Be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

That the following, designated as section one (1), be and the same is hereby proposed as an amendment to section one (1), of article three (III) of the legislative department of the constitution of the state of Iowa, which, when agreed to by this, the Thirty-fifth General Assembly, shall be referred to the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, and if by it agreed to, shall be referred to the qualified electors of the state of Iowa, and, if approved and ratified by a majority of the qualified electors voting thereon, it shall be valid as a part of the constitution of the state of Iowa, as amended, and, when said section one (1), of article three (III) of the legislative department is so amended, it shall read as follows:

Section 1. The legislative authority of this state shall be vested in a general assembly which shall consist of a Senate and House of Repreentatives, and the style of every law shall be, "Be it enacted by the general assembly of the state of Iowa", but the people reserve unto themselves the right and power to propose laws, to enact, approve or reject the same at the polls, independent of the general assembly, and reserve the right and power to approve or reject any item, section or port of any act enacted by the general assembly, except otherwise provided by this section. The general assembly shall fix the number of qualified electors required to propose the enactment of any proposed law, which shall be not less than twelve (12%) per cent nor more than twenty-two (22%) per cent of the qualified electors of each of the congressional districts of the state. Every law proposed by the people shall be presented by petition, signed by the required number of qualified electors, addressed to and filed with the secretary of state not less than one hundred and fifty (150) days before the general election at which the proposed law shall be submitted. The petition shall contain the full text of the proposed law, with title and enacting clause.

If the proposed measure be to enact a law, the enacting clause shall be as follows: "Be it enacted by the people of the state of Iowa."

The right and power to initiate and enact laws shall be restricted within the same constitutional limitation as apply to the general assembly.

The required number of qualified electors required to exercise the right and power to require an act passed by the general assembly to be referred for approval or rejection shall be fixed by the general assembly, but shall not be less than ten (10%) per cent nor more than twenty (20%) per cent of the qualified electors of each of the congressional districts of the state. Petitions therefor shall be addressed to and filed with the secretary of state within ninety (90) days from the final adjournment of the general assembly which passed the act to which the petition is addressed, and shall contain a full text of that part of the act to be referred; but such right and power shall not extend or apply to an act passed by the general assembly relating to the preservation of the public peace, public health or appropriations for the support and maintenance of the department of state and state institutions. All acts, and parts thereof, enacted by the general assembly and submitted to the people shall be and remain in full force and effect until rejected by the people, as herein provided.

Until the general assembly enacts a law fixing the per cent of qualified electors required for petition, the required per cent shall in all cases be fifteen (15%) per cent of the qualified electors of each of the congressional districts of the state.

The whole number of votes cast for secretary of state at the regular general election last preceding the filing of petition shall be the basis for the number of legal voters required to sign such petition.

The veto power of the governor shall not apply or extend to any measure initiated and enacted by the people.

All measures for propsed laws under the initiative or referred under the referendum shall be submitted to the people for adoption or rejection at the regular biennial election first occurring after the filing of the petition.

All measures for proposed laws under the initiative shall become a law when approved by a majority of the voters whose votes are cast thereon, and shall take effect as hereinafter provided.

Any measure referred under the referendum shall cease to be a law when rejected by a majority of the voters whose votes ar cast thereon and proclamation has been made by the governor as hereinafter provided. All proposed laws under the initiative shall take effect and any measure referred under the referendum shall cease to be a law from and after the date of official declaration of the vote thereon by proclamation issued by the governor, which shall be not later than thirty days after the vote has been canvassed by the state canvassing board for that purpose, composed of the governor, secretary of state and attorney general, and certificate thereof made not later than December first following the election.

The petition comtemplated by this section shall consist of sheets having such general form, printed or written, as shall be prescribed by the secretary of state, and shall be signed by the required number of qualified electors, in their proper persons only, to which shall be attached the resident addresses of such persons signing the petition and the date of signing. To each of such sheets shall be attached and made a part thereof an affidavit of some qualified elector that each signature thereon is the signature of the person whose name it purports to be, and that, to the best of the knowledge and belief of the affiant, each of the persons signing said petition was, at the time of signing, a qualified elector. Such petition, so verified, shall be prima facie evidence that the signatures thereon are genuine and true, and that the persons signing the same are qualified electors of the state of Iowa.

Immediately upon the filing of a petition for the submission of a proposed law to the voters, the secretary of state shall submit the said proposed law to the supreme court for its opinion upon the constitutionality thereof, which shall be rendered within twenty (20) days, and if the court finds that the proposed measure conflicts with the constitution of the United States or the state of Iowa, the proposed measure shall not be submitted.

Until the general assembly shall provide by law a method of procedure of printing, distributing and submitting proposed measures, the secretary of state shall, ninety (90) days preceding the general election at which the measure will be voted upon, cause to be printed any and all measures for or to which petition has been filed, in pamphlet form, containing the full text thereof, with the title and enacting clause, together with arguments for and against the same, within the limits prescribed by the secretary of state. The number printed shall be not less than one for each voter voting at the last general election preceding the filing of the petition, which shall be delivered to the county auditor of each county.

Each voter in each voting precinct of each political party voting at the last general election, the auditor of each county shall deliver one copy to each precinct committeeman of each political party in the county.

The secretary of state shall submit all measures petitioned for in accordance with the provisions of this section, to the people for adoption or rejection at the polls in compliance herewith; but the right and power reserved to the people shall not operate to deprive or limit the power of the general assembly to enact laws.

If, at an election, conflicting measures submitted to the voters of the state shall be approved by a majority of the votes, severally cast thereon, the measure receiving the highest number of affimative votes shall become law as to all conflicting provisions.

Insofar as applicable, the provisions of this amendment shall govern in the initiative and adoption of amendments to the constitution; provided, however, that no amendment so submitted shall become a part of the constitution until it shall have first received an affirmative majority vote at two successive regular biennial elections, the majority vote at the first of which shall be the authority for preparation of the ballot and re-submission at the second. The word "enacted" shall be replaced by the word "resolved" in the enacting clause when amendments to the constitution are submitted.

This section of the constitution shall be, in all respects, self-executive.

Any officer, employe or agent of the commission or a commissioner who divulges any fact or information which may have come to his knowledge during the course of any examination, investigation or audit under this section, except in so far as he may be directed by the commission or by any court of competent jurisdiction, shall upon conviction thereof be fined not more than one thousand dollars or imprisoned in a county jail for not more than six months or both.

Sec. 30. Every common carrier shall file with the commission and shall print and keep open to public inspection, schedules showing the rates, fares, charges and classifications for the transportation of passengers and property within the state from each point upon its route to all other points thereon, and from each point upon its route to all points upon every route leased, operated or controlled by it; and from each point upon its route or upon any route leased, operated or controlled by it to all points upon the route of any other common carrier, whenever a thrugh route and joint rate shall have been established or ordered between any two such points. If no joint rate over a through route has been established, the several carriers in such through route shall file, print and keep open to public inspection the separately established rates, fares, charges and classifications applicable to the through transportation.

The schedules, printed as aforesaid, shall plainly state the places between which property and persons will be carried; and shall also contain the classification or classifications of passangers or property; and shall also state separately all terminal charges, storage charges, icing charges, and all other charges which the commission may require to be stated, all privileges or facilities granted or allowed and any and all rules and regulations which may in anywise change, affect or determine any part or the aggregate of, such rates, fares and charges, or the value of the service rendered to the passenger, shippr or consignee.

Such schedules shall be plainly printed in large type, and a copy thereof shall be kept by every such carrier, readily accessible to and for inspection by the public in every station or office of such carrier where passengers and property are respectively receipted for transportation, when such station or office is in charge of any agent; and in every station or office of such carrier where passenger tickets for transportation or tickets covering sleeping or parlor car or other train accommodations are sold, or bills of lading or receipts for property are issued.

Any and all such schedules, kept as aforesaid, shall be produced by such carrier for inspection upon the demand of any person. A notice printed in bold type and stating that such schedules are on file with the agent and open to inspection by any person and that the agent will assist any such person to determine from such schedules any transportation rates or fares, or rules or regulations which are in force, shall be kept posted by the carrier in at least two public and conspicuous places in every station or office.

The form of every such schedule shall be prescribed by the commission, and in the case of common carriers subject to the provisions of the interstate commerce act shall conform as nearly as may be to the forms of schedules prescribed by the interstate commission.

(2) under such rules and regulations as the commission shall prescribe, every public utility, other than a common carrier, shall file with the commission, within such time and in such form as the commission may designate and prescribe, and shall plainly print and keep open to public inspection, schedules showing all rates, tolls, rentals, charges and classifications made, collected or enforced, or to be made, collected or enforced, for any service or supply by it rendered or furnished or to be rendered or furnished, within this state, together with all rules, regulations, conditions and limitations, facilities, privileges and forms of contracts or agreements in any manner affecting or relating to such rates, tolls, rentals, charges, classifications, service and supply.

(3) The commission shall have power from time to time in its discretion to determine and prescribe by order, such changes in the forms of schedules to be filed under the provisions of this section, as may be found expedient or desirable, and to modify the requirements of any of its orders, rules or regulations with respect to any of the matters in this section mentioned, either in particular instances or by general rule or order applicable to general or to special or peculiar circumstances or conditions.

(4) Unless the commission shall otherwise order, no change shall be made in any rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll, charge, classification, privilege or facility, or in any rule or regulation or form of contract or agreement affecting the same, shown in any schedule filed in accordance with this section, except after thirty (30) days' notice to the commission, which notice shall plainly state the changes proposed to be amed in the schedule or schedules then in force and the time when such change or changes will go into effect:

Provided, however, that any public utility desiring to increase any rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll or charge now or hereafter in force, shall make application to the commission, in which application shall be set out the old rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll or charge, and the proposed rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll or charge, together with the reasons upon which such proposed increase is asked, and thereupon the commission shall fix a time for hearing and shall give notice of such hearing, and at such hearing the commerce counsel shall appear for the people and against the said increase, and the commission shall determine upon such hearing in the manner as provided in section thirty-seven (37) of this act, whether or not the said proposed rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll or charge or any part thereof shall become effective; but no raise in any rate, joint rate, fare, rental, toll or charge shall become effective without the approval of the commission.

Notice of such change or changes shall also be given to the public in such manner as the commission, after receipt of notice to it hereunder shall direct.

The commission for good cause shown may, by order, allow changes without requiring the notice to it or previous notice to the public, under such conditions as it shall prescribe and may suspend the taking effect of such changes under the circumstances and in the manner hereinafter provided.

At the time when any changes hereunder take effect, they shall be plainly indicated upon existing schedules or new schedules shall be printed and filed as the commission may order.

Sec. 31. The names of the several public utilities which are parties to any joint tariff, rate, fare, toll, charge, contract or classification, shall be specified in the schedule or schedules showing the same. Unless otherwise ordered by the commission, any schedule showing such joint tariff, rate, fare, toll, charge, contract or classification need be filed with the commission by only one of the parties thereto; provided the other party or each of the other parties thereto shall file with the commission such evidence of concurrence therein or acceptance thereof as may be required or approved by the commission.

Every common carrier shall file with the commission duly certified copies of every contract, agreement, lease or arrangement with any other common carrier or common caries in any wise relating to the transportation of persons or property.

Sec. 32. (1) Nothing in this act shall be taken to prohibit any corporation or person engaged in the production, generation, transmission or furnishing of heat, light, water or power, or telephone service, from establishing a sliding scale of charges, or from entering into any reasonable arrangement with its customers or consumers or its employes for a fixed period for the automatic adjustment of charges for any service or supply rendered or furnished or to be rendered or furnished and the payment of dividends or the distribution of surplus profits; provided that any such sliding scale or arrangement shall have first been filed with and approved by the commission; but nothing in this paragraph shall operate to prevent the commission, after the expiration of such fixed period, from fixing or prescribing proper, just and reasonable rates and charges to be made for service or supply as authorized by this act, or from revoking its approval of any arrangement hereunder or amending or rescinding all orders relating thereto when in its judgment such arrangement shall be no longer practicable or advantageous to the parties interested or injurious to the public.

(2) Nothing in this act shall be taken to prohibit any public tility from itself profiting from any economies, efficiencies, and improvements which it may make; or from distributing by way of dividends, or otherwise disposing of, the profits resulting therefrom; and the commission is authorized to determine to what extent, if any, such utility may have the benefit of the economies, efficiencies, and improvements, and to what extent, if any, efficiencies and improvements shall inure to the benefit of the public in the reduction of rates and charges for service.

Sec. 33. (1) The provisions of this act and of the present laws or any future law of this state shall govern the interchange of passenger and property traffic between the lines owned, operated, controlled or leased by a common carrier and the lines of every other common carrier without discrimination between shippers, passengers or carriers, either as to compensation, charge, service rendered or facilities afforded.

Provided, however—

(a) That preference may always be given for transportation of live stock and perishable property;

(b) That every railroad corporation and every electric railroad corporation shall make or permit to be made, a physical connection or connections between any railroad operated by it and the railroad or any other railroad corporation or electric railroad corporation whenever the commission shall find and order that public convenience and necessity require such physical connection or connections; and that such physical connection or connections can reasonably be made by the construction and maintenance of switch or track connection or interchange track at connecting points, and without thereby causing irreparable injury to either of such corporations or substantial detriment to the service to be rendered by each such corporation.

And in like manner and subject to like restrictions every street railway corporation shall permit a physical connection or connections to be made between any street railway operated by it and the street railway of any other street railway corporation, in addition to furnishing the facilities required by chapter 104, acts of the Thirty-second General Assembly of Iowa.

(c) The commission may when in its judgment the interests of the public will be subserved thereby, after due hearing upon not less than thirty days notice given to the utility or utilities thereby affected, make such order or regulation as may be necessary to require or permit any railway, interurban railway, or street railway to use a portion of the tracks, grounds, terminals and other facilities of any other railway, interurban railway or street railway, taking into consideration the duties, rights and interests of the corporation or utility whose tracks, terminals or other facilities are to be so used and providing in said order, rule or regulation for just and reasonable compensation for such use thereof as is permitted, which compensation shall be fixed by the commission in case the utilities interested fail to agree.

A railroad corporation or an electric railroad corporation shall not be required to interchange cars with a street railway corporation except on such terms and conditions as the commission may, after hearing, order and direct.

(2) The commission shall have power by order to require any two or more telegraph or telephone public utilities whose lines form a continuous line of communication or could be made to do so by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections at common points, between different localities which are not reached by the line of either company alone, or between any telephone system and any local switching station maintained by one or more rural mutual telephone lines for the convenience of their members, but not maintaining a general local exchange or between any two telephone systems maintained in any municipality and which are owned or controlled either directly or indirectly by the same persons or company, to establish through lines within the state between two or more such localities or to establish physical connection between such local telephone system and such rural switching station or between such two telephone systems so owned or controlled by the same person or company in one municipality, and to establish joint rates or charges for such service and to fix the terms and conditions under which such joint service shall be rendered; and in case such through lines and joint rates be not established by the utilities named in any such order within the time therein specified, the commission shall have power by order to establish the same and fix the just and reasonable rates and charges to be charged for such through service and to declare the portion thereof to which each of the said utilities affected thereby shall be entitled and the manner in which the same shall be secured and paid. The term "physical connection" as used in this sub-section means such number of trunk lines or complete wire circuits and connections as may be required to furnish reasonably adequate telephone service between such public utilities.

(3) Every public utility having conduits, subways, poles or other equipment on, over or under any street or highway shall for a reasonable compensation and upon such terms and conditions as the commission shall prescribe and order, permit the use of the same by any other public utility, whenever, in the judgment of the commission, public convenience and necessity require such use, and when such use will not result in irreparable or serious injury or damage to the public utility owning such conduits, subways, poles or equipment, nor in any substantial detriment to the service to be rendered or supply furnished by such public utility.

Sec. 34. Every public utility shall annually on such day as the commission may designate, transmit to the commission a report for the year ending on a preceding day to be fixed by the commission which shall be called the annual report, and shall be verified in such manner as required by the commission. In case any verification be not made upon the knowledge of the person verifying the same, he shall state in his certificate the sources of his information and the grounds of his belief as to any matters not stated to be verified upon his personal knowledge.

Such annual report shall set forth in addition to the present requirements of law, such facts, statistics and particulars, and in such items, relative to the public utility, its business, operations, receipts and expenditures, and all such other information as may be required by the commission.

The commission shall prescribe and shall annually furnish to the public utilities blank forms for such annual reports. The commission may from time to time make such changes and additions in such forms as it may deem proper and desirable, giving to the public utilities reasonable notice of any changes or additions which require a substantial alteration in the methods or forms of keeping their accounts.

In case of public utilities subject to the supervision or regulation of the interstate commerce commission or other federal authority, the forms prescribed for such annual reports shall conform as nearly as may be to those required of such public utilities by the interstate commerce commission or such other federal authority.

If a report is defective or appears to be erroneous, the commission shall notify the public utility to amend it within fifteen days.

The commission may extend the time for making and filing the annual report for a period not exceeding sixty days.

The originals of the annual reports, subscribed and verified as hereinabove provided, shall be preserved in the office of the commission and be open to the inspection of the public.

The commission may also require of any public utility periodical or special statements or reports concerning any matters about which the commission is authorized or required by this or any other act to inquire or keep itself informed or which it is required to regulate, supervise or enforce; which periodical or special statements or reports shall cover such period and shall be furnished within the time and be verified in the manner prescribed by the commission.

The commission may at any time require of any public utility specific answers to questions upon which the commission may need information and which it shall deem necessary or desirable to enable it to carry into effect any of the profisions of this act.

If any public utility shall fail to make and file its annual report within the time in this section specified, or within the time as extended by the commission, or shall fail to amend such report within the time above specified, or shall fail to make the periodical or special statements or reports when and as required by the commission, as in this section provided, or shall fail to make specific answers to any questions asked of it by the commission pursuant to the authority of this or any other act, such public utility shall forfeit to the state the sum of twenty-five dollars for each and every day it shall continue to be in default with respect to such annual report, amendment, periodical or special statement or report or answer, which forfeiture shall be recovered in an action brought by the commission in the name of the people of the state of Iowa. The amount recovered in any such action shall be put in the state treasury and credited to the general fund. Provided, however, that nothing in this section contained shall be construed to cause any municipality to forfeit or pay a sum greater than fifty dollars ($50.00); but the forfeiture herein provided may be enforced against the officer or officers offending or failing to report.

Sec. 35. (1). The commission shall keep itself informed as to the condition of the public utilities subject to its supervision, their capitalization, their franchises and the manner in which they are managed, conducted, controlled and operated, not only with reference to the adequacy, security and accommodation of the service afforded by them, but also with respect to their compliance with their charters, the laws of this state, and the orders, directions and requirements of the commission.

It may inquire into the rates, charges, regulations, practices, equipment and services of public utilities, or it may designate persons to inquire into these matters.

(2) The commission shall have power, either through its members or responsible agents, engineers, inspectors, and consumers duly authorized by it, to enter upon the premises and to inspect the property, equipment, buildings, plants, factories, power houses and offices of any public utility for any purpose consistent with the provisions of this act. It shall have the power to set up and use on such premises any apparatus and appliances and occupy reasonable space therefor.

The power of inspection hereunder shall include the right to ride upon any freight or passenger locomotive or car while in service and to have upon reasonable notice the use of an inspection locomotive or inspection car, or inspection locomotive and inspection car, for a physical inspection once annually of all the lines and stations of each common carrier under its supervision.

(3) The commission shall investigate the cause of all accidents happening in conncetion with the operation of any public utility within the state and resulting in the serious injury or death of any person, and which in its judgment shall require investigation.

Every public utility shall give immediate notice, so far as possible, to the commission of every such accident happening in connection with its operation within the state, stating the time, place and circumstances of the accident and such other facts relative thereto as the commission may require.

Any commissioner, or any inspector or other employe of the commission duly authorized by it may attend any inquest held in the case of any such accident with power to cause any person having or believed to have knowledge of the facts and circumstances to be summoned as a witness to testify at such inquest.

(4) The commission after notice and a public hearing may by order ascertain and fix adequate and serviceable standards for the measurement of quality, quantity, pressure, initial voltage or other condition pertaining to the supply or quality of the product furnished or rendered by any water corporation, gas corporation or electrical corporation within the state, and prescribe reasonable regulations for examining and testing such product or service or for the measurement thereof. It may establish reasonable rules, regulations, specifications and standards to secure the accuracy of all meters and applicances for measurements; and prescribe from time to time standards of quality, quantity, pressure, and efficiency of water, gas and electric current manufactured, distributed, transmitted or sold by any such water corporation, gas corporation or electrical corporation, and every such corporation is hereby required to carry into effect all orders of the commission relative thereto.

Any consumer or user may have any appliance used for the measurement of any product or service of a water company or corporation or a gas or electrical corporation or company tested upon payment of the fees fixed by the commission. The commission may establish reasonable fees to be paid for testing such appliances on the request of the consumers or users, such fees to be paid by the consumer or user at the time the request is made and to be paid by the utility and repaid to the consumer or user if the appliance be found commercially defective or incorrect to the disadvantage of the consumers or users, under such regulations and conditions as the commission may prescribe.

The commission shall purchase such materials, apparatus and other instruments for examination and tests under this paragraph as it may deem necessary.

(5). The commission shall examine and inspect from time to time the methods employed by any water corporation, gas corporation or electrical corporation in manufacturing, distributing, transmitting, supplying or delivering water, gas or electricity, and shall have power to order such reasonable improvements and extensions of the works, wires, pipes, mains and poles, lines, conduits, ducts and such other reasonable devices, apparatus and property of such public utilities, as in its judgment will best promote the public interest, preserve the public health and protect those using such water, gas or electricity and those employed in the manufacture or distribution thereof.

Sec. 36. The commission may of its own motion investigate or make inquiry in a manner to be determined by it as to any act or thing done or omitted to be done by any public utility; and it shall be the duty of the commission to make such investigation or inquiry in regard to any act or thing done or omitted to be done by any such public utility in violation of any provision of law or of any order of the commission.

Complaints may be made to the commission by any person or corporation aggrieved, or by any civic body or municipal corporation, either by petition or complaint in writing, setting forth any thing or act done or omitted to be done by any public utility in violation or claimed to be in violation of any provision of law or of the terms and conditions of its franchises or of any order of the commission.

Upon the presentation of such complaint the commission shall cause a copy thereof to be forwarded to the public utility complained of, together with an order directed to such public utility requiring that the matters complained of be satisfied or that answer be made thereto in writing within a time to be specified in such order. If the public utility shall satisfy the complaint and shall notify the commission of that fact on or before the time allowed for answer, the commission need take no further action upon the complaint. If, however, the complaint be not satisfied and it shall appear to the commission that there are reasonable grounds for such complaint, it shall investigate the charges therein by such means as it shall deem proper and take such action within its power as the facts may justify.

In every case of complaint investigated by the commission it shall make and file an order dismissing the complaint or petition; or, after notice, give a hearing to the complainant or complainants and the public utility, and upon such hearing make and file an order either dismissing the complaint or petition or directing the public utility complained of to satisfy the cause of complaint in whole or to the extent which the commission may specify and require.

Any public utility may make complaint hereunder as to any matter affecting its own property, service or supply, and the procedure thereon shall be the same as in other cases of complaint.

Sec. 37. (1) (a) Whenever the commission after a hearing had upon its own motion or upon complaint shall find that the rates, fares, tolls, rentals, charges, joint rates, or any of them, demanded, exacted, charged, collected or made by any public utility for any service or suppy, or in connection therewith, or that the rules, regulations, practices, contracts or classifications of such public utility affecting such service or supply or such rates, fares, tolls, rentals, charges or joint rates, or any of them, are unjust, unreasonable, or unjustly or unduly discriminatory or preferential, or in any wise in violation of any provision of this act or any other law of this state, or that such rates, fares, tolls, rentals, charges or joint rates are insufficient to yield reasonable compensation for the services rendered or supply furnished, the commission shall, with due regard to a reasonable return upon the value of the property of said public utility actually used and useful for the convenience of the public, determine the just and reasonable rates, fares, tolls, rentals, charges, joint rates, rules, regulations, practices, contracts or classifications to be thereafter imposed, observed and enforced, and shall fix the same by order to be served upon such public utility, provided, however, that nothing in this act shall be deemed to modify or repeal any of the provisions of section 2077 of the Supplement to the Code, 1907.

(b) Nothing herein contained shall be held to prevent any municipality owning and operating any public utility within the provisions of this act, from fixing or determining the reasonable tolls, rates, charges, classifications and schedules for services to be rendered or furnished by such municipally owned public utilities, nor to prevent a municipality from constructing, installing and operating a light and power or gas plant, for the purpose of lighting the streets, alleys, parks and public property and buildings and furnishing power for city use and purposes.

(c) Complaints may be made to the commission by any municipality or public utility or by any twenty-five (25) consumers in any municipality by petition or complaint in writing, setting forth the unreasonableness or unlawfulness of any rates, fares, tolls, charges, classifications or schedules fixed, determined, or charged by any public utility other than those owned and operated by a municipality for the rendering or furnishing of any services, and upon the presentation of such complaint, the commission shall proceed in the general manner set forth in this section with reference to other complaints, and upon hearing, the commission shall determine and fix what shall be the reasonable rates, fares, tolls, charges, classifications or schedules or any of them.

(d) Complaints may be made to the commission by ten per cent of the consumers in any municipality by petition or complaint in wrtiing, setting forth the unreasonableness or unlawfulness of any tolls, rates, fares, charges, classifications or schedules fixed, determined or charged by any municipality owned public utility under the jurisdiction of the commission for the redering or furnishing of any service, or the failure of any such utility to furnish adequate service, and, upon the presentation of such complaint, the commission shall proceed in the general manner set forth in this section and, upon hearing, the commission shall determine and fix what shall be the reasonable rates, fares, tolls, charges, classifications or schedules or any of them, and what shall be adequate service. Provided, however, that before submitting such petition or complaint to such commission, the same shall have been submitted to the council of such municipality for consideration, and only those rates, joint rates, fares, rentals, tolls or charges upon which there is still a dispute, after said council shall have passed thereon, shall be submitted to said commission. If such council does not act upon such petition so presented within thirty days from the time same is so presented, then such petition or complaint may be taken direct to the commission.

(2) The commission shall have power to establish joint rates, fares, charges, transfers, on through routes between railroads, or between electric railroads, or between street railways, or between any railroad and any electric railroad, or between any electric railroad and any street railway. Nothing in this act contained shall be construed to affect, modify or repeal any of the provisions of chapter 104, of the acts of the Thirty-second General Assembly of the state of Iowa (incorporated in the Supplement to the Code, 1907, as sections 2110-c, 2110-d, 2110-e and 2110-f) and the commission shall have full power and authority to make all orders, rules and regulations by it deemed necessary and proper for the purpose of enforcing the provisions and effectuating the objects and purposes of said chapter 104; provided, however, that all proceedings thereunder by the commission and all actions to enforce, vacate, or modify, and all appeals from, the orders of the commission thereunder shall be subject to and governed by the provisions of this act.

The commission shall have power by order to prescribe and establish just and reasonable joint rates, tolls or charges by two or more telephone corporations or by two or more telegraph corporations whose lines form a continuous line of communication or where it would be practicable to form such continuous line by the construction and maintenance of suitable connections or transfers of messages at common point.

In case the public utilities cannot agree upon the division or apportionment between them of such joint rates, tolls or charges established hereunder, the commission shall have power, after due hearing, by supplemental order to determine and prescribe such division or apportionment and the manner in which the same shall be paid or secured. Such supplemental order shall take effect as part of the original order from the time such supplemental order shall become effective.

(3) The commission shall have power, when deemed by it necessary to prevent injury to the business or interests of the people or of any public utility of the state, in case of an emergency, to be judged of by the commission, to temporarily alter, amend, or, with the consent of the public utility concerned, suspend any existing rates, schedules and orders relating to or affecting any public utility or part of any public utility in this state.

Any order of the commission under this subdivision (3) may apply to any one or more of the public utilities in this state, and shall take effect at such time and remain in force for such period as may be prescribed therein.

Sec. 38. Whenever the commission, after hearing, shall find that the rules, regulations, practices, equipment, appliances, facilities, service or supply of any public utility are unjust, unreasonable, unsanitary, insufficient, inadequate, or otherwise in violation of law, the commission shall have power to determine with such particularity as the case demands, and fix and prescribe by order the just, reasonable, sufficient and adequate rules, regulations, practices, equipment, appliances, facilities, service or supply thereafter to be observed, used, furnished or rendered by such public utility; and after the service of such order, it shall be the duty of the public utility to observe and obey each and every requirement of the order and to do everything necessary or proper in order to secure compliance with and observance of such order by all its officers, agents, and employes.

Sec. 39. Whenever the commission, after hearing, shall find that additions, extensions, terminal facilities, stations, apparatus, equipment, facilities or devices ought reasonably to be provided by any public utility to or for use in connection with its plant or property, or that any repairs or improvements to or changes in any thereof in use ought reasonably to be made, in order to promote the security, convenience or welfare of the public, or the safety of employes, or in any other way to secure adequate service or facilities, the commission shall by order direct that such additions, extensions, terminal facilities, stations, apparatus, equipment, facilities, devices, repairs, improvements, or changes to be made or provided in the manner and within a reasonable time to be specified in such order; and after the service of such order, it shall be the duty of the public utility to observe and obey each and every requirement of the order.

If any such additions, extensions, terminal facilities, stations, apparatus, equipment, facilities, repairs, improvements or changes ordered by the commission under the provisions of this act require joint action by two or more public utilities, the commission shall in its order notify such public utilities that such additions, extensions, terminal facilities, stations, equipment, facilities, devices, repairs, improvements or changes shall be made or furnished at their joint cost, whereupon such public utilities shall have such reasonable time as the commission may grant within which to agree upon the portion of the cost or expense of such additions, extensions, terminal facilities, stations, equipment, facilities, devices, repairs, improvements or changes which each shall bear. If within the time fixed such public utility shall fail to file with the commission a statement that an agreement has been made for such apportionment, the commission shall have authority, after further hearing, by order to fix the proportion of such cost or expense to be borne by each such public utility and the manner in which the same shall be paid or secured.

Sec. 40. The commission shall have the power to investigate and ascertain the value of the property of every public utility in the state and every fact which in its judgment has, or may have, any bearing upon such value.

Separate valuations may be made for the different purposes of public purchase and rate making.

Before final determination of the value of the property of any public utility, in a proceeding involving the rates and charges of such public utility, or the public purchase of its property, or the issuance of its stocks, bonds, notes, or other evidence of indebtedness, the commission shall, after not less than thirty (30) days' notice in writing to the public utility concerned, hold a public hearing as to such valuation, at which all parties to such proceedings shall be entitled to be heard, to be represented by counsel, to introduce evidence at such hearing, and to have process to enforce the attendance of witnesses.

Any order of the commission fixing the value of the property of a public utility for any of the purposes herein mentioned shall include findings of fact as to all matters bearing upon such value and which have been investigtted by the commission or concerning which evidence may have been adduced and shall also state the bases, standards, or elements of value considered by the commission in arriving at such value.

The commission may from time to time cause further hearings and investigations to be had for the purpose of making a revaluation of the property of any public utility by reason of betterments, improvements, additions, or extensions to such property subsequent to any original order of valuation of its property hereunder, or by any reason of any other matter which may change, modify, or affect any findings of fact made in such original order; and may, at any time after due hearing make any finding of fact supplementary to those made in any previous order.

Every such supplementary hearing shall be had upon the same notice and be conducted in the same manner, and the order therein shall have the same force and effect as is provided in this section in the case of an original hearing and order with respect to valuation.

The finding of facts of any order made at such supplemental hearing shall be considered in connection with and as supplementary thereto or amendatory thereof, as the case may be.

In making any valuation under this section, the commission shall have access to and use of any books, documents, or records in the possession of any department or board of the state or of any municipality or other political or governmental subdivision of the state; and may resort to any other source of information available.

In all computations relative to reasonable rates of charges for services or supplies, the value of the plant for rate making purposes, the operating expenses, the earnings, etc., of a public utility, the commission shall make proper allowances for depreciation, sufficient to replace the property and the parts thereof, but it shall make no allowance for an amortization fund, in those cases in which the aforesaid depreciation is allowed.

In valuation for rate making purposes, no franchise right or privilege granted to a public utility by the state or by a political subdivision thereof shall be appraised, fixed, or considered at any greater sum or value than the sum paid therefor into the public treasury of the state, or of the political subdivision granting the same.

(2) All the findings of the commission as to the value of properties subject to their jurisdiction, when properly certified under the seal of the commission, shall be admissable in evidence in any action, proceeding or hearing, before the commission or any court, in which the commission, the state or any office, department or institution thereof, or any county, municipality or other body politic and the public utility affected may be interested, when arising under the provisions of this act or amendments thereto, and such findings when so introduced, shall be conclusive evidence of the facts therein stated, as of the date therein stated, under conditions then existing, and such facts can only be controverted by showing a subsequent change in condition bearing upon the facts therein determined. The commission may, from time to time, cause further hearings and investigations to be had for the purpose of making revaluations or ascertaining the values of any betterments, improvements, additions or extensions made by any public utility subsequent to any prior hearing or investigation and may examine into all matters which may change, modify or affect and finding of fact previously made, and may at such time make findings of fact supplementary to those theretofore made. Such hearings shall be had upon the same notice and be conducted in the same manner and the findings so made shall have the same force and effect as provided herein for such original notice, hearings and findings; provided, that such findings made at such supplemental hearings or investigations shall be considered in connection with and as a part of the original findings, except in so far as such supplemental findings shall change or modify the findings made at the original hearing or investigation.

(3) After the first day of January, 1914, it shall be the duty of the commission to value the property of public utilities for the purpose of taxation and equalization, and to enable said commission to do so, the executive council shall make available the data contained in the reports required to be filed with the council by existing statutes. The commission shall send certified copies of said values to the executive council or any other state tribunal having jurisdiction over state taxes and assessable values of said properties, at such dates as may be required by the executive council or other tribunal provided the commission can with reasonable diligence furnish the same on such dates.

The said values as found by the public service commission shall be evidence before the executive council or other tribunal and in all courts of the state, of the assessable values of said properties for taxation and esualization purposes. Accompanying the aforesaid certified statement of the assessable values the commission shall send a statement of the processes of all computations entering into the said findings of value, together with a detailed description of all the methods used and the principles upon which such values are based.

In determining the said values the commission shall consider all the factors now prescribed by statute, or which shall be deemed by it, as proper for consideration in determining values for taxation purposes, and shall give such weight to said factors as in the judgment of the members of said commission is fair and just.

The value of all franchises, rights or privileges granted to a public utility by the state, or by a political subdivision thereof, shall be appraised and included in valuations made by the commission for taxation purposes.

The executive council shall use said values so determined and certified with such other evidence, facts and data as are required to be considered in assessing said public utilities under the statutes of the state.

Sec. 41. (1) No public utility shall exercise any right or privilege under any franchise or license hereafter granted, or under any franchise or license heretofore granted but not hertofore actually exercised or acted upon, without first having obtained from the commission a certificate that public convenience or necessity requires the exercise of such right or privilege.

No public utility shall hereafter begin the construction of a street railway, gas plant, electric plant, water plant, water power plant, heating or refrigerating plant, or telephone line, or any extension thereof or addition thereto, without first having obtained from the commission a certificate that the present or future convenience and necessity require or will require such construction. Provided, that nothing herein shall be construed to require any such public utility to secure such certificate for an extension within any municipality in which it shall have, prior to the passage of this act, commenced the construction of any such publi utility plant; or for extension into territory, either within or without a muniipality contguous to its plant, line, system or structure and not then served by a public utility of like character; or for an extension within or to territory already served by it necessary or convenient in the ordinary course of its business. And provided further that if any such public utility in constructing or extending its line, plant, system or structure shall interfere or be about to interfere with the construction or operation of any line, plant, system or structure of any other public utility already constructed or in course of construction, the commission, on complaint of the public utility claiming to be injuriously affected, may, after hearing, make such order precluding, or prescribing such terms and conditions for the location of the proposed construction or extension as it may deem lawful, just and reasonable.

(2) No franchise, license or permit shall hereafter be granted to any person or corporation to construct and operate, manage or control any street railway, gas plant, electric plant, water plant, water power plant, heating or refrigerating plant, telephone line, or telephone exchange within the limits of any municipality in the state where there is in operation a public utility engaged in similar service, without first procuring from the commission, after a public hearing, upon due notice to all parties interested, an order finding that public necessity and convenience require such second public utility.

Nothing in this subdivision (2) of this section shall be construed as preventing or imposing any condition upon the extension of any telephone line from any point outside the limits of any municipality into or through such municipality for the purpose of connecting with any telephone exchange therein or of connecting with any other telephone line system; or as preventing or imposing any condition upon the extension of any electric railroad from any point outside the limits of any municipality into or through such municipality for the purpose of connecting with any other electric railroad or any street railway.

No municipality shall hereafter construct any gas plant, electric plant, water plant or any other public utility where there is in operation in such municipality a public utility engaged in similar service, without first securing from the commission after public hearing of all parties interested, a certificate that public necessity and convenience require such municipal public utility plant, but nothing herein shall prevent the municipality or its grantee from acquiring any such existing public utility plant other than a telephone plant as and in the manner hereinafter in this act provided.

(3) The commission shall have power, after due hearing, to issue any certificate under the provisions in this section, or to refuse to issue the same; or to issue a certificate for the partial exercise of a right or privilege under any franchise, license or permit; or to issue a certificate for the construction of only a portion of a contemplated street railway, gas plant, electric plant, water plant, or water power plant, heating or refrigerating plant, or telephone line or exchange, or any extension thereof, whenever in its judgment public necessity or convenience so requires.

The commission may attach to the exercise of the rights granted by any such certificate such reasonable terms and conditions as are deemed necessry and convenient for the public service.

If a public utility desires to exercise a right or privilege under a franchise, license or permit which it contemplates securing, but which has not yet been granted to it, it may apply to the commission for an order preliminary to the issuance of a certificate hereunder. The commission may thereupon make an order declaring that it will thereafter upon application, and under such rules and regulations and upon such terms and conditions as it may prescribe and designate in such order, issue the desired certificate after the public utility has obtained the contemplated franchise, license or permit. Upon presentation to the commission of evidence satisfactory to it that such franchise, license or permit has been secured by such public utility, the commission shall thereupon issue such certificate.

(4) Every franchise, license or permit hereafter granted any public utility for the construction, operation or maintenance of any street railway, gas plant, electric plant, water plant, water power plant, heating or refrigerating plant, or telephone line or system shall have the effect of an indeterminate permit as that term is defined in section two (2) of this act, and shall be subject to all the provisions of this act and to the provisions that a municipality in which any such public utility plant is situated, may at any time purchase such plant, excepting telephone line or system, in the manner and upon the terms and conditions provided in this act.

Any municipality is authorized to purchase such property, other than a teiephone plant, and every public utility, other than a telephone plant, accepting and operating under any franchise, license or permit hereafter granted shall thereby be deemed to consent to a future purchase by the municipality in which such public utility is situated, in the manner and under the terms and conditions rpovided in this act.

After filing such written declaration with the commission, together with a certificate of the clerk or other recording officer of the municipality or other authority issuing such franchise, license or permit, the public utility shall thereupon receive a certificate under the hand and seal of the commission that such public utility is on and after the day therein specified the holder of an indeterminate permit hereunder; which certificate of the commission shall be conclusive as to the granting and existence of such indeterminate permit.

Every franchise, license or permit heretofore granted by the state or by any political or governmental subdivision thereof under delegated authority, to any railroad corporation or electric railroad corporation for the constuction maintenance or operation of its railroad or electric railroad along, upon, across, over or under any public highway, road, bridge, place, street, canal or water course, except where the right to remove or order the removal of tracks, switches, spurs and other appliances of said railroad or electric railroad is expressly reserved by ordinance or contract, is hereby declared to constitute and be an indeterminate permit during the corporate life and all extensions thereof (as stated in the articles of incorporation, subject, however, to all of the terms and provisions of this act).

Such number of copies of such report, together with such abstracts of the reports to the commission by the public utilities in the state, as the commission shall deem desirable, in addition to the regular number prescribed by law, shall be printed as a public document of the state, bound in cloth for the use of the commission and to be distributed by it in its discretion to corporations and persons interested therein.

(4) The commission shall charge and collect the following fees:

(a) For copies of papers and records not required to be certified or otherwise authenticated by the commission, 10 cents for each folio of one hundred words.

All fees charged and collected by the commission shall be paid into the treasury of the state to the credit of the public service commission fund.

Sec. 47. (1) The commission may conduct its proceedings in such manner as will best conduce to the proper dispatch of business and to the ends of justice.

All hearings before the commission or any commissioner shall be governed by this act and by rules to be adopted and prescribed by the commission; but in all investigations, inquiries or hearings, the commission or commissioners shall not be bound by technical rules of legal evidence.

The commission may from time to time make or amend such general rules or orders as it may deem requisite for the order and regulation of proceedings before it.

(2) The forms of notices and services thereof shall be of substantially the same character as those in use in the district courts of this state.

(3) Any person entitled to complain before the commission or a commissioner, or whom the commission or commissioner may admit to be heard, may appear before the commission or commissioner and be heard in person or by attorney.

(4) The commission or any commissioner or the secretary of the commission or any agent duly authorized shall have power to examine witnesses, take testimony and administer oaths in all cases investigated and inquiries or examinations made by the commission or a commissioner; and to cause the depositions of witnesses residing within or without the state to be taken in such manner as the commission may by rule prescribe; and to compel by subpoenae duces tecum the production of any accounts, books, or contracts, records, documents, memoranda and papers of any kind whatever.

(5) All subpoenaes shall be signed and issued by a commissioner or by the secretary of the commission, and may be served by any person of full legal age.

(7) If a person subpoenaed to attend before the commission or a commissioner fails to obey the command of such subpoena, without reasonable cause, or if any person whose deposition has been ordered taken shall refuse to subscribe and swear to his deposition after it has been correctly reduced to writing, or if a person in attendance before the commission or a commissioner refuses, without reasonable cause, to be sworn or to be examined or answer a legal and pertinent question or to produce any book or paper when ordered so to do by the commission or commissioner, the commission or commissioner may apply to any judge of a district court for an order returnable forthwith directing such person to show cause before the judge who made the order or any other judge of said district court, why he should not be punished for contempt. Upon the return of such order the judge before whom the matter shall come on for hearing shall examine under oath such person so cited, and such person shall be given an opportunity to be heard; and if the judge shall determine that such person has refused without reasonable cause or legal excuse to be examined or to answer a legal and pertinent question or to produce a book or paper which he was ordered to produce, he may forthwith deal with such person as for contempt of court and impose such punishment by way of fine or imprisonment, or both, as is now or may hereafter be provided by law for contempts.

(8) No person shall be excused from testifying or from producing any book, document or paper in any investigation or inquiry, examination, hearing or proceeding by or before the commission or a commissioner, when ordered so to do by the commission or commissioner, upon the ground that the testimony or evidence, book, document or paper required of him may tend to incriminate him or subject him to penalty or forfeiture; but no person shall be prosecuted, punished, or subjected to penalty or forfeiture for or on account of any act, transaction, matter or thing concerning which, under oath, after claiming his privilege, he shall by order of the commission or commissioner have testified or produced documentary evidence; provided, however, that no person so testifying shall be exempt from prosecution or punishment for any perjury committed by him in his testimony.

Nothing herein contained is intended to give or shall be construed as in any manner giving to any corporation immunity of ay kind.

Section 48. Copies of all official documents and orders filed or deposited according to law in the office of the commission, certified by a commissioner or by the secretary of the commission under its seal to be true copies of the originals shall be evidence in like manner as the originals in all courts of this state.

Sec. 49. Every order of the commission shall be served upon the person or corporation to be affected thereby, either by personal delivery or a certified copy thereof or by mailing a certified copy thereof in a sealed package with postage prepaid to the person to be affected thereby or in case of a corporation, to any officer or agent thereof upon whim a summons may be served under the laws of this state.

It shall be the duty of every such person or corporation to notify the commission forthwith in writing of the receipt of the certified copy of every order so served, and in case of a corporation such modification must be signed and acknowledged by a person or officer duly authorized by the corporation to admit such service. Within a time specified in the order of the commission every person or corporation upon whom it is served, must, if so required by the order, otify the commission in like manner whether the terms of the order are accepted and will be obeyed.

Every order of the commission shall take effet at a time therein specified and shall continue in force either for a period which may be designated therein or until changed or abrogated by the commission.

Sec. 50. (1) The commission may at any time upon notice to the person or corporation affected and after an opportunity to be heard as provided in the case of original proceedings hereunder, rescind, alter or amend any order or rule made or issued by it; and any order or rule rescinding, altering or amending any prior order or rule shall when served upon the person or corporation affected thereby have the same effect as herein provided for original orders and rules.

(2) After any order or decision has been made by the commission, any party to the action or proceeding, or any stockholder or bondholder or other party pecuniarily interested in the public utility affected, may petition for a rehearing in respect to any matters determined in said action or proceeding and specified in the petition for rehearing, and the commission may grant and hold such rehearing on said matters, if in its judgment sufficient reason therefor be made to appear. No cause of action arising out of any order or decision of the commission shall accrue in any court to any corporation or person, unless such corporation or person shall have made petition to the commission for a rehearing as herein provided. Such petition shall set forth specifically the ground or grounds on which the petitioner considers said decision or order to be unlawful. No corporation or person shall, in any court urge or rely on any ground not so set forth in said petition.

The petition for rehearing and the procedure thereafter, shall be governed by such general rules as the commission may establish; provided, however, that the petition for rehearing must be filed within twenty days after the decision by the commission is entered of record, and the parties to said case are notified of the same; and the said petition must be either granted or denied within thirty (30) days after the date on which the said petition was filed.

If said petition is not granted within said period, it may be taken by any party to said petition that the order involved is affirmed. If a petition for rehearing is granted, the same shall be heard within sixty (60) days after the same is granted, and determined within thirty (30) days from such hearing. If such determination is not made within said time it may be taken by any party to the rehearing that the order or decision involved is affirmed.

A petition for rehearing shall not excuse any corporation or person from complying with and obeying any order or decision or any requirement of any order or decision of the commission theretofore made; or operate in any manner to stay or postpone the enforcement thereof, except in such cases and upon such terms as the commission may by order direct. If, after such rehearing and a consideration of all the facts including those arising since the making of the order or decision, the commission shall be of the opinion that the original order or decision or any part thereof, is in any respect unjust or unwarranted, or should be changed, the commission may abrogate, change or modify the same. An order or decision made after such hearing abrogating, changing or modifying the original order or decision, shall have the same force and effect as an original order or decision; but shall not affect any right or the enforcement of any right arising from, or by virtue of, the original order or decision unless so ordered by the commission.

Sec. 51. Within ninety (90) days after the petition for a rehearing is denied, or if the petition is granted, then within ninety (90) days after the rendition of the decision on rehearing, any of the parties to the proceeding so determined may apply to the district court of the county in which the controversy arose, for a writ of certiorari or review (hereinafter referred to as a writ of review) for the purpose of having the lawfulness of the original order or decision, or the order or decision on rehearing, inquired into or determined. The findings and conclusions of the commission as to fact, shall be final and shall not be subject to appeal or review by any court; such questions of fact shall include ultimate facts, findings and conclusions of the commission as to fairness, reasonableness and justness. The district court of the county, in which the controversy arises, shall have the exclusive original jurisdiction to review, reverse or annul any order or decision of the commission; but such review shall not be extended further than to determine whether the order or decision, under review, is repugnant to the constitution of the state of Iowa or to the constitution of the United States or is in excess of the statutory powers conferred upon the commission, or is not within the jurisdiction of said commission. No new or additional evidence may be introduced in the review proceedings before the district court, but the cause shall be heard on the record of the commission as certified to by it; and no reversal or annulment of the order of decision of the commission shall be had except for want of power and jurisdiction as above provided.

The commission, and each party to the action, or proceeding before the commission, shall have the right to appear in the review proceeding. Upon the hearing the district court shall enter judgment either affirming or setting aside the order or decision of the commission. The provisions and laws of this state relating to writs of certiorari shall, so far as applicable, and not in conflict with the provisions of this act, apply to proceedings instituted in the district court under the provisions of this section.

This shall be additional to the methods of service otherwise provided by law.

Sec. 53. The district courts of this state shall have jurisdiction upon the aplication of the commission to enforce by proper decrees, injunctions and orders all valid orders, rules and rgulations of the commission.

seventy-five (75), range No. fourteen (14), west of 5th P. M., in Mahaska county, Iowa, said Loren and Frank Thompson having an unbroken title from their grantors back to the United States; and,

Whereas, on the 1st day of May, 1886, said M. L. Phillips, an unmarried man, borrowed from the permanent school fund of Mahaska county, the sum of two hundred dollars, ($200.00) and to secure the payment thereof executed to Mahaska county, Iowa, for the benefit of the school fund of said county, a first mortgage on the west half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter, (W. ½ N. E. ¼ N. W. ¼) of section No. thirty-five (35), township No. seventy-five (75) range No. fourteen (14), west of 5th P. M., Mahaska county, Iowa, securing a promissory note, with interest, for said amount, due five years after date, with interest thereon at the rate of eight per cent per annum, payable on the 1st day of January: and,

Whereas, said mortgagor having defaulted in the payment of the interest on raid loan, for over four years, said mortgage was foreclosed, as required by law, in the district court of Iowa, in and for Mahaska county, by decree entered therein in equity cause No. 6383, on the 2nd day of December, 1890: and,

Whereas, thereafter said premises, to-wit: west half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter (W½ N.E.¼ N.W.¼) of section No. thirty-five (53), township No. seventy-five (75), range No. fourteen (14) west of 5th P. M., Mahaska county, Iowa, was sold under execution issued on said judgment and decree, to said Mahaska county, Iowa, for the full amount of principal and interest then due on said loan, together with the costs of said foreclosure proceedings, and a certificate of purchase issued by the sheriff of said county to said purchaser; and,

Whereas, still later, there being no redemption made from said sale, a sheriff's deed of said premises was in due form of law executed to said Mahaska county, Iowa, on the 26th day of April, 1892: and,

Whereas, subsequent to said sale under execution, the permanent school fund of said county was duly credited in full for the aggregate principal and interest then due on said loan, thereby making said school fund whole in all respects, and preserving the same from any and all loss: and,

Whereas, thereafter, on the day of November session, 1891, said Mahaska county, through its board of supervisors, and upon the assumption that the title to said tract was absolutely in said county, entered into a contract with one F. M. Rogers, to sell said tract to him on the payment of three hundred sixty dollars, ($360) payable in payments of fifty dolars ($50.00) each, he to have five years to pay the same, with interest at the rate of eight per cent per annum: and,

Whereas, said note and mortgage given by said F. M. Rogers, having been duly paid, with interest, for more than ten years, as shown by the records of the auditor of Mahaska county, Iowa: and,

Whereas, since last described mortgage to Mahaska county, the following goodfaith sale and conveyance of said premises has been made, viz: F. M. Rogers and his wife, Rachel A. Rogers, sold and conveyed the same to Charles Martin, who is the present owner in fee of said real estate; and

Whereas, doubts have now arisen as to the legality of said sale and conveyance by the said sheriff of Mahaska county, and as to whether under the school fund laws of this state at that time, the title to said premises should not have been regarded as vesting in the county of Mahaska, state of Iowa, under said sheriff's deed, thereby necessitating a resale of said premises in the same manner as other school lands belonging to the state: now,

Therefore, in order to clear the apparent cloud resting upon said premises and the titlte thereto.

Be it Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Sec. 1. The governor of the state and the secretary of state are hereby authorized to issue to Charles Martin, upon investigation as to the facts set forth in the foregoing preamble, a patent for the west half of the northeast quarter of the northwest quarter (W½ NE¼ NW¼) of section thirty-five (35), township seventy-five (75), range fourteen (14) west of the 5th P. Carried.

President Pro Tem Savage appointed as such committee Senators Clarkson and Sullivan.

Senator Clarkson, in presenting the gavel and chair to President Harding, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—A very pleasant duty has been commissioned to me, the privilege of conveying to you on the part of the members of this Senate their appreciation of the many duties performed by you during the session of this General Assembly, and I take the opportunity at this time, in a general way and briefly, to say on the part of the Senate, that in the performance of the duties as members of the General Assembly, although we at times seemed to have presumed upon the ground of personal feeling, you have the assurance that it was far from our thought to infringe in any way upon anything that might break in upon senatorial dignity; rather, it was a firm and decided conviction as to the merits of the proposition we had in hand.

Representative government naturally bring on these conflicts where men come from different walks in life, surrounded as they are with different environments, looking at propositions from different viewpoints, our ideas conflict where we aim to accomplish the same purpose, namely the elevation and betterment of mankind. Naturally, we would expect conflict and out of that conflict arises a bitter feeling, but a greater and a better opportunity for mankind. Yet in the performance of that duty it is no more than natural that at times there would be expressions one might take to be personal feelings. After the conflict is over we look back upon the many struggles feeling confident that every member has sought to do what he honestly and conscientiously believed to be for the best interests of all concerned, and we have that thought uppermost in our mind and we want to say to you, Mr.President, that we recognize that in no small way your assistance here as presiding officer has contributed in a large degree in bringing about the action upon which the people will ultimately look with approval. Not that they will say we have in every respect done that which they would desire us to perform or that they are entirely satisfied with each and every act or part thereof, but we believe that as a whole they will ultimately feel confident that it has been a session doing the most good for the greatest number.

Mr. President, as a slight token of appreciation this Senate has commissioned this committee to present to you the chair which you have occupied during this assembly, together with this gavel. When you go home and while in your home we trust that in silent meditation we may at least occupy a part of your thought and time, and when the rush and turmoil of this is over nothing but the kindest thoughts will be conveyed one to the other.

On behalf of the so-called minority party, of which I am a member, and on behalf of the majority party of this General Assembly, we wish you well.

President Harding responded as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT, CHAIRMAN AND SENATORS—This is a moment that I knew was coming and yet when the time arrives and the mind attempts to formulate the words to convey the thought, the task is not an easy one.

As I look back on the beginning days of the session, I can remember the conflicting thoughts and emotions before I assumed the duties of the office and now in looking back over the nearly one hundred days of the session I can see how little I realized then the real duties and obligations that rested upon me in the position that I was elected to fill.

The other evening I had opportunity to respond to the toast "Face to Face with the Senate." At that time I treated the subject in the lighter vein. This morning the other side, the serious side, presents itself to me. Face to face with the Senate; fifty men—fifty-one men for one has left us. Every man here honestly representing his constituency and the state of Iowa. Every man trying to do that which in his judgment was for the best interests of all of the people of the state. Sitting here trying to be fair in presiding over the deliberations of this body, realizing when the gavel fell in the evening that I had fallen short of the real duties and obligations of the day, but knowing that I had attempted to carry out the duties and obligations as best I could. Face to face with fifty men representing this great state in representative government, working out the ideas and ideals of a great people. I am comparatively a young man. This has been an opportunity that has been worth while to me. Naturally, I am a partisan. By that I mean that naturally I get on one side or the other of every subject that is presented. Using a common expression, I like a fight. This has been an experience to me, to sit here and try to forget the controversy and be fair to every Senator; it has been an education that will be useful in the years to come, and I know will make me a better citizen—a better man. I will be able to approach the duties and responsibilities of life better for having had the experience.

I want you Senators to know that I appreciate every one of you and the work that you have done, some performing their labors in one way and others in another, but when the sum total is made up all have accomplished a part of their desires in their own way. You have been extremely kind to me; you have been uniformly fair to me. I know I have made some mistakes. I know that I have been wrong many times. In these mistakes, I ask your forgiveness. Today in accepting this gavel, in accepting the chair from your hands, I can look out on the tomorrow. We will forget the harsh things, and remember only the good, the binding ties of friendship will remain, and in the years to come I can feel myself now sitting in the easy chair going back over the members of this session and living it again and again with you fifty senators. Life is a flitting thing. We, perhaps, will never meet again in this way and the memory of my experience with the Thirty-fifth General Assembly and every senator will be a pleasant one and one that will be cherished.

I want again to thank you for your kindness and courtesy toward me and assure you that I appreciate it more than words can express.

I thank you.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER,
DES MOINES, IOWA, APRIL 10, 1913.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment at 7:30 p. m., President Harding presiding.

REPORTS OF SPECIAL COMMITTEES.

Senator Smith, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

JULIAN PHELPS.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions commemorative of the life, chapacter and services of ex-Senator Julian Phelps, beg leave to submit the following report:

Julian Phelps was born in Chittenden County, Vermont, April 4, 1838, and was a son of Wm. E. and Arsula Phelps, both being natives of the Green Mountain state and descendants of families who had lived in that section since colonial times.

He grew to manhood in his native state and was there educated. In 1860 he entered the State University of Vermont. In the spring of 1864, being then in his senior year, he enlisted in the 11th Vermont Infantry. The custom of the university, as many other educational institutions, permitted their senior students to enter the war and graduate with their class. Prior to the college commencement Mr. Phelps was wounded in the battle of Cold Harbor and was sent to the hospital. He had sufficiently recovered in June to return to college and was present at the graduation and delivered his oration in a soldier's uniform, being supported by a cane. After graduating he returned to the war and served to its close. He was in the battles of Cold Harbor, Spottsylvania, Petersburg and many other battles under Grant. In 1865 he entered Albany, New York, Law School, receiving his degree from that institution in 1867. In the fall of that year he came to Lewis, Iowa, then the county seat of Cass County, and there formed a partnership for the practice of law with the late Judge Henry Temple under the firm name of Temple & Phelps. Later Frank O. Temple, a son of the senior member, was taken into the business and the name of the firm was Temple, Phelps & Temple. This partnership lasted until after the death of Judge Temple, and thereafter the name of the firm was Phelps & Temple until the death of the junior member. When the county seat was moved to Atlantic Mr. Phelps moved to that town and there continued in the practice of law. In 1893 he was elected to the State Senate from the Cass-Shelby district and served his state as Senator in the Twenty-fifth, Twenty-sixth and Twenty-sixth Extra General Assemblies. In 1897 at the close of his Senatorial term President McKinley appointed him consul to Crefeld, Germany, which position was ably filled by him for four years. Some time after his return from abroad he located at Hollywood, California, where he continued to live until his death, February 25, 1913.

In 1869 he was married to Miss Mary A. Case, who died the following year, leaving an infant son, who soon followed her to the beyond. Some years after he was married to Percis M. Case, a sister of his first wife. His wife and two children, Mrs. Anna Temple and Will P. Phelps, are left surviving him to mourn his loss.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. Phelps—The Oakes—was situated in a natural grove and adjoined the city of Atlantic. The door of their home was ever open to friends and neighbors, who recall their hospitality and kindness with pleasant memories.

Be it Resolved, That the private and public life of Julian Phelps was an open book and bears testimony to a fine, patriotic, noble and conscientious life, whose every act was for the uplift and betterment of humanity.

That as senator and consul he gave to the state and nation conscientious and faithful service.

That this memorial be entered upon the Senate Journal and an engrossed copy thereof, duly authenticated, be sent to the widow of the deceased.

THOS. H. SMITH,
CLEM F. KIMBALL,
JOHN L. WILSON,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Smith, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—In moving the adoption of these resolutions, or sentiments, I wish to say that to fully appreciate the life and character of this man you should have known him in his private life and in his home. His personality and nature were such that he would not attract special attention in the state or receive perhaps great notice throughout the country, but to those who knew him intimately, who came in contact with him in his every day life and especially in his home, all speak of the strong character and hospitality of this man. It has been said that man is more than a dual existence. He is what the public knows him to be, what his neighbors know him to be, what his wife and family know him to be, and what he himself knows himself to be, but it can be said of ex-Senator Julian Phelps that what he himself knew himself to be, his wife, family, neighbors and the public knew him to be, because he was true—he was what he was. I take pleasure in moving the adoption of this memorial or sentiment.

Senator Webber, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

SAMUEL HOUSTON HARPER.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to prepare and submit resolutions in memory of Samuel Houston Harper, of Ottumwa, Wapello county, Iowa, beg leave to submit the following:

Senator Samuel Houston Harper, whose life work and character we commemorate tonight, was born near Zanesville, Ohio, April 23, 1843, came to Ottumwa in 1853, where he resided till the time of his death, December 18, 1911. He was the type of our best citizenship, successful in business, and every undertaking of life. In home life he was the ideal husband and father, in civic affairs he was active, giving his time and money and lending the weight of his influence to every movement for the moral advancement of the community.

When but a boy of nineteen years he was among the first to answer the call of his country to service, enlisting as a private to serve in the bitter struggle of the civil war. When he closed his three years and seven months of service he had attained the rank of captain.

He was a man of peace, and when at the close of the civil war he returned to Iowa it was to embark in the hardware business, in which he was successful to a degree that when his final summons came he was at the head of one of the largest wholesale hardware establishments in the middle west.

He was elected to the State Senate in 1901, and served his district with honor and distinction during the Twenty-ninth, Thirtieth and Thirty-first General Assemblies. He was department commander of the G. A. R. in 1905, commander of the Loyal Legion in 1906, and at the time of his death he was mayor of his home city of Ottumwa.

In the passing of Senator Harper every worthy interest of the state sustained a loss. As a merchant he stood for everything honorable and progressive; as a citizen he stood for righteousness in all the word implies; as mayor of his city he was fearless in resisting wrong in the community; as a Christian he never shrank from meeting the obligations of that life.

Patriotic to the flag, loyal to the state, honest in all his dealings, a loving husband and father—these were the characteristics of Senator Samuel Houston Harper, whom we mourn tonight, therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate join with his neighbors and friends in their sorrow, and hereby extend to his family its sincere sympathy in their bereavement. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the records of the Senate and that a properly engrossed copy, signed by the President and Secretary, be sent to the family.

JOHN F. WEBBER,
FREDERIC LARRABEE,
JOHN L. WILSON,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Webber, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—In moving the adoption of these resolutions it is but fitting that I should state that it was my pleasure to know Senator Harper intimately practically all of the time that I have been a resident of the state of Iowa, or at least up to the time of his death.

During the first two or three years that I resided in Ottumwa he was one of my nearest neighbors. Senator Harper was a man successful in business, was a man that always stood for the best in the community, and was such a man that the city of Ottumwa and the state of Iowa in his passing sustained a loss.

Mr. President, I take pleasure in offering these resolutions.

Senator Farr, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

ELBERT HAMILTON HUBBARD.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to prepare resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the Hon. Elbert Hamilton Hubbard, of Woodbury county, late a member of the Senate, beg leave to submit the following report:

Elbert Hamilton Hubbard was born in Rushville, Indiana, August 19, 1849; he died at Sioux City, Iowa, June 3, 1912. He was a son of Hon. Asabel W. Hubbard, a member of congress from Sioux City, then in the Sixth Iowa District, from 1863 to 1869.

Mr. Hubbard was privately prepared and educated at Yale, graduating in 1872. He soon thereafter entered the law office of Hon. Constant R. Marks as a student, was admitted to the bar and became associated with his preceptor in 1874, withdrawing to practice alone. In 1878 the firm of Hubbard, Spalding & Taylor was established, in which he was the leading member until his joining with Craig L. Wright in 1890, under the style of Wright & Hubbard. To this firm

Mr. A. F. Call was admitted in 1896 and the style changed to Wright, Call & Hubbard, remaining so until Mr. Hubbard withdrew in 1902 to enter the firm of Hubbard & Burgess. In public service Mr. Hubbard first entered the Iowa Legislature as a representative in the Nineteenth General Assembly in 1882. He was elected to the Iowa Senate in 1899, serving through the Twenty-eighth and Twenty-ninth General Assemblies. He was elected to Congress four times, serving through the Fifty-ninth, Sixtieth, Sixty-first and Sixty-second Congresses with great credit. He expired on the day he received notice of his nomination for the fifth time to the office.

On June 6, 1882, Mr. Hubbard married Miss Eleanor H., daughter of Nathanial R. and Charlotte Kirtland Cobb, to which union were born two sons and two daughters.

Mr. Hubbard's life was an active one. He was a public spirited citizen and his influences were always for the best. Energy, activity and integrity of purpose marked all of the efforts of his life. He was a most genial and kindly man. He loved his friends and did not hate his enemies. He was earnest and uncompromising in his convictions, yet did not antagonize unduly. His mind was clear; his life honorable; his thoughts pure. He held advanced opinions and maintained those opinions with tireless energy. In his services in both branches of the State Legislature and in the National House of Representatives, he was ever willing to work in behalf of his people. His very presence in an assembly brought cheer and good and wholesome thoughts. His life may be found an example which the youth of our state could well seek to emulate.

In the moment of victory, while congratulations were being showered upon him, death overtook him, and without fear, and with a smile, he passed into the great beyond. All honor be to the name of Elbert Hamilton Hubbard. In his death Iowa has lost one of her best citizens—a man beloved by all; and in honor of his memory be it

Resolved, That in his death the state and nation have lost a worthy and upright citizen, an honest and fearless statesman and an honorable man, and we hereby extend to the bereaved family and friends our sincerest sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in the Journal of the Senate and the Secretary of State be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

E. P. FARR,
N. BALKEMA,
L. E. FRANCIS,
Committee.

These resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Farr, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—In moving the adoption of these resolutions it is befitting that I make some few remarks.

It was my good fortune on going to Sioux City some twenty-five years ago to become acquainted with Mr. Hubbard. He was almost the first man I met. He was a man of the same profession. It was my good fortune to become intimately acquainted with him in his family affairs, to visit at his home during the earlier years of our acquaintance. During all of that time I can say that on no occasion or under no circumstance did I ever know anything of him except that he was a man of the most straightforward character, a man of sterling habits, kindly disposition, but of extreme independence and energy of mind which always carried him forward to the end he sought.

He represented his county in this Assembly for two terms and was later elected to Congress, where he served for four terms, and on the day of his death the primary which nominated him for the fifth term had just ended. The news of his nomination on the ticket on which he ran had just begun to come in when he was suddenly taken sick. I was with him a few hours before his death, and as stated in this resolution, he passed to the great beyond with a smile upon his countenance. He was a man of the best qualities, his influence was of the best, and, Mr. President, I take great pleasure in seconding the adoption of these resolutions.

Senator Perkins, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

JOHN MARTIN BRAYTON.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to prepare resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the Hon. John Martin Brayton, of Delaware County, late a member of the Senate, beg leave to submit the following report:

John Martin Brayton was born at Newport, N. Y., September 15, 1831, and died at Delhi, Iowa, September 18, 1911. He was the son of Smith Brayton, a farmer and surveyor. He was educated at Whitestown Academy, Whitestown, N. Y., and at Hamilton College, Clinton, N. Y., from which institution he received the degree of A. M. some time after graduation, with the degree of LL. B. in 1853. He removed to Delhi, Iowa, in the fall of 1854, and became a member of the law firm of House, Brayton & Watson, which position he occupied for ten years, and until Major A. E. House entered the Union army. He was elected as a Republican to the Iowa Senate in 1863, serving two terms in the Tenth and Eleventh General Assemblies, and was a Judge of the Ninth Judicial District from January 1, 1871, to July, 1872, when he resigned as Judge. He resumed the practice of law in his home town, and was engaged in extensive railroad litigation for a number of years, gaining a statewide reputation. The last thirty years of his life was spent largely in farming operations, developing the many hundreds of acres of which he was the owner.

He was a member of the American Academy of Political and Social Science and was a man of liberal culture and wide acquaintance with literature and art. On May 4th, 1859, at Delhi, Iowa, he married Miss Helen Martin, who died in April, 1911, and left one daughter, Miss Emma Brayton, who is a graduate of Lenox College, Hopkinton, Iowa, and of the Law School of the State University of Iowa.

Judge Brayton was a lawyer with an active, keen mind, who readily analyzed the legal case presented to him for solution and arrived at the fundamental principles involved in the cause. He was not a case lawyer, but a lawyer who sought legal principles, and in the early days in his practice in Iowa developed and settled in the Supreme Court of Iowa many of the fundamental cases involved in the practice of law in a new state. In the death of Judge Brayton, Iowa has lost one of her best citizens, a man beloved by all who knew him, and in honor of his memory, be it

Resolved, That in his death the state and county in which he resided has lost a worthy and upright citizen, an honest Judge, an honorable man; and we hereby extend to the bereaved daughter and friends our sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in the Journal of the Senate, and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the daughter of the deceased.

ELI C. PERKINS,
FREDERIC LARRABEE,
E. P. FARR,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Perkins, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—In moving the adoption of these resolutions it is fitting that I should call your attention for a moment to the life and services of J. M. Brayton, or better known in northeastern Iowa as Judge Brayton.

Judge Brayton came in an early day to Iowa, and if you will take the reports of the Supreme Court of the state of Iowa from 1854 to 1872 you will find in the cases that are there decided there are many of the causes for which he worked and labored. Mr. Brayton was a man who from his earliest days was a student. He was a man who loved his books. And throughout the many years of his life spent in Iowa the days were spent in his office. The last days of his life were largely spent in that office, although from there he was directing his farming interests.

He was a man who reasoned from principles. In trying cases he did not rely so much on what other courts had decided as he did from the principles that seemed to him to be just and right, and with the fundamental things that were involved in the cause that he had in hand. This perhaps came largely from the fact that when he first came to Iowa the laws were then indefinite, vague and few compared to what they are now, and then there were but one or two volumes of decisions to which he could turn. So he was one of the first pioneers of Iowa in developing the system of jurisprudence that we have here now as developed by the courts of this state.

As I said, Mr. Brayton lived with his books. With those books he spent all of his life until past his eightieth year, and on his eightieth birthday was able to go to the postoffice, get his mail and return from there, for the purpose of knowing what was going on. He was a man who kept posted on the events of the day, was up on the condition of his country, was one who took part in the affairs of the country in the stirring days of the 60's. In those times were the days when he came to the Senate of Iowa, and was one of those who represented his county during the days of the 60's.

Mr. President, I move the adoption of the resolution.

Senator Boe, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

CHARLES GATES.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to draft resolutions commemorative of the life, character and services of Senator Charles Gates, begs leave to submit the following report:

Charles Gates was born April 2, 1856, at Marble Rock, Floyd County, Iowa. He was of German-Irish descent. He attended the rural school and later graduated from the Marble Rock high school.

On June 8, 1883, he was married to Miss Carrie E. Stickney. They had no children of their own, but adopted a boy, who is now living, John F. Gates.

He was a farmer for some years, and later went into the implement and banking business, in which business he continued until his death on January 30, 1913.

In politics he was a Republican, and always took an active part in the affairs of his party. He was mayor for three years, and served as alderman for one term and a portion of another.

In 1908 he was elected State Senator from the Thirty-ninth District, composed of Bremer and Butler Counties, and was re-elected in 1912.

Mr. Gates had been troubled the last year somewhat with sickness, and at the beginning of the session of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly he did not feel very strong, but was able to take up his work. He was a man who complained very little; a man who tried in every way to do his work in a conscientious manner, and when death overtook him it was in the midst of his work. During the time that he served the state, as in all his work, he gave the best that was in him.

Resolved, That in the death of Charles Gates the state has lost a worthy citizen, a loved and honored member of the Senate. Be it further Resolved, That these resolutions be printed in the Journal, and an engrossed copy, signed by the President and Secretary, be sent to the family of the deceased.

F. P. HAGEMANN,
S. W. BOE,
JOHN G. LEGEL,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Boe, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

It was my pleasure to become acquainted with Senator Gates four years ago when I served in the House. I had not known him before that time, but I believe that what I learned to know of him during those four years has been true of him his whole life. He was not one of the men to push himself forward. He was rather a modest man, of a retiring nature, and you sometimes really had to make an effort to become acquainted with him. I believe every one who knew Senator Gates appreciated his character. His quiet, unassuming manner was pleasing. I felt that he was one of that great body of men we have in this country who do not say much, who do not always fill the public eye, but who think sanely and soundly on all subjects, who lend their influence for the steady movement forward of the welfare of the people. We all felt this winter when he passed away so suddenly that we had lost a friend, and I felt when I went to his home, learned to know of his sickness and of the sickness of his wife, that there was a man who bore his burdens uncomplainingly and tried to do all his work in spite of the burdens thrust upon him. I feel that in that village he had written his name in the history of his community as he has written it in the history of his state. I therefore feel it an honor to move the adoption of these resolutions.

Senator Smith spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—As a member of the Thirty-fourth General Assembly Senator Gates occupied the seat just across the aisle from me, where he sat during the time he was here in this session. The remarks just made by the Senator from Winnebago touching on the life of this man, his character and disposition, I feel meets with a response from every Senator who had the pleasure of serving with him during the Thirty-fourth General Assembly. Senator Gates was not a man that put himself forward, as has been said. I do not recall that at any time he made any speeches in this Senate, but he was ever at his post of duty, and when the roll was called Senator Gates answered aye or no as in his judgment was right. And every man that heard that response knew that it had come from the bottom of his heart, and was what he really believed, and if a Senator had voted differently he found himself reflecting if after all he had not better cast his vote as Senator Gates cast his, because we knew it was an honest vote and was cast after mature deliberation.

Lieutenant-Governor Harding spoke as follows:

It was the pleasure of the chair to know Senator Gates during the Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth General Assemblies. It was a pleasure to meet him as a legislator. It was a pleasure to meet him in a social way. I found that Senator Gates was a true man and a gentleman. He was always ready to listen, always willing to give advice when it was asked, and always anxious to pass the time of day. He always had a kindly word. He was always good natured. He was scattering sunshine and dispelling gloom. Senator Gates represented a type of American citizenship that can well be emulated. It was a pleasure to know him and to love him.

Senator Thomas spoke as follows:

I feel compelled to add just a word for Senator Gates. It was my pleasure to talk to him as late as 10 o'clock in the evening prior to his death. As I look back to it, I cannot help thinking of the saying that in life we are in the midst of death. During that evening he had talked of his business. Said in a few days he expected to sell and take life easy. Our business was somewhat allied in banking and hardware, which he handled to a certain extent. In that evening I came in a brief moment to see that crying hope of his life—to have his wife regain her health. I am glad to add this little flower of credit to his life.

Senator Chase spoke as follows:

I wish to add my tribute to the memory of Senator Gates. It is said death loves a shining mark. I became well acquainted with Senator Gates two years ago. Came to know him well. I know that a short time before his death he had a sort of premonition of what was about to happen. I talked with him the day before, and I know he felt that there was something hanging over him. In his simple way he seemed to feel that there was something about to happen. He told me about some trouble he had had some years ago and had never fully recovered from, and felt that death might overtake him any time. I was impressed with that conversation in view of what happened afterwards. Senator Gates appealed to me as one of the most modest men I ever met. There was something about him that a few years of acquaintance developed. It seemed to me that he was a man absolutely honest in every way in life, true and loyal in everything he did. That trait in his character appealed to me from the time I first became acquainted with him all through the associations I had with him. While I cannot say I was particularly intimate with Senator Gates, I talked with him frequently, and I always felt that whatever Senator Gates did was done with singleness of mind and absolute integrity. I do not know that I ever met a man in all my experience that seemed so absolutely without guile as was Senator Gates. He met every question with absolute fairness. He never shirked any duty. He always responded to every call that was made upon him. And, after all, in this brief span of life of ours when we say a man measures up to that sort of thing it is really the highest tribute we can pay him. When we say a man meets squarely and fairly every duty that is laid upon him and responds to it, there cannot be any higher tribute of praise placed upon his bier after he has gone. Senator Gates was loyal to his friends, faithful to his duty. I do not believe there was any obligation he ever failed to comply with. I feel that this Senate in losing Senator Gates lost one of the best men that ever sat in the Senate.

Senator McManus spoke as follows:

It is with the feeling of most sincere and tender emotions that I rise to say a few words of our departed friend. Six years ago I appeared in this Legislature for the first time. With me came Senator Gates. From the first moment we met there arose a feeling of friendship. I found in him a kindred spirit, a man after my own liking. Through all the sessions that passed our intimacy grew, and I believe, Senators, that I knew Senator Gates possibly better than anyone in the House because I liked him and sought his company; was glad to be with him, for there was a sort of sunshine about the man that appealed to me. I cultivated his acquaintance. Listened to him talk of his home life, and all the little things that go to make up a home and a happy one. It was while called to my own home that I there heard of the death of my friend. I want to say, Senators, it was a great shock to me. Just a few days before that sitting on the bench over there Senator Gates was telling me how he was going to sneak away Saturday to go home and visit the good wife who was ill. He told me of the trip he had to make, the trains to take and the changes to make, and the time he would be at home to meet the wife he loved so well, and when I heard of his death, and when the wires flashed the news to me that Senator Gates was not able to make that trip, I thought indeed how short is life, how we calculate to be with those we love, how the summons come to us suddenly. I pictured to myself the sorrow that came to that good wife of his in that far off Iowa town. I want to say, Senators and friends, I have often wondered what recompense there is in one like me to spend three months as lawmaker. I have never been able to quite understand what there is to it, but on the death of a man like Whipple, who sat next to me in my first term and who took me, green as a gosling and knowing nothing more of legislative matters than a rabbit, to train, and when I think of Whipple, the pleasure I had in meeting him and in his acquaintance, I find, Senators, where the recompense is. I have been amply repaid during the sessions here with acquaintances like Senators Gates and Whipple. And I am forced or compelled to say what I have said in commendation of Senator Gates, and it is a pleasure for me to be able to add my few words to what has been said.

Senator White, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

CHRISTIAN HEDGES.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to draft resolutions to commemorate the life and services of ex-Senator Christian Hedges beg leave to submit the following report and resolutions:

Christian Hedges was born in Mansfield, Ohio, May 1, 1830.

He entered the Cincinnati Law School and graduated from that college at the age of seventeen. He was too young to be admitted to the bar for practice, so entered a law office until his age would permit him to admission to the bar.

In 1849 the gold fields of California made such a strong appeal to Mr. Hedges that he went there with many others to seek his fortune in the west. He returned to Iowa county in 1859, where he has resided ever since.

He was married to Miss Ellen Rush at Marengo, Iowa, in September, 1864. To this union eight children were born, three of whom preceded him to the great beyond. Those whom with his wife survive are: Mrs. George E. Swain of North English, Iowa; Mrs. William Hankey of Letts, Iowa; Mrs. E. K. Tyler of Muscatine; Mrs. B. C. Leib of Marengo, Iowa; Bruce E. Hedges of Davenport, Iowa, and seven grandchildren.

Judge Hedges had a long and eventful career. He heard the call of his country in the sixties, and entered the services of the rebellion as captain of the Seventh Volunteer Infantry of Iowa. His ability was soon recognized, and won for him promotion to Military Judge Advocate, which position he held for some time. His great ability was recognized by the people of Iowa after the war was over, and he served his Senatorial District in the Eighteenth General Assembly. During his term as Senator his genius as an interpreter of law and an administrator of justice was soon recognized and won for him the Judgeship of the Circuit Court of the Eighth District. This position he held for twelve years, or until the Circuit Court was abolished by legislative enactment.

He held many positions of private and civic trust, in all of which he acquitted himself with high honor and credit. He was for many years director and legal adviser of the Marengo Savings Bank of Marengo, Iowa; the Farmers' Savings Bank of Victor, Iowa, and the Farmers' Savings Bank of North English. He held the position of mayor, several terms as councilman and city attorney for the town of Marengo, Iowa. He wielded a wide and beneficial influence upon his community, and was always ready and willing to assist every one by his wise, fearless and ready counsel. Many a struggling young man has helped by his advice, especially those in the legal profession. Many of the prominent lawyers of the state of Iowa have been helped by his great knowledge and experience.

He died at Marengo, Iowa, February 26th, 1913, and was buried on the 28th day of February in the I. O. O. F. cemetery at Marengo, Iowa.

Whereas, Hon Christian Hedges, a member of this body in the Eighteenth General Assembly, has been called from this life; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate of the State of Iowa has heard of his death with deep sorrow and regret, and that it recognizes the high character of his service to his state.

Resolved, That the Senate take this occasion to acknowledge its recognition and express its high regard and appreciation of the worth of the character and public services of Christian Hedges, and to extend to his family its sincere sympathy in their great bereavement. Be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions, engrossed and duly authenticated by the President and Secretary of the Senate, be presented to the family of the deceased.

J. A. WHITE,
G. E. HILSINGER,
G. M. GILLETTE,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator White, in moving the adoption of the report, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—I do not remember Mr. Hedges as a Senator, as it was a long time ago, nor was I personally acquainted with him when he was on the bench, but I knew him by his reputation when he was on the bench. He had the reputation of being a very able lawyer and very decisive and would become very indignant if any attorney undertook to do any crooked work or would endeavor to take any advantage of any poor client. I knew him personally for four years when I served as clerk of the court, and he was a very agreeable man to do business with in the clerk's office. I have known all of his children, and he left a very interesting family. He was a Republican in politics, but was not an offensive partisan. He was a very plain and unassuming man, absolutely honest in every respect and a man of very high morals.

Seantor Hagemann, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

ALVIN MANLEY WHALEY.

Alvin Manley Whaley was born in Wyoming County, New York, May 14, 1838. He was a pupil in the common schools until the age of fifteen, when he entered Middlebury Academy in Wyoming County, continuing there, except during the winters when he taught, until 1861, when the breaking out of the rebellion put an end to peaceful pursuits.

Patriotic and loyal, he quickly enlisted for service and, although without experience, was elected by his companions second lieutenant of Company K, Seventeenth New York Volunteers, one of the first companies to enlist. Going to the front he was with the army of the Potomac, where, on account of bravery and merit, he was successively advanced to the rank of first lieutenant and then captain.

At Fredericksburg, while leading his men in an assault on the rebel works, he was struck on the head by a musket ball, and it was supposed by all that this was the end of his brilliant career. Although the skull was fractured, prompt surgical skill saved his life, but so remarkable was his recovery that the case was reported at length in "The Medical and Surgical History of the Rebellion," and pieces of his skull are still preserved in the museum at Washington. Since that accident he had always worn a silver plate over his brain.

After being discharged from the hospital at Georgetown, he was mustered out, but almost immediately re-entered the service, receiving a commission as quartermaster and serving as assistant quartermaster general. Being ordered to Alabama, he went to Vicksburg, and was with Sherman on his raid and later in his famous march to the sea. Soon afterward the war ended and he returned to engage in farming in his native county in New York.

In 1869 he came to Iowa where he settled at Aplington, Butler County, where he rapidly became one of the wealthy men of the community through his extensive grain, lumber and stock operations, and later because of his banking interests as president of the Exchange Bank for many years.

Captain Whaley was a leading Republican all his life and for many years was well known and honored in the councils of his party. In 1877 he was elected to represent Butler County in the Iowa Legislature, and was returned to the same office in 1879. On the death of Senator W. B. Gaylord he was chosen to represent the Forty-sixth Senatorial District, which included Butler, Floyd and Mitchell Counties, for the unexpired term, being also re-elected for the second term.

He was chairman of the Committee on Military Affairs of the Senate, and also chairman of the Senate Committee which selected Marshalltown, Iowa, as the location for the Iowa Soldiers' Home.

He again re-entered politics when on the election of President McKinley he was made postmaster at Aplington, an office which he held until a few years ago.

He was a member of the Presbyterian Church of Aplington, and for over twenty years was an elder in the church, being sent to represent the church in the Presbytery, and being sent in 1898 to the General Assembly as representative of the Waterloo Presbytery.

He was a member of the Masonic Lodge of Parkersburg, having been honored as a Knight Templar and as a member of the Mystic Shrine. He was also a member of the John Bradley G. A. R. post at Parkersburg.

Mr. Whaley was married on October 17, 1871, to Jane Hull Smith, daughter of George B. Smith, one of the oldest leading residents of Aplington. She passed away a year ago last July. Four sons are left to mourn their father's death.

Resolved, That in the death of this noble man the state has lost a worthy citizen, soldier and statesman, and the Senate a loved and honored member; and be it further

Resolved, That these sentiments be entered upon the Senate Journal and a copy be sent to the bereaved family of the deceased.

Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Hagemann, in moving the adoption of the report of the committee, spoke as follows:

MR. PRESIDENT—It was not my good fortune to know Captain Whaley. He lived in a small town about forty miles from my home town. So I am not in a position to add to anything set forth in the resolutions I only want to say that a man who performed the services Captain Whaley performed was not only a patriotic man, but a good man and a man who ought to be fittingly remembered, and I therefore take pleasure in moving the adoption of these resolutions.

Senator Webber, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

JOSEPH H. MERRILL.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to prepare and submit resolutions in memory of Joseph H. Merrill of Ottumwa, Wapello County, Iowa, beg leave to report as follows:

It is but fitting tonight that we should pause for a moment to commemorate the life work and character of Senator Joseph H. Merrill of Ottumwa, who as one of the pioneer lawmakers of Iowa served his district in the State Senate during the Fourteenth, Fifteenth and Sixteenth General Assemblies with honor to himself and distinction to the state.

Senator Joseph H. Merrill was born in Plymouth, New Hampshire, September 27th, 1827, and came to Ottumwa in 1862, where he entered the grocery business at a time when Ottumwa was but a thriving village. As a business man he was successful, and when he retired from business ten years ago he was at the head of the wholesale grocery house of J. H. Merrill & Co. of Ottumwa, with branch houses at Creston and Red Oak.

The name of J. H. Merrill was the synonym for conservative business methods and at the time of his death he was president of the Iowa National Bank of Ottumwa, the City Savings Bank of Ottumwa, and of the Agency Savings Bank of Agency, Iowa, and was one of the leading spirits in the Dain Manufacturing Company and the Ottumwa Brick and Construction Company.

He was senior warden in the Trinity Episcopal Church of Ottumwa, and was one of the foremost men of the church in Iowa. He had frequently represented the Iowa diocese at national meetings.

Senator Merrill was of sturdy New England stock, and as such won a place for himself in his adopted state, where he carved his name on our western civilization in a way that time can never efface.

To such as him we owe this splendid civilization we call Iowa.

He endeared himself to all who knew him, and the earnest prayer, "May his soul rest in peace," rises in precious pleading from every heart.

A patriotic citizen, a loving husband and father, a successful business man, a loyal public servant; such was Senator Joseph H. Merrill, whom we mourn tonight; therefore be it

Resolved, That the Senate join with his neighbors and friends in sorow and hereby extend to his family its sincere sympathy in their bereavement; be it further

Resolved, That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the records of the Senate and that a properly engrossed copy signed by the President and Secretary be sent to the bereaved family.

Senator Arney, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

DELOS ARNOLD.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to prepare resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the Hon. Delos Arnold of Marshall County, late a member of this Senate, beg leave to submit the following report:

Delos Arnold was born in Chenango County, New York, July 21, 1830. He died at Pasadena, California, August 31, 1909.

He was educated in the common schools of his native state and graduated from the Albany Law School in 1853 and came to Iowa in the fall of the same year and settled in Marshall County. On the day of his arrival he was appointed Prosecuting Attorney of his county, continuing in office four years.

In 1856 he was elected to the House of the Sixth General Assembly from the district formed of the counties of Benton, Marshall and Tama. He was again elected to the Legislature in 1869 and served in the House in 1870 from Marshall County, being chairman of the committee on banking. In 1876 he was elected to the Senate and served during the Sixteenth, Seventeenth, Eighteenth and Nineteenth sessions. As chairman of the committee on penitentiaries, he introduced the bill which became a law providing for the disposing of the labor of convicts. In his last session he became chairman of the committee on appropriations.

During his service in the Legislature he procured the passage of the first act for establishing weather service in Iowa.

Mr. Arnold was one of the leading spirits in the building of the State House at Des Moines, and was on the committee auditing the expenditures of the funds in the erection of the State House as a member of the Board of Capitol Commissioners. The Capitol building is a monument to the memory of Delos Arnold and his co-workers on the Board of Capitol Commissioners, and today stands as a fitting tribute to the high character of the men who composed that commission. In the long debate leading up to the building of the Capitol of Iowa and the formation of a commission to take charge of its affairs. Delos Arnold's hand was the guiding hand; and through all the laborious days of the existence of that commission his one thought was that Iowa should have an abiding home in its Capitol and should have a monument to the integrity of its builders; and, after more than thirty-five years, it stands a monument without criticism, and the acts of the present Assembly approve of the wisdom of its builders.

Delos Arnold also served the state as a regent to the State University. He was appointed by President Lincoln Assessor of Internal Revenue in what was the Sixth Congressional District, and continued in that office for four years.

In 1886 Mr. Arnold removed to Pasadena, California, in which city he made his home for the remaining days of his life. He was a member of the school board of his city for fifteen years. He was a lover of nature, and spent many days in collecting specimens of natural history, gathering together from all parts of the world rare specimens of the life of the past ages. His collection of natural history specimens he presented to the University of California. These are believed to be the finest collection of fossils, shells and corals ever gathered together in the state of California.

Upon the death of Mr. Arnold his body was brought to Marshalltown and buried in the cemetery with his children, who had died in infancy.

Mr. Arnold married Miss Hannah H. Mercer November 28, 1855, at Marietta. She was of the Order of Friends, and was from Columbia County, Ohio. They had six children, three of whom died in infancy.

The active years of the life of Delos Arnold were spent in the service of the state of Iowa, and but few men of the pioneer days of Iowa did more than Mr. Arnold to place the state upon a high plane of moral integrity and honesty in public affairs and to establish its institutions, both for the caring of the unfortunate and the student bodies of Iowa in the advance positions in his day. He gave his best thought to the State University of Iowa during all the years that he was a member of its Board of Regents, and the institution grew strong and became an honor to the great state.

As a business man Mr. Arnold was successful far beyond the average man of his day in Iowa, and few citizens of his state have been more successful than he. In his death California lost one of her distinguished adopted sons, and Iowa lost a faithful servant who had served the state for many years while a resident of the Prairie State, and it is with regret that we have to present to this Assembly this announcement of his death and present these memorial resolutions. Therefore be it

Resolved, That in the death of Delos Arnold the state and county in which he resided lose a worthy and upright citizen, an honorable man, and we hereby extend to the bereaved family and friends our sincere sympathy; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be printed in the Journal of the Senate and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to forward an engrossed copy to the family of the deceased.

Senator Schrup, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

BENJAMIN BILLINGS RICHARDS.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions in commemoration of the life, character and services of ex-Senator B. B. Richards of Dubuque, beg leave to submit the following report:

Benjamin Billings Richards, who was a member of this body seven years, after having served in the Lower House one term, died at Dubuque, Iowa, March 16, 1912.

He was born in the state of New York on August 30, 1823. After attending school at Bennington, Vt., he taught in district schools in his native state. At the age of eighteen he became principal of a seminary and professor in mathematics. In 1848 he was admitted to the bar at Milwaukee, but he never practiced that profession in this state, to which he came in 1854. In 1863 he was elected member of the House of Representatives from Dubuque County. He was positive in the expression of his views, although always courteous and tolerant of others' opinions.

Two years later he entered the Senate, remaining a member of this body for four years. He was again returned to this office in 1872. At different sessions he was on the Committees of Ways and Means, Railroads and Claims against the United States, the last named the most important committee, in view of the large sums of money the state had advanced toward the prosecution of the war. The steps then taken brought to the State Treasury vast sums.

While always a member of the minority party his imposing personality commanded the highest respect and influence with his political opponents. He was twice selected by his party as its candidate for Congress, the first time when the late William B. Allison was first successful, the nominees conducted a joint debate.

He was greatly interested in the cause of popular education and served as a member of the Dubuque Board of Education with marked ability and success for several years. He was the first president of the Dubuque National Bank and was the founder of several banks in the northern part of the state. A prominent layman in the Episcopal Church, he was a member of the diocesan convention in 1853 that chose Rev. Dr. Henry W. Lee the first bishop of Iowa. His was indeed a worthy and eventful life, made serene through the happiness he imparted to others. Those who remember him as a member of any organization recall with pleasure the dignified courtesy that characterized his manner. His polished and eloquent oratory made him known as "The Silver Tongued Champion of Iowa Democracy." His public career, as well as his private life and his attractive personality left a lasting impression on the community in which he lived so long and in which he was so highly esteemed.

The end to this long life came when to the burden of years fell the afflicting dispensation that carried away his beloved wife, who preceded her husband to the great beyond by only six weeks. In 1867 he was married to Miss Evelyn Whitaker, daughter of Collins Whitaker. Three children survive: Mr. Clarence W. Richards and Mrs. Clyde Ellsworth of Dubuque and Mrs. Clark L. Poole of Chicago.

Resolved, That this record be spread on the Journal of this body, and that an engrossed copy hereof be transmitted to his bereaved family with the assurance of the high appreciation of the Senate, of one of the sturdy pioneers of Iowa legislation and one so worthy of honor, who was one of its members, even though in the long ago.

Senator Quigley, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

LIBERTY EATON FELLOWS.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to draft resolutions on the death of the Honorable Liberty Eaton Fellows take pleasure in submitting to the Senate the following report:

Liberty Eaton Fellows was born at Corinth, Orange County, Vermont, August 22, 1834. He lived with his parents on a farm and attended the common school of Corinth and later attended the Thetford Academy in Orange County. He removed to Wisconsin in 1856, and to Allamakee County, Iowa, in 1857. Here he worked on a farm, clerked in the county offices, took up the study of law and was admitted to the bar in 1862, locating at Lansing and soon becoming one of the leading attorneys of Allamakee County.

The county was new and the laws of Iowa were not settled. Many questions were met where there were no cases or precedents to refer to. The practitioner must possess a broad sense of right and justice and be able to present his arguments to the courts, not as a "book worm," but as a philosopher of law, assisting the courts in crystalizing common sense into legal decisions.

In the making of the common law, as expressed in our early reports, L. E. Fellows exerts a great influence. He was a member of the Iowa House of Representatives in the Eleventh and of the Senate in the Twelfth and Thirteenth General Assemblies. As a lawmaker he was careful, honest and courageous, as shown by his statement in debate, when the question of publicity of the acts and votes of members came up he said, "So far as I am concerned I want my constituents to know where I stand. If any of my actions here be in opposition to the views of my constituents I am perfectly willing they should know it, and I do not want to screen other Senators by voting this resolution down."

In 1889 Governor Larrabee appointed L. E. Fellows Judge of the Thirteenth Judicial District to fill the unexpired term and serve the remainder of the term. In 1894 Judge Fellows was elected Judge of the District Court of the Thirteenth Judicial District. So able, impartial and satisfactory was his conduct of the office that he held the esteem of the united bar and the people of the district. By common consent as a non-partisan he was continued in the office until his death, July 17, 1912.

In 1861 he was married to Miss Mary S. Reed, who survives him. To this union eleven children were born, eight of whom are now living, and were at the bedside of their father when he passed away. The sons were the pallbearers at the funeral, which was held in Lansing on the afternoon of July 19, 1912.

Judge Fellows was for several years a trustee of the Mount Pleasant Hospital and also a trustee of Upper Iowa University. He was a member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, and an active member of the Masonic order and served two years as Grand Master.

He lived the simple life and was a man who delighted to mingle with the people. He loved his home and was happy in his family. He was beloved by his neighbors and friends throughout all Iowa. He was honest and upright in all his dealings and had the confidence and esteem of all who knew him. He was an excellent lawyer, stood high in his profession and either as a lawyer or a judge his whole purpose was to see that equal justice was done.

Many were the honors conferred upon Judge Fellows in the Masonic order and by the people of the state. He belonged to the people of his district, and his whole purpose was to serve them.

Resolved, That in the death of Judge Liberty Eaton Fellows the Senate has lost a valuable former lawmaker, the people an upright judge, the community in which he lived an exemplary citizen, the fraternities and church to which he belonged a true brother, and his family a faithful and loving husband and father; and be it further

Resolved, That these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the Senate, and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to forward engrossed copies of these resolutions to the wife and family of the deceased.

Senator Crow, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

ADDISON OLIVER.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the life and public service of the Honorable Addison Oliver, who was an honored member of the Senate of Iowa, beg leave to report the following memorial:

Addison Oliver, a member of the Senate of Iowa in the Eleventh and Twelfth General Assemblies, died at his home in Onawa, Monona county, July 7th, 1912, when nearly seventy-nine years of age.

Mr. Oliver was a native of the county of Washington, Pennsylvania, where he was born July 21, 1833, and in which county he was graduated from Washington and Jefferson college at the early age of seventeen. His first adventure into business of any kind was in teaching school in the state of Arkansas, where he taught two years. Returning to his native state Mr. Oliver entered upon the study of law in the office of William Montgomery, a member of Congress, and was admitted to the bar in 1857. Coming west shortly afterwards, he made his home at the then frontier town of Onawa, in 1858. He became a member of the county board of supervisors in 1861. In 1863 he was elected a representative of the counties of Monona, Crawford and Sac to the Tenth General Assembly. Two years later he was elected to the Senate from the counties of Monona, Woodbury and thirteen others, including in the list two yet unorganized; the district being then practically all of the northwestern part of the state. In the session of 1866 he was a member of the committees of Ways and Means, Railroads and Public Buildings. In 1868 he was chairman of the committee on Constitutional Amendments and a member of the Committees on Railroads and Incorporations. The first named committee was of the more importance at that session because of the fact that that General Assembly sent to the people the first amendment to the present constitution, that providing for universal manhood suffrage. The railroad committee was also more than ordinarily important because at that session several land-grants had been forfeited because of the failure of the grantees to build the roads for which the grants were made. Senator Oliver struggled when the bills disposing of the lands were under consideration to keep the lines of the roads within the limits of the original grants, but ineffectually.

The Twelfth General Assembly created the office of circuit judge and the circuit courts. At the election following the session of that body, Senator Oliver was elected judge of the first circuit of the fourth judicial district. Ten organized counties then furnished extensive travel for the new judge while also he, together with District Judge Henry Ford and Circuit Judge James M. Snyder, held the short lived appellate tribunal known as the "General Term" for the fourth judicial district. In 1872, the circuits having been reduced in number one half and only one judge being elected in each judicial district, Judge Oliver was elected to the larger field, having nineteen counties, about one-fifth of the state territorially to travel over. Two years of this experience terminated Judge Oliver's judicial labors as he was then elected to the Forty-fourth Congress from the ninth district. After four years of service, he declined another candidacy although it was understood that both republicans and greenbackers wished him to remain in Congress. Broad and exacting as must have been the duties devolving upon Judge Oliver, there seems to be universal attestation to the value of his public services. Judge Oliver was a delegate to the Baltimore convention that nominated Abraham Lincoln for president the second time.

After his retirement Judge Oliver devoted himself to business and became one of the most extensive farmers in western Iowa and used his wealth for furthering worthy public enterprises, the little city that was his home for half a century having a public library and manual training building, through his generosity.

Before coming to Iowa young Judge Oliver was united in marriage with Miss Hannah Towne, a schoolmate from earliest date. To the union were born ten children of whom one, John F., is now district judge of the fourth judicial district, which district is a part of the original territory over which his father presided.

In the death of Judge Addison Oliver the state loses one of its pioneer law makers and worthy judges and an able representative in the Congress of the United States whose memory it is an honor to the Senate of Iowa to commemorate and it is with a feeling of the great loss to the community in which he lived that we present these resolutions to the Senate of this State and realizing the great loss to his community and to his family,

Therefore, be it resolved, that these resolutions be spread upon the Journal of the Senate and that an attested copy be prepared and sent to the family by the secretary of the Senate.

Senator Ames, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

JOHN RYDER.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee, appointed to draft suitable resolutions on the life, character, and public services of the Honorable John Ryder, respectfully report as follows:

John Ryder, who was a member of this body in the Twentieth and Twenty-first General Assemblies, died at Vinton, August 13, 1911, the day he completed his eightieth year. Mr. Ryder was a native of the state of Ohio, born near Tiffin. He got the ordinary schooling of the locality and, reaching manhood, went into mercantile business, and bought and shipped grain extensively, having two elevators. In 1870 he came to Iowa and engaged in buying and shipping butter, eggs and country produce, and did at one time a business of the kind hardly surpassed in volume in this state, shipping to the great markets east and west. Mr. Ryder was for one term a member of the Ohio legislature. After coming to Iowa he was elected to the House of Representatives of this state. In 1883 he was chosen senator. Politically, he had been a republican until the presidential campaign of 1872, when he supported Horace Greeley; thereafter he acted with the democratic party and was the first democrat chosen to the legislature for many years from Benton county.

November 14, 1854, he was united in marriage with Miss Mary J. Tyler of Fremont, Ohio.

Resolved, That these sentiments be entered upon the Senate Journal and an engrossed copy, duly authenticated, be sent to Mr. Ira Mitchell, Vinton, Iowa, and a copy to the Vinton Eagle.

Senator Francis, from a special committee, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

CHARLES C. CHUBB.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions commemorating the life work and public service of Honorable Charles C. Chubb, begs leave to report the following:

Honorable Charles C. Chubb, who was a member of the Senate in the Twentieth and Twenty-first General Assemblies, died at Algona, May 21, 1911. He was of New England ancestry and was born October 2, 1840, in Waukesha county, Wisconsin. There he was reared and educated and there enlisted in the 3d Wisconsin Infantry, early in the war. He served with the Army of the Potomac and participated at Antietam, Gettysburg, Lookout Mountain, Chancellorville, and other hard battles in which that army was engaged. When his first term of enlistment expired in 1864 he entered the 20th New York Heavy Artillery, remaining in the service nearly another year. After the war he removed to Kossuth county in this state where he built up a reputation of being an important factor in the promotion and establishment of substantial business and public affairs. He served as county supervisor a year or more, and was elected to this body in 1883, serving one term of four years.

Resolved, That the Senate of Iowa is appreciative of the loss the state and community in which he lived sustained in the death of this enterprising man, one who in his early life gave so much of his years to the cause of union and liberty.

Resolved, That a copy hereof duly engrossed be transmitted to the family of the deceased veteran.

F. A. HEALD,
Committee.

The resolutions were adopted unanimously by a rising vote.

Senator Wilson submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

WICKLIFFE A. COTTON.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee appointed to draft resolutions in memory of the life and services of Senator Wickliffe A. Cotton, has the honor to submit the following report:

Wickliffe A. Cotton, who was a member of this body from 1882 to 1886, died at Dewitt very suddenly on Tuesday, March 19, 1912, aged sixty-nine. He was a native of the state of Ohio, where, at Austintown, he was born February 2, 1843. The next year the family removed to Iowa, settling in Clinton county. There he grew to manhood. He was duly admitted to the bar, and practiced his profession there during the remaining years of his life.

In 1881 he was elected a member of the Senate. In the Nineteenth General Assembly he was placed on the committees of Judiciary, Appropriations, Elections and Penitentiary, and was made chairman of the committee that has control of the state library. Two measures he introduced were placed in the statutes, one providing an annual salary for an assistant librarian, and the other authorizing the sale of indemnity swamp lands, which the counties had come into possession of because of swamp lands sold by the general land office. In the Twentieth General Assembly Senator Cotton was chairman of the committee on Elections, and a member of the committee on Appropriations, and several other committees.

Retiring from the Senate, he continued to be interested in public affairs, but from that time on, held no public office. He was active and prominent in the Masonic order. His church membership was of long standing, and continued till the last. His funeral was attended by great numbers of people, coming from different parts of the county which had been his home for more than sixty years. He is represented as being of the highest type of American citizenship. While firm in his convictions, he was a broad-minded liberal man among his fellows. He had a gentleness of manner that made friends of those with whom he came in contact.

Senator Cotton's wife preceded him in death some two years. One of their two children survives—Mrs. Clelle Culbertson, of Massillon, Ohio. A brother, Aylett Rains Cotton, survived him a few months. He was a member of the constitutional convention, the last survivor but one of that body. He was also Speaker of the House in 1870. He died October 30, 1912, at San Francisco, California, where his home had been for many years.

Resolved, That the foregoing be spread on the Journal of the Senate, and that copies of these resolutions be transmitted to the family and near kindred of the departed jurist, as the Senate's tribute to the worth of a man who did well his part in the fields he entered, not the least of which was his work as a legislator of the state that was his home from infancy.

JOHN L. WILSON,
FREDERIC LARRABEE,
JOHN I. CLARKSON,
