PRESENTATION TO REPRESENTATIVE RYAN

J. Albert Kerr and representatives of United Commercial Travelers came forward and presented flowers to Representative Earl C. Ryan of Polk County, making the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE:

You will pardon us for this slight interruption, we trust, as we will make it very brief.

This gentleman from Polk County, as you will address him during this legislative session, has been at the head of an organization of over 1,000 of us here the past year—(and) we covet this chance to get even (with him).

But seriously, we know him as a gentleman too, in the truest sense, a successful leader, and, officially, as senior counselor of Des Moines Council No. 115, United Commercial Travelers of America. It is with real pleasure that we lend him to you for the next 100 days.

The few of us who were able to get here this morning are intended merely to represent the hundreds of other brothers who would also have liked to have been present, but, being traveling salesmen, are out on the highways today doing their bit to promote commerce, good fellowship and peace among men.

So, Earl, on their behalf, we have been delegated to offer you this little token as a slight expression of our esteem and love for you, and wish you Godspeed in your further achievements.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Young of Union presented the name of the Honorable William S. Lynes of Bremer County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

The accusations that have been made against some of our national and international leaders lead us to reflect and philosophize on the importance of leadership. In the study of history we find that civilization and mankind have advanced or receded commensurate with the type of leadership that manifests itself in that particular generation or era. It is obvious that good leadership is of primary importance in all times. But in times of crisis or emergency, in times of strife or turmoil, leadership is of transcendent importance, whether it be in the military field, in the realm of business or industry, in science or government. In any field of human endeavor, we should choose the most competent men available at the time. We should choose men of courage, men of intelligence, and men of understanding who have a broad perspective of duty, and above all men who have a profound sense of justice and inspirational qualities that bring out the best in other men.

In the Fifty-third General Assembly, we were fortunate, indeed, in having men who were both worthy and capable of a high type of leadership. In reviewing the personnel of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, we again can pride ourselves in having numerous men who exemplify a high type of leadership and I could not speak disparagingly of any of them.

It is my purpose today to mention one of these who is endowed with all the attributes of leadership. He is a man of intelligence and integrity, he is a man of high ideals and well founded convictions, but yet those convictions are amenable to reason.

The man to whom I refer is the State Representative from Bremer County, and it is now my very great pleasure to place in nomination, as Speaker of the House for the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, the name of the Honorable W. S. Lynes.

Walker of Hamilton seconded the nomination of William S. Lynes for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:

Approximately four years ago I was notified of a caucus in the Kirkwood Hotel. I soon found out that I was just one of the many strange new members of the legislature. In glancing around to find an open, honest face, I noticed a big, broad-shouldered, honest-looking individual. I immediately approached him, introduced myself, and found that he too was a new member.

Thus I formed the acquaintance of a man whom, after four years of association, I found to be a man of few wasted words, a man of high moral character and intelligence.

Mr. Lynes has occupied numerous jobs during his career and has climbed to the highest rung on the ladder of success, the hard way. After a highly successful business career he has retired to his farm home. However, the members of the legislature were not satisfied to let a man of such high moral character and intelligence remain in the background. They asked him to serve as Speaker of the House of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly. Being a gentleman who is always willing to serve his state and country, he humbly accepted his responsibility. It is my privilege and pleasure to be able to second the nomination of my good friend, Bill Lynes.

Hansen of Carroll seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly for the Honorable William S. Lynes as Speaker of the House, preceding his motion with the following remarks:

The minority party has no candidate for Speaker to present to this assembly.

Had it been left to the minority party to choose a Speaker from the ranks of the majority party, I am sure that the man the majority party has chosen would have been the unanimous choice of its members for that responsible position.

The man the majority party has chosen is a man who enjoys the confidence, the respect and the admiration of the members of the minority party.

Therefore, on behalf of the minority party it becomes my privilege and indeed my great pleasure to move that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast all of the votes of the members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable William S. Lynes of Bremer County as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

Motion prevailed.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House for the Honorable William S. Lynes as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly. The Honorable William S. Lynes of Bremer County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, was declared elected to that office.

Brookings of Pottawattamie moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Brookings of Pottawattamie and Poston of Wayne.

PRESENTATION TO SPEAKER

The Honorable William S. Lynes was escorted to the Speaker's station and, upon being sworn, assumed the chair. Temporary Speaker Schwengel presented Speaker Lynes with the gavel and congratulated him on his unanimous election. Speaker Lynes thanked the House for the honor bestowed upon him and assured the House of his full cooperation.

The sergeant-at-arms came forward and presented to the Speaker flowers from the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, and friends of Plainfield, Iowa.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Brownlie of Madison placed in nomination the Honorable Lawrence Putney of Tama County as candidate for Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

It is with greatest pleasure, gentlemen, that I present the name of a man for Speaker pro tempore who has had considerable legislative experience. I feel that he can easily qualify for this important position and administer it with ability, not forgetting that he belongs to those who help feed a hungry world. Further, he is the only man representing the original inhabitants of our land.

Stevens of Greene seconded the nomination of Lawrence Putney as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives.

Poston of Wayne seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable Lawrence Putney as Speaker pro tempore, preceding his motion with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER: It is a pleasure for me as representative of the minority party to take this opportunity to move for a unanimous vote for the gentleman from Tama as speaker pro tempore in the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

I have known Lawrence and have been associated with him for several years in the legislative business, and otherwise. I went to his desk and told him that I was expected to make such a motion and asked him if he had anything in mind for me to say. All of you gentlemen who have been associated with him for the past sessions likely know his answer—"Just tell them the truth." This answer characterizes all his activities and assignments in past sessions. The majority party can be congratulated upon the selection of an able man who, I believe, will conduct the affairs of the House with fairness and capability.

It is a pleasure to me, Mr. Speaker, to move that the vote by which Lawrence Putney is elected Speaker pro tempore be made unanimous and that the Chief Clerk be instructed to cast such a vote for Lawrence Putney of Tama County, as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

Motion prevailed.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House for the Honorable Lawrence Putney for the office of Speaker pro tempore. Mr. Putney was declared unanimously elected Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

Buck of Marshall moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the Speaker pro tempore to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Buck of Marshall and Ramseyer of Washington.

Mr. Putney was escorted to the chair and, after taking the oath of office, expressed his sincere appreciation to the House for according him this honor.

COMMITTEE FROM THE SENATE

A committee from the Senate appeared and notified the House that the Senate was duly organized and ready to receive any communications that the House might desire to transmit.

The committee waited upon Governor Beardsley and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Hart then presented Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE AND SENATE, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

On the occasion of your assuming your duties as members of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, I am indeed happy to extend my personal greetings and best wishes to all of you. And I should like, especially, to congratulate each and every one of you on your preferment in being chosen to serve and represent the people of Iowa in this Assembly. This is a great honor, and with it come great responsibilities.

As one who, in former years, had the privilege of serving in both the Senate and House at different times, I am mindful of the responsibilities and prerogatives of your offices. Furthermore, I have the most profound respect for the representative form of government—the American, the Iowa form of government—as exemplified by the work of this Assembly and the balance of responsibility and power between this and other branches of our government.

For the past two years, it has been my privilege to serve the great state of Iowa as Governor. I am deeply appreciative of the cooperation I have received from the people of the state, and particularly from those of you in the legislative branch of government. I am grateful, too, for the constant cooperation and assistance of department heads and other persons who hold positions of responsibility in the state government. And I want to express my appreciation to the many individuals who, responding to the call of duty, have taken important places and heavy responsibilities in administering the affairs of our state.

Without your cooperation—without the help of the various department administrators—without the loyalty and support of the people of our great state—we could not have made the substantial progress we have made here in Iowa in these past two years.

In the final analysis, we are all servants of the people. We must be motivated always by a sincere desire to serve the best interests of all of the people all of the time, and thus prove ourselves worthy of the honor and responsibilities conferred upon us. We need to dedicate our every effort to the highest type of service it is possible to render.

In the light of this high obligation, it is gratifying to review today the gains and progress made in the past two years by our state and our people. Truly, these have been fruitful years. Our great agricultural industry and our great industrial establishment have moved steadily forward, making an ever greater contribution to the economic strength and development of our state and nation. In the field of education, in the field of science, in the professions, in every avenue of human endeavor, we have continued to make substantial progress. And today, in this historic Assembly, we have occasion to review in a general way the material progress we have made in the field of government and public administration.

EDUCATION

In many fields of governmental activity, developments of these two years have richly justified the broad programs and wise decisions enacted by the Fifty-third General Assembly.

One outstanding example is the increased program of state aid to schools. I am happy to report to you that this program has been carried out with efficiency and dispatch, and already has proven its great benefits to the people of our state. As a result of this program, educational opportunities have been improved. The children of our state now enjoy the advantages of better schools and better teaching. At the same time, by this same program, the burden of educational costs has been equalized by the easing of local property taxes for the upkeep of our schools.

As the state aid program continues, we can look forward with confidence to still better schools and school equipment and an adequate and balanced supply of well-trained teachers.

HIGHWAYS

In the field of highway construction, the program enacted by the last legislature has placed Iowa at the head of the parade of states in highway modernization. No state in the Midwest—no state in the Union has a more comprehensive and constructive program. No state is doing more to meet the needs of our people in an age when highway transportation is both a social and an economic necessity.

We have improved five times as many miles of farm-to-market roads in the past two years as we did in the preceding two years. It is entirely possible that within the next two years, an additional 25,000 Iowa farm homes will have all-weather roads. And this will have importance, not only in our economy in general, but in aiding and accelerating the development of better educational facilities.

In the field of primary road construction, we have likewise made great advancement. Last year, the construction program really got under way.

This year, in 1951, the program calls for five times as many miles of new and modernized permanent primary roads as were built in 1950.

Thus our entire road program—primary and secondary roads alike—is going forward at a constantly accelerating pace. The only uncertainty in the continued expansion of this program is the danger of new and more critical developments in the national defense emergency. Up to the present time, it has not been necessary to slow up our progress in any material way. And there is encouraging evidence that highway improvement will be given military priorities as a critical requirement of the national defense.

Our progress in modernizing Iowa's fine network of highways has been accomplished on a pay-as-you-go basis. In November 1950 the last primary road bond issued by the state of Iowa was paid off in full. Now, we are carrying on with current revenue a program of construction and modernization that will give our people, in succeeding years, the new and better highways they will need.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

From the standpoint of law enforcement, too, I am glad to report that Iowa compares very favorably with other states of the nation. In this field, too, we have made notable progress during the past two years.

Early in the summer of 1949 the Attorney General, who is the chief constitutional law enforcement officer of the state, apprised me of the fact that syndicate gamblers were moving into our state. He feared a condition might develop similar to the disgraceful conditions we have observed in certain other states.

I canvassed with the Attorney General the impossibility of the state alone coping with this problem successfully with a force of only about a dozen state agents. Furthermore, in our state, we are dedicated to the principle of local self-government. Enforcement of the laws is the responsibility of local law enforcement officers.

It was necessary, therefore, that the cooperation of local officers throughout the state be secured. This was done, and the results of this drive against gambling in our state are well known to all of you. No doubt you are as gratified as I am that this was accomplished under the existing laws of our state.

The Attorney General and all of the local law enforcement officers are entitled to much credit for their good work. Today, we have one of the finest and cleanest states in the Union. And we must be diligent in seeing that this condition is maintained and even further improved.

CONSERVATION

In the field of conservation, new programs are going forward. Today we have a coordinating program which, in my judgment, holds much promise to our people for the intelligent development and conservation of our natural resources. Under this program, we are dealing with all aspects of the conservation problem in a scientific and natural way. We are working with nature, not against nature. We are coordinating the closely related problems of flood control, soil conservation, stream and lake pollution control, and natural recreational facilities. Through all of these avenues of endeavor, we are taking important steps to provide wholesome recreation for our people and preserve the precious soil and water resources which are so necessary for a productive agriculture and a strong Iowa.

ADMINISTRATION

I would be derelict, indeed, if I did not report to you that the State of Iowa is in a sound financial position. It must be reassuring to you, as it is gratifying to me, to know that we have maintained a sound business administration of state affairs. Your state government is comparable in size to the largest private business operations in the state. Good, sound business practices are just as necessary here as in the management of any private business. We have constantly sought to bring sounder and more economical methods into operation, and we shall continue to do so.

In this connection, I especially want to call your attention to the work of our budget examiners. Provision for these examiners was made in the appropriation for the Comptroller's office two years ago. This step has made a marked improvement in the administration of public affairs. The savings resulting from the work of these examiners have been tremendous. It is almost unbelievable that savings of such magnitude could be accomplished at so little expense. This work, along with intensified application on the part of administrators, has brought not only many economies but also a high degree of added efficiency.

Further, I wish to point out for your consideration the special importance of our budget laws—the importance of budgetary control in its application to your government.

Among all the states of the Union, Iowa stands at or near the top in the healthy condition of its finances. We are operating, as you know, on current income, and levying no state property tax. Surplus funds were drawn upon for prompt payment of 50 million dollars in bonus money to the veterans of World War II—thus saving the taxpayers the millions of dollars in interest that a bond issue of that size would have required. We have a 30 million dollar tax stabilization reserve—a rainy day fund to insure our citizens against the danger of sharply increased taxes at some future time of economic emergency.

HUMAN RESOURCES

In the field of human resources we have made constant advancement. Especially in our board of control institutions our progress in the past two years has been outstanding.

Under the programs now being carried out in our mental institutions, the children's institutions, and the training schools, we are making tremendous strides in restoring unfortunate individuals to normal, useful places in society.

We have succeeded in reversing the trend in mental treatment. In spite of the fact that more patients were admitted to our mental hospitals during the past year, we have less patients in these institutions today than we had a year ago.

Institution staffs have been increased. Facilities have been expanded and improved. Modern methods of diagnosis and treatment have been provided. We have stopped the practice of placing curable patients with incurable patients and thereby rendering them all incurable.

Under the screening-center program, persons with mental and nervous disturbances now come to our institutions of their own accord and receive the highest type of psychiatric and neuro-psychiatric treatment on a voluntary basis. Their relationship with the hospital physician is the same as their relationship with their family physician. Happily, these patients can now receive consultation and treatment either on an in-patient basis or an out-patient basis.

As a result of these improvements, more and more of the patients who come to these institutions are very soon restored to their loved ones and to their normal pursuits in their home communities.

In our children's institutions and training schools, too, the professional staffs have been enlarged and facilities have been improved. Vocational programs have been modernized and expanded.

All of this progress is going forward continually, and I know of no function of government which holds more promise for the people of our great state.

In dealing with the affairs of government, as a rule we think of problems relating to the people as a group. However, in these programs I have just mentioned and in many others, the function of the state is a matter of helpful service to individual citizens. Actually, we have many highly specialized departments of government which deal almost exclusively with the individual. As another illustration, I should like to mention the work of the vocational rehabilitation division of your state government. During the past year this division has helped to restore almost a thousand individuals to vigor and activity. Vocational rehabilitation has made these individuals self-supporting citizens again, contributing to the productive power and over-all well-being of our state.

In measuring our programs and our plans for the future, let us keep in mind that we must be sure those activities of our state are administered with due consideration for the need to preserve the dignity of the individual citizen.

GENERAL

Our time today does not permit a complete review of all the functions of our government. On the occasion of my second inauguration and in my budget message, I shall offer certain recommendations and suggestions.

Your decisions, as members of this Fifty-fourth General Assembly, will be vitally important to the further advancement of existing programs and the initiation of new programs to assure an ever brighter future for our great state.

Meanwhile, on this occasion, I am pleased to have had the privilege of giving you this report of the condition of your state government. I have enjoyed working with these problems of government for the past two years. It has been a rich experience for me, and I am deeply grateful to you people of this great state for your interest in and loyal support of these broad programs. This interest and support should be a source of inspiration to you, too. Because, in the final analysis, it is the General Assembly that makes the appropriations and performs a most important function in planning and developing a better state.

The next 100 days will be busy days for all of us. But they can be productive days. I shall deem it an honor to work with you in fulfillment of the responsibility we share—the responsibility of serving all the people of Iowa to the very best of our combined abilities.

The full resources of the executive department will be available to you to assist you in working out the problems ahead of us. To each and every one, I extend a sincere invitation to come to the Governor's office at any time to canvass any matters of public importance. You will always be welcome. This is a sincere expression, to you of the opposition as well as those of my party.

In reviewing today the progress and problems of your state government, I am cognizant that in this critical mid-century year, the overwhelming urgency of national and international affairs is uppermost in the minds and hearts of all of us. However gratifying our gains at home may be, every loyal and patriotic citizen must give heed to the growing threat to our national security and our way of life.

It is tragic indeed that in this Twentieth Century all nations of the world are not willing to take their proper places in the society of nations; assume their proper responsibilities; and make their proper contributions to the peace and betterment of mankind.

From its arsenals of tyranny behind the Iron Curtain, the communistic world is challenging our very right of survival. All of our gains since the birth of our republic are imperiled by the sinister forces across the seas.

Communism poses as the benefactor of the masses. It embellishes its false and dangerous propaganda with all the promise of democracy and freedom. Yet its iniquitous plan is not only to stop the march of human progress, but to turn back the clock of time to the age of tyranny, when the people were cruelly exploited and hopelessly enchained in slavery. If communism is successful in its aims, humanity will forfeit every spiritual advancement and every social gain since the Renaissance.

It is regrettable indeed that our military establishment has become so impaired that the enemy has dared to challenge our leadership. It is regrettable that so many of our officials and leaders in the nation appear to be busy playing the political fiddle. It is regrettable that fear is clutching at the hearts and minds of so many of our people.

This is no time for political bickering. This is no time for anyone to seek temporary political gain at the expense of national security. This is no time to squander our energies, in Iowa or at the national capital, in jockeying for personal or political advantage at the expense of the public interest.

These are days of decision. We must be realistic. We must put first things first. We must look well to our duties of citizenship and our responsibilities to the people. This is a time to give the very best that is in us to meet the communist threat.

Today the people of this state and the entire nation are looking for leadership—honest, courageous, intelligent leadership. In this legislative assembly are the men and women of Iowa who, with similar bodies in other states and the nation, furnish the political leadership of today.

Almost daily I walk through the stately corridors of this state capitol. Inscribed over an arch near the Governor's office are these words: "Nothing is politically right which is morally wrong."

There, in eight words, is the standard for our political leadership if it is to succeed. "Nothing is politically right which is morally wrong."

Let us dedicate ourselves to the great task before us, bearing our course upon the highest standards of moral conduct. Let us dedicate our every effort and our constant attention to the building up of the military and economic and moral strength of our nation. Toward that end, let us do everything in our power to maintain the economic integrity and spiritual traditions of our state. As men and women, as public servants, as free citizens, let us unite in a common endeavor to preserve the American way of life.

Then our leadership will be fruitful. Then we shall have done our duty. Then, future generations will say that in this year of 1951, we did not fail our people in a time of critical need. Then, our state and nation, our daily pursuits, our spiritual lives, our children, will survive and go on to greater days which must surely lie over the horizon just ahead.

Truly, we have a tremendous job to do. Together, let us see it through.

Governor Beardsley was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Almighty God, with Whom there is no variableness, nor shadow of turning, we look to Thee in these days of national and international uncertainty, and pray that we may be steadfast to know Thy will and to do it. Thou unto Whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from Whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy holy spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy holy name. Thou who are the source of all righteousness, we remember that righteousness exalts a nation, but sin is a reproach to any people.

Almighty God, we pray for all those in whom the public has placed its trust; may these leaders put their trust not so much in the people as in Thee. May the slogan, "In God We Trust," not be just a slogan on a dollar but a reality practiced in this building in all departments.

We pray especially for this Thy servant who is being inaugurated as Governor. Give to him steadfastness of purpose because it is in accord with Thy purposes; in the midst of confusion without give him peace within; in the midst of the multiplicity of details give to him a sense of the important; in the midst of many selfish interests help him to work for the welfare of all.

We pray that these same blessings shall be bestowed upon him who takes the oath of Lieutenant Governor. May they together have a sense of doing Thy will.

We thank Thee for our rich natural resources in Iowa, may they be conserved and used for the good of mankind; we thank Thee for our citizenry, may its actions be exemplary to the nation; we thank Thee for young people, may they be properly trained and protected as our greatest asset; we thank Thee for public leaders who fearlessly strive to create clean conditions. O Thou great lawgiver, may our lawmakers test each law by Thine; may evil be exposed and morality exalted.

We pray that the affairs of our state shall be so conducted that we will be co-workers with the Carpenter of Nazareth, that we shall so build that it shall speed the coming to pass of Thy will being done on earth as it is in heaven.

Harriet Moore of Des Moines sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and "Homing," accompanied by Bill Austin and his string ensemble, of radio station WHO, Des Moines.

The oath of office was administered to Governor-elect William S. Beardsley by the Honorable Charles S. Wennerstrum, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

The oath of office was administered to Lieutenant Governor-elect W. H. Nicholas by the Honorable Charles S. Wennerstrum, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Lieutenant Governor Nicholas, President of the Senate presiding, presented Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following inaugural address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, MR. CHIEF JUSTICE AND JUSTICES OF THE SUPREME COURT OF IOWA, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

On this occasion when we begin a two year period of association together in the service of the citizens of Iowa, we are in the midst of a national emergency. The two million six hundred thousand citizens of Iowa, associated together as one of the forty-eight states of our nation, must bear their full share of responsibility in sustaining our American way of life.

It is beyond the scope of our assigned responsibilities in this legislative session to determine the policies which are to be followed by our nation in the international field. Our task is to make Iowa strong.

The governmental affairs of the state of Iowa basically are in sound condition. Building upon the contributions of legislative and executive work of our predecessors, we have pursued diligently the work of giving to Iowans the maximum in good government.

Notwithstanding the achievements of the past, we would be unwise to rest on our laurels and claim that we had arrived at a state of near perfection.

The fact is that in a changing world good government is a continuing process of study, adjustment and decision. Keeping in mind the stern necessities of the hour, let us examine the areas of action which are afforded to us in our program to make Iowa strong.

CIVIL DEFENSE

Special legislation will be required at this session in order to make secure the civilian defense of our state. My associates and I in the executive branch of the government have been working diligently in cooperation with officials of our adjoining states and officials of the national government to determine the methods by which civilian defense can be achieved in the most efficient manner. These plans are being completed and will be transmitted to you for your consideration at the earliest possible moment.

SOLDIERS BONUS

By an overwhelming vote the citizens of Iowa approved the payment of a soldier's bonus to those individuals from Iowa who served our nation during World War II.

Pursuant to this authorization and the action of the Fifty-third General Assembly, 229,208 claims for payment of soldier's bonus in the aggregate amount of $84,609,126.35 have been made. There still remain unpaid claims aggregating approximately $7,768,918.73. I recommend the immediate enactment of enabling legislation authorizing the payment of the balance due on the soldier's bonus out of unappropriated funds in the State Treasury. It is my hope that this legislation can be enacted in time to permit the mailing of all approved checks in connection with the payment of the soldier's bonus before January 31, 1951. Payment of these claims will discharge debts of honor incurred in the dangerous hours of World War II.

FINANCE AND BUDGETARY MATTERS

My recommendations with respect to budget estimates and the report of the financial condition of the State of Iowa are ready. These recommendations have been based upon an intensive study of the requirements of our individual departments and agencies. Because of the very large number of vital matters which will require your attention, I trust you will be able to conclude your consideration of appropriation matters early in the session. In order to accomplish this objective, I am pleased to advise that the budget recommendations, appropriation bills, and pertinent matters relating thereto will be submitted to you on your reconvening next week.

EFFICIENCY IN GOVERNMENT

Your present state administration is committed in principle to the proposition that tax monies should be wisely and efficiently spent. The reports of the Governmental Reorganization Commission and the Municipal Code Study Committee, authorized by the Fifty-third General Assembly, have been transmitted to you for your consideration.

In your deliberations on these reports and recommendations related to them, there are certain fundamental principles which should be considered.

First, we need to set up targets and objectives which we seek to accomplish. Reorganization or code revision, for reorganization's sake only, would change the mechanics of government and might result in no improvement. Any adjustments in the organization of our state government and municipal government should be designed to accomplish the maximum reduction in expenditures which will result in the maintenance of and improvement in service to our citizens.

Second, economies must be achieved while at the same time we assure adequate compensation to our loyal public employees.

Third, services of the state government and its political subdivisions to the citizens of Iowa should be reexamined to see that the state performs those services which it is equipped to do well, leaving to the individual citizens and other branches of government responsibilities which they can best perform.

Fourth, we need continuing study and effort in a program of personnel improvement. Decisions as to reorganization and methods of securing efficiency in government can be made only by legislative processes. Those decisions can be put into operation only by employees of government. We must move forward in a program which will train our people to do their job better. We must reward the efficient by adequate promotions and compensation. We must encourage introduction of improved methods and new techniques.

I must be frank with you in stating that I do not seek personal power through any reorganization of government. Many, many times during the past two years citizens of Iowa have written me requesting affirmative action to correct certain problems. In some of these situations, powers granted to me did not permit me to be of help in working out solutions. You will in your deliberations examine our governmental structure and determine the extent to which modifications will be wise in our program of reaching the goals mentioned herein.

MODERNIZING IOWA LABOR LAWS

The growth of Iowa industry in recent years has been a source of gratification and pride to all of us. It has meant for us a more balanced economy. In the critical days immediately ahead it appears certain that further expansion of our industries will occur. In the program of making Iowa strong, industrial peace is of primary importance. Iowa must take all steps necessary to improve relations between management and labor.

We recognize fully the useful place of labor organizations in our economy. The right to collective bargaining is inherent. It seems clear that when any given labor organization has been chosen in a free and secret election by the employees of any individual industry to represent them in dealing with their employers, then all the employees of such industry should contribute to the cost of maintaining such organization or union. I, therefore, recommend that the union shop be legalized. I further recommend that the individual workers be protected against arbitrary expulsion from unions and consequent loss of jobs. The inherent right of the individual American working man to think for himself and his constitutional right to express himself must be protected.

During the biennium just closed, through the help of public spirited citizens we have demonstrated that conciliation of labor disputes by state action can be helpful in solving industrial disputes. I renew my former recommendation that a state conciliation service be established.

KEEPING IOWA AGRICULTURE AT PEAK EFFICIENCY

In this hour of emergency, it is already apparent that our nation will be dependent to a great extent upon the productive resources of our great agricultural industry. In World War II all-out production was a top priority. Conservation and rotation practices were to some extent deferred or neglected. The present crisis may last for years. Lack of attention to the preservation of our soil may be seriously detrimental to the long range future of our state. Therefore, I recommend that you consider ways and means by which our conservation of natural resources can be accelerated even in this hour of national crisis.

EDUCATION

Two years ago I clearly stated my belief in the need of increased state aid for schools—to assure equal and adequate educational opportunities for all the boys and girls in Iowa. Today, one-fourth of the costs of operating Iowa's public schools are covered by state funds provided by the Fifty-third General Assembly which supported me in this program. It is difficult to measure how much this state aid for schools program has meant in terms of improved education for the children in many areas of the state—and in relieving the burden from many property tax payers. Because our schools reflect the quality of our teachers—this administration also recognizes the necessity of taking the proper steps to assure better qualified teachers—and to attract the most capable people to the teaching profession.

Our institutions of higher learning—the State University, the State College at Ames, and the State Teachers College—have all received substantial appropriation increases. The by-products of the work of these institutions in the form of applied research and the development of improved techniques of production and distribution, which are being used by the citizens of our state and nation, clearly demonstrate the need for adequate support of higher education.

In this field, the State Board of Education conducted last year the Strayer investigation. And, while the state institutions of higher learning are of great importance, we also have more than 20 private institutions which likewise serve the citizenry of the state in the very important field of higher education. Moreover, a survey has been under way, dealing with the work of junior colleges, which also form an important segment of advanced education in many areas of the state.

In my judgment, we cannot properly survey the future needs and the proper use of advanced educational facilities until we see all three segments in their proper proportions and know of their future plans. Therefore, I recommend that during the next biennium a study committee be appointed to make the necessary survey in this very important field, that we may more wisely plan our advanced educational program for the future.

SCHOOL REORGANIZATION

Four years ago the General Assembly enacted legislation which established a procedure for the reorganization of school districts. The results have been disappointing, in that reorganization has moved very slowly.

There has been much controversy in the state, and much concern, and probably much misunderstanding, about the goals of this reorganization program. The people of Iowa are overwhelmingly of the opinion, and rightly so, that control of the schools should remain in the local communities. Nevertheless, the people are conscious of the importance of education and have a sincere desire to improve the educational facilities of the state. There is a widespread realization of the importance of improvement through reorganization.

Therefore, I recommend that this General Assembly carefully canvass this very important field of public service; that it simplify the laws providing for reorganization and, in doing so, maintain the fundamental principle of local self-determination. The people themselves must continue to have, as they now have, the final voice of approval in any program affecting their own local schools.

ANNUITY AND RETIREMENT BENEFITS FOR PUBLIC EMPLOYEES

Bearing in mind the importance of our public employees, and the benefits to which they are entitled under our state employees' retirement program, we must review this program periodically to determine the extent to which it can be improved.

I recommend that the present law be amended to enlarge the benefits to public employees, to at least equal the benefits which they would receive by reason of the present provisions of the federal law.

Likewise, I recommend that casual employees be relieved from the operation of the fund, either through exclusion from the payment of employee's portion, or by adequate provision so that casual employees will be entitled to receive refunds upon leaving public employment. I am advised the actuarial estimates show no increases in contributions will be required if we liberalize the state retirement program in accordance with these recommendations.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

In my biennial message earlier this week, I observed that our state has been freed of syndicate gamblers and the federal government has enacted recently a law forbidding the interstate shipment of slot machines. Still, in my judgment, it is desirable to lock the barn while the horse is out by enacting a state law providing for the cancellation of all business licenses, in cases where gambling equipment is found in any business establishment.

Another urgent problem in the field of law enforcement and legal justice is the problem of sex crimes and all criminal convictions of like nature. I recommend that before the convicted parties in such cases are sentenced, that they be properly screened by the state staff of psychiatric physicians. These physicians, who are competent to properly diagnose the individual cases, are now doing this work in our penal institutions after the offenders have been sentenced and committed. In my judgment, it would be highly desirable for the courts to have the benefit of these case reports before determining the sentence and the place of incarceration.

AID TO PERMANENTLY AND TOTALLY DISABLED

Recent federal Social Security legislation has made provision for a new type of public assistance—Aid to the Permanently and Totally Disabled.

In my two years as Governor, many cases of a pitiful and distressing nature in this category have been called to my attention. This new aid program can be set up on a basis similar to the Aid to Blind program, and I seriously recommend that this General Assembly enact legislation to provide for aid to these very worthy and unfortunate citizens—the permanently and totally disabled. I am pleased to advise that the necessary information is available for the consideration of the proper legislative committees.

CHILD WELFARE

While we have made definite progress in the field of Child Welfare in the past two years, it is desirable that we accelerate our program of placing boys and girls from our two children's institutions in the homes of citizens of our state. Scores of children, who today are wards of the state in these institutions, will be far better off in the homes of citizens who yearn for the admission of these children to family life.

In our Aid to Dependent Children program, we should provide for 100 per cent aid, and I am so advising the State Board of Social Welfare, which is charged with the responsibility of administering this very important program.

During the past two years, an average of approximately 100 unfortunate children each month have become dependents of the state because of desertion by their parents. In order to check this deplorable condition and require parents to assume their proper responsibilities to their children, I suggest that the State Board of Social Welfare be granted authority to direct the county attorneys to prosecute deserting parents in those cases where, after due consideration, such prosecution seems advisable. Unless this or some alternative solution is found, the next General Assembly will find it necessary to appropriate an additional one million dollars a year for support of dependent children.

Two years ago, when the Assembly adopted the uniform criminal extradition law, we hoped we had found a measure of remedy for the problem of child desertion. But this legislation was not as effective a remedy as we expected. Experience during the past two years has demonstrated that further legislation is necessary.

Appropriation recommendations in connection with Aid to Dependent Children, Old Age Assistance and other social welfare responsibilities will be dealt with further in my budget message to you next week.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

Although Iowa has achieved a high standard of traffic safety, compared with other states, the continuing tragedies on our highways require affirmative action for the further protection of the safety of our citizens.

Almost 600 persons were killed, and 17,873 more were injured, as a result of highway accidents last year. The main contributing factors to these fatalities and the great number of accidents are: Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor, speeding and reckless driving, misjudgment of distance in passing, and mechanical defects. This legislature should take every possible step to correct these conditions.

Toward that end, I recommend that the number of state highway patrolmen be increased from 160 to 225. As a means of meeting the additional cost of this increase in the patrol force, I recommend that you increase the annual charge for a driver's license from the nominal sum of 25 cents to 50 cents a year. This will be a good investment in greater safety on our streets and highways.

Within the limits of its manpower, our Highway Patrol has attained a high peak in efficiency and performance. Its fine personnel merits and enjoys the confidence and respect of our entire state. It is vital to the enforcement of the law of the road.

However, there are other aspects of highway safety which are the responsibility of every citizen of our state. I refer to the importance of Safety Education.

Actually, safety begins between the ears. We must inculcate safer driving habits in the people of Iowa through broad programs of safety education, such as the work now carried forward by the Iowa Safety Congress and numerous cooperating organizations in the state. We must all work to the end that everyone in our state becomes a safe, prudent and careful driver. The Highway Patrol alone cannot accomplish this task.

In regard to the correction of mechanical defects in motor vehicles, there has been proposed the establishment of safety inspection stations throughout the state. However great are the merits of this proposal, it would necessitate the hiring of hundreds of additional state employees.

At the same time, in every county in the state, there are well-equipped garages which are qualified to do this work. I urge that you seriously consider the adoption of a program which would make use of these existing facilities. The responsibility for administration of such a program should be placed in the proper enforcement agency, the office of the Public Safety Commissioner. He should be directed to license established firms in the hundreds of communities throughout the state where adequate facilities exist, and to require a bond from these firms to insure adequate standards of safety inspection.

It would be a relatively simple matter and a great convenience to the public to make use of existing garages for this purpose. And it could be done at a nominal cost.

TAXATION

The subject of taxation is always of importance in the deliberations of the General Assembly. Primarily, we should always seek to equally distribute the tax burden, for, surely, the power to tax is the power to destroy, and in your deliberations it is well to constantly bear this fact in mind. It is necessary to provide the tax funds for the support of the government. However, as the taxing power of government is a paralyzing force on the economy and further development of the nation, we must proceed cautiously and wisely in all tax matters.

It is of paramount importance that we maintain the present sound condition of the financial affairs of the state. We must continue to operate the state government within the current income of the state, and avoid the necessity of levying new taxes or increasing the tax burden of the people. This can be done and should be the number one goal of this General Assembly.

In a few words, my recommendations are: a sound budget; no new taxes; and no increases in taxes.

HIGHWAYS

Highway legislation is also of great importance. We live in an age when transportation is a modern necessity. The highway legislation enacted by the last legislature placed Iowa ahead in the parade of states in highway and road programs, and is proving so beneficial, as the program develops, that in my judgment, we need no major highway legislation in this session, and the work can properly be limited to minor corrective measures.

GENERAL

As legislators, it is your duty and responsibility to serve the best interests of all the people of Iowa. That is also my duty and responsibility.

You are the duly elected and constituted representatives of the people in the General Assembly. In that capacity, it is your obligation to make laws for all of the people and constantly bear in mind your responsibility to all of the people.

In your deliberations, I am sure that you will approach all public questions which come before you with open minds and considered judgment. By so doing, you can do the greatest good, and fully discharge your high duty to the citizenry of our great state.

On the one hand, let us have a minimum of contention and division. On the other, let us have a maximum of good will and understanding, tolerance and consideration.

If we would be worthy of our trust we must serve these lofty purposes. Only on the exalted plane of public service and devotion to duty can we merit the confidence which the people have reposed in us.

BE FAIR

Be fair! It is not pity that men need
But a revival of the shining creed
Of chivalry and honor through the earth.
Be fair! He who would rightly know another's worth
Must see in him the man he strives to be,
Possessed of courage, truth and loyalty.
Be fair! Give faith for faith, meet trust with trust.
Who best serves his state must first of all be just!

. Let us be eminently fair and just. Let us be considerate to the nth degree of the interests and the welfare of all the people. And if, by precept and example, we meet the challenge of the day, we shall deserve the gratitude of all our fellow citizens. We shall win, moreover, a place of respect and appreciation in the memories of those who follow us.

At this hour of inaugural I am very humble before God and man. I appreciate the confidence which the people have reposed in me. My fervent wish is to serve the interests of the people and may Almighty God in His infinite goodness give me strength and wisdom to do my duty.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

The legislative committee on retrenchment and reform of the Fifty-third General Assembly herewith submits its report and recommendations.

The work of this committee during the biennium has consisted of twenty-nine sessions of various duration, during which the customary visits to institutions under the State Board of Education and the State Board of Control were made, as well as inspections of capital expenditure projects and maintenance of the same under the State Conservation Commission. The General Assembly has given this committee the duty of releasing funds for capital expenditures when, in this committee's judgment, it was for the best interests of the State of Iowa and to carry out the intentions of the legislature. It is the considered judgment of this committee that such policy has been followed in making every allocation or release of funds.

Progress has been made in the institutions under the Board of Control and the Board of Education in better administration, in capital improvements and in advancements in the special fields in which each institution operates.

The General Assembly entrusted to this committee $1,000,000, and there still remains unallocated for the use of the newly appointed committee as of this date the sum of $449,036.12.

The General Assembly is to be commended for providing funds to establish screening centers at our four mental hospitals. An in-patient screening center has been established at Independence, and an out-patient center at each of the following hospitals: Clarinda, Cherokee and Independence. Provisions have been made for an additional center at Mount Pleasant. The results being obtained have justified the action of the General Assembly and the project should be continued.

We recommend to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly that the following matters be given study and action:

1. That there be cooperation between the schools under the Board of Education and Board of Control to the end that vocational and occupational specially trained personnel be made available to the Board of Control institutions to carry on an accelerated vocational, psychiatric and occupational program.

2. That, due to the emergency and the prospective shortage of labor and materials, new projects under the Conservation Commission be not started, and that no development, unless of an urgent nature, be undertaken.

3. It is our observation that there is certain duplication in the activities of the Board of Control with reference to the care of juveniles, and duplication of federal government activities in the care furnished to veterans of the various wars, that can be eliminated without hardship to the persons involved, and with consequent economy to the State of Iowa. In order to facilitate the elimination of these duplications, we recommend consultation with the proper federal authorities with the objective of removing state activities from the field of federal activities. To avoid duplication of state activities we recommend a program for the licensing of private homes in which to place neglected children, the state paying for the care on a monthly basis, and the possible transfer of older children to another institution.

4. We recommend that the Liquor Control Act be amended to provide that re-purchases of liquor be arrived at by customer demand and the inventory, and that such records be open to the public, and that purchases of new liquor brands should be made by open hearings to determine the same.

5. We recommend that the University Hospital be modernized and improved for more efficiency in operation with resulting reduction in cost.

6. We recommend that this committee be consulted by all commissions and boards to which capital improvement appropriations have been made before such board or commission makes any financial commitment.

7. This committee established a program for the training of deaf-blind children at the School for the Deaf in Council Bluffs. We appropriated an initial sum of $7,500 to inaugurate the program and an additional sum of $10,000 to continue it. The results have been so overwhelmingly satisfactory that we recommend the continuance of this program, and if funds for this purpose are not requested by the State Board of Education, the appropriations committees of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly could wisely earmark funds for this purpose.

8. We recommend a revision of the commitment laws for persons adjudged to be insane, by giving to the courts and the county commissions of insanity power to send patients to the in-patient screening centers at our state mental hospitals before commitment as insane.

9. We recommend that all state operated institutions which conduct farming operations set up a separate accounting system so that a more accurate picture of the value of such farm operations could be had.

10. We recommend that the State Department of Health report to the State Sanatorium at Oakdale all cases of tuberculosis which come to the attention of the Department of Health.

11. We urge the cooperation of the staff and advanced students in the psychiatric departments of our State Hospital and College of Medicine with the staff of our mental institutions which are operating screening centers.

12. We call the attention of our district court judges to the marked improvement in the operation of the Boys' Training School at Eldora, and the Girls' Training School at Mitchellville, and we recommend wherever possible the commitment of juveniles to these institutions, rather than penal institutions.

13. We recommend to the district court judges that they familiarize themselves with the various corrective and penal institutions of the state, if possible by personal visits shortly after qualifying for office, to the end that the court may be personally familiar with the type of institution to which a person may be committed.

14. We recommend that the members of the county commissions of insanity visit the mental hospital to which patients are committed from their respective counties.

15. We recommend that the Fifty-fourth General Assembly earmark appropriations for the institutions under the Board of Control for the purpose of instituting or improving a program of vocational education and occupational therapy.

16. We recommend that every department of government operate at a rate of expenditure in line with the amount appropriated by the General Assembly. Each department knows to a considerable extent the appropriations which are available, and the demands made upon it, and the expenditures should be made in a manner consistent with such a policy.

This committee has attempted to conscientiously follow the intent of the General Assembly in releasing funds for capital improvements. In view of the present international emergency, and in the interests of securing dollar value, we recommend that the General Assembly consider whether or not all unobligated funds allocated by this committee should be placed under the jurisdiction of a future committee of this type. We recommend that no new capital expenditure projects be approved or appropriations made therefor, unless it be shown beyond any question that it is necessary and important for national defense.

We recommend that the Iowa Anti-Freeze Act should be so amended as to require the approval of the United States Bureau of Standards or the Department of Chemistry at Iowa State College before a license can be issued by the Secretary of Agriculture, and the law should be further amended to permit the issuance of a temporary license for field testing purposes only under the direct supervision of the Secretary of Agriculture.

This committee has had the cooperation and assistance of the state officers, commissions and boards, and their staffs, at all times, and we wish to make acknowledgment of this cooperation in our report. Our minutes are on file in the office of the Secretary of State, and are available for public inspection.

We commend the State Board of Education and the University College of Medicine in carrying out the desires of the Fifty-third General Assembly in increasing enrollment of first year medical students to one hundred twenty and also in enlarging upper classes to the end that communities of this state will have available to them medical assistance.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 3

A House resolution creating an investigating committee to investigate reported irregularities on the part of the Iowa department of agriculture of the State of Iowa, said committee is to report its findings to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

Whereas, criticism has been made of the administration and operation of the Iowa department of agriculture, and

Whereas, the people of Iowa and the nation have looked to the great State of Iowa for over one hundred (100) years as being one of the leading states in the production of agricultural products, and

Whereas, the people of Iowa have in the past had the utmost confidence and faith in the Iowa department of agriculture and the officer charged with the administration of said department, and

Whereas, the Des Moines newspapers and other newspapers throughout the state have given wide publicity concerning the activities of the Iowa department of agriculture, and

Whereas, there exist doubts in the minds of some of the people of the State of Iowa as to whether or not the Iowa department of agriculture is being administered efficiently and impartially, and it is believed that the public demands that a legislative investigation be had,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved: That an investigating committee be appointed by the Speaker of the House, whose duty it shall be to investigate the administration of the Iowa department of agriculture, and the official acts of the individual members of said department and any of the employees thereof or any other people having dealings with the department, and all of the acts and things done by said department, its members, and its employees, and make a written detailed report of its findings together with its recommendations to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

Be It Further Resolved: That said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such attorneys, auditors, expert investigators and employees as may be by it deemed necessary to a thorough and complete investigation, and

Be It Further Resolved: That the Iowa department of agriculture, individual members thereof, and all employees of said department, are hereby directed and ordered to deliver to said committee and to the employees thereof all books, records and papers as may be deemed necessary by said committee in making such investigation, and

Be It Further Resolved: That said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to issue subpoenas for all witnesses and the production of books, papers and records from any place within the State of Iowa, and to compel the attendance of witnesses at any place within the State of Iowa where said committee may deem it advisable to hold hearings; that it shall take testimony in writing, under oath, and each member of said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to administer an oath; that it may take testimony of witnesses outside of the state; and any person refusing to answer a subpoena or refusing to give testimony may be punished for contempt in the manner provided by the laws of the State of Iowa, and

Be It Further Resolved: That in the event any person, firm or corporation, or officer, agent or employee thereof, whether residing within or without the State of Iowa, fails or refuses to produce for the examination or inspection of this committee, any books, records or papers showing, or in any manner pertaining to, any transactions with the Iowa department of agriculture, or fails or refuses to appear for examination before this committee, when requested or subpoenaed by it, such person, firm or corporation, or any officer, agent or employee thereof, so failing or refusing, shall be thereafter barred and prohibited from transacting any business with the Iowa department of agriculture. The record of any such failing or refusing appearing in the record of this committee shall be notice to the Iowa department of agriculture of such failure or refusal and the said department, and each individual member thereof, shall be held responsible in seeing that no future transactions with such person, firm or corporation, or others so failing or refusing, shall be had, and

Be It Further Resolved: That any person who has knowledge of anything they think the committee should know is hereby invited to appear before said committee and request to be heard.

Be It Further Resolved: That said committee shall cause to be taken down in shorthand and transcribed all testimony taken by or for said committee, and shall on completion of the investigation file same with the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives, the same to be made a matter of public record.

COMMUNICATION FROM GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION COMMISSION

Munger of Woodbury asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following communication printed in the Journal:

Des Moines, Iowa,
January 19, 1951.

Hon. X. T. Prentis, Chairman,
Governmental Affairs Committee of the Senate,
Robert P. Munger, Chairman,
Consolidation and Coordination of State Government of the House of Representatives, and To the Members of Said Committees.
Gentlemen:

The Fifty-third General Assembly assigned to the Governmental Reorganization Commission a task of examining our state government for the purpose of ascertaining wherein economy might be effected without impairing the efficiency of the government. Our commission has performed that task and has filed its report with the Governor, who, under the law, disseminated the same to the members of the legislature and others. That report, necessarily, was more of a synopsis of our work and findings. The detailed information gathered by our investigators and auditors is now transmitted to you for such action as you and the legislature may desire to take. These factual reports are the basis for our summarized report and recommendations and you will find them beneficial for your study of better government for Iowa. We trust that you and the legislature will profit therefrom and that the benefit to the people of Iowa will be substantial.

At the time when the federal tax load is necessarily heavy it is our obligation to see that the Iowa tax dollar gives a maximum of service to the people of the state. They are in no mood for more and higher taxes. It is our opinion that the only course for us to pursue in economizing is to eliminate waste, combine and coordinate functions of government wherever possible and to put good business practices into effect. If this is done, a great savings in money and time can be effected. Efficient workers for the state can be paid better at a less expense, and service to the people will be improved.

The members of the commission have no particular pride of authorship for any of the bills that may be presented for your consideration; they submit the same only as suggestions and in the form of assistance. The legislature must adopt its own course in the light of the information furnished.

Strong government at the head, because of the need to fix responsibility, has been recommended by us. However, in order to safeguard the several divisions of government and to prevent any possible usurpation of power that might result therefrom, we have recommended the creation of a legislative budget and control committee. This committee, if given powers comparable to that which was given to this commission, could provide succeeding legislatures with factual information which would be of great help in preparing the budgets. As a matter of fact, it seems to the commission members that too much has been asked of legislators in the matter of passing upon appropriations. In the few days of a regular session, with all of their many other duties, they are asked to digest, understand and vote for appropriations running hundreds of millions. If these legislators had a committee of their own, from both houses, who would make an investigation and a report along legislative thinking, it should be invaluable when the session convenes.

In our general report and in the detailed reports of our assistants, there is nothing of a personal nature. There is critical language employed, but it is intended more toward the system which has grown up than it is the personnel. Our state government has grown into a big business under a sort of a "Topsy" fashion. The faults that are found are our faults, and the obligation to improve the situation is our obligation. With that thought in mind we present to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, through your two committees, the written results of our efforts.

Respectfully submitted,
GOVERNMENTAL REORGANIZATION COMMISSION,
DEVERE WATSON, Chairman.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON HOUSE CHAMBER IMPROVEMENT

Olson of Mitchell submitted the following report:

Your committee, appointed by the Fifty-third General Assembly to investigate and arrange for certain improvements in the House chamber such as were authorized by the General Assembly in special appropriations made for such purposes, begs leave to submit the following report:

1. The installation of the new lighting system in the House chamber, as contracted for by your committee with the approval of the committee on retrenchment and reform. This lighting system increases the foot candle power in the House chamber from an average of six foot candles to approximately forty-five foot candles on each desk. This varies somewhat, the highest degree being seventy on some desks. The bid approved for this installation was in the amount of $12,000. The actual amount spent on materials and labor was $11,074.31.

2. The installation of acoustical material on the ceiling of Room 1, as contracted for by your committee with the approval of the committee on retrenchment and reform. This work was done at a total cost of $498, and gives a forty per cent increase in sound absorption.

3. The installation of carpeting in Room 1, as contracted for by your committee with the approval of the committee on retrenchment and reform. This work was done at a total cost of $1,488.62, and gives a further increase of forty per cent in sound absorption.

4. The committee also gave considerable attention to the improvement of the windows in the House chamber. However, the cost of rebuilding the windows would have been so great that your committee decided that action on such matter should be deferred.

5. The installation of an electric bill number indicator was also deferred, due to the fact that an attractive and suitable design could not be secured.

6. In regard to the installation of an automatic elevator in the rear of the House chamber, the report of the engineers stated that there was not room enough in the hall for an elevator. There is a possibility that such an elevator could be installed by using a corner of the room occupied by the journal clerks, and this committee recommends further investigation into this matter.

7. This committee recommended that entirely new elevator equipment, including machinery and cables, be installed in the state house for this session of the legislature. This request was denied by the executive council, and, in lieu thereof, the council recommended that only new cars be placed on the old cables and equipment. In making this change, the capacity load limit was reduced to a maximum of nine persons, which will make for much congestion during this session. This committee recommends that all new mechanical equipment be installed to bring these elevators up to maximum efficiency.

8. The ventilating facilities for the House and Senate chambers have proven wholly inadequate at times when large assemblies have been had in these chambers, as well as throughout the sessions. An even temperature cannot be maintained, resulting in either drafts of cold air or excessively hot temperatures, and endangering the health of many members of the assembly. Several attempts have been made to rectify this situation, but in all cases nothing has been done. This committee recommends that, in order to modernize the ventilating system for these two chambers, the matter be taken out of the hands of the executive council and custodian, and placed in the hands of the joint committee referred to below, with sufficient appropriation to modernize the ventilating system.

9. Your committee desires to report that it has encountered continuous obstructionist tactics from those charged with the responsibility for the care of the state house, and the improvements that have been carried out were made in spite of such tactics. However, certain other employees have shown a fine spirit of cooperation.

10. Your committee recommends the creation of a joint committee on improvement of the House and Senate chambers for the coming interim, with full power and authority to act independently, and with an adequate appropriation.

11. Your committee recommends the reconstruction and reupholstering of the seats in the balconies in the House chamber. The seats themselves are in a very bad state of repair, and the upholstery is in very poor condition. It is recommended that this work be done immediately.

12. Your committee wishes to express its appreciation to the Iowa Power and Light Company for technical services rendered without charge.

13. Your committee further desires to express its appreciation to the Honorable Morse E. Crosier for his time and supervisory work in making these repairs and improvements, and to Miss Jane Doerr, who acted as secretary of the committee, to whom much of the work was delegated.

Respectfully submitted,
OLSON of Mitchell.
POSTON of Wayne.
VAN ZWOL of O'Brien.
CROSIER of Linn.
BROOKINGS of Pottawattamie.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 4

A resolution creating an investigating committee to investigate alleged irregularities on the part of the liquor control commission of the State of Iowa, said committee to report its findings to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly.

Whereas, criticism has been made relative to the administration of the Iowa Liquor Control Act and the policies promulgated by certain members of the liquor control commission, and criticism of persons outside the commission influencing the actions and policy of the commission in violation of the public policy as set up by the Iowa legislature in the creation of the Iowa Liquor Control Act; and

Whereas, the Des Moines newspapers and other newspapers throughout the state and the radios of the State of Iowa have given wide publicity concerning the activities of various members of the Iowa liquor control commission and others outside the commission in influencing the actions and policy of the commission in violation of the public policy as set up by the Iowa legislature in the creation of the Iowa Liquor Control Act; and

Whereas, there exist doubts in the minds of many of the people of the State of Iowa as to whether or not the Iowa liquor control commission is being administered efficiently and impartially and in accordance with the high ideals and standards set out in the declared public policy of the Iowa Liquor Control Act, and it is believed that the public demands that a legislative investigation be had,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved: That an investigating committee be appointed by the Speaker of the House, whose duty shall be to investigate the official acts of the Iowa liquor control commission and the individual members of said commission, and any of the employees thereof, or any other person, firm or corporation having dealings with the commission, and all of the acts and things done by said Iowa liquor control commission, its members and employees, and make a written, detailed report of its findings with its recommendations to the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

Be It Further Resolved: That in the event any person, firm or corporation, or officer, agent or employee thereof, whether residing within or without the State of Iowa, fails or refuses to produce for the examination or inspection of this committee any books, records or papers showing, or in any manner pertaining to, any transactions with the Iowa liquor control commission, the individual members thereof, or any employees thereof, or any other person, firm or corporation having dealings with the commission, or fails or refuses to appear for examination before this committee, when requested or subpoenaed by it, such person, firm or corporation, or any officer, agent or employee thereof, so failing or refusing, shall be thereafter barred and prohibited from transacting any business with the Iowa liquor control commission. Be It Further Resolved: That said committee is hereby authorized and empowered to employ such attorneys, auditors, expert investigators and employees as may be by it deemed necessary to a thorough and complete investigation, and shall submit the expense incurred in connection therewith for payment through proper appropriation by this General Assembly, and

Be It Further Resolved: That the investigation herein provided shall be supplementary to the one conducted by the legislative committee on retrenchment and reform; provided, however, that any testimony submitted to said committee may be reopened, if, in the judgment of the committee herein provided, it is deemed advisable.

Be It Further Resolved: That when the legislature of the State of Iowa created the Iowa Liquor Control Act, it was deemed an exercise of the police power of the state, for the protection of the welfare, health, peace, morals and safety of the people of the State of Iowa, and all its provisions were ordered to be liberally construed for the accomplishment of that purpose, and it is therefore now resolved that any and all proceedings of the investigating committee shall be open to the public and the press.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following Senate concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 6

For retention and advancement of spiritual values in American life and to promote harmony, unity and cooperation between Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

Whereas, today our boys in the armed services have laid away such religious prejudices as they may have had, and in a foreign land, Protestants, Catholics and Jews are fighting our battles shoulder to shoulder and are together ready to make the supreme sacrifice to maintain and protect those principles precious to every true American citizen, and

Whereas, chaplains of all denominations are administering to these boys injured in battle, or otherwise requiring religious guidance, comfort or service irrespective of denominations or faiths, and

Whereas, the American way of life and the government which administers it cannot exist if the majority of American citizens deny in thought or deed the existence of a Supreme Being, Creator of man and universe, and

Whereas, the American philosophy of living and law are definitely and clearly stated in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence in these words:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, and among these are the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," and

Whereas, the American way of life, its government and law are threatened from within and without by Soviet Russia who with her unscrupulous methods has her agents and spies make every possible effort to destroy harmony, good will and cooperation among our people, and

Whereas, the way of life of all freedom loving peoples who acknowledge the authority of a Supreme Being, Creator of man and the universe, is threatened by those foes who would substitute man-made authority for that of the Creator, the current example being of Russia, and

Whereas, noted and respected American leaders among the Catholics, Protestants and Jews, and among those who hold to no religious group have warned that our spiritual advancement has not kept pace with our material advancements, and

Whereas, our lag in spiritual advancement has caused us to be weakened by unfounded fears, hatreds and prejudices which our enemies, within and without, use to destroy our unity, harmony, and good will thus dividing us and hastening the day of our destruction, and

Whereas, there are many God-fearing men and women all over the world who seek a medium through which they may unite in giving expression through a word and a deed to their belief in a Creator and His authority; and who wish to advance the spiritual life of the American people and all others which reasonably join in promoting the fundamental principles upon which the American way of life is founded.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Iowa and the House of Representatives Concurring, that Catholics, Protestants, Jews and all freedom loving and well intentioned people who do not conform to any religious beliefs unite and pledge themselves to take such action as may be deemed right and just to hasten the spiritual advancement of American people by peacefully removing unfounded hatreds, prejudices and fears; by respecting each man's religious faith; by working together to remove injustice imposed by force or conniving; and by steadfastly furthering the obvious aims and intentions of those illustrious men who signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and

Be It Further Resolved that those who hold important executive, legislative and judicial positions in our country and in our state do everything in their power to eliminate the tendency toward the slow but gradual deterioration of spiritual values that we see being brought about through indifference and Godlessness.

Laid over under Rule 34.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 7

Whereas, section two point nineteen (2.19), Code 1950, provides that "The compensation of the chaplains, officers and employees of the General Assembly shall be fixed by joint action of the Senate and House by resolution at the opening of the session or as soon thereafter as conveniently can be done,"

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the daily compensation of all officers and employees of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly shall be paid in accordance with the rules of the Senate and the House as follows:

ADDITIONAL COPIES

Metz of Decatur moved that 1,000 copies of "Brief History of the Legislature of Iowa" be printed for distribution to members of the General Assembly.

Motion prevailed.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 7

Whereas, the Honorable Robert A. Taft, United States Senator from the state of Ohio, will be in the city of Des Moines, Iowa, on February 13, 1951; and

Whereas, the Honorable Robert A. Taft is recognized as one of the outstanding members of the United States Senate, and is well informed on national and international affairs; and

Whereas, it is believed that the members of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly will be benefited and inspired by having the Honorable Robert A. Taft speak to them on February 13, 1951.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, That a joint convention of the two houses be held at 2:00 p.m., February 13, 1951, in the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, and that the Honorable Robert A. Taft, United States Senator from the state of Ohio, be invited to address said joint convention.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Ludwig of Johnson offered the following House concurrent resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 8

Whereas, the birthday anniversary of the Great Emancipator, Abraham Lincoln, falls on Monday, February the 12th, and

Whereas, it has been customary in the past, as it should be, for the General Assembly of Iowa to pause briefly in its deliberations, to commemorate the life and public service of this great man,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that a joint convention be held at 11:00 o'clock, Monday, February 12, and a suitable program be arranged for this occasion, and that an invitation be extended to Professor H. J. Thornton of the history department of the State University to give an address on the life and public service of Abraham Lincoln.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Cooksey of Clay offered the following House concurrent resolution :

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9

Whereas, technological communications and economic interdependence have shrunk this planet into one world, and

Whereas, we believe that all decent people cherish liberty and the rights of man, and

Whereas, the United Nations has overwhelmingly approved a declaration of human rights which embodies all the freedoms which we hold dear, and

Whereas, the United Nations has conclusively demonstrated again and again that the vast majority of the nations of the world are in accord with our long established principles of liberty and our concept of the dignity of man, and that in no issue involving these concepts have we ever been outvoted, and

Whereas, responsible and thoughtful Americans recognize that it was this nation's failure to join in a world government which contributed in some degree to the Second World War, and

Whereas, we recognize that the principle of federal government as practiced by this nation has in great measure contributed to the greatness of this nation, and

Whereas, we recognize that no longer can this nation retreat and withdraw its interest to within its continental boundaries, and

Whereas, it is self-evident that laws for the establishment of peace and order in the world must evolve out of a world government, and

Whereas, we deem it to be in the best interests of the state and nation that we stem the tide of isolationism arising in various sections of the nation;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that the legislature of the State of Iowa acknowledges its responsibility to the world, and is, therefore, in accord with the principle of a federal world government of defined and limited powers, for the purpose of maintaining peace and spreading to all corners of the world those principles of freedom to which all men would attain.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Poston of Wayne offered the following House concurrent resolution by himself, Robinson of Delaware, Clark of Marion, Tierney of Webster, Shepard of Lucas, Ryan of Polk and Brookings of Pottawattamie :

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, chapter two hundred nineteen (219), section two (2), Acts of the Fiftieth General Assembly, provides that to be entitled to World War I bonus, applicant must have on file his application on or before December 31, 1944, and,

Whereas, George Dewey Ellis, a veteran of World War I, through no fault of his own was unable to file prior to the expiration date, and,

Whereas, it would be unfair and unjust that George Dewey Ellis should be deprived of the benefits of the World War I bonus, if entitled thereto;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that the World War I "Bonus Board" is hereby authorized to accept for consideration the application of George Dewey Ellis for the bonus payable to veterans of World War I, notwithstanding the provisions of chapter two hundred nineteen (219), section two (2), Acts of the Fiftieth General Assembly contrary hereto.

Laid over under Rule 34.

ADOPTION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 6

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 6

For retention and advancement of spiritual values in American life and to promote harmony, unity and cooperation between Catholics, Protestants and Jews.

Whereas, today our boys in the armed services have laid away such religious prejudices as they may have had, and in a foreign land, Protestants, Catholics and Jews are fighting our battles shoulder to shoulder and are together ready to make the supreme sacrifice to maintain and protect those principles precious to every true American citizen, and

Whereas, chaplains of all denominations are administering to these boys injured in battle, or otherwise requiring religious guidance, comfort or service irrespective of denominations or faiths, and

Whereas, the American way of life and the government which administers it cannot exist if the majority of American citizens deny in thought or deed the existence of a Supreme Being, Creator of man and universe, and

Whereas, the American philosophy of living and law are definitely and clearly stated in the preamble to the Declaration of Independence in these words:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal and are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, and among these are the right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness," and

Whereas, the American way of life, its government and law are threatened from within and without by Soviet Russia who with her unscrupulous methods has her agents and spies make every possible effort to destroy harmony, good will and cooperation among our people, and

Whereas, the way of life of all freedom loving peoples who acknowledge the authority of a Supreme Being, Creator of man and the universe, is threatened by those foes who would substitute man-made authority for that of the Creator, the current example being of Russia, and

Whereas, noted and respected American leaders among the Catholics, Protestants and Jews, and among those who hold to no religious group have warned that our spiritual advancement has not kept pace with our material advancements, and

Whereas, our lag in spiritual advancement has caused us to be weakened by unfounded fears, hatreds and prejudices which our enemies, within and without, use to destroy our unity, harmony, and good will thus dividing us and hastening the day of our destruction, and

Whereas, there are many God-fearing men and women all over the world who seek a medium through which they may unite in giving expression through a word and a deed to their belief in a Creator and His authority; and who wish to advance the spiritual life of the American people and all others which reasonably join in promoting the fundamental principles upon which the American way of life is founded.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Iowa and the House of Representatives Concurring, that Catholics, Protestants, Jews and all freedom loving and well intentioned people who do not conform to any religious beliefs unite and pledge themselves to take such action as may be deemed right and just to hasten the spiritual advancement of American people by peacefully removing unfounded hatreds, prejudices and fears; by respecting each man's religious faith; by working together to remove injustice imposed by force or conniving; and by steadfastly furthering the obvious aims and intentions of those illustrious men who signed the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States, and

Be It Further Resolved that those who hold important executive, legislative and judicial positions in our country and in our state do everything in their power to eliminate the tendency toward the slow but gradual deterioration of spiritual values that we see being brought about through indifference and Godlessness.

Kuester of Cass made the following remarks in support of the resolution:

The representatives of a group of lay people representing the thinking of common, ordinary folks, lay members if you please, prominent attorneys, jurists, former legislative members and folks interested in preservation of the American way of life, came to Senator Elthon and myself and asked us to help them prepare a resolution to carry out the thoughts that they had in mind.

I, as well as Senator Elthon, humbly agreed to do my part in carrying forth the intentions of these people, which coincided with our thoughts.

We are living in serious times—very, very serious. And I am just going to give you a few thoughts, but, when I make these remarks, I want you to know that I include myself along with the rest of the general public.

I have always been a student of history and I like it. History and government. Any study of the history of nations will show that they have fallen and the civilization they have achieved has been lost to a large degree whenever the people trod the pathway of low moral standards and violate the fundamental laws of the Creator. History records that many times so-called heathen nations have been the means of bringing about the downfall of nations who violate these fundamental laws. In the days ahead we will be hearing a great deal about God being on our side. I think it was Lincoln who said—and I want you to get this—that the important matter was that, “We are on God’s side.”

You know, nations and the people get themselves into trouble by violating the fundamental laws of the Creator and then they call on God to help them when they themselves are the cause of their situation. Nations, as well as individuals, go down to destruction when they violate the laws of the Creator. In the spread and pathway of Christian civilization, it has ever been westward. I want you to get this thought—started by the Apostle Paul when he was led to go westward instead of the far east with its teeming millions. The influence of the teaching of the Author of the Sermon on the Mount finally covered Europe, England, and thence to the western hemisphere where, I like to think, the ideals of Christianity were to be developed and nurtured for the benefit of all mankind.

Let us ponder these questions seriously: How well have we kept our charge? Are we duly appreciative of the heritage established by our forefathers when we spend twenty times as much for non-essentials as we do for practical religion? Here’s a more serious question. I’m speaking in general terms now, as a people and a nation. Our boys are dying on the battlefields of Korea. Is the blood of the dead and wounded boys on the fields of battle on our hands? The United States is still the best country on earth—the last stronghold of Christian civilization. Are we going the way of destruction if our people become an indifferent and Godless people?

Now, the purpose of this resolution is this: for us to stop, look and consider our position and to go forward with a united effort—all of us who believe in our rights and institutions and are on the side of the higher ideals of life.

I am honored this morning by having the dean of the Iowa legislators, the Honorable Arch W. McFarlane, speak on this subject. He has had better than thirty-two years of legislative experience, and I am happy to yield to the senior gentleman from Waterloo, Mr. McFarlane.

McFarlane of Black Hawk rose and addressed the House as follows:

MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

When I was asked the other day if I would say a few words relative to this resolution, I willingly consented. I think in these times we should stop and pause and consider the religious aspects of this country as well as the world at large.

I do not know who was the author of this resolution, but I understand it was a lawyer, a minister and a layman. I took this resolution home with me Sunday and I read it and I re-read it and I read it aloud, because by reading it aloud I could understand it more thoroughly and whoever was responsible for this resolution should receive a deep vote of gratitude and appreciation from us who are gathered here today to promote the unity of fellowmen in these times.

I belong to an organization which at its last supreme council session selected a world peace committee and appropriated $30,000 for the expenses of this committee. The first thing they did was this: they went to the United Nations' meeting and, lo and behold, they found that the United Nations meetings were being held without an opening prayer. Why? How would you like to meet here in the morning with just the sound of the gavel and without asking Divine guidance to protect and guide us right along the way?

Here was a United Nations for peace of the world opening their meetings without prayer because they said they had so many nations and so many different views of religion, it was impossible. But this committee told them that every nation had a divine God to whom they prayed and to whom they looked for spiritual advice and guidance and after this committee got through with the United Nations, I say to you that their meetings are being opened every day with prayer. That is as it should be. But I wondered if you really paid attention to this resolution as it was being read. I feel I wouldn't be doing my duty if I didn't read you two or three sections to impress upon you what it really means.

I have never, since I have been a member of this legislative body, had the privilege of presenting such a momentous and wonderful resolution as we are now considering.

(Mr. McFarlane read the following sections:)

"Whereas, today our boys in the armed services have laid away such religious prejudices as they may have had, and in a foreign land, Protestants, Catholics and Jews are fighting our battles shoulder to shoulder and are together ready to make the supreme sacrifice to maintain and protect those principles precious to every true American citizen, and"

"Whereas, our lag in spiritual advancement has caused us to be weakened by unfounded fears, hatreds and prejudices which our enemies, within and without, use to destroy our unity, harmony, and good will thus dividing us and hastening the day of our destruction, and"

* * *

"Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Senate of the State of Iowa and the House of Representatives Concurring, that Catholics, Protestants, Jews and all freedom loving and well intentioned people who do not conform to any religious beliefs unite and pledge themselves to take such action as may be deemed right and just to hasten the spiritual advancement of American people by peacefully removing unfounded hatreds, prejudices and fears."

Beautiful words, well written, this resolution, in my opinion, which we are considering today, has no equal.

For the third time in our generation we face the gathering storm of another World War, and for the first time in the history of our country, America is in imminent danger of invasion and destruction. The world picture is most foreboding, and all nations must take sides with one or the other of two great powers. Our so-called Allies in Europe are slow to act, perhaps fearing that in defending themselves they may invite destruction, but all Americans, cherishing freedom and all that it means, must buckle down, realizing that we are at war against the greatest and most powerful menace ever to confront a Christian people.

It is true that on our coins we print "In God We Trust," and a serious desire on the part of all Americans to return to the fundamentals and obedience to God's laws is far more important than factory production, mobilization, statesmanship, and whatnot.

It may well be that the unhappy world situation, which keeps hundreds of millions enslaved, and the rest of mankind in continual fear, is more the result of what good people are not doing, than of the enterprise shown by the enemies of humanity. In other words, while the good people are taking care of themselves, the evildoers are taking care of everybody else, most of whom prove to be easy victims of their prey.

It is a well known fact that division of the Christian world, and the eradication of belief in God, is the first step in the advancement of the communistic doctrine. The great problem facing the world today is not really communism. That menace could disappear overnight, and the problem of religious intolerance would still be tremendous. The one thing which terrifies the Godless all over the world is the fear that some day all those who believe in God will wake up and start living according to their beliefs. Once that happens, most of the great problems which plague mankind will disappear overnight. Against this present calculated threat of communism, we have at our disposal a most effective weapon, more powerful than the atomic bomb, which was recommended to us 2,000 years ago. Every kind of suggested formula has been tried to find peace, and all the while the simple solution Christ offers, "Love Thy Neighbor as Thyself," is available and ready to assure success, if only we employ its use.

If we are to survive individually, we must strive persistently in helping our fellow men to survive, regardless of the particular doctrine or creed upon which their faith is founded.

As good Americans, we must believe that God is the Creator of all men; that each of us is equal in the sight of God to every other person, and thereby entitled to the equal protection of all the laws of the land. Government is not man's master, but rather his servant, designed to protect the God-given rights of mankind.

Upon the firm foundation of these truths, the glory and prosperity of our beloved country has risen steadily through the years, to be the crowning wonder of the world. These truths have made America great, and only these truths can keep America free.

"By this shall all men know that you are My disciples, if you have love for each other." Let us, therefore, as Iowa legislators, take the profound step, through the adoption of this resolution, of uniting Protestants, Catholics and Jews, in a common front, against the onslaughts of a common enemy, and there is no question but that our light will shine afar.

Olson of Mitchell asked and obtained unanimous consent that the preceding remarks made by Kuester of Cass and McFarlane of Black Hawk be printed in the Journal.

McFarlane of Black Hawk moved the adoption of the resolution.

Resolution adopted.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE
IOWA STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

The following communication was received from the State Highway Commission:

IOWA
AMEE, IOWA

January 23, 1951.

Mr. Carroll Lane,
Secretary of the Senate.
Mr. A. C. Gustafson,
Chief Clerk of the House,
Fifty-fourth General Assembly,
State House,
Des Moines, Iowa.
Gentlemen:

In conformance with section 310.36, Code 1950, the Iowa State Highway Commission hereby transmits a copy of its "Highway Research Report" for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1950.

For the further information of the General Assembly there is transmitted herewith:

a. Schedule No. 1. A list of "Highway Research Projects Approved by the Iowa State Highway Commission, July 1 to December 31, 1950."

b. Schedule No. 2. "Estimated Annual, and Total, Costs to the Commission of Research Projects Recommended by the Iowa Highway Research Board and Approved by the Iowa State Highway Commission to December 31, 1950."

These two schedules illustrate very well the type, range and estimated cost of highway research projects now being undertaken. The cost of each research project will be paid from the primary road fund or from the secondary road research fund, as the case may be, depending on whether such research project pertains to primary roads or to secondary roads.

Also transmitted herewith, as Exhibit No. I, is a "Report of Progress, Road Test One-MD" dated January 11, 1951, containing some preliminary data on the Maryland road test, designed to determine the destructive effect of heavy trucks and buses on highway pavements.

Although not a part of the Iowa highway research report provided for in section 310.36, Code 1950, this preliminary data on the Maryland road test is transmitted as highway research information which may be of considerable interest to the General Assembly. The Maryland road test and the factual data produced thereby are not sufficiently extensive to justify the drawing of general conclusions therefrom or the basing of legislation thereon. Three or four additional road test projects of similar nature, located in various parts of the United States and on different types of road surfaces, are being planned by the highway transport committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials, on which committee the Iowa Highway Commission is represented by its chief engineer. As will be readily surmised such research projects are quite expensive. The total cost of the Maryland project will be about $250,000. However, in view of the several billions of dollars invested in highway pavements in this nation, the expenditure of one or two million dollars, more or less, distributed among the several states and the federal government, to determine the destructive effect of heavy trucks and buses on road surfaces, appears amply justified.

The Iowa Highway Commission made no financial contribution to the Maryland road test, but expects to contribute from the primary road fund some portion of the cost of one or more of the other similar projects now being planned. Iowa has nearly 6,000 miles of rural highway pavement. To replace or reconstruct that pavement would, at present prices, cost nearly 300 million dollars. Iowa's interest in these research projects to determine the destructive effect of heavy trucks and buses on our road surfaces is quite considerable.

Respectfully submitted,
IOWA STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION,
F. R. WHITE, Chief Engineer.

Schedule No. 1

HIGHWAY RESEARCH PROJECTS APPROVED BY THE IOWA STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION
JULY 1 TO DECEMBER 31, 1950

From July 1 to December 31, 1950, the State Highway Commission has approved highway research projects as follows:

Project No. HR-1. Stabilization of Loess and Glacial Till Material. Estimated total cost, $45,000. Time required, 3 years. Agency to conduct research, Iowa State College.

This project involves a thorough study of the chemical and physical properties of the loess and glacial till materials of Iowa and an investigation of various techniques for processing these soils to increase their all-weather stability where they are required to serve as surface courses, base courses, or subgrades for roadways.

Project No. HR-2. Flood Frequency and Flood Magnitude Analysis. Estimated total cost, $10,000. Time required, 2 years. Agency to conduct research, United States Geological Survey.

This project includes the tabulation and analysis of flood data collected at all stream gage stations in Iowa, and the presentation of the results of this work in a form readily usable by highway and bridge engineers of the state.

Project HR-3. Determination of Flood Discharge Characteristics of Small Drainage Areas. Estimated total cost, $50,000. Time required, 10 years. Agency to conduct research, United States Geological Survey.

This project consists of the determination of flood peaks and discharges of typical small drainage areas over a ten-year period, and of the determination of the hydraulic characteristics of such areas.

Project No. HR-4. Thickness of Stabilized Bases to Use with Bituminous Surfaces. Estimated total cost, $25,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Iowa State Highway Commission.

This project consists of an investigation for the determination of the thickness of stabilized aggregate bases to use with bituminous surfacing for various types of subgrade soils.

Project No. HR-5. Elimination of Long Bridges on Streams with Small Drainage Areas. Estimated total cost, $8,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Institute of Hydraulic Research, State University of Iowa.

This project consists of the computation and compilation of the data and facts needed for the design of embankments, and drainage structures for use instead of long bridges over gullies and streams carrying the runoff from small drainage areas.

Project No. HR-6. Highway Embankments Constructed to Resist Washout from Overflow. Estimated total cost, $10,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Institute of Hydraulic Research, State University of Iowa.

This project consists of an investigation of methods of constructing and protecting earthen highway embankments over which flood waters may be passed for extensive periods without damage to the embankments.

Project No. HR-7. Accelerated Testing of Highway Pavements and Bases. Estimated total cost, $7,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct research, Iowa State College.

This project consists of an investigation of the feasibility of constructing and operating a test track for use in research projects involving studies of the behavior of various pavements, bases, and subgrades under a variety of loading conditions.

Project No. HR-8. Origin and Destination Traffic Surveys. Estimated total cost, $5,700. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Iowa State College.

This project consists of an investigation of various procedures for conducting origin and destination surveys, particularly in urban areas, with the view of reducing the volume of the data taken in and incidentally reducing the cost of such surveys without adversely affecting the accuracy and reliability of the results obtained in these surveys.

Project No. HR-9. Thickness of Concrete Pavements for Light Traffic Roads. Estimated total cost, $25,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Iowa State Highway Commission.

This project consists of an investigation of the thickness of concrete pavement required for light traffic rural roads. The principal feature of the investigation is the construction of a series of experimental sections of concrete pavement of different thicknesses.

Project No. HR-10. Durability of Portland Cement Concrete. Estimated total cost, $5,000. Time required, 1 year. Agency to conduct work, Iowa State Highway Commission.

This project consists of the study of the relationship between volume changes of portland cement concrete and the durability of the concrete with the view of developing a means of detecting the deterioration of concrete that may be traceable to certain aggregates or combinations of aggregates, at an earlier date than by means now available for that purpose.

Project No. HR-11. Sources of Highway Materials in Southwestern Iowa. Estimated total cost, $24,000. Time required, 3 years. Agency to conduct work, Iowa Geological Survey.

This project consists of a thorough geological investigation of the potentialities for sources of highway materials in southwestern Iowa. This project is designed to make available the basic geological data essential to the efficient and thorough development of the material deposits of the area. It is intended that the work may be extended to other areas of the state as the known sources of readily available materials become exhausted.

HIGHWAY RESEARCH BOARD
REPORT OF PROGRESS, ROAD TEST ONE—MD

This research project which is identified as Road Test One-MD was proposed by the Interregional Council on Highway Transportation which was organized at Columbus, Ohio, on December 6, 1949.

The project is being conducted by the Highway Research Board on behalf of highway departments of Connecticut, Delaware, Illinois, Kentucky, Maryland, Michigan, New Jersey, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Virginia, Wisconsin and the District of Columbia with cooperation of the Bureau of Public Roads. The motor truck manufacturing industry furnished the following trucks: Autocar, Ford, General Motors, International, Mack, Reo and White.

The gasoline, oil and grease were contributed by the following companies of the petroleum industry: American, Atlantic, Cities Service, Esso Standard of New Jersey, Gulf, Ohio, Phillips, Pure, Shell, Sinclair, Socony Vacuum, Sun, Texas and Tidewater.

The principal object of the test is to determine the relative effects, on a particular concrete pavement, of the four different axle loadings on two vehicle types. Information, such as will be secured from this experiment is greatly needed for use in appraising the load carrying capacities of existing concrete pavements, for use in designing new pavements and to provide fundamental data that may be useful in framing equitable legislation to govern highway transportation operation.

The tests are being conducted on a 1.1-mi. section of concrete pavement on U. S. Route 301 approximately 9 mi. south of LaPlata, Maryland. The pavement consists of two 12-ft. lanes each having a 9-7-9 in. cross section both reinforced with wire mesh. Expansion joints are spaced at 120-ft. intervals with two intermediate contraction joints at 40-ft. spacings. Dowel bars $\frac{3}{4}$ -in. in diameter at 15-in. spacing have been placed in all transverse joints. The adjacent lanes are tied together with tie bars four feet long spaced at 4-ft. intervals.

In its operation the test consists primarily in comparing the relative effects on parallel adjoining lanes of the reinforced concrete pavement under test of two types of trucks, one type loaded to 18,000 and 22,400-lb. on single axles and the other type loaded to 32,000 and 44,800 lb. on tandem axles. There are four separate test sections. The first, which is the west lane of the southern half mile of the pavement under test, has been subjected to 18,000-lb. single axle loads. The second, which is the east lane of the southern half mile, was subjected to 22,400-lb. single axle loads. The behavior under load of sections 1 and 2, consisting of 50 slabs each, can be compared directly since the only major variable between the sections is the axle loading of the test trucks. The third test section is the west lane of the northern 0.6-mi. and it was subjected to 32,000-lb. loads on tandem axles. The fourth, which is the east lane of the north 0.6-mi. was subjected to 44,800-lb. loads on tandem axles. Sections 3 and 4, each consisting of 71 slabs, can also be compared directly with each other.

Proper comparison of the behavior of the test pavements under tandem axle loading with those under single axle loading will be possible only after the characteristics of the subgrade soils under each pavement slab and other variables, such as the rate of application of load, have been studied in detail.

All pertinent data must be carefully analyzed and considered before final conclusions are drawn, however, certain facts relative to the behavior of the test have already been established.

The more significant observations which may be made from the test results to December 23 (after six months of continuous operation) are as follows:

1. Soil tests made on samples obtained throughout the length of the pavement adjacent to the pavement edges and under certain sections of the pavement indicate that there is reasonable uniformity in the soils on the two sides of the pavement.

2. Based on these same soil tests, there is found to be a definite correlation between soil type and pavement behavior. The higher the granular content and the lower the plasticity of the soil, the better the performance. The subgrade soils on this project are typical of the soils underlying a very extensive mileage of concrete pavement throughout the country.

3. The progress of cracking and depression of joints in the test sections has a definite relationship to the occurrence of pumping. Previous research and observation have shown that four basic conditions must be present simultaneously to create a pumping slab. They are: (1) frequent heavy axle loads; (2) subgrade soils of such a nature that they may pump through open joints or cracks or at pavement edges; (3) free water under the pavement; and (4) joints or cracks in the pavement. These conditions were present on this project and pumping resulted.

4. Based on both quality tests and dimension measurements, the concrete in the test sections is of good strength and of the designed thickness.

5. All four sections were damaged as follows by the loads applied:

- (a) The 44,800-lb. tandem axle loads caused approximately eleven times as much cracking (lineal feet) as the 32,000-lb. tandem axle loads. This relationship held true over a period of almost four months, that is from 20,000 to 92,000 truck passes in each lane.

- (b) The 22,400-lb. single axle loads caused approximately six times as much cracking (lineal feet) as the 18,000-lb. single axle loads. This relationship held true over a period of almost five months, that is from 35,000 to 238,000 truck passes in each lane.

- (c) After 84,000 truck passes, 80 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 44,800-lb. tandem axle loads were depressed, whereas, with the same number of truck passes, only 10 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 32,000-lb. tandem axle loads were depressed. (Depressed joints are defined as those joints at which a marked localized settlement of the pavement has occurred accompanied by cracking of the pavement in the vicinity of the joint.)

- (d) After 137,000 truck passes, 22 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 22,400-lb. single axle loads were depressed, whereas, with the same number of truck passes, only 2 per cent of the joints in the section carrying 18,000-lb. single axle loads were depressed.

6. (a) After 238,000 truck passes, 28 per cent of the slabs in the section under 18,000-lb. single axle loads and 64 per cent of the slabs under 22,400-lb. axle loads contained cracks which have been analyzed as constituting structural failures due to the application of the test axle loads. Conversely, 72 per cent of the slabs in the 18,000 lb. section and 36 per cent of the slabs in the 22,400-lb. section show no such structural failures.

(b) After 92,000 truck passes, 27 per cent of the slabs in the section under 32,000-lb. tandem axle loads and 96 per cent of the slabs under 44,800-lb. tandem axle loads contained cracks which have been analyzed as constituting structural failures due to the application of the test axle loads. Conversely, 73 per cent of the slabs in the 32,000-lb. section and 4 per cent of the slabs in the 44,800-lb. section show no such structural failures.

Additional information, which will be of great value to designers of future pavements and to those charged with evaluating the load carrying ability of existing pavements, is being obtained by means of strain measurements of the pavements under various loads and by measurements of strains induced by warping of the slabs due to temperature differentials between the top and bottom of the concrete.

To secure complete answers to the many questions involved in the interrelationships between loads, pavements and subgrades, additional test projects under other conditions will be necessary. It is planned to undertake such projects on both bituminous and portland cement concrete type pavements under other typical conditions. However, it is apparent that many significant engineering facts are being derived from this test under one typical set of conditions.

IOWA HIGHWAY RESEARCH

1949—1950

Chapter I
General Statement

1. Review of Previous Highway Research Activities:

The State Highway Commission has, since the primary road system was first established in 1919, carried on research work designed particularly to provide factual data relating to primary road problems. The cost of this primary road research was paid from the primary road fund. Some of the primary road research work was performed by the Highway Commission's own employees, some was performed by Iowa State College, and some by the State University, each under agreement with the commission. The commission reimbursed the college and the university for work performed by each.

The commission is affiliated with the National Research Board. Engineers of the commission attend the national meetings and take part in the proceedings of said board. W. H. Root, maintenance engineer of the commission, is now a member of the board of directors of the National Highway Research Board.

The State Highway Commission, since its inception about six years ago, has been a contributor to the Correlation Service of the National Highway Research Board. The commission's contribution to that service is now $2,956.00 per year. This contribution is paid, one-half from state primary road funds, and one-half from federal aid road funds allotted to the state. The purpose of this correlation service is to keep the Bureau of Public Roads and all the state highway departments informed as to the nature and progress of all highway research work being carried on by the highway research agencies in all the states. This makes available to all the research data developed by each, and avoids duplication of effort by each.

2. Highway Research Projects Under Way on July 1, 1949:

Previous to July 1, 1949, the following research projects had been initiated by the Iowa State Highway Commission and work on these projects was under way on that date:

A. R-11. Strength of Concrete.

Throughout the time the commission has been in existence, it has conducted studies of the factors affecting the strength of portland cement concrete and the various theories of the design of concrete mixtures.

In recent years certain changes in the composition and manufacture of cement and the artificial entrainment of air in concrete have affected significant factors involved in the design of concrete mixtures. The object of the present study was to determine up-to-date values for such factors for both normal concrete and for concrete with various percentages of entrained air.

B. R-62. Soundness Tests of Stone.

The development of an accelerated durability test for aggregates, the results of which can be correlated with the behavior of the aggregates in service, is largely an unsolved problem. The development of such tests is a study that has been carried on by the Iowa Highway Commission for many years with some degree of success in some areas. The particular phase of this study referred to above is a study of the correlation between the laboratory freezing and thawing test described in the commission's standard specifications and the rate of disintegration of the crushed material when exposed to natural weathering as it might be exposed in a traffic-bound road surface.

C. R-79. Durability of Portland Cement Concrete.

Studies of concrete placed under the supervision of the Iowa Highway Commission indicate that any appreciable evidence of lack of durability in concrete less than 30 years old is confined almost entirely to the concrete in which certain aggregates were used. The development of the durability tests mentioned is of prime importance. For several years the highway commission has been actively engaged in studies of this problem.

D. R-90. A Study of Crusher-Run Limestone as a Finished Mix for Stabilized Base Construction.

This is a study of the behavior of base courses composed of dense graded crushed limestone compacted at the moisture content which provides for the maximum degree of compaction. It is concerned chiefly with limestones with a doubtful degree of durability.

E. R-130. Crystallographic Study of Iowa Limestones.

This study was expanded to include the mineralogical composition of limestones, has as its objective the influence of the crystallography and mineral composition of limestone aggregate on the durability of concrete.

F. R-131. Load-Carrying Capacity of Roads as Affected by Frost Action.

This work is being done in cooperation with a committee of the National Highway Research Board. It involves studies of the temperature and moisture condition of the bases and subgrades and plate bearing tests of the load bearing capacity of subgrades, base courses, and surface courses throughout the year to determine the seasonal variations in the values of these factors.

G. R-87. Volume and Moisture Change in Earth Fills.

The loosening of compacted earth surfaces when they are exposed to weathering without additional compactive effort being applied, such as can be observed in an abandoned earth road, raises a question as to the permanence of the effect of compacting masses of earth at moisture percentages below normal and to densities greater than natural for the type of soil.

H. R-97. Wear Tests of Stone Using the Los Angeles Abrasion Machine.

The object of this study is to determine the proper size of the sample and abrasive charge for samples having gradings other than those prescribed in the standard method of test so that the grading of the sample for abrasion test can be more nearly that of the material as used.

I. R-106. Mortar and Concrete Strengths of Iowa Sands.

The object of this study is to determine the mortar strength test for sand which would most accurately reflect the effect which the sand will have on the strength of concrete in which it is used. It involves tensile, transverse, and compressive tests of mortars made from various sands, and transverse and compressive tests of concrete made from the same sands and cement and a single coarse aggregate.

J. R-126E. The Effect of the Addition of Small Quantities of Cement and Other Admixtures to Soil-Aggregate Mixtures.

Most of the natural gravels of Iowa are deficient in particles passing the No. 50 sieve. Most Iowa soils are also deficient in these fine sand sizes. Thus the cheapest mixture of soil and aggregate is likely to be either lacking in density due to a deficiency in fine material or inclined to be plastic due to the poor grading of the material. Thus it would appear that the addition of some material which will reduce the plasticity of the fine material would be justified. Laboratory studies indicate that the addition of small percentages of either hydrated lime or portland cement will accomplish this result.

K. R-132. Compaction of Subgrade Using Jackson Electric Tamper.

This is a brief study to determine the efficiency of a compacting unit imparting vibratory action of high frequency and low amplitude to the material being compacted. It was undertaken to provide the manufacturer with data on which to base further development of this type of equipment. It was found that dense graded crushed stone can be satisfactorily compacted if the moisture content of the material is somewhat higher than the optimum for more conventional methods of compaction.

L. R-133. Cracking of Asphalt Wearing Surfaces as Affected by Condition of the Base.

In the design of resurfacing for old concrete pavements, it is important to know the rate and extent to which the pattern of cracks in the old concrete used as a base will be reflected in the pattern of cracks in the surfacing material. This study is designed to produce such information.

M. R-134. Asphaltic Concrete Tests.

Work done on the studies which can be classified under this general heading may be divided into the following:

1. Study of relative accuracy of different methods of extracting asphalt from asphaltic concrete mixture.
2. Methods of determining density of samples cut from finished surfaces.
3. The effect of soundness of aggregate on the durability of asphaltic concrete.

N. R-135. Concrete Pavement Condition Surveys.

The Highway Commission has employed rather a wide range of design of concrete pavements.

Periodic condition surveys are being made to determine the effect of design features on the behavior of the pavements in service.

O. Traffic Marking Paint Durability.

This work consists of painting stripes of paints of various types across pavements and observing the time required for the paint to be worn off. The object is to discover, if possible, the paints which will prove more durable than those now in use.

P. R-83. Methods of Tests for Reflector Buttons.

This work has been expanded to include tests of all reflectorizing materials. The rather simple equipment adequate for determining the relative optical properties of buttons is inadequate for the testing of reflectorizing materials now in use. Some progress has been made in assembling the equipment required for measuring these properties in absolute units.

Q. R-111. Service Tests on Blast Plates.

This work consists of the study of the behavior of blast plates made of different materials when subjected to the action of locomotive stack exhausts. A number of blast plates were installed on the under side of railroad overpasses in such manner as to insure that they would receive the same exposure as the under side of the bridge members and the normal installations of blast plates. Observations have been conducted over a period of about ten years. The study was completed in the early summer of 1950.

The above research projects are being carried on by the State Highway Commission through its Department of Materials and Tests. In addition, the following research projects were, on July 1, 1949, and still are, being carried on by the State Highway Commission under contract with the State University or Iowa State College, as the case may be.

1216-A. Scour Around Bridge Piers and Abutments.

This study is designed to obtain information on scour around bridge piers and abutments under various stages of flow and various conditions of installation, and to determine means of eliminating excessive scour.

Work on this project is being carried on by the Iowa Institute of Hydraulic Research at the State University of Iowa under an agreement with the Iowa State Highway Commission for that purpose.

1216-B. Loads on Negative Projecting Conduits.

This study consists of an investigation of the effects of installing conduits wholly above the surface of naturally consolidated soil and loading them under conditions simulating those employed in the construction of earthen embankments over highway culverts when installed above the surface of the natural ground. This is theoretically a much more severe condition than that for culverts installed in a narrow trench. The purpose of the investigation is the collection of data either supporting, denying, or modifying the mathematical analysis of the condition of installation of conduits.

The work on this project is being done by the Engineering Experiment Station, Iowa State College, for the Iowa State Highway Commission, under an agreement for that purpose.

1216-C. Roadside Seeding.

This study consists of an investigation of the rate of seeding and the type of grasses suitable for each of the various types and conditions of seed bed presented on the slopes of roadway embankments and cuts.

The work is being conducted by the Agricultural Experiment Station, Iowa State College, at Ames, for the Iowa Highway Commission, under an agreement with the station for that purpose.

3. Secondary Road Research:

While there has been a very considerable amount of primary road research carried on in the past, there has been very little research work pertaining to secondary roads. This is due largely to the fact that no funds were available especially for secondary road research.

There are 92,700 miles of secondary road in this state. The demand for better secondary road maintenance and for more secondary road improvements are constantly increasing. Funds now becoming available for secondary road construction and maintenance amount to about $59,000,000 per year. Less than two-thirds of the secondary road mileage (58,500 miles) is now surfaced. Local deposits of gravel for secondary road surfacing are being rapidly depleted. Surfacing material must be hauled longer distances and can be obtained only at greater cost. About 8,000 miles of secondary road carry a traffic of such volume as to demand something better than an untreated gravel or crushed stone surface. Thousands of secondary road bridges are substandard. Frequent washouts occur through underscour of foundations.

Here then is a field for fruitful and profitable highway research.

In these circumstances, the Fifty-third General Assembly passed an act, which now appears as sections 310.34 to 310.36, Code 1950, authorizing the expenditure of not more than one and one-half per cent of the farm to market road fund for secondary road research. It is now estimated that the farm to market road fund income (both state and federal) will amount to about $13,650,000 per year. At that rate the secondary road research fund will amount to about $205,000 per year, which is about one-third of one per cent of the total secondary road income of $59,000,000 per year.

4. Iowa Highway Research Board Created:

All highway research has some relation to all classes or systems of roads. A highway research project may be instituted, carried on, completed, and paid for as a primary road project, but the data and findings developed may be equally valuable in the design, construction, and maintenance of secondary roads. Likewise, the result of a secondary road research project may be equally useful on primary roads. There is no clear dividing line between the two. It is obvious, therefore, that there should be one central clearing house for all highway research in the state. Such "central clearing house" should bring together all agencies in the state that are especially interested in highway research.

To meet this condition, the State Highway Commission on December 20, 1949, approved Memorandum of Instructions No. 148 creating an Iowa Highway Research Board of eleven members, which board shall deal with all highway research within the commission's jurisdiction—primary road research as well as secondary road research.

(Appendix A)

Said Memorandum of Instructions No. 148 was approved and accepted by the executive committee of the State Association of County Engineers on February 8, 1950. Invitation to appoint representatives to serve on said board were accepted by the State University on February 22, 1950, and by Iowa State College on March 3, 1950.

5. Members and Alternate Members of Iowa Highway Research Board:

The six county engineer members of the Iowa Highway Research Board were appointed by Paul J. Mahoney of Council Bluffs, president of the State Association of County Engineers. The representatives of the State University and Iowa State College were respectively appointed by those institutions. The three representatives of the State Highway Commission were appointed by the commission.

As thus created the membership of the Iowa Highway Research Board is as follows:

The meetings on June 2 and June 30 were spent in consideration of research projects proposed by various persons, for the board's consideration.

As a consequence of this study, two suggestions were withdrawn from the original list of eight selected tentatively by the board for recommendation to the commission.

During the period covered by this report, six suggestions were recommended to the commission as subjects for research projects. These, with the total estimated cost, the time required for completion, the name of the agency recommended to conduct the research, and a brief description of the project, are as follows:

Project No. 1. Stabilization of Loess and Glacial Till Material. Total cost, estimated, $45,000. Time required, 3 years. Agency to conduct research, Iowa State College.

This project involves a thorough study of the chemical and physical properties of the loess and glacial till materials of Iowa and an investigation of various techniques for processing these soils to increase their all-weather stability where they are required to serve as surface courses, base courses, or subgrades for roadways.

Project No. 2. Flood Frequency and Flood Magnitude Analysis. Estimated total cost, $10,000. Time required, 2 years. Agency to conduct research, United States Geological Survey.

This project includes the tabulation and analysis of flood data collected at all stream gage stations in Iowa, and the presentation of the results of this work in a form readily usable by highway and bridge engineers of the state.

10. Research Projects Approved:

The above recommended research projects did not reach the State Highway Commission in time for commission action prior to June 30, 1950, hence no new research projects were actually approved by the State Highway Commission under sections 310.34 to 310.36, Code 1950, during the fiscal year covered by this report.

Chapter III

APPENDIX "A"

MEMORANDUM OF INSTRUCTIONS NO. 148

Relative to Highway Research

Highway construction and maintenance in the State of Iowa (state, county and municipal) has grown into "big business." Funds becoming available or which may become available per year under existing law for highway work in Iowa may be approximately stated as follows:

1. For city and town streets, roads and alleys:
 - a. Local tax levies.....$ 5,500,000
 - b. State road use taxes..... 4,695,000
 - Subtotal, cities and towns.....$10,195,000
2. For primary roads and extensions in cities and towns:
 - a. State road use tax funds.....$24,649,000
 - b. Federal aid 6,831,000
 - Subtotal, primary roads.....$30,980,000
3. For secondary roads:
 - a. Local property taxes.....$23,766,000
 - b. State road use taxes..... 29,343,000
 - c. Federal aid..... 3,516,000
 - Subtotal, secondary roads.....$56,625,000
4. Grand total, all roads.....$97,800,000

American industrial development has been built on research. Through research, new materials, new processes, new ideas, new methods and new equipment have been discovered and developed. No industrial concern doing a $100,000,000 annual business, or half that amount, would attempt to carry on without an adequate, well-staffed, well-financed and alert research department.

The highway industry can no more survive on an economic, efficient and intelligent basis without research than can private industry. Unsolved highway problems are just as numerous, just as baffling, just as pressing and just as fraught with vast economic and social possibilities as are private industrial problems. The Iowa legislature recognized this fact when it passed chapter 128, Laws of the Fifty-third General Assembly, which authorizes the State Highway Commission to use not more than one and one-half per cent of the farm to market road fund for secondary road research.

Some highway research problems may pertain only to secondary roads; some only to primary roads. Many will pertain to both primary and secondary roads. Many of the facts and data which may be developed on either primary or secondary road research will be useful on city and town street improvements. It appears, therefore, that in order to avoid duplication, all the highway research carried on with highway funds (that is, primary and secondary road funds) should be coordinated and consolidated under one organizational setup. In conformance with action taken by the State Highway Commission this memorandum is issued to create such an organization and implement highway research in this state.

I. Iowa Highway Research Board.

There is hereby created an Iowa Highway Research Board hereinafter called the board. Said board shall consist of eleven members—six county engineers, three highway commission engineers, and one representative each from the State University of Iowa and from Iowa State College.

II. Terms.

The terms of each member of the board shall be three years. Provided that of the six county engineers initially appointed, two shall be appointed for one year terms and two shall be appointed for two year terms. Of the three highway commission engineers initially appointed, one shall be appointed for a one year term and one shall be appointed for a two year term. Appointment to fill a vacancy shall be for the unexpired portion of the term for which the preceding incumbent was appointed.

The term of each of the initial members of the board shall begin as of January 1, 1950. The term of a member appointed to fill a vacancy shall begin on the date of his appointment.

III. Appointment—By Whom.

The six county engineer members of the board shall be appointed by the president of the State Association of County Engineers, one from each of the six highway commission engineering districts. The three highway commission engineer members of the board shall be appointed by the State Highway Commission. The representatives from Iowa University and Iowa State College shall, respectively, be appointed as these institutions may determine. The appointing agency shall certify each appointment to the chief engineer of the State Highway Commission, who will so notify the chairman of the board.

IV. Compensation and Expenses of Board Members.

No compensation will be paid board members because of their service on the board. Each board member will be allowed his actual necessary expenses while traveling away from his home or headquarters on business connected with his service on the board.

V. Chairman—Rules.

The members of the board shall annually elect one of their members to serve as chairman during the ensuing year. The board shall establish its own rules of procedure.

VI. Duties of the Board.

It shall be the duty of the board

- a. To receive and consider all suggestions for highway research projects pertaining to either primary or secondary roads. To develop an orderly, efficient, coordinated highway research program.
- b. To recommend to the State Highway Commission those highway research projects which the board deems meritorious and most urgently needed.
- c. To recommend to the Highway Commission an agency (University of Iowa, Iowa State College, State Highway Commission or other agency) which the board deems appropriate for the conduct and prosecution of each research project recommended by the board.
- d. To keep in touch with the progress being made on each active highway research project and bring the work on such project to a conclusion as promptly as may be practicable.
- e. To receive, consider and act upon all reports on highway research projects.
- f. To disseminate information on highway research.
- g. To report annually (as of June 30) to the State Highway Commission.

VII. Meetings of Board.

The board shall hold such regular and special meetings as it may determine. Regular meetings of the board shall be held at the office of the State Highway Commission in Ames, Iowa.

VIII. Director of Highway Research.

The State Highway Commission will designate one of its engineers as director of highway research (hereinafter called the director). Said director will serve as secretary and executive officer of the board, but will not be a member of the board nor have a vote thereon.

IX. Duties of the Director.

It shall be the duties of the director

- a. To keep the minutes and other records of the board.

- b. To actively supervise and prosecute the highway research work as recommended by the board and approved and authorized by the commission.
- c. To report to the chief engineer of the State Highway Commission all recommendations of the board as to highway research projects to be undertaken, estimate of probable cost thereof, the agency recommended to execute such project and other matters relating thereto.
- d. To formulate and negotiate proposed agreements with research agencies, the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads and other involved agencies, for approval by the commission, for the execution of all highway research projects approved by the commission.
- e. To perform such other duties relating to highway research as the board or the commission may direct.

X. Approval of Research Projects.

Any highway research project recommended by the board must be submitted to and approved by the State Highway Commission before any work can be undertaken thereon or any funds will be allocated thereto.

XI. Allocation of Funds.

When a highway research project is approved by the commission, funds will be allotted for the execution of such project or if the project is expected to extend over a period of more than one year a sufficient amount of funds will be allotted to carry such project through the first year.

XII. Agreements with Research Agencies.

When any highway research project has been recommended by the board, approved by the commission and funds allocated thereto by the commission, a memorandum or agreement, as the case may be, for the execution of such project shall be prepared by the director, approved by the agency which is to execute such research project, approved by the Bureau of Public Roads or other involved agency or agencies and submitted to the State Highway Commission for approval. Upon the approval and execution of such agreement or memorandum by the commission and the allocation of funds for such project, the work on such project is authorized to proceed.

XIII. Highway Research Budget.

The State Highway Commission will annually adopt a highway research budget for both primary and secondary roads. Such budget may be altered or changed from time to time as the commission may deem proper.

XIV. Purpose of Highway Research.

Highway research projects undertaken hereunder, and paid for with highway funds, shall have as their objective the solution of practical problems confronting the highway engineers and officials in responsible charge of the highways.

XV. Repeal or Revision of this Memorandum.

The right to amend, revise or repeal this memorandum is hereby expressly reserved.

F. R. WHITE, Chief Engineer.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9 TABLED

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9

Whereas, technological communications and economic interdependence have shrunk this planet into one world, and

Whereas, we believe that all decent people cherish liberty and the rights of man, and

Whereas, the United Nations has overwhelmingly approved a declaration of human rights which embodies all the freedoms which we hold dear, and

Whereas, the United Nations has conclusively demonstrated again and again that the vast majority of the nations of the world are in accord with our long established principles of liberty and our concept of the dignity of man, and that in no issue involving these concepts have we ever been outvoted, and

Whereas, responsible and thoughtful Americans recognize that it was this nation's failure to join in a world government which contributed in some degree to the Second World War, and

Whereas, we recognize that the principle of federal government as practiced by this nation has in great measure contributed to the greatness of this nation, and

Whereas, we recognize that no longer can this nation retreat and withdraw its interest to within its continental boundaries, and

Whereas, it is self-evident that laws for the establishment of peace and order in the world must evolve out of a world government, and

Whereas, we deem it to be in the best interests of the state and nation that we stem the tide of isolationism arising in various sections of the nation;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that the legislature of the State of Iowa acknowledges its responsibility to the world, and is, therefore, in accord with the principle of a federal world government of defined and limited powers, for the purpose of maintaining peace and spreading to all corners of the world those principles of freedom to which all men would attain.

Harris of Adair moved to lay the resolution on the table.

Motion prevailed and House Concurrent Resolution 9 was laid on the table.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

In accordance with the provisions of the Constitution of Iowa, I desire to explain my vote on Resolution 9.

I do not believe it is good to choke off debate on a question of paramount importance to the public and to the people, and I believe that every question should have its day in court when it is honestly presented. I believe that the author of this bill had honest and honorable intent in presenting this resolution.

At one time I felt strongly about some system of world government. At the present time I am not so sure as I once was that this idea is right, especially in view of the fact that the people of our nation are not too interested in their own affairs, and for the further reason that in many areas we do not do a very adequate job of fulfilling the real interests, intents, and purposes of our philosophy of government.

This resolution comes logically within the area of legislative halls of every state in the union, and the question certainly is important enough to be discussed with calm heads as to its merits and demerits.

FRED SCHWENGEL.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, chapter two hundred nineteen (219), section two (2), Acts of the Fiftieth General Assembly, provides that to be entitled to World War I bonus, applicant must have on file his application on or before December 31, 1944, and,

Whereas, George Dewey Ellis, a veteran of World War I, through no fault of his own was unable to file prior to the expiration date, and,

Whereas, it would be unfair and unjust that George Dewey Ellis should be deprived of the benefits of the World War I bonus, if entitled thereto;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that the World War I "Bonus Board" is hereby authorized to accept for consideration the application of George Dewey Ellis for the bonus payable to veterans of World War I, notwithstanding the provisions of chapter two hundred nineteen (219), section two (2), Acts of the Fiftieth General Assembly contrary hereto.

Putney of Tama moved to refer the resolution to the committee on military and veterans affairs.

Motion lost.

Rule 52

Amend Rule 52 by adding a new sentence as follows:

"A party, his agent or attorney may take an acknowledgment of service and deliver copy of notice in connection therewith, and may mail copy of original notice when mailing is required or permitted under any rule or statute."

Rule 53

Amend Rule 53 by substituting for the first sentence thereof the following:

"A defendant served by publication or by publication and mailing, as provided in rule 60.1, must appear on or before the date fixed in the notice as published, which date shall not be less than twenty days after the day of last publication."

Rule 60.1

Add immediately after Rule 60 the following:

"Rule 60.1. Known Defendants.

"(a) In every case where service of original notice is made upon a known defendant by publication, copy of the notice shall also be sent by ordinary mail addressed to such defendant at his last known mailing address, unless an affidavit of a party or his attorney is filed stating that no mailing address is known and that diligent inquiry has been made to ascertain it.

"(b) Such copy of notice shall be mailed by the party, his agent or attorney not less than twenty days before the date set for appearance.

"(c) Proof of such mailing shall be by affidavit, and such affidavit or the affidavit referred to in rule 60.1 (a) shall be filed before the entry of judgment or decree. The court, in its judgment or decree, or prior thereto, shall make a finding that the address to which such copy was directed is the last known mailing address, or that no such address is known, after diligent inquiry."

Rule 62

Amend Rule 62 by striking the last sentence thereof which reads:

"Service is complete on the date of the last publication."

Rule 234

Rule 49

Revise Rule 49 to read as follows:

"For the purpose of determining whether an action has been commenced within the time allowed by statutes for limitation of actions, whether the limitation inheres in the statutes creating the remedy or not, the delivery of the original notice to the sheriff of the proper county with the intent that it be served immediately (which intent shall be presumed unless the contrary appears) shall also be deemed a commencement of the action."

Add as new sentence to Rule 331(a):

I O W A

If I could write as poets do
And make the words ring clear and true;
If I could sing as poets sing
And make the notes of music ring;

If I could travel far and wide
And have with me a trusty guide,
I would not seek climes far away.
I still would live in Iowa.

Oh, sometimes when the cold winds blow
I'd go down south a month or so.
Sometimes when things here fairly bake
I'd spend a week up at the lake,
And sometimes when I thought it best
I'd take a little trip out west.
But as for living, day by day,
My friends, just give me Iowa.

In Iowa the corn grows tall
It yields a harvest every fall.
In golden fields, oats, wheat and rye
Are bumper crops by mid-July.
But Iowa has culture too,
With schools and churches, not a few.
With boys and girls she, too, is blest
Of all that's good, she has the best.

If I could write as poets do
I'd write each day a verse or two
About the grandeur of the West
And of the State that I love best.
Then when my evening prayers were said
And I had started off to bed,
I'd pause a moment just to say
"Thank God for good old Iowa".

J. A. SWISHER.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

We, the committee appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, State of Iowa, Fifty-fourth General Assembly to investigate the provisions of House Resolution 3 regarding the administration of the Department of Agriculture and particularly the salt base anti-freeze known as Paradox or P-60, beg leave to submit the following report:

This committee finds on evidence submitted that salt base anti-freezes are in general of an unsatisfactory nature, being corrosive in action and therefore harmful to internal combustion motors and the necessary radiators, pumps, etc., used in connection with the operation thereof.

It further finds on the evidence submitted that the salt base anti-freeze known as third batch Paradox or P-60 was duly tested by an authorized chemist of the Iowa Department of Agriculture and by the chemical research department of Iowa State College. The findings made by all tests were that the anti-freeze known as P-60 did not possess qualities which would warrant the issuing of a license for its sale under the laws pertaining to anti-freezes, chapter 208A, Code of Iowa, 1950. Recommendations of the chemical research department of Iowa State College were that third batch Paradox or P-60 showed sufficient merit to warrant field testing, but that it should not be licensed for sale.

The committee finds that the license issued by Mr. Spry, Secretary of Agriculture, for the sale of P-60 was contrary to the recommendations of competent chemists and chemical laboratories and to the laws of the State of Iowa.

The committee has also heard testimony and counterclaims to such testimony, all under oath, of alleged irregularities in the administration of duties by various members of the Department of Agriculture.

This testimony has such ramifications and legal aspects that the committee believes it is beyond its province to do justice to all parties concerned by such alleged charges and countercharges.

It is our recommendation that any further investigation concerning these alleged irregularities should be made by the State Bureau of Investigation or other bodies of government authorized by law to conduct such investigations.

LEE GALLUP, Chairman.
PAUL M. WALTER.
J. C. DAVIS.
DWIGHT W. MEYER.
JOHN A. WALKER.

Passed on file.

STATEMENT BY WALKER OF HAMILTON

I am in accord with the report of the special committee to investigate reported irregularities on the part of the Iowa department of agriculture insofar as the material covered is concerned, but I feel that the investigation was incomplete.

JOHN A. WALKER.

ADOPTION OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE REPORT

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE

We, the committee appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, State of Iowa, Fifty-fourth General Assembly, to investigate the provisions of House Resolution 3 regarding the administration of the Department of Agriculture and particularly the salt base antifreeze known as Paradox or P-60, beg leave to submit the following report:

This committee finds on evidence submitted that salt base antifreezes are in general of an unsatisfactory nature, being corrosive in action and therefore harmful to internal combustion motors and the necessary radiators, pumps, etc., used in connection with the operation thereof.

It further finds on the evidence submitted that the salt base antifreeze known as third batch Paradox or P-60 was duly tested by an authorized chemist of the Iowa Department of Agriculture and by the chemical research department of Iowa State College. The findings made by all tests were that the antifreeze known as P-60 did not possess qualities which would warrant the issuing of a license for its sale under the laws pertaining to antifreezes, chapter 208A, Code of Iowa, 1950. Recommendations of the chemical research department of Iowa State College were that third batch Paradox or P-60 showed sufficient merit to warrant field testing, but that it should not be licensed for sale.

The committee finds that the license issued by Mr. Spry, Secretary of Agriculture, for the sale of P-60 was contrary to the recommendations of competent chemists and chemical laboratories and to the laws of the State of Iowa.

The committee has also heard testimony and counterclaims to such testimony, all under oath, of alleged irregularities in the administration of duties by various members of the Department of Agriculture.

This testimony has such ramifications and legal aspects that the committee believes it is beyond its province to do justice to all parties concerned by such alleged charges and countercharges.

It is our recommendation that any further investigation concerning these alleged irregularities should be made by the State Bureau of Investigation or other bodies of government authorized by law to conduct such investigations.

President Nicholas expressed the appreciation of the joint convention to the chorus for their musical program.

President Nicholas recognized the gentleman from Scott, Mr. Schwengel, who addressed the joint convention as follows:

At the suggestion of the committee in the legislature and also of several people outside the legislature who thought it would be appropriate to give recognition to a great Iowan, I have consented to speak to you for just a few moments on the life of Judge James Bollinger, affectionately known by us in Davenport as "Judge".

On occasions like this, words seem so inadequate to give expression and to do justice to the true meaning of the lives of people; and so I approach this subject in a spirit of humility, but realizing that it is good for us to reflect upon the good things of the past, and that the contributions of great people should be pointed up occasionally as guide posts for our actions in our daily lives and in legislative halls.

I will attempt, to the best of my ability, very briefly and with your permission, to pay tribute to a great citizen, an eminent Iowan and, above all, a true American. The man about whom I am to speak was born just two years and five days after the death of the eminent American whose birthday we are celebrating today, in our sister state, Illinois.

At the age of six he moved to, and was until his death a citizen of, Iowa. He was a product of our public schools and the University of Iowa. He was recognized by his fellow men as an eminent lawyer, a jurist of distinction, a scholar without peer, a humanitarian, a great civic leader, and was considered nationally as one of the outstanding students of the life of Abraham Lincoln.

Early in his life he became interested, as a sort of a hobby, in the life of the object of our affections and celebration today. He began collecting books and writings and documents of this great American until, at his death, he had a total of 8,000 volumes that he had collected and read and studied and thought about. He became so enthusiastic about this study that those who knew him and held him in high esteem said, "There was something in Lincoln's character akin to his own," and those of us who knew him well could appreciate this beyond question.

He made a great contribution to the study of the life of Lincoln in his book "Lincoln, the Statesman and Logician." This work was hailed by authors of Lincoln as a great contribution in showing the true character of this eminent American as a statesman and logician.

Largely because of his study of the life of this great man, he became thoroughly imbued with what has become known as the "American Proposition," believing inherently in the great philosophy of freedom and truth embodied therein.

In the practice of his profession as a lawyer and jurist, and in the spirit of honesty and greatness which marked his life and were his outstanding traits, he once said a very characteristic thing, and one that needs pondering today, that "the law was his mistress and he held her precepts sacred."

This man, James "Judge" Bollinger, of whom I speak and who has set such a wonderful example for us, has gone on to his reward. In the words that are credited to that great Secretary of War of Lincoln's administration, who is reputed to have said them at Lincoln's deathbed: "Now he belongs to the ages."

Iowa becomes the beneficiary of Judge Bollinger's collection of Lincoln books, documents and articles. His personal will provides that the great University of Iowa become the beneficiary, so that students of history will forever have access to this invaluable collection. So Iowa becomes the sole owner of one of the finest collections of its kind in the world, a truly great monument built by a great man to a great man, for a great state, and through the state facilities, for the nation. All who knew him well can share the words of Edwin Markham when he wrote about Lincoln and apply them to this man, "Here was a man to hold against the world, a man to match the mountains and the sea."

Ludwig of Johnson presented to the joint convention Professor H. J. Thornton, Department of History, State University of Iowa, who delivered the following Lincoln's Day memorial address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MR. LUDWIG, SENATOR MERCER, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I was much moved by the speech of the gentleman from Davenport paying tribute to the late Judge Bollinger. May I add that his loss is a great grief on the campus of your state university. That university is very proud to have been appointed the custodian of the valuable library of Lincolniana he assembled.

I am as proud to be here today to address you for a little while as the young ladies and gentlemen who have entertained us so magnificently this morning with their singing. We have come to pay tribute to one of the greatest Americans who ever lived. It is fourscore and seven years ago since, in 1863, the great emancipator spoke at Gettysburg that immortal sentence, "Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal." And here we are, fourscore and seven years later, at the midway point of the twentieth century, assembled in this honorable place to pay tribute to one who was born 142 years ago today.

The American people look back with unusual sensitivity to that great life. It is their habit to search their past for understanding of the present. They have an instinct that was voiced by Patrick Henry when he said, "I know no light whereby my feet are guided save the light of experience." For Americans, the great book of experience is history. And periodically, they observe, there comes one who personifies some great crisis or some noble movement in their own history that is etched upon their minds and hearts forevermore, and from whom they draw unfailing strength and wisdom.

There is a very loose statement that history repeats itself, which really it never does precisely. Things cannot be exactly as they were. If later events and situations present striking similarities with the past, always there are differences.

In Abraham Lincoln's time the nation was scourged by war, even as our own. But the conflict for that generation was vastly different. It was civil war, in which brother shed brother's blood. Lincoln's government had problems of foreign relations to face. They were few and simple compared with ours, but they loomed large in that day. For example, during the civil war, or the war between the states as some prefer to say, the French invaded this continent using an Austrian puppet to establish a monarchy in Mexico, thereby violating the Monroe Doctrine. Normally, had the Federal Union not been engaged in civil strife its army would instantly have marched to expel the invaders from the soil of the new world. Lincoln, however, was a patient man who knew how to put first things first. Nothing could turn him aside from the task of saving the Union. By the time the war was over, with the United States possessing an immense and experienced army, the French, like the Arabs, folded their tents and silently stole away.

Abraham Lincoln had serious diplomatic problems to face with England and other European countries. They are now difficult for Americans to understand in the face of the ideologies of the time, but not inexplicable when it is remembered that the export of southern cotton was shut off by the Federal blockade thereby imposing enormous hardship upon the English textile manufacturing industry.

Lincoln had surprising thoughts about Russia. In a little-known passage in a letter written August 24, 1855, to one who was defending negro slavery he said that those who in a land of liberty supported this system should go to some country where no pretense was made of loving liberty—"to Russia, for instance, where despotism can be taken pure, and without the base alloy of hypocrisy."

Compared with ours, however, his relations with the world at large were casual and dispersed. In our troubled time they are completely global and fearfully enmeshed. With these similarities and differences in mind as between Lincoln's day and ours, the nation may look back and find help and inspiration for contemporary action. The American people still draw vigor from Abraham Lincoln, because of who he was, and what he accomplished.

May we not say that in a peculiar way he was one of us, we the people of the Middle West? He embodied, as it were, the whole westward epic because he saw the mighty flow of the tide from the East along the pathway of the setting sun. Born in Kentucky as he was; moving early to Indiana; living in Illinois; sailing down the great rivers that cut through the heart of the continent, the Ohio and the Mississippi, he was indeed an epitome of the matchless drama of nineteenth century America. Incidentally, it is said that while on a flatboat with a load of produce out of Indiana, he encountered slavery close up; saw human beings of dark color in heavy manacles and, according to his biographer, he said with suppressed fury, "If ever I get a chance to strike that system, I shall strike it hard."

He traveled into Iowa, as a colleague of mine, Professor William J. Petersen, reminded this body two years ago. Here in our Commonwealth he owned land, spoke to audiences as far apart as Burlington and Council Bluffs, found a member of his cabinet and a justice for the supreme court, had part in the litigation arising out of a collision between a steamboat and the railroad bridge between Rock Island and Davenport. It was in Iowa, also, that Lincoln's son, Robert, found the lady he married. Here in the Middle West Abraham Lincoln was elected to the presidency. Here he said good-bye to his friends and neighbors in Springfield, Illinois, in an address whose poignancy moves us still:

"My friends: No one, not in my situation, can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place, and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century, and have passed from a young to an old man. Here my children have been born, and one is buried. I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return, with a task before me greater than that which rested upon Washington. Without the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him, I cannot succeed. With that assistance, I cannot fail. Trusting in Him who can go with me, and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well. To His care commending you, as I hope in your prayers you will commend me, I bid you an affectionate farewell."

It appears that he had a presentiment that he would never return. He did return—in death, after the assassin's bullet had laid him low. And here in the heart of the Middle West his remains lie in their eternal repose.

Apart from these things that move us so and stir our pride, there is much that we can learn from him for our guidance and improvement. How great an example he is of one who trod the road of life with becoming humility! Abraham Lincoln was without pretense or ostentation. He indeed walked humbly before God and man. Here is an account he once gave of himself: "If any personal description of me is thought desirable it may be said I am, in height, six feet four inches, nearly; lean in flesh, weighing on an average one hundred and eighty pounds; dark complexion, with coarse black hair and gray eyes. No other marks or brands recollected."

In the course of his debate with Stephen A. Douglas at Ottawa in 1858, Lincoln said, "Henry Clay, my beau ideal of a statesman, the man for whom I fought all my humble life." That was no pose on Lincoln's part; it was his honest judgment of his slight significance.

We have placed his image on our humblest coin, the one-cent piece, a most appropriate thing to do. It must be admitted, though, that his image is on the five-dollar bill. But then, our few plutocrats love Lincoln also.

His favorite poem was entitled "Oh! Why Should the Spirit of Mortal Be Proud?" Its rather mournful sentiment is apparent in the opening stanza:

"Oh! Why should the spirit of mortal be proud?
Like a swift-fleeting meteor, a fast-flying cloud,
A flash of the lightning, a break of the wave,
Man passeth from life to his rest in the grave."

This seems to affirm the contention that Abraham Lincoln was a gloomy man. Much has been said about that aspect of his character. Yet, I would say that the point has been overstated. It can be shown that Lincoln was an affable man. Apparently he was never at a loss for a joke, or a happy anecdote, and he had a large capacity for laughter. I wonder if it is remembered by members of this honorable body that he was once challenged to a duel and that he accepted the challenge. It arose out of some letters written to a Springfield newspaper and he offended the person at whom they were directed. The man, whose name was Shields, called upon Lincoln for satisfaction. It was the custom that the one challenged had the right to name the weapons. Lincoln chose cavalry broadswords, long, heavy weapons, "of the largest size." Lincoln, of course, was a tall man. Shields was a short man who could walk beneath his opponent's arm. When they arrived at the duelling ground, a sandbar in the Mississippi River, Lincoln took off his coat, rolled up his sleeves, extended the sword, stretched to his full height, and began lopping off the top branches of a tree. The action appeared so ludicrous to all present that everybody burst into laughter and, of course, they couldn't fight a duel in such an atmosphere as that. Lincoln knew precisely what he was doing. His humor and wisdom had dissolved potential tragedy.

Abraham Lincoln's joy and humor notwithstanding, he was acquainted with sorrow and grief. He knew the pangs of wounded love as he stood at the grave of Ann Rutledge, to whom he had given his heart. There was tension in his family, perhaps more serious than the world has known: William H. Herndon, Lincoln's gossip biographer, tells the story that one day a man called at the house in Springfield on some business, but Mrs. Lincoln met him with such a tirade of abuse that he went down town to Lincoln's office to demand an explanation. As Herndon tells it, Lincoln replied: "My friend, I regret to hear this, but let me ask you in all candor, can't you endure for a few moments what I have had as my daily portion for the past fifteen years?" I hope the incident is apocryphal, yet Mary Todd Lincoln was as peppery as she was brilliant, and it could have been so.

Lincoln's sorrows included the loss by death of his young son, Willie. He was often bowed down by the burden of much bitter opposition. He was maligned by his opponents in incredible fashion. Surely it is one of the measures of progress that we have improved the manners of public rivals. In the course of political disputation things were then said and done that would not be tolerated now. Worse than opposition, Lincoln had to contend with betrayal by his associates. When he sought reelection in 1864, Benjamin Wade of Ohio and Henry Winter Davis of Maryland combined to spread a manifesto through the press of the land hoping to accomplish his defeat.

He knew the agony of war, and in the loneliness of his soul and the acuteness of his feeling, the heaviness of responsibility was almost beyond his power to bear. As he considered the role assigned to him, well might he have said with Hamlet:

"The time is out of joint; O cursed spite,
That ever I was born to set it right."

Tragedy continued to mark him as its own, and in the hour of victory that might have been the moment of supreme joy he, the least deserving of such an end, was done to death by an assassin's bullet.

Abraham Lincoln taught us all how to endure hardship, and even overcome defeat. The first time he offered himself for political office, in 1832, as a member of the state legislature of Illinois, he was defeated. Of this he said later, with much pleasure, "It was the only time I was ever defeated by the people." He tried again, three successive times, and was successful on each occasion—from 1834 to 1840. He aspired to be an elector in 1844 to vote for Henry Clay for president, but failed in the attempt. He passed one term in Congress, from 1847 to 1849, and then retired, thinking his chances for a political future too unpromising.

A position in the government land office would have pleased him. But he did not get it. It appears that he might have had the governorship of Oregon Territory. This was flattering, but fortunately Mary Todd Lincoln did not wish to go so far off into the West. Some have toyed with the idea that Mrs. Lincoln discerned the genius in her husband and had faith in his destiny. It is an interesting question to ask—how many know who did go to Oregon to fill this office? Few Americans have any notion of the answer. The appointee is lost to their recollection. Would it have been the same with Lincoln? Would he have vanished into obscurity to be heard of no more?

However, he retired to Springfield to his law office, where he worked and thought, often plunged in gloomy introspection. The passing of the Kansas-Nebraska bill in 1854 roused him to public action again. The prelude to civil war was about to break in Kansas, and from that time forward Abraham Lincoln was a leading figure in the awful drama then unfolding. He debated the basic issues with Stephen A. Douglas as both sought a seat in the Senate in 1858. Lincoln was defeated—not by the people but by the state legislature—but he gained the presidency two years later.

For all his greatness, Abraham Lincoln remained, in high as well as in low station, a kind and compassionate man—qualities that might well adorn the characters of all of us more than perhaps they do in our tempestuous time. It has been said that Lincoln never spoke an understanding word about the South. How wrong that is! Here is a section of a speech he made in Peoria in 1854:

"Before proceeding let me say that I think I have no prejudice against the Southern people. They are just what we would be in their situation. If slavery did not now exist among them, they would not introduce it. If it did now exist among us, we should not instantly give it up. . . . When Southern people tell us they are no more responsible for the origin of slavery than we are, I acknowledge the fact. When it is said that the institution exists, and that it is very difficult to get rid of it in any satisfactory way, I can understand and appreciate the saying. I surely will not blame them for not doing what I should not know how to do myself. If all earthly power were given me, I should not know what to do as to the existing institution. . . . I think I would not hold one in slavery . . . , yet the point is not clear enough for me to denounce people upon."

In the course of his first inaugural address he did not breathe defiance, as Andrew Jackson did in 1832 when South Carolina threatened to nullify the law. Old Hickory clenched his teeth and said, "By the Eternal!" and then proceeded to say what he would do. No, Lincoln, though more desperately provoked, said to the South:

"We are not enemies, but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

It is said that during the Hampton Roads conference in February, 1865, where delegates of North and South had met to explore the possibilities of peace, and Alexander Stephens, vice president of the dying Confederacy, asked Lincoln what were the irreducible terms for settlement, the President took a sheet of paper, wrote one word at the top, and pushed it across the table saying, "Alex, write anything you like under that word." The word was "Union."

A strong case can be made that, at the close of the conflict, Abraham Lincoln was the best friend the prostrate South had. His plan of reconstruction held that the South had never left the Union no matter what its leaders had declared. This meant everything to the section below the Mason-Dixon line because, in that event, the chief executive would still apply the federal laws to the states that were in difficulty. The President's purpose was to get the "erring sisters" into their proper relation with the government with a minimum of trouble and delay. But there were antagonists of Lincoln who would not accept this view. They insisted that the South was in the position of conquered foreign provinces, or at least in the situation of American territories before they had been permitted to become states. Consequently, Congress must now declare the terms of readmission. As history records, it went hard with the South under congressional reconstruction.

Lincoln was kind and compassionate whether dealing with high problems of state or the affairs of the humblest citizen. He would rise in the night to issue orders to save the life of a court-martialed soldier sentenced to be shot. One of the most moving letters ever inscribed was the one he wrote to Mrs. Bixby who, he had been informed, had lost five sons in the course of the war. Some doubt has been cast on the correctness of the record, but not on the sentiment and nobility of that tender communication:

"Dear Madam: I have been shown in the files of the War Department a statement of the Adjutant-General of Massachusetts that you are the mother of five sons who have died gloriously on the field of battle. I feel how weak and fruitless must be any words of mine which should attempt to beguile you from the grief of a loss so overwhelming. But I cannot refrain from tendering to you the consolation that may be found in the thanks of the Republic they died to save. I pray that our heavenly Father may assuage the anguish of your bereavement, and leave you only the cherished memory of the loved and lost, and the solemn pride that must be yours to have laid so costly a sacrifice upon the altar of freedom."

On all occasions a sympathetic and generous man, Abraham Lincoln was also firm and inflexible. He would not swerve from his oath to sustain and preserve the Constitution and the Union. Once committed he never turned back. Late in the agony of the war he said:

"Fondly do we hope—fervently do we pray—that this mighty scourge of war may speedily pass away. Yet, if God wills that it continue until all the wealth piled by the bondsman's two hundred and fifty years of unrequited toil shall be sunk, and until every drop of blood drawn with the lash shall be paid by another drawn with the sword, as was said three thousand years ago, so still it must be said, 'The judgments of the Lord are true and righteous altogether.'"

He accepted without question the scriptural dictum: "No man having put his hand to the plow and looking back is fit for the kingdom of God."

In matters of public and personal policy, Abraham Lincoln was swayed by moral convictions. This is apparent from the whole pattern of his life whether in or out of office. He drew clear distinctions between right and wrong. That is how he resolved the question of slavery in his own mind. In the great debate with Douglas, the Little Giant stood upon the point that the Federal Constitution recognized the fact of slavery in the American Union. For Lincoln, lover of the Constitution though he was, that was not the last word. Slavery for him was a moral question and he found it morally wrong. Like Theodore Roosevelt after him, he refused to believe that in history right and wrong could be considered as being on the same level.

This magnificent man had intimations of destiny in human affairs and his own part in life. Convictions of this sort arise in the minds of sensitive men from the very weight and logic of events. Perhaps we may think so, too, as we remember that in the dawn of the nineteenth century, two families—Davis and Lincoln—lived in Kentucky. The former moved south to the slave soil of Mississippi; the other traveled north to the free soil of Indiana. Each family had a young son; one boy was named Jefferson, the other, Abraham!

Abraham Lincoln was a religious man and bowed before the will of God. His name may not have been found on a church roll, but what was more important, he was found in the churches, and upon his knees in his study, wrestling like Jacob of old to know the mind of the Creator. "The Almighty has His own purposes," he said in his second inaugural address. "Woe unto the world because of offenses! For it must needs be that offenses come; but woe to that man by whom the offense cometh." In the last public speech he made in Washington, on April 11, 1865, when announcing the evacuation of Richmond and Petersburg, and the surrender of the greater part of the Confederate army, he asked of the people that in the midst of all their joy, "He from whom all blessings flow must not be forgotten." A call for a national thanksgiving, he told them, was being prepared. After the Battle of Gettysburg, which many believe to have been the turning point of the war, Lincoln was visiting General Daniel E. Sickles, who had been wounded in that struggle. Explaining his state of mind when so much hung in the balance he is reported to have said:

"I went to my room one day and locked the door and got down on my knees before Almighty God, and prayed for victory at Gettysburg. I told him that this was His war, and our cause His cause, but that we could not stand another Fredericksburg or Chancellorsville. Then I made a vow to Almighty God that if He would stand by our boys at Gettysburg, I would stand by Him, and He did stand by you boys and I will stand by Him. And after that, I don't know how it was and I can't explain it, but soon a sweet comfort swept into my soul that God Almighty had taken the whole business into His own hands, and that is why I have no fears about you."

Abraham Lincoln still stands before us, a humble, gentle, compassionate, gracious man. Yet, he is a towering figure in the history of this land and of all mankind. We may not find in his record specific answers to our precise and immediate problems rising out of a world in convulsion and we at the center of it. But we should find for the obvious present and the undisclosed future strength of purpose, iron resolution, humility, kindness, and inspiration for the trials and difficulties of our day, great devotion to our high endeavors and obligations, even to the last full measure of devotion.

Has he not summed all this up himself in that one glorious and memorable sentence at the close of his second inaugural address:

"With malice toward none; with charity for all; with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds [not the wounds of the North only, but of the South also; the whole nation's wounds. Today, would he not say the wounds of the world?]; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow, and his orphan—to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves, and with all nations."

Thank you, Ladies and Gentlemen.

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Nicholas presiding.

President Nicholas announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Berry of Calhoun moved that a committee of six be appointed to notify Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Governor William S. Beardsley that the joint convention was ready to receive them.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed Senators Byers of Linn, Hart of Lee and Fletcher of Wayne on the part of the Senate and Representatives Berry of Calhoun, McFarlane of Black Hawk and Nelson of Jasper on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Senator Taft and Governor Beardsley and escorted them to the Speaker's station.

President Nicholas then presented Governor Beardsley, who made the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, FELLOW IOWANS:

Indeed this is a happy occasion here in our great state today. Fortunately, we have in our midst one of the distinguished senators of the United States Senate. A decade and a half or so ago he, like you, was serving in the Assembly of his native Ohio. Since that time he has moved to the national scene and is one of the outstanding statesmen of our day. We are privileged, indeed, to have this distinguished gentleman here today. We are grateful, and I am happy, as Governor of this great state, to present to you the distinguished senior United States Senator from Ohio, the Honorable Robert A. Taft.

YOUR EXCELLENCY AND MEMBERS OF THE IOWA LEGISLATURE:

It's a great pleasure for me to find that on this Lincoln Day trip I have this opportunity of meeting with you here, when every year, you know, we Republican senators go out and try to arouse the interest of the people in the true principles of Abraham Lincoln and, of course, of the Republican party. We persuaded the Democrats to give us a vacation during the period that that goes on, and so today I am only one of many traveling Republican senators who are trying to spread the gospel throughout the nation.

I'm talking here tonight, of course, but it's a great pleasure to find that I have also this opportunity to meet with you. I always like the legislatures—I was in the legislature myself. The Governor was kind enough to say a decade and a half or so ago today. As a matter of fact, I started 30 years ago in the Ohio House of Representatives, and I served there for six years. I was floor leader my last term, and when the Speaker resigned I was Speaker for a short period. I was out for four years, and then I went back to the State Senate for one term. The people did not return me for the second term. It was 1932, and the omens were not too favorable. I was concerned in my session there almost entirely with taxation. I really went to the legislature to try and rescue the cities from the state of bankruptcy to which they had been reduced by the peculiar division of taxes which we had then. I spent six years then in the Senate. We repealed the uniform rule amendment, and we rewrote the awkward tax laws of Ohio into a form of intangible tax which has remained the law of Ohio since that time. Every once in a while I have to go back to my interest in state taxation and struggle against the problems both in Ohio and also on the finance committee in the Senate of the United States.

I have a very strong feeling that the state governments have not been recognized, as they should have been, as a vital factor in the proper development of our constitutional system. States' rights is looked upon as a kind of old-fashioned and outworn doctrine. It ought to be no such thing. As a matter of fact, states' rights, by that I mean the theory of the independence of the states, is the only thing in the world that protects our cities and our schools and our counties from a complete domination by the Congress of the United States. Since I've been down there I can see the pressure upon Congress to exercise every power they have, and if it weren't for the fact that we do recognize we do have the federal system, we do recognize the independence of the states, we would have been legislating for every school district. The states themselves are important, but even more than that is the maintenance of local self-government, and the more I stay in Washington the more I realize that if we are going to remain a free people we have to maintain at every point that right of local self-government.

It is impossible for a national government in a country as large as the United States to really represent the people or be responsive to the public will. The federal bureaus are so far away from the people and it is so difficult to bring any pressure through the election of a president once in four years that as a practical matter there is no control. And a government that attempts to deal with those matters which come into contact with the daily lives of forty million American families is bound, it seems to me, to be tyrannical to a large part of those families, if it undertakes to regulate their local affairs. I don't care whether the man who is the head of it is the wisest man in the world; they simply cannot know enough about what the people want to make a uniform rule that suits more than a very small proportion of the people. If it fits New York, it doesn't fit Ohio. If it fits the cities, it doesn't fit the country. If it fits the Middle West, it doesn't fit the Far West, and the result is that any kind of control there in that field of activity which is not interstate, so to speak, but which comes in contact with the lives of private citizens is bound to be tyrannical and to destroy the freedom upon which the country is based. Add to that the fact that these little bureaus there are subject to pressure from all kinds of ideologies, foreign as well as domestic, that people become set in their ways and believe that they know more than the people know themselves; then you get something very much more dangerous and very much more capable of limiting the freedom upon which the progress of this country, I believe, is based.

It isn't so much, sometimes I don't think it's entirely, a socialist problem or governmental control. Take education—in education it's mostly government. We have a large number of private colleges, but we have freedom in education, we have a conflict of ideas, we have the competition that develops new thoughts because we have five thousand different school districts in 48 different states, we have a complete dispersion of power that prevents the concentration of power in that most important field in a centralized government. So I know if we're going to keep freedom, we've got to keep that power of local self-government divided, and, of course, we have a further interest in having efficient state legislatures, efficient state governments, because if you will do your job, the states will do their job, it takes off the federal government the pressure to interfere in things where we don't belong.

The federal government is brought into different fields on the theory that the local people in the states haven't done what they should do, and sometimes they haven't done what they should do, and it is hard to resist the pressure in Washington to do something about a problem that hasn't been met satisfactorily by the different state governments and state legislatures, so that the success of our system—the maintenance of a really independent system, the maintenance of a system where we don't have constantly increasing federal regulation and federal control and federal spending—depends upon the self-reliance and efficiency and force of the state governments.

I think you're fortunate in Iowa in that you have such a government. You're fortunate also in that you have a harmonious relationship between the Governor and the legislature. I've served now, as you see, for 18 years in legislatures. For only two of those 18 years have I ever served with a Republican chief executive. You are more fortunate in Iowa, and, whichever party controls, you have apparently a harmonious arrangement, which will enable you, no doubt, to work out more successfully the problems that you have. I greatly appreciate this opportunity of talking to you. I hope I have the opportunity of meeting many members of the legislature.

Thank you.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Butler of Pocahontas moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The House reconvened, Speaker Lynes in the chair.

79 of deeds, at his last known post office address. A copy of the 80 order shall at the same time be mailed to any other issuing 81 authority, of which the authority issuing the order to show cause
82 has knowledge, by which other licensee (licenses) to that 83 licensee may have been issued, and any such other authority may 84 participate in the revocation proceedings after notifying the 85 licensee (licensee) and the officer or authority holding the 86 hearing of its intention so to do on or before the date of 87 hearing, and after the hearing take such action as it could have 88 taken had it instituted the revocation proceedings in the first 89 instance.

90 "Sec. 6. If, upon the hearing of the order to show cause,
91 it appears that the licensee intentionally possessed or willfully 92 kept upon his licensed premises any gambling device, then the 110 "Sec. 9. When a license is revoked under the provisions

111 of this act, the owner of the premises upon which any licensed
112 business has been operated shall not be penalized by reason thereof
113 unless it is established that he had knowledge of the existence
114 of the gambling devices resulting in license revocation.

119 upon the issuing authority or the clerk thereof. The notice of 120 appeal shall state that the person appealing takes an appeal
121 to that district court from the order revoking the license or 122 licenses, describing them and identifying the order appealed 123 from. This notice shall be served within fifteen (15) days 124 from the date of service of the order appealed from, and the 125 same, with proof of service thereof, shall be filed with the 126 clerk of the district court of the proper county. The appeal
127 shall stand for trial at the next term of the district court
128 following the filing of the notice of appeal, without the service
129 of any notice of trial, and shall be tried in the district court
130 de novo. The trial shall be by jury if the appellant shall so
131 demand. The licensee may continue to operate the licensed 132 business or businesses until the final disposition of such 133 appeal. If the district court upon the appeal shall determine 134 that any license involved in the appeal should be revoked, it 135 may, nevertheless, in its discretion permit the continuance of 136 the licensed business under a bond in the amount and in the 137 form and containing the conditions prescribed by the court.
138 The district court on the appeal, or in a separate proceeding,
139 may permit the issuance of a new license to a different licensee 140 before the expiration of the period of one year specified in 141 subsection 1 of section 6, upon such terms and conditions
142 imposed by the court as will insure that no gambling device
143 shall thereafter be maintained upon the licensed premises."

REPORT OF THE INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE ON THE HOUSE LIGHTING SYSTEM

Wednesday, February 14, 1951

MR. SPEAKER: The committee appointed for the purpose of investigating the lighting system in the House of Representatives, as performed by the house improvement committee, makes the following report:

We find that in prior sessions it has been difficult to secure the necessary improvements for the most efficient operation of the Assembly. A number of times there have been committees appointed to make these improvements but the committees have been left without authority and without funds. Consequently, nothing has been accomplished until the present house improvement committee was empowered by House File 611, chapter 22, sections four (4) and five (5) of the Laws of the Fifty-third General Assembly.

Your committee finds that under House File 611, lines nine (9) to thirteen (13), inclusive, of the Fifty-third General Assembly, it was necessary for the house improvement committee to have the express approval of the joint legislative committee on retrenchment and reform before they could expend any money for equipment and improvements.

Your committee finds that no prices were ever submitted to the house improvement committee or to the committee on retrenchment and reform for equipment supplied by Collins & Co., for use in lighting the house chamber.

No price ever having been approved, your committee therefore is of the opinion that the State of Iowa should pay to Collins & Co. the reasonable market value of all equipment furnished by Collins & Co. for the house chamber lighting system, as could have been purchased on the open market as of the dates of the respective orders for such equipment.

This committee has investigated the reasonable market price of the equipment used in the house chamber, and finds that the equipment could have been purchased through regular trade channels for the following prices, or less:

	Price Recommended by Committee	Price Asked by Collins & Co.
50 (Century Lighting, Inc., of New York, New York, Catalog No. 970), 6"-750/ 1,000 watt downlites, straight down	@ $65.58	@ $94.05
projection, top access plaster cones	$3,279.00	$4,702.50

8 (Century Lighting, Inc., of New York, New York, Catalog No. 396), louvered accentilites and plaster rings.....	240.45	345.20
1 Distribution panel, surface. 400 amp. main lugs only 3 wire, S/N with 8 - 100 amp. - 2 pole safuswitch branches; 8 - 70 amp. - 2 pole electrically held con- tactors; 8 60108 panels.....	1,582.88	1,734.87

(Note: The above prices recommended by this committee to be paid are based on costs to Collins & Co. plus approximately 15 per cent, which this committee finds to be the fair and reasonable market value for the reason that this equipment was shipped direct from the manufacturer to the State of Iowa.)

Your committee therefore recommends that the State of Iowa shall not pay to Collins & Co. more than the fair and reasonable market value, as recommended by your committee.

Your committee finds that the Fifty-third General Assembly, under House File 611, directed members of its own assembly to perform an executive task. This committee recommends that, in the future, the legislature should not impose upon its own members the duties of performing executive tasks, but it should delegate those duties to the executive department where they rightfully belong.

When we consider that this committee was composed of five members living in O'Brien, Pottawattamie, Mitchell, Linn and Wayne Counties, and realizing the distance these members had to travel for a committee meeting, we feel that they have rendered a creditable service to the State of Iowa.

H. A. MOORE, Chairman.

The House met pursuant to adjournment, Speaker Lynes in the chair.

Prayer was offered by the Speaker.

Ringgenberg of Story asked and obtained unanimous consent that the prayer offered by the Speaker be printed in the Journal.

Our dear Heavenly Father, we humbly come before Thee, thanking Thee for the multitude of blessings we enjoy, humbly acknowledging our weaknesses, and calling on Thee for wisdom and strength. We are thankful for the opportunities given us for public service. Help us to be ever faithful to our responsibilities of public trust and willing to accept personal sacrifice for the common good. Cleanse us, our Heavenly Father, of vainglory and selfishness, so that when our life work is over we may hear from Thee: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant. Thou hast been faithful over a few things. I will make thee ruler over many things. Enter thou into the joy of thy Lord." In Jesus' name and for His sake, we ask it. Amen.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Hart presiding.

President Hart announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Oltman of Buena Vista moved that a committee of six be appointed to notify Erle Cocke, Jr., national commander of the American Legion, Governor William S. Beardsley and Robert H. Bush, American Legion Department Commander of Iowa, that the joint convention was ready to receive them.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed Senators Oltman of Buena Vista, Hattery of Story and Bateson of Hardin, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Lucken of Plymouth, Burrows of Benton and Ramseyer of Washington, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Mr. Cocke, Governor Beardsley and Mr. Bush and escorted them to the Speaker's station.

President Hart then presented Lieutenant Governor William H. Nicholas, who made the following remarks:

NATIONAL COMMANDER COCKE, GOVERNOR BEARDSLEY, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONVENTION:

Before I introduce our honored speaker, there are several notable guests here today, and, as I call their names, will they please stand, and will you hold your applause until they have all been introduced.

Don Wilson, national chairman of the foreign relations committee; Chet Trumbull, department commander of South Dakota; Sid Smith, department commander, Idaho; Bill Elkins, department commander, Texas; Robert Bush, department commander, Iowa; Paul A. Turnquist, national executive committeeman from Iowa.

At this time it gives me great pleasure to present to you Erle Cocke, Jr., from Dawson, Georgia, national commander of the American Legion. Commander Cocke has a brilliant war record, was a prisoner of war, wounded on several occasions, spent months in Army hospitals, and is now one of the most vigorous commanders of the American Legion that the American Legion has ever had. National Commander Erle Cocke, Jr., of Dawson, Georgia.

Commander Cocke addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, YOUR EXCELLENCY THE GOVERNOR, THE SPEAKER, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THIS DISTINGUISHED ASSEMBLAGE:

I assure you it's a genuine pleasure to be here. On such occasions as this it is in most remembrance to be in a building that looks so much like the state capitol where the legislature meets in Georgia, and I am sure that sometimes it probably acts that way, too, with the exception that we only have one Republican in the House of Representatives in our great state. And we have the misfortune, or fortune, of ever having had two governors at the same time. But I assure you it is a genuine pleasure to come before such a distinguished group wherein, on behalf of the American Legion, I have had the opportunity of speaking before some eighteen state legislatures similar to yours and on the problems of the day. I recognize it's not an honor that you bestow upon me as an individual, but upon the organization of the American Legion. Not only for all that it stands for on the national level, but that here in Iowa you have done a great job, and I certainly come to say that your department is one of the most outstanding in American Legion activities, and one that we recognize as being one of the leaders in the forefront of the American Legion's national position. Then, too, the Department of Iowa has asked me to come before you and thank you for the splendid cooperation that you have rendered in their behalf in the past legislation that they have recommended; so I assure you it is a pleasure to come and be a part of such an assemblage.

The national commander of the American Legion has many chores to perform, particularly when you recognize that this is the forty-second state that I have been in in fifteen weeks. It means that you have an opportunity to see America at the grass roots, to see America where most Americans really come from, and not those that ultimately end up in Washington. We believe that the American Legion reflects what the American people are really like as no other organization on the national scene today. It reflects the position of the crossroads of America, as well as the courthouses and the main streets. That reflection, when interpreted, means a prepared and more determined people than we've ever had before—one that is destined to rise to such an occasion as will present itself to us in a seven to ten year type of conflict, the type of conflict that as a nation it's important for all of us to see that we are prepared, and we are probably in better shape today than most people realize, because the year 1951 is not like the year 1942. It would be better compared to the year 1944, or certainly the latter weeks of 1943, if we mean our progress in industrial production. It's important to be sure that we do afford ourselves a genuine opportunity to be prepared and to foster and perpetuate as soon as possible the type of Americanism that will make this nation gigantic in its influence to carry on the leadership for which we have asked ourselves in international problems. That leadership today demands the cooperation of every citizen of this nation and, as we go about the means of gearing ourselves to war, we find a new thought and new action throughout this nation of ours, one that says it's high time that we all quit talking about whom are we going to fight and recognize the fact that we have been fighting a Soviet influence and a Soviet-dominated world for now some eight months. It's important, to be sure, that we recognize that if we are to operate in Europe as we have operated in the Pacific we might again tie the hands of another commander as to who sends troops and where they should be sent, that certainly the question should be decided prior to the time that General Eisenhower sets up his headquarters in Paris, because if you don't, you will be tying the hands of General Eisenhower on the matter of whether he will have the quantity of troops to maintain the position of the United States in Europe, or you'll be putting him in the same basket in which you have already put General MacArthur. In a matter of six hours the first case of international banditry, that of North Korea, was handled in quick and decisive action, so fast that Malik couldn't even get a message back to Moscow and find out whether he should go to the meeting and veto or not. That's how fast it was. Then we went through a process of three and a half months of fighting both with the Red Chinese in Korea and with the Red Chinese sympathizers at the U. N. And finally we had a group that went along with us in a watered-down resolution. It's rather funny that, as we have reviewed the situation today and can easily understand the calculated risk such as they talked about when Chiang Kai-shek first offered to place 300,000 troops from a base of some 600,000 at our disposal, we declined because Red China might be offended by the action. Well, we've been fighting Red China four and a half months. We have even had Red China declared an aggressor for some six or seven constant periods of operation. It is a matter of some six weeks now that we have had backing and support in a general way and in a crystal form for three weeks, and yet there has been no blockade of Chinese ports, and there has been no bombing of China. Yet, now the American people feel a little closer to what's going on, a little more feeling in their appreciation for the fact that it's important to work together and to draw together all elements in the nation that will work together for the defense of this nation, and, as we go about the mission in the Legion at this time, we believe that the American public wants to know what is going on. They want also the facts as we recognize them and to know the type of people that we are fighting; we might as well recognize what we're fighting just as Stalin puts out the information himself. His propaganda statement of several days ago is the same type of propaganda shield that we have found on many occasions, wherein they make one statement today to offset something that's probably going on somewhere else. It's important that we as a nation take a minute or two to reflect on what has happened. Stalin makes a statement that they're not fighting—any Reds—except individual volunteers. Well, let's assume that all of those people that are fighting there in Korea volunteered their services. Well, why shouldn't we take upon ourselves the chance to fight the Communistic infiltration on an individual level and be sure that every individual is so put together that he will fight as an individual for purposes of eliminating many from the chance of making war on this nation? I can talk to you a few minutes about civil defense. I can talk to you about the importance of being sure that you as a nation today have a civil defense program powerful enough not to be outmoded by the time it will be used, one that must be constantly kept up to date for a period of ten, fifteen or twenty years, and certainly that's important. I'm sure that before your splendid legislature you'll consider the possibility of bomb shelters. Bomb shelters may be effective and helpful, but did you ever think that it would probably be a better idea that if we're going to assume the position of looking after people and fighting individual Communists it would be a good idea to build a few jails and put all these individuals in the same spot?

It's impossible today to speak on every issue, and know all of the answers. We of the Legion do not. We feel that the position we have taken in the defense of this nation and for the urging of preparedness rests with the representatives in our legislatures and at every echelon of government wherein you have a responsibility to assume for defense purposes for your state and for your communities; therefore, it behooves all of us to assume the responsibilities today of knowing what's going on, to be informed and, as we're informed, to discount in advance the problems that we will face, problems that will last us for probably the extent of your generation, and certainly bring in more problems that you as a group will have to face in the future, but you certainly are making a step forward when you solve them well in advance. So I come before you as a member of the American Legion, speaking out for the patriotic Americans who feel that Communism should be attacked, and that, as it is attacked, it's attacked as far forward as possible. We've lost ground in the last five years of a cold war, two and a half years of which we operated without even recognizing that it was a cold war. And now, as we reflect, those of us who were in the second world war, who thought we did a pretty good job in the conflict between 1941 and 1945, we now realize that we didn't do such a good job, if you look at a balance sheet on what's happened since, and the land that has been captured by the Kremlin-directed warmongers of that nation and then realize that they have taken more ground and captured more people than were liberated from the Axis; it makes the '41-'45 war a little less effective, except to those that have paid the supreme sacrifice. We cannot underestimate the gallantry of those who have gallantly defended this nation in the past. It's going to take more gallant people; the youth of your state will serve and train during the next two to five years, and they will do it in the same spirit of interest of protecting America as they have in every generation before and as the generations will pass on, because the heel of oppression will never rest in this nation as long as the American Legion can fold and mold the democratic voice of the American people as they see it. I say to you, rather sincerely, that today is a most important day in the lives of all of us. We must recognize that we must begin to let the individual Communist report what we have, report the fact that if Russia starts a shooting war against us she is signing her own death warrant, and that as she recognizes that we have just lit up the skies in Nevada, wherein we have just changed the complexion of time and space, that as we add more implements of war, we are adding more implements for the destruction of Russia. I hope that all of their fine, infiltrated rats that have come into our midst will report back that America is ready, and that they will never lead the field in industrial power. They probably have us now at a two to one lead in terms of production of war materials. We'll probably come to a one-to-one basis in production with Russia before next September, and therefore, it behooves all of us to be sure that we lose no more manpower and that we lose no more time and that each of those precious items is stockpiled, salvaging this nation in an international situation. And so, on behalf of the American Legion, as we come before such a distinguished group, recognizing that we could have stressed many more problems of importance, those problems of importance which lay in the balance of the justice wherein this nation has made itself free and independent in the past, and it's important to you to see your responsibility and your charge. Such charge shall never be pushed another step forward, because it must be a man's position to take a stand against individual Communists if that is the way they want to fight them. We must also guard against the tyranny that may come from any direction, and that as you build that system you're also building the type of principles and using the recommendations of men that have seen the experiences of war. We get credit for being rather high on Joe Stalin's warmonger list, but we are there for one purpose, and we don't care much about the positive Americanism that we manufacture; we are manufacturing the thought of salvation, the type that the spiritual interest of this nation will also uphold when our backs are to the wall. I said to you that we have backed up far enough. It's of a major importance to this nation today to be sure that everything is made a bulwark of firm and solid cement—to be sure that we yield no more, that we give no more inches, because if we lose any more inches, we can expect to lose several miles. We've lost all the miles that we can. Today it's imperative to be sure as a nation that we stand up and are counted and to be sure that those nations that are with us will not be reluctant as they rearm themselves, but that they be enthusiastic as they rearm themselves. They should be as enthusiastic for their own salvation as we are for ours. Until we have such enthusiasm, then the mission of the American people today has not been transplanted throughout the people that think as we do throughout this world, and I say to you, rather sincerely again, that it's important that the people of this country recognize that as you build a system of civil defense you're building your own protection. That protection will ultimately mean the first step toward the survival of this community and this nation, and I assure you that, as long as the American Legion is here, the battle of survival will not go by default. Thank you very much.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 16

A concurrent resolution making application to the Congress of the United States for the calling of a convention to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas, Article V of the Constitution of the United States reads in part as follows: "The Congress * * * on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states * * *"; and

Whereas, the legislature of the State of Iowa, in view of the increasing tax problems of the state, caused in large part by the invasion of tax sources by the federal government, believes that its problems as well as the problems of other states similarly situated, can be solved only by some restraint upon present unrestrained exercise of the taxing power by the federal government; and

Whereas, the federal government is using and has been using for a number of years the taxing power to produce revenue beyond a legitimate necessity of a federal government, other than defense needs, and has been using the funds so raised to invade the province of legislation of the states and to appropriate in many fields that which amounts to a dole to the states of the money raised therefrom to accomplish many purposes, most of them worthy, but by the described process making the money available only under conditions which result in a control by the federal government from centralized agencies in Washington, in many cases unfit, and in other cases unable to administer the laws according to the local needs because of varying conditions in the country as a whole; resulting in inequities in the administration of the very benefits purported to be granted; and

Whereas, state and local needs are disadvantaged because the people are already taxed far beyond the real need for any purpose other than forcing the centralization of all government in Washington; and

Whereas, the framers of the Constitution of the United States clearly foresaw the possibility of a condition similar to that herein described, and made provision in the Constitution for safeguarding the states against any oppression or invasion of rights by the federal government;

Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the Legislature of the State of Iowa, that said legislature, hereby and pursuant to Article V of the Constitution of the United States, makes application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for the proposing of the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

ARTICLE

Section 1. The power to levy taxes and appropriate the revenues therefrom heretofore granted to the Congress by the states in the several articles of this constitution is hereby limited.

Sec. 2. This article shall be in effect except during a state of war, hereafter declared, when it shall be suspended. The suspension thereof shall end upon the termination of the war but not later than three months after the cessation of hostilities may be declared by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the Congress, or by concurrent action of the legislatures of 32 states.

Sec. 3. Notwithstanding the provisions of Article V, this article may be suspended for a time certain or amended at any time by concurrent action of the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Sec. 4. There shall be set aside in the treasury of the United States a separate fund into which shall be paid 25 per cent of all taxes collected by authority derived from the sixteenth amendment to this constitution, except as provided in section 5, and 25 per cent of all sums collected by the United States from any other tax levied for revenue.

Sec. 5. There shall be set aside in the treasury of the United States a separate fund into which shall be paid all sums received from taxes levied on personal incomes in excess of 50 per cent thereof and from taxes levied on income or profits of corporations in excess of 38 per cent thereof.

Sec. 6. Before paying any sums into the funds created by sections 4 and 5 hereof, the treasurer of the United States shall deduct therefrom 20 per cent which shall be used in payment of the principal of the national debt of the United States.

Sec. 7. No tax shall hereafter be imposed on that portion of the incomes of individuals which does not exceed, in the case of unmarried persons the sum of $600 per annum, and in the case of married persons the sum of $1,200 per annum jointly. A minimum deduction of $600 per annum shall be allowed for each dependent.

Sec. 8. The treasurer of the United States shall once in each year, from the separate fund created by section 4 hereof, pay to each of the several states one-fourth of one per cent of said fund and from the remainder of said fund shall pay to each state a portion of such remainder determined by the population of each state in ratio to the entire population of the several states according to the last federal decennial census or any subsequent general census authorized by law.

Sec. 9. The treasurer of the United States shall, from the separate fund created by section 5 hereof, pay to each state, once in each year, a sum equal to the amount of money in such fund which was collected from persons or corporations within such state.

Sec. 10. Any sums paid hereunder to the several states shall be available for appropriation only by the legislatures thereof. The legislatures may appropriate therefrom for any purpose not forbidden by the constitutions of the respective states and may appropriate therefrom for expenditures within the states for any purpose for which appropriations have heretofore been made by the Congress except such purposes as are specifically reserved by this constitution for the exclusive power of Congress. The people of each state may limit the expenditures of funds herein made available to the legislature, but shall not direct the appropriations thereof.

Sec. 11. Each legislature shall have power by rule or resolution to provide for the assembly thereof in special sessions for the purpose of considering amendments to, the suspension of or the ratification of amendments proposed to this article.

Sec. 12. Each legislature shall have power to elect one or more persons to represent such legislature in any council or convention of states created by concurrent action of the legislatures of 32 states for the purpose of obtaining uniform action by the legislatures of the several states in any matters connected with the amendment of this article.

Sec. 13. The Congress shall not create, admit or form new states from the territory of the several states as constituted on the first day of January, 1949, and shall not create, form or admit more than three states from the territories and insular possessions under the jurisdiction of the United States on the first day of January, 1949, or from territory thereafter acquired without the express consent of the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states.

Sec. 14. On and after January 1, 1949, the dollar shall be the unit of the currency. The gold content of the dollar as fixed on January 1, 1949, shall not be decreased.

Sec. 15. Concurrent action of the legislatures of the several states as used herein shall mean the adoption of the same resolution by the required number of legislatures. A limit of time may be fixed by such resolution within which such concurrent action shall be taken. No legislature shall revoke the affirmative action of a preceding legislature taken therein.

Sec. 16. During any period when this article is in effect the Congress may, by concurrent resolution adopted by two-thirds of both houses wherein declaration is made that additional funds are necessary for the defense of the nation, limit the amount of money required by this article to be returned to the several states. Such limitation shall continue until terminated by the Congress or by concurrent action of a majority of the legislatures of the several states. Upon termination of any such limitation the Congress may not thereafter impose a limitation without the express consent by concurrent action of a majority of the legislatures of the several states.

Sec. 17. This article is declared to be self-executing; and be it further Resolved, that attested copies of this concurrent resolution be sent to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress and to each member of the Iowa delegation in Congress, and that printed copies thereof, showing that said concurrent resolution was adopted by the legislature of Iowa, be sent to each house of each legislature of each state of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, that this application hereby made by the legislature of the State of Iowa shall constitute a continuing application in accordance with Article V, of the Constitution of the United States, until at least two-thirds of the legislatures of the several states shall have made similar applications pursuant to said Article V; and be it further

Resolved, that since this is an exercise by a state of the United States of a power granted to it under the Constitution the request is hereby made that the official journals and record of both houses of Congress shall include the resolution or a notice of its receipt by the Congress, together with similar applications from other states, so that the Congress and the various states shall be apprised of the time when the necessary number of states shall have so exercised their power under Article V of the Constitution; and be it further

Resolved, that since this method of proposing amendments to the Constitution has never been completed to the point of calling a convention and no interpretation of the power of the states in the exercise of this right has ever been made by any court or any qualified tribunal, if there be such, and since the exercise of the power is a matter of basic sovereign rights and the interpretation thereof is primarily in the sovereign government making such exercise and since the power to use such right in full also carries the power to use such right in part the legislature of the State of Iowa interprets Article V to mean that if two-thirds of the states make application for a convention to propose an identical amendment to the Constitution for ratification with a limitation that such amendment be the only matter before it, that such convention would have power only to propose the specified amendment and would be limited to such proposal and would not have power to vary the text thereof nor would it have power to propose other amendments on the same or different propositions; and be it further

Resolved, that the legislature of the State of Iowa does not, by this exercise of its power under Article V, authorize the Congress to call a convention for any purpose other than the proposing of the specific amendment which is a part thereof; nor does it authorize any representative of the State of Iowa who may participate in such convention to consider or to agree to the proposing of any amendment other than the one made a part hereof; and be it further

Resolved, that by its actions in these premises, the legislature of the State of Iowa does not in any way limit in any other proceeding its right to exercise its power to the full extent; and be it further

Resolved, that the Congress, in exercising its power of decision as to the method of ratification of the proposed article by the legislatures or by conventions, is hereby requested to require that the ratification be by the legislatures.

Laid over under Rule 34.

OBSERVANCE OF WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY

Brownlie of Madison rose under the question of personal privilege and made the following remarks:

Today is the anniversary of the birthday of the Father of Our Country, and I would like to ask unanimous consent of the House that a short time be set aside for the observance of this day.

Brownlie of Madison yielded the floor to Schwengel of Scott, who addressed the House as follows:

At the suggestion of the Speaker and several members of the House who desire to recognize this day as a memorable day in the life of our nation, commemorating the life that has been given us in the person whom we are pleased to call the Father of Our Country, I have prepared a few remarks which I hope will be appropriate at this time.

Today, when we pause and reflect on the conditions of the world, when everything seems so dark and discouraging and so much seems to depend on the decisions of diplomats and governments, and when the people are tired of war and rumors of war, and when we yearn for peace and there seems to be no peace, it is well for us to pause for a moment in the haze of misunderstanding to seek out the guide posts and try to set ourselves straight by the admonitions of great people.

As we contemplate and study the life of George Washington, we think of him first as a great and honorable citizen, as a farmer and surveyor, as a soldier and in that capacity as the greatest commander-in-chief of the armies in the history of our nation, as a builder of a nation, never a man of many words but a man of deep thought, and of his final and logical contribution as the first chief executive of our great nation.

When we call these things to your attention a panorama of historical scenes passes before our eyes, pictures of many dramatic things come to mind, such as Washington crossing the Delaware, Washington leading his armies, Washington with his generals, Washington at his beloved Mount Vernon, Washington at the Constitutional Convention, and, finally, Washington, the seat of our government, where has been erected a great obelisk built to his memory, pointing upward the destiny of this nation.

One of the, if not the, greatest contributions that he made to our system was his absolute denial and refusal to be considered to the least degree or in any sense as a monarch. He admonished those who had that in mind to forget it and build a nation on a philosophy and upon an idea. So it might be well at this time to call attention to some of the things he stood for.

Of war he had this to say: "As the complexion of European politics seems now—my first wish is to see this plague to mankind banished from off the earth, and the sons and daughters of this world employed in more pleasing and innocent amusements than in preparing implements and exercising them for the destruction of mankind. That problem was important then, and is still an important one that challenges the peoples of the world."

On liberty he had this to say: "Liberty when it begins to take root is a planned and rapid growth. We might pause and ask ourselves how well have we cultivated the seed of liberty."

On justice he said: "The due administration of justice is the firmest pillar of good government. This is seemingly elementary but important to call to our attention periodically."

In his Farewell Address he admonished that the "free constitution which is the work of your hands may be sacredly maintained—that its administration in every department may be stamped with wisdom and virtue, and that the happiness of the people of these states under the auspices of liberty may be made complete."

On the idea of government he had this to say: "The very idea of the power and right of the people to establish government presupposes the duty of every individual to obey the established government." He meant that toward the preservation of that government and the preservation of a happy state it is necessary that you resist with care the spirit of innovations upon its principles, however precious the pretext may be.

As we read his life story, we cannot help but be imbued with the fact that the right of the individual was paramount in his mind, and that if we, as a people, understood and conducted ourselves as true citizens under the laws of God, we would create an atmosphere that would lead to political prosperity.

George Washington knew the real problems of this nation. He held in check the spirit of Jefferson who wanted to go to the extreme of free government which might have set the atmosphere for a French Revolution here in America. On the other hand, he saw the extreme philosophy of Alexander Hamilton as a detriment to the growth and establishment of liberty. He was the captain of the Ship of Liberty, and he steered it well. Today, in the legislative halls and among the roll of nations, because we had noble souls and great leaders like Washington, we in America stand out in bold relief as the hope of the free peoples of the world, for it is here that we recognize that, if there is to be understanding and wars are finally to cease, we must admit that the American Proposition isn't just for America. It is a universal one for all mankind.

John Adams, that eminent patriot and personal friend of Washington, said: "America has a mission to present the Proposition to the rest of the world." Ralph Waldo Emerson, a personal admirer of Washington, and after discussion on the subject, summarized by saying: "The office of America is to liberate."

The Father of Our Country knew and understood that if a way of life was to continue it must have a strong moral girding. Again may I refer to his Farewell Address when he had this to say on that subject: "Of all the disposition and habits which lead to political prosperity, religion and morality are indispensable supports. In vain would the man claim the tribute of patriotism who should labor to subvert these great pillars of human happiness, these firm props of the duties of men and citizens."

He knew and understood the importance of enlightened citizenry, the undergirding influence of education. On one occasion he made this observation: "Virtue or morality is a necessary spring of government, the rule indeed extends with more or less force to every species of government—promote then, as an object of primary importance, institutions for the general diffusion of knowledge. In proportion as the structure of government gives force to public opinion it is essential that public opinion should be enlightened."

There is much more that could be said and probably more effectively than I have said it, and there are virtually hundreds of admonitions of Washington's that could be referred to. But time does not permit, so in closing may I just summarize briefly and call attention to the fact that here was a man who was captain of the Ship of State, who was firmly grounded in the principles of morality and a doctrine of faith. He has inspired us to become the great nation that we are. May we always in our deliberations, in looking forward to doing a more effective job for the people, remember the guide posts and the admonitions, the sacrifices and the lessons given us by great men in the past who have laid the foundation on which we can continue to build here on this continent, and by example and influence have a part in rebuilding and re-establishing understanding among the people of the world so that we may hasten the day when spears shall be beaten into pruning hooks and swords into plowshares.

We can best remember George Washington by remembering the things he stood for and the inspiration he has given us to be the great nation that we are.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 7

Whereas, the House improvement committee of the Fifty-third General Assembly, now discharged, was definitely assured by the custodian of the state house that the air conditioning equipment for the House chamber needed no repairs and was efficient and adequate to do an excellent job, and

Whereas, the members of the House of Representatives, the clerks and all other personnel employed in the House chamber have been conscious of discomfort from too much heat and foul air to the extent of where it has been necessary for some of the house members to shed their coats during the session hours, and

Whereas, the discomfort from this excessive heat and impure air should so far as possible be remedied in the future days of the present session,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved: That the custodian who is in charge of the state house, including the House chamber, and who is responsible for the comfort of the members of the House of Representatives, in the heating and ventilation of the chamber, should prove to the former House improvement committee and all of those concerned that the air conditioning unit serving the House chamber is in good condition and is capable of doing an efficient job. That the heat be controlled at a comfortable temperature, and foul and stuffy air be replaced with properly heated fresh air.

Laid over under Rule 34.

HOUSE FILE 27 RECALLED FROM SENATE

Strawman of Jones asked and obtained unanimous consent to recall House File 27 from the Senate.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE FILE 420

Due to the fact that politics is the thinking of the people, and House File 420 is removing the election of the superintendent of public instruction from the people on a partisan basis to an appointive office by a state board of education and placing it in school politics, and that during the period of 1915 to 1926 the state superintendent was appointed, and then this system was discarded. Under the system that passed the House, it might require 10 to 15 years to remove a state superintendent from office, and the fact that a salary ceiling of $12,000 was placed on this office which could easily become the salary of this department and other departments of state, it is my conviction that I vote "no" on this bill.

PAUL M. WALTER.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I voted "yes" on the committee amendment to Senate File 2 because I was assured that it is the intent of the authors of this bill that the word "preaudit" as used therein is to be interpreted as a "preaudit for information only and not involving any veto power" as relating to the institutions under the Board of Education.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY CHIEF CLERK

The Chief Clerk announced the receipt of the following concurrent resolution passed by the South Dakota legislature, transmitted by the Secretary of State of South Dakota:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 4

Introduced by Mr. Indseth

A CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

A Concurrent Resolution memorializing the legislatures of the several states of the United States to memorialize the Congress of the United States to require military service of all qualified citizens without regard for race, creed or color.

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of South Dakota, the Senate Concurring Therein:

Whereas, in these days of pressing national emergency and undeclared war, with the prospect of general war ever present and American citizens already dying in the service of their country, the most fundamental duty of a citizen is that of military service, if mentally and physically qualified therefor; and

Whereas, certain groups refuse to perform this primary duty of an American citizen, taking refuge in their religious affiliations as justification for such refusal; and

Whereas, there are numerous necessary military tasks, sometimes dangerous, which are performed without the bearing of arms or the attendant obligation of participating in the taking of life of an enemy; and

Whereas, it is discrimination in the most vicious degree that any person should enjoy the benefits of life in these United States without assuming the primary obligations thereof while others are required to perform their full duty as citizens;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the House of Representatives of the Thirty-second session of the South Dakota legislature, the Senate concurring therein, do urge and recommend that the several states of the United States memorialize the Congress that at least general non-combatant service without exception because of race, creed or color be required of all conscientious objectors.

Be It Further Resolved, that copies of this concurrent resolution be forwarded to the governors of the several states of the United States and

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Pieper of Allamakee asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following printed in the Journal:

Before the Ways and Means Committee of the
U. S. House of Representatives

Statement of Ernest Kosek,
Member of the House of Representatives,
Iowa State Legislature and also representing Governor William S. Beardsley, Governor of the State of Iowa, and Robert L. Larson, Attorney General of the State of Iowa

My name is Ernest Kosek. I am serving my third term as member of the state legislature of the State of Iowa. I am chairman of the Linn County Board of Education and former member of Cedar Rapids Board of Education. I am here to represent the government of the State of Iowa at the request of the Honorable William S. Beardsley, Governor of the State of Iowa, and Robert L. Larson, Attorney General of the State of Iowa.

I understand that the Treasury Department is recommending an amendment of section 22(b)4(1) of the Internal Revenue Code to eliminate the tax exempt feature of the interest upon state, municipal and political subdivision obligations.

In the absence of any clear recommendation by the Treasury Department that they propose the taxation of outstanding obligations, I shall assume that there is no intention to consider any such breach of faith with investors in outstanding public securities, and shall restrict my discussion to the effect on the issuance of future obligations.

This is the most far-reaching and significant change in taxing policy that has been proposed in many years. However, previous attempts to exploit this form of taxation were made in 1939, 1940 and 1942, and as many of you will recall, these proposals were rejected after a thorough investigation by this committee and by the Senate Finance Committee.

Assuming that bonds hereafter issued would reach the present volume of outstanding obligations this proposal would ultimately affect about twenty billion dollars worth of state and municipal obligations. The average volume of new issues is approximately one billion dollars per year. This proposal would affect the finances and tax burden of every state, county, city, town and school district of the United States of America.

The economy of this situation is very simple. If the income from municipal obligations is made subject to federal income tax the municipality would be required to pay a higher rate of interest on its obligations almost in a direct ratio to what the government would collect.

Previous witnesses have referred to the fact that the present average rate of interest on municipal debt is about 2 per cent. I should like to stress, however, that this is only an average and like all averages has components of higher rates. Many of those higher rates are paid by the less well-known rural municipalities in my state, particularly the townships, towns and independent school districts. They are already bearing a burden of interest rates of approximately 3 per cent. If you remove the tax exempt feature as proposed, these political subdivisions would have to pay upwards of 4 per cent.

These lesser known rural political subdivisions would be forced to rates of interest comparable to the going rates on private mortgages in the area, many of which run 5 per cent. These are figures of the present times of unusually low interest rates throughout the country. The levels would be much higher in the future if we ever return to the conditions of the 1920's and 1930's.

Is it fair to these small municipalities, particularly the school districts, to increase their cost of education and other necessities? Is it fair to ask these municipalities and school districts to strain their limited resources when the revenue which the federal government would derive is so insignificant?

In my state we have had our share of the nation-wide problem of underpaid teachers and other school and municipal operating expenses. The State of Iowa has gone so far as to assist these municipalities by granting 25 per cent state aid to schools, but even that has not solved the local problem. Much remains to be done to keep the finances of these school districts on a sound basis. The State of Iowa has a real estate tax limit of 5 per cent of the actual value. In many parts of the state this limit has been reached or is fast being approached. This is no self-imposed arbitrary limitation. It is a realistic appraisal of the ability of our property to stand the tax burden—a limit beyond which a tax could result in a capital levy.

All this has been true even with the help of tax exemption in financing the capital cost of these local subdivisions. It would be much more difficult if we had to contend with the taxability of our obligations.

The Committee must see how inconsistent it is to increase the financing costs for these municipalities and school districts on the one hand and to entertain the proposal to embark upon a program of federal aid to schools on the other. As a matter of fact, this inconsistency invites the suspicion that at least some of the support for the taxation of state and local obligations comes from those who believe in increasing federal aid and increasing federal controls which go with the federal aid and the substitution of centralized control for independent local control.

It seems to me that it is sound government to encourage these municipalities to solve their own problems, financial, social, public improvement and otherwise. That is the essence of democracy, in my humble opinion.

It would seem advisable to determine at the grass root level the cost of such improvements to issue only such municipal obligations as are considered necessary by those who understand the problems best. Thus we would avoid the cumbersome and expensive practice of having the federal government drain these resources in the form of federal income tax and then have the federal government pipe back a smaller portion to the states, municipalities and small school districts. If, as I suspect, the tax on our local obligations is only a prelude to the program of increased federal grants-in-aid, then the purpose of increasing the net federal revenues for emergency expenditures at the present time can not be advanced by such a tax.

While I am not an attorney, it is my understanding that it was just this inherent element of federal control in any such tax which induced the United States Supreme Court to hold a tax on state and local obligations unconstitutional.

Because of this holding of the Supreme Court, any hope for raising actual revenue during the present emergency should be abandoned. All you would have would be a distressing litigation and a conflict between the officers of the federal government and those of the states—a conflict which would be much better avoided during these times.

It is for these reasons that we in Iowa respectfully urge this committee to oppose the proposed removal of the tax exemption of state and municipal obligations.

REPORT OF HOUSE COMMITTEE ON INTERSTATE COOPERATION

Members of the committee on interstate cooperation were appointed by the Speaker at the end of the Fifty-third General Assembly.

Various members have attended the regional conferences at Davenport in 1949 and Mackinac Island in 1950 and the Tenth General Assembly of the States at Chicago, Illinois, December 7-9, 1950.

A brief resume on the organization of the council of state governments should be had. The first meeting in 1894 of commissioners on uniform legislation led to the formation of the American Legislators' Association in 1925. Exchange of ideas, uniform state laws and a gradual realization that states were not measuring up to their full responsibilities and the consequent encroachment of the federal government in the field of state governments were noted.

Appropriations from state legislatures make possible the permanent set-up of the council of state governments for the research in federal-state problems and relationship, and the dissemination of such information. It should be noted here that we have appropriated $4,000 whereas the pro rata share of the council's support assignable to Iowa is $7,500, per year. Various conferences of different state officials as well as meetings of representative groups of state legislators themselves are all organized within the framework of the council.

A wide variety of subjects are covered. At the Midwestern Regional Conference of twelve midwestern states at Davenport, Iowa, July 25 and 26, 1949, round-table discussions included: Reorganization of State Government; Highway Size and Weight Restrictions; Education and the States; and Tax and Fiscal Policy. Iowa was host to this first meeting within her borders of a regional meeting of the council. This was provided for by an appropriation of $3,000 by the Fifty-third General Assembly of which $1,550.06 was actually used.

The 1950 Midwestern Regional Conference was held at Mackinac Island, Michigan, on August 7 and 8, and then the Tenth General Assembly of the States, called by the council of state governments was held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, on December 7-9. Very excellent meetings and your attention is directed to the biennial report of the Iowa commission of interstate cooperation submitted in connection herewith and covering the deliberations more fully.

We believe that the council is doing good work and hope that more of our legislators and officials may participate in its meetings. To the end that the work of the council is vital to a good state government working to assume its rightful place of cooperation with the federal government.

FOREWORD

By the terms of the act establishing the Commission, Iowa has joined with the other forty-seven states of the Union in organizing and developing a Council of State Governments.

The Council was established by the states and is supported by the states for service to the states. It fulfills this function in the following ways:

1. As an information clearing house for the forty-eight states.
2. As a research center for all the states.
3. By promoting interstate cooperation, through conferences and exchange of information; in legislation, administration, and through the judicial branch of government.
4. By assisting in the development and improvement of intrastate policies, procedures, and practices.
5. As a central liaison agency for the states in their relationships with the federal government.
6. By providing facilities and staff for the servicing of the national associations of the major, over-all state officials, including the Governors' Conference, the Association of Attorneys General, Conference of Chief Justices, and others.
7. By publishing material to serve state officials and state government including the monthly journal, State Government; the biennial reference manual, The Book of the States; The Washington Legislative Bulletin; the Legislative Research Checklist; and reports embodying the results of studies concerning special subjects.

The Commission on Interstate Cooperation is the Iowa agency charged by law with responsibility in forming a more perfect union among the various governments in the United States. This report is made to the Governor and the General Assembly in an attempt to indicate, in summary, some of the activities in which Iowa has participated to that end.

SCOPE OF ACTIVITY

The primary function of the Commission is to permit Iowa to participate with the forty-seven other states, all of which have similar agencies, in the solution of problems not coming properly within the jurisdiction of the Federal Government but at the same time appearing too large or too broad to be dealt with by individual state action. The commissions on interstate cooperation in the several states are engaged in a concerted and continuing effort to strengthen state government in every area where the states can operate effectively. Our objective and function, in other words, is to develop and implement programs of cooperative unity—of harmonious legislative and administrative action—among the states in all appropriate fields, thus supplying a balance between over-centralization at the federal level and uncoordinated, unrelated action at the state and local levels.

Increasingly, solutions of problems that overlap state lines are being found through adoption of interstate compacts, contemplated by Article L, section 10, of the Constitution of the United States; through enactment of uniform and model legislation by the various states; through promotion of regional programs to serve the citizens of states within different areas of the country; and through development of uniform and reciprocal administrative acts and agreements.

In addition to its interstate activities, the Commission is charged with furthering cooperation between this state and the Federal Government and between this state and its subordinate units of government. It also serves as a medium of interchange and clearance of research and information within the field of intergovernmental cooperation.

PARTICIPATION IN MANAGEMENT AND FINANCING OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS

The statutes creating the Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation and the interstate cooperation commissions of the other forty-seven states designate the Council of State Governments as a joint governmental service agency of the states, and establish the cooperation commissions as the major constituent components of which the Council is composed.

The Council is governed by a Board of Managers consisting of forty-eight delegate members selected by the individual states; nineteen ex-officio members; and ten members-at-large. During the past two years, Attorney General Robert L. Larson has served as the Iowa delegate member of the Board of Managers, and in 1948-1949 he was vice president of the Council of State Governments.

The Council is financed solely by state appropriations. All of the states are participating in its support. The pro rata share of the Council's support suggested for Iowa is $7,500 per year.

The Commission feels that the necessity for cooperative activities among all levels of government has become increasingly apparent during the past few years. It is apparent also that if the states are to maintain their proper place in the structure of our government, they must be adequately equipped, particularly from the standpoint of research and information as to what other states and the Federal Government are doing. For these reasons, it is felt that the continuing work of interstate cooperation, with and through the Council of State Governments, deserves wholehearted support.

SERVICES OF THE COUNCIL OF STATE GOVERNMENTS

The services performed by the Council of State Governments may be summed up as follows:

1. It serves state legislators, officials, and others, as a clearing house for information and research concerning governmental problems;
2. It is a medium by which constitutional, legislative, administrative, and judicial problems in government can be studied by legislators and officials of the several states, and improved practices developed;
3. It encourages cooperation among the states in solving interstate problems, both regional and national; and
4. It operates as an official agency of the states in coordinating the activities and views of the states with respect to federal-state problems, and in facilitating and improving federal-state relations.

In addition to its affiliation with the interstate cooperation commissions, the Council officially serves the following organizations of state officials:

Governors' Conference;
American Legislators' Association;
National Association of Attorneys General; Conference of Chief Justices;
National Association of Secretaries of State;
National Association of State Budget Officers;
National Association of State Purchasing Officials;
Legislative Service Conference;
Association of Administrators of the Interstate Compact for the Supervision of Parolees and Probationers.

The Council also cooperates in the program of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

The Council maintains its central office in Chicago, regional offices in New York and San Francisco, and an office in Washington, D. C.

Inquiry and informational service of the Council are available to all state legislators and officials on request. In addition, the various publications of the Council—including State Government magazine, The Book of the States, the Washington Legislative Bulletin, the Legislative Research Checklist, and special bulletins—provide extensive information on governmental questions.

For several years past, the undertaking of extensive research programs and development of recommendations in various fields of state government and intergovernmental relations have been major services which the Council has rendered the states at their request. Recent research studies of the Council include the following:

The Forty-eight State School Systems. This comprehensive study of public education, released in 1949, was one of the most important projects ever undertaken by the states through the Council, and it has had far-reaching results. The report examined the organization, administration, and financing of public elementary and secondary education in the several states, and concluded with suggestions relative to state and local school administration, teachers' salaries, training programs, etc.; school plant and facilities; and school finance practices.

Highway Safety—Motor Truck Regulation. This report, released in 1950, was prepared with the cooperation of the governors and the state administrative agencies concerned with highway problems, and in consultation with all interested organizations and agencies, both public and private.

Recommendations in the section on Highway Safety include:

1. Adoption of the Uniform Vehicle Code by all states and adoption of the provisions of the Manual on Uniform Traffic Control Devices for Streets and Highways.
2. Establishment of the state motor vehicle agency as a separate, adequately staffed unit with a single executive head responsible to the governor or a commission, and coordination of all departments concerned with traffic functions.
3. A merit system to cover all motor vehicle and highway employees. They should be qualified, well-trained and adequately compensated civil service employees, chosen on the basis of examination. Greater use should be made of efficiency reports and central personnel files.
4. Enactment of an adequate licensing program, under a single state agency rather than local authorities. A central file of permanent records on each driver should be kept, and the states should provide for interstate reporting and exchange of information on withdrawal and restoration of motor vehicle privileges. The state force should record and analyze state-wide accident reports and, when possible, investigate accidents at the scene.

Other recommendations concern the size of local administrative districts; state police and highway patrol personnel; court procedures; highway planning and construction programs; and standards for the design of new highways.

Recommendations for Motor Truck Regulation include:

1. Enactment of the size and weight limitations standards developed by the American Association of State Highway Officials.
2. No increase in present size and weight restrictions pending completion of current investigations of road capacity and surface strength.
3. Penalties for violations—including withdrawal of license for repeated, willful violations—adequate to insure compliance with state laws; and adequate personnel and modern equipment for effective enforcement.
4. Special speed limits or speed zones for motor transport.

5. Individual state surveys of the highway tax structure and highway fiscal needs. Particular consideration should be given to equitable distribution of highway costs among the several classes of highway users.
6. Consideration of weight and mileage taxes, based on gross weight carried and miles traveled; or, as an alternative, increased registration fees or special weight taxes on motor carriers so that these vehicles may bear their proportionate share of the tax burden.

The Mental Health Programs of the Forty-eight States. Also released in 1950, this report by the Council of the organization, administration, and operation of state programs for the care and treatment of the mentally ill deals with one of the major responsibilities of the states. The report with its detailed analyses and recommendations has been distributed widely among all of the states for their information and such action as seems desirable.

Reorganizing State Government. During the past two years, over half of the states have authorized studies of the structure and operation of their state governments. This movement reflects the widespread determination that administration of government shall be effective and economical, that it shall be properly organized and competently administered. In general, the agencies studying reorganization are recommending a pattern of organization as follows:

An over-all organization of the government which insures its responsibility—responsibility for the government as a whole to the people themselves, and responsibility of the officials thereof to duly constituted authorities;

A limited number of major departments and the coordination of similar activities and functions within these departments; and

The selection of personnel on the basis of merit with advancement and compensation adjusted on the basis of performance.

By direction of the Board of Managers and at the request of the states, the Council of State Governments, during 1949-50, has worked with all of the reorganization commissions; has held conferences for the benefit of the study commissions; and has conducted studies and developed reports for them, especially dealing with organizational structure and revenue problems which are common to all states.

MEETINGS IN COOPERATION WITH OTHER STATES

Since its purpose is to foster cooperation wherever needed in solving problems affecting two or more states, this Commission has met with representatives of other states in regional and national meetings sponsored by the Council of State Governments. Following is a summary of the major meetings held during 1949-50:

Midwestern Regional Conference

Davenport, Iowa, July 25 and 26, 1949

The Iowa Commission on Interstate Cooperation was host to the 1949 Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments, at Davenport, on July 25 and 26. Interstate cooperation commissioners, and legislative and administrative officials from twelve midwestern states attended this meeting which included round-table discussions of: education and the states; reorganization of state government; highway size and weight restriction; and tax and fiscal policy.

In the discussion of education, the states were urged to consider the following suggestions:

1. Provision should be made for studying and maintaining on an up-to-date basis adequate facts concerning the state's school system.
2. Each state should consider establishing a single state policy-making board composed, not of educators or ex-officio members, but of lay citizens who represent the general public interest.
3. Local administrative units should be large enough and financially strong enough to provide appropriate educational opportunities at a reasonable cost.
4. In order to attain effective educational leadership in both state and local administration, school administrators and superintendents should be selected on a professional basis by boards of education rather than by popular election.
5. Well-qualified teachers should be maintained in all phases of elementary and secondary education.

The discussion of highway problems revealed a consensus in favor of more effective enforcement of motor truck size and weight restrictions, particularly in regard to overloads, and for more equitable means of sharing the cost of highway maintenance and construction.

Conference on State Government Reorganization

Chicago, Illinois, September 29 and 30, 1949

Over half of the states and territories, during 1948-50, authorized studies of their governmental organization and operation. Expanding costs of government, increased demands for public services, overlapping and duplication of functions, and interest aroused by the Hoover Commission, are among the factors which have led to the revival of interest in governmental practices and procedures at all levels.

At the request of the state reorganization agencies in the various states, the Council of State Governments called a conference in September, 1949, to enable representatives of the various agencies to pool their experience, discuss their common problems with each other and with experts in the field, and to determine what aspects of research and fact-finding might be performed centrally by the Council of State Governments to be of benefit to all state reorganization agencies.

It was the consensus that the movement toward increased simplification and responsibility in governmental organization represents not only an increased interest in efficiency and economy, but in the future of state government and of the federal system generally.

Midwestern Regional Conference

Mackinac Island, Michigan, August 7 and 8, 1950

The 1950 Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments was held at Mackinac Island, Michigan, on August 7 and 8, 1950. The twelve midwestern states were represented by their commissioners on interstate cooperation, legislators, and administrative officials. The conference included discussion of current investigations of organized crime, and round-table discussions of: reorganization of state government; highway safety and motor truck regulation and control; and care and treatment of the mentally ill.

The highway panel underlined the importance of legislation and enforcement in the interest of safety; adherence to the uniform traffic code, effective driver examinations, vehicle inspections, and related provisions. With respect to truck regulation, it was generally agreed that the profit must be taken out of overloading to obtain real conformity with load restrictions.

The states face challenging problems in regard to their responsibilities to the mentally ill. These problems, it was pointed out, involve improvements in the physical facilities; attendants, doctors, nurses, and other trained personnel; restudy of commitment, release, rehabilitation, and prevention procedures and programs. Custodial care under separate arrangements for the senile and incurable patients are other aspects which require attention.

Tenth General Assembly of the States
Chicago, Illinois, December 7-9, 1950

The Tenth Biennial General Assembly of the States, called by the Council of State Governments, was held at the Edgewater Beach Hotel, Chicago, on December 7-9, 1950. Commissioners on Interstate Cooperation, governors, legislators, and administrative officials from states throughout the country were present. The discussion sessions during the conference considered problems facing the states in the fields of: civil defense; social security revision; state disability programs; natural resources; and tax and fiscal policy. Consideration also was given to the suggested legislative program developed by the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments (discussed in the following section).

The conferees regarded an effective and expeditious attack on the problem of civil defense to be the major problem facing the states and the nation today—"... an effectively operated civil defense program is essential as a first line of security for the nation. In case of atomic attack, the battleground will be our cities and communities. Adequate civil defense is the only answer, and all levels of government—federal, state, and local—must be prepared to move expeditiously." By resolution, the General Assembly recorded its belief:

"The Tenth General Assembly of the States goes on record as strongly insisting that federal civil defense legislation should adhere to the administrative principle of working with and through state governments, rather than directly with localities, in the development of a national civil defense program. It is also urged that all civil defense operations be continued under the control of a civilian agency, rather than subject to military authority. . . .

"The Tenth General Assembly of the States strongly urges that all states take prompt steps to enact adequate basic civil defense legislation and that they enter into the proposed interstate civil defense and disaster compact with their sister states. It is suggested that consideration be given to calling special sessions of the legislatures in states where no regular legislative sessions are impending. The state legislatures are urged to appropriate sufficient funds to make civil defense effective immediately, and there should be no delay or doubts with respect to the need for adequate appropriations to accomplish this purpose."

The economic implications of the present world crisis were considered in the panel on tax and fiscal policy, and the sense of the discussion was summed up in the following resolution:

"The exigencies of world crises make necessary greatly increased expenditures for national defense. To assist in maintaining a stable and productive national economy, the states should make every effort to defer or eliminate capital outlay and non-essential expenditures and to conserve manpower in state services to the greatest extent possible. Therefore, the Tenth General Assembly of the States urged that the states develop a fiscal program, for the duration of the emergency period, which will make manpower, materials, and money available for the defense effort."

The conference discussed—and wholeheartedly endorsed—the movement, well established during recent years, of developing joint, interstate cooperative programs to solve common problems and to provide needed services in an increasing number of fields. The interstate compact was recommended in particular "as a method of handling interstate problems," and the conference urged the states "to participate actively in exploring ways and means by which the interstate compact may be applied to existing and future interstate activities."

It was the view of the General Assembly that the states should assume responsibility for increasing the protection of workers:

"Although social responsibility in our modern industrial economy is now recognized, adequate protection against non-occupational disability remains as an unfilled gap in social insurance programs.

"The Tenth General Assembly of the States recommends that this problem be met by action at the state level of government to insure that proper and adequate protection will be provided to the individual worker. We suggest that all states take immediate steps toward meeting this problem by initiating such studies as will lead to the adoption of the appropriate programs."

The Tenth General Assembly summed up the various discussions and study of highway problems with the following recommendations for the consideration of all of the states:

- "1. No increases should be permitted in present size and weight restrictions pending completion of scientific studies being made by various state highway departments in cooperation with the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads;
- "2. The states should consider the imposition of fines and other penalties sufficiently severe to enforce existing size and weight laws;
- "3. The states should increase the size of enforcement staffs and should install or utilize existing scales necessary for effective enforcement of size and weight laws; and
- "4. The states should enforce more adequately speed regulations governing commercial motor vehicles."

SUGGESTED LEGISLATIVE PROGRAM FOR 1951

The Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments, composed of Commissioners on Interstate Cooperation, Attorneys General, Uniform Law Commissioners, and representatives of legislative councils, acts as a channel for developing legislative solutions for federal-state and interstate problems. The cooperative machinery which the Drafting Committee represents was initiated in 1940. Proposals developed by the Committee originate with agencies of the federal or state governments. These proposals are reviewed and approved by the Board of Managers of the Council of State Governments before submission to the states for their consideration. Attorney General Larson has been a member of the Council's Drafting Committee for several years.

1. Model State Civil Defense Act

This act is designed to provide for the establishment of the necessary state and local civil defense organizations in a state, and to furnish the requisite authority to the governor and to the heads of local government to implement the Civil Defense Program. It provides for the necessary organizations to deal with potential enemy-caused disasters as well as natural disasters, such as floods, fires, explosions and the like. Briefly, the act provides for a civil defense agency in the executive branch of the state government, headed by a director responsible to the governor. An advisory council of representative citizens with special qualifications to advise the governor and director is provided for. This act is based in part on the State Council of Defense and the Emergency War Powers Acts developed by the Drafting Committee during World War II.

2. Model State Law Relating to Military Leave

This act provides employees of the several states with the privilege, long since allowed employees of the Federal Government, of fifteen calendar days per year for training with reserve components of the armed forces of the United States, without deduction from leave, efficiency rating, or other benefits.

3. Veterans' Reemployment Rights Act

This proposed bill provides a means for extending to those employees of state and local governments the same reemployment rights and privileges formerly extended to government employees who served in the armed forces during World War II.

4. Federal Old Age and Survivors' Insurance Coverage Enabling Act

This act has been prepared for consideration by those states which desire to extend to their state and local government employees the old age and survivors' insurance benefits which are now available, if the individual states so desire, as a result of the 1950 amendments to the Social Security Act.

5. State Government Budgeting of Federal Grants-in-Aid Act

This proposal would enable the state budget director to maintain some manageable control over the several departments and agencies of the state government which apply for, receive, and expend federal aid funds. It reflects a type of control which has long been favored by the National Association of State Budget Officers and by the Council of State Governments.

6. Payroll Savings Plan Act

The general purpose of this act is to authorize the comptroller of the state and the appropriate disbursing or fiscal officer of any municipality or other political subdivision to withhold, at the request of an employee of the state, municipality or other political subdivision, portions of the salary or compensation of such employee for the purchase of U. S. bonds. Of the four million employees of state and local governments at present, approximately one million have the payroll savings plan available to them.

7. Exchange of Tax Information Act

The purpose of this proposed act is to permit exchange of tax information relating to all types of taxes in aid of administering tax laws by the states, other taxing jurisdictions such as municipalities, and the federal government. In cases in which the same or similar taxes are imposed by various units of government, intergovernmental cooperation is particularly important in order to aid tax compliance and collection. By exchanging information as to returns, taxpayers' lists, tax audits and investigations, enforcement of tax laws would be substantially improved. At the same time, the exchange of tax information would reduce the aggregate cost of tax administration by effecting savings in money, personnel, and equipment.

8. Act Concerning Interstate Transportation of the Mentally Ill

This proposal was drafted to enable the negotiation of reciprocal agreements between and among the states to provide for the return to the state of their residence of persons who, while sojourning in other states, become mentally ill. States party to the agreement contemplated by this act would accept the return of their residents, providing reciprocity is extended under similar circumstances.

9. Uniform Reciprocal Enforcement of Support Act

This act, drafted by a special committee of the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws and endorsed by the Drafting Committee of the Council of State Governments, has been prepared to provide an effective civil remedy to enforce support of abandoned wives and children in cases where the father has absconded to another state.

10. Milk and Food Codes Adoption by Reference Act

This proposed statute authorizes a municipality to enact a milk or food code by reference in place of the expensive procedure of publishing the code itself. The provisions of this act are similar to those in the Building Codes Adoption by Reference Act, carried in the Drafting Committee Report for 1949.

11. Model School Bus Act

This act has been designed to provide effective and appropriate procedures and requirements covering: (1) uniform school bus color; (2) uniform passing laws; (3) school bus construction standards; (4) mechanical inspection of school buses; and (5) driver training.

12. An Act to Require the Filing of Notice of Intention to Offer Evidence of an Alibi in a Criminal Case

The purpose of this proposal is to require that in any case in which a defendant intends to rely upon an alibi he shall be required to file and serve notice in writing upon the prosecuting attorney of his intention to assert such an alibi. Experience has shown that the use of an alibi defense without advance notice puts the prosecution in a position in which it is impossible to determine by investigation whether or not there is corroboration of the alibi defense.

13. An Act Relating to Testimony of Public Officials Regarding Conduct in Office

This bill would remove the impediment to investigation which is contained in constitutional provisions protecting the privilege against self-incrimination. It would penalize any person who refuses to testify upon matters relating to his office on the ground that his answer might tend to incriminate him by requiring that he forfeit his office and be prohibited from holding other office for a period of five years.

14. Burglar's Tools Bill

This proposal, based on laws previously adopted in several states and developed at the request of the U. S. Post Office Department, makes it a crime to possess or manufacture burglar's tools. While it is debatable whether such a law would actually decrease the number of burglaries, it is felt that the law would enable state authorities to prosecute persons, particularly known criminals, caught with burglar's tools in their possession.

15. Brucellosis Control and Eradication Act

This bill has been prepared to assist states that wish to embody in their agricultural laws the recommendations of the U. S. Livestock Sanitary Association for eradication of brucellosis in cattle (which is the source of undulant fever in human beings).

16. An Act Relating to Custom Application of Insecticides, Fungicides, and Herbicides

This proposal is designed to assist states which find it necessary to regulate the application of insecticides, fungicides, and herbicides. Thus, it covers an entirely different area than the suggested State Insecticide, Fungicide and Rodenticide Act which dealt with the sale of these economic poisons, and was first carried in the Drafting Committee report for 1947.

17. Farm Products Market Facilities Amendment

This bill is an amendment to the Farm Products Market Facilities Act carried in the Drafting Committee's program for 1947. The purpose of the amendment is to clarify that portion of the 1947 proposal which enabled localities to create public benefit corporations for the purpose of building and leasing facilities for the wholesale handling of perishable food.

18. State Channeling of Federal Airport Funds Act

This measure, endorsed by the Governor's Conference and the National Association of State Aviation Officials, requires that federal grants-in-aid to municipalities for airport construction shall be expended in the state only upon receiving the approval of the state aviation agency. The enactment of this measure will help to preserve the long-established principle and policy of federal grants-in-aid being administered through the states to political subdivisions on specific projects. Over half of the states have enacted this measure.

19. An Act to Provide for the Registration and Protection of Trade-Marks

This proposal was approved by the Drafting Committee in substantially the same form as it was developed by the National Association of Secretaries of State. It is designed to provide the states which adopt it with a modern workable statute in keeping with modern business methods and conditions and to protect the public and trade-mark owners from the dangers of trade-mark piracy and misrepresentation. Its various provisions were drafted in accordance with state and federal court decisions and the federal statutory law on trade-marks.

20. Model Deferred Posting Statute

This model act, already enacted in some thirty-three of the states, is designed to provide uniformity from state to state in the provisions governing bookkeeping practices of banks in posting their ledgers. Developed initially by the American Bankers Association in cooperation with attorneys of the Federal Reserve System, this proposal reflects a practice which has been adopted in recent years by many banks throughout the country and has been recognized by clearing house rules and laws in over two-thirds of the states.

21. Shore and Beach Erosion Control Act

This act is designed to enable the states to control the erosion of their shores and beaches in collaboration with the Federal Government as well as independently.

22. An Act Authorizing the Purchase of Obligations Issued or Guaranteed by the International Bank

This act, originally carried in the Drafting Committee's program for 1947, is to enable investors—but notably insurance companies, trustees, and banks—to invest in obligations of the International Bank. Legislation of this nature has been adopted in almost half of the states.

RECOMMENDATIONS OF THE DRAFTING COMMITTEE

As in the past, the Drafting Committee has recommended that the states consider certain important subjects requiring legislative attention. In some cases, specific suggested legislation is available; more often, it has been found impractical to develop drafts of suggested proposals. The Committee, accordingly, suggests the inclusion of certain principles in drafting legislation on these subjects. Specific recommendations were made on the following subjects:

1. Hospitalization of the Mentally Ill

In response to many requests for suggestions for revision of current state laws governing hospitalization of the mentally ill, and in recognition of the great interest in the problem evidenced by the Governors' Conference in 1949 and 1950, the Federal Security Agency in consultation with public and private medical authorities developed and sent to all governors a draft act dealing with this subject. The act embodies principles set forth in the Council of State Governments' report on "The Mental Health Programs of the Forty-eight States," and seeks to assure that hospitalization of the mentally ill shall assure: (1) maximum opportunity for prompt medical care; (2) freedom from emotionally harmful or degrading treatment; and (3) protection against wrongful confinement and deprivation of rights.

2. State Programs on Alcoholism

This recommendation takes account of the increasing interest in developing specific programs to deal with alcoholism as a major public health problem. Over half of the states have enacted various types of legislation authorizing programs in this field. These recommendations are submitted for consideration of the states in the form in which they were developed by the National States' Conference on Alcoholism—to provide adequate factual information, recognition of the problem as one affecting public health, and an agency with outlined powers and duties.

3. Revision of State Adoption Laws

It is recommended that the states incorporate in their laws standards governing adoption procedures suggested by the Children's Bureau of the Federal Security Agency. These standards would protect the welfare of the child, the rights of the natural parents, and the security of the adopting parents. This proposal stems from the fact that adoption has become very largely an unregulated business, and in some states its conduct and operation resemble a racket.

4. State Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Legislation

The Drafting Committee suggests that the several states compare their existing food, drug, and cosmetic laws with the Federal Food, Drug, and Cosmetic Act of 1938, with a view to making uniform the federal and state laws on this subject.

5. State Water Pollution Control Legislation

The Drafting Committee endorses and recommends for favorable consideration by the states the suggested State Water Pollution Control Act developed by the Federal Works Agency to provide a coordinated approach to problems of pollution control. The proposed act includes as principal features: (1) definition of pollution; (2) type of administrative agency; (3) classification of waters—standards of water quality; (4) permits; (5) enforcement; and (6) administrative powers.

6. Highway Safety and Motor Truck Regulation

This recommendation directs the attention of the states to the proposals contained in the report of the Council of State Governments to the Governors' Conference—"Highway Safety—Motor Truck Regulation."

7. Legislation Respecting Control and Treatment of Sex Offenders

It is recommended that states review and improve their laws governing criminal sex offenses to provide for psychiatric and psychological study, diagnosis, and treatment of sex offenders; to provide for awarding indeterminate sentences against dangerous sex criminals by criminal court judges; and to require complete psychiatric reports prior to placing offenders on probation or to suspension of sentence.

8. Interstate Crime Control Legislation

The Council of State Governments' uniform crime control program has been one of the most forceful demonstrations of effective interstate co-operation. The various proposals which comprise this program, as shown below, have been adopted by most of the states. It is suggested that the states review their laws on this subject and take appropriate action to bring their laws in conformity with the provisions of the uniform program, including the:

- (1) Fresh Pursuit of Criminals across State Lines Act;
- (2) Uniform Extradition Act;
- (3) Out-of-state Witnesses Act;
- (4) Interstate Compact for Supervision of Out-of-state Parolees and Probationers;
- (5) Uniform Pistol Act.

9. Forestry Legislation

This recommendation was developed to assist in preparing state legislation and educational programs which have as their objective the encouragement of better conservation and utilization of our forest resources. The need for such steps has been recognized increasingly during recent years.

10. Airport Authorities Legislation

The Drafting Committee recommends the enactment by each state of general enabling legislation which would authorize counties, cities, towns, villages, and other political subdivisions, either independently or by joint action of two or more such political subdivisions, to create government corporations having the power to establish, acquire, develop, operate and maintain public airports to serve such political subdivisions, and to accept federal aid for such purposes.

11. School Redistricting Legislation

The study of "The Forty-eight State School Systems" prepared by the Council of State Governments for the Governors' Conference examines in detail the current situation among the states regarding local school organization. On the basis of the recommendations in this study, the Drafting Committee suggests that the several states reexamine their laws on this subject, survey existing situations in their localities, and develop legislation to facilitate needed redistricting.

12. State Enabling Legislation for Slum Clearance and Urban Re-development

The Drafting Committee refers for consideration by the states the suggested legislation prepared by the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency to enable states and localities to implement the U. S. Housing Act of 1949. This act was designed to provide a comprehensive attack upon slums by the state and local governments by offering financial assistance to cover large capital outlays and high write-down costs for preparing slum lands for re-use.

Passed on file.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Gallup of Jefferson called up for consideration House Concurrent Resolution 17, found on page 745 of the Journal of March 7, and moved its adoption.

Resolution adopted.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following Senate concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 10, a resolution to declare and emphasize the responsibility of the parents or persons standing in the position of parents with regard to teen-age drivers.

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, the number and gravity of motor vehicle accidents on the Iowa highways gives cause for alarm, and

Whereas, the large number of our citizens permanently injured and killed annually in such accidents is to a great extent inexcusable and results directly from negligence and reckless driving, and

Whereas, the percentage of such accidents causing permanent injuries and death resulting from operation of motor vehicles by the teen-age group is extremely out of proportion to the number of drivers in such group, and

Whereas, it appears that the reason that such a large percentage of the group of teen-age drivers are careless and reckless in their operation of motor vehicles is because of a lack of safety education and parental supervision and discipline, and

Whereas, there are many drivers in the teen-age group who operate motor vehicles with a high degree of skill and caution, and

Whereas, it is unfair to the skillful and cautious teen-age driver to deny him the privilege of operating a motor vehicle on the highways because of the acts of the irresponsible members of his group, and

Whereas, it is deemed desirable, if possible, to avoid denying driving privileges to the entire group thereby punishing the prudent teen-age driver, and

Whereas, it is believed that by proper parental supervision, instruction and discipline, the driving evils of the teen-age group can be effectively corrected, and

Whereas, it appears necessary to declare and emphasize the responsibility of the parent or person standing in the position of a parent of a teen-age driver,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, that the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa disapproves of the irresponsibility of parents and persons standing in the position of parents of teen-age drivers, who permit their children or wards to operate motor vehicles without being assured that such teen-agers have been thoroughly educated in the safe operation of a motor vehicle, and that said teen-agers are impressed with the necessity of such operation without declaring and emphasizing that parental consent will be withheld unless safe driving practices are followed, and who fail to appropriately discipline their children or wards when infractions of safe driving practices occur; and that this Assembly most emphatically urges that parents and persons standing in the position of a parent discharge their aforesaid responsibilities; and further most emphatically urge the courts of this state to make no disposition of any case in which a teen-age driver is charged with a violation of the traffic laws of this state or any of its political subdivisions without first requiring that the parent or person standing in the position of a parent of such teen-age violator appear in court with such violator, and that upon final disposition such parent or person standing in the position of a parent be made to realize and accept with fitting dignity his responsibilities, and that clear and positive admonition of these responsibilities be administered by the court.

Be It Further Resolved, that those who hold important executive, legislative and judicial positions in the State of Iowa should do all within their power to further public interest and cooperation in helping to solve this problem of motor vehicle accidents on Iowa highways.

Laid over under Rule 34.

BILL INDEFINITELY POSTPONED

The Chief Clerk announced the following bill indefinitely postponed under Rule 27: House File 8.

ANNOUNCEMENT BY THE CHIEF CLERK

The Chief Clerk announced the receipt of the following communication:

STATE OF NORTH DAKOTA

Department of State

To All to Whom These Presents Shall Come:

I, Thomas Hall, Secretary of State of the State of North Dakota, do hereby certify that the attached

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION M

Relating to an amendment of the Federal Highway Act is an official copy of the described document, duly adopted by the House of Representatives of the Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota, and on file in my office.

Dated at Bismarck, North Dakota, this the 6th day of March, 1951.

THOMAS HALL,
Secretary of State.

Thirty-second Legislative Assembly, State of North Dakota, begun and held at the Capitol in the city of Bismarck, on Tuesday, the second day of January, one thousand nine hundred fifty-one.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION "M"

(Bubel, Holand, Jansonius and Leet)

A concurrent resolution memorializing Congress to amend the Federal Highway Act so as to prohibit the diversion of revenue received from federal motor-user taxes, and to provide for an increased federal matching ratio so that all such revenue be returned to the states and used for road development.

Whereas, in 1934, Congress, in effect, said that, since it is unfair to tax the user of the highways unless the revenue from such tax be used for road improvements, any state that diverts highway motor-user taxes will be penalized under the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, in order to comply with the requirements of such Federal Highway Act, North Dakota adopted, as part of its constitution, Article 56, which required that revenue from gasoline and other motor fuel excise and license taxation, after deduction of cost of administration and collection authorized by legislative appropriation only, and statutory refunds, shall be appropriated and used solely for construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and payments of obligations incurred in the construction, reconstruction, repair and maintenance of public highways, and

Whereas, other states have, in similar manner or by statute, prohibited the diversion of highway motor-user taxes to other than road improvement uses, and

Whereas, the Federal Government itself now diverts about two-thirds of the income which it receives from motor-user excise taxes, having in 1949 returned to the states only about four hundred million dollars out of 1.3 billion dollars it so received, this according to an interview with Thomas H. MacDonald, U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads, in the December 29, 1950, issue of the United States News and World Report, and

Whereas, because of increased governmental costs, many states are unable to raise sufficient funds with which to match federal funds allowed for highway construction, even though some states are and have been allotted additional matching aid, by reason of the inability of other states to match their allotments, and

Whereas, it appears the states are and have been unable, on a fifty-fifty matching basis, to raise sufficient funds to use more than a third of the federal tax collected from motor users, so that two-thirds of the revenue received from this federal motor-user tax is being and has been diverted by the Federal Government to other uses than road improvement, this directly contrary to the requirements imposed by Congress upon the states by the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, there is increasingly imperative need for additional highway construction and reconstruction to bring even a small percentage of highways up to standards required by present day traffic, and to insure their military use in time of national emergency, and

Whereas, much desperately needed additional highway construction and reconstruction could be made, if the two-thirds of the federal motor-user taxes, now being diverted to other uses, could be used for the purpose for which they were intended and for which Congress has required that similar funds in the states be used,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of North Dakota, the Senate Concurring Therein:

That the Thirty-second Legislative Assembly of the State of North Dakota respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to so amend the Federal Highway Act, and such other acts as may be necessary, as to prohibit the diverting of federal motor-user taxes to any other purpose than that of road development, and to provide for an increased ratio of federal funds compared with state funds, so that all federal motor-user taxes be used for the development of roads, that, instead of matching state funds, raised for such purpose, dollar for dollar, the Federal Government match state funds on the basis of three dollars to one dollar.

Be It Further Resolved, that a duly attested copy of this concurrent resolution be sent by the Secretary of State to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of North Dakota, to the Secretary of the Interior, to the United States Commissioner of Public Roads, and to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of all other state legislative assemblies now in session.

LEO STICKO,
Speaker of the House.
KENNETH L. MORGAN,
Chief Clerk of the House.
RAY SCHNELL,
President of the Senate.
W. J. TRENT,
Secretary of the Senate.

Referred to the committee on roads and highways.

Putney of Tama offered the following resolution, proposed by him, Kuester of Cass and McFarlane of Black Hawk:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Whereas, the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States has by arbitrary abuse of authority forced on the potato growers of northern Iowa unwanted marketing agreements by the use of an illegal if not fraudulent referendum reminiscent of the methods of dictator governments, and

Whereas, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan in the administration of the notorious and infamous potato program is seeking to act as a potato czar in 12 Iowa counties and to govern the marketing practices of northern Iowa farmers without their consent or approval, and

Whereas, this purpose has been shown specifically in the case of Harold McKinley of St. Ansgar, Iowa, and is threatened in relation to the other potato growers of 12 Iowa counties, and

Whereas, Brannan is trying to force these Iowa growers to market only those potatoes which meet his approval under regulations against which the Iowa growers voted overwhelmingly, 24 to 1, and

Whereas, Brannan then overcame this overwhelming and disapproving majority by blanketing the Iowa counties into a voting area which contained four other states and part of a fifth, and

Whereas, the resulting district was a political sham and a shameless example of gerrymandering which destroyed the right of Iowa farmers to determine how they shall be governed and how they shall market their own produce, and

Whereas, they were forced into an area where they were subjected to the domination of the would-be potato czar and must accept his choices as their representatives and must observe his regulations over their business, and

Whereas, he has created discrimination between these growers and their neighbors outside the artificial boundaries which he set, and

Whereas, he will cause them severe business losses as well as the sacrifice of their liberties unless corrective action is taken, and

Whereas, the methods of coercion employed by the United States Secretary of Agriculture in the above instance can be applied to the growers of other agricultural products and can also be used to curb free competition in industry, and

Whereas, the practice of government by administrative directives if unchecked can result in loss of opportunity and the basic freedoms on which this country was founded, and

Whereas, just government derives its powers from the consent of the governed,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, the Senate Concurring: That the Congress of the United States give serious consideration to the passage of appropriate legislation specifically limiting the Secretary of Agriculture in the use of directives.

Be It Further Resolved, that Congress give earnest consideration to the proposition that the law-making power is constitutionally an exclusive prerogative of legislative bodies and Congress should take immediate steps to thwart every encroachment on that power.

Be It Further Resolved, that the Secretary of State is hereby directed to forward copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House in Congress and to each member of the Iowa delegations in the Congress of the United States, under seal of his office.

Laid over under Rule 34.

POINTS OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Brown of Mahaska asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following report printed in the Journal:

March 9, 1951.

To: State Highway Commission.

From: F. R. White.

Subject: Increase in Mileage of Surfaced Secondary Roads.

The mileage of surfaced secondary roads is increasing at the average rate of 2,676 miles per year, as evidenced by the following:

(a) Farm to Market Roads:

In the calendar year 1950 the mileage of surfaced farm to market roads increased 1,153 miles. In the three-year period January 1, 1948, to January 1, 1951, the mileage of surfaced farm to market roads increased 3,624 miles as shown in the following Table No. 1:

Farm to Market Roads

	Jan. 1, 1948	Jan. 1, 1950	Jan. 1, 1951
Total Mileage	34,246	34,181	34,187
Surfaced Mileage	25,466	27,937	29,090
Unsurfaced Mileage	8,780	6,244	5,097

Surfaced farm to market road mileage increase:

1,153 in 1950.

3,624 in 1948, 1949 and 1950.

(b) Local Secondary Roads:

In the calendar year 1950 the surfaced mileage of local secondary roads increased 1,987 miles. In the three-year period January 1, 1948, to January 1, 1951, the mileage of surfaced local secondary roads increased 4,405 miles as shown by the following Table No. 2:

Local Secondary Roads

	Jan. 1, 1948	Jan. 1, 1950	Jan. 1, 1951
Total Mileage	58,472	58,828	58,771
Surfaced Mileage	26,730	29,148	31,135
Unsurfaced Mileage	31,742	29,680	27,636

	31,135
	26,730

(c) All Secondary Roads:

Combining the farm to market roads and the local secondary roads, we find that in the calendar year 1950, the surfaced mileage of all secondary roads increased 3,140 miles, and in the three-year period January 1, 1948, to January 1, 1951, the mileage of all surfaced secondary roads increased a total of 8,029 miles, as shown by the following Table No. 3:

All Secondary Roads

	Jan. 1, 1948	Jan. 1, 1950	Jan. 1, 1951
Total Mileage	92,718	93,009	92,958
Surfaced Mileage	52,196	57,085	60,225
Unsurfaced Mileage	40,522	35,924	32,733
The surfaced mileage of all secondary roads increased:

8,140 in 1950.

52,196

8,029 in 1948, 1949 and 1950.

(d) Reconstruction and Resurfacing of Secondary Roads:

The above stated increase in the mileage of surfaced secondary roads is the net increase in the surfaced mileage of such roads. Quite an appreciable percentage of the total secondary road construction work performed in the past three years consists of regrading, lengthening of culverts, reconstruction of bridges, and resurfacing of old secondary roads which were blade graded or built to a light grading standard many years ago and surfaced with gravel or crushed stone. A very considerable amount of this reconstruction work on secondary roads remains to be done.

(e) Total Mileage of Surfaced Roads:

As shown in Table No. 3 above, the total mileage of all surfaced secondary roads on January 1, 1951, was 60,225 miles. That is about two-thirds of the total mileage (92,958) of all secondary roads.

Kosek of Linn asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following Attorney General's opinion printed in the Journal:

DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE
Des Moines

March 14, 1951.

Honorable Ernest Kosek,
House of Representatives.

My Dear Sir:

Reference is herein made to yours of the 9th inst. in which you refer to House File 422, as amended, and request with respect to the Federal Government Wage Stabilization Board, as to whether they have jurisdiction over wage increases proposed in the foregoing bill, and if so whether the Federal Regulations, issued under the authority of the bill, would provide for any exemptions, and if there be no exemptions, if it would be possible to obtain a waiver for the State of Iowa, in order that the provisions of House File 422, as amended, can be put in full force and effect.

In reply thereto I would advise you that upon the information at hand, that the foregoing Federal Wage Stabilization Board and its regulations have no application to increases in wages or salaries of state, county and municipal employees. The inapplicability of the federal order is shown by this provision in General Regulation 4, issued by the Wage Stabilization Board, which provides as follows:

"(a) Increases in the wages, salaries, and other compensation of state, county, municipal and other non-federal governmental employees, whose wages, salaries and other compensation are fixed by statute, ordinance, or regulation of duly constituted authorities of such governmental bodies, may be made without the prior authorization of the Wage Stabilization Board, subject to the provisions of paragraphs (b) and (c) hereof.

(b) State, county, municipal and other non-federal governments and agencies thereof, in making increases in wages, salaries, and other compensation of their employees, are expected to conform to the national wage stabilization policy as expressed in the Defense Production Act of 1950, Executive Order 10161, General Wage Stabilization Regulation 1 issued by the Economic Stabilization Administrator on January 26, 1951, the General Regulations and statements of policy issued by the Wage Stabilization Board pursuant thereto, and such orders or regulations as may from time to time be issued thereunder or in connection therewith.

(c) The Wage Stabilization Board reserves the right to review increases made under the terms of paragraph (a) hereof, and to revoke or modify such increases when required in order to effectuate the policies of the Defense Production Act and the applicable orders or regulations issued thereunder or in connection therewith."

It is clear from the foregoing order that the provisions of sections (b) and (c) are merely expectations on the part of the Stabilization Board that in making increases in wages or salaries of state, county and city employees, the state will conform to the general policy fixed by the Stabilization Board for increases in wages or salaries granted to employees generally. This view is confirmed by the statement in a letter received today from the Council of State Governments in which it was stated, "We have today checked with the Wage Stabilization Board and have been definitely informed that employees of state and local governments are not affected by General Wage Stabilization Regulation. The legislatures of the states can enact any type of wage legislation for state and local government employees."

Very truly yours,
OSCAR STRAUSS,
Assistant Attorney General.

Brown of Mahaska offered the following resolution proposed by the committee on roads and highways:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 19

A concurrent resolution memorializing and petitioning Congress to repeal or amend the Federal Highway Act so as to give the states the sole right of gasoline and motor fuel taxation for highway building, or to prohibit the diversion of revenue received from federal gasoline and motor fuel taxes, and/or to provide for an increased federal matching ratio so that all such revenue will be returned to the states and used for road development.

Whereas, the area of gasoline and motor fuel taxes is very logically a state area of taxation and therefore should be definitely vacated by the Federal Government in favor of the several states but if such cannot be immediately accomplished, we therefore recommend and petition for the following, and

Whereas, the responsibility for building and maintaining roads and highways has traditionally been a state responsibility, and

Whereas, in 1934, Congress, in effect, said that, since it is unfair to tax the user of the highways unless the revenue from such tax be used for road improvements, any state that diverts highway motor-user taxes will be penalized under the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, in order to comply with the requirements of such Federal Highway Act, Iowa adopted, as part of its constitution, section eight (8) of Article seven (VII) which required that all motor vehicle registration fees and all licenses and excise taxes on motor vehicle fuel, except cost of administration, shall be used exclusively for the construction, maintenance and supervision of the public highways exclusively within the state or for the payment of bonds issued or to be issued for the construction of such public highways and the payment of interest on such bonds, and

Whereas, other states have, in similar manner or by statute, prohibited the diversion of highway motor-user taxes to other than road improvement uses, and

Whereas, the Federal Government itself now diverts a large per cent of the income which it receives from motor-user excise taxes, having in 1949 returned to the states only about four hundred million dollars out of 1.3 billion dollars it so received, this according to an interview with Thomas H. McDonald, U. S. Commissioner of Public Roads, in the December 29, 1950, issue of the United States News and World Report, and

Whereas, because of increased governmental costs, many states are unable to raise sufficient funds with which to match federal funds allowed for highway construction, even though some states are and have been allotted additional matching aid, by reason of the inability of other states to match their allotments, and

Whereas, it appears some states are and have been unable, on a fifty-fifty matching basis, to raise sufficient funds to use more than a third of the federal tax collected from motor users, so that two-thirds of the revenue received from this federal motor-user tax is being and has been diverted by the Federal Government to other uses than road improvement, this directly contrary to the requirements imposed by Congress upon the states by the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, there is increasingly imperative need for additional highway construction and reconstruction to bring even a small percentage of highways up to standards required by present day traffic, and to insure their military use in time of national emergency, and

Whereas, much desperately needed additional highway construction and reconstruction could be made, if the two-thirds of the federal motor-user taxes, now being diverted to other uses, could be used for the purpose for which they were intended and for which Congress has required that similar funds in the states be used,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa, the Senate Concurring:

That the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to repeal the federal highway gasoline and motor fuel taxes or to amend the Federal Highway Act so as to prohibit the diverting of federal gasoline and motor fuel taxes to any other purpose than that of road development, and further to amend the act to provide for an increased ratio of federal funds compared with state funds, so that all federal motor-user taxes be used for the development of roads, that, instead of matching state funds, raised for such purpose, dollar for dollar, the Federal Government match state funds on the basis of three dollars to one dollar.

Be It Further Resolved, that a duly attested copy of this concurrent resolution be sent by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Iowa, to the Secretary of the Interior, to the United States Commissioner of Public Roads, and to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of all other legislative assemblies now in session.

Laid over under Rule 34.

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 13 SUBSTITUTED FOR HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Putney of Tama asked and obtained unanimous consent to substitute Senate Concurrent Resolution 13 for House Concurrent Resolution 18, for the suspension of Rule 34 and its immediate consideration.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 13

Whereas, the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States has by arbitrary abuse of authority forced on the potato growers of northern Iowa unwanted marketing agreements by the use of an illegal if not fraudulent referendum reminiscent of the methods of dictator governments, and

Whereas, Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan in the administration of the notorious and infamous potato program is seeking to act as a potato czar in 12 Iowa counties and to govern the marketing practices of northern Iowa farmers without their consent or approval, and

Whereas, this purpose has been shown specifically in the case of Harold McKinley of St. Ansgar, Iowa, and is threatened in relation to the other potato growers of 12 Iowa counties, and

Whereas, Brannan is trying to force these Iowa growers to market only those potatoes which meet his approval under regulations against which the Iowa growers voted overwhelmingly, 24 to 1, and

Whereas, Brannan then overcame this overwhelming and disapproving majority by blanketing the Iowa counties into a voting area which contained four other states and part of a fifth, and

Whereas, the resulting district was a political sham and a shameless example of gerrymandering which destroyed the right of Iowa farmers to determine how they shall be governed and how they shall market their own produce, and

Whereas, they were forced into an area where they were subjected to the domination of the would-be potato czar and must accept his choices as their representatives and must observe his regulations over their business, and

Whereas, he has created discrimination between these growers and their neighbors outside the artificial boundaries which he set, and

Whereas, he will cause them severe business losses as well as the sacrifice of their liberties unless corrective action is taken, and

Whereas, the methods of coercion employed by the United States Secretary of Agriculture in the above instance can be applied to the growers of other agricultural products and can also be used to curb free competition in industry, and

Whereas, the practice of government by administrative directives if unchecked can result in loss of opportunity and the basic freedoms on which this country was founded, and

Whereas, just government derives its powers from the consent of the governed,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, the House Concurring: That the Congress of the United States give serious consideration to the passage of appropriate legislation specifically limiting the Secretary of Agriculture in the use of directives.

Be It Further Resolved, that Congress give earnest consideration to the proposition that the law-making power is constitutionally an exclusive prerogative of legislative bodies and Congress should take immediate steps to thwart every encroachment on that power.

Be It Further Resolved, that the Secretary of State is hereby directed to forward copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House in Congress, and to each member of the Iowa delegations in the Congress of the United States, under seal of his office.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Under the reasonable interpretation of Canons 20 and 26 of Professional Ethics of the American Bar Association, lawyers should refrain from in any manner making public statements for or against or in any way affecting pending or anticipated litigation in the courts.

In my opinion, the first ten paragraphs in Senate Concurrent Resolution 13 contain matters which may interfere with a fair trial in the courts and otherwise prejudice the due administration of justice in a case pending before a federal court and specifically mentioned in said resolution.

SLOANE of Polk.

EXPLANATION OF MOTION

MR. SPEAKER:

In support of my motion to defer action on Senate Concurrent Resolution 13 until the hearing on the case in federal court in the northern district of Iowa involving the marketing of potatoes is completed, I wish to make the following statement:

I know nothing about the evidence for the claims of the potato growers, or the claims of the government in this case. Not many in this House do.

I believe it entirely unethical to impose the views of this legislature on the court and the witnesses at this time. I further believe we are stepping out of our function as a legislative body in rendering an advance opinion in this case which is now before the court.

If there is any injustice to the Iowa farmers in this case, I will be glad to go along with a resolution to right such wrongs, if the same is a decently and properly worded resolution.

GENE POSTON.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 14

Whereas, both houses of the legislature see fit to open their day's work with prayer, and it is unseemly that they should work during the time in which is commemorated the passion and death of the Lord to whom they dedicate their daily efforts;

Whereas, many members will absent themselves from the legislative halls during that time to attend services in their respective churches;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That a special recess be held on Good Friday afternoon, March 23, during the hours of twelve to three o'clock, out of reverence to the passion and death of our Lord.

Laid over under Rule 34.

SENATE MESSAGE CONSIDERED

Senate File 202, a bill for an act to amend section two hundred fifty-four point four (254.4), two hundred fifty-four point five (254.5), two hundred fifty-four point eight (254.8), two hundred seventy-one point fourteen (271.14) and four hundred forty-four point twelve (444.12), Code 1950, relating to cost of care of persons in tuberculous hospitals and inspection of tuberculous hospitals.

Read first time and referred to committee on public health, pharmacy.

Bloedel of Fremont offered the following resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

Whereas, it has been customary in sessions past that each member of the General Assembly appropriate to his own personal use any supplies issued to him and remaining on his desk at the end of each session, and

Whereas, some of these supplies are of an unperishable nature so that they could be saved and stored for the use of the next General Assembly,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That all such supplies, especially including scissors, be returned to the Secretary of the Senate and the Chief Clerk of the House, and by them stored for the use of the next General Assembly.

Laid over under Rule 34.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Schwengel of Scott called up for consideration the following resolution and moved its adoption:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 19

A concurrent resolution memorializing and petitioning Congress to repeal or amend the Federal Highway Act so as to give the states the sole right of gasoline and motor fuel taxation for highway building, or to prohibit the diversion of revenue received from federal gasoline and motor fuel taxes, and/or to provide for an increased federal matching ratio so that all such revenue will be returned to the states and used for road development.

Whereas, the area of gasoline and motor fuel taxes is very logically a state area of taxation and therefore should be definitely vacated by the Federal Government in favor of the several states but if such cannot be immediately accomplished, we therefore recommend and petition for the following, and

Whereas, the responsibility for building and maintaining roads and highways has traditionally been a state responsibility, and

Whereas, in 1934, Congress, in effect, said that, since it is unfair to tax the user of the highways unless the revenue from such tax be used for road improvements, any state that diverts highway motor-user taxes will be penalized under the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, in order to comply with the requirements of such Federal Highway Act, Iowa adopted, as part of its constitution, section eight (8) of Article seven (VII) which required that all motor vehicle registration fees and all licenses and excise taxes on motor vehicle fuel, except cost of administration, shall be used exclusively for the construction, maintenance and supervision of the public highways exclusively within the state or for the payment of bonds issued or to be issued for the construction of such public highways and the payment of interest on such bonds, and

Whereas, other states have, in similar manner or by statute, prohibited the diversion of highway motor-user taxes to other than road improvement uses, and

Whereas, the Federal Government itself now diverts a large per cent of the income which it receives from motor-user excise taxes, having in 1949 returned to the states only about four hundred million dollars out of 1.3 billion dollars it so received, this according to an interview with Thomas H. McDonald, U. S. Commission of Public Roads, in the December 29, 1950, issue of the United States News and World Report, and

Whereas, because of increased governmental costs, many states are unable to raise sufficient funds with which to match federal funds allowed for highway construction, even though some states are and have been allotted additional matching aid, by reason of the inability of other states to match their allotments, and

Whereas, it appears some states are and have been unable, on a fifty-fifty matching basis, to raise sufficient funds to use more than a third of the federal tax collected from motor users, so that two-thirds of the revenue received from this federal motor-user tax is being and has been diverted by the Federal Government to other uses than road improvement, this directly contrary to the requirements imposed by Congress upon the states by the Federal Highway Act, and

Whereas, there is increasingly imperative need for additional highway construction and reconstruction to bring even a small percentage of highways up to standards required by present day traffic, and to insure their military use in time of national emergency, and

Whereas, much desperately needed additional highway construction and reconstruction could be made, if the two-thirds of the federal motor-user taxes, now being diverted to other uses, could be used for the purpose for which they were intended and for which Congress has required that similar funds in the states be used,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the State of Iowa, the Senate Concurring:

That the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of the State of Iowa respectfully petitions the Congress of the United States to repeal the federal highway gasoline and motor fuel taxes or to amend the Federal Highway Act so as to prohibit the diverting of federal gasoline and motor fuel taxes to any other purpose than that of road development, and further to amend the act to provide for an increased ratio of federal funds compared with state funds, so that all federal motor-user taxes be used for the development of roads, that, instead of matching state funds, raised for such purpose, dollar for dollar, the Federal Government match state funds on the basis of three dollars to one dollar.

Be It Further Resolved, that a duly attested copy of this concurrent resolution be sent by the Chief Clerk of the House of Representatives to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, to the Senators and Representatives in Congress from the State of Iowa, to the Secretary of the Interior, to the United States Commissioner of Public Roads, and to the Secretary of the Senate and to the Clerk of the House of Representatives of all other legislative assemblies now in session.

ADOPTION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, the number and gravity of motor vehicle accidents on the Iowa highways gives cause for alarm, and

Whereas, the large number of our citizens permanently injured and killed annually in such accidents is to a great extent inexcusable and results directly from negligence and reckless driving, and

Whereas, the percentage of such accidents causing permanent injuries and death resulting from operation of motor vehicles by the teen-age group is extremely out of proportion to the number of drivers in such group, and

Whereas, it appears that the reason that such a large percentage of the group of teen-age drivers are careless and reckless in their operation of motor vehicles is because of a lack of safety education and parental supervision and discipline, and

Whereas, there are many drivers in the teen-age group who operate motor vehicles with a high degree of skill and caution, and

Whereas, it is unfair to the skillful and cautious teen-age driver to deny him the privilege of operating a motor vehicle on the highways because of the acts of the irresponsible members of his group, and

Whereas, it is deemed desirable, if possible, to avoid denying driving privileges to the entire group thereby punishing the prudent teen-age driver, and

Whereas, it is believed that by proper parental supervision, instruction and discipline, the driving evils of the teen-age group can be effectively corrected, and

Whereas, it appears necessary to declare and emphasize the responsibility of the parent or person standing in the position of a parent of a teen-age driver,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, that the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa disapproves of the irresponsibility of parents and persons standing in the position of parents of teen-age drivers, who permit their children or wards to operate motor vehicles without being assured that such teen-agers have been thoroughly educated in the safe operation of a motor vehicle, and that said teen-agers are impressed with the necessity of such operation without declaring and emphasizing that parental consent will be withheld unless safe driving practices are followed, and who fail to appropriately discipline their children or wards when infractions of safe driving practices occur; and that this Assembly most emphatically urges that parents and persons standing in the position of a parent discharge their aforesaid responsibilities; and further most emphatically urge the courts of this state to make no disposition of any case in which a teen-age driver is charged with a violation of the traffic laws of this state or any of its political subdivisions without first requiring that the parent or person standing in the position of a parent of such teen-age violator appear in court with such violator, and that upon final disposition such parent or person standing in the position of a parent be made to realize and accept with fitting dignity his responsibilities, and that clear and positive admonition of these responsibilities be administered by the court.

Be It Further Resolved, that those who hold important executive, legislative and judicial positions in the State of Iowa should do all within their power to further public interest and cooperation in helping to solve this problem of motor vehicle accidents on Iowa highways.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

Under date of March 15, this House passed Senate Concurrent Resolution 13, the passage of which I opposed. The following is my reason for my negative vote:

There are some statements in this resolution which I feel need clarification, to say the least, and for that reason I ask for this privilege.

The resolution refers to one Harold McKinley of St. Ansgar, Iowa, who is being threatened by a would-be potato czar, with severe business losses, sacrifice of liberty, loss of free competition, loss of opportunity and basic freedoms, by Secretary of Agriculture Charles F. Brannan, in the administration of the notorious and infamous potato program. That McKinley and others are about to become the victims of a sham and a shameless example of gerrymandering which will destroy the right of Iowa farmers to determine how they shall be governed and how they shall market their produce. That Secretary Brannan is trying to force these Iowa growers under regulations which they voted overwhelmingly against by a vote of 24 to 1, etc.

From statements made on the floor of this House, Mr. McKinley represents the kind of men the patriots had in mind when they wrote the Constitution, and I received the impression that this man must be nearing sainthood. However, since it is not customary to canonize anyone until a considerable time after his demise, I had an urge to look into the matter to see if his garments were really as lily white and as immaculate as portrayed.

Let us have a look at the record. The resolution states the growers voted 24 to 1 against being included in the program. Was this the only vote taken? Oh, no, it was not. On March 6, 1950, at a meeting held in Algona, Iowa, the growers voted 16 to 9 in favor of Iowa being included in the area, which comprises six states, viz., Iowa, Indiana, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and North Dakota. At a public hearing held in Minneapolis in April, 1950, the evidence presented by the potato growers in the Hollandale area, in which the northern part of Iowa is a section, indicated overwhelmingly that the potato producers in the Hollandale area felt that the growers in Iowa should be covered by the order and included in the area. The Hollandale area extends into Iowa, because of the fact that the soil conditions in the northern part of Iowa are similar to that in southern Minnesota, and this is commonly known as the Hollandale area. As a result of the evidence presented at this public hearing, a public referendum was conducted by the USDA for all the potato growers in the states affected by the order, and ballots were mailed to all potato growers in the district and returned by the growers to the USDA in Chicago where the results were tabulated. There were 4,183 ballots returned. The results showed that 75.3 per cent of the potato growers in the area or district affected by the order were in favor of continuing the potato marketing agreement program and bringing Iowa and Indiana into the order.

The Secretary of Agriculture is not required to conduct referendums such as the ones held at Algona and Britt to determine whether or not they will join a marketing agreement program.

The legislation under which potato marketing agreement orders are issued was passed by the Congress of the United States in 1933 and 1937, which was quite some time prior to the time Charles Brannan became Secretary of Agriculture. Any orders which are issued under the potato marketing agreement program are formulated by the committee elected by the producers to administer the program. None of these orders or regulations is determined by the Secretary of Agriculture.

The potato order and regulations issued thereunder may be compared to the Pure Food provisions of the Food and Drug Act. The potato order requires that potato producers have their potatoes inspected and crated before they are offered to the consuming public. This is a protection to the consumer and is the only method whereby consumers may be sure that when they buy potatoes they are getting a certain quality. Without such a regulation potato producers might market any quality and consumers would have no recourse. It is my understanding that the State of Iowa has an opportunity to obtain potatoes for the school lunch program without cost, except transportation charges, but prefer, for some unaccountable reason, to purchase potatoes on the open market.

The results of my investigation show that Mr. McKinley has been at odds not only with the farm program authorities but also with the Mitchell County rationing board.

During the war year of 1943, one C. J. Larsen of Osage, Iowa, had a certificate of necessity for a combine issued by the Mitchell County rationing board, which Mr. McKinley objected to and refused to honor until he was served with a notice of requisition by the U. S. Marshal on October 19, 1943.

If my memory serves me correctly, it was stated that this man had never participated in any farm program and had not partaken of any of its benefits.

The results of my investigation show that as late as 1947 Harold McKinley had four potato loans, on 14,150 cwt. of potatoes, in the aggregate of $14,839. The United States Department of Agriculture, PMA, accepted delivery of 5,160 cwt. of these potatoes having an aggregate value of $9,205.08 in part payment of these loans from Mr. McKinley. These potatoes were resold to Mr. McKinley at 1 cent cwt. for use as livestock feed or fertilizer at a cost to the government of $9,143.48. Is that not participation?

In order that the members of this Assembly may be fully advised of the source of my information, I checked with the State PMA office in regard to the farm potato program in general and this case in particular. These are the facts as reported to me, and the records are public and open to anyone desiring to see them.

In order that the facts and figures I have quoted may be available to the members of this Assembly, I respectfully request that my explanation be printed in the Journal.

J. E. HANSEN of Carroll.

Sec. 25. Local enforcement of building code. It shall be the duty of councils of cities and towns to enforce the provisions of this Act within their corporate limits, and the boards of supervisors of counties shall enforce the provisions of this Act within the county except within the corporate limits of cities and towns and areas outside of the corporate limits under the jurisdiction of cities and towns.

Sec. 26. Appointment of building officials and inspectors. The councils of cities and towns and the boards of supervisors of counties may appoint a registered building official and such licensed inspectors as may be necessary to enforce the provisions of this Act within their respective jurisdictions. Until a building official is appointed in any city, town, or county the state building commissioner shall be the acting building official.

The councils of cities and towns and the boards of supervisors of counties may appoint as the registered building official and as licensed inspectors the state building commissioner and the state inspectors, in which case the building code council is hereby empowered to exact and fix the amount of fees for permits and inspections in an amount sufficient to defray part or all of the costs of such administration and enforcement of the provisions of this Act.

5. To examine or cause to be examined every building reported as damaged to ascertain as nearly as possible the cause of such damage, the nature and estimated amount of the damage, and the purpose for which the building was used, and make a written record thereof.

6. To annually submit a report to the mayor or the chairman of the board of supervisors, as the case may be, and to the state building commissioner, covering the work of his office during the preceding calendar year.

Sec. 29. Building permits. No work shall be commenced on the erection of a new building, nor upon any repair or alteration of an existing building or addition thereto covered by the provisions of this Act, until a building permit has been first obtained as provided herein.

Sec. 30. Application for permit. Application for such permit shall be made to the building official. It shall be accompanied by the required fee, and shall be on a form approved by the building commissioner and furnished by the building official. It shall contain a general description of the proposed work and its location; it shall indicate the proposed occupancy of all parts of the building and of that portion of the site or lot, if any, not covered by the building and shall contain such other information as the building official may require.

When the total cost of construction is twenty thousand dollars ($20,000) or less, a simple drawing and specifications to indicate the nature and character of materials and the construction to be used shall accompany the application.

When the total cost of construction is in excess of twenty thousand dollars ($20,000), two or more copies of specifications, and of plans drawn to scale with sufficient clarity and detail to indicate the nature and character of the work shall accompany the application. Such plans and specifications shall contain information as to the design loads, occupancy loads, fire loads, and quality of materials when quality is essential to conformity with the building code. Such information shall be specific, and the building code shall not be cited as a whole or in part, nor shall the term "legal" or its equivalent be used as a substitute for specific information. The building official may require details, computations, stress diagrams, and other data necessary to describe the construction and basis of calculations. He may also require plans showing the location of the proposed building or structure and of every existing building or structure on the site or lot, in accordance with a boundary line survey prepared by a qualified surveyor. He may require structural plans and computations to bear the signature of the architect or engineer in charge of the structural design.

The building official may require applications to be certified by the applicant under oath.

Sec. 31. Abandonment of application. An application for a permit shall be deemed to have been abandoned six months after the date of filing, unless before then a permit shall have been issued; provided, for cause, one or more extensions of time, for periods not exceeding ninety days each, may be granted by the building official.

Sec. 32. Issuance of permits. The building official shall examine or cause to be examined each application for a permit and shall ascertain whether the construction indicated and described is in accordance with the requirements of the building code and other applicable laws and ordinances. When the building official is satisfied that the work described in the application conforms to the requirements of the building code and other applicable laws and ordinances, he shall issue the permit.

The issuance of a building permit shall not relieve the applicant from obtaining any other permits required by the law, or from obtaining approvals required by any other state department.

Sec. 33. Refusal of permits. If the application and the plans filed therewith do not meet the requirements of the building code and other applicable laws and ordinances the building official shall deny the application, and shall return the plans to the applicant with his refusal to issue the permit. Such refusal shall, when requested, be in writing and shall state the reasons for such refusal.

Sec. 34. Notice to assessor. When a permit has been issued the building official shall give written notice to the city or county assessor, which notice shall state the name of the person to whom the permit is issued, the name of the owner and the location of the building or structure, and the estimated cost as given in the application.

Sec. 35. Reports of permits. The building official shall make a report to the state building commissioner on the first of each month of all permits issued by him during the preceding month.

Sec. 36. Conditions of permit. The building official shall act on each application without unreasonable or unnecessary delay. A permit shall be construed to be a license to proceed with the work, and shall not be construed as authority to violate, cancel, alter, or set aside any of the requirements of the building code, nor shall the issuance of the permit prevent the building official from thereafter requiring a correction of errors in plans or in construction, or of violations of the building code. Any permit issued shall become invalid unless the work authorized by it shall have been commenced within six months after its issuance, or if the work authorized by such permit is suspended or abandoned for a period of one year after the work has commenced; provided, for cause, one or more extensions of time, for periods not exceeding ninety days each, may be allowed in writing by the building official.

Sec. 37. Approval of plans. When plans and specifications are required with the application for permit the building official shall, upon the issuance of the permit, endorse in writing his approval on both sets of plans. One copy thereof shall be retained by the building official, and the other copy shall be returned to the applicant and kept by him at the site of work and be open to inspection at all reasonable times by the building official or his authorized representative.

Sec. 38. Foundation permits. After the filing of an application and before the issuance of a building permit, the building official may, at his discretion, issue a special permit for the foundations of the building. The holder of such a special permit may proceed with the work on the foundation at his own risk, but the issuance of such special permit shall not be any assurance that a building permit will be issued.

Sec. 39. Fees. Towns, cities and counties are hereby empowered to exact and fix the amount of fees for permits and inspections in an amount sufficient to defray part or all of the costs of administering and enforcing the provisions of this Act.

Sec. 40. Inspections. Before issuing a permit to alter or repair a building, or a certificate for change of occupancy, the building official shall inspect the building. He shall examine and inspect all buildings and structures from time to time during and upon completion of the work for which the permit is issued. In the inspection of materials he may when necessary make such inspection at the point of manufacture or fabrication. He shall keep a record of all inspections, and when any inspection is based in whole or in part upon the report of some recognized inspection service it shall be so entered on the record.

Sec. 41. Certificate of occupancy. No new building shall be occupied and no change in occupancy of a building or part thereof shall be made until after the building official shall have issued a certificate of occupancy therefor.

Sec. 42. Issuance of certificate. Upon the completion of a building in accordance with the provisions of this Act, and after final inspection, the building official shall issue a certificate of occupancy, stating the nature of the occupancy permitted, the number of persons for each floor when so limited by the building code, and the allowable load per square foot for each floor, and that the building was erected in compliance with the approved plans and the building code.

When a change of occupancy is proposed a certificate of occupancy for the new use shall be obtained by application to the building official giving the information and data necessary to determine compliance with the building code for the occupancy intended. The building official may require two sets of detailed plans, or a general inspection, or both. When upon examination and inspection it is found that the building conforms substantially with the building code for such occupancy a certificate of occupancy shall be issued.

A temporary certificate of occupancy may be issued for a portion or portions of a building which may be occupied safely prior to final completion or repair or alteration of a building.

Sec. 43. Appeals. Any person aggrieved by any decision, ruling, or order of the building official may first appeal to the building code council, and if aggrieved by the decision of said council, may appeal to the district court, as hereinafter provided.

Appeals to the building code council shall be taken by filing in writing, within thirty days from the action appealed from, with the state building commissioner a statement of the decision, ruling or order appealed from and the reasons why the appellant believes the action of the building official to be erroneous. The council shall grant a hearing within thirty days after the filing of the appeal and shall then promptly decide the matter appealed from. The council may delegate one of its members or the building commissioner to hear the appeal either at the seat of government, at/or near the place where the appeal arises and report his findings to the council. Decision on the appeal shall be by the council.

Any person aggrieved by any unreasonable requirement of any rule, regulation or standard of the building code council, or by any unreasonable requirement of any ordinance of any city or town, or any resolution of any county board of supervisors covered by section forty-five (45), may appeal to the district court.

Appeals to the district courts shall be commenced as any other civil action or for good cause shown on such notice as the court or judge shall prescribe. Such proceedings shall be in equity and triable de novo.

Nothing herein shall be construed to deny the right of review of any ruling of the building code council in a court of competent jurisdiction.

Sec. 44. Alternate remedy. In lieu of appeal any person aggrieved by any decision, ruling, or order of the building official may demand an arbitration of his differences with the building official by giving notice in writing to such building official. Within ten days thereafter, the person demanding arbitration and the building official shall each name one member of the board of arbitration and the members thus named shall select a third member. The decision of a board of arbitration shall be final. The compensation of the members of the board of arbitration shall be borne equally by the city, town or county, as the case may be, and the person demanding arbitration.

Sec. 45. Existing codes. Such portions of codes and ordinances of cities and towns pertaining to the construction and inspection of buildings relating to matters included in and covered by the Iowa building code shall become inoperative on the effective date of the Iowa building code, provided, however, when there exists in a city or town conditions or circumstances which warrant higher standards than the minimum requirements prescribed in the Iowa building code, such city or town may hereafter by ordinance prescribe higher standards, and where conditions and circumstances warrant, cities and towns or counties, which have present code requirements and standards greater than said minimum standards of the building code, may retain said requirements and standards. A copy of any such ordinance shall be filed with the Iowa building code council sixty days before the same becomes effective.

Sec. 46. Penalties. Any person who violates any provision of this Act, or who builds, alters, or maintains any building or portion thereof in violation of any provision thereof or of the building code, or who interferes with any building official or his authorized agent in the performance of his duties or prevents any building official from entering any building or portion thereof in the performance of his duties, shall be guilty of a misdemeanor.

Sec. 47. Validity of act. The invalidity of any division, section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase of this Act shall not invalidate any other division, section, subsection, sentence, clause or phrase thereof.

Sec. 48. Effective date of building code. The standards, rules and regulations constituting the building code shall be effective as to all state owned buildings and in all cities of the first class on March 1, 1952, and shall be effective in all other cities and towns and all counties on July 4, 1953, and may be adopted by reference by any city, town or county by ordinance, or by resolution of the board of supervisors before July 4, 1953.

Sec. 49. Special charter cities. This Act shall apply to special charter cities.

HOUSE FILE 89 REPRINTED

Palmer of Lee asked and obtained unanimous consent to have reprinted House File 89, as passed by the House.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

My "no" vote on House File 89 is based on the conviction that the creation of another commission, and the cost incidental thereto, is not justified at the present time. Also, that in my county, the farthest from our state capitol, the requirements for approval of buildings and improvements, by a state commission, would entail undue inconvenience and delay.

Brown of Mahaska, from the committee on roads and highways, submitted the following report:

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee on roads and highways to whom was referred House File 273, a bill for an act to amend chapter three hundred nine (309), Code 1950, relating to stop signs for secondary roads, begs leave to report it has had the same under consideration and has instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass.

Amend the title to House File 273 by striking all after the word "to" in line one (1) and substituting in lieu thereof the following: "repeal section three hundred twenty-one point three hundred fifty-one (321.351), and to amend section three hundred twenty-one point three hundred forty-five (321.345), Code 1950, relating to the designation of locations on the secondary road system where stopping of traffic is required."

Further amend House File 273 by striking all after the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. Section three hundred twenty-one point three hundred fifty-one (321.351), Code 1950, is hereby repealed.

"Sec. 2. Section three hundred twenty-one point three hundred forty-five (321.345), Code 1950, is hereby amended by adding the following sentence after the period in line nine (9): 'In determining which secondary roads shall be designated as through highways and which intersections of secondary roads shall be designated as stop intersections hereunder the board of supervisors of each county shall be guided by the recommendation of the county engineer, who in making such recommendation shall consider the volume and nature of the traffic which uses the particular highways and the topography at the intersections and who may recommend physical improvement or placing of signs to otherwise safeguard the traffic at such intersections.'"

Explanation

"The designation of all county trunk highways as through highways and the automatic requiring of traffic to stop before entering or crossing such highways without regard to the volume and nature of the traffic thereon has resulted in a disregard for traffic stop signs on the part of many drivers who enter the light traffic county trunk highways and who take chances at these and other locations where there might be more danger.

"The whole matter of designation of intersections at which traffic should be stopped requires a restudy with the general thought of requiring traffic stops only at places where there is actual need because of the comparatively heavy traffic on one of the highways or because of danger at a particular intersection due to topographic conditions. Oftentimes a traffic stop requirement might be of less benefit as a safety matter than would be a clearing up of the intersection to provide greater sight distance."

TO THE PIONEER LAWMAKERS OF IOWA AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

It is not only a great pleasure, but a distinct honor for me, upon this occasion, to welcome you, members of the Pioneer Lawmakers, to this joint convention. We who are your successors in the making of laws for the State of Iowa have a great privilege in looking into the records of the past to guide us in our deliberations of today. I personally have a very deep feeling of responsibility in the maintaining of the traditions of many years, whereby we meet as we do today in joint session, to give proper recognition and honor to you, the legislators of the past, for the splendid work you have done in the years gone by. So today we are most happy to greet you, to welcome you, and to look forward in great anticipation to the program which is about to be rendered. I therefore take great pleasure in introducing to you the Senator from Muscatine, the Honorable Herman B. Lord, who will extend the official welcome on behalf of the Senate.

On behalf of the Senate, Senator Herman B. Lord of Muscatine welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers with the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, PIONEER LAWMAKERS, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT SESSION, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

The privilege of welcoming the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa on this occasion is an honor and an opportunity. With this undertaking I have discovered a philosophy that otherwise would not have been revealed to me. In checking over the Journals of other sessions with reference to meetings of the Pioneer Lawmakers, there has come to me two thoughts which I shall set out in separate parts:

1. Today we stand in the presence of those whose endeavor in the past has become a heritage to us as evidenced by the functions of government and institutions of this great state.

It seems to me that to know more personally and intimately our honored guests we should ask that their names be published in the Journals as a part of these doings. In this way we may better preserve the memories and personalities of this occasion.

2. Throughout their labors there seems to run a thread of admonition to us, starting with the Constitution which contains therein, in the Bill of Rights, Article I, Section 1, the following:

"All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights—among which are those of enjoying and defending life and liberty, acquiring, possessing and protecting property, and pursuing and obtaining safety and happiness."

Under the Bill of Rights man is a free agent and only such restraints shall be placed upon him as will require him to respect the same rights for others.

We are warned that as the population becomes more dense, our society will become more complex. As society becomes more complex, there will be more demands for rules and regulations made upon the legislature by special groups. As rules and regulations are increased, that freedom which our Pioneer Lawmakers intended for us is limited and restricted.

We have met in regular session for the 54th time. During that period there have been enacted over 17,000 sections within 795 chapters of the Code. And it is safe to say that Iowa has not less than 50,000 departmental rules and regulations, and many have the force and effect of statutory law.

It would appear that 17,000 Code sections should be sufficient to regulate a complex society. Should Iowa legislatures continue in the next 54 sessions at this rate, the Civil Rights provisions of the Constitution could well be nullified.

In gratitude to you, the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa, we the lawmakers assembled here today give thanks for your philosophy—that philosophy “that the least governed is the best governed”.

We promise you here, we promise you now, that your posterity shall remain free.

President Nicholas introduced the Honorable Arch W. McFarlane of Black Hawk with the following remarks:

It now gives me great pleasure to introduce to you one of your fellow members, and still a member of the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, and recognized as the dean of Iowa legislators, the Honorable Arch W. McFarlane of Black Hawk County, who will extend to you a welcome on behalf of the House of Representatives.

On behalf of the House, the Honorable Arch W. McFarlane of Black Hawk welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers with the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONVENTION AND PIONEER LAWMAKERS:

It certainly gives me one of the greatest thrills of my lifetime to appear before this distinguished group of Iowa citizens today because I am one of the pioneers and a member of your association.

I was raised on a reading diet which included all of J. Fenimore Cooper's Leatherstocking tales, and I got my idea of what a pioneer looked like and acted like out of such books as the “Deerslayer.”

In later years, especially since the movies came along, my subconscious idea of a pioneer became even more glamorous; all pioneers were rugged heroes, all pioneer women were beautiful, and the few villains who moved in on them were speedily disposed of.

I realize now that all of the men and women I knew in my boyhood were pioneers, and pioneers of the sturdiest type. Many of you here today were reared under pioneer conditions and knew at first hand some of the tough side of pioneer life here in Iowa or elsewhere.

I doubt very much if any of you here today thought about yourself as a pioneer in the Iowa lawmaking business. Yet, even today, lawmaking is still a good deal of a pioneering process. We are constantly entering new fields of public activity, enacting measures never even thought of in our earlier days of statehood, and made necessary by the inevitable march of time.

As I look back upon the legislative history of Iowa, I begin to realize with the passing of years what a good job earlier pioneer lawmakers did when they wrote the Constitution of the State of Iowa to begin with, and when, through the sessions of each General Assembly, they built up what is now the Code of Iowa.

I am also somewhat amazed when I realize that on really fundamental issues, such as roads, schools, and public welfare, we seldom find that our legislation needs repealing. I can't remember a single really important development along these lines in which the General Assembly has found it necessary to go into reverse.

As we meet here today it is appropriate that we should pay tribute to the great men who have been our pioneer lawmakers throughout the years.

Their greatness was not always recognized at once, sometimes, indeed until long after they were dead.

One of the greatest of them all, Samuel Kirkwood, came to the state Senate with, as they say, "seeds in his hair."

In my own time I have seen young men come into the Iowa House with little or no heraldry, and develop into governors and United States senators before my eyes. I consider our lawmaking body sometimes in the light of a university for the training of public leaders, and it is, in my own opinion, a very great and successful school.

On behalf of the members of the House of Representatives, I deem it a great deal of pleasure to welcome you here today and sincerely hope that your meeting will be beneficial and that you will all enjoy yourselves by renewing acquaintances with the older members and friends and becoming acquainted with the new members who are trying to follow out the program which you outlined in years gone by.

President Nicholas introduced the Honorable Carl W. Reed, vice president of Pioneer Lawmakers, with the following remarks:

Due to the fact that your President, the Honorable C. F. Clark of Cedar Rapids, is unable to be present on account of illness, it is now my pleasure to present to you, and introduce to the members of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, the vice president of the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa, the Honorable Carl W. Reed, who is presently serving the State of Iowa so ably as one of our commerce commissioners.

The Honorable Carl W. Reed addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THIS JOINT ASSEMBLY OF THE FIFTY-FOURTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, FELLOW PIONEERS, AND LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is my pleasure at this time to refer to four distinguished members of our association that are now serving in the legislature—Senator Byers,

Mr. McFarlane from Black Hawk, Mr. George Miller from Shelby County, and Mr. Langland from Winneshiek County. Those are men who have been in the state service a long time ago and are still working for the people.

The introducing of myself as vice president brings to mind a story that was going the rounds a good many years ago, back in what were known as the horse and buggy days. A farmhand, who in those days was called the hired man, after his evening chores were finished one day, was very busy polishing his lantern globe. He was going to have a very clean, polished clean, lantern chimney. His boss observed his industry working on that chimney and he said to him, "Well, Al, what are you going to do tonight? Why are you so busy fixing up that lantern chimney?" And the hired man said, "Well, boss, I am going courting tonight and I am fixing my chimney so as to have my lantern in the best shape." And the boss said, "Well, that is strange fixing up your chimney to go courting. Why, when I was a young man and went courting, I never took a lantern with me." The hired man said, "No, you didn't take a lantern but see what you got." Now if any of you came here to see Frank Clark, see what you got.

However, Frank was very faithful and he sent up a story of these men which I am going to read to you. It is entitled, "The Constitutional Convention."

CONSTITUTIONAL CONVENTION

The most dramatic event of the Thirty-ninth General Assembly was the killing of the constitutional convention bill by the House of Representatives.

Section 3, Article X, of our state Constitution provides that the question of calling a constitutional convention be submitted to the voters every ten years, and if the voters vote in the affirmative the General Assembly shall provide for the holding of the convention.

This measure was submitted and defeated every ten years until the general election in 1920 when it was carried by a very small majority, with only half of the voters of the state voting on the proposition at all. It probably would not have carried even then if it had not been for eleventh hour telegrams sent out from Des Moines, urging votes for the convention, but without giving any reasons. The parties responsible for sending out these telegrams never suggested any reason for calling the convention, or any amendments that could not be made in the usual way without a convention.

Bills were introduced in the House and in the Senate, the chief difference between the bills being that the Senate bill called for non-partisan election of delegates to the convention, while the House bill provided for their selection on party tickets. The House bill passed the House by a vote of three to one, and when this came up for consideration in the Senate the Senate bill was substituted. The House refused to concur in the Senate substitution; the Senate insisted and conference committees were selected.

Speaker Arch McFarlane was opposed to the convention and selected a conference committee, of which I was named chairman, which would endeavor to prevent the calling of the convention. I succeeded in delaying the meeting of the conference committees until the lunch hour of the closing day of the session. The House conferees insisted that the Senate must take the House bill or nothing, hoping this would result in a deadlock which would prevent the measure from passing. The Senate conferees at first were equally insistent on their bill, and I suggested that we report a disagreement. The Senate chairman called for a conference of the Senate conferees and they announced that they would accept the House bill rather than see the measure lost. A struggle then ensued in the committee, the House members urging that we agree to disagree, but the Senate members would not consent to this and the report was made out, the Senate receding from its substitute and adopting the House bill with the single modification of an age qualification of twenty-five years for delegates.

The report was drawn up and signed and, as chairman, I submitted it to the House at about 4:00 p.m., the legislative clock still standing at 11:40 a.m., as the Assembly had voted to adjourn at noon. The report was submitted amid the usual confusion and hubbub of a closing day and I merely suggested that, if the House really desired a constitutional convention along the lines of the House bill, it should adopt the report.

The vote showed up before us on the voting board, with two-thirds of the members voting in the affirmative, and the only thing remaining was to count and announce the vote.

Just then Joe Anderson of Winnebago County (afterwards Speaker) rushed over to my seat and asked me whether that meant a constitutional convention. I replied that it certainly did unless someone made a motion to reconsider within the next thirty seconds. Neither he nor I could make the motion, as neither of us had voted on the prevailing side, but I suggested that he go to Peters of Dallas County, who sat in the front row center, and get him to make the motion to reconsider as soon as the vote was announced, while I went up to the Speaker's desk and advised him what we were trying to do. The motion was made and Anderson started the debate, while I sent to the law library for memoranda relating to the legal right of the legislature to defeat the bill and prevent the convention.

As Anderson took the floor and announced our purpose to defeat the "Con Con" the confusion immediately subsided, and amidst intense excitement and silence unusual in the House, the debate proceeded. Information spread over the State House that a fight had been started on the "Con Con" and the galleries as well as the floor of the House—the doors having been thrown wide open for the closing day—were immediately packed to their full capacity, while ten or fifteen Senators came over to watch the proceedings.

Among those who joined with us in the attack on the bill were Edson of Buena Vista (afterwards Speaker), Powers of Crawford, leader of the Democratic minority (and afterwards Supreme Court justice), Moen of Lyon, Narey of Dickinson, Lake of Woodbury and others.

Among the arguments used was the fact that only about half of the voters voted on this proposition at all, and so while the proposition carried by a very small majority, less than thirty per cent of those who voted for president voted in favor of the convention. It was also claimed, and not denied, that a large percentage of those who voted for the convention did not know what they were voting for. Members reported that they had heard from home, and those who had been home reported that there was now a strong opposition to it all over the state, the people feeling that it was unnecessary and might involve the expenditure of half a million dollars, and that it was not advisable in unsettled times, when there are so many strange isms and theories abroad, to rewrite the fundamental laws of the state.

Those supporting the bill, led by Weaver of Polk, Mayne of Palo Alto, Westervelt of Greene, Forsling of Woodbury, argued that the General Assembly was under obligations to listen to the mandate of the people as expressed at the last general election, and that it was a duty imposed on the General Assembly by the Constitution to provide for this convention, and that it would be a most unusual proceeding to override this mandate.

In reply we insisted that this mandate was expressed in the same terms as the constitutional requirement that the state should be redistricted senatorially after each census, although this had been ignored by the legislature after every census for sixty years. Also, that there was nothing in the Constitution that required any member of the legislature to vote against his best judgment and conscientious convictions on any proposition. I also called attention to the fact that the action we were proposing to take was not without precedent as similar actions had been taken theretofore by the legislature in half a dozen states, including two different occasions by the legislature of New Hampshire, and the courts had sustained the right of the legislature to block the convention in this manner.

When the debate started, none of us knew what the result would be. The question had been brought before the House as suddenly as a bolt of lightning from a blue sky, but at the close of the debate the House by a vote of 71 to 17 voted to reconsider and then by a similar vote rejected the report of the committee.

To prevent any interference with the expressed desire of the House, I then made a motion that the House request the return of the bill from the Senate, and that the chief clerk be directed to retain it in his possession until final adjournment, and that the chief clerk and enrolling clerk be directed not to enroll the bill, and Speaker not to sign it as Speaker of the House. This motion was carried by an overwhelming viva voce vote, and as the Des Moines papers reported, "amidst wildest applause and confusion."

When this request from the House was presented before the Senate, an attempt was made to substitute by receding from the Senate amendments and accepting the House bill. This was defeated by a vote of 34 to 15, and the "Con Con" bill, back again in the hands of the House, was buried forever.

The only three constitutional amendments suggested during this debate were: an amendment giving women the right to be members of the General Assembly; another making different provisions for the districting of the state in senatorial districts; and a third providing for collective bargaining by producers. The first amendment suggested, giving women the right to be members of the General Assembly, was adopted by vote of the people in 1926. No change has been made relative to procedure in redistricting the state senatorially, but in 1928 an amendment was adopted which provides "but no county shall be entitled to more than one Senator." Since 1916 no amendments to the State Constitution have been submitted or adopted, aside from the two above referred to and the amendment of 1936 which repealed the provision for the taking of a state census, and the amendment of 1942 which provided that all motor vehicle registration fees and all licenses and excise taxes on motor vehicle fuel, except cost of administration, shall be used exclusively for the construction, maintenance and supervision of public highways exclusively within the state, or for the payment of bonds issued or to be issued for the construction of such roads.

The present Constitution of Iowa was adopted in 1857 and there are but few states now operating under a constitution adopted at an earlier date. The amendments adopted prior to 1920 were few in number and of little general importance. Two of them provided for striking out the word "white" from various articles of the Constitution. Two others made certain provisions relative to the establishment of judicial districts and abolishing the office of district attorney and substituting that of county attorney; the amendment of 1904 providing for biennial elections and making slight changes in the election of members of the General Assembly, and the amendment of 1908 providing for establishment of drainage districts. It would therefore appear that the Constitution as now amended contains all the fundamental provisions of a Constitution and has proved satisfactory to the people of Iowa for nearly a century.

Mr. Reed introduced the Honorable L. B. Forsling with the following remarks:

The principal speaker this afternoon is the Honorable L. B. Forsling, judge of the District Court of Woodbury County. Judge Forsling was a member of the House in the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Fortieth Extra, Forty-first, Forty-second, Forty-third and Forty-fourth General Assemblies and the Senate of the Forty-eighth, went to the district bench out there and for a while was in the Army and is now back on the bench; and it is my pleasure to present to you Judge Forsling.

Judge Forsling addressed the joint convention as follows:

I served six terms on this side and a term on the other side. I spoke often, maybe too often, to the House members, and spoke often, maybe too often, to the Senate members. This is the first time that the members of the Senate and House together have been compelled to listen to me.

I don't know any work that can be done that I know of that is better than that of legislating, and again there is no work more fascinating than that of legislating. Certainly there is no work that is more important than that of legislating, and I am sure that there is no work that is so little appreciated as legislating.

It is good to be here and I appreciate very much this honor. It is nice to meet with the men that we struggled with and had our legislative contacts with, with whom we agreed and with whom we disagreed. We thought that we were solving all of the problems of the state when we were serving here, but of course we did not, and maybe it is just as well we did not. It would not be much of a world, it would not be a good world, if we had. We thought we did a good job. Maybe we did. I think we did. But it is good to know that the work that we left unfinished, the work that is left to be finished, and is going to be done now, is in the hands of capable successors.

I propose to talk of that which is uppermost in the minds of Americans and now concerns Americans the most. I do not come as a partisan. America's tangled foreign relationship have brought troubles as big as the nation, solution of which calls for the courage and best thought of all patriots of both and all political parties. America is at its Calvary. In our present situation there is no clear line of cleavage, with adherents of either party having divergent views. Both major parties are guilty of fault responsible for our existing trouble; one party in the driver's seat, the other hopeful to drive, yet seemingly content to ride along.

You may ask why an obscure person in the hinterlands of Iowa should presume to discuss the subject. Answer will be given later on.

We are at war in Korea—already our fourth largest war as measured by casualties—the war threatening tremendous enlargement, with causes, reasons and objectives stated in platitudes or sophistries.

This is a crisis of confidence. What is doubted by millions of Americans is the ability of our leaders to rightly decide problems or their ability to point the way. Lack of confidence in our present statesmanship in that these same persons have piled blunder on blunder, have brought us to our present danger. We have a feeling of bewilderment resulting from diplomatic ineptitude; a history of turns and reversals, a period of off again, on again. American people are afraid this rigmarole will continue on and on until our destruction.

We engaged in two world wars under the slogans "save the world for democracy" and "self determination of small nations." We were victorious in both wars, yet democracy is more restricted now than before our participation; yet small nations have been overcome by the larger.

The manpower, military and industry of America achieved total victory in World War II, but in their turn our diplomats lost the peace as thoroughly as we had won the war.

We destroyed German ability to again make war and boasted at the extent of that destruction. We are now feverishly endeavoring to rebuild, at our cost, that same destruction.

Our amateur diplomats debating tweedledee and tweedledum, lost babes not knowing what they want, are opposed to the professionals of other people, who definitely do know what they want.

We boasted of the complete destruction of the military of Japan. We gave the Japanese a constitution. At the insistence of those profound thinkers of ours we inserted in that constitution, and perforce accepted by the Japanese, a provision whereby the Japanese forever forswore war or the power to make war.

Now these same profound thinkers are re-arming Japan, America, of course, paying the bill.

Also the star-gazers are now urging the Japanese to eliminate the provision so ardently and fervently insisted upon by us.

We ousted the Japanese from Korea, then granted Russia a joint protectorate of that unfortunate country, victim of its neighbor. We now regret the invitation. We took Korea under a protecting wing—we led it by the hand to better and higher things under a benign and beneficent administration. When all Koreans did not agree on the benefits conferred, we engaged in shooting them and in the destruction of their countryside and cities. Such is the way of some guardianships.

We declare ourselves against dictators, but actually pick and choose, changing with the seasons and without apparent reason. Yesterday it was "good old Joe," today something else. Tito an enemy yesterday, a friend today. Franco unworthy of consideration yesterday, recipient of favors today. We love Vargas and dislike Peron. Our departments vociferous in the denunciation of communism abroad, and equally solicitous of the protection and welfare of the communist (and his fellow traveler) who lives and works and sabotages in our midst. We reject the communists abroad, embrace them here at home, we even extend glad tidings to them.

This recital of failure and contradiction could continue indefinitely. It is given to show a few of the reasons for lack of confidence. Water over the dam. Not water but blood and much of it; blood not over the dam but still flowing, and those same crystal gazers still in charge.

No set course, a record of gymnastics, the pattern of the crazy quilt with a thread of red interwoven. (The conclusion is inescapable.) John L. Lewis was eminently correct in his estimate of the abilities of our state department. Could others have done better? Could others have done worse?

Who then are responsible for these tragic sequences? For the most part amiable and well-meaning gentlemen but men obsessed with conflicting purposes, loyal to a world organization and super-government; secondarily loyal to American interests. The result is we carry, or try to carry, the world in a basket, the basket necessarily paid for by us. An optimism of welfare for the entire world, rather than welfare of nation.

A divided loyalty, requiring a departure from organic law, a departure from established principles, a departure from honesty of statement, depending for justification on twisted reasoning. Twisted reasoning not confined entirely to the disciples of either political party.

A conflict of ideas between those who have an abiding and decent respect for our natural obligations to people of other lands without undue sacrifice of our own interests and those who think it America's duty to run the world willy nilly under and according to theories of the unrealistic and impractical. A perfect demonstration that two masters may not be served.

To carry into effect this business of running the world we have abandoned basic things, and are required to adopt strange, startling changes and innovations in the tenets of government.

We have abandoned the golden rule of individuals and nations, that we cannot arrogate to ourselves that which we do not grant to others, nor demand of others what we do not require of ourselves.

A departure from the concept as found in our declaration that when the bonds which have united one people with another become burdensome, then is the privilege to dissolve those bonds.

A departure from the accepted principle that we or any people may conduct internal affairs as we or they dispose without interference, they with us, we with them.

A setting aside of our Constitution which grants to Congress sole power to declare war or appropriate for war.

Concealment of the truth in that the physical integrity of America is not now nor has been for a century menaced by outside forces; choosing to ignore that our real danger comes from maladjustments within; that if America and its priceless heritage is destroyed this destruction will arrive from internal stresses—a blowing apart at the seams.

A failure to recognize the upheaval which is taking place inspired by that same pronouncement which uplifted the colonists to freedom; the yellow and brown races breaking the chains of the outlander; resisting and throwing off exploitation, peonage, poverty and misery which attends empires or colonial systems. A movement which always heretofore has had our sympathetic understanding. A business strictly of those peoples in which the humanities tell us not to meddle. A movement necessary and offering eventual hope for a successful and useful congress of nations.

A departure from organic law in that under it we and they have the right to define, enlarge or limit our government organization; to have king become dictator or representative government as we or they decide and will permit no questioning of that right even though outsiders greatly differ.

Under which golden rule we grant to others the same non-interference regardless of our opinions, likes or dislikes. Incidentally, history discloses that people unite in resisting the meddler and that foreign intervention seldom achieves its objective.

That thinking responsible for the abrogation of the provision which grants Congress the decision of war; abrogation of the provision granting Congress sole authority to appropriate for war; a thinking which would and at this immediate time does give other departments the privilege of embezzlement, the using of public monies set aside for building a military to the expenditure and dissipation thereof in various expeditions. A line of reasoning which brings rhapsodies such as this—I quote from a recent editorial in Iowa's largest newspaper:

"Think what a genuine federal world government with power to raise its own taxes and armed forces could do." Here consider all the implications as of the present—the United States the only have nation in a world envious, covetous, resentful.

The apologists for those dreamers justify the Korean venture, descending in so doing to plausible falsities.

They state we are on a policing expedition—not involved in war, even though the American casualties already exceed those of the wars in 1812, Mexico or Spain.

The apologists say the dignity of the United Nations was involved; that war was required to sustain that dignity. The truth is the 38th Parallel, the Korean Mason-Dixon Line, was not established by the United Nations but by the joint action of Russia and the United States, a proposition with which neither the Koreans nor the United Nations had anything to do, the crossing of which reflected internal dissension by opposing factions of Koreans.

Again the apologists claim the Korean war to be the action of the United Nations. In this claim they are not candid. In making the decision Asiatic nations, India, Pakistan, Burma, Malaya and others did not vote affirmatively. Those nations most directly concerned. Nor did the nations which voted with us at our importuning, cajoling, in consideration of favors granted or to be granted, bind themselves as full partners. The vote was little more than a sanction for us to undertake the venture. No delegate from another country would, nor could, have obligated his people to a full participation of troops, equipment or money. The proof of this may be found in the casualty lists. Despite reports issued to delude us, that disparity no doubt still continues and will continue. Beyond token forces no other government dares to go; casualty lists in proportion to ours would in parliamentary countries bring fall of government overnight. Misinformation blinds us to the real situation; other people realistic and not so misled know the Korean war can bring neither good nor permanent end. What is said may be considered a simplification of the issues; actually the issues can be further simplified. In 1947 Russia agreed to withdraw from Korea conditioned on similar withdrawal by us; this we refused to do, alleging the Russians had rigged the election proposed for Korea. Now then we are engaged in killing Koreans, and they killing Americans, because Russia, a foreign power present through our acquiescence, did or might have influenced an election.

Koreans have no designs on us; a land of relatively primitive, poor and inoffensive people, yet the land of a major war with a rate of losses for us far exceeding that of the war with Japan.

What are the justifications from those responsible?

You know of the young marine and his father who made inquiry. The news account of the reply by Secretary Acheson said his reply of 1000 words was two weeks in being formulated. In brief I shall give you that piece of tripe by Acheson which was two weeks in the cooking. I quote from the newspaper account:

"I thought then and I think now the real problem lies deeper than the question of particular decision, even the important ones which distress your son. It lies (the second time he uses this word) in the fact, for which we thank God, that these boys have been brought up in the fundamental decency of American life. I appeal for a strong faith on the part of American young people in the validity of the ideals on which the country was founded and in which it now endeavors to guide its action. The young men of the nation are denied the natural development of their lives and are undergoing an agony of spirit. This is due to the fact that some distant and shadowy figures in the Kremlin, controlling millions of people far from them, are setting out to make impossible the kind of life which Americans had every hope and right to live."

What an illuminating answer, and a fair sample of the bologna which is the portion of the American people.

It is self-evident that the secretary does not know the purpose of being in Korea, any more than we ourselves do.

The sad story is the Korean war will be entered in the histories as a war, not fathered by the American Congress, nor actually sired by the United Nations—the product instead of artificial propagation, that kind of war for which descriptive and appropriate names can easily be supplied.

And now consider China and keep in mind the golden rule of non-interference. The explainers say the Chinese communists attacked our forces in Korea. This is in accord with the fact. The explainers, however, fail to go on and say that the United States long ago took up the cudgel for the opposing Nationalists represented by Chiang. That we actively participated in Chiang's behalf in the Chinese factional war. We continued that support despite the fact that the Communist faction demanded and agreed to a cessation of internal hostilities and a joinder of the Chinese to oppose Japan—then the common enemy of China and of us, and further continued the support of Chiang after his refusal of that offer.

We continue the support of Chiang though he no longer purports to follow the Dr. Sun democratic tradition; even though he has failed to offer relief to his people from the exactions of the war lord, hordes of political grafters or from their intolerable poverty; no relief offered by him from the system which maintains the potentate at the cost of the toil, misery and degradation of the thousands. We continue that support though the Chinese have chosen to desert the horrible past for change in future hope; though Chiang and his cohorts were put on the scales by the Chinese and found wanting; even though he was ignominiously chased off the Asiatic mainland by the Chinese after and while receiving aid, comfort and money from us. We persist in that support though his reinstatement in China has no more chance than the well known snowball. A support in what is none of our business, a continuance of which will mean tremendous slaughter, untold expenditure and inconclusive ending. Yet we still hold the torch and bag for Chiang. Witness Japan's experience—15 years of war without loss of a campaign, yet never holding more of China than the spot where the Japanese soldier at the moment was standing.

We are at war with the Chinese, traditional friends, they of us, we of them. Two nations with no designs against each other. Their farmers, laborers, business and professional men without enmity.

In the absence of valid reason, the explainers and warmongers concoct the scarehead—China offers a huge reservoir of soldiers for Russia. China also offers a huge reservoir of soldiers for us. The explainers suppress the real factors. Until the present episode we always aided China against encroachment. The Chinaman is said to never forget.

The control in China is communistic, but the apologists fail to tell that the word 'communistic' is relative and elastic. The present government of China is absolute. So was that of Chiang. The communist movement in China constitutes a property reform movement which every informed American, rich or poor, knows is long overdue. Unlike some of its counterparts, however, the Chinese communist is not against religion or creed, nor is there evidence that it seeks enlargement at the expense of its neighbors, nor evidence towards empire. Probably the least predatory of nations. The party in power does, however, ask to be let alone so the Chinese may work out their destiny, a people innately peaceful, honest and industrious. This right they should have free from interference.

China heretofore has not suffered at our hands. The main thief of Chinese territory has been Russia. The Chinese, having pride of nation, when the time is propitious surely will demand and force a return of their people and land previously stolen from them. Russians are equally foreign to China with us. Perforce the Chinese Reds accept aid from Russia, no longer wanted or needed when we get out. Then that time will come when China demands a return of what has been stolen. Russia has that to fear; we do not, something you may be sure that the Russians are fully aware. Important it is to note that Great Britain has written finis to the Chiang incident and now recognizes his opposition as the government of China.

I shall read what appears to be a carefully considered editorial from the conservative financial paper, the U. S. Weekly. Quote:

"For the sake of China and the rest of the world which has dealings with it, the reforming elements of China, including the Communists, should come to terms and bring order out of the existing chaos, and for us to come to terms with those best able to bring order to that distracted country. It does not mean the present party will not come to agreement with us on reasonable terms. Be assured the Chinese Communists are not a mere appendage of Moscow, but are a genuine national movement fully capable of taking the line they think best for the Chinese people. That is the history of China." End of quote.

Remove Chiang from the picture, as Britain has done, then there is no quarrel with China or any faction thereof.

Admittedly Russia is antagonistic to democratic or capitalistic government and therefore antagonistic to us.

Russia today is following the pan-Slavist ideas of the Czars. It may decide on further and immediate war. A better guess is not. The bear has again stretched out its paws to add additional territory, all aided and abetted by us. It now, as in the past, seeks to digest. As a part of its strategy and to gain time for that process it foment and stirs up trouble in other parts to annoy, to distract and to weaken by attrition its opposition, including ourselves. It is the old shell game with the United States entirely taken in. The Russian strategy has worked perfectly. Instead of preparing and conserving for possible trouble with the bear we are out in the wilderness pursuing John Chinaman. Certainly these shadowy figures mentioned by Mr. Acheson are happy in the complete success of their strategy and in our predicament.

If need there was to make demonstration in behalf of the United Nations, that demonstration has already been made and paid for in blood.

As to future demonstrations we should be mindful that the organization is yet an infant, was born out of hatreds; to grow needs the nurture afforded by peace. All sincere people hope the present organization survives to outlive and live down this existing fiasco. As to future demonstration it is not unreasonable to expect, unlike the present, the assumption by others of a full share of the burden.

So then our advanced thinkers have woven a tangled web. Through them we have deserted actualities for rainbows, cast aside fundamentals for the expedient, from which has come danger.

In following these thinkers we have become the purveyors of good—as they see it—to all others whether they like it or not. They forget or do not want to know that we are up against a foreign-domestic conspiracy, sinister and diabolical, to destroy the American Constitution. They would now let us bleed to death in Korea, China and other sectors; to keep on in this nightmare to save their faces; so they and we are participants in the Oriental game of saving face. They will continue this insanity, even precipitate us into a bigger gamble, hoping that somehow, somewhere, their already monumental folly will be forgotten though the forgetting may not come ahead of ultimate catastrophe.

Under these leaders of ours we have become the swashbuckler of nations. Jousting at windmills. Ours is the paradox of making war under the world flag and preparing for another war against a member partner without regard to that same world flag.

Now then, we should conserve our manpower and resources by getting out of Asia. We should divorce our state department; require future war commitments be made by Congress; return to the Constitution; concentrate for possible armed conflict with Russia.

Comes the question, "Why should an obscure person out in Iowa presume to speak?" Why a better place than Iowa, far from the influence of brass and braid, where the warmonger and the jingo are fewer, where chest beating and flag waving are at a minimum? Also in answer—in obscurity there is immunity from the hatchetman, name caller, malicious apologist; the destroyer and distorter of truth.

America's danger is not imminent, it is here. It is for those who would keep our light burning lest the entire world be made dark, to make known to the public men in Congress and others that the five per cent who make ninety-five per cent of the noise do not represent or reflect the opinion of the vast majority. Let them know that America will no longer tolerate delirium leadership.

In conclusion and to borrow an expression, out in the cattle and cow country we are fed up with all this foolishness. Americans are tired of being hoodwinked, of being prize dupes all the time. What America wants and needs is opportunity to set its own house in order, an end to the bloodletting, a return to the Constitution as written and as intended, and a whole lot of resignations.

Kuester of Cass asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the remarks by President Nicholas, Senator Lord of Muscatine, McFarlane of Black Hawk, the Honorable Carl W. Reed, and the address of Judge L. B. Forsling printed in the Journal.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Butler of Pocahontas moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Lynes in the chair.

MESSAGES FROM THE SENATE

The following messages were received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 11, making application to the Congress of the United States for the calling of a convention to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Also: That the Senate has concurred in the House amendment to and passed Senate File 110, a bill for an act relating to the publication of notices, reports of proceedings and similar matter.

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 11

A concurrent resolution making application to the Congress of the United States for the calling of a convention to propose an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Whereas, Article V of the Constitution of the United States reads in part as follows: "The Congress * * * on the application of the legislatures of two-thirds of the several states, shall call a convention for proposing amendments, which, in either case, shall be valid to all intents and purposes, as part of this constitution, when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states * * *"; and

Whereas, the legislature of the State of Iowa, in view of the increasing tax problems of the state, caused in large part by the invasion of tax sources by the federal government, believes that its problems as well as the problems of other states similarly situated, can be solved only by some restraint upon present unrestrained exercise of the taxing power by the federal government; and

Whereas, the federal government is using and has been using for a number of years the taxing power to produce revenue beyond a legitimate necessity of a federal government, other than defense needs, and has been using the funds so raised to invade the province of legislation of the states and to appropriate in many fields that which amounts to a dole to the states of the money raised therefrom to accomplish many purposes, most of them worthy, but by the described process making the money available only under conditions which result in a control by the federal government from centralized agencies in Washington, in many cases unfit, and in other cases unable to administer the laws according to the local needs because of varying conditions in the country as a whole; resulting in inequities in the administration of the very benefits purported to be granted; and

Whereas, state and local needs are disadvantaged because the people are already taxed far beyond the real need for any purpose other than forcing the centralization of all government in Washington; and

Whereas, the framers of the Constitution of the United States clearly foresaw the possibility of a condition similar to that herein described, and made provision in the Constitution for safeguarding the states against any oppression or invasion of rights by the federal government;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Legislature of the State of Iowa, that said legislature, hereby and pursuant to Article V of the Constitution of the United States, makes application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for the proposing of the following amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

ARTICLE

Section 1. The power to levy taxes and appropriate the revenues therefrom heretofore granted to the Congress by the states in the several articles of this constitution is hereby limited.

Sec. 2. This article shall be in effect except during a state of war, hereafter declared, when it shall be suspended. The suspension thereof shall end upon the termination of the war but not later than three months after the cessation of hostilities, whichever shall be earlier. The cessation of hostilities may be declared by proclamation of the President or by concurrent resolution of the Congress or by concurrent action of the legislatures of 32 states.

Sec. 3. Notwithstanding the provisions of Article V, this article may be suspended for a time certain or amended at any time by concurrent action of the legislatures of three-fourths of the states.

Sec. 4. There shall be set aside in the treasury of the United States a separate fund into which shall be paid 25 per cent of all taxes collected by authority derived from the sixteenth amendment to this constitution, except as provided in section 5, and 25 per cent of all sums collected by the United States from any other tax levied for revenue.

Sec. 5. There shall be set aside in the treasury of the United States a separate fund into which shall be paid all sums received from taxes levied on personal incomes in excess of 50 per cent thereof and from taxes levied on income or profits of corporations in excess of 38 per cent thereof.

Sec. 6. Before paying any sums into the funds created by sections 4 and 5 hereof, the treasurer of the United States shall deduct therefrom 20 per cent which shall be used in payment of the principal of the national debt of the United States.

Sec. 7. No tax shall hereafter be imposed on that portion of the incomes of individuals which does not exceed, in the case of unmarried persons the sum of $600 per annum, and in the case of married persons the sum of $1,200 per annum jointly. A minimum deduction of $600 per annum shall be allowed for each dependent.

Sec. 8. The treasurer of the United States shall once in each year, from the separate fund created by section 4 hereof, pay to each of the several states one-fourth of one per cent of said fund and from the remainder of said fund shall pay to each state a portion of such remainder determined by the population of each state in ratio to the entire population of the several states according to the last federal decennial census or any subsequent general census authorized by law.

Sec. 9. The treasurer of the United States shall, from the separate fund created by section 5 hereof, pay to each state, once in each year, a sum equal to the amount of money in such fund which was collected from persons or corporations within such state.

Sec. 10. Any sums paid hereunder to the several states shall be available for appropriation only by the legislatures thereof. The legislatures may appropriate therefrom for any purpose not forbidden by the constitutions of the respective states and may appropriate therefrom for expenditures within the states for any purpose for which appropriations have heretofore been made by the Congress except such purposes as are specifically reserved by this constitution for the exclusive power of the Congress. The people of each state may limit the expenditures of funds herein made available to the legislature, but shall not direct the appropriations thereof.

Sec. 11. Each legislature shall have power by rule or resolution to provide for the assembly thereof in special sessions for the purpose of considering amendments to, the suspension of or the ratification of amendments proposed to this article.

Sec. 12. Each legislature shall have power to elect one or more persons to represent such legislature in any council or convention of states created by concurrent action of the legislatures of 32 states for the purpose of obtaining uniform action by the legislatures of the several states in any matters connected with the amendment of this article.

Sec. 13. The Congress shall not create, admit or form new states from the territory of the several states as constituted on the first day of January, 1949, and shall not create, form or admit more than three states from the territories and insular possessions under the jurisdiction of the United States on the first day of January, 1949, or from territory thereafter acquired without the express consent of the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states.

Sec. 14. On and after January 1, 1949, the dollar shall be the unit of the currency. The gold content of the dollar as fixed on January 1, 1949, shall not be decreased.

Sec. 15. Concurrent action of the legislatures of the several states as used herein shall mean the adoption of the same resolution by the required number of legislatures. A limit of time may be fixed by such resolution within which such concurrent action shall be taken. No legislature shall revoke the affirmative action of a preceding legislature taken therein.

Sec. 16. During any period when this article is in effect the Congress may, by concurrent resolution adopted by two-thirds of both houses wherein declaration is made that additional funds are necessary for the defense of the nation, limit the amount of money required by this article to be returned to the several states. Such limitation shall continue until terminated by the Congress or by concurrent action of a majority of the legislatures of the several states. Upon termination of any such limitation the Congress may not thereafter impose a limitation without the express consent by concurrent action of a majority of the legislatures of the several states.

Sec. 17. This article is declared to be self-executing, and be it further Resolved, that attested copies of this concurrent resolution be sent to the presiding officers of each house of the Congress and to each member of the Iowa delegation in Congress, and that printed copies thereof, showing that said concurrent resolution was adopted by the legislature of Iowa, be sent to each house of each legislature of each state of the United States; and be it further

Resolved, that this application hereby made by the legislature of the State of Iowa shall constitute a continuing application in accordance with Article V of the Constitution of the United States until at least two-thirds of the legislatures of the several states shall have made similar applications pursuant to said Article V; and be it further

Resolved, that since this is an exercise by a state of the United States of a power granted to it under the Constitution, the request is hereby made that the official journals and record of both houses of Congress shall include the resolution or a notice of its receipt by the Congress, together with similar applications from other states, so that the Congress and the various states shall be apprised of the time when the necessary number of states shall have so exercised their power under Article V of the Constitution; and be it further

Resolved, that since this method of proposing amendments to the Constitution has never been completed to the point of calling a convention and no interpretation of the power of the states in the exercise of this right has ever been made by any court or any qualified tribunal, if there be such, and since the exercise of the power is a matter of basic sovereign rights and the interpretation thereof is primarily in the sovereign government making such exercise and since the power to use such right in full also carries the power to use such right in part the legislature of the State of Iowa interprets Article V to mean that if two-thirds of the states make application for a convention to propose an identical amendment to the Constitution for ratification with a limitation that such amendment be the only matter before it, that such convention would have power only to propose the specified amendment and would be limited to such proposal and would not have power to vary the text thereof nor would it have power to propose other amendments on the same or different propositions; and be it further

Resolved, that the legislature of the State of Iowa does not, by this exercise of its power under Article V, authorize the Congress to call a convention for any purpose other than the proposing of the specific amendment which is a part thereof; nor does it authorize any representative of the State of Iowa who may participate in such convention to consider or to agree to the proposing of any amendment other than the one made a part hereof; and be it further

Resolved, that by its actions in these premises, the legislature of the State of Iowa does not in any way limit in any other proceeding its right to exercise its power to the full extent; and be it further

Resolved, that the Congress, in exercising its power of decision as to the method of ratification of the proposed article by the legislatures or by conventions, is hereby requested to require that the ratification be by the legislatures.

167 election at which each member is entitled to an equal vote. If

177 license of any club which violates the provisions of this 178 subsection shall be revoked.
- 179 12. No liquor license shall be issued to any club which 180 does not keep accurate and complete books and records of all

183 such books and records, such license shall be revoked.
- 184 13. No liquor license shall be issued to any club which

189 and country clubs located within ten (10) miles of any city or 190 town which issues licenses.
- 191 15. The fee for a license issued by any city or town
192 under this act shall be two thousand dollars ($2,000) per 193 annum, which fee shall be payable one thousand dollars ($1,000)
194 to the commission which shall credit the same to the "liquor 195 control act fund", and one thousand dollars ($1,000) to the 196 city or town issuing the license.
- 197 The fee for a license issued by the commission under this 198 act shall be two thousand dollars ($2,000) per annum which

Mr. Roeleffs, a former member of the General Assembly of Iowa, is a consultant on the "exchange of persons" program from the Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations and the Department of Agriculture.

Mr. Roeleffs presented to the House the Honorable Kotaro Mori, chairman of the mission, who addressed the House. At the conclusion of his address in Japanese, the official translation officer, the Honorable Kazuo Ichihashi, gave a translation of the address in English, as follows:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

It is, indeed, a great honor and privilege bestowed upon me and the members of the Japanese Congressional Agricultural Mission to appear before you. Before I express my greetings to you, please allow me to express the greetings and message of thanks of the Japanese people, and we, the congressmen, the Japanese members of the Japanese House of Representatives, and also the Japanese House of Councillors, will express the general greetings of all of our citizens. At the end of the war, but four years ago, to be exact, we faced a great crisis. A crisis of starvation. In the wake of the war came privation, a keen social crisis, and amid great apathy, those in command did not know what to do. And the man in the street was left without food and he did not think what he should think, when he was hungry. That was the situation we faced, and about ten million people would have died from starvation if the situation was left as it was, but we are very fortunate indeed that help came from our former enemy. Even after a bitter war you were of an attitude to help. That help came from the United States, from United States citizens and we received generous shippings of food stocks, shipped to Japan by the kindheartedness of the United States, and the congressional authorities and this help we all knew came from the sacrifice, the economy and the privation of your people, and we all knew that it was not a gift, but the Americans wanted to do an act of good will and generosity shown to us.

The man in the street was impressed; it was a mental impression that he could work with new hope for tomorrow. I think with the right start we were given, through the immediate postwar years, I am glad to tell you, that our national economy has gone steadily forward. Not quite, but almost all of the national economy is in reconstruction, and able to produce almost as much food and materials as we need to support us and to help us in many activities.

These sincere thanks expressed by the millions of Japanese people should be conveyed to you, to the American people, and through you I hope to convey to the people of Iowa who did sacrifice in order to help us, and to pave the way for future friendship with our people.

We are glad that we have come and are glad that we have a good guide with us, and Mr. Roeleffs, a former member of the Senate of Iowa, was very kind to us, and from that we got to this great State of Iowa, and we feel kindly to you, and from our understanding of Mr. Roeleffs we feel that we are one of you.

Through former years he has extended to us a great service and I for one want to be one of the responsible leaders, I and the others, in agricultural progress, to express how valuable his help was to us and how he helped by paving the way for the building up of the extension service, forest service, 4-H organizations, and other many valuable helps rendered by him. I wish to express, from our country to you, the situation in Japan and the progress we face now. We have nothing more to add to what he said to you, except at the end of it, I must add as a measure of progress, every phase of our national progress, progress of industries and of food, because of the fact we are 84 million people kept in a small island, and the food supply is not enough to fill the hungry bellies of 84 million people.

From this dilemma shall I say, from this dilemma of a people—from all the vital problems which we have to solve in the immediate years, and this progress is not only economic but it is also political progress. From all of this, a hungry people might create dangerous situations. We might act according to our feelings and not what we think. Above all we need democracy. We must act according to the will of the people. Now more than any other time in the past, we need good balance of judgment by the Japanese people.

Today we face a domestic crisis of domestic affairs, and this crisis comes from the division of opinion between the democracy on one hand, and the communist and what it stands for on the other hand. Of course, the latter tendency is expressed by the minority of the people, yet this cannot be ignored, and this must be considered, not alone as a political issue, but also from the stomach's point of view, because those who are not well satisfied in the stomach might not see eye to eye with you or the rest of the people. We might agree to the best principle of understanding one another, and let everybody have their own view. They might act according to the instinct of the stomach, of the hungry stomach. This is the issue involved. The understanding of the soul, I believe, is most essential to Japan today.

As Mr. Roeleffs told you, the land is expanding to where we can get food for many of our people, even if not food for everybody. We can only get food to satisfy everybody through the encouragement and expansion of our industries. We shall not at the same time ignore the expansion of our agriculture. Agriculture is one of our national problems and this must be solved in relation to other phases of national economy.

There is another vital problem before us. We have not enough raw materials, not enough of coal, not enough of iron, not enough of gasoline, or other materials essential to modern economy. In the steady growth of our economy, this is made possible by the kind help and assistance given to us by the United States government, but we will still need your kind and thoughtful assistance in enabling us to get as many raw materials as may be needed in our industrial rehabilitation. Such raw materials as iron and others will be needed because we must finish them into good materials and ship them and get the money, and with the money we can buy the food for the great majority of our people, for those for whom we cannot produce the food. This will help to stabilize our thinking in Japan, and also the people of the world.

One thing I think best is seeing many things in the United States. We have visited California and Washington and Louisiana among others. We have seen many types of people, but one thing which impressed us most is the thing embodied in the people. Here in your Iowa legislature is embodied the spirit of authority by which you command the respect of the people for any bill which you pass because of their power formulated by you, it is not dependent upon you, but they are an expression of the will of the people you represent here. That is why the policies and the laws formulated in the legislatures of the United States of America are respected and cooperation is rendered to their policies rendered here. This cooperation is representative of the people you represent and this which we have seen, and this spirit of democracy, this spirit we shall learn from our experiences, and our people at home will benefit from these experiences. This we will take with us.

This organization by which your various wishes are conveyed to a state legislature will be formulated in a message to return to Japan, and the many organizations which gave you the expansion of your agricultural program and industrial progress in the United States of America.

We made many friends, I know Japan made friends, above all we made good friends, and a new spirit of democracy which we shall carry home to our farmers and our people. You may rest assured this will be rewarded or be paid back to you in many phases, and I hope with your help we shall receive our freedom and our sovereignty in the immediate future days. I cannot conclude my speech without conveying my sincere hope that the day will soon come when with your understanding and help we shall gain our freedom and sovereignty, and these will be restored to Japan and Asia and the world, and then we will have hearty cooperation with your people and with the world to make a new world for us all.

Schwengel of Scott asked and obtained unanimous consent to authorize the Chief Clerk to send a letter of appreciation to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of Japan, the Honorable Jop Hayaski, and to the President of the House of Councillors of Japan, the Honorable Waotake Sato; and that the remarks of Mr. Mori be printed in the Journal.

- 2 enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the

4 Section 1. Whenever a person is convicted of the 5 offense of rape, carnal abuse, sodomy or impairing the 6 morals of a minor or of an attempt to commit any of the 7 aforementioned offenses, the judge shall order the 8 commitment of such person to the screening center for a 9 period not to exceed sixty days. While confined in the 10 said screening center, such person shall be given a 11 complete physical and mental examination.

12 Sec. 2. Upon completion of the physical and mental 13 examination of such person, but in no event later than 14 sixty days after the date of the order of commitment, a 15 written report of the results thereof shall be sent to the 16 court.

17 Sec. 3. If it shall appear from said report that it 18 has been determined through clinical findings that the 19 offender's conduct was characterized by 20 (a) a pattern of repetitive, compulsive behavior;

22 (b) either violence; or

23 (c) an age disparity from which it shall appear that 24 the victim was under the age of fifteen years and the 25 offender is an adult aggressor; it shall be the duty of 26 the court, upon recommendation of the director of the 27 screening center, to submit the offender to a program of 28 specialized treatment for his mental and physical 29 aberrations.

34 (a) The court may place such person on probation
35 with the requirement, as a condition of said probation, 36 that he receive out-patient psychiatric treatment in 37 the manner to be prescribed in each individual case.

38 (b) Such person may be committed to an institution 39 to be designated by the director of mental hospitals for 40 treatment and upon release shall be subject to parole
41 supervision.

42 In the event that the court shall order a commitment 43 of the person as provided in this section, such order of 44 commitment shall not specify a minimum period of detention,
45 but in no event shall the person be confined or subject
46 to parole supervision for a period of time greater than 47 that provided by law for the crime of which such person
48 was convicted.

49 Sec. 5. The director of mental hospitals, upon 50 commitment of such person, shall thereupon arrange for 51 his treatment in one of the institutions under the jurisdiction of the department which, in the judgment of the director, is best suited to care for the needs of such person. The director, in his discretion, is hereby authorized and empowered to arrange for the transfer of such person to or from any institution within the jurisdiction of the department for the purpose of providing for the needs and requirements of such person according to the individual circumstances of the case.

Sec. 6. Any person committed to confinement, as provided for in section four hereof, may be released under parole supervision when it shall appear to the satisfaction of the director, after recommendation by a special classification review board appointed by the state board of control, that such person is capable of making an acceptable social adjustment in the community. It shall be the duty of the chief executive officer of any institution wherein such a person is confined to report in writing at least semiannually to the director concerning the physical and mental condition of such person with a recommendation as to his continued confinement or consideration for release on parole by said special committee. The state board of control is hereby authorized and empowered to promulgate rules and regulations for the parole, revocation thereof for cause, and the proper supervision on parole of said persons when released from confinement.

Sec. 7. If it shall appear from the report of such examination made of such person that the offender's conduct was not characterized by a pattern of repetitive, compulsive behavior and neither violence nor age disparity was indicated, as provided for in section three hereof, the court shall impose sentence on such person in the manner provided by law.

Sec. 8. No statute relating to remission of sentence by way of commutation time for good behavior and for work performed shall apply to any such person committed pursuant to section four hereof.

112 public, this fact shall be certified to such person and 113 to the director of mental hospitals. If such person 114 thereupon indicates a desire to receive treatment for 115 such condition, he may make application for voluntary 116 admission to an institution to be designated by the 117 director and upon approval of such application he may 118 be received in the designated institution and shall 119 there receive the treatment indicated by the circumstances
120 in the individual case. If such person is possessed of 121 sufficient financial ability to defray all or a portion 122 of the cost of his care and treatment, he shall be required
123 so to do. If such person shall desire to leave such 124 institution and discontinue the treatments being received
125 by him, he shall be required to give five days' notice,

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Koch of Palo Alto rose under the question of personal privilege and asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following poem printed in the Journal:

They're ribbing John Hansen
Who has a CONSERVATION mind:
We are sincerely hoping
There's a million of his kind.

Someone raided a furrier
And did his desk a-drape
Adding insult to injury
By finishing up with crepe.

Recall the Passenger Pigeon
Who darkened up the sky;
They're passed into oblivion,
Man's greed did make them die.

The countless herds of Buffalo
Who grazed our grassy plains,
The ruthless, wanton slaughter
Has left them scarce a name.

Remember the Prairie Chicken
On sailing wings who flew,
His boom on early morning
While the grass was wet with dew?

Or the plume of the snowy Egret,
On some vain person's head was linked;
Pursued throughout its hiding,
And almost made extinct.

Or think of the thoughtless farmer
Plows up and down the hill;
The little running raindrops
Do with silt our rivers fill.

Those rapid sloping hillsides
Where trees and shrubbery stood,
The bare rocks are now showing
And never will grow food.

Those populous, growing cities
Must empty in their sewer,
The purest water defiling,
The fish also are fewer.

Remember the virgin forests
Were slashed with furious ire
And then so sorely neglected
Were given o'er to fire.

Will future generations bless
Those who have gone before?
Looks like the curse of ages
Will rest squarely at our door.

John Brownlie.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following communication was received from the Governor:

April 5, 1951.

Hon. William S. Lynes,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
State House.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

According to section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Iowa, I am returning House File 179, without my signature.

My reason for vetoing this measure is based upon a decision, after due consideration, that it would weaken our present Child Labor Law. We should seek to strengthen this law and, while bowling is a popular recreational activity, I have been advised by juvenile court authorities and school truant officers that this type of work has contributed to the problem of juvenile delinquency and truancy from school. It is my opinion that this additional legislation would further aggravate that situation.

Respectfully yours,

WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Ludwig of Johnson rose under the question of personal privilege, asked and obtained unanimous consent to have the following poem printed in the Journal:

Sure, the Governor is important,
So's the President and Speaker, too
And the House and Senate members
Have some little jobs to do,
But the real work of the session,
This I confess, with some intrigue
Is that done by our own betters,
The Legislative Ladies League.

Without their good advice, and prodding
Ere the session is begun
As without their praise, and nagging
When our labor has been done—
We would turn our heads in anguish
And bar our doors as for a siege,
Were it not for our defenders—
The Legislative Ladies League.

When, at last, the Final Session,
And we stand at Heaven's gate,
We shall file this last amendment
Ere the Chair decides our fate,

"Here, we would be lost and helpless
 Weary, too, with much fatigue,
 Please, dear God, we would not stay here
 If no Legislative League."

HERMAN M. KNUDSON.

On motion by Kuester of Cass, the House recessed until 2:00 p.m., today.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The House reconvened, Speaker Lynes in the chair.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 28

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate be presented with the chairs occupied by them during the session, and that the custodian of the State House be instructed to crate such chairs for shipment to the home residences of the Speaker of the House and the President of the Senate.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Poston of Wayne offered the following resolution :

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 29

Whereas, money has been appropriated by the Congress of the United States for preliminary work on Iowa rivers for many years, to the end that flood control dams could be built; and

Whereas, the Army engineers and departments concerned with the construction of these dams have received very little cooperation over a period of years from the State of Iowa in which such construction could have been started; and

Whereas, the losses to river towns on the Iowa River and river towns on the Des Moines River are equal to or exceed the cost of such dams; and

Whereas, there are no indications that the state administration is or intends to cooperate to relieve the flood damage; and

Whereas, there is money now allocated and not being used for construction of a dam or dams along the Des Moines River and the disastrous floods of the past few years are now being repeated, and the towns of Ottumwa, Eddyville, Eldon, Tracy, Knoxville and Keokuk are now threatened with disastrous and costly floods;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the inaction of the administration of the State of Iowa be severely criticized and petitioned by this legislature to take definite and cooperative action with the United States government to the end that a dam or dams for the control of floods on the Des Moines River and other rivers be immediately started.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be presented to the Governor, the Conservation Commission and the Natural Resources Council.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Poston of Wayne offered the following resolution :

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 30

Whereas, Senate Concurrent Resolution 18 has been introduced in the Senate, and is a veiled attack on the Commander-in-Chief of the United States Army, the President of the United States; and

Whereas, insufficient time has elapsed to evaluate all the evidence and reasons for relieving Douglas MacArthur of his command in Korea; and

Whereas, great harm to the war effort and solidarity of opinion in the United States and associated countries may result from hasty decisions and premature attacks on the government of the United States; and

Whereas, a misinterpretation of such resolutions will be made by the Soviet Union and Red China to the detriment of the war effort; and

Whereas, the apparent reason for the general's discharge is insubordination and a refusal to obey orders of his superior officer, which is one of the fundamentals of military code;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the matter of chastisement or the appearance of the general before Congress be left to the members of the Congress representing Iowa, and that instead of going over their heads, which would be showing a lack of confidence in them, that they be asked to weigh all the evidence and make such decision as will conform to the truth and the facts.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be sent to each member of the Iowa delegation in the Congress, to the President of the United States Senate, and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Laid over under Rule 34.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

To explain my vote on House Concurrent Resolution 26, I desire to register a dissent or protest to a provision of said resolution that is a directive to a violation of section 1 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Iowa. I refer to the part of the resolution that gives executive authority to a committee of members of the legislative body. In line 4 of resolution paragraph 3 it states that such committee shall have power—by purchase—to provide, etc.

I feel that an effort to change such wording would be futile and time consuming at this time. Therefore, to explain that I voted in the affirmative without being aware of such wording, I would respectfully request that a record of this statement or contention be printed in the Journal, to explain my vote.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR

The following communication was received from the Governor:

April 16, 1951.

Honorable Wm. H. Nicholas,
Lieutenant Governor,
President of the Senate.

Dear Mr. President:

I am returning Senate File 476 without my signature, according to the provisions of section 16, Article III, of the State Constitution.

My reason for vetoing this measure is because of the fact that, in its general application, it will serve no material benefit or gain for the sportsmen of our state; and because of the added fact that, in my judgment, it is not a desirable policy to raise discriminatory legislation between the states.

On the other hand, it is desirable for our state to set an example of good will and understanding, and I rather think the results of this action on this legislation will impress the people of South Dakota with the fact that we seek to deal fairly and considerately, and will encourage them in all good faith to correct any discrimination against the sportsmen of our state.

Respectfully,
WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

The bill having received a constitutional two-thirds majority was declared to have passed the House and the title agreed to.

EXPLANATION

With regard to the amendment filed by me to House File 638, I wish to make the following explanation:

I feel too keenly the trust and responsibilities of a state legislator to seek reimbursement for services rendered, especially so, when it appears from the House improvement investigation report that we failed, unwittingly and inadvertently, to make certain savings to the state under a difficult set of circumstances.

ALLERT G. OLSON.

Senate File 494, a bill for an act to legalize and validate the proceedings taken by the board of supervisors of Appanoose County for authority to erect a building to be used for the storage and repair of county road working machinery and bridge and road building materials, was taken up for consideration.

Clark of Appanoose offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the publication clause to Senate File 494 by inserting the names of the following newspapers: "Daily Iowegian and Citizen, Centerville, Iowa and Moulton Weekly Tribune, Moulton, Iowa".

Amendment adopted.

Clark of Appanoose moved that the bill be read a last time now and placed upon its passage which motion prevailed and the bill was read a last time.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE FILE 477

In accordance with Article III, section 10, of the Iowa Constitution, I should like to explain my vote on Senate File 477. I cast a dissenting vote. I desire to explain my reason for so doing not only for the purpose of explaining my vote, but also for the purpose of putting on record some facts that I think should come to the attention of the citizens of Iowa.

At the outset of my presentation of the amendment which would have given a substantial increase in appropriations to the university for the next biennium, I referred to a quotation from Hamlet's soliloquy—"To be or not to be"—with reference to the university. This, I sincerely believe, is the issue.

In setting down this record I don't want to impugn the character of any member of the House. I simply want to point out that (1) I don't believe we have a real sense of the value of education which is so important in our complex society today, and (2) I don't believe we are sufficiently interested in getting all the facts relative to the educational institutions in the State of Iowa. This possibly could be because of a lack of good public relations between the institutions and the legislature, and the fact that the legislature today has so many varied interests to consider that education seems to be relegated to a secondary position.

There is probably some value in calling to our minds what the objectives of education and educational institutions are. It seems to me that in any well balanced educational organization the objective of classroom study should be to raise the cultural standards on which our society is built, to advance the frontiers of knowledge in seeking and establishing beyond question the fundamental truths of life. Education should further seek to advance the frontiers of knowledge through a well coordinated and planned research program in all the sciences, and to study and explore avenues in which human suffering may be relieved and our standard of living raised.

The record shows conclusively that those who have been in charge in universities and educational institutions have tried their utmost to attain these objectives, and Iowa has just reason to be proud of her achievements thus far. But I think there is much evidence to show that we in the legislature who are, in a sense, its board of directors have not truly reflected what the people of Iowa want, because I feel we have not appropriated enough money to carry on an adequate, expanding and growing program in our educational institutions.

Now I should like to discuss the question "Can Iowa afford better schools on a state level?" It is a matter of historical record that Iowa has always been willing to sacrifice for good schools and for many years the appropriations for the state university came from property taxes.

These taxes were more sacrificial than our present system of taxation. Nowhere is there any record of any opposition of any consequence to appropriations given to institutions of higher learning. Twenty-five years ago over 25 per cent of the total receipts of the state went to the support of institutions of higher learning, and that was at a time when there was no great accent on hospitals and other services that have since been added to the responsibilities of Board of Education. That percentage has now been reduced to 11 per cent of the total state income. This includes money for Oakdale School for the Blind and hospital services.

To put it another way, the university itself in 1925 received 6.9 per cent of the total appropriations, but went to a low in 1946 of 2.2 per cent, and in 1948 and 1949 of 2.4 per cent.

The gentleman from Cerro Gordo put it another way yesterday when he quoted the following figures that I think are very significant: "In terms of bushels of corn—in 1932-1933 it took 1,478 bushels per student for education at the university. In 1948-1949 it took only 259 bushels of corn per student for education."

The Strayer report of October, 1950, states that the average per capita income went from $546 in 1929 to $1,491 in 1948, or to put that in round figures, the total income of Iowa in 1929 was $1,365,000,000 to almost $5,000,000,000 in 1948. There are many other figures that would substantiate this same trend in state income. The point I want to make is that Iowa can afford better schools on a state level, and I believe further that the people of Iowa want better schools.

Now I want to pose the question "Does the university of Iowa need more money for its current and future program?" First may I say that, in my opinion, the reports and analysis of the needs pointed out to us by the members of the Board of Education are honest estimates. They reflect good business and sound judgment. But probably there is something to be said in giving us a better picture in the way of an abbreviated report of their askings. The board should definitely say "this is the type of university we want, and this is the amount of money it takes to get it," rather than "this is what so much money will buy in the way of education, and you be the judge". I still do not believe that the legislature should be completely absolved of the blame for we should all want the very best in education.

The very best in education as outlined to us by the Board of Education indicates a need of some $8,000,000 to the university. In my opinion, based upon my personal study, it is evident that the Iowa Dental School is down and needs a great deal more money that it is now getting to bring its standards up to what we should expect from our Dental School.

This is one of the first indications that our university is breaking down, and that administration is working under a tremendous handicap to hold things together and keep the entire school going. If this situation is allowed to continue very long it will have disastrous results finally for all the departments of the university.

Iowa should not be at the bottom from the standpoint of salaries paid its instructors. Rather, I think we should be above the average at least, and there is nothing wrong with being at the top. With 75 to 80 per cent of the appropriation going for salaries this is important. After all, good salaries paid for good instructors are a small investment in the long run.

Analysis also shows that the non-academic help of the university is very underpaid as compared with the competitive labor market in their areas. This should not be so in the great state institutions. We should not expect loyalty to an institution alone to keep people there. The converse is true, I believe. You build greater loyalty within your organization by paying adequate salaries for good help.

A further need is shown beyond question in my mind in the fact that a large per cent of the classrooms themselves at the Iowa University are in temporary buildings. In fact, they are, in that sense, poorer than they were in early history when Iowa had much less money and much less income to finance its university.

There is not sufficient appreciation of the fact that the university is more truly higher education than almost any other university in the United States by virtue of the fact that Iowa is blessed with a fine system of junior colleges and denominational colleges that are doing a great job in our state. This very situation proves to be a greater load on the university because of the load this puts on the graduate schools within the university. Sufficient time and effort has not been spent by responsible people to call that to the attention of the citizens of Iowa and the legislature.

By way of summary may I just say that Iowa's institutions have been doing a great job under difficult circumstances, that Iowa, in my opinion and beyond question, can afford and should have better schools, and that the people of Iowa want better schools, and that there is a definite need for more appropriations, specifically for the University of Iowa, and probably for all the educational institutions of the Board of Education.

So in closing I again submit this challenge—the question is “To be or not to be”, or, in other words, do we want a university or do we want a college?

FRED SCHWENGEL.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 10

Whereas, in past sessions and in this session of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, the work of the appropriations committee and its subcommittees is greatly hampered by lack of time in relation to the work of determining a just and adequate budget for operating the government of the State of Iowa for each biennium. Furthermore, time should be sufficient for each department to be heard and considered in arriving at a just and adequate budget, and

Whereas, the work of the appropriations committees and their subcommittees of both House and Senate would be greatly expedited by having simultaneous or coincidental periods of time in which to meet and work individually or jointly, from the very beginning of each session.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, by the House of Representatives, that we recommend to the members of the Fifty-fifth General Assembly that, in setting up their committees and time of work, the foregoing recommendations be adopted.

Passed on file.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 11

Whereas, the members of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly have used the services of the legal research department for: research work, conferences, legal opinions, the drafting and re-drafting of bills and/or amendments, and the editing and typing of same, and,

Whereas, some 1,075 instruments have been compiled, prepared and delivered to various members of this legislature by said legal research department, and,

Whereas, the helpful, constructive cooperation of said legal research department has greatly saved both time and efforts for members of this legislature, which in turn has enabled us to fulfill many other pressing demands upon our time;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That our appreciation be expressed in the form of this resolution, extending our grateful thanks to the attorneys Anthony T. Renda, director, and Henry McKnight, Leonard Abels, Norma Warren and Ray Rosecrans of said department and to the other members of the legislative research staff; Margaret Garver, assistant to director, Mary Elizabeth Simmons, Hazel Johnson, Edith Berlovich, Jessie Corwin, Virginia Garretson, Janice Anderson, Rose Johnson, Leola Hubbard, Laurine Chocholka, Margaret McCabe and Ada Alexander, for their able assistance and willing cooperation to the members of the House during this Fifty-fourth General Assembly in legislative session.

Passed on file.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE RESOLUTION

Walter of Hardin called up for consideration House Resolution 9 and moved its adoption:

HOUSE RESOLUTION 9

Whereas, a simplified report from each state department as to its income and disbursements would be beneficial in guiding individual members of the House of Representatives:

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That each department or subdivision of the State of Iowa for which appropriation is made by the General Assembly be requested to submit to the House of Representatives a report of the total receipts of such subdivision and the source of such funds with a recapitulation of the expenditures made and the purpose for which made.

Aforesaid report should be as concise and brief as is consistent with accuracy, and a copy thereof provided for each member of the House of Representatives.

Walter of Hardin offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House Resolution 9 by striking the second and third paragraphs thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives: That each department or subdivision of the State of Iowa for which appropriation is made by the General Assembly shall, within sixty (60) days after the close of each fiscal year, submit to the members of the General Assembly a simple, concise, mimeographed report, not to exceed one page if possible, showing the general sources of revenue of their departments and the general purposes for which the same were expended.

Amendment adopted.

Roll call demanded by Walter of Hardin and Abel of Clayton.

All elective municipal officers shall be elected for a term of office of two years except as hereinafter provided. Any party to the contract may have the issue in dispute determined by filing in the district court of the county in which the public improvement or any part thereof is located a verified petition which shall allege in detail the ultimate facts upon which the petitioner relies for the termination of such contract. All subcontractors and the sureties upon all bonds given in connection with the contract and subcontracts shall be made parties to the proceeding.

The court shall make findings and render its judgment determining the issues involved in accordance with the purpose and spirit of this Act.

ADOPTION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTIONS

Pendleton of Buena Vista asked and obtained unanimous consent for the suspension of Rule 34 and the immediate consideration of the following resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 24

Whereas, since the attack upon the Republic of South Korea on June 25, 1950, there has been a valiant defense of that republic by substantial components of the naval services of the United States; and

Whereas, hundreds of our fellow-citizens, men and women of our great State of Iowa, who were members of the United States Naval Reserve, the United States Marine Corps Reserve, and the United States Coast Guard Reserve, have been recalled to active duty in the Naval, Marine Corps and Coast Guard services of the United States, and have taken their places alongside the other fighting men and women of the Regular Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, in this defense against aggression; and

Whereas, these fellow Iowans, moved by the highest motives of patriotism, and devotion to their country, and to their state, have joined the reserve units of the Navy, Marine Corps and Coast Guard, established in our state following the cessation of hostilities of World War II, that our country and our state might have a strong and ready military reserve strength, and are now in action on the high seas, and in lands around the world; and

Whereas, it is appropriate that the General Assembly, as the representatives of the people of the State of Iowa, extend to all of its Naval, Marine Corps and Coast Guard reservists called to active duty the deep appreciation and understanding of our people for the service which each of them is performing to protect the United States from its enemies in these troubled times; and

Whereas, it is the desire of the General Assembly to commend each of them to the care of Our Heavenly Father, and to ask the protection of Divine Providence upon each of them as each does perform the duties assigned in the defense of the United States, and to express the prayer that each may be returned to home and loved ones in due time,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, the House Concurring: That a delegation from the General Assembly, composed of five Senators to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and five Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, call upon the Governor as commander-in-chief of the military forces of the State of Iowa to convey the sentiments of the General Assembly in accordance with this resolution, and

Be It Further Resolved, that enrolled copies of this resolution be presented to the commandant of the Ninth Naval District, at Great Lakes, Illinois, the Director of 9th Marine Corps Reserve District at Chicago, Illinois, and the commandant of the 2nd United States Coast Guard District at St. Louis, Missouri, of which such districts Iowa is a part, with the request that this concurrent resolution be published in the official publications of said district offices for the information of all hands.

Tierney of Webster asked and obtained unanimous consent for the suspension of Rule 34 and the immediate consideration of the following resolution:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 25

Whereas, since the attack upon the Republic of South Korea on June 25, 1950, there has been a valiant defense of that republic by substantial components of the military services of the United States; and

Whereas, hundreds of our fellow-citizens, men and women of our great State of Iowa, who were members of the United States Army Reserve and the United States Air Force Reserve have been recalled to active duty in the Army and Air services of the United States, and have taken their places alongside the other fighting men and women of the Regular Army and Air Force, in this defense against aggression; and

Whereas, these fellow Iowans, moved by the highest motives of patriotism, and devotion to their country, and to their state, have joined the reserve units of the Army and Air Force, established in our state following the cessation of hostilities of World War II, that our country and our state might have a strong and ready military reserve strength, and are now in action in the air, and in lands around the world; and

Whereas, it is appropriate that the General Assembly, as the representatives of the people of the State of Iowa, extend to all of its Army and Air Force reservists called to active duty the deep appreciation and understanding of our people for the service which each of them is performing to protect the United States from its enemies in these troubled times; and

Whereas, it is the desire of the General Assembly to commend each of them to the care of Our Heavenly Father, and to ask the protection of Divine Providence upon each of them as each does perform the duties assigned in the defense of the United States, and to express the prayer that each may be returned to home and loved ones in due time,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly, the House Concurring: That a delegation from the General Assembly, composed of five Senators to be appointed by the President of the Senate, and five Representatives to be appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives, call upon the Governor as commander-in-chief of the military forces of the State of Iowa to convey the sentiments of the General Assembly in accordance with this resolution, and

Be It Further Resolved, that enrolled copies of this resolution be presented to the chief of the Iowa Military District, United States Army Reserve at Des Moines, Iowa, and the commanding general, 10th Air Force Reserve Section, Selfridge Air Force Base, Michigan, of which such districts Iowa is a part, with the request that this concurrent resolution be published in the official publications of said district offices for the information of all personnel.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Schwengel of Scott rose under the question of personal privilege, asked and obtained unanimous consent that the following statement be printed in the Journal:

STATEMENT ON AMENDMENT 2, SECTION 34, OF THE CONSTITUTION OF THE STATE OF IOWA

The Constitution of the State of Iowa, Amendment No. 2, section 34, reads as follows:

"The Senate shall be composed of fifty members to be elected from the several senatorial districts, established by law and at the next session of the general assembly held following the taking of the state and national census, they shall be apportioned among the several counties or districts of the state, according to population as shown by the last preceding census."

The federal census has been taken and has been officially reported by the President of the United States. Therefore, this legislature is obligated to reapportion the Senate in accordance with population. This point is raised because every member of the legislature before he could serve his office took the oath of office which included a faithful and solemn pledge to support the Constitution of Iowa.

We bring it to the attention of the legislature while we are still in session for the reason that lawyers and students of constitutional law have told us that if no reapportionment was made in accordance with amendment 2, section 34, in this session of the legislature with reference to the Senate, the future actions of this legislature could very well all be nullified. Probably someone could gain an injunction to fail to pay future legislators, and the affairs of the State of Iowa would be very much in confusion.

As members of the legislature we, the undersigned, desire to take cognizance of the fact that this situation exists, and we desire not to be a party to the violation of the Constitution of Iowa. Therefore we set this record in the House Journal of the State of Iowa, under date of April 17, 1951.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON HOUSE FILE

April 5, 1951.

Hon. William S. Lynes,
Speaker of the House of Representatives,
State House.

Dear Mr. Speaker:

According to section 16 of Article III of the Constitution of the State of Iowa, I am returning House File 179, without my signature.

My reason for vetoing this measure is based upon a decision, after due consideration, that it would weaken our present Child Labor Law. We should seek to strengthen this law and, while bowling is a popular recreational activity, I have been advised by juvenile court authorities and school truant officers that this type of work has contributed to the problem of juvenile delinquency and truancy from school. It is my opinion that this additional legislation would further aggravate that situation.

Respectfully yours,

WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Otto Albert, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

Otto Albert was born in Scott County, Iowa, in 1876. At the age of four years he moved with his parents to Grundy County and received his education in the Reinbeck Public Schools. He helped his father on the farm until 1899.

In 1899 he was married to Clara B. Strohbehn, also of Grundy County, and to this union were born six children, Flora, Mabel, Harold, Lucille, Irene and Ethel. After his marriage, Mr. Albert engaged in farming for himself. In 1905, he had a farm sale and moved with his family to Idaho and engaged in the sheep industry on the range. He sold out his sheep business in 1913 and moved back to Grundy County.

He was president of the township school board for seven years and was a member of the county board of supervisors for six years. He was elected to the House of Representatives in 1928, serving in the Forty-third session of the General Assembly.

He died on December 5, 1945, and is survived by his wife and children.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable Otto Albert, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen, and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

His mother died when he was three years old, and his father died when he was nine. He was educated in the rural schools and Cedar Valley Seminary, Osage, Iowa. In 1899, he moved to South Dakota and taught school at Ashland and Woonsocket until 1901. In that year, he moved to Spencer, Iowa, as high school principal, and was made superintendent the next year, in which capacity he continued for 14 years.

No matter which field you inquire, you find the humanitarian stamp of "Dad" Avery's character.

He helped found the Spencer public library and served on the library board from its birth to his death.

Many remember "Dad" Avery and his chautauqua work. He did much of the promotional work and was platform manager in Spencer, Emmetsburg and Algona.

He was instrumental in founding the Spencer DeMolay chapter in 1922, and served from that time until his death as Dad Advisor. He was always proud of the opportunity to serve and work with "his boys."

He was a P. M. Woonsocket Lodge No. 33, A. F. & A. M., Evening Shade Lodge No. 312, A. F. & A. M., Past High Priest of Clay Chapter No. 112, Royal Arch Masons; Past Illustrious Master, Temple Council No. 37, Royal and Select Masters; Past Commander of Asotus Commandery No. 65, K. T. Past Grand Senior Warden of the Grand Commandery of the State of Iowa; 32 degree K.C.C.H. Sioux City Consistory No. 5.

His first wife, a daughter and a grandson preceded him in death. He is survived by four great grandchildren; seven grandchildren; three children, Mrs. Theta Tucker, Barbara Avery and Alden D. Avery; and by his second wife, Mrs. Grace Avery.

"Dad" Avery was mayor of the city of Spencer in 1926 and 1927, and served at the time as president of the Iowa League of Municipalities.

He entered the insurance field in 1916. His bearing and conduct in that field was such as to reflect great credit upon the industry.

"Dad" Avery was one of the grandest in the Grand Old Party. His friends and neighbors first sent him to the Forty-fourth General Assembly, and his humanitarian ideals and intellectual ability were such that he was returned as Representative in the Forty-fifth Extra, Forty-sixth, Forty-sixth Extra, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth, Fiftieth, Fiftieth Extra Fifty-first, Fifty-second, Fifty-second Extra and Fifty-third sessions of the General Assemblies. He was speaker pro tempore of the Fiftieth session. Of him, his colleagues stated: "When 'Dad' Avery spoke, we listened."

A beloved member of his community, he was voted "Tops in Our Town" in July, 1950. His passing on December 7, 1950, at Spencer, Iowa, be-reaves the state and his county of a respected and beloved citizen. Friend, neighbor, legislator, schoolmaster, humanitarian, his passing is mourned by all who were fortunate enough to be among his large list of friends and acquaintances.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable A. H. Avery, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen, and the House expresses its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders, by this resolution, its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to his beloved family in their great sorrow and loss.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

Memorial to the Honorable William R. Blake of Fayette County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable William R. Blake, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

William R. Blake, better known as "Bill," was born on a farm in Jo Daviess County near Elizabeth, Illinois, October 1, 1878, coming to Iowa in 1900. He was a graduate of Elizabeth High School, Danville Normal and Chicago Park Business College. While in high school, he began to learn the printing trade. He taught school, however, before he acquired his first newspaper at Eau Claire, Michigan. In 1905, he started publishing a weekly newspaper "Enterprise" at Clermont, Iowa, and this he continued to edit and publish for twenty years.

In 1904, he was united in marriage to Bessie B. Morgan. They are the parents of two children, William Burdette and Anna Lolita.

Mr. Blake was mayor of Clermont from 1918 to 1922. He was a member of the Masonic, Odd Fellows and Modern Woodmen fraternal orders.

In politics, Mr. Blake was a Republican and was Representative from Fayette County in the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Forty-first General Assemblies. Later, he became an agent of the State Bureau of Investigation and, in 1927, was appointed deputy fire marshal. He was always vitally concerned with county politics and, for a number of years, served as county chairman.

During 1929, Mr. Blake started lobbying as a "special representative" for the Interstate Power Company, Dubuque, and, while identified with this firm, represented all public utility companies. Mr. Blake's lobbying activities continued after September, 1942, when he was elected secretary-manager of the Iowa Utilities Association. This position he resigned in September, 1948.

Mr. Blake, in failing health for almost a year, passed away at the Postville hospital, Sunday, November 13, 1949. Funeral services were held at 2 p.m. on November 15 at the Clermont Presbyterian Church. The esteem in which he was held was evidenced by the large number of people, many from great distances, who came to pay their last respects to "Bill." His love for the people of Iowa, his interest in their welfare, and the readiness with which he gave himself for the arduous tasks with which he was often faced, will long be remembered. "Bill," in one sense, has erected for himself his own memorial; it rests in the hearts of those who were privileged to know him and to work with him. Besides his wife and two children, he leaves four grandchildren to mourn his passing.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-fourth General Assembly of Iowa: That in the passing of the Honorable William R. Blake, the state has lost a valued and honored citizen, and the House would tender its sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family in their sorrow.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.

Memorial to the Honorable James G. Casey of Mitchell County

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable James G. Casey, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

James G. Casey was born on a farm seven miles south of Osage on March 6, 1880, and began his education in a country school. He then attended Loras Academy and Loras College in Dubuque, after which he completed a course at the Charles City Business College.

After he completed his formal education he managed the Jas. A. Smith Lumber Company at Ayrshire for two and one-half years. Mr. Casey then returned to Mitchell County to operate and manage the home farm for several years.

In 1908 he was married to Nina Nims, and they farmed for two years. In 1910 Mr. Casey purchased a one-half interest in the farm implement business of W. J. Towner and that business was operated under the name of Jas. G. Casey and Co. until Ben A. Chatman bought Mr. Towner's interest.

The implement business was then operated for 19 years under the name of Casey and Chatman. In 1942 Mr. Casey sold his interest to Mr. Chatman. Also, during the Casey and Chatman partnership, Mr. Casey represented Mitchell County in the legislature for two years in the Forty-fifth General Assembly. In October of last year Mr. Casey received one of the highest honors bestowed upon a Catholic layman. He was made a Knight of St. Gregory, a pontifical order conferred by Pope Pius XII and established by Pope Gregory XVI in 1831.

The high honor was in recognition of his service to his church and country as an exemplary Catholic layman and American citizen. More specifically, the citation included Mr. Casey's service as a regent of Loras College; his years of service in the Laymen's Retreat movement, and his membership in the Knights of Columbus for over 50 years.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, appointed to prepare a suitable resolution commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Milton Bird Pitt, begs leave to submit the following memorial:

The Honorable Milton Bird Pitt was born June 2, 1875, on a farm near Macedonia, Pottawattamie County, Iowa, and died January 20, 1951, at Logan, Iowa. His father, Sidney Pitt, was born in Indiana and was a member of the 17th Kentucky Cavalry in the War of the Rebellion; his mother, Patience E. Pitt, was a native of Pottawattamie County, Iowa. At the age of seven, he moved with his parents to Yorkshire, and later to a home in Cass Township, Harrison County. He attended the rural schools and Woodbine Normal School, and taught several years. His life work was farming.

Mr. Pitt served as township clerk two terms, and three terms as county treasurer of Harrison County, Iowa. Mr. Pitt, recognized over the state and nation as a public speaker, was an earnest advocate of rugged individualism and initiative, far-sighted in the socialistic trends of public thinking and government. Beginning immediately after World War I, he was called upon to devote much time to public appearances, pleading for the preservation of constitutional government, zealously admonishing his audiences from state to state never to yield expedience for principles in governmental or personal matters.

Mr. Pitt was married to Caroline Jane Gilson, December 25, 1896. They were the parents of eleven children, all of whom were living when their parents celebrated their golden wedding anniversary December 25, 1946. Two sons, Louie and Sidney, preceded their father in death in the summer of 1947. Surviving are his widow; seven sons, Milton and Willis of Logan, Frank and Jesse of Missouri Valley, Glen of Crescent, Wayne of Griswold, and Perry of Van Nuys, California; and two daughters, Mrs. David Williams of Logan and Mrs. Carroll Campbell of Rockford, Illinois.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased.
