JOURNAL OF THE HOUSE

Hall of the House of Representatives, Des Moines, Iowa, Monday, January 11, 1965.

Pursuant to the law, the House of Representatives of the Sixtyfirst General Assembly of Iowa convened at 10:00 a.m., Monday, January 11, 1965.

The House was called to order by the Honorable Bruce E. Mahan from Johnson County.

The following prayer was offered by Reverend J. J. Olinger, pastor of the St. Mary's Church, New Hampton, Iowa:

Almighty God, we seek Thy favor and blessing on this Assembly of the State of Iowa. Let the individual members of this Assembly be enlightened of mind and strengthened of will to carry out Thy will in all their deliberations.

Recall to their minds the words of Paul the Apostle, who warned that all authority is from God. In this frame of thought they shall have a deep respect for the position they occupy in our society.
Let them be mindful, $O$ God of Nations, of the spirit which animated our forefathers when they laid down the laws in our great Constitution. Let every act of this Assembly be consonant with the philosophy which is the basis for our Judeo-Christian civilization.

Let them not be forgetful of the pioneer spirit of those who established this great State of Iowa out of the harshness of the virgin wilderness. May these legislators be pioneers in guiding our citizens through the new technology of the present age. O Lord, Architect of Nature, may the legislation coming forth from this Assembly be the matrix for the powerful forces of nature newly discovered by the light of Thy gift of wisdom to mankind.

The wonderful potentials, material and spiritual of our state are the raw materials out of which future prosperity and harmony shall be fashioned. The legislation of this Assembly must be the set of instructions which our citizens shall follow to bring about a political and economical atmosphere which shall be pleasing to Thee our Master.

May this Assembly, 0 God, institute a program of legislation which shall be guide lines for the harmonious operation of the creative forces of capital and labor. These are the two legs on which the state must walk to bring to actuality the great potential of our richly endowed territory. Without proper guide lines these forces will stagger in unavailing strife and impede hoped-for progress.

O Eternal Wisdom, enlighten these honorable legislators to propose laws which shall make it possible for all the talent and creative intelligence of our children to be developed in our institutions of learning. Let them be fully convinced that the greatest asset of our state is the intelligence and health of the citizens of the state.

Let the members of this august Assembly be aware of their positions in society as guardians of the freedom and rights guaranteed to the people by our great Declaration of Independence and our Constitution. Fill their minds and hearts with respect for Thy will so that they may understand fully that "Unless Thou dost watch over our cities and plains, those who guard them shall guard in vain." Amen.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Meacham of Poweshiek presented the name of the Honorable Vincent B. Steffen of Chickasaw County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks: Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

It is my honor and privilege, at this time, to place in nomination the name of the Honorable Vincent B. Steffen, Representative from Chickasaw County, for the office of Speaker of the House of the Sixty-first General Assembly.

Mr. Steffen was born and educated in Black Hawk County and now makes his home at New Hampton. He served in the United States Army Corps of Engineers in Europe. He is a businessman, inventor, and the founder of Harvestall Industries. He is presently a member of the Iowa Development Commission.

Mr. Steffen was chosen as one of America's outstanding young men by the National Junior Chamber of Commerce in 1964 "In recognition of his outstanding ability, accomplishments and service to his community, country and profession."

Mr. Steffen served on seven standing committees in the Sixtieth General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

All of us who have been associated with him in the past know that he is a dedicated legislator with sound judgment. I know he will be fair to all of us in conducting the business to come before this session.

Doderer of Johnson seconded the nomination of Vincent B. Steffen for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:
Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:
It is with great pleasure that I second the nomination of the Honorable Vince Steffen of Chickasaw County.

With Mr. Steffen as Speaker we will have a leader with keen insight into the problems facing this General Assembly. Mr. Steffen, a native of Black Hawk County, population 122,482, now resides in Chickasaw County, population 15,034, giving him an intuitive understanding of the problems of both rural and urban Iowa.

By his service as a member of this Assembly, by his service on the Governor's Commission on State and Local Problems, and as a member of the Iowa Development Commission, Mr. Steffen has demonstrated high integrity, ability and the capacity necessary to carry out the duties of Speaker.

I consider it an honor to second the nomination of the Gentleman from Chickasaw as Speaker of the House of Representatives, and do so with full confidence that he will be fair and impartial in conducting the business of this Sixty-first General Assembly.

Edgington of Franklin seconded the nomination and moved that the Acting Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly for the Honorable Vincent B. Steffen as Speaker of the House.

In accordance with the foregoing motion, the Acting Chief Clerk cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable Vincent B. Steffen as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly. The Honorable Vincent B. Steffen of Chicaksaw County, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

PRESENTATION OF SPEAKER

Temporary Speaker Mahan presented Speaker-elect Steffen with the gavel and congratulated him on his unanimous election. Speaker Steffen thanked the House for the honor bestowed upon him and offered the following remarks:

REMARKS BY SPEAKER STEFFEN

My Fellow Lawmakers: This opening of the Sixty-first Iowa General Assembly turns a new leaf in Iowa history. The successes or the failures of this new era will be dated back to the action or inaction of this Assembly.
I stand here not to cast reflections on the past nor to prophesy the future. Rather, I would impress you with the momentousness of the present. Addressing all of you as Fellow Lawmakers, we must cast aside partisan differences, for we hold in common responsibility as stewards of the peaple of Iowa.

Our actions will be scrutinized not only by the people of Iowa but by leaders of other states and the nation. Many states are beset by important issues that we will be resolving. Perhaps in some areas we may well establish precedent.
I would admonish, from the beginning, each lawmaker to weigh carefully his public responsibility. A private or partisan misuse of his representative authority is not only a betrayal of the people he represents but jeopardizes as well the future of all Iowa citizens. The people of Iowa will hold each of us liable for the discharge of our stewardship.

As individuals we will be required to weigh proposals, issues and problems. The problems are many. Their solution is oftentimes difficult. We cannot reckon with all of them within the span of one hundred days or even two hundred days. Therefore, we must judge which problems most urgently need solution. It would be foolhardy to attempt to solve all. This would accomplish little and would handle badly what deserves to be handled best. The interjection of novel issues would be a betrayal of our responsibility to the important issues. Our full and concentrated energy will be required to resolve these justly. Among the most crucial issues I would mention are taxes, reapportionment, education, resource development, and public safety.
I believe the people of Iowa prefer that several important issues be effectively solved. An attempt to muddle through every issue would only prolong the session beyond what either the patience of the taxpayer or the lawmakers themselves is capable of bearing.

Obviously, not everyone will be pleased with the decisions we make, for the decisions of lawmakers represent a majority not a unanimous opinion.

As Speaker of the House I will do what I can to see that the functioning of the Sixty-first Iowa General Assembly will be effective and efficient. This will not be possible without the good will and best effort of each legislator. I ask your cooperation.

For the present let us bear our trust with integrity and conscientiousness so that tomorrow we can turn to today with pride and peace of mind. Our trust is in God for light and grace on our work. Thank you.

the Sixty-first General Assembly will depend on what we do to fulfill the needs of all Iowans whatever their station in life. The history of the Sixty-first General Assembly will also determine whether or not we accepted the challenge to make Iowa a state where prosperity walks hand-inhand with all segments of our social, economic, and industrial development. ## STANDING COMMITTEE APPOINTMENTS

The Speaker announced the following appointments to the standing committees of the House, preceded by the following remarks:
Members of the House: I would like to say a few words in general about the committee system, a system common to the American legislative process. The complexity of legislative law has given impetus to the committee system. It has been found to be the superior method by which a legislative body fully and intelligently deliberates the substance of legislation. The committee, in its dialogue, refines policies for the ultimate good of the Assembly. The merit or the lack of merit of any individual article of legislation is one of the prime products of the committee. Committee members develop in specialized areas an expertness which is invaluable. Thomas B. Reed aptly described the importance of the committee system when he said it was "The eye and ear, the hand, very often the brain, of the House."

Though the committee system greatly facilitates the legislative process, it is not perfect. With any system of operation, review and reform are periodically needed for improvement. I am happy to announce that review and reform of the Iowa committee system has been made.

Review has shown that the number of committees has grown excessively. For example, in the past members have sat on as many as seven committees. Often, members have been scheduled to sit on committees which were meeting at the same time. Because of this overlapping, many times quorums could not be met in the committees with a consequent loss of invaluable time. This was but one of the many problems flowing from the proliferation of committees.

Reform has come in the way of a combination of committees on a logical basis. This resulted in a reduction in the number of committees. At the last regular session there were forty-two standing committees. For this session the number of standing committees has been reduced to fifteen. I am confident that this reform will make our system function more smoothly than it has in the past.

Reform has also come by way of a plan to develop and encourage more fully the use of joint meetings of the House and Senate committees. I urge full cooperation of the House committees with the Senate committees.

The House committees will have their counterpart in the Senate. The number, name and type of committees in the House will correspond with the number, name and type of committees in the Senate. The hope is that a pattern will develop whereby the committees of both chambers will bring all their skill and experience to bear in the problems of legislation at the same time.

We have many new and, I am sure, eager members in the House this session. I am confident that they, together with the returning members, will rise and meet the challenges and problems which they will face on these committees.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE MESSAGE TO THE SIXTY-FIRST GENERAL ASSEMBLY

 byHONORABLE HAROLD E. HUGHES, GOVERNOR OF IOWA Joint Session, January 12, 1965

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly:
Article IV, Section 12, of the Constitution of the State of Iowa sets forth as one of the duties of the chief executive that "he shall communicate, by message, to the General Assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the state, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient."
I welcome this opportunity to meet with you on the first day after your convening and I wish you individually and collectively every success in the important endeavors before you.
Inasmuch as I have been invited to appear here again on Thursday to deliver my second inaugural address, I shall try to make my remarks today somewhat shorter than the Code of Iowa. I don't want to wear out my welcome at this early stage of the session.
From any way you approach it, the state of the state is a vast subject and I could not conceivably cover every phase of it in these remarks. By communicating a few significant facts and observations, I can only attempt to convey a reasonably objective interpretation of the position of our state today and the distance we have traveled in the past two years. In the inaugural message, the emphasis will be on my concept of where we should go from here.

A State-of-the-State Message should, as I see it, be something of a balance sheet, taking note of liabilities as well as assets and viewing the state as a whole-its economy, its culture, its aspirations and its far-flung system of local governments as well as the state government itself.

Exactly what determines the state of a state? How can we define it or measure it? The treasury balance does not constitute it, although this is a relevant factor. Nor does the value of our industrial production, the rate of employment, or the number of pupils in our schools-although these facts are extremely important and pertinent.

The truth is that the state of the state is a qualitative as well as a quantitative matter. The success or failure of a state is gauged in the final analysis by the opportunity it affords its people for the good life in the highest sense of this concept.
The state of the state involves spiritual as well as material considerations. The state of our minds has a great deal to do with the state of our state.

The state of the state involves attitudes, social trends, prides, prejudices and ideals, the courage to venture and the willingness to adapt to changing conditions. From another approach, we may define the state of the state in terms of movement-Is our state dynamic or it is static? Above all the state of our minds and the state of our state are conditioned by our degree of faith in the future.

Ladies and gentlemen, Iowa in its present hour checks out favorably by all of these standards. I do not mean, of course, that we have achieved the goals that all of us who love Iowa want her to achieve. I do mean that we have made historic break-throughs and that we are moving in the right direction. The fact of the matter is that Iowa is on the move and on the map and I sincerely believe that the points I am about to make will bear this out.

IOWA'S EXPANDING ECONOMY

It seems to me fitting to begin with the meat and potato course-by which I refer to our economy: The fiscal posture of your state government, general economic conditions throughout the state and the measure of our economic development during the past two years.

First, I would say that the financial position of your state government is strong, healthy and full of promise for the years ahead. I look at this not so much as a credit to this administration as a tribute to the character of our people who demand and have received sound, pay-as-you-go, virtually debt-free state government operation.

At the end of the present biennium, on June 30, 1965, the Comptroller estimates that there will be an unencumbered balance in the state treasury of approximately 30 million dollars. At least half of this will be available to meet the revenue needs of the next biennium. Revenue from current taxes is expected to increase during this biennium by more than 12 percent over the previous two-year period. Further details on the state's finances will, of course, be set forth in my budget message early next month.

Every citizen of this state has a right to be proud of the unprecedented record of economic growth this state has registered in the past two years. This year the value of Iowa's industrial production exceeded $$ 8$ billion for the first time in our history. The total value of our industrial and agricultural production was more than $$ 10$ billion-a gain of $$ 1.2$ billion from 1963. It is generally conceded that personal income will surpass the record figure of $$ 6.4$ billion set in 1963. Total employment set a new record in each of the past two years and earnings are at a record level.

Iowa Development Commission figures show that one new mark after another was set in industrial growth over the past two years.

New industries, branch plants and expansions hit new peaks- 168 such industrial developments in 1963 and a leap to 278 last year. Employment opportunities created on the production line numbered 6,093 in 1963; then mounted to 6,876 in 1964. Capital investment in plants and equipment-the basis for a major source of state and local revenue-was reported at more than $$ 134$ million last year, nearly double the 1963 record total of over $$ 70$ million.

More than 100 branch plants were established in Iowa during the twoyear period, indicating an increasing awareness of Iowa's potential on the part of out-of-state manufacturers. However, it is particularly reassuring to note that our existing industries affirmed their confidence in the future of our state by announcing more than 180 expansions of their Iowa plants.

These figures do not include the additional job opportunities created in the trades and services as the direct result of industrial expansion; neither do they reflect the increased personal income nor the growth in tax revenue to state and local governments which results from such economic growth.

The total value of manufactured goods for 1964 , at 8.1 billion dollars, represents a 17 percent increase over the 1963 record figure. Contrasted with the nearly steady level of farm marketings, which maintained Iowa's leading position in agriculture, this total serves to point up the need for increased efforts toward greater diversification in our economy.

One of the major efforts in the direction of such diversification took place over the past two years in the field of tourist promotion. It is regrettable that all Americans-and all Iowans-are not yet fully aware of our state's vacation and recreational assets. But we can pride ourselves on participation in development of the four-state Hiawatha Pioneer Trail, the first major promotion of its kind ever undertaken in Iowa; we can reflect with confidence on the average increase in attendance of more than 20 percent at Iowa's major travel attractions, and we can readily measure the rising tourist interest in lowa by the ever-increasing volume of requests and inquiries about the state's attractions.

While Iowa's economic progress has in some measure reflected the general prosperity of the nation, there is no question but that we have made significant gains in our own right as a state. Total personal income in the state last year rose by 5.3 percent, compared to a 4.9 increase over the nation as a whole; per capita income was up 5.1 percent, compared to a national increase of only 3.4 percent. Department store sales have shown about a 4 percent growth in the past year; time deposits in banks, together with checking transaction volume, are higher, and general retail sales reports are favorable. Non-agricultural employment increased by 2.6 percent over 1963, tending to offset the continuing drop in farm employment.

In addition, the latest employment figures show Iowa with the lowest rate of unemployment in the nation, although there is still a more-than-adequate supply of efficient and productive workers to attract new industry, and there are areas of underemployment which cry out for assistance in helping themselves through area development programs and other cooperative governmental aids.

This record industrial growth in Iowa in the past two years did not take place without the concerted effort of individual citizens, community groups and governmental bodies. Credit should be given to the Iowa Development Commission and some 250 local development groups in the state. Credit should be given to the last session of this General Assembly which adopted significant legislation to spur industrial development and to attain wider utilization of our agricultural products. Credit should be given to industrial and financial leaders who gave impetus to our industrial promotion by participating in the "Sell Iowa" trips to Chicago, the Twin Cities and New York, and who are presently serving on my state Economic Advisory Council. Credit should go to our universities, to labor and to farm organizations, all of whom have lent their enthusiasm and their effort to this common cause. Credit should be given to local citizens, both rural and urban, who have participated in area development committees that have organized and begun functioning in the past two years.

In other words, we are seeing for the first time what can be done to advance the common good when we have a truly co-operative effort behind the endeavor.

ADMINISTRATION

In the state administration we have instituted a regular series of interdepartmental meetings and a weekly get-together of department heads in order to eliminate duplication of effort and to achieve greater co-ordination between the departments of state government. We have presented the first public hearing on the state budget in history. We have expanded the use of data processing and other modern business methods in state departments. By the creation of a Governor's Commission on State and Local Government, we have broken ground in what we hope will be a new era of co-operation between state and local government and between the various units of local government. Efficiency of tax collections has been sharpened by further implementation of the agreement with the federal government for crosschecking of state and federal returns and by the exchange of information between state agencies. We have been able to operate the state government during the past two years from current revenues and at the same time to increase the state treasury surplus.

BREAK-THROUGHS TOWARD PROGRESS

In the past two years, more important break-throughs toward progress have been made in Iowa than in any similar period in the current century. I would like at this time to express my appreciation to the last session of the General Assembly for their extraordinary contributions-and I convey this now personally to those members in this chamber today who served in the Sixtieth Session of our legislature. I would like also to express my appreciation to the dedicated people in the departments of state government who have given outstanding service during the past biennium in carrying out new laws and in working administratively to reach new levels of efficiency and economy in government. The State of Iowa is a better place in which to live because of the efforts of these people.

It is no secret to anyone familiar with the recent history of this state that for a considerable period we were trapped in a treadmill of negative thinking. This consisted on the one hand of a passionate devotion to the status quo with the related idea that anyone who was willing to discuss the state's problems realistically was "downgrading" the state. On the other hand, we heard, far too often, the statement "It can't be done in Iowa."

In the past two years we have seen that many things which people said couldn't be done have been done.

In the special session of the legislature in 1964, a temporary reapportionment plan was adopted that gave all of our people reasonable equality of voting rights for the first time in this century. In my opinion, this enactment has had a tremendously beneficial effect on the morale and selfrespect of the majority of citizens of Iowa and has contributed to the fresh outlook we find in our state today.

The Sixtieth General Assembly made history by enacting a liquor control law providing for liquor-by-the-drink with strict enforcement provisions. As you all know, this marked the end of the era of the wide-open illegal bars and key clubs in Iowa where anyone, adult or minor, could buy illegal liquor by the drink in open contempt of the state law.

Many other legislative milestones were registered by the last regular session of the General Assembly.

Public utility regulation, providing protection to the consumer was enacted after 50 years of fruitless effort in this area. Regulation of public utilities under the Iowa State Commerce Commission in the past two years has resulted in reduction of utility rates by five million dollars annuallywithout a formal rate case.

The first significant legislation in this century to provide home rule for Iowa's cities and towns was adopted, and while the constitutionality of this particular measure is in doubt, there is no question in my mind that the way has now been cleared for whatever action may be required to confer upon local communities the long-needed power of self-determination in local affairs.

A new law was enacted to provide citizens of Iowa undiluted property tax relief in the form of interest on current operating funds of local governments. Fair employment practices legislation was adopted for the first time in our history. This was followed by an executive order from this administration to eliminate discrimination for reasons of race, creed or color in state government. An effective law for brucellosis control was enacted. Pensions for government employees were increased. Workmen's compensation laws were improved. Medical aid to the aged under the Kerr-Mills act was implemented.

EDUCATION

In the past two years, progress has been made in the service areas of state government that must be sustained if the bright promise of our economic growth is not to wither on the vine.

There is no more important service of government than the education of our youth. In Iowa we have over 600,000 pupils enrolled in our elementary and secondary schools. The education of these pupils costs the citizens of Iowa approximately 300 million dollars annually. While the total cost seems large, the average investment of approximately $$ 500$ per pupil is small when you consider the task of preparing a person for a lifetime of occupational and civic competency.

In the past biennium and in the past decade, Iowa has made substantial improvements in its public elementary and secondary schools. In 1953-1954, there were 4,492 school districts in Iowa. For this school year, there are 1,097 school districts in the state. Four hundred and fifty-nine of these are high school districts. It should be acknowledged, however, that school district reorganization is not complete. Clearly Iowa does not need 1,100 districts to educate 600,000 elementary and secondary pupils.

The quality of instruction that Iowa children have available to them has also improved in recent years. With respect to academic qualifications, 46 percent of our high school teachers and 10.8 percent of our elementary school teachers now hold master's degrees. Almost 100 percent of our high school teachers and 50.5 percent of our elementary school teachers hold B.A. degrees and this percentage is increasing yearly.

Time does not permit the listing of other advances that have been made in public school education. Obviously, school reorganization and teachers' qualifications are only two phases of a vast complex of problems. Our objective, as I see it, is to provide first-class educational opportunity for all of the children and youth of this state-and adults as well where re-training is required-wherever they reside or whatever their individual capacities may be. It is a big order, I know. And new answers to curriculum, structure and support patterns will be required to meet this all-important objective.

The importance of higher education to our economic development, as well as to our cultural development, has never been so widely appreciated as at the present time. The period between this legislative session and the last has seen many changes and improvements at our three public institutions of higher learning. The retirement of Dr. Hilton and Dr. Hancher after long periods of distinguished service to the state presented the Board of Regents with a formidable problem of finding qualified successors. The Board, in my opinion, met this problem with the utmost wisdom. As a result, I would say to you that in Dr. Bowen, Dr. Parks and Dr. Maucker we have three of the top educational leaders in the nation to head our institutions of higher learning.

For the record, our three large state-supported institutions have nearly a 25 percent larger enrollment this year than in the school year of 1960 1961. In the last 10 years, the number of students at these same three schools has grown from 21,000 to 32,000 . This massive increase in enrollment will continue in the years ahead and presents problems which must be met . . . and I am sure they will be met.

During the 1964 Special Session, a Higher Education Facilities Commission was established to develop a state plan in order that public junior colleges and Iowa's public and private institutions of higher learning might receive federal funds for the construction of school buildings.

Iowa subsequently became one of the first 18 states to obtain federal approval of its state plan. Applications totaling nearly 2.5 million dollars from nine public and private institutions were approved by the Commission in December and forwarded to the U. S. Office of Education. Applications for the remaining 1.4 million dollars available to Iowa during the current fiscal year will be received by the Iowa Commission during the next few months.

PUBLIC SAFETY

In the area of public safety, our prime concern in Iowa, as in all the other states, is with traffic safety. With the explosive increase of traffic on our highways, the tragic rise of traffic accidents and fatalities has become epidemic in Iowa as in other parts of the nation. To cope with this shocking situation, the Department of Public Safety and county and municipal traffic officers throughout the state have joined in an all-out program.

To co-ordinate these efforts, we organized the Governor's Traffic Safety Co-ordinating Committee, composed of top leaders in the executive, judicial and legislative branches of state, county and municipal government and initiated the following programs in enforcement, education and engineering:

Revitalization of the Division of Safety Education, issuance of temporary driving permits to every first-year operator, establishment of the Community Conference for Better Driving and the Driver Improvement Clinic, implementation of the implied consent law, installation of electronic data processing and use of social security numbers to keep closer tab on the records of nearly $1,600,000$ licensed drivers in Iowa, the calling of the first traffic court conference in Iowa since 1945, and various other measures.

No stone has been left unturned within the authority the state now has to deal with this overriding problem. This is an area in which several measures of important legislation will be requested of the present session of the General Assembly.

In other areas of public safety during this biennium, the Burean of Criminal Investigation has initiated a program of assigning resident agents to the field in order to work more effectively with local law enforcement officials. The Fire Marshal's office, for the first time in recent history, has brought up to date its inspection program of schools and nursing homes and has inaugurated a broad, new program of fire prevention.

HIGHWAYS

In this age of spectacular progress in transportation, one of the most important responsibilities of your state government is in the construction and maintenance of highways. Last fall, the highway commission completed its 324 th mile of four-lane divided interstate highway-the final link between Des Moines and the east coast. In terms of interstate highways completed and scheduled for construction in the five-year period ahead, Iowa holds a position at the forefront among the states.

In the meantime, the state's primary system has not been neglected. Reconstruction of several of our important cross-state primary routes has been under way to bring these heavily traveled highways up to present-day standards. While the ultimate goal has been to modernize the entire highway system, a program of curb removal on existing narrow highways and of widening of narrow bridges has been conducted in the interests of highway safety. Curb filling or the placing of an asphalt mat between the "lip curbs" on 407 miles of narrow highways has been completed the contracts have been let for the widening of 29 narrow bridges in the primary system in the past two years.

Actual highway construction accomplished in the past two years includes the following: 77 miles of four-lane interstate paving; 303 miles of primary pavement including 32 miles of rural highway four-laning; 352 miles of grading, which includes 106 miles of four-lane interstate grading; 47 miles of widening narrow highways; 228 miles of resurfacing; and 2,668 highway bridges, culverts and roadway pipe culvert.

CONSERVATION

No area of the state government is closer to my heart than the conservation of our natural resources and the administration of our outdoor recreation facilities. Perhaps the most salient contribution of the Conservation Commission in the past two years has been the development of long-range plans for conservation and recreation in Iowa that kindle the imagination to the potentials that exist in these important areas.

In addition, I would report that nine million visitors used our state parks in 1964; that we had the longest pheasant season and the highest small-game population in history; that we substantially increased the forest acreage under the state's jurisdiction; that we completed construction of a fish hatchery, aquaria and laboratory at Clear Lake; and that we reorganized our fish and game administration and made major improvements in several parks.

HUMAN RESOURCE PROGRAMS

In the human resource areas of mental health and mental retardation, programs for the physically handicapped, public health, social welfare and corrections, the pattern was genevally one of continuing progress with some exceptions.

In mental health, perhaps the most encouraging index of progress has been the increased interest and effort on the local level in providing community mental health services. While the state can provide modern hospitals and hospital schools and can provide effective leadership in mental health programs, in the final analysis a large share of the responsibility must devolve upon the local community. Large state institutions and unwieldy, costly state programs are not the answer to an effective state program in mental health.

Although our over-all effort in social welfare in Iowa is substantial, there are phases in the financing and administration of the program that need shoring up. In my opinion, the present schedule of paying 75 percent of basic living needs to ADC families is inadequate. So also is the handling of the 1,231 seriously handicapped adults in the Aid to Disabled assistance group who are not provided any medical care under the present program. Administratively, I believe that greater emphasis should be placed on existing programs for rehabilitation of recipients, such as training ADC mothers to become self-supporting.

To those who look with jaundiced eye on all welfare programs, I would say, as I have in the past, that adequate, efficiently administered welfare fare programs are a sound public investment, while inadequate, halfhearted programs are a waste of the taxpayers' money. Anti-welfare people point out to us that there are sometimes second and third generation welfare recipients. I would point out to them that inadequate programs that demean, rather than efficiently build on the self-reliance of the recipients, are the breeding grounds of family patterns requiring public assistance from generation to generation.

The State Department of Public Health has operated well within the stringently inadequate limitations of its budget. With the death of Dr. Zimmerer in 1963, the state lost one of its most devoted public servants. It is a credit to our state's potential that we have been able to attract a man of the calibre of Dr. Long to the position of Acting Commissioner of Public Health.

The state's modern and progressive program in corrections has moved ahead steadily in the past biennium, although it was marred, as you know, by some costly and regrettable disturbances among inmates at the penal institutions. The situations from which these incidents arose have been remedied and every precaution has been taken to prevent future recurrence. The Board of Control and I have been united in our support of the modern program of treatment, training and rehabilitation which represents the best thinking in modern penology. Although the post of Director of Corrections is presently vacant, the Board is in the process of interviewing qualified prospects for the position and we are confident it will be filled in the near future.

Through the diligent effort of a highly competent Parole Board, probation and parole have been increased in the last few years with a resultant decline in prison populations since 1962. It is significant that there has been no marked increase in violation of paroles during this period.

Advancements made in the institutions under the Board in the current biennium include the development of a new program at the State Training School for Boys at Eldora that has attracted national attention and the establishment of new vocational programs for rehabilitation at the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa.

The functioning of government is never perfect, and even today there are many human needs that are not being adequately met in Iowa. Yet as I reflect on the vast and far-flung operations of government in Iowa, I can think of many distinguished services being performed day in and day out in which every Iowan can take pride. In downtown Des Moines on any day, you will see many persons moving about the streets with white canes-and you will know that this is part of the great work that is being done by the Commission for the Blind in teaching the newly blinded to make their way in life. In our wards for retarded children at our state hospitals, in the university laboratories where instruments are devised to record the mysteries of outer space, in the vocational rehabilitation of human beings with shattered bodies . . . in these and countless other areas you may find reason for pride in this state. I only regret that time does not permit me to touch on more of these vital services that attest to our humanity and civilization as a people.

AGRICULTURE

A year ago, as you all know, Iowa harvested its first billion-dollar corn crop. We have long been known as the state where the tall corn grows. God willing, we will always bear this proud title.

While the value of manufactured goods produced in Iowa now exceeds the value of agricultural products by more than three times, farming is still our basic industry. This is an economic fact and not a sentimental cliche.

In discussing the state of our state, I think we must face the fact that in this period when our state and national economies are surging to new levels of prosperity in other sectors, many Iowa farmers are facing economic crisis. This should be a matter of intense concern to every urban citizen of the state as well as our farm people, for nothing has a more profound effect upon the over-all well-being of Iowa than the state of our farm economy.
It is my personal conviction that we are entering in Iowa a new era of co-operation and mutual understanding-and this may well be the most important single development bearing upon the state of our state.

The lines that once separated rural and urban lowa are fading fast. I believe non-farm people in Iowa are developing a more enlightened understanding of farmers and their problems. This is of the utmost importance, since for the good of all, we need to present, as a state, a united front to the nation and to the world on behalf of Iowa agriculture.

Along the same lines, I think that Iowans as a whole are developing a fairer and more mature understanding of the problems and legitimate aspirations of the working men and women of the state. They are beginning to realize that the factory worker or mechanic who is their neighbor and fellow church member is still the same person as part of a labor organization.

It is generally acknowledged that Iowa's labor force is of the highest quality that may be found. It goes without saying that much of the credit for recent advancements in our state's economy must go to labor.

I hope and believe that the old age of stubborn prejudice and dark distrust toward working people and labor organizations is drawing to a close in Iowa.

In this hour of unlimited promise for our state, no Iowan can afford to be anti-business, anti-labor, anti-farmer, anti-government or anti-progress. No Iowan can afford to look with suspicion at his neighbor because of the occupation he follows, the church he attends or because of the color of his skin.

At long last, ladies and gentlemen, I believe we have begun to free ourselves from the bull-headed prejudices that have cramped our spirit and retarded our growth in years gone by.

Our future depends upon our ability to act as a united people. In a very real sense for Iowans, the state of our state is dependent on the state of our union, one with another.
Through a conscious effort to achieve higher levels of co-operation and mutual understanding, we can all become better Iowans.

Lieutenant Governor Robert D. Fulton, President of the Senate presiding, presented Governor Harold E. Hughes, who delivered the following inaugural address:

by
HONORABLE HAROLD E. HUGHES, GOVERNOR OF IOWA Joint Session, January 14, 1965
Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly, State Officials, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:
By official mileage charts, the distance from my home in Ida Grove to the State Capital is 140 miles.

As I look back over the past few years, it seems to me that the distance from that community to the Governor's office is so far that it should be measured in light years.

Permit me to say that I am deeply grateful to the people of Iowa for making the trip possible for me in 1962 and for extending my stay for another two years in 1964.

I am also deeply grateful for the warm reception you have accorded me today and earlier in the week when I brought you my State-of-the-State message.

The brightness of this beautiful, refurbished chamber is indicative of the atmosphere of hope in which this session has convened. The people of Iowa expect great things of this Sixty-first session of the General Assembly. I am confident their expectations will be met with constructive action of far-reaching importance to the future of our state.

As a result of the reapportionment plan enacted by the 1964 Special Session, Iowa's legislative family has grown in size. It has also undergone a change in its political complexion. I am sure the members of both political parties will understand the pride I feel, on this occasion of my second inaugural, to be addressing a General Assembly with majorities in both houses of my own political party.

The transition of a legislative delegation from the position of a responsible minority to that of a responsible majority requires wisdom and concerted effort. And the change from majority to minority status has its problems also. I have no doubt that the members of both delegations are equal to the challenge. This is two-party government in action. We are all deeply committed to a belief in our two-party system and we are all aware that in the final analysis our major responsibilities here rise above the confines of narrow partisanship.
In my first inaugural, I addressed an Assembly in which there was a commanding majority of the opposing party. It was widely conjectured whether or not we could work together to achieve constructive legislation. The record of the Sixtieth Session tells the story. We had our differences; we had our disputes; but in the regular session and in the special session, legislation of lasting importance to our state was enacted. I have every confidence we will see another outstanding record this year.
In my State-of-the-State message to this joint assembly, I suggested that perhaps the most important single development in Iowa in recent years has been the relaxation of prejudices among groups traditionally at odds in our state and the emergence of a new spirit of co-operation in causes for the common good. The lack of this spirit in years past has unquestionably been a deterrent to our growth and development. To those of you who are serving in the legislature for the first time, I would point out that in years gone by there have even been sharp differences between the two houses of our bicameral legislature.

The story is told concerning a member of the House of Representatives whose wife sat up in bed in the middle of the night and whispered to her husband: "I think there are robbers in the house." The Representative woke up just enough to mutter: "Impossible. In the Senate ${ }_{2}$ yes. But in the House, never:"
Seriously, addressing the new members again, I am sure you will find the prevailing atmosphere to be one of good will and constructive purpose.

As chief executive, I have been given certain responsibilities by our state constitution in the legislative process. I assure you I will carry out those responsibilities to the best of my ability, and will, at the same time, accord full respect to the traditional prerogatives of the legislature. There will be no cut-and-dried Hughes bills, as such, sent to you from the first floor. This is not my concept of the executive's responsibility in the legislative process. I construe it to be the job of the executive to suggest guidelines for legislation and to keep in close consultation with the members of the Assembly, but the actual making of the laws is the business of the legislature. I will communicate my views to your legislative leadership on a continuing basis and through special messages to the Assembly if it appears they would be useful. The doors of my office will be open to the members of both political parties at all times.

It is generally recognized that the basis of good legislation is compromise -not compromise of basic principle, but give and take in personal viewpoints to arrive at legislation that is in the best public interest. Every legislator who has occupied a desk in these chambers has been faced at times with the difficult choice of choosing between the interests of his particular constituency and the interests of the entire state. I blame no member for representing to the best of his ability the interests of the district that elected him. On the major issues, however, I hope and believe that we can arrive at solutions that will be for the long-range good of all of Iowa.

In this reference, it is my belief that you have made a highly constructive beginning by the action you have taken to eliminate secrecy in the legislative process. In my opinion, this action must be ranked, along with reapportionment, as one of the two most significant legislative reforms of the present century. The streamlining of your committee system is another signal improvement in the legislative process.

You have, in effect, cleared the decks for action on the momentous issues that stand before you. I wish you Godspeed in your important work and pledge to you my co-operation and good will in all phases of your endeavors.

Today, I respectfully submit to you my general recommendations for legislative action in the current session. As you know, the details of my financial recommendations will be contained in the budget message which will be delivered later this month. Obviously, in the time allotted to me, it would be impossible to cover every phase in detail. But here in condensed form are the major points:

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

In my State-of-the-State message, I outlined for you the salient facts concerning Iowa's record-breaking economic growth in the past two years. These included the attainment of new peaks in the value of manufactured goods, employment, personal income and new industrial developments. I am sure that we can all agree that one of our most important responsibilities is to sustain this momentum and to take whatever action is needed to strengthen and diversify our growing economy.

A number of the measures vital to the continuing advancement of our economy are included in the framework of recommended legislation in such fields as education, state government reorganization, conservation and taxation. Looking to the future, it is clear that if private investment is to flourish at the optimum level, we must be willing to make the public investments and governmental reforms required to assure continuing economic growth. A number of other proposals relating to the stimulation of our economy can be carried out without legislation, save for additional appropriations to existing agencies.

My recommendations relating to the state's economic development are as follows: (1) The establishment of a state-wide system of area vocationaltechnical training. (2) The development of a tourist and travel promotion program in our Development Commission to obtain our rightful share of a market estimated at $$ 40$ billion annually in the United States. (I might add that this tourist promotion program would include and give increased emphasis to the Farm Vacation program that has recently been inaugurated by this administration.) (3) Enactment of the Uniform Commercial Code to bring Iowa's laws dealing with commercial transactions of all kinds up to date and in line with similar legislation in other states. (4) Expansion of existing programs to develop greater industrial use of Iowa's agricultural products. (5) Elimination of the moneys and credits tax with a provision for replacement of its revenue for distribution to the units of local government. (6) Increased effort to obtain a fair share of federal government contracts and federal research facilities for Iowa. This should be done on a state basis and also on a regional basis through continued co-operation with the Midwest Governor's Conference and the Midwest Resources Association. (7) Increased emphasis on the promotion of foreign trade in agricultural and industrial products, including the possibility of a trade mission of key industrial and agricultural leaders abroad. (8) Continuation of the "Sell Iowa" missions to the nation's leading industrial complexes in the interests of recruiting new industry for the state.

APPORTIONMENT

It is my sincere hope that this Assembly will meet the problem of legislative reapportionment head-on.

I am well aware of the difficulty of the task. I am well aware of the profound differences of viewpoint that exist in the legislature and in the state on the subject of what constitutes fair apportionment. But I believe our responsibility is clearly outlined before us.

Despite the events of the past year, I think that much of our thinking regarding apportionment in this state is more emotional than realistic. Most Iowans, including myself, did not believe that the federal court rulings on apportionment would hew to population as closely as they have. Many Iowans, including myself, were thinking in terms of a two-house legislative pattern with moderate area representation in one house. This would still be acceptable to me.

But I believe deeply in the Constitution of the United States and its guarantees of the rights of all citizens, regardless of race, color, creed, sex or place of residence. Moreover, I believe deeply in our three-part system of government and in the right and ability of the Supreme Court to interpret the constitution. The law of the land has been ruled to mean "one person, one vote," and I believe we can live with it in Iowa-as citizens can live with it elsewhere in the United States-in an atmosphere of justice and good will.

I will oppose and I hope this Assembly will oppose any attempt to alter the United States constitution to curtail the authority of the courts in this area. If the authority of the courts is impaired with respect to determining equality of voting rights, the door will be open for further dismantling of the courts' traditional powers to uphold the civil rights guaranteed to all citizens by our constitution.

It is my recommendation that the legislature deal with the reapportionment problem in two ways-a constitutional amendment for the long range and a thorough look at our present "temporary" reapportionment law to make sure it meets the latest guidelines of the courts.

A constitutional amendment initiated by this session could be designed to become effective following the census of 1970. In my view, such an amendment should be drawn in the broadest possible terms. It should state that the legislature, following the next census and every ten years thereafter, would enact such measures as would guarantee to every citizen his constitutional rights at the polling place. A simple, effective and ironclad enforcement clause should be included.

In the meantime we also have an immediate problem. The last General Assembly, as you know, approved two reapportionment plans--the interim plan under which we are now functioning and a "permanent" plan in the form of a constitutional amendment. I believe that the latter is inadequate in virtually all respects and should be rejected.

Although I have said-and I feel-that the temporary plan offers reasonable equality of voting rights for all our citizens, recent court decisions indicate that there may be some question as to whether the Senate under the temporary plan would be adequate for the period until a new permanent plan becomes effective. I believe we have a responsibility to show good faith with the courts and with our people by moving in the direction charted by not one, but many judicial decisions.

As I have stated before, I favor sub-districting in legislative districts in which there are a number of representatives elected to one house.

PUBLIC SCHOOL EDUCATION

People are Iowa's most valuable asset. Labor earnings in Iowa are over three times the earnings of capital and land combined. Our rich land, our vast system of highways, our cities with their factories and homes-all of them combined are not as valuable as our people. And in this modern age, educated minds and skilled hands are needed to operate Iowa effectively. Natural resources, raw hands, and innate intelligence can not in themselves make a state productive and well off. The teeming millions of Asia are ample evidence that it is not the size of a state's population but the skill and ability of its people that are important. For our state's economic development as well as for the attainment of the good life, investment in education at all levels is essential.

Certainly no service of government in Iowa can be rated more important than the education of our children and youth for which we spend approximately $$ 300$ million each year.

In my report on the state of the state, I outlined the progress that has been made in school district reorganization and in teacher qualification in recent years.

As everyone knows, the main problem in public school education in Iawa is to find an adequate and equitable way of financing the needs of approximately 1,100 local school districts.

I am convinced that the majority of the people of Iowa want a larger share of state revenues distributed to local school districts to ease the burden of constantly rising school costs on local property taxes. I will make a specific proposal in this area in my budget message.

My recommendations relating to public school education include the following: (1) Increasing of state aid to local school districts. (2) Improvement and clarification of existing school reorganization laws. (3) Development of meaningful approval standards and clarification of the authority to administer those standards.

HIGHER EDUCATION

From the standpoint of economic growth, as well as the development of higher levels of culture and quality living, our institutions of higher learning, both public and private, are among the state's most valuable assets.

The economy of any area has many components-natural resources, transportation, power, labor, capital, markets and education. The lack of one restricts the full potential of that area's economy. More and more we see that higher education and its institutions are foundations for our new large and sophisticated industries.

Education is of two-fold benefit as we can see by looking at the states of California and Massachusetts. By having excellence of facilities and staff as girding, they have used government project research grants and private industry to create educational-industrial complexes which feed into their state economies by building on themselves. We can see this trend shaping in Iowa, as an increasing number of modern industrial plants are locating here and using the resources of our universities and their trained manpower.

With respect to higher education as well as public school instruction, the major problem is to provide the increased financing required to meet expanding enrollments with adequate facilities and quality instruction. My budget message will include significant increases for the state institution operating budgets.

As I have stated before, I am deeply interested in getting started with a long-range program for capital improvements of state institutions, even if on a modest basis to begin with.

I recommend that consideration be given to initiating a state-supported and administered scholarship program based on both ability and need.

In general, in our efforts to upgrade the programs of all our state institutions, I think we should realize that tuition rates cannot be raised to any marked degree beyond existing levels without depriving a large percentage of our young people of the opportunity for a university education.

The tax-exempt status of newly acquired income-producing property of private colleges in Iowa should, in my opinion, be terminated. However, income-producing properties held by private colleges prior to the time the new law is enacted should continue to be exempt for a reasonable period of time.

VOCATIONAL-TECHNICAL TRAINING

It is my recommendation that a high priority should be assigned to legislation to make possible establishment of a state-wide system of area vocational-technical training schools, with the administration of the area schools vested in a local board that would be representative of the school districts located in the area. The local districts should participate only to a modest extent-perhaps a mill of taxation-in the area involved; the state should provide the main financing with the assistance of federal funds that would be available.
Wherever feasible and when the people in the local districts are willing, vocational-technical training centers should be combined with community colleges. It is my belief that at least four vocational-technical training centers should be placed under construction in Iowa in the near future.

GOVERNMENT REORGANIZATION

I believe the time has come to take action on a number of long-needed phases of government reorganization that have been recommended by legistive committees and leaders of both political parties for many years. The recommendations I submit to you are for the following:
(1) A four-year term for the Governor and Lieutenant Governor with the provision that they run for election as members of the same political party in off-year elections. (2) Shortening of the ballot by providing for the appointment by the Governor of the State Treasurer, Secretary of State and Secretary of Agriculture, and appointment by the legislature of the State Auditor. (3) Annual sessions of the General Assembly, with the alternate session confined to budget and appropriations matters, and with a provision for more adequate compensation for members of the Assembly. (4) Granting of authority to the Governor to reorganize agencies of the state government, subject to veto by the legislature. (5) Granting to the Governor the power of item veto in appropriations bills. (6) Creation of a state planning agency within the existing framework of state government for long-range planning and inter-agency co-ordination. (7) Reorganization of the state tax commission with designation of a single tax administrator responsible for collection of taxes, and with the three-man tax commission to serve as an appeal board. (8) Consolidation of the Departments of Labor, Mines and Mining, and the Industrial Commissioner into a single department. (9) Consolidation of the functions of the Car Dispatcher, State Printing Board and a Central Purchasing Authority under the Executive Council.

LABOR

With respect to labor legislation, I repeat the recommendation I made in my First Inaugural Address and in subsequent statements, calling for the modification of the right-to-work law to eliminate the statutory prohibition of union shop contracts between employers and employees.

My recommendations in this area also include enactment of a state industrial safety law and a realistic review of our workmen's compensation and unemployment compensation laws, which are basically sound but need updating to meet current conditions.

ABOLITION OF CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

I believe the death penalty, which has not proved a deterrent to crime and which inflicts spiritual damage upon a civilized society, should be eliminated from the statutes.

CONSERVATION

In the light of the constructive long-range planning that has been carried out by the Conservation Commission in the past two years, the most urgent need in this area is for acquisition of forests, water areas and regions suitable for future recreation uses by the people of Iowa. The foundation should be laid for a continuing program to meet this overriding need, in order that future generations of Iowans will not be deprived of outdoor recreational opportunities.

The settlement of the Iowa-Nebraska boundary dispute, recommended elsewhere in this message, will open up a vast potential area for wildlife and outdoor recreation in western Iowa.

Legislation is needed to provide for state financing of the development and maintenance of rest areas along the interstate system and other major highways in the state.

CONFLICT OF INTEREST

The conflict of interest statutes should be revised and clarified so that qualified citizens will not be needlessly discouraged from serving in government, particularly in small communities. It is my opinion that this can be done with adequate safeguards to protect the public interest.

IOWA-NEBRASKA BOUNDARY

I would urge the Assembly to ratify the settlement of the Iowa-Nebraska boundary dispute recommended by the boundary committees of both states, in order to settle long-pending questions of land ownership and to open up the Western Slope of Iowa to commercial, industrial and recreational development.

HIGHWAYS

I recommend that the General Assembly enact a one-cent increase in the gasoline tax to be allocated to the state primary system. The program of curb leveling on our older and narrower primary roads should be continued as rapidly as possible, along with the widening of narrow bridges and other modernizations vital to driving safety.

High priority should be given by the Highway Commission to speeding up the construction of a system of four-lane highways to connect our major cities, while maintaining the best possible service to lesser-populated areas.

As I have stated before, I favor the reorganization of the administrative structure of the Highway Commission to place the non-engineering functions of the state's vast highway program under the direct supervision of a qualified administrator.

LIQUOR CONTROL

In my opinion, the liquor control legislation enacted by the last session of the Assembly has proved beneficial and workable in most respects. However, there are some improvements that should be made. I would, therefore, recommend legislation to: (1) Make uniform the days and hours during which liquor and beer can legally be sold. (2) Permit the issuance of six-month or eight-month liquor licenses to seasonal club operators. (3) Authorize the granting of quantity discounts only to commercial establishments holding liquor licenses.

In addition, I consider it highly important that the liquor control law be amended to correct flaws pointed up by the recent Iowa Supreme Court decision relating to the serving of liquor at private parties. It would appear that if the law is not corrected it could provide a loophole for the return of illegal operations resembling the old key club.

SCHOOL BUS ISSUE

I repeat my 1963 inaugural recommendation that the state law be amended to allow all children to ride on public school buses.

FREEDOM OF INFORMATION

As previously stated, I congratulate the Sixty-first General Assembly on the historic elimination of secrecy in the legislative process, and reaffirm this administration's policy of providing the press and the public open access to information regarding activities of state government.

PUBLIC DEFENDER

I repeat my recommendation of two years ago that the legislature consider the establishment of a public defender system to provide adequate legal defense for all accused persons regardless of their ability to pay.

ALCOHOLISM TREATMENT FACILITY

I strongly recommend that consideration be given to the possibility of establishing a long-needed alcoholism treatment center to provide effective medical aid and rehabilitation for victims of a disease that afflicts more than 50,000 Iowans. At a later date details and a possible site for this center will be recommended.

COMMISSION ON THE AGING

In its recent report, the Governor's Commission on the Aging recommended legislation to create a permanent state commission to deal with the problems of our older residents and to co-ordinate state, county and local activities in this area. This recommendation has my complete support.

PUBLIC HEALTH

In the past, the Department of Public Health has been severely handicapped by inadequate staff and appropriations. Steps have been taken in the last two years to strengthen the department within these limitations.

To provide for an improved program of public health services for the people of Iowa, I recommend that the Assembly adopt the recommendations submitted last year by the Governor's Public Health Advisory Committee, including: (1) Removal of unreasonable limitations on the salary for the Commissioner of Public Health. (2) Increased funds for the Department of Health, independent of fees. (3) Revisions in the composition and functions of the State Board of Health. (4) Legislation permitting local taxation specifically for health services.

SOCIAL WELFARE

As I have stated before, I am firmly convinced that efficiently administered programs to meet human needs in welfare are a sound investment in the future of our state. Inadequate, loosely administered programs which fail in their mission of helping people to help themselves are wasteful because they do not accomplish their basic objective.

The administration of the social welfare programs in Iowa involves large sums of money. Changing times have brought new approaches and concepts in welfare administration.

Periodically all departments can benefit from a comprehensive study of their organizational structure by outside authorities. I believe it would be beneficial at this time if qualified officials of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare were to study the entire structure and administration of the public assistance program in Iowa and make recommendations for organizational change and modernization in the state welfare department.

MENTAL HEALTH

In Iowa we are today meeting the challenge posed by recent medical advancement in the field of psychiatry and changing concepts in the treatment of mental illness by reassessing our current position and formulating a new realistic plan for the future. For the past eighteen months literally thousands of people throughout the state directly and indirectly, have been participating in two planning groups-one under the Lowa Mental Health Authority, planning for mental illness, and one under the Board of Control, planning for mental retardation. The results of this planning will be completed in final draft within the next six months.

In addition to this, the last General Assembly designated the Department of Public Health as the state agency to administer the federal-aid program for construction of facilities for mental health and mental retardation. It is possible that additional legislation will be necessary to clarify the relationship between state and local communities in the allocation and administration of federal and matching funds.

CORRECTIONS

For many years, one of the most urgent needs in our corrections systems has been for a security hospital for mentally disordered prison inmates. About 12 percent of our prison inmates are mentally disordered and need treatment, and at the present time we do not have a security hospital facility in which they can receive that treatment. It is high time that we met this need to avoid the possibility of returning inmates to socicty as dangerous as when they entered the institution.

Last year I made the suggestion that certain farms owned by the Board of Control institutions which appear to be losing money and are no longer needed for rehabilitation purposes should be sold and returned to local tax rolls. If this is done, the money should be used for capital improvements at the institutions and the building of a maximum security hospital should be a first priority.

I have long held the opinion that the state should have a long-range program for capital improvements at our state institutions. Any lands owned by the state, which are no longer needed for the purpose for which they were intended, or for future expansion, should be disposed of and the proceeds made available to the institutions for capital improvements.

With further reference to the field of corrections, I hope that in the foreseeable future we may have a pre-sentence investigation for every felony case. The use of probation and parole has been substantially and successfully increased in recent years, and it is my opinion that we should continue to make increased use of this sound and economical alternative to extend incarceration.

It is generally recognized that our juvenile and penal codes need revision to bring about greater uniformity of practice. I believe consideration should also be given to the enactment of a Model Sentencing Act in Iowa.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Three major actions have been taken by the state government in the past two years to eliminate discrimination for reasons of race, color and creed. One was the enactment of the first Fair Employment Practices Act in the state's history. The second was my issuance of an executive order to forbid discrimination in all departments of government under my jurisdiction. The third was the constructive effort of the Governor's Human Rights Commission.

It is my recommendation that this Assembly pass legislation creating a statutory Human Rights Commission with an appropriation adequate to hire the required staff and to conduct the investigative and educational activities of the Commission.

PUBLIC SAFETY

In my State-of-the-State message, I indicated the seriousness of the traffic safety problem and stated that several measures of important legislation would be needed to give the Department of Public Safety the resources needed to administer a sound safety program.

Specifically, I am recommending a 100 -man increase in the Iowa Highway Safety Patrol, with 50 men to be added in each year of the biennium. In order to expedite the recruiting and training of these men, and to get them on the highways as soon as possible, I am asking that this legislation have priority and that it be made effective upon publication.

I also recommend that a thorough study be made of our speed limits and that legislation be enacted to reduce those that are too high.

Among the other measures which I believe are needed for public safety are: (1) Expanded driver education programs for the young people of our state. (2) Legislation requiring seat belts in all new cars sold in Iowa. (3) Fully reflectorized license plates. (4) Strengthening of the temporary driving permit program. (5) Steps leading to periodic re-examination of all licensed drivers. (6) Legislative studies to update the state motor vehicle code for the first time since 1946 and to look into the advantages of statewide motor vehicle inspection.

This is a broad program requiring much work on the part of the legislature, but I believe that the staggering loss of lives, the injuries and the economic loss suffered on Iowa highways demands such positive, concrete action.

INTERGOVERNMENTAL RELATIONS

One of the most promising approaches to gaining new levels of efficiency and economy in government is through intergovernmental co-operation. This has been a comparatively untapped resource in Iowa and it is high time we took advantage of it.

At this point I am not referring to actual consolidation of government such as has been effected in Dade County, Florida, and other metropolitan regions, but simply to common sense co-operation between the units of local government-the counties, the municipalities and the school boards-and between local government jurisdictions and the state. Through joint planning and joint use of services and facilities, substantial benefits and savings can be effected.

Early in 1964, I appointed a Governor's Commission on State and Local Government with representation from the various governmental jurisdictions and from private citizens in all parts of the state. This Commission has performed an invaluable service as a study group and sounding board for awakening state-wide interests in new approaches to intergovernmental co-operation.

One of the recommendations of this Commission is for a law to grant broad authority to units of state and local government in Iowa to enter into contracts for joint use of facilities and services.

I strongly recommend the enactment of this proposal.

MUNICIPAL HOME RULE

The Sixtieth General Assembly enacted the first legislation in modern times to grant cities and towns a measure of self-determination in their local affairs. A constitutional amendment to grant these powers was first submitted under the sponsorship of the League of Iowa Municipalities. This passed the Senate by a wide margin, but died in the sifting committee of the House. Subsequently, a statute granting home rule powers to local communities was enacted into law.

Last fall, this statute was ruled unconstitutional in a test case in Greene County district court. I understand it is now under appeal to the Supreme Court.

I believe that a home rule amendment should be adopted by this Assembly to assure local communities of the self-government in local affairs they have long demanded and sorely needed.

BILLBOARD CONTROL

For the benefit of our own citizens and for the benefit of tourists visiting Iowa, I believe we should preserve the scenic beauties of our Iowa countryside by enacting legislation to control the erection of billboards along our interstate highway system. It is significant and a gesture in the public interest that the Iowa Outdoor Advertising Association has publicly announced that it will not oppose this legislation in the present session. I sincerely hope that this Assembly will adopt a sound billboard control measure.

STATE OFFICE BUILDING

In my budget message, I will recommend the allocation of funds for acquisition of land and construction of a new state office building in line with the recommendations of the Capitol Planning Commission. The state government has so outgrown its present facilities that some agencies are located in two condemned buildings on the Capitol grounds, while numerous others are scattered in more than a half dozen downtown locations at a cost to the taxpayers of more than $$ 150,000$ a year in rent.

DAYLIGHT TIME

In order to eliminate the confusion that has existed in the past, I recommend that legislation be enacted to make Daylight Time uniform in Iowa during the summer months.

VOTER REGISTRATION

I believe we should encourage greater participation in elections by making it easier for our citizens to register to vote. It is my recommendation that sound measures be taken to liberalize our voter registration laws, particularly by lengthening the hours of registration by making registration available at more accessible locations during certain periods.

AGRICULTURE

At this point a new administration in the office of the Secretary of Agriculture is taking a fresh inventory of the services this department offers to the farmers of Iowa.

It is my recommendation that a comprehensive effort in inter-agency planning between the Secretary of Agriculture, the Development Commission, the University Extension Services, and a number of other state agencies be undertaken to develop new programs for the benefit of Iowa farmers.

With reference to federal farm policies, the best a Governor can promise with any degree of candor is to fight with all the energy and influence at his command for the interests of Iowa farmers in connection with federal legislation and policy-making. This I have done in the past; this I will continue to do in the term ahead.

COURT STUDY COMMITTEE

Each session of the General Assembly, a number of committee and commissions are created by the legislature to study a given area during the interim period and then to submit their findings to the next session.

One of the most valuable studies completed since the last session of the Assembly is that of the Legislative Court Study Commission.

While I do not agree with every phase of the Commission's recommendations, I do agree with much of it and with the objective of upgrading our court system, particularly at the local level. I recommend this report to the Assembly and for study and for possible legislative action.

PERSONNEL

If we are to sustain the unprecedented forward movement that Iowa has achieved in the last two years, we must gain for government the ability to compete with private industry for qualified personnel.

Recently we had the Public Administration Service make a study of salaries of key officials in state government. In the light of their findings we have found support for our intention to make significant increases in the salaries of those officials.

It is my hope that this Assembly will enact civil service for state employees. Quite frankly it seems illogical that we should require municipal government, after it reaches a certain size, to come under civil service, only to deny it to our own state employees,

I intended to deliver a speech here today-not an encyclopedia. Yet, if my speech, by its very weight in printed form, conveys to anyone the idea that state government is a big operation; then perhaps it has served some useful purpose.

I think of many vital areas of government that I have not had time to touch upon-including the state programs for rehabilitation of the physically handicapped, the orientation and training of the blind, the special education programs for retarded children, and the research in our universities, extending from the quest for new uses for farm products to the probing of the mysteries of outer space.

All of these are part of the mighty human resource programs of our state government, which this administration is firmly committed to sustaining and strengthening.

In my first inaugural message, I said: "The scope of government covers the entire spectrum of human life ... As I see it, the responsibility of a new administration is to take a total approach-rather than to concentrate on a few areas and neglect the others."

This, ladies and gentlemen, I have done to the best of my ability.
In that first inaugural, I also said: "Frankly, I expect to experiment and make some mistakes."

This statement I have also fulfilled, I might add.
If you will forgive a purely personal viewpoint, ladies and gentlemen, I would say that in the past two years we have seen a revolution of attitude in this state. I am not suggesting that we have changed our fundamental beliefs and impulses. I am suggesting only that we have rearranged them and changed our outlook.

We have swung from a negative to an affirmative point of view. We have, I think, reached a clearer distinction between what is right and what is only self-righteous. We have regained our poise, our sense of venture and our faith in the future. We have relaxed some of our old prejudices and exhibited a new willingness to work together for common goals. In short, we have gained maturity and unity of purpose as a society. And this bodes well for Iowa's future.

On this memorable occasion, my heart is full of gratitude for the help and the courtesy we have received in the past two years from the members of the General Assembly and from the people of Iowa.

On behalf of my wife and family and myself, I thank you all.
The people of this state are an energetic and self-reliant breed with great staying power and spiritual strength. The beauty and abundance of the state are beyond the legendary dreams of the promised land. Our potential stands like a tall building against the sky.

It is my devout hope that this administration in this era of promise can provide the people of Iowa with sound, forward-looking and humane government during the biennium ahead.

To this end, I pledge you my good will and my unreserved co-operation.

The following benediction was offered by Bishop Ralph Hayes, Bishop of the Davenport Diocese, Davenport, Iowa:

PSALM 66

May God have mercy on us, and bless us; may He cause the light of His countenance to shine upon us, and may He have mercy upon us.

That we may know thy way upon earth; thy salvation in all nations. Let people confess to thee, 0 God; let all the people give praise to thee.

Let the nations be glad and rejoice; for thou judgest the people with justice, and directest the nations upon earth.

Let the people confess to thee; let all the people give praise to thee; the earth hath yielded her fruit.

May God, our God, bless us; may God bless us, and all the ends of the earth fear him. Amen.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 7  By Brinck, Wilson, Mahan

Whereas: Sir Winston Spencer Churchill passed away on January 24, 1965, at the age of ninety, thereby causing inexpressible grief to thousands throughout the world.

And Whereas: The whole world is made poorer by the loss of his many-sided genius; a loss which is felt in the United States as deeply as it is in the British Commonwealth of Nations.

And Whereas: What he said and what he did will never die, but will live forever as the symbol of the era his passing ends.

And Whereas: As he himself once said: "The destiny of mankind is not decided by material computation. When great causes are on the move in the world . . . we learn that we are spirits, not animals, and that something is going on in space and time, and beyond space and time, which, whether we like it or not, spells duty."

Therefore Be it Resolved: By the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring, of the Sixty-first General Assembly of Iowa that in the passing of the Rt. Honorable Sir Winston Spencer Churchill the world has lost an honored citizen and a faithful and useful servant and the General Assembly by this resolution would express its appreciation of his service and tender its sympathy to the members of his family.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of this House and that the Chief Clerk be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the family of the deceased, the Parliament of the United Kingdom, and its Embassy in Washington, D. C.

REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Splaker of the House of Representatives, and the Members of the Sixty-first General Assembly of the State of Iowa:
The Budget and Financial Control Committee of the Sixtieth General Assembly herewith submits the following report and recommendations.

The Committee made annual visits to the institutions under the Board of Regents, the Board of Control, and also visited many of the projects under the State Conservation Commission. The General Assembly gave this Committee the duty of releasing funds appropriated by the legislature for capital expenditures when, in this Committee's judgment, it was for the best interests of the State of Iowa, and to carry out the intents and purposes of the legislature. In our best judgment, such a policy has been followed in making every allocation or release of funds.

We recommend for the consideration of the Sixty-first General Assembly the following subjects:

Give consideration to:

1. Consolidation of all Legislative Service Agencies into one-three divisional unit (fiscal, legal and research).
2. Confidential status on Data Processing so that all agencies can make full usage of it.
3. Raise boiler inspection fees as proposed by Department of Bureau of Labor and install additional inspectors.
4. Have any department participating in Federal Funds be required to file copy of Federal Statute and Federal Administrative Rules with the Legislative Research Bureau.
5. Change statutes on what monies can be collected for support. (Mar-shalltown-assets instead of income.)
6. Oakdale Sanatorium being placed under University Hospital.

On December 31, 1964, the sum of $$ 1,115,671.83$ remained in this fund. Respectfully submitted, Clifford M. Vance, Chairman.
C. Joserh Coleman.

George O'Malley.
Robert R. Rigler.
John D. Shoeman.
On the Part of the Senate. The following members dissented on Item 1: Senators Coleman and O'Malley; Representatives Dunton and Loss.

REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Members of the Sixty-first General Assembly of the State of Iowa:
Pursuant to Senate Concurrent Resolution 4, adopted by the Extraordinary Session of the Sixtieth General Assembly of Iowa, your Budget and Financial Control Committee of the Sixtieth General Assembly has continued its investigation of the conduct of the management and affairs of the Iowa State Highway Commission. In compliance with the Resolution your Committee desires to file with the General Assembly a copy of the transcript of hearings, and the summation of hearings presented to this Committee by Attorney Ned Willis, the attorney retained by this Committee to conduct the investigation. Your Commitee further wishes to submit the following majority and minority reports:

MAJORITY REPORT

1. The Highway Commission gave no satisfactory explanation for the switch of 14 miles of Interstate 80 paving from concrete to asphalt, after the roadbed had been graded for concrete. Your Committee has been unable to determine definitely from the testimony why the switch was made.
A. The explanation given at the time of the switch was to the effect that the portland cement paving industry would be severely taxed during 1964 to complete its work. This explanation proved to be of no substance and during the hearing the Commissioners did not use this explanation.
B. The explanation most commonly given by the Commissioners during the hearing was that they wanted to keep the asphalt industry alive. Not one bit of evidence was given to substantiate this.
(1) This explanation crumbled when actual bids on the two projects were taken; only one Iowa asphalt contractor submitted a bid on each project.
C. No engineer or staff member recommended the switch. In fact, the Pavement Selection Committee of three staff members originally, and again after a thorough review, recommended portland cement concrete.
2. Commission records on the switch were grossly inadequate. The few records available were of little value. In the future, complete records must be kept showing dates, authors, reasons and actions taken.
3. Cheapest original cost is the only factor considered under present policy in determination of paving type. (This was ignored, however, on the two Interstate 80 projects, as evidence clearly showed portland cement was cheaper by approximately $$ 128,000-$ 104,000$ of this was the cost of removing six and one-half inches of grade from the roadbed.)
4. In the future, maintenance costs should definitely be considered in pavement selection. Maintenance records do appear to be excellent. These records show that for the five years ended June 30, 1964, asphalt maintenance costs were $$ 1,246.99$ per mile and concrete costs $$ 193.70$ per mile. While the federal government pays part of the construction costs on primary highways, the Iowa road user pays all maintenance costs.
5. The best interests of the Iowa road user should be the primary concern of the Commission; assisting special interest groups should never take precedence over the public interest.
6. Highway Commissioners must be above reproach in their personal and business dealings. The Iowa highway program has, in the past, been free of scandal. It must remain so. Legislation outlawing unethical business and personal dealings of Commissioners should be enacted promptly.
7. No Chief Engineer can effectively handle all of the present responsibilities. A trained business manager should be appointed to relieve the Chief Engineer of many of the administrative responsibilities.
8. Your Committee believes the legislature should carefully consider whether the present Highway Commission of five members should be replaced with a Director of Highways, as in many other states.
9. Closer budgeting, auditing and supervision of expenditures of the Commission should be exercised by the legislature.
10. If the present Highway Commission system is continued, Commissioners must have closer liaison with the staff, and be better informed.
A. The Chairman of the Commission testified there were 400 fewer employees at the Commission from the previous year; the Chief Engineer later testified the number of employees was about the same.
11. The present system of qualification of bidders appears vague and arbitrary. It should be modernized and explicitly stated. Performance bonds may be beneficial.
12. The Commission should re-examine its policy of letting paving contracts for such short (six mile average on Interstate) sections. It seems logical that longer sections would result in cheaper per mile costs.
13. Taking bids on both asphalt and concrete for the same project should be considered carefully.
14. Allowing contractors to bid on individual projects, and then submit an overall bid for combined projects (tie bids) could result in substantial savings.
15. Your Committee regrets that it was unable to get a logical, satisfactory explanation for this switch. We must conclude that the switch was not in the best interests of the Iowa taxpayer.
16. We do feel the investigation has made the public and public officials aware of serious shortcomings in the administration of the present highway program, shortcomings which can and must be corrected. The Highway Commission handles more money than any department in state government; the public must have confidence that every road tax dollar is spent wisely. Iowans are demanding intelligence, efficiency and integrity in their highway program-they deserve no less!

MINORITY REPORT

The filing of the Highway Commission report agreed to by the six Republican members, and disapproved by the four Democratic members, brings to an end a search that started more than a year ago in eastern Iowa.

A search which sought to find an appealing political issue which would culminate in the harvest of a bumper crop of votes for the G. O. P. on November 3. The search to harvest a mammoth crop of G. O. P. votes was undertaken with glee and anticipation.

Our good Governor Hughes and his able Highway Commissioners were to be exposed and exploited and removed from state leadership because of a change of 14 miles of Interstate from the so-called high-priced "spread".

History has now recorded the crop failure.
The undersigned assert that the most comforting conclusion from the inquiry is that there was no evidence of improper conduct or irregularities by the Commissioners. It was apparent during the long drawn out matter that Iowa has fine Commissioners who are successful in their own businesses and who are serving the public at a personal sacrifice in both time and money. This likewise can be said of former Commissioners.
As to the switch in paving material of the 14 miles, we are satisfied with the explanation given by each of the Commissioners and their individual reasons were not the same. The engineering staff made the reevaluation at the Chief Engineer's instruction and such is a common and accepted practice in road construction as the original determination was made in 1961.

The Engineering Department assured the Commissioners that the AASHO tests in Illinois and the new designs as a result thereof make the use of material other than concrete satisfactory. Likewise the U. S. Bureau of Roads approves both types of surface material. While the design committee thought concrete would be cheaper, still the variation in costs as estimated would be less than one percent (letter October 7, 1963). Nothing was shown that the design committee is, or has been, infallible in their estimates and we agree that the Commissioners are not to just rubber stamp others' conclusions, but are to use their own judgment after receiving memoranda from the staff.

As was brought out in the testimony early in 1964, the Commission, on its own initative, was reviewing its procedures, including securing the services of a business manager. Such a review was postponed as a result of the inquiry. We believe a business or office manager should be employed. We believe this long investigation has slowed down needed changes at the Ames office, and we urge that these changes be carried through without further delay.

We believe more complete records of Commission procedure should be kept and better communication between the Commission and staff established.

We believe maintenance costs should be an item considered in pavement selection and that the design committee of engineers apparently have not done so in the past.

We believe the use of both surface materials will keep the industries competitive and should result in lower per mile cost.

We believe a Highway Commission of five members is superior to a one man director as suggested by some.

We believe that Chapter 314 of the Code that sets out the matter of bidding which has been carefully followed could well be reviewed to see if any improvements are in order.

We believe, after a summer of many conferences, five days of hearings, hiring of a G O. P. lawyer, appearances of 10 witnesses, examination of 66 exhibits, and after considering the 1,097 pages of testimony taken, that Iowa is fortunate in having a Highway Commission and staff against whom no irregularities were found after a most extensive and drawn out inquiry.

Many other states have not been so fortunate in their Highway departments.

We hope now that the Commission and its staff can get on with the matter of highway construction now that November 3 is history.

We see no need for any new legislation on ethics in government or conflict of interest to clutter up the Code book. The present statutes are adequate and have been interpreted by the Attorney General's office. After all, proper conduct in government is a matter that must exist in the hearts and minds of men.

III.

The Legislative Court Study Commission in Part I of its report dealing with Court Structure has recommended the creation of a unified trial court. The report recommends, as an essential adjunct to such unification, a simplified procedure for the enforcement of small claims. The legislature must act on certain recommended bills before a unified court can be established. However, the rules of procedure for a small claims action are the proper subjects of the rule making authority of the supreme court. The commission has set out, commencing on page 15 in Part I of its report, the small claims rules and has submitted them to the supreme court for action.

Section 684.19 of the 1962 Code of Iowa requires the supreme court to report any rules or forms which it may prescribe to the General Assembly within 20 days after the commencement of the regular session. It is highly unlikely that the legislature will have completed action on this important proposition within that time, but it is essential that the small claims rules be effective if the legislature does act favorably on the proposition of the unified court during this session. Therefore, the supreme court on recommendation of the Court Study Commission, has prescribed rules for the enforcement of small claims to be effective only in the event the Sixtyfirst General Assembly in regular session adopts legislation creating a unified trial court system. Pursuant to Section 684.19, Code of Iowa 1962, these rules, intended to constitute an additional division to the existing Rules of Civil Procedure, are reported to you as follows:

DIVISION XX SMALL CLAIMS

Rule 378. Commencement, Docket. Civil actions in which the amount in controversery in money or value is less than $$ 300$, exclusive of interest and costs, shall be known as small claims. All such actions shall be commenced by the filing of an original notice with the clerk and by the mailing by the clerk of a copy of same to each defendant at his last known address, as stated in the original notice, by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested. Instead of such mailing, the plaintiff may, after filing the original notice with the clerk, cause a copy of same to be served on all or some defendants in the manner provided in Division III of these rules, whereupon Rules 48 and 49 shall be applicable as to the defendants to be so served. The clerk shall maintain a book known as the small claims docket, which shall contain as to small claims the matters contained in the combination docket as to regular civil actions.
Rule 379. Original Notice. The original notice must be mailed or otherwise served not less than 10 days prior to the hearing date. The original notice and copies shall be signed by the plaintiff, either in person or by attorney, and shall be in substantially the following form:
IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF IOWA IN AND FOR......................COUNTY

ORIGINAL NOTICE

3. If both money and something else are demanded, state both 1 and 2) based on $\qquad$ (State briefly the basis for the demand) and that unless you appear and defend before the above named court at in........................................, Iowa, at.................o'clock (Place) (City or Town) .M. on the..............day of...................................., 19........, judgment will be rendered against you for the relief demanded, together with interest and court costs.

Rule 380. Function of Clerk. The clerk shall furnish forms of original notice and shall assist in their preparation if requested to do so. At the time of filing, the clerk shall enter on the original notice and the copies to be served the file number and the time and place of hearing, which shall be a time when small claims are scheduled to be heard not less than 10 nor more than 20 days after the date on which the notice will be mailed or otherwise served. The clerk shall mail a copy of the original notice to each defendant by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested, except for defendants whom the plaintiff wishes to serve under Division III of these rules.

Rule 381. Fees. Before filing the original notice, the clerk shall collect a fee of $$ 1$ and the cost of mailing the notice, when it is to be mailed. If the plaintiff wishes to serve the notice under Division III of these rules, the person serving or publishing the same may require advance payment of his fee and mileage.

Rule 382. Pleadings. Except as provided in rules 379 and 383, there shall be no written pleadings or motions unless the court in the interest of justice requires them, in which event they shall be similar in form to the original notice.

Rule 383. Joinder, Counterclaim, Cross Claim, Intervention.
(a) Division II of these rules and rule 75 shall be applicable to small claims actions.
(b) In small claims actions, if a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, the court shall (1) order the small claim to be heard under this division and dismiss the other claim without prejudice, or (2) as to parties who have appeared or are existing parties, either (a) order the small claim to be heard under this division and the other claim to be tried by regular procedure or (b) order both claims to be tried by regular procedure.
(c) In small claims actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be in writing and similar in form to the original notice, and shall be entitled Original Notice of Counterclaim, of Cross Claim, or of Intervention, as the case may be. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties may be brought in without order and shall be served with notice as provided in rules 378 and 379 ; and if notice is to be served by mail the clerk shall collect the cost of mailing before filing the pleading. The clerk shall furnish forms of such pleadings and shall assist in their preparation if requested to do so. No counterclaim is necessary to assert an offset arising out of the subject of the plaintiff's claim.
(d) In small claims, actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention not in the amount of a small claim shall be in the form of a regular pleading. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties, when permitted by order, may be brought in under rule 34 and shall be given notice under Division III of these rules. The court shall either (1) order such counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention to be tried by regular procedure and the other claims to be heard under this division, or (2) order the entire action to be tried by regular procedure.
(e) In regular actions, when a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, regular procedure shall apply to both unless the court transfers the small claim to the small claims docket for hearing under this division.
(f) In regular actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be pleaded, tried, and determined by regular procedure, unless the court transfers such small claim to the small claíms docket for hearing under this division.
(g) Pleadings which are not in correct form under this rule shall be ordered amended so as to be in correct form; but a small claim which is proceeding under this division need not be amended although in the form of a regular pleading.
(h) Copies of any papers filed by the parties, which are not required to be served, shall be mailed or delivered by the clerk as provided in rule 82.

Rule 384. Proof of Service. At the time for hearing, the court or clerk shall first determine that proper notice has been given a party before proceeding further as to him, unless he has appeared or is an existing party, and also that the action is properly brought as a small claim.

Rule 385. Default. Unless good cause to the contrary appears, (1) if the parties fail to appear at the time of hearing, the claim shall be dismissed without prejudice by the court or clerk; (2) if the plaintiff fails to appear but the defendant appears, the claim shall be dismissed with prejudice by the court or clerk; and (3) if the plaintiff appears but the defendant fails to appear, judgment shall be rendered against the defendant by the court, or by the clerk if the relief to be granted is readily ascertainable.

Rule 386. Hearing. The time for appearance shall be the time for hearing. The hearing shall be to the court, shall be simple and informal, and shall be conducted by the court itself, without regard to technicalities of procedure; but the decision must be based on substantial evidence. The court shall swear the parties and their witnesses, and examine them in such way as to bring out the truth. The parties may participate, either personally or by attorney. The court may continue the hearing from time to time if justice requires. The proceedings shall not be reported unless a party provides a reporter at his own expense or the parties by agreement cause the proceedings to be electronically reported, but there shall be no delay for such purpose.
Rule 387. Judgment Minutes.
(a) The judgment shall be entered in a space on the original notice first filed, and the clerk shall immediately enter the judgment in the small claims docket and district court lien book. Such relief shall be granted as is appropriate. The court may enter judgment for installment payments; and in such event execution shall be suspended as long as such payments are made, but execution shall issue for the full unpaid balance of the judgment upon the filing of an affidavit of default as to any part of an installment. When entered on the small claims docket and district court lien book, a small claims judgment shall constitute a lien to the same extent as regular judgments entered on the district court judgment docket and lien book; but if a small claims judgment requires installment payments, it shall not constitute a lien for any amount until an affidavit of default is filed, whereupon it shall constitute a lien for the full unpaid balance of the judgment.
(b) Unless the hearing is reported, minutes of the testimony of each witness and of any stipulations of the parties shall likewise be entered on the original notice first filed; and the exhibits or copies thereof shall be attached to such original notice or be filed, until released by the court.

Rule 388. Costs. The actual expense of the prevailing party for filing fee, mailing or otherwise serving original notice, and witness fees and mileage, shall be taxed as costs. No other costs shall be taxed except on order of court for good cause.

Rule 389. Other Statutes and Rules. Small claims shall be commenced, heard, and determined in accordance with this division. Other statutes and rules relating to civil proceedings shall apply, but only insofar as not inconsistent with this division. Service of original notice according to rule 56 or 378 supersedes the need of its publication, whether the party served is or resides within or without Iowa. Small claims on file for 90 days and not determined shall be dismissed without prejudice unless prior thereto a party secures an order of continuance to a date certain after notice and hearing, upon a ground stated in rule 215.1. Actions in probate involving the amount of a small claim shall be heard and determined under this division and may be commenced hereunder; if commenced as a regular civil action or under the statutes relating to probate proceedings, they shall be transferred to the small claims docket and proceed accordingly. Civil actions coming within this division but commenced in the regular way shall not be dismissed but shall be transferred to the small claims docket and proceed accordingly. Civil and probate actions not coming within this division but commenced hereunder shall be dismissed without prejudice except for defendants who have appeared, as to whom such actions shall be transferred to the combination or probate docket, as the case may be, and proceed accordingly.
If the Sixty-first General Assembly fails to create a unified trial court system, the "small claims" rules appearing in this part III of the report to you shall be void and of no effect.

Respectfully submitted,
THE SUPREME COURT OF IOWA, By s/T. G. Garfiedd, Chief Justice.

BUDGET MESSAGE TO THE SIXTY-FIRST GENERAL ASSEMBLY

> By Honorable Harold E. Hughes, Governor of Iowa Joint Session, February 1, 1965

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-first General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:
I am sure that other governors have felt, as I feel today, that a biennial budget message should be something more than a perfunctory recitation of items and figures that can be seen on the comptroller's printed budget report by anyone with two eyes in his head. A budget message, if it is worth its salt, should communicate, along with the statistics, a lucid picture of an administration's philosophy relating to government finance and the basic mission of government.

We do not always think of it in this sense, but a budget is the skeletal framework of government planning. The road to the state house, as well as to other legendary destinations, is paved with grood intentions. But when we come to grips with the budget, we have reached the ultimate moment of truth as to our determination and capability to fulfill those intentions.

In simplest terms, the mission of government is two-fold. On the one hand, we have the administration of a vast organization and the stewardship of public funds. In this sense, it is not unlike the operation of an immense business establishment. On the other hand, the job of government is also to the meet human needs and enhance the well-being of the citizens. We cannot neglect either hemisphere of this mission without failing to fulfill vital responsibilities with which the public has entrusted us.
My concept of our responsibility as public officials is that we should attempt to lead, rather than to push the public, toward the objectives in which we believe. This involves some thoughtful and sensitive interpretation of the public will. Yet this does not mean that we hitch-hike our way with the more obvious public sentiments in order to avoid irritating any segment of the electorate. That is the road back, not the road ahead.
Good government, as I see it, requires that we move ahead-at times boldly, at times more deliberately-but always moving toward the plausible goals of today and the idealistic goals of tomorrow. Our over-all planning for the next biennium, including its budgetary framework, must be placed in the setting of our long-range objectives, if we are to keep faith with our charge as public officials.
During the long period in which this budget has been in preparation, I have been subjected to strong pressures from two poles. On the one hand, we have those who would transform the state overnight with respect to the particular governmental service in which they are interested. From the other pole comes equal pressure in the form of resistance to rising costs of government and higher taxes.
This push-and-pull has been accentuated at the present time because of the political changeover and the comparative economic health of the state.

I am sure that you members of the Assembly are experiencing this pressure, just as I am.

Which direction shall we take? What is it that the people of Iowa expect of us? What is our mandate?

As I see it, our mandate is to keep Iowa moving ahead within the practical limits of our financial capability.

As I see it, our mandate is to take sure-footed steps toward the immediate future while keeping our eyes and purpose steadfastly on the stars of our future.

It is our duty to see the responsibility of governing in its totality-not in fragments. There is no service of government, for example, that is more important than education. Yet, however tempted we might be, we cannot enhance our educational facilities to the exclusion of such vital areas as public safety, highway construction, public health, industrial development and the care of the handicapped.

If, to some, this be treason to our ideals; then we must live with the criticism-for our responsibility is to all of the people of this state and to all of the human needs that state government is committed to meet.

What I am saying is that we must stand tall with our ideals but we must also keep our feet on the ground.

To place our emphasis on certain favored sectors of government, neglecting others, would be irresponsible. To ignore the realities of what the public is conceivably willing to bear in supporting government would be foolish.

As a personal statement, let me say to you that what makes my job rewarding to me is the opportunity it provides to work for goals for this state in which I deeply believe.

If I thought I were not doing this, the job of governor would quickly lose its lustre for me.

Our concern for this state's future must be more compelling than any consideration of political partisanship or any desire for self-perpetuation in public office.
Neither the job of administering nor the job of legislating is easy or glamorous if properly fulfilled.
It consists of hard work and hard knocks along the way, and the achievement of progress is the only real reward for public service.

As I said at the beginning, it was inevitable that some of you and I would, at times, have our differences. We are having them-and I think that this is all to the good and all in the day's work. Neither you nor I came to the capitol for the ride or to win a year-around popularity contest.

We were sent here by the people because they felt that the programs we offered would be for the best interests of the State of Iowa. We were not sent here to yield to special interests lobbies or to favor any region or occupational group-but to work for the state as a whole.

In this budget, as in the goals set forth in my inaugural, I have tried to deal fairly and objectively with the needs of all of the segments of our society-with agriculture, labor, industry, and so on across the spectrum.

But I want to make it clear that so far as I am concerned, no occupational group in our state has received or will receive preferential consideration. Nor will any group be in the position of "running the state" so long as I occupy the chair as Governor.
I have the utmost faith in the integrity, the purpose and the good judgment of this legislature--just as I have faith in the character of the rank and file of the people who sent you here.

In this same reference, I have every respect for the prerogatives of the General Assembly and will never knowingly violate them.

The doors of my office are open to every member and whether we are in agreement or disagreement, I will always be available to counsel with you and to tell you face to face where I stand.

The budget I am submitting to you is a balanced, pay-as-you-go blueprint for the next biennium in accordance with the pre-election commitments I made to the people.
I make no claim of perfection for it. A Governor's budget, at best, is only a rough-draft set of guidelines for the legislature to use in its massive task of appropriating and arriving at ways and means.
Possibly no proposed budget in the state's history has had the counsel of as many people in its preparation or involved as many man hours of laborious effort. I am deeply grateful to the comptroller, Mr. Selden, and his staff; to the department heads of the state government and their staff members; to numerous legislative committees; and to a large number of private citizens who have been enormously helpful with advice and suggestions, which I asked for and they generously gave.

As you may recall, we conducted for the first time in Iowa's history a public hearing on the state budget. I am grateful for the response this innovation received from public-spirited citizens around the state as well as from members of the legislature and personnel from the many departments of the state administration.
Earlier, I had conducted mid-term budget hearings with department heads and a number of private meetings with business and community leaders in various parts of the state. All of this preparation was extremely helpful to me and I want, at this time, to acknowledge my indebtedness to the dedicated people-government servants and private citizens, many of whom were light-years apart from me in political viewpoint-who contributed this invaluable service.

I would point out to you today, as I have pointed out before, the close relationship between state and local governments. We cannot isolate the needs and revenue programs of state government from those of our cities, towns and counties and arrive at a true perspective. After all, it is the whole range of governmental services that counts for the individual citizen, regardless of which jurisdiction of government provides those services. In the same sense, it is the total tax load borne by each taxpayer that concerns him, rather than whether the taxes be state or local.

We take just pride in the fact that our state government is virtually debtfree and levies no property tax other than the very minor levy for the World War II and Korean War bonus bonds. But we have no right to be proud of a moderate state tax program if we have, at the same time, shifted a disproportionate load of the cost of government onto local jurisdictions. Our goal must be to hold combined state and local tax loads at the most reasonable level.

The importance of local government and its close relationship with state government have never received the recognition to which these basic facts of life are entitled.

The closest possible co-ordination should be sought between state programs and local programs in order to insure sound government operation at the lowest possible cost to Iowa taxpayers.

To study the intergovernmental potential and to develop recommendations for closer co-operation between the units of local government and between state and local jurisdictions, I appointed a Governor's Commission on State and Local Government, with wide and diversified representation from all levels of government and from all parts of the state. The results of this commission's deliberations have been highly encouraging and some of its recommendations have been incorporated in my inaugural and budget messages.

A state budget is necessarily long and involved because of the magnitude of the state government operation. I have made my comments on the budgetary items as succinct as possible, seeing no purpose in reciting long lists of figures that you can read from the statistical sheets. Supplementary printed materials will be furnished you today; and in the near future, additional tabulations will be made available to you, providing more detailed information on various departmental requests and suggested sources of revenue.

REVENUES FROM EXISTING TAX BASE

In my State-of-the-State message to you, I submitted information and statistics concerning Iowa's record-breaking economic growth during the past two years. The new peaks attained in the value of manufactured goods, employment, personal income and new industrial developments have carried over into the state's fiscal balance sheet and profit and loss statement.

We have attained new levels in revenues collected from our present tax base and project a 12 -percent increase in these revenues by the end of the present biennium, next June 30, over the amount collected during the previous two-year period.

EXPENDITURES

The total expenditures from the general fund set forth in this budget for each year of the ensuing biennium are $$ 254.6$ million. Of this total, $$ 120.7$ million is designated for state aid or refund programs to local government jurisdictions. Although the desired level of property tax relief has not yet been attained, it is important to realize that about one-half of the state tax dollar goes back to local districts in one form or another.

EDUCATION

In order to ease the burden of rising school costs on local tax structures, I am recommending an additional 15 million dollars per year in the form of direct school aids. I am also recommending an additional $$ 3.7$ million in the agricultural land tax credits to bring the total to 15 million dollars.

With reference to distribution of school aid, I would say that I am sympathetic toward the principle of the "proportionate sharing" which is being widely advocated. However, it is obvious that such a program would necessitate a complete overhauling of our tax system in order to provide the vast revenue needed. In the setting of our over-all needs for state government, I do not see the feasibility of this in the coming biennium.
Two years ago, the legislature increased appropriations of the Board of Regents institutions by $$ 6.2$ million for a total of a little over 58 million dollars.
For the coming biennium, I am recommending an increase of $$ 9.5$ million in each year of the biennium-or a total of $$ 67.6$ million, which includes funds both for operations and for capital needs.

BOARD OF CONTROL

I recommend an annual operating appropriation of $$ 25.1$ million for the Board of Control institutions for the next two years. This represents an increase of two and one-half million dollars per year.

Included in my specific recommendations for the Board of Control is the raising of minimum salaries at the institutions to $$ 270$ per month over the two-year period. The Board has had difficulty in attracting and keeping competent personnel at the institutions due to industrial competition in the local areas.
I have provided in this proposed departmental budget $$ 60,000$ for the biennium to continue the work now being done under a federal grant in the development of a state-wide plan for the care and treatment of the mentally retarded.
From amounts not specifically included in this budget, I recommend the construction of a long-needed maximum security hospital for mentally disordered offenders.
I have recommended that farm properties owned by the Board which are no longer needed for rehabilitation purposes or for expansion of the institutional facilities be sold to provide revenue for this purpose. These properties would then be properly returned to local tax rolls.

PUBLIC SAFETY

I am recommending in this budget that the appropriation for the Department of Public Safety be increased by approximately $$ 1.4$ million each year of the coming biennium. This includes the addition of 100 patrolmen to the Highway Patrol, 50 to be added each year of the biennium.

As I stated in my Inaugural Message, I hope this measure can be expedited by the General Assembly so that the first group of additional patrolmen may be on duty on the highways as soon as possible this summer, and I am gratified by the prompt action that has been taken on this proposal so far.

The budget increase in the Public Safety Department also provides for strengthening the safety education division, including a program of temporary driving permits for first year operators and possible periodic examination of licensed drivers. To help finance this increased cost in the department, I am proposing later in this message an increase in the drivers' license fees.

SOCIAL WELFARE

I am proposing a five-million-dollar increase for each year of the next biennium for the Department of Social Welfare. The major parts of the increase are for Aid to Dependent Children- $$ 2.7$ million-and Medical Assistance to the Aged, over $$ 2$ million. Under the present schedule, ADC families are paid 75 percent of basic living needs. The increase would bring payments under this program up closer to the level of other programs, such as Old Age Assistance. The case load of our Medical Assistance to the Aged program has proved considerably greater than originally estimated. Hence, the increase for this purpose.

ADMINISTRATIVE DEPARTMENTS

In this budget, I am proposing several major realignments of government functions within the administrative branch of the state government. This would be the beginning of a series of long-needed departmental reorganizations and consolidations in the interests of both efficiency and economy.

First, I am recommending that the office of the Industrial Commissioner, Bureau of Labor, and the Department of Mines and Minerals be consolidated into one single department with one single appropriation.

Second, I am proposing to merge the functions of the Printing Board, Centralized Printing and the Car Dispatcher into the Executive Council. The activities of the Executive Council would be broadened, under this proposal, to provide for centralized purchasing of supplies and materials for the administrative departments of the state government. The objective would be to eliminate one board and two separate departments and to focus the responsibility for these functions on full-time, trained personnel.

Third, I recommend the employment of a professional, full-time tax administrator to be known as "Director of Revenue." His job would be to administer and enforce all of the revenue laws of the state, including, of course, the collection of taxes. I am proposing a term of six years for this position, with confirmation by the Senate.

I would also propose that on July 1 of 1966, the motor vehicle fuel taxes, now being administered and collected by the State Treasurer's office, be transferred to the Department of Revenue. Thus, all of the major tax administration and collection would be in one department.

Included in this proposed reorganization would be the conversion of the present Tax Commission to a hearing or review board whose sole duty would be to judge the tax law decisions made by the Director of Revenue. This three-man board would hear appeals brought by taxpayers and would make tax settlements accordingly, thus assuring all taxpayers ample protection.

OTHER DEPARTMENTAL BUDGETS

From the supplementary schedules you will receive, you will note budget increases in most departments.

Leading this list is the State Department of Public Health for which I have recommended a budget increase of more than 50 percent. This large and vitally important department has been under-financed for many years and my proposed budget simply comes to grips with the realities of its needs.

The increase recommended for the Bureau of Labor is to handle the growing work load brought about by a rapidly expanding industrial economy.

A substantial increase is recommended for the Conservation Commission to meet the increasing demands on this important agency of the state. A good part of this increase would be used to match federal funds now available to states through the Department of Interior. Most of the additional funds would be used for the acquisition of lands for future development for conservation and outdoor recreation purposes.

I have already reported to you the exciting strides we have made in new industrial development in Iowa in recent years. To assure continued advancement in this all-important field, I am recommending substantial increases in the budget of the Iowa Development Commission. A sizable part of this increase will be for the promotion of tourism and for the expansion of existing programs to develop greater use of Iowa's agricultural products.

Three items involving appropriations have been added to my proposals since the budget went to the printers. I recommend that a sum of $$ 250,000$ for the biennium be allocated for the purpose of initiating a state-supported and administered scholarship program to be based on both ability and need of deserving students.

In my inaugural message, I recommended that a State Commission on the Aging and a State Commission on Human Rights be established by statute. If these proposals are enacted, annual appropriations of $$ 25,000$ and $$ 40,000$, respectively, will be required to provide the necessary staff and facilities to operate these bodies.

SALARIES OF STATE EMPLOYEES

In the course of the departmental budget hearings held in late November and December, it became painfully obvious that the salary structure for state employees was urgently in need of revision. This was true at nearly all levels but was most pronounced in the higher echelons. A significant example would be the salaries paid to our supreme court justices and district court judges-salaries considerably under what these men could earn in the private practice of law.

For years, the handwriting on the wall has indicated that we cannot hope to keep qualified personnel in responsible state government offices unless we pay salaries reasonably commensurate with the going rates in private enterprise.

Accordingly, I have recommended general salary increases for most state employees during the coming biennium. Recommended increases in the statutory salaries for department heads generally follow the guidelines provided by an independent study made of our key employee salary structure by the Public Administration Service last summer.

The Sixtieth General Assembly passed legislation to permit the development of a state-sponsored health and accident insurance plan. The Executive Council adopted such a plan for state employees. In this budget, I am requesting that this plan be supported by the state to the extent of 25 percent of the individual premiums. The provision of at least minimal "fringe benefits" is an essential if the state is to compete successfully for qualified manpower in today's competitive society.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

The budget I present to you today includes an increase of nearly nine million dollars in capital appropriations for the next biennium.

On the list of capital recommendations is the implementing of the program of the Capitol Planning Commission which includes three million dollars for acquisition of land for an urgently needed new state office building and construction of that building. It appears that these funds will be supplemented with federal grants which will make it possible to carry out the first phase of the Capitol Planning Commission's recommended program.

The increase recommended in the capital appropriations for the Conservation Commission, as previously stated, is for the purpose of acquiring land for future development.

In this budget, I recommend the allocation of six million dollars for the construction of four area vocational-technical schools in the next biennium. With the sizable federal grants available for this purpose, it is estimated that this amount will suffice for the construction of these important facilities.

GENERAL

The total askings of all of the state departments, agencies and boards (including a standing appropriation) exceeded 347 million dollars per year.

My recommendation is for approximately $$ 254$ million for each year of the biennuim.

So it will be quickly seen that, despite the fact that this budget calls for substantial increases in appropriations in all areas, its annual amount is still about $$ 92.5$ million short of the askings.

It was the age-old dilemma of almost all budgets-there wasn't enough prospective revenue to go around to satisfy all of the askings.

If all of these requests were to have been met in full, major tax increases of unprecedented dimension would have been required.

This budget, as you will see, proposes minor tax increases and extensions of the bases of existing taxes, but no major tax increase such as a general increase in the rate of the sales or income tax.

In the scope of this message it is not possible to include every item of the recommended appropriations, but I believe that I have covered the significant highlights.

REVENUES

As a result of Iowa's sharply accelerated economic growth in the past two years, state general fund revenues are substantially greater than the original estimates made two years ago by the Comptroller and the Legislative Fiscal Director. At that time it was estimated that the unencumbered balance would be at approximately $$ 14$ million as of June $30,1965$. It is now predicted that the unencumbered balance will reach $$ 28.3$ million as of that date.

From the present tax sources we estimate that the revenues of the state general fund for each year of the next biennium will be $$ 224$ million-or an increase of nearly $$ 18$ million over the previous biennium's annual receipts. These increases are largely in the areas of individual income tax returns and state sales tax returns.

To augment the revenues from the present tax structure in order to meet our state government needs, I am recommending the following adjustments of our tax base.

First, I am suggesting that the sales tax base be broadened to take in selected services, including laundry and dry cleaning, hotels and motels, and barber and beauty services. As another step to broaden the base of the sales and use tax, it is proposed that the exemption from the tax be eliminated on all used items offered for resale.

Second, I propose that the corporation income tax be increased by one percent-thus changing the rate from three to four percent. This I believe is a more realistic figure for corporate income tax rates-especially in light of the fact that Iowa is one of the few states which allows its corporations to deduct the federal tax in arriving at taxable income. Although there is inevitably some objection to any tax increase, I have conferred with a number of industrialists on this point and the consensus was that a four-percent corporation income tax was not excessive. The comment of these same individuals on the moneys and credits tax was another thing again, I might add.

Third, I recommend that the tax on cigarettes be increased to seven cents per pack which will put Iowa more closely in line with other states, including some of our next-door neighbors.

Fourth, I recommend the extension of the insurance premium tax to include mutual and fraternal insurance companies.

Fifth, I recommend that the fee for motor vehicle operators' licenses be increased from three to five dollars per biennium and the fee for chauffeurs' licenses be raised from four to six dollars per year. These increases in license fees will offset the additional funds allocated to the Department of Public Safety, including the increase in complement of the Highway Patrol.

Once again, I am strongly recommending the enactment of a withholding tax system to insure the enforcement of our state income tax law. If enacted, this will enable the state to gain substantial additional revenue through the collection of state income tax from a considerable number of citizens who are currently not filing returns and are thus escaping their fair share of the tax load.

I would suggest that the state withholding system be commenced on July 1, 1965, and that it be based generally along the same lines as the federal withholding tax system in the interests of uniformity and simplicity.

I am also recommending that one-half of the total tax load for the year 1965 (which will be payable in the spring of 1966) be forgiven so as to insure fairness to all taxpayers. This method will not disrupt the state revenues nor will it result in any "windfall" to the state, but it will put the withholding tax system into operation and will place the individual taxpayers on a current basis.

The Comptrollex estimates that the adoption of the withholding tax system would bring in approximately two and one-half million dollars per year in additional funds collected from current non-filers.

Finally, while I do not propose an increase in the rate of the sales tax, I recommend that the reporting of sales tax and its collection be on a monthly basis, rather than the present quarterly basis for those retailers collecting over $$ 75$ per quarter. This would help in the administration of this tax and would eliminate some of the present difficulties in collecting it.

These adjustments to the tax base, if adopted, will result in additional revenues to the state in the next biennium of approximately 44.8 million dollars. Adding to this that share of the unencumbered balance at the beginning of the next biennium that can safely be used for current expenditures, we are provided with the necessary funds to carry out the state program set forth in this budget. If this plan is followed, the estimated unencumbered balance as of June 30,1967 , would stand at twelve million dollars.

Also, although state highway funds do not come under the state general fund and are therefore not a part of this budget, I am recommending a one-cent increase in the state gasoline tax to be allocated to the primary road fund. This would bring in approximately nine million dollars for new construction and for the modernization and elimination of safety hazards on our older primary highways.

I also recommend legislation to permit a small portion of the revenue from road-user taxes to be used for development of rest and picnic areas along our interstate system and other major highways.

ADMINISTRATION

In the administration of the budget, it is recommended that the contingent fund, previously appropriated to the Budget and Financial Control Committee, be returned to the administrative branch through the Executive Council. A series of Attorney General's opinions over the past two years has raised some basic questions concerning the responsibility for the allocation of this contingent fund. The move suggested would clarify this situation and fall in line with the language and apparent purpose of these legal opinions. The statutory investigative powers of the Budget and Financial Control Committee would not be in any sense disturbed or diminished by this change.

MONEYS AND CREDITS TAX

Many other difficult and important problems of government finance will come before you members of the General Assembly in the weeks ahead. A number of these proposals will relate to the repeal or modification of taxes that are widely considered to be inequitable and costly to administer.

Among these are the moneys and credits tax, the household goods tax and the tax on Iowa livestock.

Since the revenues from these taxes go to local jurisdictions and not the state, it is obvious that if such a tax is to be repealed, replacement of revenue must be provided. Otherwise, the burden of the decreased base will fall upon real estate and we will be only shifting the load.

Perhaps the most widely disliked tax of all is the levy on moneys and credits which has manifest inequities and illogical exemptions. This tax in its present form falls with heaviest impact on those who have invested their life savings in annuities and stocks and bonds and are dependent on this income for their support. A moneys and credits tax, substantial in relation to total income, must be paid even when the income is not sufficient to require payment of any Iowa income tax. On the other hand, many large holdings of stocks and bonds are entirely exempt from this tax under provisions of the law.

It is my strong recommendation that this Assembly either repeal or modify the moneys and credits tax-at least to the extent of eliminating its application to individuals, estates and trusts.

One of the major problems relating to outright repeal is the fact that moneys and credits comprise a substantial portion of the bonding base of many local communities.

An additional obstacle to full repeal of the moneys and credits is the fact that tied in with the five mills of moneys and credits tax is an additional tax of one mill for the payment of the Korean Bonus Bonds. With repeal of moneys and credits in its entirety, some disposition would need to be made of the Korean bonds on which there is about a 7 million dollar balance.

The Legislative Tax Study Committee of the Sixtieth General Assembly, under the chairmanship of Senator Earl Elijah, has unanimously recommended that the moneys and credits tax be substantially revised, eliminating the millage on individuals, estates and trusts-but retaining it on banks and other financial institutions, including insurance companies. The Tax Study Committee further recommends that the eliminated portion of the tax be replaced by a 3 -percent surtax on the income from securities held by individuals, exempting the first $$ 200$ of such income.

An ad hoc committee of private business and professional leaders in the state has suggested another approach to this problem that merits attention. They also would eliminate the application of moneys and credits to individuals, estates and trusts, but would replace it by raising the income tax rate on persons in the $$ 12,000$ or $$ 14,000$ a year and over brackets. It is reasoned that this device would get the replacement revenue from the same income group that pays the major share of the moneys and credits tax.

I believe that the moneys and credits tax should be either repealed or drastically revised and I pledge my co-operation to the legislature to that end. I might add that I would be amenable to considering the elimination of the other two taxes mentioned if fair and feasible means can be found for revenues that presently go to local jurisdictions.

CONCLUSION

Here, then, I respectfully submit to you, the members of the Sixty-first General Assembly, these suggested financial guidelines for the two-year period ahead. In this proposed budget, we have endeavored to meet the most vital needs of the state, to accord proper respect to the public pocketbook, and-most important of all-to provide those public services that are essential to keep Iowa moving.

As you have observed, I have recommended no major tax increases because I have frankly felt this to be the will of the people. At the same time, I have erected no immovable barriers to what this Assembly may elect to do in meeting the state's problems. I would only say-as I have beforethat the general outlines of this budget plan comprise a conservative version of what we must do to sustain the momentum of our present progress. We cannot reduce these goals materially without impairing our state's future.

In my State-of-the-State message, I reported to you the strong current financial position of our state, the record-breaking economic growth of the past two years and the recent progress of our state government in its farflung departments.

In my Inaugural message, I drew a rather comprehensive picture of the major goals that lie ahead for the state. Even though I tried to keep this in capsule form, it turned out to be a long speech, and I want to thank you for your patience in sitting still to ingest such a big capsule. Now, I have laid before you my proposed budget-the suggested skeletal framework for our over-all planning for the biennium ahead-and pointing to the long range as well.

In conclusion, it would seem to me well to remind ourselves that a budget is a means to an end, not an end in itself.

It is entirely conceivable to me that a community or a state or a nation could have the lowest tax levels in Christendom and still be a wretched failure so far as providing good government is concerned.

The ultimate end of government is to provide the optimum opportunity for the good life for our people-not to break records for low rates of taxation. The services of government cost money; there is no point in deceiving ourselves. I am convinced the people are willing to meet these costs, within reason, provided they have convincing assurance that the services they get are worth the tax money they pay. In our private lives, we have all been stung at one time or another by some deal that was pictured as a glittering bargain. There are no cut-rate bargains in government, but if we are at all realistic, we should realize that we get more value for the money we spend on government services than from any other purchase we make. It is your job and mine as public officials to keep it that way.

As our society grows more sophisticated and prosperous, I believe that luxuries should carry an increased share of the cost of government and that savings and property should carry a diminishing share. This philosophy is reflected generally in this proposed budget.

This budget it not a package of miracles on the one hand or a handful of sawdust on the other. It is a sensible, respectable step in the direction of a constructive future.

It is a menu of bread, not of frosted cake. I am aware that it will be criticized by those who oppose any improvement of government services and resist any increase in taxes, however modest. To them, I would only say that even the bread of our private economic well-being will be denied us if we do not make those public investments that are necessary to keep our private economy strong in the competitive times of this late twentieth century.

There is no self-activated escalator that will carry our inert bodies to a prosperous future. We must move up step-by-step and this requires individual effort and willingness to participate in public investment for the good of all.

Our strength, as we always have known, lies in united effort. And this physical and spiritual unity can be attained only if each individual citizen is willing to do his part. I realize that there are those who believe that a single individual's effort is unimportant--that one person's contribution to civic projects and to supporting our free institutions-is too small to count.

To those who believe this, I commend the famous words of Edward Everett Hale:
"I am only one,
But still I am one.
I cannot do everything,
But still I can do something;
And because I cannot do everything
I will not refuse to do the something that I can do."

Only two days ago, the great personages of the world gathered in London as one of the greatest and most valiant men of any age was laid to rest.

Among the glowing words of Sir Winston Churchill that will live on to inspire us and future generations, none are more famous than those he used to rally his people in their darkest hour . . .
"Let us therefore brace ourselves to our duties, and so bear ourselves that, if the British Empire and its Commonwealth last for a thousand years, men will say: 'This was their finest hour.'"

As I thought of Mr. Churchill's incomparable career of public servicea living symbol of the value of a single individual in even today's complex society-I could not help contrasting the situation in England at the time Churchill spoke these words and the situation in our state today.

Here, today, we are at peace. There is no unending terror at night from the skies, no submarine blockade, no food rationing, no Dunkirk.

We live on land of God-given abundance in an atmosphere of good will and freedom. As we regain our poise and our economic drive after the impact of the agricultural revolution upon our society, we find ourselves at the threshold of a great era of potential growth and progress-economic, cultural and spiritual.

This is Iowa's most promising hour of this century.
No legislative body and no administration in our state's history have ever had a greater opportunity to build solidly for Iowa's future.

I have no doubt that you, the members of this Sixty-first General Assembly, will measure up to the stature of your opportunity. Differences have occurred among us in the past and doubtless will recur in the future. But when it comes to the major objectives relating to Iowa's future, I am confident we will stand on common ground.

I wish you Godspeed in the important work before you and to the best of my capabilities I will stay with you all the way. May the two years ahead . . . these years of unlimited promise . . . prove in generations to come to have been "our finest hour."

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS

House File 152, by Miller of Page, Reichardt, Edgington, Scherle of Fremont-Mills, Houston, Loss, Smith of O'Brien and Dunton, a bill for an act to create a special court to be known as the Iowa Tax Court.

Read first time and referred to committee on judiciary.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 14

By Scherle of Fremont-Mills, Gillette of Clay-Dickinson, Mueller, Edgington and Baringer

There are indications that the Congress of the United States may be asked to reduce the budget for federal participation in the Agricultural Conservation Program, and

Whereas, the present A. C. P. budget has remained the same for several years while costs have been increasing, and

Whereas, good progress has been made in Iowa in conserving soil and water but much work is yet to be done, and

Whereas, Iowa has about twenty-five percent of the Grade A land in the United States and in the nation we are losing annually soil at the rate of about twenty-one thousand 80 -acre farms, and

Whereas, conservation of soil and water is without a doubt the most desirable investment in the national economy, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Conourring, that the legislature of the State of Iowa urges Congress to continue to provide technical assistance in soil and water conservation on the same basis as heretofore and that any curtailment in this policy would seriously hamper this important work.
Be It Further Resolved that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to each of the members of the Iowa delegation in the Congress of the United States.

Dear Mr. Kendrick,

I am writing to ask you to express my deep appreciation to the House of Representatives and the Senate of the State of Iowa for the Resolution which the House passed with the concurrence of the Senate on the death of Sir Winston Churchill. But his devotion to the cause of Anglo-American unity, which was so movingly recognised when Congress authorised the President to proclaim him an honorary citizen of the United States, will remain an inspiration to us all.

Yours sincerely,
s/ Harlech.

Governor Hughes, Lieutenant Governor Fulton, Members of the Sixty-first General Assembly of Our Iowa Legislature, Ladies and Gentlemen:
Today I have the greatest honor and privilege to present to you here in the House chamber of our Iowa State Capitol, our own Iowa-born orphan boy, who throughout all of his life his aim has always been to do his utmost in the service to his God, and to his country and now at the age of forty years he is a six foot four inches, two hundred fifty pound man, full of energy as he has been all through his life.

He took a great interest in the welfare of his hometown of West Branch, Iowa, in all of their community projects. At the start of World War II he enlisted in the United States Army and served with the 89th Infantry Division, and at the close of the war he was back in his hometown of West Branch and there joined the American Legion Post serving in nearly all of the elective offices. Later he was elected Commander of the First District, and in 1952 he was elected as our State Commander, and later elected as our National Executive Committeeman.
Last September at the National Convention in Dallas, Texas, he was unanimously elected National Commander of The American Legion and now he is being called to speak in all of these our United States, also in some foreign countries in carrying out The American Legion programs of Peace on Earth and Good Will to All Men. I now present to you our National Commander, Donald E. Johnson.

ADDRESS BY NATIONAL COMMANDER DONALD E. JOHNSON

Thank you very much, Representative Stueland, Governor Hughes and President Fulton. I'm so pleased to be home again. I am proud to be an Iowan, and I am proud to represent a volunteer organization of more than two-and-a-half million war veterans. I am humbled by the great responsibility that is mine as I seek to represent fairly and factually the views of these men and women who have dedicated their lives to the service of God and country.

It was my distinct privilege and pleasure to have had a fine Iowa Legionnaire as my guest at an American Legion reception during inaugural week in Washington, D. C., the Governor of the great State of Iowa, The Honorable Harold Hughes.

In many instances, this is my first opportunity to personally thank those of you who, as members of the last General Assembly, were. instrumental in passage of a joint resolution supporting my candidacy for the office of National Commander of The American Legion. Your action, I know, contributed heavily to the success of my campaign and I take this occasion to express my sincere appreciation.

My friends in Iowa have been sending me newspaper clippings indicating a bit of apprehension on the part of some as to my subject matter before this distinguished Assembly.

Fortunately for me, this august body placed no limitation on me. I should say, however, that the Constitution of The American Legion states that our organization "shall be absolutely non-political," and I shall live by the rules of those whom I represent.

If I had been limited to material non-controversial in nature, I'm afraid I could not have said "good morning," for you can always find someone who wants to know "what's so good about it?"

Numerous newspapers across this great nation, in both the news and editorial columns, have alluded to the position of The American Legion with reference to communism and the appearance of communists or communistoriented speakers before audiences at our tax-supported schools, colleges and universities. The American Legion's strong historical position of being firmly anti-communist needs no defense from me.

Our position concerning communist speakers, or for that matter any speaker whose purpose is to promote a foreign "ism" is well established and needs no clarification from me today. We simply say that there is no moral or legal obligation to provide any speaker, who advocates the violent overthrow of our government, with any tax-supported forum or platform.

This does not mean that we advocate suppression of teaching about communism in our public schools. Quite the contrary. The American Legion, in cooperation with the National Education Association, created a joint study committee to delve into this problem in depth. After several years of effort there was developed a handbook entitled "Guidelines for Teaching About Communism," designed as an aid for teachers in junior and senior high schools.

We will have available a copy for every legislator. It has been provided to school superintendents and administrators in public and private school systems throughout the land. It has been widely acclaimed for its excellence, and in the 1964-65 survey by the Institute for American Strategy on the subject of education about communism in secondary schools there appears this commentary:
"The latest IAS survey indicates that the guidelines publication with the widest acceptance among educators is Guidelines For Teaching About Communism in Junior and Senior High Schools issued by the Joint Committee of the National Education Association and The American Legion. The cooperation of these two highly respected and potent national groups has resulted in possibly the most important 'breakthrough' in this field in recent years. Educators, particularly at the working levels, seem to feel that they can present a program upon which these two organizations have cooperated with relative assurance of community support and minimum criticism."

The American Legion is highly gratified by that appraisal and I am personally proud of the fact that two Iowans played key roles in the development of this handbook. Dr. John H. Haefner, of University High School in Iowa City, was an outstanding resource contributor and Ed Wieland, of Des Moines, The American Legion's Assistant National Director of Americanism, was responsible for coordinating much of The American Legion's effort, and for final distribution of the book.

The American Legion has four basic programs-Americanism, Child Welfare, National Security and Rehabilitation. The subject which I have just discussed falls within the province of our National Americanism Commission.

Upon my election in Dallas, Texas, I told the delegates that I wanted to dedicate my tenure of office as National Commander of The American Legion to service to youth of America-to a revitalization of all those great service programs of The American Legion designed to serve the young people of this land-to build a young America strong in mind and bodyto build a young America strong in devotion to God and country-to build a young America dedicated to the preservation of the ideals of freedom, justice and democracy.

Our programs of Boys State and Boys Nation, of Boy Scout sponsorship, of Boys Club support, National High School Oratorical Contest and American Legion Baseball all are showing a marked increase in activity this year. As for our youth activities in Iowa, I shall have an important announcement to make at The American Legion's conference banquet tonight here in Des Moines.

The American Legion's Child Welfare program moves with the times, shifting program emphasis when necessary to best meet the changing challenges of changing situations. By mid-1965 The American Legion and its affiliated organizations will have expended more than $$ 200,000,000$ of our own funds to help young Americans cope with the problems of disease, want and neglect.

Our Child Welfare Foundation makes grants-in-aid to established research projects in the diseases of childhood. One of those grants made in 1946 to The American Heart Association, a joint project of The American Legion and the Auxiliary, totaling $$ 50,000$, sparked a vast heart research program in the area of rheumatic fever and heart disease which has saved the lives of countless American youngsters.

This year The American Legion's Child Welfare program contains four legislative objectives requiring implementation at the state level. These are:

1. Legislation to curb the illicit traffic in dangerous and habit forming drugs.
2. Legislation requiring tests for P-K-U (Phenylketonuria) in newborn infants.
3. Legislation on the abused and battered child, and,
4. Legislation requiring the use of safety glasses in certain school activities.

There are good and valid reasons behind each of these proposals. Each is in the public interest, and we shall be grateful for your careful consideration of each of these measures as they may be brought before you.

The American Legion's program of national security is one in which we must concern ourselves with affairs of the federal government. The American Legion has been, and shall continue to be, the watchdog over the defense posture of the nation. Our most recent venture has been a most careful study of Secretary McNamara's proposal to re-align the army reserve and national guard forces.

I was in Denver, Colorado, on December 12 when the Secretary made his announcement. On Monday, December 14, I appointed an executive section from our National Security Commission, including our own Bob Bush from Des Moines, to study the situation. On Thursday, December 17, that group was in Washington conferring with officials of the Department of Defense and Army Reserve and National Guard officials.

The recommendation of the executive section was mailed to our National Executive Committee members, resulting in conditional American Legion approval of Secretary McNamara's plan-that condition being that the re-alignment be implemented as outlined by the Secretary.

Our program of rehabilitation is one of sacred trust and responsibility and our most current and important concern in this area is the January 13 announcement by the Veterans Administration of plans to close thirty-one existing facilities of the VA, including the domiciliary at Clinton, Iowa, and again we are grateful to this body for your resolution regarding the closing of this installation.

The American Legion is pledged to an all-out campaign to have this order stayed for we consider it a false economy move and a reflection of the antiveteran attitude of the Bureau of the Budget. Those needy and deserving veterans who are now being cared for in these installations are going to have to be cared for elsewhere and there will be no reduction in the cost of care at another location.

The closing of sixteen regional offices will work a hardship on many who are neither physically nor financially capable of traveling long distances to obtain the counselling and services which they need and to which they are entitled.

Particularly pathetic is the plight of the domiciliary member. The average age of those men is sixty-nine years, most of them have no family, and most are victims of disabling illnesses, primarily heart disease. If the present order of the VA is permitted to stand, Iowa and its subdivisions will have an additional five hundred to six hundred men to care for.

The American Legion is pleased to note that the Iowa legislature continues to show its concern and compassion for those who served their state and nation in time of war, and now find themselves in need of assistance. I refer to the measure pending before you which would provide funds for additional facilities at the Iowa Soldiers Home at Marshalltown. I'm sure it will receive your favorable consideration and action.

The American Legion too is vitally interested in this facility, and I am pleased to report to you and to make public for the first time the fact that through monies made available to me, as National Commander, work has begun on the installation of an occupational therapy unit at the Iowa Soldiers Home. It will cost in the area of $$ 8,500$ to $$ 10,000$, and a formal dedication is being planned for late this spring.

In conclusion I should like to place new emphasis on the politically nonpartisan attitude of The American Legion. This organization is comprised of both Democrats and Republicans at every level of our structure, and within our ranks you will find men and women of every race, color and creed.

Every policy position of The American Legion originates in a local Post, and it could be any one of more than 16,500 Posts. If the local action survives the movement through district, state and national conventions, it then becomes American Legion policy.

A look at the record of The American Legion will reveal that we have, through the years, had many an occasion to offer both praise and criticism of Democrat and Republican alike.

With The American Legion, it is not party political affiliation that counts. In taking our stand on vital issues of the day we seek to examine all points of view, to hear all the facts available to us, then to apply the single standard of what we, in our hearts and minds, believe to be in the best interests of America.

I trust that my message this morning has been informative, rather than political or controversial in nature, and I trust that it will be accepted in the spirit in which it is offered.

In this time of great challenge to America, The American Legion, I promise you, does not propose to be an organization of good men content to do nothing, but rather we shall continue as we have always been-an organization of those who served in wartime to save freedom, and are now ready to serve in peacetime the noblest of all causes, our God and our country.

VETERANS ADMINISTRATION

Office of the Administrator of Veterans Affairs
Washington, D. C. 20420
February 16, 1965.
The Honorable Vincent B. Steffen, Speaker of the House, General Assembly, Des Moines, Iowa.
Dear Mr. Speaker:
The President has asked me to reply to the Resolution by the General Assembly of Iowa which was forwarded to him relative to our plans for closing the Veterans Administration Domiciliary, Clinton, Iowa. I also have the Resolution forwarded by the Chief Clerk.

The domiciliary system in the Veterans Administration has undergone gradual but profound changes from its inception dating back to the nineteenth century. The characteristics of our domiciliary members have indeed changed in recent years. Consequently, it has become increasingly important that we provide them a complete spectrum of medical care, with increased emphasis on restoration and rehabilitation for members having such potential, and nursing home care facilities for members who require such care. Accordingly, we have determined that our domiciliaries must be integrated with hospitals located to the extent feasible in urban communities where there are maximum resources for medical service, rehabilitation, and restoration to community living when possible.

With the closure of our independent domiciliary at Clinton, as well as the other two independent domiciliaries, we will augment our domiciliary facilities at hospital-domiciliary centers. Under no circumstances will any members of our domiciliaries be forced out to become potential wards of the public. All members will be given an opportunity to transfer, and this will be accomplished in an orderly manner with the least possible inconvenience to them. Of course, those who require hospital or nursing home care will be transferred to such facilities.

We realize this action will have an impact on the community and on our faithful employees at the Clinton domiciliary. We wish to assure you that all employees who cannot be retained at their present location will be offered a position at another Veterans Administration station. The Veterans Administration has placed restrictions on hiring at its installations throughout the country. This will give maximum opportunity for placement of employees affected by these changes. The cost of moving will be paid by the government.

We sincerely hope that some other use may be found for the Clinton domiciliary facilities either by another Federal agency, or the state, county or community, and we stand ready to assist in any way possible.

Sincerely,
W. J. Driver, Administrator.

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Members of the Sixty-first
General Assembly, Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:
It is a high honor and personal privilege to introduce our guest speaker today. Eight years ago I was a member of this honorable body and introduced Dr. Menninger. Dr. Menninger, world renowned psychiatrist, is president of the Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kansas. He has served on many boards and in many associations affiliated with his profession and is the author of many works on psychiatry. He has an enviable war record, having served during World War II as consultant in psychiatry to the Adjutant General of the Army, holding the rank of Brigadier General. He has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal and the French Legion of Honor. All Iowans owe Dr. Menninger a debt of gratitude for the tremendous push forward which he inspired in 1957 to the care of the mentally ill in Iowa. He will bring information and enlightenment on mental health problems in our state, as they exist today, particularly in the light of all the new Federal legislation and comprehensive mental health plan for Iowa, now nearing completion.

The Iowa Association for Mental Health is sponsoring Dr. Menninger's visit because we feel that what he says will benefit all Iowans.

The Iowa Association for Mental Health consists of lay people united in the effort to assist in alleviating these problems.

As president of the Iowa Association for Mental Health, I present to you Dr. William C. Menninger.

OUTLINE OF THE REMARKS OF WILLIAM C. MENNINGER, M.D. Iowa State Legislature, Des Moines, Iowa February 22, 1965

I. INTRODUCTION

A. Thank you for this very special honor and privilege to address this group-the more significant because it is a repeat performanceeight years since my last visit on February 1, 1957.
B. My recollections of that previous visit: A very happy experience with a heart-warming evidence of gratitude expressed on the part of so many Iowa citizens for what effort I put forth.

1. We have made great progress in these eight years, but may I quickly add-mental illness is still our number one neglected field of health.
2. You can be very proud of the progress made in Iowa in our mental health program, progress made possible because of

The splendid leadership on the part of the state officers and legislature

Through
The keen awareness of the need
The vision of the opportunities
A special commendation to your director of Mental Health, Dr. James Cromwell; to my dear and old friend, Dr. Paul Huston, Professor of Psychiatry at the University Medical School. A very special commendation to this increasingly effective group of citizens in Iowa-the Iowa Association for Mental Health.
C. The potential significance of this visit

1. Again it is my desire to be helpful-I am proud of our progress in Iowa and shall make some comments about it, but truly we have only made a start in terms of the enormous needs.
2. On my previous visit I was privileged to tell of our mental health story in Kansas, the "revolution" that occurred. The composition of this legislature is almost entirely changed since my appearance here on February 1, 1957. My feeling is that this story is still the most helpful message I might bring youwith the further evolution of our program these last eight years.
3. Again I shall try to choose my words carefully. As we meet here there are 2,700 mental patients in institutions in Iowa as of this moment. There are 2,500 more mentally sick individuals in county homes. So much of what may happen further to help these people depends on the understanding and the actions of the individuals in this room, the state legislature. Indeed thousands are looking to us for help and there are thousands-we are very sure of it-yet to come. These people have no voice or vote. In too many instances they are still badly neglected. Their lives are wasted unless we help them get well, and tragically their hearts are often filled with fear and hopelessness, along with a completely unproductive life-when it need not be in the great majority of instances.

II. NOW A NEW ERA OF HOPE THAT THIS SITUATION WILL CHANGE

A. The evidence includes many points:

1. Indeed the very fact that I have the privilege to discuss the subject with you today is an evidence of new hope.
2. Under the leadership of the NIMH and the NAMH much progress has been made in the support of treatment and training and research and community programs.
3. The progress in other states-my contact with the programs in several states through the privilege of visiting with their legislative bodies
Ohio: Budget for mental hospitals raised from $$ 70$ million to $$ 91$ million
$$ 5$ million for three training centers raised salaries
bond issue of $$ 75$ million for mental hospital construction Pennsylvania $$ 90$ to $$ 122$ million
California $$ 92$ to $$ 180$ million
Texas $$ 13$ to $$ 36$ million
Tennessee $$ 1$ to $$ 2.5$ million
4. The superb leadership of the press and other mass communications to alert an intelligent public about the need.
5. The interest of our citizens groups

The American Medical Association under the magnificent leadership of President John F. Kennedy
6. The new awakening of our leaders themselves in our state hospital progress and the extensions now into the community-of which I will have much more to say later.
B. The evolution of this as we experienced it in Kansas, a story that could be much better told by my brother Karl, who had the vision and gave more guidance and energy to the revolution and evolution in Kansas than any other person.

1. Our pride and satisfaction that

The mental hospital population of Kansas has decreased nearly 53 percent-from a total population of 6,047 in 1948 to 2,844 in 1964. During the same period the national mental hospital population has decreased from 5 to 10 percent-from about 760,000 to 712,000 .
2. Even with our hospitals not yet adequately staffed, about 85 percent of our new admissions go home, and almost 70 percent within six months.
3. Possibility that we will never have to build additional bedsthough we do need replacements for buildings constructed in the 1870 's and 80 's.
C. As indicated, my belief is that my best help to you might be again to repeat the story about the change-what the situation waswhere we have arrived and how we look at the future.

With the hope that perhaps the experience may give you some helpful background in your continuing efforts to improve the mental health program in Iowa.
III. THE BACKGROUND OF THE STORY—quite personal
A. The story of Father and the beginning of the Clinic.
B. Even in private practice, our special satisfaction in the small program of research and training.
C. Personal experiences in the war with manpower shortage and the lack of knowledge.
D. 1945-Karl's concern with the VA-and then the Bradley-Hawley request for training at Winter VA Hospital.
E. The re-organization of the private practice into the non-profit foundation, to do research and training and prevention.
F. The development of the training program and the research program beginning with 100 doctors-the suggestion of 25 and the expansion to 100 because of VA insistence. (Now about 800 have been trained at The Menninger Foundation.)

IV. THE RECENT EVOLUTION OF OUR STATE HOSPITAL SYSTEM

A. 1948-the initial rumblings of the "revolution."

1. The legislator whose relative was neglected in a state institution and who became aware of the amazing program at Winter VA Hospital.
2. The new economy-minded superintendent of the Topeka State Hospital who cut out expensive drugs and time-consuming ex-aminations-with the resignation of three of the five doctors, one of the two nurses, and the only psychologist.
3. Some accidents and the beginning interest of the press-which made a state-wide crusade.
4. Self-mobilization of the Mental Hygiene Society, the American Association of University Women, the League of Women Voters, Civic Clubs, Federated Women's Clubs and many others.
B. The status of the Topeka State Hospital at that time (we have three).
5. Over 1,800 patients in antiquated buildings to house 1,500 .
6. Two psychiatrists, neither of whom had been trained.
7. 60 out of every 100 patients admitted remained indefinitelymost of them for life.
8. Per diem allotment per patient of $$ 1.06$ ranked us as 47 th out of the 48 states.
9. Most new admissions housed in jails for days or weeks before they could be admitted. (And like cancer, the longer treatment is withheld, the less chance for recovery.)

V. WHAT WAS DONE ABOUT it?

A. Governor, now Senator, Frank Carlson appointed a committeeDean of the Medical School, President of the State Medical Society, a member of the Senate, a member of the House, and my brother Karl.
B. Their recommendation to buy "brains" (staff) before "bricks" and to establish a training program.

At this time a public health survey indicated the need for an additional 3,000 beds for the system. None build and $$ 38$ million saved.

In my brother's words, "Many patients will get well in a barn if you give them the right doctors and the right treatment. We don't want them to live in barns, but staff and treatment must come first."
C. The staff of The Menninger Foundation was called upon to establish a training program under my brother's direction-Everyone aware that this would be a long-time and slowly developing process.
D. Senator Carlson put it up to the legislature-the press helpedpublic citizens' groups helped-the legislature and their wives visited the sorry decrepit hospital.
What did they see?
Men endlessly pushing mops on already over-polished floors.
Gloomy wards with old rocking chairs lined up against the wall.
Beds in the halls and mattresses on the floor at night.
Uniform and drab, ill-fitting clothes.

Inadequate and ill-prepared food, unattractively dished outthree different diets.

Patients cooped up for days on end-or literally herded in large groups onto park benches.

The wide use of physical restraints-strait-jackets all over the place, untrained and often uncouth and brutal prison-guard-like attendants.

VI. AND THEN WHAT HAPPENED?

The legislature acted with a 60 percent increase in the budget in 1949; 118 percent more in 1951; by 1960-4 times what we spent in 1948; takes continuing public pressure to advance each year.
My brother and our associates undertook the responsibility to begin to recruit a professional staff, and set up a training program.
In addition to doctors-psychologists, social workers, nurses, and occupational therapists were recruited and trained.

The number of attendants was doubled and their salaries were doubled-replacing the dull and inept.

The Rockefeller Foundation gave us funds for a three-year special school for training aides.

50 consultants were engaged from the County Medical Society.
Patients began to see dentists for the first time.
Wholesale orders for eyeglasses- 300 pair.
Occupational and recreational programs were started.
Fire escapes were installed.
A patient's canteen was constructed-until 1954 the only new construction.

The development of a very extensive volunteer system, through the help of the citizens of the community-the Junior League established and manned the canteen. Most important-creation of an attitude toward, philosophy about and understanding of mental illness on the part of

The legislature, citizenry, relatives and more important, the professional staff and patients.
An attitude whereby patients can learn through relationships with the staff that people do care about them; that they can and will get well.
To make this possible necessitates the provision of financial, political and public support-with the absence of political pressures on the professional staff, changes in administration, constant budgetary threats.
Doctors began to see patients:
Within two years the TSH population dropped from 1,850 to 1,500 .
Today the population is $968-47$ percent reduction.
Five wards were closed in the last two years.
Approximately 300 patients have had no homes to which to go. Placed through social agencies.
Since 1949, 1,084 patients discharged who had been residents in the hospital for 10 years or more- 568 for 20 years or longer.
Sixty-six out of 71 bed-ridden oldsters in one section of the hospital got out of their beds within a year and stayed out. A high percentage of so-called seniles can be helped and need not be in a hospital.
Stories of human interest:
In 1953, TIME magazine carried the story of a small white-haired woman who had been hospitalized probably longer than any other known person-a patient at Topeka State Hospital. She had entered the hospital at the age of 13 on June 27,1882 , three years after the hospital was opened. By 1952 she had been there 70 years. Her only response to questions was "When can I go home?" She was discharged at the age of 86 years, 73 of them spent in the hospital. She is taking care of herself in the community today.

One of the patients, whose case was reviewed when new staff were brought in was a man who had been in the hospital for 19 years. Hospital officials weren't certain the man had ever been psychotic. He was sent back to his family in Denmark, after making headlines around the world-all because a doctor who could speak his language took time to talk to him.

Woman-20 years mute-now a practical nurse.
VII. WHAT HAS HAPPENED SINCE AND WHAT ARE THE RESULTS?
In 1952 the people of Kansas voted an increase in personal property tax of one-half mill to provide a permanent hospital building fund for replacement of beds. In 1953 the Legislature removed the hospital from political patronage and provided for a psychiatrist to direct the institutions at twice the Governor's salary.

In 1950, 657 patients were admitted; in 1960, 2,183 were admitted.
The average daily patient population in the three hospitals was 5,200 in 1948, 3,318 in 1961; 36 percent reduction in 13 years.

While the per diem increased from $$ 2.05$ in 1950 to $$ 7.34$ in 1960 , the operating expenditure per patient released was decreased from $$ 7,989$ in 1950 to $$ 4,505$ in 1960.
The development of the five-year plan of training-to aid in staffing outlying hospitals.
The OPD-Children's Services developed with the Receiving Home.
Savings of $$ 4,000$ per discharged patient in 1960 as compared with 1948.

New Eastman Building constructed in 1960 at TSH; at the end of the year of 1964 a new unit was completed, the Woodsview Building.

VIII. RECOMMENDATIONS

1. The Purposes of Reporting the Story of our Experience in Kansas are twofold:
First, while it is generally recognized that we have made much progress in our mental hospitals across America, it is not understood that we have only made a start. Many people do not know we still have more people in mental hospitals than we have in all general hospitals put together-a community of 712,000 sick people in 535 mental institutions. Furthermore it is not clearly understood that the great majority of these people would get well if we would give them a chance. This chance means we have to give them the opportunity for adequate treatment under the right conditions. The success we have had in Kansas does indicate clearly that all of our big mental institutions can become honest-to-goodness hospitals where the great majority of people get well.

The second reason for presenting this story is the assumption that our experiences in the Kansas System might be of help to you in Iowa. In making some constructive suggestions I want to emphasize that this is my "cause" in Iowa just as much as it is in Kansas.

Before making any suggestions let me again compliment you warmly on the progress we have made--progress in many directions. You have increased your per diem expenditures on patients in the hospitals from $$ 3.30$ to $$ 10.15$. When I addressed this legislature eight years ago, Iowa had, in the mental hospitals, one physician to every 123 patients and now you have one physician to every 46 patients. Significantly, the population in your mental hospitals has fallen from 5,046 in 1956 to approximately half that figure in 1964, 2,716.

You have made this splendid progress in a comprehensive mental health plan for the state. You have done what we know must be done, you have moved out into the community and now, if I understand correctly, 58 percent of the population of Iowa has a chance to obtain psychiatric help near his home, through the establishment of these 16 mental health centers. Of all of these steps of progress, the citizens of Iowa have a right to be proud. Again, however, I want to emphasize that from our present vantage point, all of us in the professional field know we have much more to do. Our basic objectives for the state hospitals are absolutely unimpeachable but these unfortunately are still objectives:
a. We must transform the existing state hospitals into true, modern, active treatment centers.
b. We must provide adequate inservice training for all categories of personnel and we are far from this at the moment.
c. We must provide adequate community treatment centers for emergency treatment, after-care, follow-up outpatient community consultation and all kinds of extra-mural psychiatric services.
d. We must establish scientific investigations-greatly extend our research into our administrative and clinical and preventive procedures.
2. Brains Before Bricks.

This has been the title of my presentation before many legislatures and it was to this legislature in 1957 for the reason, I am still convinced, that the major bottleneck in doing a much better job in our treatment and preventive programs is our lack of trained personnel. Hence, I still wish we might put the greatest emphasis on the development of professional staff at all levels to provide the diagnosis and treatment and prevention. The second priority goes to buying bricks, i.e., facilities. I am convinced that 80 to 90 percent of our psychiatric patients will get well if we give them adequate, early, treatment.

I note with special satisfaction that the statistics of the picture in Iowa mental institutions has greatly improved in these eight years. The ratio of personnel to patients now indicates that Iowa is near the top of the states among state institutions. In mentioning this, though, I want to add quickly we must not feel satisfied, certainly not complacent that we are doing all we can. We have made gratifying progress but we are still far below the minimal standards as established by our professional organization, the American Psychiatric Association.
I want to have you understand what these ratios are and will use the Kansas figures as of November, 1964, for comparison. As I present these ratios to you, I would like to mention briefly the significance of each type of personnel and how important they are to us.

In Iowa, as in every other state in the Union, the great need is for more trained personnel and hence my appeal, and my pleading, and my most sincere pleading, that you provide the wherewithal to intensify training by doubling or tripling the available funds. Currently at the Medical School in Iowa City you have 19 doctors in what we call residency training in psychiatry, training to be psychiatrists. You have two approved training programs in your state institutions, Independence and Cherokee, with 12 doctors in training at each of these. In other words, 43 physicians in residency training in Iowa. We have more than a hundred in training in Kansas.

You have some excellent training programs for clinical psychologists and social workers but here again my impression is that many more of our colleges and universities, as well as all of our mental institutions, would be enormously blessed if there were some weddings in the training programs between these two groups of institutions.

Such programs could be as fine as any in the entire country, providing both the theoretical and didactic work in the university or college and the clinical work in these splendid institutions.

In some of your institutions you have very superior clinical pastoral education programs, particularly in Independence, with graduate summer sessions. The facts indicate that the average clergyman of any faith spends about 50 percent of his time seeing troubled people. Hence if we provide training for them from this technical field of medicine-psychiatry-we can help them be much more effective in terms of the mental health program.
3. Salaries and Personnel Problems

A problem in every mental hospital program-in every community mental health program-is the recruitment of personnel. Dr. Huston has told me he could place 14 more psychiatrists today in the community mental health program if they were available. Part of this lack of availability-and we have to face it-is that psychiatry is on a seller's market. Every state mental health program in the union is looking for personnel. There are elaborate recruitment programs in various states offering very attractive bait to any and all takers. If we are going to recruit more personnel in Iowa, I would strongly urge you to consider thoughtfully two major areas:

The first of these is your personnel policies. Your retirement program was set up many years ago. It is based on three percent of the first $$ 4,000$ earned so that with all due respect to a janitor, on retirement he gets as much as a hospital superintendent, namely about $$ 50$ a month, even after 40 years of service. Perhaps you know that your vacation plan states that a person with one year's service gets one week vacation, and, between 2 and 10 years of service, receives two weeks vacation. Only after 10 years does he receive as much as three weeks vacation, regardless of his responsibility.

May I be impertinent enough to call to your attention that for non-professional people your salary range is $$ 220$ per month. This is a total cash figure with no additional maintenance or any other emoluments. Fifty-three percent of your employees earn $$ 320$ or less per month. If you are going to get the people you want-in fact, one would almost say if you are going to get the people-these salaries have to be increased probably $25-50$ percent. Because these people are so terribly important in helping our sick folks, I urge that these policies and practices be given earnest and thoughtful and early attention.
4. Children

The one area in which Iowa has made little or no progress in its mental health program since I addressed this body eight years ago has been in the provision of psychiatric care for children. Currently the sum total of beds for emotionally disturbed children is 28 at Iowa City and 50 at Independence. Each of our hospitals should have a minimum of 50 beds-I personally doubt if this would be enough. For some reason or other this recommendation to the legislature has never received positive action.

My warm congratulations on a tremendous improvement in both the Woodward State Hospital and School and the Glenwood State School. There a very reasonable appeal for more help comes from these institutions: they badly need three times the number of social workers they have to consult with the social agencies and schools in the counties they serve. So many, many of our marginally retarded children would not have to come to an institution if we could develop programs in our communities for this large group of patientsestimated at 3 percent of our population.
5. An opportunity for the treatment of mentally disordered offenders.

In this area, too, Iowa badly needs a new program and a new facility. I think Governor Hughes summarized this succinctly in a presentation to a conference here in November when he indicated that "our treatment of the mentally disordered offenders in Iowa was for many years one of the darkest blots on our conscience as a state and a symbol of our refusal to face up to a vital responsibility." He went on to indicate that the sad and sorry single facility is an extension of a cell block, called the "security hospital" located within the walls of the Men's Reformatory at Anamosa. Tragically enough, about a fourth of the individuals in this particular cell block are patients from the mental hospitals, civil commitments, who unfortunately though, as you may or may not know, are photographed, fingerprinted, numbered and their records distributed to law enforcement agencies, including the FBI which in effect, of course, gives these mental patients essentially a criminal record.
With much thoughtful consideration, under the comprehensive mental health planning group, it is indicated that a new facility is long overdue, providing for 350 to 400 beds, to serve adolescents and juveniles, male as well as female adult offenders and including, as necessity arose, the more unmanageable patients from mental hospitals.
We were recently very much complimented in Kansas that a group of citizens from Iowa, including, I believe, some members of this legislature, visited us to look into a new program in Kansas, the Diagnostic Center. This is unique in our 50 states. It is a medium security prison established for the specific purpose of examining every convicted male offender by a team of psychiatrists, psychologists and social workers. They pass their findings about each individual on to the court. So far it has been very warmly received.

Your group also visited our Boys' Industrial School, one of the sources of great pride for us in Kansas. For years in our state, we kept these youngsters from 6 to 16 years of age in a so-called boys' reform school, under very severe discipline. Most, if not all of them, left our institution hating the world more than before they entered. In 1948 we changed this training school into a kind of children's hospital where we studied each individual in order to provide the physical and psychological and educational needs as we found them. The payoff has been one of the most exciting experiences in the field of criminology we have ever had. The repeater rate for the youngsters in that institution fell from 47 percent in 1948 to 5 percent in 1960!

By all means we urge you to give early consideration to the need for a security hospital. It is urgent!

6. Finances

Most of the points I have been making to you this morning have to do with increased costs. I have only mentioned in passing that the per diem per patient in your hospitals is $$ 10.15$. I haven't any question in my own mind that in the next few years we will have to double this figure-that is if we have any intention of doing the right kind of job in running a first rate treatment center worthy of being called a hospital.

When we talk about millions of dollars for this mental health pro-gram-and that is what we are doing-it is big money. But by comparison it is a drop in the bucket to the amount of money we spend on highways, defense, crime and for so many other things-other than the health of people. I know you will surely be faced with financial demands for many other programs in this legislature. I hope, though, and I pray that you don't forget these sick people depending on youand that you give them a number one priority. No one wants to pay more taxes and yet everyone wants more service. We can't have our cake and eat it and the business of trying to get this money by lottery or more federal aid is not practical for a permanent on-going program in any state. Undoubtedly all of you know that many other states have very good services and to obtain these there is no alternative to proposing some kind of increased taxes.

I mentioned the daily cost of $$ 10.15$ per patient in the state hospitals of Iowa. Now let me hastily compare it with the average cost in a general hospital these days- $$ 36.15$ a day. Recently I had occasion to visit one of our large non-profit orthopedic hospitals for children where the cost was $$ 56$ per day. In both instances, and this is so important, this sum did not include the medical costs (physicians' fees) as does the figure of $$ 10.15$ for a mental hospital.

I take great pride in indicating to you that in Kansas, at our Topeka State Hospital, in 1964 we were spending $$ 12.93$ a day and the average for all our mental hospitals was $$ 11.53$ a day. We anticipate that this is going up somewhat further in 1965. This figure does not include the training program costs for which an appropriation of approximately $$ 850,000$ is made for all categories of personnel. Nor does this figure of $$ 850,000$ for training include all training costs, since the Menninger Foundation picks up the tab of $$ 1,200$ per doctor per year in the training program.

Let me make this appeal, requiring you to find more finances, as personal as I can. Suppose it is your wife at Cherokee or Clarinda, or Independence, or Mount Pleasant. There are the wives of many of your friends there-undoubtedly many of your friends themselves. Can we afford, looking into our consciences, to give these citizens who depend on us anything less than the best? No one is going to criticize you for helping sick people. Let's do give the best we know how, admitting even so that this is not as good as it could be.
7. Community Psychiatry

My warm commendations to you on the development of the community psychiatry plan in Iowa under the Department of Psychiatry at the State Psychopathic Hospital and specifically, Paul Huston. This is the trend everywhere we have the leadership, the idea being to provide early treatment and the advantage of treatment at or near home. As I indicated above, I understand that 52 percent of your population is now covered by the 16 community mental health centers. In Kansas we have had a little experience with this, too, we have 21 community health services and everyone of them is in operation with at least one staff member-providing treatment close to home for about 75 percent of our population. We have problems in staffing them, real problems, but even currently they are giving 3,000 staff hours per week, which is filling what was a complete void prior to their instigation two or three years ago.

There is no doubt that if one can treat mental illness early in its course, there is a much better chance of helping the individual and hence the great advantage of these mental health clinics where people can get their help right at home. Increasingly general hospitals across the country are tending to add a few psychiatric beds for emergency cases and this, too, gives an individual a chance for treatment at home, in comparison to perhaps going a good many miles to a state mental institution.

In pointing out these advantages, it is my own personal opinion that our big mental hospitals will always be necessary for many reasons. We should not minimize the fact that wherever they are located, they can provide outpatient service, the day hospital program, community leadership, as well as serving as a hospital. At least that is our experience in Kansas and we are very proud of our state institutions which have enormously increased their participation in community life. In our Topeka State Hospital we have a very superior training program-much better, I believe, than we could provide in a small hospital with a few beds or an outpatient clinic, and I believe this is generally true because of the many patients-in our medical jargon we would say, the wealth of clinical material.
Our biggest problem to date in operating the community plan in Kansas-and I am quite sure this applies everywhere-is that we cannot find adequate trained professional personnel. This is the same problem that has cursed our mental hospitals because there are not enough trained psychiatrists and, as a matter of fact, there are not nearly enough in training. We have found by all odds, the best way to find them is to train them ourselves and hence my urgent appeal again, as indicated above, that you put high priority on increasing the training programs at the University and at the mental hospitals.

There is one major aspect in our mental health problems in many states that is far from being solved. This has to do with the county homes. In my opening remarks I indicated that I have been told you have approximately 2,500 patients in county homes. As I have heard from the physicians about the survey of what happens, some of these apparently work fine with excellent treatment for the patients. They have the great advantage of being under local responsibility and local management. On the other hand, there isn't any doubt too many of these patients are badly neglected because the local community has not assumed adequate responsibility for their care.
The result is that we can, by neglect, assign such sick people to a kind of living death as "hopeless" when we haven't any right to so classify them. Whenever we have this kind of system, it needs the closest supervision to make it effective and hence I urge that in every county in Iowa there is close supervision of what is happening to these citizens in the county homes. They, too, rate the best treatment we know how to provide them.

8. Research

Again I reiterate my appeal for more research in this neglected field of health. You have made an appropriation of $$ 75,000$ a year. I would only hope that this could be multiplied many times though as I make this suggestion I am aware also we are acutely short in finding the competent personnel to carry on research. We often have competent personnel but they are so busy treating people they don't have time to do research-one of our problems related to our shortage of personnel. The fact remains we still know so very little about personality, in relation to both health and sickness, and such information can only come as we go much, much further in our programs of research.
9. Inform the Public

Inform the citizens of the state about the facts and problems. It is my conviction that the public once informed will want-indeed insist upon-these changes.
10. Attitude of Optimism

I place the greatest emphasis on any program of improvement of mental health in the creation of an attitude of hopefulness and optimism on the part of everyone. Even with "brains" and "bricks" people have the best chance to get well when they do have the full support of the legislature and the citizens of the community and the state. Only then can we build the institutions we need. Only then can we create in these institutions an atmosphere of understanding and confidence and assurance of recovery. It can happen if enough of us care.

Baringer of Fayette asked and received unanimous consent to have printed in the Journal the remarks of Dr. William C. Menninger.

Senator Coleman of Webster moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The motion prevailed.
The House reconvened, Speaker Steffen in the chair.

MESSAGE FROM THE SENATE

The following message was received from the Senate:
Mr. Speaker: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate was asked:

House File 8, a bill for an act to abolish the death penalty as a punishment for certain crimes and to substitute therefor imprisonment for life or a term of years.

Robert G. Moore, Secretary.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS

UNFINISHED BUSINESS

House File 22, a bill for an act to amend section thirty (30) of the Liquor Control Act, chapter one hundred fourteen (114), Acts of the Sixtieth General Assembly, relating to bona fide conventions or meetings and occasional private social gatherings of friends or relatives, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up for consideration.

Doyle of Woodbury offered the following amendment filed by him on February 8 and moved its adoption:

Amend House File 22 by inserting after the word "to" in line nine (9) the following: "bona fide conventions and meetings being held on unlicensed premises of auditoriums as contemplated in chapters thirty-seven (37) and three hundred seventy-four A (374A) of the Code nor to".

The amendment lost.
Fisher of Greene moved that the bill be read a last time now and placed upon its passage which motion prevailed and the bill was read a last time.

Gillette of Story asked and received unanimous consent to substitute House Joint Resolution 14 for Senate Joint Resolution 2.

Wilson of Black Hawk moved that the joint resolution be read a last time now and adopted and agreed to which motion prevailed and the joint resolution was read a last time.

House Joint Resolution 14, a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa repealing the section of the Constitution which provides for the office and election of the County Attorney.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Section 1. The following amendment to the Constitution of the State of Iowa is hereby proposed:

> By Reichardt, Hullinger, Korn, Keleher, Clapsaddle, Fullmer, Resnick, Hageman, Scott, Oehlsen, Rickert, Hausheer, Breitbach, Shirley of Dallas, Gillette of Clay-Dickinson, Gillette of Story and Scherle of Fremont-Mills

Whereas, the University of Iowa and Iowa State University have a primary responsibility to the people of this state and the people of Iowa want a football game between these two schools which would be demonstrated and supported by capacity crowds, and

Whereas, it would focus public attention on these two state institutions and a tremendous financial sum would be held within the state that is now going out of the state, and

Whereas, it would enhance the athletic status of both institutions in the eyes of Iowa's stellar high school athletes and would tend to keep more of these young men in our state; therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That a football game be played every other year between these two schools in Iowa City starting in the 1970's or as soon as scheduling can be arranged.

Be It Further Resolved: That copies of this resolution be transmitted to the athletic departments of the University of Iowa and Iowa State University.

Laid over under Rule 25.

Amend House File 7 by striking all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:
"Section 1. Section four hundred eleven point one (411.1), Code 1962, is hereby amended by adding the following new subsection:
"'Pension compensation' shall mean the member's average final compensation adjusted in the ratio of the earnable compensation payable on each July 1 to an active member having the same or equivalent rank or position as was held by the retired or deceased member at the time of retirement or death to the earnable compensation of such member at his retirement or death."

Sec. 2. Section four hundred eleven point six (411.6), Code 1962, is further amended by adding thereto the following subsection:
"Pensions payable under this section shall be adjusted as follows:
"a. As of the first of July of each year, the monthly pensions authorized in this section payable to each retired member and to each beneficiary, except children, of a deceased member shall be recomputed. The formula authorized in this section which was used to compute the retired member's or beneficiary's pension at the time of retirement or death, including all amendments to the formula which may be adopted subsequent to the member's retirement or death, shall be used in the recomputation except the pension compensation shall be used in lieu of the average final compensation which the retired or deceased member was receiving at the time of retirement or death. The adjusted monthly pension shall be the amount payable at the member's retirement or death adjusted by one-half of the difference between the recomputed pension and the amount payable at the member's retirement or death. "b. As of the first of July of each year, the monthly pension payable to each surviving child in accordance with subsections eight (8), nine (9), and thirteen (13) of this section shall be adjusted to equal six percent of the monthly salary payable on such July first to an active member having the rank of first-class fireman, in the case of a child of a deceased member of the fire department, or of a first-class patrolman, in the case of a child of a deceased member of the police department. "c. All monthly pensions adjusted as provided in this subsection shall be payable beginning on July 1 of the year in which the adjustment is made and shall continue in effect until the next following July 1 at which time the monthly pensions shall again be recomputed and all monthly pensions shall be adjusted in accordance with the recomputations.
"d. The adjustment of pensions required by this subsection shall recognize the retired or deceased member's position on the salary scale within his rank at the time of his retirement or death. In the event that the rank or position held by the retired or deceased member at the time of retirement or death is subsequently abolished, adjustments in the pensions of the member or of the member's spouse or children shall be computed by the board of trustees as though such rank or position had not been abolished and salary increases had been granted to such rank or position on the same basis as increases granted to other ranks and positions in the department."

If the report is made to any agency other than the county department of social welfare, such agency shall promptly refer the report to the county department of social welfare.
Sec. 5. Investigation and other action. The county department of social welfare shall make a thorough investigation promptly after receiving either the oral or written report. The primary purpose of the investigation shall be the protection of the child.

The investigation shall include the nature, extent, and cause of the child's injuries; the identity of the person or persons responsible therefor; the names and condition of other children in the home; the child's home environment and relationship with his parents or other persons responsible for his care; and all other pertinent matters.

The investigation shall include a visit to the child's home. If admission to the home cannot be obtained, the juvenile court or district court, upon good cause shown, may authorize the person or persons making the investigation to enter and examine the child's home, using reasonable force if necessary.

The county department of social welfare shall make a complete written report of the investigation to the juvenile court, the county attorney, and the appropriate law enforcement agency. The written report of the investigation shall be delivered within ninety-six (96) hours after the county department of social welfare receives either the oral or written report of injury, unless the juvenile court or district court grants an extension of time for good cause shown.

The county attorney and any law enforcement or welfare agency in the state shall cooperate and assist in the investigation upon the request of the county department of social welfare. The county attorney and appropriate law enforcement agencies shall also take any other lawful action which may be necessary or advisable to protect the health and welfare of the child and his family.

The county department of social welfare shall promptly begin any proceeding under chapter two hundred thirty-two (232) of the Code which appears to be in the best interests of the child; but if the county department of social welfare fails to do so, the county attorney shall promptly do so.

Sec. 6. Jurisdiction; transfer. "County department of social welfare" or "County attorney" ordinarily refer to the county in which the child's home is located.

However, if the person making a report pursuant to this Act does not know where the child's home is located, or if the child's home is not located in the county where the health practitioner examines, attends, or treats the child, the report may be made to the designated agencies for the county where the person making the report resides or the county where the health practitioner examines, attends, or treats the child. These agencies shall promptly proceed as provided in section five (5) of this Act, unless the matter is transferred to another county as provided in this section.

If it appears that the child's home is located in another county, the county department of social welfare shall promptly transfer the matter to the other county by transmitting a copy of the report of injury and any other pertinent information to the county department of social welfare and the county attorney of the other county. They shall promptly proceed as provided in section five (5) of this Act.

Sec. 7. Immunity from liability. Anyone participating in good faith in the making of a report pursuant to this Act shall have immunity from any liability, civil or criminal, which might otherwise be incurred or imposed. Any such participation in good faith in any judicial proceeding resulting from such report or relating to the subject matter of such report.
Sec. 8. Evidence not privileged or excluded. Sections six hundred twenty-two point seven (622.7), six hundred twenty-two point nine (622.9), and six hundred twenty-two point ten (622.10), Code 1962, and any other statute or rule of evidence which excludes or makes privileged the testimony of a husband or wife against the other or the testimony of a health practitioner as to confidential communication, shall not apply to evidence regarding a child's injuries or the cause thereof in any judicial proceeding, civil, or criminal, resulting from a report pursuant to this Act or relating to the subject matter of such report.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 17

By Cohen, Jackson of Black Hawk, Crosier, Uban, Gillette of Story and Wilson of Black Hawk

Whereas, citizens of the United States in peaceful assembly have been the victims of physical brutality, scourged with night sticks, tear gas and whips, to enforce Governor Wallace's ban against a protest march from Selma to Montgomery, Alabama, and,

Whereas, at least thirty-five men and women suffering from the effects of this horrendous police brutality are now hospitalized; and,

Whereas, this march was organized to call the attention of the citizens of these United States to the denial of their rights to register to vote, therefore:
Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That we deem it necessary that this Sixty-first General Assembly support the President of these United States in using his rightful and just power to protect the right to peaceful assembly and demonstration; to curb the exercise of unlawful police power; to enjoin the Governor of Alabama to comply with the Federal Civil Rights Act of 1964; to restore the rights of those Alabama citizens now denied these rights; to urge Alabama's governor to use all due haste to conform to democratic principles inherent in the Constitution of the United States; to allow all citizens of Alabama to exercise their just and lawful franchise by due process of registration; to protect the rights, life and property of those who are endangered while acting in a peaceful manner to enjoin the restoration of these rights.

Be It Further Resolved: That we recognize that the loss of civil rights of any man of any race, color or creed diminishes and corrodes the freedom of all citizens of these United States; now therefore:

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be sent to the President of the United States, Lyndon B. Johnson, to Governor Wallace and Sheriff James G. Clark of Alabama, to Iowa Senators Bourke Hickenlooper and Jack Miller, and to Representatives Schmidhouser, Culver, Gross, Bandstra, Smith, Greigg and Hansen.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 19

Whereas, due to recent snows and excessive precipitation in Western Iowa combined with the above freezing temperatures have caused flooding on the Boyer River in the counties of Harrison, Crawford, Sac, and Buena Vista, and

Whereas, the flooding has inundated farm land and a considerable portion of the city of Missouri Valley causing over eleven hundred people to move from their homes in addition to thousands of dollars involved in the destruction of property, and

Whereas, the flooding has affected the transportation system of the area making it necessary to close both United States Highway 30 and United States Highway 75 for a complete week, and

Whereas, the flooding is not only an immediate problem but is a continuous and recurring problem whenever large amounts of water descend into the area, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Conourring, that United States

Gaudineer of Polk moved to reconsider the vote by which House File 42 passed the House and that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

Motion prevailed.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON HOUSE FILE 42

It is my opinion that House File 42, in its final form as it passed the House, has gone beyond the limits where we are dealing fairly with both management and labor. I certainly am in agreement that a substantial increase is necessary but I believe the unemployment compensation benefits, as outlined in House File 42, will impede industrial growth.

Dale H. Rickert.

HOUSE FILE 105 WITHDRAWN

Mahan of Jackson asked and received unanimous consent to withdraw House File 105 from further consideration by the House.

Resnick of Scott rose on a point of personal privilege and addressed the House as follows:
Mr. Speaker, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:
I would be remiss if I did not stand up and be counted this morning.
Last night, in a hospital in Birmingham, Alabama, a man died, far from his home and his children in Boston, Massachusetts, for a reason surmounted by no others-love. Greater love than this has no man-that he lay down his life for a friend.

Who was the friend for whom the Reverend James Reeb intervened? You, and I, and all the people of this country who believe in and fight for justice and freedom for all men everywhere. The incidence of this man's death is, by history's measure, only one more miring step in the shame of Alabama that is the shame of this entire country before the world.

For the Reverend James Reeb and for those who have gone before, fighting for the rights of man, I can think of no finer epitaph than a paraphrase of a few lines of Julia Ward Howe's famous hymn:

As Christ died to make men holy
They died to make men free.
I know you will join me in prayer that the perpetual light of God shine on them and that they, through the Mercy of God, rest in peace, knowing they have not died in vain.

STATE OF IOWA
Office of the Governor
Des Moines

The Honorable Vince Steffen, Speaker of the House,
State Capitol,
Des Moines, Iowa.
Honorable Members of the General Assembly:
As you know, it is my feeling that the State Department of Health has been underfinanced for a long time. During the past two years, we have secured the services of Dr. Arthur P. Long as Commissioner of Public Health to rebuild the Department to the point where Iowans can justly be proud of it.

Although they were measurably short of the amounts requested by Dr. Long, my budget recommendations for the Sixty-first biennium, which were presented to the General Assembly, February 1, included increases for the Department of Health. Developments and information which have come to my attention subsequently now lead me' to recommend for your consideration one additional budgetary increase that will improve the services offered by the Health Department and to suggest that the Department be given a maximum of latitude in distributing the appropriated funds among its various divisions.

First, the Department of Health included in its original askings funds for the support of a "Director of Regional Health Services" and for "Regional Health Services." This program, which provides guidance, support, consultation and advice on public health matters to local city and county health centers, has for a number of years been supported by federal grant funds. These funds recently have been greatly reduced and are likely to be withdrawn completely during the coming biennium.

It can be seen that state funds are needed to continue and expand this program. To implement fully the "Regional Health Services" program calls for the hiring of six public health nurses, 12 sanitary engineers, and some clerical staff. These people would provide guidance to the 61 local public health nurses now employed jointly by the County Boards of Supervisors and the State Department of Health. Also, the engineers would work directly with the local boards of health, particularly on such matters as safe water supply, water pollution control, industrial health and hygiene, and air pollution. The addition of these engineers is particularly essential to implementation of the proposed new water pollution control program.

On the basis of studies concluded after my budget recommendations were presented and additional information furnished by the Commissioner of Health and the Comptroller, I feel that funds should be appropriated to provide the necessary state support for an adequate "Regional Health Services" program. I, therefore, urge the Assembly to appropriate $$ 135,000$ each year of the biennium for this purpose.

The second item which I wish to call to your attention is the manner in which the Governor's recommended appropriation bill was drafted for the State Department of Health. As in previous years, a divisional breakdown was made in my 1965-67 recommendations for each of the various functions performed by the Department. This procedure, which has grown up through the years, is considerably more restrictive than that for many other major departments.

Recent consultations with Dr. Long and the Comptroller have convinced me that a much better over-all state health program can be developed if the Assembly approved a total departmental appropriation for Public Health, without specifying the amount for each particular division. This would give the administration the discretion to utilize the appropriated funds where they are needed most and would enable us to stretch each dollar appropriated for Public Health further in providing a sound program. I urge your favorable consideration of this budgetary change.

The Assembly's attention to both of these matters will be sincerely appreciated. The Comptroller, the Health Commissioner and I stand ready to answer any questions any member may have during your budget deliberations.

Very truly yours, Harold E. Hughes, Governor.

Miller of Des Moines moved to reconsider the vote by which House File 307 passed the House and that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table.

SENATE FILE 157 SUBSTITUTED FOR HOUSE FILE 158
Rickert of Louisa-Muscatine moved that Senate File 157 be substituted for House File 158.

Speaker pro tempore Miller in the chair at 11:45 a.m.
Motion prevailed.
(Business pending at adjournment.)
Maule of Monona moved that the House recess until 1:30 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The House reconvened, Speaker Steffen in the chair.
Carnahan of Wapello moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention.

Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed as such committee Carnahan of Wapello, Denato of Polk and Grassley of Butler.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention reported that it had performed its duty. The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

The Sergeant-at-Arms announced the arrival of the President of the Senate, the honorable body of the Senate and the Pioneer Lawmakers.

The President of the Senate was escorted to the Speaker's station, the Secretary of the Senate to the Chief Clerk's desk, the members of the Senate were seated throughout the chamber and the Pioneer Lawmakers were escorted to the well of the House.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Fulton presiding.

President Fulton announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

President Fulton presented Senator George O'Malley, who, on behalf of the Senate, welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers with the following remarks:
Mr. President, Mr. Speaier, Members of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association, Members of the Joint Convention and Guests:
It is a distinct privilege to extend to the Pioneer Lawmakers a hearty welcome from the Sixty-first General Assembly and particularly the Senate. I am pleased to see so many back here roaming the legislative halls greeting each other with enthusiasm and telling how they did it in the days of yore.

I'd like to say that, the Lord willing, it won't be too long until I will be eligible to become a Pioneer Lawmaker and I hope to attend many of your future meetings in the days to come.
I think you will find that the legislative processes are as stimulating today as they were in the past when you were the leaders and when you the protagonists on one side or the other. However, I think you will note now with reapportionment, that the numbers are greater and that many, many changes are in process which we hope will speed up the legislative process. I particularly want to call attention to the fact that the matter of secrecy has been eliminated, and I hope forever. Probably the greatest contribution to fast legislative action is the open confirmations by the Senate eliminating the executive session. Now we call the roll and take care of confirmations in regular order, thereby eliminating the matter of secrecy and running everybody out of the Senate except the Senators and the presiding officer, Secretary of the Senate and Sergeant-at-Arms. This, I am sure, has been a real accomplishment and I hope it continues to be the policy in future legislatures.

Certainly one of the most cherished honors that can come to any citizen in this state is to have had the privilege to serve in the legislature and observe the dedication which the members display in considering various pieces of legislation.

It is a great privilege to represent the people of Iowa in this General Assembly and I know it is one of the most cherished traditions that you veterans have to reminisce about.
We, the lawmakers of today, commend you, the lawmakers of yesterday, for the work you have done in the passing of legislation which you considered to be in the public interest. It appears that you came to grips with many problems of your day such as taxes, and of course we have the same problems this session, in addition to the matter of governmental reform and once and for all, laying to rest, if possible, the matter of reapportionment.
I am delighted to see so many of you here and I hope that you all will return to the next lawmakers' meeting two years hence.

Thank you.

President Fulton presented Representative Floyd P. Edgington, who, on behalf of the House, welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers with the following remarks:
Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Pioneer Lawmakers and Fellow LegisLATORS:
It is a great pleasure today to welcome the Pioneer Lawmakers on this occasion. I know it must bring back memories of the great problems that you shared with your colleagues in forming the patterns that helped make Iowa the great state that it is now. For example, it was your foresight for the growing problems of education which made it possible for all children to attend school, regardless of where they might live. And also, you provided for schools of higher learning that have gained national recognition, and produced the students that now lead our state. In addition, you were responsible for the great road system that made it possible for agricultural products to be marketed, and the sixteen foot pavements that were a boon to Iowa in the early days.
I think it would be well for us present lawmakers to realize that the achievement of yesterday did not come easy, and without tireless effort, and foresight of those who served before us. We only hope that when we are Pioneer Lawmakers we will be as highly regarded as you, and for the same good reasons.

Thank you.
President Fulton presented the Honorable Henry W. Burma, President of the Pioneer Lawmakers, a former member of the House in the Forty-seventh, Forty-eighth, Forty-ninth and Fiftieth General Assemblies, Speaker of the House in the Fiftieth General Assembly and member of the State Board of Control from 1951-1957.

The Honorable Henry W. Burma addressed the convention and gave recognition to the following older lawmakers: the Honorable Emery English of Polk County who is ninety-two, the Honorable Ed White of Shelby ninety years, the Honorable John Gardner of Linn ninety years and the Honorable J. A. King who is seventy-nine.

The Honorable Mr. Burma then presented Dr. Woodrow W. Morris, Associate Dean, College of Medicine, State University of Iowa, and Director of Geronotology at the University, who addressed the convention with the following remarks:

THE AGING IN OUR SOCIETY  By Woodrow W. Morris, Ph.D.

Thank You, Mr. Burma, Lieutenant Governor Fulton, Mr. Speaker, Senator O'Malley, Representative Edgington, Honored Pioneer Lawmakers, Members of the Sixty-first General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:
I consider it an unusual honor and a distinct privilege to have been invited to address you on this occasion. I suspect that my relationship to the Institute of Gerontology at the University of Iowa and the fact that we here honor those who have gained the status of "Pioneer Lawmaker" have something to do with this invitation and with my presence here on this rostrum. Well, the study of the aging process and concern for the well-being and general status of those approaching the later years of life are dear to my heart and I welcome the opportunity to address you this afternoon on the subject of The Aging in Our Society.
From my previous experiences in working with Iowa legislators I have been impressed with the fact that you are also deeply concerned with the problems of all of our citizens and particularly of those falling within the category of the aged and aging. Evidence of this interest on your part as legislators includes such outstanding pieces of legislation as the Iowa Nursing Home Licensing Act of 1957 which established minimum standards for nursing and custodial homes for the protection of those of our people who find it necessary to seek this kind of care; more recent evidence of your interest and concern is to be found in the currently operating medical aid to the aged program which has become a model health care program for other states; and there is currently a bill to establish a permanent Commission on Aging in the legislative mills of the present General Assembly, as S. F. 351, which will come before you for consideration before too long. For all of these and other legislative acts, present and past General Assemblies deserve the congratulations of all of our people.

A great deal has been said over the past several years about the increasing proportion of older persons in this country and I think little more needs to be said about this now. Suffice it to say that there are more than sixteen million persons over 65 in America today who make up almost 9 percent of the population. Furthermore, the numbers and proportions are increasing at a rapid rate. One current prediction is that the number in the over age 65 group will increase by over one million every three years. In Iowa this means some 350,000 persons, and this is the highest proportion of the population in this age group of any of the fifty states -that is, over 12 percent. However, I suspect this is not why the aged are a problem. The aged are a problem because of the nature of the society in which we live which, by any standards, is an extremely wealthy society possessing all of the natural resources necessary to solve most of our major social problems. It is common knowledge, however, that in this affluent cultural setting we as a nation have not yet faced up completely to the specters nor found final solutions to the problems of racial inequality, unemployment, depressed areas, to say nothing of the aged who represent only one group now demanding attention.
The cultural setting in which groups of people live and the attitudes fostered by this cultural setting, insofar as aging and the aged are concerned, are the factors which I should like to stress today.
For example, one of the findings of a survey conducted in Iowa during the summer of 1960 serves to point up several of these attitudes. This finding is that Iowans in the age range over 60 tend to think of themselves as "middle aged." Any differences between groups are minor, be they men and women or folks from metropolitan or non-metropolitan areas. It is true that, as age increases, there is less and less clinging to the middle age concept, however, men from urban counties tend to maintain this through age 74, after which age they tend to shift all the way over to a self-concept of "old man." All other groups prefer to think of themselves as "elderly" when they give up the "middle aged" self-conceptthe term "elderly" apparently seeming to them to be less stigmatic, more dignified, and a somewhat "softer" designation than "old."
All groups tended to postpone thinking of themselves as "old" to from 10 to 15 years beyond their current ages. Thus, over 60 percent of the 60 to 64 years olds tended to say they would not think of themselves as "old" until some time in the age range of 70 to 85 . Well over half of the 65 to 69 year olds postpone the "old" idea until they are in the age range of 75 to 89 . Over 40 percent of those in the early 70's said that they would wait until they were in the 80 's and those over 75 years of age preferred the range from 85 to 89.

As age increased there was a tendency to view the meaning of "old" in terms other than chronological years. Many said something to the effect that they would begin to regard themselves as old in relation to the state of their health, of which more will be said later on.

There is a question among the so-called experts as to whether or not maintaining the middle aged self-concept is healthy or whether it would be better for older people to accept the fact of their aging status. It seems to me that to define oneself as "old" suggest a final surrender in life to aging and what it means and which would seem naturally to be denied as long as the concept of relative youth (that is, middle age) can be maintained.

Now a number of factors govern the ability with which a person can maintain such concepts. These are the factors which help to integrate a person into society, that is, which help him to continue his middle age patterns into later years. A few such patterns include: (1) Group memberships, especially relationships with friends and family, (2) Resources of property and prestige, and (3) Major social roles. Let me review the first two of these briefly after which I should like to devote the major portion of this paper to the major social roles.
I. Group Memberships. People are integrated into society not only by the resources they command and the functions they perform, but also through their social relationships. Here the picture for old people is clear. Their participation in clubs and organizations declines steadily with age as poor income, widowhood and illness increase. Their informal relationships also steadily diminish. Neighborhoods change, families separate as children marry and pursue jobs, relatives and friends move away or die. More of their time is spent at funerals than ever before. In other words, old people progressively lose their group supports as networks of relatives, friends and neighbors wither away through time.

What possible substitutes exist for these deteriorating social ties? One is the formation of new friendships with younger people nearby. However, younger age groups tend to be indifferent to or reject the old. This is trenchantly expressed in Joyce Cary's novel, "To Be A Pilgrim":
"Love is a delusion to the old, for who can love an old man? He is a nuisance; he has no place in the world. The old are surrounded by treachery for no one tells them the truth. Either it is thought necessary to deceive them, for their own good, or nobody can take the trouble to give explanation or understanding to those who will carry both so soon into a grave. They must not complain of what is inevitable; they must not think evil. It is unjust to blame the rock for its hardness, the stream for its inconstancy and its flight, the young for the strength and the jewel brightness of their passage. An old man's loneliness is nobody's fault. He is like an old fashioned hat which seems absurd and incomprehensible to the young, who never admired and wore such a hat."
II. Property and Prestige. Property ownership and the prestige that comes from the possession of knowledge, skills and other competitive abilities are factors which would tend to assist a person at any age to maintain independence; and independence is the keystone of self-prestige. Even a quick review of this matter indicates that the aging portion of our population is gradually, and in some instances quite rapidly, losing out in the struggle. Property ownership, for example, is gradually becoming spread out in this country throughout the population, and control and ownership is not particularly centered in the hands of older people. The same is true of competition in the field of employment where automation in the many new types of jobs which have been created in our economy seem mainly to favor younger age groups. Even in the matter of home ownership, we found in the Iowa survey a decline with increasing age. While most of the respondents in their 60 's and early 70 's were still residing in their own homes, among persons past age 75, a fairly large number had given up their homes. This was particularly true of older persons in urban counties and especially among women in these counties. In the metropolitan areas, almost one-third of the men past 75, and close to half of the women in this age group, were no longer living in homes they themselves owned.

Other prestige factors, such as the possession of specialized skills and strategic knowledge to an increasingly smaller degree qualify the elders as authorities for the younger members of society. This is reflected in a variety of ways, not the least important of which is related to the amount of formal education attained by those now in the age group beyond age 60. For example, the median of formal schooling completed by our Iowa sample was somewhere in the range of fifth and eighth grade. The average young person in Iowa today completes about an eleventh grade education, while an ever-increasing number are going on to advanced studies in colleges, universities, into technical training courses, and so on. Today the important occupational and other skills are being taught through formal education rather than the more informal, on-the-job training. In summary then, of this point, the aged today seem not to be the great bulwark of property ownership, nor the strategic agents of either instruction or sources of great wisdom for our society in general.
III. Major Social Roles. Here we are concerned with those important characteristics which describe and determine a person's position in society. These characteristics include: (a) his marital status, (b) work, (c) income, and (d) health. I think you will readily agree that, to the degree that an older person can maintain these major role characteristics from middle age, his later years will pose less serious problems, but conversely as these major roles are lost, the later years become increasingly strained, frustrating, and tend to lower morale. In plain language, what I am saying is that older people are relatively better off and better integrated socially if they are (a) married and living with their spouse, (b) still at work, (c) suffering no significant loss of income, and (d) in relatively good health. Again they are apt to be in increasingly more serious difficulty if they are widowed, retired, suffering serious loss in income and in poor health.

Now, what is the situation with the aged with regard to these four factors?
A. Marital Status. Again, referring to the Iowa Survey of Life After Sixty we find, as one might expect, the aged show a serious disruption of marital status. As elsewhere in the country, widowhood in Iowa increases with advancing age and comes earlier for women and to more of them than for men. Between the ages of 60 and 69 more than four out of five men were married, after which widowhood increases until we find that those over age 75, 35 percent are widowed. Widowhood among women is more extensive at all ages-the percentage ranging from 27 percent in the age group 60 to 64 , to 77 percent in the age group over 75 . It is obvious from this that widowhood affects more women than men and that it has a harder impact on them as well. There is no reason to believe either that this trend will not continue in the future because women are younger than their husbands, have lower mortality rates at any given age, and their life expectancy is increasing faster than that of men. Hence, despite increasing longevity, the surplus of older women in increasing and the strains added both to the individual and our society will not become lessened in the future.
B. Work. The percentage of older people in the labor force has been steadily decreasing since the beginning of the century. About two-thirds of the men were employed in 1900 while only about one-third are employed today and only about half of them, full time. The situation is somewhat better in Iowa. We find about one-third of the subjects in our survey (all in the age group over 60) reported full time employment with an additional 23 percent reporting part time employment. The percentages of those who are employed, of course, decline sharply with increasing age.

There is a marked tendency for those who are still working to be the self-employed, that is, those primarily in farming, small business and the independent professions; but the future for some of these groups is gloomy as we all know. The family farm is gradually losing out to larger, more corporate type farms and small business men are giving way to chain stores and similar large enterprises while more and more professionals are entering the world of business and government employment. The remaining older workers are working for other people and since employment is a fairly strict function of labor supply, when labor is scarce old people may work, but when labor is abundant they do not, and it is as stark as that. What the era of automation will bring is pretty clear.
C. Income. This factor, of course, is related to employment. When old people continue to work, they maintain their income fairly well. In fact, if their health is good, they may even be better off financially than in earlier years because their children are independent, they may well have paid off the mortgage on their home, and their personal needs are frequently more modest; but for the big majority who are retired, income is chopped off to approximately half, or less, of what it was before. For the older age group as a whole, income figures are appalling and one is led frequently to wonder how many of these people manage to keep body and soul together at today's prices. Nationally, one-fourth of women over 65 have no income at all; three-fourths have less than $$ 1,000$ per year, and only one out of twelve have as much as $$ 2,000$ annually. In Iowa we found the median income for all women ( 60 years of age and over) to be approximately $$ 1,300$, with 11 percent reporting less than $$ 500$ annually. The situation of the men is not quite so bad but it is bad enough. Nationally, close to one-third have between one and two thousand dollars income, and only the final one-third have as much as $$ 2,000$ per year. In the Iowa survey we found the median income for all older men to be about $$ 2,500$ and in both these instances, as well as that of the women, the median income declines sharply with age. Thus, only about one older person in five has an income approaching $$ 40$ per week. Try to imagine an old couple, or for that matter even a single person, subsisting on less than this in today's market. While the financial situation in Iowa appears to be somewhat better than the average for the nation as a whole, it still would appear that a fairly substantial number of older people in Iowa are living on very marginal incomes which are not sufficient to enable them to remain financially independent or to meet unexpected financial emergencies.
D. Health. Modern medicine has made tremendous strides in reducing acute infectious disease rates; but the aged suffer mostly from long-term, expensive chronic illnesses. The findings from health surveys among the elderly reveal that they tend not to complain about their health; in fact, the biggest majority report few major health difficulties. For example, in Iowa, only 36 percent of our sample reported any major health difficulties. While this percentage appears to be small, and recognizing that our survey results are a conservative estimate because we interviewed only the relatively well aged who were still at home and able to be interviewed and none who were in hospitals, nursing or custodial homes, it is startling to project this to the total population of people over age 60; this 36 percent conservatively suggests that there are probably some Iowans in this age range with one or more major health difficulties. In the national reports the major dividing line seems to occur at age 75 and I would recall for you the fact that more people over 75 are widowed, retired, and have low incomes in addition to poor health. One should not be misled by survey results which simply ask the aged to characterize their health status. The initial reaction seems to be to report good or excellent health. This happened in Iowa with the biggest majority of our respondents. A report from the National Opinion Research Councii indicates similarly that most older people would say "I am not really very-sick." This report estimates not more than 14 percent of the older age group is really sick. In another report, also coming out of the University of Chicago, we read "various studies have shown that above the age of 60 , two out of five people have some form of chronic disease and we can clearly see what the pattern of the needs for medical science are and will be: it clearly lies within the degenerative field. The high death rates from heart disease and cancer today do not stem from better diagnosis or increased susceptibility. It is simply that there are more persons living in those ages where these diseases are most prevalent."

I suggested earlier that old people will still be fairly well integrated in society if their major social role characteristics remain unchanged, that is, if they are married and living with spouse, are still working, have an adequate income and are in reasonably good health. It has been shown, however, that the chances are slim for a man over age 65 to have a favorable rating on all of these items and the chances are even poorer for women.

Now I have surely described a bleak and dismal picture; one which bears very little resemblance to the world described by the oft-repeated platitudes which somehow include the word "golden" when referring to the later years of life. What are the solutions to these problems? How can the picture be made more favorable, if not "golden"? Time and time again it has occurred to me that the two most important elements are income and health. Well, I would suggest that it would be interesting to know what would happen if we could assure the the material welfare and health of older people. I mean by this, assuring them of any medical care they may need under any circumstances without quibbling about their eligibility or how much it would cost. I also mean by this, assuring all older people of a genuinely adequate income and standard of living, again without quibbling about these factors. Now, lest I be misunderstood, let me make it very clear here that J am not proposing expansion of the welfare state nor am I proposing socialized or government medicine. What I am saying is that these things are possible in our culture and in our times, living as we do in a society boasting the highest standard of living, the greatest material wealth, and the highest level of educational attainments ever achieved in the history of mankind. It is almost exciting to contemplate what could be if all this material wealth and the ingenuity of American know-how from both governmental and non-governmental sources, from both public and private enterprise, from the several professional, business, industrial, and voluntary organizations of all types-if all this material and intellectual wealth were to be focussed full-glare on the problems of income maintenance and the health of our people. How energetically, how willingly, and how generously these needs of our older people are met may be the most significant step we can take as a state and as a nation.

There are many other less material factors to be considered which time does not permit discussing now. Important research remains to be done in dealing with such problems as the social isolation of the aged; the attitudes of younger people toward the aged; the attitude of the aged toward themselves and the precursor attitudes of the aged toward old age when they themselves were younger, for it may well be that it lies in the realm of the attitudes of all of us that the status and position of the older person in society is in part determined. Here we are dealing with such problems as alienation of the old from the young and possibly also of the alienation of the young from each other and of man from man. In treating this topic we come upon the most difficult question of all which is the problem of dealing with changing cultural patterns, attitudes, and beliefs. A glimpse of what may possibly be a key to the solutions we seek was given in a paper presented by Marjorie Fiske Lowenthal at the 1964 meeting of the American Gerontological Society, Minneapolis, Minnesota:
" The individual who is most likely to age successfully, despite a plethora of the vicissitudes and insults of aging-is the one who consciously moves through a transitional stage which primarily involves the substitution of enduring human values in place of the instrumental goals which, in our society, are likely to have been paramount at earlier stages of his development.' It is the word 'consciously' which I find encouraging, for it suggests that further work on the developmental process may help us to conceptualize the norms and expectations for aging which are now so sadly lacking."

This is, as I said, the most difficult question of all-but its difficulty should not serve to deter us from seeking appropriate solutions.

Uban of Black Hawk moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

The motion prevailed.
The House reconvened, Speaker Steffen in the chair.

"Section 1. Section two hundred seventy-nine point thirteen (279.13), Code 1962, is hereby amended by striking all of such section after the word 'methods.' in line ninety-three (93) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:
'Upon the conclusion of the hearing the board shall determine the question of continuance or discontinuance of the contract by a roll call vote entered in the minutes of the board, and the action of the board shall be final; except that, if such teacher has completed three (3) or more contract years of service with such board and such board decides to discontinue the contract, the board shall notify the teacher of its decision in writing and such notification shall specify the grounds relied upon by the board, which grounds shall be limited to (a) insubordination, immoral character or conduct unbecoming a teacher, and (b) inefficiency, incompetency, physical or mental disability, or neglect of duty. Where such teacher has served three (3) or more contract years with such board and has received notice of discontinuance of contract in writing, the teacher shall have the right to a public hearing, with right of counsel, if the teacher files a request therefor with the president or secretary of the board within five (5) days; and if within five (5) days after receipt by the teacher of such written information the teacher files with the president or secretary of the board a written request for a hearing, the board shall, before any notice of termination is mailed, give the teacher a written notice of the time and place of such hearing and shall hold a public hearing if the teacher appears at such time and place either alone or with representation. If the board fails to notify the teacher by April 15, the board must grant to the teacher all general increases in salary granted to those in his classification in the school system. At such hearing and at all hearings provided for by this section, the teacher shall have the right to confront all witnesses upon whose evidence the board took the action. If no witnesses so appear the board will furnish to the teacher a list of witnesses against him and, if requested by the teacher, the board shall subpoena such witnesses. At the close of the hearing, the board shall render a written decision and a copy shall be furnished to the teacher. If the board decides to terminate the contract, it shall specify the date of termination in the decision; however, the date of termination shall not be before the date the board notifies the teacher of its decision. If the teacher is dissatisfied with the decision of the board such teacher may appeal to the district court of the county of his employment. Said appeal trial shall be by trial de novo of all matters of law and fact. The appeal in such cases shall be perfected by filing with the clerk of said court within thirty (30) days after the date of the board's decision, a petition setting forth the act complained of. The rules of civil procedure governing original notice in civil matters shall apply and pleadings shall conform to the practice in other civil proceedings. If the district court, sitting without a jury, finds a dismissal to be not in accord with statutes governing dismissal of teachers, or that the facts do not substantiate said dismissal, then the teacher shall be reinstated without loss of pay or status in the position held immediately before his dismissal by the board. If the district court upholds the teacher in his position, all reasonable expenses incurred by the teacher shall be paid by the board, the court awarding same. The foregoing provisions for termination shall affect the powers of the board of directors to discharge a teacher for cause under the provisions of section two hundred seventy-nine point twenty-four (279.24) of the Code insofar as to grounds, right of counsel, and all other provisions concerning notice, right of public hearing, confrontation of witnesses, and appeal, and all other provisions contained in this section. ## REPORT OF COMMITTEE

Mueller of Winnebago-Worth, from the committee on agriculture, submitted the following report:

Mr. Speaker: Your committee on agriculture to whom was referred House File 230, a bill for an act relating to the marketing of dairy products, begs leave to report it has had the same under consideration and has instructed me to report the same back to the House with the recommendation that the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass:
Amend House File 230 by striking all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. For the purpose of this Act:

1. "Dairy product" means milk, skim milk, cream, sour cream, ice cream, ice cream mix, ice milk except that sold in semifrozen form, ice milk mix, cottage cheese, frozen desserts, reconstituted milk, minimal milk fat products, and any additive variant of any dairy product.
2. "Department" means state department of agriculture.
3. "Secretary" means the secretary of agriculture of the State of Iowa.
4. "Person" means any individual, corporation, co-operative, association, partnership, or other business unit.
5. "Processor" means any person engaged in the business of manufacturing, processing, or packaging dairy products.
6. "Distributor" means any person engaged in the business of selling any dairy product at wholesale and any person engaged in the business of selling any dairy product at retail on home delivery routes.
7. "Retailer" means any person within this state engaged in the business of operating any retail establishment or institution, including but not limited to hotels, restaurants, grocery stores, drug stores, and automatic vending machines where dairy products are consumed or sold to customers. This subsection shall not apply to schools, churches or other charitable institutions not operated for profit.
8. "Broker" means any person engaged in negotiating sales or purchases of selected dairy products for or on behalf of a processor, distributor, or retailer.
9. "Sale" or "sell" means and includes any commercial transfer for consideration, exchange, barter, gift, or offer for sale and distribution in any manner or by any means.
10. Cost of a dairy product to a distributor or to a retailer means that portion of all of the expenses of such distributor or such retailer which, under any system of cost accounting which is in accordance with sound accounting principles and reasonably adapted to the business of such distributor or such retailer, is fairly allocable to such dairy product or the sale thereof to its customers or to a particular class thereof. Such cost shall include, but not be limited to, expenses for labor, salaries, administration, rent, interest, depreciation, power, raw and processed ingredients, materials, supplies, maintenance of equipment, selling, local and national advertising, transportation, delivery, credit losses, licenses and other fees, taxes other than income taxes, and insurance. There shall be a presumption in the case of dairy products which are not sold under the manufacturer's label and which are not advertised, that the cost thereof to a distributor, in the absence of evidence to the contrary, shall be not more than two and one-half ( $21 / 2$ ) percent, computed to the nearest one (1) cent, less than the cost for otherwise identical dairy products. There shall be a further presumption that, in the absence of specific evidence to the contrary, the cost to a retailer is not less than the next price paid by the retailer for a unit or package of a dairy product, (or, in the case of a retailer which processes its own dairy products, its cost thereof at its plant dock plus all costs incurred in transporting the same to its retail point of sale), plus an amount representing such retailer's "cost of doing business", computed as sixteen (16) percent of such net price. In the case of any person engaged in the business of selling any dairy products at retail on home delivery routes, there shall be presumption that in the absence of specific evidence to the contrary the cost to such person is not less than the net cost to or price paid by such person for a unit or package of a dairy product plus an amount representing such person's "retail cost of doing business", computed as thirty-two (32) percent of such cost or net price.

Any subsidiary or affiliate corporation, co-operative, officer, director, or partner of a corporation, co-operative, or partnership which is a processor or distributor of dairy products is deemed to be a processor or distributor of dairy products.

Sec. 2. The secretary of agriculture is hereby entrusted with the administration and enforcement of this Act. There is hereby created in the department of agriculture a division to be known as the "Division of Dairy Trade Practices". The head of the division shall be the "Chief of the Division of Dairy Trade Practices". All powers of the secretary under this Act may be exercised by and through the chief of the division of dairy trade practices. The secretary shall employ such professional and other personnel as, in his judgment, shall be necessary to the proper performance of his duties hereunder.

Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful for any person engaged in business within the State of Iowa, either directly or indirectly, to discriminate in price between different purchasers of dairy products of like grade and quality where the effect of such discrimination may be substantially to lessen competition or tend to create a monopoly, or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with any person who either grants or knowingly receives the benefit of such discrimination or with customers of either the grantor or receiver. Nothing herein shall prevent:

1. Differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of manufacture, sale, or delivery resulting from the differing methods or quantities in which dairy products are sold or delivered to purchasers or differentials otherwise permitted in this Act.
2. Persons engaged in selling dairy products from selecting their own customers in bona fide transactions and not in restraint of trade.
3. Price changes from time to time in response to changing conditions affecting the market for or the marketability of dairy products such as, but not limited to, actual or imminent deterioration of perishable goods, obsolescence of seasonal goods, distress sales under court process, or sales in good faith in discontinuance of business in dairy products.
4. Price differentials made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor.

Sec. 4. It shall be unlawful for any person to discriminate in price by selling or offering to sell any dairy product to any purchaser in the State of Iowa at prices lower than those exacted by such persons elsewhere in the state for the purpose or with the effect of injuring competition or tending to create a monopoly; provided however, that nothing herein contained shall prevent price differentials which make only due allowance for differences in the cost of sale or transportation resulting from differing methods or quantities in which such dairy products are sold or transported to such purchasers; and provided further, that nothing herein contained shall prevent sales made in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor. Proof of advertisement, giving, offering for sale, or sale of any dairy products in any city, town, or county at prices less than advertised, given, offered for sale, or sold in any other city, town, or county by such person which cannot be accounted for as necessary to meet competition or which cannot be accounted for by the difference in such cost of sale or transportation cost shall be prima-facie evidence of violation of this section.

Sec. 5. It shall be unlawful for any processor, distributor, or retailer to engage in the following practice:

1. To enter into any agreement or contract with any other person for the establishment or maintenance of minimum prices of dairy products in restraint of trade and for the purpose of eliminating free and open competition in the sale of dairy products. It is the purpose of this paragraph to make applicable to sales of dairy products in this state, legal restrictions similar to those imposed by Sec. 1 of the Sherman Anti-trust Act ( 15 U. S. C., Sec. 1), and this paragraph shall be given a construction similar to that from time to time given to that Act.
2. To sell or offer to sell within the state any dairy product for less than the cost to the processor, distributor, or retailer where the effect may be substantially to lessen competition or to injure, destroy, or prevent competition with the person buying or the person selling such product; provided that this shall not prevent sales made in good faith to meet competition.
Sec. 6. It shall be unlawful for any processor or distributor to sell or contract to sell dairy products in this state or any part of it at unreasonably low prices for the purpose of destroying competition or eliminating a competitor. It is the purpose of this paragraph to make applicable to the sales of dairy products in this state legal restrictions similar to those proposed by section 3 of the Robinson Patman Act (15 U. S. C., Sec. 13 A) and this paragraph shall be given a construction similar to that from time to time given to that Act.

Sec. 7. No processor or distributor shall give or extend discounts or rebates, directly or indirectly, to retailers or other processors or distributors on dairy products or give or extend to such purchasers any services connected with the delivery, handling, or stocking of such products except as provided in this Act. A processor or distributor may provide services to a particular processor, distributor, or retailer or may sell dairy products at a price necessary to meet a bona fide offer by a competitor. The service or discount shall not be given until the processor or distributor first files with the department a written record of the date and terms of the competitive offer, the name of the processor, distributor, or retailer to whom the offer was made, and the name of the competitor who made the offer. Any such record filed with the department shall be used only for determining or verifying proof of violations of this Act.

Sec. 8. Price list to be filed. All distributors offering dairy products for sale within the state shall file with the department on a form provided by said department a complete price list showing the invoice price of such distributor of all items of dairy products sold or offered for sale by them. Distributors who offer dairy products for sale both at their respective places of business and deliver to retailer or retail outlets, shall include on such price lists filed with the department the different prices established for dairy products offered for sale at their respective places of business and for dairy products delivered to the retailer or retail outlet. Distributors who offer dairy products for sale to consumers on home delivery routes shall include on such price lists filed with the department, the different prices established for dairy products offered for sale to such consumers. Within thirty (30) days after the effective date of this Act, every distributor shall file with the department its initial price schedules and schedules of discounts and rebates and thereafter, every distributor shall charge its prices in accordance with its schedule on file with the department until such price schedule is changed as hereinafter provided. Before any distributor may make any change in its price schedule and prices charged, it shall give notice by certified mail to the department setting forth its new schedule of prices or new schedule of discounts and rebates ten (10) days prior to the effective date of any change in such schedule on file with the department (except that where prices are changed in good faith to meet an equally low price of a competitor, notice to the department of the new schedule of prices shall be given within two (2) business days after such change). The initial filing of schedules or any new schedules shall be filed with the department either in person or by certified mail. Price lists filed with the department shall be used only for determining and proving violations of this Act. Failure or refusal to file current price lists with the department shall be a violation of this Act.

Sec. 9. No processor or distributor shall furnish, give, lend, sell, or rent any advertising signs of a permanent nature except signs advertising the processor's or distributor's own products. Not more than one-third (1/3) of the space or cost of advertising signs permitted under this section may be used to identify the retailer.

Sec. 10. No processor or distributor shall make payments of money, credits, gifts, or loans to retailers as rental for the storage or display of dairy products on the premises where offered for sale by the retailer.

Sec. 11. No processor or distributor shall make or underwrite loans to a retailer or become bound in any manner for the financial obligation of any retailer except that a processor or distributor may lend money to a retailer for the purchase of equipment for the storage, transportation, and display of dairy products. Such loans may be made to the retailer provided the loan is for not more than ninety (90) percent of the purchase price with at least six (6) percent annual interest on the principal amount and on the unconditional written promise of the retailer that the loan shall be paid within a period not to exceed thirty-six (36) months.

Sec. 12. No processor or distributor shall furnish, sell, give, lend, or rent any equipment to a retailer except:

1. Processors and distributors, under a bill of sale or conditional sales contract describing the property sold and specifying the price and terms of sale, may sell equipment for the storage, transportation, and display of dairy products to the retailer. The selling price of such equipment shall not be less than the cost to the wholesaler less ten (10) percent per year depreciation plus transportation and installation costs plus at least six (6) percent, but in no event shall the price be less than ten
(10) dollars per unit. If the processor or distributor makes the sale under a security agreement or conditional sales contract, the terms of sale shall be no more favorable to the retailer than those provided in section eleven (11) of this Act.
2. Processors and distributors may provide without restriction coinvending machines from which the product vended is intended by such processor or distributor to be consumed on the premises.
3. Processors and distributors may furnish equipment for the storage, transportation, or display of dairy products for one period of not longer than ten (10) consecutive days a year to any one retailer for use at a fair, exhibition, exposition, or other promotional event for agricultural, industrial, charitable, educational, religious, or recreational purposes.

Sec. 13. No processor or distributor shall maintain or make repairs of any equipment owned by a retailer except equipment used exclusively for dairy products. On such maintenance or repairs, the processor or distributor shall make charges for the service and parts at the same prices as are charged by third persons rendering such service in the community where the retailer is located. In no event shall the charges be less than the cost to the processor or distributor plus a reasonable margin of profit.

Sec. 14. No processor or distributor shall give, offer to give, furnish, finance, or otherwise make available any free goods to any person, directly or indirectly, in connection with the sale of dairy products or to any other person doing business with such person, or give, offer to give, furnish, finance, or otherwise make available any payments, gifts, or grants of anything of value to any retailer. Nothing in this section shall prevent transactions with retailers of any of the following:

1. The furnishing of point of sale advertising material made of paper, cardboard, or other material not of a permanent nature for the use in the promotion of the products of such processor or distributor which remain inside retailer locations.
2. The furnishing of hostesses or demonstrators at any retailer's location to promote the products of the processor or distributor.
3. The advertising by a processor or distributor of products through any advertising media the processor or distributor selects which does not involve allowances, payments, or the furnishing of other property to persons purchasing such products in a manner prohibited by this section.
4. Advertising allowances which do no more than reimburse a retailer for costs in advertising dairy products of the processor or distributor.

Sec. 15. No processor or distributor shall be prohibited from operating a retail outlet for retail sales or prohibited from using in the retail outlet any equipment or advertising or miscellaneous matter owned by the processor or distributor provided the retail outlet is under direct control and management of the processor or distributor.

Sec. 16. No processor or distributor shall be prohibited from giving away dairy products to be consumed on the sale premises.

Sec. 17. It shall be unlawful for any retailer to receive, directly or indirectly, from or through a processor, distributor, or broker, any discount, rebate, allowance, service, price discrimination, advertising material, loan, equipment, payment, or any other thing of value all as prohibited by this Act.

Sec. 18. It shall be unlawful for a broker or any officer or agent of any brokerage firm to participate, directly or indirectly, in any practice prohibited by this Act. It shall be unlawful for any processor, distributor, or retailer to engage or offer to engage, directly or indirectly, through a broker in any practice prohibited by this Act.

Sec. 19. Any person claiming to be injured by another person through the violation of any of the provisions of this Act may file in writing a statement of such violation with the department. Upon receipt of the written statement, the department shall immediately cause an investigation to be made of the alleged violation. Whenever it shall appear that any person is violating or threatening to violate any of the provisions of this Act or the regulations or orders of the secretary, then the department may call upon the county attorney of any county in which such violation occurred to bring suit against such person in the district court to restrain such person from continuing or from carrying out the acts or practices alleged. In such suit he may obtain such injunction prohibitory and mandatory including temporary restraining orders and temporary injunctions as the facts may warrant without being required to prove that an adequate remedy at law does not exist and without being required to give bond.

Sec. 20. Whenever the department has reason to believe that any distributor or retailer or processor may be in possession of information relevant to an investigation by it of suspected violations of the provisions of this Act, the secretary may require such person to file with him in such form as he may prescribe special reports or answers in writing to specific questions furnishing such information. Such reports and answers shall be made under oath or otherwise as the secretary may prescribe and shall be filed with him within such reasonable period as he may prescribe. Any person who fails without lawful cause to file such reports or answers in writing within the period prescribed or shall wilfully make or cause to be made any false statement in any such report or answer in writing shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof fined not less than five hundred (500) dollars nor more than one thousand ( 1,000 ) dollars.

Sec. 21. Whenever the secretary has reason to believe that any person has violated any of the provisions of this Act or any rules or regulations adopted thereunder, he may enter an order requiring such person to appear before him and show cause why an order should not be entered requiring such person to cease and desist from the violations charged. Such order shall set forth the alleged violations, fix the time and place of the hearing, and provide for notice thereof which shall be given not less than twenty (20) days before the date of such hearing. After hearing by the secretary, or if the person charged with such violation fails to appear at the time of said hearing, if he finds such person to be in violation he shall enter an order requiring such person to cease and desist from the specific acts, practices, or omissions so found to be in violation and from related acts, practices or omissions. Any such order shall become final upon the expiration of thirty (30) days after its entry if no appeal is taken therefrom.

Any person aggrieved by any order entered by the secretary or other action of the secretary may take an appeal therefrom to the district court as provided elsewhere herein for license denial, suspension or revocation.

Any person violating any order of the secretary under the first paragraph of this section after the same has become final or on the termination of any review proceedings shall be subject to a civil penalty to be levied by the district court in a proceeding instituted for that purpose in an amount of not less than five hundred (500) dollars and not more than ten thousand $(10,000)$ dollars provided that in the case of continuing violations the minimum amount of such penalty shall be either five hundred (500) dollars or twenty-five (25) dollars for each day of violation, whichever is the larger.

Sec. 22. The department is authorized and empowered to administer oaths and to issue subpoenas for persons and pertinent operating records in making investigations provided in section nineteen (19) of this Act. If a person fails or refuses to obey a subpoena issued under this Act, the department may apply to the district court to issue an order requiring the person to appear before the department to produce evidence or to give testimony concerning the matter under investigation. The application for the order shall be filed with the district court within the county in which the investigation is conducted or in which the person guilty of failure or refusal to obey is found or resides or transacts business or has his principal place of business. Any person wilfully failing to obey an order of the court is guilty of contempt of court and shall be proceeded against as provided by law.

Sec. 23. Any person who is injured in business or property by reason of another person's violation of any provisions of this Act may intervene in the suit for injunction instituted against the other person. The injured party may bring a separate action and recover three (3) times the actual damages sustained as a result of the violation together with the costs of the suit or may sue to enjoin the violation of any provision of this Act.
Sec. 24. Whenever the department has reason to believe that any processor or distributor required to obtain a license under section one hundred ninety-two point one (192.1) of the Code has wilfully violated any cease and desist order issued under the provisions of this Act after the same has become final and continued in such violation after the expiration of a ten-day notice from the department of intention to commence proceedings for the denial, suspension or revocation of such license, and it appears to the department that a proceeding should be had to determine whether his license should be denied, suspended, or revoked, the department shall serve notice on such person in writing by certified mail of the charges and grounds upon which a license is sought to be denied, suspended, or revoked. The notice shall include the time and place, not less than ten (10) days after the mailing of the notice, at which a hearing shall be held to determine whether to deny, suspend, or revoke the license.
Sec. 25. Any person whose license is sought to be denied, suspended, or revoked shall have full rights to counsel and to produce witnesses in his behalf at the hearing. After full investigation and hearing, the department may deny, suspend, or revoke the license of any person who is found to have wilfully violated any provision of this Act. When the department finds that a violation warrants the suspension of the license, no license shall be suspended for a period to exceed thirty (30) days upon proof of a first violation or for a period to exceed six (6) months upon proof of a second violation. Upon proof of a third and subsequent violations, the license shall be suspended for a period of one (1) year where the department finds that such violation warrants a suspension.

Sec. 26. The department shall by certified mail or by personal service notify the person whose license has been denied, suspended, or revoked setting forth the reasons for the decision. The denial, suspension, or revocation shall become effective thirty (30) days after the mailing or service of the notification unless the person whose license has been denied, suspended, or revoked files within the thirty-day period a notice of appeal in the district court and serves a copy of the notice of appeal upon the department. Thereupon, the department shall within thirty (30) days certify and file with the court a copy of the record and decision including the transcript of the hearings upon which the decision was based.

Sec. 27. The trial before the court shall be an equity action and legal evidence pertaining to the issue of whether the license shall be denied, suspended, or revoked may be submitted including new or additional evidence not submitted to the department. The court shall have the power to affirm, modify, or reverse the decision of the department but in no instance shall the court suspend a license for a period exceeding the suspensions provided in section twenty-five (25) of this Act. The clerk of court upon entry of judgment of suspension, denial, or revocation shall immediately forward to the department a certified copy thereof. Pending final decision of the appeal the status quo of the license shall be preserved.

Sec. 28. Any action arising under this Act, whether in law or equity, shall be commenced within two (2) years after the right of action first accrues or is forever barred.

Sec. 29. The department is authorized and directed to promulgate rules and regulations to carry out the purposes of this Act.

Sec. 30. Storage cabinets prohibited under section twelve (12) of this Act supplied by processors and distributors to retailers prior to the effective date of this Act shall be removed from the retailer's premises or sold as provided in this Act prior to June 30, 1966.

Sec. 31. For the purpose of administering and enforcing the provisions of this Act, each processor shall pay to the secretary permit fees in an amount, as from time to time set by the secretary, not to exceed five (5) mills per hundredweight on milk processed into dairy products as defined in section one (1) of this Act, and sold within the State of Iowa, except ice cream and its additive variants and non-milk fat imitations which amount shall not be in excess of three (3) mills per gallon thereof. Products upon which fees have been paid shall be exempt from further fees in successive transactions. The fees for each month thus computed shall be paid by the dealer to the secretary on or before the twenty-fifth (25th) day of the following month.

Harold Mueller, Chairman.
