Teter, of Marion, moved that Hon. N. E. Kendall, of Monroe, be elected as Speaker, preceding such motion by the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—It is with a feeling of confessed pride, not alone enjoyed by myself, but shared alike by each and all of the members of the House caucus of the party of which I am but an humble member, that we are privileged in this presence and at this hour to present to this body the name of our nominee for permanent Speaker. To be accorded the nomination for this important office by the unanimous acclaim of the caucus members of a great party is within itself a high honor; but to be elected to preside over the deliberations of the House of Representatives of the imperial commonwealth of Iowa is a more distinguished honor; and is second only to the position of Chief Executive of the State. Therefore, gentlemen, it is imperative that a nomination for this exalted place should be the result of the sober judgment of party members. Such a nomination has been made.

The nominee should be broad enough to forget the while that he is a partisan. He should be liberal; yet, consistent, conscientious and fearless. He should be slow of decision; yet, steadfast in purpose and devoted to the faith of conviction. He should be conservative; yet, progressive in the leadership of men and affairs. And such is our nominee; and whom I earnestly hope may be accorded the unanimous endorsement of this body.

But no man, within himself and unaided, can make a success of any deliberative body; and I, therefore, trust you will not deem me presumptuous if I enjoin upon you each and all to lend your cordial co-operation and hearty support to the administration of the presiding officer of this House. It is a duty which we owe not only to him, but to ourselves and to the people whom we represent.

Let us now and henceforth to the end of the session of the Thirty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa, forget that we are Republicans; let us forget that we are Democrats, and remember only the local ensign of our beloved Iowa and the banner of our Nation, both of which are sacred with the insignia of tradition. Let us be men; let us be representatives; and as we go forward with our daily tasks, let us all remember that some one has beautifully said to Trust no Future, howe'er pleasant!

Let the dead Past bury its dead!
Act!—act in the living Present!
Heart within and God o'erhead.

And now, gentlemen, for the office of Speaker of this House, it affords me infinite pleasure to present the name of my beloved, my honored, much respected friend, the Honorable Nathan E. Kendall, of Monroe, sincere in my conviction that in him you will find the embodiment of all the pre-requisites so essential for the successful administration of all the duties connected therewith, and believing that he will maintain the dignity of the office and the high standard set by his immediate predecessor.

Koontz, of Johnson, seconded the nomination of Mr. Kendall for Speaker, with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—I fully agree with the remarks made by the gentleman from Marion in regard to the qualifications, honesty and fairness of the gentleman just named by him as permanent Speaker of this House, and on behalf of the minority members of the Thirty-second General Assembly I take great pleasure in seconding the nomination of that veteran member of this House, and my old-time friend, Hon. N. E. Kendall of Monroe county.

Upon the roll being called, the result was as follows:

The yeas were: Messrs. Allred, Anderson, Arney, Baird, Balluff, Bascom, Bauman, Beery, Bergeson, Bixby, Blackmore, Bonwell, Brandes, Calkins, Cassady, Clarke, Clary, Conn, Corrie, Cottrell, Upon being sworn, and assuming the chair, Mr. Kendall made the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE—There are occasions in human experience when the heart so overflows with emotion that the lips refuse to perform their ordinary office. I am oppressed by such embarrassment at this moment when I am advised of my unanimous election to this exalted position. The Democratic minority does not require my assurance that I very sincerely appreciate the generous confidence it has reposed in me; and to the entire membership of the House I can only say in feeble phrase that for the distinguished honor now conferred upon me I am most profoundly grateful. I beg you to believe that the single ambition which shall control me in this station is to discharge its difficult and important duties with such absolute fairness and impartiality as to justify in some measure the preferment which has been bestowed upon me.

We have assembled under circumstances peculiarly fortunate because since our adjournment last April, the popular opinion has rapidly ripened into deliberate judgment respecting many questions upon which heretofore it has been divided. I do not now assume to indicate the measures which I believe should be incorporated into our statutes but I do venture the hope that our labor here may be characterized by earnest industry, by courageous independence and by unfaltering fidelity to the public welfare.

Iowa is an imperial commonwealth. Her citizenship is the most intelligent, the most progressive, the most patriotic beneath the Stars and Stripes. Her people demand our most enlightened endeavor in the enactment of wise and beneficent laws for their government, and we cannot afford to forget that our primary responsibility is to their interest. Certainly we shall not always agree upon all issues. Inevitably there will arise differences of opinion, serious and irreconcilable. But if we enter upon the work which confronts us in a high-spirit of reasonable concession and mutual helpfulness we shall discover that in a multitude of counsel there is much wisdom, and that out of the confusion of strenuous controversy the approximate truth will be rescued by honest and conscientious men. In the position to which you have assigned me I invite your cordial co-operation and your active support. I shall commit many and grievous errors, but if I know my own impulses they will be of the head and not of the heart, and I can only invoke in advance your most indulgent consideration. I thank you again and again, and I now inquire, what is the pleasure of the House?

Morris, of Sioux, moved that the following list of temporary officers be made permanent:

MR. SPEAKER AND FELLOW MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE THIRTY-SECOND GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA—While I am deeply filled with gratitude for the honor conferred by you at this time upon me by being chosen as your Speaker pro tem of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa. Personally I always feel, as the recipient of new honors, not a feeling of exaltation but rather of humility. The choice of a leader or official always creates new and added responsibilities, which we must be deeply sensible of. I have always taken a justifiable pride, I hope, in the record of my loved and native state of Iowa, nor has this been confined entirely to her high standard in commercial and educational advancement, but also in her record in the conduct of her public affairs.

No serious or flagrant violation of public trust as have come to several of our sister states have developed to smirch our fair fame. Our legislative branch of government compared with others has been signally free from taint of moral corruption, bribery and graft, yet the very nature of continued material prosperity in our great country is almost unconsciously developing more or less a spirit of greed and avarice which, coupled with the ever changin'g conditions in our State as well as in our Nation.

I shall not trespass by attempting to outline specific suggestions of what these should be, upon the province of our honored Chief Executive at this time. Sufficient to say that as the chosen people of old were given leaders in days of need, so I have no doubt we shall be duly supplied. But as with them our eventual success is not dependent upon human leaders, however great they may be. It was the pillar of cloud by day and the pillar of fire by night which pointed the way in uncertain paths and above all the wisdom from on high which made successful their efforts to obtain the coveted liberty and possess the land.

It is unlikely we shall be given a special dispensation to point the way for our footsteps through the legislative maze, but we must seek and endeavor to exercise wisdom in all our undertakings. If it is necessary for reformation to be radical, let it be radical, yet with a view to always conserve the people's interest.

And I sincerely trust the atmosphere will be so clarified by righteous enactment that we may have greater light by day as well as by night, and also that the absence of daylight we may have sufficient light to traverse our streets in safety and without fear of molestation in the pursuit of honest sobriety and happiness.

Whatever humble part I may have I trust it may be accomplished with the full realization of having fulfilled my share of its obligations.

I hope with others I may become one of the "Aarons" to faithfully uphold the "Moses" that may develop in directing our legislative work.

I feel especially grateful for the unanimous vote, made so by the magnanimity of the minority party in being thus elected.

It is fitting that the portrait of Lincoln which graces our wall is of the one man whose great heart was ever touched with the thought of injustice to the humblest and lowest and his ear ever ready to hear the faintest wail from the oppressed and downtrodden.

And it is gratifying to me that the emblem of our Nation without request by resolution has been displayed to inspire us with desire to serve God and our native land as well as we do. May this inspiration remain with us and grow by practical demonstration in our future work.

The proverbial, at least to this body, talking machine, however, is said to be located on the other side of the corridor, so I will desist further remarks and again thank you for the honor and await your further pleasure.

RESIGNATIONS.

I have received and accepted the resignations of Hon. W. I. Babb, of Mount Pleasant, and Hon. Joseph H. Allen, of Pocahontas, Regents of the State University. These resignations came to me so recently that I believed it to be unnecessary to fill the vacancies by appointments. I bring them to your attention to the end that you may fill them by election, in the manner provided by law.

PARDONS AND PAROLES.

I submit to you herewith a statement of all pardons and suspensions of sentences issued during the year 1906. It will disclose fully the ground upon which the action was based in each instance. The files of my office, with respect to these matters, are open for the examination of any person who may desire to be more fully informed.

In a former message, I explained at some length the system of paroles which was handed down to me by my predecessor, and which I have endeavored to perpetuate; and I therefore need not enlarge upon the subject at this time. I have, during the year named, issued two pardons, and suspended the operation of sixty-three penitentiary sentences and nineteen jail sentences. Thirty-eight persons have been restored to citizenship. Ten commutations have been granted, four of them for the mere purpose of restoring good time, upon the recommendation of the Wardens, and the others mainly for a few days only, in order to accomplish some special purpose. Twenty-two fines have been remitted, almost invariably upon the application of the Board of Supervisors, the County Attorney, the Auditor, the Clerk, and the Treasurer. I have, during the year, revoked eight of the suspensions, commonly called "paroles." There are at this time about two hundred men under parole making regular monthly reports to my office. The average amount earned by each man is $46.12 per month. Substantially all the persons who have been paroled are, in so far as I am able to ascertain, living upright, decent, and industrious lives, and I have no reason to change the opinion heretofore expressed with regard to the efficiency of the parole system in building up character and in making good citizens.

I am more than ever impressed with the advantages that would be derived from the indeterminate sentence; and I know that it would be both humane and helpful to convert the penitentiary at Anamosa into a reformatory, and to establish a separate reformatory for women. It is easy to pass these subjects, for most of you do not come into contact with the suffering and sorrow which follow crime, but if you cherish the belief, as I am sure you do, that reformation is one of the objects of the administration of the criminal law, you can not render your State better service than to give these things the best thought of your minds and the best impulses of your hearts.

There were filed in my office during the year 1906 twenty-three applications for pardons on the part of persons who have been convicted of murder in the first degree and sentenced to life imprisonment. Publication has been made as required by law, in each case, and I herewith transmit these applications, together with the proofs of publication, for such investigation and recommendations as you may be pleased to make.

ALASKA-YUKON-PACIFIC EXPOSITION.

There is to be held in the summer of 1909, at Seattle, in the State of Washington, an exposition which has been named the Alaska-Yukon-Pacific Exposition. Its primary purpose is to exhibit the resources and capacities of the Alaska and Yukon territories in the United States and Dominion of Canada, with a view to the development of the trade between the United States and these territories. I have received a communication from the officers of the exposition, inviting the State of Iowa to participate in it, and I submit the invitation to you, recommending its acceptance.

JAMESTOWN EXPOSITION.

At the last session of the General Assembly, there was extended to the State an invitation to join in a celebration commemorating the first settlement at Jamestown, to be held during the summer of 1907. No action was taken upon it, and therefore nothing has been done with respect to a representation on the part of the State in the Exposition. I still believe that it would be wise and patriotic for the State to make a small appropriation for the purpose of erecting and maintaining a modest Iowa home upon the grounds at Jamestown where our people could concentrate, and in an appropriate way do honor to the event which the Exposition is to memorialize.

AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

One of the most gratifying developments of the State has been the wonderful growth of the State Fair, under the efficient management of its Board of Trustees. Its entire cost to the State, including the donation by the City of Des Moines, has been $179,509.25, whereas the present value of the grounds and buildings, conservatively estimated, is $353,530.00. The annual exhibition has not only become a source of pride to the people of the State, but its educational effect can hardly be exaggerated. Like all other such institutions, it needs multiply, and it will deserve liberal assistance from the General Assembly.

During the year there arose an imperative demand for an extension of the fair grounds toward the south, in the vicinity of the present railway station. Additional buildings are required for cattle, horses, hogs and sheep. These buildings must be situated proximate to the buildings already in existence, and therefore the Board of Trustees believed that six or seven acres of land (which had been divided into lots) lying immediately south of the present line, ought to be acquired. There was no authority to make any such purchase, except upon condition of a sale of a part of the ground already owned. In this situation, the Board of Trustees, after carefully considering the matter, unanimously recommended to the Executive Council the sale of forty acres of the wood land in the eastern part of the grounds, not now in use, and with the proceeds of such sale a purchase of the lots heretofore mentioned. The Council, which had the power under the statute to make the sale and purchase, was deeply impressed with the showing made by the Board, and felt that the further development of the State fair depended upon the proposed enlargement. At this juncture, certain public-spirited citizens of Des Moines, who felt that it would be unwise to sell any part of the grounds now owned, came to the rescue, and themselves purchased the land and lots needed, for a very reasonable price ($5,875.00) and deeded them to the State of Iowa, with no other agreement than this: that I would bring the subject to the attention of the General Assembly, and recommend an appropriation that would reimburse them for the expenditure which they have made. I do recommend the reimbursement earnestly. There is no reason why these men should make a donation to the State of Iowa, and they entered into the matter solely because the Board of Trustees and the Executive Council believed that the additional land was imperatively necessary, and that it must be acquired in time to permit the management of the fair to make arrangements for its use during the exhibition of 1907.

STATE BOARD OF HEALTH.

There is nothing in the present law that authorizes the State Board of Health to establish proper regulations respecting the transportation of dead human bodies. In view of the legislation and practice of other states, it has become very important that our Board of Health shall have additional power. I need not enlarge upon the subject, for the need of being in harmony with modern practices will be obvious to the most casual observer. Closely connected with regulations relating to such transportation, is the qualification of undertakers and embalmers to prepare bodies for shipment, and the Board of Health should be authorized to examine persons who expect to perform such work, to issue permits to those who are found to be competent, and to impose and collect such fees as may be necessary to cover the expenses of examination and such other expenses as may be incidental to the added function of the Board.

Having spoken of the Board of Health, I trust you will not look upon it as inappropriate if I mention in this public way the retirement of Dr. J. F. Kennedy, who has been its Secretary for twenty-two years. He has been a zealous, faithful and efficient public servant, and he carries with him, as he leaves the office which he has so ably filled, the respect and esteem of all who know him.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

The experience of the last year in all the institutions has been most gratifying. They are at this moment more prosperous, more efficient, more distinguished, than ever before. The liberal spirit manifested in the generous appropriations of the half decade just closed is bearing rich and abundant fruit. The fathers and mothers of Iowa who have boys and girls to educate have more confidence in these schools than they had in former years, and therefore the attendance of students is rapidly increasing.

As I have more than once said, our young people are worthy of the best educational facilities that genius, learning, and money can establish and maintain, and we are swiftly nearing the point at which it can be truthfully said that they have as good as the country affords.

Speaking specifically of the institutions, it gives me unqualified pleasure to note that the University has added, during the year, to its student body, a larger percentage than any other university in the country. Its course of instruction has not only been broadened, but at the same time has been made more practical. It is applying more effectually the abstractions of learning to the actual things of life. The fidelity of the Board of Regents, the leadership of its President, and the earnest, capable work of its instructional force, are all to be commended. I sincerely hope that you will make it possible for the institution to grow until it fully occupies the field which it was established to occupy.

The College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts is not only maintaining the high standard which was attained under a former President, but the inspiration of its present distinguished head is constantly lifting it up into loftier altitudes of excellence. The conduct of all its departments is efficient in a marked degree, but its agricultural department is especially notable. Every year adds to its victories and makes its supremacy among agricultural colleges still more secure. I sincerely believe that the farms of Iowa have produced, during the past year, an added value, directly traceable to the work of the College, far exceeding all the appropriations ever made for both buildings and support. When material dividends of such magnitude can be declared upon an investment, there ought to be no hesitancy in generously supplying its needs. I do not mention the ordinary requirements for its enlarged functions, but I must be permitted to refer to one matter which I think you may well consider. There are certain fundamental truths in the science of agriculture, of constant application in farming, that can be taught with a fair degree of success by written communication. There are a great many of our boys who can not attend personally upon the courses of instruction given at the college. There are a great many men of mature age who ought to know these things, but who can not leave their work and enroll themselves as students. I believe that a bureau of communication ought to be attached to the Department of Agriculture so as to give these boys and these men an opportunity to learn the common principles of their avocation. If this is done, there will not be a single year in which the wealth added to the State, through the information thus imparted, will not return, by a hundred fold, the money required to maintain the bureau. I hope that no one will construe my recommendation into a desire to lower the standards of education. I understand perfectly that a course of instruction through correspondence must be somewhat superficial and very inadequate, but there is a pressing need for even moderate learning in agriculture, and the subject is peculiarly adapted to courses pursued in correspondence.

The State Normal School, under the supervision of its unexcelled leader, is pressing forward, year by year, and it challenges the just pride of every citizen. It is furnishing to the State and to the country, teachers of the highest qualifications.

CORN GROWERS' ASSOCIATION.

This Association desires a small appropriation to enable it to carry forward more successfully the work in which it is engaged. If I looked upon it as a private affair, I could not be brought to favor the request, but it is really a part of the Agricultural College, and it may fairly be viewed as a branch of our educational system. I believe that the amount it asks would be returned over and over again every year to the farmers, in their increased corn crop.

STATE FISH AND GAME WARDEN.

In his report to me, the State Fish and Game Warden has strongly recommended a radical amendment to our law with reference to hunters' licenses. I have not been able to examine the subject with the care that would warrant me in adopting his opinion and giving it to you as my own. I do, however, bring the matter to your special attention, and ask that you give his recommendation the most careful consideration.

SUPERINTENDENT OF PUBLIC INSTRUCTION.

I have been much impressed with the report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction. He presents many subjects and proposes many changes of the first importance. His recommendations are supported by clear and persuasive argument, and I earnestly hope that every member of the General Assembly will become familiar with his report and carefully think upon the changes he suggests.

INSTITUTIONS UNDER THE MANAGEMENT OF THE BOARD OF CONTROL.

I have no especial recommendation to make with respect to these institutions. I desire only to commend the faithful and efficient administration of the Board during the past year, as in each previous year of its existence. It has, I believe, done everything that could be done for the welfare of those who have been committed to its care.

BACTERIOLOGICAL LABORATORY.

I have taken some pains to become familiar with the work done in the bacteriological laboratory at Iowa City, and its needs for the future. It is my opinion that the General Assembly never made an appropriation of greater benefit to the people of the State than the one which established and which now maintains this laboratory. In the development of medical science, such laboratories have become imperative for the proper treatment of disease, and the preservation of life. The demands upon the laboratory at Iowa City are far greater than it can meet, with its present equipment and appropriation. I recommend an increase in the appropriation for this work.

HISTORICAL BUILDING.

When the contracts now outstanding have been performed, the appropriation made by the last General Assembly for the Historical Building will have been expended. It was known when this appropriation was made that it would not complete the building. I have taken some pains to secure the most reliable estimates for finishing the work, and I am informed that it will require $78,000.00 to bring the building and grounds to completion. This estimate does not include passenger elevators, furniture, or decoration. The furniture will not require a large expenditure, and upon the decoration you may exhaust a large or a small amount, according to your pleasure. It is most important, however, that the building be finished, so that it can be fully occupied.

In this connection, I desire to call your attention to the Hall of Archives, which has already been set apart in the building, and the work of selecting, classifying, and removing to their new location the archives which are to be taken from the Capitol. The preparation of the new room, you will naturally consider in arranging for the completion and furnishing of the building, but the work incident to placing the archives in the room may be overlooked. The statute of the Thirty-first General Assembly upon this subject, I assume was intended simply as a beginning, for if you place at the disposal of the director no greater force than is now employed, none of you will live long enough to witness the end of the undertaking. It will require several men several years to do what you contemplate, and I therefore earnestly recommend such an appropriation as may be necessary to carry on the project with reasonable celerity.

DIRECT INHERITANCE TAX.

We now have a statute which levies, under certain conditions, a collateral inheritance tax. The propriety of levying also a direct inheritance tax may well engage your attention. I do not look upon a tax of that character as a method for the reduction of swollen fortunes. I view it solely as another effort to equalize the burdens of society. It ought not to be levied upon small inheritances; but after the proper limit is passed, there is no reason which justifies a collateral inheritance tax which will not also vindicate one upon direct inheritances. I earnestly hope that you will interest yourselves in the subject, and take such action upon it as the best interest of the State requires.

ROSTER OF IOWA SOLDIERS.

I am sure that the failure of the Thirty-first General Assembly to enact a law authorizing the compilation and publication of what is commonly called a roster of Iowa soldiers was a mere mischance. It is a little humiliating to remember that Iowa is one of a very few northern States in which this sacred duty has not been performed. The material out of which such a publication must be compiled is each year disappearing, and it will not be long until it will be impossible to render this acknowledgment to the men whose valor and patriotism are the choicest possessions of the commonwealth.

DESERTION AND NON-SUPPORT.

I repeat my recommendation of a year ago, with increased emphasis, if that be possible, in favor of a law that will make it a crime for a man to desert his family without cause, and to refuse to support, without good reason, his wife and children. We ought to do something to check the rapidly growing habit of repudiating the most sacred obligations which a man ever assumes.

VOTING MACHINE COMMISSION.

While voting machines are not as yet being used in this State to any great extent, the experience of other states has shown that our law ought to be amended in at least one particular. As the statute now is, when the Voting Machine Commission has passed favorably upon any machine, it stands as approved, and may be sold anywhere in the State. It is not always possible for the Commission to discover defects in such a machine, and when such defects are made to appear by use, there is no power on the part of the Commission or on the part of any other officer to revoke the certificate of approval. There should be an amendment giving either the Commission or some other board the authority to cancel the approval, if, in use, the machine is found to be worthless.

CIVIL SERVICE.

The time has come when Iowa should establish such civil service regulations as will insure the appointment of such employes as properly fall within the scope of a civil service system, upon competitive examinations, with advancements and promotions earned by faithful and efficient service. It is not necessary for me to repeat the argument so well known to you for this plan of appointments to public place. We are all pledged to it, so far as the government of the United States is concerned, and why should we not stand for it in our own commonwealth?

MUNICIPAL GOVERNMENT.

One of the propositions upon which all persons and all parties seem to agree is that the established system of government in our larger cities is hopelessly inefficient. In these days, when franchises to public service corporations have become so important, when the sums expended for public improvements have become so vast, and the expense of administration has so multiplied, the form of municipal government ought to receive the best thought of the General Assembly. I believe there should be a thorough-going revision of our statutes upon this subject. There are wide differences respecting the changes that should be made. My own view is that the representative form of government ought to be preserved. Aldermen should be elected at large, and the city council confined strictly to legislative duties. Power should be concentrated in the mayor, and he should be the responsible administrative head of city affairs. He should appoint the officers who are to administer the law. The protection of civil service should be extended. The compensation of the mayor should be sufficient to call men of the best type and strongest character to the office, and the term be made long enough to enable him to accomplish something. If, however, the term be lengthened, it should be accompanied with the power on the part of the people to remove him from office, through an election called for that purpose upon proper petition.

CLAIM AGAINST THE GENERAL GOVERNMENT.

For many years, there has been pending at Washington a claim on the part of the State of Iowa against the general government, arising out of the sale of public lands within our limits, wherein the consideration was other than money. Other states have similar claims, and the agents who have been appointed by the several states have been vainly attempting to secure such legislation as will result in the adjustment and payment of the demands. I have given the subject sufficient investigation to warrant the conclusion that our claim is a just one, and that the resistance is not to its merit. The difficulty is that, in the multitude of things which Congress has to do, it is easy to secure delay, and this method of preventing the payment of an honest debt has now been successful for many years. I recommend the passage of a resolution calling the subject specifically to the attention of our members of Congress, and asking them to see to it that the matter is decisively determined, either for or against us, at the earliest practicable moment.

AN ENLARGEMENT OF THE PURE FOOD LAW.

Last year the General Assembly adopted a measure intended to protect the people from fraud and imposition in the sale of adulterated and wholesome foods. It is now in operation and I believe that it will accomplish great good.

Those who are vitally interested in the live-stock industry feel that similar protection should be extended to live-stock foods. I have examined the subject with as much care as has been possible under the circumstances, and have reached the conclusion that their views are sound. I therefore recommend the enactment of a law with respect to such foods, having the general scope and purpose of the act of the Thirty-first General Assembly relating to pure food.

THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES PROVIDING FOR THE ELECTION OF UNITED STATES SENATORS BY DIRECT VOTE.

In obedience to the direction of the Thirty-first General Assembly, I invited the Governors of the several States of the Union to appoint delegates to a convention to be held in Des Moines for the purpose of furthering the application of sufficient States to require Congress to call a Constitutional Convention, to the end that an amendment may be submitted providing for the election of United States Senators by direct vote. In response to the invitation, the Governors of twenty-five States appointed delegates, and the convention assembled in Des Moines on the fifth day of last December. Thirteen of these States are represented by delegates in person, and the remainder through correspondence. The convention was composed of earnest, high-minded, thoughtful men, and the debates, which consumed two full days, were interesting, instructive, and patriotic. The outcome of the convention was the adoption of a preamble and resolutions, as follows:

"Whereas, It is the judgment of this convention that the legislative branch of the general government should be placed more directly under the control of the people of the several States, and

"Whereas, There exists and has long existed a strong popular demand for the election of United States Senators by the vote of the people, and said demand is, in the opinion of this convention, well founded, and

"Whereas, The Constitution of the United States provides only two methods whereby the provision respecting the election of United States Senators may be changed, and

"Whereas, The method ordinarily adopted, of Congress on its own initiative submitting to the several States a proposed amendment, has heretofore been ineffective, owing to the refusal of the United States Senate to submit such proposed amendment to the several States, and

"Whereas, There is no alternative for accomplishing the desired reform save by an appeal by at least two-thirds of the States to Congress asking that a Constitutional Convention be called; be it therefore

"Resolved, That while this convention would much prefer that Congress should submit to the several States a proposed amendment to the Constitution for the election of Senators by direct vote of the people, so that the States might pass upon it as a single question, yet inasmuch as the Senate persistently refuses to submit such amendment, it therefore earnestly recommends that the legislatures of the several States do, in pursuance of Article V of the Constitution of the United States, make application to Congress to call a convention for the purpose of proposing amendments to the Constitution of the United States; be it further

"Resolved, That the President and Secretary of this Convention be and the same are hereby instructed to transmit duly certified copies of these resolutions to the Chairman of the National Committee, and of the several State committees of the two leading political parties, also to the Governors of the respective States, to each member of Congress, and to the President. That in transmitting the copies to the Governors of the States, the President and Secretary of this Convention shall enclose a letter urging each of them to lay these resolutions before the legislature of his State."

The Executive Committee will present the subject to the States as rapidly as their legislatures convene, and its members believe that two-thirds of all the States will make the application to Congress for a Constitutional Convention. It will be observed that the resolution does not limit the scope of the Constitutional Convention finally to be called. This is because it was believed that it is not in the power of Congress to limit the convention to a single amendment.

I am profoundly convinced that Senators of the United States should be elected by direct vote. If there ever were reasons for interposing a secondary elective body between the people and their Senators, they have long ago ceased to exist, and in this age there are affirmative and potential reasons for restoring to the voters the full privileges to which they are indisputably entitled. Four times the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States has passed a resolution for the submission of an amendment upon this subject to the States, but the Senate has persistently ignored the subject. There is no hope that it ever will take the step necessary to give the States the opportunity to express their desires. Therefore, it has become necessary to pursue the other alternative of the Constitution, and call a Constitutional Convention. I know that there are men who fear such a convention, but their fear is groundless, for it can not be believed that the Constitution will be unwisely amended when it is remembered that the members of the Convention, who will themselves be the choicest examples of our civilization, must first agree before any amendment can be submitted to the States, and then thirty-five of the forty-six States must concur before the proposed amendment can become a part of the Constitution. If this be not a sufficient safeguard, we are not fit to live in a free country.

I strongly recommend the passage of a resolution that will be an application to Congress, under Article V of the Constitution of the United States, for the calling of a Constitutional Convention to propose amendments to the Constitution.

CORPORATIONS.

My observation and experience intensify the conclusions I have twice announced to the General Assembly relative to the organization of corporations. I take one step further and say that it seems to me that one of the imperative demands of the time is to require the articles of incorporation of every corporation hereafter organized to be approved by some tribunal, such as the Executive Council, with the Attorney General added, before they are permitted to be filed. Even this measure of supervision would prevent the establishment of a large number of associations either unlawful and fraudulent in their purpose or imperfect in their plan of organization.

I reiterate my recommendation that no capital stock should be allowed to be issued until some state authority had made examination, and until it had been satisfactorily shown that it had been paid for, either in money or in property, at a fair value. The universal practice of issuing capital stock without any regard to the value paid for it is the fruitful source of more injustice and oppression than any other in which corporations indulge. To permit corporations to issue stock as they now do is no more defensible than it would be to license a pirate to prey upon a defenseless people.

It is believed by many of the most thoughtful students of governmental affairs that the time has come for an annual franchise corporation tax. I concur in that belief. You could add greatly to the revenues of the State, and at the same time place some of the burdens of maintaining the government where they belong, by providing for such a tax.

INSURANCE.

The developments of the year have not changed my opinions with respect to life insurance. My message to the Thirty-first General Assembly is as full and complete upon the subject as I could make it. I beg to refer to it as a whole, but take the liberty of now repeating and emphasizing certain parts of it. I then said, among other things:

"Another grave defect in the methods of life insurance developed by the recent study of the subject is the accumulation of a so-called surplus, which, in a great measure at least, represents deferred dividends; that is to say, the sum which the company, in a vague way, promises to distribute at a future time to its policyholders, but concerning which there is no specific agreement fixing the amount of the distribution. The surplus so existing is not reckoned as a liability, for the reason that no policy, so far as I have been able to ascertain, contains any more positive assurance of distribution than that the policyholder shall be entitled to such share of the surplus as the directors of the company may determine. The whole scheme of deferred dividends has a tendency to lead the business away from the field of indemnity into the field of investment—a tendency which is altogether too prominent, and which should be checked by such reasonable regulations as can be prescribed without injuring the legitimate enterprise of insurance; but there is a still more potent objection to the practice.

As is well known, the premium charged by a legal reserve company is made up of two parts: First, mortality; second, the loading for expense. The actual mortality is considerably less than the theoretical mortality, and it might happen that the share allotted to expense is not altogether consumed. From these overcharges in the premium, together with a portion of the interest earned, the surplus is crated, and the general promise is to return this surplus to the policyholder in the form of dividends. I am speaking now of a mutual company, although it is likewise true of a company having capital stock, with the one exception of the diminution in the earnings caused by whatever claim the capital stock may have upon them. No company can safely make any definite promise with respect to the surplus so acquired, for the obvious reason that its extent must always be uncertain. One of the issues in the insurance business therefore is, shall this surplus be ascertained and apportioned and disposed of in some manner at short intervals, or shall it be allowed to accumulate during long periods, and then be paid to the policyholders in such proportions as the board of directors of the company may think best? It seems to me that every consideration of safety and fair dealing requires that the surplus to be credited or paid to participating policyholders shall be ascertained and paid, or otherwise disposed of, every year. In so saying, I do not mean, necessarily, that the first or second years of a policy shall be so treated, because the expense of getting the business, with the mortality, quite consumes the premium for those years. If the dividends are deferred for a long period, the policyholder is absolutely at the mercy of the company. Even if he could overrule, by a judicial proceeding, the discretion of the board of directors in apportioning the surplus then due him (and the courts have decided that he can not) the cost of procuring the proof necessary to establish his rights would far exceed any benefit that he could derive from the litigation. If, however, the law imposes upon the company an imperative obligation to ascertain and apportion the amount of the surplus due to each participating policyholder at the end of each year, then the natural forces of competition between companies, together with the option on the part of the policyholder to surrender his policy if the dividend be not fair and satisfactory, will protect the policyholder from any serious wrong.

I therefore recommend that the law be so strengthened as to require an annual accounting between each company and its policyholders so that at the close of each year the policyholders will be notified of their respective shares in the surplus of the preceding year. The amendment would also provide for the options which at that time may be exercised by the policyholder: namely, to withdraw the dividend in cash or to use it for the purpose of purchasing further insurance. In so recommending, it must not be understood that I advocate the distribution, annually, of the entire surplus. It would be unwise to insist that the assets of the company shall at all times be no more than its liabilities. There must be a margin of safety to cover unexpected and extraordinary conditions. There are widely differing opinions with respect to the amount of percentage that should be reserved as the margin of safety, and this divergence of judgment can only be adjusted by your good common sense, to which I confidently submit the whole controversy."

And again:

"There is more fraud and deception, sometimes intentional and sometimes unintentional, practiced upon policyholders by reason of the variety in the forms of life insurance contracts than in any other way. There are hundreds of these forms, differing oftentimes but slightly from each other, and these differences are, in my opinion, in many instances created for no other purpose than to enable the agent to found upon them an argument, the fallacy of which can not be detected by the unskilled mind, and the effect of which is to create an atmosphere of mystery about the entire business. There are but few kinds of legitimate life insurance contracts. You can certainly number them on the fingers of your two hands. There is no sense in the almost infinite multiplicity of forms. I believe that there should be standard forms of policies. They should be uniform with all companies. They should be plain, simple, and direct. The obligations should be understood. If we had such uniformity, the people would soon come to know what insurance is, and what the insurance companies agree to do in each of the several forms of contract issued."

I believe that in the end it will be found wise to prohibit life insurance companies having capital stock from issuing participating policies in any form. The partnership thus created between the stockholders and the policyholders will always be unsatisfactory. I believe, also, that all the policies issued by a mutual life insurance company should be participating policies, and they should be of such form that any dividends made would be in exact proportion to the contributions out of which the dividends arose. We will never reach the real remedy for the evils which are so manifest until the business is thus simplified.

EMPLOYERS' LIABILITY.

The rules of law which in this State govern the liability of an employer to employes are, in many respects, flagrantly unjust to the employes. They need careful revision. At the last session of Congress, a statute was passed which gave expression to an enlightened view of one phase of the subject, so far as interstate commerce is concerned. This statute has recently been declared unconstitutional, solely because the Court believed that the States, and not the general Government, had the power to deal with the matter. Without going into detail, I recommend the passage of a law which shall be the substantial equivalent of the act adopted by Congress.

LOBBYING AND THE LOBBYIST.

My views upon lobbying and the lobbyist are fairly well known, but I venture once more to express them. Corporations, as well as individuals, oftentimes have a direct pecuniary or property interest in measures that are proposed before legislative bodies. When such measures arise, it is fundamental that they have the right to be heard. To deny them the privilege of submitting either fact or argument to the men who make the laws would be intolerable in an enlightened government. Manifestly, however, the privileges of such representatives should be limited to the submission of such matters as touch the merit or demerit of the legislation proposed, and whenever and wherever any corporation or individual attempts to influence a member by any other consideration, no matter what it is, he commits a crime against morals, and the punishment should be swift, sure, and severe. I understand perfectly that such offenses are not easily discovered, but that is no reason for immunity when they are discovered.

The lobbyist is not and ought not to be in good repute, and therefore I make this distinction. He who comes before you, fairly argues the case given to him, submits his case honestly, and goes his way, is not a lobbyist, and the term, which has become one of reproach, ought not to be applied to him. The real lobbyist is the man who has no concern for the merit of the law which he advocates or the demerit of the law which he opposes. He is the man who attempts to create personal obligations which will influence votes. He is the man who intrigues for combinations in which votes for or against one measure are traded for votes for or against another measure. He is the man who pursues his avocation behind locked doors, and in dark corners. He is the man who wants to win, right or wrong, and puts his desire to accomplish his purpose above his duty as a citizen. Such a lobbyist ought not to be registered anywhere. He ought to be abolished everywhere.

I am glad to say that in Iowa these men are growing every year less conspicuous and less numerous. I hope to see the species wholly disappear, and that the historian of the future may be able to write that about this time the race became extinct.

CONTRIBUTIONS BY CORPORATIONS FOR POLITICAL PURPOSES.

That it has become a custom with corporations of various kinds to make contributions to accomplish or defeat the nomination of candidates for public office, and to assist in the election of candidates for public office, is so well known and has been so completely many reasons, of the weightiest character, which demand an immediate prohibition against such misuse of corporate funds, coupled with a penalty of imprisonment for the violation of the law: First, the growing tendency to use money in political campaigns is subversive of the fundamental principles of good government, for it not only destroys purity of motive, but it overthrows the safety which is always found in individual and independent action. Second, it is a plain theft from every stockholder who does not give his assent to the contribution, and the misappropriation is peculiarly obnoxious because it oftentimes puts the money of a stockholder at work for a candidate whose success the stockholder does not desire. Third, the practice gives to the corporation an influence in public affairs simply because of the money contributed—an influence which is necessarily both selfish and vicious. Corporations should, of their own motion, rigorously exclude themselves from politics, and the most effective way in which to give them strength to resist temptation is to fix a penalty for participation, so severe that the honest course will be the most attractive one. I recommend with all my earnestness, the enactment of a measure upon this subject that will stop, at once and forever, so odious a misuse of corporate property.

In this connection, I desire to submit another suggestion. I recognize that there must be some expenditure of money in every political campaign, whether for nomination or for election. There are legitimate purposes for which money can be expended, and to this extent, when contributed by individuals, there can be no criticism of the practice. We will all agree, however, that the expenditure of money in political controversies has passed beyond a fair and reasonable limit. Other countries and other states have attempted to restrict the use of money within honest bounds through that very efficient corrective—publicity. I think the State of Iowa should do likewise, and I strongly recommend a law that will require not only political committees, but candidates for nomination and for election, to publish their expenditures.

PRIMARY ELECTIONS.

The wisdom of establishing a system for the nomination of candidates for elective offices has not only been thoroughly debated in prior General assemblies, but has been maturely considered by the people of the State. Declarations upon the subject will be found in the platforms of the two principal political parties which preclude doubt with respect to the opinions of an overwhelming majority of the voters. The experience of each year, as it passes, emphasizes the imperative need of a thorough-going reform in the methods of nominating candidates.

We have long tried the plan of unregulated caucuses and conventions, and the defects discovered in this system have been so manifest that there is a universal demand for something better. I therefore earnestly recommend, as I have recommended before, an efficient primary election law. I recognize that there are differences of opinion with respect not only to the scope but the details of such a law, but I sincerely hope that these differences may not be so broad or so fundamental that they cannot be reconciled. I have given much thought to the subject, but shall not impose upon you at this time more than a statement of the essential features which a primary election law should contain.

First, it should embrace the nominations of candidates for all elective offices, whether state, county, municipal or district, including the office of Senator of the United States. Second, it should provide for the nomination of candidates for these offices by the primary vote, and should not remit nominations, under any circumstances, to a convention, except in the event of a tie. Third, the primary election for all political parties should be held throughout the State on the same day and at the same places. Fourth, there should be some fair test

I know that there are some thoughtful students of the subject who believe that a nomination by a mere plurality is unwise, and I grant that there may be instances in which the concurrence of a majority would be better, but to require a majority in all cases would be to make no substantial change in the present system, for conventions would still be compelled to nominate candidates. If, therefore, we are to advance at all, it seems to me that we must adopt nominations by pluralities.

I am aware, also, that there are many persons who, with the utmost sincerity, believe that certain offices, such as Judges of the Supreme and District Courts, Attorney General, Clerk and Reporter of the Supreme Court, and Superintendent of Public Instruction, should not be included. I do not share the fears which lead to this conclusion, and yet I am quite willing to concede that if there are to be exceptions to the full and complete operation of the law, they should be along this line rather than any other.

I leave the subject with you, confident that you will deal with it as becomes its vast importance, and in accordance with the spirit which so universally prevails.

EXPRESS AND TELEGRAPH COMPANIES.

The Twenty-eighth General Assembly passed an act providing for the taxation of the property of express companies, which the Executive Council has, since its passage, been attempting to apply. The object of the statute is to ascertain a taxable mileage value of all the routes of a given express company, and then take the proportion in this State as a basis for taxation within the State. Unquestionably, the General Assembly had in mind the ordinary railway lines over which express companies do their business on land. The fact is, however, that some of the express companies have ocean routes, of tremendous distances but of little value, and it is contended, year after year, that in ascertaining the value of the routes in Iowa the Council must take into consideration the ocean lines as well as the land lines. To do so would be to reduce the taxable value of the lines in Iowa to an absurd point, but the letter of the law gives some strength to the argument. I recommend a careful revision of this statute, so that all doubt respecting its interpretation will be removed, and a fair valuation clearly imposed.

I can see no good reason why the general policy that the legislature has applied to express companies should not also be applied to telegraph companies. If it is equitable to ascertain the value of express routes by ascertaining the value of the property as a whole, and then taking a mileage proportion of it, it would be no less equitable to determine the value of the telegraph lines in the same manner. The mere cost of constructing a telegraph line is no criterion of its worth for the purpose of taxation. I recommend the passage of a law that will set up the same criterion for telegraph property that you have established for express property.

I have long believed that both express companies and telegraph companies should be brought within the jurisdiction of the Railroad Commission, and that the Commission should be given the same authority to prescribe rates for telegraphic messages and for the carrying of express matter, and to supervise the management of telegraph and express companies, that it now has with respect to railroads. I commend this subject to you as one well worthy of your attention.

RAILROADS.

Inasmuch as I feel compelled to make a series of recommendations that touch, directly or indirectly, the railroads within the State, I must be allowed a brief preface. There has been, within the last three or four years, so much discussion concerning the relations of the railroads to the people, that those who manage railroad property and those who own railroad stocks and bonds seem to fear that there exists a violent prejudice which will result in unjust legislation. I cannot believe that the fear is well founded. The discussion has been the natural outcome of the marvelous increase in commerce, and the plain attempt of railway managers to reap the largest possible profit from the unparalleled traffic of the time. These managers, while they admit as a mere abstraction the proposition that a railroad has not the liberty or license of private property, cannot and will not accept it as a rule of conduct. They still believe, apparently, that they have a right to capitalize not only present earnings, but hopes for the future. They cannot and will not, save theoretically, recognize that all persons and all localities must be given the use of transportation facilities upon like terms under like conditions.

There is no disposition upon the part of the people generally or of any legislative body to take away from railway corporations the management of their property, or to deny them full and adequate compensation for the service they render. I say to you, and I hope you will bear it in mind when you come to consider the recommendations I shall make, that you could not inflict a more fatal blow upon the people of this State than to adopt such legislation as would deprive our railroads of the opportunity to earn a fair profit. We are as dependent for our material well being upon the transportation afforded by the railroads as we are upon the air we breathe for the continuance of life. Railroads will not and cannot serve the people efficiently unless they are reasonably compensated for the work they do. The spirit of confiscation is not in the people of Iowa, and it is not in this General Assembly. The railway companies may dismiss all fear of injury. It is incredible that the calm wisdom of this or any other legislative body in a country like ours will impose such restrictions upon the use of railroad property as will render it either unprofitable in operation or unfairly interfere with the control of its owners. The whole history of legislation upon this subject proves conclusively the truth of my assertion. Notwithstanding all the acts that have been passed regulating the operation and limiting the compensation of railroads, whether by the states or the United States, the railroads have steadily grown in mileage and increased in revenue until they pay dividends and interest upon stocks and bonds aggregating nearly one-seventh of the entire wealth of the nation. Experience has abundantly shown that, with the privileges granted to them by the law, they can take care of themselves much more effectually than legislatures and congresses can take care of the people.

Concluding this general review, I come to specific things.

PASSENGER FARES.

In my message delivered to the Thirty-first General Assembly, I had the honor to recommend the passage of a law that would require railway companies to "sell mileage books good for 1,000 miles and upwards, at a flat rate of two cents per mile, good until used"; and I said in that connection "if purchased by the head of a family, there is no reason why it should not be used by any member of the family"; and again, "The man who travels little is at present at too great a disadvantage as compared with the man who travels much".

A bill embodying this recommendation passed the House of Representatives, but in the committee of the Senate, counsel for the railways contended that it was unconstitutional, because it authorized discrimination. The argument seemed to be convincing, and although I do not concur in the conclusion, I feel impelled to lay aside the remedy then proposed. It must be assumed, therefore, that if those who travel little are to be relieved of the unjust burden which they now bear, the relief must come through a general reduction of all passenger fares. There is much reason to believe that, in the Western country at least, passenger traffic at the present rates is less profitable than freight traffic at the present rates. The representatives of the railway companies, during the last session, insisted that the average actual rate paid by passengers in Iowa was not more than two cents per mile, some of the roads showing a fraction higher and some a fraction lower than two cents. In making this computation an arbitrary division of certain large expenses was assumed, and as I understand it, free transportation was not included.

This condition has been brought about by the railroads themselves, through mileage books, credentials, and other reduced rates to privileged classes. When it is remembered that the vast majority of those who travel a great deal pay but two cents per mile, and that the travel of all those of our people who pay three cents per mile is necessary to bring the average up to two cents per mile, the extent of travel which pays less than two cents per mile assumes tremendous proportions. Granting, for the moment, that it would be unfair to reduce the revenue from passenger service a single penny, it is still manifest that the adjustment is hopelessly wrong. It costs the railway company just as much to carry a passenger who has purchased a 2000-mile book, per mile, as it does to carry a passenger who has bought a single ticket for 100 miles; indeed, I think the former costs a little more, for the use of the mileage book entails more expense in the maintenance of extensive bureaus for identification, auditing and rebating, than the sale of tickets at stations. The only advantage derived by the railway company is the interest upon the payment in advance, and this does not warrant any appreciable reduction in the rate.

If the practice of making low rates for excursions, conventions, meetings of associations, and the like, is unprofitable, the railway companies can easily abolish it. For my part, I can see no justice in the custom which compels the farmer and his family, or the merchant and his family, as they go from place to place, either for pleasure or for business, to pay a part of the cost of carrying men to conventions or to gatherings of any kind; and much less can I perceive the wisdom of making our people pay, as they move about engaged in their ordinary affairs, for losses incurred in taking train load after train load of pleasure seekers to points of entertainment or amusement, or land seekers, as they journey to distant states in the hope of finding riches that they could more easily discover at home.

These things, however, are entirely within the control of the railway companies. If we give them an opportunity to take two cents per mile from everyone who rides upon their trains in Iowa, and they avail themselves of the opportunity, as they can, their revenue from the passenger traffic will not be reduced a single dollar; on the contrary, according to universal experience, it will be increased. If, on the other hand, the railway companies, with the right to demand two cents per mile from all who travel, find it advantageous, by reason of ulterior and extrinsic benefits, to reduce the rates under certain circumstances below the maximum, and thus diminish the average rate actually received, they can not assert that the law has done them an injustice. I stand firmly upon the proposition that the travellers who are now paying three cents per mile are paying the fares of other travellers who are abundantly able to pay their own; and moreover the burden is laid upon the people who are least able to bear it. It is a discrimination which can not be defended, and which ought not to continue. It will not be forgotten, either, that the prohibition against passes already in force, and an enlargement of the prohibition of which I shall speak presently, and which I hope will shortly be in force, will add materially to the revenue of the railway companies, and will help greatly in maintaining the average at or above its present point.

What I have said has been upon the hypothesis of a strict division between the earnings of the passenger and freight traffic. I do not concede, however, that the proposal for two-cent passenger fares is to be tested wholly by any such criterion. I prefer to look at the earnings of the railroads in Iowa as a whole, and if they are found to be more than they should be, it is not very material to inquire whether a two-cent passenger rate will or will not be, in and of itself, profitable. The chief business of railroads in this State is the transportation of freight, and it clearly appears from the arguments laid before you last winter that they regard passenger traffic as incidental, and do not attempt to make it the source of any considerable net earning.

The gross earnings of all the railroads upon business done in Iowa for the year 1905, not including interurban railways, was $62,792,307.00. In ascertaining these earnings, Iowa is given a mileage proportion upon all inter-state traffic. It is not safe to accept the report of any particular railway company respecting the amount expended for maintenance and operation, inasmuch as the variety in the methods of bookkeeping destroys the value of any one report. It is fair, however, to resort to averages, and according to the computations made by the Inter-State Commerce Commission, the average percentage of gross earnings for maintenance and operation throughout the United States is a little less than 68 per cent. If we assume 68 per cent as the fair proportion (and I am of the opinion that the assumption will do the railway companies no injustice) the net earnings of our railroads upon business done in Iowa for the year 1905 were $20,093,538.24. This sum will pay 6 per cent interest upon $334,892,304.00. It will pay 7 per cent interest upon $287,050,546.00. The last assessment fixed the actual value of the railroads in the State at $249,348,780.00. The Executive Council, however, chose to apply the same proportion of value as it believed had been applied to farm property; namely, about four-fifths. Increasing the value by the addition of one-fifth, the result is an actual value of $299,218,536.00. It will be remembered, however, that in reaching this value the Executive Council was largely influenced by the gross and net earnings, and in a less degree by the amount which had been expended in the construction of the properties. It is manifest that when you come to determine whether the net earnings are too great, you cannot take as a basis a valuation founded upon such earnings, but must adopt some other method. If it be asserted that it is unfair to take the gross and net earnings of a single year, it may be of interest to inquire what these earnings have been during the last five years.

In 1901, the gross earnings were $55,079,943.00; in 1902, $56,466,305.00; in 1903, $58,466,340.00; in 1904, $57,396,848.00; and in 1905, as before stated, $62,792,307.00. The average gross earnings for these five years are $58,240,348.00. Using the percentage for ascertaining net earnings heretofore mentioned, the result is $18,636,911.36, for the average net earnings per year during the last five years. This sum will pay 6 per cent interest upon $310,615,189.00. It will pay 7 per cent interest upon $266,241,591.00. These rates of interest are sufficiently liberal when you take into consideration the fact that practically one-half the capitalization of railway properties is represented in bonds, the average interest upon which is about 4 per cent. The ascertainment of the sum upon which the earnings of railway companies should make a reasonable return is not easy. If you accept the basis presented by the actual investment you can approximate the proper capitalization very quickly. I have heard it stated by the representatives of railway companies before the Executive Council, over and over again, that the average actual cost of the railroads in Iowa did not exceed $20,000.00 per mile. There are now 9,827 main track miles in the State, which, tested by this theory of value, are worth $196,540,000.00. The net earnings of 1905, as you will observe, were sufficient to pay more than 10 per cent upon such a valuation. The average yearly net earnings for five years would pay 9 48-100 per cent upon this valuation. If you take the cost of reproduction as the proper test, an average of $25,000 per mile is about right. Upon this basis, the railroads are worth $245,675,000.00. You can compute in a moment the percentage of interest which the net earnings would pay upon this sum.

It will not be overlooked, of course, that any considerable reduction in earnings would, in all probability, result, and ought to result, in a reduction in the value of the property for taxation.

I submit these suggestions to you to be reviewed by your mature judgment, and to be used for the purpose of beginning an inquiry as to the justice or injustice of any action that you may take that will lessen the income of the railway companies, whether from the passenger or the freight service. It is a subject which invokes a high sense of responsibility, and it demands for its consideration all the obligations of an official oath. I know that you will examine it, and act upon it without fear, favor, prejudice or oppression. For my own part, I am deeply convinced that a reduction in the passenger rate is fully warranted, and I therefore earnestly recommend the substitution of a two-cent rate for the existing three-cent rate.

FREIGHT RATES.

What I have already said is sufficient in so far as the income of railway companies is concerned. The Railroad Commission has already adequate power to fix schedules of maximum freight rates. The schedules and classifications announced in 1889 have not been changed essentially during the eighteen years that have since intervened. In the meanwhile, the manufacture and commerce of the country have been revolutionized; and I believe it to be true that the present adjustment of rates is grossly unfair to the manufacturers, farmers, stock producers, and distributors of the State. They do not have a fair and even chance in the struggle for business. It may be worth your while to institute an investigation, which, with your plenary powers, might develop many things which the Railroad Commission cannot discover, and which would greatly aid in the readjustment of rates. As you know, it is the almost invariable custom of railway companies, in bringing shipments of any kind into the State, to make rates to the State line, and then add the rate of the Iowa distance tariff to the point of destination. This practice results in great hardship to our manufacturers and distributors in their effort to compete with their rivals situated beyond the State. To give point to this phase of the intricate subject, I take the liberty of giving you the substance of two letters which I received during the time I was writing this part of my message:

"In 1906 there was shipped from Chicago to Fairfield for the Loudon Machinery Company, 29 cars of bar steel, having a total weight of 980,741 pounds.

Distance from Chicago to Fairfield, 256 miles.

Distance from Chicago to Burlington, 206 miles.

Distance from Burlington to Fairfield, 50 miles.

Rate from Chicago to Fairfield, 13 cents per 100 pounds.

Rate from Chicago to Burlington, 5 cents per 100 pounds.

Rate from Burlington to Fairfield, 8 cents per 100 pounds.

Freight charges for hauling these 23 cars 206 miles, $490.3.

Freight charges for hauling these 23 cars 50 miles, $784.59.

In this particular case, the freight for one-fifth of the entire distance—the part in Iowa—is $294.22 more than for the other four-fifths of the distance—the part in Illinois.

In 1906, the Iowa Malleable Iron Company, of this city, shipped in 1,597 long tons of pig iron. Most of this, if not all, came from Chicago.

Rate from Chicago to Fairfield, $2.40 per long ton.

Rate from Chicago to Burlington, $1.00 per long ton.

Freight from Chicago to Fairfield on 1,597 long tons.....	$3,832.80
Freight from Chicago to Burlington on 1,597 long tons.....	1,597.00
Freight charged from Burlington to Fairfield on 1,597 long tons	2,235.80
Freight on 1,597 tons for hauling 50 miles in Iowa.....	2,235.80
Freight on 1,597 tons for hauling 206 miles in Illinois.....	1,597.00

In other words, the freight charges for hauling 1,597 tons of pig iron 50 miles in Iowa are $638.80 more than for hauling the same tonnage 206 miles in Illinois.

I understand perfectly that nothing that you could do would affect a through rate, but if it is to be the settled policy of the railroads to make the inter-state rate, so far as Iowa people are concerned, by adding the local distance tariff from the State line to the point of destination, it is possible to so adjust our rates that less injustice would follow their application in that manner.

At the present time, there are no joint rates upon local traffic. The law gives to the Railroad Commission the authority, upon special application, to establish a joint rate, but there is no authority to prescribe a general schedule of joint rates. The constitutionality of the existing statute was at one time questioned, but the case in which it arose was determined upon another issue, and therefore the validity of the law is still undecided. I recommend the subject to you as one worthy of the most careful consideration. It is believed by very many of our manufacturers, as well as by a large proportion of our general shippers, that the law should be amended so as to confer upon the Commission as complete power to establish a schedule of joint rates, embracing all railroads and all traffic, as it now has to promulgate a schedule of rates over single lines.

DEMURRAGE.

Two propositions will be admitted without controversy: First, that it is the duty of every railroad company to provide itself with sufficient motive power and enough cars to carry the freight offered to it with reasonable promptitude, and to furnish these facilities without discrimination to the shippers who ask for them; second, it is the duty of shippers and consignees to load and unload cars with reasonable promptitude, to the end that each car may perform the maximum of service. Shippers complain, and in recent times the complaint has been emphatic, that the railways do not furnish cars as they should with reasonable diligence, and do not move them, when loaded, with sufficient speed; and that they do discriminate between their patrons. The railways complain that shippers and consignees are not careful in loading and unloading cars when furnished, and to correct the latter evil they impose a penalty for detention, which is called, in railway parlance, "demurrage."

It seems to me consistent with good policy that the penalty should be imposed upon both sides. If the railway companies are remiss in their duty of furnishing cars and moving them, they should pay for their delinquency, and if the shippers and consignees are negligent in returning cars to service, they should pay for their fault. I recommend the enactment of a law that will create a sufficient motive in both carriers and shippers to do their full duty in this regard.

FREE TRANSPORTATION.

A year ago, I gave to the General Assembly my views upon this subject, and I beg leave to refer to my former message for a full expression of the evils which attend the practice of granting free transportation to favored persons and classes. The act which was passed by the Thirty-first General Assembly was a step in the right direction, but I respectfully submit that it did not reach the end toward which the public judgment so firmly advances. Its prohibition is not broad enough to abolish some of the most objectionable phases of the custom. Since its passage, Congress has legislated upon the subject, in so far as it relates to interstate carriage of passengers, much more effectually. I believe that the law of Iowa should be amended so as to conform to the law of the United States, and I recommend the enlargement of our statute so that what is unlawful for a railway company to do as between the States will also be unlawful to do within the State. I recommend further that you make such a definition of bona fide employees as will preclude the issuance of passes to persons whose connection with the company is either formal or created chiefly to give opportunity for free transportation.

HOURS OF CONTINUOUS LABOR IN RAILWAY SERVICE.

I invite your earnest attention to the danger incident to the practice of allowing or requiring men in the railway service to work continuously so long that they cannot exercise the care essential to their own safety and to the safety of the traveling public. The history of railroad accidents is full of warning upon this subject. The operation of railway trains demands a vision not dulled by loss of sleep, a memory not impaired by physical weariness. It demands that all the senses be alive and keen. It is well established that many of the most deplorable accidents have resulted from the failure of men who were at their posts for twenty-four, thirty, thirty-six and even forty-eight hours without the chance for adequate recuperation.

To require such continuous work is inhuman to employes; to permit it is an offense against the public. The fault is not with the railway companies alone, for there are employes who seek an opportunity to thus increase their wages; but whoever desires it, there is a higher consideration than either profit to the employer or compensation to the employe. The public safety overrules them both.

I recommend the enactment of a law that will fairly and reasonably limit continuous service of employes engaged in the movement of railway trains.

Gentlemen, I have now performed as best I could the duty which the law imposes upon me. My responsibility ceases and yours begins. I transfer these subjects to you in the full confidence that in so far as I am right my recommendations will find approval at the seat of your judgment, and with the consciousness that in so far as I am wrong they will fall under the weapons of your fair debate.

Respectfully submitted.

SUMMARY.

Funds available	$653,814.95
Expenditures	512,778.57

The law requires that Hospital Fees and Sales of Departments shall be listed separately. The following shows the receipts and expenditures for these accounts for the year:

RECEIPTS.

Receipts from sales.....	$ 38,312.13
Hospital fees	3,535.50	$ 41,847.63

EXPENDITURES.

Proceeds of sales reinvested by departments.....	$ 38,312.13
Expenses of Hospital.....	3,172.70	$ 41,484.38

The proceeds of sales are reinvested by the departments, thus constituting a revolving fund which represents, as it comes and goes, simply a change in the form of department assets.

The Hospital Fee does not go to the support of any educational department. It simply insures to the student, without expense, the privileges of the Hospital in case of sickness.

III. BALANCES AT CLOSE OF FISCAL YEAR, JUNE 30, 1906.

In the hands of the College Treasurer—

College support, including student funds.....	$ 23,788.59

Central Heating Plant appropriation.....	33,782.27
Pure Bred Stock appropriation.....	.44	$104,892.74

Total balances $141,036.38

It is the policy of the college not to draw funds from the State Treasury until needed. Only a small working balance is carried by the College Treasurer. In order, however, to avoid any legal question regarding the reversion of funds, support fund balances were drawn at the close of the year, thus making the balance in the College Treasurer's hands temporarily large.

AN ESTIMATE OF THE INCOME AND THE EXPENSES OF THE ICWA STATE NORMAL SCHOOL.

BIENNIAL PERIOD, JULY 1, 1907 TO JUNE 30, 1909.

Financial Statement Condensed:—showing present support, necessary expenditures, present demands and actual needs of the biennial period July 1, 1907, to June 30, 1909.

I. Teachers' Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Permanent fund now granted annually.....		$ 77,500.00
2. Salaries of teachers, 1906-1907.....	$ 80,000.00
3. Necessary readjustments of salaries of next biennial period	2,500.00

4. Necessary new teachers.....	4,000.00
5. Shortage to be supplied from students fees...		9,000.00
	$ 86,500.00	$ 86,500.00

NOTE.—The readjustments of salaries contemplated by Item 3 reaches twenty-one teachers who are deserving of a small addition being made to their respective salaries since it has been the policy for two decades to start with a minimum and make advances from year to year as merit and strength of service are established. By this means a maximum is probably obtainable after five years of service. At the same time this maximum is kept within the amount able to be generally earned for equivalent successful service in other places as compared with the quantity of service demanded at the Normal School. If present conditions continue in the financial world it will be entirely impossible for the Normal School to maintain a reputable faculty of instructors on the maximum salaries now paid.

II. Contingent Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Permanent fund, now granted annually.....		$ 34,000.00
2. Estimated receipts from contracts with school districts and from sales of material.....		5,000.00
3. Salaries of employes, 1906-1907.....	$ 16,418.00
4. Necessary increase to salaries of present employes	380.00
5. Necessary new employes.....	1,570.00
6. Fuel estimated	8,000.00
7. Departments supplies estimated.....	7,000.00
8. Office expenses—postage, printing, telegraph, telephone, estimated	1,000.00
9. Quarterly Bulletin estimated.....	3,000.00
10. Water, estimated	900.00
11. Superintendent's department, express freight sundries, estimated	4,000.00
12. Electric light, estimated	400.00
13. Shortage to be supplied from students' fees..		3,668.00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$42,668.00	$ 42,668.00

NOTE.—The opening of the New Laboratory and the Music Hall necessitates additions to the force of janitors. It is also economy to have an employe who is an experienced workman, capable of doing work as a plumber, steam fitter, tinner, etc., as called for in item 4 of this estimate.

III. Summer Term Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Permanent fund now granted annually.....		$ 8,000.00
2. Salaries of teachers paid, summer of 1906...$	14,177.00
3. Lectures and other expenses estimated.....	500.00
4. Shortage to be paid from student fees.....		6,677.00
	<hr/>	<hr/>
	$ 14,677.00	$ 14,677.00

IV. Library Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Annual appropriation requested of the General Assembly		$ 5,000.00
2. Annual necessary expenditure for new books periodicals, binding, to meet the demands of the work	$ 5,000.00
	$ 5,000.00	$ 5,000.00

NOTE.—This is a very moderate expenditure to be annually made for the support and development of the library.

V. Librarian Salary Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Annual Appropriation requested of the General Assembly		$ 5,000.00
2. Amount paid for library service, 1906-1907..	$ 3,200.00
3. Amount needed to secure additional service needed	1,800.00
	$ 5,000.00	$ 5,000.00

4. NOTE.—The management of the library needs to be much strengthened and the opportunities to use the same should be much extended. The estimate here made is based upon the most rigid economy, provided good service and capability is the standard.

VI. Paving and Permanent Walk Fund.	Expense.	Income.
1. Appropriation requested to continue the permanent improvement being made as the plant is being completed for two years....		$ 5,000.00
2. Amount needed to accomplish the work as planned on the most moderate basis of good material and good work.....	$ 5,000.00
	$ 5,000.00	$ 5,000.00

NOTE.—For the protection of the present property, including the floor and interior of the building as well as for the maintaining of a clean and sanitary condition insuring the health of the students, it is necessary to permanently pave certain drives and also complete the walks and curbing as now planned. Part of this work has been done and this appropriation is asked to continue as the new buildings of the plant are completed during the biennial period.

SUGGESTIONS AND RECOMMENDATIONS.

1. It is to be noted that the Board of Trustees has decided to endeavor to pass a biennial period without asking for additional teachers' fund or contingent fund. It will take the most rigid economy to do this, but such a course seems possible if prudent management encounters no unexpected emergencies. This makes imperative the granting of the full special appropriations asked, as without them the work of the Normal School will be severely crippled in its efficiency. This policy of endeavoring to get along with the present income does not mean that the Board of Trustees could not profitably put into the work a larger income should it be possessed; but it does mean to say that the Board of Trustees thinks that a school should be managed as carefully and as prudently as a business concern would be managed, and with this purpose in view this policy has been adopted. It remains to be said that the patronage of the school is assumed as promising to be about 2,500 students a year and on such basis and from experience of the past five years this conclusion was reached.

2. The efficiency and the capability of the Faculty of Instruction is of the greatest importance in a successful Normal School. All its teachers must possess (1) expert ability as instructors, (2) accurate and sensible scholarship of a kind that means fitness for giving practical instruction, and (3) special qualifications in personality and scholarship that make them masters of the branches to which they are assigned. Other schools need not be as careful as a normal school because their students do not necessarily become servants and teachers of the public. The representatives of the Normal School go at once to the people's schools and should be most thoroughly and efficiently instructed. To meet these standards has been the constant effort of the Board of Trustees in selecting the members of the Faculty of Instruction.

3. The Commencement Contingent Fund is obtained from diploma fees, receipts from dramatic programs at commencement and is disbursed in payment for diplomas granted to graduates and for the entertainment of the members of the graduating classes and their friends at the annual commencement dinner given by the alumni. This avoids the necessity to make any appropriation for such functions and expenses from the regular funds of the School.

It will give the Board of Trustees pleasure to have an opportunity to give any additional information that may be wanted by any committee or any member of the General Assembly.

Respectfully submitted.

GOVERNOR CUMMINS' INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Senators and Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly,

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN: For the third time I have taken the oath just administered in your presence. I have done my best to keep it in the years that have gone. I will do my best to keep it in the years that are to come. I have tried faithfully to understand the sacred obligations it creates, with the consciousness that my vow to preserve it, inviolate, is registered, not alone upon the records of an earthly government, but is written also upon the eternal tablets of a Divine Master, whose infinite vision sees not alone the act, but the motive which inspires the deed. Remember, however, that this oath binds me to perform my duty as I see the right. It does not bind me to perform my duty as anybody else may see the right. I may not do the thing or say the word that you believe I ought to do or say; but if I do the thing and say the word that I believe I ought to do or say, I will have kept the faith. Judge me, therefore, with that breadth of view, that righteous toleration which recognizes that men may honestly reach varying conclusions upon many of the subjects involved in the administration of public affairs, and I will be content.

A few days ago I had the honor to deliver to the members of the General Assembly a message which contained my specific recommendations touching the legislation of the State, and upon this occasion I may be permitted to deal with some phases of our public problems from a more general standpoint.

But first I must congratulate you upon the character of the people you represent. A kind Providence has bestowed upon them unequalled opportunities for the truest happiness and most enduring prosperity that mortals can enjoy. Our sources of wealth, while prolific and inexhaustible will not create fortunes so vast as to excite discontent, or become a menace to the public good. Our civilization is of the highest type known to the world, for it blends, in perfect proportion, the best qualities of the mind and the noblest virtues of the heart. If our people cannot reach the summit of true greatness, it may well be concluded that the top of the mountain is to be forever inaccessible. There is not another community of two millions of human beings upon the face of the earth so well fitted to accomplish the mighty purposes of the Ruler of all things as is the community which we call the State of Iowa. It is a distinguished honor to represent these people. As the chief executive, I acknowledge the honor, and I extend to you the heartiest felicitations upon the admirable constituency in whose service you are engaged.

This is an age of discussion—of calm, riotous, philosophical, foolish, sincere, hypocritical discussion. It is an age of fine eulogy and slashing criticism. It is an age of serene confidence and deep despair. There are persons who deplore rest, and some who deplore unrest; but I think the crushing discord is the salvation of our civilization and our institutions. Nearly everybody wants a change in some thing, and to most of us the agitator or demagogue is the man who wants to make a change that we think ought not to be made. We are all for some reform; and the hypocrite or pretender is the man who wants to reform something that we think ought not to be reformed. Undoubtedly there are agitators, demagogues, hypocrites and pretenders, but when we attempt to point them out, we are usurping the exclusive privileges of the Almighty. The sheep will be separated from the goats some time, but the man who tries to do it in this world will make a great many mistakes. I say, let the discussion—wise or unwise, honest or dishonest—go on. Let the lightnings of criticism strike. Let the thunders of condemnation roll. Let the sharp scream of anger and discontent be heard. Let the songs of praise swell out. In these things lies the real hope of finding our way through the tangled labyrinth through which we must pass. The truth is, and we may as well confess it, that we are a somewhat bewildered people. Our forefathers made for us a government, national and state, putting into it a genius that dwarfs every other effort of its kind; but the country to be governed has escaped from the government established to manage it, and is running wild. These thousands of voices that fill the air are only endeavoring to tell in a variety of tongue that there has been an escape and should be a recapture; but just how to put the harness of justice upon these mighty and new forces that we call our country—Ah! "There's the rub."

The conditions under which we live are utterly unlike the conditions that gave form to our institutions and which prescribed the scope of ancient laws. Forces have come into existence which were unknown to the men who made our constitutions. Not only are the conditions new and the forces unfamiliar, but they have developed so rapidly that we have not yet had time to do much but talk about them. With a wealth that in a very few years has whirled us out of obscurity to the very pinnacle of financial greatness; with this wealth organized in the hands of powerful men, multiplying itself with amazing rapidity, establishing monopolies, crushing and grinding its way without any instinct of fairness or any emotion of sympathy, toward the complete extinction of competition and independence; with forests in its grasp; with ore beds occupied; with its reach and strength drawing together the manufactories of the country; with the packing houses and live stock markets joining into one vast combination; with 220,000 miles of main track railway gradually taken from the ownership of a thousand companies and connected into a half-dozen systems all dominated by a few men, and oftentimes by the same men, serving with might and main these masters of finance, bent on paying interest and dividends upon stocks and bonds that aggregate twice the original capital invested, as well as laying aside immense sums for extensions and additions that ought to be constructed from independent capital; with labor unions that are trying to mass the power of the workingman against the associated strength of employers—these things present a situation never before presented to organized society. The farmers and the retail merchants are about the only people remaining to exhibit the force of competition, and the latter are shivering lest the mail order house shall soon make way with them.

When we add the riotous extravagances and the shameful inefficiency of municipal administration, both arising largely from the prodigality of prosperity, we have the picture upon which the American people are now looking. No wonder we are bewildered, and that we are a little nervous, as well as very proud. No wonder that magazines and newspapers are filled with discussion, suggestion, criticism and denunciation. No wonder that the patriot and demagogue, the wise man and the fool, the philosopher and the agitator, the radical and the conservative, are abroad in the land. Understand me. I am not complaining of the conditions I have described. All of them are natural, and many of them are unavoidable. I am not even prepared to say that, essentially, they can be changed. I am, however, sure that they require of government something that has never been done before, and that if we cling too closely to the wisdom of the forefathers and fail to exercise a little wisdom of our own, the history of our forefathers will be the only part of the history of this country worth preserving.

Herein lies the application of my former statement. No man knows just what to do, although all men know that something ought to be done. It is impossible to set forth an orderly plan that will embrace remedies for all the defects in our customs and laws, but this much is certain: that out of all the babel of argument and assertion, denunciation and eulogy, criticism and praise, there will come, little by little, the truth, and the truth will make us free. I have no fear that the people will adopt error or inflict injustice. I have some fear that, with the inertia begotten of over-reverence for the past, they will allow the truth to stand idle too long, and that they will be unjust, not in what they do, but in what they fail to do.

I was reading the other night the last published chapter of Mark Twain's autobiography. I do not know whether he intended it to be serious, satirical, or humorous, but whatever the state of his mind, he hit the bull's eye so often that the bell rang in my ears for hours. He was writing of Secretary Root's famous speech, lately delivered in New York, which was unfairly construed to advocate the practical abolition of state governments and the concentration of all power in the general government. I quote from Twain:

"He (Root) did not say in so many words that we are proceeding in a steady march toward eventual and unavoidable replacement of the republic by monarchy; but I suppose that he was aware that that is the case. He notes the several steps—the customary steps—which in all the ages have led to the consolidation of loose and scattered governmental forces into formidable centralizations of authority, but he stops there and doesn't ad up that sum. He is not aware that heretofore the sum has been ultimate monarchy, and that the same figures can fairly be depended upon to furnish the same sum whenever and wherever they can be produced, so long as human nature shall remain as it is; but it was not needful that he do the adding, since anyone can do it; neither would it have been gracious in him to do it.

"In observing the changed conditions which in the course of time have made certain and sure the eventful seizure by the Washington government of a number of State duties and prerogatives which have been betrayed and neglected by several states, he does not attribute those changes and the vast results which are to fall from them to any thought-out policy of any party, or of any body of dreamers or schemers, but properly and rightly attributes them to that stupendous power—Circumstance—which moves by laws of its own, regardless of parties and policies, and whose decrees are final and must be obeyed by all, and will be. The railway is a Circumstance, the steamship is a Circumstance, the telegraph is a Circumstance. They were mere happenings, and to the whole world, the wise and foolish alike, they were entirely trivial, wholly inconsequential; indeed, silly, comical, grotesque. No man and no party and no thought-out policy said, 'Behold, we will build railways and steamships and telegraphs, and presently you will see the condition and the way of life of every man and woman and child in the nation totally changed. Unimaginable changes of the law and custom will follow, in spite of anything that anybody can do to prevent it. The changed conditions have come, and Circumstance knows what is following and will follow. So does Mr. Root. His language is not clear; it is crystal.'

And then he quotes a few sentences from the speech, among them:

"Our whole life has swung away from the old state centers, and is crystallizing about national centers."

"That (State) power of regulation and control is gradually passing into the hands of the National government."

"Sometimes by an assertion of the inter-state commerce power, sometimes by an assertion of the taxing power, the national government is taking up the performance of duties which, under the changed conditions, the separate states are no longer capable of adequately performing."

"Constructions of the Constitution will be found to vest the power where it will be exercised—in the national government."

And then Twain concludes—

"I do not know whether that has a sinister meaning or not, and so I will not enlarge upon it, lest I should chance to be in the wrong. It sounds like ship money come again, but it may not be so intended."

If this be satire, it is grim and gloomy. If it be humor, it is sharp and dangerous. I intend to touch the subject boldly. There is a truth here that needs to be brought out into the light, so that we may see it and understand it, and better still, so that we may acknowledge it. To adequately meet the revolution which we have witnessed in wealth, transportation, commerce and business, to adequately guard and protect the people from the piracies of the powerful, you know and I know that the National government ought to have some powers that are not bestowed upon it, either in the letter or in the spirit of the Constitution. You know and I know that in the manner of selecting the President and Vice-President and Senators of the United States, there are lurking dangers which ought to be removed. You know and I know that for years every department that interprets the Constitution has strained it and tortured it and perverted it so that its makers would not recognize it as the instrument which they produced, in order to enable it to answer the demands of the time. This has not been done with any ill intent, but only to make the swaddling clothes of an infant cover the stalwart limbs of a giant; and it is just as true as fate that this process will continue until the Constitution is a mere shadowy name, without force or authority, unless it is so enlarged and strengthened that it will accomplish for us what it accomplished for our forefathers. The inquiry I propound, therefore, is this: Which shall we do: break the Constitution or better it? What do you think the consequences of stretching and shattering the Constitution will, in the end, be? I grant you that the Supreme Court of the United States will, slowly and reluctantly, make the Constitution whatever the imperious needs of the people require it to be, but when that spirit wins its final victory, what will your government be? Then, indeed, when we have forgotten the limitations of constitutions, then and then only may we fear that monarchy will supplant the republic. A land with an unwritten constitution is a monarchy, I care not how it may be disguised with forms.

Do not imagine that I am clearing the way for the conclusion that the powers of the states should be either abolished or curtailed. On the contrary, I believe that the authority which must be exercised by the states has increased, rather than diminished. My proposition is that the development of the country has made it necessary to exercise governmental functions which cannot be exerted by the states and never has been; and which cannot be employed by the general government because the Constitution does not create them. The interstate commerce clause of the Constitution is not broad enough for these days, simply because we have an interstate commerce, the character of which was not dreamed of when the clause was written. The corporations carrying on interstate commerce cannot be adequately regulated by the states for the obvious reason that the jurisdiction of a state, even in the absence of the present prohibition in the Constitution, ceases at its border. We take nothing away from the States when we enlarge these grants to the United States. We only bring into existence a new power, to meet a new condition, and bestow it upon the only hand that can use it. The interstate commerce clause has already been strained to the point of breaking. The taxing authority has already been wrested from its true purpose, and still the courts halt upon the hither side of adequate law. Why should we hesitate to call a Constitutional convention and make our organic law as great and broad and strong as the subjects it is to control? There are two reasons, each of which moves a class of it own.

The first class is composed of those persons who worship the past, have no faith in the present, and little hope for the future. They seem to believe that while the men of 1787 had wisdom and virtue enough to frame a Constitution that would preserve the liberties of the people and protect the interests of the Nation, the men of 1907 are incapable of dealing with subjects so important and vital. They shiver with the fear that a Constitutional Convention would be made up of wild-eyed, crazy-minded iconoclasts, who would delight in destroying all the idols of the patriot and lay the country waste, to be preyed upon by all the forces of disorder and injustice. They even assert that the thirty-five States which must adopt the work of the Constitutional Convention before it becomes effective would be ruled by the same reckless indifference to the ancient landmarks. I cannot think that there is the shadow of merit in their opposition. While I am conscious of intense pride and great reverence for the ancestry of the present generation, I believe that the men who are now studying the problems of government can be trusted as implicitly to do the right thing as could the men of a former time. We love our country as deeply as they did. We cherish the flag of our sovereignty with more love and affection than they ever felt. We are face to face with questions which were never propounded to them. We can take the multitude of remedies now proposed, and when they have passed through the crucible of full debate and of mature consideration, nothing will emerge but the pure gold of truth, justice and uprightness.

The second class is composed of persons dominated by the excessive selfishness of the human heart. Out of the incapacity of the government to do the things which ought to be done, they are daily coining inordinate profit. They are the beneficiaries of a species of anarchy which it is their interest to perpetuate. They have become mad in the pursuit of wealth, and they are unable to perceive that a country has any destiny except to grow rich. In their economy the science of production is the crowning glory of a nation's progress. It never occurs to them that the science of distribution is just as vital as the learning of production, and that the happiness of the people will depend quite as much upon fairness in the latter as upon the magnitude of the former. These persons make the air ring with praises for the established order of things, and their constant argument is that reform is the unrelenting enemy of business; that the capitalist will not invest his money when changes in the Constitution and amendments in the laws are under consideration. This is a ghost summoned for the occasion, which frightens many a timid man, and it ought to be banished from the vision of the American people.

I do not counsel precipitation. I do not favor hazardous experiments. Mature thought should precede action. We must not permit, however, either the trembling apprehension of the devotee who is always kneeling at the shrine of antiquity, nor the avarice that finds its opportunity in the incapacity of the Government, to say or thwart our purpose.

I, for one, stand clearly and unequivocally for amendments to the Constitution of the United States; for an amendment that will give the voters a chance to say, directly, who their Senators shall be; for an amendment that will give the voters a chance to say, directly, who their President and Vice-President shall be; for an amendment that will give the interstate commerce clause scope enough to enable Congress to control and regulate things which the developments of commerce have nationalized; for an amendment that will allow Congress to unify our marriage and divorce laws.

I recur to a suggestion made a few months ago that nothing proposed in the way of enlarging the power of the United States reduces the real authority of the several States. I believe, with Secretary Root, that the failure on the part of the various commonwealths to do their full duty in bringing their legislation into harmony with existing conditions will necessarily result in the usurpation of functions by the general government. Certain things must be done. Certain manifest evils must be removed. After all, Congress can justly occupy but a very small part of the field of legislation, and it is impossible to exaggerate the responsibility which rests upon you, Gentlemen of the Assembly.

You have the insurance problem to solve. The business in Iowa has attained tremendous proportions. We are all gratified to witness the prominence that the growth of this interest has given our State. Additional regulations are required, and some are proposed. Instantly, the cry goes up from the companies: "If you touch us we will perish." What I have said about the Constitution, I repeat here. It is this persistent command, "Hands off," and the feeling of danger that it implies, that retard much needed reforms. It goes without saying that nothing should be done that will hurt our insurance companies. After all, there is no great mystery about the business. It is simply an agency to collect money, keep it for a time, diminish it by expenses, increase it by interest, and pay it out again in equitable proportions. Your predecessors made the law under which these companies were organized. They made it to help them, and if you amend it you will amend it to help them. I do not disparage the assistance that men who are engaged in the business can give you through fact and argument; but I do deprecate the idea that the interests involved are imperilled simply because changes are thought to be necessary. In all progress there is some risk of going wrong, but you are not more apt, indeed you are less apt, to go wrong than those who have gone before you, for you have the light of further experience. The officers of insurance companies and legislators are trustees for the policy-holders, and their welfare should be a common object. I would like to see Iowa lead all the other States in the extent of its insurance business, and the only safe and sure path to this eminence is to better guard the interest of the policy-holder here than anywhere else in the Union.

You also have the railway question to answer. In my message, I considered the subject from one point of view—specific recommendations;—allow me, now, to look at it from another.

I emphasize every caution ever uttered about proceeding with care and deliberation, to the end that railway property shall receive the full measure of protection, but I repudiate here, as everywhere, that frayed out, puerile maxim of paralysis, "Let well enough alone." I reject the appeal that you cannot touch the management of this public servant without impairing its efficiency. I deny the implication that while your forefathers had sense, you have none.

I read last night the letter written by the king of railway policy and the prophet of railway destiny to Governor Johnson, of Minnesota. It was probably intended for consumption in Iowa as well as Minnesota, and therefore I may, with propriety, refer to it. He begins by admitting the incapacity of the railroads to carry the traffic offered to them; admits shortage of cars and inadequacy of tracks. His remedy is to buy more cars and build more tracks. His analysis of the situation may be accepted, for we all know that the railroads have more than they can do at the present time; but Mr. Hill did not publish this communication to state so obvious a fact. The lash of the letter was in the warning that if Congresses and Legislatures did not cease meddling or proposing to meddle with railway property and railway service, capital could not be found to build the needed tracks and buy the needed cars. So we have it again: "Interfere with the magnificent, wonderful structure of prosperity, and it will crumble to pieces before your eyes." The logic is, "If you want good service, you can get it, and only get it by letting the railway companies severely alone." The pity of it is that Mr. Hill really believes what he says, and so do other princes of finance who have grown fabulously rich through the mere manipulation of stocks and bonds. It never occurs to them that an enterprise is worth fostering that will not offer an opportunity to double, treble and quadruple securities without the contribution of a single dollar. I agree that neither Hill nor Harriman would put a penny of their money into the construction of railroads if they believed that they would only secure in return a fair interest upon their investment, even though the investment was as stable as a government bond. It never occurs to them, however, apparently, that there are thousands and tens of thousands of men who do not expect to make an hundred per cent in a single night, or reap a harvest of millions in a single day; and who are willing, nay, anxious, to so invest their capital that they will be rewarded with a remunerative, but reasonable profit. If railroads can not be built upon any other plan than the one hitherto adopted, I concede freely that when you have done your duty, enlargement would be exceedingly slow.

The whole argument, however, is fallacious to the last extreme. The men who in fact have their money in our railroads are paid a very moderate interest upon their investments, and the men who are making the outcry are the men who never invested their honestly earned dollars in the construction of our transportation system.

We ought to stand as resolutely against any invasion of the real rights of capital as we do against the unfair aggressions upon the privileges of the people; but we ought not to be frightened by the scarecrow set up by those who have already possessed a field to which they have no honest title. When you give the investors of the United States a fair chance to put their money into railroads, knowing that the amount actually put in will measure the amount upon which interest and dividends are paid, and knowing that the man who has made no investment can have no profit, you will find that there will be no difficulty in obtaining all the funds that are required to either construct new railroads or increase the trackage of old ones. It takes some courage, I know, to resist the insidious and insistent appeal, but it is cheering to observe that it is becoming less persuasive every day.

I have referred to but two of all the subjects which are challenging the ripest, best thought of the people. I have referred to them as illustrations, for the spirit which animates us in examining them should move us along every path of reform. We should emancipate ourselves from idolatry with respect to things that are. We should emancipate ourselves from the desire to change simply to effect a change. Because there is much good in the existing order, we should not be turned away from the effort to make it better; but we should not overthrow what has been done simply to prove that we can overthrow it.

We have a great country. It is now, and always should be, the greatest on earth. Whether it will be or not depends upon the fidelity with which the duties of each hour are performed. With the profound hope that Iowa may always lead the march of true progress, and with the confident belief that the banners of righteous reform will never be furled so long as they are borne in your hands, I enter again upon the fulfillment of the trust which the people have committed to my care.

Minutes of joint convention read and approved.

On motion of Senator Crossley of Madison the joint convention was dissolved.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kendall in the chair.

George Robinson was named as the Chief Clerk's Page and took and subscribed to the oath of office.

Speaker Kendall announced the following assignment of standing committees:

REPORT OF COMMITTEES.

White of Story, from the special committee appointed to pass upon the qualifications of committee clerks, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to examine applicants for committee clerkships as to their qualifications beg leave to report that the following named persons have taken the required examination and have been passed as having the necessary qualifications:

Ida Berry, Mabel Elwood, Lulu McCoy, Elizabeth Reynolds, Elsie Ringland, Marie Stegeman, Jennie Andrews, F. J. McCullough, Margaret E. Wing, Jennie Hardin, Edith M. Pike, W. W. Ainsworth, Mrs. Mabel Berry, Elizabeth Ertz, Gertrude E. Taylor, Cora Harlis, Hattie E. King, Ada Brandes, Tress M. Clair, Mary A. Reid, Frank Nickols, L. Cleland, W. A. Patterson, Ella Clarkson, A. C. Gustafson, Ethyl Chapin, Eleanor Lynch, Preston Craig, Duane D. Sammsom, Margaret I. Hamilton, M. W. Richmond, Ava Porter, Carr E. McDowell, Irene M. Bell.

We are informed that the above named persons have been sworn in as committee clerks for this body, and would recommend that they receive pay from the date on which they were first sworn in as State employes.

The following named persons have been examined and have been found to possess the required qualifications, but who as yet have no committee assignment:

Sophia Edmundson, Sara G. French, Gertrude Biggs, Florence Nelson, Miss Sandlusky, Clementine Gale, Katharyn McGuire, Mrs. G. H. Cash, Blanche Talbott, Ethel Cruikshank.

Your committee would further recommend that those clerks who, previous to the adoption of the resolution creating this committee, had been sworn in as employes of this House, receive pay from the date of taking the oath up to and including January 30th, and that their further services be then dispensed with.

In the case of W. W. Ainsworth, who has been appointed a clerk for the Committee on Railroads and Commerce, your committee found that he possessed qualifications which, in their judgment, would make him a particularly valuable assistant to the committee to which he was assigned, and they therefore recommend that he be employed as a clerk for that committee, notwithstanding the fact that he is not a stenographer.

In presenting the motion for the passage of House File No. 11, Mr. Teter made the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—Since all must die, some rich and others poor, how fortunate is he who dies crowned with the richness of the glorious effulgence of the affectionate admiration of those who know him best. And thus died him for whose memory we speak. Poor in worldly goods, but rich in deeds well done.

At the beginning of the Civil War, while in the bloom of his young manhood and sitting as a judge on the Circuit Bench, he was advised that Fort Sumter had been fired upon and he at once announced, "This court stands adjourned until the war is over." He was among the first of those who responded to the call to arms, and went forth as the captain of the first volunteer company from the quiet little village of his home. By consistent devotion to the faith of conviction he rose to the office of colonel. He had been active in the forensic debate of peace, and became equally aggressive in the forum of war. He was among the first of the men of the North to meet his brother of the South on the bloody field of battle. He was present on many a weary march, and lead many a deadly charge. Not that the North might be the victor, nor the South the vanquished foe, but for "Liberty and Union, now and forever, one and inseparable."

Returning to his home and to the pursuits of peace, he was twice Chief Executive of our beloved Iowa. He was a good citizen, a gallant soldier and an honored Governor. But when the sands of his life had run out and the time for his voyage to the silent majority had come, his wealth consisted of a good name and a life well spent. Mindful only of the condition of his loved one left behind, he peacefully and tranquilly folded his hands across his aching breast and closed his eyes to the grand, sweet music of "Simply to thy cross I cling;

In my hand no price I bring,"

and then lapsed into the arms of eternal sleep to be awakened only by the trumpet call at the day of judgment.

Enshrouded with the beautiful folds of the Stars and Stripes, and the little bronze button proudly nestling on his breast, all that was mortal of a soldier of the Civil War was consigned to join his comrades on the field of fame's eternal camping ground, where they together now sleep the long slumber of rest—but he with not even a slab to mark the spot that wooed him to the shadowy shores beyond.

This bill proposes to permit the good people of this commonwealth to contribute a mere pittance to mark the last resting place of one of its Chief Executives. This is a duty which we owe not only in recognition of his services to the State, but primarily because of his services to the cause of the Union, the blessings of which we all enjoy. None of us of the younger generation can have any conception of the awfulness of that mortal combat of four years' ceaseless struggle; but we can at least contribute a little sum to the building of a monument at the grave of a leader of the boys in blue, as an emblem of our appreciation of the priceless heritage for which many of their lives were forfeited, and which their faithful services have bequeathed to us. There let it stand through all the countless years of time—the gift of a grateful people to a defender of their flag, who now lies silently sleeping through the ages of eternity in his windowless palace of rest

You ask me if we should pass this bill because William M. Stone was a soldier-Governor, and I answer you, yes, again and again, and a thousand times, yes. And I say, all hail to the American soldier, the guardian of our liberty, the defender of our rights! More loyal than the Greek, more patriotic than the Roman. When the truthful voice of history shall have been hushed forever, then, and not until then, will the citizenship of this nation cease to sing praises to the soldier living, to decorate the grave of the soldier dead; for whatever the Stars and Stripes of that Star Spangled Banner represent, whatever the Constitution of this grand Republic and the laws of this Nation may mean, whatever our liberty and its guarantees are worth, these are the measure of the merit and the honor of the achievements of the American soldier; and should fate decree that our shores shall e'er again be beset by hostile craft, his untarnished patriotism will guide us safely past the gale, and the Union will sail on and on and on throughout the unnumbered and numberless years of its resplendent course in the pathway of time as the proud monument to the memory of the soldier boys of this Republic.

This measure, Mr. Speaker, is easy of interpretation and its purposes are readily understood.

How insignificant is the paltry sum of five hundred dollars when contrasted with the record made. What a small recognition of public appreciation of deeds well done.

Let the bill pass unanimously, I beseech you; and remember, gentlemen, as the roll is called, that

“The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave,
Await alike the inevitable hour,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave.”

On motion of Pierce of Buena Vista, House File No. 70, a bill for an act to amend Section One Thousand Four Hundred Thirty-two (1432) of the Code, relative to issuing duplicates of lost or destroyed tax sale certificates, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered and the report of the committee adopted.

EXPLANATION OF VOTES ON HOUSE FILE NO. 52.

MR. SPEAKER—In my judgment, this measure seeks to regulate interstate shipments, which cannot be done by a State law.

F. F. JONES,

MR. SPEAKER—I voted "no" as to House File 52 for the following reasons:

First. The rate of speed therein required is too great for branch lines and cannot be complied with in justice to all interests. For instance, if A desired to load an invoice of stock at Guthrie Center, and said invoice was not enough to fill a car, and he had enough stock at the next station to complete the load, he would not have time under the rate required in this bill to load his stock and complete his shipment. If would, therefore, require him to have his stock all at the initial point, and prevent his picking up stock at different stations along the branch, which would work an inconvenience to the buyer as well as to the seller.

Second. This bill cannot apply to interstate commerce shipments; that is, shipments originating in this State and consigned to points without the State. It appears that only about six and a half per cent of all live stock shipments are interstate shipments and come within the purview of this bill. The operation of this bill would be to cause the railroads to favor interstate commerce shipments as against interstate shipments; and that would tend to hinder and prevent the development of stock markets within our own State. And I believe we ought to build up such markets.

Third. The bill will, in its application, complicate stock shipments and give rise to interminable litigation. It shifts the burden of proof and provides for attorney's fees in an unusual and unnatural way, wholly unknown to well-established and long-applied rules of law.

E. W. WEEKS.

On motion of Arney of Marshall, House File No. 118, a bill for an act to amend Section Twenty-six Hundred and Two (2602) of the Code, relating to admission of persons to the Soldiers' Home, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up and considered.

REPORTS OF VISITING COMMITTEES.

The following reports have been filed from the various committees appointed to visit State institutions:

SOLDIERS' HOME AT MARSHALLTOWN.

To the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House, and Members of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, beg leave to submit the following report:

We visited the Home on Thursday, January 24th, and were accorded every possible courtesy by the Commandant and his subordinates on our tour of investigation.

We were especially impressed with the management of the Hospital and the old people's home departments and cannot too highly commend those in immediate charge, and members of the Board of Control, under whose direction the Soldiers' Home for Iowa has reached high rank, if not the highest in the country.

We reiterate the recommendation made by the committee one year ago that this General Assembly should furnish means for the erection of a coal house with a capacity sufficient for the needs of the institution.

We are of the opinion that appropriations should be made in accordance with the suggestion of the Commandant, namely:

COLLEGE FOR THE BLIND AT VINTON.

MR. SPEAKER—We, your committee appointed to visit, investigate and report the needs of the College for the Blind at Vinton, beg leave to submit the following report:

The committee met in the College at Vinton on Friday, January 25th, and were deeply impressed with the candid, sincere and earnest interest manifested by Superintendent Vance in every phase of the work and department of the institution, and feel that the thanks of this committee are justly due him for the many courtesies shown and information given us.

The committee visited every department and listened with interest to the recitations and instructions as they came and went from the pupils and teachers, almost or all totally blind, and must admit that the committee were surprised in the thorough organization and construction of the different departments

We also visited all the rooms, bath, lavatories, halls, cloak rooms and sleeping apartments of all the inmates of that institution. They were models of neatness and order, the sleeping rooms being decorated with pictures and ornaments to a surprising extent, and really created an impression of contentment and happiness. At the noon hour we were present at the dining room and watched the maneuvers of the inmates of that institution in marching to their places at the different tables. It was surprising to us as to the accuracy, order and decorum under which the students took their places at their tables. We took dinner with the superintendent, after having visited the culinary department. We noticed that our table was furnished with the same menu as that which was furnished to the inmates and which was on a bill of fare duly printed and posted at the entries of the dining room. The committee could not ask for anything more complete in that dinner.

In the afternoon we visited the hospital and the factories of the institution, found everything complete, neat and in the most perfect order. In the hospital were three patients, two of them who said they had the "chicken-pox," and the third one was afflicted, she said, with a disease that was more prevalent in our boyhood days than at present, technically called, "scabies."

Mr. Vance, the superintendent, has been in his position but a short time, but it was evident to this committee that he was a person eminently fitted for his place, and we could see that he was beloved by all of his wards to an unusual degree.

We also found that the things to be done as recommended by the committee at the last session of the Legislature have been carried out, except an appropriation for a gymnasium, etc., for which the Legislature failed to make an appropriation. We, your committee, are unanimous in our recommendation of an appropriation of $20,000 for a gymnasium. We think it of the greatest importance in view of the peculiar condition of the inmates of this school. The students, being blind, need exercise and recreation as much, and in our judgment, more than any of the inmates of other institutions of the State, for then their recreation could be reduced to a system suitable to their condition. We further recommend an addition to the contingent fund asked by the Board of Control the sum of $500.00 for repairs needed, so our recommendations are as follows:

|---------------------------|-------------|
| For Contingent Fund ..... | $ 2,500.00 |
| For Oculist Fund .....    | 500.00      |
| For Gymnasium .....       | 20,000.00   |

All of which is respectfully submitted this 2d day of February, 1907.

JOHN FOLEY,
D. W. DOW,
A. W. KENDALL,
D. D. WEBSTER,

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AT COUNCIL BLUFFS.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Your committee, appointed to visit the Institution for the Deaf, which is located at Council Bluffs, begs leave to submit the following report:

We arrived at the institution on the evening of January 24th, and the committee, as a whole, spent all the following day in visiting the schools, visiting every department, and in inspecting the various buildings on the premises, together with all live stock owned and kept there by the State. We have no hesitancy in saying that we were very much impressed with the great importance of the School for the Deaf, among the other State institutions. There is a general air of prosperity, contentment and cleanliness about the place and its inmates that impressed your committee at once, that it is an excellently managed institution throughout, and we are a unit in the opinion that the Iowa Institution for the Deaf is one of the most deserving in our State. It is here that the child who has never heard the sound of his own voice, is being taught by self-sacrificing young men and women to do things that are the wonder and admiration of all visitors.

We take it that the one sole and sacred purpose of the establishment and maintenance of this institution by the State, is to make self-supporting citizens of its inmates, and with that idea in view, we would respectfully recommend that the "Domestic Science Department" (once in operation there, and for the continuance of which we found every necessary equipment), be resumed, with the object in mind that all young women who attend this school may avail themselves of an opportunity to learn the things which will enable them to earn an honest livelihood and live respectable lives after leaving the school.

The law of courtesy forbids criticism, but we believe that the State was extravagant in trying to be economical, when it discontinued the Domestic Science Department of this school. We believe also that the Manual Training Department should be supervised by a person in every way competent to direct such work, with the end in view that these boys may, upon leaving the school, obtain positions in the various shops and factories, at living wages.

We would respectfully recommend that our laws be enacted so that children who are county charges may be allowed to remain at the institution during the whole of the year, instead of nine months, the period prescribed by the law at present in force.

After carefully considering existing needs of the institution, your committee recommends the following appropriations for the purposes therein mentioned, namely:

|                                                                       |             |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| For improvement of grounds, grading, walks, trees and shrubbery ..... | $ 5,000.00 |
| For storage and refrigerating plant.....                              | 3,500.00    |
| For wrecking and removing old and temporary buildings.....            | 2,000.00    |
| For plastering and completing basement of main building....           | 2,000.00    |
| For blackboard wall slating.....                                      | 1,500.00    |
| For fencing .....                                                     | 500.00      |

|                                                     |           |
|-----------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| For library and binding.....                        | 500.00    |
| For tools and machinery for industrial schools..... | 300.00    |
| For tombstones .....                                | 100.00    |
| For contingent and repair fund.....                 | 3,500.00  |
| New heating and lighting plant.....                 | 10,000.00 |

Total .....$ 28,900.00

Your committee further recommends that an additional three thousand dollars ($3,000) be appropriated for the purpose of plastering and completing the basement of the main building, in the event funds are available for such purpose.

We unhesitatingly commend the able, painstaking and efficient administration of the affairs of this institution by its superintendent, Mr. Henry W. Rothert.

Respectfully submitted,

INSTITUTION FOR FEEBLE-MINDED CHILDREN AT GLENWOOD.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee, appointed to investigate the condition of affairs at the Institution for the Feeble-Minded Children, located at Glenwood, beg leave to submit the following:

The entire committee visited this institution on January 24 and 25, 1907. While there, we examined the buildings and grounds and visited the various departments, witnessing the care taken for the temporal comfort of the inmates, as well as the infinite patience displayed in the effort of teachers to develop, according to the varying degrees of capacity, the minds committed to their charge.

We have only words of commendation for the efficient manner in which Dr. Mogridge and his able corps of assistants are administering the affairs of this institution. The capacity of this home is placed at 950, while the present enrollment reaches 1,104, with a large number of applicants still awaiting admission. Viewed aside from its philanthropic features, we believe this institution saves, in the aggregate, a large amount to the State, by relieving parents and others of an unremitting care, and enabling them to remain in the ranks of industry, supporting the other members of their families, and in contributing to the general welfare of their respective communities. We believe the State should, so far as possible, provide for certain needs of this institution, which to your committee seems of vital importance.

For years the water supply has been entirely inadequate. This has been obtained from two sources, viz: Keg Creek and a deep well located on the grounds. Over a year ago an epidemic of typhoid fever occurred. On examination, it was found that both sources of water supply were thoroughly contaminated. Every analysis since has shown the deadly germ present in a dangerous degree. The drinking water for the institution has been boiled since the time of the epidemic, a process which must continue until some form of relief is obtained.

The Thirty-first General Assembly appropriated $25,000 for water supply, etc. Under direction of the Board of Control, another deep well has been started. At a depth of about 800 feet the contractor lost the drill, and the last three months have been spent in a vain endeavor to recover it. Your committee is of the belief that at present, the paramount need of this institution is an adequate supply of pure water.

We recommend the abandonment of the deep well project for the following reasons:

1. The infection of the deep well now in use.
2. The unreliability of the supply, as the depth of the water in the well on the grounds, and in the well in the town of Glenwood, presumably supplied from the same level, has materially diminished, at times the supply having become alarmingly low.
3. The great expense in operating the pumps connected with the deep wells.
4. The deep well water is not good for cooking or laundry purposes.

Your committee further recommends that a sufficient appropriation be made, which, in connection with the unexpended balance of the amount appropriated by the Thirty-first General Assembly for water supply, will enable the Board of Control to establish a pumping station, with all necessary equipment, at a convenient location on the river bottom, from which water shall be conducted to the institution.

We are led to recommend this action by our belief, based on reliable experiments, analyses and estimates, to us submitted, that in this way an abundant supply of pure water, good for all purposes, may be obtained, and that when established, such a plant could be operated at much less expense than the pumps at the deep wells. The Board of Control has asked for an appropriation to build two wings to the new Custodial building. While recognizing the pressing need of such additions, we have felt that the need of an adequate water supply was imperative. We would therefore recommend that provision be made for only one of the proposed wings at this time.

We believe the Board of Control's request for special appropriations is reasonable and should be complied with, so far as consistent with existing conditions. The changes we indicate are mainly based upon the hypothesis that our suggestion that appropriation be made for one wing to the new Custodial building be adopted.

We recommend that appropriations be made as follows:

|                                                           |          |
|-----------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| Wing for new Custodial building.....                      | $30,000 |
| Furniture and furnishings for new Custodial building..... | 7,000    |
| New boilers .....                                         | 10,000   |
| Engine and generator .....                                | 8,000    |
| Tunnel to new Custodial building for boys.....            | 3,000    |
| Paints and painting .....                                 | 1,500    |
| Beds and bedding .....                                    | 1,500    |
| Furniture and furnishings.....                            | 1,500    |

|                                  |                 |
| Contingent and repair fund ..... | 10,000          |

In company with Senators Frudden and Seeley, we, on the 24th inst., visited said institution and spent the entire day examining the same. We found Assistant Superintendent Kuser in charge, Superintendent Drake being temporarily absent on account of sickness. We were very courteously received, and very kindly and hospitably entertained by Mr. Kuser and his good wife. In passing through the different departments of the school, its present condition and future needs were freely and frankly discussed by the officers and employes; and information desired by the committee, or that was deemed beneficial thereto, was promptly and truthfully given.

The institution is kept in good condition, and all its affairs are well and economically administered. There are about 475 boys kept there, ranging in age from nine to twenty-one years—the bad, the vicious and worst mingling with the better and the good. The discipline and order maintained is good; the studies and employment provided, suitable and very appropriate. The people of Iowa hardly realize that 85 per cent of the boys who pass through this institution become honorable, useful and law-abiding citizens.

RECOMMENDATIONS.

We are constrained to suggest that the bad or worst be kept separate, for a while at least, from the better or good. We realize that this is a hard problem; but the necessity for keeping temptation and wickedness from those who are liable to yield thereto, and be influenced thereby, is great, and demands our interest. Just how this is to be accomplished we leave to the hands of the Board of Control.

HOSPITAL.

Your committee is of the opinion that there is plenty of room in the large, or administration, building for all hospital purposes needed in connection with the institution. Suitable rooms could be obtained for such purpose upon the third floor thereof. We recommend that a proper operating room be prepared and equipped therein, and one for dispensing and storing apothecary supplies.

RAILWAY SWITCH.

The institution ought to be connected by a switch or siding with the railways of Eldora. Your committee believes that by reason of the large amount of freight received in car-load lots, aggregating 250 to 300 cars per annum, it is folly to transfer it by team from the different freight yards of the town. In this connection, the loss to the State in demurrage charges and by theft must be considered. The grading and right of way required in this instance would not be unusual or expensive; and we urge that such proceedings be at once commenced as will result in giving the institution railway connections.

THE FARM.

The premises pertaining to this institution consist of 840 acres, parts of which are sandy, with some gravel banks. Other portions are low and subject to overflow. The low land is being tilled, and is expected to be, when so tilled, very productive.

The heifer calves should be raised and added to the herd whence the dairy supplies are obtained, that the same may be maintained at its proper size without buying cows thereafter from time to time. We believe that a farm that size should produce stock sufficient for all purposes of such an institution.

The teams, harness and wagons the inmates used did not impress your committee as being in such a state of repair as is befitting the State of Iowa.

We trust that the scientific knowledge the State has at Ames be applied to the farming of these premises, and if possible make them more productive. We believe the great agricultural institute of the State should produce stock for use at the State institutions, and that the farms operated by the State should be brought under the influence thereof and become models of scientific agricultural operations, as well as a source of greater income.

THE TRADES.

There is an attempt to teach some of the trades, not so elaborate nor on such a scale as in the judgment of the committee they should be taught. They have a very neat printing plant and were doing some very good work there. The report of the superintendent was printed there and it speaks well for the boys who did it. Why the plant is not utilized more by the State, and thus save large sums annually, is one of those puzzling questions that cannot be harmonized with economy and ordinary business principles. A better use of the results of the manual training in the institution should be had.

RELATING TO FURNISHINGS.

Your committee insists that out of the sum recommended herein for "furniture and furnishings," there be taken a sufficient amount to provide feather pillows for all the beds of the institution, and that this be done immediately.

INDUSTRIAL SCHOOL FOR GIRLS AT MITCHELLVILLE.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee appointed to visit the Industrial School for Girls at Mitchellville, beg leave to submit the following report as the result of their investigation.

First, we found an overcrowded condition in the School, as will be seen from the following:

There are two hundred and forty (240) girls in this School, they are divided up in four families (each in charge of a Matron) which are called Homes.

|                                    |     |     |       |
|------------------------------------|-----|-----|-------|
| Home No. 1 intended to accommodate | 40  | has | 54    |
| Home No. 2 intended to accommodate | 40  | has | 52    |
| Home No. 3 intended to accommodate | 40  | has | 61    |
| Home No. 4 intended to accommodate | 50  | has | 68    |
|                                    |     |     | <hr/> |
|                                    | 170 |     | 235   |
| In Hospital .....                  |     |     | 5     |
|                                    |     |     | <hr/> |
| Total .....                        |     |     | 240   |

This shows a total of seventy persons more than they can accommodate, or care for carefully. And notwithstanding this overcrowded condition, the discipline and mannerism is most excellent. Most of the buildings should be painted, exterior and interior, and many of the floors relaid. Some of the old board walks have been replaced by permanent cement walks. This should be continued until all the walks in the Campus, and about the grounds, are made of cement, which would make them permanent and not perishable.

There is some stock on the farm, both horses and cattle, that should be disposed of, because of age. These should be sold and younger animals put in their place that would be more profitable.

The Administration Building asked for in the report of the Superintendent of June 30, 1906, we do not think is so urgently needed at this time, as a building for another Home, so that the girls may be properly cared for.

There is a grand work being done in this School by the Superintendent, his wife and their assistants, and that the cause demands, and ought to have a liberal appropriation by the State.

We therefore recommend that the sum of thirty-five thousand ($35,000.00) dollars be appropriated, for the immediate needs of this School. And that it be applied as follows:

|                                             |             |
|---------------------------------------------|-------------|
| For the Erection of a New Home.....         | $25,000.00 |
| For the Painting of Buildings.....          | 1,800.00    |
| For the Making of Permanent Walks.....      | 1,500.00    |
| For the Horses and Cattle.....              | 1,000.00    |
| For the Repairing Superintendent's Cottage. | 1,000.00    |
| For the Books and Periodicals.....          | 500.00      |
| For the Chaplain's Fund .....               | 300.00      |
| For the Dental Equipment .....              | 200.00      |
| For the Contingent and Repairs.....         | 3,700.00    |

Total .....$35,000.00

INSANE HOSPITAL AT MOUNT PLEASANT.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee, appointed to visit the State Hospital at Mount Pleasant, beg leave to submit the following report:

We visited the above named institution on Thursday, January 24, 1907, and made as thorough an examination of the buildings and investigation of the conditions surrounding the inmates as was possible in the limited time at our disposal. Several hours were spent in going through the different wards of the Hospital, each ward being visited, after which we made a trip over the farm connected with the institution, looking over the farm buildings, live stock, and later visiting the machine shops and kitchens.

Your committee has no hesitancy in saying that the management of this institution is excellent. The State is to be congratulated on having a superintendent at Mount Pleasant of such capabilities as has been shown by Dr. C. F. Applegate, and both he and the members of his staff deserve the highest praise for the efficiency with which they have administered the affairs of this Hospital. In each ward and in all departments there were abundant evidences of thorough and smooth working system.

We are convinced that the patients are treated with every possible consideration.

At the time of our visit, there were between 1,000 and 1,100 inmates in the Mount Pleasant Hospital. The main building was not intended to accommodate this number of patients, and as a consequence, some of the wards were badly crowded, the lack of room for proper sleeping accommodations in many of the wards being very apparent. In all parts of the building, order and quiet prevailed, and the extreme neatness of the wards and patients was noticeable. In most cases, the patients seemed submissive to, and fond of, the nurses and physicians in attendance, and a general air of contentment was marked throughout the institution.

The main building of the Hospital is in good physical condition, though new repairs, especially in the way of repairs to the inside walls and ceilings, are needed.

The farm in connection with the Hospital consists of 917 acres. It is in a good state of cultivation, and the superintendent informed us that the products of this farm in the way of stock, grain and vegetables raised during the past year, amounted to $28,000, the price of products being based on local market values. Most of the labor on the farm is performed by the inmates, though the amount of labor they perform is, we understand, optional with the patients. The wisdom of operating large farms in connection with the State institutions of this character has been fully demonstrated, and the policy of the Board of Control to enlarge the State farms by the purchase of adjacent land, meets with our approval.

The following is a list of the appropriations asked by the Board of Control for the biennial period. Opposite each amount is the amount recommended by your committee:

|                                             | Amount Askedby Board ofControl. | Amount Recom-mended byCommittee. |

| For tiling land .....                       | 1,000.00                                | 500.00                                   |

| For kitchen equipment .....                 | 500.00                                  | 500.00                                   |
| For contingent and repair fund .....        | 10,000.00                               | 10,000.00                                |
| Total .....                                 | $122,200.00                            | $101,200.00                             |

Your committee, owing to the crowded condition of the women's section of the Hospital, and the almost total lack of facilities to care for sickness, would earnestly recommend that the sum of $65,000 be appropriated for the Women's Infirmary. There should be no delay in the erection of this building. There is an infirmary for men, and during our visit we found it filled with patients who need special medical attention, but there is nothing of this kind for the women who are sick. Various wards in the women's section of the main building are at present devoted to bedridden cases at great inconvenience to the inmates. We respectfully urge that an appropriation of sufficient amount to build this infirmary be made during the present session of the Legislature.

The sum of $7,500 is asked by the Board of Control to complete the tunneling. In case of the erection of the infirmary, the full amount asked should be granted.

For converting a hay barn to a farmers' lodge, $10,000 is asked. This is a first-class brick building in good condition, being used at present for the storage of hay, grain and vegetables. The Board of Control estimates that for the sum of $10,000, this barn may be converted into a farmers' lodge, making a suitable place to care for at least one hundred inmates of the institution of the class who do farm work, and thus reducing the congested condition at this time prevailing in the wards of the main building. A lodge or cottage of this character is needed and your committee deems that this appropriation is advisable. A new building for this purpose of proper size would cost the State at least $35,000.

The Board recommends an appropriation of $4,700 to purchase additional land and your committee concurs in this recommendation. The intention is to purchase an additional seventy-five acres adjoining the farm connected with the institution. The Board have had on hand for some years in an unexpended balance of $2,800, originally appropriated for the purchase of land. This amount, together with the sum asked for, will be sufficient to make the above purchase. The land is needed for additional pasture and for farming purposes.

There is need for additional furniture in most of the wards. Your committee realizes the impossibility of granting in full all of the askings, and have seen fit to cut the item of $4,000 asked for this purpose to $2,000. This amount will not purchase the furniture that is needed, but will be something toward relieving the most pressing needs.

Much has been done in the way of tiling the land. The Board asked for $1,000 to do additional work in this direction. Your committee has reduced this amount to $500; a like amount is recommended by the Board for fencing, and a similar cut in this item has been made by your committee.

For books and periodicals, recommended that the appropriation of $500 asked for, be granted. The patients find much pleasure in the books, newspapers and periodicals about the institution. This is practically the only thing in the way of luxury that they have.

We recommend that $500, the full amount asked for by the Board, be granted for kitchen equipment.

For contingent and repair fund, we recommend that $10,000, the full amount asked for, be appropriated. Under no circumstances should this amount be reduced, covering as it does, the contingent expenses and repairs of the institution for two years.

Respectfully submitted,

W. C. STUCKSLAGER,

HOSPITAL FOR INSANE AT CLARINDA.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee, appointed to visit the State Hospital at Clarinda, beg leave to submit the following report:

We arrived in Clarinda on the evening of Wednesday, January 22d, and after supper were driven to the hospital in carriages provided by the institution, accompanied by Dr. Max E. Witte, the superintendent. We spent a very pleasant and profitable evening in the office of the superintendent, talking over matters of interest to the institution and becoming somewhat acquainted with the work it is doing and its wants for the next biennial period.

Thursday morning we began the work of inspection, which was continued during the entire day, and with such a degree of thoroughness as was possible in so short a time as we had to devote to the work.

We made special effort to ascertain for ourselves, by personal observation and inquiry, the actual condition of the patients, the facilities for properly caring for them, and the methods employed for the comfort and relief of this most unfortunate class of wards of the State. We spent most of our time in passing through and inspecting the various wards, and noted with much satisfaction the splendid sanitary condition of the same, and the facilities for administering to the sick and those unable to be up and about.

The hospital wards in both the male and female departments are in good condition, and it is our judgment that the patients are receiving the very best of medical attention. The men's wards are not over-crowded, owing to the fact that but recently a cottage was built by the State, which relieved the heretofore crowded condition, and will prove ample for the needs of the institution for some years to come. We found some of the ladies' wards crowded, and, in many instances, the connecting corridors were utilized for sleeping apartments, some containing from eight to ten beds. We discovered that under the existing conditions this is absolutely essential, as there is no other means at hand for the relief of the over-crowded wards.

We visited the kitchen department and saw the food being prepared for the noon-day meal. This is prepared in as cleanly and sanitary a manner as it is possible to be done anywhere or under any conditions. The food is wholesome and supplied in liberal quantities. We believe the Board of Control follows the policy of purchasing only the best of everything, and doubtless in the end this is the more economical plan.

After having made a thorough inspection of the kitchen, laundry, bakery, cold storage department and the store, all of which we find in first class condition, we then turned our attention to the outbuildings. We found an excellent workshop equipped with suitable machinery for the manufacture and repair of such articles as are needed in and about the institution.

A splendid greenhouse, in which were numerous plants and flowers in bloom, a fire department equipped with the necessary carts, hose, ladders, etc., for use about the premises.

We then were conducted into the engine room of the power plant. Here we found a condition prevailing which we consider needs immediate relief. The smokestack, being of small dimensions and of inferior capacity, was not carrying off the smoke and gas, a great deal of which came back into the engine room, causing a condition which rendered it almost impossible for any one to remain longer than thirty minutes to an hour without going to the fresh air.

Upon inquiry, we learned that the State owns about 860 acres of land, which is connected with or adjacent to the institution. Upon this land during the last year, we gleaned from the report of the superintendent, there was raised more than $25,000 worth of grain, fruits and vegetables, all of which has been or will be consumed in the institution, thereby materially reducing the cost of support.

Superintendent Dr. Max E. Witte afforded us every facility possible, and was ready with any necessary information, in order that we might obtain thorough and complete knowledge with reference to the condition of affairs, and the situation as it actually is. We believe Dr. Witte and his estimable wife to be the right people in the right place. We also highly commend his assistants, Doctors Mackin, Moon and Leader, the latter a woman physician, who are ably assisting him in the important work of caring for the unfortunate.

On Thursday evening we attended an entertainment given for the benefit of the patients, in the large auditorium. This was given by some of the attendants and was participated in by a few of the patients, and seemed to give unlimited pleasure to those who were well enough to be present. Some such program as this is given two or three times a week during the winter season, and in the summer, band concerts and other forms of amusement are employed to interest, amuse and divert the minds of the patients.

The Board of Control is asking and recommends the following appropriations for the next biennial period:

|                                            |              |
|--------------------------------------------|--------------|
| 1. For cottage for women .....             | $ 75,000.00 |
| 2. For engine and generator .....          | 8,000.00     |
| 3. For sewer, tunnel and connections ..... | 4,000.00     |
| 4. For painting .....                      | 4,000.00     |
| 5. For plumbing and fixtures .....         | 2,000.00     |
| 6. For contingent and repair fund .....    | 10,000.00    |
| 7. For smokestack .....                    | 7,500.00     |

As will be seen by the foregoing report, the women's wards are seriously congested, and if item No. 1 is allowed and the appropriation made, it will be at least two years before the building could be completed and ready for occupancy, and by that time, with the natural increase in the population, the condition would be very serious. We therefore recommend item No. 1.

The engine and generator in use at present is sufficient under ordinary conditions, but as the old engine which has been used on former occasions in cases of emergency, is now absolutely useless except for scrap iron, we believe it is necessary to the safety of the institution that another engine and generator be installed at once. We recommend item No. 2.

Should item No. 1 be allowed and appropriation made therefor, item No. 3 would immediately become a necessity, as this item is intended to connect the proposed new cottage with the heating and light plant. Therefore we recommend item No. 3.

As is always the case in a large institution of this kind, there must necessarily be a great deal of painting done every year, in order to keep the buildings in a proper condition and state of preservation. Upon inquiry, we learn that it takes about $2,000 every year for this item. Therefore we recommend for the biennial period the amount opposite Item No. 4.

Two thousand dollars is not considered too much to anticipate as the amount for plumbing and fixtures during the next biennial period. This item, if allowed, would undoubtedly be used in the repair of the natural wear and tear of the plumbing already installed. We recommend item No. 5.

Item No. 6 is the amount that is usually needed by institutions of this kind to keep up the natural wear and tear of the buildings, and to provide also against contingencies which may arise and are not generally foreseen or anticipated. We have inquired of the Board of Control, and are informed that this item is not too large and therefore we recommend same.

Item No. 7, as stated elsewhere in the report, is an absolute necessity, and the amount asked for is the estimate of the State architect for such a chimney which would furnish sufficient capacity for the work required of it. We therefore earnestly recommend item No. 7.

We were impressed with this thought, while inspecting the institution, that the management is not asking for anything that is not actually needed. We believe that the success and the future efficiency of this institution will depend largely upon the liberal manner in which the Appropriations Committees may deal with this recommendation.

We cannot close our report without a word of congratulation to the State upon the able manner in which this institution is conducted, both as to the superintendent and assistants and the Board of Control. Their methods are strictly up-to-date and business-like and we believe that no more economically administered State institution can be found anywhere in the United States.

Respectfully submitted,

JOHN L. BLEAKLY,
EDWIN G. MOON,
THOMAS GENEVA,
J. R. SMITH,
P. M. JEWELL.

INSANE HOSPITAL AT INDEPENDENCE.

To the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee to visit the State Hospital for the Insane at Independence begs leave to submit the following report:

Your committee, with Senator Turner and Representative Springer, visited the Hospital February 1, 1907, and inspected the institution as well as possible in the limited time we were there. We found the buildings and grounds in far better condition than we had expected to find them, considering that some of the buildings were erected nearly forty years ago.

The institution is asking for the following appropriations:

For Infirmary and Equipment.....$125,000

Regarding the appropriations asked for, your committee would make the following recommendations:

Item 1. While the needs of an Infirmary Building would be desirable, yet, its establishment at this time is not absolutely necessary, and owing to the limited amount available for extraordinary appropriations we can not approve an appropriation for this item at this time.

Item 2. After carefully considering the water supply, your committee were unanimous in their opinion that the quality of water furnished by the City of Independence is as good as would be procured from a deep well, and that the price charged, viz., six cents per thousand gallons, is cheaper than it would be possible to pump the same from a deep well. We make this latter statement after consulting some of the best engineers in the State who are familiar with this class of wells, and we do not approve an appropriation for this purpose.

Item 3. Engine and Generator. This item we recommend should be granted.

Item 4. Electrical Re-wiring. This item, while desirable, yet it is not absolutely necessary at this time, and we would recommend that no appropriation be made for this purpose.

Item 5. Tunnel to Grove Hall. This item can be dispensed with until some future time.

Item 6. Completing Ventilating system. This your committee would recommend be granted.

Item 7. Painting. We would recommend that two thousand dollars ($2,000) be appropriated for this item.

Item 8. Tiling Farm. Owing to the inclemency of the weather your committee did not inspect the needs of this item, but believe that an appropriation of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), at this time for tiling such lands as most need tiling would be advisable, and recommend the sum of fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500) for this purpose.

Item 9. Addition to Dry Room. We would recommend that the entire amount, viz., two thousand dollars ($2,000), asked for this purpose, also, the entire amount, fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), asked for Item Number 11, laundry washers, be granted.

Item 10. Repairing Greenhouse. The Thirty-first General Assembly appropriated one thousand dollars ($1,000) for this work, but this amount was wholly inadequate to do the work as it should be done. The amount estimated necessary to rebuild the Greenhouse and addition will be twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500), and we would recommend that the amount asked, fifteen hundred dollars ($1,500), be granted.

Item 12. Iron Working Lathe. This item is not necessary at this time.

Item 13. Contingent Fund. We recommend that the full amount asked for be granted.

In concluding our report we can not but feel that the Board of Control and the State are to be congratulated on having so able and competent a Superintendent as Dr. W. P. Crumbaker at the head of this, one of the largest and most important of the State Institutions.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

INSANE HOSPITAL AT CHEROKEE.

To the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the Hospital for Insane at Cherokee, met at the institution on January 24, 1907, and begs leave to make the following report:

The committee would say that while the appropriation for every item recommended by the Board of Control could in our judgment be profitably used, we still think that several of the items may be omitted from the appropriation without discommoding the comfort of the inmates of the institution.

We commend the cleanly and orderly manner in which the institution is conducted.

We were impressed with one feature in the hospital which we consider on the basis of a necessity, and that is the overcrowding of its capacity. It seems to us, with the rapid annual addition of inmates, the time has come when the State should make the necessary arrangements for their proper accommodation. The institution has been overcrowded, and has been so reported by examining committees of the General Assembly. A committee reported to the Thirty-first General Assembly that an appropriation be made to begin a building to relieve the congested condition then existing. We recommend that an appropriation now be made large enough to complete and furnish such a building. We are convinced that by the time this building is completed the population of the hospital will have increased to a number sufficient to fill this new building to its capacity. In this connection we think it proper to state that the plant is abundantly equipped to furnish a new building with the necessary heat and water without extra expense on account of these items

There are, however, minor items which we regard as necessary, as follows:

Concerning the item of painting, we regard that inside painting is necessary, but can be dispensed with at this time. The outside painting of the metal portions of the building we deem necessary, as the same have not been painted since the buildings were completed. This is imperative on account of the present condition.

We found the institution fairly accommodated with carpets and rugs, which have been in use in nearly every instance for about five years and which are, so far as we examined, in a worn and unsatisfactory condition. We believe a small appropriation should be made for this item at this time.

We believe that the amount asked for by the Board should be allowed for books and periodicals.

After having examined the institution and its needs as thoroughly as possible in the time at our command, we unhesitatingly recommend the following appropriations for the institution as being in our judgment urgently necessary at this time:

|                                      | AmountRecommended. |

HOSPITAL FOR INEBRIATES AT KNOXVILLE.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the State Hospital for Inebriates at Knoxville, begs leave to make the following report:

Dr. W. S. Osborn, superintendent of the hospital, although comparatively a young man, has had extensive experience in some of the charitable institutions of this and other States, and the committee believe he is thoroughly equipped and competent to discharge the duties of superintendent.

We visited the hospital January 24, 1907, and found that the institution invoiced, June 30, 1906, about $150,000, all told. On a tour of inspection of all the buildings, we found them in very excellent sanitary condition. Cleanliness appeared in all quarters and we were especially impressed by the good order of things in general. The old building that was abandoned by the Industrial School for the Blind we found in good repair; it is used for a dining room and kitchen and the Chapel is located in the north wing. It will accommodate about one hundred inmates. Only those who are easily managed are allowed in this part.

We find that the Board of Control have erected an Administration Building which meets all requirements. They have, also, a Detention Building with three floors and a basement, built of brick, stone and cement; it is fireproof. The windows are barred and it makes a very safe retreat for dangerous characters.

They have a substantial power-house constructed of brick, stone and cement. It is equipped with boilers, dynamos and engines ample for the needs of the institution. The new farm barn, just built at a cost of $4,000, has a brick basement and is modern in every respect.

The water question is solved. They have two wells 350 feet deep, finished in the limestone rock. They were started with eight and finished with six-inch casings. The wells test 1,700 gallons of water per hour. It is of good quality, being about neutral. We deem it advisable to erect a standpipe so that sufficient fire protection could be had in case of emergency. The sewage plant installed last year appears to be working satisfactorily.

We find that but little of the land is fenced sufficiently well to turn live stock. We would recommend to the State Board that this improvement be made as soon as possible.

There are one hundred and sixty-three acres of land connected with the hospital. Some of this is very level and needs tile drainage; other parts are somewhat rough, especially the last tract acquired, it having had a race track on it at one time and it will take some work to level it down. The question of more land for agricultural purposes is a vital one. It is our opinion that there should be fields enough to accommodate as much live stock as it is practical for the institution to keep. We believe they should produce their own meats; therefore we recommend the purchase of a tract of land for a hog pasture. It is our opinion that the purchase of more land will be instrumental in the future development of the hospital.

Knoxville is without doubt the Eldorado of Iowa for those who fall by the wayside.

The hospital has a capacity of two hundred and twenty-five. We found about one hundred and fifty inmates, with nothing to do but pass the time away and grow fat at the expense of the State. The superintendent informs us that it costs about $23 per capita per month to maintain it in its present method of procedure. About seventy-five per cent of the inmates are able-bodied men and are capable of doing work enough to pay their way. We would recommend that labor of some kind be furnished to those who are able to work. We would suggest the purchase of a tract of land to the north of the buildings that will afford a stone quarry. Pulverized rock would be merchantable for macadamizing purposes.

The superintendent informs us that about ten per cent of the cases committed receive permanent benefit. There is an element that is sent to the hospital that does not come under its jurisdiction. A great many hardened criminals who have been in the penitentiary, who are termed "sleepers" around the cities, are sent there to be rid of them. The influence these persons have on young fellows who have gone wrong for the first time is not the best, and we recommend that this class of patients be sent to other places.

We, your committee, recognize the fact that the institution is a new one. That all of its departments have not been developed as would seem practical. We have the utmost confidence in the Board of Control to adjust things to a practical business basis as soon as possible.

* We would recommend the appropriations asked for by the Board.

PENITENTIARY AT FORT MADISON.

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House, and the Members of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the State Penitentiary at Fort Madison, respectfully submits the following report:

During the day of January 24th, we visited every department of that institution. We found that the State possesses but four acres of ground, which lay in front of the Warden's residence, for the purpose of producing food for the convicts. Another piece of land of the same size and adjoining and lying between it and the river, the Board of Control recommends the State to purchase. This recommendation meets the approval of your committee. It could be used to great advantage to produce vegetables for the convicts and also furnish out-door labor for them. Parties might purchase the property and use it for purposes that would be a great detriment, not only to the appearance of the prison but might become an actual nuisance. We understand this land can be gotten for $4,000.00 which, in our estimation, would be reasonable.

The Board recommends the purchasing of more land and asks $12,000.00 for that purpose. We are informed that land about a mile from the prison could be gotten for $100.00 an acre. We believe such an investment would be economy and bring in good returns. A number of cows could be kept, food raised for them and milk supplied for the convicts. It is now supplied entirely by milk dealers. The farming and care of the stock could all be done by the convicts and give them healthy out-door employment.

The new hospital is completed and in use. It is occupied by five convict patients, who are getting as good care and careful attention as patients in private or public hospitals.

We are much pleased with the water supply furnished from wells less than one hundred feet deep. It is abundant for every want of the institution and is superior for drinking use. We have to say in regard to the cell house what every visiting committee has said for a number of years: it is not what it should be for the conditions of health. It is more than a half century old, except the top row of cells. The cells are narrow, three feet and three inches wide, and scarcely seven feet high. They are built of stone and absorb moisture and at times are necessarily damp. Any material that will absorb moisture will retain the germs of disease and consequently increase the risk of health. The mortar between the stones breaks and crumbles and leaves places for the lodgment of dust that might float in the air or dirt of various kinds could accumulate in such places regardless of the most scrupulous care and cleanliness. We recommend that a new cell house be built. A portion of our committee thinks the amount asked for could not be used for that purpose within the next biennial period, as there is much preparatory work to be done before such an enterprise could be begun. Such a building would have to be built outside the present inclosure, as there is no room for it within the walls as they now stand. So a new wall will have to be built, enlarging the grounds as they now are. And at the north end, there is a hill forty or more feet high, a portion of which has to be removed to give place to the wall. The State architect says that the removing of a sufficient portion of the hill, the building of the wall can be done by the middle of the coming summer. If so, probably the entire amount, $90,000, can be expended for the purpose wanted within the coming biennial period. While we do not wish to impede in any way the construction of this much-needed improvement, probably it would be well to recommend the amount asked for and, if not expended within the biennial period, the remainder could be carried to the next period.

We are surprised at the energy exhibited by the convicts at their work. They are making furniture and farm and garden implements. Each one worked as though financially interested and we soon learned that they were not partners, but sharing in the dividends. They are paid for over work; one convict told us he made $20 per month in that way. A member of the Board of Control said that some of them make as high as $28 per month. Such an arrangement has an admirable effect upon the discipline and morals of the inmates of our penitentiary. The classification as to deportment also goes a great way in stimulating the convict in being obedient and subject to discipline. Those who have the least respect for the rules are obliged to wear the striped suits and are denied privileges that others enjoy. The next are required to dress in checked suits, and the best in plain gray. We were assured that these methods have made the management of the penitentiaries much easier, and we could not but conclude that if the State would adopt the indeterminate sentence, it would again be making a step upward and forward in our criminal management.

We were pleased to have the privilege of attending the night school for the convicts, at which attendance is not compulsory. About a hundred and sixty were enrolled, but the school room is not sufficient to accommodate but sixty. They exhibited more interest in their studies than is exhibited in our public schools. A convict was their teacher, and when a question was asked, many hands went up volunteering an answer. There was no distinction in color; blacks and whites sat side by side, and each seemed equally interested. We think some way should be provided for more school room. What those men store up from their books, while there, will go a long way toward making them better men, and confinement in prison without changing the character for good of the one confined is useless.

The chapel was undergoing repairs and was being enlarged. The Chaplain said the inmates took much interest in the services and that they exerted a healthy influence. They are compelled to attend such services.

An excellent library of over 6,000 volumes is provided for the inmates and they make excellent use of it, we were told.

The State hires about four hundred of its convicts to manufacturing companies at sixty cents per day. To your committee, this does not seem as much as it ought to be. The State feeds, clothes, and lodges the convicts, and the companies employing them get as much work from each one as though they were paying from $1.50 to $3.00 for free labor, which is not easy to get, even at those figures. We see no reason why the State should not get approximately at least what free labor commands.

The Warden, we believe, to be the right man in the right place and we have no criticism to make on the discipline of the institution or the management of the State's property. Warden Jones has had command of the institution for thirteen years and of the various committees that have visited there in that time, each had words of commendation for his services. His annual salary is $2,000 per year, without perquisites. Before the Board of Control came into existence, the Warden had his house help from some handy convict. The Board of Control decided that was a perquisite and that the Warden must afterwards pay for such help. He also is compelled to furnish his own table supplies, if no special appropriation is made for that purpose. The committee of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly recommend that $250 be allowed for that purpose. Other committees recommended that $500 be allowed. These recommendations were made when the Warden was getting his house help from the State, so he really then was getting more for his services than he now is. Your committee recommends that his salary be increased to $3,000 per year and that he furnish his own table and house help. After a limited investigation as to the salaries of Wardens of penitentiaries of other States, we think this recommendation reasonable. The appropriation of $2,000 for transportation of prisoners asked for, we believe is the least that should be allowed. The committee of the Twenty-sixth General Assembly recommended $4,500 for that purpose and $7,500 for contingent fund. The amount for the latter purpose, $5,000, now asked for, should be granted.

PENITENTIARY AT ANAMOSA.

To the President of the Senate and Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the State Penitentiary at Anamosa, beg leave to submit the following report and recommendations:

Immediately upon our arrival at the penitentiary, Warden Barr took us in charge, and we proceeded to look into the condition, management and requirements of the institution, and we made as thorough an investigation and inspection of the management, grounds, buildings and quarries, as our limited time would permit. We consider the management, system and discipline to be of the very highest order; the grounds, buildings and equipments are in excellent condition. The new cell house is not yet complete, but will be soon. We also found that the floor of the dining room would be completed in a short time; it is of dressed stone, and will last for generations. We find the prison would be admirably adapted for a reformatory, in case the State should adopt the reformatory plan. We think there is sufficient room to accommodate all who might come there. We are also of the opinion that the prisoners should be provided with work, and in order to do this, we would recommend the appropriation for the extension of the printing department, and we would also recommend that the prisoners be taught trades, so that when they are paroled or discharged from the institution, they may be competent to earn a livelihood for themselves.

We found Warden Barr and assistants, gentlemen in every respect, and they are highly esteemed by the prisoners themselves. There seems to be a reciprocal feeling existing between the Warden and those over whom he has charge.

We recommend that the following amount be appropriated as scheduled below:

STATE NORMAL SCHOOL AT CEDAR FALLS.

To the Thirty-second General Assembly of Iowa:

Your committee, appointed to visit the State Normal, respectfully report that all the members of the committee met at Cedar Falls on Thursday morning, January 24th, and went immediately to the school. We first visited the auditorium, where we found practically the entire student and faculty membership assembled for chapel exercises. The deep-seated earnestness, the evidence of a purpose to obtain an education rather than to have a "lark of a time" in spending the "Governor's" money, so apparent in the faces of the young people, was an inspiration to the members of the committee. A general air of studiousness and decorum was everywhere manifest, and the notion (now apparently somewhat old foggyish) that education is a matter of labor and discipline and not a matter for purchase or inheritance, seemed to prevail in the school. The affection in which the president of the school is held and the exalted life he lives before and among the young people are important elements in character building.

We found not only in the student body these pleasing evidences of high purpose and good work, but there is about the whole institution a sort of general set or character, a sort of "spick and span" fitness in the arrangement and proportions, the general scheme of the buildings, grounds and equipments, including cleanliness, sanitation, athletics, and calisthenics, that at once strikes the eye and engrosses the thought of the interested observer. A superb plan for a great school seems to have been conceived by somebody and its accomplishment appears to be nearing completion. The present millage allowed the school will doubtless construct and equip the additional buildings necessary to work out this plan.

We found the library and museum in cramped and inadequate quarters. The purpose of the trustees is the immediate construction of a building to cover these two important interests of the school. We examined the plans for the proposed building and they meet with our approval. We therefore recommend that the trustees be authorized to construct the building as contemplated as a new home for the library and museum.

One of the ambitions of the management is to keep all the rooms and hallways as clean as possible, for the health and comfort of all concerned. To accomplish this result, new cement walks and paving are necessary. The location and extent of these proposed walks and paving were pointed out to the committee, and we are of the opinion that the appropriation asked by the trustees for these purposes should be made. The amount asked for library and librarians' salaries is also reasonable and should be allowed.

Respectfully submitted,

STATE UNIVERSITY AT IOWA CITY.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the State University of Iowa at Iowa City, beg leave to submit the following report:

Your committee desires to congratulate the people of the State on the apparent advancement of the University in all lines and departments of its educational work. Its attendance for the year 1904-'05 was 1,560 and for 1905-'06 was 1,815, an increase of eighteen per cent, being a greater per cent of increase than that of any school of like rank and character in the United States. The increase so far this year is over two hundred, the proportionate increase being about the same as that of last year. With this great increase in attendance, the University in all departments is overcrowded, notwithstanding the substantial new buildings that have been erected the past few years. The completion of the new Science building will give relief to some of the departments. The registration, in some instances, has had to be refused on account of lack of room. We think the University is as well managed as the means at command and the system now in vogue will permit, and we feel that the University has become one of the foremost universities of this country. We are particularly gratified with the large and substantial growth of the Graduate College which is the apex of all University work. The enrollment in the Graduate College is larger than that of any of the Western States, exceeding that of Michigan, Wisconsin, Illinois, Missouri, Nebraska and Minnesota.

Of the sixty-three leading institutions having different departments in this country, the College of Liberal Arts, as to attendance, stands seventh in size; the College of Law, fourth in size; the College of Medicine, homeopathic and regular combined, stands third in size; the College of Dentistry is first in size; the College of Pharmacy, seventh in size, and the Graduate College, second in size. The summer session, which is a six weeks' term, particularly for high school teachers, principals and superintendents, stands fifth in size in students of Collegiate grade. The summer school last year had two hundred and eighty-two students. The total expenditure for the summer school was $5,546.93. The tuitions received in the summer school was $1,800.00.

The average cost to the State of the education of one student at the University this year will be $97.85. This is calculated on the basis of the annual support fund from the State of $205,500.00 and an attendance of twenty-one hundred, which is the probable number at the end of the year. The average tuition received from students this year will be $28.56, as closely as can be calculated. The average room rent paid by the students is $6.00 per month, approximately. The average rate of board is $2.75 per week.

The Board of Regents of the University have submitted to us an itemized statement of the amounts asked in the way of appropriations, which we herewith insert, and is made a part of this report, namely: Askings from the Thirty-second General Assembly:

The present annual appropriations already fixed by law for the University amounts to $205,500. We feel that at the present time there should be no additions to the annual appropriations, but whatever appropriations are made by this General Assembly should be special appropriations. We feel that the time is soon at hand when the support of the three educational institutions will be on the millage basis. The Legislature of Michigan, now in session, has increased the millage tax for the support of their Universities from one-fourth mill to one-half mill, thus doubling their appropriation, but we make no recommendations for the millage tax for support by this General Assembly.

The first consideration that the University should receive is that of its support fund; without it, the University would be unable to exist. The large and gratifying growth of the University has necessitated, and will continue to necessitate, a much larger support fund. We feel that the asking of $120,000 additional for support is likely to be all needed before the end of the biennium, but when we take into consideration the many demands on the available funds at the disposal of the General Assembly, we have concluded to recommend a curtailment of this asking of $10,000, and we therefore recommend a special appropriation of $110,000 for support for the ensuing biennium, and we ask that there shall be no curtailment of this amount, as we feel assured that all of this will be needed.

We would recommend a special appropriation of $5,000 for repair and contingent. We would recommend an appropriation of $15,000 for library fund support. (The appropriation last year was $5,000). We find that this appropriation was altogether too small to meet the needs of the University.

As for the special appropriations asked, the first item, "land for women's dormitory," we do not recommend. The second item, "land, $60,000," we find that among the first buildings proposed to be erected out of the millage tax (five years' millage tax voted at last session), is a Law building, which is needed. There is no proper location for such building on the land now owned by the University. To secure the proper site for the Law building will necessitate an expenditure of from $20,000 to $25,000. There are other tracts of land needed by the University in the near future, which at the present time can be purchased at a reasonable price, aggregating about $20,000. This land is situated immediately west of the present campus and is needed to make the campus compact and complete in that direction. We therefore recommend an appropriation of $40,000 for land.

The third item, "equipment of the new Science building, new wing of University Hospital, and steam laboratories, $45,000." The equipment of the new Science building will be extensive. The furnishings for the library will be moved to the Science building when completed. The furnishings for the library, including general library room, shelving and stack room will cost about $10,000. The equipment of the Biology and Natural History Museum and of the Assembly room, having a seating capacity of thirteen hundred, and the equipment for the hospital will greatly exceed the amount asked for, $45,000. We therefore unanimously recommend an appropriation of $45,000.

The next is a request for $30,000 for general equipment throughout the whole University. Under this head will include the equipment of the Law building of $10,000 or $12,000; additional equipment for the different laboratories, and equipment for other departments. We think the request reasonable and would recommend a special appropriation of $30,000.

The next request is for "$125,000 for Women's Building and equipment of same." There are now between six hundred and seven hundred women in attendance at the University. The claim is made that proper accommodations for room and board can not be given to all of this number. The proposed Women's Building would accommodate about one hundred and would render accessible to many others the accommodations as to board in the large dining-room in the proposed building. It is claimed that better care and oversight of the young women attending the University could be made possible by the University. The Regents do not think they have any right, under the provisions of the law, to take any part of the millage tax for the construction of the Women's Building. While there is much to be said in favor of the Women's Building, we feel that the available funds will not permit this appropriation. We therefore do not recommend this appropriation for Women's Building or land therefor at this time.

The next item, "$5,000 Paving and Sidewalks." We think this appropriation necessary and the amount asked very moderate. Provision has been made by the city of Iowa City to pave certain streets on which the University grounds abut, and the work is held up until provision is made by the State to pay its proportionate share of the expense of such paving, amounting to $3,000 and upwards, and about $2,000 will be required for necessary cement walks on the University grounds. We, therefore, recommend that an appropriation of $5,000 be made.

As to the request for $8,000 for the improvement and upkeep of the University grounds, we find that there is considerable grading to be done on the campus, and around the proposed Law Building and on property that has been purchased the past few years, and for the planting and care for shrubbery and trees, that will necessitate a considerable expense. While the amount asked for, $8,000, is probably not excessive and in time will be needed, yet considering the limited funds at the disposal of this General Assembly, your committee would recommend an appropriation of $4,000 for the improvement of the grounds.

The last request, $10,000, for Mechanical Stokers at the general power house. As a business proposition, we feel like recommending this appropriation. The firing is now all done by hand. All experts agree that there is a great material saving in mechanical stoking. The manufacturers will install stokers and guarantee a saving of ten per cent over hand firing, and on this basis the cost would be paid by the saving in the expense in three and one-half years. Many power plants now have mechanical stokers, but we make no recommendation as to this request for $10,000.

PROPOSED NEW BUILDINGS.

The Board of Regents propose to erect the following buildings:

|                                                    |           |

Your committee would further report that they visited the site purchased by the Board of Control for the Tuberculosis Hospital, located about six miles north and west of Iowa City. We think the Board of Control should be commended in selecting so favorable a location for the proposed Hospital. The land, consisting of two hundred and eighty acres, is high and dry and easily drained and suitable water available at reasonable depth. The site is located on the Cedar Rapids and Iowa City and Interurban Railway and is easily accessible to the State Bacteriological Laboratory at Iowa City. The service of which Laboratory will be available to the proposed Hospital and a large expense to the State thereby saved.

We would further report that we inspected the Bacteriological Laboratory in connection with the University. During the first year of its existence, the Bacteriological Laboratory examined 3,580 specimens, the second year 5,199, the past quarter 2,625, so that the total number for the third year is likely to be more than 10,000 specimens. Under the efficient direction of the present Bacteriologist the Laboratory has been of great service to all portions of the State. The value of the work done during the quarter amounts to $9,523 based on commercial laboratory rates, or more than $38,000 per year. The Laboratory is receiving $3,500 annually from the State. This amount will be exhausted by April 1, 1907. The increase of work annually is about 100 per cent and as soon as the Tuberculosis Hospital is opened, the work will be greatly increased. We have given the matter careful consideration and would recommend an annual appropriation of $7,000 for the Laboratory. No appropriation can show as great returns as that made to the State Bacteriological Laboratory.

Respectfully submitted,

AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE AT AMES.

To the President of the Senate, Speaker of the House, and Members of the Thirty-second General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Your joint committee, appointed to visit the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, beg leave to submit herewith the following report:

Your committee all personally visited the College in a body on January 23, 1907, and spent the entire afternoon and the following day in making an investigation of this great institution.

We found that the institution has made a very gratifying increase in attendance during the present year and that there are nearly two hundred more students enrolled at this time than there were one year ago. The institution has made a most gratifying progress in all lines of work, and it is one that reflects credit not only upon its officers and the management, but the State of Iowa as well.

Your committee was impressed with the fact that while the amount of money already expended upon the institution is large, its immediate demands are great, and that it deserves the cordial support of the citizens of Iowa, and particularly of the General Assembly.

The following is a statement of the amounts requested by the Board of Trustees, and for which appropriations are desired at this time:

EDUCATIONAL SUPPORT FUND.

Your committee found that there has been an increase in attendance of 225 students and that an additional amount is necessary for the educational support fund. We were not able to determine to a nicety just how much of an increase in the support fund is necessary, but your committee concluded after its investigation to recommend that a direct appropriation of $30,000 for the educational support fund be made, $15,000 of it to be available for the school year commencing in the fall of 1907, and the other $15,000 to be available for the school year commencing in the fall of 1908.

EQUIPMENT.

Your committee is of the opinion that it is highly desirable that a large increase in the equipment be made. The wear and tear upon equipment in an institution of this sort is necessarily large and many of the scientific instruments are costly, consequently a thousand dollars does not add very materially to the equipment of the College. Your committee has decided to recommend that a direct appropriation of $20,000 be made for the purpose of purchasing additional equipment.

ENGINEERING EXPERIMENT STATION.

Your committee is of the opinion that in view of the financial condition of the State and the large demands upon the public treasury that no additional appropriation should be made at this time for the Engineering Experiment Station.

HEATING PLANT.

We found that the buildings upon the westerly half of the campus are connected by a tunnel system, in which are placed pipes for the heating of the several buildings. The heat for these buildings is now supplied by a plant at the west end of the campus. This plant also provides the steam for the pumping of the water from the deep well and for the operation of the electric light and power plant. This light plant is of an obsolete type and its use should be abandoned as soon as the same can be done with advantage to the State. The remainder of the large buildings are heated by boilers that are placed in small frame buildings in the rear of the large buildings. The College has recently erected a large building to be used for the purpose of heating all of the College buildings. This building at the present time is supplied with one boiler, and there is in process of installation one electric lighting and power unit. A second unit is highly desirable, as is also an equipment of boilers. It is estimated that about $54,000 will be required for the purpose of completing the tunnel system and installing the pipes and necessary electric wires therein. We find that a second lighting unit will cost about $10,000, and that a system of automatic stokers and conveyers will cost about $10,000. These are both included in the estimate of $100,000 that is presented by the College authorities. Your committee is of the opinion that the present lighting plant can be used for reserve purposes and that the new heating plant can be operated, for the present at least, without the automatic stokers and other appliances that are connected therewith. Under all the circumstances, your committee recommend an appropriation of $75,000, to be used in completing the steam tunnels and supplying the new heating plant with boilers and other appliances. It will become necessary for a future General Assembly to make provision for another lighting unit, and also for automatic stokers.

WATER SYSTEM.

We found that the water supply at the College is inadequate to supply the demands of the College, and that some provision should be made for an increase. The principal source of supply at the present time is the deep well, and the pump that is used in raising the same is subject to frequent breakages, thereby endangering the State's property and subjecting the College management to great embarrassment. It is the purpose of the College authorities to install an air lift, and your committee is of the opinion that this is the most practical way of increasing the water supply. We therefore recommend that the request for $10,000 to be used for this purpose be granted.

NEW ENGINEERING SHOP.

In the old Engineering Hall, we found the equipment of the machine shop installed. We found also that while the Engineering Department has increased several hundred in attendance that the Engineering shop is no larger now than it was when perhaps two hundred students were in the Engineering Department. We are of the opinion that justice to the Engineering Department of the College requires that a new Engineering shop shall be at once erected, and we recommend that $10,000 be appropriated therefor.

REMODELING OF ENGINEERING HALL.

The Engineering Hall should be remodeled at an early date for a Structural and Hydraulic Laboratory, as the building at the present time is not in a good state of repair, and the demands of the College are such as that suitable quarters should be prepared for the structural and hydraulic work. In view of immediate necessities, however, and the great demands of other institutions, we have concluded to recommend that the request of the College authorities be not granted at this time.

GENERAL ENGINEERING LABORATORY BUILDING.

Your committee is of the opinion that this building should hereafter be erected from the millage tax. We do not recommend a general appropriation.

DAIRY AND POULTRY FARM EQUIPMENT.

Your committee is of the opinion that a very considerable amount of equipment should be added to the dairy and poultry farm, and we recommend that an appropriation of $8,000 be made therefor.

MARGARET HALL ADDITION.

Margaret Hall is the dormitory used by the lady students of the College, and the attendance of young ladies has far outgrown the facilities afforded by this building. In the past year, a number of young women have refused to attend the College because of the fact that they could not secure accommodations in the ladies' dormitory. This is a condition of affairs that in the judgment of your committee should not be permitted long to continue. We do not believe, however, that an appropriation should be made at this time from the funds of the State, and we recommend that the College be authorized to hereafter construct the addition to Margaret Hall from the millage tax.

PURE BRED STOCK.

We are of the opinion that a large addition to the pure bred stock of the College is necessary, and we therefore recommend that an appropriation of $10,000 be made for that purpose.

WALKS AND GRADING.

There is a pressing demand for the construction of a very considerable number of walks to connect the various buildings. The present walks in a large part are nothing more than cinder paths, which in bad weather fall into a deplorable state. We recommend an appropriation of $5,000 for the purpose of constructing walks, and $1,000 to be used for the purpose of grading.

FURNISHINGS FOR HALL OF AGRICULTURE.

The management of the College have requested an appropriation of $30,000, to be expended in the purchase of furnishings for the new Hall of Agriculture. This building cannot be completed before the fall of 1908. An itemized statement of the cost of the furnishings has not been provided, and in view of the fact that the building will not likely be opened very much before the session of the Thirty-third General Assembly, we do not feel that an appropriation of more than $20,000 should be made at this time, and we recommend that the appropriation for this purpose be fixed at that amount.

SUMMER SCHOOL.

Your committee is of the opinion that a summer school is desirable, but we do not think, in view of the large appropriations required for other purposes, that an appropriation should be made at this time.

ANNEX TO AGRICULTURAL BUILDING.

The Board of Trustees and Dean of Agriculture presented to your committee plans and specifications for the erection of an annex to the Agricultural Building.

It is proposed to construct this annex so that an addition will be provided, having a seating capacity of about 1,000. The two lower floors of the annex it is planned to use for Laboratory purposes. At the time the contract for the building was let, an option was secured from the contractor, under the terms of which the State was given the right to have the annex erected at the price of $60,000. The College authorities now desire to exercise this option, and have submitted the plans and specifications to your committee. We are of the opinion that the awakening interest in agricultural extension will bring to the College a very considerable increase in the number of students within the very near future. And we are of the opinion that the Agricultural Building will be crowded by the time that it is completed. We are convinced that this annex is a necessity, and we recommend that the College authorities be authorized to proceed under the terms of the contract, and to erect this building at a cost not to exceed $60,000, the same to be paid from the millage tax provided by the act of the Thirty-first General Assembly.

SOLDIERS' ORPHANS' HOME AT DAVENPORT.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second General Assembly:

We, your joint committee appointed to visit the Iowa Soldiers' Orphans' Home at Davenport, submit the following report:

We all met at the Home early on the morning of Thursday, January 24th, and spent the greater portion of the day in looking about the institution and in talking with the superintendent, some of the children, and others connected with the place. The sight was a revelation to all of us, and we were particularly struck with two things—the magnitude and efficiency of this great charity enterprise of the State, and the small amount of appropriation asked by the Board of Control.

There were 520 of these poor little unfortunates in the Home at the time of our visit, ranging in age from less than one year old to ten years. Very few of them were full orphans, and only about half of them half orphaned, and the fact that nearly half were the children of separated parents is a sad commentary on our social condition in this regard. We have only the highest words of praise for Superintendent Sessions and his able corps of helpers; we believe he is the right man for the place, and that he has selected his helpers with great care. The atmosphere about the place was one of kindness—it was evident on every hand. When we went into one cottage where several of the smaller tots were, they came running to the superintendent and showed their affection for him by clasping him around the legs and tugging at his trousers, and one who was hardly old enough to talk held up his chubby little fists and said "Up! Up!" Other matters had to stop until he had taken the little one up in his arms and fondled it a little bit. When we were about the place, the little boys and girls gave him a smiling greeting and showed that they were fond of him. These incidents impressed us that they were being kindly cared for—and kindness is one of the very best things in this world.

All the little folks, so far as we could notice them, acted like little gentlemen and ladies. This is an important part of any child's education. There are seventeen cottages for these little folks, each cottage family being especially cared for by a matron; there are thirty or more, in most cases, in each family, and the matron has almost continuous charge over her family, night and day, and each matron seemed fond of and kind to her little flock. The cottages and the children seemed clean and well kept—much more so, we thought, than the average home. While the children are plainly fed and plainly dressed, yet both food and clothing seemed substantial and good. We visited the main dining room at the noon hour, where all the children, except the sick ones, eat together. We were not a little chagrined to see not a single chair was provided for these little folks at the dinner table—they were compelled to sit on little backless stools. An effort is constantly made to make this home as nearly like a good, private home as possible, but in this regard we thought these little stools were out of place, and we recommend that enough money be spent by this General Assembly to buy these little folks chairs to sit on while they eat their meals.

We commend the idea of the boys and girls being taught to work, and were glad to see the boys in some of the shops and at the engine room and in the bakery and in other places learning some of the practical things of life, which will be helpful to them after a while. There is in connection with the home a big farm, which is tended by the boys. The girls are taught housekeeping, sewing, and ironing, and we believe that this manual training idea in this institution should be carried out just as far as it is possible to carry it; most of the boys and girls will have to go out and fight life's battles alone after a while and their preparation should be thorough, as far as it can be made thorough.

We were glad to see the spirit of happiness all through the home. In the dining hall, as we went about among the tables, the little folks were mostly smiling and laughing with each other and their matrons, who were waiting on them. In the ironing room, the girls were singing, and everywhere we went we came in contact with happy folks.

While we recognize this home as being a great deal better than many of the poorer homes of our State, yet we believe it is much better to get as many of these children as possible out into better homes, where they will be well cared for; while they may not be any happier in such private homes, yet we think their opportunities and development will be better in the long run, and we recommend that the Board of Control make increased effort to find such homes for these little folks, guarding with jealous care, however, that these homes be the right places, and keeping an exceeding watchful eye on the children after they do enter these private homes. If this effort is made, it will result in more room in the Orphans' Home for other children in the State who need such a place. The majority of the children in this home now come from the larger cities of the State and there is quite a large percentage of the counties of the State who do not have any children in the home at all. Without definite knowledge concerning it, yet we believe there are hardly any counties in Iowa who do not have children who would be a great deal better off in this home, and whose conditions are such as to entitle them to the privileges, but the lack of knowledge concerning this institution accounts for their not taking advantage of it. If more room is made for other outside dependent children in the way outlined above, we believe it would be well for the Board of Control to take practical steps toward telling more of the people generally through the State, by means of the newspapers or the teachers or the ministers or in any other way they may deem best, concerning this home, its conditions, and advantages and object. All of the counties of the State pay, through taxation, for this home, and reasonable effort should be made to provide that as many as possible of the dependent children of these counties should be given the advantages of the Home for their development into strong and good men and women—orphans and dependent children have a hard enough time in this world at the best.

The Board of Control has, since the drowning of one of the inmates, several months ago, made a rule forbidding the boys going swimming down at the creek; we would recommend that this rule be withdrawn and the boys given the pleasure of this natural swimming place, rather than that the State should go to the expense of putting in an artificial swimming place. As we recall our own boyish impressions, this swimming hole in the creek would be one of the greatest pleasures after all.

The public is welcome to visit this Home at any time, and we would suggest that those who have not already visited it should take advantage of the first opportunity to do so; it is really a wonderful place, and a visit to it cannot help but make one a little more sympathetic and a little more humane.

As to the appropriations, we should recommend the following, the relative importance of the various items, in our judgment, being in the order in which they are placed:

|                                      |            |
|--------------------------------------|------------|
| For contingent and repair fund ..... | $4,000.00 |
| For painting .....                   | 1,000.00   |
| For books and periodicals .....      | 500.00     |
| For gymnasium apparatus .....        | 200.00     |
| For permanent walks .....            | 300.00     |
| For fences .....                     | 300.00     |

And we further suggest that as soon as some of the more pressing needs of some of the other State institutions be taken care of, that the matter of a hospital for this home be taken up.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That whenever it has been or shall be found or determined by the district court in any county that for any cause a lawfully constituted grand jury or a like petit jury has not or cannot be obtained by drawing from names returned by election officers to the County Auditor, or that lawfully qualified talesmen cannot be selected by drawing from such names, the said court may order the Board of Supervisors of said county to prepare lists of names of persons having the qualifications required by law for grand jurors, petit jurors and talesmen, at any regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors, or, if the court so order, at a special meeting thereof. If a special meeting be ordered, the court ordering the same shall fix the time therefor, and prescribe the time, manner and form of notice thereof to be given to the several members of such Board; and the same may be served by any person, and proof of service shall be the same as that of original notices. Such lists shall be separately certified by the Board of Supervisors in substance and in form as election officers are now required to certify lists returned by them and the lists shall be filed with the County Auditor and recorded by him in the proper record.

SEC. 5. The court may direct the County Auditor, County Recorder and Clerk of the Court to prepare from such lists separate ballots at such time as it may direct, place the same in the proper jury boxes, mark and seal such boxes and place them in the custody of the Clerk of the Court all in the manner now required by law.

SEC. 6. The court may order the County Auditor, County Recorder and Clerk of the Court to draw from said ballots so prepared, at a time to be fixed in such order, the requisite number of persons to serve as grand jurors, and the persons whose names are thus drawn shall constitute the panel of the grand jury of the county until the end of the calendar year, and also the requisite number of persons to serve as petit jurors and talesmen for the term of the court then in session or next following or at a special term, if so ordered. SEC. 2. At the annual State meeting of the State Board of Health, it shall select two physicians from its own membership, and two graduate nurses, residents of this State, actively engaged in the practice of nursing, who, together with the Secretary of the State Board of Health, shall constitute the examining committee for the year. This certificate shall confer upon the holder the right to practice as a registered nurse, and be conclusive evidence thereof. The State Board of Health is empowered to recognize certificates issued to nurses under the laws of other States having substantially similar requirements to those existing in this State; provided, that such States recognize certificates issued by the State of Iowa; then certificates issued by authorities of such other States may be deemed sufficient evidence of qualifications of the licentiate without further examination for certificates in this State; the fee for such certificate shall be ten dollars $10.00). If the licentiate appear, either in person or by counsel, the Board shall proceed with the hearing as herein provided. The Board may receive and consider affidavits and oral statements, and shall cause stenographic report of the oral testimony to be taken, which, together with all other papers pertaining thereto, shall be preserved for one (1) year. (5) per cent of the voters of each school district, in whole or in part within said city," and by striking out from line five of Section Two (2) the words "proposed district" and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "districts affected."

Amendments lost.

Sullivan of Polk moved that the rule be suspended, and that the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

The following message was received from the Governor and was ordered printed in the Journal:

MESSAGE FROM THE GOVERNOR.

To the Senate and House of Representatives:

GENTLEMEN—I transmit herewith a joint report of the Iowa Vicksburg Park Monument Commission, the Iowa Shiloh Battlefield Monument Commission, the Iowa Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge Monument Commission, and the Iowa Andersonville Prison Monument Commission. It relates to the dedication of our monuments at Vicksburg, Andersonville, Lookout Mountain, Missionary Ridge, and Shiloh. It has been prepared with loving care by the secretaries of the four commissions, and it forms the history of the most interesting, impressive and solemn ceremonies I have ever witnessed. The members of these commissions, as well as every Iowa soldier with whom I have discussed the subject, feel that it is due to the memory of the dead who laid down their lives in this prison and upon these battlefields, to those who have since passed beyond the river, to the heroic few who still survive, and to the present generation which enjoys the blessings of the victories there won, that the report should be published in such form as will make it a lasting part of the annals of the State. I share this feeling, and I earnestly recommend its publication.

In view of the occurrences of the past few days, it is not inappropriate for me, in presenting this report, to say that the soldiers who compose these commissions are men of the best type; that they not only served their country well in the days of its peril, but they served their country well in the times of peace. They have performed the work committed to them with a fidelity never surpassed, and the monuments which they have erected are distinguished for the beauty and felicity of their design and for the economy with which the work has been done. These commissioners have given their time freely, without any compensation whatsoever. There is not one of them but who has expended, in the discharge of his duty, more than the State has ever repaid, or will ever repay, to him. They have earned, and they ought to receive, the gratitude of every loyal citizen of the State.

As the monuments upon the various fields neared completion, each of the commissions invited me, as Governor of the State, to attend the dedicatory ceremonies, to receive the monuments and transfer them to the general Government. I looked upon the invitations as imperative calls of duty. No command ever put upon me by the law was more binding upon my conscience than the obligation to render this last tribute to the gallant soldiery of a patriotic State. If the monuments had been dedicated at different times, it would have involved four independent visits to the south, and the expense would have been very great. Therefore, it was suggested that the commissions join in a single journey; first, because it would make the occasion more significant; second, because it would involve much less expense. The original appropriations did not authorize a joinder, and thereupon the Thirty-first General Assembly appropriated $7,500.00 to be expended for this purpose. The combined commissions organized a committee, of which Captain J. F. Merry, of Manchester, was chairman. This committee planned the dedications, and the commissions executed the plans. I had nothing whatsoever to do with the arrangements, so carefully and adequately made. I was merely an invited guest. The committee originally set aside one car for myself and staff, but inasmuch as I decided to take but a portion of my staff, it authorized me to fill the car with others whom I might invite. I attach hereto a statement showing the expenses incurred in preparing for the dedicatory services and dedicating these monuments. Not one penny of the appropriation of $7,500.00 was paid out for me, for my staff, or for any one who was invited by me. The chairman of the committee requested me to make an arrangement for a band. I did so, reported the arrangement to him, and the payments for the railroad, dining car, sleeping car and boat fare, together with the compensation of $2.50 per day for each member of the band, with $5.00 per day for the leader, were made through me simply because I was a member of the Executive Council, and the payments had to be made by order of the Executive Council. I had nothing whatever to do with the train or with the invitations extended to those who made the journey, save as to the one car of which I have spoken.

The expenses of the dedication were more than $7,500.00, and it happened, as I have been told, in this way: The members of the joint committee, misled by the language of the first section of the act of the Thirty-first General Assembly, proceeded upon the hypothesis that the incidental expense of preparing for the dedications, such as meetings of the members of the commissions, printing, programs, etc., would be paid out of the original appropriation for the construction of the monuments. It is not strange that the misconception arose, and no matter what may be thought should be done under the circumstances, the money was honestly expended. When the bills were all collected in the hands of the Executive Council, it was discovered that they exceeded, by $869.48 the appropriation. The Attorney-General advised the Council that it was its duty to pay, first, all of the expense incurred outside the traveling expenses of the members of the commissions. When this was done, there remained, substantially, enough to pay 70 percentum of the traveling expenses of the members, and this payment has been made. I believe that, notwithstanding the mistake, the members of the commissions ought to be reimbursed. Their work has been done for the people of the State; it has been faithfully done; it has been done without any reward whatever, and I cannot believe that the men of Iowa who revere the memories of the Civil War would be content to allow these old soldiers to bear the loss which their misunderstanding has caused.

It has been reported that the speakers who were invited by the commissions to deliver addresses at the several dedications were paid for their services. The report is atrociously false. Not one of them received more than his actual outlay, and most of them less.

I desire a word with respect to my part in the occasion: The act of the Thirty-first General Assembly provided that the expenses of myself and staff should be paid from my contingent fund. I might have taken all the members of my staff. It would have been fitting to have done so, but I did not. I took with me, at the expense of the State, just five out of the seventeen members of the staff. Four of these five were veterans of the Civil War, and one a veteran of the Spanish War. Three of them could have demanded the pay of their rank while on duty, but they did not. Each of them was paid just his railroad, sleeping car, dining car and boat fare. Each of them expended a considerable sum in addition to these fares, but for such excess no reimbursement has ever been or will be made, for it has not been, nor will it be, asked. Two other members of my staff volunteered to go, and they paid their own expenses. The only money paid out by me from my contingent fund was for these five members of my staff, my own expenses, those of my secretary, and a very small item for meals for my messenger. Under the direction of the joint committee, I invited my associate members of the Executive Council, and two of them accepted the invitation. They paid their own expenses. I invited, also, the Attorney-General-elect. He paid his own expenses. My wife accompanied me, and all her expenses I paid from my own funds. This journey cost me nearly $200.00 more than I drew from the State of Iowa—money that should have been paid by the State of Iowa, but I paid it myself, although I could ill afford to do so, simply because I knew that partisan and personal malice would spill their venom over even such a mission, and I wanted to be far within my rights.

These things are, however, of but little importance compared with the effort to stain the occasion with the epithets that have been applied to it. The man, whether in office or out of office, who describes this solemn, sorrowful and sacred journey as a "junket" is either strangely ignorant of his mother tongue or strikingly indifferent to the purpose of the visit. Ask the men and women who saw the flags lifted from our memorial at Vicksburg, and felt the rush of emotion as they remembered the dead and dying of forty years before, whether they were engaged in merry-making. Ask the men and women who stood amid the graves at Andersonville, with tearful eyes and throbbing hearts, whether they were enjoying the pleasures of a "picnic." Ask the men and women who gathered around the monuments on Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge, and wept as the memories of daring courage swept over them, whether they were parts of a convivial entertainment. Ask the men and women who surrounded the beautiful shaft at Shiloh, and whose very souls were beaten with a storm of sorrow as their eyes fell upon the ground that had been saturated with the blood of Iowa's best boys, whether they were feasting upon the joys of life. For the poisoned arrows directed toward me, I care nothing; they have ceased to sting; but for the sake of the soldiers, whose fame these monuments perpetuate, and for the honor of the State, no man shall, if words of mine can prevent it, degrade this holy journey of dedication to the low level of a "junket."

Respectfully submitted,

Albert B. Cummins

A BILL for an Act to Provide for the Examination and Regulation of Graduate Nurses. Also to Regulate the Practice of Nursing by Graduate Nurses and to Provide a Penalty for the Violation Thereof.
Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. It shall be unlawful for any person to profess to be a graduate and registered nurse without first obtaining from the State Board of Health a certificate authorizing him or her to practice nursing in this State.

SEC. 2. At the annual meeting of the State Board of Health it shall select two physicians from its own membership, and two graduate nurses, residents of this State, actively engaged in the practice of nursing, who, together with the Secretary of the State Board of Health, shall constitute the examining committee for the year. The examinations provided for in this act shall be held in the city of Des Moines in July of each year and at such other times as the Board of Health shall direct. All applicants for certificate to practice nursing shall have attained the age of twenty-three (23) years and shall be of good moral character. They shall be graduates of training schools recognized as being in good standing by the State Board of Health of Iowa, and shall have received at least two (2) years' instruction in general hospital practice. After July 1st, 1910, no training school shall be accredited by the State Board of Health as a school of recognized standing which is not attached to a general hospital and which does not have a course of study of at least three (3) years. All graduate nurses who are residents of the State shall be granted a certificate without examination upon the payment of the registration fee of five dollars ($5.00), and the same rule shall apply to all nurses who graduate from a recognized school prior to July 1st, 1907. Nurses holding diplomas from hospital training schools of recognized standing, upon application to the Secretary of the State Board of Health, shall be granted a permit to practice until the first examination of the Board following the issuance of the said permit.

SEC. 3. After the passage of this act, any person who is not exempt from examination by Section Two (2) of this act and who shall apply for a certificate to practice nursing shall be examined in the following subjects: Elementary hygiene, anatomy, physiology, materia medica, dietetics, and also practical nursing, medical and surgical nursing, obstetrics, nursing of children, and the rules and regulations of the State Board of Health relating to infectious diseases and quarantine and such other subjects as the Examining Board may require from time to time. Each applicant shall pay the Secretary of the State Board of Health a fee of five dollars ($5.00). If the examination be satisfactory to three members of said committee, it shall so report to the State Board of Health; if the Board find the report and ratings correct, it shall authorize its President and Secretary to issue a certificate to the successful candidate for which such candidate shall pay an additional fee of one dollar ($1.00). This certificate shall confer upon the holder the right to practice as a registered nurse, and be conclusive evidence thereof. The State Board of Health is empowered to recognize certificates issued to nurses under the laws of other States having substantially similar requirements to those existing in this State; provided, that such States recognize certificates issued by the State of Iowa; then certificates issued by authority of such other States may be deemed sufficient evidence of qualifications of the licentiate without further examination for certificate in this State; the fee for such certificate shall be ten dollars ($10.00). The holder of such certificate provided for in this act, shall cause the same to be registered in the office of the County Recorder of the county wherein he intends to reside.

N." or "R. N." or any other words, letters or figures to indicate that the person using the same is a graduate or registered nurse, and it shall be unlawful for any graduate nurse to practice nursing as a graduate and registered nurse in the State of Iowa without first having registered under this act.

SEC. 5. This act shall not apply to any person nursing the sick with or without pay who does not in any way assume to be a registered or graduate nurse.

SEC. 6. The Board of Health may refuse to grant, or renew, any certificate provided for in this act, to a person otherwise qualified, who obtained said certificate by false or fraudulent representation, or for immoral or unprofessional or dishonorable conduct, or for willful or repeated violation of the rules or regulations of the State Board of Health; and the Board may revoke any certificate issued by it, for any such or similar cause; provided, that before the revocation of any certificate issued under the provisions of this act, the licentiate shall have been afforded an opportunity for a hearing before the Board. At least twenty (20) days prior to the date set for such hearing, the Secretary of the State Board of Health shall cause written notice, under registered mail, to be sent to the licentiate at his last known place of residence; said notice shall contain a statement of the charges, and the date and place set for the hearing before the Board. If the party thus notified fails to appear, either in person or by counsel, at the time and place designated in said notice, the Board may, after receiving satisfactory evidence of the truth of the charges and the proper issuance of the notice, revoke said certificate. If the licentiate appear, either in person or by counsel, the Board shall proceed with the hearing as herein provided. The Board may receive and consider affidavits and oral statements, and shall cause stenographic report of the oral testimony to be taken, which, together with all other papers pertaining thereto, shall be preserved for one (1) year. If five (5) members of the Board present at the hearing are satisfied that the licentiate is guilty of any of the offenses charged, the certificate shall be revoked, for such time as the State Board of Health may determine.

SEC. 7. Each member of the Examining Committee, except the Secretary, shall receive for his services out of the funds created by the payment of fees by applicants for examination such compensation as is allowed to the members of the State Board of Medical Examiners for like services and the Secretary shall receive the sum of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per annum and his necessary expenses incurred for services which cannot be performed at the Capitol. All expenses incurred under the provisions of this act shall be itemized, verified, and audited and a warrant drawn therefor on the nurses' fund in the same manner as other expenses of the State Board of Health.

SEC. 8. Any person who shall knowingly violate any of the provisions of this act, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and, upon conviction thereof, shall be fined a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or imprisonment in the county jail for not to exceed thirty (30) days.

SPEAKER'S STATEMENT.

The Speaker made the following statement, and directed that it be inserted in the Journal:

In the announcement of the result of the roll call upon Senate File No. 158, the Chair held that the bill, not having the affirmative votes of two-thirds of those elected to the House, had, under the provisions of Section Thirty-one (31), Article Three (3) of the Constitution, failed of passage. Immediately upon adjournment, certain members of the House, who favored the bill, insisted with great earnestness that, having received more than fifty-five votes, as disclosed by the record, it had in fact passed the House under the provisions of Section Seventeen (17) of Article Three (3) of the Constitution. The question thus presented was not of parliamentary procedure, but of constitutional law; and since it was not free from doubt, the Chair decided to have it determined by the proper legal authority. It, therefore, addressed a communication to the Attorney-General of the State, as follows:

"Hon. H. W. Byers, Attorney-General,

"Des Moines, Iowa.

"MY DEAR SIR—I direct your attention to Senate File No. 158, which I herewith hand you for your examination, and I now submit the inquiry upon which I desire your official opinion. How many affirmative votes are necessary to the passage of this bill?

"Awaiting your early convenience, I am,

"Yours very truly,

"N. E. KENDALL,

"Speaker."

To this communication the following response was received:

"SIR—I beg to acknowledge receipt of your communication of the 26th instant, in which you call my attention to Senate File No. 158, and in which you request my opinion as to how many affirmative votes are necessary to the passage of the bill. In response to such request, I submit the following opinion:

"The bill is as follows:

"A BILL for an act making an additional appropriation to pay the remainder of the expenses of the members of the Iowa Shiloh Battlefield Monument Commission, the Iowa Lookout Mountain and Missionary Ridge Monument Commission, the Iowa Vicksburg Park Monument Commission, and the Iowa Andersonville Prison Monument Commission, upon their joint visit to dedicate the monuments erected by the State of Iowa upon southern battlefields and at Andersonville.

"Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

"SECTION 1. There is hereby appropriated out of any moneys in the State Treasury, not otherwise appropriated, the sum of one thousand dollars ($1,000.00), or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay the remainder of the expenses of the members of the Iowa Shiloh Battlefield Monument Commission, the Iowa Vicksburg Park Monument Commission, and the Iowa Andersonville Prison Monument Commission, incurred upon their joint visit to dedicate monuments erected by the State of Iowa upon southern battlefields, and at Andersonville. Before the said payment is made, the Executive Council shall approve the accounts for said expenses, and when approved, the Auditor shall draw his warrants therefor.

"SEC. 2. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect from and after its passage and publication in the Register and Leader and Des Moines Daily News, newspapers published at Des Moines, Iowa.'

"Section Seventeen (17) of Article Three (3) of the Constitution provides:

"No bill shall be passed unless by the assent of a majority of all the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly, and the question upon final passage shall be taken immediately upon its last reading and the yeas and nays entered on the Journal.'

"Section Thirty-one (31) of the same article of the Constitution provides:

"No extra compensation shall be made to any officer, public agent or contractor after the service shall have been rendered or the contract entered into; nor shall any money be paid on any claim the subject matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws, and no public money or property shall be appropriated for local or private purposes unless such appropriation, compensation or claim be allowed by two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly.'

"If the passage of the bill in question is controlled by the provisions of Section Seventeen (17) above, then its passage would require a bare majority; if, however, it comes within the provisions of Section Thirty-one (31), Article Three (3) of the Constitution, its passage would require an affirmative vote of two-thirds of the members elected to each branch of the General Assembly; so that it becomes important to determine what relation, if any, the bill in question has to this section.

"The section may properly be divided into three parts or divisions:

"First. To allow extra compensation to any officer, public agent, or contractor after the service shall have been rendered or the contract entered into, would require a two-thirds vote.

"Second. To appropriate money to pay on any claim, the subject matter of which shall not have been provided for by pre-existing laws, would require a two-thirds vote.

"Third. To appropriate money for local or private purposes would require a two-thirds vote.

"The bill in question is taken out of the first part, or division, of the section, for the reason that it nowhere provides for compensation to any officer, public agent or contractor.

"It is not controlled by the second division for two reasons: First, because it is not such a claim as is contemplated by the section; and, second, the subject matter has been provided for by pre-existing laws.

"The third division is in no way applicable, for the reason that the bill does not in any sense contemplate an appropriation for local or private purposes.

"I am, therefore, of the opinion that but fifty-five affirmative votes are necessary to the passage of the bill in the House.

"Respectfully,

"H. W. BYERS,

"Attorney-General of Iowa."

February 26, 1907.

HON. N. E. KENDALL,

Speaker of the House.

Since the question is purely one of constitutional interpretation, the Chair is bound by the opinion of the Attorney-General. It, therefore, reverses its original ruling and declares that Senate File No. 158, having received a constitutional majority, has passed the House.

The title of the bill was agreed to.

Miller of Bremer appealed from the decision of the chair, and demanded roll call, seconded by Jewell of Winneshiek.

On the question, "Shall the judgment of the Chair stand as the judgment of the House?"

The yeas were:

Allred, Anderson, Baird, Bascom, Bauman, Beery, Bergeson, Bixby, Blackmore, Bonwell, Brandes, Calkins, Conn, Corrie, Darrah, Dewell, Doran, Dow, Drury, Dunn, Dye of Pottawattamie, Feely, Fenn, Flugum, Fox, Greenwood, Grier, Hambleton, Hanna, Hanson, Harvey, Hickey, Holmes, Hume, Inman, Jewell, Jones, Kelley, Kendall, Lister, Lowrey, McDonald, McElrath, Maben, Mann, Marston, Mason, Mercer, Meredith, Moore, Morris, Nix, Paul, Pierce, Price, Reaney, Schoenenberger, Shaffer, Sidey, Smith, Stewart, Stillman, Stoltenberg, Sullivan, Swan, Swift, Teter, Webster, White, Wilson, Youde—71.

The nays were:

Balluff, Earle, Kellogg, Miller of Bremer, Sheldon—5.

Absent or not voting:

Arney, Cassady, Clarke, Clary, Cottrell, DeMar, Dodds, Dye of Decatur, Elliott, Feay, Felt, Geneva, Hackler, Harding, Heles, Koontz, Kull, Lee, McAllister, Miller of Dubuque, Offill, Reitz, Ritter, Schroeder, Schulte, Sparks, Springer, Van Houten, Weeks, Welden, Wolfe, Mr. Speaker—32.

So the judgment of the Chair stood as the judgment of the House, and Senate File No. 158 was declared to have passed the House.

Unanimous consent having been given, Geneva of Keokuk withdrew House File No. 96 from the further consideration of the House.

On motion of Moore of Linn, the House adjourned.

Jones of Montgomery moved the adoption of the amendments proposed by the Committee on Appropriations.

Amendment lost.

Teter of Marion moved to amend Senate File No. 25 by striking from the fourth and fifth lines of the printed bill the word "annually" and by striking out the words and figures "six thousand dollars ($6,000)" in the fourth line of said bill and substituting in lieu thereof the words "twelve thousand."

Jones of Montgomery moved that the bill and proposed amendments be referred to the Committee on Judiciary.

I vote "aye" upon the roll call, notwithstanding the fact I moved the adoption of the report of the Committee on Judiciary, which was done in my official capacity and for the committee, and as the chairman thereof, and in order to bring the matter before the House.

E. W. WEEKS,

Meredith of Cass moved that the rule be suspended, that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

Moore of Linn objected to the suspension of the rule and a division was called for on the question of considering the bill engrossed.

The yeas were:

Allred, Anderson, Arney, Bascom, Bauman, Bergeson, Bixby, Blackmore, Bonwell, Brandes, Calkins, Conn, Corrie, Darrah, DeMar, Doran, Dow, Drury, Dunn, Dye of Decatur, Dye of Pottawattamie, Earle, Elliott, Feay, Felt, Fenn, Flugum, Fox, Geneva, Grier, Hackler, Hambleton, Hanson, Harvey, Heles, Hickey, Holmes, Hume, Inman, Jewell, Jones, Kelley, Kendall, Kull, Lee, Lister, McAllister, McDonald, Maben, Mann, Marston, Mason, Mercer, Meredith, Miller of Bremer, Miller of Dubuque, Moore, Morris, Nix, Paul, Pierce, Price, Reaney, Reitz, Ritter, Schoenenberger, Schulte, Shaffer, Sidey, Smith, Sparks, Springer, Stewart, Stillman, Stoltenberg, Swan, Teter, Van Houten, Webster, Weeks, Welden, White, Wilson, Wolfe, Youde, Mr. Speaker—85.

So the bill passed and the title was agreed to.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

MR. SPEAKER—I voted "no" on Senate File No. 38 for the reason that I believe that in its present form it will be impossible to secure a conviction, and the only result of its enactment will be to increase costs.

SUBSTITUTE AMENDMENT FOR HOUSE FILE NO. 180.

A BILL for an act entitled an act to regulate demurrage and storage charges and to prevent delays in furnishing cars and in the transportation and delivery by railroads of freight other than live stock and providing penalties for violation thereof.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. It shall be the duty of every railroad company operating a line of railroad, wholly or partly within this State, for the transportation of freight, upon written application of any shipper to its station agent or other agent in charge of transportation of freight for a car or cars to be loaded with freight other than live stock, stating the character of the freight and its final destination, to furnish said car or cars within three days from seven o'clock a.m. of the day following such application. Provided, that if the application be for five cars or more, the carrier shall have ten full days in which to supply the cars.

For failure to comply with this section said company shall forfeit and pay to the shipper applying for said car or cars the sum of one dollar ($1.00) per car per day or fraction of a day's delay after free time, as liquidated damages, together with all damages said applicant may sustain thereby.

SEC. 2. If a car or cars be wanted on a certain date or dates, the date or dates shall be specified in the order. At the time of giving the written order for a car or cars the shipper shall deposit with the railroad corporation five dollars ($5.00) for each car ordered; a receipt shall be given to the shipper for such deposit, and when the bill of lading is issued the agent of the railroad corporation who issues the bill of lading shall return to the shipper the five dollars ($5.00) per car so deposited, and the shipper shall surrender the receipt which has been given to him therefor. If a car or cars are ordered and are furnished by the railroad corporation within the time herein specified, but are not loaded by the shipper who gave the order, then in such case the five dollars ($5.00) per car which has been deposited with the railroad corporation shall be forfeited to such railroad corporation; but if such shipper be prevented from loading such car or cars by unavoidable circumstances, then in such case the five dollars ($5.00) so deposited shall not be forfeited.

SEC. 3. When such order specifies a certain future day when such car or cars are required to be delivered, the time between the giving of such order and the certain future day being not less than the time specified in this act for the delivery of the number of cars ordered, the railroad corporation shall deliver the number of cars required by the order on the date specified therein. All cars ordered to be delivered on the same day, or which under the provisions of this act are due to be delivered on the same day, at the same station by one shipper shall constitute one order. Time as specified in this act shall be computed from seven o'clock a.m. of the next day after such order has been given to such railroad corporation. In computing time under this act Sundays and legal holidays shall be excluded.

SEC. 4. When cars are delivered by a railroad corporation in response to the written order of a shipper, as provided in this act, but at a date later than is required by this act, if in that case cars are delivered to the shipper in greater number than he has capacity to load within forty-eight hours, such shipper shall be entitled to a loading time of forty-eight hours for each separate order previously made.

SEC. 5. When such freight in carloads is tendered to said station agent and correct shipping instructions given, it shall be the duty of said company to immediately receive the same for shipment, and issue bills of lading therefor, and when said shipments have been received, they must be carried forward at the rate of not less than sixty miles per day of twenty-four hours, computing from seven o'clock a.m. of the day following receipt of same, and for failure to receive and transport such shipments within the time herein prescribed said company shall forfeit and pay to the consignee the sum of one dollar ($1.00) per car per day or fraction thereof, on all carload freight; providing that in computing the time of freight in transit there shall be allowed twenty-four hours at each point where transferring from one railroad to another is involved.

SEC. 6. Such railroad companies shall within twenty-four hours of arrival of shipments give written notice by mail or otherwise to consignees of the arrival of shipments together with the amount of freight charges due thereon, and when goods or freight in carload lots arrive, such notice shall contain the number and initials of the car or cars, and if transferred in transit the number and initial of the car or cars in which originally shipped.

Any railroad company failing to give such notice shall forfeit and pay to the consignee or other parties whose interest is affected the sum of one dollar ($1.00) per day or fraction of a day's delay per car on all carload shipments after the expiration of said twenty-four hours, as liquidated damages, and in addition to said liquidated damages, all other damages sustained thereby.

SEC. 7. Railroad companies shall place loaded cars at a convenient point for unloading before seven o'clock a.m. of the day following the arrival of the same.

The railroad company shall forfeit and pay the shipper or consignee one dollar ($1.00) per car per day for each day or fraction thereof such delivery is delayed, as liquidated damages, and all actual damages sustained thereby; provided that the delivery of cars to private tracks shall be considered to have been made either when such cars have been placed on the tracks designated, or if such tracks be full of loaded or unreleased empty cars when the road offering the cars would have made the delivery had the condition of such tracks permitted.

SEC. 8. Whenever by reason of any accidental or unavoidable cause which can not reasonably be provided against by the use of reasonable foresight and diligence, any such railroad company fails to so furnish and move cars, and uses all reasonable diligence to do so promptly after the happening of such accidental or unavoidable cause, it shall not as to such failure in such case, be liable to the penalties herein prescribed.

SEC. 9. Shippers or consignees on whose order a car or cars have been placed for loading or unloading shall have forty-eight hours for loading or unloading such cars, computing time from seven o'clock a.m. of the day after such car or cars have been placed subject to such orders, and thereafter unless the delay in loading or unloading was unavoidable, a demurrage charge of not more than one dollar ($1.00) per car per day or fraction of a day may be assessed and collected on all such cars respectively as have not been tendered to the railroad company with shipping instructions for loaded cars within free time; provided, however, should such shipper or consignee fail to begin loading within forty-eight hours, the railroad company may consider the empty car or cars released.

SEC. 10. When the consignee or his agent is personally served with notice of the arrival of freight at or before five o'clock p.m. of any day, free time shall begin at seven o'clock a.m. of the day after such notice has been given. When such notice is given by mail twenty-four hours additional free time shall be allowed; provided, however, that when consignor has shipped goods consigned to order but has expressed in his bills of lading or shipping directions the name of the person at destination whom to notify, it shall be the duty of the railroad company to give such notice to such party in the same manner as if the shipment had been made directly to him.

SEC. 11. If any person shall be found guilty of ordering cars without intent to use but for the purpose of collecting demurrage he shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars ($100.00) nor more than five hundred dollars ($500.00), or may be imprisoned not to exceed six months in the county jail.

SEC. 12. It shall be the duty of every railroad corporation operating within the State of Iowa to make at the end of each month a detailed report of all penalties paid and collected as demurrage during the previous month; this report shall be filed with the Board of Railroad Commissioners at their office in Des Moines, Iowa.

SEC. 13. When suit is brought to collect any of the damages, forfeitures or demurrage charges provided for in this act, said suit may be brought in any court in this State having jurisdiction of the subject matter and parties under the then existing cause; and if the plaintiff therein recover judgment such plaintiff shall also recover a reasonable attorney's fee for bringing such suit, to be taxed on motion, and paid as other costs by defendant in such suit.

SEC. 14. In any such suit, instead of bringing suit individually, two or more persons having causes of action arising under this act may file their claims with the county attorney of any county in which the defendant operates its railway, and the said county attorney may thereupon bring a suit in the name of the State of Iowa, combining all claims so filed for the use of said claimants and shall prosecute said suit without expense to the State and distribute the proceeds thereof according to the judgment that may be entered. In any such suit the burden of proof shall be upon the defendant to prove if the fact he initial that the failure to furnish cars or to move same at specified speed as herein provided was prevented by unavoidable cause or causes, as provided in Section 7.

SEC. 15. When such suit is brought, in case judgment is rendered for the plaintiff, then the county attorney shall receive fees as provided in Section 13; when judgment is rendered for the defendant, then plaintiff or plaintiffs shall be assessed for attorney's fees and all costs that may accrue.

And when so amended that the bill do pass.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That from and after the passage of this act the candidates of political parties for all offices which under the law are filled by the direct vote of the voters of this State at the general election in November and for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States, and for the office of elector of the President and Vice-President of the United States, shall be nominated by a primary election, and delegates to the conventions of said political parties or organizations and party committeemen shall be elected at said primary election at the times and in the manner hereinafter provided. The provisions of Chapters Three (3) and Four (4), Title Six (6), and Chapter Eight (8), Title Twenty-four (24) of the Code, shall apply so far as applicable to all such primary elections the same as general elections, except as hereinafter provided. The vote upon candidates for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States shall be for the sole purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters in the respective parties.

Sec. 2. The term "primary election" as used in this act shall be construed to apply to an election by the members of various political parties for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for public office, for selecting delegates to conventions, and for the selection of party committeemen.

Sec. 3. The title "political party" shall mean a party which, at the last preceding general election, cast for its candidate for Governor at least two percentum of the total vote cast at said election.

Sec. 4. The primary election herein provided for shall consist of an election by all political parties and shall be held at the usual voting places of the several precincts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, for the nomination of candidates for such offices as are to be filled at the general election in November next ensuing, and for Senator in the Congress of the United States in the next year preceding the filling of that office by the General Assembly, and for the electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States in the year in which a President and Vice-President are to be elected.

Sec. 5. The judges and clerks of all primary elections under this act shall be made up and selected and appointed in the same manner as for the general election held in November, and they shall take the same oath and the judges are hereby authorized to administer oaths as hereinafter provided. Vacancies shall be filled as provided for the judges and clerks of the general election, and their compensation shall be the same. The expenses of said primary election shall be paid one-half by the county in which the said primary election is held and one-half by the State. The Board of Supervisors of each county shall audit the entire expense and certify the same to the Executive Council, which shall thereupon order a warrant for one-half the amount to be delivered to the county, which shall thereupon pay the entire amount.

Sec. 6. The Australian ballot system as now used in this State, except as hereinafter provided, shall be used at said primary election in all precincts. The voter shall in all cases mark the ballot in the square before the name of each person for whom he desires to vote. In cities where registration is required by law, the polls shall be open from 7:00 A. M. to 8:00 P. M., and in all other precincts from 1:00 P. M. to 8:00 P. M. The elector voting at said primary election shall be allowed to vote for candidates for nomination on the ticket of only one political party, and that shall be the party with which he is registered as affiliated. The endorsement of the judges of election and the fac simile of the auditor's signature shall appear upon the ballots as provided by law for the ballots used for the November election. The voter shall return the ballot folded, to one of the judges of election who shall deposit it in the ballot box.

SEC. 7. At the primary election to be held in June in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight any person shall be entitled to participate therein who is a qualified elector in such precinct at the time of said primary election, and when the voter seeks to pass the guardrail he shall indicate the party ballot he desires and one of the judges of the primary election board shall give him such primary ballot (unless challenged, and if so challenged, then only in the event that the challenge is determined in favor of the voter), and such person shall thereupon be allowed to vote. The voter's selection shall constitute his declaration of party affiliation, and it shall be the duty of the primary election board to record his name and check his declaration of party affiliation on the poll books used by the clerks of the primary election board, and said list properly certified to by said primary election board shall be returned to the County Auditor for preservation. Copies of the names and party entries on such list together with the changes of party affiliation as hereinafter provided, arranged alphabetically by surnames, shall be used at subsequent primaries for determining with what party the voter has been enrolled, and no voter enrolled under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to receive the ballot of any political party except that with which he is enrolled, but he may change his enrollment as hereinafter provided. The County Auditor shall prepare for each voting precinct two of the above mentioned lists duly certified by him, and taken from the poll books of the last preceding primary election, which he shall deliver to the succeeding primary election boards in the year Nineteen Hundred Ten and biennially thereafter, at least one day prior to the day of the primary election, and which lists together with the poll books of the primary election shall be returned to the said Auditor in good condition within twenty-four hours after the primary election, to be preserved by him.

SEC. 8. Any person who has thus declared his party affiliation shall thereafter be listed on the poll books as a member of that political party, and such person while a resident of the same voting precinct need not declare his party affiliation at succeeding primary elections unless he desires to change his party affiliation. Any elector who, having declared his party affiliation, desires to change the same, may, not less than ten days prior to the date of any primary election, file a written declaration with the County Auditor stating his change of party affiliation, and the Auditor shall enter a record of such change on the poll books of the last preceding primary election in the proper column opposite the voter's name and on the voting list. Any elector whose party affiliation has for any reason not been registered or any elector who has changed his residence to another precinct, or a first voter or citizen of this State casting his first vote in this State shall be entitled to vote at any subsequent primary election in the same manner and upon the same terms as provided in Section Seven (7) of this act, and the clerks of the primary election shall record his party affiliation and the County Auditor shall add his name to the alphabetical lists for use in subsequent elections as provided for in Section Seven (7) of this act.

SEC. 9. Each political party shall be entitled to have two party challengers present at each polling place, to be appointed by the respective party committeemen. Any judge or clerk of the primary election or any party challenger may challenge any voter upon the grounds mentioned in Section Eleven Hundred Fifteen (1115) of the Code and such challenge shall be determined as there provided. Any elector whose party affiliation has been recorded as provided by this act and who desires to change his party affiliation on the primary election day, shall be subject to challenge. If the person challenged insists that he is entitled to vote the ticket of the political party to which he has transferred his political affiliation and the challenge is not withdrawn, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you have in good faith changed your party affiliation to and desire to be a member of the .....party." Each signer of a nomination paper shall add his residence with street and number, if any, and the date of signing. For all nominations, all signers of each separate part of a nomination paper shall reside in the same county. As soon as the clerks and judges shall have sorted the ballots of each party, separately, they shall take the tally sheets provided in the poll books and shall count all the ballots for each party separately until the count is completed, and shall certify to the number of votes cast for each candidate for each office upon the ticket of each party. After all have been counted and certified to by the clerks and judges, they shall seal the ballots cast by each of the parties in separate envelopes, on the outside of which shall be printed or written the names of that party's candidates for the different offices, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and then seal the envelopes containing the votes of the different political parties in one large envelope, on the outside of which or on a paper attached thereto, shall be printed or written in perpendicular columns, the names of the several political parties with the names of the candidates for the different offices under their respective party headings, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and at the bottom the total vote cast by each political party in said precinct, and such envelopes shall be returned to the County Auditor, who shall carefully preserve the same in said condition and deliver them to the county board of canvassers. But any elector of the county shall have the right, before the day fixed for canvassing the returns, to ascertain the vote cast for any candidate in any precinct in the county, as shown on the outside of the large envelope.

Said judges of election shall deliver the returns so made, together with the poll books, including tally sheets and certificates of the judges and clerks written thereon, to the County Auditor within twenty-four hours after the primary election has closed; and if the returns from any precinct be not so delivered within the said time, the County Auditor shall forthwith send a messenger for any such missing returns, and said messenger shall be paid, as provided by law for the general election.

SEC. 18. Any candidate, whose name appears upon the official primary ballot of any voting precinct, may require the Board of Supervisors of the county in which such precinct is situated to recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, at the time fixed for canvassing the returns of the judges of election, by filing with the County Auditor not later than the day before such meeting, a showing, duly sworn to by any such candidate, that fraud was committed or error or mistake was made in counting or returning the votes cast in any such precinct. The showing must be specific and from it there must appear reasonable ground to believe that a recount of the ballots would produce a result different from the returns made by the judges. If such showing is made to the satisfaction of the board, thereupon the board shall recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, as to all candidates, including persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman and make up a new return, which in all subsequent proceedings shall be substituted for the returns of the judges of election for the precinct. The action of the board shall be final and no other contest of any kind shall be permitted. If a recount of the ballots of any precinct produces a result different from the returns of the judges with respect to delegates or party committeeman, the County Auditor shall make or correct his certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county accordingly. The term "candidate" as used in this section shall include and apply to persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman.

SEC. 19. On Tuesday next following the primary election in June, the Board of Supervisors shall meet, open, and canvass the returns from each voting precinct in the county, and make abstracts thereof, stating in words written at length the number of ballots cast in the county by each political party, separately, for each office, the name of each person voted for and the number of votes given to each person for each different office and shall sign and certify thereto and file the same with the County Auditor.

Such canvass and certificate shall be final as to all candidates for nomination to any elective county office or office of a sub-division of a county; and the candidate for each political party for each office having received the highest number of votes shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office and entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted at the general election without other certificate, and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the county a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents.

SEC. 20. The county board of canvassers shall also make a separate abstract of the canvass as to the following offices and certify to the same and forthwith forward it to the Secretary of State, viz.:

United States Senator,

Electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States,
All State offices,

Representatives in Congress,

Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly,

Judges of the District Court.

SEC. 21. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original returns to the Auditor, who shall file the same and record each of the abstracts above mentioned in the election book.

SEC. 22. On the third Monday after the June primary election, the Executive Council shall meet as a canvassing board, and open and canvass the abstract returns received from each county in the State. If returns are not received from all the counties, the Secretary of State shall immediately send a messenger after the abstract returns and the board may adjourn from day to day until they are received.

The board shall make an abstract of its canvass, stating in words written at length, the number of ballots cast by each political party, separately, for each office, the names of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes received by each person for each office, and shall sign and certify thereto. Such canvass and certificate shall be final as to all candidates named therein; and the candidate of each political party for each office having received the highest number of votes in the State or district of the State, as the case may be, shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office and entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted at the general election without other certificate; and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the State a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents.

SEC. 23. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original abstract returns to the Secretary of State, who shall file the same in his office and record the abstracts of the canvass of the State board and certificates attached thereto in the book kept by him known as the election book; and not less than fifteen days before the general election he shall certify to the auditor of each county, under separate party headings, the name of each person nominated as shown by the official canvass made by the Executive Council, his place of residence, the office to which he is nominated, and the order in which the tickets of the several political parties shall appear on the official ballot. Should a vacancy in the nominations occur and be filled after such certificate has been forwarded, a like certificate shall at once be made and sent to the proper officer, together with a statement showing the reason for its subsequent issue.

SEC. 24. In case of a tie vote resulting in no nomination for any office or election of delegates or party committeeman, the tie shall forthwith be determined by lot by the board of canvassers or judges of election, as the case may be. Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary election occasioned by death, withdrawal, or change of residence of any candidate, or from any other cause, shall be filled by the party committee for the county, district, or State, as the case may be, representing the party in which the vacancy nomination occurs.

SEC. 25. In each county there shall be held in each year in which a general election in November is to take place a county convention of each political party. Said county convention shall be composed of delegates elected at the last preceding primary election, and shall be held on the second Saturday following the primary election, convening at 2:00 o'clock P. M. The number of delegates from each voting precinct shall be determined by a ratio adopted by the respective party county central committees, and shall be thus determined and a statement designating the number from each voting precinct in the county filed in the office of the County Auditor at least thirty days before the primary election; if not so done the Auditor shall fix the number. The requisite number of names of candidates of his choice for delegates to the county convention to which each precinct is entitled shall be written or pasted with uniform white pasters on the blank lines upon the ballot by the voter while in the booth, or by some one designated by a voter unable to write, after the ballots are received and before they are deposited, and the requisite number of persons from each precinct who receive the highest number of votes shall be the delegates from the precinct to the county convention. One member of the county central committee for each political party from each precinct shall be elected in the same manner in which delegates are selected. His term of office shall begin on the day of the county convention and immediately following the adjournment thereof and shall continue for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified. Returns shall be made by the judges of election respecting delegates and members of the county central committee in the same manner as for other offices, except that the judges of election shall canvass the returns as to delegates and members of the county central committee, and certify the result to the Auditor with the returns. The Auditor shall, immediately after such returns are filed, notify the delegates and members of the county central committee who have thus been elected of their election, and of the time and place of holding the county convention, and shall on the second Thursday following the primary election, deliver a certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county. When the delegates, or a majority thereof, thus elected shall have assembled in the county convention at the time herein prescribed and at the county seat the convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the county central committee, who shall present the certified list of delegates and members of the county central committee. If any precinct shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such precinct shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. The said county convention shall select delegates from among the delegates elected to the said convention to the next ensuing State and district convention of that year, upon such ratio of representation as may be determined by the party organization for the State, district, or districts as the case may be, but no delegates shall be so selected to any of the district conventions referred to in Section Twenty-five (25) of this act unless a call therefor has been issued and published as there provided. The said county convention shall also elect a member of the party central committee for the senatorial, judicial, and congressional districts composed of more than one county.

Sec. 26. In any senatorial judicial, or congressional district composed of more than one county, in any year in which a Senator in the General Assembly, a Judge of the District Court, or a Representative in the Congress of the United States, is to be elected, a senatorial, judicial, or congressional convention may be held by such political party participating in the primary election of that year; provided, that not less than ten days, and not more than sixty days, before the day fixed for holding the county convention a call therefor shall first have been issued by the party central committee for any such district and published in at least one newspaper of general circulation of each county composing any such district, and which call shall state among other things the number of delegates each county of the district shall be entitled to and the time and place of holding the convention. Any such call shall be signed by the chairman of the party central committee for any such district, and be filed by him with the County Auditor not less than five days before the county convention and the County Auditor shall attach a true copy thereof to the certified list of delegates required to be delivered by him to the chairman of the respective party county central committees.

No such district convention shall be held earlier than the first Thursday or later than the fifth Thursday following the county convention. The organization of and procedure in any such district convention shall be the same as in the State convention. Such district conventions may adopt party platforms and transact such other business as may properly be brought before them.

Sec. 27. A State convention of each political party, composed of delegates chosen in the manner herein provided, shall be held not earlier than the third Thursday and not later than the fifth Thursday following the primary election in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, convening at such time and place as may be determined upon by the party organization. The convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the State central committee, who shall thereupon present the list of delegates, as certified by the various county conventions, and effect a temporary organization. If any county shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such county shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. Such convention when permanently organized shall formulate and adopt the State platform of the party it represents.

It shall also elect a State central committee consisting of not less than one member from each congressional district and transact such other business as may properly be brought before it. The State central committee elected at said State convention may organize at pleasure for political work as is usual and customary with such committees and shall continue to act until succeeded by another committee duly elected.

SEC. 28. The regularly organized political committees of each party as at present or hereafter constituted may continue to act until supplanted by the committees elected under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 29. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed so as to prohibit nomination of candidates for office by petition as now authorized by law; but no person so nominated shall be permitted to use the name of any political party authorized or entitled under this act to nominate a ticket by primary vote or that has nominated a ticket by primary vote under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 30. This act shall not apply to special elections to fill vacancies.

SEC. 31. Any party committeeman or any primary election or other public officer upon whom a duty is imposed by this act or by acts herein made applicable to primary elections, who shall wilfully neglect to perform any such duty, or who shall wilfully perform it in such a way as to hinder the objects thereof, or shall disclose to anyone, except as may be ordered by any court of justice, the contents of any ballot or any part thereof, as to the manner in which the same may have been voted shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

But nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit any person from making contracts in good faith for the announcement of his candidacy in the newspapers and for securing the names of voters required to file preliminary nomination papers and the payment of any reasonable compensation for such services.

SEC. 33. Any person offering or giving a bribe either in money or other consideration, to any elector for the purpose of influencing his vote at any primary election, or any elector entitled to vote at such primary election receiving and accepting such bribe; any person making false answer to any of the provisions of this act relative to his qualifications and party affiliations; any person wilfully voting or offering to vote at a primary election who has not been a resident of this State for six months next preceding said primary election; or who, at the primary election is not twenty-one years of age, or is not a citizen of the United States; or knowing himself not to be a qualified elector of such precinct where he offers to vote; or any person violating any of the provisions of this act, or of any provisions of the Code as may be hereto applied, and any person knowingly procuring, aiding or abetting such violation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS.

On motion of McAllister of Linn, House File No. 348, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in Section Twenty-six Hundred and Eight (2608) of the Supplement to the Code, relating to the Soldiers' Home at Marshalltown, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up and considered.

Mr. McAllister moved that the rule be suspended, that the bill be considered engrossed and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?"

The yeas were:

Allred, Anderson, Arney, Baird, Balluff, Bascom, Bauman, Beery, Bergeson, Bixby, Blackmore, Bonwell, Brandes, Calkins, Conn, Corrie, Cottrell, Darrah, DeMar, Dewell, Dodds, Doran, Dow, Drury, Dunn, Dye of Decatur, Dye of Pottawattamie, Earle, Elliott, Feay, Feely, Felt, Fenn, Flugum, Fox, Geneva, Greenwood, Grier, Hackler, Hambleton, Hanna, Hanson, Harding, Harvey, Hickey, Holmes, Inman, Jones, Kelley, Kellogg, Koontz, Kull, Lee, Lister, Lowrey, McAllister, McElrath, Maben, Mann, Marston, Mason, Mercer, Meredith, Miller of Bremer, Miller of Dubuque, Moore, Morris, Nix, Paul, Pierce, Price, Reaney, Reitz, Ritter, Schoenenberger, Schroeder, Schulte, Shaffer, Sheldon, Sidey, Smith, Sparks, Springer, Stewart, Stillman, Stoltenberg, Swan, Swift, Teter, Van Houten, Webster, Weeks, Welden, White, Wilson, Wolfe, Youde, Mr. Speaker—98.

The nays were:

None.

Absent or not voting:

Cassady, Clarke, Clary, Heles, Hume, Jewell, Kendall, McDonald, Ofill, Sullivan—10.

So the bill passed and the title was agreed to.

Welden of Hardin moved that the remarks of Arney of Marshall in support of House File No. 348, be printed in the Journal.

Motion prevailed.

The following remarks were made by Mr. Arney:

GENTLEMEN—My heart and my judgment both approve this bill. Personal investigation and knowledge of the situation at the Iowa Soldiers' Home have convinced me that the added stipend asked for the members of that institution is a necessary one and one that should be granted without debate simply because it is needed to the just and generous conduct of an Iowa State institution. Fourteen dollars per month per member for the maintenance of the Soldiers' Home is insufficient. The institution may exist upon it, but it cannot carry out the purpose for which it was intended and maintain the standard that should be required of an institution that was not founded in charity, but in gratitude, that is not a donation but a debt for services rendered.

Out of this fourteen dollars a month, of which, mark you, the national government contributes $8 1-3 and the State of Iowa $5 2-3, must come every expense of the home except permanent repairs, new buildings, if you please. Eliminate the new buildings and their furnishings, and you may practically saddle all of the other expenses for the home on the fourteen dollars a month. We have built and are building larger every year at the home and thereby are increasing the cost of maintenance, but the stipend has remained the same. Out of it must come the salaries and wages of officers and nurses; provisions, household stores, clothing, fuel, light, medicine, water, and ice, postage and stationery, shop, farm, and garden supplies, the replacing of worn out bedding, carpets, chairs, ranges, kitchen utensils, and all ordinary repairs of whatever kind needed.

Is it any wonder the Board of Control, after investigation, has changed its position from that of a few weeks ago and instead of saying, "We are not asking the raise," now say, "Owing to recent developments, we do need it." If the developments of a few weeks may make this addition necessary and advisable, what may not two long years bring about? And remember, gentlemen, it will be two years before you can again consider this question. The Iowa Board of Control is noted in every other state for its wise economy. Have you any idea that a board whose record rests upon economic administration of State funds will spend the additional dollar a month unless its use is plainly indicated? Can we not trust the Board of Control with an extra dollar a month? Its use is indicated. Year by year we build more hospitals at the Iowa Soldiers' Home and before the finishers have left the building the cots are full and the cry is for more room in the hospital. Turn to the news columns of the Times-Republican, the Register and Leader, or the Des Moines Capital of a few weeks ago and see that 259 of these old soldiers were seriously ill, 132 in the hospital wards and the rest in their rooms and cottages, unable to find a place in the hospital. Of a membership of about 800, 259 down sick; can we give these men their due on $14 a month? Just across from the home is St. Thomas' Hospital, a semi-charitable institution. In its cheapest wards the minimum is $8 per week; its best rooms $25 per week. Balance this reasonable charge for hospital service against the fraction over $3 per week at the Soldiers' Home, and ask whether this bill is just and its demands reasonable.

The food is good at the home; it is plentiful; it is enough for a laboring man—good strong food, but these old men crave and need something different. Their appetites revolt at the food strong and healthy men desire and thrive upon. They are practically all invalids; those who are not will soon be invalids, and the very name "Iowa Soldiers' Home" will be changed to "Soldiers' Hospital." The men who live at the home were strong men fighting for the life of their nation almost half a century ago. They are waiting there, weak, emaciated, sick and with the foreknowledge of death looking out of their eyes. Everyone is under a death sentence. Day by day the flag they defended hangs at half-mast; day after day a trembling procession of old men follows the band to the wall of the dead march and the throb of the muffled drums out to the cemetery that slopes to the morning sun above the sweep of the river. Day after day the triple volleys of the firing squad startle the echoes and are repeated from the wood that fringes the enclosure. Two paths are painfully worn at the Iowa Soldiers' Home,—the one leading to the hospital, and the other winding down from the hospital to that eternal camping ground where the low green tents are multiplying with a rapidity that warns us if we are to do something for the Iowa veterans of the Civil war, it must not be delayed. What shall we do? Shall we of the Iowa Legislature refuse these men a necessity or grudge them an added comfort? Rather should we provide for them; not only the necessities and comforts of life, but even the luxuries should be theirs. Economy is one thing, simple honesty is another. Can the State of Iowa afford to be less liberal with her soldiers? Gentlemen, this bill touches the honor of the State. When many of us were boys and before some of us who sit here to decide upon this bill were born, the men who are before us asking for the additional comfort a dollar a month would secure to them accepted the pledged word of the nation and of Iowa that they, nor theirs, should ever suffer want or lack a helper in time of need. It was under this promise that they left their flocks and herds without a fold and went afield to keep the flag in its place and make freedom a truth instead of a statement in America. Back of this bill is the sworn pledge of your fathers. The men to whom it was made are a feeble and scattered remnant of the grand army who accepted it. They are old and poor and the grasshopper is become a burden to the shoulders that pushed aside, broken and demoralized, the rebellious armies that barred their way to the gulf at New Orleans, and the sea at Savannah. The men who bivouaced in a rubber blanket at night to rise at dawn and fight and forage their path through the heart of the confederacy are creeping feebly out to the sun today or lying helpless in the hospital wards in the home at Marshalltown. They come to you to redeem the pledge you and your fathers and grandfathers made in the far off sixties. What will you do? I am too well convinced of the grandeur of Iowa and of the justice and generosity of the men who represent her here on this floor to believe that you will repudiate this debt.

Under provisions of Division Eleven (11) of Rule Ten (10), House File No. 135, a bill for an act to amend Section Five Thousand and Forty (5040) of the Code, relating to a breach of the Sabbath, was taken up and considered.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

MR. SPEAKER—The reason I vote "no" on Senate File No. 55 is because I believe one of its apparent objects is to cause the removal of the ~~Salvation Army Home~~ in Des Moines. I am in favor of the regulation of such institutions, but am not in favor of confiscating the property of a benevolent society.

S. H. BAUMAN.

On motion of Lee of Emmet the House adjourned until 9 o'clock tomorrow morning.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

I vote "no" upon House File No. 379, for the following reasons:

First. It is in conflict with House File No. 273, passed by this body a few days ago, and defeats the object thereof. This was a measure whereby school children, instructors, etc., were permitted to have reduced rates as they attended school; a very beneficial measure, in my judgment.

Second. This measure is different from the federal statutes upon the same subject and its operation would cause confusion, because of said difference. I voted for the amendment of the bill, embracing in it the federal statute. I would vote for House File No. 379 if it was identical with the federal law which was proposed and pushed through Congress with the influence of our delegation therein.

Third. I believe that corporations with large financial interests in different counties of the State and remote from the headquarters or general offices thereof, and whose business is done by agents and employes, should be permitted to have local attorneys and physicians permanent in their appointment, and with usual and natural relations existing therewith.

Fourth. I do not consider the provisions of this bill reasonable and just to the interests involved. It is, in my judgment, different from what other states have adopted and wholly unnecessary in this. I believe in just and equitable laws and we ought to enact them free from all political reasons, considering natural causes and conditions. We are apt, because we have the power, to go too far and do unwise things, violent, uncalled for, and solely for political advantage, and fearing that some of these elements enter into this bill I believe it my duty to vote against it.

E. W. WEEKS.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE FILE NO. 101.

MR. SPEAKER—I have no objection to the State acquiring title to the land for which the appropriation herein contemplated is sought, if the property is really needed as an addition to our State Fair Grounds, but I do object to the principle involved in this transaction wherein private parties take it upon themselves to make investments for our State without authority of law. I therefore vote "no".

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That Section Two Thousand One Hundred and Fifty-three of the Code of 1897 be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

SECTION 2153. Every owner or consignor of freight to be transported by railway from any point within this State to any other point within this State shall have the right to require that the same shall be transported over two or more connecting lines of railway, to be transferred at the connecting point or points without change of car or cars, if in carload lots, and with change of car or cars if in less than carload lots, whenever the distance from the place of shipment to destination, both being within this State, is less over two or more connecting lines of railway than it is over a single line of railway, or where the initial line does not reach the place of destination; and it shall be the duty, upon the request of any such owner or consignor of freight, made to the initial company, of such railway companies whose lines so connect, to transport the freight without change of car or cars, if the shipment be in a carload lot or lots, and with or without change of car or cars if it be in less than carload lots, from the place of shipment to destination, whenever the distance from the place of shipment to destination, both being within this State, is less than the distance over a single line, or when the initial line does not reach the point of destination, for a reasonable joint through rate. This section shall apply to interurban railways and their connection with ordinary steam railways.

SEC. 2. Section Two Thousand One Hundred and Fifty-five (2155) of the Code of 1897 be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

SECTION 2155. The Board of Railroad Commissioners shall, within ten days after this act takes effect, notify in writing every railway company owning or operating a railway within this State that it will, upon a day named in such notice, which day shall not be more than thirty days after giving said notice, take up for investigation the subject of establishing joint through rates, as herein provided, between the railway lines in this State. It shall also give a similar notice, directed "To whom it may concern," and so publish the same that it will have general circulation throughout the State. All corporations, partnerships and persons interested in the subject may present themselves at the hearing and be heard, under such rules and regulations as the board may prescribe. At the end of the investigation, which shall be carried on with all due diligence, the said Board of Railroad Commissioners shall make and publish a schedule of joint through railway rates for such traffic and on such routes as in its judgment the fair and reasonable conduct of business requires shall be done by carriage over two or more lines of railway, and will promote the interests of the people of this State. In the making thereof, and in changing, revising or adding to the same, the board shall be governed as nearly as may be by the preceding sections of this chapter, and shall take into consideration, among other things, the rates established for shipments within this State for like distances over single lines, the rates charged by the railway companies operating such connecting lines for joint interstate shipments, and the increased cost, if any, of a joint through shipment as compared with the shipment over a single line for like distances. In establishing such rates for shipments in less than carload lots, in cases where, at the connecting point or points in the line of shipment, the connecting railways have not and are not required to have a common station or stopping place for loading or unloading freight, the board shall make such lawful regulations as in its judgment will be fair and just respecting the transportation of such freight from the usual unloading place of one railway to the usual loading place of the other. The joint through rates thus established shall be promulgated by mailing a printed copy thereof to each railway company affected thereby, and shall go into effect within ten days after they are so promulgated; and from and after that time an official printed schedule thereof shall be prima facie evidence, in all the courts of this State, that the rates therein fixed are just and reasonable for the joint transportation of such freight between the points and over the lines described therein. The said board shall deliver a printed copy of said schedule to any person making application therefor.

The share of any railway company of any joint through rate shall not be construed to fix the charge that it may make for transportation for a similar distance over any part of its line for any single rate shipment or the share of any other joint rate. That the board, upon such reasonable notice as it may prescribe, may, upon its own motion or upon the application of any person, firm or corporation interested therein, revise, change or add to any joint through rates fixed or promulgated hereunder; and any such revised, changed or added joint rates shall have the same force and effect as the rate or rates originally established. The said board is empowered to authorize, upon proper hearing, any railway company whose line connects the point of shipment with the point of destination but requires a longer haul than the joint haul over which a joint rate has been established, to charge the joint rate without affecting the charge upon any other part of its line, except that the charge for a like kind of property must not be greater for a shorter than for a longer distance over its railroad, all of the shorter haul being included within the longer. This section shall apply to interurban railways and their connection with ordinary steam railways.

SEC. 3. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall be in full force and effect from and after its publication in the Register and Leader and Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

And when so amended that the bill do pass.

Our estimate of the cost for memorial edition of twenty thousand (20,000) copies will be about $30,000. A cheaper edition, with cheaper paper and electrotypes, on the plan of our State reports, could be made much cheaper and the cost could be still further reduced by publishing a less number.

We find that the reports of the Monument Commission contained material valuable for such report, and in addition there is a booklet entitled "Dedicating in Dixie," which contains much additional matter of interest, the use of which can probably be obtained from the author, Ernest A. Sherman, of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, who accompanied the Commissions on their trip to the battlefields.

SENATE MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

Senate File No. 280:

A BILL for an act providing for the nomination, by political parties, or organizations, of candidates for various offices, and the election of delegates to conventions of said political parties or organizations, and the election of party committeemen, by a primary election, and for the holding of conventions by such political parties or organizations, providing penalties for the violations thereof, and repealing Chapter Forty (40), laws of the Thirtieth General Assembly, and Chapter Forty-five (45) and Forty-six (46), laws of the Thirty-first General Assembly, relating to primary elections.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That from and after the passage of this act the candidates of political parties for all offices except Judges of the Supreme, District and Superior Courts, which under the law are filled by the direct vote of the voters of this State at the general election in November, and for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States, and for the office of Elector of the President and Vice-President of the United States, shall be nominated by a primary election, and delegates to the conventions of said political parties or organizations and party committeemen shall be elected at said primary election, at the times and in the manner hereinafter provided. The provisions of Chapters Three (3) and Four (4), Title Six (6), and Chapter Eight (8), Title Twenty-four (24), of the Code, shall apply so far as applicable to all such primary elections, the same as general elections, except as hereinafter provided. The vote upon candidates for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States shall be for the sole purpose of ascertaining the sentiment of the voters in the respective parties.

SEC. 2. The term "primary election" as used in this act shall be construed to apply to an election by the members of various political parties for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for public office, for selecting delegates to conventions, and for the selection of party committeemen.

SEC. 3. The title "political party" shall mean a party which, at the last preceding general election, cast for its candidate for Governor at least two per centum of the total vote cast at said election.

SEC. 4. The primary election herein provided for shall consist of an election by all political parties and shall be held at the usual voting places of the several precincts on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in June, in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, for the nomination of candidates for such offices as are to be filled at the general election in November next ensuing, except Judges of the Supreme, District and Superior Courts, and for Senator in the Congress of the United States in the next year preceding the filling of that office by the General Assembly, and for the Electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States, in the year in which a President and Vice-President are to be elected.

SEC. 5. The judges and clerks of all primary elections under this act shall be made up and selected and appointed in the same manner as for the general election held in November, and they shall take the same oath and the judges are hereby authorized to administer oaths as hereinafter provided. Vacancies shall be filled as provided for the judges and clerks of the general election, and their compensation shall be the same. The expenses of said primary election shall be paid one-half by the county in which the said primary election is held, and one-half by the State. The board of supervisors of each county shall audit the entire expense and certify the same to the executive council, which shall thereupon order a warrant for one-half the amount to be delivered to the county, which shall thereupon pay the entire amount.

SEC. 6. The Australian ballot system as now used in this State, except as hereinafter provided, shall be used at said primary election in all precincts. The voter shall in all cases mark the ballot in the square before the name of each person for whom he desires to vote. In cities where registration is required by law, the polls shall be open from 7:00 a. m. to 8:00 p. m., and in all other precincts from 1:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m. The elector voting at said primary election shall be allowed to vote for candidates for nomination on the ticket of only one political party, and that shall be the party with which he is registered as affiliated. The endorsement of the judges of election and the fac simile of the auditor's signature shall appear upon the ballots as provided by law for the ballots used for the November election. The voter shall return the ballot folded to one of the judges of election who shall deposit it in the ballot box. If any primary elector write upon his ticket the name of any person who is a candidate for the same office upon some other party ticket than that upon which his name shall be so written, such ballot shall be so counted for such person only as a candidate of the party upon whose ballot his name is written, and shall in no case be counted for such person as a candidate upon any other ticket. In case the person is nominated upon more than one ticket, he shall forthwith file with the proper officer a written declaration indicating the party designation under which his name is to be printed on the official ballot for the general election following such primary election.

SEC. 7. At the primary election to be held in June in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight any person shall be entitled to participate therein who is a qualified elector in such precinct at the time of said primary election, and when the voter seeks to pass the guardrail he shall indicate the party ballot he desires and one of the judges of the primary election board shall give him such primary ballot (unless challenged, and if so challenged, then only in the event that the challenge is determined in favor of the voter), and such person shall thereupon be allowed to vote. The voter's selection shall constitute his declaration of party affiliation and it shall be the duty of the primary election board to record his name and check his declaration of party affiliation on the poll books used by the clerks of the primary election board, and said list properly certified to by said primary election board shall be returned to the county auditor for preservation. Copies of the names and party entries on such list together with the changes of party affiliation as hereinafter provided, arranged alphabetically by surnames, shall be used at subsequent primaries for determining with what party the voter has been enrolled, and no voter enrolled under the provisions of this act shall be allowed to receive the ballot of any political party except that with which he is enrolled, but he may change his enrollment as hereinafter provided. The county auditor shall prepare for each voting precinct two of the above mentioned lists duly certified by him, and taken from the poll books of the last preceding primary election, which he shall deliver to the succeeding primary election boards in the year Nineteen Hundred Ten and biennially hereafter, at least one day prior to the day of the primary election, and which lists together with the poll books of the primary election shall be returned to the said auditor in good condition within twenty-four hours after the primary election, to be preserved by him.

SEC. 8. Any person who has thus declared his party affiliation shall thereafter be listed on the poll books as a member of that political party, and such person while a resident of the same voting precinct need not declare his party affiliation at succeeding primary elections unless he desires to change his party affiliation. Any elector, who, having declared his party affiliation, desires to change the same, may, not less than ten days prior to the date of any primary election, file a written declaration with the county auditor stating his change of party affiliation, and the auditor shall enter a record of such change on the poll books of the last preceding primary election in the proper column opposite the voter's name and on the voting list. Any elector whose party affiliation has for any reason not been registered or any elector who has changed his residence to another precinct, or a first voter or citizen of this state casting his first vote in this state shall be entitled to vote at any subsequent primary election in the same manner and upon the same terms as provided in Section Seven (7) of this act, and the clerks of the primary election shall record his party affiliation and the county auditor shall add his name to the alphabetical list for use in subsequent primary elections as provided for in Section Seven (7) of this act.

SEC. 9. Each political party shall be entitled to have two party challengers present at each polling place, to be appointed by the respective party committeemen. Any judge or clerk of the primary election or any party challenger may challenge any voter upon the grounds mentioned in Section Eleven Hundred Fifteen (1115) of the Code and such challenge shall be determined as there provided. Any elector whose party affiliation has been recorded as provided by this act and who desires to change his party affiliation on the primary election day, shall be subject to challenge. If the person challenged insists that he is entitled to vote the ticket of the political party to which he has transferred his political affiliation and the challenge is not withdrawn, one of the judges shall tender to him the following oath: "You do solemnly swear (or affirm) that you have in good faith changed your party affiliation to and desire to be a member of the _____ party." And if he take such oath he shall thereupon be given a ticket of such political party and the clerks of the primary election shall change his enrollment of party affiliation accordingly.

SEC. 10. No candidate for an elective county office shall have his name printed upon the official primary ballot of his party unless at least thirty days prior to the day fixed for holding the primary election a nomination paper shall have been filed in his behalf in the office of the county auditor; and no candidate for nomination for an elective state office, or for Representative in the Congress of the United States, or member of the General Assembly shall have his name printed upon the official primary ballot of his party unless at least forty days prior to such primary election a nomination paper shall have been filed in his behalf in the office of the Secretary of State; and no member of a political party desiring or intending to be a candidate for the office of Senator in the Congress of the United States, or a candidate for the office of elector of the President and Vice-President of the United States, shall have his name printed upon the official primary ballot of his party in any election precinct unless at least forty days prior to such primary election a nomination paper shall have been filed in his behalf in the office of the Secretary of State. A candidate for an office to be filled by the voters of any sub-division of a county shall not be required to file any nomination paper or papers. All nomination papers shall be in substantially the following form:

"I, the undersigned, a qualified elector of ..... County, and State of Iowa, and a member of the ..... party, hereby nominate ..... of ..... County, State of Iowa, who has affiliated with and is a member of the ..... party, as a candidate for the office of ..... to be voted for at the primary election to be held in June, 19....," and shall consist of sheets of uniform size about 8½ by 12 inches. No signatures shall be counted unless they are on sheets each having such form written or printed at the top thereof. Each signer of a nomination paper shall sign but one such nomination paper for the same office, except where more than one officer to be elected to the same office, in which case he may sign as many nomination papers as there are officers to be elected, and only one candidate shall be petitioned for or nominated in the same nomination paper. Each signer of a nomination paper shall add his residence with street and number, if any, and the date of signing. For all nominations, all signers of each separate part of a nomination paper shall reside in the same county. When more than one sheet is used for any nomination paper, the sheets shall be laid one upon the other and neatly, evenly, and securely fastened together before filing, and shall be considered as one nomination paper only. A nomination paper, when filed, shall not be withdrawn nor added to, nor any signature thereon revoked.

The affidavit of a qualified elector shall be appended to each such nomination paper, or papers, if more than one for any candidate, stating that he is personally acquainted with all the persons who have signed the name; that he knows them to be electors of that county and believes them to be affiliated with the party named therein; that he knows that they signed the same with full knowledge of the contents thereof; that their respective residences are truly stated therein; and that each signer signed the same on the date stated opposite his name.

but such affidavit shall not be made by the candidate. Each and every candidate shall make and file his affidavit stating that he is eligible to the office for the township, county, district or state in which he is and will be a bona fide candidate for nomination for said office, and shall file such affidavit with the said nomination paper or papers, when such paper or papers are required. If no such paper or papers are required, then he shall file such affidavit alone, with the county auditor, at least thirty days prior to such primary election, and the filing of such affidavit shall entitle such candidate to have his name printed on the official primary ballot of his party. Such affidavit shall be in form and substance as follows:

I, ....., being duly sworn, say that I reside at ..... street, ..... (city or town), ..... It shall be the duty of the clerks of the primary election when entering the name of a voter to place in the poll books a cross thus (X) in the column designating the party ticket which was given to said voter upon his application for a ticket.

SEC. 17. Upon the closing of the polls the clerks and judges shall immediately open the ballot box and proceed to take therefrom the ballots. Said officers shall count the number of ballots cast for each party, at the same time bunching the tickets cast for each party, in separate piles. As soon as the clerks and judges shall have sorted the ballots of each party, separately, they shall take the tally sheets provided in the poll books and shall count all the ballots for each party separately until the count is completed, and shall certify to the number of votes cast for each candidate for each office upon the ticket of each party. After all have been counted and certified to by the clerks and judges, they shall seal the ballots cast by each of the parties in separate envelopes, on the outside of which shall be printed or written the names of that party's candidates for the different offices, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and then seal the envelopes containing the votes of the different political parties, in one large envelope, on the outside of which, or on a paper attached thereto, shall be printed or written, in perpendicular columns, the names of the several political parties with the names of the candidates for the different offices under their respective party headings, and opposite each candidate's name shall be placed the number of votes cast for such candidate in said precinct, and at the bottom the total vote cast by each political party in said precinct, and such envelopes shall be returned to the county auditor, who shall carefully preserve the same in said condition and deliver them to the county board of canvassers. But any elector of the county shall have the right, before the day fixed for canvassing the returns, to ascertain the vote cast for any candidate in any precinct in the county, as shown on the outside of the large envelope.

Said judges of election shall deliver the returns so made, together with the poll books, including tally sheets and certificates of the judges and clerks written thereon, to the county auditor within twenty-four hours after the primary election has closed; and if the returns from any precinct be not so delivered within the said time, the county auditor shall forthwith send a messenger for any such missing returns, and said messenger shall be paid, as provided by law, for the general election.

SEC. 18. Any candidate, whose name appears upon the official primary ballot of any voting precinct, may require the board of supervisors of the county in which such precinct is situated to recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, at the time fixed for canvassing the returns of the judges of election, by filing with the county auditor not later than the day before such meeting, a showing, duly sworn to by any such candidate, that fraud was committed, or error or mistake was made, in counting or returning the votes cast in any such precinct. The showing must be specific and from it there must appear reasonable ground to believe that a recount of the ballots would produce a result different from the returns made by the judges. If such showing is made to the satisfaction of the board, thereupon the board shall recount the ballots cast in any such precinct, as to all candidates, including persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman, and make up a new return which in all subsequent proceedings shall be substituted for the returns of the judges of election for the precinct. The action of the board shall be final and no other contest of any kind shall be permitted. If a recount of the ballots of any precinct produces a result different from the returns of the judges with respect to delegates or party committeeman, the county auditor shall make or correct his certified list thereof to the chairman of the respective party central committees for the county accordingly. The term "candidate" as used in this section shall include and apply to persons voted for for delegates and party committeeman.

SEC. 19. On Tuesday next following the primary election in June, the board of supervisors shall meet, open and canvass the returns from each voting precinct in the county, and make abstracts thereof, stating in words written at length the number of ballots cast in the county by each political party, separately, for each office, the name of each person voted for and the number of votes given to each person for each different office and shall sign and certify thereto and file the same with the county auditor.

Such canvass and certificate shall be final as to all candidates for nomination to any elective county office or office of subdivision of a county; and the candidate or candidates of each political party for each office having received the highest number of votes, provided he received not less than thirty-five per centum of all the votes cast by the party for such office, and the candidate of each political party for an office of any subdivision of a county receiving the highest number of votes shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office and entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted at the general election without other certificate, and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the county a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents; and shall also prepare, certify and deliver to such chairman a list of the offices for which no candidate of his party was nominated, together with the names of the several candidates for each of such offices voted for at the primary election and the number of votes received by each of such candidates.

SEC. 20. The county board of canvassers shall also make a separate abstract of the canvass as to the following offices and certify to the same and forthwith forward it to the Secretary of State, viz.:

United States Senator.

Electors of the President and Vice-President of the United States.

All state offices, except Judges of the Supreme, District and Superior Courts.

Representative in Congress.

Senators and Representatives in the General Assembly.

SEC. 21. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original returns to the auditor, who shall file the same and record each of the abstracts above mentioned in the election book.

SEC. 22. On the third Monday after the June primary election, the executive council shall meet as a canvassing board, and open and canvass the abstract returns received from each county in the state. If returns are not received from all the counties, the Secretary of State shall immediately send a messenger after the abstract returns and the board may adjourn from day to day until they are received.

The board shall make an abstract of its canvass, stating in words written at length, the number of ballots cast by each political party, separately, for each office designated in Section Twenty (20) hereof, the names of all the persons voted for, and the number of votes received by each person for each office, and shall sign and certify thereto. Such canvass and certificate shall be final as to all candidates named therein; and the candidate of each political party for each office to be filled by vote of the people having received the highest number of votes in the state or district of the state, as the case may be, provided he received not less than thirty-five per centum of all the votes cast by the party for such office, shall be duly and legally nominated as the candidate of his party for such office and entitled to have his name printed on the official ballot to be voted at the general election without other certificate; and the board shall prepare and certify a list of the candidates of each party so nominated, separately, and deliver to the chairman of each party central committee for the state a copy of the list of candidates nominated by the party he represents; and shall also prepare, certify and deliver to such chairman a list of the offices for which no candidate of his party was nominated, together with the names of the several candidates for each of such offices voted for at the primary election and the number of votes received by each of such candidates.

SEC. 23. When the canvass is concluded, the board shall deliver the original abstract returns to the Secretary of State, who shall file the same in his office and record the abstracts of the canvass of the state board and certificates attached thereto in the book kept by him known as the election book; and not less than fifteen days before the general election he shall certify to the auditor of each county, under separate party headings, the name of each person nominated as shown by the official canvass made by the executive council, his place of residence, the office to which he is nominated, and the order in which the tickets of the several political parties shall appear on the official ballot. Should a vacancy in the nominations occur and be filled after such certificate has been forwarded, a like certificate shall at once be made and sent to the proper officer together with a statement showing the reason for its subsequent issue.

SEC. 24. In case of a tie vote resulting in no nomination for any office, or election of delegates or party committeeman, the tie shall forthwith be determined by lot by the board of canvassers, or judges of election, as the case may be. Vacancies occurring after the holding of any primary election occasioned by death, withdrawal or change of residence of any candidate, or from any other cause, shall be filled by the party committee for the county, district, or state, as the case may be, representing the party in which the vacancy nomination occurs.

SEC. 25. In each county there shall be held in each year in which a general election in November is to take place a county convention of each political party. Said county convention shall be composed of delegates elected at the last preceding primary election, and shall be held on the second Saturday following the primary election, convening at 2:00 o'clock p. m. The number of delegates from each voting precinct shall be determined by a ratio adopted by the respective party county central committees, and shall be thus determined and a statement designating the number from each voting precinct in the county filed in the office of the county auditor at least thirty days before the primary election; if not so done, the auditor shall fix the number. The requisite number of names of candidates of his choice for delegates to the county convention to which each precinct is entitled shall be written, or pasted with uniform white pasters, on the blank lines upon the ballot by the voter while in the booth, or by some one designated by a voter unable to write, after the ballots are received and before they are deposited, and the requisite number of persons from each precinct who receive the highest number of votes shall be the delegates from the precinct to the county convention. One member of the county central committee for each political party from each precinct shall be elected in the same manner in which delegates are selected. His term of office shall begin on the day of the county convention and immediately following the adjournment thereof and shall continue for two years and until his successor is elected and qualified, unless such committeeman shall be removed by the county central committee for inattention to the duties of his position, incompetency or failure to support the ticket nominated by the party which elected him to such position. Returns shall be made by the judges of election respecting delegates and members of the county central committee in the same manner as for other offices, except that the judges of election shall canvass the returns as to delegates and members of the county central committee, and certify the result to the auditor with the returns. The auditor shall, immediately after such returns are filed, notify the delegates and members of the county central committee who have thus been elected, of their election, and of the time and place of holding the county convention, and shall on the second Thursday following the primary election, deliver a certified list thereof to the chairmen of the respective party central committees for the county. When the delegates, or a majority thereof, thus elected shall have assembled in the county convention at the time herein prescribed and at the county seat the convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the county central committee, who shall present the certified list of delegates and members of the county central committee. If any precinct shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such precinct shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. The said county convention shall make nomination of candidates for the party for any county office where no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the votes provided for in Section Nineteen (19) hereof and shall select delegates to the next ensuing state and district conventions of that year, upon such ratio of representation as may be determined by the party organization for the state, district or districts, as the case may be, but no delegates shall be so selected to any of the district conventions referred to in Section Twenty-six (26) of this act, except judicial conventions, unless a call therefor has been issued and published as there provided. The said county convention shall also elect a member of the party central committee for the senatorial, judicial, and congressional districts composed of more than one county.

Sec. 26. In any senatorial, judicial, or congressional district composed of more than one county, in any year in which a Senator in the General Assembly, a Judge of the District Court, or a Representative in the Congress of the United States, is to be elected, a senatorial or congressional convention may be held, and a judicial convention shall be held by each political party participating in the primary election of that year. Not less than ten days and not more than sixty days before the day fixed for holding the county convention a call for such senatorial, judicial and congressional convention to be held shall be issued by the party central committee for any such district and published in at least one newspaper of general circulation of each county composing any such district and which call shall state among other things the number of delegates each county of the district shall be entitled to and the time and place of holding the convention. Any such call shall be signed by the chairman of the party central committee for any such district, and be filed by him with the county auditor not less than five days before the county convention and the county auditor shall attach a true copy thereof to the certified list of delegates required to be delivered by him to the chairmen of the respective party county central committees.

No such district convention shall be held earlier than the first Thursday or later than the fifth Thursday following the county convention.

The convention when organized shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any such district office when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the votes provided for in Section Twenty-two (22) hereof.

The organization of and procedure in any such district convention shall be the same as in the state convention. Such district conventions may adopt party platforms and transact such other business as may properly be brought before them.

Sec. 27. A state convention of each political party composed of delegates chosen in the manner herein provided, shall be held not earlier than the third Thursday and not later than the fifth Thursday following the primary election in the year Nineteen Hundred Eight, and biennially thereafter, convening at such time and place as may be determined upon by the party organization. The convention shall be called to order by the chairman of the state central committee, who shall thereupon present the list of delegates, as certified by the various county conventions, and effect a temporary organization. If any county shall not be fully represented, the delegates present from such county shall cast the full vote thereof, but there shall be no proxies. Such convention when permanently organized shall formulate and adopt the state platform of the party it represents, and shall make nominations of candidates for the party for any state office when no candidate for such office has been nominated at the preceding primary election as shown by the canvass of the votes provided for in Section Twenty-two (22) hereof.

It shall also elect a state central committee consisting of not less than one member from each congressional district and transact such other business as may properly be brought before it. The state central committee elected at said state convention may organize at pleasure for political work as is usual and customary with such committees and shall continue to act until succeeded by another committee duly elected.

SEC. 28. The regularly organized political committees of each party as at present or hereafter constituted may continue to act until supplanted by the committees elected under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 29. Nothing contained in this act shall be construed so as to prohibit nomination of candidates for office by petition as now authorized by law; but no person so nominated shall be permitted to use the name of any political party authorized or entitled under this act to nominate a ticket by primary vote or that has nominated a ticket by primary vote under the provisions of this act.

SEC. 30. This act shall not apply to special elections to fill vacancies.

SEC. 31. Any party committeeman or any primary election or other public officer upon whom a duty is imposed by this act or by acts herein made applicable to primary elections, who shall willfully neglect to perform any such duty, or who shall willfully perform it in such a way as to hinder the objects thereof, or shall disclose to anyone, except as may be ordered by any court of justice, the contents of any ballot or any part thereof, as to the manner in which the same may have been voted, shall be punished by a fine not less than one hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary not to exceed five years, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

SEC. 32. Any person who shall agree to perform any services in the interest of any candidate in consideration of any money or other valuable thing, or who shall accept any money or other valuable thing for such services performed in the interest of any candidate, or any person paying or offering to pay or giving or offering to give money or other valuable things for such services, shall be punished by a fine of not more than three hundred dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding ninety days. But nothing herein shall be construed to prohibit any person from making contracts in good faith for the announcement of his candidacy in the newspapers and for securing the names of voters required to file preliminary nomination papers and the payment of any reasonable compensation for such services.

SEC. 33. Any person offering or giving a bribe, either in money or other consideration, to any elector for the purpose of influencing his vote at any primary election, or any elector entitled to vote at such primary election receiving and accepting such bribe; any person making false answer to any of the provisions of this act relative to his qualifications and party affiliation; any person wilfully voting or offering to vote at a primary election who has not been a resident of this state for six months next preceding said primary election; or who, at the primary election is not twenty-one years of age, or is not a citizen of the United States; or knowing himself not to be a qualified elector of such precinct where he offers to vote; or any person violating any of the provisions of this act, or of any provisions of the code as may be hereto applied, and any person knowingly procuring, aiding or abetting such violation, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and, upon conviction, shall be fined not less than one hundred dollars nor more than five hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not less than thirty days nor more than six months.

SEC. 34. Chapter Forty (40) of the laws of the Thirtieth General Assembly, relating to primary elections; and Chapters forty-five (45) and forty-six (46) of the laws of the Thirty-first General Assembly, relating to primary elections, are hereby repealed.

SEC. 35. The provisions of this act shall, so far as applicable, govern the nominations of candidates by political parties for all offices to be filled by a direct vote of the people in cities of the first class.

The duties devolving upon the county auditor, by the foregoing provisions of this act, shall, in municipal elections, devolve upon the city auditor, and the duties devolving upon the board of supervisors by the foregoing provisions of this act, devolve upon the city council, which shall meet to perform said duties within two days next following the primary election. The date of the municipal primary election shall be the last Monday in February of each year in which a municipal election is held in said cities, after the year 1907, and the percentage of voters signing petitions required for printing the name of a candidate upon the official primary ballot shall be the same as is required of a candidate for a county office and shall be based upon the vote cast for mayor by the respective parties in the preceding city election.

The names of candidates for ward aldermen, for city precinct committeemen and for delegates to the city convention, shall not be printed upon the official primary ballot but in each case a blank line or lines shall be provided therefor. A plurality shall nominate the party candidate for aldermen and a plurality shall elect the precinct committeemen and delegates to the city convention.
