ELECTION OF SPEAKER

Winkelman of Calhoun presented the name of the Honorable William Harbor of Mills County as candidate for Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly, preceding such nomination with the following remarks:

Mr. Chairman, Ladies and Gentlemen of the House: It is my honor and privilege to nominate for the office of Speaker of the Iowa House of Representatives, the Honorable William H. Harbor of Mills and Fremont Counties.

Representative Harbor was born at Henderson, Mills County, Iowa, on October 28, 1920. He is the son of O. L. and Pearl Harbor and a lifetime resident of Henderson.

He graduated from the University of Iowa in 1943 and was a Lieutenant in the Navy in World War II with three years Pacific duty. Following this service he taught school one and one-half years at Afton. Bill has served one term in the Senate and is beginning his third term in the House. He is owner-operator of a grain elevator and has farming interests; is a Sunday School teacher, Methodist lay speaker and assistant district lay leader. Bill is the first recipient of the Mills County 4-H Alumni Award.

William H. Harbor will bring to this very important and responsible position of leadership in Iowa affairs a serious dedication and desire to serve the whole of Iowa, the best interests of all the people—and a business-like approach in his administration.

Harbor's commendable record and command of respect shows him as a man of sound and collected judgment, diligent work, high principles of character and integrity, unselfish personal sacrifice, and a keen knowledge of the operation of state government and awareness of the awesomeness of the problems we face.

I know Bill's tireless record of public service is guided by a strong belief that he wishes to pay a debt of gratitude for his many blessings and the good life he and his parents have realized by leaving as his heritage an improved state.

This conviction is exemplified by one of his seemingly favorite quotations: "It is the fate of great people with an indifference toward politics to be ruled by lesser people."

For your Speaker of the House of Representatives, it is with honor that I place in nomination the name of William H. Harbor.

Lipsky of Linn seconded the nomination of William Harbor for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:
Ladies and Gentlemen of the Sixty-third General Assembly:

I rise to second the nomination of my friend and colleague, William Harbor.

As a basketball fan of long standing, I can tell you that he has attributes which have great value in many situations. His ability to remain cool, his quick responses, his accuracy, and his poise enable him to function under pressure. Most of all his capacity to function as a member of a team made him a valuable member of the Iowa basketball team back in the days when we were in school. Those same qualities will be enormously valuable to him as Speaker of this House.

Bill Harbor has experience in both houses of the legislature, having served in the Senate as well as in these chambers. He understands the legislative process.

He is a man who is known for his fairness. We can be sure he will serve as an impartial and respected arbiter of the affairs of the House.

Most of all, I know that the goals which Bill Harbor holds for this Sixty-third General Assembly and for its House of Representatives are that we progress steadily and with all dispatch to attain a record of accomplishment in a spirit of unity. I am sure you will all join me in supporting William Harbor for the office of Speaker of this House.

Gannon of Jasper seconded the nomination of William Harbor for Speaker of the House, preceded by the following remarks:

It is with all due respect that I rise to second the nomination of William Harbor for Speaker of the House.

Let me assure the gentleman from Fremont-Mills, the other Republican leaders and all members of the majority party, that we of the minority are prepared to work cooperatively to meet the needs and challenges of Iowa 1969.

After the last session the term "The Forgotten Cities" was attributed to the Iowa House. This was due primarily to lack of action. We of the minority stand ready to cooperate with the majority to see that the term "Forgotten Cities" does not apply after this session.

Mr. Speaker, as you know the annual session amendment was initiated by the minority party. We are now ready to cooperate with the majority party in the implementation of this far reaching improvement in state government, which has been given approval by the voters of Iowa. We think of particular importance is the need to move immediately to annual budgets.

An analysis of the platforms of the Democratic and Republican parties suggests many areas of agreement. The minority party can see no reason not to move rapidly toward implementation of those party promises for which we are in virtual agreement.

Mr. Speaker, although the minority party desires most to cooperate, we are mindful of our proper role. We will provide the proper constructive criticism when necessary and will try to keep the "majority honest." This is particularly true if the majority party becomes the handyman for the special interest establishment that you find so ably represented around the periphery of the House. This means not only procedural legislation but also the all important area of taxes.

I move that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all members of the House of Representatives for the Honorable William Harbor as Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly.

The Honorable William Harbor of Mills, having received all of the votes cast for the office of Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly, was declared duly elected to that office.

Ossian of Montgomery moved that a committee of two be named to escort the Speaker to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was named: Ossian of Montgomery and Caffrey of Polk.

PRESENTATION OF SPEAKER

The Honorable William Harbor was escorted to the Speaker's station and, upon being sworn, assumed the chair. Temporary Speaker Cunningham presented Speaker-elect Harbor with the gavel and congratulated him on his unanimous election. Speaker Harbor thanked the House for the honor bestowed upon him and offered the following remarks:

What does one say at a time like this? Words cannot fully express the feelings of the moment, so for lack of a better expression, I simply say—thank you so very much for the honor you have bestowed upon me. It is an honor that must be shared with you, for though you have designated me as your leader, any accomplishments will be the result of your untiring efforts, efforts for the common cause of determining what is good for our beloved state.

Like the New York Jets and the Baltimore Colts in yesterday's Super Bowl Game, team work was of utmost importance if any measure of success was to be attained, so it is with us here today. Any success will be governed by team work.

This is not an urban-rural or liberal-conservative challenge. This is not a time for petty party politics. This is the time to show our people that we accept, individually and collectively, the responsibility placed in us.

Each of you brings here a unique quality, a quality that has been pointed to by others as reason for making you their choice to guide affairs of state. I strongly urge that in the same businesslike manner that you approached your private endeavors, let us guide the destiny of Iowa.

I will never forget the words spoken by Professor Kirk Porter of the political science department of the University of Iowa and just mentioned by Representative Winkelman. He said that "It is the fate of great people, with an indifference toward politics, to be ruled by lesser people."

You are not part of those lesser ones by virtue of your presence here. However, our efforts could be earmarked in this manner if there would be those who would use this assembly for selfish political advantage.

It has been said that of all that is good, Iowa affords the best. We have 25 percent of all the "Grade A" land in the United States; but better still, we have 100 percent of "Grade A" people. People who have given us the reins of government for the next two years.

Certainly mistakes will be made and here I will probably head the list. But being human we have the capacity for correcting mistakes. We have the opportunity of being proud of the accomplishments of our unified bi-partisan efforts.

I stand ready to accept the challenge. You will find me always willing to listen even though we might not always agree.

In the days ahead, your advice and counsel will be sought and, with strength from Almighty God, right will prevail.

In other words, all this can be summed up in one simple sentence—"Our cause is just and our unity should be indivisible."

Speaker Harbor in the chair.

ELECTION OF SPEAKER PRO TEMPORE

Edgington of Franklin placed in nomination the Honorable Floyd H. Millen of Van Buren County as candidate for Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly, preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

The man that I am about to nominate as Speaker pro tempore is no stranger to most of us, and a long time personal acquaintance of mine. He served four years in the second World War; served as military engineer officer in the Philippines; opened and operated four gravel plants supplying aggregates for government construction of military installations, the same business he was and is in now. Attended Iowa State College and Nevada School of Mines.

He is serving Jefferson and Van Buren Counties. He has served three regular sessions in the House and starting his fourth session.

It is with great personal pleasure and high honor that I place in nomination the Honorable Floyd Millen of these two counties for the office of Speaker pro tempore of this House of Representatives for the Sixty-third General Assembly.

Holden of Scott seconded the nomination of Mr. Millen as Speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives, preceding his nomination with the following remarks:

I am honored to second the nomination of Floyd H. Millen of Farmington for Speaker pro tempore. Mr. Millen represents Jefferson and Van Buren Counties and has served in the Sixtieth General Assembly regular and special sessions; the Sixty-first and Sixty-second General Assemblies. During the Sixty-second General Assembly he served with distinction as majority floor leader.

The Honorable Millen is married, has three sons, and is president of Valley Limestone and Gravel Company. I heartily endorse him as our Speaker pro tempore.

Renda of Polk seconded the nomination and moved that the Chief Clerk be authorized to cast the votes of all the members of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly for the Honorable Floyd H. Millen as Speaker pro tempore of the House.

Den Herder of Sioux moved that a committee of two be appointed to escort the Speaker pro tempore to the chair.

Motion prevailed and the following committee was appointed: Den Herder of Sioux and Koch of Woodbury.

Mr. Millen was escorted to the chair and, after taking the oath of office, offered the following remarks:

Ladies and Gentlemen of the Sixty-third General Assembly:

I welcome you and thank you for this high honor that you have entrusted upon me and your confidence in my ability. My remarks will be brief at this time although I won't guarantee that this will set a pattern.

I have great faith that because of extensive prior planning by your leadership in both houses, that this will be the most efficient and orderly of prior sessions. Also that it will be conducted with dispatch and that we will be out of here sooner than Iowans have been used to in recent years.

We all come from varied backgrounds and business interests. This is as it should be. It also means we have varied viewpoints. This leads, as it should, to disagreements and full discussion on the issues. But what it finally will lead to is the best thinking of everyone and therefore to the best interests of all Iowans. This I pledge myself to during the Sixty-third General Assembly. I hope you will take the same pledge. Thank you.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 3

By Voorhees

Whereas, the Board of Governors of the Iowa Bar Association has appointed a special committee on criminal law for the purpose of examining the criminal law of the State of Iowa with the view to modernizing and harmonizing its provisions, both as to substantive and procedural aspects; and

Whereas, both law schools in Iowa are participating in such undertaking; and

Whereas, a comprehensive and detailed analysis of said criminal law and procedures has never been undertaken in Iowa; and

Whereas, there is need to have an advisory board to work with such full time staff; now, therefore

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring Therein, That the Iowa Legislative Research Committee establish a committee in accordance with section two point fifty-five (2.55) of the Code to assist with the study, and that the President of the Iowa State Bar Association, the President of the County Attorneys' Association, the President of the Iowa Judicial Association (or their appointed representatives), the Attorney General of the State of Iowa and the last two predecessors of such office, and two prominent defense attorneys, be appointed to serve in an advisory capacity to such committee; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the committee assisting in the study be directed to report the study findings and committee recommendations, accompanied by bills incorporating such recommendations, to the Legislative Research Committee prior to December 1, 1970, and that the Research Committee report to the Sixty-fourth General Assembly in accordance with section two point fifty (2.50), subsection five (5), of the Code, prior to the convening of the General Assembly.

MAJORITY REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Members of the Sixty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

The Budget and Financial Control Committee of the Sixty-second General Assembly herewith submits the following report and recommendations.

Senator George E. O'Malley served as chairman of the committee, Representative Elmer H. Den Herder, vice chairman, and Representative Keith H. Dunton, secretary.

The committee made annual visits to the sixteen institutions that deal with mental health, special education and corrections under the Department of Social Services and the three universities, School for the Deaf and School for the Blind under the Board of Regents. The committee also met with the State Highway Commission, State Conservation Commission and toured state parks in the central Iowa region, Iowa Development Commission, State Fair Board, Department of Public Instruction, Board of Regents, Department of Social Services, State Car Dispatcher, Merit Employment Department, Office of Planning and Programming and Iowa Crime Commission. Other visits were to the Maximum Security Hospital under construction at Oakdale, Area XI Comprehensive Vocational Facility and Goodwill Industries.

The Sixty-second General Assembly gave this committee the duty of approving the expenditure of funds appropriated by the legislature for capital improvements of certain state departments, when in this committee's judgment, it was for the best interest of the State of Iowa, and to carry out the intents and purposes of the legislature. The committee also reviewed comments and recommendations contained in certain audit reports released by the Auditor of State and where the committee deemed it advisable met with certain departments to discuss progress of implementation of such recommendations.

The committee sponsored two conferences: (1) Conference on Multiple Handicapped, and (2) Conference on Education and Welfare of Unwed Mothers in the State of Iowa. Professionals from the various institutions, the Department of Social Services, the Department of Public Instruction and the University Hospital were called together to explore the services available in the State of Iowa. From these conferences, it was determined that there is a need for coordination of existing agencies, improved communications with the public, legislature and professional workers, and clarifying case responsibility.

Chairman O'Malley appointed four members of the committee to a subcommittee on governmental reorganization. Members of the subcommittee were: Senator Lee Gaudineer, chairman, Senator Joseph B. Flatt, Representative William J. Gannon and Representative Conrad Ossian.

The Governmental Reorganization Subcommittee held the following public hearings in an effort to determine the feasibility of reorganization:

Department of Natural Resources Management to include the State Conservation Commission, Iowa Natural Resources Council, Iowa State Soil Conservation Commission, Iowa State Geologist, Geological Board and the Iowa State Advisory Board for Preserves.

Department of Public Safety to include the enforcement responsibility of the gas and special fuel taxes, length and weight requirements for trucks and semi-trailers, reciprocity agreements between Iowa and other states, licensing requirements, and permit and registration requirements for trucks and semi-trailers as they affect licensing of drivers and vehicles, and reciprocity agreements.

The Bureau of Criminal Investigation, Department of Public Safety, to include the Narcotics Division and Drug Abuse Control Division of the Pharmacy Board.

The subcommittee on reorganization also met with the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation of the Department of Public Instruction and the Department of Social Services in an effort to effect an interagency agreement between these departments which would assure Iowa of receiving its full share of federal funds in the field of vocational rehabilitation, and also to discuss whether or not it would be feasible to move the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation from the Department of Public Instruction to the Department of Social Services.

As a result of this meeting an interagency agreement has been effected and approved by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, assuring Iowa of receiving its full share of federal funds in the field of vocational rehabilitation and has effected a more coordinated effort between the departments involved.

The subcommittee also met with the representatives of Harbridge House, Inc. to review a study that firm had conducted on Vocational Rehabilitation in the State of Iowa.

A public hearing was held on a proposal that federal funds be included in the state executive budget and their use authorized by the General Assembly. All departments, commissions and agencies who receive federal funds were invited to appear and present their views.

Chairman O'Malley appointed Senator Seeley G. Lodwick and Representative Keith H. Dunton to serve on the advisory committee for the medium security facility to be built at Anamosa. Plans are now being drawn for an independent unit, known as Phase I, capable of being operated without further capital fund appropriations.

The Budget and Financial Control Committee recommends that the Sixty-third General Assembly review and give consideration to Phase II of the plan for the medium security project proposed for Anamosa.

All members of the Budget and Financial Control Committee were authorized to attend the meetings of the School Budget Review Committee.

This committee recommends to the Sixty-third General Assembly the following legislation for passage:

1. An act to provide for the financing of the Iowa Merit Employment Department by prorating the cost of operations to the participating agencies.
2. An act to authorize central purchase of liability insurance on state-owned motor vehicles by the executive council and to amend section five hundred seventeen A point one (517A.1) accordingly.
3. An act to remove the word "insane" as a synonym for the words "mentally ill", and relating to the civil rights of persons admitted or committed to institutions for the mentally ill.
4. A bill for an act amending provisions of the Code of Iowa, 1966, as amended, for the purpose of providing that employment of personnel by state departments, boards, agencies, and institutions shall be pursuant to the state merit system as established by chapter ninety-five (95), Acts of the Sixty-second General Assembly.
5. A bill for an act creating a state crime laboratory and state medical examiner.
6. A bill for an act relating to the reorganization of the department of public defense.
7. A bill for an act relating to the enforcement of laws and regulations regarding narcotic drugs, counterfeit drugs and depressants and stimulant drugs.

8. A bill for an act relating to the assignment of the reciprocity board to the state department of public safety.
9. An act relating to the transfer of authority and responsibility for enforcing laws and regulations concerning certain motor vehicles to the department of public safety.

(A complete text of the above proposed bills is on file in the office of the Legislative Fiscal Director.)

This committee recommends to the Sixty-third General Assembly the following legislation for consideration:

1. An act relating to the establishment and licensing of foster care facilities and maternity homes and repealing chapter two hundred thirty-six (236), Code 1966, relating to maternity hospitals, and chapter two hundred thirty-seven (237), Code 1966, relating to children's boarding homes.
2. A bill for an act relating to the reorganization of the Iowa state conservation commission, Iowa natural resources council, Iowa state soil conservation commission, Iowa state geologist, geological board, and the Iowa state advisory board for preserves; to establish a department of natural resource management; and to amend the Code of Iowa to conform thereto.

This committee recommends to the Sixty-third General Assembly the following legislation for study:

1. A bill for an act creating an executive department; relating to the reorganization of the office of governor, commission on aging, civil rights commission, higher education facilities commission, and all agencies now in existence or hereafter established pursuant to section seven point nine (7.9), Code 1966, and relating to the reorganization of the office of state comptroller, including reorganization and reassignment of various state offices and departments including the state printing board, the superintendent of printing, the capitol buildings and ground department, the superintendent of capitol buildings and grounds, the state car dispatcher, centralized purchasing procedure, assignment of office and department space procedure, mail delivery and messenger service, state and federal surplus property programs, record storage, data processing, partial functions of the armory board and involving other functions and departments; and to establish an office of planning and programming within the executive department.

It is the consensus of the committee that some of the various departments included within this particular bill could well be combined. However, it cannot be said at this time that this particular bill embraces the proper solution and therefore recommends that this problem be forwarded to the Sixty-third General Assembly for further definitive study by the proper committee of each house. (A copy of this bill is on file in the office of the Legislative Fiscal Director.)

2. A bill for an act relating to the acceptance and expenditure of federal funds during the interim between legislative sessions by state departments, agencies, boards and institutions.

It is the consensus of the committee that the bill concerning the appropriation of federal funds is good in its general concept, however, the specific bill supplied contains references to procedures and legislative committees that may or may not be in existence after the reorganization by the Sixty-third General Assembly; further that, in any event, the Governor should be directed and empowered to require the various boards, agencies and commissions of state government to provide him with full information concerning any and all federal programs or grants applied for and in which participation has been authorized; that this matter then be further referred to the Sixty-third General Assembly for further definitive study by the appropriate committees of each house. (A copy of this bill is on file in the office of the Legislative Fiscal Director.)

The Budget and Financial Control Committee of the Sixty-second General Assembly also makes the following recommendations:

DEPARTMENT OF PUBLIC SAFETY

This committee recommends that the Department of Public Safety furnish the legislature with an over-all plan for radio communications in the State of Iowa. Testimony by the Department of Public Safety revealed that much of the communications equipment is outdated and in poor condition. A comprehensive plan should be submitted which includes all departments and divisions involved with radio communications, thereby correlating all radio communications and appropriations therefor.

STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

This committee recommends that the State Highway Commission prepare and submit a report on all surplus property and excess right-of-way in the State of Iowa.

AUDITOR OF STATE

It is recommended that the Auditor of State outline and enforce a system of uniform county accounting.

EDUCATION COMMITTEE

This committee recommends a study of the administration of education at the state level be made for the State of Iowa.

ETHICS COMMITTEE

This committee recommends that the Ethics Committee of the Sixty-third General Assembly review section 5, chapter 107, Acts of the Sixty-second General Assembly, regarding "honoriums".

The following resolution was passed by the Budget and Financial Control Committee:

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the Budget and Financial Control Committee expends numerous man hours visiting all of the institutions, commissions, departments, and agencies of state government and is thereby familiar with their duties and responsibilities, and the means available by which such duties and responsibilities may be discharged; now therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED, That the Sixty-third General Assembly authorize the Budget and Financial Control Committee to be the body that authorizes all requests for appropriations from the contingency fund up to a maximum of thirty-five thousand dollars ($35,000.00) and all in excess thereof with the concurrence of the Executive Committee.

MINORITY REPORT OF THE BUDGET AND FINANCIAL CONTROL COMMITTEE

To the President of the Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives, and the Members of the Sixty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

I, William J. Gannon, hereby submit the following statement and minority report of the Budget and Financial Control Committee.

For four years I have served as a member of the Budget and Financial Control Committee. The value of serving as a member of the "Interim Committee" cannot be matched. I have enjoyed and appreciated my tenure.

The purpose of this statement and report is to share with the other members of the General Assembly some of my observations as a departing member of the Budget and Financial Control Committee.

The Budget and Financial Control Committee has more contact with the departments and institutions of state government than any other group of legislators. The committee members have as broad an understanding of state government as any group of legislators. However, the committee members are not able to have an in depth knowledge of all departments and institutions.

With the advent of annual sessions, I can foresee a rapid diminishing of activity and responsibility for the Budget and Financial Control Committee.

If the standing committees are allowed to continue between sessions, the proper standing committee would be a more legitimate group to have a hearing on the schooling of unwed mothers. I use this as an example of how the activities of the Budget and Financial Control Committee will (and properly so) diminish.

The majority report is quite lacking as far as recommendations for change accompanying annual sessions. Here are some examples:

1. It disregards the Legislative Processes Study Committee report.
2. It makes no recommendations relative to annual budgeting.
3. The majority seems to be looking to the past rather than the future—witness their recommendations concerning the contingency fund. I am strongly opposed to having a return to the old "contingency club" relationship between the executive branch and the legislature.

I am in basic agreement with the balance of the majority report. I would be remiss if I didn't mention the changes I have witnessed during my brief tenure on the Interim Committee.

Programs and operations have improved at all of our institutions. I am particularly encouraged by what I see at our schools for the mentally retarded and our penal institutions. We have seen the emergence of a practical program at the Riverview Prerelease Center.

Our Board of Regents institutions have kept pace with growing enrollment demands and the knowledge explosion. We have seen the emergence of the area schools, which, despite their detractors, are supplying excellent educational opportunity to thousands of young people and a lot of us older citizens.

One of the most dramatic changes includes the Interim Committee itself. At the outset of my tenure on the committee, the members and to a certain extent the staff of our institutions seemed to be more interested in the institution's farming operation than in the programs designed to aid the people they were serving. I am happy to report this is no longer the case.

The following are my recommendations:

1. Enactment of all the governmental reorganization bills mentioned in the majority report.
2. Abolishment of the Budget and Financial Control Committee and realignment of its functions as recommended by the Legislative Processes Study Committee.
3. Proceeding immediately to annual budgets.
4. Abolishing the contingency fund.
5. Appointment of the State Auditor by the legislature and combining the functions of the Legislative Fiscal Director with State Auditor.

Respectfully submitted,
WILLIAM J. GANNON

PARTIAL CONCURRENCE IN MINORITY REPORT

I, Lee Gaudineer, concur in the specific recommendations contained in the minority report filed by Representative William J. Gannon.

LEE GAUDINEER

On motion by Varley of Adair, the House recessed until 1:15 p.m.

AFTERNOON SESSION

The House reconvened, Speaker Harbor in the chair.

Andersen of Woodbury moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention.

Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed Andersen of Woodbury, Campbell of Washington and Poncey of Wapello.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention reported that it had performed its duty. The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

JOINT CONVENTION

The joint convention reconvened, President pro tempore Lodwick presiding.

Senator Stanley moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present.

Motion prevailed.

President pro tempore Lodwick announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Benda of Poweshiek moved that a committee of six, consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify Governor Fulton that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senators Benda of Poweshiek, Lavery of Warren and Frommelt of Dubuque, on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Fisher of Greene, Van Drie of Story and Miller of Des Moines, on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Fulton and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

STATE-OF-THE-STATE MESSAGE TO THE SIXTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY
BY
HONORABLE ROBERT D. FULTON, GOVERNOR OF IOWA
Joint Session, January 14, 1969

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Senators and Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly, Old Friends and Colleagues:

Article IV, Section 12, of the Constitution of the State of Iowa specifies as one of the duties of the Chief Executive that "he shall communicate, by message, to the General Assembly, at every regular session, the condition of the State, and recommend such matters as he shall deem expedient."

It is my privilege, in my brief tenure as your thirty-seventh Governor, to deliver this message which is traditionally known as the "State-of-the-State" address.

As you all know, the honor of serving as your Chief Executive for a period of fourteen days came to me when Governor Hughes resigned in order to assume his elected place in the United States Senate.

Since it was not my intention to pre-empt either the accomplishments of the Hughes administration or the potentials of the Ray administration, I have not pretended that these would be the fourteen days that would shake the world.

My friends of the press have plied me with questions as to exactly what I proposed to accomplish during this mini-term. Perhaps I should have had one of my young children answer for me, as one of President Kennedy's once did for him.

One Sunday, a White House reporter asked three-year-old Caroline what her father was doing.

"He's not doing anything," she replied. "He's just sitting up there with his shoes and socks off, doing nothing."

I am sure that there are those who would contend that my speech, like my administration, should be graced with brevity. But I will warn you that there is nothing in the Constitution that compels a short-term Governor to deliver a short address.

My remarks today will be somewhat unorthodox as State-of-the-State messages go. I believe I can make a more useful contribution with a personal, philosophical evaluation than with the customary formal listing of facts and figures.

I have viewed the course of state government from several vantage points in the past decade. Prior to this fleeting term as Governor, I was a member of the House, a member of the Senate, and served for two terms as your Lieutenant Governor. After Thursday, I will once again be out of public office, a toiler in the vineyard of private enterprise.

I doubt if any Lieutenant Governor in Iowa's history has had a closer and more congenial bond with the Chief Executive than I have been privileged to have with Harold Hughes. It has been the richest experience of my life. Even those who have disagreed with the Hughes policies have found, as I have found, that the man himself is a dynamic and forceful leader.

It has also been my privilege, over the course of these years, to work closely with many of you veterans of the General Assembly who are here today. I can only say that this experience also has been incomparably rewarding. Partisan differences have not deterred us from working together for the good of the state or from enjoying a high order of personal friendship and mutual respect. I want to thank all of you colleagues of the Legislature for your cooperation and personal generosity, and I want to wish you and the newly-elected members of both houses the greatest success in this Sixty-third session of Iowa's General Assembly.

Exactly what constitutes or determines the state of the state at any given point in history?

Obviously, many factors are involved—economic health, quality of public services, fiscal posture of the government, the relation of the state to its subdivisions, the welfare of the people—these and many more factors.

But, as Harold Hughes pointed out, there is something more, beyond the sum of these factors—an "intangible quotient" that is the essential determinant of the true state of the state—"the spiritual temper of the people: their morale, their idealism, their receptiveness to new ideas, their commitment to progress, their concern for their fellow men, their faith in the future, and their willingness to contribute to, as well as benefit from, the blessings of a free society."

When this intangible quotient is high, we know that people have found the good life.

"The success or failure of a state," Hughes said, "is gauged in the final analysis by the opportunity it affords its people for the good life, in the highest sense of this concept."

This is the hour of the changing of the guard. It marks the end of the Hughes era and the return to complete domination of the state government by the Republican party—a situation which, needless to say, has often existed in years past.

Whether or not it signifies a sweeping reversal of the basic policies, innovations and reforms of the past six years remains to be seen. With a clean sweep of all state elective offices and with top-heavy majorities in both House and Senate, it is clear that the new administration will have the firepower to revert and retrench, if this be their will.

I sincerely hope that this will not be the case. The great social, economic and organizational advancements of the Hughes era are not rightly classified as partisan issues, although they were seen, at times, in this light.

The credit for the forward thrust of the state in these action-packed years belongs to people of Iowa of all political faiths. It is significant that the same electorate that voted in these office-holders also approved the five constitutional amendments that were on the ballot. It is also significant that these five amendments had strong bi-partisan support during the campaign, including the active endorsement of the standard-bearers of both parties.

The basic contest in this state, as one experienced observer has put it, is not between Republicans and Democrats, between rural and urban people, or even between liberals and conservatives in the true sense of those words. The real contest is between progress and inertia, between willingness to adapt to changing conditions and the granite-headed resistance to change, between reform and retrenchment, between public interest and narrow private interest, and between action and stagnation.

One of John Kennedy's favorite quotations from Oliver Wendell Holmes epitomizes the spirit that should animate all people who care deeply about the state of their state—not only for today but for generations to come:

"... We must sail sometimes with the wind and sometimes against it—but we must sail, and not drift nor lie at anchor."

It is not my purpose here today, in my evaluation of the state's conditions and needs, to make a partisan political speech; but it is my purpose to express my deep concern about issues that cut across party lines and deserve the support of all people who care deeply about Iowa.

The great struggle in the world today is to retain our human qualities and the values of our civilization in a technological age.

Whatever one may think of specific issues involved, the record shows that no period in Iowa's history has produced more major reforms, innovations and breakthroughs for progress than the past six years.

So many things were accomplished in such a short space of time that it is easy to take them for granted and to lose sight of how profoundly our state has changed in these half-dozen years.

In January of 1971, when Governor Ray presents his State-of-the-State message, he will have new accomplishments to set forth—and I sincerely wish him well with them.

I hope, and feel confident, that some of these accomplishments will be continuations of the progress that has been made on many fronts in these past three terms, as well as new programs to fit the new needs of our changing times.

In any event, the custody of the future belongs to the new administration. But in order to gain any real insight into the state of this state as of January 14, 1969, it is necessary to look back briefly over some of the major changes of the past six years, as seen in the perspective of our state's recent history.

The people of Iowa reared back, shed their inferiority complex, and put this state on the move.

The Constitution of our state says simply and succinctly: The political power is inherent in the people. When the people are mobilized behind a public cause, they can move mountains. We have seen this happen in the past six years.

These were the years when, working together, we established equality of voting rights. We enacted sensible liquor control laws and eliminated the infamous key clubs where minors, as well as adults, could buy liquor over the counter. We broke all records for industrial development, year after year. We came near doubling funds for agricultural land tax credits.

We brought school aid up to record levels and finally carried through the first realistic, long-range, school-financing plan in the state's history. We enacted the state's first property tax replacement program, after 30 years of promises. We established educational radio and TV and a plan for area vocational-technical schools that is one of the best in the nation. We erased the shame of public hangings from a civilized society.

We established a civil service system for state employees. We opened up the committee system in the Legislature. We made substantial gains in unemployment compensation and workmen's compensation for the working man and woman. We gave unprecedented support to our universities and inaugurated a long-needed state scholarship program.

We established Iowa's first statutory commission for the aging and the first statutory civil rights commission.

We made it possible for local government operating funds, deposited in banks, to draw interest for the benefit of the taxpayer.

We faced up to the need for government reorganization and got it under way. We established a division of tourism in the Development Commission. We substantially increased the Highway Patrol and instituted one of the most comprehensive traffic safety programs of any state.

We established a state law enforcement academy, put Medicaid in operation, founded an alcoholic treatment center and a maximum security hospital.

We spanned the state with our Interstate highway system and modernized hundreds of miles of the older primaries. We provided tax relief for the elderly and improved our programs for dependent children, the mentally ill, the retarded and the physically handicapped. We enacted a uniform commercial code and took Iowa's first action for consumer protection.

We appropriated funds for long-needed public parks and outdoor recreation facilities and met the undeniable need for additional state office space.

We inaugurated comprehensive state planning, organized Sell-Iowa delegations to the financial centers of our own country and sent foreign trade missions to three continents.

This is only part of the list of major achievements registered during these six years.

Many other things that profoundly influence the state of the state are not recorded in the statute books or official administrative records.

I am thinking, for example, of Governor Hughes' personal efforts to arouse citizen participation in crime prevention, in providing jobs for disadvantaged youngsters and in alleviating conditions of poverty.

And I am thinking also of the religious leaders and local officials who accepted the challenge so willingly and moved so directly to get at the roots of these problems before it is too late.

The events of the past six years that moved this state ahead by giant strides and liberated its spirit did not "just happen." They were the result of a great deal of planning and hard work and tough-minded implementation.

And another point I feel must be made is that these issues, now registered as achievements, were not plucked out of the atmosphere as desirable political planks. Many of them were "hot potatoes" or unlikely crosses to bear, so far as political considerations were concerned.

They were not selected for purposes of political expediency, as a man would select flashy neckties in a haberdashery.

They were carefully thought-out measures, sensibly taken to meet the compelling needs of our state in an era of rapid change.

Now, as we move into the new year, Iowa's economy is sound and stable, and the business outlook for 1969 is generally optimistic.

Farming is still the foundation of our economy in Iowa, although combined wholesale and retail trade has, for the first time, surpassed farming in production of total income. Manufacturing did so several years ago. But as we all know, a great part of our industry and trade is farm-related, and farm income has a prime influence on our over-all economy.

Within the context of the general truth that the commercial farmer is a long way from getting his fair share of the nation's prosperity, the agricultural economy in Iowa is in comparatively good shape. Grain production last year was reasonably good. Feed-grains payments set a record that may well be surpassed in 1969, and Iowa ranked first in production of pork and marketing of grain-fed cattle.

For the sixth straight year, capital investment by industry reached a record level in Iowa—341 new industrial developments and nearly 7,000 new job opportunities created last year by industry alone.

In all sectors of the economy, at least 150,000 new and experienced Iowa workers, who needed jobs, found them within the state over the last six years.

And in that same period, the growth in total personal income of Iowans has paced the nation, rising more than 42 percent since 1962.

This phenomenal expansion of our state and national economy strained the ability of state and local government to finance the services demanded of them. Pressures built up to alter our state tax structure to provide the necessary funds.

At the same time, it became virtually impossible for local government to continue deriving tax revenues almost exclusively from the static, unresponsive property tax.

In these chambers two years ago, a bipartisan Legislature chose to deal forthrightly with these problems, enacting a far-reaching, sensible and necessary reform of Iowa's state-local tax structure.

Even though they are only partially implemented, the revenue-sharing programs established by the Sixty-second General Assembly have kept the average statewide property tax levy comparatively constant. Full implementation should provide some reduction in the average property tax levy for this year.

Allowing local government a substantially larger share of the growth in state revenue has affected the availability of funds for financing the services of state government. This was to be expected.

With minor adjustments, however, the entire state-local tax structure will respond to fluctuations in the economy and, in something of an automatic way, provide Iowa with adequate funds for meeting the needs of the state. If any adjustments are to be made, the guiding principle should be to base them on ability to pay and on taxes that will grow with the economy, not lag behind it.

The nucleus of the tax reform program are the provisions for equalizing property valuations across the state, so that taxpayers in one area are treated no differently than those in another. To delay equalization or tamper with this basic reform is to perpetuate inequities that have already endured far too long.

The sales-tax credit inserted an income factor in what was otherwise consumer-oriented tax legislation. This credit should not be repealed. If anything, it should be strengthened to insure fair enforcement and be preserved for the continuing benefit of the low-income taxpayers.

Here in Iowa—and indeed in all America—our political institutions must prove that they are amenable to change, reform and renewal, if they are to survive. To pledge allegiance to the status quo is to sentence our democratic institutions to death or deterioration.

A respected Washington commentator, David Broder, wrote a few months ago: "The American system of self-government is being tested . . . and so is the United States' confidence in the institutions of democracy."

The contemporary English historian, Arnold Toynbee, has posed the thesis that cultures confronted with a changed environment will inevitably collapse. This would specifically apply to us, since there is no question but that the technological environment we live in today is as different from the rural Iowa of the last century as day is from night.

Our institutions of government must meet the challenge of change if they are to survive. They must meet it in terms of two general criteria.

The first criterion is that of responsiveness. To what extent are our governmental institutions responsive to the collective needs of the citizenry—both majority and minorities?

The second criterion is that of effectiveness. To what extent do our governmental institutions employ effective, up-to-date means of coping with the popular demands made upon them?

Here in Iowa, revolutionary trends—rapid urbanization, industrialization, and spectacular advancements in the fields of communication and transportation—have produced numerous day-to-day problems for our citizens and imposed new strains and demands on our public institutions and officials.

Can our governmental institutions adapt to the dislocations stemming from these revolutionary changes in our society?

The answer is that they can and must—if they are to survive. But there can be no turning back, no hesitation, no regression to the easy answers of an earlier era.

The modernization of our state government, commenced in the past two years, must be continued. We have only begun to reorganize the costly and inefficient proliferation of agencies in our state government.

Modernization of local government is also a crying need, and state government must have a more realistic and responsible attitude toward its political subdivisions.

The notion, prompted by innumerable political office-holders and their kin, that our archaic county organization is sacred is ridiculous and prejudicial to our state's progress.

The ninety and nine of the Scriptures was not meant for counties in a state the size of Iowa.

The cities and towns of Iowa are in critical need of operating revenues. A method must be found in the immediate future to give the hard-pressed municipalities a source of revenue other than the overworked property tax. They also need sensible legislation to implement the home rule amendment approved by the voters in November.

For the Legislature to sweep their urgent problems under the rug, as has been so often done in the past, is to invite grave consequences.

The enactment of municipal home rule will be a hollow mockery if the General Assembly treats the cities and towns, where three-quarters of the people live, as disfavored stepchildren of the state.

The people of Iowa, in recent years, have amply demonstrated that they are ready and willing to support responsible programs of government reform.

This is one of the strongest positive elements affecting the state of the state as of January 14, 1969.

As you know, we already have a workable blueprint for the reorganization of the executive branch of the state government and the judicial branch, and significant first steps have been taken to carry out these recommendations.

With reference to the legislative branch, I feel that appropriate guidelines for needed changes were presented only a few months ago in the final report of the Iowa Legislative Processes Study Committee, a special blue-ribbon interim committee established by the Legislative Research Committee and headed by President Paul Sharp of Drake University.

Although I do not fully agree with every specific recommendation of the committee, I strongly believe that the committee has presented some valid goals on which I hope this session of the Legislature will take action.

The committee's recommendations on improvement of legislative facilities, on staff assistance for standing committees and legislative leaders, on establishment of a legislative council, on reduction in the number of standing committees, and on the rewriting of legislative rules are all especially noteworthy.

The people of Iowa took the initial steps in making our Legislature a more responsive and effective governmental institution by approving three constitutional amendments dealing directly with the General Assembly—annual sessions, a more flexible method of legislative compensation, and permanent reapportionment and reduction in the size of the Assembly.

Since this last amendment establishes a maximum size of 150 members, I would strongly urge that this session seriously consider establishing a smaller assembly. I believe that a legislature consisting of around 120 lawmakers—80 representatives and 40 senators—would be substantially more responsive and effective. The salary savings realized from having a smaller legislature could be used for acquiring much-needed staff assistance.

We have come too far in these recent years, and there is too much at stake in the years ahead, to permit us any easy ambivalence about the needs of our state.

It is not enough to pledge allegiance to the objectives of a vitally-needed program of state service and then to stand by passively and allow its support to be cut away.

It is not enough to say that we must "cut out the cake" of our social programs, because I am not talking about cake, but about bread—bread to meet vital human needs. I am talking about education and mental health and essential aid to the indigent elderly, to dependent children, to the mentally ill and the physically handicapped, and other vital human value programs.

There is a school of thought being voiced in the state these days that in such areas as public health, education and welfare, we have been living beyond our means and trying to keep up with the Joneses (the larger and wealthier states).

It is said that Iowa has been trying to travel first class in the human value areas of state government and that we can only afford to be second class.

I can only tell you that this is not the voice of the people, but the voice of vested interest which equates the good of the state with its own private gain.

In education and in the other human value programs that mark us as a civilized people, I can only say—as Harold Hughes has said so often—we can't afford not to go first class.

Take education, for example. Even if dollars and cents were our only consideration and human values were ignored, it would be foolish to abandon the pursuit of excellence in education, for we would inevitably suffer a decline in economic growth and sacrifice one of our major attractions to new industry.

Economy in government is an essential objective, and I appreciate the problems you members of the Assembly will be facing in appropriations and ways and means.

But economy at the expense of essential human needs and allowing our human values to deteriorate is not true economy at all.

As Oliver Goldsmith wrote in "The Deserted Village":

"Ill fares the land, to hastening ills a prey
Where wealth accumulates, and men decay."

For me, this visit with you today climaxes ten years of public service at the state level.

It has truly been an honor and privilege to serve with you and for you during these memorable years.

INAUGURAL MESSAGE TO THE SIXTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY
BY HONORABLE ROBERT D. RAY, GOVERNOR OF IOWA

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Mr. Chief Justice, Senators and Representatives, State Officials, Distinguished Guests, Ladies and Gentlemen:

One hundred twenty-two years and forty-four days ago—on Thursday, December 3, 1846—in the House of Representatives chamber of the gracious Stone Capitol Building at Iowa City, of which we have heard so much lately, the first Governor of the State of Iowa was inaugurated.

It was no job for a faint-hearted or unskilled man. The treasury of the new state was not only bare, but $20,000 in the red; hence, the first act of the First General Assembly had been to authorize a $55,000 bond issue, bearing 10 percent interest and payable in ten years. Total value of taxable property in the state was about 11¼ million dollars; the entire revenue of state government during the first year of the Ansel Briggs administration was only $50,000, while expenditures exceeded $59,000. More worrisome to Briggs than Iowa's financial stringency was the chaotic condition of public education, because Briggs—due to his own meager schooling—prized it highly and wanted it to be freely available. But only about 10 percent of the children of school age were enrolled in public schools, because many districts simply failed to provide any facilities.

Governor Briggs was a leader of firm conviction and clear foresight. He persistently emphasized the importance of education and agriculture to this state. He repeatedly deplored "exceedingly defective" school laws and the frustration of what he called "the wishes of the people for improved school legislation." During his administration the statutory foundation was laid for the present great university at Iowa City. Concerning agriculture, he rightly pointed out that "it is . . . and ever will be, a subject of the first importance to a large majority of the citizens of the state." He vigorously advocated such internal improvements as roads, bridges and waterways, and—nearly a score of years before Iowa was first spanned by a railroad—Briggs urged the importance of railroad building.

When he retired from the Governorship in 1850, Briggs—with unflinching modesty—told the legislature: "I may, and undoubtedly have, committed errors; but if such be the case, . . . they sprang from no vicious or wrong motive." Then he added the hope—which has been echoed by his successors, and which I today pick up—that Iowa might "ever be distinguished for virtue, intelligence and prosperity."

I am the thirty-third in the line of men—begun by Ansel Briggs—who have been elected as Governor of Iowa. They have been men of all sorts and conditions. Their birthplaces have ranged from New Hampshire to northwest Iowa; their occupations have run the gamut from lawyer to livestock auctioneer; they have ranged in age from thirty-eight to sixty-six at the time of inauguration. This breadth of background is itself an affirmation of the American dream. But different as their origins and experiences and outlooks may have been, each—in his separate way—has brought to the Governorship some dream of a better life for Iowans, for Americans, for the whole human race. Without such a dream—brought alive by the resolve to do at least a little something to make it come to pass—high office becomes a hollow mockery and an empty loneliness. Each successive Iowa Governor has made his contribution—large or small—to the realization of mankind's quest toward a more perfect society, where illness and poverty and cruelty and bitterness and war will be no more. It is a quest which has no end, but which makes us a little better tomorrow than we are today.

I am sure that every Governor has entered upon his duties, as I do, fully realizing that government—however wise and good it may be—can make only a limited contribution toward the fulfillment of the better life which we seek for all people. But, just as surely, no man would even start to plow the furrow which leads to this office without conviction that government processes must and do make an important contribution to the general welfare—a contribution which, whether we like it or not, becomes ever vastly larger than it was in the time of Ansel Briggs and his fellow frontiersmen. Nor can any man survive the trial by campaign fire which he must undergo before reaching the place where I stand this afternoon, if he were moved only by partisan considerations. Political parties are useful and indispensable tools for the functioning of a democracy, but they are not made in heaven—they are the creatures of men. Every Governor is the product of party processes, but in his role as Governor he must not be a creature of party, but the Chief Executive of all the people whom he has been called to serve. A Governor worthy of the office, and worthy of his state, sees his fellow-citizens as neither Christians nor Jews nor Moslems, whites nor blacks nor red men, poor nor rich, urban nor rural. Every Governor worthy of his office and state is religion-blind, race-blind, status-blind, and area-blind. Thus has it been with my predecessors in the long line of Governors who have served Iowa with honor, and thus I pledge it will be throughout my administration of this state's affairs. Ansel Briggs stamped this office with a character of determination, good-will and forward planning. That character has been preserved and freshened by the Governors who have followed. It is my solemn pledge to try to do no less than they have done, and—with the help of every Iowan, both here in this hall and everywhere—we will do even more, and do it better, than has been done before.

In this connection, I want to thank Governor Hughes—and, most recently, Governor Fulton—for their gracious cooperation in helping me to make an orderly transition from their administration to mine. By the same token, I assure the people of Iowa that I do not propose to scuttle any useful achievements of the past only because they bear the label of an earlier administration. Mine is a constructive, not a destructive purpose; it is my intention to build, and not to wreck; I propose to help build a more spacious and vibrant Iowa—not to shrink this state to small and mean proportions.

With this much background about my basic concept of the job you have entrusted to me, let us now turn to a partial inventory of the specific chores which we must undertake cooperatively: I as Governor, and you as legislators, public employees, and concerned citizens generally. In making this inventory, I emphasize that it is only partial. Limitations of time forbid that it be complete. The failure of a problem or project or program to get mention in this message is not to be construed as prima facie evidence of its unimportance so far as I am concerned. The message is designed as a working paper, and not as a detailed blueprint.

BETTER GOVERNMENT

If our American system of government were to fail, it would be because we have allowed too much decision-making power to become centered in one place, and have failed to make adequate use of the fifty other centers of political power and action contemplated in the federal constitution. Good government must be responsive to its citizens. If Iowa—including its state government, counties, municipalities, school districts, and other subdivisions—is to play an effective role in a balanced federal relationship, it must provide itself with the tools to do the job.

Among those tools are the following:

All elective state officials should be chosen, in non-presidential years, for four-year terms. Those officials are: Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Secretary of State, Attorney General, Treasurer, Auditor, Secretary of Agriculture.

Inasmuch as the recent innovation of a September primary election has created more evils than it has cured, the primary election date should be returned to June.

As a step in combatting the perilous impersonality of government and in giving citizens a renewed sense of direct participation in their government, the office of "ombudsman" should be established, subject to appointment by the Governor and confirmation by the Senate. This concept has a 160-year history of success, beginning in Sweden and recently under consideration in more than half of our 50 states. An Ombudsman would serve as a channel for redressing individual grievances which are beyond the reach of present court procedures and leave many people voiceless. Additionally, the Ombudsman would analyze grievances and seek better administration of public agencies. He would improve the performance of legislative functions through identification of recurring problems which may require corrective legislation. Finally, experience has shown that an Ombudsman improves the morale of public servants and increases public confidence in them, by ventilating unfounded criticism and rejecting unfounded complaints.

Much has been said about reduction of waste, overlap and inefficiency in state government. Therefore, I am appointing a Governor's Economy Committee, consisting of top-level executives from private business who will—without any cost to the taxpayer—examine and evaluate the management and administrative practices in all operating sectors of our state government. Recommendations will then be made that can be followed with lasting advantages to all citizens. Hand in hand with this program will go another dealing with work simplification, and still another providing incentives for public employees to suggest improvements in the procedures of their agencies.

Both efficiency and economy require that the state move as rapidly as possible toward centralized purchasing, and that competitive bidding be extended to all substantial purchases at every level of government. We must not jeopardize receiving any federal funds, but in order to properly plan, it is necessary to be knowledgeable about funds received from sources other than state appropriations. Therefore, I ask that you provide that all funds received by any state public agency from a non-state source—such as the federal government—be reported to the State Comptroller within thirty days.

By Iowa law, it is a right of the people—but not mandatory upon them—to bring about the combining of services in counties. The law should likewise permit the joining of entire counties, by a popular vote of the people if they desire such a change. I recognize the many functions performed by local subdivisions of government and the convenience of them and would not have them arbitrarily superseded by larger, artificial creations. But I would encourage the use of multi-county services in areas such as health, welfare, education and law enforcement.

As a means of encouraging economic growth, increased employment and orderly development and living, I recommend that the General Assembly review—and, if necessary, revise—county zoning laws, and I urge County Boards of Supervisors to adopt realistic zoning regulations.

An inseparable part of better government is a legislature so organized that it can respond promptly and effectively to the needs of the society which it serves. I do not presume to tell the General Assembly how to order its own affairs, but a few suggestions may be in order.

Reapportionment is never an easy task. I endorse your use of a bi-partisan committee outside the legislature similar to the one that worked so effectively in 1967.

I recommend early and swift attention to this matter of permanent reapportionment, and that you pass for the second time the constitutional amendment designed to assure election of every legislator from a separate district.

I am sure there is general agreement on the need for short sessions, now that they will occur annually, and for payment of legislators by annual salary which will represent reasonable compensation for services performed, without—however—encouraging the emergence of full-time, professional law-makers. In this connection, the General Assembly ought to equip itself with increased staff for research, bill drafting, and use by standing committees. Moreover, the legislature—and especially committee chairmen—have urgent need for better working facilities and expanded clerical assistance.

Much has been talked, written and studied about legislative ethics and conflicts of interest. The exceptionally well done Iowa Legislative Processes Study Committee Report makes recommendations that deal directly with this subject. I endorse them.

On a minor, but not insignificant note, I recommend that the State Banking Board be enlarged from four to five members, consisting of three commercial bankers, one credit-union representative, and one representative of the small-loan industry. Also, the banking laws should be revised. In addition, a good "Truth in Lending" bill will have my support.

No subject-matter with which the legislature will deal transcends—in importance—this area of forging a better government. Events of 1968 revealed widespread public dissatisfaction with the structure of government, and a demand that ways be found to make it simpler, more responsive, more efficient and economical. We must start, without delay, to close the gap between the way government actually works and the way that people—especially young people—see it working. Nothing could be more crucial than this to the survival of established American political institutions. As modest, practical steps toward that goal, I recommend two procedural changes by constitutional amendment: first—that the vote for all elected state officials be canvassed in the same way and at the same time, so that the Governor and Lieutenant Governor may take office on January 2; and secondly—that the General Assembly convene on the third, rather than the second, Monday of January, so that a new Governor will have a better chance to settle himself into his duties. In the same general field, it would be desirable to make permanent voter registration mandatory in precincts with a population of more than 1,500 persons.

On a more substantive note, I earnestly suggest that the minimum voting age in Iowa be lowered. As a corollary to my conviction on this subject and on the whole matter of expanded involvement in public affairs, I have already taken steps to appoint a Youth Advisory Committee to work with me, in this sensitive area.

No mention of better living for Iowans would be complete without a salute to the State Arts Council, which has provided a big return for a very small investment. Operating with a federal matching-fund grant of less than $31,000 for this fiscal year, the Council has somehow managed to take cultural programs into at least 97 counties, with the objective of reaching as many rural areas as possible. The projects range from architectural and community planning lectures to art exhibits, plays, puppet shows, ballet performances, motion pictures, and music recitals. I pledge enthusiastic support to the continuing success of the Arts Council, and remind my fellow-citizens that the Council is authorized by law to accept private contributions.

LAW ENFORCEMENT

Just as events of last year pointed up the need to interest many more people in political decision-making, so also did events of that restless year underscore another elemental fact: The right of dissent in a free society and its exercise by individual citizens must be expressed within the framework of law. Where every man claims the right to make his own law, the law of physical force will ultimately prevail, the weak will be trampled underfoot, and stark tyranny will be the victor. The rule of law must be maintained.

To this end, Iowa must modernize and swiften its procedures for capturing and convicting criminals. This need is highlighted by the recent kidnap-murder of a young girl, stolen from what would have been considered the perfect safety of the Des Moines Y.M.C.A. We are providing that four agents be added at once to the Bureau of Criminal Investigation; we are improving the state police radio network; we are expanding the storage of computerized information to include auto licenses as well as driver licenses, and we are providing fast contact with the National Crime Information Center.

In this connection, I am grateful to Governor Hughes for cooperating in letting me select the thirty members of a new Committee on Law Enforcement Planning. Out of the activity of this committee, and from other attacks on the problem, we intend to score breakthroughs in these areas:

First: Apprehension of suspects, partly through consolidation of police radio facilities;

Second: Computerization of identification;

Third: Up-grading of police investigative procedures;

Fourth: Action to speed criminal justice;

Fifth: Pre-sentence investigations under judicial supervision;

Sixth: Cooperation and coordination among the state highway patrol, county sheriff's officers and local police.

Finally: The addition of State Crime Laboratory facilities.

I further recommend that provision be made for each driver's license to include a photograph of the driver, who will pay for the extra cost to provide adequate identification and aid law enforcement.

It is important that the residence requirements for peace officers and the five-year in-service requirement for police chiefs be eliminated so as to enable recruitment. Police departments should be permitted to employ officers pending their civil-service certification. All peace officers should be trained at the Iowa Law Enforcement Academy or some similar, approved facility, and the academy must be given our full support.

But competent, highly professional law enforcement alone is not enough to checkmate crime and establish safety on our streets and roads, and in our homes, parks, and public places. That goal will not be achieved without the active participation of all good citizens. A Citizens' Crime Alert system is proving successful where in use and should be extended in Iowa.

Also needed is second legislative passage of the constitutional amendment which would remove the county attorney's election from the constitution, and thus open the door to establish for county attorneys the same four-year term which other county officials have. More than this is needed, because many counties experience increasing difficulty in recruiting volunteers to fill the county attorney's post on a part-time, under-paid basis. Therefore, counties should be allowed to join in the creation of district attorneys' offices for the prosecution of criminal cases.

We must constantly be seeking ways to up-grade our judicial system. Fundamental is the need for an integrated system of lower courts. I recommend that the General Assembly act in this area.

We must also proceed promptly with revision of the criminal code, which has been long enough in process. Attention must be given to the improvement of Iowa's juvenile court system and its facilities, with a strict prohibition against the housing of juvenile offenders with adult prisoners. I commend again, as I did throughout the 1968 political campaign, that parents be held financially responsible for damage done by their minor children to persons and property.

If we are to break the vicious cycle of rising crime, we must start with the young. Rehabilitation of wayward boys and girls is not only possible, but is also an obligation which rests upon us all collectively, as a civilized society. Rehabilitation becomes progressively more difficult, however, as the youngster moves from one level of crime to another while he is growing older—helped (if you choose to call it "help") by hardened criminals with whom he is thrown in contact, both in and out of institutions. At Eldora, we have one of the better boys' training schools in the country—but the whole concept of so-called training schools has been quite thoroughly discredited by their results. Inevitably, they too often serve as training-schools for post-graduate crime. So far as possible they should be replaced by better environments in which to work with disturbed juveniles.

The best available alternative to training schools, as I see it, is a system of youth forest camps, which would provide useful, interesting and healthy work experience for those occupants, along with organized schooling and wholesome recreation. Encouraging results are reported from states which have tried the forest-camp approach. As a pilot project, I ask the General Assembly to authorize one such camp, which will give us guide-lines for future action.

Iowa's liquor distribution system, while imperfect in many respects, still offers the strongest control to meet the demands of public policy.

HUMAN RIGHTS

Our determination to curb lawlessness must not be permitted to harden our hearts to the importance of human rights. Indeed, callousness toward the rights of others leads inexorably to the loss of our own—as the Germans learned a generation ago, and as is still being learned by residents of Communist lands. There is an old Latin maxim which runs as follows, in translation: "They created a wasteland, and they called it peace." We cannot afford to forget that a police state provides perfect law and order by making the entire commonwealth a prison. We do not intend to make that mistake in Iowa, which has a proud record of sensitive concern for human rights. We intend to have law and order with justice and with full protection of the rights of people individually and people in groups—not least of all, those groups whose voices are sometimes hardest to hear: the poor, the sick, the young, and our Negro and Indian minorities.

In this context, I endorse the proposal that tax incentives be offered to private business for training disadvantaged persons in both urban and rural areas.

In the area of fair housing, I call upon the General Assembly to repeal that part of the present fair housing law which requires complainants under the statute to post a $500 bond. Under the same heading, I endorse legislation to permit the State Civil Rights Commission to seek temporary injunctions in support of its findings. This procedure is unlikely to be abused, for I am confident that district courts will not grant such an injunction without good cause.

The fact that Iowa's ethnic minorities are small exposes them to the danger of a special kind of discrimination, which develops out of indifference and neglect. As a partial offset to this possibility, it would be desirable for local school boards to provide textbooks and other materials factually including contributions of Negroes, Indians and other groups to the development of American civilization. Iowa history itself provides a respectable number of landmark achievements by these races. In the earliest years of settlement here, the Iowa Territorial Supreme Court—in the famous case of "Ralph"—laid down the rule that the free soil of Iowa conferred freedom on a black man who had escaped northward from bondage in Missouri. Later, it was in the free atmosphere of Iowa that George Washington Carver first stirred with the genius which marked him as one of America's great men of science. It was here that the noble chief, Black Hawk, spent his last years—at peace with friend and foe. And it is here that the Mesquakies, descendants of a part of Black Hawk's Sac-and-Fox Confederation, have been striving for several generations to make a success of their unique experiment in tribal living.

Not all discrimination is deliberate, and much of it bears down on Iowans who are white, as well as black and red. For example: I trust this General Assembly will give second passage to the constitutional amendment which assures the right of every qualified citizen to vote, despite his transfer of residence from one place to another.

On yet another front, I hope this General Assembly will seize its opportunity to end discrimination against Iowa service men and women in the purchase of automobile insurance. In many cases, Iowans in the armed forces are being arbitrarily denied such insurance. Legislation should be enacted to limit the cancellation of automobile insurance policies. Such a bill should provide that age, race, creed, occupation or residence is not sufficient reason for failing to renew a policy. The bill would also set up appeal machinery within the Insurance Commissioner's office to enforce provisions of the act.

EDUCATION

The surest underpinning of public order, human rights, better government, material prosperity and all other benefits prized by human beings is adequate, effective education. It was one of the two chief concerns of my first predecessor—Ansel Briggs—and it has remained a chief concern ever since. Education has top priority in my mind and heart, as I know it has in the thinking of every legislator. Education is Iowa's prime resource, and a prerequisite to the state's continuing progress. We must attend zealously to every kind, every level, and every geographical location of Iowa's educational needs. There can be no doubt about our commitment to this goal, because I am sure that about half of all state and local government expenditure in Iowa goes for education.

The immense size of our investment in education—both for plant and for operations—imposes on all of us the obligation to conduct a continuing analysis of the effectiveness with which this huge investment is being used. There is some limit to the proportion of income which citizens are willing to allocate to the entire spectrum of formal education in its infinite varieties. The cause of education and educators is best served by shifting from blind idolatry to critical examination, before an indiscriminating reaction against skyrocketing school costs has a chance to set in. We who most love education must take the leadership in protecting her from the consequences of blind idolatry. This is especially necessary in the period of budgetary bind which Iowa finds itself.

Therefore, I will name a Governor's Educational Advisory Committee, consisting entirely of lay people, who will examine the whole field of Iowa education from nursery through professional and graduate schools and recommend to the Legislature and Governor how the educational dollar can best be spent. This group will be selected solely for competence, and without reference to occupation, or political party affiliation. It will be a working body, headed by former State Representative Leroy Petersen of Grimes, whom I have appointed as Director of the Office for Planning and Programming. The Educational Advisory Committee will not be a policy-making board or "super board" but will identify areas of overlap, duplication, and other undesirable practices, and make recommendations. The committee will study parochial and other private, as well as public schools serving the kindergarten-through-twelfth-grade age groups. In post high-school education, it will consider Iowa's non-tax-supported colleges and universities, as well as the regents' universities and the system of area community colleges and vocational-technical schools. Nor will the committee overlook proposals for construction of a new state-supported university in western Iowa and for a statewide network of educational television facilities. Both a heavy load of work and an exciting challenge will be undertaken by this committee. I am confident that its recommendations will fill the pressing need for a well researched chart by which to plot a rational, correlated future course for our entire Iowa educational system. We cannot afford waste of money, talent and facilities that results from letting each part of the system go its own way, with little reference to the other parts.

However, there are things which must be done in the field of education, without waiting for the findings of the Advisory Committee. For example, we must increase state aid funds to local public education, no matter how tight the budget may be, thereby lessening the tax load borne by local property owners.

At the same time, legislation is needed to fix upon local school boards both the responsibility and authority to educate all children in accordance with their individual needs, abilities, handicaps and circumstances. In that connection, we should take a fresh look at the school attendance law, which might serve a better social purpose by fixing age sixteen as the minimum for leaving, without any requirement of attaining a fixed grade—such as the eighth. I propose that we develop a program of summer employment for Iowa youth, to be administered by and supported with state funds on a matching basis with contributions from various private sources including business firms.

I am firmly of the opinion that no school pupil should be excluded from use of public-school buses on their regular routes. Rising costs are placing heavier and heavier financial burdens on such schools, to the point of jeopardizing their existence. They add greatly to the general welfare of our state, not only by reducing the financial and other burdens of public-school districts, but also by contributing valuable variety to the stream of Iowa life. I support the shared time concept and recommend wider use of it.

Recognizing the controversy that has developed over the Great Plains Project Report, I recommend that the Legislature appoint a committee to analyze the material and information it contains and consider with that the findings and recommendations that the school Budget Review Committee makes. With that foundation a course can be, and should be, charted for Iowa public elementary and secondary schools.

On a different front, the time has come to face squarely the need for and to provide for professional negotiations between local boards of education and the teachers whom they employ. A no-strike clause has to be included in the mediation or arbitration procedures of the legislation.

At the same time the Legislature should recognize the necessity of developing a procedure by which other government employees can make their needs known, keeping in mind the complicating effects of the Merit System.

In mentioning the Merit System I want to point out that this employee benefit law which had bi-partisan support two years ago has not at this time produced the desired results. The principle is still right.

In justice to all public employees, covered by IPERS, including teachers, some changes are overdue in the program to provide something closer to a decent level of retirement pay. The recent actuarial report confirms that more retirement benefits can be paid without depleting the principal of the IPERS fund. I recommend the law be changed to provide this increase in benefits. The General Assembly would do well to determine the feasibility of raising the IPERS ceiling above its present $7,000 level and an increase in the contribution rate to help lower-bracket workers.

Our area community colleges and vocational-technical schools are an irreplaceable part of Iowa's educational structure, by reason of both their intrinsic merit and their great potential contribution to expansion of the economy. Their problems are not solely of their own making; legislation too hastily and carelessly drawn is indeed a contributing factor. Some of the errors can be redressed; others we shall probably have to live with for the sake of the benefits which these community colleges confer upon their respective areas and upon the whole state. Financial stringency must not be permitted to impair the standards of any of them, but future emphasis should be placed heavily upon their vocational-technical programs. I am gratified by the growing trend for business firms, churches, fraternal organizations and other private groups to provide scholarships at the vocational-technical schools, and I look with hope to this trend accelerating rapidly.

A constant problem in all higher education is the shockingly large proportion of youth—our greatest resource—which pursues no training beyond the high-school level. In Iowa, 94 percent have expressed a desire to continue education, but only 60 percent do so. Lack of funds is a deterrent, and would play an even greater part except for several student-help programs administered by the Higher Education Facilities Commission. Besides loans guaranteed by the federal government, those programs include state-financed loans for medical students and State of Iowa scholarships, which I recommend for continuance—and when finances permit—for expansion.

We come now to a need which must be faced without postponement even though we would prefer to set it aside until the state treasury becomes more affluent. Since the beginning of settlement in Iowa, privately supported colleges have been an integral part of our higher education system. At least four of those colleges—Loras, Iowa Wesleyan, Clarke and Grinnell (in that order)—trace their origins back to the territorial period, before any state schools existed even on paper. The list has now grown to more than thirty junior colleges and degree-granting institutions of various types, which operate in Iowa without state tax money. Some are nationally distinguished, and all make important contributions to Iowa life, besides accommodating one-third of the state's total enrollment in higher education.

They face a common problem of declining attendance and unused or under-used facilities, because of the pinch caused by rising tuition to meet higher costs. Each tuition increase prices more students out of the private colleges and into public institutions, where fees pay less than one-fourth of instruction costs and public funds pay the rest. Tuition grants sufficient to close part of the gap would benefit the students, the state, the colleges and the taxpayers. By making it possible for Iowa youth to make fuller use of $200 million worth of private college facilities, we would reduce pressure on the state institutions for expansion of their immensely expensive facilities. Therefore, I recommend that this General Assembly pioneer a program of state tuition grants.

Concerning the state universities at Iowa City, Ames and Cedar Falls, I want to make crystal-clear that I join the overwhelming majority of Iowans—whether or not they have ever studied on any of these campuses—in feeling an enormous pride in the worldwide reputation for academic excellence which our state universities deservedly enjoy.

I shall use every resource at my command to protect the universities from any infringement of those ancient freedoms which academic communities must have, if they are to fulfill their promise to mankind. In the discharge of this obligation I ask for complete support from both sides of the aisle in the General Assembly.

On a more specific note, I favor long-range financing of needed classroom and laboratory facilities at regents' institutions. This is sound business in every way. The bond issues are self-policing, because they will only be bought when economic and revenue prospects are favorable. Moreover, the bonds will be retired by revenue from the people who benefit from the improvements they provide.

BETTER LIVING

Along with better government, an orderly society, human rights and first-rate education, it is essential that Iowans achieve even better living than they now have. To the extent that better living can be stimulated by public action, it is probably in the field of conservation that the most effective steps can be taken. Husbandry of our natural resources is essential to maintain the life-sustaining balance of nature, to provide for enlarging leisure-time activity, to promote economic growth, and to make Iowa increasingly attractive to tourists.

To this end, there must be strict enforcement of Iowa's water and air pollution control laws. We can be satisfied with nothing less than elimination of pollution from government, industrial, agricultural, and domestic sources. Whenever the laws, rules or regulations need strengthening the legislature should not hesitate to act. Furthermore, strong legislation with realistic penalties is required to stop the littering of our roadsides and stream banks.

Iowa needs renewed dedication to a comprehensive soil and water conservation program, in which emphasis will be placed on practices of long-range value, such as terracing, waterway improvement, pond construction, and reforestation. Land-use and erosion-control agreements should be emphasized, to assure that our natural and artificial lakes will not be destroyed through silt accumulation. Attention should also be given to upper watershed control as a factor in protecting impoundment areas from siltation. Careful planning is required to make natural beauty areas accessible without marring their inherent charm. What I like to call "sight pollution" should also receive priority to preserve the natural beauty of our countryside. Iowa should have more adequate wildlife habitats and a better program for improved fishing in lakes and streams. At the same time, I want to express my satisfaction at the great contributions to a better Iowa which have been made by our county conservation commissions. At relatively limited cost, they have tremendously expanded our recreational facilities close to where the people live.

The Iowa Conservation Commission has deep-seated problems which are partly financial and partly organizational. Because of the enormous and increasing use which our state parks receive, it is essential that the ills of the Conservation Commission be cured. In the near future, a great part of the cure will have to be something other than increased state appropriations. During this period, I suggest that the Commission concentrate on improved maintenance of present parks and other recreational facilities.

To ease the financial bind and to provide for better care of state parks, I recommend that Iowa adopt the practice of many other states in charging a modest fee for admission to our parks. Users should have a choice between an annual fee and a small daily charge. The revenue will be useful, and I am sure that park users will feel a sense of pride in contributing directly to upgrading the surroundings which they enjoy.

HEALTH AND WELFARE

I have said before, and I repeat here, that I am not becoming Governor of Iowa to snatch food from the hungry, trip up the crippled, hound the homeless, or taunt the unlucky with pious platitudes. Basically, I believe that government can do the most good by helping people to help themselves; but I also realize that government—as the prime tool of organized society—must care for many of those who cannot help themselves. So far as possible, private activity in this field should be preferred to government activity; and where government action is required, it should come as largely as possible from local and state levels. However, I am less concerned with theories of responsibility than with making sure that no legitimate need goes unmet because of poor communication, indifference or plain cussedness.

I favor the concept which encourages earning by welfare recipients, who should not be penalized by the deduction of all they make from their public assistance; such deductions should be on a sliding scale and tailored to circumstances.

I strongly support programs of rehabilitation for persons who cannot benefit from standard educational procedures, because through these programs such people can be brought to realization of their full potentials. I especially commend the work of the Commission for the Blind in restoring sightless Iowans to gainful employment.

I am appointing a Governor's Committee on Mental Health—not to question the impressive results of our present treatment methods for the emotionally disturbed, but to find a good solution for the problem created by our success in treatment. This is a nice kind of a problem to have. It stems from the fact that patients spend much briefer periods in mental health institutes than previously, while out-patient care has been greatly expanded and improved. Hence, all of these institutes now have patient populations far below capacity, and we need to decide whether one or more of them can be closed or transferred to some other use.

We must also strengthen our alcoholism projects. With the federal government shutting off funds for a one-shot ICAP pilot project, I ask that the Iowa Comprehensive Alcoholism Project be combined with the established Commission on Alcoholism. There is merit in the research-oriented state program at Oakdale, and also in the maintenance of detoxification centers serving considerable areas. Summarizing, the State of Iowa has an obligation to remain active in this field, despite the budgetary problems of doing so and in my budget message I will explain how I believe this can be done.

In order to protect a mother's health, prevent the birth of a defective child, or end a pregnancy caused by rape or incest, abortions should be legalized under strict medical supervision.

CITIES AND TOWNS

So far, I have dealt largely with aspects of government which directly touch the quality of personal life for our citizens. Now I shall turn briefly to some other matters. High on this list are the growing pains of Iowa municipalities. I need not dwell on the point that they have nationwide company in their misery. All over America, cities are in dire trouble because of the population explosion and the constant movement of people from open country to built-up areas. The Iowa problem is different only in being less acute, because we have no cities of unmanageable size and our agricultural economy remains one of family farms.

None the less, the headaches of Iowa cities differ only in degree, and not in kind, from those of their more troubled sisters elsewhere. In response to this urban plight, I am already setting up a Governor's Committee on Cities and Towns, which will search out, identify and define their needs and their ability to financially meet them.

We know the state budget this session will not afford substantial funds for state aid to our cities. Therefore, if this Committee reports that necessary city services cannot be financed by present methods then I am ready to recommend that municipalities be permitted to tap other sources of revenue, upon an affirmative vote by their people. I also look forward to municipalities benefiting in tangible ways from implementation of the new home-rule amendment.

I have talked about the need for an urban affairs office and pledged that if there were not sufficient funds for it to stand alone it would operate from the Governor's office. I am convinced that the best place to start this department is in the Office for Planning and Programming and ask that it be established. It will provide useful answers in such areas as zoning, housing, law, and budgeting for local officials.

Two very specific services will be performed by the urban affairs division of the Office for Planning and Programming. First, this division can help Iowa cities cooperate with new urban undertakings which will be unveiled by the Nixon administration. And secondly, it can be helpful to metropolitan areas in consolidating the overlapping services now provided by adjacent cities, suburban towns, and counties. The evolving central garbage collection service for metropolitan Des Moines is an example of progress in this field.

TAXATION

It is not cities alone which are plagued by problems of inadequate tax revenues. Every state in the union—including Iowa—has the problem. The limited financial capabilities of the states stem, in part, from the pre-emption by the federal government of a preponderant share of all public revenue. Until and unless this imbalance is corrected, there is no complete solution of the problem. Therefore, I urge all of us—the Iowa delegation in Congress, the legislature, local governments, and myself—to join forces in a fight for passage of a federal-state revenue-sharing plan.

Meanwhile, I propose that the Iowa income tax structure be simplified, and a so-called “postcard” return be adopted. Under this plan, the state income tax of every Iowan would then become a fixed percentage of his federal income tax payment. With the legislature now meeting every year, this program can be adopted without the state constitutional amendment which previously would have been necessary. I have long been disturbed by the penalty our present tax system imposes on people who improve their homes, and by its consequent encouragement of run-down buildings and slums. A simple revision of the system would encourage owners to improve their properties. To that end, I recommend that increased assessment of home improvements be delayed, as an incentive to remodeling and renovation.

Finally, it is imperative that we have equal assessments in Iowa, where—because of state aid to schools and areawide levy for community colleges—everybody has a personal stake in equality of assessment. Property tax assessments based on market value provide a uniform statewide method and standard application to all property, regardless of location. In assessing agriculture property, consideration should be given to current use as well as sales-assessment ratio.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Amidst an unending technological revolution in Iowa agriculture, the economic future of this state becomes ever more closely tied to the attractiveness of its image for those who can create jobs and those who can fill the jobs.

The scope of this challenge is illustrated by some recent figures. During the 1960 to 1980 period the county by county projections show that total Iowa population is expected to remain virtually static.

Iowa farm population fell by nearly 27 percent while the number of Iowa farms dropped by about 29 percent during the period from 1947 to 1967. If Iowa is to check the projected thinning out of people in most of its rural counties and some of its urban counties between now and 1980, it will have to be done through a truly massive industrialization program. Certainly one key to the success of such a program is aggressive leadership in developing our small towns as productive new homes for countless Americans who want to get away from the frustrations—and even hazards—of contemporary big metropolitan existence.

There is urgent need for drastic revamping of the Iowa Development Commission, and for reorientation of its methods and objectives. The logical place to begin is with a legislative review of the statute under which the Development Commission operates. I will tell you candidly that I believe members of the General Assembly should no longer serve on the Commission, because the new schedule of annual sessions will not permit them to invest the amount of time which revitalization of the Development Commission will require. Going further, I believe that every element of political award and other partisan considerations should be purged from Commission appointments, and that they should henceforth be made strictly on a basis of know-how, promotional ability and experience.

We have suffered this past year without the services of a Director of this Commission. I recommend that the General Assembly provide that the Director serve at the pleasure of the Governor.

The recruitment of industry is a highly specialized, fiercely competitive business with worldwide ramifications. It is a game in which amateurs never get off the bench, and unless we are prepared to play it in big-league fashion, Iowa will largely waste the money it dribbles away on a minor-league operation.

We can afford no delay in getting an aggressive program underway, using a staff of aggressive producers. One important reason to do so is the need to reach a decision about sponsoring a World Food Exposition in Iowa during the next few years. Such an exposition, if properly staged, could be the catalyst we need to get this state in economic orbit. But let us not deceive ourselves about the demands which a world exposition would make upon our financial and human resources. They would be enormous, both in the amount of risk capital required and the time and energy which would have to be poured into the enterprise. Unless we are prepared to go all-out to make the exposition a success on a grand scale, we should not even take the first step.

At a more mundane level, the Development Commission should launch a continuing, lively and imaginative publicity program to attract more tourists into Iowa. Properly undertaken in close cooperation with local groups and festivals, this project has the great merit of bringing completely new money into Iowa.

As a nuts-and-bolts contribution to the Iowa economy, I will be proposing in my budget message specific recommendations to correct inequities in Iowa's service tax law. Flourishing business, industrial growth and new plant locations which provide new jobs, more paychecks and increased tax revenue are major factors in the general welfare of the whole state.

AGRICULTURE

You need no exhortation from me or anybody else about the over-riding importance of agriculture in the Iowa economy. It is self-evident, especially when we consider that much of the entire business life of the state exists only because of farming. The manufacture, distribution, and servicing of input items for agriculture fall into that category, as do the handling and processing of everything which the farms produce.

Because of the far flung scope of farm markets, many of the important policies which affect agriculture are necessarily made at the federal level. However, the state government is not powerless to exert some influence in the determination of those policies, and I shall not hesitate to bring that influence to bear when it is proper to do so. For example, we can well support agricultural policies which permit and encourage farmer participation in voluntary marketing and bargaining associations within the framework of a competitive situation. We can also encourage producers, through their own organizations, to finance and administer programs for the expansion and development of markets and for the stimulation of additional utilization research.

In that same connection, we could well use more marketing and new product research from the Extension Service of Iowa State University, which has been emphasizing production research. In this hour of history, the Iowa farmer will profit most from research which develops new crops, facilitates marketing and insures fair prices to producer as well as consumer.

Equally important is stepped-up federal, state and private research to find improved methods of controlling wind erosion.

On another front, I strongly support legislation to require dealers and processors of farm products to give evidence of their financial responsibility. All imports of foreign meat and dairy products should be subjected to the same inspection and quality controls which are imposed on U.S. producers.

LABOR

In order to insure protection of workers and their families, safety practices should be required and standards adopted. I intend to carefully watch for developments in this area.

Workmen's compensation benefits should be increased, and payments should be increased to approved rehabilitation programs for injured employees.

To redress the injustice done workers who cannot collect the wages due them, I recommend the development of a small claims court within the framework of an integrated court system.

Child labor laws should be up-dated to provide reasonable opportunity for youths under 16 years of age to accept vacation and part-time jobs.

With reference to minority groups, management should increase its recruitment from that sector for job-training programs, and unions should intensify their efforts to recruit from minority groups for apprentice training and union membership.

Right-to-work is an established fact in Iowa.

TRANSPORTATION

I urge that the General Assembly order a reclassification of the Iowa roads-and-streets systems, after which allocation of road-use tax funds will be made on a basis of need. Provision should also be made for the abandonment of roads which no longer carry enough traffic to justify their continued maintenance.

All trucks should pay their fair share of highway user costs, and the legislature should develop a fair and workable structure of truck taxation, which will end problems and litigation in this area.

Priority should be given to the removal of such highway hazards as narrow bridges, dangerous railroad underpasses, curbs, and inadequate shoulders. T-intersections can be and should be made safer and rumble strips installed to give warning to drivers. Equally needed is adequate lighting of interchanges, rest areas, railroad crossings, and traffic control signs at unmarked intersections.

Drunk driving laws should be enacted which define as presumptive evidence of intoxication the presence of 100 milligrams of alcohol per 100 cubic centimeters of blood.

In the field of aviation, I support legislation for the development of regional airports, and for cooperation by municipalities and counties in their construction and operation. I also recommend a statutory requirement that all power-lines at the end of runways be buried.

On a broader front, I propose that the General Assembly provide for the appointment of a Governor's Committee on Iowa Transportation Needs which will study all aspects of both freight and passenger movement, with instructions to report its recommendations to the 1970 General Assembly.

CONCLUSION

The goals of you as legislators and I as Governor are identical, our cause is common, and the course we follow must lead us to a greater Iowa. In this respect our course will be steadier and our success far greater when we cooperate and work together. Consequently you may expect and will receive from my office complete cooperation and, during the session legislators will have top priority on my time.

I commend you of the legislature and particularly Lieutenant Governor Jepsen and Speaker Harbor as well as the other leaders for the flying start of what we all agree must be a short and productive session.

As Governor I will rely on the help of many people. One who deserves special mention is my loyal and devoted wife, Billie. It is only with her help that I can confidently assume the great responsibilities as your Governor.

I shall be ever mindful that it is you, the people, that make Iowa a great state. I shall seek your advice, I shall listen carefully, and I earnestly and humbly ask your help and support. Together we shall respond to the challenges of today and the promise of tomorrow.

The benediction was offered by Dr. G. Curtis Jones, University Christian Church, Des Moines, Iowa.

Governor Robert D. Ray and Lieutenant Governor Roger W. Jepsen were escorted from the rostrum by the committee previously appointed.

PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Kennedy of Dubuque rose on a point of personal privilege and made the following remarks:

Tonight in the western Iowa community of Denison, a group of men will gather to recognize the retirement of one of Iowa's finest—Austin W. Keller, lieutenant of the Iowa Highway Patrol.

Throughout his twenty-eight years of service to this state, Mr. Keller has typified all good qualities of a police officer that Iowans hold in admiration. By his courage, dedication, and consideration for the feelings and rights of travelers, he has won for himself, the patrol and the State of Iowa many friends. I recommend his conduct to the record of this assembly.

By Roorda, Ellsworth, Welden, Tieden, Stokes, Strothman, Winkelman, Voorhees, Ossian, Kreamer, Miller of Page, Nielsen, Menefee, Strand, Koch, Milligan, Graham, Campbell and Huff

Whereas, intergovernmental cooperation between state and local tax administrations promotes efficiency in government and equity in distribution of the tax burden; and

Whereas, Iowa's present system of financing local government primarily by means of property taxes raises serious questions about the equitability of our tax structure; and

Whereas, a system of revenue sharing between state and local governments permits some of the expenses of local government to be met by income and sales taxes as well as property taxes, provides more adequate sources of revenue, and places more authority and responsibility in local governments; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring: That the legislative research committee establish a committee to conduct a study of methods of implementing the principle of revenue sharing between state and local governments, which may include a study of procedures for tax collection by the state for the benefit of local governments.

Be It Further Resolved, That the legislative research committee report the study findings and recommendations, with suggested legislation to implement its proposals, to the Sixty-fourth General Assembly.

Laid over under Rule 25.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 10

By Gannon, Dunton, Mayberry, Mezvinsky, Johnston of Johnson, Kennedy of Chickasaw, Crosier, Middleswart, Cochran, Blouin, Schwartz, Jesse, Priebe, Baker and Skinner

Whereas, the voters of Iowa at the last general election approved the constitutional amendment for annual sessions of the General Assembly; and

Whereas, the approval of the constitutional amendment for annual sessions indicates support by the voters of Iowa for annual legislative attention to the needs of the State of Iowa; and

Whereas, the approval of this constitutional amendment was aided by the belief of the voters of Iowa that annual sessions of the General Assembly would bring about the close scrutiny of appropriations that is inherent in annual budgeting; and

Whereas, it is imperative that annual appropriations be adopted as soon as possible in order to provide for maximum efficiency of the operations of state government in accordance with wishes of the voters of the State of Iowa, now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the appropriations committees of the House and Senate of the Sixty-third General Assembly are hereby instructed to bring forth the necessary legislation to implement annual budgets and are further instructed to make all appropriations recommendations on an annual basis for the fiscal year beginning July 1, 1969, and ending June 30, 1970.

Laid over under Rule 25.

On motion by Van Drie of Story, the House recessed until the fall of the gavel.

The House reconvened, Speaker Harbor in the chair.

The committee appointed to notify the Senate that the House was ready to receive it in joint convention reported that it had performed its duty. The report was accepted and the committee discharged.

The Sergeant-at-Arms announced the arrival of the President of the Senate, the Secretary of the Senate and the honorable body of the Senate.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and House Concurrent Resolution 8 duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Jepsen presiding.

President Jepsen announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Stanley of Muscatine moved that a committee of six consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House be appointed to notify Governor Ray that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senators Stephens of Washington, Parker of Buchanan and Schaben of Harrison on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Winkelman of Calhoun, Kreamer of Polk and Dunton of Keokuk on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Ray and escorted him to the Speaker's station. President Jepsen then presented Governor Ray, who delivered the following budget address:

BUDGET MESSAGE TO THE SIXTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY BY THE HONORABLE ROBERT D. RAY, GOVERNOR OF IOWA

Joint Session, January 29, 1969

Mr. President, Mr. Speaker, Honorable Members of the Sixty-third General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Chapter eight of the Code of Iowa provides that the Governor present his biennial budget to the General Assembly by February 1 of each odd-numbered year. Therefore, this is my budget presentation to you for the biennium ending June 30, 1971, along with the Budget in Brief. The detailed budget and related proposed legislation will be transmitted to you as soon as printed copies are available.

At the outset, let me say that this responsibility loomed as tall as Mount Everest, when I tackled it after the November election. The state obviously faced a painful financial bind as a result of spending policies for the present biennium, which will leave Iowa's financial cupboard relatively bare.

Additionally, I was greeted—in the budget hearings—with departmental askings of nearly $780 million for each year of the next biennium. Those askings were more than 50 percent greater than the average anticipated annual income from present taxes during the next two fiscal years. To bring outgo and income into balance—as I was pledged and determined to do—required paring more than a half-billion—that's right, a half-billion—dollars from departmental requests for the biennium. Moreover, that financial surgery had to be done without killing the patient or leaving him crippled.

This we have succeeded in doing. I am submitting a budget which accomplishes three purposes:

FIRST, It is a balanced budget; we shall be living within our means.

SECOND, It calls for no tax increases and no new taxes.

THIRD, It provides for the orderly growth of state government functions which contribute to building a greater Iowa.

All of this would have been impossible without modern executive budget-making and financial control, which is a comparatively recent development in Iowa state government. It dates back to 1933, when the office of State Comptroller was established, in response to a broad survey of public administration in Iowa, conducted by the Brookings Institution of Washington, D. C., under authority of the Forty-fifth General Assembly. That survey remains perhaps the most detailed study of Iowa government, in its entirety, which has ever been made. It is an example of the kind of trail-blazing in which each governor and each General Assembly should be continuously engaged.

BIENNIAL BUDGET

This budget covers a two-year period as required by state statute. It was prepared from information supplied by the various departments of state government in their budget requests—also required by law to be on a biennial basis. Your decision to keep this session short and business-like is commendable and I have concluded that an immediate change to annual budgeting would make achievement of this goal difficult.

Annual sessions of the General Assembly will make possible better control of the fiscal matters of the state. This first session of this two-session biennium gives us both, the Legislature and the Governor's office, an excellent opportunity to examine how we can best bring this improved budgetary control into being. We can determine whether annual budgets are the best route to take—or whether annual review would better accomplish what we mutually desire as an end result.

I know you will carefully consider the relative advantages and disadvantages of these two options—as will I. If it is decided that annual budgeting is desirable, there will be ample time during the 1970 session to make the necessary statutory changes before the budget hearings for the 1971-73 biennium.

As an interim step, to help assure tight budget control, I intend to hold informal departmental budget hearings before the General Assembly convenes in 1970. This will provide a second opportunity to evaluate needs and funding within this two-year period. Results of these hearings will be forwarded to you for consideration.

I am sure that you will want to review appropriations during the 1970 session and make any necessary changes to meet unexpected problems or to reduce expenditures where additional savings are possible. Perhaps the appropriations committees during the 1970 session could evaluate the performance of departments, thus giving additional incentive for economy. Accountability and sound management are necessary ingredients to assure that tax money is being spent wisely.

In summary, the financial affairs of our state are immense and complex but are subject to the same rules followed by any wise and successful family or business. This is common sense. Our state is nothing more than all of our families and all of our businesses—and the same prudent spending policies should apply. I share your determination that the people of Iowa shall receive full value for every dollar we spend.

GENERAL

A Governor's budget represents his governmental philosophy and program, expressed in dollar terms. Any governor—whoever he may be—has only three ways of providing leadership:

First, by the appointments he makes to key agencies.

Second, by his persuasive powers with legislators, administrators, and the public.

Third, by his recommendations for the allocation of state resources to meet state needs.

I shall be deciding on appointments and forwarding names to the Senate for confirmation. I shall be visiting with you about Iowa's problems and their solutions. It is the allocation of funds with which we are concerned in today's message and related documents.

Building the budget during the past two months was a rewarding experience, despite its great difficulty. The budget hearings offered opportunities to meet department heads and explore with them their needs and challenges. As you know, Iowa state agencies range in size from service departments with one or two employees, to three universities with some 45,000 students. Many of you—both members of the Budget and Financial Control Committee and other legislators—sat with me in the hearings, and raised searching questions which were indeed helpful.

While limited funds make it impossible to do as much as we would like to do in many areas of services and aids, I am presenting a budget which requires no increase in state taxes but provides nonetheless for the effective functioning and advancement of state government during the next two years.

Specifically, I refer to the following areas:

ADMINISTRATION AND SERVICES

The entire Administrative and Services Division of the budget represents approximately six percent of the total—slightly smaller in percentage than in the previous biennium.

This area includes all housekeeping departments, plus many of the smaller program departments. While a "hold the line" approach was taken toward all of them, provision has been made for program improvement.

For example, I recommend that the state allot funds to provide an effective attack on the problems of alcoholism, even though the federal government is pulling the string on federal funds and such funds will be exhausted by the end of the present fiscal year for the Iowa Comprehensive Alcoholism Project, generally called ICAP. The budget recommends consolidation of this project into the Commission on Alcoholism, which will then be funded with one-half million dollars per year for allocation to worthwhile city and county programs on a state-grant basis. Thus, we can work with and evaluate the problem of alcoholism, while at the same time meeting some of the current needs of communities in this field of action.

For the Iowa Development Commission I recommend an increase of more than $200,000 per year—in other words about one-fourth more than it is now receiving—to be used to attract new industries to Iowa—and keep present ones here. A highly competent staff is necessary to promote the state in forceful fashion. Therefore, I ask that salary levels of key personnel be substantially raised, and that consideration be given to reorganizing the Commission itself as I recommended in my Inaugural Message. Only with strong leadership, superior staff, and adequate funds can Iowa implement a vibrant program of industrial expansion—so crucial to achieving our goal of a balanced economy.

I am asking that provision be made for a central purchasing concept within the Executive Council structure, so that all departments will buy materials and supplies of highest quality, at competitive prices. This logical, business-like approach to state business will be a great improvement over the disarranged purchasing methods now in use; and it will pay a big return on the $25,000 a year which is requested to get it started.

Funding is asked for establishment of an Urban Affairs Division to be attached to the Office for Planning and Programming. This Urban Affairs Division would coordinate and amplify the state's relationships with cities and towns. Problems at those levels of government are awesomely complex, and we must avoid entanglement in "red tape" as we search out solutions. With the funding which I request, the Urban Affairs Division will have competent personnel to get and provide the answers and not just point out the difficulties. I also propose that $100,000 per year from the Urban Affairs allocation be used as a matching fund to stimulate youth summer employment projects, set up throughout Iowa by local groups—including many from the private sector.

Air and water pollution control, along with comprehensive health planning, is imperative within the state's total health program. Examination of those areas—including federal moneys available to support them—will have high priority in this administration.

There have been many and frequent suggestions that much could be done to improve business practices of the Liquor Control Commission. Most of those suggestions have dealt with the purchase and handling of inventories. Stocks of liquor may be too high in relation to sales as a result of commission policies concerning purchases, inventory and sales. To guarantee that Iowa shall have the best possible practices in liquor inventory and accounting, this budget provides additional funds to develop and implement such practices, including use of computers where practicable. Such a program would be carried out in part by consultants, supplementing staff from the Comptroller's and Auditor's offices and Liquor Control Commission.

Concerning the Revenue Department, the budget provides for bringing its employees under the Merit Employment System. Economies can be achieved by installing a fully mechanized system to handle the millions of documents which flow through that department each year. Reductions in the number of employees are possible in the Revenue Department—if coupled with the upgrading of several key positions and the simplification of the individual tax forms. We must keep in mind that additional responsibilities have been placed on this agency under the School Aid-Tax Revision Program of the 1967 Legislature. Provision has been made for the establishment of an "Ombudsman" so that a person aggrieved or who feels aggrieved will have a place to go in this maze of governmental operations.

Many smaller agencies—not big in dollars, but important in their contributions to the state—have been provided for in my recommendations. These include the Commission on Aging, Arts Council, Capitol Planning, Civil Rights, cooperating with other states through the Council of State Governments, Commission on Employment of the Handicapped, Industrial Commission, Bureau of Labor, and others.

LEGISLATIVE AND JUDICIAL

Budget increases in this area are basically in an item to provide funding for an adequate Judicial Retirement System.

The present long-standing Judicial Retirement System is actuarially unsound. In their request to me, the judges recommended a meaningful retirement system and I have endorsed this proposal in lieu of salary increases. As you review the present and proposed retirement systems, bear in mind that one safeguard for the integrity of our state courts is a fair and sound retirement system.

SOCIAL SERVICES

Nowhere did the complexities of public administration and budgeting impress themselves on me more forcefully than in the field of Social Services. As you know, the previous boards of Social Welfare, Control, and Parole were merged during this biennium. The full benefits of this merger are still to be reaped, but the new structure is built and central budgeting is a reality.

To the Income Maintenance Division—representing so-called categorical aids of the former Social Welfare Department—I am applying the same philosophy which pervades this entire budget. It is the philosophy of doing a better job with what we have, by applying our creative powers to finding fresh solutions of old problems. Categorical aids include those to the Blind, Disabled, Child Welfare, Dependent Children, Indians, Old-Age and Medical Assistance.

The budget allows for some increase in benefits to children. At the same time there are now fewer Iowans on old age assistance rolls. Our "hold the line" approach in this area is complicated by a significant reduction in federal funds available to Iowa, because of an allocation formula which penalizes states like Iowa with its per capita income base. I am making some provision for a work incentive plan, whose excellent purpose is to help persons while they are learning new skills for future employment.

For the Divisions of Mental Health, Mental Retardation, Adult Corrections, and Family and Children's Services, I am asking that present levels be fully maintained or even raised. Great strides were taken in the past two biennia—particularly in mental retardation—to better serve Iowans less fortunate than ourselves. My request carries out this mandate from previous legislatures and from the people themselves. While new programs are not as plentiful as they would be if we were endowed with more money, careful selection has been made, and innovations are included in this budget request. I have proposed and now highly commend the establishment of a pilot Youth Forest Camp, which can point the way to eliminating—or greatly shrinking—our juvenile training schools.

The proposed Youth Forest Camp illustrates how far Iowa has moved toward new horizons in providing correction, help and care for those who need it most. We are working through a maze of old custodial concepts toward creative new programs which strike at the causes, rather than symptoms, of deep-seated human problems. But no one in Iowa, or anywhere else, has found a single "correct" or "perfect" formula. No one ever will. Rather, a series of programs—some old, some exploratory—will have to be developed throughout the many levels of government, and with the cooperation of all of them. No state is an island isolated from the rest of society. Iowa has led the way to some promising results—especially in its organizational structure of Social Services—but the returns are not all in. A prime objective of my administration is to improve our performance in caring for those less fortunate than ourselves, so that Iowa may come close to achieving the ultimate goals in this field.

PUBLIC SAFETY

The core agency in this area is the Department of Public Safety, which is responsible for highway safety, central crime investigation, motor vehicle registration, and central fire prevention. For budget-making purposes, Public Safety offers more options than any other department. The options which I consider most pressing are contained in this budget request.

Federal funds are available—and more will become available—through the Highway Safety Act and the Omnibus Crime Bill. We must be able to match those funds with state moneys and services. Accordingly, I have provided that $200,000 per year be earmarked to insure the match. From those joint federal-state funds, the National Crime Information Center will become a reality by the end of this biennium, and the State Crime System will also be in operation. Those systems—fully mechanized by use of computers, teletype, and radio equipment—will greatly strengthen the law enforcement muscle of state and local police agencies. Rather than many additional men, we are committed to making the present staff more effective with the best possible equipment.

The 1967 General Assembly wisely provided funds for construction of a Law Enforcement Academy at Camp Dodge. The Academy's greatest need at this time is for adequate educational staff, which—under my request—will include nine persons. I further ask for four additional agents—including two specialists—for the Bureau of Criminal Investigation, to add to Statewide Central Services. With the same purpose of furnishing the tools which modern law enforcement must have, the budget includes funds for purchasing crime laboratory services at the University of Iowa Center. This utilizes existing facilities instead of the costly approach of establishing an independent laboratory.

The budget also has an item of $100,000 per year for drivers' license photographs which will supply ready identification and aid in law enforcement. If this sum does not cover all costs related to such photos, the rest of the expense could be met with a very small increase—not exceeding 25 cents—in the driver's license fee.

The entire State Police Radio System, and its operation, require our attention. While the present system is moving toward obsolescence, it is operable for several more years. Therefore, I am again giving priority to personnel, by requesting funds for fifteen additional radio operators, who will insure that the radio system is "up" at all times. Again, this request ties in directly with modernization of state and national police networks, which will also include additional equipment in the Central Data Processing Center, financed through the budget for the Comptroller's office.

My whole package of askings for law enforcement includes many direct, tangible benefits for local government in Iowa. Every local law officer will have improved tools for coping with his day-to-day problems, as a result of the expanded Police Academy, the Police Network, and a beefed-up state staff of Criminal Investigators.

EDUCATION

In no single field can we afford to short the future. Nowhere is this truer than in education, where Iowa must maintain the gains which you in the Legislature have struggled so hard to achieve. Thus, over half of this budget is allotted to the education of Iowa youth.

And yet it is in this section of the budget that I have faced my most difficult decisions. For elementary and secondary education, a school equalization aid bill was passed two years ago, and we are solemnly obligated to carry out the funding of that program. Scholarship programs have been initiated, and must not be dropped. No additional state funds are needed, however, to maintain Iowa's guaranteed Student Loan Program.

State aid to Drivers' Education and Education and Training of the Handicapped will not be slighted with any budgetary cuts.

Area Community Colleges meet a need for training young people that is not satisfied elsewhere. To provide this necessary training and to develop a skilled work force that in turn attracts more jobs, I have provided a substantial 60 percent increase.

The state shares the tremendous burden of local school costs in two basic ways—the State Equalization Aid, and the sharing of income taxes collected in each school district. I recommend that this relief to local school districts be increased by over $24 million per year. This increase keeps faith with the intent of all of us to share costs of local schools. Taking into consideration such indirect aids as Agriculture Land Tax Credit and 60 percent Homestead and Personal Property Tax Credits, the rate of state assistance will exceed 40 percent.

The 1967 General Assembly enacted legislation for a statewide television and radio system and provided $300,000 to finance initial phases of the program. I now request funds to operate this system's Production Center in Des Moines plus $500,000 in capital funds to build Transmitting Facilities for Channel 12 near Iowa City. With those facilities, over half of the students in Iowa will be within range of this Central Network.

In establishing appropriation standards for the three state universities, my main concern is to insure high educational standards and adequate facilities. This budget provides for an increase of more than $9.8 million per year—or 12 percent—over the current biennium and will bring the total Board of Regents appropriation to $91.5 million per year.

In addition, I am recommending that long-range financing legislation be enacted so as to provide additional physical facilities as required at our universities. This legislation will insure a planned building program, financed by those who reap the benefits.

The Legislature should be the decision-making authority for the issuance of capital improvement bonds by each institution and you might want to consider the possibility of bonding for a Western Iowa College.

To maximize the use of all higher educational facilities in the state, I am recommending a program of state tuition grants to Iowa students matriculating at Iowa's twenty-eight private colleges and universities which grant Baccalaureate Degrees. This program can be initiated in the coming biennium at a rate of $3 million per year. I have provided for that sum in the budget for this important step.

CONSERVATION

The past two biennia have seen increased spending for both operations and capital purposes in the area of Conservation with the aim of improving recreational facilities available to our citizens. This budget provides adequate funds to improve our state parks and waters. Moreover, six and one-half million dollars remain unspent for recreational capital improvements. These available funds will be used to enhance our state's outdoor facilities.

For the long-range upgrading of the State Parks System, I believe that small "user fees" should be established. This method has been successful in other states and Conservation Commission personnel estimate that as much as $1 million per year could be raised by a modest fee for use of our parks.

HIGHWAYS

Construction and maintenance of Iowa highways are not financed from the general fund of the state but are financed from user fees, principally gas taxes and auto registrations. I am requesting funds to complete the initial Interstate System and begin the Cedar Valley Freeway System which will serve the Cedar Rapids area.

For the development of our state and the safety of our citizens, it is imperative that we advance our highway construction program as rapidly as possible.

Further, I have included late in these budget deliberations an additional $4.0 million per year to support new construction and federal funds allocated for the construction of the Interstate System.

This will be accomplished with no increased or new taxes.

At this time it is not possible to appropriate directly to the functional areas of the Commission budget but implementation of these federal funds is provided.

These total funds appropriated to the Highway Commission will support the basic five year program as established by the Commission.

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS

Historically, Iowa has paid for capital improvements from revenue surpluses of previous years. During the past two biennia, some $109 million have been spent on capital improvements, principally at Board of Regents Institutions, Social Services Facilities, and Conservation Facilities. This has been referred to as "catch up" expenditures.

Based on present projected estimates, we cannot look forward to surplus funds above necessary working balances during the next biennium—either on July 1 of this year or at any time in the following two years. Accordingly, capital appropriations this time are primarily limited to implementing programs to which we are committed.

To meet the capital improvements of our Board of Regents schools I have already recommended long-range financing through bonding.

EMPLOYEE SALARIES AND BENEFITS

In nearly all of my budget askings, recommended salaries have been projected from the most current information available in this field. The most recent Iowa study has provided a uniform classification plan, with pay increments. The purpose of the study was to relate the pay of Iowa state employees to that received for comparable services in private business and other state governments.

Besides dealing with direct salaries, my recommendations include three additional fringe benefits:

First, establishment and financing of a group life insurance program, with maximum benefits of approximately $5,000.

Second, amendments to the Iowa Public Employees Retirement System (IPERS) to increase the formula benefits upon retirement by 20 percent. If we act now, this will be effective for employees retiring after January 1, 1970. This improvement can be accomplished with no additional cost to the state. Moreover, the maximum salary contribution level should be raised to that of the Federal Social Security Act, at a cost to the state general fund of approximately $140,000 per year.

Third, expansion of the present vacation schedule to provide three weeks of vacation after five years of employment. We must attract competent people to state government and then retain them. I believe that these three steps will strengthen the state's position in competing for able employees.

TAXATION

An unsuccessful and unsound part of the 1967 Tax Revision and School Legislation was the so-called Sales Tax Credit. It is a classic example of hell being paved with good intentions. It had the commendable purpose of relieving the load on low-income citizens but the method was illogical and self-defeating. Thousands of credits were claimed by school-age dependents of middle- and upper-income families, simply because those dependents were casual and occasional wage earners, often for only a few dollars a year. Still worse, the Sales Tax Credit was claimed by hundreds of persons with more than $20,000 in adjusted gross income, and—incredible as it may seem—the credit was also claimed by 16 persons with income of $150,000 or more. And it was paid.

There can be no valid defense of a tax credit which went so far afield from its intended objective of helping the poor, especially when we bear in mind that many low-income people probably had to pay nearly as much as their credit in order to have their income tax return properly prepared. The 1967 Sales Tax Credit was too often a windfall for the well-to-do and too seldom a real help to the needy.

Therefore, I recommend that this unfair credit be repealed for all years, including 1968. In order to establish an equitable state system of personal income taxation, I ask this Legislature to adopt an income tax schedule which will be a percentage of the taxpayer's federal income tax payment, making use of a simplified, so-called "postcard" return. As part of that procedure, no state income tax at all should be levied against persons whose federal income tax is $100 or less. This exemption will achieve in practical fashion the purpose for which the Sales Tax Credit was designed but dismally failed to achieve. The loss of state income caused by exempting federal income taxpayers of $100 or less from all Iowa income tax will be offset by fixing the percentage of federal income tax payable as Iowa tax at a level which will approximately equal total receipts from the present state Personal Income Tax Law.

REVENUE

This budget recommends that all appropriations be financed from current revenue, with no additional taxation.

Furthermore, some of the Service Taxes enacted by the last General Assembly have proven to be extremely distasteful to our people and exceedingly harmful to the economic growth of our state. These should be repealed.

The most detrimental of these is the tax on new construction. I believe the intent of most Legislators was plain; new construction was to be exempt. I agree with that intent and ask for prompt repeal of this tax.

I also urge that the tax on advertising, which has run into legal complications, the tax on farm processing, which is not being collected, and the tax on municipal services be removed from the Code.

I am sure that repeal of these taxes, coupled with the implementation of other forward-looking programs previously mentioned, will stimulate Iowa's economic growth, encourage more business and more jobs—thereby producing more tax revenues from a broader tax base.

The price of liquor in Iowa has not risen as it has in other states and should be increased approximately five percent. Not only will the cities and towns benefit by about $250,000 a year from that price increase but the state general fund will receive about $2.5 million per year without upsetting the competitive position of state liquor sales.

I further recommend that Drivers' Education Aid be paid from highway funds so that the costs of this program will be more closely related to road user revenues.

In determining an economic growth projection for this budget, each revenue source was analyzed in the light of historical patterns and also according to state and national potentials and expectations. The resultant estimated growth rate is nearly six percent per year.

This budget has also been developed to achieve a balanced revenue expenditure position in the next biennium, without placing additional and increased burdens on Iowa taxpayers.

CONCLUSION

The austere condition of the Iowa State Treasury at the beginning of this administration denies me the pleasurable experience of past Governors, who could present budget documents which included visions of beautiful buildings and broad new programs at substantial cost.

This budget has had to be constructed in the realization that taxpayers are increasingly restive about the loads they are required to carry at all levels of government. I hope that this budget will be a guideline by which every governmental body in Iowa can appraise its costs in relation to the services which it is providing. Certainly, all governmental bodies are taxing the same people.

Concluding, let me explain that this message has not been a catalog of every single item in the budget. Any attempt to overwhelm you with such a message would have had one of two results: either I would have found myself talking to an empty room, or you would invoke Article III, Sections 19 and 20, of the Constitution of Iowa against me. Either fate would be justified.

To avoid it, I have discussed only selectively those portions of the budget which seemed to call for explanation or amplification. For the total picture, I present the entire budget document to the detailed study which I know you will give it.

To me, and—I'm sure—to you, this budget presents a challenge; to sort out our goals in the order of their importance; to allocate funds truly on the basis of need; to get the most service from the fewest dollars. Undertaken in that spirit, this can be a rewarding experience for you as Legislators, for me as Governor, and for all Iowans as Citizens, while we join together in moving Iowa ahead on the path to greatness.

McCartney of Floyd moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

POINT OF PERSONAL PRIVILEGE

Bergman of Lyon-Osceola rose on a point of personal privilege to announce that Alan Cox of Ashton, Iowa, who is a student at Westmar College, LeMars, Iowa, has completed his four-week study of the Iowa legislature. This was done with faculty approval under the 4-1-4 program of the college.

Mr. Cox briefly addressed the House.

Bergman of Lyon-Osceola asked and received unanimous consent that the following remarks by Mr. Cox be printed in the House Journal:

Mr. Speaker, Honorable Ladies and Gentlemen of the House:

I would like to humbly say "thank you" for allowing me to observe and study the workings of your honorable chamber.

Learning is a process of asking questions, and having those questions answered. I deeply appreciate having those questions answered by a well-staffed "faculty" who are most experienced and capable of answering questions concerning the legislative process. And believe me, you are knowledgeable about the process in which you serve. Everything one learns doesn't necessarily have to come from a book, as I have found out. Books are great guides, but are a poor substitution for experience.

As each of you is knowledgeable about the process which you serve, you are also unique, as the honorable gentleman from Fremont-Mills, Mr. Harbor, said at the beginning of this session. Your unique quality is that you are concerned and determined to make Iowa the best state in the nation. I hope your determination isn't discouraged.

As I head back to college to resume my academic studies, memories of this month will not fade fast. I will always remember the people of the Sixty-third General Assembly as the most ethical, determined, cooperative, understanding, and friendly people I have ever met.

Some members have apologized to me that they are sorry that I cannot be here at a later time, because this month has been devoted to the organization of the House. Nothing is further from the truth. The House has been most active, and I am glad that I have had the opportunity to listen to two governors deliver three of Iowa's most important speeches—the state of the state speech, the inaugural address, and the budget message.

The only regret that I have had, during this month, is this day. For this day marks the conclusion of an interesting study of my state's legislature. Thank you, again, for making this "happening" a pleasant and informative one.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Varley of Adair-Madison offered the following House memorial resolution and moved its adoption:

HOUSE MEMORIAL RESOLUTION

Whereas, The Honorable Alvin P. Meyer, of Madison County, who was a member of the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, and Sixtieth Extra sessions of the General Assembly, passed away on October 21, 1967; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, That a committee of three be appointed by the Speaker of the House to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating his life, character and service to the state.

Motion prevailed and the Speaker appointed as such committee Varley of Adair-Madison, Rodgers of Dallas and Middleswart of Warren.

Schroeder of Pottawattamie offered the following House concurrent resolution:

By Schroeder

Whereas, there has not been a major revision of the Code of Iowa since 1924; and

Whereas, it is apparent that several chapters of the Code contain several hundred sections and are in need of rearrangement, division, and substantive revision in order to make the Code more understandable, easier to amend, and useful; and

Whereas, there are many outdated and obsolete provisions in the Code which can be removed only by legislative action; and

Whereas, past experience indicates that revision cannot be conducted through the efforts of disjointed and piecemeal efforts; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the General Assembly instruct the appropriate standing committees of each house acting jointly to commence formulating a plan for revision and reorganization of the Code of Iowa; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the committees hold hearings and invite and receive recommendations from legislators, officials of the state and political subdivisions, members of the Iowa state bar association, members of the judiciary, publishers of state codes, and other knowledgeable persons, for the purpose of developing a plan for revision and reorganization of the Code; and

Be It Further Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the committee in developing such plan to consider the elimination of all obsolete and redundant provision; correction of errors and inconsistencies, elimination of duplications and laws repealed by implication; correction of defective section structure in arrangement of the subject matter of existing statutes; clarification of existing laws and such similar matters as the committee shall deem proper for the purpose of clarifying the intent, effect, and meaning of any and every statutory provision; and

Be It Further Resolved, That it shall be the duty of the committee to further consider the manner of publication of the Code, whether a complete revision of the entire Code should be undertaken or whether such Code should be revised by divisions over a period of years, the appointment of a special committee of citizens and legislators and such other persons experienced and knowledgeable in the field of code revision and reorganization; and

Be It Further Resolved, That the appropriate committees shall submit a report to the General Assembly meeting in January, 1970, containing a plan for the revision of the Code of Iowa, an estimate of costs, recommendations for staff assistance, and such other information as deemed necessary.

Laid over under Rule 25.

RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE

IN THE MATTER OF THE

RULES OF CIVIL PROCEDURE AND RULES FOR COURT ADMINISTRATION

REPORT OF SUPREME COURT

To the Sixty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

I.

Pursuant to Sections 684.18 and 684.19 Code 1966, the Supreme Court of Iowa has prescribed and hereby reports to the General Assembly the following amendments to existing rules of civil procedure:

Rule 333 is amended to read:

333. Amount in controversy. Except where the action involves an interest in real estate, no appeal shall be taken in any case where the amount in controversy, as shown by the pleadings, is less than one thousand dollars, unless the trial judge, within thirty days after the judgment or order is entered, certifies that the cause is one in which appeal should be allowed. The right of appeal is not affected by any remission of any part of the verdict or judgment.

COMMENT: This increases the minimum amount in controversy from three hundred to one thousand dollars in an action from which appeal will lie where an interest in real estate is not involved and the trial judge does not certify the cause is one in which an appeal should be allowed.

Rule 335 is amended to read:

335. Time for Appeal.

(a) Appeals to the supreme court must be taken within, and not after, thirty days from the entry of the order, judgment or decree, unless a motion for new trial or judgment notwithstanding the verdict is filed as provided in rule 247, and then within thirty days after the entry of the ruling on such motion; provided however that where an application to the supreme court or any justice thereof to grant an appeal under rule 332 is made within thirty days from the date of such ruling or decision any appeal allowed upon such application shall be deemed timely taken.

Provided further that if the supreme court or any justice determines that the order or decision from which application to appeal under rule 332 is timely made is a final judgment or decision from which appeal would lie under rule 331 an appeal therefrom shall also be deemed timely taken and perfected when the order making such determination is filed with the clerk of the supreme court and the provisions of rule 336(b) and (c) shall apply.

Provided however a cross-appeal may be taken within said thirty-day period, or in any event within five days after the appeal is taken.

(b) No appeal from a judgment, ruling or order taken after it has actually been made by the trial court shall be held insufficient because the clerk of the trial court has not recorded such judgment, ruling or order upon the court records at the time the appeal is taken, if it shall appear that such record has been made before appellant's proposed abstract on such appeal is filed with said clerk.

COMMENT: Rule 336 abolishes notices of appeal which have been allowed by the supreme court or taken from what is determined to be a final judgment under rule 335(a), so the clause in former rule 335 as to such notices is here eliminated.

New clause (b) reinstates the substance of Section 12839 of the 1939 Code which was inadvertently repealed in the Appendix to the Rules.

Rule 336 is amended to read:

336. How taken.

(a) Appeal other than those allowed by order under rule 332 or rule 335 is taken and perfected by filing a notice with the clerk of the court where the order, judgment or decree was entered, signed by the appellant or his attorney. It shall specify the parties taking the appeal, and the decree, judgment, order or part thereof appealed from. The clerk shall forthwith mail or deliver a copy of such notice to the attorneys for all parties of record other than appellant, or to any such party who has no attorney of record, at his last known address. No failure of the clerk to mail or deliver any notice shall affect the validity of the appeal.

(b) Interlocutory appeal under rule 332 shall be deemed taken and perfected when the order allowing it is filed with the clerk of the supreme court. No notice of such appeal is necessary. The time for any further proceeding on such appeal which would run from the notice of appeal shall run from the date such order is so filed.

(c) The clerk of the supreme court shall promptly transmit a copy of such order to the attorneys of record and the clerk of the trial court; but no delay in so doing shall affect the validity of the appeal if the copy is filed before the abstract on such appeal is filed under rule 340(a).

COMMENT: Notice of appeal for an interlocutory appeal or one de-terminated to be from a final judgment or decision as provided in rule 335(a) is abolished because the order allowing it gives ample notice to all interested parties. Filing the order with the trial court will sufficiently apprise that court of the appeal.

Time for some further proceedings which now runs from the notice of appeal will run from the supreme court order.

II.

The rules of court administration and amendments to certain rules of civil procedure to conform therewith, adopted by the supreme court under the provisions of Chapter 401, Laws of the Sixty-second General Assembly, made effective January 1, 1968, are being reported pursuant to Section 684.19 Code 1966, as required by said Chapter 401, in order to make them effective after July 1, 1969. They are as follows:

Rule 373. Purpose of Administrative Rules. The purpose of all rules for court administration shall be to provide for the administration of justice in an orderly, efficient and effective manner, in accordance with the highest standards of justice and judicial service.

Rule 374. Supervision of Courts. The supreme court, by and through the chief justice, shall exercise supervisory and administrative control over all trial courts in the state, and over the judges and other personnel thereof, including but not limited to authority to make and issue any order a chief judge may make under Rule 377, or to modify, amend or revoke any such order or court schedule.

Rule 375. Recall and Transfer of Judges. The supreme court by and through the chief justice may at any time order the recall of eligible retired judges for active service, and the transfer of active judges and other court personnel from one judicial district to another to provide a sufficient number of judges to handle the judicial business in all districts promptly and efficiently.

Rule 376. Selection of Chief Judges. Not later than December 15 in each odd numbered year the chief justice, with the approval of the supreme court, shall appoint from the district judges of each district one of their number to serve as chief judge. The judge so appointed shall serve for a two-year term and shall be eligible for reappointment. Vacancies in the office of chief judge shall be filled in the same manner within 30 days after the vacancy occurs. Provided if there is a vacant judgeship in a district, the chief judge therein shall be appointed within 30 days after such vacancy is filled by qualification of the appointee. During any period of vacancy the judge of longest service in the district shall be the acting chief judge.

Rule 377. Duties and Powers of Chief Judges. In addition to their ordinary judicial duties, chief judges shall exercise continuing administrative supervision within their respective districts over all district courts, judges, officials and employees thereof for the purposes stated in Rule 373. They shall by order fix times and places of holding court and designate the respective presiding judges; they shall supervise and direct the performance of all administrative business of their district courts; they may conduct judicial conferences of their district judges to consider, study and plan for improvement of the administration of justice; and may make such administrative orders as necessary. No chief judge shall at any time direct or influence any judge in any ruling or decision in any proceeding or matter whatsoever.

Rule 378. Court and Trial Sessions. Chief judges shall by order provide for:

(a) A court session by a district judge at least once each week in each county of the district, announced in advance in the form of a written or printed schedule, provided that, if in the opinion of the chief judge more efficient operations in the district will result, such court sessions may be at different intervals than once each week.

(b) Additional sessions in each county for the trial of cases, and other judicial matters, of such duration and frequency as will best serve to expeditiously dispose of pending cases ready for trial, and other pending judicial matters.

Rule 379. Order appointing Chief Judges. The order appointing chief judges shall be filed with the clerk of the supreme court who shall mail certified copies to the clerk of each district court.

Rule 380. Judicial Council. There is hereby created a judicial council composed of all chief judges and the chief justice, or his designee, who shall be the chairman. The council shall convene not less than twice each year at such times and places as the chairman shall order. The council shall consider all court administrative rules, directives and regulations for the achievement of the purposes stated in Rule 373 and may propose to the supreme court such rules as deemed appropriate.

Rule 117. Motion days—disposition of motions.

Amend paragraph (a) of Rule 117 by:

1. Striking the word "judges" from line one (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the words "chief judge".

2. Striking the word "rule" from line two (2) and inserting in lieu thereof the word "order".

3. Striking the word "ten" from line five (5) and inserting in lieu thereof the word "five".

Rule 181.2. Trial assignments.

Amend paragraph (a) of Rule 181.2 by:

1. Striking the first sentence and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

"On each court day in each county or at such other times as the chief judge shall order the judges shall examine the pending criminal cases and those civil cases on the ready calendar list which have been certified by one of the parties for a period of twenty days and rule on all objections permitted under Rule 181. In the event an examination of the papers in the case discloses that a case is ready for trial and the matters certified in the ready certificates have been completed, he shall place the case on a trial list for disposition at the next trial session to be held in that county and direct that notice be given the attorneys of record that said case is subject to trial at any time thereafter. By oral or written agreement of the parties the chief judge may specially assign a case for trial on a day certain. Any judge presiding at a trial session may make such assignment for a day certain during the session."

2. Striking from the last sentence of said paragraph (a) the words "in like manner".

Further amend Rule 181.2 by striking all of paragraphs (b) and (c) and substituting the following:

"(b) The chief judge shall designate trial sessions in the various counties in the district at such times as the business in each county shall require and shall assign a judge to try such cases as are placed on the trial list or assigned for trial under the provisions of this rule. The designation of trial sessions shall be as long in advance as is compatible with a speedy and efficient administration of justice and a minimum of conflict with previous commitments of time of parties, witnesses and attorneys. The chief judge shall direct that notice of the trial session so designated shall be given to attorneys of record in cases on the trial list."

Rule 215.1. Uniform rule for dismissal for want of prosecution.

Amend the second paragraph of Rule 215.1 by striking the first two (2) sentences and substituting the following in lieu thereof:

"All cases at law or in equity where the petition has been filed more than one year prior to July 15 of any year shall be for trial at any time prior to January 1 of the next succeeding year. The clerk shall prior to August 15 of each year give notice to counsel of record as provided in Rule 82 of:

- (a) the docket number,
- (b) the names of parties,
- (c) counsel appearing,
- (d) date of filing petition, and the notice shall state that such case will be for trial and subject to dismissal if not tried prior to January 1 of the next succeeding year pursuant to this rule."

Further amend Rule 215.1 by striking the words "or term" from line four (4) of the next to the last paragraph thereof.

Rule 372. Rules by trial courts.

Amend Rule 372 by inserting after the word "practice" in line four (4) thereof the words "and administration".

III.

Consideration of the unified court bill is of course a matter for determination of the General Assembly, not for this court. Without expressing approval or disapproval of any provision of the bill, the supreme court has prescribed and reports to the General Assembly rules of civil procedure to be effective in the event the Sixty-third General Assembly adopts the unified court bill. These rules prescribing procedure for the handling of small claims and amendments to certain existing rules to conform therewith, are as follows:

DIVISION XX SMALL CLAIMS

Rule 381. Commencement, Docket. Civil actions in which the amount in controversy in money or value is less than $300, exclusive of interest and costs, shall be known as small claims. All such actions shall be commenced by the filing of an original notice with the clerk and by the mailing by the clerk of a copy of same to each defendant at his last known address, as stated in the original notice, by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested. Instead of such mailing, the plaintiff may, after filing the original notice with the clerk, cause a copy of same to be served on all or some defendants in the manner provided in Division III of these rules, whereupon rules 48 and 49 shall be applicable as to the defendants to be so served. The clerk shall maintain a book known as the small claims docket, which shall contain as to small claims the matters contained in the combination docket as to the regular civil actions.

Rule 382. Original Notice. The original notice must be mailed or otherwise served not less than 10 nor more than 20 days prior to the hearing date. The original notice and copies shall be signed by the plaintiff, either in person or by attorney, and shall be in substantially the following form:

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF IOWA IN AND FOR COUNTY

Plaintiff(s)

Rule 383. Function of Clerk. The clerk shall furnish forms for original notice. At the time of filing, the clerk shall enter on the original notice and the copies to be served the file number and the time and place of hearing, which shall be a time when small claims are scheduled to be heard not less than 10 nor more than 20 days after the date on which the notice will be mailed or otherwise served. The clerk shall mail a copy of the original notice to each defendant by restricted, certified mail, return receipt to the clerk requested, except for defendants whom the plaintiff wishes to serve under Division III of these rules. The clerk shall inform plaintiff of the time and place fixed for the hearing.

Rule 384. Fees, Costs. Fees and costs shall be one-half of fees and costs in regular civil actions in district court.

Rule 385. Pleadings. Except as provided in rules 382 and 386, there shall be no written pleadings or motions unless the court in the interest of justice requires them, in which event they shall be similar in form to the original notice.

Rule 386. Joinder, Counterclaim, Cross Claim, Intervention.

(a) Division II of these rules and rule 75 shall be applicable to small claims actions, except that rule 29 shall not apply to actions originating as small claims actions.

(b) In small claims actions, if a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, the court shall (1) order the small claim to be heard under this division and dismiss the other claim without prejudice, or (2) as to parties who have appeared or are existing parties, either (a) order the small claim to be heard under this division and the other claim to be tried by regular procedure or (b) order both claims to be tried by regular procedure.

(c) In small claims actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be in writing and similar in form to the original notice, and shall be entitled Original Notice of Counterclaim, of Cross Claim, or of Intervention, as the case may be. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties may be brought in without order and shall be served with notice as provided in rules 381 and 382; and if notice is to be served by mail the clerk shall collect the cost of mailing before filing the pleading. The clerk shall furnish forms of such pleadings. No counterclaim is necessary to assert an offset arising out of the subject of the plaintiff's claim.

(d) In small claims actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in a greater amount than a small claim shall be in the form of a regular pleading. A copy shall be filed for each existing party. New parties, when permitted by order, may be brought in under rule 34 and shall be given notice under Division III of these rules. The court shall either (1) order such counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention to be tried by regular procedure and the other claim to be heard under this division, or (2) order the entire action to be tried by regular procedure.

(e) In regular actions, when a party joins a small claim with one which is not a small claim, regular procedure shall apply to both unless the court transfers the small claim to the small claims docket for hearing under this division.

(f) In regular actions, a counterclaim, cross claim, or intervention in the amount of a small claim shall be pleaded, tried, and determined by regular procedure, unless the court transfers such small claim to the small claims docket for hearing under this division.

(g) Pleadings which are not in correct form under this rule shall be ordered amended so as to be in correct form; but a small claim which is proceeding under this division need not be amended although in the form of a regular pleading.

(h) Copies of any papers filed by the parties which are not required to be served shall be mailed or delivered by the clerk as provided in rule 82.

Rule 387. Proof of Service. At the time for hearing the court or clerk shall first determine that proper notice has been given a party before proceeding further as to him unless he has appeared or is an existing party, and also that the action is properly brought as a small claim.

Rule 388. Default. Unless good cause to the contrary appears, (1) if the parties fail to appear at the time of hearing the claim shall be dismissed without prejudice by the court or clerk; (2) if the plaintiff fails to appear but the defendant appears, the claim shall be dismissed with prejudice by the court or clerk; and (3) if the plaintiff appears but the defendant fails to appear, judgment shall be rendered against the defendant by the court, or by the clerk if the relief to be granted is readily ascertainable. The filing by the plaintiff of a verified account, or an instrument in writing for the payment of money with an affidavit the same is genuine, shall constitute an appearance by plaintiff for the purpose of this rule. At the request of either party, the court shall grant such party one continuance to a day certain.

Rule 389. Hearing. The time for appearance shall be the time for hearing, unless a continuance has been granted under rule 388. The hearing shall be to the court, shall be simple and informal, and shall be conducted by the court itself, without regard to technicalities of procedure; but the decision must be based on substantial evidence. The court shall swear the parties and their witnesses, and examine them in such way as to bring out the truth. The parties may participate, either personally or by attorney. The court may continue the hearing from time to time if justice requires. The proceedings shall not be reported unless a party provides a reporter at his own expense or the parties by agreement cause the proceedings to be electronically reported, but there shall be no delay for such purpose.

Rule 390. Judgment, Minutes.

(a) The judgment shall be entered in a space on the original notice first filed, and the clerk shall immediately enter the judgment in the small claims docket and district court lien book, without recording. Such relief shall be granted as is appropriate. The court may enter judgment for installment payments to be made directly by the party obligated to the party entitled thereto; and in such event execution shall not issue as long as such payments are made but execution shall issue for the full unpaid balance of the judgment upon the filing of an affidavit of default. When entered on the small claims docket and district court lien book, a small claims judgment shall constitute a lien to the same extent as regular judgments entered on the district court judgment docket and lien book; but if a small claims judgment requires installment payments, it shall not be enforceable or a lien until an affidavit of default is filed, whereupon it shall be enforceable and a lien for the full unpaid balance of the judgment.

(b) Unless the hearing is reported, minutes of the testimony of each witness and of any stipulations of the parties shall likewise be entered on the original notice first filed; and the exhibits or copies thereof shall be attached to such original notice or be filed, until released by the court.

Rule 391. Other Statutes and Rules. Small claims shall be commenced, heard, and determined in accordance with this division. Other statutes and rules relating to civil proceedings shall apply, but only insofar as not inconsistent with this division. Small claims on file for 90 days and not determined shall be dismissed without prejudice at plaintiff's costs unless prior thereto a party secures an order of continuance to a date certain after notice and hearing, upon a ground stated in rule 215.1. All claims in probate in the amount of small claims shall be filed in the probate proceedings as provided by the Iowa Probate Code. If a request for hearing is filed by the claimant as provided by the Iowa Probate Code, the court may transfer the contested claim to the small claims docket and the hearing thereon shall proceed as provided in this division. Any judgment entered in favor of the claimant shall have the effect of allowing the claim against the estate, but no execution shall issue on such judgment. Civil actions coming within this division but commenced as a regular action shall not be dismissed, but shall be transferred to the small claims docket and proceed accordingly. Civil and probate actions not coming within this division but commenced hereunder shall be dismissed without prejudice except for defendants who have appeared, as to whom such actions shall be transferred to the combination or probate docket, as appropriate, and proceed accordingly.

Rule 121. Interrogatories—time—nature.

Amend Rule 121 by striking from lines one (1) and two (2), Chapter 475, Laws of the Sixty-second General Assembly the words "actions in Justice Court or Class B actions in Municipal Court" and substituting the words, "small claims" in lieu thereof.

Rule 181.2. Trial assignments.

Amend Rule 181.2(a) by striking from line two (2) the words "and superior"; and by striking the last sentence of said paragraph (a).

Rule 309. The writ.

Amend Rule 309 by striking from line three (3) the words "or municipal or superior court".

Rules 354, 355, 356, 357, 358, 359, 360, 361, 362, 363, 364, and 365 are annulled.

Rule 372. Rules by trial courts.

Amend Rule 372 by striking from lines one (1) and two (2) the words "superior and municipal".

The rules for small claims procedure and amendments to existing rules appearing in this part III of the report shall become effective on January 1, 1971, if the bill for a unified trial court is enacted by the Sixty-third General Assembly, otherwise they shall be void and of no effect.

By Strothman, Varley, Stokes, Fisher of Greene,

Campbell, Shepherd, Kitner, Winkelman,
Priebe, Mohrfeld, Lipsky and Walter

Whereas, chemical fertilizers, pesticides and other agricultural chemicals are being used increasingly by Iowa's agricultural producers to increase productivity and efficiency; and

Whereas, extensive advertising and sales promotion of these chemicals encourages their use; and

Whereas, many experts and thoughtful citizens believe and contend that widespread use of agricultural chemicals is gradually contaminating soil and water resources; and

Whereas, such contamination is inimical to the interests of conservation of natural resources and could eventually create a health hazard for our citizens; now therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring: That Iowa State University of Science and Technology, through its College of Agriculture and appropriate Research Institutes, is directed to conduct aggressive research to determine whether and to what extent pollution hazards exist from the widespread use of agricultural chemicals in Iowa.

Be It Further Resolved, That the results of such research be made available to the General Assembly of the State of Iowa by January 1, 1970.

By Strothman, Varley, Stokes, Menefee, Langland, Battles, Crabb, Stromer, Holden, Shepherd,
Kitner, Warren, Lippold, Winkelman,
Priebe, Mohrfeld, Corey and Walter

Whereas, agriculture is the backbone of the Iowa economy and modern methods of agriculture require the investment of large amounts of capital; and

Whereas, the obtaining of necessary capital for expanding and modernizing agricultural production depends on the amount of credit available to agricultural producers; and

Whereas, agricultural producers throughout the state need information relating to the availability of capital and credit; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the appropriate standing committees be directed to conduct a study of capital and credit available for agriculture, said committees to consult with legislators and other persons representing the businesses of agriculture and banking.

Be It Further Resolved, That the standing committees be directed to report

By Dougherty, Nelson, Van Roekel, Roorda, Middleswart, Crosier, Graham, Knight, Nielsen, Fisher of Greene,
Gannon, Mayberry, Schwartz, Hamilton, Dietz,
Mendenhall, Campbell, Warren, Bailey and Cochran (McGill, Erskine, Benda, Van Gilst, Shaff, Stephens, Lucken, Denman, Dodds, O'Malley and Keith)

Whereas, littering, the indiscriminate disposing of cans, bottles, garbage, and other rubbish, is becoming commonplace throughout the nation and the state; and

Whereas, littering results in the distraction and destroying of the natural beauty of the landscape and surrounding countryside and in unsightliness in general; and

Whereas, it is general practice for food products and alcoholic beverages to be dispensed in nonredeemable type containers; and

Whereas, it is the growing tendency of soft drink manufacturers and vendors also to dispense their products in nonredeemable type containers; and

Whereas, it is apparent that supervision by governmental bodies and agencies is lacking in providing suitable disposal receptacles, dumping areas, and garbage collection disposal systems for articles of litter; and

Whereas, present laws intended to control littering are generally ignored and evaded; and

Whereas, it is the common practice to dispose of refuse by open burning producing a material annoyance, inconvenience, and discomfort; and

Whereas, littering is directly related to the health, safety, and general welfare of the citizens of the nation and this state; and

Whereas, the progressive use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs is directly related to the health, safety, and general welfare of the citizens of this nation and this state and by their nature require extensive regulation and control in the public interest; and

Whereas, government supervision is required to be close and watchful so as to allow little latitude for malfeasance or misfeasance in the control of littering, the disposal of refuse, and the use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the Iowa Legislative Research Committee, its successor agency, or an appropriate standing committee be directed to conduct, during the interim, a continued study of the littering problem of the state, disposal of refuse practices, and the use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs, the laws relating thereto, and the need for additional legislation to correct these problems.

Be It Further Resolved, That the Legislative Research Committee establish a committee in accordance with section two point fifty-five (2.55) of the Code to assist with the study of hazardous chemicals and drugs.

Be It Further Resolved, That a report of the study findings and recommendations, accompanied by bills incorporating such recommendations, be submitted to the 1970 session of the General Assembly.

Laid over under Rule 25.

Millen of Jefferson-Van Buren, Chairman of the House Ethics Committee, submitted the following report:

MAJORITY REPORT HOUSE ETHICS COMMITTEE

Recognizing that service in the Iowa General Assembly is a part time endeavor and that members of the General Assembly are honorable individuals who are active in the affairs of their localities and elsewhere and that it is necessary that they maintain a livelihood and sources of income apart from their legislative compensation, the following rules are adopted pursuant to chapter 107, Acts of the Sixty-second General Assembly, to assist the members in the conduct of their legislative affairs.

1. Taking into account that legislative service is part time, no legislator

MAJORITY REPORT HOUSE ETHICS COMMITTEE

Recognizing that service in the Iowa General Assembly is a part time endeavor and that members of the General Assembly are honorable individuals who are active in the affairs of their localities and elsewhere and that it is necessary that they maintain a livelihood and sources of income apart from their legislative compensation, the following rules are adopted pursuant to chapter 107, Acts of the Sixty-second General Assembly, to assist the members in the conduct of their legislative affairs.

1. Taking into account that legislative service is part time, no legislator shall accept economic or investment opportunity, under circumstances where he knows, or should know, that there is a reasonable possibility that the opportunity is being afforded him with intent to influence his conduct in the performance of his official duties.

2. No legislator may charge to or accept from a person, corporation, partnership or association known to have a legislative interest a price, fee, compensation or other consideration for the sale or lease of any property or the furnishing of services which is in excess of that which the legislator would charge another.

3. No legislator in order to further his own economic interests, or those of any other person, may disclose or use confidential information acquired in the course of his official duties.

4. A member of the General Assembly may appear before a state agency in any representation case, except that he shall not appear before a state agency if the matter is subject to legislative review. Whenever a member of the General Assembly appears before a state agency, he shall carefully avoid all conduct which might in any way lead members of the general public to conclude that he is using his official position to further his professional success or personal interest.

5. In order to permit the General Assembly to function effectively, legislators will, of necessity, be required to vote on bills and participate in committee work which will affect their employment and other areas in which they may have a monetary interest. Action on bills and committee work which specifically deal with a legislator's specific employment or specific investment, as opposed to a profession, trade, or business in general, should be avoided. In making a decision relating to his activity on given bills or committee work which are subject to this code, the following factors should be considered:

- a. Whether a substantial threat to his independence of judgment has been created by the conflict situation.
- b. The effect of his participation on public confidence in the integrity of the legislature.
- c. Whether his participation is likely to have any significant effect on the disposition of the matter.
- d. The need for his particular contribution, such as special knowledge of the subject matter, to the effective functioning of the legislature.

He need not abstain if he decides to participate in a manner contrary to the economic interest which creates the conflict situation. If he does abstain, he should disclose that fact to his respective legislative body.

The motion prevailed

Millen of Jefferson-Van Buren moved that the following portions of the majority report be adopted:

6. Each legislator shall file with the Clerk of the House within ten days after the adoption of the Code of Ethics by the House, a statement on forms provided by the Clerk of the House setting forth the following information:

- a. The nature of each business in which he is engaged and the nature of the business of each company in which he or his spouse has a financial interest to the extent of $5,000.00 or more in value.
- b. The name of any state or national business or professional association or organization by which he, his partner or associate is employed or retained.
- c. Every office or directorship held by the legislator in any corporation, firm, enterprise, labor union, farm organization, cooperative, church organization, or trade or professional association held during the last twelve months and every membership in such an organization which is engaged in actively supporting or opposing legislation in the General Assembly. President Jepsen introduced Representative W. E. Darrington of Harrison County who addressed the joint convention as follows:

WHAT PATH AMERICA?

Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Speaker of the House, Honorable Members of the Sixty-third General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

In the words of the great biographer and historian on Lincoln, the late Carl Sandburg: "I stand before you with a feeling of Humility rather than Pride."

On this one hundred sixtieth birthday of Abraham Lincoln, I am accepting quite a challenge to do justice to a fellow woodchopper, a fellow legislator and a great President of these United States. One more challenge is to do justice to this honorable body—the Iowa legislature—and, I speak from experience, the greatest in the United States.

Lincoln and I have quite a lot in common. We are not too pleasing to the eye. He wore the same size hat as I do (7½). He was born in a log cabin. My father was born in a log house in Utah and grew up in a log house in northwestern Pottawattamie County in this state, and I might add, that log house still stands. My grandfather, William Darrington I, came to this country from England in 1860 as a young man and lived to be well over ninety. In his later years, he liked to talk about Lincoln, but it seemed that he was so old and I was so young—as the years went by, then I realized my mistake, but it was too late.

Speaking of Lincoln's hat, he had the habit of placing his tall hat upside down in a chair, and one day a lady wearing a large hoop skirt, and not being able to see the hat because of her skirt, sat down on it. When she discovered what she had done, she was terribly embarrassed. Lincoln had a great sense of humor and remarked: "Lady, I could have told you before you tried it on that it wouldn't fit." Thank goodness, the ladies of today are not bothered with that problem.

Let us turn back the pages of history and of time and go back down the path of Lincoln one hundred sixty years to a backwoods cabin in Kentucky on a bed of corn husks and bearskins where Lincoln was born, February 12, 1809.

At the age of six, Abraham started to school to pick up some reading, writing, and ciphering from a teacher, but he seemed to learn more from his surroundings than he did in school. According to Abe, he had only one year of formal schooling. At the age of nine, his mother died and this was a terrible blow to little Abe and the family. Some time later Thomas Lincoln married Sarah Johnston. Strange as it may seem, Abe loved his new mother, and she was very fond of him. To quote her, "He was the best boy I ever saw. I never gave him a cross word in all my life." And Lincoln said of her, "All that I am or hope to be I owe to my angel mother."

In 1834 Lincoln, then twenty-five years old, was elected to the Illinois legislature, one of the youngest men of that body. He served for eight years. During that time, because of his interest and respect for the law, he wrote these words: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to her lisping babe, let it be taught in the schools and colleges, let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs, let it be preached from every pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls and enforced in the courts of Justice. Let it become the political religion of the nation and let old and young, rich and poor, grave and gay sacrifice unceasingly on its altars."

His respect of the law never changed, but as the years passed he advocated that too much government could be a burden and a detriment upon the American way of life. He expressed his feelings on this matter when he said:

"The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done but cannot do at all, or cannot so well do for themselves in their separate and individual capacities. In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere."

In bidding farewell to Springfield, Lincoln shared his innermost thoughts with old friends.

In part, he said: "I now leave, not knowing when or whether ever I may return, with a task before me greater than that which rested upon George Washington. Without the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him, I cannot succeed. With that assistance I cannot fail." Four years and two months later Abraham Lincoln was dead, but the Union again was united.

In his second inaugural address toward the end of the war, Lincoln made this statement: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work that we are in, to bind up not only the wounds of the North and the South, but the wounds of the world. We are not enemies but friends."

In the summer of 1859 during his first campaign for President, Lincoln spoke to the people at Council Bluffs. The friendly Nonpareil praised his speech as "masterly and unanswerable".

No Lincoln Day observance would be complete without turning to November 19, 1863:

"Fourscore and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation, conceived in liberty and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

"Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated can long endure. We are met on a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting-place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

"But, in a larger sense, we cannot dedicate—we cannot consecrate—we cannot hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Lincoln felt badly about his address at Gettysburg. He felt it fell on the audience like a wet blanket and remarked, "I should have prepared it with more care." The first favorable comment came from the Chicago Tribune, and followed by a Massachusetts paper. The comment was, turn back and read it again, it will repay study as a model speech. Strong feelings and a large brain were its parents.

Thank Heaven, the people did heed their advice and it has been read again, and again, and again. Over one hundred six years have passed and we have just read it again.

On April 14 about a week after General Lee surrendered to General Grant, Lincoln and his wife Mary went for a little drive, in a very happy mood. He daydreamed about the future and said to Mary, "We have had a hard time since we came to Washington, but the war is over now and with God's blessing we may hope for four years of peace and happiness, then we will go back to Illinois and pass the rest of our lives in peace and quiet." It was on that fateful evening when he was shot at Ford's Theatre, one hundred four years ago.

The Great Emancipator was carried across the street where on the morning of April 15, 1865 (7:22), he died. Secretary of War Stanton, standing at the foot of the bed, made this never to be forgotten remark: "Now he belongs to the ages." The man Lincoln was dead, but the life he lived and exemplified will live throughout the ages. Between four and five thousand different books have been written about Lincoln which is definite proof that he "belongs to the ages."

In my travels in quite a number of foreign countries, I have found that Abe Lincoln is no stranger in many of those countries. About fifteen years ago, my wife, my sister and I were in Denmark returning a visit to some Danish friends living in a small country town in western Denmark. This friend was a teacher of adult education in this area. I was invited to talk at his school the next morning, and was surprised to see the large map of these United States that was hanging in the front of the room on the blackboard. My Danish friend was interpreter and I was surprised at what they knew about our agriculture, our country and about our great statesmen.

That evening I was taken by my friend to the home of the man who had preceded him as teacher in this school. This man had spent the greater part of his life teaching in this school, and if I ever found an Abraham Lincoln type of a man, he was it. This man was living alone, with the exception of a couple of nice house cats, in a small house not far from the school. This fine old gentleman spent most of his time reading and weaving baskets out of long rye straw. The room was stacked high with books and two kerosene lamps on the table furnished the light. This man's name was Andy Nielsen. He could speak enough English so that he and I could carry on a fair conversation. He apologized for his poor English and remarked that he was his own teacher. The point I wish to bring out is this. He was a self-educated, self-made man. He had a great collection of Lincoln books and literature and knew more about Lincoln than I did at that time. This is further proof that he "belongs to the ages."

Sixty years ago, former President Woodrow Wilson asked this question and then proceeded to answer it: "Can we have other Lincolns? We cannot do without them. This country is going to have crisis after crisis. God send they may not be bloody crises, but they will be intense and acute. No political body so abounding in life and so puzzled by problems as ours is can avoid moving from crisis to crisis. We must have the leadership of sane genial men of universal use like Lincoln to save us from mistakes and give us the necessary leadership in such days of struggle and difficulty."

I could go on with dozens of selected passages from the writings of eminent men about Lincoln, but I will not take the time.

About ten years ago, I was with a small group of Iowa legislators and others traveling in Europe. I want to give you my impressions of East and West Berlin.

I well remember the happenings and events leading up to World War II and, also, the war itself. An atheist disbeliever and mad man known as Hitler succeeded in getting millions of good German people to follow his atheistic madness for world conquest. He was quite a student of world history and delighted in quoting the leading statesmen of the world and then rant and rave and curse them for their good deeds. Abraham Lincoln received his share of cursing and misquotation from this mad man.

After spending a day in East and West Berlin observing the many miles of destruction and rubble, our German guide made this remark with a sigh: "They had a hell of a lesson." Yes, they know what hell is; they lived in it and a few survived. After that terrible lesson, they built a new city in West Berlin and a new Schöneberg City Hall. In this city hall there is a Freedom Bell. The inscription on it, quoting Lincoln: "That this world under God shall have a new birth of freedom."

My closing thought is this quotation by a great statesman and third President of the United States, Thomas Jefferson. "No Democracy can survive without frequent recurrence of the Fundamental Principles."

I was never more sincere or more concerned in my life about the survival of Democracy or about the survival of those great Fundamental Principles that have made America the greatest country in the world than I am today. We are reading and hearing so much about communism these days. Yes, we hear the question asked on radio and television, "What is wrong with communism?"

The Iowa group I was traveling with ten years ago this summer spent ten days behind the Iron Curtain. While we were there, we were taken by our request to a collective farm.

The buildings on this farm were old and run down. The houses were old and not modern and some had thatch or long grass on the roofs. The farm machinery was old and rather crude. They had some pigs that we Iowa farmers would be ashamed to own. The women took care of dairy cows and did the milking. They, also cleaned the barns. On the gable end of the cow barn was a large picture of Lenin. The pictures of Lenin are along the roads and plastered all around in the cities. These farms all have a name. The name of this farm was "The Path of Lenin," and what a path to brag about. I could go on for an hour on this—but, I will say, God help the Russian peasant.

Far too many of our American people are standing at the crossroads. There is a path leading to the left which leads to atheism and socialism which means communism and a dictatorship. A large sign pointing to the left, "The Path of Lenin." There is another path leading to the right which is and has been the greatest way of life the world has ever known. A large sign pointing to the right, "The Path of Lincoln."

My question is, Which Path America?

The path of Lenin or the path of Lincoln?

Which path are we going to follow?

President Jepsen introduced Senator Joseph Flatt of Madison County who presented to the joint convention the members of the Civil War Centennial Commission. After a brief address, Senator Flatt presented the first published copy of the book "Years of Valor" to the author, Mrs. Edith McElroy, who in turn presented the book as a gift to Governor Ray.

The Governor briefly addressed the joint convention.

Senator Flatt also presented a copy of the book to President Jepsen and to Speaker Harbor.

1. Each individual lobbying or attempting to influence legislation on a regular basis, shall, on or before the day his lobbying activity begins, personally register his name and address, and each company, firm, corporation, union, association or cause for which he is lobbying with the Clerk of the House. In addition he shall register with the Clerk of the House the numbers of the bills with regard to which he intends to lobby together with the name of each company, association or cause respectively involved. As such information is received, it shall, from time to time, be distributed to the individual members of the Senate and House whose clerks may then record it on their copies of the related bills.

2. All federal, state, and local employees or officials representing the official positions of their agencies are required to present to the Clerk of the House a letter of authorization from their department or agency heads prior to the time that they do any lobbying. HOUSE CODE OF ETHICS

Members of the House of Representatives As Amended

Recognizing that service in the General Assembly is a part-time endeavor and that members of the General Assembly are honorable individuals who are active in the affairs of their localities and elsewhere, and that it is necessary for them to maintain a livelihood and sources of income apart from their legislative compensation, the following rules are adopted pursuant to chapter one hundred seven (107), Acts of the Sixty-second General Assembly, to assist the members in the conduct of their legislative affairs.

1. While taking into account the fact that legislative service is only part-time, no member of the House shall accept economic or investment opportunity under circumstances where he knows, or should know, that there is a reasonable possibility that the opportunity is being afforded him with intent to influence his conduct in the performance of his official duties.

2. No member of the House may charge to or accept from a person, corporation, partnership, or corporation known to have a legislative interest, a price, fee, compensation, or other consideration for the sale or lease of any property or the furnishing of services which is in excess of that which such member would ordinarily charge another.

3. No member of the House, in order to further his own economic interests, or those of any other person, may disclose or use confidential information acquired in the course of his official duties.

4. A member of the House may appear before a state agency in any representation case, except that he shall not appear before a state agency if the matter is subject to legislative review. Whenever a member of the House appears before a state agency he shall carefully avoid all conduct which might in any way lead members of the general public to conclude that he is using his official position to further his professional success or general interest.

5. In order to permit the General Assembly to function effectively, members of the House will, of necessity, be required to vote on bills and participate in committee work which will affect their employment and other areas in which they may have a monetary interest. Action on bills and in committee work which specifically deal with a member's specific employment or specific investment, as opposed to a profession, trade, or business in general, should be avoided. In making a decision relating to his activity on particular bills or in committee work which are subject to this code, the following factors should be considered:

a. Whether a substantial threat to his independence of judgment has been created by the conflict situation.

b. The effect of his participation on public confidence in the integrity of the legislature.

c. Whether his participation is likely to have any significant effect on the disposition of the matter.

d. The need for his particular contribution, such as special knowledge of the subject matter, to the effective functioning of the legislature.

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the House and the title as amended was agreed to.

McCartney of Floyd, chairman of the committee on rules, offered the following:

PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE TEMPORARY RULES OF THE HOUSE

Rule 47 is amended by adding the following:

Prior to final committee action the committee may direct that a fiscal note be attached to any bill or joint resolution which might have an annual effect or a combined total effect within five years after enactment of $50,000.00 or more on the revenues, expenditures or fiscal liability of the state or its subdivisions. This rule does not apply to appropriation measures where the total effect is stated in dollar amounts.

If the services of the legislative fiscal director are employed in the preparation of this note, requests shall be in writing and accompanied by a copy of the bill.

When so employed, the legislative fiscal director shall prepare and return the fiscal note within five legislative days after receiving the request. He may request the cooperation of the state comptroller and any state department or agency. If a fiscal note is prepared by the comptroller at the request of the fiscal director, that fact shall be stated in the note.

Each fiscal note shall state in dollars the estimated effect of the bill on the revenues, expenditures and fiscal liability of the state or its subdivisions, during each of the first five years after enactment. Sources of funds for expenditures under the bill shall be stated, including federal funds. If an accurate estimate cannot be made, the best available estimate shall be attached including qualifications; or a statement shall be made that no dollar estimate is possible together with the concise reasons therefore.

The fiscal note shall be attached to the bill following the explanation, and shall be printed in the daily clip sheet.

A revised fiscal note may be required in the same manner as an original fiscal note, if the fiscal effect of the bill has been changed by adoption of an amendment or if the original fiscal note is believed to be incorrect. A request for a revised fiscal note shall not, however, delay action on a bill unless otherwise ordered.

MR. SPEAKER: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the Senate has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

Senate File 286, a bill for an act relating to sales tax refund.

Also: That the Senate has adopted the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House is asked:

CARROLL A. LANE, Secretary

By McGill, Erskine, Benda, Van Gilst, Shaff, Stephens,
(Dougherty, Nelson, Van Roekel, Roorda, Middleswart, Crosier, Graham, Knight, Nielsen, Fisher of Greene, Gannon,
Mayberry, Schwartz, Hamilton, Dietz, Mendenhall, Campbell, Warren, Bailey and Cochran)

Whereas, Littering, the indiscriminate disposing of cans, bottles, garbage, and other rubbish, is becoming commonplace throughout the nation and the state; and

Whereas, Littering results in the distraction and destroying of the natural beauty of the landscape and surrounding countryside and in unsightliness in general; and

Whereas, It is general practice for food products and alcoholic beverages to be dispensed in nonredeemable type containers; and

Whereas, It is the growing tendency of soft drink manufacturers and vendors also to dispense their products in nonredeemable type containers; and

Whereas, It is apparent that supervision by governmental bodies and agencies is lacking in providing suitable disposal receptacles, dumping areas, and garbage collection disposal systems for articles of litter; and

Whereas, Present laws intended to control littering are generally ignored and evaded; and

Whereas, It is the common practice to dispose of refuse by open burning producing a material annoyance, inconvenience, and discomfort; and

Whereas, Littering is directly related to the health, safety, and general welfare of the citizens of the nation and this state; and

Whereas, The progressive use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs is directly related to the health, safety, and general welfare of the citizens of the nation and this state and by their nature require extensive regulation and control in the public interest; and

Whereas, Government supervision is required to be close and watchful so as to allow little latitude for malfeasance or misfeasance in the control of littering, the disposal of refuse, and the use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That the Iowa Legislative Research Committee, its successor agency, or an appropriate standing committee be encouraged to conduct, during the interim, a continued study of the littering problem of the state, disposal of refuse practices, and the use of insecticides, herbicides, chemicals, and dangerous drugs, the laws relating thereto, and the need for additional legislation to correct these problems.

Laid over under Rule 25.

HOUSE FILE 18 WITHDRAWN

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE FILE 18

I did not vote on this legislation because of my personal beliefs relating to the general tenor, purpose, and spirit of the House Code of Ethics regarding potential conflicts of interest due to a member's business or profession. In this particular instance I am the only House member whose regular occupation is banking; the banking institution with which I am associated acts as a correspondent bank and depository for state chartered banks throughout Iowa. It is my judgment and hope that strict interpretation of the Code will result in better government and will help to continually enhance the stature of the legislature.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

By Holden

Whereas, The right to condemn private property for public use has been exercised by an increasing number of governmental agencies and private interests, and

Whereas, Easements granted to utilities and others are of a permanent nature and thus place permanent restrictions on future use of the property, and

Whereas, The burden of easements for power lines and pipe lines is becoming tremendous in the growth areas of the state where some landowners have two, three or more corridors over their property by easement.

Whereas, The taking or using of private property often causes future hardship or financial loss to the owner beyond that which is readily discernible, and

Whereas, Landowners are demanding an overhaul of the eminent domain laws.

Whereas, Both the rights of property owners and the need for a condemnation procedure have been recognized by law; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring, That the appropriate standing committees be directed to conduct a study of present procedures for condemnation of property and the securing of easements by both public agencies and private interests.

Be It Further Resolved: That the standing committees be directed to report study findings and committee recommendations, accompanied by legislation incorporating such recommendations, to the session of the General Assembly commencing in January, 1970.

Laid over under Rule 25.

In your letter of February 19, 1969, concerning the election contest brought by Richard Grove against Vincent D. Mayberry, you requested an attorney general's opinion on the following:

"The Contestant served his Notice of Intent to Contest an Election on the Incumbent on December 5, 1968. No depositions were taken. The County Auditor was not served. A list of illegal votes were not submitted. The Contestant states as his grounds sections 57.1 (6), (7) and 57.5.

"The Contestant mailed his Notice of Intent to Contest An Election to the Secretary of State which was received by the Secretary of State which was received by the Secretary of State on December 6, 1968, but said Notice of Intent was not enclosed in a separate sealed envelope and thus had no endorsement thereon showing the nature of the papers, the names of the contesting parties, and the branch of the General Assembly before whom the contest was to be tried as provided by section 59.4. The Secretary of State could not deliver the same unopened to the presiding officer of the House as provided by section 59.5 and delivered the said Notice which he received to the Speaker of the House.

"I request an Attorney General's opinion on the following:

"1. Under sections 59.4 and 59.5 does the House have jurisdiction to decide this matter since the Contestant did not comply with section 59.4 and it was impossible for the Secretary of State to comply with section 59.5?

"2. Do sections 59.1 and 62.5 require the Contestant to furnish a list of alleged illegal votes when no depositions relative to illegal votes were taken and no illegal votes are alleged in the statement or Notice of Intent to Contest An Election?

"3. Do sections 59.1 and 62.5 require the Contestant to give notice to the County Auditor by filing in the office of the County Auditor a written statement of his intention to contest the election or does this requirement under section 62.5 only apply to contests other than to the General Assembly?"

It is my opinion that your first question makes an assumption not necessarily supported by the facts (i.e., that contestant did not comply with the statute). Section 59.4, 1966 Code of Iowa, provides:

"A copy of the statement, and of the notice for taking depositions, with the service indorsed, and verified by affidavit if not served by an officer, shall be returned to the officer taking the depositions, and then, with the depositions, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the secretary of state, with an indorsement thereon showing the nature of the papers, the names of the contesting parties, and the branch of the general assembly before whom the contest is to be tried."

As a general rule an election contest is a statutory proceeding of a special and summary nature. It has been held in other jurisdictions that a strict observance of the statute is required, so far as regards the steps necessary to give jurisdiction. 18 Am. Jur., Elections, §275. Jurisdiction to hear and determine election contests is dependent upon, and regulated by, statutory provision. 18 Am. Jur., Elections, §284.

Article III, §7 of the Constitution of the State of Iowa provides:

"Each house shall choose its own officers, and judge of the qualification, election, and return of its own members. A contested election shall be determined in such manner as shall be directed by law."

I find nothing in chapter 59 of the Code of Iowa to preclude the House of Representatives from taking jurisdiction of the contest referred to above. While this office has previously advised that a failure to file timely notice under §59.1 or to inform the incumbent of the grounds of the contest would be fatal to the jurisdiction of the House to entertain a hearing on the contest, it is our view that a mere technical variance with the provisions of §59.4 by failure to deliver or serve such in a sealed envelope marked in such manner as to identify the contents would not deprive the House of such jurisdiction. Irregularities in the manner of service are deemed to have been waived if the contestee obeys the notice and makes a general appearance. 18 Am. Jur., Elections, §292. In the instant case the rights of voters were not prejudiced by fact that notice was mailed to the Secretary of State in a single sealed envelope which he opened routinely.

It is my view that the use of the word "shall" in §§59.4 and 59.5 of the Code of Iowa appears to be directory but does not affect the jurisdiction of the House here, inasmuch as in the one case it is directed to the officer taking the depositions and in the second case to the secretary of state rather than to the contestant. Consequently, it would be my view that substantial compliance by the contestant with the provisions of §59.4 would be sufficient to vest the House of Representatives with jurisdiction of the contest.

The answer to your second question is no. Grounds for the contest of the election of any person to either branch of the General Assembly are set out under §57.1 of the Code of Iowa. It is sufficient if any of the grounds set out therein are alleged, and there are numerous grounds in addition to illegal votes.

It is my opinion that §§59.1 and 62.5 of the Code of Iowa do not require that a contestant for the seat in either branch of the General Assembly file notice of contest with the county auditor. Section 59.1 provides that:

"The contestant for a seat in either branch of the general assembly shall, within thirty days after the incumbent is declared elected, serve on the incumbent a statement as required in relation to county officers, . . ." (Emphasis added)

Section 62.5, while providing for the place for filing of such statement by contestants of county officers, provides that the statement shall contain:

" . . . the name of the contestant, and that he or she is qualified to hold such office, the name of the incumbent, the office contested, the time of the election, and the particular causes of contest . . . "

Section 62.9 provides that the chairman of the board of supervisors shall cause a copy of notice of trial "with a copy of the contestant's statement" to be served on the incumbent. In such case the county auditor acts as clerk of the trial court unless a party to the contest. (§§62.3, 62.9) The foregoing sections are not applicable to contests for seats in the general assembly where the notice is served directly on the incumbent by the contestant.

As stated in Haas vs. Contest Court (1936), 221 Iowa 150, 265 N.W. 373:

"... The real purpose of the filing of this statement is to make a record of the objections and complaints that the contestant has, and to make a showing of why the incumbent is not entitled to hold the office to which he has been declared elected.

"The sufficiency of the statement thus filed is not a jurisdictional question."

The provisions of chapter 59 do not require that the contestant file a copy of such statement with the secretary of state. The provisions of §59.1 direct the contestant to "serve on the incumbent a statement as required in relation to county officers". It will be noted that in §59.4 the copy of the statement "shall be returned to the officer taking the depositions and then, with the depositions, shall be sealed up and transmitted to the secretary of state, with an indorsement thereon . . .". If no depositions are taken, then no officer is responsible for transmitting the materials to the secretary of state for safe keeping until the second day of next session of the general assembly. Therefore, if the incumbent was properly served with timely notice of the grounds of the contest, the House would have jurisdiction of the question.

Very truly yours

ELIZABETH A. NOLAN

REPORT OF CONTEST COMMITTEE

(Grove vs. Mayberry)

Kluever of Cass submitted the following report of the contest committee:

Mr. Speaker and Members of the House of Representatives of the Sixty-third General Assembly:

Your committee to whom was referred the matter of the contest for the office of State Representative from District 1, Webster County, Iowa, in the General Election of November 5, 1968, between Vincent D. Mayberry, Incumbent, and Richard L. Grove, Contestant, submits herewith its report:

The committee was duly organized, adopted rules of procedure, heard oral statements from counsel for the contestant and incumbent, received a Notice of Intent to Contest an Election from the contestant setting forth sections 57.1(6), (7) and 57.5 of the 1966 Code of Iowa as his grounds on which the election contest was instituted and received a written statement of objection to jurisdiction from counsel for the incumbent.

The committee finds that the contestant served his Notice of Intent to Contest an Election on the incumbent on December 5, 1968; that no allegation of illegal votes was made and no depositions were taken; that the Notice was served at least 20 days prior to the first day of the session as provided by section 59.1 of the 1966 Code of Iowa; that the contestant mailed his Notice of Intent to Contest an Election to the Secretary of State which was received by the Secretary of State on December 6, 1968, but said Notice of Intent was not enclosed in a separate sealed envelope and thus had no endorsement thereon showing the nature of the papers, the names of the contesting parties, and the branch of the General Assembly before whom the contest was to be tried as provided by section 59.4 of the 1966 Code of Iowa; that the Secretary of State could not deliver the same unopened to the presiding officer of the House as provided by section 59.5 of the 1966 Code of Iowa.

The question of whether or not the House had jurisdiction to hear this matter because the contestant did not comply with section 59.4 and the Secretary of State could not comply with section 59.5 and some other questions raised by counsel for the incumbent were submitted by the committee to the Attorney General for his opinion; that the Attorney General's opinion stated that the House did have jurisdiction.

The committee finds that the House does have jurisdiction to hear the contest; that the sheets from the voting machines of all the precincts of District 1, Webster County, and all of the absentee ballots that were rejected by all of the precincts of District 1, Webster County, were checked, studied and gone over by the committee; that five absentee ballots rejected by the precincts were accepted, opened and counted by the committee; that the incumbent received 3 of these votes and the contestant received 2; that the voting machine sheets revealed that the incumbent received 5,065 votes and that the contestant received 5,063 votes.

In view of the foregoing findings, and pursuant to the Attorney General's opinion which is made a part of this report and set out in full herein, the contest committee concluded that it does have jurisdiction to hear this contest, that the incumbent received 5,068 votes and that the contestant received 5,065 votes and unanimously recommended that the House of Representatives dismiss the contest of Richard L. Grove for the seat of State Representative Vincent D. Mayberry and that Vincent D. Mayberry be declared to be duly elected as a member of the House of Representatives from District 1, Webster County, Iowa, and that the seating which took place on January 13, 1969, be confirmed.

COMMUNICATIONS

Fischer of Grundy moved that the following communications be printed in the House Journal, which motion prevailed.

THE REGISTER AND TRIBUNE

The Honorable Harold O. Fischer
House of Representatives
Des Moines, Iowa 50319
Dear Mr. Fischer:

This will acknowledge your letter of February 12.

The nature and extent of lobbying activities in Iowa are a matter of legitimate public interest at any time, in our opinion, and particularly so when the legislature is considering the conflict-of-interest issue. Therefore, we have reported on lobbying activities in some detail and, I believe, in an accurate manner.

However, I do not believe that we have impugned the integrity and honesty of the legislators or the voters who elected them. If a legislator accepts food and liquor from a lobbyist, it does not automatically follow that either of them is dishonest. We have, in fact, stated on several occasions that we know of no scandals arising from lobbying activities. To cite one recent statement, we said in The Register on February 18:

"Most legislative ethics codes are an outgrowth of bribe-taking or similar public scandal. Iowa's legislators have wisely refused to wait for scandal to strike and have taken preventive action."

I appreciate your interest in our newspapers.

Sincerely yours

KENNETH MacDonald

HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES

February 26, 1969

Mr. Kenneth MacDonald
Editor and Publisher
The Register and Tribune
Des Moines, Iowa 50304
Dear Mr. MacDonald:

Thank you for your letter of February 20. Your comments concerning the statement in the February 18 issue are quite appropriate.

In the second paragraph of your letter you state that you "have reported on lobbying activities in some detail and, I believe, in an accurate manner."

If there is such a thing, or has been such a thing, as open-end entertainment accounts at downtown bars and clubs by a few lobbyists for legislators, it is still my belief that you should furnish the names of those lobbyists and legislators who are, or have been, involved in such a practice. Because of this accusation in the February 12 issue of the Des Moines Register, the people of Iowa will suspicion that each member of the legislature is guilty until the names of those involved are publicly known. It is my belief that in the interest of responsible reporting you owe the public a full disclosure in order to clear up the accusations which have been made in order to vindicate those who are innocent.

Yours very truly

HAROLD O. FISCHER

CARROLL A. LANE

Secretary of the Senate

By Rigler, Denman, Lodwick, Lange, Kyhl, Shirley, Thordsen, Reichardt, Flatt, Schaben,
Stanley, Frommelt and Sullivan

Whereas, the Drake University basketball team did such an outstanding job in the National Collegiate Basketball Tournament at Louisville, Kentucky, March 20 to March 22, 1969; and

Whereas, they easily won third place over North Carolina; and

Whereas, in the semi-final game March 20 they outplayed and nearly defeated the overwhelming favorite and ultimate champions, the University of California at Los Angeles; and

Whereas, had Drake won, it would have been considered one of the most memorable victories in college basketball; and

Whereas, against overwhelming odds they have been truly "a team" in the noblest sense—heroes to all Iowans;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That we salute them for having exhibited all the virtues of true champions; we commend their coach, Maury John, on this brightest achievement in his brilliant coaching career; and we thank them all for so gallantly acting as ambassadors for our state in improving the image of Iowa throughout the entire nation; and

Be It Further Resolved: That copies of this resolution be sent to Drake University, to Coach John, and to each member of the 1969 Drake Bulldog squad, with our most sincere congratulations and best wishes for the future.

Laid over under Rule 25.

CONSIDERATION OF BILLS UNFINISHED BUSINESS

The House resumed consideration of House File 1, a bill for an act relating to negotiation and execution of reciprocal, proration, and other agreements or declarations for fleet owners of commercial vehicles engaged in interstate commerce, and the committee amendment as amended.

Miller of Page moved the adoption of the committee amendment as amended.

The committee amendment as amended was adopted.

McIntyre of Linn asked and received unanimous consent to withdraw his amendment filed February 7 and fund on pages 226 and 227 of the House Journal.

Schroeder of Pottawattamie offered the following amendment filed by him:

Amend House File 1 as follows:

1. By adding thereto the following new sections:

"If the law or rules of another state impose upon the vehicles of residents of Iowa any taxes, fees, charges, penalties, obligations, restrictions, prohibitions, or limitations of any kind which are more restrictive than those imposed by the state of Iowa upon the vehicles of residents of such other state, the Iowa reciprocity board may impose and collect fees or charges in the same amount and may provide for similar obligations, prohibitions, or limitations upon the owner or operator of a vehicle registered in such other state so long as the laws or rules of such other state vary from those of Iowa.

Whenever the reciprocity board has reason to believe that a fleet owner has filed incorrect information with the reciprocity board, department of public safety, or the department of revenue, for the purpose of reducing the fleet owner's obligation for registration fees or fuel taxes, the reciprocity board may cancel the apportioned registration privileges on all of the vehicles owned by such person. Any person who has such privileges canceled shall be subject to the payment of the full annual registration fee for all vehicles operated on the highways of this state for a period of at least five years thereafter. The commissioner of public safety and the director of revenue shall cooperate with the reciprocity board in ascertaining the accuracy of all reports filed pertaining to registration fees and motor fuel taxes.

Any person whose privileges are canceled may request an administrative hearing of said action, and during the period pending the hearing the apportioned registration privileges shall be reinstated if the fleet owners posts security with the reciprocity board in an amount sufficient to pay such full annual fees if an adverse decision is rendered at the hearing. At such hearing the fleet owner shall have the burden of proof as to the accuracy of any report filed by the fleet owner with the reciprocity board, department of public safety, or the department of revenue. Any person aggrieved by a decision reached at the administrative hearing may appeal from such decision to the district court."

10 the principal business of the taxpayer for the taxable year
11 only if the net income from farming for the three preceding 12 taxable years, or so many of the three preceding years as the 13 taxpayer has been engaged in the business of farming, equals or 14 exceeds two-thirds of the total net income of the taxpayer for

96 Any pipe-line company having secured the right of 104 examine, prepare, maintain and operate such underground

106 The right of appropriation hereby granted shall be without 119 than an approximate right angle to such railroad track or 120 public highway without the consent of such railroad company,

121 the highway commission or board of supervisors, as the case

138 percent (110%) of condemner's offer, then
139 there shall be an additional award equal
140 to twenty-five percent (25%) of the final 141 award to recompense said landowner for 142 costs involved in the condemnation pro-
143 ceedings.

145 said commission's award said condemner shall 146 be liable for all costs to the landowner

153 5. Notwithstanding any other section of this 154 chapter or any other chapter of the Code, a condemnee may 155 choose in lieu of a lump-sum award to receive an annual 156 rental for the land used. Said rental shall be determined
157 by multiplying seven percent (7%) times the fair market
158 value of the property as determined by the county assessor
159 for property tax purposes. Any dispute under this paragraph

163 shall be changed at such times and in such amounts as the 164 county assessor shall determine in routine determination of 168 thereto the following:

169 "In the event of damage to the pipe-line which results

172 unless the landowner or other party has acted in a willful 173 and wanton manner which action was the proximate cause of 174 the damage.

175 Sec. 8. Chapter four hundred ninety (490), Code
176 1966, is hereby further amended by adding at the end thereof
177 the following new section:

178 "Said pipe-line company shall be liable for all 179 representations by their employees or agents and the 180 following procedures shall be followed:

188 or accepted before the five-day waiting period
189 has elapsed may be revoked by the offeror within 190 the five-day period.

191 3. The contract and the offer must plainly
192 state whether the pipe-line company has ac-
193 quired the right of eminent domain.

194 4. Violation of this section shall be punishable
195 by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars 196 and any contract entered into by a party in

Amend House File 246 by striking all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. Any city or town may impose one or more of the local taxes authorized by this Act after approval by a majority of the electorate. Upon its own motion, or upon receipt of a petition signed by not less than ten percent of the qualified electors within the city, as determined by the number of votes cast at the preceding regular municipal election, requesting that an election be held on the question of imposing one or more of the authorized taxes, the local governing body may submit to the voters of the city or town, at a special election or the next regular municipal election, the question of whether one or more of the authorized taxes shall be imposed. A separate proposal shall be submitted to the electorate for each type of tax. Within sixty days preceding the election, the local governing body shall publish notice of the election at least three times, no oftener than once a week, in a newspaper of general circulation serving the city or town. If a majority of those voting on the question favor the imposition of one or more of the authorized taxes, the governing body shall impose the tax by ordinance, according to the provisions of this Act, and the tax shall become effective January first following the election. An ordinance imposing an authorized local tax shall remain effective for succeeding years until modified or repealed. Any change in the rate of tax, or a repeal of any portion of a tax, shall be accomplished in the same manner as the imposition of the tax, and shall become effective the following January first. An ordinance imposing an authorized local income, earnings, or sales and use tax shall adopt by reference the applicable provisions of the appropriate sections of chapters four hundred twenty-two (422) and four hundred twenty-three (423) of the Code, so that local tax administration will conform as nearly as possible to state tax administration. Local officials shall confer with the director of revenue and obtain his assistance in drafting the ordinance.

The director shall promulgate necessary rules and regulations relating to local taxes.

Sec. 2. For purposes of this Act, definitions in sections four hundred twenty-two point three (422.3), four hundred twenty-two point four (422.4), four hundred twenty-two point forty-two (422.42), and four hundred twenty-three point one (423.1) of the Code shall apply where applicable except that:

2. "Resident taxpayer" means any taxpayer whose principal place of residence is in the city or town imposing the tax.

Sec. 3. A local income tax at a rate of not more than ten percent of the taxpayer's state income tax liability may be imposed on the entire net income of every resident taxpayer.

The director of revenue, in consultation with local officials, shall collect and account for all local income and earnings taxes, crediting local income and earnings tax receipts to a local income and earnings tax fund hereby established in the office of the treasurer of state. Annually, after crediting to the department of revenue a reasonable amount, not to exceed ten percent of the total tax collected, to cover administrative expense, the treasurer of state shall remit to the cities and towns who have imposed a local income or earnings tax their share of the balance in the local income and earnings tax fund. Local income and earnings tax receipts shall be deposited to the credit of the general fund of the city or town.

Sec. 6. Local income and earnings taxes shall be subject to all applicable provisions of divisions I and II of chapter four hundred twenty-two (422) of the Code, and particularly to those provisions relating to withholding of tax at source, declaration of estimated tax due, remittances of withholding and estimated tax, application of interest and penalties, and procedures for hearing and appeal.

Sec. 7. A local sales and use tax at a rate of not more than one percent may be imposed on the gross receipts from the sale or use of all goods and services subject to the state sales or use tax. A local sales and use tax shall be imposed on the same basis as the state sales and use taxes and shall not be imposed on any goods and services not taxed by the state. A local sales and use tax shall apply only within the territorial limits of the city or town imposing it, and shall be collected by all persons required to collect state sales and use taxes.

All cities or towns imposing a local sales and use tax shall give a credit for any other local sales or use tax previously paid by the taxpayer on the same goods or services.

The amount subject to any local sales and use tax shall not include the amount of the state sales or use tax.

Local sales and use tax receipts shall be deposited in the general fund of the city or town.

Sec. 9. Local sales and use taxes shall be subject to all applicable provisions of division IV of chapter four hundred twenty-two (422) of the Code, and to all applicable provisions of chapter four hundred twenty-three (423) of the Code. No sales tax permit, other than the state sales tax permit, shall be required.

Sec. 10. A tax of not more than two dollars and fifty cents per wheel attached to a vehicle may be imposed on every vehicle which is:

1. Required to be registered by the state, and
2. Registered to a resident taxpayer, or to a corporation doing business within the limits of the city or town.

ADOPTION OF SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 19

By Stanley and Frommelt

Whereas, the members of the Sixty-third General Assembly of Iowa, and the entire nation, received the announcement of the death of former President Eisenhower with great sorrow; and

Whereas, Dwight David Eisenhower was one of the most distinguished men ever to have served as President of the United States; and

Whereas, General Eisenhower was selected in 1942 as the military leader of our armies in World War II, and by his military strategy and qualities of leadership successfully concluded the American participation in the war; and

Whereas, the people of the United States, recognizing his ability as a leader, selected him as President of the United States in 1952; and

Whereas, the nation in deep appreciation of his abilities re-elected him in 1956; and

Whereas, his philosophy is ably exemplified in his closing remarks as President when he said: "My philosophy has been to add to the spiritual, moral and material strength of our nation. I believe we have done this, but it is a process that must never end."; and

Whereas, succeeding presidents of the United States have used his sage advice and constructive suggestions in carrying on their own administrations; and

Whereas, bipartisan comments regarding his life include the words, "fair, impartial, and objective", as well as many other tributes; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That we extend to the Eisenhower family our deep and profound sympathy in their sorrow, and that the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives each appoint a committee of three to immediately convey by appropriate means this feeling; and

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be duly certified and permanently preserved in the office of the Secretary of State, and that copies so certified be sent to Mrs. Eisenhower and John Sheldon Eisenhower.

Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

7 1. The term “credit rating” means any evaluation
8 or representation as to the credit worthiness, credit
9 standing, credit capacity, character, or general reputa-
10 tion of any individual.

11 2. The term “credit report” means any written, 12 oral, or other communication of any credit rating, or of 13 any information which is sought or given for the purpose
14 of serving as a basis for a credit rating.

15 3. The term “credit-reporting agency” means any 16 person who regularly engages in whole or in part in the 17 business of furnishing credit reports.

18 Sec. 2. Every credit-reporting agency shall follow
19 procedures designed to achieve the following objectives:

20 1. To insure the confidentiality of information
21 obtained by the agency which bears upon the credit rating
22 of any individual.

23 2. To provide any individual, upon request, a 24 reasonable opportunity to correct information obtained
25 by the agency which may bear adversely upon his credit
26 rating.

27 Upon a showing by said individual that such informa-
28 tion, or any part thereof, is incorrect the credit-reporting agency
29 shall verify the challenged information. Said verifica-
30 tion shall include notice to the credit-reporting agency
31 that furnished said challenged information. Said notice
32 shall contain a demand upon the credit-reporting agency
33 for a full report, in writing, copies to be furnished to 34 the credit-reporting agency and to the individual who is the 35 subject of the report.

36 Whenever an individual makes a showing as required
37 in this subsection, it shall be the obligation of the 38 credit-reporting agency to delete questionable informa-
39 tion or if, after verification, the credit-reporting 40 agency determines that the questionable information is 41 valid, they may continue to use such information in their 42 credit report. However, the credit-reporting agency shall 43 include, as part of that report, that said information

44 has been disputed.

45 3. To limit the collection, retention, or furnish-46 ing of information bearing upon the credit rating of 47 any individual to those items essential for the purposes
48 for which the information is sought and to preclude the 49 collection, retention, or furnishing of information which 50 only marginally benefits the purposes for which the 51 information is sought or which represents an undue invasion
52 of the individual's right to privacy.

53 4. To keep current information bearing on the credit
54 rating of any individual and to destroy such information
55 after it has become obsolete or after the expiration of 56 a reasonable period of time.

57 5. To notify promptly any individual whenever informa-
58 tion which is a matter of public record is obtained by 59 the agency and which is, or is likely to be interpreted 60 by the agency or its clients as, adverse to the credit
61 rating of the individual, and to provide a reasonable
62 opportunity to the individual to submit an explanatory
63 statement with respect thereto.

79 involved shall so notify the individual to whom the 80 credit is denied or with whom the prospective trans-
81 action is canceled and shall supply the name and address
82 of the credit-reporting agency making the report.

83 2. It shall be a violation of this chapter for any 84 credit-reporting agency to refuse to correct any report
85 submitted to a credit-reporting agency when such report
86 is, in full or in part, erroneous.

87 Sec. 4. Any credit-reporting agency or user of 88 information which willfully fails to comply with any

IN MEMORIAM

MR. SPEAKER, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN OF THE HOUSE:

Today, the beginning of Passover and Good Friday, the day God gave His only begotten Son that all men who believed in him might have everlasting life, I would like to pause for a moment to pay respect to the memory of Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.

Doctor King was a prophet of non-violence, a man of God who walked in peace—a strong believer in the dignity of man—a dreamer of dreams—a man who loved his country, a man who had a strong faith that there is a little bit of good in all of us, a man of humility, a man who believed that the people of this great country would one day solve all their differences and that all people would be truly free and equal and walk in dignity.

Inscribed on the window of his motel suite in the city of Memphis are the words: "Behold, here comes the dreamer, let us slay him and see what becomes of his dream."

In death, Doctor King is an inspiration to all of us who believe in non-violence, that one day his dreams will come true and that we will all live in brotherhood, understanding and human dignity under God.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 26

By Grassley and Lippold

Whereas, the General Assembly of the State of Iowa recognizes the importance of vocational and technical education; and

Whereas, vocational-technical education plays a vital role in meeting the manpower needs of our state and of the nation; and

Whereas, one vital aspect of vocational-technical education is the lack of acceptance through accreditation, an advantage presently enjoyed by other institutions; and

Whereas, the lack of this accreditation by presently-constituted national and regional associations stimulates these highly-oriented vocational-technical schools to change their objectives to meet the academic requirements of present accreditation standards; and

Whereas, this tendency of vocational schools changing their objectives to meet more highly-oriented academic standards helps defeat the purpose of vocational education in failing to prepare youth and adults for the great mass of jobs in our world of work.

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved, that the General Assembly of the State of Iowa call upon the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Commission on Accreditation to establish policy and evaluative criteria consistent with the desired objectives of vocational-technical education; and encourage the regional and national accrediting commission to enter into a meaningful program of accreditation of vocational-technical high school and post-high school institutions.

Be It Further Resolved, that a duly attested copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools and the National Commission on Accreditation from this state.

Laid over under Rule 25.

ADOPTION OF HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

Holden of Scott called up for consideration the following House Concurrent Resolution 21:

Whereas, The right to condemn private property for public use has been exercised by an increasing number of governmental agencies and private interests, and

Whereas, Easements granted to utilities and others are of a permanent nature and thus place permanent restrictions on future use of the property, and

Whereas, The burden of easements for power lines and pipe lines is becoming tremendous in the growth areas of the state where some landowners have two, three or more corridors over their property by easement.

Whereas, The taking or using of private property often causes future hardship or financial loss to the owner beyond that which is readily discernible, and

Whereas, The number of protests, legal actions, and landowner unrest is increasing.

Whereas, Landowners are demanding an overhaul of the eminent domain laws.

Whereas, Both the rights of property owners and the need for a condemnation procedure have been recognized by law; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring, That the appropriate standing committees be directed to conduct a study of present procedures for condemnation of property and the securing of easements by both public agencies and private interests.

Be It Further Resolved: That the standing committees be directed to report study findings and committee recommendations, accompanied by legislation incorporating such recommendations, to the session of the General Assembly commencing in January, 1970.

Amend House Concurrent Resolution 21 on page 466 of the House Journal as follows:

1. By striking all of line eighteen (18) after the word "law" and inserting in lieu thereof a period.

2. By striking all of said concurrent resolution after line eighteen (18) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Whereas, the consideration of bills hastily prepared may result in legislation that is not in the public interest, and

Whereas, most of the complaints appear to be coming from the owners of agricultural land; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring:

That the House committee on agriculture cause a study to be made of the Iowa Constitution and statutes relating to the use of the rights of eminent domain by public bodies and private interests, this study to be made during the interim between the 1969 and 1970 sessions. This study may be made by the House committee on agriculture in the event that it is to continue as a standing committee during this interim period; otherwise, it shall submit proposed legislation to this assembly providing for a special study committee to carry out the intent of this resolution.

Be It Further Resolved: That the committee conducting the study be directed to report study findings and committee recommendations, accompanied by legislation incorporating such recommendations, to the session of the General Assembly commencing in January, 1970."

The amendment was adopted.

Holden of Scott moved the adoption of the resolution as amended.

97 on such article is prohibited by regulations of the secretary
98 in official establishments.

158 terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by 159 the ordinary individual under customary conditions of pur-
160 chase and use.

161 g. If it purports to be or is represented as a food for 162 which a definition and standard of identity or composition
163 has been prescribed by the regulations of the secretary under 164 paragraph e of this subsection, unless it conforms to such 165 definition and standard and its label bears the name of the 166 food specified in the definition and standard and, insofar

188 the secretary.

189 j. If it purports to be or is represented for special
190 dietary uses, unless its label bears such information con-

683 person shall be subject to imprisonment in the penitentiary
684 or men's or women's reformatory for not more than three 685 years or a fine of not more than ten thousand dollars or 686 both.

687 2. Nothing in this chapter shall be construed as requir-
688 ing the secretary to report, for the institution of legal

705 reports and answers shall be made under oath, or otherwise 706 as the secretary may prescribe, and shall be filed with the 707 secretary within such reasonable period as the secretary may 717 and affirmations, examine witnesses, and receive evidence.

718 b. Such attendance of witnesses, and the production of 724 evidence.

725 c. The district court may, in case of failure or refusal 726 to obey a subpoena issued herein to any person, enter an 742 oaths. Such testimony shall be reduced to writing by the 743 person taking the deposition, or under his direction and 744 shall then be subscribed by the deponent. Any person may 745 be compelled to appear and depose and to produce documentary

748 the secretary as herein provided.

749 f. Witnesses summoned before the secretary shall be paid 750 the same fees and mileage that are paid witnesses in the 751 district court, and witnesses whose depositions are taken 752 and the persons taking the same shall severally be entitled 753 to the same fees as are paid for like services in such dis-

760 his delegate, or in any cause or proceeding, criminal or 761 otherwise, based upon or growing out of any alleged viola-762 tion of this chapter for the reason that the testimony or 763 evidence, documentary or otherwise, required of him may tend 764 to incriminate him or subject him to a penalty or forfeiture;
765 but no person shall be prosecuted or subjected to a penalty
766 or forfeiture for or on account of any transaction, matter, 767 or thing concerning which he is compelled, after having 768 claimed his privilege against self-incrimination, to testify

771 prosecution and punishment for perjury committed in so 772 testifying.

773 5. a. Any person who neglects or refuses to attend and 774 testify or to answer any lawful inquiry, or to produce docu-
775 mentary evidence, if it is in his power to do so, in obedi-

c. If any person required by this chapter to file any annual or special report shall fail so to do within the time fixed by the secretary for filing the same, and such failure shall continue for thirty days after notice of such default, such person shall forfeit to this state the sum of one hundred dollars for each and every day of the continuance of such failure, which forfeiture shall be payable into the treasury of this state, and shall be recoverable in a civil suit in the name of the state brought in the district court of the county where the person has his principal office or in the district court of any county in which he does business. It shall be the duty of the various county attorneys of this state to prosecute for the recovery of such forfeitures. The costs and expenses of such prosecution shall be paid out of the court expense fund of the county.

d. Any officer or employee of this state who makes public any information obtained by the secretary, without his authority, unless directed by a court, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof shall be punished by a fine not exceeding five thousand dollars, or by imprisonment in the county jail not exceeding one year, or by both such fine and imprisonment.

The requirements of this chapter shall apply to persons, establishments, animals, and articles regulated under the Federal Meat Inspection Act or the Federal Poultry Products Inspection Act to the extent provided for in said federal acts and also to the extent provided in this chapter and in regulations the secretary may prescribe to promulgate this chapter."

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

A Concurrent Resolution proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States and making application to the Congress of the United States to call a convention for the purpose of proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States, to allow the people of each state greater freedom of choice in the apportionment of their state legislature and local governing bodies.

Whereas, the people of each state should have greater freedom of choice in the apportionment of their state legislature and local governing bodies;
Now, Therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives Concurring, of the Sixty-third General Assembly of Iowa, That this legislature respectfully requests and makes application to the Congress of the United States to propose the following article as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States or, in the alternative, to call a convention for the purpose of proposing the following article as an amendment to the Constitution of the United States:

"Article - - -

"Section 1. The people of a state may apportion one house of a bicameral legislature using population, geography, and political subdivisions as factors, giving each factor such weight as they deem appropriate or giving reasonable weight to the same factors in apportioning a unicameral legislature, if in either case such plan of apportionment has been submitted to a vote of the people in accordance with law and with the provisions of this Constitution and has been approved by a majority of those voting on that issue. When a plan of apportionment based on factors of population, geography, and political subdivisions is submitted to a vote of the people under this section there shall also be submitted, at the same election, an alternative plan of apportionment based upon substantial equality of population in both houses of the bicameral legislature.

Sec. 2. Any plan of apportionment which has been approved under this article shall be resubmitted to a vote of the people, or another plan may be submitted under the provisions of section one, at the November general election held two years following each year in which there is commenced any enumeration provided for in section two of Article I, and upon approval by a majority of those voting thereon, such plan of apportionment shall continue in effect until changed in accordance with law and with the provisions of this Constitution.

Sec. 3. Nothing in this Constitution shall prevent a state from apportioning membership of governing bodies of its subordinate units using population, geography, and political subdivisions as factors, giving each factor such weight as the state deems appropriate."

Be It Further Resolved, That the Congress of the United States is respectfully requested to submit said amendment in such manner that it shall be valid as part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of three-fourths of the several states within seven years of its submission to the states by the Congress, provided that each such legislature shall be apportioned on the basis of substantial equality of population in accordance with the most recent enumeration provided for in section two of Article I of the Constitution of the United States.

Be It Further Resolved, That a duly attested copy of this resolution be immediately transmitted to the Secretary of the Senate of the United States, the Clerk of the House of Representatives of the United States, and each member of the Congress from this state.

Whereas, the federal government has for many years been returning funds to the states by grants-in-aid programs with conditions attached, and

Whereas, in far too many cases such categorical, specialized federal grants have failed to accomplish their objectives and have been very wasteful, and

Whereas, states and local governments can resolve a great many of society's problems if they have adequate resources, and

Whereas, the federal government has usurped the most productive tax resources of the states by federal income taxes, excise taxes, and others of the same kind, leaving to the states only inadequate sources of revenue, and

Whereas, much of the failure of the federal grants-in-aid programs has been because such programs ignore local conditions such as transportation, education, and skills of workers, and other conditions of the same kind, which further complicates a problem which may be readily solved in one area but only compounded in another, and

Whereas, if the federal government returns to the states a flat percentage of federal taxes collected from each state without any conditions attached except, perhaps, bloc grants may be specifically earmarked for general categories such as education, Now, Therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, That the General Assembly of the State of Iowa urge the Congress of the United States to inaugurate a program of tax-sharing with the states whereby the state and local governments may receive the necessary financial resources to solve local problems unhampered by restrictions imposed by persons not familiar with the particulars involved in each community.

Be It Further Resolved, That a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to each member of the Iowa Congressional delegation.

By Bailey, Den Herder and Roorda

A concurrent resolution authorizing that a study be made to determine the feasibility of the use of a tax based on income in the school aid formula in lieu of a property tax.

Whereas, it is generally agreed that the property tax system contains many inequities and that efforts should be made to place less reliance on property tax for future revenue needs; and

Whereas, House File 686 enacted by the Sixty-second General Assembly, providing for state aid to local schools, recognizes the inequitable features of the property tax and the great reliance upon it for the financing of local school district expenditures; and

Whereas, the school aid formula contained in House File 686 does rely on property taxes to a very substantial extent with the result that increased school district expenditures will result in increased property taxes; and

Whereas, it is generally agreed that a tax based on income is more equitable than a property tax; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, That the Legislative Research Committee, its successor agency, or an appropriate standing committee be directed to conduct during the 1969 interim a study of the feasibility of adopting a tax based on income in lieu of any or all of the provisions contained in House File 686 of the Sixty-second General Assembly providing for the financing of schools through a property tax levy.

Be It Further Resolved, That any committee conducting such study may be composed of legislators, state officials, or knowledgeable citizens and that such committee may call upon any state or local agency for technical assistance in carrying out the study.

Be It Further Resolved, That a report of the findings and recommendations, accompanied by bills incorporating such recommendations, be submitted to the General Assembly meeting in 1970.

Laid over under Rule 25.
