an hour we stop the wheels of legislation to pay the last tribute of respect to the memory of our departed friend and former associate, Hon. W. E. Webster, late member of Page county. He who recognizes neither age nor condition of men, who inexorably cuts down the old and young alike, has laid his hand upon one of our number in the early prime of his life, when his sun—full orb—was nearing its zenith. He was in the full enjoyment of his greatest powers, physical and mental, and in the mid-career of his unbounded usefulness and immeasurable activity.

Watson E. Webster has come in and gone out with us for the last time. No longer will his manly form be seen or his voice be heard in the deliberations of this Assembly. His seat, at my left, now mantled with emblems of mourning, will soon be filled by another; but its former occupant will never more answer to the roll call of this chamber. Death, under any circumstances, to most people is an unwelcome messenger; but it becomes doubly so when the life of an esteemed associate goes out suddenly or unexpectedly. Although the illness of our friend (brief as it was) was known by some to “be unto death,” only a few were prepared for the solemn event when the summons came.

Mr. Speaker, I have no language to adequately describe my feelings, when a few hours before his departure I looked into his pleasant features and found that he must die. It was my privilege to know Mr. Webster long, though of late years not intimately. I met him years ago at his prairie home in Benton county, was sheltered by his roof, and partook of his hospitality. I have known him since as a banker in Page county and as a legislator in this hall; and in all these relations the noble qualities of his heart and intellect have but strengthened the ties of what from the first proved to be a warm and enduring friendship.

When I came to this city a month ago to assume the duties of a member of this Assembly, among the first to meet and greet me was my former friend, but now departed associate, the Hon. W. E. Webster. It was to me a pleasure that I should receive renewed testimonials of his friendship during the session, and enjoy the benefit of his legislative experience and counsel. But how soon doomed to disappointment and made to realize that "man proposes but God disposes."

We determine our plans and enter upon our life-work in joyful anticipation of the unfolding pleasures of future years, when suddenly—perhaps without warning—or in a brief period—as in the case of our brother, our lives are required of us, and the brilliant hopes of former years fade away in the nothingness of death. But to the good man death is not the end. Bulwer has feelingly expressed:

"There is no death! The stars go down
To rise upon some fairer shore,
And bright in Heaven's jeweled crown
They shine forever more."

It is pleasant to believe that in the life to come we shall know and enjoy the society of those we knew and cherished here. If this be true, then our friend who has gone before is enjoying the sweet communings of his friends above, and awaiting the coming of those he loved and left behind.

One week before his death Mr. Webster bid fair to live as long as any of his associates on this floor. It was my good fortune to accompany him from the hotel to this hall the last time he ever met in this Assembly, and it is to me a pleasant reflection that those moments, as we journeyed along, were occupied in sweetest converse, concerning themes and incidents of by-gone days. Many and pleasant are the friendships I have formed in the years of the past, but none are more fragrant to my memory to-day than the friendship of him whose untimely death we now deplore.

Mr. Webster was cordial and gracious in manner and ever possessed a high sense of honor. His purity of life and character, none ever questioned. His affable ways and deferential regard for others won for him the esteem of all: and the host of friends thus secured were "grappled to his soul with hooks of steel."

In business life his word was as good as his bond. Probity of character was with him a cardinal virtue. He was enterprising and public spirited. He was also a philanthropist in the noblest sense of the term. A man of wealth, he contributed abundantly of his means to the various benevolent enterprises of the day. Thus, kind-hearted and generous, he became peculiarly endeared to the community in which he lived. Within the sacred precincts of his home we will not intrude. It could not have been other than the abode of peace and love—"the sweetest of all boons to mortals given" endeared by affection and hallowed by the associations of many years within its sacred shrine.

Though these tender ties are severed and the noble man is gone, yet the good he has accomplished will not die, but will live after him—live in the memory of his friends and in the hearts of his countrymen.

When an aged man dies, full of years and honors, "going down like a shock of corn fully ripe," we find comfort in the thought, as well as resignation in our sorrow; for his end is that of all the living—as natural as the falling of leaves or fruit, when autumn winds do blow. But Mr. Webster's sun went down when it was yet scarcely noon, in the vigor of his manhood and on the threshold of fame. For had he lived the full measure of his days he doubtless would have achieved greater political distinction, and perhaps national fame. But he has gone from us, and his sudden departure forces upon all the unwelcome conviction that "in the midst of life we are in death."

Mr. Webster sleeps in the beautiful cemetery at Clarinda, in the shadow of his home, surrounded by those he loved and served so well.

Sleep on, noble man! Rest and sleep—sleep and rest, until the dawn of the resurrection morn shall wake thee to an eternal day. Upon the hearts of all, Mr. Speaker, should be impressed the sentiments of the poet, Bonner, that—

"Beyond the smiling and the weeping
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the waking and the sleeping,
 Beyond the sowing and the reaping
 We shall be soon.
 Love, rest and home! sweet home!
 Lord! tarry not, but come.
 Beyond the blooming and the fading
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the shining and the shading,
 Beyond the hoping and the dreading,
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the parting and the meeting
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the farewell and the greeting,
 Beyond the pulse's fever beating
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the frost-chain and the fever
 We shall be soon.
 Beyond the rock-waste and the river,
 Beyond the ever and the never
 We shall be soon.
 Love, rest and home! sweet home!
 Lord, tarry not, but come."

SENATOR CLARK, OF PAGE.

Mr. Clark of Page arose and said:

MR. SPEAKER—I am of the number who believe that nothing happens; I believe that behind every thought, act, and event in life there is an intelligent force, and that that force is God. I believe every life is an utterance of God, and every death a play of his upon the great board of the universe in the accomplishment of his purposes. I do not believe that a man perishes with his clothing, or that the grave of the body is the home of the soul. Dissolution, to my mind, is the birth-pangs of immortal life. I believe that when the soul passes out beyond the horizon that rests upon the grave of the body, it emerges into an illimitable expanse in which it enfolds itself forever. My thought now is that the grave is the door of immortality and only dark from the hither side. The trials of life will not stop in this dark tunnel, but will move on out into the beautiful sunshine of the hereafter. But there is a mystery and a miracle; here sat our departed friend. Last week he moved, and lived, and laughed, and thought as one of us. Now only the cross upon his vacant desk and the floral tribute marks the space occupied by his manly form. Last week he looked upon us with the eyes of his flesh. To-day he lives without eyes, lives without breath, and feels without nerves. My friends, we ought not to fear to die. God is our Father. We came into being by his act, and grew up to manhood under the breath of his love. While in the body we are in his hand; in the spirit we shall be in his bosom. In the body we feel his touch in the darkness; in the spirit we shall see his face in the light; therefore I refuse to regard him as my enemy, or as cold fortuity. He is my benevolent Father; a living intelligence. Nor will I believe that death ends all either in this life or the life to come; a man lives here and hereafter at the same time. Here, in the hearts of men; there, in his quickened spirit; here, in report; there, in his real life; here, in the good or evil that he did; there, as a spiritual servant of Christ,—and here this morning upon this highest theater of this great State, the floor of this chamber, I assert it as my real conviction that the greatest a man can do is to live a noble and honest and godly life. The last and greatest thing he does do is to hand over to the world a well-rounded, symmetrical character, and let us reflect that our control over the life we live is coterminous with its delivery and the suspension of the breath. Without further dressing or polish it becomes the property of the world for all time. Character is a potential reality, and will be hung up in the World's great gallery for all future ages. May we not congratulate ourselves that the one our dead representative left will be selected by many of life's students as a fit mould by which to mould his own?

His was not perfect, nor will be yours nor mine. We cannot use the brush and chisel upon his model if we would, but we can upon our own characters. The present and the future, angels and God, bid us use them now. A man has many rights, but to give the world a bad example is not one of them.

The pursuit of truth is the vocation of man, and that truth unless crystalized into life and made into character is of no practical value to the world. "I am the truth," said that Christ to whose pierced palm the soft spindle of the universe turns, and he bade the world be like him. It is as much a moral duty to live right as it is not to steal, or to deal honestly with your neighbor, for you are dealing with posterity in the example you set.

And now, Messieurs Senators and Representatives, as we thus stand together over the grave of our departed friend, according to the standard that Christ set up, with bated breath, yet unflinching faith, I declare it must be well with him. He filled the measure of a Christian here. He must wear a Christian's crown over yonder. All law is a unit. Virtue is rewarded here—it must be in Heaven. He had the just praise of men. He must hear the plaudit of God in Heaven. He honored the law of God on earth—God will honor his soul in glory. He lived a righteous life, cumbered with the flesh. Should it cease when this burden is laid down? If the natural instincts do not mock us, and the longing for immortality and conscious recognition and identity is fulfilled in the unseen holy, methinks that the transformed spirit of our departed friend is thrilled with complaisant joy this morning as it looks out from the windows of its eternal dwelling place and sees the friends of his life, young and old, stepping into the track of his life, as a safe pathway to success on earth and happiness in heaven. But, alas! for us an honest man, a true man, a benevolent father, an affectionate husband, a useful and pure public servant has gone out from among us forever—he has laid down the burdens of time. We shall miss him much in this chamber, but let me whisper here that many a poor man burdened with life's cares in his humble Page county home will miss him much more.

He was a rich man, but as such a treasurer of God. He drew many large drafts upon his bounty, and not one was ever dishonored or ignored.

"Inasmuch as ye did it to one of the least of these," well done, etc., has been sung by the angelic choir to his wandering soul. And now let us bury his frailties with his body in the grave, whilst we enshrine his virtues in our hearts forever.

MR. MERTEN, OF DELAWARE.

Mr. Merten of Delaware said:

MR. SPEAKER—It is with a deep feeling of respect and profound sorrow that I rise to offer my weak tribute to the memory of our departed friend. I first met him two years ago in this House, and from the first I noticed that in his manner and bearing which attracted me to him. Our associations were not simply friendly, but there seemed to spring up between us from the start a feeling of confidence and intimacy that, so far as I know, continued to be mutual to the time of his death. Mr. Webster represented a type of manhood frequently met with in this country, yet rare enough to make his friendship to be highly esteemed, his companionship a matter of joy, and his confidence a matter of high appreciation. Always quiet and unobtrusive, giving full value and merit to the opinion of others, without ostentation, cant or hypocrisy of any kind, yet with clear discernment and strong convictions, caring only to know what was right, and content with making that his only inflexible rule of conduct.

He brought to the discharge of his duties as a legislator untiring zeal and industry, unusual good sense, a clear, well-balanced mind, a good physique, and above all, unquestioned integrity. Page county undoubtedly honored Mr. Webster by clothing him with legislative powers, and subsequently by the endorsement of a re-election, but the compliment was fully returned by his example of spotless integrity and the fidelity which he brought to the discharge of every duty. None of the citizens of Page county but will esteem it an honor to have aided in sending to represent them at the State Capital such a man. But he is gone. We shall miss his presence and his counsels. The community in which he lived has lost an upright, thorough-going, public-spirited citizen; his family a kind, generous, and indulgent husband and father, and their heartaches and grief can be better imagined than described. To them we extend our heartfelt sympathy, and mingle with them in our appreciation of his worth, for

"None knew him but to love him,
None named him but to praise."

He filled life's mission well, he has gone to his reward. The wreath on the desk of my late friend is fading. The fragrance of those white blossoms, symbolic emblems of purity, is fast dying out, but the remembrance of life, fraught with its high purpose and lofty aims, will stand as his best and most enduring monument.

MR. TOOL, OF JASPER.

Mr. Tool of Jasper said:

MR. SPEAKER—It is with feelings of deep sorrow that I arise. My acquaintance with this man is comparatively short, but long enough to learn to love him. Again we are reminded of the fact that these houses we live in are mortal. The sudden and unexpected removal of this, our brother Representative, fills our hearts with sorrow, mingled with some reflections of joy; with sorrow, when we remember he is dead; that we are deprived of his wise counsel in this Assembly; that his voice will be heard in this hall no more forever: with a sense of joy, as we remember his genial smile, pleasant manner, kind acts in social walks of life, which will live forever in our memories. His public life and acts will remain upon the records, to be read by his children and friends in the future; with joy, as we think of the golden truths couched in the language of the poet:

'Tis not the whole of life to live,
Nor all of earth to die;
Beyond this vale of tears
There is a life above,
Unmeasured by the flight of years,
And all that life is love."

Write: "Blessed are the dead that die in the Lord. Yea, sayeth the Spirit, for they rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

MR. ROBB, OF MONROE.

Mr. Robb of Monroe said:

MR. SPEAKER—In listening to these well-timed remarks regarding the sudden death of Mr. Webster, the member from Page county, I feel constrained to add my testimony to the excellency of his character, socially, as well as a member of this body. As members of the Eighteenth General Assembly, the deceased and myself occupied seats at the same desk in this hall, and I had, therefore, rare opportunity to know him, not in his public capacity only, but in the more retiring and social characteristics of a friend and neighbor.

Mr. Webster was of a quiet and unobtrusive turn of mind, but withal was industrious, thorough, and methodical in all his public work, and as a friend was social and affable. I intended no lengthy remarks, but situated as we were, and knowing him as I did, feel that in justice to him, and in the performance of a willing duty on my own part, I cannot let the occasion pass without expressing my high appreciation of his character.

MR. IRWIN, OF KEOKUK.

Mr. Irwin of Keokuk said:

MR. SPEAKER—

“From out yon ranks of fresh-lipped men
Who would have singled him.”

It is with a natural hesitation that I rise to second the resolution just offered. Hesitation arising, I think, from the admiration and friendship I formed for Mr. Webster during a comparatively limited acquaintanceship. This hesitation follows naturally because the friends or enemies of a man are not the ones best fitted to speak of him, his life or his achievements. In this case, however, I desire to go on the record regardless of the ties of personal friendship. I had known Mr. Webster but a short time in comparison with other members of this House, yet in this brief period he attracted me so toward him by the manliness of his character, the uprightness of his conduct, and the gentle manliness of his manner, that now, in the words of Fisher Ames: “My heart grows liquid and pours forth like water,” as I stood the other day in a darkened room, mid sighs and sobs, and looked down upon all that was mortal of Watson E. Webster.

His life, though short, in common with nearly every man in the West of his age, had been in part stormy, eventful, and momentous—going early into the war for the suppression of the rebellion, he gave four years of his young life to uphold the flag that was struck at by traitorous and bloody hands, awed us all as children.

Coming out safely through all the smoke, and blood, and carnage of the civil war, he settled in Page county, in this State. Since then his life has been as an open book to all of us, and nowhere in the pages of this open book can be found one stain or one blot to slur his manly record. Mr. Webster was on his way to eminence, and had his life been spared to us, Iowa would have heard a great deal more of him. He was a man of affairs, quick to discern and apt to grasp at the good and great and useful in life. He was, in short, one of those men of whom Holland writes:

“Men whom the lust of office does not kill,
Men who the spoils of office cannot buy,
Men who possess opinions and a will,
Men who have honor, men who will not lie,
Men who can stand before a demagogue
And damn his treacherous flatteries without winking.
Tall men, sun-crowned, who live above the clouds
In public duty and in private thinking.”

Such a man was he whose death we deplore to-day.

MR. CALKINS, OF JONES.

Mr. Calkins of Jones said:

MR. SPEAKER—I rise to second the resolutions offered by the gentleman from Taylor, and in doing so would remark that the transaction of this hour commemorates a sad event in the history of the Nineteenth General Assembly of Iowa. That vacant seat, festooned with emblems of sorrow and mourning, tells of a dark shadow having been thrown across the Legislative Hall; tells of death entering our midst and selecting as its victim one in the vigor of early manhood, whose stalwart form and manly bearing, with genial and friendly look, invited our confidence and claimed our respect. We met at the beginning of this session as strangers, the most of us. All men sociable and kind, none more so than he who occupied that vacant seat. In a few days it was whispered that Webster, of Page, was sick. In a little while wife and children were summoned to his dying bedside, and soon came the announcement that “Webster is dead.” By this said event this commonwealth has lost the benefit of his counsel and experience; a home was bereft, a wife widowed, and children orphaned. Representatives from this Assembly accompanied his remains to his distant home, and there mingled their tears with those of his family, friends, and neighbors. Beneath that silent mound in that distant cemetery there sleeps a heroic, devoted, brave man. Heroic in defending country; devoted to home, family and friends; brave in his adherence to principle, truth, and right. Watson E. Webster has gone to his eternal rest. Ere his sun of life had reached its meridian his career of usefulness was suddenly arrested. We may commemorate his many virtues, revere his memory, spread upon the journals of this House tokens of esteem, respect and admiration; transmit them with kindest sympathies to that bereaved family but their grief will be unassuaged because “the strong man went out and returned not.” Those children in the coming future will turn with pleasure to the journals of the House and the preceding one and there read with filial pride of the honorable action and upright career of their honored father. In the language of Longfellow:

“Behold how of earth, all its glories depart!
Her visions are baseless; her hopes but a gleam;
Her staff but a reed, and life but a dream.”

MR. DOWNING, OF DAVIS.

Mr. Downing of Davis said:

MR. SPEAKER—I rise to second the motion made by the gentleman from Taylor county, to adopt the resolution made by him. Being a member of the Eighteenth General Assembly, I was personally acquainted with Mr. Webster. I knew him to be truly a business man; he was a man of more than ordinary ability; he was a man, and though free of thought, was not over-ready to express them. A few days after the commencement of this session I met him and pleasantly we renewed our acquaintance. Seemingly, he bid fair to live long and be useful, being in the very prime of his life and manhood. But how quickly the sad news came to us, telling of the death of Hon. Watson E. Webster of Page county, who had only been sick a few days. Mr. Speaker, we only know a man by what he says and does. How true that saying, uttered more than eighteen hundred years ago: "Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh." Judging by this saying Mr. Webster was a good man. The first bill introduced by Mr. Webster in the Eighteenth General Assembly was relating to the reduction of the penalty on "delinquent taxes"; thus lessening the burdens of the poor man. Mr. Webster was a faithful member of the Eighteenth General Assembly, performing his duties well, and was one of the number selected by the Speaker of the House to perform the last duties of the House to notify the Senate and authorities that the House, having completed its work of the session was ready to adjourn. After the death of Mr. Webster, the House having temporarily adjourned, I went home, told my wife the sad story of the death of Mr. Webster. Being anxious to know the position of his photo in the group of the Eighteenth General Assembly, we went immediately and examined the group, finding that his was in the very center, save one. I feel sure that he is in the very hearts of the members of the Eighteenth and Nineteenth General Assemblies. I have said that he was a good man. I have been credibly informed that the people of his county and home both honored and esteemed him; that the poor people gathered about the remains of Mr. Webster as did the penitent disciples about the feet of Jesus, more than 1800 years ago; and was ready to "weep with those who wept," and to say, "not our will, O God! but thine be done." He was a remarkably generous and benevolent man—often taking from his pocket money, lending it to the poor, who could only give him their promises for its security—never taking advantage of poverty. This accounts for the great respect manifest for him by the people of his home and county. But it is said he is dead! No, Mr. Speaker he is not dead; but he lives to-day in the hearts of his friends; he lives in a better home, in a better house not made with hands, and I believe that could he speak to us from that far off home, he would say, "I have reached my dear home and am happy." Could he speak a second time, he would say to the members of this honorable body, "Come home! come home!"

MR. MAXWELL OF ADAMS.

Mr. Maxwell of Adams said:

MR. SPEAKER—Although almost a neighbor of our departed associate, I had not the pleasure of personal acquaintance with him before the meeting of this Assembly. After the adjournment of the House on the last day that he occupied his seat on this floor, I had a very pleasant conversation with him while walking to the West Side. As we discussed the various matters of interest likely to come before this body I was impressed with his wise and conservative ideas in reference to our public business. Myself without experience as a legislator, I felt that I might count on Mr. Webster as an able and willing counselor in the consideration of questions of importance. On the following day as the gavel fell, I looked in vain for my new friend, but soon leave of absence was asked for the gentleman from Page on account of sickness, and in answer, leave, leave, leave, was heard from all parts of this hall; this was repeated for a few days, until, on that sad morning, when we learned that an eternal leave of absence had been granted to Mr. Webster by that Great Speaker who presides over that vast assembly—the universe. Then we all bowed our heads in grief for the loss of an able member, a kind friend, and a true Christian gentleman. I was a member of the committee who bore the remains of our associate to his late home. You may admire a man's record as a public officer, you may read of his deeds in peace and in war, but if you would know a man you should go to his home, and what a grand man was Watson E. Webster. On our arrival at Clarinda early on that cold winter morning hundreds of people from all the walks of life met us, and with lowered heads and heavy hearts followed the remains of their late Representative to the fireside of his bereaved family. Never before did I witness a more universal expression of sympathy than that manifested by the neighbors of our departed brother. He seemed to have been loved alike by the rich and poor, by the old and young; in short, by all his neighbors. We may adopt resolutions and pronounce eulogies on this occasion, but the greatest tribute that can now be paid to the memory of Watson E. Webster is the fact that he was loved and esteemed as a true friend, a kind and good neighbor, and a noble and upright Christian man by all his neighbors. In conclusion, permit me to say that I most heartily second the adoption of the resolution offered by the gentleman from Taylor.

MR. PICKLER, OF MUSCATINE.

Mr. Pickler of Muscatine said:

MR. SPEAKER—As these exercises near the end I crave the indulgence of this House to add a word of tribute to the memory of our deceased brother as a soldier, in the language of one who has well said:

“How sleep the brave who sink to rest,
By all their country's wishes blest?
When spring with dewy fingers cold
Returns to deck their hallowed mould;
She then shall dress a sweeter sod
Than memory's feet have ever trod;
By hands unseen their knell is rung
By fairy forms their dirge is sung;
Their honor comes a pilgrim gray
To dress the sod that wraps their clay,
And Freedom shall a while repair
To dwell a weeping hermit there.”

MR. POWELL, OF WARREN.

Mr. Powell spoke extemporaneously, with no idea of going beyond the limits of a five minutes speech, but for all that embodied so much thought in his address that reproduction of it would be a great pleasure to his friends. He referred to the fact that representing the younger element of the new members he desired to pay his respects to the memory of his dead brother; thought that the departure of a friend taught a lesson to the living only which should be observed by the thoughtful; spoke of the realization of a man's duty who was just entering upon a position so important, and as an illustration of the appreciation of a sensitive, brave, and conscientious mind; compared the condition of Queen Victoria, when, nearly half a century ago, she succeeded to the throne with a deep sense of the importance of the situation, and with a heart filled with gratitude and love for her countrymen, with that of the lamented and departed member, whose empty desk and unoccupied seat was decorated with the faded flowers whose fragrance was not in any way to be compared with the duration of the memory for this man, of those around and about him. Mr. Powell said many more good things and advanced some exceedingly fine sentiments.

Mr. Davidson, of Sioux, moved that the resolutions be adopted by a rising vote.

The motion prevailed and every member in the session rose simultaneously.

WARREN S. DUNGAN, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. Maxwell submitted the following minority report:

*To the Honorable House of Representatives of the State of Iowa—*The majority of the Committee on Judiciary have reported House File No. 188, a bill for an act in relation to jury trials in cases for violations of ordinances of cities of second class and incorporated towns, back to the House with the recommendation that it do not pass. The undersigned as members of that committee, and not concurring with the majority, respectfully state the following reasons for making a minority report: According to existing laws, when a person is accused of the violation of a city or town ordinance he is not only deprived of the right of a change of venue from the mayor of such city or town, but he is also denied the right of a fair and impartial trial by a jury of his countrymen, and if he is absolutely too poor to give an appeal bond he is absolutely remediless against the caprices and petty prejudices of the officer before whom he stands charged.

We can but regard the placing of such power over the liberties of our people in the hands of these officers as a most dangerous and pernicious measure, which is wholly incompatible with the principle of free government. Under its provisions our citizens may be, and hundreds have been, committed to our prisons and deprived of their liberties without the right of a fair trial by an impartial jury. Such a thing should be made impossible in this State and nation. One of the counts in that grand indictment framed by our forefathers against the king of Great Britain, was that he gave his assent to laws for depriving them "in many cases of the benefits of trial by jury." And now after enjoying the blessings of a free government for a little more than a century we are asked to assent to the very same thing which was then so vigorously denounced. In the Constitution of the United States we read that "the trial of all crimes, except in cases of impeachment, shall be by jury." Again, that "in all criminal prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right of a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury of the State and district wherein the crime shall have been committed." In the Constitution of our State we read that "the right of trial by jury shall remain inviolate"; and, again, "in all criminal prosecutions and in cases involving the life or liberty of an individual the accused shall have a right to a speedy and public trial by an impartial jury." In many cases under the present law the liberty of the citizen is involved. He may be, and frequently is, sentenced to be imprisoned for thirty days or less. It is, in our judgment, no excuse for this law to say that the defendant may avail himself of the right of a jury trial by appealing to the District Court; for that is simply putting a price on a right which the humblest citizen should enjoy. Many are unfortunately too poor to give an appeal bond, and cannot possibly avail themselves of the privilege of an appeal. This same argument would deprive us of the right of trial by jury before a justice of the peace for a violation of the statute. The friends of this law claim that it is necessary in order to lessen public expenses. This necessity exists to the same extent in all our courts, and the argument will then apply with equal force. We are not ready to assent to a law which deprives our citizens of their dearest rights in order to lessen the expenses of our cities and towns.

The administration of laws is always expensive, and we believe our people are ready to pay all the expenses necessary to save the rights of every American citizen inviolate. We believe the present law is wrong in principle, and if not repealed will establish a precedent which may undermine our liberties and deprive us of our dearest rights, and we therefore report the bill back to the House with the recommendation that it do pass.

By leave, Mr. Simpson submitted the following minority report from the Committee on Constitutional Amendments:

MR. SPEAKER—The undersigned members of the committee to whom was referred the joint resolution agreeing to an amendment of the Constitution of the State of Iowa prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors as a beverage within the State, beg leave to dissent from the report of the majority of said committee and recommend that said resolution do not pass.

As we understand section 1 of article 10 of the Constitution of Iowa, it contemplates that members of the General Assembly shall vote upon the merits of any proposed amendment and not alone upon the question of its submission, and so construing said section we believe it right and proper to set forth our objections to the pending amendment at the present time.

We believe that said amendment is, in its nature, foreign to the purposes of a constitution, being purely a matter of police regulation.

That such an amendment is useless because it is in itself inoperative and requires legislative enactments for its proper enforcement.

That it is unnecessary, because under the present Constitution the legislature is, by decision of the highest tribunal in the land, endowed with full and absolute powers in respect to the subject-matter of the amendment.

That it is unwise, because it restricts a power now admitted to be unlimited, and instead of conferring new powers it restrains the exercise of existing power to fixed and narrow limits.

We believe that the entire question of the suppression of intemperance is so unsettled, and that there is such disagreement as to the best methods to be employed, that the legislature and the people should be left free to make such enactments in that behalf as experience shall demonstrate to be wise, and not to be hampered by the delays and difficulties incident to amendment of the fundamental law.

We believe that the plan proposed is so radical and extreme, involving such changes in the habits of our people, that it cannot be made effective, and that its consequence will be to engender among a large portion of our people, through habitual violation, a habitual disregard of law.

We believe that the best results can be obtained by legislation which looks to regulation of the liquor traffic, rather than by laws which, while prohibitory in their tenor, will yet, for want of a hearty popular support, fail even of restraining the evils they were designed to abolish.

We are opposed to the amendment also because it fails to provide compensation for property whose value will be either greatly impaired or totally destroyed; property too which has not only been sanctioned by existing laws, but which has, in part, been required to contribute out of all proportion to other property, to the support of the State, which now threatens to destroy it.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

S. S. SIMPSON.

DALLAS D. RORICK.

Ordered printed and passed on file.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. Blain submitted the following minority report:

MR. SPEAKER—We, a minority of your Committee on Schools, having failed to agree with the majority of the committee, to whom was referred House File No. 225, a bill to amend sections 1767 and 1774 of the Code of 1873, relating to duties of county superintendents of schools, for reasons; to-wit, The law as it now is compels teachers to undergo yearly examinations, provided their grades are second class, thereby causing to teachers a great amount of trouble, and sometimes heavy expense. Again, if a teacher, under the present law, is qualified to teach one year on a first class certificate, why should not that qualification be allowed to extend over a period of two, or even three years as well. And further, under the present law it is made obligatory on the superintendent to visit the schools in his county at least once during each term, thereby incurring an unnecessary expense, from the fact that, perhaps, two-thirds of the schools are taught by teachers of experience, who need no special oversight by the superintendent in regard to their management and duties.

Therefore, in view of the above facts, we beg leave to submit a minority report, and recommend that that the bill do pass.

Respectfully submitted.

Mr. Wolf, from the Committee on Railroads, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your Committee on Railroads, to whom was referred the accompanying resolution asking said committee to consider and report upon certain questions propounded in said resolution, respectfully report that they have had the same under consideration at nearly every meeting of the committee since its organization, and after full and careful investigation have directed me to report the resolution back to the House with the following answers:

1. The committee deem it conducive to the interests of the people of the State to continue the offices of Railroad Commissioners.

2. A majority of your committee regard the present law relative to the powers and duties of Railroad Commissioners as clear and explicit, and they do not consider it advisable or necessary at present to grant further powers to said commissioners or change the law in relation thereto; parties aggrieved by the action of railway companies can now, on proper application, have such grievance promptly adjusted.

3. A majority of your committee do not deem it to the interest of the State to change the manner of raising the fund for the payment of the salaries of the Commissioners, the said fund being now raised and paid into the State treasury by virtue of a special tax on the railway companies doing business in the State, and the Commissioners being paid directly from the treasury.

4. A majority of the committee regard the establishment of the maximum rates of freights within the State of questionable utility, as such is peculiarly within the province of the general government.

5. The committee desire at present to pass for further consideration the question as to what, if any, further legislation is necessary to prevent discrimination against non-competitive points? as various bills looking to such further provision are before your committee for their consideration and on which they will report as soon as practicable.

WM. P. WOLF, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Also:

SPEAKER—Your Committee on Railroads, to whom was referred House File No. 207, a bill for an act to regulate the transportation of grain and other products, shipped in bulk, beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration, and have instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that it do not pass.

MINORITY REPORT.

MR. After mature and careful consideration of the business connected with the State Fish Commissioner, and the propagation of fish, etc., we are of the opinion that the interest of the State demands its discontinuance from the fact that there has been a vast amount of money expended in this experiment without demonstrating that there has ever been, or ever will be, any beneficial results to the people derived therefrom.

MINORITY REPORT.

Mr. Aaker, from the Committee on Railroads, submitted the following minority report:

MR. SPEAKER—We, a minority of the Committee on Railroads, beg leave to disagree with the majority of said committee in their report on House File No. 417, and report the same back to the House with recommendation that it do pass. Our reasons for this report are:

1. It appears to us unseemly for the Railroad Commissioners to be paid by the railroad companies, directly or indirectly, a lasting shame to the State to have judges or arbitrators paid by one only of the parties directly in interest. We believe these commissioners should stand before the world untrammelled by any seeming interest, and thus present to the people arbitrators unbiased. At the present time there is a wide, spread feeling that the railroad corporations are oppressive and unjust in their dealing with the public, and prudent, honorable, upright men will hesitate to assume a position where honorable motives and intentions are sure to be called in question from the fact that one party in interest is the sole paymaster for the services rendered.

2. We look with alarm on the growing tendency to remove from the people the sovereign power to choose the men who are to act in their behalf. That the appointing power is a dangerous power is too potent for argument. In the hands of bad men it is oppression, and even in the hands of the wisest and best of men it will always be regarded by the people with the suspicion that the people themselves lack the judgment, wisdom, and integrity to select suitable representatives to defend their interests with honor and fairness.

The people of Iowa elect judges, and why may they not elect railroad commissioners? They even elect legislators, and shall these legislators say that the people cannot be trusted to elect railroad commissioners. No other class of officers performing functions of such vital importance are now appointed to office in this State, and we believe that the wisest statesmanship for an intelligent people will be found in telling the people to select their own governors, judges, legislators, and railroad commissioners.

WHEREAS, This House did, on the 8th day of March, 1882, pass a resolution requesting the Governor of the State to furnish to this House

WHEREAS, No appropriation or provision was made for the purpose of defraying the expenses of the examination requested of such recorders; and for that reason; among others, only a few of the recorders have made any response to such request; and

WHEREAS, The partial reports made cannot show what mortgages are paid, and cannot furnish any satisfactory information, but would lead to injustice to those counties which have reported; therefore,

MINORITY REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RAILROADS.

MR. SPEAKER—The undersigned members of the committee to whom was referred Senate File No. 78, beg leave to dissent from the majority report of said committee, and recommend that the said bill do not pass. Our reasons are these:

All corporations doing business for pecuniary profits (except insurance companies), as now governed by same laws, and we have heard no satisfactory reasons why railroad companies should be exempted from the laws governing other corporations of the same kind. If the restrictions on indebtedness now imposed by section 1061 of the Code as to indebtedness is a wise one for other corporations, then it would seem to the minority of your committee that such restrictions are much more needed on railroads. Since they involve the greatest investments of capital no one has questioned the wisdom of applying the restriction of section 1061 to other corporations, and hence it behooves the railroad companies to present the strongest of reasons why they should be exempted from its restriction, and these reasons in the judgment of the minority have not been presented.

We also think that the suspicious circumstances attending the introduction of this bill to the House should first be passed upon, and that this circumstance alone should cause the House to demand the most convincing proofs that no harm can arise to vested rights by the passage of this bill.

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES, }
 DES MOINES, IOWA, March 13, 1882. }

Prayer by Rev. S. S. Grenell.

Pending the reading of the journal of yesterday its further reading, on motion of Mr. Muncey, was dispensed with.

The Speaker submitted to the House the following communication from the Attorney-general:

STATE OF IOWA, }
 OFFICE OF ATTORNEY-GENERAL, }
 DES MOINES, March 11, 1882. }

To the House of Representatives:

I have considered the resolution of the House adopted the 7th inst. By this resolution I am requested to state in writing whether a county is limited to two representatives in the General Assembly regardless of the fact that according to the basis of representation the population of the county would entitle it to more than two. The answer of this requires a construction of section 35, article 3 of the Constitution. This section provides that the House of Representatives shall consist of not more than one hundred members to be apportioned among the several counties of the State, with the limitation that no floating districts shall be formed, and that no district shall contain more than four counties. Then follows the period, the construction of which is desired. It reads: "every county and district which shall have a number of inhabitants equal to one-half of the ratio fixed by law shall be entitled to one representative; and any one county containing in addition to the ratio fixed by law, one-half of that number or more shall be entitled to one additional representative."

Considering the evils existing under the Constitution of 1846, and which were sought to be remedied by the Constitution of 1857; the debates upon the adoption of the present Constitution, and the language of the section under consideration, I can arrive at but one conclusion; viz., that regardless of population of a county it can have but two members in the House.

Under the old Constitution representative districts were often composed of six and eight counties in the interior and western part of the State, while the older counties had five, six, and more representatives. In addition to this floating districts existed. Such districts were regarded as being, and were very prejudicial to the more sparsely settled counties. It will be noticed that there is no limitation upon the formation of a senatorial district. The Senators are elected for a longer term, and for a number of reasons it was thought unnecessary to provide in the Constitution as to formation of senatorial districts. They are fewer in number and are not expected to be so nearly the representatives of any particular constituency as a member of the House. But under the old Constitution loud complaints were heard as to no representation of smaller counties in population. The river counties having by far the greater part of the population of the State, had entire control of the Government of the State. In the interior and western part of the State a great number of counties were thrown together to be represented by one member only. That member could not acquaint himself with the wants of his constituents, by reason of which they were practically without representation. A great many insisted that each county should have one representative regardless of population, to the end that every community should have a voice and vote in the House. Others insisted that the greater the numbers the greater the representatives should be. Both theories could not prevail, and a compromise was adopted. And so it was provided that no district should be greater than four counties, and any county, however small in population, if it contained one-half the ratio, should have one member. To do this would necessarily cut down the number from the older counties. The history of the General Assembly prior to 1857, as I understand it, indorses the foregoing, and the volumes of Constitutional debates show clearly that these evils were sought to be remedied. And it was therefore provided that every county having one-half of the ratio should have one member. And the county having the ratio, and one-half that number, or more, is entitled to one additional member. Not one member for every ratio, and an additional member for the additional ratio or part thereof exceeding one-half, but one additional representative. The language is that in addition to the ratio, one-half of that number or more; not for each ratio and one-half or more up to two ratios shall entitle the county to two members, and for two ratios and a half to three members. No such language is to be found, and it is clear to my mind that no such meaning was intended.

Respectfully submitted.

SMITH McPHERSON, Attorney-general.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

To the Honorable Speaker of the House of Representatives:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to investigate the manner in which Senate File No. 78, a bill for an act to amend section 1061, chapter 1, title 10 of the Code, in relation to corporations for pecuniary profit, was reported back to the House on the 13th inst. (February, 1882), respectfully beg leave to submit this report, as follows:

We have examined this matter thoroughly and carefully, by witnesses brought before us, who testified under oath (excepting the chief clerks and members of the General Assembly), and upon this investigation we find:

1st. That we fully exonerate Mr. Elerick, as temporary chairman of the railroad committee, and find him entirely blameless in this matter, and that he did nothing but what any other chairman would have done under the circumstances.

2. We find that Mr. Wolfe, the permanent chairman of the committee, was entirely blameless in the matter, and had no knowledge of it whatever.

3. We find that no member of the railroad committee had any knowledge of the bill coming into the House outside of the rules of the House, and that no member of the railroad committee, as far as we can ascertain, is to be charged with any undue influence in the putting of the bill into the House outside of the rules; and that each and every member of the railroad committee, as far as we can ascertain, is entirely blameless.

4. That Senate File No. 78, in fact, was never before the railroad committee or considered by it previous to the thirteenth day of February, 1882; that the report made to the House that the same had been considered by the railway committee and by them reported back to the House favorably (that it do pass) was false and not true in fact, and was solely attributable to the action of Charles V. McClure, clerk of said railway committee; and that we further find that all the irregularities connected with said report on Senate File No. 78, are chargeable to said Charles V. McClure, clerk, alone, and that we, your investigating committee, consider the said McClure an unfit man to occupy any position of trust or confidence under the State; but that his recommendations upon which he obtained his clerkship were such as any prudent man or committee would accept.

A duly certified verbatim report of the testimony upon which your committee have based this report is hereby respectfully submitted.

JOHN N. IRWIN, Chairman.

Mr. Barrett submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your Joint Committee on Penitentiary at Ft. Madison, Penitentiary at Anamosa, and Reform School at Mitchellville, beg leave to report that they have had under consideration the numerous petitions presented to this House by the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, and your committee would report as follows: That there is much of merit in the matters presented in said petitions, and in the opinion of the committee the time has fully come when the civilization and Christianity of the age demand that a separate prison should be provided wherein females convicted of crime should be confined separate and apart from the prison where male convicts are incarcerated, and in connection therewith a reformatory school should be provided to the end that as much as possible reformation of females therein confined may be attained. The committee with pride point to a prison of said character established in the State of Indiana, and believe that the State of Iowa could not do better than at the earliest possible day provide a similar prison and reformatory school for females who may be convicted of crime.

Your committee regret the fact that the session is so far advanced as to preclude any steps being taken at this session which would attain this desirable end, and your committee confidently believe that at an early day the legislature of the State of Iowa will take proper steps and enact a law establishing an institution or prison of the kind referred to, which shall harmonize with the high civilization and Christianity of the age wherein fallen women convicted of crime may be confined, looking to the reclaiming of the virtue of the fallen and lost women, and in connection with said institution a reformatory school may be established for the reformation of the young and tender lost females, thus saving them to a life of virtue and thereby better protecting society.

Resolved further, That as a mark of esteem this House present him with the gavel, and chair which he has this session filled with such marked ability.

Resolved, That the Secretary of State be requested to send the Speaker's chair and gavel to his home.

Speaker pro tem. Irwin, in a few appropriate remarks in behalf of the members of the House, presented Speaker Struble with a gold watch and chain.

Speaker Struble replied as follows:

GENTLEMEN—I can scarcely find words with which to fitly thank you for these beautiful gifts which you have so kindly presented to me. I thank you for this expression of your friendship and confidence. These are indeed very beautiful and valuable gifts, and I prize them very highly, not alone for their intrinsic value, but because they are a pledge of friendship and regard which I esteem more highly than any gift that I could receive at your hands. At the opening of this session I asked that, in my efforts to serve as your presiding officer, I might receive your aid and support, and I stated that I regarded my election to this high office as a pledge on your part that I should have your support and assistance to aid me in the discharge of my duties. That pledge you have more than fulfilled, and I tender you now my heartfelt thanks for your generous forbearance and kind support. When I took this gavel, no one knew so well as myself how much I needed your aid, and no one can appreciate more fully than I do your great kindness and the aid you have rendered me. And this additional expression of regard and esteem fills my heart with gratitude. To be chosen to the high office of Speaker of this House was an honor any man might well feel proud of. But to receive at the close of this session such a testimonial as this of your friendship and appreciation, fills my heart with gratitude beyond expression and I trust I shall never do anything to forfeit such a friendship as binds us together to-day. I am glad we have been brought together in these hours of labor, and that we have had the benefit of an experience that tends to make men better fitted for the work and responsibilities of life—for who is there among us that does not feel that in the labor of this session he has derived an inspiration that makes him stronger and better fitted to discharge the duties of life? But the parting hour draws nigh, and we turn from these duties to others which are demanding our attention. And before we part let me say that I will always be happy to hear that of all that is best in life you are having a liberal share, and I trust that the friendships formed here will meet with no interruptions, and that when we shall have answered the last roll call in the field of duty here, we may greet each other beyond the mystic veil that hides this life from the next, in that life where friendships never end. I thank you again for your kindness.
