ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Strawman of Jones presented the name of the Honorable G. T. Kuester of Cass county as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

I consider it a distinct privilege, at this time, to place in nomination as Speaker of the House a very dear friend of mine and a friend of yours, and I am sure that all of the new members of this body, before this session has progressed very far, will consider him a dear friend of theirs.

He is a man of absolute integrity and high ideals, a man who understands state government, who is recognized for having used sound judgment, and who is recognized as being conservative and yet progressive in his views. In fact, I will say without any fear of contradiction that he is recognized as a peer among all legislators, both in the House and the Senate. I am sure that the people of the state of Iowa will have no fear as to the results of this session of the legislature with this man holding the reins in the Iowa House.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the Fifty-third General Assembly, it is with great pleasure that I now place in nomination the gentleman from Cass county, the Honorable Gus T. Kuester.

Hanson of Lyon seconded the nomination of Mr. Kuester for Speaker of the House, preceding his motion with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

In seconding the nomination for Gus Kuester as Speaker of the Fifty-third General Assembly, I do so with a great deal of pleasure.

My remarks will be brief because the man who made the nomination has said most of the things I might say, but I want to say this by way of emphasis, that he is honest, he is sincere, and I know from my own personal acquaintance and observation that he is definitely fair, and those are, in my opinion, three of the most important qualifications from the standpoint of a Speaker.

He has long legislative experience with people and is familiar with down to earth folks in either the city or rural areas, and is thoroughly familiar with the problems of people who live in the great state of Iowa.

I am happy to second the nomination because I believe he has the opportunity again to contribute something good to the government in the state of Iowa.

Poston of Wayne seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly for the Honorable G. T. Kuester as Speaker of the House, preceding his motion with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER: In their pre-session caucus the minority party instructed me to make unanimous the vote of this House for G. T. Kuester as Speaker. This to me is a pleasure as well as an honor.

I have been associated with G. T. Kuester not only in the sessions of the House but for one term of the interim committee and know that he is honestly interested in government over and above politics.

Not only has the majority party done itself a favor by the election of such a man to this job but the state of Iowa is the beneficiary of such a move. I can advise my colleagues that their business is in safe hands.

It is a pleasure for me to move that the vote by which G. T. Kuester is elected Speaker be made unanimous and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to cast a unanimous vote for G. T. Kuester as Speaker of the House of the Fifty-third General Assembly.

Motion prevailed.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House for the Honorable G. T. Kuester as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly. The Honorable G. T. Kuester of Cass county, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly, was declared elected to that office.

Lynes of Bremer moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Lynes of Bremer and Washburn of Mills.

The Honorable G. T. Kuester was escorted to the Speaker's station and, upon being sworn, assumed the chair and made the following remarks:

MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY: Now, that the members have made their choice of Speaker, please allow me to express my sincere appreciation for the honor and recognition you have again given me.

Fully realizing the duties and responsibilities that go with the position, it is with a sense of humbleness of spirit that I approach the task ahead, asking for Divine guidance to give me wisdom and understanding, to properly take care of the duties as Speaker.

There are many serious problems for consideration of this session, but with a spirit of sincere cooperation we can arrive at a fair solution of many of them.

While it is true that we have the party system of election you will find that in the work of the legislature the welfare of the people can best be achieved by following a non-partisan approach in most legislation.

The recent election has demonstrated that neither party has a monopoly on the confidence of the voters and citizens of Iowa, and that the actions of the duly elected members of either party will be watched and the individual concerned held to strict accountability. Frankly, public office is a public trust and is a responsibility that society gives to us, subject to our solemn performance of our obligation.

In the enactment of legislation it is well to remember that each proposal should be considered on its own merits, giving the matter fair consideration, then voting your honest convictions. This eliminates the so-called "hot spots" in your work here.

Again this session the matter of state finances is uppermost in the problems before us. Due to the continuation of the inflationary spiral during the greater part of the past two years, costs have gone up and collection of indirect taxes, the source of state income, has been greater, thereby creating a temporary sizable surplus in the state treasury.

However, in recent months, prices on those commodities which are the basic foundation of Iowa's wealth have shown a marked decline, which, in due course of time, will reflect in lower receipts of state revenue.

It is well to remember that government has only one source of revenue—TAXES.

In our deliberations we must be careful not to establish a long time program on an inflationary basis that will become a severe property tax burden later.

A goodly balance in the state treasury sufficient to carry a portion of the possibility of lower receipts is desirable, and at NO time should any funds—surplus or otherwise—be wasted. We should provide sufficient funds to properly operate the various departments and institutions of the state efficiently, with salaries commensurate therewith, and with the minimum of personnel necessary to function efficiently.

We will have several special interim reports. Among these is that of the Interim Committee which has done a splendid job in the performance of its duty; give its report careful consideration.

The Flood Control Committee also has done excellent service in its work and its report is of importance to the future welfare of the state.

The Road Study Committee report, also, will be before us for consideration. This problem is of extreme importance and should be approached from the standpoint of fairness to all parts of the state and likewise in fairness to the various types of roads involved in the matter.

In my humble opinion among the major problems before us are: Appropriations, Taxes, Soil Conservation and Flood Control, Roads and Schools.

In the field of morals, while it is a pity that valuable time must be spent each session with these problems, yet, knowing the difference of opinion on, and the approach to, these matters, I feel duty bound again to call your attention to what was said two years ago, namely: "There has been for some time urgent demand for corrective beer legislation." While it is true that the state cannot legislate morals into the lives of individuals, nevertheless, the laws of the state should be on the side of the higher ideals of life and definite action should be taken to give the people weapons of enforcement and stringent regulation of the sale of the stuff that can lead to the destruction of useful lives and the loss of eternal life for the individual. The problem should not be approached from the standpoint of additional revenue, since the cost to the state in its various forms far exceeds the revenue obtained.

In our work here it is well to remember that it is not the quantity but the quality of the bills passed that determine the success or failure of the session. It is to be hoped that by working more hours daily we can shorten the session by days. This I am sure will be appreciated, comes the time to pay our expenses and when spring returns.

To the new members, you will find the members who have had previous service anxious to be of help to you. Feel free to ask for any help you may want. We all were new once and we all remember the help given us. Let us work on the basis of friendly cooperation in the problems that are before us, and arrive at a solution that is to the best interest of honest, good government for the people of Iowa as a whole.

I again pledge that I will try to be fair at all times and ask your help to make this session the success we all want it to be.

I want you to know that the door to the Speaker's office is always open to you. I need your help and advice.

In conclusion: We have been given a challenge, let us dedicate ourselves to the task ahead for the welfare of our state, and, with the thought in mind that "The world has yet to see what God can do with and for and through and in a man who is fully consecrated to Him," let us begin and do our duty as legislators.

Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Poston of Wayne offered the following House Concurrent Resolution.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 5

Whereas, the allies of the last World War have been startled and humiliated by the announcement that Ilse Koch, wife of the butcher of Buchenwald, has been all but restored to liberty by the officers of the United States Army in Europe, and

Whereas, she in her own right was tried by legally constituted authority and sentenced to life imprisonment for unprecedented and unspeakable crimes against allied prisoners and citizens, and

Whereas, no justification exists to excuse her from punishment for admitted cruelty and revolting barbarism to helpless prisoners, her sentence to life imprisonment being mild in comparison to her crimes against humanity; therefore

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That in the name of the hundreds of thousands of prisoners sent to their death by burning, burying alive, starvation or murder in every conceivable form by her Nazi husband and with her tacit approval and cooperation, we hereby protest and condemn the action of the officers of the United States Army in reducing her sentence from life to four years and further request the President of the United States and Congress to take such action as will cause this miscarriage of justice to be reversed and proper measures to be taken to vindicate the efforts and sacrifices of the millions of boys and girls who offered their services and lives to exterminate that kind of government and that kind of people.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Iowa Senator and Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States.

Laid over under Rule 34.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

The following messages were received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following concurrent resolutions in which the concurrence of the Senate was asked:

House Concurrent Resolution 3, directing the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House to prepare a daily clip sheet.

House Concurrent Resolution 2, providing for a joint committee to nominate additional employees for the work of the session, and the President of the Senate has appointed as members of such committee on the part of the Senate: Senators Henningsen, Faul and Benson.

W. J. SCARBOROUGH, Secretary.

Weichman of Benton submitted the following communication from the committee on retrenchment and reform.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

The Legislative Committee on Retrenchment and Reform of the Fifty-second General Assembly submits its report and recommendations.

During the biennium the committee has visited at least once all institutions under the State Board of Control and the State Board of Education. In our visits and inquiries we have received the fullest cooperation of these boards and of the superintendents of the several institutions. We believe that our state institutions are in good hands. It is easy to criticize and find fault. Perfection probably never has been or will be attained in the care and treatment of mental patients and inmates in penal institutions. Because of the legislation of the Fifty-second General Assembly, and the increased appropriations for support, maintenance and capital improvements the state of Iowa is keeping step with the steady march of progress toward a better and more sympathetic care of our unfortunate citizens requiring state custody.

Great changes in capital improvements and reforms of procedure cannot be made over night. Too often the public becomes impatient but it is the considered judgment of this committee that the problems incident to public institutions are receiving the most careful consideration by those in charge.

The schools under the supervision of the State Board of Education require no praise on the part of this committee. They are recognized as the best in the nation.

The committee has had many occasions to meet with representatives of the Conservation Commission and observe its work. Theirs has been a big task, and we commend them for the progress they have made during these last two difficult years. A specific problem now confronting the commission will be commented upon in another part of this report.

To this committee the last General Assembly entrusted the sum of $2,000,000. This is more than twice the amount under the immediate control of any prior committee. We have allocated all of this amount except approximately $40,000. Another $46,000 made as a temporary advancement will be returned to the fund. The emergency needs of the institutions during the biennium have been great, due in large part to the unprecedented increase in the cost of supplies, and the absolute necessity of salary increases.

Because of the allotments to the Board of Control and the Board of Education, they will not have to ask for emergency appropriations to carry them through the remainder of the fiscal year. As required by law a detailed account of our expenditures from the emergency fund will be made a part of the budget.

The committee has met in 29 sessions of from one to four days' duration. We have observed the operations of the state government from angles not possible to the ordinary layman or legislator and from this experience and observation we make the following suggestions or recommendations:

1. That the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform be appointed and activated as soon as possible after the convening of the Fifty-third General Assembly. Large sums of money have been appropriated, the expenditure of which has been made subject to the approval of such committee.
2. That the comptroller furnish to the membership of the Legislature a report of all funds heretofore appropriated with balances remaining therein and which do not revert to the general fund of the state.
3. That the unexpended appropriations by prior General Assemblies to the Board of Control and to the Board of Education be respectively consolidated with appropriations of the Fifty-third General Assembly.
4. That all unused appropriations for the care of the State House and grounds revert to the general fund at the end of the present biennium and any money needed to complete unfinished projects be incorporated in the new appropriation for the department.
5. That the office of a state architect be established with an adequate staff to meet the ever increasing needs of the state for such services. Great economies can thus be effected, especially when a large building program is being carried out.
6. That the Basic Sciences Board be abolished because applicants for a state license to practice the professions under its supervision have previously passed examinations by boards composed of competent members of the profession they seek to enter.
7. We most strongly urge and recommend that the schools of medicine, dentistry and nursing be enlarged to meet the needs of the people of Iowa. The health of our citizens should be commensurate with our wealth. We are told that fewer doctors were graduated in the United States in 1940 than in 1905 despite a 60 per cent increase in population. Every community in Iowa is entitled to have adequate and competent medical services available, and furthermore the worthy youth of our state should not be denied the opportunity to enter a profession of his choice because the state has inadequate facilities to educate him.
8. The federal government makes appropriations to the several states for old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children. Limitations have been set upon the amount to each recipient or case. We believe that the state of Iowa should likewise set limitations on the amount of its liability, leaving to the several local counties or communities the duty of defining the needs of the individual cases and meeting the same in the event the federal and state contributions are insufficient. We recommend that the members of the legislature give serious thought to the removal of the secrecy surrounding the expenditure of tax money for social purposes.

9. We recommend that the limitations of $17 and $10 as tuition for elementary and high school pupils respectively be removed.
10. We recommend an exemption of $5,000 on monies and credits from taxation together with a repeal of the exemptions provided by paragraph 20, Section 427.1, Code of Iowa. (Excepting only stock in corporations not for pecuniary profit.)
11. We recommend a removal of the liability of the state to build or maintain bridges merely adjacent to state parks, as required by Section 308.4, Code 1946.
12. We believe that future bills providing for appropriations to the Conservation Commission for improving the property under its control or initiating new projects should specify the projects, or if they be not specified that the expenditure be left to the discretion of the commission with the approval of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform. The appropriation as made to it by Chapter 29, Acts of the Fifty-second General Assembly, did not specify the projects. The question now arises—to what extent can the commission use its discretion in view of the fact that a detailed list of projects appeared in the budget but not in the law? In one instance the amount set out in the budget is entirely inadequate to carry out the project although there is a large balance in the general appropriations for such projects.
13. We recommend passage of the bill to be introduced providing for the classification of the employees of the state and of the compensation to be paid each of the several classes and the appointment of a personnel director to administer the law.
14. We call attention to the importance of vocational and occupational therapy in the rehabilitation of mental and delinquent persons in state mental and correctional institutions. Certain of the institutions with the help of the Board of Control have made definite and commendable progress, some practically none. We re-emphasize the importance of such training and ask that funds and personnel be allocated to all institutions in sufficient amount and number to provide an adequate program of vocational and occupational therapy.
15. We recommend the disposal of the land owned by the state in Drainage District No. 13 in Muscatine county subject to the approval of the Conservation Commission. This to avoid payment of drainage assessments out of proportion to any benefits to the state.

This report would not be complete without a statement that the committee has at all times received the cooperation and assistance of all the state officers, commissions and boards, and our every request for information was met without reservation or complaint.

The minutes of the several meetings of the committee are on file in the office of the Secretary of State, and are available for public inspection.

President Evans announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Bateson moved that a committee of six, consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify Governor Blue that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee, Senators Bateson of Hardin, Doud of Van Buren and Whitehead of Dallas on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Wilson of Wright, Anderson of Washington and Nielsen of Monona on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Blue and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Evans then presented Governor Blue who delivered the following address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, FRIENDS, AND FELLOW CITIZENS:

On January 1, 1924, as a young lawyer whose college sheepskin and certificate of admission to the Iowa Bar were but two years old, I assumed the duties of county attorney of my native county.

During the quarter of a century that has followed it has been my great privilege, primarily as an avocation, to serve my fellow citizens in various capacities in the conduct of county, city and state government.

Thus, I have been afforded an opportunity enjoyed by but few men to observe both the strength and the weakness, the good and the bad in our system of government.

Institutions and governments, like persons, have distinct personalities. The character of both men and institutions is shaped by heredity and environment.

During these years of service with Iowa government there has grown within me a deep and abiding affection, for the institutions and the people of the state, akin to the affections of a fond parent for his children.

Indeed, the relationship of good government, to the multitude of groups and interests within its borders, is similar to that of a parent. Like a good parent, with several children, it should treat each with patience, understanding, firmness, and loving kindness. It is in that spirit that I now address you.

Graven in granite on the entrance to the archives building in Washington are these words of fundamental truth: "Study the past, the past is but prologue." How oft the mistakes and heartaches of the child could have been avoided if the voice of loving parental experience had been heeded. How oft decline and fall of nations with the misery incident to millions of people could have been avoided if the leaders of those nations had observed the danger signs and listened to the voice of experience—the voice of history. The course of nations should be forward, not backward. But we should take care that our car of state is in good shape, that the motor is smooth, the brakes and lights safe. Then we should not drive at breakneck speed, heedless of warning signs, recklessly endangering our freedom and the freedom of the world.

As you meet in this session, you are confronted with many difficult problems. These problems fall into two classes. There are the basic and long range problems which involve our philosophy of government. There are the secondary and the immediate problems which arise from the conflict between two philosophies of government. The secondary problems can only be temporarily disposed of so long as the conflict in the basic philosophy is undecided.

Let us first consider some of our basic problems. It is three and one-half years since the war ended and still we have no peace. We are building greater and more destructive instruments of warfare. Why? Because basically the two great wars of our generation are not wars between nations, but wars between two philosophies of life and government.

One philosophy of government is the philosophy of materialism of force, of human and economic slavery, and atheism. The other is the philosophy of a moral and spiritual life—of love, of mutual cooperation and respect for fellow human beings—and love of God. The names of men and nations, the periods of time, the location of the conflict is ever changing. The basic conflict remains the same. It matters not whether the opponent be a tyrannical English king, a Kaiser Wilhelm, a Hitler, a Mussolini, a Tojo, or a Stalin. The issue remains unchanged.

In the heart of every loyal American there is one word above every word which expresses his philosophy of government. That word is "Freedom."

It is for freedom that we have always suffered and sacrificed. We have recently defeated three dictator nations on the field of battle. That does not mean that we have saved world freedom from tyranny. We have merely saved the chance to save freedom here within the borders of our own land.

Today the hearts of men everywhere are filled with fear that they will lose their freedom. Fear that the tyranny of communism or some other ism will engulf them. They read with dismay the story of the disintegration of nation after nation, the ascendancy of communism to the power of government, the ruthless elimination of every opponent, the brutalities of the concentration camps. They read the stories of the tremendous destructive power of atomic energy with a morbid interest.

How do nations like ours lose their liberty? Is there no clue to the terrible disease which is destroying freedom? Is there any remedy for the malady which threatens Christian civilization with destruction? The answer is yes. There are many clues. There is a remedy.

The basic truth of the story of the prodigal son is the same as it was two thousand years ago. You remember the story. He was a younger son and he said to his father "Give me the portion of goods that falleth to me." And then you remember how he took his journey into the far country and there wasted his substance in riotous living and how finally when the depression had come, according to the Word, "he came to himself" and determined to go to his father and ask that he be made as one of his hired servants. The prodigal son was free. He misused his freedom. Having misused his freedom he wanted a manager and guardian, someone to tell him what to think and what to do. What happened to the prodigal son always happens to a prodigal nation in a crisis. Whenever the citizens of a nation misuse their freedom, and squander their resources, they finally come to want, then they clamor for aid. They ask a paternal government to tell them what to do. "Make me as one of thy hired servants." And always there will be some dictator listening and willing to tell a nation what it shall do.

Thoughtful men and women everywhere are concerned with the sweep of communism across Europe and Asia. Many are haunted by the dread fear that secret agents may have obtained the secret of the atomic bomb.

I say to you my fellow citizens that there exist other chain reaction weapons of destruction, which can be as fatally destructive as the atomic bomb, such as germ warfare, chain reacting propaganda, fifth columns, moral and spiritual decay, and economic chain reactions.

Now I submit to you that the secret of chain reaction has been known by men for generations. You all remember the old poem, illustrating a chain reaction of other days:

“For want of a nail, the shoe was lost
 For want of a shoe the rider was lost
 For want of a rider, the battle was lost
 For want of the battle, the Kingdom was lost,
 All for the want of a horseshoe nail.”

Or the rhyme of the little old woman who found the crooked sixpence with which she bought a pig, and how the pig would not jump over the stile so she said to the dog she met, “Dog, dog, bite pig, piggy won’t jump over the stile and I shan’t get home tonight.” And how she kept going a little further and a little further. How her request for help met refusal from the fire, the water, the ox, the butcher, the rope and the rat. And how finally in the words of the old nursery rhyme:

“The cat began to kill the rat;
 The rat began to gnaw the rope;
 The rope began to hang the butcher;
 The butcher began to kill the ox;
 The ox began to drink the water;
 The water began to quench the fire;
 The fire began to burn the stick;
 The stick began to beat the dog;
 The dog began to bite the pig;
 The pig in a fright jumped over the stile;
 And so the old woman got home that night.”

Important as the effect chain reaction resulting from the splitting of the atom may be on the destiny of the human race, its power to change the course of history is not as great as the power of economic chain reaction.

The fear that Americans ought to have in their hearts today is not the fear that a Russian agent has stolen, or a Russian scientist has discovered the secret of the atomic bomb. Rather we should be disturbed because the leaders of Russia have discovered and are effectively using another chain reaction weapon—economic chain reaction, destroying the ability of free nations to resist aggression. Let us see how economic chain reaction has destroyed other nations.

First let us turn the leaves of history to the story of Italy. After the little states of Italy were united, Italy continued as a parliamentary nation for sixty-six years before it became a fascist nation. For forty-six years out of that sixty-six years it operated on a deficit budget. It spent more than it took in.

Unsound financial policies resulting in continued deficits create an economic chain reacting time bomb, which will eventually destroy any person or any government which persists in the policy.

When once the Italian government adopted the policy of operating government by borrowing, there seemed to be no escape from its continuance. HAVING DISCOVERED A DEVICE WHICH WOULD KEEP MEN AND PARTIES IN POWER THERE COULD ALWAYS BE DISCOVERED LEADERS WHO WERE WILLING AND ANXIOUS TO USE THE METHOD.

The council of honest and prudent statesmen against the dangers of deficit spending were ignored, sound advice was made impotent by grants of money which bribed individuals, organizations and local governments. Every community and every organization wanted aid from the national government for roads, post offices, schools, and farm aid.

The premier discovered that he could buy the political support of a community or a group by spending public money. It finally became impossible to be elected to parliament unless the candidate was able to show that he was sufficiently in the favor of the premier to secure grants of money for his constituents.

The 1929 issue of the Encyclopedia Britannica describes the situation thus, and I quote: "In their anxiety to remain in office Depretis and the Finance Minister, Magliani, never hesitated to mortgage the financial future of their country. No concession could be denied to deputies, or groups of deputies whose support was indispensable to the life of the cabinet, nor under such conditions, was it possible to place any effective check upon administrative abuses in which politicians or their electors were interested."

While individual citizens grumbled against the constantly increasing load of debt they continued as members of organizations to clamor for their share of government handouts. Pressure groups who sought some selfish gratuities without considering the collective effect of such gratuities upon the economy of the whole nation were more powerful than these same people as individual citizens. The policy of subsidy and public spending became perfected into a technique of national corruption and bribery. Public spending became a magnificent drug which dulled the social conscience and debauched the moral, economic, and mental integrity of a nation.

The people became so addicted to the exhilarating effects of federal grants, financed by borrowed money, that they became unconscious of the cancerous growth which had fastened itself upon their body politic and was slowly destroying their freedom, their economic stability and their political life.

Now let us turn the page of history to the story of Germany. The German Empire came into being in 1871 under favorable economic circumstances. Bismarck had extracted from France an indemnity of nearly four and one-half billion marks. This was sufficient to pay the war debt and leave a comfortable balance. By 1913, however, and I want you to mark that date, the federal government was in debt over four billion marks, the states over fourteen billion marks, and the municipalities over five billion marks. A total of twenty-four billion marks. Thus for fifty years prior to World War I the financial policy of Germany was based on deficit spending.

The speeches of public men condemned this financial policy, yet the practice was tolerated. The Reichstag refused to supply the means by which taxes necessary to balance the budget could be raised. Thus, Germany embarked upon a program of state-owned and operated public utilities to supplement the tax revenue of the government. This in turn led ultimately to adoption of the Nazi socialist policies.

During the war Germany financed her government on a gigantic scale in the same manner she had financed it on a lesser scale during the preceding fifty years. She came out of the war in 1918 owing a debt in excess of one hundred sixty-four billion marks. To this great national debt was added the burden of reparations. One thing kept leading to another, another and yet another. It always does. Chain reaction went to work.

Let us take a closer look at the German economy during the period from 1926 to 1931 preceding the Austrian collapse and the rise of Hitler to power. The national debt continued to rise. The national government increased its debt six billion marks and the state governments went into debt an additional fourteen billion marks.

What were these debts incurred for? For the most laudable of purposes. Playgrounds, swimming pools, schools, hospitals and roads were built profusely. Any virtue carried to excess becomes a vice. So it was with public spending for worthy objectives in Germany.

In 1936 Arthur Rosenberg in his "History of the German Republic," wrote, and I quote: "AFTER 1924 THE OFFICIALS LOST ALL SENSE OF THE VALUE OF MONEY AND SEEMED TO BELIEVE THAT MONEY WOULD ALWAYS BE AVAILABLE AT ANY TIME AND IN ANY QUANTITY THAT WAS NEEDED FOR ANY PURPOSE."

In 1927 Gustav Stresemann wrote the Burgomaster of Duisberg, and I quote: "I make no secret of the fact that it is above all the policy of the individual states and the municipalities that causes me grave anxieties in the field of foreign affairs. The fact that the Prussian state has granted fourteen million marks for rebuilding of the Berlin opera house and will perhaps make a grant of twenty millions in all, creates the impression in the world at large that we are rolling in money. NOT A SINGLE ONE OF THE VICTORIOUS STATES HAS EMBARKED UPON SUCH AN UNDERTAKING."

In 1930 Chancellor Herman Muller, finding it difficult to increase taxes to raise money, adopted a deceitful expedient. HE TALKED ABOUT MORE SOCIAL SECURITY. What he really intended to do was to increase the tax rate beyond the increased benefits of social security and to use the surplus by way of a loan to the government to meet its expenses.

After the Austrian bank failure and our national election in 1932 the German republic failed. It went into receivership. Socialism, fascism, communism, or some other form of totalitarianism is always the receiver for bankrupt republics. Thus was the stage set for the holocaust we call World War II.

The increased cost of state and local government is caused primarily by the unsound fiscal policies of the national government. These policies have had an economic chain reaction upon the cost of every service rendered by state and local government.

"Whose bread I eat, his song I sing." The state and local units of government are in partnership with the federal government. The senior partner in this partnership has been wasteful and extravagant. It has ignored the fundamental economic laws which no individual business or nation can defy with impunity. Many of the federal grants financed by borrowed money—borrowed in a manner prohibited in our Constitution and the constitutions of many other states—have induced state and local governments to embark upon programs which, in the event of a recession, they will be unable to continue. Yet we plunge recklessly on. Unless the men who head the national government have the mental and economic integrity and the political courage to abandon the course which we have been following, we shall meet with disaster. The freedom and the independence of state and local governments, already greatly weakened, will be totally destroyed. Deficit spending is sapping the strength of the nation's economic institutions.

This is what Russia is hoping for. Lenin has said every nation rests upon an economic foundation. Another Russian has said we shall compel America to spend itself into weakness. The Communist understands and is a past-master at propaganda chain reaction and economic chain reaction. This is the reason that he infiltrates into educational, charitable, and patriotic societies. This is the reason that he seeks control of labor unions in vital industries whose disruption would paralyze the modern political Samson we call America.

One of the cornerstones upon which this nation was builded is the philosophy that it is the duty of the people to support the government. In the past few years we have been abandoning this philosophy and are more and more living by the philosophy that one unit of government must support another unit of government. That in place of our supporting the government it must support us. We have become afflicted with a social security phobia. We are suffering from an economic neurosis similar if not identical to that which afflicted both Italy and Germany.

No sensible person denies the wisdom of sound public charity. Yet every virtue carried to an extreme can become a vice. It seems as if every person or every organization is clamoring for some type of retirement benefits or public gratuity. Many are seeking to secure for themselves preferred types of public gratuities.

So great has been the expansion in this field during the last sixteen years that today, during a period of the highest employment and the greatest productivity in the history of the nation, the cost of governmental welfare and other nonwage payments has reached a total greater than the combined payrolls of three of the nation's major industries, the automotive, steel, and rubber industries. These benefits exceeded nine billion dollars—a sum greater than the whole cost of the operation of the federal government prior to World War II.

The President of the United States in his address to Congress last Wednesday said, and I quote: "We should expand our social security program both as to size and benefits and extend the coverage." This request is made at a time when our national debt is the greatest of any nation in history. At a time when we are spending billions of dollars to succor the peoples of the nations of a war-torn and bankrupt world as well as arm ourselves against the threat of aggression and world-wide revolution.

But the Nation's chief executive has made an even more startling recommendation. I quote: "I recommend that the congress enact legislation . . .

"To authorize an immediate study of the adequacy of production facilities for materials in critically short supply, such as steel, and, if found necessary, to authorize government loans for the expansion of production facilities to relieve such shortages, and furthermore to authorize the construction of such facilities directly if action by private industry fails to meet our needs."

This is nothing more or less than a request that we abandon our present constitutional form of government and adopt state socialism.

It is the same as Germany nationalizing her public utilities, and England nationalizing her coal mines.

An economic monopoly in the hands of a government is a thousand-fold more dangerous than such a monopoly in the hands of either individuals or groups of citizens. In the hands of citizens the government can act to curb abuses. In the hands of the government such economic power will be able to crush out the opposition of the small groups of citizens who have the courage to oppose it.

If embarked upon, it will inevitably lead to the nationalization of every industry. Like begets like. This is the eternal law.

My friends, the hour is late, later than you think.

Just as the head of a family who ignores the moral, penal, or the economic law will bring sorrow and disaster to his family, so sorrow and disaster will be the bitter fruits of the unsound fiscal policies of our national government. Economic chain reaction is already at work here in America.

MONOPOLY

For the next few minutes I ask you to lay aside your political ambitions, your bias or prejudice, and reason with me concerning one of our major problems—the problem of Monopoly.

Why do we oppose communism, fascism, nazism? Why did our forefathers leave the old country and come to America? What is the exact opposite of Freedom? The answer is Monopoly.

Why do we enjoy the highest standard of living in the world?

Why have we in the short period of 172 years been able to people a continent and outdistance our mother countries in progress?

Why do the stricken countries of the world turn to us for aid?

The answer is Freedom; the absence and the restraint of Monopoly.

The very essence of our governmental system, and the secret of our success, is restraint of monopoly.

The soul of the constitution is control of monopoly. The division of the power of government between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches is a restraint upon a monopoly of Political Power.

The whole Bill of Rights is a declaration against monopoly. It protects us against monopoly by giving us freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of worship. It protects us against military monopoly by giving the states the right to maintain militias.

It protects us against judicial monopoly by guaranteeing trial by jury, the right to bond, the writ of habeas corpus, and by prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment.

With the coming of the railroads and mass production, corporations came into existence to carry on the great enterprises of the country. They soon became great and powerful. The oil trust, the beef trust, the tobacco trust and many others became monopolistic. They crushed opposition, exploited the public, exploited labor, and corrupted and brow-beat legislatures.

To curb this new monopoly, the Sherman Anti-trust Act, the Securities Act, the Wagner Act and other laws were enacted. The excesses and abuses of industry created conditions, which in turn led to the creation of a new monopoly.

To protect their rights against the abuses of corporations, unions were formed. The unions in turn have become monopolistic and have been guilty of every monopolistic practice which gave rise to the necessity to regulate corporations.

To curb these abuses by unions, the Taft-Hartley Law was passed.

In a short time, it will doubtless be repealed. It will be repealed rather than be amended, not because it is wholly wrong. It is admitted by its opponents that abuses existed that needed to be curbed. It will be repealed because politicians, seeking votes, and labor leaders, seeking greater power, have joined hands to repeal it.

Monopoly is wrong and it is dangerous. It is dangerous in the hands of the government, of the church, of the press, of the military, and of the great corporations. It is equally dangerous in the hands of ambitious labor leaders.

The right to work is a basic freedom. For the last several years, unions in a typically monopolistic fashion have, through the closed shop, jurisdictional strikes, and secondary boycotts, attempted to destroy all competition. They denied to men their constitutional freedoms.

They claimed and exercised the right of economic life or death in the most dictatorial fashion by granting or denying the right of men to work.

They have increased the costs of food, clothing, and housing by featherbedding and other monopolistic practices. The laborer has been denied the right to work, the farmer the right to deliver his produce to market; and the industrialist and the ambitious politician have been frightened and coerced into acquiescence of these practices.

To enforce their dictatorial decrees they have resorted to threats, violence, and mob rule.

A committee of Congress which recently investigated the union strike and riot at Dayton, Ohio, said, and I quote: "The record in the Dayton strike and in other cases forces the conclusion that representatives of international unions seem to feel they can violate the law, engage in violence, destruction of property, defy court orders, assault and seriously beat employees returning to work or engaged in working, without being effectively prosecuted."

Any citizen in a free country ought to be able to enter into the place of his employer without fear of injury to himself, his family, or his property.

He ought to have the right to join the church of his choice or none at all. He ought to have the right to join a union of his choice or none at all. He ought to have the right to work or not to work according to the dictates of his own conscience.

He ought to be able to work without paying tribute to any organization, particularly if that organization is headed by leaders whose philosophy and purpose is to overthrow his government.

The closed shop as well as the yellow dog contract and the sweat shops is un-American and anti-American. How can any man enjoy his constitutional right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness when he is denied the right to earn his daily bread?

To protect these men in their constitutional freedom and their right to work, many states, including Iowa, have passed legislation banning the monopolistic practice known as the closed shop.

A few days ago the Supreme Court handed down an historic opinion which marks another milestone in the unending battle for freedom; another great step forward in the struggle for civil rights.

Their words are significant. Listen to them. "Nor need we appraise or analyze with particularity the rather startling ideas suggested to support some of the premises on which appellants' conclusions rest.

"There cannot be wrung from a constitutional right of workers to assemble to discuss improvement of their working standards a further constitutional right to drive from remunerative employment all persons who will not or cannot participate in union assemblies.

"The constitutional right of workers to assemble, to discuss and formulate plans for furthering their own self interest in jobs cannot be construed as a constitutional guarantee that none shall get and hold jobs except those who join or will agree to abide by the assembly's plans."

The meaning of the decision is clear. Any state has the right to ban a monopoly which compels a worker to join an organization against his will. More than that, the state has the duty to protect the civil rights of the worker and the welfare of the public. Industrial peace is essential to our national strength and security. But it will never be secured by political appeasement of monopolies.

I know not what course you may take, but I shall continue to oppose monopoly by any group, at any time and anywhere.

LOYALTY AND RESPONSIBILITY

It is not easy to be a free nation. You recall Franklin's remark in answer to the lady who asked, "Tell me, Mr. Franklin, are we going to have a republic or a monarchy?" He replied, "A republic, thank God, if you can keep it that way."

From the end of the Revolutionary War to the end of the First World War, freedom was on the ascendancy everywhere. Since 1913 free governments have been disappearing and dictatorial governments have been increasing. One by one the lights of freedom are being extinguished. The danger signals are up all over the world. The signals in our national capital are constantly flashing warnings.

Our republic has given us a priceless heritage. Part of that heritage is privilege and opportunity. That's the part we talk about most frequently. The other part of our heritage is loyalty and responsibility. It is the first duty of every government to maintain order. Order can be maintained only through loyalty and responsibility, or by force. Free government cannot exist in the absence of loyalty and responsibility. Free government is the offspring of loyalty and civic responsibility.

No family can continue to exist in the absence of loyalty and responsibility. Just as the husband and wife of a family must be loyal and faithful to each other, the individual citizen and groups of citizens must be loyal to their government. Free societies rest upon a foundation of law and of self-restraint rather than upon the whim of an individual or group of men. Law is restraint from without. Loyalty is restraint from within.

Every free nation rests more upon loyalty, that is self-restraint, than upon law. Loyalty can be secured in two ways. It may be bought or it may be challenged. A government which must purchase loyalty in order to maintain itself in power will find that the cost of loyalty is constantly increased, and that the final purchase price of that kind of loyalty can never be paid. Such loyalty is always on the auction block looking for a higher bidder. Dollar loyalty can destroy any nation. For a nation to endure, men must be loyal because of what their government stands for rather than what it does for them as individuals.

The lot of a woman is determined by the love she accepts. The destiny of a nation is determined by the philosophy it adopts. We have reached that point in our national existence when we must once again recognize the necessity for loyalty to the philosophy and ideals of freedom and the willingness to exercise individual and collective self-restraint in the demands we make upon our government.

The members of Congress have taken an oath, even as you and I. Their oath, your oath, and my oath, to our God and to our fellow countrymen, is to support and defend the Constitution of these United States.

If the Congress has information and believes that any person or group of persons is working to destroy this Republic, it is their sworn duty to expose and punish such guilty persons.

It is to be regretted if some, blinded by partisanship and goaded by political ambition, cause injury to an innocent person, but it is even more deplorable if some, blinded by partisanship and goaded by political ambition, are willing to countenance such treasonable conduct in return for political support.

The facts seem to be that important official documents have fallen into the hands of unfriendly governments because of the disloyalty of persons in responsible positions with the national government. The fact seems to be that high officials have been negligent in taking action.

The facts seem to be that some important unions have come under the control of avowed communist leaders. Some of these organizations are in key industries where they would be able to almost paralyze the industrial and military might of this nation.

The fact also seems to be that many loyal and patriotic union organizations are purging their ranks of disloyal leaders. For this they are to be commended.

But no student of current public affairs or of the history of nations can doubt that freedom in America is threatened both from without and from within. The situation calls for action. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty. In the words of the Revolutionary War commander, "Place none but loyal Americans on guard tonight."

Only those who are familiar with the operation of free government can understand the comparative ease with which subversive forces have been able to legally take over the power of free nations. The recent history of eastern Europe is filled with unhappy examples of the effectiveness of the technique by which free nations have been destroyed.

Every individual and every organization can best serve its own interest today, by subordinating personal and group interests to the welfare of the nation as a whole. We must be willing to give to our nation more than we ask in return.

The financial demands being made by organized groups upon the national government, the states and local communities appear to be greater than can be borne indefinitely. It matters not how worthy the cause for which the funds are sought, there must be greater self-restraint in the askings. We should not forget that there are other causes equally worthy. Nations which are economically sick fall easy prey to quack political doctors just as fatally ill persons so often, in their desperation, fall prey to quack healers.

In recent years there has been an increase in the tendency on the part of organization groups in agriculture, in industry, and among labor groups to assume the privileges of political parties while avoiding the responsibility of such a political party. They raise huge campaign funds, they adopt legislative programs, and elect candidates pledged to their own selfish interests rather than the welfare of the nation as a whole. These organizations are not responsible to the people as a whole, only to a segment of society. They give no accounting of the funds they have received or how they were spent. Nor can they be held responsible for their actions. They claim to be nonpartisan, to vote for the man.

Now let's consider that position. Dictator nations are nations of men and not of laws. They tolerate but a single party. Before the Second World War France found itself paralyzed because fifty odd parties were unable to agree upon a course of action. Other nations have found themselves similarly paralyzed.

One of the great strengths in America is our two party system. Every loyal American should be active in one of these parties.

Organized groups who place their own welfare above that of the nation but who assume no responsibility to the nation as a whole tend to have the same effect upon the nation as a large number of political parties.

This is what Washington meant when he said, and I quote: "However combinations or associations of the above description may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely, in the course of time and things, to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambitious, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people and to usurp for themselves the reigns of government; destroying afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust domination."

The importance of responsibility and the necessity for self-restraint is clearly stated by Edmund Burke when he said, "Men are qualified for civil liberty in exact proportion to their disposition to put moral chains upon their own appetites; in proportion as their love of justice is above their rapacity; in proportion as they are disposed to listen to the councils of the wise and good, in preference to the flattery of knaves. Society cannot exist unless a controlling power upon will and appetite be placed somewhere, and the less of it there is within, the more there must be without. It is ordained in the eternal constitution of things that men of intemperate minds cannot be free. Their passions forge their fetters."

The lesson of the past is clear. If this nation is to be destroyed such destruction is more apt to be achieved by disloyalty, greed, and irresponsibility from within rather than by force of arms from without.

Freedom cannot exist alone in the absence of loyalty to our ideals of free government and responsibility on the part of every citizen in their private or official conduct. "Men must be governed by God or they will be ruled by tyrants."

CONCLUSION

All public law is subject to a higher law, God's eternal law. Neither men nor nations can break God's law with impunity. They merely break their lives and destroy their nations.

Let us then take the proposed legislation and place it in the test tubes and test it by God's eternal laws. Let us place it under the microscope of human wisdom and experience and carefully examine it to detect whether or not it contains any of the virus of the fatal political plague which is sweeping the earth and destroying free nations.

Our heritage consists of more than farms and factories, roads and parks, hospitals and schools, and other material possessions.

Our most valued heritage is a philosophy of life—a know how. This is the blueprint from which the great edifice called America was builded. Shall we destroy that edifice?

Are we today in our selfishness like the prodigal son of old—asking for our share of the inheritance before it is due us? "Father give me that portion of goods that falleth to me."

Are we as a nation taking a journey into a far country where we will waste our inheritance in riotous living?

When shall we come to ourselves? Will we too someday say, "Make me as one of Thy hired servants"?

Study the past. The past is but prologue. The companionship and the words of wisdom of the great men of the past, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Lincoln, Burke, and a host of others, is ours for the asking. Yes, even the companionship and wisdom of the Master himself.

Shall we abandon their companionship, and turn a deaf ear on the counsels of our Fathers? Shall we desert our faithful companion, the Goddess of Liberty, and listen only to the alluring voice and see only the seductive figure of the Goddess of Materialism? God forbid.

Our Father's God to Thee
Author of Liberty
To Thee we sing.
Long may our land be bright
With Freedom's holy light
Protect us by Thy might Great God our King.

May the Lord bless each of you and be gracious unto you. May the Lord make his face to shine upon us all and give us peace.

DIVISION II

I once sat where you now sit. I know something of how difficult it is for you in the short time you are here to fully or adequately inform yourself on all phases of the problems you are called to pass on.

Government today is much more complicated than it was 25 years ago. The danger of tinkering without considering the over-all effect upon all departments of government has greatly increased. There is a great need for a comprehensive picture and understanding of things.

I wish that time permitted a full discussion of the many current problems facing you. It does not. If at any time any of you feel that my experience or any information I possess may benefit you, I will be at your command.

Neither does time permit a review of the accomplishments of the last four years. I will mention but a few: State Aid to Schools and Cities and Towns made imperative by the mounting inflation in the cost of government. Important revisions in our system of taxation, a state-wide Retirement Act, the largest building program for Board of Control and state educational institutions in the state's history; the beginning of a program to widen and salvage our primary roads; aid to rural roads on the basis of need; extensive industrial development aided to a great degree by the new Iowa Department Commission; a revision of the administrative machinery of the Board of Control, including provision for directors of mental institutions, of dietetics, of farm operations, of prison industries, of child welfare and of penal institutions; extensive work in the fields of soil conservation and river development; new programs for aviation and safety.

Let us briefly consider one of the problems you will be called to act upon. Three excellent reports concerning roads, flood control and building code are ready for your consideration.

ROADS

From the time of the first road—until this moment—roads have presented a continuing problem. Simply stated the problem is this. Iowa has more miles of road in relation to the number of people and the number of square miles than any other state.

The income from gas taxes has increased approximately 25 per cent, while the cost of maintenance and new construction has increased approximately 100 per cent. Hundreds of old bridges were built too light and too narrow to carry modern traffic.

The old paving is too narrow and it is becoming increasingly hazardous to travel. The amount of maintenance is constantly increasing.

To protect our original investment in primary roads, thousands of miles of paving must be widened and resurfaced in the next ten years.

The rising costs of maintenance added to the cost of bond retirement and increasing maintenance costs, have left too little for new construction.

The funds now required to retire bonds will be freed in 1950. Such added funds, however, will be insufficient to meet road needs. The two major road problems are materials and funds. With road costs having increased approximately 100 per cent and income increased but 25 per cent, the need for more funds to salvage older roads, for maintenance, for bridges, for rural roads and to complete our primary system is obvious.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Though much progress has been made, the problems of the Board of Control are very great. The slate roofs on many buildings are in need of replacement, miles of gutters should be replaced.

An appropriation for tiling will bring more than a thousand acres of farm land into increased production.

Plans have been developed for new canning plants and deep freeze units. There is need for much new kitchen equipment.

A vocational education program has been instituted at some of the institutions. It should be expanded.

The Board of Control is the only major spending agency which does not maintain its own accounting system. Lack of proper information has handicapped the board. Legislation to meet this problem has been prepared.

A study has been made of the furniture needs of the institutions. These can and should be co-ordinated with the operation of the furniture factory at Ft. Madison.

Much has been accomplished in spite of a shortage of men and materials. But the neglects of thirty or forty years cannot be remedied in a few months. The administrative programs have been greatly improved. Much remains yet to be done.

SCHOOLS

During the last four years thirteen of the nineteen recommendations of the School Code Study Commission have been, in part or in whole, enacted into law. These programs have been of great aid to our school system.

There are, however, some fields in which the schools can, by their own action, improve their lot. Reorganization of small school districts will afford our children a better education at a reduced cost. A high school with fifteen or twenty pupils cannot offer an adequate number of courses, employ a sufficient number of teachers, or provide the equipment or the student competition essential to an adequate high school education.

The last two sessions of the legislature have passed reorganization bills. Some progress, but not enough, has been made in this field. Political ambition, the selfish economic interest, the desire to continue as an administrator rather than a teacher, and other factors have served to act as a brake upon needed progress in this field.

Many high schools are providing high school education at a loss of more than thirty per cent for each tuition pupil. This is unsound. The state of Kansas has met this problem by passing a county tuition tax law and a county equalization fund tax law. These laws are working successfully and challenge your study. One effect of such legislation is to require industries which locate in rural districts for the express purpose of avoiding their share of this cost of government, while permitting their employees to enjoy all the privileges of living in town, to pay their fair share of school costs.

With the experience gained, state aid to schools can be put on a more sound basis. It should be increased within the limits of sound financing.

Our experience in extending aid to counties, for child welfare without any standards to guide them, indicates the hazard of the state assuming a certain portion of the cost of local education without restrictions. Such a law will primarily benefit the large communities which are best able to carry the educational load of the state and will work to the definite disadvantage of the small communities. Large educational plants with their great variety of courses will receive the lion's share of the funds, while the small schools, most in need, with a few pupils and a limited number of courses would probably not receive the aid they were entitled to.

At the Governor's Conference I introduced, and the Conference adopted, a resolution for the study of the school program of our states. You will receive this report during this session. It should receive your careful consideration and study.

FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER USE

Flood control and water use is of increasing importance to us. We must have a legally constituted body to study and handle this problem. It can well be constituted, in whole or in part, of persons already in state service, whose duties deal with some of the problems connected with water use. Such an agency, however, should be an independent agency and not a department of an existing agency.

In considering specific programs much consideration ought to be given to loss of agricultural or mineral resources, loss of tax revenue and the permanent injury to the political and economic system of a community, the problem of displaced persons, and the danger of Federal Control over large areas of land within a community or the state.

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR

Iowa government is big business. It employs thousands of people. In the past the ability to lobby a large appropriation, political pull, and many other things determined the compensation paid. Employees doing the same work ought to receive the same pay whether they work for the Board of Control, the Highway Commission, the Board of Education or some other agency.

There is no reason why the auditor for the state university should receive a larger salary than the treasurer of state or the state auditor.

No position in state government is more taxing or difficult than that of Governor. No public official should receive a greater compensation than the Governor of the state.

During the last year and a half great strides have been made in equalizing salaries, but equality and justice cannot be achieved without extensive revision of our statutes.

The Interim Committee has made a careful study of this problem. Their recommendations are worthy of action by you.

BUDGET

The aviation commission is not under the budget law, the commerce commission is maintained in part by fees and in part by appropriation. Both should be brought under the budget.

The practice of appropriating sums of money and then granting authority to a legislative committee to supplement the funds of departments in need of funds has led to careless fiscal policies by the heads of some departments.

Under the budget law the responsibility for the budget rests upon the Governor. He cannot maintain the control that should be maintained over expenditures, if a department can by-pass his office and secure additional funds from such a committee.

This practice is destructive of the budget law. Under this law the Governor has authority, sometimes alone and sometimes with the approval of the Executive Council, to transfer funds to meet certain emergencies.

Any contingent fund to meet emergencies should be under the Governor or the Executive Council. They are on the job every day. They are more familiar with the problem than any part time legislative committee can possibly be. They were elected by the people from the whole state and are responsible to the state as a whole for their action.

I would not again approve a large contingent appropriation to a part time committee. Not because of lack of confidence in the committee, but rather because of the temptation on the part of departments to be careless or extravagant.

There is another way in which state budgets are being disrupted. That is by funds allocated by the Federal Government, directly to some department of government. Oftimes the state has little or no control over these federal funds.

More and more often the reason or the excuse for some proposed action is, "It won't cost the state anything. We're going to pay it out of federal funds."

This is not only poor business but its effects on other departments, who do not have such funds, is bad.

This danger is inherent in all grants-in-aid. We are developing a double standard for relief in Iowa. If the relief is paid for by local funds, one standard is followed. If it is paid for from state or federal funds, a different standard is followed.

The inflationary effect of grants-in-aid on the costs of local government is hard to estimate.

To check this trend the states of Pennsylvania and New York have enacted laws greatly increasing the powers of taxation to local governments in lieu of increased state aid. The experience of these two states is worthy of your consideration.

A special tax committee composed of Governors and members of Congress adopted a resolution calling on Congress to reduce grants from the federal government to the states by 20 per cent and to surrender to the states some of the fields of taxation, which might more properly belong to the states.

The inflationary effects of grants-in-aid is to centralize the power of government. It will lead to statism and federalism, if unchecked.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The problems of government are becoming increasingly complicated. I have been constantly impressed with the fact that the head of one department knows little of the related problems of another department.

Few people indeed have anything like an over-all view of the current problems of state government.

No legislator in 100 days can possibly give the needed study to the problems on which he is called to pass judgment.

When a Governor or the head of a department steps out, his knowledge and experience is lost. Last session I sent back for correction approximately a dozen bills that were defectively drafted.

To meet this problem we have resorted to special study committees. These committees have been doing outstanding work and should be continued. But we need a legislative council, with a permanent secretary, as a repository for legislative and administrative experience. Year after year departments file their annual reports. They are seldom read, let alone analyzed. They should be compared to the reports of previous years, the reports of other departments, and the reports and experiences of other states.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

The economic future is obscure. Some experts predict stability at the present levels; others see further inflation; still others see a recession and point to decreased employment in certain industries, and the fact that in some lines the inventories are large. These and other reasons are cited. Iowa, however, is fortunate to face the future in excellent financial condition.

You are required to make appropriations the last of which will be spent thirty months after you make them. This presents a difficult problem. Yet certain facts are very clear. Every farmer, every business man, every state and local government today is in partnership—in partnership with the Federal Government. Its action as the senior partner will be the controlling factor in the economic picture in the next two years. To a substantial degree, states and local governments have lost control of their finances. This is true because of the ability of the Federal Government to inflate the cost of local government by its action. It is true because of the effect of matching programs on the cost of local government.

The economy of states whose basic and major industry is agriculture, tends to fluctuate more violently than that of industrial states. From 1941 to 1946 income tax payments increased one hundred fifty-three per cent in South Dakota; one hundred eighteen per cent in North Dakota; ninety-four per cent in Iowa; seventy-three per cent in Illinois, and sixty per cent in Ohio. Sales taxes increased accordingly.

The Iowa financial system, based as it is primarily upon sales and income taxes, is extremely sensitive to changing economic conditions. Such a system feels the impact of prosperity most keenly. Such a system must also expect to experience the sharpest decline in revenues in the event of less favorable conditions. A mild recession might reduce Iowa's revenues severely. The sharp drop in agricultural prices in recent months points out the danger.

As I pointed out a year ago, the present state financial structure is based on inflexible tax rates. In times of prosperity we have too much money and accumulate surpluses. This in turn leads to the temptation to create governmental standards of living which cannot be maintained in time of recession. The huge budget askings of the various departments of state government, none of whom is familiar with, or has the responsibility for the financial welfare of the state as a whole, indicate the danger of such surpluses. On the other hand, under too rigid a tax structure, in the event of recession, there will be too little money to bear the necessary costs of government. I say to you again that the income tax rates in the state ought to be flexible. If they are not made flexible, the day will come when it will be necessary to return to a property tax.

During the last several years, as the result of war and post-war inflation, coupled with prudent management, the state has accumulated a large surplus. The people of the state, in their wisdom, have approved a bonus to the veterans of World War II. The financial condition of the state is such that most or all of this bonus can and should be paid from surplus funds now on hand. These funds were accumulated to a substantial degree out of wartime prosperity and taxation. They should be used to meet this obligation. Should this reserve be used for other purposes and the bonus paid from property taxes, over a twenty year period, the veteran himself will be paying the major portion of the state's gratuity. The time to pay your debts is when you have money to do so. It is easier to pay them with a "cheap" dollar rather than a "dear" dollar.

Payment now, from these funds, will save the Iowa taxpayer millions of dollars of interest money. It will remove that amount of tax load from property and thus leave local units of government in a better position to finance themselves. It will leave the state and the local communities in a much stronger position to meet the problems of any recession which might overtake us. By paying this obligation with a "cheap" dollar instead of a "dear" dollar, millions of dollars of purchasing ability will be saved and kept in the hands of our citizenry.

I have had prepared a number of different tables showing the cost of city, county, school district, and state government, and also the cost of relief, and of highway improvement in Iowa during the last twenty years. Because of the difference in accounting systems there are some minor omissions and perhaps duplications. They do, however, show the trends and paint a picture of the tremendous increase in the cost of government.

RELIEF

I suggest that it would be helpful if this legislature created a special study committee to study the administration and the cost of relief.

The three most rapidly increasing costs of government are roads, schools, and relief. The report of your special committee to study the road problem is on your desks. Two school study committee reports have been received by previous legislatures; a major portion of the recommendations contained in them have been enacted into law.

The cost of relief has been increasing more rapidly than any other expense of government. I have had the Social Welfare Commission gather figures showing the cost of relief for the last twenty years. In 1928 the counties were bearing the whole cost of relief. The cost of relief in 1928 amounted to two million, four hundred fifty-eight thousand, six hundred one dollars. In 1947 relief costs in Iowa amounted to thirty million, four hundred fifty-nine thousand, nine hundred seventy-two dollars, and if the amount paid out by way of unemployment compensation benefits is added, it amounts to thirty-two million, eight hundred seventy-four thousand, one hundred twelve dollars.

A couple of years ago I had a population trend study made and presented it to the last Legislature. Population trends are one of the most vital factors affecting the problems of government.

In the last generation the span of human life has been greatly increased. This study says, and I quote: "Persons sixty-five years of age and older increased from one hundred six thousand in 1900 to two hundred twenty-eight thousand in 1940. Estimates predict a continuation of this rapid increase until 1970 when the number of persons over sixty-five is expected to be approximately 50 per cent larger than in 1940."

Today Iowa is enjoying full employment and peak prosperity. Yet the Social Welfare Department is asking for an increase of ten million dollars to carry the relief load.

If the number of persons over sixty-five continues to increase as this study predicts, it is to be expected that a certain proportion of these persons will be added to the relief rolls.

If, in the next twenty years, we should suffer any major recession, based upon the present cost of relief, the load will be staggering.

The churches and charitable organizations were the first to enter such social welfare fields as education, hospital service and care of orphans as well as care for the aged. The state followed later. A need exists for public owned homes for the aged.

Many persons can be better cared for in community homes for the aged than they can care for themselves in their own homes. They will get better food, better housing, cleaner linens, better medical care, at a lesser cost.

The need for community housing for the aged is shown by the long waiting lists at homes for the aged and the rapid increase in private nursing homes.

The state and federal government is spending twenty-four million dollars a year for old age assistance in Iowa. A saving of 10 per cent a year would amount to two and one-half million a year.

Local homes for the aged could be financed from such savings. At present the federal law is a serious obstacle for caring for our aged in tax supported institutions. Many aged persons are anxious and able to pay for their care in such a home. Many children would welcome the opportunity to provide such a home for their aged parents.

In any event, this whole problem should be studied now before we are confronted with an emergency.

CONCLUSION

It has been an honor and a privilege to serve this great state as its chief executive during the last four years.

It has been a troubled era, marked by the ending of two great wars, and the problems and readjustments incident to a postwar period.

I express my heartfelt thanks to the host of friends both inside and outside the official family without whose advice and loyal help the achievements of this administration would have been more difficult or impossible of achievement.

As I lay down the duties and responsibilities of this office I look forward with keen anticipation to the opportunity of enjoying more frequently and more intimately the companionships of my many friends. This is a privilege which the burdens of the office have of late too frequently denied.

Relieved of official duties, it will be a real pleasure to serve my government, once again, in that most important of all positions—that of a private citizen.

So long as men shall strive to build a better society, a better state, a better nation, or a better world, there shall be honor and glory in all work well done.

Governor Blue was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

CANVASS OF VOTES

President Evans announced that the time had arrived for the canvass of votes cast for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the general election held on November 2, 1948, and announced as teller on the part of the Senate, Senator Berg of Black Hawk, and as assistant tellers, Senators Bekman of Wapello and Prentis of Ringgold.

Speaker Kuester announced as teller on the part of the House, Kosek of Linn, and as assistant tellers Armstrong of Black Hawk and Caffrey of Howard.

President Evans further announced that, in accordance with statute, tellers Senator Berg and Representative Kosek would constitute the judges of said canvass.

Speaker Kuester in the chair.

The Speaker then opened the returns in the presence of the joint convention, and the tellers proceeded to canvass the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the State of Iowa, cast at the general election held on November 2, 1948.

On motion by Weichman of Benton the joint convention recessed until 1:15 p.m., Thursday, January 13, 1949.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

The following invocation was delivered by the Reverend Raoul C. Calkins, Superintendent Des Moines District, Methodist Church:

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy holy name.

Our Heavenly Father, we pray not for the purpose of trying to change Thy mind but rather that we might sense Thy will for us, our state, our nation, our world, and seeing Thy will we might have faith and strength to do it.

We pray that this Thy servant who is being inaugurated as governor may continually be blessed with a true sense of that which is important; that as he strives to determine that which is the greatest good for the largest number he may be guided by Thee; that he may have deep satisfaction in governing with justice, honesty, courage and goodwill; that where there is confusion there may come to him clarity of thought; that in the midst of success he will be humble; that in times of discouragement he may have a sense of Thy presence and love.

We thank Thee for the freedom which is ours; may we cherish it wisely. We thank Thee for the democratic process of representative government, may we exercise these powers in a way pleasing to Thee. We thank Thee for officials who rise above littleness, meanness, deception and selfish interests; may their number increase. We thank Thee for citizens who make known their desires that our government encourage sobriety, honesty, and justice; may they encourage others by examples of clean living and fair dealings. We thank Thee for the great natural resources of our state; may they be properly conserved and used to meet human need. We thank Thee for our children and young people, may they be surrounded by the best influences of fine homes, schools, and churches. We thank Thee that our state is a part of the United States; may we take our proper place in the family of nations. We thank Thee for the Carpenter of Nazareth whose spirit would lead us in paths of righteousness, benevolence, goodwill, and peace.

We would give more than lip service to the words, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." Amen.

Vocal selections were offered by Jeanne Labadié-Crawford, soprano of the Algiers Opera House and Radio, France, with Lenore Mudge Stull as accompanist.

Lieutenant Governor Evans, President of the Senate presiding, presented Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following inaugural address:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, MR. CHIEF JUSTICE, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

In taking this solemn oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Iowa, I am profoundly impressed with the great responsibility reposed in me by the voters of this great state. I am happy to be a citizen of Iowa. I love her farm homes, her beautiful towns, her cities, and most of all her people.

One has to experience the weight of this obligation to feel the full impact of its significance. To me, it is the assumption of a very real responsibility. In accepting this great honor, I do so with humility and with a high resolve that my every effort shall be devoted to the public welfare. May God give me strength, wisdom and guidance in the performance of my duties as Governor of this great Commonwealth.

To you, the chosen representatives of the people, as members of the Fifty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa, I extend my most sincere congratulations. The electors of your respective counties and districts have honored you by selecting you to assemble here to consider, adopt, and declare the policies of the state in matters of public importance.

The right of the people to select you is a privilege enjoyed only in a free country and it is our duty, yours and mine, all of us, to demonstrate our appreciation of that freedom by devoting our every effort to the accomplishment of legislation which will contribute to the public welfare.

We are mindful of the issues that were discussed and under discussion by the voters last year. You, as the representatives of the people, have received a directive from the electorate on these issues, and you and I must devote our best efforts, to the end that the will of the people will be accomplished in the public interest.

You and I are the servants of the people—let no one assume otherwise. You are met to interpret the people's will and to shape it into law. It is my duty to suggest, not to direct. We should be firm in the determination to place the governmental affairs of Iowa on a sound, progressive and economical basis.

We must take time to pause and reflect upon where we are in our growth and development as a people and a state. We have been blessed by a vigorous soil, fertile and productive. We have utilized and maintained it well. We, however, must not think of our past accomplishments, but what is best for the future. We must think also of the resources of our people with an intelligent firmness and a strong belief in the democratic process, and a desire for all segments of our social, economic, and political society to grow and prosper together.

We find that seldom in our history has such a large percentage of our people interested themselves in the problems of state government. This is most desirable, for when we have people interested in government and the problems of our society, we have the firmest foundation of democratic principles established.

There are so many issues of great importance to the people of this state that I have found it very difficult to determine what matters to consider in the time permitted here. Many subjects to which I shall not refer require and should have serious consideration.

I will, from time to time, as this Session of the General Assembly progresses, respectfully submit to you such suggestions as I may have with respect to such matters for your consideration.

We must counsel together and cooperate with each other, to the end that we may bring to the people of the State of Iowa such a program of accomplishment as will be directly in the public interest.

TAXATION

The subject of taxation is always of paramount interest, and in line with my campaign policies, I recommend that there should be a thorough study of our entire taxing system aimed at bringing about the basic principles of equality commensurate with ability to pay. This study should cover major phases of our taxes, that is, property, corporation, income and sales.

I also recommend that this tax study should have high priority in your activities. In line with this type of basic thinking, and conforming to the wishes of the people of Iowa, I ask the removal of sales tax on food. Iowa is the greatest food producing state in the Union and Iowa levies an excise tax on foods. The most forward states do not levy such a tax; others have abolished it. I make this suggestion after careful study of fiscal policies and feel that it will not jeopardize our financial position.

In your consideration of the budget and making the appropriations it would be my suggestion that you should first establish in the general fund of the state a fund to be known as "TAX STABILIZING RESERVE" for the purpose of supporting the cost of government in lean years.

This reserve should be sufficiently adequate to maintain our financial stability through economic cycles during periods when the current revenue is insufficient to meet the necessary cost of maintaining and operating the state government. Safeguards should be set up so that this reserve will be available for use when the current revenue is less than the cost of state government. Such a reserve would be a guarantee against the necessity of the levying of a property tax when people are less able to pay. It would also guarantee and protect a sound operation of our institutions and needed services for the people of the state in the lean years.

SOLDIERS' BONUS

The people of Iowa have overwhelmingly approved the Soldiers' Bonus and the issuance of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds. In doing this they have, in a small way, shown their appreciation of the sacrifices made by our veterans in the preservation of this democracy. No payment, however large, could ever pay our debt of gratitude for sacrifices made by these fighting men and women—either to them or their families.

Our World War II veterans have demonstrated their willingness to assume responsibility, and they will be the leaders of tomorrow.

It is our duty to them and to all the people of Iowa to make every effort to retire the Soldiers' Bonus Bonds promptly. It would be a mistake to finance too much of this obligation out of current surplus. However, after a substantial Tax Stabilizing Reserve has been set aside and all allocations from the General Fund have been carefully determined, I recommend that such amounts as are not necessary to guarantee the sound financial position of the state be applied to the retirement of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds. Additional funds for the retirement of these bonds might also be made available from unallocated current revenues.

Prompt retirement of such a debt is not only good business practice, but will result in substantial savings in interest.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

There is much that we can do to give the people of Iowa MORE for their tax dollars.

We are committed to a businesslike, efficient administration. In our efforts to assure proper performance of all the necessary functions of state government, we must, therefore, be constantly on guard against the ever-present danger of overlapping and duplication of services.

We should eliminate all unnecessary bureaus and commissions. Wherever practical, offices and departments engaged in related functions should be consolidated.

We must make a continuous effort to effect every possible economy in the business administration and fiscal policy of our state government.

This will not be easy. It will require constant vigilance by our Legislative committees, efficient management by the heads of all departments and commissions, and the sincere effort of every state employee.

From time to time I will make suggestions for your consideration having as their purpose the achievement of efficiency and sound economies.

ROADS

I believe we are all agreed on the need for an accelerated road construction program in Iowa. The people of our state are demanding immediate action. We have critical problems in our primary road system, in our secondary road system and in streets of cities and towns. The state has a responsibility in both its primary and secondary system. Neither one should be favored at the expense of the other.

In order to handle the increasing load of traffic and to meet the needs of today, we must find the means for providing additional funds for the construction and maintenance of our primary and secondary road systems.

We should be most concerned about our farm-to-market roads. These are the roads which bring town and country together. They are the roads over which the millions of tons of agricultural products are brought to market. They are the arteries through which flows the very life blood of our state economy.

The Fifty-second General Assembly laid the plans for an all-weather secondary road system which will eventually cover 34,000 miles. But the time for merely planning is long past. It is our job to begin converting that plan into actual roads.

The Highway Investigation Committee's report is available for your study. In considering this report, I hope that you will recognize the need for a continuing farm-to-market road program and take the necessary steps to make sure that an adequate percentage of our road funds are definitely ear-marked for secondary roads.

Our primary road system deserves equal attention. Some of our heavily traveled highways must be resurfaced or widened, some new roads are needed and in a few instances primary roads should be relocated. Here again, the increased cost of maintenance and improvements will require your careful study.

If we see to it that necessary funds are provided—if we concentrate on getting the maximum mileage from every dollar expended—and if secondary road funds are allocated on a fair and equitable basis we can meet the demands of our people for an integrated all-weather road system that will serve the entire state.

EDUCATION

One of the very important problems facing us is that of adequate education for our youth. To meet the challenge of this modern world we must have an educated citizenry.

Iowa has been coasting too long on its reputation for literacy. The mere ability to read and write will not take care of us in this Technical Age. When our very lives may depend upon our mastery of science and technical skills, there should be no question about our support of education. And the state has a definite and inescapable responsibility in this matter.

The Fifty-first and Fifty-second General Assemblies committed the State of Iowa to the principle of state support to education. And this principle was again approved by the electorate last year. It is the will of the people.

I recommend state aid in an amount equal to one-fourth of the total costs of education, to be allocated on a replacement and equalization basis. This means enough state aid to give definite relief to the property taxpayer. This program should be made permanent so that indirect taxes will be made available to the degree that all uncertainty regarding adequate school support will be removed.

In allocating the funds made available by this General Assembly for the purpose of state aid to schools, the funds should be so distributed for general aid, equalization, transportation, the agricultural land tax credit and aid to handicapped children, on a basis that is fair and equitable to all types of school districts in the state.

And finally, we must take definite steps to make the teaching profession more attractive in Iowa. Its contribution to the lives of our future citizens emphasizes the enduring importance of this profession in our cultural, social and economic development.

CONSERVATION AND FLOOD CONTROL

Iowa is at the heart of the greatest agricultural nation in the world. Our agriculture produces one-tenth of all the foodstuffs produced in the 48 states of the union. This tremendous production of new wealth has a great effect on the economy of the state and the nation. This economic force is a result of the skill and technical ability of the farmers which finally can function only because of the state's blessing of its greatest resources—soil and water.

These resources must receive special consideration if they are to be conserved for posterity and if the cultural and economic heritage of the state is to endure. We must promote a broad flood control program that will keep the streams clear, the rain where it falls, and the top soil where it belongs.

Our water resources have suffered seriously from lack of sound policies and understanding management. The underground water table has fallen in some sections of the state to a point where it approaches a state disaster. Flood control is a primary objective. Cut over timber lands have remained idle without replanting. Pollution, soil erosion, and health are closely related to our social and economic future. Recreation, fish and wildlife, industry, and hydroelectric power are contenders for priorities in the use of our water resources.

We cannot maintain pure streams to meet these needs unless legislation is enacted to prevent the dumping of sewage and other elements of pollution into our streams. In the future, in addition to providing pure water, the rivers of the state must provide a greater share of fishing and other recreational facilities. Such a program should be, insofar as is possible, integrated with sound soil conservation programs on adjoining lands if maximum values are to be obtained.

There are at present 92 soil conservation districts established in the state. This represents substantial progress and a great improvement in the attitude of the Iowa farmer toward sound soil conservation practices, but in many cases an over-all program may be jeopardized by the failure of a few to comply.

To correct this weakness, we should take steps to conserve for posterity, our greatest natural heritage, the soil of Iowa.

Since there is some duplication in the functions of the various conservation agencies, there should be a closer working relationship between these groups. Iowa, with the nation's most completely farmed land surface, has been too slow in applying good land management practices designed to prevent further destruction of its rich soil. During the last year, the state has had a study committee which has surveyed the problem of flood control and has made a report to this Legislature. This report contains much of value. It has been a practice in Iowa for decades to constantly create new commissions, boards and departments without thought of the relationship of many problems.

In considering the problem of flood control, soil conservation and conservation as regards wildlife, fish, game and natural resources, we find that they are related problems. For instance: With the application of sound land practices in soil conservation, by nailing the rain drop where it falls and by making the water walk instead of run, we immediately reduce flood control problems. We must, therefore, come to the conclusion that all conservation services should be coordinated if we are going to find a solution to our problem. In doing this, we should create a Council of Natural Resources, staffed with competent technical help.

This Natural Resources Council would not be saddled with administrative duties, nor would it, as a Natural Resources Council, be susceptible to the pressure of politics. Rather it would operate to give Iowa the full benefit of technical recommendations concerning the scientific approach, the coordinated approach, to the entire field of conservation.

Such a council would include a geologist for mineral resources, a biologist for animal life, a hydrographer for water resources, an agronomist, a botanist, and an economist. All data relative to our resources already in the hands of the several agencies should be made available to this council. Additional facts needed for competent judging would be gathered by the administrative agency most closely associated with the specific program.

Findings of this council would be made available for the guidance of the executive and legislative branches, executive agencies in the conservation field, and to the general public.

I consider such a council, unencumbered by private or political pressures, as a primary and basic step if we are to solve completely our growing conservation problems.

LABOR AND CONCILIATION

We have great industries within our state and we look forward to further industrial development. If that is to be attained, it is absolutely necessary that we have a harmonious relationship between labor and management. The problems of labor and management quite properly are a field of human relationship in which we must make progress. We must recognize the fact that we have within the borders of Iowa workers who are not excelled by the citizenry of any state or nation in the world and that also, fortunately, our industrial leaders are of the highest type. The State of Iowa should foster a program which makes for gain and advancement in the field of labor-management relationship. We recognize the principle of collective bargaining. We insist that both labor and management assume their responsibilities as well as assert their rights. We must always be mindful of the public interest in this relation. It follows, then, that both labor and management must be able to bargain as equals. This Legislature should enact legislation to make this possible and to the end that this may be attained, I seriously recommend that the proper committees of the House and Senate consult with leaders in labor, in industry and outstanding forward looking citizens of the state for suggestions as to a program which will bring about such results.

Iowa must approach all its problems in a manner of rationality. Rationality based upon education. I feel that there is a lag between the thinking of management and labor to meet the problems of group relationships. I propose that we set up a pilot program under the Board of Education to continuously train management and labor, if we are to maintain the vigor of our Iowa industrial society and to study the problems of human engineering.

I believe that efficiency can be achieved and services be improved if a consolidation of the Labor Department, Industrial Commission, and Mine Inspection Departments be effected in a Department of Labor and Industry under a director with such assistants as may be necessary.

To improve relationship between labor and management and to promote industrial peace and progress for workers and industry alike I propose that the state establish a conciliation or mediation service under the direction of this department of labor and industry. The development of a state conciliation service can do much to bring about industrial peace and eliminate disagreement and misunderstanding in labor-management relationship. I propose that this service be of the simplest type, not a large trained full time staff, but that the director may designate outstanding citizens in any community in the state and from all walks of life as conciliators; men who are dedicated to service and the cause of industrial peace.

HUMAN NEEDS

Recognition of the human needs of our state is of utmost importance to all our citizens. In the last eight years, the State of Iowa has increased appropriations for maintenance and support of Board of Control institutions more than 250 per cent.

Still, we have not made the progress that is desirable. This clearly demonstrates that mere appropriation of money in itself is not the answer. We must improve the conditions in the Board of Control institutions by getting better methods of administration and advanced practices. Approximately 40 patients per month are being committed to our mental institutions who are neither senile nor violently insane. In the name of humanitarianism, a method should be worked out which will restore these mentally ill before they reach the stage of commitment to our institutions.

The programs of old age assistance and aid to dependent children should be reviewed and they should be adequately provided for to meet the problems caused by changes in economic and social conditions. This subject will be given further attention in my budget message.

BUDGET

Because of the great importance of budget matters and the financial affairs of the state, I intend in the presentation of the budget estimate and the report of the financial condition of the state to make a more specific analysis of financial and budgetary items and will discuss them at greater length with you. My budget recommendations are in the hands of the printer and will within a few days be delivered to each of you.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, may I again say that of necessity it has been impossible for me to discuss many subjects which will require your attention and receive your serious consideration. Some of these I will discuss with you from time to time.

It shall be my purpose, as the governor of this state, to work with you. I want to be on your team and that of all of my colleagues in office. I shall cooperate with you, seek your counsel, and be readily accessible at all times to discuss with you the problems of the people which are your problems and mine. May our deliberations be seasoned with faith and foresight to the end that they may result in the formulation and enactment of legislation which mark our labors with accomplishment.

It is a great responsibility we are impelled to shoulder, but with the obligation comes the opportunity to do great work for the common good.

May our God and Father give us wisdom and guide us in the performance of our responsibilities.

Schubert's "Ave Maria" was sung by the Three Lind Brothers.

Governor William S. Beardsley was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Kruse of Floyd moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Weichman of Benton moved that the House adjourn until 2:00 p.m., Tuesday, January 18, 1949, in accordance with Senate Concurrent Resolution 4.

REPORT OF CONTEST COMMITTEE ON SMITH VS. SMITH

Strawman of Jones submitted the following report of contest committee:

January 19, 1949.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, to whom was referred the matter of the election contest between Roy J. Smith, contestant, and Merwin Smith, incumbent, for representative from Dickinson county, respectfully submits the following report:

The committee held a hearing January 18, 1949, at which were present both contestants and their attorneys, the county auditor from Dickinson county, and one of the judges of the election. The issue resolved itself to the question of whether five absent voters' ballots should have been counted. None of the envelopes containing these ballots had been opened.

After due consideration, the committee decided that all of these five ballots should be counted and thereafter opened up the envelopes containing those ballots. An inspection of the ballots disclosed that all five were for Roy J. Smith for state representative of Dickinson county, which gave him a total vote of 2,128, as compared with 2,126 for Merwin Smith.

The committee requests that the report of the committee be adopted by the House and that Roy J. Smith, as having received a majority of all votes cast, be declared the duly elected representative of Dickinson county.

C. M. STRAWMAN, Chairman.

HENRY H. STEVENS.

TED SLOANE.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HOUSE IMPROVEMENTS

Olson of Mitchell submitted the following report:

Your committee, appointed by the Fifty-second General Assembly to investigate and arrange for certain improvements in the House chamber such as were authorized by the general assembly in special appropriations made for such purposes, begs leave to submit the following report:

1. The installation of the loud speaker system, as previously authorized, and contracted for. The committee served only in an advisory capacity in connection with the final installation of this equipment.

2. In view of the installation above referred to and the necessity for removing all of the desks and decarpeting the House chamber, as well as opening up the floor at various points to make the installation, it was deemed best that new carpeting be purchased for the House chamber in order to save the tremendous expense of removing the desks and disconnecting all the electric connections at some future date. The committee recommended that new carpeting be laid which was authorized by the retrenchment and reform committee and the executive council.

3. The committee also gave considerable attention to improving the lighting system in the House chamber. The present installation is only a temporary one and has greatly improved the lighting on the desks of the members of the House. Further improvement can and should be made on a permanent basis. Specifications for such improvement have been prepared by the custodian in consultation with a lighting engineer and it is respectfully recommended that definite authorization and direction be given to the installation of such lighting system as will give to the members of the House a sufficient candle power for each desk and bring it up to the requisite standard.

4. The committee was also charged with the setting up of some program for improving the ventilation of the House chamber and controlling the light glare coming through the windows. An architect was employed who submitted a program in detail for the reconstruction of the windows in the House chamber without in any manner affecting the architectural design. The committee gave serious consideration to his recommendations and after their approval they were submitted to the committee on retrenchment and reform. When estimate of the cost of such improvement was made the committee felt that action thereon should be deferred until specific approval is had from this general assembly. This committee approves the design and the program of improvement recommended and urgently recommends affirmative action on the part of this general assembly to the end that this may be corrected.

5. The committee further recommends the suggestion made by our Chief Clerk that a wire recorder be purchased for the purpose of recording speeches and statements as may be authorized from time to time. The cost is inconsequential and would be a most valuable addition to our equipment.

6. Your committee further reports that it approved the installation of the venetian blinds in room number one, the Speaker's room and other rooms in the rear of the House chamber. This was done upon the recommendation of the custodian who informed the committee that new shades would have to be purchased in any event and that they most always proved unsatisfactory and short lived.

7. Your committee further recommends that serious consideration be given to improving the acoustics in committee room number one.

8. Your committee also desires to call attention to the installation of modern lighting system in the various offices north of the House chamber as well as in the corridors where stenographic work is being done. The old lighting system, while presumably decorative, proves highly inefficient.

Respectfully submitted,
 OLSON of Mitchell.
 POSTON of Wayne.
 REED of Jefferson.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law, and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President of the Senate Evans presiding.

Senator Sharp of Clayton moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify Governor Beardsley that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed, and President Evans appointed as such committee Siefkas of Clarke and Clark of Appanoose on the part of the House, and Sharp of Clayton on the part of the Senate.

The committee waited upon Governor Beardsley and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following budget address:

We are met today to discuss the financial affairs and fiscal policies of the state. As suggested in my message last week, the budget recommendations would be delivered to each of you, and they are now in your hands. In considering these recommendations, we have a real responsibility and important function to perform. We must provide for the necessary functions of government and programs of vital importance to the people of Iowa.

In approaching the problem of making appropriations for financing the government of Iowa, we must ever be conscious of the fact that we are now operating the state and all of its programs, almost entirely free from special taxes.

We must take into consideration the fact that the support and maintenance of local government is primarily dependent upon property taxes.

To guarantee our financial position and to avoid the likelihood of returning to a property tax for the purpose of state government, we should immediately set up a tax stabilizing reserve as outlined in my inaugural address.

Current revenues are now at the highest peak in the history of this state. We cannot make appropriations on the assumption that these revenues will always continue at this same level. We should all be realistic, and not establish a cost of government which could prove burdensome in future years.

With that in mind, it is my judgment that all appropriations for the support and maintenance of government should be based on current income of the state. We must follow sound business practices; live within our means, and not dissipate our capital so that it will be unavailable when it is most needed and revenues are inadequate.

No one can foretell what economic conditions will be ten years from now. There are definite indications in commodity price levels, rate of employment and business statistics today which indicate that the inflationary trend may be over. Time and time alone will tell where prices and income will level off.

A balanced budget based conservatively on probable income is a guarantee to the people of Iowa that their state is being operated on a sound financial basis.

We will be justified in using surplus funds only for establishing a Tax Stabilizing Reserve, financing the soldiers' bonus in part, and for capital improvements which are non-recurring in cost.

The Treasurer of State and State Comptroller have estimated that the unencumbered balance in the State General Fund as of June 30th this year will be in the amount of ninety-seven million, fifty-two thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars and forty-five cents. This estimate is based on the actual collections of the first six months of this fiscal year and the estimate of receipts for the last six months.

Of this amount, I recommend that 40 million dollars be immediately set aside as a Tax Stabilizing Reserve, to be expended only at such time and upon such authority as you shall determine, for the purpose of maintaining our financial stability through economic cycles during periods when the current revenue is insufficient to meet the necessary costs of operating the state government.

I recommend that 36 million, 125 thousand dollars of this surplus be used for the purchase, by the State, of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds to be issued at par without interest. I further recommend that the balance of the funds for the financing of the Soldiers' Bonus be secured through the issuance of another 36 million, 125 thousand dollars' worth of bonds with interest, to be sold to the highest bidder.

This will secure for this purpose 72 million, 250 thousand dollars of the authorized 85 million dollar bond issue. This leaves 12 million, 750 thousand dollars of bonds to be issued in such lots and at such times as and if the funds are needed.

By this method, we will be obligated to pay interest on 36 million, 125 thousand dollars worth of bonds only. If no further bonds are issued, it means the difference between interest on 85 million and 36 million, and a saving in principal and interest requirements of over three million dollars the first year and a proportionate amount each year thereafter.

After setting aside a Tax Stabilizing Reserve of 40 million dollars, and purchasing 36 million, 125 thousand dollars of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds, our total allocation from surplus would be 76 million, 125 thousand dollars. We will then have a surplus operating balance of approximately 21 million dollars in the General Fund to which I will again refer later in this address.

The Treasurer and Comptroller have estimated that the current revenue for each year of the current biennium will be one hundred million dollars.

In arriving at the recommendations for maintenance and support, the Comptroller and I have taken into the consideration the funds on which the departments and institutions are now operating. We have provided for the $300 per year "cost of living" increase for employees receiving three thousand dollars or less per year. We have reconciled these figures from allocations approved for the current quarter and with current payrolls. We have also taken into consideration funds which have been allocated to the departments and institutions by the Interim Committee of the Legislature during the past biennium. We have provided $50,000 per annum to cover the reduction of income from GI tuition as estimated by the Board of Education.

In view of the fact that the State Office Building Project was initiated by the Forty-ninth General Assembly in 1941, and has had the support of each succeeding administration and Legislature; and in view of the savings in rentals and the economies and efficiencies in the operation of departments of State Government which can be effected by bringing them into one central building, I recommend that this General Assembly provide the necessary funds to construct the State Office Building.

The present state office building committee has labored diligently and tirelessly, and in a few days will submit their report and current bids on this project to the General Assembly. I urge your most serious consideration of this report.

In conclusion, I would suggest, if it meets with your approval, that we dispose of appropriation matters before we take up the subject of tax revision. Let us first determine our needs, proceeding in an economical and businesslike matter. In doing this, we will be discharging our responsibilities to the people of the state.

There are several matters of policy which must be considered in these budget recommendations—policies which affect the future of the state.

The Comptroller and I will be glad to discuss these matters with your respective committees.

Financial and budget items are subjects of great importance and we are prepared to make them a first order of business in our work with you.

As a former member of both the House and Senate, I wish to assure you of my appreciation of the importance of your work and my desire to cooperate with you at all times.

Governor Beardsley was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 6

A Concurrent Resolution memorializing Congress to consider releasing certain areas of taxation that now are being taken by the federal government from the several states of the union.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

It is with reluctance that I rise to talk this morning. I want to assure you I am not trying to seek more recognition or publicity, but rather to try to repay you for that I have already received.

If I have been asked once in the last week I have been asked a hundred or more times how I did accomplish the yield. It is with this in mind that I have decided to tell some of the inside story. I wasn't joking when I said yesterday that I did not plan at this time to enter the contest next year.

The idea came to me about ten years ago that I would like to set a record. The fact that one of my friends in Keokuk set a world's record of 135 at that time started it, and it gained more push two years later when another Keokuk county man set a record of 156. From these men I learned what they did in the way of soil management, etc.

Then, as you know, from 1940-43 I was employed by the Pfister Hybrid Corn Company as sales supervisor of twelve counties in southern Iowa. This took me over every hill and dale and either on or by every farm in the area, and I observed their practices of farming. From a good friend of mine and Mr. Poston's in Wayne county I learned how he tried and failed to produce a high yield, and failed because of rate of planting. From a gentleman at Ackley, Iowa, Hardin county, who was interested in ten-acre yields and was working with Dr. Nelson of Iowa State College, I picked up some information on soil testing and the relationship of soil fertility to potential high yield. From studying the practice followed by Jess Boatman, from Poweshiek county, who won the contest in 1941, I picked up some more information. While in the employ of the seed company I was permitted to visit and study their experimental plots. Here I was able to pick up more information in regard to the rate of planting. If you plant too thin, you haven't a mathematical chance, and if you plant too thick, you sometimes run out of moisture or plant food.

While in a commission company office in the stockyards in Chicago, I met the Corn King of Illinois and picked up more information; and also from the Indiana winner.

When I took over the active management of my father's farm in 1943, I began to put into effect some of the good soil practices I had seen and learned about. First, I began to contour, not because I liked to, but because of the results I had seen elsewhere.

(In 1942 in Wayne county, west of Corydon, I saw a contoured field produce over twice as many bushels per acre as others in non-contoured fields.) The soil conservation service developed a farm plan for me which called for breaking up some old pasture and seeding down some hills and building a drainage ditch. In 1944 my yield was 104; 1945, 120; 1946, 155; 1947, 101; 1948, 224.

The 1948 field was located down at the lower end of a 1,200-acre water shed and had not had a crop of corn since 1892. The year the tract was added to the farm, in 1947, I followed the suggestion of the soil conservation service and with some neighbors built a large drainage ditch close to the bluff and put up a dike to keep it there. I then filled in the old shallow meandering ditch with a bulldozer. This area over the last 25 years has filled in with approximately two feet of rich top soil from the surrounding 1,200 acres.

When I plowed the field about 10 or 12 inches deep, it was necessary to put two tractors on one plow and I can say I never saw as much humus and organic matter in any soil anywhere. Upon testing the soil I found out I had enough of all ingredients if I could make them available fast enough. Somebody might ask how did you know that. Iowa State College puts out a table telling how many pounds of various plant foods are used in producing a bushel of corn.

I knew what was in the soil, and the fertilizer used was treble 45 per cent phosphate to make it available.

There are some mathematics in the formula. At three feet six inches there are 3,556 hills with three kernels in a hill; the highest yield you should expect is slightly over 100. At 34 inches there are 3,930 and at three feet there are 4,830 (35 per cent). I planted the hills 28 inches apart in the row which added another 15 per cent, or a total of 50 per cent more hills per acre than normal. I had a stand of between three and four kernels per hill, and at harvest time on several spot checks five ears weighed a total of six and one-half pounds.

The formula:

1. An extra good piece of land.
2. A fertilizer to fit your soil need.
3. Preparation of a good seed bed.
4. Close planting and proper rate (not five or six).
5. A good reliable seed corn planted between the 25th and 28th of May. Medium maturity and not planted early. The early corn is more likely to run into bad weather conditions.
6. Rainfall in sufficient amount at the critical periods (laying by and tasseling and shoots).

As a hobby I pieced this information together out of my experience. Now here is the record for you to shoot at. Luck to you all.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the report of the joint legislative advisory committee on the proposed state office building.

W. J. SCARBOROUGH, Secretary.

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON PROPOSED STATE OFFICE BUILDING

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE:

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate File 25, Acts of the Fifty-third General Assembly, the legislative advisory committee on proposed state office building begs leave to report as follows:

The committee was organized on May 12, 1947, as provided for in chapter 307, Acts of the Fifty-second General Assembly. Membership consisted of Senators Hart, Sharp and Mercer, Representatives Long, Hedin and Morrissey. Senator Hart was elected chairman, Representative Hedin, vice chairman, and Representative Morrissey, secretary of the committee.

Immediately thereafter, this legislative advisory office building committee met in joint session with the state executive council as were all subsequent meetings. Plans and specifications so far developed for the proposed state office building were discussed at this time and arrangements made for a later meeting in consultation with architects. The second meeting was held on June 18, 1947, at which time Mr. Burdette Higgins of Tinsley, Higgins and Lighter, architect-in-chief, was present and whose architectural services had been previously contracted for on July 8, 1941. After a review of proposed office building plans and the requirements therefor, the architect-in-chief was authorized to revise the plans to add one more story in order to provide the needed accommodations. Other meetings were held on August 26, 1947, and November 18, 1947, when further consideration was given to revision of plans, namely: proposed cafeteria, types of floor system (Robertson or clay tile), fluorescent instead of incandescent lighting, and general discussion of the project. Also careful study was made of the progress of plans preparatory to the advertising for bids on the general contracts.

On March 23, 1948, a meeting was had and final approval was given the up-to-date revised plans for the general contracts, and the secretary of the executive council was authorized to advertise for bids returnable to him for public letting at 10 a. m., May 25, 1948. The date of May 25, 1948, having arrived, the committee in joint session with executive council received the bids on the following branches of the work:

1. General Contract
2. Heating and Plumbing Contract
3. Air Conditioning Contract
4. Electric Wiring Contract
5. Floor and Wall Covering Contract
6. Elevator Contract.

The results of the bidding indicated that in the aggregate they totaled more than the amount of funds presently available. The question was raised as to whether or not the committee could legally award contracts for other than a completed building. An attorney general's opinion was requested. On June 15, 1948, the attorney general ruled that it was the intent of previous legislatures that a completed building be planned, and in view of the fact that total bids for a completed building were in excess of funds appropriated previously, the committee could not legally award contracts.

On June 22, 1948, the joint committee met, and in view of the attorney general's ruling and upon his recommendation, entered into an extension contract agreement with all low bidders to hold open their bids until February 15, 1949, for acceptance or rejection under the same conditions and specifications as set forth in the original notice to bidders instead of the customary thirty days. Agreements were executed with all low bidders except electric wiring and floor and wall covering contractors who declined to do so.

On December 14, 1948, the committee met and authorization was given to re-advertise for bids on electric wiring and floor and wall covering contracts returnable January 18, 1949, at 10 a. m. On this date bids were opened and examined and following is a tabulation of all low bids pending on all branches of the work adjusted to incorporate the Robertson floor system, and conforming to approved specifications and which bids must be accepted or rejected by February 15, 1949:

1. General Contract	$2,789,526.00
2. Heating and Plumbing Contract.....	268,962.00
3. Air Conditioning Contract.....	469,590.00
4. Electric Wiring Contract.....	474,778.00
5. Floor and Wall Covering Contract.....	90,250.00
6. Elevator Contract	180,928.00

Total Construction Contracts$4,274,034.00

Because the requirements of the various departments of state to be housed in the proposed office building have not been finally determined, and the additional space provided by the extra story has not been entirely assigned (approximately 16,000 square feet remain unallocated) it was decided bids on the interior movable partitions would not be taken until after general contracts were awarded. Bids on the office furnishing and equipment have also not been taken.

Summarizing, the total low bids plus estimates for completing and furnishing the building and including architects' fees for planning and supervision of construction total approximately $5,000,000.00. There remains an expendable $2,500,000.00 from previous appropriations. There will be required an additional appropriation of $2,500,000.00 if the state office building comes into being.

Respectfully submitted,

Legislative Advisory Committee,

PHILIP T. HEDIN, Vice Chairman.

EDWARD J. MORRISSEY, Secretary.

SENATOR LEROY S. MERCER.

SENATOR FERN E. SHARP.

REPRESENTATIVE HARVEY J. LONG.

Passed on file.

BIRTHDAY CONGRATULATIONS

Brookings of Pottawattamie arose under the question of personal privilege and offered the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE:

As you know, I am a newcomer to this assembly and as I sit here each day attempting to digest the events of the day I view the proceedings with feelings of mixed emotions.

The custom of personal privilege has appealed to me, especially that of introducing the groups of young people who come here from our schools from time to time to observe our deliberations. That's very fine! The introduction of important and well known individuals is good if not carried to extremes, and this could easily happen.

But we have with us today a man whom I think we should especially recognize on this important day in his life. And I do this with reservations for I know that this little ceremony could also become monotonous if carried to extremes. In this case, however, I feel sure you will all be for it. As you know, this is the birthday of our gracious and beloved friend and Speaker of the House, Gus Kuester, and before we adjourn I propose that we rise and sing, "Happy Birthday, Dear Gus."

Speaker pro tem Kruse in the chair.

Speaker pro tem Kruse appointed Brookings of Pottawattamie, Schwengel of Scott, Armstrong of Black Hawk, and Putney of Tama as a committee to escort the Speaker and Shepard of Lucas to the well of the House, and the House offered them birthday congratulations.

Speaker Kuester in the chair.

REPORT OF CONTEST COMMITTEE

Naughton vs. Munger

Hicklin of Louisa submitted the following report of contest committee:

After being duly organized, the committee recessed until January 20, 1949, at 2 p.m. The committee met in pursuance to recess in Room 1, House of Representatives, Des Moines, Iowa, and there appeared before the committee, the incumbent, Robert P. Munger, represented by Sam Crary, his counsel; the contestant, James R. Naughton, in person and represented by McCormick and O'Brien, his counsel. That in answer to subpoena, Mr. Thompson, county auditor of Woodbury county, appeared with the ballots representing the ballots in four voting precincts in Woodbury county, being precincts number 12, number 15, number 17A, and number 18.

The contest was instituted by the contestant, James R. Naughton, against Robert P. Munger, Republican incumbent, upon the statement of contest which is attached hereto and made a part of this report, marked Exhibit "A."

Upon convening pursuant to recess, the ballots heretofore referred to, being in four metal containers, locked with padlock and in the possession and custody of the county auditor, were presented to the committee. That said ballots were removed from the containers and were counted, each precinct being counted separately.

From the recount of the ballots for precinct number 12, it appeared that Naughton received 430 votes, Munger received 230 votes of 753 votes cast. It was further revealed that there were 753 voters participating in said election as shown by poll books. That on the count for precinct number 15, the final recount on said precinct shows Naughton received 725 votes, Munger received 338 votes from 1,096 votes cast. It was also revealed in precinct number 15, that there were 1,093 voters who participated in this election as shown by the registration in the poll book, making an excess of three more votes than there were voters.

The ballots in precinct number 17A were recounted and a result showed on recount that Naughton received 328 votes, that Munger received 1,062 votes from a total of 1,444 votes and it was shown that in said precinct there were 1,448 registered persons voting as shown by the registration in the poll books. That on the recount of precinct number 18, it was shown that Naughton received 475 votes, Munger received 367 votes, from a total of 901 votes and that there were 901 persons who voted as shown by the registration in the poll books.

After hearing the evidence and arguments of the counsel in this case, the question was submitted to the contest committee.

The majority of the committee, upon completion of the hearing, are of the opinion that by reason of the fact that there are more votes in precinct number 15 than eligible voters, that that fact constitutes prima facie evidence of misconduct, fraud, or corruption on the part of the judges or election officials of said election precinct. Further, the majority of the committee find that no evidence has been introduced to refute such prima facie evidence and that the committee must be bound by the record in this case.

It further appeared to the committee in the recount of the ballots in precinct number 15 that certain of the ballots, at least three in number, were not certified by the judges of the election.

Section 29.82 of the 1946 Code provides that one of the judges of the election shall give the voter one ballot and only one, on the back of which a judge shall endorse his initials in such manner that they may be seen when the ballot is properly folded. No ballot without said official endorsement shall be deposited in the ballot box. The voter's name shall be immediately checked on the registry list.

The majority of the committee consider the fact that at least three of the ballots were deposited in the ballot box without the endorsement of the judge's initials constitutes misconduct on the part of the election judges.

Section 49.101 states that no ballot properly marked by the voter shall be rejected because of any error in stamping or writing the endorsement thereon by the officials charged with such duties. It is, therefore, the opinion of the majority of the committee that these votes which are uninitialed, therefore, be included in the total number of votes cast and that this only substantiates the evidence of misconduct, fraud, or corruption.

By the recount of the four precincts involved in this contest, it appeared that Naughton received a 190 vote majority over the incumbent, Munger, that if the precinct number 15 was disregarded and was not included in the final tabulation, then Munger would receive a total of 17,757 votes, that Naughton would receive 17,660 votes and that Munger would receive a majority of 97 votes.

As the matter before you concerns an error in relation to a state office, according to section 50.8 the duty of the election officials was prescribed, to wit, that it shall be certified with the number of the excess to the state canvassers. This does not appear to have been done and constitutes a violation of the statutory direction, amounting at least to misconduct within the foregoing statutory prescription. In that situation the legislature has prescribed the effect thereof by enactment of section 57.1, sub-section 1, and section 57.4, Code 1946. These sections provide as follows:

"Misconduct, fraud, or corruption on the part of judges of election in any precinct, or of any board of canvassers, or any member of either board, sufficient to change the result."

"When the misconduct, fraud, or corruption complained of is on the part of the judges of election in a precinct, it shall not be held sufficient to set aside the election, unless the rejection of the vote of that precinct would change the result as to that office."

The committee finds that the rejection of precinct number 15 would cause a change in the result as to the office of representative for Woodbury county, Iowa, and that the majority of the committee recommended that the votes of precinct number 15 be rejected and that the incumbent, Robert P. Munger, be declared to have received a majority of the votes for the office of state representative from Woodbury county, Iowa.

Attached hereto and made a part of this report is the opinion of Robert L. Larson, attorney general of Iowa.

This committee has considered all of the evidence and all of the precincts which were disputed by the contestant, James R. Naughton, that a complete inquiry has been made as to the said precincts and the above result was found.

We, therefore, recommend that Robert P. Munger be declared to be duly elected as a member of the House of Representatives from Woodbury county, Iowa, and that he retain his seat as such member and that the seating which took place on January 10, 1949, be confirmed.

Respectively submitted,

M. F. HICKLIN.

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Des Moines

January 24, 1949.

Honorable M. F. Hicklin
Chairman Contest Committee
House of Representatives

Dear Mr. Hicklin:

Reference is herein made to the situation existent in the Woodbury county contest now before your committee wherein it appears that the ballots for the office of State Representative in one precinct exceed by three the number of voters on the poll list, and you ask for an opinion of the legal effect of the foregoing situation.

I advise as follows:

The legislature has provided the procedure in such situation. Sections 50.6, 50.7 and 50.8, Code 1946, provide respectively as follows:

"If the ballots for any office exceed the number of the voters in the poll lists, such fact shall be certified, with the number of the excess, in the return.

"If, in case of such excess, the vote of the precinct where the error occurred would change the result as to a county office if the person appearing to be elected were deprived of so many votes, then the election shall be set aside as to him in that precinct, and a new election ordered therein; but no person residing in another precinct at the time of the general election shall be allowed to vote at such special election. If the error occurs in relation to a township office, the trustees may order a new election or not, in their discretion.

"If the error be in relation to a district or state office, it shall be certified with the number of the excess to the state canvassers. If the error affects the result of the election, the canvass shall be suspended and a new vote ordered in the precinct where the error occurred. When there is a tie vote due to such an excess, there shall be a new election. No person residing in another precinct at the time of the general election shall be allowed to vote at such special election. When the new vote is taken and returned, the canvass shall be completed."

As the matter before you concerns an error in relation to a state office, according to section 50.8 the duty of the election officials was prescribed, to wit, that it shall be certified with the number of the excess to the state canvassers. This does not appear to have been done and constitutes a violation of the statutory direction, amounting at least to misconduct within the foregoing statutory prescription. In that situation the legislature has prescribed the effect thereof by enactment of section 57.1, subsection 1, and section 57.4, Code 1946. These sections provide as follows:

"Misconduct, fraud, or corruption on the part of judges of election in any precinct, or of any board of canvassers, or any member of either board, sufficient to change the result.

"When the misconduct, fraud, or corruption complained of is on the part of the judges of election in a precinct, it shall not be held sufficient to set aside the election, unless the rejection of the vote of that precinct would change the result as to that office."

These two sections have had the consideration of the supreme court in the case of Brooks v. Fay, 206 Iowa 845, wherein the court said this:

"The fraud of misconduct of the judges of election in the particular precinct may have been sufficient to change the result of the election therein, but if the rejection of the vote of that precinct on that ground does not produce the opposite result in the county, the vote of the precinct will not be rejected, and the fraud of misconduct becomes immaterial. We are not dealing with the practical result of the application of the statute generally. The legislature had the right to declare that the vote of a given precinct may be rejected as to a certain office because of fraud or misconduct of the judges of election of such precinct. It also had the power to declare that the vote of such precinct as to a particular office shall be counted, notwithstanding the fraud or misconduct of the judges of election therein by the rejection of the vote, if such rejection would not change the result in the county.

"If the words 'sufficient to change the result,' as used in subdivision 1 of section 981, be construed as referring to the result in the county, then section 984 could be given no practical application. These statutes do not deal with the effect to be given to individual illegal votes that may be cast in different precincts in the county, but they have reference solely to the votes of a particular precinct in which one or more of the judges of election have been guilty of fraud or misconduct sufficient to change the final result of the vote of the candidates for a particular county office."

Resultantly, if the misconduct of the election officials in the situation presented is not sufficient to change the result of the election, the vote of the precinct will not be rejected, but if the vote of that precinct would change the result as to the office concerned, the vote of the precinct may be rejected, as provided by section 57.4.

Very truly yours,
ROBERT L. LARSON,
Attorney General of Iowa.

Exhibit "A"

STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO CONTEST ELECTION

The undersigned, James R. Naughton of Sioux City, Woodbury county, Iowa, a candidate for the office of State Representative in the general election held November 2, 1948, in Woodbury county, in accordance with the provisions of section 59.1 of the Code of Iowa, 1946, hereby gives notice of his intention to contest the election of Robert P. Munger, incumbent, to the office of State Representative at the said general election held in Woodbury county, Iowa, on November 2, 1948.

The said contestant, James R. Naughton, hereby states that according to the official canvass of votes by the Woodbury county board of supervisors, he is shown to have received a total of 17,935 votes for the office of State Representative from Woodbury county, while the said incumbent, Robert P. Munger, is shown to have received a total of 18,183 votes for said office, or a difference of 248 votes.

That for the causes below set out this contestant states that had the votes cast in said election in said county been properly counted, totaled and certified, the said contestant would have been shown to have received more votes in said county than the said Robert P. Munger, and that a recount of the votes cast will show that the said contestant did receive more votes than the said incumbent.

That the said contestant, James R. Naughton, is now and was at the time of the election referred to, qualified to hold the said office of State Representative from Woodbury county.

That the particular causes of contest are as follows:

1. That in precinct number 12 this contestant had been deprived of 100 votes, and the existence of this error appears upon the face of the official poll book of said precinct, the tally therein showing this contestant to have received 352 votes for this office, while the number of votes certified and counted by the board of supervisors for this contestant is 252.

2. That in precinct number 15, not all votes for the office of State Representative were counted, and that the existence of this error appears upon the face of the official poll books of that precinct.

3. In precinct number 17A due to an error in tabulation of total votes cast or in counting the votes cast, the incumbent, Robert P. Munger, received approximately 100 votes more than were actually cast for him for said office.

4. In precinct number 18 due to an error in tabulation of total votes cast, or in counting the votes cast, the incumbent, Robert P. Munger, received approximately 100 votes more than were actually cast for him.

That the said contestant, James R. Naughton, will for the causes stated contest the election of the said incumbent, Robert P. Munger, and ask that a recount of the votes cast for the office of State Representative in the November 2, 1948, general election held in Woodbury county, Iowa, be made.

Dated at Sioux City, Woodbury county, Iowa, this 7th day of December, A. D. 1948.

That on November 2, 1948, I served in the general election held in Sioux City, Woodbury county, Iowa, as counting judge in precinct 17A in said county; that as such, I participated in the counting of votes for the various candidates and I am familiar with the manner in which the votes were counted and totaled; that in the case of the votes cast for the four candidates for State Representative, it is my opinion that through error or errors in computing the total votes the candidate Robert P. Munger was mistakenly credited with one hundred votes for that office to which he was not legally entitled.

I, Russell Madden, of Sioux City, Woodbury county, Iowa, being first duly sworn, on oath depose and say:

That on November 2, 1948, I served in the general election held in Sioux City, Woodbury county, Iowa, as counting judge in precinct 15 in said county; that as such I participated in the counting of votes for the various candidates and I am familiar with the manner in which the votes were counted and totaled;

That the procedure used by the judges in counting votes for the various offices was as follows: For each office, a vote for one of the candidates was counted as one vote for that candidate; but in the event that a voter either spoiled his ballot or did not vote for any candidate for a particular office, his ballot was counted as a "no vote" for that office. Thus, for each office, the total number of votes for all candidates for that office plus the number of "no votes" for that office should, when totaled, equal the total number of voters. Since each voter could cast two votes for the offices of State Representative, the total number of votes for all candidates for that office, plus the number of "no votes" should equal twice the number of participating voters in the precinct.

It is my opinion that not all votes cast for the office of State Representative by voters in precinct 15 were counted, and that if all votes for the said office had been counted, James R. Naughton would have been shown to have received at least one hundred more votes than were credited to him.

Munger were candidates for the office of State Representative; that I commenced my duties at 1:00 p.m. on the day of said election; that I served with the other members of said official counting board; that about 5:00 a.m. on the morning following the election three members of the official counting board quit their work and went home, leaving me as the sole remaining member of the official counting board; that about 7:00 a.m. one of the judges of the election quit her work, went home and did not return; that at about 9:00 a.m. of the morning following said election, without completing the work of checking and accounting for the ballots and election papers that were being used, the ballots were put in two boxes and the election officers adjourned; that the matter of handling the ballot counting, the ballots and the conducting of the business of said election was very carelessly handled and conducted, and I remarked at the time that if it was necessary for any reason to have a recount of that precinct that there would be no way of determining the accuracy of the proceedings, or words to that effect.

Naughton, one of the candidates for said office of State Representative.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

The House resumed consideration of House File 80, a bill for an act to amend section three hundred twenty-one point two hundred eighty-one (321.281), Code 1946, to prohibit the operation of a motor boat while intoxicated.

Moore of Butler offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Strike everything after the enacting clause and insert the following:

“Section 1. Amend chapter one hundred six (106), Code 1946, by adding the following: ‘whoever, while in an intoxicated condition or under influence of narcotic drugs, operates a motor boat upon the public waters of this state, shall, upon conviction or a plea of guilty, be punished, for the first offense by a fine of not less than three hundred dollars nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail for a period of not to exceed one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; for the second offense by a fine of not less than five hundred dollars, nor more than one thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period of not to exceed one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment; and for a third offense by imprisonment in the penitentiary for a period not to exceed three years.

The court shall also in pronouncing sentence provide for the revocation of the pilot’s and/or engineer’s license of the defendant, if any, issued under this chapter, and the immediate surrender of the defendant’s liquor permit issued under chapter one hundred twenty-three (123), Code 1946. The clerk of court shall immediately certify to the state conservation commission and to the liquor control commission a true copy of the judgment sentencing the defendant under this section.

The court in pronouncing sentence may provide as to the period during which a pilot’s and/or engineer’s license as required by this chapter shall not be issued or reissued to the defendant, provided said period shall be not less than sixty days nor more than one year from the date of sentence or revocation. If the court does not so provide the state conservation commission may issue or reissue such license only upon application by the defendant after the expiration of a sixty day period following the date of sentencing.

The liquor control commission shall not issue the defendant a new liquor permit until such time as the court or judge of the court having original jurisdiction of the defendant for good cause shown shall so certify to the liquor control commission.’”

Amend the title so as to read “An Act providing for penalties to be imposed for the operation of a motor boat while intoxicated or while under the influence of narcotic drugs.”

Poston of Wayne offered the following amendment to the amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the amendment to House File 80, section one (1), line fifteen (15), after the word “offense”, and insert “and each offense thereafter”.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

The amendment as amended was adopted.

Moore of Butler moved that the bill be read a last time now and placed upon its passage which motion prevailed and the bill was read a last time.

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title agreed to.

On motion by Weichman of Benton, the House recessed until 4:00 p.m., today.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

In the matter of the legislative contest of James R. Naughton vs. Robert P. Munger.

MINORITY RECOMMENDATIONS OF CONTEST COMMITTEE Naughton vs. Munger

MR. SPEAKER: The following members of the committee, Mel M. Graham, and W. J. Johannes, appointed to conduct an election contest between James R. Naughton, contestant, and Robert P. Munger, incumbent, to the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of the state of Iowa, beg leave in this minority report to recommend that the said House of Representatives declare the said contestant, James R. Naughton, to be the legal and duly elected member of the Fifty-third General Assembly from Woodbury county.

It appears from the records in the contest, that upon counting the certified figures of the remaining precincts of Woodbury county together with the contested four precincts 12, 15, 17A and 18, that James R. Naughton received the sum of 18,285 votes and Robert P. Munger received 18,095.

The matter in our opinion resolves into two questions:

1. In precinct 15 there were 1,096 ballots in the ballot box and there were 1,093 names signed on the poll book. It was stipulated by the attorney for Mr. Munger and Mr. Naughton's attorney, that there were 1,096 ballots and there were three ballots which were not initialed. Mr. Crary, Mr. Munger's attorney, made a motion to have all ballots in precinct 15 thrown out of this contest for the reason that the number of names in the poll book and the number of ballots in the ballot box did not correspond. It is our position that when Mr. Munger's attorney made the motion to have precinct 15 deleted, Mr. Munger became the contestant for the purpose of that motion and it was his duty to show misconduct prejudicial to himself sufficient to change the result of the election and when he failed to show this there was no ground upon which this precinct could legally be deleted.

It might be stated here that in precinct 15, upon recount, Mr. Naughton received the sum of 625 votes, an increase of 158, and Mr. Munger received an additional 65 votes for a total of 338.

Members of the minority committee attach hereto affidavits marked Exhibit 1 and Exhibit 2 and by this reference said information is made a part of this report. (Said affidavits explain the variation between the number of signed names in the poll book and the number of ballots in the ballot box.)

There were 1,096 legal ballots and 1,096 legal voters in precinct 15, the only irregularity was the failure of the election officials to write the names of three absentee voters in the poll books. The names of these three persons are Henry L. Bergstrom, Pearl H. Lundeen and Hazel R. Younglove, as shown by Exhibits 1 and 2.

In the case of McDunn vs. Roundy (191 Iowa 976) the supreme court ruled that a statute should not be interpreted as mandatory where such interpretation served to disfranchise the voters of an election district. It states definitely, "mere irregularity in conducting an election does not vitiate such election and render the same a nullity unless some prejudice or injustice is shown to have resulted therefrom."

2. The other question arising in this contest is the question of whether the entire vote of precinct 17A should be deleted in this contest. There were presented to the committee, two affidavits which are hereto attached, marked Exhibit 3 and Exhibit 4, and by this reference hereby are made a part of this report. Said affidavits allege certain irregularities in precinct 17A. A motion was made by a member of this committee, but the majority of the committee refused to take depositions or hear witnesses in regard to the irregularity in precinct 17A. The members of the minority report are of the opinion that the contest committee should delve into all the facts of precincts involved in this contest. From the returns in precinct 17A, there were 1,448 voters and there were only 1,444 ballots and, according to section 49.86 of the 1946 Code, any voter who, after receiving an official ballot, decides not to vote, shall before retiring from within the guardrail, surrender to the election officers the official ballot which has been given him, and such fact shall be noted on each of the poll lists. A refusal to surrender such ballot shall subject the person so offending to immediate arrest and the penalties provided in this chapter.

Therefore, the members of the minority report take the position that none of the precincts in contest here should be deleted. That no such irregularity has been shown as to warrant any deletion from this contest and it is utterly unfair for this contest committee or this legislature to disfranchise 1,096 voters, the number of voters which has been corrected in Exhibits 1 and 2. However, if this House of Representatives should find that precinct 15 should be deleted, then this House of Representatives should find precinct 17A should also be deleted from this contest. The deletion of precincts 15 and 17A would give James R. Naughton 17,332 votes and Robert P. Munger 16,695 votes in Woodbury county or a plurality of 637 votes for Mr. Naughton.

In all fairness and decency it seems obvious that if this assembly finds the misconduct complained of should throw out the vote of precinct 15 then the vote of 15 and 17A, where the greater irregularity occurred, should both be thrown out and if this is done the contestant, James R. Naughton, still stands elected.

Upon what theory of justice and fairness can this assembly disfranchise 1,096 voters in one precinct and uphold the vote of another where exactly the same thing took place. This assembly is the sole judge of its own membership and there is no appeal from its finding. It is not bound by the technical rules of pleading, evidence or protest. Its one and only aim and purpose is to give expression to the true will of the people and electorate. The electorate of Woodbury county elected James R. Naughton as one of their two representatives.

We therefore recommend that James R. Naughton be declared to be the duly elected member of the House of Representatives from Woodbury county and that he take his seat as such member and that the oath of office be given him as required by the statutes of Iowa.

Respectfully submitted,

MEL M. GRAHAM,

W. J. JOHANNES,

Members of the Contest Committee.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE ATTORNEY GENERAL

The following communication was received from the attorney general:

January 20, 1949.

Mr. A. C. Gustafson, Chief Clerk
House of Representatives
Building

Dear Sir:

In conformance with Section 8 of House Concurrent Resolution 18 of the Forty-ninth General Assembly, I am herewith submitting to the House of Representatives the biennial report of the Iowa commission on interstate cooperation.

Very truly yours,

ROBERT L. LARSON, Chairman,
Commission on Interstate Cooperation.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

Members of the committee on interstate cooperation were appointed by the Speaker at the end of the Fifty-second General Assembly.

Various members have attended the regional conferences at Mackinac Island, Michigan, French Lick, Indiana, and the Ninth General Assembly of the states at Detroit, Michigan, December 2-4, 1948.

Better understanding of the purpose of the council of state governments will be had by the following material.

Exchange of ideas, uniform state laws and the gradual encroachment of federal government in the field of state government led to a meeting in 1894 of commissioners on uniform legislation with the formation of American Legislators' Association in 1925 followed later by governors' conferences and council of state governments. Compacts or commissions on interstate cooperation were first set up in 1935. An awakening consciousness on the part of the states that they have not measured up to their full responsibility in conduct of state government but have let it be assumed by the federal government is why we now have our council.

Governors' conferences, conferences of attorney generals and other state official groups, as well as meetings of representative groups of state legislators themselves, are all organized within the frame work of the council. Appropriations from state legislatures make possible the permanent set-up of the council of state governments for the research in federal-state problems and relationships, and the dissemination of such information.

A brief list of topics picked at random shows the range of the council's work:

Interstate airport compacts, model highway laws, building codes, safety responsibility, state security laws, mutual fire assistance enabling acts, studies of a state administrator for state court systems, health laws, city planning, state research councils for legislation are but a few samples.

We should rather direct your attention to the biennial report of the Iowa commission of interstate cooperation submitted in connection herewith and to the very excellent publication entitled "State Government" which is to be available to each legislator during the biennium.

We should, also, ask that our Fifty-third General Assembly appropriate a very moderate sum for the purpose of inviting the midwest regional conference of the council of state government to be held in our state sometime during the next biennium, and to set up the necessary committee early in the session to make such arrangements.

We believe that the work of the council is vital to a good state government working to assume its rightful place of cooperation with the federal government.

1313 East 60th Street

Chicago 37, Illinois

FOREWORD

By the terms of the legislative act establishing the commission, this state has joined with the other forty-seven states of the union in organizing and developing a council of state governments.

The council was established by the states for service to the states, and fulfills this function in the following ways:

1. As an information clearing house for the forty-eight states.
2. As a research center for all the states.
3. By promoting interstate cooperation, through conferences and exchange of information, in legislation and administration.
4. By assisting in the development and improvement of intrastate policies, procedures, and practices.
5. As a central liaison agency for the states in their relationships with the federal government.
6. By providing facilities and staff for the servicing of several national associations of state officials.
7. By publishing material to serve state officials and state government including the monthly journal, State Government; the biennial reference manual, The Book of The States; The Washington Legislative Bulletin; and reports embodying the results of studies concerning special subjects.

The commission on interstate cooperation is the Iowa agency charged by law with responsibility in forming a more perfect union among the various governments in the United States. This report of the commission to the Governor and the General Assembly attempts to indicate, in summary, the full extent of coverage of Iowa's activities to that end.

TEXT OF STATUTE ESTABLISHING THE COMMISSION
 SCOPE OF ACTIVITY

The primary function of the commission is to permit Iowa to participate with the forty-seven other states, now having like commissions, in the solution of problems not coming properly within the jurisdiction of the federal government but at the same time appearing too large or broad to be dealt with by individual state action. These problems may represent either controversial or non-controversial matters considered to be of mutual benefit in their adjustment or consummation. Interstate compacts contemplated by article 1, section 10, of the constitution of the United States, the adoption of uniform legislation within similarly situated states, and reciprocal legislative or administrative action or agreement, are some of the ends sought through the sponsorship of this commission in a nation-wide effort to "form a more perfect union" among the states. The commission is, by statute, designated as Iowa's participating unit in the council of state governments, a joint governmental agency of this state and other states which cooperate through it.

In addition to its interstate activities, the commission is charged with furthering cooperation between this state and the federal government and between this state and its subordinate units of government. It also serves as a medium of interchange and clearance of research and information within the field of intergovernmental cooperation.

The work of the Iowa commission and its cooperation with other states and with the council of state governments is described more fully in the following pages.

PARTICIPATION IN MANAGEMENT OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS

The council is governed by a board of managers consisting of forty-eight delegate members selected by the individual states; fifteen ex-officio members, and ten members-at-large. The ten members-at-large are provided in order to furnish continuity, and to retain valuable members who leave the governmental posts held at the time they became board members.

During the past few years, Iowa has held two memberships on the board of managers:

1. Former Attorney General John Rankin, by virtue of his being president of the national association of attorneys general.
2. Attorney General Robert L. Larson, chairman and delegate member.

Chairman Larson was elected as one of the vice presidents of the council of state governments at the 1948 annual meeting of the board of managers, held in Detroit, Michigan, on December 1.

FINANCIAL SUPPORT

The council of state governments is financed solely by state appropriations. All of the states are participating in its support. The pro rata share of the council's support assignable to Iowa is $7,500 per year.

The commission feels that the necessity for cooperative activities among all levels of government has become increasingly apparent during the past few years. It is also apparent that if the states are to maintain their rightful place in our form of government, then they should be adequately equipped, particularly from the standpoint of research and information as to what other states and the federal government are doing. For these reasons, it is felt that the maintenance of a commission on interstate cooperation and the continuation of its work with and through the council of state governments deserves whole-hearted support.

A continuing commission facilitates the development of a consistent approach to the problems which are constantly arising, and eliminates the necessity of creating a new legislative committee for each problem involving some type of cooperation.

MEETINGS IN COOPERATION WITH OTHER STATES

Recommendations for Action by the States

Since its purpose is to foster cooperation wherever needed in solving problems affecting two or more states, the Iowa commission has met with representatives of other states in regional and national meetings sponsored by the council of state governments. The importance of these meetings is indicated by a brief outline of the subjects discussed.

Eighth General Assembly of the States
January 16, 17, 18, 1947—Chicago, Illinois

This was the first biennial meeting of the general assembly to be held since 1943. Representatives of forty-four states were present and participated in numerous discussions from the floor. Subjects covered in the discussions included legislative procedures, administrative organization of state governments, financing of public services, aviation, veterans affairs, water resources and the economic outlook. Special features of unusual interest included addresses by the Honorable Robert P. Patterson, secretary of war, and the Honorable Warren R. Austin, United States representative to the United Nations.

Recommendations

Recommendations agreed to by the states at this conference included the following proposals:

1. That the states enact legislation providing that federal grants for the construction of airports be channeled through the states. (By the end of 1948 over half the states had enacted such legislation.)

2. That the states' legislatures strengthen their organization and procedures so that they will be equipped to meet their heavy responsibilities. (By the end of 1948 most of the states had adopted many of the recommendations on the subject which are set forth in detail in another section of this report.)

3. That the states seek the passage of federal legislation relating to ownership of state tidelands; the completion of temporary housing for veterans; prevention of foot-mouth disease; and the termination of emergency tax levies. (Favorable action has been taken on most of these proposals.)

1947 Midwestern Regional Conference
July 28, 29, 30, 1947—Mackinac Island, Michigan

Delegates from the commissions on interstate cooperation from the twelve midwestern states attending this meeting which was devoted to round-table discussions on such subjects as tax and fiscal policies, state-local relations, federal grants-in-aid, aid to education, and water resources. Representatives J. E. Hansen and Walter F. Noble of the commission participated in the program.

Recommendations

I. It was recommended that the states survey their educational needs. As a result of the action stimulated by this and other meetings, the council of state governments undertook a comprehensive study of education in the states (available early in 1949).

II. The Missouri river states were requested to develop a formal, cooperative, and continuing agency for the purpose of studying and developing cooperative plans for the control and regulation of their common water resources. (Progress is being made in this direction.)

III. In order to further the over-all organization and management of state government, the states were urged:

1. To acquire a unified annual or biennial budget encompassing all revenues and expenditures of government in order that the legislatures may have adequate information upon which to decide matters of policy with reference to the services rendered and supported by the states.

2. To consider the value of creating a legislative council or research service agency in order to aid legislators and state officials in carrying on their fact-finding and research work in preparing a legislative program.

Regional Conference on Federal-State Relations

March 19, 20, 1948—Chicago, Illinois

This meeting was called to develop ways and means of improving coordination in the operation of federal grant-in-aid programs. Two major over-all problems were discussed: (1) the general situation with respect to the administration of grant-in-aid programs; and (2) the details of finance and administration in the fields of public assistance, employment security, public health, highways and airports.

Attending the meeting were budget directors and representatives of state departments participating in federal grant-in-aid programs from the seven north-central states—Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Michigan, Minnesota, Ohio and Wisconsin—and representatives from the Washington and regional offices of the bureau of the budget and the federal departments concerned with public assistance, employment security, public health, highways and airports.

Recommendations

A summary of the viewpoints expressed and recommendations made by the conference follows:

I. Budgetary Control—Fiscal Coordination

First, it was the consensus that federal grant-in-aid funds coming into the states should be budgeted and that budget directors within the states should exercise proper budgetary control over fiscal operation, on the other.

Second, the major problem of bringing about better coordination between the functional and fiscal departments of the states is primarily one within the states themselves and not between the federal government and the states, although the federal agencies have indicated that they would do everything possible to cooperate in a plan satisfactory to all concerned.

II. Public Assistance

The consensus was the public assistance program should be extended to include federal grants for general relief in addition to the three categories now existing—old age assistance, aid to dependent children, and aid to the blind—or that the federal government should match state expenditures for relief across the board and not on a categorical basis.

III. Employment Security

The relationship between the federal and state governments here is not too satisfactory. Much of the controversy is due to the present complex method of handling fiscal matters. It was felt that there is need to provide a system better than the one now in effect; probably some variation of the 100 per cent offset plan.

IV. Public Health and Highways

It was the consensus that public health and highways are two federal grant-in-aid programs which are well-established and where a good relationship exists between the federal government and the states.

V. Airports

There was general dissatisfaction expressed regarding the existing federal airport program. The states' chief objection is that this program is not one patterned after the long-established relationship in other grant-in-aid programs between the federal government and the states. The policy as established under the federal airport act by-passes the states; it is not good administration; and it is a very dangerous governmental policy.

VI. Future Plan of Action

An attempt will be made to follow through on a plan which will be agreeable to both the federal government and the states, namely:

1. The council of state governments through its staff will work with representatives of the federal agencies and attempt to map out definite, concrete, and specific proposals to dovetail activities and bring about better coordination between the federal government and the states where cooperative programs are involved.
2. The council of state governments will take this program to the national association of state budget officers, and to the governors' conference, and after such consideration, the program will be discussed again with the federal agencies to iron out any problems that might have come up and to carry the proposals into effect.

1948 Midwestern Regional Conference
August 6, 7, 1948—French Lick, Indiana

Commissioners on interstate cooperation, legislative, and administrative officials from twelve midwestern states attended the midwestern regional conference at French Lick, Indiana, on August 6, 7, 1948.

Recommendations

I. In summary, the consensus of the session on tax and fiscal policy was that home rule should be extended to political subdivisions of the states; that tax resources susceptible to local use should be made available to the localities; that state grants should be used to supplement local revenue where resources were inadequate and for equalization purposes; and that local governments and their representatives should be urged to join with the states in this constructive program designed primarily to maintain local participation, local responsibility and local control. It was recognized that one answer to the problem might be to expand the tax base available to municipalities in lieu of larger and larger state grants.

II. The second session of the conference discussed subjects requiring legislation which were subsequently included in the report of the drafting committee of the council which is in another section of this report.

III. The conference then discussed the subject of education and the states. Within recent years most of the states have been reorganizing their educational activities and greatly expanding their facilities. A factual study of the organization, operation and financial aspects of education in all of the states is being made by the council of state governments and will be available to the governors and state legislators early in 1949.

IV. Thirteen years ago a national system of old age insurance was put into effect. Only the industrial workers of the country are covered. It was announced that the next Congress in all probability would expand this system to cover its employees and employees of local governments in the national system for old age and survivors' insurance—if the states so desire. It was emphasized that the congressional proposal of necessity would provide only for voluntary coverage and it was suggested that this question should be considered by the forthcoming legislatures. If the states wish to provide old age insurance for the employees within the national system of old age and survivors' insurance, then enabling legislation will be required.

V. The conference at its final session discussed at length the program and operation of the legislatures themselves. It was pointed out that great progress has been made over the years in organizing and reorganizing the executive, administrative and judicial branches of government to conform to changing conditions and changing governmental problems; but that in the main the legislatures, which in fact compose the boards of directors of our state governments—the largest businesses in the states—have not been equipped to handle present day problems. The legislatures need adequate tools, research and technical assistance. Committee systems in the legislatures need general revision. The compensation of individual legislators in most of the states is still geared to the economic system of a generation ago and the constitutional limitations relative to length of sessions and method of operation tend to hamper the legislatures in performing the duties and responsibilities incident to present day government, and tend, also, to reduce materially the prestige of state legislatures to reappraise their legislative processes and procedures as a special and continuing order of business. The recommendations of the council's committee on legislative processes and procedures are discussed at another place in this report. The states were urged to improve the organization and operation of their legislatures, and the revised report of the council's committee on legislative processes and procedures was called to the attention of the conference. The recommendations of the committee appear in another section of this report.

Regional Insurance Conference

September 23, 1948—Lincoln, Nebraska

The midwest regional insurance conference of insurance commissioners and commissioners of interstate cooperation reviewed proposals for strengthening state control of insurance regulation including a possible interstate compact to establish an agency to furnish expert advice and staff assistance to the states. Model legislation previously recommended by the council of state governments and the national association of state insurance commissioners was adopted by all the states in 1947-48.

Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, Nebraska, North Dakota and South Dakota were represented at this regional conference.

Recommendations

I. The staff of the council of state governments was requested to study methods to assist the states in insurance regulation, including the development and use of an interstate compact to provide joint technical services and personnel for administering highly technical regulatory functions.

II. A continuation of the close relationship between the commissions on interstate cooperation, the council of state governments, and the state insurance commissioners was also urged.

Ninth General Assembly of the States

December 2, 3, 4, 1948—Detroit, Michigan

Meeting in Detroit, Michigan, on December 2-4, governors, commissioners on interstate cooperation, and other state officials joined in the ninth general assembly of the states to consider problems and policies of common interest. Panel discussions were held on federal-state fiscal programs including grants-in-aid; on the 1949 state legislative recommendations; state-local relations, and on the future of our federalism. Representatives Allert G. Olson and Fred Schwengel participated in the discussions.

NATIONAL COMMITTEES OF THE STATES

I. Recommendations of the Committee on Legislative Processes and Procedures (Former Attorney General John M. Rankin was a member of this national committee).

A summary of the recommendations follows:

1. Remove restrictions on length of regular state legislative sessions. "Legislatures cannot properly fulfill their functions without adequate time to dispose of the public questions before them." Regular sessions now are limited in twenty-six states.

2. Increase salaries of legislators to permit competent persons to serve in the legislature without financial sacrifice.

3. Improve working conditions and raise level of competence of legislative employees. "The tenure of key legislative personnel should be unaffected by changes in party control."

4. Reduce the jumble of legislative committees through consolidation and reorganization on the basis of subject matter and cooperation between houses.

5. Provide for public hearings on all major bills. "Advance notice of such hearings should be published" well in advance.

6. Lengthen and stagger legislators' terms "to strengthen legislatures by increasing continuity of membership."

7. Provide for legislative councils or interim committees with adequate clerical and research facilities.

8. Review and strengthen legislative reference, research, bill drafting, and statutory revision services.

9. Limit the period during a legislative session during which bills may be introduced, and provide for filing and printing of bills before sessions open.

10. Review and revise legislative rules "wherever necessary to expedite legislative procedure, with due regard for adequate deliberation and fairness."

11. Provide for a budget "adequate to meet all probable expenditures during a fiscal period." Also, further centralize responsibility for the management of the legislatures' fiscal affairs.

12. Provide for local "home rule" legislation to minimize necessity for special legislation affecting individual cities.

SUGGESTED LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM FOR 1949

II. Recommendations of the Drafting Committee (Attorney General Robert L. Larson is a member of this national committee).

1. State Channeling of Federal Airport Funds Act—This measure, endorsed by the governor's conference and the national association of state aviation officials, requires that federal grants-in-aid to municipalities for airport construction shall be expended in the state only upon receiving the approval of the state aviation agency. The enactment of this measure will help to preserve the long-established principle and policy of federal grants-in-aid being administered through the states to political subdivisions on specific projects. Over half of the states have enacted this measure.

2. Out-of-State Airports Act—This is a reciprocal act authorizing a state and its political subdivisions to construct, operate and maintain airports and aviation facilities in adjoining states. It was developed by aviation officials and commissions on interstate cooperation as an answer to questions involving interstate airports. It should be helpful in furthering the development of interstate airports in such metropolitan areas as Council Bluffs, Davenport, Dubuque, Kansas City, St. Louis, and St. Paul.

3 Model State Civil Defense Act—This model act would provide for the establishment of the necessary state and local defense organizations in a state for possible use in case of atomic attack, wide-spread sabotage from a "fifth column" or from disasters, such as fires, floods, hurricanes, explosions or earthquakes. The state civil defense agency would be responsible to the governor and would be administered by a director. An advisory council of representatives with special qualifications would advise the governor and director. This act is based in part on the state council of defense and the emergency war powers acts developed by our committee during the war.

4. Fire Assistance Enabling Act—This proposal was originally developed by the commissions on interstate cooperation of the New England states. It would foster the interchange of fire-fighting equipment among governmental units in time of emergency. It would answer many of the legal questions which have arisen involving liability, damage, salaries and expense.

5. Municipal Tax Levying Enabling Act—This proposal would give local governments wide discretion in the field of taxation. The bill permits cities to tax anything not taxed by the state. It will help to relieve the excessive burden on real estate and, in addition, it should result in fewer demands being made on federal and state governments for funds to help pay for local needs and public improvements. This measure, like the "state channeling of federal airport funds act," grew out of recommendations made by the governors' conference.

6. Act to Establish a Small Business Commission—The proposed bill is designed to create a commission to study the problems of small business and to develop programs to strengthen small business throughout the country. This would encourage cooperation between small business commissions of the states and the department of commerce and the RFC. Illinois, Ohio, Minnesota and New York have taken the lead in establishing agencies to further small business. This measure is based in part on their acts and the experience which they have had.

7. Water Pollution Legislation—This legislation consists of two proposals designed to enable states and municipalities to take full advantage of the federal water pollution control act. The first measure designates a state water pollution agency and vests it with authority to carry out all the functions necessary for a state to benefit from the federal act. Under the federal act only one state water control agency can be recognized for any state.

The second proposal would permit municipalities to take full advantage of the loan program contemplated by the federal act. Bills have been drafted to fit the needs of the particular state for which it is proposed.

8. Building Codes Adoption by Reference—This is a proposed model statute to permit the adoption of model and scientific building codes by reference. Since some of the modern codes contain more than 300 pages, this would save cities the heavy cost of publishing such codes in the local newspapers. The code would, of course, be available for ready reference.

9. Amendment to State Securities Law—This is a technical amendment to ease certain restrictions in state "blue sky" laws which prohibit the circulation of a prospectus or any information regarding a security before it is registered. The public would be fully protected by the SEC act. The amendment would end a conflict which has long existed between the statutes of some of the states and the federal act regarding the early dissemination of information on securities. It would effectuate the policies of the federal securities act.

10. Amendment to State Safety Responsibility Law—This amendment which is desired by many federal agencies, particularly the post office, would exempt government vehicles from the operation of state safety responsibility laws. The federal tort claims act affords injured parties opportunity for relief where the fault lies with the driver of the government vehicle. There is no necessity for imposing penalties against or requiring compliance by operators of government vehicles under state motor vehicle safety responsibility laws.

Recommendations.

As in the past, the committee has recommended that the states consider certain important subjects requiring legislative attention. In some cases model legislation was available, in others it was impractical to develop a suitable draft, so the committee suggested that certain specific principles be followed in drafting a bill. Specific recommendations were made on the following subjects:

1. Reciprocal Legislation Permitting States to Cooperate in Enforcement of Liability in Non-Support Cases. This recommendation suggests the enactment by the states of reciprocal legislation providing that husbands liable for support of abandoned wives and children shall be required to fulfill their obligations and that the states shall be given the authority, on a reciprocal basis, to enforce such liability. The extent of the problem is shown that in one county alone last year there were over 500 complaints. Copies of a draft of suggested reciprocal state legislation based on the New York law conferring additional court jurisdiction in support proceedings may be secured from the council of state governments.

2. Revision of State Adoption Laws. Standards are recommended which would protect the welfare of the child, the rights of the natural parents, and the security of the adopting parents. Each state must consider its own special needs and requirements. Adoption has become an unregulated business, and in some states its conduct and operation resembles a racket. The principles recommended in the report are those suggested by the children's bureau of the federal security agency.

3. Interstate Crime Control Legislation. As in the past, the committee renews its recommendation that the states enact the bills in the council's uniform crime control program.

III. Recommendations of Committee on State-Local Relations.

A comprehensive report accompanied by detailed suggestions for state action has been reported to the council of state governments by its committee on state-local relations.

Summarizing its recommendations, the committee declared that the two principal objectives for any program of state-local relations are:

First, local units of government should be strengthened so that they may meet their day-to-day problems promptly and efficiently. Local freedom, though limited, is important for administrative effectiveness and as a means of attaining meaningful local democracy.

Second, state supervision of local affairs should be improved so that state-wide activities will be carried out in all jurisdictions at a high level of performance.

IV. Recommendations of the Special Committee on Federal-State Tax Relations (Governor Robert D. Blue participated in the work of this committee).

The joint conference of representatives of the Congress of the United States and of the governors' conference meeting in Chicago on August 25, 1948, discussed at length coordination of federal-state tax and fiscal policy. It was agreed that in order to achieve a higher degree of efficiency, reduce duplication, and achieve economy and stability in our coordinated system of federal, state, and local governments, our states must cease relying upon the federal government to do those things which they can do for themselves as well as, or better than, the federal government. In order that the state and local governments may be enabled to assume these functions, the federal government should reduce those taxes which can be administered best by state and local governments. To implement this policy, the joint conference recommended:

1. "That grants-in-aid from the federal government to the states for continuing activities be reduced by not less than 20 per cent for the fiscal year 1950 and that the federal government withdraw from or reduce rates in connection with certain tax fields that can best be used by state and local governments. Grants-in-aid from the federal government to the states for continuing activities have increased in the past four years from approximately $950,000,000 annually to $1,950,000,000; and states and localities, because of demands upon them, are strenuously searching for additional sources of revenue.

2. "That the technical staffs of the appropriate committees of the two houses of the Congress and of the governors' conference be directed to develop a concrete plan in accordance with this over-all policy, such a plan to be submitted to the appropriate committees of the two houses of the Congress and to the governors' conference.

3. "It is further proposed that very soon after the convening of the Eighty-first Congress the appropriate committees of the two houses arrange a joint meeting with the tax committee of the governors' conference to discuss the general policy and the proposed plan."

These recommendations were not concerned with any specific programs, but rather the fiscal abilities of the federal and state governments and the coordination of their tax and revenue systems. If and when the federal government withdraws from or makes reduction in certain areas of taxation, these fields of taxation will be available to the states and local governments for such use as they may determine.

A recommendation made by the joint conference in 1947 relating to the correction of the income tax inequities existing between the community property and the non-community property states was enacted into law by the Eightieth Congress.

FEDERAL-STATE POLICIES

Board of Managers Recommendations

One of the important recommendations made at the board of managers meeting held in Washington, January 9, 10, 1948, was that the federal government should relinquish to the states the federal tax on employers levied to cover administrative expenses of the state employment security program. Under this proposal the states would be charged directly with administration of unemployment compensation and the employment services. The governors' conference and the national association of state budget officers have also approved of the proposal.

Another recommendation made by the board of managers meeting which is of interest to this state had to do with water resources and the activities of the federal power commission. The following report was unanimously adopted by the board:

The federal power commission is energetically pursuing a program which, it is feared, will extend its control over every waterway in the country regardless of its navigability.

Several other federal departments and agencies having certain duties in connection with waterways hold varying concepts of what constitutes navigability with the result that there is a mounting confusion and uncertainty among the states as to the applicability of valid federal interests to state streams.

As an indication of the results of this confusion and uncertainty, the federal power commission is now actively engaged in requiring that small industrial plants located along waterways and generating small amounts of power to be used exclusively in their own manufacturing processes shall secure federal power commission licenses as a requirement for their continued operation.

It seems, therefore, apparent that some clarification of this issue should be sought, and bills are pending in the Congress to that end.

The board of managers of the council of state governments therefore recommends favorable congressional consideration of legislation which reaffirms the recognition by the Congress of the rights and interest of the states to a voice in the development of their water resources.

SPECIAL PROBLEMS OF INTEREST TO THE STATES

Agriculture Legislation

For a number of years the commissions on interstate cooperation and the drafting committee of the council of state governments have been working with state agriculture commissioners and the United States department of agriculture on legislative and administrative problems having to do with agriculture. In this work state officials and the drafting committee have benefited from the advice of agricultural associations and from organizations. At present a survey is being made of problems having to do with the use of sprays and insecticides in the states.

The following proposals were recommended to the state legislatures meeting in 1947 and, in case the proposal failed of enactment, the same recommendation is renewed for 1949:

- An act for the control of pullorum disease of domestic poultry;
- Amendment to the uniform state seed law;
- State insecticide, fungicide and rodenticide act;
- Agricultural products inspection certificates act;
- State marketing bureaus act;
- Farm products market facilities act;
- Enrichment of white flour and white bread act.

Interstate Crime Control Legislation

The criminal who commutes to his business across state lines is still a danger to the community. Loopholes in the law, particularly those relating to criminal extradition, the securing of witnesses from other states, and the supervision of those on parole, still plague law enforcement officers.

The commissions on interstate cooperation and the council of state governments, in cooperation with federal law enforcement agencies, have attacked these problems by sponsoring a uniform crime control program with the following acts: (1) The fresh-pursuit act—to permit the arrest on close pursuit of criminals fleeing from one state to another; (2) The extradition act—to aid in the speedier and more effective return of the criminal across state lines for trial; (3) The removal of out-of-state witnesses act; and (4) The interstate parole and probation supervision act.

Approximately three-fourths of the states have adopted these acts, but their value will be greatly enhanced when they have been enacted by all of the states.

Iowa has neither adopted the Extradition Act nor the removal of Out-of-State Witnesses Act.

The following paragraphs contain brief statements describing the background of two uniform acts, along with a summary description of the purposes they are intended to accomplish:

1. Extradition—To modernize the administration of criminal justice, there is need for facilitating the transfer of criminals from one state to another, so that one state may not become, unintentionally, a sanctuary for criminals who are engaged in the commission of crimes in neighboring states. The adoption of the proposed act will provide a method by which complete uniformity of action and harmony of purpose, among the states, can be achieved in a very difficult field.

The matter of extradition between the states was recognized in Section 2, article 4 of the constitution of the United States. This provision of the constitution was not self-executing and, in fact, left much to be worked out by legislation. This was accomplished in part by federal statutes and in part by state statutes. There has been considerable lack of uniformity in the state legislation and hence great opportunity for confusion in administration.

The proposed act brings uniformity in such matters as the form of requisition and the documents to accompany it; the arrest, pending requisition as well as after requisition; bail; habeas corpus proceedings; confinement in transit; and the right to withhold extradition, while a criminal prosecution is pending in the asylum state, against the person claimed, or while he is serving a sentence there. It gives to the governor the power to extradite a person who has come into the state involuntarily. It provides for a requisition of a person, already under prosecution or undergoing punishment in another state, so he may be prosecuted in the demanding state while the evidence is still fresh; but with the understanding that at the termination of the prosecution he will be returned to the state which extradited him.

2. Out-of-State Witnesses—The purpose of this uniform act is to secure the attendance of persons found in one state and desired as witnesses in a criminal proceeding in another state. At the present time in a number of states it is impossible to obtain the testimony of witnesses important to the prosecution who either live outside a state or have fled from the state. This act provides a procedure to enforce their attendance at such criminal proceedings, at the same time protecting their rights as citizens. It allows the rendition of witnesses in all criminal proceedings (including grand jury hearings) and without limitation of distance.

COOPERATION WITH THE COMMISSIONERS ON UNIFORM LAWS

The national conference of commissioners on uniform state laws is composed of one or more commissioners representing each state. The purpose of the organization is to sponsor uniformity in state legislation. The council of state governments assists in the distribution and discussion of suggested model laws prior to the legislative sessions, and thereafter works with the commissions on interstate cooperation and the national conference on uniform laws in presenting the various measures to the legislatures in each state.

The Iowa commissioners on uniform laws have recommended the adoption of the following uniform acts by the 1949 General Assembly:

1. Divorce recognition act;
2. Administrative procedure act;
3. Court administrator act;
4. Foreign judgments act;
5. Business records as evidence act;
6. Judicial notice of foreign laws act.

Commissioners on uniform laws for the state of Iowa are:

1. John Carlisle Pryor of Burlington;
2. Frederic M. Miller of Des Moines;
3. Mason Ladd of Iowa City.

Passed on file.

HOUSE FILE 224 REFERRED TO COMMITTEE

The Speaker announced that House File 224, previously reported back to the House for passage, had been referred to the committee on appropriations for further consideration.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 9, providing for reports from the heads of the various state departments relating to the number and duties of employees in their departments.

W. J. SCARBOROUGH, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9

Whereas, the Fifty-third General Assembly has been confronted by unprecedented askings for appropriations by all departments of state government; and

Whereas, some portion of these increased askings is based upon requests for increase in the pay of public employees, much of which may be entirely deserved; and

Whereas, the General Assembly is confronted not only with the responsibility of seeing that the employees of the state are reasonably compensated for their services, but also with the responsibility of conserving the taxpayers' money and of seeing that no greater appropriations are provided than are necessary to carry out the various functions of government efficiently; and

Whereas, these requests for increased costs of government necessarily give rise to the inquiry as to whether the services to be paid for are, from the public standpoint, worth the increased cost, and whether the number of such employees may not be reduced in order to offset such increased costs by corresponding reductions in personnel, and whether functions of employees of departments may not be combined and consolidated;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

1. That the heads of all state departments prepare and submit to the General Assembly reports relating to the functions of their employees which will reflect:

- a. The total number of such employees;
- b. The total actual hours service performed by each employee for the month of February, 1949;
- c. The length of the work day and week;
- d. The total amount of time taken out by such employees, such as rest periods, or absences from duty;
- e. The total amount of office time during which such employees are not actually engaged in work pertaining to the office;
- f. The number of such employees who are able to perform more than one office function;
- g. The submission of a plan by each department head whereby the functions of his office may be streamlined and the personnel be reduced.

2. That all state employees be invited to submit direct to the General Assembly plans and suggestions whereby the department or office in which such employee is engaged may be operated with greater efficiency, with less personnel, or more economically.

Passed on file.

On February 12, all Iowans will unite to pay their respects to Abraham Lincoln, a man whom many consider the greatest American this nation has produced. It is fitting that the Fifty-third General Assembly should pause in its deliberations to honor Lincoln, for in doing so it is but following the precedent of the Thirty-third General Assembly which forty years ago passed a law making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday in Iowa. This was back in 1909 when the nation was celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth. It is interesting to note that this act was the first bill adopted by the Thirty-third General Assembly, the first measure to reach Governor Beryl F. Carroll's desk, and the first to receive his signature.

It is indeed appropriate that the lawmakers of this state should observe Lincoln's birthday, for Lincoln himself was both a lawmaker and a lawyer. Actually Lincoln was elected to the Illinois legislature at the age of twenty-five, three years before he was admitted to the bar. Only one member of this Fifty-third General Assembly is as young as Abe Lincoln was when he entered the Illinois legislature in 1834.

As a young man Lincoln was introduced by sheer accident to Blackstone's Commentaries. He soon developed a deep respect for the majesty of the law. Years later he declared: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to her lisping babe; let it be taught in schools and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. Let it become the political religion of the nation; and let old and young, rich and poor, grave and gay sacrifice unceasingly on its altars."

Most Iowans are fairly familiar with the life of Lincoln. A few of them (and they are widely scattered throughout the state) have become ardent Lincoln students. Foremost among these is Judge James W. Bollinger of Davenport, who has willed his collection of 3,500 Lincoln books to the State University of Iowa. The Bollinger library (valued at more than $50,000) is not only the finest collection of Lincolniana in Iowa, but is unquestionably the best private Lincoln collection in the United States. Lincoln collectors in Iowa have done much to perpetuate the memory of our first martyred President.

This is as it should be for the life of Lincoln can be associated with many phases of Iowa history. Throughout the nation students of state and local history have been eager to link the immortal Lincoln with their own region. Kentucky prides herself as his birthplace. Indiana is equally proud that he spent fourteen years in the Hoosier state before reaching his majority. Illinois proudly claims him as a citizen whose thirty years at New Salem and Springfield groomed him for the presidency. Between 1861 and 1865 the spotlight was focused on Lincoln in the White House: directing the war as commander-in-chief, ably guiding his party through the maze of partisan politics bogging down the war effort, and conducting American diplomacy in a highly successful manner.

Although the Great Emancipator never lived in Iowa, he did own land in the Hawkeye state, and made decisions of far-reaching effect on its history. He was intimately acquainted with many Iowans, visited the state on several occasions, spoke at Burlington and Council Bluffs, appointed one Iowan to the President's cabinet, and another to the United States supreme court. Lincoln's only living son married the daughter of James Harlan of Mount Pleasant. Finally, it should be pointed out that Iowa strongly supported Lincoln in both presidential elections; and that her military contributions to the Civil War were brave, generous and wholehearted. When the hand of the assassin laid the Great Emancipator low just one week after Lee's surrender at Appomattox, the people of Iowa deeply mourned his loss.

Before discussing more fully Lincoln's intimate associations with Iowa it may be well to point out that the history of the Hawkeye state contains certain interesting parallels with the life of Lincoln. For example, he was born in Kentucky in 1809, one year after the first American fort in Iowa was erected on the site of modern Fort Madison. The Lincoln family moved to Indiana in 1816, the very year that Fort Armstrong and Fort Crawford were erected on the eastern bank of the Mississippi opposite present-day Davenport and McGregor. Lincoln reached his majority and removed to Illinois in 1830, the same year that a group of sturdy lead miners drew up the Miners' Compact at what is now Dubuque. During the Black Hawk War, Lincoln served as captain in the Fourth Illinois Volunteer Infantry and thus witnessed the dramatic events leading to the first permanent cession of Iowa land by the red man.

Lincoln was appointed postmaster at New Salem in May of 1833, a fortnight before permanent white settlement began in the Black Hawk Purchase. While Lincoln was delivering mail out of his tall hat at New Salem, Postmaster Antoine Le Claire brought his letters to Davenport in his coat-tails.

Lincoln began his eight-year legislative career at Vandalia in 1834, the same year Iowa was attached to Michigan Territory. When the capital of Illinois was moved to Springfield in 1837, Lincoln chose that city as his home, serving as a legislator in the new building designed by John Francis Rague, who two years later designed the Old Stone Capital at Iowa City. Rague, incidentally, knew Stephen A. Douglas and Mary Todd, and is said to have groomed Abe Lincoln for a dance.

So much for the chronology of Iowa history as it can be woven into the Lincoln story. Let us turn now to the more intimate associations he had with the story of Iowa, discussing him first as a landowner. In 1850 and again in 1855, Congress passed laws granting bounties of land to persons who had rendered services in the armies of the United States. Lincoln, having served in the Black Hawk War, was granted three land warrants. He selected two of these land warrants in Iowa, striking testimony of his high regard for the future prospects of the Hawkeye state. The first Iowa land allotted him was a forty-acre tract in Tama county, fourteen miles northwest of Toledo. It was improved land worth $10 per acre when Lincoln acquired it, and the taxes were only $1.60 in 1858. The warrant was issued to him on April 16, 1852, and the patent granted on June 1, 1855. After Lincoln's death this property was sold by his heirs.

His second Iowa military land warrant was a 120-acre tract in Crawford county, eight miles northwest of Denison. This land was sold by his son, Robert Todd Lincoln, in 1892 for $1,300. In 1923, the Denison chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a boulder and copper plate upon this land as a reminder that it was once owned by Abraham Lincoln.

In addition to his two military land warrants, Lincoln acquired certain lots and small parcels of land in and near Council Bluffs from Norman B. Judd in 1859. These lots were held by Lincoln at the time of his death, and in 1867 the Lincoln heirs reconveyed them to Mr. Judd.

Next let us turn to Lincoln as an able railroad lawyer, whose services were much in demand by such corporations as the Illinois Central and the Rock Island railroads. One of his most famous railroad cases deals with the wreck of the steamboat Effie Afton on the Rock Island bridge in 1856. Although there is no evidence that Lincoln visited Iowa on the occasion of his defense of the bridge company against the steamboat interests in 1857, the importance of his contribution to Iowa history, to railroad history, and, indeed, to the westward movement can scarcely be over-emphasized. The story briefly runs as follows:

On February 22, 1854, the iron horse of the Rock Island railroad reached the Mississippi opposite Davenport—the first railroad to link the Father of Waters with the Atlantic. Anxious to gain easy access to the fertile prairies of Iowa, a bridge was completed between Rock Island and Davenport in April, 1856, despite the strong opposition of Secretary of War Jefferson Davis who favored the southern route. On May 6 the steamboat Effie Afton, while attempting to go through the Illinois side of the drawbridge, smashed against the pier, caught on fire, and was completely destroyed. The flames also consumed the wooden span east of the drawbridge putting the bridge out of commission fully four months. The steamboat owners promptly brought suit against the bridge company and the case was tried in the United States circuit court in Chicago in September, 1857. During the voluminous testimony bitter feelings were exhibited on both sides.

Lincoln himself remained calm throughout the bitter trial. According to the original report in the Chicago Daily Press of September 24, 1857, Lincoln stated that he expected "to grow earnest as he proceeded but not ill-natured. . . . The last thing that would be pleasing to him," he assured the jury, "would be to have one of these great channels, extending almost from where it never freezes to where it never thaws, blocked up. But there is a travel from east to west," he pointed out, "whose demands are not less important than that of the river. It is growing larger and larger, building up new countries with a rapidity never before seen in the history of the world." He alluded to the astonishing growth of Illinois, having grown within his memory to a population of a million and a half; to Iowa and the other young and rising communities of the northwest.

Railroad travel, Lincoln asserted, had its rights, just as much as steamboat travel. If the Mississippi had not acquired its advantage in "priority and legislation," Lincoln contended, the railroad could enter into "free competition" with it and readily surpass it. By way of illustration, Lincoln pointed to the 12,586 freight cars and 74,179 passengers that had passed over the Rock Island bridge in eleven months. "This shows," Lincoln concluded, "that this bridge must be treated with respect in this court and is not to be kicked about with contempt."

Lincoln made a second important contribution to the history of railroading in Iowa and America when, as President of the United States, he was confronted with the problem of locating the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific.

While stopping at Council Bluffs in 1859, he had met Grenville M. Dodge, who had just completed extensive railroad surveys west of the Missouri for the Rock Island railroad. Lincoln remembered this visit when Congress passed the act providing for a transcontinental railroad and promptly called General Dodge to the White House for a conference. These two conferences with Grenville M. Dodge, more perhaps than anything else, fixed Council Bluffs as the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific. A memorial to Lincoln has been erected on the bluff overlooking the Missouri river, where he and his Iowa friends stood in 1859 and looked westward over the great plains of Nebraska.

The remainder of Lincoln's intimate associations with Iowa are concerned with his political and presidential years. He was elected a United States representative the same year Iowa achieved statehood, but served only one term. During the 1850's, he joined the Republican party in Illinois. This threw him into close contact with James W. Grimes—the father of the Republican party in Iowa—who had been elected Whig Governor of the Hawkeye state in 1854. Both men campaigned for election to the United States Senate in 1858: Grimes winning the coveted office in Iowa while Lincoln lost it to Stephen A. Douglas in Illinois.

During the heat of the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, Abraham Lincoln crossed the Mississippi to deliver an address in Burlington. Clark Dunham, editor of the Burlington Hawk-Eye and an ardent Lincoln admirer, made the following comment on Lincoln's oration:

"Grimes' Hall was filled to its full capacity. . . . So great is the sympathy felt here in the spirited canvass in Illinois, and so high is the opinion entertained of the ability of Mr. Lincoln as a speaker that a very short notice brought together from twelve to fifteen hundred ladies and gentlemen.

"High, however, as was the public expectation, and much as was anticipated, he, in his address of two hours, fully came up to the standard that had been erected. It was a logical discourse, replete with sound arguments, clear, concise and vigorous, earnest, impassioned and eloquent. Those who heard recognized in him a man fully able to cope with the little giant anywhere, and altogether worthy to succeed him.

"We regret exceedingly that it is not in our power to report his speech in full this morning. We know that we could have rendered no more acceptable service to our readers. But it is not in our power.

"Mr. Lincoln appeared Saturday evening fresh and vigorous, there was nothing in his voice, manner or appearance to show the arduous labors of the last two months—nothing to show that immense labors of the canvass had worn upon him in the least. In this respect he has altogether the advantage of Douglas, whose voice is cracked and husky, temper soured and general appearance denoting exhaustion."

The only other speech that Lincoln is known to have made in Iowa was at Council Bluffs on the occasion of his flying trip out west in the summer of 1859. It attracted a good crowd, even though it was unscheduled, and it elicited conflicting reactions from the Republican and Democratic editors of Council Bluffs. The friendly Nonpareil praised his "masterly and unanswerable speech" and the "dexterity with which he applied the political scalpel to the Democratic carcass." The Weekly Bugle spoke in a derisive vein of Lincoln's effort, but admitted that his defeat by Senator Douglas had "magnified him into quite a lion" at Council Bluffs.

Because of his reputation as an orator and party leader, Lincoln had other invitations to speak in Iowa, but unfortunately was forced to decline them. As early as 1844 he had been invited to appear at Burlington but was unable to come.

In the summer of 1856 Governor James W. Grimes desired him to be present at a Republican rally in Burlington, but Lincoln wrote he could not spare the time and, in any case, was "superstitious about calling in foreign help from neighboring states on the eve of an election." However, if the opposition had imported a "foreigner," Lincoln stated he had "no objection to drive a nail in his track." An invitation to "strike hands with the Fremonters of Iowa" at Muscatine in September of 1856 was declined because of the hard work still remaining before the Republicans in Illinois.

In August of 1857 Lincoln wrote Governor Grimes that he was "altogether too poor" to make the trip to Iowa from Chicago, where he was busily engaged as defense attorney for the Rock Island Bridge Company. To Hawkins Taylor of Keokuk he wrote in 1859: "It is bad to be poor. . . . I shall go to the wall for bread and meat if I neglect my business this year as well as last. . . . It would please me to see the city and good people of Keokuk, but for this year it is little less than an impossibility. . . . I do hope you will have no serious troubles in Iowa. What thinks Grimes about it? I have not known him to be mistaken about an election in Iowa." Two days after Lincoln wrote the above letter John A. Kasson urged him to visit the Iowa state fair at Oskaloosa, but the busy Illinois lawyer had gone to Ohio and was unable to comply.

In the harrowing Civil War days that followed, Iowa gave unwavering support to Abraham Lincoln. By 1860 the Hawkeye state was strongly Republican in politics, having elected Samuel J. Kirkwood Governor and having dispatched James Harlan to the United States Senate. The state was equally strong in supporting Lincoln in the four-cornered presidential campaign of 1860—Lincoln received 70,409 out of a total of 128,331 votes cast, or 54.8 per cent of the total. In the election of 1864, despite the war-weariness of a home front numbed by heavy losses, Iowans gave him even stronger support—89,075 of the 138,671 votes cast were for Lincoln—or 64.2 per cent. Perhaps the most striking endorsement of Lincoln came from Iowa soldiers who cast 15,178 votes for "Honest Abe" compared with 1,364 votes for General George McClellan. Surely no commander-in-chief has ever received a warmer support from his fighting forces than did Abraham Lincoln in this eleven to one vote of confidence by Iowa soldiers during the campaign of 1864.

And it was not merely at the ballot box that Iowa supported Lincoln. Fully 78,059 men out of a population of 674,913 donned the Federal blue to "Preserve the Union." This represented half of the able-bodied men in Iowa. It was a greater number of soldiers than Washington had commanded in his armies during the American Revolution. It represented a higher percentage of the total population than in World War I or World War II. The contribution is even more significant when one considers the handicaps of Iowa on the home front, since the mechanization of agriculture was just in its infancy in 1861.

If Iowans admired and supported Lincoln, the Great Emancipator was equally mindful of the fine citizens dwelling in the Hawkeye state. He appointed James Harlan of Mount Pleasant as his secretary of the interior and subsequently Samuel Freeman Miller of Keokuk to the United States supreme court. He invited Annie Turner Wittenmyer of Keokuk to the White House, and together they laid the foundations of the Diet Kitchens that saved many a soldier's life during the Civil War. His only surviving son, Robert Todd Lincoln, married the daughter of James Harlan, and the Harlan-Lincoln Home at Mount Pleasant (where Robert T. and Mary Harlan Lincoln once lived) is one of Iowa's most prized historic possessions.

When the nation and the world honored the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth in 1909, the eyes of Iowa were naturally focused on the ceremonies at Hodgenville, Kentucky, where President Theodore Roosevelt laid the cornerstone of the beautiful marble structure that houses the log cabin in which Lincoln was born and where he lived the first two years of his life. The exercises at Springfield, Illinois, shared honors with the Hodgenville ceremonies, for three nations paid tribute to Lincoln at Springfield—England was represented by Ambassador James Bryce, France by her Ambassador, Jules Jusserand, and the United States by William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska and Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa. Dolliver was chosen to lay the American wreath at Lincoln's feet. Before 850 members of the Lincoln Centennial Association the silver-tongued orator from Iowa spoke on "Our Heroic Age," referring to that time when Lincoln and the statesmen who stood by his side walked without despair into the "chaos of civil strife," fought "the way of the nation through it, to lift up a spotless flag above it, and, in the midst of the flame and the smoke of battle," created a true United States of America.

Since 1909 the state of Iowa has faithfully cherished the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. It is well that we do so, for in the life of the "Great Emancipator" we have mirrored those qualities which have made Iowa and America great. Lincoln the railsplitter; Lincoln the flatboatman;

Lincoln the surveyor; Lincoln the Indian fighter; Lincoln the store-keeper and postmaster; Lincoln the circuit-riding country lawyer and stump-speaking prairie politician—truly here was a man with experiences that could be understood by thousands of those sturvy iowa pioneers engaged in transforming a vast wilderness into the richest agricultural state in the Union.

On February 12, 1909, "Ding" Darling drew a Lincoln cartoon entitled "The Guiding Star of the Republic." In it, "Ding" showed Uncle Sam, backed by Columbia, standing at the pilot wheel guiding the "Ship of State" toward the ever-beckoning profile of Lincoln, blazing resplendently in the starry firmament. Today that "Guiding Star" still shines brightly in the minds of Iowans.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Senator Elthon of Worth moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Schwengel of Scott asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following reprint be published in the Journal:

ABE LINCOLN: HUMAN ENGINEER

Chances are that you like Abe Lincoln. You like him because you know that he would have liked you.

You can almost see the tall man coming toward you, and hear him say, "Howdy, partner. Let's be friends. We are not strangers, but friends. We must not be strangers. You and I belong together."

Nowadays, we'd call this human quality of the man Lincoln a matter of human relations. But, somehow, human relations has become a slick phrase, connoting high powered selling techniques and words without performance.

Actually, human relations isn't that at all. It's as simple as our learning to know ourselves and understand those about us—learning how to live and let others live.

It's young Lincoln, grasping the two horns of a quarrelsome goat, saying slowly:

"Now-there-isn't-any-good-reason-why-you-should-want-to-harm-me-and-there-isn't-any-good-reason-why-I-should-want-to-harm-you. The-world-is-big-enough-for-both-of-us-to-live-in. If-you-behave-yourself-as-you-ought-to-and-if-I-behave-myself-as-I-ought-to-we'll-get-along-without-a-cross-word-or-action-and-we'll-live-in-harmony-like-good-neighbors."

Or candidate Lincoln, answering the hate campaign of the Know Nothing Party, by telling the story of the Irishman who was asked why he had not been born in this country. "Faith," answered Pat, "and I wanted to, but me mither wouldn't let me."

Or President Lincoln, writing to the Secretary of War about an Army deserter, "If you haven't shot Barney, don't."

Even in the midst of a tragic war between the states, harrassed by critics on every hand, Lincoln never lost his faith in people. He liked plain folks. That's why plain folks liked him, and always will.

You and I best serve his memory by helping those around us to be partners with us in this experiment of free and democratic living. That includes the ashman who comes to the rear door as well as the postman who comes to the front door.

All we have to remember is that a smile and a friendly greeting and a little understanding of the other fellow is the cement that holds a democratic society together. Without a sense of partnership in a common enterprise, democracy cannot long endure.

Lincoln knew that. Lincoln said it. Lincoln believed it. Lincoln lived it. Even when it was not easy for him to do so.

Carl Sandburg tells of the time that lawyer Lincoln went to Cincinnati for a lawsuit involving the McCormack Reaper Company.

When Lincoln entered the lobby of the old Gibson House, a fat, florid faced fellow looked up at him and asked, "Where did that long armed baboon come from?" Later, the same fellow said of Lincoln, "I wouldn't associate with a gawky, long armed ape as that."

This man turned out to be the head attorney on Lincoln's side of the case. Young Abe got no chance to make an argument to the court. Weeks of hard work wasted, he went back to Illinois.

But, when Lincoln became President of the United States, he picked that same fat, florid faced Cincinnati lawyer to be a member of his cabinet. For that sharp tongued lawyer was Edwin M. Stanton, the man who lived to say, when Lincoln died, "Now he belongs to the ages."

Narrow men pay their debts in the coin of bitterness.

Lincoln paid his debts in the coin of understanding. That is his great lesson for our country and our times.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 11

A concurrent resolution memorializing and requesting the Congress of the United States to enact a bill to aid the state in the enforcement of the cigarette tax now evaded by use of the United States mails.

Whereas, the state of Iowa has seen fit to impose a tax on the sale and use of cigarettes within its boundaries, and the revenues so obtained constitute an important portion of the funds available for its functions of government; and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the state of Iowa that a large and growing system of evasion of such tax law has developed; that the United States mails are flooded with advertisements and inducements to the citizens of this state to violate the law of this state; that in numerous instances such advertisers entice prospective customers with statements to the effect that the use of the United States mails is sufficient proof of the legitimacy of such business and such a system; that the mails of the United States are constantly flooded with cigarettes in the process of delivery within this state, and on which cigarettes the tax required by the laws of this state have not and will not be paid; that this state is seriously disadvantaged by such use of the postal offices and mails of the United States for the purpose of evading the laws of Iowa; and that Iowa faces and is now suffering serious losses of revenue as a result of such system of evasion; and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Iowa that there is now pending before the Congress of the United States a proposed bill which would aid the states by requiring shippers of cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish to the taxing authority of the state to which shipped a copy of the invoice on each shipment and the name and address of each person to whom shipped; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring Therein: That the Congress of the United States be and the same is hereby memorialized and respectfully urged to enact a bill requiring shippers of cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish to the taxing authority of the state to which shipped a copy of the invoice on each such shipment; or to enact such other bill to the aid of the several states affected as may be proper;

Be It Further Resolved: That duly authenticated copies of this Reso-

10. Forging, counterfeiting, simulating or falsely representing or without proper authority using any mark, stamp, tag, label or other identification device authorized or required by regulations promulgated under the provisions of this act.

11. The using, on the labeling of any drug or in any advertisement relating to such drug, of any representation or suggestion that an application with respect to such drug is effective under section eleven, or that such drug complies with the provisions of such section.

Sec. 4. In addition to the remedies hereinafter provided the board is hereby authorized to apply to the court for, and such court shall have jurisdiction upon hearing and for cause shown, to grant a temporary or permanent injunction restraining any person from violating any provisions of this act; irrespective of whether or not there exists an adequate remedy at law.

of the manufacturer, packer, distributor, seller or advertising agency, residing in the state of Iowa, who caused him to disseminate such advertisement.

Sec. 6. 1. Whenever a duly authorized agent of the board finds or has probable cause to believe, that any drug, device or cosmetic is adulterated, or so misbranded as to be dangerous or fraudulent, within the meaning of this act, he shall affix to such article a tag or other appropriate marking, giving notice that such article is, or is suspected of being adulterated or misbranded and has been detained or embargoed, and warning all persons not to remove or dispose of such article by sale or otherwise until permission for removal or disposal is given by such agent or the court. It shall be unlawful for any person to remove or dispose of such detained or embargoed article by sale or otherwise without such permission.

The expenses of such supervision shall be paid by the claimant. Such bond shall be returned to the claimant of the article on representation to the court by the board that the article is no longer in violation of this act, and that the expenses of such supervision have been paid.

Sec. 7. It shall be the duty of each attorney general or county attorney to whom the board reports any violation of this act, to cause appropriate proceedings to be instituted in the proper courts without delay and to be prosecuted in the manner required by law. Before any violation of this act is reported to any such attorney for the institution of a criminal proceeding, the person against whom such proceeding is contemplated shall be given appropriate notice and an opportunity to present his views before the board or its designated agent, either orally or in writing, in person, or by attorney, with regard to such contemplated proceeding.

Sec. 8. Nothing in this act shall be construed as requiring the board to report for the institution of proceedings under this act, minor viola-

Sec. 9. A drug or device shall be deemed to be adulterated—

1. 2. If it purports to be or is represented as a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, and its strength differs from, or its quality or purity falls below, the standard set forth in such compendium. Such determination as to strength, quality or purity shall be made in accordance with the tests or methods of assay set forth in such compendium, or in the absence of or inadequacy of such tests or methods of assay, those prescribed under authority of the federal act. No drug defined in any official compendium shall be deemed to be adulterated under this paragraph because it differs from the standard of strength, quality or purity thereof set forth in such compendium if its difference in strength, quality or purity from such standard is plainly stated on its label. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States it will be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

3. If it is not subject to the provisions of paragraph two (2) of this section and its strength differs from, or its purity or quality falls below that which it purports or is represented to possess.

4. If it is a drug and any substance has been (1) mixed or packed therewith so as to reduce its quality or strength; or (2) substituted wholly or in part therefor.

Sec. 10. A drug or device shall be deemed to be misbranded—

1. If its labeling is false or misleading in any particular.

2. 3. If any word, statement or other information required by or under authority of this act to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed thereon with such conspicuousness (as compared with other words, statements, designs or devices, in the labeling) and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of purchase and use.

4. If it is for use by man and contains any quantity of the narcotic or hypnotic substance alpha-eucaine, barbituric acid, beta-eucaine, bromal, cannabis, carbromal, chloral, coca, cocaine, codeine, heroin, marihuana, morphine, opium, paraldehyde, peyote or sulphonmethane, or any chemical derivative of such substance, which derivative has been by the board after investigation, found to be, and by regulations under this act, designated as, habit forming, unless its label bears the name and quantity or proportion of such substance or derivative and in juxtaposition therewith the statement "Warning—May be habit forming."

5. If it is a drug and is not designated solely by a name recognized in an official compendium unless its label bears (1) the common or usual name of the drug, if such there be; and (2) in case it is fabricated from two or more ingredients, the common or usual name of each active ingredient, including the kind and quantity or proportion of any alcohol, and also including, whether active or not, the name and quantity or proportion of any bromides, ether, chloroform, acetanilid, acetphenetidin, amidopyrine, antipyrine, atropine, hyoscine, hyoscyamine, arsenic, digitalis and digitalis glycosides, mercury, ouabain, strophanthin, strychnine, thyroid, or any derivative or preparation of any such substances, contained therein; provided, that to the extent that compliance with the requirements of clause (2) of this paragraph is impracticable, exemptions shall be established by regulations promulgated by the board.

6. Unless its labeling bears (1) adequate directions for use; and (2) such adequate warnings against use in those pathological conditions or by children where its use may be dangerous to health, or against unsafe dosage or methods or duration of administration or application in such manner and form, as are necessary for the protection of users; provided, that where any requirement of clause (1) of this paragraph, applied to any drug or device, is not necessary for the protection of the public health, the board shall promulgate regulations exempting such drug from such requirements.

7. If it purports to be a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, unless it is packaged and labeled as prescribed therein; provided, that the method of packing may be modified with the consent of the board. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, it shall be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia with respect to packaging and labeling unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

8. If it is found by the board to be a drug liable to deterioration, unless it is packaged in such form and manner, and its label bears a statement of such precautions, as the board shall by regulations require as necessary for the protection of public health. No such regulation shall be established for any drug recognized in an official compendium until the board shall have informed the appropriate body charged with the revision of such compendium of the need for such packaging or labeling requirements and such body shall have failed within a reasonable time to prescribe such requirements.

9. (1) If it is a drug and its container is so made, formed or filled as to be misleading; or (2) if it is an imitation of another drug; or (3) if it is offered for sale under the name of another drug.

10. If it is dangerous to health when used in the dosage, or with the frequency or duration prescribed, recommended or suggested in the labeling thereof.

11. If (1) it is a drug sold at retail and contains any quantity of aminopyrine, barbituric acid, pituitary, thyroid, or their derivatives, or (2) it is a drug or device sold at retail and its label bears a statement that it is to be dispensed or sold only by or on the prescription of a doctor or dentist or veterinarian; unless it is sold on a written prescription signed by a doctor, dentist or veterinarian who is licensed by law to administer such drug or device, and its label bears the name and place of business of the seller, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of the doctor, dentist or veterinarian.

12. A drug sold on a written prescription signed by a doctor, dentist or veterinarian except a drug sold in the course of the conduct of a business of selling drugs pursuant to diagnosis by mail shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if—

(1) such doctor, dentist or veterinarian is licensed by law to administer such drug, and

(2) such drug bears a label containing the name and place of business of the seller, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of the doctor, dentist or veterinarian.

13. If it is a drug for use by man and contains any quantity of the narcotic or hypnotic substance alpha-eucaine, barbituric acid, beta-eucaine, bromal, cannabis, carbromal, chloral, coca, cocaine, heroin, marihuana, morphine, opium, paraldehyde, peyote, or sylphonmethane, or any chemical derivative of such substances, or such substances as are dangerous and habit forming drugs which derivative or substances have been by the board after investigation found to be and by regulation under this act designated as dangerous and habit forming drugs, and the sale or dispensation (except on written prescriptions to be filled by pharmacists) of said drugs, derivatives or substances is made by doctors or dentists incident to their practice, unless the doctor or dentist keeps a dated record of the name and address of the patient, and amount and name of the drugs, substances or derivatives sold and dispensed each time, and the said sale or dispensation has not been delegated to any person, nurse or attendant.

Sec. 11. 1. No person shall sell, deliver, offer for sale, have for sale or give away any new drug unless (1) an application with respect thereto has become effective under section 505 of the federal act, or (2) when not subject to the federal act unless such drug has been tested and has not been found to be unsafe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended or suggested in the labeling thereof, and prior to selling or offering for sale such drug, there has been filed with the board an application setting forth (a) full reports of investigations which have been made to show whether or not such drug is safe for use; (b) a full list of the articles used as components of such drug; (c) a full statement of the composition of such drug; and (d) a full description of the methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing and packing of such drug. The application shall be accompanied by such samples of such drug and of the articles used as components thereof as the board may require, specimens of the labeling proposed to be used for such drugs, and a fee of fifty dollars.

2. An application provided for in subsection one (1), part (2) shall become effective on the sixtieth day after the filing thereof, except that if the board finds after due notice to the applicant and giving him an opportunity for a hearing, that the drug is not safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended or suggested in the proposed labeling thereof, it shall, prior to the effective date of the application, issue an order refusing to permit the application to become effective.

3. This section shall not apply—

(1) to a drug intended solely for investigational use by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety in drugs, provided the drug is plainly labeled "For investigational use only"; or

(2) to a drug sold in this state at any time prior to the enactment of the federal act; or

(3) to any drug which is licensed under the virus, serum and toxin act of July 1, 1902 (U.S.C. 1934 ed. title 42, chap. 4).

4. An order refusing to permit an application under this section to become effective may be revoked by the board.

Sec. 12. A cosmetic shall be deemed to be adulterated—

This product must not be used for dyeing the eyelashes or eyebrows; to do so may cause blindness," and the labeling of which bears adequate directions for such preliminary testing. For the purposes of this paragraph and paragraph five the term "hair dye" shall not include eyelash dyes or eyebrow dyes.

2. If it consists in whole or in part of any filthy, putrid or decomposed substance.

3. If it has been produced, prepared, packed or held under insanitary conditions whereby it may have become contaminated with filth, or whereby it may have been rendered injurious to health.

4. If its container is composed, in whole or in part of any poisonous

17 “Sec. 22. Section four hundred fifty-five point one
18 hundred thirty-five (455.135), Code 1946, is amended by strik-
19 ing all of said section and by substituting in lieu thereof
20 the following: ‘When any levee or drainage district shall 21 have been established and the improvement constructed, the 22 same shall be at all times under the supervision of the board
23 of supervisors except as otherwise provided for control and 24 management by a board of trustees and it shall be the duty
25 of the board to keep the same in repair. The board at any 26 time on its own motion, without notice, may order done whatever
27 is necessary to restore or maintain a drainage or levee improve-28 ment in its original efficiency or capacity, and for that 29 purpose may remove silt and debris, repair any damaged
30 structures, remove weeds and other vegetable growth, and 31 whatever else may be needed to restore or maintain such 32 efficiency or capacity. If in maintaining and repairing tile
33 lines the board finds from the engineer’s report it is more 34 economical to construct a new line than to repair the existing 35 line, such new line may be considered to be a repair.

36 “In the case of minor repairs not in excess of five
37 hundred dollars ($500.00) where the board finds that the same
38 will result in a saving to the district it may cause the same
39 to be done by secondary road equipment and labor of the county
40 and then reimburse the secondary road maintenance fund from 41 the drainage district fund thus benefited.

42 “When the board deems it necessary it may repair or 43 reconstruct the outlet of any private tile line which empties 44 into a drainage ditch of any drainage district and assess the 45 costs in each case against the land served by the private tile
46 line.

47 “When the board determines that improvements, which differ
48 from the repairs referred to in the preceding paragraphs, are 49 necessary or desirable, it may appoint an engineer to make such 50 surveys as seem appropriate to determine the nature and extent
51 of such improvements, and to file a report showing what improve-
52 ments are recommended and their estimated costs, which report
53 may be amended before final action. Such improvements may 54 include enlarging, reopening, widening, deepening, straightening
55 or lengthening any drain, changing its location or improving or 56 enlarging the outlet for better service; converting all or any 57 part of any drain from an open ditch to a closed drain; install-58 ing surface pipe for open ditches; enlarging, altering, or 59 improving pumping plants; leveling spoil banks, or constructing

60 settling basins. If the estimated cost of the improvements
61 does not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the original
62 cost of the district, the board may order the work done
63 without notice. The board shall not divide proposed improve-
64 ments into separate programs in order to avoid the twenty-five
65 per cent (25%) limitation herein fixed for making improvements
66 without notice. If the board deems it desirable to make im-
67 provements where the estimated cost exceeds twenty-five per cent
68 (25%) of the original total cost of the district, it shall set 69 a date for a hearing on the matter of constructing such 70 improvements and also on the matter of whether there shall 71 be a reclassification of benefits for the cost of such im-
72 provements, and shall give notice as provided in section four 73 hundred fifty-five point twenty (455.20) to section four hundred 74 fifty-five point twenty-four (455.24), inclusive, Code 1946.
75 At such hearing the board shall hear objections to the feasibility
76 of such improvements and such arguments for or against a re-
77 classification as may be presented by or for any taxpayer of 78 the district. Following the hearing the board shall order
79 made such improvements as it deems desirable and feasible,
80 and shall also determine whether there should be a reclassi-
81 fication of benefits for the cost of such improvement. If it
82 is determined that such reclassification of benefits should 83 be made the board shall proceed as provided in section four 84 hundred fifty-five point forty-five (455.45), Code 1946. Any 85 interested party shall have the right of appeal from such orders
86 in the manner provided in this chapter. Provided, however, 87 that the provisions of this section shall not affect the 88 procedures of section four hundred fifty-five point one hundred 89 forty-two (455.142) covering the common outlet.

90 "Where, under the laws in force prior to 1904, drainage
91 ditches and levees were established and constructed without 92 fixing at the time of establishment a definite boundary line
93 for the body of land to be assessed for the cost thereof, the 94 body of land which was last assessed to pay for the repair
95 thereof shall also be considered as the established district
96 for the purpose of this section."

97 4. Further amend House File 3, section 6, by striking from 98 lines 1 and 2 the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five 99 point ten (455.10)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words 100 and figures "four hundred fifty-five point one hundred ten 101 (455.110)"; and by adding to said section 6 a new paragraph

DES MOINES, IOWA, FEBRUARY 21, 1949.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Prayer was offered by the Reverend Harold J. Dorrance, pastor of the Inter-Denominational Church of the Open Bible, Iowa Falls.

The Journal of February 18 was corrected and approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE

Leave of absence was granted as follows: Foster of Monroe on request of Hansen of Carroll; Armstrong of Black Hawk on request of Wells of Pottawattamie.

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Pote of Taylor rose under the question of personal privilege and announced to the House that today was the birthday of the Honorable Earl A. Miller of Black Hawk.

Brookings of Pottawattamie led the House in singing "Happy Birthday" to Mr. Miller.

Hanson of Lyon rose under the question of personal privilege, asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following statement printed in the Journal:

A CORRECTIVE STATEMENT

In this statement may I pay my respects to the representatives of the press who report daily the highlights of legislative activity. Our desk force is to be complimented on a minimum of errors in the face of confusing situations.

Considering that we have three Clarkes, two Millers and two Hansons in the House, it is understandable that errors do occur and, it is with a great deal of charity toward the press, I seek to rectify reports widely circulated in northwest Iowa that are embarrassing to me personally.

I refer to press and radio reports that I am sponsor of a bill to legalize pari-mutuel betting at horse races. To get the record straight, may I say I am not the sponsor of such a bill, and would oppose same with my vote. I quite agree with numerous critics that to take any other position would be inconsistent with my beliefs as expressed through years of leadership in local and district activities of the Methodist church of which I am a member. I am happy to concede the credit for House File 312 to my worthy namesake from another county.

Misplaced criticisms can be more readily avoided if we whose names appear in duplicate in the House membership are identified with the names of our counties.

May I further observe that every citizen has a very definite responsibility in securing good legislation. Criticisms based on news errors or reports wrongly interpreted by the reader or radio listener are discouraging to any conscientious legislator. Constructive suggestions, on the contrary, are welcome.

I ask unanimous consent to have the above remarks printed in the House Journal.

Respectfully submitted,
A. C. HANSON of Lyon.

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF IOWA:

For the first time in history, our people realize the need for an armed force in peacetime. We've always been against it. Many of our forefathers came to this country seeking relief from oppression that military power brought down on them in their native lands. We hoped and believed that at last we had a civilized world in which arms-bearing would not be necessary.

In the face of facts to the contrary, the pacifist attempts to buy his fighting done. He wants to hire volunteers to do the job. Put the responsibility on the other fellow. Let George do it.

The big problem is what kind of an armed force we should have. Now where shall we turn for advice? To the pacifist? Let's see if there aren't better sources.

In 1944, the Congress established in the House of Representatives a Select Committee on Postwar Military Policy composed of members from the military and naval affairs committees and other congressional groups. Intensive study was made to determine the thinking of the nation at large, so that a policy having united support might be determined. Included in the committee's recommendations were the following, and I quote: "The retention by the United States of a degree of military power, in being or in reserve, adequate to her needs depends upon several component factors, an indispensable one of which is an alert and trained citizenry capable of prompt mobilization to meet and deal with any national or international emergency. It is not feasible to rest the future security of the United States upon a large standing armed force; its cost would be prohibitive, the necessary men to fill its ranks could not be hired in time of peace, and it would be repugnant to the American people."

So spoke the Congress in 1945, while the worst of wars still raged. In view of the struggle going on now to keep the cost of a huge professional force within the ability of the people to pay, doesn't that counsel stand up as prophecy?

How about the executive branch of government? What has it had to say?

The first President of the United States addressed the nation in these words: "It may be laid down as a primary position, and the basis of our system, that every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government owes not only a portion of his property, but even of his personal services to the defense of it." George Washington insisted on trained citizen-soldiers as the foundation for national defense with a regular force just large enough (I quote) "to protect our trade, prevent the encroachment of our neighbors . . . and guard us at least from surprises."

The thirty-second, and present, President has gone to Congress three times asking that Washington's concept of the citizen-soldier be applied through a program of universal military training. And twice, he went for that specific purpose alone.

Now for the nation's civilian leaders. How do they stand?

The Compton Commission was made up of recognized leaders in every walk of civilian life. They decided unanimously in favor of the small professional—large reserve ratio for the military establishment. And more recently, the Hoover Commission seconded the motion.

And then we turn to the armed forces themselves. What advice do we find there? In 1945, General George C. Marshall said that no member of the regular services should do a job that could be done as effectively and on time by a citizen-soldier. He, and General Eisenhower after him, laid down the same prescription for a peacetime defense program depending largely on a well-trained civilian reserve. Certainly, the thinking of the foremost military men of our generation, on whom we relied for leadership in war, is worth consideration.

From all of these recommendations, we can draw only one logical conclusion. Our armed forces of the future must be built around civilian components made more effective through universal military training.

And yet, what have we today?

We have a huge military and naval establishment costing more than one-third of the total federal budget and keeping more than a million and a half of our young men under arms full time. To attract volunteers for this force, we are paying the peacetime soldier half again as much as his opposite number drew in wartime. And as a further persuader, we are holding over the heads of all our youth a selective service program that is neither democratic nor realistic.

Last March, the President was told of a crisis that had arisen in Berlin and which could be dealt with only through a great rearmament program based on revival of Selective Service. Looking back, we see it wasn't a crisis but an incident of which many more can follow. Are we going to make a habit of saddling ourselves with new obligations and new debts every time one of these incidents occurs? Or shall we plan now for one consistent defense program based on strong reserve components that will enable us to take these incidents in stride?

When you consider the strength of our reserves today, compared with the regulars, you have to question whether the professionals are acting in genuine good faith toward the citizen-soldier. In each of the last three years, they were given large funds to use in expanding the reserves. And each year, they managed to divert a considerable portion of these moneys to other purposes within their own establishment. This is nothing new. Since the beginning of the nation, the citizen-soldier has never been given a fair share of federal appropriations. He's had to take what's left. Isn't there some way of making sure the funds Congress authorizes for the civilian components are used by them? Why not have a representative of the reserves sitting with the Secretary of Defense on a level with the Secretaries of Army, Navy and Air—a man who understands that side of defense and will fight for its proper place?

There's another soft spot on the program we have today. I am told there has been pretty stiff competition among Army and Navy and Air for the tax dollar—that each service goes on the premise that its programs and its wants are all-essential. The fact that they went to the President with budget requests totaling some 25 billion dollars for 1949 would seem to point that way.

Now this approach might be acceptable, if the nation could afford three different security programs, but it can't. It can afford only one. What we must keep in mind is that the career soldier is not an economist. He's not experienced in finding the most economical way of doing things. As the Hoover Commission points out—through no fault of his own, he tends to avoid compromise, to follow a fixed and rigid pattern of thinking that isn't easily adjusted to changing conditions. Isn't it about time we take these limitations into account in our relationship with these fellows? After all, they are honest and sincere and as interested in doing right by their country as the rest of us. Wouldn't it be to everyone's advantage for the Congress to insist on a reasonable and realistic accounting for the checks it is asked to write?

If we are ever to build the kind of armed force Washington described as most democratic and least expensive, UMT is a must. Only through some form of universal training can the civilian reserves be strengthened and the regular forces pared down.

You will remember that in 1944 we went to Congress and asked for such a program. We were told to go back to the people and get them to understand and support us. We did that, and the people gave us a few very simple ideas. They asked that the program be headed by a civilian administration and adapted to the needs and habits of the young men of 18. They wanted the basic training to be intensive, so as to cause the least interference with his education. And they wanted the advanced training applied in some component of the armed forces and the trainee given the right of choice as to what form his advance training could take.

We have been many years gathering this information and fitting it into one over-all plan. That plan has been presented to Congress in legislative form and is awaiting action now in the armed services committee of each house.

The objections to it are, principally, two in number. It is said, first, that UMT would require taking some 250,000 members from the regular armed forces to run it, and, secondly, that it costs too much.

Let's see what could be done by using what we have. In every state there are camp sites which would provide all the housing and training facilities the program needs. If we accept the estimate of 250,000 regulars with five thousand dollars as an average of the annual pay received by each, that would add up to a million and a quarter dollars per year for administrative overhead. Why not eliminate that expense? At the present time, a large number of regulars are assigned to the reserve components. Let them take care of the administrative jobs. Our complement of officers could come from the National Guard and the Reserves and the teachers who previously served in the armed forces. For instructors we could turn to the college students taking R.O.T.C. and let this instruction be a requirement for commissioning in the Reserves. And then we have the UMT graduates, themselves. Why couldn't teaching others what they had learned be a part of their reserve duties?

Why not reverse this business of the armed forces telling Congress how much money should be spent? Let Congress set a ceiling for the entire UMT program and say to the people in charge: Now you make your program fit our figure. It's amazing what can be done when a line is drawn and you know you can't cross it.

Is this program perfect? Of course not. But it represents the composite thinking of the people of this nation who want a defense system that guarantees economic and moral, as well as military, security. What we need now after all these years of debating and doubting and doing nothing is a concrete first step in that direction, and the Congress alone can take it. Why not establish the civilian commission and give it a chance to show whether there isn't a sound solution for this problem of security that has been kicked around so long. Wouldn't that be the democratic way?

After all, the Constitution charges Congress with full responsibility for national defense. Our entire system of government is premised on the enactment of legislation expressing the will and having the support of the majority of our people. In the case of UMT, I believe the majority is too great and the issue too vital for the Congress to put off a decision.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Leeka of Fremont moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

PRESENTATION OF GIFT

The Speaker called to the rostrum Poston of Wayne who addressed the House as follows:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

Today is the birthday of George Washington. For 150 years this man's birthday has been celebrated throughout the United States of America. No man in this hemisphere has gained such fame, and the memory of no other man has been so revered as that of our first president.

Having been reared in a family of wealth, surrounded by all the luxuries of a gentleman landowner, George Washington denied himself these comforts and identified himself as a youth with the common man fighting for freedom and expansion, thereby gaining the respect and friendship of his countrymen.

Early in life he excelled as an engineer and lived the hard life of a frontier surveyor. He held elective and appointive offices in his own community. He inherited and enlarged his land holdings and became a soil conservationist on his own farm when virgin prairies were to be obtained for the asking. He imported fruit and ornamental trees and shrubs, imported seed and improved his farm crops, devised an improved manner of marketing and exchange which were adopted by his neighbors with profit, imported and improved breeds of livestock and still had time to experiment and invent a fireproof paint with which to cover his home at Mount Vernon. One of the desires of his heart was to see established a public school system and he pioneered in this field of activity by setting up a public school in his home town of Alexandria.

In addition to all this, he found time to espouse the cause of the Colonists in wars against the Indians, and made great personal sacrifices in money and time in leading the Colonists against the Royalists of England. Having been elected twice to the presidency of the United States he refused to succeed himself in office although the demand for such succession was universal, giving as his reason therefor that to accept the third term at that time would defeat the democratic processes for which the newly established country had severed its connection with the crown of England.

It is therefore fitting, Mr. Speaker, that today you should be presented with one of the last relics of his own handiwork.

Representative Poston introduced to the House Mr. Victor Lindquist of Chariton, who presented to the Speaker a gavel and addressed the House as follows:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE: Through the kindness of Congressman Karl M. LeCompte, I was given a block of wood from an elm tree planted by George Washington on the capitol grounds in Washington.

I think it entirely fitting that a gavel from this block of wood be presented to the speaker of the House of Representatives on this, the birthday of the Father of Our Country.

With a feeling of reverence I have carved from this block of wood two gavels, one for the President of the Senate and one for the Speaker of the House, and it gives me great pleasure to present to you now this gavel made from the last remaining tree planted by the Father of Our Country.

PRESENTATION OF U. S. SENATOR HICKENLOOPER

Upon the arrival of United States Senator B. B. Hickenlooper in the House chamber, the Speaker appointed Kosek of Linn to escort the Senator to the Speaker's rostrum.

Representative Kosek addressed the House as follows:

MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is indeed an honor and pleasure to reintroduce to you today the gentleman I introduced in the Fifty-second General Assembly or reintroduced, I should say, and we call him our home town boy, as he is from Cedar Rapids.

He has served here in the House of Representatives for two terms as representative, from 1935 to 1939, and has served two terms as Lieutenant Governor, from 1939 to 1943 and Governor from 1943 to 1945.

In the Eightieth Congress he served as chairman of the atomic energy committee, of which he is now ranking member and regarding which he talked to us in the Fifty-second General Assembly two years ago.

He is at the present time serving as a member of the foreign relations committee and as a member of the agriculture and forestry committee. Being from an agricultural state, his interests are close to our hearts.

I reintroduce to you, the Senior Gentleman from Cedar Rapids, the Senior Gentleman from Linn county, the Senior Gentleman from Iowa, our Senior United States Senator, Honorable Bourke B. Hickenlooper.

Senator Hickenlooper was presented to the House and delivered the following address:

MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS AND FRIENDS OF THE HOUSE: I can't help but cast a longing eye at Seat No. 86 back there where so many things used to happen, and to assure you that it is always one of the greatest pleasures I can have to get back to see the Iowa legislature.

As the Speaker told you, he and I, and several of the rest of the friends I can see sitting here now, had the experience some time ago of serving when the legislature was 54-54 and those of you who weren't connected with it in that session just haven't seen anything yet as far as the legislative session is concerned. I happen to recall (and some of you older members will also recall) the time when I was trying to make a speech here on some subject, and one man from the opposite party got up and assured me his conscience was clear and the reasons why! You old-timers will remember that.

Nevertheless, it is a great pleasure to get back.

I have said to many of you that I think one remembers more about genuine legislative procedure and what you might call "parliamentary government" in the state legislature than any place else. The state legislature and the integrity of state government is still the bulwark of a free incentive system in this country, and as long as we keep the integrity, sovereignty and the great responsibility of state government at a high level we need have no real concern about the word "democracy" in this country, but once we permit this great system of forty-eight sovereign units to become submerged, to become subjugated, if you please, to a completely centralized system of government, then the system that you and I know and want to defend will begin to change its complexion.

I don't believe we are in danger in this country of such centralization. I believe the states will do a great job of meeting their responsibilities and maintaining their independence high. But it is always a field to be watched because power, whenever it is lodged, tends to increase itself and feed upon itself and it is only vigilance and the independent citizen in the discharge of his responsibility, either in a legislative body or as a private citizen, that keeps this strength and keeps the integrity of our system back at home where it belongs.

We are in a most troublesome and ominous situation today as a direct result of world conditions over which we fail to have very little control, but I just want to say this to you and give you this as my view that with the world turmoil what it is, with the despair and disturbances in other parts of the world among nations that believe in freedom, we have come awfully close to having to stand completely alone in this world to defend our ideals against the world that has done almost completely otherwise amidst the domination of communism, unless we are vigilant.

Many of our troubles today are directly traceable to the international confusion and our desire for security, safety and peace.

I would like to say to you today that there is a hope that the sun of peace and confidence is coming up. I believe it will come up one of these days soon, but I don't think the situation is such now that we can indulge in any undue optimism. I think we have a struggle, and a bitter struggle, in which men and women must think clearly and act cautiously for the long range peace interests, not only of our country but the systems of government and the world in which we want to live.

It will take a lot of thought and vision on the part of the American people and it is going to take a lot of sacrifice. We are living today in a sick world. We come as near being a healthy portion of that world as any section in the world, but the rest of the world is pretty sick. A year and a half ago I was in twenty-one countries of Europe and there is no description I have ever read that can fully raise in one's mind the utter despair and futility of living that exists in those countries. They are sick economically and sick morally.

They are getting better because they have some hope and they have some confidence now that the rest of the world will not desert them, but when you are ill you have to sacrifice, you have to have the physician, you have to cure the ailment and we have a long road to go before we can rightfully get back to the road of an assured peace.

I believe this will be done. I believe the American people are convinced that only in a free world can we be free, and in a world that is mostly slave we might eventually face the threat of slavery ourselves. I think we choose freedom in this country and I think we are willing to, and soundly, make the sacrifice for it, but let me say to you the integrity of the systems that must be strong begins in the forty-eight sovereign states and the degree which they exercise their responsibilities and carefully guard their rights, and their privileges and their sovereignty.

It is a thrill to be back and to see all of you . . . some of you I saw here yesterday.

I congratulate you on the hard work you are doing. You have many problems that you will face and solve in the traditional American government way.

I wish you luck and I know all of you, whether you have been here before or are here for the first time, will go away from this session with a much more stimulated feeling as an American and a better understanding of the responsibility that free people have to exercise.

Thank you.

283 is located, to require said commissioner of insurance
284 to show cause why the license should not be reinstated
285 or issued.

MR. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, MR. SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

To speak before this joint session would be a privilege and distinction for the statesmen and the best minds of this or other lands. You will understand, I hope, that the honor you are doing me today gives me a feeling of pride and gratification and, at the same time, a sense of deep responsibility. I am quite aware, of course, that you have asked me to come here because, as intelligent and open minded men charged with framing the legislation for a great state, you feel it worthwhile to hear a man speak about a cause. I believe in that cause. Like many, many others, like many men wiser than I, I believe in it with all my heart and with a sense of dedication. In the absence of a better man to present it to you—and so great is the cause that in this legislative chamber the best man would be none too good—I shall present it to you to the best of my ability. For myself and for the cause I represent I am grateful for the honor, and for the opportunity.

In addressing the legislature of the state of Iowa one feels that he speaks in a high presence. But he feels something more. The other night I was speaking to a New York state friend about my coming to this state. He said, and many New York staters whom I know would echo him, "They make out there something about as close to the typical American as anything that exists." We in the east have read since childhood of the romance and the grim struggle of the days when you and your forefathers subdued your great and fertile middle west. We have watched your rise to strength and prosperity and power. We have known strong, keen men from this state. The associate dean on my own faculty is from Iowa, Ralph Kharas; the dean of the great Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University, a dear friend of mine, Paul Appleby, is from your state. We know the great names you have contributed to American history. I am telling you only the literal truth, then, when I say that I am glad to be here.

There is no state in the union perhaps where one could speak with greater confidence that his audience will understand the tradition of America, the tradition of our common law which through the centuries has lighted the pathway toward freedom and toward the dignity and worth of the individual human soul.

If I speak gravely, I hope you will forgive me, for the times are very grave. Indeed, you may conclude that what I shall say will have to do, with ideas which have been slowly spreading for nineteen hundred years and more from a little land called Judea. There was revealed there, for mankind to use, a "new order" for the relationships of men. Dictatorships are not new. The subjugation by force and violence of tribes and nations to the will of a conquerer; terror and persecution and savagery and lust of power and might of arms were old when first the herald angels sang. But the new order, the only new order which the world knows, is that order whose aim and striving, however imperfectly achieved, is toward the freedom and dignity and worth of the individual human soul. Not as slaves, but only as free men, can men realize the possibilities of humanity.

Indeed I shall ask you, if you will, to bear in mind as I speak certain sayings that were uttered nearly two thousand years ago in that land of Judea. Things like "Give and it shall be given unto you;" "without vision the people perish;" "a house divided against itself cannot stand;" things which, as I think we Americans have at long last learned in two wars, are not just laudable ideals for Sunday morning, but are cold, hard, inescapable rules of conduct for men and nations.

I should like you to remember also while I am speaking, if you will, one other and quite different kind of thing. A distinguished American once said, in connection with the reform of government of a corrupt city in the east, "Sometimes things have to be very bad indeed before they can be made very good indeed." This, too, will have a bearing on what I shall try to say.

For things in the world today are very bad indeed. Let me review for you some of the facts which make the situation in which the world finds itself today perhaps the gravest it has faced since the beginning of recorded history.

When the first atom bomb exploded at Alamogordo we knew that something had happened quite new in the world's history. When a hundred thousand people died as a result of a split second blast over Hiroshima, in four square miles of that crowded city, we knew that civilization had quite suddenly passed into a new era, an era in which it had acquired the power to commit suicide, to destroy itself overnight. When the tests at Bikini showed the enormously greater power for destruction of atom bombs exploded under water—when we learned that radio-active products of the explosion falling upon ships in that little lagoon could not be cleansed or removed by any known means and might for all we know remain in deadly amount for years, for decades, for generations, for centuries, and that for such periods of time any place on which they fell would remain uninhabitable by human beings, one thing at least became crystal clear beyond question or argument or doubt or denial—there must not be another war.

We are told that bombs far more powerful than the one which blasted Hiroshima are now in existence and ready for their deadly use. We are told that bombs which, exploded in the air above a town, could blast four hundred square miles instead of the four square miles of Hiroshima, are in existence or an immediate prospect. We are told that a single bomb in New York harbor with a pleasant southeasterly breeze could destroy all life within the city and for a great area about it, and could make the places where the atomic fog fell uninhabitable for years or for centuries.

General Groves, head of the Manhattan project which manufactured the original bomb, stated before a senate committee that it would be quite possible for an enemy armed with atom bombs to kill in the neighborhood of forty million American citizens in a single attack. We know from the statements of the atomic scientists that no defense is known or in prospect which will prevent a percentage of a fleet of bombers carrying atom bombs from getting through to their targets. We know that it will not be many years before a fleet of enemy airplanes, standing two hundred miles off the eastern shore of North America, could launch rocket missiles, directed by radar, and aimed with their atomic bomb warheads at the industrial centers of the United States. We understand that the atomic bomb is itself so small and light that it could be brought in by enemy saboteurs in suitcases and planted in industrial cities, with time fuses set to explode.

But we know, too, that any competent chemist can make in a bathtub enough virus of various kinds to destroy the entire population of the United States. Half a dozen or more rocket planes, shooting across the United States at a height, say, of seventy thousand feet, unobserved and perhaps unheard, could spread this virus in the form of a finely divided fog. We should not know even that we had been attacked until the health statistics started to rise. The epidemics of terrible disease thus spread could be far beyond the power of medical science to control. There are viruses which could be similarly distributed which destroy crops and grass and animals. This is not a "Buck Rogers" story. This is what the world's great scientists are telling us. This, unhappily, is real.

In early times and down to the middle ages war was almost a pastime, a deadly game played by armies, but not so deadly but what men could enjoy it, would sell their services as mercenary soldiers, would find glory in it. But men became more "civilized," more inventive. My grandfather was born in 1826, the year after the Erie canal in New York state was hailed as the world's great triumph of engineering genius. He died ninety-two years later in 1918 when I was a soldier in France. When he was seven years old, in 1833, the then head of the United States Patent Office tendered his resignation giving as his reason that in his opinion the peak of invention had already been reached and in the future there would probably be very little need for his services. But during my grandfather's life he saw the railroads come, the telegraph, the telephone, electric lights, the automobile, the airplane—the dictionary is bulging with the names of the things we have made to our comfort and glory that our days might be long and that our sons and daughters might live after us in greater ease and in a softer security. As ever faster and faster we invent and build appliances and equipment and machines for life's comfort and security, so, and faster still, we find that these, our new possessions, are engines, too, for life's destruction; are tools of death as they are tools of life.

War, now, even in the second World War, is more than a pastime, more than a deadly game. Even the first World War foreshadowed what war was to become. Like many of you I saw the devastated cities of France, like Verdun and St. Mihiel. Like many of you also, I saw some of the shattered cities of the second World War, Cassino, Ancona, Formia, Pescara, Ortona, Messina. Neither for soldiers nor civilians was this last war a game. It was filthy and ugly and horrible beyond words.

But there MUST not be another war, for if there is, it will not be just another war filthier, uglier and nastier than the last. As General Bradley, the chief of staff, said: "The weapons now available will invade our homes here in America." The devastation, the destruction, the shattering of homes and factories and lives will not be just more dreadful than they were in the second World War. It is quite probable, in the opinion of experts, and of scientists, that the next war will wipe our civilization from the face of the earth and destroy it and us, our children and our grandchildren.

Arnold Toynbee, the world's greatest living historian, states in his last book that even before the invention of the atom bomb he had believed that a series of wars would destroy our civilization. Destroying civilization is a cold phrase when you hear it or see it in print. But those of you who were soldiers in either of the two World Wars will know what it means in destruction of property and lives, in human pain and suffering and in agony of body and of mind. But Toynbee says that now, in his opinion, based on the history of the human race, it seems probable that if there should be an atomic and biological war, nearly all of the human race will be destroyed, wiped out. He says it is quite possible, however, that certain human beings may survive, particularly the savage tribes living in central Africa and in central Australia. He goes so far as to speculate as to which of those tribes, if all civilization is destroyed, will probably constitute the nucleus of the next civilization. It took our civilization between five and six thousand years to develop, so historians say. There is no reason to believe that the next civilization would arrive in any shorter period of time. Toynbee, then, selects as the probable nucleus of the next world civilization in another five or six thousand years, a group of tribes, pygmy tribes in central Africa. The reason he selects them is because among all savage groups they alone are characterized by the most outstanding and elevated concept of God.

It is worthwhile noting some other things that Toynbee says. He tells us that there have been in the entire recorded history of the human race some twenty different civilizations of which fourteen have completely disappeared from sight, and five more are, as he thinks, decadent and headed for disappearance. The last, which he calls our Western Civilization, may or may not survive. If there is an atomic and biological war, he thinks it will not survive. But he does think that the intelligent and civilized portions of the human race have it in their power, if they will, to prevent the ultimate cataclysm of disaster, the destruction of our civilization itself. He says among other things that in order to buy time for the spiritual regeneration of the human race, it is absolutely necessary that we create a federal world government to impose one law, just and enforceable, over the nations of the earth. I am not quoting him directly, but that is his conclusion.

Mr. Toynbee, studying closely the history of these past civilizations which have disappeared, tells us that each one was confronted by some major challenge with which it was unable to cope, some change of environment or of political or economic climate, which it could not meet. The people living in that civilization were required to change their habits of thought and conduct, sometimes, I think, only a little, if they were to survive. But they could not or would not do so. They did not have the comprehensive understanding of history which is available to us today through the works of such men as Toynbee and others. They did not know, perhaps, that it lay in their own power to survive if they would.

The fact is, I think, that there is in political history a law of survival of the fittest by natural selection roughly parallel to the same law in biology with which from our school days we are all familiar. In geologic ages past, certain of the creatures living at the time when their environment changed, were or became, because of some difference in them from the rest of their species, better adapted to survive under the new conditions. But we know, too, that millions of the less adapted died out and that whole species and races were unable to survive the new environment and disappeared. We had supposed, we humans, that through science and invention and medicine we had succeeded at last in escaping nature's wasteful biological process of natural selection for survival. I wonder if we have. I wonder if in an increasingly materialistic world we should find ourselves exempt from that ancient biologic law. Admittedly inventions and machines have produced already, and are continuing to produce at an accelerated rate, profound changes in the material environment of the race. Admittedly too, changes in economic environment have in past human history resulted in the selection, for success and domination over their fellows, of certain types or kinds of men, and in plunging others down. Classes, races, civilizations have vanished when others became more adapted than they to meet the new conditions. We know, if we know anything from history at all, that the advent of the machine had made and is making a far-reaching alteration of environment. We know, if we know anything, that the dominant race or type of the future will be the one best adapted to survive in that new environment. Changes of environment sufficiently profound to affect the lives of human beings do not take geologic ages. In the past they have sometimes occurred within a few years. And due to the machine, the rate of change is getting faster and faster.

It would seem, then—and it is a sobering thought—that we who are alive today have it within our power to decide what the environment of tomorrow shall be, the environment in which we and our children shall live—or die. The responsibility for this decision lies heaviest upon Americans, for the mantle of the world's leadership has fallen on the shoulders of the land we love. If we have that great power, then it follows that we cannot escape the responsibility; that what we do or fail to do, under God, will swing the balance; that every act and step in our public policy is a weight in the balance one way or the other; that each day we are in fact making part of the decision as to what that world shall be tomorrow. We are engaged day by day in the process of determining for ourselves and our children whether the environment in which we and they shall live tomorrow will be one in which our civilization will be adapted to survive or will be "selected" for destruction; whether it will be an environment in which only the nations loving fear and violence and hatred and lust of power and might of arms and conquest and savagery will be adapted to survive, or whether in that new environment which we are engaged in creating the nations which love peace and order and kindness and attribute a high value to the individual human soul can survive. This is a high task and a high responsibility, perhaps the highest which has faced any nation since history began.

Toynbee asks: "What shall we do to be saved?" We know quite well the answer, we Americans. John Buchan, Lord Tweedsmuir, great British statesman and former governor-general of Canada, believed that America is the chief exponent of a creed which he thought "on the whole the best in this imperfect world," the exponent of the spiritual "testament of democracy." "The democratic testament," Lord Tweedsmuir said, "is one lesson that America has to teach the world. A second is a new reading of nationalism. Some day and somehow, the peoples must discover a way to brigade themselves for peace * * * the United States was the conscious work of men's hands, and a task which has once been performed can be performed again. * * * If the world is ever to have prosperity and peace there must be some kind of federation * * *. In such a task she (America) seems to me to be the predestined leader."

If this is America's predestined task, truly it is an act of creation, no less. We shall need to see visions and dream dreams. We shall need generosity and vision and an understanding of what unity must mean. We must not hope for perfection, but it is a task to engage the best we have, one into which Abraham Lincoln would have poured his heart's blood. For if we succeed, America and the other nations of the earth, if we create for a second time on the earth a more perfect union, history will write of the generation now living something that history has not written before. It will write that in this decade of 1949 the men of our generation in America did more to bring about peace on earth, good will to men, than all that has been accomplished in the 1900 years before, since the herald angels sang.

We believe, we Americans, that our country more perhaps than other nations has qualifications for the task that remains before us. Qualifications, and experience.

"A More Perfect Union"! In 1787 at Philadelphia, in the hearts of the little group of delegates from the thirteen separate, sovereign nation-states of North America who met in May of that year to form a new nation, these four words must have been words of hope, of necessity, of dedication. I have used them as the title of this speech because perhaps they stand in all our hearts today for an equal hope, for an equal dedication, and for an even deeper necessity.

Less than four years after the ending of a great war, as it was stated about a time of trouble thirty years ago, peace is still "raging furiously." There are wars and rumors of wars. But there is no peace. For peace is not just the absence of war; it is the organized assurance of stability under law. What we are facing today is not, of course, an exact parallel with what the thirteen colonies faced after the Revolutionary War was over and before the constitution was drawn, but it is a parallel close enough to be strong and persuasive.

Prior to the Declaration of Independence on the Fourth of July, 1776, the thirteen American colonies acknowledged allegiance to the British Crown. Each was fully independent of the others. Most of the colonies had grievances against Britain. In 1774 there was formed the Continental Congress, designed to bring to a common focus the mounting sense of outrage.

It was a wholly extra-legal body. Its members were no more than diplomatic representatives of the several colonies. It had practically no official powers. It was based on no treaty, no charter, and until 1781 had not even a fundamental law. Its weakness undoubtedly delayed for some years the final victory, which without the guiding genius of Washington and the common bond of war might never have been won. It could only request the colonies for money, not tax them, and thus lacked any dependable revenue. It could only request them for troops, not call out men. The results were tragically inadequate. The Continental Congress exercised but few of the functions of a government. To be sure, it declared independence. It contracted an alliance with France. It borrowed money. It issued paper money which lost value so rapidly that to this day in the United States the expression "not worth a Continental" is proverbial. It built a navy which acquitted itself with great distinction, and issued letters of marque.

Only in 1781 was there finally ratified an agreement between the states, known as the Articles of Confederation.

These articles purported to create between the thirteen substantially sovereign states a "firm league of friendship," and gave a legal basis for the Continental Congress. "But," says the historian, John Fiske, "The Articles of Confederation, which in 1781 defined its powers, served at the same time to limit them; so that for the remaining eight years of its existence the Continental Congress grew weaker and weaker until it was swept away to make room for a more efficient government." Like the Delian League of twenty-two centuries before, it was impotent to check the anarchy between the sovereign member states. It could not compel obedience short of going to war. It operated not upon individuals but only upon states. It did not bring peace and good will between them nor restrain the selfishness, the greed, the jealousy, the hate which moved them in the exercise of their sovereign wills. Once more we think of 1948!

The need for amendments was recognized by many, but for this unanimous consent of all thirteen member states was required. John Fiske says: "The historian cannot but regard this difficulty of amendment as a fortunate circumstance; for the troubles which presently arose made the distressed people seek some other method of relief, and thus prepared the way for the convention of 1787, which destroyed the whole vicious scheme * * *." Sixty years have passed since Fiske wrote; one wonders how far his words have meaning for us today.

The years in America just prior to the constitution of 1787 were tragic, desperate years. I suggest that they have a lesson for us. The parallel is by no means exact, but it is illuminating to a degree.

There was no public sentiment for union. Every influence and memory of the long war for freedom which had just ended tended to build up in the individual citizen a hatred of centralized higher authority, typified in the minds of the people by the tyranny of the British crown. Equally, every such influence had fired the citizen with loyalty to his own sovereign state to which he owed his freedom. The common opinion of Europe was reflected in the statement of Josiah Tucker, Dean of Gloucester in England, when he said: "As to the future grandeur of America, and its being a rising empire under one head, whether republican or monarchical, it is one of the idlest and most visionary notions that ever was conceived even by writers of romance. The mutual antipathies and clashing interests of the Americans, their difference of government, attitudes and manners, indicates that they will have no center of union and no common interest. They never can be united into one compact empire under any species of government whatever; a disunited people till the end of time, suspicious and distrustful of each other, they will be divided and subdivided into little commonwealths or principalities according to natural boundaries, by great bays of the sea, and by vast rivers, lakes, and ridges of mountains." And this was a liberal minded and farsighted philosopher who bore the United States no ill will.

To put ourselves back into the conditions of 1783, and evaluate the comparisons and parallels between them and what we find today, calls for some effort of the imagination. It took a man, if the weather was fine and the roads good, from a week to ten days to complete the journey from New York to Boston, now five hours. The mails were irregular, uncertain and costly. Commerce between the states was negligible and each little district within a state was self-sufficient. Each such district knew little of the others within the same state; practically nothing of the other states, to which only rarely and for the most urgent reasons did a man ever travel. Local prejudices were intense; distrust of other states and their inhabitants was bitter. It is small wonder perhaps that the thirteen nation states fell apart as soon as the bonds of war ceased to hold them together. Fall apart they did. The war ended in 1783. New York state led the way in a policy of greedy monopoly and sectional hate. It compelled every rowboat which crossed the Hudson river from the New Jersey farms to pay entrance fees and obtain clearance papers like a foreign ship. Every cartload of firewood or goods from neighboring Connecticut on the north paid a heavy duty to New York. New Jersey retaliated by taxing heavily certain New York state property within its boundaries; a great meeting of indignant business men in New London, Connecticut, resolved to suspend all commerce with New York state for twelve months. There was talk of war.

The legislature of Pennsylvania in 1784, bitter against a colony of Connecticut families, foreigners from an alien state, not only refused them aid in time of flood but sent soldiers who drove the people from their villages into the wilderness. Many died. The other Connecticut settlers in Pennsylvania took arms; men were killed. There was grave danger of a war between Connecticut and Pennsylvania; but sanity and decency returned just in time to the Pennsylvania authorities.

There was bitterness, too, between New York, New Hampshire and Vermont over boundaries and territory. New York sent troops to her frontier; New Hampshire prepared to do likewise; for a moment war seemed unavoidable. Only the personal intervention of General Washington himself prevented armed conflict.

The credit of the United States was almost zero. John Adams, ambassador of the United States in London, was refused by the Dutch government a loan of $300,000 on the pledge of that credit.

Financially and economically the results of the war spelled disaster in America. The entire country was pauperized. If a man paid his taxes it was regarded as an amiable eccentricity. Large sections of the country reverted to barter. By the year 1786, when nearly all trade had ceased, there appeared a craze for paper money. The value of money fell. Attempts at coercion failed. Exchange between the states and between areas within each state was "a labyrinth that no human mind could explore." The frantic demand for paper money exploded in Massachusetts in disorders, riots and armed rebellion which was suppressed in a five months campaign by state troops.

So far had Congress fallen in esteem that on June 21, 1783, some 80 mutinous, drunken soldiers drove the Congress of the United States out of the state house in Philadelphia! The Congress was powerless to carry out the American agreements in the peace treaty signed on September 3, 1783.

But there was even more. In addition to local state loyalties and local jealousies there were deep cleavages. There was an extensive Dutch speaking population in New York state, a German speaking population in Pennsylvania. The great plantation owners of Virginia and the Carolinas, a landed aristocracy, looked with hostility upon the merchants and traders of the northern maritime states such as New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York. They feared, too, that the latter might monopolize the carrying trade and charge ruinous rates for transporting southern cotton and agricultural products. In the northern states, moreover, slavery was fast disappearing and the movement to abolish it was growing strong, but in the south despite the opposition of intelligent men it was deeply embedded in the economic system. And there were profound differences between the southern and the northern states in interests, in attitudes and ways of life.

The small states feared with an intensity which today seems fantastic the dominance of the larger states. Moreover, five of the states asserted irreconcilable and hostile claims to great tracts of unoccupied western land. The other states dreaded the growth of the five into overbearing empires. In the winter of 1787 a controversy between northern and southern states as to the maintenance of commerce through the mouth of the Mississippi river in defiance of Spain, almost tore the country apart.

Disunion seemed irretrievable. Statesmen of Europe were sure that the United States would disintegrate. Even after the Constitutional Convention had sat for two months, General Washington himself, having presided for days over the acrimonious debates between the large and small states as to the basis of their representation in the proposed legislature, wrote to Alexander Hamilton, "I almost despair of seeing a favorable issue to the proceedings of our convention, and do therefore repent having had any agency in the business. * * * The crisis is equally important and alarming, and no opposition under such circumstances should discourage exertions till the signature is fixed."

It was a bold step to ask the thirteen jealous, quarreling nation states to give up to a new form of super government some of the sovereignty, some of the independence for which they had just fought a war. That the states proved willing to give up some of their sovereignty, that their people had vision, that they had a sense of what unity might mean, goes to show that when disaster looms men have a way of rising to meet the challenge; of finding a remedy great and wide and deep enough to meet the threat of great catastrophe. No student of history needs to be told that, as a distinguished American once said, "Conditions sometimes have to become very bad indeed before they can be made very good indeed." It was a bold step and a gallant one for that Constitutional Convention to propose replacing a mere congress of ambassadors of the states with an unknown and powerful central government capable of acting on individuals, having powers strictly limited but adequate for unity. Only a bold step would have been enough to capture the imagination of the people of the thirteen nation states. Too little is never enough. Then, as throughout history, sacrifice and vision and unity of purpose in full measure were indispensable prerequisites of achievement. "Give and it shall be given unto you," "Without vision a people perish," "A house divided against itself cannot stand." And there was given to them a new nation destined to be great.

Give and it shall be given unto you; without vision the people perish; a house divided against itself cannot stand. The people of the thirteen little nation states gave up, because they had a vision and a sense of what unity might mean, a sense of the necessity for unity, some of the sovereignty, some of the independence for which they had just fought a long and bitter war against a foreign enemy. It had become clear as crystal to them that the Articles of Confederation, a league of the thirteen colonies, was utterly impotent because it could not operate upon individuals but could only make requests of the member nation states. Now, there is no way to compel a nation state to do anything, no way to compel it to refrain from war, except by going to war against it! The first League of Nations of which I happen to know was the Delian League of the Greek city states of the year 478 B. C. Its history is the history of every league since then; it depended upon treaties and promises; when one of the member states became frightened enough or greedy enough so that in the pious phrase of diplomacy its high interests demanded that it go to war, the only way to prevent it from going to war was to go to war against it. And the Delian League a few years later exploded into the Peloponnesian War. The League of Nations went the way of all leagues, went the way that all leagues must go if they can act only by compelling nation states and not by arresting, trying and punishing individuals. The United Nations has not even the legal power to prevent any of the Big Five, with their right of veto, to do anything or refrain from doing anything. The United Nations organization has not even the right to go to war against some member which wishes to start a war! It has not even the legal right to begin a total war for the sake of preventing a total war. The veto prevents it!

We know quite well, we Americans, what the world needs today to prevent another war. We know it from our own history.

Now I am not one of those people who believe that the League of Nations ought to be abolished or scrapped or diminished or made impotent. The United World Federalist Organization to which I have the honor to belong believes that it is vital and indispensable to preserve the League of Nations and to strengthen it into a federal world government with powers adequate to prevent war and insure peace. The United World Federalists believe that there MUST not be another war; that the first job of every statesman and of every citizen is to take those steps which will prevent another war. We believe that in the light of what conditions are today and in view of the alternative of possible destruction, the world and its peoples or most of them possess and will show if given a lead by the United States the generosity, the vision, and the sense of what unity might mean so that the world conditions which today are very bad indeed, can be made very good indeed.

What are the requirements for a federal world government? In the first place, a charter or constitution to be agreed upon between the nations of the world or such of them as will join—and we believe that the vast majority of all the nations of the earth would join at once or soon, and that there is a possibility at least, perhaps a probability, that after a few years the rest will join;—we should remember that after the American constitution was drawn it was ratified by nine of the states at first, and later on by the rest, some of them a long time later.

Under the world constitution one needs a police force. In every town and village and state in the nation the majority of the people of the United States are people of good will. But there is a gangster element; if all the good citizens signed an agreement to the effect that they would behave themselves, and abolish the police force in the town or city or state government, you would have precisely what happened in the city of Boston years ago when the entire police force went on strike. A great world statesman, a leader of the United Nations organization, said in a speech advocating federal world government the other day, "The trouble with the United Nations today is, there's burglars in the shop and there ain't no cops!" The United Nations is doing a magnificent job with its specialized agencies on food, health, narcotics, finance and the rest. But we know in our own communities that it isn't the grocer, the doctor, the banker, the druggist, who keeps the peace. We still need a policeman!

We need a world police force then, an army strong enough to enforce the peace, and if any nations stayed outside the world federal government, an army strong enough to be unchallengeable by them. Just as citizens are not allowed to keep stocks of tommy-guns, so each member nation of the world federal government must give up to the central army its heavy equipment, its bombers, fighter planes, heavy field guns, tanks, battleships, destroyers, submarines. Also, the entire control of the manufacture of atomic fissionable materials must be turned over to the central world government, and there must be constant, unremitting, careful inspection to make certain that no one is breaking the federal law, that no one is preparing for or fomenting war.

If you have a police force you need a law to be sure the police force doesn't operate arbitrarily. To make a law you need a legislature. To make sure that the legislature does not make laws in violation of the world charter and unfairly burdening the citizens of any country, you need a high tribunal more or less parallel to the supreme court of the United States. You must have, of course, a dependable power of revenue—that means a very strictly limited right to tax.

That is all—it is easy to state. It is hard to achieve; but hard only if the peoples of the earth and the United States in particular fail to understand what it means, and how vital it is to their self-preservation. It means that if the leaders or industrialists of some one nation are fomenting war, are preparing to manufacture heavy equipment for war or are violating the law for manufacturing fissionable materials except under control of the central federal government, the world federal government sends its police in to arrest them. It tries them as war criminals. The trials would be like the trials at Nuremburg of the German war criminals; except for one enormous difference—that is that the trials would take place before four million men had lost their lives in a devastating and destructive war, not afterwards.

I am always asked, what about Russia. I doubt if Russia would be willing to enter such a federal world government at the beginning. The Russian statesmen and the communists in America who follow the Russian party line, have attacked the United World Federalists as a group which wants to organize a power alliance against Russia. But if a federal world government were formed of thirty or forty or fifty nations, it is possible that Russia might have confidence enough in it to join. Certainly, being realistic, she and her statesmen would see that it would be difficult for Russia to enter into an arms race against that many nations, federated into a world government with strictly limited powers, but adequate and strong enough to be unchallengeable. If Russia did not come in, and entered into an armaments race against such a federated world government, the burden of such a race would fall more heavily upon Russia than it would upon any of the individual member nations. Their military expenditures would probably be considerably less, year by year, than if each of the member nations was attempting to maintain its own separate and to some extent duplicating military establishment. But Russia would have to carry the burden alone. It is said that the living conditions of her people and their standards are low even now. They might progressively get lower. Imports would be denied to Russia of steel and machinery and tractors and all of the thousand and one items which she needs to make her economy function well. The time might well come when her standard of living was so low that even the soldiers in her army became discontented. Even Russian soldiers might not like to see their wives and children and parents starving. Moreover, to a Russia who had disarmed herself and submitted faithfully to a constant inspection, further concessions could be made. Not only could she be allowed to have all the imports she wanted; she could have her share of near-Eastern oil, of control of the Dardanelles and of the Suez Canal and Gibraltar; there are other considerations which all of them added together would constitute a real and perhaps powerful inducement for Russia to join the federated world government on the principle well known to us, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em!" Whether she would or not I cannot say. I am no prophet. I can only repeat that the inducement to do so would be great.

In Europe last summer I talked with the leaders of the federal world government in a number of different countries. The movement is strong there. It is growing rapidly. Again and again and again I was told that an active step forward by the United States of America would electrify the world; that the other countries are waiting for us to give the lead.

Some people ask, "If you can't get the nations to cooperate in such a thing as the United Nations, if you can't get Britain and France and Belgium and Holland and Luxemburg to agree upon a form of federation, how can you hope to induce the nations to take the enormously greater step of forming a federal world government?" In my opinion the answer to both questions is precisely the same. Everybody knows, who thinks about it, that the United Nations, despite its great accomplishments and its great promise, cannot prevent a war. It is legally deprived of the power to do so. Everybody knows, moreover, that an alliance of the five nations mentioned would be nothing but an alliance for military purposes against Russia and that it, too, could not possibly prevent a war. At most, it may buy time. I favor the alliance. I favor the United States remaining very strong, to buy time. But that will not end the race of armaments. It will not create a climate favorable to peace. These are half measures. In all history half measures have never been enough. Half measures cannot capture the imagination of the people of the world; cannot assure the people of the world of a good chance of preventing the war which is coming nearer and nearer. I do not believe that war is inevitable. I do believe that it will inevitably come, and perhaps before very long, unless we take the steps to prevent it. There is but one step that will give us a good chance of preventing it. It is not a guarantee. But I think it is "the last best hope of earth."

We hear many voices telling us that Stalin and the communists have electrified their people with a faith in something—something to be sure which we detest. We hear voices urging us to make democracy work, to make it come alive again as it was alive once when the fathers of our country in the thirteen nation-states gave up a little of their sovereignty and independence for the vision and for the hope of what unity would mean. Here is our chance to show that we have not quite forgotten the lesson which they learned so well. Here is a chance for us Americans to form once more a more perfect union, to make democracy work, to create in the world tomorrow an environment in which the free nations can exist and still remain free. No higher task has faced any people. I think that Americans will prove themselves worthy of the responsibility. For it is our task in this generation of 1949, if again I may use the words of an older time, to make invincible among the nations a commonwealth to invite the souls of men.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Kruse of Floyd moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Whereas, the Honorable John W. Gannaway of Poweshiek county, who was a member of the Fifty-second General Assembly, passed away on August 20, 1947;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker of the House to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating his life, character and service to the state.

Resolution was adopted.

The Speaker appointed as such committee Paul of Poweshiek, Schwengel of Scott and Brown of Mahaska.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 14

A concurrent resolution memorializing and requesting the Congress of the United States to take notice of the great number of grade crossing accidents and suggesting legislation requiring the reflectorizing of the sides of railroad cars so same can be more readily seen.

Whereas, official records and newspaper accounts disclose a considerable number of serious grade crossing accidents in Iowa and throughout the nation; and

Whereas, this situation has been tragically called to our attention by the grade crossing accident on December 18, 1948, in which the wife of one of our legislators lost her life and other members of the family were seriously injured; and

Whereas, one means of protection of grade crossings at night time appears to be the reflectorizing of the sides of railroad cars so as to make them visible during the night time by reflecting light from high-vehicle headlights; and

Whereas, the only effective way to accomplish this end by regulation would be through legislation by the Congress of the United States; now therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring Therein: That the attention of Congress be called to these circumstances with the recommendation that appropriate action be taken by Congress.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution duly authenticated be sent to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate of the United States Congress, the chairman of the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Senators and Congressmen from Iowa.

• Laid over under Rule 34.

CONSIDERATION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION 3

Ward of Scott offered the following House resolution and asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration:

HOUSE RESOLUTION 3

Whereas, a bill for an act declaring bank night to be unlawful and providing a penalty for holding a bank night, known as House File 311, has been introduced in the House of Representatives:

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That the bureau of investigation of the state of Iowa make an investigation of the practices employed by certain theaters in Iowa participating in and promoting what is commonly known as "bank night."

That the bureau of investigation be requested to forthwith direct its investigation to obtain data, facts, findings and figures on "bank night" as conducted by member theaters in the principal cities of Iowa, that a study may be made respecting the following matters:

1. Whether "bank night" plan is in fact a lottery or game of chance.
2. Whether the advertised statements of possible participation in drawings and winnings of prizes without being required to buy an attendance ticket is a mere subterfuge devised by the theater owners in an attempt to give the enterprise an outward appearance of a lawful business.
3. The extent to which the people patronize the member theaters participating in the plan as compared to the patronage of non-member theaters to determine if it be a fact that patrons pay for a chance to win a prize.

4. To get the facts and figures as to the possible sums hazarded and lost by the people who have been attracted by the "bank night" plan and have been induced by the theater owners to participate in the winnings.

5. To get facts and figures to aid in determining the proportion of those participating in the drawings who are minors and those who cannot afford to risk their earnings.

6. Whether there is any demoralizing effect on the winners and any impoverishing effect on the losers and as to the possible effect on the habits and morals of people.

7. To furnish findings on possible effects and losses to legitimate business.

8. To particularly investigate the mechanics employed in conducting "bank night" drawings as to whether same are fair and honest, whether lists of names of participating persons are accurate, true and legitimate and how the same may compare to the population of the city, and as to the percentage of winners compared to those failing to claim prizes and as to any other facts that might reflect the sharing of revenues from "bank night" by members with the organization owning and controlling "bank night" plan.

Be It Further Resolved: That the report of the bureau of criminal investigation be turned over to the attorney general of the state of Iowa for study and action and to report to the House of Representatives for exhibit in consideration of House File 311 or any successor similar bill.

Ward of Scott moved its adoption.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Klemesrud of Winnebago rose under the question of personal privilege and addressed the House as follows:

During the past two sessions, and so far in the third, we have admired the statesmanship, diligence and painstaking thoroughness employed with honesty and compassion by one of our members.

I would like to pay tribute this morning to this industrious legislator, this kindly person, this good friend.

I like to believe that when the Supreme Grand Sculptor had molded great public servants of the past, George Washington, Abe Lincoln, Herbert Hoover and Franklin Roosevelt, he found that in each case He had not only enough human clay for the job intended . . . but also a little bit more.

In about 1880, He took these leftovers, a little statesmanship, a bit of honesty and compassion, some painstaking thoroughness, some diplomacy . . . He took this little bit more to create a little Moore . . . I mean a little boy named Moore. More specifically, Harry A. Moore, born in Wright county on March 14, 1882. But despite the fact that the boy Harry had been born with some of the virtues of two former presidents and two men then living who would become president during his lifetime, the events of Mr. Moore's boyhood and youth made his future look bad . . . very bad. One time he was discovered coming from his neighbor's apple orchard . . . he had tied twine around the bottom of his pant legs so he could carry more stolen apples inside his overalls.

Some years later, in college, when a Kansas debating squad arrived in Cedar Falls for a debate, Harry was one of a group who crawled through a window to enter the room assigned to the Kansas debaters and played a prank on them.

Society is fortunate, the state of Iowa is fortunate, that about this time, Harry met his dream girl . . . there was no Moore foolishness, Moore was in deadly earnest from that time on. Forty years ago, on March 10, 1909, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore were married. His good wife has been developing him ever since, and the good qualities the Lord originally endowed him with have been coming to the forefront all during those forty years.

Since Mr. Moore's service to the state prevents his and Mrs. Moore's being with their three children and grandchildren on this happy fortieth anniversary, I think it would be nice if we have a little ceremony for them in this house. I suggest the Speaker appoint a committee to escort the couple to the well in front of the Speaker's desk, and instruct the gentleman from Pottawattamie county, Mr. Brookings, to lead the assembly in singing a song for them.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Moore were escorted to the well of the House and Brookings of Pottawattamie led the House in singing "Let Me Call You Sweetheart" for Mr. and Mrs. Moore.

Johannes of Osceola presented a petition signed by thirty-two citizens of Osceola county opposing House File 101.

The committee previously appointed escorted the Pioneer Lawmakers to the House chamber.

Music was furnished by the music department of Drake University.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Justice H. J. Mantz, president of the Pioneer Lawmakers.

Justice Mantz introduced to the joint convention Senator Fred L. Maytag and made the following remarks:

GOVERNOR EVANS, SPEAKER KUESTER, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT ASSEMBLY, PIONEER LAWMAKERS, AND FRIENDS:

The Senate and the House have very graciously invited the Pioneer Lawmakers to be with them today as they assemble in joint session.

Responding to your very kind invitation, we are here to join you in a brief program. Some of our members who have attended past meetings have not been able to attend; some are here for the first time. In the closing weeks of your work, we appreciate the fact that you are busy; therefore, we hope that we will not trespass upon your hospitality.

Therefore on behalf of our organization, I thank you.

In acting in my present capacity I am reminded of an incident that happened at one of the sessions. One of the heavy committee assignments that I had when I was a member of the legislature was to be a member of the committee on chaplains. It was my duty to see that there was someone present at each session, as some pessimist said, to look over the legislature and then pray for the people. The other two members of the committee did not seem to be very ecclesiastically minded and they turned the whole job over to me. I met the chaplain, took him to the rostrum, introduced him to the Speaker, and he took over from there. At that particular session we had a Speaker who was a stickler for time. Ten o'clock to him meant just sixty minutes after nine. It irritated him and irked him if we were not there on time.

On this particular occasion the minister was two or three minutes late. I took him to the platform and introduced him to the Speaker, and after he had performed he came down, and I met him and registered him so that he would get his five dollar stipend—I don't know whether you pay more than that now or not. And then he said to me, "I would like to ask a question." I said, "All right." "What kind of a Speaker have you got up there? What kind of a fellow is he?" I said, "Why?" He said, "I will tell you. When I went up there this morning he gave three raps, looked at my card, announced my name, and said that I would deliver the invocation. And then he said in a monotone as he nudged me in the ribs with his elbow, 'Parson, make it snappy.'"

I will try to follow our customary procedure, and following this customary procedure an address of welcome will be delivered by each branch of the legislature. That on behalf of the Senate will be given by one of the younger members. A relative of his years ago was a member of the Senate. He is a man devoted to civic affairs, and public interests. He comes from a family whose name is a household word in America. The product which he produces, distributes and sells has been a boon to mankind in that it has changed "blue Monday" into a half holiday. It gives me pleasure to present to you Senator Fred Maytag.

Senator Maytag, on behalf of the Senate, welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers and made the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE PIONEER LAWMAKERS ASSOCIATION:

It is indeed an honor, as the baby of the Senate, to have the privilege of welcoming the Iowa Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly. It gives me particular pleasure to do so because of the fact that my grandfather was a member of this body forty years ago, and served with some of you who are today the recipients of our affection and esteem. Our meeting thus bridges the gap of three generations of Iowa lawmakers, and in so doing carries us back, for this fleeting moment, over nearly half the life span of Iowa's statehood.

We who have put aside for an hour the many tasks of a busy session of the legislature in order that we may honor you, our elder statesmen, look forward in our daily tasks to the future of this great state. It is appropriate that on this occasion we should look back with you and examine the great heritage which you have given us.

Iowa was richly endowed by nature with fertile land and favorable climate, but it took the sturdy pioneers who came here in search of a new home to convert those natural resources to useful purpose. We are grateful to them for having first tilled our soil, built our cities and towns, and established our industries, all of which have helped to make this the prosperous state that it is.

Even more, however, we are grateful to the early pioneers for having bred and reared such men as you, who continued to build upon the foundations of our constitution the good government which we now enjoy and which it is our duty and privilege to perpetuate.

It is said that every generation inevitably believes that the younger generation is going to the "dogs". I wonder what thoughts must be going through your minds, as you, with the greater wisdom and mellowness of your elder statesmanship, sit on the sidelines and observe our efforts to carry on the functions of our government in the tradition which you have established. Do you regard us as rambunctious young upstarts? My grandfather sometimes felt that way about me. Or do you see in us the same qualities that you had when you were here? My grandfather was considered sort of rambunctious in his day, if we can believe the campaign literature put out by his political opponents.

Let us hope that as you watch us in our labors you can view our petty bickerings and our follies with a smile of amusement, our failures with tolerant understanding, and our successes with a nod of approval.

Whatever may be your attitude, we are happy to have you in our midst. Iowa is rich, indeed, to have such as you among our elder statesmen. With high regard for the service which you have rendered to the state, appreciation for the heritage you have passed on to us, and with the earnest hope that we may carry on in the fine tradition which you have established, I welcome you to this joint convention in the name of the Senate.

Justice Manz introduced to the joint convention Representative A. H. Avery and made the following remarks:

On behalf of the House, the welcome greeting will be given by one who has served in that body almost from the time the "memory of man runneth not to the contrary," as we used to say of the English Common Law. I would prefer to look upon him as an elder statesman. When he speaks the microphone is a useless contrivance. During his tenure in the House the record shows that he has consistently sponsored measures tending to promote the general welfare of the people of Iowa. It is with pleasure that I present to you the Honorable A. H. Avery.

Representative Avery, on behalf of the House, welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers and made the following remarks:

MR. CHAIRMAN, PIONEER LAWMAKERS, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT SESSION, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

About half an hour ago, my clerk passed this slip of paper over to me and said "Do you know that you are to make an address of welcome this afternoon?" I said "No." She said, "There is the paper." I said, "By-gum, I am going to fulfill the duty. I am strong for Pioneers, whether they are lawmakers or otherwise."

The Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa have set a pace that we, of the present General Assembly here, would do well to follow. I recall back in 1916 when W. L. Harding of Sioux City made a campaign for Governor on a platform of "Mud Roads and the King Drag," and he had Jim Pierce of the Iowa Homestead backing him up; and they won that election on mud roads and the King drag in 1916.

And I recall later on we had a proposition that stirred the state from one end to the other, and that was to vote bonds to the tune of one hundred million dollars to build primary roads. The Supreme Court held it unconstitutional. They did not vote them. But we went ahead on the basis of that which you had planned, but never dreamed of the fulfillment probably; we built primary roads in Iowa.

And the other day the House passed a bill appropriating fifty million dollars a year out of current revenues to build roads in Iowa. Some progress! Some progress!

I thank you Pioneers for the privilege of welcoming you on this occasion. I have always had a warm place in my heart for Pioneers and I now have an especially warm place in my heart for the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa. Thank you.

Justice Mantz, on behalf of the Pioneer Lawmakers, acknowledged the welcoming remarks of Senator Maytag and Representative Avery.

Justice Mantz introduced to the joint convention the Honorable Ray O. Garber, former Representative from Adair county, and made the following remarks:

Mr. Garber delivered the following address:

Historically, our organization had its beginning over sixty-three years ago. Many men who had much to do with the progress and development of the state were among the active members. Among its members were ex-Governors, former Senators and Representatives, Justices of the Supreme Court and many others.

It is the purpose of our organization to keep alive the ideals and traditions of the pioneers of Iowa, those hardy and heroic men who came into a new and untried territory there to build homes, rear families and keep alive the traditions of the past—to see to it that the things which Washington fought for, Jackson bled for and Lincoln died for would be carried on untarnished and undiminished.

Viewed in the background of the past, we realize that it takes a time of stress and struggle to impress upon a free people the value of their ideals and traditions and of the necessity of preserving them at all times and at all hazards.

The tendency, always, is to gradually drift away from the fundamentals of right living and good government and of clear thinking and to pursue a course, which if followed too far, inevitably leads to disaster. Fortunate, indeed, is the people who have such ideals and traditions and when danger approaches and such are assailed arise to defend them to their uttermost.

As a people, we stand close to the shadows of doubt and uncertainty and are confronted with perils seen and unseen. As a people it behooves us to steadfastly adhere to those priceless heritages of the past—the ideals and traditions of the pioneer. Let us not be false to the faith of our fathers—those heroic men and women who made it possible for you and me to be here today.

Some of our members served the state of Iowa many years ago, and a few are here today after being away for many years. Naturally, they look about them and note the changes made in the passing of time.

One notable change is the manner of registering the votes on the various measures. Now, instead of the time-honored yea and nay, they see the former shown by the green light—the latter by the red light. They are in a sense stop and go signs, but operating at the same time. Formerly the roll call was slow, tedious and time killing. The bill was read the third time and put on its final passage. The clerk called the roll, then there was the roll of absentees; sometimes the Sergeant-at-Arms was ordered to round up those who failed to vote. His first destination was usually the cloak room to find those who had gone there to smoke—possibly to avoid roll call. This done there was a verification of the roll call. All told it took about a quarter of an hour to get the job done.

Then it will be noticed that now each house member has a stenographer or clerk, a luxury then enjoyed only by members of the Senate. Whether the change came about through ideas of efficiency or to take up the slack in unemployment might be one of the unsolved problems associated with legislation.

Now, we note that among your members you have those of feminine persuasion. It is a good sign when there is added the feminine touch.

Another change. We note on each desk a gadget called a microphone, so arranged that the member speaking in a moderate tone had to some extent removed the handicap of debate. I recall an incident that happened I believe it was in the Thirty-eighth or Thirty-ninth House. We had a member of the House from Van Buren county who had made a campaign in opposition to the capitol extension, and over on the other side of the House we had a member from one of the northern counties who was so unfortunate as to put his money on the wrong horse for Speaker, and when he didn't get a live committee to work on or with he put in his time, as he said afterwards, just being a typical hell raiser.

One day he and Representative Rowley got into an acrimonious debate, shouting back and forth, on their feet at the same time, and the Speaker trying to gavel them down without any success. And this representative from the northern county had been at one time a sort of an exhorter, and then he became an auctioneer, and finally after much shouting, the representative from Van Buren county, who was sitting alongside of me, finally turned and sat down, and he turned and spoke to me, "You would not expect me to out-holler a damn auctioneer."

We note that you still have your representatives of what we used to call the "third house." Various organizations inspired largely by self-interest send their representatives here to try to keep some of the wayward members of the General Assembly from getting off the reservation. According to the press these roving representatives are quite numerous. My understanding is that such are required to register. It is possible that some subsequent legislature will require such to wear badges or some suitable identification mark.

But after all is said and done I think that our state can take pride in the quality, character and ability of the members of the present as well as the past legislatures. My experience with them, covering about a third of a century, is that practically without exception, they kept in mind and worked diligently for the people and the state. They kept the faith and were zealous in advancing the general welfare.

We have this afternoon for our speaker one who was a member about 30 years ago. Then he represented a county in western Iowa. About that time the greatest issue in Iowa was the establishment of our primary road system. It was an issue where the lines were drawn to such an extent that when that matter was up we were under a call of the house for close to four days. The main issue was whether we would abolish or retain the highway commission. Every member was there; every member voted, and on the final roll call the vote to abolish the highway commission stood 54-54 and our great and magnificent system of paved highways got the green light and now as we traverse the main highways north and south and those east and west and drive to the 99 county seats in Iowa we can well say that the fight and outcome was not in vain.

I present to you the Honorable Ray Garber, who will address you on behalf of the Pioneer Lawmakers.

It has been twenty-five years since I have attempted to talk in this chamber. I perhaps am somewhat removed from the problems confronting you; so the story is applicable of the fellow who wandered into the club car on a train and said, "Is there a lawyer in the car?" No one answered, and he went out. After a while he came back in and evidently he was slightly intoxicated. He said, "Is there a doctor in the car?" No one answered, and he went out. Finally, he came back for the third time and before he could say anything a gentleman, who had been sitting in the corner of the car, stepped up and said, "I have noticed that you have been asking for a lawyer and a doctor. I am a Presbyterian minister. Could I do anything for you?" The fellow looked at him and said, "Hell, no. I am looking for a corkscrew. I don't think you could do anything."

I think that applies to Judge Mantz' asking me to come here and talk to this Assembly, and I feel the association has done you an injustice to schedule me for an address, for I feel that no group is as much entitled to have one who speaks here think carefully and prepare that which he presents to you, because, after all, it is through you that there is reflected the hopes and aims of the men and women of Iowa.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association, however, deems it a distinct privilege to be invited to attend and take part in a joint session of the Fifty-third General Assembly. A little more than two years ago, we celebrated the one hundredth year of statehood. In December of 1846, President Polk signed the bill admitting Iowa into the Union as the twenty-ninth state. At that time less than 100,000 people lived within our borders. In 1846 Iowa was a great undeveloped state and the citizens of that day could hardly venture a guess relative to the progress that would be made during the first century of statehood. They were, however, deeply concerned as to the future and great credit is due the state officials and members of early Iowa legislatures, and judges of the supreme and district courts, for the enactment and interpretation of laws that established the course, which, through a full century of progress, has made this the greatest state in the Union.

The members of the early sessions of the General Assembly, following the admission of Iowa into the Union, were, as are the men and women of this session, of high intelligence and open minds. They were charged with framing the legislation for this great state.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association was organized in 1886 by a group of members of early legislatures, state officials, judges and congressmen. It is met today for the thirtieth session, and each session since the founding has been an enjoyable reunion and the session this morning at the state historical building will long be remembered.

It was my great privilege to serve as a member of the General Assembly in the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Fortieth Extra, or code revision, sessions. It was delightful today to mingle again and visit with a number of men with whom I served in 1921, 1923 and 1924, and after the morning meeting of the association recessed, I was convinced that it was an organization of friendship and for the upbuilding of our great state with a wish and desire for peace and good-will among men. The members of the association have full understanding of the American idea and ideals. Its basic tenet is that man is made in God's image, endowed by his Creator with inalienable rights among which are the rights to life, liberty and to pursue happiness. They understand that the colonists were actuated in their coming to America by two primary ideals. One, the right in freedom of conscience to worship their Creator in accordance with the dictates of their conscience; and the other, to pursue happiness with freedom to earn their bread as they would; the right to aspire; the right without regimentation or undue regulation to be self-respecting, self-sufficient sons of God. These people faced a wilderness and land almost untouched but from their own energies applied to nature's bounties they progressed and gained security. The ruling classes of the old world still sought to levy taxes upon them without right to be heard as to their imposition. Although compromise and understanding was sought, it was in war that the declared liberties of these peoples were won.

A period intervened—ringing in the ears of the patriots were those immortal words, "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Yet, defensive measures lagged. The serious minded people of that day believed that "In union there is strength." The weakness of the federation immediately became apparent, and seven years after hostilities ceased, a constitutional form of government for the several states was erected. Some of the citizens yet retained the thought of the ultimate sovereignty of the separate state, yet broader minds, realizing the universality of the concept of freedom, and realizing the force and power necessary to its preservation, sought to protect and preserve the Union of the states as the true guardian of our liberties. Through sixty years of almost unceasing debate the issue was ever present and finally that issue took the aggregated form of secession and with it came the Civil War, and at enormous cost the Union of States survived.

Up to that time a nation had existed—half slave and half free. Man in his racial pride had, in a portion of our country, denied to great numbers of our people, because of color alone, the thought of their common brotherhood—had denied to them the liberties and the freedom which were conceived to be the privileges of the white man and refused them the independent rights as said in the Declaration to come from the Creator.

Beyond the graves of Bunker Hill, Valley Forge and of Yorktown, that progress to universal freedom might be made, it became necessary that there should be thousands upon thousands of graves at Bull Run, Gettysburg and Richmond.

In a meeting such as this we must look back to that other day and time, if we are to understand the America which is ours today, for in all the pages of modern warfare there is no warfare yet described where men of equal mentality, of equal education and of equal bravery met on a field of battle nor fought so long nor made such equal sacrifices.

War leaves its aftermath. There may be surrender but unless the spirit of reconstruction, while fair and firm, be a spirit as well of charity and one without malice, the feeling of suspicion and hate will yet survive—and so it was with America after the Civil War.

In 1917 and 1918 came the true test of our nation's greatness. The true proof that the assuaging hand of time had overcome the red-hot tempers that had survived Appomattox was that the first great American army, raised by selective service, came from the north, the south, the east and the west to protect and preserve the American ideal. Not on the shores of its own land but to protect the American ideal against the challenging forces of the old world which sought again to enslave Europe and of necessity constituted a threat of enslavement to America. The men of that Army fought a good fight and fought it to victory.

We won the war, but for those things for which Americans fought and died, we lost a peace. The dragon's teeth of another conflict were taken from the councils of Versailles to the far-flung corners of the earth and there implanted in the hearts of ambitious men and desperate people. They grew, ripening into spheres of influence, and step by step came the invasion of Manchuria, the occupation of Ethiopia; the Sudetanland and invasion of Czechoslovakia, of Poland, of Denmark, of Norway, the lowlands and France, until the first phase of the World War was dwarfed in the blood and ruthlessness and fury with which man marched against his fellowmen.

All of the world's progress in the communication of intelligence and transportation, and in the improvement of the basic gifts of nature, were turned not to the improvement of the world, nor to the improvement of the state of man, but to man's destruction and his enslavement.

The counsel of certain groups and individuals went unheeded—a counsel which sought to advise the American people that there were people on the face of the earth so desperate that they were meat upon which their false Caesars might feed; that America, if she were to preserve the peace of the world, must make the sacrifice which would make her strong enough to be determinative, should she be drawn into the conflict, or, better still, that she be strong enough to prevent the first steps toward the total involvement of the world in war. But these counsels went unheeded. There were men, who, observing the audience given to the pacifists, observing the small minority of youth taking Oxford oaths and combating the ideas of service, were concerned for the protection of America and her ideals.

Pearl Harbor was a rude awakening against the dissipation of our energies and social dreams and isolationist fancies. Notwithstanding the courage evidenced at Bataan and Corregidor there should always survive in the minds of Americans the humiliation and disgrace which are to be found in the words, "Too little and too late."

I have never believed that the American principles of the American form and system of government, the God-given principles, on which our government was erected and established to preserve, are for Americans alone, but I do say that of all the governments of the world ours is the only national government which is devoted to the establishment and preservation of the liberties of all mankind. A government which has demonstrated itself sufficiently universal to accept and absorb peoples from all lands, a nation broad enough to house the places of worship of those of every religion. A land big enough to receive and accord its rights and privileges of citizenship to the peoples of every color. A land protecting and preserving the rights of conscience and permitting freedom of speech to its every citizen. A land where any or all may freely assemble. A land which affords to every man the economic opportunity to be free from want and which affords him a strength and unity, which renders him free from fear.

For the most part the people of Iowa have been outstanding examples of the feeling which should exist throughout America and throughout the world. They have worked in the works of peace and, while expressions of intolerance at times arise, those expressions are minority expressions and, in the end and as a result of common sacrifice, reason can and does prevail. America promises for the world the last best hope of earth.

The soldiers of the second phase of the World War, which ended in 1945, fought for the same things that the soldiers in 1917 and 1918 fought for, and those who are veterans of the war of 1917-18 are comrades with the soldiers of the second phase of the world's modern struggle. The soldiers of World War II fought on step by step, and no step without its cost, to the victory that could not be denied, and we can today well charge ourselves with the thought that we must be unceasing in our efforts to preserve the ideals for which they fought.

The Fifty-second and Fifty-third General Assemblies of Iowa have, by enactment, provided for a bonus for the Iowa men and women who served in World War II. The grateful people of Iowa, by a vote of five to one, approved the payment of the bonus to assist those men and women to rehabilitate and restore themselves to normal life. To preserve the things for which they fought, we in Iowa must uphold the representatives of this nation, who speak for us in the councils of the United Nations. Peace will not come if, while giving lip service to the American idea, we deny it in our hearts and in our conduct. Understanding will not exist abroad if it does not exist among Americans at home. We must be ready in peace to extend our hands to all people without thought of selfishness or greed or hate. We must see to it that through a concert of nations the sacrifice of the honored dead of all wars, which have established the American idea and the American ideal, shall not have been in vain. We must pledge to ourselves that the war which ended in 1945 is in truth and in fact the last world war—but, come what may, America, in the face of the ambitions of man and of people, shall never be weak again.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association extends to all the present state officials and the members of this, the Fifty-third General Assembly, its sincere greetings. We have great confidence that your work during this session will not only bring credit to the membership, but will render great service to all the people of this great state.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

REPORT OF SPECIAL INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE ON
MADE TO APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE

March 15, 1949.

MR. CHAIRMAN AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE APPROPRIATIONS COMMITTEE:

On January 27, Chairman Weichman named this committee and charged it with the duty of investigating mounting costs that had developed in the administration of aid-to-dependent children funds.

The immediate reason for his action was that the state department of social welfare had expended all funds available to ADC, which funds included the balance on hand at the beginning of the biennium, the appropriation made by the Fifty-second General Assembly, an allocation made by the interim committee together with two sizable transfers to this fund from old age assistance. And because of this situation of no funds, the social welfare department found it necessary to petition this assembly to make a deficiency appropriation in the amount of $450,000, which amount, it was estimated, would make possible repayment of a loan in the amount of $100,000 and provide sufficient funds to finance its grants through June 30, 1949. You will recall that the deficiency appropriation in the amount requested was made and the subject was covered in a partial report of this committee to the House appropriations committee and to the House of Representatives.

The factors involved in the discussion of the aid to dependent children setup are of great importance and magnitude. The operation of this agency is closely related with other agencies under the administration of the state social welfare department, and it seems pertinent to this committee to advise you that, while Iowa counties in 1928 spent approximately 2½ million for all Iowa welfare service, the expenditures during the past fiscal year for all welfare programs administered by the department of social welfare amounted to 31½ million dollars. This amount represents an increase of nearly 6 million dollars over the previous year.

Our committee believes that in order to make this report understandable and to make it possible for the appropriations committee to reach proper conclusions it is necessary to discuss the problem in the several sections that follow, viz:

1. The laws that govern the administration of ADC funds from federal, state and county standpoints.
2. The experience in the administration of these funds during the period from August, 1947, through the year 1948.
3. Total actual funds provided for ADC for the biennium July 1, 1947, through June 30, 1949.
4. Remedial legislation now being processed in this assembly and intended to correct abuses that have prevailed by reason of the operation of weak and ineffective existing laws.
5. Findings of this committee.
6. Recommendations of this committee.

SECTION 1

The Laws That Govern; Let's Understand Them

The aid-to-dependent-children program (herein called "ADC") provides aid in the form of money payments to one or more parents or relatives maintaining a needy child or children in his or their own home. Statutory authorization is found in chapter 239 of the 1946 Code of Iowa and in the social security act of the United States, 42 USCA, chapter 7, subchapter IV.

The title of the ADC program is a misnomer in that aid is not limited to the needs of the child or children alone but may extend to the needs of the adult or adults maintaining the home. Federal assistance payments to the state are based upon the number of children aided and statistics are usually presented upon this basis. However, ADC is really a family aid program designed to maintain the complete family unit. It is said to be justified upon the grounds that children dependent upon the public for support can be more cheaply maintained in their own or relatives' homes than elsewhere and that the public interest, as well as that of the children, will be better served by keeping families together.

Currently, federal payments are made upon the following basis: For the first child, ¾ of the first \$12 paid and ½ of the next \$15 paid; for the second and each other child, $\frac{3}{4}$ of the first \$12 paid and $\frac{1}{2}$ of the next \$6 paid. So that, in practice, the state receives from the federal government \$16.50 for the first child aided in a family and \$12 for each additional child in the same family. The federal government also contributes $\frac{1}{2}$ to the cost of the administration of the program at the state and county levels. Federal payments would, of course, be reduced if payments were dropped below \$27 for the first child in a family and \$18 for each additional child.

Under Iowa law, payments under the program are based upon the actual needs of the family figured upon definite minimum standards. From this amount, all income of the family is deducted including home-grown or produced food and the earnings of the children. The remaining amount has been paid in Iowa since August of 1947 and until October of 1948 when a reduction was made to 75 per cent of actual need. Of this amount not paid by the federal funds as stated, the state has paid $\frac{1}{2}$ and the county has paid $\frac{1}{2}$, so that, if \$27 were the actual need for the first child in a family, the state paid \$5.25 and the county paid \$5.25; and if \$18 were the actual need for additional children, the state paid \$3 and the county paid \$3 for each such child. In practice, actual needs proved to be more than those amounts in most cases so that state and county payments were higher than the example used.

Nationally, the program is administered by the federal security administrator of the United States. In Iowa, it is administered by the state department of social welfare and the 99 county boards of social welfare which are appointed by the several boards of supervisors in accordance with section 234.9 of the 1946 Code of Iowa.

An understanding of the financing of the ADC program is complicated by the fact that the various forms of public assistance are administered as a whole. For example, it is said that employees of the county welfare boards are paid by the state. However, a part of the funds for such payments comes from the federal government and these employees administer the old age assistance and aid to the blind programs as well. In addition, in many counties they administer the general relief program of the county and the county contributes to their pay. Therefore, a system has been established which attempts to allocate the actual time expended upon each of the programs to that program and payments are made accordingly. So that, some employees may actually receive payments from the federal, state and county governments as compensation for services performed. The result is that a portion of the salary of the employees of the county welfare boards is charged to the ADC program. This will vary with the number of ADC cases in the different counties. To this payment, both federal and state governments contribute but the county does not. The same method of allocation is used in charging the ADC program with state administrative costs where more than one program is being administered. Obviously, this is an accounting matter subject to audit and the ADC program could only be adversely affected by initial dishonesty upon the part of the worker. In this connection, some misunderstanding is occasioned by the fact that county child welfare workers are furnished in many counties as a part of the program for aid to homeless children and have no connection with the ADC program.

There are safeguards to the honest administration of the program which apply to all of the forms of public assistance. The federal government maintains a full time auditor in Iowa. There are 3 federal analysts in the region of which Iowa is a part. Last year they conducted a complete administrative review in Polk and Scott counties. This year such a review will be made of the program in 5 other counties. The state of Iowa maintains 10 field representatives or supervisors who work with the county welfare boards and directors in all counties. All employees dealing with funds are bonded in amounts of $2,000 and upward. An official receipt is required for each transaction. Expense accounts are restricted in accordance with state laws as to hotel, food and mileage allowances.

Each case receiving assistance is made the subject of a complete report to the state department which is carefully reviewed. No actual check of individual cases in the counties is made by either the federal or state government excepting spot checking by auditors. Therefore, original fraud and collusion would probably only be uncovered by local officials. The state would be protected by the bond of the county employee to the extent of his participation and by its criminal statutes.

These are the laws that govern the ADC setup and, regardless of our opinion in reference to federal domination of this program, it is necessary for the state of Iowa to adjust its program to the federal pattern; else the federal administrator will refuse to Iowa federal aid in the financing of this relief agency.

It should be understood that the federal pattern in this instance is not unlike the federal aid system generally. It's an ingenious device. It amounts to this:

1. The federal government, by divers special and extraordinary taxes, obtains this money, in the first instance, from the Iowa taxpayer to create the Iowa portion of federal fund.

2. Then, the federal government says, in effect, to Iowa: "It is now necessary for Iowa to use, in addition, its own money to set up a state fund so that the state fund can be used to match the money that the Iowa taxpayer has already paid to the federal government." In effect it says: "If Iowa doesn't comply—if it doesn't match its own money and then allow the federal agency to dominate the operation of the program—then so-called federal aid is denied to Iowa". In such event, Iowa money paid in the first instance to the federal government would be lost to our state and would be diverted to some other state or states that had subscribed to the federal pattern and program.

Experience in Administration of ADC Funds

The Fifty-second General Assembly removed the ceiling which had previously applied to ADC payments in Iowa and placed the payments upon an actual need basis, the same basis as was applied to old age assistance and aid to the blind payments. Payments upon a need basis were commenced in August of 1947 and continued until October of 1948. During that 13 months without ceilings, children upon the rolls increased from approximately 10,500 to approximately 12,500 and the average payment per child mounted to approximately $28.50. With the dropping of payments to 75 per cent of actual needs in October of 1948, average payments dropped to about $22.50 and about 800 children were dropped from the rolls, principally due to the fact that family income was meeting 75 per cent of the family need.

SECTION 3

Total Actual Funds Provided for ADC for the Biennium July 1, 1947, through June 30, 1949

On July 1, 1947, the balance in ADC funds was	$ 678,005.49
The Fifty-second General Assembly appropriated for the biennium	750,000.00
There was transferred from old age assistance to ADC	500,000.00
During 1948 the interim committee allocated	340,000.00
Borrowed in January, 1949	100,000.00
Recently the Fifty-third General Assembly made a deficiency appropriation	450,000.00
Total state funds to ADC for the biennium	$2,818,005.49

It is estimated that the deficiency appropriation of $450,000 will provide sufficient funds to make possible a repayment of the $100,000 borrowed, and finance the ADC program through June 30, 1949.

If this is accomplished and no credit balance prevails on that date, then the total cost of ADC for the full biennium will be $2,718,005.49, or an annual cost to the state of $1,359,002.75.

SECTION 4

Remedial Legislation, Now Being Processed in This Assembly, Intended to Correct Abuses That Have Resulted by Reason of the Operation of Weak and Ineffective Existing Laws

It is expected that a considerable saving to the state can be made by the passage of legislation which would make our laws relating to the support of children more effective. In about 40 per cent of the cases, the father is alive and not present in the home for a variety of reasons. Statistics do not reveal how many of these fathers are deserters or divorced fathers who refuse to support their children. A number of bills have been proposed and each, in its way, would probably result in an eventual saving. These bills are:

1. The Uniform Criminal Extradition Act. This bill is in the judiciary committees of the House and Senate, and it is expected that it will be introduced as a committee bill in each instance. It has been endorsed by the Iowa county attorney's association, the attorney general's office, and the Iowa committee on child welfare legislation. The bill was prepared by the committee on uniform state laws and would facilitate the return of deserters to Iowa for prosecution. Trouble has arisen because of the legal question as to whether or not the crime was committed in Iowa where the deserter was not a fugitive when he left Iowa or was never a resident of Iowa. The same trouble has arisen with regard to offenders who refuse to make alimony payments for the support of children in accordance with the orders of the Iowa court, when such persons make payments after leaving Iowa and then stop doing so. Of course, the bill accomplishes a great many other purposes in connection with reciprocal relations between Iowa and other states. It is in effect in thirty-three other states.

2. The Uniform Support of Dependents Act. This is Senate File 305, which was introduced by the committee on interstate cooperation. In many instances, a deserter or a father who refuses to make alimony payments will be found to have a good job in another state. From a practical standpoint, the family involved is more interested in securing money for support than it is in criminal prosecution. This act would make it possible to commence an action in Iowa which would be, in effect, transferred to another state having a similar law and judgment for support could be entered in the other state based upon testimony taken in Iowa. This would also eliminate cost of extradition. Payments would be made in the other state and transmitted to Iowa for the support of the man's dependents here. Upon a failure to make payments, the man could be cited for contempt in the state of his residence. It is our understanding that similar legislation is pending in about twenty other states.

3. Summary Punishment of Parents. House Files 281 and 305 are companion bills. The bills would subject the parents of dependent, neglected and delinquent children to the jurisdiction of the juvenile court and would provide for summary punishment in that court for wanton neglect of children. The similar offense of contributing to the delinquency of a minor is an indictable misdemeanor which requires presentation to the grand jury. These bills would enable the juvenile court to take summary action by way of punishment against parents who neglect their children.

4. Amendment to Divorce Law. This is a bill in the judiciary committee of the House which would require the appointment of a friend of court in divorce cases involving a child or children. This friend of court would make an investigation of the facts relating to the ability of parents to support the children, and would make it more certain that the court enter a proper order relating to such support. In too many cases, insufficient amounts are being allowed by the court and upon agreement by the parties. In many cases no support is provided. This bill would make it certain that a disinterested investigator would provide information to the court upon which it could base an order for support. The bill also provides for a pretrial conference upon the question of the custody, welfare and support of the children. This would definitely alleviate a very serious problem arising from the large number of divorce cases upon the ADC rolls. The bill is recommended by the Iowa committee on child welfare legislation.

Findings of This Committee

1. This committee believes that the cost of administration of ADC funds is not relatively excessive. It amounts to approximately 6 per cent of the total funds handled and covers the ADC portion of state and all county setups. The amount could not exert much effect upon the total outlay occasioned by the program and any drastic curtailment of administrative expense could, and probably would, prove costly to the state.

2. Using statistical data compiled by the federal social security administration for the month of June, 1948, the committee finds the relative cost of the Iowa ADC program, based on the family units assisted, as compared to other states, to be as follows:

Average of all states	$ 66.21 per family unit.
Average Iowa	72.53 per family unit.
High cost California	109.94 per family unit.
Low cost Mississippi	26.29 per family unit.

And now to make a further comparative study of Iowa ADC family unit costs as compared with similar expense in all other states, plus Hawaii and District of Columbia, and using June, 1948, as sample month, the committee finds that:

- In 2 states, the average cost per family unit was between $26 and $30;
- In 7 states, the average cost per family unit was between $30 and $40;
- In 9 states, the average cost per family unit was between $40 and $50;
- In 3 states, the average cost per family unit was between $50 and $60;
- In 1 state, the average cost per family unit was between $60 and $70;
- In 12 states, the average cost per family unit was between $70 and $80;
- In 9 states, the average cost per family unit was between $80 and $90;
- In 1 state, the average cost per family unit was between $90 and $100;
- In 6 states, the average cost per family unit was over $100.

Which means that in the above brackets,

In 12 states, the cost was in approximately same bracket as Iowa;

In 22 states, the cost was less than in Iowa;

In 16 states, the cost was greater than in Iowa.

The purpose of submitting the above analyses is to give you the actual situation in other states of the nation. It is not submitted on the basis of justifying Iowa expenditures or criticizing them. This committee is concerned with the situation in Iowa only. Our business is to manage our own affairs.

To continue the committee's findings:

3. The committee finds that the items set out below constituted the principal reasons for the mounting costs of ADC during the present biennium:

(1) Chief reason—removal of ceilings on ADC grants to families for 13 months of the biennium.

(2) High cost of commodities and services that did prevail.

(3) Many women formerly engaged in war work who were not employed in the period under study.

(4) Many families who had been drawing county relief were diverted to ADC at much less expense to county.

(5) The huge number of marriages, births and divorces during the period.

SECTION 6

Recommendations of the Committee

1. Assist in getting pending bills enacted into laws, the objectives of which are to curb existing abuses, fix parental responsibility, develop cooperation with other states which have like problems, and thus remove large numbers of dependent children from ADC rolls with the end result that their support will be rightfully lodged in the parent and that they will cease to be wards of the state.

2. Direct the department of social welfare to develop close relationship with our law enforcement agencies so as to implement the application of these laws in fullest measure.

3. That each member of this House of Representatives address a letter to the Congressman of his congressional district and to Iowa's United States Senators, drawing their attention to the definite need of a comprehensive federal desertion law. Such a law would have the effect of stopping much of this "fugitive husband" menace at its inception.

4. Make mandatory, not discretionary, the membership of one or more members of the county board of supervisors on the county boards of social welfare. This will require an act of this legislature. The committee's reasons are that a member of the board of supervisors has responsibility for the general expenditures of his county; he will be interested similarly in the expenditures of the county board of social welfare because of the county's participation in the welfare program; he will be in a position to pierce the "wall of secrecy" set up by the federal administration and thus be in an official position to investigate personally any welfare case in his jurisdiction.

5. Establish average ceilings in grants made to ADC family units at approximately the level that has prevailed since October, 1948. It will be necessary to amend the existing law in order that this may be accomplished.

In view of prevalent price levels on commodities and services, such action should not result in hardship to the recipients of ADC grants. Moreover, it is certain to build morale among many dependents who, impelled by an incentive to earn and control their own funds, and who find they can produce income in excess of the grants, will voluntarily request to be removed from ADC rolls. We must not underestimate the hazard to the factor of individual self-reliance of both children and adults by reason of the maintenance of a program of unearned relief allocations or grants.

Warmhearted Americans, in all our history, never turned away from persons in distress. But rugged America was built by a rugged people who placed a proper estimate upon independence, self-discipline and industry.

6. Make an adequate state appropriation for aid to dependent children. Request the state department of social welfare to make frequent progress reviews of ADC population and expenditures; insist that established average ceilings be observed; and direct that the department shall undertake to operate the program within the appropriated amount made available by the Fifty-third General Assembly.

If these suggestions and directions are observed by the state department of social welfare (and this committee believes they will be), if the grants to ADC family units are made flexible within the ceiling limitations specified, then, with a reasonable annual state appropriation for the ADC funds, the correct functioning of this agency is assured for the coming biennium. In event emergencies should arise involving unusual demands for this type of relief, our local county subdivisions are, and always have been, capable and willing to meet and handle such situations.

The committee appreciates the assistance and cooperation of the state bar association, the county attorney's association, Mr. Don Hise, first assistant attorney general, Mrs. Mary Huncke of the state department of social welfare, numerous fellow members of this assembly, and Mr. Wendell Gibson who is actively identified with groups of welfare and charitable agencies that operate in Des Moines and in the state of Iowa. The committee evaluates highly their contributions to the substance and subject matter of this report.

Respectfully submitted,

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

DES MOINES, IOWA, MARCH 17, 1949.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

The following prayer was offered by the Reverend Quentin C. Lansman, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethern church, Griswold:

Eternal God, Thou who art Lord and Father of mankind, look with favor upon us this day as we convene in the legislative chambers of a great state.

We are mindful that we are standing amid the perplexities of a changing order, and that we are face to face with great new responsibilities. For this task that is ours may we seek earnestly to be guided by Thy infinite wisdom, that in turn we may strive wisely to order all things among us according to Thy will.

Strengthen the foundations of our national life in moral integrity and spiritual certainty. Make us equal to our high responsibility; guard and save us from every selfish use of our liberty; and grant unto us clear vision to perceive those things in our social order which are a denial of the high purpose for which Thou hast created us.

Send Thy Holy Spirit among us to provide purity of motive, wisdom of counsel, and the strength of noble endeavor. Forgive our misguided ambitions, our selfish prejudices, and enable us in our deliberations to rise above the influences that would break down reverence for law and which would corrupt the sense of corporate responsibility.

May we never forget our answerableness to that larger group of people whom we serve. May we, by wise legislation and faithful administration, protect the rights of all our people, and accomplish that most worthy of all purposes: provision for the conditions and opportunities which bring the human spirit to full consciousness and realization of the infinite possibilities for creative living.

Deliver us from the love of power and from motives of personal gain; help us always to avoid the error of considering men or money in place of the demands of truth and justice. Grant, O God, that our sense of duty in our civic life may be strengthened. Kindle within us the desire to purge our communities and cities and the state of the deep causes of corruption which have so often made wrong profitable and uprightness difficult. Breathe a new spirit into the life of our state and nation. Give us a generation of public servants who will have the faith and daring of the Kingdom of God in their hearts, and who will enlist for life in a holy warfare for freedom and the welfare of all people equally.

So imbue us, O Lord, with the spirit of wisdom, goodness, and truth, and so rule our wills and bless our endeavors that law and order, justice and peace may everywhere prevail; that contentment might reign within our borders, and health and happiness within our homes. May we each move forward under Thy gracious guidance, and in the faith that "Righteousness exalteth a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people."

Amen.

The Journal of March 16 was corrected and approved.

HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Whereas, the Honorable A. Earl McNeill of Monona county, who was a member of the Fifty-first General Assembly, passed away on March 9, 1949;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker of the House to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating his life, character and service to the state.

The resolution was adopted.

The Speaker appointed as such committee Nielsen of Monona, Weiss of Crawford and Welch of Harrison.

Olson of Mitchell offered the following House resolution:

HOUSE RESOLUTION 5

Whereas, the Fifty-second General Assembly by resolution provided the appointment of a committee to supervise and counsel with the Chief Clerk of the House regarding several improvements in the House chamber; and,

Whereas, sufficient appropriations were made to cover the same; and,

Whereas, after consulting with an architect and contractor with respect to the cost of the same, it was determined to submit the matter to the Fifty-third General Assembly for its approval before beginning the work; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House: That the Speaker appoint a committee to continue the supervision of such necessary improvements as are designed to produce more light, a better control of the ventilating and heating system through the repair of the present ventilating system, the installation of new windows in the House chamber that will obviate the glare of the sun both on the east and west sides of the House chamber, and make it possible to control the continuous flow of cold and fresh air and to improve the acoustics of room number 1; and,

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Whereas, war is now a threat to the very existence of our civilization, because modern science has produced weapons of war which are overwhelmingly destructive and against which there is no sure defense; and,

Whereas, the effective maintenance of world peace is the proper concern and responsibility of every American citizen; and,

Whereas, the people of the state of Iowa, while now enjoying domestic peace and security under the laws of their local, state and federal governments, deeply desire the guarantee of world peace; and,

Whereas, all history shows that peace is the product of law and order, and that law and order are the product of government; and,

Whereas, the United Nations, as presently constituted, although accomplishing great good in many fields, lacks authority to enact, interpret or enforce world law, and under its present charter is incapable of restraining any major nations which may foster or foment war; and,

Whereas, the charter of the United Nations expressly provides, in article 109, a procedure for reviewing and altering the charter; and,

Whereas, at least seventeen states have memorialized Congress, through resolutions by their state legislatures or in referenda by their voters, to initiate steps toward the creation of a world federal government; and,

Whereas, several nations have recently adopted constitutional provisions to facilitate their entry into a world federal government by authorizing the delegation to such a world federal government of a portion of their sovereignty sufficient to endow it with powers adequate to prevent war; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That application is hereby made to the Congress of the United States, pursuant to article V of the constitution of the United States, to call a convention for the sole purpose of proposing amendment of the constitution to expedite and permit the participation of the United States in a world federal government, open to all nations, with powers which, while defined and limited, shall be adequate to preserve peace, whether the proposed charter or constitution of such world federal government be presented in the form of amendments to the charter of the United Nations, or by a world' constitutional convention, or otherwise.

Be It Further Resolved: That the secretary of state of the state of Iowa is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the chairmen of the Senate foreign relations committee and the House foreign affairs committee of the said Congress, to the members of the said Congress from the state of Iowa, and to the presiding officers of each of the legislatures in the several states, requesting their cooperation.

JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

DES MOINES, IOWA, MARCH 18, 1949.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Upon the arrival of Reverend Albert J. Hoffmann, former chaplain of the famous Iowa Thirty-fourth Division and now professor of Religion at Loras College, Dubuque, the Speaker appointed the following committee to escort Reverend Hoffmann and his official party to the Speaker's rostrum: Utzig of Dubuque, Duffy of Dubuque and Everett of Story.

The following prayer was offered by the Reverend Hoffmann:

"O God of Justice, Who seeth and judgeth the acts of men, let the words and deliberations of this day be weighed and found creditable in Thy sight because Thy guiding hand has been with us to lead us in the way of truth. Take self-seeking and vainglory from the hearts of Thy servants, replacing them with the guiding hand of men and the zeal of justice. Inspire our actions so that future generations may bless us for our farsightedness and breadth of vision. Let us be remembered as men of good will and as men who sought not gain and personal honors. Weigh our words and hearts in the scale of our divine ageless justice and then consider the result in the light of the idea that has been given us this day. Be Thou with us this day. Bless us and our works. Then, mayst Thou judgeth as Thou will. In Thy name's sake, Amen."

The Speaker introduced to the House Sergeant Ralph G. Neppel of Carroll, holder of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Ward of Scott asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following remarks by him in reference to House File 497, reported out of committee for indefinite postponement, printed in the Journal:

DECISION KILLS OFT-USED IDEA OF SCHOOL AID

No longer may the courts of our country argue that bus transportation for parochial school children is "school aid." The supreme court of the United States this week, in a decision declaring the constitutionality of a New Jersey bus transportation statute, has given its stamp of approval to the "child-benefit" view, namely, that all children may ride on tax-supported school buses.

Fear of Reverse

Associate Justice Black, in giving the majority opinion of the nation's highest court, argued that payment for bus transportation is basically social legislation for "the benefit of students" attending school. Only incidentally may it be said that bus transportation is aid to a sectarian school or church. Consequently, it may no longer be alleged that bus transportation for children attending Catholic schools contravenes provisions of state constitutions which prohibit aid to sectarian institutions. Statutes may now be enacted by state legislators without fear of being declared unconstitutional by the courts on the grounds of a contrary state constitutional provision.

A Public Service

The supreme court stresses the fact that bus transportation is in much the same category as police and fire protection, sewage disposal, streets and sidewalks, which are furnished to all, regardless of religious affiliation. Transportation of children to and from school is part of the state's task of promoting the general welfare. The protection of citizens from harm and the preservation of their health is a legitimate exercise of the state's power to safeguard its members. As Associate Justice Black states, the New Jersey law "does no more than provide a general program to help parents get their children, regardless of their religion, safely and expeditiously, to and from accredited schools."

Ends a Travesty

The supreme court has rightly ended the travesty on our boast that in America we treat all men alike, without reference to race, color, or creed. Specific class legislation, permitting only public school children to ride on tax-supported school buses, will no longer be countenanced. Discrimination against the more than 2,000,000 school children, attending more than 9,000 Catholic schools in the United States, can no longer be attributed to state constitutional provisions.

Future Effect

What effect will the decision of the supreme court have upon the state of Iowa? First of all, it would seem that an appeal to section 5256 of the 1939 Code of Iowa is no longer valid as a reason for denying transportation to Catholic school children. Section 5256 states that "public money shall not be appropriated to, or in favor of any institution, school, association, or object which is under ecclesiastical or sectarian management or control". The reasoning of the supreme court in approving the "child-benefit" theory regards bus transportation as an aid to the child, not as an appropriation "to, or in favor of any institution, school or object which is under ecclesiastical or sectarian management or control." Legislators may now enact a statute providing bus transportation for all children without fear of contravening the state constitution of Iowa.

A. C. GUSTAFSON, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

Whereas, Iowa produces, both as to value and numbers, more eggs than any other state in the Union; and,

Whereas, the farm income of Iowa from eggs alone in 1948 was approximately $140,000,000; and,

Whereas, the people of Iowa are strongly in favor of a fair and adequate price support program for eggs; and,

Whereas, the United States department of agriculture and all state extension departments have approved and promoted a program whereby eggs would be sold strictly on a quality basis, which program resulted in eighty per cent of all eggs sold in Iowa being evaluated on standards of quality and grade; and,

Whereas, in the administration of the support program by the federal government only the price of dry eggs has been supported, while the price of frozen and shell eggs has not been supported, with the result that undergrade eggs in the present market command almost the same price as the top consumer grade AA eggs; and,

Whereas, this policy has destroyed the producer's ability to market eggs on a quality basis according to grade and has undermined the grading program, which formerly encouraged production of a quality product; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Congress of the United States is memorialized to require price support of eggs at the top grade, including frozen and shell eggs, with deductions for undergrade eggs, and to eliminate the present practice of supporting only the price of dry eggs.

Be It Further Resolved: That the Chief Clerk be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the United States Senators from Iowa and to the Representatives in Congress from Iowa and to the secretary of agriculture of the United States.

Laid over under Rule 34.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Sloane of Polk offered the following House memorial resolution and moved its adoption :

HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Whereas, it has come to the attention of the Fifty-third General Assembly that a former member of the House of Representatives, Mr. George A. Kern, passed away in his home city, Des Moines, on Monday, March 14, 1949.

Whereas, Mr. Kern served his state as a member of the House of Representatives in an efficient and creditable manner.

Whereas, he was highly regarded as a foremost leader of the Republican party in his city, his county and the state of Iowa in the promotion of good government.

Whereas, he possessed in abundant measure the factors of kindness, neighborliness and genuine consideration for his fellowmen.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved: That the members of the House of Representatives of Iowa in regular session assembled on this 24th day of March, 1949, do hereby acknowledge and appreciate the services that he has rendered as a public officer in his city and in the state of Iowa and are mindful of his splendid contribution to society.

Be It Further Resolved: That this resolution be spread upon the record of the House Journal of this date and that the members of the House of Representatives extend their deep sympathy and condolence to his bereaved family and that a copy of this resolution be transmitted to his widow.

HOUSE COMMITTEE,
 GEORGE E. O'MALLEY.
 A. H. AVERY.

Governor Beardsley briefly addressed the joint convention and introduced Mr. E. O. Osborne of Knoxville, who recited the following poems:

MARY MARGARET

The cutest little stranger
Came to us the other day,
And from the way she feels at home,
I'm sure she wants to stay.

They named her Mary Margaret,
A good old fashioned name,
But if she had no name at all,
We'd love her just the same.

Her hands are tiny little things;
 Her eyes a pretty blue;
 It won't be many weeks, I'm sure—
 'Till she will smile and coo.

I may be wrong, she may not be Much sweeter than the rest,
 But some folks call me Grandpa now,
 That's why I love her best.

MY VALENTINE

Two little girls, sisters they are,
 And both sweethearts of mine.
 Picture them on their Grandpa's knee—
 You have my Valentine.

One can visit and tell about
 Alice in Wonderland,
 And seems amazed if I pretend
 I do not understand.

She tells me how babes have turned to pigs,
 And all that Tommy-rot,
 And won't permit a Ripley's choice
 Believing it or not.

The other talks mostly with her hands,
 Her eyes, they talk some too;
 But I know everything she's said
 Sometimes before she's through.

You do not need to envy me
 The happiness that's mine,
 For I defy the world to show
 A sweeter Valentine.

NOC NEE AND HANK-SHUS

He said, "Noc Nee, will you be mine,
 If I bring you a valentine
 Of Pangburn candies, fresh and sweet,
 And lay it at your korny feet?"

She said, "Hank-Shus, the proper thing
 Would be a little diamond ring,
 But since Pangburn's is so divine
 I shall accept your valentine."

PETER RAT

Said Papa Rat to Mamma Rat,
"Let's go and build a cozy flat,
Quite near a corn and oat bin
To raise our growing family in."

Not thinking of the slightest harm;
They hied away to McCarty's farm;
Their appetites to gratify
Likewise to add and multiply.

Soon Papa Rat was a Grandpa,
And Mamma was a Grandma;
In spite of all the dogs and cats,
They soon produced a thousand rats.

And every day from night till morn,
They killed his chickens, ate his corn.
They chewed his harness, spoiled his grain,
And nearly drove the man insane.

But just before he lost his mind,
A ray of hope he chanced to find.
He acted on what Osborn said,
And now McCarty's rats are dead.

MOTHER

In memory, you may recall
The days that used to be,
When someone stroked your tousled head,
And kissed you tenderly.

You may recall a furrowed brow
Beneath locks turning gray,
And eyes that seem to understand
The paths wherein you stray.

Picture again two willing hands,
Tired by the cares of day;
That righted you whene'er you fell,
And brushed your tears away.

Call back those golden happy hours,
In memory live o'er
The days you spent in paradise,
Not far from Mother's door.

No other shrine beneath the stars
Has brought the heart such ease,
As that that's found in humbleness
The altar at her knees.

EPHRAHAM

The cotton pickin' days were o'er;
Plantation life was slow.
Old Ephraham and his mule, Ike,
To Birmingham must go.

He hitched old Ike onto a cart,
A two wheeled rattle trap
And says, "We sho will find dat place
If it am on de map."

Three times that day old Ephraham
Passed strangers on the way.
Though miles apart to each of them,
Here's what he had to say.

"Howdy, Howdy, Mistuh.
My name is Ephraham.
Can yo' all tell how far it is On up to Birmingham?"

"Just twenty miles," each one replied;
Anxiety was shown.
Eph cracked his whip and said, "Old Ike,
Yo' sho can hold yo' own."

THE OLD DINNER BELL

Back there around the old homestead,
Where memory loves to dwell,
I think the most of us recall
That old, old dinner bell.

Somewhere within our yesterdays,
We hear the gentle knell
That brings to mind the life around
That old, old dinner bell.

No music ever was quite so sweet,
No wave length e'er will tell,
A message that will charm your life
That old, old dinner bell.

Our horses gave an anxious neigh;
It seems they knew full well
Just what was meant when mother rang
That old, old dinner bell.

I'd like to hear that sweet refrain,
The world I'd like to tell,
The magic of its melody,
That old, old dinner bell.

THE TOURIST

It was midnight on the highway,
Their hearts beat with regret;
"We are lost," the tourist whispered
As he lit a cigarette.

But when day broke o'er the landscape,
Their hearts beat with delight,
They had parked between two cornfields
In Iowa over night.

DUMB AND BLIND

I dreamed I went to Washington,
To Washington, D. C.;
To meet and greet the President,
And see what I could see.

I dreamt I walked a hundred miles,
And knocked on every door,
And not a soul bid me come in,
No wonder I was sore.

I was about to rave and rant,
And give up in despair,
When the sweet voice of Eleanor said,
"Won't you have a chair?"

Since I was weary, worn and tired,
With gratitude, I wept;
Quite mindful she could change her mind
Before I could accept.

I thanked her in a kindly way,
And said, "Dear Eleanor,
It seems to me, the Democrats
Are guarding every door."

She pointed to my coat lapel,
The light began to dawn;
Old fool, I was, I found I had A Hoover button on.

Mary Margaret Osborne and Kathleen Osborne, granddaughters of Mr. Osborne, were introduced to the joint convention.

"The Iowa Flag Song" was sung by Mrs. Lyall H. Mitchell, of Oskaloosa, accompanied by the composer, Esther May Clark, at the piano, and Ruth Ann Augustine on the flute.

Clark of Marion moved that "The Iowa Flag Song" be adopted as the official flag song of the state of Iowa.

Motion prevailed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Kuester in the chair.

Amend House File 101 by striking the title thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

A bill for an act to amend chapter one hundred twenty-four (124), Code 1946, relating to beer and malt beverages, extending the illegality thereof to certain territory, and providing for petitions and elections in the state of Iowa, and providing for prohibition of the sale of beer within the state of Iowa.

Further amend House File 101 by striking all after the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. Chapter one hundred twenty-four (124), Code 1946, is hereby amended by adding immediately following section one hundred twenty-four point five (124.5) the following sections:

1. No permit shall be issued or obtained and any existing permit shall cease to have force, as hereinafter provided, in the event the majority of the votes cast at an election held within the state of Iowa opposes the sale of beer and malt beverages.

2. Such election shall be called and held in the state of Iowa when there is addressed to the secretary of state of the state of Iowa:

A. A petition to the secretary of state that there be submitted to the electors of the state of Iowa at the next general election in the manner

B. Such petition shall be signed by at least twenty-five per cent (25%) of the number of electors who voted for governor at the last general election, preceding the filing of such petition, and such petition may consist of the aggregate of a number of such petitions, which, however, when filed shall constitute the petition herein referred to.

C. Such petition shall be filed with the secretary of state at least ninety (90) days prior to the date of the next succeeding general election.

3. Upon filing of such petition the secretary of state shall proceed at once to canvass said petition and complete such canvass and enter of record his finding as to the sufficiency and/or insufficiency of such petition within fifteen days after filing the same.

4. If such petition is sufficient, the secretary of state shall forthwith order and provide by proper procedure for the holding of such election and furnish the ballots therefor.

5. Such ballot shall contain the following proposal: "Shall beer and malt beverages be sold in the state of Iowa?"

Stevens of Greene raised a point of order that the amendments by Schwengel, Armstrong and Goode were not germane to the main bill and therefore out of order.

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

You are advised that, in Iowa, we have no provision in our constitution to permit initiative and referendum and, therefore, without a change of the constitution, the legislature has the sole responsibility to pass laws for the state and should not submit a question to the people first as to whether or not a local option bill shall be passed. So held in Santo v. State, 2 Iowa 165.

The amendments by Schwengel, Armstrong and Goode are held not germane.

GUSTAV T. KUESTER.

No licensee or employee thereof shall sell or deliver any wine or spirits to any person who is a minor. Nor shall the licensee permit any minor to consume any wine or spirits in his licensed place. No purchaser thereof shall remove such drink or bottle contents from the licensed premises where purchased before drinking the same. The licensee shall conduct the place in a quiet orderly manner. No minor, intoxicated or interdicted person shall knowingly be permitted to enter, remain, purchase, consume or remove any wine or spirits on or from the licensed premises.

Sec. 16. "It shall be the duty of all peace officers to investigate any violations of the provisions of this act and any member of the commission or any representative or inspector so designated by the commission shall have the power of peace officers for the purpose of enforcing this act.

Sec. 17. "The council shall make a thorough investigation of any alleged violation for the purpose of revoking any license if there is reasonable evidence that the holder thereof shall have violated any of the provisions of this act or of any ordinances passed pursuant to the provisions of this act.

Sec. 18. "Any citizen of a city or town having information of any violation by the holder of a license in such city or town may and any peace officer having such information shall file a complaint with the district court in the county in which such city or town is located. Such complaint shall state the facts in relation to the alleged violation, shall be entitled in the name of the state of Iowa by relation, and shall be sworn to. It shall pray for an injunction against the violator and for forfeiture of his bond. A copy of such complaint shall be filed promptly with the attorney general of the state who shall thereupon cause an investigation to be made at once and report the findings thereof to the district court of the county where the alleged violation occurred. When such complaint is filed the presiding judge or any other judge in vacation shall forthwith cite the alleged violator to appear in said court and show cause why the injunction should not be issued and the bond revoked. Such alleged violator shall be required to appear at such time as the court or judge shall determine, but the time of such hearing shall not be unnecessarily delayed and in no event shall the time of such hearing be fixed for longer than thirty days from the time of the filing of such complaint. At the time of issuing the order citing such alleged violator for hearing, the court may, if the facts and circumstances warrant, temporarily enjoin the alleged violator from carrying on the licensed business, without requiring a bond, and direct the peace officer serving the order to take possession of the alleged violator's license and return the same to the clerk of the district court pending the outcome of the hearing. The proceedings shall be in equity and upon such hearing if the court finds that the licensee has been guilty of a violation shall declare the same to be a nuisance and enter an order permanently enjoining the licensee for engaging in the licensed business, and shall forfeit the bond of the licensee and shall revoke the license. The clerk of the court shall forthwith certify a copy of said decree to the city or town council, who shall immediately revoke the defendant's license. An appeal from the ruling of the district court may be taken to the supreme court as in other equitable proceedings and pending such appeal the said license shall remain revoked and there shall be no stay of the order of injunction.

The proceedings provided in this section shall not be any bar to criminal action for violation of statutes or ordinances; nor shall the provisions of this section affect the right of a city or town to proceed against the bond of a licensee for non-payment of any taxes owing under the provisions of this act.

Sec. 19. "When the court enters an order for a permanent injunction the court shall also enter a judgment decreeing a forfeiture of the stock of wine and spirits in the possession of the licensee and shall direct the disposition thereof as provided in section seven hundred fifty-one point thirty-one (751.31). In the event of an appeal the forfeiture shall be stayed pending such appeal.

Sec. 20. "Cities and towns may by ordinance adopt such regulations with respect to carrying on the business of selling wine and spirits at retail under license as are in the interest of temperance and the public welfare, and are not inconsistent with state law.

Sec. 21. "No valid mortgage, pledge or other lien of any kind or character may be placed upon any stock of intoxicating liquor by any licensee, and the voluntary placing of any lien or an unrevealed transfer of any of the property, fixtures or equipment of a licensee used by him in connection with said licensed business shall be grounds for the immediate revocation of his license.

Sec. 22. "The provisions of section one hundred twenty-four point thirty-one (124.31), Code 1946, shall not apply to licensees under this act.

Sec. 23. "When any city or town by virtue of the authority of the provisions of this act shall have adopted ordinances and issued licenses as herein provided, and at a subsequent election called and held as herein provided, majority of the votes cast on the proposition are opposed thereto, then all such licenses issued by such city or town for the sale at retail of wines, spirits and beer or malt beverages for consumption on the premises where sold shall expire on the June 30 following such election, and all ordinances adopted by city or town pursuant to the provisions of section 2 hereof shall be abrogated as of like date and shall be repealed by the city council.

Sec. 24. "Such election shall be called and held in any city, town or county in the state when there is addressed to and filed with the city council, or with the county auditor in case of a county, a petition signed by at least twenty-five per cent (25%) of the electors of said city, town or county who voted at the last general election preceding the filing of such petition; and such petition may consist of the aggregate of a number of separate petitions, which, however, when filed shall constitute the petition herein referred to. Such petition must be filed with the city or town clerk or county auditor at least sixty (60) days prior to the date of the next succeeding general election at which the proposition is to be submitted.

Sec. 25. "Upon the filing of such petition the city or town council or county auditor shall proceed at once to canvass the same and determine the sufficiency thereof, which sufficiency shall be determined within fifteen (15) days after the filing, and shall be entered of record in the minutes of the council. If such petition is found sufficient the council or county board of supervisors shall forthwith order and provide by proper procedure for the holding of such election and shall provide ballots therefor. The ballot shall contain the following proposition and no other: 'Shall wine, spirits and beer or malt beverages be sold at retail for consumption on the premises where sold in (name of city, town or county)?' Opposite and to the right of such proposal as it appears on the ballot shall be placed two (2) squares, one above the other, and to the left of the upper square shall be printed the word 'Yes', and to the left of the lower square the word 'No', and in casting his vote upon such proposal the voter favoring such proposition shall place a cross in the square opposite the word 'Yes' and the voter opposing such proposition shall place a cross in the square opposite the word 'No'. The city or town council or county board of supervisors shall provide funds to meet the expenses of such election.

Sec. 26. "The ballots cast on said proposal at such election shall be counted and the results certified as required by the laws applicable to such general election, and the ballots at once returned to such clerk or auditor, as the case may be, who shall canvass same and certify the result, and make a permanent record thereof in his office, which certificate and record shall be completed within thirty days after such election.

Sec. 27. "The results of such election may be contested or appealed from as in case of a general election, and pending such contest or appeal no action shall be taken by the city or town council in relation to the adoption of ordinances or the granting of licenses.

Sec. 28. "If a majority of the votes cast on such proposition at such election are in favor of the sale at retail of wines, spirits and beer or malt beverages for consumption on the premises where sold in such city, town or county, then the city or town shall continue to exercise the authority given under this chapter.

Sec. 29. "No election as herein provided shall be held in and for such city, town or county more often than once in four years, and then only on general city, town or county election dates."

Sec. 30. This act shall apply to special charter cities.

Sec. 31. Section one hundred twenty-three point twenty-seven (123.27), Code 1946, is hereby amended by striking the word "two" in line one (1) of subsection one (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the word "three" and by adding the following new subparagraph "c. Retail permits."

Sec. 32. Section one hundred twenty-three point twenty-seven (123.27), Code 1946, is further amended by adding the following:

"A 'retail permit' in form prescribed by the commission, and subject to its issuance and/or use to such rules and regulations as the commission may adopt, shall be issued to any person, firm or corporation holding a valid license for the sale of wine, spirits and beer or malt beverages for consumption on the premises and issued by any city or town under a valid ordinance."

Sec. 33. Section one hundred twenty-three point twenty-eight (123.28), Code 1946, is hereby amended by adding the following new paragraph:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following communication was received from the Governor:

March 28, 1949.

Honorable Gustav T. Kuester,
Speaker of the House.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

I am returning House File 7 without my signature for the following reason:

Sections 10, 11 and 12 thereof refer to a special tax levy and in particular to section 394.6, Code of 1946, which chapter and section relate to self liquidation improvements. In this form, the bonds would become an indebtedness of the municipalities within the application of the constitutional limitations with result that the very purpose of issuing revenue bonds as distinguished from tax secured bonds would be defeated. Such indebtedness would then in most cases exceed the constitutional limitations and destroy the provisions of chapter 394, Code of 1946.

In order that I explain further my rejection of House File 7, let me advise that:

Said bill by amending section 394.6 of the 1946 Code of Iowa, so as to make the bonds sold payable, part from a special tax and part from revenue from earnings, would make all the bonds general revenue bonds. This would defeat the purpose of chapter 394, which was to provide a method of financing other than by general revenue, as well as to provide a way to issue bonds for improvements which would otherwise be barred by extending the municipalities' indebtedness above the constitutional limitation.

This inadvertent oversight made necessary my veto of this measure to preserve the desirable provisions of chapter 394, 1946 Code of Iowa.

Respectfully yours,

WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title agreed to.

The House resumed consideration of House File 101, a bill for an act to amend chapter one hundred twenty-four (124), Code 1946, relating to beer and malt liquors, extending the illegality thereof to certain territory and providing for petitions and elections in all counties for the purpose of determining and defining such territory, with report of committee recommending passage.

Stevens of Greene requested a ruling by the Speaker as to whether the amendment to House File 101 by Burlingame of Clayton, found on pages 1074 to 1081 of the Journal of March 28, was germane to the bill.

RULING BY THE SPEAKER

Amendment by Burlingame of Clayton to House File 101.

The amendment would violate article 3, section 29, of the constitution of Iowa which states: "Every act shall embrace but one subject, and matters properly connected therewith."

The ruling of the Chair is that the amendment is not germane.

Long of Clinton asked and obtained unanimous consent to withdraw the amendment to House File 101 filed by him and found on page 457 of the Journal of February 15.

The House resumed consideration of the following amendment by Sloane of Polk:

Amend House File 101 by adding thereto the following section:

Sec. 2. Chapter one hundred twenty-four (124), Code 1946, is further amended by striking therefrom all of section one hundred twenty-four point twenty-four (124.24), and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"124.24. Fees. The annual permit fee for all permits issued under the authority of this chapter shall be three hundred dollars ($300), excepting as hereinafter provided. The class "B" permits to be issued under the provisions of this chapter to hotels shall be as follows:

"a. Hotels having two hundred fifty guest rooms or more shall pay an annual permit fee of five hundred dollars ($500).

"b. Hotels having more than one hundred and less than two hundred fifty guest rooms shall pay an annual permit fee of four hundred dollars ($400).

"c. Hotels having one hundred guest rooms or less shall pay an annual permit fee of two hundred fifty dollars ($250)."

Sloane of Polk offered the following amendment to his amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the Sloane amendment to House File 101 by adding thereto the following:

"d. The annual permit fee for special class "B" permits, issued under section 124.14, shall be three hundred dollars, and twenty-five dollars for each duplicate thereof, which fees shall be paid to the state tax commission. The state tax commission shall issue duplicates of such permits from time to time as applied for by each such company."

Amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Such city or town council shall be authorized to charge, not to exceed, one hundred dollars ($100) for the issuance of such license.

PRESENTATION OF VISITORS

Walter of Hardin presented to the House Miss Ida Caine, vice chairman of the Hardin County Republican Central Committee and delegate to the Republican national convention, and Mrs. Robert Fowler, vice president of the Council of Republican Women, third district, and committeewoman from Iowa Falls.

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Armstrong of Black Hawk asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following letter be printed in the Journal:

LeGrand, Iowa,
January 26, 1949.

Honorable Howard Buck,
State House,
Des Moines, Iowa.

Dear Mr. Buck:

I feel it my duty as a voting citizen and mother of three small children and a teen age boy to write you regarding my feelings on local option.

You gentlemen are sent to Des Moines to represent the people, whom I feel to be very negligent in letting you know what their opinions are, so please consider my thoughts are shared by many of my straight-thinking friends, who will not take time to write you.

It is my earnest desire that you do everything in your power to support the local option bill. Iowa is only one of the twelve states that does not enjoy this democratic right to say whether beer shall be sold in our town. Our little town, which has always boasted no beer, now, shame-facedly, has a tavern. As the Iowa law now reads, there was nothing under God's heaven that could keep it out. He paid the maximum fee required by law and there he is. A week ago last Saturday night a regular brawl of out-of-town people took place, resulting in a woman's broken arm, men minus teeth and bottles flying through the air. The greater percentage of his trade that causes trouble is from other towns and in the late hours of the morning.

But again I say, what can we do? Oh, yes, arrest the drunk who bought the beer from the man that the state of Iowa licensed to sell it to him. It just doesn't make sense! How can we raise our children, in the fear and admonition of the Lord, to be law abiding citizens and have to sit by and watch such things as this take place in our own little peaceful town. There are at the present time, I believe, 6,821 licensed taverns and road houses in Iowa.

Because of a previous engagement I will not be able to attend the banquet to be held on February 7 at St. John's Lutheran church in Des Moines, but I understand that the entire legislature is being invited; so please go and I know from the program that you will hear one of the most enlightening addresses on temperance you have ever heard.

Don't think me a fool, but the strength of our nation is in the home, and liquor is the curse of the nation now, and is causing the downfall of many homes, hence our juvenile courts are full of youth, with very little future. Let's help and protect them!

Metz of Decatur asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following poem, presented by Sloane of Polk, be printed in the Journal:

THE LINE

In men whom men condemn as ill
 I find so much of goodness still;
 In men whom men pronounce divine
 I find so much of sin and blot,
 I hesitate to draw the line
 Between the two, when God has not.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. SPEAKER: Our reasons for voting "No" on House File 433, relative to interstate extradition, are as follows:

1. This bill if it becomes law will enable Iowa sheriffs to take trips to various "vacation points" in the United States after the offending fathers of children who may be a few dollars in arrears in their alimony payments.

2. These trips after so called "culprits" will be at great costs to the taxpayers.

3. Possibly 70 per cent of these so called "culprits," after they have been returned from distant points in the United States, will receive a bench parole and be allowed to return to their former distant sojourn.

4. If they again become in arrears in their alimony payments, the sheriff will again be able to catch up with his fishing and his Florida and California sunshine.

5. Our sheriffs under this bill will become one of the most traveled and "well vacationed" of our citizenry.

JOHN L. DUFFY.

"Chapter four hundred forty-one (441), Code 1946, is hereby amended by inserting after section four hundred forty-one point twelve (441.12) thereof the following:

"441.12a. Preliminary to the procedure for the assessment of property by the assessor as provided in this chapter the assessor is hereby authorized to require from all persons required to list their property for taxation as provided by sections 428.1, 428.2 and 428.3, Code 1946, a preliminary return to be prescribed by the state tax commission upon which such person shall list his property. Such preliminary return shall be in substantially the same form as now prescribed by law for the assessment rolls used in listing of property by the assessors, and the state tax commission may prescribe separate preliminary forms for the listing of personal property, both tangible and intangible. It shall be the duty of every person required to list property for taxation to make a complete listing of such property upon such preliminary forms and to return the same to the assessor as promptly as possible. The person making the return shall subscribe to the following statement: 'I hereby swear or affirm that the statements made or to be made in my assessment roll relative to the type and quantity of my assessable property are the truth,' and the provisions of section four hundred forty-one point eight (441.8) shall apply to any person making such return. The assessor shall make such preliminary return forms available as soon as practicable after the first day of January of each year.

"441.12b. Upon receipt of such preliminary return from any person the assessor shall prepare a roll assessing such person as hereinafter provided. In the preparation of such assessment roll the assessor shall be guided not only by the information contained in such preliminary roll, but by any other information he may have or which may be obtained by him as prescribed by the law relating to the assessment of property. The assessor shall not be bound by any values as listed in such preliminary return, and he may include in the assessment roll any property omitted from the preliminary return which in the knowledge and belief of the assessor should be listed as required by law by the person making the preliminary return. Upon completion of such roll he shall deliver to the person submitting such preliminary return a copy of the assessment roll, either personally or by mail, to the person assessed.

"441.12c. Any taxpayer aggrieved by the action of the assessor in the preparation of an assessment roll upon which a preliminary return has been made shall have the same rights and privileges of appeal as provided by law in connection with the assessment rolls prepared in entirety by the assessor.

"441.12d. The preliminary returns herein provided shall be preserved in the same manner as assessment rolls, but shall be confidential to the assessor, board of review, or state tax commission, and shall not be open to public inspection, but any final assessment roll as made out by the assessor shall be a public record, provided that such preliminary return shall be available to counsel of either the person making the return or of the public, in case any appeal is taken to the board of review or to the court.

"441.12e. In the event of failure of any person required to list property to make a preliminary return as required herein, not later than February 15 of any year when such listing is required, the assessor shall proceed in the listing and assessment of his property as provided by this chapter, and no person subject to taxation shall be relieved of his obligation to list his property through failure to make a preliminary return as provided, and any roll prepared by the assessor, after receiving a preliminary return or prepared in accordance with the other provisions of this chapter, shall be a valid assessment.

"441.12f. The provisions of chapter four hundred forty-one (441), Code 1946, relating to assessment rolls shall be applicable to the preparation of rolls upon which a preliminary return has been received, insofar as they are not in conflict with the provisions of this act."

"We, too, however, in Iowa are proud of the fine competitive spirit of our athletic teams, and we are justly proud of the Iowa state basketball champions from Wellsburg, Iowa. The whole nation knows that when these two fine championship teams meet tonight in the Drake Field House there will be tough competition and fine sportsmanship shown, and may the best team win."

"The good old U.S.A. is one grand neighborhood and the states live in peace with each other. If only the nations of the world would live as nations, as we do as states in this country, what a wonderful and peaceful situation we would have.

121 believing that such membership was not available to the 122 employee on the same terms and conditions generally applicable
123 to other members, or 124 (B) if he has reasonable grounds for 125 believing that membership was denied or terminated or rein-

153 of membership therein; or

154 (B) an employer in the selection of his 155 representatives for the purposes of collective bargaining
156 or the adjustment of grievances;

157 (2) to cause or attempt to cause an employer to 158 discriminate against an employee in violation of subsection
159 "a (3)" or to discriminate against an employee with respect
160 to whom membership in such organization has been denied or 161 terminated or reinstatement refused on some ground other than 162 his failure to tender the periodic dues during employment and 163 the initiation fees uniformly required as a condition of

169 employees of any employer to engage in a strike or a concerted 170 refusal in the course of their employment to use, manufacture,
171 process, transport, or otherwise handle or work on any goods,
172 articles, materials, or commodities or to perform any services, 173 where an object thereof is:

174 (A) forcing or requiring any employer or 175 self-employed person to join any labor or employer organization
176 or any employer or other person to cease using, selling, han-177 dling, transporting, or otherwise dealing in the products of 178 any other producer, processor, or manufacturer, or to cease
179 doing business with any other person;

180 (B) forcing or requiring any other employer
181 to recognize or bargain with a labor organization as the 182 representative of his employees unless such labor organization
183 is the representative of such employees;

184 (C) forcing or requiring any employer to 185 recognize or bargain with a particular labor organization as 186 the representative of his employees if another labor
187 organization has in fact been the representative of such 188 employees;

189 (D) forcing or requiring any employer to 190 assign particular work to employees in a particular labor
191 organization or in a particular trade, craft, or class
192 rather than to employees in another labor organization or 193 in another trade, craft or class;

194 (5) to require of employees, covered by an 195 agreement authorized under subsection "a (3)", the payment 196 as a condition precedent to becoming a member of such 197 organization, of a fee in an amount which is excessive or 198 discriminatory under all the circumstances. The practices
199 and customs of labor organizations in the particular 200 industry and the wages currently paid to the employees
201 affected, among other factors, shall be taken into 202 consideration in determining whether said fee is excessive
203 or discriminatory;

204 (6) to cause or attempt to cause an employer to 205 pay or deliver or agree to pay or deliver any money or other
206 thing of value, in the nature of exaction, for services
207 which are not performed or not to be performed;

208 (7) to give preference to an employee with 209 respect to the hiring, firing, or advancement of an employee
210 without reference to merit and solely because of seniority
211 or the lack of seniority; provided, however, if all other
212 qualifications are equal, then preference may be given 213 because of seniority.

214 c. The expressing of any views, argument or 215 opinion, or the dissemination thereof, whether in written,
216 printed, graphic, or visual form, shall not constitute or 217 be evidence of an unfair labor practice under any of the

218 provisions of this act, if such expression contains no
219 threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit.

220 d. For the purpose of this section, 'to bargain
221 collectively is the performance of the mutual obligation of 222 the employer and the representative of the employees to 223 meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with 224 respect to wages, hours and other terms and conditions of 225 employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any 226 question arising thereunder, and the execution of a written 227 contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested
228 by either party, but such obligation does not compel
229 either party to agree to a proposal or require the making 230 of a concession.

231 e. Any employer, labor organization or its agents
232 shall, in addition to any penalties otherwise provided herein

281 official action or to compensate or pay any money to any 282 public official other than reasonable amounts for private

288 violation of the foregoing provision shall be deemed a
289 criminal offense, and any person or organization convicted
290 thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

The House resumed consideration of House File 563, a bill for an act to provide for the peaceful settlement of labor disputes, arbitration and to define the duties and authority of the labor commissioner, and to provide for the deduction of labor organization dues or other charges from the compensation of the employee under certain conditions, and to provide for conditions under which union security may be written into a contract between employers and unions, and to repeal chapter two hundred ninety-six of the Acts of the Fifty-second General Assembly of Iowa relating to labor union membership.

Clarke of Dallas moved that the amendment to House File 563 filed by him and found on pages 1175 to 1181 of the Journal of April 1 be substituted for all amendments filed to House File 563 and the first twenty lines of the amendment to House File 563 filed by Weichman of Benton, et al., found on page 1163 of the Journal of April 1.

Goode of Davis raised a point of order that the Clarke amendment was out of order.

The Speaker ruled that the point of order by Goode of Davis was well taken and the Clarke amendment was out of order.

Goode of Davis offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the amendment to House File 563 by Weichman, O'Malley and Munger by striking lines three (3) to fifty-two (52), inclusive.

Palmer of Lee offered the following amendment as a substitute for all amendments filed to House File 563:

Amend House File 563 by adding thereto the following new sections:

Definitions

izations, partnerships, associations, corporations, legal representatives, trustees, trustees in bankruptcy or receivers.

(3) The term "employee" shall include any employee and shall not be limited to the employees of a particular employer, unless explicitly stated otherwise elsewhere herein, and shall include any individual whose work has ceased as a consequence of, or in connection with, any current labor dispute or because of any unfair labor practice, and who has not obtained any other regular and substantially equivalent employment, but shall not include any individual employed as an agricultural laborer, or in the domestic service of any family or person at his home, or any individual employed by his parent or spouse, or any professional employee, or any individual having the status of an independent contractor, or any individual employed as a supervisor, or any individual employed by an employer subject to the railway labor act, as amended, or by any other person who is not an employer as herein defined.

(9) For the purpose of this act seniority shall have reference to length of service only.

Amend House File 563 by renumbering the sections and adding thereto the following:

Section Employees shall have the right of self-organization, to form, join, or assist labor organizations, to bargain collectively through representatives of their own choosing, and to engage in other concerted activities for the purpose of collective bargaining or other mutual aid or protection, and shall also have the right to refrain from any or all of such activities except to the extent that such right may be affected by an agreement requiring membership in a labor organization as a condition of employment.

Sec. Unfair Labor Practices.

a. It shall be an unfair labor practice for an employer

(1) to interfere with, restrain or coerce employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in section one (1);

(2) to dominate or interfere with the formation or administration of any labor organization or contribute financial or other support to it; provided, that an employer shall not be prohibited from permitting employees to confer with him during working hours without loss of time or pay;

(3) by discrimination in regard to hire or tenure of employment or any term or condition of employment to encourage or discourage membership in any labor organization; provided, that nothing shall preclude an employer from making an agreement with a labor organization (not established, maintained, or assisted by any action defined herein as an unfair labor practice) to require as a condition of employment membership therein on or after the sixtieth day following the beginning of such employment or the effective date of such agreement, whichever is the later:

(I) if such labor organization is the representative of the employee, in the appropriate collective bargaining unit covered by such agreement when made; and if following the most recent election by said labor organization at least a majority of the employees eligible to vote in such election have voted to authorize such labor organization to make such an agreement; provided further, that no employer shall justify any discrimination against an employee for non-membership in a labor organization,

(A) if he has reasonable grounds for believing that such membership was not available to the employee on the same terms and conditions generally applicable to other members, or

(B) if he has reasonable grounds for believing that membership was denied or terminated or reinstatement refused for reasons other than the failure of the employee to render the periodic dues during employment and the initiation fees uniformly required as a condition of acquiring or retaining membership;

(4) to discharge or otherwise discriminate against an employee because he has filed charges, instituted civil suit, or given testimony under the provisions of this act;

(5) to refuse to bargain collectively with the duly authorized representatives of his employees;

(6) to discriminate against any employee or individual seeking employment, when said employer has 25 or more employees, because of race, creed, color or national origin;

(7) to give preference to an employee with respect to the hiring, firing, or advancement of an employee without reference to merit and solely because of seniority or the lack of seniority; provided, however, if all other qualifications are equal, then preference may be given because of seniority.

b. It shall be an unfair labor practice for a labor organization or its agents

(1) to restrain or coerce

(A) employees in the exercise of the rights guaranteed in section two (2); provided, that this paragraph shall not impair the right of a labor organization to prescribe its own rules with respect to the acquisition or retention of membership therein; or

(B) an employer in the selection of his representatives for the purposes of collective bargaining or the adjustment of grievances;

(2) to cause or attempt to cause an employer to discriminate against an employee in violation of subsection "a (3)" or to discriminate against an employee with respect to whom membership in such organization has been denied or terminated or reinstatement refused on some ground other than his failure to tender the periodic dues during employment and the initiation fees uniformly required as a condition of acquiring or retaining membership;

(3) to refuse to bargain collectively with an employer, provided it is the duly authorized representative of his employees as hereinafter provided;

(4) to engage in, or to induce or encourage the employees of any employer to engage in a strike or a concerted refusal in the course of their employment to use, manufacture, process, transport or otherwise handle or work on any goods, articles, materials or commodities or to perform any services, where an object thereof is:

(A) forcing or requiring any employer or self-employed person to join any labor or employer organization or any employer or other person to cease using, selling, handling, transporting, or otherwise dealing in the products of any other producer, processor, or manufacturer, or to cease doing business with any other person;

(B) forcing or requiring any other employer to recognize or bargain with a labor organization as the representative of his employees unless such labor organization is the representative of such employees;

(C) forcing or requiring any employer to recognize or bargain with a particular labor organization as the representative of his employees if another labor organization has in fact been the representative of such employees.

(D) forcing or requiring any employer to assign particular work to employees in a particular labor organization or in a particular trade, craft, or class rather than to employees in another labor organization or in another trade, craft or class;

(5) to require of employees, covered by an agreement authorized under subsection "a (3)", the payment, as a condition precedent to becoming a member of such organization, of a fee in an amount which is excessive or discriminatory under all the circumstances. The practices and customs of labor organization in the particular industry and the wages currently paid to the employees affected, among other factors, shall be taken into consideration in determining whether said fee is excessive or discriminatory;

(6) to cause or attempt to cause an employer to pay or deliver or agree to pay or deliver any money or other thing of value, in the nature of exaction, for services which are not performed or not to be performed;

(7) to give preference to an employee with respect to the hiring, firing, or advancement of an employee without reference to merit and solely because of seniority or the lack of seniority; provided, however, if all other qualifications are equal, then preference may be given because of seniority.

c. The expressing of any views, argument or opinion, or the dissemination thereof, whether in written, printed, graphic or visual form, shall not constitute or be evidence of an unfair labor practice under any of the provisions of this act, if such expression contains no threat of reprisal or force or promise of benefit.

d. For the purposes of this section, to bargain collectively is the performance of the mutual obligation of the employer and the representative of the employees to meet at reasonable times and confer in good faith with respect to wages, hours and other terms and conditions of employment, or the negotiation of an agreement, or any question arising thereunder, and the execution of a written contract incorporating any agreement reached if requested by either party, but such obligation does not compel either party to agree to a proposal or require the making of a concession.

e. Any employer, labor organization or its agents shall, in addition to any penalties otherwise provided herein or provided elsewhere in the laws of the state of Iowa, in the event of a violation of any of the unfair labor practices contained herein be subject to civil suit for damages, injunction or reinstatement by any aggrieved party in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. Every labor union within this state shall hold an election for the selection of its officers not less than once every year, said election shall afford all members the opportunity of placing the name of any member of the union in nomination for any office, said election shall be by secret ballot, and no candidate shall be elected except upon receiving a vote of fifty-one per cent (51%) of all the members of said union. Upon petition of twenty per cent (20%) of the members of the union filed with the labor commissioner at least fifteen (15) days prior to said election, said commissioner shall conduct said election in accordance with democratic processes. Notice of said election shall be sent to every union member by a duly authorized official of said union by ordinary mail at least thirty (30) days prior to said election.

Sec. Every labor union shall file with the secretary of labor on or before February 1, 1951, and each year thereafter a complete detailed financial statement showing receipts and expenditures, including salaries, compensation and fees for services and individual expense accounts, for the period from January 1 to December 31 beginning with January 1, 1950. Said statement shall be a matter of public record. A violation of the foregoing provisions by any person, officer, representative, agent or member of any labor union shall be deemed a criminal offense; any person, organization or union convicted thereof shall be punished by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars ($1,000).

Sec. It shall be unlawful for any labor organization within the state, or any officer, agent or representative thereof acting for such organization, to give or contribute any money, property, labor, or thing of value, directly or indirectly, to any member of any political committee, political party, or employee or representative thereof, or to any candidate for any public office or candidate for nomination to any public office or to the representative of such candidate, for campaign expenses or for any political purpose whatsoever, or to any person, partnership, or corporation for the purpose of influencing or causing such person, partnership, or corporation to influence any elector of the state to vote for or against any candidate for public office or for nomination for public office or to any public officer for the purpose of influencing his official action or to compensate or pay any money to any public official other than reasonable amounts for private services rendered in the course of his usual employment, but nothing in this section shall be construed to restrain or abridge the liberty of the press or prohibit the consideration and discussion therein of candidacies, nominations, public offices, or political questions. A violation of the foregoing provision shall be deemed a criminal offense, and any person or organization convicted thereof shall be punished by imprisonment in the county jail not less than six months or more than one year or, in the discretion of the court, by fine not exceeding one thousand dollars ($1,000).

"441.12a. Preliminary to the procedure for the assessment of property by the assessor as provided in this chapter the assessor is hereby authorized to require from all persons required to list their property for taxation as provided by sections 428.1, 428.2 and 428.3, Code 1946, a preliminary return to be prescribed by the state tax commission upon which such person shall list his property. Such preliminary return shall be in substantially the same form as now prescribed by law for the assessment rolls used in listing of property by the assessors, and the state tax commission may prescribe separate preliminary forms for the listing of personal property, both tangible and intangible. It shall be the duty of every person required to list property for taxation to make a complete listing of such property upon such preliminary forms and to return the same to the assessor as promptly as possible. The person making the return shall subscribe to the following statement 'I hereby swear or affirm that the statements made or to be made in my assessment roll relative to the type and quantity of my assessable property are the truth.' and the provisions of section four hundred forty-one point eight (441.8) shall apply to any person making such return. The assessor shall not be bound by any values as listed in such preliminary return, and he may include in the assessment roll any property omitted from the preliminary return which in the knowledge and belief of the assessor should be listed as required by law by the person making the preliminary return. Upon completion of such roll he shall deliver to the person submitting such preliminary return a copy of the assessment roll, either personally or by mail, to the person assessed.

"441.12c. Any taxpayer aggrieved by the action of the assessor in the preparation of an assessment roll upon which a preliminary return has been made shall have the same rights and privileges of appeal as provided by law in connection with the assessment rolls prepared in entirety by the assessor.

"441.12d. The preliminary returns herein provided shall be preserved in the same manner as assessment rolls, but shall be confidential to the assessor, board of review, or state tax commission, and shall not be open to public inspection, but any final assessment roll as made out by the assessor shall be a public record, provided that such preliminary return shall be available to counsel of either the person making the return or of the public, in case any appeal is taken to the board of review or to the court.

"441.12e. In the event of failure of any person required to list property to make a preliminary return as required herein, not later than February 15 of any year when such listing is required, the assessor shall proceed in the listing and assessment of his property as provided by this chapter, and no person subject to taxation shall be relieved of his obligation to list his property through failure to make a preliminary return as provided, and any roll prepared by the assessor, after receiving a preliminary return or prepared in accordance with other provisions of this chapter, shall be a valid assessment.

"441.12f. The provisions of chapter four hundred forty-one (441), Code 1946, relating to assessment rolls shall be applicable to the preparation of rolls upon which a preliminary return has been received, insofar as they are not in conflict with the provisions of this act."

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

FORT DES MOINES HISTORY

Story of Military Post Told by Army Officer

(Capt. R. T. Edwards in the U. S. Army Recruiting News)

Iowa, in which state Fort Des Moines is located, was originally a part of that vast territory known as the Louisiana Purchase, procured from France in 1803 by President Jefferson. There was bitter opposition to the spending of the $15,000,000 demanded by France for an unregenerate wilderness. Yet the land conveyed to the United States has yielded fourteen of the nation's forty-eight states.

The first fortification—if such it could be called—in the vicinity of the present day Fort Des Moines was built by the French in the early part of the eighteenth century, and was located on the Mississippi opposite the mouth of the Des Moines river. While history is decidedly vague on this point the original post was probably a trading station, with perhaps a small garrison to maintain French ascendancy along the Mississippi.

The first occupation of the section by United States troops occurred in 1833, following purchase from the Indians in 1832 of a strip of land fifty miles wide on the west bank of the Mississippi. A second purchase on the west bank was made in 1837. The third or "New Purchase" made in 1842 gave the United States the title to the remainder of the lands of the Sac and Fox Indians in what is now Iowa, but permitted those tribes to occupy the portion west of Red Rock until new homes in Kansas were found for them in 1845.

Des Moines was naturally named from the river upon whose banks it was built. The most generally accepted derivation of the name is the River of the Moingonas, or in French, Riviere des Moines. The designation prevailed and so Des Moines began to appear on modern maps.

Fort Des Moines had its beginning in the days of buckskin jacket and coonskin caps. It was established as a frontier post by act of Congress of 1833 for the protection of the neighboring settlers and emigrants from the frequent raids made by wandering tribes of redmen, to be located "on the right bank of the Mississippi near the mouth of the Des Moines river."

In the summer of 1835, Lieutenant Colonel Philip Kearny was directed to proceed with an expedition from this point to the mouth of the Raccoon river to select a site suitable for a military post. His report was unfavorable. The war department failed to concur and directed the inspector general, Colonel Croghan, to look into the matter on his visit west. Colonel Croghan also doubted the expediency of establishing a post in the vicinity and expressed himself so.

In November, 1842, Captain James Allen of the dragoon regiment visited the locality and made recommendation that troops be stationed there. This was approved by the war department, and on the afternoon of May 20, 1843, Captain Allen with his company of dragoons, consisting of four officers and forty-eight men, landed at the proposed site, and were joined next day by Captain J. R. B. Gardenier's company of the first infantry, two officers and forty-four men. A post was accordingly laid out on the west bank of the Des Moines river at the junction of the Raccoon, at the edge of a belt of timber extending along the river front.

Cabins for the officers were constructed facing the Des Moines; those for the companies of dragoons and infantry fronted on the Raccoon. There was also a warehouse for commissary stores, a guard house, the adjutant's office, stables and corrals for crippled or unserviceable horses, a well, a flag staff, and all other appurtenances of an army post. Captain Allen, as the first commanding officer, named the new station Fort Raccoon. This was soon changed to Fort Des Moines, however, by order of General Winfield Scott, commanding the United States military forces in that community, as being a little more dignified.

By the time the winter of 1843-44 had fairly set in, all the buildings were completed and the command, abandoning their tents, moved in and made themselves as comfortable as the circumstances of their isolated position would permit. The importunities and frequent overt acts of squatters and the restless instincts of the neighboring tribes afforded many opportunities for service to Captain Allen and his meager force. The troops were almost constantly in the field.

At midnight on October 11, 1845, a signal shot was fired from one of the barrack cabin roofs as a notice to the public that the treaty with the Indians had expired, and that the redman's rule in Iowa was over forever. The Indians immediately scattered all over the state in small bands to prevent their removal but were rounded up by the military authorities, and doubtless with many a regretful and lingering look (a painting of this event hangs in the Polk county, Iowa, courthouse) they passed to the south to the new Indian reservation in Kansas under the escort of Captain Allen and his dragoons.

By arrangements made with the war department, the settlers living in the vicinity were allowed to occupy the buildings of the post. The officers' cabins paralleling the Des Moines river became known as "Des Moines row," and the barrack cabins facing the Raccoon river became known as "Coon Row."

The next step in the evolution of Fort Des Moines was taken on January 4, 1900, when, by act of Congress, five hundred twenty-five acres were purchased at the present site and the erection of the present-day brick buildings was begun. In November, 1903, the present Fort Des Moines was recognized as a military post and the fort was taken over in the name of the United States government.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

CITY OF DES MOINES
Department of Police

April 7, 1949.

Attention: Gustav T. Kuester
Speaker of the House of Representatives
To: All State Legislators and Officials

From: The Department of Adult Education of the Des Moines Public Schools, The Juvenile Bureau of the Des Moines Police Department, The Des Moines Council of Parent-Teacher Associations.
Subject: Invitation to attend the Family Guidance Clinic.

For the past two years parents of children who have gotten into difficulties and others interested in the problems of child growth and development have been attending in increasing numbers a family guidance clinic conducted under the co-sponsorship of the above organizations. Each Monday evening a class and a discussion is held in the auditorium of the city library at which the problems of parents and children are discussed under the leadership of Mrs. Merrill Barlow, who is a child guidance specialist, a skilled teacher, the mother of several children, and the wife of the business manager of Drake University. These classes have met with a considerable degree of success and as this clinic is the only one of its kind in Iowa and the second one known of its kind in the nation, we thought that those responsible for the making and the execution of state laws would be interested in it.

Next Monday evening, April 11, Judge Ralph Powers, former judge of the municipal court, will be the guest speaker at the clinic. His topic is "The Legal Responsibilities of Parents." The class begins at 7:00 and ends at 9:00 p.m. and we hope that as many members of the legislature and as many state officials as can find the time will be our guests.

Yours very truly,

RALPH W. BROPHY, Lieut. of Police,
Commanding Police Juvenile Bureau.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Davis of Fayette asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following poem by Brownlie of Madison be printed in the Journal:

LOCAL OPTION

When Stevens put L O out on the floor
Her dress so nice and handsome
Her hat and shoes; her lace and hose
Were worth a kingly ransom.

Schwengel and Armstrong dolled her up
To make ballot marking legal.
Pote pasted on a "bootleg" clause,
Gallup a ten spot eagle.

The Lawrence "identifying" patch
It slipped away in space.
Schanke retrieved it with a move,
And sewed it in its place.

The Burlingame's fine quilted gown
Was liquor by the drink.
The Speaker ruled it out of place,
Alas, it had to sink.

Tierney made a dextrous trim
And had it township size.
Ward's bock and root beer caused a rip
L O's gown was loosing guise.

Hicklin's scissors were keen and sharp
They cut from "shall" to "may"
Goode's bellhop could no bottles take
To rooms for parties gay.

Bass said the jigs should be one size
And upped the service fee.
Desert the place at 11 p.m.
Keep safe the owner's key.

Nystrom wanted the liquor store
 Upon dear L O's to rest
 The Chair ruled out they shady were,
 A most unwelcomed guest.

Well, Sloane, he tore a telling strip,
 To shrink the "C boys" dough,
 Tying it in a tougher knot,
 No Sunday open row.

He slashed a lot at her waist seam
 A raise on permit pay.
 The poor "B boys" were knotted up
 No chance for being gay.

He wants the trains and trucks to move
 Swift through a place so dry.
 No ordered package tumbling out,
 For law would grab the buy.

Well, Stevens fussed and fumed a lot.
 L O's dress a frightful mess.
 He tried her pride to bolster up
 A failure was no guess.

Well, Teddie saw her wounded pride
 And mercifully stretched a cable,
 A sigh, a heaving boost, a jerk,
 And laid her on the table.

Landsness of Buena Vista offered the following House concurrent resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 23

Whereas, the use of alcoholic beverages is rapidly increasing in Iowa; and,

Whereas, the habit-forming practice of the use of alcoholic beverages in many cases results in lowered physical and mental efficiency, broken homes, juvenile delinquency, increased crime, and general disregard for law and order, all detrimental to the general public welfare; and,

Whereas, the General Assembly of Iowa does recognize the inherent right and duty of government to protect and safeguard the general public welfare of its people by all proper means; and,

Whereas, the above habit-forming practice is constantly being stimulated and encouraged by the use of advertising and propoganda, much of which comes from out of state and which has for its purpose financial profit rather than the general public interest and welfare; and,

Whereas, there has been introduced in Congress, at various times, legislation to prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of advertising of alcoholic beverages; and,

Whereas, it is desirable to place this General Assembly on record as not favoring such advertisement in this state;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa disapproves of the practice of advertising of alcoholic beverages in publications printed in this state or transported into Iowa in interstate commerce, and urges both the Congress of the United States and the next General Assembly of Iowa to take such steps as are necessary to control and eliminate such practice to the end that the general welfare of the people and especially the youth of Iowa and of the United States be safeguarded and protected.

Laid over under Rule 34.

W. J. SCARBOROUGH, Secretary.

By Claims Committee

Whereas, doubt has arisen under provisions of section twenty-five point seven (25.7), Code 1946, that submission of claims to the joint claims committee of the Senate and House and rejection by said committee constitutes final action thereon by the General Assembly as provided in said section; and,

Whereas, certain claims rejected by previous joint claims committees are sometimes reprocessed by the state appeal board for recurring submissions; and,

Whereas, it is deemed desirable that claims submitted to the joint claims committee of the Fifty-third General Assembly and rejected thereby should be submitted to the Senate and House thereof for final action and determination as the act of the General Assembly;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the claims hereinafter set forth, duly processed by the state appeal board and rejected by the joint claims committee be considered by the Senate and House, and the action of the joint claims committee be approved.

"Reimbursement from the state for transportation costs incurred shall be paid to:

"1. Districts for transportation provided to its own school for all pupils entitled to free transportation.

"2. Districts for transportation provided to another school for all pupils entitled to free transportation.

"3. Districts for transportation provided to pupils residing in one district and who are entitled to transportation but are transported to a

"When the pupils from the sending district are transported by the receiving district the reimbursement will be made to the receiving district and shall constitute a credit to the sending district on the cost of transportation. The receiving district in billing the sending district shall bill only for the difference between the state reimbursement and the actual approved cost of transportation.

"The appropriation for transportation shall be used to reimburse school districts for cost incurred in the amount and manner as are provided in this chapter. POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Metz of Decatur rose under the question of personal privilege, asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following editorial from the Wall Street Journal be printed in the Journal:

REVIEW and OUTLOOK

Gift Horses

In Iowa a committee of state legislators investigated the administration of the aid to dependent children fund, which is supported partly by the state treasury and partly by federal "grants." The question was whether the administrative system could be changed to suit local needs.

The committee's report is worth quoting:

" regardless of our opinion in reference to federal domination of this program, it is necessary for the state of Iowa to adjust its program to the federal pattern, else the federal administrator will refuse to Iowa federal aid in the financing of this relief pattern. It should be understood that the federal pattern in this instance is not unlike the federal aid system generally."

The pattern is this: The federal government collects about a half billion dollars from the citizens of Iowa in income taxes. It collects several hundred million more from Iowans who use gasoline, make phone calls, go to the movies, ride trains, or buy lipstick, light bulbs or sugar for their coffee.

Then the nice people in Washington tell the Iowans they'll give them some of it back for such worthwhile projects as helping little children—provided, of course, the Iowans do what the federal largess givers tell them to do.

The Iowans must first tax themselves again to raise an amount equal to the federal "gift." Then they must administer it in exactly the way the federal folk think they should, that is, according to national standards. No obedience, no "gifts."

Well, the Iowans know they are hooked. The legislators ruefully conclude they must do exactly what Washington tells them. Otherwise, "Iowa money paid in the first instance to the federal government would be lost to our state and would be diverted to some other state or states that had subscribed to the federal pattern and program."

This rigamajig isn't limited to children's aid. It's the same for "federal aid" to the states for everything: highways, airports, housing, schools or other welfare projects. You pay tithes to the federal government; then if you are a good boy, do what you are told and raise some more taxes, you can get back some of what you paid the federal government in the first place.

Under the Truman program the federal government promises to bear even greater gifts to the states for their general welfare. The Iowans remind us there are some gift horses that need to be looked in the mouth.

The Speaker appointed Rankin of Franklin to escort the Hampton Boys' Chorus of thirty-two members and their director, Mr.

Joe McCoy, to the well of the House. The chorus sang the following numbers: "Now Let Every Tongue Adore Thee," "Climbin' Up the Mountain," and "De Gospel Train." The members of the chorus are: Duane Foss, Donald Barnes, Dean Diggins, Gerald Dohrman, Gordon Jones, Marvin Pandil, Leo Miller, James Jorgensen, Gerald Allison, Armond Miller, Dwight Behn, Maurice Wolf, Richard Matland, Jerry Juhl, Clinton Wolf, Keith Davis, Richard Malnory, Lowell Stock, Ray Renaud, Gordon Beals, Richard Stilson, Leroy Behn, Harold Burmaster, Karl Brun, Douglas Nelson, Ray Sommerfeld, Ralph Bockelman, Marvin Rodemeyer, Donald Brammer and Ray Johannsen.

Amend House File 524 by striking all of section two (2) of said bill after the word "hereby" in line four (4) of said section, and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

"repealed.

"Sec. 3. Power to establish. In order to provide for the graveling, oiling, or other suitable surfacing of secondary roads, the board of supervisors shall have power, on petition, to establish secondary road assessment districts.

"Sec. 4. Width of district. Any such secondary road assessment district shall be not more than one-half mile wide on each side of the road or roads to be improved by said district.

"Sec. 5. Amount of assessment. Special assessments in the aggregate amount of not less than twenty-five per cent of the total estimated cost of surfacing any road included in a secondary road assessment district project shall be apportioned and levied on the lands included in said secondary road assessment district.

"Sec. 6. County line road. Whenever it is desired to surface a secondary road on a county line, as a secondary road assessment district project, the board of supervisors of any county concerned may establish an assessment district in its county, and levy and collect special assessments for the payment of that portion of the estimated cost of such project assessable against lands in that county. Each county shall pay its share of the cost of said project as provided in this act, in the same manner as though the project were located wholly within that county.

"Sec. 7. Project in city or town. Any road or street which is a continuation of a secondary road within any city or town and which the county board desires to improve by graveling, oiling, or other suitable surfacing may, by resolution of the county board and concurrence by the council of the city or town, be improved as a secondary road assessment district project or part thereof as herein provided. The lands within such city or town abutting on or adjacent to such street or road may be included within such secondary road assessment district and assessed on account of such improvement upon the same basis and in the same manner as though such lands were located outside of a city or town.

"Sec. 8. Petition—information required. The petition for a secondary road assessment district proposing to establish such district shall intelligently describe the road or roads proposed to be improved, the nature of the proposed improvement, the percentage of the estimated cost of the surfacing of said road proposed to be assessed against the property in the said district and the lands proposed to be included in such district.

"Such petition shall be signed by thirty-five per cent of the owners of the lands within such proposed district, or by thirty-five per cent of the owners of the land within such proposed district who reside within said county.

"Sec. 9. When any owner or group of owners of not less than seventy-five per cent (75%) of the lands adjacent to, or abutting upon any secondary road or roads shall, on or before December first of any year, petition the board of supervisors of their county for the improving by graveling or other suitable surfacing of said road or roads, and for the assessment of not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the cost of such improving, by graveling or other suitable surfacing, to the lands adjacent to, or abutting upon said road or roads, the board of supervisors shall, in the order in which such petitions were filed with it, include and give preference to said project or projects in the secondary road construction program of said county for the ensuing year.

"The board of supervisors shall proceed during the ensuing year with the construction and completion of said project under the same procedure as is prescribed generally for the improvement of secondary roads by assessment, and shall, as the law may provide, establish a special secondary road assessment district and assess against the land included therein not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the engineer's estimated cost of the surfacing of the road or roads included in said project against all the lands adjacent to or abutting upon the said road or roads.

"Provided, that should the owner or owners of all the lands included in any special secondary road assessment district under this section subscribe and deposit with the county treasurer an amount not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the engineer's estimated cost of the surfacing of the road or roads included in said project, the board of supervisors shall not establish such special assessment district as herein provided, but shall accept the said donations in lieu of an assessment, and shall otherwise proceed to the improvement of said road or roads as herein provided.

"Upon the completion of such road or roads, and the satisfaction of all claims in relation thereto, any balance then remaining of the funds provided by the sponsors shall be returned to them according to their respective interests, providing all guarantees made by such sponsors have been fulfilled.

"Any road or roads so improved by graveling or other suitable surfacing under the provisions of this section shall be maintained by the county from the secondary road fund.

"Sec. 10. County engineer's report. Upon the filing of such petition with the county auditor proposing the establishment of such secondary road assessment district, the county engineer shall file a report thereon with the county auditor, which report shall include:

"a. An estimate of the cost of the surfacing proposed on the road or roads included in such proposed district.

"b. A plat of said proposed district which plat shall show the road or roads proposed to be improved, the various tracts and parcels of real estate included in said proposed district, and the ownership of such lands.

"c. An approximately equitable apportionment of not less than twenty-five per cent of the estimated cost of said improvement among the tracts and parcels of real estate included in such proposed district.

"d. A statement whether all of the secondary roads to be surfaced in said proposed secondary road assessment district project have been built to permanent grade and properly drained.

"e. Any information the county engineer may deem pertinent.

"Sec. 11. Publicly owned real estate. In making said apportionment, real estate owned by the state, county or any city or town, shall be treated as other real estate, but no other publicly owned real estate shall be included. In apportioning benefits to real estate owned by a town, city, the county or the state, no consideration shall be given to the buildings thereon.

"Sec. 12. Estimate and apportionment—presumption. Said estimated cost shall carry the presumption, in the absence of a contrary showing, that the same correctly represents the probable cost of said project as nearly as can be determined in advance of the actual doing and completion of the work. Said apportionment shall carry the presumption, in the absence of a contrary showing, that the same is fair, just, equitable and in proportion to the benefits and not in excess thereof.

"Sec. 13. Hearing—notice. The board of supervisors shall fix a time for hearing on the proposal for the establishment of said secondary road assessment district and on the apportionment of not less than twenty-five per cent of the estimated cost of the proposed improvement, and shall cause the county auditor to publish notice of said hearing. Said notice shall state:

- "1. The time and place of hearing,
- "2. The road or roads proposed to be improved,
- "3. The type of surfacing proposed,
- "4. The estimated cost of the proposed improvement,
- "5. A description of the lands lying within said proposed district,
- "6. The ownership of said lands as shown by the transfer books in the auditor's office,
- "7. A statement of the amount apportioned to each tract or parcel of real estate as shown by the engineer's report,
- "8. That at said hearing the amount apportioned to any tract or parcel of land may be increased or decreased without further notice,
- "9. That all objections to the establishment of said district, to the said apportionment report, or to the proceedings relating thereto must be specifically made in writing and filed with the county auditor on or before noon of the day set for such hearing, and
- "10. That a failure to make and file such objections will be deemed a conclusive waiver of all such objections.

"Sec. 14. Publication of notice. Such notice shall be published once each week for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county as near as practicable to said district. The last publication shall be not less than five days previous to said hearing. Proof of such publication shall be made by the publisher by affidavit filed with the county auditor.

"Sec. 15. Errors in notice or apportionment report. Any omission or error in said apportionment report or notice with respect to any tract or parcel of real estate or the description thereof, or the name of the owner, or the amount of the assessment apportioned thereto shall work no loss of jurisdiction on the part of the board over such proceeding. Such omission or error shall only affect the particular tract of real estate or person in question. If, before or after the board has entered its final order in the establishment of the said district or in the apportionment proceedings, such omission or error is discovered, the board shall fix a time for a hearing as to such party or real estate and shall cause service of notice to be made upon them, either by publication as in this act provided, or by personal service in the time and manner required for service of original notices in the district court. After such hearing the board shall proceed as to such person or land as though such omission or error had not occurred.

"Sec. 16. Appearance. The appearance of any interested party, either in writing or personally, or by authorized agent, before the board of supervisors at any stage of the pending proceedings for a secondary road assessment district shall be deemed a full appearance. Only interested parties shall have the right to appear in such proceedings. All persons so appearing shall state for whom they appear. The clerk of the board shall make definite entry accordingly in the minutes of the board.

"Sec. 17. Hearing—adjournment—order. Hearings on the proposed establishment of said district may be adjourned from time to time without loss of jurisdiction by the board. On final hearing the board shall proceed to a determination of said matters. It may reject, approve, or modify and approve said proposal. The board may exclude lands from the district or may add lands thereto or otherwise modify the proposal.

"Should the proposal be approved in whole or in part, the board shall establish such district. The order of the board establishing such district shall state the road or roads to be improved, the type of improvement, and the lands included in said district. Said order shall be final. No lands shall thereafter be added to or excluded from said district.

"Sec. 18. Final hearing—assessment levied. On final hearing the board shall hear and determine all objections filed. The board may increase, diminish, annul, or affirm the apportionment made in said report, or any part thereof, as may appear to the board to be just and equitable.

"On the final determination the board shall levy such assessments and all installments thereof upon the real estate within said district as finally established. The entire amount of said assessment shall be then due and payable, and bear interest at six per cent per annum commencing twenty days from the date of said levy, and shall be collected at the next succeeding March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes.

"Sec. 19. Assessments over ten dollars—waiver. If any owner other than the state or a county, city or town, of any tracts of land on which the assessment is more than ten dollars, shall, within twenty days from the date of said assessment, agree in writing filed in the office of the county auditor, that in consideration of his having the right to pay his assessment in installments, he will not make any objection of illegality or irregularity as to said assessment upon his said real estate, and will pay the same with six per cent interest thereon, then and in that case said assessment shall be payable in ten equal installments. The first installment shall be payable on the date of such agreement. The other installments with interest on the whole amount unpaid shall be paid annually thereafter at the same time and in the same manner as the March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes.

"An owner of land who has availed himself of said ten-year option may at any time discharge his assessment by paying the balance then due on all unpaid installments, with interest on the entire amount of the unpaid installments for thirty days in advance.

"Sec. 20. Assessment delinquent—penalties. All such taxes shall become delinquent on the first day of March next after their maturity, shall bear the same interest, the same penalties, and be attended with the same rights and remedies for collection, as ordinary taxes.

"Sec. 21. Assessment ten dollars or less. Assessments of ten dollars or less against any tract of land, and assessments against lands owned by the state, county, city or town, shall be due and payable from the date of levy by the board of supervisors, or in the case of any appeal, from the date of final confirmation of the levy by the court.

"In case of assessments on lands owned by the county, the same shall be paid from the county general fund. In case of assessments on lands owned by the state, the same shall be paid out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated. In case of assessments on lands owned by a city or town, the same shall be paid from the city or town general fund.

"Sec. 22. Variation between estimated and actual cost. Any variation between the engineer's estimated cost and the actual cost of a secondary road assessment district project shall in no way affect the validity of the assessment. It is the intent of this Act that the assessment shall be based on the estimated cost and not on the actual cost.

"Sec. 23. Procedures. The preparation and approval of plans and specifications, the advertising for bids, the award and approval of contract, the supervision and inspection of construction work, and the approval and payment of claims on any secondary road assessment district project shall be conducted in the manner provided in the laws for secondary road construction work generally.

"Sec. 24. Road graded and drained. Any such secondary road shall be built to permanent grade and drained in a manner approved by the county engineer before being surfaced as provided in this Act.

"Sec. 25. Payment of construction costs. The total cost of any secondary road assessment district project shall in the first instance be paid out of the secondary road fund of said county. Any assessments which are paid in cash and in anticipation of which assessments no certificates have been issued, shall be transferred to the secondary road fund.

"If no special assessment certificates are issued and sold on account of any particular secondary road assessment district, the special assessments on lands included in that district, and the interest on such assessments when collected, shall be transferred to the secondary road fund of said county. If certificates are issued and sold in anticipation of the special assessments levied on any such district as herein provided, the proceeds of such certificates shall be credited to the secondary road fund of said county. In that event, the special assessments in anticipation of which certificates have been issued, and the interest on such assessments shall, when collected, be used to retire such certificates.

"Sec. 26. Appeal from assessment. Any owner of land in a secondary road assessment district may appeal to the district court from the order of the board of supervisors in levying the assessment against his real estate, by filing with the county auditor within fifteen days of the date of such levy, a bond conditioned to pay all costs in case the appeal is not sustained, and a written notice of appeal wherein he shall, with particularity, point out the specific objection which he desires to lodge against such levy. The appearance term shall be the trial term. Said appeal shall have precedence over all other business of the term except criminal matters. The appeal shall be heard as in equity. The court may raise or lower the assessment in question and make an equitable assessment in the judgment of the court. The clerk of the district court shall, upon the entry of the final order of the court, certify such final order to the county auditor. The board of supervisors shall at once so adjust the assessments as to comply with the final order of the court.

"Sec. 27. Appeal docketed. When an appeal is taken, the county auditor shall at once make a transcript of the notice of appeal and appeal bond and transmit the same to the district court. The appellant shall, on or before the first day of the first term of the court, after taking said appeal, docket said appeal and file a petition setting forth the order or decision of the board of supervisors appealed from, and his specific objections thereto. A failure to comply with either of these requirements shall be deemed a conclusive waiver of the appeal and in such case the court shall dismiss the same. Appellee need not file answer, but may do so.

"Sec. 28. Assessments certified to county treasurer. When the board of supervisors has entered its final order as to the amounts of all special assessments on a given improvement, the county auditor shall at once certify a list of such assessments and a list of real estate upon which each assessment has been levied, with the specific designation of the district embracing such real estate, to the county treasurer, who shall enter each assessment on the tax books and continue such entry until such assessment is paid.

"Each special assessment and all installments thereof shall be a lien upon the real estate upon which it is levied from the date of such certificate by the county auditor to the same extent and in the same manner as taxes levied for state and county purposes. Changes in the amount of any special assessment by reason of any ruling of the district court on appeals, shall be likewise certified and the county treasurer shall make the proper correction on his books.

"Sec. 29. Each district separate unit. Each assessment district shall be considered a unit and all funds received by the county treasurer for or on behalf of such unit shall be carried as a distinct and separate account and under the same specific name as that used by the board in establishing such unit.

"Sec. 30. Certificates anticipating assessments. In order to render immediately available that amount of the estimated cost of an improvement which has been specially assessed, the board may issue road certificates in the name of the county in an aggregate amount not exceeding the then unpaid amount of the special assessment levied in said district. Each issue of certificates shall be under, and in accordance with, a duly adopted resolution of the board and which shall recite (1) the name or designation of the road district on account of which the certificates are issued; (2) that a stated amount (naming the amount) has been specially assessed against the lands within said district; (3) that a stated amount of said aggregate special assessment has not yet been paid (naming the unpaid amount); (4) that it is necessary to render such unpaid amount immediately available; (5) the number of road certificates authorized and the specific amount of each certificate; (6) the specific numbering or designation of such certificates; (7) the rate of interest which each certificate shall bear from date, to wit, not to exceed six per cent per annum; (8) the fact that said certificates are payable solely from the proceeds of the special assessments which have been levied on the lands within said districts; (9) that each certificate shall be payable on or before the first day of January of the first year following the maturity of the last installment of such special assessments, and that interest thereon shall be paid annually; (10) the authorization to the chairman of the board, and to the county auditor, respectively, to sign and countersign each of said certificates.

"Sec. 31. Sale of certificates. Upon the signing of each of said certificates by the chairman of the board, said certificates shall be delivered to the county auditor, who shall countersign the same, charge the county treasurer with the amount thereof, and deliver the same to the latter officer, who shall be responsible therefor on his bond. The treasurer may apply said certificates in payment of any warrants duly authorized and issued for surfacing the roads within said district, or he may sell the same for the best attainable price and for not less than par, plus accrued interest, and credit the proceeds to the secondary road fund. Such certificates shall be retired in the order of the consecutive numbering thereof.

"Sec. 32. Certificates registered—payment. The county treasurer shall, in connection with the road account for said district, enter the name and postoffice address of all persons to whom any of said certificates are issued, with a particular designation of the certificates delivered to each person. Any subsequent holder may present his certificate to the county treasurer and cause his name and postoffice address to be entered in lieu of that of such former holder. Whenever the fund for such particular district has money to pay the first retirable certificate or certificates, the county treasurer shall, by mail, as shown by his records, promptly notify the holder of such certificate of such fact and that from and after ten days after the mailing of such letter all interest on such certificates will cease.

"Sec. 33. Previous assessments not invalidated. The passage of this Act, the provisions hereof, and the repeal of sections hereby repealed shall not in manner affect or invalidate any secondary road district assessments levied before this Act became effective, or any certificate in anticipation of such assessments issued before or after this Act becomes effective.

"Said assessments and taxes shall be collected and applied to the purpose for which they were levied. Certificates in anticipation of such assessments may be issued. The proceeds of such certificates shall be applied to the purpose intended, and such certificates issued before or after this Act becomes effective shall be paid in conformance with the provisions of this Act."

AMENDMENTS FILED

- 1 Amend Senate File 210 by adding a new section thereto as
- 2 follows:
- 3 "Section four hundred twenty-two point twenty-one (422.21),
- 4 Code 1946, is hereby amended by adding to such section the
- 5 following:

6 "The state tax commission is hereby authorized and 7 directed to make available to persons required to make personal 8 income tax returns under the provisions of this chapter, and 9 when such income is derived mainly from salaries and wages or 10 from the operation of a business or profession, a form which 11 shall take into consideration the normal deductions and credits
12 allowable to any such taxpayer, and which will permit the 13 computation of the tax payable without requiring the listing of 14 specific deductions and credits. In arriving at schedules for 15 payment of taxation under such forms the state tax commission
16 shall as nearly as possible base such schedules upon a total
17 of deductions and credits which will result in substantially
18 the same payment as would have been made by such taxpayer were 19 he to specifically list his allowable deductions and credits.
20 In lieu of such return any taxpayer may elect to list permissible
21 deductions and credits as provided by law. It is the intent and 22 purpose of this provision to simplify the procedure of collection
23 of personal income tax, and the commission shall have the power
24 in any case when it deems it necessary or advisable to require 25 any taxpayer, who has made a return in accordance with the 26 schedule herein provided for, to make an additional return in 27 which all deductions and credits are specifically listed. The 28 commission may revise the schedules adopted in connection with 29 such simplified form whenever such revision is necessitated by 30 changes in Federal income tax laws, or to maintain the collection 31 of substantially the same amounts from taxpayers as would be 32 received were the specific listing of deductions and credits
33 required."

- 2 Sec. 4. Section four hundred twenty-two point twelve
- 3 (422.12), Code 1946, is amended by adding thereto the following:
- 4 "There shall also be deducted from the tax, after the same
- 5 shall have been computed as set forth in this division and after
- 6 the deductions of the personal exemptions provided by this
- 7 section, the amount of taxes paid during the preceding year
- 8 upon real property, not to exceed fifty (50) per cent of the
- 9 amount of income tax payable by the individual. Any individual
- 10 claiming such credit shall file with his income tax report the
- 11 following:
- 12 "1. A correct description of the real estate upon which
- 13 the tax is paid;
- 14 "2. The legal title owners of such property;

- 16 such credit;

20 paid on the same real estate and if so the name of such other
21 individual."

22 Sec. 5. No person shall be entitled to any deduction for 23 real estate taxes paid unless such person shall be the title-
24 holder of record of the whole interest of such real property, 25 or a joint tenant or tenant in common, or a life tenant, as 26 of January first of the year in which such credit is claimed, 27 or is the contract purchaser of real estate upon which such 28 credit is claimed and is required by the terms of said contract
29 to pay the taxes assessed against such property, which contract

31 county in which the property is recorded prior to or upon 32 January first of the year in which such property taxes are 33 due and payable.

34 Sec. 6. Every county treasurer of the state of Iowa shall,
35 upon request, issue to any payer of taxes upon real property
36 a receipt showing the amount of real estate taxes due from such 37 taxpayer for the current year and the amount of tax actually 38 paid by such taxpayer upon such property. Such receipt shall 39 not include any penalties or interest paid by such taxpayer
40 and the term "real estate tax or taxes" shall not be construed
41 to include any special assessment or special tax levies made
42 against benefited districts of any character.

50 current year income tax, the credit shall be fifty (50)
51 per cent of the amount of such income tax due and payable.
52 If the amount of the real estate tax for which credit is 53 claimed and for which receipt is produced is less than 54 fifty (50) per cent of the amount of income tax due and payable,
55 he shall receive a credit equal to the amount of property tax
56 which has been paid.

57 Sec. 8. If such taxpayer shall pay his property tax in 58 two equal installments as provided by law, he may claim his 59 credit for each semi-annual payment in the same manner as if 60 payment was made in one installment and the state tax
61 commission shall provide rules and regulations for the 62 presentation for receipts for semi-annual payments and for 63 the application of such credit to the return made by an 64 individual taxpayer. No credit shall be allowed for the 65 payment of real estate taxes which are not paid during the 66 calendar year in which the same are due and payable.

67 For the purpose of this act, when a husband and wife file
68 a joint personal income tax return, a credit shall be given 69 for property taxes paid by either husband or wife upon

70 presentation of receipts as provided by this act; if 71 individual returns are made by both husband and wife no credit
72 shall be allowed except for taxes paid by the individual.

73 Sec. 9. In the computation of any individual tax upon 74 which credit is claimed for real property taxes under the 75 provisions of this act, no deduction shall be allowed under 76 provisions of subsection three (3) of section four hundred 77 twenty-two point nine (422.9), Code 1946, for any tax upon
78 real estate for which credit is claimed, nor shall any credit 79 be allowed upon real estate taxes upon property not within the 80 state of Iowa. The term "real estate taxes" shall not be 81 deemed to include taxes upon machinery taxable as real estate
82 under the provisions of section four hundred twenty-eight point
83 twenty-two (428.22), Code 1946.

84 Sec. 10. In the event any credit is given to which the 85 taxpayer is not entitled under the provisions of this act,
86 any such credit shall be void and the amount of such credit
87 shall be charged against the property for which income tax
88 credit was allowed, and the state tax commission, the county
89 auditor and the county treasurer are authorized and directed 90 to correct their books and records accordingly. The amount
91 of such erroneous credit, when collected, shall be returned
92 by the county treasurer to the property credit fund.

93 Sec. 11. The state tax commission shall have power to 94 promulgate and establish such rules and regulations as may 95 be appropriate for the administration of this act.

96 Sec. 12. Section four hundred twenty-two point twenty-one
97 (422.21), Code 1946, is hereby amended by adding to such 98 section the following:

99 "The state tax commission is hereby authorized and directed
100 to make available to persons required to make personal income
101 tax returns under the provisions of this chapter, and when 102 such income is derived mainly from salaries and wages or from 103 the operation of a business or profession, a form which shall 104 take into consideration the normal deductions and credits
105 allowable to any such taxpayer, and which will permit the 106 computation of the tax payable without requiring the listing
107 of specific deductions and credits. In arriving at schedules for 108 payment of taxation under such forms the state tax commission
109 shall as nearly as possible base such schedules upon a total
110 of deductions and credits which will result in substantially
111 the same payment as would have been made by such taxpayer
112 were he to specifically list his allowable deductions and 113 credits. In lieu of such return any taxpayer may elect to 114 list permissible deductions and credits as provided by law.
115 It is the intent and purpose of this provision to simplify the 116 procedure of collection of personal income tax, and the 117 commission shall have the power in any case when it deems 118 it necessary or advisable to require any taxpayer, who has 119 made a return in accordance with the schedule herein provided

120 for, to make an additional return in which all deductions and 121 credits are specifically listed. The commission may revise 122 the schedules adopted in connection with such simplified form
 123 whenever such revision is necessitated by changes in Federal 124 income tax laws, or to maintain the collection of substantially 125 the same amounts from taxpayers as would be received were 126 the specific listing of deductions and credits required."

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title agreed to.

House File 595, a bill for an act to legalize and validate the proceedings authorizing and providing for the issuance, sale and delivery of waterworks bonds by the town of Blue Grass, in county of Scott, state of Iowa, and the provisions made for the levy and collection of taxes to pay said bonds and declaring said bonds issued pursuant to said proceedings to be enforceable obligations of said town, was taken up for consideration.

Schwengel of Scott offered the following amendments and moved their adoption:

1. Amend House File 595 by striking everything after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. That all proceedings heretofore taken by the town council of the town of Blue Grass, in Scott county, Iowa, authorizing and providing for the issuance, sale and delivery of waterworks bonds in the amount of twenty-nine thousand dollars ($29,000) by the said town of Blue Grass, Iowa, and providing for the levy and collection of annual taxes to pay the interest on and the principal of said bonds are hereby legalized, validated and confirmed and said waterworks bonds issued, sold and delivered pursuant to and in accordance with said proceedings are hereby declared to be legal and to constitute valid and binding obligations of said town.

"Sec. 2. That all proceedings heretofore taken by the town council of the town of Blue Grass, in Scott county, Iowa, authorizing and providing for the issuance, sale and delivery of water revenue bonds in the amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000) by the said town of Blue Grass, Iowa, and providing for the payment of the principal of and interest on said bonds from the future net revenues of the municipal waterworks of said town are hereby legalized, validated and confirmed and said water revenue bonds issued, sold and delivered pursuant to and in accordance with said proceedings are hereby declared to be legal and to constitute valid and binding obligations of said town payable only from such future revenues, but said bonds shall not be a corporate indebtedness of said town, nor shall said town be authorized to levy ad valorem taxes to pay either principal thereof or interest thereon.

"Sec. 3. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect from and after its publication in the _____, a newspaper published in _____, Iowa, and in the _____, a newspaper published in _____, Iowa, all without expense to the state."

2. Further amend House File 595 by striking all of the preamble and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Whereas, at an election held in and for the town of Blue Grass, Scott county, Iowa, on March 4, 1949, there was submitted to the voters of said town the proposition of establishing and erecting a municipal waterworks in said town and contracting indebtedness and issuing bonds for such purpose not to exceed fifty thousand dollars ($50,000), and over sixty per cent of the votes cast for and against said proposition were favorable thereto; and,

"Whereas, for the purpose of paying the cost of erecting said waterworks, the town council of said town did thereafter, by resolutions and in reliance upon said election, authorize and provide for the issuance, sale and delivery of water revenue bonds of said town in the principal amount of twenty-one thousand dollars ($21,000), payable as to both principal and interest from the future net revenues of said waterworks, and, also, for the issuance, sale and delivery of waterworks bonds of said town in the principal amount of twenty-nine thousand dollars ($29,000), for the payment of which, as to both principal and interest, provision was made for the levy and collection of annual taxes on all the taxable property in said town; and,

"Whereas, doubts have arisen concerning the validity and legal sufficiency of said bonds and proceedings and the provisions made for the payment of same, and it is deemed advisable to put said doubts and all others that might arise concerning same forever at rest; now, therefore,".

3. Further amend House File 595 by correcting and revising the title thereof to read as follows:

"A bill for an act to legalize and validate the proceedings authorizing and providing for the issuance, sale and delivery of bonds in connection with the construction of a waterworks by the town of Blue Grass, Scott county, Iowa, and the provisions made for the payment of said bonds, and declaring said bonds issued pursuant to said proceedings to be enforceable obligations of said town."

HOUSE RESOLUTION 15

Whereas, the proceedings of the Fifty-third General Assembly have been reported in minute detail in the columns of the newspapers of Iowa; and,

Whereas, the people of Iowa can well be proud of their fine weekly and daily newspapers, which are always alert to provide their readers with impartially written accounts of current events; and,

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly:

Section 1. That the House of Representatives express its appreciation to the newspapers of Iowa for their efforts in bringing to the people of Iowa a complete record of the events which constitute the history of the Fifty-third General Assembly.

Sec. 2. That the House of Representatives express to the following listed representatives of the various newspapers and wire services its cordial esteem for the manner in which they have cooperated with the members of the House to present the issues fairly and accurately:

SPECIAL ANNOUNCEMENTS

Speaker Gus T. Kuester
House of Representatives

Dear Gus:

This letter is in appreciation of the House resolution commending the press for its work in covering this session.

Providing a complete and accurate report of the proceedings of the legislature is not an easy task. As you know, all forms of government have grown exceedingly complex in recent years.

It is essential in our form of government, however, that the people be kept informed as to the activities of all public servants. Only in that way may a wise public opinion be created.

Without an informed public opinion, the advantages that our representative democracy holds over other forms of government are largely destroyed.

Your goal as lawmakers and ours as reporters is the same:

April 20, 1949.

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives:

I want you to know that I appreciate your action in adopting House Concurrent Resolution 25, as amended by the Senate.

After over twenty years continuous service in the Iowa legislature, four years of which was spent as a member of the House, I am very happy that I have the good will and friendship of the members of both houses and to know that they were willing to adopt the resolution and to present to me the chair that I have occupied this session.

It has been an interesting twenty years and a valuable twenty years in that I have had the privilege of being associated with the members of both houses and have acquired so many fine friends. My grateful thanks.

FRANK C. BYERS.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. SPEAKER: I wish to explain my negative vote on Senate File 343. I voted against this bill because of the abuse of taking mussels from the Iowa River, from Steamboat Rock to Iowa Falls. I was informed that many tons of all sizes and kinds of mussels were removed from the Iowa River. These mussels are the food for fish and muskrats, and should not be depleted to that extent in any area. Some of the people in Hardin county are not in favor of any open season on mussels.

PAUL M. WALTER.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

DeGrootte of Humboldt rose under the question of personal privilege, asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following be printed in the Journal:

The Governor has signed House Joint Resolution 9 which act will create on July 4, next, the state of Iowa's newest state park, to be known as the Frank A. Gotch Memorial State Park, located in Humboldt county two and one-fourth miles south of Dakota City and Humboldt.

Our county expects to make several improvements thereon within the next year and the Chamber of Commerce of our city is now formulating plans to dedicate this park late in the summer of 1950 with the cooperation of the state conservation commission.

Humboldt county is indeed grateful to be the home of this newest state park, so beautifully and historically located on a high bluff overlooking the confluence of the east and west branches of the Des Moines river. Just across the river a short way to the south there is now in the process of construction the new $15,000,000 Corn Belt R.E.A. plant which will service 27 counties.

On behalf of the people of Humboldt county permit me to thank the members of the House for their support of this resolution and to invite the entire membership, the officers and secretaries as our honored guests at the dedication. Formal invitation to the event will be sent to the members when the date is fixed.

I assure you all a royal entertainment and a gala day. The Fifty-third General Assembly made possible this memorable day to be in the history of our county, a day which so long has been fondly hoped for by our citizens.

Thus you have made possible the commemoration of a great and famous native son of Iowa, the late Frank A. Gotch, of whom our state may so well be proud. Again I thank you.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 29

CARROLL L. BROWN.

Brownlie of Madison asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following printed in the Journal:

DEDICATED TO LUKE L. CAFFREY

I am 65 and getting bald,
Sight's poor, I like to mention,
My wife's in no better shape,
I want to get a pension.

My fingers they've grown stiff,
My toes they need attention.
I hate to shirk, I don't need work,
All that I need's a pension.

My teeth are worn, I just can't bite,
My stomachache I mention.
My clothes the good Lord only knows,
How bad I need a pension.

I voted Republican all my life,
So please do not this mention.
The Democrats have been the ones
To hand me out a pension.

Now please do not my application drop,
Give it your best attention.
So hurry up, just rush it thru,
Here's thank you for that pension.

I worked and paid a lot of tax,
What came back I'll not mention,
So hurry up just send the check,
Oh, how I'll love that pension.

Our house is in a frightful shape,
Floors sag, lights out, all things I'll not so mention.
I know your good will help me out,
I'm looking for that pension.

My wife's complaining every day,
 I hear her always mention,
 Is this the time we both can say,
 Here comes my friend, the PENSION.

JOHN BROWNLIE.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HOUSE FILES

March 28, 1949.

HONORABLE GUSTAV T. KUESTER,
Speaker of the House
State House
Des Moines, Iowa

DEAR MR. SPEAKER:

I am returning House File 7 without my signature for the following reason:

Sections 10, 11 and 12 thereof refer to a special tax levy and in particular to section 394.6, Code of 1946, which chapter and section relate to self liquidation improvements. In this form, the bonds would become an indebtedness of the municipalities within the application of the constitutional limitations with result that the very purpose of issuing revenue bonds as distinguished from tax secured bonds would be defeated. Such indebtedness would then in most cases exceed the constitutional limitations and destroy the provisions of chapter 394, Code of 1946.

In order that I explain further my rejection of House File 7, let me advise that:

Said bill by amending section 394.6 of the 1946 Code of Iowa, so as to make the bonds sold payable, part from a special tax and part from revenue from earnings, make all the bonds general revenue bonds. This would defeat the purpose of chapter 394, which was to provide a method of financing other than by general revenue, as well as to provide a way to issue bonds for improvements which would otherwise be barred by extending the municipalities' indebtedness above the constitutional limitation.

This inadvertent oversight made necessary my veto of this measure to preserve the desirable provisions of chapter 394, 1946 Code of Iowa.

Respectfully yours,
WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY,
Governor of Iowa.

May 17, 1949.

HON. MELVIN D. SYNHORST

Secretary of State
State House
Des Moines, Iowa

Dear Sir:

I am filing in your office, House File 577 which I have disapproved for the following reason:

The effect of House File 577 would be to increase the registration fees on hearses from 300 to 400 per cent. Recognizing the fact that the average vehicle of this type travels less than 1,000 miles per year and in view of the fact that in raising funds for the new road program, taxes on other vehicles were raised in a much smaller percentage, establishes in my judgment that this large increase in registration fees for hearses is discriminatory against a particular class of vehicles or type of motor vehicle operators.

I have, therefore, disapproved House File 577.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY,
Governor of Iowa.

Memorial to the Honorable Willard A. Bents of Howard County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Willard A. Bents, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Willard A. Bents, better known as "Bill," was born at Cresco, Iowa, October 7, 1897, son of Alfred E. and Ella Bents, early pioneer settlers of Howard county. He attended the Cresco public schools and when a young man helped in the fruit growing and nursery business, which was begun in Cresco by his father in 1877. Bill took over the business after his father's death.

In 1932, he was united in marriage to Sadie Evans of Lanesboro, Minnesota. They are the parents of two children, Chryl Ann and James Willard Bents.

The Cresco horticulturist wrote for the Iowa state conservation commission and served as a member of the commission for several years, having been appointed by Governor George Wilson. He was also a member of the Outdoor Writers Association and served on the Iowa Agricultural Planning Committee.

He was a member of the Masonic lodge and Royal Arch Masons, the Chamber of Commerce, and the Cresco Wildlife Club. He belonged to the Congregational Church in Cresco and was also a member of the Izaak Walton League.

The Cresco man was a marksman of ability. He held the tri-state trap-shooting championship in 1929, 1930 and in 1932 and was Iowa champion in 1943.

In politics, Mr. Bents was a Democrat and was Representative from Howard county in the Fifty-first, Fifty-second and Fifty-second Extra General Assemblies. That he was regarded highly in the legislative circles was proved by his appointment to serve two years on the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform of the Iowa legislature. Because of failing health he was not a candidate for office of representative in 1948.

A beloved member of his community, his passing on January 30, 1949, at Cresco, Iowa, bereaves the state and his county of a respected and beloved citizen. Loyal, conscientious, capable, and interested in all matters of public benefit, his passing is mourned by all who were fortunate enough to be among his large list of friends and acquaintances.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Willard A. Bents, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

LUKE L. CAFFREY,
HENRY H. STEVENS,
E. E. POSTON,

Committee.

Memorial to the Honorable Alexander H. Bonnstetter of Palo Alto County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Alexander H. Bonnstetter, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Alexander H. Bonnstetter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Bonnstetter, was born November '20, 1892, at West Bend. His early education was received in the Kossuth county schools, later attending Highland Park College and Valparaiso University. He taught for three years in the Kossuth county schools before he engaged in farming, which he made his life work.

Mr. Bonnstetter was united in marriage to Charlotte L. Anderegg on August 19, 1919, in Cincinnati, Ohio, and to this union one son, Dr. Rex Bonnstetter, was born, who survives him. He is also survived by his wife, Charlotte, granddaughter Ann, and the following brothers and sisters: Antoinette of Algona; Herman of West Bend; Mrs. Edmund Anderegg of Britt; Otto of Brewster, Minnesota; Dr. F. A. Bonnstetter of Garner; Dr. H. F. Bonnstetter of Kennedy, Texas; and Mrs. L. S. Bohannon of Algona. In community life he served on the school board, creamery board, warehouse board, secretary of Farmers Institute and as such promoted 4-H Club work, served as official of AAA, served on the state land tenancy committee, was commodity loan inspector, served as director and president of the Greater West Bend Club, and served as Representative from Kossuth county in the Iowa legislature.

Mr. Bonnstetter served in the Iowa legislature during the Forty-fourth, Forty-fifth, Forty-fifth Extra, Forty-sixth, and Forty-sixth Extra Sessions.

He passed away at his home in West Bend on June 12, 1948, and interment was made in the West Bend cemetery.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Alexander H. Bonnstetter, the state has lost a valued and honored citizen, and the House tenders, by this resolution, its sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family in their sorrows; and

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to send an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

Memorial to the Honorable Elmer E. Cooper of Adams County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Elmer E. Cooper, begs leave to submit the following resolution:

Elmer E. Cooper, son of LeRoy and Minerva Cooper, was born on a farm in Douglas township, Adams county, Iowa, September 15, 1883.

Soon after his birth his parents moved to the farm which since has been his home, and from which he departed this life August 9, 1948, at the age of 64 years, 10 months and 24 days.

He graduated from Iowa State College in 1910 and since has been an active farmer. He took into consideration all new and progressive farm ideas.

On June 28, 1911, he was united in marriage to Florence Wilmarth. To this union were born four children, all living. He is survived by his wife, by the children, Wanda Sours and her husband, Calvin, of Nora Springs; Wayne L. and his wife, Elsie, of Los Angeles; Willis F. and his wife, Opal, of Corning; Estella Swartz and her husband, Eugene, of Lenox; and by five grandchildren, Carol and Roy Sours, Edward and Florence Swartz, and LeRoy Cooper, besides other relatives and many friends.

The deceased joined the Methodist Episcopal Church at an early age. His relations with the church throughout his life were many. He served on many boards and filled many offices. Nothing pleased him more than to teach a Sunday School class of young men. He was a great student of the Bible and believed in its teachings. To him there was a God, a Heavenly Father.

Mr. Cooper, all through his life, was active in affairs to make better the country and world in which he lived but above all was his interest in his home. He was a true believer that there would be peace in the world only when throughout the world there would be "freedom of expression by the masses without violence." He served the people of Adams county in the capacity of State Representative through the Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fiftieth Extra and Fifty-first regular sessions of the Iowa General Assembly. He was always very humble to the people of Adams county for this great honor.

One has gone from among us who was honest and fearless. He was most appreciative of attentions given, yet he did his best to avoid being a burden to anyone. Nothing roused his temper quicker than what, to him at least, seemed wrong against his fellow man. Goodness, as he was permitted to see it, was his guide.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Elmer E. Cooper, the people of Adams county and of the entire state of Iowa have sustained a great loss and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

ELMER PIEPER,

Memorial to the Honorable William H. Cramer of Mills County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable William H. Cramer, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

William H. Cramer, Representative from Mills county, was born in Warren county, Illinois, November 27, 1870, and died at Emerson, Iowa, March 26, 1949. He came to Iowa with his parents, January 1, 1880, where they located on a farm in Pottawattamie county. He married Elizabeth Reynolds, December 23, 1894, and they had three children: Alva, Earl, and Mrs. Gayle Greenwood. He moved to a farm in Mills county, March 1, 1900, and was a farmer practically all his life. He sold his farm in the spring of 1930 and after that time was engaged in the insurance and real estate business, together with auctioneering. He held county and school offices and was mayor of Emerson for five years and resigned that office to attend the Forty-sixth General Assembly. He was a member of the Baptist Church and Masonic order. He served in the Forty-sixth, Forty-sixth Extra and Forty-seventh General Assemblies. He is survived by Mrs. Cramer; a son, Earl, of Griswold; a daughter, Mrs. Gayle Greenwood, of Emerson; eight grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That, in the passing of the Honorable William H. Cramer, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

Memorial to the Honorable Merton E. De Wolf of Clay County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Merton E. De Wolf, of Spencer, Iowa, begs to submit the following report:

Merton E. De Wolf was born at Cambria, Michigan, on July 23, 1867, son of S. P. and Martha J. De Wolf. His boyhood was spent at Cambria where he attended Hillsdale High School, later graduating from the State University at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Memorial to the Honorable Fred Durbin of Mills County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Fred Durbin, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Fred Durbin, the son of Joshua and Almira Durbin, was born in the farm home of his parents near Emerson, May 31, 1876, and died at his Malvern home December 14, 1946. His parents came to eastern Iowa only four years before, traveling in a covered wagon which they had continued to use as their residence until a new house could be built. He passed his boyhood on the farm, learning the skills and resourcefulness which such an environment demanded. The Durbin farm home was considered one of the most hospitable in eastern Mills county and in later years Mr. Durbin often recalled the many guests whom they had entertained in the large family home where the board was nearly always set with an extra plate and a special room was kept in readiness for any who might wish to stay the night.

Mr. Durbin continued his schooling at the University of Iowa after he finished his secondary work. He was granted a Bachelor of Law degree from that institution in 1898.

After completing his schooling he returned to Mills county and took a position in the Strahan & Christy Bank in Malvern. He followed that calling for the remainder of his life, continuing as cashier until the Strahan & Christy Bank became the Malvern National Bank, and then as president. Under his direction the bank changed its organizational plan to the Malvern Trust & Savings Bank in the 1920's and he continued as president of that institution until the spring of 1946 when he sold the majority interests but continued on as director until only a few days before his death.

Mr. Durbin also maintained his interest in farming throughout his life, always taking an active interest in the operation of his land. He was also active in civic and community affairs. In 1917 he was elected as county Representative in the state General Assembly and was re-elected in 1919. For many years he was a member of Silver Urn Masonic lodge, serving a term as master of this organization. He was a member of the Methodist Church.

On November 27, 1901, he was married to Mary Christy and they at once established their home in Malvern. The Durbins had one daughter, Dorothy, now Mrs. Leo Hoefer, of Omaha. He is survived by Mrs. Durbin, Mr. and Mrs. Hoefer and two grandchildren, Freddie and Joan; two sisters, Mrs. R. L. Hale and Mrs. J. W. Baer of Malvern; a brother, James, of Emerson.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That, in the passing of the Honorable Fred Durbin, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

He served in the Forty-fifth, Forty-fifth Extra, Forty-sixth, Forty-sixth Extra and Forty-seventh sessions of the General Assembly. Memorial to the Honorable John Walter Gannaway of Poweshiek County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable John Walter Gannaway, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

John Walter Gannaway was born in Pleasant Grove, Des Moines county, Iowa, to Robertson and Rosa Minard Gannaway, April 15, 1877, and died at Grinnell, Iowa, on August 20, 1947. He spent his early life and received his elementary schooling in this community. While still a youth, he moved with his family to Panora, Iowa, and here and at Guthrie Center High School his education was continued. He finished his college preparatory work at the then existing Grinnell Academy in connection with Grinnell College. He graduated from Grinnell College in 1902 where he developed a keen interest in political science under the leadership of a famous professor and authority on government, Jesse Macy. He received the degree of Master of Arts in Political Science at Grinnell the year following his graduation. He studied further for a doctorate at the University of Wisconsin, but later gave this up to accept a position as editorial writer for three years on the Milwaukee Journal. After several years of editorial writing, he returned to his first love, political science, and came to Grinnell in 1911 as assistant to Professor Macy. It was during this time that he, in collaboration with Professor Macy, authored the textbook, "Comparative Free Government," which has been used in colleges for many years. When Professor Macy retired in 1912, Professor Gannaway headed the Political Science Department at Grinnell College until his retirement in 1944.

On October 24, 1906, Mr. Gannaway was united in marriage to Mary Helen McIntosh and to this union were born three sons, John Walter, Jr., Robertson Ricker and William Andrew. At the time of his death, his wife and sons survived him, but within the space of a few weeks, tragedy struck again in the death of his youngest son, William Andrew.

This public spirited citizen had many interests outside his special field. He filled offices at various times in the church and community and in local government. At different times he served as town councilman, president of the Community Hospital board, county Red Cross chairman and at one time a member of the State Centennial Committee.

His activity in the Masonic lodge is a chapter in itself. His life was an exemplification of the high moral teachings of Masonry and he was beloved by the craft throughout Iowa. He became a Mason in 1921 and was made master of his local lodge in 1924. In 1926, the Grand Lodge of Iowa honored him by making him their Senior Grand Warden. In 1930 the Grand Lodge honored him with the highest office which they could confer, namely, Grand Master of Masons in Iowa. At the close of his year as Grand Master he became a member of the Masonic Charity Board of Trustees of the Grand Lodge and continued this service until his death. At various times in his Masonic career he became a Royal Arch Mason as well as a 32nd degree Mason of the Ancient and Accepted Scottish Rite. The honorary Scottish Rite 33rd degree was conferred upon him in 1937. He also was a member of the Shrine.

In further appreciation of the full life and interests of Mr. Gannaway, the people of Poweshiek county elected him as their Representative to the Fifty-second General Assembly, where he served faithfully and with distinction. He died during his term of office. His wide interests and love of life are evidenced by the many organizations of which he was a member. He was a member of Phi Beta Kappa, honorary scholastic fraternity; Sigma Delta Chi, honorary journalistic fraternity; a charter member of the Izaak Walton League of Grinnell, Iowa; a member of the Congregational Church, the Poweshiek Club and the Poweshiek County Farm Bureau.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable John Walter Gannaway, the state has lost an honored citizen and a faithful, useful public servant, and the House, by this resolution, would express its appreciation of his services, and tender its sympathy to the members of the family.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to send an enrolled copy to the widow, Mrs. Mary Gannaway, of Grinnell, Iowa.

Memorial to the Honorable Ira E. Robinson of Monroe County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Ira E. Robinson, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Ira E. Robinson was one of the eight children of Robert and Lois Robinson. He was born June 6, 1865, on a farm south of Albia, Iowa, in Monroe county.

His father and grandfather had come to Iowa in the forties from Kentucky. There is a story in the family that, although Daniel Boone's daughter was the first white child born in Kentucky, Ira's great-uncle Bob was the first white boy born in that state.

Ira enjoyed recalling the good times and the hardships in the pioneer farm home, the hospitality of his mother, and the changes which had taken place in the country since his boyhood.

He was a member of the Christian Church, which was an important part of his life. The Albia Christian Church was organized in the home of his grandfather, and his parents were very active in the church work.

He was married March 25, 1896, to Flora Lemley. To this union were born two sons and two daughters. One of Ira's greatest desires was to give his children an education. This was accomplished not without sacrifice on the part of the parents, especially when all four children were in college at the same time.

Ira lived sixty-five years on the home farm. He loved the land and built it up as long as he lived on it. He also took pride in his livestock.

He was one of the first in his community to be interested in the Farm Bureau and later served as county president. In 1920 he traveled over Missouri on a membership drive for that organization.

He had a never-failing interest in people of all types. His friends were valued highly. He had the privilege of serving them as a member of the county board of supervisors and as state Representative. Truly it can be said of him that he loved his fellow man.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the death of Ira E. Robinson, the state mourns the loss of one of its honored and distinguished citizens and the House, by this resolution, tenders its sincere sympathy to the surviving family in their sorrow; and

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House, and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to send an enrolled copy to the members of the family of the deceased.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Stanley M. Thompson, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Stanley Mark Thompson, the son of Joseph and Annie Thompson, was born December 30, 1879, in Franklin township, Greene county, Iowa, and passed away May 14, 1948, at Jefferson at the age of sixty-eight years, four months and fourteen days.

He was married on February 8, 1911, to Alice Ada Anderson and they became the parents of two daughters, Jean and Margaret, and one son, who died in infancy.

Mr. Thompson was a director and stockholder of the Farmers State Bank at Yale since 1920. He was a member of the House of Representatives from Guthrie county from 1934 to 1940, during the Forty-sixth, Forty-sixth Extra, Forty-seventh and Forty-eighth General Assemblies.

Memorial to the Honorable Fred G. Turner of Iowa County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Fred G. Turner, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Fred G. Turner was legislator, county officer, extensive farmer, school board official for twenty-five years, took an active interest in all local affairs besides serving in the House of Representatives of the Thirty-sixth and Thirty-seventh General Assemblies.

He was born in Dane county, Wisconsin, October 2, 1865, and the following year came with his parents to Iowa county. He was married to Miss Delta Troger and they are the parents of three daughters, Mrs. Grace Lindgren of Des Moines, Mrs. Irma Campbell of Atlanta, Georgia, and Mrs. June Huff, of Roswell, New Mexico, and a son, Don Turner, who is a resident of North English, Iowa.

He was laid to rest on Saturday afternoon, December 6, 1947, at the Christian Church of North English, Iowa, with the Rev. Harold Reel, former pastor, of Mt. Ayr, in charge.

Beside his residence in Iowa county, he spent his declining days in Des Moines at the home of his daughter, who cared for him during his illness.

He was held in high esteem by his constituents, and by all his many friends and colleagues during the entire period of his fine public service.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Fred G. Memorial to the Honorable Alfred Williams of Montgomery County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Alfred Williams, who represented Montgomery county in the Fortieth General Assembly, and who died suddenly at his farm home near Villisca on April 16, 1948, after a life of service and distinction, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

He was born February 2, 1875, on the farm where he lived most of his life and where he died. The second of the five sons of James S. and Nancy Williams, early settlers of the Nodaway valley region, he attended the local rural school, the Villisca High School and Tarkio College, where he was graduated in 1902. After a short period of teaching school, he entered Yale University, where he received an advanced degree in 1907. He was in educational work for several years, then returned to the home farm in 1914.

In June, 1910, he was married to Hazel Phillips of Oskaloosa. One son, Wallace, was born to them, who, after finishing his educational work, became a partner with his father in the farming business and now carries it on.

In 1922 he was elected state Representative from Montgomery county, serving in the Fortieth General Assembly, and worked valiantly for better schools and teachers' opportunities, and for better conditions for farm life. He served as a member of the county board of education, and on the organization of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration in 1933, he was elected as the first county chairman of the board, serving for several years. He was a charter member of the Farm Bureau, and from the age of twelve a member of the Presbyterian Church, in which he served for nearly a quarter century as elder, and at times as clerk of the session.

Surviving are his widow, his son and daughter-in-law, two brothers and a host of friends. He was a man of fine and exact mental powers, of wide knowledge and great interest in public affairs. In public life he was active, fearless and incorruptibly honest—great qualifications in the days when the county AAA was being organized, the corn-hog program being set up, and the quotas being established. His management of that work served farming interests of Montgomery county in a way that will long be remembered.

He always retained his interest in the biennial sessions of the General Assembly in which he had served, following the proceedings with fine understanding and appreciation. He will long be numbered among those statesmen of past years who served his time and generation well, and will be remembered as one to whom all of us later members will always be indebted, because they laid for our work today the solid foundation of past decades.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Alfred Williams, the state has lost an honored citizen and a faithful, useful public servant, and the House, by this resolution, would express its appreciation of his services, and tender its sympathy to the members of the family.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

Memorial to the Honorable John M. Wormley of Plymouth County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable John M. Wormley, begs leave to report the following memorial:

John Marion Wormley was born at Macomb, Illinois, November 25, 1863. His parents, Samuel S. and Susan Wormley, moved to Newton, Jasper county, Iowa, when he was a child of three. Here he grew to manhood and the family home was maintained there until the death of his parents. He attended Hazel Dell Academy at Newton and Iowa State College and in 1889 received his law degree from the State University of Iowa. He was admitted to the bar and moved to Kingsley, Iowa, to establish his law practice.

On September 21, 1893, he was united in marriage with Frankie Rock, who preceded him in death November 17, 1917. To this union nine children were born: Edna McGuire, Sioux City, Iowa; Sue Sanborn, Whitefish Bay, Wisconsin; Henry W. Wormley, Des Moines; John M. Wormley, Davenport, Iowa; Frances Clark, Ida Grove, Iowa; George Wormley, Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Woodrow Wormley, Kingsley, Iowa; Charles Wormley, Davenport, Iowa, and Paul Wormley, deceased.

He became actively interested in politics and community affairs and in 1904 was elected mayor of the town of Kingsley in which capacity he served five terms. Mr. Wormley served as postmaster, as a member of the Kingsley board of education and as state Representative of Plymouth county in the Thirty-seventh and Thirty-eighth General Assemblies. He served in many other capacities as a community leader. On the 4th day of February, 1923, he was married to Vera Lowe of Marshalltown, Iowa, who survives her beloved husband.

One son, Henry W., followed in his father's footsteps by serving as state Representative from Plymouth county in the Fiftieth and Fifty-first sessions of the General Assembly.

Mr. Wormley's ability as an organizer and his untiring efforts in the interest of community welfare were reflected in many ways in the development of the prosperous and progressive community of which Kingsley, Iowa, is the center. His sincerity, his kindly nature and his ever readiness to champion a just and worthy cause gained for Mr. Wormley an enviable number of friends. He was a member of the Plymouth County and Iowa Bar Associations, Odd Fellows, Elks and the Congregational Church. He was blessed with good health and carried on an active and useful life to the time of his passing on November 12, 1948. He was laid to rest beside his wife and son in the Kingsley cemetery.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable John M. Wormley, the state has lost a valued and honored citizen, and the House would tender its sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family in their sorrow.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journals of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.
