GOVERNOR'S BIENNIAL MESSAGE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

Pursuant to a constitutional mandate, it is incumbent on the Chief Executive to communicate at this time to the Legislature, "The Condition of the State."

Since the adjournment of the last session of the Iowa legislature, the national government declared that a state of war existed between the United States and the imperial government of Germany, that war has been fought to a successful conclusion and an armistice has been signed outlining in a general way the terms of peace.

We proceed now with after-the-war problems. The provisions made by the last legislature in anticipation of our entering the war and the use of general statutes have made it possible to carry on the government within the state without an extra session of the legislature.

The method of mobilizing the army of the United States was changed from the volunteer system to that of the selective service system, and instead of calling upon the state to organize companies and regiments, as was the rule, and turn them over to the federal government, the machinery of the office of the Chief Executive and his military secretary, the Adjutant General, was used, and the soldier selected and placed directly in the national army.

The National Guard, in existence in the state at the time of the declaration of war, was mobilized by the state, on call from the federal government, and turned over to the President for use. The records in the Adjutant General's office show that 9,750 officers and men entered the federal service from the National Guard.

Representative government stood the test of the great world war. The system of divided authority between nation and state proved its effectiveness in the crisis through which we have just passed. Pride of state and love of nation were both so strong that little difficulty was experienced in filling and exceeding the quota of men assigned to Iowa by the federal authorities.

Iowa is not confronted particularly with problems of reconstruction. Because of the strength of our people and their adaptability to the new conditions brought about by the war, they adjusted their private business affairs as well as the affairs of the state, so that now, with scarcely a ripple, we can proceed with the work before us as a state and a people without hindrance growing out of the war.

The new problems for this legislature to consider are nation-wide and world-wide, rather than state-wide problems. They go to the very fundamentals of civilization. The fact that the United States took part in the settlement of this world war has widened our vision and increased our responsibility so that we will be compelled to approach even state problems with broader and more liberal views than we have in the past.

The state now owes an added obligation to the thousands upon thousands of young men who entered the service of the army and navy. This obligation is two-fold.

Primarily, the state should see to it that the returned man, so far as it is humanly possible, re-enter the activities of life without handicap because of the war. By this I mean he should be reinstated in society equipped to take the place he would have occupied had he not been called to the colors. Many ways, no doubt, will suggest themselves to your minds for working out this problem, such as finding him employment, giving him educational facilities, and other material advantages.

The second obligation is to see to it that the work and sacrifice of the soldier and sailor is not forgotten and thus unappreciated. Memorials in one form or another should be bullded, so that the generations of tomorrow may know what this generation was willing to pay and did pay, that representative government might be preserved. This is not necessarily the problem of this hour or wholly of this generation. However, the start should be made now, the facts should be accumulated, so that when there is adequate opportunity the work can be done in a fitting manner. I suggest that you make appropriation so that the story of the war in facts, figures and pictures may be gathered now for the use of future historians.

There is just cause for pride on the part of every citizen of the state for the way in which Iowa met the call for men and money in this last great war in which we were engaged.

Approximately 165,000 men from the state entered the service of the government in the army and navy. Iowa filled every quota call of the government. When the armistice was signed we had 35,000 Class I men ready to go when they were called. At that time, we were one of the four states in the Union ready to fill promptly the call of the government for men.

In the neighborhood of 9,000 men and women in all departments assisted in the draft work. It is not out of place to say here that great credit is due both the local and district draft boards for the high-minded manner in which they conducted their work.

The population of Iowa is about equally divided between country and urban. Each furnished approximately 50 per cent of the men who entered the service. There are about 217,000 farms in the state, approximately 50,000 men went from the farms into the service of the country, or one from every fourth farm.

In the first registration classification, Iowa had 27.4 per cent of its registrants in Class I; this was later raised to 28 per cent. The national average was a trifle less than 25 per cent. This speaks well for the boards and shows that they always kept in mind the thought that it was necessary to have men in order to have an army.

Iowa is fifteenth in population among the states of the Union. It occupies twelfth place in the number of men furnished in the army and navy in all branches: 10,775 native-born sons of Iowa joined the navy; 8,294 men, residents of Iowa, joined the navy. This speaks volumes for the patriotism of the youth born and reared in Iowa.

The record made in the furnishing of men is matched in all other lines in which the government called for service. Our citizens gave of their money freely, bought bonds as they were requested, gave of their time without desire for reward; our farmers increased the production of corn, wheat, oats, barley and rye 27 per cent over the average for the ten-year period previous to the war; our laborers worked in whatever capacity they were requested, without question or complaint—the state has been practically free from strikes; the miners produced coal in excess over former years to the extent of approximately two million tons.

The Councils of Defense, state and local, both men and women, responded to every call of the government, and through these organizations the state was kept in the forefront in war activities with the other states of the Union.

The last legislature appropriated in all $65,000 for a census and survey, and for secret service work and law enforcement. These funds were used to assist in the seed-corn census, to encourage the increase of wheat acreage in the state and for other activities along the line of production, in finding employment for labor, in secret service work and to carry out and make effective the activities of the state along lines in harmony with the purposes of the federal government in prosecuting the war to a successful close.

COST OF STATE ADMINISTRATION.

As legislators and as the direct representatives of the people, you have two kinds of dollars to spend for the public. The first is the dollar that goes to pay the ordinary expenses, such as salaries and supplies, and to keep the ordinary machinery of government running. The other dollar is the one which is appropriated as an investment, reaching beyond today's needs and building for the future, looking after the social, intellectual and economic development of the people, and laying the foundation today for the superstructure of tomorrow.

These two classes of dollars cannot be wholly separated and perhaps should not be. However, as the direct representatives of all the people of the state, it is for you and all of us to keep in mind this important distinction.

It is comparatively easy to ascertain the number of dollars of the first character necessary to be spent. It is less easy to ascertain the number of dollars of the second character that should be appropriated, and it is in this connection that vision and courage are required. Here lies the test of whether you are legislators or mere time-servers.

There has been placed before you and made a part of this biennial message a budget report which sets out the amount used for each year in the biennium closing July 1, 1919, of each department, and also the askings of these various departments for the biennial period beginning July 1, 1919, and ending July 1, 1921.

The total taxable value of all property subject to general levy for state and county purposes for the year 1918 was $1,006,255,644.00. The amount of moneys and credits returned was $419,732,506.00. A one-mill levy on the total value of this property brings to the state approximately one million dollars.

By glancing at this budget report you will ascertain that in nearly every instance there has been a request made for an increase in salary. These salary claims are the estimates of the various departments.

For your convenience and for the purpose of attempting, at least, to bring order out of chaos, I have taken the officers and help in the various departments of the state and classified and grouped them with a suggested salary.

You will observe that heads of departments recently created are in some cases drawing double the amount of salary of a department with equal responsibility that was created some years ago. It occurs to me that the time is now ripe to classify and unify the salaries of all state employes.

I have been informed that there will be askings for increased pay from counties and cities for officers and help. This information has not been laid before me, but I suggest that if such askings are made there be classification similar to the one which is attached to the budget report in reference to state employes.

BUSINESS DIRECTION OF STATE AFFAIRS.

Always, there is effort on the part of those clothed with the power of law making to devise ways and means of fixing responsibility, both to themselves and the people, on the part of those who are left to carry out the mandates of the law.

It is comparatively easy to fix responsibility on an elective officer. The difficulty comes with those who are appointed. In our own state the Executive Council, composed of the Governor, Secretary of State, Auditor of State and Treasurer, have been clothed with certain responsibilities and in certain matters at the present time act somewhat as a cabinet in dealing with the affairs of the state.

The members of the Executive Council are now ex-officio members of the State Board of Health and appoint such board. This is an arrangement which is very satisfactory, and centers responsibility with the Executive Council and thus elective offices. At the same time, it makes it possible for the Executive Council to have expert advice and counsel, and to know what is being done in the department.

I therefore suggest that each department head be more closely tied to the Executive Council and that they have voice in the construction of new policies that are to be initiated by the department. This will make it possible to have a wider grasp of the state's business and I am sure will tend to greater efficiency, for with this authority they will be able to stop whatever there is of over-lapping in departments.

In this connection, I want to suggest that the various departments be furnished help for the business under ordinary conditions, and that the Executive Council be given a fund for extra help which can be used as there is demand, and that they be given authority to change help from one department to another to take care of the peak load.

Your attention is directed, in this connection, to the work of the present council in co-ordinating and simplifying the state's business, and the various changes that have been made in keeping state records. A visit to the office of the secretary of the Executive Council and a noting of improved methods there instituted in doing the business of the state will, I am sure, strengthen your approval of making the Executive Council responsible for more of the business of the state.

Taxes are necessary in any form of government. That they shall be equitably distributed is a prime necessity in a representative form of government.

Under the present arrangement the Executive Council sits as an equalizing board. They are clothed with authority now to equalize between counties, but cannot equalize as between individuals.

I suggest that you consider the advisability of widening the scope of the power of the Executive Council as a board of equalization so that they may have power to equalize as between individuals.

I further suggest that you consider the advisability of making the county auditor also the county assessor and placing this officer as such assessor under the Executive Council when acting as a board of equalization, authorizing conference of all these county assessors with the Executive Council once each year. With the Executive Council having added power, the auditor as county assessor with power over the township assessor, it would be possible to bring about greater equality in taxation matters.

The Executive Council should be given a small fund for carrying on this work as a board of equalization.

LABOR EMPLOYMENT SERVICE.

Your attention is directed to the work of the Bureau of Labor within the state, and the wonderful growth which this department has made in the confidence of the people.

During the past year, the head of this department has represented the federal government in employment work within the state and also has had charge of state employment work in conjunction with the regular and ordinary duties of his office.

I am satisfied that upon investigation you will agree with me that growing out of the experience of the past year and a half all private fee employment offices in the state should be prohibited by statute and that the Department of Labor should be made the head of a free employment labor service, that county agents should be made employment agents in their respective counties, that in cities of a population of say 5,000 or more there should be a special labor representative, all of this co-ordinated with the State Labor Department, with, of course, the necessary appropriation to carry on this work.

SELECTION OF CANDIDATES FOR OFFICE.

It has been proposed by some that the primary principle as applied to the selection of candidates for office be abandoned by this state. In my judgment, such a move would be a step backward and would seriously be regretted by the people in the days to come.

The primary principle is fundamentally right, for it gives to the individual an unhampered choice in the selection of his party candidate.

That there can be change in the present law which will work to the advantage of the state and of the individual, I have no doubt. I am firmly of the opinion, however, that executive and legislative officers such as United States senator, governor, lieutenant governor, congressmen and members of the legislature should be chosen by primary, and that if there are to be offices selected by convention the first delegates should be chosen through a primary regulated by statute.

UNIVERSAL SUFFRAGE FOR IOWA.

The question of enlarged suffrage regardless of sex no doubt will soon become nation-wide, this at least should be brought about. The Constitution of the State of Iowa should be changed from its present form limiting suffrage to males and permit female citizens to vote.

In the meantime, while this change is being brought about in our fundamental law, the state statute should be changed giving to women primary suffrage.

I recommend this for your careful consideration as a right which is due to this class of citizens now disfranchised because of sex.

This correction in the fundamental law of our country needs to be made immediately in order that as a nation we be not placed in an awkward position with the countries across the water that we are trying to lead to democratic ideals.

FEDERAL PROHIBITORY AMENDMENT.

In due course of time and in regular form, there will be transmitted to your body an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors.

I commend this to your consideration and bespeak for it your early concurrence in due and regular form.

STATE INSTITUTIONS AND INDUSTRIES.

On account of the increased cost of all materials during the last biennial period, it has been necessary for the Executive Council, as by statute provided, to assist the Board of Control from February 1, 1918, to January 1, 1919, to the amount of $548,800.19 for their support fund for the various institutions under their control.

The system of employing convicts by contract on work for private companies was wholly abolished May 1, 1918.

It is gratifying to me to be able to report that all the state industries under the management of the Board of Control are now conducted on a sound business basis and are producing net profits to the state. Close personal attention is given by the board to the operation and management of these industries, and the marked success with which they have been carried on demonstrates that state industries can be operated successfully and with profit.

The appropriations granted by the legislature for establishing and maintaining industries aggregate $275,000. Of this amount, $27,941.66 was spent for land at the state penitentiary, and $157,470.80 for industrial buildings, equipment and appliances, at both the penitentiary and reformatory. The total amount remaining to the credit of the industrial fund is $87,415.95. This is used as a working balance to cover operating expenses and to purchase material. It is expected that this balance will be increased very materially by the end of the calendar year.

The institution industries are of three classes: First, the manufacturing plants established by special or direct appropriation of the legislature to replace the prison labor contracts. These industries are equipped for and are doing a commercial business. Second, those departments first organized but not equipped for commercial business were established and maintained from the support funds of the institutions with which they were connected. The products from these were used for the maintenance of the inmates. Third, the institution farms, the operating expenses of which, except the state farm at Clive, are borne by the support funds, the products going back to the support of the institution.

Under the first class, there are three industries: chair and furniture at the state penitentiary, cooperage at the reformatory, and brick and tile factory at the state hospital. The chair and furniture industry is the largest and best equipped institution of its kind west of Chicago. It was first established at the expiration of the prison contract with the Fort Madison Chair Company in 1915. The buildings vacated by that company were remodeled and equipped with machinery at a total cost of about $75,000. The contract with the tool company expired in May, 1918. The buildings this company had occupied were also remodeled and added to the factory. The total capital invested in this plant at this time is $152,500.00. The aggregate of profits and reserves earned now, and carried on the books of the chair industry, exceed $98,000.00. The industry provides work for 150 prisoners. The total net sales during the period to this time were $247,156.75.

The cooperage factory at the reformatory was taken over by the state January 1, 1915. During the past two years, considering the money invested, it has proved to be the most profitable of the industries operated by the state. The total cost of machinery and equipment to date is $7,136.60, and the total investment $31,166.04. The industry has earned over $50,000.00 in profits and reserves during the last two years. The aggregate sales for the period amounted to $260,670.62.

The brick and tile factory at Knoxville is valued at about $30,000.00. The total sales for the period were $32,132.68. There are on hand products to the value of $7,062.12. The industry has earned a substantial profit which is shown mostly in increased fixed assets.

The combined industries have made a remarkable showing during this period. The last year especially has been a very prosperous year for the chair and tub factories. The aggregate amount of sales and receipts for service performed by the various industrial departments is over $775,000, and the net profits, not including reserves, over $100,000.

The work of convicts on farms a considerable distance from the state penitentiary and reformatory has not been found practical. Discipline cannot be maintained as it should be. The results are very different in farming operations on lands adjoining the prison, and this is conclusively shown by the results obtained this year at the reformatory, where 1,380 acres were farmed, showing a net profit of over $16,000, 1,000 acres of this land being leased by the board.

I recommend that you appropriate $175,000 for the purchase of additional acreage at the reformatory, and $75,000 for additional acres at the state penitentiary. The board holds an option now on the 1,000 acres of leased land at the reformatory, and at a very reasonable price.

The institutional farms at the various institutions are one of the big assets of the state. Intensified cultivation of these farms enables Iowa institutions to keep their per capita support requirements at a minimum, and below many of the other states of the Union.

The total amount of products from the farms, orchards and gardens of these institutions since the last report is:

Farm products.....	$419,876.27
Poultry .....	14,257.39
Live stock.....	116,319.26
Dressed meat.....	81,243.40
Garden products.....	152,418.23
Orchard products.....	25,517.47
Miscellaneous .....	2,893.98
Total .....	$812,526.00

This is an increase in value over the products of the last report of $87,743.21.

The dairy herds of the state number 834 cows and have produced milk to the value of $278,045.45.

Building construction was halted for the period of the war except such buildings as were contracted for or started, and such buildings as were absolutely necessary in order to take proper care of the work at the institutions. This means that extra allowances will have to be made for repair funds, and it is good economy to keep the buildings in the best possible condition.

Your attention is directed to the custodial farm located at Clive. I suggest that it is an economy to complete this farm along the lines originally intended. The old system of throwing men in jail to be idle is wasteful and does not bring about the reform in the individual that is desired. Money used for purchasing Iowa real estate is not squandered or wasted. The state can afford to buy liberally to furnish wholesome employment for the derelicts.

TRANSPORTATION AND ROAD PROBLEMS.

The question of transportation, both of passengers and freight, is one of vital interest to all the people of the state. The road question cannot be separated from the larger one of general transportation.

At the present time, our transportation system includes railroads, inter-urban roads, and wagon roads or highways. In considering the road question, we necessarily must keep in mind these other means of transportation.

Just now, there is considerable agitation about highway improvements. Some there are who contend that our entire road building system should be changed. My own thought is, after a rather complete study of the systems of other states, that Iowa has a system that is as well adapted to the needs of the state as can well be devised. My suggestion, therefore, is that you make as few changes as possible in the present road law and system, and none that are not primarily necessary.

The 104,000 miles of roads of the state are now divided into three systems: 88,000 miles of township road, 10,000 miles of county road, and 6,000 miles of inter-county road.

The highway commission took a census of traffic in 1917 at forty-seven stations located in seventeen different counties widely distributed in the state. These counts were all taken on the roads of the inter-county system. Of the total of this count, 46 per cent was local traffic made up of town to town, farm to town, and town to farm traffic; 47 per cent of the total was interurban and inter-county traffic; and 6½ per cent was tourist or inter-state traffic. From these figures, we readily ascertain the real road problem in this state—that is, to provide a road for local traffic made up of the farm to town and town to farm travel.

The road that has the largest amount of travel should be the first road improved, and should also have the greatest amount of improvement. We should proceed, then, in our road work as in the past: by keeping up the township road; grading and draining the county roads; grading, draining and surfacing the inter-county roads.

The funds already provided and their distribution should be little disturbed.

FORWARD STEPS IN ROAD MAKING.

The next step in road betterment in Iowa is therefore to surface so as to attain some form of permanency. This should first be done on the inter-county roads.

We may as well be frank with ourselves about road improvement and recognize that it is going to cost money and that the taxpayers will have to pay it.

Roads are necessary, and with changed methods of transportation a different type of road required now and for the future than in the past. In the census referred to as taken by the highway commission, the average number of vehicles per day was 339. Of these, 292 were motor-driven and 47 horse-drawn.

To take the next step in road betterment in Iowa we are going to require more money than we have had in the past. My judgment is that the motor vehicle should very largely contribute this extra money. At the present time, automobile owners do not pay a personal tax in the state of Iowa. The state license charged is much below the personal tax that the same amount invested in property would pay. Since the surfaced road is largely for the benefit of the motor vehicle traveler, I suggest that you look here for one of your large sources of income.

We already have federal aid and there is a bill now pending in congress to increase this. Personally, I do not look with favor on federal aid, but so long as congress votes it, we should use our share.

Permit me to call your attention also to the fact that the heavy truck with the heavy load should pay a tax proportionate to the amount of damage which it does to the public highway, or to put it in another way: the motor truck that goes on to the public highway to haul freight for a fixed charge and as a revenue producer to the owner should pay a motor license commensurate with the wear which such a vehicle makes on the public highway.

When the next step in road improvement in Iowa is taken, which is surfacing, the cost should be distributed as nearly as possible in proportion to the benefits derived. The abutting and adjacent property is directly benefited and should pay accordingly. The county or road district is benefited and should pay. The proportion can be worked out on some equitable basis and should be left flexible enough to provide for special cases.

The finances then for this additional cost in the next step in road building in Iowa would come, at least 80 per cent, from the increased revenue from the motor vehicle fund, and increased federal aid apportionment, and the assessments against abutting and adjacent property. The balance of the sum, in the neighborhood of 20 per cent, would be financed from the general property tax.

In this next step in road building, adequate provision should be made to permit those on whom the burden of paying is to fall a voice in saying whether or not the improvement is to be made, and the kind and character of improvement.

In this connection, let it be suggested that provision also be made by statute whereby a given district or political unit may anticipate the funds designated above by providing that the officers charged with road construction be privileged to lay out the road, specify kind and quality of road, let the contract, and then submit the project to a vote of the people interested. If the people then approve, the necessary securities can be issued, running over a period of two, three or five years, as the case may be, and thus the project completed all at one time, with perhaps a great saving to the public.

It has been my thought in this suggestion not to disturb the existing highway law or its various agencies, but rather to use them for the purposes which they are already assigned to fill, and by adding to their powers and responsibilities the necessary law which will permit them, in co-operation with those who carry the extra burden, to take the next step for more permanent road construction within the state. This plan leaves the initiative locally with those who carry the burden and gives them a voice in determining the time the project is to be started, and the amount to be involved.

In this biennial, I am mindful that I speak to a co-ordinate branch of the state government, and with that thought in mind have attempted to share responsibility with you.

Your task is the more difficult one of making the appropriations and laws to fit like a blanket covering with equality all parts of the state. My task is to execute the laws which you make with uniform fairness. Jointly, we are to strive for all the people, as their servants.

IOWA STATE BUDGET.

Governor Harding also presented to the general assembly, as a part of his message, the following budget and statement:

The tables herein have been made as concise as possible with a view to giving the main facts regarding the finances, transactions and needs of all the different departments of the state government.

The columns of appropriations for the biennial period gives the amounts available for each department for each specific purpose as provided in the code or by the Thirty-seventh General Assembly for the biennium ending June 30, 1919. The authority for each appropriation is indicated.

The next column gives the expenditures actually made for each department, divided as to specific purposes, so far as possible, for the first year of the biennial period under this appropriation. The succeeding column gives that which will be expended or which is available for use in the second year of the period. Where there has been expenditure and where further expenditures are possible, but no specific sum indicated as an appropriation, it is because of a continuing or indefinite appropriation dependent entirely on the needs of the department for this particular item.

Under the head of estimated expenditures is given two columns in which is set forth the estimate of the department or office or board as to that which is needed or will be used or should be made available for the specific items indicated for the biennial period which the Thirty-eighth General Assembly will provide for. It will be borne in mind that these estimates are from the heads of departments made to the governor or recommended to the legislature. They are given to indicate what the department estimates as actually necessary for the work to be done.

It will be noted that the statement of appropriations and expenditures given by these departments does not in all cases correspond to the books of the state auditor or state treasurer, but the discrepancies are of minor importance and indicate only a difference in keeping the accounts

To place this Department upon the high level of similar departments of other states of our wealth, and the national system, we should have additional employes as follows: One assistant superintendent, one attorney, two clerks in office and six examiners.

The present fees are wholly inadequate pay for the services rendered and far below similar charges made by acceptable state departments, or the national system. We should have semi-annual examinations as prevail in the most successful systems, and the fees be based upon total resources as in the national system—$25.00 for the first $25,000.00 of assets and two cents for each additional thousand dollars of assets.

The Retrenchment and Reform Committee appropriated $450 for temporary clerk to help on our 18th biennial report; $100 was expended in June, 1918, and the balance in July, August, September and October at $100 per month. Estimates for commissioner, deputy commissioner, statistician, and department clerk are based upon needed increases of salaries. In the estimates on salaries of inspectors an increase of $25 per month has been added after the first six months of service and an additional $25 per month after one year's service. Three additional inspectors (two men and one woman), each to be paid $100 per month for the first six months, $125 for the next six months, and on the basis of $1,900 per year thereafter the same as the other inspectors. An additional stenographer at $1,000 per annum is included.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein),

That the following amendment to the Constitution be, and hereby is, proposed to the States, to become valid as a part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of the several states as provided by the Constitution:

"ARTICLE —.

"SECTION 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"SEC. 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"SEC. 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of submission hereof to the States by the Congress."

Therefore, Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

SECTION 1. That the said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America be, and the same is hereby, ratified by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa.

SECTION 2. That certified copies of this preamble and joint resolution be forwarded by the Governor of this State to the Secretary of State at Washington, D. C., to the presiding officer of the United States Senate, and to the speaker of the House of Representatives of the United States.

Senator Whitmore offered the following motion:

I move suspension of the rules and that the resolution offered be referred to a special committee of five to be named by the president of the senate, and that the said committee is hereby directed to report said resolution back to the Senate tomorrow morning at 10:30 o'clock, at which time its consideration, upon third reading and adoption is made a special order.

On the question, "Shall the motion prevail?" the vote was:

Ayes—36.

Senate met in regular session at 10 a. m., President of the Senate E. R. Moore presiding.

Prayer was offered by Rev. Dilman Smith, chaplain of the Iowa Methodist Hospital, Des Moines.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE.

Chief Clerk Ramsay presented the following message from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 1, a bill for an act to repeal section 13 of the code relative to the compensation of legislative employees and enacting a substitute therefor.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

House File No. 1, a bill for an act to repeal section thirteen (13) of the code relative to the compensation of officers, clerks and employees of the general assembly.

Read first and second times.

Unanimous consent having been granted for the immediate consideration of the bill, Senator Kimball moved that the rule by which no bill can be read a second and third time the same day be suspended.

On the question, "Shall the rule be suspended?" the vote was:

Ayes—48.

Senator Kimball presented the following concurrent resolution :

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring :

That the following be adopted as a joint rule of both houses of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly :

That whenever any bill or resolution has passed one house and has been reported out favorably by the committee to which it was referred of the other house and is placed upon the calendar, it shall take precedence over its companion or any bill or resolution of the other house placed on the calendar on the same or a later day.

On request of Senator Kimball the resolution was filed for reference to the committee on rules.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Senator Whitmore presented the following committee report :

To the Honorable President of the Senate of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly of Iowa :

Your special committee to whom was referred joint resolution ratifying a proposed amendment to the constitution of the United States of America, on the subject of national prohibition, beg leave to report that they have had the same under consideration and recommend that the same be amended by the adoption of the following substitute and that when so amended the resolution be adopted.

CHESTER W. WHITMORE,
Chairman.

SUBSTITUTE FOR
SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 1

JOINT RESOLUTION RATIFYING A PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA.

WHEREAS, Both houses of the sixty-fifth congress of the United States of America, by a constitutional majority of two-thirds thereof, made the following proposition to amend the Constitution of the United States of America, in the following words, to-wit:

"JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled (two-thirds of each House concurring therein), That the following amendment to the Constitution be, and hereby is, proposed to the States, to become valid as a part of the Constitution when ratified by the legislatures of the several States as provided by the Constitution:

"ARTICLE —

"SECTION 1. After one year from the ratification of this article the manufacture, sale, or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territory subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes is hereby prohibited.

"SEC. 2. The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

"SEC. 3. This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress."

THEREFORE, Be It Resolved and Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION ONE. That the said proposed amendment to the Constitution of the United States of America as set forth herein be and the same, is hereby ratified and consented to by the State of Iowa and by the General Assembly thereof.

SECTION TWO. Be It Further Resolved and Enacted, that certified copies of this enactment and resolution be forwarded by the Governor of this State to the Secretary of State of the United States at Washington, D. C. and to the presiding officers of each House of the Congress of the United States.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, the report of the committee was adopted.

The substitute was read the first and second times.

By unanimous consent the bill was read for information.

Senator Frailey presented the following motion:

We, the undersigned senators, move that the consideration of the pending joint resolution be deferred and that said joint resolution be referred to the Thirty-ninth General Assembly of Iowa for action and that there be submitted to the qualified electors of the state at a special election to be held on the 13th day of May, A. D. 1919, the following question:

"ARE YOU IN FAVOR OF RATIFICATION BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA OF THE PROPOSED AMENDMENT TO THE CONSTITUTION OF THE UNITED STATES PROHIBITING THE MANUFACTURE, SALE, OR TRANSPORTATION OF INTOXICATING LIQUORS FOR BEVERAGE PURPOSES?"

That said special election be held under and according to the statutes of Iowa providing for the holding of special elections and the result thereof shall be submitted to the Thirty-ninth General Assembly of the State of Iowa, which said General Assembly shall, after being advised of the result of said special election, vote upon the question of ratifying said amendment to the Constitution of the United States.

J. R. FRAILEY,
FRANK E. THOMPSON,
D. W. KIMBERLY,
A. L. BRONAM,
W. J. GREENELL,
B. J. HORCHEM.

Motion lost.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that the motion of Senator Frailey was out of order by reason of the fact that the joint resolution of congress and the provisions of the constitution of the United States with reference thereto provide that ratification of the resolution should be by act of the legislatures of the states, while the motion would irregularly and without warrant of law submit the question of ratification to a plebiscite of the people of the state.

The president ruled that the point of order was not well taken, and that the action of the Senate on the motion as presented was the proper method of procedure in this case.

Senator Whitmore asked for a roll call.

On the question, "Shall the motion prevail," the vote was:

Ayes—8:

Broxam	Greenell	Thompson
Evans	Horchem	White
Fralley	Kimberly

Nays—41:

The motion prevailed.

Senator Whitmore moved that the rules be suspended, the joint resolution be considered engrossed and the reading just had be considered the third reading, which motion prevailed.

On the question, "Shall the joint resolution be adopted?" the vote was:

Ayes—42:

Adams	Hale	Rainbow
Anderson	Haskell	Ratcliff
Arney	Holdoegel	Reed
Balkema	Kimball	Rule
Ball	Kingland	Schaffter
Brookhart	LeCompte	Scott

Tellers.

On motion of Senator Anderson of Greene the report was adopted.

President pro tempore Arney of the joint convention announced that W. L. Harding, having received the highest number of votes cast for governor, was duly elected to the office of governor of the state of Iowa, for the ensuing term, or until his successor is duly electd and qualified, and that Ernest R. Moore was duly elected to the office of lieutenant governor for the ensuing term, or until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

President pro tempore Arney of the joint convention then directed the abstract of votes and certificates of election to be filed with the secretary of state.

The following certificates were signed in the presence of the joint convention:

HALL OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES,
DES MOINES, IOWA, JANUARY 14, A. D. 1919.

This is to certify that upon a canvass in joint convention of the two houses of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly of the state of Iowa of the votes cast at the general election held November 5th, 1918, for governor of the state of Iowa, it appeared that W. L. Harding received the highest number of all votes cast for any candidate at said election for said office, and was therefore declared duly elected to said office for the term of two years and until his successor is duly elected and qualified.

Signed in the presence of the joint convention this 14th day of January, A. D. 1919.

Administration of oath of office to Governor William L. Harding and Lieutenant Governor Ernest R. Moore, elect, by Chief Justice Scott M. Ladd.

GOVERNOR'S INAUGURAL ADDRESS.

Members of the Senate and House of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

In assuming the duties and obligations to this great people and state as their chief executive for a second time, I desire humbly to acknowledge my own limitations and seek aid and guidance from the Master Builder of the Universe.

My earnest prayer is that I may have ability to see and courage to do the right.

We are living in a new world and a new age. Old things have passed away. Our flag, but recently looked upon by some as a mere piece of bunting, is an inspired blending of colors sacred and worthy to die for. It has just been carried to victory by brave and noble sons. The common enemy of all the world has been prostrated on the field of bloody battle.

The manhood of our country is still virile. As a people, we yet can suffer, sacrifice, fight and die for a cause that is just. The heartbeat of our people is in unison with the ideals of the founders of the government.

Autocracy and greed in government must be banished from the face of the earth. Our brave soldiers and sailors have said in the language of courage, and backed it up by deeds, that the American flag shall and will be respected wherever it is carried. Home and fireside are cardinal principles dear to the American heart. Our men will defend them on field of battle against all comers.

We are assembled today as legislators, officers and people in the presence of Iowa's noble dead. They hover near, they are here. How brave, how courageous, how true, were our men who wore the uniform of brown and blue. Their spirits beckon us to follow. Can we in reality go with them in the trench, over the top, into the face of death, for a cause that is right?

Members of this general assembly, let us catch the spirit of this nobility in our work that was in the living personality of the brave sons of Iowa on that great day at Chateau Thierry when the tide of battle was changed. That was a great day for Iowa and all the world. Pride and glory there is for all of us in the fact that our sons were there that fateful day and ready to meet the hordes of Huns, to fight, to win, to turn the tide for all the world and for all time. Autocracy, in that meeting with freemen of the west, was stopped and turned back. Representative government and civilization will go on in the world because the men from our own state and others were ready that day for the supreme test.

Those sons of Iowa on that and other days over there, in bloody battle and all the horrors of war, facing death, were living and exemplifying the very spirit of our people. It was home and school and church speaking in the language of reality. They joined ideal with action.

Who were the boys and men who fought and died, and prepared to fight and die? Were they strangers from a strange land or gathered from some far-off people? These young men came from the firesides of the homes scattered on the plains of this mighty prairie state. They were our neighbors and our friends, just the regular fellows.

They had ambition. They were filled with the pride and glory of young manhood. Youth was theirs, and in its fervid promise they had dreamed and planned for a climb to distinction among their fellows. Their bodies were strong, their minds pure, their vision clear, and in this strength, they were summoned to war.

They were gathered from the plow and the counter, from every walk of life, the rich, the poor, every creed, and every faith—all willingly answering the summons to make the supreme sacrifice in the same noble spirit.

We put into their hands the care and keeping of that dear old flag and trusted them to cross the ocean with it. There was the temptation staring them in the face of conquest, of riches, of territory, of power. They could have gone for themselves, they could have conquered, they could have possessed. They are bringing the flag back and they hand it to us without a stain or tarnish. There is but one change in it. The luster is a little brighter, for the red has been augmented by the blood shed in the spirit of sacrifice by freemen of this day and this generation.

They sought no man's possessions, they fought and stand to fight again, being one in thought with that great American statesman who said, "God gave liberty only to those who love it and are always ready to guard and defend it."

The struggle for human liberty is a pathway running back through history, illumined by heroism, sacrifice and bloodshed. Our own boys responded to the trumpet which called freemen of every age.

America, our own fair country, presents the best of all national response to the heart-throb of all time. Somehow, we catch the echoes of the longing ages and transmit them as living voices applying to the work-day problems of humanity today. Ours is to fight 'til kings are gone, thrones destroyed, and the ideals of representative government firmly established everywhere.

This is not the hour to be discouraged or pessimistic. We ought here to catch the spirit of our soldiers, their sacrifice, their service. We should rather be encouraged and rejoice that we have a field of endeavor before us ripe for the harvest.

The light is breaking with a dawn of better things. It is for us to transmute this light into terms of applied social and economic betterment.

You are the eyes of the people, and by and through you whatever of vision is to be had of the future must be focused in appropriation and law.

Do not fix a false measuring stick for the amount of the people's money you provide to be spent. Too often we say, "The legislature appropriated more dollars in this session than in a former one, and therefore they raised the taxes." Or we say, "The legislature appropriated less dollars than a former one, and so the taxes are lower." Both may be a false standard of what the legislature actually did. At least, the amount appropriated measured by a former amount expended is a false measuring stick.

The real question is, "For what are the dollars that are appropriated to be used?" If they are to be used for better health, public welfare, education, social betterment, industrial betterment; while more of these dollars may be provided, the real taxes may be greatly lowered. Taxes come out of the bodies of men and women and children.

Real retrenchment comes when the public, through its various agencies, is able to take these dollars thus secured and make them yield in bettering the conditions under which all these people labor and live.

You are not here alone to check, account and appropriate for the biennial period. This is a part of your work, but only a part. If you do your work well, you will look into the tomorrow. You will see Iowa a quarter or a half century from now and make provision for that day. You should take into account the basic facts on which development rests and then build for the state and society that will be here in the days to come. Yours is to know conditions today and then to have a forward-looking into the future so that evils and handicaps of this time will be eliminated.

I think of no greater honor or satisfaction that could come to an individual than to be placed in a position of responsibility where he can, in a definite way be instrumental in making rules and laying plans that will tend to a better social, educational, moral and economic condition for a great and good people.

You are representatives of the folks at home. You are here in the stead of the rich, the poor, the humble, the exalted. You are to conduct their state for them. You are to say what conditions their children are to live under. You are here to forge or break shackles. You are to say whether the people shall live in a hovel or a home, whether they be tenant or owner, whether they are educated or ignorant. It is for you to say whether this is to be a nation with one people, one language, and one flag.

You occupy a place of trust and responsibility. The task is not an easy one. It takes a brave, fearless, courageous, honest individual to be a good legislator.

Peculiarly to this assembly is set the task of leadership in solving the problems of tomorrow, not alone for the state but for the nation.

Our location, our people, our place among the states in leadership in furnishing men and money for the war; all combine to put us where we can and should march at the front of the column of progress.

In this connection, therefore, I desire to indicate some of the problems that appeal to me as calling for earnest attention and action.

This union of states called America is a nation, not an asylum. We are big enough, old enough, and good enough to have a language of our own, loved and used by all our citizens. If all loved the language, they would the more desire to use it, for it has a beauty of expression and directness possessed by no other language.

Perhaps the best way to create this love for our language so desirable is to insist, under proper rules, that all learn it.

I know there are those who argue that it is narrow to insist that as a condition precedent to citizenship the official language of the country be mastered and used, or that the youth in his very beginning be required to gain his first impression of the country and society in the language of the country. The answer to all such contenders is, "Your first love is not America, it is some other country, or it may be greed for gold. It is one or both."

The strength of our nation lies in the understanding and love our people have of its ideals and traditions. Handicapped indeed, for citizenship and growth, is that individual who has not read the Declaration of Independence and Lincoln's Gettysburg Address in the language of their authorship. Sad indeed was the plight of the country when, engaged in a great world war, it found it necessary to stop in its preparation of men to fight, to teach them to speak and even to read and understand the language of the country well enough so that they could be drilled and take or give orders. It was not wholly the fault of the men. As a nation, we opened the door and left it. We should have stood by in those other days and said, "This is America. If you come to be one of us, learn and use our language, acquaint yourselves with our traditions and ideals, become a part of our life and thought, and then we will make you a citizen of our country. If you are not here to be one of us, you may tarry for a time, but not in a colony, and then you must go back."

The errors of the past should be our spur to achieve where we have lost. We should act now with intelligence and courage. This country has one flag and only one. There is not room here for two.

We can and should pass laws against the red flag. It should be a crime to hoist it or to follow it. We ought to have a people so thoroughly American, so enamored of liberty, so filled with the spirit of our institutions, that there would be no desire or affection for another flag.

Do not misunderstand what I am saying or misapply it, for in Iowa we are not yet troubled with divided affection. However, it is abroad in the land to an alarming extent.

Iowa should lead. Some state must blaze the trail. We have the people with the courage to pioneer, and if not, then I am mistaken in my understanding of them.

English is the official language of the United States and of the State of Iowa. Freedom of speech is guaranteed by both state and federal constitutions, but this is not a guaranty of the right to use a language other than the official language.

By proclamation, as the chief executive of the state and with authority vested in me as such, and as a war measure, last year I asked the people of the state to observe this principle of law during the period of the war. For all practical purposes, the war is at a close. I therefore leave the matter in your charge for further action.

I recommend that the least you do be to provide that each child be required to be taught in English and no other language in every school up to the grade of high school. After that, they may be permitted to study foreign languages as they choose, but that all schools use English as the medium of instruction in all branches.

If it should appeal to you and there is demand for it, provision can be made for the study of English by those who are past the school age.

Education is one of the foundation institutions on which representative government rests. It should not be left to choice or be simply free, it should be compulsory.

School houses and equipment are but conveniences toward the education of the people. The fundamental factor in all education is the teacher. you can be very helpful in determining the quality and standard of the teaching force of the state by directing along certain lines. May I suggest that a fixed, definite standard be established, and once the individual attains that place that then he be made a member of the teaching profession and for life. This, I believe, will encourage more people to make this activity their life work.

The salaries of teachers are now largely inadequate both for the service rendered and the importance of the work performed. A partial if not complete remedy for this situation lies in paying for a year's work which the teacher already performs.

Some advocate a pension or annuity to make up for the shortage in salary and the inadequacy of it in the past. To my mind, here lies a grave danger to individual initiative and our representative form of government. A pension as part pay for services rendered in ordinary vocations is, to say the least, a mild form of slavery. It hampers the freedom of the individual and of contract.

I bespeak, therefore, from you, for the teachers, freedom from the bondage of poverty under which they now labor.

Let Iowa be pioneer in unshackling the youth of the state to mine the riches of education under the guidance of an adequately paid, helpful, forward-looking teacher, with the right to contract for a period of time long enough so that he may become an actual resident of the place and have part in the activities of the community.

The greatness and perpetuity of a people and a nation depend very largely upon the opportunity for individual initiative and leadership. That nation which ties down the individual will sooner or later lose in the race for supremacy and have a servile people.

It is the business of government to enlarge the scope and the opportunity of the individual; it can guide, help and control, but should not go to the extent that it owns and manages.

Individuality and private ownership are primary and fundamental principles in the development of a lasting civilization.

It is my firm conviction that the time is now here when, as a state, we should interest ourselves in seeing to it that plans are laid and opportunity offered to those who desire to own their own homes.

A home owned by the family is an anchor against an evil day. It builds for permanency. It creates citizenship interest and is in harmony with nature's fundamental law. A man will take a shotgun to defend a home, but seldom a boarding house.

The Secretary of the Interior proposes that the federal government, in conjunction with the state, purchase cut-over, swampy and arid lands for the use and benefit of the returned soldier who may desire to farm, provision to be made by the two governmental activities in the plan for financing over a long period of years, with easy money, allowing the soldier to pay back and thus become owner.

Iowa has no waste land to be reclaimed for farming purposes.

If this plan is feasible as applied to farm lands, why cannot the same principle be applied to smaller divisions, even as small as a town lot, and thus accommodate the returned soldier whose training in life calls him to an occupation in the city?

And if it is feasible for the purpose of rendering aid to returned soldiers, why is it not equal of application to every citizen who may desire to avail himself of the opportunity and thus become a property owner?

This is submitted for your consideration with the hope that it will at least result in investigation.

The legislature two years ago took one step in an effort to prevent bad housing conditions in the state. In my opinion, you should, before you adjourn, complete the task, so far as it can be done by remedial laws.

In this state we have said by statute that a dollar can never be loaned legally for more than 8 per cent.

We have also said by statute that a man is entitled to a safe place in which to work. By a safe place in which to work we mean plenty of light, fresh air, and guarded machinery. Both statutes have been declared constitutional, not only in Iowa, but generally, and are upheld by public opinion.

The family is more sacred than the dollar. The health and comfort of the family are as vital to the welfare of the state as that of the dollar, or of the man or woman who toils in a factory. A safe place in which to work is vital, from the standpoint of the laborer, and a safe place in which the family is to live is vital to the state.

For the protection of society, we have announced two great fundamental principles; first, the dollar cannot be legally loaned for more than a given amount; second, the laborer is entitled to a safe place in which to work.

The third great principle that ought to be announced is that the family should have the right to live in a house, the rent of which shall not net the dollars of the owner more than a fixed amount, and that it be a safe place in which the family shall live—that is, that there be plenty of light, air, and a plot of ground. If the first two propositions are sound, and they are, then the third is sound.

The home is the foundation of all social improvement and betterment. The state is vitally interested in the generation of tomorrow. It can largely shape the moral and intellectual fiber of the next generation and generations by proper and right legislation for home surroundings. This means, first, regulation of the tenement house, both as to conditions surrounding same and rent.

Now is the time to act in Iowa on this great question. Delay is expensive in dollars, man power, and motherhood efficiency. The man of the palace is as vitally interested in this problem as the man of the hovel. As the solution of this problem is delayed, society and the state pay the bill in broken manhood and womanhood. The legal questions involved and the right of the state to act are both well settled. Courage to face the issue and efficient leadership are the call of the hour.

I believe in the widest possible distribution of knowledge, for knowledge is preparedness.

Our competition, in the future, for world trade will be more keen than in the past. Yesterday, it was easy for us to contend with the old world in production, for they were shackled with autocracy and militarism. With victory coming to the allied cause, we will now compete with freemen.

There should be in this country some system of universal service, not so much for the purpose of making soldiers with which to contend on field of battle, as to create a universal man power to work together in harmony and equality in the battles of peace.

It is good for both the rich and the poor to have them touch elbows in common place. Better understanding on the part of each of the problems of the other will make easy the settlement of many vexing controversies of this time.

Experience growing out of the recent war in examining men for the service has brought to our attention the fact that there is an appalling number who are physically defective so that they are constantly working under handicap.

Four years ago, the state was a pioneer in establishing a hospital at the university to care for diseased and crippled children. I commend to your attention the opportunity now presented to extend and broaden this service. I am sure you will agree that here is a field for the state to invest money that will not only pay dividends in dollars, but in the larger way, in health, happiness and efficiency.

What can be said in the interest of the physical defective can also be said, and perhaps with greater force, in the interests of those who are mentally defective. Provision should be made for these, and in doing this the state is approaching the ideal of perfection.

The prosperity of any country is largely gauged by the prosperity of the farmer. The farm being one of the sources of original production, questions concerning it are therefore of vital interest to every citizen, no matter what his occupation or location may be.

In the past, agricultural policies have largely dealt with the subject of increased production. In the future, the agricultural policy of the state should deal not only with production, but should include the larger field of marketing.

I hold that the farmer is entitled to sell what he produces on an honest market, and the consumer is equally entitled to buy in an honest market. At the present time, this privilege is not granted to either class.

There are two, general, nation-wide obstacles in the way of an honest market to which your attention is directed at this time:

First, and most baneful, is the food produce gambler, the man who buys and sells that which does not exist. I know when I mention this subject I tread on dangerous ground. However, I want it distinctly understood that in my judgment there can never be an honest market for the produce of the farm so long as the gambler is permitted to create false markets and false impressions about supply and demand.

Second, we owe it to the producer as well as the consumer to gather definite, detailed information as to the amount of the various kinds of foodstuffs produced each year, not by estimate but by actual figures.

If a state representative for each four sections was to report, say in June, the actual number of acres of grain of various kinds and the actual number of head of live stock in his section, and again, say about the first of the year, report on the actual production, in the course of a very few years we would have definite statistical information upon which intelligent opinion could be formed by the farmer in deciding what to plant and when to sell.

By doing away with the man who gambles in foodstuffs and by creating definite information as to supply, we could reestablish the law of supply and demand.

I commend the subject of marketing in all its ramifications to you for consideration and action.

A marketing department, in my judgment, should be established, coordinated with the farm bureau and the county agent, both of which should be strengthened. Added authority should be given for community endeavor in solving the problems too large for the individual.

No body of men were ever convened with power to carry into effect the ideals of a people under brighter prospects than confront this legislature. The golden age for Iowa is just breaking.

Nature was in a most pleasant mood when our land was fashioned. She bounded us by two mighty rivers, here ever to be harnessed for power unlimited. She pencilled the landscape for beauty and utility. She left lake, and stream, and wooded hill, she gave forest and prairie for the pioneer, and coal to turn the wheels of industry.

Life in abundance was hid in the soil, waiting only the hand of the plowman and springtime's gentle kiss to blossom into a harvest abundant to feed a hungry world.

Here can be bullded the civilization fashioned in the image of the Maker and translated into reality by the genius of man that shall be peer and leader of all the world.

Play spots are necessary in building a permanent state. Men and women are but children grown up. Heart joys and heart aches are common to us all. Sentiment and tradition are threads that hold us steady and bring us back to the old homestead or the place of our birth.

Scattered all over the state here and there are gems of beauty in lake or wood or dell or river bank, not grand in their massiveness but pure in their simple beauty.

Let us make provision to save these for the children of the future. What the pioneer beheld in his first coming should be planted into the life of tomorrow, and out of this will grow tradition that will persuade many to stay and bid the wanderer to return to worship at their shrine.

The future Iowa is committed to you. It must be more than a bit of territory lying between two rivers. It must be more than tradition, more than what the soil can produce, more than live stock and golden waving grain, more than factories and coal mines, more than roads and transportation.

The Iowa that you vision and build should be homes and schools and churches; strong, noble men; pure women; happy, healthy boys and girls; a social system bottomed on equality, individuality, and the right to possess; a community life co-ordinated; a flow of plenty to all who work; a state loyal to the Union, with one flag and one language.

Senator Balkema moved that the joint convention be now dissolved. Motion prevailed.

HOUSE RESUMED SESSION.

Speaker McFarlane in the chair.

BILL SIGNED BY THE SPEAKER.

No committee on enrolled bills having been appointed, Harrington of Kossuth asked for unanimous consent to authorize the speaker to sign House File No. 1. It was then unanimously—

Ordered, That if the speaker is satisfied that the said bill is correctly enrolled he be authorized to sign the same, and to have the same transmitted to the Senate for signature and then to the governor.

The speaker then announced that, as speaker of the House and in the presence of the House, he had signed House File No. 1, and instructed the chief clerk to transmit same as above ordered.

The following communication was received from the board of education:

The balances remaining in the special funds of the several institutions are unusually large. This is due to the fact that it was not possible to build the buildings or make the improvements contemplated owing to the extremely high cost of material and labor brought on by the unsettled and abnormal conditions caused by the world war.

However, it is the intention of the board to make these very necessary improvements just as soon as conditions will permit.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Senator Wilson, Senate File No. 7, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section seventeen hundred fifty-four (1754), of the code, relating to combination by insurance companies.

Read first and second time and filed for future reference to committee.

By Senator Wilson, Senate File No. 8, a bill for an act to amend section fifty-seven hundred eighteen-a-twenty (5718-a-20), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the discharge of paroled prisoners.

Read first and second time and filed for future reference to committee.

By Senator Foster, Senate File No. 9, a bill for an act to repeal section 1561 of the code, relating to the placing of guide boards at cross roads and the forks of roads and to require the state highway commission to cause the various lines of highways comprising the county road system and connecting links, including the connecting streets in cities, towns and villages to be marked by some standard design, uniform throughout the state and providing for numbering, mapping and indexing said system.

By Senator Meredith, Senate File No. 10, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section ten hundred seventy-two (1072) and twenty-seven hundred forty-two (2742), supplement to the code, 1913, and in section twenty-seven hundred thirty-four-b (2734-b) supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, relating to the election, compensation and qualifications of the county superintendent.

Read first and second time and filed for future reference to committee.

By Senator Kimball, Senate File No. 11, a bill for an act amending chapter 2-a of title six of the supplement to the code, 1913, and relating to primary elections and nominations of candidates for office and the election of delegates to various party conventions and the regulation of such party conventions, the selection of committeemen, and filing of nomination papers, the preparation and form of the primary ballot and the count and canvass of the vote at such election and the certification thereof; provision for deciding a tie vote and for vacancy in nomination and for repeal of sections in conflict therewith.

Read first and second time and filed for future reference to committee.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER.

I move to reconsider the vote by which resolution for extra help and report of the committee thereon were adopted and declared to have passed the Senate.

T. C. CESSNA.

RESOLUTION ON COMMITTEE LISTS.

Senator Whitmore offered the following concurrent resolution:

Concurrent resolution directing the secretary of the Senate and clerk of the House to have printed in pamphlet form a list of the officers and standing committees of the Senate and House.

Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring:

That, following announcement of standing committees by the president of the Senate and speaker of the House, the secretary of the Senate and the clerk of the House are instructed to prepare and have printed in pamphlet form a list showing, as to each house:

1. Officers.
2. Alphabetical list of members of each house, with seat number and home county.
3. Standing committees and membership thereof, and room to which assigned.
4. Members of each house, with list of committees to which each member is assigned.
5. City addresses and telephone numbers of officers and members.
6. Committee clerks, with addresses and telephone numbers.

Such pamphlet to be approximately three by five and one-half inches in size, corresponding in general make-up to that used at the last session; eight hundred copies thereof to be promptly printed for use of the senate, and twelve hundred thereof for the House; two hundred additional copies to be bound in leather, and one copy, with his name printed thereon, to be furnished each officer and member.

Unanimous consent having been given for immediate consideration, Senator Whitmore moved that the resolution be adopted.

On the question, "Shall the resolution be adopted?" the vote was

Ayes—42.

So the resolution having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate.

ASSIGNMENT OF SEAT IN PRESS GALLERY.

The secretary assigned seat No. 58 to W. C. Jarnagin of the Iowa Farmer.

RESOLUTION ON PRINTING LEGALIZING ACTS.

Senator Foskett offered the following resolution:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, that during the Thirty-eighth General Assembly no bill for a legalizing act shall be printed in either journal, and if printed as a bill, shall be so printed at the expense of the parties interested.

Laid over under the rules.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Senator Parker, leave of absence was granted Senator Coburn for the day.

On request of Senator Taylor, leave of absence was granted Senator Mitchell for the day.

On request of Senator Foster, leave of absence was granted Senator Balkema for the day.

RESIGNATION OF ENGROSSING CLERK.

DES MOINES, IOWA, JANUARY 18, 1919.

To Lieutenant Governor E. R. Moore, President Iowa State Senate:

DEAR SIR—I hereby tender my resignation as engrossing clerk of the Thirty-eighth Assembly, to take effect as soon as my successor is appointed.

Yours respectfully,

LT. GERALD E. MILLER.

Senator Rule moved that the resignation of Lieutenant Gerald E. Miller as engrossing clerk be accepted, and that Lieutenant Harvey Ray be elected to succeed him. Motion prevailed.

MOTION TO RECONSIDER CALLED UP.

Senator Rule called up for consideration the motion filed by Senator Cessna to reconsider the vote by which the resolution for extra help and report of committee thereon was adopted by the Senate. The motion to reconsider prevailed.

Senator Wilson moved to amend the resolution relative to extra help by striking out section 10.

On the motion to amend, the vote was:

The amendment was lost.

Senator Rule offered the following motion:

MR. PRESIDENT—I move that the word "concurrent" appearing in the resolution be changed to the word "joint."

The motion prevailed.

Senator Adams moved the previous question, which motion prevailed and the previous question was ordered.

The joint resolution was read the first and second times.

The rule was suspended by which no joint resolution may be read a second and third time the same day, and the resolution was read a third time.

Senator Rule moved that the rules be suspended, the joint resolution be considered engrossed, the reading just had be considered the third reading, which motion prevailed.

On the question, "Shall the joint resolution be adopted?" the vote was,

Ayes—21.

So the joint resolution having failed to receive a constitutional majority was declared to have been lost.

Senator Evans offered the following resolution:

Whereas, by the provisions of chapter two hundred thirty-one (231) of the laws of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, the governor and attorney general were authorized to call to their aid any peace officer in the state for the purpose of rendering assistance in procuring evidence, ferretting out crime, prosecuting law violators or otherwise enforcing the law; and

Whereas, they were authorized by the terms of said chapter to expend not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) for the compensation and expense of such officers or persons.

Be It Resolved: That the governor and attorney general be and they are hereby requested to furnish to this body, a statement of the names and addresses of such peace officers or persons and the compensation paid to such peace officers or persons during the last biennium.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of such reports be printed and placed upon the desk of each senator.

Laid over.

site on the capitol ground in the city of Des Moines and authorizing and directing the executive council to remove the Allison monument to some other location, and

Whereas, The executive council had ignored the law and failed to obey the mandate of the legislature by refusing to remove the Allison monument, therefore

Be It Resolved, That the executive council is hereby directed to report to the Senate within four days the reason why they have not obeyed the law and removed the Allison monument as directed.

Passed on file.

SUBSTITUTE FOR CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Foskett offered the following resolution:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, That no bills for legalizing acts be printed in the journals of either house, but that the document editor is hereby authorized to have such bills printed in bill form to the number of two hundred fifty (250) when the cost thereof has been deposited with him at the rate of one dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per printed page, and the publication of all such bills in newspapers shall be without expense to the state.

Senator Foskett moved that this resolution be substituted for the one offered by him yesterday on the same subject and appearing in the journal on page 136. Carried.

On motion of Senator Foskett, the resolution was adopted.

Senator Evans called up the resolution on page 139 of yesterday's Journal and moved its adoption. Motion prevailed and the resolution was declared adopted.

Senator Kimball presented the following report which was ordered printed in the Journal:

REPORT OF THE RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM COMMITTEE.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

Your Committee on Retrenchment and Reform beg leave to submit the following report:

By reason of the great amount of printed matter submitted to the members of the General Assembly making it difficult for the members to read and digest it, your committee will make no extended report of their work and service during the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, and the interim between the Thirty-seventh General Assembly and the convening of this legislature.

Your committee early began an investigation of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition Commission, and after a long and painstaking examination of the accounts and the various persons having knowledge of the same it was found that records of the filing by the commission of vouchers for some of the expenditures, were lacking, and that the Executive Council had not fully audited and reported as provided by Chapter VI. of the Acts of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly the accounts and expenditures of the commission, and a resolution was duly passed by this committee recommending that the Executive Council make further investigation of the accounts of said commission and make an accounting in so far as the same have not been fully audited and that suitable investigation be made by said Executive Council of such items for which there are no proper vouchers; which resolution is hereto attached and made a part of this report, and marked Appendix A.

Your committee, by sub-committee, carefully canvassed and examined reports of the Secretary of the Executive Council, as made by the State Accountant, upon the accounts of the various officers and departments of the state. Your committee found no discrepancies in, or fault with these reports. The examination of the reports of the Secretary of the Executive Council upon the accounts of the various officers and departments of state was made with a view to the consolidation and elimination of boards, commissions and departments of the state. To this end your committee have examined the reports heretofore made and the recommendations therein contained of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform. They have also examined the reforms that were made in Illinois with a view of applying such reforms, if needed, to our own state government.

The former reports of this committee made to the Thirty-sixth General Assembly advocated sweeping changes in the form of state government. Those reports followed an elaborate investigation made by Quail-Parker and Co., of St. Paul, Minn., efficiency engineers, which involved an expense to the state of nearly $10,000.00. The proposed changes of state government were radical and bureaucratic. They were not taken seriously by the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, and passed unnoticed by the Thirty-seventh General Assembly. Your committee, therefore, deems it unwise to present any comprehensive or radical change of our state government, which, though it has defects, it has been highly successful as developed through years, and as compared with the state government of other states. A comparison of the state government of Iowa, its various boards, commissioners and officers with the government of Illinois as reduced and changed in the recent endeavor in that state to do away with useless boards leads your committee to find that the government of Iowa still has less boards and commissions than the state of Illinois.

While some rearrangement of departments and officers may be effected to the advantage of the government, as hereinafter recommended, and while it may be found as time goes on that some elimination may be made, your committee is constrained to report that the government of Iowa has been developed to meet the needs of the state and as adapted to these needs, is one of the best state governments in the Union.

We found in the examination of the reports of the various departments that salaries adopted for various officers and employees of the state have been fixed at different periods in the state's history, and are widely divergent as compared to the work and duties of such offices and employments. This is so, because the fixing of salaries is hidden in the obscure clauses of statutory provisions not often examined by legislators, making it difficult to compare the rates of compensation for the various service performed.

Pursuant to the provisions of Joint Resolution No. 15, your committee has provided additional clerical assistance for a few of the offices and departments. By reason of the war and the necessity of keeping record of fire inspection of elevators, the Fire Marshal was given slight clerical assistance. Some change of the application for funds for clerical assistance was made in the Treasurer of State's Office.

As far as possible the janitor service of the State House was all placed under the Custodian of the State House, and some errors in providing for employees of the State House were corrected.

The extra burden of war placed upon the Commissioner of Labor required a slight extra clerk hire for his department which was allowed by the committee. The secretary of state's office, by reason of the lack of sufficient appropriation for clerk hire to take care of the automobile tax business to July 1st, 1917, and July 1st, 1918, was allowed the necessary additional clerk hire for the automobile department.

The constant increase of wages and the unusual demand caused by the war for men in other lines of employment made it very difficult for the Custodian to keep the necessary state house employees at the salaries fixed by the last General Assembly. At the request of Adjutant General Lasher and the Governor, your committee ordered an increase of ten per cent to all of the state house employees on the Custodian's pay roll, and four other employees doing similar work in caring for the State House. This did not apply to the clerks and stenographers in the custodian's office. This increase of pay was allowed for a limited time, and until the present legislature shall act upon and fix the salary for the future. Your committee found that an adequate service could be kept and maintained for the state house only by making some provision for holding these employees. No distinction, however, was made between the veterans of the Civil War and the younger employees, who were likely to leave without the increase in compensation.

The increased payments for clerk hire were made from the funds appropriated for this purpose by Joint Resolution No. 15, and on orders properly made and filed in the department affected and with the Auditor of State.

Your committee found from reports from State Treasurer E. H. Hoyt that the state was losing a large amount of revenue from the collection of the collateral inheritance tax by failure of various persons in reporting the tax, and that it would be highly profitable to the state, and in the interest of justice to provide the Treasurer of State with suitable means of examining the records in the various counties, and to provide the information necessary to collect unpaid inheritance tax due the state. A sum not to exceed $3,000.00 was allowed by the committee out of the funds at its disposal to the Treasurer of State to pay the salary and expenses of a collateral inheritance tax collector. The report of the Treasurer of State hereto attached as Appendix B showing the result of the use of this fund indicates that your committee was fully warranted in making this expenditure. It is also evident that some permanent arrangement should be made for collecting this delinquent tax.

This committee should not have the function of disposing and transposing of assistants, employees and clerks, as it is administrative and not legislative; and your committee is not so in touch with the needs of the departments as to intelligently act in reference thereto. The Executive Council is the executive and administrative board of the state answerable directly to the people who elected its members. That council should have a general supervision over the departments with power to add, remove and transfer assistants and employees.

The provision that the Retrenchment and Reform Committee may provide for expenditures to a limited extent for state purposes, ad interim, is a wise one and should be maintained to meet extra needs and demands in a small way when requested by the Executive Council. Thus, the legislative function is left to a committee of the legislature while the administrative powers are properly extended. Your committee herewith attaches a detailed list of its expenditures and of the authorized use of funds for state purposes and which is marked Appendix C.

The chief difficulty your committee has found in state administration is in the lack of responsibility of some of the employees of the state to a recognized and responsible head.

We think that all janitors, caretakers and repair men of the state at Des Moines should be placed under the Adjutant-General, as Custodian of the State House and other buildings, except the Historical Building. The employees of the Historical Building should be placed under the Curator. That if any additional duties are given to the janitors it should be with the direction of these heads to whom they should be subject, and complaint of the department should be made to the Custodian or Curator as the case may be. The combining of varied duties of employees with several bosses should be abolished as far as possible.

Joint Resolution No. 15 provides that the Retrenchment and Reform Committee shall have power to reduce, eliminate or change employees of the departments from one office to another and to reduce or change the payment of such help by filing order to that effect with the department affected and with the Auditor of State.

Your committee also appointed a sub-committee to investigate and report upon the conditions of the state house with reference to danger from fire. It would appear that there is great danger of a large and substantial loss from fire in the attic over the Senate chamber, and in the law library. Lack of fire proofing over the attic of the House chamber cost the state a great loss several years ago. A similar fire might occur any time in the same class of wood work in the Senate chamber, and in the state law library. During one session of the committee in the large committee room off from the House chamber the wood floor in the vicinity of the radiator caught fire. Had this occurred in some parts of the library or wood work surrounding the Senate chamber it might have cost the state hundreds of thousands of dollars. We attach hereto the report of the sub-committee and make it a part hereof, which report is marked Appendix D.

Your committee herewith makes the following recommendations:

1. REQUIRE ADMINISTRATION OF ALL ESTATES OF DECEDENTS. The law relating to the estates of decedents should be amended so that all deceased persons leaving property in this state, whether real or personal, and all persons resident of this state at the time of their decease shall have administration of their estate in the proper county, except where otherwise unnecessary and where a petition is filed in court with notice served upon the county attorney and an order entered on hearing of said petition, that the estate does not exceed more than one thousand dollars, or does not exceed a homestead, exempt from execution, and one thousand dollars, or that the decedent left no collateral heirs inheriting any of the property of deceased. That the collateral inheritance tax law be amended by providing that the county treasurer may make investigation of the estates of all deceased persons whether in this state or a foreign state; and investigation of all lands in this state passing from the deceased person, and providing that county attorneys shall appear where any petition is filed seeking exemption from administration.

2. JANITOR SERVICE AT STATE HOUSE UNDER RESPONSIBLE HEAD. That all janitor service of the state house buildings on the capitol grounds, except the Historical Building, be placed under the immediate supervision of the Adjutant-General, as Custodian, and that all janitors of the Historical Building be placed directly under the Curator.

3. EXTEND THE POWERS OF EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OVER STATE EMPLOYEES. That the State Executive Council have general supervisory powers over the various departments of the state with power to act upon the recommendation of the head of the department as to the number of employees, their distribution from one department to another, and the increase or decrease of their salaries from time to time, not in excess of appropriations for the same, and that the Retrenchment and Reform Committee be allowed the usual emergency appropriation for emergency purposes, and for meeting such emergency compensation for employees as is recommended by the Executive Council.

4. RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM COMMITTEE TO PREPARE BUDGET OF ALL SALARIES. That all statutes fixing salaries for officers and employees of the state at Des Moines, including all employees residing or working elsewhere, but directly under the department of the state at Des Moines be repealed, and that all salaries of such state officials and employees be presented by the Retrenchment and Reform committee or other committee, in a budget at each session of the legislature, and the legislature by resolution fix the salary budget for the succeeding biennium. In this manner the legislature will be fully advised and have before it after careful comparison by a joint committee of the legislature, the salaries of the various officers and employees of the state. Thus, the comparative compensation paid to state officers and employees will not be found lurking in the recesses of forgotten and obscure statutes, but will be brought out in the open where the legislature and the people may see them and where they can be easily compared and adjusted. This will give the opportunity also to the legislature to properly reduce excessive and unfair salaries and adjust compensation in proportion to the kind and quality of service. A large number of the officers and employees of the state already have their compensation fixed in this manner. It has not resulted to any great extent, in instability or variation of compensation paid by the state.

5. ALL STATE INSPECTORS UNDER DAIRY AND FOOD COMMISSIONER AS COMMISSIONER OF INSPECTION. That all state inspectors should be placed under one head or chief as the Dairy and Food Commissioner, but that the various inspectors should have their specific and independent duties. Thus, hotel inspectors should inspect hotels, eating houses and perform allied duties, but that no attempt should be made to require the same man to inspect both hotels, weights and measures in the same place, or city. It might be well to rename the Dairy and Food Commissioner and call him Commissioner of Inspections. That the Executive Council should have general supervision over all bureaus and departments of administration with the power of determining all matters of conflict between the various departments. In this connection it is thought that hotel inspectors should work under and be responsible to the Dairy and Food Commissioner, as Commissioner of Inspections, as there is no more reason why hotel inspection should be under the board of health than should be the inspection of foods which are consumed at the hotels.

6. A SELF EXECUTING AUTOMOBILE LICENSE TAX LAW.

Your committee has given a great deal of time and investigation to the automobile license law. This committee of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly also presented extensive amendments to this law. The law has not proved satisfactory either to the legislature or to the people of the state. The Secretary of State has collected the automobile tax for Iowa at a cheaper percentage of cost per tax return than in some other states. The expense, however, of collecting the tax is by reason of the law, the kind of record kept and the unevenness of the work too expensive. The method of collection of the tax is inefficient. The evasion of the tax and delay in paying it is astounding. The tax is insufficient and the obtaining of numbers by the owner of the motor vehicle is exasperating.

The matter of enforcing the collection of the tax may be taken up in two ways; by handling the matter at the source of the tax at the secretary of state's office,<sup>1</sup> or by depending upon the failure to obtain new numbers or some insignia thereon, and leaving it to the local peace officer to catch the individual or by a combination of both of these methods. A new number plate for each year is the simplest manner of catching the tax evader, but it has very serious difficulties. One is, the cost of the plates, amounting to $87,000.00 per year. The second is that the automobile tax must be paid at a stated period in the year, creating a great peak load on the department handling the tax. The third difficulty is that it gives easy opportunity of changing the car or engine number with reference to license number, and successive plates are not easily distinguished. It has frequently been proposed that the license number remain the same, but that a cheap distinguishing character or seal be attached to the number for each successive payment of the tax. In the Thirty-sixth General Assembly the Retrenchment and Reform Committee proposed, and there was adopted, an amendment to the law providing for extending the use of number plates to three years, thereby saving $57,000.00 per year. As a result of this change under the present system of collection the state has lost a great deal of revenue and the payment of the revenue has been enormously delayed. Your committee believes that the collection of the tax after the first year should be insured by better provisions at the source of the tax collection. The picking up of cars because they are not supplied with correct numbers or insignia by the payment of the tax is a gigantic failure. It being well known that cars carrying old numbers have been run for months without notice by the local authorities. It has been suggested that numbers could be kept permanent with the provision of putting on an insignia on the number plate indicating the time of the last payment of the tax. The chief difficulty with this is that cars will constantly be robbed of this insignia because of its uniformity, unless it have stamped upon it the license number corresponding with the car which would make it expensive and difficult of detection in passing a police officer. The committee believes that either permanent numbers should be supplied with warrants issued directly to a peace officer to capture the delinquent tax vehicle and that a published list of delinquent tax numbers in the hands of every peace officer, or that we should go back to the system of new plates for each tax period. The tax paying period, however, need not be confined to one year, but could be extended to three years with privilege of assigning to purchaser the right of the license fee for the unexpired term. It is well known too, that the county attorneys are more or less unsuccessful in collecting these taxes by letter, and this committee at a meeting in July, 1917, adopted a resolution requiring the secretary of state to furnish the attorney general a list of delinquent automobile tax payers, so that the attorney general might take action to compel the county attorneys to enforce the collection of the delinquent automobile tax. It is also desirable to provide some central place at which ownership and transfer of cars can be readily recorded and investigated. This is in the prevention of theft.

Your committee will later prepare an automobile license tax bill involving the following fundamental principles:

- A. Every resident of the state owning an automobile brought into and used in the state of Iowa shall be subject to the tax and every nonresident owner using and keeping an automobile in this state the majority of the time shall be liable to the tax.

B. License tax fee to be paid to the treasurer of each county and the owner to receive on first payment a number-plate for his vehicle. The county treasurer to transmit to the secretary of state application for license, showing the license fee paid and the license number issued with vehicle or engine number, weight of car, model and name, and address of owner.

C. The secretary of state to issue to the owner a license receipt with name of owner, address, engine or vehicle number, and license number, and date of payment of tax stamped thereon by an addressograph machine.

D. The annual receipt for payment of tax to constitute a certificate of title, subject to any encumbrances of record in county of the owner. All sales and transfers of motor vehicle without transfer of certificate being void with provision of assignment of certificate to any purchaser of the vehicle.

E. Ten days before the expiration of the end of the year for which payment of license was made, an addressographed notice of the expiration of the license shall be sent to the owner of the car and if the license tax is not paid for the succeeding year a penalty will attach.

F. In five days after any license tax is due upon any vehicle, registered and licensed, the secretary of state shall send a warrant struck with the addressograph, name and address, vehicle and engine number, and the original date to the sheriff of the county where the owner resides, uses or keeps the vehicle and the sheriff shall collect the tax, penalty and costs by distress and sale if the same is not paid upon demand.

G. The sheriff to make return within five days after collection, and as to facts in cases in which the tax is not collected by reason of the vehicle not being found by the sheriff within five days after receiving the warrant, and the secretary of state shall cause to be printed a list of license numbers in their order with engine or vehicle numbers and the name and address of the last owner, which list shall be distributed to each peace officer in the state, and an additional penalty shall attach, and it shall be the duty of any peace officer finding any such numbered vehicle evading the tax to seize the same and notify the sheriff of the county of the license number, who shall immediately forward the secretary of state's warrant of distress for the collection of the tax unless the owner shall in the presence of such peace officer remit to such sheriff tax and penalty called for by such warrant and pay for the peace officer's costs.

H. The secretary of state shall supply to the treasurer of each county of the state number plates having stamped thereon IA. and the last figure of the year in which they are stamped, and as the last figure the number of the county in alphabetical order, and next, a serial number for that county that year. That the numbers shall be delivered by the county treasurer to owners of vehicles making application for license in the order of such application, endorsing on the application the license number and engine or vehicle number, the name of the owner and address. Special numbers may be supplied by the secretary of state at Des Moines for motor vehicles of less than four wheels, having the last figures to indicate the year and having serial numbers for each year. For Polk County plates shall be obtained at secretary of state's office and payment of license tax made there.

I. An account shall be kept by the secretary of state of all moneys paid for motor vehicle license tax in the various counties, together with all moneys paid at the secretary of state's office, or received in collection of the license tax. Receipts from automobile tax shall go into the road fund of the county where the owner of the motor vehicle resides or where the motor vehicle is used, or kept when owner is non resident. Such road fund to be used and disposed of as is otherwise provided by law.

J. Dealers to be given license with dealer's license number plate for one service car, and for use on new or second hand cars kept for sale, only when such cars are driven for demonstration purposes, providing a penalty for the driving of such cars for private use or hire.

K. The amount of the license tax to be computed on the basis of weight of the car instead of rated horsepower or bore of cylinder, and so graduated as to approximate a fair rate of taxation as compared with other property of equal value in the average taxing district in the state.

L. The license period shall extend from the date of the secretary of state's license receipt, as issued, until one year thereafter, and that upon the assignment of any license receipt for the purpose of transfer of the car and the payment of a small fee the secretary of state shall issue a new license receipt covering the same period as the old to the new owner of the vehicle, changing the addressograph plate therefor.

M. Providing penalties for any evasion of the license tax law or fraud practiced in the use of numbers or names in connection therewith, and providing a penalty for failure to perform any of the duties and requirements of the act.

APPENDIX A.
RESOLUTION.

Be It Resolved by the Retrenchment and Reform Committee that

WHEREAS, by Chapter 6, Acts of the 36 G. A., the Iowa Commission on the Panama Pacific International Exposition was authorized to make certain expenditures of public moneys, and

WHEREAS, by said act it was provided that such funds needed by said Commission were to be drawn from the State Treasury upon approval of the State Executive Council and that said Executive Council should audit and make an accounting and report of all such funds so drawn and expended, and

WHEREAS, questions have arisen over the expenditures of various items and the failure of the Commission to file proper vouchers for some of these expenditures, now

THEREFORE BE IT RESOLVED that upon investigation by this Committee of the expense report of 1916 of the Executive Council and of various items of expense as made in a report furnished by the Panama Pacific International Exposition Commission, this committee recommends that the State Executive Council further investigate the accounts of said commission and make an accounting and report of the funds drawn and expended by said Commission in so far as the same have not been fully audited and that suitable investigation be made by said Executive Council of such items for which there are no proper vouchers to the end that any property or funds of the State or any unexpended balances of said fund be returned to the State of Iowa, subject to the order of the Executive Council and that this resolution be embodied in the report of this committee to the legislature and that a copy thereof sent to the Executive Council.

APPENDIX B.

January 16th, 1919.

HON. CLEM F. KIMBALL, Chairman,

Retrenchment and Reform Committee.

I herewith submit a brief synopsis of a supplemental report that I am to make in connection with my regular biennial report rendered to the Governor in October 1918, and covering, briefly, the results of the experiment provided for by your Committee last August in the investigation of Collateral Inheritance Tax matters in the various Counties.

For the period from September 1, 1918, to January 10, 1919, the Field Tax Collector, or rather the Examiner, who I appointed to make the investigation, has found 195 Iowa estates, subject to the payment of Collateral Inheritance Tax, that have never been reported to this office and from which $47,000 to $48,000 has been or will be recovered, and a number of others in which the amount to be collected is at this time uncertain, but from which a considerable amount will be secured. In nearly every one of these estates the title of real estate is affected by the lien of this tax and thousands of acres of Iowa land and numerous town lots are subject to this lien. Much of the property is now in hands of innocent holders and early action will tend to making it possible to recover the tax from those who should have originally paid it.

Twenty-one foreign estates, those in which the deceased were residents of another state but died owning property in Iowa, have been found, but which has not been reported to this office, in which uncertain amounts are to be recovered.

One hundred eighty-three old cases, those that were reported prior to 1905, but have remained on the books of this office, some for over twenty years, have been investigated, facts ascertained, many dismissed as not subject to the tax, collection made in some, and others placed upon a "live" list and one on the way towards adjustment.

No effort has been made to complete the investigation in any county but particular attention to the early cases, believing that it more essential in rendering service to the property owners of the State that the old cases be first found and giving beneficiaries an opportunity to pay the tax before great sums of interest accumulate and the whole becomes too burdensome, especially to the innocent purchasers.

Investigations have been carried on but in nine Counties and in those the surface has just been scratched.

This is briefly a statement of the dividends upon the investment made by your Committee.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) E. H. Hoyt,

Treasurer of State.

APPENDIX D.

Des Moines, Iowa, Dec. 23, 1918.

To the Retrenchment and Reform Committee:

GENTLEMEN:

Your sub-committee on grounds and buildings report as follows:

We have examined the conditions of the Capitol building and find that the hazard of fire in the attics immediately over the Senate chamber and the room now occupied by the Library is such that immediate attention should be given the same.

And we would respectfully ask that a resolution be adopted by this committee and presented to the 38th General Assembly recommending that they make an appropriation for the thorough fire proofing of said attics over the wing occupied by the Senate chamber and that occupied by the Library.

We are prompted to make this request by the fact that we find that the condition of the building in the said attics today are the same as the conditions were over the House chamber in 1903 when a fire occurred and it cost the State $105,814.95, as shown by the Capitol Commission's report of 1909 on page 36, to repair the damage done. And a fire at this time in the Senate attic would be fully as expensive to the State, while should a fire occur over the Library the material damage would be just as great and it would be impossible to calculate the amount of damage that would be done in the way of destruction of books in the library.

H. I. FOSKETT,

J. W. BAILEY,

Subcommittee.

RESIGNATION OF COMMITTEE CLERK.

Des Moines, Iowa, January 22, 1919.

To Lieutenant Governor E. R. Moore:

I hereby tender my resignation as committee clerk.

Respectfully submitted,

BERTHA E. HYDE.

Resignation accepted.

VOTE ON UNITED STATES SENATOR.

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the Journal:

January 14th, 1919.

MR. PRESIDENT—I would respectfully herewith transmit to your honorable body, as required by section 1162 of the supplement to the code, 1913, an abstract of the returns of the vote cast at the general election, held in the state of Iowa, on the 5th day of November, 1918, for senator in the congress of the United States, as certified and delivered to me under seal, by the board of state canvassers.

Respectfully submitted,

W. S. ALLEN, Secretary of State.

State of Iowa, ss:

We, the undersigned board of state canvassers of the state of Iowa, do hereby certify that at the general election held on the 5th day of November, A. D. 1918, there were three hundred fifty-two thousand one hundred five (352,105) ballots cast for the office of United State senator, of which Wm. S. Kenyon received two hundred thirty thousand two hundred sixty-four (230,264) votes.

Chas. R. Keys received one hundred twenty-one thousand eight hundred thirty (121,830) votes.

Scattering received eleven (11) votes.

We therefore declare Wm. S. Kenyon duly elected to the office of United States senator for the term of six years, beginning on the 4th day of March, A. D. 1919.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands and caused to be affixed the great seal of the state of Iowa, at Des Moines, this 5th day of December, A. D. 1918.

W. L. HARDING,

Governor.

W. S. ALLEN,

Secretary of State.

F. S. SHAW,

Auditor of State.

E. H. HOYT,

Treasurer of State.

Board of State Canvassers.

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The Journal of January 21st was taken up, corrected and approved.

Senate was at ease.

Senate resumed session, Senator Parker in the chair.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

Chief Clerk Ramsay presented the following message from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

Concurrent resolution relative to the creation of a department of education.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

Concurrent resolution relative to invitation to be extended to Dr. Mott.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has concurred in the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Concurrent resolution relating to the printing of the list of officers and standing committees of the Senate and House.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

In response to an invitation, Miss Helen Frazer of England addressed the Senate on the work done by the women of her country during the war.

President Moore resumed the chair at 11:45.

HOUSE MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, the Senate Concurring:

That Whereas, Dr. John R. Mott, distinguished citizen of Iowa, and of international reputation, will be in the city of Des Moines on January 24, 1919; therefore be it resolved that an invitation be extended to Dr. Mott to address a joint session of the House and Senate at 2:15 p. m. on said date, and that the speaker and lieutenant governor be authorized as a committee to extend to him such invitation.

By unanimous consent the resolution was taken up and considered.

On motion of Senator Fellows, the Senate concurred in the resolution.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION BY WEAVER, OF POLK.

Concurrent resolution of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, urging upon congress the creation of an executive department in the government to be known as the department of education, and for the appointment of a secretary of education who shall be a member of the cabinet:

Whereas, One result of the world war has been to bring to the attention of the nation as never before, the vital function of education in the furtherance of a sound civilization and for the protection of our national life, and

Whereas, The unification of the nation's life, in the light of differences of race, language and educational facilities, requires that this great subject, second to no other in vital importance, be conceded the dignity and have the comprehensive survey and consideration that would be afforded through representation in the cabinet; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring:

First, that the congress of the United States be and the same is urged to provide by appropriate legislation for the creation of an executive department in the government to be known as the department of education, and for the appointment of a secretary of education who shall be a member of the president's cabinet.

Second, that an engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to the senators and representatives of the state of Iowa in the congress of the United States for their consideration and such action as they may deem necessary in the premises to effect the end sought.

Passed on file.

ED. M. SMITH, Chairman.

J. J. RAINBOW.

EUGENE SCHAFFER.

On motion of Senator Smith the report was adopted.

HOUSE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

On motion of Senator Foskett, the Senate took up the consideration of the House substitute for Senate concurrent resolution on the printing of legalizing acts.

HOUSE SUBSTITUTE.

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House concurring, that no bills for legalizing acts be printed in the journals of either house, but that the Document Editor is hereby authorized to have such bills printed in bill form to the number of two hundred and fifty; provided, however, that where such bills seek to legalize the acts, proceedings, ordinances or resolutions of municipal corporations in reference to the granting of franchises or privileges of any kind to, or the fixing of rates of, private corporations, individuals or partnerships or seeks to legalize the acts of any particular private corporation, individual or partnership, the cost of printing such bills at the rate of One Dollar and fifty cents ($1.50) per printed page, shall be deposited with the Document Editor, and the publication of all such bills referred to in this provision in newspapers shall be without expense to the State.

On motion of Senator Foskett, the Senate concurred in House substitute to the concurrent resolution.

ALLISON MONUMENT RESOLUTION ADOPTED.

Senator Ball called up for consideration the resolution asking for information relative to the removal of the Allison monument.

On motion of Senator Ball the resolution was adopted.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

On motion of Senator Smith, the Senate took up the consideration of the following resolution:

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring:

Whereas, the world war which has cost the lives of millions of men has come to a successful end through the united efforts of the people of this great State and Nation and also through the efforts of our gallant troops here and in Europe, many of which made the supreme sacrifice by giving their lives for the greatest cause in all history, and

Whereas, our people and thousands of our young men from this great State of Iowa are directly responsible for the triumph of democracy, and

Whereas, a great many of our soldiers have died to make the world a safe place in which to live, and

Whereas, no compensation can be made to adequately repay them for the great service they have rendered to this State and Nation, therefore

Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly of Iowa, both Houses concurring that we do hereby extend our deepest sympathy to the relatives of those who have thus willingly given their lives so that the world may be free and also that we congratulate and thank those who have so readily responded to the call of the nation, and

Be It Further Resolved, that we express our heartiest gratitude to all the people of this great State for the united efforts they have made in this the greatest of all crises, and

Be It Further Resolved that this resolution be spread upon the journal of this House and that the Secretary of State be and he is hereby directed and instructed to obtain a list of those that have died and that he mail to their relatives a certified copy of this resolution.

Senator Smith moved that the resolution be referred to a special committee of three.

Motion prevailed.

The president appointed as such committee, Senators Smith, Pitt and Broxam.

By Senator Foskett, Senate File No. 52, a bill for an act to legalize the reincorporation of the Page County Building and Loan Association of Clarinda, Page County, Iowa, and to legalize the election of officers of said association, the acts of said officers, its Board of Directors, the issuing of stock, the making of loans, and the purchase of and taking securities of said association.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on judiciary No. 1.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Holdoegel offered the following resolution:

Concurrent resolution providing for the appointment of a joint committee of three members of the Senate to be named by the president of the Senate, and three members of the House to be named by the Speaker, to fix the compensation of the officers and employees of the Senate and the House, and report their action in that connection to the general assembly.

Be it Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

That a joint committee be appointed, consisting of three members of the Senate to be appointed by the president of the Senate, and of three members of the House, to be appointed by the Speaker, to fix the compensation of the officers and employees of the Senate and the House and report the same to the general assembly for approval and action thereon.

By unanimous consent taken up considered and adopted.

The president appointed on such committee Senators Holdoegel, Fellows and Anderson.

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO CAPITOL EXTENSION LEVY.

Senator Whitmore offered the following resolution:

Calling for report from executive council as to capitol extension levy.

Be it Resolved by the Senate of the General Assembly of Iowa:

Whereas, By the acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly a tax was imposed for the purpose of capitol extension, and

Whereas, No complete report up to date has been received of the receipts and disbursements, therefore

Be it Resolved, That the executive council is respectfully requested to furnish to the Senate on or before February first, 1919, the following information:

(1) The amount actually expended for the purchase of grounds under the capitol extension act.

(2) The amount actually expended for the improvement of such grounds.

(3) The amount of cash now on hand in the capitol extension fund.

(4) The amounts received, separately, for rents, sales and all sources other than the tax levy.

(5) The amount expended for agents' commissions.

(6) The amount of ground, if any, still remaining unpurchased and not contracted for and probable cost thereof.

(7) The ground contracted for and not yet paid for, indicating the property and the amount to be paid for each piece and the total amount to be paid.

(8) The amount of interest-bearing warrants or certificates in issue under the provisions of chapter fourteen (14), acts of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly, if any outstanding and unpaid.

(9) The amount of any other outstanding indebtedness, obligation or pledge in connection with said public work.

(10) Whether there are any streets not vacated by the city of Des Moines within the capitol extension area.

(11) How much appears to the credit of the capitol grounds extension improvement fund?

(12) How much, if anything, has been realized from the sale of real estate in Governor's Square?

(13) How much of the real estate in said square has been contracted to be sold and what is the gross amount unpaid on such contracts, if any?

(14) What amount of real estate in said Governor's Square has not been sold or contracted to be sold?

(15) What amount has been annually received each year from the special tax for capitol extension?

(16) That if the council have available it furnish with its reply 200 copies of printed plat showing such grounds, blocks, lots, streets, etc.

Laid over.

By unanimous consent Senator Hale withdrew from further consideration Senate File No. 30.

CONSIDERATION OF JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 3.

The time having arrived for consideration of Joint Resolution No. 3 it was taken up and further considered.

The following amendment offered by Senator Ratcliff was taken up:

I move to amend Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 by striking out Section 4 thereof.

Senator Ratcliff asked for a roll call.

On the adoption of the amendment the vote was:

Ayes—14.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Parker called up for consideration the following resolution:

Concurrent resolution of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, urging upon congress the creation of an executive department in the government to be known as the department of education, and for the appointment of a secretary of education who shall be a member of the cabinet:

Whereas, One result of the world war has been to bring to the attention of the nation as never before, the vital function of education in the furtherance of a sound civilization and for the protection of our national life, and

Whereas, The unification of the nation's life, in the light of differences of race, language and educational facilities, requires that this great subject, second to no other in vital importance, be conceded the dignity and have the comprehensive survey and consideration that would be afforded through representation in the cabinet; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring:

First, that the congress of the United States be and the same is urged to provide by appropriate legislation for the creation of an executive department in the government to be known as the department of education, and for the appointment of a secretary of education who shall be a member of the president's cabinet.

Second, that an engrossed copy of this resolution be forwarded to the senators and representatives of the state of Iowa in the congress of the United States for their consideration and such action as they may deem necessary in the premises to effect the end sought.

President Pro Tem Arney assumed the chair at 10:50.

President Moore resumed the chair at 11:00 o'clock.

Senator Parker moved that the Senate concur in the resolution.

On the question, "Shall the resolution be concurred in?" the vote was:

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

The following message was received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has concurred in the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Concurrent resolution relative to compensation of officers and employes of the Senate and House and the Speaker appoints as members of the committee on the part of the House, Representatives Wichman, Klaus and Giltner.

W. C. RAMSAY,
Chief Clerk.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Senator LeCompte, leave of absence was granted Senator Kingland for the day.

On request of Senator Hale, leave of absence was granted Senator Haskell for the forenoon.

On request of Senator Rule, leave of absence was granted Senator White for the day.

CORRECTION OF THE JOURNAL.

The journal of January 23d was taken up, corrected and approved.

EXECUTIVE SESSION.

The president announced the receipt of a communication requiring an executive session.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, the Senate went into executive session.

The Senate arose from executive session and resumed regular session.

On motion of Senator Proudfoot, the Senate adjourned until 1:45 p. m.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment at 1:45 p. m., President Moore presiding.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint session. The Senate proceeded to the House chamber under direction of the sergeant-at-arms.

JOINT SESSION.

President of the Senate, Hon. Ernest R. Moore, in the chair.

President Moore announced a quorum present.

Williams of Pottawattamie moved that a committee of four be appointed to notify Dr. John R. Mott that the joint session was ready to receive him and to escort him to the speaker's desk. Motion prevailed and the president appointed as such committee, Representatives Williams of Pottawattamie and Beeman of Allamakee, and Senators Taylor of Buchanan and Fellows of Allamakee.

Dr. Mott was escorted to the speaker's desk. Williams of Pottawattamie, in presenting the Hon. John R. Mott, made the following remarks:

Members of the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

We are especially honored on this occasion to have with us this busy man of world activities. He represents the potential force of the young manhood of the land—those virile qualities which have been so recently demonstrated in our conflict with the Huns.

You are all familiar with the effectiveness of the "Y" forces in peace and war, under the leadership of Dr. Mott. Iowa is proud to have produced the generalissimo of this aggressive organization. Dr. Mott is one of the service stars of this great state, having grown to manhood and received his early education here. By his achievements he has added lustre and glory, not alone to this state, but he belongs to the history of the world.

It is a great pleasure to me to present to you our beloved Dr. Mott.

DR. JOHN R. MOTT.

I value more highly than I can well express the special honor of being permitted to have fellowship and intercourse of mind with this body of men of wide outlook and of proved responsiveness to the highest and deepest purposes which are moving our generation and our nation.

It has been my opportunity to visit Russia four times during the past twenty years. The first of these visits was made approximately twenty years ago. At that time I found Russia very inaccessible. I might almost say it was a closed land and a closed people. One was reminded vividly of being shut up in a stuffy room without any opening, and with the consciousness of the presence and working of deadly influences. If I had been found on a street car in the presence of five other men in conference, all of us would have been subject to arrest. Such gatherings as I then held, I held between midnight and four o'clock in the morning, in secret. It was a presumptuous thing to do, not so much because of risks which I ran for myself, as because of dangers which I incurred for others. I went away from Russia at that time with a sinking heart, honestly never expecting to live to see the day of larger liberty for the great Russian peoples.

I returned to that land about ten years later. At that time the Holy Governing Synod, for centuries the most powerful organ in that land of autocracy, was anxious to keep me from delivering my message to the students and other classes of Russia. But they had in power then Stolypin, one of the strongest of the statesmen of the old school of Russia, and he as premier was anxious that I have what we call in this country, a "square deal," and therefore, unlike my experience of ten years before, on this occasion the largest theaters and halls and government buildings in the great cities of Russia would not hold the multitudes of intellectuals and professional men and leaders of industry and of the affairs of the state, men and women who came together to listen to the discussions involving the principles that underlie the strongest civilizations. They insisted on my giving not one address or lecture, but it was never less than three, and sometimes four. And every word had to be said through interpreters. My two interpreters like myself, each one of those nights, came out of those meetings and never-to-be-forgotten experiences, completely exhausted. The police would not allow the people to get in the aisles, but in every great Russian theater there is a large area in front, something like here, and they would stand there, so that not only was every seat taken, but every standing place in those areas, right up almost touching my face, was taken by those eager Russian people. I shall not to my dying day forget those seas of Russian faces stretching out to the outer limits of those great halls. It seemed to me as my eye traveled over those faces, that every one of them seemed to bear the mark of tragedy. I fancy I am well within accuracy when I say that there was seldom one within those great crowded halls but had contemplated suicide himself, or did not belong to a family in which there had been suicide, or people subjected to banishment or harsh oppression, because they had permitted themselves to think, or to voice the deepest emotions of their hearts. Although I could not speak Russian or understand it, and half of my audience knew no English, they would throng around me in the streets, they would come to my hotel not only on the times that I had said I would meet with them and discuss matters vital to them, but at the most unheard of times likewise. They seemed to think "if we can get near this man, who has come to us with a message of hope from a land of hope, possibly we can find something that will help us in our stern adversity, and enable us to meet our impossible tasks." I went away from Russia that time, not with a sinking heart, but a bounding heart, believing that I saw the beginning of the crumbling of the great wall.

I went back there on my third visit nearly three years ago. Some of you know that, because of the gracious courtesy accorded by the two Houses some three years ago, when I spoke about the prisoners of war, for America had not entered the war. You will remember that that visit was made solely in the interest of the Russian prisoners, of whom there were then over a million languishing—Oh, what a faint word—in Germany and Austria Hungary, where I had visited them. The news of what I had been permitted to do, as an American, for the officers, soldiers and sailors who were prisoners, had traveled before me, and they could not do enough for me. That high and holy governing synod that had tried to keep me out on the occasion of my second visit, and as I have learned since, they had passed a secret resolution that I should not be permitted to return to Russia, welcomed me with open arms, and its high procurator summoned me to his palace before leaving Russia, and presented me with an illumined copy of the gospels with the highest expression of appreciation he could give, not only of personal but the national appreciation of the services we had rendered Russia in her trying hour. I left Russia then believing that I would live to see the day of the new freedom sweeping over those benighted peoples. And so it turned out.

A year after that President Wilson invited me to go as a member of the special diplomatic mission, of which Senator Root was chairman. We coursed our way slowly twice the breadth of Russia, going by the Pacific route. The revolution had come, and that old imperial train with its nine or ten beautiful blue cars that had been used for about twenty years only by the czar and his attendants, was now for the first time used for other purposes, and the members of the Root mission in the parlor car where the czar had abdicated, held our daily councils while crossing Siberian Russia, in helping to plan to bring about a co-operation between the old democracy of America, and the new democracy of Russia. We crossed the breadth of that wide land—a land that stretches nearly one-third the distance around the world, located in the belt of power where we find the other great nations such as England and France, Canada and the United States, Japan and China, a land blending the strongest strain of Europe and Asia, a land having the three most vital and conquering religions, Christianity in its three forms, the Greek Orthodox, the Roman Catholic church with its five million members there, chiefly in Poland, and the Protestant body numbering about five millions in Finland and the Baltic provinces, and that second, or what I call the second and most vital religion, the Jewish faith, for I remind you that there are more Jews in Russia than in all the rest of the world. And the third of the conquering faiths, the Mohammedan. Contrary to public opinion, there are about twenty-five millions of Moslems in Russia.

I remember when I was going to Russia on my second visit, Roosevelt was our president. I went to see him and said to him: "Mr. President, would you not like to send a message to the leaders of the coming Russia?" and he said "I certainly would." And he dictated hot from his brain, a wonderful message that I shall ever value, and which I have in my possession. It was a four page letter to the young men of Russia. In that letter he had a sentence that I could not in those days fully accept, but I understand it now with full knowledge and conviction, in which he said: "No land more than Russia holds the fate of the coming years." How prophetic! What pregnant generalization, but it is going to be felt in these immediate years before us.

I want to pause right here to say that I, with you, highly resent many of the charges that I hear regarding the Russian peoples. How superficial they are—how injurious they are, and how unpatriotic they are when we remember the prices paid by Russia as an ally. Let us track these insinuations to their sources and prevent them in these coming days. I have large charity for the Russian peoples when I remember the impossible thing they had to do. What people have you ever known or of whom have you read, who simultaneously had to deal with these four great undertakings that I shall now mention. In the first place to be involved in the greatest war of the world. Nobody disputes that Russia did that. At the time of my third visit, she had thirteen million men under arms. In the world war there were summoned to the colors sixteen millions. Three years before we saw our duty and seized it, Russia maintained a front of twelve hundred miles alone. She did not have on one side, as the splendid army of France had, Australia and Canada and New Zealand, and on the other hand the army of Italy, and our own. There she stood in splendid isolation, bearing an impossible strain, preventing the Germans reaching Paris beyond shadow of doubt, by hurling her bodies against eastern Prussia.

In the second place she not only had her share in the world war—she have never paid any such price. She not only had her full share in this war, and was fought to a stand and to a fall, but in the second place she was simultaneously engaged in the greatest political revolution of modern times. I do not at this time recall a greater in the middle ages or any other. A revolution that has already swung her from an extremely cruel—Oh, how cruel—autocracy, never to go back there, out into what? To what seems to us will some day more likely be several well-ordered democratic republics. That is a great problem, enough to engage any people. Along with that we had our hands full with the first of it.

In the third place, along with those two great undertakings, she was obliged to give herself to the great social revolution. I say no land has ever had a greater social revolution than is now convulsing Russia. Somebody said to me the other day—a council of perfection, by the way—why could not Russia put off her social revolution until she had accomplished her political revolution? Did you ever know any people that could put off their social revolution? It can no more be done than you can stop the rise and fall of the tide. With a naive simplicity which is almost tantalizing, and with a courage and a reality that put the United States, France and the others to shame, Russia has faced up to the social injustices, social negligence and social cruelties from which we still quail, and she is being condemned for it. I am not defending her practices, but I am trying to give her a greater tolerance, as we are reminded of what she was called upon to do.

This would seem to be enough, would it not? But in the fourth place, she is engaged in the greatest religious revolution that has shaken any country for centuries, a religious revolution that has already brought about a marvelous tolerance. I wonder if I am awake when I use the word "tolerance" with reference to Russia, for a day has come when the Protestant, Roman Catholic and countless other sects are on a level. Can it be that the time has come when the Roman Catholics of Poland will not be massacred more? Can it be that the Protestants of Finland are going to be able to breath and speak—and what people have been more persecuted? Can it be that the old believers and those other strange sects can now come up out of the valleys and worship God according to their own forms and convictions? That revolution is bringing about the democratization of the Russian people. I myself, and Mr. Charles R. Crane, were permitted to stand in the high chancels of the great cathedral of Moscow, two men of another faith, and witness in the most democratic fashion, the election of the high procurator of Moscow, and while we were there twelve bishops were elected by like democratic methods, and thousands of the clergy, head of the so-called western democracy. That reformation of the Russian church is bringing about its purification almost unbelievable to those of us who know Russia, and shocking scandals that you would shrink from in horror have given place to lives of holiness and right on every hand among a people that have paid prices, and they can scale up the efficiencies of the church, that has been looked upon as the most backward of churches.

I was one day invited as a layman—and it seems absurd as I think of it—to spend a day with the commission appointed to improve the training of the priesthood of the Russian Orthodox church of about twenty-five million members. I did the best I could to point them to a better day.

Now I say, what land has been simultaneously called upon to deal with four great upheaving movements of the kind I have described? Well may there spread over the American people, remembering the years that it took them to win well ordered liberty, a feeling of tolerance for the groping, misguided Russian peoples. I say "peoples" advisedly: There is more than one people. One of the most apt words I have heard about Russia was this word of a Russian: He said: "You may not understand Russia, but you must believe in Russia." Now I am free to say right here that I do not understand Russia. At the end of my first visit I had almost the audacity to write a book on Russia, but you would not draw me now on an interview. I may not understand Russia, but I want to say that I never so much believed in Russia as now. I will give you my reasons.

In the first place, because of the characteristics of the Russian peoples, taking them as a whole, and we have long since learned not to judge any people or any movement by fractions. Russian peoples have great physical vigor and vitality. Of this you are reminded on every hand from Vladivostok to the Baltic, and down to the Black Sea—a bounding vitality. Contrary to the general view, they likewise have unusual mentality. You and I are here, virtually living in a water-tight compartment with our lack of knowledge of the Russian literature, and therefore of the Russian courage and originality and germinating power of thought. They have likewise great hearts. I have visited now forty-six nations in my world travels, but the Russian peoples have impressed me as being the greatest hearted people I have ever met. I predicted in the first years of the war that Russia would be the first nation to forgive, although she has more to forgive than any other nation, unless it be Belgium or Serbia. The Russian likewise has a great religious instinct and nature. I think I may say that they are the most religious people I have ever known, excepting the British East Indies. Even an agnostic in Russia—and they have got millions of them—is more responsive to the note of reality in religion than many of the so-called believers in our religious countries. I think this is proved by every test. Why, death is a mere detail for a Russian, if it lies in his path toward an ideal. More Russian students commit suicide every year than all the rest of the world, because they think they see a light, and are ready to pay the price. They are in the dark.

That reminds me of the idealism of the Russian that has lifted them off the ground. They have exasperated the allies, many times, but our president has not lost his faith in them. How many of us have lost our patience with them? But let us remember their idealism, and along with that, let us remember their patience. Can you recall any people that have convinced you of being more patient, and with that put this great trait of their capacity for vicariousness and suffering. What people have given more proof of their ability to suffer for great causes? Now I maintain, on traits like these, there will arise to greatness in our life time, one of the great nations, or chains of nations, of the world. Of this I have no doubt.

The second ground of my confidence in the Russian peoples—notice my language, "the Russian peoples"—is the strength of the leaders with whom we were thrown while crossing that land. We were there at the time of the Kerensky regime. Kerensky was one of the great magnetic personalities and geniuses, a man about thirty-four years of age. Then there was Teresky, one of the so-called sugar kings of Russia, a man under thirty-four years, and one of their foreign ministers. Senator Root agreed with me that we had met no statesman who had impressed us more favorably. Then there is Terrachilli, another brilliant man of the cabinet, and I am free to say that in my visits to the five warring nations, I found no stronger combination than that one then in power. But what means more to me, there is the second strong man, and the third strong man was quite as strong.

A serious thing at the present moment in Russia is that other elements have come to the ascendancy, and I do not speak too strongly when I say that the brains are being dashed out of the leadership of Russia, but there are other brains behind them. You cannot dash out the brains of leadership forever. Others spring up to take their places: they have got them there in their ranks.

Another ground of my confidence that Russia will emerge—let us not lose patience, you remember that other nations were in the dark, and it took them a long time to find their feet—the third ground of my confidence is the principles of the Russian revolution. The more closely you study them, the more you will agree with me when I say that among them are the principles that led to the founding of the United States of America as a republic, and the deeper you penetrate them, the more you will agree with me when I say that the great principles of that revolution were those that led the United States itself to join the allies in the late war. Therefore, we must believe in Russia, or believe our own convictions.

That reminds me of the fourth ground of my confidence; the great ground swell of democracy which I find surging, rushing and overleaping the banks from one end of Russia to the other. The deeply moving and pathetic aspect of it was that it was not adequately prepared and not adequately ready, and it is leading to this strange, disappointing and baffling aspect, not altogether peculiar to this revolution. You will remember the French revolution, and those of other lands. I see them now like a tumultuous sea, swept by great cross currents and by conflicting winds, without true guides, and I have a heart of sympathy for them, as you and I always have for every great democratic movement that attempts to put away an evil past, with cruelty and darkness. But somebody says "how does what you are telling us square with the headlines of our papers? How do you right up your statements with what we saw a few months ago, of the crumbling and disintegrating of the Russian army when we most needed it?" Yes, I am familiar with that. I have visited those fronts. I mingled with those soldiers for seven thousand miles, twice daily; I had fellowship with them. I had my representatives among them from one end of Russia to the other, and I know that situation. And as I now tell you why the Russian army and navy crumbled, and why the people outside of the army were demoralized, ask yourself this question: What people on this earth would not have had their morale weakened if subjected to similar causes to those I am now going to mention.

The first one of these causes explaining the demoralization of the Russian peoples, including their army, was war tiredness. There is no doubt about it: Russians were tired of the war, and I am not surprised that they were. They had laid away on those marshes, and in the wide table lands of Galicia, and in the valleys and mountains of Roumania, and on the uplands of Armenia, and in the passes of the Caucasians, three million five hundred thousand of their sons, brothers and fathers. I think the death rate of the United States has been considerably less than one hundred thousand overseas, and if we counted the epidemic in its deadly work in our army camps, it would probably carry us a little past the one hundred thousand mark. Three million five hundred thousand graves! Besides that, two million more of their men—I see them now, so mutilated and maimed that they could never fight another battle. Besides that, over two millions more were sent into those infested prison camps, under those galling, grinding working mountain passes, and in Germany, Austria Hungary, Bulgaria and Turkey. You have seen in the papers in the last ten days that it is estimated a million died in those camps. That is exaggerated. But the thousands that did survive, my workers tell me, are tottering to their graves, with the seeds of disease planted in them. Emaciated, without food and clothing, very few will reach their native land as able bodied men. I am not surprised that war tiredness swept over the Russian peoples.

Another thing that explains their demoralization was the consciousness—first it crept slowly, then rapidly—of the conviction that they had been betrayed by their own government, by two if not three of their ministers. You will remember Sturmer's betrayal. I heard rumblings of that when I was there three years ago, but did not understand it entirely until the time of the Root mission. Then we learned of the order that had been passed down the lines, that no gun should be shot more than two times daily, although there was plenty of ammunition on hand. Dr. Hurd, the Red Cross doctor, who went over early and stayed until the end of the war, and came back on our government ship, told us he saw one hundred thousand go into a battle, and less than ten thousand come back. But the worst phase of it was that a great majority went into it without ammunition, and put their vigorous bodies up against shot and shell and cold steel. I resent bitterly any charge I ever hear about the lack of courage and sacrifice of the Russian soldiers. I know better.

There is a third cause explaining the demoralization of the Russian people in uniform and outside of uniform, and that is the working of the bewildering and fascinating ideas of the Russian revolution. Now I am going to ask you to do a very difficult thing; in fact, it is impossible. I am going to ask you to try to imagine this that I am now going to mention, coming to your mind with the absolutely certain knowledge that they were going to stay with you as actual experiences. Here was one of the ideals of the Russian revolution that came to those people: Light, instead of darkness. Well have the Russian people been called "dark people." Nearly 90 per cent of them are illiterate. Then suddenly noon-day sun breaks, and every peasant family knows that now my children and their children can have educational advantages.

Imagine this idea coming to you for the first time: Liberty instead of slavery. What a faint word slavery is to express the lot of the Russians before the revolution. Then suddenly they hear the shackles break and fall clanking at their feet, never to be re-formed, and the glad consciousness seizes them: "Through all the coming days we and our descendants can walk upright as free men." Imagine this third idea coming to you for the first time. We cannot imagine it here in Iowa, in this state of splendid prosperity, where there is plenty instead of adversity and poverty. What do not those two words connote to those of us who know Russia! To those of us here in comfort this afternoon, and our families back in the home towns in abundance, I remind you that not hundreds, or thousands, but millions of Russian people are starving to death. And this is not the first generation of which this has been true. Then suddenly a new hour has come; it is going to be possible for us all to have the necessities and some day possibly the luxuries. Now, my friends, you are fair and open minded. Are you surprised that ideas like this coming for the first time to a simple minded peasantry, proved to be more alluring, more absorbing, than ideas of continued slaughter and death? Would they be less than human, knowing of their starving children and the freezing members of their families, were they not played upon?

That leads me to the greatest cause of all, the masterly German propaganda. How they put the allies to shame! The day the revolution began, all the prisoners were released; the death penalty was abolished. Every policeman was dismissed. One hundred and eighty-five million people started out on a first holiday for the most of them, and they have not returned. Germany was there! Oh yes, you say, I understand she was in Finland in goodly numbers. Yes, you say, I understand she was in the Baltic provinces. She was there in great numbers. She was in Sweden ready for that day, and she was along that fighting line. I am not talking of fighting, I am talking of publicity men, and the posters, and the best trained writers and speakers that Germany had produced were there. Yes, and I say it with humility, there were hundreds there with American passports that had come via Vladivostok and Archangel from the United States of America. They were there with millions at their disposal. We estimated they were spending three million dollars a month on propaganda, and all the allies combined while we were there, were spending less than thirty thousand dollars a month. And it was masterly propaganda. They started papers; they bought up papers; they maneuvered to get control of papers and brought out masterly editions of papers and literature, translated in many dialects. I have in my office samples shot over from the trenches in those days. Not only did they use the printed page for the Russians who could read, but they also went among the workmen and soldiers, and they did a thing that the allies should have been ashamed not to have seen earlier—they recognized the psychology of the Russian people, that they liked to talk. For centuries they were obliged to keep still. Siberia has received much of its population because the people would talk. And Germany had its propagandists there. I went out one evening in one city, and we counted there within two hours something like two hundred street meetings, and little knots of people gathered here and there. Down the street another meeting held in its open square possibly fifteen hundred people. The halls we passed were crowded. That was not strange; you would see the same thing in other cities. Many the time the members of our Root mission, as we traveled the seven thousand miles each time across Russia, saw in the most remote Siberian villages these meetings, these people listening, listening, talking and debating—the most ideal field I have ever known for propaganda, and Germany was there improving it. What was Germany saying to Russia? She is still saying it: "We fought you when you had the czar, you have abolished him, now let us be brothers." Then they talked the doctrine of internationalism, the last nation to talk internationalism, but they did it with great skill and persuasiveness. Many times my interpreter repeated what they were telling the Russians: "The land is going to be divided; the great estates are going to be broken up. Get home and get your share." Every train was crowded with men going home to get their share. In my judgment Russia will stabilize. Only those who know Russia and its land hunger, centuries long, know the power of this appeal of the German propagandist. The allies have nothing to compare with it. They are saying the same thing at the peace conference in Paris.

Germany is busy in Russia today on this point: "This is a capitalist war, brought on and made possible by the millionaires of England and France, and now the United States draws near" they said.

By the way, they opposed my work for the Y. M. C. A. This is about the only criticism that I found it difficult to meet right off. As to the others, if I have the name, place or date, I can satisfy them that it is unfounded, or I can meet it. When I was in Europe I received a cablegram; this I will now mention: "The message is spread over Russia that the Y. M. C. A. is a capitalist organization." I at once communicated with Gompers and some of the socialist leaders in America, and they said that the Y. M. C. A. had kept the confidence by serving the masses of labor, and the poor as well as the rich and well-to-do. I only give it as an illustration of their insistence that this whole war and everything related to it, is a move of the capitalists, and that it is absolutely under the control of the monied powers, and they are saying it at the peace conference. They are preaching it with great adroitness. They showed me a poster which represented the slimy trenches with the Russian peasants in them, and right out in front were the beautiful Russian and Siberian wheat fields, dotted with the Russian villages and surrounded with the little children and wives, and the Russians about to leap out of the trenches to start home, and over here was Uncle Sam and John Bull saying to them, "Go back, you devils, you are not through fighting for us yet." German propoganda right up to date. Now with this permeating the eye and the ear, the understanding and the emotions, are you surprised that these illiterate masses, simple-minded and tired, longing for a new day, were deluded, disintegrated and shaken, and that because of the breakdown of the means of communication and inadequacy of the plans of the allies, with no adequate kind of propoganda, we have had this spectacle before our eyes? How much longer must it stay before our eyes?

That leads me to my final word, and that is, what should we, and what can we do for Russia? My first word is, let us do a thorough piece of work at Paris. To that end, let the whole American people busy themselves and interest themselves, and not let their interest flag, making their views known with reference to these great constructive acts of our representatives and our national leader in Paris.

My second word—I may be mistaken, but I do not think so—let us not withdraw any of those stabilizing allied forces that we now have at the two great doors of Russia, unless we want to have the massacre spread widely, unless we want to see several more hundreds of thousands of innocent people slain, and the brains dashed out of the coming leaders of Russia.

I am not in favor of a great augmentation of forces. I find myself in agreement with those with whom I have discussed this matter intimately, as to the wisdom of having just enough to serve as ruling sentinels and stabilizing influence, to help these people find themselves. I speak possibly in ignorance, but with sincerity.

My third word, and it is a strange word for me to say, let us gamble on Russia. What I mean is, it is a good deal better for us to spend a few hundreds of millions of dollars, helping Russia now, than to spend hundreds of billions helping to stabilize this world if it gets out of hand. And I am not speaking of spending vast sums on military affairs in this connection, but on helping Russia economically, on helping through the Stephens commission to help establish communications that Russia may best help itself.

That leads me to say as my fourth word, that if we want to make the great watch word of this country true, that the world shall be safe for democracy, we have got to help make the Russian democracy safe for the world. It is an idle dream to think that democracy can be born in the twinkling of an eye. There must be the process of a wise guidance, and education to make it safe. It must be informed and purified and steadied.

And then in the fifth place, let us help Russia in her sufferings. Oh, how she has suffered! Today she is stretched on a Calvary cross. Anything God will let us do to give relief—shoes, clothing, agricultural implements, and in some cases, food, we will wisely do. Senator Root sent back a cablegram when we were there that I have often thought of: "Here we find an infant class of one hundred eighty-five million people." It is very apt, and you can best move infants by way of their hearts, not so much by force as by kindness. To their dying days, the Russians will not forget what we do to relieve their sufferings. Wisely, therefore, we will back the Red Cross, we will help the Y. M. C. A., which General Graves, our chief American commander in Russia said the other day, has done more to stabilize Russia than any other forces in Russia, which has spread its network of unselfish devotion among the Japanese, Chinese, Slovaks and Russians around Archangel and Vladivostok and nearly four thousand miles across Siberia, and in ancient and holy Russia.

And finally let me reiterate as the great thing I want you to remember. If you forget everything else, we may not understand Russia, but let us believe in Russia. Some day that tumultuous sea will be calm, some day the peaceful avenues of communication will be open for the commerce and the constructive errands of the world.

Some day the conclave at Paris will adjourn, and the words "family of nations" will take on new meaning and splendor. On that day, as I think of America's problems in the far east and the near east, I prefer to have Russia as a friend at the family board. Therefore, we will believe in Russia.

Moved by Senator Taylor that the remarks of Dr. Mott be ordered printed in the journal. Motion prevailed.

Minutes of joint session were read and approved.

Wormley of Plymouth moved that the joint session be now dissolved. Motion prevailed.

Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed session.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

House File No. 5, a bill for an act to legalize a certain election of Dallas Center, Iowa.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on judiciary No. 2.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, the secretary was instructed to have substitute bills, recommended by committees, printed in the journal.

In accordance with this action substitute for Senate File No. 15 is herewith printed:

SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE FILE NO. 15.

By committee on cities and towns.

A BILL FOR AN ACT

To Repeal Section Six Hundred Seventy-four (674), Supplement to the Code, 1913, and Enacting a Substitute therefor, Relating to the Compensation of City Assessors:

Be It Enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That section six hundred seventy-four (674), Supplement to the Code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted as a substitute therefor.

SEC. 2. Town assessors and their deputies shall receive the same compensation as township assessors, which shall be determined in the same manner and payable from the county treasury. In cities of the first and second class, including special charter cities and those under the commission form of government, the compensation of the assessor shall be not more than eighteen hundred dollars ($1800.00) per annum, or not less than five dollars ($5.00) per day for the time actually employed, to be fixed by the board of supervisors; and that of the deputies not more than five ($5.00) or less than three dollars and fifty cents ($3.50) per calendar day, Sunday excepted, for the time actually employed, to be fixed by the board of supervisors: Provided, that in cities under the commission form of government having a population of more than one hundred thousand the board of supervisors may fix the compensation of the assessor not exceeding twenty-five hundred dollars ($2500.00) per annum and the compensation of not more than two head deputy assessors at not exceeding fifteen hundred dollars ($1500.00) per annum: Provided, however, that in cities where extra or special services are to be performed by the assessor the board of supervisors may by special contract with the assessor determine the compensation to be paid.

SEC. 3. This act being deemed of immediate importance, shall take effect and be in force from and after the publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, newspapers published at Des Moines, Iowa.

Read first and second times and ordered printed in the journal.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Senator Anderson, leave of absence was granted Senator Cessna for the day.

On request of Senator Wilson, leave of absence was granted Senator Evans for the day.

On request of Senator Frailey, leave of absence was granted Senator Thompson for the day.

On request of Senator Haskell, leave of absence was granted Senator Price for the day.

On request of Senator Parker, leave of absence was granted Senator Kingland for the day.

COMMUNICATION FROM SECRETARY OF STATE.

The following communication was received from the secretary of state:

To his Excellency, W. L. Harding, Governor, and the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

In accordance with the provisions of section 5 of chapter 149, acts of the Thirty-sixth General Assembly, commonly known as the "Blue Sky Law," I submit herewith a report of the amount of fees collected for the period beginning January 1, 1917, and ending on December 31, 1918, as follows:

Fees received during year 1917.....	$ 5,929.00
Fees received during year 1918.....	6,365.00
Total .....	$12,294.00

EXPENDITURES.

Salary and clerk hire, 1917.....	$ 3,458.29
Salary and clerk hire 1918.....	4,700.38
Total .....	$ 8,158.67
Postage, 1917 .....	$ 33.84
Postage, 1918 .....	54.83
Total .....	$ 88.67

Amount received above expenditures as noted above, $4,046.66.

The expenditures above noted do not include blanks, stationery, printing, and other items of this character, for the reason that the bills for such expenditures are presented to and allowed by the state board of audit—hence, it becomes difficult to ascertain the exact amount expended for this purpose. It is fair to presume, however, that this item would be in a considerable amount, so that the net receipts above expenditures would be quite materially reduced from the figures above stated.

Respectfully submitted,

W. S. ALLEN,

Secretary of State.

Senator Foskett offered the following resolution as a substitute:

SUBSTITUTE FOR HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION ON THE SUBJECT OF PRINTING THE IOWA MANUAL OF LEGISLATIVE PROCEDURE.

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring, that the secretary of the Senate and the chief clerk of the House be instructed to compile and order printed as other state printing, an edition of the Official Rules of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, with pages substantially four (4) by six and a half (6½) inches in size, containing the joint rules and the rules of each house, as adopted to date, and a plat of each house showing location of the seats of members; said edition of the rules to be in number seven hundred fifty (750) of which two hundred fifty (250) copies are to be bound in flexible leather, eighty (80) for the Senate and one hundred seventy (170) for the House, with names of members printed thereon, the remainder of the edition to be stitched and bound in paper covers for general distribution through the document department of the state.

By unanimous consent, the substitute was taken up for immediate consideration.

On motion of Senator Foskett, the substitute resolution was adopted.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your special committee to whom was referred the house resolution relative to the soldiers of the great world war submit the following as a substitute concurrent resolution and move its adoption.

Respectfully submitted,

E. M. SMITH,
M. B. PITT,
J. J. RAINBOW.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

Whereas, The great world's war is about to pass into history, therefore it is altogether fitting and proper that the Thirty-eighth General Assembly should at this time give expression to the profound gratitude and love of this commonwealth for the soldiers and sailors of Iowa, living and dead, who participated in this momentous conflict.

And yet at best, words are inadequate and futile to express the heart of Iowa to her soldier and sailor sons. Nothing that we can say here, nothing that we can do, can add to the immortality of their fame, the grandeur of their deeds, the heroic dignity that is theirs who died that this nation might live.

Their country called them and they came; she waved them onward and they died. It matters not whence they came nor what they were as men count wealth and worldly rank, their achievements are an epic whose music can never be sung, their record of invincible Americanism is more splendid than any earthly diadem. By their deeds they crystalized the loftiest worth of manhood, in their death they joined themselves to the glorious company of the world's immortals, for love of country they dared to die and dying wrote their names upon the honor roll of all the ages.

And so these sons of Iowa, cherished by loving hearts, honored by their mother commonwealth, have passed on into the mighty pantheon of our history. They are not ours any more, they belong to the ages and whatever in the years to come their lot in life may be, above them and about them, forevermore shall stand the guardian angel of the nation's gratitude and love.

By unanimous consent, the substitute resolution was taken up for immediate consideration.

On motion of Senator Smith, the substitute resolution was adopted.

REPORT OF COMMITTEE.

Senator Parker, from the committee on cities and towns, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on cities and towns to whom was referred Senate File No. 17, a bill for an act to amend Section Two Hundred Fifty-four-a-20 (254-a-20) Supplement to the Code, 1913, relating to commitments in Juvenile Courts, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows; and when so amended the bill do pass:

By eliminating the apostrophe at end of Section 2, and adding thereto the following: Such children shall be eligible to admission to the Soldiers' Orphans' Home, Davenport, Iowa, under the laws and rules applying to the admission of other children to this institution.

ADDISON M. PARKER, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Foskett, from the committee on appropriations, submitted the following report:

COMMUNICATION RELATIVE TO ALLISON MONUMENT.

The following communication was received and ordered printed in the journal:

To the Senate of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

GENTLEMEN—Replying to your resolution of January 23rd, relating to chapter 99, acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly in reference to re-location of Allison monument, in which said resolution the executive council is directed to report to said Senate why the executive council has not obeyed the law and removed the Allison monument.

Section 1 of chapter 99, acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, among other things, provides, "And the permanent location of the Allison monument is hereby left to the discretion of the executive council, and they are hereby authorized and instructed to remove same."

The executive council respectfully submits for your consideration as one of the reasons why it has followed the course which it has, that, exercising the discretion clearly and explicitly conferred upon said council in said law, it has not yet settled upon a re-location for the said Allison monument.

Further, the chapter above referred to did not go into effect until July 4th, 1917. At that time our country was engaged in war with Germany. Already thousands of Iowa citizens had joined the army and more were being called. The council felt that growing out of this war there would be a desire on the part of the citizens of the state to properly represent the heroism displayed by the men of this state in some suitable monument, commemorative of this period, and, with this thought in mind, they delayed action, feeling that the permanency of these monuments is such that when their location is established it ought to receive careful consideration and study.

The matter of the development of the capitol extension grounds is one of considerable importance from an architectural standpoint, and whatever monuments are located upon said grounds should be placed in their proper location to harmonize with the whole general scheme.

Further, the council is informed that the Allison monument was largely a gift from people residing outside of the state of Iowa. Under statute the said Allison monument was located in its present position by the Allison Memorial Commission, after consultation with the donors who reside outside of the state, and also with the late General Grenville M. Dodge, who was greatly interested in the erection of said monument and was perhaps the moving spirit in securing its placement within the borders of the state of Iowa. Up to the present time the monument has not been formally turned over to the state of Iowa, and, therefore, has not been adopted by the state of Iowa. A delicacy in this situation has presented itself to the council and we have not felt that the opinions and feelings of those who made this monument possible should be disregarded. In view of the fact that the capitol extension grounds are permanent we were of the opinion that the whole matter required further study on the part of men learned in the art of placing statuary in the most advantageous position.

We beg to assure the Senate that we have not been unmindful of the statute and that there has been no thought on the part of the executive council to ignore this measure, but felt that the statute was drawn for the very purpose of leaving to its discretion the development of the capitol extension grounds.

EXECUTIVE COUNCIL OF THE STATE OF IOWA,
By R. E. BALES, Secretary.

SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE FILE NO. 43.

Senator Proudfoot offered the following substitute for Senate File No. 43 and asked that it be printed in the journal:

HONORS TO CAPTAIN OSCAR B. NELSON.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, the following was ordered printed in the Senate journal as a public honor on behalf of the state of Iowa to the memory of Captain Oscar B. Nelson, second lieutenant of Company G (Ottumwa, Iowa), 168th Infantry (Rainbow Division), later promoted to the captaincy of Company H (Oskaloosa, Iowa) of the same regiment, and which company he was leading in a successful attack on Cote de Chattillere at the time of his death:

"Washington, D. C., January, 1919.

Office of the Adjutant General of the United States Army.

Jacob Nelson,
1706 West Second Street,
Ottumwa, Iowa.

"Dear Sir: This office has been advised by cable by the commanding general, American Expeditionary Forces, that he has awarded the distinguished service cross posthumously to your son, First Lieutenant Oscar B. Nelson, 168th Infantry, for extraordinary heroism in action at La Tuillerie farm, France, October 16, 1918. Lieutenant Nelson, alone, attacked two enemy machine guns, killing two of the enemy and capturing nineteen.

"Lieutenant Nelson is awarded a bronze oak leaf for the following act of extraordinary heroism in action at La Tuillerie farm, October 16, 1918. Accompanied by six soldiers this officer advanced 600 yards beyond his own lines through heavy fire from enemy artillery, machine guns and rifles and captured two more machine guns, killing, capturing or dispersing their crews.

"Still later in the day, he led his company in an attack on Chatillon Hill and took the objective, but in so doing received wounds which caused his death.

"His coolness, courage and utter disregard for his own safety were a source of great inspiration.

RALPH HARRISON, Adjutant General."

The following is an extract taken from a letter received by the father of Captain Nelson, from Lieutenant-Colonel Stanley of the regiment:

"After he received his mortal wound he got into a shell hole to protect himself against the enemy fire. He directed the litter bearers who came after him to remain there under cover and not expose themselves, as he realized the nature of his wound."

RESOLUTION RELATIVE TO FEDERAL SHIELD.

Senator Whitmore offered the following concurrent resolution:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

COMMUNICATION FROM THE GOVERNOR.

February 3, 1919.

To the Honorable, the President of the Senate of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

Sir—Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 was transmitted to the governor by the clerk of the enrolling committee of the Senate on February 1, 1919.

On examining Senate Joint Resolution No. 3, I find that it does not contain the enacting clause.

Article III, General Assembly, Section 1, of the Constitution, provides: "The legislative authority of this state shall be vested in a general assembly, which shall consist of a Senate and House of Representatives; and the style of every law shall be—'Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa.'"

Section 24 of Article III of the Constitution provides: "No money shall be drawn from the treasury but in consequence of appropriations made by law."

I assume that no argument is necessary to convince your honorable body that the enacting clause is necessary, and I am therefore returning Senate Joint Resolution No. 3 to you for the necessary correction.

Respectfully submitted,

W. L. HARDING,
Governor.

HOUSE MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

House concurrent resolution on telephones:

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring, that:

Whereas, By action of Postmaster General Burleson, the telephone exchanges and toll lines have been taken from private control, and placed under federal control, and

Whereas, The local exchange rates throughout the state of Iowa have been increased from twenty-five to seventy-five per cent, and

Whereas, By such increase, the federal government has violated the contract between the citizens of the various cities and towns, and the telephone companies, and, by such action, has nullified and set aside the telephone franchise of the various cities and towns of Iowa, and

Whereas, Under said federal control, the toll rates within the state of Iowa have been increased from twenty-five to one hundred per cent, and

Whereas, The telephone service, which is being rendered since the assumption of federal control, is much more inefficient than prior to its assumption, and

Whereas, The assumption of federal control and federal interference with the telephone lines operating wholly within the state of Iowa is an unwarranted interference with the rights of the citizenship of the state of Iowa, and

Whereas, Said measure was not necessary in order to further the interests of the federal government in the prosecution of the war,

Therefore, be it resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, That the United States senators and representatives in the United States Congress from Iowa, be hereby and are petitioned to use their best endeavors to secure the passage of an act, which will restore to private ownership and private control, the telephone exchanges and toll lines in the state of Iowa, or to secure from the postmaster general, an order, restoring such telephone exchanges and telephone lines to the original owners and at their original rates.

Passed on file.

House File No. 38, a bill for an act to repeal the law as it appears in section four hundred and twelve (412) of the supplement to the code, 1913, relative to the meetings of the board of supervisors.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on county and township affairs.

House concurrent resolution on railroads:

Whereas, Post-war and reconstruction conditions have brought these United States of America many problems of great import, and perhaps the one of greatest importance is the question of government ownership of the railways of the United States;

And Whereas, Our president, in his address to congress on December 2, 1918, said: "The question which causes me the greatest concern is the question of the policy to be adopted towards the railroads. I frankly turn to your counsel upon it;" and after making other statements on this subject, further says, "Let me say at once that I have no answer ready. The only thing that is perfectly clear to me is that it is not fair either to the public or to the owners of the railroads to leave the question unanswered and that it will presently become my duty to relinquish control of the roads, even before the expiration of the statutory period, unless there shall appear some clear prospect in the meantime of a legislative solution. Their release would at least produce one element of its solution, viz, certainty and a quick stimulation of private initiative";

And Whereas, Our president has turned to Congress for counsel on this momentous subject, in his keen sense of justice endeavoring to deal fairly with the owners of the railroads and protectively to the public welfare;

And Whereas, We feel that the congress of the United States will, by being informed of public sentiment, be better able to solve and direct the course of the problem, and recognizing the necessity, as expressed in the president's address, of relinquishing control of the railroads as quickly as possible, and the certainty of conditions that said release of the railroads by the federal government would immediately establish;

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate concurring, of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, that we favor the return of the railroads to their owners as soon as it can be accomplished without confusion or losses;

Be It Further Resolved, That we believe and think private ownership under strong government control and regulation, in service, income and disbursement is desirable, and we do not believe federal government ownership of railroads is for the best interest of the people at this time;

Be It Further Resolved, That the secretary of the Senate and the chief clerk of the House forward properly authenticated copies of this resolution to each United States senator and member of Congress from Iowa for their consideration.

Passed on file.

House requests return of Senate Joint Resolution No. 3.

On motion of Senator Haskell the request was granted and the resolution was returned to the House.

House File No. 36, a bill for an act to amend section seven hundred ninety-two (792) of the supplement to the code of 1913, referring to assessing cost of improvements, repavement and disposal of waste material.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on cities and towns.

House File No. 54, a bill for an act to amend section six hundred ninety-four-c3, (694-c-3), six hundred ninety-four-c5, (694-c5), and six hundred ninety four-c16 (694-c16), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, providing the method of submitting the proposition for the establishment of the municipal court, conducting the election, certifying result, appointment and election of judge or judges, clerk and bailiff, and providing the method for filling vacancies in said offices, and defining what shall constitute a vacancy.

Read first and second time.

On motion of Senator Parker, House File No. 54 and Senate File No. 44, companion bills, were referred to judiciary No. 1.

On motion of Senator Wilson, Senate File No. 58 was recalled from judiciary No. 1 and re-referred to committee on educational institutions.

Senator Balkema, from the committee on highways, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on highways, to whom was referred Senate File No. 51, a bill for an act to amend section 1570-b-2 supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the levy of taxes by township trustees for dragging purposes, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows; and when so amended the bill do pass:

Amended by striking out all of said bill after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. That the law as it appears in section one thousand five hundred seventy-b-2 (1570-b-2) Supplement to the Code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by inserting after the word "mill" in line fifty-three (53) thereof (being the second line on page five hundred seventy-two (572) of said Supplement to the Code, 1913,) a comma "," and the words "and may levy not to exceed two mills,".

N. BALKEMA, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, Senate File No. 13, a bill for an act to repeal Section Five (5) of Chapter Five of the Acts of the Thirty-Seventh General Assembly and to enact a substitute therefor, relating to the publication of the session laws, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Whitmore moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 45.

Adams	Greenell	Rainbow
Anderson	Hale	Ratcliff
Arney	Haskell	Reed
Balkema	Holdoegel	Rule

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

On motion of Senator Whitmore, Senate File No. 14, a bill for an act to amend section 879-e, Supplement to the Code, 1913, relating to powers of River Front Improvement Commission, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Whitmore moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 43.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

The time having arrived for special order, on motion of Senator Kimball, Senate File No. 11, a bill for an act amending Chapter 2-a of title six of the supplement to the code, 1913, and relating to primary elections and nominations of candidates for office and the election of delegates to various party conventions and the regulation of such party conventions, the selection of committeemen, and filing of nomination papers, the preparation and form of the primary ballot and the count and canvass of the vote at such election and the certification thereof; provision for deciding a tie vote and for vacancy in nomination and for repeal of sections in conflict therewith, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted. •

The committee amendments found in the Senate journal of January 30th were adopted.

Senator Whitmore offered the following amendment:

I move to amend Senate File No. 11 by inserting a comma after the word "governor" in line six (6), page one (1), section one (1), and inserting between the words "governor" and "and" in said line the following: "railroad commissioner".

And by inserting between lines twenty-five (25) and twenty-six (26) of section six (6), page nine (9), the following:

"For railroad commissioner
(Vote for one)

- Thomas Williams
- John Smith
- .....

Senator Wilson raised the point of order that Senator Scott was discussing the bill instead of the amendment under consideration.

President declared the point of order well taken.

Senator Foster moved that further consideration of this bill be deferred until 11:00 a. m., February 12th, 1919.

The motion was lost.

On the question, "Shall the amendment offered by Senator Whitmore be adopted?" the vote was:

Ayes, 16.

Brookhart

The amendment was lost.

Senator Kimball offered the following amendment:

I move to amend the bill by striking out the form of the ballot except as amended in lines six (6) to fifty (50) inclusive of section 6 of the bill.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Wilson moved that further consideration of the bill, Senate File No. 11, be postponed until Tuesday, February 11th, at 11 o'clock.

The motion prevailed.

On motion of Senator Kimball, further action on Senate File No. 21 was deferred to follow consideration of Senate File No. 11.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE.

The following messages was received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 62, a bill for an act making appropriation to defray expenses of the inaugural ceremonies.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 47, a bill for an act relative to establishment of drainage districts.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE MESSAGE CONSIDERED.

House File No. 47, a bill for an act to amend sections five (5) and six (6) of chapter three hundred forty-four (344) of the acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly relating to the establishment of drainage districts.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on conservation.

Senator Kimball filed the following amendment to Senate File No. 11 and asked that it be printed in the journal:

I move to amend the bill as amended by changing the word "three" to "———" in the form of the bill in the clause "(Vote for three)" immediately following the words "For Township Trustees."

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The journal of February 5th was corrected and approved.

On motion of Senator Kingland, Senate adjourned until 10:00 a. m. Friday.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER,
DES MOINES, IOWA, FEBRUARY 7, 1919.

Senate met in regular session, President Ernest R. Moore presiding.

Prayer was offered by Rev. W. C. Cole, pastor of the Capitol Hill Church of Christ, Des Moines.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Senator Hale, leave of absence was granted Senator Wilson until Monday morning.

On request of Senator Horchem, leave of absence was granted Senator Broxam for Friday and Saturday.

On request of Senator Whitmore, leave of absence was granted Senator Price for the day.

On request of Senator Whitmore, leave of absence was granted Senator Cessna for the day.

On request of Senator Rule, leave of absence was granted Senator Pitt for the day.

PETITIONS AND MEMORIALS.

Senator Taylor presented a remonstrance of citizens of Buchanan county against the repeal of the present cigarette laws.

Referred to committee on public health.

Senator Adams presented a petition of citizens of Emmet county relative to payment of fish license.

Referred to committee on fish and game.

Senator Arney presented a petition of citizens of Marshall county relative to land titles.

Referred to committee on land titles.

Senator Brookhart presented a remonstrance of citizens of Mt. Pleasant against a public utility commission.

Referred to committee on public utilities.

INTRODUCTION OF BILLS.

By Senator Kingland, Senate File No. 156, a bill for an act to amend section thirty-seven hundred four (3704) of the code, relating to the arguments of attorneys in cases on trial in the district court.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on judiciary No. 1.

By Senator Rainbow, Senate File No. 157, a bill for an act to amend chapter three hundred ninety-six (396) of the acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly, relating to the trapping of fur bearing animals.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on fish and game.

By Senator Schaffter, Senate File No. 158, a bill for an act to amend Section two-thousand seven-hundred twenty-seven-three (2727-3a) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, providing for salaries of Chief Executives of certain State Institutions.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on board of control.

By Senator Frailey, Senate File No. 159, a bill for an act to promote the general welfare of the people of this state by creating a liability on the part of employers to secure and compensate their employes and dependents, irrespective of the fault of either party, for personal injuries sustained by such employes when the same arise out of and in the course of their employment, and providing for such compensation and benefits; determining the conditions and terms under which certain employers and their employes may reject, and certain other employers and their employes may accept, the compensation provisions of this chapter; fixing the character and amount of such compensation and benefits and the manner of arriving at same, and also specifying the terms and conditions under which the same shall be paid; providing for the enforcement and administering of such compensation statute, and fixing penalties for the violation of its provisions; and repealing Chapter 8-A, Title XII, Supplement to the Code, 1913, and all acts amendatory thereof, and all other acts, or parts of acts, in conflict herewith.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on labor.

By Senator Ratcliff, Senate File No. 160, a bill for an act amending Section Two Thousand Seven Hundred Twenty-seven-3a (2727-3a) Supplemental Supplement to the Code of Iowa, 1913, relative to the salary of the chief executive officer of the Institution for Feeble Minded Children at Glenwood.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on board of control.

By Senator Byington, Senate File No. 161, a bill for an act to amend section forty-six hundred-a (4600-a) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, relative to fees of Justices of the Peace and Constables.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on county and township affairs.

By Senator Van Alstine, Senate File No. 162, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section twenty-nine hundred five (2905), of the code, and to repeal section twenty-nine hundred six (2906), of the code, enacting a substitute therefor, relative to the filing of chattel mortgages, bills of sale or other instruments affecting the title to or incumbrance of personal property and providing fees to be paid therefor, and repealing all laws or parts of laws in conflict herewith.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on judiciary No. 2.

By Senator Anderson, Senate File No. 163, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in Section Twenty-nine-hundred-B (2900-B) Supplemental Supplement to the Code 1915, permitting the carrying out of the recommendations embodied in the report of the State Highway Commission as to certain lakes.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on highways.

By Senator Whitmore, Senate File No. 164, a bill for an act to simplify legal procedure.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on judiciary No. 2.

By Senator Horchem, Senate File No. 165, a bill for an act to amend Section Two Thousand Seven Hundred Eight (2708) of the Supplement to the Code, 1913, Providing for Commitment of certain persons to State Institutions.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on board of control.

By Senator Holdoegel, Senate File No. 166, a bill for an act to amend Chapter Two-A (2-A) of Title Six (VI), Supplement to the Code, 1913, relating to primary elections and nominations for office and to amend Section One Thousand and Eighty-seven-a16 (1087-a16), Supplement to the Code, 1913, and to provide that the primary election laws, and laws relating to the nomination of candidates for office, shall apply to women the same as to men.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on elections.

By Senator Arney, Senate File No. 167, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section two thousand two hundred thirty-eight (2,238) of the code of 1897, giving to the Board of Supervisors authority to provide dental attendance and services for the poor.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on public health.

By Senator Arney, Senate File No. 168, a bill for an act providing for the establishment of dental clinics for school children and the offering of certain courses of instruction in certain schools and the employment of dentists and dental hygienists by Public School Corporations.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on public schools.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE ON ENROLLED BILLS.

Senator Schaffter, from the joint committee on enrolled bills, submitted the following report and moved its adoption:

Your Joint Committee on Enrolled bills respectfully report that they have examined and find correctly enrolled the following bill:

House File No. 13, a bill for an act to legalize a special election held at the Hawkeye School House in Huron Township, Des Moines County, Iowa, on the 19th day of June, 1918, to vote upon the proposition of organizing a Consolidated Independent School District, to be composed of parts of Huron and Yellow Springs Townships in Des Moines County, Iowa, and to legalize the said Consolidated Independent School District and to ratify and confirm the election of officers and the organization of the Board of Directors of said Consolidated Independent School District and to ratify and confirm all the acts of the said Board so elected and organized, and to legalize the special election held at said school house on the 19th day of June, 1918, for the purpose of authorizing the issue of bonds of said District in the sum of $55,000.00 for the purchase of a site for a school house and for the erection and equipping thereon of a school house and teacher's home.

Also House File No. 50, a bill for an act to legalize certain warrants and the issuance and sale of negotiable bonds funding said warrants, of the city of Sac City, Sac County, Iowa.

EUGENE SCHAFFTER,

WILL L. KING,
Chairman House Committee.

Adopted.

HOUSE FILES SIGNED.

The president announced that as president of the Senate, in the presence of the Senate he had signed House Files 13, 50 and 73.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE.

The following messages were received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 116, a bill for an act relating to pensions for police officers.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 71, a bill for an act relating to issuance of ditch warrants in connection with the drainage of highways.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 70, a bill for an act relating to changing the fund out of which certain costs shall be paid.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 37, a bill for an act legalizing certain acts of the Marcus and Amherst Cemetery Association of Cherokee County, Iowa.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has concurred in the Senate amendment to House File No. 50, a bill for an act relating to certain warrants of Sac City, Iowa.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has failed to concur in the following Concurrent Resolution in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution relative to amendment of joint rules.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE MESSAGES CONSIDERED.

House File No. 116, a bill for an act to amend Chapter 23 of the Acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly, relating to pensions for police officers.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on cities and towns.

House File No. 71, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-b seven (1989-b7), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, to provide for the issuance of ditch warrants in connection with the drainage of high-ways.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on high-ways.

House File No. 70, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-b ten (1989-b10), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, by changing the fund out of which the costs referred to in said section shall be paid.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on high-ways.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE BOARD OF CONTROL OF STATE INSTITUTIONS.

Des Moines, Iowa, February 3, 1919.

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

In compliance with the provision of Chapter 237, Acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, we have made a preliminary investigation as to the feasibility of manufacturing Portland cement in plants owned by the state and with labor furnished by the inmates of the state institutions under our control.

To James H. Lees, assistant state geologist, we are indebted for much valuable information concerning deposits of limestone and shale in the state. In his report to the Board of Control, he refers to the resources of different counties by their geological names so that they may be located on the published geologic map. Formations, which because of their character are not suitable for the making of Portland cement being ignored.

There is apparently a great quantity of raw material in the state, some of which is not available for economical use in the manufacture of cement, either because the rock and shale are not present in the same locality, stripping would be expensive, or the rock too magnesian. Professor Lees says:

"In southwestern Allamakee county, between Waukon and Postville, are interbedded shales and limestones of the Platteville formation. These beds are also present in northeastern Winneshiek county east of and at Decorah. They are overlain, where their entire thickness is present, by the Decorah shales. These are well developed at Decorah. In northeastern Clayton county the Platteville limestones and shales and also the overlying Decorah shales and Galena limestone are developed and are in places of suitable character for cement making. In Clayton county there are also extensive deposits of the Maquoketa shales, parts of which are suitable for use in cement. These shales are extensively exposed in northeastern Fayette county, as at Elgin and Clermont. The Platteville limestones are exposed along the Mississippi north of Dubuque and the Maquoketa shales are exposed in the valleys west of Dubuque, as, for instance, near Graf on Little Maquoketa river.

"Some of the Devonian limestones are suitable for cement making although in some of the northern counties the rock is too magnesian. This is true of much of the rock as exposed in Fayette, Chickasaw and Howard counties, and to some extent in Bremer, Worth and Franklin. In Mitchell county some of the limestone is of excellent quality, but there are no shales convenient of access. There is an abundance of limestone, much of it of good quality, in Floyd county, and at Rockford both the limestones of the Cedar Valley stage of the Devonian and the shales of the Lime Creek stage are well developed. These are the rocks which are used at Mason City for cement making. Cerro Gordo county is favorably situated in having both the Cedar Valley limestones and the Lime Creek shales extensively developed and close to the surface. Mason City is at the contact of these two formations and this accounts for the presence here of the two cement plants. In the counties of Butler, Black Hawk, Buchanan and Benton there are deposits of limestone, but no shales, or only thin layers. In Linn county the Cedar Valley limestones are somewhat shaly, and the Wapsipinicon beds are magnesian. The Cedar Valley limestones are well developed in Johnson county but here, as in most other counties of the Devonian area, there are no shales available. In Scott county the Cedar Valley limestones are abundant along the Mississippi river, and as there are coal mines operated near Buffalo it might be possible to use the shales of the Coal Measures in connection with the limestones. In Muscatine county also the same conditions hold good. The Cedar Valley limestones outcrop along the Mississippi while overlying them are shales known as the Sweetland Creek, and also shales of the Coal Measures are present in the county. These two counties are also within convenient distance of the Illinois coal fields.

"In the vicinity of Fort Dodge, Webster county, the limestones and marls of the St. Louis stage are well developed, as are also the overlying shales of the Coal Measures or Des Moines stage. The great difficulty here would be the amount of stripping required. Some coal is mined in the southern part of the county. At Gilmore, Pocahontas county, the St. Louis limestone is quarried and is of excellent quality for use in cement. I believe that a cement mill has been started here, though I do not know what progress has been made. The limestones of the Kinderhook and St. Louis are well exposed at Humboldt and other localities along the Des Moines river in Humboldt county. Limestones of the Kinderhook stage are present along Iowa river in northern Hardin county and east of Marshalltown in Marshall county. Some of these rocks are of excellent quality. The absence of shale deposits in the vicinity is, however, a serious drawback to their utilization. The St. Louis limestones are exposed along Des Moines river in Marion, Mahaska and Wapello counties and in some places the shales of the Des Moines stage overlie them in convenient association. A few years ago these deposits were examined near Harvey with a view to the establishment of a cement mill, but the project was never carried out. At Ottumwa also the St. Louis limestones and Des Moines shales are in close proximity and coal is easily available. In the vicinity of Burlington the shales and limestones of the Kinderhook and Osage stages are well exposed. These shales are used extensively at Hannibal, Missouri, in the manufacture of cement. Limestones are abundantly exposed at Keokuk and elsewhere along Mississippi and Des Moines rivers in Lee county while the Des Moines shales occur farther up Des Moines river in Van Buren county. In this county also the St. Louis and Osage limestones are abundantly exposed along Des Moines river and its tributaries, as at Farmington, near which small coal mines are operated, at Bentonsport, Keosauqua and elsewhere.

"The Des Moines shales are present and exposed in every county along Des Moines valley from Webster south to the Missouri line. Mention has already been made of their presence in several counties. Of course they are of value in this connection only where limestones are near enough for the two materials to be brought together. The success of the Hawkeye plant at Des Moines shows the feasibility of transporting one of these materials, and it may be said that in addition to the deposits of limestone near Earlham, Madison county, which are used in the Des Moines mill, there are in southern Madison county extensive deposits of the same rocks, the Missouri limestones. These are available along the Winterset branch of the Rock Island Railroad and along the Chicago Great Western line. The Des Moines shales are abundantly developed and are easily accessible in the vicinity of Des Moines. Their presence along the Des Moines valley below Des Moines has been mentioned previously. In south central and southwestern Iowa, while the beds of the Des Moines and Missouri stages are present, these beds are under too great a cover or are not suitable locations for their exploitation.

"The only other formation in Iowa which carries material for Portland cement making is the Cretaceous, which, as the map shows, is present over northwestern Iowa. It is not well exposed but at Grant City, near Auburn, Sac county, the shales and chinks of this system are exposed along Raccoon river and are used in making clay wares. This would probably be suitable for cement making. Shales and chinks of this system are exposed also in the bluffs of Missouri river between Sergeant Bluff, south of Sioux City, and Cedar Bluff, north of that town, and along Big Sioux river near Westfield, Plymouth county, and below Hawarden, in Sioux county. Analyses of these deposits demonstrate their suitability for cement materials but they lie under a heavy cover. Another small outcrop occurs near Le Mars, Plymouth county."

The foregoing outline is intended only to indicate in a general way the resources of the state in raw materials, suitable for cement making. Any action looking toward the establishment of a cement plant should be preceded by careful and exhaustive investigations of any localities or deposits which seem to offer the most favorable combination of conditions.

Our inquiries as to the construction and operation of a cement plant covered the following points:

1. Capacity of mill for economical operation.
2. Cost of establishing such a plant.
3. Amount of capital needed for operation and to carry accounts, etc.
4. Number of men required.
5. Estimated manufacturers' pay roll.
6. Amount of land needed.
7. Proximity to quarry.

Our information is that a cement plant for economical operation should have a capacity of not less than 3,000 barrels per day, based on 300 days' operation annually. Some operators advise a larger output. The cost of a 3,000-barrel mill including construction and equipment, purchase of quarry land, etc., based on pre-war conditions, is estimated at $2,000,000, to which should be added 50% or a total of $3,000,000, if constructed at this time. A fund of $350,000 to $500,000 would be required for operating expenses purchasing of supplies, packages, carrying accounts, stocks, etc. The equipment of a cement plant is constantly subjected to severe service, to close down is very expensive, so that it is necessary to carry duplicate parts of much of the machinery.

A mill of the capacity above indicated would employ about 300 men with a pay roll based on present scale of wages, approximating $35,000 per month.

The amount of land required would depend a great deal upon the thickness of the lime rock strata. One of the large cement companies of the state owns 600 acres of quarry land, located 35 miles from the mill from which their material must be shipped by rail. They are fortunate, however, in having a deposit of coal in close proximity to the plant. A mill should have in sight not less than 30 or 40 years' supply of raw material.

Our conclusions are: That it would not be wise for the state to engage in the manufacture of cement under present conditions. We are thoroughly convinced that the operation of a cement plant with the labor of state institutions would not be feasible. The only available source of labor would be the reformatory and penitentiary, and this labor is now fully employed in farming, other out-of-door pursuits and in the manufacture of butter tubs and furniture, in factories established by the state at the respective institutions, under working conditions which are much more favorable than would obtain in a cement mill. Furthermore, if men were available, cement making is not well adapted to prison labor:

1. It is not a healthful pursuit.
2. The workmen do not become skilled in a useful trade.
3. The discipline could not be maintained without the erection of suitable housing for the men, entailing a large investment and heavy overhead expense.
4. Educational advantages maintained at the prisons would be denied the men because of long hours of exhaustive labor.

In our opinion, it would be impossible to successfully operate a plant of this character with labor furnished by the state institutions.

Respectfully submitted,

BOARD OF CONTROL OF STATE INSTITUTIONS,

By A. M. McCOLL.

EXTRA COPIES OF SENATE FILE NO. 159.

On request of Senator Frailey, 500 extra copies of Senate File No. 159 were ordered printed.

SWENEY MEMORIAL RESOLUTION.

Senator Kingland offered the following resolution:

Whereas, Col. Joseph Henry Sweney of Osage, Mitchell County, Iowa, who was a member of the Senate in the Twentieth, Twenty-first and Twenty-second General Assemblies of Iowa, died November 11, 1918; therefore

Be It Resolved, That a committee of three be appointed to prepare a memorial fittingly to commemorate his life and services to his state and nation.

By unanimous consent the resolution was taken up, considered and adopted.

The president appointed as such committee, Senators Kingland, Buser and Horchem.

REPORTS OF COMMITTEES.

Senator Ball, from the committee on public health, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on public health, to whom was referred Senate File No. 94, a bill for an act relating to the public health, making and providing penalties for the violations of the provisions thereof, and repealing all acts in conflict herewith, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows; and when so amended the bill do pass, when approved by the appropriation committee.

That section 22 of the bill be amended by striking out the words and figures "fifteen thousand dollars ($15,000.00)" in line one thereof, and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00)."

GEORGE W. BALL, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Hale, from the committee on board of control, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on board of control, to whom was referred Senate File No. 29, a bill for an act making appropriations for the erection, repair and improvement of buildings, for appurtenances and connections thereto, for furniture, fixtures and furnishings and equipment, for the purchase of land, live stock, etc., beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be reported out with recommendation that it be referred to the appropriation committee, with recommendation that it be reported out for passage.

J. K. HALE, Chairman.

Referred to committee on appropriations.

Also:

Your committee on board of control, to whom was referred Senate File No. 88, a bill for an act to repeal the law as it appears in sections 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 7, chapter 266, Thirty-seventh General Assembly, and to repeal sections 2291-b, 2608, 2700, 5718, Supplement to the Code, 1913, 2691 and 2713, Supplemental Supplement to the Code, 1915, and to enact substitutes therefor and to amend section 2727-a85, etc., beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows:

Amend by striking out section 10 and substituting in lieu thereof as section 10 the following: "Allowance for support of state hospital and colony for epileptics. That the law as it appears in paragraph seven (7) of section twenty-seven hundred twenty-seven-a96 (2727-a96), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out the word "fifteen" in line five (5) of said paragraph and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "twenty-four;" and by striking out the word "four" in line eleven (11) of said paragraph and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "seven."

And when so amended that the bill be referred to the committee on appropriations with the recommendation that same be reported out for passage.

J. K. HALE, Chairman.

Referred to committee on appropriations.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Horchem, Senate File No. 86, a bill for an act to amend section 354-a-18 of the supplement to the Code as to the salaries of Probation officers in counties of fifty-thousand (50,000) or more in population, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following committee amendments were adopted:

In line 1, of the caption of the bill, the section number be changed to read 254-a-18, instead of 354-a-18. And that in section 1 of the bill, the section number be changed to read 254-a-18, instead of 354-a-18.

Senator Horchem offered the following amendment as a substitute for the third committee amendment:

I move to amend Senate File 86 by striking out the words "and fifty" in line four of section 1 and inserting in lieu thereof the words, "and twenty-five."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Horchem moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 43.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate.

By unanimous consent, on request of Senator Kimball, the words "of Iowa" were stricken out of line 2, Section 1, and the figures "1913," inserted in lieu thereof; also the figures "1913" were inserted following the word "Code" in the title.

The title as amended was agreed to.

BILLS SENT TO THE GOVERNOR.

Senator Schaffter, from the committee on enrolled bills, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on enrolled bills respectfully report that they have on this 8th day of February, 1919, sent to the governor for his approval, Senate File No. 62, a bill for an act making an appropriation to defray the expenses of the inaugural ceremonies.

Also:

Senate File No. 37, a bill for an act to legalize the organization, incorporation, acts, transactions, plats, deeds, conveyances, and other instruments and acts executed and done by the Marcus & Amherst Cemetery Association of Cherokee County, Iowa.

EUGENE SCHAFFTER, Chairman.

Adopted.

SENATE FILE NO. 27 WITHDRAWN.

By unanimous consent, Senator Buser withdrew Senate File No. 27 from further consideration.

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The journal of February 8th was corrected and approved. 3

Senator White moved that all papers and communications sent to the Senate by Governor Harding in the Ernest Rathbun pardon case be printed in the journal.

The motion prevailed.

On motion of Senator Kingland, Senate adjourned until 2:15 p. m. today.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President Ernest R. Moore presiding.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint session.

Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the sergeant-at-arms.

JOINT CONVENTION.

The president of the Senate was escorted to the speaker's station and the honorable members of the Senate took seats on the west side of the chamber.

President of the Senate, Hon. Ernest R. Moore, in the chair.

President Moore announced a quorum present.

Senator Price of Monroe moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Honorable Nathan E. Kendall that the joint session of the assembly was ready to receive him and to escort him to the speaker's desk. Motion prevailed and the chair appointed as such committee, Senator Price of Monroe, Giltner of Monroe and Saylor of Bremer.

Hon. Nathan E. Kendall was escorted to the speaker's desk. The committee was discharged.

In presenting the Hon. Nathan E. Kendall, President Moore made the following remarks:

Members of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, Ladies and Gentlemen:

We are gathered here today to pay a tribute of respect, of admiration, of gratitude, and of love to one of our country's great men; a devoted father, a good citizen, a self-sacrificing patriot, a capable soldier, a far-visioned statesman and a great president.

He did not represent nor voice the modern trend of that democracy that drives toward chaos, but he held ever high the practical ideals of the framers of the constitution, who, in their wisdom and almost prophetic statesmanship, formed a republic founded on representative government.

It is particularly fitting that we should pay this tribute in these days of uncertainty, and that we should pay it, not only with voice of eloquence, but with a wisdom that is born of experience and the common sense that comes direct from the great mass of an intelligent people.

Iowa, since the early days of her statehood, has held high place in achievement, and her statesmen, her leaders and her spokesmen will live in history. We may well speak with pride of the constructive statesmanship of Grimes, the stalwart patriotism of Kirkwood, the hard-headed business administrations of Gear, the transcendent oratorical ability of Dolliver, and the pre-eminent legal attainments of Cummins. Iowa's place in history is high, and her reputation is safe. Nor may we today feel that we need fall short of the ideals and standards that these men have set for us.

Today it is my privilege and my great personal pleasure to present to you, not to introduce to you, for he is known to many of you, one who once sat and labored in these halls, who presided over the deliberations in this chamber, who has spoken authoritatively in Congress, and who, of all in our state, is the greatest master of polished oratory. Permit me to present to you the Honorable N. E. Kendall of Albia.

HON. NATHAN E. KENDALL.

MR. PRESIDENT—Out of the all-pervading sadness which enshrouds our world and overburdens our hearts, we may be permitted to paraphrase the lamentation of the Psalmist upon the death of Abner:

"Know ye not that there is a prince and a great man in America."

In obedience alike to the command of duty and of desire, the General Assembly of Iowa this afternoon suspends its routine deliberations to consecrate an hour to the commemoration of Theodore Roosevelt. If the ceremonial is unusual, the occasion is extraordinary; for never before in the annals of the Republic has the translation of a private citizen involved the commonwealth of mankind in bereavement so universal and so profound.

The reasonable limitations of this observance prohibit an extended and systematic review of his crowded and complex career. Such rehearsal is the legitimate function not of the incidental eulogist, but of the discriminating biographer; and the subject itself is so vast that whoever approaches it is baffled, as though endeavoring to grasp a globe too large for the hand to obtain a hold. I shall essay the easier employment of indicating some of the outstanding achievements of the man, from which lessons of encouragement and inspiration may be deduced by his countrymen.

"Whatsoever things are true, whatsoever things are honest, whatsoever things are just, whatsoever things are pure, whatsoever things are lovely, whatsoever things are of good report, if there be any virtue or if there be any praise, think on these things."

Theodore Roosevelt was born on Manhattan Island on October 27, 1858, and died at Oyster Bay on January 6, 1919. He was descended of a splendid ancestry, devoted throughout many generations to plain living and high thinking, and in his veins there coursed the virile blood of diverse nationalities—Scotch, English, Irish, German, French, Dutch—a liberal mingling of vital strains which in every epoch since the crusades has produced men of conspicuous celebrity. He was pardonably proud of his forebears and in his autobiography, that most fascinating record of self-revelment in all our literature, he describes his parents as follows:

"My father was the best man I ever knew. He combined strength and courage with gentleness and tenderness. He would not tolerate in us children selfishness or cruelty, idleness, cowardice or untruthfulness. As we grew older he made us understand that the same standard of clean living was demanded for the boys as for the girls; that what was wrong in a woman could not be right in a man. . . . My mother was a sweet, gracious, beautiful, southern woman, a delightful companion, and beloved by everybody."

His portrayal of his father is an almost accurate delineation of himself, and his delicate compliment to his mother is as gentle and tender as anything ever written by Philip Sydney. This was the stock from which he emanated—none braver, none truer, none better, anywhere. He inherited much of the sturdiness of the Massachusetts Puritan, modified somewhat by the chivalry of the Carolina cavalier, and the admixture in composite was inevitably excellent. It may be confidently assumed that his elementary discipline was exemplary, for in his kindergarten copy-book there was inscribed on the first page:

"An honest man is the noblest work of God."

On the second:

"It is better to be faithful than to be famous."

On the third:

"Tell the truth and shame the devil."

And on the fourth:

"The part well acted—there the honor lies."

No sentiments more wholesome could be addressed to the opening intelligence of an impressible boy, and it is edifying to examine how rigidly these homely but solid maxims became the controlling creed of his subsequent life.

In 1883 he repaired to Dakota in the hope which was realized that the invigorating ozone of the western prairies might rebuild a physique naturally inferior in masculine endurance. With this infinite adaptability which he always displayed to conditions surrounding him, he became in turn scout, hunter, cowboy and ranchman; but in that primitive environment where the restrictive ordinances of cultivated society were necessarily relaxed, he never even momentarily relinquished the fundamental principles of probity and rectitude which he had so deeply absorbed in his youth. The circumstance I am about to relate occurred to him while he was on the plains of the Little Missouri, and he detailed it thirty years later in a classical exegesis delivered before the savants of the Sorbonne in Paris:

"There were no fences in the cow country when I was there. The cattle wandered free, the ownership of each being determined by its brand. If on the round-up an animal was passed by, the following year it would appear as an unbranded yearling, and was then called a maverick. By the custom of the country these mavericks were branded with the brand of the man on whose range they were found. One day I was riding the range with a newly hired cowboy, and we came upon a maverick. We roped and threw it, and the cowboy started to put on my brand. I said to him, 'It's So-and-so's maverick,' naming the man on whose range we happened to be. He answered, 'That's all right, boss, I know my business.' But I said to him, 'Hold on, you are putting on my brand, and the calf is on another man's range.' He replied, 'Oh, sure, I always put on the boss' brand.' I said to him, 'Now you go straight back to the ranch and draw what is coming to you. I won't tolerate a man who steals for me any more than I will a man who steals from me.'"

There in the isolation of the uninhabited solitude was divulged the intrinsic character of Roosevelt, which all young men everywhere and evermore may well emulate when assailed by temptation. "An honest man is the noblest work of God."

After a varied and valuable experience in the Northwest he returned to the Empire State to prosecute, as he designed, from the cloistered seclusion of his library the tranquil profession of letters which always captivated his fancy. But his associates, old and new, were alert to recognize his exceptional qualifications for the public service, and overriding his modest opposition he was appointed Police Commissioner for the Borough of the Bronx. The giant metropolis, like all her sister municipalities, was saturated with fraud, surcharged with corruption, submerged with graft, and the obstacles to respectable government appeared insuperable. The situation was discouraging enough to appall the most optimistic idealist. The magnificent, imperial city was under the unchallenged mastery of legalized vice and crime, and the servile patrolman divided with the venal politician the infected profits of the unholy combination. To renovate that Augean stable was a herculean task, but the inflexible resolution of Roosevelt never for an instant wavered. The indisputable evidence is that day in and day out, week in and week out, month in and month out, he battled with increasing zeal for decency and reform and righteousness, and never withheld his chastening hand until he had whipped the sordid plunderbund from the seats of authority, even as the Master scourged the usurers from the precincts of the temple. He was derided and reviled and abused and ostracized. His friends deserted him and his enemies threatened him, but neither could mitigate his stubborn perseverance to the resplendent end. "It is better to be faithful than to be famous." He alienated the ward heelers and the gray wolves and the birds of prey, but a sterling constituency, seeing what manner of man he was, transferred him to the Legislature.

There upon a wider theater he encountered all the subsidized emissaries of corporate privilege who had been from time immemorial dictating the enactments of a sovereign state. He fearlessly exposed the bribe-givers and the bribe-takers, the traffickers in special benefits, the hucksters in legislative favoritism, and he defeated their sinister conspiracies against the homesteads of New York in a desperate combat which he conducted almost alone. He told the truth and shamed the devil.

His prodigious and effective labor at Albany attracted the attention of President Harrison, and he was selected to administer the Civil Service which was then in irretrievable disrepute; and although in that capacity he offended a hundred thousand spoilsmen whose conception of a public office was that it was a private snap, we have the testimony of Grover Cleveland who knew beyond all peradventure whereof he spoke that "He was the fairest, squarest and ablest executive I ever saw in the discharge of a public trust."

It would be difficult to imagine more generous praise from more reliable arbiter. "The part well acted—there the honor lies."

But he was speedily designated for more important and more far-reaching responsibilities. As a subordinate Secretary in the first cabinet of the lamented McKinley he so regvanized and rejuvenated and rehabilitated our neglected navy that we became second in power on the sea, and the marvelous victories of Dewey at Manila and Schley at Santiago were logical consequences. His eager and intrepid spirit could not, however, reconcile itself to providing ships and supplying guns for other men to sail and shoot, and he organized the Rough Rider regiment for an expedition to the West Indies. San Juan, El Caney, the Cuban campaign—the deathless glory he achieved there is now embodied in the cherished treasurers of the country. He emerged from the Spanish American war with a distinction so well earned and so illustrious that he was nominated by his party as its candidate for the governorship of New York, and he was decisively elected.

In that great office he dedicated himself unreservedly to the public advantage and throughout the pregnant years of his incumbency he extorted from a reluctant general assembly a series of sumptuary, industrial and economic laws which Elihu Root affirmed were without a parallel anywhere for uprightness and efficiency and foresightedness. The vindictive bosses of his own party whom he defied fought him in session and out, with fair weapons and foul, but he operated aboveboard with the whole state for an audience, and they could not defeat the progressive programs he inaugurated. Despairing at last of confounding him at close quarters, they resorted to the artifice of tendering gifts like the fabled Greeks. They determined to relegate him to oblivion by affecting his advancement to the vice presidency in the fatuous delusion that in the vacuous dignity the invincible adversary of entrenched iniquity would be effectively silenced.

How grievously for their own unworthy schemes they miscalculated the sequence of events. In less than a year the murderous bullet of a malignant assassin elevated him to the chief magistracy, even as they were congratulating themselves upon the adroitness of their strategy. Then they predicted his ignominious failure, and exerted themselves with unremitting ingenuity to verify the prediction. The precedents in our chronology were not auspicious even of moderate success. John Tyler, Millard Fillmore, Andrew Johnson, Chester A. Arthur—neither of these had maintained in the presidency his reputation previously acquired in the congress. But of Roosevelt it is no exaggeration to assert that for seven unrivaled years he glorified the nation with a political and civic and moral leadership unprecedented in the calendar of enlightened communities. It was an era of unsurpassed prosperity at home and of unequalled prestige abroad, and he enforced an uninterrupted peace by being always equipped for a contingent war. At home our capital was safely invested at satisfactory returns, our labor was steadily employed at remunerative wages, our enterprise was constantly engaged in creative development, and everywhere beneath the flag we were enjoying the blessings of rational government, faithfully applied. Abroad we were repressing European tyranny, constructing the canal, civilizing the Orient, and demonstrating our postulates of equity and altruism before all the parliaments in Christendom. And all this under the consummate management of Theodore Roosevelt. American citizenship discovered a new significance, and derived a new consideration, for he so impressed the decadent chancelleries of the elder world that the slenderest rights of the humblest American were as secure on the remote Mediterranean as they were in the Mississippi valley. Who can forget his graphic cablegram to the Sultan of Morocco demanding the unconditional release of Perdicaris, the missionary, retained for ransom by Raisuli, the bandit chief:

"I want Perdicaris alive or Raisuli dead."

Within thirty hours Perdicaris was dismissed from captivity and restored to his family. Who was not thrilled by his peremptory warning to Hollenben, the German ambassador, on Tuesday that the Prussian menace against Venezuela must be abandoned by Thursday. On Wednesday afternoon the kaiser's formidable fleet weighed anchor and sullenly steamed for the North Sea. He said what he meant, and he meant what he said, and everybody knew it, and he only had to say it once. Of course, there were critics who professed apprehension at the urgency of his methods and the energy of his measures, but the firesides of America rendered the unanimous judgment of their approval. He was denounced as dangerous, and dangerous he was; dangerous to every form of wrong, to every type of rascality, to every species of crookedness, to every color of sedition, to every semblance of disloyalty. He was accused of insatiable ambition for his own aggrandizement, but the transparent charge contradicts itself when it is remembered that by the implied announcement of a latent willingness he could have prescribed his own preferment in 1908.

I have not attempted in this rapid and summary analysis to aggregate and estimate the service of his official life, and it is needless. As Conkling pronounced of Grant at the Chicago convention:

"His fame is born not alone of things written and things said, but of the arduous greatness of things done."

In the almost century and a third of our national existence we have had twenty-seven presidents by election or by accident, but not all of them have towered incomparably above their contemporaries. We cannot doubt that the judicious and impartial historian—the Rawlinson, the Guizot, the Macaulay, the Bancroft of the future—will admit Colonel Roosevelt as the third into full fellowship with Washington and Lincoln as the mighty triumvirate of our constitutional rulers. For him may be properly appropriated the memorable epitome of Choate at the grave of Webster:

"He produced a body of performance which was all that the first abilities of the country and time, employed with unexampled fidelity, stimulated by the loftiest patriotism, in the highest places of the state, in the presence of the nations, in the fear of God, could possibly compass."

As I said, I have not proposed to catalog the services of Roosevelt, for they are innumerable, but in passing I invite your notice to one by-product of his faculties so peculiar and so individual that it is entitled to a cursory glance. Notwithstanding his manifold activities in the practical affairs which engrossed him, no man has written since Benjamin Franklin who has added so much and so aptly to the vernacular of our common speech as he, and the pungent phrases he evolved have crystallized themselves to be accepted almost as proverbs by his countrymen. Reflect for a moment how, in imparting the advice which he was always dispensing, he enlarged the resources of our mother tongue. For instance, he taught us to beware of the "professional pacifist;" to "speak softly but carry a big stick;" to practice and exact a "square deal;" to rebuke "pussyfooting;" to discount "weasel words;" to despise the "mollycoddle;" to avoid the "Ananias club;" to help "all men up, not push some men down;" to reprobate with similar scorn the "undesirable citizen" who affiliates with the mob, and the "malefactor of great wealth" who violates the statute law.

All this and more we learned of him during his transcendent presidency, and thereby the tone and temper and tendency of American thought and soul and feeling were immeasurably uplifted and refined and fortified. He was acquainted with everybody from King Edward of Great Britain to Seth Bullock of Cottonwood Gulch, and he was concerned about everything from the location of the North Pole to the number of your children. At his own dinner table he entertained indiscriminately Prince Henry of Prussia and Booker Washington, of Tuskegee; Andrew Carnegie, the steel magnate, and Jacob Riis, the slum worker; Charles W. Elliot, the president of Harvard, and Bob Fitzsimmons, the champion of the prize ring; Cardinal Gibbons, the Catholic, Bishop Cranston, the Protestant, Oscar Strauss, the Jew, and Clarence Darrow, the atheist; and with these promiscuous visitors he discussed interchangeably with astounding facility, art, nature, science, biology, politics, literature, history, theology, botany, sociology and athletics. Champ Clark said the other day that Roosevelt knew more about more things than any man ever tabernacled in human flesh. The world has not recently seen, nor will it probably see again, so many-sided a genius. As Justice Story remarked in his encomium upon Samuel Dexter, so we say of him:

"We may well rejoice that we have lived in the same age, that we have listened to his burning eloquence, that we have been instructed by his disinterested wisdom."

On March 4, 1909, he retired from the government at Washington, saluted by the unstinted applause of the universe; the best known, the best esteemed, the best trusted man, on either hemisphere. While he was acclaimed abroad as the foremost personality of his period, the enthusiastic affection which sustained him at home amounted almost to idolatry. And throughout it all he continued unspoiled and simple; simple as all great men and great songs and great poems and great pictures are simple. Although he had attained the most exalted eminence possible to mortal man, yet from ocean to ocean and from Canada to Mexico, among the high and the low, the rich and the poor, the prominent and the obscure, he was the comrade, the compatriot, the guide, philosopher and friend of all. If he was impulsive, the people relished the spontaneity; if he was spectacular, they sanctioned the exhibition; if he was radical, they indorsed the innovation. And all this because they knew in their innermost consciousness that at the core of his being he was sweet and sane and sound. He was a shepherd who "fed his flock" like the prophet of old—fed it the gospel doctrine of integrity, of helpfulness, of fortitude, of patriotism, of justice; and he found a welcome residence in the sanctuary of a hundred million

American hearts. It is characteristic of our independent electorate that when they really love a man they distinguish him with some intimate appellation which is at once the sign and certificate of their unbounded regard. Thus, General Jackson was "Old Hickory," President Lincoln was "Uncle Abe," Senator Douglass was "The Little Giant," Mr. Blaine was "The Plumed Knight." And so throughout the length and breadth of our expansive continent where his name and his fame were household property, the great commoner, publicist, statesman, soldier and philanthropist, became familiarly "The Colonel," "T. R.," and "Teddy." There was no impropriety in this informality. Everybody united in it, and Roosevelt expected it. He was the most genuine democrat that ever lived. Nobody was displeased that the Chicago bootblack marched by his side in the procession, and nobody was surprised that the University of Oxford conferred upon him its most renowned degree.

When he voluntarily surrendered his jurisdiction to his successor, who was also his disciple, he had accomplished more than any other man since Appomattox to promote the happiness of humanity, and to enlist the gratitude of mankind. It was known that he had fought a good fight, that he had kept the faith, and it was supposed that he had finished his course. But—and I say it with a solemn reverence—the Almighty intended him for a yet greater service, indeed the greatest service of all. We cannot penetrate the inscrutable dispensations of an omniscient Father, but we do believe that there are men commissioned of God today as in the Bible time, and we do know that Roosevelt always acknowledged his allegiance to his Divine Creator. I shall not undertake to elaborate the religious convictions which supported him, but in them there was neither mystery nor uncertainty, nor skepticism. I read day before yesterday that throughout all his versatile career, whether on the frontier plains, or in the city, or in the home, or in the White House, or in the military camp, or in the far interior of Africa, he never composed himself for the night without reciting the little prayer:

"Now I lay me down to sleep,
I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to keep;
And if I die before I wake,
I pray Thee, Lord, my soul to take,"

which he had learned at his mother's knee. Providence knew this man and it preserved him for a further and a final usefulness. In all his busy, strenuous life, the finest contribution of Theodore Roosevelt to the welfare of the world was made after he renounced the prerogatives of official station, and rejoined the ranks of private citizenship. It was by illustrating in himself and by arousing in his countrymen that ancient and indomitable and unconquerable Americanism which in '76 and '12 and '61 and '98 had electrified the world with its militancy, but which had now become so thoroughly chloroformed by the heresies of internationalism that it was almost entirely destitute of vitality. Roosevelt was an American first, last and all the time—not a Scotch-American nor an English-American nor an Irish-American nor a German-American nor a French-American can nor a Dutch-American, although he was indebted to all those extractions; but a plain and unprefixed AMERICAN. He had neither envy nor jealousy nor hatred nor lingering ill-will toward any foreign land, but he loved his country primarily, secondarily and exclusively. He saw it confronted by a terrible emergency, unfaithful to its own traditions, unheedful of its own obligations, unmindful of its own destiny; and he hurried to avert the irreparable calamity which portended.

No word shall here be spoken in personal contention of partisan controversy, but a just deference to the departed dead whose lips are now forever sealed requires that the unequivocal truth be unhesitatingly proclaimed. We know now that when William the Hohenzollern ordered the invasion of Belgium he embarked upon the initial fulfillment of his mad dream for the subjugation of France, the destruction of England, and the domination of the world. We know now that for three decades the most implacable antagonist of popular government since the first Napoleon had been diligently plotting to enslave the peoples of the earth, and to establish himself as the supreme potentate of the human race. We know now that his infamous project comprehended the complete apotheosis of autocracy, and the utter annihilation of democracy. We know now that the monstrous war which he precipitated without provocation was as essentially a war against us as it was a war against Belgium, or France, or England. We know now that if in 1915 plucky Belgium had been reduced, if in 1916 beautiful France had been prostrated, if in 1917 steadfast England had been overborne, in 1918 the sanguinary emblem of the German empire would have superseded the Stars and Stripes of the American republic on the desolated streets of all our seaboard cities. We know now that it our heroic allies had been overwhelmed in Europe, the unprintable, the unspeakable, the unthinkable barbarities which from Brussels to Belgrade outstripped the malevolence of the devil himself, would have been reproduced here, and repeated and multiplied on the soil of every state in our beloved Union. We know now that in the abysmal chaos which would have accompanied that somber eclipse, the men and women and children of Columbia would have suffered precisely the same atrocious fate as the men and women and children of Louvain. We know all this now, after four years of blood and death and hell; but Roosevelt knew it even before the picket line of the Prussian marauders had crossed the Rhine. He was the first man within our broad borders, for many wracking months he was the only man, with prevision enough to perceive and with courage enough to declare that the ascendancy of Germany in the old world prefigured the subjection of America in the new. He saw this with the sagacity and the prescience of a seer, and seeing it, he exhorted the immediate mobilization of every available armament which could be utilized for our immunity. From Maine to California he upraised his clarion voice against the tremendous catastrophe of our unpreparedness which jeopardized our institutions and our liberty, and for nearly three years we rewarded him only by the impatient rejection of his counsel and the malicious impeachment of his motives. We stupidly condemned him as a firebrand, as a disturber, as an alarmist, while we supinely listened to complacent gentlemen who deprecated "nervousness" about hostilities which they insisted were "three thousand miles away." But Roosevelt was undaunted. He went unflinchingly forward with his uncompromising propaganda, and his utterances in the United States were the equivalent of an army in Flanders. More than any other man, I incline to say more than all other men, he awoke this slumbering America of ours to her impending peril and to her imperative duty. Before we entered the war and afterwards he was a cloud by day and a pillar of fire by night, summoning his indifferent countrymen to the overthrow of the hideous oligarchy which purposed the vassalage of two continents. He spoke everywhere, and his flaming philippics approximated the argument of apostolic revelation. He was filled to overflowing with patriotic fervor, and as Wirt said of Henry, arraigning despotism, "he had only to put out his hand and seize the thunderbolts of freedom as they went smoking by."

But he was a man of performance, as well as of preachment. He sought the opportunity to redeem his words on the platform by deeds in the field, and although he was denied, he sent his four stalwart sons as his blood offering to the great cause; three to survive crowned with wounds and honors, and one to remain forever where he perished in the awful conflict. He gave that which was most precious, and he gave to the uttermost, but he never bewailed. The junior Theodore, Archibald, Kermit—all strove at the battlefield where death was friendliest, and all were decorated for meritorious behavior in the stress of action. Quentin—his favorite, his youngest, his baby—fought in the upper air like an eagle, and like an eagle fighting fell. The great heart sorrowed at the loss, but the great soul exulted in the prowess. In the first chapter of the last book Roosevelt ever published, while the intensity of this tragic anguish must have been most acutely upon him, he said:

"We are fighting for our dearest rights . . . and for the dearest rights of all peoples. . . . Only those are fit to live who do not fear to die, for both life and death are a part of the same Great Adventure. . . . In America today our people are called to service and to sacrifice. . . . All of us who give service or stand ready for sacrifice are torch-bearers. . . . The torches whose flame is brightest are borne by the gallant men at the front who face their fate on the shell-shattered earth, or in the skies above, or in the waters beneath. Honor, highest honor, to those who fearlessly meet death in the Great Cause; no life is so honorable or so fruitful as such a death. . . . These are the torch-bearers who have dared the Great Adventure."

It is no extravagance to say that that sublime extract sounds like David or Isaiah or Saint Paul. It was almost the requiem message of a man who loved, better than he loved himself, his fellow men. He lived to witness the everlasting triumph of right and justice and liberty and democracy for which he so stoutly served and so sorely sacrificed, and then he died. "Now he belongs to the ages." But dead he yet shall live—live as Washington lives, as Jefferson lives, as Lincoln lives; as the choice and master spirit of his time, in the assured immortality of his majestic example.

I cannot better conclude this inadequate appreciation than by adopting the golden tribute of Mr. Secretary Lane, in my opinion the ablest man connected with the present administration. He said:

"Whatever his fame as a statesman, it can never outrun his fame as a man. However widely we may have differed from him in matters of national policy, this thing men in their hearts all wish: that their sons might have within them the will, the strength, the manliness, the Americanism, of Roosevelt. . . . Our boys for the long future will be proud that they are of his race and his country. And no surer fame can come to any man than this—to live in the hearts of the youth of his land as one whose sayings and doings they would make their own."

And this, MR. PRESIDENT and fellow citizens, we fondly believe will be the ultimate verdict of posterity upon this unique, this remarkable, this original, this phenomenal man. Men speak of monuments!

"Nothing can cover his high fame but Heaven;
No pyramids set off his memory
But the eternal substance of his greatness,
To which we leave him."

Theodore Roosevelt, hall and farewell! "The world will be lonesome without you!"

Senator Ball of Jefferson moved that the remarks of the Hon. Nathan E. Kendall be printed in the journal. Motion prevailed.

King of Hardin offered the following resolution:

RESOLUTION.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Whereas, Theodore Roosevelt, statesman, author and hero, concluding a magnificent and noble life, has sought the Great Adventure. Therefore, in view of the interests that every state and every individual has in the life and death of this citizen of the world, it is in every measure fitting that the Thirty-eighth General Assembly, speaking for the state of Iowa and for the people of that state, should in some measure recognize the splendid worth of the great American, and express not only its sorrow at the curtailment of his beneficent activities, but its satisfaction and admiration for his genius and his career.

Theodore Roosevelt was not one of those who are born to sorrow as the sparks fly upward. He was born to endeavor and the joy of endeavor; to labor and the recompense of labor; to accomplishment and the exaltation of accomplishment. Because he was typical of the energy, the striving, the indomitable will that is characteristically American, he is the great American. Typifying their strength, he has made Americans proud of their name.

Now he is one of those who return to the dust. If we do not have the warm vitality of his actual presence, still we have the fresh moulding prints of his strong hand upon the commonwealth, the inspiration of his personal heroism, the strong spur of his energy perpetuated by his pen.

As he preached, he lived, and as he preached and lived, others will endeavor to live. His monument is not of stone, having himself carved it from the world, from men who will live more nearly as he did, from the destinies of nations. He can never die so long as the world, nations, or men exist, for his heart and theirs are too closely bound.

He was that which we all would be; nothing was too great for his activities, nothing too small for his attention or his sympathies. His life actively and perceptibly bettered the world, and its peoples weep for a dear personal friend. As an apostle of righteousness, he had the genius of getting at the hearts and minds of men and had the correct intuition concerning what the people really wanted and ought to have.

He for whom the world was a field for the playing of a great and noble contest, has fared farther in knightly quest. The greatest personality of our time has gone from our midst. But he has shared his great soul with us, and we can never forget, nor ever lose him. While America endures, it will be a better America because he lived and wrought.

Unanimous consent having been granted for the immediate consideration of the resolution, Mr. King moved its adoption. Motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Larson of Cedar moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

HOUSE RESUMED SESSION.

The House reconvened, Speaker pro tempore Mantz in the chair.

On motion of Stuart of Emmet the House adjourned until 10:00 a. m. Tuesday.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The journal of February 10th was corrected and approved.

On motion of Senator Rule, rule 33 was suspended for the day.

President pro tem Arney was called to the chair at 11:57.

COMMUNICATION FROM THE SECRETARY OF STATE.

The following communication was received from the secretary of state:

To the Senate and House of Representatives of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

A joint resolution was passed by the Thirty-seventh General Assembly proposing an amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa, by repealing Section 1 of Article 2 of said constitution and the enactment and adoption of a substitute therefor, relating to the right of suffrage, and such proposed amendment be referred to the next general assembly, and that notice thereof be made by publication for three months prior to the time of the election of members of the present general assembly.

This is to inform your honorable body that such publication, as well as other legislative matters referred to this department, were entrusted to one of the most careful employes of the office of the secretary of state, but owing to an oversight of his, the publication of notice of said proposed amendment was not given.

On account of other exacting official duties and the attention necessarily given to subjects connected with the war crisis during the past two years, the omission of publication was not discovered until it was called to my attention after the general election in November, 1918.

It is said that "It is only human to err," and this mistake, which I most deeply regret, is only another instance to confirm the truism, and for its occurrence I can only ask the kind consideration of your honorable body.

I will add that the intensity of my regret is relieved to some extent by the fact that no one, within or without the state, has ever questioned, on account of this error, the good intention or honesty of motive, of anyone connected with this office.

Respectfully submitted, by

W. S. ALLEN,

Secretary of State.

Referred to committee on constitutional amendments.

SPECIAL ORDER, SENATE FILE NO. 11.

The time having arrived for consideration of Special Order No. 1, Senate File No. 11, Senator Kimball proposed the following amendment previously filed by him, and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the bill as amended by changing the word "three" to "_____" in the form of the bill in the clause "(Vote for three)" immediately following the words "For Township Trustees."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Greenell offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I hereby amend the bill as amended by substituting for the word "chairman" in line 27 of section 4 the word "committee."

Also by substituting for the word "seven" in line 9 of section 12 the word "ten."

The amendments were adopted.

Senator Buser offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 11 by striking the last sentence from Section twelve and substituting therefor the following:

"In no case shall a county convention make a nomination for an office of a political party designated on the primary ballot for which no person has filed nomination papers as provided in section four of this act, except when there is a vacancy occurring after the time for filing of nomination papers for such primary."

Senator Byington offered the following substitute for the pending amendment and moved its adoption:

"I move to strike out the last sentence of section twelve (12)."

On the question, "Shall the amendment offered by Senator Byington be substituted for the amendment offered by Senator Buser?" the vote was:

Ayes, 11.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

On motion of Senator Ball, Senate File No. 42, a bill for an act to amend section sixteen hundred fifty-two-d (1652-d) Supplement Code, 1913, relating to extinct churches, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

On motion of Senator Ball, the following committee amendments were adopted:

Amend by striking out Paragraph 2 of Section 1 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

By striking out the word "only" where it appears in line seven (7) of the Supplement and substituting in lieu thereof the word "the." Also by inserting between the words "fund" and "except" in line nine (9) thereof the words "for not less than five years," and by adding at the end of said section the following:

By unanimous consent the words "the Supplement" were stricken out of line 2 in paragraph 2 of section 1.

And the words "said section" were inserted in lieu thereof.

SPECIAL ORDERS.

On motion of Senator Kimball, further consideration of Senate File No. 42 was postponed until Thursday morning at 10:30.

On motion of Senator Kimball, Senate File No. 21 was made a special order for Friday at 10:30.

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The journal of February 11th was corrected and approved.

IN MEMORY OF ABRAHAM LINCOLN.

In commemoration of the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, his famous Gettysburg address was read before the Senate, and on request of Senator Proudfoot, by unanimous consent, the address was ordered printed in the journal.

LINCOLN'S ADDRESS AT GETTYSBURG.

November 19, 1863.

Four score and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent, a new nation, conceived in Liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal.

Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met on a great battle-field of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field, as a final resting place for those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this.

But, in a larger sense, we can not dedicate—we can not consecrate—we can not hallow—this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note, nor long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly advanced. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us—that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion—that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain—that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom—and that government of the people, by the people, for the people, shall not perish from the earth.

RESIGNATION OF COMMITTEE CLERK.

THE RATHBUN PARDON.

The following exhibits filed by his excellency, the governor of Iowa, in the matter of the pardon of Ernest Rathbun, of Ida Grove, Iowa, is reprinted by vote of the Senate:

EXHIBIT "B."

IN THE MATTER OF THE COMMUTATION OF THE SENTENCE AGAINST ERNEST

RATHBUN.

To the Honorable W. L. Harding, Governor of the State of Iowa:

I, M. E. Hutchison, judge of the district court of the state of Iowa, for Ida county, and for the sixteenth judicial district, do hereby certify:

That I was the presiding judge at the trial, State of Iowa vs. Ernest Rathbun, and as said judge pronounced sentence upon the defendant, Ernest Rathbun, subsequent to the verdict of the jury finding said defendant guilty; that said sentence so pronounced by me was in accord with the provisions of the indeterminate sentence law of the state of Iowa, said law taking it out of the power of the court to fix other than the maximum sentence.

That taking into consideration the circumstances and the evidence introduced upon the trial, and the record there made, I consider that the life sentence imposed by me as judge of said court is too severe, and would recommend that said sentence be commuted to a period at the discretion of your honor, based upon an abstract of the record which will be filed with you.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) M. E. HUTCHISON,
Judge of the District Court of Iowa, in and for Ida County.

EXHIBIT "C."

IN THE MATTER OF THE COMMUTATION OF THE SENTENCE AGAINST ERNEST

RATHBUN.

To the Honorable W. L. Harding, Governor of the State of Iowa:

I, J. A. Murphy, do hereby certify that I am a member of the firm, Murphy Bros., attorneys at law, with offices located at Ida Grove, Iowa, said firm consisting of myself and my brother, Raymond Murphy.

That the said Raymond Murphy is a duly elected and qualified county attorney of Ida county, state of Iowa, and is now in the military service of the United States.

That subsequent to his entry in the service I was duly appointed assistant county attorney and duly qualified.

That at the time of the trial of the cause, State of Iowa vs. Ernest Rathbun, I was such assistant county attorney, took charge of the affairs and business of that office, and was in charge of the prosecution of said cause as attorney for the state.

That taking into consideration the circumstances and the evidence introduced upon the trial, and the record there made, I consider that the life sentence imposed by the court under the indeterminate sentence law of the state is too severe, and as such attorney would recommend that said sentence be commuted to a period at the discretion of your honor, based upon an abstract of the record which will be filed with you.

Respectfully submitted,

(Signed) J. A. MURPHY,

Assistant County Attorney, Ida County, Iowa.

EXHIBIT "D."

APPLICATION FOR PARDON.

To the Honorable W. L. Harding, Governor of the State of Iowa:

Comes now Ernest Rathbun and petitions your honor to grant him a pardon from the sentence imposed by the Judge of the district court of Iowa, for Ida county, on a verdict rendered by a jury at the November term of said court for the year 1917, said verdict being "guilty" of the crime charged in the cause, State of Iowa, plaintiff, vs. Ernest Rathbun, defendant, and for reasons states:

That at the time this crime is alleged to have been committed by this applicant he was but twenty years of age, born and raised upon a farm in Ida county, Iowa, and was then residing with his parents upon said farm; that the family to which he belongs is a pioneer family of the county of Ida, state of Iowa, and this applicant has at all times maintained a good reputation until this occurrence, which was caused by his getting into bad company, and imprudent acts and conduct of the prosecuting witness and her companion.

STATEMENT OF FACTS.

That about nine o'clock in the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917, the prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, who is a German girl eighteen years of age, with her companion, Ida Knudsen (both residents of Ida Grove, Iowa), were walking on the sidewalk on their way to the post-office in Ida Grove, Iowa, and at that time saw an enclosed automobile being driven north on the main street of said city. According to their evidence they say this is the first time we saw this automobile, we then proceeded to the postoffice, got our mail, then went south from the post-office to the first corner and on our way saw this automobile driven slowly in the same direction we were going, we waited on the corner until the automobile came up and the occupants, consisting of this applicant and his companion, asked us to get in, which we did informing them as we were getting in that we had to get home within a half hour and not to leave the pavement.

That the automobile was enclosed and they did not know the occupants; that they drove about the city going off the pavement as they entered old town, a resident populated part of the city extending a distance of about six blocks; that while driving through this populated part of the city there was no protest or objections made by the prosecuting witness or her companion. They continued to drive away from the city proper until they came to the cemetery, about one mile and a half from the city, at which place they stopped. The prosecuting witness and her companion got out and endeavored to crank the car, but failing in this they started walking toward town. The occupants of the car got it started, turned around, and overtook the girls, asking them to get in, which they did. The car was then driven west upon a well-populated street of the city for a distance of two blocks, then in a north-easterly direction to a bridge crossing the Maple river, thence into a lane. That while so driving the prosecuting witness or her companion made no protest or objection. At a short distance into said lane the car stopped and the girls requested the boys to start it but the boys said nothing. Ida Knudsen, who was still sitting in the back seat with this applicant, got out and started home; she went from this point about four blocks through a well-populated part of the city to the Martin Sauer garage. That after arriving at said garage she had a conversation with J. M. Sauer and Dr. Lyon, requesting them to take her home, telling them that her companion, Elsie Hargens, had been "kidnapped," describing where she was. They took the girl home and immediately went to the place she described, but found no one there. Ida Knudson arrived home at nine thirty o'clock that evening, just one-half hour from the time she got into the car near the postoffice.

Elsie Hargens claims in her evidence that subsequent to the stopping of the car in the lane, and subsequent to her companion's departure, the boys took her out of the car, laid her upon the ground, and had sexual intercourse with her by force and against her will, and all the time she was struggling and screaming. That when the boys had completed the sexual intercourse she got up, looked for her hat, one of the boys handed it to her and as she reached for it, it dropped to the ground, one of the boys saying, "I did not mean to drop it." That during all the time the boys were having sexual intercourse with her she knew what they were doing, what was said by them, was conscious at all times, and walked home, arriving there at ten o'clock p. m., just one hour from the time she got in the automobile near the postoffice.

ABSTRACT OF EVIDENCE.

Cross-examination of Elsie Hargens:

"I left the postoffice that evening at five minutes after nine and went right to the corner above the postoffice where we got into the automobile; it was a Ford enclosed."

Q. Now at the time you got into the car did you know these boys?

A. No sir.

Q. You say one of them got out of the car to assist you ladies in?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You didn't know the boys when they were having intercourse with you?

A. No sir.

Q. When was the first time you had made up your mind that it was Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara?

A. The day they were up in the court house.

Q. That was the day the boys came up to be arraigned?

A. Yes sir.

Q. The same day that Mr. Johnston told you girls to be up there, and pointed the boys out to you?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You never remember seeing these boys before?

A. No sir.

Q. You say you tried to crank the car?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you try very hard?

A. No sir.

Q. You just took hold and you were joking with the boys and was trying to crank it?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You were feeling all right at that time?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You and the boys were having a good time, good social time, wasn't you, that is right, isn't it, Miss Hargens?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Then you went on down to the bridge?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You didn't at that time know either of the boys?

A. No sir.

When I started home I crossed the bridge, went east, came down the first avenue in the old town, across the railroad track, went on east side of Main street, crossed at the Baxter bank, past the postoffice.

Q. Did you stop at the postoffice?

A. No sir.

Q. Who did you meet between the Baxter bank and the postoffice?

A. Didn't meet anybody there at all.

Q. Now on the night of the 4th day of November, 1917, did you not meet a young man between the postoffice and the bank known as Baxter Bros. bank, in Ida Grove, Iowa, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock by the name of Walter Anderson, and did not he come up to you while you were walking between the points designated and say, "Where are we all going." "Can I see you home," you replied and said, "I don't care;" that while going south he says, "Is not this Miss Hargens," you said, "Yes, it is," and then he says, "My name is Anderson." You walked together up to your home and stood out in front, and the conversation that took place there was, "May I have a date with you tomorrow night?", you said, "No, I have to do a big washing tomorrow." He then asked you how Friday night would do and you said, "That will be all right, all right, Friday night." "What will we do?" he says. "We will go to the picture show."

A. No sir.

Q. Did you have it in those words or substance that night?

.. No sir.

I noticed the condition of the ground where the boys laid me down. There was no grass, just leaves. I heard and understood what the boys were saying when they were having intercourse with me and after everything was all over I was looking for my hat and asked the boys where it was; they found it and handed it to me; I reached out for it and it dropped to the ground; one of the boys said, "I didn't mean to drop it." I didn't visit any after this occurred. I came right home, arriving there at ten o'clock. On Monday I stayed down with the folks until around ten o'clock; I waited for Dr. Conn to come up and make an examination of me; then I waited a short while, then went down to Meents and done a washing that day; have been working ever since.

That Walter Anderson, the person referred to in the question asked Elsie Hargens as being the person she met on her way home on the evening of November 4th, the day she claimed to have been raped, was called on behalf of the defendant and testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, have lived here all my life, I am acquainted with Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I know the prosecuting witness in this case when I see her.

Q. Where did you see her the first time to know her?

A. Coming up from the old town

Q. And where was she when you saw her to know her?

A. Up above the postoffice on that corner.

Q. Then when you first knew her was at this corner south of the postoffice?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How did you come to know her at that time?

A. One of the boys I was sitting with told me it was Elsie Hargens.

Q. Was this the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Now what did you do here?

A. The boys dared me to take her home.

Q. Who was present when that conversation took place?

A. Walter Miller, Luke McCabe and Louis Fuester.

Q. What did you do then?

A. I walked up to her and asked her if I could see her home.

Q. And where did you get in her company first?

A. The corner south of the postoffice.

Q. Did you have any conversation with her?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What was the conversation?

A. I asked her, "If I couldn't see her home?" She said, "I don't care." I asked her, "If her name wasn't Elsie Hargens." She said, "Yes, how did you know?" I said, "Luke McCabe told me."

Q. Then what direction did you go?

A. Went a block west down to Snell's corner, on the Taylor street corner, then a block south, where we stopped.

Q. What did you say to her then?

A. I asked her, "If I couldn't have a date for Monday night." She said "She couldn't very well get away because she was going to wash all day Monday." "I said, "How about Friday night?" She says, "Why yes, I guess so."

Q. Was that the girl you was with? (Indicating the prosecuting witness.)

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was this on Sunday, the 4th day of November, 1917.

A. Yes sir, in the evening, around ten o'clock.

Q. How long did you talk with her there at the house, if you did?

A. Well, I talked, as far as I know, about ten or fifteen minutes.

Q. Now did you see anything in her appearance there that would indicate she had been mussed up or had been in trouble that evening when you came up?

A. No sir. She was absolutely calm and collected after I walked up with her, as far as I know her clothing was absolutely normal and smooth just the same as they ordinarily would be. She was not excited, absolutely normal, and I noticed nothing in the world out of the way with her.

Raymond McCabe, called on in behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove about eleven years, am a son of Luke McCabe

Q. You know this lady sitting here, Miss Elsie Hargens?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How long have you known her?

A. About three years.

Q. Where did you first meet her, or get acquainted with her?

A. She worked for my brother.

Q. Where does he live?

A. He lives on Taylor street in Ida Grove.

Q. Was Miss Hargens a domestic in your brother's home?

A. Yes sir, she was working there.

Q. Do you know Walter Miller, Walter Anderson and Mr. Fuester?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you see these gentlemen on the evening of November 4th last?

A. Yes.

Q. Where did you see them?

A. At Barney Johnson's drug store corner.

Q. Did you see Miss Hargens that evening?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Where did you see her?

A. I see her passing under the town clock at Baxter's bank. She was going south.

Q. Was there anything said in your presence and hearing when you boys were on the corner to Walter Anderson about his crossing the street and walking home with her?

A. Yes sir, we dared him to take her home; he took her home.

Q. Whereabouts, if you know, did he meet her?

A. He met her south of the postoffice, upon the corner where the militia camp was last summer.

Q. Did he walk with her?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What direction, if you know?

A. He went a block west from the corner, then went south not quite a block.

Q. What time of night was it Mr. McCabe, if you know?

A. It was ten o'clock.

That the above testimony of Walter Anderson was further corroborated by Walter Miller and Louis Fuester each testifying in substance the same as Raymond McCabe.

Dr. J. L. Conn, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I am a practicing physician in Ida Grove, Iowa; been practicing for twenty-five years. I know Elsie Hargens and made an examination of her person on the 5th day of November, 1917; examined her sexual organ, it revealed an ordinary condition of her age, it was open enough to have been penetrated. There was no laceration of the sexual organs. I could not form an opinion as to whether sexual intercourse occurred from my examination without taking the statement of the patient into consideration. There was no hymen there. It is a fact that the hymen may be absent even though there has been no sexual intercourse.

Edward Meents, called by the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, and am in the bank and land business with A. C. Johnston, partner, and attorney in this case. I know Miss Hargens, she works at my place and stays there at night, and she was working for me on the 4th day of November, 1917. I learned of this matter at about ten o'clock on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I was at her place that night. The next day, Mr. Reinking, Elsie Hargens and myself went out to the place where this crime was supposed to have been committed. I made an investigation of the place, I found the place where it took place.

Q. Did she tell you where it occurred?

A. Yes.

Q. What did you find there now, just tell the jury please the condition of the place.

A. I found a place in the leaves which plainly showed the imprint of a human body. The leaves were pressed down and plainly showed the shape and form of a human body and surrounding the place you could plainly see the leaves hadn't been disturbed.

Thomas McLeod, sheriff of Ida county, Iowa, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I am sheriff of Ida county, Iowa, and was sheriff on the 4th day of November, 1917, and arrested Ernest Rathbun in the city of Ida Grove. I saw the underclothing of the girl, but didn't notice whether it was torn. I didn't notice any scratches or red marks on her neck or bruises on her body; her shin was skinned. That was all the scratches I saw on the girl. I didn't see any marks upon her face or any other marks excepting the one on her shin.

Ida Knudsen, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live on South Main street, Ida Grove, Iowa. I have lived in Ida Grove two years in April. I am now living with my mother and father. I know Elsie Hargens, have known her as long as I can remember, know where she lives in Ida Grove, and went to school with her. I remember the 4th day of November, 1917. Elsie Hargens came to my home that evening about 7:30 and left with me between fifteen and ten minutes to nine, we went to the postoffice and remained in there four or five minutes.

We left the postoffice together and walked about half block south. When we were going to the postoffice we saw an enclosed car running north by the Armory, then turned east. When we came out of the postoffice we saw it coming south, driving very slow past the postoffice; it stopped at the corner just a very short distance from us. The boys asked to give us a ride. I told them I had to come home in half an hour, they said they would bring us home in half an hour. I told them not to take us off the pavement and they promised they wouldn't. We then got into the car, I got in the back seat with Rathbun. We then started riding, going south two blocks, then east one block, then around town, then through the old town to the cemetery where the car stopped. I got out intending to crank the car. After a while Elsie got out, I tried to crank it; we then started walking and gone a short distance when the boys started the car, they asked us if we wouldn't get in again. I got in the back seat with Ernie Rathbun and Elsie got in the front seat with Ray O'Meara; he said his last name was Johnson, and he was from Denison. We went west from the cemetery about a quarter of a mile to the corner, then came back into the old town, and west again to the rendering works, crossing the Maple river bridge, turned into a lane, the car stopped again; I told them if they wasn't going to get out and crank it I was going home. They did not say anything so I got out.

After I got on the bridge I asked her if she wasn't coming, she said she couldn't. I heard her scream, just a loud shrill scream. I then went to town going east until I came to old town, then south to the garage close to the depot. I saw Dr. Lyon there and a man who works there. I told them where Elsie was and told them what occurred out there. Dr. Lyon took me home. I was not crying.

At the time we stopped the car at the cemetery Rathbun attempted to kiss me.

I saw Elsie again that night at twelve o'clock in her bed at home. I talked with her. She was not crying and was just laying in bed resting. I could not see her body shaking. Part of her arm was bare, but I did not see any discoloration.

At the time the boys addressed us and asked us to take a ride, I did not know who the boys were and the first time I made up my mind they were the boys was when they were brought up here and were arraigned. I arrived home at 9:30 that evening.

Lowell McShane, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live northwest of Ida Grove, Iowa, on William Moorehead's farm. Been living near Ida Grove for ten years. I was at my home on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917, and saw a car that evening just west of the bridge. "Exhibit 2" where it is marked "bridge" is the bridge I refer to. It wasn't right close to the bridge, it was standing on the road going to W. C. Moorehead's about three or four rods from the bridge; there were four persons in the car, two men and two girls; I passed within three or four feet of the car and heard them talking and laughing; they left about ten thirty. I live in the Moorehead house. I got home that night about nine o'clock. I heard no screaming. After I got home I sat around for awhile before I went to bed. My windows were open. My house is not hidden from the bridge by hill and timber.

That your applicant herein continuing his statement of facts, respectfully submits to your honor the following:

That he lives upon a farm in Ida county, state of Iowa, and belongs to a family that has always enjoyed an unsullied, unstained and enviable reputation. That at the young, immature and irresponsible age of seventeen I joined the Iowa National Guard and shortly after and during the trouble of our government with Mexico we were ordered to the Mexican border. While at the border a phase of life was revealed to me never encountered around or upon the farm. As a young, inexperienced youth I became enamored with the social life both decent and otherwise, which the people are all too willing to thrust upon the soldier, the consequence being I contracted habits to a degree immoral, but all the time considering my acts innocent amusement. I did not appreciate the magnitude of my acts or the effect it would have on my future life. However, notwithstanding my statements herein, I want it understood that the United States government does all in its power to surround its soldiers with good, wholesome amusement, and is in no way responsible for the false step of any of its individual men.

After being upon the border for a period of about one year I was honorably discharged and returned to my home. Still young, I could not throw off the effect of the habits I had contracted upon the border, but on the contrary felt a desire to continue the practice and any encouragement as manifested by the prosecuting witness in this case naturally tended to lead me astray. On the night of the 4th day of November, 1917, my friend, Ray O'Meara, invited me to take a ride with him in his automobile; I accepted and driving past the postoffice in Ida Grove, Iowa, we saw two girls, the prominent figures in this trial, walking along the sidewalk, both of whom we know from past reputation were the kind of girls that would be looking for a "good time" with two young fellows. It did not take them very long to respond to our advances, and without burdening your honor reiterating the evidence adduced upon the trial sustaining and denying the fact of the willingness of the girls, I will say, they both willingly got in the automobile and both were happy and contented riding to the bridge as designated in the evidence in this case, and no unwillingness was evinced by either of them until we got out of the car near the bridge at which place the girl, Ida Knudson, seemed to become alarmed and left.

At this place and at that time I had sexual intercourse with the prosecuting witness and at that time she made no resistance, but responded willingly. The prosecuting witness did not, as she testified in this case, have sexual intercourse with both us boys, and she did not scream or make an outcry of any kind.

I make this statement of what occurred, and this admission to your honor for the reason that it is the truth, that it is right and on the part of manhood to do so. After I was convicted in this case I was approached by the attorneys for the state who assured me that the circumstances surrounding my acts did not warrant a drastic punishment, and thereupon, I told them what occurred, being in substance the same as hereinbefore set forth. After making this statement said attorneys promised to make a recommendation of a commutation of my sentence which recommendation was agreed to by the attorney general.

While I feel it is unjust for me to be charged with having sexual intercourse with a girl against her will and by force, I want to submit to your honor that my act, even with her encouragement, was wrong and I now appreciate the magnitude and enormity of it. I know full well that such indiscreet conduct cannot be classed as mere innocent amusement and the high standard of social decency and morality be maintained. I appreciate fully that if I am confined in the reformatory it will mean a ruined life for me, a reflection upon the good name of my now reputable family, and this is also impressed upon my mind and so permeates my entire system that never will any such act be repeated or occur again. This, your honor, is a statement sincerely made, uttered in good faith, with a full understanding and realization of what it means, and a promise upon which you can depend.

I appeal to your honor as the chief executive of the state and the only one who can relieve me from the burden and ignomy of the sentence imposed. I feel assured that your past acts of generosity and clemency will prompt you to act favorably upon this, my petition for a pardon.

I am further confident that when you have looked into the circumstances surrounding my acts in this case you will be convinced that I am not wholly to blame, but on the contrary, an unfortunate young man bearing the burdens resultant from the indiscreet and imprudent acts of others.

Further, I feel assured you will be convinced that favorable action on your part will result in standing a young man solid on his feet again, put him in position that in the future he may fight as a soldier for his country with the same zest, the same zeal and the same unqualified patriotism that he did in the past.

Respectfully submitted,

(Certified to by clerk.)

ARGUMENT OF GEORGE H. CLARK, ATTORNEY FOR THE DEFENDANT.

The principle of law governing the crime of rape is that the defendant must ravish and carnally know the female by force and against her will. The supreme court of this state has wisely said, "it is the better rule to admonish the jury as to the difficulty of disproving the charge."

In this day and age when the sex mingle indiscriminately together and with unbridled freedom, it makes it very easy where some ulterior object is to be obtained to charge a young man with the crime of rape, and on the other hand renders it very difficult for him to disprove it. On this account the courts have almost universally held it incumbent upon the state to prove the element of "force" and "unwillingness" by evidence much more conclusive than required in other class of criminal cases.

I call your honor's attention to the words of some of our supreme judges of this state, viz.:

"Any acts on the part of the prosecutrix from which consent can be inferred is admissible."

"The absence of any marks of violence, or of outcries, etc., may be considered as against the evidence of the prosecutrix."

The jurors were instructed that, in order to convict, they "must be satisfied from the evidence, beyond a reasonable doubt, that he had carnal knowledge of the said Rachael Gross forcibly and against her will, and that she did not yield her consent during any part of the act. To constitute the crime of rape the will of the female alleged to have been outraged must have been overcome by force. If she consents in the least during any part of the act, there is no such an opposing will as the law requires to convict on the charge of rape."

I submit your honor that all the evidence in this case goes to show that the prosecutrix consented, was willing and even courted sexual relations with this defendant. That there was no marks of violence and that her testimony of outcry and screaming was successfully disproved.

I submit your honor that the material elements constituting the crime of rape has not been proven in this case. I am satisfied the defendant was convicted by a jury prejudiced and unimpartial. Not prejudiced, if your honor please, in the sense of acting from malice, not prejudiced as men would be as against a known and hardened criminal, but prejudiced in favor of a girl, because she was a girl, and on account of this prejudice unable to give the evidence fair and impartial consideration.

I want to specially call your honor's attention to the fact that this is a young man as near clean of mind and heart as the usual young American. He is not a criminal or has he the temper or disposition of one. This young man has the future all before him and the lesson he has here learned will be of lasting benefit to him, while if he be confined and imprisoned it will ruin his entire life. I know your honor is in accord with the modern tendency to exert all the power of the state to make honest, upright and industrious citizens out of the criminal and those charged with crime. I think you will agree with me that this is a case wherein your action will result in incalculable good to this young man and will not in any way impair the good of society in general.

Respectfully submitted,

Attorneys for Apellee.

On the 27th day of November, 1917, a bill of indictment was found by grand jury of Ida county, Iowa, charging the defendant, Ernest Rathbun, with the commission of the crime of rape, the same being filed in the district court of the state of Iowa, in and for Ida county upon said date, and was as follows, to-wit:

In the district court of Iowa, in and for Ida county.

The state of Iowa against Ernest Rathbun, indictment:

The grand jury of the county of Ida in the name and by the authority of the state of Iowa, accuses Ernest Rathbun of the crime of rape, committed as follows:

The said Ernest Rathbun on or about the 4th day of November in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and seventeen, in the county and state aforesaid, did wilfully, unlawfully and feloniously assault, ravish, carnally know, abuse, and have sexual intercourse with one Elsie Hargens, by force and against the will of the said Elsie Hargens, she, the said Elsie Hargens, then and there being a female over the age of fifteen years.

J. A. Murphy,

Assistant county attorney of Ida county, Iowa.

Attached to said indictment is the testimony of the witnesses for the state, including the testimony of the prosecutrix, Elsie Hargens and Ida Knudsen being the two girls who claimed to be in the car with the defendant, and is in part as follows:

Elsie Hargens, Ida Grove, Iowa: Being duly sworn, says she is working at Ed Meents, lived in Ida Grove, 4 years, lived 4 miles south of Battle Creek, have known Ida Knudsen several years, went to Ida Knudsen's house at 7:30 Nov. 4, 1917. Was there until 8:45 p. m. Went to postoffice. Saw automobile at postoffice. Car stopped, asked us to take a ride. It was Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. Ford car. Went south, then east, then south, then north over bridge to old town.

Elsie Hargens.

State of Iowa, County of Ida, ss.:

Ida Knudsen, being duly sworn, says she resides in Ida Grove, Iowa. Fifteen years of age. Have known Elsie Hargens all my life, at home at 6 o'clock, Nov. 4th, 1917, Sunday. Left house at 15 minutes of nine o'clock, Nov. 4, 1917. Two men in automobile, didn't know them, asked to take ride, first refused, got in car with them, went to near the rendering works, heard Elsie scream, got out of car and started home, called Ida by name. I went home, went to garage, met Dr. Lyon, who took me home. Saw Elsie in bed, she walked home, was nervous, came home about 9:30 p. m.

Ida Knudsen.

Subsequent to the indictment being returned a bench warrant was issued and the defendant was arrested, arraigned and plead not guilty. Cause was set for trial, and commenced upon the 17th day of December, 1917, being one of the regular days of the November, 1917, term of said district court. Jurors were examined for cause, among which was the examination of J. W. Brown, who upon being examined for cause stated in part as follows:

* Examined on behalf of the defendant by M. M. White.

Q. Mr. Brown, how old are you?

A. Fifty-one.

Q. Lived in Kentucky most of your life did you?

A. Until I came here.

Q. And you say you have read something about this case?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And heard it talked some?

A. Some.

Q. You say you haven't formed any opinion about it?

A. No.

Q. No opinion one way or the other?

A. No, I have no opinion.

Q. Well, you have expressed an opinion, haven't you, Mr. Brown?

A. Only in one way. I most always do, like anyone else I suppose that reads anything. Fellows say if so and so is so, they would be liable to express an opinion wouldn't they? I do.

Q. And you expressed one.

A. Yes, I talked to one man some.

Q. Yes, and talked to him quite a little didn't you?

A. Oh not very much.

Q. Well, you got to the shot-gun stage, didn't you?

A. No, no, I didn't.

Q. Didn't you tell a man right in this court room right back here sir, that this boy ought to be shot, or words to that effect?

A. I said there had been people shot for similar things, yes, I said that.

Q. And yet you want us to believe that you haven't got any opinion either way as to the guilt or innocence of this boy?

A. According to the evidence always.

Q. Well, you talked about a shot-gun didn't you?

A. Well, I don't remember, we might have said something about a shot-gun.

Q. Well, it was you said it wasn't it?

A. I guess it was, I said there had been cases of that kind done.

Q. Mr. Brown, you had some feeling in this matter when you were talking about the shot-gun didn't you?

A. Yes, yes, I did.

Q. Now I am asking you, sir, if it wouldn't take evidence to change that feeling?

A. Yes, it would?

Q. That it would take evidence to change, isn't that true?

A. Well, now, it is just like this: We were talking, you know, when this first happened and I believe that I made the remark that there had been cases of this kind where I came from that they wouldn't hardly fool with trials.

Q. No, they would use the shot-gun?

A. Yes, I think I made that remark.

That a jury was chosen, sworn, and at the request of the court, James W. Kindig, assistant attorney general, assisting the county attorney and one of the attorneys of record for the state, made the opening statement to the jury, and in said opening statement his demeanor, and statements, subject to the objections, were as follows:

In addressing the jury he read the indictment, then says:

I am very briefly, very briefly, going to tell you the testimony or the evidence upon which the state expects to support this indictment.

As you gentlemen already know because of your experience in court, and as the court will tell you, you are going to try this case upon the evidence and upon the law as the court shall give it to you.

The testimony on the part of the state will be that this prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, at the time of the commission of this crime, was about seventeen years of age, I believe, that she was living here in Ida Grove, formerly had been living out here in the country; that she was living here with her people, I believe, working at the same time at a neighbor's home. The 4th of November, 1917, was Sunday, and the defendant upon that Sunday afternoon, the evidence of the state will show, together with one O'Meara, in a Ford automobile, picked up about somewhere around about seven o'clock in the evening—I will not be exact about the time now, two women in Ida Grove, and drove them out in the country to a school house about five miles.

Mr. Clark: Wait, now, if the court please, we object to that as improper and misconduct on the part of counsel for the state.

The Court: Of course the court can't at this stage determine as to the relevancy or materiality of testimony of this kind.

Mr. Kindig: If it will assist the court any I will say that the purpose of it is to identify these defendants and show their whereabouts in this community at this time.

Mr. Clark: The same objection.

Mr. Kindig: And their intent.

Mr. Clark: The same objection.

Mr. Kindig: And their scheme and purpose in doing the thing they were engaged in at that time.

Mr. Clark: The same objection to the remarks.

The Court: Of course wholly independent transactions could not be shown in a case of this kind as I view the law at this time; as to whether they are so related to one another that they are not independent, of course the court don't know and can't tell at this time.

Mr. Kindig: As I said—

Mr. White: Just a moment. If the court please, we renew the objections already made and claim that the remarks are improper and constitute misconduct of counsel for the reason that it already appears that he is talking about a matter other than that connected with the prosecuting witness, it already appears that the prosecuting witness was not and is not one of the women to which he now refers.

The Court: There has been nothing said further than that they were with the women at this time.

Mr. Kindig: If it please the court we expect to support our contention by ample authority that for the purpose of identification and showing the whereabouts of these men at this time for the purpose of showing their common scheme and purpose and intent that the testimony I am talking about will be absolutely competent and material.

Mr. Clark: We make the same objection to the remarks to the court in relation to this same matter in the presence of the jury.

The Court: That which has been said may stand.

Defendant excepts.

Mr. Kindig: As I was saying, these men at this time started out with this automobile, that they drove, I think, about five miles south of town and stopped at the school house, and because these women that they had with them wouldn't submit to their desires they were thrown out of the automobile—

Mr. Clark: Wait, Mr. Kindig, we make the same objection as heretofore made to the remarks made to the jury by counsel for the state.

The Court: Now, Mr. Kindig, if you will just refrain from referring to that at this time until we can take up the law of that question, and I will say at this time that the jury isn't to regard this statement with respect to that which may have taken place at this school house for any purpose unless the court hereafter permits such testimony to be introduced. You may proceed.

Mr. Kindig: These men then returned to Ida Grove, Iowa.

Mr. Clark: Now the same objection, if the court please, to the remarks just now made, referring to the same conversation as being improper and misconduct on the part of the attorney for the state.

The court: You may proceed.

Defendant excepts.

They were seen driving around the streets of Ida Grove, Iowa; they were talking to people here in Ida Grove, Iowa; they were talking to women and talking to men—

Mr. Clark: Same objection as heretofore made.

The Court: Proceed. Defendant excepts.

Mr. Kindig: Then they drove up near the postoffice in this city, at which time this prosecuting witness and Ida Knudsen were coming out of the postoffice. They drove this car up to the postoffice and spoke to these girls, and asked them to go riding; they refused to do so saying that they had to be home, I think, in a half hour; they then promised the girls that if they would go riding they would get them home in half an hour, and that they wouldn't go off the pavement. The girls got in the car, one in the front seat and one in the back seat, one of the boys in the front seat and the other in the back seat, and they started driving around the city here; they drove, I believe, off the pavement and the girls suggested that they had done so, and I think they made some remark to the effect that they didn't know the town very well, and that they would get back on the pavement, or something to that effect. They then went out and stopped at the cemetery, or some where near there. The girls asked them to start the car again and they wouldn't do it; I think, I am not sure which girl, but one of the girls, then got out of the car and went around to try to crank it, the other girl then got out and they both started back to town, then one of these boys, either the defendant or O'Meara, got out and cranked the car, and they came up to where the girls were and told them if they would get in the car they would take them to town. The girls at that time got into the car, but the defendant and his pal, O'Meara, did not take the girls back to town, but they started off the opposite direction to what is known as the rendering works, here, I believe, across the bridge over the Maple river there, and ran the car up to the bank and stopped again. The girls immediately asked them to get out and crank the car and take them home; they refused to do it; Ida Knudsen opened the door and got out of the car, and as she was leaving the car the fellow O'Meara, who was in the front seat with this prosecuting witness, grabbed ahold of her and wouldn't let her leave the car, and when Ida Knudsen had gotten possibly to the bridge, a very short distance, she could hear the screams of this prosecuting witness. Ida was so frightened, the testimony will be, that it was her idea and purpose to go back to Ida Grove to get someone to come to the rescue. Ida did go back to Ida Grove and she stopped, as she will tell you, I believe, at the first place she saw open, which was the garage down here; she told Dr. Lyon and another witness, perhaps Mr. Sauer, about it; they hurried her into an automobile and took her home, and I believe then rushed out here to the scene, but when they had gotten there these fellows had gone.

When Elsie Hargens commenced screaming this man O'Meara grabbed her by the throat and choked her until she stopped. I think about this time he had his person over onto her, and she screamed as soon as her throat was released, and each time she screamed he put his hand at her throat.

Then the defendant in this case, Rathbun, got ahold of the girl and the two of them lifted her out of the automobile and threw her down there upon the ground; one of the boys when the girl was lying upon the ground took her arms and folded them back across her breast in about this fashion, and he on his knees held her so she couldn't move, and the other fellow walked around to the front of the girl, pulled up her clothing and tore her underclothing, virtually tore that off of her, tore her stockings off of her, exposed his own person and pulled her legs apart and had sexual intercourse with her; and after he had finished that job he got up and went around and took the girl's hands and held them up over her breast while the other fellow went and did the same thing.

That, gentlemen of the jury, is what the testimony will be in this case.

STATE EVIDENCE.

Ida Knudsen, called as a witness on behalf of the state, being duly sworn, testified as follows:

DIRECT TESTIMONY.

I live on South Main street in Ida Grove, Iowa, was fifteen years old June 9th, have lived in Ida Grove two years in April. Before coming to Ida Grove I lived nine miles southwest from here; my father's name is Matt Knudsen and my mother's name is Emelia Knudsen, I am now living with my mother and father, I know Elsie Hargens, have known her as long as I can remember, and know where she lives in Ida Grove, and went to school with her. I remember the 4th of November, 1917. I was going to school in Ida Grove at that time, I was home in the forenoon of that day, but went out into the country just before dinner with my father, mother and brother in an automobile. I returned to Ida Grove at six o'clock in the evening with my father and mother, and went home. I left home between fifteen and ten minutes to nine. I was not out of the house between six o'clock until ten or fifteen minutes to nine.

Elsie Hargens came to my home that evening about half past seven and left with me between fifteen and ten minutes to nine, she was not out of my house from the time she came there until ten or fifteen minutes to nine, at that time she started for Ed Meents', where she works, I left the house with her and we went to the postoffice and remained in there four or five minutes, reading a paper. We left the postoffice together and walked about a half block south. When we were going to the postoffice we saw this car running north by the armory then turned east. When we came out of the postoffice we saw it coming south driving very slow past the postoffice. It driving very slow attracted our attention, it was a Ford car enclosed, it stopped at the corner just a very short distance from us.

Q. Did you go up to the car?

A. No sir, not right away.

Q. Did Elsie go up to the car?

A. No sir.

Q. Did you finally go up to it?

A. Yes sir.

1. Why?

A. Because they asked to give us a ride.

Q. Who asked to give you a ride?

A. I do not know which of the boys.

Q. Which of which boys?

A. O'Meara and Rathbun.

The first thing they asked us didn't we want to go riding? I told them I had to be home in half an hour. They said they would bring us home in half an hour, I told them not take us off the pavement and they promised they wouldn't. We then got into the car, I got in the back seat with Rathbun.

Q. By Rathbun do you mean the defendant Rathbun sitting back of this table here?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Who was in the front seat?

A. Ray O'Meara.

Q. With whom was he?

A. With Elsie Hargens.

Q. Was the doors shut at that time?

A. Yes.

Q. Who shut the doors?

A. Why, Rathbun shut the back door, but I will not tell whether Elsie Hargens or O'Meara closed the front door.

We then started riding, going south two blocks, then east one block, east of this court house, then went down to Main street, then through the old town to the cemetery, and Ray O'Meara stopped the car; up to that time the boys had said nothing that was in any way immoral or out of the way.

When the car stopped at the cemetery I got out intending to crank the car; after a while Elsie got out, I tried to crank it, we then started walking and had gone a short distance when the boys started the car, they asked us if we wouldn't get in again and they would take us home, we got in the car. I got in the back seat with Ernie Rathbun and Elsie got in the front seat with Ray O'Meara, said his last name was Johnson and he was from Denton.

We went west from the cemetery about a quarter of a mile to the corner, then came back into the old town, went west again to the rendering works, crossing the Maple river bridge, turned into a lane, the car stopped again, I told them if they wasn't going to get out and crank it I was going home.

They did not say anything so I got out and ran. When I got out O'Meara grabbed Elsie by the shoulders. I ran east. After I got on the bridge I asked her if she wasn't coming, she said she couldn't. I heard her scream, just a loud shrill scream, I then ran to town, going east until I came to old town, then south to a garage close to the depot. I saw Dr. Lyon there, and a man who works there, I told them where Elsie was and told them what occurred out there. Dr. Lyon then took me home, I was not crying, but had been running hard, was scared and out of breath.

It was four or five minutes after nine. Just before we got into the car I looked at the clock.

I saw Elsie again that night at twelve o'clock, in her bed at her home, I talked with her, she was not crying, she was just laying in bed resting. I could not see her body shaking, I could see one of her arms shaking, part of her arm was bare but I did not see any discoloration.

Q. After that when did you next see the defendant Rathbun?

A. I did not see him until the other day up here in the court room.

Q. What day?

A. I do not know the date.

Q. In reference to the time the grand jury was here what time?

A. In the morning.

Q. You mean the morning after, or the morning before?

Q. Where did you see him?

A. Almost the place where he is sitting now.

Q. State whether or not that is the person who was with you in the car that night.

A. It was.

Q. State whether or not these occurrences you have related occurred in Ida county, Iowa.

A. They did.

Q. When you stopped at the cemetery what did Rathbun do?

A. He attempted to kiss me.

Q. State whether or not you permitted him to kiss you.

A. I did not.

CROSS-EXAMINATION (GEO. H. CLARK).

I came down town with Miss Hargens alone about nine o'clock to the postoffice. It was a bright night, very light out. Some boys, driving a Ford car, called to us to get in the car, we got in. The car was enclosed and looked like it had been used a long time, was an old car. At the time the boys addressed us and asked us to take a ride I did not know who the boys were, we drove out to the cemetery and the car stopped. Rathbun attempted to kiss me. Both of us got out of the car to help crank it, I tried to crank it, but didn't get it started, I was at the front of the car but could not tell anything about the lights, the tires or the kind of a radiator, I thought the boys were not going to get the car started, I remarked to the boys that I guess they couldn't get the car started and would walk home. Then both of us started to walk home. The boys finally got the car started, then they turned it around and we got in, I got home just before half past nine.

Q. How did you come to be at the court house on the day that you saw Mr. O'Meara and Mr. Rathbun here?

Mr. Kindig: We object to that as not proper cross-examination. Entirely immaterial and irrelevant why she happened to be at the court house.

The Court: You may answer. State excepts.

A. I was asked to come up here.

Q. Who asked you to come up?

A. Lawyer Johnston.

Q. He asked you to come up here and see if those were the boys, didn't he?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did he point these boys out to you?

A. Not when they came in.

Q. Well, before they came in?

A. He did not. I was in here before they came in.

Q. And after they came in didn't he point them out to you?

A. No sir, he came up to me and asked me if I recognized them.

Q. Well, they came in, didn't they?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Then he asked you if you recognized them?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Didn't you see any other boys around there at that time?

A. There were some boys.

Q. Who were they?

A. I do not know.

Q. Were there any of the boys inside here at that time besides those two boys?

A. Not in here, not in this place.

Q. Elsie was here at that time, too?

A. She was.

Q. Who was present when Mr. Johnson told you to be up there to identify these boys.

A. He called down to my home and asked me to come up.

Q. By telephone?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That was the time the boys were brought up here and arraigned, that is, one of the boys came out and sat in a chair and the court asked them some questions?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That was the time you was here when Mr. Johnston told you to come up and identify them?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That is the first time you saw these boys after the occurrence?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And the first time you made up your mind they were the boys?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Have you been up in Johnston's office?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You have talked to him about this case?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And talked to him about what your testimony was going to be?

A. Yes sir.

And he told you what to say did he not?

A. He did not tell me what to say.

Q. But you talked to him about it and in his office. Was there any person present there besides Mr. Johnston?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Who were they?

A. The state attorney and the two state detectives.

Q. Mr. Macomber wasn't there?

A. No sir.

Q. Nor Mr. Murphy?

A. No sir.

Q. Did you ever have any talk with Mr. Macomber or Mr. Murphy in relation to this case?

A. I did not.

Q. Was you in Mr. Johnston's office more than once in relation to the testimony that you was going to give in this case?

A. I was.

Q. How many times was you there?

A. Four or five times.

Q. And were the same four persons present at each time?

A. No.

Q. Was Mr. Kindig present at all these talks?

A. No sir.

Q. Was these detectives present at these talks?

A. Not every time.

Q. Did they have something to say about the law suit, too?

A. Yes sir.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. When you were in Johnston's office at these various times were you told what to testify to in this case?

A. I was to tell the truth.

Q. Do you know whether the Ford car you was in that night with Rathbun and O'Meara, as you say, was a 1917 model or not?

A. I do not know.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

The sheriff was at my home that evening and came down to Hargens with me, but was not there when I was there. The persons present when I was there was Mr. and Mrs. Hargens, Elsie and her younger sister, Norma.

I have lived in Ida Grove two years. Started in the eighth grade and am now in the freshman grade of the high school.

Q. Were you familiarly acquainted with the football boys of the high school?

Mr. Kindig: That is objected to as not proper cross-examination and immaterial.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. How long have you been going to school here; ever since you have been here?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And you attended the football games of the high school?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Sustained.

J. M. Sauer, called as a witness on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove thirty-three years, was engaged in the automobile business in November, 1917. I remember Sunday, November 4, 1917, and I remember the occasion of Ida Knudsen coming into my place of business on the night of that day between twenty minutes after nine and twenty-five minutes of ten. Dr. Lyon and a gentleman working for me was there at the time.

Q. She came into your place of business?

A. Yes sir.

Q. State whether or not she told you where Elsie Hargens was?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and hearsay.

The Court: You may answer, Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Where did she say she was?

Mr. Clark: The same objection.

The Court: Of course, there is no evidence of where the Hargens girl really was. It would be hearsay as to that fact, but only showing what the former witness said and did I will receive it. Defendant excepts.

Mr. Kindig: That is the purpose in offering it.

The Court: Go ahead. Defendant excepts.

A. She said she was some place around the rendering works, with two gentlemen in a car or some place about there.

Q. State whether or not at that time Ida Knudsen was running, had been running?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, hearsay, self-serving declaration and a conclusion.

The Court: You may answer if you know, if you saw. Defendant excepts.

A. Why she came into the garage in a hurried condition.

Q. What was her condition as you observed it at that time?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: You may describe it. Defendant excepts.

A. Well, she came in there and she tried to tell us what was going on and she said she wanted somebody to help her out and take her home, and she wanted to know what time it was and she wanted someone to go over and find the Hargens girl. She said she was over there with a couple of fellows.

Mr. Clark: Now, if the court please, the same objection. We could not anticipate the answer, and move to strike it.

The Court: Well, it is no evidence of the fact but only as showing the history of that which was done by this former witness. I will permit it to go in evidence. Defendant excepts.

Q. Did she then leave your place of business?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. We took her home.

Q. Who took her home.

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Dr. Lyon and myself.

Q. How did you take her home?

A. In an automobile.

Q. State whether or not the girl at that time was crying or otherwise?

Mr. Clark: Same objection, and calling for a conclusion and a self-serving, hearsay declaration.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes, sir, she started to cry and then she tried to tell us what was happening and wanted somebody to go and help her out.

E. R. Lyon called as a witness on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove for two years. My business is chiropractic. Been practicing for six years, I know Ida Knudsen and was in Ida Grove, Iowa, on the evening of November 4, 1917, and saw her at the Sauer garage that evening, I believe she had been running. She was apparently nervous and out of breath.

Q. Did she say where she was?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as being incompetent, irrelevant, and immaterial and hearsay.

The Court: I will receive it, but not for the purpose of bearing upon any question as to where Elsie Hargens was in fact. Defendant excepts.

A. She stated that they had gone toward the rendering works.

Q. Did she state who they were with or who was there besides Elsie?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. She did not state any names as to who she was with.

Q. Did she say whether she was with men or women?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Men.

Elsie Hargens, called as a witness on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, and my father, and mother live here. My father's name is Claus Hargens and my mother's name is Minnie. I have sisters, their names are Caroline, Martha, Norma and Edna. I have lived in Ida Grove about four years. Before coming to Ida Grove lived on a farm eight miles south of Battle Creek. Went to country school and attended school in Ida Grove. I went through the eighth grade, when I quit. I am eighteen years of age. Was seventeen in November, 1917, I have been working at the home of Edward Meents, in Ida Grove. I know Ida Knudsen, have known her as long as I can remember.

I was working for Edward Meents on the 4th day of November, 1917, and I have my Sunday afternoons off. When I get through my work on Sunday, I have no fixed time in the evening, any time. I left Meents' about three o'clock in the afternoon and went down to Bert Johnston's to see my sister. I then went down home at three-thirty, and remained there until seven-thirty. I left my home at that time and went down to Knudsen's, I cannot tell the time I got to Knudsen's. Went right there from home, I left Knudsen's about a quarter to nine, Ida Knudsen and I went together to the postoffice, read the paper and left five minutes to nine. There is a light near the postoffice, I know it was five minutes to nine when we left the postoffice for I looked at the clock. When we got out of the postoffice we went south to the corner, where the car stopped us. We first saw this car when we were going to the postoffice, going north, it was a Ford car, after coming out of the postoffice we first saw it coming up going south a short distance from us, the car stopped. We said nothing to them before they stopped, we were within six or eight feet of the car when it stopped, asked us for a ride, I said I didn't know, had to be home in half an hour. They said they would take us home in half an hour, I said all right, if they would promise to say on the pavement. The doors of the car was not open. They were afterward opened by Rathbun. He got out of the front of the car, went into the back seat, I was right beside the car. The light was shining there, I got in the front seat with Ray O'Meara. Ida Knudsen and Ernest Rathbun were in the back seat, when I say Rathbun and Ernest Rathbun I mean the defendant in this case. Ray O'Meara was driving the car.

We first went south two blocks, east three blocks, then a block south again, then a block east again, then north to the end of the street, back to town, then past the ice plant and over the railroad track and over the bridge to old town, going north to the end of the street, then east to the corner then north again, then turned east to the cemetery. There we stopped. We asked them to go out and start the car; they said nothing. Ida got out and tried to crank the car. Then I got out and both of us tried to crank the car. The car didn't start. We left walking west, we were going home to town. The boys cranked the car, turned it around, followed us and said "Come on, girls, get in, we will take you back to town." We said "all right" and got in the car again, I sat in the front seat and Ida in the back. We went back to old town, then out to the rendering works, the car stopped. We asked them to go out and crank the car. They said nothing. Ida then got out of the car, I tried to get out but O'Meara grabbed me around the shoulders. When he took ahold of me I screamed, Ida had left the car when I screamed. I told her to stay. O'Meara choked me when I screamed. I did not quit screaming when he choked me. I was in the car at this time, while he was choking me he says, "Shut up, you God damn fool, I will kill you." I tried to get out of the car, they lifted me out of the car. One had hold of my head the other my feet. I did not tell them to do that, I was afraid of them. When I got out of the car they got me down on my back in the leaves on the ground. They put me there. One of the boys was standing back of my head holding my arms over my breast. The other was sitting on my legs. I did not tell them they could take hold of me in that way. The one that was sitting on my legs pulled up my dress, tore my union suit. (Identified union suit, "Exhibit A," and pair of stockings, "Exhibit B.")

Q. I will ask you to examine "Exhibit A" and state whether or not that was the under clothes you had on that night.

A. Yes sir.

Q. I will ask you to state whether or not those under clothes were torn before the boys tore them that night?

A. No sir.

Q. I will ask you whether, or not, those under clothes show the tears now? As they were made by those boys that night?

A. Yes sir.

Mr. Kindig: We offer in evidence "Exhibit A."

Mr. Clark: We object to the offer and introduction of "Exhibit A" the same being incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and not properly identified.

The Court: Overruled. Defendant excepts.

Q. I will ask you whether or not you have washed those under clothes "Exhibit A" since that night?

A. Yes sir.

Q. When did you wash them?

A. Monday after that.

Mr. Clark: The further objection that the clothes are not in the same condition as they were immediately after the occurrence, and at this time being introduced in evidence, being more than a month afterward, not competent for any purpose.

The Court: Overruled. Defendant excepts.

Q. I will ask you to examine "Exhibit B," if you will, please, and state what those are.

A. Those are the stockings torn.

Q. When did you wear them last?

A. November 4th.

Q. State whether or not you had those stockings on when the boys had you on the ground there?

A. Yes sir.

Q. When you put the stockings on that night or that day did they have those tears in them?

A. No sir, they didn't.

Mr. Kindig: We offer in evidence "Exhibit B."

Mr. Clark: Same objection, incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and not properly identified.

The Court: Overruled. Defendant excepts.

After unbuttoning his clothes he put his sexual organ into mine. I did not tell him he could do it, nor did I ask him to do it. He did not ask me if he could. While one of the boys were holding me the other said, "What is the matter is she sewed up." The other boy says, "seems like it." He got off in a short time and held me while the other boy went down, he sat across my legs, unbuttoned his clothing, he put his sexual organ into mine, I did not tell him he could, nor did he ask me. I do not know which boy had sexual intercourse with me first. One of the boys was Ernest Rathbun. After the second boy got off, I got up. They then looked for my hat, they handed it to me and I dropped it. After I got my hat I went home. I did not ask them to take me home in the automobile. The last time I saw the automobile it was going in the other direction. I walked home my hair was down and there was leaves in it, I went in the back door, the doors were locked and I called at the window and told them to let me in. I do not know the time I went to bed. Ida Knudsen was at my house that night, I told my father and mother what occurred. I was in bed when Ida came. The sheriff was there that night. I was examined by Doctor Conn on Monday morning.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I left the postoffice that evening at five minutes after nine, and went right to the corner above the postoffice, where we got into the automobile. It was a Ford, enclosed. I don't know whether it had a self-starter. I do not know how they started the car.

Q. Now at the time you got into the car, did you know these boys?

A. No sir.

Q. You say one of them got out of the car to assist you ladies in?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You didn't know the boys when they were having intercourse with you?

A. No sir.

Q. When was the first time you had made up your mind that it was Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara?

A. The day they were up in the court house.

Q. That was the day the boys came up to be arraigned?

A. Yes, sir.

Q. The same day that Mr. Johnston told you girls to be up here, and pointed the boys out to you?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You never remember seeing these boys before?

A. No sir.

Q. Was you in front of this car at any time?

A. Yes sir.

Q. When was that?

A. When I tried to crank it.

Q. After you had gotten out of the car at the cemetery, the boys drove the car toward you, and at that time you could have a full view of the front couldn't you?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You say you tried to crank the car?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you try very hard?

A. No sir.

Q. You just took hold and you was joking with the boys, and was trying to crank it?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You was feeling all right at that time?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You and the boys were having a good time, good social time wasn't you, that is right, isn't it Miss Hargens?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Then you went on down to the bridge?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You didn't up to that time know either one of the boys?

A. No sir.

Q. Now after this, about which you have testified occurred to you down by the bridge you say you screamed?

A. Yes sir, I did.

I do not know where Mrs. Lowe McShane lives, Mr. Walrod, nor the people of the rendering works, and while I was screaming no person came to my assistance, I heard and understood what the boys were saying when they were having intercourse with me, and after everything was all over I was looking for my hat and asked the boys where it was. They found it and handed it to me. I reached out for it and it dropped on the ground. One of the boys said, "I didn't mean to drop it."

When I started home I crossed the bridge, went east, came down the first avenue in the old town, across the railroad track, went on east side of Main street, crossed at the Baxter bank, past the postoffice.

Q. Did you stop at the postoffice?

A. No sir.

Q. Who did you meet between the Baxter bank and the postoffice?

A. Didn't meet anybody there at all.

Q. Know of anybody you met on the street?

A. No sir.

Q. What side of the street did you come up on?

A. First I came up on the east side and then I crossed over to the Baxter bank, and went up on the west side.

Q. Don't remember meeting any person on that side?

A. No sir.

Q. Now on the night of the 4th of November, 1917, did you not meet a young man between the postoffice and the bank, known as Baxter Bros. bank, in Ida Grove, Iowa, between the hours of nine and ten o'clock by the name of Walter Anderson, and did not he come to you while you were walking between the points designated and say, "Where are we all going," "Can I see you home." You replied and says, "I don't care," that while going south from that point he says, "Is this not Mrs. Hargens?" You says, "Yes it is," and then he says, "My name is Anderson." You walked together up to your home, stood out in front, and the conversation that took place there was, "May I have a date with you tomorrow night?" You says, "No, I have to do a big washing tomorrow." He then asked you how Friday night would do, and you said, "That will be all right." "All right, Friday night." "What will we do?" He says, "We will go to the picture show."

A. No sir.

"Did you have it in those words or substance, that night?"

A. No sir.

Q. How did you know the defendant's first name was Ernest?

A. I heard it.

Q. Who did you hear it from?

A. No answer.

Q. Bert Johnson wasn't it?

A. No answer.

Q. Have you been in Chas. Macomber's office and talked with him about this case?

A. No sir.

Q. Have you been in Mr. Murphy's office and talked with him about it?

A. No sir.

Q. Have you been in Johnston's office?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How many times?

A. Six or seven.

Q. Who was there at those times?

A. Mr. Kindig, Mr. Rock and Mr. Ridsen.

Q. When did you go to school in Ida Grove?

A. About two years ago I quit.

Q. Did you attend school in the year 1915?

A. I think I did.

Q. Did you also attend school in the spring of 1916?

A. No sir.

Q. You didn't go to school in 1916 at all?

A. No sir.

Q. What grades were you in, Miss Hargens?

A. I went to the sixth grade, seventh grade and eighth grade in Ida Grove.

Q. You wasn't there in the spring of last year at all?

A. No sir.

Q. Did you go the fall before 1916, that would be in 1915?

A. No sir.

Q. You quit after the spring term of 1915?

A. Yes sir.

Q. When you were going to school did you attend the football games?

A. Once, in 1915, Thanksgiving game.

I noticed the condition of the ground where the boys laid me down. There was no grass just leaves, I didn't visit any after this occurred, I came right home. I did not ask the boys to take me home.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

The condition of my body after I came in from out there was, that I had a scratch on the right side of my face, a bruise on the right arm, and a bruise below my elbow on my left arm, and a scratch on my left leg below the knee to the outside, I had a waist that was torn.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

On Monday I staid down at the folk's until around ten o'clock. I waited for Dr. Conn to come up and make an examination. Then I waited a short while, then I went down to Meents' and done a washing that day, and have been working ever since.

Mrs. Theobald, called as witness on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

Mr. Kindig: The state at this time ask to have the defendant present.

Mr. Clark: Isn't the defendant present?

Mr. Kindig: The defendant isn't sitting here.

Mr. Johnston: The defendant isn't present.

Mr. Clark: He is in court. "Ernest Rathbun," called from the body of the court room, takes seat behind his counsel.

I am now residing in Carroll, Iowa. I formerly lived in Ida Grove. I am married and my husband works for the American Express. I have one child. Was living in Ida Grove on the 4th day of November, 1917. I know Mary Schuett. I saw the defendant upon the 4th day of November, 1917, and Mary Schuett was with me when I saw him. The first time I saw him I was going to town and met and talked with him on Main street, in the middle of the square from Lindsay's corner, between four and five o'clock. I saw him next, ten minutes of seven a block and a half from Lindsay's store. I had my baby with me, and was with Mary Schuett. Ray O'Meara was with the defendant. They were in a Ford car, going down, and they turned around and came back to the curbing. The car remained there just long enough for us to get in.

Q. Then after you got in where did the car go?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and independent matter not in any wise connected with the crime charged.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, then the car went from Main street, or the Main street east, yes, just a block, then taking us out on to a big road. I couldn't tell you where it was going or nothing about it because I am not well enough acquainted with the roads around Ida Grove.

Q. When you got out in the road there did you get out of the car?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial as to what they did.

The Court: Yes, as to what they did, but as to her presence with the defendant you may show, or she may testify to it. State excepts.

Q. Where did the car go?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: You may answer.

A. Why, it went out to the school house.

Q. Did you remain in the car?

Mr. Clark: Same objection, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not tending to prove any matter whatever in issue.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, I remained in the car until they wouldn't bring us back to town and then I got out.

Q. State whether or not Mary remained in the car?

Mr. Clark: Same objection, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. She remained in. Well, I remained in longer than she did, she got out first.

Q. And after you and Mary got out of the car where was the defendant?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. They were still in the car.

Q. Why did you get out of the car?

Mr. Clark: The same objection.

The Court: This objection is sustained. State excepts.

Q. Where did you last see that car that night at any time?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, the last time I saw that car was down by a little bridge.

Q. How near the school house?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. It must have been about a mile from the school house.

Q. Did you go back to town in the car?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. No sir.

Q. What time of night was it when you was out there, do you know?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, when we were out there it couldn't have been any more than half past seven, because when we went into the farm house it was just eight o'clock.

Q. Did you look at a clock?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Where did you see the clock?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, in the house. There was—right on the side of the house in the kitchen there is a cupboard built right in the wall and there is a shelf underneath the cupboard and there was a little alarm clock sitting there.

Q. State whether or not the defendant when you were in the car made any improper suggestion to you?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Sustained. State excepts.

Q. What time was it when you got back to town?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Nine o'clock.

Elsie Hargens, recalled on behalf of the State for further examination in chief testified as follows:

("Exhibit C" marked for the State: Shirt waist.)

"Exhibit C" is the waist I wore November 4th, 1917, at the time I was out with the boys. It was torn out there. I sewed it. Before I was out with them the waist was not torn, Mr. Johnston did not tell me who the defendant was that morning when I was up here.

Q. State whether or not you are absolutely sure, or what your mind is in regard to whether or not the defendant in this case is one of the boys who had intercourse with you that night.

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, leading and suggestive.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

(Upon reconvention of the Court subsequent to an adjournment, an other person sat in the chair previously occupied by the defendant. Mr. Johnston, one of the attorneys for the State talked to the prosecuting witness, called the fact to the attention of Mr. Kindig, who was conducting the examination of witnesses for the State, at which time said Attorney Kindig made the statements to the Court, heretofore referred to, previous to the examination of witness, Mrs. Theobald. This is an introductory statement made by the attorneys for the defense and not a part of the transcript, but here given for the purpose of connecting those statements with the first part of this cross examination.)

Q. Didn't Mr. Johnston have a talk with you just a few minutes ago before you got on the stand?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And told them they were trying to change them on you?

A. No sir.

Q. What did he tell you when he spoke to you?

A. He told me I should take a good look at the defendant.

Q. When you was on the stand before the adjournment you had told all about who the defendant was hadn't you?

A. Yes sir.

My father did not punish me after I got home, didn't reprimand me at all or scold me, nor didn't say anything about my going out with strange boys. I didn't know Ray O'Meara when I was going to school. I don't know whether he was going to school in Ida Grove, Iowa, the same time I was or not.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I did not attend the high school in Ida Grove, the grade school and the high school are not different buildings exactly.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I went through the eighth grade, which is next to the high school, I did not belong to the cheering club for the football team consisting of the eighth grade, and the high school and I was not among the cheering squad when I attended the Thanksgiving game.

Mary Schutt, called as a witness on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove with my mother. My father is dead. I am working at the laundry, I know Mrs. Theobald, and the defendant Rathbun, I was in Ida Grove, Iowa, on the 4th day of November, on Sunday. I saw the defendant and O'Meara in town that time. I saw them about six o'clock in the evening a block and a half straight south of Lindsay's corner, Mrs.

Theobald and her baby was with me. They were riding in a Ford car, they spoke to us and we spoke back to them.

Q. Did you get into the car?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not tending to prove or disprove any matter in issue, calling for hearsay, and self-serving declarations, and, if anything, tending to prove a matter foreign to the matter on trial.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did Mrs. Theobald get into the car?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir.

Q. State whether or not the car then left Ida Grove?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes.

Q. Did you talk to the defendant at that time in the car?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. A very little.

Q. Where did you go in the car?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. We went right straight west for a ways and then we turned up south and went about three miles and then we went north and then we went about a mile north and then we went south again and stopped right by a school house.

Q. Did you get out the car at the school house?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. No sir.

Q. At no time that night?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Only when we got out of the car and started back to town.

Q. Where did you get out of the car?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Right by the school house.

Q. State whether or not Mrs. Theobald got out of the car the same time you did?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

Q. Where was the car when you last saw it?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. It was starting back to town.

Q. Were you in the car when it went back to town?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. No sir.

Q. Was Mrs. Theobald?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. No.

Q. About what time was it then?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. About half past eight.

Q. Did you see a clock?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. After we got in the house at Mrs. George Forney's, then we seen a clock.

Q. What time was it when you saw the clock?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. About half-past eight.

Q. Did you go back to town with O'Meara and Rathbun?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. No.

Q. What time was it when you got back to town?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. About nine o'clock.

Mr. Kindig: When I ask this question you wait, please, until counsel make his objection if he wants to.

Q. When you was in the car that night was there anything indecent or immoral suggested to you or Mrs. Theobald?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not tending to prove or disprove any matter in issue, calling for hearsay and self-serving declaration, and is improper and misconduct on the part of the counsel for the State.

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Sustained. State excepts.

Mrs. Minnie Hargens, called as a witness on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, Iowa, lived there for four years. Before coming to Ida Grove, lived south of Battle Creek, Elsie Hargens is my daughter. I remember the occasion of my daughter coming home in the evening November 4th, 1917, she came home at about half the afternoon, she stayed for supper. When she left we were not at home, had gone to the neighbor's. She came back at ten o'clock that evening. My husband and I were in bed when she came home. She called for us to let her in. Mr. Hargens let her in. I saw her first when she came up stairs.

Q. What did you observe about her when she came up stairs?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and not tending to prove or disprove any matter in issue, calling for hearsay and self-serving declarations, and for the further reason that the prosecuting witness has not related any matter of conversation or visit with her mother that night.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. She came up crying. I asked her what was the matter.

Q. What else did you observe about her at that time?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above, and for the reason that it is improper for her to tell anything that she got from her daughter by interrogation or by questioning.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why she was so excited and cried and I asked her what happened. She said she had been out with the boys and I asked her—

Mr. White: We object and ask that the evidence be stricken for the reasons urged in objections to the question, and all of them.

The Court: I don't want her to get into any narrative that occurred there, but, of course, the complaint could be shown, but the mere fact of complaint is as far as it can go.

Q. State whether or not she told you what the boys done?

Mr. White: The same objection, and for the further reason the same is leading and suggestive.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir. She told we what the boys had done.

Q. Did you observe the rest of her person at that time?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: The same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. Her hair was all down, full of dirt and leaves, she had a scratch in her face, her stocking was torn and her leg scratched.

Q. Did you see her underclothing at that time?

A. No sir, I didn't examine her underclothing.

Q. Did you examine her arms?

A. No.

She stayed home that night. When she was working for Meents she stayed there nights. We called for the doctor that night but he did not come until the next morning. The sheriff came, my daughter, Norma, was there, also my husband.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

My daughter got home at ten o'clock that night. Mr. Hargens went after the sheriff. Mr. Meents came after the sheriff was there. The sheriff, Van Wagoner and Anderson went to Denison. The windows on the east side of the house was opened that night, and all the windows facing the street. I didn't examine my daughter's clothing.

Mr. White: We ask that the direct evidence of the witness be stricken for the reasons urged in the objections thereto.

The Court: Overruled. Defendant excepts.

Norma Hargens, called as a witness on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I stay at home with my father and mother, and go to school. I am thirteen years of age, I was home on the evening of November 4th, 1917. I remember the occasion of my sister, Elsie, coming in that evening. I was in bed and got up when she came in. I noticed her hair was down and it was full of leaves, and she had a hole in her stocking.

Elsie Hargens recalled for further cross examination, testified as follows:

Q. Did you say before when you was on the stand the first time you knew who the boys were that you referred to as being in the car with you was the day they were arraigned?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That is the first time you knew who the boys were?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That was after you was before the Grand Jury, wasn't it and after the boys were indicted?

A. Yes sir.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. From the night the boys were out to this place near the rendering works until you saw them in the court room had you seen them?

A. No sir.

Q. Had you seen them in the mean time?

A. No.

Laura Glass, called as a witness in behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, Iowa, been living there for thirteen years, am fifteen years of age. I know Sarah Satterly, known her since I have lived in Ida Grove. I am working in the laundry. I saw Sarah Satterly November 4th, 1917, in Ida Grove, Iowa. I first saw her at Kuntz's bakery at about eight o'clock, we walked up to the postoffice, just walked in, then we walked down the street about a block north, then two blocks west. I know the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I saw them that evening. The first time down by the mill. I next seen them down by the depot. from the mill to the depot it is five blocks, we just walked down and came back. We talked to them at both places. They were in a Ford car. When they left us they drove south. It was about half past eight.

Sarah Satterly, called as a witness, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove and am seventeen years of age. Am working at the bakery. I know Laura Glass, known her about two years. I saw her in the bakery in the evening about eight, the 4th day of November, 1917. I left with her, we walked up to the postoffice, staid there about five minutes, then went down the street a ways. That evening when I was with her I saw the defendant and Ray O'Meara, first saw them down by the mill and the next time at the depot. They talked to us and we talked to them. They were in a Ford car, and went south from the depot.

Roy C. Myer, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove. Lived there all my life, am nineteen years of age, working driving for Dr. Conn. I was in Ida Grove, on the evening of November 4th, 1917. I know Ida Knudsen and Elsie Hargens. I walked up to the postoffice that evening and saw Ida Knudsen and Elsie Hargens standing on the corner south of the postoffice, then saw them go out to the street to a Ford touring car, saw them right beside the car. It was about nine o'clock.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I did not see them get into the car, merely saw them standing beside it. I don't know whether they got in or not.

Claus Hargens, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I am the father of Elsie Hargens, and I live in Ida Grove, I have lived there about four years. Before that I lived in Grant Township. I live on Taylor street. Lived there on the 4th of November, 1917.

I remember my daughter coming to my home that day towards evening. I went to visit my neighbor, and she was not home when I came back. I saw her next about ten o'clock, she called to me to let her in. My wife and myself were in bed. I let her in.

Q. What did you see about her person or of her condition when you first let her in?

Mr. Clark: Objected to as calling for the conclusion of the witness and not the statement of an ultimate fact. Incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, also it not appearing the prosecuting witness made any complaint.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Well she walked upstairs I followed her, and she cried. Her face was red and she had a red streak on her neck. I took her hat off, her hair was down and leaves in it.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

The front of my house lays twenty-one feet from the sidewalk. I measured it today noon. We have one window generally open. I had some talk with my daughter that evening, in the bed room. The bed room is located upstairs, and one of the windows that night was open.

Thos. McLeod, called as a witness on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I am sheriff of Ida County, Iowa, and was the sheriff on the 4th day of November, 1917. I remember of a complaint coming to me of a girl being ravished. I received that complaint a few minutes after ten on that night. I say the stocking "Exhibit B" also saw the undergarments, "Exhibit A." They have been washed. I received a warrant for the arrest of the defendant on Thursday the 8th.

Q. I will ask you whether or not you tried to locate him?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not tending to prove or disapprove any matter in issue, and we ask that they proceed by showing first where the defendant was arrested and not proceed with this part of the evidence first.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. I did.

I first went to Denison, then to Omaha. That is all the trips I made. I went to his home and O'Meara's home.

Q. Did you locate him at any of those places?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, not tending to prove or disapprove any matter in issue, the material question being as to where the defendant was arrested.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. No sir, not any of those places.

I arrested him before the Grand Jury met and he was placed under bail before a Justice of the Peace.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

There was a complaint made to me on or about the 4th day of November, 1917, and after the complaint was made I immediately got up and dressed, called up Mr. Anderson, and then Van Wagoner, and then went to Hargens' home. We talked about what had happened in the presence of the girl.

Q. What talk did you have, what did she say, if anything?

Mr. Kindig: Objected to as not proper cross examination.

The Court: I will let him answer. State excepts.

A. The girl didn't say much as I remember it.

Q. What did they tell you in her presence there?

A. Well, what I had been told was not in her presence.

Q. It was in relation to the same matter wasn't it?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Go ahead and tell it?

Mr. Kindig: Object to that as not proper cross-examination and immaterial and irrelevant.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

In this conversation they did not give me the name of the defendant. The girl told me the boys they were with, said they were from Denison. I went from Hargens' to Knudsen's, talked to the Knudsen girl, then I went around to where the crime was supposed to have been committed. William Anderson, Ed Meents and Philo Van Wagoner, Jr., was with me. These persons were assisting me in this matter. We examined the road and found to the best of our knowledge Ford automobile tracks. From the impression there was one non-skid tire on the right hind wheel and a smooth tire on the left hind wheel. Then we came back to town and telephoned to Mr. Cummings, the sheriff at Denison, and told him to watch for all cars coming from the north into that city, and that I would be there as soon as I could get there. I went there and Mr. Cummings met me in the square at Denison near the court house. He had two persons in his custody who had been running without numbers. Then we went into the restaurant, made some inquiries. There was several persons talked to that night. We called a couple of fellows out and had them explain where they had been and prove to us they were not the persons. We called persons out of their bed. This was between one and four o'clock in the morning of the 5th of November, 1917.

The route we took to Denison and return would take us by the home of the defendant. A warrant was placed in my hands for the arrest of the defendant on the 8th day of November, 1917.

Q. Now then subsequent to handing you this warrant did you take the defendant into custody?

A. I did later on.

Q. That was in the city of Ida Grove?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You say you examined "Exhibit B" being the under-clothing of the girl.

A. I saw it but did not examine it.

Q. You didn't notice at that time it was torn?

A. I didn't notice whether it was torn.

Q. Did you notice her neck, as to whether or not it contained scratches?

A. I didn't notice any scratches on her neck.

Q. Did you notice any red marks on her neck or anything of that character?

A. I did not notice any red marks.

Q. You didn't notice any bruises on her body?

A. Her shin was skinned, the one upon which this stocking was worn.

Q. That was all the openings or scratches that you saw?

A. That is all the scratches I saw on the girl.

Q. Was she lying in bed when you saw her there?

A. No sir she was sitting in a chair.

Q. You didn't see any marks upon her face or any other marks excepting the ones on her shin?

A. I saw no marks.

Q. When Mr. Hargens came down to you he complained about this matter, and told you his daughter had been assaulted?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did he at that time say anything about what she had told him?

Mr. Kindig: We object to that as not proper cross examination.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. What was the conversation had with Mr. Hargens at the time that he came down and complained?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. Now when you was in Denison was you looking for a new Ford or an old Ford car?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: You may answer. State excepts.

A. I was looking for a Ford car.

Q. Didn't you tell Mr. Cummings that it was an old Ford car that you was looking for?

A. No, I think I told him it was an old car.

Q. Did any of the persons that you had associating with you there tell him that in your presence?

Mr. Kindig: We object to that as not proper cross examination and immaterial what somebody may have said.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. Did Mr. Anderson or Mr. Philo Van Wagoner tell him that it was an old Ford car?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. Did you tell him anything about the hind tires, what you had examined on the ground over there?

A. I did, yes sir.

Q. And what did you tell him?

A. I told him as near as we could locate by the tracks, there was a rough tire, "non-skid," on one side and a smooth tire on the other.

Q. You know, Tom, from the tracks, as you examined them there, which side of the car you determined the rough skid was on?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Which side right or left?

A. Well, it is according to the way the car was facing, standing behind the car it would be on the right side; standing in front it would be on the left.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. The Grand Jury which investigated this case and returned this indictment met, as I believe, on Monday, is that right?

A. Yes sir.

Q. I will ask you whether or not any state agents or any representative of the Attorney General's office was in Ida Grove on this case before Sunday, before that date?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: You may answer if you knew. Defendant excepts.

A. Not to my knowledge, no sir.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. You don't know anything about that, do you, only just as to what you might see or hear?

A. Not any further than I would know them if I saw them.

Q. There has been, though, a couple of state agents here since that time, was there not?

A. Yes sir.

Mr. Kindig: We will admit that they have been here some of the time.

Dr. J. E. Conn, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I am a practicing physician in Ida Grove, Iowa, been practicing for twenty-five years. I know Elsie Hargens, and made an examination of her person upon the 5th day of November, 1917, and in that examination I made examination for bruises, cuts and scars. She had a bruise on both arms, black and blue spots, had a scratch on side of her face and her right leg was bruised and scratched. I also made an examination of her sexual organ. It revealed an ordinary condition for a girl of her age. It was open enough to have been penetrated, and some secretions.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

There was no laceration of the sexual organ, and the fact that there was an opening there sufficient to have sexual intercourse is no indication that there was intercourse.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I could not form an opinion as to whether or not sexual intercourse occurred from my examination, without taking the statement of the patient into consideration. There was no hymen there.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

It is a fact that the hymen may be absent even though there has been no sexual intercourse.

Mrs. Edward Meents, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove five years, am acquainted with Elsie Hargens, she is working for me, been working for me for a year. She stayed with me at nights when she was working, excepting some times. On the 4th of November she did not come home at night. When she got back to my place the next morning I observed that she had blue spots on her arms and on her neck. This is not the only night she didn't stay at my home. Nights she has been gone visiting her relatives.

James Russell Easton, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, am eighteen years old, lived here eighteen years. I attended the high school and know defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara, and was acquainted with them on the 4th day of November, 1917. I was in Ida Grove on the 4th day of November, 1917, in the evening of that day and I saw the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I saw them down by Walrod's pool hall, there was present with me, Bert Noll, Clem Olsen, Harry Jensen and Stanley Lajnsen. It was about eight-thirty in the evening. I did not talk with them.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I do not know the exact time I saw them. I know it was after eight o'clock.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I think it was after half past eight they were in a Ford car.

Stanley Lajnsen, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, am sixteen years old. I have attended school in Ida Grove, but am not now. I was in Ida Grove on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917, and am acquainted with the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I have known them about five years. I saw them that evening in front of the Walrod pool hall. They were in a Ford car. I heard no conversation. I saw them between eight and nine o'clock.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

The car they were in was enclosed and 1917 model, comparatively new car.

Bert L. Noll, called as a witness on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, lived there all my life, I have attended high school in Ida Grove, and know the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara, know them about four years. I saw them on the 4th day of November, 1917, on the evening, saw them down in front of the Walrod pool hall. I talked with them, they were in a Ford car. It was after seven-forty-two, as the flyer had come in. I saw them leave and they went west.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

The car was a Model 1917. Comparatively new car.

Harry R. Jensen, called on behalf of the State, testified as follows:

I live in the country near Ida Grove, about seven miles and a half. I go to school in Ida Grove, and am in the high school, and I know defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I have known them most all my life, I was in Ida Grove, Iowa, on the evening of November 4th, 1917, I saw the defendant, Rathbun and Ray O'Meara in Ida Grove that evening, in front of Walrod's pool hall. It was right around half-past eight. They were in a Ford car. It was enclosed. I saw them leave that place and they went west. It was a car that had been used.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

It was a comparatively new car.

Clement William Ohlsen called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, have lived here seventeen years. I know the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara, saw them in Ida Grove November 4, 1917, in a Ford car in front of Meyers & Cameron's ice cream parlor. It was a quarter to nine o'clock. I saw them leave and they went west.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

The car was a 1917 model, comparatively a new car.

Will Reinkoff, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, Iowa. Am engaged in the automobile business. I know Elsie Hargens and Ed Meents, went with them about four o'clock in the afternoon Monday, the 5th day of November, 1917, and investigated the ground where this crime was supposed to have been committed. I found a place that was flat in the leaves and higher up on the sides.

Edward Meents, called by the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, and am in the bank and land business, I know Elsie Hargens. She works at my place, and stays there at night, and she was working for me on the 4th day of November, 1917. I learned of this matter at about ten o'clock on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I was at her place that night. The next day Mr. Reinking, Elsie Hargens and myself went out to the place where this crime was supposed to have been committed. I made an investigation of the place, I found the place where it took place.

Q. Did she tell you where it occurred.

A. Yes.

Q. What did you find there now, just tell the jury please the condition of the place.

A. I found a place in the leaves which plainly showed the imprint of a human body. The leaves were pressed down and plainly showed the shape and form of a human body and surrounding the place you could plainly see the leaves hadn't been disturbed.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I am in the land and loan business and have a partner. Mr. A. C. Johnston, the attorney in this case, is my partner. I have been associated with him in business about five years.

Fern Sammons, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live in Battle Creek, Iowa, am fifteen years of age. I know the defendant Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I first saw them October 28, 1917. I saw them on the crossing in Battle Creek. I did not know Rathbun or Ray O'Meara at that time. Ellis Piper told me the defendant's name was Johnson.

The above testimony was introduced under the objection of the defendant as being incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial and hearsay.

The court permitted the answers. Defendant excepted.

J. M. Sauer, recalled on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

Q. I will ask you whether or not in November, 1917, you were in Omaha-Nebraska.

A. Yes sir.

Q. I will ask you whether you saw the defendant Rathbun there.

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, calling for hearsay and self-serving declarations and for the further reason, if it is to show flight, we object because they have not first shown that the defendant knew that he was wanted or that he was either accused or suspected of committing any crime or offense, that the proper foundation has not been laid.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes.

Q. Do you remember when it was?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: Same ruling. Defendant excepts.

A. It was on the 21st day of November, 1917. I presume about 11 o'clock in the morning.

Q. I will ask you whether you notified the sheriff of this county that you saw him there?

Mr. White: Same objection as last above and each of them.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Why, I spoke to him about it.

STATE RESTS.

DEFENDANT'S EVIDENCE.

Mrs. William Rathbun, called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live one mile and a half south of Ida Grove, on a farm and the wife of William Rathbun, and the mother of the defendant, Ernest Rathbun, and was home in the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917.

Q. While you were home that evening did Ray O'Meara and your son come there.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Do you know the hour they came that evening?

A. I do.

Q. That they arrived at home?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Now at what time of the evening did they arrive there?

A. Eight thirty-five.

Q. Now how do you determine that they arrived there at 8:35?

A. I was sitting at the table reading, and my son, Fred, was up in his room, and had gone up in his room, called me to set the alarm for him to arise in the morning at five-thirty, and I called to him to see the time, asked him the time so that I would have the clock right, and it was eight thirty-five, and at that time the boys in the yard, that is the boys drove in the yard.

Mr. Kindig: If it please the court we ask to have the statement of the witness concerning the time stricken out for the reason that it is entirely based upon hearsay. We had no opportunity to know what the answer would be, and therefore couldn't make our objection before, all she knows is what her son told her.

The Court: I will let the answer stand. State excepts.

Q. Did you have a clock in your hand at that time?

A. I did.

Q. What kind of a clock was it?

A. One of those small alarm clocks.

Q. What was the reason you asked your son the time?

Mr. Kindig: We object to that as calling for the conclusion of the witness, a self-serving declaration, and attempt to support hearsay testimony, incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial testimony.

The Court: You may answer. State excepts.

A. Why, so I would have both times the same, mine was a little slower.

Q. Do those little nickel clocks keep good time?

A. As a rule five or ten minutes difference in a day.

Q. After this conversation took place between you and your son, and after you heard the boys in the yard, did they come into the house?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Where did they go?

A. Up in Ernest's room.

Q. How long did Ray O'Meara stay in Ernest's room, if you know, or about how long?

A. Half or three-quarters of an hour.

Q. Then where did he go?

A. Well, he came down and went in the yard a little while, possibly ten minutes and then drove out.

Q. You didn't see him in the automobile?

A. No sir.

Q. Did Ernest go with him?

A. No sir.

Q. You was in the house all night that night?

A. All night.

Q. Was he there for breakfast?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What would you say as to whether or not he went out of the house after he came in with this boy that night?

A. He might have stepped out on the porch, but I am not sure.

Q. He didn't go away with him?

A. No.

Q. Did he stay there that night?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was he there for breakfast in the morning?

A. Yes sir.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I live one mile and a half south of Ida Grove. I was home Sunday, November 4, 1917. I was there all day was not in Battle Creek or Danbury. I know Mr. Harrington. I was not in his home that day. I do not know whether my husband was or not, when my son and O'Meara came to my home on the evening of 4th day of November, 1917, I was sitting in the room alone, my two young daughters were in the house and in bed. I heard the boys come in the yard. They came in with an automobile, I do not know where they left the car standing when they came in the house. When O'Meara went away he went away with the car. My son was away the night before and came in I think about eleven. We was not away Friday night. I do not think he was away Thursday night. Sunday before, my son was home part of the day. When the boys came in that night I said, "Hello, boys," that was a usual greeting. I was always fond of my boys, I didn't think there was anything significant in their coming in at that time. I paid no attention to them, and it made no particular impression on my mind. When O'Meara left I do not know which way he went. My son and O'Meara associate together and I have seen them in automobiles, and in Ford automobiles. I don't know whether O'Meara owns a Ford car or not. I have seen him in cars. Never saw him drive one.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Referring to who was present in the house that night, Fred was there.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

He was upstairs in his room that night. Whoever used the clock called the others. I called him. Fred sleeps upstairs. I sleep downstairs, when they came in I did not think of this case, nor the next day nor the next.

I had not heard of it, and I did not associate their coming in with this case, it was quite a usual thing for them to come in and go to Ernest's room.

Fred Rathbun, called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live one mile and a half south of Ida Grove, with my father and mother. I am farming. I was at home on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917, and while I was home that evening the defendant and Ray O'Meara came to the home. They came there at eight thirty-five. Ray O'Meara stayed a half or three-quarters of an hour. Ernest did not go away with him and was at breakfast the next morning

Q. How are you certain that it was eight thirty-five?

A. Well, I was upstairs, and I hollered down to have my mother set the alarm clock, and she hollered back and asked me what time it was, and I told her eight thirty-five.

Why were you having her set the alarm clock, or why was she setting the alarm clock?

A. To get up early and shuck corn.

Q. Did Ernest get up that morning and shuck corn?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And all of you were at breakfast together?

A. Yes sir.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I went up to my room that night about eight o'clock, I knew I was going to get up and shuck corn in the morning. I knew I was going to get up at five-thirty, and knew it would be necessary to have an alarm clock to wake me. My little brother, my little sisters and my mother were all sitting around the table. I was the fellow that tried to switch off on the defendant here yesterday. I heard my brother and the defendant come in that night. I heard them drive in with a car. I heard Ray O'Meara leave in a car, and have seen my brother and Ray O'Meara in a Ford car before, I do not know whether Ray O'Meara has a Ford car. I have seen him driving one, it is a 1917 model. My father was not home that night, I couldn't tell you where my brother was Saturday night, or when he came home Friday or Monday nights. I have talked to Mr. Clark and Mr. White. I was home Saturday night after ten o'clock. I was home Sunday with the exception from two to five o'clock in the afternoon. I got home about a quarter after five. I didn't get home any later than that. I drove out with a team. I know I got home about five-fifteen, for I started from town with a team at five o'clock. I was not in a car that day and did not own one at that time. My father has a Ford car. I didn't have that car that day, I got mine about two weeks ago.

Mrs. William O'Meara, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:
I live five and one-half miles north of Ida Grove. I have lived there fourteen years. I lived one year in town during that time. I am the wife of William O'Meara, jr., and the mother of Raymond O'Meara. I have four children, three girls and one boy. Raymond was away with his car on Sunday, the 4th day of November, 1917. He got home that evening at ten o'clock. I was in bed, he came in and went to the cupboard and got a lunch. He remained in the home the rest of the night, and I saw him the next morning. I was in the kitchen getting breakfast when I first saw him the next morning.

He came into the kitchen. We did not have our breakfast when he came down. He had his shoes in his hand, and he sat down in a chair and he talked to me while he was putting on his shoes. He asked me whether he should husk corn for papa or a neighbor. The neighbor was Mr. Sass. I told him he would have to ask papa. He had been husking for this neighbor. His father was in the barn. He came to the house soon afterward, and he asked his father whether he should husk corn for him or for Mr. Sass. His father told him he couldn't have the team to husk for Mr. Sass, and that he couldn't have the Ford car any more. Raymond said, "If I can't have the Ford car I am going away. His father then told him he could go. Raymond says, "All right." His father told him the reason he was taking the Ford car away from him was because he hadn't been to church the day before. Miss Hargens had been sewing for me, and Raymond asked me if his father was going down to get the sewing girl. I said "yes," and he said, "Well, I am going to see if I can't ride along with him." So he asked his father and the father said, "No, you can't ride with me." So then when his father went he put his clothes in a suit case and tried to get in the car with him, but he wouldn't let him in the car. So after his father left, Raymond said, "Well, I will take the Ford car and go. I will show him," and so then he went to the shed and got the other car and got ready and left. My husband returned with the sewing girl between nine and ten o'clock, after he let her out he said, "I am going back and get that car," get Sheriff McLeod to get it, and then he turned around and went toward town. This Miss Hargens had been sewing for me before this time, the week before. She is a sister to the prosecuting witness. She is deaf and dumb.

The reason I know it was ten o'clock when my mother came home that night is that when he came in I got up and lighted a match and looked at the clock, and it was ten o'clock. I lighted a lamp, unlocked the door and let him in. He went to bed at eleven o'clock.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

My husband and the children were there that night, and no one else. My three small children, one of them is seven, one is five and one is three years old. They were in bed, my husband was in bed. He got up and he looked at the clock, too. We had two cars at our place at the time, one Ford, my son drives it. We got it the 24th day of July, it is a 1917 model. The next morning he wanted to go to town with his father, he had trouble with his father. He went away in a car and came back about three weeks afterwards. The next time I saw him he had been arrested. I do not know the defendant, Ernest Rathbun. I live five and one-half miles north of Ida Grove. He left home on Saturday and was away all day Sunday until ten o'clock. I don't know where he was.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

The conversation had between the father and Raymond, came up before there was any talk about getting the sewing girl. The father did not tell him to leave. The son said he was going to leave. He packed his suitcase after he had the conversation with his father and he said he was going to leave, I got him the suitcase.

Lloyd Lynch, called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove all my life. I am engaged in the dray business, I am acquainted with the defendant, Ernest Rathbun, and I saw him on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I saw him at the Baxter Reed bank coming down in a car. He was in a Ford car 1917 model. I know the O'Meara car and this was the O'Meara car. Ray O'Meara was in the car. When it got to the Baxter Reed bank corner, they stopped and I got in with them driving two blocks west to the Shirk corner. Then I got out and they went south. I saw them going over the hill two blocks south from where I got out. I live the first house west of the Shirk Garage, this was between eight and eight-thirty.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. See, they call you Tuffy Lynch, don't they?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as misconduct, improper, and the statement made for the purpose of discrediting the witness.

Mr. Kindig: I think we have a right to show this jury what this witness' name is and how he is known.

The Court: I will let it stand.

A. Yes sir.

I was on the Baxter Reed corner standing there. I saw them over by Simpson's hardware store, coming down the street. I have known the defendant for quite a while. I couldn't say how long, I have associated with him, played ball with him, went to dances. I have known him intimately for a long time. I became associated with O'Meara when he started going to school. I can not say when it was, but have known him intimately since that time.

Q. Do you remember of having a conversation with a couple of men the other day as to the time this was when you saw the defendant in town this particular night?

Mr. White: Objected to as too indefinite, if it is for the purpose of impeachment.

Mr. Kindig: It is just a preliminary question.

The Court: He has asked him if he remembers of having a conversation; answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Do you remember the time you told them it was?

A. I didn't tell them.

Q. Uh-huh.

Mr. Clark: Uh-huh. Have you got that in the record?

Mr. Kindig: You take care of your side of the table and I will try and take care of mine.

Mr. White: If the court please, we object to the manner and conduct of the counsel for the reason that it is prejudicial and to the remarks made after the witness answered.

The Court: Neither side need to indulge in this.

Q. Those men were Philo Van Wagoner and O. O. Rock, were they not?

A. I guess they were the men.

Q. At that time didn't you in words or in substance tell them that you got into the car with Ray O'Meara and this defendant in Ida Grove, Iowa, and rode two blocks with them and it was nine o'clock?

A. No sir, I did not.

Mr. Clark: I would like to have Mr. Rock come forward.

Mr. Clark: Come out in here where we can get a look at you.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Is this one of the men they refer to?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And he is one of the men that you was asked if you did not have a conversation with?

A. Yes sir.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I know Philo Van Wagoner and know him quite well, he was the other person.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I had no conversation with them in relation to the time. I am twenty years old and live at home.

Q. How long have you made your own living, if you have?

A. Three or four years.

Q. And how long has it been since your father lived in the home with your mother?

A. Probably twelve years.

Q. Have you or have you not been contributing your earnings to the support of the home?

A. Yes sir.

Q. For your mother and your brothers and sisters?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And there is where your wages go is it?

A. Not all of them, most of them.

Q. Now you may state the conversation that you had with this man Rock, what he said to you and what you said to him.

A. Well, he came down when I was loading up coal, or just ready to load up coal, and he asked me if I knew Mr. O'Meara and Mr. Rathbun. and I said yes sir. He asked me if I seen them that night, and I said, "yes sir," and then he asked me if I knew anything about it, and I told him I rode down the street with them that evening, and he asked me where I got in and how far I rode, and I told him from the Baxter bank to Shirk's garage, and he asked me what time it was, and I told him. I did not know for sure, but I thought it was eight or around eight o'clock, and he said, "would you swear it was not before seven," and I said "No," and he said, "would you swear that it was not later than nine?" I said "No sir," and he asked me which way they went when they let me out, and I told him they went south.

Q. Did you or did you not tell him the same as you have told upon this witness stand?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You said you knew the Ray O'Meara car. Is there any particular distinction why you would know this particular O'Meara car, is there any difference in that car than any other car that you know, Ford car?

A. Well, I know the car has got two glasses out of the lights.

Q. That is in front?

A. In front.

Q. And did you notice those were out prior to the 4th day of November, 1917?

A. I have noticed them before that time, and I noticed them at that time.

William C. Rathbun, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I live about two miles south of Ida Grove. I am a farmer by occupation, and Ernest Rathbun is my son. I saw Ray O'Meara on Monday the 5th day of November, 1917. I saw him at the elevator where my men were unloading corn. It was about half-past eleven. I invited him in to dinner and he said he had dinner down town. I had a talk with Ernest down by the water tank. He was unhitching his team. He says Ray O'Meara was going away to husk corn and he wanted to go with him. He asked me whether or not he could go. He was husking corn for Fritz and I told him to see Fritz and whatever he said. He went with O'Meara and they drove off in the car together. I didn't see him after that time until the 21st or the 22nd. I wouldn't be sure one or the other of those days. I saw him in Grant township.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I knew my son went away and I knew he went away with Ray O'Meara to husk corn. Someone told me the sheriff of this county was looking for my son. He never spoke to me about it nor did I speak to him. I never saw the sheriff, and I did not know where my son was at that time. I told him nothing about the boys when I saw them in Grant township. He was at his brother's near the Soldier. It is half way between Schleswig and Ida Grove. I next saw him after that in town. The next time I saw him he was arrested.

William O'Meara, called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live five and one-half miles north of Ida Grove, lived there for fourteen years. Raymond O'Meara is my son, and he was home in the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. He got home at ten o'clock, and stayed home that night, and was there the next morning. I had a conversation with him in the house on the presence of my wife.

Q. What was said?

A. He asked me if he should shuck corn for Sass or for me, and I told him "You wasn't home last night with the car," and I says "You can't have it any more," and I says, "You can't have the team to pick corn for Sass."

Q. Did you say anything else to him as to why he couldn't have the car any more?

A. Yes, because he wasn't to church the Sunday before.

Q. Had you talked to him about going to church?

A. Yes, I had.

Q. And had you said anything to him about the car when you were talking to him about his going to church?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection if the court please. I would like to have this objection stand to all this.

The Court: Yes, it may. Answer. State excepts.

A. I told him if he didn't go to church that I wouldn't let him have the Ford car any more.

Q. What more was said that morning between you and the boy in the presence of his mother?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling.

A. Well, I was going to town and he asked me if he could ride to town with me and I told him no. I was going down to get a sewing girl, and was a Miss Hargens.

Q. What did the boy say when you told him he couldn't have the car any more?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. He said he was going to quit.

Q. Did you see him make any preparations to leave the home?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. Yes, he went up stairs and packed his suitcase.

Q. Was he out at the car when you left?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. No, he was coming out when I left the gate, he was coming out of the gate.

Q. Where did you next see the boy?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. Seen him coming to town, passed him on the way. He was coming and I was going back with the sewing girl. I let the girl out, turned around and came back to town, and saw Tom McLeod, the sheriff.

Q. What did he say to him?

A. I wanted him to go and we would go after the car.

Q. And did he say he would go with you or what did he say?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. Yes, he said he would go.

Q. What time of the day was it that you was talking to Tom McLeod?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State: Same objection.

A. It was about ten or half past as near as I can remember.

Q. Did you and the sheriff go to see if you could get the car?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. No. Tom said, "You wait around awhile." He said, "I have to go up to the court house, and you wait around and get your car ready and we will go as soon as I get back."

Q. Well, where was it Mr. O'Meara that you and the sheriff had this talk?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. In Anderson Lipton Bank.

Q. Did you see him again?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Same ruling. State excepts.

A. Yes, he came down town then after he was up to the court house, and I met him in front of Lainson's restaurant. I had lunch there, and I was just coming out and met Tom right in front of Lainson's restaurant, and he said "Are you ready to go?" I said "yes." He said, "where is your car?" I says, "down in front of Pilcher's." He says, "I don't believe there is any use of going to Denison."

I bought this Ford car for the boy. It is a 1917 model. The car had non-skid tires behind and smooth tread in front, and those are the kind of tires that has been on the car all the time.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Ray O'Meara got home that Sunday evening at ten o'clock. I do not remember what time he got home the Sunday before or the Tuesday before. I had told him before this that he shouldn't be running around with the Ford car. I started to town. I met him coming into town when I was going back home with the sewing girl. The sewing girl was a deaf and dumb person. He knew she was a Hargens girl. I didn't see him again until after he was arrested. I do not know where he was when he was gone.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Did you have any talk with your son after your conversation with him at the home that morning?

A. No sir.

Q. And is it a fact or not, that notwithstanding what the sheriff said to you about your son being suspected or he suspecting him you still wanted him to go with you to get the car away from the boy?

A. Yes sir.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I have no personal knowledge of my son's whereabouts on the afternoon of November 4th, 1917. I don't know where he was at seven, eight or nine o'clock.

Miss Jane McCormick, called as a witness on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I am one of the teachers of the public schools, principal of the high school. I was here during the school year 1916-1917, and know Raymond O'Meara. He was a student the school year 1916-1917, attended the high school 110 days.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

He was a student in the high school, not in the grade school.

Mrs. Luella Morley, called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I have been teaching in the public schools of Ida Grove since 1915, and I know Miss Elsie Hargens. I teach the eighth grade, have taught that grade ever since I have been here. She was in my grade as a student. She was promoted to my grade from the 7th.

Miss Ida Knudsen was a student in my grade from 1916 to 1917.

William Moore, called as a witness in behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I reside in Ida Grove, Iowa, have resided here for about fourteen years. Know Ernest Rathbun and Philo Van Wagoner. Saw Van Wagoner call Rathbun out of the pool hall in Ida Grove, Saturday evening, and understood he arrested him.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Van Wagoner is considered as an officer in Ida Grove, he wears a star. I understand he arrested the boys that night.

Ellis Piper, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove sixteen years, live at home and am sixteen years old.

Q. I will ask you whether or not you had a conversation with a girl by the name of Fern Sammons in Battle Creek, on or about the 28th day of October, 1917, wherein you told her in the presence of Ray O'Meara and Ernest Rathbun that Ernest Rathbun's name was Johnson?

A. No sir.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I have talked with her. I don't know just when it was. It was in Battle Creek, that is the only place. I don't know Miss Sammons. I know of her, I know the defendant, have known him five or six years, and know Ray O'Meara three or four years. I have seen them frequently and been auto riding with them, and been in Battle Creek, Iowa, with them. I have heard and seen them talk with Fern Sammons.

Walter Anderson, called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows.

I live in Ida Grove, have lived here all my life. I am a laborer. I am acquainted with Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara. I know the prosecuting witness in this case when I see her.

Q. Where did you see her the first time to know her?

A. Coming up from the Old Town.

Q. And where was she when you saw her to know her?

A. Up above the postoffice on that corner?

Q. When you first knew her was at this corner south of the postoffice.

A. Yes sir.

Q. How did you come to know her at that time?

A. One of the boys I was sitting with told me it was Elsie Hargens.

Q. Was this the evening of the 4th of November, 1917?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Now what did you do here?

A. The boys dared me to take her home.

Q. Who was present when that conversation took place?

A. Walter Miller, Luke McCabe, and Louis Fuester.

Q. What did you do then?

A. I walked up to her and asked her if I couldn't see her home?

Q. And where did you get in her company first?

A. The corner south of the postoffice.

Q. Did you have any conversation with her?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What was the conversation?

A. I asked her "If I couldn't see her home?" She said, "I don't care." I asked her "if her name wasn't Elsie Hargens." She says "How do you know." I says "Luke McCabe or Happy Miller one of them told me your name was Elsie Hargens.

Q. Then what direction did you go?

A. Went a block west, down to Snell's corner, on the Taylor street corner, then about a block south, I left her either at the third or fourth house, I do not remember.

Q. What did you say to her then?

A. I asked her "If I couldn't have a date for Monday night." She said "She couldn't very well get away because she was going to wash all day Monday." I said, "How about Friday night." She says, "Why yes, I guess so."

Q. Was that the girl you was with. (Indicating the prosecuting witness.)

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was this on Sunday the 4th day of November, 1917?

A. Yes sir, in the evening around ten o'clock.

Q. How long did you talk with her there at the house, if you did?

A. Well, I talked as far as I know about ten or fifteen minutes, I won't say how long it was.

Q. You talked with her there a short time?

A. Yes sir.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. You didn't rape her did you Jokey?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as improper and misconduct.

Mr. Kindig: I am not sure just what the purpose of this testimony is.

Mr. Clark: Object to the statement, as improper and misconduct.

The Court: I don't think he needs to answer that.

Q. Where did you first see the girl?

A. On the corner a block south of the postoffice.

Q. What was she doing when you saw her?

A. Going home.

Q. Where was she when you first came up to her?

A. South of the postoffice.

Q. At that time what did she do, when you first went up to her? Did you notice anything unusual about her?

A. When I first walked up to her she acted a little nervous but I thought it was on account of me walking up there.

Q. She acted a little nervous when you first came up to her?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was her hair hanging down?

A. I didn't notice that.

Q. You don't know whether you went to the third or the fourth house as I understand you?

A. No sir.

Q. To which part of the house did you go?

A. I went in front on the sidewalk, right in front of the house on the main sidewalk.

Q. You didn't leave the main sidewalk?

A. No sir.

Q. About how long did you stay there?

A. I should judge ten or fifteen minutes.

Q. When you were standing up in front of the house talking to the girl fifteen minutes did you see whether or not her hair was hanging down, or whether or not there were leaves on her back?

A. No sir.

Q. Was it a light night?

A. Not exceptionally dark.

Q. When you left her which way did you go?

A. North.

Q. Where did you leave the boys whom you said you were with when you started to go with the girl?

A. On the corner.

Q. Where were the boys when you next saw them?

A. Fuester was coming behind me from the postoffice, and Luke McCabe, I don't know which direction they did come, but we met on the Baxter corner.

Q. Where did you meet Louis Fuester?

A. On Baxter's corner, he came up behind me.

Q. And that is the first time you met him after you had been with the girl?

A. Yes sir.

Q. See, you are under arrest aren't you for stealing an automobile?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, immaterial, misconduct and improper.

The Court: I don't think that is proper. State excepts.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Now did you see anything in her appearance there would indicate that she had been mussed up or had been in trouble that evening when you came up?

A. No sir.

Q. She talked all right?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And didn't act at all unnatural only just a little frustrated when you went up there and asked her?

A. That is all.

Q. Did you joke and laugh as you went down?

A. Didn't joke very much.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

Mr. Clark is my attorney. The girl was absolutely calm and collected after I walked up to her, as far as I know her clothing were absolutely normal and smooth just the same as they ordinarily would be. She was not excited, absolutely normal, and I noticed nothing in the world out of the way with her. I was going to meet her at the postoffice Friday night. I did not go there to meet her and did not meet her anywhere Friday night, nor any place after that night.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. What was the reasons that you didn't meet her there?

A. I heard about this crime and I didn't think she would be there.

Q. It was after you took her home that you heard about the crime.

A. Yes sir.

Q. I will ask you whether or not when you talked about going there Friday night. if she asked you any particular question?

A. No sir

Q. To prompt your memory did you say anything about a picture show?

A. Why, she asked me where we would go Friday night, and I says why, the show or something like that.

Q. You talked with this man Rock?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You have talked with Johnston?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And the attorneys in this case?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You told them this story in Johnston's office?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What did this man Rock say to you?

Mr. Kindig: We object to that as not proper re-direct, immaterial.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. I will ask you if Mr. Rock didn't call you a liar there?

A. Yes sir.

Q. I will ask you if he didn't call you a low down sneak?

Mr. Kindig: If it please the Court we object to this as absolutely improper, immaterial, leading and suggestive and argumentative, and no place in this case.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. Now I will ask you if you had a conversation in relation to this matter you have testified to in the presence of the prosecuting witness, also in the presence of Bert Johnston, the State's attorney and Rock and Ridsen?

Mr. Kindig: Same objection.

The Court: Sustained. Defendant excepts.

Q. Was you in Johnston's office in the presence of those gentlemen when they brought the prosecuting witness in?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And this was the same girl as sits here?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And did they or did they not at that time ask you whether or not that was the same girl?

A. Yes sir.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I thought she would not want to keep her date with me Friday night for the reason she had the trouble at the rendering works or near there.

I don't know whether she came from the rendering works or not that night, or where she came from. I made the date with her.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. You knew nothing of it until you had taken her home did you?

A. Nothing until the next day.

Walter Miller, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I have resided in Ida Grove, Iowa, twenty-one years. I am a laborer, am twenty-one years of age, and I know Walter Anderson. I was on the corner of Main and Second street near the Johnson drug store corner with him on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I saw the prosecuting witness that evening, the first time crossing the street from Simpson's hardware store over to the Baxter Bank corner.

Q. What, if anything, was said there in relation to Mr. Anderson going with her?

A. Well, we dared him. We saw the girl coming and we dared him to go over and get a date with her, and he wouldn't go at first, but we kidded him along and he went.

Q. Now how did he go, did he go by the crossing?

A. He cut across the street, went from the drug store corner across by the barber shop, near the alley.

Q. Then where did he go?

A. Went up the street and caught her at the corner.

Q. Did you follow him?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How far did you follow him?

A. Down to the house.

Q. What house was it?

A. It was the second house from the corner.

Q. Second house from the corner?

A. North of Fourth street on Taylor street on the east side of the street.

A. Yes sir.

Q. Was it next to the Finley property?

Q. Did you go by the house that evening after he had left the girl?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you or did you not see her in the house?

A. I saw someone up in the room.

Q. Was the window of the room open to the west?

A. Yes sir, there was two windows open.

Q. Did you hear her make any statement there?

A. Yes sir.

Q. What did she say?

A. She said one of the boys gave his name as Albert Johnson.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

It was the second house from the corner, not the third or fourth. It was about 10:30. I looked at a clock, but I may have been mistaken. I had a talk with you the other day and told you it was 10:30 and I told you I was sure of it, and I told you I looked at the clock at Baxter's corner. I saw Anderson talking to the girl, first standing up at the corner one block south of Baxter's bank near the vacant lots. I also saw them standing out in front of the house. I was laying between the third and fourth house from the corner. I couldn't say how long they stood out there and talked. They were standing off the edge of the side walk. I did not see him leave. I heard him go. When he left I was laying on the north side of the third house. I saw some one go around to the back of the house, and when she went around to the back of the house until she got into the house, I heard nothing and I saw nothing more, I didn't hear anybody call. I was about fifty feet from the girl. I couldn't say as to whether she was excited or nervous. She apparently was perfectly willing to stand and talk, nothing unusual about her actions, or her appearance, and nothing that attracted me to her hair or to her coat. I have known Rathbun ever since he has been old enough to come to town, and have known O'Meara for the last three years. I have been with them a good deal around town and around the surrounding country.

Q. When did you last see O'Meara?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and not proper cross examination.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. I seen him that afternoon.

Q. What afternoon?

A. Sunday, about four-thirty.

Q. In Ida Grove?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and not proper cross examination, nothing said here in relation to O'Meara.

The Court: Answer, if I get the question right. (Question read to the Court.)

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. You said the last time I seen him, was the question, the last time?

Q. That was what I asked you, Mr. Miller, the last time you saw him?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. I seen him Monday afternoon, or Monday noon about a quarter of twelve as I was going home to dinner.

Q. Where did you see him at that time?

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial and not proper cross examination.

The Court: Answer. Defendant excepts.

A. The Standard Oil Company filling station.

Q. Did you have a talk with him there?

Mr. Clark: Same objection.

The Court: Answer. Defendant objects.

A. Yes sir, he called me over. I was going down the sidewalk and he called me over to the car, and he says "Did you hear anything about the deal we pulled up in the grove," and I says "No."

The Court: He wasn't asked as to that part of it, it will be stricken. State excepts.

Louis P. Fuester, called as a witness on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I was residing in Ida Grove, Iowa, on the 4th day of November, 1917, I am a baker, but was painting at that time. I resided in Ida Grove two years. I now reside in Sioux City. I was present on the corner with Luke McCabe, Eddie O'Brien, Walter Miller and Walter Anderson, in Ida Grove, Iowa, on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I saw Mr. Anderson go up and accost a lady walking on the west side of Main street, above the postoffice. He went with this lady one block west to Snell's corner, and they proceeded up in the block where Nimrock's boarding house is, toward the other end of the block, as near as I can recollect, it was the third house from the corner, I didn't pay any particular attention to it at the time as everything done then was in a joking way, and we boys followed up there. I wouldn't know whether it was the second or third house from the corner. It was up at the other end of the block. I wouldn't know the girl if I saw her. I didn't notice that she was crying. She didn't seem to be suffering in any way walking up the street there, as far as her appearance going up there is concerned. I didn't see that there was any leaves or anything of that kind in her hair.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

It was rather dark that night. I didn't see the girl very well. I paid no attention to her with the exception that I saw her walking up the street. All of us boys were together when Anderson started out to walk up the street with this girl. I didn't know what the girl's name was until I came down here to testify. I would say it was between ten or ten-thirty. I passed them where the other boys separated from me in the alley. They went the back way and I went the front way, and I saw Anderson talking with her in front of the house. They didn't talk very long, five or ten minutes. I met Anderson next practically on the same place where he met the girl only a trifle down the street toward the postoffice. McCabe and O'Brien were the first of the boys to meet Anderson after he left the girl. I met him after the other boys met him. I came up from behind.

Raymond McCabe, called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove about eleven years, and am a son of Luke McCabe.

Q. Do you know this lady sitting here, Miss Elsie Hargens?

A. Yes sir.

Q. How long have you known her?

A. About three years.

Q. Where did you first meet her or get acquainted with her?

A. She worked for my brother.

Q. Which brother?

A. Edward McCabe.

Q. Where does he live?

A. He lives on Taylor street, in Ida Grove.

Q. Was he living on Taylor street when you first got acquainted with the girl?

A. No, he was living on the next street a block west.

Q. Was Miss Hargens a domestic in your brother's home?

A. Yes sir, she was working there.

Q. Do you know Walter Miller, Walter Anderson and Mr. Fuester, the baker?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Did you see those gentlemen on the evening of November 4th last?

A. Yes.

Q. Where did you see them?

A. Barney Johnson's drug store corner.

Q. Did you see Miss Hargens that evening?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Where did you see her?

A. I seen her passing under the town clock at Baxter's bank. She was going south.

Q. Was there anything said in your presence and hearing there when you boys were on the corner to Walter Anderson about his crossing the street and walking home with her?

A. Yes sir, we dared him to take her home, he took her home.

Q. Whereabout, if you know, did he meet her?

A. He met her south of the postoffice, up on the corner where the militia camp was last summer.

Q. Did he walk with her?

A. Yes sir.

Q. Which direction if you know?

A. He went a block west from the corner, then went south not quite a block.

Q. What did you see as far as they were concerned when they got down nearly a block?

A. I just saw them walking along.

Q. Do you know about how long he was gone?

A. Not over ten or fifteen minutes.

Q. What time of night was it, Mr. McCabe, if you now?

A. It was between ten and ten thirty.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I know Mr. Fuester, he was there when the talk was had with Anderson in regard to going home with the girl. I knew who the girl was. I told the boys who she was. It was between ten and ten thirty. I didn't look at the clock. I didn't see or hear Anderson talk with the girl at the house. I was right back of the house, about thirty-five or forty feet from the girl. I didn't see her go into the house. I didn't notice her hair hanging down, saw nothing extraordinary about her. I knew her quite well and she looked absolutely normal and perfectly calm, not distracted at all, apparently having a good time. My brother married an O'Meara.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I was in Mr. Johnston's office with Mr. Kindig and his detectives. They got me to make an affidavit. They talked to me up there. I don't know exactly the time of night it was.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I am not certain that it was after ten o'clock, it was ten or ten thirty.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I looked at the clock before ten, and it wasn't ten o'clock at that time.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I am sure it was ten o'clock now, because it was close to ten when I looked at the clock.

J. M. Reese, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, and have for a good many years. Am a member of the school board, have been for twelve years and am president of the board. I have been president for twelve years. Have two public school buildings in town. They are about fifty or sixty feet apart. In the year 1914, 1915, 1916 and 1917 the grade school opened the same time in the morning as the high school, let out the same time at noon and took up the same time afternoon, and closed the same time in the afternoon. The custom has been to open the buildings at eight-thirty, and the grounds are always open to the children high school or grade. In playing upon the grounds the grade and high school students intermingled.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I don't know what children were in the assembly room at any time, and don't know what children played around the school grounds. I don't know when Miss Elsie Hargens got to school. She may have gone home at noon, and I would know nothing about when she would come back. I don't know whether she ever played with defendant or saw him.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

I think Raymond O'Meara played on the football team during the falls of 1914, 1915 and 1916.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I know the last year he was in school of his dropping out in the winter time. I don't know who watched him play football, and don't know whether Elsie Hargens did or not, or whether she ever saw him practice, or wearing a football suit.

H. A. Moorehead, being called as a witness on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

(Exhibit 2 marked as defendant's plat and introduced without objection.)

"Exhibit 2" is a plat of the road running west from what we call the "Old Town," where it diverges running north on the Russell road and southwest past the mill property. I have Moorehead avenue marked on "Exhibit 2." That is a street or avenue in the Old Town of this city, and this plat commences at a point where Moorehead avenue intersects with the Ida county and Woodbury county road. Moorehead avenue passes the depot, runs northeast and connects with the Ida and Woodbury county roads. This intersection is marked 3,295 feet. That is the distance from the intersection of Moorehead avenue, to a point on the road just west of the Maple river bridge, the point marked "Prior's residence" and "678 feet" is the distance from about the center of the road to the nearest point of Mr. Pryor's residence. The point marked "375" feet, this is the distance from the center of the road a short distance west of the west end of the Maple river bridge to the intersection of divergence of the road running to Russell's and the road running to W. C. Moorehead's house; "740" feet is the distance from the west end of the Maple river bridge to W. C. Moorehead's residence. There is nothing to show the distance from the west end of the river bridge to the rendering works but I should judge without measuring that it is between three and four hundred feet. It is about one-half mile from the depot to the intersection of Moorehead avenue with the Ida and Woodbury county road.

P. E. Pryor, being called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I reside in the northwest part of Ida Grove. I am a butcher. There is a bridge over the Maple river northeast of my place. I was home all evening on the 4th day of November, 1917. I did not hear any screams that evening.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I was inside my house that night. There are a few trees between my house and the bridge, and the distance is about six hundred feet.

Lowell McShane, being called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live northwest of Ida Grove, on William Moorehead's farm. Been living near Ida Grove for ten years. I was at my home on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917. I was not home all that day. I came in on the evening train the "local." I had been to Danbury. It was due here then at a quarter after eight. I walked across "Cobb's pasture" from the train home that evening. I got in the Ida and Woodbury county road just east of the river bridge. "Exhibit 2" where it is marked bridge is the bridge I refer to. I saw a car that evening just west of the bridge. It wasn't right close to the bridge. It was standing on the road going into W. C. Moorehead's. It was about three or four rods from the bridge, there was four persons in the car, there were two men and two girls. I passed within three or four feet of the car. I heard them talking and laughing. I live in the Moorehead house. I got home that night about nine o'clock. I heard no screaming. After I got home I sat around awhile before I went to bed. My windows were open.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I got home about nine o'clock. It might have been a little later. I started home from the depot at about half-past eight. I got out to my home at about nine o'clock. I had been visiting in Danbury that day with my sister-in-law. After I got home I didn't go back down to the road leading into the rendering works. My house is not hidden from the bridge by a hill and timber, there is some timber between the house and the bridge.

DEFENDANT RESTS.

STATE'S RE-BUTTAL EVIDENCE.

Barney Plank, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, Iowa. Have lived here for twelve years. I am a cement and bricklayer. I was in Ida Grove on the 4th day of November, 1917, and in the evening of that day. I know Fritz Rathbun. Known him ever since he was born. I saw him that evening a little bit before the train came in. I think about 7:28 that evening. I saw him down at the Stern's Garage, he told me he was going home early. I should judge he left about 9:30. He was constantly there.

W. A. Stern, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove seventeen years. I run a repair shop. I know Fritz Rathbun, have known him twelve or fifteen years. I saw him on the evening of the 4th day of November, 1917, I would think it was 7:30 at my garage. Barney Plank was there. I can't be positive when he left that night but I believe between ten and eleven o'clock. He was there all the time.

Fred Stough, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

Lived in Ida Grove seventeen years, working in a grocery store. I am acquainted with Walter Anderson. I have known him six or seven years, and I know his reputation for truth and veracity in Ida Grove, Iowa, and it isn't considered very good.

P. O. Van Wagoner, called on behalf of the state, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove twenty-seven years. I am city marshal. Been city marshal for sixteen years. I know Walter Anderson, known him ever since he was a child, and I know his reputation in Ida Grove, Iowa, for truth and veracity, and it is bad.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I am the father of Philo Van Wagoner, who has been very active in this matter.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

My son is assistant marshal.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

My son was sworn in as an assistant marshal, but has not qualified as a deputy by giving a bond. I do not know whether Walter Anderson was before the grand jury in this cause or not.

Mr. Clark: Call Walter Anderson.

The Sheriff: Walter Anderson isn't in the court room.

Mr. Clark: Will it be conceded by the state that he testified before the grand jury, and was subpoenaed by the state as witness for this trial.

Mr. Kindig: Yes sir.

DEFENDANT'S SUR-REBUTTAL.

Fred Rathbun, called in sur-rebuttal, testified as follows:

Q. Was you on the evening of, or the afternoon of, the 4th day of November, 1917, in a place known as the Stern's garage in Ida Grove, Iowa?

A. I was.

Q. When did you leave that building that evening?

A. A little before five o'clock.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. And you were not there after that hour that evening?

A. No sir.

William H. O'Brien, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, Iowa, I am a mason. I was in what is known as Stearn's garage on the afternoon and evening of November 4, 1917. I saw Fred Rathbun there. I know about the time he left. It was about five-thirty or six-thirty. He did not come back again later in the evening. I was there all that evening and I was there as late as ten o'clock that evening.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I have known Fred Rathbun all his life. I have known Ernest Rathbun ever since he has been large enough to come to town, and I know their father. I have known him all my life. I went to the garage about one o'clock in the afternoon. I went to get something to eat at six or six-thirty. I couldn't swear that Fred was there when I went to supper, but I know he was not there when I came back. I got back between 6:30 and 7 o'clock. I don't think he was there when I left for supper. I talked to Mr. Clark some. I did not talk to Mr. White. I did not tell you in a conversation that I did not know who was there, nor did I tell you or say that I did not know when he left.

Frank McNamara, called on behalf of defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in Ida Grove twenty-one years. I am twenty-one years old. I work as a farm hand. On the 4th day of November, 1917, I was working for Mr. Rathbun. I was not working that Sunday.

Did you telephone to Fred Rathbun on or about six o'clock that evening?

A. Yes.

Q. Had you, prior to that time, talked with him over the phone at different times?

A. Yes, lots of times.

Q. Did you know his voice?

A. I did.

Q. Where did you call from?

A. I called from home once, and from Mess' garage once.

Q. What time did you call from Mess' garage?

A. Right around a quarter to eight.

•Q. When you called him from home, who answered the phone?

A. His mother.

Q. When you called on the phone that evening at six o'clock did you talk to Fred Rathbun over the phone.

A. Yes.

Q. Did you call their home phone number?

A. I did.

Q. The second time a quarter to eight, as you say, did you talk to Fred Rathbun?

A. I did.

Q. Did you call the home number?

A. I did.

Q. And in both of those conversations was it Fred Rathbun that was at the other end of the phone?

A. Yes.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

I have known Fred Rathbun six or seven years, and known the defendant four or five years. I have associated with Fred and the defendant some, and have worked for Mr. Rathbun. I called him twice that evening, right around eight and six o'clock. I was visiting at Nelson's that night, got to their place about eight o'clock. It is about three-quarters of a mile from Mess' garage. I walked out there.

A. W. Cameron, called on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I live in Ida Grove, am an ice cream manufacturer, and I know Walter Anderson and I know his reputation in and about Ida Grove for truth and veracity, and it is good.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. "Jokey" Anderson is quite a model young man, isn't he?"

Mr. Clark: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, asking for a conclusion, misconduct on the part of the state's attorney.

Mr. Kindig: You asked him for a conclusion.

The Court: The inquiry is as to veracity, truthfulness, nothing further than that, so that question would not be pertinent to the inquiry. State excepts.

Q. You were in the army with Anderson, weren't you?

A. Yes sir.

Q. And while you were in the army you made lots of complaints, didn't you, to your superior officers about his truth and veracity.

A. None about his truth and veracity.

Q. How long have you known the defendant?

A. I have known who he was for about ten years. I knew him personally for about one year.

Q. Do you know his brother, Fritz?

A. I didn't know he had a brother Fritz.

Q. You know the defendant, Ernest Rathbun?

A. I do.

Q. How long have you known him?

A. I have known of him about ten years.

Q. You have associated with him some?

A. I was with him on the border.

Q. And you have been with him in Ida Grove?

A. No, he has been in my place of business, but I have never been with him in Ida Grove.

Q. Haven't you been with him at dances?

A. I don't ever remember of being at a dance where he was at.

Q. Whoever told you his truth and veracity was good?

Mr. Clark: We object to that as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial.

The Court: You may answer. Defendant excepts.

A. Whose truth and veracity were you referring to?

Q. Whose truth and veracity were you referring to?

A. Walter Anderson.

Q. That might be the fellow I was referring to?

Mr. Clark: You have been referring in your last questions to the defendant.

A. Well, when he was up for court martial the colonel in charge of the court martials always said that the only reason that he hated to do anything to these boys, Walter Anderson being one of them, was because they always got up and told the truth.

Q. And that was in Ida Grove, Iowa.

A. No, that wasn't in Ida Grove, Iowa, that was in Brownsville, Texas.

Q. Who in Ida Grove, Iowa, told you that his reputation was good for truth and veracity?

A. I don't know as anyone has told me it was good.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Have you ever at any time heard his truth and veracity challenged?

A. I never have.

William Kennedy, called as a witness on behalf of the defendant, testified as follows:

I have lived in the neighborhood of Ida Grove, Iowa thirty-four years and have lived two years in town, I farmed for several years south of town. I know Walter Anderson, and know his reputation for truth and veracity, in and about Ida Grove, Iowa, and it is good.

CROSS EXAMINATION.

Q. See, you just recently signed an information for the arrest of "Yokey" Anderson for stealing an automobile?

Mr. White: That is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant and immaterial, and not proper cross examination.

The Court: Sustained, no such matter on inquiry. State excepts.

Q. Who did you ever hear say that "Yokey" Anderson's reputation was good for truth and veracity?

A. I don't know as I can just tell you. I inquired just lately about Walter Anderson.

Q. Why did you inquire lately about him. Did you inquire about his being truthful, or did you inquire about other things about him?

A. I don't know as I did about his being so truthful, I believe it was other things I inquired about.

Q. How long have you known him?

A. Well, about three years.

Q. Do you know the defendant in this case?

A. I do not know him very well, I have known the family a long time. Do you know Mr. White?

A. Yes sir.

Q. You talked to him about what you was going to testify to?

A. Just a second, this evening.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. Mr. Kennedy, you had occasion to inquire as to this young man's truth and veracity lately, did you not?

A. Yes, I did.

Q. And what was the result of that inquiry?

A. He told me the truth.

Q. And in making these inquiries you were told that he was a truthful boy were you not?

A. He told me the truth.

Q. And in making these inquiries you were told also that he was truthful by different people you inquired of?

A. Yes sir.

Mr. Clark: If the court please, that statement they rather threw into the record, I didn't get the ruling of the court.

The Court: What was that?

Mr. Clark: Where they speak about signing the information against this boy.

Mr. Kindig: Your objection was sustained.

The Court: Sustained.

Mr. Clark: You can have that, if you desire. We will withdraw the objection and let you have it.

Mr. Kindig: I am not asking for it. The Court has ruled, I am not asking for anything the Court hasn't given me, sir.

Mr. Clark: Seeing you wanted it we withdraw our objection.

Mr. Kindig: You are very generous.

RE-CROSS EXAMINATION.

I inquired of different ones concerning his veracity, a dozen or two persons. I cannot give you the names, I talked to them in regard to his reputation and the way they talked to me I took it for granted that he was a good boy. I will not say they all told me he was truthful.

Mr. Clark: We rest.

Mr. Kindig: The State rests.

The Court: The State may address the Jury.

Mr. Macomber's address to the jury, in part as follows:

Gentlemen of the Jury: Gentlemen, I feel somewhat the inspiration suddenly hits me now as I imagine Theodore Roosevelt generally feels when he makes a speech. He always has a reporter take his speech down for him. Gentlemen, before proceeding into this argument I wish to tell you that I have no idea of what I am going to say to you, but I want to assure you right now, that I do not intend to appeal to your prejudice or to your passion, that all I ask you to do, each and every one of you, is to perform your duty as you have sworn to perform it, and be men in whose veins there flows none but red blood; that is all that I ask of you to do your duty, and if you do not believe that this defendant has been proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, then in God's holy name, I ask you right now to acquit him. But if he has been proven guilty by evidence that is sufficient to warrant you to believe that he has been proven guilty beyond a reasonable doubt, then it is your duty to comply with your oath.

You will remember when the indictment was read to you that the name of the Assistant County Attorney, Mr. Murphy, appeared upon that indictment; you will remember that there was evidence in the case that Mr. Murphy and myself were also in attendance at the preliminary hearing on Monday the 24th day of November when court convened.

Mr. Clark: If the Court please we object to this remark before the jury as being improper and misconduct on the part of the counsel.

The Court: Go ahead. Defendant excepts.

Mr. Macomber: Gentlemen, I expect to be interrupted, I expect they are afraid of me. The Holy Bible says, "Even the guilty pursue when no man fleeth." It is their fear that has placed this gentleman here to take down, what I am to say, but they have tried to throw into this case—

Mr. Clark: If the Court please we object to these remarks as improper, and misconduct on the part of the attorney for the State.

The Court: Well, it is perfectly proper to have the argument taken down in shorthand by the reporter; that will not be regarded by the jury for any purpose in this case. You may proceed, Mr. Macomber. Defendant excepts.

Mr. Kindig's closing argument to the jury for the State, in part as follows:

Mr. Kindig: Gentlemen of the Jury, I will make you one promise, before I start, and that is I will not talk to you very long. As I listened to my friends I was indeed enraptured. I was interested and entertained. I haven't the eloquence that they possess. There are men, you know, who can lead you across the fields and show you the green trees and let you listen to the song of the birds, take you up through the valleys and watch the rivulets and flowing streams, but I haven't that eloquence. I remember some years ago when I was studying law in an office with an older practitioner I heard him go into a court room and make a very eloquent plea. He enraptured the jury, I am sure he did, for he did me, and when he was through he returned to his office, I congratulated him. I told him I was sure he would win the case, but he says: "My boy," I won't win the case. He says, "It may be I entertained the jury. I tried to captivate them with my eloquence, but I am sure when they get to their jury room to consider the proposition that they will return to the facts in the case and they will forget my eloquence." And the old gentleman was right, he lost the case.

Mr. Clark: Now we object to the remarks of counsel, as being improper and misconduct.

The Court: That is entirely proper. Go ahead. Defendant excepts.

Gentlemen of the Jury: As you have listened here to the story as told by those two little girls has there been any doubt in your mind from the first syllable that was spoken until the close of the testimony that this defendant was as guilty as guilty could be? They told that story separately. One told it when she was part way home, and another told it after she got home. Was there ever any doubt in your mind I ask you from the time you listened first to those stories until now that this defendant is the guilty fellow sitting right over there. Gentlemen, it is true that you are officers of this court; you are citizens of this country, and there is placed now upon you a great responsibility. The question is whether you gentlemen of the jury, from the facts and circumstances that have been revealed here in this case, are you going to do justice here in Ida County. Did you ever hear such an appeal as was last made to you, an attempt to have you so violate your oaths that you would let him engender prejudice and bias and passion into your minds because, perchance, I happened to come from Des Moines. I used to live up here at Sioux City. Gentlemen of the Jury, I would rather represent the State of Iowa, in this case, and do in my humble way what I can to vindicate the wrong that has been done to this little German girl, than to represent that defendant and receive his gold in return. I ask you again if there can be any doubt in the minds of any man that these two girls told the truth as they knew God's truth. Why, in the name of Heavens should either of them say one word that wasn't absolutely God's truth? Why should they come into this court of justice before you, one only fifteen years of age, the other only seventeen when this occurred, now she is eighteen, that is the truth? Why should they come into this court of justice and face you gentlemen of the jury and tell you anything that wasn't God's truth. There isn't any showing that they have anything in the world against this defendant, before this night they had never known him. Why then should they come in here and tell anything that is not absolutely true? You saw her upon the witness stand and you saw the other little girl there. Was there anything revealed from what you saw, from her conduct or her words that would lead you to believe that they were not both telling the absolute truth? They haven't dared to attack their character, that he was going to be so kind and so good, and at the same time was tearing the very heart out of her trying to make you believe that she wasn't virtuous, trying to prejudice your minds against her. The only argument that needs to be made in this case, gentlemen of the jury, are you going to forget little Elsie Hargens as she was down there screaming and striving to save her virtue? Counsel says that wasn't much treatment? If taking the virtue, the hope and the future from a young girl like that isn't treating her severely and awfully then I don't know how you would mistreat womanhood.

Gentlemen of the Jury, as you know, we are now engaged in a great world war. It seems that the whole nation, all the nations of the world are centered in this terrible strife. There is conflict. There is suffering. There is bloodshed. There is sorrow. But as we consider it all, the most objectionable thing about it is that sometimes over there, as you know, men commit rape. Rape has caused men to go to war to avenge the right of womanhood, and now here in Ida County, in civilized Iowa, in America, I say you have before you now one of the most terrible, the meanest, vilest cases of rape that you have read about. The question is now whether you who live in this community are going to vindicate your own womanhood and tell the ruffians who would pull off that kind of stuff that you aren't going to stand for it any longer. Counsel has suggested that you are going to put this man into the penitentiary for life. Now, Gentlemen of the Jury, that depends upon what you find the facts to be in this case. If after you have reviewed the evidence, you think the crime committed here would be assault to commit rape, rather than rape, then he shall not go to the penitentiary for life, and as you gentlemen know, as you have read and as you know in Iowa today we have a parole system and if this man was sent as I said before to the penitentiary or to the state reformatory.— — — — —

Mr. Clark: All the statement made from the last objection to this one is objected to as incompetent, irrelevant, misconduct and improper.

The Court: I will permit him to do it inasmuch as the attorneys for the defendant both of them went into the question of punishment. As a matter of fact and as a matter of law the punishment is a matter that the jury has nothing to do with. Ordinarily, it wouldn't be suggested in the Court's instructions, and it will not be at this time, and it is a matter that should not be touched upon by counsel in the case, but inasmuch as it has been commented on by attorneys for the defendant, I will permit this argument to be made along this line. Defendant excepts.

I say, as you gentlemen know, as you have read, and your experience has taught you, in this state, if you find that he is guilty of assault with intent to commit rape it will be in the discretion of this Court whether he shall go to the penitentiary at all or not, or whether he shall go to the state reformatory, and under our system, as you gentlemen know, as you have read, and as your experience has taught you, the length of time that he shall remain in either of those institutions will depend absolutely upon his own conduct.

If he shows the world he can be a man again, the officials, as you gentlemen know, will give him an opportunity to be a man again.

Gentlemen of the Jury, why do you think those attorneys argued so long if there wasn't anything to this case. Bless your souls they have talked to you nearly all day, and if the case on the part of the State is so weak and feeble why have they spent so much time to convince your minds with this thing and with that thing? The State has shown you gentlemen of the jury, the movements of this defendant from about seven o'clock that night until he committed the crime. You remember the going down into the country with O'Meara and those two women, and of their getting out of the car down there and these men coming back to town. You remember of his meeting those girls on the street, down near the mill I believe—

Mr. White: Just a moment Mr. Kindig. Now, if the Court please, we object to counsel making any reference to women getting out of the car, and their then coming to town for the reason that the evidence of any other act, or crime is improper, and it is improper now, and misconduct for counsel to refer to any women getting in or out of the car that evening.

The Court: The Court has permitted evidence along this line merely as—for the purpose of showing, for what the jury may deem it entitled to receive, the whereabouts of the defendant, and as bearing, for what the jury may deem it entitled to receive in evidence, on the identity of the defendant, but for no other purpose whatever, and the jury is cautioned, as it was at the time, now, that any reference in the evidence or in the questions or statement of counsel for the State tending in any way to impute any wrongful act on the part of the defendant, and Ray O'Meara in their relations with other girls or women has been stricken out, and you are cautioned to entirely disregard the same for any purpose in this case. Defendant excepts.

If it please the Court, the reason I was speaking about it was in connection with the time.

Mr. Kindig: You remember that transaction and what those girls said about it, and that when they saw the car it was going back to Ida Grove. You remember then the talk with the girls seeing the car down near the mill, and then they walking from there up to the depot, and saw the defendant there again, and then in addition to that, we have the evidence of Russell Easton, who says while he can't state for sure in answer to the question about what time of day it was, but I think it was about eight-thirty to nine o'clock, and then you have the evidence of Harry R. Jensen, who says, "why, it was about half past eight." And there is the testimony of Ohlsen, who says, "It is about a quarter to nine o'clock." Gentlemen of the Jury, can there be any doubt in your mind? If there is any doubt, for God's sake why do you have it, that those defendants were right here in this town of Ida Grove, Iowa, at a quarter to nine o'clock, that night. There isn't any doubt about it in the world. Why should Ohlsen say so if he didn't think it was true, why should the other boys say he was there at eight-thirty-five if it wasn't true? Why should the girls say they saw him at the depot if it wasn't true? They are absolutely disinterested; they have no interest in the case under the Heavens, no relationship, no interest of any kind or description? Why should they tell you, Gentlemen of the Jury, that those things are true if they are not true, and if this defendant, as Ohlsen says, was in this city at a quarter of nine o'clock on that night, he of course then couldn't have been home, which under God's truth he wasn't. I am not going to blame this old mother here. I will not blame her at all. I don't want you to blame her for what she may have said in this court room. I want you to pity her and have charity for her, but whatever that may be, Gentlemen of the Jury, the truth is that fellow was here at a quarter to nine o'clock and is there any doubt in your mind that immediately after he left Ohlsen at nine-fifteen o'clock, he switched around the block and picked up these girls—

Gentlemen of the Jury, it is true in cases of this kind that you are to convict the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, and that is a good wholesome rule of which I have no quarrel at all, but there is another rule that is just as important to you and to me, to your wife and your daughter, as that rule, and that is, that if you believe he is guilty it is your duty to convict him. It is that policy and that principle alone that makes society safe, and the difference between Iowa and places like Kentucky that you heard about on the examination of a jurymen is that in Iowa juries find men guilty and down there they don't, and because they don't the individual takes a shot-gun and goes out to get him.

Mr. White: If the Court please we object to the language, the inflammatory language used by counsel for the State as being improper and misconduct.

The Court: I just got the latter part of it, but I think it was language that shouldn't have been given.

Mr. Kindig: It may be stricken.

The Court: I think it should go out. The jury is cautioned to disregard it. Defendant excepts.

The only purpose, Gentlemen of the Jury, I have in saying this to you is that I want you to know the importance of finding this man guilty, if you believe he is guilty.

Mr. White: The same objections to what he now has said as we made to what he said a minute ago.

The Court: The same ruling and the same precaution. State excepts.

What would you think, Gentlemen of the Jury, if your daughter had been in Elsie's place? Is it any wonder, is it any wonder that crime is never punished. Talk about the State of Iowa, being all powerful, did you ever stop to think how hard it was to get a criminal in the penitentiary. There is every right, there is every precaution thrown around him, all the technicalities in God's world, and then in addition to that, in crimes of this kind, the humiliation and the shame of coming into the court room and telling about it, and have counsel for the defense make this insinuation and that insinuation about the morality and the virtue of the girl who dares come in.

Mr. White: If the Court please I object again to the remarks of counsel as highly improper and constituting misconduct.

The Court: Proceed. Defendant excepts.

Gentleman of the Jury, I don't doubt but what O'Meara may have gotten home almost at ten o'clock. In an automobile in these days you know you can go five or ten miles in a very short time indeed. And by the way if O'Meara wasn't out there in that car, if this defendant wasn't out there that night, and those boys didn't ravish this girl, where is O'Meara?

Mr. White: If the Court please I now object to the remarks of counsel as being highly improper and constituting misconduct in the argument.

The Court: Well he would be as available a witness to either side. Of course, O'Meara, under the law couldn't be compelled by either side to testify.

Mr. Kindig: (To the jury) I think it is a significant thing at least for you to think about.

Mr. White: I object to the remarks just made by counsel as being improper and constituting misconduct.

The Court: You may proceed. Defendant excepts.

Jury retired at 4:40 o'clock p. m., Friday, December 21st, 1917, and returned into court at 2:20 o'clock, Saturday, December 22, 1917, with verdict as follows:

"We, the jury in the above entitled cause, find the defendant, Ernest Rathbun, guilty of rape as charged in the indictment.

A. W. Coil.

MOTION FOR NEW TRIAL.

Motion for new trial filed and submitted upon the 31st day of December, 1917, and is as follows:

In the District Court of the State of Iowa, In and For Ida County,

November Term, A. D. 1917.

Motion to Set Aside Verdict and For New Trial.

State of Iowa,
Plaintiff

vs.

Ernest Rathbun, Defendant

Comes now the defendant and moves the Court, that the verdict rendered in the above entitled action be set aside, and the defendant be granted a new trial, for the following reasons, to-wit:

First: That the defendant did not receive a fair and impartial trial, which was caused by the improper, prejudicial and inflammatory remarks of the attorneys for the state, in their opening and closing arguments to the jury, and the misconduct of said attorneys in the trial and presentation of the cause, and the improper and prejudicial conduct of the examination of witnesses at the trial, which as a natural consequence appealed to the passions and prejudice of the jury and prevented the defendant from obtaining a fair and impartial trial.

In that James W. Kindig, Assistant Attorney General, who assisted the Assistant County Attorneys, J. A. Murphy, Chas. S. Macomber and Johnston & Piersol, in the presentation and trial of the above cause in his opening statement to the jury indulged in the statement:

"I am now very briefly going to tell you the testimony or the evidence upon which the State expects to prove this indictment.

"The testimony on the part of the State will be, that this prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, at the time of the commission of this crime was about seventeen years of age I believe, that she was living here in Ida Grove, formerly had been living out near here in the country, that she was living here with her people I believe, working at the time at a neighbor's home.

"The 4th day of November, 1917, was Sunday and the defendant upon that Sunday afternoon, the evidence of the State will show, together with one O'Meara in a Ford automobile, picked up about seven o'clock I believe in the evening, I will not be exact about the time now, two women in Ida Grove, and drove them out to a school house about five miles. These men started out with this automobile that they drove I think about five miles south of town and stopped there at the school house and because these women that they had with them would not submit to their desires, they were thrown out of the automobile."

In that said attorney at the time and subsequent to objections made by the attorney for the defense to said improper remarks stated to the Court in the presence of the jury:

"We expect to support our contention by ample authority that, for the purpose of identification, and showing the whereabouts of these men at this time, for the purpose of showing their common scheme and purpose, and intent, that the testimony I am talking about will be absolutely competent and material."

In that Chas. S. Macomber, one of the assistant attorneys for the state who made the opening argument indulged in the statement:

Gentlemen I expect to be interrupted, I expect they are afraid of me. The Holy Bible says: "Even the guilty pursue, when no man fleeth." It is their fear that has placed this gentleman here to take down what I am to say, and they have tried to throw into this case—"

In that the said assistant state's attorney, Jas. W. Kindig, indulged in the statement:

"It is true in cases of this kind that you are to convict the defendant beyond a reasonable doubt, and that is a good and wholesome rule which I have no quarrel at all, but there is another rule that is just as important to you and to me, to your wife and your daughter, as that rule, that if you do believe he is guilty it is your duty to convict him. It is that policy and that principle alone that makes society safe, and the difference between Iowa and places like Kentucky that you heard about in the examination of a jurymen, is that in Iowa, jurors find men guilty, and down there they don't and because they don't the individual takes a shot gun and goes out to get him."

In that subsequent to an objection being made by the defense and the attorney cautioned by the court he continued:

"The purpose, gentlemen of the jury I have in saying that, is that I want you to know the importance of finding this man guilty."

In that in said argument said attorney indulged in the statement:

"I don't doubt but what O'Meara may have gotten home almost at ten o'clock in an automobile; in these days you know you can go five or ten miles in a very short time indeed, and by the way if O'Meara wasn't out there that night and these boys didn't ravish this girl then where is O'Meara?"

In that subsequent to an objection made by the defense to the remarks, and subsequent to the ruling of the court, the said attorney continued with the statement:

"I think it is a significant thing at least for you to think about."

In that upon cross examination of the witness Walter Anderson, called by the defense, the said attorney, James W. Kindig, indulged in interrogating the witness by asking him the question:

"You didn't rape her did you Jokey?"

Also in asking the question:

"You are under arrest aren't you for stealing an automobile?"

In that upon the cross examination of the witness Lloyd Lynch, called by the defense, the said attorney indulged in interrogating the witness by asking him the question:

"See, they call you Tuffy Lynch don't they?"

That said inflammatory remarks and statements so made by the attorneys for the state were improper, misconduct, prejudicial and prevented defendant from obtaining a fair and impartial trial.

That the questions propounded to the witnesses called by the defense by the state's attorney, James W. Kindig, in cross examination, were improper, misconduct, prejudicial and for the manifest purpose and intention on the part of the said attorney to throw discredit on the testimony of the said two witnesses, Walter Anderson and Lloyd Lynch, and to prejudice them in the minds and eyes of the jury.

In that said Attorney James W. Kindig, was persistent in asking improper questions to witnesses, Mrs. Theobald and Mary Schuett called by the state, subsequent to said questions being objected to by the defense and sustained by the court, the question referred to being put to the witness, Mrs. Theobald.

"State whether or not the defendant when you were in the car made any improper suggestions to you."

The same question put to Mary Schuett in substance but in a more prejudicial form:

"When you were in the car that night was there anything indecent or immoral suggested to you or to Mrs. Theobald?"

That said persistent questions propounded so said witnesses was improper, misconduct, prejudicial and for the manifest purpose and intention on the part of the attorney to prejudice the minds of the jury toward the defendant, and to prevent him from obtaining a fair and impartial trial.

Second: That the indictment upon which the defendant was tried was found upon false and perjured testimony on the part of the state introduced before the grand jury, and confessed by the prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, and the verdict of guilty rendered by the jury in this cause was influenced by false and perjured testimony introduced by the prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, and witnesses, Mrs. Theobald and Mary Schuett.

In that the prosecuting witness, Elsie Hargens, testified before the grand jury as follows:

"Lived in Ida Grove four years, lived four miles south of Battle Creek, have known Ida Knudsen several years, went to Ida Knudsen's home at seven-thirty, November 4, 1917, were there until eight-forty-five p. m., went to postoffice, saw automobile at postoffice, car stopped, asked us to take ride, it was Ernest Rathbun and Ray O'Meara."

That upon the trial she testified upon re-cross examination as follows:

"Q. Did you say before when you were on the stand, the first time that you knew who the boys were that you referred to as being in the car with you was the day they were arraigned, the morning you saw them in the court room and they were arraigned?"

A. Yes sir.

Q. That is the first time you knew who the boys were?

A. Yes sir.

Q. That was after you was before the grand jury wasn't it, and after the boys were indicted?

A. Yes sir.

RE-DIRECT EXAMINATION.

Q. From the night the boys were out to the place near the rendering works with you until you saw them here in the court room had you seen them?

A. No sir.

Q. Had you seen them in the mean time?

A. No sir.

In that she denies the testimony of Walter Anderson, a witness called by the defense, who took her home the same evening she claims to have been raped and subsequent to the time of the occurrence, which testimony of the said Walter Anderson was corroborated by three other witnesses called by the defense, Luke McCabe, Walter Miller and Louis Feuchter, all of whom testified that they saw the said Walter Anderson take her home, and that they did not notice that she was mussed, that her hair was down or leaves in her hair, and that she appeared natural.

In that she testified upon cross examination that she did not attend public school at Ida Grove in the year 1916, the same year that Ray O'Meara was in attendance, when in fact she did so attend, the same being substantiated by the teachers witnesses called by the defense.

In that the witness, Mrs. Theobald, called by the state, testified that she and Mary Schuett was driven by Ray O'Meara and Ernest Rathbun in an automobile five miles into the country south of Ida Grove, and they got out of the automobile and entered a farm house, that they both looked at a clock, one testifies that it was eight o'clock and the other that it was half-past eight.

That said testimony was directed at material points in said cause, was false, and perjured, misconduct, improper, prejudicial and prevented defendant from obtaining a fair and impartial trial.

Third: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to the direct testimony of Mrs. Theobald.

Fourth: That the court erred in not sustaining the motion made by the attorneys for the defense at the close of the testimony of Mrs. Theobald to strike same.

Fifth: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to the testimony of Mary Schuett.

Sixth: That the court erred in not sustaining the motion to strike made by the attorneys for the defense at the close of the testimony of Mary Schuett.

Seventh: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to the cross examinations of Walter Miller.

Eighth: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to the direct examinations of J. M. Sauer.

Ninth: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the defense to the re-direct examination of J. M. Sauer upon recall.

Tenth: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to the direct examinations of Dr. Lyon.

Eleventh: That the court erred in not sustaining the objections made by the attorneys for the defense to part of the direct examinations of Ida Knudsen relating to the conversation with persons at the Sauer garage had with J. M. Sauer and Dr. Lyon.

Twelfth: That the verdict is contrary to law.

Thirteenth: That the verdict is influenced by the passion and prejudice of the jury, and not sustained by the evidence.

Fourteenth: That the verdict was influenced by the passion and prejudice of the jury occasioned by the misconduct of the attorneys for the state in the presentation and trial of the cause.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President Ernest R. Moore presiding.

Senate resumed consideration of Senate File No. 21.

Senator Price offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend section 8 by striking out lines 3 to 15 inclusive, and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

When a circle is marked, the ballot shall be counted for all candidates upon the ticket beneath said circle, except those offices for which some candidate has been voted for by marking a square.

A cross placed in a square shall be counted for the candidate before whose name the square is so marked.

When a square in front of any candidate has been marked, a mark in the circle shall not count for any candidate for that particular office.

When more candidates than the number to be elected to the same office are voted for by marking the squares opposite their names, the vote shall not be counted for any candidate for that office.

If less than the whole number of candidates to be elected are voted for by marking the squares opposite their names, the vote shall be counted only for those marked in the square, and the mark in the circle shall not apply.

Also by inserting in line 8 of section 7, after the words "circle or not," the following:

If the voter does not wish to vote for all the candidates of his party to an office where more than one candidate is to be elected, the cross in the circle at the top of his ticket shall not apply to said office, but the voter must mark crosses in the squares opposite the names of the candidates for whom he intends to vote.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Kingland offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I hereby move to amend Senate File No. 21 as amended by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting therefor the following:

SECTION 1. That section eleven hundred six (1106) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The name of each candidate and of the office to be filled shall be printed at right angles with the length of the ballot, in plain roman type, not larger than long primer nor smaller than brevier; the name of each candidate in capital letters preceded on the same line by the title of the office in capitals and small letters. Except in case of presidential electors each name shall be followed on the same line in upper and lower case letters by the party designation of the candidate. At the right of and on a line with such name and designation, near the margin, there shall be a space so enclosed by rule work as to make a square three-eighths (3/8) of an inch in size in which the voter may designate his choice by a mark (X). Above and below each name shall be printed across the ballot a light line (except that above and below each office a heavier line shall be so printed). Below the name of the last named candidate for each office shall be placed as many blank lines as there are offices of the kind to be filled preceded by the title of such office. The spaces for the names of such candidates shall be three-eighths (3/8)

of an inch in size at right angles with such lines and at the right of the small squares shall be printed opposite each office the words "Vote for one (1)" or "Vote for two (2)" or more according to the number to be elected. Like squares shall be placed at the right of the blank lines, and on said lines the voter may write the names of persons for whom he desires to vote whose names are not printed and in the square opposite same he may make marks as in the case of the printed names. The first name printed for each office, or group of names if more than one is to be voted for the same office, shall be that of the candidate for the political party which at the last preceding general election polled the largest number of votes for the office of governor. In like manner the second and succeeding lines shall be filled with the names of candidates of the other political parties receiving respectively the highest number of votes for the office of governor. The names of candidates nominated by petition shall follow those of candidates of conventions in the order in which petitions are filed. Each such ballot shall contain above the first name thereon the words, "Put a cross (X) opposite the name of each candidate you wish to vote for in the squares indicated by the arrow," and on a line with such words and over such squares shall be printed a small arrow or point thereof pointing downward. When presidential electors are to be voted for the candidates of each party, therefor shall be grouped and printed together, the names of each group to be arranged in the order in which they were filed. The secretary of state shall cause the names of the candidates of each political party to be printed in capital letters, set in six point type, the names to be arranged in two columns. The political or party designation shall appear but once for each group, said designation following a scroll or bracket on the right, and immediately following this, in the center, shall be printed in bold type the surname of the presidential candidate represented. To the right of, and on a line of such surname, near the margin, shall be placed a square, in which the voter may indicate his choice by a mark (X), and one such mark opposite a group of presidential electors shall be counted as a vote for each elector in such group, the form for each group to be substantially as follows:

For Presidential Electors:	{ James Locke Richard Brown William Jones H. S. Wilson Chas. M. Green Bert Moore	{ W. W. Walters John Myers Clinton Clay A. B. Clark Frank J. Swan Thos. J. West	} Republican-Taft
----------------------------------	---	--	-------------------

The relative position of the several groups shall be determined by the rules applicable to other state officers. The groups of electors shall be separated by a blank space one quarter of an inch in width and so arranged as to permit placing a cross (X) after each name, and no blank lines shall be printed therein as in the case of other candidates or groups. Above the names of the electors shall be printed in bold type, "Presidential ticket, vote once opposite group." The state ballot, with the required heading, shall be printed below the electors, with a blank space between, one inch in width.

SEC. 2. Where non-partisan candidates are to be voted for they shall be placed under the general head of Non-Partisan Ticket and in all other respects the ballot as to such non-partisan candidates shall be made up in like manner as the ballot in respect to other offices so far as applicable. When a constitutional amendment or other public measure is to be voted upon by the electors, it shall be printed in full upon a separate ballot, preceded by the words, "Shall the following amendment to the constitution (or public measure) be adopted?" and upon the right hand margin, opposite these words, two spaces shall be left, one for votes favoring such amendment or public measure, and the other for votes opposing the same. In one of these spaces the word "yes" or other words required by law shall be printed; in the other, the word "no" or other word required, and to the right of each space a square shall be printed to receive the voting cross, all of which shall be substantially in the following form:

"Shall the following amendment to the constitution (or public measure) be adopted?"

(Here insert in full the proposed constitutional amendment or public measure.)

The elector shall designate his vote by a cross

YES
NO

mark, thus, X, placed in the proper square. At the top of such ballots shall be printed the following words, enclosed in brackets: Notice to voters. For an affirmative vote upon any question submitted upon this ballot make a cross (X) mark in the square after the word "Yes." For a negative vote make a similar mark in the square following the word "No." If more than one constitutional amendment or public measure is to be voted upon, they shall be printed upon the same ballot, one below the other, with one inch space between each constitutional amendment or public measure that is to be submitted. All of such ballots for the same polling place shall be of the same size, similarly printed, upon yellow colored paper. On the back of each such ballot shall be printed appropriate words, showing that such ballot relates to a constitutional or other question to be submitted to the electors, so as to distinguish the said ballots from the official ballot for candidates for office, and a facsimile of the signature of the auditor or other officer who has caused the ballot to be printed. Such ballots shall be endorsed and given to each voter by the judges of election, as provided in section eleven hundred sixteen (1116), and shall be subject to all other laws governing ballots for candidates, so far as the same shall be applicable.

SEC. 3. That section eleven hundred nine (1109) of the supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

The ballot shall be on plain white paper, through which the printing or writing cannot be read. It shall be not less than four (4) or more than six (6) inches wide and as long as the list of candidates to be voted for require, in such order of proceedings as the secretary of state and county auditor shall direct conformably to the election laws of the state. On the back or outside of the ballot, so as to appear when folded shall be printed the words "Official Ballot" followed by the designation of the polling place for which the ballot is prepared, the date of the election, and a facsimile of the signature of the auditor or other officer who has caused the ballot to be printed.

SEC. 4. All acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith are hereby repealed.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Arney, Senate File No. 168, a bill for an act providing for the establishment of dental clinics for school children and the offering of certain courses of instruction in certain schools and the employment of dentists and dental hygienists by public school corporations, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following committee amendment was adopted:

Amend by striking out the word "teachers" in the last line of said bill and substituting in lieu thereof the word "general."

Senator Arney moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 45.

SENATE FILE NO. 58 MADE SPECIAL ORDER.

On motion of Senator Byington, Senate File No. 58 was made a special order for Thursday, February 20th, at 11 a. m.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.*

On motion of Senator Frailey, Senate File No. 66, a bill for an act adopting a state flag for the state of Iowa, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Holdoegel offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the pending bill by striking from line 1 of Section 2, the word "shall" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "may," and by striking from line 2 of Section 2, the word "all."

The amendment was lost.

Senator Van Alstine offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 66 by striking out all following the word "flag" where it occurs in line 1 of Section 2 to the comma where it occurs in line 6 of Section 2, and insert in lieu thereof "may be used and displayed as a state emblem."

Senator Parker raised the point of order that the amendment proposed pertained to the same subject matter as the one just previously voted upon and rejected by the senate.

The president declared the point not well taken because while there was some similarity, there was enough difference to justify the consideration of the amendment just offered.

Senator Proudfoot rose to the point of order that Senator Frailey in closing the debate had forestalled further discussion and amendments. Senator Frailey declared that it was not his intention to prevent further debate if desired.

The president held the point of order not well taken.

Senator Frailey moved the previous question. Motion prevailed and the previous question was ordered.

The amendment proposed by Senator Van Alstine was not adopted.

Senator Frailey moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

BILL SIGNED BY PRESIDENT.

The president announced that as president of the Senate, in the presence of the Senate, he had signed Senate File No. 13.

On motion of Senator Foskett, Senate File No. 210 was referred to the committee on appropriations.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Foskett, Senate File No. 142, a bill for an act to amend chapter four (4), title five (5) of the Code, relating to the power of cities and towns; and providing for the appointment of water works' trustees in cities and towns owning their own water works; and providing for the duties of such trustees, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Foskett offered the following amendment as a substitute for the committee amendments:

I move to amend Senate File No. 142 by striking out all after the enacting clause, and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That chapter five (5) of title five (5) of the code be, and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

The council of any city or town, other than cities of the first class and special charter cities, which owns or may hereafter acquire waterworks, heating plant, gas works, or electric light or electric power plant, may, and upon petition of twenty-five (25) qualified electors of such city or town shall, at any general election, or at a special election called for that purpose, submit the question as to whether the management and control of such waterworks, heating plant, gas works, or electric light or electric power plant shall be placed in the hands of a board of trustees.

SEC. 2. Notice of such election shall be given by publication in one newspaper published in said city or town once each week, for not less than three consecutive weeks, and the election shall be held not less than seven, nor more than ten days after the completion of such publication. If no newspaper is published in such city or town, notice may be given by posting notices for three weeks in five public places in such city or town. The question to be submitted shall be in the following form:

Shall the city (or town) of.....place the management and control of its waterworks (or heating plant, or gas works, or electric light or electric power plant) in the hands of a board of trustees?

SEC. 3. If a majority of the votes cast at such election are in favor of placing the management and control of any or all of the said utilities in the hands of trustees, the mayor of such city or town shall, within ten days after the election hereinbefore provided, appoint a board of three (3) trustees which appointments shall be approved and confirmed by the city council. The first appointees thereto shall hold office for the following designated terms, namely, one for two years, one for four years, and one for six years, and their successors shall be appointed for a term of six years. All vacancies occurring on said board, occasioned by expiration of terms, by death, resignation or removal, shall be filled by appointment of the mayor of such city, which appointment shall be approved and confirmed by the city council. The compensation of said trustees shall be one hundred dollars ($100.00) per year to each member of said board. Each of the said trustees shall execute and furnish to the city official bond in the sum of five thousand dollars ($5000.00), to be approved by the mayor and filed with the city clerk. Such trustees may be removed from office for proper cause under the provisions of chapter eight (8) of title six (6) of the code.

SEC. 4. The said board of trustees shall have all the power and authority in the management and control of the utilities mentioned in the question submitted to the voters at such election as is conferred upon waterworks trustees appointed as provided in section seven hundred forty-seven-a (747-a) supplement to the code, 1913.

SEC. 5. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, both newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

Senator Van Alstine offered the following amendment to the amendment, and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the pending amendment by inserting in section 3, line 17, following the word "shall" the words "if required by the city council."

The amendment was lost.

Senator Evans offered the following amendment to the amendment and moved its adoption:

I move that the words and figures "five thousand dollars ($5,000.00)" in lines 18 and 19 of section 3 of the pending amendment be stricken out and the words and figures "twenty-five hundred ($2500.00)", be substituted in lieu thereof.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Senator Whitmore called up the following amendment filed by him and moved that it be adopted as section 5 of the proposed amendment and that section 5 now in the amendment be renumbered as section 6.

SEC. 5. The provisions of this act shall be applicable to cities operated under the commission plan and having a population of less than thirty-five thousand, as to heating plants, water works, gas works, or electric light or electric power plants owned by such cities. The compensation of said trustees shall be three hundred dollars per year to each member of said board.

The motion prevailed and the amendment was adopted.

The amendment offered by Senator Foskett as amended, was adopted.

Senator Foskett moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 46.

AMENDMENTS FILED.

Senator Brookhart filed the following amendment and asked that it be printed in the journal:

MR. PRESIDENT—I move to amend Senate File No. 220, a substitute for Senate File No. 75, as follows:

SECTION 1. By adding at the end of section three the following: "Any person, firm or corporation conducting a place for the sale of cigarettes as provided in this act, who shall have been found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this act, or any person conducting a place for the sale of cigarettes without the license provided in this act, shall be deemed guilty of keeping and maintaining a nuisance, and the place so kept and maintained shall be subject to the provisions for injunction as provided in section four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h two (4944-h2), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and shall be subject to all the penalties and procedure as provided in sections four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h three (4944-h3), four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h four (4944-h4), four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h five (4944-h5), and four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h six (4944-h6) and four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h seven (4944-h7), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915.

SEC. 2. "Whenever a permanent injunction issues against any person for maintaining a nuisance as herein defined, or against any owner or agent of the building kept or used for the purpose prohibited by this act, there shall be imposed upon said building and the ground upon which the same is located and against the person or persons maintaining said nuisance, and the owner or agent of said premises, a tax of three hundred dollars. The imposing of said tax shall be made by the court as a part of the proceeding, and the clerk of said court shall make and certify a return of the imposition of said tax forthwith to the county auditor, who shall enter the same as a tax upon the property and against the persons upon which or whom the lien was imposed as and when other taxes are entered, and the same shall be and remain a lien on the land upon which lien was imposed until fully paid; provided that any such lien imposed while the tax books are in the hands of the auditor shall be immediately entered therein. The payment of said tax shall not relieve the persons or property from any other penalties provided by law. The provisions of the law relating to the collection of taxes in this state, the delinquency thereof and the sale of property for taxes shall govern in the collection of the tax herein prescribed in so far as the same are applicable, and the said tax collected shall be applied in payment of any deficiency in the cost of the action and abatement on behalf of the state to the extent of such deficiency after the application thereto of the proceeds of the sale of personal property as hereinbefore provided, and the remainder of said tax together with the unexpended portion of the proceeds of the sale of personal property shall be distributed in the same manner as fines collected for the keeping of houses of ill fame, excepting that ten per cent of the amount of the whole tax collected and of the whole proceeds of the sale of said personal property as provided in this act shall be paid by the treasurer to the attorney representing the state in the injunction action, at the time of final judgment."

SEC. 3. "When such nuisance has been found to exist under any proceeding in the district court or as in this act provided, and the owner or agent of such building or ground whereon the same has been found to exist, was not a party to such proceeding, nor appeared therein, the said tax of three hundred dollars shall, nevertheless, be imposed against the persons served or appearing and against the property as in this act set forth. The person in whose name the real estate affected by the action stands on the books of the county auditor for the purpose of taxation shall be presumed to be the owner thereof, and in case of unknown parties having or claiming any ownership, right, title or interest in property affected by the action, such may be made parties to the action by designating them in the summons and complaint as 'all other persons unknown claiming any ownership, right, title or interest in the property affected by the action' and service thereon may be had by publishing such summons in the manner prescribed in section thirty-five hundred forty, supplement to the code, 1913. Any person having or claiming such ownership, right, title or interest, and any owner or agent in behalf of himself and such owner may make, serve and file his answer therein within twenty days after such services and have trial of his rights in the premises by the court; and if said cause has already proceeded to trial or to findings and judgment, the court shall by order fix the time and place of such trial and shall modify, add to or confirm such findings and judgment as the case may require. Other parties to said action shall not be affected thereby."

Senator Balkema filed the following amendment and asked that it be printed in the journal:

I move to amend Senate File No. 139 by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. Sections four hundred forty-four (444) and four hundred forty-five (445) of the Code are hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. Section two thousand three hundred fourteen (2314) of the Code is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"All animals shall be restrained from running at large. Such animals, when trespassing on land, or road adjoining thereto, may be distrained by the owner of such land or by any person who has been damaged by reason of such animal or animals running at large, and held for damages done by them, and for the costs provided for in this chapter; but animals shall not be considered as running at large so long as they are upon unimproved lands and under the immediate care and efficient control of the owner, or upon the public roads between the hours of sunrise and sunset under the care and efficient control of some person, or for the purpose of travel or driving thereon under like care and control. The owner of an animal who permits the same to run at large in violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. But where a partition fence is required by law to be erected or maintained, animals escaping across such partition line shall be dealt with as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 3. That section two thousand three hundred eleven (2311) of the Code be amended by striking from lines six and seven of said section, the words "all animals which may be distrained under this chapter" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "cattle, horses, mules, asses, swine, sheep and goats."

Amend the title by striking out the period at the end thereof and inserting in lieu thereof a semi-colon and adding thereafter the following: "Also amend section two thousand three hundred eleven (2311) defining the term "animals"."

HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE FILE NO. 91.

Amend by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof, the following:

SECTION 1. That section six hundred eighty-one (681), of the code, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following: "when a city or town shall make complete revision of the ordinances of said city or town by rearrangement and grouping of the same under appropriate titles, parts, chapters and sections, the enactment of said revision of ordinances as so rearranged and grouped shall be considered a sufficient compliance with the provisions of this section.

Ordered printed in the journal.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE.

The following message was received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—The House herewith returns as requested House File No. 134, a bill for an act relating to the double platoon system for members of the fire department.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Senator Kimball moved that House File No. 134 be re-referred to committee on cities and towns.

The motion prevailed.

COMMITTEE ON CHAIRS.

The president appointed as committee on the purchase of clerks chairs, on the part of the Senate, Senators Ball and Brookhart.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Balkema, Senate File No. 139, a bill for an act to repeal sections four hundred forty-four (444) and four hundred forty-five (445) of the Code, 1897, relating to stock running at large: Also to repeal section two thousand three hundred fourteen (2314) of the Code, 1897, relating to stock running at large, to enact a substitute for said latter section and to provide a penalty for the violation of such substituted section, was taken up and considered, the report of the committee having been adopted.

Senator Balkema offered the following amendments and moved their adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 139 by striking out all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. Sections four hundred forty-four (444) and four hundred forty-five (445) of the Code are hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. Section two thousand three hundred fourteen (2314) of the Code is hereby repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

"All animals shall be restrained from running at large. Such animals, when trespassing on land, or road adjoining thereto, may be distrained by the owner of such land or by any person who has been damaged by reason of such animal or animals running at large, and held for damages done by them, and for the costs provided for in this chapter; but animals shall not be considered as running at large so long as they are upon unimproved lands and under the immediate care and efficient control of the owner, or upon the public roads between the hours of sunrise and sunset under the care and efficient control of some person, or for the purpose of travel or driving thereon under like care and control. The owner of an animal who permits the same to run at large in violation of this section shall be guilty of a misdemeanor. But where a partition fence is required by law to be erected or maintained, animals escaping across such partition line shall be dealt with as provided in the preceding section.

SEC. 3. That section two thousand three hundred eleven (2311) of the Code be amended by striking from lines six and seven of said section, the words "all animals which may be distrained under this chapter" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "cattle, horses, mules, asses, swine, sheep and goats."

Amend the title by striking out the period at the end thereof and inserting in lieu thereof a semi-colon and adding thereafter the following: "Also amend section two thousand three hundred eleven (2311) defining the term "animals"."

The amendments were adopted.

Senator Balkema moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 32.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to, as amended.

On motion of Senator Rule, Senate File No. 220, a bill for an act repealing the law as it appears in sections 5006 and 5007 of the Code and section 5007-c supplement to the code of 1913, and to enact substitutes therefor; prohibiting the furnishing of cigarettes or cigarette papers to minors; providing a means of obtaining evidence of a violation thereof, and providing a penalty therefor, and prohibiting the use of cigarettes or tobacco in any form by minors, and providing a penalty therefor. Providing for the regulation and licensing of persons engaged in the selling of cigarettes and cigarette papers, and providing a penalty for selling cigarettes or cigarette papers without such license, and fixing a penalty therefor, and providing that any building, erection, or place made use of for the sale of cigarettes or cigarette papers in violation of the provisions of this act shall be deemed a nuisance and be abated by injunction, introduced by the committee on public health to take the place of Senate File No. 75, was taken up for consideration.

Senator Arney assumed the chair at 11:00 o'clock.

Senator Brookhart offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

MR. PRESIDENT—I move to amend Senate File No. 220, a substitute for Senate File No. 75, as follows:

By adding at the end of section three the following: "Any person, firm or corporation conducting a place for the sale of cigarettes as provided in this act, who shall have been found guilty of violating any of the provisions of this act, or any person conducting a place for the sale of cigarettes without the license provided in this act, shall be deemed guilty of keeping and maintaining a nuisance, and the place so kept and maintained shall be subject to the provisions for injunction as provided in section four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h two (4944-h2), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and shall be subject to all the penalties and procedure as provided in sections four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h three (4944-h3), four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h four (4944-h4), four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h five (4944-h5), and four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h six (4944-h6) and four thousand nine hundred forty-four-h seven (4944-h7), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915.

"Whenever a permanent injunction issues against any person for maintaining a nuisance as herein defined, or against any owner or agent of the building kept or used for the purpose prohibited by this act, there shall be imposed upon said building and the ground upon which the same is located and against the person or persons maintaining said nuisance, and the owner or agent of said premises, a tax of three hundred dollars. The imposing of said tax shall be made by the court as a part of the proceeding, and the clerk of said court shall make and certify a return of the imposition of said tax forthwith to the county auditor, who shall enter the same as a tax upon the property and against the persons upon which or whom the lien was imposed as and when other taxes are entered, and the same shall be and remain a lien on the land upon which lien was imposed until fully paid; provided that any lien imposed while the tax books are in the hands of the auditor shall be immediately entered therein. The payment of said tax shall not relieve the persons or property from any other penalties provided by law. The provisions of the law relating to the collection of taxes in this state, the delinquency thereof and the sale of property for taxes shall govern in the collection of the tax herein prescribed in so far as the same are applicable, and the said tax collected shall be applied in payment of any deficiency in the cost of the action and abatement on behalf of the state to the extent of any such deficiency after the application thereto of the proceeds of the sale of personal property as hereinbefore provided, and the remainder of said tax together with the unexpended portion of the proceeds of the sale of personal property shall be distributed in the same manner as fines collected for the keeping of houses of ill fame, excepting that ten per cent of the amount of the whole tax collected and of the whole proceeds of the sale of said personal property as provided in this act shall be paid by the treasurer to the attorney representing the state in the injunction action, at the time of final judgment."

"When such nuisance has been found to exist under any proceeding in the district court or as in this act provided, and the owner or agent of such building or ground whereon the same has been found to exist, was not a party to such proceeding, nor appeared therein, the said tax of three hundred dollars shall, nevertheless, be imposed against the persons served or appearing and against the property as in this act set forth. The person in whose name the real estate affected by the action stands on the books of the county auditor for the purpose of taxation shall be presumed to be the owner thereof, and in case of unknown parties having or claiming any ownership, right, title or interest in property affected by the action, such may be made parties to the action by designating them in the summons and complaint as 'all other persons unknown claiming any ownership, right, title or interest in the property affected by the action' and service thereon may be had by publishing such summons in the manner prescribed in section thirty-five hundred forty, supplement to the code, 1913. Any person having or claiming such ownership, right, title or interest, and any owner or agent in behalf of himself and such owner may make, serve and file his answer therein within twenty days after such services and have trial of his rights in the premises by the court; and if said cause has already proceeded to trial or to findings and judgment, the court shall by order fix the time and place of such trial and shall modify, add to or confirm such findings and judgment as the case may require. Other parties to said action shall not be affected thereby."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Proudfoot offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

MR. PRESIDENT—I move to amend the substitute bill by striking out all of Section one beginning with line 4 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"Any person who shall furnish to any minor by gift, sale or otherwise any cigarette or cigarette papers shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction thereof shall be sentenced to pay a fine of not more than three hundred dollars and be committed to the county jail until such fine is paid.

"Any minor, in any place other than upon the premises of his parent or parents, being in possession of a cigarette or cigarette paper may by any police officer, constable, juvenile court or truant officer be brought before a court or magistrate and be required to give information as to where he or she obtained such cigarette or cigarette paper."

President Moore resumed the chair at 11:40.

Senator Parker offered the following amendment to the amendment under consideration and moved its adoption:

MR. PRESIDENT—I move to amend the amendment offered by the senator from Warren by inserting the words "under 19 years of age" following the word "minor" in first line, and the words "under 19 years of age" following the word "minor" in 7th line thereof.

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

The amendment offered by Senator Proudfoot was adopted as amended.

On motion of Senator Parker, Senate adjourned until 1:00 p. m. today.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President Moore presiding.

Senate resumed consideration of Senate File No. 220.

Senator Proudfoot offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the printed bill (No. 220) by striking out all of section three of said printed bill beginning with line 4 thereof, and inserting in lieu of the part so stricken the following:

"Any minor, under the age of 19 years, in any place other than upon the premises of his parent or parents, being in possession of a cigarette or cigarette paper may by any police officer, constable, juvenile court or truant officer be brought before a court or magistrate and be required to give information as to where he or she obtained such cigarette or cigarette paper."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Evans offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 220 as follows:

By striking out the period (.) after the words "made" in the 8th line of section two thereof and adding the following:

"In cities of thirty-five thousand or over, and fifty dollars ($50.00) in towns of five thousand and over, and twenty five dollars ($25.00) in other towns and places."

The amendment was lost.

Senator Taylor offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend line 12 of Section 2 of Senate File No. 220 by striking out the period in line 12 of Section 2 following the word "month" and adding the words:

"and no license shall be issued until the applicant has filed with the commissioner an affidavit setting forth that he has not broken the Iowa anti-cigarette law during the preceding five years."

The amendment was lost.

Senator Wilson offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Section 3 as substituted by the amendment of the senator from Warren by inserting after the words and figures "five thousand seven-c (5007-c)" the words and figures "and five thousand seven-d (5007-d)" in lines one and two of said section.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Evans offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to strike out the words and figures "One hundred dollars ($100.00)" in line seven of section 2 of Senate File 220 and substitute in lieu thereof the words and figures "fifty dollars ($50.00)."

The amendment was lost.

Senator LeCompte offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend section 2 by striking out the words and figures "one hundred dollars ($100)" in line 7 and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "two hundred dollars ($200)".

The amendment was lost.

Senator Price moved the previous question which motion prevailed and the previous question was ordered.

Senator Rule moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 34.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

On motion of Senator Proudfoot, Senate File No. 210, a bill for an act creating a commission of three persons to edit and codify the laws of the state; defining its powers and duties; providing for the editing of a book of annotations of the code by the code editor; providing for clerical assistance and for the publication and distribution of the code and book of annotations and making an appropriation for the expenses of said commission and such work, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Whitmore offered the following amendments and moved their adoption, singly:

I move to amend Senate File No. 210 as follows:

1st. By striking out of the third and fourth lines of section 4 the words "but referring to all such repealed laws by section and reference to the session repealing same."

2nd. By inserting after the word "shall" in the ninth line of section 4 the words "renumber the sections and"

3rd. By inserting after the word "volume" in the tenth line of said section the words "a table of corresponding sections and"

4th. By adding at the end of section 4 the following: "In printing said code said commission shall print at the left of the sections a numbering of the lines of each section in the same style as in the printing of the session laws of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly."

5th. By inserting after the word "code" in the fourth line of section 5 the words "to all repealed laws by section and reference to the session repealing same and calling attention"

6th. By striking out the first line of section 8 and inserting in lieu thereof the following words "There shall be printed two thousand five hundred (2,500) copies of such code and one copy of such code and of such report, and of such book of annotations shall be"

7th. By adding to section 8 the following: "Said code shall be sold to the public at such price as the executive council may determine."

8th. And by inserting after the word "preserved" in the third line of section 7, the words "as the property of the state"

The amendments were adopted, each in turn.

Senator Kimball offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the bill by adding to section 7 thereof the following:

The linotype slugs set for the Supplemental Supplement 1915, and now owned by the state, shall be used for the code and book of annotations.

The printing of the code and book of annotations shall be from electrotpe plates and not from the linotype slugs direct, and the electrotpe plates need not be preserved. The type face used for the body of the code shall be ten (10) point Century Expanded and the type face used for the body of the book of annotations shall be eight (8) point number two (2), fourteen and forty-one one-hundredths (14.41) ems, or one hundred fifteen and twenty-eight one-hundredths (115.28) points, to the lower case alphabet.

The amendment was adopted.

Amend the title by adding thereto the following: "and providing for the use of the linotype slugs used in printing the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and specifying the style of type to be used."

The amendment was adopted and the title as amended was agreed to.

Senator Byington called up Senate File No. 58, a bill for an act to exclude aliens from employment as teachers in the public schools and in state institutions, which was made a special order and filed the following amendment:

Amend Senate File No. 58 by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting the following:

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful for any board, any officer or other person acting for the state, or for any county, township, city, village, district, or other municipality in the state, to employ any person or persons, other than native born or naturalized citizens or those who have in good faith declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States, (except those of such age that they can not declare their intentions to become citizens) when such employes are to be paid, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, out of any funds raised by taxation, where such person or persons are employed as members of the instructional staff in the institutions under the control of the Iowa State Board of Education and the public schools of the state or any public institutions of the state, except as provided in section two of this act. But nothing in this act shall be construed to casual lecturers or entertainers.

SEC. 2. The Iowa State Board of Education is authorized when in its judgment it becomes necessary to employ members of the instructional staff of the institutions under their control who are aliens, provided such persons so employed are citizens of the British Empire, France, Belgium or Italy.

SEC. 3. The State Board of Educational Examiners shall from the taking effect of this act include in every teacher's certificate issued by said Board a statement that the person to whom such certificate is issued has met the citizenship requirements provided herein.

SEC. 4. It shall be the duty of any person or persons so employing those whose services are to be paid for, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, out of any funds raised by taxation, to file with the treasurer or disbursing officer of such funds a certificate showing to the best of his knowledge and belief that the person so employed, and on whose account payment is to be made out of such public funds, meet the requirements of this act as to citizenship.

SEC. 5. Any treasurer or disbursing officer who shall knowingly or wilfully pay out any of the funds in his hands, raised by taxation, to any such person who does not meet the requirements of this act, for labor or any other service, contemplated by this act shall be liable to the municipality to which such funds belong for the amount so paid, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction. Provided, that when such payment is made on the requisite certificate of the employer no liability shall attach to such treasurer or disbursing officer.

SEC. 6. Any employer, or other person, who shall knowingly or negligently make false certificate required under this act that said employes are native or naturalized citizens, or have declared their intentions to become citizens for the purpose of drawing such funds, or any part thereof, shall be personally liable to the municipality to which such funds belong for the amount so drawn, and any alien disqualified from employment under this act who falsely represents that he is a native or naturalized citizen, or has declared his intention to become a citizen shall forfeit the amount of all wages so earned.

On motion of Senator Byington, Senate File No. 58, with the amendment filed, was made a special order for Tuesday, February 25th, at 10:30 a. m.

CARNEY MEMORIAL RESOLUTION.

Senator Arney offered the following resolution:

Whereas, Honorable James L. Carney of Marshalltown, Marshall County, Iowa, who was a member of the Senate in the Twenty-sixth and Twenty-seventh General Assemblies of Iowa, died September 19, 1917; therefore,

Be It Resolved, that a committee of three be appointed to prepare a memorial fittingly to commemorate his life and services to his state and nation.

By unanimous consent, the resolution was taken up for consideration and adopted.

The president appointed as such committee, Senators Arney, Proudfoot and Byington.

CARSON MEMORIAL RESOLUTION.

Senator Kimball offered the following resolution:

Be It Resolved by the State Senate of the Thirty-eighth General Assembly of Iowa:

That whereas, Judge George Carson, a member of the House of Representatives of the seventeenth and eighteenth General Assemblies of Iowa and a member of the Senate of the twentieth and twenty-first General Assemblies of Iowa was suddenly stricken with death on Tuesday morning, the eighteenth day of February, 1919, at the age of seventy-eight years, and

Whereas, he was a lawyer of great experience and ability, a veteran of the Civil War, and an ex-judge of the District Court, a man of rugged character and a valuable citizen of his county, taking a deep interest in all matters pertaining to the welfare of the state and nation, and

Whereas, two days before his death he wrote a letter regarding important legislation of the state, which letter is attached to this resolution, now therefore,

Be It Resolved, that the letter written so shortly before his death be printed in the Journal of the Senate with this resolution, and

That as a further mark of respect a committee of three be appointed by the president of the Senate to prepare and submit a suitable resolution to commemorate his life, character and services to the state.

Letter from Judge Carson to Senator Kimball:

At Home, Feby. 16, 1919.

HON. CLEM F. KIMBALL, Des Moines, Iowa.

DEAR SENATOR—I have noticed account of dairy legislation, via increasing salaries, etc., but did not see account of any appropriation to help eliminate the "White Plague", recently reported as on the increase here. There seems to be much concern about the "butter fat", but nothing as to its quality. While mayor here in 96-7 my attention was called to this matter quite thoroughly. Massachusetts was badly scourged with the plague and the legislature took it up and the result was that the disease was reduced 75%. I called on our State Veterinary Surgeon desiring that every dairy be inspected and tested that supplied the city, and he told me that no funds were provided to obtain supplies for that service. I again call your attention to this matter and urge the importance of an aggressive campaign to insure relief from this disease and also cleanliness. Every family is involved and exposure is constant, as the disease can only be detected by the well established method.

I will thank you for copy of State Board of Health biennial report—with best wishes—

Yours truly,

GEO. CARSON.

House File No. 37, a bill for an act relative to fees of constables.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 96, a bill for an act making it unlawful to advertise certain remedies and appliances.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 123, a bill for an act relative to appropriation to cover expenses for which no appropriation has been made.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has amended and passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 47, a bill for an act relating to compensation for supervisors.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE AMENDMENT.

Amend Senate File No. 47 by adding thereto the following, as Section 2: Section 2. Commissioners, for their services in making such appraisal shall each be entitled to receive Five Dollars ($5.00) per day for the actual time employed.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has amended and passed the following bill in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 98, a bill for an act legalizing certain warrants of the city of Oelwein, Iowa.

W. C. KAMPAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE AMENDMENT.

Amend by striking out all of the preamble and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

Whereas, The city of Oelwein, in the County of Fayette, and State of Iowa, did make certain expenditure in installing Ornamental Lighting Installation on its streets in the amount Two Thousand Six Hundred Seventy Dollars ($2670.00) and did issue warrants in the amount of Two Thousand Six Hundred Seventy Dollars ($2670.00) to evidence the indebtedness incurred in making said expenditures, said warrants being issued in conformity with a resolution of the City Council of said city adopted on the 24th day of July, 1916. Each of said warrants were drawn on the Street Lighting Fund and bear the date of July 25th, 1916, scheduled as follows:

Numbers 406-407-408-409-410-411, each warrant in the amount of $445.00, and all of which bear interest from date at six per cent and are now outstanding.

Whereas, The city of Oelwein, in the County of Fayette, and State of Iowa, has, by resolution passed and adopted, issued warrants on the Street Lighting Fund of said city in the aggregate amount of $4385.01, as follows:

August	8th 1916	Warrant number	1490	$414.60
October	3rd 1916	"	"	1516 $407.77
March	6th 1917	"	"	1563 $437.18
April	3rd 1917	"	"	1577 $433.51
April	3rd 1917	"	"	1580 $500.00
September	5th 1917	"	"	1746 $448.27
March	5th 1918	"	"	1813 $415.71
March	5th 1918	"	"	1814 $444.27
December	3rd 1918	"	"	1956 $445.60
February	4th 1919	"	"	1990 $438.10

Each bearing interest from their respective dates and all of said warrants are now outstanding.

Whereas, the total indebtedness of said city does not now, including said warrants, and did not at the time of the issuance of said warrants, including said warrants, or at the time of the incurring of the indebtedness evidenced by said warrants, including said indebtedness, exceed the constitutional limitation on indebtedness; and

Whereas, said expenditures were all made for the purpose of general and lasting utility authorized by law; and said city has enjoyed the use and benefits of said expenditures; and the results of said expenditures were well worth the price which said city contracted should be paid therefor; and,

Whereas, doubts have arisen concerning the legality of the aforesaid warrants, or a portion thereof, on the ground that the aforesaid expenditures or a portion thereof were contracted in excess of the city's authorized annual revenue; said expenditures were not provided for in the city's annual appropriation; said expenditures were incurred and contracted for in excess of the statutory limitations on indebtedness; the indebtedness incurred, for which the warrants were issued should have been advertised for bids and was not in fact so advertised; said indebtedness should have been authorized by the voters of said city, and was not in fact so authorized.

Whereas, it is deemed advisable to put said doubts and all other doubts which may arise concerning the legality or validity of the aforesaid warrants forever at rest; now therefore"

Also by striking out all of said bill following the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

On motion of Senator Kimball, House File No. 130, a bill for an act to amend section eight hundred fifty-p (850-p) of the supplemental supplement to the code, nineteen hundred fifteen, extending the time for making tax levy for park purposes for improvement of lakes by dredging or otherwise deepening the same, constructing dikes and levees and changing the form and size thereof improving such lakes and park lands surrounding the same, and for other purposes, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following committee amendments were adopted:

Amend by striking out the words "of the" in line two of the title, and by striking out the period and comma after the word "same" in the last line of the title. Also by striking out the words "of the" in line two of Section 1 of the bill and by striking out the star after the letter "p" in the parenthesis at the beginning of line two of section 1.

The bill was read for information.

Senator Kimball moved that the rules be suspended, and the reading just had be considered the third reading.

Senator Whitmore rose to a point of order that the motion of Senator Kimball would if it prevailed, preclude further debate and amendment.

The President held that the point was well taken.

The motion was lost and further consideration of House File 130 was deferred.

On motion of Senator White, Senate File No. 199, a bill for an act to repeal section five thousand seventy seven A-seventeen (5077-A-17) supplement to the code, 1913, and to enact a substitute therefor, relating to agricultural seeds, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator White offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 199 by striking out of lines 23 and 24, Section C the words "in this state."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Buser offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 199 by striking from section 1 thereof, beginning at the word "or" in line forty-six, the following: "or imprisonment in the county jail not to exceed ninety days".

The amendment was lost.

Senator Foskett offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 199 by striking out all of Section one after the word "days" in line forty-seven of said section, as it appears in the printed bill, and inserting after the word "days" a period ".".

Senator Van Alstine offered an amendment as a substitute for the amendment offered by the senator from Page.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that the offer of the substitute was not germane to the pending amendment, inasmuch as it was practically an entire new bill.

The President held that the point of order was well taken.

President pro tem Arney assumed the chair at 11:05 a. m. Senator Parker was called to the chair at 11:10.

President pro tem Arney assumed the chair at 11:15.

Senator Foskett asked for a roll call on the amendment offered by him.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

SENATE CHAMBER,
DES MOINES, IOWA, FEBRUARY 22, 1919.

Senate met in regular session, President Ernest R. Moore presiding.

Prayer was offered by Lieutenant Edward Dankowski, chaplain 163d Depot Brigade, Camp Dodge.

Extracts from Washington's farewell address were read by Secretary Gustafson.

On motion of Senator Proudfoot the extracts just read were ordered printed in the journal.

EXTRACTS FROM WASHINGTON'S FAREWELL ADDRESS.

In looking forward to the moment, which is intended to terminate the career of my public life, my feelings do not permit me to suspend the deep acknowledgment of that debt of gratitude which I owe to my beloved country, for the many honors it has conferred upon me; still more for the steadfast confidence with which it has supported me; for the opportunities I have thence enjoyed of manifesting my inviolable attachment, by services faithful and persevering, though in usefulness unequal to my zeal.—If benefits have resulted to our country from these services, let it always be remembered to your praise, and as an instructive example in our annals that under circumstances in which the passions agitated in every direction were liable to mislead, amidst appearances sometimes dubious, vicissitudes of fortune often discouraging, in situations in which not unfrequently want of success has countenanced the spirit of criticism, the constancy of your support was the essential prop of the efforts, and a guarantee of the plans by which they were effected.—Profoundly penetrated with this idea, I shall carry it with me to the grave, as a strong incitement to unceasing vows that Heaven may continue to you the choicest tokens of its beneficence—that your union and brotherly affection may be perpetual—that the free constitution, which is the work of your hands, may be sacredly maintained—that its administration in every department may be stamped with wisdom and virtue—that, in fine, the happiness of the people of these states, under the auspices of liberty, may be made complete, by so careful a preservation and so prudent a use of this blessing as will acquire to them the glory of recommending it to the applause, the affection, and adoption of every nation, which is yet a stronger argument to it.

Here, perhaps, I ought to stop.—But a solicitude for your welfare, which cannot end but with my life, and the apprehension of danger, natural to that solicitude, urge me on an occasion like the present, to offer to your solemn contemplation, and to recommend to your frequent review some sentiments; which are the result of much reflection, of no inconsiderable observation and which appear to me all important to the permanency of your felicity as a people.—These will be offered to you with the more freedom, as you can only see in them the disinterested warnings of a parting friend, who can possibly have no personal motive to bias his counsels.—Nor can I forget, as an encouragement to it your indulgent reception of my sentiments on a former and not dissimilar occasion.

Interwoven as is the love of liberty with every ligament of your hearts, no recommendation of mine is necessary to fortify or confirm the attachment.—

The Unity of Government which constitutes you one people, is also now dear to you.—It is justly so;—for it is a main Pillar in the Edifice of your real independence; the support of your tranquillity at home; your peace abroad; of your safety; of your prosperity in every shape; of that very Liberty, which you so highly prize.—But as it is easy to foresee, that, from different causes, and from different quarters, much pains will be taken, many artifices employed, to weaken in your minds the conviction of this truth:—as this is the point in your political fortress against which the batteries of internal and external enemies will be most constantly and actively (though often covertly and insidiously) directed, it is of infinite moment, that you should properly estimate the immense value of your national Union to your collective and individual happiness:—that you should cherish a cordial, habitual, and immovable attachment, to it; accustoming yourselves to think and speak of it as of the Palladium of your political safety and prosperity, watching for its preservation with jealous anxiety; discountenancing whatever may suggest even a suspicion that it can in any event be abandoned, and indignantly frowning upon the first dawning of every attempt to alienate any portion of our Country from the rest, or to enfeeble the sacred ties which now link together the various parts.

The president appointed Senators Wilson and Shane to escort Captain B. J. Gibson to the president's desk.

In introducing Captain Gibson, President Moore spoke as follows:

Senators, I feel quite sure it is entirely unnecessary for me to introduce to you Senator Gibson. Aside from a very small portion of the present Senate he is well known to you. We know how well, how conscientiously he served two years ago, how valuable his work was, how earnest he was in attempting to solve every problem submitted to him. We know that to him a greater call of duty came, that he found it advisable to resign his seat in this body in order that he might answer the call of his country. We know too how well and faithfully he served there. Now that this emergency has passed and he has retired from the military service for the second time and is back again to take up the burdens of civil life, we feel that he will fulfill them in the same way as he discharged his duties when in the Senate.

Permit me to present to you Senator Gibson.

Captain Gibson addressed the Senate as follows:

Mr. President, I have never felt so much like saying nothing as I do now. It has been more than a year since I made a speech or even a talk for that matter, and I do not know just what to say. I am like the old man driving up a hill with his wagon loaded with goods. He drove a little ways and the team got stuck in the mud, so he unloaded part of his load. He went a little farther and got stuck again, and unloaded the balance of his load. He went a little farther and was stuck again. The old man looked around at his wagon and found nothing to unload and finally said, "Stuck, stuck, by thunder, and nothing to unload." That is the way I feel this morning.

Two years have elapsed since we sat together in this honorable body. During those two years the world has seemingly lived an age. If possible, the fullest hour of all times has come and is present. Two years ago our people had not awakened to the fact that this hour was upon them and it was a slow process to reach the summit of endeavor which our country eventually attained. Here and there voices were raised against our participation in the war, some even breathing treason and there was considerable doubt in many minds as to whether or not the nation would present the solid front that it should present to an enemy such as we had. Since that time I have traveled extensively throughout the East and the West and but recently was stationed in the East. Permit me to say that the solidarity of the American nation in November, 1918, just before the armistice was signed, was the marvel of the day. I say this simply to bring to your mind the feeling which I have that while the full hour was upon us then, we must not forget that it is still here and some few things yet remain to be done. * * *

This is Washington's birthday. What would Washington say to us were he present today? Would he say that we have accomplished all, or would he say that there are still things to do? In my humble opinion he would attempt with all his strength to keep us on the job. Just after the armistice was signed, it was to be observed in the army at least that there was a gradual slacking up in the work. Boys who had, without a murmur arisen with the bugle call, worked steadily all day and stood so proudly at retreat in the evening, were not quite as much interested as they had been before. This was no reflection upon them, but was simply the natural thing to do under the circumstances. I do not know whether this was true in private life or not, but if so, it was only natural. However, the world today presents a peculiar and an unnatural condition. Russia is impossible and in all the countries of the old world, there is a condition that is at least dangerous. With such a condition in the world and with the further perplexing problems brought about by the conclusion of the war, it seems to me that our duty as American citizens demands that we still stay on the job. As our people both young and old did their part during the war so they should do it now. Every man should loan to his government the very best possible that is in him.

In this way, I am sure that success will be attained and America will fulfill the hope which the world now has in her. You know the monument of Washington in the capitol city. One of the peculiar things about it is that it seems to change in color with the changing lights of the day. From tip to base it is a thing of marvelous beauty by reason of its very simplicity, but to me as I have seen it, has occurred the thought that it stands there like a rock of ages, emblematical of the traditions of our fathers, emblematical of the clear thought that was with Washington and the people of his day. The thought of that day and the work of that age was the foundation upon which the present America has erected its temple.

And so this morning it seems to me we could not do better than to make a firm determination that upon the traditions of our fathers we will base our hopes and meet the problems of the day. If we do this, I am sure that to civilization and to the world, America will be in truth a rock of ages. Thus will the world be established as a place of peace, liberty and happiness * * *

Gentlemen, I have talked to you a few minutes. I do not know that I have said anything that has interested you. There is just one thing more I would like to say. Our soldier boys will soon be home from overseas. Many of them are home now. Many of the boys from the camps in this country are back. The glory of their achievement cannot be added to. Nearly two years ago this body reviewed the old third Iowa, now the One Hundred and Sixty-eighth Infantry, at the fair grounds. The van guard of the host that should leave this state. I mention this because it was the beginning. We will recall the splendid review put on by the regiment. Since that time it has gone overseas and has been in practically every battle and campaign of any moment since it landed. We are indeed proud of every boy from this state who wore the little rainbow on his shoulder. Many of them will not return. They filled their hour to the fullest. The glory of their acts can never die. However, many boys of this regiment, as well as thousands who were in other regiments and companies who have performed to the fullest their duty to this nation, will soon be home. Permit me before going further with this thought to state that the thousands from this state who went overseas in whatever regiment or in whatever company, must not be forgotten and I would render to them the same praise. Nor should we forget those who were in the camps ready to go. It is my hope, and I believe it is our duty, to do everything in our power to keep these boys always in Iowa. Their deeds should be the heritage of this state. They are anxious to know whether they will be given a job when they return. It is our hope that we as a people see that they get positions in this state and thus remain with us. * * *

Our army at the close of the war numbered practically four million men, two million of whom were across the seas. This army could not have been raised nor equipped as it was except for the unity of the American people and their sacrifice. For that reason I am sure that in the days to come the people of the nation, all having done their part, will have a feeling of kinship that will insure the preservation of liberty and happiness in the country. This unity raised an army and won a war and it will bring liberty to all mankind.

Mr. President and Senators, I want finally to express to you my appreciation of being permitted to speak this morning. This privilege comes to but few men and I want you to understand that I appreciate it to the fullest extent. I appreciate the welcome you gave me yesterday. I appreciate the welcome you gave me just now and I want to say that I am proud and pleased. I am glad that I am an American citizen, glad that I am from the good old state of Iowa, and am proud of the honor which came to me of being permitted to sit in this Senate and mingle with and know such gentlemen as you.

Sec. 6. The salaries of all county officers included in this Act shall be paid out of the County Treasury in equal monthly installments.

Sec. 7. This Act being deemed of immediate importance shall take effect and be in full force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

BEN EDWARDS, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Newberry, from the committee on public schools, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on public schools, to whom was referred Senate File No. 245, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section 2831 supplement to the code 1913, and section 2831 of the code; and section 1072 supplement to the code 1913, relating to county board of education, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows: and when so amended the bill do pass:

-By striking out section two of said bill and inserting the following in lieu thereof:

Sec. 2. The law as it appears in section one thousand seventy-two (1072), supplement to the code, 1913, is hereby amended by inserting after the period following the word "office" in line forty-three of said section the following to wit:

"There shall also be held one of such conventions on the first Monday in April, 1919, at which time there shall be elected five persons, outside the membership of such convention, who with the county superintendent, ex-officio, and the chairman of the board of supervisors, ex-officio, shall constitute a county board of education. Such persons shall be reputable citizens of the county, of good educational qualifications, and whose term of office shall begin the first day of May, 1919, and continue until their successors are selected and qualified. Two of whom shall be elected for a term of two years, and three for a term of five years, and at the regular convention in 1921, two members shall be elected for a term of six years, and thereafter two members shall be elected every six years, and at the regular convention in 1924 three members shall be elected for a term of six years and thereafter three members shall be elected every six years, and until their successors shall be elected and qualified. All persons elected or appointed on said board shall qualify on or before ten days following their election or appointment, and at the time of their election or appointment must be citizens of the United States, over twenty-one years of age, and residents of the state for a period of six months, and of the county sixty days, prior to their election or appointment, and the members of said board may be of either sex, and not more than one member, other than the county superintendent, or chairman of the board of supervisors, shall be from the same school corporation. Vacancies in said board are to be filled by the board until the next regular convention, when such convention shall fill all vacancies provided, however, if the members of said board be reduced below a quorum a convention shall be called, as provided by law, to fill vacancies. The majority of said board shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business. The members of said board shall take an oath of office as provided by law for county officers. The members of said board shall serve without pay, but shall be allowed their actual necessary expenses in performing their duties, not to exceed forty dollars each, annually, to be audited by the board of supervisors, and paid out of the general fund. Meetings of said board shall be held on the second Monday in August and February in each year at the office of the county superintendent, and other meetings on call of the county superintendent, or on written request of any three members filed with the county superintendent. Said board shall perform all duties prescribed by law for the county board of education, and shall act as an advisory board to the county superintendent, and shall co-operate with him in formulating plans, and regulations for the advancement and welfare of the schools under his supervision.

MESSAGES FROM THE HOUSE.

The following messages were received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT—I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill, in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 234, a bill for an act relating to judgments of the supreme court in criminal cases.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has passed the following bill, in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House File No. 260, a bill for an act in reference to the organization of farm improvement associations.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

Also:

I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has amended and passed the following bill, in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate File No. 116, a bill for an act to determine the number of peremptory challenges and of selecting the petit jury from the panel in criminal cases.

W. C. RAMSAY, Chief Clerk.

HOUSE AMENDMENT.

Amend the title to Senate File No. 116 so as to read as follows:

A bill for an act to amend sections five thousand three hundred and sixty-three (5363), five thousand three hundred and sixty-five (5365), and five thousand three hundred and sixty-six (5366) of the code, regulating the method and number of challenges and the method of exercising peremptory challenges and of selecting the petit jury from the panel in the case of criminal procedure.

By striking out all following the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-three (5363) of the code, be and the same is hereby amended by striking from line two (2) thereof the word "twelve" and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "sixteen".

SEC. 2. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-five (5365) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

If the offense charged in the indictment or information is or may be punishable with death or imprisonment for life, the state and defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge eight jurors and shall strike two jurors; if the offense charged be any other felony, the state and the defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge four jurors and shall strike two jurors; and if the offense charged be a misdemeanor, the state and the defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge one juror and shall strike two jurors. The clerk shall prepare a list of jurors called and after all challenges for cause are exhausted or waived, the parties, commencing with the state, shall alternately challenge peremptorily or waive by indicating any such challenge upon the list opposite the name of the juror challenged or by indicating the number of waiver elsewhere on the list.

SEC. 3. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-six (5366) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

After each challenge, sustained for cause, or made peremptorily as indicated on the list, another juror shall be called and examined for challenge for cause before a further challenge is made and any new juror thus called may be challenged for cause and shall be subject to peremptory challenge or to being struck from the list as other jurors. After all challenges have thus been exercised or waived and four jurors have been struck from the list the clerk shall read the names of the twelve jurors remaining who shall constitute the jury selected.

COMMUNICATION FROM SENATOR FOSTER.

February 25th, 1919.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR MOORE, State House.

DEAR GOVERNOR MOORE—I wish to express my appreciation and thanks for the beautiful floral remembrance which you and the senators so kindly sent me yesterday. These flowers bring into my room a real breath of spring and are redolent with the spirit of friendship which is the greatest reward for senatorial duties.

I had a pretty good day yesterday and feel stronger than when you were here in the morning.

Again thanking you for your kind remembrance, I am,

Very truly yours,

JOHN W. FOSTER.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was now ready to receive the Senate in joint session.

Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the sergeant-at-arms.

JOINT CONVENTION.

Pursuant to concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint session was called to order, Hon. Ernest R. Moore, president of the Senate, presiding.

President Moore announced a quorum present.

Senator Evans moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify Dr. W. A. Evans that the joint session was ready to receive him. Motion prevailed and the president appointed as such committee, Senator Evans and Representatives Neff of Pottawattamie and Smith of Clinton.

Dr. W. A. Evans, health editor of the Chicago Tribune, was escorted to the speaker's desk and addressed the joint assembly on matters pertaining to public health.

Senator Ball moved that the joint assembly show its appreciation of the address of Dr. Evans by a rising vote.

Motion prevailed.

Minutes of the joint session were read and approved.

Senator Taylor moved that the joint session be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

SENATE RESUMED SESSION.

Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Byington, Senate File No. 58, a bill for an act to exclude aliens from employment as teachers in the public schools and in state institutions, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Byington offered the following amendment to the pending amendment, filed by him and found on pages 630 and 631 of the Senate journal:

Amend by striking out of section one, line eleven the word "and" and substituting therefor "or of the Board of Control of State Institutions or".

By adding in line thirteen of section one after the word "to" the words "apply to".

By striking out of line three of section two the word "their" and inserting the word "its".

By striking out of line six of section four the word "meet" and inserting the word "meets".

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

Senator Evans offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend section two of the amendment to Senate File No. 58 by striking out the period at the end of the said section and adding thereto, "Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Holland and all neutral countries."

Senator Schaffter offered an amendment.

Senator Evans raised the point of order that the amendment offered was out of order as there was already pending an amendment to an amendment.

The president held the point of order well taken.

The amendment offered by Senator Evans was lost.

Senator Balkema offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Strike out of section two all after the word "aliens" and add there-after a period.

Senator Kimball offered the following as a substitute for the pending amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend by striking out all after the word "aliens" in section two and substitute therefor the following:

"providing the country of such alien has not been at war with the United States within ten years prior to such employment."

The substitute amendment was lost.

The amendment offered by Senator Balkema was lost.

Senator Schaffter offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend by striking out section two, and by renumbering the succeeding sections.

On the adoption of the amendment a roll call was demanded. Senator Whitmore invoked rule 8.

On the question, "Shall the amendment be adopted?" the vote was:

The amendment was adopted.

The amendment filed by Senator Byington, as amended, was adopted as follows:

SECTION 1. That it shall be unlawful for any board, any officer or other person acting for the state, or for any county, township, city, village, district, or other municipality in the state, to employ any person or persons, other than native born or naturalized citizens or those who have in good faith declared their intentions to become citizens of the United States, (except those of such age that they can not declare their intentions to become citizens) when such employes are to be paid, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, out of any funds raised by taxation, where such person or persons are employed as members of the instructional staff in the institutions under the control of the Iowa State Board of Education or of the Board of Control of State Institutions or the public schools of the state or any public institutions of the state. But nothing in this act shall be construed to apply to casual lecturers or entertainers.

SEC. 2. The State Board of Educational Examiners shall from the taking effect of this act include in every teacher's certificate issued by said Board a statement that the person to whom such certificate is issued has met the citizenship requirements provided herein.

SEC. 3. It shall be the duty of any person or persons so employing those whose services are to be paid for, in whole or in part, directly or indirectly, out of any funds raised by taxation, to file with the treasurer or disbursing officer of such funds a certificate showing to the best of his knowledge and belief that the person so employed, and on whose account payment is to be made out of such public funds, meets the requirements of this act as to citizenship.

SEC. 4. Any treasurer or disbursing officer who shall knowingly or wilfully pay out any of the funds in his hands, raised by taxation, to any such person who does not meet the requirements of this act, for labor or any other service, contemplated by this act shall be liable to the municipality to which such funds belong for the amount so paid, to be recovered in any court of competent jurisdiction. Provided, that when such payment is made on the requisite certificate of the employer no liability shall attach to such treasurer or disbursing officer.

SEC. 5. Any employer, or other person, who shall knowingly or negligently make false certificate required under this act that said employes are native or naturalized citizens, or have declared their intentions to become citizens for the purpose of drawing such funds, or any part thereof, shall be personally liable to the municipality to which such funds belong for the amount so drawn, and any alien disqualified from employment under this act who falsely represents that he is a native or naturalized citizen, or has declared his intention to become a citizen shall forfeit the amount of all wages so earned.

Senator Byington moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which notion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

By unanimous consent, on request of Senator Balkema, the words "except as provided in section two of this act" were stricken out of lines 14 and 15 of section 1.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 29.

The House amendment having received a constitutional majority was declared to have been concurred in by the Senate.

Senator Wilson called up Senate File No. 116 and moved that the Senate concur in the following House amendment:

Amend the title to Senate File No. 116 so as to read as follows:

A bill for an act to amend sections five thousand three hundred and sixty-three (5363), five thousand three hundred and sixty-five (5365), and five thousand three hundred and sixty-six (5366) of the code, regulating the method and number of challenges and the method of exercising peremptory challenges and of selecting the petit jury from the panel in the case of criminal procedure.

By striking out all following the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-three (5363) of the code, be and the same is hereby amended by striking from line two (2) thereof the word "twelve" and by inserting in lieu thereof the word "sixteen".

SEC. 2. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-five (5365) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

If the offense charged in the indictment or information is or may be punishable with death or imprisonment for life, the state and defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge eight jurors and shall strike two jurors: if the offense charged be any other felony, the state and the defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge four jurors and shall strike two jurors: and if the offense charged be a misdemeanor, the state and the defendant shall each have the right to peremptorily challenge one juror and shall strike two jurors. The clerk shall prepare a list of jurors called and after all challenges for cause are exhausted or waived, the parties, commencing with the state, shall alternately challenge peremptorily or waive by indicating any such challenge upon the list opposite the name of the juror challenged or by indicating the number of waiver elsewhere on the list.

SEC. 3. That section five thousand three hundred and sixty-six (5366) of the code, be and the same is hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

After each challenge, sustained for cause, or made peremptorily as indicated on the list, another juror shall be called and examined for challenge for cause before a further challenge is made and any new juror thus called may be challenged for cause and shall be subject to peremptory challenge or to being struck from the list as other jurors. After all challenges have thus been exercised or waived and four jurors have been struck from the list the clerk shall read the names of the twelve jurors remaining who shall constitute the jury selected.

On the question, "Shall the Senate concur?" the vote was:

Ayes, 31.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

Senator Price asked unanimous consent to take up for consideration House File No. 4, a bill for an act amending section four hundred forty-one (441), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, as amended by chapter four hundred eight (408), acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, relating to the publication of the proceedings of boards of supervisors in foreign language newspapers, and repealing section five hundred forty-nine (549), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to the designation of newspapers for the publication of legal notices and enacting a substitute therefor, and providing for the publication of legal notices and proceedings exclusively in the English language and in newspapers published in the English language.

Senator LeCompte moved that House File No. 4 and Senate File No. 242 be referred to the committee on printing.

Motion prevailed.

On motion of Senator Van Alstine, House File No. 47, a bill for an act to amend sections five (5) and six (6) of chapter three hundred forty-four (344) of the acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly relating to the establishment of drainage districts, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following committee amendments were adopted:

Amend by striking from the title the words "of the" following the figures (344) in the second line of the said title, and inserting a comma in lieu thereof. Also by striking out the words "of the" following the figures (344) in the second line of Section 1, and inserting a comma in lieu thereof. Also by striking out the word "thirty" in the sixth line of Section one, and inserting the word "twenty" in lieu thereof. Also by striking out the word "thirty" in the sixth line of Section two and inserting the word "twenty" in lieu thereof.

Senator Van Alstine moved that the rules be suspended, and the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 35.

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on congressional, judicial and representative districts to whom was referred Senate File No. 243, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in chapter two hundred and fifteen (215) of the acts of the thirty-fourth (34th) general assembly, relating to the apportionment of the state into representative districts and declaring the ratio of representation, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same do pass.

J. A. NELSON, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Reed, from the committee on land titles, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on land titles, to whom was referred Senate File No. 93, a bill for an act to limit the commencement of an action for the recovery of an interest in real estate, based upon a claim prior to A. D. 1900, unless notice of such claimed right or interest is given as herein provided, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass:

By striking out all following the enacting clause, and substituting therefor the following:

"SECTION 1. That no action based upon any claim arising or existing prior to the 1st day of January, A. D. 1900 shall be maintained, either at law or in equity, in any court to recover any real estate in this state or to recover or establish any interest therein or claim thereto, legal or equitable, against the holder of the record title to such real estate in possession, when such holder of the record title and his grantors immediate or remote are shown by the record to have held chain of title to said real estate, since the said 1st day of January A. D. 1900, unless such claimant, by himself, or by his attorney or agent, or if he be a minor or under legal disability, by his guardian, trustee or either parent shall within one year from and after the date of the taking effect of this act, file in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein such real estate is situated, a statement in writing, which shall be duly acknowledged, definitely describing the real estate involved, the nature and extent of the right or interest claimed, and stating the facts upon which the same is based.

For the purposes of this act, any person who holds title to real estate by will or descent from any person who held the title of record to such real estate at the date of his death or who holds title by decree or order of any court, or under any tax deed, trustee's, referee's, guardian's, executor's, administrator's, receiver's, assignee's or sheriff's deed, shall be deemed to hold chain of title the same as though holding by direct conveyance.

SEC. 2. Any such claim so filed, shall be indexed under the description of the real estate involved in a book set apart and specially designed for that purpose to be known as the "Claimant's Book" and kept in the office of the recorder of the county where such real estate is situated, and said statement, when so indexed, shall be recorded as other instruments affecting real estate.

SEC. 3. That the provisions of Section 3453 of the code as to the rights of minors and insane persons shall not be applicable against the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. Provided, however, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed as limiting or extending the time within which actions by a spouse to recover dower or distributive share in real estate within this state may be brought or maintained under the provisions of section 3447-b of the supplement to the code, 1913, and the amendments thereto, or as limiting or extending the time within which actions may be brought or maintained to foreclose or enforce any real estate mortgage, bond for deed, trust deed, or contract for the sale or conveyance of real estate under the provisions of section 3447-c of the supplement to the code, 1913, and the amendments thereto: And, Provided further, that this act should in no case revive or permit an action to be brought or maintained upon any claim or cause of action which is barred by any statute which is in force at the time this act takes effect."

CARL W. REED, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Also:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on land titles, to whom was referred Senate File No. 53, a bill for an act to provide means for perfecting, registering and transferring titles to real estate to be known as the "Torrens Land Title System," beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass:

By striking out all of section one hundred (100) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"SEC. 100. It is hereby made the duty of the board of supervisors in each county of the state to provide each registrar with the necessary books, supplies and stationery required by this act and to fix the bond required for each registrar, and upon the filing of said bond and the approval thereof by the board of supervisors, the same shall be in force and effect."

CARL W. REED, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Kimball, from the committee on ways and means, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on ways and means, to whom was referred Senate File No. 190, a bill for an act to amend section eight hundred eighty-seven (887) of the code, relating to taxation in cities and towns, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass:

That section 1 be stricken out and the following substituted therefor:

"SECTION 1. That the law as it appears in section eight hundred eighty-seven (887) of the Code, be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following: The council of each city or town is hereby authorized to levy a tax for the year 1919 and for the year 1920, not exceeding five (5) mills on the dollar, for the purpose of meeting any deficiency in or inadequacy of said ten (10) mill levy."

That the title be amended by striking out all portions of the present title after the words "A BILL FOR AN ACT" and substituting therefor the following:

"To amend section eight hundred eighty-seven (887) of the Code, by authorizing a special extra levy not exceeding five (5) mills for the years 1919 and 1920 for the general fund of all cities and towns."

CLEM F. KIMBALL, Chairman.

REPORT OF SPECIAL COMMITTEE.

Senator Evans presented the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee to whom was referred the report of H. M. Havner, attorney general, as to compensation paid and expenses of peace officers employed under chapter 231 of the acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly ask leave to report that they have had the same under consideration and submit the following report in regard thereto:

That on the 22d day of January, 1919, the Senate adopted the following resolution:

Whereas, by the provisions of chapter two hundred thirty-one (231) of the laws of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, the governor and attorney general were authorized to call to their aid any peace officer in the state for the purpose of rendering assistance in procuring evidence, ferreting out crime, prosecuting law violators or otherwise enforcing the law; and

Whereas, they were authorized by the terms of said chapter to expend not to exceed twenty-five thousand dollars ($25,000.00) for the compensation and expense of such officers or persons.

Be It Resolved: That the governor and attorney general be and they are hereby requested to furnish to this body a statement of the names and addresses of such peace officers or persons and the compensation paid to such peace officers or persons during the last biennium.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of such reports be printed and placed upon the desk of each senator.

That on the 20th day of February, 1919, the attorney general filed with the president of this Senate the following statement:

"In accordance with Senate Resolution by Evans, adopted January 22, 1919, the following statement of compensation paid and expenses of peace officers or persons, together with their addresses, who have been employed under chapter 231, acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, from April 18, 1917, the date the act went into effect, up to and including December 31, 1918, is herewith submitted.

H. M. HAVNER, Attorney General."

To which was attached an itemized list of the names of the said persons or peace officers together with their addresses and their compensation and expenses and the number of the warrant going to each person; that the report was not tabulated with the total footing going to each person nor was the whole amount paid out, computed and set out in the statement; that your committee has tabulated the said report showing the names of the persons paid, the total amount paid to each, both for salary and expenses and the grand totals with the names of the persons set out in alphabetical order; that it appears that there were one hundred twenty-one (121) different persons employed; that the total paid out for salary and expenses for the period commencing April 18, 1917, up to and including December 31, 1918, is as follows:

For salary .....	$26,752.30
For expenses .....	24,913.69
	<hr/>
Total salary and expenses .....	$51,665.99

That the tabulated report of your committee is attached hereto and marked Exhibit "A" and made a part hereof.

Your committee asks that this report be printed in the Journal.

Respectfully submitted,

W. T. EVANS,
 H. I. FOSKETT,
 H. C. WHITE.

SPECIAL ORDER.

Senator Brookhart moved that Special Order No. 13, House File No. 122, by Dean, be made a special order for Friday, March 7th, at 10:00 a. m.

Senator Wilson moved to amend by making the time 1:30 p. m. today.

The motion as amended prevailed and House File No. 122 was made a special order for today at 1:30.

On motion of Senator Kimball, House File No. 68 was recalled from judiciary No. 2 and referred to judiciary No. 1.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

Senate proceeded to the House under direction of the sergeant-at-arms.

JOINT CONVENTION.

Pursuant to concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint session was called to order, Hon. Ernest R. Moore, president of the Senate, presiding.

President Moore announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Greenell moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify Governor Harding that the joint session was ready to receive him and to escort him to the speaker's station.

Motion prevailed and the president appointed as such committee, Senator Greenell and Representatives Perkins of Sac and Holloway of Fremont.

Senator Greenell, from the special committee appointed to notify the governor that the joint session was ready to receive him, announced the arrival of the Honorable William L. Harding, Governor of Iowa.

Governor Harding was escorted to the speaker's station.

The president of the joint convention then presented Governor William L. Harding, who read the following message:

Members of the Thirty-eighth Assembly of the State of Iowa:

Gentlemen:

The controversy regarding the Rathbun pardon has assumed such proportions that the time has now come when I should discuss it with you with the utmost frankness.

Some may think that I should have broken my silence sooner. In this connection it should be borne in mind that up until the time Rathbun himself went into court and waived the pardon, I assumed, as I had a right to assume, that any reconsideration of the pardon would be brought before me in the regular way and that I would sit in the capacity of judge to determine it. Under these circumstances, it would be ill becoming the office I have the honor of occupying to publicly discuss the matter or attempt to justify my former decision.

Many innuendoes are floating about that possibly the governor was bribed or accepted money in connection with the granting of this pardon. Let me say to you that if these innuendoes have assumed such proportions in your minds as to create even a doubt, it is your plain and imperative duty to trace them to the utmost limit to ascertain their foundation, for if the governor of this state has acted corruptly or has accepted a bribe, you can perform no more important duty during this session of the legislature than to assemble the evidence and impeach him, and if you think the evidence sufficient to justify placing that stigma upon him, you should proceed to impeachment without delay.

On the other hand, if your investigation convinces you that the evidence would not justify such a proceeding, it is your duty to announce the same so that the people may know the truth.

The right to have the truth known in this matter belongs to the people of this state, it belongs to my family, and it belongs to me personally; and the machinery of my office and all of the resources of the state, so far as I can command them, are at your disposal, and I cordially offer my personal co-operation in any way which you may suggest.

Ordinarily, when an official act of the governor is attacked, he has access to the office of the attorney general of the state for the purpose of counsel and guidance, but in this case, as you no doubt are well aware, the resources of that office are not only not being directed in aid of the governor, but have been used in an effort to annul the official act of the governor in an extraordinary proceeding, disregarding entirely the right of the governor to have the matter submitted to him for correction if error had been made.

If I have acted corruptly, I should be punished, and the limit of the law is none too severe. If I have made an honest mistake, based upon the record before me at the time I acted, that is another and different situation, and one which could have been corrected before me in a regular and orderly proceeding.

What was the record before me at the time I acted?

Before discussing that record, I desire to quote the section of the constitution which vests the pardoning power in the governor, which is as follows: "The governor shall have power to grant reprieves, commutations and pardons, after conviction, for all offenses except treason and cases of impeachment, subject to such regulations as may be provided by law. . . ." Article 4, Section 16, Constitution of Iowa.

The clause, "subject to such regulations as may be provided by law," has been caught up and cited in connection with Section 5718-a23, Supplement to the Code of Iowa, 1913, which is as follows: "It shall be the duty of the board of parole, under the direction of the governor, to take charge of all correspondence in reference to the pardon of persons convicted of crimes and to carefully investigate each application, and to file its recommendations with the governor with its reasons for the same."

An effort has been made to create the opinion that my method of procedure was irregular in that I did not first submit the application for pardon to the board of parole. In this connection, it must be borne in mind that Section 5718-a23 above quoted was enacted under the subject "Penitentiaries," and the section above quoted merely provides a method by which the governor may have the assistance of the board of parole in case he "directs" it to take charge of the correspondence.

A mere reading of the section last cited removes all doubt as to the governor's authority to pardon on the record without going through the board of parole. That this section imposes no restriction upon the pardoning power but rather affords an instrument through which the governor may have the clerical work done if he so directs is further emphasized by Section 5718-a21, which is a part of the same enactment as Section 5718-a23.

Section 5718-a21 provides as follows: "Nothing in this act contained shall be construed as impairing the power of the governor under the constitution, to grant a reprieve, pardons or commutations of sentence in any case."

It was under this law that I proceeded to act in granting the pardon. If I was in error as to my construction of the statutes above cited, or if an improper record was submitted to me, there was a regular method of procedure to attack the pardon on either of those grounds. I had issued the pardon in the regular and orderly way, as I conceived the law to be, and if I was in error as to the law or if I did not have the proper record before me, those matters could have been and should have been attacked before me in a direct proceeding made by formal application clearly setting out the grounds upon which I had committed error.

It is reported that the pardon was set aside as void by the District Court of Ida County, one of the grounds being that I proceeded illegally.

If this statement was started by anyone who was present at Court in ida Grove at the time the Rathbun pardon was before the Court, it is a malicious falsehood, and if started by someone who was not present, it is simply an ignorant falsehood.

The Judge of the District Court of Ida County has not passed upon that point, but on the contrary did state in open court and in the presence of the attorney general that he would not set the pardon aside on the ground that the governor proceeded irregularly by not referring the matter to the board of parole.

It might be interesting, in the course of your further investigation, to go into just what question the judge did have before him, the shape in which it came before him, and the order made thereon.

If this is done, it will be found that the pardon was set aside by stipulation between the attorneys representing the state and the attorney representing the defendant, and the defendant himself. In other words, a settlement of this important criminal matter appears to have been made between the attorney general and the accused, and it might be interesting to investigate fully the consideration which prompted the defendant to acquiesce in it.

If you will further investigate, you will find that threats were made by the attorney general and his assistants to members of Rathbun's family that if they did not enter into this stipulation surrendering Rathbun and revoking the pardon that indictments and prosecutions would follow against other members of the family, and after the defendant agreed to waive his pardon and consent to the penitentiary sentence no further indictments followed. If any man in this assembly doubts the truth of my statements, I challenge him to proceed with any investigation necessary to apprise himself of just what has taken place in Ida county.

Now, as to the record which was before me at the time I granted the pardon:

Prior to the date of application for the pardon, I had a very casual acquaintance with Rathbun's attorney, George Clark, and I had never heard of Rathbun and his family. When Clark came before me asking for a pardon, I visited with him perhaps fifteen minutes about the case. I then asked him what the judge who tried the case and the county attorney had to say about the pardon. He said that he had not yet talked with them. I told him very frankly that it had been a rule of the governor's office for many years to give great weight to the recommendations of the county attorney and the judge who tried a particular case, and that I would not consider the case until I had received a recommendation from these two parties. This closed our conversation and he left.

Later, he returned with a recommendation from both these officials.

The one from District Judge M. E. Hutchison is in part as follows: "That taking into consideration the circumstances and the evidence introduced upon the trial, and the record there made, I consider that the life sentence imposed by me as judge of said court is too severe, and would recommend that said sentence be commuted to a period at the discretion of your honor, based upon an abstract of the record which will be filed with you."

The one from J. A. Murphy, acting county attorney, was in the language quoted above.

I have known Judge Hutchison for about ten years and know him to be a man of the highest ideals and the strictest integrity, both as a man and a judge, and with the request for clemency coming from him as it did, with knowledge on his part that the defendant had not gone to the penitentiary and had not served a day in jail, it created in my mind the impression that the judge before whom the case was tried himself believed that justice had miscarried. Previous to receiving the judge's communication, I had read the abstract of the evidence that had been filed in the supreme court and submitted to me, and had concluded from that reading that there was very grave doubt as to whether or not rape had been committed, although there was no doubt that an immoral act had been committed.

The boy was either guilty or innocent of the crime charged in the indictment; if guilty, the sentence pronounced by the court was none too severe; if innocent of the crime charged, any confinement in the penitentiary for that crime was wrong.

I thought if the boy were guilty of the crime charged the judge and county attorney would not recommend clemency before he had served a day in the penitentiary, and I thought from their requests, coming when they did, that the supreme pardoning power of the state was properly invoked to save from the penitentiary a boy who had committed an immoral act, but was not guilty of the crime of rape as charged in the indictment.

The abstract to which I refer and which I read has already been submitted to this body and will be found commencing on page 411 of the Senate Journal of the 12th day of February, 1919.

This abstract, this request by the county attorney and the judge, and the application of Clark, are all of the information I had before me and all of the influences that were brought to bear upon me in connection with the granting of this pardon, save only one, and that, the previous attitude of the attorney general himself, who, while in my office one day, talked with parties at Ida Grove over the phone in reference to Rathbun's testimony in the O'Meara case. From his conversation, which I heard, I gathered the impression that Rathbun was not to be opposed in any attempt for pardon or commutation of sentence by the attorney general's office. After the attorney general's conversation over the phone, he turned to me and said, "This is the Rathbun boy who made a confession which will help us in convicting O'Meara. We will have to be lenient with him," and the substance of his further conversation was that without Rathbun's confession they would be unable to convict O'Meara.

It may be urged that I was deceived in the facts and that fraud was practiced upon me in the record which was submitted to me. That may be true, but you can readily see that it in no way goes to the question of my acting corruptly in what I did. If I erred in acting upon a fraudulent record, my act was void from the beginning. I know that, and every thoughtful person knows it. District courts are constantly setting aside verdicts and granting motions for new trials on the ground that they have committed error on the record which was before them. Our supreme court often grants rehearings and reverses itself on the ground that it has committed error on the record before it, but this does not go to the good faith or integrity of the judge. He simply recognizes his mistake and proceeds to correct it, and I should be the last person to hesitate to correct mine.

When it is believed that a district court or the supreme court has committed error in determining the issues before it, either of law or of fact, the litigants do not go into some other tribunal but go back to the court where the decision was rendered, presenting the alleged errors to the court and giving that court an opportunity to correct, if it believes error has been made. In this case, the power to pardon vested in the governor is a constitutional power, and the right to ~~revoke~~ the pardon likewise lies with him.

If I was deceived as to the record or proceeded illegally, the proper place to correct either of these errors was by formal application before me to set aside the pardon, indicating clearly the grounds of irregularity. Such an application had not been made up to the time I left the office to come before you.

In closing, let me sum up what I have attempted to present to you, by saying if I have acted corruptly, that fact should be determined and I should be punished. If I have acted contrary to the provisions of the statute or upon a false record, those questions could have been raised before me in a direct proceeding and my error in law pointed out, or the false record corrected by providing me with a true one, and I tell you, gentlemen, without any reservation whatever, that if I had found myself in error, either in law or upon the fact, I should have been glad to correct it and should have thanked those who pointed out the error.

The state has a right to know whether I have acted corruptly or whether I have acted honestly in granting this pardon, and it is for you to determine and inform them, and in this search you have my undivided support.

W. L. HARDING, Governor.

Minutes of the joint session were read and approved.

Larson of Montgomery moved that the joint session be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

Senate returned from joint session and resumed regular session.

REPORT OF JOINT COMMITTEE ON ENROLLED BILLS.

ASSISTANT ON ENROLLED BILLS.

Senator Rule offered the following resolution:

Whereas, the duties of the chairman on enrolled bills are so continuous and the work devolving upon said chairman requires almost the entire time of such chairman and prevents him from giving the attention that he desires to matters pending on the floor, and

Whereas, such duties as develop upon such committee should not be actually performed by the individual work of the chairman of the committee but more in a supervisory connection; now therefore,

I move that A. C. Gustafson, Secretary Pro Tem of the Senate, be assigned to the committee on enrolled bills for the performance of such work and duties as may be assigned to him by the chairman of said committee, such duties to be in addition to those of secretary Pro Tem of the Senate.

By unanimous consent the resolution was taken up, considered and adopted.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Byington, House File No. 121, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section four thousand eleven (4011) of the code, relating to the exemption of personal earnings, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Byington offered the following as a substitute for all pending amendments, including the amendments proposed by the committee:

Amend by striking out the last six (6) lines of the bill as amended and passed by the House and inserting in lieu thereof after the word "following":

"Provided, that where the party in whose favor the order, decree or judgment was rendered has not remarried, the personal earnings of the debtor shall not be exempt from any order, judgment or decree for temporary or permanent alimony hereafter rendered in this state, nor from any installment of any such order, judgment or decree heretofore rendered within this state which, by the provision thereof may hereafter become due, or from any order, judgment or decree for the support of his minor child or children hereafter rendered in this state nor any installment of any such order, judgment or decree heretofore rendered in this state which, by the provisions thereof, may hereafter become due."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Byington moved that the rules be suspended and the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 40.

RESIGNATION OF COMMITTEE CLERK

Des Moines, March 7, 1919.

Lieutenant Governor Ernest R. Moore,
President of the Senate.

MY DEAR SIR—I hereby tender my resignation as committee clerk in the Senate of the 38th General Assembly of the State of Iowa with the consent and good wishes of Honorable W. G. Haskell, under whom I have had the pleasure of serving. I resign to accept a position in the Departmental Service in Washington, D. C., and leave the Iowa State House with much regret.

Yours truly,

CLARENCE H. CHURCHMAN.

The resignation was accepted.

CONCURRENT RESOLUTION.

Senator Holdoegel offered the following resolution:

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

That the Committee on Departmental Affairs is hereby authorized to incur such expense as may be necessary to secure witnesses and for the preservation of the evidence so taken and the record, in conducting their study of the departments of the State of Iowa. Said expenses to be included in the omnibus bill, to be passed by the Thirty-Eighth General Assembly.

By unanimous consent, the resolution was taken up, considered and adopted.

THIRD READING OF BILLS

On motion of Senator Foster, Senate File No. 93, a bill for an act to limit the commencement of an action for the recovery of an interest in real estate, based upon a claim arising prior to A. D. 1900, unless notice of such claimed right to interest is given as herein provided, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following committee amendments were adopted:

Amend by striking out all following the enacting clause, and substituting therefor the following:

"SECTION 1. That no action based upon any claim arising or existing prior to the 1st day of January, A. D. 1900 shall be maintained, either at law or in equity, in any court to recover any real estate in this state or to recover or establish any interest therein or claim thereto, legal or equitable, against the holder of the record title to such real estate in possession, when such holder of the record title and his grantors immediate or remote are shown by the record to have held claim of title to said real estate, since the said 1st day of January A. D. 1900, unless such claimant, by himself, or by his attorney or agent, or if he be a minor or under legal disability, by his guardian, trustee or either parent shall within one year from and after the date of the taking effect of this act, file in the office of the recorder of deeds of the county wherein such real estate is situated, a statement in writing, which shall be duly acknowledged, definitely describing the real estate involved, the nature and extent of the right or interest claimed, and stating the facts upon which the same is based.

For the purposes of this act, any person who holds title to real estate by will or descent from any person who held the title of record to such real estate at the date of his death or who holds title by decree or order of any court, or under any tax deed, trustee's, referee's, guardian's, executor's, administrator's, receiver's, assignee's, or sheriff's deed, shall be deemed to hold chain of title the same as though holding by direct conveyance.

SEC. 2. Any such claim so filed, shall be indexed under the description of the real estate involved in a book set apart and specially designed for the purpose to be known as the "Claimant's Book" and kept in the office of the recorder of the county where such real estate is situated, and said statement, when so indexed, shall be recorded as other instruments affecting real estate.

SEC. 3. That the provisions of Section 3453 of the code as to the rights of minors and insane persons shall not be applicable against the provisions of this act.

SEC. 4. Provided however, that nothing in this act contained shall be construed as limiting or extending the time within which actions by a spouse to recover dower or distributive share in real estate within this state may be brought or maintained under the provisions of section 3447-b of the supplement to the code, 1913, and the amendments thereto, or as limiting or extending the time within which actions may be brought or maintained to foreclose or enforce any real estate mortgage, bond for deed, trust deed, or contract for the sale or conveyance of real estate under the provisions of section 3447-c of the supplement to the code, 1913, and the amendments thereto: And, provided further, that this act should in no case revive or permit an action to be brought or maintained upon and claim or cause of action which is barred by any statute which is in force at the time this act takes effects."

By unanimous consent the words "master in chancery", were inserted in line 27 of section 1 following the word "assignee's".

Senator Foster moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

"A bill for an act concerning land titles, providing for the perfecting, registration and transfer of the title to real estate, prescribing the manner in which registration of title may be obtained and the rights accruing thereunder providing for assurance of title and for indemnity and for penalties for the violation of any provisions of the law and to be known as the Torrens Land Title System."

2nd. By striking out the word "summons" wherever the same appears in section 18 of said bill and substituting in lieu thereof the words "Original Notice".

3rd. By striking out the word "issuing" in the eleventh line of section 18 of the bill and substituting in lieu thereof the word "ensuing".

4th. By striking out the period at the end of line four of section 19 and substituting in lieu thereof the words "in the following form".

5th. By striking out the word "thirty" in the eleventh line of section 24 and substituting in lieu thereof the word "sixty".

6th. By striking out all after the period in line twelve of section 24 and all of line thirteen of said section and all of line fourteen except the last word of said line fourteen.

7th. By striking out the words "writ of error" in the 33d line of section 24.

8th. By striking out the word "may" in the second line of section 28 and inserting the word "may" before the word "be" in the third line of said section.

9th. By striking out the words "one tenth" in line seven of section 90 and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "one-twentieth (1-20)".

W. T. EVANS.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Van Alstine, Senate File No. 82, a bill for an act to make uniform the law of sales of goods, and repealing all acts or parts of acts inconsistent herewith and providing that this act may be cited as the Uniform Sales Act, made a special order for this time, was taken up and considered.

The following pending amendment by Senator Whitmore was considered:

Substitute "$100.00" for "$500.00" in line 2 of section 4.

The amendment was lost.

The following amendment by Senator Newberry was considered:

I move that the words "of the value of $500.00 or upwards" in line 2 in section 4 of the pending bill be stricken.

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Greenell was called to the chair at 10:30. President Moore resumed the chair at 10:50.

Senator Van Alstine moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

CORRECTION OF JOURNAL.

The journals of March 8th and 10th were corrected and approved.

LEAVE OF ABSENCE.

On request of Senator Meredith, leave of absence was granted Senator Cessna for the day.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

Senator Foster moved that speeches on Senate File No. 166 be limited to five minutes.

The motion was lost.

On motion of Senator Holdoegel, Senate File No. 166, a bill for an act to amend Chapter Two-A (2-A) of Title Six (VI), Supplement to the Code, 1913, relating to primary elections and nominations for office and to amend Section One Thousand and Eighty-seven-a16 (1087-a16), Supplement to the Code, 1913, and to provide that the primary election laws, and laws relating to the nomination of candidates for office, shall apply to women the same as to men, reported back by committee without recommendation, was taken up for consideration, and the report of the committee was adopted.

Senator Holdoegel moved that House File No. 182, a companion bill, be substituted therefor.

The motion prevailed.

Senator Rule offered the following motion:

I move that Senate Joint Resolution No. Seven (7), providing for amending the constitution relating to the right of suffrage, be placed upon the calendar in place of House File No. 182, Calendar No. 94, and that House File No. 182 be indefinitely postponed.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that the motion of Senator Rule was out of order, as it contained two motions in one and also that substitution could not be made because the subjects were not sufficiently related.

Senator Price raised the point of order that the point of order raised by Senator Whitmore was not debatable. The president held the point of order well taken.

In ruling on the point of order raised by Senator Whitmore, the president held that the second point was not well taken, as the subject matter was sufficiently related to permit of a substitution on the calendar; and sustained the first point by ordering a division of the motion.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 should have been referred when introduced. The president held the point of order not well taken, as the rules require reference unless otherwise ordered, and in this case the resolution was ordered passed on file without objection.

Senator Rule requested that the second part of the motion be considered first. Upon the suggestion of Senator Kimball, Senator Rule withdrew his request and the motion as divided was taken up in regular order.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that a proposition to amend the constitution was not germane to the subject matter contained in House File No. 182.

Senator Price raised the point of order that Senator Whitmore was debating a point of order. The president held the point of order not well taken and held that Senator Whitmore was merely explaining the point of order which he had raised.

The president held the point of order raised by Senator Whitmore was not well taken.

Senator Holdoegel inquired as to the result of an affirmative vote on the motion to substitute Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 for House File No. 182 on the calendar, and as to what effect it would have on House File No. 182.

The president stated that if the motion to substitute prevailed, the consideration of House File No. 182 would not be in order until Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 was disposed of and that following such action on the joint resolution, House File No. 182 would be open for discussion on the motion to indefinitely postpone.

On the question, "Shall Senate Joint Resolution No. 7 be substituted on the calendar for House File No. 182, heretofore substituted for Senate File No. 166?" the vote was:

Senator Kimball raised the point of order that this motion virtually provided for adjournment which had already been voted down. The president sustained the point of order.

The second part of the motion by Senator Rule was taken up, proposing to indefinitely postpone House File No. 182.

Senator Whitmore invoked Rule 8.

On motion of Senator Rule, Senate Joint Resolution No. 7, a joint resolution proposing an amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa, by repealing section one (1) of article two (2) of said constitution, and the enactment and adoption of a substitute therefor, relating to the right of suffrage, was taken up and considered.

Senator Rule moved that the rules be suspended, the joint resolution be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the joint resolution was read a third time.

SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION NO. 7.
BY RULE.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing an amendment to the constitution of the state of Iowa, by repealing section one (1) of article two (2) of said constitution, and the enactment and adoption of a substitute therefor, relating to the right of suffrage.

Be It Resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Iowa:

SECTION 1. That the following amendment to the constitution of the State of Iowa be, and the same is hereby proposed, to wit:

That Section One (1) of Article Two (2) of the constitution of the State of Iowa be repealed, and the following enacted in lieu thereof and adopted, to wit:

SECTION 1. Every citizen of the United States, of the age of Twenty One (21) years, who shall have been a resident of this state six (6) months next preceding the election, and of the County in which he or she claims his or her vote, Sixty (60) days, shall be entitled to vote at all elections which are now or hereafter may be authorized by law.

Resolved further, that the foregoing proposed amendment be, and the same is hereby referred to the Legislature to be chosen at the next general election for members of the next General Assembly, and that the Secretary of State cause the same to be published for Three (3) months previous to the day of said election, as provided by law.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President Moore presiding.

Senator Brookhart asked and obtained unanimous consent to file a motion to reconsider the vote by which the report of the committee was adopted, indefinitely postponing Senate File No. 77.

JOINT RESOLUTION SIGNED BY THE GOVERNOR.

A communication was received from the governor saying that he had on March 8, 1919, approved and signed Senate Joint Resolution No. 6.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Adams, Senate File No. 266, a bill for an act to repeal section eighteen hundred sixty-seven (1867), chapter eleven (11), title IX, of the code, and as amended by section two (2), of chapter one hundred eighty-nine (189), of the Acts of the Thirty-seventh (37th) General Assembly, relating to reserves of State banks and to enact a substitute therefor, a committee bill, was taken up for consideration, and on request of Senator Adams, House File No. 296, a companion bill, was substituted therefor.

The bill was read for information.

By unanimous consent the following amendment was adopted:

Strike out the words "of Iowa" in line 3 of the title and in lines 2, 3, 8 and 14 of Section 1, also substitute the word "as" for the word "and" in line 8.

Senator Adams moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, the reading just had be considered the third reading, which motion prevailed.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

SPECIAL ORDER.

The time having arrived for consideration of Special Order No. 16, on motion of Senator Evans, Senate File No. 53, a bill for an act to provide for perfecting, registering and transferring titles to real estate to be known as the "Torrens Land Title System," with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Senator Evans offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move that the following be substituted for the committee amendment to Senate File No. 53, found on page 753 of the journal:

"Sec. 100. This act shall not take effect in any county in the state of Iowa until declared effective by the board of supervisors after the proceedings provided for in this section. It is hereby made the duty of the board of supervisors in each county of the state, when requested so to do by a petition signed by at least five per cent of the freeholders of the county, to provide each registrar with the necessary books, supplies and stationery required by this act and to fix the bond required for each registrar. The board of supervisors shall canvass such petition, and upon finding that it contains at least five per cent of the freeholders of the county, the board of supervisors shall make such finding and enter the same of record and shall fix the bond of the registrar, and upon the filing and approval of the same the act shall be in force and effect in said county."

Senator Rule was called to the chair at 10:00 a. m.

Senator Balkema raised the point of order that the discussion was being made on the original bill instead of the pending amendment.

The point of order was held to be well taken.

Senator Brookhart offered the following amendment to the pending amendment and moved its adoption:

Strike out the word "five" in line 12 and insert in lieu thereof the word "ten".

On the question, "Shall the amendment to the amendment be adopted?" the vote was:

The amendment to the amendment was adopted.

The amendment offered by Senator Evans as a substitute for the committee amendments was adopted.

The following amendments proposed by Senator Evans were taken up for consideration:

I move to amend Senate File No. 53 as follows:

1st. By striking out the title thereto and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"A bill for an act concerning land titles, providing for the perfecting, registration and transfer of the title to real estate, prescribing the manner in which registration of title may be obtained and the rights accruing thereunder providing for assurance of title and for indemnity and for penalties for the violation of any provisions of the law and to be known as the Torrens Land Title System."

2nd. By striking out the word "summons" wherever the same appears in section 18 of said bill and substituting in lieu thereof the words "Original Notice".

3rd. By striking out the word "issuing" in the eleventh line of section 18 of the bill and substituting in lieu thereof the word "ensuing".

4th. By striking out the period at the end of line four of section 19 and substituting in lieu thereof the words "in the following form".

5th. By striking out the word "thirty" in the eleventh line of section 24 and substituting in lieu thereof the word "sixty".

6th. By striking out all after the period in line twelve of section 24 and all of line thirteen of said section and all of line fourteen except the last word of said line fourteen.

7th. By striking out the words "writ of error" in the 33d line of section 24.

8th. By striking out the word "may" in the second line of section 23 and inserting the word "may" before the word "be" in the third line of said section.

9th. By striking out the words "one-tenth" in line seven of section 90 and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "one-twentieth (1-20)".

The amendments were adopted singly, each in turn.

Senator Price offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend section one hundred (100) of Senate File No. 53, by striking out the word "freeholders" in line seven (7) of said section and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "resident citizen freeholders of lawful age", and by inserting after the word "county" in line seven (7) the following: "provided that such petition shall be duly verified by the person circulating the same that the signatures on such petitions are genuine and of resident citizen freeholders of lawful age of said county."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Buser offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend Senate File No. 53 by striking from section ninety thereof all that part after the word land in line 8 thereof and substituting therefor the following: "such value shall be double the value of the particular parcel under consideration, as shown by the last return of the assessor covering that particular tract".

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Evans moved that the rules be suspended, the bill be considered engrossed, and read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question, "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

On motion of Senator Wilson the House was requested to return to the Senate, Senate File No. 97.

BILLS SIGNED BY PRESIDENT.

The President announced that as president of the Senate in the presence of the Senate he had signed House Files Nos. 26, 84, 119, 130, 139, 295, 302, 189, 132 and 209.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Price, Senate File No. 3, a bill for an act to repeal sections one thousand eighty-seven-b (1087-b), one thousand eighty-seven-b-one (1087-b-1), one thousand eighty-seven-b-two (1087-b-2), one thousand eighty-seven-b-three (1087-b-3), one thousand eighty-seven-b-four (1087-b-4), one thousand eighty-seven-b-five (1087-b-5), supplement to the code, 1913, and to enact a substitute therefor, relating to the nomination and election of judges of the supreme, district and superior courts, reported back without recommendation, was taken up for consideration, and on motion of Senator Price, House File No. 19 a companion bill, was substituted therefor.

Senator Kimball offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend the bill by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting:

Sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 of Senate File 279 by Kimball and numbering the same as sections 1, 2, 3, 4, 5, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12 and 13 respectively of the bill, and Sections 2 and 3 of Senate File 244 by Whitmore and numbering said sections as sections 6 and 7 respectively of the bill.

Senator Proudfoot was called to the chair at 11:35.

President Moore resumed the chair at 11:50.

On motion of Senator Parker, Senate adjourned until 1:30 today.

AFTERNOON SESSION.

Senate met pursuant to adjournment, President Moore presiding.

Senate resumed consideration of House File No. 19.

Senator Whitmore offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

I move to amend in section 3, line 13, by substituting "fifty (50)" for "two hundred (200)" and in line 18, same section, substitute "five hundred (500)" for "one thousand (1,000)".

The amendment was lost.

Senator Balkema moved that the Senate adjourn until 9 a. m. Thursday.

The motion was lost.

President pro tem Arney was called to the chair at 2:20.

President Moore resumed the chair at 3:10.

Senator Wilson moved the previous question, which motion prevailed and the previous question was ordered.

---------	--------

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

Senator Kimball asked for a verification of the roll call.

Senator Wilson raised the point of order that the verification would be out of order the result of the vote having been announced.

The President held that the point was not well taken, the verification being for information only.

Senator Wilson moved that the vote by which House File No. 19 passed the Senate be reconsidered and that the motion be laid on the table.

Senator Evans raised the point of order that the motion of Senator Wilson was out of order as it contained two subjects in one.

The president held the point of order not well taken, the motion as made being in accord with well established precedence.

Senator Kimball asked unanimous consent to have Senator Adams and himself recorded as voting "aye."

Objection was made.

Senator Kimball then moved that Senator Adams and himself be allowed to vote "aye" and have their votes so recorded.

Senator Whitmore raised the point of order that this could not be done, since the vote had already been announced.

The president held the point of order well taken.

On the question, "Shall the vote be reconsidered and the motion to reconsider be laid on the table?" the vote was:

BYRON W. NEWBERRY, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

Senator Holdoegel, from the committee on departmental affairs, submitted the following report:

MR. PRESIDENT—Your committee on departmental affairs, to whom was referred Senate File No. 178, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section two thousand five hundred fifteen (2515) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, and relating to the appointment of a dairy and food commissioner, a deputy dairy and food commissioner, a state dairy inspector, assistants, a chemist, and a bacteriologist and assistant chemist, define the power and duties of such officers and fix their compensation; and to amend the law as it appears in section two thousand five hundred fifteen-g (2515-g) of the supplement to the code, 1913, relating to penalties for violating the dairy laws enforced by the dairy and food commissioner; and to amend section two thousand five hundred twenty-two (2522) of the supplement to the code, 1913, relating to making reports by manufacturers of certain dairy products; and to amend section two thousand five hundred twenty-four (2524) of the code relating to salaries of milk inspectors in certain cities; and to amend chapter thirteen (13) of the code by adding thereto a section relating to the registration and use of marks or brands on containers used for handling skimmed-milk, butter-milk, milk, cream and ice cream, also a section relating to the use of the words "butter", "creamery" and "dairy" on substitutes for butter and advertising material pertaining thereto; and to repeal the law as it appears in sections two thousand five hundred fifteen-b (2515-b) and two thousand five hundred fifteen-c (2515-c) of the supplement to the code, 1913, and section two thousand five hundred fifteen-d supplement to the code, 1913, as amended by chapter three hundred seventy-seven (377), section one (1), acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly, and to enact substitutes therefor relating to the sale of imitation evaporated milk, imitation ice cream, skimmed milk, milk, cream and other dairy products, beg leave to report they have had the same under consideration and recommend the same be amended as follows, and when so amended the bill do pass:

Strike out all after the enacting clause, and substitute therefor the following:

SECTION 1. That the law as it appears in section twenty-five hundred fifteen (2515), supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out of line eleven thereof the words "of each even-numbered year" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "nineteen hundred twenty"; by striking out of line fourteen thereof the words "hold his office for two" and inserting in lieu thereof the words "who shall hold his office for a term of four"; by inserting after the word "shall" in line forty-three thereof the following: "devote all their time to their duties and shall"; by striking out of line fifty-one thereof the word "shall" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "may"; by striking out of lines fifty-five and fifty-six thereof after the comma (,) where it appears following the word "year" in line fifty-five the words "to be paid in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers. He" and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "and a bacteriologist and assistant chemist at a salary to be hereafter fixed by the General Assembly. The state chemist and the bacteriologist and assistant chemist"; and by inserting after the period (.) where it appears following the word "assistants" in line sixty-one thereof the following: "The commissioner, the deputy commissioner, the state dairy inspector, the assistants, the chemist and the bacteriologist and assistant chemist shall be paid in the same manner as the salaries of other state officers".

SEC. 2. That the law as it appears in sections two thousand five hundred fifteen-b (2515-b), two thousand five hundred fifteen-c (2515-c), and two thousand five hundred fifteen-d (2515-d), supplement to the code, 1913, as amended by chapter 377, acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, be and the same are hereby repealed and the following enacted in lieu thereof:

No person shall sell, exchange or expose for sale or exchange or deliver or bring to another for domestic or potable use or to be converted into any product of human food, any adulterated, or misbranded milk, cream or skimmed milk, and no person shall purchase any such substance to be converted into any human food product or manufacture the same into food product, nor shall any persons offer or expose for sale or have in his possession with intent to sell or sell any skimmed milk unless each receptacle and carrying can containing the same shall be kept plainly marked on the side thereof with the words "Skimmed Milk" in the English language in plain letters not less than one inch in height, provided that skimmed milk sold in bottles shall be deemed to be properly marked if the cap shall be plainly printed with the words "Skimmed Milk" in letters not smaller than twelve-point Gothic caps.

For the purpose of this act, milk is the fresh, clean, lacteal secretion obtained by the complete milking of one or more healthy cows, properly fed and kept. For the purpose of this act, cream is the portion of milk, rich in milk fat, which rises to the surface of milk on standing, or is separated from it by centrifugal force, is fresh and clean. For the purpose of this act, skimmed milk is the portion of milk, poor in fat, from which the cream has been removed. The term "skimmed milk" shall also include the fresh, clean, lacteal secretion of one or more healthy cows and containing less than three per cent (3%) of milk fat or less than eleven and one-half per cent (11½%) of milk solids.

For the purpose of this act, milk, cream and skimmed milk shall be deemed to be adulterated:

In case of milk, cream and skimmed milk:

First. If water or any other substance has been added.

Second. If it contains any visible dirt or be contained in any container which is not clean.

Third. If it be obtained from any animal having disease, sickness, ulcer, abscess or running sore or which has been obtained from a cow within fifteen days before or five days after calving.

Fourth. If it be obtained from a cow stabled in an unhealthful place or fed upon any substance in a state of putrefaction or of an unhealthful nature.

In the case of milk:

If it contains less than three per cent (3%) of milk-fat or less than eleven and one-half per cent (11½%) of milk solids.

In the case of cream:

If it contains less than sixteen per cent (16%) of milk-fat.

For the purpose of this act, milk, cream and skimmed milk shall be deemed to be misbranded:

If it be labeled or branded so as to deceive or mislead the purchaser or if the package bears any statement, design or device which is false or misleading in any particular.

For the purpose of this act, cheese is the sound, ripened product made from milk or cream by coagulating the casein with rennet or lactic acid with or without the addition of ripening ferments, seasonings and color, and contains not less than thirty per cent (30%) of milk-fat. For the purpose of this act, skimmed milk cheese is the sound and ripened product made from skimmed milk as defined in this chapter, by coagulating the casein thereof with rennet or lactic acid, with or without the addition of ripening ferments, seasoning, and color and containing less than thirty per cent (30%) of milk-fat. No person shall offer or expose for sale any skimmed milk cheese without the same being plainly and durably branded or marked on the side or top of both cheese and package in the English language with the words "Skimmed Milk Cheese" in letters to be not less than one inch in height and one-half inch in width.

Every article, substitute or compound, save that produced from pure milk of cows and containing no added substance, made in the semblance of or designed to be used for or in the place of evaporated milk, is hereby declared "Imitation Evaporated Milk" and every article, substitute or compound, containing any fat other than the milk-fat of milk cows, made in the semblance of or designed to be used for or in the place of ice cream, is hereby declared "Imitation Ice Cream". No person, firm or corporation shall manufacture, have in his possession, offer to sell, or sell, solicit or take orders for delivery or ship any such imitation evaporated milk or imitation ice cream, except in the manner and subject to the regulations provided in this section.

Imitation evaporated milk and imitation ice cream may be manufactured, kept in possession, offered for sale, or sold, if each can, tub, box, or other package in which same is kept, offered for sale or shipped shall have plainly branded on the side or top thereof in the English language in a durable manner, the words "Imitation Evaporated Milk" or "Imitation Ice Cream" as the case may be. The letters of the words to be not less than one inch in height and one-half inch in width. Provided, however, that on packages containing less than twenty ounces net of imitation evaporated milk the words "Imitation Evaporated Milk" may appear plainly printed on the principal label of the package in type not less than one-fourth inch in height and one-eighth inch in width. Imitation evaporated milk and imitation ice cream may be kept, used or served only in case the proprietor or person in charge of the place in which such imitation evaporated milk or imitation ice cream is used or served, shall display and keep constantly posted a card opposite each table, counter, or other places where the guests or others are served with the same, which card shall be white, at least ten by fourteen inches in size and the words "Imitation Evaporated Milk Used Here" or "Imitation Ice Cream Used Here", as the case may be, printed in black Roman letters not less than three inches in height and two inches in width and no other words or figures shall be printed thereon. Provided, however, that this provision shall not apply to a private residence of a person serving his family or guests. Nothing in this or the preceding section shall be construed to require the labeling of nut ice cream or ice cream flavored with chocolate or cocoa, "Imitation Ice Cream".

SEC. 3. That the law as it appears in section two thousand five hundred fifteen-g (2515-g), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by striking out of line three thereof the words "twenty-five" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "ten" and by striking out of line four thereof the word "less" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "more".

SEC. 4. That the law as it appears in section two thousand five hundred twenty-two (2522), supplement to the code, 1913, be and the same is hereby amended by inserting after the word "creamery" where it appears in line four thereof the words "milk-plant, cream-station or ice cream."

SEC. 5. That chapter thirteen (13) of Title XII of the code be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

Any person, firm or corporation who buys, sells or transports skimmed-milk, butter-milk, milk, cream, or ice cream, may adopt a distinctive mark or brand, to be placed on any container of such dairy products, owned by it, and may register such mark or brand with the state dairy and food commissioner, and when approved by the commissioner, such mark or brand shall be used only by the registrant thereof. The mark or brand may consist of the owner's name and address or suitable abbreviations therefor or both.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use any mark or brand which has been so registered by and approved for the use of any other person, firm or corporation.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, other than the rightful owner thereof, to use any container, marked or branded as in this section provided, for any other purpose or for the transportation or handling of any other commodity than skimmed-milk, butter-milk, milk, cream or ice cream.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation, other than the rightful owner thereof to deface, remove, or injure any mark or brand, provided in this section, placed on any container.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to use any container marked or branded, as in this section provided, without the consent of the owner thereof.

It shall be unlawful for any person, firm or corporation to have in its possession for a longer time than three days any container marked or branded as in this section provided, without the consent of the owner thereof and any person, firm or corporation having in its possession any container not its own property, or sent it by the owner thereof for use, shall immediately return such container or containers, other than milk and cream bottles, to the owner by a common carrier, and a receipt from a common carrier shall be prima facie evidence that such container was returned. Milk and cream bottles, marked or branded as in this section provided, shall be returned by delivering them to the owner thereof or his agent or servant, in person, or by leaving them where such owner, his agent or servant may pick them up at the time he delivers milk. Provided, that where the person, firm or corporation finds in its possession a container not its own property nor sent it by the owner thereof for use and not knowing the name and address of the rightful owner shall immediately notify the state dairy and food commissioner in writing that such container is in its possession, describing to him the size and shape of container and the mark thereon. Upon receipt of shipping instructions from the state dairy and food commissioner he shall immediately forward same by a common carrier collect to the name and address furnished him by the state dairy and food commissioner. Nothing in this section shall require the return of any milk or cream bottle when the cost of returning such bottle is greater than the market value of the bottle.

The state dairy and food commissioner shall adopt and issue rules and regulations for carrying out the provisions of this section. The term container used in this section shall include cans, bottles, casks, kegs, barrels, packages and other receptacles of like nature.

SEC. 6. That chapter thirteen (13) of Title XII of the code be and the same is hereby amended by adding thereto the following:

No person, firm or corporation shall use in any way, in connection or association with the sale or expose for sale or advertisement of any substance designed to be used as a substitute for butter, the word "butter", "creamery", or "dairy", except as required by section twenty-five hundred seventeen (2517) of the code, or the name or representation of any breed of dairy cattle, or any combination of such word or words and representation, or any other words or symbols or combination thereof commonly used in the sale of butter.

SEC. 7. That any person, firm or corporation violating any provision of this act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction therefor shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten nor more than one hundred dollars or by imprisonment for not more than thirty days in the county jail.

SEC. 8. Nothing contained in this act shall in any manner operate to cause a vacancy or remove from office the dairy and food commissioner or his assistants or employees of the dairy and food department who may be serving when this act becomes effective.

SEC. 9. The provisions of section two of this act in so far as they relate to imitation evaporated milk shall take effect October 1, 1919.

The provision of section 7 of this act shall take effect August 1, 1919.

SEC. 10. This act being deemed of immediate importance, shall be in force and effect from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, papers published at Des Moines, Iowa.

P. C. HOLDOEGEL, Chairman.

Ordered passed on file.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE.

Des Moines, Iowa, March 13, 1919.

In explanation of my failure to vote for the bill transferring the collection of the motor vehicle tax from the secretary of state's office to the treasurer of state's office, I desire to state and have the same made of record as follows:

I was detained in the House of Representatives a few minutes after the joint session of the Pioneer Law Makers' exercises arranging to provide an amendment to the primary law in harmony with the law repealing the nonpartisan judiciary law. Upon return to the Senate a bill radically changing the business of the secretary of state's office had been reported in and was about to be taken up for immediate passage without having been printed or copies thereof furnished to the members of the Senate. Such an unusual proceeding in the passage of an important bill did not seem to me to be wise. It was stated that the reason for the bill was a malfeasance in office of the secretary of state. If this be true and such unusual and sudden change of the functions of the office of secretary of state should be made and I had full knowledge of the matter I would want to vote for the bill. I did not desire to convict any officer unheard nor too suddenly and without due consideration, and by a hurriedly written bill so radically change the functions of one of the principal offices of the state, particularly so if this be a quarrel between two of the principal officers of the state. Moreover, the secretary of state's office is particularly a registration office and the treasurer of state's office is not. The statutes of the state by chapter 9, title VI, provide that the governor may at any time appoint a commission of three to examine the accounts of any officer and he may appoint a suitable person to temporarily fill the office who shall perform the duties of the office during the suspension of such officer. If an officer is guilty of malfeasance to warrant the removal of a part of the functions of his office from him why should all functions of his office not be removed from him? These were matters which it seemed to me should be considered before any one could intelligently vote upon the bill, and I, therefore, declined to do so. It was not because of any desire to prevent a full and fair investigation of any and all questions relating to the conduct of an office of the state that I refused to vote upon the bill.

CLEM F. KIMBALL.

So the bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and its title was agreed to.

Senator Reed was called to the chair at 11:00 o'clock.

Mr. Charles Pergler, Commissioner of the Czecho-Slovak Republic to the United States, was introduced to the Senate by Senator Reed, and Mr. Pergler briefly addressed the Senate, as follows:

Gentlemen of the Iowa State Senate:

It is a great honor for me to be able to address your distinguished body, not only because it is an honor in itself to talk to any law making institution, but also because in these days one may indeed be proud of being an Iowan.

Iowa does things in a great way—in an Iowa way. Those of us who are in the east temporarily, but who come from Iowa, were proud of their state when the wires flashed a report that in the recent Fourth Liberty Loan drive Iowa went over the top first of all states in the union.

We of Czech parentage who are also Iowans are proud of being Iowans for another reason. Our national struggle for a long time centered about the question of adequate school facilities. We now have a smaller percentage of illiteracy than any other European nation with the exception of the Scandinavian nations. It has come to my notice only the other day (thanks to a Chicago educator) that Des Moines leads all American cities of a population of one hundred thousand or more in the percentage of all general expenses expended for public school support. So you see, even now there are certain things in common between the new republic and the state of Iowa.

You have within the borders of this state a good many citizens of Czech origin or Czech parentage. It would be of interest to you to know that these men played a great part in the struggle for independence of Bohemia and that thus the history of Iowa has become intertwined with that of the Czecho-Slovak republic. The interest of this Czecho citizenship in the cause of Czecho-Slovak independence has not diminished their Americanism, but has made of them even better Americans, because more than ever even—more passionately—they have come to love America and her institutions which protect liberty and order under the law. This country they have made their home, and in this country they shall remain Americans all.

What Europe needs now above everything else is the realization of the fact that stable governments are necessary if real progress is to be made. In the new republics of Europe has been established a bulwark, which, I trust, will make for real order. Poland, the Czecho-Slovak republic and a united Jugo-Slavia will form a bulwark between unfortunate Russia, still in the grip of chaos, and a Germany, still dreaming of dominating in one way or another the east of Europe. The European peoples, and especially the new and liberated nations of that continent, will look for example to America how to apply the democratic methods of majority rule—democratic methods which you are applying each day in your deliberations.

Gentlemen, I thank you for the honor you have conferred upon me in enabling me to address you, and I hope and feel confident that the new republic will have in the future the co-operation of all Americans in authority and in positions of responsibility.

Senator Evans moved that the remarks of Mr. Charles Pergler be printed in the journal.

The motion prevailed.

President Moore resumed the chair at 11:20.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Schaffter, House File No. 269, a bill for an act to amend the law as it appears in section nineteen hundred eighty-nine-a-forty-one (1989-a41), supplement to the code, 1913, relating to fees paid appraisers of damages and commissioners to assess benefits, with report of committee recommending passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

Read first and second time and referred to committee on fish and game.

THIRD READING OF BILLS.

On motion of Senator Rule, House File No. 4, a bill for an act amending section four hundred forty-one (441), supplemental supplement to the Code, 1915, as amended by chapter four hundred eight (408), acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, relating to the publication of the proceedings of boards of supervisors in foreign language newspapers, and repealing section five hundred forty-nine (549), supplement to the Code, 1913, relating to the designation of newspapers for the publication of legal notices, and enacting a substitute therefor, and providing for the publication of legal notices and proceedings exclusively in the English language and in newspapers published in the English language, with report of committee recommending amendments and passage, was taken up, considered, and the report of the committee adopted.

The following amendments proposed by the committee on judiciary No. 2 were adopted:

Strike out all after the enacting clause and insert in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. That section four hundred forty-one (441) Supplemental Supplement to the code, 1915, as amended by chapter four hundred and eight (408) Acts of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly, be and the same is hereby amended by striking therefrom all of said section after the period in line forty-one thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "If in any county the publishers of two or more newspapers, at least one of which by reason of its location and circulation, is entitled to be selected as a county official newspaper, have entered into an agreement to publish the official proceedings or have united in a request to have their publications selected for such purposes, and such agreement or request has been filed with the Board of Supervisors prior to the naming of the official newspaper, the Board of Supervisors shall designate each of them a county official paper for the publication of the proceedings of the Board, but the combined compensation of the papers so requesting or agreeing, added to that of the other official paper or papers, if any, shall not exceed the combined compensation allowed by law to two officials papers in counties having a population below fifteen thousand, or to three official papers in counties having a population of fifteen thousand or more".

Sec. 2. That section five hundred forty-nine (549) Supplement to the code, 1913, is hereby repealed and the following is hereby enacted in lieu thereof: "The Clerk of the District Court, Sheriff, Auditor, Treasurer and Recorder shall each designate the newspapers in which the notices pertaining to his office shall be published and the Board of Supervisors shall designate the papers in which all other county notices shall be published. All notices above designated, all legal notices and notices required by law or by ordinance of any city or town or special charter city, and cities operating under commission plan and all proceedings of the Board of Supervisors or of any city or town council or special charter city, and all other proceedings required by law to be published, shall be published only in the English language, and in newspapers published wholly in the English language, but nothing herein shall be construed to affect any action of any Board of Supervisors or any city or town council or special charter city or cities operating under commission plan having named papers of a foreign language as official papers for publishing proceedings of the Board or of the city or town council or special charter city or cities operating under commission plan proceedings for the year 1919".

Sec. 3. This act being deemed of immediate importance shall be in full force from and after its publication in the Des Moines Register and the Des Moines Capital, newspapers published in Des Moines, Iowa.

The following amendments proposed by the committee on printing were adopted:

Insert as section 3 of the bill as amended, the following: "Nothing herein contained shall be construed to affect any pending litigation."

Renumber section 3 to section 4.

Amend the title of House File No. 4 by inserting after the words "foreign language newspapers" the following: "and in other newspapers; recognition of publishers' agreements and requests by boards of supervisors;".

Senator Rule moved that the rules be suspended and the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

OPENING OF HOSPITAL AT IOWA CITY.

The following communication was presented by Senator Byington:

March 15, 1919.

To the Members of the Senate, Thirty-eighth General Assembly:

There has been great interest in the workings of the Perkins Law for the care of crippled children. Within the past four years more than three thousand cases have received treatment in the University Hospital.

The Children's Hospital made possible through the generous wisdom of the Thirty-seventh General Assembly is nearing completion. The children are now being transferred to the new wards.

This building will be open for inspection March 22d and 23d. The faculty plan to arrange a special program for Sunday, the 23d.

In the name of the Iowa State Board of Education and the faculty a cordial invitation is extended to all the members of the Senate to attend this formal opening.

Very truly yours,

W. A. JESSUP.

Amend by striking out all after the enacting clause and substituting in lieu thereof the following:

SECTION 1. That section twenty-seven hundred ninety-four-a (2794-a) of the supplemental supplement to the code, 1915, as amended by chapter 432 of the acts of the thirty-seventh general assembly be amended by striking therefrom sub-division "a" thereof and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

When a petition describing the boundaries of contiguous territory containing not less than sixteen sections, within one or more counties, asking for the establishment of a consolidated independent school district and signed by one-third of the qualified voters residing therein, is filed with the county superintendent of the county in which the largest number of qualified voters in the proposed district reside, he shall within ten days give public notice of the place and date when all objections shall be filed. Such petition shall be accompanied by an affidavit showing the number of qualified voters in the proposed consolidated district and in case such district is in two or more counties such affidavit shall show separately, as to each county, the number of qualified voters in the part of each county included in the proposed district. Such affidavit shall be made by some qualified voter residing in the proposed district, and shall be taken as true, unless objections are filed to it prior to the final decision on said petition. All notices under this act shall be by one publication in a newspaper published within the proposed district or if there be none, then in a newspaper having general circulation within the proposed consolidated district. Objections may be made by any person residing upon or owning land within such proposed boundaries or who would be injuriously affected by the formation of the proposed district and shall be on file not later than twelve o'clock noon of the day fixed for receiving objections. Within five days after such filings the county superintendent shall review all papers filed in his office and after careful review and investigation of their merits shall overrule or sustain the objections filed and fix and determine the boundary lines of the proposed consolidated district. In determining these boundaries he shall so locate the boundary lines as will in his judgment form the best possible consolidated district, having due regard also to the welfare of adjoining districts. He shall also notify at once all objectors by registered letter of his decision.

Any person having filed objections and being aggrieved by the ruling of the county superintendent may appeal from his decision to the county board of education within ten days after the decision is rendered, by serving written notice on the said county superintendent. Within five days after said notice has been received, the county superintendent shall file with the county board of education all of the original papers together with his decision and fix the time and place where such appeal will be heard and shall give notice to appellants by registered letters as heretofore provided. The time fixed for such hearing shall be not less than five nor more than fifteen days from the date his decision is rendered. The county board of education shall determine such appeal within five days after the submission thereof which decision shall be final as to said boundaries.

If no objections be filed or if the objections be not sustained, it shall be the duty of the county superintendent with whom said petition has been filed to call an election in the proposed consolidated district, legal notice of which shall be given as hereinbefore provided. At the election all qualified voters residing in the proposed consolidated district shall be entitled to vote by ballot for or against the establishment thereof.

When it is proposed to include in such district a school corporation containing a city, town or village with a population of two hundred or more inhabitants, the voters residing upon the territory outside the limits of the said school corporation shall vote separately upon the proposition to create such new district. The judges of said election shall provide separate ballot boxes in which shall be deposited the votes cast by the qualified voters from their respective territory, and if a majority of the votes cast by the qualified voters residing either within or without the limits of the aforesaid school corporation is against the proposition to form a consolidated independent corporation, then the proposed corporation shall not be formed. If a majority of the votes so cast in each territory shall be in favor of such independent organization, the organization of the proposed consolidated independent school corporation shall be completed by the election of a board of directors for said school corporation, as provided in section twenty-seven hundred ninety-five of the code, and when so organized shall not be reduced to less than sixteen sections unless dissolved as provided by law.
