If said order is not rejected, the State Fire Marshal shall at once give written notice of such fact. Any owner or occupant of any building or premises failing to comply with the order of the authorities above specified shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars ($10.00) nor more than fifty dollars ($50.00) for each day's neglect. Said State Fire Marshal, with the consent of the Executive Council, may employ additional deputies, clerks, and assistants and incur such other expense as may be necessary in the performance of the duties of the office, not to exceed, including salaries, such sum as may be appropriated in the manner hereinafter provided. The compensation of all persons so employed shall be fixed by the Executive Council.

Hackler of Webster, Chairman of the Teter-Crozier Contest Committee, offered the following report :

LORENZO D. TETER,	}	REPORT OF COMMITTEE.
Contestant, vs.
GEORGE W. CROZIER,
Incumbent.

MR. SPEAKER—Your special committee appointed to hear and consider the contested election case from the 26th Representative District in which Lorenzo D. Teter was contestant and George W. Crozier incumbent, begs leave to submit the following report:

Your committee met on the 26th day of January, 1909, at which time the contestant appeared in person and by his attorney, Howard Clark, and the incumbent appeared in person and by his attorney, W. L. Read. The committee met again on the 10th day of February, at which time the motion of the incumbent to dismiss the contest on the ground, among others, that proper notice had not been served upon the incumbent, was submitted after argument and the same was overruled.

On the 11th day of February, 1909, your committee again met and proceeded to a recount of the ballots cast at the November, 1908, election for the contestant and incumbent. By agreement of all parties the contestant and incumbent each selected a representative to represent him on the recount of the ballots, such recount to be had in the presence of one or more members of your committee. Pursuant to this agreement John C. DeMar was selected to represent the incumbent and Lorenzo D. Teter acted for himself. It was further agreed that these representatives should recount all ballots cast for the contestant and the incumbent upon which they could agree, and that the ballots upon which they could not agree should be submitted to the decision of the whole committee. In accordance with this arrangement the ballots conceded to have been cast for Lorenzo D. Teter were 2,497 and the ballots conceded to have been cast for George W. Crozier 2,487. There were 145 ballots upon which the representatives of the respective parties could not agree and the same were submitted to your committee. After the recount of the ballots as hereinbefore described your committee met upon the 16th day of February, 1909, and took under consideration the 145 ballots upon which the representatives of the respective parties could not agree, and of said number your committee rejected 21 ballots as not having been so marked that they should be counted for either party.

Of the remaining 124 ballots your committee determined that 42 had been cast and should be counted for the contestant and 82 were cast and should be counted for the incumbent, thus making the total vote cast for the contestant 2,539 and the total vote cast for the incumbent 2,569, thus giving to the incumbent a majority of 30.

Testimony was introduced on behalf of the contestant tending to show that four votes were cast by parties who were not qualified to vote, but since the rejection of said ballots could not affect the result, your committee has found it unnecessary to determine the question as to whether or not the parties casting said votes were qualified voters.

In accordance with the facts as hereinbefore detailed your committee recommends that this honorable body adopt this report and declare George W. Crozier duly elected to the membership of this body from the 26th Representative District.

Respectfully submitted,

C. W. HACKLER,
CHAS. L. MARSTON,
G. H. SCHULTE,
GEO. C. WHITE,
W. D. DODDS,

Committee.

EXPLANATIONS OF VOTES.

MR. SPEAKER—I consider House File No. 90 a fair and just measure, but on account of Rule 16 I refrain from voting. This bill, if enacted into law, will mean a saving to me of several hundred dollars annually.

T. O. HANSON.

MR. SPEAKER—I desire to explain my vote on House File No. 90. The bill, if it becomes a law, will prevent banks from deducting from their capital such amount thereof as may be invested in United States bonds, which was given as the object of the bill. But the bill in the form it passed the House permits the deduction of debts from shares of stocks in all such corporations by the holders thereof. This changes the law as it has stood in this state for many years and to prevent this change I offered my amendment. But I am in favor of preventing the deduction of government bonds and therefore vote "aye."

N. J. LEE.

Chairman.

Adopted.

Koontz of Johnson presented the following report of the State Fish and Game Warden:

To the Speaker of the House of the Thirty-third General Assembly:

Pursuant to the instructions in concurrent resolution number nine of the Thirty-second General Assembly, I herein make report as directed.

I have examined and am familiar with the conditions of the public lakes of the State used for boating and fishing and find that in all of them the conditions are such, owing to the filling in of sand in the channels and the growth of weeds in these lakes, that to preserve them for the use of the public, it will be necessary to dredge out the sand and in some manner prevent the growth of weeds, or at least to destroy them before they mature. I find that the dredging and deepening of the channels can be done with a sand pump, engine and the necessary boats and barges for its operation, and such outfit can be so constructed that it can be transported by rail to the several lakes where needed and will cost in round numbers about thirty-five hundred dollars ($3,500.00). As to the weeds, I can get no authority for their destruction that I can make any estimate of cost, but in my opinion they can be removed by being dragged out at cost of the labor and the hire of the launches to do the work.

While I am not directed in the resolution so to do, I desire at this time and in connection with this subject to call the attention of the members of the Thirty-third General Assembly to the great necessity of legislating in such a manner that all the public lakes of Iowa will be preserved for the future. Many have been drained and but few are left. They are the breathing spots and health resorts of a great many of our people. They are our fishing lakes and breeding places for our wild ducks. They beautify the State, especially the section where they are located. They should be meandered, shore lines definitely stated, dams and dykes built wherever necessary to maintain the water to its proper depth and the sale and drainage of any of the lakes should be prohibited.

Let us protect, preserve and improve and care for them to the best of our ability.

GEO. A. LINCOLN,
Fish and Game Warden.

Cunningham of Buena Vista, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the advisability of redistricting the State of Iowa into judicial districts, submitted the following report:

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly:

Your committee appointed by resolution of March 17 to investigate and report as to the advisability of redistricting the State of Iowa into judicial districts beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration and find that the judicial districts as now constituted vary in a remarkable degree as to the number of days of court now being held in each of said districts. It appears from the report at hand that the maximum number of days' court held in any one district during the year 1908 was three hundred seven (307), and the minimum to be one hundred ten (110) days; that the average for the state for the year 1908 was one hundred seventy-four (174) days for each judge of the district court.

We further find that the average number of days' court held in each district was as follows:

District No. 1,	276 days,	1 judge
District No. 2,	194 days,	4 judges
District No. 3,	156 days,	2 judges
District No. 4,	173 days,	4 judges
District No. 5,	110 days,	3 judges
District No. 6,	150 days,	3 judges
District No. 7,	169 days,	4 judges
District No. 8,	288 days,	1 judge
District No. 9,	307 days,	4 judges	(Polk)
District No. 10,	157 days,	2 judges
District No. 11,	155 days,	3 judges
District No. 12,	145 days,	3 judges
District No. 13,	137 days,	2 judges
District No. 14,	150 days,	2 judges
District No. 15,	180 days,	4 judges
District No. 16,	170 days,	2 judges
District No. 17,	137 days,	2 judges
District No. 18,	183 days,	3 judges
District No. 19,	200 days,	2 judges
District No. 20,	185 days,	2 judges

Your committee is of further opinion that the judicial districts as now constituted are excessive in number; that the number of the days of court work could, in many cases, be increased in the different districts without materially affecting the efficiency of said courts, or the working of any undue hardship upon any particular judge.

Your committee would recommend the redistricting of the State of Iowa into judicial districts with the view of reducing the number of districts which, we believe, could be reduced to fifteen in number and the number of judges reduced from fifty-three to forty-three in the state, thereby placing the judicial districts of Iowa on a fair and equitable working basis and as a matter of economy to the taxpayers, all of which is respectfully submitted for your further consideration.

EDWARD H. CUNNINGHAM,
E. J. FULTON,
CURRAN F. SWIFT,
JOSEPH MATTES,
JOHN FOLEY,

Committee.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to investigate charges of alleged extravagance and irregularity in connection with the building of residences for the presidents of the State University and the State Normal School, beg leave to report as follows:

That we commend the appropriation committee of the House for calling attention to these matters and fully endorse their disposition to safeguard the expenditure of public moneys and to protect the same from any sort of unwarranted use.

That we find, respecting the Cedar Falls residence, that the sum of $16,000 was appropriated for this purpose by resolution of the board of trustees, from the old millage fund, which was not under the control of the General Assembly; that there was some irregularity in the mixing of the old and new millage funds; but that we offer no specific criticism regarding this matter for the reason that the board acted within its legal rights.

That we find, respecting the Iowa City residence, that the same was built at a cost of $25,000, that the board of regents, in their October, 1906, report, submitted a proposition for a $15,000 residence to the Thirty-second General Assembly and expressed their willingness to be bound by the wishes of the Legislature in the matter; that later they withdrew this proposition and no legislative consent was given; that they did not have available in the old millage funds sufficient money to erect said residence, and were obliged to draw largely for this purpose from the new millage funds, which they had no legal right to expend without legislative authority, and that their action in so doing was unwarranted.

That in view of all these facts we further justify the appropriations committee in their action and in the submission of the resolution under consideration; but we are of the opinion that the adoption of this report is a sufficient disclaimer of all responsibility regarding these matters on the part of the House of Representatives and we therefore recommend that this report be made a matter of record and be substituted for the resolution and for all other action on the part of the House.

T. A. O'CONNOR,
GEO. SCHEE,
PAUL E. STILLMAN,
GEO. KELLOGG,
C. W. HACKLER.

Adopted.

"All fumigations and disinfections for the protection of the public health shall be done in accordance with the regulations of the State Board of Health and under the direction of the local board, which shall direct the attending physician to superintend or perform the work. In case there be no attending physician or in case the attending physician refuses to perform this duty, then it shall be the duty of the local board of health to provide some other suitable person to perform such work." So that when amended the bill will read as follows:

A Bill for an act to repeal Section Twenty-five Hundred and Seventy-a (2570-a), Twenty-five Hundred Seventy-a-1 (2570-a-1), Twenty-five Hundred and Seventy-b (2570-b), and Twenty-five Hundred and Seventy-one (2571) of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, relating to the care of persons affected with contagious diseases, the payment of quarantine expenses and the publishing and distribution of regulations of local boards of health.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. That the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred and seventy-a (2570-a), twenty-five hundred and seventy-a-1 (2570-a-1), and twenty-five hundred and seventy-b (2570-b) and twenty-five hundred and seventy-one (2571) of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, are hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"When any person shall be sick or infected with any contagious or infectious disease, dangerous to the public health, whether a resident or otherwise, the local board of health through the mayor or township clerk, shall make such provisions as are best calculated to protect the inhabitants therefrom, and may remove such person to a separate house, a house of detention or hospital, but quarantine shall not be established or maintained or fumigation required except in cases of scarlet fever (including scarlet rash and scarlatina), small-pox, diphtheria (including membranous croup), cholera, leprosy, cerebro-spinal meningitis and bubonic plague. In case any person or persons liable for the support of such person under quarantine or restrained under and by virtue of this act, shall be financially unable to secure the proper care, provisions or medical attendance, it shall be the duty of the mayor or township clerk to procure for such person, proper care, provisions, supplies and medical attendance, while so quarantined or restrained. All bills for supplies furnished and services rendered by order of the mayor or township clerk as herein provided, for persons removed to a separate house, or house of detention, or hospital, or for persons financially unable to provide for their sustenance and care, shall be allowed and paid for, only on a basis of the local market price for such provisions, services and supplies in the locality in which such services and supplies may have been furnished. All services and supplies furnished to individuals or families under the provisions of this section must be authorized by the local board of health or by the mayor or township clerk acting under standing regulations of such local board, and a written order therefor designating the person or persons, employed to furnish such services or supplies, issued before said services or supplies were actually furnished, shall be attached to the bill when the same is presented for audit and payment. No bill for any expenses incurred for any person during quarantine or for disinfecting premises, or effects shall be allowed or paid except in cases removed to a separate house, or house of detention unless it shall be found that such person is financially unable to pay said bill.

Provided that nothing contained in this section shall be construed to prevent any person removed to a separate house or house of detention or hospital as herein provided, from employing, at his own expense the physician or nurse of his choice, nor from providing such supplies and commodities as he may require. It is further provided that if the person receiving services or supplies be not a legal resident of the county in which such bills were incurred and paid, the amount so paid shall be certified to the board of supervisors of the county in which said party claims residency or owns property and the board of supervisors of such county shall reimburse the county from which such claim is certified, in the full amount originally paid by it.

All fumigations and disinfections, for the protection of the public health, shall be done in accordance with the regulations of the State Board of Health and under the directions of the local board which shall direct the attending physician to superintend or perform the work. In case there be no attending physician or in case the attending physician refuses to perform this duty, then it shall be the duty of the local board of health to provide some other suitable person to perform such work.

All bills and expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of this section and establishing, maintaining and raising quarantine and furnishing the necessary detention hospital shall be filed with the clerk of the local board of health. This board at its next regular meeting or special meeting called for the purpose shall examine and audit the same and if found correct, approve and certify the same to the county board of supervisors for payment. If the board of supervisors determine such bills payable, under the provisions of this act, it shall order the county auditor to draw warrant therefor upon the poor fund of said county. The board of supervisors shall not be bound by the action of the local board of health in approving such bill but may increase or diminish the same as may be just and reasonable. The forcible removal of infected persons as herein provided shall be effected by an application made to any civil magistrate in the manner provided in section twenty-five hundred and sixty-nine (2569) of the Code, for the removal and abatement of nuisances, who shall issue the warrant as directed in such cases, to remove such person or persons to the place designated by the local board of health and to take possession of a condemned or infected house, lodging room, premises or effects. The officers designated by such magistrate shall be entitled to receive for such services such reasonable compensation as shall be determined by the local board of health. The amount so determined to be certified to and paid in the same manner as other expenses incurred under the provisions of this section."

Sec. 2. Local boards of health shall meet for the transaction of business on the first Monday of April and November in each year and at such other times as it may be deemed necessary. Local boards of health shall furnish to the State Board of Health reports of their proceedings at such times and in such form as may be reasonably required by the State Board of Health. They shall give notice of all regulations adopted by publication thereof in some newspaper of general circulation in the town, city or township, or by posting a copy thereof in five public places therein. The secretary of the State Board of Health immediately after the adoption of any rules and regulations of said board, in accordance with section one of this act, shall forward a certified copy of such rules to the county auditor of each county. Whenever such rules may be amended or changed, similar notice shall be forwarded to each county auditor.

The State Board of Health shall cause to be printed such number of copies of the rules and regulations by it adopted as may be necessary to supply the needs of the several counties of the state and upon application forward the required number to the county auditor of the state for distribution to the several boards of health within the county.

The clerk of such local board of health shall upon request furnish a copy of said rules to any resident, physician or citizen. It shall be the duty of the official when establishing quarantine, to furnish to the person or persons quarantined a copy of the rules and regulations covering such quarantine.

Sec. 3. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Register and Leader and Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Polk County, Iowa.

Your committee respectfully recommends that when so amended the House concur in the Senate amendment as amended by your conference committee and that the Senate adopt the amendments proposed by this committee.

Conference Committee on the Part of the House.

Mr. Speaker—Your Conference Committee to whom was referred House File No. 208, a bill for an act to repeal sections twenty-five hundred sixty-five (2565), twenty-five hundred sixty-eight (2568) of the Code, and sections twenty-five hundred seventy-a (2570-a), twenty-five hundred seventy-a-1 (2570-a-1), twenty-five hundred seventy-b (2570-b), twenty-five hundred seventy-one (2571) and twenty-five hundred seventy-two (2572) of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, relating to the jurisdiction, powers, rules, regulations and expenses of the State Board of Health and of local boards of health, and to enact substitutes therefor, after full and free conference on all matters upon which no agreement was reached by the House or Senate, have agreed that the Senate substitute when amended in accordance with the above report should be adopted by this House.

The original House File No. 208 contained provisions for a radical change in the manner of adopting rules and regulations covering quarantine cases, and after careful deliberation and full consideration of the matter, your committee has arrived at the conclusion that it should recede from its position in the bill in taking away from the State Board of Health the authority to make and promulgate rules and regulations, for the reason that rules adopted in each county might cause confusion, and that uniformity of rules which is, in fact, law throughout the state, is desirable.

Your committee has insisted on striking out a portion of Senate substitute as amended, which would place undefined and unqualified power in the hands of the State Board of Health, and have insisted that the diseases for which quarantine should be established or fumigation for House File No. 208, as amended by this committee.

Your committee also has insisted that all fumigations and disinfections should be performed under the direction of the attending physician, properly safe-guarded by the rules of the State Board and under the authority and jurisdiction of the local boards of health.

Section two (2) of the amended substitute adopted by the Senate covers the matter of publication and has been drawn to harmonize with the procedure which is provided for in Section One (1).

Your committee concluded, in view of the fact that all of the essential matters contained in House File No. 208 have been satisfactorily covered and in view of the foregoing statements, we recommend that the House adopt the report of the Conference Committee, the amendments offered by this committee and then concur in the amended substitute for House File No. 208, as amend by this committee.

K. J. JOHNSON,
E. B. FULLIAM,
GEO. W. SCHEE,

Conference Committee on the Part of the House.

The Speaker announced that as Speaker of the House, in the presence of the House, he had signed House File Nos. 473, 158, 300, 357, 365 and 445.

The following communication was received from the Governor:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN—In view of the fact that the Attorney General has recently rendered me an opinion with regard to the power of removal of certain officers, members of boards and commissions, in which he has held there is no provision of law or the constitution for removal of a considerable number of such officers and members, I deem it my official duty to call your attention to the fact in order that you may be fully advised as to what the situation really is when based upon the opinion referred to.

I beg to quote from the opinion as follows: "Summarized, the Governor has the power to remove oil inspectors, the custodians of public buildings and property, notaries public, commissioners in other states, the commissioner of labor statistics, mine inspectors, inspectors of passenger boats, dairy commissioner, state veterinary surgeon, members of the board of health, members of the board of control, and the superintendent of weights and measures.

As to the following officers no provision has been made by the legislature for removal: members of the board of curators of the state historical society, members of the board of educational examiners, the directors of the weather and crop service, the board of dental examiners, members of the board of parole, and the members of the library commission."

I beg also to quote from the conclusions reached by the Attorney General as follows: "Keeping in mind the provision of our constitution and statutes covering the powers and duties of the Governor and other state officers and boards the decision establishes the following rules: First, the term "other state officer" as used in Section 20, Article 3, of the constitution, who may be removed by impeachment proceedings refers only to state officers named or provided for in the constitution and does not cover incumbents of state offices which have been created by statute.

Second. That neither the Governor nor any other state officer or board may remove an official filling an office, the term of which is fixed by law, unless the authority to do so is expressly given either in the constitution or the statute.

Third. The power of the Governor, state officer or board to appoint, no definite term of service being fixed, carries with it the power to remove in all cases where service to be performed pertains to or has to do with the business or government of the state."

It will therefore be seen that there appears to be ample provision, either by impeachment or conferred by statute, for the removal of all elective and appointive state officers other than as above recited. I believe you will agree with me that there is no reason why any exception should be made of the officers and commissions for which no provision is made for removal. It must be granted, I think, that the absence of a statutory provision with reference thereto is due to an oversight by the Legislature rather than any intention.

It can hardly be imagined that the legislature had in mind making any exception with regard to said officials. It would seem that under the opinion of the Attorney General it would be impossible to remove any of the said officials from office for any offense, however serious it might be, or for gross neglect of the duties of the office unless such offense or neglect were such as to furnish the grounds for action by a grand jury.

I believe that the interests of good government and of proper service to the state and of due regard for the welfare of the state demand that some legislation be enacted by you at this session making some provision whereby, when just cause exists for the same, power to remove should be lodged with some official or officials.

I wish also to reiterate in substance the statements made in my inaugural address with regard to the abuse of the per diem system and to express to you my sincere hope that even though it be late in the session of this legislature that something may be done to correct the abuses that are known to exist in connection with the per diem system.

B. F. CAREOLI,
Governor.

Done this 31st day of March, 1909.

On motion of Harding of Woodbury the House adjourned until 1:30 P. M.

Hackler of Webster, of the Code Supplement Supervising Committee submitted the following report:

To the Thirty-third General Assembly:

MR. PRESIDENT AND MR. SPEAKER—The undersigned, as a Code Supplement Supervising Committee, appointed under and in accordance with an act passed by the Thirty-second General Assembly to provide for the compilation of the laws of the Thirtieth (30th), Thirty-first (31st) and Thirty-second (32nd) General Assemblies, and the laws as they appear in the Code Supplement, to annotate the same and the Code and rules of the supreme court to and including the May term 1907; and to index and publish the said compilation and annotations as a "Supplement to the Code, 1907," submit the following report to the Thirty-third General Assembly, recognizing that there is nothing in the law requiring such report, but believing it proper so to do in order that the records of the General Assembly which authorized the committee should contain the record of its action. Under the direction of said committee the compilation, annotation, indexing and publication of the "Supplement to the Code, 1907" has been completed in compliance with the requirements of the act of the Thirty-second General Assembly authorizing and directing the same.

The "Supplement to the Code, 1907" contains all laws of a general and permanent nature passed by the Thirtieth (30th), Thirty-first (31st) and Thirty-second (32nd) General Assemblies and the laws as they appear in the Supplement to the Code as authorized by the Code and the Twenty-ninth (29th) General Assembly.

An edition of twelve thousand (12,000) volumes has been published in manner and style and delivered as required by law. New annotations for the volume were procured by the committee from Justice Emlin McClain of the supreme court; an index has been prepared covering both the Supplement to the Code, 1907, and the Code of 1897. The rules of the supreme court and the statutes relating thereto have been added, and a separate index which the committee believed would be of great service was made; also a table given showing where all general legalizing acts relating to conveyances may be found, the time of taking effect and the General Assembly that enacted the same.

The table of the acts of the several General Assemblies consecutively numbered has been brought down to date and a table of corresponding sections made with data given as to similar tables, through which corresponding sections in our law may be traced from Code, 1851 through the different Codes the revision and the session laws since 1860.

The general form and arrangement of the Code Supplement of 1902 has been retained as nearly as possible, and the committee has endeavored to keep safely within the letter and the spirit of the act directing the work to be done, and to make the publication as nearly perfect as was possible and had no hesitancy in presenting the result of their labors as worthy the approval of the state.

We wish to commend the faithful and efficient work of the Code Editor, Hon. C. N. Jepson, and acknowledge the many helpful suggestions and painstaking services of Mrs. C. A. Neidig, as proofreader. The "Supplement to the Code 1907" covering as it did the work of six sessions of the General Assembly and the decisions of the Supreme court since the publication of the Code in 1897 was far greater than the legislature which directed its publication could have realized when the act under which the committee was appointed was passed, and it was absolutely impossible to strictly comply with the terms of the act as to the time when the first copies of the volume should be published, but the committee at all times crowded the work as fast as was consistent with obtaining good results and we believe all interested in the work done will commend it.

Contracts were made with Hon. Emory H. English, State Printer, and Hon. E. D. Chassell, State Binder, for the printing and binding of the Supplement and these contracts and that for the electrotype plates for the volume, together with the bonds securing the same, are now filed with and preserved by the Executive Council. The report of the state printer and state binder showing the completion of their work and the delivery of the volumes and the electrotype plates, as required by law have been filed with the committee.

The following is a summary of the account relating to the expense and cost of the "Supplement to the Code, 1907." The full itemized account is now in the books of the Executive Council and has been heretofore published.

Mileage and expense of members of committee . . . . $	404.16

RESOLUTION.

Resolved that we recognize the following interview given by the Secretary of the Iowa Manufacturers' Association to the Register and Leader and published April 1, 1909, as an evidence of the attitude of the said Manufacturers' Association towards the majority of the membership of this House who expressed their honest convictions in opposing the bulk sales bill. That we further recognize said interview as an indication of the high appreciation of the said Manufacturers' Association of the courtesy extended in allowing them the freedom of the floor of this House, in maintaining a persistent and paid lobby throughout the past two sessions, and that we commend said interview to the attention of future members of this body.

CHARGES ULTERIOR MOTIVES.

Wrightman Makes Accusation as Result of Defeat of Bulk Sales Bill.

"The defeat of the bulk sales bill by the House of Representatives yesterday was a shame and a scandal to the State of Iowa," said G. A. Wrightman, secretary of the Iowa State Manufacturers' association. "Every member of that house knows that the men who organized and conducted that defeat did it to enable themselves personally to carry on in open daylight and under the protection of the law the very same outrageous frauds that the bill was aimed to stop. What a spectacle for a great, free, progressive, enlightened state. A little handful of smooth grafters—less than a half dozen—sent here by some miscarriage of elective government to represent good Iowa counties, can tie up our law making machinery and side track, with a simple turn of the wrist, the efforts of the state to arrest their highway robbery. They can bind good, honest members in their seats, tie their tongues and make them vote like automatons to perpetuate a fraud.

"This particular practice constitutes the rottenest thing in the state of Iowa today. They are smooth men. They have each a personal following. Their general ability has gotten them upon important committees. They knew long before the assembly met that this bill was coming up. As soon as the sessions began they began upon susceptible members who have pet measures. They traded their votes, committee votes, votes on the floor, votes of their personal following, for votes against the bulk sales bill. It was easy for them, they were on the job from twelve to sixteen hours a day, with an eye single to kill the law that would put them out of business.

"They did not try to buy votes with money; that would have been crude—they bought them by bartering away the interests of Iowa. They beat us this time when the state was not looking. But I want to say now that two years hence, when this bill comes up again, the whole state shall know exactly who they are, what their records are and what they are doing. If it is defeated then it will be with the consent of the state of Iowa."

Laid over under Rule 34.

Harding of Woodbury offered the following Concurrent Resolution:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, that the First Assistant Clerk of the House, Reading Clerk of the House, First Assistant Secretary of the Senate and Second Assistant Secretary of the Senate be furnished with a copy of the Code, Supplement to the Code, and Session Laws of the Thirty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

SENATE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Be it Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, That a joint convention be held in the House Chamber on Friday, April 2, 1909, at 11:30 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of electing regents for the state university, trustees for the college of agriculture and mechanic arts and for the state normal college, and for the transaction of such other business as may properly come before such joint convention.

Goodykoontz of Boone moved that the House concur in the Senate Concurrent Resolution.

Motion prevailed.

Sullivan of Polk moved that the remarks of Dabney of Davis on House File No. 421 be printed in the Journal.

Motion prevailed.

The following remarks were made by Dabney of Davis, on House File No. 421:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House:

It is not my purpose to indulge in matters sentimental. Neither do I assume the role of the orator or make any pretense at eloquence, for I am master of neither of the arts. But, sir, I do ask your indulgence while I refer briefly to a few of the many virtues of the dead to whom this bill relates.

Wilson A. Scott, to whose memory and to whose service I trust this General Assembly will pay the debt of gratitude, long since due, came to Des Moines in 1843. Always animated by the highest type of public spirit and like the artist he had in mind and in heart his masterpiece, and that masterpiece was for Iowa to be what she is, the gem in the roll of states, Des Moines her seat of government, her metropolis.

These, in part, he lived to see well met out, and God forbid that his name be lost mid the wrecks and ruins of forgetfulness. It was he who built the flatboat ferry, next the pontoon bridge and later the trestle bridge across the Des Moines river at this place. And let it be said to his everlasting credit that no man westward bound paid toll when Scott was present.

It was he who gave Iowa her first Capitol building in Des Moines and afforded, largely, board and lodging to the members of the first session of the legislature held at the new seat of government. It was he, sir, who gave Iowa the tract of ground where stands that beautiful monument just to the south of this capitol and when this roll-call is completed may it be in harmony with the impressive inscription on that splendid structure. "Right is right, since God is God, and right the day has won." There is another inscription on that monument expressing the heart and soul of our people. "Iowa, her affection, like the rivers of her borders, flow on to an inseparable union."

It was he who gave this State the larger portion of the land where stands this magnificent capitol building. It was he, sir, as set out by the preliminary part of this bill, who wrecked his private fortune that Iowa might have a capitol building and later these beautiful grounds.

He was not only the friend of this commonwealth in its protoplasmic days, but he was a friend to the mighty dead, called to those high seats of government, who made our laws so just and equitable and administered them so firmly and impartially. It is he who rests two blocks south of these capitol grounds in an unmarked grave on a promontory overlooking the now dotted valley, this beautiful city.

Mr. Speaker, I am not master of words that more fittingly express this man's life, his character, his devotion, his ambition, his patriotism, than those of Robert Emmet who declared as he stood before that English court, who had condemned him to die, "I have lived but for my country and my country's good, and I would have fought upon its threshold and its enemy could have entered only by passing over my lifeless corpse." Then closing with that climax that animates the heart and soul of every son of the Emerald Isle, "When my country takes her place among the nations of the earth, then, and not 'till then, let my epitaph be written." While under this injunction, the epitaph of Robert Emmet may never be written; it seems to me that the epitaph of Wilson Alexander Scott should be chiseled in marble and among other things, it should say that "He lived not more for self than others."

Mr. Speaker, I am an optimist. I believe in the wisdom and patriotism of our people, and sir, I believe in Him under whose providence the sparrow falls and whose mercy stills the clamorous raven's nest. I believe that He will inspire His children here with the wisdom to know and the courage to do whatever is for the best and when that time comes, as come it shall, the name of Wilson Alexander Scott will someway, somehow be written so indelibly that the thief of time cannot deface.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

MR. SPEAKER—I move to reconsider the vote by which House File No. 86 was lost and the vote by which the bill passed to its third reading.

W. D. DODDS.

I second the motion.

SIMON MILLER.

Section 1. The Board of Supervisors of any county may, upon written application designating the particular highways, the use of which is desired, grant to any person or corporation engaged in the manufacture of electric light and power, the right to erect and maintain poles and wires, for the purpose of conducting electricity for lighting, heat and power purposes, in any public highway in their county for a period not to exceed twenty years, subject to the following conditions and such further reasonable regulations as the legislature or the Board of Supervisors may hereafter prescribe:

The grantee shall in no case have the exclusive right to use such highway for the conducting of the electricity.

The poles and fixtures shall be so constructed as to not incommode the public in the use of any road or the navigation of any stream.

The grantee shall use only strong and proper wires, properly insulated, attached to strong and sufficient supports and insulated at all points of attachment.

They shall replace all wires with new wires whenever by ordinary wear or other causes they are no longer safe, and remove all wires, the use of which is abandoned.

They shall properly insulate every wire carrying electric light, heat or power currents where it enters a building and within such building so as to avoid danger from fires.

Where such wires are carried across or under wires used for other service, there shall be suspended under or over said power, heat or light service lines, properly constructed and insulated guard nets, or shall be protected by such other equally efficient devices as will prevent contact with such other service lines, in case of sagging or breaking of such wires.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Sankey of Decatur, House File No. 539, a bill for an act to legalize the election in the incorporated town of Weldon, Decatur County, Iowa.

Read first and second time and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

By Cooper of Jasper, House Joint Resolution No. 8:

JOINT RESOLUTION No. 8.

Relative to the Improvement of Waterways by the United States Government in the General Assembly of the State of Iowa in General Session Convened.

Be it Resolved that,

WHEREAS, It has been shown that the greatest wreckage and loss of life and vessels, and the heaviest insurance on American commerce is for passing and re-passing Cape Hatteras for ocean commerce between English ports, German and French ports, and the Eastern seaboard, and the Gulf, South American, and Pacific commerce, and in passing the Bahama Banks and the Straits of Florida to enter the Gulf ports, and through the West Indian islands to enter the Carribean Sea to reach the Panama Canal, and

WHEREAS, It has been manifest, and demonstrated by Government statistics and facts, and shown by accurate maps that nearly all of these dangers, risks, and extra insurances, and nearly a thousand miles in distance can be saved for Gulf, Carribean Sea and Panama and Pacific commerce by cutting a sea level canal through Florida, and

WHEREAS, The saving of time, rate, and insurance, that can be made by utilizing Southport, N. C., and all South Atlantic ports, and the Florida canal for Gulf, Carribean Sea, Panama and Pacific coast commerce, back and forth from the center of American population, and the northwest, middle, and southwest, will in less than five years far exceed the amount of money, needful to secure thirty-five feet depth of water at Southport, N. C., and the same at Port Royal, S. C., and thirty feet depth to the city of Wilmington, and twenty-five feet depth of water through Florida; all of which can be accomplished within five years from the beginning of actual work, by an expenditure of one million a year at Southport, and Port Royal, and five million a year for the Florida canal, and

WHEREAS, The difference in time made between the movement of freight by water, and by rail, is, that by rail the average time on non-perishable commerce is three miles an hour; while the average time by steamship is twelve miles an hour, and by sail-ship eight miles an hour, and

WHEREAS, In 1908, the United States navy used 836,389 tons of coal, at a cost of $6.18 a ton, practically all delivered north of Cape Hatteras, and

WHEREAS, All this coal can be delivered to the navy by the establishment of a United States coaling station at Southport, south of Cape Hatteras, at a saving of $3.68 a ton; and consequently a proportionate saving in rate on the other supplies, for the soldiers that man the navy, and for the ships handling Gulf, South American, Panama, and Pacific commerce; and

WHEREAS, The freight rate per ton per mile by water on canal, river, lakes and Gulf commerce is 4-5 of one mill per ton per mile, while by rail it is 12 mills per ton per mile, moving only three miles an hour by rail.

against eight to twelve an hour for 4-5 of a mill per ton per mile by water, and;

WHEREAS, In time saved, insurance saved, in freight saved, in distance saved, by land and water, by using Southport, and all South Atlantic ports, and the Florida canal, for commerce from the west and the center of American population, and the great Tennessee coal fields, for Eastern European trade, and for the Gulf, the Carribbean Sea, West India, Panama, South American, and Pacific trade, it can be shown that the annual saving will be over ten million dollars per annum, on wreckage and insurance, and that the saving for one and a half years on coal alone, for the United States navy, will equal the cost of the harbor improvement and the coaling station at Southport, and one at Port Royal, and equal the cost of the sea-level canal, with twenty-five feet depth of water in five years, or less time, from the Atlantic ocean through Florida to the Gulf, and will save in overflowed lands of Florida by the Florida channel over two hundred million dollars' worth of the richest land on earth. And develop a country on both sides of the canal, for over two hundred and fifty miles, that will surpass in fertility and beauty the valley of the Nile, and the health of which cannot be surpassed in the world, and;

WHEREAS, When the canal which is now being constructed from Chicago to the Mississippi river is opened, and the Panama Canal is opened there is no inland waterway on earth that will offer a greater saving in time, in insurance rates and in freight rates, in loss of life, and ships by wreckage, than the Florida canal, opened in connection with Southport harbor and all Atlantic ports south of Cape Hatteras, and;

WHEREAS, All of the United States Government tide water coal stations are now reached by long railroad hauls from the coal fields at a very high rate, and are practically all north of Cape Hatteras, and;

WHEREAS, Seventy-five per cent of all the tide water expenditures by the Nation on the Atlantic coast since the Nation's existence, has been north of Cape Hatteras,

Therefore, These facts taken with the fact that the South in the past three decades has grown faster in the development of its agricultural, mineral, timber, water powers, manufacturing wealth, and the establishment of pleasure resorts for summer and winter, than any other territory of the same size in the world, and;

WHEREAS, The great grain fields and cities of the West and the whole South has for years desired the establishment of a great Southern port of entry on the South Atlantic coast, which could be reached by the shortest possible railroad lines from the western grain fields, and the center of American population to tide water, and;

WHEREAS, The South and West are year by year coming more and more to realize that their mutual interest can best be served by joint co-operation in securing through Congress these needful and merited public improvements that they are jointly entitled to, and;

WHEREAS, Practically all the long line haul of the great trunk line systems of railroads south of the Ohio, and east of the Mississippi river is north and south, and;

WHEREAS, Because of this reason they are not interested in a great direct east and west trunk line, and the establishment of a great seaport in the middle of the long haul, and;

WHEREAS, The changing of the Isthmian Canal to Panama added an additional two thousand miles longer route to the commerce of the Ohio and Mississippi valleys and the Gulf states, and the South Atlantic states to reach the Pacific coast, throwing the route for the Panama Canal commerce through the dangerous West Indian passes, the insurance and loss even for the dangers of the Bahamas and Florida Straits on eastern and western ocean commerce unless a Florida canal is constructed will equal its cost in less than five years, and;

WHEREAS, The rate of insurance on the hundred dollar value for the risk of passing and re-passing Cape Hatteras has been an aggregate of 40 cents on the hundred dollars, exclusive of the insurance of the vessel itself; and the number of lives that have been lost has been many; and the number of vessels lost since 1875 passing Cape Hatteras is fifty-one, and the number lost passing the Bahamas and Florida Straits since 1885 has been one hundred and one, a grand total of one hundred and fifty-two, and their value estimated at six million dollars. The cotton and grain trade export from the four leading Gulf ports for the past ten years is $1,724,699,952 carrying the insurance of forty cents on the hundred dollars, to say nothing of all the other millions of dollars of commerce for the Gulf ports, carrying a like insurance for the risk of passing and re-passing the Florida Straits, the Bahama Banks and Cape Hatteras, and

WHEREAS, It has been made manifest by figures and facts presented to this body, that ninety per cent saving in this great cost in insurance, in time, in distance, in wreckage, on a great portion of the Nation's commerce, and on the cost of the direct coal supply and provision for the United States navy and war department can be saved by the establishment of a United States coaling station at Southport, N. C., and Port Royal, S. C., and be established at small cost, and be closer to the center of American population and to the great Tennessee coal fields, and to serve the commerce of the South, the West, the North-West, and;

WHEREAS, Southport, N. C., and Port Royal, S. C., are of practically equal distance from the great base of coal supply, the grain fields of the West, and the center of American population, and the closest harbors that can be cheaply made available for ocean steamers drawing thirty-five of water, and be closer to the Tennessee coal fields by over a hundred miles, than any other such harbor to any other American coal fields on the American continent, that can be made available for so great a saving to commerce and for so small an amount of money. And which will be the closest tide water that can float the American navy, by nearly a hundred miles, to the great bread, meat and grain producing states, than any other harbors on the coast of the United States, that can be equipped with many times that amount of money, and;

WHEREAS, Southport is south of Cape Hatteras, the most dangerous portion of the United States ocean front, to commerce, to life, and to vessels, sailing from English and Eastern ports for Southern and Pacific ports, and;

WHEREAS, All commerce going and coming from the great North-West, West, Middle West and South-West, to the Gulf of Mexico, and to South America, and to Panama Canal, and Pacific commerce, and to South African ports, and to China and Japan, can make a great saving by the building of the Florida canal, and;

WHEREAS, All navy ship supplies taken on at Southport, N. C., or Port Royal, S. C., will be from six hundred to one thousand miles nearer all South African, all West Indian, all the Gulf, all the South American, all the Pacific and foreign ports of China and Japan, reached by the Panama Canal and save over three and a half million dollars a year on coal alone, consumed by the United States navy.

WHEREAS, Certain states in the South, by public state aid, and by public county aid, and under the executive control of the State of North Carolina, and in the states of Tennessee and South Carolina, are co-operating with each other to secure an independent east and west line of railroad, with connections from the great West through the center of American population, through the Tennessee coal fields, through to tide water, over the shortest possible route on the North Carolina and South Carolina coast, and;

WHEREAS, The states of Minnesota, Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, Wisconsin, Michigan, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Kentucky, Missouri, Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama, Tennessee, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia and Florida, who paid out of the internal revenues for 1907 (a normal year), $179,718,022.67, against the total internal revenue receipts to the government of $269,664,022.85, and

WHEREAS, Every one of these states will be both directly and indirectly benefited by the opening of the Southport and Port Royal harbors and the construction of the Florida canal, and;

WHEREAS, These internal revenue taxes paid by these states is a more direct tax on the people of these states, and on the efforts to employ labor and manufacture the product of their own resources than any tariff or duty collected at the custom house, and;

WHEREAS, These improvements for better transportation facilities both by water and by land, will largely increase the manufacturing and general development that produces internal revenue in these states, and;

WHEREAS, Less than three per cent per annum for five years and a half, of the amount these states pay for the support of the national government, will make these needful improvements, which is but a righteous and just compensation for their paying 75 cent of the entire internal revenue, which is a direct tax on the people of these states for the support of the Nation, and not one of them but will increase by fourfold the three per cent expended from their own annual income for the support of the Nation, by making these improvements for the benefit of the whole Nation, and;

WHEREAS, By the unanimous and hearty co-operation of all of these States, by resolution and petition to Congress, they can secure congressional aid for these improvements that will break up the monopoly of the South and Western commerce, wherein it is compelled to pay for the long hauls and to carry the dangers of Cape Hatteras, the dangers of the Bahamas, the West Indies, of the Florida Straits; and with the Nation, carry their portion of the burden of extra tax to pay $6.18 a ton on nearly a million tons of coal per annum, for the supply of our great navy; when these public improvements will cause this coal to be delivered at $3.68 a ton, if not $2.50 a ton, with government co-operation. And a like saving on food supplies for the navy, which means the same saving for coal, for all ships plying in Gulf and Pacific ports, doing commerce with our eastern seaboard, and western Europe reached by way of the Panama Canal; therefore be it

Resolved, By the Legislature of this State in General Assembly convened, that we most respectfully call the attention of the Honorable Senators and members of the United States congress to these facts. And respectfully request their co-operation with the Honorable Senators and members from this State, to secure the needful appropriation per annum to be distributed over a period of not exceeding five years, to secure these needed improvements. A deep water harbor and United States navy coaling station at Southport, N. C., and the opening of the Florida canal from the mouth of the St. Johns river via Jacksonville, Fla., which will consist chiefly in dredging out deeper the St. Johns river to its fountain head, with a short cut across to the Kissimee river, and the Great Lake Okeechobee, and the dredging out of the Caloohatchee river, from there to the Gulf of Mexico at Puntarosa; which combined with the harbor at Southport will enable commerce from the Northwest, West, the great Middle Southwest and the center of American population, and from the Tennessee coal fields to escape all the dangers of Cape Hatteras, the Bahama Banks, the Florida Straits, and the West India Islands, to serve the commerce of the Gulf, of the Panama Canal, and the Pacific coast, in the interest of the Nation at large.

The showing must be specified and from it there must appear reasonable ground to believe that a recount of the ballots would produce a result as to his candidacy different from the returns made by the judges. If such showing is made to the satisfaction of the board, it shall thereupon recount the ballots cast in any such precinct for the office for which the contestant was a candidate, and if the result reached by the board on the recount of the ballots as to such office be different from that returned by the judges of election it shall be substituted therefor as the true and correct return and so regarded in all subsequent proceedings. The action of the board shall be final and no other contest of any kind shall be permitted. The term "candidate" as used in this section shall include and apply to persons voted for for delegates and party committeemen."

The committee appointed to investigate the advisability of re-districting the state as to judicial districts, submitted the following report:

Resolved, That the committee on Judicial Districts, having under consideration the report of the special committee appointed to investigate the advisability of redistricting the State as to Judicial Districts, find as follows:

That we commend the work of said special committee; that we are of the opinion that many changes should be made in the Judicial Districts of the State in order to equalize the work of the judges, and to eliminate judges where such elimination may be made without affecting the efficiency of the court or working undue hardship upon the judges; but that it is the sense of the committee that it would be impossible to take up and carry through any general scheme of redistricting during the remaining days of the session, and that we therefore commend the matter to the attention of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly.

WHEREAS, The First State Bank of Corwith, Iowa, had been selected and used by the treasurer of Hancock County, Iowa, as a depository for state, county and other public funds, from the organization of said bank in November, 1895, until February 8, 1907, without any resolution on the part of the board of supervisors and the requiring of a depository bond under Section 1457 of the Code; that during all of that time, said bank had been considered and used as a safe and secure place for the keeping of the funds derived from the collection of the taxes of said county, and;

WHEREAS, On the 8th day of February, 1907, the board of supervisors of Hancock County, Iowa, by resolution authorized the deposit of state, county and other public funds, by its treasurer, in the said First State Bank of Corwith, Iowa, upon the said bank furnishing a bond as provided for in Section 1457 of the Code, and;

WHEREAS, Said bank furnished said bond on the fifth day of April, 1907, and on the second day of May, 1907, said bond was duly approved by the said board, as provided by law; that prior to the resolution of said board and on or about the eighth day of January, 1907, said treasurer deposited with said bank the check of the retiring treasurer, drawn on said bank for the amount of his deposit therein as such treasurer, the sum of nine thousand three hundred fifty-two and 3-100 dollars ($9,352.03); and the same was placed to the credit of the said treasurer, A. B. Sawyer; that afterwards by virtue of various transactions, on the fifth day of April, 1907, there was shown to be on deposit in said bank of county, state and other public funds the sum of seventeen thousand two hundred thirty-nine and 79-100 dollars ($17,239.79), and;

WHEREAS, On the fifth day of April, 1907, said bank was wholly insolvent and without the security of the said bond, said sum was wholly lost to the county.

That after said fifth day of April, 1907, other deposits were made in said bank and sums were withdrawn by said treasurer up to the 23d day of November, 1907, when said account showed to be the sum of $12,065.98; that on the 17th day of November, 1907, the cashier of said bank absconded and on the 27th day of November, 1907, a receiver was appointed to wind up the affairs of said bank, and;

WHEREAS, Action has been commenced by the treasurer, under the direction of the said county to collect said sum from the sureties on said bond and said action is now pending in the supreme court; that the sureties on said bond signed same by reason of fraudulent representations of the cashier of said bank, who well knew that said bank was wholly insolvent at the time; that there were six sureties on said bond, but at the time of closing said bank only three were solvent; that to require said three solvent sureties to perform all of the conditions of said bond would work a great and lasting injustice, hardship and damage to said sureties, and;

WHEREAS, The sum due on said deposit is of minor importance to said county, and to the additional taxpayer, is trivial, and;

WHEREAS, There has been paid to the treasurer by the receiver of said First State Bank a dividend of fifteen per cent. on said deposit, and further dividends will hereafter be declared, but not sufficient to pay said deposit in full.

Drugless practitioners shall be subject to all local and state laws and regulations that govern physicians in matters pertaining to the public health.

SEC. 2. Every person who has been engaged in drugless practice in the State of Iowa for at least one year preceding the passage of this act, and who holds a diploma from a legally chartered school of drugless practice shall within ninety (90) days thereafter cause his name, age, residence, place of business and nature of his practice, to be registered with the board of examiners, and pay a registration fee of twenty ($20.00) dollars to the secretary of the board, whereupon the board shall issue a license, which, when issued, shall be prima facie evidence of the right of the holder thereof to practice in the State of Iowa. Upon the presentation of such diploma to the State Board of Examiners and satisfying such board that he is the legal holder thereof, he shall be granted by such board an examination on the branches therein noted. Examination questions on such subjects shall be identical with those asked of graduates of medical colleges who are taking their examinations on said subjects at the same time and place. The same number of yearly examinations shall be given for drugless practitioners as are given for medical practitioners. The fee for such examination, which shall accompany the application, shall be twenty ($20.00) dollars. The same general average shall be required as in cases of physicians ex-

For like cause or for incompetency or habitual intoxication, or upon satisfactory evidence by affidavit or otherwise that a certificate has been granted upon false and fraudulent statements as to graduation or length of practice, the said board may revoke a certificate by an unanimous affirmative vote of the members of the board. After the revocation of a certificate the holder thereof shall not engage in drugless practice in the state.

SEC. 7. Any person who shall present to the board of examiners a fraudulent or false diploma, or one of which he is not the rightful owner, for the purposes of procuring a certificate as herein provided, or shall file, or attempt to file, with the recorder of any county in the State, the certificate of another as his own, or who shall falsely personate any one to whom a certificate has been granted by such board, or shall engage in drugless practice in the State without first having obtained and filed for record the certificate herein required, and who is not embraced in any of the exceptions contained in this chapter, or who continues to engage in drugless practice after the revocation of such certificate, is guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be fined not less than three hundred ($300.00) dollars, nor more than five hundred ($500.00) dollars and cost of prosecution and shall stand committed to the county jail until such fine is paid; and whoever shall file or attempt to file with the recorder of any county in the State the certificate of another with the name of the party to whom it was granted, or issued,

One-half of the county road fund arising from the property within any municipality shall be paid over by the county treasurer to the treasurer of the municipality in the same manner as other municipal taxes and shall be expended on the roads or streets within such municipality by and under the direction of the council or commission. So the minority views were substituted for the majority report.

Johnson of Mitchell, chairman of the Committee on Penitentiaries, submitted the following:

Your Pen. Committee a report would make
On one sixteen which takes the persimmons,
We've scanned the lines and skinned the metre
And think the thoths, now, Mr. Speaker—

Your committee would offer 'mendments plenty,
We first strike out lines one to twenty,
Lines down to forty then are dropped
For babbling brooks can ne'er be stopped.

"The Mill will never grind with the water that has past"
Nor the Miller cease to warble while the carving artists last,
The purpling geysers purl and laughing waters laugh
But our Dry Rum amendment lost in the finish half.

The Statesman of Jasper and the sage of Cass
Since the coveted amendment failed to pass,
This subtle poem would so amend
That true to fact the song would tend.

For viewing down from Iowa's peaks,
A mere phantasy the poet speaks
And the poetic raiment of her river towns
Is but a sham as are all the gowns.

In fact 'tis held we must insert
If we would not pure nature hurt,
And would we aught of truth infuse,
Must say the crags do ooze with booze.

We now remove the remnants still
Contained within this twice read bill
And leave the page all white and clear
For some more realistic seer.

We've searched the Code and even Shake'
To learn how he could license take,
In winding up this tra-la-la
By rhyming A-y-e with Iowa.

Enshrouded 'bout the corpse we pause,
With naught left on but 'nacting claws—
We shed our tears upon the bier,
And then proceed to scratch it here.

We tread then on in mournful way,
To move the form to dark, cold Klay,
Where all passed sins may be enrolled,
For courts supreme to yet unfold.

Perchance we may from the Senate gleam,
The method by which to lose the dream,
And hunt 'round till we're able
To find a noiseless, cushioned table.

The Gentleman of cloth from far Kossuth
 Might echo the sadness our hearts, forsooth
 Do feel as we gaze on it
 The triumph of the Bard of Britt.

Let future men be all referred
 To the poetic stunt of the 33d,
 But our old Code has now a load,
 And can't embrace this prairie ode.

As future sessions here may pass
 And see it thru optometric glass,
 They may, should sentiment so soar,
 Appropriate a monument forevermore.

K. J. JOHNSON,
Chairman.

Johnson of Mitchell moved the adoption of the report.

The following remarks were made by Bonwell of Audubon on House File No. 522:

When the salary of members of the Legislature was fixed at $500.00 a number of years ago, the great State of Iowa was much younger and much less developed in its industrial and material resources than it is today. Since that time no State in the Union of States has made more rapid strides in industrial and manufacturing development than our own great State of Iowa. No point in the State, I am informed, is more than twelve miles from a railroad station. The farm lands have increased in value, three fold and farm, dairy and other products equally as much. The wealth of the State ranks away up near the top of wealthy states. Since that time an addition of fifty dollars has been added to the salary of each Legislator for postage and for which the members of the present Legislature will bear me witness the letters they receive are legion.

With all the marvelous increase in the material wealth of this great State the Legislators pay remains the same as of old, of the days that are past and gone. The people of Iowa elect their best men to represent them and make laws for their government. They expect them to be honest and guard the interests of their constituents with all the power and ability they possess, and I believe they do it. I cannot believe any member of the Thirty-third General Assembly would do otherwise and would balk at dissembling or otherwise detract from the high standard set by recent former Legislatures of the State. Then why not compensate him with a salary commensurate with the dignity and importance of the office and the service he renders the State. If I should be a candidate for a third term I am not afraid, if this bill becomes a law, to go before my people for re-nomination and re-election. Many of them have said to me time and again that it was a shame and outrage upon the class of men sent to the Legislature to pay them the paltry sum of $550.00. It is equivalent to working for your board and campaign expenses and giving your time without compensation. Your constituents, under present and probably future industrial conditions of this country, will take no umbrage at you increasing the pay of the Thirty-fourth and future General Assemblies. It is only justice to the members of the Legislature from the great commonwealth of Iowa. This bill should pass without a dissenting vote and without debate.

Speaker announced that as Speaker of the House, in the presence of the House, he had signed House Joint Resolution No. 2, House File Nos. 31, 185, 201, 290, 291, and 296.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Meredith of Cass, from the Committee on Printing, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER—Your Committee on Printing to whom was referred a resolution introduced by Mr. Cooper, relative to the printing of reports of State officers, boards and commissions and matter included in said reports, and directed to investigate, with a view to ascertaining whether or not the expenditure of money for the publication of books, reports, documents and other forms of printed matter cannot be curtailed by reducing the number or eliminating the publication of some of said reports and publication in accordance with the resolution, beg leave to report as follows:

That with respect to the number of such reports and documents printed, the responsibility therefor is lodged with the Executive Council in Section No. 125 of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, as follows: "The Executive Council shall reduce the number of copies of any report herein provided whenever the books of the document accountant in the office of the Secretary of State show that a less number will supply all the necessary needs for such publication."

With respect to the subject matter which shall be included within such reports and documents the responsibility therefor is lodged with the Governor in Section No. 124 of the Code, the language of which is as follows: "He (the Governor) shall, however, cause all reports to be carefully examined before being printed and shall omit from printed copy all matters he may deem not of sufficient importance to warrant publication thereof at the State's expense."

We further report that we have obtained from the Secretary of State a statement showing the number of copies of all the reports printed during the years 1905, 1906, and 1907, and number destroyed by order of the Executive Council during the year 1908 and the number remaining on hand March 8, 1909, which statement is attached to and made a part of this report.

We further find from said statement that the total number of annual reports published is twelve (12), the total number of biennial reports is thirty-three (33), and the total number of extraordinary documents three (3), such extraordinary documents being the Code, Code Supplement, and Soldiers' Roster. We find that out of this total of forty-eight (48) reports and documents now being published reductions have been made during the past three years, either by statute or by the action of the Executive Council, with respect to thirty-four (34) of said publications.

We further find that the Secretary of State is required by statute to publish once every two years a complete report of the number of documents printed and the number remaining on hand, for the guidance of the Executive Council in determining the number of such reports and documents which are actually necessary and we are informed it is the purpose of the Executive Council to make reductions in the number printed whenever it is possible. As to the subject matter of these reports which is made by statute a matter for the Governor to determine, we feel that this question is so largely a matter of judgment that we do not feel qualified to pass upon the same.

We further find that in the year 1908, by order of the Executive Council, a number of copies of various reports remaining on hand were destroyed. The largest single item in such destruction was 3,600 copies of the Supplement to the Code, 1902, which became useless when the Supplement to the Code, 1907, was published. The number of copies of the Supplement to the Code has been reduced from 15,000 in 1902 to 12,000 for 1907. The manner of the destruction above referred to was that the paper in said books and documents was sold at its market value as old paper and the covers of all bound volumes were turned over to the Board of Control for use on other reports.

It is the opinion of your committee that the attention of the Governor and of the Executive Council is being particularly directed to the end that all unnecessary expenditure in this connection should be eliminated and that in as much as the varying demand for various publications from year to year makes it impossible to determine exactly the number which will be required, it is the opinion of your committee that the statutory safeguards now thrown around such expenditures are sufficient to protect the interests of the State.

C. A. MEREDITH,
Chairman.

Adopted.

Schulte of Clayton called up the concurrent resolution relative to a national park in Iowa, and moved its adoption.

Motion prevailed.

Kellogg moved that the remarks of Mr. Schulte be printed in the Journal.

Motion prevailed.

Mr. Schulte offered the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—I feel that it is my duty to offer a few remarks in support of the merits of this resolution and I hope to be able in my humble way to enlighten the membership of this House somewhat as to the conditions as they are found in this territory proposed to be preserved as a public pleasure ground. It may be that this resolution has not been considered with any great degree of seriousness by the membership of this House and I fear that some may regard it as only visionary, but gentlemen, I assure you that there is merit in this resolution, and I believe that the members of this House know that I will not support any measure on this floor that I do not honestly and sincerely believe to be worthy and right.

It is my desire that it shall be made known to the people of Iowa and the northern Mississippi valley states that it is not necessary to travel a thousand miles or more to other lands and foreign lands to find a playground of hills and valleys, of rivers and lakes, but that the most beautiful and picturesque scenery in all the world is at your very home, along the "Father of Waters," the grandest river that you know this truth you will wonder why the people of this northwest are not putting forth their every effort to preserve this land of natural beauty for the future generations of unnumbered millions, who will make their homes in this valley of unmeasured wealth, and before the thoughtless hand of human greed has destroyed the scenery as made by the forces of nature through the ages and before the many groves of native trees, which will remain very much as first seen by the early pioneer, be shorn of their pristine beauty.

If you could but stand for one hour on the heights that overshadow the waters at the confluence of the Wisconsin and this mighty river and cast your eyes towards the north only to see for miles and miles the rocks and hills rising five hundred feet or more above the water, then to look toward the south with the same picture before your eyes, and at a third glance to see the Wisconsin rolling its volume of water towards you amid the same beautiful scenery, you would not hesitate to support this resolution.

If you could but for a single hour look down upon the numerous islands with their many lakes in the Wisconsin delta that lay hundreds of feet below you at that very point where the great river was first discovered by the white man, and the land of the great commonwealth of Iowa was first seen by him, you would not only give your support to this resolution, but I believe you would utter with exultation the words, "inexpressibly grand," as did the discoverer, Marquette, while his canoe was drifting in sight of this grandeur.

I know your patriotism would prompt you to support this resolution if you were to stand upon the very peak where was raised the first American flag that ever floated over the Louisiana purchase, and in sight of the very spot where was established the first trading post on the upper Mississippi, where was located the capitol of Crawford county, that county which included the whole northwest and where lay in ruins the old historic Fort Crawford. Here we have the favorite camping grounds of the Fox and Sac Indians. Here many stubborn and bloody battles were fought by the red man for supremacy on these favorable hunting grounds as is witnessed by his own traditions. Here prehistoric man lived, loved and thrived and according to the statement of archaeologists this territory contains most valuable groups of effigy and burial mounds.

By this resolution we seek to call the attention of Congress to the fact that there are no government reservations of any great size in the Mississippi Valley and that the health and happiness of the future generations of this country demand that there be play grounds in the form of parks reserved for the public and that out door recreation is as essential to the welfare of a people as the training of colleges and schools, that the territory in the locality where the Wisconsin flows into the Mississippi is most desirable and suitable for a public park, and that the government should acquire this land while it can be had at a reasonable price and preserve it in its natural state for the many millions that will make their homes in the great Mississippi Valley.

The thought of creating national parks along the Mississippi river is not new, the people of other states have been more or less active in creating sentiment along these lines, and Wisconsin especially has shown its activity in that they have created a state park commission and there is now a bill before the legislature of that state providing for the acquisition of a park of this very territory for the use as a state park, and making an appropriation for the payment and maintenance of the same.

This will undoubtedly become a law, and while it is commendable, it seems that since the park will be on the bank of government water, and the park proposed by this resolution will be on both sides of the river, and in more than one state, it should be under government control and without restriction on the part of any state.

Under the Wisconsin bill it is sought to reserve about three thousand acres and it is estimated that the upland can be purchased for twenty-five dollars per acre, and the bottom land for much less. The several thousand acres that can be utilized on the Iowa side can be purchased for a similar price.

Parks should be so located that they may be visited by many and this proposed park is but a short distance by rail from Chicago, Milwaukee, Madison, St. Paul, Minneapolis and other cities. Two great railroad systems run through it and it can be reached by boat from the north and the south.

If established as a national park it will become the favorite retreat during vacation and rest for the people along the river from New Orleans to Minneapolis. We hope to see the time when the tourist will be attracted by beautiful parks and cities along the "Father of Waters" and that he will take a trip up the Mississippi instead of touring on the Hudson or crossing the Atlantic for a trip up the Rhine.

There is no grander river than ours. There are none of greater possibilities and ere many years have passed its beauty will be celebrated in poetry and song, and we hope to see a national park at the confluence of the Wisconsin and Mississippi that will be unrivaled in its natural beauty.

Here twenty thousand acres or more are awaiting to be called to serve the purpose for which I believe it was intended, to become the pleasure ground for the American people and remain such until time shall be no more.

The passing of this resolution may not cause Congress to act, but I do hope that it may have the effect of calling the attention of the people to the fact that there is a necessity and demand for public pleasure grounds for future generations, and I hope that this resolution may receive the unanimous support of the House.

The Committee appointed to investigate the Hospitals for the Insane, submitted the following report, which was read, and on motion of Lee of Emmet was ordered printed in the Journal and action deferred until Thursday.

MR. SPEAKER AND THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES—We, your committee appointed by resolution of this House to investigate the condition of the Insane Hospitals of the state, beg leave to submit the following report:

We commenced our investigation on the 18th day of February, 1909, by obtaining from the records of the Board of Control a list of names of persons, discharged patients and former attendants of the institutions; to about 500 of these we addressed letters of inquiry and about 200 of them responded.

We next visited the hospitals at Mt. Pleasant, Clarinda and Independence, taking the testimony of a number of witnesses at Mt. Pleasant and Clarinda. We were unable to obtain very much information at any of the institutions, but from the evidence secured we were of the opinion that abuses did exist and that it would be necessary to make further investigations. This we reported on the 13th day of March, 1909, and thereupon we were directed by the House to continue our investigation and empowered to subpoena and compel the attendance of witnesses.

Since the passage of the latter resolution, we have taken the testimony of a large number of witnesses, both employes and discharged patients of the hospitals at Mt. Pleasant, Clarinda, Cherokee and Independence, and have also examined a considerable number of witnesses who were subpoenaed at the request of the Board of Control. All of the testimony taken before the Committee is submitted herewith.

We further report that we have found it impracticable, within the time limit of the present session of the legislature, to make a full and complete investigation of the conditions that have obtained at the hospitals. From the inquiry we have made and from the evidence taken by us, it is evident that abuses exist in the government and discipline of the institutions at Mt. Pleasant, Clarinda and Independence. The evidence discloses, that in many instances, the force of attendants is inadequate to meet the demands that are made upon them; that there is not a sufficient number of attendants to properly attend to the wants of the patients under their care. In some instances, we found that from 127 to 140 patients were consigned to the care of a single attendant during the night time, of this number, a portion were sick and required almost constant attention; the number of persons under the care of such attendant rendered it impossible for those who were ill to receive such care as their condition demanded.

We further find from the evidence herewith submitted, that there have been many instances of neglect and cruelty by the attendants in charge; such, for example as the use of harsh and profane language toward patients; in some instances the inmates were kicked, struck and choked; some were thrown upon the floor and towels saturated with soap and water were applied to the nostrils and mouth until the patient was rendered unconscious; the patients, generally were compelled to render the most menial services.

We find that whenever notice of these abuses has been brought to the knowledge of the several superintendents, that the attendants in fault have been discharged and, in one institution, we find that the persons guilty of infraction of the rules, when discharged had a deduction made from the wages due them as a punishment for the violation of the rules of the institution, and we believe that most of these abuses have escaped the knowledge of the superintendents and the members of the Board of Control. There appears to be, among the attendants at these different institutions, some agreement or understanding, tacit or otherwise, whereby, as long as they remain employes of the institutions they neglect to report the misconduct of their fellows.

From our investigation and conference with the officials we believe that the per capita of $12.00 per month is inadequate to secure proper and sufficient help to watch over and care for the patients, day and night; that more and better attendants should be employed; that help should be secured to perform the dirty and menial services about the institutions which is now done by some of the inmates themselves; that if the per capita should be increased to $14.00 per month, proper help could be employed, more food and better food could be obtained, and that more and better clothing could be furnished the inmates of these several institutions.

We believe that the supervisors of the different wards should have their offices upon the floors with their wards so that they can give more and closer supervision to the work under their control and direction and that they should be required to be there during their working and office hours.

We further recommend that, whenever any employe is discharged on account of having abused any patient, he shall never again be employed by the State in any like institution and if any attendant violates any of the laws of the State of Iowa in the mistreatment of a patient, the superintendent of the institution where such attendant is employed shall, as one of his duties, file information against him for the crime committed. We also suggest that no institution be permitted to employ any of the class of help known as "hospital institution tramps."

Our investigation has only caused us to become more deeply interested than heretofore in the unfortunate wards of the State and we believe that there should be a special committee appointed at each session of the legislature to look into the management of the hospitals.

In conclusion we are glad to be able to say that we found the hospitals in excellent condition in all their departments so far as cleanliness and the general arrangements were concerned and we personally saw no instances of lack of decorum on the part of employes or attendants or of lack of discipline on the part of the management.

A large number of the letters received by the committee and the affidavits made by witnesses and the typescript of the testimony are returned with this report and it is all respectfully submitted, with an itemized statement of all expenses incurred by this committee.

H. C. BRANDES,
Chairman.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. Section nineteen hundred fifty-five (1955) of the Code is hereby repealed and the following substituted therefor:

"Whenever the owner of any land shall desire to construct any levee, open ditch, tile or other under-ground drain, for agricultural, sanitary or mining purposes or for the purpose of securing more complete drainage or a better out-let, across the lands of others, or across or through the right-of-way and road bed of a railroad, and shall be unable to agree with the owner of any such lands, or with any such railroad company, through whose land or property he desires to construct the same, with regard to the location or manner of constructing any such ditch, drain or levee, or with regard to the compensation to be made, or with regard to any other matter properly connected therewith, he may file with the township clerk of the township in which any such land or right-of-way is situated, an application in writing, setting forth a description of the land or other property through which he is desirous of constructing any such levee, ditch or drain, the starting point, route, terminus, character, size and depth thereof. Upon the filing of any such application, the clerk shall forthwith fix a time and place for hearing thereon before the township trustees of his township, which hearing shall be not more than ninety (90) days nor less than thirty (30) days from the time of the filing of such application and thereupon the township clerk shall cause notice in writing to be served upon the owner of each tract of land across which any such levee, ditch or drain, is proposed to be located, as shown by the transfer books in the office of the county auditor, and also upon the person in actual occupancy of any such lands of the pendency and prayer of such application, the time and place set for hearing on the same before the township trustees, which notice, as to residents of the county, shall be served not less than ten (10) days before the time set for such hearing, in the manner that original notices are required to be served. In case any such owner is a non-resident of the county, such notice as to him shall be posted in three (3) public places within the township where his land is situated at least fifteen (15) days before the time set for such hearing, one of which places shall be upon the land of which he is owner. Such notice may be served upon a railroad company by serving the same upon its nearest station agent.

If at the hearing it should appear that any person entitled to notice, as provided herein, has not been served with notice, as herein provided, the township trustees may postpone such hearing and fix a new time for the same and notice of such new day of hearing may be served on such omitted persons in the manner and for the same length of time provided herein, and by fixing such new day for hearing and by adjournment of the proceedings to such time, the trustees shall not be held to have lost jurisdiction of the subject matter of such proceeding nor of any persons previously served with notice.

Any person or corporation claiming damages as compensation for or on account of the construction of any such improvement, shall file a claim in writing therefor with the township clerk at least two (2) days before the day fixed for hearing on the application and a failure to file such claim at the time specified shall be deemed to be a waiver of the right to claim or recover such damage. The term "lands" as used in this and the next section shall include right of way and other real estate of a railroad company."

Sec. 2. Section nineteen hundred fifty-six (1956) of the Code is hereby repealed and the following substituted therefor:

They shall also determine the merits of the application, all objections thereto and all claims filed for damages that may be occasioned by the location and construction of the proposed drainage improvement, and, if deemed necessary, the trustees may view the premises. The trustees may adjourn the proceedings from day to day, but no adjournment shall be for a longer period than ten (10) days. When the time for final action shall have arrived, the township trustees shall, if they find that the levee, ditch or drain petitioned for will be beneficial for sanitary, agricultural or mining purposes, locate the same and fix the points of entrance and exit on such land or property, the course of the same through each tract of land, the size, character and depth thereof, when and in what manner the same shall be constructed, how kept in repair, what connections may be made, what compensation, if any, shall be made to the owners of such land or property for damages by reason of the construction of any such improvements, and any other question arising in connection therewith. The trustees shall reduce their findings, decision and determination to writing, which shall be filed with the clerk of such township, who shall record it in his book of records, together with the application and all other papers filed in connection therewith, and he shall cause the findings and decision of the trustees to be recorded in the office of the county recorder of the county in which such land is situated, and said decision shall be final unless appealed from as provided in the next section."

Sec. 3. Section nineteen hundred fifty-nine (1959) of the Code is hereby amended by adding after the period at the end thereof, the following:

"If any such ditch or drain shall be located through or across the right of way or other land of a railroad company, the trustees shall determine the cost of constructing the same across and through such property and the railroad company shall have the privilege of constructing such improvement through its property in accordance with the specifications made by the trustees and recover the cost thereof as fixed by the trustees. But such railroad company before it may exercise such privilege shall file its election to that effect with the township clerk within five (5) days after the decision of the trustees is filed, and in case such election is filed the applicant shall within ten (10) days thereafter pay to the township clerk for the use of the railroad company, the cost of constructing the drainage improvement through its property, in addition to the amount that may be allowed as damages, and when the railroad company shall have completed the improvement through its property in accordance with such specifications it shall be entitled to demand and receive from the township clerk such cost. If the railroad company shall fail to so construct the improvement for a period of thirty (30) days after filing its election so to do, the applicant may proceed to do so and may have returned to him the cost thereof deposited with the township clerk."

Larrabee of Fayette in the Chair.

The following remarks were made by O'Connor, of Chickasaw:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House:

In conformance with the purposes of the Joint Resolution just read, I am honored by my colleagues in being asked to present these tokens to you, Mr. Speaker. I feel that I speak from the fullness of the heart of all the membership when I say these small gifts but meagerly expresses our appreciation and gratitude for the generous and uniformly kindly treatment that you have ever accorded the membership of this House; speaking for the minority I assure you we have at all times been treated with equal consideration with our colleagues across the chamber.

Your gavel has ever been symbolic of fairness, justice and equality.

In these closing hours filled with happy recollections of the days gone before, I think resentment lurks not in the heart of any member of the House. We are yours with joyous gratitude in the giving of these gifts.

We trust you may live long to enjoy this beautiful chair. While your days here, have been happy, we hope they will not be the happiest of your life. May the future be rich with things of wealth and happiness for you.

May the exalted position you are retiring be the stepping stone for high and deserved honors.

With a full heart, Mr. Speaker we tend you this chair and gavel.

The following response was made by the Speaker:

Gentlemen of the House:

Words are too feeble and inadequate to express the emotions overwhelm me upon this occasion.

Your generous act of kindness and regard may not mean so much to you but it means everything to me, and these mementoes of your regard, this gavel and this chair, I will cherish and revere during the remainder of my life, as symbols of the strong and binding friendships formed during this session of the legislation.

I will prize this chair and gavel as an emblem of the faith and confidence you have reposed in me as your speaker. Coming as it does during the closing day of this session it has a double significance to me, it not only represents your esteem but also a recognition of the fact that I have tried in my stumbling way to give to all a fair and impartial hearing. I fully realize that many times this gavel has fallen under the stern rules of the House, it has blasted the hopes of some members of this House and has helped to success or carried to defeat some favorite measure. But I trust that taken all together it has helped rather than retarded to legislation that is for our best welfare.

For the splendid legislation enacted during this session, you are entitled to all the credit, to the legislation which has failed, I must assume my full share of responsibility.

But this I must say, in full justice to the membership of this House that in the march of progress, this legislature has made a splendid record, not so much from the material side, but in that you have put many laws on the statute books of which you may be justly proud, but you have caught step with the march of progress along lines of moral issues which mean so much to a state and nation.

Those issues which make better and nobler laws for our commonwealth, more consistent with a higher plane of civilization.

I believe we have taken a step in advance of the present and anticipated the needs of the future, which is fitting and proper, as no people can advance far beyond the standard set by their laws. The public has demanded many reforms in legislation. Many of these have been accomplished, some have failed, legislation under our form of government must of necessity be a compromise.

But when a careful inventory has been taken of what has been done, I feel that every member of this House and Assembly can go home and receive the congratulations of his constituents for the work you have so faithfully performed.

Again I thank you for your kind token of remembrance, and let me again thank you for your noble and untiring work and the monument of legislation you have builded here.

A committee from the Senate appeared and notified the House that it was ready to adjourn.

Lee of Emmet, moved that Chief Clerk of the House be authorized to correct the Journal of today.

Motion prevailed.

The committee appointed to notify the Governor that the House was ready to adjourn reported that it had performed its duty.

Anderson of Hamilton moved that a committee be appointed to notify the Senate that the House is ready to adjourn.

Motion prevailed, and the Speaker appointed as such committee: Anderson of Hamilton and Kull of Howard.

Motion prevailed.

Klay of Sioux moved that a vote of thanks be extended to the House Enrolling Clerk for her faithful performance of duties in enabling it to complete the enrollment in due season.

Motion prevailed.

The Speaker announced that as Speaker of the House, in the presence of the House, he had signed Senate File Nos. 33, 407, 212, 434, 59, 298, 433, 432, 113 and Senate Joint Resolution No. 6.

SPEAKER FEELY'S ADDRESS OF WELCOME.

Arriving at the House of Representatives, Hon. Guy A. Feely, Speaker of the House, spoke as follows:

Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa—It is indeed a great pleasure for me on behalf of the membership of this House to extend a cordial and generous welcome to you, the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa. I feel that I can but inadequately express the emotions which fill the hearts of the members of this General Assembly upon this occasion. You have come down to us from a former generation, and your presence here today will be an inspiration for us to emulate the great work which you have so nobly begun in the years that have gone. We are proud of Iowa's sturdy pioneers, whose daring and progressive spirit prompted them to brave the perils and hardships of a new and untried land. The integrity and courage and industry of those rugged characteristics of the pioneer have left their stamp upon our early laws. We point with pride to the justice and equality of those laws, and I firmly believe that the progress and prosperity and happiness of this commonwealth of ours are due to the high aim of these early pioneers. You had no old, established precedents to follow. You buided the foundation of this government of ours from your sense of right and justice and equality, based upon the broad principles of human experience and the equality of mankind. Under your guiding hand from the first appearance of our star upon the National firmament its radiance has brightened with the passing years because the fires have burned there in the breast of the founders. These legislative laws are yours, and you honor them and honor us by your presence here today. In the shifting scenes of time you stand today upon an eminence of honors faithfully earned and we earnestly desire that Providence will deal kindly with you and lengthen out your days to permit your presence at these functions here for many years to come. (Applause.)

RESPONSE BY HON. G. L. DOBSON.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Thirty-third General Assembly—Twenty-two years ago I had the privilege of occupying a seat in this Chamber. I had also the pleasure of meeting with the second gathering of the Pioneer Lawmakers' Association of Iowa, and from that day until today I have looked forward with pleasure to the time when I could belong to the Pioneer Lawmakers' Association of Iowa. Twenty-two years ago, when I looked into the faces of the men who laid the foundation of the great State of Iowa,—up to that time there was no Association—I suppose the average member thought that the best of Iowa was assembled in the Twenty-first General Assembly, and, after looking over the situation and meeting with these great men, men who had met for the sole and only purpose of giving to Iowa the very best law that the best minds of Iowa could devise, I have looked forward with pleasure to that time when I could under their rules, become a member of that association, and today I have been initiated. I suppose every General Assembly naturally thinks that they are doing a little better work than that of every other Assembly that preceded them. My good friend, Mike McDonald, who served with me in the Twenty-first General Assembly, told me that before he became a member of the legislature he supposed that all laws were enacted according to the very highest ideals, but that after he had served one term he discovered that all laws of any great importance were as a matter of fact compromise measures. He said when he came down he thought it took a good man to occupy a seat in the Capitol building, but when he really come to know the situation, his opinion was considerably modified.

The members of the Thirty-third General Assembly have great responsibilities resting upon them. They have as fine and intelligent a constituency as can be found in any part of the world; a constituency that demands the very best service and the greatest effort that can be put forth for the betterment of the people of Iowa, ever keeping in mind the purity of the home-life and the protection of the same from the designs of men who care not for the same, and I believe the members of the Thirty-third General Assembly will demonstrate before they leave the Capitol City that the people of Iowa in its several districts made no mistake in selecting the representatives that are here assembled.

Just one thing further and I am through. I noticed some men in the Twenty-first General Assembly when important matters were before this body for settlement that involved the welfare of Iowa, found it convenient to retire to the cloak room and did not dare to meet those great questions, and were inclined to be on both sides of a question, and I want to say to you men that this class of men has disappeared largely. There is no place for that kind of men, but for men of conviction; that stand for the better principles, for the homes of Iowa there is always a place. Those are the men, I believe whose names will go down to posterity and are the best men that Iowa ever produced.

We thank this body for the courtesies they have extended to the Pioneer Lawmakers by granting them this opportunity of appearing before them. (Applause.)

ADDRESS BY MR. JACOBS OF CALHOUN.

Mr. Speaker and Pioneer Law-Makers—I assure you that I appreciate the opportunity of appearing on this program and expressing my appreciation for the services rendered to the State of Iowa by its pioneer law-makers. I trust that in all the years to come this organization will make biennial pilgrimage to the historic scenes of legislative action to inspire coming legislators to measure up to the high standard and example of pioneer accomplishment.

No people can be truly great and prosperous without wise and beneficent legislation. As we read the history of nations we find that eras of prosperity are always associated with wisdom of statemanship. If we read the history of Rome, the greatest nation in antiquity, we find that at one period a people of the same blood, under the same genial skies, blessed with the same fertility of resources, are ignorant, poverty-stricken, and without a single lofty ideal; that under another period commerce extends, the arts prosper and the people are happy and contented. If we seek the reason for this change, we find it in the laws under which the people were governed. So it has been in all ages and among all peoples.

The law-makers of the State of Iowa occupy a unique position among the law-makers of the civilized countries of the world. They were not hampered by any crystallized conditions of injustice and inequality. They came to a new state unexampled in fertility, and represented a people who possessed in largest measure the principles of liberty. Someone has said that a fixed idea is like a gimlet; each year gives it a turn. To remove it the first year is like plucking the hair out by the roots; the second year like tearing the skin; the third year like crushing the bone; and the fourth year like removing the very brain itself. To the constituents of these pioneer law-makers the principles of liberty were fixed ideas, and they could no more be destroyed than the people themselves.

The real assets of this state do not consist of the fertile valleys and uplands, in the wonderful material prosperity surrounding us, in the wealth of factory and business house, in the stocks and bonds and assets in the bank, but rather in the legislative action which has placed upon the statute books of all time the principles of liberty brought to the State of Iowa by the pioneer. And if the time shall ever come in this state when our people are called upon to choose between the evidences of material prosperity and the evidences of statesmanship on our statute books, they had better destroy all this wealth of factory and city, all this prosperity of the farm, and hold fast to the evidences of statesmanship. You may sow in ashes these broad fields of the State of Iowa, burn down these towns and cities, destroy all this wealth about us, and with the laws upon our statute books we can go out and reclaim the desert places, build again the cities and towns, and restore our material prosperity. But let our people repudiate our fundamental laws, and notwithstanding this unparalleled prosperity, our people would journey back to savagery and barbarism.

These pioneer law-makers could not have built this state alone and single handed. They represent a constituency that stretches back to the days when this state was a magnificent wilderness. They are not alone in this accomplishment.

Yesterday afternoon I walked through the corridor of this Capitol before the cabinets where stand the war-worn flags of the many companies of the State of Iowa, dedicated there to remain as long as the Capitol of this patriotic state shall stand, while before them through all the years to come will pass with reverent tread a multitude that no man can number; and I thought how glorious and yet how mournful that marshaling of the flags. No more the gallant waving in the breeze; no more the proud flaunting on parade; no more the wild flight in the face of foe to victory on stormy battlements. How silently they stood, sacred with the memory of Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Vicksburg and a hundred other campaigns of the Civil war. Their mute wounds told the story of rebel hate. This one torn by shot of some wayward son of the Republic long since forgiven. This one cut by saber thrust of some child of treason who should have given life and strength that no dishonor came upon the flag his grandsire once defended. There stood the standard carved from the heart of the rugged oak shattered by the conflict on the confederate battlement. There black like a splash of night lay the blood of a color-bearer where once the gleaming stars shone down in victory on Lookout Mountain, and the blue of that banner blended with the blue of the heavens.

Hearts have broken over those silent relics; they stand for hopes forever stilled in death; for heart's bravest thought and daring; for patriot's fondest dream. The flood of sunlight parting in the western doorways and flooding the silent ranks, seemed an aureole about the mildewed folds and over the dimming stars such as medaeval tradition has framed so lovingly about our Savior's head, and I thought it was the spirit of sacrifice of the pioneers of this state as they so lovingly bound up those silken folds and gave their lives and the lives of their loved ones that not one star should fall from its glorious setting. In that moment the threads so faded seemed golden and bright silver, and the dimming stars again gleamed like the diamonds of the night. These men sustained by sacrifice and heroism the work of the pioneer legislators of the State of Iowa.

These law-makers could have done nothing without the support of men and women all over this State of Iowa. The pioneers of Iowa were men of rugged virtue, and have transformed a magnificent wilderness into a magnificent civilization. As a type of these fast disappearing citizens I wish to tell you of an old friend of mine who bears sturdily and patriotically his weight of well-nigh four score years. Surrounded by his children and his children's children he dwells on the homestead located in the early fifties by his grandfather, near the site of the home where he bade adieu to his wife and babies and entrusted them to the care of his father while he went away to defend the integrity of this nation. Just round the turn of the road stands the "Cottonwood" schoolhouse named from the original schoolhouse in that section of the country, built by the pioneers and rough-hewn from cottonwood logs. Upon the corner of his acres stands a little country church erected by his contributions and the contributions of his neighbors, with its spire pointing him the promise of immortality. Prosperous, contented with his lot, sustained by his staff and his Bible, the infirmities of his age soothed by the loving presence of the wife of his youth, he journeys slowly down the western slopes of life to the land everlasting. May no shadow intervene to dim his vision on his final journey!

It may be thought by some to be good taste to sneer at the conscience of the rural hamlet and ignorance of the country crossroads, but without the support of such pioneers all over the State of Iowa, the work of these pioneer legislators would have been in vain. Constituents such as this man and his wife all over the State of Iowa held up the hands of these legislators and inspired them to write upon our statute books the wise and beneficent laws under which we prosper today.

I remember reading that when Sir Humphrey Gilbert, the half-brother of Sir Walter Raleigh, was returning from a colonization trip to the new world in the sixteenth century, his vessel was hailed by its companion, and he responded with the words; "It is as near heaven by sea as by land," and these words carried back to his home and friends are preserved in history as the last words that he uttered. But sometimes when I take up with reverent hands the constitution of my native state; sometimes when I read and ponder upon her statutes; sometimes when I look out over this broad state and reflect on the wealth, prosperity, culture and contentment of her people, I think that we are a little nearer Heaven in this State of Iowa than in any other place in the world.

Again I wish to express my tribute of admiration for the Pioneer Lawmakers of the State of Iowa, the humble men who built this great state and laid its foundation so strong and so secure, and I trust that the inspiration of this presence today may lead us to accomplishment that will add to the luster of the law-makers of the State of Iowa.

RESPONSE BY HON. ALONZO ABERNETHY.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House of the Thirty-third General Assembly—The Pioneer Lawmakers' Association originating, so far as I am concerned, about 23 years ago has combined many thoughts as they bring back to us interesting memories upon which we are inclined to dwell. I think now of the method of reaching the Capital of the State. Those in the north part left the train at Nevada and walked most of the way across the watery and muddy road of the wide Skunk Bottom to reach Des Moines. I had occasion to visit the University during that session of the Eleventh General Assembly and I took the stage to Newton. Those from the older sections of southeastern Iowa left the train at Monroe. When we reached here we found a city pretending to have 6,000 people, with a street railway which began at the courthouse on Court avenue and came across the river on that street and stopped at the foot of 7th street. There were two cars, as I recall, both of them standing during the winter in the mud at the side of the track. I remember, and could recount many scenes of that interesting season just at the close of the war where we passed the 13th amendment to the Constitution of the United States; where we passed in the corresponding—— the first railroad rate and passenger tariff; where we very earnestly acted was caused by a resolution introduced by the eloquent Col. Sapp of Council Bluffs. As I remember it, about two-thirds of that House were returned soldiers and we were loyal citizens in those days. It would be uninteresting for me to recount any of these early scenes. You have read them and heard them related over and over again. I might say, if I were in any other presence that the recent legislature, rather unsympathetic listeners on certain occasions when I have been called to appear before them; largely, however, in the other House. However, I ought to state, I was bemoaning the fact to a Brother Assemblyman yesterday that while in the old days we had giants here in our midst, hundreds or more of the men who made Iowa, Territorial Judges, United States Senators, and all men from all parts of the state, and that now if there were such, they did not appear. "Why," he said "don't you understand how that comes? Don't you know that 30 or 40 years ago Iowa sent its best men to the legislature? They were great men. It was the best there was to be a member of the House or Senate. Now, that class of men don't reach the legislature." I give you his version, not my own. I presume it was his own experience in his own House particularly.

We very greatly enjoy meeting with you. I suppose my only service is to express the very earnest and cordial thanks of our body for the very pleasant and very delightful reception that we have received here and at the very complimentary things that have been said of us, which we know very well haven't any very great basis, and which, doubtless, the givers of them knew as well. So that probably the thing for me on this occasion, in view of the interruptions of the work in which you are so earnestly and thoughtfully engaged will be for me to do somewhat as a friend of mine did in a recent time in a neighboring city. A tall, lank, awkward fellow was walking down a pretty steep hill one icy morning, and in some unfortunate manner encountered a very fat lady, and in this condition they went to the walk, she on top, and so at the foot of the hill she, of course, was very much mortified and very angry, and that condition was not very greatly relieved when he said in a piping voice, "Beg your pardon, Madam, but you will have to get off before I can get up." (Applause.)

ADDRESS BY MR. CROZIER OF MARION.

Pioneer Law-makers of Iowa—As has been said, by the Speaker of the House, "You have come from another generation." We greet you as the founders of our great state. To you, to your wisdom, courage and patriotism the people of Iowa owe a great and lasting debt of gratitude.

I would not address you in term of fulsome flattery, nor attempt to exaggerate the value of your services to the people of this great commonwealth, but I am proud to acknowledge that the present wealth, prosperity and happiness of our people and the commanding situation of the State of Iowa in the great sisterhood of states of our beloved country, is largely due to the wisdom, intelligence and fidelity of the pioneer settler and the pioneer legislator. It is no longer a question of what the State of Iowa will be for already have we reached a point where we can challenge comparison with any other state or country on the globe. But, while we are congratulating ourselves on our much favored condition, our material wealth and resources, the intelligence of our people and the wisdom and beneficence of our laws, let us hope that we will never forget, and that our children will not forget, how much we owe to those who, under much less favored conditions, enduring the privations and inconveniences of frontier life, laid the foundations of our present greatness. For my own part, I will say, that my gratitude for the great services you performed in planting, watering and nurturing the tree of our prosperity, is at least equal to my admiration of the appetite of those who partake of the fruit.

While I am not insensible to the advantages of material wealth, while I trust I do not underrate the blessings of this prosperity which in so high a degree the people of our state enjoy, I wish to acknowledge obligations of a much higher nature and without which wealth, power and influence tend rather to degenerate than to elevate a people.

You laid the foundation of our state government on principles of right and justice. You gave us a constitution recognizing the supreme right of self-government in the people and that no man is good enough to govern his fellow-man without his consent. You gave us a code of laws which left to every man the broadest freedom at the same time protected the humblest in the exercise of every essential right. He is indeed blind who fails to see in the constitution and laws of our state, that spirit of justice expressed in that truly American maxim "equal rights to all, special privileges to none."

This system of government is the proudest, the most enduring monument to your memory. You not only laid the foundation of a great state and secured to millions of people the right of self-government, but your influence has contributed vastly to the elevation of mankind every where.

I see in your number, some who were here in the days of the log cabin and the old fire place. God bless the old log cabin. It gave us Abraham Lincoln. Aye, and on the broad prairies of the west it sheltered a generation of the highest and noblest type of manhood and womanhood that any age has ever produced. From the humble cabins of the west have gone forth statesmen whom the world delighted to honor, whose early lives were lives of toil, who slept under the clapboard roof and who obtained the rudiments of their education around the old fireplace. In the hour of our nation's peril no braver or truer man ever went forth to battle for the rights than the pioneers of Iowa.

While we might be excused even for a little vanity when we contemplate the wealth and power of our state, we must not forget that these things alone cannot make a state or people great. The head and heart of the people must be educated. No consideration of gain should be thought of at the expense of the sacrifice of correct moral principle. A people with no higher purpose than the accumulation of wealth and power cannot long endure. The past is full of examples of such and they live only on the historians page. A nation or people may dare to do an injustice but in time it will pay the penalty.

To my fellow legislators, I might say that this is a fitting occasion to take note of our duties and responsibilities as members of this House. If we are to discharge our whole duty to the people of this state, we must banish every consideration, save the public good. No consideration of partisan advantage should be thought of in determining what measures shall receive our sanction. If we address ourselves to the work that is before us in this spirit without asking ourselves what effect this or that measure may have on our prospect of re-election, or how this or that measure may effect the party to which we belong, seeking nothing but the right, we will have acquitted ourselves worthily. If we do less than this, we will have failed in our duty.

In conclusion, let me say to you, pioneer legislators, that I believe this assembly will at least endeavor to do its full duty as servants of the people whom we, for a time, represent. That we will emulate the example you have given us and will seek at all times, to honor the great State of Iowa and in all things, endeavor to show ourselves worthy to be your successors. Eternal justice our guiding star.

RESPONSE BY HON. BEN MCCOY.

Mr. Speaker—It is the first time that I have taken advantage of being a Pioneer legislator, and I have rather enjoyed it. I find, however, that whether we feel Rip Van Winklish or not, we are looking it a good deal, but I have not noticed anybody feeling it very much. I listened today to Mr. Matthews' paper on the Recollections of the Fifth General Assembly and he recounted a condition that was unique to me. He said out of that General Assembly that they had not got a Governor, nor a Judge, nor a member of Congress; hadn't got anything but Lieut. Governor, and he did not seem to think there was much in that. In the Twentieth, Twenty-first and the Twenty-second, if I am right, history is repeating itself again. If there was any man that was not getting ready to be a Governor or a member of Congress, or a Judge or something of that kind, I have forgotten his name. They did not all make it. I know some of them did not make it.

When I came in last night the first thing I saw and read, was about what you did yesterday,—I think it was only yesterday—in the matter of the re-submission of what occurred when you did do it. When I came into the building today I came up in the elevator, and as I came out the distinguished jurist, Judge Weaver, came in, and my mind went back at once to the heroic times that we were living in when Judge Weaver was carried on a stretcher,—perhaps from Hardin County. I didn't know where the stretcher started from to get here—to vote on the question of statutory prohibition, and it seemed like I had fallen in where we had fell out. Now, Mr. Matthews was able to show us today before the pioneer legislators session the original pass; at least I thought it was the original pass. It was a pass from the first railroad that ever got into Iowa to Mr. Matthews, a member of the Fifth General Assembly, to ride from Iowa City, perhaps to Davenport, and I suggested at the time that that pass had gotten us into a great deal of trouble. We were trying to get away from it twenty-five years ago. You succeeded in getting away from it.

Another thing that struck me when I got here—and if you do not like such speeches, you will not get one now. I thought this: This matter of reforms you can tell very little about. All the legislatures are reform legislatures. I was here when we were building and enacting the statutes that sought to control the railroads, and they were enacted at those sessions, and my attention was called to the fact that our records were in the book, and I thought of one vote that I cast then that I would not care if the record was expunged, and yet it is proposed at this time as a reform and is going to go through. Why, we were breaking our necks,—somebody asked me to tell about this—at that time we were breaking our necks to get a Railroad Commission that was elected, and I understand you are breaking your necks to get a Railroad Commission that is appointed. That is what I had in mind. Now, I come from the people today, and I have not told you that, and I am going to the people, but what was the trouble to us and the people at that time was that about half the people were restless because the legislature was not doing anything and the balance of them were lying awake of nights for fear we were doing something, and that is just about the condition when you get out among the people now. I don't know what it is; whether history repeating itself; I am not afraid of this. I wanted to see that the foundations were laid right before I was in the legislature and been being made right ever since. I have tried to keep up with the procession in a way, and I got that information from an old soldier in my town, one who had the most lead in him of any old soldier, and I asked him what induced him to be out in the sun, in the ——— that was about him, and he said he was trying to keep up with the procession and he was going to keep up with the procession. So if you keep up with the procession, gentlemen, you will be going forward and never backward. (Applause.)

ADDRESS BY MR. PERKINS OF DELAWARE.

Mr. Speaker, Pioneer Law-makers, Ladies and Gentlemen—There comes with the echo of the past, legislators of Iowa, memories of the days that have gone and we wonder where the first ten of the legislatures of the State of Iowa are, so few of those before the sixties are here to answer the roll call today, but we think of the days when the flag was assailed, when the home was forgotten, when the legislative halls were deserted, when they answered to the roll call in another place. Go down the Mississippi to the hamlets and along the great rivers that flow into that stream in its course to the Gulf and along their banks you will find little stones marking the resting places of the legislators of the days before the sixties. He rests in a far-off grave. Many and many a one went forth from this home and gave up his life to the country and it is no wonder that in the early legislatures of Iowa there were so few men that became Governors of the state, but they became greater than Governors.

They became greater than the law givers of the state. They became the saviours of the state. The law-makers who gave to the State of Iowa its Code, who gave to the State of Iowa its constitution, were building greater than they hoped. From a little beginning with less than 10,000 people when it was organized as a territory with its only manufacturing plant, a hollow stump with a stone grinding in the top of it for its manufacturing plant.

In every direction have proceeded the great railroad lines of this nation and the manufacturing plant has developed from the hollow stump until in each and every hamlet from the north line to the south, from the east to the west, you hear the hum of machinery and see the smiling faces of the industrious laboring people of this great state.

The laws that you made were good. You laid the foundation deep and broad and those of the early days who interpreted the laws for this grand state, gave to the people of this state such an interpretation of the law that the people still rule in Iowa. You made laws for the common people. You thought for the man who, like yourselves, had the burdens of life to bear and as you laid deep the foundation on which to build, you thought not to give to any one special privileges. You retained within the grasp of the great State of Iowa the privileges for all and not for the few. It was a great task that you undertook to do in those days. You left your homes to seek the seat of government not along the railroads, not in palace cars, but on horseback and the stage coach. You were following the trail of the plow across the prairie to find your way to the seat of government. When you reached there, you found the humble state house. There you laid deep and broad the foundation for a great commonwealth. You laid the foundation for great institutions of learning. You thought of the little schoolhouse that you left at home. You cared for the great school that you were willing to found. You thought of the state as it would develop and grow, as it has grown. You saw far down in the future an institution of learning. You saw the families of industrious, happy people that peopled the prairies of Iowa. You sent to the legislatures of this nation men who were great, men, who, when they reached the halls of Congress, could not be spared from the congress of the nation. They toiled long years until, worn out by the service of the nation, they laid down their burden, and we of the present day and generation are attempting to put in their places men of equal ability, men whom the nation will demand and keep.

This is a great state. You built it. You laid the foundation so that it grew great and strong. Iowa has become a power in the halls of Congress and for the development of this nation. Iowa has become grand by the laws that you gave her, by the foundation that you put deep down for her institutions. And when we gather in the fall of the year and see the graves of the pioneer statesmen that are lying along the streams of our own land, it is an inspiration to think of the homes that have been blessed by the laws they made. We find no other inspiration which will go ringing down the ages as an encouragement to each and every boy from the little farm, from the little red schoolhouse dotting the prairies to the strong boy that comes out from the universities that you have started on the prairies of Iowa like that which comes from the acts of the pioneer law-makers.

It is a blessing that you bestowed on this people by the acts that you did. It was some privation for you to leave your homes and families for the conveyances were not such that you could take your sweetheart or wife when you came to the capitol in those pioneer days. You left them at home. You came here. You labored faithfully and well for the upbuilding of the laws of Iowa. Go look into the pages of the Code of Iowa as it is today. More than fifty years have passed since the last constitutional convention of this great state and no attempt to remodel the constitution. Only one man of that constitutional convention still lingers among you. He has grown gray in the service of his country. And yet that constitution remains with but few additions on which you built your statutes. We have not changed them as much as we have tried to add to them, following the models that you have put there so that we of the present generation only hope that we may add some little to the structure that you laid so deep and broad and well for the people of Iowa.

ADDRESS BY GOV. BERYL F. CARROLL.

Members of the Iowa Pioneer Law-makers Association—It was my pleasure yesterday to talk to the Pioneer Law-makers for a few minutes, and I assure you it is a pleasure today. I am glad to note that your numbers have somewhat swollen since yesterday, but I am sorry to learn that ten of your members have passed away.

I presume there has not been a session of the legislature since the state was organized but what has given the state legislation that would be regarded as of vast importance. I have listened with a great deal of pleasure to the kind things that have been said about you as pioneers. I want to say to you that they are not flattery; they are a just recognition of a work well done. And, while I say that to you, I want you to return every year, and just have you keep in mind what I shall say, that all which has been said in commendation of your work I feel amply justified in saying in commendation of the man who now constitute the Iowa legislature. It has been said that the people fear the legislatures. I have never had much fear of an Iowa legislature. Sometimes I have feared that they would not do the right thing, and will not do it in the right way, but our form of government is such that mistakes cut so little figure with us and we have such ample means of correcting them that nothing that a legislature might do need greatly shock us. We make mistakes. It is human to make mistakes, but we profit by them, and better conditions are brought about by recognition of the fact that we do make mistakes. One of your speakers remarked that he came from the people and would return to the people. I would modify the expression of the speaker by saying he is now with the people. There is no difference between the men that occupy seats in the legislature, except for the time being, and the men who are out on the farm and in factories and in stores and in the workshops of the State of Iowa, because my friends who are now in the state legislature most of them have farms, factories and stores to return to. Our legislatures change greatly, we always have a great reserve force, a great army, and I will say we have a great many volunteers. That is the moral strength of our government. Great men sometimes get in the legislature, but they are not always in the legislature at one time, and they do not always leave the legislature at one time, and these boys, comparatively speaking with you old men, are filled with the same spirit, the same disposition and the same desire to serve their constituency faithfully and well that you were filled with when you were in the legislature. I know something of the trial; I know something of the tasks that have to be performed, but I have always had a deep and settled conviction that an Iowa legislature, no matter whether the Thirty-third, or any other, have a desire to do the right thing.

I do not think I should talk to you longer than I have this afternoon. Your work as pioneers is a matter of record. It constitutes the statutes of the state today enlarged upon and modified by those who have followed you, and I submit to you that the Code of the State of Iowa will stand comparison with that of any other state of the Union, and those persons who are responsible for the Code are not all Pioneers and are not all of the present day. My friend McCoy referred to the fact that some years ago he and those associated with him were bending every effort in one direction and that many of you are now bending your efforts in another direction. I am not going to say whether he and his co-workers were right, or whether you and your co-workers are right, but I want to leave this thought with you, that a law in the State of Iowa is never so sacred but there is a weakness and our people are ready to recognize that. You have been dealing during this session with the school laws of the state. I presume there is not a man within the sound of my voice but what is ready to admit that our school laws at the present time are defective, very much so, and yet there was a time when those laws were, perhaps, as well adapted to the conditions then existing in this state as laws could have been at that time; but conditions are changing, and under our system of government we are able to adjust ourselves to those changed conditions. Now, do not misunderstand me. I am neither pleading for or against the law, but leaving with you that thought, that our legislature is so constituted and so composed as to be able to deal with any condition that may be brought before it.

I am certainly grateful to you for being permitted to make these remarks, and I hope in the next two years your numbers will not be thinned as they have been in the last two years, and that you will continue in good health and be permitted to come back at the end of two years.

Speaker—Our program will conclude by remarks of President Moir of the Pioneer Law-makers' Association of Iowa.

President Moir—Gentlemen of the House of Representatives. You would scarce expect one of my age to speak in public on the stage. Thus remarked a small boy nearly a century ago, and those words are doubly applicable today to the man who is nearing the shores of the Eternal Morning and is within sight of his 85th milestone in life's journey. A wise has said, "I was young, now I am old, and many changes have passed before me." Many solemn changes have passed before me. When I reflect that I know of only two men now living who were in the Ninth General Assembly with me, it makes me feel a little sad; and when I second the remark made by our worthy Governor, that ten of our beloved members who met with us two years ago have crossed the Mystic River, I cannot help but feel a little sad. I feel like that one who treads alone some ancient hall deserted.

I said many changes have passed before me. I have lived to see this nation, though an infant in years become a giant in every element that tends to make a great and powerful and prosperous nation. Those who have seen the years that I have seen, have lived while twenty-two presidents have occupied the presidential chair in these United States and all have crossed the Mystic River but two. When I first drew breath near the banks of the Bonnie Dundee in the land of———— there was not a mile of railroad in the civilized world. Now there are 220,000 miles of railroad in these United States. Palatial coaches cross this continent from ocean to ocean at the speed of a mill a minute. But I am not going to occupy your time any longer. The time has arrived when we are invited to meet the senators in the Senate Chamber, but I want to say in conclusion, Mr. Speaker, and I speak the voice of every Pioneer law-maker within the sound of my voice when I say that we desire to tender to you our most sincere thanks for this kind welcome and generous reception that you have given us this afternoon, and as the years roll on, as the years pass and go, and you become Pioneer Law-makers, may you meet with the same generous reception in the legislature that then exists that you have tendered us today. (Applause.) Adjourned to Senate Chamber.

In all his public services he proved to be a public servant of unimpeachable integrity, and one who always had uppermost in his mind, the welfare of the people.

The life, character and public service of the deceased, commend him to the respect, confidence and high esteem of all who knew him, therefore be it

Resolved: That in his death the county and state have lost a citizen and public servant, whose life was above reproach, and whose public service was one of fidelity and devotion to duty, and we extend to his bereaved relatives and friends our sincere sympathy in their sorrow; and be it further Adopted, January 28, 1909.

CAPT. JOHN H. LOUIS.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee to whom was referred the matter of preparing suitable resolutions relative to the life and services of the late Captain John H. Louis, formerly an honored member of the House, beg leave to submit the following memorial:

John H. Louis was born November 21, 1841, in Snyder county, Pennsylvania. He died at his home at Harlan, Iowa, January 9, 1909. His childhood and youth were spent in Milwaukee, Wisconsin, where in the public schools of that city and in an academy, he received a liberal English education. In early manhood he returned to his native state and county, and in 1862 he volunteered his services to aid in the preservation of the union of states by enlisting in the 131st Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, Company F, in which company he served one year. He took an active part at South Mountain and at Antietam, was wounded at Parkersburg, and was discharged on account of disability. After he recovered he recruited a company for the 74th Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry, Company D, and served first as Lieutenant, later as Adjutant and finally as Captain of Company C. Soon after the war closed he came west as far as Denison, Iowa; this city being the terminus of the Northwestern railroad at that time. From there he staged to Harlan and soon after arriving there made settlement on a piece of land in Cuppy's Grove, where he resided for several years, engaged in farming and teaching school. He served as a member of the board of supervisors; was four times elected auditor of Shelby county, was admitted to the bar to practice law, and was an honored member of the Twenty-fourth General Assembly. He was for many years identified with the administration of affairs in Lincoln township in his county. For years he served as a member of the school board of Harlan, and was the mayor of that city resigning said office only a few days prior to his death. In every official capacity he served his people with efficiency and honesty. He rendered to his state and nation distinguished services, both as a private and public citizen. He loved his home and family; he respected and had consideration for his neighbor, and it can truly be said that he fulfilled his mission on earth before starting on his long and last journey, and made the world better by his having lived. His private life was clean; his public record one of fidelity to his people, who honored themselves by honoring him. Therefore be it

Resolved: That a transcript of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and a copy thereof sent to the deceased's family.

WHEREAS, The life and character of deceased were such as to entitle him to the respect and esteem of all who knew him, and his services to the state and county of such a character as to command the confidence and gratitude of his fellow citizens; therefore be it

He became a resident of Iowa in 1852 and lived to see the State of Iowa grow and develop, and rounded out his career of four score and four years keeping pace with the growth of the state at all times. A devout Christian, a fearless advocate of what he believed to be right, and withal an honest man, his memory will long be revered by his state, his friends and his neighbors. Be it further

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public services of Hon. John Wilson, beg leave to submit the following report:

WHEREAS, The All-Wise Father of us all removed from this earth on October 4, 1908, John Wilson, an honored member of this House from Jackson county in the Eleventh General Assembly; and

WHEREAS, The life and character of the deceased were such as to entitle him in unusual degree to the admiration and respect of all who knew him; his attainments and his success so conspicuous as to be an incentive to all men to be upright, pure and true; and his service to the state and to his fellow men of so lofty character as to command the homage of mankind, and to entitle him to the "well done, thou good and faithful servant," which is the highest benediction of the Almighty; therefore be it

Resolved: That in his career, which had its origin near Glasgow, Scotland, in 1823, and the major portion of whose eighty-four years were spent upon the prairies of our own beloved commonwealth, we recognize a type of useful, helpful living which we deem worthy of recognition and of emulation; that we admire the indomitable courage with which he lifted himself from humble beginnings to a position of influence which gave courage and hope to others; that we commend his unselfish devotion to public and private duties and his unwavering fidelity to the cause of right and justice; that we recognize those qualities of large-hearted generosity, of tender sympathy, of wholesome good cheer and consideration for others which made him a power for good over all with whom he came in contact; and be it further

Resolved: That in token of our appreciation of his well spent life these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House, and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward engrossed copies of the same to each of his two surviving sons, as evidence of the high regard in which posterity holds the memory of their father.

HON. SAMUEL H. FAIRALL.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to draft and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Hon. Samuel Husband Fairall, late a member of the House of Representatives in the Ninth General Assembly and in the Senate in the Twelfth, Thirteenth, Fourteenth and Fifteenth General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following as their report:

Samuel Husband Fairall was born in Allegany county, Maryland, June 21, 1835. He was fifth in direct descent from Samuel Snowden, who was a member of Prince George's County Committee, to carry into execution the association of the Continental Congress. His ancestor, Richard Snowden, was Captain of the provincial forces, 1700 to 1703. After attending various academies he entered Washington College, at Washington, Pa., from which he graduated in June, 1855. Resolving to enter the legal profession at Iowa City, Iowa, he left Maryland and on October 1, 1855, he reached Iowa City. Mr. Fairall entered the office of William Penn Clark, to study law. Mr. Clark was Supreme Court Reporter at this time. On June 21, 1856, he was admitted to practice in the Supreme Court on a certificate signed by ex-Judge J. C. Hall, James Love, afterward Judge of the U. S. District Court, and Colonel Sam Marshall. In November, 1856, the young lawyer wedded Miss Ellen J. Workman, whom he wooed and won during his college days at Washington, Pa. They moved to the old homestead, east of Iowa City, in 1858, where they have since resided, raising a family of five sons and two daughters. There, a few years ago, Mrs. Fairall passed away. Leaving the law office of Mr. Clark, Mr. Fairall, in 1858, formed a partnership with Hon. J. B. Templin, one of the oldest and most prominent members of the bar. In 1861 he formed a partnership with Hon. Geo. J. Boal, until 1873, the firm becoming one of the prominent law firms of the west, having a large lucrative practice in state and federal courts.

After 1873 Mr. Fairall continued in the practice of law until elected Judge of the Eighth Judicial District in 1886. In 1890 he was re-elected. In that responsible position he made a splendid record, winning the highest commendation for judicial acumen and fairness from the practicing attorneys and received very few reversals of his decisions from the Supreme Court of the State. In December, 1893, he resumed the active practice of law and continued until the time of his death. As a lawyer, especially in the trial of many noted criminal cases in all parts of Iowa, he made a reputation which was not confined to his own state. He was eloquent and had that dramatic power and magnetism which impressed a jury with his extensive legal knowledge was combined enough humor to make his pleas in nearly every case successful. Among the brilliant and profound lawyers of Iowa, he will always be ranked among the leaders.

In 1861, Mr. Fairall became a candidate for the House of Representatives as a Douglass democrat and though the normal republican majority in Johnson county was six hundred, he was elected by twenty-seven majority. His colleague, Hon. Rush Clark, Speaker of the House, put him on the Judiciary, Corporation and other important committees. Several important acts were passed at this session and the records show that Mr. Fairall took an active part in their enactment. He declined a renomination, but in 1864, he was elected a member of the County Board of Supervisors, and served until 1866, as agent for the relief fund to provide for the needs of families of many of the enlisted soldiers of the Union Army who were destitute, he issued orders for $8,000 more than the Board had fixed, but the generous action was condoned by the Board and never forgotten by "The Boys in Blue" and their families. Mr. Fairall was also largely instrumental while on the Board of settling the railroad bond of indebtedness of the county. In 1867 he was elected State Senator. In the Senate he was chairman of the committee to recommend many amendments to the practice act, which were adopted and are now part of the Code of 1897. In 1871 he was re-elected State Senator, though his opponent was the great republican statesman, Hon. S. J. Birkwood. It was largely due to his eloquent addresses and potent influence among his brother senators that legislative aid was given to the State University to establish the Law and Medical department, and the friends of that institution will ever remember the faithful work done for it by Senator Fairall. Though never a bitter partisan he was a prominent leader in his party, having been a delegate to the State Convention for almost fifty years. He presided at the State Convention which sent him as a delegate to the National Convention that nominated Horatio Seymour, for president in 1868.

Judge Fairall was for many years an active and efficient member of Trinity Episcopal Protestant church in Iowa City, Iowa, and one of its devoted and faithful vestrymen. The popularity of Judge Fairall among all classes of people was due to his genial, friendly disposition. His brother lawyers testified to his courtesy, his willingness to accommodate, his fraternal feeling. As one of Iowa's great lawyers his name will ever be prominent in the history of the state.

In the winter of 1874 the Iowa Senate appointed Senator Fairall a member of the committee to visit Northwest Iowa and investigate the conditions of the settlers brought to distress by the grasshopper affliction of the previous summer. Northwest had reason to gratefully remember Judge Fairall. His sympathies were keenly aroused and he became a powerful friend in the hour of dire need. Adjutant General Baker engaged in organizing relief for those who were suffering for food and clothing. Senator Fairall encouraged the movement and heartily enlisted in the work to secure from the General Assembly an appropriation to purchase seed for the spring planting. The constitutionality of such an appropriation was questioned but Senator Fairall argued the point in a convincing speech and won the case for the settlers. The men and women who passed through that experience are rapidly diminishing, but they should keep green the memory of Sam Fairall and look to it that the survivors do not suffer forgetfulness. Judge Fairall stood high in his profession. He loved men and loved life. Even the poorest found in him a friend and helper, and his love for brothers, sisters, children and grandchildren was a genuine affection.

On March 8, 1909, Judge Fairall passed away at his home in Iowa City, one that he had occupied for over fifty years, and on March 10th he was quietly laid away to eternal rest in the family lot in beautiful Oakland. The Masonic fraternity, of which he was an honored member, being in charge of the ceremony, which was in accordance with the beautiful rites of the order. Peace to his ashes.

WHEREAS, His life, character and services to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens.

Resolved: That in the death of this prominent citizen, his city, county and state has suffered the loss of an active, energetic and influential citizen and his family the loss of a kind and indulgent father.

HON. J. H. MACK.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life and public services of Hon. J. H. Mack, a member of the House in the Twenty-second and Twenty-third General Assemblies, begs leave to report the following:

The subject of this memorial was born in Guernsey county, Ohio, in 1837, and after residence in Indiana and Illinois, came to Madison county, Iowa, in 1857. He came up the river to Des Moines on a boat and landed near the mouth of Coon River. It was so wet and muddy that he traveled on foot from Des Moines to Grand River township, Madison county, Iowa. He was actively engaged in the practice of medicine for about twenty years, during which time he endured all the hardships and privations of the pioneer doctor. He also was engaged in the business of farming and acquired quite a number of farms in the community where he lived. He was very active in politics and during the last twenty-five years of his life determined the political affairs of the township where he lived. He was a veteran of the War of the Rebellion and served faithfully in the Forty-seventh Iowa Infantry until the termination of his enlistment. By reason of his energy and public spirit he laid out a town near the center of the civil township and by consent of all interested, it was named Macksburg in his honor. He was elected member of the House in the Twenty-second and Twenty-third General Assemblies and served on many important committees. During the latter years of his life he became deeply interested in the promotion of the Des Moines-Winterset-Creston Interurban Railroad. Although enfeebled in health by reason of age and the insidious ravages of an incurable disease, he spent the last years of his life to accomplish this object so dear to his heart, and it was because of his exposure and nervous strain incident to the prosecution of this enterprise that his death was hastened. He died on the 16th of March, 1908, leaving a record of patriotic services which will ever be cherished by the remaining members of his family, by his associates in the State Legislature, and a wide circle of friends.

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be entered on the Journal of the House and that an enrolled transcript of same be presented to his widow, Mrs. J. H. Mack, Macksburg, Iowa.

HON. CHARLES ALDRICH.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of Honorable Charles Aldrich, late a member of this House, beg leave to report the following memorial:

Charles Aldrich was born in Ellington, Chautauqua county, New York, October 2, 1828, of the stock of George Aldrich who migrated from Derbyshire, England, to Boston, Massachusetts, in 1631, arriving November 6th. His parents were Stephen and Eliza (Nicols) Aldrich.

He was educated in the rural schools of his native state and at Jamestown Academy which he attended for one year. In 1846 he entered the printing office of Clemment & Faxon, Buffalo, where he served an apprenticeship. He soon engaged in the newspaper field. He edited the Cattaraugus Sachem and Olean Journal. He moved to Iowa in 1857. He began his activities at Webster City, Hamilton county, as the founder and editor of the Hamilton Freeman. He was a strong force in the newspaper field of Iowa for almost the entire remainder of his life as the owner of or writer for newspapers and journals. He was at different times an editorial writer for the Dubuque Times and the Marshall Times and a special contributor to the Chicago Inter-Ocean and to many special journals particularly in the field of natural science. His most valuable writings are in the Annals of Iowa, Third Series, which he established and conducted as a branch of his work for the State of Iowa.

He had served as Secretary of the First Free Soil Convention in his native county at the age of 19. He was a partisan of the most vigorous type of his school from the day he reached Hamilton county. He was champion to men and measures embracing republican principles from the origin of the party.

He was Chief Clerk of this House by election in 1860, 1862, 1866 and 1870. He served as a member from Hamilton county by election in the Nineteenth General Assembly. He offered the first bill in the history of the state for the prohibition of free passes by railroads, and his words in behalf of the principle the bill advocated appeared in leading journals throughout the country. He induced the House of Representatives to adopt the Calendar. Its advantages soon caused its use to become permanent and to be adopted by the Senate.

He secured the passage of a law in 1858 for the publication of all new laws in county newspapers. He originated the movement in 1860 to supersede county judges by boards of supervisors. He drafted the bills which became laws requiring publication of proceedings of boards of supervisors. The statute passed in 1870 protecting harmless and useful birds was drafted by him and passed through his influence. It is with some amendments our law today.

He was the force which caused the "Granger Law" of 1874 to yield to the Commissioner or Massachusetts system. His labors through special acts and resolutions to render aid to persons and propositions that ever await the hand of a friend to be put on the way toward just recognition are traditional in this House.

He made good his counsel in support of Lincoln, closed his newspaper office and went to the front. He was commissioned First Lieutenant and Adjutant of the Thirty-second Iowa Infantry. Efficiency marked his service. Never of strong physique, the service reduced his health so that a promotion to a captaincy was declined in July, 1863, and the next winter required his resignation and retirement from the field. His insight into all military matters from the hearthstone of the private soldier to the orders of commanders-in-chief, his sympathy and appreciation in every phase of war is apparent in the writing he did or caused to be done, the records he preserved and the monuments and memorials he did so much to create.

He procured the placing of a brass tablet in the Hamilton county courthouse, commemorative to the men of the Spirit Lake Expedition of 1857. He participated as a commissioner in marking the spot of the Spirit Lake Massacre. He was a commissioner for the erection of the monument marking the grave of Sergeant Floyd near Sioux City. He was foremost in agitating the compilation of a Roster of all Iowa soldiers.

He served as commissioner on behalf, first of the State of Iowa and then of the United States, to investigate and report on the titles of the famous controversy over the Des Moines river lands. He was much in the city of Washington in this business and there formed acquaintances with men and activities which now make famous the Capitol of our nation for its architecture, library and museum classics. It was here he acquired a passion and devised a plan to express his soul in a work for his state like that being done on a greater scale in Washington and foreign capitals, to bring home to the Iowa public that which it should, but might never travel far to study and to see.

Charles Aldrich was instinctively a collector of information. He traveled in Europe and through the American centers under the guidance of a craving for knowledge. This he absorbed through the power of what he termed museum initiation. Observing the exteriors and contents of cathedrals, museums, art galleries and capitols, he was driven to the books and to living authorities upon these creations with an almost ungovernable passion. What he experienced he felt was the state of mind of those among whom he lived. His hunger made him long to appease the appetites of others. He brought with him into his home his best selection in art and letters. He was inspired as if with the touch or the sight of a man by the sight of his handwriting. It appealed to him with all that force with which the best evidence bears upon the judicial temperament.

He had thus in 1884 gathered about him a collection of documents noted throughout the country as an almost invaluable collection of autographs. A philanthropist by nature but modest of fortune he yielded to his impulse of putting into the hands of the people of Iowa all he had to give. So he presented his collection and offered his free services toward its installation in the state library and the further accumulation, conditioned upon their being properly preserved and displayed. The collection grew until 1888 the Legislature appropriated $1,000.00 for the care and preservation of objects in literature, art and science which should be presented to the state. This was the first recognition by the state of the popular museum principle of education. The collection tended toward objects of a historical kind to such a degree that the second reunion of the Iowa Pioneer Law Makers' Association took notice of its value, called the attention of the legislature thereto and through a committee presented a resolution to both houses upon which an appropriation of $3,000 was made by a unanimous vote, the bill directing the collection of documents, papers, etc., relating to the earlier days of our territory and state. The work being under the direction of the Trustee of the State Library, Mr. Aldrich was engaged by them to take charge. The Pioneer Law Makers made further appeal at its next session. Leading newspapers commended the enterprise, Governor Larrabee and Governor Boies in their biennial message complimented the work. A bill was introduced by Senator Gatch in the next General Assembly which passed that body with but fourteen adverse votes which were in the House, establishing a Historical Department, incorporating the Aldrich collection as a part of the work, creating the office of Curator with a tenure of six years and placing the work under the authority of the Trustees of the Iowa State Library. Mr. Aldrich was appointed Curator and that organization remained in effect during the remainder of Mr. Aldrich's life. In 1893 the Historical Department began the publication of Annals of Iowa, Third Series, under the direction of Mr. Aldrich, and the same has been continued as a quarterly publication. It has been devoted to two prime and invaluable objects, first collection and publication of direct testimony on men and events of Iowa's past, and, second an exchange medium for museum and library material.

At first quarters were assigned in the Capitol building. The Twenty-sixth General Assembly made a small appropriation looking to the beginning of a building for the accommodation of the Historical Department. What was called the west wing was completed in 1890 and the rest of the building except the rotunda and corridors was completed in 1907.

The activities that Mr. Aldrich inaugurated from time to time and which continued unabated, embrace the accumulation of works containing the data of state history, as files of Iowa newspapers and magazines, early territorial and state laws and documents, works of state and western history and biography, county histories, the publications of our religious bodies and educational institutions, and miscellaneous pamphlets.

Publications of neighboring states on similar lines, so far as it has been practicable to secure them in the way of exchange.

Official, state, national and general publications relating to the slavery question and the war for the Union.

Works relating to the Indian tribes of North America, but more especially to those in the valley of the Mississippi and its tributaries.

The publications of the United States census bureau from the foundation of the government, almanacs and other statistical works.

Works of American history, biography and genealogy.

Museum materials.

Manuscripts, autograph letters and portraits—an extension of "The Aldrich Collection," the original gift upon which the Historical Department was founded. Therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That we cherish the memory of Charles Aldrich and his efforts to preserve and perpetuate the history of our state and nation, and his eminent public service.

That his unselfish devotion to the state made manifest in so many ways, is an inspiration which must at all times be helpful to future generations.

That as a recognition of these things and of the efforts of his whole career, it is ordered that these resolutions be spread upon the official record of the House, and a copy thereof duly signed by the officers be sent to the surviving members of his family.

Most respectfully submitted,

R. M. FINLAYSON,

HON. JOHN L. DANA.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life, character and public service of the Hon. John L. Dana, late a member of this House in the Seventh General Assembly, begs leave to report the following:

The subject of this memorial was born March 25, 1826, near New Haven, Huron county, Ohio, and died at Nevada, Iowa, June 5, 1906. He spent his boyhood on a farm near Fremont, Ohio, attended Oberlin College, and also attended a law school at Cincinnati, was admitted to the bar and was married at Postoria, Ohio, February 16, 1854, to Harriett A. Davis. In the fall of the same year he moved to Iowa, locating first at Sigourney, in Keokuk, county. About a year later he moved to Marshalltown, and in April, 1856, he located finally at Nevada, where he ever afterward had his home. He early gained recognition in his pioneer community and in the election of 1857, he was elected to the General Assembly as representative for the counties of Story, Hardin and Grundy. In the session that followed the state located its "Agricultural Farm" in Story county and Mr. Dana was no doubt largely responsible for this splendid location.

In the years of the war he had a young family and did not go to the front but he was captain of a company of "Home Guards" and in everything that a patriotic citizen could do to forward the cause of the Union, he was active and effective and prominent. In the years that followed he prospered in the law business and especially enjoyed the patronage and confidence of the old soldiers as their pension attorney.

Mr. Dana was a man of marked force of character and all through his active years he was a factor in his community, always striving for the upbuilding of the community and the betterment of his fellow man. He was singularly diligent in the matters to which he gave his attention and he was an example of uprightness to those about him. He was one of the earliest builders of the county and state; and for more than half a century was permitted to witness and aid the development of our commonwealth.

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be entered upon the Journal of the House and that an engrossed transcript thereof be presented to the bereaved family of the deceased.

DR. JOHN W. HAYDEN.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions in commemoration of the life and public service of Dr. John W. Hayden submit the following report:

John W. Hayden was born on February 24, 1839, in Hamilton county, Ohio. His father was Rev. John Hayden, a pioneer Methodist minister, who in 1842 brought his family to Iowa and a few years later settled permanently in Jefferson county where the son grew to manhood and passed the years of his maturity.

When the Civil War broke out he promptly answered the call for volunteers by enlisting as a private on August 26, 1861, in Company F, Third Iowa Cavalry. He served three years as hospital steward. On the expiration of his term of enlistment he again offered his services to his country, but on account of physical disability was rejected.

He then prepared for his chosen calling. Having received the education afforded by the common schools and the Iowa Wesleyan University at Mount Pleasant, he entered the State College of Medicine at Keokuk and in 1866 was graduated from that institution. He located at Libertyville and there continued the active practice of his profession until about 1891 when ill health compelled him to retire.

On April 25, 1867, he was united in marriage with Miss Emily Bristol of New London who survives him. He died on January 12, 1909, at his own home in Fairfield where he dwelt the later years of his life.

He represented Jefferson county in the Eighteenth General Assembly, an honor borne by his father twelve years earlier in the Twelfth General Assembly. The confidence reposed in the father was no less worthily carried by the son. In his service he was free from ostentation but was ever careful and watchful of the interests of his district and state.

He was a brave soldier, a skillful physician and surgeon and a successful man of business. He was honest and courageous in dealing with both the private and public duties that fell to his lot. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and led a consistent religious life. In all its aspects his life was useful to the community and state in which he lived. Therefore be it

Resolved: That as his life and character command our respect and esteem, we extend his wife and relatives and friends our sympathy in their sorrow and that this memorial be spread upon the Journal of this House and a copy of it sent his widow.

HON. ELIJAH GLENDENNING.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare a memorial to the memory of the late Honorable Elijah Glendenning of Lineville who was a pioneer citizen of Wayne county and an honored member of the House of Representatives in the Tenth and Sixteenth General Assemblies, beg leave to respectfully submit the following:

Dr. Elijah Glendenning was born in Rush county, Indiana, August 31, 1831. He was the son of John and Elizabeth Glendenning. His grandfather, Henry Glendenning, was a soldier in the War of 1812. His great-grandfather, being a native of Scotland and coming to America when a young man, was a continental soldier in the War of the Revolution.

Elijah Glendenning emigrated with his parents to Gentry county, Missouri, in 1841. He was reared on a farm, receiving his education at the country schools of his neighborhood and at Grand River College at Edinburg, Mo. After leaving college he was an itinerant minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church in Missouri for three years. He gave up his ministerial duties in 1853 on account of failing health. In March of 1856 he was united in marriage with Miss Lucinda J. Carlisle. He began the study of medicine with Dr. David Macey of Bethany, Mo. In the fall of 1856 he located in Lineville where he has since lived. He later read medicine under Dr. J. W. Burns of Pleasanton, Iowa. His preceptor having died, he was forced into practice before completing his medical course, but finally graduated from the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Keokuk, Iowa, in 1865.

Twice he was elected to represent Wayne county in the State Legislature; in 1864 to the Tenth General Assembly and in 1876 to the Sixteenth General Assembly. He was vice-president of the Farmers & Merchants Bank of Lineville from the beginning of the institution until the time of his death.

Dr. Glendenning answered the final summons at 6 o'clock Thursday evening, December 17, 1908.

"Ne'er to the mansions where the virtuous rest,
Since their foundation, came a worthier guest
Nor to the bowers of bliss was e'er conveyed
A nobler spirit or a gentler shade."

Such in epitome is the story of Dr. Elijah Glendenning's life. But those who knew him best will not be content with so brief an outline as the biographer might be disposed to leave upon the records of the state.

Elijah Glendenning came to Iowa when the young state needed men who were energetic and had faith in her possibilities and from the day that his eyes first looked across the fertile prairies, he was content to take his chances with the goddess of Fame and Fortune. For nearly half a century he had been a conspicuous figure among his thousands of friends in this community with whom he had been intimately associated as a physician and a minister of the Gospel, in whose homes he was always welcome and had ever been a sympathizing friend and a wise counselor. And to all who knew him his stainless private and public life was an inspiration and his high character only to be emulated. To few men are given the opportunities of doing good as was given to Dr. Glendenning and fewer still who would have used them to their utmost so nobly and unselfishly. On all public questions and on matters involving the interest and welfare of the country and the community, he seemed to intuitively divine the right and his influence was widely felt. To those who were seeking for truth and right, what Dr. Glendenning believed and said was enough for them and he was seldom wrong. He was an emphatic Republican and a partisan of the pronounced type and loyalty to his country was the dominating principle of his life. He was an honored Mason, having attained to the Royal Arch degree. He was a leader, counselor and trusted friend of all the people and he enjoyed the respect and held the confidence of the leading men of his county and state. In his ideal home he was the central figure, a gentle leader, guide and advisor, rather than the arbitrary master and his death was the rending of tenderest ties of love and affection and those who knew him best, loved him most.

"His life was gentle, and the elements
So mixed in him that nature might stand up
And say to all the world, 'This is a man.'"

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be adopted by the House, entered upon the Journal and an engrossed copy thereof be sent to the family of the deceased, and further, that a copy thereof be sent to the Lineville Tribune.

HON. GREEN T. CLARK.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions of respect to the life, character and public service of the Hon. Green T. Clark, late a member of the House in the Fifth, Sixth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth General Assemblies, beg leave to report the following:

Green T. Clark was born in White county, Tennessee, March 25, 1823. Moved with his parents to the State of Illinois in 1829 and to Lee county, Iowa, in 1834. In 1843 he moved from Lee county to Marion county, where he resided to the time of his death, November 20, 1908, aged eighty-five years, eight months and one day.

He was one of the first settlers of his county and like most of Iowa's pioneers began his career with but little means other than that brave spirit and untiring energy that characterized the pioneer men and women of our state.

A farmer by occupation, he at the same time took a lively interest in public affairs. He was elected assessor of his township at the first election held in his county, served some fifteen years as justice of the peace, and was for a number of years a member of the county board of supervisors. He served four terms as a member of the House of Representatives in the Fifth, Sixth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth General Assemblies, and without seeking distinction as a legislator or political leader he discharged the duties of the office with honesty and fidelity to his constituents and to the public, and was at all times and under all circumstances an honest, sincere and faithful public servant.

He was an earnest, active member of the Methodist church, a christian in the highest sense of the term, a man of unquestioned integrity, whose upright character and kindly heart won the esteem and affection of all who knew him.

His days were lengthened beyond four score years, and he left to his family that richest of all heritages, the example of an honest, sincere and noble life.

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be entered upon the Journal of the House, and that an engrossed copy be presented to the bereaved family of the deceased.

HON. ANTON LIMBACK.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee, appointed to prepare and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Hon. Anton Limback, begs leave to submit the following report:

The subject of this memorial was born at Wheeling, West Virginia, May 18, 1834, of sturdy German parentage. At the age of ten years he moved with his parents to Washington county, Pennsylvania. He attended school for a number of years and grounded himself by a good education. He early learned the traits of industry and at the age of twenty-one engaged in the mercantile business. After two years in such business in Pennsylvania, he moved to Iowa in 1857 and located in Dubuque county. He commenced farming and after two years devoted to this work he returned to his old love and again engaged in the mercantile business and in connection therewith, the grain and live stock business in the town of Dyersville. He operated the business continuously from 1860 till 1897, when he retired to enjoy his declining years in ease and comfort.

During all these years, Mr. Limback devoted his best energies and talents to the upbuilding of his city and the community. He was one of the true and valiant pioneers of those early days, whose labors have so materially contributed to the greatness and grandeur of our commonwealth. He was identified with every movement tending to the betterment of his city and for a number of years was an influential member of his city council.

Recognizing his worth and ability, the people of Dubuque county elected him to the Legislature and he served with honor and distinction the people of his county and state in the Twenty-second General Assembly.

The subject of this tribute was truly one of the distinguished pioneers of Northeastern Iowa to whom we owe so much. He never betrayed a confidence reposed in him. He was determined in his convictions but tempered it all with an abundance of charity and good will. He did not live out the allotted time of man of three score and ten years, but his years were filled with usefulness to his fellowmen, of love of his country and his state and of devotion to his wife and family.

He was married April 28, 1863, to Miss M. J. Bostford, a native of Connecticut, and she with four children survive him. His family have reflected the splendid traits of the deceased and honor his name by their high standing and clean character.

The life, character and public services of this man were such as to command the respect and admiration of all who knew him; therefore be it

Resolved: That in his death the state has lost a citizen of worth and whose every act was above reproach; and be it further

Resolved: That we extend to his family and relatives our sincere sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the Journal of the House and that an engrossed copy thereof be presented to the bereaved family of the deceased.

HON. LOUIS P. HOLLINGSWORTH.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the life, character and public services of Hon. Louis P. Hollingsworth, an honored member of the Ninth General Assembly, beg leave to report the following:

Louis P. Hollingsworth was born in Columbiana county, Indiana, March 5, 1831, and died in Des Moines, Iowa, December 27, 1908, at the ripe age of seventy-seven years, nine months and twenty-two days. Mr. Hollingsworth grew to manhood at Salem, Ohio, where he learned the cabinet maker's trade. By birth he was a Quaker, and early in life was interested in the agitation of abolition of slavery. His birth and his early education taught him peace, but he became a speaker in the cause of abolition of slavery and was connected with the underground railroad system of those times.

In 1854, he left his native state and came to Iowa, spending the winter of 1854 and 1855 in Iowa City. There by virtue of his trade, he helped at the finishing of the dome of the old state capitol. A little later in life he moved to Keokuk county, Iowa, and engaged in agricultural pursuits. On September 28, 1859, he was united in marriage to Hannah C. Fawcett at Salem, Ohio, whom he brought to his adopted state of Iowa. Always active in public questions, he became the leader of his party, and was elected a member of the Ninth General Assembly from Keokuk county. Following his term in the Legislature, he became treasurer of his county and in 1870, moved to Sigourney where he resided until 1891. In that year he moved to Des Moines where he resided until the time of his death.

With him the interests of church, home and education were paramount, and he was ever ready to sacrifice to the uttermost for their advancement. His quiet, modest life will always be an inspiration of those within the circle of his acquaintance.

Resolved: That these statements be placed upon the records of this House and that a properly engrossed copy, duly authenticated, be sent to the members of his family.

HON. LLOYD SELBY.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Honorable Lloyd Selby, late a member of the Senate in the General Assembly of Iowa, beg leave to respectfully submit the following memorial:

The Honorable Lloyd Selby was born in Licking county, Ohio, November 26, 1833. He came to Wayne county, Iowa, in the spring of 1856 and was married January 20, 1862. He was engaged in the general mercantile, produce and grain business in the town of Corydon for a period of nearly thirty years. He was indeed one of the pioneer merchants of the county, coming to the west as one of the advance guard of civilization. For this work he was abundantly equipped, with a strong body, a clear brain, a warm heart and an intellect, blended with a capacity to do great things. He was early conceded to be a leader among the citizens of his town and community on all questions or matters of public interest to them.

Lloyd Selby was a man of polished and dignified manner, yet he mixed freely with and was universally popular with all the people of his county and many of the early settlers found in him a friend and one who willingly helped them when their need was great. Scores of these early settlers remember and recount with grateful hearts the many, many times that he relieved them in their extremity by extending to them credit until their crops could be marketed. He was noted for his liberality and support of every laudable enterprise for the public good. He built the first brick block on the public square in Corydon in the year 1875 when everything looked dark for the place and when it needed men of heroic mould and indomitable courage to go forward and exemplify to all of the people of the county his abiding faith in the future prosperity of his home town at a time when its destiny was being tested. And when the town was without a railroad, Lloyd Selby was the central figure around which clustered the future welfare of Corydon. He was with one accord elected president of the Wayne County Construction Company, which built the Missouri, Iowa & Nebraska Railroad from Centerville to Corydon, completing the same in the year 1879.

Lloyd Selby was elected State Senator from the Wayne-Monroe district in 1873, serving in the Fifteenth General Assembly of Iowa. He was a member of the Masonic order and a member of the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Corydon where he resided (with the exception of a very few years) as an honored and respected citizen, for nearly half a century. He answered the final summons at 9:15 Monday morning, April 2, 1906. Therefore be it

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be adopted by the House and that we extend to his son, Mr. F. B. Selby, our sincere sympathy in his sorrow and affliction; and the Chief Clerk of the House is hereby instructed to transmit an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the bereaved family and to enter the same upon the Journal of the House.

HON. SAMUEL WRIGHT.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life, character and public services of the Honorable Samuel Wright, late a member of the House of Representatives in the Twentieth General Assembly, beg leave to report the following:

The subject of this memorial was born January 19, 1837, in Morgan county, Illinois, and at the age of eighteen emigrated to Wayne county, Iowa. He was one of the pioneer settlers of Wayne county and had much to do with the early government of the county. He was twice elected to the office of sheriff and served two full terms. He was elected to the office of Representative in the Iowa Legislature and served in the Twentieth General Assembly. He was probably, at one time, personally acquainted with more people than any other man in the county. In the years of his early vigor he was actively interested in any enterprise which promised to promote the welfare and enlarge the happiness of his people.

No man in Southern Iowa contributed more than he to the erection of schools. In all the avenues of activity in which he was engaged, his labor was conscientiously performed and every confidence reposed in him was faithfully redeemed.

In the year 1899 he moved to Beaver county, Oklahoma. He departed this life January 21, 1909, at Liberal, Kansas, and in compliance with an oft-expressed wish, he was buried at Ochiltree, Texas. Therefore be it

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be entered upon the Journal of the House and that an enrolled transcript thereof be presented to the bereaved family of the deceased.

HON. NATHAN POTTER.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to draft proper resolutions of respect in honor of the Honorable Nathan Potter, respectfully submit the following:

WHEREAS, The Hon. Nathan Potter was born in Hartford, Licking county, Ohio, on October 26, 1835, and died in Olin, Jones county, Iowa, on November 30, 1908, having arrived at the age of seventy-three years, one month and four days. In 1844, Nathan Potter came with his parents to Jackson county, Iowa, where he grew to manhood. He experienced all the hardships of a pioneer life, and by self-application and study at home he was enabled to teach in the common schools. On January, 1860, he was married to Clementine Demoss of Canton, Jackson county, Iowa. To this union, two children were born. In 1865, he moved to Jones county, near Anamosa, where he bought a farm and built a comfortable home, where he and his wife lived happily together until June 19, 1894, when Mrs. Potter died. Two years after his wife died he moved to Olin, where he has since resided. On November 9, 1899, Nathan Potter was united in marriage to Mrs. W. D. Hutton. The union proved to be a very happy one until the separation by death of Mr. Potter. Nathan Potter was converted to the Christian faith when a young man and took up the ministerial work near the time of his conversion. He was regularly ordained as a minister of the Christian Church in Clayton county, Iowa, in 1863, and continued in this profession until the time of his death. When he settled in Jackson township, Jones county, Antioch Church was in an unfinished condition and he did as much as any other to complete its structure. He held different township offices and was elected mayor of the city of Olin. He was elected as a member of the Twenty-fourth General Assembly and was an able and painstaking man who served his county and state with honor to himself and to his constituents. In politics as in religion, he was always the same broad-minded man and always respected the opinions of others. But when once convinced that he was right, or that the welfare of society or humanity was at stake, he never hesitated to assert his convictions. Mr. Potter was a Master Mason from 1869 up to within a short time of his death and had been recently made a member of Mount Olivet Commandery of Anamosa. He was a man of great physical fiber but when the end came, it was sudden, and he died of paralysis without a moment's warning. So ends the life of an esteemed friend and an eminent citizen; such a life we should emulate.

Resolved: That in the death of Mr. Potter, the state and county in which he resided loses a worthy, honored and upright citizen, and that we extend to his bereaved wife and relatives our sincere sorrow and sympathy in their great loss and that an engrossed copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House and that a copy be sent to bereaved family.

HON. JESSE KENNEDY.

MR. SPEAKER—Your special committee to prepare appropriate resolutions to commemorate the life, character and public services of the Hon. Jesse Kennedy, beg leave to submit the following report:

Jesse Kennedy was born in the year 1824 in Perry county, Pennsylvania. He grew to manhood in his native state. So far as we can learn he had no college education, but succeeded by his own efforts in obtaining a common school education that fitted him to take an active and influential part in the public life and development of each community in which he lived.

In 1861 he was a member of the Pennsylvania State Legislature, representing the counties of Perry and Cumberland. He was an Assistant Internal Revenue Collector under President Lincoln, and for more than ten years he was principal of the State Orphans' School at Mount Joy, Pennsylvania.

In 1876, Mr. Kennedy came west and invested in Iowa land, locating in Ida county, and two years later he moved his family and settled on a large tract of land south of Ida Grove, which soon became known far and wide as the Kennedy ranch.

Ida county at that time was almost an unbroken prairie without a railroad in the county, and he thus became identified with the real pioneers of this part of our great state. Mr. Kennedy at once rose to prominence, took an active part in all that stands for good government. He was active in church and religious life, and took a leading part in the public life of the community.

In 1884 he was elected to the State Legislature from the seventy-fifth representative district, consisting of Ida and Buena Vista counties. In this body he was chairman of the Committee on Normal Schools, and gave good service to the state, especially along moral and educational lines. He was the author of the prohibitory law that was passed at that session.

In his home life he was above reproach, a good husband, a kind and loving father, and in every way a man of whom it may be said he did nobly his part to make for good in the community in which he lived.

In 1888 he sold his Ida county interests and removed to Wichita county, Texas, where in association with some other Iowa gentlemen he organized and became president of the Iowa-Texas Land Company. This company bought a large tract of land and started the town of Iowa Park and located a colony of Iowa people. Here, too, Mr. Kennedy's natural ability soon gained him recognition. Twice he was a candidate of his party for the State Legislature, and was strongly urged to run for congress. He was a life long member of the Church of God, a Mason and an Odd Fellow.

He spent his last years at Iowa Park and here, on August 18, 1908, the call came and he closed a long life, well spent. Now therefore be it

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly: That while we mourn at the death of this staunch old pioneer, we also want to call to remembrance the purity of his life and the noble qualities of mind and heart which raised him above the common run of men and made it possible for him to take such an influential part in the public life of these great states.

Resolved Further: That this memorial be printed in the Journal, that an enrolled copy be sent to his son, William Kennedy of Ray, Colorado, and to his daughter, Mrs. Eulalia T. Cleft of Point Loma, California.

HON. JOHN H. KING.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public service of the Honorable John H. King, an honored member of the Seventeenth and Eighteenth General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following report:

John Hereford King was born of Quaker parents, at Salem, Henry county, Iowa, October 3, 1845, and was reared on the homestead entered by his father where the town of West Branch now stands. The common schools of the locality furnished the source of his early education, which was supplemented by a short course in a private academy. At the age of twenty-one years, on the 20th of September, 1866, he was married to Miss Permelia A. Andrews, and began farming on his own responsibility locating on a tract of land in Hardin county. He taught school during the winter months and began the study of law in 1869 under the direction of Hon. H. L. Huff, of Eldora, and was admitted to the bar in 1870, opening an office for the practice of law in Hampton in 1872. He was elected Representative from Franklin and Cerro Gordo counties in 1877 and re-elected in 1879, serving his district and state with distinction and was active in shaping legislation during this period. His work as a legislator was invaluable and in some respects, at least, he held views in advance of his fellows. The Board of Control idea originated with him for in the year 1880 he prepared and introduced House File No. 73, in which was incorporated practically the same ideas that were enacted into law eighteen years later. In 1881 he removed to Chamberlain, Dakota, and soon became a prominent figure in the development and upbuilding of this splendid new empire. He was a leader among the pioneers and a most public-spirited citizen. In 1899 he removed to Huron, South Dakota, and made that place his home until the time of his death, April 4, 1906. He was chosen Railroad Commissioner in 1889, and served four years in that capacity. He was greatly interested in the development of the agricultural interests of the state and was president of the State Board of Agriculture for two years previous and at the time of his death. He always opposed strife and contention but could not be diverted from his purpose when a principle was at stake regardless of consequences to himself. In the words of a close friend, "He was unselfish to a degree that was measureless. He loved his home, the home circle and his friends. Now that he has gone from us, his many kind acts, and his great usefulness to the city in which he made his home, and to the state, whose praises he never tired of singing, will never be forgotten. He was a good man measured from every standpoint and his like we shall not soon meet again."

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be recorded in the Journal of the House and the Chief Clerk be instructed to send an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

HON. CHAS. LINDERMAN.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting life, character and public services of the Honorable Charles Linderman, late a member of this House in the Eleventh, Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth General Assemblies, beg leave to report the following:

The Hon. Charles Linderman was born near Bloomingburg, Orange county, New York, February 4, 1829. He received a common school education in an academy of that state, and in 1851 entered Hamilton College, at Clinton, New York, from which institution he was graduated in 1854. The following year he spent in teaching. In the fall of 1855 he came to Scott county, Iowa. In the spring of 1856 he removed to Nebraska Territory, and that season assisted the government surveyors in establishing the sixth principal meridian. In November of the same year he located in Sidney, Fremont county, Iowa. In April, 1859, he arrived in Page county, and made his home in Clarinda, where he continued to reside until the day of his death, which occurred April 15, 1907, a period of forty years.

In August, 1863, he resigned the office of clerk of the courts and enlisted as a private in Company A, Eighth Iowa Cavalry. He was elected Second Lieutenant of his company and was mustered to active service at Davenport and remained with his company, engaged in the duties of an officer, until it was mustered out of service at Clinton, Iowa, in September, 1865.

On his discharge he immediately returned to Clarinda and at the ensuing election was chosen as a member of the Eleventh General Assembly.

In the fall of 1866 he was elected clerk of the Supreme Court of Iowa and continued in that office for eight years. In January, 1875, he purchased an interest in the First National Bank of Clarinda which, with changes in business, is now known as the Page County State Bank, of which he was president at the time of his death.

Mr. Linderman was again, in 1892, elected by the people of his county as a member of the Legislature, and served in the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth General Assemblies, serving on many important committees.

From the time of Mr. Linderman's arrival in Clarinda to the day of his death, he was actively identified in the upbuilding and development of his home town and county; a kindly, generous and gentlemanly man, appreciated and trusted by all who knew him. He was ever willing and ready to assist in every laudable undertaking, and was respected and esteemed by his fellow citizens. His acquaintances became his friends and he retained their confidence to the end.

Mr. Linderman was a prominent Mason, a member of the Loyal Legion, of Warren Post No. 11, G. A. R.; a member of the Knights of Pythias and Odd Fellows fraternities, and through his political, business and social connections, he had an extensive acquaintance throughout the state.

His wife, Mrs. S. E. Linderman, and his only child, Mrs. F. L. Blair of Creston, Iowa, survive him.

Resolved: That in his death his family, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy, is deprived of a kind and affectionate husband and father, county and state of a worthy and loyal citizen. The Clerk of the House is hereby instructed to mail an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the wife and daughter of the deceased, and to enter the same on the Journal of the House.

HON. HENRY A. BAKER.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions in commemoration of the life, character and public services of the Honorable Henry A. Baker, late a member of this House in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth, and of the Senate in the Nineteenth and Twentieth General Assemblies, respectfully submits the following:

Henry A. Baker, the eldest of six sons of Honorable William H. Baker, late a member of this House in the Ninth and Ninth Extra sessions of the General Assemblies of Iowa, was born in Crown Point, Essex county, New York, June 10, 1842, and died October 22, 1908, at his home in Sioux City, Iowa.

He came west with his father's family in 1859, and with them settled on a farm, two miles south of Castalia, Winneshiek county, Iowa. In 1862, he entered college at Upper Iowa University, where he remained for two years, and in 1864 attended the Eastman Business College at Poughkeepsie, New York, and was duly graduated therefrom.

In March, 1886, he was married to Eliza J. Webster of West Union, Iowa, and in the same year in connection with his brother, engaged in a general mercantile business in Ossian, Iowa, where he remained until 1887, when the firm sold out and he spent the next two years in Southern California. In 1892 he settled in Sioux City, Iowa, and established the manufacturing firm of H. A. Baker Co., with which he was actively identified up to the time of his death.

Such, in brief, is the record of his private life.

It takes no note, however, of the kindly, genial, companionable, lovable man as he appeared to his intimate friends or of his interest in and influence upon the larger affairs of public concern.

Always an ardent Republican, he was called to represent his county in the House of Representatives in the Seventeenth and Eighteenth General Assemblies, and immediately following, he represented his district in the Senate in the Nineteenth and Twentieth General Assemblies. In both of these positions, he discharged the duties imposed thereby faithfully, honorably and well. Those who knew him best, knew him to be the soul of honor and as a prince among his fellows.

His hand and heart were ever open to the plaint of the unfortunate, the weary and heavy laden, and the weight of his influence was always exerted in the uplift of society and its benefactions. He was ever prominently identified with every enterprise which promised to promote the welfare or to enlarge the happiness of his people. He was a man of ripe judgment and his mind was stored with the fruits of wide and varied study and this he brought into happy use in his daily walk and conversation and in connection with his work as a legislator.

His physical and mental stature were of large proportions, and being endowed by inheritance with a rugged constitution, he gave promise of passing the three score and ten milestone of life by many years. But the arbiter of fate willed otherwise and we can but say "Thy will be done." Now, therefore, be it

Resolved: That this House has learned with deep sorrow and regret of the death of the Honorable Henry A. Baker, and takes this occasion to testify to its appreciation of his unsullied character and moral worth, both as a citizen and legislator and hereby extends to his family its sincere sympathy in this their hour of sorrow and bereavement. Be it further

Resolved: That these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House, and that an engrossed copy duly authenticated be presented to the members of his family.

Adopted February 16, 1909.

HON. JACOB JEWELL.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions in commemoration of the life, character, and public service of the Honorable Jacob Jewell, late a member of this House in the Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth General Assemblies, respectfully submits the following:

Jacob Jewell, the subject of this memorial, was born November 4, 1825, in Knox county, Ohio, and died November 15, 1908, at his home near Decorah, Iowa.

He grew to manhood's estate on a farm, attending the rural schools in winter and working on a farm during the summer months. He was married to Emily Headington, February 27, 1849, and the following spring moved to Wyandotte county, Ohio, where he remained until the spring of 1850, when he emigrated to the West, locating in Winneshiek county, Iowa, where he continued to reside up to the time of his death.

The subject of this memorial was a man of strict integrity and noble purpose and gained the confidence of the community in which he lived to such a degree that he was called to fill many places of public trust. He served for several terms on the board of supervisors and this led him into a broader field of political activity.

Always a staunch Democrat, in 1889 he received the nomination of his party for the office of Representative, and was elected to the Twenty-third, and later to the Twenty-fourth General Assemblies over an ordinarily overwhelming adverse majority. In every undertaking in which he was engaged, his labor was conscientiously performed and every confidence reposed in him was faithfully redeemed.

The years of his earthly life were over eighty and three and they were full of efficient service and the county of Winneshiek and the State of Iowa are better for his having adopted them as his own; therefore be it

Resolved: That the foregoing memorial be adopted by this House, and entered upon the Journal thereof and that a properly engrossed copy, duly authenticated by the Speaker and Clerk of the House, be sent to the members of his family.

HON. WILLIAM HARPER.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life, character and public service of the Hon. William Harper, an honored member of this House in the Third and Thirteenth General Assemblies, beg leave to report the following:

William Harper was born in Ross county, Ohio, November 3, 1819, and came to Des Moines county, Iowa, in October, 1842, where he purchased a farm in Yellow Springs township, and was at once recognized as a leader in pioneer good citizenship, a zealous church worker and promoter of educational affairs of the community. For seventy years he was an active member of the Presbyterian church, and after fifty-four years as Elder was retired and made Elder Emeritus. In 1856, and again in 1876 he was sent by the Presbytery of Iowa as a delegate to the General Assembly of the United States. He was ever found ready to give unsparingly of his talent and means for the advancement of Christianity.

At the early age of nineteen he began school work. He, with a brother, taught the first large select school in the city of Burlington. For six years he served as county superintendent of schools of Des Moines county. He was one of the founders of the Jefferson Academy, afterwards Yellow Springs College, and was president of the board of trustees during its existence. He was also a member of the school board of Mediapolis. During the War of the Rebellion he was appointed recruiting officer or agent and enlisted many hundreds of men, thereby avoiding a draft in Des Moines county, which seemed imminent at the time. He was commissioned a notary public by Gov. George Hempstead in 1850. In 1850 he was elected a member of the Third General Assembly of Iowa. Again in 1870 he was elected to the Legislature where he distinguished himself as a leading member, serving on many important committees, and was chairman of the Committee on Schools. In 1877 upon his removal to Mediapolis he assisted in organizing the State Bank of Mediapolis of which he was president. It is said that he was executor or administrator of more estates than any other man in Iowa.

On August 7, 1844, in Ross county, Ohio, Mr. Harper and Miss Harriet (Ware) Heizer were united in marriage; of this union one child, a daughter, Lurissa Jane, was born.

Mr. Harper passed from this life on December 31, 1908, and was laid to rest in the Kossuth cemetery beside his wife who passed away several years ago. He left to mourn his loss two brothers, John of Mediapolis and Robert of Manhattan, Kansas, a niece, Miss Nellie Heizer, seven grandchildren and nine great-grandchildren.

William Harper was a man of positive character, but his convictions were tempered with conservatism. He was a peacemaker who arbitrated with most absolute justice. He lived a beautiful life, and those who knew him well remember his kind and sympathetic words and deeds, and by his death we all, and especially the young people, have lost a kind friend and true advisor.

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to send an ingrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

HON. JOHN RUSSELL.

MR. SPEAKER—The committee appointed by you to draft resolutions commemorating the pure life and character and the public life of our esteemed statesman, Hon. John Russell of Jones county, Iowa, we respectfully submit the following resolutions to your honorable body:

John Russel of Jones county, Iowa, was born in the county of Fife, Scotland, on the 8th day of October, 1821, and died at his home near Onslow, Iowa, October 10, 1908, aged 87 years and two days. When Mr. Russell was nine years old his mother died leaving four children, all boys of whom he was the second youngest. With the mother gone as is often the case, families are often scattered and sometimes see great hardships, but his father managed to keep this family of small children together, taught them to read and write and furnished them with all the suitable books his limited means would allow. Was very fond of Scotch writers, Burns and Sir Walter Scott, the latter being his favorite. About the time Mr. Russell became a man there was great agitation of the Reform Bill in Great Britain and he was always to be found advocating measures of the common people gainst those of bigoted aristocracy.

To convince the people of his way of thinking he would often refer them to the happy and prosperous republic across the Atlantic. Having always loathed and abhorred artsiocatic tendencies he could not remain in Great Britain longer. He wanted to see complete political rights restored to the common people. With the spirit of liberty burning in his breast he determined to sail to this great Republic. On the 28th day of April, 1842, he sailed from Liverpool and landed in New York on the 28th day of May of the same year. Shortly after his arrival he moved to Columbiana county, Ohio, where he became acquainted with his wife, Margaret Feehan, and were united in the bonds of holy matrimony. A bright and respectable family of four children was the result of this happy union, three boys and one girl, all who are living. Mr. Russell came to Jones county, Iowa, in 1852 and bought from the government the farm on which he has lived all these years. He preferred farm life to that of the crowded city. He was a tiller of the soil.

A few years after Mr. Russell's arrival in this county the slavery question was being agitated by the two great political parties, the democratic and the republican parties. Mr. Russel espoused the cause of the latter and gave this party his loyal support during the great conflict of the Civil War.

His service to his country and state commenced in 1860, when he was elected supervisor of Jones county and afterwards chairman of the board. He filled this position with honor to himself and his party. Shortly afterwards he was elected to the House of Representatives and served during the Ninth, Tenth, Eleventh and Thirteenth General Assemblies. He was elected Auditor of State and served from 1871 to 1875. He was elected Senator during the Eighteenth and Nineteenth General Assemblies. In 1864 he was mustered into the service as a soldier of the Civil War and was one of the defenders of the Nation until the close of the war.

As a member of the House he was one of its most active and valuable members. By his honest methods and courteous ways he soon became beloved and was elected Speaker. He possessed all the requirements of a good parliamentarian and his aim was to do justice to all, to rule impartially on all questions that might arise.

When Congress donated to Iowa the grant of land that now contains the Iowa State College at Ames, very few people ever dreamed of the possibilities of this great college. As in all great public enterprises there is always some opposition. But as chairman of the board of trustees and building committees he showed a vigor and foresight that has seldom been equaled in the management of our state institutions. He wielded great power in the House of Representatives and this power was always for the right. By his integrity and honesty he received the name of "Honest" John Russell, and was known by this name until his death.

After eight years of service in the House he was elected Auditor of State and held this office four years. He made a very efficient and painstaking Auditor and was one of the leading republicans of the state, as well as the most popular. His friends urged him to become a candidate for Governor of this great state, but after a spirited contest, his old friend, Governor Kirkwood, with his great reputation as "War Governor" defeated him, but it left no political wound. He again returned to private life on his farm in Jones county. His friends of Jones and Cedar counties wanted a strong man for the state senate. Honest John was their choice, was elected and served during the Eighteenth and Nineteenth General Assemblies.

We believe it was he, more than any other, who laid the foundations of the Iowa State College at Ames, one of the greatest educational institutions of its kind in the civilized world.

It was through his influence that the State Reformatory at Anamosa, Iowa was built.

What man in the state of Iowa has done more and done it honestly? He was a generous friend and neighbor, a pure and noble husband, a kind father and a christian of the Presbyterian faith. Honest with his neighbor, honest with his family, honest with his country and honest with his God.

Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa: That in the death of our distinguished friend and stateman, John Russell of Jones county, is a loss that we greatly feel, and we extend our sympathy to his children and the aged widow, Margaret Russell, who has been his companion during all the years of this successful life, and be it

Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to send an enrolled copy to Margaret Russell at Onslow, Iowa.

HON. OLIVER MILLS.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions upon the life, character and public services of Hon. Oliver Mills, an honored member of the Fourteenth General Assembly, beg leave to report the following:

WHEREAS, Hon. Oliver Mills, a pioneer settler of southeastern and later of southwestern, Iowa, who was born in Trumbull county, Ohio, on the 2d day of February, 1820, departed this life at his home in Lewis, Iowa, on the 6th day of July, 1907, and

WHEREAS, The unique character of this sketch, at the age of about thirty years, removed from the county of his birth to Denmark, Lee county, Iowa, where he resided for some seven years, when he removed to the county of Cass where he was destined to live a long and eventful life, and where for fifty years his life and energies were actively devoted to the up-building of a great state. In early life he was a member of the Presbyterian church, but the latter part of his earthly existence was devoted to his Master's cause as a loyal and consistent member of the Congregational denomination. He was a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, and took a deep interest in all public enterprises and human affairs which had for their object the ennobling of human character and the betterment of his fellowman. As an honored member of the Fourteenth General Assembly of this state, his record as a painstaking and wise legislator is an open book. In politics he was a Republican who looked upon his party as an instrument for the advancement of good government among the people. For eight years he was a member of the board of trustees of the Agricultural college, during four of which he was its treasurer; for three years he was president of the State Agricultural society, and a director thereof for some twenty years; was also for many years president of the Cass County Fair association; was for three years mayor of his home town of Lewis, and was the recipient of many honors official in minor positions, in all of which he acquitted himself in all things with much credit and honor. In 1861, there marched bravely from the loving home circle of this patriotic citizen and devoted husband and father, three stalwart young sons, down into the ranks of those who were then becoming a part of that greatest of all American conflicts, and for four years did battle for the honor and protection of the united and forever inseparable states. During all this stormy period the faithful father and loyal citizen kept the fires of patriotism fiercely burning at home in a thousand different ways. After the rifted clouds of war had sunken away beyond the horizon the energies of Oliver Mills began to extend and expand in all directions and it is notorious that no other man in his section of the state became more familiar at that time with the needs of the people of that pioneer quarter of the state than did he. He was ever ready to extend a helping hand to the newcomer who had "broken home ties" and set out on life's ocean to discover a new land in which to bring up a family into a life of usefulness. His memory for names and faces of pioneer settlers, and for the minutest details of interesting occurrences in those early days, was hardly short of marvelous. His chief interest in life was in the development of the agricultural resources of his county and state. His closing years were years of peace and quiet among his old-time friends and neighbors, all of whom vied with each other to do him honor in his declining years; and

WHEREAS, the life and character of our departed friend are sufficient to command the respect and esteem of all who knew him during his long and interesting career; therefore be it

Resolved: That we extend to his family and friends our most sincere sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the House Journal, and an engrossed copy thereof be sent by the Chief Clerk to the family of deceased.
