GOVERNOR'S BIENNIAL MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

It would not be possible for me to more fully comply with the constitutional mandate laid upon me to communicate to you "The condition of the State" than to refer you to the exhaustive reports of all of the departments and commissions of the State Government. These and the budget, submitted this year for the first time, contain absolutely everything that will throw any light on the question and they will illuminate it for every candid, investigating mind.

The financial situation for the next biennium, so far as it can be reasonably estimated, can be succinctly stated as follows:

The taxable value of all property subject to general levies for State and County purposes for the year 1916 was $957,759,442.00. The amount of moneys and credits returned was $303,504,592.00. The State received approximately one-thirteenth of the tax levied on this sum. It may be assumed that for the next two years the situation will not be materially changed. According to an opinion expressed by the State Auditor and State Treasury Department there will be little, if any, balance in the general fund on July 1, 1917, the beginning of the next appropriation period.

The estimated receipts of the general revenue for the two years beginning July 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1919, are $13,721,400.00.

The estimated expenditures for the period beginning July 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1919, are $12,803,660.00.

Excess of receipts over expenditures $917,740.00.

This balance will, of course, be understood as remaining after estimated expenditures for the next biennium are paid. Good business requires that a large portion of this sum remain in the treasury as a working balance. You should provide such a condition as would not permit the exhaustion of the treasury at any time. If you provide for any additional expenditures above the balance above stated, after leaving a reasonable treasury balance, you will, of course, have to provide for additional revenue. You should also make your appropriations available at such times as the treasury is in receipt of funds and not create demands that may be made upon it at any time of the year. I suggest that you consult the treasurer and auditor about this matter as it is very important.

THE BUDGET.

The statute provides that for the purpose of preparing a budget the departments and commissions must submit statements by the 15th day of November. This does not give time enough for a careful study and preparation of a budget. A day should be fixed much earlier. Besides, it is almost impossible for the Governor to work out satisfactory statements and estimates. In other states this whole matter is submitted to experts for preparation and submission to the Governor. I suggest that you amend the law by creating a budget committee to be composed, perhaps, of the chief clerk in the revenue department in the Auditor's office, the State Accountant and the Secretary of the Executive Council, and that the budget be required to be printed and submitted to the Governor for his examination and study by December first prior to the meeting of the General Assembly. This year, because of the delay of reports, it could not be had prior to five days before the opening of the session, and therefore careful consideration has been impossible. I desire here to acknowledge the great assistance of Mr. W. H. Williams, Chief Clerk in the Revenue Department in the Auditor's office; Mr. Frank H. Paul, State Accountant, and Mr. Ora Williams, Document Editor. To these officials is due the real credit for the preparation of the budget.

There has been abstracted for your easy reference and study, and printed as a part of the budget, a brief statement of increases or changes in appropriations asked for in the different departments. You will observe that there is quite a general request for increases of salaries. The greatest trouble about the salary question is the inequalities that exist. Of two persons holding equally responsible positions and rendering practically equivalent service there may be considerable difference in compensation. This may be due in some measure to the practice of allowing department heads in some cases to fix the compensation. I do not regard this as sound policy. It invites to favoritism. It may be due, to some extent, also, to legislative carelessness. Some salaries are fixed by law, some by joint resolution. In some cases they are paid out of a general appropriation to a department, in others out of the general fund. I recommend as to salaries that you endeavor to equalize them upon some sort of equitable, classified basis, that the salaries be fixed and that they be paid out of the general fund. In this re-adjustment you can determine as well as I as to whether the general level paid should be raised and, as to that, therefore, I make no recommendation, except that I think you should take into consideration the cost of living, especially as applied to those who have families to support.

You will find some continuing annual appropriations are asked for. I very much doubt the wisdom of such appropriations, except, possibly, in undertakings of great magnitude which necessarily would extend over a number of years. As a general proposition I hardly think such appropriations are consistent with the budgetary system that has been adopted. It contemplates that the General Assembly shall provide for the next biennial period and no more. Besides, no one can foresee what contingencies and necessities may arise—conditions which may command large expenditures of funds which large continuing annual appropriations may handicap. It may be laid down as a general truth, also, that such an appropriation will almost certainly be spent. It invites to extravagance. My recommendation is that you provide for the years which are yours and leave to your successors the duty of providing for theirs when they confront, face to face, all the conditions that may then exist.

Some of you may be astounded at the amount of money asked. It is nothing unusual at all. It is quite likely that each department and institution views everything from its standpoint alone and not in its relations to the needs and welfare of the State as a whole. You will not, therefore, be expected, except possibly in rare instances, to grant any such sums as are asked for. You should, first of all, be careful to provide sufficiently for maintaining all of the State institutions and departments at their present standards of efficiency, and to continue and perfect undertakings already entered upon. After that you should proceed with great care. Always new buildings and extensions are asked for at State institutions. The asking, as a rule, cover the extreme of the desirable. As individuals, many things appeal to us as very desirable, indeed, but conditions, sane living, freedom from excesses forbid indulgence. It is for you to say in considering these things what the policy of the State under the present abnormal business conditions shall be. You should, in my judgment, cut down these requests by very large amounts, using care, however, that the pruning knife is not used in the wrong place.

The budget, with the abstract of requests for appropriations, increases and changes, so that you are advised at once of exact conditions, ought to enable the appropriations committees to proceed immediately with their work and ought to enable you to do unusually efficient and discriminating work. There can be no excuse now for delay until the end of the session.

PARDONS AND PAROLES.

It is the mandate of the constitution that I shall report to you every case of reprieve, commutation and pardon granted, with the reasons therefore and also all remission of fines and forfeitures. It is hardly practicable to make report in full herein so I content myself with setting out the substance in a separately printed report in full which will appear on your desks.

Upon the question of granting a pardon I have referred eight cases to the Board of Parole for investigation and recommendation. Two of these cases have not yet been reported upon, one was withdrawn by the applicant himself from consideration by the Board, one died while his case was under investigation, in two cases the Board recommended commutation of sentence to fifty years, in one case recommended suspension of sentence and in one recommended a pardon. All these recommendations by the Board were granted.

Prior to 1915 I referred two applications for pardons to the Board which were not reported upon during my first term of office, but later they reported adversely to granting either of them. I nevertheless granted both.

I also granted a pardon in one indeterminate sentence case on recommendation of the Board, and also in one county jail case upon recommendation of the trial judge and the county attorney.

I have granted thirty-five suspensions upon recommendation of the Board, one upon recommendation of the trial judge, and one hundred and seventeen from county jails.

I have restored to citizenship forty-six paroled men and, upon recommendation of the Board, two hundred and eighty. There have been eight revocations, thirty-two commutations and eighteen remissions of fines and forfeitures.

THE OFFICE OF BEE INSPECTOR.

The State Inspector of Bees informed me a year ago that it was his judgment that the work of the office should be reorganized and placed under the direction of the State College. In his last annual report he outlines his reasons, which seem entirely sufficient. I suggest, therefore, that his recommendations be adopted.

Two years ago I submitted to the legislature that the beekeepers of the State felt that their bees should be taxed. They ask consideration from the State and are willing, as I understand it, to reciprocate by having the exemption removed and assessors directed to list their bees for taxation thus adding a million dollars to the assessed valuation of property.

CONSOLIDATION.

There are in several departments some overlapping of work and duplication of reports made. This appears, for instance, in the department of Industrial Commissioner and Commissioner of Labor, notably with reference to accidental injuries and perhaps in other particulars. In several States these departments are administered under one department head. I suggest the advisability of an examination of the laws of those States for the purpose of determining whether a change could be made in our methods which would promote efficiency or reduce expenditures.

The inspectors under the Food and Dairy Department make inspection of hotels for some purposes. It would seem that while they were at it, their inspection might just as well be for all purposes of inspection required by the law, or, vice versa, the regular hotel inspectors might inspect for all purposes. I hardly see any reason for two corps of inspectors.

Under the county accounting department the examiners visit every county in the State. It is their duty to check up the accounts between the county and city treasurers. No reason is perceived why at the same time (and it would take very little additional time) they should not check up the cities which are under the examination of the State Municipal Department. It is not discoverable that there is any excuse for such a condition. I recommend that you carefully examine into all these matters in the interest of efficiency and economy.

TUBERCULOSIS.

I take this opportunity to commend the campaign which the State Board of Control has carried on against tuberculosis. That progress has been made is shown not only by the general knowledge which our people have in its prevention, but the decrease of the mortality and incidence of this disease. However, there is one aspect of this campaign to which I desire to direct particular attention. That of bovine tuberculosis. The tuberculosis cow is responsible for an appreciable amount of tuberculosis, especially among children. It is manifest, therefore, that repressive measures should be established to control, not only the animal herself, but milk and milk products as well. And if the tuberculosis dairy cow, as a source of infection to human beings, were alone considered, it would be sufficient cause for drastic legislative action, but beyond this there is a point of interest of vast economic consequence.

Tuberculosis is a serious threat to the live stock and packing interests of our State. It imposes a heavy tax upon these industries. The following statistics submitted from some of the abattoirs operating in Iowa, are illuminating:

(Exhibit "A") Total hogs killed in a six months period, 182,049; the live weight was 39,693,840 lbs. Cost $3,930,512.72. The average price paid per hundred pounds was $9.90. Of the total number killed, 1.87 per cent were condemned on account of tuberculosis, as unfit for food. The live weight of the condemned animals was 707,485 pounds. The loss of $51,291.93, or 13c per hundred live weight killed.

(Exhibit "B") 161,334 Iowa hogs killed in the period of one year, of which 25.4 per cent were sent to the retaining rooms, and 2.12 per cent were condemned as unfit for food on account of tuberculosis. This imposed a tax of 32.2 per hog, or a loss of 13.32 cents per cwt.

The report of the Bureau of Animal Industry of the Federal government, discloses a most disquieting situation. For the year ending June 30, 1916, a total of 285,605 cattle were slaughtered by Iowa plants where federal meat inspection is maintained. Of the 285,605 killed, 11,099 carcasses were retained on account of tuberculosis. Of this number 1,584 carcasses were condemned as unfit for food on account tuberculosis.

There were, January 1, 1916, 9,069,000 swine in Iowa. It is apparent that not one-fourth of Iowa hogs slaughtered are packed by Iowa industries. The surplus hogs are shipped largely to Chicago, Sioux City, Omaha, St. Louis and eastern markets, and possibly it may be only a question of time when the entire packing business of the nation will discriminate against the Iowa hog. Already tuberculosis is imposing a tax of 13c per hundred pounds on Iowa hogs, over $2,000,000.00 annually.

January 1, 1916, there were 4,128,000 head of cattle in Iowa, of which number 1,391,000 were milk cows. The federal reports show that eight-tenths of one per cent of all the beef cattle slaughtered in Iowa, were condemned on account of tuberculosis, as unfit for food, but no one imagines the extent of this disease to be that low in dairy and breeding cattle.

It is also demonstrated that the prevalence of tuberculosis in the dairy districts is vastly greater than in other sections of the state. Tuberculosis cattle transmit the disease to the swine. If the control of tuberculosis in dairy and breeding cattle is established by the state the problem may be considered to be in process of solution. The stock and dairy interests of our state are of great importance, and the approach to this question involves not only the bovine itself, but dairy products as well. It is not wise for an intelligent people to tolerate so great a financial drain, or to subject her people to the imminent perils of the tuberculosis cow.

I recommend that legislation be devised by which to control this increasingly serious situation in our state. Three main points may be suggestive. The testing with tuberculin of all dairy and pure bred cattle,—partial compensation to owners of all condemned animals,—and the ownership by the state of all animals so condemned. I am informed that the Federal government will divide the responsibility with the state of Iowa, and will co-operate in any progress devised to eradicate tuberculosis.

RECOMMENDATIONS HERETOFORE MADE.

Some recommendations I have heretofore made I desire to repeat. I repeat them because I thoroughly believe in them and believe they should be adopted. Of nothing whatever am I more thoroughly convinced than that from whatever standpoint it may be viewed the house of representatives and the senate of this State ought each to be reduced in numbers one-half. I doubt very much if there could be found anywhere any argument in support of such numbers in State legislative bodies by anyone of commanding ability or by a recognized student of State governments. I sincerely hope you will not carelessly pass this suggestion by but that you will give it most sincere consideration. Rising above all considerations of self, of political preferment, come to the question as if it were an original one in Iowa government. Let it be provided in a proposed amendment to the constitution, in a proper form, that it shall be in force and effect at a time far enough in the future to disturb no one now in office.

I have heretofore recommended that the office of Railroad Commissioner should be appointive. I am more and more convinced of it.

I have urged before that there ought to be created the office of business manager of the affairs of the county. I hardly think that anyone could give a good reason why this should not be done. Thousands of dollars could be saved to the people. His salary would be as nothing compared to his value. A budgetary system could be worked out by him and the business of the county put upon a business basis. Now nobody gives any real attention or any really sincere expenditure of time to county affairs. No genuinely business institution would tolerate such a condition of affairs one day.

As to court procedure: I say again in my judgment the law ought to provide for majority verdicts in civil cases.

The time for taking appeals ought to be reduced. What reason can be given for hanging up a civil or criminal case for six months in which to appeal?

Interminable latitude in the examination of jurors for the trial of a cause should not be permitted. Taking days, sometimes weeks in selecting a jury is ridiculously absurd. The court should be given control of this matter.

On appeal, prejudice should not be presumed and there should be no reversal unless the court could say the jury was probably misled by the error of the court.

If a witness in a criminal case declines to become a witness in his own behalf and explain the facts tending to establish his guilt, counsel should be privileged to comment on that fact to the jury and the law forbidding it should be repealed.

I believe the grand jury should be abolished, the law providing, however, that in exceptional cases of great public interest and concern the District Court should be authorized to convene a grand jury to make investigation.

Two years ago I urged the necessity of establishing a Medical Department in the State Library and gave what then seemed to me cogent reasons for so doing. I repeat the recommendation and sincerely hope you will not fail to favorably consider a matter of such great importance.

Twice before, for the most part, I have made these recommendations and I respectfully refer you to what was then said in support of them.

THE IOWA INSURANCE RATING LAW.

The law was enacted by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly. During the first year of its existence it was subjected to much adverse criticism. Much of this has subsided, or at least, is quiescent. However, criticism is still lodged against it and its repeal has been suggested. When the natural conservation of the human mind and the advantages gained by some, under old methods, are considered this is not surprising. All progress has ever met and ever will meet with such opposition. The importance of this matter to the people of the State, it seems to me, justifies a brief consideration here.

I desire to call your most careful attention to the holding of the Supreme Court of the United States in the case of The German Alliance Insurance Company vs. Superintendent of Insurance of the State of Kansas, 233 U. S. 389, because of the clearness and conclusiveness of the discussion by which it determines that the business of insurance is affected with a public interest and that its contracts and rates may be subjected to governmental regulation in the interest of the public welfare. It is put upon exactly the same ground that the regulation of railway, water, light, gas, electricity and public warehouse rates is put, viz.: that a business which is of public concern may be regulated in the interest of the public. In enacting the insurance law, then, the legislature, within its province, determined that it was for the common good and the court held that it violated no constitutional provision.

Not only has the law this support in principle, but it had almost nation-wide consideration of the most careful kind by experts in insurance matters, chosen from the supervising officials of ten of the great States of the Union, from New York to Idaho, by the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners from the Insurance Departments of all of the States. This Committee, so chosen, held meetings in different parts of the country for more than a year at which there were heard representatives of insurance companies and persons engaged in rate-making. "The economic basis of fire insurance rates, the methods of making rates and the relation between rate-making and other problems of fire insurance," were carefully and exhaustively studied. The recommendations of this committee to the convention after such prolonged study may certainly be said not to contain anything not reasonably mature and sound and not in accord with their honest convictions. It certainly represented what in its judgment was necessary to protect the insuring public and its recommendations are embodied in the Iowa law. The Insurance Commission of Ontario, Canada, refers in its report to this convention as "the most important non-legislating association in the United States so far as insurance matters are concerned" and says "much more than ordinary importance should be attached to their findings, and further says as to the Iowa law that it is believed "it presents a measure more nearly akin to the interests and requirements of this Province than any other" the commissioner has seen. Mr. Herman L. Ekern, former Insurance Commissioner of Wisconsin, and an eminent authority, in an address a few months ago said "The Iowa law probably reflects most closely the public sentiment of the United States on the regulation of fire insurance rates. Not only did this State follow the recommendations substantially of the convention referred to but so also did Minnesota, Missouri, Oklahoma and Kentucky and, in part, Michigan and Pennsylvania" and Kansas has a like law. The law, therefore, rests upon a sound legal principle, it represents the careful, mature judgment of the most competent men upon the subject under consideration to be found and it has had the legislative approval of eight States. It would seem to rest as to its general features and purposes upon an unshakable foundation. Besides, the State of Iowa should never relinquish the principle of rate regulation of a business affected by a public use, as it would do in part by a repeal of this law.

Not only has it all these things to commend it but actual experience also should commend it to every unprejudiced mind. Prior to its enactment rates were merely something to be juggled with by agents, rested upon no scientific basis, embodied no principle of uniformity or equity, some paying more and some less than warranted by the risk. They were simply subjects of dickering between the agent and the insured. The premiums paid on insurance constitute the fund out of which the enormous fire losses of the country are paid. The people must have insurance but no one should contribute more or less to said fund than his risk would warrant so far as it is reasonably possible to determine. This law provides for rate-making bureaus paid by the companies who, after surveys made and the application of years of observation and experience, establish in the first instance, rates in conformity with the hazard. Classification of risks are made. These are based on such considerations, among others, as kind of building, condition, location, occupancy, and fire fighting facilities available. To illustrate; A town without water protection falls in a higher class rate than one well supplied. Like hazard, like risk. Hence the law contemplates uniformity, equity. There can be no discrimination any more. Just as there can be no discrimination in freight rates or passenger fares any more. Besides, this law tends to reduce fire loss. It stimulates better, safer building, correction of fire danger, better facilities for suppressing fires because these things reduce the hazard and the rate. The law is flexible as between the companies and bureaus and permits variation from bureau rates and thus competition, but there can be no variation except on notice and the whole, bureaus and companies, are under the direct supervision of the Insurance Commissioner. Any person may carry a complaint to him and may appeal from him to the district court. In the beginning of the operation of this law some predicted that millions of dollars more would be taken from the people in premiums. This is only the reception that forward-moving, constructive legislation always receives. The fact is, as shown by the records, that the average rate paid in 1915 was lower than ever before in the history of the State. It is simply the old question of regulating in the interest of the whole people, business which is of public concern and which question it had been thought was settled in Iowa. Certainly the public welfare requires that the law in all its essential features and purposes be retained.

NEW COMPANIES.

A very proper subject for your consideration in connection with insurance is the matter of the regulation and control, so far as can be done, of new companies prior to the time they receive their license and enter upon an actual insurance business. I do not know of any ground for criticism of any company in the promotion stage in Iowa, but in some other States methods have obtained which occasioned the loss of hundreds of thousands of dollars to purchasers of promotion stock. The organization of new companies are on every hand throughout the country. Capital stock may be sold at two or three for one and such portion of the surplus as may be desired by the promoters appropriated for promotion expenses—such as payment of salaries, commissions for sales of stock, rents, equipment, supplies, anything. Sometimes the whole scheme has seemed to be organized for the purposes of fleecing the public. "The Western Underwriter," published in Chicago, in a recent article discussing this question said "the time has arrived when a law should be enacted giving the State Insurance Department regulation over companies in process of promotion" and that such a law should be "one of the earliest to be passed at the next session of the legislation." An Insurance Journal published at Atlanta, Georgia, was at about the same time suggesting the same thing. In this State from the time when the articles of incorporation are filed to the time when license to begin business is granted the State has no jurisdiction over the company. If it never gets to the point of writing insurance the stockholder has no protection. The insurance laws of this State, in my judgment, are to be very highly commended, except in this omission to place the new company under the jurisdiction of the Insurance Department immediately upon the approval of its articles of incorporation. The law should limit the percentage to be paid on commissions, salaries, etc. It should require that the subscription contract specifically define the proportion which may be used for expenses. It should require that copies of all contracts, advertisements, literature and other papers be filed with the Commissioner and that the promotion of the company in general be under his supervision. This would be some protection to the public while otherwise there is practically none against any one who might conceive the idea of promoting an insurance company. I recommend that the law be so amended. No honest, high-minded organizer and promoter of a company could or would criticise such a provision but rather would commend it as placing insurance upon a high plane and establishing it in the confidence of the people.

THE STATE FIRE MARSHAL.

There is an overlapping, or, at least to some extent, a similiarity of work done and results attained in the office of the Fire Marshal and the Department of Insurance. In the matter of fire prevention they are closely related. The rating law is a very potent factor for reducing fire hazards because through its operation the inspection of rated risks in cases of complaint is necessary and because its natural tendency and purpose is to eliminate dangers from fire and prompt the installation of equipment to prevent fire loss. An inspector, understanding the rating system, could at the same time suggest improvements in the way of reducing both the fire hazard and insurance rates. This service would enlarge that now done from the office of the Fire Marshal and at no greater expense. In fact, it seems to me that the duties of the Fire Marshal naturally belong to the Department of the Insurance Commissioner and should be administered by it. In some States this is done. Considerable money is expended in the way of prosecutions connected with suspicious fires and a question may be raised as to whether it is justified by results. The real value to the people comes through the work of inspection and fire prevention and the reduction of the cost of insurance must depend upon the reduction of the amount of fire waste. I believe it would be to the advantage of both departments and to the State if they were consolidated and I so recommend. The ferreting out of arson cases could and should be a part of the duties of the State Agents.

THE BOARD OF PAROLE.

The law makes it the duty of the Board of Parole to render such assistance as may be necessary to the success of the parole system in procuring employment for paroled prisoners. A large part of the success of the system has been to the patient, earnest work of the Board in this particular. A sympathetic oversight and constant interest is maintained in the man resulting in great helpfulness to him as long as he is under parole. He is sustained by the consciousness that the State is interested in his welfare.

During 1916 the Board granted 385 paroles from prison and 27 on the recommendation of judges and county attorneys. All these men were furnished employment and, so long as under parole, have the care, helpfulness and advice of the Board.

I recommend that the law be amended so that it will require that all paroles granted by Judges be to the Board of Parole. Then the paroled man will immediately come under its supervision, a spirit of helpfulness and personal interest will immediately surround him. If, however, he is paroled to some individual, charged with no particular duty toward him, it is often the case that he drifts, little is known of him and little encouragement extended. The work of the Board is so organized that it is ever in communication with him and that to help. For this reason I make this recommendation.

THE GOOD ROADS QUESTION.

The public highway question has been an urgent one for fifteen years, or more. Every session of the legislature has dealt with it to some extent. The law has grown better all the time and there has been constant improvement in the roads, very rapid in the last four or five years. The question will doubtless receive consideration by you. I see no reason why it should not be approached in the unanimous desire to find and do the best thing for the progress and good name of the State. Why should such a question involve bitter feelings? It is unthinkable that any one could be found who does not hold good roads to be very desirable and essential to the economic interests of the State. It is simply a question of methods. All appreciating the inestimable value of a result, shall it fail of attainment because of an unseemly contention about ways and means? Especially should anything of this kind occur when nobody anywhere is proposing to lay an additional burden to the extent of one dollar upon anybody? Should anything of this kind occur when the law already fully provides means for financing all that is desired and hoped for in good roads? Should there be any such result when the application of business methods to the expenditure of funds would save their dissipation and secure them for permanent enjoyment? Should there be any such result when it seems clear that in those communities of the State where the people have gone ahead and built roads, surfaced with gravel after approved plans, that lands have advanced more rapidly in value, and especially where the consolidated school has been added, than in other parts of the state where there has been opposition or refusal to advance? Should a contention about ways and means result in failure to go forward in the face of the testimony of four hundred farmers in letters to the Better Roads Commission of the increased value of land and other advantages where such roads as are proposed in Iowa have been built? Could there really be left anything to contend about when the roads themselves demonstrate the wonderful improvement under the Highway Commission, when 15,000 permanent bridges and culverts speak with eternal voice in approval of methods, when an annual saving to the people of $4,000,000.00 is realized by the Commission and when only by the retention of it can the more than two million dollars be secured from the government and when the wisdom and efficiency of the law is appealing to other States as a model? Wherefore, seeing that we are compassed about with by so great a cloud of witnesses what manner of persons ought we to be? Have not all movements of mankind toward betterment been opposed? Has not all progress cost something? Is it not the settled conviction of all men that it has been worth infinitely more than it cost?

Nobody, so far as I know, has ever at any time advocated a bonded indebtedness of any amount to raise money for road construction. What has been suggested is that any county should be allowed at its option to anticipate its highway revenues already provided for by issuing serial bonds running over a brief period of years and using the money thus secured in a comprehensive and economical sort of way in road construction: This it could thus do and the economy of it would more than cover the interest out-lay on the money. This would be doing business in a large way and realizing upon it at once and not in a "gimlety" way with corresponding results. This would be spending your money and having something for it at once. This is the way the business of the world has ever been done by men of energy and foresight and success. It is the way that every county represented here today has built bridges court-houses and school houses. It is the way cities have been built. It is the way the great business of this city and every other on earth, has been established and developed. But for this principle and method the great railway systems of this country would not have been possible. But for it, many times, a railway could not increase or renew its engines and cars. But for it the great liners would not be plowing the ocean. But for the invocation of this principle of credit the whole Mississippi Valley and the Great West would be a slightly developed land and the life we enjoy impossible. The fact is that the whole vast domain west of the Great River and east of it as well is pledged and has been, since a people endowed with unshakable courage came into it, to the building of a great nation now and enjoying it now in its beneficence and power rather than wait the slow progress of the ox and be chained everlastingly to the life and methods of the prairies and the woods a century ago. The whole thing as it is today is based upon an anticipation of revenues.

A vast majority of the farmers of Iowa, I venture to say, acquired their farms, in whole or in part, by an anticipation of revenues from them. They paid part down, mortgaged, or bonded them, in anticipation of what they could be made to produce, and went to work and from the revenues paid off the mortgages and in the meantime owned and enjoyed them for five or ten years, the length of the mortgages. Is there anything alarming in all this? Is there anybody anywhere that has not been benefited or who has not profited by the anticipation of revenues by the great business enterprises of the country? Of course good business judgment and foresight is always to be exercised in anticipating future possibilities but here are the road revenues. Their income is certain. No element of chance can intervene. Why fear to apply the principle here, applied everywhere else? Why not authorize townships and counties that desire to do so to proceed in this way? If there is nothing compulsory about it what can be the objection? The highway question is of the greatest importance to the State. It is the opening of a new era in the development of this country. I pray you do not allow any retrogression. Think out carefully and dispassionately whatever you do.

I commend to your careful consideration both the report of the Better Roads Commission and the separate and additional suggestions of Mr. James C. Davis of that Commission. These will reach your desks. These gentlemen, at my request, cheerfully served on this commission wholly in the interest of the public welfare and entirely at their own expense. I want in this public way to convey to them my personal appreciation and thanks and I am sure, also, that of disinterested, unselfish citizenship everywhere. In view of their work I need do nothing more than refer to the Federal Aid Act.

The Congress passed an act to provide aid by the United States to the States in the construction of roads. Under this Act I have been notified by the Department of Agriculture that there has been apportioned to this State for 1917, the sum of $146,175.60 and that it is estimated that during the next four years the apportionment will be as follows: For 1918, $292,351.20; 1919, $438,526.80; 1920, $584,702.40; and for 1921, $730,878.00, or a total in five years of $2,192,634.00.

The Act provides, however, that no money apportioned under it shall be expended in any State until its legislature assents to its provisions, except that until the final adjournment of the first regular session of the legislature held after its passage the assent of the Governor shall be sufficient. On August 12th last I filed with the Department of Agriculture formal assent to the provisions of the Act. The question, therefore, as to whether this State will avail itself of these provisions is for you to determine before adjournment. If assent by formal act is given by you it must be understood that the State will make available sufficient funds to match the federal apportionment in its co-operation with the Department of Agriculture in the construction of any roads agreed upon between that Department and the State Highway Department. It is, as I suppose, entirely immaterial from what source the State pledges these funds in advance—whether from direct appropriations or from tax levies already provided for or from funds derived from automobile licenses. There was expended in the State in 1915 for road and bridge construction purposes approximately $13,525,364.00. A small portion of this would meet all the requirements of the Federal Act. Assuming that the automobile licenses for 1917 and from year to year will aggregate $2,000,000.00 the Federal apportionment could be secured by pledging a portion of this fund, and, in this way, it seems to me, you should meet the government requirement.

Mr. James C. Davis in his discussion already herein referred to has made such a clear and complete analysis of the duties of the State in order to avail itself of the provisions of the Act of Congress that, with his permission, I embody the same herein and make it a part hereof with my urgent recommendation that you enact such legislation as may be necessary to that end.

He says:

1st. Accept the provisions of the Act by legislative enactment.

2d. Have a State Highway Commission or State Highway Department.

3d. Have a definite, comprehensive, and practicable plan of road improvement covering a five-year period.

4th. Such plan as the State may adopt must be submitted for the approval of the Secretary of Agriculture.

5th. There must be an agreement between the Secretary of Agriculture and the State Highway Commission as to the character of the proposed road construction.

6th. The work must be done, as provided by the State laws, under the supervision of the State Highway Commission.

7th. The State must adopt a reasonable plan for the maintenance of roads receiving Federal aid.

THE CAPITOL GROUNDS.

The Executive Council in developing the grounds ordered purchased by the Thirty-fifth General Assembly has proceeded in all respects as directed to do by the law and not otherwise. The law itself submitted a plan and, so far as the work has proceeded, it has followed that plan. The wisdom of the law is revealed in many particulars but in none more than that the development of the grounds was not to be left to hap-hazard, or diversified notions of succeeding legislatures but to the genius of a world-renowned landscape architect. When the whole is completed and the years have given the growth of grass and flowers and shrubs and trees, interspersed by walks and drives, the far-vision of that legislature, doing a work for all the centuries, will be approved by larger and larger numbers even as it is now. Interference in any respect with the plan is, it seems to me, to mar it. It rests in the mind of the architect as a whole. Each thing in the plan has relation to the whole. Should the untrained, the unskilled, take for instance, the sculptor's work, out of his hands to give it better expression, or should the artist surrender his picture, nearing completion, to the painter of houses to bring out the fine lineaments of the face and put the light in the eyes? Among men and women who have given their lives to the study of landscape art and the relation of buildings to each other and to monuments and of monuments to each other, and who have visited these grounds or examined the plans there is no difference of opinion, all concurring that the plans are artistically correct.

The law was wise in providing funds through a sufficient number of years to perfect the work as planned. It is sincerely to be hoped that no diversion will be ordered until the work is some further years advanced if ever at all. The tax levy ordered per annum is not burdensome, not exceeding four and one-fourth cents per thousand dollars of assessed valuation. May not Iowa become famous for having made one spot out of her millions of acres supremely attractive and beautiful and that at the seat of her government, surrounding splendid buildings to come in the near and also in distant years, themselves a part of the satisfying whole? The appeal, gentlemen, is to you and those who shall succeed you. The voice is of the present; it is the cry, also, of the future.

A NEW BUILDING AT THE CAPITOL.

A new building on the capitol grounds for the State's business is an imperative necessity. Other buildings may have been needed heretofore at other places and may be now for State purposes but never at any time could there have been a more compelling necessity than exists here at this moment. Every effort has been made by the Executive Council to house the business of the State and it has succeeded in only the most unsatisfactory and inconvenient way. It simply cannot be done any longer. It could not have been done as it is if the State, in extending the grounds, had not bought some buildings, once residences, that could be used. They are not adapted to the uses to which they are put. The Capitol building proper is crowded beyond its capacity. Use for storage purposes is practically everywhere and confusion reigns. The Executive Council has partitioned, made doorways, gone out into the rotunda and disfigured it, as you have observed, until the limit has been reached, indeed, far exceeded. Some of the buildings outside are old, unsuitable, and constantly in danger from fire. For instance, the building occupied by the Dairy and Food Commissioner is an old dilapidated flat. The State Architect, reporting upon its condition, says it may justly be called a "fire-trap." The two old hot air furnaces are a "source of danger." "The plastering is old and much of it is ready to fall at any time if the building or floors are suddenly jarred, as when packages are moved or dropped." "The outer walls are badly cracked in all fronts" and "the structure, as a whole, is in bad condition." And yet the equipment and fixtures used in the building are conservatively valued at $15,000.00. Much of the same could be said of the buildings north of the Capitol occupied by the State.

The great law and reference library in this building, hardly surpassed anywhere, worth half a million dollars, is, in the upper galleries, disintegrating in the extremely dry heat that necessarily prevails under such conditions. It is almost criminal recklessness to continue such a situation.

Nobody calls in question the great need, but something of a controversy has arisen as to whether the new building should be known as an "Office Building" or a "Judiciary Building or Temple of Justice." Into this discussion I shall not enter. I shall only say that this General Assembly will greatly fail of its duty if it does not provide for a new building here, or the commencement of one at the earliest possible day.

THE DIRECT PRIMARY.

The nomination of candidates for public office in this State by a primary election has been in vogue for a period of ten years—a long enough time to give its efficiency and adaptability to the purposes designed by its advocates a reasonable test. Results from the beginning have not been entirely satisfactory. Changes from time to time have been made in the hope of making it an approved instrument of popular government. No improvement has been perceived. It seems to have been continually losing ground in the minds of thoughtful men sincerely interested in good government. To test the public mind of the State on the subject I some weeks ago sent out quite a large number of letters to men of all parties and former factions asking whether they were satisfied with the law, not simply in theory, but in its practical application, and if not why, and whether they would recommend a change, and if so in what particulars. Almost all responded and not one said he was entirely satisfied. All but two or three expressed thorough dissatisfaction and disappointment. Nearly all recommended very radical changes, many denounced it as subversive of representative government and favored its repeal. Many of those who were its staunchest advocates in the beginning and who were in considerable measure responsible for its enactment were as severe in their criticism of results as many of those who never regarded it with favor.

A wave of popular discontent, which swept over the country something like a decade ago and had a very substantial foundation, occasioned much legislation in many States based upon the thought that the people should participate more directly in matters of government, going to the extent in some States of enacting provisions which might practically abdicate the functions of the legislature. This was thought to be demanded by the exigency of the time and entirely justifiable in a democracy. This whole matter opens a very interesting field for study and discussion which, of course, cannot be entered upon here, inviting as it is. It must suffice to say that ours is not a pure democracy. We have a democratic republic. James Madison referring to this question in the Federalist said: "Such democracies have ever been spectacles of turbulence and contention; have ever been found incompatible with personal security or the rights of property; and have in general been as short in their lives, as they have been violent in their deaths." Further he said: "By a republic I mean a government in which the scheme of representation takes place. The two great points of difference between a democracy and a republic, are, first, the delegation of the government, in the latter, to a small number of citizens elected by the rest; secondly, the greater number of citizens and greater sphere of country over which the latter may be extended." I suppose, however, a republic might extend over any extent of territory. But a pure democracy is clearly incompatible with such a vast extent of country as the United States. To my mind it is just as clearly impossible of ultimate success in a continued high order of government in a State such as Iowa, with a population of 2,358,066 people, containing more than 684,000 entitled to vote. It was clearly possible in New England colonial town meetings. It is still successful in such ventures. Switzerland is often referred to, but Iowa is three and a half times as large as Switzerland. Besides, Switzerland is divided into twenty-five cantons, each sovereign and each but little larger than one Iowa county. In the canton of Zurich, next to the largest in population in the confederation and probably the most intelligent, in ninety-two successive instances of measures submitted by referendum to the people only 77 per cent, on an average, of the total vote was cast and of this twenty per cent was invalid or blanks, leaving only fifty-seven per cent valid votes cast and twenty-three per cent of the voters not voting at all. Of the votes cast one-fourth of them were cast by persons who either felt they were not well enough informed to vote, or, in general, they were lacking in intelligence, and twenty-three per cent had not interest enough to vote at all. Therefore, the issues in these cases were determined by a majority of the fifty-seven per cent voting or, doubtless, by a small minority of the voters of the canton. This was the result in a unit of government but little larger than an Iowa county. This manifests the want of interest and intelligent grasp of the questions involved by reason of failure and even impossibility of the people informing themselves. This may easily result in government by a minority. This is the result in the best and longest tried democracy and this ever has been and ever will be the result. It is simply impossible to ultimate otherwise. I cannot but reach the conclusion that those who see in our primary laws a tendency toward the destruction of the representative principle upon which this government was built are right. They lead away from the moorings cast by the fathers and in this we may well pause. It was Lord Chatham, one of the most profound statesmen in English history, who said of them

"For solidity of reason, force of sagacity and wisdom of conclusion under a complication of difficult circumstances no nation or body of men can stand in preference," and that estimate for more than one hundred and twenty-five years of our experience as a democratic republic, has stood unchallenged as the judgment of all the earth. They were the representatives of the people laying the foundations of a republic in a new world. They were ordaining a constitution that was to forever protect the people against themselves, that was to be the fortress of protection for the minority. As representatives they said, "We the people of the United states * * * do ordain and establish this constitution." But if it had gone, on a referendum, to the people we know now and they knew then that it never would have been adopted and we never should have had that great instrument.

As to the further practical operation of the primary laws it may be said that nobody is responsible for results. Nobody nominates candidates for public office. They select themselves. The question of fitness is not discussed and passed upon by anybody. They are found in the field. Multiplied thousands of voters know nothing about their qualifications and do not and cannot take the time to investigate. If they could, to whom could they go? To everybody only. And everybody is nobody. The voter simply ratifies the candidate's selection of himself. He has nothing to do with selecting the agents of his government. The most intelligent voter does not know how to mark his ballot below the head of the ticket. It is manifest that it would be better if candidates were selected by representatives chosen by the people in small units of government. Then there could be some canvass as to fitness. Then responsibility could be located. Then the people would indeed select their candidates. That would be democratic. It is not democratic where the voter expresses no opinion as to nearly the whole of the ticket he casts. He makes no selection. He votes blindly. He simply makes a thrust in the dark. Why insist that he wait until he is twenty-one years of age before he does this? He could do it as well at fourteen. Or why insist that the voter be a male? A sixteen year old girl could make a stab at the field with just as much certainty of impaling the best man. That it is mostly a chance, a lottery, was humiliatingly admitted when the legislature ordered a rotation of the names on the ballot. That it could be nothing else was conclusively demonstrated when no better results followed. There could not possibly be a greater delusion than that a repeal of the primary laws would deprive the people of their power, of direct participation in their government. The fact is that the primary prevents that very thing. The people cannot proceed with the greatest efficiency, precision and intelligence by multitudes. All experience establishes with unshakable certainty this fact, not only in government but in business and every other department of life where large issues are involved. This principle is recognized and acted upon everywhere else but in government where it ought to obtain with greatest force.

When this new plan and departure from the original plan and structure of our government is carefully thought out, it seems to me, if I am not thinking crookedly, that it does not afford security against misgovernment; that its tendency is not beneficent; that it is constantly toward mediocrity; that it will grow more inefficient and unsatisfactory with the passing years; that self-government, genuine, orderly, capable government; that its tendency is not beneficent; that it is constantly toward of the multitude about an array of self-selected, self-imposed candidates. The thought of the office seeking the man, an ideal once cherished, has already perished and is held in contemptuous derision. Discussion and deliberation as to party policy and candidates are not possible at the polls—not possible where the electors number hundreds of thousands. The people may in fact be left without any potential voice in the destiny of their country or themselves. There may be nobody on board capable of navigating the ship especially in the violence of a storm. In a great emergency—and we cannot conclude it will never arise—could there be any certainty, under the primary system, that a great, strong, forceful man, lost in his devotion to his country, its inspiring traditions and his belief in its great destiny could be chosen. The primary tends to exclude the best, most unselfish and capable men. The rule is that they will not undergo the methods which seem necessary to success: The meaningless circulation of petitions, the harassing and long-drawn out primary campaign within the party, tending to disrupt and weaken the party, a great evil where government must proceed by parties, the enormous and disgraceful expenditure of money, all tending to corrupt public morals, lower and contaminate the political and public ideals of youth—all this with reference to questions that must touch every citizen, really the most momentous questions with which he has to do. Then must follow the campaign for the general election with all of the convulsion and disappointment and bitterness of the primary campaign carried over into it. The tendency of it all is to develop the demagogue, lower to debasement the tone of our political life, deprive the country of great leadership, inspired only by a desire for the common good, for a commonwealth that shall be an example and attract the admiration of the whole country—a leadership that is not based upon and which would scorn to appeal to the prejudices and want of vision of men, but which is on fire, with the great things of life which develop great citizenship and build States upon enduring foundations. Let this be called Ideal. It is the hope of America. In our smug contentment and great prosperity we dislike to be disturbed. But yonder is the distant day. Yonder is the great population of hundreds of millions. There lie the great questions of the future. We have had nothing like them yet. It is not too early to cry back to the people, back to them in their strong representative capacity where they can speak in their potent, discriminative, really democratic, selective, elective force, a thing which they do not and cannot now do.

Any system will have its imperfections and can be abused and has always been, because men are imperfect, selfish, ambitious. But calm, constructive thinking—the thought and foresight that has moved the world along in all the ways that have marked its advancement—in the ways that have developed beneficent governments has not been the thought of the multitude or the product of the multitudinous mind.

The tendency of our present system is to grow worse. Such has been the result. A new movement having the approval of great numbers brings with it a pride in its success which seems to start it well, but its inherent weakness is sure to develop. Hence it has come about that in more States than one, dead men have been voted for as candidates. In other instances men of notorious weakness in character and mind have polled thousands of votes for important State offices, putting the public service in actual peril—indeed there is a constant peril. Besides, it has been demonstrated that the less intelligent voters, those whose personal prejudices are most easily aroused, vote with the greatest unanimity. Thus an analysis of a primary vote in Michigan reveals the fact that “in the seven counties containing the most foreign-born and illiterate voters the republican vote has been far above the percentage for the State, in the last three primaries exceeding the party membership; while in the seven counties containing the least such vote the percentage has been considerably below that for the State. In Detroit the vote in the four wards conceded to be the ‘worst’ has always been markedly heavier than in the best wards and in 1914 the republican vote in the worst wards was over twice the party membership. The voting is quantitatively best where the electorate appears to be qualitatively worst.” I think this would be found to be generally true under the primary system.

So far as the presidential preference primary law is concerned it has been rightly called a farce. It has already demonstrated that the people can and will actually trifle with the great question of selecting a president of the United States, voting in great numbers for men having absolutely no qualifications, natural or acquired, for the great office, and not claiming to have, and men of whom no candid, thoughtful citizens, anxious for his country's welfare, would ever think. This experience strikingly betrays the weakness and danger of the direct primary system.

The non-partisan judiciary law, as it stands, has also demonstrated its utter futility to effect its purpose. It has moved the judiciary into politics. It invites into a political game that has not one thing to commend it, but everything to condemn it. It starts the candidate for the office of judge out as a suppliant. He must appeal to people whom he may soon have before him as litigants and who have extended the helpful influence. If he rises into the region where the recollection of favors do not abide, those before him maybe on a lower level where the memory is ever alert and suggestive. So far as it is humanly possible the Judge should be placed beyond every suggestion or suspicion of bias. If he were nominated by a convention he would be very much farther, although not altogether, removed from this; but selecting himself as a candidate and appealing to the people, he is subjected to every sort of obligation and entanglement in the primary. The field is open for every mediocre to become a candidate. It invites to the arts of the demagogue to gain a judgeship. It may easily lead eventually to the loss of fitness, ability and courage on the bench.

It has been said of this matter by a great lawyer of nation wide renown: "Those ripest in wisdom are not willing to engage in a campaign where the arts of demagogue and the use of money are such potential factors; and we must make up our minds that unless we withdraw our judicial nominations from these strenuous primaries, our judges, in time, will be our most skillful politicians rather than our most learned lawyers." This law ought to be repealed. The presidential preference law should be repealed. The office of Judge should be appointive. It is so in every country on earth, but Switzerland and the United States and is so in eight of our states.

While there may be and have been abuses under every system the opportunity and temptation ought to be made difficult as possible. The trouble with the old caucus system which naturally aroused public indignation was, that it was not born of the law, was subjected to no regulation. Capable of being a sound basis for popular government it was, nevertheless, often made the instrument of unrestrained, self-interested, self-seeking, shrewdly designing men to compass selfish purposes and sometimes defeat the popular will. It was the basis, yet was the weakest point in the whole party structure and movement. From it the people in disgust fled to the method I have been describing with which the public mind is now just as much disgusted. Is it not possible to devise a method of party procedure and government that will realize the distinctive purposes and genius of our form of government? It has not been done yet in its best sense. This is the question for this legislature. Once a believer in the direct primary, experience and reflection have forced me to the conclusions already expressed. My interest in the progress and future good government of this commonwealth forces me to recommend its repeal. Not an attempt to patch it up, for that would be unsatisfactory, but a start on a new basis.

I should like to see Iowa assume leadership back to true, popular representative government. This legislature should provide a law for a primary in the township or precinct where all the voters can have a direct vote, at which all candidates for township or precinct offices could be nominated and, if deemed best, county officers. At this primary election delegates to the county convention and alternates should be elected and their election properly certified to the county convention. For this primary the law should fix a day for all parties, uniform throughout the State, strictly regulated as to notice, time of opening and closing, method of selecting judges and clerks, the right to participate, providing, perhaps, that ten days before, the voter should declare his party affiliation and that having once voted at a primary and thus fixed his party affiliation he could not vote in any other, unless thirty days prior he had filed a declaration, under oath, of change of party affiliation; and, providing also that no name of a candidate of one party could be written, printed or pasted upon the ballot of another under penalty of rejection of the ballot; and providing also the ratio of representation in the selection of delegates to the county convention, fixing the date of such convention and its time of meeting, uniform throughout the State, to nominate county officers, if not nominated at the township and precinct primary, and to nominate State representatives and to select delegates and alternates to Senatorial, Judicial and Congressional conventions, fixing a uniform time throughout the State for holding them and selecting delegates and alternates to the State convention and fixing the time for holding and declaring the ratio of representation to all these conventions. The delegates to all these conventions should be properly certified and be required to attend and no proxies should be permitted. In the case of absence or inability of a delegate to attend, an alternate to take his place, the law fixing the order in which alternates would be permitted to take the place of regular delegates, and no other persons should have any voice or vote in any convention. The law should also provide that these delegates and alternates shall be regarded as officers, their tenure being from the time of their election until the next election of delegates so that in the event of need, any convention could be re-assembled on notice and another campaign and expense avoided. Under this kind of legalized procedure it is hard to see how there could be any of the old time manipulations, sharp practices and packing of caucuses and conventions and, in my judgment, it should be worked out and the principle and purpose developed as your combined wisdom may dictate. The legislative branch of the government should be made as strong as possible because its power is almost unlimited and I believe its candidates should be carefully selected by delegate conventions.

Another consideration, slight, however, in comparison with the reasons already given why the laws referred to should be repealed is the cost of the elections in Iowa.

IN MEMORIAM.

Since the adjournment of the last General Assembly the death of several of the most noted men in the history of the State has occurred. Each one of them was ripe in years and in long, valuable service to the commonwealth and the whole country as well. As a token of respect on the part of the State and as an expression of the people's appreciation of their worth, example and service, I speak of them on this, an occasion of the people.

Major General Grenville M. Dodge died at Council Bluffs on the 3d day of January, 1916. He was one of the most distinguished men in Iowa history. Not only in Iowa, but throughout the nation, he was distinguished as a great civil engineer and railway builder; as a commanding figure in the business world; as a leader of armies in the war for the Union; as a friend and counselor of many of the most noted public men in the country for a half century; as the sympathetic and wise adviser of all who might appeal to him; as devoted to his country and as having an ever-increasing love for Iowa—a life distinguished as consecrated to the highest ideals of American citizenship.

It is in the minds and hearts of the people of Council Bluffs to cause to be erected in that city which he called "home" and where so many of the years of his life were passed, a monument in commemoration of his life and public services. Because his name was a familiar one throughout the whole country it has been suggested by the people of his home city, and I deem it a high privilege to recommend and urge, that this General Assembly provide promptly for the appointment of a commission to serve without expense to the State in the matter of providing for and erecting said monument. Because he was essentially and all his life a public character this purpose of the citizenship of Council Bluffs should have this public recognition and endorsement of the people of Iowa.

Hon. William Peters Hepburn died at Clarinda, Iowa, February 7th, 1916. He was a pioneer in the State. Sixty years ago he was county attorney of Marshall County and fifty-nine years ago was clerk of the House in the Seventh General Assembly. For three years he was district attorney for the Eleventh Judicial District, resigning that position to enter the Civil War. He distinguished himself as a soldier, being promoted from time to time until he was placed in command of the Second Brigade, Cavalry Division of the Sixteenth Army Corps, serving until the close of the war. After 1860 he served the people many years in congress from the Eighth Iowa District. His public service was a notable one and he will pass into Iowa history as a man of forceful character, strong in his convictions, a lawyer of ability, a splendid soldier, a great debater, devoted to his country.

Rev. Henry Wallace died in the city of Des Moines, February 22d, 1916. He was a scholar, teacher, preacher, editor, author, publisher, farmer, a friend of man, interested in all benevolent enterprises, a helper of the world. The influence of Henry Wallace was greater even than that of very many very influential men. His work was equally and eminently successful in very many fields of activity. He was one of Iowa's most useful men and leaves a memory cherished by her entire citizenship.

Hon. Charles Clinton Nourse died at his winter home in Sierre Madre, California, on the 31st day of December 1916, at the age of eighty-seven years. Judge Nourse came to Iowa sixty-five years ago and during nearly all of that time was prominently connected with the legal, political and general development of the State. He was prosecuting attorney in his district in 1852, was Chief Clerk of the Iowa House of Representatives sixty-two years ago and Secretary of the Senate two years later, and fifty-four years ago was Attorney General of the State and a little later a judge of the District Court. He was long an active practitioner of the law in central Iowa with his home in Des Moines. His distinction was as an eminent lawyer, politician in the best sense, orator and excellent high-minded citizen.

CONCLUSION.

Now I come to the conclusion of my term of service in a public capacity for the people of Iowa. It has been a measurably long one in different positions.

I have made mistakes. They are as apparent to me as they are to the people. But on the whole the people are generous and kind. I have had what is no doubt the usual experience. I have known the pleasurable feeling and encouragement that sympathy and approbation bring and I have known, also, the severity of disapprobation and I have felt the keen, rapier thrusts of bitter criticism. I beg to say that these last were soon out of my mind and I have nothing today in my heart but gratitude to all of the people and an inspiring hope for the increasing growth of the greatness of the State and the constant improvement of her moral and political life and ideals. Men come and go and so, officially, the record is closed and with every good wish and hope it is mine to say, Good-bye.

IOWA STATE BUDGET.

Governor Clarke also presented to the General Assembly, as a part of his message, the following budget and statement:

The tables herein have been made as concise as possible with a view to giving the main facts regarding the finances, transactions and needs of all the different departments of the state government.

The column of appropriations for the biennial period gives the amounts available for each department for each specific purpose as provided in the code or by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly for the biennium ending June 30, 1917. The authority for each appropriation is indicated.

The next column gives the expenditures actually made for each department, divided as to specific purposes, so far as possible, for the first year of the biennial period under this appropriation. The succeeding column gives that which will be expended or which is available for use in the second year of the period. Where there has been expenditure and where further expenditures are possible, but no specific sum indicated as an appropriation, it is because of a continuing or indefinite appropriation dependent entirely on the needs of the department for this particular item.

Under the head of estimated expenditures is given two columns in which is set forth the estimate of the department or office or board as to that which is needed or will be used or should be made available for the specific items indicated for the biennial period which the Thirty-seventh General Assembly will provide for. It will be borne in mind that these estimates are from the heads of departments made to the governor or recommended to the legislature. They are given to indicate what the department estimates as actually necessary for the work to be done.

In many cases footnotes are appended by the department indicating the peculiarities of appropriations or needs for that department, or explaining briefly the purpose of changes in the appropriations suggested.

It will be noted that the statement of appropriations and expenditures given by these departments does not in all cases correspond to the books of the state auditor or state treasurer, but the discrepancies are of minor importance and indicate only a difference in keeping the accounts.

Attention should be called, also, to the fact that appropriations are made in two different ways. Some of them are embodied in the code itself and thus have a measure of permanency, while others are made for each biennium by an omnibus appropriation bill. There are, also, two kinds of appropriations provided for in the code. Some of them are limited or specific in the amounts stating exactly how much a salary shall be or an expenditure shall be and fixing the limit thereof beyond which the department does not go. Sometimes this is for a two-year period and in other cases for each year of the two-year period. Other appropriations are unlimited in amount and indefinite and the amount which can be expended under these appropriations is left to the discretion or the needs of some office.

A study of the column of citation for authority of expenditures discloses, also, that as to salaries there is a distinction. In some cases, salaries are fixed in the code and in others, the same class of salaries are fixed by joint resolution. In some departments the clerks and stenographers have salaries fixed specifically in the code or in the session laws, while in others, persons holding similar positions are paid according to the decision of the head of the department, the appropriation being in general form. In some cases, the compensation of the officers or clerks is paid out of their general appropriation, while in others the salaries are paid out of the general funds of the state aside from the appropriation of the office or department. These things make it difficult to compare departments or salaries or expenditures.

In the estimates an increase in salary of $25 per month has been added for each inspector in service for at least one year; the same additional monthly increase has been included in the estimate for Deputy Commissioner; there has also been added at the present rate of pay two additional inspectors which are absolutely necessary if the work contemplated by the statutes is to be performed; there has also been added one statistician at $1,500 per year, and this addition is highly important because of the great amount of statistical material now coming into the office and which cannot be handled by the present number of clerks.

*The charges for additional janitors were authorized by the committee on retrenchment and reform of the 30th G. A. This should come under the custodian's regular pay roll, and it is included in the estimates for that purpose.

¹The recommendation of increasing the salary of the chief engineer from $1,600. to $1,800. is thought advisable as a first class engineer in this position is worth fully that salary to the State of Iowa.

²As the first assistant to the engineer must be a man able to take the place of the engineer in nearly all places, to give him the prestige which he should have and make a place that worthy men are willing to work for his salary should be greater than that of the second assistant engineer and should have an increase of one hundred dollars per year in his salary.

³The electrician and machinist must be a man who thoroughly understands his business, is working at dangerous work most of the time and should be given the prestige which he should have in his department, and he should have one hundred dollars more salary than his assistant.

⁴Taking it for granted that the custodians' department would have charge of all the Capitol extension grounds during the next fiscal year, I have an estimate to include one additional night watch to take care of the outside work and think that this will be very necessary.

⁵Firemen and wardens. I desire to especially call attention to this item as the appropriation allows the full sum of one thousand dollars per annum to be paid to each of these men, but on the recommendation of the chief engineer that this was above the wages paid for like work in other capacities, the full sum has not been paid for the past period. The estimate is just the same as the appropriation that was made by the last Legislature.

⁶Florist and Yard men. I have secured the services of a first class florist and yard man but it is practically with the understanding that he will receive an increase in salary during the next fiscal year and I have therefore in the estimate for his position figured the same at twelve hundred dollars per year. I have also in this item figured that the custodian's department would have full charge of all the grounds now being prepared in the extension grounds and that in order to give it very meager care that it will require the assistance of two additional yard men and have estimated their salaries at eight hundred and forty dollars per year, each.

Expected increase in the numbers of employers and employees under the Compensation Law will call for an expansion of the service, and make need of all or practically all of the Department's $40,000.00 biennial appropriation. Expansion to be by way of Deputy Commissioner and additional office help. The increase of work and force will, of course, increase the general expense of the department.

It is impossible at this time to make any estimates for the reason that the Federal Government passed what is known as the "National Defense Act," which will require the State of Iowa to greatly increase the strength of the Guard, but until the War Department regulations are issued specifying the organization it is impossible to tell just what State appropriations will be needed to carry out the same.

*The department believes but one fund should be appropriated for the work of the Animal Health Commission and the Veterinary Department and all fees collected should be turned over to the State. The Animal Health Commission is a reliable and responsible body and might well be trusted with the entire appropriation for the payment of assistants' per diem and expenses, together with all expenses of the department; also salaries and expenses of the members of the animal health commission and the stenographic help needed. This general appropriation should be $100,000.00 per year.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Senator Kimball, Senate Joint Resolution No. 1.

Read first and second time and referred to Committee on Rules.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1.

A Joint Resolution Providing for a Joint Rule for the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly Relating to the Consideration of Companion Bills and the Placing of the Same Upon the Calendar.

Be it Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That the following joint rule of the thirty-seventh general assembly be adopted.

Whenever any bill having the same title in substance shall have been introduced in both Houses and the same whether amended or not shall have passed either House and shall be placed on the calendar of the other House, it shall be placed on such calendar with the companion bill and shall be considered with and take precedence over its companion bill and final passage of either shall operate to reject the other bill.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Caswell offered the following concurrent resolution:

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION

Expressing Appreciation of the Services of the Iowa National Guard in Connection with Mexican Border Service.

Whereas, conditions in Mexico and along the Mexican border of the United States have been of such serious disturbance as to require the presence of a large number of United States troops to maintain order and preserve the lives and property of American citizens, and

Whereas, on the call of the President of the United States for volunteer soldiers to make up this army of protection and defense the Iowa National Guard was among the first to respond to the call, therefore, be it

Resolved, by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly of Iowa, That we, for the people of Iowa, hereby express our appreciation of the services of our citizens who compose the National Guard. They come from the very best classes of citizenship in this state. Men of ability, education, and accomplishment at home, they unhesitatingly sacrificed family and business relations, disregarded opportunities for success and attainment in civil life, and with genuine patriotism of the highest order known to any country went to the defense and honor of the Flag. These Iowa officers and men in active service on the Mexican border have proven their soldierly qualities in every way. They have first established a record for health and sanitation in army life that has no equal; they have proven their efficiency on the march, in the camp and in every kind of maneuvers. They have served faithfully as soldiers of the general government and have always striven to maintain the highest honor and reputation of the citizenship of Iowa.

These Iowa troops, many of them, are now returned to this state and are about to be mustered out of the Federal service. Other troops may soon follow them back from the southland. Therefore, we, the representatives of the people of Iowa, desire now to tender to those patriotic and devoted citizens of our state and country the appreciation and commendation of all our people for what they have done.

We appreciate the sacrifice of home ties and business which they have made; we regard their willingness to undergo the discomforts of camp life, of routine of drill and soldierly training, and finally to offer their very lives in defense of their country to be worthy of such recognition as this state should make to soldiers who have accomplished heroic results.

Resolved, That these resolutions be made a part of the records of this state, and that copies of the same, suitably printed for preservation, be made under the supervision of the Adjutant General of Iowa, so that every soldier returning from the border and now serving there or in Mexico, may receive a copy of said resolutions directed to him or his family with his own name and rank and the organization to which he belonged written over them.

By unanimous consent the resolution was taken up and considered.

The resolution was read for information.

Senator Caswell moved the adoption of the resolution.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

In a spirit of humility and reverence, the duties and responsibilities of Chief Executive of this commonwealth are today assumed. Mindful of personal limitations, aid and counsel of the Eternal Builder of the Universe is earnestly sought. The confidence of the electorate, so generously bestowed, is gratefully acknowledged.

In assuming this first responsibility, and in performing this first, and pleasant, duty, I trust I shall not lose sight of the fact that I am speaking to a co-ordinate branch of the government, wisely protected, in the performance of its functions, from undue influence, and interference, by its peers. In what I shall say, therefore, I do not presume to outline a complete legislative program but to voice as best I may, as the representative head of the whole people, my conception of how we may best accomplish that which will redound to the benefit and happiness of the whole people.

There are not here, as in many commonwealths, natural geographical, or artificial trade, conditions, by force of which one section of the state is arrayed in interest against others. We are a homogeneous people, with no problem or condition in any section, or among any class, which does not exist equally in all; and legislative action, for the benefit of any interest in the state, need work no injury to the whole people.

In the wealth of material things, we are rich beyond belief; an empire of thriving cities and smiling farms, and of its wealth, and of the happiness and future of its people, you are the chosen guardians. In your action lies the possibility of opening higher fields of endeavor, in which shall ripen the golden grain of individual effort into a glorious harvest of social justice.

Government is not an ideal, but a necessity, and representative government was instituted among men for the purpose of protecting the individual in the enjoyment of the fruits of his toil and skill, and for carrying, by united effort, common burdens too heavy for individual strength.

Governments may properly notice economic conditions which exert such pressure of material necessity upon the individual that he has no real choice as to the conditions under which he shall labor for his bread. In the past, we have made legislative effort to afford men a safe place in which to work. Might we not well look to see if we may, by the same means, afford him and his family a decent place in which to live? We have said by law that the rent for money cannot justly be more than 8 per cent; that its use can have no greater value than that. Why should we permit the same money, invested in a shack, to produce 100 per cent in rent for its use? We spend millions to care for the derelicts these places launch, but we do practically nothing to prevent the conditions which produce them.

The home is the rock upon which the whole structure of society rests. If it shall be driven, by greed, to the hovel and the tenement, none shall be safe from the plague which will rise, and spread, from those depths.

We have done something in a related matter. The spread of tuberculosis has been checked, but not stopped, by the machinery which was employed against it a few years since. The existence of this disease, both human and bovine, is a serious menace to health and property, the extent of which it would not be proper to enlarge upon here. I would urge upon you that you be selfishly generous in appropriating funds to carry on the work of eradication; taking care, however, that no elaborate machinery, or new functionaries, shall be created, and that no color be given for petty oppressions or arbitrary action.

By operation of law, you have before you a proposed amendment to the Constitution, prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

By token of the platforms of the political parties of the State, in one of which all of us have membership, we are pledged to a submission of this amendment to a vote of the people.

I recommend that you proceed at once to take such steps as shall insure the submission of this amendment to such vote.

I urge upon you, in this connection, the gravity of the matter, involving, as it does, the fundamental law of the commonwealth, and that you surround the passage of this amendment through your body, and its submission to the people, with every safeguard and precaution necessary to avoid any technical defect or irregularity, and to secure a free and fair expression of the will of the people.

Recent events have demonstrated our total lack of preparedness to withstand assault from without. Every male citizen, without reference to his station in life, should be made to understand that he has a duty to his country, and should be trained to perform that duty well. The burden of defense should not rest wholly on the shoulders of those who shall volunteer, nor should we depend upon that accident to secure the training necessary to discharge that burden efficiently. Might it not be possible to make our present common school system the agency by which this may be accomplished, in connection with the National Guard, which should be preserved?

The fires of patriotism cannot be lighted too early nor fed too frequently. Might not the public school system adopt a course by which the impulses, which make efficiency in this respect a glad duty, would be inculcated in the breasts of the youth?

It has been seriously proposed by some that the primary principle be abandoned by this commonwealth, and that election laws embodying that principle be repealed. The same proposal has been made touching the same principle as applied to the non-partisan selection of the judiciary.

When the Fathers drew the Declaration of Independence and framed the Constitution, upon which our liberties rest, they declared a new confidence in the individual, and in the capacity of the average man to have his share of power and responsibility in framing the laws of his government, and in choosing the men who should administer them.

Since those great days in the history of freedom, every piece of machinery which has been designed to enlarge that participation by the people, has justified itself, by the capacity which it has developed in the people for its employment to that end, and the force of public opinion is a vital one in just the degree that such machinery has been developed for its exertion.

The primary principle is fundamental. By it, the unit for the expression of public opinion has been reduced from the mass meeting to the individual, and no man's voice need be drowned by the crowd. His right to be heard, and to be counted, has been transferred from the will of the presiding officer to the quiet protection of the ballot box, and this right to be so heard in the preliminary selection accomplished by the primary is as sacred to the individual, and as valuable to the commonwealth, as the major right of suffrage.

The arguments for repeal are fundamental, and of great antiquity. Their base is the distrust which the Tory of all ages has felt of the populace. That feeling has made war upon every enlargement of the franchise. It is the essential belief of those who hold that the people must be trusted, that a confession that they cannot be is a confession that our form of government is doomed. This does not assert that the people make no mistakes, but that they learn to use power rightly by being given it to use.

The use of the primary will better it. Even now, there speaks for its retention one great fact which outweighs all objections made—that it is better for the State, that those who administer its affairs cannot know with dangerous exactness where their redeemer liveth—that he is best guarded against giving what he has in trust, to satisfy a sense of obligation, who is obliged to unknown thousands.

If you shall feel, as I do, that the preservation of this principle is vital, I am sure you will, no more than I, hear with patience, pleas for saving money by abolishing the machinery by which it is given play.

No saving of money which involves curtailing the liberty and power of the individual citizen is an economy.

A statement that one favors "good roads" is no contribution to political thought, and no guide to solving the problem of how best and most economically to get them. We all want the best roads we can pay for. We all want every dollar of our money to produce a dollar's worth of permanent betterment in road conditions.

In the recent campaign which has resulted in our occupying our respective stations in the public service, one issue was dominant, and the voice of the people as to it had no uncertain tone. That issue was whether the state, or any of its governmental divisions, should enter into any long-time indebtedness, under any guise, for extensive work in experimental road building. The verdict of the electorate was unmistakably against any such course, and for making our road improvements out of funds previously raised by normal taxation, and in such manner and to such extent as should be determined by those who must furnish the money to pay for them.

To the extent that I have power in my office, it shall be employed in all legitimate ways to enforce this program for which I believe the people have spoken—and I hope for your co-operation.

There are honest differences as to the details of the legal machinery which shall be employed to that end, and the adjustment of these differences is essentially a legislative function, to be performed by you without interference by the executive, unless your adjustment of them shall violate these principles, to which I conceive this administration to be pledged.

With this thought, I am content to leave this problem, for the present, for your patriotic endeavor, and with confidence that it will be solved by you with a decent regard for the convictions of the people whose servants you are, rather than by consulting the dictum of theorists and irresponsible publicists, whose inspiration is less a secret than a scandal.

Congress had appropriated moneys from the Federal Treasury, to be used, under certain conditions, by states and smaller governmental divisions for the improvement of highways, and these funds may be secured by the states, or its agencies, when they shall have raised for themselves certain other sums, to be applied upon the same work. This is called "Federal Aid." In my opinion it is a form of lottery for the extraction of money from the pockets of the people, under conditions only temporarily painless. It is a sedative, administered to the taxpayer, under the influence of which he pays for the prize out of his own pocket.

To the extent that permitting our public agencies to participate in the distribution of these funds is an encouragement to further activities of this sort by the Federal government, or by the state, accepting such aid as a dangerous expedient, while not availing ourselves of it involves the patent injustice of contributing to a fund from which we get no benefit. Our choice, therefore, lies between two evils, and I trust to your wisdom to choose a course in this respect which will not lend encouragement to this wasteful form of appropriation and expenditure, while securing to ourselves some crumbs from the feast we have been forced to spread.

Ours is a government of laws, and bottomed on a profound, and just, distrust of vesting large discretion in any executive officer. Least of all, should there be discretion in any one charge with the duty of enforcing the policy of the State, deliberately embodied in its statutes by its representatives in legislative assembly.

Euphonious phrases, used to qualify law enforcement, are but excuses, lacking humility, employed by those charged with sacred trust, to divert attention from their lack of courage. The term "law enforcement" cannot be qualified.

An executive officer has no proper concern with possible reaction occasioned by honest and uniform enforcement of law. To say that to enforce a law may lead to its repeal is but to say that we live in a Republic, and that the citizen is sovereign.

You will be responsible for the existence of every statute which shall be in effect when you adjourn, and as fully so as if you had enacted it originally.

The question of law enforcement rests primarily with this legislature, for, so far as it lies in the power of this administration, no officer shall usurp the power of repeal, by inaction, or resolve any doubts against the wisdom or virtue of any law which shall remain upon the statute books when you shall have adjourned.

You will be derelict in your duty, therefore, if you do not vest in those charged by the Constitution, and yourselves, with the duty of carrying your will into effect, every power necessary to discharge that duty.

The method by which you shall accomplish this is, under the Constitution, for you to determine. I have but to say that real law enforcement will be worth whatever it shall cost, and to urge you to let no false economies stand between you and the accomplishment of this prime purpose of government.

If I have any skill to read the public mind, it seems to me that men and women in every walk of life feel heavily the burden of our too many laws, and that there is practical unanimity against the tendency which has filled our statute books with hastily drawn and half-digested measures of every sort. There is a feeling that governmental activities touch the individual almost daily, in innumerable petty ways, without having produced any substantial betterment in living conditions, or in standards of conduct.

What the people of this State want is fewer laws, plainly written, easily understood, and well enforced. They expect you to reduce the number of laws; expect you to put them in such shape as that the average man may read as he runs, and patriotically obey. This is a task too large for a single session. I therefore recommend that a body be provided by this legislature, to report to the succeeding one, in harmony with this thought, their findings for action.

When our laws shall be reduced to readable limits, they will be understood, and respected, and, so, easily enforced.

In the same way, and evidenced in the same way, is a demand for reduction of public expenditures, and for economies in the expenditure of such funds as shall be necessarily expended.

They expect you to reduce the number of persons employed in governmental activity, wherever possible, and to reduce, or at least to not increase, the present burden of taxation.

Legislation during the past few years has resulted in an enlargement of the activities of the state government. There are instances in which the same powers are being exercised by representatives of the central government and by the local governing bodies. The limit of the activities of these officers should be well defined. In the interest of economy there should not be two sets of officers to perform a single function. I suggest this subject for your consideration and that you correct this condition where you find it.

Public attention has been drawn to the system by which the printing and binding for the State is being done. In my opinion, based upon some study of the matter, the present system is an improper one. It is asserted, not only that the system is wasteful and unduly costly, but that abuses of it exist, resulting in further loss to the State. I suggest that you take steps to inform yourselves thoroughly in this matter and to check any waste, and to improve the system.

There is a defect in our present system, of taxation through which an increase of valuation has resulted in putting into the public treasury millions of dollars not contemplated by the levies which produced the money.

No dollar of money can be raised by taxation in this state without your express permission and authority. You are responsible, therefore, for the total expenditure in the state, and I recommend such change in our laws in this respect as shall insure that no permission to raise money by taxation shall be given, by the legislature, to any governmental agency until the legislature shall have before it in dollars and cents the total amount of proposed and necessary expenditure to be made by such agencies. The rate of levy should be gauged by that estimate, and be required to be made upon a valuation then fixed.

The provision of our Constitution that legislative, judicial and executive power shall not be exercised by the same officer or tribunal is not a mere phrase or dogma, but a fundamental principle of representative government. I recommend that you go carefully over the laws creating our various public agencies, and remedy this condition wherever you find it in any degree.

A legislative assembly is a deliberative body, and can perform real service only by a close study of existing law, in connection with such new ones as shall be proposed, and the measure of its service is not the number of bills passed, but the care with which those that pass shall be drawn and the consideration and study they shall receive before passage, and the benefit they may be to all the people. In this view, and in the present state of the public mind to which I have referred, the distinction of having introduced the most bills in this session will not be an enviable one.

The people of this commonwealth expect this legislature to do a few big things, and then adjourn. You will not, if you desire to regard the opinion of the people, be here more than seventy days.

The minutes of the joint session were read and approved.

Senator Helmer of Carroll moved that the joint convention be dissolved. Motion prevailed.

Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed its sitting.

HOUSE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

House Concurrent Resolution relative to the investigation of the present high price of bituminous coal.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Directing an investigation of causes of the present high price of bituminous coal.

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring:

Whereas, In many sections of the state of Iowa the price of bituminous coal has been greatly increased beyond precedent within the last few months, and

Whereas, It further appears that the price of said coal has been raised to the consumer far beyond the proportion of the increase, if any, of the wages paid to the miner, or other laborers engaged in its production without any apparent or reasonable cause therefor, and

Whereas, Said increase in the price of coal has been so sudden and rapid as to create a reasonable suspicion in the minds of many that the laws of Iowa regulating pools, trusts and combinations are being violated, especially Section 5059, 5060, 5061, 5065, 5066, and 5067 of the code of 1897 of Iowa, and Sections 5062, 5067-2, 5067-b, 5067-c of the supplement of the code of 1913, now therefor

Be it Resolved, That the Speaker of the House appoint a committee of three (3) to act in conjunction with a like committee to be appointed by the Senate to communicate and consult with the attorney general and through his office with the various county attorneys in the counties of the state in which there exists reasonable grounds of a violation of the law having been and is taking place, with a view of ascertaining as to whether evidence can be procured of the violation of the above cited sections of the code and code supplement, commonly known as the Pools, Trusts, Combination and Conspiracy Law, and

Resolved, That wherever it appears to said committee and attorney general that there is probable cause to believe there can be found or procured evidence in any county of the state of a violation of the above cited law, then said attorney general is hereby instructed and directed through the assistance of the various county attorneys to bring actions, both criminal and civil, against said violators so apprehended, and that all corporations organized under the laws of the state of Iowa apprehended in violating said Pools, Trusts, Combination and Conspiracy Law, especially unlawfully pooling in, raising and increasing the price of any of the necessities of life, or apprehended in discriminating and showing preference in sales of said commodities, be cited to show cause, if any, why their charter should not be revoked, and

Resolved, This question being of vital interest and importance to all the people of the state and especially the wage earner and persons of limited means, we urge that immediate attention be given this matter.

Senator Whitmore moved that the Senate concur in the House concurrent resolution.

On the motion to concur in the resolution a roll call was demanded.

CAPITOL EXTENSION REPORT.

President Moore announced the receipt of the following communication from the executive council.

To the Senate of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, State of Iowa:

The executive council of the state of Iowa, for reply to the Senate's resolution calling for information relative to the expenditures on account of the capitol extension, including purchase of lands, improvements, and other matters, does hereby reply in the order of the statements contained in the resolution, submitting facts taken from the more extended report already prepared by the state accountant, F. H. Paul, to be submitted to the honorable committee upon retrenchment and reform at their convenience with the reports upon the other departments.

1. The amount actually expended for the purchase of ground and leaseholds is$1,128,706.10
2. The amount actually expended for the improvement of such grounds, other than numerous small bills for filling cellars and the like which are contained in the sundry expense account of the capitol extension representative, is for grading 31,845.40

The grading contract and bridge contract are not yet fully completed. The further expenditure under present contracts will approximate 30,000.00

5. The amount expended for agent's commissions is 9,346.50
6. The following tracts of ground within the extended capitol grounds as authorized to be purchased by chapter 14, acts of the thirty-fifth general assembly, includes the following tracts which have not been purchased: the N. W. $\frac{1}{4}$ of the block upon which the historical building stands upon which are four houses, being lots 10, 11 and 12 in block 5 of H. Lyon's addition; estimated value 20,000.00
 Two lots on the N. E. corner of the block west of the historical building, being lots 7 and 8 in block 4 of H. Lyon's addition; estimated value 16,000.00
 The church site on the north part of lots 11 and 12 in block 3 of H. Lyon's addition, with the buildings thereon; estimated value 22,000.00
 Lots 1, 2 and 3 on the northeast corner of the block immediately west of the preceding description, being the residence property of Mr. Hansen; estimated value.... 20,000.00

10. All the streets and alleys within the extended capitol grounds have been vacated by the city of Des Moines except the boundary street between Walnut and Court avenue east of block 8 in Scott's addition. The delay in this is due to arriving at an agreement with the property owners on the opposite side of the street. An understanding has been reached, it is believed, which will result in the vacation of this small tract at an early date. The action of the city of Des Moines in vacating these streets has to some degree been based upon the faith that the state of Iowa, by act of the thirty-seventh general assembly, would authorize the conveyance for street purposes of the land in Kasson and Dey streets, being the east and west portions of the curved street, now paved, between Walnut and Court avenue.

11. There will appear to the credit of the capitol extension improvement fund, after outstanding warrants are paid, as estimated 36,823.77

14. Fifteen lots in Governor's square have not been sold.
15. The amount actually received from the special tax for capitol extension to January 1, 1917, is 1,106,749.58

Respectfully submitted upon this, the 22nd day of January, 1917.

(Note. Of the amount paid for furniture and fixtures, $120.15 was paid for under the old law, which was repealed; likewise, $52.05 for printing and binding; making a total of $172.20, thus leaving a net deficiency under the present act of $1,813.13.)

It will be seen that the law is not self-supporting, its administration entailing an expense over receipts of approximately $1,000.00 per year.

On December 30, 1916, the close of the first biennial period under the operation of the present law, 89 permits for the sale of stocks, bonds and securities were issued, for which fees amounting to $1,883.83 were received; $615.00 was received from the sale of agents' or stock salesmen's licenses.

Only three brokers' licenses were issued, for which $125.00 was received, but as one of these was a renewal, only two of these licenses were in force at one and the same time.

As to the beneficial effects of the law in protecting the people of the state from imposition and fraud, there can be no question, and it is confidently believed that many times the cost of administering the law has been saved to the people of the state by the deterrent effect of having such a law on our statute books.

Several applications have been rejected outright, and evidence of the grossest fraud has come to light, fully justifying the position taken by this department.

No honest and worthy enterprise need fear the effects of a full compliance with the law.

The law can be improved and made more clear and workable by a few minor changes, but if amended at all should be only on the advice of those best posted as to the changes needed.

In conclusion allow me to express the opinion that in my judgment practically every state in the union will in a few years enact similar laws to meet the growing demands of its people.

W. S. ALLEN,
Secretary of State.

A Bill for An Act to Create a Commission Under Authority of the State to Solicit and Receive Subscriptions and to Locate and Erect a Monument or Memorial to the Memory of the Late General Grenville M. Dodge.

Whereas, Iowa has the proud distinction of having sent to the war for the preservation of the union one of the great major-generals, Grenville M. Dodge, and,

Whereas, this distinguished officer enlisted from Iowa at the beginning of the war and was steadily in the service to the end; led his commands without defeat and won repeated victories; was thrice wounded and regularly and justly promoted; and,

Whereas, he performed great services in the war in building military works, railroads and fortifications, in addition to leading his command, and was afterwards instrumental in bringing the Indian tribes to peace under treaties, and for which he was tendered the thanks of the legislature of this state; and,

Whereas, after the war he began where he left off in the great work of railroad engineering, and assisted in connecting the Atlantic and Pacific shores by rail; and

When full of years and of honors he retired from the greater activities, proud of his state and deeply interested in her welfare, devoted to his country, he, Iowa's grandest patriot returned to the home he had always maintained in Iowa; and

Whereas, General Grenville M. Dodge died at Council Bluffs in this state, January 3, 1916, and Iowa, through her general assembly, hereby desires to recognize the great ability, noble qualities and distinguished services of her veteran soldier and citizen, now therefore,

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That the state of Iowa does through her general assembly hereby express the highest appreciation of the noble qualities and of the invaluable services which General Grenville M. Dodge rendered to his country, both as a patriotic soldier and as a citizen, and does hereby publicly express the love and esteem of him whom they hold in grateful memory.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

In addressing you for the first time, I made reference to the campaign which resulted in our presence here. I believed then, as I do now, that our mandate from the people was clearer in some respects than is common in such cases. Speaking for myself, I can say that I do not look upon this mandate as an embarrassment, and your conduct since you have been in session has convinced me that you do not, and are making a sincere effort to carry it out. It will not be an easy nor pleasant task, for any change in established practice is instinctively opposed not only by those who are beneficiaries of the existing system, but at first by a natural conservatism which I have no disposition to discourage or discredit.

Confident as I am that we are in substantial agreement as to the end to be reached, I am encouraged to make some suggestions touching the methods by which it shall be accomplished.

Our governmental machinery was designed in days of greater simplicity and for a comparatively small volume of business. Without stopping now to speak of the wisdom of having entered into many new governmental activities which a changing social conscience has seemed to demand, it is clear that in many cases we have provided for their exercise without any effort to employ existing machinery, or without an effort to co-ordinate the new machinery to that already available.

We are definitely pledged, I believe, to reduce the number of persons and public bodies now employed in the public business; to see that there are not two or several officers or public bodies unnecessarily engaged in the same work; to see that there are not state officers and public bodies performing public business which can as well and more cheaply be performed by long established local officers, to the existence of which the people are accustomed.

I believe that an intelligent study of the scope of these activities, and of the possibilities of reducing expense and conflict of authority by elimination of unnecessary bodies, and by combining the functions of others, should be undertaken in a comparative leisure which the ordinary length of a legislative session does not afford. I believe that this program should not only be carried out, but that it should be carried out by you in the two years which the people have given you for that purpose, and not by a succeeding legislature.

Without attempting to place blame, for all of us may have some measure of it, we have in the past been ready and willing victims to the delusion that anything can be accomplished by law, and the length and multiplicity of our statutes is a daily and depressing reminder of our folly. We are under definite pledge to reduce our laws to readable limits. We must not only have time for this task, but technical skill and concentrated effort, to the employment of which the ordinary business of the session is an insuperable obstacle.

In some of the foregoing may be found part of the cause for the increased burden of taxation. Taxation is a burden which can never be lifted, but it may be lightened. Our system of raising money by taxation is in urgent need of revision. It is now impossible for even the most intelligent citizen to know in what amount or for what purpose public funds are to be expended and nearly as difficult to learn, after the event, for what and in what amount they have been expended. There are two things that contribute to this condition. One is that public expenditures are so gauged as to exhaust levies instead of levies being so framed as to provide for public expenditures. Another is that the amount of money to be raised by any levy is not intelligible because it is expressed in terms of so many mills to the dollar rather than a sum of money in dollars and cents. I have already referred in first addressing you to the defect in our system by which levies can be inflated by subsequent increases in valuation.

Our public business, while immense in volume, is simple. It is entirely possible to accurately forecast the probable necessary public expenditure for any given period. No public body should be permitted to secure money by taxation until it submits a detailed estimate of its probable necessary expenditures for a given period and of its probable income from every source. This, too, is a matter which must have careful study, which I do not believe to be possible under pressure which is upon you now.

I am firmly of the opinion that this legislature, as it is now composed, owes it to the people of the state to accomplish something definite and constructive in these matters; revision of methods of raising revenue, reducing the volume of laws, and elimination of overlapping activities of different departments and officers, and abolition of departments and officers whenever possible.

What has been said shows that it is impossible, or at least inadvisable, to deal with the matter except by a careful examination of the whole subject.

After consultation with many members of the assembly, I believe I can suggest a method by which this can be accomplished at practically no added expense to the state or members of the assembly.

My suggestion and recommendation is that you proceed now to make the necessary appropriations for the biennial period, and to the consideration of general important measures not inherent in the matters heretofore discussed, neglecting, as you proceed, no opportunity for repeal of obsolete or unworkable laws; take up the question of how best to handle the state printing and binding and go carefully into the various road measures which are and will be before you. Among these is the question of extension of the right of suffrage to women, pending before you. The question presented is not a local one, nor transitory, but involves consideration of fundamental political and civil rights which should be considered, debated and voted on in a spirit of deepest concern for reaching a right result. If you shall give these matters, as I know you will, the attention and study they deserve, your time will be fully taken up for a reasonable period.

At the end of such period as shall be reasonably necessary for the disposition of these matters, I urge that you provide for a recess to a day certain, and this recess time be employed in investigation of the larger matters first touched on herein, and in formulating a definite plan for dealing with them.

I suggest a committee from your membership, selected as you shall determine, to take up the problem of revising the system of raising revenue, a similar committee to take up the problem of overlapping authority, and the appointment of a small number of skilled and competent persons, trained in the law, to edit the existing codes and to clarify and simplify them. The result of their labors can be placed before the assembly within a reasonable time, say sixty days, before the day set for reconvening, and a short session thereafter can dispose of them in such manner that we shall have a record of accomplishment in our labors, and a fulfilment of our pledges.

As I read our constitution, it prohibits any member of this assembly from receiving any additional pay for these services in recess, but I am confident that you are proceeding in a spirit which will give no thought to that, if you shall be convinced that a service to the state can be rendered by the method proposed.

Under an act of congress, passed some three years ago, the Interstate Commerce Commission is engaged in a valuation of all the property of the railways. The investigation is of the most comprehensive character, and is intended as a permanent basis for fixing interstate freight and passenger rates. That body will report in detail as to each piece of property owned or used by the companies, the original cost to date, the cost of reproduction new, the cost of reproduction less depreciation, and will furnish an analysis of the methods by which these several costs are obtained, and the reason for their differences, if any. It will report separately other values and elements of value, if any, of the property, and an analysis of the methods of valuation employed, and of the reasons for any differences between any such value, and the cost values. It will report in detail, and separately from improvements, the original cost of all lands, rights of way, and terminals owned or used, as of the time and dedication to public use, and the present value of the same, and separately the original and present cost of condemnation and damages of purchase in excess of such original cost or present value. The report will cover the organization and financing of every corporation which has ever operated the property, together with the net and gross earnings. The report will show the amount and value of any aid, gift, grant of right of way or donation made to existing companies or their predecessors by the United States, any state, county or municipal government, or by individuals, or associations, together with the grant of land by the federal, state, county or municipal governments, and the amount of money derived from sale of such grants.

The act of congress provides that this valuation, when finally established, shall be "prima facie evidence of the value of the property in all proceedings under the act to regulate commerce as of the date of the fixing thereof, and in all proceedings for the enforcement" of it and "in all judicial proceedings brought to enjoin, set aside, annul, or suspend, in whole or in part, any order of the Interstate Commerce Commission." These provisions do not have such effect, directly, upon the action of our state courts, or other tribunals having jurisdiction where such values can be the subject of controversy, but the investigation upon which they were fixed, will always be available as an hypothesis upon which experts can base value, and as such will surely be asserted as a basis for taxation and for fixing freight and passenger rates in this state.

I have gone somewhat into detail to demonstrate, first, that it is unnecessary for us to undertake a complete, independent valuation, and, second, to show how vitally we may be affected by the result.

The act of congress further provides:

"Whenever the commission shall have completed the tentative valuation of any common carrier, as herein directed, and before such valuation shall become final, the commission shall give notice by registered letter to the said carrier, the attorney general of the United States, the governor of any state in which the property so valued is located * * * stating the valuation placed upon the several classes of property of said carrier, and shall allow thirty days in which to file a protest of the same with the commission. If no protest is filed within thirty days, said valuation shall become final as of the date thereof.

"If notice of protest is filed, the commission shall fix a time for hearing the same, and shall proceed as promptly as may be to hear and consider any matter relative and material thereto which may be presented in support of any protest so filed as aforesaid. If after hearing any protest of such tentative valuation under the provisions of this act, the commission shall be of the opinion that its valuation should not become final, it shall issue an order making such corrected tentative valuation final as of the date thereof."

These provisions throw upon the governor a direct, and peculiarly personal, responsibility. Under my oath it is a duty which I cannot shirk, either by neglecting adequate provision for it or by placing it upon others. It is but fair to me, and necessary to the protection of the vast interests of the state involved, that I should be placed in a position to deal with the subject intelligently and have fair opportunity and funds to inform myself.

The railways concerned are conducting a parallel investigation and valuation. In a matter so vitally affecting their income, it is not unnatural that the railways affected should seek to guard against any valuation which could be used as a lever for reduction of their rates. At the same time it is necessary that the state should guard against any valuation which would improperly increase the rates of transportation. The companies affected are preparing themselves to protest against a valuation which might be adverse to their interests. The state should be prepared at the same time to effectually protest if its interests should be adversely affected.

It is not impossible that the time available to us may prove so short that we shall be compelled to seek relief by asking congress for an extension of the time in which to protest, or that failing, suffer irreparable injury by being compelled to make but a cursory and ineffective investigation with a small part of our funds, rather than dissipate a large sum in an effort foredoomed to failure, but it is unthinkable that we should be unprepared for any effort which may prove possible and seem reasonably probable of success.

I therefore request an appropriation of one hundred thousand dollars, to be expended under my direction in such investigation, or other course, as shall be found necessary for the protection of our interests in the matter, and to be given express authority to call to my assistance therein, for work under my direction, any officer or employe of the state whose service can be employed to advantage.

It should not be out of place for me to say here that I have been deeply touched by the spirit of friendly helpfulness you have manifested toward me, and that your help and counsel have lightened my labor and made it pleasant.

With confidence that you will meet the situation here presented in a spirit which will give no play to strife of faction or pride of opinion, I leave it for your consideration.

Whereas despite every effort on the part of our government and nation to preserve neutrality in the present deplorable conflict raging in Europe, and despite the sincere desire of the people of our nation to remain at peace with the world and to further every effort to bring to a close the present world's war, it appears that our relations with the belligerent nations have become extremely delicate and that decisive action has been taken by the President of the United States for the assertion and protection of our national rights and our national honor, now, therefore,

HOUSE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Concurrent resolution of the thirty-seventh general assembly of the state of Iowa providing for an inquiry as to the existence of an illegal combination of the manufacturers of cement used in highway bridge and culvert construction, directing the attorney general to make an investigation and report as to any violation of the state anti-trust law, and requesting an investigation by the senators and representatives of the state in the congress of the United States, as to violation in that connection of the federal statutes:

Whereas, the people of Iowa are engaged at this time in a statewide movement for the improvement of the highways of the state and particularly for the construction of permanent bridges and culverts costing millions of dollars to the tax payers of Iowa, and,

Whereas, in such construction an enormous amount of cement is demanded as to a very substantial portion of which the counties of the state have the right to, under existing law, and must of necessity, purchase for all bridges and culvert construction which is to be done, by day labor, and,

Whereas, pursuant to statute the boards of supervisors are granted the further right in certain contingencies and in the event of rejection of bids made by contractors to do all such construction work by day labor, such provision operating by the intention of the statute lower bids by the contractors than would otherwise obtain; and,

Whereas, it is of the utmost importance that the counties as arms of the state and as responsible purchasers shall be able to make necessary purchases of cement at the lowest market price and at such times as will best secure that end, and,

Whereas, facts have come to the knowledge of the general assembly of the state of Iowa which tend to show the existence of a combination among the manufacturers of cement to increase and maintain prices thereof in this and adjacent states, and whereby the boards of supervisors of the various counties of the state are refused the right to purchase cement in stated amounts for delivery through the season for work which such counties may desire or find necessary or advisable to do by day labor, unless such counties shall first designate the particular structure in which such cement is to be used, the amount of cement needed for each structure, and with the further restriction that each such structure shall consume at least a minimum car load of 106 barrels of cement; and,

Whereas, many such structures consume much less than such minimum car load, and it being impossible for the counties in most cases to know beforehand or designate the particular structure or structures that it will desire to thus build, or find necessary to build by day labor by reason of rejection of exorbitant bids, the result is the imposition of impossible conditions upon the public, and to compel the counties to buy their cement at retail at the season when prices are highest and tends to throw the bridge and culvert work into the hands of the contractors to the great detriment of the tax payers of this state; and,

Whereas, since the establishment of said new rules by said manufacturers, the price of concrete construction was advanced in Iowa from $11.06 per cubic yard in the first half of 1915, to $16.24 per cubic yard in the second half of 1916, an increase of about 47%; and,

Whereas, prior to 1916 the said manufacturers made no such restrictions as are set out above but sold to the counties such amounts of cement at market prices and at such times and for such delivery as was desired by the counties but have refused to continue so to do notwithstanding the repeated written protests and demands of the state highway commission, as shown by correspondence on file with the department, to the effect that such prices are exorbitant and that such restrictions operate squarely in the interests of the contractors and are against public policy and the best interests of the tax payers of the state; now, therefore,
Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring:

1st. That the attorney general of the state of Iowa be and he is hereby directed and authorized to inquire into the existence of such combination to maintain prices, and to inquire as to whether there are sought to be imposed upon the tax payers of Iowa, illegal restrictions by said cement manufacturers in restraint of trade and in violation of law and public policy, and to the detriment of the public interest, and to report his conclusions to the general assembly by written opinion and in the event such combination and restrictions contrary to law are found to exist, to proceed with the prosecution of the guilty parties; and that in such investigation the attorney general be and he is hereby empowered to compel the production of documents and to call and examine witnesses under oath as to the facts.

2nd. That an engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to the senators and representatives of the state of Iowa in the congress of the United States with the request that an investigation be made as to violation in this connection of the federal statutes and for such action by the legal department of the government as may be deemed necessary in the premises.

Senator Wilson moved the Senate concur in the House concurrent resolution.

The resolution was concurred in.

AN EXCEPTION FILED BY SENATOR WHITMORE.

As the author of Senate Files Nos 4, 5 and 7, and as chairman of the senate committee on suppression of intemperance, I file this protest against the foregoing record on these bills, taking exception in these respects:

1. Special Order No. 1, Senate File No. 4 only, was called for consideration. Thereunder the senator from Appanoose was in error in making the triple motion that said three special orders be covered by the double motion of being postponed until February 20th and at the same time moving the previous question.

2. Upon request of the senator from Wapello that the motion be divided the chair was in error in not putting same as to each bill and special order, they embodying separate and distinct subjects, not in any way similar.

3. The senator from Wapello then demanding ten minutes on the subject, the senator from Pottawattamie was in error in invoking as a point of order Senate Rule No. 12 to deprive the senator from Wapello of his right to be heard, under that portion of the rule reading:

"except that the member in charge of the measure under consideration shall have ten minutes in which to close the discussion."

4. The chair was in error in sustaining this point of order.

5. The senator from Appanoose was in error in thereupon appropriating time on the subject when the previous question had been carried and under rule 28 he had no right to be heard.

All of which resulted in depriving the author of these three bills on one of the most vital problems of government, and the chairman of the committee having same in charge, of opportunity of saying a single word on the subject, when under the rules he was entitled to ten minutes on each bill.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Arney offered the following concurrent resolution:

Concurrent resolution of the thirty-seventh general assembly of the state of Iowa providing for an inquiry as to the existence of an illegal combination of individuals and companies engaged in the construction of petrified brick or asphalt pavements, and directing the attorney general to make an investigation and report as to any violation of the state anti-trust law.

Whereas, the tax payers of the various cities and towns in the state are continually being called upon to pay special assessments for the paving of streets upon which their properties abut with either brick or asphalt pavements, and

Whereas, the bids for the construction of paving with said materials have steadily advanced in price from year to year, and

Whereas, there is general complaint that there seems to be ground for the belief that an unlawful combination, undertaking to control the price of brick and asphalt paving and the division of territory therefor, exists between individuals or companies bidding for construction of such brick and asphalt paving; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring: That the attorney general of the state of Iowa be and he is hereby directed and authorized to inquire into the existence of such combination to control prices of such brick and asphalt paving and the division of territory therefor, to the detriment of the public interest of the said tax payers of said cities and towns who are compelled to bear the burdens of special assessments for public improvements, and to report his conclusions to the present general assembly by written opinion and in the event such combinations contrary to law are found to exist, to proceed with the prosecution of the guilty party or parties; and that in such investigation the attorney general be and he is hereby empowered to compel the production of documents and to call and examine witnesses under oath as to facts.

Passed on file.

RESOLUTION OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA.

President Moore announced the receipt of the following resolution from the General Assembly of the state of California:

Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, relative to the establishment of definite lines of division between federal and state taxes, and the calling of a congress of the states to consider conflicting jurisdictions of the federal and state governments.

Whereas, in the exercise of its taxing power the federal government is embracing the sources of revenue heretofore not availed of by that government; and

Whereas, there exists a line which separates the taxable units that equitably and logically may be left solely to state taxation from the units logically belonging to the broader federal jurisdiction; and

Whereas, the establishment of some reasonable line of division giving to the states so taxing authority below such line, and to the federal government sole taxing authority above such line, would cure much of the trouble existing because of conflict of jurisdiction between states; would relieve the tension between federal and state governments; would result in great economy in the levying and collection of taxes, and would relieve the growing dissatisfaction on the part of the taxpayer resulting from irritating and expensive duplication of accounts and reports and double taxation; now, therefore, be it

Resolved by the Senate and Assembly of the State of California, jointly, That we respectfully urge upon the congress of the United States and the legislatures of the several states the need of holding a congress of the states to consider the subject of federal and state sources of revenue, with the object of adopting and urging the congress of the United States to provide for attendance of representatives at such congress; and be it further

Resolved, That the President of the United States be invited to appoint a representative and that both houses of the congress of the United States be invited to appoint representatives to attend such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That the governor of the state of California is hereby requested to urge the governors of other states to recommend favorable action and to arrange for the time and place of such national meeting; and that the governor of California be authorized to appoint delegates to represent the state of California at such conference; and be it further

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be forthwith transmitted by the secretary of the Senate to the president of the Senate of the United States and to the speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States; a copy hereof to each member of congress from the state of California, and a copy to the president of the Senate and to the speaker of the House of Representatives of each of the state legislatures in session at this time.

W. D. STEPHENS,
President of the Senate.
C. C. YOUNG,
Speaker of the Assembly.

Attest:

FRANK C. JORDAN,
Secretary of State.
By FRANK H. CORY, Deputy.

GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Gentlemen of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly:

My hope is that your patience will not be tried by my too frequent appearance before you. As opportunity offers for me to secure information relative to the affairs of the state, I feel it my duty to bring them before you for your consideration and action, as your judgment may dictate.

I have before me the condition of the state treasury for the six months beginning January 1, 1917, and ending June 30, 1917. This information is furnished by the state treasurer and state auditor, and is certified to by them. It shows that there was cash on hand January 1, 1917, in the amount of $116,247.00, and that the revenues available up to June 30, 1917, including this cash, will be $4,239,447.00. It also shows that there has already been appropriated by former legislatures, subject to warrant, for the same six months' period, the sum of $5,724,958.00. This will leave a deficit June 30, 1917, of $1,486,511.00. A copy of this report is hereto attached for your information. This deficit is a heritage to this legislature and this administration from former legislatures and administrations, and must be met by us. If appropriations are made, they must be paid. These appropriations have been made and will have to be provided for by this legislature in order that the treasury of the state may be in a condition that will meet the approval of the business sense of the people of the state. Your problem is to meet this deficit and at the same time take care of the just needs of, and the just demands that are made upon, the state in a financial way. The state already has large investments and undertakings of an educational and eleemosynary nature that must be cared for.

As I view the matter, there are two avenues open by which to meet the situation that confronts us at this time. One is by reducing the expenses we are already under, by consolidation of departments and institutions, and a reduction of the overhead expense incident to carrying on the various departments and institutions. The other is by reduction of the appropriations for the biennial period beginning July 1, 1917. True, there is a third avenue open, and that is to increase the levy and leave conditions as they now exist. This does not meet my approval, and I am confident it does not meet yours, and will not meet the approval of our constituents.

There are two conflicting opinions in circulation at this time about public finances. One is to "pay as you go" and the other is to "go in debt, issue bonds and let future generations pay if they can". I am a disciple of the "pay as you go" doctrine, and confident that this is the prevailing thought of a very large percentage of our people. I have not the time here for a discussion of municipal, school, and county indebtedness, but I am confident that if the figures were before us, they would be most startling.

"Pass it on to others" seems to have become almost a watchword. I do not care to convey the impression that there is not justification, under proper circumstances and conditions, for public indebtedness, but I do want to emphatically impress upon you that the public business ought not to be carried on under the installment plan system. In private affairs, the individual who pledges his future barter at a disadvantage, and the same rule holds true in public affairs. Indeed, there should be progress, but it should be in keeping with the "state of the treasury" and the ability of the people to pay.

With a deficit of practically a million and a half staring us in the face, we ought to be busy with the prosaic subject of "ways and means". The average citizen does not object to paying taxes, providing the thing for which he pays is a governmental function and that function is administered economically and efficiently. If there is not efficiency in state governmental affairs, we cannot rightfully expect that there will be in the affairs of lesser governmental divisions. I am not unmindful of the peculiar conditions under which we labor at this time. Nearly everything which the state is under obligation to purchase has increased in cost. We must meet these conditions in a fair, frank way and take the public into our confidence in these matters. If we live beyond our income in days of plenty and prosperity, what will the condition be if reverses in the business world overtake us? In these days of plenty, we ought to give heed for the tomorrow. The dark shadow on the horizon caused by our international relations, I am sure must sober the mind of every citizen on the problems of which I speak. Serious attention should be given by you to ways and means of securing new revenues to meet these just demands, and if possible to do this without increasing the burden upon those who are already contributing to the support of the state. I am sure that you will not feel you have done your whole duty in this particular unless you carefully search to find if there are not legitimate sources of revenue from property that has heretofore escaped the attention of the tax collector.

I want to suggest that you devote time to the matter of reducing expenses. The state does not owe any citizen a job. Every citizen who has a job with the state owes it to the state to render the same service he would if working for a private party and ought to surrender the position willingly if it appears that there is opportunity for economy. This requires a spirit of patriotism on the part of the individual who is affected, but I am sure from the expressions that have come to me that such a feeling prevails among the employes of the state. In private affairs everywhere, the modern idea is to consolidate departments, eliminate unnecessary executives, curtail in bookkeeping, systemize in records, and reduce general expenses. The opportunity is before you to make a great saving in this field for the state.

Naturally, all the activities of the state group themselves under four or five different heads, such as education, public welfare, labor, industries. These are not given with the thought of suggesting names for departments, for names are but an incident, but to convey to you how more naturally one executive, with a much smaller force and much less expense, could conduct all these activities under one of these groupings, than under the plan as now, with several heads all equipped with a retinue of officers, stenographers, supplies, and the like. As an example, take the subject of public welfare. We have certain matters of law enforcement, various lines of inspection such as the food and dairy department, hotel inspection, the oil department, public health, and matters of this character. One executive sitting at a single desk could handle all of these subjects at a great saving to the state. There would be a saving in desk room, supplies, stenographers, postage, traveling expenses, and salaries.

I desire to suggest in this connection that by a slight change in the statutes giving the state authority to use local officers, and making it their duty to act, a further reduction in expense could be made without impairing the efficiency of the service now had.

Your attention is directed to the condition of the treasury, the opportunity for increased revenue, the advisability for extreme care in appropriations, and the possibility for reduction in expenses without impairing efficiency, confident that these suggestions will be received in the friendly spirit in which they are given.

We are all mindful of the gravity of our international relations. In a time like this, the thought of all should be in unison for the single purpose of a united country supporting those in authority. There should be neither bickering nor small words. I am sure I speak the sentiment of every citizen of this state when I say that the resources and the men within our borders are at the command of the president, not to fight a nation or a people, but to maintain our national honor and sovereign rights among all the nations of the world.

Whereas, the people of the greatest republic are now confronted with the most grave and far reaching dangers, and

Whereas, our people deprecate war, and love peace, but will protect our citizens and maintain our rights, and

Whereas, in this eventful year we may well turn for guidance to the lasting integrity and wisdom of the ages expressed by him who was "first in war" and "first in peace", and should to that end properly celebrate the one hundred and eighty-fifth anniversary of the birth of George Washington, and

Whereas the thirty-seventh general assembly should for such purpose hold a joint session. Now therefore,

The third Iowa regiment, together with all other state troops and regiments, in federal service on the Mexican border, are governed by what is known as the United States army regulations. Upon the muster in of any state troops into the service of the federal government, said troops immediately come under all the sections and provisions of said regulations. Section 5, article 460, of the said regulations, provides as follows:

"5. No clothing will be charged to the enlisted men except that which may subsequently be supplied from time to time by the United States after muster in. (U. S. Army Regulations, 1913, page 94.)

The meaning of this is that until such enlisted men are mustered into the service of the federal government, the said federal government cannot, under the regulations, charge such enlisted men for clothing in their possession at the time of muster in.

Clothing is furnished the enlisted man from a clothing allowance. In the state service, the clothing is furnished to him but does not become his property and he uses it during the time that he is a member of the guard. If, at any time, the guard becomes a part of the federal force, the uniform he has is taken by him into the federal service.

The military code of the army is the army regulations, and according to paragraph 460, section 5, of the army regulations, hereinbefore cited, the uniform that a man takes into the federal service from the state service is entered on his clothing allowance and marked, "no charge." This paragraph specifically states that the clothing will be a gratuitous issue. The clothing that he takes into the federal service from the state was paid for by the state out of its annual appropriation from the federal government at the full value thereof, when issued by the federal government to the state. Army regulations require that one uniform of this sort be taken into the federal service and no charge is to be made for same, but a return of clothing in kind will be made by the federal government to the state. Rulings of the department of the south of the war department were to the effect that this clothing would not be charged against a man's clothing allowance.

Company commanders are required to see that the men are not extravagant with their clothing allowance, and if overdrawn that it will not be so much but what their pay for the current month would cover same. Such care was exercised and since the last of January no clothing has been drawn by the men of the third Iowa regiment, but on February 9th, 1917, a ruling of the judge advocate general of the army was published specifying that this clothing brought into the federal service from the state must be charged for on a man's clothing allowance at the full rate at which the clothing was originally issued, irrespective of the condition of the clothing. In this ruling, it was specified that section 5, paragraph 460, should not have been in the regulations, as by compliance with that paragraph a man would receive double allowance, his regular clothing allowance, and a gratuitous issue of clothing brought into the federal service from the state. Nevertheless, section 5 of paragraph 460 constituted a portion of the contract under which every man entered federal service, and in affairs of civil life would be an inviolable contract.

We are not informed and are unable to receive any information as to whether the ruling of the judge advocate general has been concurred in by the war department. The war department promulgated the army regulations and instituted the judge advocate general's department, and we are at a loss to understand how an agent, or creature of the war department, can set aside a regulation adopted by the war department itself.

The federal government has already received its pay in full for clothing issued to the state, and brought by the enlisted men into federal service, and will by this method be paid twice for the same clothing; once by the state and once by the enlisted men. Men are required to return the uniforms issued them on their clothing allowance, although paid for, but it is in accord with army regulations, and understood by all, when they enter service that uniforms drawn from the federal government remain the property of the federal government, and title to same does not pass from the federal government.

The bulk of the clothing taken into federal service from the state service, at the time the state troops were called into federal service, was subject to condemnation, and should have had no value placed upon it normally at the time of issue. In a number of instances, company commanders still have the identical clothing on hand, not issued to any members of their command, for the reason that said clothing was worn out and worthless. A portion of said clothing was the old style khaki which is not now regulation, and the men would not have been permitted to wear same in the federal service. Much of the clothing drawn at that time from the state was at least fifteen years old; yet, under the ruling of the war department, the men of the command were charged full value for all clothing possessed as of the date of its original issue. The result is, most of the men had their clothing allowance drawn to the limit, or overdrawn, and this additional charge will deprive them of all the money due them for the last twenty days of their service; in most instances leaving them indebted to the government upon final settlement. The men will be required to draw money from home to settle same and in all probability company commanders will be held personally for such amounts as are not paid by the men.

The average amount that will be charged against the men of the third Iowa regiment, for the state clothing already paid for, will be approximately $14.35. One complete uniform will be allowed each man to wear to his home station and a memorandum receipt of the company commander will be taken for such uniforms; for, strange as it may seem, each soldier must relinquish and return to the government the uniforms he wears home, and which he has already paid for.

The astounding reason assigned by the officers of the regular army, upon which the ruling of February 9th, 1917, heretofore referred to, was issued was merely that the men would receive double pay on their clothing allowance. From that standpoint, a man would receive his regular clothing allowance, and what they are pleased to term a "gratuitous" issue of state clothing.

The final and important fact, brought out in this investigation, is that a grave injustice is worked upon regiments mustered out subsequent to February 9th, 1917, because prior to that date regiments mustered out were not charged with the state clothing, as has been done in the instance of the third Iowa regiment.

CONCLUSIONS.

Based upon the foregoing statement of facts, the authenticity of which we have found to be beyond question, your committee has arrived at the following conclusions:

1. It is the opinion of your committee that the promulgation of the order of February 9th, 1917, is in direct conflict with and violation of section 5, article 460, of the United States army regulations, 1913, and is, therefore, illegal and of no effect. We do not believe that a subordinate in the military service can, by an arbitrary order, abrogate the fundamental law and code of the army, nor that a creature can nullify the acts of its creator. Furthermore, it is in direct violation of the sacred contract entered into between every enlisted man and the government of the United States, at the time such enlisted man took the oath when mustered in and volunteered his services to our government.

2. Waiving the question of legality, this action upon the part of the war department is absolutely unwarranted and in bad faith for the reason that the clothing of the enlisted men of the third Iowa regiment has already once been paid for. This clothing was paid for by the state of Iowa at the time it was issued to said state by the federal government. At the time Iowa Guard organizations entered federal service, this paid for clothing, in most instances, was worn out and worthless. New clothing was, from time to time, issued to the enlisted men by the federal government, and this clothing was paid for by the men at the time of issue. The subterfuge of the officers of the war department, in refusing to comply with section 5, article 460, that the men will thereby obtain a gratuitous issue of clothing, is a matter that does not concern them, and is strictly none of their business. This is not a matter between the war department and the enlisted men, but a matter between the enlisted men and the state of Iowa, and the only party to this controversy, that could justly raise this question, is the state of Iowa itself.

By no process of reasoning can the officers of the regular army justify or defend the monstrous proposition that this clothing should be paid for twice, when it has already been paid for once, and then at a value much greater than the actual worth of the clothing itself.

3. At this time, when a grave crisis confronts this nation, we need the united support of every citizen. We believe the aforesaid treatment of the third Iowa regiment will have an injurious effect, that is far reaching, upon the patriotic ardor of all those who, at such times, have ever been ready to offer themselves as a sacrifice in defense of the flag. We deplore such conduct on the part of the war department,—and declare same to be unfair, unjust and un-American.

4. We believe that the order of February 9th, 1917, was deliberately issued by the judge advocate general of the United States army for the purpose of causing dissatisfaction, dissension and discontent in the national guard of Iowa, with the end in view that such discontent would discredit the guard organization of this state. It is a fact known to every person, who has followed the history of the troops at the border, that on every conceivable occasion some officers of the regular army have by every sinister means attempted to belittle and discredit the service of the volunteer soldier. The troops of Iowa, who volunteered and saw service on the border, were un-excelled in efficiency by any troops utilized by the government during the past summer. They rendered service of which the state of Iowa is justly proud, and will long remember with gratitude.

Before the volunteer forces of the United States were called into service, the regular army amply demonstrated to the people of this nation its utter incapacity to cope with the Mexican border situation. To save the face of the regular army, it was necessary to call into service the national guard organizations of this country, and it was only through the service of such organizations that the face of the regular army was saved. The regiments from Iowa did their full share of this work, and now that their services are no longer needed, it comes with but poor grace from the officers of the regular army to hide themselves behind the machinations of red tape, for which they have been so deservedly famous since the war of 1812, for the purpose of insulting and humiliating the very troops and enlisted men who saved their military reputations in the recent concentration of troops at the border.

5. At this critical time in the nation's history, when it is the earnest desire of every thinking and patriotic citizen of this country to inculcate in every heart a spirit of patriotism, and if need be by sacrifice for the nation's welfare, it is indeed a short sighted policy, upon the part of the war department, to announce, by their action herein, to the people of the state of Iowa, and to the country, that the reward our youth may expect, after having given their full measure of devotion to their country and flag, is that upon their return home they shall be stripped of their clothes, and subjected to the humiliation of petty bickerings that they have been subjected to.

The war department spends every year thousands of dollars for the purpose of having printed gaily colored lithographs, depicting life in the regular army, and having these posted on every bill board in the country, for the purpose of enticing into the regular army the youth of this land; and yet, when our youth of their own accord, gladly volunteer in the service of their country when ever needed, this same department penuriously refuses, in a matter involving a few paltry dollars, to allow our citizen soldiery to retain the very uniforms that by their own acts they have so nobly honored, therefore

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring:

That the thirty-seventh general assembly of Iowa hereby adopts and confirms as its sentiment, opinion and belief, the foregoing statement of facts and conclusions; and be it further resolved,

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Explanation of Vote on Concurrent Resolution of February 20, 1917.

The undersigned endorse the object sought to be attained by the concurrent resolution from the joint committee on military affairs, this day passed by the Senate, and for which we voted, but take exception to certain expressions therein contained as being undiplomatic, unstatesmanlike and having a tendency to cast aspersions upon the government of the United States, or a very important branch thereof.

Following are certain expressions referred to:

Under paragraph 2 of "Conclusions" where it is suggested that the action of the war department is "in bad faith".

Under paragraph 3 of "Conclusions" where it is stated that the conduct of the war department is "un-American".

Under paragraph 4 of "Conclusions" where it is alleged that a certain order issued by the war department through its judge advocate-general was "for the purpose of causing dissatisfaction, dissension and discontent in the national guard of Iowa, with the end in view that such discontent would discredit the guard organization of this state".

Also in the same paragraph where it is stated that certain action was taken to save the "face" of the regular army. Also where it is stated that "it comes with but poor grace from the officers of the regular army to hide themselves behind the machinations of red tape for which they have been so deservedly famous since the war of 1812 for the purpose of insulting and humiliating the very troops and enlisted men who saved their military reputations in the recent concentration of troops at the border" as well as some other expressions of less objectionable character, which need not here be pointed out.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE FILE NO. 15.

I believe the bill has several provisions improving the present primary law in certain respects, but at the same time I believe that at least one or two of the offices excepted from the primary election are of enough importance to make it desirable that all the electors should have a direct vote in the nomination. I also believe strongly in the principle of nomination by primaries and believe the bill under consideration, to a certain extent, tends to discredit this principle. For these reasons mainly I vote "No".

T. A. KINGLAND.

That the same be amended by inserting at the close of said bill:

SECTION 17. Whenever mileage or expenses of the sheriff are to be paid from the public treasury, he shall file an itemized claim for the same, verified by affidavit and accompanied by proper vouchers, before the same can be allowed or paid.

By adding thereto at the end thereof and as sections 20 and 21, respectively, the following:

SECTION 21. The provisions of section twelve (12) of this act, shall be in full force and effect from and after the date when this act becomes effective by publication, but all other provisions of this act shall take effect from and after July 1, 1917.

Nothing in this act shall be held to in any manner affect litigation now pending, or to apply to any case in which the injury occurred prior to July 1, 1917.

That the following be added to said bill as section twenty-two (22):

SECTION 22. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in the city of Des Moines, Iowa.

By striking from said bill section 15 found on page 7 thereof and by substituting in lieu thereof and as section 17, the following:

SECTION 17. Strike out all of section 15 as it appears on page 7 of the printed bill, and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

SEC. 15. That the law as it appears in section twenty-four hundred seventy-seven-m-33 (2477-m-33), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

Any party in interest may present a certified copy of an order or decision of the commissioner, or an award of an arbitration committee from which no claim for review has been filed within the time allowed therefor, or a memorandum of agreement approved by the commissioner, and all papers in connection therewith, to the district court of the county in which the injury occurred, whereupon said court shall render a decree in accordance therewith and notify the parties. Such decree, in the absence of an appeal from the decision of the industrial commissioner, shall have the same effect and in all proceedings in relation thereto shall thereafter be the same as though rendered in a suit duly heard and determined by said court. Upon the presentation to the court of a certified copy of a decision of the industrial commissioner, ending, diminishing or increasing a weekly payment under the provisions of this act, the court shall revoke or modify the decree to conform to such decision.

No order or award of an arbitration committee is appealable direct to the courts, but if any party in interest is aggrieved thereby, he may within five (5) days from the date thereof apply to the industrial commissioner for a review of the same by such industrial commissioner in the manner as hereinbefore provided. If any such party is aggrieved by reason of an order or decree of the Iowa industrial commissioner, such party may appeal therefrom to the district court of Iowa, only in the manner and upon the grounds following:

Within thirty (30) days from the date of such order or decree of the industrial commissioner, the party aggrieved may file an application in writing with the Iowa industrial commissioner, asking for an appeal from such order or decree, stating generally the grounds upon which such appeal is sought. In the event such application is filed as hereinbefore provided, the industrial commissioner shall, within thirty days from the filing of same, cause certified copies of all documents and papers then on file in his office in the matter, and a transcript of all testimony taken therein, to be transmitted with his findings and order or decree to the clerk of the district court of Iowa in and for that county wherein the injury occurred. The application for such appeal may thereupon be brought on for hearing before said district court upon such record by either party on ten (10) days written notice to the other; subject, however, to the provisions of law for a change of the place of trial or the calling of another judge. The findings of fact made by the industrial commissioner within his powers shall, in the absence of fraud, be conclusive, but upon such hearing the court may confirm or set aside such order or decree of the industrial commissioner, if he finds:

(1) That the industrial commissioner acted without or in excess of his powers; or

(2) That the order or decree was procured by fraud; or

(3) That the facts found by the industrial commissioner do not support the order or decree.

(4) That there is not sufficient competent evidence in the record to warrant the industrial commissioner in making the order or decree complained of.

No order or decree of the industrial commissioner shall be set aside by the court upon other than the grounds just stated.

Upon the setting aside of any such order or decree, the court may recommit the controversy to the industrial commissioner for further hearing or proceedings, or it may enter the proper judgment upon the findings, as the nature of the case may demand. Such decree shall have the same effect and in all proceedings in relation thereto shall thereafter be the same as though rendered in a suit duly heard and determined by said court. An abstract of the judgment entered by the trial court upon the appeal from any order or decree shall be made by the clerk thereof upon the docket entry of any judgment which may hereinbefore have been rendered upon it. Such order or decree and transcript of such abstract may thereupon be obtained for like entry upon the dockets of the courts of other counties within the state.

Any party in interest who is aggrieved by a judgment entered by the district court upon the appeal of an order or decree, may appeal therefrom within the time and in the manner provided for in appeal from the orders, judgments and decrees of the district court of Iowa; but all such appeals shall be placed on the calendar of the supreme court and brought to a hearing in the same manner as criminal causes on such calendar.

No fee shall be charged by the clerk of any district court for the performance of any official service required by this act, except for the docketing of judgments and for certified copies of transcripts thereof. In proceedings on appeal from an order or decree costs as between the parties shall be allowed or not, in the discretion of the court.

And by striking out the period following the word "thereof" of section nine (9) of said bill, and inserting in lieu thereof a comma, and adding the following words: That the word "and" between the word "casual" and the word "not" in the twelfth line of section twenty-four hundred seventy-seven-m16 (2477-m16) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be stricken out and the word "or" inserted in lieu thereof; and when so amended the bill do pass.

COMMUNICATION FROM COMMISSIONER OF INSURANCE.

HON. E. R. MOORE,
Lieutenant Governor,
Senate Chamber.

SIR—In compliance with the request made in the resolution adopted by the Senate on February 3, 1917, I have caused a tabulation to be made from the official records of the insurance department showing the name of each company and association, other than county mutuals, transacting a fire insurance business and authorized to operate in the state of Iowa, together with the amount of risks written in the state, the premiums collected by each company, the losses paid, the percentage that the losses bear to the premiums collected, and the average rate per $1,000 of risks written by each company, for the years 1914, 1915 and 1916 respectively, as shown by the annual statements made under oath and filed in the insurance department of Iowa.

I am unable to comply with the request contained in the resolution for a comparative statement for the years named of the expenses other than losses as paid for business transacted in the state of Iowa, because of the fact that this information is not reported to the department by the companies divided as to states, the total amount of expenses for all purposes for all states being shown in the annual statements filed. I am unofficially advised that various legislative investigations of operations of stock fire insurance companies have disclosed that the average ratio of expense to premiums is very close to 40%.

Not all of the annual statements covering business transacted in the year 1916 have yet been filed, and therefor the figures for that year are incomplete. With the reports of twenty-two companies not yet received, I am able to submit to you on this date the 1916 experience of 117 stock companies and nineteen state mutual associations, which is shown complete for the years 1914 and 1915 upon all companies and for 1916 with exception of the companies noted, which omission will be supplied as soon as the annual statements of those companies are filed and the information is available.

Summarizing the results of the tabulation shown upon sheets No. 1, No. 2, No. 3 and No. 4 submitted herewith and now in your hands, the following comparative statement for the years indicated is shown, to-wit:

STOCK COMPANIES.

A bill for an act to authorize manufacturers of patent and proprietary medicines, tinctures, extracts and other commodities not susceptible of use as a beverage, but which require as an ingredient thereof alcohol, spirituous or vinous liquors, to obtain a permit authorizing the purchase, transportation and possession of the same for use by such manufacturers.

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. Any person, firm or corporation within this state engaged, in good faith, in the business of manufacturing patent and proprietary medicines, tinctures, extracts, or other commodity not susceptible of use as a beverage but which require as one of their ingredients alcohol, spirituous or vinous liquors, and who desires to purchase and have transported by either intrastate or interstate common carriers and have possession of such liquors shall, before purchasing, transporting or using such liquors, apply for and obtain a permit authorizing such sale, transportation and use as hereinafter provided.

SECTION 2. Any person, firm or corporation desiring such permit shall apply to the judge of the district court of the county in which the principal place of business is located by filing with the clerk of said district court the affidavit of the person, member of the firm, or secretary or other managing officer of the corporation, as the case may be, stating therein the following facts:

First: the name, place of business and postoffice address of the person, firm or corporation desiring such permit;

Second: the business in which said person, firm or corporation is engaged and the articles manufactured by them which require in their manufacture the use of alcohol, spirituous or vinous liquors and approximately the amount required during a calendar month;

Third: that neither the applicant nor any member of the firm or officer of the corporation has been convicted of any violation of the laws of this state with reference to the sale of intoxicating liquors within three years last past prior to the date of said affidavit.

SECTION 3. Upon the filing of said affidavit, together with other proof submitted, if any, the clerk shall immediately notify the county attorney of such application. If, after a hearing, the judge is satisfied that the facts stated in said affidavit are true and that the applicant is a person fit and proper to be entrusted with the permit applied for, the same shall be issued upon the filing by the applicant of a bond in the sum of two thousand dollars ($2,000.00), the sureties to be approved by said clerk, conditioned as provided in section 2390 of the supplement to the code, 1913, which permit, unless revoked for cause, shall remain in force for a period of five years from the date of its issuance.

SECTION 4. It shall be the duty of said clerk to keep a record of permits issued hereunder, giving each permit holder a serial number and at the time of the issuance of said permit, or afterwards while the same remains in force, on the application of the permit holder the clerk shall deliver to him certificates showing his authority to buy, transport and use such alcohol, spirituous or vinous liquors as may be covered by said permit, which certificates shall be in triplicate and on red paper and in substantially the following form:

be transported. One copy of this order shall be immediately filed with the clerk of the district court of the county in which the permit is issued, one copy shall be attached to the package in which shipment is made in a conspicuous place in such way that it cannot be removed without showing evidence of mutilation where the entire order is shipped in one package, and if the said order shall be contained and shipped in more than one package then the consignor shall attach the original copy to one of said packages and a duplicate thereof to each additional package required to ship said order, and the third copy shall be attached at the original point of shipment to the waybill of the common carrier transporting such liquor. SECTION 7. It shall be the duty of any permit holder within this state, or dealer without the state filling such order to paste or otherwise attach firmly one duplicate of such certificate to the exterior of such package, which shall be sufficient authority for the transportation and delivery to such permit holders of the package containing such liquors.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION RELATING TO DISTRIBUTION OF REPRINTS OF EARLY STATUTES AND SESSION LAWS.

Senator Kingland offered the following concurrent resolution:

Whereas, the early laws of the various states are becoming scarce, in many instances the supply being entirely exhausted, and the growing need and demand has caused some of the states to reprint in part or in entirety certain early laws or statutes; and

Whereas, by authority of concurrent resolution of the thirty-fourth general assembly, there was caused to be reprinted the early statutes and session laws of Iowa prior to 1852, and provision was made for their sale at actual cost; and

Whereas, owing to obscure phraseology in the resolution authorizing the reprinting and distribution, no allotment of these reprints has been made to the state law library for exchange, and by exchange it would be possible to receive the verbatim reprints of the laws of other states towards completing the files of the state law library; now therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring: That the secretary of state is hereby authorized and directed to turn over to the state law library one hundred copies of each volume of the reprinted laws and statutes aforesaid, to be used for the purpose of exchange with other states or countries, individuals, firms or associations having statutes, laws or legal works which may be had by such exchange, at not less than the sale price of the statutes or laws given in exchange.
