COMMUNICATIONS FROM SECRETARY OF STATE

The following is a matter of record in Chief Clerk's office:

January 14, 1957.

Presiding Officer of the House of Representatives,
Fifty-seventh General Assembly,
State House,
Des Moines, Iowa.

I transmit herewith the following for your consideration:

A copy of a purported record received by this office from the Emmet County Auditor on which appears the wording: "BEFORE THE CONTEST COURT, IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION OF NIELS J. NIELSEN, STATE REPRESENTATIVE FROM EMMET COUNTY. Harold R. Clayton, Contestant, vs. Niels J. Nielsen, Incumbent . . . Auditor's Record."

MELVIN D. SYNHORST,
Secretary of State.

BEFORE THE CONTEST COURT, IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION OF NIELS J. NIELSEN, STATE REPRESENTATIVE FROM EMMET COUNTY.

HAROLD R. CLAYTON,
CONTESTANT,

vs.

NIELS J. NIELSEN,
INCUMBENT.

AUDITOR'S RECORD

BE IT REMEMBERED, That on the 23rd day of November, 1956, the said contestant Harold R. Clayton filed in the office of the County

Auditor of Emmet County, Iowa, a statement of intention to contest the election of Niels J. Nielsen on November 6, 1956, as State Representative from Emmet County, Iowa, giving grounds for contest as follows:

1. That votes cast for the contestant were counted for the incumbent.
2. That spoiled ballots were counted for the incumbent.
3. That votes cast for the contestant were erroneously declared spoiled ballots and not counted.
4. That judges and clerks of election in each of the voting precincts in Emmet County, Iowa, made errors in counting, canvassing and reporting the vote for said office in said election.

A bond for costs in said contest was filed with and approved by the undersigned County Auditor.

On the 24th of November, 1956, a copy of the intent to contest the election of Niels J. Nielsen was served on the incumbent, Niels J. Nielsen by Emmet County Sheriff, Linn Foderberg, and true return made to the Emmet County Auditor.

On the 6th day of December, 1956, the said contestant, Harold R. Clayton, filed a written nomination of Martin N. Berge, as an Associate Judge in the matter of the said contest.

On the 6th day of December, 1956, the said incumbent, Niels J. Nielsen, filed a written nomination of Lester Stevens as an Associate Judge in the matter of the said contest.

Thereafter, and on the 17th day of December, 1956, at the Court House, at Estherville, Emmet County, Iowa, there appeared Charles E. Conrad, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Emmet County, Iowa, and Lester Stevens and Martin N. Berge, the said persons nominated as Associate Judges, Oaths of office were then administered to each of the said Associate Judges; Corwin B. Keith, Auditor of Emmet County, Iowa, acted as Clerk of the said Court.

The incumbent and contestant waived the offering of evidence and stipulated and consented that the ballots cast in the November 6, 1956, Emmet County general election as submitted by Corwin B. Keith, County Auditor of Emmet County, Iowa, would be received by the contest court for the purpose of counting. The trial was adjourned from day to day until this date, to-wit: the 21st day of December, 1956, and the Court having examined and counted all of the ballots from all of the precincts in the county. The matter having been fully heard and submitted to this court of contest being duly advised in the premises now FINDS:

1. That the allegations of the statement of contest filed herein by the contestant, Harold R. Clayton, have not been sufficiently proved.
2. That the incumbent, Niels J. Nielsen, received a greater number of legal votes for the office of State Representative from Emmet County, Iowa, at the general election held in Emmet County, Iowa, on November 6, 1956, than did the contestant, Harold R. Clayton, for said office at said election.
3. That said contestant, Harold R. Clayton, was not elected to the said office of State Representative from Emmet County, Iowa, at said election.
4. That at said election the said incumbent received for said office 3,145 legal votes, and the said contestant received for said office 3,075 legal votes.

5. That the incumbent, Niels J. Nielsen, was duly elected to the office of State Representative from Emmet County, Iowa, at said election, and received a majority of all of the legal votes cast at said election for said office.

6. That the incumbent, Niels J. Nielsen, was duly and properly declared elected to said office at said election by the state canvassing board.

IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED AND ADJUDGED by this Court that Niels J. Nielsen, was duly and legally elected to the office of State Representative from Emmet County, Iowa, for the term of two years beginning on the 1st day of January, A. D., 1957, at the general election held in said county on November 6, 1956, and it is further ordered and adjudged that he is entitled to receive a certificate of election to said office from the proper officers, and that he is entitled to enter upon and hold the said office for said term and to perform the duties thereof when he has qualified therefor as provided by law.

It is further ordered and adjudged that all of the costs incurred in this trial are taxed against and adjudged to be paid by the contestant, Harold R. Clayton, in the amount of $60.00.

Dated this 21st day of December, A. D., 1956, at the Court House in Estherville, Emmet County, Iowa.

CHARLES E. CONRAD,
Presiding Officer of said Court.
LESTER STEVENS,
Associate Judge.
MARTIN N. BERGE,
Associate Judge.

Thereupon the said court of contest adjourned.

CORWIN B. KEITH,
Clerk of the said Contest Court.

Presiding Officer of the House of Representatives
Fifty-seventh General Assembly
State House
Des Moines, Iowa.

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 59, Code of Iowa, 1954, I transmit herewith the following:

A sealed envelope received by this office on which appears the following wording: "The contents of this envelope pertain to the contest by Edward C. Norland, contestant, against Arley Barringer, incumbent, for the office of State Representative from Palo Alto County, Iowa, as voted on in the general election on November 6, 1956.

This envelope contains:

1. STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO CONTEST ELECTION.

2. Proof of Service of STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO CONTEST ELECTION."

MELVIN D. SYNHORST,

STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO CONTEST ELECTION

The undersigned, Edward C. Norland of Cylinder, Palo Alto County, Iowa, a candidate for the office of State Representative in the general election held November 6, 1956, in Palo Alto County, in accordance with the provisions of section 59.1 of the Code of Iowa, 1954, hereby gives notice of his intention to contest the election of Arley Barringer, incumbent, to the office of State Representative at said general election held in Palo Alto County, Iowa, on November 6, 1956.

The said contestant, Edward C. Norland, hereby states that according to the official canvass of votes by the Palo Alto County board of supervisors, he is shown to have received a total of 3,390 votes for the office of State Representative from Palo Alto County, while the said incumbent, Arley Barringer, is shown to have received a total of 3,497 votes for said office, or a difference of 107 votes.

That for the causes below set out this contestant states that had the votes cast in said election in said county been properly cast, counted, totaled and certified, the said contestant would have been shown to have received more votes in said county than the said Arley Barringer, and that a recount of the votes cast will show that the said contestant did receive more votes than the said incumbent.

That the said contestant, Edward C. Norland, is now and was at the time of the election referred to, qualified to hold the said office of State Representative of Palo Alto County.

That the particular causes of contest are as follows:

1. That in West Broadway precinct in Emmetsburg the incumbent was credited with 100 more votes than he received according to the tally shown upon the face of the official book of said precinct, the tally therein showing that said incumbent actually received 498 votes in said precinct, whereas the total of the votes counted by the receiving board and the county board were erroneously added so as to indicate a total of 598 votes whereas, the correct number was 498 votes and that said error was not corrected at the canvass by the board of supervisors and said incumbent was certified by said board of supervisors as receiving 100 more votes than the tally on said poll book indicates.

2. This contestant believes that in making the tally of votes other errors were made in the other 18 election precincts of said county and in the canvass of said election returns by the board of supervisors, which errors credited the incumbent with more votes than he received and credited this contestant with less votes than he received.

3. This contestant believes that the election officials in the 19 election precincts of said county received and counted for the incumbent ballots which were illegally marked or not marked for the incumbent, and that they also rejected or failed to count ballots legally cast for this contestant.

4. This contestant believes that the election officials in the 19 election precincts of said county received and counted for the incumbent ballots of absent voters which were improperly marked, or which were cast illegally by voters not entitled to vote at said election, or by voters not entitled to use an absentee ballot.

5. This contestant states that in various precincts of said County the official returns were not properly made and certified by the judges or clerks of said election in said precincts.

6. This contestant states that in the Emmetsburg Township precinct the incumbent was credited with five more votes than were actually cast for him and that were shown as cast for him by the tally in the record of the clerks for the counting board.

That the errors pointed out above and the errors made in the receiving, counting, certifying and canvassing the votes in said election were sufficient when corrected to change the result in said election and to show that this contestant was elected to said office.

Dated at Emmetsburg, Iowa, this 11th day of December, 1956.

EDWARD C. NORLAND, Contestant.

COUNTY OF PALO ALTO } ss.

I, Edward C. Norland, of Cylinder, Palo Alto County, Iowa, being first duly sworn, on oath depose and say:

That I am the contestant named in the above and foregoing STATEMENT OF INTENTION TO CONTEST ELECTION; That I have read the said statement and know the contents thereof; that the causes set forth therein and the contents thereof are true as I verily believe.

EDWARD C. NORLAND.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 59, Code of Iowa, 1954, I transmit herewith the following:

An instrument on which appears the wording: "IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION CONTEST FOR THE OFFICE OF STATE REPRESENTATIVE OF GUTHRIE COUNTY, IOWA. Bert L. Wooldrige, Contestant, vs. S. E. Robinson, Incumbent." This instrument and the attached Sheriff's Return of Service of Original Notice were received by this office in an ordinary mailing envelope by Certified Mail and were not sealed in a separate envelope with an endorsement thereon showing the nature of the papers, the names of the contesting parties and the Branch of the General Assembly before whom the contest is to be tried.

MELVIN D. SYNHORST,
Secretary of State.

IN THE MATTER OF THE ELECTION CONTEST FOR THE OFFICE OF STATE REPRESENTATIVE OF GUTHRIE COUNTY, IOWA

Bert L. Wooldridge, Contestant,
vs.
S. E. Robinson,

STATEMENT OF ELECTION CONTEST.

TO: The Secretary of State of the State of Iowa, The Presiding Officer of the House of Representatives of the General Assembly of the State of Iowa, and to S. E. Robinson, Incumbent; and to all persons to whom it may concern:

You and each of you are hereby notified that the undersigned, Bert L. Wooldridge, does hereby declare his intention to contest the election of S. E. Robinson to the Office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, for the term beginning January 1, 1957, and in support of said declaration of intention to contest said election the said Bert L. Wooldridge states as follows:

Par. 1. That at all times material to this contest and prior to November 6, 1956, and at all times after that date, this contestant Bert L. Wooldridge was and is a qualified voter and elector in and for Jackson Township, Guthrie County, Iowa, and is now and at all times material to this contest, has been qualified to hold the Office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, for the term beginning January 1, 1957, that this contestant was a Candidate for such office at the election held November 6, 1956, and that the Incumbent, S. E. Robinson was also a Candidate for said office at said election.

Par. 2. That said election was held November 6, 1956 and thereafter, December 10, 1956, the incumbent S. E. Robinson was declared elected to said office, State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, term beginning January 1, 1957, by the Executive Council of Iowa, sitting as the State Canvassing Board to canvass said election returns of this office, that the said Canvassing Board declared the Incumbent elected by a majority of ninety seven (97) votes, that your contestant Bert L. Wooldridge received in excess of 3,279 votes for said office.

Par. 3. That Contestant believes and therefore alleges that incumbent is a duly elected, qualified and acting justice of the peace in and for Valley Township, Guthrie County, Iowa, that the compensation of incumbent as said justice of the peace exceeds and will exceed One Hundred ($100) dollars per annum, and that incumbent will continue to hold said office as Justice of the Peace during the term of the Office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, for the term commencing January 1, 1957.

Par. 4. That this Contestant sets out the following grounds in contest of the election of S. E. Robinson, Incumbent.

(a) That illegal ballots and votes were received and counted for the Incumbent in all of the several precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, in sufficient numbers that if rejected the result of the election would have been changed, and this contestant elected to said office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, term beginning January 1, 1957.

(b) That legal ballots and votes for this Contestant were rejected in all of the several precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, in such numbers that if counted for this contestant, the results of said election would have changed, and this contestant would have been elected to said office.

(c) That a proper recount of all legal votes in all precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, will show the contestant to be elected, and contestant asks that all ballots be opened in open session of the Tribunal trying this contest and all errors of the Election Judges in counting or refusing to count the ballots be corrected by such Tribunal.

(d) That the Judges and Clerks of the various election boards of the precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, accepted and counted absentee voters ballots which were illegal ballots and should have been rejected by the various election boards in such numbers as if rejected the results of said election would have changed and this contestant would have been elected to said office.

(e) That the Board of Supervisors of Guthrie County, Iowa, sitting as a Canvassing Board erred in the counting of votes and in preparing the abstract of votes for this office in that they received and counted many votes that had been illegally certified to them by the various election boards of Guthrie County, Iowa.

(f) That many irregularities were had in connection with said election, and as a result the official abstract of votes for this office certified to the Secretary of State of the State of Iowa, included in its compilation of votes many illegal, erroneous and improperly certified returns made by the election boards of the various precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, sufficient in number to change the results of the election.

(g) That the various election boards in the various precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, committed many errors and omissions in the reception, rejection, and certification of the results of said election.

(h) That the Judges and Clerks of election in all of the voting precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, erroneously counted ballots for incumbent that should not have been counted, and rejected ballots for contestant that should have been counted, and by reason thereof decided the election in favor of incumbent when it should have been decided in favor of contestant.

(i) That said Judges and Clerks erroneously counted ballots for incumbent which should not have been counted at all and rejected ballots for contestant that should have been received; that the tally sheets do not correspond with the number of votes actually cast, due to the weariness of the Clerks and Judges of election; and that a true and correct count of the ballots cast will show that contestant received more votes than incumbent and was elected by a substantial majority.

(j) That the Judges and Clerks of election in all the voting precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, erroneously counted votes and caused the same to be recorded in the poll books for incumbent, when in truth and in fact such votes should have been counted for and recorded in the poll books for this contestant; that such errors in so counting and recording said votes was in such number that had not such errors been committed this contestant would have been elected.

(k) That the Judges and Clerks of the various election boards of the precincts of Guthrie County, Iowa, counted absent voters' ballots for incumbent which should not have been counted for him due to the fact that such absent voters' ballots were not properly verified; that no application therefor had been received by the County Auditor as required by law, and that such absent voters' ballots were voted by persons who were not qualified to vote.

(l) That the Executive Council of the State of Iowa, sitting as the State Canvassing Board of Iowa, erred in declaring the election of the incumbent in that the abstract of votes considered by them was erroneous as set out above and this contestant should have been declared elected.

WHEREFORE, Contestant, Bert L. Wooldridge prays that incumbent be declared ineligible to hold a seat in the General Assembly of Iowa, because he is and will continue to hold another lucrative office under the State of Iowa, to-wit, Justice of the Peace in and for Valley Township, Guthrie County, Iowa, and prays that all the votes cast for the office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, term beginning January 1, 1957, be recanvassed and recounted and votes which were illegally received be rejected and votes which were illegally rejected be received and that all legal votes not counted be counted, and that any illegal votes counted be rejected and upon such recount the contestant be declared elected to said Office of State Representative of Guthrie County, Iowa, term beginning January 1, 1957.

Contestant further prays for such other and further relief as he may be entitled to under the law.

(Signed) Bert L. Wooldridge
BERT L. WOOLDRIDGE, Contestant

COUNTY OF GUTHRIE,

I, Bert L. Wooldridge, being duly sworn and on oath that I have read the foregoing statement of election contest, that I am the contestant named therein and that the causes for contest set forth therein are true as I verily believe.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Lisle of Page presented the name of the Honorable W. L. Mooty of Grundy County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

The name I wish to place in nomination for Speaker is a man of unusually broad experience. He is a farmer, a car and implement dealer and has the training of a lawyer.

In addition to this he has had a lot of experience as a legislator, serving his fourth term. As chairman of the steering committee last session he did an outstanding job.

I think you will agree he has the qualifications of a leader and will make an outstanding speaker. It's an honor for me to nominate the Honorable William L. "Bill" Mooty of Grundy County.

Johns of Tama seconded the nomination of Honorable W. L. Mooty for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:

I heartily agree with all the remarks of the gentleman from Page County.

There are those who believe the Fifty-seventh General Assembly will be a session of confusion and indecision of the issues we will face. For this reason we need a man who is fair, experienced, and who has sound judgment.

I am a member of the Forty-fifth Senatorial District in which the distinguished gentleman from Grundy County resides.

As a farmer it is, therefore, an honor and a privilege to have a man with agricultural background as Speaker of the House of Representatives. I take great pleasure to second the nomination of the Honorable William Mooty from Grundy County as Speaker of the House of Representatives for the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

Hagedorn of Clay seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members present of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly for the Honorable W. L. Mooty as Speaker of the House, preceding his motion with the following remarks:

It is a pleasure for me to have the opportunity on behalf of the minority party of the House of Representatives to second this nomination.

We, as members of the Democratic party, respect the will of the majority and in turn anticipate cooperation and a spirit of fairness, not for selfish reasons but in the interest of progress in Government.

If the minority party is not fairly represented on committees, etc., it is not the Legislators that are cheated but it is the people of our great state. We are looking forward to a harmonious session of this Assembly.

I second the nomination of the Honorable W. L. Mooty as Speaker of the House of Representatives and request the Chief Clerk of the House to cast the votes of all House members in a unanimous ballot for the Honorable W. L. Mooty of Grundy County as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly of Iowa.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members present of the House of Representatives for the Honorable W. L. Mooty as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly. The Honorable W. L. Mooty of Grundy County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

Milroy of Benton moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Milroy of Benton, and Johns of Tama.

PRESENTATION OF THE SPEAKER

The Honorable W. L. Mooty was escorted to the Speaker's station and, upon being sworn, assumed the chair. Temporary Speaker Hanson presented Speaker-elect Mooty with the gavel and congratulated him on his unanimous election. Speaker Mooty thanked the House for the honor bestowed upon him and offered the following remarks:

GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I wish to express my sincere appreciation for the honor which you have conferred upon me. I accept the responsibility of being your Speaker with great humility. I promise to carry out the duties of this office to the very best of my abilities.

It is not my intention at any time during the session, to dictate what shall be done. It is my duty, with God's help, to lead this legislative body in the proper direction. I have looked over the work that lies ahead and it occurs to me that the most important task confronting us is the matter of where to find the money with which to operate the state government for the next biennium. We must dedicate ourselves to the task of checking the sharply rising cost of government: state, county, city and town, wherever possible. All requests for appropriations should be surveyed with the idea in mind as to where the money will be coming from to pay them. Every effort must be made to hold the line on taxes. Inflation has become the style in the cost of government just the same as it has in our cost of living.

We must operate on a balanced budget. Appropriations should not exceed expected revenues. Some appropriations will have to be increased. Every time this is done, a reduction must be made elsewhere or increased taxes will be the result. We must strive to eliminate waste, unnecessary services, and duplication, wherever possible. If you find it necessary to vote for an over-all increase in appropriations, then you must have the fortitude to vote for a tax increase.

Let us not take the easy way out and vote for appropriations and against taxes to pay them. May we be given the strength to resist the pressure groups who seek to increase appropriations, and fit our spending to our income and hold the line on taxes.

Speaker Mooty in the chair.

PERMANENT CHIEF CLERK

Kosek of Linn moved that A. C. Gustafson be made permanent Chief Clerk of the House.

Motion prevailed and A. C. Gustafson was declared elected permanent Chief Clerk.

ADOPTION OF TEMPORARY RULES

Vermeer of Marion moved that the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly be in full force and effect until the adoption of the report of the committee on rules.

Motion prevailed.

COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY GOVERNOR

Santee of Black Hawk moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Governor that the House is duly organized and ready to receive any communications that he may desire to transmit.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Santee of Black Hawk, Pierce of Lucas, and Falvey of Monroe.

COMMITTEE TO NOTIFY SENATE

Goode of Davis moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House is duly organized and ready to receive any communications that it may desire to transmit.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Goode of Davis, Maggert of Union, and Freed of Webster.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Dillon of Louisa offered the following resolution, asked and obtained unanimous consent for its immediate consideration, and moved its adoption:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 1

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That a joint convention of the two houses of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly be held on January 15, 1957, at 2:00 p.m.

Be It Further Resolved: That Governor Hoegh be invited to read his message at this joint convention of the two houses of the General Assembly and that the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House be designated to deliver the invitation to him.

Be It Further Resolved: That at this joint convention the votes for Governor and Lieutenant Governor be canvassed and the result announced and recorded as provided by law.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Brown of Keokuk placed in nomination the Honorable Elmer H. Vermeer of Marion County as candidate for Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE:

I wish to place in nomination the name of a man for Speaker pro tempore.

This man has served with distinction in the past two sessions of this General Assembly and by his integrity and ability he has earned the respect of the people who elected him to this Assembly and of his colleagues who serve with him here. He is a credit to the State of Iowa.

It is with the greatest personal pleasure that I nominate the Honorable Elmer H. Vermeer of Marion County as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

Breakenridge of Madison seconded the nomination of Mr. Vermeer as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

It is with great pleasure that I second the nomination of the Honorable Elmer Vermeer of Marion as Speaker pro tempore of this Assembly who has the respect of all members and he has the ability that will qualify him for this responsibility.

Hagedorn of Clay seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members present of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly for the Honorable Elmer H. Vermeer as Speaker pro tempore of the House.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members present of the House of Representatives for the Honorable Elmer H. Vermeer as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly. The Honorable Elmer H. Vermeer of Marion County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

Riehm of Hancock moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the Speaker pro tempore to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Riehm of Hancock, Hirsch of Warren.

Mr. Vermeer was escorted to the chair and, after taking the oath of office, expressed his sincere appreciation to the House for according him this honor, and offered the following remarks:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I wish to state that my failure to vote against the adoption of the rules of last session as the temporary rules of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly in no way reflects a change in my opposition to part of Rule 59 which reads, "A secret ballot may be taken if the same be demanded by three members of the committee but that total ayes and nays shall be recorded."

It is my hope that the Rules Committee of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly will recognize the danger to democratic government by continued secrecy in government and will recommend that said rule be stricken from the permanent rules of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

ANDREW FROMMELT, Dubuque County.

The committee waited upon Governor Hoegh and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Elthon then presented Governor Hoegh who delivered the following address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND FRIENDS:

I am proud today to present an account of our stewardship during the past two years. We have lived in peace and we have enjoyed a stable and prosperous state and national economy. Twelve years ago and more recently in Korea many of us lived in fear as we faced a stubborn enemy on the battlefields. Today we are truly blessed. We have every reason to be happy—and fully prepared to face the future with hope and courage. We might take a page from the University of Iowa's win over Oregon State and the Iowa State win over Kansas University.

While I shall not continue to serve as your Governor, you can be assured that as a citizen, I will be interested in your deliberations and decisions. The people of Iowa have placed their trust in you. I congratulate you, and wish you success in the performance of your duties.

Through the foresight of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly and the able administration of the program by the other state officials and employees Iowa has made great progress these past two years. In every field of state function and responsibility Iowa occupies a commendable position among the states. Iowa has moved forward, because we have assumed that the zenith of our day in the sun lies ahead, not behind.

We have practiced economy and efficiency in government. We are especially proud of the honesty and integrity with which state affairs have been conducted, and with the enforcement of all laws enacted by the people through you, their elected senators and representatives.

FINANCE

Our fiscal policy for this biennium was sound, Iowa's state administrative costs were among the lowest in the nation. We have operated on a balanced budget.

On June 30, 1955, your state balance was $29,000,000. On June 30, 1957, this balance will be $36,000,000—5½ million more than the Comptroller had estimated two years ago. In other words, the greater investment made by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly for education, mental health, full homestead and veterans tax exemptions, and the other worthwhile services has been paid in full, and 7 million dollars additional revenue will accumulate by June 30, 1957.

The one-half cent increase in sales tax is, therefore, no longer needed. It has financed our program, and by eliminating it now, you will still accumulate 4½ million dollars by June 30, making the state balance 33½ million dollars. I, therefore, urge that you take immediate action to repeal the one-half cent increase in the sales tax.

To insure a fair and just state tax structure the Fifty-sixth General Assembly created a bi-partisan Tax Study Committee. After eighteen months of diligent study and deliberation this committee, headed by Senator Prentis, has filed its report. It is a comprehensive and carefully prepared document. I urge that you study it thoroughly and give it your individual and collective consideration.

Iowa must continue its sound fiscal policies of:

No state property tax

No state debt

No deficit spending

A balanced budget

An adequate reserve.

AGRICULTURE

Basically the state's economy is sound. However, in 1955 and 1956 our basic industry, farming, was hurt by disastrous drouths in parts of Iowa. This damage to our farm crops and the low prices of hogs a year ago created some serious problems. Your state government took immediate action to save the livestock herds in the drouth areas by conducting the hay lift, by securing grazing rights of reserve acres and by securing additional credit for the farmer. Fortunately the last General Assembly had strengthened soil and water conservation. However, it will be necessary for you to do more in this field. Your action to make conservation expenditures deductible for income tax purposes was helpful. Nearly 6,000 ponds have been built on Iowa farms these past two years. I suggest that you study and fully consider the thorough report of the Iowa Study Committee of Water Rights and Drainage Laws, and that you create an emergency fund to be available for use should such disaster strike us again.

In October, 1955, seven midwest governors met in Des Moines to take action on bolstering farm prices. Three recommendations were made—establish the soil fertility and conservation plan, purchase of meat by the Federal Government for use, and create a committee to advertise and promote the consumption of farm products. Through the Iowa Farm Products Committee, a national committee has now been organized to promote the sale of meat. The other two recommendations have been put into effect by the Federal Government and have materially benefited agriculture. As the Number One farm state, Iowa must always be the leading spokesman for a healthy and prosperous farm economy.

Iowa's agricultural might was recognized this past year when the Federal Government located at Ames a new Federal Animal Research Center, costing 18 million dollars. It will greatly benefit not only this state's livestock farmers, but also those of the nation.

INDUSTRY

Iowa is proving to be one of the nation's most attractive states for industrial growth. With increased appropriations from the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, the Iowa Development Commission's activities were greatly expanded. The message of Iowa has been transmitted by the Commission and by your governor throughout the nation, and the results have been rewarding.

During the years of 1955 and 1956 there have been 183 industrial developments in Iowa, which is far in excess of the national average. This is the greatest industrial growth in Iowa's history. Already these industries have created over 10,000 new job opportunities and will expand beyond 15,000 in the next two years. Not only will this program keep our sons and daughters in Iowa, but it greatly extends our tax base to the benefit of all citizens. Over $150,000,000 in new capital has been invested by these companies in new plants and equipment. We can now truthfully say Iowa is the Twin Empire State.

General Electric, Procter and Gamble, American Chain and Cable are a few of the great industries which have come to Iowa for the first time. Many more will make their home with us, because of our abundance of natural resources, our self-reliant, well-educated and industrious people, our communities with their fine churches and schools, our state government with its principles of honesty, efficiency, and economical administration within a balanced budget.

Iowa has actively participated in the deliberations of the Missouri River committees. This great river is being rapidly developed for flood control, navigation, industry and power, which will materially aid the industrial growth of western Iowa. It is hoped that the Des Moines River will be similarly harnessed in the near future.

In order that we may do an even more effective job of attracting industries to Iowa, the Commission has completed a comprehensive study of Iowa's industrial and agricultural resources. This information will enable the Commission to pinpoint its efforts, and will accelerate the industrial expansion program.

EDUCATION

We know that the children of Iowa are the state's greatest assets and that they receive a good education is a fundamental necessity. There is no substitute for the trained and educated mind if we are to have the proper future leadership in our communities, state, and nation.

Of 100 boys and girls in the world 15 live in Europe, 9 in Africa, 8 in South America, 1 in the South Pacific, 62 in Russia and Asia, and only 5 in the United States. Our responsibility is to provide these 5 boys and girls the very best in education.

It is the duty of every citizen and of this state to develop human talent and to provide our youth with the ideals, ideas and knowledge that are so essential in making a true leader.

Because of the good judgment of the members of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, Iowa today is making a greater investment in education than at any time in the history of this state. Eighty per cent of the increased appropriations for this past biennium is invested in education.

To improve the quality and efficiency of our educational program more school districts have joined together these past two years than at any time in our history. In July, 1954, we had 4,417 districts—while today we have approximately 3,600.

These reorganizations have been effected by a vigorous Department of Public Instruction despite the fact that our school laws are not adequate. We vitally need new statutes which will change the voting procedure in school reorganizations and will create an incentive for districts to join together. The recommendations by the Board of Public Instruction and your Taxation Study Committee have been carefully prepared and submitted to you. They deserve your thoughtful study and consideration.

Your State Board of Regents continued to seek increased efficiency and higher standards in the operation of our state colleges and university. The ever increasing enrollment in our state institutions means that more teachers and facilities must be provided. Already we have exceeded our estimated enrollments for 1958. We must face these facts courageously and with dedication that every individual shall have the opportunity to develop his or her best self, to continue appropriate education to the personal point of optimum development.

In all phases of education there is no substitute for a good teacher. Quality of instruction and the personal characteristics of teachers are important influences on our youth and their development. Higher standards and better pay for our teachers must therefore never take a secondary role.

It is not enough to say that Iowa ranks the highest in literacy and fourth best on the basis of results and then blind ourselves to the problems which need our attention. Education is good in Iowa but it can and must be constantly improved and strengthened.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Iowa has made substantial progress in the treatment of its mentally ill and in the operation of its correctional and penal institutions. The Fifty-sixth General Assembly wisely appropriated more money for this purpose. Additional trained personnel with better pay was given priority. Emphasis was placed upon early detection, scientific treatment and rehabilitation. Results were good: in 1945, 334 of our patients were discharged as fully recovered, in 1955, 704 were so discharged and in 1956, 746.

Because trained personnel is scarce throughout the country, Iowa was not able to secure full staffs for our institutions. We learned early that Iowa needed a training and research center. With the Board of Control and the University of Iowa co-operating, plans have now been prepared to establish such a center, and closer liaison and co-operation between our mental institutions and the University has been perfected. This is a sound program and I trust sufficient funds will be provided by you to finance it this year.

A Governor's committee of psychiatrists and leading citizens has been surveying and studying Iowa's mental health needs for the past eighteen months. In conjunction with the American Psychiatric Association it has submitted to you its recommendations. They merit your careful study, consideration, and adoption. It is our responsibility to provide the mentally ill with the best treatment so that they may be returned to their homes as useful citizens.

ROADS

We are all agreed that adequate transportation is needed in Iowa's expanding economy. New industries are coming to Iowa because we have recognized that highways are a vital part of the transportation system, and because we have greatly accelerated the construction and modernization of our primary system.

The General Assembly has shown a commendable understanding of the need to bring our highway system up to modern standards. In 1958 you passed a temporary 1 cent gas tax, earmarked to hardsurface the graveled primary roads. In 1955 you extended this tax and passed an additional 1 cent gas tax for primary road modernization. With this increased revenue your State Highway Commission has given Iowa its greatest road improvement and building program on a pay as you go basis.

In the past two years 1,026 miles of our narrow 18 foot roads have been widened to 24 feet. This is a three step program—1st, eliminate the curb and widen to 24 feet, 2nd, resurface, and 3rd, widen the shoulders. Over 300 miles have already been resurfaced. Widening of the highways has been based upon the traffic and feasibility.

One hundred twenty-three narrow bridges have been widened or contracted for widening from 20 to 30 feet. Over two million dollars were saved for the Iowa road user by using a new engineering technique of widening bridges under traffic. In addition, 134 new bridges have been built.

Six hundred twenty-two miles of new pavement have been constructed reducing the number of unpaved primary roads to 961 miles.

Five hundred eight miles of primary highways have been graded these past two years, preparatory for paving.

Iowa's farm to market and secondary road system is the finest in the United States. In the past two years great progress was made with the result that now approximately 80 percent of these roads are surfaced.

In July, 1956, the new Federal interstate program of super highways went into effect. Approximately 700 miles of Iowa's highways, including numbers 6, 69, 75, and 275 are a part of this system. It will be financed 90 percent by the federal government and 10 percent by the state.

Fortunately, you have provided sufficient funds to finance the state's share of this program. Many other states are confronted with the task of raising their gas tax to meet their needs. Your Highway Commission has therefore been able to launch the new program. Contracts have been awarded and construction will be started this year of 1957. The Commission is prepared to use all of Iowa's share of interstate money for the next thirteen years. This is possible because of the funds available and because the Commission had the foresight to employ private engineering firms to implement their engineering staff in preparation of plans and designs.

With the coming of the interstate four lane roads, your Toll Road Authority is no longer needed. However, you are to be commended for creating it and thereby enabling Iowa to be prepared to build a super turnpike across Iowa if the federal program had failed.

The past two years have been fruitful ones on highway construction and modernization. For the safety and convenience of the people of Iowa a continuance of this program is essential. The pace can be maintained and the new interstate road system requirements can be met only if the same funds now provided are kept intact.

TRAFFIC SAFETY

In 1954, Iowa's fatal accident rate was 5.9 deaths per 100 million vehicle units. To combat the slaughter on our highways we put into effect the three E's: Engineering, Education and Enforcement.

In engineering, we greatly accelerated road and bridge widening and the elimination of dangerous curves.

In safety education, we stressed drivers' training for the beginner and for the adult with a bad driving record. Twenty-six additional schools now provide driver training, and the number will continue to rise. Driver improvement centers, which have been established in various sections of our state, are retraining the accident prone or repeat violators in increasing numbers. Also, every means of publicity has been used to emphasize the need for individual driver responsibility.

In enforcement, we have accelerated strict enforcement of our safety regulations. Selective enforcement in high accident areas, use of electric timers, employment of the National Guard to assist the patrol on heavy traffic days and establishment of aerial supervision of traffic, all have contributed to better enforcement.

This program has been effective. In 1955 our fatal accident rate was reduced to 5.5 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles, and in 1956 to 5.6. Fewer deaths occurred on Iowa's highways per million vehicle miles than at any time since official records were first kept in 1935. Iowa's safety record ranked 10th best in the nation in 1955 and 19th best in 1956.

The national increase in traffic fatalities has been spectacular. During the post Christmas holidays, alone, more people lost their lives on the nation's highways than in Iowa for a full year.

While we are making progress, we cannot be satisfied until the absolute maximum of safety has been made available to our citizens on every Iowa highway. This leads me to resubmit two proposals I made two years ago, fixed speed limits and an increase in the number of patrolmen. No material reduction in highway deaths and accidents can be achieved unless these urgently needed measures are adopted.

The laboring man and woman prospered in Iowa these past two years. New job opportunities and steady employment kept Iowa unemployment far below the national average. Employment has been at an all time high and the average weekly wage the highest in Iowa's history. Because of your foresight in providing additional revenue, old age and blind pensions have been substantially increased to help meet the current living costs, and a record number of handicapped persons have been rehabilitated into useful citizens. You are urged to continue to strengthen these programs.

Plans have been perfected to establish a diagnostic and treatment center at the University of Iowa for emotionally disturbed mentally retarded children. The expansion of this program along with the treatment and training of our physically handicapped children merits your full support.

As directed by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, I appointed a Commission to study the extent of discrimination in Iowa. Its report is now on your desks. I urge that you give it your thorough study and consideration.

Two other committees were appointed, one headed by Governor Blue, to study the problems of our elder citizens, the other, headed by Commissioner John Ropes, to study the problems of intra-city transit companies. I trust you will carefully study and consider their reports.

There are other matters which I must call to your attention. At the present time the 45 feet limitation on truck lengths is an obstacle to East-West trans-continental commerce. Iowa should join other states in lifting this restriction by increasing truck lengths to 50 feet.

Two years ago I urged that the legislature be reapportioned. Today I renew this recommendation, because I firmly believe that for true representative government one house should be on an area basis and the other on a population basis.

We all love Iowa, and we're proud of her wonderful people, her fertile fields, her industries and the many hundreds of fine communities, schools and churches.

I have confidence in your judgment and wisdom and that you will face the future with the courage and zeal of our forebears. Only in that way will Iowa become an even better place in which to live.

God bless you—Thank you.

Governor Hoegh was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

REPORT ON THE IOWA TOLL ROAD AUTHORITY

The Iowa Toll Road Authority is a body corporate created by Chapter 152 of the Acts of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, effective April 29, 1955. (Such Act hereinafter referred to as "Enabling Act" or "Act.")

The Enabling Act provides for the construction, maintenance, repair and operation of a toll road and the creation of the Iowa Toll Road Authority. The Act further prescribes the powers and duties of the Authority in connection with the construction of a toll road or roads across the State of Iowa.

The purpose of this legislation is outlined in Section 2 of the Act which states in part: "In order to facilitate vehicular traffic throughout the state, reduce the present handicaps and hazards on the congested highways in the state, promote the agricultural and industrial development of the state, and provide for the general welfare by the construction of modern express highways."

Prior to the passage of the Enabling Act creating the Authority, the Iowa Highway Commission presented to Governor Beardsley, the Iowa Toll Road Feasibility Study. This report was based on an exhaustive study made by the Iowa Highway Commission.

During this study, the Iowa Highway Commission employed Cloverdale and Colpitts, Consulting Engineers of New York City, who are nationally recognized authorities in the field of traffic studies to assist and advise in conducting traffic surveys and revenue estimates. The Highway Commission also engaged Howard, Needles, Tamen and Bergendoff, Consulting Engineers, Kansas City, nationally recognized authorities on location, design, construction and operation of toll road facilities, and estimating toll road costs, to aid in the development of preliminary location, design standards and estimation of construction and operating costs.

The conclusion reached as a result of the Highway Commission study was that the construction and operation of an East-West Toll Road from Davenport to Council Bluffs closely paralleling Highway No. 6 appeared to be economically feasible if revenue bonds in the amount of $180,000,000 could be issued and sold at an interest rate not to exceed 3½ per centum. It was then recommended that the legislature give consideration to the creation of a toll road authority, and thus near the close of the session of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly, the toll road bill was passed.

On June 24, 1955, Governor Leo A. Hoegh announced his appointments to the newly created Authority. The Authority consists of five members, the Governor of Iowa as an ex-officio member, Chris Larsen, Jr., a member of the Highway Commission and ex-officio member designated by the Highway Commission. The appointive members of the Authority and the dates on which their terms expire are as follows: Ed Frick, June 30, 1961; Willis D. Piper, June 30, 1959; Frederick J. Day, June 30, 1957.

The organizational meeting of the Authority was held July 18, 1955, in the Governor's Chambers of the State Capitol Building. At this meeting, Mr. Ed Frick of Davenport was elected Chairman, Mr. Willis Piper of Des Moines was elected Vice Chairman, and Mr. Frederick Day of Council Bluffs was elected Acting Secretary-Treasurer until such time as a permanent secretary-treasurer be appointed.

Under the terms of the Act, the Iowa Highway Commission was authorized to provide seventy-five thousand dollars ($75,000.00) to carry out the proposals of the Act and for compensation and expenses. The members of the Authority appointed by the Governor received twenty dollars per diem and each member is reimbursed for actual expenses incurred in carrying out the provisions of the Act. At the organizational meeting, the Authority requested that the Iowa Highway Commission transfer $5,000 to the Iowa Toll Road Authority for preliminary expenses. (See Exhibit "A" for financial statement.)

One of the provisions of the Act specifically prohibits the Authority from issuing revenue bonds until an adjoining state had created a similar authority, and has negotiated the sale of revenue bonds for the construction of a toll road to extend to the boundary of Iowa. Since Minnesota and Missouri had no similar authority and the Nebraska Legislature had repealed the Act creating the Nebraska Turnpike Authority, Iowa had to look toward Illinois who at this time were in the process of negotiating the sale of bonds for an Illinois Toll Highway.

The Authority directed Chairman Frick to meet with the director of the Illinois Toll Road Commission to express Iowa's interest in Illinois turnpike progress and establish a working relationship with the Illinois group.

After the first meeting on July 18, 1955, the Authority immediately proceeded to study ways and means of financing the construction of the project if and when all the provisions of the Act were complied with. The Act authorizes the issuance of toll road revenue bonds of the Authority for the purpose of paying all or any part of the cost of any one or more toll road projects. The Act further states that no liability or debt of the state shall be incurred in the issuance of revenue bonds.

One of the first steps to be taken in a project of this magnitude is the selection of one or more investment banking firms to act as bank managers for the Authority and to assist the Authority in the many preliminary measures that must be accomplished prior to the issuance and marketing of the revenue bonds.

In August of 1955, the Authority commenced interviewing investment banking firms of favorable national reputation and experience in toll road financing. (See Exhibit "B" for firms interviewed.) It was the general opinion of the bankers interviewed that the Iowa project was economically feasible and that funds required to finance the construction and related costs could be obtained by the sale of toll road revenue bonds when they can be authorized and sold in accordance with the provisions of the Act.

On September 23, 1955, the Iowa Authority met with Governor Stratton and other officials of the Illinois Toll Highway Commission at Davenport. The purpose of this meeting was to examine and discuss mutual toll road problems of the neighboring states, and to urge Illinois to expedite its program for a toll road to Iowa's eastern border.

Gvernor Stratton reported that the Illinois Commission had planned a two phase program. The first phase included a route which bypasses Chicago, extending west from the Indiana line in southern Cook County, thence north near the Page-Cook County line, and through Lake County to Wisconsin. Another route extends northwest from this belt route to Rockford and the third route extends west from the belt to Aurora. This first phase program is known as the Northern Illinois Route. Bonds to finance this route were scheduled to be sold in October, 1955. The second phase of the Illinois program included a turnpike from Aurora to Rock Island known as the East-West Route which would serve as the interlink between the two states.

The Iowa Authority was assured by Governor Stratton that the survey for the second phase Illinois program would begin as soon as the sale of the 415 million dollar bond issue for the first phase was completed. It was estimated that this survey could be completed by early summer of 1956.

With the assurance of a stepped up program in Illinois, the Iowa Authority was optimistic that it could start its toll road plans in 1956, by working concurrently with Illinois on final engineering surveys, legal proceedings and other preliminary steps preparatory to the issuance of bonds.

On October 25, 1955, the Illinois Toll Highway Commission negotiated the sale of 415 million dollars worth of toll revenue bonds at an interest rate of 3% per cent to finance the first phase of their program. This huge bond issue was the largest in the history of turnpike financing. Although the sale of the bonds had been made by the Illinois Commission a suit attacking the method of financing had been filed and the bonds could not be delivered until the suit was litigated.

During the fall of 1955, the Iowa Authority continued interviewing investment and banking firms, consulting engineers, legal counsel, and other persons interested in the development of the Iowa program. Specific proposals from many of the nation's leading investment bankers and consulting engineering firms were received and studied.

Two members of the Authority attended the annual meeting of the American Bridge, Tunnel and Turnpike Association in October, 1955, in order to become better informed on problems and procedures involving toll roads in many states.

By the end of 1955, the bonds for the first phase Illinois Toll Road had not yet been delivered, and Illinois had not yet started on surveys for the Aurora-Rock Island route, so Iowa was obligated to wait. However, your Iowa Toll Road Authority had by this time made sufficient plans to proceed with the employment of bank managers and consulting engineers. Contracts for their employment were drawn, and plans were made to proceed with the construction of the East-West toll road. Further action by your Authority was then held in abeyance, pending disposition of the federal interstate road legislation.

In January of 1956, a bill was introduced in Congress to amend and supplement the Federal Aid Road Act. This bill was known as the 1956 Federal Highway Bill (H.R. 8836).

The bill accepts Federal responsibility for the Interstate system on a 90-10 matching basis with the states. Because of this pending legislation in Congress which would set up a system of 40,000 miles of modern, limited access highways, the Authority decided to defer any further action on its toll road plans until Congress acted on the bill.

On June 29, 1956, the Federal-Aid Highway Act was passed, setting up a construction program of 13 years on the Interstate Highway system. For Iowa, this law provided for the construction of 706 miles of 4-lane access controlled highways; one east and west road extending from Davenport through Des Moines to Council Bluffs; one north and south road extending through the center of the state from the Missouri state line to the Minnesota line; another north and south road along the Missouri River bottom from the Missouri state line through Council Bluffs to Sioux City, and urban extension in the cities of Davenport and Des Moines.

This system of 709 miles is only 6.8 per cent of the primary road system, or 0.63 per cent of the total road system of Iowa, and will carry 15 per cent of the primary road traffic and 9.5 per cent of the total traffic in Iowa; the government to pay 90 per cent of the cost to be matched with 10 per cent of state funds. Since this system of interstate highways is so much more comprehensive than could be financed through tolls, and also since one of the interstate roads was on approximately the same location as suggested by the preliminary report on the Iowa turnpike, it appears that due to the Federal-Aid Highway bill providing a free express way across Iowa, that a toll road would not be feasible. It is also doubtful that due to the raise in interest rates and the tight money conditions that prevail throughout the country, that bonds to finance an Iowa Toll Road could be issued for 3½ per cent.

It is, therefore, recommended that the Iowa Toll Road Authority be disbanded, and that legislation creating the Iowa Toll Road Authority be repealed.

Dated January 10, 1957.

Respectfully submitted,

ED FRICK.

We invoke Thy blessing upon these proceedings and upon these two men who are to be inaugurated as Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the State of Iowa. May Thy wisdom guide them and Thy power uphold them. Enable them to rise above all self-seeking and party zeal into the larger sentiments of public good and human brotherhood.

Cleanse our public life of every evil and grant that Thy righteousness may dwell in our hearts and direct all our doings. May self-denial and sobriety be the order of our days and devotion to Thy will the aim of our hearts.

With Thy fatherly goodness and mercy wilt Thou watch over those in places of leadership and heavy responsibility. Keep them from the irritation of tension and the temptation of power. Give them the peace which comes from knowing Thee and the poise which comes from walking in Thy way.

May all of us here and in our State and Nation be worthy, in some measure at least, of the peace and prosperity for which we long. Unite us all in Thy love and continue us in Thy favor through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.

The oath of office was administered to Lieutenant Governor-elect William H. Nicholas by the Honorable William L. Bliss, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa.

Lieutenant Governor Nicholas, President of the Senate, presiding, presented Governor Loveless, who delivered the following inaugural address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MR. CHIEF JUSTICE, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES, STATE OFFICIALS, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is with a profound sense of humility that I assume my duties as Governor of Iowa. I appreciate deeply the honor conferred upon me by the people of Iowa in electing me to this position. But I also recognize that in taking the oath of office I have assumed responsibilities to all Iowans.

The program for my administration will be based upon certain fundamental principles. We must work together to improve the effectiveness of state administration by recognizing the distinction between policy making and administration and by clearly assigning responsibilities for each function to the proper branch of government.

The specific recommendations which I shall make do not represent any radical break with long recognized needs for governmental reform in Iowa. The Fifty-seventh General Assembly has at its disposal the results of several special study committees, as well as research reports of the Iowa Legislative Research Bureau. This vast amount of information, compiled at considerable expense, should be utilized, wherever possible, to facilitate the development of sound legislative programs.

With these general principles in mind, I respectfully submit the following recommendations covering the major areas of state governmental responsibility:

BASIS OF REPRESENTATION IN THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY

In the past half century, two sessions of the General Assembly have altered senatorial districts. In 1941, changes were made affecting four of the 50 districts; again, in 1953, four districts were modified. But the changes made have failed by a wide margin to satisfy the constitutional requirement that senatorial districts be apportioned according to population. Representation in the House has also been altered four times since 1904; but these four changes have not materially reduced the underrepresentation from the more populous counties.

On the basis of current representation, the 26 less heavily populated senatorial districts contain about one-third of the population, with the remaining two-thirds of the citizens of Iowa being represented in the Senate by only 24 members. In the House of Representatives, the disparity is even more pronounced. Continuing shifts in the state's population from rural to urban areas indicate that, in the future, underrepresentation of the growing population centers will become even more serious unless positive action is taken to modify the present pattern of representation. Moreover, a technique should be developed which will facilitate future adjustments of representation to population shifts without the lags which have persisted in recent decades.

There is no lack of information on the inequities of the present pattern, nor on the methods available for the attainment of a more representative Assembly. We do not need further time-consuming special studies of this matter. Rather, the need is for action to restore adequate representation to a large segment of our population, and thereby to regain the widespread public support for the legislative branch without which representative government is in jeopardy. Therefore, I strongly urge the Fifty-seventh General Assembly to:

- a. Take action designed to correct the present lack of balance in representation; and
- b. Establish a dependable method which will facilitate future adjustments in representation without the lags which have persisted in recent decades.

ORGANIZATION OF STATE GOVERNMENT

In 1949, the Fifty-third General Assembly provided for the establishment of the Governmental Reorganization Commission generally known as the "Little Hoover Commission." The Commission was directed to examine the organization and operation of the various state agencies and departments and to recommend such changes as would accomplish the following purposes:

- a. reduction of expenditures and promotion of economies;
- b. increased efficiency of governmental operations;
- c. reduction of agencies by a consolidation of those having similar functions; and

d. elimination of overlapping and duplicative activities.

After a detailed study of the organization and functions of the more than 80 administrative agencies, the Commission concluded that "the machinery of the present state government is adapted to times and conditions that no longer exist." The Commission, in its 1950 Report, made a series of recommendations for the reorganization of state government agencies and departments, and for the regrouping of functions to eliminate duplication and overlapping. The Committee concluded that the adoption of its recommendations would not only improve service to the public, but would also permit "a substantial savings of up to $5,000,000 annually."

Three General Assemblies have met since the Report of the Governmental Reorganization Commission was submitted. Yet, very few of the recommendations of the Commission have been enacted. In the meantime, appropriations from the General Fund of the State of Iowa have risen from an annual rate of slightly over 80 million dollars in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, to an annual rate in excess of 136 million dollars during the current year. The time has come when the consideration of measures designed to improve the efficiency of state government can no longer be delayed. The taxpayers of Iowa are already carrying a tax load far heavier than that borne by the residents of most states. While every reasonable effort must be made to maintain and improve the quality of essential governmental services, the State of Iowa can not move forward under the handicap of obsolete governmental structures. Nor can the taxpayers be expected to continue, indefinitely, to provide increased financial support for duplicative activities and overlapping functions arising from faulty organization and the absence of clear cut lines of administrative responsibility.

In order to provide improved public services, and to promote efficiency in state government, I strongly urge the Fifty-seventh General Assembly to enact legislation which will implement the following recommendations of the Little Hoover Commission:

1. The abolition of the Commerce Commission and the transfer of its present activities to other agencies of state government. The present appropriation of the Commerce Commission is almost one quarter of a million dollars per year. While some additional expenses might be incurred in other areas to which the functions of the Commerce Commission would be transferred, substantial savings could be effected.

2. The establishment of a Department of Labor, with a single administrative head appointed by the Governor. The proposed department would be responsible for the functions now assigned to the Industrial Commissioner, the Bureau of Labor, and the Division of Mine Examination. In addition to the consolidation recommended by the Governmental Reorganization Commission, I respectfully suggest that the Iowa Employment Security Commission be placed in the proposed Department of Labor, and that the present three-member Commission be replaced by a single Commissioner of Employment Security.

3. The establishment of a Department of Public Welfare, with a single Commissioner, appointed by the Governor. The proposed Department would be responsible for the functions presently under the Board of Control, the Board of Social Welfare, and Commission for the Blind. All of the multi-member boards would be abolished. Within the proposed Department, subdivisions should be established along the general lines recommended by the Governmental Reorganization Committee.

4. The establishment of a Department of Conservation and Natural Resources, with a single administrative head appointed by the Governor. The proposed Department would be responsible for the related functions now scattered through several agencies, including the Conservation Commission, the Geological Survey, the Natural Resources Council, and the Soil Conservation Commission. While the economies which could be achieved with the consolidations just noted would be substantial, the improvement in the coordination and integration of the activities would be no less significant. The increasing urgency of the state's water problem, and the highly interdependent nature of the various aspects of conservation are important reasons why we should take immediate action to bring about the coordination suggested above.

Certainly the needs for improved governmental services and economy in operation are no less serious now than they were when the recommendations of the Commission were made.

PERSONNEL POLICY

The quality of state services and the efficiency with which such functions are performed depend, in large measure, on the quality of personnel. The recommended reorganizations and reallocation of functions will fail to accomplish the desirable results which might be expected of them unless positive steps are taken to improve the quality of the personnel who will operate the reorganized agencies.

In order to facilitate the development of an efficient, dedicated, professional state civil service, I strongly recommend the immediate establishment of a nonpolitical civil service for the state government. It is not enough merely to pass a law specifying that appointments to positions in state government shall conform to merit system standards. It is necessary to establish a personnel agency with the technical competence to develop standards, the legal power to enforce respect for these standards, and the administrative energy and efficiency to translate them into practice. Through the establishment of a Department of Civil Service we shall be in a better position to attract able, competent persons to state service, and retain the efficient personnel so desperately needed in government. State government has become "big business" in terms of the amount of expenditures involved. The duties which key employees are called upon to perform require highly skilled people in a wide variety of technical fields. It no longer seems consistent with the best interest of all the people of Iowa to regard state appointments on a political basis.

Therefore, I call upon the General Assembly to join with me in the establishment of an effective merit system for the State of Iowa, by creating a Department of Civil Service. I propose, further, that the Department be administered by an appointive Director of Personnel, whose regulations would be subject to the approval of a three-member Civil Service Commission, which would also be empowered to hear appeals in cases of dismissal.

COMMERCE AND INDUSTRY

Since 1948, Iowans as a whole have failed to enjoy the rapid growth in income which has characterized the national economy. In fact, from 1948 to 1955, the income of the citizens of Iowa increased by only slightly more than 7 percent, while income in the nation as a whole was rising by over 46 percent. Since 1940, Iowa's population has increased only 6 percent, while population in the nation has risen almost 25 percent. From 1940 through 1954 the State of Iowa retained less than 30 percent of its natural increase in population.

Although the factors responsible for Iowa's lagging rates of economic and population growth are varied and complex, two basic reasons stand out:

a. First, the state's agricultural economy, like the agricultural segment of the national economy, has failed to keep pace with growth in nonagricultural industries.

b. Second, the rate of growth in the commercial and industrial components of the Iowa economy has not been sufficiently rapid to afford adequate opportunities for employment of the natural increase in population.

The future progress of the State of Iowa depends upon the attainment of a more rapid rate of growth in economic opportunities for the youth of the state. To encourage economic development on a broad base, and to stimulate expanded employment opportunities I urge the establishment of a Department of Commerce which will function as 1) a developmental agency, 2) a sponsor and coordinator of business and economic research, and 3) a service agency to Iowa's business and commercial establishments.

The proposed Department of Commerce and Industry would be under a single administrative head with an advisory council, both appointed by the Governor. The Department would be responsible for the activities now carried on by the Iowa Development Commission. In addition, it would coordinate, promote, and sponsor research designed to improve business opportunities and development in all areas of the state's economy. The actual research might be carried on in the state institutions of higher education, in other departments of state government, or by private organizations and firms. A third vital function of the proposed Department of Commerce would have to do with the dissemination of information and advisory services to Iowa's business firms along lines similar to those of the agricultural extension services.

Although Iowa has gained some important new industries in recent years, the overall growth in job opportunities has not been sufficient to retain the natural increase in the state's population. While we must intensify our efforts to obtain suitable new industries, we must facilitate the natural development of the state's "homegrown" businesses—large and small. In too many cases, existing enterprises fail to reach their full facilities. A Department of Commerce and Industry can supply vital assistance to business in meeting such problems.

A Department of Commerce and Industry is the logical agency to guide and accelerate Iowa's participation in the industrial applications of atomic energy. More specifically, the proposed Department would:

a. Coordinate research activities within Iowa, and sponsor joint projects with the Atomic Energy Commission;

b. Assume the initiative in securing a research reactor for use by the state's institutions of higher education for basic and applied research directed to the use of atomic power in Iowa's industrial plants;

c. Serve as a clearing house through which research findings are made available to prospective industrial users.

The people of Iowa have contributed, through Federal taxation, more than 100 million dollars to the development of atomic energy. It seems appropriate that we should take immediate steps to participate in the benefits to be derived from the peaceful applications of atomic power.

AGRICULTURE

The economy of Iowa is based primarily on agriculture. Directly and indirectly the economic well-being of a large proportion of our citizens depends upon a prosperous farm economy. Although the major factors which determine the level of farm income are national and international rather than statewide in scope, there are significant areas in which State action can be of assistance. Because of the importance of agriculture in the Iowa economy, and because of the postwar trends in agriculture's share in the national income, I recommend that the General Assembly give special attention to:

1. An expanded research program designed to enlarge the markets for Iowa's agricultural products, and to stimulate the development of a greater degree of food processing near the centers of primary production. Much of the needed research and development can be accomplished by shifting emphasis from activities designed to increase output, to those designed to the expansion of markets, and the retention of a larger portion of the consumer's food dollar for the Iowa economy.

2. The adequacy of credit available to agricultural producers. At prevailing interest rates and farm income levels, many of our farm producers are hampered by inadequate credit.

3. A program for the efficient utilization of water, through the development of more effective conservation measures, more adequate information on the availability of water resources, and a sound, comprehensive "water rights" law which will protect the interests of all water users.

LABOR

Well over one-half of the total income received by residents of Iowa is made up of wage and salary payments from nonagricultural occupations; over sixty percent of the labor force is employed in nonagricultural industries. Thus, the terms of employment, working conditions, and employment security vitally affect the livelihood of a substantial proportion of our total population. Because of the growing importance of nonagricultural wage earners in our economy, I have already urged the establishment of a Department of Labor.

I also recommend that the General Assembly modify three features of the laws of Iowa dealing with labor:

- First, the prohibition of "union shop" contracts between employers and employees should be abolished. It is, among other things, an infringement on the freedom of contract. Moreover, it provides an opportunity for "free-loading" which allows a minority to share equally in benefits obtained by the efforts of the majority. Where joint action is taken to promote the interests of large numbers of individuals in other areas of Iowa's economy, these activities are usually financed from contributions from all the individuals benefiting therefrom. It does not seem consistent that the sovereign powers of the State of Iowa should be used to forbid effective joint action by labor, while—at the same time—such powers are used to enforce joint action for the benefit of individual members of other groups.

- Second, the unduly restrictive nature of the disqualifications for unemployment compensation should be modified to bring practices in Iowa into line with those in most other states. Unemployment compensation should never be allowed to become a source of income for the individual who simply doesn't want to work. But the present law on disqualification has the effect of excluding many individuals with perfectly legitimate claims and imposing penalties in the form of loss of past credits for workers. Because of technical features of the law, it also slows down the payment of benefits. In fact, the percentage of first benefit payments within two weeks in Iowa is one of the lowest in the country.

- Third, in view of the increased cost of medical and hospital services, and the higher cost of living, I recommend that the General Assembly revise the schedule of workmen's compensation benefits.

TAX REVISION

The Fifty-sixth General Assembly, by Senate Joint Resolution 7, established a special taxation study committee "to make a study embracing the adequacy and equity of the entire structure of state, county, municipal and school methods of raising revenues." The findings and recommendations of this committee have now been made available to the members of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

It is recognized that the tax structure of Iowa could be improved by eliminating existing inequities, and by removing some of the obsolete forms of taxation which produce much taxpayer resentment, but little revenue. Later, in the Budget Message, I shall present a suggested tax program. However, because of the public interest in the matter, it seems appropriate to recommend here, that the temporary, additional one-half of one percent sales and use tax be allowed to expire as scheduled at the end of the current fiscal year.

While I cannot agree with all of the recommendations reached by the taxation study committee, I respectfully suggest that the General Assembly give early attention to the Report of the committee for the following reasons:

First, it will be well for the General Assembly to give careful study to matters of equity and tax structure before taking up questions involving the level of appropriations and the amount of revenue to be raised. Although questions of tax structure cannot be separated entirely from those of revenue, many of the more or less obvious defects and sources of inequity can be corrected in the early weeks of the session.

Second, in view of the fact that the Report of the committee includes background materials and proposed bills, it will be possible to act on the recommendations with a minimum of delay. As this can be done during the period when the General Assembly is normally engaged in preparatory work, the action I am recommending will contribute to the effective use of the time of members of the General Assembly.

EDUCATION

The people of Iowa are justifiably proud of the State's educational achievements. The public school system and the institutions of higher education, together with the many excellent private educational institutions have established an enviable record in training the youth of the state for positions of leadership in Iowa and the entire nation. But we must not rest on our laurels. The needs and standards of education are constantly advancing; Iowa must move forward with other states, or see its educational system relegated to an inferior position.

The people of Iowa are already making substantially greater than national average contributions for the support of public schools. While I know that Iowans want better than just "average" education for the children of this state, we must make renewed efforts to achieve all possible economies consistent with sound educational practices. The presence of inefficiencies in the Iowa public school system is suggested by the facts that: (1) relative to the size of the population, and total public school enrollment, the number of employees is about 25 percent above the national average, and (2) although the average salary for Iowa's public school teachers is substantially below the national average, the cost per pupil in average daily attendance is higher in Iowa than in the nation. These facts reflect the lack of efficient utilization of teachers in some parts of our school system.

In order to maintain and improve the quality of educational services in Iowa, to equalize the costs of education among the several categories of taxpayers, and to promote economy and efficiency in operation of the educational system, I respectfully urge the Fifty-seventh General Assembly to:

1. Revise the laws covering school reorganization, to the end that existing uncertainties in the composition of reorganized districts are removed. At the same time we must keep in mind the traditions of local control, and the right of appeal to the courts.

2. Require that all areas of the State be included within some high school district at the expiration of a reasonable period of time. At present, a substantial number of our citizens are deprived of an effective voice in the determination of the policies under which their children are educated. This is not consistent with Iowa's tradition of local control of schools.

3. Establish formulas for the distribution of present school aids which will encourage adequate educational standards, efficiency in operations, and a more equitable distribution of public school costs. The quality of education, and the efficiency with which educational services can be provided are not exclusively and uniquely determined by the size of the schools. Area, transportation distances and time, adequacy of the tax base and population density—as well as number of students enrolled—must be taken into account in the determination of the "optimum" size of school districts. However, there is rather clear and unmistakable evidence that costs per pupil are excessive in very small school units, particularly in the smaller high schools. The extent to which all the people of the state should be required to subsidize the continued operation of such "high cost" units through existing or increased state aids is a debatable question. But it is respectfully suggested that the time has come when the chosen representatives of all the people should arrive at a clearcut policy decision on this vital matter.

4. Erect safeguards in the distribution of state aids which will facilitate the attainment of legislative intent that such aids shall relieve local property taxes.

Our state institutions of higher education are confronted with sharply rising enrollments which will require additional staff and physical plant if the opportunities of higher education are to continue to be made available to all the youth of Iowa. Yet, confronted with a shortage of competent, trained college teachers, with active demands for their services from institutions in other states, and from industry, the salary levels at Iowa's institutions of higher education are among the lowest to be found in comparable institutions in the Midwest. Iowa's institutions cannot hope to hold their established position as leaders in education, research, and public service at existing salary levels. The Budget Message will contain specific proposals for coping with this critical situation.

In the matter of capital improvements, the needs are also urgent. It cannot be expected, however, that the State can wipe out the accumulated backlog of almost twenty years of inadequate capital expansion in one biennium. But we must assume the joint responsibility of providing at least a temporary solution until a long range program can go into operation. And we must also initiate the long range program in the current session to avoid further "stop-gap" financing for capital expansion.

In higher education—no less than in the public schools—we must take the necessary steps to ensure efficiency in the use of taxpayers' dollars. To this end, I urge the General Assembly to give consideration to the study of ways of promoting more effective use of personnel and physical plant.

HIGHWAYS

Over one-third of all public revenues in Iowa are spent on the state's highways, roads, and streets. Because of the nature of the Iowa economy we must have an integrated network of primary, secondary, and farm-to-market roads and urban streets which will adequately serve both the rural areas and the growing industrial centers. The traffic congestion in and around cities is a pressing problem for which an early solution must be found.

The large increases in revenues for highway purposes, resulting from the action of previous sessions of the General Assembly and, more recently from the inauguration of the long run Federal interstate program, will make it possible for the State of Iowa to move forward toward a modern highway system. But we must be alert to the dangers of waste and inadequate planning in the expenditure of such large and rapidly increasing funds. On the one hand, we must not fall into the error of building 1930 highways in 1957 and 1958. At the other extreme, we must recognize that the construction of a few miles of "roads of tomorrow" will not solve the state's highway problems. The need for careful planning for the state primary system will not be eliminated by the construction of the interstate system.

Above all, we must retain a high degree of flexibility in our construction program in order to cope with changing needs, and advances in techniques of construction and design.

In order to secure the maximum, long range benefits from present and prospective levels of expenditures, and to secure a modern system of highways within a reasonable period, I recommend that:

1. The General Assembly enact legislation establishing a long-range highway planning program;

2. The General Assembly reexamine the present method of allocating highway-user revenues to determine if funds are being allocated to those parts of the system where the needs are most pressing. As the economy of the state changes, the demands on public transportation facilities also change. Adherence to an outmoded allocation formula will almost certainly result in excessive funds going to some uses, and inadequate funds to others.

3. The General Assembly examine the potential savings which might be realized from the standardization of design.

4. The General Assembly enact legislation providing for the establishment of an urban highway department. The functions of such a department would be primarily research, planning, and advisory.

5. The granting of contracts for construction in the primary system be geared to a reasonable and prudent estimate of funds available. Excessive commitments at any one time can result in loss of flexibility.

HIGHWAY SAFETY

The tragic loss of lives on Iowa's highways is a matter of serious concern to all of us. The public has rightly come to expect that action will be taken to promote highway safety.

Yet, there is no magic formula, or single piece of legislation which will automatically make our highways safe. The problem is a complex one, and a satisfactory solution requires a coordinated attack along the following lines:

First, we must strengthen our driver education and testing programs in order to discover accident-prone drivers before they are involved in serious accidents.

Second, we must devote a larger share of our highway resources to new highways of modern design, built to carry today's traffic, rather than to temporary, stop-gap expedients which frequently serve only to create a false sense of security on the part of the driver, and to postpone the eventual day of basic reconstruction.

Third, the enforcement of traffic regulations must be improved. To this end, I urge the General Assembly to examine the organization and operations of the Department of Public Safety, and to inquire into all matters affecting the morale and efficiency of the Highway Patrol.

Fourth, I recommend the enactment of legislation establishing a reasonable speed limit. While a "speed limit" law will not automatically reduce accidents and fatalities, it can be a useful part of an overall program.

Finally, we must make more effective use of widespread citizen participation, under effective leadership, to promote safety consciousness. In the final analysis, our highways can be made safer only as we can change the habits and attitudes of the driving public.

ALCOHOLIC BEVERAGE CONTROL

The present Liquor Control Commission and the state-owned system of stores were established in 1933, after the people of the state had voted by a margin of more than 3 to 2 in favor of the repeal of prohibition. At the time the present package plan of distribution was established, there was little recent experience to serve as a guide in setting up of a system of control. Although a vast amount of experience has accumulated in Iowa and in other states in the past quarter of a century, the Iowa system has not been modified substantially since it was established.

An adequate system for the control of the sale and use of alcoholic beverages should be based upon a careful consideration of several factors:

First, the system of control should provide adequate safeguards for the general welfare of all the citizens of the State; second, the system should encourage moderation in the use of alcoholic beverages; and, third, the system of control should protect the State's legitimate revenues from the sale of alcoholic beverages. All of these objectives must be sought within the framework of a system of laws for which public support can be secured. In the final analysis, law enforcement in a democracy rests upon public opinion and widespread social support for the law of the land. An attempt to enforce laws for which support is lacking invites the methods of the "police state"; if enforcement is not attempted, the equally fatal danger of contempt for law is ever present.

Because the "liquor control problem" raises issues about which Iowans have quite different and strongly held views, a solution equally satisfactory to all groups will be difficult to achieve. Therefore, I strongly urge the establishment of a joint legislative committee which will reflect the views of all groups in the state. This should be done at the earliest possible date, in order that the findings and recommendations of the committee may be available for consideration by the Fifty-seventh General Assembly.

WATER RESOURCES

The recent Report of the Iowa Study Committee of Water Rights and Drainage laws calls for the enactment of new legislation and amendments to existing legislation governing the use of water, and a series of changes in existing laws controlling the formation and operation of drainage districts. The general findings of this Committee bring out two significant points: (1) there is need for more adequate data; and (2) the efficient utilization of the state's water resources can not be considered separately from related aspects of an overall resource development program, such as soil conservation, flood control, and the recreational use of water resources.

I urge the General Assembly to proceed with caution in the establishment of restrictions on the use of water. Much information is needed before we are ready to cast the mold for future economic development. Hastily drawn legislation may well impair industrial development and urban growth.

MENTAL HEALTH

The Mental Health Committee has recently completed a detailed report on the problem of mental health in Iowa. This report, and the recommendations contained therein are based on careful studies by professionally competent persons and by lay leaders from all parts of the state. As is recognized in the report, the goals or objectives which the recommendations are designed to attain are long-run in nature. Not all of them can be accomplished in a year or two, even if unlimited funds were available.

Taking the priority set forth by the Committee, I recommend that the General Assembly enact the necessary legislation to effect the reorganization of the Board of Control, as outlined earlier. This reorganization would include the establishment of a Division of Mental Institutions headed by a director to be selected on the basis of professional qualifications. The effect of the proposed reorganization would place the direct administrative supervision of Iowa's mental health program in the hands of a professional expert, rather than in a lay board.

Secondly, I recommend an expansion of the research and training program in the medical facilities at Iowa City in order to increase the knowledge available for treatment of the mentally ill, and to enlarge the supply of trained personnel available to apply the knowledge. As is explained in the recommendations of the Committee, professional leadership and increased knowledge and trained personnel for the treatment of the mentally ill must have top priority in any program designed to achieve long-run success. I concur in the priorities established, and respectfully commend the report for your consideration.

VETERANS

Through the action of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly and the citizens of Iowa, a bonus was authorized for Korean veterans. I pledge my efforts to secure the prompt payment of the bonus to which the General Assembly and the people of Iowa have given their approval.

While the payment of the bonus is a token of appreciation for the sacrifices of members of the armed forces, we must also remain alert to the longer run needs of our veterans, and to the maintenance of services to meet these needs.

IOWA'S OLDER CITIZENS

Advances in health and medical sciences have extended the life span of our people. In the nation as a whole, the number of people over 65 has quadrupled since 1900, while the total population has only doubled. In Iowa almost 11 percent of our total population is composed of persons over 65 years of age.

In order to cope with problems arising from the increase in the number of older citizens in the State of Iowa, I recommend that the General Assembly:

1. Enact a Public Housing Act which will make it possible for Iowa to benefit from the recent revision in the Federal Public Housing Act providing that a percentage of new public housing be set aside to meet the housing needs of elderly citizens;

2. Strengthen and clarify the laws governing the operation of nursing homes, and provide for the operation of boarding homes for the aged.

3. Provide for a research program to determine the precise needs of Iowa's older citizens. This is vital, if we are to devise forward-looking programs that will promote increased opportunities for participation by our elder citizens in the educational, recreational, social, economic and spiritual life of the community.

CONCLUSION

The recommendations which I have just presented have been formulated with one purpose in mind: to provide the people of Iowa with improved governmental services at a tax cost they can afford. We have no acceptable alternative but to move forward, if the citizens of our state are to share in the rich promise of America. I pledge my wholehearted cooperation to the members of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, and to state officials to the end that we may accomplish what is good for all Iowans. Regardless of party affiliation, we have all been placed in positions of trust by all the people, and it is to them that we owe our first loyalty.

The Benediction was offered by the Right Reverend Monsignor Lester Vincent Lyons, Vicar General of The Bishop of Des Moines, Saint Ambrose Cathedral.

Go before us, O Lord, we beseech Thee, in all our doings, with Thy gracious inspiration, and further us with Thy continual help, so that every prayer and work of ours, may begin from Thee, and by Thee be duly ended, through Christ our Lord.

Be pleased, O Lord God, to enter our hearts, and to show us the way that we ought to tend. Teach us what we must accomplish, in order that we may be able, with Thy help, to please Thee in all things. Be Thou, alone, the Author and the Finisher of our judgments, and suffer us not to disturb, at any time, the order of justice, Thou Who dost love equity above all things. Never permit ignorance to draw us into devious paths, O Lord, nor partiality ever to sway our minds. Neither let respect of riches, or of persons, ever pervert our judgment, but unite us always to Thyself, effectually, by the gift of Thy Holy Grace, so that we may be one in Thee, and never forsake Thy truth.

Especially do we pray Thee, O Lord our God, to bless abundantly Thy Servant, our Governor, Chief Executive of this Sovereign State, so that in all things, he may hold fast to justice, tempered only by pity; so that all his judgments may in no wise, be ever at variance with Thy judgments; so that now, and in the life to come, he may attain to rich and everlasting rewards for deeds well done. We beseech Thee, God, to preserve him, to sustain him, and to keep him, and us, forever in Thy Grace. Amen.

Rules of Civil Procedure

Report of The Supreme Court
The State of Iowa

TO THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

In accordance with sections 684.18 and 684.19, Code of Iowa, 1954, the Supreme Court of Iowa has prescribed and herewith reports to you rules of practice and procedure in the nature of amendments to the following Rules of Civil Procedure.

Rule 121 is revised to read:

121. Interrogatories—time—nature. In actions other than actions in justice court or class "B" actions in municipal court a party may, after the general appearance of an adversary or before such appearance with leave of court, file in duplicate not over thirty numbered interrogatories to be answered by such adversary. Interrogatories may relate to any matters which can be inquired into under rule 143 and the answers may be used to the same extent as provided in rules 144 and 145 for the use of the deposition of a party.

124. Answers.

(a) No change in present Iowa rule.

Rule 124 (b) is revised to read:

(b) Answers for a party not a natural person shall be made by any officer, partner or managing agent, who shall furnish such information as is available to the party.

Rule 125, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

125. Protective orders.

(a) The restrictions of rule 141(a) and (d) are applicable for the protection of the parties from whom answers to interrogatories are sought under these rules.

(b) Interrogatories may be filed after a deposition has been taken, and a deposition may be sought after interrogatories have been answered, but the court, on motion of the deponent or the party interrogated, may make such protective order as justice may require.

Rule 126, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

126. Delivery of answers. Copies of the answers shall be delivered as provided in rule 82.

Rule 127, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

127. Admission of facts and of genuineness of documents. After the general appearance of an adverse party, any party may file in duplicate a written request for the admission by any other party of the genuineness of any relevant documents described in and exhibited with the request or of the truth of any relevant matters of fact set forth in the request. Copies of the documents shall be filed with the request unless copies have already been furnished. Within ten (10) days after the filing thereof, or within such shorter or longer time as the court may allow on motion and notice, the party to whom the request is directed shall file in duplicate either (a) a sworn statement specifically admitting or denying the matters of which an admission is requested or setting forth in detail the reasons why he cannot truthfully admit or deny those matters, or (b) written objections on the ground that some or all of the requested admissions are privileged or irrelevant or that the request is otherwise improper in whole or in part. If written objections are filed to any of the requests, the time for answering all the requests shall be suspended until the objections are ruled on. At the hearing upon the objections, if it is determined that any of the requests shall be answered, the court shall fix the time within which answers shall be made. A denial shall fairly meet the substance of the requested admission, and when good faith requires that a party qualify his answer or deny only a part of the matter of which an admission is requested, he shall specify so much of it as is true and deny only the remainder. If the adverse party is an individual, he need only furnish information which is within his personal knowledge. If the adverse party is a public or private corporation or a partnership or association, the sworn statement shall be by an officer, partner or managing agent thereof on the basis of such information as is available to the party. The Clerk shall deliver all copies filed hereunder as provided in rule 82.

Rule 128, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

128. Effect of admission. Any admission made by a party pursuant to such request is for the purpose of the pending action only and neither constitutes an admission by him for any other purpose nor may be used against him in any other proceeding.

Rule 131 is amended by striking "as in rules 126 and 129" and substituting therefor "as in rule 129."

Rule 132 is amended by striking therefrom "as in rules 126 and 129" and substituting in lieu thereof "as in rule 129."

Rule 134, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

134. Refusal to make discovery—consequences.

(a) Refusal to answer. If a party or other deponent refuses to answer any question propounded upon oral examination, the examination shall be completed on other matters or adjourned, as the proponent of the question may prefer. Thereafter, on reasonable notice to all persons affected thereby, he may apply to the court in which the action is pending or to a court of record in the district where the deposition is taken for an order compelling an answer. Upon the refusal of a deponent to answer any interrogatory submitted under rule 150 or upon the refusal of a party to answer any interrogatory submitted under rule 121, the proponent of the question may on like notice make like application for such an order. If the motion is granted, and if the court finds that the refusal was without substantial justification, the court shall require the refusing party or deponent or the party advising the refusal, or any of them, to pay the examining party the amount of the reasonable expenses incurred in obtaining the order, including reasonable attorney fees. If the motion is denied, and if the court finds that the motion was made without substantial justification, the court shall require the examining party advising the motion to pay to the refusing party or witness the amount of the reasonable expenses incurred in opposing the motion, including reasonable attorney fees.

(b) Failure to comply with order.

(1) Contempt. If a party or other witness refuses to be sworn or refuses to answer any question after being directed to do so by the court, the refusal may be considered a contempt of that court.

(2) Other consequences. If any party or an officer, partner or managing agent of a party refuses to obey an order made under subdivision (a) of this rule requiring him to answer designated questions, or an order made under rules 129, 130 and 131, to produce any document or other thing for inspection, copying or photographing, or to permit it to be done, or to permit entry upon land or other property, or an order made under rules 132 and 133 requiring him to submit to a physical or mental examination, the court may make such orders in regard to the refusal as are just, and among others the following:

An order that the matters regarding which the questions were asked, or the character or description of the thing or land, or the contents of the paper, or the physical or mental condition of the party, or any other designated facts, shall be taken to be established for the purposes of the action in accordance with the claim of the party obtaining the order;

An order refusing to allow the disobedient party to support or oppose designated claims or defenses, or prohibiting him from introducing in evidence designated documents or things or items of testimony, or from introducing evidence of physical or mental condition;

An order striking out pleadings or parts thereof, or staying further proceedings until the order is obeyed, or dismissing the action or proceeding or any part thereof, or rendering a judgment by default against the disobedient party.

(c) Expenses on refusal to admit. If a party, after being served with a request under rules 127 and 128 to admit the genuineness of any documents or the truth of any matters of fact, serves a sworn denial thereof, and if the party requesting the admissions thereafter proves the genuineness of any such document or the truth of any such matter of fact, he may apply to the court for an order requiring the other party to pay him the reasonable expenses incurred in making such proof, including reasonable attorney fees. No expenses as aforesaid shall be allowed unless the court finds that the admissions sought were of substantial importance and the denial was not made in good faith.

(d) Failure of party to attend or file answers. If a party or an officer, partner or managing agent of a party wilfully fails to appear before the officer who is to take his deposition or submit to the taking thereof after being served with a proper notice, or wilfully fails to continue the taking of his deposition after the commencement thereof, or fails to file answers to interrogatories submitted under rule 121, the court on motion and notice may strike out all or any part of any pleading of that party, or dismiss the action or proceeding or any part thereof, or enter a judgment by default against such party.

DIVISION VI

PRETRIAL PROCEDURE

Rule 138, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

138. Orders. The court shall make an order reciting any action taken at the conference which will control the subsequent course of action relative to matters it includes, unless modified to prevent manifest injustice.

Rule 139, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

139. Restriction on orders. The court shall not, under any pretrial procedure or other rules, require a party to list or name the witnesses he expects to call to testify at the trial.

DIVISION VII

Rule 140, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

140. Depositions generally—stipulation. Depositions shall be governed wholly by these rules, but may be differently taken in any respect if that be in accord with the written stipulation of the parties. Subject to the restrictions in rule 141, a party may take the testimony of any person, including a party, by deposition upon oral examination or written interrogatories for the purpose of discovery or for use as evidence in the action, or for both purposes.

Rule 141, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

141. Restrictions.

(a) The deponent shall not be required and the court shall not order a deponent or party to produce or submit for inspection any writing obtained or prepared by the adverse party, his attorney, surety, indemnitor or agent, in anticipation of litigation or preparation for trial unless satisfied that the denial of production or inspection will result in an injustice or undue hardship; nor shall the deponent be required or the court order a deponent or party to produce or submit for inspection any part of a writing which reflects an attorney's mental impressions, conclusions, opinions or legal theories, or, except as provided in rule 133, the conclusions of an expert. The deponent shall not be examined on nor shall the court order the production or inspection of any liability insurance policy or indemnity agreement unless such liability insurance policy or indemnity agreement would be admissible in evidence at the trial of the action.

(b) Depositions before answers are all filed, or of a person in prison, may be taken only by leave of court, on such terms as the court prescribes.

(c) Except where the action involves an interest in real estate, depositions for discovery may not be taken where the amount in controversy as shown by the pleadings is less than $1,000.00, unless leave of court is first obtained, on notice and a showing of just cause therefor, upon such terms as justice may require.

(d) After notice is served for taking a deposition by oral examination, upon motion seasonably made by any party or by the person to be examined and upon notice and for good cause shown, the court in which the action is pending may make an order that the deposition shall not be taken, or that it may be taken only at some designated place other than that stated in the notice, or that it may be taken only on written interrogatories, or that certain matters shall not be inquired into, or that the scope of the examination shall be limited to certain matters, or that the examination shall be held with no one present except the parties to the action and their officers or counsel, or that after being sealed the deposition shall be opened by order of the court, or that secret processes, developments or research need not be disclosed, or that the parties shall simultaneously file specified documents or information enclosed in sealed envelopes to be opened as directed by the court, or the court may make any other order which justice requires to protect the party or witness from annoyance, expense, embarrassment or oppression.

(e) At any time during the taking of the deposition, on motion of any party or of the deponent and upon a showing that the examination is being conducted in bad faith or in such manner as unreasonably to annoy, embarrass or oppress the deponent or party, the court in which the action is pending or a court of record in the district where the deposition is being taken, may order the officer conducting the examination to cease forthwith from taking the deposition, or may limit the scope and manner of the taking of the deposition as provided in subdivision (d). If the order made terminates the examination, it shall be resumed thereafter only upon the order of the court in which the action is pending. Upon demand of the objecting party or deponent, the taking of the deposition shall be suspended for the time necessary to make a motion for an order. In granting or refusing such order, the court may impose upon either party or upon the witness the requirement to pay such costs or expenses as the court may deem reasonable.

Rule 143, now in effect, is superseded by the following:

143. Scope of examination. Subject to the provisions of rule 141, the deponent may be examined regarding any matter, not privileged, which is relevant to the subject matter involved in the pending action, whether it relates to the claim or defense of the examining party or to the claim or defense of any other party, including the existence, description, nature, custody, condition and location of any books, documents or other tangible things and the identity and location of persons having knowledge of the relevant facts; provided that a party shall not be required to list the witnesses he expects to call at the trial. It is not ground for objection that the testimony will be inadmissible at the trial if the testimony sought appears reasonably calculated to lead to the discovery of admissible evidence.

Rule 144 is amended by substituting the word "partner" for the word "director" in subdivision (b) thereof.

Rule 147 is amended by adding thereto the following:

(c) No subpoena is necessary to require the appearance of a party for a deposition. Service on the party or his attorney of record of notice of the taking of the deposition of the party or of an officer, partner or managing agent of any party who is not a natural person, as provided in (b) hereof, is sufficient to require the appearance of a deponent for the deposition.

(d) If the deponent is a party or the officer, partner or managing agent of a party which is not a natural person, the deponent shall be required to submit to examination in the county where the action is pending, unless otherwise ordered by the court, as provided in rule 141 (d).

Rule 148 is amended as follows:

The present Iowa rule 148 shall be subdivision (a) thereof, and there shall be added thereto the following:

(b) At any time after notice has been given of the taking of a deposition, the court, on its motion or on the motion of any party upon cause shown, may order the deposition to be taken before the court or before a master appointed by the court to preside over the taking of the deposition and rule on any matters which may arise in connection with the taking thereof. The appointment of a master shall be made only upon a showing that some exceptional condition requires such appointment. The master shall exercise the powers permitted by rules 209 and 210 and his rulings or orders shall be subject to review by the court upon notice and hearing. The reasonable fees and expenses of the master shall be allowed as provided in rule 208 and be taxed as costs in the action.

Rule 155 (a) is revised to read as follows:

155. Subpoena.

(a) On application of any party, or proof of service of a notice to take depositions under rule 147 or rule 150, the clerk of court where the action is pending shall issue subpoenas for persons named or described in said notice or application. Subpoenas may also be issued as provided in section 622.84 of the Code of Iowa. No subpoena shall call for production of documents unless the court on notice and hearing so orders.

REPORT ON CONTEST COMMITTEE

(Wooldridge vs. Robinson)

Hanson of Lyon submitted the following report of contest committee:

January 29, 1957.

MR. SPEAKER: Your committee, to whom was referred the matter of election contest between Bert L. Wooldridge, contestant, and S. E. Robinson, incumbent, for Representative from Guthrie County, respectfully submits the following report:

The committee met for organization in Room 1 on January 15, 1957, with all members present, and adjourned to meet again on January 21, 1957. Committee members include Hanson of Lyon, Chairman, Brown of Keokuk, Hendrix of Muscatine, Loss of Kossuth and Swisher of Johnson.

At the meeting on January 21, 1957, all members of the committee were present; also contestant Bert L. Wooldridge and counsel John Donahey, and incumbent S. E. Robinson and his counsel, R. Y. Taylor.

Appearing as witnesses to be questioned by the committee were Howard E. Smith, Chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Guthrie County, and Eddie Stark, a member of the Guthrie County Board. The case for Mr. Wooldridge was presented by counsel John Donahey. The case for the incumbent was then presented by counsel Mr. Taylor.

Members of the contest committee and the counsel then questioned Mr. Smith and Mr. Stark with respect to the case as presented by Mr. Wooldridge against the incumbent.

After the witnesses had been excused the committee decided to request from the Attorney General's office an opinion as to paragraph 3 in the contestant's petition.

With respect to the question raised by the contestant in paragraph 3, we attach herewith the opinion of the Attorney General in which he states that the matter of the position of Justice of the Peace is not incompatible with that of being a member of the General Assembly.

The committee accepts this opinion as the answer to paragraph 3.

The third meeting of the committee was held on January 23, 1957, with all committee members present. Witnesses subpoenaed for this committee meeting were Carl Schwaderer, former Guthrie County Auditor, and the incumbent Guthrie County Auditor, Walter A. Rains. The contestant, Mr. Wooldridge, and incumbent, Mr. Robinson, and their counsel were also present.

The committee agreed to ask a further opinion from the Attorney General as to whether our committee had jurisdiction in considering the further allegations as set forth by the contestant in his complaint.

This request and the opinion is included in the statement of opinion from the Attorney General's office under date of January 25, 1957. In this opinion the Attorney General believes that our committee does not have jurisdiction because in the complaint as presented by the contestant, there are no specific allegations that would justify our committee demanding and examining the ballots in Guthrie County.

This opinion is also attached and becomes a part of this report.

In its final meeting on January 28, 1957, the committee reviewed all the developments previously presented and satisfied itself that it does not have jurisdiction because of the facts already set forth. We, therefore, recommend that Mr. S. E. Robinson be declared to be duly elected as a member of the House of Representatives from Guthrie County and that he retain his seat as such member, and that the seating which took place on January 14, 1957, be confirmed.

Respectfully submitted,
 A. C. HANSON, Chairman.
 M. N. BROWN.
 W. C. HENDRIX.
 CASEY LOSS.
 SCOTT SWISHER.

Honorable A. C. Hanson
 Chairman, Contest Committee
 House of Representatives
 Building

My dear Mr. Hanson:

This will acknowledge receipt of yours of the 15th inst. in which you submitted the following:

"As Chairman of the Committee assigned to consideration of the contest involving S. E. Robinson, newly elected Representative from Guthrie County, we would like to have your opinion on matters involved in this case.

"We are especially concerned whether or not the grounds would be justified on the part of the petitioner as to whether or not Mr. Robinson's holding the position of Justice of Peace would disqualify him from being permitted to be seated as a member of the House.

"By way of a little more detail on the situation, Mr. Robinson's name appeared as candidate for Justice of Peace, as well as State Representative at the primary in June election, as well as at the general election on November 6. He was elected to both positions; had previously been serving as Justice of Peace with continuous bond, and presumes that he has qualified for the office of Justice of Peace as well as for State Representative.

"We would like to have your interpretation on this matter."

In reply thereto I advise as follows.

The foregoing problem, impersonal at the time, was submitted to the Department previously. The problem and the answer given was made as follows:

"I have yours of the 30th ult. in which you submitted the following:

"Is a Justice of the Peace whose annual income from such office is over the sum of $100.00 barred from the office of State Senator because of the provisions of Article 3 Section 22 of the Constitution of the State of Iowa:

"Article 3 Section 22 is as follows: "No person holding any lucrative office under the United States, or this State, or any other power, shall be eligible to hold a seat in the General Assembly: but offices in the militia, to which there is attached no annual salary, or the office of justice of the peace, or postmaster whose compensation does not exceed one hundred dollars per annum, or notary public, shall not be deemed lucrative."

"Does the $100.00 limitation apply only to postmasters or does the limitation apply also to the office of justice of the peace?"

"Is the office of justice of the peace and member of the general assembly incompatible offices for any other reasons?"

"In reply thereto, I would advise you that in my opinion according to the plain terms of the Constitutional provisions the office of Justice of the Peace would not be regarded as a lucrative office. In my opinion (1) the maximum of $100.00 compensation applies only to the office of postmaster and (2) the offices of Justices of the Peace and members of the General Assembly are otherwise compatible."

Re-examination of the question presented by your letter confirms the opinion expressed in the foregoing letter. It seems sufficient to state that no question of interpretation would be required were it not for the $100.00 compensation limitation expressed in the Constitution previously quoted in the foregoing letter. However, it seems sufficient to state that this condition attaching to the eligibility of a postmaster to be a member of the Legislature does not attach to the eligibility of a Justice of the Peace. Reason therefor is that the office of the Justice of the Peace is compensated upon a fee basis. See Section 601.128, Code of 1954. To determine the eligibility upon that score would require evidence extrinsic to the Constitution, of the compensation of the Justice of the Peace whose office is in controversy, to determine whether his compensation aggregates $100.00 per annum. Such is a contradiction of this fundamental of our Constitution, to-wit: "In the United States, the word 'constitution,' as applied to the organization of the Federal and state governments, always implies a writing." 11 Am. Jur., Title Constitutional Law, paragraph 2.

And, according to the case of Rasmussen v. Baker, 7 Wyoming 117, 50 P. 819, 38 L. R. A. 773:

"In this country it is invariably understood and received as indicating something less than that which is embraced within its comprehensive definition. In the language of Judge Cooley: 'In American constitutional law, the word "Constitution" is used in a restricted sense, as implying the written instrument agreed upon by the people of the Union, or any one of the states, as the absolute rule of action and decision for all departments and officers of the government, in respect to all the points covered by it, which must control until it shall be changed by the authority which established it.' Cooley, Const. Lim. 3. And Mr. Justice Miller, in further defining it, did so as follows: 'In America when we speak of a Constitution, we refer to a written instrument, one in which the powers, granted and duties imposed by it are reduced to writing.' And again: 'A Constitution, in the American sense of the word, is a written instrument by which the fundamental powers of the government are established, limited, and defined, and by which these powers are distributed among several departments, for their more safe and useful exercise, for the benefit of the body politic.' And he added: 'A search for a more satisfactory definition has been in vain, but this language perhaps, fairly expresses the meaning of the term in this country.' Miller, Const. (66) 71. In the case of State v. Parkhurst, 9 N. J. L. *427 (528) at page *448 (548), the court defined it in the following language: 'What is a Constitution? According to the common acceptation of the word in these United States, it may be said to be an agreement of the people, in their individual capacities reduced to writing, establishing and fixing certain principles for the government of themselves.”

Very truly yours,
OSCAR STRAUSS,
Second Assistant Attorney General.

January 25, 1957.

Honorable Scott Swisher
Member of Contest Committee
House of Representatives
Building

My dear Mr. Swisher:

This will acknowledge receipt of yours of the 22nd inst. in which you have submitted the following:

“WOOLDRIDGE v. ROBINSON ELECTION CONTEST

“Would you please advise as to the following legal points:

“1) In your opinion, has the contestant adequate grounds in his statement of election contest to give jurisdiction to contest committee?

“2) The Secretary of State, in his letter to the presiding officer of the House of Representatives, sets forth what appears to be irregularities in the transmittal of the contest material. If there are such irregularities, are they fatal for the cause of the contestant?

“3) The contestant is seeking a seat in the General Assembly as provided for, under Chapter 59 of the 1954 Code of Iowa. Is Chapter 57, specifically paragraph 5, applicable and available to the use of the contestant; and does the contestant have the right to have the ballots opened and counted by this Tribunal under Chapter 57, if he so requests?”

In reference thereto I advise as follows:

1. Insofar as your question No. 1 is concerned, I am of the opinion that the statement of election contest as it appears in the House Journal for January 14, 1957, is insufficient as a matter of law to invest the Legislature with jurisdiction of this contest. It fails to meet the statutory requirements in two particulars: first, in its treatment of alleged illegal votes cast sufficient to change the result of the election, and, second, that judges and clerks of elections and the Board of Supervisors were remiss in the performance of their statutory duties in respect to the reception of ballots insofar as the election officials are concerned and treatment of the returns by the Board of Supervisors. Insofar as the reception of illegal votes is concerned and the rejection of legal votes, either of which might be sufficient to change the result of the election, I call attention to the provisions of Section 59.1, Code of 1954, as follows:

“Statement served. The contestant for a seat in either branch of the general assembly, shall within thirty days after the incumbent is declared elected, serve on the incumbent a statement as required in relation to county officers, except the list of illegal votes, which shall be served with the notice of taking depositions relative to them, and if no such deposition is taken, then twenty days before the first day of the next session.”

Note that this statute requires the contestant to serve a statement as required in relation to contests involving county officers, with the exception that the list of illegal votes shall be served with the notice of taking depositions relative to them, and if no such deposition is taken, then twenty days before the first day of the next session. The role of illegal votes in the county office contests, correlated with this section, is provided in Section 62.8, Code of 1954, which states:

"Names of voters specified. When the reception of illegal or the rejection of legal votes is alleged as a cause of contest, the names of the persons who so voted, or whose votes were rejected, with the precinct where they voted or offered to vote, shall be set forth in the statement."

Accordingly, if there be legal votes rejected by the election officials the statement of contest was required to state the names of such persons whose votes were rejected, designating the precinct where they voted or offered to vote. The statement before me fails to show compliance with this requirement. Insofar as the illegal votes are concerned, while Section 59.1 excepts such list from being a part of the statement of contest it still requires such list to be filed with the notice of taking deposition but if no such deposition is taken then twenty days before the first day of the next session. The record does not disclose compliance by the contestant with the requirements of these statutes.

Insofar as actions of the election officials are concerned as a basis for this contest I call your attention to the statutory requirements of a contestant's statement. Section 59.1, which I here requote, and Section 62.5, Code of 1954, provide as follows:

"59.1. Statement served. The contestant for a seat in either branch of the general assembly shall, within thirty days after the incumbent is declared elected, serve on the incumbent a statement as required in relation to county officers, except the list of illegal votes, which shall be served with the notice of taking depositions relative to them, and if no such deposition is taken, then twenty days before the first day of the next session."

"62.5. Statement. The contestant shall file in the office of the county auditor, within twenty days after the day when the incumbent was declared elected, a written statement of his intention to contest the election, setting forth the name of the contestant, and that he or she is qualified to hold such office, the name of the incumbent, the office contested, the time of the election, and the particular causes of contest, which statement shall be verified by the affidavit of the contestant, or some elector of the county, that the causes set forth are true as he verily believes."

While these statutes do not specifically require an exhibit of facts constituting causes of contests, I am of the opinion that unless plainly provided otherwise, facts and not conclusions are essentials of a proper and legal statement. This appears to be textbook law. 29 C. J. S. 378, S 268, title Elections.

"In a statutory proceeding to contest an election, the initial pleading must allege facts which constitute a ground of contest under the statute, but such allegations are usually deemed sufficient if they are certain to a common intent."

"In a statutory proceeding to contest an election, the initial pleading, whether it be termed a declaration, complaint, petition, or notice and statement, must allege facts which constitute a ground of contest under the statute. Such facts must be set forth in a logical form and with clearness and precision, although it is not essential that they be set forth with the precision required of a pleading in a civil action, certainly to a common intent being all that is generally required, technical objections being generally disregarded."

In the instant case the statement of contest is clearly lacking in this requirement. As bearing upon the actions of election officials in election matters I adopt the rule of law and make a part hereof the following from the minority report of a previous election contest before the Forty-ninth General Assembly and appearing in the Journal of the House at page 206:

"Under the Iowa cases and election laws in general, the contestant completely failed to make good his contest. The Supreme Court of Iowa has consistently refused to set aside the vote of a precinct where the election officials have violated the statute unless the contestant has proved that this violation cost him sufficient votes to change the results of the election. The theory being the electors have nothing to do with the conduct of the officials and their irregularity should not defeat the express wishes of the people.

"This proposition is so fundamental and the Iowa cases are so numerous in support of it that a few citations will suffice. Younkers v. Susong, 173 Iowa 664; State v. Bernholtz, 106 Iowa 157; Chambers v. Board, 172 Iowa 340; State v. Creston Mut. Telephone Co., 195 Iowa 1368; Brooks v. Fay, 206 Iowa 845; State v. Lockwood, 181 Iowa 1234; Dishon v. Smith, 10 Iowa 212; State v. Birdsall, 186 Iowa 129.

"In State v. Creston Mut. Telephone Co., 195 Iowa 1368, set forth above, there was a vote on a telephone franchise. The general manager of the company and one of the stockholders went into the counting room, reached into the box and counted some of the ballots. The Supreme Court refused to set the election aside, stating:

"In the absence, however, of some affirmative showing, or of such circumstances as that an inference may be drawn that the ballots were tampered with by Atkinson and his companions, or of fraud on the part of the election officials, the conclusion necessarily follows that prejudice is not shown. There is not a scintilla of affirmative evidence that the ballots were marked in any way; that any were extracted or mutilated or substitution made; that they were tampered with in any way, except that they were removed from the box and counted by the parties named; or that any attempt was made to affect the result.' * * *

"Every intendment of the legislature and every safeguard provided thereby for the securing of a fair election and the preservation of the ballots should be observed by election officers, and must be upheld by the court; but the clearly expressed will of the voters should not be thwarted or set aside by the courts because of the irregularities and even illegalities which are not shown to have in any way affected the result or to have prejudiced anyone. Cases cited by counsel from other jurisdictions, perhaps, go somewhat further in invalidating elections than we have gone. We are firmly committed to the rule that prejudice must be shown.'

"Our Supreme Court has definitely held that election statutes requiring officials to do certain things are directory and not mandatory. In other words, the mere fact that the statute requires a certain thing to be done in a certain manner will not invalidate the election if not done that way. McDunn v. Roundy, 109 Iowa 976."

2. In view of the conclusion reached in answer to your question No. 1 I do not in this communication advise you insofar as your questions No. 2 and No. 3 are concerned. However, answer to these two questions will be forthcoming upon your further request.

Very truly yours,
OSCAR STRAUSS,
Second Assistant Attorney General.

Thank you, Lieutenant Governor Nicholas, Governor Loveless, honored guests, fellow legislators, ladies and gentlemen.

On behalf of the Governor's Committee on Mental Health, I would like to thank the Iowa Association of Mental Health for sponsoring our guest speaker today.

I am proud of the high privilege and personal honor of presenting to you the distinguished psychiatrist, Dr. William Menninger, director of the Menninger Foundation at Topeka, Kansas, a non-profit professional organization devoted to research, education, treatment and prevention in psychiatry. The Foundation, which today is the world's largest training center for psychiatrists, is the outgrowth of a family medical partnership, the Menninger Clinic, founded at Topeka, Kansas, in 1919 by his father and brother.

One of his major current interests is the development of programs of preventive psychiatry including the application of psychiatric knowledge to industry, education, and other social fields.

During World War II, Dr. Menninger directed the Army's psychiatric program, holding the rank of Brigadier General. He continues his association with the Army as senior civilian consultant in psychiatry to the Surgeon General. He was a member of the Committee on Human Resources of the Research and Development Board and a member of the National Advisory Mental Health Council of the United States Public Health Service.

A 1925 graduate of Cornell University Medical College, Dr. Menninger has served as president of a number of major professional organizations, including the American Psychiatric Association, which organization under the direction of Dr. Blaine conducted a complete survey of all of Iowa's Mental Health Institutions. A brief copy of this report was placed on your desk today, and as a result of this work and the untiring efforts of the Governor's Mental Health Committee, we have recommended and introduced a Mental Health package consisting of seven (7) bills, House Files 178 to 184, inclusive, recommending specific action be taken by the Fifty-seventh General Assembly. These bills were read to the House for the first time today and printed copies of them will be available for your consideration Monday.

Our guest Dr. Menninger will speak on the subject "Mental Health Needs in Iowa."

I am pleased to present Dr. Menninger."

Dr. Menninger offered the following remarks:

Ladies and gentlemen, it is a great honor for me to be invited to address you. I do so with a good deal of trepidation and a great deal of humility; the more so because this story could better be told by our former Governor, now Senator, Frank Carlson, or by the Director of Mental Institutions in Kansas, George Jackson, or perhaps best by my brother Karl, who gave the vision and the guidance and the energy that produced the revolution in the mental hospital system of Kansas.

I feel that it is an enormous responsibility to try to interpret this hinterland of medicine we call psychiatry. We've made such great strides in cancer and heart and polio, and psychiatry is still in the bull pen and not on the ball field by comparison.

I want to weigh what I say to you carefully because, hopefully, it might influence what could and should happen to about 7,500 Iowans that are now in mental institutions and in county homes, and many more thousands to come, surely, all without a voice or a vote; many cooped up in miserably crowded and uncomfortable quarters; their hearts filled with anxiety and fear and hopelessness. And no one knows the anxiety and the weight on the heart of those relatives but the relatives themselves.

Psychiatry has been so backward for a long time, and yet there is some evidence of hope in front of us. I think the gracious invitation for me to present my story to you here is an indication of a change. I have had the privilege, now, of appearing by invitation before the combined houses of 12 legislatures, and I think that's an indication of change. And in some of those, very hopeful things have happened.

In Ohio, where the situation was quite severe, very shortly afterward the legislature passed a bill making me somewhat unpopular with my personal friends in Ohio, because like all legislatures they were looking for ways to find more money and there they put on a 10-cent tax on every fifth of liquor. But it did something for the mental hospitals—it raised ten million dollars, five of which was allocated for improving the salaries of the people that work in those institutions. Five of it was set aside specifically for the training program in connection with the three medical schools in Ohio. And then the populace of Ohio went on to vote seventy-five million dollars in bonds for new buildings which they need so badly.

We've had superb leadership in my field from the press, the television and the radio, trying to help people understand how backwards we are and what an unfair deal we've done, to date, for mentally sick people. I think the response of the public has been tremendous, too. I'm really tremendously encouraged about the deep concern that more people are having, about the inhuman things we're doing to our own fellow men in these mental hospitals.

Well, I suppose that my opportunity and privilege here is to tell you the story about this revolution in Kansas—what the situation was, why and how it came about, and what we are trying to do about it—with the hopes that perhaps this experience might be helpful in the consideration of your problems here in Iowa.

I am proud to say that in our Kansas institutions now we've reduced the mental hospital population 16 per cent in the last eight years—the only state in the Union where there has been a material reduction. Most of the states have increased over those eight years about 15 per cent to 20 per cent.

Even though our hospitals are not adequately staffed, 74 per cent of our admissions are going home now, and most of them within three months.

I suspect we're the only state hospitals in the country that are not overcrowded, and have no waiting list. And the probabilities are that we will never have to build additional beds. We have some replacements badly needed, but our hospital population has so shrunk that we believe that we will not have to add additional beds.

Well, the background of this story at first is a somewhat personal one. My parents lived in the town of Topeka, Kan., where Father, having finished medical school in 1889, began practice.

Father was an extremely conscientious person, who wished that he could consult with his colleagues about the life-and-death problems of some patients. You may or may not know that before the turn of the century doctors didn't call in consultations—it impugned their own integrity if they did. Group practice as we now know it did not exist. Father made some abortive attempts to begin a little group practice, that didn't work out.

Soon after the turn of the century, he went to a medical meeting up in another little country town, a wide open place in the road called Rochester, Minn. And there he saw and learned to know a father and two sons, who had started the practice of surgery together. They had accumulated a few other doctors with them.

It was an inspiration to Father, and even though my brothers and myself were youngsters, when he came back home he said that he hoped we'd go on through medical school and come back and join him, and maybe we could do what the Mayos were doing.

Well, it isn't very often that a father realizes as much of his dream as Father did. He died only three years ago, at the age of 91, and was active up until the last. My brother Karl, six years my senior, did come back from Harvard, where he had been inspired by his professor of psychiatry, and went into practice in psychiatry with my father. And six years later I came back from the East and joined them too.

We started a little private hospital for psychiatric patients. We started a school for problem children, and we had a very active out-patient service.

In the early Thirties we began training a few doctors—just a few—because a teaching hospital is always a better hospital for treatment than is a non-teaching hospital. And it was a pleasure to do the job. We tried to do a little research work, too.

Our situation changed very radically as the result of the second World War. For better or for worse, as the younger brother it was my privilege to go into service. I spent four years there—a little more—and, willy nilly, got thrown into the job of worrying about the mental health of eight million men, which was quite a contrast to my private practice.

We were beset by two major problems in trying to handle the psychiatric difficulties in the army. You may or may not know that we lost more manpower during the war from emotional problems than all other causes put together. Fifty-two per cent of the men that we lost to the service were because of some kind of personality difficulties. Numerically, 2½ million men, and America wasn't that rich in manpower, to spare that much.

Many times I had to sit in the Secretary's office, and in General Marshall's office, explaining—or trying to—what was the matter with American youths . . . were they getting decadent? . . . why did we lose so many? And I had the job of trying to find doctors . . . of trying to find the know-how to do a job which we didn't have the know-how to do.

Roughly 50,000 physicians came into the military service. If we were very charitable in giving credit wherever we could, we found only 600 doctors that had had any experience in the field of psychiatry. But we had a tenth of the admissions to army hospitals.

For every three men that were wounded, one man would become emotionally so upset in combat that he couldn't fight. In Patton's army, for instance, we had 950 medical officers. We had 26 psychiatrists, and they had one-fourth of the casualty load.

Well, I became so aware that we simply didn't have the doctors in my field to do the job that was expected of us, nor, as I say, did we have the know-how. I don't think I could have gone back into private practice and been exactly contented to do it. Fortunately, other things were happening in my home base in Topeka, where my brother had stayed on to keep our organization going. He became interested first in trying to help the Veterans Administration.

You know we operate about 160 of these big Veterans Hospitals, a very major item in the Veterans Administration program. Between 55 and 62 per cent of all veterans in Veterans hospitals are psychiatric patients.

When General Bradley and General Hawley came back at the end of the European fracas and were asked by the President to take over the VA, and as they studied the situation, General Hawley made the statement that if he had all the psychiatrists in America he couldn't staff the Veterans Hospitals. That's how short he was.

They hit upon the plan of trying to connect the Veterans Hospitals, for the first time in the history of those hospitals, with medical schools—medical training centers. Thus they could have the advantage of faculty members, and raise the standard of medical care for our veterans. But more importantly they knew the importance of training. They knew the only way they were going to get doctors in a lot of fields was to train them, themselves.

And so the Veterans Administration began, in 1945, and continues in 1956, to be one of the major training programs in post-graduate medicine in the various specialties in our country.

Why they did it we never knew. But we had an army hospital in Topeka, of 1500 beds. The VA came out to see us, and they made the proposition, if they would take over that army hospital, would we set up their major training program in psychiatry?

Well, this was the $64,000 question for my brother and myself. We were in private practice. Shall we give that up and take on this assignment for the government? There was only one answer possible, of course. And so we thoughtfully considered it and agreed that we would do it.

We agreed to try to take on 25 young doctors and train them. In the entire state of Iowa currently you are training eight, to give you a comparison. We thought we were sticking our necks out quite a ways, to make that offer.

But the answer came back quickly that we had misunderstood. They were dreadfully in need of doctors to help our veterans. Wouldn't we please train 100 doctors.

Well, there wasn't any argument. In March of 1946 we had 102 young fellows sitting on our doorsteps, physicians, to be trained in this field of psychiatry at Winter Veterans Administration Hospital. My brother left our organization and took charge of that Veterans Hospital for the first two years, that we might get this training program set up.

Then came the revolution, in 1948, in the state hospital system of Kansas. I suppose it really was triggered by one of our House of Representative members, who had a wife in a mental hospital in Kansas. He had visited her there. He knew what a snake pit it was.

He came over to the Veterans hospital, where we had this delightful group of young fellows who were there to learn; the alert, intelligent program that was going on, run by them. He asked my brother, "If you can do this for the federal government, why can't you do it for the State of Kansas?" And my brother is a guy with great vision, "Why, sure we could." I don't think he really knew what we were getting into. And I don't suppose he really had any recognition that anybody was going to take us up.

But some other things happened in those state hospitals as this event transpired. Some very serious accidents occurred, that should not have occurred. And thank goodness for the press. The press picked these stories up. They told the citizens of Kansas across our 400 miles, and put it even in the weekly county papers in headlines, to a point where Kansans rose up and said, "Why should we have to put up with this? Why should Kansans be treated the way they are?"

This resulted, of course, in the necessity that the Governor had to act. And the legislature had to act.

There were other factors that brought this about. We had lost most of the doctors in our state hospitals because of an economy-minded superintendent, who was so difficult to get along with that he ended up in our Topeka State Hospital, built in the Seventies for 1,500 patients, with 1,850 crowded into it. He had done such a ruthless job of administration that there were only two doctors there for those 1,850 patients. There were no nurses; he'd lost them all. There were no psychologists, he'd lost them all. And we'd never had social workers.

Sixty, perhaps seventy, per cent of the patients that came to that state hospital never left alive. They were there for life, once admitted.

We were doing the job at that time in Kansas on $1.06 per day, ranking us 47th of the 48 states in the job we were doing in our mental institutions. And most of the admissions were housed in the jail for days or weeks before they could be admitted, because there wasn't any room in the inn.

Well, the Governor did act, by appointing a committee to do the usual job of inspection, which was hurried. Their recommendations, which really were our recommendations, were that although we needed at that time 4,000 more beds—roughly $40,000,000 for building—let's not spend that now; let's try to buy some brains. Let's try to get some staff and give these people in these hospitals a chance to have treatment.

My brother put it very succinctly: "Many patients will get well in a barn if you give them the right doctors and the right treatment." We don't want them to be in barns, but staff and treatment come before the bricks."

Well, the staff of our Menninger Foundation was the only nucleus we could call upon. To establish a training program was our thought, under my brother's direction. Everyone had to be made aware that this training program was a slow process. It takes about five years to train a doctor in psychiatry, after he's finished medical school. Senator Carlson put it up to the legislature. The press helped. Citizens' groups became interested, all across the state. And perhaps most importantly in bringing about our revolution, every legislator and his wife went to visit a mental hospital.

Believe me, it was no drumbeat inspection, that was prepared for. We wanted them to see how Kansans were living in these institutions. And what did they see? They saw men endlessly pushing mops up and down a long corridor on a floor that was already overpolished. They saw gloomy wards with old rocking chairs lined up against the wall in such a way that one person couldn't speak to the next. They saw beds in the halls, and the mattresses on the floor, at night. They saw uniform, drab, ill-fitting clothing—everybody just the same.

They saw inadequate and ill-prepared food, unattractively dished out: three different diets—one for the top brass, one for the attendants, and one for the patients. And they were invited to eat with the patients. The patients have one spoon. Even if you're there 50 years, you don't know what a knife and fork is, in most of our institutions. And our legislators were invited to use the spoon on the same kind of sloppy food that our patients were getting. They saw the patients cooped up for days—days on end.

And I had a touching note in this respect from a citizen of Iowa the other day. "Can't you do something about my son, who hasn't been out of the hospital in one of the Iowa institutions in four months?" I said I didn't know whether I could or not. But I can tell you that in our state hospitals, they didn't either. And when they were herded out, they were herded out like so many cattle in a field, permitted to sit on park benches for awhile and then herded back in.

These legislators and their wives saw physical restraints all over the place; strait-jackets; untrained and often uncouth attendants; brutal prison-like guards, that were keeping people in submission by fear—that's what they saw.

And then what happened? Well, the legislature acted. Their first act was to increase the budget, back in 1949, immediately by 60 per cent. Two years later they increased it 118 per cent more. And now we are getting about four times the budget that we received in 1948.

My brother and our associates did undertake the responsibility to begin to recruit a professional staff and to set up the training program, training not only doctors, but psychologists, social workers, nurses, occupational therapists, and all the group that we need to do a job to help people get well in our institutions.

The number of attendants was immediately doubled, and now it's been quadrupled. And more importantly, maybe, their salaries were more than doubled, getting rid of those dull and inept itinerant people that flood into our state hospitals because they won't do any other kind of work. The Rockefeller Foundation gave us funds for a three-year special school for training psychiatric aides.

We took on 50 consultants from our county medical society. Every patient had a physical checkup, many of them for the first time in 20, 30, 40 years. It resulted in a wholesale order for 300 pairs of eye-glasses within the first three months. We hadn't had occupational and recreational programs, and those were started.

The only building we did in those first six years of our program was to change some fire escapes and to establish and build a Quonset hut canteen for the patients, where they could buy knickknacks and coffee.

We developed a very extensive volunteer program, through our Mental Health Association, through every source of help that we could get, of the citizens in our communities where our state hospitals were. Perhaps I could illustrate how radical was the change in the attitude in our public opinion. The Junior League took over this canteen, and were the dishwashers and the waitresses for our mental hospital patients as a two-year project.

Most important, I think, was the creation of a different attitude than had prevailed: a philosophy about, and an understanding of, mental illness on the part of the legislature, on the part of citizens, of relatives, and of course, most importantly, of the staff that worked there; an attitude whereby patients could learn, through relationships with the folks that were trying to help them, that somebody did care about them; that changed the attitude of a snakepit and a hall of despair into a hall of hopefulness, where "Everybody that comes here is going to get well." That change in attitude had to be made.

To do this, of course, necessitated the provision of financial, political and public support, with the absence of political pressures on the professional staff; of any kind of threats of change of administration from year to year; of the constant budgetary threats that are over so many of our hospitals.

The doctors began seeing their patients there, then. Within two years the mental hospital population in the Topeka State Hospital dropped from 1,850 to 1,500. As we sit here today there are 1,320 patients in that hospital, a 26 per cent reduction.

Approximately 300 patients had no homes to go to, as we came to discharging them; and they had to be found for them: foster homes, or other types of arrangements outside, because they didn't need to be in the hospital; they were no longer mentally sick. But no one ever cared.

Since 1949, we've discharged 739 patients who had been inmates for a minimum of 10 years. We've discharged now about 150 patients who had been inmates a minimum of 20 years—incarcerated in a hospital for 20 years or more. I should say that many of these people had been there 30 and 40 years.

Perhaps the record was cited in a little story in Time magazine in 1952, which carried the note about a small white-haired woman who perhaps had been hospitalized for mental illness longer than any other known person. A patient at the Topeka State Hospital, she had entered the hospital at the age of 13, on June 27, 1882, three years after the hospital was opened. In 1952, she had been there 70 years.

Her only response to questions, as anyone would go through the ward, was to grab you by the coat and say, "Doctor, Doctor, when can I go home?" She was discharged last year, 86 years old, 73 of them in a mental hospital, because nobody cared, and nobody ever tried to help her get out.

I can tell you the mental hospitals of America are filled with such people, because enough of us haven't cared. They sit and vegetate in a living death because we haven't had the doctors, we haven't had the interest, in returning these people to civilian life.

Every one of those folks who was there 20 years, or 30 or 40 years, are enormously interesting human stories. I could tell you many of them. Perhaps one or two.

There was a woman that had been there for 22 years. So far as any records that we could discover as we took over, she had never talked. She had never said a word to a soul.

One of our young doctors was assigned to the ward where she was located. It was assumed by most of us that a person that sick, mute, it wasn't, perhaps, much use. And I sometimes say, facetiously, that perhaps our young doctor wasn't experienced enough to know that he oughtn't to be wasting time on her. Because he did waste time on her.

He had her come into his office every day. He sat with her, and he talked to her. And in three months that woman was talking. In six months she was discharged.

For 4½ years she has been a practical nurse in our community, well respected and in constant demand. Twenty-two years mute in a mental hospital, everybody assuming she couldn't get well, because nobody had tried. Well, there's so many of those.

But what's happened since this revolution that we started in 1948? Well, in 1952 the people of Kansas voted an increase of a half-mill in personal property tax, by a vote of 4 to 1, to provide permanent hospital buildings to replace the present ones, which are in many instances fire traps and antiquated beyond all usefulness. In 1953 the legislature removed the hospital program from political patronage. They provided for a psychiatrist to direct the institutions, at twice the Governor's salary.

During the last four years our admissions in the mental hospitals of Kansas have quadrupled. Not because there is any more mental illness there, but now instead of being those snakepits, everybody knows you can go there and get help, and that 70 per cent of those people are out of those institutions in three or four months. It's encouraging that this could happen. I suppose, of course, the legislature naturally wants to know, "Will it cost you so much more?" Well, we saved forty million dollars on beds. That's a major item. In 1956 it costs us $300 less per discharged patient than it cost us in 1948. We're saving money on the number of people that we are now able to discharge. So it's paid off in dollars and cents, let alone the enormous responsibility that we have, to try to care for these mentally sick people.

I think it may be helpful to give you an idea how we staff our hospitals, and by comparison, perhaps, tell you what you have in your own. These are in those surveys that you were handed, but it's perhaps pertinent to refer to them, as I mention what we have in Kansas in the way of staff.

We have almost the same number of patients actually in mental hospitals as you do; or we did. We had 5,200 in 1948; now we only have 4,300. You have 5,000 in your four mental institutions.

But you have an atrocious program, if I do tell you so, of shoving old people into county homes where they get no medical attention, no psychiatric help. You've got 2,600 more there.

In Kansas, we now have one physician for every 42 patients. You have one physician for 120. But let me tell you a difference. Many of your physicians have had no experience or training in psychiatry. Twenty-two of your 42 physicians are in that category. This means that if we give you credit only for those people who have had experience in psychiatry—and if this was a matter in your personal life or your family, I believe you'd want the psychiatrist, who is expert—you have a ratio of one doctor for 385 patients. Kansas, one to 42.

And in our training institution, this big 1500-bed hospital in Topeka, every ward has its doctor. We have one physician to 18 patients. It's unheard of in big mental institutions. But it's been possible. Perhaps the excuse for me being here is to say that it's going on.

In social workers, which are so terribly important to us in our mental hospitals, helping get people back into communities, the liaison with families, with employment agencies—they are so essential as the bridge back home—in Kansas we have one to every 140 patients. You have one to every 300. But again, partly because of your administrative problems, only one of the 17 social workers in the Iowa state system has her master's degree in social work. The others do not.

Clinical psychologists are essential in our work in psychology. In a way they are like the x-ray man is to the surgeon. They help us so importantly in the examination and study of our patients. In Kansas we have one psychologist to every 174 patients. You have one to every 270 patients. But there again, only 13 of your 18 have a master's degree or better.

I couldn't find out how many adjunctive therapists, as we call them, you have in your hospitals. I'm sure that it's only a handful. These are the people that teach art, and music, and recreation, and crafts, and are one of the most important therapeutic weapons in a mental hospital. In Kansas now, I'm proud to say, that we have one for every 50 patients.

In registered nurses, we have one in Kansas for every 58 patients. In Iowa, 1 to 133.

Total employees are tremendously important, if we add up all the people that work there. In Kansas we have two patients for every employee. In Iowa you have about three to one.

And the cost business. In Kansas, now, we're up to $4.59 (per patient, per day) for our total system. In our training institute in Topeka the per diem cost per patient is $5.79. If I am informed correctly, you are spending $3.27.

Well, perhaps it is presumptuous of me to make recommendations to you. On the other hand, perhaps it's the way the physician always feels—it's no use trying to make a diagnosis, if you don't try to make some recommendations. So perhaps with some presumption, I want to comment on your problems, with the hope that maybe I could be helpful in the suggestions to you.

First, I go on a basic assumption that the great majority of mentally ill patients can get well if we'll give them a chance. The probability is, that the recovery rate is higher among mental illness than any other single group of sicknesses.

I first would want to, in my recommendations, urge that you give first priority here in Iowa to try to buy brains—the professional staff to provide treatment—and a second priority to buying bricks. I indicated to you that you have one physician for 120 patients; you have one psychiatrist for every 385 patients. That's not giving our patients a chance.

You can't get well if you're one patient in 385, with one doctor. How much time does he have for you? Not 15 minutes in a month. What kind of medicine is that? Why should we even call these places hospitals, with so few doctors, and so many patients that don't have a chance to see a doctor!

In connection with this business of getting staff, I have to touch on an all-important subject, and that's the problem of what you're paying your staff. I can tell you, for better or for worse, that you are not paying them anywhere near enough to get the kind of doctors that you Iowans ought to have for yourselves.

We simply can't expect to get doctors in these institutions for salaries of $8,000 to $10,000 to $12,000, when they can double and treble that if they go into private practice. And that's your problem.

It goes all the way down to your aides too. As a matter of fact, you can't pay aides $150 a month, which you are trying to do, when the same man can make $400 a month at common labor. What kind of folks are we getting in our mental hospitals, at $150 a month? Where you have had a turnover in one of your hospitals, of employees of that level, of 160 per cent in a year? We can't treat people unless we have trained folks, and if they are going to come in and out every week and give us new ones, we can't do a job as we should do it in helping people get well.

In your training programs here in Iowa, it's a curious thing as I have studied your situation, but the State University medical school, which has a splendid faculty in psychiatry, has nothing to do with your state institutions. I can't quite understand this enormous dichotomy. The people of Iowa could be profiting enormously from the help of the medical school at Iowa City. And yet, if I'm correctly informed, it's two separate units, both trying to do the same jobs, but having nothing to do with each other.

I would so hope that this legislation—and I've seen four of the bills that you are going to consider—that do concern the Iowa State University, might have your very earnest and favorable attention. They make good sense to me, and I'll comment on other points of them in a moment.

I think you could have a superior training program in Iowa, and let me cite what I mean. In this state, as I mentioned, you have eight doctors in training in psychiatry in all of Iowa. In the state of Kansas we have 135. Why can't you? If we really need these doctors that's the only way we're going to get them. And you are rich in the brains you have here in the psychiatric profession. I strongly urge that there is a liaison and a working relationship established with the University and this so-called SUI packet—the four bills that have to do with this administrative, space and training program.

Another paradox in psychiatry is the fact that we know so little, really. We know enough to help a lot of people get well, as these figures from Kansas indicate; but whether it's in aviation, or oil, or any other field, we don't get ahead unless we do research. I don't know why it is, in psychiatry, that we have been so backward. We have only 5 cents of every medical dollar spent in research, although the national health bill for mental illness is one billion, two hundred million dollars a year, now. And that's money outlay, and tax money. Yet we don't spend one-half of one per cent to learn how to do this job better.

Here, of the millions of dollars that you spend on your mental hospital program in Iowa, you don't spend a cent in learning how to do it better, namely in research. As I understand it, there is a bill asking for $100,000 a year to invest in research. To me this is still far, far inadequate. I think there ought to be an opportunity for research to go in all of these mental hospitals. How can we get these people well more quickly? And how can we prevent them getting there? And that's only going to come through research. So that there again I think Iowa could do much better, and certainly you will do yourself a savings, to invest generously in research.

A touchy subject, and one which seems awfully complicated to me, is the problem of how you administer your mental hospitals here in Iowa. If I've learned about it right, I wouldn't for five minutes consider a job as superintendent, with the atrocious mechanical means with which they have to operate.

I'm sure that the members of the legislature know this. If I understand correctly, if the superintendent of one of the hospitals wants an additional man, any kind of personnel, he must go to the Personnel Officer of the Board, who goes to the Board of Control, who must take it up with State Personnel Officer, who must refer it to the State Comptroller, who must take it up with the State Executive Council. And then the decision is made by a group of people who don't know what it was all about in the first place!

If you want good superintendents, gentlemen, trust them. Give them the authority to do this job, and hold them to it. But don't shackle them, by making them go through seventeen hoops to get a nurse, or to be absent for a day from the hospital—as I understand it they have to get written permission. What nonsense! I wouldn't take such a job.

And I'm sure that can be remedied relatively simply. As I understand, it you do have a very devoted Board of Control, that is deeply interested, but they, too, are handcuffed and shackled.

I hope in time you see your way, as most of our states that are making the real progress, to create a Mental Health Commission, and set up a Mental Health Department in the state. You'll go further, faster, when you can bring that about, using the State Board of Control. We have it in Kansas—it's important to us. It's non-partisan. No Governor can change all of it; in fact, he can't change but one-third of it. And we don't have any trouble with the politics now. And we have an advisory group. They have a great deal of weight, to say as to what's going on. I'm sure you could profit from such a plan.

I want to say one word about bricks. I've minimized those, but I don't want to neglect them. I want to say them, mostly, because as I understand it, one of the major needs at the State University is some bricks—bricks for research; bricks for children.

You may or may not know that you have 50 beds for children at the Independence State Hospital. The state psychiatric institution in Iowa City treats perhaps 40 children in a year. But this is a drop in the bucket.

Right now you need modern psychiatric facilities for a minimum of 250 children, because a lot of children are being thrown in with adults in your big mental hospitals. I just hope it doesn't have to be your child, or you'd see how terrible it is.

I do want to say one further word about these county homes, hoping that there is reconsideration of that plan. I just think it's nothing short of wicked that we decide anybody's incurable. We know that a lot of people could be helped, and it's unforgivable to shove people into some kind of living death—2,600 here in these custodial homes—that have no psychiatric and minimum medical attention. We've just consigned them to a living death. I don't think you ought to sleep well at night, with that responsibility on our hearts. They're people, and they have relatives that are worried and concerned, and I know we can help a lot of them, if we would.

I wish all the citizens of the state might share the problems that you legislators have. You have an enormous responsibility. If I'm right, the chances are that you'll do what you believe the people want you to do. And I only hope that the citizens could be informed by the press of the problems that we all face together, here, in trying to give a new deal, a better deal. Let's give these mental patients a chance. Let's create in the hospitals of Iowa . . . this wonderful fine state . . . a chance for people to get well; this attitude that "everybody who goes there is going to get well." Most of them will. Whether they do or not depends on those of us in this room. God guide you in your decisions about it.

The committee previously appointed came forward and escorted Dr. Menninger and Governor Loveless from the House chamber.

Senator Tate of Cerro Gordo moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Mooty in the chair.

Swisher of Johnson asked and obtained unanimous consent that the speech offered by Dr. Menninger be printed in the Journal.

Paul of Poweshiek offered the following amendments, proposed by the committee on roads and highways, and moved their adoption:

1. Amend House File 42, section two (2) by adding after the word "two" in line four (4) the words "and one-half".

2. Further amend House File 42, section two (2) by striking subsection two (2) and renumbering the remaining subsections.

3. Amend House File 42, section two (2), line fifteen (15), by striking "and five-eighths".

4. Amend House File 42, section nine (9) by striking the words "subsection one (1)".

6. Amend House File 42, section five (5) by striking subsection three (3) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "By inserting a period after the word 'year' in line seven (7) and striking the remainder of said section."

The amendments were adopted.

Halling of Adair moved that action on House File 42 be deferred and the bill retain its place on the calendar.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Hoover of Ringgold offered the following House memorial resolution and moved its adoption:

HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Whereas, The Honorable H. Guy Roberts, of Ringgold County, who was a member of the Thirty-sixth, Thirty-seventh, Forty-first, Forty-second and Forty-second Extra sessions of the General Assembly, passed away on May 20, 1955; now therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker of the House to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating his life, character, and service to the state.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

The Speaker appointed as such committee Hoover of Ringgold, Maggert of Union and Breakenridge of Madison.

REQUEST FOR PRINTING

Riehm of Hancock asked and obtained unanimous consent that the Chief Clerk be authorized to order 500 extra copies of House File 128.

Chalupa of Jefferson offered the following House concurrent resolution :

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 7

By military and veterans affairs committee

Whereas, The Army National Guard of the State of Iowa has attained the unprecedented peace time strength of 8,000; and,

Whereas, The Army National Guard of the State of Iowa is organized into 82 units and organizations located in 55 communities in this great State; and,

Whereas, The Army National Guard of the State of Iowa is the exclusive Military Force of this State and under the Command of the Governor; and,

Whereas, The Secretary of the Department of the Army of the Government of the United States has directed that all non-prior service enlistees of the Army National Guard of this State be required to undergo a period of six months active duty training with the United States Army as a condition precedent to their enlistment; and,

Whereas, This requirement will greatly handicap enlistees by their inability to carry out a normal educational program and, therefore, will cause a serious reduction in enlistments and the strength thereof to the Army National Guard of the State of Iowa; and,

Whereas, A similar requirement applied to the Army Reserve has failed materially to attract any significant number of young men into that Component despite herculean efforts by the Department of Defense and the Department of the Army and the expenditure of millions of dollars in an effort to overcome opposition thereto; and,

Whereas, The six months active duty training program can be accomplished in approximately three months with efficient organization and the omission of unnecessary features; and,

Whereas, A three months active duty basic training program as a condition of enlistment is acceptable to the Army National Guard, and would encounter little if any opposition from industry, educators, religious groups and the parents and the young men of the Nation; now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, That the State of Iowa views with great alarm and disapproval the unwarranted action of the Secretary of the Army of the Government of the United States and urges its Representatives in the Congress of the United States to seek legislative action which will provide a realistic program of active duty basic training to be established for the Army National Guard.

Laid over under Rule 34.

PRESENTATION TO A. C. GUSTAFSON

Hanson of Lyon rose under the question of personal privilege and offered the following remarks :

"I want to present to this House some observations from my experience as a legislator which I wish to have interpreted as impersonal so far as I am concerned, but very personal so far as one important person in this House chamber, as we refer to his contributions to legislative processes in these last fifty years.

"I refer to our Chief Clerk, Mr. A. C. Gustafson, who first served as committee clerk fifty years ago, later became Assistant Chief Clerk, and now for many years has been our Chief Clerk.

"I want to call your attention to the fact that our Chief Clerk has now served for fifty years and has been an important part of the legislature all that time. Secondly, I want to call to your attention that he has reached a milestone in his life, and on behalf of myself and the members of the House, I want to extend congratulations on his 75th birthday.

"This House does appreciate what 'Gus', as he is known to everybody, has done for us; so, will the gentlemen from Wright and Kossuth come forward as a committee and make their presentation to our friend, Mr. A. C. Gustafson."

McNeal of Wright and Loss of Kossuth came forward and presented to A. C. Gustafson a set of gold wall vases containing red carnations.

McNeal of Wright addressed the House as follows:

"The remarks of Mr. Hanson have been most appropriate. This man, 'Gus', is truly an amazing character. You notice I say 'character' as he is 39 years old and has spent fifty years in service to the State of Iowa in this legislature. Gus, we would like to have you take an oath that you would solemnly promise to continue helping the poor distressed legislators and speakers in the functioning of their legislative duties to the State of Iowa so long as it is within your power to do so.

"In a more serious vein, on behalf of this entire body, its members present, past and in future years, we have this to say to you. We appreciate the things you have done here. In your duties you have considered responsibility in a higher standard than anybody ever expected of you. To our knowledge, you have never made excuses for yourself. We have never seen you pity yourself, and you have been a hard taskmaster for yourself, and yet I say to all that you have been most lenient with all of us. It is with this thought in mind that the members of this legislature and your assistants in the back room that work with you so closely wish to bring to you these flowers today as a token of this occasion and the service you have rendered to the State on this, your birthday. The color red is for valor and the color gold for years of service."

Cunningham of Story led the House in singing, "Happy Birthday" to Mr. Gustafson.

Mr. A. C. Gustafson thanked the House members for the gift presented to him and offered the following remarks:

"I am sure you cannot expect me under the stress and emotion of the moment to give an adequate response to these glowing tributes. I only hope that I measure up to them, even in a small way.

"The real compensation I have had out of my work in this capacity over the years is the friendships I have made with you and those gone before and the feeling that I have your full confidence.

"The only thing I can say now is a sincere thank you from the bottom of my heart."

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senator O'Connor of Clayton and Senator Shaff of Clinton, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Johns of Tama and Conner of Wapello, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Loveless and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Nicholas then presented Governor Loveless, who delivered the following budget address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

The budget serves as a basic planning device through which elected representatives of the people exercise control over the financial affairs of government. Through appropriations, the General Assembly determines the kinds and amounts of services to be provided by state government, and the extent of financial assistance to local communities. The revenue measures enacted by the General Assembly determine the share of the private income of the people of Iowa which is to be taken for the support of public services, and the manner in which the costs of government are to be distributed among the various categories of taxpayers. In many respects, the decisions on appropriations and taxation are among the most important which you will be called upon to make. The provision of adequate public services, and the manner in which the costs of these services are met will exert important effects on the future development of the State of Iowa.

Under our form of government it is wisely provided that the executive branch shall recommend, but the legislative branch shall enact. In accordance with the spirit—as well as the letter—of that provision, I respectfully submit the following recommendations for appropriations and revenues for the Fifty-seventh Biennium:

SOME GENERAL PRINCIPLES

In the preparation of the recommendations presented below, three general principles have been followed:

1. For most of the state departments and the institutions under the Board of Control, the recommendations provide for salary raises equivalent to "one-step" in the classified salary brackets. The inclusion of this factor has been made in order to bring all employees the adjustments which have been granted to limited numbers by action of the Executive Council in recent months, and to make it possible to attract and retain able employees in state government.

2. To provide for rising price levels of materials, supplies, and equipment, an increase of approximately six percent has been recommended for these categories of expenditures. In view of recent and prospective price trends in the national economy, the six percent increase is a modest one. If enacted, the recommended increase would only maintain the present purchasing power of state departments and institutions.

3. The recommended appropriations are necessarily based on the existing structure and organization of the state departments and agencies. As noted in the inaugural address, there are opportunities for improved service and economics in operation to be obtained by consolidation, reorganization, the re-allocation of activities. I want to re-affirm my earlier suggestion that the Fifty-seventh General Assembly take action to attain these objectives. If such action is taken the recommended appropriations can and should be revised and re-allocated to reflect the changes in organization.

RECOMMENDED TOTAL APPROPRIATIONS

For the Fifty-seventh Biennium, recommended expenditures total 303.8 million dollars, or 151.9 million dollars for each year of the biennium. This total includes capital items, as well as appropriations for support of institutions, operation of the state departments and agencies, and the various forms of state aids to local communities. The total also includes standing appropriations, as well as recommended amounts for those purposes requiring specific legislative action.

The annual recommended total of 151.9 million dollars for the Fifty-seventh Biennium is approximately 15.4 million dollars, or 11.25 percent higher than the total annual appropriations for the Fifty-sixth Biennium, appropriations increased 11.6 percent or slightly more than the recommended rate of increase from the Fifty-sixth to the Fifty-seventh Biennium.

Annual appropriations for the Fifty-sixth Biennium, annual askings, and recommended appropriations for the Fifty-seventh Biennium are shown in Exhibit "A" of the budget materials in your hands. You will note that the items in this exhibit are arranged by function to facilitate presentation. I should like to discuss with you, briefly, the major items accounting for the recommended increases.

SCHOOL AIDS

With the exception of a small increase in the appropriation for educational aids to the orphans of veterans, no increase in school aids is recommended for the Fifty-seventh Biennium. At existing levels, school aids and the agricultural land tax credit stand at 33.3 million dollars—more than one-fifth of the total recommended annual appropriations for the Fifty-seventh Biennium.

While the need for property tax relief is urgent in some areas of the state, past experience has demonstrated that increased educational aids of the existing types have failed to promote efficiency in public school operations. If the Fifty-seventh General Assembly decides to make further use of state-wide taxation for the relief of local property taxes, I strongly urge that:

- (a) The form of state taxation used for local property tax relief should be one based on ability to pay, and the amounts of revenues raised for this purpose should be set aside and maintained separate and apart from the general fund of the State of Iowa: and
- (b) The manner of distribution of such funds should guarantee that monies raised by state-wide taxation will be spent efficiently, and will provide relief from local property tax burdens.

Continued increases in school aids, in the absence of more efficient use of such funds, serve to perpetuate uneconomical units without bringing local property tax relief. Moreover, as ever larger amounts of state revenues are diverted to local units of government, the ability of the state to provide for its own agencies and departments is impaired.

BOARD OF REGENTS INSTITUTIONS

For the institutions under the Board of Regents, a total annual appropriation of 37.1 million dollars is recommended for the Fifty-seventh Biennium. This amount includes 32.1 million dollars for salary, support and maintenance, and almost 5 million dollars per year for capital improvements. The recommended appropriations represent an increase of 5.4 million dollars for salaries, support, and maintenance and almost 2.4 million dollars for capital items. Together, these two items account for over one-half of the total recommended increase of 15.4 million dollars per year.

A substantial part of the recommended increase in annual appropriations is accounted for by proposed increases in salaries at the three state institutions of higher education. In the academic year 1955-56, salaries at the State University and the State College were among the lowest to be found in comparable institutions in the Midwest. The increases recommended would have raised salaries at the Iowa institutions to third position among comparable institutions in neighboring states in 1955-56. Because of a continuing rise in salaries in other states, the recommended increases will probably enable the Iowa institutions to achieve no higher than a median position among comparable institutions during the next biennium.

The salary increases included in the recommended appropriations for the institutions are urgently needed. Iowa's institutions of higher education are facing stiff competition for qualified personnel from schools in other states, and from private industry. The loss of staff is serious: In the face of rising enrollment, it threatens to become tragic.

A smaller portion of the total recommended increase is accounted for by the need for additional staff and support arising from increased enrollment in the major institutions. If the State of Iowa is to continue to meet its educational responsibilities to all the youth of our state, these additional demands must be met.

The recommended increase in appropriations also includes amounts to finance an expanded research and training program in mental health at the Psychopathic Hospital, and an expanded research program in food processing and marketing at the State College. As in the case of other state agencies and departments provision has been made in the recommended appropriations for anticipated price increase in materials, supplies and equipment.

The recommended increase of approximately 2.4 million dollars per year for capital improvements at the institutions under the Board of Regents is substantially below the increase requested. However, the increase proposed will permit the institutions to begin the needed program of capital improvement, and to replace obsolete facilities. To carry this program forward, I strongly urge the Fifty-seventh General Assembly to enact the necessary legislation to enable the Board of Regents to issue revenue bonds to finance future construction. This legislation will make it possible for the State of Iowa to spread the costs of urgently needed capital improvements over a longer period, and reduce the need for capital appropriations in future bienniums. However, because the revenue bond program cannot become fully effective in the Fifty-seventh Biennium, the recommended capital appropriation of almost 5 million dollars per year during the Fifty-seventh Biennium is urgently needed.

BOARD OF CONTROL INSTITUTIONS

An increase of 3.3 million dollars per year is recommended for Board of Control institutions, an amount equal to almost 21.5 percent of the total increase in recommended appropriations. The recommended increases include slightly more than 3 million dollars for support, and almost one quarter of a million dollars for capital improvements. The largest item of increase is for salaries, in the amount of approximately 2.3 million dollars. The increases proposed for compensation of employees include:

- (a) A "one-step" salary adjustment for present employees.
- (b) An increase in the number of authorized positions to staff expanded facilities at Independence, Woodward, Eldora, and Fort Madison; additional staff to permit completion of the transition to a 40-hour week at Marshalltown; replacement of members with regular staff at Marshalltown; and increased staff for vacation relief at the same institution.

Prospective increase in price of materials, supplies, and equipment purchased by Board of Control institutions also account for a substantial portion of the recommended increase in appropriations.

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

An increase of almost 458 thousand dollars per year is recommended for the Department of Public Safety. Approximately one-half of the recommended increase for this department is for the highway patrol. Two items account for most of the increase in the amount recommended for the highway patrol:

- (a) A "one-step" raise in the salary schedules for patrolmen, equivalent to approximately a 5 percent increase over present salaries, and
- (b) Additional costs of maintaining the 24-hour patrol, instituted several months ago.

Other items included in the recommended increase for the Department of Public Safety include provision for new license plates each year, and salary adjustments for the various divisions. The increase recommended for the Department of Public Safety, including the highway patrol, accounts for slightly less than 3 percent of the total recommended increases in appropriations.

OTHER SERVICES

Increases recommended for the various administrative departments of state government total approximately 868 thousand dollars, or 5.65 percent of the total increase in the proposed budget. The detail, by department, is shown in Schedule 1. Six of the departments, accounting for roughly two-thirds of the recommended increase for administrative departments are shown separately in Exhibit "A."

It is recommended that appropriations for the geological survey be increased substantially to permit an expansion of activities related to the development of the state's water resources. Substantial increases are also recommended for the Department of Agriculture, and the Office of the Custodian of Buildings and Grounds. However, the recommended appropriations do not include any provision for capital improvements for buildings and grounds. It is recommended that the appropriate legislative committees study the need for construction, maintenance, repairs, replacements, alterations and equipment of buildings and grounds of the State of Iowa, located at the seat of government, and take such action as they may deem advisable.

MISCELLANEOUS STATE AIDS TO LOCAL COMMUNITIES

With the exception of an increase of $10,000 per year in aids to local fairs, it is recommended that the items comprising "Miscellaneous State Aids to Local Communities" be maintained at existing levels.

SOCIAL WELFARE

An increase of slightly more than 2.6 million dollars in annual appropriations for programs administered by the Board of Social Welfare is recommended. The increases recommended for these activities account for slightly more than 17 percent of the total increase in recommended appropriations. The major item of increase is for aid to dependent children, for which an additional amount of 1.2 million is suggested. The amount recommended is based on:

- (a) Removal of the present ceiling of $175 per family, and
- (b) Restoration of the cut of 3 dollars per recipient made necessary by inadequate funds.
- (c) Anticipated increase in the number of individuals receiving payments under this program.

An increase of 1.1 million dollars is recommended in the annual appropriation for old age assistance, to provide for the continuation of the rate of monthly payments established in August, 1956, and to allow for funds to match an October, 1956, increase in federal grants.

Most of the increase recommended for aid to the blind is to meet additional costs arising from anticipated increases in the number of recipients.

Finally, it is noted that the recommended increases include provisions for medical grants in the programs. In order to carry out the recommended changes in the method of making medical payments, it will be necessary to amend existing laws under which the various programs are now administered.

HOMESTEAD TAX CREDIT

Under present law, the standing unlimited appropriation for payment of the homestead tax credit will require an average of more than 26 million dollars per year during the Fifty-seventh Biennium, an increase of 1.4 million dollars per year over the Fifty-sixth Biennium. The estimated rise in claims is based on anticipated increases in home ownership.

The estimated increase in homestead tax credit payments accounts for approximately 9 percent of the total increase in the recommended budget for the Fifty-seventh Biennium. As you know, this is one element in the budget over which neither the legislative nor the executive branch exercises control, under present laws.

MISCELLANEOUS SERVICES

Suggested appropriations for the items shown under the category of "Miscellaneous Services" total 5.8 million dollars for the Fifty-seventh Biennium, as compared with actual average appropriations of 6.3 million per year for the Fifty-sixth Biennium. The major item for which a reduction is estimated is the General Contingency Fund, administered by the budget and financial control committee.

MISCELLANEOUS CAPITAL APPROPRIATIONS

An annual average appropriation of 267 thousand dollars is recommended for miscellaneous capital items for the Fifty-seventh Biennium. The average annual amount recommended for the items in this category is 627 thousand below the average annual appropriations by the Fifty-sixth General Assembly.

SUMMARY

The recommended appropriations presented above call for an annual rate of expenditure of 151.9 million dollars for each year of the Fifty-seventh Biennium. Total recommended appropriations and expenditures may be grouped as follows for purposes of presentation:

State purposes:

Current expenditures for the operation of the state government	$ 65.9 million
Capital improvements	6.8 million
Total, state purposes	$ 72.7 million
State aid to local communities	79.2 million
Grand Total	$151.9 million

A general picture of the proposed expenditures of the state for the major categories of aid to local communities is shown in Schedule "AA" of the materials in your hands.

The recommendations which have been presented represent an increase of almost 15.4 million dollars per year over the actual annual rate of appropriations for the Fifty-sixth Biennium. The total recommended is accounted for as follows:

Education	$ 7.8 million, or	50.6 percent of the total increase
Board of Control
Institutions	3.3 million, or	21.5 percent of the total increase
Social Welfare	2.6 million, or	17.1 percent of the total increase
Homestead Tax
Credit	1.4 million, or	8.9 percent of the total increase
Other Administrative
Services9 million, or	5.7 percent of the total increase
All Other Purposes,
Net (Minus)	-.6 million, or	-3.8 percent of the total increase
Total Increases.....	$15.4 million, or	100.0 percent of the total increase

The increases which have been recommended have been carefully examined. In some cases the agencies and departments have been requested to supplement their original presentation of askings with additional information. It is my considered judgment that the increases recommended are essential and necessary if the state agencies and departments are to render the services demanded by the citizens of Iowa.

RECOMMENDED SOURCES OF REVENUE

Annual average expenditures recommended for the Fifty-seventh Biennium total 151.9 million dollars. It is proposed that these expenditures be financed as follows:

- | | |
|---|-----------------|
| (a) From revenue available under present statutes | $131.9 million |
| (b) From continuation of temporary income tax rates and new sources of current revenue | 15.6 million |
| (c) From balances on hand | 4.4 million |

Total revenues available	$151.9 million

REVENUES AVAILABLE UNDER PRESENT STATUTES

Estimated revenues available under present statutes are shown in the first column of Exhibit "B". The figures shown in this column are based on the assumption that temporary changes in the taxes shown will expire on June 30, 1957. As you know, these temporary provisions imposed an additional one-half of one percent on the sales and use tax rates, raised the individual income tax rates from 75 percent, to 80 percent of the full rate schedule, and also raised the corporate net income tax rate from 2 percent, to 3 percent.

The estimates in the first column of "Exhibit B" include a modest allowance for the effects of normal economic growth on the revenues to be derived from the sales, use, and income taxes. The estimated receipts also reflect the additional amounts to be received from county treasurers as a result of the increased costs of the care of patients in Board of Control institutions. Total current revenues under existing statutes fall short—by approximately 20 million dollars per year—of the amount required to finance proposed expenditures. It is proposed that continuation of existing "temporary" rates on individual and corporate net income taxes, transfers of revenues, an additional 5 percent mark-up on liquor, and new tax measures to produce an estimated 5.2 million dollars be employed to raise approximately 15.6 million dollars of this amount. It is further suggested that the remainder of the needed revenue—about 4.4 million dollars annually—be provided from the general fund balances on hand.

PROPOSED ADDITIONAL SOURCES OF CURRENT REVENUE

First, it is recommended that the 10 percent of the receipts from the sales tax, now being allocated to the road use tax fund, be returned to the general fund of the State of Iowa. At the same time it is urged that the present "temporary" fifth and sixth cents of gasoline tax be made permanent.

In 1949, when 10 percent of the sales tax revenue, and the use tax receipts from motor vehicles were transferred from the general fund to the road use tax fund, the general fund contained a large balance; but funds available for highways, roads, and streets were critically inadequate. However, since 1949, the situation has changed sharply. While we shall continue to need large amounts for modernization of our highway system, the additional two cents of gasoline tax, and higher levels of federal aid have improved substantially the financial position of the highway program. On the other hand, the demands on the general fund have risen sharply. Therefore, in order to redirect the state's revenues to those areas in which the needs are most urgent, it is recommended that the 10 percent of sales tax revenue now going to the road use tax fund be returned to the general fund of the State of Iowa. This recommendation, if adopted, would add approximately 6.3 million dollars per year to appropriate receipts during the Fifty-seventh Biennium.

Second, it is recommended that the individual income tax rates be continued at 80 percent of the "full 100 percent" level. This recommendation would have the effect of continuing the "temporary rates" enacted two years ago. It would add about 1.8 million dollars to the revenue estimates shown in the first column of Exhibit "B".

Third, it is recommended that an additional rate bracket of 4.8 percent be imposed on taxable income in excess of 5,000 dollars of net taxable income. Under the present rate structure, with full deductibility of federal income taxes, the Iowa individual income tax on persons with incomes in the higher brackets is one of the lowest among the 29 states employing general personal income taxation. An additional bracket, at a rate of 4.8 percent would produce an estimated 1.7 million dollars per year from those citizens having greater-than-average taxpaying capacity. The recommended addition of this bracket would also serve to compensate, to some degree, for the highly regressive element in our tax system, which results from the heavy reliance on sales taxation.

The second and third recommendations, if enacted, would add approximately 3.5 million dollars to general fund revenues, over the amount shown in column one of Exhibit "B". However, the only tax proposed in addition to those in effect during the Fifty-sixth Biennium is the additional bracket rate of 4.8 percent of income in excess of 5,000 dollars.

Fourth, it is recommended that the temporary rate of 3 percent on corporate net income, scheduled to revert to 2 percent on June 30, 1957, be continued. It may be noted that this proposal is also contained in the recommendations of the taxation study committee (proposed bill No. 8). It is estimated that the retention of the 3 percent rate would provide over 1.1 million dollars per year of revenue, in addition to the amount shown in column one of Schedule "B". Even if the rate of 3 percent is made permanent, only 3 of the 32 states levying corporate net income taxes will have a rate lower than the Iowa rate.

Fifth, it is recommended that the present method of allocating the income of multistate businesses to Iowa for corporate net income tax purposes be altered to conform more nearly to the methods employed in the other 31 states imposing corporate net income taxation. It has long been recognized by impartial observers that the Iowa allocation "formula" allows for virtually a tax-free status to some of the state's largest corporate enterprises. The Brookings Institution, in its 1946 study of the Iowa tax system, recommended a revision of the allocation formula.

The relatively unimportant contribution of corporate net income taxation to the state's revenue is primarily attributable to the present method of allocating multistate businesses income to Iowa. Although this is a somewhat technical feature of tax law which cannot be fully explained in a presentation of this type, it may be noted that the effect of the present formula is to apply the full 3 percent net income tax rate to those corporations which make all their sales in Iowa. However, for corporations selling outside the state the effective rate of tax on net income is reduced below 3 percent in proportion to the fraction of their sales made to non-Iowa buyers. Thus, many small corporate retail establishments, newspaper publishers, and other local businesses pay larger corporate net income taxes than some of the state's largest corporate manufacturing enterprises.

The adoption of the recommended revision in the allocation formula would at least double the revenue from corporate net income taxation, providing approximately 3.5 million dollars of additional revenue. Moreover, it should be noted that—for most corporations—52 percent of the increased tax payments to the State of Iowa would be offset by a reduction in federal net income tax liability. I strongly urge the General Assembly to utilize this method of keeping our tax dollars at home, and strengthening state government to the end that the need for federal subsidies may be held to a minimum.

Sixth, it is recommended that a general price increase of 5 percent be applied by the Liquor Control Commission. This proposal would produce an estimated 1.3 million dollars for the general fund. It would also provide small additional amounts for property tax relief at the local level.

The six proposals set forth above would yield almost 15.7 million dollars per year during this Fifty-seventh Biennium. This may be compared with the recommended increase in average annual appropriations of 15.4 million dollars. However, it should be noted that the only state tax increases recommended, over those in effect during the Fifty-sixth Biennium, are:

- (a) An additional bracket on the individual income tax, at a rate of 4.8 percent on net taxable income in excess of $5,000, and
- (b) A revision in the allocation formula used in the computation of net corporate income taxable in Iowa.

REVENUES FOR CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

The recommended revenue sources, together with the receipts under existing statutes, will produce an estimated current annual revenue of 147.5 million dollars; recommended annual appropriations for all items except capital improvements total 145.1 million dollars. Thus, the excess of proposed current receipts over recommended appropriations for non-capital items is 2.4 million dollars annually (see Schedule "BB").

In addition to the annual current revenue surplus of 2.4 million dollars per year, it is recommended that an average of approximately 4.4 million dollars per year be appropriated for capital improvements from present balances in the general fund of the State of Iowa. These two sources will provide for capital appropriations averaging 6.7 million dollars annually for the Fifty-seventh Biennium.

In general, it is not sound financial practice for a state to spend at a rate in excess of its income. Certainly, this practice should not be followed for current operations. But it is proper to use accumulated revenues to cover capital expenditures, particularly if these are of a non-recurring nature. You will note (Exhibit "BB") that the proposed budget provides more than sufficient current revenues to meet current expenditures.

A major share of the recommended outlays for capital improvements is accounted for by the suggested appropriations for institutions under the Board of Regents. Under the proposed revenue bond method of financing, at least a part of the recommended capital appropriations for the Fifty-seventh Biennium would be non-recurring. Therefore, it is recommended that the existing balance in the general fund be reduced to provide funds for urgently needed capital improvements at these institutions.

THE ESTIMATED BALANCE IN THE GENERAL FUND

Detailed information showing the balances in the general fund is shown in Schedule No. 5 of the budget materials in your hands. It is estimated that the unencumbered balance on June 30, 1957, will be approximately 36 million dollars. The proposed reduction of approximately 8.7 million dollars during the Fifty-seventh Biennium for capital improvements will leave an estimated balance of almost 27.3 million dollars at the end of the Fifty-seventh Biennium. On the basis of the appropriations and revenues recommended in this message, it is estimated that a balance of 27.3 million dollars will provide an adequate "working balance". However, it should be noted that any substantial change in either appropriations or revenue sources will also alter the amount of working balance required.

ALTERNATIVE REVENUE SOURCES

Although I do not wish to make any specific recommendation of them, I should like to call to the attention of the members of the General Assembly that there are alternative sources of revenue which they may wish to consider. Two of these possible sources deserve brief comment. Both are more fully explained in the recommendations of the taxation study committee, section V.

The additional tax revenues available from "liquor-by-the-drink" sales have been variously estimated at from 5 million dollars, to 20 million dollars per year to the state, and some additional amounts to local taxing bodies. Obviously, the revenue to be obtained from this source will depend upon the type of tax and license provisions enacted. But it is probable that any feasible legislation will yield revenue nearer to the 5 million figure, than to the 20 million dollar estimate. In any case, the wide range of the estimates suggests the need for careful study along lines recommended earlier.

A second alternative source of tax revenue is that of a tax on adjusted gross income of individuals. This potential source of revenue is fully explained in the recommendations of the taxation study committee. Therefore, it is only necessary, here, to point out that this source would yield very substantial revenues at low rates because of the broad base of the tax.

AN ALTERNATIVE TO TAX INCREASES

The proposals presented above call for additional individual income tax revenues of approximately 1.7 million dollars per year, and increased corporate net income tax revenues in the amount of 3.5 million dollars annually, for a total of slightly more than 5 million dollars. It is well known that the tax load borne by Iowans is already a heavy one. If the rising trend of state taxes is to be halted, we must take immediate, effective steps to improve the efficiency of governmental operations, at both the state and local levels. As I have pointed out before, the reorganizations recommended by the Little Hoover Commission would provide savings of 5 million dollars per year. Thus, if the recommended reorganizations were carried out, the new revenues which have been recommended in this message would be unnecessary to carry out the proposed programs.

In conclusion, it should be noted that the preparation of the proposed budget has involved many long hours of painstaking effort by Mr. Sarsfield and his staff, and by the various departments and agencies of the state government. I am sincerely grateful for their patient assistance. I know that they stand ready to render the same service to members of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly as you undertake the tasks of enacting the financial legislation so vital to the welfare of the state. And to this I should like to add that I shall deem it a privilege to discuss with each of you any part of my recommendation.

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, FELLOW LEGISLATORS, FELLOW COUNTRYMEN:

You have done me a great honor. To be invited to speak before this honorable body is indeed an occasion of great import and to be invited back a second time to talk to you on Abraham Lincoln is both an honor and a great challenge. I humbly accept and thank you for this invitation and opportunity to come back to this place where I have so many fond memories and fine friends. My sincere hope is that I might share with you some thoughts and experiences that will in some measure add to the rich heritage we call America.

Now may I take this opportunity to bring you the greetings from the Congress of the United States and especially greetings from the individual and collective members of the Iowa delegation in that legislative body.

It may be of some satisfaction to you to know that we have many of the same pressures that each one of you have, that we have the same anxieties and concern for the future of our great nation and that we have, along with you, a dedicated desire to do only those things that are right and good for America, and we know that those things that are truly good and necessary for the undergirding of our way of life are also those things that are good for the world.

It seems to me that we in America and we in Congress are in a period of transition trying with great effort to assume the mantle of leadership in such a way that the philosophies of freedom and equality given us by our forefathers will be noted and accepted by the Nations of the world, who today know only want, ignorance and tyranny.

All of us, occasionally, need to get our bearing and re-inspiration from the great reservoir of our glorious history and great patriots of the past. In the Congress, our principal occasion comparable to this comes on the 22nd of February when we do honor to the Father of our Country, George Washington. In Iowa (and this is the 25th time and 50th year that you have done this), you pause to do honor to the man most responsible for the preservation of our nation, Abraham Lincoln. It is true, I think, that good government and the good way of life we enjoy in our country today is but the reflection of the wonderful examples of courage of great leaders who gave us the thrilling idea and philosophy we are pleased to call our country. We as a people, and our State Legislature, many years ago recognized through the requirement of law that the study of history is necessary to the preservation and expanding growth of our country. Historians know that our nation will never let go of its way of life unless its people ignore and forget the glorious history of our country. Carlyle once said that "Biography is the only true history," and there is no nation that has had so many thrilling and significant biographies as we do. Therefore, American history, the story of our growth and development, is the most valuable and interesting of any nation in the world. Today we pause to do honor to the greatest of these. Because I want to talk about a certain phase of Lincoln as we know him today, I have chosen this as a title for my remarks. "Though he were dead, yet shall he live," taken from the last part of verse 25 of the 11th chapter of the Gospel of St. John. Lincoln does still live.

He lives through his words and through simple but sublime thoughts he left with us—just as the great ideas of others of our forefathers live and are a part of our being. We need to return to Washington, Jefferson, Adams, Franklin, Madison, Lincoln and many others much more often than is our custom if we want to continue to be great. We need particularly to turn to Washington, Jefferson and Lincoln and among these three, most of all, to Lincoln. Why especially to Lincoln? Because he, more than any other national leader, represented the soul and heart of our nation. Washington was the founder of our nation, Jefferson was its prophet and political pioneer, but Lincoln was its incarnation. He led us back to the original great objectives of our fathers.

Whatever we are as a country at our best, it is Lincoln who defines it and makes it unmistakably clear. For he was not the product of a transplanted culture, but the veritable offspring of the new nation itself, the native child of its frontiers, both of the soil and of the soul. The roots of his thought, his aim, his purpose, were all in the American Revolution, which he saw, not as something complete or localized within United States territory, but as a great, continuing dynamic process, destined, unless choked off by the Civil War, to grow and spread until it included all mankind. He saw what all too few have seen with equal clearness, either before or since: that the American Revolution, properly understood and evaluated, was the beginning of a new day, a continuous transforming event affecting not only the northern part of one hemisphere, but the entire world.

Many in early history saw and understood, but no one else at all has been so surely guided by it, as Lincoln was, in directing the affairs of state. He saw with perfect clearness that freedom cannot live unless it grows. It is true, isn't it, that something is always growing in the world? In the area of human relations, if it is not freedom, then it must be something opposed to freedom, which means that it must be a kind of tyranny.

Sooner or later, this means challenge and conflict. To tyranny, freedom is a threat; to freedom, tyranny is a denial. Lincoln made crystal clear at Coopers Union that if one is to grow, the other must shrink. "A nation cannot live half free and half slave." There cannot in the end be room for both. And as the Revolution had declared that all men—not just all Americans—were created free, and that all were equally entitled to the same inalienable rights.

Let me underline the thought of equality by pointing out that this word appears often in Lincoln vocabulary. He referred to it and used it as the prime thought in his immortal Gettysburg address. This idea of freedom and equality was to him a challenge to evil and oppression forever and everywhere.

In order to declare all Americans free—free by inherent natural right—it had been necessary to declare the same liberty for all mankind. Americans were free, the founding fathers said, not because a government or a king or an aristocracy or a hierarchy had been pleased to grant freedom—but free because they were men, men created equal, and free for that sufficient reason and no other. It is not true, then, that mankind everywhere could claim freedom on the same basis. This is the idea that needs to be understood behind the curtains and walls of ignorance all over our world today.

Lincoln saw this with perfect plainness and knew that a world just as surely as a nation could not in the end endure, half-slave, half-free. He spoke of a nation because it was a nation he was dealing with. But by the same logic, it was obvious that his statement could be true of any human society, even a society of nations. He was far from unaware of this. He foresaw that the question would ultimately have to be decided on a universal basis. That is why it was so very important, not just for the American Union but for all mankind, and for all time, that “government of the people, by the people, for the people should not perish from the earth.”

If there is any doubt that this was the scope of Lincoln's thought, a single quotation will readily remove it. It was while he was on his way to Washington to take up his first term as President, that he stopped briefly in Philadelphia, and there, in Independence Hall, was unexpectedly required to make a short address.

This is what he said—extemporaneously—and it must have represented what welled up from his deepest convictions as he moved to take up the greatest responsibility before him: “I have often inquired of myself,” he said, “what great principle or idea it was that kept this Nation so long together. It was not the mere matter of separation of the colonies from the motherland, but that sentiment in the Declaration of Independence which gave liberty not alone to the people of this country, but hope to all the world, for all future time.”

The meaning of this is unequivocal. Freedom in the end cannot be divided. Thus he reasoned for those things that were high and noble and good for his people and his Nation. Thus he plead the cause of his country as he led it through the valley of shadow of death. First to save the Nation and keep it united, then to make it more perfect for posterity. What a fine and enduring thought and example this is for all of us and all the peoples of the world.

These are the reasons then that a grateful people have responded so generously to pay tribute, first in a mourning period following his death—unmatched in visible expressions of sorrow in the history of modern man before or since his leaving. In the last four score and eleven years sculptors (and among them some of the best) have erected at least 68 original statues in our country, portraying Lincoln in so many ways: as a boy, and as a man; bearded and without a beard, as rail splitter, orator, emancipator, standing and seated, addressing juries and rapt meditations, sculptor images in plaster, wood, limestone, granite, marble and bronze. There are Lincoln statues and busts in public schools and private schools all over our nation in uncounted numbers. They are found, too, in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, Hotel Savoy and in the Royal Exchange in London and in many other places on the continent of Europe. While no research is available on the number of statues of other great men, there is a belief among Lincoln students that there are more statues of this humble man than any other born since the year 1000.

Books keep him alive too. In the last 91 years since his death, over 4,000 books and pamphlets have been written on the life of this man. Think of it. And more books are being written every year. More has been written about this great American in so short a time than any man in the history of man, with one exception and that exception is the Christ.

Lincoln, The Patriot, Emancipator, Statesman, Logician, Politician,

Frontiersman; Lincoln and His Generals, Cabinet, the Congress, Angels of Mercy; Lincoln and the Army, The Legislature, The Debator, etc., etc.. are but a very few of the significant titles of Lincoln books written by the best authors of their time.

There are in our country thousands of students and book collectors on Lincoln, varying from 50 books to over 4,000. There are over 400 private and public collections valued at from $1,000 to over $75,000. One of the finest and most complete collections on Lincoln is found at our own University Library—the Bollinger Collection of over 4,000 books and pamphlets, valued at $50,000, given to the University by the terms of the will of the eminent judge and patriot, James Bollinger of Davenport, Iowa. If you have any interest in history at all, stop by and visit and be thrilled by a tour of this section of one of the best libraries in the United States.

These are some of the reasons that Edwin Markham could say among other things in his wonderful poem "Lincoln the Man":

"That here was a man to hold against the world,
A man to match the mountains and the sea."

And it was so he said because—

"The eyes of conscience were upon him

To make the deed the measure of a man."

This is why the Congress representing a nation with high ambitions and great ideals created a commission and spent almost $3,000,000 to build a Grecian temple in his memory, at one end of the mall just west of the United States Capitol. Seems almost like a perfect tribute with 48 states listed on the four sides of the upper panel; 36 columns representing the 36 states that were a part of the Union at the end of the war. To the left as you enter is written the immortal Gettysburg address and on the right, the Second Inaugural Address. In the center facing you—the majestic statue of Lincoln in a seated position, still, it seems, admonishing his people on the fundamental truths of life and government of the people, and the people are coming to visit. Last year over 1,850,000 people walked up the 58 steps and entered this temple. People from every state and nation on earth—over 49,000,000 people—rich and poor, great and little people, black and white, Catholic and Protestant and people from every religion in the world have visited this temple since its dedication in 1922 to be reminded that through humility and devotion to duty you get the approbation of your fellowman.

Think of it—more people now visit this shrine annually than any shrine in the world. What a tribute to a man who had less than 12 months formal education. Only in an atmosphere of freedom and liberty can a man attain goals that bring such plaudits from posterity.

I loathe to close, but I must and will . . . after telling you of a couple of personal experiences while visiting the Lincoln Memorial.

One day while visiting there, I observed an elderly lady, slender, slightly stooped, neatly dressed with ordinary clothes, approach the Lincoln statue. She stopped and looked for a moment, then knelt and prayed out loud in some foreign language that I could not interpret. After praying a brief prayer, she arose, turned and unashamedly wiped her eyes and walked away. I said I could not interpret her words, but can anyone doubt that she was thanking of her God that he had given the world a Lincoln. Maybe she was born in a country where they had no such freedom such as we know.

On another occasion, a group of ten or eleven year olds, apparently from a colored school, visited this shrine and after milling around for several minutes the teacher suggested that they must go now and just as they were leaving, a self-appointed leader of the children, bowing to the statute, said, "Thank you, Mr. Lincoln."

That seems to sort of sum up the reason of paying this tribute on his birthday. May we then be thankful that in this our whole nation unites in paying tribute to him and especially to the ideals in which he led our people. Let us, too, heed his admonition in this critical time to dedicate ourselves to the yet unfinished task of building a finer America and, having done this, I am sure that God will continue to bless America.

Chalupa of Jefferson introduced to the joint convention National Commander Daniel, preceding the introduction with the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

The gentleman I shall introduce to you this morning is a man of the sheerest kind of determination. He had to overcome an early history of illness in order to serve his country in the Navy during World War II.

He has been equally determined in private life. He has been civilian advisor to the Second Army, a member of the Re-Employment Rights Committee of the U. S. Department of Labor, a Selective Service advisor, president of the Danville Tuberculosis Association, and is now vice president of the Virginia Tuberculosis Association. He has been active in the American Red Cross affairs, Salvation Army work, Scouting and the National Society for Crippled Children. He has served as a member of the Virginia Governor's Committee for the Hiring of Physically Handicapped and is serving a three-year term on the Governor's Hospital Council.

Ladies and gentlemen, I present to you a great American and patriot and a fellow Legionnaire, Commander W. C. Daniel of Danville, Virginia, National Commander of the American Legion. Commander Daniels.

Commander Daniel addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. SPEAKER, DISTINGUISHED MEMBERS OF THE IOWA LEGISLATURE AND MY FELLOW LEGIONNAIRES:

I am deeply grateful for the privilege you have given me and the American Legion by permitting me to address you today.

The honor of speaking to this distinguished body is second only to that of being a member of the Iowa Legislature.

There probably are occasions when you wonder about the honor of your office, especially if you ever had an experience similar to the Representative who was campaigning for re-election and ran into a farmer-constituent for whom he had done many favors over the years.

"You going to vote for me this time?" he asked.

"Nope," replied the farmer.

"Why not," asked the Representative. "Don't you remember how I got you a loan to buy some livestock, and helped you fix up your barn and house? Have you forgotten how I helped you find markets for your produce? And how about all of the other things I've done for you? If you haven't forgotten about them, why aren't you going to vote for me?"

"I haven't forgotten," the farmer said. "But what have you done for me lately?"

I'm sure the people of Iowa are both aware of and grateful for the many things you have done and are doing to improve their welfare and security. Certainly this is true of Iowa Legionnaires, who will be the first to point out that the American Legion's record of outstanding service in rehabilitation, Americanism, child welfare and national security here in Iowa is due in great part to the cooperation and support it has received from the State Legislature.

Yes, your works are known and appreciated today. However, they may not be tomorrow, for the role of State Governments and of State Legislatures in the affairs of our people is being reduced relentlessly by an ever-expanding Federal Government.

What will be the consequences of this increasing usurpation of State Rights by a centralized government?

They are many and tragic.

Let me quote one authority on the subject.

He said:

"The Federal Government did not create the States of this Republic. The States created the Federal Government. The creation should not supersede the creator. For if the States lose their meaning our entire system of government loses its meaning and the next step is the rise of the centralized national state in which the seeds of autocracy can take root and grow."

These words were spoken here in Des Moines, Iowa, a little more than four years ago by a man who should know what he's talking about . . . President Dwight D. Eisenhower.

Speaking on this same vital issue at the conference of governors in Seattle, Washington, early in 1953, President Eisenhower further declared, and I quote:

"I am here because of my indestructible conviction that unless we preserve in this country the place of State government with the power of authority, the responsibilities, and the revenues necessary to discharge those responsibilities, then we are not going to have America as we have known it. We will have some other form of government." End quote.

I'll leave it for you to decide whether the President's actions during the past four years have been suited to these words.

You may wonder why I've chosen to speak to you on the subject of States Rights. I've done so for two reasons. First, and most important, because of your obvious and necessary concern with this matter. And secondly because of The American Legion's strong views on the need for firm action now to preserve the sovereignty and governmental authority of our States.

Our position is expressed most clearly, I think, in the resolution adopted by The American Legion's national convention in Los Angeles last September, I'd like to quote the resolving clause of the resolution on this subject:

"Resolved . . . that we deplore the continued usurpation of States Rights by the Federal government, specifically in those matters so clearly spelled out by our founding fathers and in the Bill of Rights and the Constitution. The American Legion therefore wishes to place particular emphasis on the fact that it is firmly believed that the continuation of such practices will eventually result in a socialistic or dictatorial form of government." End quote.

In my judgement the arrogation of power by the central government is fast reducing our states to mere municipal dependencies.

This tragic trend must be reversed not only to preserve our representative form of government but for our security and survival as a free nation under God.

Make no mistake, the communist movement in the United States has been retarded principally because of our traditional American system of state sovereignty. The concentration of power in a central government is the vehicle on which the Kremlin hopes to ride in conquering our free land. So long as our individual states maintain control over our police organization, and so long as our ballot boxes are tucked safely away in each of our forty-eight state capitals, along with our political subdivisions, the connivers in the Kremlin will find it rather difficult to gain control of our government.

You appreciate, of course, and so does The American Legion, that certain functions essential to our existence as a nation and to the conduct of our society can be handled only by the Federal Government. The conduct of foreign affairs is but one example. The raising and supporting of national military forces, as required by the Constitution, is another, and, there are still other functions which the Federal Government is required to carry out or can best accomplish.

But these are far more limited than the advocates of an ever-stronger, central government would have us believe. The objective we seek is a proper balance between State and Federal Government as intended by the framers of that immortal document, our Constitution.

It's not necessary to tell you this. Nor is it necessary to emphasize to you that as the Federal Government reaches out into new fields and expands its activities it creates a need for more and more taxes. Inevitably, more Federal taxes mean greater and greater Federal control of our daily lives, and perhaps worse. For it has been said, and truly so, that the power to tax is the power to destroy.

For immediately, however, the consequence of expanded Federal spending and increased Federal taxes is that State and municipal governments are denied a vital source of tax revenues with which to finance their own essential operations.

Because you are confronted with this problem daily, you know that it's not merely a question of the Federal Government taking over a constitutionally directed responsibility of the State because the Federal Government has the funds denied the State. It's a question of how long we will continue to have government of the people, for the people, by the people.

I'm not being melodramatic. The individual citizen retains the greatest control over the government in his own community. The further away from him and from his direct contact the government becomes, the less responsive it is to his desires and directions, and the less efficient and effective it is in providing for his welfare and security.

We have not yet reached the point where representative government has been replaced completely by centralized government by directive and decree. But unless we act now to stop this steady encroachment by the Federal Government on our lives, it will be too late to profit from these words of Thomas Macaulay:

"Nothing is so galling to a people, not broken in from the birth, as a parental or, in other words, a meddling government, a government which tells them what to read and say and eat and drink and wear."

I think we, the American people, have the wisdom and will to reassert our authority as the one and only source of government in this country. We have the experience and intelligence, I'm confident, to realize that the Federal Government has gone far beyond the limitations prescribed by the Constitution under the guise of advancing the welfare and security of our people.

Indirectly we have only ourselves to blame for not insisting that our representatives in the Congress of the United States deny to the Federal Government the excessive legal authority and appropriations by which it perpetuates and increases its domination over our lives and freedoms.

We have the power and responsibility to correct past mistakes and insure that in the future "the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the States, are reserved to the States respectively, or to the people."

In the words of Thomas Jefferson, we must come to the "support of the State governments in all their rights, as the most competent administrations for our domestic concerns, and the surest bulwarks against anti-republican tendencies."

Only by doing this can we insure the prayerful hope expressed so simply yet so magnificently by Abraham Lincoln that "government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Thank you for permitting me to be with you today.

Chalupa of Jefferson thanked Commander W. C. Daniel for appearing before the joint convention.

The committee previously appointed came forward and escorted Commander W. C. Daniel and his official party from the House chamber.

Senator Nolan of Johnson moved that the joint convention be dissolved.

The motion prevailed.

The House reconvened, Speaker Mooty in the chair.

Lucken of Plymouth asked and obtained unanimous consent that the speech offered by Commander W. C. Daniel be printed in the Journal.

REPORT OF CONTEST COMMITTEE

(Norland vs. Barringer)

Milroy of Benton submitted the following report of contest committee:

MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of the contest for the office of State Representative from Palo Alto County in the General Election of November 6, 1956 between Arley Barringer, incumbent, and Edward C. Norland, contestant, submits herewith its report:

The committee was duly organized, adopted rules of procedure, heard oral statements from counsel for the contestant and incumbent, received written statements from counsel for the contestant setting forth specific objections on which the election contest was instituted and received written statement of objection to jurisdiction from counsel for the incumbent.

The committee determined it had jurisdiction, decided the fairest and most equitable manner to determine the contest would be by a complete recount of all ballots in all precincts of Palo Alto County for the office of State Representative.

The ballots were subpoenaed and delivered to the custody of the committee, additional members from the House were assigned to assist in the recount, all ballots in all precincts were examined and all legal ballots for the office of State Representative were counted.

The committee finds that Arley Barringer received three thousand three hundred sixty-four (3,364) votes and Edward C. Norland three thousand three hundred fifty-six (3,356) votes.

Attached hereto is a statement of Non-reliance on Technical Objections filed by the contestant.

The committee recommends that Arley Barringer be seated as the State Representative from Palo Alto County in the Fifty-seventh General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

Submitted this 18th day of February, 1957.

RIEHM of Hancock.

EXPLANATION

The purpose of this amendment is to give protection to local districts by providing a right of appeal to school districts when only one county board is involved, and to provide protection to county boards and local school districts the right of appeal to the state department of public instruction and from there to a court of record. These protections together with the number of signatures required on the petition from each district should fully protect all the school districts involved and give a clear method of protecting their rights by appeal, which the law did not give before.

MINORITY REPORT ON RULES COMMITTEE

The undersigned respectfully file this minority report as follows:

We call to the attention of the House Rule 25 "previous question" which was used so regularly and effectively as a gag rule in the session of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly. We feel that without question important measures before the House should be fully discussed and debated before the full assembly and those who have something to say on a particular bill or measure should have the right to say it and it is only upon open discussion and free debate can important issues be resolved and with all the views fully presented can an informed decision be made by the majority. We also realize that there should be a reasonable limit planned so that deliberate time killing delays to the detriment of other important legislation be eliminated. We therefore recommend and urge that Rule 25 be amended by adding thereto as follows:

"except that any member who shall state in writing, filed with the Clerk of the House prior to the motion, that he desires to be heard on the bill shall be allowed to speak on the measure under consideration."

It seems quite strange that we should have to even consider the next objection to the majority report.

Historically, apparently the secret ballot in committee hearings developed in 1939 in the session of the General Assembly when it applied only to judiciary 1, what is now safety and law enforcement, and appropriations committees. It has now spread until in every committee it is a part of the rules of every important committee. It is especially vicious in the steering and sifting committees and there most commonly used. It is used on major and controversial issues.

I cannot conceive of a democratic form of government, a representative form of government, with representatives responsible to the people, and the people represented not having the right to know how their representatives voted on any measure, whether it be on the floor of the House or in committee.

The obvious result is hypocrisy, double talk and double dealing. It makes the legislature a lobbyists' paradise. We can publicly support a measure, talk out of both sides of our mouth, kill it by secret ballot in committee and no one is the wiser. It is a haven for the weak sister, the corrupt and the unprincipled.

We owe a duty to the people of the state to make public our position so that they can at the next election fairly determine whether or not we truly represent them and if we don't they can correct the situation at the polls. This is not an idealistic dream. It is a practical matter.

We therefore recommend and urge that Rule 59 be amended by inserting a period after the word "meeting" in line 5 of the second paragraph and striking the remainder of said paragraph.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLARD M. FREED.
JOHN E. ANDREWS.
ALBERT LUND.

This minority of the rules committee recommends:

1. That the rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-sixth General Assembly be adopted as the permanent rules of the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, except that the last paragraph of Rule 59 be changed to read as follows:

"When a motion which works a final disposition of a bill in the com-

GREETINGS

The House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly of Iowa is proud to have as its guest Colonel Dean Hess of the Air Force. We greet you, Colonel Hess, upon this occasion and we commend you whole heartedly for your courage and valor in leading our forces to victory.

We commend you as the "Flying Parson" not only because you felt that the cause was right but that you were willing to fight and pray for its success.

We commend you as a great humanitarian, taking time out in the strife of battle to save both North and South Korean children left orphans, either as war casualties or abandoned by parents who were no longer able to care for them.

We commend you for devoting the proceeds of your book "Battle Hymn" and its subsequent motion picture to the building of an orphanage in Korea.

The State of Iowa has no order of military merit or other citation such as was conferred upon you by President Rhee of Korea, along with two great Americans, President Eisenhower and General MacArthur, but we would like to designate you as an honorary citizen of the great State of Iowa.

Swisher of Johnson offered the following House concurrent resolution, filed by him and Frommelt of Dubuque and Weik of Dickinson:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 12

Whereas, the Fifty-third General Assembly provided for the establishment of the Governmental Reorganization Commission generally known as the "Little Hoover Commission." The Commission was directed to examine the organization and operation of the various state agencies and departments and to recommend such changes as would accomplish the following purposes:

- a. reduction of expenditures and promotion of economies;
- b. increased efficiency of governmental operations;
- c. reduction of agencies by a consolidation of those having similar functions; and
- d. elimination of overlapping and duplicative activities.

Whereas, after a detailed study of the organization and functions of the more than 80 administrative agencies, the Commission concluded that "the machinery of the present state government is adapted to times and conditions that no longer exist." The Commission, in its 1950 Report, made a series of recommendations for the reorganization of state government agencies and departments, and for the regrouping of functions to eliminate duplication and overlapping. The Committee concluded that the adoption of its recommendations would not only improve service to the public, but would also permit "a substantial savings of up to $5,000,000 annually."

Whereas, Three General Assemblies have met since the Report of the Governmental Reorganization Commission was submitted. Yet, very few of the recommendations of the Commission have been enacted. In the meantime, appropriations from the General Fund of the State of Iowa have risen from an annual rate of slightly over 80 million dollars in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949, to an annual rate in excess of 136 million dollars during the current year. The time has come when the consideration of measures designed to improve the efficiency of state government can no longer be delayed. The taxpayers of Iowa are already carrying a tax load far heavier than that borne by the residents of most states. While every reasonable effort must be made to maintain and improve the quality of essential governmental services, the State of Iowa can not move forward under the handicap of obsolete governmental structures.

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring:

Section 1. There is hereby created a Special Legislative Committee on Governmental Economies, to be composed of six (6) members, three of whom shall be members of the Senate, who shall be forthwith appointed by the Lieutenant Governor, and three of whom shall be members of the House of Representatives, who will be forthwith appointed by the Speaker of the House of Representatives; any vacancy in the membership of the committee shall be filled by appointment in the same manner by the same official, and from the same group as the original appointment.

Section 2. This Committee shall examine into the organization of all offices, agencies, boards, commissions and departments of state to accomplish a reduction of expenditures and to promote economies in the operation of state government, and to eliminate overlapping and duplication of such agencies of state government.

Section 3. This Committee shall likewise review and re-examine each and every measure proposed in the Fifty-fourth General Assembly by the Governmental Reorganization Commission for the more efficient and economical operation of state government, and prepare a report thereon to each house of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly by the fifth day of April, 1957.

Section 4. It shall be the duty of each office, agency, board, commission or department of state government to make available to this Committee, such information and reports as the Commission may determine necessary. The Committee shall select a chairman from among its membership and shall enter upon its duties as soon as the membership shall have been appointed.

Laid over under Rule 34.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE TO RECONSIDER HOUSE FILE 162

Upon realization that the loss of revenue to the state would be much greater than stated by the proponents of the bill and further realizing that the proposal to exempt gasoline on which refunds are paid from sales taxation is an action that would throw out of balance the budget proposed by Governor Loveless, and to embarrass him by forcing him to veto such extension of exemptions. The Fifty-sixth General Assembly was sufficiently concerned with the whole problem of tax exemption as to instruct the Taxation Study Committee to make a complete study of the whole matter of exemptions. We will never achieve an equitable system by adding to the list of exemptions at every possible request from some particular group.

The importance of the exemption for the individual farmer is not great. On the average for all farmers in the state, the saving would amount to only a few dollars per farm, yet in the aggregate a proposed exemption of gasoline and certain other farm supplies will remove approximately $1,250,000 of much needed revenue from the General Fund of the state. It is fairly obvious that this revenue will have to be replaced from some source. The Republican Party has shown a strong preference for obtaining additional revenue through sales taxation. It will indeed be a hollow victory for the farmers of Iowa if the Governor's budget, which provided for the elimination of the temporary one-half of one per cent, is unbalanced by the exemption of gasoline and this lack of balance is used as an excuse for further increases in sales taxation. In this connection it should be pointed out that the elimination of the temporary one-half of one per cent as set forth in the Governor's budget message, would save agricultural producers from 4 to 5 million dollars, as compared with the counter-proposal to exempt gasoline and other agricultural supplies from the sales tax which would save only about one and one-quarter million dollars.

JOINT CONVENTION

President Nicholas presented to the joint convention Senator Elijah, chairman of the centennial committee.

Senator Elijah presented to the joint convention Reverend Albert J. Hoffman who offered the invocation.

Senator Elijah presented to the joint convention the Honorable Herschel C. Loveless, Governor of Iowa, who offered the following remarks:

Three times within a relatively brief span of thirteen years the Territory and, later, the State of Iowa held Constitutional Conventions for the purpose of formulating a written statement of fundamental law on which the new government could be organized and administered.

The Constitutional Convention of 1844 was convened to frame a Constitution for the new State of Iowa. This convention adjourned on November 1, having completed its work in only twenty-six days. The Constitution of 1844, as submitted to the Federal Congress and the people of the Territory, was composed of thirteen articles, containing over seven thousand words. In the Act of Congress admitting Iowa to the Union, a provision was made for boundaries differing from those set forth in the Constitution of 1844. As a result of the conflicting views on boundaries, the Constitution of 1844 was twice rejected by the people of Iowa in 1845.

Following the second rejection of the Constitution of 1844, a new Constitutional Convention was convened on May 4, 1846. This convention, which lasted only fifteen days, gave prime consideration to those issues which had led to the rejection of the earlier Constitution. Largely through the efforts of Mr. Dodge, Congress was persuaded to accept boundaries for the new State of Iowa which would be acceptable to the residents of the Territory. With the new boundaries, the Constitution of 1846 was approved by a narrow margin after rather bitter debates over the constitutional prohibitions against the establishment of banking corporations, and limitations on state debts. On August 3, 1846, the new Constitution was ratified by a majority of 456 out of a total of more than 18,500 votes cast. Following approval of the Constitution of 1846, Iowa was admitted to the Union on December 28, 1846.

But the admission of statehood did not settle all constitutional issues. On the contrary, there was widespread dissatisfaction with some features of the Constitution of 1846. The Constitution was accepted by many of the voters only as a matter of expediency to secure the advantages of immediate statehood.

After almost a decade of agitation, the Fifth General Assembly approved a bill calling for the question of constitutional revision to be submitted to the people at the general election in August 1856. As a result of the popular vote in favor of a Constitutional Convention, thirty-six delegates were selected at a special election in November 1856. The delegates so elected assembled at Iowa City on January 19, 1857.

Although it was not necessary for the Constitutional Convention of 1857 to concern itself with the establishment of boundaries, most of the other issues coming before the convention were the same ones which had been the subject of so much debate in earlier conventions. Major issues included the provisions to be made for the chartering of banks, the extension of suffrage to Negroes: the system of courts, and the method of selecting judges: the establishment of debt limits, including limits for cities and towns: and the location of the state university and the relocation of the State Capital.

The Constitutional Convention of 1857 adjourned March 5, 1857, after a session of thirty-nine days; on August 3, 1857, the Constitution of 1857 was ratified by a majority of 1,630 votes: and on September 3, 1857, Governor Grimes declared the "New Constitution" to be "the supreme law of the State of Iowa."

We are assembled here today to commemorate the One Hundredth Anniversary of the framing and ratification of the Constitution of 1857. It is appropriate that we should pause in the midst of a legislative session to reflect on the fundamental law of the state, as expressed in the Constitution of 1857.

A written Constitution, such as that which the pioneer lawmakers set down a century ago, is necessarily an expression of the ideals and political philosophy of the men who wrote the Constitution. While the basic concepts of government and individual freedom have remained unchanged, the social and economic environment in which government exists does change. Constitutions, to be an effective fundamental instrument, must be living documents rather than rigid, inflexible rules which are not adaptable to current conditions. The framers of the Constitution of 1857 wisely provided for a procedure for amending the Constitution. In accordance with this procedure, set forth in Article X, twenty-one amendments have been made to the Constitution of 1857, the most recent in 1952.

Thus, we pause to take recognition of the wisdom and foresight of the men who wrote the Constitution of 1857, and to later generations of law makers and citizens who have modified the original document by amendment, it behooves all of us to bear in mind the fundamental principles of individual liberty set forth in the Constitution of the State of Iowa. It is well, also, to bear in mind that Constitutions are living documents; to provide an effective framework for government the Constitution must merit the loyal support of the people. In order to justify such support the Constitution must be given new content and new interpretations to meet the changing conditions and needs of our society. The recognition of this fundamental principle is nowhere better expressed than in the Constitution of 1857. I quote Article I, Section 2, Bill of Rights:

"All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right, at all times, to alter or reform the same, whenever the public good may require it."

B U I L D E R S O F T H E C O N S T I T U T I O N

GOVERNOR LOVELESS, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR NICHOLAS, CHIEF JUSTICE BLISS, JUDGE GRAVEN, SPEAKER MOOTY, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY AND GUESTS:

We are gathered together this morning to pay homage to a small group of men and a document which they drew up—a document that has served as our Constitution for a hundred years. The Constitutional Convention of 1857 met during one of the most crucial periods in American history. The Abolitionist Crusade, the campaign for Women's Rights, the Temperance movement, the agitation for Homestead legislation, the debate over squatter sovereignty, the persistent efforts to secure Federal aid for internal improvements, these are but a few of the many issues that plagued Americans as they sought to solve the vexing social, economic, and political problems that confronted them.

Iowa was admitted into the Union in 1846 and had been living under its first Constitution only eleven years. It, too, was undergoing tremendous social, economic, and political changes as thousands of immigrants streamed across the Mississippi and fanned out over the lush prairie land with its rich black soil that was theirs for the choosing. For Iowa was the focal point of American immigration during the mid-fifties, the population increasing from 324,401 in 1854 to 517,875 in 1856, a gain of 193,619. Sixteen counties still were unrecorded in the Iowa census of 1856 while Audubon, Carroll, Crawford, Calhoun, Sac, Humboldt, Kossuth, Wright, Franklin, Cerro Gordo, Floyd, Mitchell, and Grundy first appeared in the census that year.

Although most of these Iowa immigrants were busily engaged in choosing a farm in their new-found land of Canaan, the every day problems of building a home, breaking the soil, and planting a crop did not prevent them from entering lustily into the debate on State and National issues. The passage of the Kansas-Nebraska Act and the Lecompton Constitution naturally precipitated bitter editorial debate in the Hawkeye State. However, the bone of contention at home on which they constantly gnawed was the Constitution of 1846. As a matter of fact, the Constitution of 1846 had scarcely been ratified before agitation for revision and amendment of that document commenced. It should be pointed out that the adoption of the Constitution of 1846 had not been unanimous; actually the vote was 9,492 for, and 9,036 against—a majority of only 456.

Although Iowans were anxious to be admitted into the Union in 1846 the Whig Party favored removing such objectionable features of the Constitution as the prohibition of banking, the limitation on state debt, an elective judiciary, the absence of provisions for county and township government, the omission of the office of Lieutenant Governor, and the method of amendment. It was also generally agreed that, with the Missouri River as the western boundary, the location of the capital must ultimately be moved to a more central location in the state. It was not until the election of a Whig governor (James W. Grimes) and a General Assembly favorably disposed to revision or amendment of the Constitution, that the stage was set for a Constitutional Convention.

In his first annual message to the General Assembly in December, 1854, Governor Grimes declared there was not a "single valid argument" against submitting the question of revision or amendment of the Constitution to the people at the next general election. The Fifth General Assembly agreed with this view and passed a bill providing for a referendum on the subject which Governor Grimes approved on January 24, 1855. In accordance with this act, an election was held in August, 1856, at which time 32,790 voted for and only 14,162 against a Constitutional Convention. This was the most overwhelming endorsement given either gubernatorial candidate and clearly indicated that many Democrats shared with their Whig opponents a dissatisfaction over the Constitution of 1846.

In his proclamation dated September 10, 1856, Governor Grimes ordered that an election be held the following November for the purpose of choosing delegates to a Constitutional convention. The law designated that these delegates should correspond to the number of Senators in the General Assembly and specified that they must possess the qualifications of Senators. Thirty-six delegates were therefore elected from the thirty-four districts, several of which were of giant proportions.

Pottawattamie County stood at the apex of an inverted triangle embracing 23 counties which included Lyon on the northwest and Emmet in the northeast. Sheldon G. Winchester of Eldora in Hardin County represented a 12-county Senatorial District which extended from Fayette on the east to Webster and Greene on the west. John T. Clark of Waukon in Allamakee County represented another 12-county Senatorial District stretching from Allamakee to Kossuth. H. D. Solomon of Glenwood represented the eight counties along the southern border of Iowa flanked by Mills and Fremont on the west and Union and Ringgold in the east. Virtually all of these delegates had to come to Iowa City by stagecoach, a good share of them traveling one hundred miles and more.

The delegates to the Constitutional Convention of 1857 were not in a happy frame of mind when they arrived in Iowa City. In the first place January of 1857 was bitter cold, nineteen days falling below zero, and the mean for the month being 6° above zero. Secondly, the delegates found housing in Iowa City at a premium; the population had increased from 3,094 to 6,316 between 1854 and 1856, creating an acute housing shortage. Thirdly, the Sixth General Assembly was in session, occupying both the Senate and House Chambers of the Capitol building as well as the choice hotel rooms and living quarters. Fourthly, the situation was not helped by the presence of nine faculty members and 124 students (41 of whom were females) who made up the newly opened University which, incidentally, was destined to close the next year for lack of funds.

After one night in cold and crowded Iowa City, and a day cooped up in the Supreme Court room, tempers flared and several delegates proposed that the Convention accept invitations to meet either in Davenport or Dubuque where better quarters were assured. According to Mr. Ells: "The advantages of going to Davenport are, that it will cost us nothing to get there, and when we get there we will be able to obtain good accommodations at fair prices. Here we have not. Half of the members of the Convention have to sleep three in a bed, and two on a bunk, in consequence of the want of good accommodations here. It is to avoid that that we should go to Davenport."

Jonathan C. Hall of Burlington also favored Davenport or Dubuque. According to Hall:

"It is proverbial that in state capitals persons receive harder treatment and less accommodations than at any other place. Now we have the power to avoid all this and we should exercise it. Let us show that we have at least the instincts of the lower animals, to flee from danger and hard treatment. By going to Davenport or Dubuque we will be conferring a compliment upon the people there. And a Constitution made there will be as good as one made here, provided it is ratified by the people."

After further discussion it was finally determined to remain in Iowa City, largely because the delegates were assured the General Assembly would adjourn shortly, leaving ample accommodations for the Constitutional Convention.

The delegates then settled down to the business of constitution building, drawing up an entirely new Constitution that has been amended successfully only sixteen times. Their phenomenal success does not mean the framers of the Constitution of 1857 were an especially brilliant group of men. Neither were the framers of the Constitution of the United States if we accept the word of a contemporary who said: "twenty assemblies of equal number might be collected equally respectable both in point of ability, integrity, and patriotism." The same might be applicable to the Iowa Convention of 1857, since they were drawn from the ranks of the people and few of them had attained prominence outside their own counties.

Let us consider briefly the thirty-six delegates who made up the Constitutional Convention of 1857. Politically, twenty-one were Republicans and fifteen Democrats, which is in sharp contrast to the Convention of 1844 and 1846, which were dominated by Democrats. By 1857, however, some of these Democrats had changed their minds, including Jonathan C. Hall of Burlington, who would not take an oath to support the Constitution of 1846. The fiery Burlingtonian declared:

"I understand that we come here for the very purpose of altering and violating the Constitution of the State of Iowa, and I do not, therefore, feel that I can take the oath to support that Constitution. I want to alter it, break it down, tear it to pieces, and build it up again. I am willing to take the oath to support the Constitution of the United States. That I think is a very important oath these times; but I want to be above the Constitution of Iowa in this Convention."

The birthplace of the delegates is also interesting. Six came from New England, eleven from the Middle States, ten were natives of slave states, and nine hailed from the Middle West. In contrast, the earlier conventions were composed of more Southerners.

In regard to occupation, fourteen were lawyers, eleven farmers, one a farmer and engineer, one a mail contractor, two were real estate dealers, one a druggist and bookseller, one a bookseller, and two were bankers. In contrast, farmers dominated the Constitutional Conventions of 1844 and 1846.

The average age of the delegates in 1857 was forty years—the oldest member being fifty-six and the youngest twenty-six. It is worth noting that age apparently played no part in the political affiliation of the convention: four of the seven youngest were Democrats and four of the seven oldest belonged to the same party. Two had resided in Iowa only two years while one had been a resident for twenty-three years. The average age of residence was just short of eleven years.

The delegates had relatively little legislative experience. Only four of the thirty-six members had participated in the territorial government. Edward Johnstone of Fort Madison had served in the territorial House of Representatives during its second session, had been a member of the Council during its third and fourth sessions, and had acted as District Attorney in 1845 and 1846. William Patterson of Keokuk had been a member of the First, Second, Fourth, and Eighth sessions of the territorial House, and of the Fifth and Sixth Councils. Francis Springer of Louisa County had attended the Third, Fourth, Fifth, and Sixth Councils, while David Bunker of Washington County had been a member of the Fifth territorial House of Representatives.

The experience of the members in state government was equally limited; only five had participated in state government. David Bunker had served the lower House of the Third and Fourth General Assembly; M. W. Robinson of Burlington and John A. Parvin of Muscatine attended the third session of the House; Amos Harris of Centerville had been a Senator in the Fourth Assembly; and Francis Springer had served in the Senate of the First and Second General Assemblies.

Jonathan C. Hall of Des Moines County had been a Judge of the State Supreme Court in 1854 and 1855. He was the only member of the Convention of 1857 who had previous experience in framing a constitution, having taken a prominent role as a member of the Convention of 1844. John Edwards of Lucas County had served in the Indiana legislature from 1845 to 1849, but had held no office in Iowa. William Penn Clarke of Iowa City was at the time Reporter of the Supreme Court.

These ten men were the only ones who had held offices outside of their counties prior to 1857. Those serving in the General Assembly after 1857 included Squire Ayers, John Edwards, Aylett R. Cotton, Hiram D. Gibson, Jonathan C. Hall, M. W. Robinson, John A. Parvin, Thomas Seeley, James F. Wilson, and James A. Young. Francis Springer served as District Judge from 1858 to 1859. Only two members went to Congress: James F. Wilson served as Representative from 1861 to 1869 and as United States Senator from 1883 to 1895. Aylett R. Cotton served in the House from 1871 to 1875.

These constitution builders, who concluded their labors on March 5, 1857, did not revise or amend the Constitution of 1846. They drafted a completely new one!

They made several changes in the Bill of Rights, including granting the 275 Negroes in Iowa the right to testify, but not to vote, or attend the same school as a white child.

They changed the date of meeting of the General Assembly from the first Monday in December to the second Monday in January.

They created the office of Lieutenant Governor.

They provided that the Senate should be composed of not more than fifty members and the House of not more than one hundred members.

They provided that the Supreme Court should be elected by the people.

They raised the limit of state indebtedness from $100,000 to $250,000.

They removed the restrictions on corporations, placing the final disposition of the vexing banking problem in the hands of the General Assembly and the people.

They provided for a Board of Education and for a more flexible method of amendment.

Finally, they located the capital at Des Moines and the State University of Iowa at Iowa City.

In the discussion that preceded the vote for adoption by the people, the Democrats opposed the Constitution of 1857, declaring that the Constitution of 1846 was good enough. They opposed the section dealing with banks and corporations, the permission to increase state indebtedness, the creation of a State Board of Education, and the provision allowing a Negro to testify against a white man.

Apparently the arguments of the Democrats fell on fertile ground for at the election on August 3, 1857, the new Constitution was adopted by a narrow margin of 40,311 for the Constitution to 38,681 against it. These figures stand in sharp contrast to the vote of 32,790 for, to 14,162 against calling the Constitutional Convention of 1857.

Although there obviously was wide disagreement regarding the various features of the Constitution the best argument in its favor today is the fact that only sixteen amendments have been successfully added in the century that has elapsed since its adoption. Few states can point to a constitution that has served their people so long and so well without partial or complete revision. The Constitution of 1857 stands as a monument to its capable and courageous framers.

Senator Elijah presented to the joint convention the Honorable William L. Bliss, Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa, who offered the following remarks:

GOVERNOR LOVELESS, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR NICHOLAS, SPEAKER MOOTY, JUDGE GRAVEN, WILLIAM J. PETERSEN, SENATOR ELIJAH AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I am deeply grateful to the members of the Legislature for the high honor of participating in this commemoration of the centennial anniversary of the Constitution of Iowa which was formulated in the early months of 1857 and adopted by the voters in August of that year.

Judge Graven will tell you of some of the provisions of the Constitution of 1857 and of matters that were discussed in the convention and I will endeavor to avoid trespassing upon any of those subjects, and will confine my remarks to some historical events. Judge Graven and I were in the practice of the law for many years in the 12th Judicial District of Iowa before we became judges and I was in his Court on occasions when he was on the bench in that district. Later he was elevated to the United States District Court. And I have thought recently when the President was seeking for a judge to fill a vacancy on the Supreme Court of the United States he could not have chosen a finer man or a better lawyer, or an abler Judge than Henry N. Graven.

The word "constitution" may be defined as a body of fundamental laws or principles for the government of a nation, a state, or other association of individuals and may be written or unwritten. From the viewpoint of philosophy it is the sum of the ultimate principles of government by which the rights of those living in a social state are determined and guaranteed.

In jurisprudence the Constitution is the code of fundamental law in accord with which the government is instituted and administered.

Our Constitutions, national and state, are the Civil Bibles of their respective political organizations and those living within their jurisdictions. As said by Gibbon in his "Decline and Fall of the Roman Empire", "civil governments in their first institution are voluntary associations for mutual defense, and to obtain their desired end it is essential that each individual shall conceive himself obliged to submit his private views and actions to the judgment of the majority of his associates."

It was Thomas Jefferson who said, "Let no more be heard of confidence in man, but bind him down by the chains of the Constitution."

And Blackstone stated that it was undeniable that a competent knowledge of the basic laws embodied in every political constitution is the proper accomplishment of every individual within its jurisdiction.

As a territory and as a state, Iowa has had three Constitutions. The territory of Iowa while a part of Wisconsin Territory, and after its separation from it, was growing rapidly in population, and its people soon began to look for greater things. Their ambition was to take on the dignity and importance of statehood. To further this laudable ambition the territorial legislature passed an act which was approved February 12, 1844, and amended the following June 19th, providing for the submission to the people the question of forming a state constitution, and providing for the election of delegates to a convention to be convened for that purpose. The delegates were chosen on partisan grounds and the Democrats won by a large majority over the Whigs, in the election held in August, 1844. Sixty-three of the seventy-three delegates chosen, met in convention on October 7, 1844 in the Old Stone Capitol at Iowa City. The convention completed its work on the first day of November, following, and adopted the first Iowa Constitution. But because of the boundary lines of the State as prescribed by Congress the constitution was rejected at an election held August 4, 1845, by a vote of 7,656 to 7,235.

On May 4, 1846, a second convention met in the Old Stone Capitol at Iowa City and on the 18th of that month, another constitution, prescribing the boundaries as they now are, was adopted, and ratified by the voters on August 3, 1846, by a vote of 9,492 to 9,036.

The new constitution was approved by Congress, and Iowa was admitted as a sovereign state in the Union, December 28, 1846. At this time according to the 1847 census, Iowa had a population of 116,651.

In the Constitutional Convention of 1846, in which the Democrats largely predominated, the instrument which was adopted left important matters unsettled. All banks of issue were prohibited within the state, and the state was prohibited from becoming a stockholder in any corporation for pecuniary profit, and the General Assembly could provide for private corporations only by general statute. The Constitution also limited the state's indebtedness to one hundred thousand dollars.

The question of the permanent seat of the State government was a matter of considerable controversy. Bills for its removal to Fort Des Moines were defeated in 1851 and in 1853. But on January 15, 1855, a bill relocating the capital of the State, within two miles of the Raccoon Fork of the Des Moines River, and for the appointment of commissioners was approved by Governor Grimes. The site was selected in 1856 on land donated by private citizens.

Iowa was the "first free child born of the Missouri Compromise". In 1856 the Republican Party of Iowa was organized in full sympathy with that of the other free states.

At the time of the adoption of the 1846 Constitution, and in the years immediately following much dissatisfaction had been voiced because of its failure to provide for sound banking and finance problems. Iowa was flooded with depreciated paper currency from other states. But little gold and silver money was in circulation. One of the very pressing demands for another constitutional convention grew out of the prohibition of banks under the Constitution of 1846, which exposed the State to every specie of "wildcat" currency.

An Act providing for the revision or amendment to the Constitution was passed by the Fifth General Assembly, and was approved January 24, 1855 by Governor Grimes. This bill was ratified at a general election in August 1856 by a majority of 18,628 votes in favor of a Constitutional Convention.

The thirty-six delegates chosen at the election in November, 1856 met in the Supreme Court chambers of the Old Stone Capitol in Iowa City on January 19, 1857 and adjourned on the fifth day of March following. The nativity of the thirty-six members follows: Ohio and New York each seven, Virginia and Kentucky each four, Connecticut and Pennsylvania each three, Indiana and Maine each two and Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey, and Tennessee each one. They were men of various occupations. Lawyers predominated. There were fourteen of them, twelve farmers, two real estate dealers, two bankers, two merchants, two booksellers, one mail contractor, and one pork-packer.

The youngest member was twenty-six years old, the oldest was fifty-six, while the average age was forty years. Twenty-one were Republicans. Fifteen were members of the Democratic Party.

As the delegates assembled there was some complaint about the lack of accommodations in Iowa City, and the removal of the convention to Dubuque or Davenport was discussed, but Mother Nature was apparently on the side of Iowa City, and because of some disagreeable weather and transportation difficulties, the delegates decided to hold the convention in Iowa City.

The membership of the Convention consisted largely of comparatively young men but many of them had had previous experience in public life and were fitted to perform the duties incumbent upon them. They were a representative group of men and attacked the problems before them with vigor and sound judgment.

The farmer delegates in the convention were rugged types of those men who settled upon the land and built into the early history of the State its elements of enduring strength.

Francis Springer, an able lawyer and farmer from Louisa County was chosen as the presiding officer of the Convention.

Notable among these men were the following: James F. Wilson, who rose from a saddler's bench to be United States Senator. Nature had endowed him with splendid gifts of earnestness and moral power, crowned with remarkable intellectual gifts. He was elected to the House in the Iowa General Assembly in 1857 and to the Senate in 1860. In 1861 he was elected to Congress from the 1st District and served three successive terms. For six years he was Chairman of the Judiciary Committee. He introduced a joint resolution in March 1864 for the abolishment of slavery and made a powerful speech in support. He was one of those in the Thirty-ninth Congress in charge of the impeachment of President Andrew Johnson. He declined a cabinet appointment by President Grant.

William Penn Clarke was a distinguished lawyer of much ability. He was one of the early Reporters of the Supreme Court of Iowa. He was a delegate to the Republican National Convention of 1860 which nominated Lincoln. He moved from Iowa to Washington, D. C. where he devoted himself largely to practice before the United States Supreme Court. He died in 1903 at the age of 86.

Jonathan C. Hall came to Burlington in 1839. He was a member of the 1844 Constitutional Convention. In 1854 he was appointed Justice of the Supreme Court of Iowa. He was active in compiling one of the early Codes of Iowa, the Revision of 1860. Judge Charles Mason, a pioneer Justice of the Iowa Supreme Court, said of Hall, "He was one of the ablest practicing lawyers I have ever known." He was the author of the provision authorizing the public school system of Iowa. Hall was the only delegate who had served in either of the preceding Conventions having represented Henry County in 1844.

Edward Johnstone when 22 years old came to Iowa in 1837. He was a most majestic looking man—6½ feet in height—a lawyer of ability and it was said of him that "No man in Iowa had more to do with the making and shaping of the commonwealth than he. He had a hand in making both the statutes and the Constitution."

R. L. B. Clark was also a delegate to the convention that nominated Lincoln. He was a college graduate and a well read lawyer. Professor H. I. Herriott of Drake University, when I was a student there, said of Clark: "In the Constitutional Convention of 1857, the irrepressible champion to strike "white" from the supreme law of Iowa, and to grant the electoral franchise to negroes was a doughty New Englander, R. L. B. Clark of Mount Pleasant."

Without further detail about the able men of the 1857 Convention, I mention H. D. Solomon of Glenwood, Col. George Gillaspay of Marion County, Amos Harris of Centerville, Lewis Todhunter who began practicing law at Indianola in 1852, John C. Parvin, member of the State Senate in 1866, drew the bill for the State Reform School, John T. Clark of Waukon, Harvey J. Skiff, early lawyer of Newton, a graduate of Amherst College, Daniel W. Price, came to Council Bluffs in 1854 and as a member of the 1857 Convention he represented much of western Iowa, Aylett R. Cotton of Clinton County, a member of the General Assembly of Iowa, and elected to Congress in 1870 and 1872.

In 1898 there were but nine members of the 1857 Convention living. All of them were deceased in 1916.

That the Constitutional Convention did its work well is evidenced by the fact that in the one hundred years following it has been amended but a relatively few times, considering the great changes which have taken place.

In those hundred years, including the proceedings today the 1857

Constitutional Convention has been on three occasions the subject of a celebration. In 1882 after 25 years the surviving members met in Des Moines. Francis Springer, then an old man, presided at the meeting. Out of the original 36 members, only 20 responded to the roll call. Eight others were alive but unable to attend; the remainder had given way to the inevitable reaper.

In 1907 occurred the second celebration. It was held under the auspices of the State Historical Society of Iowa. This time it was not a reunion of the members as but one survivor came. It was rather a commemoration of the fiftieth birthday of the State Constitution. The celebration was marked by a unique feature. There were present and participated in the program three aged pioneers of the state, a survivor of each of the three Constitutional Conventions. On the opening day of the 1907 celebration J. Scott Richman, of Muscatine, the oldest practitioner at the Iowa Bar appeared upon the scene. Sixty-one years previously he had come to Iowa City as a delegate to the Convention of 1846 at Iowa City. Eighty-eight years old, with a patriarchal beard and slow step he came as the only living representative of the convention that had framed the Constitution under which Iowa entered the Union. On Thursday, there came from Marion, Samuel Durham, a tall pioneer of ninety years, the sole survivor of Iowa's first Constitutional Convention in 1844. His memory went back to the days of Iowa's first Governor, Robert Lucas, for he had reached Iowa from Indiana in 1840. On the last day of the program, these two old constitution makers, of 1844 and 1846, were joined by John H. Peters, who had come from Delaware County, as a member of the last constitutional convention of fifty years before. They sat down together at the luncheon on Friday noon and responded to toasts with words that took those present back to the days when Iowa was the last stopping place of the immigrant.

Today on this centennial anniversary of the Constitutional Convention of 1857 we are commemorating the document which was the accomplishment of its members, and honoring their most worthy services. When one speaks of the characteristics of the men and women, and relates the incidents of their pioneering, he has given to the world matters that are of the most value in relation to the people of Iowa, and preserved for future generations the records of those who have contributed to and made the history of Iowa what it is. The task of the historian is to make known to later generations how this history became possible, and to acquaint them with the men and women who were the chief contributors thereto. The canvas-covered prairie schooner was the only means of transporting the family and the few articles of household goods they possessed. With little to begin the new life except stout hearts and willing hands, these builders of a new country set up their habitations on the virgin prairie, and soon the smoke might be seen curling heavenward from a log cabin, hastily built by the father and husband of the family, within which the patient, courageous wife and wondering children would gather and give thanks to the Giver of every good and perfect gift for the blessings of a home.

In concluding it is most appropriate to call attention to and do honor to another worthy Iowa institution, the State Historical Society, which has this year reached the 100th anniversary of its inception. This Society was provided for by an Act of the General Assembly of Iowa on January 25, 1857. While the constitutional convention was drafting the fundamental law of the state in a room on the lower floor of the Old Stone Capitol in Iowa City, the Sixth General Assembly in the legislative halls upstairs in the same building passed an act providing for the organization of the State Historical Society, which has performed, and continues to do, a most commendable service, in making permanent the historical records of our great state.

Senator Elijah introduced the Honorable Henry N. Graven, the United States District Judge for Northern District of Iowa, who offered the following remarks:

"THE CONSTITUTION OF 1857 IN RETROSPECT"

GOVERNOR LOVELESS, CHIEF JUSTICE BLISS, LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR NICHOLAS, SPEAKER MOOTY, AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

I wish to express my appreciation to the members of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly for the privilege of appearing on this program taking note of the 100th Anniversary of the Constitution of 1857. That Constitution was formulated by a Constitutional Convention which met in the Old Stone Capitol at Iowa City from January 19 to March 5, 1857. One hundred years ago last week that Convention completed its work. The Constitution formulated by it was adopted at an election held in August, 1857. That Constitution with amendments constitutes the present Constitution of Iowa.

The Constitution of the United States and the Constitutions of the forty-eight states have many facets. They reflect the ideals, hopes, objectives, and attitudes of those who had to do with their formulation and adoption. They reflect past experience and they reflect political faith. They reflect the then existing problems and differences of opinions as to the solutions of those problems and compromises made because of such differences. They also reflect fears and distrusts.

It is clear that those who formulated the Constitution of 1857 recognized the Divine background of government. In the preamble it is stated: "We, the People of the State of Iowa, grateful to the Supreme Being for the blessings hitherto enjoyed, and feeling our dependence on Him for a continuation of those blessings, do ordain and establish a free and independent government . . ."

An American soldier who was in one of the first units to reach the infamous camps of Dachau and Buechenwold made this statement: "It is horrible to see what happens when those in authority get lost from their God."

In the rotunda of this State House appear the following significant words: "Justice is the idea of God, the ideal of man."

The Iowa Constitution clearly and succinctly states the fundamental political faith upon which it is based. In Article I, Section 1, it is stated: "All men are, by nature, free and equal, and have certain inalienable rights . . ." . . . In Article I, Section 2, it is stated: "All political power is inherent in the people. Government is instituted for the protection, security, and benefit of the people, and they have the right, at all times, to alter or reform the same whenever the public good may require it."

There were some features of the Constitution of 1857 which were new. There were some features which were unique. Yet, that Constitution had its roots deep in the past. It cannot be said that that Constitution was created by the members of the Constitutional Convention that met at Iowa City. Many of its provisions were adopted from the Constitution of the United States and the Constitutions of other states. Those provisions in many instances were the result of experiences in Colonial and English government. If one of the knights who wrested the Magna Carta from King John of Runnymede were to read our Iowa Constitution he would find words and terms which would be familiar to him.

Those who formulated our Iowa Constitution did not cut themselves off from the past. We cannot and should not cut ourselves off from the past. However, that does not mean that we should be imprisoned by the past. By the same token, although we need to plan for the future, attempts on our part to imprison the future will eventually be frustrated.

Many of the problems that confronted the people of Iowa in 1857 are now of only academic interest. For instance, Article I, Section 5, disqualifies for public office anyone who engages in a duel. Section 24 of Article I contains what has been frequently referred to as the mystery provision of the Iowa Constitution. It provides: "No lease or grant of agricultural lands, reserving any rent, or service of any kind, shall be valid for a longer period than twenty years." Over the years inquiry had been made from time to time as to the purpose of that provision, but no one seemed to be able to answer the inquiry. In 1954 the Iowa Law Review (39 Iowa Law Review 486) furnished the answer. The provision was copied from the New York Constitution. The provision in that Constitution was occasioned because of rent difficulties growing out of the feudal-like tenure under which a large number of tenants held land under one Van Rensselaer, one of the so-called Patroons.

In connection with its admission to the Union, Iowa had adopted the Constitution of 1846. It was no sooner adopted than a demand arose for its revision. That demand was especially stimulated by a particular problem. In that excellent book by Benjamin F. Shambaugh, The Constitutions of Iowa, the author states (p. 216): "The necessity for a Convention to revise the Constitution of 1846 had indeed become imperative. Iowa was flooded with depreciated paper currency from other States. Gold and silver money was scarce. The few pieces which found their way into the State were hoarded either to pay taxes or to buy public land."

In connection with the formulating and adopting of the Constitution of 1857 one of the most hotly debated questions related to the matter of provisions as to banks. That subject is not now of pressing current interest. However, the same statement cannot be made as to other subjects which were also the subject of debate in connection with the formulation and adoption of that Constitution. The subject of school laws was then of pressing current interest. During the 100 years that have elapsed since 1857 that subject has continued to be one of keen interest. There are some indications that the subject of school laws is not without interest to the members of this General Assembly.

The matter of incurring indebtedness by the state and by public bodies was of keen interest to those who formulated and adopted the Constitution of 1857. The decades preceding 1857 had been notable for the abandon with which many states and public bodies had incurred indebtedness. The limitations contained in the Constitution of 1857 on the incurring of indebtedness by the state and public bodies reflect the fear and concern that was felt.

The Constitution of 1857 reflects a number of other fears. It reflects the fear of a non-elected judiciary. That fear had its origin in the arbitrariness of certain non-elected judges—mostly federal judges. It is my view and my sincere hope that arbitrariness of federal judges is a thing of the past—at least it should be.

The Constitution of 1857 reflects the fear of long terms for those charged with the execution of the laws. The Constitution of 1846 provided for a four-year term for the Governor. In the Constitution of 1857 that term was reduced to two years.

It has been said that one of the common features of state Constitutions is the fear they manifest of legislative assemblies. It has been said that some state Constitutions attempted to build a horse-high, hog-tight fence around the legislative assemblies created by them. Some of the state Constitutions contain a multitude of detailed provisions limiting legislative action. It is my observation that while the Constitution of 1857 does cover some matters which might more properly have been left to legislative discretion, on the whole it reflects less fear of the legislative assembly than do the Constitutions of most states. In this regard one development is of interest. In 1857 the greatest limitation on state legislative action was the state Constitution itself. In 1957 the greatest limitation on state legislative action is the Fourteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

The Constitution of 1857 reflected the prevailing attitude in regard to the participation of women in the affairs of government. As adopted, membership in the General Assembly was limited to "male" citizens. It was not until 1926 that it was amended to permit women to become members of the General Assembly. Interestingly, Article II, Section 1, of the Constitution relating to the right of suffrage still provides that suffrage is limited to male citizens. However, that limitation was rendered nugatory by the Nineteenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

One of the subjects which was of keen interest in 1857 was the matter of slavery and the rights of Negroes. Section 23 of Article I prohibited slavery. It is interesting to note that the members of the Constitutional Convention debated the question of separate schools for Negroes. As finally formulated, the establishing of separate schools was left to the discretion of the General Assembly. Fortunately, no separate schools were ever established. The Constitution of 1857, as adopted, contained only one discrimination against Negroes. It limited suffrage to "free white" citizens. In 1880 an amendment was adopted which removed that discrimination.

There are several matters of interest in connection with the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of 1857. While the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of the United States consists of ten sections, the Bill of Rights in the Constitution of 1857 consists of twenty-five sections. The Iowa Constitution is unique among the present state constitutions in that it contains no privilege against self-incrimination. However, the Iowa Supreme Court has held that the privilege against self-incrimination comes within the scope of the "due process" provision contained in Section 9 of the Bill of Rights. The importance attached to the Bill of Rights by those who formulated it is indicated by the fact that it appears immediately following the Preamble.

The Bill of Rights in the Constitution of 1857 is noteworthy and outstanding in the protection given to the individual. It is a sorrowful commentary that today in many countries of the world the advocating of the rights contained in our Constitution could result in imprisonment or death.

Some of the problems that have confronted the people of a particular period were permanently settled by them. Other problems continue to rise again and again. At times, problems have been dealt with by compromise. Whereas issues may be compromised, principles cannot. An outstanding example of this were the attempts to compromise the slavery question. Therein we see the truth of the quotation which appears in the rotunda of this State House: "Nothing is politically right which is morally wrong."

At times after it seemed that the battle for certain principles was finally won, it later develops that the same battle has to be fought all over again. But a few decades ago it seemed as though the battle for the principles of democracy as exemplified by the Constitution of 1857 was being won on an international scale. It appeared that the forces of totalitarianism were fighting a rear guard and delaying action only. As we look out over the world today we see that the forces of totalitarianism are in control of the greater part of the globe and of the overwhelming number of its peoples. Those who are in control of such forces attempt to make the peoples of the world believe that the forces of democracy are fighting a rear guard and delaying action. This we refuse to believe.

From the over-all point of view, the Constitution of 1857 represents the political faith of "government of the people, by the people, and for the people." That Constitution emphatically rejects the dialectical materialism upon which totalitarian governments are based—one of the tenets of which is that man is a creature of the state.

It is not given to us to know who might assemble in the year 2057 to commemorate the 200th Anniversary of the Constitution of 1857. It is hoped that at that time it can be said of us, as we can say of those in 1857, "They kept the faith." It is also hoped that they, as we, can proclaim "government of the people, by the people, and for the people" has not perished from this earth.

The benediction was offered by the Reverend F. Gerald Ensley, Bishop of the Methodist Church of the Des Moines Area.

The committee previously appointed came forward and escorted Governor Loveless and party from the House chamber.

The minutes of the joint convention were approved.

Senator Butler of Pocahontas moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The motion prevailed.

PRESENTATION OF VISITORS

Swisher of Johnson presented to the House the executive officers of the Johnson County Farm Bureau.

Freed of Webster offered the following concurrent resolution, by him and Owen of Appanoose.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 13

By Freed and Owen

Whereas, the United States of America has become the greatest power in the history of mankind because it is a united nation of equal and sovereign states and not an empire; and

Whereas, the people of the United States devised a method and program of incorporating territories, which method, as a first step leading to the full privileges of statehood, imposes on the people of such territories the obligations of the citizens of the several states, while withholding from such territorial citizens, however, the basic rights of self-government and full representation in the councils of the United States; and

Whereas, Alaska and Hawaii have been incorporated as territories of the United States for many years, and by the very act of such incorporation as United States territories have been promised the full privileges of statehood with first-class citizenship for the peoples of Alaska and Hawaii; and

Whereas, both political parties have recognized that every consideration of fairness demands that the people of these territories be given full privileges of American citizenship in their platforms and other policy declarations; and

Whereas, the granting of statehood to these territories will strengthen the United States immeasurably in human resources and in its foreign relations; and

Whereas, the people of the United States have a particular interest in and close ties with the people of Alaska and Hawaii;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that Alaska and Hawaii be admitted to the Union in this year 1957, and

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to every senator and congressman and that each of them be requested to make every effort to see that bills to grant statehood to Alaska and Hawaii be promptly considered and passed.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Nelson of Winnebago moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Nicholas presiding.

President Nicholas announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

President Nicholas extended his personal welcome to the Pioneer Lawmakers and offered the following remarks:

MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONVENTION, MEMBERS OF THE PIONEER LAWMAKERS ASSOCIATION, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

It is with great pleasure as a presiding officer of this joint convention to assist in the welcoming of the former Lawmakers of Iowa, who together with the present lawmakers have established in Iowa a state and local system of government which, in the very nature of things, has its faults, but which I would not exchange for that of any state of the Union. Iowa has good government, and the laws we pass help to keep it so.

We have set up a judiciary under which the protection of our laws is guaranteed to all, and whose integrity has never been questioned, we have established protection for our poor, our widows and our orphans. We have safe working conditions for the employees in our industries; we have shown due regard for our problems of sanitation and public health.

It is through the efforts of the Pioneer Lawmakers of this state that we have established a system of government which was formed on a sound foundation, and it is you here today that I can congratulate upon being a part of this great establishment for a great state.

It is nice that you could come to renew acquaintances with old friends and new. I am happy to welcome you and it is a pleasure to introduce the former Senator who will have charge of this meeting from now on.

It is my great pleasure to present to you the Honorable De Vere Watson, who is going to substitute for Senator Arch W. McFarlane on this occasion today.

The Honorable De Vere Watson, former Senator from Pottwatamie, presented to the joint convention, Senator George E. O'Malley of Polk, who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the Senate and offered the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, PIONEER LAWMAKERS, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT SESSION, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

This is an honor to have the opportunity to welcome the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa on this occasion.

We, of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, are happy to see you back to view our legislative endeavors and again breathe in the atmosphere of Iowa's most exclusive society—the General Assembly.

I am likewise happy that the now famous quote, "Old soldiers never die, they just fade away", does not apply to your honored group, as evidenced by your substantial numbers here today.

As you well know, several members of the Pioneer Lawmakers are still carrying on and are active in the making of laws of our state. I assure you it has been enjoyable to work with Honorable Frank C. Byers, Senator from Linn; Honorable Arch W. McFarlane, Senator from Black Hawk; Honorable J. T. Dykhouse, Senator from Lyon; Honorable George L. Scott, Senator from Fayette; Honorable Dewey E. Goode, Representative from Davis; Honorable A. C. Hanson, Representative from Lyon; Honorable W. J. Johannes, Representative from Osceola, and Honorable Stanley Watts, Representative from Clarke, present Assembly members that you have on your membership.

You Pioneer Lawmakers in your time of service reflected the hopes and ideals of your constituents. The laws you passed met the needs of those days.

As our predecessors in molding Iowa's statutes, you set the pattern and led the way for generations to follow.

We hope that our current deliberations meet with your approval.

On behalf of the members of the Senate, it is a real pleasure to welcome you here today and sincerely hope that your meeting will be one of inspiration and that you will all enjoy yourselves by renewing acquaintances with the older members and friends and becoming acquainted with the new members who are carrying on in an effort to effectively solve the legislative problems of the day.

Senator Watson presented to the joint convention Representative Robert B. Carson of Buchanan who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the House and offered the following remarks:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT CONVENTION AND FRIENDS:

Today we pause in our ponderance of the many problems which are before us in this 1957 legislature. We pause and do honor to the lawmakers who have pondered many similar problems in legislative sessions which are now a part of the history of the Hawkeye state. On behalf of the members of the House of Representatives in the Fifty-seventh General Assembly I extend our most hearty and sincere welcome to you, the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa.

Through those perilous decades immediately after the founding of the territory, the pioneers of Iowa selected sound, intelligent, and God-fearing individuals to make their laws. The result has been a sound thinking, highly literate, and God-fearing people who have flourished on this rich land. These good people, and this good land, are the abundant resources which will furnish a solid normal growth in the years which lie ahead.

The lawmaker of today, like his predecessor, must constantly study the future needs of the citizen. He must examine and re-examine these needs and determine which ones should be provided by government. He must determine whether they come within the proper province of government, the priority to be given each of these needs, based on their urgency and the availability of public funds if the needs are material in nature. The lawmaker must further be governed by the fact that the state has nothing in its own right with which to provide for any need. The state can only provide what it must first levy from the citizen. May Divine Providence give us the wisdom and the strength, as you have had the wisdom and strength, to protect the solvency of the citizen while providing for his future needs at the same time.

We, the lawmakers of today, commend you, the lawmakers of yesterday, for the forthright and steadfast manner in which you came to grip with the problems which faced you in the Assemblies in which you served. We are delighted to have you return to these halls today. May God bless you every one.

Senator Watson then presented to the joint convention the Honorable Harold E. Davidson, president of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association, who addressed the joint convention as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-SEVENTH GENERAL ASSEMBLY, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I appear before you today to honor the members of this Assembly on behalf of those who served at least twenty years ago. The purpose is not only briefly to live again legislative problems of former years, but also to reassure you and each of you members not only of the importance of your task to the problems of this biennium but to the future development of our state in all the aspects of future good living.

At the outset, I should like to make a general observation about the function of law and law making.

Dean Roscoe Pound pointed out many years ago that law is social engineering. Neither common law rules nor statutes are ends in themselves. They are always means to the end of securing the best possible social adjustment of conflicting interests. It is the best interests of society which should constantly be uppermost in your minds in the promulgation of and the enactment of a statute. The law should be a means to eliminate or reduce social friction. It is inevitable that when a statute is enacted it is designed to meet the then current needs of the community caused by actual conditions.

It is a truism, that changes in community conditions come about more rapidly than changes in our laws. This is only natural and, certainly, no one can be criticized therefor.

However, in some cases the continued application of an old law in a community which has undergone extensive economic, industrial and social changes increases the very social friction which the law originally was designed to reduce or prevent.

Our fathers toiled in greater hardship than do we, and lived more frugally—far less indulgently. The ways of our age are swifter and more superficial. Many of our generation have recently waxed wealthy, inheriting real and personal property that in many instances quadrupled in value. All this seemed a happy exception to the toilsome course of ordinary life of the days gone by; but it has dangers and disquieting tendencies, illustrated by present trends and indulgences. This includes, among other things, greed, commercialism and inordinate lust for power and money, and all too often without regard as to the ethical and moral means of such acquisition. Consequently, regulatory statutes are necessary now that were not needed years ago. Regulation, of course, does not mean that government should be in competition with private business and not at all, except and only to the extent that neither the people nor private enterprise can supply such types of service. Regulation means the adoption of such rules as are reasonably necessary to prevent abuses or exploitation of the public or segments of it, by means of advantages acquired by natural or created situation.

CENTRALIZATION OF POWER

There is a strong trend to centralize power in the Federal Government in Washington. This centralized power, as a general rule, is inconsistent with individual liberty, individual responsibility and human freedom itself. This trend, if continued, will also reduce this state as well as the other forty-seven to mere satellites. The result will be the loss of state control of matters of local concern, the destruction of our dual system of government. Also, if this process is not checked, the time must certainly come when the sovereign states will be nothing more than mere municipal corporations with only such powers left them as the Federal Government may choose to allow.

The Tenth Amendment to the Constitution of the United States in substance provides that the powers not delegated to the United States by the Constitution, nor prohibited by it to the states, are reserved to the states respectively or to the people.

The state governments were, are and should continue to be governments whose sovereign powers are inherent and not delegated powers as is the Federal Government.

It is the opinion of many leading lawyers that this Tenth Amendment is being ignored and nullified by judicial decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in many of its decisions.

For an example: The vesting of power to regulate the insurance business by Congress, and the consequent loss of regulation by the states, if and when Congress should exercise such power, was effected by a decision in the case of United States vs. Southeastern Underwriters Association, 322 U. S. 533, decided in 1944. Fortunately for the states the good judgment of Congress came to the rescue and in March, 1955, passed the McCarran Act providing in part that the business of insurance and every person engaged therein shall be subject to the laws of the states. However, it must be apparent to you, and the fact remains, that under this decision the Congress still has the power to repeal this statute and the Federal Government take over at any time and eliminate state regulation.

In this connection, it is interesting as well as discouraging to note that there is now pending litigation in the Circuit Court of Appeals at Cincinnati, Ohio to judicially determine whether or not the Federal Trade Commission has the power to regulate the insurance business and this claim of the Federal Trade Commission is being made regardless of the 1955 Congressional enactment. How are we to curb this unconstitutional usurpation of the states' powers? This should be the concern of all of our citizens as well as legislators; but it is difficult properly to educate the rank and file of our citizens because it is being done a little at a time and each instance affects only a small segment of our people or, possibly, offers temporarily what appears to be benefits although in the long run disaster may result.

You are all familiar with the famous Nelson Case. Nelson was convicted for subversion under the laws of the State of Pennsylvania. The United States Supreme Court reversed this conviction on the theory that, by the passing of the Smith Act, Congress intended to preempt the field and only the Federal Courts could prosecute for subversion.

There is not the slightest doubt that Congress never intended the state laws to be thus nullified. The author, Congressman Smith, last year asked Congress to specially clarify its intention for the purpose of preventing the future nullification of such state laws.

You may ask why is he telling us these things. The answer is simply to inform any of you who may not be too familiar with these matters and to again remind those of you who are, the importance of not voluntarily permitting the Federal Government to preempt these or any other fields that are primarily and fundamentally the states' prerogative and Constitutional duty to exercise.

Again in this same connection we are just now fully realizing how thoroughly federalized our National Guard has become and have seen the Pentagon dictate a requirement for all National Guard personnel to have six months' intensive training in an Army camp. The National Guard was essentially a State Militia for use in maintaining law and order if and when violence should break out and probably more often needed where and when disaster strikes. This has been true except in time of war. The Cold War and the extensive preparedness for war emergencies will sometime pass but the Guard, through federal subsidy and gradually imposed controls, has become a federal rather than a state force and a part of the standing Army of the United States.

It must be readily apparent to all of us that if the Federal Government has the power to preempt any and all fields, the result could and eventually would be detrimental to our freedom and liberty. We may for the moment think we, as certain individuals or our various groups, could gain some temporary benefits or advantage by such preemption. However, it should be clear that once the sovereign powers of the states are lost they could never be regained. Also, we as citizens of this great and still sovereign state, to a large degree, can better know, and understand the needs and desires of our people for orderly government than Washington, D. C. Further, if there are inequities or wrongs to be righted, certainly the Legislature is more apprehensive of such conditions and needs than are people in far away states which may not have similar existing conditions.

There is now strong sentiment in some quarters in favor of Federal Aid to Education. In fact, many in high Federal Government positions are advocating appropriations for what is now said to be used only for the construction of a public school building program. Of course, it should be obvious to all of us that this is only the first step toward Federal control of our entire public school system. The next step will be to subsidize teaching salaries, perhaps only particularly in the beginning. Then comes the dictation of the textbooks to be used and who may or may not teach in our schools. We are then at the complete mercy of some school administrator or bureaucrat in Washington with whom we may, but probably would not, agree as to what is best for our state public school system.

If this situation should exist, the economic and financial dependence would make impossible the operation of our schools without such Federal subsidy. The Federal Government would necessarily exact from us more tax money than would be thus returned, plus all the costs occasioned thereby, which would be substantial. Certainly we can and should build our own schools.

We may not build them as elaborately; they may not conform to some National Architectural Plan; less red tape and less cost will certainly result, and in the long run our children will be able to receive as good an education, probably better than as, if and when what is taught and who may teach is dictated from Washington.

The future stability of our Federal Government depends on less federal spending, not more.

You all remember the old adage: "He who pays the piper calls the tune." This truth is as real as life itself.

It is not our purpose and it is definitely not intended to try to dictate to this Assembly any specific legislation, but rather to assure the members of this Assembly that the people of this great state realize the magnitude of your duties and trust you to engineer the best possible social adjustment for the future and for all the people of our state.

Having also had some experience in the judicial branch of government, it should be clear from what has been said that this branch should never, under any guise of expediency or otherwise, usurp your branch which is the legislative. The judicial approach must always strive to interpret legislative enactments to give force and application to the true intent of the legislature, except in the very rare instances where a statutory law is unconstitutional.

May I say to you distinguished legislators that I thoroughly believe that the judges of both the District Courts and the Supreme Court of this state adhere strictly to this most important principle of our system of free government of checks and balances. The written opinions of our state Supreme Court sustain this observation.

One of the Justices of the Supreme Court of the United States in an opinion written by him sometime ago said that "because the words of a statute are plain that their meaning is also plain is merely pernicious oversimplification." I leave this for your own appraisal.

Time will not permit here to discuss the far-fetched interpretation applied to the Interstate Commerce clause of the United States Constitution, but suffice for the present to say, that it is hard to imagine a business or enterprise that could be considered purely intrastate even though its product or service has never been and probably never will become interstate commerce or cross any state line. The interpretation generally is to the effect that there is such possibility and if not directly, by some indirect method. Such interpretation was never intended and amounts simply to usurpation of power. Your attention is invited to investigate some of the many Federal decisions on this subject and the effect it has on the several states and their government.

In conclusion, may I say I consider it a high honor to have had the privilege of appearing before you and if anything has been said to assist in stimulating your thinking, I shall feel most amply rewarded.

"Our Liberties We Prize And Our Rights We Will Maintain." This is our motto and is inscribed on our State Flag. If this motto is to survive until the next century, our dual system of government must also survive and ways must be found to educate and alert our people effectively to resist and prevent the Federal Government from preempting the powers and duties of state governments.

I know you will not shirk your responsibility as public servants but will help solve not only the problems of our state but those of ours and other states in their relation to the Federal Government. Let us all dedicate ourselves to helping preserve the sovereign powers of our great and beloved state.

We must all have faith, Someone has said that faith is louder than noise. This is true, for if we have faith a cannon could be shot off beside us and our faith still remain. We must all have faith in God, faith in the people of our state and country and last, but not least, faith in ourselves.

Remember our motto: "Our Liberties We Prize And Our Rights We Will Maintain."

Thank you.

35 provided. The tax imposed herein on a manufacturer or 36 processor shall be measured by the pounds of such food
37 products remaining for human consumption when his manu-
38 facturing or processing is completed. Weights of packaged
39 food products shall be the net weights of the food products,
40 excluding the weights of the packages and containers there-
41 for.

42 3. One Handling by the Same Owner in Iowa Taxable.
43 The excise tax imposed under the terms hereof shall be 44 levied only on one handling of each pound of such food
45 products in the state of Iowa so long as the same remains 46 the property of the same person, whether he move it into 47 the custody and possession of others as warehousemen or 48 otherwise.

49 4. Statements Required. Every person engaged in handling
50 such food products shall, prior to the first day of March

54 ended on the last day of December prior thereto, showing 55 on such statement the number of pounds thereof which were 56 handled by him as owner thereof, and the number of pounds
57 handled as a warehouseman or otherwise for others. Such 58 statement shall also show the facts as to any of such food
59 products handled more than once by the same person as owner,
60 or handled by a warehouseman, custodian or other handler
61 for others, which were certified to him to have been 62 theretofore handled at least once in the state of Iowa
63 at some other place in the state by or for the owner who 64 delivered the same to such warehouseman, custodian or 65 other handler. The assessor shall have the right, on 66 demand, to inspect all records of all such manufacturers,

78 Code 1954.

79 5. Assessment. The assessor of each such district,
80 from the statements furnished him or such other informa-
81 tion as he may acquire, shall ascertain the number of 82 pounds of such food products so handled by any such manu-

84 calendar year involved which is subject to the excise
85 tax levied under the terms hereof, and shall assess each

86 such person with the tax due from him as hereinabove
87 provided. In all instances the tax shall be assessed
88 against the owner of the products, except where the first
89 handling thereof in Iowa is by a warehouseman, or other 90 handler and the owner thereof is not a resident of such 91 assessment district for taxation purposes, in which case
92 the tax shall be assessed against the warehouseman or 93 other handler; and such warehouseman or other handler
94 shall have and is hereby given the right to collect the 95 amount of any such tax assessed and paid by him from the 96 owner of the products, the handling of which was taxed,
97 in addition to all other warehousing or other charges due
98 him.

99 6. Payment of Tax. All taxes assessed as herein
100 provided shall be entered in the same manner as general
101 personal taxes on the tax lists of the taxing district,

104 proportions as general personal property tax in such dis-
105 trict. All provisions of law relating to assessment and 106 collection of personal property taxes, and the powers and 107 duties of the county treasurer, county auditor and all
108 other officers with respect to assessment and collection

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has adopted the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 21, petitioning the Congress of the United States to remove the excise taxes on transportation of persons and property.

RICHARD W. BERGLUND, Secretary.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

By Tate

Whereas, during the emergency of World War II, the Congress of the United States enacted an excise tax levy on the transportation of property and persons; and

Whereas, the tax on transportation of property and persons was designed for a double motive, to supply revenue and for the principal purpose of discouraging unnecessary civilian use of common carriers when their services were needed in the war effort; and

Whereas, though the hostilities have long since ceased, the tax on transportation of property and persons still continues to be an effective deterrent to such transportation and are now effective in weakening the national transportation system contrary to the best public interest; and

Whereas, the national policy declared by the Congress of the United States in the Interstate Commerce Act calls for the development and preservation of a national transportation system adequate to meet the needs of commerce, postal service and the national defense; and

Whereas, the publicly regulated carriers are the collectors of the tax for the government, the tax adds to the shipping cost paid by the shipper or receiver who uses the regulated carrier and it, therefore, places an undue and unfair advantage in the hands of those who can afford to furnish their own transportation as against the small shipper or receiver who, because of his economic station, is compelled to use the regulated carrier. It also creates an inequality between the shipper who has a long haul and one who has a short haul on the same regulated carrier because the excise tax is levied as a percentage of the cost of the transportation; and

Whereas, transportation is not by any standard a luxury, and sound reasoning allows us to distinguish between the excise tax on transportation and other excise taxes on luxury items; and

Whereas, it is the opinion of the General Assembly of the State of Iowa that the best interest of the citizens of the State and Nation will best be served by the removal of the excise taxes on transportation;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, that it shall be the manifest expression of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly that the discriminatory and burdensome excise taxes on transportation of persons and property be removed by the Congress of the United States.

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of the resolution be communicated to the members of Congress from Iowa and that a copy of said resolution be communicated to the committee on ways and means of the House of Representatives and to the committee on finance in the Senate of the United States Congress.

Laid over under Rule 34.

HOUSE RESOLUTION 11

Whereas, the State Highway Commission, when the equalization farm-to-market funds were first allocated, had a rule in effect that if any county wished to speed up their farm-to-market road improvements by going to a higher type surface such as asphaltic concrete, inverted penetration asphaltic surfacing, or Portland cement concrete pavement, this action on the part of the county would nullify its eligibility to receive equalization road funds, and

Whereas, some time in 1955, the present Highway Commission changed that rule and will now allow a higher type surface to be built on farm-to-market roads if conditions justify same and the county's equalization fund allotments will not be affected thereby, and

Whereas, on July 3, 1956, a letter was sent out by the Chief Engineer of the Highway Commission, again calling the district engineers' attention to the fact that if it was necessary to place a bituminous coat on the farm-to-market road, it would not necessarily affect the equalization fund allotment, and

Whereas, on August 10, 1956, another letter was sent to the department heads and district engineers, again calling their attention to the fact that the former rule established by the Commission where a county going to a higher type surface would automatically lose its equalization farm-to-market road money, had been nullified and that they now could do same and would not be penalized from participating in the equalization farm-to-market road funds, and

Whereas, on December 17, 1956, another letter was sent out to the county engineers again calling their attention to the fact that the former rule was nullified way back in 1955, and that if the placing of a higher type surface on the road was justified and a higher type surface was placed on the road, equalization fund allotments would not be affected thereby, and

Whereas, on October 4, 1956, the Commission sent out a letter stating: "The Highway Commission recognizes Chapter 310.10 of the 1954 Code of Iowa: 'When all farm-to-market roads in any county have been built to established grade, bridged, and surfaced in a manner suited to the traffic thereon, additional mileage may be added to the farm-to-market system in any county'.", and on February 23, 1957, they sent out another letter stating: "This is to advise you that the Highway Commission will be glad to cooperate with any county that has its farm-to-market road system completed in accordance with the above mentioned paragraph, to increase the farm-to-market road system in the county.", and

Whereas, the Commission has a rule in effect which says that if a county is permitted to add to their farm-to-market road system they cannot participate in future allocation of the equalization funds, and

Whereas, the Attorney General's office has ruled that if a county is permitted to add to their farm-to-market road system, it will not disqualify them from participation in the equalization fund, and

Whereas, the farm-to-market road funds, and especially the equalization money, were intended to get the Iowa farmer out of the mud,

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly, that the Iowa State Highway Commission be respectfully requested to rescind and nullify their present rule whereby a county which is permitted to add roads to its farm-to-market road system is automatically disqualified from participation in equalization or need funds.

Laid over under Rule 34.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 22

By Elijah, Gillespie, Hoffman, Hoxie, Molison, Putney, Ringgenberg, Shoeman, Utzig, Weiss and Wormley (Santee, Eveland, Kaiser, Whitney, Coverdale, Allen, Duffy, Sar, Walter, Darrington, Eldred, Novak, Hanson, Greenwood, Hendrix, Smith, Johns, McCoy, Stephens and Cunningham)

A concurrent resolution granting the official recognition of the State of Iowa to The Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts on the celebration of the centennial of the founding of that great institution of higher learning:

Whereas, the Seventh General Assembly of Iowa, which convened in 1858, it being the first legislature to meet in the new capitol in Des Moines, and the first to act under a new state constitution, enacted a bill establishing the present Iowa State College, which was duly signed by the Governor, and written into the law on March 22, 1858; and

Whereas, this college became one of the first institutions to be based on a new concept that education was not to be limited to the classics and the professions, but to be made available to those engaged in agriculture and industrial pursuits; and

Whereas, the General Assembly, meeting in special session on September 11, 1862, duly accepted and approved the provisions of the Morrill Act of 1862—a federal statute authorizing grants of land to states for the “endowment, support and maintenance of at least one college where the leading object shall be . . . to teach such branches of learning as are related to agriculture and the mechanic arts . . . to promote the liberal and practical education of the industrial classes in the several pursuits and professions of life”—thereby making Iowa the first state in the Union to accept the provisions of this “Land-Grant” Act which has been called the unique contribution of America to education; and

Whereas, through the century since its founding, The Iowa State College has expanded to meet the needs of development in the fields in which it has pioneered, and has been recognized since its early history as an institution with high ideals and outstanding scholarship. Further, that it has fulfilled early predictions of greatness and has gained a reputation through Iowa, the nation and, indeed, the world, for the excellence of its achievements; and

Whereas, the contributions of Iowa State College have been immeasurably useful in developing both the human and the physical resources of this great state, not only through expert instruction and guidance on the campus proper, but in every part of the state through an extension program which brings vocational and cultural training to the people; and further the results of a never-ending quest for fundamental knowledge through research and experimentation have borne rich fruit in many important developments in agriculture, engineering, home economics, veterinary medicine and in the various biological, physical, economic and social sciences directly traceable to the work of the college.

Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the Fifty-seventh General Assembly hereby congratulates The Iowa State College of Agriculture and Mechanic Arts, its administration and distinguished faculty, and the State Board of Regents, on the College’s forthcoming One Hundredth Anniversary, and expresses sincere appreciation and gratitude for its manifold contributions to Iowa; and

Be It Further Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be sent to the State Board of Regents and to the President of the Iowa State College.

By Conservation Committee

Whereas, it has been proposed that the United States Fish and Wildlife Service establish a migratory waterfowl refuge and recreational area on the Missouri River in and adjacent to Harrison County, Iowa, in what is known as the Bertrand-Harrison Bend in connection with a project of bank stabilization being constructed by the United States Army Corps of Engineers, and

Whereas, such an area would greatly enhance the recreational facilities of Iowa, and

Whereas, outdoor recreation tends to lessen juvenile delinquency by providing a wholesome and healthy outlet for youthful energy as well as fulfilling a basic need for the people of Iowa in general, and a study of the proposal and find that the necessary alterations in their plans can be carried out at no additional cost,

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, that the legislature of the State of Iowa commends the federal agencies involved for their forethought and efforts in the interests of outdoor recreation and urges their continued cooperation in advancing this project to a successful completion; and

Be It Further Resolved, that the Secretary of the Senate send copies of this resolution to the United States Senators and Representatives from Iowa, the United States Senators and Representatives from Nebraska, to Brigadier General J. L. Person, United States Army Assistant Chief of Engineers for Civil Works, and to Mr. Ross Leffler, Assistant Secretary of the Interior.

Laid over under Rule 34.

Des Moines, Iowa.

Honorable Members of the House of Representatives:

House File 162, an Act to amend section four hundred twenty-two point forty-two (422.42), Code 1954, relating to the Sales Tax on farm chemicals and on motor vehicle fuel used in farm tractors, is hereby disapproved, and returned to the House of Representatives, in accordance with Article III, Section 16, Constitution of Iowa. House File 162 is disapproved for the following reasons:

First, it constitutes an additional set of exemptions and thus brings about a further deterioration in the tax base. The seriousness of exemptions, and the effects of exemptions on the adequacy and equity of the tax system have long been recognized. The Fifty-sixth General Assembly, in Senate Joint Resolution 7, empowered the Taxation Study Committee to make a complete study of "The entire present system of exemptions, credits, and deductions with respect to all taxes". It is significant that the Taxation Study Committee, after one and one-half year of study did not recommend extension of the already extensive list of exemptions.

In the Iowa Farm Bureau Resolutions for 1955, it was stated, page 5, paragraph 3, that "The Tax Commission reports that considerable revenue is lost to the State as a result of exemptions under the sales and use tax laws. We therefore urge that these laws be revised in order that all loopholes may be closed".

It is my considered opinion that the tax structure of the State of Iowa is already overburdened with exemptions; and I respectfully suggest that, in the interest of equity, and an improved tax structure, the Fifty-seventh General Assembly take action to reduce the long list of exemptions, including exemptions of industrial fuel and power, which has already impaired the revenue of the State, and created inequities among taxpayers.

Second, the erosion of the tax base, which would be furthered by the proposed exemption, must ultimately lead to the enactment of other taxes and/or higher rates on the remaining tax base. It is a well established principle that a low rate of taxation on a broad tax base has less serious economic effects, than high rates applied to a reduced tax base. If the loss in revenue from the proposed exemption is replaced by a higher sales tax rate, the higher rate will cost the farmers of Iowa several times the amount saved by the proposed exemption.

Third, the economic position of the Iowa farmer would not be significantly affected by the tax saving from the proposed exemption. At the prevailing sales tax rate, exemption of farm chemicals and fuels used in farm tractors would have saved Iowa's farmers $1.2 million. This amount is equivalent to slightly less than $6.25 per farm, or about fifty cents per month, per farm. This is not going to make any appreciable difference in the economic plight of Iowa's farmers. However, the proposed exemption for the benefit of a particular group is well calculated to create division and mutual distrust between our urban and rural citizens. And it will almost certainly make more difficult any revision in our tax structure which would afford real relief from property tax levies. In this connection, it should be noted that levies on agricultural real and personal property amount to almost $100 million as compared with the $1.2 million of tax relief which the proposed legislation would bring.

Fourth, the burden of the present level of taxation borne by agricultural producers stems primarily from the low levels of farm income, rather than discrimination in taxation applied to farming. The only real solution lies in the direction of higher farm income, rather than special legislation in the form of tax exemptions. The farmer is in no worse position—in this respect—than any other business man who finds his revenues reduced. Yet, it does not seem appropriate that we should grant exemptions from sales taxes to businesses which encounter eco-conomic difficulties. Unemployed labor, or retired people without current income are not granted exemption from sales taxation on a "need" basis. It does not seem equitable that a different standard should be applied to agricultural producers.

Fifth, insofar as the proposed exemption for farm chemicals and fuel for farm tractors might be supported by comparisons with the exemptions granted to other producers, two observations are in order. In the first place, by no means all fuel and power purchased by industrial users is exempt, as is frequently alleged. And, to the extent that the existing system of exemptions has given rise to inequities, the proper remedy is to be found in the removal of the existing exemptions rather than the granting of still more exemptions. The pressures for exemptions grow at an accelerating rate; as more and more exemptions are granted, the demands for still more exemptions become irresistible. The end result is an impaired revenue system, and the use of tax sources which permit less equity.

Finally, I respectfully urge the Honorable Members of the Fifty-seventh General Assembly to carefully consider all of the implications of a course of action which further undermines the tax structure of Iowa by granting additional exemptions. While such exemptions are always alleged to relieve this or that inequity, a careful examination of the State's tax system gives overwhelming evidence that the long list of exemptions has necessitated higher rates on the remaining taxable base, and has created more inequities than it has eliminated. It is respectfully submitted that the time has arrived to resist pressures for further exemptions.

Respectfully,
/s/ HERSCHEL C. LOVELESS,
Governor.
