The following communication was received from the Press Club of Des Moines:

Des Moines, Iowa, March 14, 1911.

My Dear Mr. Speaker:

At the regular monthly meeting of the Press Club of Des Moines last night I was directed to extend to the members of the House of Representatives of Iowa an invitation to attend the second annual Gridiron Dinner to be given at the Savery Hotel, Des Moines, Iowa, the evening of April 5 at 7 o'clock.

A year ago the club gave its first dinner of this character at the Savery and Senator Albert B. Cummins and Congressman John A. T. Hull were the guests of honor and their official acts and speeches were looked upon with newspaper eyes and burlesqued with kindly satire.

The newspaper men of this club, which is composed of nearly 200 newspaper men of Des Moines and other Iowa cities have been watching the proceedings of the legislature with not only professional interest but with personal observation regarding the official actions of the members and we expect upon the occasion of this dinner to hold a session of the third house and show you how we think things should be done—all in a kindly friendly spirit of course.

There will be an excellent dinner followed by the novel function and I carry out my orders extending to the members of the House, through you this invitation and trust that action will be taken which will lead to the attendance of every member.

Very respectfully,

FRANK E. LYMAN, JR.,
Chairman Executive Board, Press Club of Des Moines.

Yonkers, N. Y., March 14, 1911.

HON. PAUL STILLMAN, Speaker, House of Representatives:

Kindly express at the memorial services my deep regret that I am unable to be present. If I could express in one sentence Mr. Dolliver's purpose in his struggle for the right, it would be that the children of tomorrow might have their equal opportunity. I believe that Iowa will not soon forget this sacrifice.

LOUISE P. DOLLIVER.

Music, "Lead Kindly Light," by First Methodist Episcopal Church Male Quartette.

Introducing Hon. Robert G. Cousins, Senator Francis made the following remarks:

We are assembled here this afternoon to honor the memory of one of the greatest of Iowa's sons. From that day more than a quarter of a century ago when Jonathan P. Dolliver spoke as temporary presiding officer of a great state convention of his political party, his fame as an orator has steadily grown until almost every school boy in the land is familiar with his eloquence and power.

I have heard him many times and upon many topics, and always and everywhere, whether in the political forum, on the chautauqua platform, or in the halls of Congress his manner has inspired, his thoughts have burned deep, and his wonderful power as an orator has led and captivated those who listened to the magic of his words.

In late years I had come to look upon him as the greatest orator using the English language—a fit companion for the mighty Burke in his defense of the American colonies, or Webster in his masterful reply to Hayne.

I had often thought that some day I would write to him how much I admired his great power and genius, but, alas, before that letter was written the call to a higher life was answered and the great advocate of the people was no more.

I cannot speak words of praise to him now—they fall upon ears cold and deaf to us, but tuned to music of a higher sphere, but I can say them to those who live and love his memory, and mourn with us his loss.

Jonathan P. Dolliver was of the common people, his greatest delight was in their service, and his memory will be forever cherished by those for whom he labored.

But I will not trespass upon the time of the speaker of the day who knew Senator Dolliver through long years of service together, and who will now address you with words rivaling in eloquence those of the lamented dead in whose memory we today gather.

I take pleasure in presenting to you Hon. Robert G. Cousins.

Who addressed the Joint Convention and spoke as follows:

Members of the General Assembly of Iowa:

Your greatly esteemed invitation which I could regard but virtually as a complimentary command to appear before you on this memorial occasion, could not fail to bring to my mind another occasion many years ago, when occupying seat numbered 69, on yonder aisle, another General Assembly—the twenty-first Assembly of our State—elected me for a far different duty to perform in a matter then pending before the Senate. And little, indeed, could it have been imagined at that time, that a quarter of a century later, I should be bidden by this Assembly to say in such way as I am able a few words in memory of one who has been the friend of all of us and who was then my earliest companion in the campaigns of his adopted commonwealth and of this my own native state.

But the destinies of men can seldom be foreseen and fate forever loves to mystify the future and the plans of men.

Nevertheless, it seemed certain to many of us then that Jonathan P. Dolliver was made and marked for eminent success.

No words of mine are needed now to fasten up the fame which by his great abilities he wrote across the nation's sky. No praises or encomiums are required to carry his illustrious name into the devoted households and the hamlets and the cities of the state of Iowa.

Human life, in fact all life, is the strangest and most wonderful of the mysteries. So, too, is death—save for the teachings of some philosophers—likewise mysterious. But the natural phenomena of autumn time with gently fading colors, with swift receding vigor, seem almost easily accounted for—an inexorable, known, expected fact. The setting sun and all its twilight hues are sure, decided, known, and fixed as is the picture painted by the artist's brush.

But who feels certain of the dawn and of a single day much less of the course of a human life. Will the sign of Aries or Leo, or Sagittarius or Aquarius or any sign or star under which a human life starts out, determine a spirit's course, its rising or its downfall? Not so. The teachers of the zodiacal science tell us that the possibilities of one born in the sign of Aquarius are greatest of all and also may be the poorest and the worst. How then is a human life to be separated from the infinite mysteries that attend it. Who can know what bloom of sunny clime or frigid zone or anxieties of our childhood faith, or mystic teachings of some far-off land shall lift, or thwart, or turn aside, or guide straight onward to its fairest goal a human soul. How is it that in one case environment, associations, or conditions shall inspire a human mind so that it leads on to the splendid glory of uncommon and incalculable achievement, may be by winning the souls of men with magic eloquence or thrilling them with melodies so great and sweet that they seem almost to have been dying through all the centuries of time with the pain of silence; and in another case of the very same conditions and environment, some other human being seems ignominiously to lose itself along the way of life without achievement or distinguishment and without the exultaion of success.

I have sometimes thought that the secret of it all is like the secret of a perfect love, which in our mortal world can never be without complete, unstinted sacrifice of self.

However all this may be, the man whose brilliant and unusual career and character we memorialize today, achieved and felt in fullest measure the exultation of singular success. He put his life upon the altar of his hope and art and there it was consecrated to the end.

To be born of frugal, healthy parents in an environment that is stimulating is a great advantage.

The green fields of Virginia far away, and the hills and vales and mountains of that statesman-holding commonwealth, first heard the voice of Jonathan P. Dolliver. They had heard the unctuous and exhorting voice of his dear old father before him and had heard the voices of seven of our presidents in their youthful days. But Virginia was the cradle also of thousands whose reputations never crossed its borders. Dolliver was also born in a most favorable sign, on the 6th day of February, 1858, but millions, of whose names the world you and I have never heard, first saw the light in that same sign and under that same lucky star.

Educated well at home and finished with a college touch, our seventeen-year-old Virginian looked above the mountains of his birthland, took the sun for his pilot and Horace Greeley for his advisor and started on foot for the empire of the pioneers. We were all here waiting to help him and to shout for him. Both of my grandfathers had been here for more than thirty years welcoming such bone and flesh and blood. He tarried in Illinois and dug potatoes while a local school board were deciding to elect him school teacher. Little did the people of Sandwich, Illinois, know what they were missing when they let the young Virginian leave them and come and locate at a central point in Iowa between the two great rivers. But of course they and nobody else ever knows what may come out of a hickory shirt and a celluloid collar. Thousands had come away from there, thousands from New England and Ohio and Indiana and other states, but nonobdy knew which ones were geniuses until the flint of their intellects came in contact with the steel of circumstances and experience.

When Dolliver came to Ft. Dodge in the spring of 1878, nobody knew about it except his brother who accompanied him, and the landlord of whom they rented a small office. When the struggle became so hard that they had to sleep in the office his brother went back to Virginia into the ministry and Jonathan, as he tells us himself, worked on the streets for a dollar and a half per day.

The soul of every individual must always have an awakening if it is to expand. If that awakening does not come, we shall never know much of the individual. Perhaps many lives have been wasted for want of an awakening.

Nothing tends so much to bring out true worth as trouble. Nobody ever amounted to very much in this world unless he had to. The best flowers of genius have blossomed from "bleeding hearts."

Bulwer Lytton tells us of his young physician who studied and who suffered long and patiently in the community and that finally "Abbey Hill let him feel its pulse." Robert Burns suffered and sang so sweetly in the provincial region of Ayr that finally he was invited to Edinburgh.

When Ft. Dodge had discovered Dolliver, they must share him with the whole state. He was invited to Des Moines. He spoke to a state convention and the nation took up his name. Of course he had plagued the opposition and he had fun with the mugwumps. He had said they treated their consciences as if they were the stock in trade of a baking powder factory—they solemnly protest that everybody's conscience has alum in it except theirs. But no matter, he was awakened and from that moment his real life began. He was a permanent factor in American politics and in all political campaigns. He campaigned with Blaine and with all of the best of them from that time on.

With the enviable reputation which his first convention speech had given him throughout the country, and with his local prestige which had been gradually building and with the earnest aid of such strong characters as the late Governor Carpenter, it is not strange that he was soon chosen for Congress in the Tenth District.

There is always in every community a natural fraternity of intellectuality. There is a certain magnetism of intelligence that is always and everywhere irresistible. Thomas B. Reed once said: "There is no refinement quite equal to the graceful, mighty intellectuality. That of itself is always a commanding charm. It rules wherever it appears. Wealth bows to it and seeks its patronage while even ignorance reverts it."

Men are chosen for important offices, such as Congress, on account of being singularly known in the communities for something, either for unusual ability or for some signal success. Of course, by dint of dollars, men sometimes break into important offices creating wonderment as to how they got there. But as a general rule a man's name on the roll of the American Congress can be accounted for.

The House of Representatives, under certain circumstances, is probably the greatest arena in the world. Few men have been able to hold and control it for any great length of time. You can count on the fingers of your hands the occasions during the last two decades when different speakers have commanded it in such quietude that the speaker could be distinctly heard for a continuous hour. Under such circumstances it is a rare and wonderful arena. The English House of Commons is a play house compared with it. I have heard Balfour and Bannerman on the same day in the House on a government issue and have witnessed a dozen occasions in the American House of Representatives that far surpassed such a noted session of Parliament. Usually in the House there is constant conversation while the ordinary member is speaking. That is the general rule. But sometimes while full to overflowing the House becomes intensely quiet and remains so if the speaker has the ability to hold it. Dolliver was one of the few who at times commanded absolute quietude.

Remembering his own hard struggle for a start and for success in life, his voice was always lifted in his later years for the good of his generation and for his fellow men. He had that temperament which taught him that the most evil seed that can be sown in a community is the seed of suspicion and of doubt and that the best spirit that can be nurtured is that of faith and confidence and charity and integrity. Therefore he inculcated the hopeful spirit in his fellow men. He was the sunlight in every social circle of his friends. He was like a "rainbow in the gloom." The language of his ordinary conversation turned the corners of thought so abruptly and so swiftly that there was constant epigrammatic and inimitable illumination. He was the prince of good cheer and one of the happiest integers of human individuality in our serious, struggling world.

After all the years of toil and exciting contest for a full decade in the House of Representatives, and with tremendously exhausting work in the Chautauqua service, in which he earned substantial and in fact unusual profits, and with all the toil and burdens of his senatorial career, his great heart began to wane. The strongest machinery must finally break. Even steel and iron and hardest granite are not impervious or imperturbable. Whoever touches and commands the hearts of others, must always give up something of his own. So many hearts had been touched, so many souls had been stirred in all those great campaigns, that finally his own was worked to the mortal limit. Many the time I met him late at night and early in the morning in those great, fatiguing campaigns when we were out on the road, sometimes sixty to seventy days and home, maybe three or four nights in all that time, sleeping perhaps four or five hours the night, and having a splendid time, we thought, at that. And they were splendid and historic days when Iowa had the greatest corps of campaigners in the republic; when she had two members in the Cabinet and the Speaker of the House of Representatives; when aforetime Tom Reed had said, "You have so much talent in your state, it is impossible to do justice to it and to the other states in Committee appointments."

It was a great honor and a sweet exultation to head the list of such a delegation, and the inspiration of it moved the heart of our friend to faster beating until 'twas overworked.

But think of the many souls of history that have reached their greatest power and sometimes have worn out their physical machinery before their suns had passed the periods of their brilliant and powerful meridians, yes, even before the shadow fell towards the east.

Many have been the soldiers who have won their laurels early. The hero of Ravenna was only twenty-two. Italy was conquered twice by military heroes only five and twenty. Innocent III has been celled the despot of Christendom at thirty-seven and at that same age Lord Byron died. Victor Hugo wrote "Bug Jargal" at fifteen, and Pascal was a great author at sixteen and died at thirty-seven. Edmund Burke was the author of "The Sublime and Beautiful" at twenty-six, and Grattan entered the Irish Parliament and fame at twenty-nine. Richelieu was bishop at twenty-three and Secretary of War and State at the early age of thirty-one. Raphael had become illustrious and died at thirty-seven. William Pitt, the contemporary of our own illustrious Hamilton, and two years his junior, inherited the prestige that gave him a seat in Parliament at twenty-one, through the influence of the Duke of Rutland. He was Chancellor of the Exchequer at twenty-three, and First Lord of the Treasury and Chancellor, and practically the controlling power of England at twenty-five and he held that position for seventeen continuous years.

Dolliver inherited no political prestige. He had no Duke of Rutland for a sponsor. The cliffed hills and lofty mountains of Virginia were his great godfathers and the honeyed valleys of that romantic birthland whispered their soft dreams into his eager, boyhood ears. The rivers and the hills of loyal Illinois gave welcome to his trudging weary feet and encouraged his exalted hope. The rolling plains and honeysuckled woodlands of our river-bordered Iowa sang thrice welcome to the bright-eyed continental wayfarer and won his wondrous heart and scintillating brain for its historic heritage and gave him all the rich and precious gifts within its political and lavish power. He went out for us and won the successive battles of his brilliant life by constant strife and never-ending zeal.

His great heart impelled the blood to his fertile brain in many years of constant and unceasing toil, sometimes his judgment differing with yours and sometimes with mine. But it matters not, he had fought the battles of our cause on many a brilliant day, and our tears of exultation for the fame of our great state were mingled on many glorious occasions. Every Hawkeye was proud of his chieftain, proud to have such a splendid champion in the great arenas of public life and on the popular stage. No matter if his clarion voice sounded sentiments, maybe discordant with our own, he had bared his breast for the Grand Old Man in that final hour of both their great careers.

And then at last he came home to rest. He had thought always in his recent years of the delightful and peaceful prospect of enjoying the habitude which he had selected and paid for with his honorable and strenuous earnings, consisting of some broad acres over there in the magnificent middle of our state, "touched by two rivers," as he described it himself, and situated there beside the city of his early friends. His plans for its improvement and perfection had not yet been completed, but they were in the apple of his eye and heart, and he sat himself down on the porch of his town-house home in the midst of his charming family of wife and children where he could see the undulating landscape of his future rural habitude, in contemplation, and mused over it all in those dearest days of our best October season, when the vines were running over the sun-lit hedges in all the golden glory of that rich autumnal time; and with all apparent faith in the restitution of his health, with his bright soul shining in his eyes and in his usual laughing mood, he counted his pulse beats up to seven, refusing to count himself out—like the fighter that he was—but the physician counted more and feebler pulse beats. It seemed as though Infinite Mercy spared our friend the usual suffering and pain that attends the exit of great souls. There is no evidence that he suffered even for a moment a glomy or troubled apprehension. His jovial hand seemed lifted from the grasp of his latest visitor by the hand of The Infinite One.

HON. ROBERT M. FINLAYSON, Chairman Board of Health Committee:

HOUSE CHAMBER.

I wish to call your attention to a matter which I consider to be a great menace to the health of the citizens of our state. I now refer to the pollution of the streams of Iowa. This is becoming more and more dangerous every day, and should receive at this session of the legislature careful consideration, as the legislature will not again be in session, unless specially called, for two years. All of the streams of Iowa are becoming so filthy and unsanitary that fish life is being destroyed and the people are drinking their own sewage. This is becoming a source whereby disease and death are becoming almost constant visitors to the homes of our people.

The legislature is the custodian of the people's rights, and privileges, and many mistakes have been made in the past and are now being made by neglecting to enact proper legislation in order that the conservation of human life may be maintained. It is hard to have charge of so important a department as the office of the Secretary of the State Board of Health, and to know that conditions exist which are causing sickness, death and sorrow in the homes of those who have a right to claim protection by law from the legislative assembly, and feel that there is no law giving power to change such unsanitary conditions.

I herewith attach a copy of a telegram sent to Surgeon General Wyman of the Public Health and Marine Hospital Service, Washington, D. C., which is as follows:

Des Moines, March 17, 1911.

WALTER WYMAN, Surgeon, General, Washington, D. C.:

"Could you communicate with Geological Survey for me, relative to co-operation with our state in making a survey of the streams of Iowa, in regard to their pollution? It is the purpose of the Iowa State Board of Health to bring the matter before our legislature now in session. Answer paid here."

GUILFORD H. SUMNER,
Secretary.

The following reply has been received which is self explanatory:

Washington, D. C., March 20, 1911.

DR. SUMNER, Sec'y, State Board of Health,

DES MOINES, IOWA.

"Geological Survey does not have law to investigate pollution of streams. In bills before last congress, affecting this service, such provisions were included but they did not become a law. Intention is to make similar request next congress."

WYMAN, Surgeon-General.

The above telegrams will convey to you the efforts which the Secretary of the State Board of Health has made to bring about better conditions in regard to protecting the water supply of our state. Only for the activity of the Iowa State Board of Health in the recent epidemic of Typhoid Fever, in the city of Des Moines, and a report of which has been rendered to each member of the legislature, many of the members of the legislature might have been afflicted with this dread disease. This furnishes only one illustration of what is taking place by water pollution within the borders of Iowa.

The present legislature should not adjourn without making some provision at least for a complete examination of the streams of Iowa relative to their pollution. We may talk about drinking water, but where are we to go to get a good drink of water? Unless activity is commenced along these lines to provide good, wholesome drinking water, we will be obliged to drink wine in order to avoid drinking our own sewage.

We cannot impress upon you and the other members of the legislature, too earnestly at this time, that it is essentially necessary that the people be protected and some legislation along this line be enacted to the end that all cities and towns now discharging sewage into any streams, whose waters are or may be used for human or animal consumption, should file plans of their sewerage system and such other data as may be specified, to a sanitary commission of engineers, working under the direction of the State Board of Health, during the next two years, for the purpose of furnishing to the legislature a report with recommendations; and all cities and towns which desire in the future to discharge sewage or sewage effluents into any such streams or water supply should be required to file plans of their proposed systems.

I need only to add in conclusion that at the present time, the water supply at Iowa City is in a sad state of pollution, owing to conditions which exist all along the river above Iowa City, the seat of Iowa's principal educational institution, the state university.

The State Board of Health joins in the general good wishes for better work than ever before, but for its own particular part must continue in its improverished way until July 1st, 1911, when it is hoped that the present legislature will have made ample provisions for the work of the Board in accordance with its duties, and will have furnished the necessary funds with which it shall find itself provided by the present legislature.

Citizens who have been interested in public health progress, and who have followed the work of the State Board of Health, as well as members of the legislature, realize that it is impossible to pass and adequately finance all the really good health measures presented, but it is most desirable at this time that the legislature and the public indicate their opinion of the work of the State Board of Health; and I would most earnestly recommend that the present legislature so organize and strengthen the State Board of Health that it may do efficient, active, energetic and profitable work.

Very respectfully,

GUILFORD H. SUMNER,

Secretary, State Board of Health.

All rates or charges shall be public, and schedules of such rates and charges as apply to service to, from, or in any city or town, including joint rates, shall be kept on file accessible to the public in such city or town in which the public utility operates.

Sec. 21. The commission shall prescribe uniform methods of keeping accounts, records, and books for each public utility under its jurisdiction, and such methods shall be observed by the persons, corporations, and municipalities engaged in carrying on the same. In cases of corporations engaged in interstate commerce, such methods of keeping accounts, records and books shall conform as nearly as is practicable, for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act, to the system of accounts prescribed and required by the Interstate Commerce Commission.

(a) Every public utility engaged directly or indirectly in any other business than that of the production, transmission or furnishing of heat, light, water or power or the conveyance of telephone messages shall, if required by the commission, keep and render separately to the commission in like manner and form the accounts of all such other business, in which case all the provisions of this act shall apply with like force and effect to the books, accounts, papers and records of such other business.

(b) Each public utility shall have an office in one of the towns, villages or cities in this state in which its property or some part thereof is located and shall keep in said office all such books, accounts, papers and records as shall be required by the commission. Sec. 22. No public utility shall keep any other books, accounts, papers or records of the business transacted than those prescribed or approved by the commission.

Sec. 23. The commission shall provide for the examination and auditing of all accounts, and all items shall be placed to the accounts in the manner prescribed by the commission. The counsel, agents, accountants or examiners employed by the commission shall have authority under its direction to inspect and examine any and all books, accounts, papers, records and memoranda kept by such public utilities.

Sec. 24. The commission shall value all the property of every public utility actually used and useful for the convenience of the public, and in making such valuation it may avail itself of any information in the possession of any local, municipal, or state board or authority. Before final determination of such value the commission shall, after notice to the public utility affected, hold a public hearing as to such valuation in the manner prescribed in sections 29 and 30 of this act, and the provisions so far as applicable shall apply to such hearing. Within five days after such valuation is determined, the commission shall serve a statement thereof upon the utility interested, and shall file a like statement with the clerk of every municipality in which any part of the plant or equipment of such public utility is located. The commission may at any time on its initiative make a revaluation of such property.

Sec. 25. The commission shall ascertain and prescribe for each kind of public utility suitable and convenient standard commercial units of product or service. These shall be lawful units for the purposes of the act.

Sec. 26. The commission shall require every person, corporation, or municipality under its supervision, to submit to it an annual report verified by the oath of the president, treasurer, general manager, or other proper officer thereof, setting forth in detail:

1. The amount of its authorized capital stock, and the amount thereof issued and outstanding.

7. The commission may from time to time make changes and additions to such forms, giving to persons, corporation, and municipalities six (6) months' notice before the time fixed by the commission as the expiration of the fiscal year, of any changes or additions which would require any alteration or change of the method of keeping accounts for the ensuing year. When any such report is defective or believed to be erroneous, the commission shall notify the persons, corporations, or municipalities making such report, to amend the same within thirty (30) days. The commission may extend the time herein fixed for cause shown.

Sec. 27. The commission shall appoint inspectors for gas, electricity, and water meters, and meters for measuring any other medium for furnishing light, heat, and power, or other commodity furnished to the public by the public utilities under its jurisdiction, whose duty it shall be, when required, to inspect, examine, prove and ascertain the accuracy of any and all such meters used or intended to be used, and when found to be, or made to be, correct, the inspector shall stamp or mark and seal all such meters, and each of them, with some suitable stamp or device, and seal, which device and seal shall be recorded in the office of the commission. The commission shall have the power to provide for the inspection, testing, and proving of all meters, and for stamping and sealing meters which have been inspected and approved, and to establish the fees therefor. Every person or corporation furnishing gas, electricity, heat, or water shall provide and keep in and upon its premises suitable apparatus to be approved, stamped and marked by the inspector of the commission for testing and proving the accuracy of gas, electricity, heat and water meters furnished for use by it, by which apparatus every meter may and shall be tested at least once every three years, or on the written request of the consumer to who the meter shall request the commission, in writing, to inspect such meter, the he so desires. If any consumer to whom a meter may be furnished shall request the commission, in writing, to inspect such meter. the commission shall, upon the payment by the applicant of the fees fixed for such inspection and test, have the same inspected, and tested, and if the same on being so tested shall be found to be defective or incorrect, within such limits, as shall be fixed by the commission by rule adopted and promulgated, to the prejudice of the consumer, the inspector shall order the gas, electric, or water corporation forthwith to remove the same and to replace instead thereof a correct meter, and the expense of such inspection and test shall be borne by the corporation, but if the same on being so tested shall be found to be slow or correct within the limits prescribed by the commission, the expense of such inspection and test shall be borne by the consumer.

Sec. 28. The commission may institute action upon its own volition, or upon being served with a certified copy of a resolution adopted by the council of any city or town in the state, in which any person or corporation, or municipality is authorized to manufacture, sell, or supply gas, or electricity, or any other medium for heat, light, or power, or to supply water, or telegraph or telephone or street car service, or other service or commodity as a public utility, or upon complaint in writing of not less than twenty-five (25) customers or patrons of such public utility either as to the means, quality, or efficiency of service, or rates or price of the commodity, or service furnished and delivered in such municipality, by any person, corporation, or municipal corporation, it shall investigate as to the cause of such complaint. When such complaint is made, the commission shall by its agents, experts, and inspectors examine and inspect the works, system, plant and methods used by such person, or corporation, or municipal corporation, in accumulating, manufacturing, transmitting and supplying such commodity or service, and may examine or cause to be examined, the books and papers of such person, corporation, or municipal corporation, pertaining to the manufacture, accumulation, sale, transmission, and supplies of such commodity or service. The form and contents of complaints as made and provided for in this section shall be as provided by the commission. Such complaint when made by the consumers or patrons shall be signed by them, who must add to their signatures their place of residence, by street and number, if any. Upon trial of such complaint, either or both parties may be represented by counsel before the commission.

Sec. 29. Before proceeding under a complaint as provided in the preceding section, the commission shall cause notice of such complaint and the purpose thereof to be served upon the person, corporation, or municipality affected thereby, together with a copy of said complaint, with the names attached thereto. Such person, corporation, or municipality shall have an opportunity to be heard in respect to the matters complained of, at a time and place to be specified in such notice. After such investigation as may be made by the commission, its officers, agents, examiners, or inspectors, and after hearing, the commission may, by order, fix the reasonable price of gas, electricity, or any other medium for furnishing heat, light, or power, or of water, or telegraph, or telephone, or street car service, or other service or commodity furnished as a public utility, to be charged by such person, or private or municipal corporation; or may order such improvement in the accumulation, manufacture, supply, transmission, or distribution thereof, or in the service or methods employed by such person, corporation or municipality, as, in its judgment, will improve the same. The price so fixed by the commission shall be the price to be charged by the person, corporation, or municipality for gas, electricity, or other medium for heat, light, or power, or water or telegraph, or telephone, or street car service, or commodity, furnished as a public utility, until the commission shall upon complaint, or upon its own initiative, as provided for in the preceding section, again fix the price thereof, unless suspended or set aside by a court of competent jurisdiction. In determining the price to be charged for any such commodity or service the commission may consider all facts which in its judgment have any bearing upon the proper determination of the question, although not set out in the complaint and not within the allegation thereof, and shall provide rates sufficient to pay a reasonable return to the owners on their investment after the charging off, in all cases, of a reasonable sum for depreciation, sufficient over and above the expense of maintenance to keep the property in a state of efficiency corresponding with the progress of industry. Any income from the investment of the depreciation fund shall be carried therein, and said fund and the proceeds thereof shall be used for no other purpose than depreciation as provided in this section.

The rates, service, regulation, practices, and methods of measurements fixed by the commission shall be just and reasonable and not be unjustly discriminatory, nor such as to allow unfair competition. Any public utility may, at any time, by complaint in writing, invoke the action of the commission as to matters within the jurisdiction of the commission affecting such public utility, and an investigation shall be made, and a hearing had thereon, and the matter determined as provided in this act, unless such matters shall have been passed upon by the commission within one year of the date of filing such complaint. When any complaint is made by any public utility, as herein provided, the commission shall cause notice thereof to be served on the mayor of the city or town wherein said public utility is located, or has its principal office for the conduct of its business.

The commission may enforce its orders by appropriate action in the courts, and may, in its discretion, intervene in actions where the public interest requires it.

Nothing in this act shall be held or construed to deprive any utility of any remedy now or hereafter available to it in any court, either of law or equity, and anyone injured by any order of the commission, or by failure to enforce the same, may apply to any court of competent jurisdiction for an enforcement of such order or the annulment thereof.

Sec. 30. All rates, tolls, charges, schedules and joint rates fixed by the commission shall be prima facie lawful, and all regulations, practices and services prescribed by the commission shall be prima facie reasonable until finally found otherwise in an action brought for that purpose pursuant to the provisions of Sub-division A of this section.

(a) Any public utility and any person or corporation in interest being dissatisfied with any order of the commission fixing any rate or rates, tolls, charges, schedules, joint rates or rates or any order fixing any regulations, practices, act or service may commence an action in the district court against the commission as defendant to vacate and set aside any such order on the ground that the rate or rates, tolls, charges, schedules, joint rate or rates, fixed in such order is unlawful, or that any such regulation, practice, act or service, fixed in such order is unreasonable, in which action a copy of the petition shall be served with the original notice on the defendant. The answer of the commission to the complaint shall be served and filed within ten days after service of the complaint, whereupon said action shall be at issue and stand ready for trial upon ten days' notice to either party.

(b) Every proceeding, action or suit to set aside, vacate or amend any determination or order of the commission or to enjoin the enforcement thereof or to prevent in any way such order or determination from becoming effective, shall be commenced, and every appeal to the courts or right or recourse to the courts shall be taken or exercised within ninety days after the entry or rendition of such order or determination, and the right to commence any such action, proceeding, or suit, or to take or exercise any such appeal or right of recourse to the courts, shall terminate absolutely at the end of such ninety days after such entry or rendition thereof.

(c) No injunction shall issue suspending or staying any order of the commission, except upon application to the district court or presiding judge thereof, notice to the commission and hearing.

Sec. 31. Every corporation, person or common carrier, performing the service of transporting passengers or property from one point to another within the State of Iowa, or within the cities of the state, shall furnish with respect thereto such service and facilities as shall be safe and adequate and in all respects just and reasonable. All charges made or demanded by any such corporation, person or common carrier, for the transportation of passengers or property, or for any service rendered or to be rendered in connection therewith shall be just and reasonable and not more than allowed by law or by order of the commission. Every unjust or unreasonable charge made or demanded for any such service or transportation of passengers or property or in connection therewith, or in excess of that allowed by law or by order of the commission, is prohibited.

Section 32. No common carrier shall make or give any undue or unreasonable preference or advantage to any person or corporation, or to any locality, or to any particular description of traffic in any respect whatsoever, or subject any particular person or corporation, or locality, or any particular description of traffic, to any undue or unreasonable prejudice or disadvantage in any respect whatsoever.

Sec. 33. Wherever the commission shall be of the opinion that any person, or private or municipal corporation, or any concern or municipality, coming within the provisions of this act, is failing or omitting, or about to fail or omit, to do anything required of it by law or by order of the commission, or is doing anything or about to do anything, or permitting anything, or about to permit anything to be done, contrary to or in violation of law or of any order of the commission, it shall direct counsel to the commission to commence an action or proceeding in the district court of the state of Iowa, in the name of the commission for the purpose of having such violations or threatened violations stopped and prevented either by mandamus or injunction. Counsel to the commission shall thereupon begin such action or proceedings by a petition to the district court alleging the violation complained of and praying for appropriate relief by way of mandamus or injunction. It shall thereupon be the duty of the court to specify the time not exceeding twenty days after service of a copy of the petition within which the utility complained of must answer the petition. In case of default in answer, or after answer, the court shall immediately inquire into the facts and circumstances in such manner as the court shall direct without other or formal pleadings, and without respect to any technical requirement. Such other persons or corporations, as it shall seem to the court necessary or proper to join as parties in order to make its order, judgment, or writs effective, may be joined as parties upon application of counsel to the commission. The final judgment in any such action or proceeding shall either dismiss the action or proceeding or direct that a writ of mandamus or an injunction or both issue as prayed for in the petition or in such modified or other form as the court may determine will afford appropriate relief.

Sec. 34. Every order of the commission shall be served upon the person or corporation conducting a utility to be affected thereby, either by personal delivery of a certified copy thereof, or by mailing a certified copy thereof, in a sealed package, with postage prepaid, to his proper postoffice address; or, in case of a corporation upon any officer or agent thereof, upon whom an original notice might be served in a civil action. It shall be the duty of every utility to notify the commission forthwith, in writing, of the receipt of the certified copy of every order so served, and in case of a corporation such notice must be signed by a person or officer duly authorized by it to admit such service, and every utility upon which it is served, must, within thirty days (30) notify the commission in like manner whether or not the terms of the order are accepted and will be obeyed. Every order of the commission shall take effect at the time therein specified, except as otherwise provided, and shall continue in force for the period therein designated, unless earlier modified or abrogated by the commission, or suspended by any order of the court.

Sec. 35. (1) The commission shall have power by order to require any two or more telegraph or telephone corporations whose lines form a continuous line of communication, or could be made to do so by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections or transfer of messages at common points, between different localities which are not reached by the line of either company alone, to establish through lines within the state between two or more such localities and joint rates or charges for service by or over said line as the commission may by its order prescribe, and in case such through lines and joint rates be not established by the corporations named in any such order within the time therein specified, the commission shall have the power by order to establish the same and to fix the just and reasonable rates and charges to be charged for such through service and to declare the portion thereof to which each of the corporations affected thereby shall be entitled and the manner in which the same shall be secured and paid.

2. No franchise or any right to or under any franchise to own or operate a telegraph line or telephone line shall be assigned, transferred, or leased, nor shall any contract or agreement hereafter made with reference to or affecting any such franchise or right be valid or of any force or effect whatever unless the assignment, transfer, lease, contract, or agreement shall have been approved by the commission.

Sec. 36. Nothing in this act shall be construed to prevent any utility, coming within the provisions thereof, from continuing to furnish the use of its lines, equipment, or service under any contract or contracts in force at the date this law takes effect or upon the taking effect of any schedule or schedules of rates subsequently filed with the commission as hereinafter provided, at the rate or rates fixed in such contract or contracts; provided, however, that when any such contract or contracts are or become terminable by notice, the commission shall have power, in its discretion, to direct by order that such contract or contracts shall be terminated by the utility, and thereupon such contract or contracts shall be terminated by such utility as and when directed by such order.

Sec. 37. All action and proceedings under this act and all actions and proceedings commenced and prosecuted by order of the commission, and all actions and proceedings in which either the commission or the people of the state of Iowa may be parties, and in which any question arises under this act, or under or concerning any order or action of the commission, shall be preferred over all other civil causes in all courts of the state and shall be heard and determined in preference to all other civil business pending therein, irrespective of position on the calendar. The same preference shall be granted upon application of counsel of the commission in any action or proceeding in which it may be allowed to intervene. In all trials, actions and proceedings arising under the provisions of this act or growing out of the exercise of authority and powers granted herein to the commission, the burden of proof shall be upon the party adverse to such commission or seeking to set aside any determination, requirement, direction or order of said commission, to show by clear and satisfactory evidence that the determination, requirement, direction or order of the commission complained of is unreasonable or unlawful as the case may be.

Sec. 38. A full and complete record shall be kept of all proceedings had before the commission or its agent on any formal investigation had and all testimony shall be taken down by the stenographer appointed by the commission.

Sec. 39. Any utility under the jurisdiction of the commission, may issue stocks, bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness payable at periods of more than twelve months after the date thereof, when necessary for the acquisition of property, the construction, completion, extension or improvement of its facilities, or for the improvement or maintenance of its service, or for the discharge or lawful refunding of its obligations, or for the reimbursement of moneys actually expended from income, or from any other moneys in the treasury of the corporation not secured by or obtained from the issue of stocks, bonds, notes, or other evidence of indebtedness of such corporation, within five years next prior to the filing of an application with the commission for the required authorization, for any of the aforesaid purposes except maintenance of service, and except replacements in cases where the applicant shall have kept its accounts and vouchers of such expenditures in such manner as to enable the commission to ascertain the amount of moneys so expended and the purposes for which such expenditure was made; provided and not otherwise, that there shall have been secured from the commission an order authorizing such issue, and the amount thereof, and stating the purposes to which the issue, or proceeds thereof are to be applied, and that, in the opinion of the commission, the money, property or labor to be procured or paid for by the issue of such stock, bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness is or has been reasonably required for the purposes specified in the order, and that except as otherwise permitted in the order in the case of bonds, notes and other evidence of indebtedness, such purposes are not, in whole or in part, reasonably chargeable to operating expenses or to income; but this provision shall not apply to any lawful issue of stock, to the lawful execution and delivery of any mortgage, or to the lawful issue of bonds thereunder, which shall have been duly approved by the Executive Council before the taking effect of this act. Nothing herein contained shall prohibit the commission from giving its consent to the issue of bonds, notes or other evidence of indebtedness for the reimbursement of moneys heretofore actually expended from income for any of the aforesaid purposes, except maintenance of service and replacements, prior to five years next preceding the filing of an application therefor, if in the judgment of the commission such consent should be granted; provided application for such consent shall be made prior to January first, nineteen hundred and thirteen. For the purpose of enabling it to determine whether it should issue such an order, the commission shall make such inquiry or investigation, hold such hearings and examine such witnesses, books, papers, documents or contracts as it may deem of importance in enabling it to reach a determination. Such corporation or person shall not without the consent of the commission apply said issue or any proceeds thereof to any purpose not specified in such order. Such person or corporation may issue notes, for proper purposes, and not in violation of any provision of this or any other act, payable at periods of not more than twelve months without such consent but such notes shall not, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, be refunded, by any issue of stock or bonds, or by any evidence of indebtedness running for more than twelve months without the consent of the proper commission. Provided, however, that the capital stock of a corporation formed by the merger or consolidation of two or more other corporations shall not exceed the sum of the capital stock of the corporation so consolidated, at the par value thereof, or such sum and any additional sum actually paid in cash; nor shall any contract for consolidation or lease be capitalized in the stock of any corporation whatever; nor shall any corporation hereafter issue any bonds against or as a lien upon any contract for consolidation or merger. Whenever the additions to, extensions, or improvements of any public utility plant, which is owned by a private person, or private corporation, shall amount to twenty per cent. (20 per cent.) of the value of the plant, such additions, extensions, or improvements having been paid for from earnings, the same may be capitalized and stock of an equal face value issued therefor. Stock so issued may be distributed as dividends to the stockholders, sold, or held in the treasury as part of the surplus, and shall be listed as stock issued and outstanding in the annual report, and have dividends paid to the holders thereof as to the holders of other stock.

Sec. 40. Wherever the plant of a public utility subject to the provisions of this act has been heretofore constructed in the streets, alleys or public places of any city or town in this state, under and pursuant to the provisions of any ordinance of such city or town, or otherwise, and such plant is now being maintained and operated in such city or town, such public utility, its lessee, successors and assigns, shall have the right to maintain and operate such plant, and such right shall not be terminated except on account of a failure of such public utility to comply with the lawful orders of the commission established by this act, or by purchase by such municipality in the manner provided by law.

(a) No ordinance granting a franchise, or changing or amending a franchise, shall be valid unless the same shall be approved by a majority of the electors of such municipality voting thereon at a general biennial, municipal or special election. Nothing in this act shall be construed as depriving any municipality of any power now possessed by it except as are expressly repealed by, or inconsistent with this act; provided, however, that municipalities now possessing the power, under the provisions of the law now in force, to regulate or fix the rate of charges for commodities or services furnished the public by any public utility, shall have and possess the initiative power to regulate and fix, by ordinance, the charges for all commodities or services furnished the public by such utility; such ordinance shall be prima facie reasonable, but upon complaint by any such utility, or other interested complainant, as provided in Section 29. of this act, a hearing shall be had as in this act provided. And if the commission shall find such ordinance unreasonable, the same shall be void. All rates, schedules and regulations which are in force when this act takes effect shall be considered as having been made and fixed on the initiative of the council or commission of the municipality in which such utility is located.

Sec. 41. No person, or corporation incorporated under the laws of this or any other state, nor any municipal corporation shall exercise any right or privilege under any franchise granted hereafter or under any franchise heretofore granted and in force, for the purpose of constructing any new plant, without first having obtained the permission and approval of the commission, and before such permission shall be granted, a certified copy of the articles of incorporation of such corporation shall be filed in the office of the commission, together with a verified statement of the president and secretary of the corporation showing that it has received a franchise from the proper municipal authorities. Whenever any public utility furnishes adequate service and supplies the reasonable wants of the people of the city or community in which it is operating, and complies with the orders of the commission as prescribed, the commission shall not grant to any other public utility the right to compete with said public utility, engaged in similar service, until after a public hearing of all parties interested, and a finding by the commission that public convenience and necessity require such second public utility, and no municipality shall hereafter construct or equip any such plant where there is in operation any such public utility under the jurisdiction of the commission engaged in similar service without first securing from the commission a finding after a public hearing of all parties interested, that public convenience and necessity require such additional public utility, but nothing herein shall be construed to prevent municipalities from acquiring any public utilities in accordance with existing contract or law. If a certificate of authority is refused, no further proceedings shall be taken before the commission, but a new application may be made therefor one year after and from the date of such refusal.

Sec. 42. Every public utility having tracks, conduits, subways, poles, wires, switchboards, exchanges, works or other equipment shall, for a reasonable compensation, permit the use of the same by any public utility whenever public convenience and necessity require such use and such use will not result in irreparable injury to the owners or other users of such equipment nor in any substantial detriment to the service to be rendered by such owners or other users. In case of failure to agree upon such use or the conditions or compensation for such use any public utility or any person, firm, co-partnership association, or corporation interested may apply to the commission, and if after investigation the commission shall ascertain that public convenience and necessity require such use and that it would not result in irreparable injury to the owners or other users of such equipment nor in any substantial detriment to the service to be rendered by such owners or other users of such equipment, it shall by order direct that such use be permitted and prescribe reasonable conditions and compensation for such joint use. Such use so ordered shall be permitted and such conditions and compensation so prescribed shall be the lawful conditions and compensation to be observed, followed and paid, subject to recourse to the courts upon the complaint of any interested party. Any such order of the commission may be from time to time revised by the commission upon application of any interested party or upon its own motion.

Sec. 43. Every public utility shall, whenever an accident is attended with loss of human life or personal injury occurs within the State of Iowa, upon its premises, or directly or indirectly arising from or connected with its maintenance or operation, give immediate notice thereof to the commission. In the event of any accident, the commission, if it deem the public interest require it, shall cause an investigation to be made forthwith.

Sec. 44. Each and every director, president, secretary, or other official of any public utility who shall make any false statement to secure the issue of any stock, certificates, or stock, bond, mortgage, or other evidence of indebtedness, or who shall by false statement knowingly made procure of the commission the making of the certificate herein provided, or issue with knowledge of such fraud, negotiate or cause to be negotiated any such stock, certificate of stock, bond, mortgage or other evidence of indebtedness in violation of this act, shall be guilty of a felony, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars or by imprisonment for a term of not less than one or more than ten years, or by both fine and imprisonment in the discretion of the court.

Sec. 45. There is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated a sufficient amount with which to pay salaries to the commissioners and all its appointees and employees, and for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of this act. The commission shall present to the Executive Council itemized, verified statements of expenditures, and no warrants shall be drawn therefor except on the approval of the Executive Council. Such verifications must be made by the person incurring the expense, or having personal knowledge thereof.

Sec. 46. On and after July 1st, 1911, the public service commission shall possess and exercise all the powers conferred upon and perform all the duties required of the executive council of the state of Iowa by Chapter Seventy-one (71) of the Acts of the Thirty-second General Assembly in so far as they relate to public service corporations as defined by this act, and on and after said date the executive council shall cease to exercise said powers and perform said duties. Nothing in this act shall be construed as repealing Chapter Seventy-one (71) of the Acts of the Thirty-second General Assembly, provided, however, that by the consent of the commission, the bonds or securities of such utility companies may be sold or issued at less than par or within such limitations as may be fixed by the commission.

Sec. 47. Any person violating any of the provisions of this act, where no provisions is made herein, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five hundred dollars ($500) or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding thirty days.

Any public utility neglecting or refusing to comply with any order of the commission shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and shall be subject to a fine of not less than fifty dollars ($50) nor more than one thousand dollars ($1,000) or by the imprisonment of the officer or employee of the public utility neglecting or refusing compliance with such order, in the county jail not exceeding thirty (30) days, or both.

Every day during which any public utility, or any owner, officer, agent or employee thereof, shall fail to observe and comply with any order of the commission, or to perform any duty enjoined by this act, shall constitute a separate and distinct violation of such order, or of this act, as the case may be.

Sec. 48. The powers heretofore conferred by the General Assembly on cities and towns, which are in conflict with this act, are hereby repealed but such repeal shall not deprive any person, corporation or municipality of any vested right, nor affect any pending litigation nor shall any law affecting railroads, interurban railroads, express companies, sleeping car companies, freight and freight line companies, or any common carrier engaged in the transportation of passenger or freight or by any person, corporation or subject over which the Board of Railroad Commissioners has jurisdiction or control be repealed or be modified by this act unless expressly so provided. Nor shall any provision of this act be construed as a modification or repeal of Section 1619 of the Code.

Sec. 49. No public utility shall directly or indirectly issue, furnish, or give any free ticket, free pass, or free transportation for the carriage or passage of any person within the state, nor furnish or give any free service or commodity, except as hereinafter provided. Nor shall any person accept any free ticket, free pass, free transportation, free service or free commodity except persons hereinafter described. The words "free ticket," "free pass," "free transportation," "free service" and "free commodity" as used in this act, shall include any ticket, pass contract, or transportation issued for carriage or passage, and any commodity or service furnished for any other consideration than money paid in the usual way at the rate, fare, or charge, open to all who desire to purchase. The persons to whom free tickets, free passes, free transportation, free service, and free commodities may be issued, furnished or given are as follows, to-wit: (a) The officers, agents and employees of the utilities issuing or furnishing the same, whose chief and principal occupation is to render service to such utility; (b) the general officers, agents, and employees, as above defined, of a public utility engaged in the same business; (c) also by street railroads in addition to those enumerated in sub-sections (a) and (b) hereof; to policemen, firemen, and United States mail carriers of any city wearing the insignia of their office, within the limits of any such city, and also, by any utility in accordance with the provisions of any existing franchise while same remains in force and effect. In any prosecution under this act if it is claimed that a free ticket, free pass, or any other transportation, or any free service, or free commodity was wrongfully issued or given to any person it shall be incumbent upon the defendant to prove the character of the service rendered or to be rendered, Sections 2157-h, 2157-i and 2157-j of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, shall apply to persons and public utilities, and their officers, agents, and employees, with the same force and effect as to common carriers, their officers, agents, or representatives. Nothing herein contained shall be construed as repealing or modifying the provisions contained in Sections 2157-f, 2157-g, 2157-h, 2157-i, 2157-j of the Supplement to the Code, 1907.

Sec. 50. This act, being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after its passage and approval and its publication in the Register and Leader and Des Moines Daily Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa; and when so amended the bill do pass.

So the bill having failed to receive a constitutional majority was declared to have been lost.

Moore of Linn moved that the addresses of Miller of Bremer and Dixon of Sac on House File No. 441 be printed in the Journal.

Motion prevailed.

House File No. 441 being under discussion, Miller of Bremer made the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—I deem it hardly necessary to remind you, or the members of this body, that the home into which sickness does not enter from one year's end to another is rare indeed, and blessed in a measure that can be given but poor appreciation, until the hours come when this blessing is removed and the bread winner of the household, the devoted mother, or a beloved child, lies in a darkened chamber racked with pain or consumed of fever.

You may know the anguish of such hours, as I do, but if you do not, then there is still denied you a full appreciation of the wealth of sympathy and kindness this good old world contains.

If it was your own self that was stricken and laid low, you no doubt have a grateful recollection of the self-sacrificing neighbor who returned from his wearisome labor at night and called to plead that he might sit by your side, and attend you until the dawn summoned him again to his toil.

Also you may be able to remember the boys down at the shop who each put in an extra hour so that your wages might go on and your job be held secure pending your recovery, or the brawny neighbors who executed a secret invasion of your cornfield and then came to you, with faces aglow with good nature and ruddy from the caress of the autumn wind, to press your wan hand and tell you that the fall plowing could be handled as easily as was the husking of the corn.

You can remember these things, if in your affliction you were blessed with the experiences common in my community, as I believe they are common in all Iowa, but more vividly yet, perhaps, is there borne in upon your memory the gentle neighbor women who came with delicacies and flowers and willing hands, to tempt your halting appetite, to enrapture the sick room with the colors and odors of wood and field, to share with your tired and distressed wife the burdens of her household cares.

Nor need I jar your memory in any great degree regarding the many who went to great pains to help and cheer you through your illness and save you from gloom and discouragement during the unproductive days of convalescence—regarding the friends who kept up your life insurance, the butcher and druggist and grocer who scaled your bills and would not think of accepting reward for the many little extras they had sent to your home while the shadow menaced, and ordered out of the thoughtfulness of their sympathetic hearts.

I hardly need to remind you of these things, for you know full well, as I do, that the pain of illness acts as a touch of nature to make the world akin and that all mankind gives freely of its sympathy and consideration to the home where it intrudes. All, did I say? Let me amend and say, all but——

But let me avow, in very truth, that I wish I could continue the picture to the end of my remarks, and combine it all in a modern frame, but the soft tints of human sympathy go not well with the garish hues of organized greed, hence I must put that which will follow in a frame by itself. Human sympathy, born with the first heart throb that awakened the pulse of man, remains in the world as the material expression of God's mercy and love. Organized greed, a comparatively modern institution, may best be described as much duplicated sin. One is something so far apart from the other that it would be akin to sacrifice to set them side by side.

But ere I come too abruptly to the point toward which I shall presently drive, let me pretend a continuance of my picture as it could be, as it should be, but unhappily is not.

Let me hark back to the doctor of the old school as he is immortalized in art and story—the doctor as he was twenty, thirty, or forty years ago. You of the grey hairs remember him better than I do, and I remember him well. You recall the long hours that he sat by your bedside, the genuineness of his devotion and the wealth of his sympathy. He was your friend, measured by every standard by which you knew your other friends. No better evidence of this fact lingers in your mind than the recollection of the day when you called to arrange for the payment of his faithful service and he tempered his charges to your ability to pay, or put you off with a cheery smile and the suggestion that after you got back upon your feet he would accept such compensation as your reduced circumstances would permit you to pay without hardship.

Your old-time doctor would fit well into my picture, yea,—he would enhance and glorify it—but his fame is already written large in the temple of grateful memories, and I fain would let it rest there.

My picture, crude as it is, is free from harsh perspective, and since to bring into it a type of the modern doctor as molded by the medical trust would be like painting a Gibson figure into a Rembrandt panel, I set him apart by himself.

He is a member of the American Medical Association, the Iowa State Medical Association, and the medical association of the county in which he happens to reside. You know him better than I do, for in late years, on account of my harsh criticism, we have barely been on speaking terms.

Now, when he rolls up to your door in his big automobile, and it be your good fortune to have accumulated a little property beyond that which is not subject to execution, the chances are that there is inaugurated an expedition of financial conquest that will add immensely to his store of worldly goods and leave you poor indeed.

The first inkling you have of what your finish is going to be is when he installs a registered nurse at a wage that may cause your children to stare in big-eyed wonder, for perhaps they did not know there was so much money in the world.

If your demeanor toward this doctor is such as to indicate that you give him your complete confidence, his next move may be to kindly offer to cut some dire thing out from inside of you, and if you yield to this seeming solicitude, you are approaching nearer to the brow of the hill beyond which lies the poor house than you ever thought it possible to get. If the operation is not "successful" in the perverted sense the term has acquired through a truculent press in the interest of experimental surgery, and you finally are restored to the arms of your family and friends, a sorry but fairly promising shadow of your former self; if at last you are able to sit on the sunny side of your house, and you are sitting there, feebly hailing the passing neighbors who during your illness had revealed to you the hidden treasures of their hearts and even while thanking God that "all the world is good," and that it isn't true that even "man is vile," the postman comes to disturb your grateful reverie and perhaps to cause you to suffer a serious relapse. For the portentous envelope he delivers to you contains a doctor's bill that stuns and bewilders you. You thought this doctor as kind and considerate as the most devoted of your friends while he attended you, but the bill he has rendered puts him in a far different light. In it there is no sentiment, no sympathy, no mercy. It takes no account of the friendship you bore him or the friendship you thought he bore you; no account of the fact, mayhap, that you helped to elect him to the school board and applauded when he proposed plans of medical inspection or compulsory vaccination while half-suspecting that they were for his selfish ends; no account of the mortgage on your home, or your business, or your farm; no account of the manner in which you and your good wife have been saving and scrimping to keep the children at school. Nay, nothing of this nature is revealed therein. In it you only find a cold, unsentimental deduction arrived at from an equally unsentimental process of multiplication. What are your earnings for a day? Two dollars, perhaps, and when I place it at that figure I flatter the earning capacity of the average laborer in this state. But whether it be more or less, the doctor's bill as to its total is apt to be a multiplication of your daily wage by the number of times he called to spend a few brief moments at your bedside and a few longer moments in the cozy corner beside the registered nurse.

This is the modest description of your bill. I am assuming you did not fall so low in spirit and mind as to permit the doctor to cut something out from the inside of you, but if your illness was that severe, there is to be considered a major figure in your bill, nicely predicated upon the maximum amount you might deign to disgorge if a highwayman should press a cold pistol against your brow and announce its surrendered as the alternative of having your brains splashed around upon the adjacent scenery.

You cannot understand it all. You thought your doctor had a heart as responsive to the call of sympathy as that of your neighbor across the street. You think you know otherwise now, but in all likelihood you are mistaken. In his defense I wish to say it—to say that in his heart may dwell all the noble impulses that have glorified his profession in years ago and that his seeming greed and cruelty may not be born of his own desire but more likely are the decrees of the trust to which he has surrendered his individuality, his conscience, and the right to gauge his own charges and manage his own affairs.

Mr. Speaker, this ought not to be. This trust ought to be dissolved. We have passed law after law to save the people from the extortions of other combinations, and it would seem that this trust which lays its heavy hand upon those entitled to our greatest consideration and sympathy, upon those distressed and discouraged by bodily suffering, should not be overlooked.

I rejoice in the belief that a large proportion of the physicians of this state would welcome the reforms that the passage of this bill would inaugurate, for they realize, as I realize, and as you should realize, that the medical profession needs to be pulled out of the morass into which the call of commercialism has led it and restored to the high plain it once occupied. They realize, as I realize, and you should realize, that the medical profession has received so much public favor that it should give more than base ingratitude in return. We tax ourselves for the maintenance of a magnificent institution where its members are educated, and our Code abounds with provisions granting them special immunities and special privileges. Indeed, the very base of their monopoly is grounded in the laws you have made for them, and we should resent the use of such monopoly for the purpose of oppression and extortion.

Mr. Speaker, the botanist will tell you that there are many plants which will not stand transplanting—that the flower that takes on the most gorgeous coloring and gives forth the most delicate odor in its native habitat may become a foul and forbidding thing if transplanted in an alien climate and soil. So, in a sense, I think the medical profession has suffered from being uprooted from the garden of beneficent endeavor where it flourished for its own glory and the service of humanity through many centuries, and being transplanted to the field of grasping commercialism in which it now is found. In its new field it grows rank and forbidding and out of its rankness have grown the several evils this bill is intended to correct and check.

Gentlemen of the House, I ask you to pass this bill. I ask it in the name of fairness and honesty, in the name of the unfortunate and suffering, no less than for the honor and glory of a profession that once was, as it can again be made, the most useful and honorable in all the world.

House File No. 441 by Miller of Bremer being under consideration, Mr. Dixon made the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—I was pleased to listen to the first part of the eloquent address of the gentleman from Bremer. His description of the old time physician of a half century ago who rode the prairies of Iowa visiting the distant farm homes, bringing succor to the sick, relieving the distressed, brought to my mind that beautiful and reverend story that was read by most of us twenty years ago—"The Bonnie Brier Bush."

In the story, the old Scotch physician, Wm. MacClure, settled in the village of Drumtochty in the highlands of Scotland and devoted his life to service for the sick in that community. He faced storms and floods by night and by day and gave his life to the service of his fellow man.

Mr. Speaker, my mind at this moment reverts to another physician in my own town, a "Doctor of the Old School," the counterpart of the physician of Drumtochty. For thirty years this man has faced the blizzards of winter, riding across the prairie of Sac County to the distant farm homes to visit the sick mother or child. No night is too dark for him—no storm too fierce for him to face—no road so impassable but he must go where duty calls. His mission is to visit the sick, alleviate pain, relieve the distressed and cheer the down-hearted. He is giving his life to the service of that community with little hope of reward. His hair is silvered with age; his face seamed by the effacing finger of time; his form bent. He goes about his work with but one thought—one purpose—living to help mankind. His compensation has been so meager, now that he has passed life's meridian, he has barely enough of this world's goods to educate his growing family.

Mr. Speaker, the greatest thing in the world after all, is not wealth, nor honor, nor position, nor power. It is not even that great thing—character. The greatest thing in the world is "Service." Judged by this standard, my friend the Doctor of the Old School will take high rank. He is not lagging behind in his profession. Every summer in company with his good wife he attends lectures in an eastern city to keep up to date in his profession.

Another physician in my town devotes a large part of his busy life in public service in the community without money and without price. These men and their counterparts can be found in every county in Iowa, and they are fit representatives of that profession which has done much to bless mankind, prolong life and make this old world of ours a better place to live in.

I heard of another instance within the past year of a physician with a state wide reputation making a trip of thirteen miles over nearly impassable roads to see a patient and perform an operation, and he charged the munificent sum of three dollars for his services. I have lived in Iowa for over a third of a century. I know the Iowa physician. I know nothing of such a "Doctors' Trust" as the Gentleman from Bremer describes. In my opinion the trust exists only in the mind of the gentleman.

The family physician comes very close into the life of every family. He ushers the sweet little babe into the world; he cares for it and protects it in childhood; he looks after and preserves it in the incompleteness of boyhood and girlhood; he watches over its development into the more complete manhood and womanhood; his protecting care extends to us when we have passed life's meridian and goes with us always. He knows the secrets of every household, but his lips are forever sealed with the professional secret locked up in his bosom.

Mr. Speaker, I know the physicians of Iowa. I have had business and professional dealings with them. As a class, they are a high-minded, unselfish, self-sacrificing body of gentlemen. The proposed bill is an insult and an injustice to these men, and is a vicious measure which should not pass the House. I hope every member that believes in justice and fair play will vote against the bill.

Whitney of Woodbury, chairman of the committee appointed to investigate the fire protection of the Capitol building, submitted the following report:

To the Honorable Senate and House of Representatives:

Your Joint Committee, appointed under Concurrent Resolution, relative to the fire protection of the Capitol building, begs leave to report that it has made the investigation called for by said resolution and submits the following report:

It finds that the Capitol Building is seriously deficient in fire protection. In the construction of the building, stand pipes were installed at different points in the structure, yet the attaching of one hose to any yard hydrant would entirely remove the water pressure from these stand pipes at points as high as the House or Senate Chamber. In other words, while any one yard hydrant is working, no water can be drawn from any stand pipe with which to overcome a fire in the upper structure of the building. We find there are two pumps now in operation in the basement for elevator purposes which could be easily connected with the water supply and thereby furnish, to the stand pipes, a greatly increased pressure.

Your committee is strongly impressed with the belief that these engines should be connected with the stand pipes at the earliest possible time. The cost of making this connection would probably not exceed the sum of five hundred dollars.

Your committee also finds that when the ceiling of the House Chamber was re-constructed after the fire of several years ago, it was put in fire-proof condition. This is not the condition of the ceiling of the Senate Chamber. The ceiling of the Senate Chamber is of wood construction and is so constructed that it is wholly inaccessible to firemen in case of fire.

We find three large steel tanks in the dome. These tanks are a remnant of the old fire system. They are not now being used. One of these tanks could be easily connected with a sprinkler system in the attic over the Senate Chamber and in the judgment of your committee, such a system should be immediately installed. The cost of installing such a system would not exceed one thousand dollars.

Your committee is also strongly impressed with the belief that it would be wise to install one fire extinguisher in each room of the State Historical Building. This last item would entail a cost of probably Five Hundred Dollars.

We find that the building is not supplied with extra hose. The hose now on hand is a linen hose, not capable of being used more than once, and the engineers in charge are not able to state what pressure such hose would stand, without testing the same. The test might come at a disastrous moment.

We deem it most advisable that at least five hundred feet of extra hose of the best quality be kept constantly on hand.

Respectfully, submitted,

Karl J. Johnson, from the committee to whom was referred the first biennial report of the State Board of Education, presented the following:

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE.

To the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly:

Your committee appointed under House Concurrent Resolution, to which was referred the first biennial report of the State Board of Education, beg leave to report as follows:

Under the terms of the resolution, the committee was authorized to visit and inspect the State University, the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, and the Iowa State Teachers' College, and to examine the report of the State Board of Education.

On account of the diversified duties in connection with the other matters of importance, the committee has been unable to make the comprehensive and satisfactory examination of the report of the physical condition of the property of the state that had been desired, and therefore this report is based upon a somewhat abbreviated examination of the report of the State Board of Education, upon consultations and conferences with the members of the Board and Finance Committee, and such other information as could be obtained from other sources within the reach of the committee members during the present session.

The committee has been able to visit but one of the state institutions, namely: the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts. We are convinced, however, that the recommendations offered by the State Board of Education in its report which are clearly defined and the itemized reasons given for all purposes, is entitled to great weight in the conclusions which may be reached, either by this committee or by the General Assembly, or by the people of the State.

In the opinion of the committee, the legislation creating the one board to have supervision over all of the educational institutions, was wise and has proved to the advantage of the institutions and to the proper, businesslike management of all the affairs in connection with the educational interests of the state through these higher institutions. It seems apparent that the state can now work through the State Board toward a systematic and economical building up of the different institutions without a conflict of the activities as between the different institutions.

The report rendered by the board is to be commended on account of its clearly defined policies and on account of the exhaustive, detailed statements of all matters pertaining to the business management.

This committee has presumed that the purpose of the resolution was to mean particularly the making of an examination as directed for the purpose of affording some measure of information relative to the askings made by the State Board of Education for additional appropriations for the various purposes, and which this General Assembly is requested to appropriate. By study of the report of the State Board, it will be seen that the board has outlined a policy for the upbuilding and the maintenance of these three institutions under their control.

The unanimous opinion of this committee is that the construction of educational buildings at the institutions should not be promoted in excess of the special millage tax which has been levied by the authority of the Assembly and which it is anticipated, will furnish for the Iowa State University the sum of $135,000.00 annually; for the Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, $135,000.00 annually; and for the Iowa State Teachers' College the sum of $67,500 annually. The committee has therefore, seen fit to recommend that the appropriations asked for the additional buildings be not granted and recommend that the policy of the board in the future should be to keep within the limits of the millage tax in the construction of buildings.

After a somewhat hurried review of the reasons assigned for additional appropriations for support funds and for additional equipment, which are the largest items in the special appropriations asked for, the committee believes that the appropriations should be granted. While the committee are not familiar with the sufficiency of the salaries paid, we are of the opinion that the recommendations of the State Board of Education, composed as it is, of practical professional and business men, should have great weight.

The committee wish to commend the action of the State Board in popularizing the State Agricultural Institution by adding a two years' agricultural course which has, we understand, as its purpose the meeting of the demands of our state in providing for a practical agricultural course which may be utilized without entrance qualifications and which seeks to afford the means of accomplishing great good for the state in a practical way.

Your committee recommends that the special appropriations for the University be granted except the following: We recommend that the appropriation for additional funds for support be reduced to $98,200 annually, the deduction having been made from the items of $7,500 asked by the Board for fine arts in the detailed report. We recommend also that the appropriation asked for the purchase of additional land be $40,000 instead of $100,000 and the appropriation asked for side-walks, paving and improvement of grounds be $10,000 instead of $16,000. The purpose of the recommendation of these deductions is based upon the policy suggested by the committee that the board should not attempt to force the permanent improvement of the institution at a greater pace than the millage tax for erecting buildings will warrant. We recommend that the special appropriations for the Iowa State College be granted, except the following: The judging pavilion and abattoir laboratory, $50,000; and the poultry laboratory, $6,000. The reasons for this have heretofore been assigned in this report in regard to special appropriations for additional buildings.

The committee recommends that all of the appropriations for the State Teachers' College be granted except the last item for fire protection, $5,000.00, which it recommends, be not granted.

The committee is advised that there is protection now afforded and that with the standpipe and the apparatus now accessible reasonable protection can be had with the city mains. We are also of the opinion that any apparatus which might be installed for emergency use only, is very often found to be of no avail when the emergency arises. The committee is advised that the appropriation for $5,000 for a pipe organ will be made only on condition that the students' association furnish a like amount for the installment of such an organ. The State Board advises that such a proposition has been submitted to them by a student organization and we feel that we wish to commend the energy of the students and alumni of this institution for this character of work.

The committee acknowledges the absolute inability to make a comprehensive report on the matters assigned to it. It would be utterly impossible for any committee attending to the many duties devolving upon the members of the legislature to go into the matter of the stnading and the work of the various institutions or into the correctness of the report in detail and this report is made acknowledging these limitations.

The report of the State Board, submitted to each member of the legislature is worthy of study and is open to the examination and criticism of the entire state. We feel that the state has, in this State Board provided for a standing committee of business men to represent the interests of the people and endeavor to shape the policies of the institution so as to accomplish the desired results of first class institutions of higher education and the other objects for which the institutions were founded.

Respectfully submitted,

JOSEPH MATTES,
A. M. MCCOLL,
JOHN I. CLARKSON,
FRED LARRABEE,

Committee on part of Senate.

Amend House File No. 338 by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. Section Eight, Chapter Sixty-four of the Acts of the Thirty-third General Assembly be, and hereby is, amended by striking from line sixteen the words and language, to-wit: "chief of the fire department."

Sec. 2. Subdivision b, c, and d of Section One Thousand Fifty-six-a32 of the Supplement to the Code, 1907, be, and hereby are, repealed and the following enacted as a substitute therefor:

"Such commission shall, on the first Monday of April and October of each year, or oftener if they shall deem it necessary, under such rules and regulations as it may prescribe, hold examinations for the purpose of determining the qualifications of applicants for positions, including applicants for position of chief of the fire department, and for positions in the fire and police department, which examinations shall be practical in their character and shall relate to such matters as will fairly test the fitness of the person examined to discharge the duties of the position to which he seeks to be appointed. Such commission, shall, as soon as possible after every such examination, certify to the city council the names of ten persons for each department who, according to its records, have the highest standing for the positions they seek to fill, as a result of such examination, and all vacancies in positions under civil service which shall occur before the holding of the next examination shall be filled from said list so certified; provided, however, if the list for any cause shall be reduced to less than three for any division or department, then the superintendent of the proper department may temporarily fill a vacancy until the next examination of the commission. In all examinations and appointments under the provisions of this act, honorably discharged soldiers, sailors or marines of the regular or volunteer army or navy of the United States shall be given a preference if otherwise qualified.

Sec. 3. All persons subject to such civil service examination shall be subject to removal from office or employment by majority vote of such civil service commission for misconduct or failure to properly perform their duties under such rules and regulations as may be adopted by the council. The chief of police, the chief of the fire department, or any superintendent or foreman in charge of municipal work, may peremptorily suspend or discharge any subordinate then under his direction for neglect of duty, disobedience of orders or misconduct, but shall, within twenty-four hours thereafter, report such suspension or discharge, with the reason therefor, to the superintendent of his department, who shall thereupon affirm or revoke such suspension or discharge according to the merits under the facts in the case. Every officer or employe so suspended or discharged and whose suspension or discharge has been affirmed, or the officer or person so suspending or discharging a subordinate when such suspension or discharge has been revoked, as the case may be, may, within five days from the affirmance or revocation of any such suspension or discharge appeal therefrom to the civil service commission, if the person taking the appeal was subject to such civil service, otherwise to the city council, and such commission or council, as the case may be, shall fully hear and determine the appeal upon the merits of the case, and if it be determined that any such suspension or discharge was unwarranted the appellant shall be reinstated, otherwise it shall be affirmed. Any such appeal may be taken by serving upon the proper department superintendent or his secretary or clerk a notice in writing, within said time, specifying the ruling appealed from, which notice shall be signed by the person taking the appeal. A true copy of such notice of appeal shall be filed with the chairman of the civil service commission or mayor, as the case may be. Within five days from the service of such notice of appeal, the proper department superintendent shall file with the civil service commission, or city council, as the case may be, a written specification of the charges or grounds upon which the affirmance or revocation of the suspension or discharge appealed from was based. Within five days after such specifications are filed as aforesaid the commission or council, as the case may be, shall fix the time and place for hearing the appeal and notify the appellant in writing of the time and place so fixed, which notice shall contain a copy of the specifications so filed. The time for hearing any such appeal shall not be fixed earlier than five days nor later than twenty days from the filing of such specifications. The council and commission shall have the power to enforce the attendance of witnesses, the production of books and papers, and to administer oaths in the same manner and with like effect, and under same penalties, as in the case of magistrates exercising criminal or civil jurisdiction under the statutes of Iowa. The hearings on such appeals shall be public and appellant may be represented by counsel. The council or commission, as the case may be, shall issue subpoenas for such witnesses as appellant may designate, which shall be signed by the mayor or chairman of the commission, as the case may be. Such commission shall make annual report to the council and it may require a special report from such commission at any time. Such commission may prescribe such rules and regulations for the proper conduct of its business as shall be found expedient and advisable.

Sec. 4. Such commission shall appoint a chief of the fire department, but the tenure of any person holding such position at this time shall not be affected by this section; provided, however, that such officer may be removed for cause in accordance with the provisions of the next preceding section. No person shall be employed in any capacity in the fire or police department unless he is a citizen of the United States and has been a resident of such city more than one year and is of good moral character and can read and write the English language and is not addicted to the use of intoxicating liquors as a beverage. Nothing in this act shall be construed as limiting the powers conferred upon the city council and its members in Section One Thousand Fifty-six-a25, of the Supplement to the Code, 1907.

Sec. 5. No member of the fire or police department in any such city shall directly or indirectly contribute any money or anything of value to any candidate for nomination or election to any office or to any campaign or political committee. Any person violating any of the provisions of this section shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall pay a fine of not less than Twenty-five dollars nor more than One Hundred dollars, or be imprisoned in the county jail not to exceed thirty days."

I move to further amend said House File by striking out the title and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Any person convicted of the violation of any of the provisions of this act shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor and shall be fined in a sum not exceeding one hundred dollars ($100.00) or imprisoned not to exceed thirty days, or both, in the discretion of the court; provided, however, any person so convicted shall have the right of appeal.

Any teacher failing to comply with the provisions of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor punishable by a fine of not less than five dollars ($5.00) nor more than ten dollars ($10.00).

Sec. 13. The state fire marshal shall not engage in any other business, and he or his deputy shall, except when engaged elsewhere in the performance of his duties, at all times be at the office of the state fire marshal, ready for such duties as are required by this act.

To His Excellency, the Governor of Iowa:

I am directed to inform you that the House herewith respectfully requests the return of House File No. 180 for the purpose of making a correction.

C. R. BENEDICT.
Chief Clerk.

Senate File No. 101 being under discussion, Pickford of Cerro Gordo made the following remarks:

I desire to call the attention of the House to the merits of this bill and to some of the effects we expect it to produce.

Using the language of a distinguished American statesman I will state that we, of the country, are confronted by a condition and not a theory. This condition is a diminishing rural population. It affects residents of both city and country because it disturbs the balance between producer and consumer. It is one of the causes of the increased cost of living.

The growth of population has increased so much faster than the production of food, that it becomes a matter of importance to this nation to inquire into the cause of the movement of country population toward the cities and why there is almost no return current.

If we eliminate from this discussion those causes which are the result of the natural restlessness of youth, the desire to try something different from what he has been accustomed to, if we take away those whom nature never intended to be farmers and who ought to leave the country, there still remains a very large number unaccounted for.

It cannot be because of a lack of prosperity. I have but to point to the thousands of good farm homes that have been built all over this state in the last twenty years and I make the statement that the farmer in his calling is as sure of securing a competency for his old age as those of any other occupation if he uses the same forethought and diligence as is required in other lines of work.

Inventive genius has made it possible for him to have and enjoy more household conveniences on the farm than he could afford to have if he lived in a city. If he does not have them some other cause must be found than the fact that he is a farmer and lives in the country.

But there are two causes of the discontent we find in the country which are very evident. Both affect the social life of the farmer and, in my opinion are the main reasons why farmers and their wives become discontented with their surroundings.

Plenty of good food, independence of thought and action, comfortable homes, connection with the world by the daily mail and with the neighborhood by telephone—all these are good, but there is still the social hunger which can only be satisfied by actually getting together and meeting one's fellows face to face; there is still the feeling that it is our duty to give our children so far as we can, an education which will start them out in life on as nearly an equal footing with their fellows as is possible. These two problems are still unsolved. The farmer must ultimately work them out for himself but this legislature can help him by passing laws which will make good roads and good schools possible.

When the country road is in such shape that it is possible to travel comfortably and speedily from place to place the social problem will be solved. It is simply a matter of getting there. The present unsocial condition of country life is a direct result of road conditions and distance. Good roads and good schools are intimately connected. Make the roads good and the larger school unit with all its lessened cost and increased efficiency becomes possible.

But in the meantime what can we do?

Everyone familiar with country school conditions admits that there is a growing scarcity of teachers in the rural schools and that the quality of efficiency is not rising. Some had hoped that increased wages and a rising standard for passing examinations would bring about the desired result. It has failed to do so. The average wage of female teachers in Iowa thirty-five years ago was $28.00 a month. Today it is $42.21 a month.

This has brought no surplus of teachers to the country schools. If the standard of examination is raised we shall have still less.

Let us look at the condition of the rural schools as shown by the last report of the State Superintendent. Of the 510,661 pupils enrolled in the public schools of the state in the year 1910, 249,680 are in the rural schools—or nearly one-half. There are 12,640 of these rural schools which require an equal number of teachers. More than 3,000 of these rural teachers are BRAND NEW EVERY YEAR, for the average length of service of a teacher is a little over three years.

We paid the teachers of all these schools $5,000,000 last year and at least one-fourth of this sum was paid to persons who had no previous experience in teaching and no professional training. They experimented at our expense. Do you think we can afford to have our children experimented on by these raw recruits to the army of teachers? The average age of all those who applied for certificates in the year 1910 was 22.6 years. It is a safe guess that the rural schools got practically all of the younger and inexperienced ones.

Of the 24,080 persons who were examined for certificates in 1910, 7,059 were rejected, 4,754 of those who did pass had had no experience in teaching, 2,341 had taught less than one year, 4,125 had certificates lower than third grade, 3,880 held third grade certificates, 7,598 held second grade certificates, 1,418 held first grade certificates. My experience of twenty-five years as a school officer justifies me in saying that we get comparatively few first grade teachers in the rural schools.

Now the difference in the grade of certificate held is a matter of knowledge and experience and no person can teach that which she does not know; and often we find persons who cannot teach that which they do know, for the teaching quality is partly a natural gift, but it is also one which must be cultivated. How can we expect good work from the poorer and lower half of this class of teachers—for that is the kind which naturally gravitates to and remains in, the country schools.

Do not delude yourself with the fact that we have an excellent Normal School which turns out several hundred trained teachers every year. If all the graduates of all the colleges and state schools of Iowa were to go to teaching, they could not supply the schools with trained teachers. There were 27,598 teachers employed in Iowa last year while the total enrollment of fifteen colleges and three state schools last year amounted to 14,932. Less than 500 of those who were licensed to teach in Iowa last year were college graduates. Practically none of these went to the country schools. They could not afford to for two reasons. First on account of the small pay and second, because they could not use the knowledge they had spent time and money in acquiring, on such primary work. Our source of supply comes partly from the graduates of the High School, but largely from those who have dropped out of school before reaching that point; and the fact that 7,000 applicants out of 24,000 failed to get a certificate, while 8,000 more were able to get only third grade or worse, indicates that they were woefully deficient in the common branches. Let me repeat that no teacher can teach what she does not know.

Increase of wages has not even kept the supply of teachers up to the demands of rural schools. More and more complaint comes from County Superintendents that they have schools for which no teacher can be found, or if found it is only by issuing a provisional certificate and lowering the bars of admission to the lowest point. Let me repeat again, they are practicing and experimenting on our children at our expense.

This demand for teachers is going to be constant. Why not set about seeking some source of supply which shall furnish them in sufficient number and of a quality and training sufficient for the needs of the rural schools?

As regards the value of professional training in regard to teachers. It is interesting to note, that in the examination of last July, of those who attempted to get first grade certificates, only 30 per cent. succeeded, while 70 per cent. were compelled to take lower grades. Of those who wrote for certificates but who had received no training above grammar grades, 31 per cent. failed entirely. Of those having some high school training but not enough to graduate, 19 per cent. failed entirely. Of high school graduates $9\frac{1}{2}$ per cent. failed, while of those having college or normal school training, but 5 per cent. failed. Is there not a lesson in this. Now, if we can take this high school training and divert a portion of it so that it shall have special reference to the work of country school teaching and require a thorough review of the common school branches, and reinforce this training, by observation lessons in the work done by the best primary teachers in the city schools, will we not lower this per cent. of failures in examination and increase the supply and efficiency of teachers for the rural schools?

There is another point where I believe we would gain. Very many of the young girls who begin their work of teaching in the country school are town bred girls. They are not in sympathy with country conditions. They are lonesome. They miss the whirl of the city. They are not to blame for it, but they find it hard to adjust themselves to the quiet of the country. They are not in touch with country life. They magnify its disadvantages and miss its excellencies and because of this, they fail to be an inspiration to the girl in the sunbonnet and to the barefooted boy, and at the first opportunity they escape from what they consider a necessary but unpleasant way of beginning their career as a teacher and gladly accept the first chance they have to get a position in the grades of some city or town school.

What we want in the country school is a young woman who is in touch with country conditions, who can enter into the spirit of farm life, who is not above work with her hands, who can be an inspiration to the boys and girls who come to learn of her, because she knows their life in all its phases, who can look through the rough exterior of the shock headed boy and see the germ of a strong man in him, who can encourage the shy and bashful girl in the sunbonnet to make the most of herself and who can make both pupils and patrons feel she is one of them.

While this is not impossible to the town bred young woman, I believe it is more likely to be found in the country girl who goes through the district school and who is already a fairly good housekeeper before she enters the high school. If she can now have free high school training and the last two years can elect to take normal training and if she is compelled by this course to review those common branches which she will find most necessary to use in rural school work, and if she can know that she can graduate directly into a teacher in the country school; where she is sure of a position at good wages, among her home folks, or at least in home conditions, will we not have gone a long way toward supplying a sufficient number of teachers with enough ability to do good work in country schools?

This is what this bill is intended to do and, working in conjunction with the free high school training bill for rural pupils, I believe it is the greatest forward step we have made in many a year toward the solution of the country school problem because we have begun with the heart of the whole problem—the teacher. There, gentlemen, lies the remedy for the poor work done in the country school. Give me a good teacher, one who is wide awake to the development of the best there is in the child life around her; one who knows how to work—how to present the subject she is attempting to teach so that it shall attract the attention of the child, one who is in sympathy with the life which surrounds the child and who can at least attempt to open the door of the great outside world which envelops the child so that he shall feel that there is a close and very direct connection between school work and the every day life he leads and will lead when he grows to be a man, and I will ask nothing better than the common district school. Fine buildings, costly apparatus, well cared for grounds, libraries and other equipment, all have their place, but the center of it all is the teacher.

This is not an experiment. It has been used in Kansas and Nebraska for several years. In Nebraska a dozen high schools were giving normal training in 1907 when the state appropriation of $500 became available. There were sixty-nine in 1908, ninety-eight in 1909, one hundred ten in 1910. The effect on the teachers has been such that only six hundred of all the rural school teachers of Nebraska have had no normal training. Two thousand two hundred seven have graduated from county normal schools in the last three years. In Kansas, during the first year of the operation of the law, one hundred ten high schools qualified for the work. These schools represented 78 of the 105 counties in the state and graduated 723 students from the normal training course.

The movement means better high schools because more closely supervised and more highly regarded by the common people; better grade schools because of the observational visits of the normal students; and, above all, better rural schools because of more efficient teachers.

I urge every member of this House to support this bill which passed the Senate without a dissenting vote.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Mr. President and Gentlemen of Joint Convention:

During my campaign for the office of Representative from Pocahontas County, I made statements to the effect that in the event the election of a United States senator by the democrats became, apparently, impossible, I would give my support to W. S. Kenyon whom I believe is the choice of a majority of the people of my county.

While the election of a democrat is still, almost, as probable as the selection of a republican, yet in deference to what is probably a fair and reasonable inference drawn from statements made, as above set out, and desiring to honorably discharge any possible obligation because of statements and inferences, I vote on this ballot for W. S. Kenyon for United States Senator.

C. F. LINNAN.

President Clarke appointed as the committee to notify him, Senators Hammill of Hancock, Larrabee of Webster and Representative O'Connor of Chickasaw.

Senator Smith of Shelby moved that Judge Deemer be invited to appear before the Joint Convention and that a committee of three be appointed to escort him to this Chamber.

Motion prevailed.

President Clarke appointed as such committee: Senators Smith of Shelby, Stuckslager of Linn and Representative Hayes of Montgomery.

Hon. W. S. Kenyon arrived and was escorted to the Speaker's station and made the following remarks:

Gentlemen of the Convention of the Joint Assembly:

I think the people of the state cannot complain over your lack of deliberation in this contest. (Laughter and applause). And I anticipate that they will not be shocked by surprise from your hasty action! I want to extend to the members of the legislature my thanks and appreciation for the great honor conferred and the confidence reposed in me in this election. While I am a believer in a constitutional amendment for the election of senators by the people (applause), I am not so bigoted in that opinion, or so impolite, as to decline this election. (Laughter and applause.) The character of this contest and the length thereof has never inspired in my mind any thought that a speech of acceptance on my part would become a part of the exercises, consequently I have nothing but extemporaneous remarks on this occasion.

But my mind wanders amid these scenes to a quiet spot near home, where sleeping on the hillside in that last sleep that knows no waking is that great Iowa leader who gave his life in fighting the battle for the people, your beloved friend and my beloved friend, Jonathan Prentice Dolliver.

I have always turned for inspiration along political lines to the life and teaching of the word of that greatest of all Americans, Abraham Lincoln. (Applause.) And I find in some words of his that come to my mind at this time in relation to the perpetuity of government and the objects of government a political philosophy and creed that is my political philosophy and creed when he said that the leading of all government was to elevate the condition of men, to lift artificial burdens from shoulders, to clear the pathway of laudable pursuit for all, and to afford to all an unfettered start and a fair chance in the race of life. So that in the Senate of the United State I propose to stand for laws for elevating the condition of men, for lifting artificial burdens from shoulders, in so far as I may be able to do so. Hence I shall favor in a general way the income tax law, workingmen's compensation acts—for I believe we are behind the civilized nations of the world in this respect—corrupt practice acts, and other measures along the lines of human rights as well as property rights, because human rights are first. (Applause.) We believe as a nation in the conservation of our national resources, we believe likewise in the conservation of national ideals; and the people of this country view with some alarm a scheme of fraud and corruption by which a man may be elected to the Senate of the United States—and I propose as much as I can to unite with any effort to preserve the high ideals of the Senate of the United States and go to the bottom of the investigations of a neighboring state of ours. We may have lost some in population in Iowa, but we have never lost any of our ideals; and, thank God! it never needs a court or a jury or a committee of congress to investigate the election of a United States Senator in Iowa! (Applause.)

I don't want to take any more of your time. I enjoyed this contest in a way. It has been one of good feeling, and I enjoyed being in the contest, and to be in the contest with our good friend who sits on this platform, for Iowa never produced a better friend or a grander character than the friend I have known all these years, and our friendship is not affected by this contest.

I want to make just one pledge to you and to the people of Iowa, and it is the only pledge of any kind, nature or description that I have made in this campaign: and that is to give to the people of Iowa the best service of which I am able, and all the energy of which I am possessed. I want your help, your advice. I want to serve the entire state of Iowa regardless of any political factions. (Applause.) (Great Applause.) I only indicate in a general way the trend of my mind. I will unite in all efforts to keep this government close to the people, that it may be in truth and fact a government of all the people, for all the people, by all the people. I thank you.

Judge Deemer then addressed the Joint Convention, making the following remarks:

Gentlemen of the General Assembly:

I have had so many heart throbs during the past two or three weeks I am convinced that if this had not instantly ceased I should have dropped dead from angina pectoris. Some men have said that I have been a fool—well, if that is so what are all mortals. Shakespeare said, "Ye morta's all are fools." I must admit that I have had some hallucinations during the past two or three weeks; I had an halucination at one time that I might fill the seat so recently vacated by Iowa's most distinguished Senator, or ex-Senator now, Jonathan P. Dolliver, but at this time I am glad to say that that burden has been cast upon this gentleman who is on the platform with me. (applause). I do not believe that I had any bad attacks of dementia; if I have had I don't realize it. I never had thought that loyalty to friends or of friends was any sign of dementia. One time I had started out to block out a speech of acceptance, but I laid that by a few weeks ago and now I am to attend the obsequies and to deliver the funeral address (applause). I am in at the death, but my friends, the most delicious thought about that is that there is always the thought in every man's mind of resurrection (applause). Although dead I still live, and I want to make this pledge to you all and as still your servant and the servant of the people that I shall go back to my desk and work—which I enjoy—with just as much joy as when I went to it before this unpleasantness arose and I am going to try to serve you and the people of Iowa just the same as in the past. My career has always been judicial and I feel that perhaps it may be well that I am going back to it and not down to that chaotic condition which we have in Washington today and I want to sincerely congratulate my friend, Judge Kenyon, and to say that during this contest nobody as he has said has resorted to the tricks which have been resorted to in the election of a U. S. Senator in our adjoining state. This contest has been clean from any suspicion of that sort, and it ought to be a sort of satisfaction to you men that it is so.

My friends, I was brought into this contest by some of my friends who thought that I might be able to be a solution to the situation and finally I said "Alright, if it will solve the matter I will take my chance," but it did not prove to be that way and hence I accept the situation as it is. You know that I am preaching my own sermon I have to be a little personal but I trust that you will pardon the personalities. You know that I have never in any just sense been an active candidate. I have not troubled you men by talking to you or asking for promises and so far as I am concerned there has been no lobbying here. I have kept away from that and nobody has worked for me here. I have simply gone my way and done my duties as I saw them and have resorted not even in the slightest way to any trickery or politics to obtain votes. That I would not do for any office which is in the gift of the people. The result is that I am content.

Now my friends as I have already said it is no time for me to discuss politics or outline policies. All I can say is to treat me fairly, present the situation fairly to your constituents, and at least give me credit for being decent and honest in this contest. I now want to close with a quotation from that great Republican whom we all venerate if we do not cannonize, Abraham Lincoln. It is so familiar that I should be able to quote without reading. "I am loath to close. We are not enemies but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained it must not break the bonds of our affection. The mystic chords of memory stretch from every home and hearthstone all over the broad land will yet swell the chorus of the union when again touched as fully as they will be by the better angel of our nation." I want to apply that to the political situation existing in Iowa today and with that I thank you. (Applause.)

Journal of the Joint Convention corrected and approved.

Senator Van Law of Marshall moved that the Joint Convention be dissolved.

Motion prevailed, and the Joint Convention was dissolved.

House reconvened, Speaker Stillman in the Chair.

Dixon of Sac moved that a committee of three be appointed to conduct the Speaker to the Chair.

Motion prevailed.

Speaker Pro Tempore appointed as such committee: Dixon of Sac, Hayes of Montgomery, Bowman of Linn.

Hayes of Montgomery, presenting to the Speaker the Chair and the gavel, used by him, made the following remarks:

Mr. Speaker and Gentlemen of the House:

To me is given the honor and pleasure of presenting to you, Mr. Speaker, the gavel and chair used during our deliberations as tokens of our friendship and esteem.

Your absolute fairness and unfailing generosity have won our hearts.

The members of this House coming as we did from various walks of life felt our unfitness for the work we had undertaken. In a great measure the work accomplished by us and the pleasure of our meetings has depended upon the kindness and assistance of our Speaker. We members who are serving our first session wish especially to express to you our appreciation of the thoughtful assistance you have given us.

May the great gavel which directs the work of your life be wielded in your behalf as firmly and fairly as you have used this gavel in our deliberations.

Throughout the coming years may this chair constantly remind you that your friends are legion and that they are for you always.

From the fullness of our hearts Mr. Speaker, we extend to you this chair and gavel.

In accepting the chair and the gavel, Speaker Stillman made the following remarks:

Among all those attributes of character which we most admire and prize in our fellow men, it seems to me that the greatest and the finest of all is the capacity for real, unselfish friendship. There comes to my mind a quotation long ago read and remembered which runs thus:

"He who has found a new star in the sky
Is less fortunate than he who finds a new, deep-hearted friend.
The stars will die;
They are but creatures of the sun and wind;
But Friendship casts her firm sheet-anchors
Deep beside the shore-lines of Eternity."

We who sit here today have become in the days and weeks that are gone more than mere formal neighbors and colleagues upon the floor of the House; we have become friends, and that friendship is a treasure which neither moth nor rust can corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal. There is no one of us but has discovered in his fellow here some sterling and lovable trait of character; there is no one of us but has found in himself and in his neighbor some trace of human frailty or weakness which serves as the one touch of nature which makes the whole world kin. And now, with the hour at hand when all these pleasant associations are to be broken, never again to be fully repeated or restored, I know there is no one of us but feels that something very cheering, very helpful and very desirable is passing out of our paths of life. My mind has run to the subject of friendship, because I know that the generous action which you have just taken found its source and inspiration in friendship. Replying to that sentiment on my own behalf, I want to say that I feel a deep and personal affection for every member of this house, without exception. There has never been a moment when you have not given to me, your presiding officer, your generous and loyal support; there never has been a day when my hand has not been upheld and strengthened by your sympathy and your helpful assistance, without which the administration of this office must have been a complete and utter failure. For these favors my gratitude is deep beyond the power of words, and in calling you my friends, I want to use that word in all the fullness of meaning with which it is capable of being construed.

This magnificent chair and this gavel shall be held and kept among my most priceless earthly possessions. Engraved upon them in characters invisible to others, but clear to me, I shall always be able to read a testimonial of your affection and your good-will; while mingled still more deeply with the very elements of wood and leather and iron which compose their fabric, there shall always be suggestion and reminder of those resources of wisdom, of courage, of zeal and of upright honesty which have been the very foundation of all your relations here—qualities which have helped you meet and surmount every difficulty.

I accept your gifts with delight, and beg you to believe that the acknowledgment, however inadequate, proceeds from a heart overflowing with appreciation and with gratitude.

Dixon of Sac made the following remarks:

Gentlemen of the House:

I gladly endorse the eloquent tribute paid our Speaker by the Gentleman from Montgomery. It has been the custom and precedent of the members of this body to select for their presiding officer a member of the legal fraternity, one versed in the procedure of law making and skilled in the forum of debate. At the beginning of the session, this precedent was set aside and we selected as our Speaker a plain country editor. I need hardly say to you that we drew a prize. The qualifications required of a presiding officer in a body like this, are varied.

One may have the eloquence of a Webster, the courtliness of a Chesterfield, the parliamentary knowledge of a Cushing, but if with these qualifications he does not possess tact, then his work will be a failure.

"Tact clinches the bargain,
Sails out of the bay,
Gets the vote of the Senate,
'Spite of Webster or Clay."

Our Speaker possesses this rare gift of the moderator, tact, in an unusual degree. There has arisen in this body this session, some of the most complicated and intricate questions of parliamentary law ever presented in a deliberative assembly. Yet our Speaker has decided them instantly, and decided them right.

In the more than half century of our existence as a state, there have been some great men in the Speaker's chair of this Assembly. "Men of opinions and a will, men who have honor, men who will not lie," but in all of this list of the great presiding officers of this body, none have excelled the present Speaker in knowledge of parliamentary procedure, in fairness and in justice.

To the new members he has been especially kind and considerate. The members of this body appreciate his great service to the state and we believe that the people of Iowa have further use for the Gentleman from Greene.

Zeller of Madison made the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER—I arise not to further weary you, my colleagues, by attempting to add to the well deserved compliments already extended to my well beloved friend, the Speaker. I would only emphasize what has already been so eloquently said by the gentleman from Montgomery and the gentleman from Sac. But gentlemen of the House, my purpose in claiming the attention of the House is to ask a question. It is this: What is the matter with Stillman? The whole House, "Nothing is the matter with Stillman. He is all right."

Dixon of Sac offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption:

We, the Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, herewith express our appreciation of the valuable and efficient services rendered by the Honorable Eli C. Perkins, Speaker Pro Tempore of the House. We extend to him our sincere best wishes for a happy and prosperous future.

Motion prevailed and Resolution was adopted.

Speaker Pro Tempore Perkins responded with the following remarks:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly:

I thought when I made my last address on the Appropriation bill this evening, that I had spoken to you for the last time. Our pleasant associations are over, the session is ended, and we are now come to the parting of the ways, and the time to say good-bye.

The work of the session, as far as we are concerned, is ended, but I believe that the measures passed by this House, and soon to become the laws of our state, will be for the uplifting and betterment of the people of Iowa.

Among the memories that we shall carry away with us, is the thought of the pleasant friendships we have formed, and the knowledge that all over the state, from east to west, are those who wish us well.

Gentlemen, I thank you all for your kindness to me when I have occupied the Speaker's chair, and I bid you all good-bye.

Dixon of Sac offered the following Resolution and moved its adoption:

We, the Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly, by this resolution, desire to show in a small way our gratitude and appreciation for the many kindnesses and courtesies extended to the membership by Mr. C. R. Benedict, Chief Clerk, Mr. A. C. Gustafson, assistant clerk, Mr. Tom Watters, Reading Clerk, Mrs. L. S. Elliott, Mr. F. G. Luke, Journal Clerks, Mrs. Caroline Young Smith, Engrossing Clerk, Miss Mabel Elwood, Enrolling Clerk, Mr. B. C. Gulliams, File Clerk, E. H. Trease, Bill Clerk, Mrs. Clara Keller-Hook, Post-mistress, Mr. J. Hefelfinger, Sergeant-at-Arms, Mr. A. M. May, Chief Doorkeeper, and all other clerks, doorkeepers, pages and janitors.

Motion prevailed and Resolution was adopted.

Zeller of Madison moved that the Secretary of State be directed to mail to each member of the House a Journal of April 12th of the House.

Motion prevailed.

RESOLUTIONS IN MEMORIAM

Adopted by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-Fourth General Assembly.

HON. JONATHAN PRENTISS DOLLIVER.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft resolutions commemorative of the life and services of the late United States Senator, Jonathan Prentiss Dolliver, beg leave to submit the following:

Since the last assembling of this legislative body, death has removed from our midst one of Iowa's favorite sons. A man who, rising from the humble walks of life by his inherent ability and virtue, reached the pinnacle of political prestige and fame second only to that of the chief executive of this nation.

It is the sad duty of this House to pay a fitting tribute of respect to his memory. Jonathan P. Dolliver was born February 6, 1858, at Kingwood, Preston County, Virginia. His father, the Rev. James J. Dolliver, was a Methodist minister, preaching among the humble homes of mountaineers of West Virginia, carrying peace and comfort to this liberty loving people.

Jonathan Prentiss Dolliver graduated from the University of Morgantown in 1875, and came west to Illinois and shortly to Iowa. He was admitted to the bar in 1878 at the early age of twenty years. On the 20th day of November, 1895, he was married to Louise Pearsons of Ft. Dodge, Iowa, and to this union were born three children, two girls, Margaret Eliza and Frances Pearsons, Dolliver, and one boy, George Prentiss Dolliver, a little fellow, who was calling for his father at the sick room door when death came and took the great man away. Coming to Ft. Dodge, Iowa, he gathered around him many close and faithful friends, who were his friends and neighbors until his death. His career as a lawyer was marked by many obstacles, but, pursuing a life of strict integrity, economy and devotion to his chosen profession, he rapidly rose in the estimation of his fellows and acquired fame and distinction among the men of the best legal minds in the middle west.

From the beginning of his career as a citizen of Iowa he allied himself with the republican party and did all in his power to make our Iowa. He was elected as a member of the Fifty-first Congress from the Tenth District and retained his seat in that distinguished body through the Fifty-second, Fifty-third, Fifty-fourth, Fifty-fifth and Fifty-sixth Congresses with marked ability. August 23, 1900, Gov. Leslie M. Shaw appointed him United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Hon. John H. Gear and he was elected January 21, 1902, to succeed himself and was re-elected January 23, 1907, and held his seat until death touched his eyelids down and ended his notable and successful career as a lawyer and statesman.

He was a member of the Ways and Means Committee of the House and was intimately associated with McKinley and other great leaders in their struggles for the American homes. His committee assignments were of the most important matters before Congress. No time or labor was spared during all his long years of service as a representative from the duties of his office and interest of the people of this commonwealth. In the Senate he was chairman of the great committee on Agriculture and was still a member of the Ways and Means Committee, and, to the people of Iowa, it seemed as though he had come to his own when he took his place in the Senate beside the lamented Allison and together they worked for the common good of all.

Jonathan P. Dolliver died at Ft. Dodge, Iowa, on October 15, 1910, at the hour of 7:30 o'clock, in the evening. Every citizen of the country knew of J. P. Dolliver as a statesman; they knew of his cleanliness and force as such, but all did not know of Dolliver at home. He was always the same Dolliver, and, upon returning from his national duties, he seemed glad as a child to get home and meet his friends however humble. All men alike to him, and our citizens admired him, regardless of party. To be acquainted with him was to like him; to know him was to love him. It made little difference what came to the palace, if only peace and prosperity abided with the cottage.

So the great man died, as he had lived, quietly, simply, the smile of good nature upon his face. He died amid the scenes he loved best, his home.

Be it Therefore Resolved, That we, as a legislative body, members of the House of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa, bow our heads on this occasion with a deep sense of the nation's and state's loss of a statesman and a guiding hand and our grief over the loss of a fellow citizen, who was so summarily taken from our midst, and that we extend to the stricken and mourning wife and children our deep and sincere sympathy. A nation mourns with them in their irreparable loss, and, as they sit by the fireside in their home in ashes of deep affliction, we would convey to them a message of consolation, so true and sincere as to touch the deepest chords of their natures, and enable them to realize that in such depths of sadness the whole world is kin, and that all our people join with them in the great loss that has come to us all in the death of Jonathan P. Dolliver.

Be it further resolved, That we realize in such a case as this that "death loves a shining mark." Like the stately ship with full set sails riding out from the bay upon a placid sea to be suddenly swept from sight beneath the waves by a hurricane, so was our beloved brother and leader snatched from our companionship and from the arms of his family in the beginning of a career of usefulness and power at a time when we all needed him. Like the stately shaft of shining marble broken half way between promise and fulfillment, his life was ended just as he approached the zenith of his success. He has left behind him a record that will live as long as human memory endures.

Be it Further Resolved, That these resolutions of respect be spread upon the journal of the House, and that the chief clerk be directed to send an enrolled copy to his wife, Louise Dolliver, at Ft. Dodge, Iowa.

HON. LOREN R. HENDERSON.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee appointed to draft resolutions of respect to the memory of Hon. Loren R. Henderson, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, The Hon. Loren R. Henderson, a member of the House during the Nineteenth and Twentieth General Assemblies, departed this life on the second day of October, 1909, at his home in Fremont county.

The subject of this memorial was born in Warren county, Indiana, March 24th, 1831, and grew to manhood in his native state. April 10, 1856, he was united in marriage to Miss Martha Lawrence, and the following year came to Fremont county, where he resided continuously until his death.

He was very closely identified with the pioneer settlers of his community and in the early government of his county and state. He was elected a member of the county board of supervisors in 1865, his county keeping him a member of said board as long as he would accept it.

He was elected as Representative to the Nineteenth General Assembly in 1880, and the Twentieth General Assembly in 1882. Two years later he entered the campaign as a candidate for State Senator, being defeated by Talton E. Clark of Clarinda, by only about sixty votes, and that, too, in a district overwhelmingly republican. He took great pride in the material prosperity of his home county and his adopted state, and was at all times ready and anxious to contribute his time and means toward their welfare; and

Whereas, The life and character of the deceased was such as to command the respect and esteem of all who knew him, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in his death, the state and county have suffered the loss of a worthy and upright son, and that we hereby extend to his bereaved relatives and friends our heartfelt sympathy, and be it further

HON. HENRY H. BUSH.

MR. SPEAKER.—Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the life and public service of Hon. Henry H. Bush, who was an honored member of this House in the Sixteenth General Assembly, beg leave to report the following:

Henry Hudson Bush was born at Randolph, New York, July 2, 1837, and died at his home in Garner, Iowa, on September 14, 1905.

While still a youth he left his native state and moved to Galva, Illinois. Here he supported himself and completed his education. He responded to Lincoln's first call for troops and enrolled his name on April 20, 1861, and was made captain of Company D, 17th Illinois Volunteer Infantry. This enlistment was for three months and when his time expired, reenlisted for three years and served his full time. He had the love and esteem of his soldiers, the respect and confidence of his superior officers.

While ranking as captain he frequently filled positions of officers of much higher rank. That he filled these positions with honor and credit is shown by the fact that at Donelson on the last day of the fight, Capt. Bush was in command of his regiment and honorable mention is made of him in General Wallace's report of the battle. He was in command of the Pioneer Corps at the siege of Vicksburg and was placed in command of the troops which were left to guard the city and made his reports direct to Logan and Grant.

On January 4th, 1864, he married Miss Minnie Wright at Galva, Illinois, and in 1869 moved to Hancock county, Iowa, where he resided until his death. As a pioneer he had much to do in helping to develop the county, and his public spirit contributed to the success of every public enterprise. The early years of his life at Garner were spent in the practice of law, and his legal advice and counsel was sought after in the management of all public affairs. He served as a member of the board of supervisors of the county for a number of years and assisted in the establishment of a rule of economic administration worthy of emulation.

Later in his life he became the owner and editor of the Hancock Signal, a newspaper published at Garner, and continued in this work until ill health compelled him to retire shortly before his death. He was a member of the House in the Sixteenth General Assembly, representing the district composed of Hancock, Wright, Winnebago and Worth counties; and was held in high esteem by his fellow members.

He was ever mindful of his social duties, being a member of Bethel Lodge No. 319, A. F. & A. M., and of Bethel Chapter 116; also a member of the Grand Army of the Republic and of the Loyal Legion; a member of the Congregational church. His influence was ever on the side of right living; and as was his life, so was his death, peaceful as a restful sleep.

Therefore, be it Resolved, That in his death the nation has lost a valiant defender, the state and county in which he lived a worthy and honorable citizen, and we hereby extend to his relatives and friends our tribute of respect; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

HON. L. F. SUMMERS.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions of respect to the life, character, and public service of the late Hon. L. F. Summers, a member of the House of the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies beg leave to report the following:

The subject of this sketch was born in Scotland county, Missouri, August 17, 1849, and was the son of David and Alice Summers, who resided for many years near Memphis, Missouri. He received his primary education in the public schools of Memphis after which he pursued a course in Memphis college. His inclinations tended toward a professional life and he chose the profession of medicine for his life work and graduated with honors from the Keokuk Medical college in the class of 1876.

After his graduation he located at Milton, Iowa, for the pursuance of his profession and for thirty-five years was engaged in active practice, where he labored conscientiously and incessantly. He was also engaged in mercantile business, conducting a drug store for years in his home town and also was interested in agricultural pursuits, owning several farms in the immediate vicinity.

On the seventh of March, 1876, he was united in marriage to Miss Nettie Bell of Delphos, Ohio. To this union was born four children, Mrs. Mabel Folker, Mrs. Jessie Harbin, Mrs. Etta Catherine Short and Lloyd Summers, all of whom were present at their father's bedside during his last illness, administering such assistance as loving hands could render.

He represented Van Buren county in the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies and without seeking distinction as a legislator or political leader he discharged the duties of the office with honesty and fidelity to his constituents and the public, and was at all times and under all circumstances an honest, sincere and faithful public servant.

He introduced a bill for the building of a sanitarium for tuberculosis victims and as a result there has been created at Oakdale, a sanitarium for the treatment and cure of consumptives, which will be a lasting monument to the memory of our lamented statesman.

In his early boyhood he united with the Methodist Episcopal church and always lived an active Christian life, honored and respected by all who knew him.

Resolved, That as his life and character command our respect and esteem we extend his relatives and friends our sympathy in their sorrow, and that this memorial be entered upon the Journal of the House, and an engrossed copy be presented to the bereaved family of the deceased.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee appointed to draft and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Hon. Henry Stone, late a member of the House of Representatives in the Twenty-fourth and Twenty-fifth General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following as their report:

Henry Stone was born in Ohio in 1853 and was fifty-six years of age at the time of his death. He was a graduate of Oberlin college and soon after finishing his course he came to Marshall county and taught school near Marietta in the same county. Later he came to Marshalltown and with R. E. Sears he formed the law partnership of Sears & Stone, which continued for eighteen months after which time he practiced law alone in Marshalltown. Mr. Stone married Miss Florence Powell, but left no children.

In the year 1891 Mr. Henry Stone was elected as a republican, a member of the Twenty-fourth General Assembly from Marshall county and in November, 1893 was re-elected as a member of the Twenty-fifth General Assembly from Marshall county and on January 8th, 1894, he was elected Speaker of the House of Representatives. When the General Assembly met in 1894, Mr. Stone, together with Senator Cummins, Mr. Hepburn, Mr. Lacey and Mr. Perkins, became an active candidate for the nomination of United States Senator, this honor eventually going to the late Senator Gear. After retiring from the House, Mr. Stone resumed his practice of law in Marshalltown and in 1899 he was elected county attorney and in 1901 was re-elected, serving two terms. Mr. Stone was always active in politics and at one time was chairman of the County Republican Central Committee and was a regular attendant at all Republican State Conventions for many years.

Whereas, On July 31, 1909, Mr. Stone passed away in Chicago while taking treatment in a sanatorium and his life, character and services to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens, and his services to the state and county were of such a character as to commend the confidence and gratitude of his fellow citizens, therefore, be it

Resolved, That in his death the state and county in which he resided lost a worthy and upright citizen and an honest, conscientious and honorable man and we hereby extend to his bereaved wife and relatives our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow, and be it further

HON. OWEN BROMLEY.

MR. SPEAKER: Your Committee appointed to prepare a memorial fittingly to commemorate the life and public service of the Honorable Owen Bromley, submit the following report:

In a coal miner's cabin in Denbigshire, Wales, on May 20, 1825, there was born a child to bear the name, Owen Bromley. There was nothing in the time or place to indicate that his life was to differ in any essential particular from the lives of those about him. A dreary future opened before him. He belonged to the poor and oppressed. He was denied both the playtime which should belong by right to all children, and the little opportunity for schooling the community afforded, for when but eight years old he began daily tasks in the mines to secure a bare subsistence. This was his lot until he grew to manhood.

But if fate was cruel in assigning him these untoward circumstances, nature was kind in endowing him with an active and receptive mind. By his own efforts, wholly untaught, he mastered both Welsh and English. He was fond of reading and study. The great reform agitation in England attracted him to politics and led him to become an ardent disciple of John Bright, whose teachings strongly influenced him at a later period.

At the age of twenty-seven, he turned his back on the home of his fathers and set out for America, where he arrived in July, 1852. He settled in Pennsylvania and engaged in mining. He was married in 1854, in Philadelphia, to Miss Sarah R. Davis, who also was a native of Wales. Falling under the observation of some wealthy men who were impressed with his good judgment, he was sent by them in 1857 to investigate and report upon the coal resources of the new state of Iowa. The beauty of the prairies charmed him. In 1860 he brought his family west and located near Salina, in Jefferson county.

In the political campaign of 1860, he espoused the cause of republicanism and of human liberty. He was an effective speaker, for he spoke from the fullness of his heart. When rebellion resulted from Lincoln's election, he promptly responded to the call for troops. He enlisted at Fairfield on May 6, 1861, as a private in Company "E", Second Iowa Infantry. It was an act of devotion to his adopted country. With a young family to provide for, it was no small sacrifice for him or for them. Having experience as a nurse, he was detailed for hospital duty. After serving one year and three months, he was discharged in August, 1862, for disability.

In 1863 he was chosen by the electors of Jefferson county to serve as one of their representatives in the Tenth General Assembly. In this body he was ever watchful of the honor and of the interests of the soldiers. At his instance, a concurrent resolution was adopted recommending "That discharged soldiers who have been disabled by wounds or diseases in the service of their country, should have the preference, as far as they are competent, in being employed in all the positions within the gift of the Federal and State Governments" thus anticipating for forty years the act of the Thirtieth General Assembly.

He removed to Des Moines in 1874. In 1880 and again in 1882, he was elected sergeant-at-arms of the House of Representatives. From 1892 to 1896, he was Secretary of the State Board of Mine inspectors. He served faithfully and acceptably in these positions.

In civil and in public life he performed his work with perfect fidelity. Whether miner or official, always he was a self-respecting and respected gentleman. His last days were spent in the Home for the Aged, in the city of Des Moines, where on Friday, August 9, 1907, he peacefully passed away.

To honor his memory, it is therefore.

Resolved, That this minute of Owen Bromley's life be spread upon the records of this House and that a copy of them be presented to his surviving children.

HON. LEVI HUBBELL.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of Hon. Levi Hubbell, an honored member of this House, beg leave to submit the following report:

Levi Hubbell was born in Sherman, Fairfield County, Connecticut, July 14, 1821. His father was Levi Hubbell, son of David Hubbell, who with his brother were pioneer settlers in Fairfield county, Connecticut, and descendants of the original Hubbell family, tracing their lineage directly back to the kingdom of Wales. For a number of years he lived on a farm, getting his early education in the public schools. At the age of nineteen years he entered Oneida Institute at Whitesboro, N. Y., of which Beriah Green, the noted abolitionist, was president, and where Mr. Hubbell imbibed those political principles which characterized all his later life. Leaving Whitesboro he taught school for five years in Dutchess county, N. Y., and then returned to Connecticut and established a school at Gaylor's Bridge, in the famed Housatonic Valley. In 1857 he came to Iowa, locating at Bradford, Chickasaw county, where he engaged in mercantile pursuits. On the 12th of September, 1860 Mr. Hubbell was united in marriage with Miss Jane E. Witted, and immediately after that event settled upon the farm in Winneshiek county which he had entered and which is known today as the Hubbell farm. In 1897 the family moved to Waukon, where Mr. Hubbell engaged in the creamery business, and which business he conducted for a number of years. Mr. Hubbell served in the 18th and 19th General Assemblies in the Iowa State Legislature as Representative from Winneshiek county. In his early life he was a member of the Episcopal church, but later on became an adherent of the Presbyterian church; he was also a member of the Masonic Fraternity, and later in life became an active member of the Knights of Pythias, being a charter member of Bayard Lodge, No. 121 of that order. In politics he was always a consistent republican, but he admired all public men of high ideas, regardless of their political faith. He was a man of great ability, a student of nature, loving flowers, trees and shrubbery, not only endeavoring to help his fellow workers, but endeavoring to show them the goodness and kindness of God in everything. Naturally, his religion was broad and sympathetic, embracing a love for God and for mankind which brought him the love and esteem of all with whom he came in contact. He was always courteous and unaffected, never arrogant, vain or conceited, but lived a straight forward life, believing that he helped make his own destiny. Ripe in experience, sound in judgment, he was a guardian and advisor of all the noble young men of his acquaintance, taking them into his confidence, and there never was a time in which they could not trust him, and never as a friend, or a private citizen, or as a man holding public office, could the integrity of his conduct or the purity of his motive be brought into question. For the young man without other means than a clean conscience, a pure mind and a definite purpose to win, he was a good living example. Faithful to every obligation, loyal to his friends, contributing to the happiness of others, he was accorded the gratitude of a wide circle of friends, who were his friends until death. His home life was commendable to a degree, he was a good husband and a kind and indulgent father, ever on the alert for the welfare of his family.

On the evening of December 23, 1910, Mr. Hubbell passed away, at the advanced age of 89 years, 5 months and 9 days, and he leaves to mourn his loss the widow, two sons, William W., of Winneshiek county, and George L., of St. Paul, Minnesota, as well as a brother, Jackson D., four years his junior and residing at the birth place in Connecticut. His life, character and services to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens and to command the confidence and gratitude of his fellow citizens.

Therefore be it Resolved, that in his death the state and county in which he resided lost a worthy and upright citizen and a conscientious and honorable man, and we hereby extend to his bereaved wife and family our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow, and

Be it further resolved, that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House, and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

HON. P. A. SMITH.

MR. SPEAKER: Whereas, Honorable P. A. Smith, a member of this House in the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh General Assemblies, passed from this life to the rewards of a higher existence on December 25, 1910, and

Whereas, We deem it meet and proper that public attention be called to a life record which so clearly and nobly represents a high type of Christian manhood, we recite the following facts:

Pardon A. Smith was born in Ogle county, Illinois, on September 1, 1840. His boyhood and young manhood days were spent upon the farm. His scholastic training was in the rural schools, but his education was in the great forum of human experience, where he was a close observer, a keen thinker, a champion of the best things in our civilization. As a soldier during the Civil War his record was one of distinguished gallantry; as a public servant in many positions, little and great, he was faithful to his own lofty standards of morality, of upright honesty, and of courageous loyalty to the interests of the people. His able record as a newspaper publisher, as a legislator, and as a member of the State Board of Parole, is written across the history of his times. He lived up to his opportunities; he carried forward the torch of human enlightenment; he stood, as the poet has said:

"For the truth that lack assistance,
For the wrong that needs resistance,
For the future in the distance
And the good that we can do."

In view of these facts, so briefly and inadequately presented, be it Resolved, By the House of Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, that we mourn in his death the passing of a good man; that we invite attention to his life and character as worthy of emulation; that we express our sincere sympathy to the surviving family who have loved and lost a devoted husband and father, and be it further Resolved, That engrossed copies of these resolutions be prepared and forwarded to the surviving wife, Mrs. Alice M. Smith, and to the oldest son, Lowery W. Smith, and that the same be spread upon the Journal of the House.

HON. WILLIAM G. THOMPSON.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life and public service of Wm. G. Thompson, submit the following report:

Wm. G. Thompson was born in Center Township, Butler County, Pennsylvania, January 17, 1830, and died at his home in Kenwood Park, Iowa, April 2, 1911, was the son of Wm. H. and Jane Thompson, also natives of that locality. The former was born in 1790, the latter in 1796. Mr. Thompson's paternal grandparents were natives of Scotland as were also his maternal grandparents.

Judge Thompson's primary education was obtained in the common schools near his boyhood home and when not in the school room he assisted in the work on the farm. At the age of nineteen he attended the Witherspoon Institute at Butler, Penn., going home to work on the farm during the harvest season. He next read law at that place and was admitted to the bar October 15, 1853. Hon. Daniel Agnew, afterwards Chief Justice of the United States, presided at the examination.

On the 27th of November, 1852, Judge Thompson came to Marion Iowa, traveling as far west as his money would carry him. Marion, at that time, was a new town and larger than Cedar Rapids. Here he was first engaged in practice of his profession in partnership with Col. Isaac M. Preston under the firm name of Preston and Thompson.

Judge Thompson's first dollar in his chosen profession was earned about two weeks after he located in Marion. It was the trial on a suit before the Justice of the Peace. Those who listened to the trial recognized his ability and from that time on his success was assured. He won considerable renown in the practice of criminal law having defended in twelve murder cases and losing but two. In August, 1854, Mr. Thompson was elected prosecuting attorney and held that position for two years.

He was elected to the State Senate on the republican ticket in 1856 for a two years' term which proved a very important year in framing the laws of the State that still exist, Mr. Thompson being a member of the Judiciary committee. The Code of 1851 was revised during the session of 1856-7 and with additions is still in use.

On leaving the Senate, Judge Thompson was engaged in the practice of law in Linn county until 1862, when he helped to raise the Twentieth Iowa Regiment for the Civil War, consisting of five companies from Linn and five from Scott counties, and he went to the front as major, but the colonel being a regular army officer was detailed for brigade commander and the lieutenant colonel being taken prisoner, the judge was left in command of the regiment for some time. He was in the service in Missouri, Arkansas, Louisiana, Texas and Alabama, and was commander of the post at Arkansas Pass for eight months. He was in the siege at Vicksburg and at the battle of Prairie Grove, Arkansas, was severely wounded. After being wounded he resigned his commission and returned home in the fall of 1864.

During the presidential campaign of that year he stumped the state for Abraham Lincoln and was elected one of the electors at large. He took great pride in the fact that he was able to cast his ballot at that time for the martyred president. Soon after this Judge Thompson was elected district attorney for seven counties of Iowa, to-wit: Linn, Jones, Cedar, Johnson, Iowa, Benton and Tama, and after creditably filling that office for six years he was tendered the renomination without opposition, but refused it. Without his knowledge or solicitation he was then appointed Chief Justice of Idaho by President Hayes and held that responsible position for one term, resigning in 1879, when he returned to Marion. That fall he was elected to congress and took his seat in December. He was a member of the committees on Privileges and Elections, which required much work, having twenty-two contests cases. He was re-elected and served in all four years. For party reasons he was then persuaded to accept the nomination for Representative to the State Legislature and being elected was chosen chairman of the committee to reorganize the courts of the state, which business he successfully accomplished.

In August, 1894, he was appointed judge of the Eighteenth Judicial District and was elected to that position in November, 1894, and re-elected in November, 1899. His district comprised Jones, Cedar and Linn counties. He won high commendation for his fair and impartial administration of justice.

His mind was always analytical, logical and inductive with a thorough and comprehensive knowledge of the fundamental principles of the law, he combined a familiarity with statutory laws and a sober, clear judgment which made him not only a formidable adversary in a legal combat but gave him a distinction of being one of the ablest jurists of the state.

In the death of Judge Thompson, Iowa has lost one of its noblest citizens, beloved by all who knew him. But few men in Iowa were better and more favorably known and it is a universal expression that the State of Iowa has suffered a great loss in his death.

In honor of his memory it is therefore

Resolved, That this minute of Wm. G. Thompson's life be spread upon the records of this House and that a copy of the same be presented to the surviving members of his family.

HON. JOHN CHRISTIE, JR.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the life and public service of Hon. John Christie, Jr., who was an honored member of the Twenty-seventh General Assembly, beg leave to report the following:

John Christie, Jr., was born March 5, 1841, in Middleset County, near Putnam, Ontario Canada, and died at his home in Garner, Iowa, on April 10, 1910, at the age of sixty-nine years. His parents, John and Agnes (Craik) Christie, were natives of Scotland and emigrated to Canada. In 1858 he came over with his parents who settled in Iowa County, Wisconsin, and on the 10th day of June, 1861, he came to Hancock County and settled at Upper Grove in Amsterdam township. On date of August 18, 1862, he enlisted as a private in Co. B 32nd Iowa Volunteer Infantry and served until May 17, 1865, when he was mustered out as a sergeant, at Memphis, Tennessee. His regiment was engaged in the battles of Pleasant Hill, Fort De Russy, Tupelo, Old Town Creek, Nashville and others. After the war he returned to Hancock county and on March 31, 1867, was married to Miss Polly E. Robbins. The same year he was elected a member of the board of supervisors and in 1869 he was elected first auditor of Hancock county which office he held for eight consecutive years. In 1881 he was again elected auditor and re-elected in 1883. In 1897 he was elected to represent Wright and Hancock counties in the state legislature and served in the Twenty-seventh General Assembly with honor and distinction. When not engaged in public life Mr. Christie preferred the quiet life of a farmer and by his peaceful pursuit acquired considerable property. He was one of the pioneer settlers of the county and we believe its last surviving volunteer soldier. Decedent was a member of the Universalist church, the G. A. R. Post and of Bethel Lodge No. 319 A. F. and A. M.

Therefore be it Resolved, That in his death the state and county in which he resided has lost a worthy and upright citizen, a valiant soldier, and an honorable man, and we hereby extend to his bereaved relatives and friends our sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

HON. ABRAHAM JACOBSEN.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft resolutions commemorating the life, character and public services of the Honorable Abraham Jacobsen of Winneshiek County, late member of this House, beg leave to report the following memorial:

Abraham Jacobsen was born in Telemarken, Norway, January 3, 1836, came with his parents to America in the spring of 1848. The family settled in Muskego, Racine County, Wisconsin. Mr. Jacobsen then about twelve years old went to work for a man who kept hotel, store and post office at Little Muskego Lake, his wages being twenty-five cents per week. His employer took an interest in the lad from the distant land of the north, and would on Sundays teach him to read English, his text book being the New Testament. Later he furnished him with clothes and books and sent him to school. In 1850 the Jacobsen family moved to Winneshiek County, Iowa, and settled near Decorah.

In 1852 Mr. Jacobsen, now sixteen years old, left home to study at what was then known as the State University of Illinois, located at Springfield, which was built and supported by the Lutherans. The greatest part of the journey from Decorah to Springfield was accomplished on foot. He was the first Norwegian attending a higher institution of learning in this country. He was a classmate of Robert Lincoln. John Hay was also a student there at the same time. To help pay his way at school he was employed as janitor and later as custodian in the court house. Abraham Lincoln addressed meetings there on several occasions while Mr. Jacobsen was employed in the building, as Mr. Lincoln was a candidate for the United States Senate before the legislature at that period. Later Mr. Jacobsen was employed as librarian in the Supreme Court rooms, where Abraham Lincoln and his friends would meet nearly every evening discussing politics and telling stories. The last time he met Mr. Lincoln was in 1860, when he was nominated for the presidency, and when Mr. Jacobsen among the thousand of Springfield citizens met Mr. Lincoln with a hearty greeting and handshake.

After Mr. Jacobsen had finished school he became pastor of the First Lutheran church in Chicago, where he stayed about one year, and then returned to Iowa, but was soon called to the newly organized Dakota territory. The journey to Dakota was made by a small party driving over land with oxen and following a trail from Ft. Atkinson through Ft. Dodge to Sioux City, enduring hardships and privation, and in constant danger of Indians and renegades who were roaming over the boundless prairies. The party finally reached their destination in Dakota.

Mr. Jacobsen's mission fields were at Yankton, Elk Point and Vermilion, where Norwegian emigrants had formed settlements. Dr. Jayne, whose acquaintance Mr. Jacobsen had made in Springfield, was at this time governor of Dakota territory and resided in Yankton. At his home Mr. Jacobsen was a welcome visitor whenever he had a moment to spare in his work. After organizing congregations where conditions and number would permit in this field, he returned to Decorah.

In 1860 he was sent to the Emigrant Quarantine Station at Quebec, Canada, to assist the Norwegian emigrants who were landing there in great numbers. Through his efforts better conditions and better facilities were established for getting the passengers started on their inland journey. After his mission in Quebec was accomplished, he spent three years at home on the farm, and in the fall of 1864 he went to St. Louis, Missouri and took up post-graduate studies at the German Lutheran Theological Seminary and finished his course in 1866. In the winter of 1868, he was sent out to do missionary work in the new found settlements in Ottertail, Douglas and other counties in Minnesota, where he made his trips over the snow covered trackless prairies on a pair of skis, or Norwegian snow shoes, and held services nearly every day in the settlers' houses and organized congregations. A great number of fine churches today mark the fields of his early work. The same year he was called as permanent pastor to Dane county, Wisconsin and stayed there until 1878, when poor health forced him to retire from the ministry and he moved to his parents' farm in Winneshiek County, Iowa, which he bought and took his old parents under his care during their remaining years. His father died in 1879 and his mother in 1884. Even as an active farmer he found time to serve the neighboring congregations temporarily, and was always an active member of the United Lutheran church, and had its welfare and progress at heart.

Mr. Jacobsen was actively interested in the great political questions of the day, and was honored with many positions of trust in his community.

He was extensively engaged in settling up estates and probate matters. For many years he was president of the Norwegian Mutual Insurance Association of Winneshiek county. He took great interest in the preservation of the pioneer history of the state, and he did considerable writing on this subject, both in the English and Norwegian languages. Being a man of mind and action he was also both a theoretical and practical farmer. His farm was up to date in every respect, but he was always willing to impart his knowledge and experience to others. He was for the last fifteen years of his life editor of the "Practical Farmer's" department of Decorah Posten, a leading Norwegian newspaper.

Whereas, The Hon. Abraham Jacobsen, member of the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies, departed this life on the 15th day of May, 1910, at his home near Decorah, Iowa, and,

Whereas, The life and character of the deceased were such as to entitle him to the respect and esteem of all who knew him—a man beloved by all for his generous and kindly heart, his sterling integrity and uprightness of life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the House of Representatives take this occasion to express its high regards and appreciation of his character and public services, and at this time extend to his family its sincere sympathy in their sorrow; and be it further

HON. JAMES B. STUCKEY.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life, character and public services of the Honorable James B. Stuckey, late a member of the House of Representatives of the Sixteenth General Assembly of Iowa, beg leave to report the following:

The subject of this memorial was born November 7, 1834, and departed this life at his home in Moulton, Appanoose County, Iowa, on the first day of December, 1909. He was engaged in the occupation of farming and stock raising from the time he came to Appanoose county, a number of years ago, up to a few years ago, when he retired from this occupation and moved to the town of Moulton.

Mr. Stuckey was a man who was loved and respected by all who knew him. He was an active member of the Methodist church and took an interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of that organization.

He was identified with the democratic party, and active in the councils of his party. He was elected to the office of Representative from Appanoose county to the Sixteenth General Assembly of Iowa, retirement did not mean, however, his retirement from the activities of life, for on down to the time of his death he was actively engaged and served the people of his county in a faithful and capable manner, which reflected credit upon himself and those he was called upon to represent.

The life, character and public services of Mr. Stuckey were such as to command the respect and admiration of all who knew him; therefore, be it

Resolved, That in his death the state has lost a citizen of worth and whose every act was above reproach; and be it further

Resolved, That we extend to his family and friends our sincere sympathy and that a copy of these resolutions be entered upon the Journal of the House and that a copy of the same be forwarded to the bereaved family of the deceased.

HON. MAHLON J. DAVIS.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft resolutions commemorative of the life, public services and character of Hon. Mahlon J. Davis, a former member of this House, respectfully submits the following:

Hon. Mahlon J. Davis was born in Juniata county, Pennsylvania, on the 27th day of October, 1837, and closed his earthly labors, and went to his reward, at Lewis, Iowa, on the 2nd day of February, 1908.

As a young man, the subject of this sketch laid well the foundation for his chosen profession, that of medicine, by attending Airy View Academy for two years, and Kishacoquillas Seminary for three years, after which he spent two years in the study of medicine under Dr. D. M. Crawford, at Millerstown, Pennsylvania, and thereafter took a course at the Medical University, New York City, from which institution he was graduated in March, 1862. After having thus become so admirably equipped as a physician, he enlisted in the defense of his country's flag, and was at once assigned to hospital duty in the city of Washington, where, after two years service, he was appointed surgeon of the Second New York Artillery. During 1864-5, he was surgeon-in-chief to the second corps on General Hazard's staff, where he remained in faithful service until the grand review at Washington.

After the restoration of peace, Dr. Davis returned to his native state, and resumed the practice of his profession, having located at Newport, in Perry county. He was united in marriage in Harrisburg, Pennsylvania, December 27th, 1864, to Priscilla K. Shuman, who with his three sons, William B. Davis, Lewis, Iowa, Brode B. Davis, Chicago, Illinois, and Charles P. Davis, Chicago, Illinois, survive him to mourn the loss of an indulgent and devoted husband and father.

In 1866 he removed to Lewis, Iowa, where he remained in the practice of medicine as an honored and skilled physician, until the year 1881, when he retired from the activities of his profession. This retirement did not mean, however, his retirement from the activities in carrying on the business of a reputable druggist and pharmacist at Lewis, in co-partnership with his eldest son, William B. Davis.

In his boyhood days he united with the Evangelical Lutheran church. Dr. Davis was always a gentleman, affable and courteous, and to the day of his death a stern adherent to that which he believed to be right, in all the affairs of life, but at the same time respecting the opinions of those who consistently differed from him. He formed warm and lasting friendships, and has been greatly missed in the community in which he had so long lived a spotless and upright life. He was a faithful and true husband, a kind father, a loyal friend to all, an advocate of right living, and a respected citizen.

In politics, Dr. Davis was an uncompromising republican, but at the same time, and over and above all, a lover of his country and its institutions, for which he consistently believed his party stood sponsor. For a number of years he was chairman of the Republican County Central Committee, but the opposition never questioned his motives as a man, nor his fealty to his country first. He was appointed postmaster of Lewis by President Grant in 1869, which position he held for seventeen consecutive years.

The subject of this memorial was a member of the Twenty-fifth and Twenty-sixth General Assemblies, and within these walls he manifested at all times his strong principles of manhood, and his true loyalty and devotion to the teachings of his sainted mother. During both sessions he was chairman of the very important committee on pharmacy, and was the author and father of that law on our statute books which prohibits registered pharmacists from selling malt liquors, and also of a number of other important measures regulating the practice of pharmacy. As such chairman, and as such member, his special mission was that of advocating means and measures for the betterment of his fellow man, and the prosperity of this commonwealth. He was a member of the Masonic order, and served the Lewis lodge for four years as Worshipful Master; and for five years was its representative in the State Grand Lodge of Masonry.

The funeral of this honored and respected citizen, which was held at the family residence, was conducted by the Masonic fraternity, Rev. F. W. Keagy, of the Lewis Congregational church, preached the funeral sermon, and the final rites at the cemetery were in accordance with the Masonic ritual.

Whereas, The long and honorable career of this honorable citizen should command our respect and goad us on to nobler achievements in this life; therefore, be it

Resolved, That we extend our sympathy to his widow and children, and that these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of this House; and, further, that the chief clerk be directed to send an engrossed copy thereof to the family of deceased.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare and present suitable resolutions respecting the life, character and public services of the Honorable Hilton M. Letts, also a member of this House in the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth General Assemblies, beg leave to report the following:

The Honorable Hilton M. Letts was born near Grandview, Louisa County, May 13, 1854. He was educated in the common schools and high schools of this county, and later attended the Iowa State Agricultural College at Ames.

In 1875, he was married to Miss Nellie M. Springer of Columbus City, Louisa County, Iowa, daughter of the late Judge Springer. As a man he was actively engaged in farming and feeding, at his home in Columbus City.

For three terms he served as a member of the County Board of Supervisors. He was elected and served as a member of the Twenty-eighth and Twnty-ninth General Assemblies. For three years following 1901, he was a manager of the San Pablo Company, a corporation controlling a large plantation in Yucatan, New Mexico. The last five years previous to his death he was manager of the Rocky Mountain Supply Company of Kahlor, New Mexico, and became engaged in live stock and packing house products.

He was a man of strong personality, strong convictions and a lovable man and one of many friends. He was actively identified in the uplifting of his home town and county. He was kind, generous and was appreciated by all who knew him. He was ever willing and ready to assist every laudable undertaking. He was respected and esteemed by his fellow citizens. His acquaintances became his friends and he retained their confidence to the end.

He is survived by a wife, Mrs. Nellie M. Letts, and three children, Mrs. George Remly, Cimarron, New Mexico, Miss Mary H. Letts and Mr. Warren Letts, Columbus Junction.

Resolved, That in his death his family, to whom we extend our heartfelt sympathy, is deprived of a kind and affectionate husband and father, county and state of a worthy and loyal citizen. The Clerk of the House is hereby instructed to mail an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the wife and children of the deceased, and to enter the same on the Journal of the House.

HON. JOSEPH G. HUTCHISON.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft proper resolutions of respect in honor of the Honorable Joseph G. Hutchison, respectfully submit the following:

Whereas, The Honorable Joseph G. Hutchison was born Sept. 11, 1840 in Northumberland County, Pennsylvania, of Scotch-Irish descent.

His great-grandfather Hutchison was prominent in public affairs of Pennsylvania and at an early day represented a district in the General Assembly.

Joseph G. Hutchison was educated at the Williamsport Dickison Seminary at Williamsport, Pa., from which he graduated in June, 1862, after completing a four years' course. He enlisted in the service on August 10, 1862, as First Lieutenant in the 131st Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry in the army of the Potomac and participated in the battle of Fredericksburg, Antietam and Chancellorsville. He also took part in the Gettysburg campaign as Captain of Company I, 28th Regiment, Pennsylvania Volunteer Infantry. He was a loyal and vallant officer and special mention was given him by the commander of his brigade for bravery in the charge of Mary's Hill at the battle of Fredericksburg.

He studied law and graduated at the Cleveland Law School in the spring of 1865 and in December, 1865, came to Ottumwa, Iowa, and formed a partnership with Hon. E. H. Stiles, one of the most distinguished members of the Iowa Bar. He practiced law until 1872 when he assisted in organizing the Johnston Ruffler Co. and the Ottumwa Iron Works, both important industries which did much toward the upbuilding of Ottumwa and bringing it to the front as a manufacturing city. In 1873 he went to Europe on a business trip for these companies and resumed the practice of law in August, 1875, which he continued actively and successfully until 1879.

Captain Hutchison was elected to the lower House as a member of the Eighteenth General Assembly and in 1881 was elected to the Senate and served as Senator from Wapello County during the Nineteenth, Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second General Assemblies. During his Senatorial terms he served on the Ways and Means, and Judiciary Committees and did much toward shaping the policies which paid off the state debt. He was the author of the registration system for elections, which has done so much to securing an honest ballot. In 1889 he received the nomination for governor from the republican party, at a time when reaction against prohibition was strongest. He stood manfully upon the platform of his party and went down to defeat rather than to yield those principles which he believed to be right.

Joseph G. Hutchison was married to Sarah L. Taylor, Nov. 4, 1868. She died November 2, 1896. One June 23, 1898, he was married to Mabel Vernon Dixon, daughter of the Honorable J. W. Dixon. He had a successful business career, being one of the directors of the First National Bank and serving seven years as its president. In May, 1891, he founded the wholesale grocery business of J. G. Hutchison Co., which was successful and is still prospering under the able management of his wife. He was a man of action and took his full share of the burdens of citizenship and well won the honors due to those who are faithful in their convictions and who devotedly love their country and its institutions. He made his first sacrifices as a youth when he offered himself as a soldier on the battlefield of his country, and, when he became again a citizen he so conducted himself that his integrity and ability won recognition. He was instrumental to a large degree for shaping the destiny of the young and growing state of his adoption. He lived the life of a christian gentleman and attracted warm friends because of his unswerving adherence to a high standard of honor.

Therefore, Be it Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly that a transcript of this memorial be furnished to the family of the deceased and a copy thereof be spread upon the Journal of the House.

HON. DANIEL J. PATTON.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character, and public services of Hon. Daniel J. Patton, an honored member of the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following report:

The subject of this memorial was born in Fayette County, Pennsylvania, January 27, 1836. He was the son of a Baptist minister and when a mere lad came west with his parents who located at Juda, Green County, Wisconsin. Here he attended common school and later attended the Baptist Academy at Beaver Dam, Wisconsin, receiving what was regarded in those days a most liberal education. On the 13th of September, 1855, he was married at Juda, Wisconsin, to Sarah E. Gapen. To this union six children were born. He moved to Franklin County, Iowa, in 1869 where he continued to reside to the time of his death, which occurred March 14, 1910, surviving his wife about eight years.

Though a farmer by occupation he was always interested in public affairs and held many offices of trust in his community and was careful and painstaking in the discharge of the duties of each.

Mr. Patton was always a strict party adherent and in 1900, having received the Republican nomination for representative, he was elected to the Twenty-eighth, and two years later to the Twenty-ninth General Assemblies, discharging the duties imposed thereby in an honorable, faithful and impartial manner.

Faithful to every obligation, loyal to his friends, contributing to the happiness of others he was accorded the gratitude of a wide circle of acquaintances.

His home life was commendable to a degree; he was a good husband, a kind and indulgent father, ever on the alert for the welfare of his family.

Although he was active in public and political affairs his methods were such that he gained the confidence and respect, the esteem of his neighbors, friends and all who were associated with him in every walk in life.

Ripe in experience, sound in judgment, wise in the application of good common sense, he discharged every obligation to his family, society, and the state with fidelity and honor, therefore be it

Resolved, That the foregoing memorial be adopted by this House and entered upon the Journal thereof and that an engrossed copy duly authenticated by the Speaker and Clerk of the House be sent to the members of his family.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions of respect in honor of the Honorable Edmund Homan, beg leave to offer the following for adoption:

Whereas, An All-Wise Providence has taken unto Himself, on the thirteenth day of December, 1910, Honorable Edmund Homan, of Prescott, Adams County, Iowa, a member of the House of Representatives in the Eighteenth General Assembly.

Edmund Homan was born in Kentucky, March 6th, 1827, and was taken the same year by his parents to Indiana where he grew to manhood. His father was Mark Homan of Virginia. His mother was Nancy Burson of West Virginia.

In 1856 he was married to Miss Caroline E. Ramsay of Parke County, Indiana, and the same year he moved to Adams County, Iowa, where he resided until his decease. To Mr. and Mrs. Homan were born eleven children, of whom five sons and two daughters are still living. Mrs. Homan also survives her husband.

In 1847-8 Mr. Homan attended Wabash College at Crawfordsville, Indiana, and afterward taught school for many years.

His first purchase of land in Washington Township, Adams County, was at the government price of $1.25 an acre. He belonged to the sturdy pioneer element who came to this country and by diligence, foresight and economy transformed it into a land of plenty.

He was the "Soul of Honor," a kind husband, a loving father and a faithful friend. He was an earnest Christian, having been a member of the Missionary Baptist denomination for about forty years and for seventeen years was Sunday school superintendent.

Resolved that we mourn his loss, extend our sympathy to the family of the deceased and commend him as an example for future generations; also,

Resolved that a copy of this memorial and resolutions be sent to the family of the deceased, also to the Prescott Argus, the Adams County Union Republican, the Adams County Free Press and the Nodaway Valley News, papers published in Adams County, Iowa.

HON. HENRY CLAY TRAVERSE.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Honorable Henry Clay Traverse, a member of the House of the General Assembly in 1869 and of the Senate in 1870 and 1880, begs leave to submit the following as their report:

Henry Clay Traverse was born in Indiana and obtained his education amid struggles for the means of living. He supplemented this education by learning the printer's trade and working several years as journeyman, and also by teaching school. He studied law, and was admitted to the bar in 1862. Before commencing to practice he entered the service in Company F, Thirtieth Iowa Infantry, of which he was made orderly sergeant, in which capacity he served during the war. Upon his discharge from the service he returned to Bloomfield, Iowa, and entered upon the practice of law and early built up a thriving business. He formed a partnership, and the firm of Traverse & Eichelberger became one of the leading firms in that county and district. They were prompt and very attentive to business and secured the confidence of the community and of the courts. Mr. Traverse was one of the most thorough, careful and painstaking office lawyers in which department of the practice he greatly excelled. His characteristics as a lawyer and his well balanced legal mind made him a most valuable and efficient legislator.

Evidence of the high esteem in which he was held by his fellow members of the bar, and not less admired by all who had the good fortune to know him, is shown by the following resolutions of the Davis County Bar:

"Henry Clay Traverse, an honored member of the bar of Davis county, Iowa, died September 24th, 1909. The deceased was admitted to the Davis County Bar in 1862. The same year he answered the call of his country for volunteers to save the union of states and enlisted as a private soldier in Company F, Thirtieth Iowa Infantry and served the cause of a victorious union for three years.

Upon his return home from the Civil war, he became a member of the law firm of Jones & Traverse and afterwards the firm of Traverse & Payne and subsequently the firm of Traverse, Payne & Eichelberger.

He was elected a member of the lower house of the Iowa General Assembly in 1869 and to the Iowa Senate in 1870 and re-elected in 1880. In 1881 he was elected one of the judges of the second judicial district court and served as judge of the circuit and district court for fourteen years consecutively.

In recognition of the eminent public service of our deceased brother at the bar, we, your committee, submit the following report, to-wit:

Resolved, That in the death of Judge Henry Clay Traverse, a member of our bar for forty-seven years, we lose an esteemed fellow member, the state of Iowa a distinguished legislator and citizen, the community a christian gentleman, his family a kind husband and father, distinguished alike for his uprightness, simplicity and courtesy of manner, both within and without his profession and for high attainments and usefulness as lawyer, judge and man; while the bench will retain a lasting record of an honest judge * * "

Whatever we may say is but a proof of a feeble effort to portray the good and superior qualities of this departed brother. His writings and sayings in the afternoon of his life evidence a high sense of Him who doth all things well and bespeak that Henry Clay Traverse was a man of a deep and profound religious nature, a thorough christian man. He exemplified a life that makes the world brighter and life better worth the living. His footprints on the page of time are but evidence that he had both the wisdom to know and the courage to do whatever was for the best.

Whereas, His life, character and service to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens.

Resolved, That in the death of this prominent citizen, his city, county and state have suffered the loss of an active, energetic and influential citizen and his family the loss of a kind and indulgent father.

Resolved, That we do hereby extend to his children and those near and dear to him our sincere sympathy in their hour of sorrow, and be it further

Resolved that these resolutions be entered in the Journal and that the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to mail an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the family of the decedent.

HON. MARTIN H. CALKINS.

Hon. M. H. Calkins was born near the town of Mexico, Oswego County, N. Y., Sept. 25, 1828, and died in Wyoming, Jones County, Iowa, Sept. 28, 1909. He was of Puritan descent and the second son of John and Caroline (Habert) Calkins. He was a lineal descendant of Thomas Cushman, who preached the first sermon ever printed in America.

He received an education in the rural schools of New York, and at the age of seventeen, he taught in the rural schools of Oswego County, and afterwards in the city of Oswego. He held the sixth teacher's state certificate issued in the state of New York. He afterward read medicine in a local doctor's office and then took a course in the College of Medicine in Geneva, N. Y., and later finished his course in the Medical University of New York City.

He was married Nov. 5th, 1855, to Miss Lucinda Lowden of North Bay, Oneida County, N. Y. Hearing of the golden opportunities of the Mississippi valley, he started westward, arriving at Maquoketa, Iowa, where he stayed a few weeks and then moved to Wyoming, Jones County, Iowa, where he resided and practiced medicine until the infirmities of old age came upon him, and he then rested from his labors.

Dr. Calkins was a man with a kind and generous disposition, a man of high ideals, and did many kind acts of generosity for the poor and sick of his own town and the surrounding community. His name was a word revered in every household in the vicinity of Wyoming.

When Wyoming was incorporated, Dr. Calkins was unanimously elected its first mayor. He was sent south during the Civil War to take the vote of the soldiers and did many patriotic acts to prosecute the Civil War. In 1881 he was elected to the office of state representative of Jones County, without opposition and served in the Nineteenth and Twentieth General Assemblies with honor to himself and to his constituency. He served as chairman on Public Health and was the author of a bill requiring a rigid inspection of illuminating oils used in mines, and regulating the sale thereof. The bill was opposed by the Standard Oil interests and they made a hard fight for its defeat, but in the meantime Senator Larrabee worked it through the Senate and it was afterwards known as Senate File 305. On the last day of the session, the bill was stolen. He immediately notified the Speaker, who had all the doors closed and a search made. It was found secreted in the northeast corner of the House. It passed the House unanimously.

In 1907 he prepared an extensive paper of recollections of the Nineteenth and Twentieth General Assemblies, which was read at a meeting of the Pioneer Lawmakers in Des Moines. As a public speaker, he was in demand for Fourth of July and Decoration Day orations. His speeches were eulogistic, witty and historical. He was the reliable historian of Wyoming and vicinity. He knew the people from the time of their childhood and seemed to them like a father, a counselor and a protector. No one will be missed more than Dr. Calkins in Wyoming.

He leaves a widow, Mrs. Lucinda Calkins of Wyoming. The children are Mrs. W. E. Briggs of St. Paul, Minn., and Mary A., the wife of Edward D. Chassel of Des Moines, Iowa.

Resolved, That in the death of this former member of the House, the state has lost a valuable citizen whose influence has done much for this state. That his family has lost a dutiful and kind husband, a loving and indulgent father.

Resolved that these resolutions be spread upon the Journal, and that the Chief Clerk of the House be instructed to mail an engrossed copy of these resolutions to the wife and family of the deceased.

HON. JOHN S. STANBERRY.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public services of John S. Stanberry, deceased, a member of the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following:

John S. Stanberry was born in Mercer county, Ohio, September 28th, 1846. His father was a doctor of medicine and practised in that county. In the spring of 1857 the father came to Iowa to look up a location and he was followed in the fall of that year by the mother and three children who came that long distance in a covered wagon. After long weeks of travel they located at Vinton, in Benton county, Iowa. In May, 1858, the family moved to Clear Lake, Iowa, where the father continued his practice of medicine. In 1860 the family moved to Mason City.

John S. attended school in Clear Lake and Mason City until 1865 when he began teaching school after which he attended school for short periods between terms of teaching. In the fall of 1868 he entered the Iowa law school and remained about a year. In 1871 he began the practice of law, forming a partnership with his father. In 1872, D. T. Gibson was added to the firm. In 1874 he formed a partnership with Joseph J. Clark, which continued for about thirty years. Later, the firm was again changed to Stanberry, Hill and Eulette, and finally to Stanberry and Stanberry, the junior member of the firm being the son of John S.

Mr. Stanberry was the eldest member of the bar of Cerro Gordo county in years of service. He did not mix much in politics, but he was a member of the republican party and was justice of the peace in Mason City for six years, member of the school board for several years and was honored by being chosen as a member of the House of Representatives for two terms. Of all the offices he held, however, the one which gave him the most pleasure was the superintendency of the M. E. Sunday School, an office he filled with ability for ten years. His life was constructive and he was ever found on that side of questions which tended to better conditions for his fellow men. He was twice married; in June, 1873, to Laura Janet Ives, who died in August, 1875; in September, 1876, he married Martha A. Waldo. To them were born two children, Anna Waldo and Ralph Stanley. His second wife died March 11th, 1906.

He was one of a family of twelve children, seven boys and five girls, nine of whom are still living. The death of the father in 1874 left much of the care of the family on John S., who was one of the elder children and his help to them is gratefully remembered by the rest of the children.

Resolved, that in token of our appreciation of his well spent life, this brief sketch be spread on the Journal of the House and that the chief clerk be directed to forward engrossed copies of this to each of his children as evidence of the high regard in which he is held by this House and by the community in which he lived.

HON. F. G. COLD.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public services of the Honorable John F. G. Cold, a member of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly of Iowa, beg leave to respectfully submit the following report:

John F. G. Cold was born at Eckenfoerde in the province of Schleswig, December 10th, 1840. He came to this country with his parents and located near Cleveland, Ohio in 1848. In 1861 he joined the United States army and served his country faithfully during that great war. He participated in the battle of Town Creek and a great many skirmishes, and was honorably discharged at Greensboro, North Carolina on June 24th, 1865. For many years past he was a member of the G. A. R. Post 71 at Grundy Center.

After the war he returned to Ohio where he remained until 1867 when he came to Jackson County, Iowa, where he engaged in farming. In September, 1869, he removed to Lincoln township in Tama County, where he purchased one hundred and sixty acres of wild land. To this farm he added other lands until he had over six hundred acres, than which there is no better land in our fair state. Here he lived until the day of his death.

Of late years Mr. Cold took life comparatively easy, turning the farm operations over to his children. Through his efforts a postoffice was established at his place and in his honor was named Coldsville. He was made postmaster and served as such for eight years until the office was discontinued.

He has been a life-long Republican; has taken an active part in politics and served his party in various capacities. He has filled with credit to himself and his constituency many public offices, among which are: township trustees, township assessor, justice of the peace, census enumerator, (both state and national), school director, road supervisor, secretary of the school board, and in the House of Representatives of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly. There is probably not a man in Lincoln township who is better known than John F. G. Cold. Nor is there one who possessed to a greater extent the confidence and respect of all who knew him.

On the 14th day of May, 1867, he married Miss Mary A. Pillatt, a native of Nottingham, England. Six children came to bless their home; namely, Frances F., Henrietta, William F., Elizabeth P., Catherine M., and Bertha A. All are living except Elizabeth who died about eight years ago.

In the fullness of time the light of this noble, useful, patriotic life went out and passed the great divide whence there is no returning, and his body was laid to rest by loving hands in the peaceful shades of Fifteen Mile Grove Cemetery.

Resolved that we extend to his family and friends our heartfelt sympathy, and that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House and that an engrossed copy thereof, duly authenticated, be sent to the bereaved family of the deceased.

HON. R. W. HOLLENBEAK.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to draft and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public service of the Hon. R. W. Hollenbeak, late a member of the House of Representatives in the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies, beg leave to submit the following as their report:

R. W. Hollenbeak was born near Genoa, Illinois, June 14, 1851. He came to Iowa and settled in Adair county in 1876. With the exception of three years, he lived there continuously until the time of his death.

Mr. Hollenbeak served his state for two terms in the Legislature as a member of the Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies. He discharged the duties of his office with credit to himself and those whom he represented. He was also a delegate to the republican state convention in 1908.

Whereas, On February 27, 1911, Mr. Hollenbeak met a tragic death while enroute home from Casey, being struck by a westbound flyer and instantly killed, his life, character and service to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens, therefore be it

Resolved, That in his death the state and county in which he resided lost a worthy and upright citizen and an honest, conscientious and honorable man and we hereby extend to his bereaved wife and relatives our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow, and be it further

HON. WM. T. SHAW.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public service of Hon. Wm. T. Shaw, beg leave to submit the following:

Colonel Wm. T. Shaw, the son of Wm. Nicholas Shaw and Nancy D. Stevens-Shaw, was born in Steuben, Washington County, Maine, on the 22nd day of September, 1822, and died at Anamosa, Iowa, April 29, 1909. He was of English descent, of a family which rendered valuable and effective service in the trying days and years of the revolution, and whose efforts materially aided in establishing and maintaining our independence.

Col. Shaw was educated at Kents Hill, Me., and afterward taught school in Indiana and Kentucky. It was in the latter state that he enlisted when the war between Mexico and the United States commenced. Col. Shaw came of fighting stock; his great-uncle was an officer in the revolutionary war, serving under Gen. Knox. On November 3, 1783, Gen. Washington made the following statement: "Capt. Samuel Shaw throughout the war has greatly distinguished himself in everything, which entitles him to the character of an intelligent, brave and active officer." We also find that Gen. Knox speaks in the highest praise of this same soldier. Col. Wm. T. Shaw enlisted in the Secnd Kentucky Volunteers when he was nineteen years of age and served under Col. W. R. McKee.

He was in the desperate battle of Buena Vista and in the thickest of the fight where Col. McKee was killed. In 1849 he led a company of thirty-six men over the Santa Fe route to California. In 1853 he settled in Anamosa, Jones County, Iowa. Col. Shaw was married May 1, 1854, to Helen L. Crane, who died December 25, 1867. After the death of his wife he was again married to Elizabeth Crane-Highby February 24, 1870. One daughter, Helen L. Shaw, survives him and a step-daughter, Fannie Highby-Dutton.

In the Mexican War Wm. T. Shaw distinguished himself as a brave and efficient soldier. When the dark clouds of civil war gathered in the spring of 1861 Col. Shaw was on his way to his native state of Maine, and, hearing of the attack on Ft. Sumpter, he at once telegraphed Gov. Kirkwood, offering his services to his country. Making a short visit in Maine, he returned to Iowa and organized the Fourteenth Iowa Volunteer Infantry and was mustered into the U. S. service November 6, 1861, as Colonel of the Fourteenth Infantry. The regiment immediately went south to St. Louis and joined Grant's army before the battle of Ft. Donaldson.

He led the regiment in the thickest of the fight at the battle of Ft. Donaldson and again at Shiloh, all that long, terrible day of April 6th, his brigade made a desperate fight against superior numbers at the Hornet's Nest and for hours by heroic resistance staid the progress of the enemy and just as the sun went down, cut off from the main army and surrounded by overwhelming numbers, was forced to surrender. At the disastrous battle of Pleasant Hill, Louisiana, Col. Shaw commanded a brigade and made a most gallant fight and aided greatly in saving Gen. Bank's army from disaster and destruction. In that disastrous battle Col. Shaw's brigade was the first to engage with the enemy and the last to leave the field. The brigade's loss in the battle was over five hundred men. For his superb service in the battle, Col. Shaw merited promotion to the rank of brigadier-general. In January, 1864, he, with his regiment, was assigned to the Second Brigade Third Division of the Sixteenth Army Corps. He was with Sherman in his Meridian expedition and was afterward sent to join Gen. Bank's army.

On the 5th day of September, 1864, Major-General A. J. Smith sent the following request to the president:

"Memphis, Tenn.

To His Excellency, Abraham Lincoln, President of the United States:

Dear Sir: I desire to place before you a recommendation for promotion to the rank of brigadier-general the name of Wm. T. Shaw, Fourteenth Iowa Volunteer Infantry, (now commanding the Third Division, Sixteenth Army Corps), who has been a very efficient officer under my command for the last twelve months. He was with me in several engagements and at all times proved himself an efficient and worthy commander. His term of service expires in about sixty days and I should not like to see him leave, if it could be avoided.

Your obedient servant,

A. J. Smith, Major-General."

Major-General A. J. Smith, in relieving Col. Shaw from the command of the Third Division of the Sixteenth Army Corps, said: "It is an act of justice to an energetic, thorough, competent officer to say that for the last fifteen months he has been in command of the brigade and division and in every position has performed the duties faithfully and well with ability that few can equal, with courage, patriotism and skill above question, and the service loses an excellent officer when he is mustered out."

Col. Shaw resumed the duties of citizenship at the expiration of the term of his service and his name was connected with many of the enterprises of Anamosa from that time until the day of his death. He was the first mayor, was on the school board for many years and was elected a member of the legislature in 1875 and 1876. He aided in the building of the Congregational and Methodist churches and Shaw's block, where is located the county offices and court room, which he gave to the people of Jones County under a lease for ninety-nine years. He built many other blocks in Anamosa and a number of residences in different parts of the city.

For more than thirty-five years he was the senior member of the Shaw & Schoonover Bank, now the Anamosa National Bank, and had more to do with the material growth and development of the town than any other citizen during his residence of fifty-six years.

Behind all of his enterprises, industry and perseverance was kindness of heart, as was shown by the care of his men in the army. Col. Shaw gave largely to all benevolent enterprises of the town and county and helped and aided all worthy, needy people in and about Anamosa. He was a strong temperance man, detesting the use of alcoholic stimulants and tobacco. He was a typical pioneer and Anamosa will not soon look upon his like again. In his personal character Col. Shaw was modest, readily yielding to others, a close observer of events and a rare judge of men.

During his declining years Col. Shaw was blessed with the comfort and cheer afforded by the companionship of his daughter, Helen L. Shaw, who had given the best years of her life making a home for her father and being his constant companion, and in his declining years became eyes, as well as hands to the old veteran, continually ministering to his wants and comforts, giving him every possible attention that a loving daughter could bestow.

A friend of his has written:

"Statesman, patriot, soldier, friend, he died as he had lived and in a brave battle with the grim reaper, he yielded at last to his final surrender. Somewhere in eternity within some golden palace walls, where old battle scarred banners float, and Union jacks keep guard, and Grants and Shermans reign, and all the patriot heroes dwell, the old and fearless warrior has joined the armies of the ages, amid the dawning light of a new born century, in an age of iron, and steam, and armies, and in a world of peace, weary with the weight of years, death touched his tired heart and he was borne across the great divide that separates man from immortality. Free at last from all the turmoils and struggles of a long and busy life, the old veteran is at rest."

Therefore, Be it Resolved, That we, the members of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, in respect to the memory of the brave soldier gone to his last reward, do further resolve that this resolution be spread upon the records of this House and a copy of the same, duly enrolled, be presented to his daughter, Helen L. Shaw, in respect to the memory of one who served the duties of a citizen, statesman and soldier.

HON. JACK MORRISON.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public service of Hon. Jack Morrison, beg leave to respectfully submit the following report:

Whereas, The Hon. Jack Morrison, of Hedrick, Keokuk county, Iowa, a former and honored member of this House, has recently departed this life at his home in Hedrick, Iowa, therefore, be it Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to present suitable resolutions commemorating his life and public service to this state.

Whereas, John Morrison was a member of the Twelfth and Thirteenth and Twenty-sixth General Assemblies of the State of Iowa and he had faithfully served his country in the army and had been called to fill many positions in public life, in all of which he had been a faithful public servant and in addition to his public service had been an honored and respected citizen of Iowa, we hereby deplore his death, coming as it did in the fullness of years and at his post of duty. But recognizing that death comes to all of us, we feel that in the death of Hon. John Morrison, his family has lost a good and true husband and father, the community a true and respected citizen, the state a loyal and faithful public servant, and that in the position he was placed he was loyal to his adopted country, faithful to his duties and the whole community could stand and say, "Here is a man."

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the record of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa, a copy furnished the bereaved family and a copy published in the Keokuk County News.

HON. GEO. C. HEBERLING.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of Hon. George C. Heberling, late of Sabula, Jackson county, Iowa, and formerly a member of this legislative body, most respectfully submits the following report:

Hon. George C. Heberling was born in Georgetown, Harrison county, Ohio, on March 19th, 1858, and died in Seattle, Washington, on the 15th day of March, 1911, and thus lacked but four days of being seventy-three (73) years old.

He came to Iowa with his parents, John and Susanne Heberling in the spring of 1854, and they settled on a farm in Van Buren township, this county. Here the subject of our sketch toiled at the work of making a farm from raw Iowa land, and at odd times studied law. In August, 1862, he enlisted in Co. A., Twenty-fourth Iowa Infantry and served his country up to and including the battle of Port Gibson, where he was wounded, a bullet cutting away a portion of one ear. He was honorably discharged February 19, 1864. Following the rebellion Mr. Heberling devoted his time to law and we print following synopsis of his political and public service from copy which he at one time furnished us.

Mr. Heberling practiced law at home and at St. Louis Law School, under James O. Broadhead, Dean of Faculty and in the office of Hon. J. Hilsinger of Sabula, Iowa. Admitted to the bar by Hon. J. Scott Richman, District Judge at Andrew in March, 1867, on motion of T. W. Darling, Esq. The examining committee consisted of Hons. Wm. E. Leffingswell, L. A. Ellis and J. S. Darling. He was admitted to the Federal Courts by Hon. J. M. Love, United States District Judge at Dubuque, in April, 1870, on motion of Hon William Graham.

First office held was that of justice of the peace at Union township, at Sabula in 1865-1866-1867. Served as a member of the Sabula council and was elected mayor in 1885. Elected to lower house of General Assembly in the fall of 1871, to regular session in 1872, and served also during extra session, 1873, which codified laws, Code of 1873. Re-elected in fall of 1873 to regular session of 1874. These were the Fourteenth and Fifteenth General Assemblies. Elected chairman of republican state central committee by state convention of 1874. Appointed deputy United States marshal at Dubuque, March 10, 1875, and when state was divided into two federal judicial districts in 1880, was appointed United States marshal, northern district of Iowa, and served until March 1, 1883. March 6, 1883, appointed postoffice inspector at St. Louis, Missouri, by Timothy O. Howe, of Wisconsin, then postmaster general, but resigned July 4, 1883, to Walter Q. Gresham, who had meantime succeeded Howe as postmaster general. Appointed personal injury claim agent of Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul Railway company, in March, 1885, and served until April 4, 1894, when resigned, although resignation not accepted until about two months later. During these various interims, he practiced law at Sabula, Iowa, up to February, 1904, when he removed to Seattle, Washington, retired.

Mr. Heberling was married shortly after the close of the war to Miss Mary Todd and three children were born to them. Of these, Dwight, living at Seattle, alone survives, a pair of twins dying in infancy. Mrs. Heberling passed away twelve years ago. Besides the one son there are three grandchildren living at Seattle, four sisters and two brothers. The latter are Mrs. Mary Osborn, of California; Mrs. Hiram Coleman of Tekamah, Neb.; Miss Charlotte Heberling of Ardmore, South Dakota; Mrs. Willard Ellison of Iowa City; J. M. Heberling of Seattle, Washington, and Capt. H. S. Heberling of this city.

Deceased when a resident of Sabula, was possessed of many qualities which built for him a strong circle of friends. His nature was an optimistic and charitable one, and in every movement for the betterment of civic conditions, he was one of the first to the front. The beautiful city fish ponds, now the source of much delight to visitor and resident alike, were the creation of Mr. Heberling, and for several years were maintained at his personal expense. Since his departure from Sabula six years ago, it has been a longing desire with him to return to his old home town, but love for the family of his son, with whom he made his home, kept him in the coast city. Therefore be it

Resolved, That we extend to his bereaved family our sincere sympathy in this, their hour of sadness and sorrow; and

Resolved, That these resolutions be entered in the Journal of the House and that an engrossed copy be presented to the family of the deceased, by the Chief Clerk.

HON. JERRY M. WILSON.

MR. SPEAKER—Your committee appointed to draft and present resolutions commemorative of the life, character and public service of the Hon. Jerry M. Wilson, late a member of the House of Representatives in the Twenty-eighth General Assembly, beg leave to submit the following as their report:

Jerry M. Wilson was born in Canaan, Indiana, July 16, 1842, and came to Jefferson County, Iowa, with his parents when sixteen months old. He settled in Union township, Adair county, in 1853, where his home continued to be until the time of his death. He left a wife, Laura Darby Wilson, and two sons and two daughters: Mrs. Elmer Maish, Eugene, Clarence and Mamie.

Mr. Wilson served in the civil war in Company I, of the 4th Iowa Cavalry, September 24, 1862, and was honorably discharged June 17, 1865. He was a member of the Masonic order and a member of the Methodist church.

He served as a member of the Board of Supervisors of Adair county for six years, being elected in 1890. He was elected as a republican member of the Twenty-eighth General Assembly from Adair county in 1899 and in 1901 refused the second nomination.

He was president and director of the bank at Macksburg and he was prominently identified with the project of building the railroad from Creston to Des Moines. He was a public spirited man and did much toward the upbuilding of Adair county, and that part of Iowa. Mr. Wilson was a kindly, generous man, sympathetic and helpful to his fellowmen and will long be remembered and spoken of in terms of respect.

Whereas, On June 16, 1910, Mr. Wilson met a tragic death while enroute home from a business trip to Macksburg, being struck by lightning in a barn owned by Mr. Townsend, in which he had sought shelter from a storm, his life, character and service to the state were such as to entitle him to the confidence and esteem of his fellow citizens, therefor be it

Resolved, That in his death the State and County in which he resided lost a worthy and upright citizen and an honest, conscientious and honorable man and we hereby extend to his bereaved wife and relatives our heartfelt sympathy in their sorrow, and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the House of Representatives and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the wife of the deceased.
