REPORT OF COMMITTEE ON RETRENCHMENT AND REFORM

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE, SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE OF REPRESENTATIVES AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

The Legislative Committee on Retrenchment and Reform of the Fifty-second General Assembly submits its report and recommendations.

During the biennium the Committee has visited at least once all institutions under the State Board of Control and the State Board of Education. In our visits and inquiries we have received the fullest cooperation of these Boards and of the Superintendents of the several institutions. We believe that our state institutions are in good hands. It is easy to criticize and find fault. Perfection probably never has been or will be attained in the care and treatment of mental patients and inmates in penal institutions. Because of the legislation of the Fifty-second General Assembly, and the increased appropriations for support, maintenance and capital improvements the state of Iowa is keeping step with the steady march of progress toward a better and more sympathetic care of our unfortunate citizens requiring state custody.

Great changes in capital improvements and reforms of procedure cannot be made over night. Too often the public becomes impatient but it is the considered judgment of this committee that the problems incident to public institutions are receiving the most careful consideration by those in charge.

The schools under the supervision of the State Board of Education require no praise on the part of this committee. They are recognized as the best in the nation.

The committee has had many occasions to meet with representatives of the Conservation Commission and observe its work. Theirs has been a big task, and we commend them for the progress they have made during these last two difficult years. A specific problem now confronting the Commission will be commented upon in another part of this report.

To this committee the last General Assembly entrusted the sum of $2,000,000. This is more than twice the amount under the immediate control of any prior committee. We have allocated all of this amount except approximately $40,000. Another $46,000 made as a temporary advancement will be returned to the fund. The emergency needs of the institutions during the biennium have been great due in large part to the unprecedented increase in the cost of supplies, and the absolute necessity of salary increases.

Because of the allotments to the Board of Control, and the Board of Education they will not have to ask for emergency appropriations to carry them through the remainder of the fiscal year. As required by law a detailed account of our expenditures from the emergency fund will be made a part of the budget.

The committee has met in 29 sessions of from one to four days duration. We have observed the operations of the State government from angles not possible to the ordinary layman or legislator and from this experience and observation we make the following suggestions or recommendations:

1. That the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform be appointed and activated as soon as possible after the convening of the Fifty-third General Assembly. Large sums of money have been appropriated, the expenditure of which has been made subject to the approval of such committee.
2. That the comptroller furnish to the membership of the Legislature a report of all funds heretofore appropriated with balances remaining therein and which do not revert to the general fund of the State.
3. That the unexpended appropriations by prior General Assemblies to the Board of Control and to the Board of Education be respectively consolidated, with appropriations of the Fifty-third General Assembly.
4. That all unused appropriations for the care of the State House and grounds revert to the general fund at the end of the present biennium and any money needed to complete unfinished projects be incorporated in the new appropriation for the department.
5. That the office of a state architect be established with an adequate staff to meet the ever increasing needs of the state for such services. Great economies can thus be effected especially when a large building program is being carried out.
6. That the Basic Sciences Board be abolished because applicants for a state license to practice the professions under its supervision have previously passed examinations by boards composed of competent members of the profession they seek to enter.
7. We most strongly urge and recommend that the schools of medicine, dentistry and nursing be enlarged to meet the needs of the people of Iowa. The health of our citizens should be commensurate with our wealth. We are told that fewer doctors were graduated in the United States in 1940 than in 1905 despite a 60 per cent increase in population. Every community in Iowa is entitled to have adequate and competent medical services available and furthermore the worthy youth of our state should not be denied the opportunity to enter a profession of his choice because the state has inadequate facilities to educate him.
8. The federal government makes appropriations to the several states for old age assistance, aid to the blind and aid to dependent children. Limitations have been set upon the amount to each recipient or case. We believe that the state of Iowa should likewise set limitations on the amount of its liability leaving to the several local counties or communities the duty of defining the needs of the individual cases and meeting the same in the event the federal and state contributions are insufficient. We recommended that the members of the Legislature gives serious thought to the removal of the secrecy surrounding the expenditure of tax money for social purposes.
9. We recommend that the limitations of $17 and $10 as tuition for elementary and high school pupils respectively be removed.
10. We recommend an exemption of $5,000 on monies and credits from taxation together with a repeal of the exemptions provided by paragraph 20, Section 427.1, Code of Iowa. (Excepting only stock in corporations not for pecuniary profit.)

11. We recommend a removal of the liability of the State to build or maintain bridges merely adjacent to state parks, as required by Section 308.4, Code 1946.
12. We believe that future bills providing for appropriations to the Conservation Commission for improving the property under its control or initiating new projects should specify the projects, or if they be not specified that the expenditures be left to the discretion of the commission with the approval of the Committee on Retrenchment and Reform. The appropriation as made to it by Chapter 29, Acts of the Fifty-second General Assembly, did not specify the projects. The question now arises—to what extent can the commission use its discretion in view of the fact that a detailed list of projects appeared in the budget but not in the law? In one instance the amount set out in the budget is entirely inadequate to carry out the project although there is a large balance in the general appropriations for such projects.
13. We recommend passage of the bill to be introduced providing for the classification of the employees of the state and of the compensation to be paid each of the several classes and the appointment of a personnel director to administer the law.
14. We call attention to the importance of vocational and occupational therapy in the rehabilitation of mental and delinquent persons in state mental and correctional institutions. Certain of the institutions with the help of the Board of Control have made definite and commendable progress, some practically none. We re-emphasize the importance of such training and ask that funds and personnel be allocated to all institutions in sufficient amount and number to provide an adequate program of vocational and occupational therapy.
15. We recommend the disposal of the lands owned by the state in Drainage District No. 13 in Muscatine County subject to the approval of the Conservation Commission. This to avoid payment of drainage assessments out of proportion to any benefits to the State.

This report would not be complete without a statement that the committee has at all times received the cooperation and assistance of all the state officers, commissions and boards and our every request for information was met without reservation or complaint.

The minutes of the several meetings of the committee are on file in the office of the Secretary of State, and are available for public inspection.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 5

Whereas, she in her own right was tried by legally constituted authority and sentenced to life imprisonment for unprecedented and unspeakable crimes against allied prisoners and citizens, and

Whereas, no justification exists to excuse her from punishment for admitted cruelty and revolting barbarism to helpless prisoners, her sentence to life imprisonment being mild in comparison to her crimes against humanity; therefore

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That in the name of the hundreds of thousands of prisoners sent to their death by burning, burying alive, starvation or murder in every conceivable form by her Nazi husband and with her tacit approval and cooperation, we hereby protest and condemn the action of the officers of the United States Army in reducing her sentence from life to four years and further request the President of the United States and Congress to take such action as will cause this miscarriage of justice to be reversed and report the same to the public and proper measures to be taken to vindicate the efforts and sacrifices of the millions of boys and girls who offered their services and lives to exterminate that kind of government and that kind of people.

That a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Iowa Senator and Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

The Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the Sergeant-at-arms.

President Evans announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Bateson moved that a committee of six, consisting of three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify Governor Blue that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee, Senators Bateson of Hardin, Doud of Van Buren and Whitehead of Dallas on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Wilson of Wright, Anderson of Washington and Nielsen of Monona on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Governor Blue and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Evans then presented Governor Blue who delivered the following address:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, FRIENDS, AND FELLOW CITIZENS:

On January 1, 1924, as a young lawyer whose college sheepskin and certificate of admission to the Iowa Bar were but two years old, I assumed the duties of county attorney of my native county.

During the quarter of a century that has followed it has been my great privilege, primarily as an avocation, to serve my fellow citizens in various capacities in the conduct of county, city and state government.

Thus, I have been afforded an opportunity enjoyed by but few men to observe both the strength and the weakness, the good and the bad in our system of government.

Institutions and governments, like persons, have distinct personalities. The character of both men and institutions is shaped by heredity and environment.

During these years of service with Iowa government there has grown within me a deep and abiding affection, for the institutions and the people of the state, akin to the affections of a fond parent for his children.

Indeed, the relationship of good government, to the multitude of groups and interests within its borders, is similar to that of a parent. Like a good parent, with several children, it should treat each with patience, understanding, firmness, and loving kindness. It is in that spirit that I now address you.

Graven in granite on the entrance to the archives building in Washington are these words of fundamental truth: "Study the past, the past is but prologue." How oft the mistakes and heartaches of the child could have been avoided if the voice of loving parental experience had been heeded. How oft the decline and fall of nations with the misery incident to millions of people could have been avoided if the leaders of those nations had observed the danger signs and listened to the voice of experience—the voice of history. The course of nations should be forward, not backward. But we should take care that our car of state is in good shape, that the motor is smooth, the brakes and lights safe. Then we should not drive at breakneck speed, heedless of warning signs, recklessly endangering our freedom and the freedom of the world.

As you meet in this session, you are confronted with many difficult problems. These problems fall into two classes. There are the basic and long range problems which involve our philosophy of government. There are the secondary and the immediate problems which arise from the conflict between two philosophies of government. The secondary problems can only be temporarily disposed of so long as the conflict in the basic philosophy is undecided.

Let us first consider some of our basic problems. It is three and one-half years since the war ended and still we have no peace. We are building greater and more destructive instruments of warfare. Why? Because basically the two great wars of our generation are not wars between nations, but wars between two philosophies of life and government.

One philosophy of government is the philosophy of materialism of force, of human and economic slavery, and atheism. The other is the philosophy of a moral and spiritual life—of love, of mutual cooperation and respect for fellow human beings—and love of God. The names of men and nations, the periods of time, the location of the conflict is ever changing. The basic conflict remains the same. It matters not whether the opponent be a tyrannical English king, a Kaiser Wilhelm, a Hitler, a Mussolini, a Tojo, or a Stalin. The issue remains unchanged.

In the heart of every loyal American there is one word above every word which expresses his philosophy of government. That word is "Freedom."

It is for freedom that we have always suffered and sacrificed. We have recently defeated three dictator nations on the field of battle. That does not mean that we have saved world freedom from tyranny. We have merely saved the chance to save freedom here within the borders of our own land.

Today the hearts of men everywhere are filled with fear that they will lose their freedom. Fear that the tyranny of communism or some other ism will engulf them. They read with dismay the story of the disintegration of nation after nation, the ascendancy of communism to the power of government, the ruthless elimination of every opponent, the brutalities of the concentration camps. They read the stories of the tremendous destructive power of atomic energy with a morbid interest.

How do nations like ours lose their liberty? Is there no clue to the terrible disease which is destroying freedom? Is there any remedy for the malady which threatens Christian civilization with destruction? The answer is yes. There are many clues. There is a remedy.

The basic truth of the story of the prodigal son is the same as it was two thousand years ago. You remember the story. He was a younger son and he said to his father "give me the portion of goods that falleth to me." And then you remember how he took his journey into the far country and there wasted his substance in riotous living and how finally when the depression had come, according to the Word, "he came to himself" and determined to go to his father and ask that he be made as one of his hired servants. The prodigal son was free. He misused his freedom. Having misused his freedom he wanted a manager and guardian, someone to tell him what to think and what to do. What happened to the prodigal son always happens to a prodigal nation in a crisis. Whenever the citizens of a nation misuse their freedom, and squander their resources, they finally come to want, then they clamor for aid. They ask a paternal government to tell them what to do. "Make me as one of thy hired servants." And always there will be some dictator listening and willing to tell a nation what it shall do.

Thoughtful men and women everywhere are concerned with the sweep of communism across Europe and Asia. Many are haunted by the dread fear that secret agents may have obtained the secret of the atomic bomb.

I say to you my fellow citizens that there exist other chain reaction weapons of destruction, which can be as fatally destructive as the atomic bomb, such as germ warfare, chain reacting propaganda, fifth columns, moral and spiritual decay, and economic chain reactions.

Now I submit to you that the secret of chain reaction has been known by men for generations. You all remember the old poem, illustrating a chain reaction of other days:

For want of a nail, the shoe was lost
For want of a shoe the rider was lost
For want of a rider, the battle was lost
For want of the battle, the Kingdom was lost,
All for the want of a horseshoe nail."

Or the rhyme of the little old woman who found the crooked six pence with which she bought a pig, and how the pig would not jump over the stile so she said to the dog she met, "Dog, dog, bite pig, piggy won't jump over the stile and I shan't get home tonight." And how she kept going a little further and a little further. How her request for help met refusal from the fire, the water, the ox, the butcher, the rope and the rat. And how finally in the words of the old nursery rhyme:

"The cat began to kill the rat;
The rat began to gnaw the rope;
The rope began to hang the butcher;
The butcher began to kill the ox;
The ox began to drink the water;
The water began to quench the fire;
The fire began to burn the stick;
The stick began to beat the dog;
The dog began to bite the pig;
The pig in a fright jumped over the stile;
And so the old woman got home that night."

Important as the effect chain reaction resulting from the splitting of the atom may be on the destiny of the human race, its power to change the course of history is not as great as the power of economic chain reaction.

The fear that Americans ought to have in their hearts today is not the fear that a Russian agent has stolen, or a Russian scientist has discovered the secret of the atomic bomb. Rather we should be disturbed because the leaders of Russia have discovered and are effectively using another chain reaction weapon—economic chain reaction, destroying the ability of free nations to resist aggression. Let us see how economic chain reaction has destroyed other nations.

First let us turn the leaves of history to the story of Italy. After the little states of Italy were united, Italy continued as a parliamentary nation for sixty-six years before it became a fascist nation. For forty-six years out of that sixty-six years it operated on a deficit budget. It spent more than it took in.

Unsound financial policies resulting in continued deficits create an economic chain reacting time bomb, which will eventually destroy any person or any government which persists in the policy.

When once the Italian government adopted the policy of operating government by borrowing, there seemed to be no escape from its continuance. HAVING DISCOVERED A DEVICE WHICH WOULD KEEP MEN AND PARTIES IN POWER THERE COULD ALWAYS BE DISCOVERED LEADERS WHO WERE WILLING AND ANXIOUS TO USE THE METHOD.

The council of honest and prudent statesmen against the dangers of deficit spending were ignored, sound advice was made impotent by grants of money which bribed individuals, organizations and local governments. Every community and every organization wanted aid from the national government for roads, post offices, schools, and farm aid.

The premier discovered that he could buy the political support of a community or a group by spending public money. It finally become impossible to be elected to parliament unless the candidate was able to show that he was sufficiently in the favor of the premier to secure grants of money for his constituents.

The 1929 issue of the Encyclopedia Britannica describes the situation thus, and I quote: "In their anxiety to remain in office Depretis and the Finance Minister, Magliani, never hesitated to mortgage the financial future of their country. No concession could be denied to deputies, or groups of deputies whose support was indispensable to the life of the cabinet, nor under such conditions, was it possible to place any effective check upon administrative abuses in which politicians or their electors were interested."

While individual citizens grumbled against the constantly increasing load of debt they continued as members of organizations to clamor for their share of government handouts. Pressure groups who sought some selfish gratuities without considering the collective effect of such gratuities upon the economy of the whole nation were more powerful than these same people as individual citizens. The policy of subsidy and public spending became perfected into a technique of national corruption and bribery. Public spending became a magnificent drug which dulled the social conscience and debauched the moral, economic, and mental integrity of a nation.

The people became so addicted to the exhilarating effects of federal grants, financed by borrowed money, that they became unconscious of the cancerous growth which had fastened itself upon their body politic and was slowly destroying their freedom, their economic stability and their political life.

Now let us turn the page of history to the story of Germany. The German Empire came into being in 1871 under favorable economic circumstances. Bismarck had extracted from France an indemnity of nearly four and one-half billion marks. This was sufficient to pay the war debt and leave a comfortable balance. By 1913, however, and I want you to mark that date, the federal government was in debt over four billion marks, the states over fourteen billion marks, and the municipalities over five billion marks. A total of twenty-four billion marks. Thus for fifty years prior to World War I the financial policy of Germany was based on deficit spending.

The speeches of public men condemned this financial policy, yet the practice was tolerated. The Reichstag refused to supply the means by which taxes necessary to balance the budget could be raised. Thus, Germany embarked upon a program of state-owned and operated public utilities to supplement the tax revenue of the government. This in turn led ultimately to adoption of the Nazi socialist policies.

During the war Germany financed her government on a gigantic scale in the same manner she had financed it on a lesser scale during the preceding fifty years. She came out of the war in 1918 owing a debt in excess of one hundred sixty-four billion marks. To this great national debt was added the burden of reparations. One thing kept leading to another, another and yet another. It always does. Chain reaction went to work.

Let us take a closer look at the German economy during the period from 1926 to 1931 preceding the Austrian collapse and the rise of Hitler to power. The national debt continued to rise. The national government increased its debt six billion marks and the state governments went into debt an additional fourteen billion marks.

What were these debts incurred for? For the most laudable of purposes,—playgrounds, swimming pools, schools, hospitals and roads were built profusely. Any virtue carried to excess becomes a vice. So it was with public spending for worthy objectives in Germany.

In 1936 Arthur Rosenberg in his "History of the German Republic," wrote, and I quote: "AFTER 1924 THE OFFICIALS LOST ALL SENSE OF THE VALUE OF MONEY AND SEEMED TO BELIEVE THAT MONEY WOULD ALWAYS BE AVAILABLE AT ANY TIME AND IN ANY QUANTITY THAT WAS NEEDED FOR ANY PURPOSE."

In 1927 Gustav Stresemann wrote the Burgomaster of Duisberg, and I quote: "I make no secret of the fact that it is above all the policy of the individual states and the municipalities that cause me grave anxieties in the field of foreign affairs. The fact that the Prussian state has granted fourteen million marks for rebuilding of the Berlin opera house and will perhaps make a grant of twenty millions in all, creates the impression in the world at large that we are rolling in money. NOT A SINGLE ONE OF THE VICTORIOUS STATES HAS EMBARKED UPON SUCH AN UNDERTAKING."

In 1930 Chancellor Herman Muller, finding it difficult to increase taxes to raise more money, adopted a deceitful expedient. HE TALKED ABOUT MORE SOCIAL SECURITY. What he really intended to do was to increase the tax rate beyond the increased benefits of social security and to use the surplus by way of a loan to the government to meet its expenses.

After the Austrian bank failure and our national election in 1932 the German republic failed. It went into receivership. Socialism, fascism, communism, or some other form of Totalitarianism is always the receiver for bankrupt republics. Thus was the stage set for the holocaust we call World War II.

The increased cost of state and local government is caused primarily by the unsound fiscal policies of the national government. These policies have had an economic chain reaction upon the cost of every service rendered by state and local government.

"Whose bread I eat, his song I sing." The state and local units of government are in partnership with the federal government. The senior partner in this partnership has been wasteful and extravagant. It has ignored the fundamental economic laws which no individual business or nation can defy with impunity. Many of the federal grants financed by borrowed money—borrowed in a manner prohibited in our Constitution and the constitutions of many other states—have induced state and local governments to embark upon programs which, in the event of a recession, they will be unable to continue. Yet we plunge recklessly on. Unless the men who head the national government have the mental and economic integrity and the political courage to abandon the course which we have been following, we shall meet with disaster. The freedom and the independence of state and local governments, already greatly weakened, will be totally destroyed. Deficit spending is sapping the strength of the nation's economic institutions.

This is what Russia is hoping for. Lenin has said every nation rests upon an economic foundation. Another Russian has said we shall compel America to spend itself into weakness. The Communist understands and is a past-master at propaganda chain reaction and economic chain reaction. This is the reason that he infiltrates into educational, charitable, and patriotic societies. This is the reason that he seeks control of labor unions in vital industries whose disruption would paralyze the modern political Sampson we call America.

One of the cornerstones upon which this nation was builded is the philosophy that it is the duty of the people to support the government. In the past few years we have been abandoning this philosophy and are more and more living by the philosophy that one unit of government must support another unit of government. That in place of our supporting the government that it must support us. We have become afflicted with a social security phobia. We are suffering from an economic neurosis similar if not identical to that which afflicted both Italy and Germany.

No sensible person denies the wisdom of sound public charity. Yet every virtue carried to an extreme can become a vice. It seems as if every person or every organization is clamoring for some type of retirement benefits or public gratuity. Many are seeking to secure for themselves preferred types of public gratuities.

So great has been the expansion in this field during the last sixteen years that today, during a period of the highest employment and the greatest productivity in the history of the nation, the cost of governmental welfare and other nonwage payments has reached a total greater than the combined payrolls of three of the nation's major industries, the automotive, steel, and rubber industries. These benefits exceeded nine billion dollars—a sum greater than the whole cost of the operation of the federal government prior to World War II.

The President of the United States in his address to Congress last Wednesday said, and I quote: "We should expand our social security program both as to size and benefits and extend the coverage." This request is made at a time when our national debt is the greatest of any nation in history. At a time when we are spending billions of dollars to succor the peoples of the nations of a war-torn and bankrupt world as well as arm ourselves against the threat of aggression and world-wide revolution.

But the Nation's chief executive has made an even more startling recommendation. I quote: "I recommend that the congress enact legislation . . .

"To authorize an immediate study of the adequacy of production facilities for materials in critically short supply, such as steel, and, if found necessary, to authorize government loans for the expansion of production facilities to relieve such shortages, and furthermore to authorize the construction of such facilities directly if action by private industry fails to meet our needs."

This is nothing more or less than a request that we abandon our present constitutional form of government and adopt state socialism.

It is the same as Germany nationalizing her public utilities, and England nationalizing her coal mines.

An economic monopoly in the hands of a government is a thousand-fold more dangerous than such a monopoly in the hands of either individuals or groups of citizens. In the hands of citizens the government can act to curb abuses. In the hands of the government such economic power will be able to crush out the opposition of the small groups of citizens who have the courage to oppose it.

If embarked upon, it will inevitably lead to the nationalization of every industry. Like begets like. This is the eternal law.

My friends, the hour is late, later than you think.

Just as the head of a family who ignores the moral, penal, or the economic law will bring sorrow and disaster to his family, so sorrow and disaster will be the bitter fruits of the unsound fiscal policies of our national government. Economic chain reaction is already at work here in America.

MONOPOLY

For the next few minutes I ask you to lay aside your political ambitions, your bias or prejudice, and reason with me concerning one of our major problems—the problem of Monopoly.

Why do we oppose communism, fascism, nazism: Why did our forefathers leave the old country and come to America? What is the exact opposite of Freedom? The answer is Monopoly.

Why do we enjoy the highest standard of living in the world?

Why have we in the short period of 172 years been able to people a continent and outdistance our mother countries in progress?

Why do the stricken countries of the world turn to us for aid?

The answer is Freedom; the absence and the restraint of Monopoly.

The very essence of our governmental system, and the secret of our success, is restraint of Monopoly.

The soul of the constitution is control of monopoly. The division of the power of government between the legislative, executive, and judicial branches is a restraint upon a monopoly of Political Power.

The whole Bill of Rights is a declaration against monopoly. It protects us against monopoly by giving us freedom of speech, freedom of assembly, and freedom of worship. It protects us against military monopoly by giving the states the right to maintain militias.

It protects us against judicial monopoly by guaranteeing trial by Jury, the right to bond, the Writ of Habeas Corpus, and by prohibiting cruel and unusual punishment.

With the coming of the railroads and mass production, corporations came into existence to carry on the great enterprises of the country.

They soon became great and powerful. The oil trust, the beef trust, the tobacco trust and many others became monopolistic. They crushed opposition, exploited the public, exploited labor, and corrupted and brow-beat legislatures.

To curb this new monopoly, The Sherman Anti-trust Act, the Securities Act, the Wagner Act and other laws were enacted. The excesses and abuses of industry created conditions, which in turn led to the creation of a new monopoly.

To protect their rights against the abuses of corporations, unions were formed. The unions in turn have become monopolistic and have been guilty of every monopolistic practice which gave rise to the necessity to regulate corporations.

To curb these abuses by unions, the Taft Hartley Law was passed.

In a short time, it will doubtless be repealed. It will be repealed rather than be amended, not because it is wholly wrong. It is admitted by its opponents that abuses existed that needed to be curbed. It will be repealed because politicians, seeking votes, and labor leaders, seeking greater power, have joined hands to repeal it.

Monopoly is wrong and it is dangerous. It is dangerous in the hands of the government, of the church, of the press, of the military, and of the great corporations. It is equally dangerous in the hands of ambitious labor leaders.

The right to work is a basic freedom. For the last several years, unions in a typically monopolistic fashion have, thru the closed shop, jurisdictional strikes, and secondary boycotts attempted to destroy all competition. They denied to men their constitutional freedoms.

They claimed and exercised the right of economic life or death in the most dictatorial fashion by granting or denying the right of men to work.

They have increased the costs of food, clothing, and housing by feather-bedding and other monopolistic practices. The laborer has been denied the right to work, the farmer the right to deliver his produce to market; and the industrialist and the ambitious politician have been frightened and coerced into acquiescence of these practices.

To enforce their dictatorial decrees they have resorted to threats, violence, and mob rule.

A committee of Congress which recently investigated the union strike and riot at Dayton, Ohio, said, and I quote: "The record in the Dayton strike and in other cases forces the conclusion that representatives of international unions seem to feel they can violate the law, engage in violence, destruction of property, defy court orders, assault and seriously beat employees returning to work or engaged in working, without being effectively prosecuted."

Any citizen in a free country ought to be able to enter into the place of his employment without fear of injury to himself, his family, or his property.

He ought to have the right to join the church of his choice or none at all. He ought to have the right to join a union of his choice or none at all. He ought to have the right to work or not to work according to the dictates of his own conscience.

He ought to be able to work without paying tribute to any organization, particularly if that organization is headed by leaders whose philosophy and purpose is to overthrow his government.

The closed shop as well as the yellow dog contract and the sweat shops is un-American and anti-American. How can any man enjoy his constitutional right to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness when he is denied the right to earn his daily bread?

To protect these men in their constitutional freedom and their right to work, many states, including Iowa, have passed legislation banning the monopolistic practice known as the closed shop.

A few days ago the Supreme Court handed down an historic opinion which marks another milestone in the unending battle for freedom; another great step forward in the struggle for civil rights.

Their words are significant. Listen to them. "Nor need we appraise or analyze with particularity the rather startling ideas suggested to support some of the premises on which appellants' conclusions rest.

"There cannot be wrung from a constitutional right of workers to assemble to discuss improvement of their working standards a further constitutional right to drive from remunerative employment all persons who will not or cannot participate in union assemblies.

"The constitutional right of workers to assemble, to discuss and formulate plans for furthering their own self interest in jobs cannot be construed as a constitutional guarantee that none shall get and hold jobs except those who join or will agree to abide by the assembly's plans."

The meaning of the decision is clear. Any state has the right to ban a monopoly which compels a worker to join an organization against his will. More than that, the state has the duty to protect the civil rights of the worker and the welfare of the public. Industrial peace is essential to our national strength and security. But it will never be secured by political appeasement of monopolies.

I know not what course you may take, but I shall continue to oppose monopoly by any group, at any time and anywhere.

LOYALTY AND RESPONSIBILITY

It is not easy to be a free nation. You recall Franklin's remark in answer to the lady who asked, "Tell me, Mr. Franklin, are we going to have a republic or a monarchy?" He replied, "A republic, thank God, if you can keep it that way."

From the end of the Revolutionary War to the end of the First World War, freedom was on the ascendancy everywhere. Since 1913 free governments have been disappearing and dictatorial governments have been increasing. One by one the lights of freedom are being extinguished. The danger signals are up all over the world. The signals in our national capital are constantly flashing warnings.

Our republic has given us a priceless heritage. Part of that heritage is privilege and opportunity. That's the part we talk about most frequently. The other part of our heritage is loyalty and responsibility. It is the first duty of every government to maintain order. Order can be maintained only through loyalty and responsibility, or by force. Free government cannot exist in the absence of loyalty and responsibility. Free government is the offspring of loyalty and civic responsibility.

No family can continue to exist in the absence of loyalty and responsibility. Just as the husband and wife of a family must be loyal and faithful to each other, the individual citizen and groups of citizens must be loyal to their government. Free societies rest upon a foundation of law and of self restraint rather than upon the whim of an individual or group of men. Law is restraint from without. Loyalty is restraint from within.

Every free nation rests more upon loyalty, that is self-restraint, than upon law. Loyalty can be secured in two ways. It may be bought or it may be challenged. A government which must purchase loyalty in order to maintain its self in power will find that the cost of loyalty is constantly increased, and that the final purchase price of that kind of loyalty can never be paid. Such loyalty is always on the auction block looking for a higher bidder. Dollar loyalty can destroy any nation. For a nation to endure, men must be loyal because of what their government stands for rather than what it does for them as individuals.

The lot of a woman is determined by the love she accepts. The destiny of a nation is determined by the philosophy it adopts. We have reached that point in our national existence when we must once again recognize the necessity for loyalty to the philosophy and ideals of freedom and the willingness to exercise individual and collective self-restraint in the demands we make upon our government.

The members of Congress have taken an oath, even as you and I. Their oath, your oath, and my oath, to our God and to our fellow countrymen, is to support and defend the Constitution of these United States.

If the Congress has information and believes that any person or group or persons is working to destroy this Republic, it is their sworn duty to expose and punish such guilty persons.

It is to be regretted if some, blinded by partisanship and goaded by political ambition, cause injury to an innocent person, but it is even more deplorable if some, blinded by partisanship and goaded by political ambition, are willing to countenance such treasonable conduct in return for political support.

The facts seem to be that important official documents have fallen into the hands of unfriendly governments because of the disloyalty of persons in responsible positions with the national government. The fact seems to be that high officials have been negligent in taking action.

The facts seem to be that some important unions have come under the control of avowed communist leaders. Some of these organizations are in key industries where they would be able to almost paralyze the industrial and military might of this nation.

The fact also seems to be that many loyal and patriotic union organizations are purging their ranks of disloyal leaders. For this they are to be commended.

But no student of current public affairs or of the history of nations can doubt that freedom in America is threatened both from without and from within. The situation calls for action. Eternal vigilance is still the price of liberty. In the words of the Revolutionary War commander, "Place none but loyal Americans on guard tonight."

Only those who are familiar with the operation of free government can understand the comparative ease with which subversive forces have been able to legally take over the power of free nations. The recent history of eastern Europe is filled with unhappy examples of the effectiveness of the technique by which free nations have been destroyed.

Every individual and every organization can best serve its own interest today, by subordinating personal and group interests to the welfare of the nation as a whole. We must be willing to give to our nation more than we ask in return.

The financial demands being made by organized groups upon the national government, the states and local communities appear to be greater than can be borne indefinitely. It matters not how worthy the cause for which the funds are sought, there must be greater self restraint in the askings. We should not forget that there are other causes equally worthy. Nations which are economically sick fall easy prey to quack political doctors just as fatally ill persons so often, in their desperation, fall prey to quack healers.

In recent years there has been an increase in the tendency on the part of organization groups in agriculture, in industry, and among labor groups to assume the privileges of political parties while avoiding the responsibility of such a political party. They raise huge campaign funds, they adopt legislative programs, and elect candidates pledged to their own selfish interests rather than the welfare of the nation as a whole. These organizations are not responsible to the people as a whole, only to a segment of society. They give no accounting of the funds they have received or how they were spent. Nor can they be held responsible for their actions. They claim to be nonpartisan, to vote for the man.

Now let's consider that position. Dictator nations are nations of men and not of laws. They tolerate but a single party. Before the Second World War France found itself paralyzed because fifty odd parties were unable to agree upon a course of action. Other nations have found themselves similarly paralyzed.

One of the great strengths in America is our two party system. Every loyal American should be active in one of these parties.

Organized groups who place their own welfare above that of the nation but who assume no responsibility to the nation as a whole tend to have the same effect upon the nation as a large number of political parties.

This is what Washington meant when he said, and I quote: "However combinations or associations of the above description may now and then answer popular ends, they are likely, in the course of time and things, to become potent engines, by which cunning, ambition, and unprincipled men will be enabled to subvert the power of the people and to usurp for themselves the reigns of government; destroying afterwards the very engines which have lifted them to unjust domination."

The importance of responsibility and the necessity for self-restraint is clearly stated by Edmund Burke when he said, "Men are qualified for civil liberty in exact proportion to their disposition to put moral chains upon their own appetites; in proportion as their love of justice is above their rapacity; in proportion as they are disposed to listen to the councils of the wise and good, in preference to the flattery of knaves. Society cannot exist unless a controlling power upon will and appetite be placed somewhere, and the less of it there is within, the more there must be without. It is ordained in the eternal constitution of things that men of intemperate minds cannot be free. Their passions forge their fetters."

The lesson of the past is clear. If this nation is to be destroyed such destruction is more apt to be achieved by disloyalty, greed, and irresponsibility from within rather than by force of arms from without.

Freedom cannot exist alone in the absence of loyalty to our ideals of free government and responsibility on the part of every citizen in their private or official conduct. "Men must be governed by God or they will be ruled by tyrants."

CONCLUSION

All public law is subject to a higher law, God's eternal law. Neither men nor nations can break God's law with impunity. They merely break their lives and destroy their nations.

Let us then take the proposed legislation and place it in the test tubes and test it by God's eternal laws. Let us place it under the microscope of human wisdom and experience and carefully examine it to detect whether or not it contains any of the virus of the fatal political plague which is sweeping the earth and destroying free nations.

Our heritage consists of more than farms and factories, roads and parks, hospitals and schools, and other material possessions.

Our most valued heritage is a philosophy of life—a know how. This is the blueprint from which the great edifice called America was builded. Shall we destroy that edifice?

Are we today in our selfishness like the prodigal son of old—asking for our share of the inheritance before it is due us? "Father give me that portion of goods that falleth to me."

Are we as a nation taking a journey into a far country where we will waste our inheritance in riotous living?

When shall we come to ourselves? Will we too someday say, "Make me as one of Thy hired servants"?

Study the past. The past is but prologue. The companionship and the words of wisdom of the great men of the past, Washington, Franklin, Jefferson, Lincoln, Burke, and a host of others, is ours for the asking. Yes, even the companionship and wisdom of the Master himself.

Shall we abandon their companionship, and turn a deaf ear on the counsels of our Fathers? Shall we desert our faithful companion, the Goddess of Liberty, and listen only to the alluring voice and see only the seductive figure of the Goddess of Materialism? God forbid.

Our Father's God to Thee
Author of Liberty
To Thee we sing.
Long may our land be bright
With Freedom's holy light Protect us by Thy might Great God our King.

May the Lord bless each of you and be gracious unto you. May the Lord make his face to shine upon us all and give us peace.

DIVISION II

I once sat where you now sit. I know something of how difficult it is for you in the short time you are here to fully or adequately inform yourself on all phases of the problems you are called to pass on.

Government today is much more complicated than it was 25 years ago. The danger of tinkering without considering the over-all effect upon all departments of government has greatly increased. There is a great need for a comprehensive picture and understanding of things.

I wish that time permitted a full discussion of the many current problems facing you. It does not. If at any time any of you feel that my experience or any information I possess may benefit you, I will be at your command.

Neither does time permit a review of the accomplishments of the last four years. I will mention but a few: State Aid to Schools and Cities and Towns made imperative by the mounting inflation in the cost of government. Important revisions in our systems of taxation, a state-wide Retirement Act, the largest building program for Board of Control and state educational institutions in the state's history, the beginning of a program to widen and salvage our primary roads; aid to rural roads on the basis of need, extensive industrial development aided to a great degree by the new Iowa Development Commission; a revision of the administrative machinery of the Board of Control, including provision for directors of mental institutions, of dietetics, of farm operations, of prison industries, of child welfare and of penal institutions; extensive work in the fields of soil conservation and river development; new programs for aviation and safety.

Let us briefly consider one of the problems you will be called to act upon. Three excellent reports concerning roads, flood control and building code are ready for your consideration.

ROADS

From the time of the first road—until this moment—roads have presented a continuing problem. Simply stated the problem is this. Iowa has more miles of road in relation to the number of people and the number of square miles than any other state.

The income from gas taxes has increased approximately 25 per cent, while the cost of maintenance and new construction has increased approximately 100 per cent. Hundreds of old bridges were built too light and too narrow to carry modern traffic.

The old paving is too narrow and it is becoming increasingly hazardous to travel. The amount of maintenance is constantly increasing.

To protect our original investment in primary roads, thousands of miles of paving must be widened and resurfaced in the next ten years.

The rising costs of maintenance added to the cost of bond retirement and increasing maintenance costs, have left too little for new construction.

The funds now required to retire bonds will be freed in 1950. Such added funds, however, will be insufficient to meet road needs. The two major road problems are materials and funds. With road costs having increased approximately 100 per cent and income increased but 25 per cent, the need for more funds to salvage older roads, for maintenance, for bridges, for rural roads and to complete our primary system is obvious.

BOARD OF CONTROL

Though much progress has been made, the problems of the Board of Control are very great. The slate roofs on many buildings are in need of replacement, miles of gutters should be replaced.

An appropriation for tiling will bring more than a thousand acres of farm land into increased production.

Plans have been developed for new canning plants and deep freeze units. There is need for much new kitchen equipment.

A vocational education program has been instituted at some of the institutions. It should be expanded.

The Board of Control is the only major spending agency which does not maintain its own accounting system. Lack of proper information has handicapped the board. Legislation to meet this problem has been prepared.

A study has been made of the furniture needs of the institutions. These can and should be co-ordinated with the operation of the furniture factory at Ft. Madison.

Much has been accomplished in spite of a shortage of men and materials. But the neglects of thirty or forty years cannot be remedied in a few months. The administration programs have been greatly improved. Much remains yet to be done.

SCHOOLS

During the last four years thirteen of the nineteen recommendations of the School Code Study Commission have been, in part or in whole, enacted into law. These programs have been of great aid to our school system.

There are, however, some fields in which the schools can, by their own action, improve their lot. Reorganization of small school districts will afford our children a better education at a reduced cost. A high school with fifteen or twenty pupils cannot offer an adequate number of courses, employ a sufficient number of teachers, or provide the equipment or the student competition essential to an adequate high school education.

The last two sessions of the legislature have passed reorganization bills. Some progress, but not enough, has been made in this field. Political ambition, the selfish economic interest, the desire to continue as an administrator rather than a teacher, and other factors have served to act as a brake upon needed progress in this field.

Many high schools are providing high school education at a loss of more than thirty percent for each tuition pupil. This is unsound. The state of Kansas has met this problem by passing a county tuition tax law and a county equalization fund tax law. These laws are working successfully and challenge your study. One effect of such legislation is to require industries which locate in rural districts for the express purpose of avoiding their share of this cost of government, while permitting their employees to enjoy all the privileges of living in town, to pay their fair share of school costs.

With the experience gained, state aid to schools can be put on a more sound basis. It should be increased within the limits of sound financing.

Our experience in extending aid to counties, for child welfare without any standards to guide them, indicates the hazard of the state assuming a certain portion of the cost of local education without restrictions. Such a law will primarily benefit the large communities which are best able to carry the educational load of the state and will work to the definite disadvantage of the small communities. Large educational plants with their great variety of courses will receive the lion's share of the funds, while the small school, most in need, with a few pupils and a limited number of courses would probably not receive the aid they were entitled to.

At the Governors' Conference I introduced, and the Conference adopted, a resolution for the study of the school program of our states. You will receive this report during this session. It should receive your careful consideration and study.

FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER USE

Flood control and water use is of increasing importance to us. We must have a legally constituted body to study and handle this problem. It can well be constituted, in whole or in part, of persons already in state service, whose duties deal with some of the problems connected with water use. Such an agency, however, should be an independent agency and not a department of an existing agency.

In considering specific programs much consideration ought to be given to loss of agricultural or mineral resources, loss of tax revenue and the permanent injury to the political and economic system of a community, the problem of displaced persons, and the danger of Federal Control over large areas of land within a community or the state.

PERSONNEL DIRECTOR

Iowa government is big business. It employs thousands of people. In the past the ability to lobby a large appropriation, political pull, and many other things determined the compensation paid. Employees doing the same work ought to receive the same pay whether they work for the Board of Control, the Highway Commission, the Board of Education or some other agency.

There is no reason why the auditor for the state university should receive a larger salary than the treasurer of state or the state auditor.

No position in state government is more taxing or difficult than that of Governor. No public official should receive a greater compensation than the Governor of the state.

During the last year and a half great strides have been made in equalizing salaries, but equality and justice cannot be achieved without extensive revision of our statutes.

The Interim Committee has made a careful study of this problem. Their recommendations are worthy of action by you.

BUDGET

The aviation commission is not under the budget law, the commerce commission is maintained in part by fees and in part by appropriation. Both should be brought under the budget.

The practice of appropriating sums of money and then granting authority to a legislative committee to supplement the funds of departments in need of funds has led to careless fiscal policies by the heads of some departments.

Under the budget law the responsibility for the budget rests upon the Governor. He cannot maintain the control that should be maintained over expenditures, if a department can by-pass his office and secure additional funds from such a committee.

This practice is destructive of the budget law. Under this law the Governor has authority, sometimes alone and sometimes with the approval of the Executive Council, to transfer funds to meet certain emergencies.

Any contingent fund to meet emergencies should be under the Governor or the Executive Council. They are on the job every day. They are more familiar with the problem than any part time legislative committee can possibly be. They were elected by the people from the whole state and are responsible to the state as a whole for their action.

I would not again approve a large contingent appropriation to a part time committee. Not because of lack of confidence in the committee, but rather because of the temptation on the part of departments to be careless or extravagant.

There is another way in which state budgets are being disrupted. That is by funds allocated by the Federal Government, directly to some department of government. Oftimes the state has little or no control over these federal funds.

More and more often the reason or the excuse for some proposed action is, "It won't cost the state anything. We're going to pay it out of federal funds."

This is not only poor business but its effects on other departments, who do not have such funds, is bad.

This danger is inherent in all grants-in-aid. We are developing a double standard for relief in Iowa. If the relief is paid for by local funds, one standard is followed. If it is paid for from state or federal funds, a different standard is followed.

The inflationary effect of grants-in-aid on the costs of local government is hard to estimate.

To check this trend the states of Pennsylvania and New York have enacted laws greatly increasing the powers of taxation to local governments in lieu of increased state aid. The experience of these two states is worthy of your consideration.

A special tax committee composed of Governors and members of Congress adopted a resolution calling on Congress to reduce grants from the federal government to the states by 20 per cent and to surrender to the states some of the fields of taxation, which might more properly belong to the states.

The inflationary effects of grants-in-aid is to centralize the power of government. It will lead to stateism and federalism, if unchecked.

LEGISLATIVE COUNCIL

The problems of government are becoming increasingly complicated. I have been constantly impressed with the fact that the head of one department knows little of the related problems of another department.

Few people indeed have anything like an over-all view of the current problems of state government.

No legislator in 100 days can possibly give the needed study to the problems on which he is called to pass judgment.

When a Governor or the head of a department steps out, his knowledge and experience is lost. Last session I sent back for correction approximately a dozen bills that were defectively drafted.

To meet this problem we have resorted to special study committees. These committees have been doing outstanding work and should be continued. But we need a legislative council, with a permanent secretary, as a repository for legislative and administrative experience. Year after year departments file their annual reports. They are seldom read, let alone analyzed. They should be compared to the reports of previous years, the reports of other departments, and the reports and experiences of other states.

ECONOMIC OUTLOOK

The economic future is obscure. Some experts predict stability at the present levels; others see further inflation; still others see a recession and point to decreased employment in certain industries, and the fact, that in some lines the inventories are large. These and other reasons are cited. Iowa, however, is fortunate to face the future in excellent financial condition.

You are required to make appropriations the last of which will be spent thirty months after you make them. This presents a difficult problem. Yet certain facts are very clear. Every farmer, every business man, every state and local government today is in partnership—in partnership with the Federal Government. Its action as the senior partner will be the controlling factor in the economic picture in the next two years. To a substantial degree, states and local governments have lost control of their finances. This is true because of the ability of the Federal Government to inflate the cost of local government by its action. It is true because of the effect of matching programs on the cost of local government.

The economy of states whose basic and major industry is agriculture, tends to fluctuate more violently than that of industrial states. From 1941 to 1946 income tax payments increased one hundred fifty-three percent in South Dakota; one hundred eighteen percent in North Dakota; ninety-four percent in Iowa; seventy-three percent in Illinois, and sixty percent in Ohio. Sales taxes increased accordingly.

The Iowa financial system, based as it is primarily upon sales and income taxes, is extremely sensitive to changing economic conditions. Such a system feels the impact of prosperity most keenly. Such a system must also expect to experience the sharpest decline in revenues in the event of less favorable conditions. A mild recession might reduce Iowa's revenues severely. The sharp drop in agricultural prices in recent months points out the danger.

As I pointed out a year ago, the present state financial structure is based on inflexible tax rates. In times of prosperity we have too much money and accumulate surpluses. This in turn leads to the temptation to create governmental standards of living which cannot be maintained in time of recession. The huge budget askings of the various departments of State government, none of whom are familiar with, or has the responsibility for the financial welfare of the state as a whole, indicates the danger of such surpluses. On the other hand, under too rigid a tax structure, in the event of recession, there will be too little money to bear the necessary costs of government. I say to you again that the income tax rates in the state ought to be flexible. If they are not made flexible, the day will come when it will be necessary to return to a property tax.

During the last several years, as the result of war and post-war inflation, coupled with prudent management, the state has accumulated a large surplus. The people of the state, in their wisdom, have approved a bonus to the veterans of World War II. The financial condition of the state is such that most or all of this bonus can and should be paid from surplus funds now on hand. These funds were accumulated to a substantial degree, out of wartime prosperity and taxation. They should be used to meet this obligation. Should this reserve be used for other purposes and the bonus paid from property taxes, over a twenty year period, the veteran himself will be paying the major portion of the state's gratuity. The time to pay your debts is when you have money to do so. It is easier to pay them with a "cheap" dollar rather than a "dear" dollar.

Payment now, from these funds, will save the Iowa taxpayer millions of dollars of interest money. It will remove that amount of tax load from property and thus leave local units of government in a better position to finance themselves. It will leave the state and the local communities in a much stronger position to meet the problems of any recession which might overtake us. By paying this obligation with a "cheap" dollar instead of a "dear" dollar, millions of dollars of purchasing ability will be saved and kept in the hands of our citizenry.

I have had prepared a number of different tables showing the cost of city, county, school district, and state government, and also the cost of relief, and of highway improvement in Iowa during the last twenty years. Because of the difference in accounting systems there are some minor omissions and perhaps duplications. They do, however, show the trends and paint a picture of the tremendous increase in the cost of government.

RELIEF

I suggest that it would be helpful if this legislature created a special study committee to study the administration and the cost of relief.

The three most rapidly increasing costs of government are roads, schools, and relief. The report of your special committee to study the road problem is on your desks. Two school study committee reports have been received by previous legislatures; a major portion of the recommendations contained in them have been enacted into law.

The cost of relief has been increasing more rapidly than any other expense of government. I have had the Social Welfare Commission gather figures showing the cost of relief for the last twenty years. In 1928 the counties were bearing the whole cost of relief. The cost of relief in 1928 amounted to two million, four hundred fifty-eight thousand, six hundred one dollars. In 1947 relief costs in Iowa amounted to thirty million, four hundred fifty-nine thousand, nine hundred seventy-two dollars, and if the amount paid out by way of unemployment compensation benefits is added, it amounts to thirty-two million, eight hundred seventy-four thousand, one hundred twelve dollars.

A couple of years ago I had a population trend study made and presented it to the last Legislature. Population trends are one of the most vital factors affecting the problems of government.

In the last generation the span of human life has been greatly increased. This study says, and I quote: "Persons sixty-five years of age and older increased from one hundred six thousand in 1900 to two hundred twenty-eight thousand in 1940. Estimates predict a continuation of this rapid increase until 1970 when the number of persons over sixty-five is expected to be approximately 50 per cent larger than in 1940."

Today Iowa is enjoying full employment and peak prosperity. Yet the Social Welfare Department is asking for an increase of ten million dollars to carry the relief load.

If the number of persons over sixty-five continues to increase as this study predicts, it is to be expected that a certain proportion of these persons will be added to the relief rolls.

If, in the next twenty years, we should suffer any major recession, based upon the present cost of relief, the load will be staggering.

The churches and charitable organizations were the first to enter such social welfare fields as education, hospital service and care of orphans as well as care for the aged. The state followed later. A need exists for public owned homes for the aged.

Many persons can be better cared for in community homes for the aged than they can care for themselves in their own homes. They will get better food, better housing, cleaner linens, better medical care, at a lesser cost.

The need for community housing for the aged is shown by the long waiting lists at homes for the aged and the rapid increase in private nursing homes.

The state and federal government is spending twenty-four million dollars a year for old age assistance in Iowa. A saving of 10 per cent a year would amount to two and one-half million a year.

Local homes for the aged could be financed from such savings. At present the federal law is a serious obstacle for caring for our aged in tax supported institutions. Many aged persons are anxious and able to pay for their care in such a home. Many children would welcome the opportunity to provide such a home for their aged parents.

In any event, this whole problem should be studied now before we are confronted with an emergency.

CONCLUSION

It has been an honor and a privilege to serve this great state as its chief executive during the last four years.

It has been a troubled era, marked by the ending of two great wars, and the problems and readjustments incident to a postwar period.

I express my heartfelt thanks to the host of friends both inside and outside the official family without whose advice and loyal help the achievements of this administration would have been more difficult or impossible of achievement.

As I lay down the duties and responsibilities of this office I look forward with keen anticipation to the opportunity of enjoying more frequently and more intimately the companionships of my many friends. This is a privilege which the burdens of the office have of late too frequently denied.

Relieved of official duties, it will be a real pleasure to serve my government, once again, in that most important of all positions—that of a private citizen.

So long as men shall strive to build a better society, a better state, a better nation, or a better world, there shall be honor and glory in all work well done.

Governor Blue was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

CANVASS OF VOTES

President Evans announced that the time had arrived for the canvass of votes cast for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the general election held on November 2, 1948, and announced as teller on the part of the Senate, Senator Berg of Black Hawk, and as assistant tellers, Senators Bekman of Wapello and Prentiss of Ringgold.

Speaker Kuester announced as teller on the part of the House, Kosek of Linn, and as assistant tellers Armstrong of Black Hawk and Caffrey of Howard.

President Evans further announced that, in accordance with statute tellers Senator Berg and Representative Kosek would constitute the judges of said canvass.

Speaker Kuester in the chair.

The Speaker then opened the returns in the presence of the joint convention, and the tellers proceeded to canvass the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the State of Iowa, cast at the general election held on November 2, 1948.

On motion by Weichman of Benton the joint convention recessed until 1:15 p.m., Thursday, January 13, 1949.

The Senate returned to the Senate Chamber and resumed regular session, President pro tempore Leo presiding.

The following invocation was delivered by Reverend Raoul C. Calkins, Superintendent Des Moines District, Methodist Church:

Almighty God, unto whom all hearts are open, all desires known, and from whom no secrets are hid, cleanse the thoughts of our hearts by the inspiration of Thy Holy Spirit, that we may perfectly love Thee, and worthily magnify Thy holy name.

Our Heavenly Father, we pray not for the purpose of trying to change Thy mind but rather that we might sense Thy will for us, our state, our nation, our world, and seeing Thy will we might have faith and strength to do it.

We pray that this thy servant who is being inaugurated a governor may continually be blessed with a true sense of that which is important; that as he strives to determine that which is the greatest good for the largest number he may be guided by Thee; that he may have deep satisfaction in governing with justice, honesty, courage and goodwill; that where there is confusion there may come to him clarity of thought; that in the midst of success he will be humble; that in times of discouragement he may have a sense of Thy presence and love.

We thank Thee for the freedom which is ours; may we cherish it wisely. We thank Thee for the democratic process of representative government, may we exercise these powers in a way pleasing to Thee. We thank Thee for officials who rise above littleness, meanness, deception and selfish interests; may their number increase. We thank Thee for citizens who make known their desires that our government encourage sobriety, honesty, and justice; may they encourage others by examples of clean living and fair dealings. We thank Thee for the great natural resources of our state; may they be properly conserved and used to meet human need. We thank Thee for our children and young people, may they be surrounded by the best influences of fine homes, schools, and churches. We thank Thee that our state is a part of the United States; may we take our proper place in the family of nations. We thank Thee for the Carpenter of Nazareth whose spirit would lead us in paths of righteousness, benevolence, goodwill, and peace.

We would give more than lip service to the words, "Thy Kingdom come, Thy will be done, on earth as it is in heaven." Amen.

Lieutenant Governor Evans, President of the Senate presiding, presented Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following inaugural address:

INAUGURAL ADDRESS OF GOVERNOR WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER, SENATORS AND REPRESENTATIVES OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY, MR. CHIEF JUSTICE, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

In taking this solemn oath to support the Constitution of the United States and of the State of Iowa, I am profoundly impressed with the great responsibility reposed in me by the voters of this great state. I am happy to be a citizen of Iowa. I love her farm homes, her beautiful towns, her cities, and most of all her people.

One has to experience the weight of this obligation to feel the full impact of its significance. To me, it is the assumption of a very real responsibility. In accepting this great honor, I do so with humility and with a high resolve that my every effort shall be devoted to the public welfare. May God give me strength, wisdom and guidance in the performance of my duties as Governor of this great Commonwealth.

To you, the chosen representatives of the people, as members of the Fifty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa, I extend my most sincere congratulations. The electors of your respective counties and districts have honored you by selecting you to assemble here to consider, adopt, and declare the policies of the state in matters of public importance.

The right of the people to select you is a privilege enjoyed only in a free country and it is our duty, yours and mine, all of us, to demonstrate our appreciation of that freedom by devoting our every effort to the accomplishment of legislation which will contribute to the public welfare.

We are mindful of the issues that were discussed and under discussion by the voters last year. You, as the representatives of the people, have received a directive from the electorate on these issues, and you and I must devote our best efforts, to the end that the will of the people will be accomplished in the public interest.

You and I are the servants of the people—let no one assume otherwise. You are met to interpret the people's will and to shape it into law. It is my duty to suggest, not to direct. We should be firm in the determination to place the governmental affairs of Iowa on a sound, progressive and economical basis.

We must take time to pause and reflect upon where we are in our growth and development as a people and a state. We have been blessed by a vigorous soil, fertile and productive. We have utilized and maintained it well. We, however, must not think of our past accomplishments, but what is best for the future. We must think also of the resources of our people with an intelligent firmness and a strong belief in the democratic process, and a desire for all segments of our social, economic, and political society to grow and prosper together.

We find that seldom in our history has such a large percentage of our people interested themselves in the problems of state government. This is most desirable, for when we have people interested in government and the problems of our society, we have the firmest foundation of democratic principles established.

There are so many issues of great importance to the people of this state that I have found it very difficult to determine what matters to consider in the time permitted here. Many subjects to which I shall not refer require and should have serious consideration.

I will, from time to time, as this Session of the General Assembly progresses, respectfully submit to you such suggestions as I may have with respect to such matters for your consideration.

We must counsel together and cooperate with each other, to the end that we may bring to the people of the State of Iowa such a program of accomplishment as will be directly in the public interest.

TAXATION

The subject of taxation is always of paramount interest, and in line with my campaign policies, I recommend that there should be a thorough study of our entire taxing system aimed at bringing about the basic principles of equality commensurate with ability to pay. This study should cover major phases of our taxes, that is, property, corporation, income and sales.

I also recommend that this tax study should have high priority in your activities. In line with this type of basic thinking, and conforming to the wishes of the people of Iowa, I ask the removal of sales tax on food. Iowa is the greatest food producing state in the Union and Iowa levies an excise tax on food. The most forward states do not levy such a tax, others have abolished it. I make this suggestion after careful study of fiscal policies and feel that it will not jeopardize our financial position.

In your consideration of the budget and making the appropriations it would be my suggestion that you should first establish in the general fund of the state a fund to be known as "TAX STABILIZING RESERVE" for the purpose of supporting the cost of government in lean years.

This reserve should be sufficiently adequate to maintain our financial stability through economic cycles during periods when the current revenue is insufficient to meet the necessary cost of maintaining and operating the state government. Safeguards should be set up so that this reserve will be available for use when the current revenue is less than the cost of state government. Such a reserve would be a guarantee against the necessity of the levying of a property tax when people are less able to pay. It would also guarantee and protect a sound operation of our institutions and needed services for the people of the state in the lean years.

SOLDIER'S BONUS

The people of Iowa have overwhelmingly approved the Soldier's Bonus and the issuance of Soldier's Bonus Bonds. In doing this they have, in a small way, shown their appreciation of the sacrifices made by our veterans in the preservation of this democracy. No payment, however large, could ever pay our debt of gratitude for sacrifices made by these fighting men and women—either to them or their families.

Our World War II veterans have demonstrated their willingness to assume responsibility, and they will be the leaders of tomorrow.

It is our duty to them and to all the people of Iowa to make every effort to retire the Soldier's Bonus Bonds promptly. It would be a mistake to finance too much of this obligation out of current surplus. However, after a substantial Tax Stabilizing Reserve has been set aside and all allocations from the General Fund have been carefully determined, I recommend that such amounts as are not necessary to guarantee the sound financial position of the state be applied to the retirement of Soldier's Bonus Bonds. Additional funds for the retirement of these bonds might also be made available from unallocated current revenues.

Prompt retirement of such a debt is not only good business practice, but will result in substantial savings in interest.

BUSINESS ADMINISTRATION

There is much that we can do to give the people of Iowa MORE for their tax dollars.

We are committed to a businesslike, efficient administration. In our efforts to assure proper performance of all the necessary functions of state government, we must, therefore, be constantly on guard against the ever-present danger of overlapping and duplication of services.

We should eliminate all unnecessary bureaus and commissions. Wherever practical, offices and departments engaged in related functions should be consolidated.

We must make a continuous effort to effect every possible economy in the business administration and fiscal policy of our state government.

This will not be easy. It will require constant vigilance by our Legislative committees, efficient management by the heads of all departments and commissions, and the sincere effort of every state employee.

From time to time I will make suggestions for your consideration having as their purpose the achievement of efficiency and sound economies.

ROADS

I believe we are all agreed on the need for an accelerated road construction program in Iowa. The people of our state are demanding immediate action. We have critical problems in our primary road system, in our secondary road system and in streets of cities and towns. The state has a responsibility in both its primary and secondary system. Neither one should be favored at the expense of the other.

In order to handle the increasing load of traffic and to meet the needs of today, we must find the means for providing additional funds for the construction and maintenance of our primary and secondary road systems.

We should be most concerned about our farm-to-market roads. These are the roads which bring town and country together. They are the roads over which the millions of tons of agricultural products are brought to market. They are the arteries through which flows the very life blood of our state economy.

The Fifty-second General Assembly laid the plans for an all-weather secondary road system which will eventually cover 34,000 miles. But the time for merely planning is long past. It is our job to begin converting that plan into actual roads.

The Highway Investigation Committee's report is available for your study. In considering this report, I hope that you will recognize the need for a continuing farm-to-market road program and take the necessary steps to make sure that an adequate percentage of our road funds are definitely ear-marked for secondary roads.

Our primary road system deserves equal attention. Some of our heavily traveled highways must be resurfaced or widened, some new roads are needed and in a few instances primary roads should be re-located. Here again, the increased cost of maintenance and improvements will require your careful study.

If we see to it that necessary funds are provided—if we concentrate on getting the maximum mileage from every dollar expended—and if secondary road funds are allocated on a fair and equitable basis we can meet the demands of our people for an integrated all-weather road system that will serve the entire state.

EDUCATION

One of the very important problems facing us is that of adequate education for our youth. To meet the challenge of this modern world we must have an educated citizenry.

Iowa has been coasting too long on its reputation for literacy. The mere ability to read and write will not take care of us in this Technical Age. When our very lives may depend upon our mastery of science and technical skills, there should be no question about our support of education. And the state has a definite and inescapable responsibility in this matter.

The Fifty-first and Fifty-second General Assemblies committed the State of Iowa to the principle of state support to education. And this principle was again approved by the electorate last year. It is the will of the people.

I recommend state aid in an amount equal to one-fourth of the total costs of education, to be allocated on a replacement and equalization basis. This means enough state aid to give definite relief to the property taxpayer. This program should be made permanent so that indirect taxes will be made available to the degree that all uncertainty regarding adequate school support will be removed.

In allocating the funds made available by this General Assembly for the purpose of state aid to schools, the funds should be so distributed for general aid, equalization, transportation, the agricultural land tax credit and aid to handicapped children, on a basis that is fair and equitable to all types of school districts in the state.

And finally, we must take definite steps to make the teaching profession more attractive in Iowa. Its contribution to the lives of our future citizens, emphasizes the enduring importance of this profession in our cultural, social and economic development.

CONSERVATION AND FLOOD CONTROL

Iowa is at the heart of the greatest agricultural nation in the world. Our agriculture produces one-tenth of all the foodstuffs produced in the 48 states of the union. This tremendous production of new wealth has a great effect on the economy of the state and the nation. This economic force is a result of the skill and technical ability of the farmers which finally can function only because of the state's blessing of its greatest resources—soil and water.

These resources must receive special consideration if they are to be conserved for posterity and if the cultural and economic heritage of the state is to endure. We must promote a broad flood control program that will keep the streams clear, the rain where it falls, and the top soil where it belongs.

Our water resources have suffered seriously from lack of sound policies and understanding management. The underground water table has fallen in some sections of the state to a point where it approaches a state disaster. Flood control is a primary objective. Cut over timber lands have remained idle without replanting. Pollution, soil erosion, and health are closely related to our social and economic future. Recreation, fish and wildlife, industry, and hydroelectric power are contenders for priorities in the use of our water resources.

We cannot maintain pure streams to meet these needs unless legislation is enacted to prevent the dumping of sewage and other elements of pollution into our streams. In the future, in addition to providing pure water, the rivers of the state must provide a greater share of fishing and other recreational facilities. Such a program should be, insofar as is possible, integrated with sound soil conservation programs on adjoining lands if maximum values are to be obtained.

There are at present 92 soil conservation districts established in the state. This represents substantial progress and a great improvement in the attitude of the Iowa farmer toward sound soil conservation practices, but in many cases an over-all program may be jeopardized by the failure of a few to comply.

To correct this weakness, we should take steps to conserve for posterity, our greatest natural heritage, the soil of Iowa.

Since there is some duplication in the functions of the various conservation agencies, there should be a closer working relationship between these groups. Iowa, with the nation's most completely farmed land surface, has been too slow in applying good land management practices designed to prevent further destruction of its rich soil. During the last year, the state has had a study committee which has surveyed the problem of flood control and has made a report to this Legislature. This report contains much of value. It has been a practice in Iowa for decades to constantly create new commissions, boards and departments without thought of the relationship of many problems.

In considering the problem of flood control, soil conservation and conservation as regards wildlife, fish, game and natural resources, we find that they are related problems. For instance: With the application of sound land practices in soil conservation, by nailing the rain drop where it falls and by making the water walk instead of run, we immediately reduce flood control problems. We must, therefore, come to the conclusion that all conservation services should be coordinated if we are going to find a solution to our problem. In doing this, we should create a Council of Natural Resources, staffed with competent technical help.

This Natural Resources Council would not be saddled with administrative duties, nor would it, as a Natural Resources Council, be susceptible to the pressure of politics. Rather it would operate to give Iowa the full benefit of technical recommendations concerning the scientific approach, the coordinated approach, to the entire field of conservation.

Such a council would include a geologist for mineral resources, a biologist for animal life, a hydrographer for water resources, an agronomist, a botanist, and an economist. All data relative to our resources already in the hands of the several agencies should be made available to this council. Additional facts needed for competent judging would be gathered by the administrative agency most closely associated with the specific program.

Findings of this council would be made available for the guidance of the executive and legislative branches, executive agencies in the conservation field, and to the general public.

I consider such a council, unencumbered by private or political pressures, as a primary and basic step if we are to solve completely our growing conservation problems.

LABOR AND CONCILIATION

We have great industries within our state and we look forward to further industrial development. If that is to be attained, it is absolutely necessary that we have a harmonious relationship between labor and management. The problems of labor and management quite properly are a field of human relationship in which we must make progress. We must recognize the fact that we have within the borders of Iowa workers who are not excelled by the citizenry of any state or nation in the world and that also, fortunately, our industrial leaders are of the highest type. The State of Iowa should foster a program which makes for gain and advancement in the field of labor-management relationship. We recognize the principle of collective bargaining. We insist that both labor and management assume their responsibilities as well as assert their rights. We must always be mindful of the public interest in this relation. It follows, then, that both labor and management must be able to bargain as equals. This Legislature should enact legislation to make this possible and to the end that this may be attained, I seriously recommend that the proper committees of the House and Senate consult with leaders in labor, in industry and outstanding forward looking citizens of the state for suggestions as to a program which will bring about such results.

Iowa must approach all its problems in a manner of rationality. Rationality based upon education. I feel that there is a lag between the thinking of management and labor to meet the problems of group relationships. I propose that we set up a pilot program under the Board of Education to continuously train management and labor, if we are to maintain the vigor of our Iowa industrial society and to study the problems of human engineering.

I believe that efficiency can be achieved and services be improved if a consolidation of the Labor Department, Industrial Commission, and Mine Inspection Departments be effected in a Department of Labor and Industry under a director with such assistants as may be necessary.

To improve relationship between labor and management and to promote industrial peace and progress for workers and industry alike I propose that the state establish a conciliation or mediation service under the direction of this department of labor and industry. The development of a state conciliation service can do much to bring about industrial peace and eliminate disagreement and misunderstanding in labor-management relationship. I propose that this service be of the simplest type, not a large trained full time staff, but that the director may designate outstanding citizens in any community in the state and from all walks of life as conciliators; men who are dedicated to service and the cause of industrial peace.

HUMAN NEEDS

Recognition of the human needs of our state is of utmost importance to all our citizens. In the last eight years, the State of Iowa has increased appropriations for maintenance and support of Board of Control institutions more than 250 per cent.

Still, we have not made the progress that is desirable. This clearly demonstrates that mere appropriation of money in itself is not the answer. We must improve the conditions in the Board of Control institutions by getting better methods of administration and advanced practices. Approximately 40 patients per month are being committed to our mental institutions who are neither senile nor violently insane. In the name of humanitarianism, a method should be worked out which will restore these mentally ill before they reach the stage of commitment to our institutions.

The programs of old age assistance and aid to dependent children should be reviewed and they should be adequately provided for to meet the problems caused by changes in economic and social conditions. This subject will be given further attention in my budget message.

BUDGET

Because of the great importance of budget matters and the financial affairs of the state, I intend in the presentation of the budget estimate and the report of the financial condition of the state to make a more specific analysis of financial and budgetary items and will discuss them at greater length with you. My budget recommendations are in the hands of the printer and will within a few days be delivered to each of you.

CONCLUSION

In conclusion, may I again say that of necessity it has been impossible for me to discuss many subjects which will require your attention and receive your serious consideration. Some of these I will discuss with you from time to time.

It shall be my purpose, as the governor of this state, to work with you. I want to be on your team and that of all of my colleagues in office. I shall cooperate with you, seek your counsel, and be readily accessible at all times to discuss with you the problems of the people which are your problems and mine. May our deliberations be seasoned with faith and foresight to the end that they may result in the formulation and enactment of legislation which mark our labors with accomplishment.

It is a great responsibility we are impelled to shoulder, but with the obligation comes the opportunity to do great work for the common good. May our God and Father give us wisdom and guide us in the performance of our responsibilities.

Schubert's "Ave Maria" was sung by the Three Lind Brothers.

Governor William S. Beardsley was escorted from the chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Kruse of Floyd moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President pro tempore Leo presiding.

Senator Elthon moved that a committee of three be appointed to escort Lieutenant Governor Evans to the President's station.

The motion prevailed and President pro tempore Leo appointed as such committee Senators Lynes, Hattery and Tudor.

Lieutenant Governor Evans expressed his continued confidence in the members of the Fifty-third General Assembly and assured them of his full cooperation. He also extended a cordial invitation to the members of the Senate and all guests in the chamber to visit the new office which the members of the Fifty-second General Assembly had provided for the Lieutenant Governor, and also to meet Mrs. Evans and the other members of his family.

Senator Berg, author of Senate Resolution 5 of the Fifty-second General Assembly, and chairman of the committee to provide suitable office space for the Lieutenant Governor and more adequate committee rooms, also invited the members of the Senate and all guests to visit the Lieutenant Governor in his new office.

President Evans announced the appointment of the following standing committees:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 8

By Maytag and Faul

WHEREAS, in the 1948 official ten-acre corn yield contest sponsored by the Iowa Corn and Small Grain Growers Association the all-time-high world record corn yield of two hundred twenty-four and two-tenths bushels per acre was made by Mr. Carroll L. Brown of Rose Hill in the county of Mahaska, and

WHEREAS, the General Assembly of the State of Iowa is pleased to note that Mr. Brown, a native son, is able to establish this record, and at the same time to participate as an active and able member of the General Assembly, now therefore

Brown of Rose Hill, Mahaska county, on his great achievement in producing the world record yield of two hundred twenty-four and two tenths bushels of corn to the acre, a record that could only be achieved by the unbeatable triad—a Munificent Providence, the soil of this great state, and an Iowa farmer.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Governor Beardsley, who delivered the following budget address:

1.1

We are met today to discuss the financial affairs and fiscal policies of the state. As suggested in my message last week, the budget recommendations would be delivered to each of you, and they are now in your hands. In considering these recommendations, we have a real responsibility and important function to perform. We must provide for the necessary functions of government and programs of vital importance to the people of Iowa.

se
se
se
se

In approaching the problem of making appropriations for financing the government of Iowa, we must ever be conscious of the fact that we are now operating the state and all of its programs, almost entirely free from special taxes.

We must take into consideration the fact that the support and maintenance of local government is primarily dependent upon property taxes.

To guarantee our financial position and to avoid the likelihood of returning to a property tax for the purpose of state government, we should immediately set up a tax stabilizing reserve as outlined in my inaugural address.

Current revenues are now at the highest peak in the history of this state. We cannot make appropriations on the assumption that these revenues will always continue at this same level. We should all be realistic, and not establish a cost of government which could prove burdensome in future years.

With that in mind, it is my judgment that all appropriations for the support and maintenance of government should be based on current income of the state. We must follow sound business practices; live within our means, and not dissipate our capital so that it will be unavailable when it is most needed and revenues are inadequate.

No one can foretell what economic conditions will be ten years from now. There are definite indications in commodity price levels, rate of employment and business statistics today which indicate that the inflationary trend may be over. Time and time alone will tell where prices and income will level off.

A balanced budget based conservatively on probable income is a guarantee to the people of Iowa that their state is being operated on a sound financial basis.

We will be justified in using surplus funds only for establishing a Tax Stabilizing Reserve, financing the soldiers' bonus in part, and for capital improvements which are non-recurring in cost.

The Treasurer of State and State Comptroller have estimated that the unencumbered balance in the State General Fund as of June 30th this year will be in the amount of ninety-seven million, fifty-two thousand, two hundred and fifty dollars and forty-five cents. This estimate is based on the actual collections of the first six months of this fiscal year and the estimate of receipts for the last six months.

Of this amount, I recommend that 40 million dollars be immediately set aside as a Tax Stabilizing Reserve, to be expended only at such time and upon such authority as you shall determine, for the purpose of maintaining our financial stability through economic cycles during periods when the current revenue is insufficient to meet the necessary costs of operating the state government.

I recommend that 36 million, 125 thousand dollars of this surplus be used for the purchase, by the State, of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds to be issued at par without interest. I further recommend that the balance of the funds for the financing of the Soldiers' Bonus be secured through the issuance of another 36 million, 125 thousand dollars' worth of bonds with interest, to be sold to the highest bidder.

This will secure for this purpose 72 million, 250 thousand dollars of the authorized 85 million dollar bond issue. This leaves 12 million, 750 thousand dollars of bonds to be issued in such lots and at such times as and if the funds are needed.

By this method, we will be obligated to pay interest on 36 million, 125 thousand dollars worth of bonds only. If no further bonds are issued, it means the difference between interest on 85 million and 36 million, and a saving in principal and interest requirements of over three million dollars the first year and a proportionate amount each year thereafter.

After setting aside a Tax Stabilizing Reserve of 40 million dollars, and purchasing 36 million, 125 thousand dollars of Soldiers' Bonus Bonds, our total allocation from surplus would be 76 million, 125 thousand dollars. We will then have a surplus operating balance of approximately 21 million dollars in the General Fund to which I will again refer later in this address.

The Treasurer and Comptroller have estimated that the current revenue for each year of the current biennium will be one hundred million dollars.

The estimated balance of $42,230,292.45 or $21,115,146.22 each year from which balance funds can be supplemented to provide additional funds for road construction in the amount necessary after the Legislature has disposed of additional sources of revenue proposed by the Highway Road Study Committee.

In arriving at the recommendations for maintenance and support, the Comptroller and I have taken into the consideration the funds on which the departments and institutions are now operating. We have provided for the $300 per year "cost of living" increase for employees receiving three thousand dollars or less per year. We have reconciled these figures from allocations approved for the current quarter and with current payrolls. We have also taken into consideration funds which have been allocated to the departments and institutions by the Interim Committee of the Legislature during the past biennium. We have provided $50,000 per annum to cover the reduction of income from GI tuition as estimated by the Board of Education.

In view of the fact that the State Office Building Project was initiated by the Forty-ninth General Assembly in 1941, and has had the support of each succeeding administration and Legislature; and in view of the savings in rentals and the economies and efficiencies in the operation of departments of State Government which can be effected by bringing them into one central building, I recommend that this General Assembly provide the necessary funds to construct the State Office Building.

The present state office building committee has labored diligently and tirelessly, and in a few days will submit their report and current bids on this project to the General Assembly. I urge your most serious consideration of this report.

In conclusion, I would suggest, if it meets with your approval, that we dispose of appropriation matters before we take up the subject of tax revision. Let us first determine our needs, proceeding in an economical and businesslike matter. In doing this, we will be discharging our responsibilities to the people of the state.

There are several matters of policy which must be considered in these budget recommendations—policies which affect the future of the state.

The Comptroller and I will be glad to discuss these matters with your respective committees.

Financial and budget items are subjects of great importance and we are prepared to make them a first order of business in our work with you.

As a former member of both the House and Senate, I wish to assure you of my appreciation of the importance of your work and my desire to cooperate with you at all times.

Governor Beardsley was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has adopted the following concurrent resolution in which the concurrence of the House was asked:

Senate Concurrent Resolution 8 congratulating Hon. Carroll L. Brown, Mahaska county, on his production of the world record yield of corn to the acre.

REPORT OF LEGISLATIVE ADVISORY COMMITTEE ON PROPOSED STATE OFFICE BUILDING

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE:

Pursuant to the provisions of Senate File 25, Acts of the Fifty-third General Assembly, the legislative advisory committee on proposed state office building, begs leave to report as follows:

The committee was organized on May 12, 1947, as provided for in chapter 307, Acts of the Fifty-second General Assembly. Membership consisted of Senators Hart, Sharp and Mercer, Representatives Long, Hedin and Morrissey. Senator Hart was elected chairman, Representative Hedin, vice chairman, and Representative Morrissey, secretary of the committee.

Immediately thereafter, this legislative advisory office building committee met in joint session with the state executive council as were all subsequent meetings. Plans and specifications so far developed for the proposed state office building were discussed at this time and arrangements made for a later meeting in consultation with architects. The second meeting was held on June 18, 1947, at which time Mr. Burdette Higgins of Tinsley, Higgins and Lighter, architect-in-chief, was present and whose architectural services had been previously contracted for on July 8, 1941. After a review of proposed office building plans and the requirements therefor, the architect-in-chief was authorized to revise the plans to add one more story in order to provide the needed accommodations. Other meetings were held on August 26, 1947, and November 18, 1947, when further consideration was given to revision of plans, namely: proposed cafeteria, types of floor system (Robertson or clay tile), fluorescent instead of incandescent lighting, and general discussion of the project. Also careful study was made of the progress of plans preparatory to the advertising for bids on the general contracts.

On March 23, 1948, a meeting was had and final approval was given the up-to-date revised plans for the general contracts, and the secretary of the executive council was authorized to advertise for bids returnable to him for public letting at 10 a. m., May 25, 1948. The date of May 25, 1948, having arrived, the committee in joint session with executive council received the bids on the following branches of the work:

1. General Contract
2. Heating and Plumbing Contract
3. Air Conditioning Contract
4. Electric Wiring Contract
5. Floor and Wall Covering Contract
6. Elevator Contract.

The results of the bidding indicated that in the aggregate they totaled more than the amount of funds presently available. The question was raised as to whether or not the committee could legally award contracts for other than a completed building. An attorney general's opinion was requested. On June 15, 1948, the attorney general ruled that it was the intent of previous legislatures that a completed building be planned, and in view of the fact that total bids for a completed building were in excess of funds appropriated previously, the committee could not legally award contracts.

On June 22, 1948, the joint committee met, and in view of the attorney general's ruling and upon his recommendation, entered into an extension contract agreement with all low bidders to hold open their bids until February 15, 1949, for acceptance or rejection under the same conditions and specifications as set forth in the original notice to bidders instead of the customary thirty days. Agreements were executed with all low bidders except electric wiring and floor and wall covering contractors who declined to do so.

On December 14, 1948, the committee met and authorization was given to re-advertise for bids on electric wiring and floor and wall covering contracts returnable January 18, 1949, at 10 a. m. On this date, bids were opened and examined and following is a tabulation of all low bids pending on all branches of the work adjusted to incorporate the Robertson floor system, and conforming to approved specifications and which bids must be accepted or rejected by February 15, 1949:

1. General Contract	$2,789,526.00
2. Heating and Plumbing Contract.....	268,962.00
3. Air Conditioning Contract.....	469,590.00
4. Electric Wiring Contract.....	474,778.00
5. Floor and Wall Covering Contract.....	90,250.00
6. Elevator Contract	180,928.00
Total Construction Contracts	$4,274,034.00

Because the requirements of the various departments of state to be housed in the proposed office building have not been finally determined, and the additional space provided by the extra story has not been entirely assigned (approximately 16,000 square feet remain unallocated) it was decided bids on the interior movable partitions would not be taken until after general contracts were awarded. Bids on the office furnishing and equipment have also not been taken.

Summarizing, the total low bids plus estimates for completing and furnishing the building and including architects' fees for planning and supervision of construction total approximately $5,000,000.00. There remains an expendable $2,500,000.00 from previous appropriations. There will be required an additional appropriation of $2,500,000.00 if the state office building comes into being.

Respectfully submitted,

Legislative Advisory Committee,
State Office Building.

PHILIP T. HEDIN, Vice Chairman.

EDWARD J. MORRISSEY, Secretary.

SENATOR LEROY S. MERCER.

SENATOR FERN E. SHARP.

REPRESENTATIVE HARVEY J. LONG.

MESSAGE FROM THE HOUSE

The following message was received from the House:

MR. PRESIDENT: I am directed to inform your honorable body that the House has adopted the following resolution in which the concurrence of the Senate is asked:

House Concurrent Resolution 7, memorializing the President of the United States and Congress to take complete action to relieve the suffering in storm-stricken areas of western states.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 7

Whereas, during the past few weeks the severe blizzards in our neighboring western states have caused great losses and suffering inflicted on the livestock.

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That we hereby request that the President of the United States and Congress take immediate action in every way possible to relieve the situation; that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the President of the United States Senate, the Speaker of the House of Representatives and to each Iowa Senator and Member of the House of Representatives in the Congress of the United States.

SENATE RESOLUTION 2

By Fishbaugh

Whereas, the highway investigation committee created by the Fifty-second (52d) General Assembly, has filed its report recommending an extensive program of road building and calling for new and additional taxes; and

Whereas, it is most important that the roads and highways to be constructed should be paid for by the various highway users in proportion to their respective use of the roads and highways in order that justice be done the motorists and others; and

Whereas, there is insufficient information available to the General Assembly at the present time on which it can determine the fair amount of taxation to place on each class of highway users; and

Whereas, the American Automobile Association, at its forty-sixth (46th) annual meeting on November 16, 1948, adopted a resolution calling attention to this problem in the following words:

"INVESTIGATION OF EFFECTS OF VEHICLE WEIGHTS ON PAVEMENT

"The roads of the nation are to a serious extent being prematurely pounded to pieces by the increased frequency of use by heavy vehicles. Such highway damage is becoming a more and more serious problem because of the increasing ratio of heavy commercial vehicles.

"There is continual pressure for increased legal load limits. Overloading continues to be a serious problem.

"The association urges that the public roads administration, in co-operation with the state highway departments, make a comprehensive, impartial scientific investigation of the effects of vehicles of various weights upon the different types of road pavements, to determine what weights present and future pavement can support without premature damage. In conjunction with this scientific investigation, the association urges that the same highway organizations make an economic study of what constitutes equitable sharing in the cost of roads by the benefited classes of highway users." and

Whereas, the joint fact-finding committee on highways, streets and bridges of the California legislature requested their state highway engineer to determine and inform the committee upon the comparative cost to construct:

1. Highways adequate for use by all legal types of vehicles, including heavy trucks and busses;

2. Highways of a design adequate for use by only the lighter vehicles, such as private passenger automobiles and small trucks; and

Whereas, the division of highways of California made such a survey by taking all 105 projects designed and let to contract during the full calendar year of 1947, analyzed each of them upon the basis of actual bid cost as designed for mixed traffic, and then computed corresponding costs for the same projects at the same unit prices but based upon a design considered satisfactory for lighter traffic (private passenger automobiles and small trucks) only; and

Whereas, from such study and analysis, and by applying their finding that heavy trucks and busses generated 45 per cent of the total ton-miles of traffic in their state highway system, they concluded:

1. That highways constructed to accommodate both light and heavy vehicles cost approximately 22.2 per cent more than would be required for highways designed with no extra provision for trucks and busses;

2. That, since 45 per cent of the ton-miles carried by the highways is generated by heavy trucks and busses, such heavy vehicles were responsible for 55 per cent of the total cost of the projects surveyed; and

Whereas, comparable information as to the cost of constructing highways in Iowa should be available to the General Assembly;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate: That the chief engineer of the Iowa state highway commission be requested to determine and inform the Senate upon the comparative cost to construct:

1. Highways adequate for use by all legal types of vehicles, including heavy trucks and busses;

2. Highways of a design adequate for use by only the lighter vehicles, such as private passenger automobiles and small trucks; and that, in arriving at said figures, the said engineer take all projects designed and let to contract during the full calendar year 1948, analyze each of them upon the basis of actual bid cost as designed for mixed traffic, and then compute corresponding cost for these same projects at the same unit prices but based upon a design considered satisfactory for lighter traffic (private passenger automobiles and smaller trucks) only.

Be It Further Resolved, that the chief engineer also be requested to inform the Senate as to the percentage of ton-miles carried by the highways of Iowa which were generated by heavy trucks and busses in 1948, and supply any further information he may have concerning the percentage of use of our highways by the various classes of vehicles operating thereon.

Be It Further Resolved, that said chief engineer be requested to supply a formula, based on the percentage of total cost of construction, the percentage of ton-mile usage, and other relevant factors, to enable the General Assembly to determine what constitutes an equitable sharing in the cost of roads by the various classes of highway users, and to enable it to determine the amount of taxes each such class should pay.

Be It Finally Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to said chief engineer.

SPECIAL PRESENTATION

Senator Mercer asked and received unanimous consent to make the following presentation:

Members of the Senate, I rise to a point of personal privilege. During the next two months this body will consider many topics, most of them vital to the people of Iowa. It will be easy for us, individually, to become so wrapped up in some particular measure dear to our hearts, that at times we may forget that everything must be considered in its broad perspective. Therefore, I remind my colleagues that of all the crops, of all industries, of all the assets which make Iowa great, our greatest endowment is our young people; our boys and girls; our infants.

Speaking of infants, I now address myself to the Senator from Dubuque. Along this line, he has recently done his bit. In short, he has become a father, an act which reflects great credit upon himself, and upon the other members of the Senate.

Mrs. Reilly is likewise entitled to praise. In fact, the Senator from Dubuque gives her ALL the credit.

It is with great pleasure, therefore, that on behalf of the Senate I present this handsome seat for the future senator from Dubuque. It comes through the courtesy of Mr. Paul McGinn, and I might add, is available commercially to those senators who may have in mind following the distinguished example of Senator Reilly. (Should this commercial appear in the Journal, please do so only at regular space rates.)

Please note that this seat is intended for infants. However, you will observe that it straps securely to the wearer. The way politics are going in Iowa, any Senator who feels he may be in danger of losing his seat will be interested in that feature.

Senator Reilly, please accept this handsome token, and with it goes to yourself, your charming and gracious wife and to your family the compliments and best wishes of the Iowa Senate.

Senator Reilly:

On behalf of Jean and James Roger, the honorary page of this Senate, I accept this precious gift and sincerely thank you all.

By Skourup

Whereas, the Fifty-third General Assembly has been confronted by unprecedented askings for appropriations by all departments of state government;

And Whereas, some portion of these increased askings is based upon requests for increase in the pay of public employees, much of which may be entirely deserved;

And Whereas, the General Assembly is confronted not only with the responsibility of seeing that the employees of the state are reasonably compensated for their services, but also with the responsibility of conserving the taxpayers' money and of seeing that no greater appropriations are provided than are necessary to carry out the various functions of government efficiently;

And Whereas, these requests for increased costs of government necessarily give rise to the inquiry as to whether the services to be paid for are, from the public standpoint, worth the increased cost, and whether the number of such employees may not be reduced in order to offset such increased costs by corresponding reductions in personnel, and whether functions of employees of departments may not be combined and consolidated;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

1. That the heads of all state departments prepare and submit to the General Assembly reports relating to the functions of their employees which will reflect:

- a. The total number of such employees;
- b. The total actual hours service performed by each employee for the month of February, 1949;
- c. The length of the work day and week;
- d. The total amount of time taken out by such employees, such as rest periods, or absences from duty;
- e. The total amount of office time during which such employees are not actually engaged in work pertaining to the office;
- f. The number of such employees who are able to perform more than one office function;
- g. The submission of a plan by each department head whereby the functions of his office may be streamlined and the personnel be reduced.

2. That all state employees be invited to submit direct to the General Assembly plans and suggestions whereby the department or office in which such employee is engaged may be operated with greater efficiency, with less personnel, or more economically.

W. J. SCARBOROUGH, Secretary of the Senate.

Senator Skourup called up the following Senate Concurrent Resolution 9 and moved its adoption:

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 9

Whereas, the Fifty-third General Assembly has been confronted by unprecedented askings for appropriations by all departments of state government; and

Whereas, some portion of these increased askings is based upon requests for increase in the pay of public employees, much of which may be entirely deserved; and

Whereas, the General Assembly is confronted not only with the responsibility of seeing that the employees of the state are reasonably compensated for their services, but also with the responsibility of conserving the taxpayers' money and of seeing that no greater appropriations are provided than are necessary to carry out the various functions of government efficiently; and

Whereas, these requests for increased costs of government necessarily give rise to the inquiry as to whether the services to be paid for are, from the public standpoint, worth the increased cost, and whether the number of such employees may not be reduced in order to offset such increased costs by corresponding reductions in personnel, and whether functions of employees of departments may not be combined and consolidated;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring:

1. That the heads of all state departments prepare and submit to the General Assembly reports relating to the functions of their employees which will reflect:

- a. The total number of such employees;
- b. The total actual hours service performed by each employee for the month of February, 1949;
- c. The length of the work day and week;
- d. The total amount of time taken out by such employees, such as rest periods, or absences from duty;
- e. The total amount of office time during which such employees are not actually engaged in work pertaining to the office;
- f. The number of such employees who are able to perform more than one office function;
- g. The submission of a plan by each department head whereby the functions of his office may be streamlined and the personnel be reduced.

2. That all state employees be invited to submit direct to the General Assembly plans and suggestions whereby the department or office in which such employee is engaged may be operated with greater efficiency, with less personnel, or more economically.

The motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

Senator Fishbaugh called up the following resolution and moved its adoption:

SENATE RESOLUTION 2

By Fishbaugh

Whereas, the highway investigation committee created by the Fifty-second (52d) General Assembly has filed its report recommending an extensive program of road building and calling for new and additional taxes; and

Whereas, it is most important that the roads and highways to be constructed should be paid for by the various highway users in proportion to their respective use of the roads and highways in order that justice be done the motorists and others; and

Whereas, there is insufficient information available to the General Assembly at the present time on which it can determine the fair amount of taxation to place on each class of highway users; and

Whereas, the American Automobile Association, at its forty-sixth (46th) annual meeting on November 16, 1948, adopted a resolution calling attention to this problem in the following words:

"INVESTIGATION OF EFFECTS OF VEHICLE WEIGHTS ON PAVEMENT

"The roads of the nation are to a serious extent being prematurely pounded to pieces by the increased frequency of use by heavy vehicles. Such highway damage is becoming a more and more serious problem because of the increasing ratio of heavy commercial vehicles.

"There is continual pressure for increased legal load limits. Overloading continues to be a serious problem.

"The association urges that the public roads administration, in co-operation with the state highway departments, make a comprehensive, impartial scientific investigation of the effects of vehicles of various weights upon the different types of road pavements, to determine what weights present and future pavement can support without premature damage. In conjunction with this scientific investigation, the association urges that the same highway organizations make an economic study of what constitutes equitable sharing in the cost of roads by the benefited classes of highway users." and

Whereas, the joint fact-finding committee on highways, streets and bridges of the California legislature requested their state highway engineer to determine and inform the committee upon the comparative cost to construct:

1. Highways adequate for use by all legal types of vehicles, including heavy trucks and busses;
2. Highways of a design adequate for use by only the lighter vehicles, such as private passenger automobiles and small trucks; and

Whereas, the division of highways of California made such a survey by taking all 105 projects designed and let to contract during the full calendar year of 1947, analyzed each of them upon the basis of actual bid cost as designed for mixed traffic, and then computed corresponding costs for the same projects at the same unit prices but based upon a design considered satisfactory for lighter traffic (private passenger automobiles and small trucks) only; and

Whereas, from such study and analysis, and by applying their finding that heavy trucks and busses generated 45 per cent of the total ton-miles of traffic in their state highway system, they concluded:

1. That highways constructed to accommodate both light and heavy vehicles cost approximately 22.2 per cent more than would be required for highways designed with no extra provision for trucks and busses;

2. That, since 45 per cent of the ton-miles carried by the highways is generated by heavy trucks and busses, such heavy vehicles were responsible for 55 per cent of the total cost of the projects surveyed; and

Whereas, comparable information as to the cost of constructing highways in Iowa should be available to the General Assembly;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate: That the chief engineer of the Iowa state highway commission be requested to determine and inform the Senate upon the comparative cost to construct:

1. Highways adequate for use by all legal types of vehicles, including heavy trucks and busses;

2. Highways of a design adequate for use by only the lighter vehicles, such as private passenger automobiles and small trucks; and that, in arriving at said figures, the said engineer take all projects designed and let to contract during the full calendar year 1948, analyze each of them upon the basis of actual bid cost as designed for mixed traffic, and then compute corresponding cost for these same projects at the same unit prices but based upon a design considered satisfactory for lighter traffic (private passenger automobiles and smaller trucks) only.

Be It Further Resolved, that the chief engineer also be requested to inform the Senate as to the percentage of ton-miles carried by the highways of Iowa which were generated by heavy trucks and busses in 1948, and supply any further information he may have concerning the percentage of use of our highways by the various classes of vehicles operating thereon.

Be It Further Resolved, that said chief engineer be requested to supply a formula, based on the percentage of total cost of construction, the percentage of ton-mile usage, and other relevant factors, to enable the General Assembly to determine what constitutes an equitable sharing in the cost of roads by the various classes of highway users, and to enable it to determine the amount of taxes each such class should pay.

Be It Finally Resolved, that a copy of this resolution be transmitted by the Secretary of the Senate to said chief engineer.

The motion was lost.

in lieu thereof the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point one hundred ten (455.110)"; and by inserting after the comma in line 10 of the title the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point fifty-one (455.51)"; and by striking from line 12 of the title the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point seventy (455.70)"; and by inserting after the word "to" in the next to the last line of the title the words "the construction, maintenance, repairs, improvements, operation and financing of".

Further amend Senate File 18 by striking all of section 22 and by substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 22. Section four hundred fifty-five point one hundred thirty-five (455.135), Code 1946, is amended by striking all of said section and by substituting in lieu thereof the following: 'When any levee or drainage district shall have been established and the improvement constructed, the same shall be at all times under the supervision of the board of supervisors except as otherwise provided for control and management by a board of trustees and it shall be the duty of the board to keep the same in repair. The board at any time on its own motion, without notice, may order done whatever is necessary to restore or maintain a drainage or levee improvement in its original efficiency or capacity, and for that purpose may remove silt and debris, repair any damaged structures, remove weeds and other vegetable growth, and whatever else may be needed to restore or maintain such efficiency or capacity. If in maintaining and repairing tile lines the board finds from the engineer's report it is more economical to construct a new line than to repair the existing line, such new line may be considered to be a repair.

"In the case of minor repairs not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00) where the board finds that the same will result in a saving to the district it may cause the same to be done by secondary road equipment and labor of the county and then reimburse the secondary road maintenance fund from the drainage district fund thus benefited.

"When the board deems it necessary it may repair or reconstruct the outlet of any private tile line which empties into a drainage ditch of any drainage district and assess the costs in each case against the land served by the private line.

"When the board determines that improvements, which differ from the repairs referred to in the preceding paragraphs, are necessary or desirable, it may appoint an engineer to make such surveys as seem appropriate to determine the nature and extent of such improvements, and to file a report showing what improvements are recommended and their estimated costs, which report may be amended before final action. Such improvements may include enlarging, reopening, widening, deepening, straightening or lengthening any drain, changing its location or improving or enlarging the outlet for better service; converting all or any part of any drain from an open ditch to a closed drain; installing surface pipe for open ditches; enlarging, altering, or improving pumping plants; leveling spoil banks, or constructing settling basins. If the estimated cost of the improvements does not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the original cost of the district, the board may order the work done without notice. The board shall not divide proposed improvements into separate programs in order to avoid the twenty-five per cent (25%) limitation herein fixed for making improvements without notice. If the board deems it desirable to make improvements where the estimated cost exceeds twenty-five per cent (25%) of the original total cost of the district, it shall set a date for a hearing on the matter of constructing such improvements and also on the matter of whether there shall be a reclassification of benefits for the cost of such improvements, and shall give notice as provided in section four hundred fifty-five point twenty (455.20) to section four hundred fifty-five point twenty-four (455.24), inclusive, Code 1946. At such hearing the board shall hear objections to the feasibility of such improvements and such arguments for or against a reclassification as may be presented by or for any taxpayer of the district. Following the hearing the board shall order made such improvements as it deems desirable and feasible, and shall also determine whether there should be a reclassification of benefits for the cost of such improvement. If it is determined that such reclassification of benefits should be made the board shall proceed as provided in section four hundred fifty-five point forty-five (455.45), Code 1946. Any interested party shall have the right of appeal from such orders in the manner provided in this chapter. Provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not affect the procedures of section four hundred fifty-five point one hundred forty-two (455.142) covering the common outlet.

"Where under the laws in force prior to 1904, drainage ditches and levees were established and constructed without fixing at the time of establishment a definite boundary line for the body of land to be assessed for the cost thereof, the body of land which was last assessed to pay for the repair thereof shall also be considered as the established district for the purpose of this section.'"

Further amend Senate File 18, section 6, by striking from lines 1 and 2 the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point ten (455.10)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point one hundred ten (455.110)"; and by adding to said section 6 a new paragraph as follows: "All of the provisions of this section shall, when applicable, apply to repair work and improvement work in the same force and effect as to original construction."

Senator Augustine graciously expressed his appreciation.

The Senate resumed consideration of Senate File 222 and the amendment offered thereto.

Senator Benson asked and received unanimous consent to have the following printed in the Journal:

MR. PRESIDENT: As a matter of record, I explain my reason for supporting the Faul, et al., amendment to Senate File 222, which proposes to pay $72,250,000 of soldiers' bonus out of state surplus funds. This record I submit because, after having served on the committee which drew up the bonus bill in the Fifty-second General Assembly and having discussed it with many people since that time, I have been convinced that neither the legislature or the people of Iowa intended to pay the bonus with a property tax levy.

The vote for a property levy was made with the understanding that, if no other funds were available, then a property tax levy would be the ultimate constitutional means. I believe that there are funds available as shown by the Governor's budget message given on pages 131, 132 and 133 of Senate Journal of this Fifty-third General Assembly for paying the bonus out of surplus funds as submitted herewith.

TRIBUTE TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Senator Henningsen asked and received unanimous consent to present the following tribute to Abraham Lincoln which appeared in the official magazine of the Fraternal Order of Eagles of which a member of this Senate, the Honorable De Vere Watson, is national president:

ABE LINCOLN: HUMAN ENGINEER

Chances are that you like Abe Lincoln. You like him because you know that he would have liked you.

You can almost see the tall man coming toward you, and hear him say, "Howdy, partner. Let's be friends. We are not strangers, but friends. We must not be strangers. You and I belong together."

Nowadays, we'd call this human quality of the man Lincoln a matter of human relations. But, somehow, human relations has become a slick phrase, connoting high powered selling techniques and words without performance.

Actually, human relations isn't that at all. It's as simple as our learning to know ourselves and understand those about us—learning how to live and let others live.

It's young Lincoln, grasping the two horns of a quarrelsome goat, saying slowly:

"Now-there-isn't-any-good-reason-why-you-should-want-to-harm-me-and-there-isn't-any-good-reason-why-I-should-want-to-harm-you. The-world-is-big-enough-for-both-of-us-to-live-in. If-you-behave-yourself-as-you-ought-to-and-if-I-behave-myself-as-I-ought-to-we'll-get-along-without-a-cross-word-or-action-and-we'll-live-in-harmony-like-good-neighbors."

Or candidate Lincoln, answering the hate campaign of the Know Nothing Party, by telling the story of the Irishman who was asked why he had not been born in this country. "Faith," answered Pat, "and I wanted to, but me mither wouldn't let me."

Or President Lincoln, writing to the Secretary of War about an Army deserter, "If you haven't shot Barney, don't."

Even in the midst of a tragic war between the states, harrassed by critics on every hand, Lincoln never lost his faith in people. He liked plain folks. That's why plain folks liked him, and always will.

You and I best serve his memory by helping those around us to be partners with us in this experiment of free and democratic living. That includes the ashman who comes to the rear door as well as the postman who comes to the front door.

All we have to remember is that a smile and a friendly greeting and a little understanding of the other fellow is the cement that holds a democratic society together. Without a sense of partnership in a common enterprise, democracy cannot long endure.

Lincoln knew that. Lincoln said it. Lincoln believed it. Lincoln lived it. Even when it was not easy for him to do so.

Carl Sandburg tells of the time that lawyer Lincoln went to Cincinnati for a lawsuit involving the McCormack Reaper Company.

When Lincoln entered the lobby of the old Gibson House, a fat, florid faced fellow looked up at him and asked, "Where did that long armed baboon come from?" Later, the same fellow said of Lincoln, "I wouldn't associate with a gawky, long armed ape as that."

This man turned out to be the head attorney on Lincoln's side of the case. Young Abe got no chance to make an argument to the court. Weeks of hard work wasted, he went back to Illinois.

But, when Lincoln became President of the United States, he picked that same fat, florid faced Cincinnati lawyer to be a member of his cabinet. For that sharp tongued lawyer was Edwin M. Stanton, the man who lived to say, when Lincoln died, "Now he belongs to the ages."

Narrow men pay their debts in the coin of bitterness.

Lincoln paid his debts in the coin of understanding. That is his great lesson for our country and our times.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention in accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 9 duly adopted.

The Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the sergeant-at-arms.

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted the joint convention was called to order, President Evans presiding.

President Evans announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Bekman moved that a committee of three consisting of one member from the Senate and two members from the House be appointed to notify Mr. Petersen that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senator Beckman on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Schwengel and Norland on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Mr. Petersen and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Mr. William J. Petersen, superintendent of the Iowa Historical Society, Iowa City, who delivered the following Lincoln's Day memorial address:

On February 12, all Iowans will unite to pay their respects to Abraham Lincoln, a man whom many consider the greatest American this nation has produced. It is fitting that the Fifty-third General Assembly should pause in its deliberations to honor Lincoln, for in doing so it is but following the precedent of the Thirty-third General Assembly which forty years ago passed a law making Lincoln's birthday a legal holiday in Iowa. This was back in 1909 when the nation was celebrating the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth. It is interesting to note that this act was the first bill adopted by the Thirty-third General Assembly, the first measure to reach Governor Beryl F. Carroll's desk, and the first to receive his signature.

It is indeed appropriate that the lawmakers of this state should observe Lincoln's birthday, for Lincoln himself was both a lawmaker and a lawyer. Actually Lincoln was elected to the Illinois legislature at the age of twenty-five, three years before he was admitted to the bar. Only one member of this Fifty-third General Assembly is as young as Abe Lincoln was when he entered the Illinois legislature in 1834.

As a young man Lincoln was introduced by sheer accident to Blackstone's Commentaries. He soon developed a deep respect for the majesty of the law. Years later he declared: "Let reverence for the laws be breathed by every American mother to her lisping babe; let it be taught in schools and in colleges; let it be written in primers, spelling books and in almanacs; let it be preached from the pulpit, proclaimed in legislative halls, and enforced in courts of justice. Let it become the political religion of the nation; and let old and young, rich and poor, grave and gay sacrifice unceasingly on its altars."

Most Iowans are fairly familiar with the life of Lincoln. A few of them (and they are widely scattered throughout the state) have become ardent Lincoln students. Foremost among these is Judge James W. Bollinger of Davenport, who has willed his collection of 3,500 Lincoln books to the State University of Iowa. The Bollinger library (valued at more than $50,000) is not only the finest collection of Lincolniana in Iowa, but is unquestionably the best private Lincoln collection in the United States. Lincoln collectors in Iowa have done much to perpetuate the memory of our first martyred President.

This is as it should be for the life of Lincoln can be associated with many phases of Iowa history. Throughout the nation students of state and local history have been eager to link the immortal Lincoln with their own region. Kentucky prides herself as his birthplace. Indiana is equally proud that he spent fourteen years in the Hoosier state before reaching his majority. Illinois proudly claims him as a citizen whose thirty years at New Salem and Springfield groomed him for the presidency. Between 1861 and 1865 the spotlight was focused on Lincoln in the White House: directing the war as commander-in-chief, ably guiding his party through the maze of partisan politics bogging down the war effort, and conducting American diplomacy in a highly successful manner.

Although the Great Emancipator never lived in Iowa, he did own land in the Hawkeye state, and made decisions of far-reaching effect on its history. He was intimately acquainted with many Iowans, visited the state on several occasions, spoke at Burlington and Council Bluffs, appointed one Iowan to the President's cabinet, and another to the United States supreme court. Lincoln's only living son married the daughter of James Harlan of Mount Pleasant. Finally, it should be pointed out that Iowa strongly supported Lincoln in both presidential elections; and that her military contributions to the Civil War were brave, generous and wholehearted. When the hand of the assassin laid the Great Emancipator low just one week after Lee's surrender at Appomattox, the people of Iowa deeply mourned his loss.

Before discussing more fully Lincoln's intimate associations with Iowa it may be well to point out that the history of the Hawkeye state contains certain interesting parallels with the life of Lincoln. For example, he was born in Kentucky in 1809, one year after the first American fort in Iowa was erected on the site of modern Fort Madison. The Lincoln family moved to Indiana in 1816, the very year that Fort Armstrong and Fort Crawford were erected on the eastern bank of the Mississippi opposite present-day Davenport and McGregor. Lincoln reached his majority and removed to Illinois in 1830, the same year that a group of sturdy lead miners drew up the Miners' Compact at what is now Dubuque. During the Black Hawk War, Lincoln served as captain in the Fourth Illinois Volunteer Infantry and thus witnessed the dramatic events leading to the first permanent cession of Iowa land by the red man.

Lincoln was appointed postmaster at New Salem in May of 1833, a fortnight before permanent white settlement began in the Black Hawk Purchase. While Lincoln was delivering mail out of his tall hat at New Salem, Postmaster Antoine Le Claire brought his letters to Davenport in his coat-tails.

Lincoln began his eight-year legislative career at Vandalia in 1834, the same year Iowa was attached to Michigan Territory. When the capital of Illinois was moved to Springfield in 1837, Lincoln chose that city as his home, serving as a legislator in the new building designed by John Francis Rague, who two years later designed the Old Stone Capital at Iowa City. Rague, incidentally, knew Stephen A. Douglas and Mary Todd, and is said to have groomed Abe Lincoln for a dance.

So much for the chronology of Iowa history as it can be woven into the Lincoln story. Let us turn now to the more intimate associations he had with the story of Iowa, discussing him first as a landowner. In 1850 and again in 1855, Congress passed laws granting bounties of land to persons who had rendered services in the armies of the United States. Lincoln, having served in the Black Hawk War, was granted three land warrants. He selected two of these land warrants in Iowa, striking testimony of his high regard for the future prospects of the Hawkeye state. The first Iowa land allotted him was a forty-acre tract in Tama county, fourteen miles northwest of Toledo. It was improved land worth $10 per acre when Lincoln acquired it, and the taxes were only $1.60 in 1858. The warrant was issued to him on April 16, 1852, and the patent granted on June 1, 1855. After Lincoln's death this property was sold by his heirs.

His second Iowa military land warrant was a 120-acre tract in Crawford county, eight miles northwest of Denison. This land was sold by his son, Robert Todd Lincoln, in 1892 for $1,300. In 1923, the Denison chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution erected a boulder and copper plate upon this land as a reminder that it was once owned by Abraham Lincoln.

In addition to his two military land warrants, Lincoln acquired certain lots and small parcels of land in and near Council Bluffs from Norman B. Judd in 1859. These lots were held by Lincoln at the time of his death, and in 1867 the Lincoln heirs reconveyed them to Mr. Judd.

Next let us turn to Lincoln as an able railroad lawyer, whose services were much in demand by such corporations as the Illinois Central and the Rock Island railroads. One of his most famous railroad cases deals with the wreck of the steamboat Effie Afton on the Rock Island bridge in 1856. Although there is no evidence that Lincoln visited Iowa on the occasion of his defense of the bridge company against the steamboat interests in 1857, the importance of his contribution to Iowa history, to railroad history, and, indeed, to the westward movement can scarcely be over-emphasized. The story briefly runs as follows:

On February 22, 1854, the iron horse of the Rock Island railroad reached the Mississippi opposite Davenport—the first railroad to link the Father of Waters with the Atlantic. Anxious to gain easy access to the fertile prairies of Iowa, a bridge was completed between Rock Island and Davenport in April, 1856, despite the strong opposition of Secretary of War Jefferson Davis who favored the southern route. On May 6 the steamboat Effie Afton, while attempting to go through the Illinois side of the drawbridge, smashed against the pier, caught on fire, and was completely destroyed. The flames also consumed the wooden span east of the drawbridge putting the bridge out of commission fully four months. The steamboat owners promptly brought suit against the bridge company and the case was tried in the United States circuit court in Chicago in September, 1857. During the voluminous testimony bitter feelings were exhibited on both sides.

Lincoln himself remained calm throughout the bitter trial. According to the original report in the Chicago Daily Press of September 24, 1857, Lincoln stated that he expected "to grow earnest as he proceeded but not ill-natured. . . . The last thing that would be pleasing to him," he assured the jury, "would be to have one of these great channels, extending almost from where it never freezes to where it never thaws, blocked up. But there is a travel from east to west," he pointed out, "whose demands are not less important than that of the river. It is growing larger and larger, building up new countries with a rapidity never before seen in the history of the world." He alluded to the astonishing growth of Illinois, having grown within his memory to a population of a million and a half; to Iowa and the other young and rising communities of the northwest.

Railroad travel, Lincoln asserted, had its rights, just as much as steamboat travel. If the Mississippi had not acquired its advantage in "priority and legislation," Lincoln contended, the railroad could enter into "free competition" with it and readily surpass it. By way of illustration, Lincoln pointed to the 12,586 freight cars and 74,179 passengers that had passed over the Rock Island bridge in eleven months. "This shows," Lincoln concluded, "that this bridge must be treated with respect in this court and is not to be kicked about with contempt."

Lincoln made a second important contribution to the history of railroading in Iowa and America when, as President of the United States, he was confronted with the problem of locating the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific.

While stopping at Council Bluffs in 1859, he had met Grenville M. Dodge, who had just completed extensive railroad surveys west of the Missouri for the Rock Island railroad. Lincoln remembered this visit when Congress passed the act providing for a transcontinental railroad and promptly called General Dodge to the White House for a conference. These two conferences with Grenville M. Dodge, more perhaps than anything else, fixed Council Bluffs as the eastern terminus of the Union Pacific. A memorial to Lincoln has been erected on the bluff overlooking the Missouri river, where he and his Iowa friends stood in 1859 and looked westward over the great plains of Nebraska.

The remainder of Lincoln's intimate associations with Iowa are concerned with his political and presidential years. He was elected a United States representative the same year Iowa achieved statehood, but served only one term. During the 1850's, he joined the Republican party in Illinois. This threw him into close contact with James W. Grimes—the father of the Republican party in Iowa—who had been elected Whig Governor of the Hawkeye state in 1854. Both men campaigned for election to the United States Senate in 1858: Grimes winning the coveted office in Iowa while Lincoln lost it to Stephen A. Douglas in Illinois.

During the heat of the famous Lincoln-Douglas debates, Abraham Lincoln crossed the Mississippi to deliver an address in Burlington. Clark Dunham, editor of the Burlington Hawk-Eye and an ardent Lincoln admirer, made the following comment on Lincoln's oration:

"Grimes' Hall was filled to its full capacity. . . . So great is the sympathy felt here in the spirited canvass in Illinois, and so high is the opinion entertained of the ability of Mr. Lincoln as a speaker that a very short notice brought together from twelve to fifteen hundred ladies and gentlemen.

"High, however, as was the public expectation, and much as was anticipated, he, in his address of two hours, fully came up to the standard that had been erected. It was a logical discourse, replete with sound arguments, clear, concise and vigorous, earnest, impassioned and eloquent. Those who heard recognized in him a man fully able to cope with the little giant anywhere, and altogether worthy to succeed him.

"We regret exceedingly that it is not in our power to report his speech in full this morning. We know that we could have rendered no more acceptable service to our readers. But it is not in our power.

"Mr. Lincoln appeared Saturday evening fresh and vigorous, there was nothing in his voice, manner or appearance to show the arduous labors of the last two months—nothing to show that immense labors of the canvass had worn upon him in the least. In this respect he has altogether the advantage of Douglas, whose voice is cracked and husky, temper soured and general appearance denoting exhaustion."

The only other speech that Lincoln is known to have made in Iowa was at Council Bluffs on the occasion of his flying trip out west in the summer of 1859. It attracted a good crowd, even though it was unscheduled, and it elicited conflicting reactions from the Republican and Democratic editors of Council Bluffs. The friendly Nonpareil praised his "masterly and unanswerable speech" and the "dexterity with which he applied the political scalpel to the Democratic carcass." The Weekly Bugle spoke in a derisive vein of Lincoln's effort, but admitted that his defeat by Senator Douglas had "magnified him into quite a lion" at Council Bluffs.

Because of his reputation as an orator and party leader, Lincoln had other invitations to speak in Iowa, but unfortunately was forced to decline them. As early as 1844 he had been invited to appear at Burlington but was unable to come.

In the summer of 1856 Governor James W. Grimes desired him to be present at a Republican rally in Burlington, but Lincoln wrote he could not spare the time and, in any case, was "superstitious about calling in foreign help from neighboring states on the eve of an election." However, if the opposition had imported a "foreigner," Lincoln stated he had "no objection to drive a nail in his track." An invitation to "strike hands with the Fremonters of Iowa" at Muscatine in September of 1856 was declined because of the hard work still remaining before the Republicans in Illinois.

In August of 1857 Lincoln wrote Governor Grimes that he was "altogether too poor" to make the trip to Iowa from Chicago, where he was busily engaged as defense attorney for the Rock Island Bridge Company. To Hawkins Taylor of Keokuk he wrote in 1859: "It is bad to be poor. . . . I shall go to the wall for bread and meat if I neglect my business this year as well as last. . . . It would please me to see the city and good people of Keokuk, but for this year it is little less than an impossibility. . . . I do hope you will have no serious troubles in Iowa. What thinks Grimes about it? I have not known him to be mistaken about an election in Iowa." Two days after Lincoln wrote the above letter John A. Kasson urged him to visit the Iowa state fair at Oskaloosa, but the busy Illinois lawyer had gone to Ohio and was unable to comply.

In the harrowing Civil War days that followed, Iowa gave unwavering support to Abraham Lincoln. By 1860 the Hawkeye state was strongly Republican in politics, having elected Samuel J. Kirkwood Governor and having dispatched James Harlan to the United States Senate. The state was equally strong in supporting Lincoln in the four-cornered presidential campaign of 1860—Lincoln received 70,409 out of a total of 128,331 votes cast, or 54.8 per cent of the total. In the election of 1864, despite the war-weariness of a home front numbed by heavy losses, Iowans gave him even stronger support—89,075 of the 138,671 votes cast were for Lincoln—or 64.2 per cent. Perhaps the most striking endorsement of Lincoln came from Iowa soldiers who cast 15,178 votes for "Honest Abe" compared with 1,364 votes for General George McClellan. Surely no commander-in-chief has ever received a warmer support from his fighting forces than did Abraham Lincoln in this eleven to one vote of confidence by Iowa soldiers during the campaign of 1864.

And it was not merely at the ballot box that Iowa supported Lincoln. Fully 78,059 men out of a population of 674,913 donned the Federal blue to "Preserve the Union." This represented half of the able-bodied men in Iowa. It was a greater number of soldiers than Washington had commanded in his armies during the American Revolution. It represented a higher percentage of the total population than in World War I or World War II. The contribution is even more significant when one considers the handicaps of Iowa on the home front, since the mechanization of agriculture was just in its infancy in 1861.

If Iowans admired and supported Lincoln, the Great Emancipator was equally mindful of the fine citizens dwelling in the Hawkeye state. He appointed James Harlan of Mount Pleasant as his secretary of the interior and subsequently Samuel Freeman Miller of Keokuk to the United States supreme court. He invited Annie Turner Wittenmyer of Keokuk to the White House, and together they laid the foundations of the Diet Kitchens that saved many a soldier's life during the Civil War. His only surviving son, Robert Todd Lincoln, married the daughter of James Harlan, and the Harlan-Lincoln Home at Mount Pleasant (where Robert T. and Mary Harlan Lincoln once lived) is one of Iowa's most prized historic possessions.

When the nation and the world honored the one hundredth anniversary of Lincoln's birth in 1909, the eyes of Iowa were naturally focused on the ceremonies at Hodgenville, Kentucky, where President Theodore Roosevelt laid the cornerstone of the beautiful marble structure that houses the log cabin in which Lincoln was born and where he lived the first two years of his life. The exercises at Springfield, Illinois, shared honors with the Hodgenville ceremonies, for three nations paid tribute to Lincoln at Springfield—England was represented by Ambassador James Bryce, France by her Ambassador, Jules Jusserand, and the United States by William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska and Senator Jonathan P. Dolliver of Iowa. Dolliver was chosen to lay the American wreath at Lincoln's feet. Before 850 members of the Lincoln Centennial Association the silver-tongued orator from Iowa spoke on "Our Heroic Age," referring to that time when Lincoln and the statesmen who stood by his side walked without despair into the "chaos of civil strife," fought "the way of the nation through it, to lift up a spotless flag above it and, in the midst of the flame and the smoke of battle," created a true United States of America.

Since 1909 the state of Iowa has faithfully cherished the birthday of Abraham Lincoln. It is well that we do so, for in the life of the "Great Emancipator" we have mirrored those qualities which have made Iowa and America great. Lincoln the railsplitter; Lincoln the flatboatman; Lincoln the surveyor; Lincoln the Indian fighter; Lincoln the storekeeper and postmaster; Lincoln the circuit-riding country lawyer and stump-speaking prairie politician—truly here was a man with experiences that could be understood by thousands of those sturdy Iowa pioneers engaged in transforming a vast wilderness into the richest agricultural state in the Union.

On February 12, 1909, "Ding" Darling drew a Lincoln cartoon entitled "The Guiding Star of the Republic." In it, "Ding" showed Uncle Sam, backed by Columbia, standing at the pilot wheel guiding the "Ship of State" toward the ever-beckoning profile of Lincoln, blazing resplendently in the starry firmament. Today that "Guiding Star" still shines brightly in the minds of Iowans.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Senator Elthon of Worth moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President Evans presiding.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senator Berg on the part of the Senate and Representatives Palmer and Hicklin on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Mr. Perry Brown and his official party and escorted them to the Speaker's station.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Mr. Perry

Brown, national commander of the American Legion, who addressed the members of the Fifty-third General Assembly:

MR. PRESIDENT, MR. SPEAKER AND MEMBERS OF THE FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF IOWA:

For the first time in history, our people realize the need for an armed force in peacetime. We've always been against it. Many of our forefathers came to this country seeking relief from oppression that military power brought down on them in their native lands. We hoped and believed that at last we had a civilized world in which arms-bearing would not be necessary.

In the face of facts to the contrary, the pacifist attempts to buy his fighting done. He wants to hire volunteers to do the job. Put the responsibility on the other fellow. Let George do it.

The big problem is what kind of an armed force we should have. Now where shall we turn for advice? To the pacifist? Let's see if there aren't better sources.

In 1944, the Congress established in the House of Representatives a Select Committee on Postwar Military Policy composed of members from the military and naval affairs committees and other congressional groups. Intensive study was made to determine the thinking of the nation at large, so that a policy having united support might be determined. Included in the committee's recommendations were the following, and I quote: "The retention by the United States of a degree of military power, in being or in reserve, adequate to her needs depends upon several component factors, an indispensable one of which is an alert and trained citizenry capable of prompt mobilization to meet and deal with any national or international emergency. It is not feasible to rest the future security of the United States upon a large standing armed force; its cost would be prohibitive, the necessary men to fill its ranks could not be hired in time of peace, and it would be repugnant to the American people."

So spoke the Congress in 1945, while the worst of wars still raged. In view of the struggle going on now to keep the cost of a huge professional force within the ability of the people to pay, doesn't that counsel stand up as prophecy?

How about the executive branch of government? What has it had to say?

The first President of the United States addressed the nation in these words: "It may be laid down as a primary position, and the basis of our system, that every citizen who enjoys the protection of a free government owes not only a portion of his property, but even of his personal services to the defense of it." George Washington insisted on trained citizen-soldiers as the foundation for national defense with a regular force just large enough (I quote) "to protect our trade, prevent the encroachment of our neighbors . . . and guard us at least from surprises."

The thirty-second, and present, President has gone to Congress three times asking that Washington's concept of the citizen-soldier be applied through a program of universal military training. And twice, he went for that specific purpose alone.

Now for the nation's civilian leaders. How do they stand?

The Compton Commission was made up of recognized leaders in every walk of civilian life. They decided unanimously in favor of the small professional—large reserve ratio for the military establishment. And more recently, the Hoover Commission seconded the motion.

And then we turn to the armed forces themselves. What advice do we find there? In 1945, General George C. Marshall said that no member of the regular services should do a job that could be done as effectively and on time by a citizen-soldier. He, and General Eisenhower after him, laid down the same prescription for a peacetime defense program depending largely on a well-trained civilian reserve. Certainly, the thinking of the foremost military men of our generation, on whom we relied for leadership in war, is worth consideration.

From all of these recommendations, we can draw only one logical conclusion. Our armed forces of the future must be built around civilian components made more effective through universal military training.

And yet, what have we today?

We have a huge military and naval establishment costing more than one-third of the total federal budget and keeping more than a million and a half of our young men under arms full time. To attract volunteers for this force, we are paying the peacetime soldier half again as much as his opposite number drew in wartime. And as a further persuader, we are holding over the heads of all our youth a selective service program that is neither democratic nor realistic.

Last March, the President was told of a crisis that had arisen in Berlin and which could be dealt with only through a great rearmament program based on revival of Selective Service. Looking back, we see it wasn't a crisis but an incident of which many more can follow. Are we going to make a habit of saddling ourselves with new obligations and new debts every time one of these incidents occurs? Or shall we plan now for one consistent defense program based on strong reserve components that will enable us to take these incidents in stride?

When you consider the strength of our reserves today, compared with the regulars, you have to question whether the professionals are acting in genuine good faith towards the citizen-soldier. In each of the last three years, they were given large funds to use in expanding the reserves. And each year, they managed to divert a considerable portion of these moneys to other purposes within their own establishment. This is nothing new. Since the beginning of the nation, the citizen-soldier has never been given a fair share of federal appropriations. He's had to take what's left. Isn't there some way of making sure the funds Congress authorizes for the civilian components are used by them? Why not have a representative of the reserves sitting with the Secretary of Defense on a level with the Secretaries of Army, Navy and Air—a man who understands that side of defense and will fight for its proper place?

There's another soft spot on the program we have today. I am told there has been pretty stiff competition among Army and Navy and Air for the tax dollar—that each service goes on the premise that its programs and its wants are all-essential. The fact that they went to the President with budget requests totaling some 25 billion dollars for 1949 would seem to point that way.

Now this approach might be acceptable, if the nation could afford three different security programs, but it can't. It can afford only one. What we must keep in mind is that the career soldier is not an economist. He's not experienced in finding the most economical way of doing things. As the Hoover Commission points out—through no fault of his own, he tends to avoid compromise, to follow a fixed and rigid pattern of thinking that isn't easily adjusted to changing conditions. Isn't it about time we take these limitations into account in our relationship with these fellows? After all, they are honest and sincere and as interested in doing right by their country as the rest of us. Wouldn't it be to everyone's advantage for the Congress to insist on a reasonable and realistic accounting for the checks it is asked to write?

If we are ever to build the kind of armed force Washington described as most democratic and least expensive, UMT is a must. Only through some form of universal training can the civilian reserves be strengthened and the regular forces pared down.

You will remember that in 1944 we went to Congress and asked for such a program. We were told to go back to the people and get them to understand and support us. We did that, and the people gave us a few very simple ideas. They asked that the program be headed by a civilian administration and adapted to the needs and habits of the young men of 18. They wanted the basic training to be intensive, so as to cause the least interference with his education. And they wanted the advanced training applied in some component of the armed forces and the trainee given the right of choice as to what form his advance training could take.

We have been many years gathering this information and fitting it into one over-all plan. That plan has been presented to Congress in legislative form and is awaiting action now in the armed services committee of each house.

The objections to it are, principally, two in number. It is said, first, that UMT would require taking some 250,000 members from the regular armed forces to run it, and, secondly, that it costs too much.

Let's see what could be done by using what we have. In every state there are camp sites which would provide all the housing and training facilities the program needs. If we accept the estimate of 250,000 regulars with five thousand dollars as an average of the annual pay received by each, that would add up to a million and a quarter dollars per year for administrative overhead. Why not eliminate that expense? At the present time, a large number of regulars are assigned to the reserve components. Let them take care of the administrative jobs. Our complement of officers could come from the National Guard and the Reserves and the teachers who previously served in the armed forces. For instructors we could turn to the college students taking R.O.T.C. and let this instruction be a requirement for commissioning in the Reserves. And then we have the UMT graduates, themselves. Why couldn't teaching others what they had learned to be a part of their reserve duties?

Why not reverse this business of the armed forces telling Congress how much money should be spent? Let Congress set a ceiling for the entire UMT program and say to the people in charge: Now you make your program fit our figure. It's amazing what can be done when a line is drawn and you know you can't cross it.

Is this program perfect? Of course not. But it represents the composite thinking of the people of this nation who want a defense system that guarantees economic and moral, as well as military, security. What we need now after all these years of debating and doubting and doing nothing is a concrete first step in that direction, and the Congress alone can take it. Why not establish the civilian commission and give it a chance to show whether there isn't a sound solution for this problem of security that has been kicked around so long. Wouldn't that be the democratic way?

After all, the Constitution charges Congress with full responsibility for national defense. Our entire system of government is premised on the enactment of legislation expressing the will and having the support of the majority of our people. In the case of UMT, I believe the majority is too great and the issue too vital for the Congress to put off a decision.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Leeka of Fremont moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The Senate returned to the the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President Evans presiding.

IN MEMORIAM

President Evans recognized Senator McMurry who made the following presentation:

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE SENATE: Today we celebrate the birthday of George Washington, an event which occurred 217 years ago. Because of this event, February is marked as significant to all Americans. Washington came to the aid of this nation at a very critical period in its history, a time at the beginning of nationhood when our principles of freedom, equality and enterprise were firmly established. We think of Washington as being a gentleman, a scholar, a soldier, and a wise president and nobly disinterested in all he did. His interests were exhaustive and a study of his life will reveal fundamentals in all types of activities close to our hearts in Iowa and throughout the nation. In affairs of state he excelled and stood right through adversity and temptation. Let no evil genius try to turn Washington from the right as he saw it. Over Washington, no one had power except truth, justice and right.

As we pause to commemorate his birthday, confronted as we are with the tasks of our day, let us emulate his patriotism, his fidelity to truth and justice and to God. It is, therefore, fitting and proper, Mr. President, that on this day you be presented with a token taken directly from his handiwork in his close association with nature, and I am, therefore, happy at this time to present to you Mr. Victor Lindquist, of Chariton, Lucas county, Iowa, who will present to you a gift, the product of his own labors.

MR. PRESIDENT: Through the kindness of Congressman Karl M. LeCompte, I was given a block of wood from an elm tree planted by George Washington on the capitol grounds in Washington.

I think it entirely fitting that a gavel from this block of wood be presented to the President of the Senate on this, the birthday of the father of our country.

With a feeling of reverence I have carved from this block of wood two gavels, one for the President of the Senate and one for the Speaker of the House, and it gives me great pleasure to present to you now this gavel made from the last remaining tree planted by the father of our country.

* * * * *

President Evans expressed his grateful appreciation.

Further amend Senate File 18 by striking all of section 22 and by substituting in lieu thereof the following:

"Sec. 22. Section four hundred fifty-five point one hundred thirty-five (455.135), Code 1946, is amended by striking all of said section and by substituting in lieu thereof the following: 'When any levee or drainage district shall have been established and the improvement constructed, the same shall be at all times under the supervision of the board of supervisors except as otherwise provided for control and management by a board of trustees and it shall be the duty of the board to keep the same in repair. The board at any time on its own motion, without notice, may order done whatever is necessary to restore or maintain a drainage or levee improvement in its original efficiency or capacity, and for that purpose may remove silt and debris, repair any damaged structures, remove weeds and other vegetable growth, and whatever else may be needed to restore or maintain such efficiency or capacity. If in maintaining and repairing tile lines the board finds from the engineer's report it is more economical to construct a new line than to repair the existing line, such new line may be considered to be a repair.

"In the case of minor repairs not in excess of five hundred dollars ($500.00) where the board finds that the same will result in a saving to the district it may cause the same to be done by secondary road equipment and labor of the county and then reimburse the secondary road maintenance fund from the drainage district fund thus benefited.

"When the board deems it necessary it may repair or reconstruct the outlet of any private tile line which empties into a drainage ditch of any drainage district and assess the costs in each case against the land served by the private line.

"When the board determines that improvements, which differ from the repairs referred to in the preceding paragraphs, are necessary or desirable, it may appoint an engineer to make such surveys as seem appropriate to determine the nature and extent of such improvements, and to file a report showing what improvements are recommended and their estimated costs, which report may be amended before final action. Such improvements may include enlarging, reopening, widening, deepening, straightening or lengthening any drain, changing its location or improving or enlarging the outlet for better service; converting all or any part of any drain from an open ditch to a closed drain; installing surface pipe for open ditches; enlarging, altering, or improving pumping plants; leveling spoil banks, or constructing settling basins. If the estimated cost of the improvements does not exceed twenty-five per cent (25%) of the original cost of the district, the board may order the work done without notice. The board shall not divide proposed improvements into separate programs in order to avoid the twenty-five per cent (25%) limitation herein fixed for making improvements without notice. If the board deems it desirable to make improvements where the estimated cost exceeds twenty-five per cent (25%) of the original total cost of the district, it shall set a date for a hearing on the matter of constructing such improvements and also on the matter of whether there shall be a reclassification of benefits for the cost of such improvements, and shall give notice as provided in section four hundred fifty-five point twenty (455.20) to section four hundred fifty-five point twenty-four (455.24), inclusive, Code 1946. At such hearing the board shall hear objections to the feasibility of such improvements and such arguments for or against a reclassification as may be presented by or for any taxpayer of the district. Following the hearing the board shall order made such improvements as it deems desirable and feasible, and shall also determine whether there should be a reclassification of benefits for the cost of such improvement. If it is determined that such reclassification of benefits should be made the board shall proceed as provided in section four hundred fifty-five point forty-five (455.45), Code 1946. Any interested party shall have the right of appeal from such orders in the manner provided in this chapter. Provided, however, that the provisions of this section shall not affect the procedures of section four hundred fifty-five point one hundred forty-two (455.142) covering the common outlet.

"Where under the laws in force prior to 1904, drainage ditches and levees were established and constructed without fixing at the time of establishment a definite boundary line for the body of land to be assessed for the cost thereof, the body of land which was last assessed to pay for the repair thereof shall also be considered as the established district for the purpose of this section."

Further amend Senate File 18, section 6, by striking from lines 1 and 2 the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point ten (455.10)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "four hundred fifty-five point one hundred ten (455.110)"; and by adding to said section 6 a new paragraph as follows: "All of the provisions of this section shall, when applicable, apply to repair work and improvement work in the same force and effect as to original construction."

Further amend Senate File 18, section 13, by striking from line 9 the word "the" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "his"; and by striking from line 12 the word "the" and inserting in lieu thereof the word "his".

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 11

A Concurrent Resolution memorializing and requesting the Congress of the United States to enact a bill to aid the state in the enforcement of the cigarette tax now evaded by use of the United States mails.

Whereas, the state of Iowa has seen fit to impose a tax on the sale and use of cigarettes within its boundaries, and the revenues so obtained constitute an important portion of the funds available for its functions of government, and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Senate and the House of Representatives of the state of Iowa that a large and growing system of evasion of such tax law has developed; that the United States mails are flooded with advertisements and inducements to the citizens of this state to violate the law of this state; that in numerous instances such advertisers entice prospective customers with statements to the effect that the use of the United States mails is sufficient proof of the legitimacy of such business and such a system; that the mails of the United States are constantly flooded with cigarettes in the process of delivery within this state, and on which cigarettes the tax required by the laws of this state have not and will not be paid; that this state is seriously disadvantaged by such use of the postal offices and mails of the United States for the purpose of evading the laws of Iowa; and that Iowa faces and is now suffering serious losses of revenue as a result of such system of evasion, and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Iowa that there is now pending before the Congress of the United States a proposed bill which would aid the states by requiring shippers of cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish to the taxing authority of the state to which shipped a copy of the invoice on each shipment and the name and address of each person to whom shipped; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring Therein: That the Congress of the United States be and the same is hereby memorialized and respectfully urged to enact a bill requiring shippers of cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish to the taxing authority of the state to which shipped a copy of the invoice on each such shipment; or to enact such other bill to the aid of the several states affected as may be proper.

Be It Further Resolved: That duly authenticated copies of this resolution be forwarded immediately to the presiding officers of the respective houses of Congress and to the Senators and Congressmen from Iowa.

GEORGE L. PAUL, Chairman House Committee.

Report adopted.

BILL SIGNED BY THE PRESIDENT

The President of the Senate announced that, as President of the Senate, he had signed in the presence of the Senate: House File 80.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention, in accordance with Senate Concurrent Resolution 11 duly adopted.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and Senate Concurrent Resolution 11 duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, President Evans presiding.

President Evans announced a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Leo moved that a committee of three consisting of one member from the Senate and two members from the House be appointed to notify Paul Shipman Andrews, dean of the law school of Syracuse University, that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

Motion prevailed and the President appointed as such committee Senator Leo on the part of the of the Senate and Representatives Clarke and Schwengel on the part of the House.

The committee waited upon Dean Andrews and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Evans introduced to the joint convention General George Olmsted of Des Moines, president of the United World Federalists, in Iowa, who presented to the joint convention Dean Paul Shipman Andrews, who delivered the following address:

MR. LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR, MR. SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE AND MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE STATE OF IOWA:

To speak before this joint session would be a privilege and a distinction for the statesmen and the best minds of this or other lands. You will understand, I hope, that the honor you are doing me today gives me a feeling of pride and gratification and, at the same time, a sense of deep responsibility. I am quite aware, of course, that you have asked me to come here because, as intelligent and open minded men charged with framing the legislation for a great state, you feel it worthwhile to hear a man speak about a cause. I believe in that cause. Like many, many others, like many men wiser than I, I believe in it with all my heart and with a sense of dedication. In the absence of a better man to present it to you—and so great is the cause that in this legislative chamber the best man would be none too good—I shall present it to you to the best of my ability. For myself and for the cause I represent I am grateful for the honor, and for the opportunity.

In addressing the legislature of the state of Iowa one feels that he speaks in a high presence. But he feels something more. The other night I was speaking to a New York state friend about my coming to this state. He said, and many New York staters whom I know would echo him, "They make out there something about as close to the typical American as anything that exists." We in the east have read since childhood of the romance and the grim struggle of the days when you and your forefathers subdued your great and fertile middle west. We have watched your rise to strength and prosperity and power. We have known strong, keen men from this state. The associate dean on my own faculty is from Iowa, Ralph Kharas; the dean of the great Maxwell School of Citizenship and Public Affairs at Syracuse University, a dear friend of mine, Paul Appleby, is from your state. We know the great names you have contributed to American history. I am telling you only the literal truth, then, when I say that I am glad to be here.

There is no state in the union perhaps where one could speak with greater confidence that his audience will understand the tradition of America, the tradition of our common law which through the centuries has lighted the pathway toward freedom and toward the dignity and worth of the individual human soul.

If I speak gravely, I hope you will forgive me, for the times are very grave. Indeed, you may conclude that what I shall say will have to do with ideas which have been slowly spreading for nineteen hundred years and more from a little land called Judea. There was revealed there, for mankind to use, a "new order" for the relationships of men. Dictatorships are not new. The subjugation by force and violence of tribes and nations to the will of a conquerer; terror and persecution and savagery and lust of power and might of arms were old when first the herald angels sang. But the new order, the only new order which the world knows, is that order whose aim and striving, however imperfectly achieved, is toward the freedom and dignity and worth of the individual human soul. Not as slaves, but only as free men, can men realize the possibilities of humanity.

Indeed I shall ask you, if you will, to bear in mind as I speak certain sayings that were uttered nearly two thousand years ago in that land of Judea. Things like "Give and it shall be given unto you;" "without vision the people perish;" "a house divided against itself cannot stand;" things which, as I think we Americans have at long last learned in two wars, are not just laudable ideals for Sunday morning, but are cold, hard, inescapable rules of conduct for men and nations.

I should like you to remember also while I am speaking, if you will, one other and quite different kind of thing. A distinguished American once said, in connection with the reform of government of a corrupt city in the east, "Sometimes things have to be very bad indeed before they can be made very good indeed." This, too, will have a bearing on what I shall try to say.

For things in the world today are very bad indeed. Let me review for you some of the facts which make the situation in which the world finds itself today perhaps the gravest it has faced since the beginning of recorded history.

When the first atom bomb exploded at Alamagordo we knew that something had happened quite new in the world's history. When a hundred thousand people died as a result of a split second blast over Hiroshima, in four square miles of that crowded city, we knew that civilization had quite suddenly passed into a new era, an era in which it had acquired the power to commit suicide, to destroy itself overnight. When the tests at Bikini showed the enormously greater power for destruction of atom bombs exploded under water—when we learned that radio-active products of the explosion falling upon ships in that little lagoon could not be cleansed or removed by any known means and might for all we know remain in deadly amount for years, for decades, for generations, for centuries, and that for such periods of time any place on which they fell would remain uninhabitable by human beings, one thing at least became crystal clear beyond question or argument or doubt or denial—there must not be another war.

We are told that bombs far more powerful than the one which blasted Hiroshima are now in existence and ready for their deadly use. We are told that bombs which, exploded in the air above a town, could blast four hundred square miles instead of the four square miles of Hiroshima, are in existence or an immediate prospect. We are told that a single bomb in New York harbor with a pleasant southeasterly breeze could destroy all life within the city and for a great area about it, and could make the places where the atomic fog fell uninhabitable for years or for centuries. General Groves, head of the Manhattan project which manufactured the original bomb, stated before a senate committee that it would be quite possible for an enemy armed with atom bombs to kill in the neighborhood of forty million American citizens in a single attack. We know from the statements of the atomic scientists that no defense is known or in prospect which will prevent a percentage of a fleet of bombers carrying atom bombs from getting through to their targets. We know that it will not be many years before a fleet of enemy airplanes, standing two hundred miles off the eastern shore of North America, could launch rocket missiles, directed by radar, and aimed with their atomic bomb warheads at the industrial centers of the United States. We understand that the atomic bomb is itself so small and light that it could be brought in by enemy saboteurs in suitcases and planted in industrial cities, with time fuses set to explode.

But we know, too, that any competent chemist can make in a bathtub enough virus of various kinds to destroy the entire population of the United States. Half a dozen or more rocket planes, shooting across the United States at a height, say, of seventy thousand feet, unobserved and perhaps unheard, could spread this virus in the form of a finely divided fog. We should not know even that we had been attacked until the health statistics started to rise. The epidemics of terrible disease thus spread could be far beyond the power of medical science to control. There are viruses which could be similarly distributed which destroy crops and grass and animals. This is not a "Buck Rogers" story. This is what the world's great scientists are telling us. This, unhappily, is real.

In early times and down to the middle ages war was almost a pastime, a deadly game played by armies, but not so deadly but what men could enjoy it, would sell their services as mercenary soldiers, would find glory in it. But men became more "civilized," more inventive. My grandfather was born in 1826, the year after the Erie canal in New York state was hailed as the world's great triumph of engineering genius. He died ninety-two years later in 1918 when I was a soldier in France. When he was seven years old, in 1833, the then head of the United States Patent Office tendered his resignation giving as his reason that in his opinion the peak of invention had already been reached and in the future there would probably be very little need for his services. But during my grandfather's life he saw the railroads come, the telegraph, the telephone, electric lights, the automobile, the airplane—the dictionary is bulging with the names of the things we have made to our comfort and glory that our days might be long and that our sons and daughters might live after us in greater ease and in a softer security. As ever faster and faster we invent and build appliances and equipment and machines for life's comfort and security, so, and faster still, we find that these, our new possessions, are engines, too, for life's destruction; are tools of death as they are tools of life.

War, now, even in the second World War, is more than a pastime, more than a deadly game. Even the first World War foreshadowed what war was to become. Like many of you I saw the devastated cities of France, like Verdun and St. Mihiel. Like many of you also, I saw some of the shattered cities of the second World War, Cassino, Ancona, Formia, Pescara, Ortona, Messina. Neither for soldiers nor civilians was this last war a game. It was filthy and ugly and horrible beyond words.

But there MUST not be another war, for if there is, it will not be just another war filthier, uglier and nastier than the last. As General Bradley, the chief of staff, said: "The weapons now available will invade our homes here in America." The devastation, the destruction, the shattering of homes and factories and lives will not be just more dreadful than they were in the second World War. It is quite probable, in the opinion of experts, and of scientists, that the next war will wipe our civilization from the face of the earth and destroy it and us, our children and our grandchildren.

Arnold Toynbee, the world's greatest living historian, states in his last book that even before the invention of the atom bomb he had believed that a series of wars would destroy our civilization. Destroying civilization is a cold phrase when you hear it or see it in print. But those of you who were soldiers in either of the two World Wars will know what it means in destruction of property and lives, in human pain and suffering and in agony of body and of mind. But Toynbee says that now, in his opinion, based on the history of the human race, it seems probable that if there should be an atomic and biological war, nearly all of the human race will be destroyed, wiped out. He says it is quite possible, however, that certain human beings may survive, particularly the savage tribes living in central Africa and in central Australia. He goes so far as to speculate as to which of those tribes, if all civilization is destroyed, will probably constitute the nucleus of the next civilization. It took our civilization between five and six thousand years to develop, so historians say. There is no reason to believe that the next civilization would arrive in any shorter period of time. Toynbee, then, selects as the probable nucleus of the next world civilization in another five or six thousand years, a group of tribes, pygmy tribes in central Africa. The reason he selects them is because among all savage groups they alone are characterized by the most outstanding and elevated concept of God.

It is worthwhile noting some other things that Toynbee says. He tells us that there have been in the entire recorded history of the human race some twenty different civilizations of which fourteen have completely disappeared from sight, and five more are, as he thinks, decadent and headed for disappearance. The last, which he calls our Western Civilization, may or may not survive. If there is an atomic and biological war, he thinks it will not survive. But he does think that the intelligent and civilized portions of the human race have it in their power, if they will, to prevent the ultimate cataclysm of disaster, the destruction of our civilization itself. He says among other things that in order to buy time for the spiritual regeneration of the human race, it is absolutely necessary that we create a federal world government to impose one law, just and enforceable, over the nations of the earth. I am not quoting him directly, but that is his conclusion.

Mr. Toynbee, studying closely the history of these past civilizations which have disappeared, tells us that each one was confronted by some major challenge with which it was unable to cope, some change of environment or of political or economic climate, which it could not meet. The people living in that civilization were required to change their habits of thought and conduct, sometimes, I think, only a little, if they were to survive. But they could not or would not do so. They did not have the comprehensive understanding of history which is available to us today through the works of such men as Toynbee and others. They did not know, perhaps, that it lay in their own power to survive if they would.

The fact is, I think, that there is in political history a law of survival of the fittest by natural selection roughly parallel to the same law in biology with which from our school days we are all familiar. In geologic ages past, certain of the creatures living at the time when their environment changed, were or became, because of some difference in them from the rest of their species, better adapted to survive under the new conditions. But we know, too, that millions of the less adapted died out and that whole species and races were unable to survive the new environment and disappeared. We had supposed, we humans, that through science and invention and medicine we had succeeded at last in escaping nature's wasteful biological process of natural selection for survival. I wonder if we have. I wonder if in an increasingly materialistic world we should find ourselves exempt from that ancient biologic law. Admittedly inventions and machines have produced already, and are continuing to produce at an accelerated rate, profound changes in the material environment of the race. Admittedly too, changes in economic environment have in past human history resulted in the selection, for success and domination over their fellows, of certain types or kinds of men, and in plunging others down. Classes, races, civilizations have vanished when others became more adapted than they to meet the new conditions. We know, if we know anything from history at all, that the advent of the machine had made and is making a far-reaching alteration of environment. We know, if we know anything, that the dominant race or type of the future will be the one best adapted to survive in that new environment. Changes of environment sufficiently profound to affect the lives of human beings do not take geologic ages. In the past they have sometimes occurred within a few years. And due to the machine, the rate of change is getting faster and faster.

It would seem, then—and it is a sobering thought—that we who are alive today have it within our power to decide what the environment of tomorrow shall be, the environment in which we and our children shall live—or die. The responsibility for this decision lies heaviest upon Americans, for the mantle of the world's leadership has fallen on the shoulders of the land we love. If we have that great power, then it follows that we cannot escape the responsibility; that what we do or fail to do, under God, will swing the balance; that every act and step in our public policy is a weight in the balance one way or the other; that each day we are in fact making part of the decision as to what that world shall be tomorrow. We are engaged day by day in the process of determining for ourselves and our children whether the environment in which we and they shall live tomorrow will be one in which our civilization will be adapted to survive or will be "selected" for destruction; whether it will be an environment in which only the nations loving fear and violence and hatred and lust of power and might of arms and conquest and savagery will be adapted to survive, or whether in that new environment which we are engaged in creating the nations which love peace and order and kindness and attribute a high value to the individual human soul can survive. This is a high task and a high responsibility, perhaps the highest which has faced any nation since history began.

Toynbee asks: "What shall we do to be saved?" We know quite well the answer, we Americans. John Buchan, Lord Tweedsmuir, great British statesman and former governor-general of Canada, believed that America is the chief exponent of a creed which he thought "on the whole the best in this imperfect world," the exponent of the spiritual "testament of democracy." "The democratic testament," Lord Tweedsmuir said, "is one lesson that America has to teach the world. A second is a new reading of nationalism. Some day and somehow, the peoples must discover a way to brigade themselves for peace * * * the United States was the conscious work of men's hands, and a task which has once been performed can be performed again. * * * If the world is ever to have prosperity and peace there must be some kind of federation * * *. In such a task she (America) seems to me to be the predestined leader."

If this is America's predestined task, truly it is an act of creation, no less. We shall need to see visions and dream dreams. We shall need generosity and vision and an understanding of what unity must mean. We must not hope for perfection, but it is a task to engage the best we have, one into which Abraham Lincoln would have poured his heart's blood. For if we succeed, America and the other nations of the earth, if we create for a second time on the earth a more perfect union, history will write of the generation now living something that history has not written before. It will write that in this decade of 1949 the men of our generation in America did more to bring about peace on earth, good will to men, than all that has been accomplished in the 1900 years before, since the herald angels sang.

We believe, we Americans, that our country more perhaps than other nations has qualifications for the task that remains before us. Qualifications, and experience.

"A More Perfect Union"! In 1787 at Philadelphia, in the hearts of the little group of delegates from the thirteen separate, sovereign nation-states of North America who met in May of that year to form a new nation, these four words must have been words of hope, of necessity, of dedication. I have used them as the title of this speech because perhaps they stand in all our hearts today for an equal hope, for an equal dedication, and for an even deeper necessity.

Less than four years after the ending of a great war, as it was stated about a time of trouble thirty years ago, peace is still "raging furiously." There are wars and rumors of wars. But there is no peace. For peace is not just the absence of war; it is the organized assurance of stability under law. What we are facing today is not, of course, an exact parallel with what the thirteen colonies faced after the Revolutionary War was over and before the constitution was drawn, but it is a parallel close enough to be strong and persuasive.

Prior to the Declaration of Independence on the Fourth of July, 1776, the thirteen American colonies acknowledged allegiance to the British Crown. Each was fully independent of the others. Most of the colonies had grievances against Britain. In 1774 there was formed the Continental Congress, designed to bring to a common focus the mounting sense of outrage.

It was a wholly extra-legal body. Its members were no more than diplomatic representatives of the several colonies. It had practically no official powers. It was based on no treaty, no charter, and until 1781 had not even a fundamental law. Its weakness undoubtedly delayed for some years the final victory, which without the guiding genius of Washington and the common bond of war might never have been won. It could only request the colonies for money, not tax them, and thus lacked any dependable revenue. It could only request them for troops, not call out men. The results were tragically inadequate. The Continental Congress exercised but few of the functions of a government. To be sure, it declared independence. It contracted an alliance with France. It borrowed money. It issued paper money which lost value so rapidly that to this day in the United States the expression "not worth a Continental" is proverbial. It built a navy which acquitted itself with great distinction, and issued letters of marque.

Only in 1781 was there finally ratified an agreement between the states, known as the Articles of Confederation.

These articles purported to create between the thirteen substantially sovereign states a "firm league of friendship," and gave a legal basis for the Continental Congress. "But," says the historian, John Fiske, "The Articles of Confederation, which in 1781 defined its powers, served at the same time to limit them; so that for the remaining eight years of its existence the Continental Congress grew weaker and weaker until it was swept away to make room for a more efficient government." Like the Delian League of twenty-two centuries before, it was impotent to check the anarchy between the sovereign member states. It could not compel obedience short of going to war. It operated not upon individuals but only upon states. It did not bring peace and good will between them nor restrain the selfishness, the greed, the jealousy, the hate which moved them in the exercise of their sovereign wills. Once more we think of 1948!

The need for amendments was recognized by many, but for this unanimous consent of all thirteen member states was required. John Fiske says: "The historian cannot but regard this difficulty of amendment as a fortunate circumstance; for the troubles which presently arose made the distressed people seek some other method of relief, and thus prepared the way for the convention of 1787, which destroyed the whole vicious scheme * * *." Sixty years have passed since Fiske wrote; one wonders how far his words have meaning for us today.

The years in America just prior to the constitution of 1787 were tragic, desperate years. I suggest that they have a lesson for us. The parallel is by no means exact, but it is illuminating to a degree.

There was no public sentiment for union. Every influence and memory of the long war for freedom which had just ended tended to build up in the individual citizen a hatred of centralized higher authority, typified in the minds of the people by the tyranny of the British crown. Equally, every such influence had fired the citizen with loyalty to his own sovereign state to which he owed his freedom. The common opinion of Europe was reflected in the statement of Josiah Tucker, Dean of Gloucester in England, when he said: "As to the future grandeur of America, and its being a rising empire under one head, whether republican or monarchical, it is one of the idlest and most visionary notions that ever was conceived even by writers of romance. The mutual antipathies and clashing interests of the Americans, their difference of government, attitudes and manners, indicates that they will have no center of union and no common interest. They never can be united into one compact empire under any species of government whatever; a disunited people till the end of time, suspicious and distrustful of each other, they will be divided and subdivided into little commonwealths or principalities according to natural boundaries, by great bays of the sea, and by vast rivers, lakes, and ridges of mountains." And this was a liberal minded and farsighted philosopher who bore the United States no ill will.

To put ourselves back into the conditions of 1783, and evaluate the comparisons and parallels between them and what we find today, calls for some effort of the imagination. It took a man, if the weather was fine and the roads good, from a week to ten days to complete the journey from New York to Boston, now five hours. The mails were irregular, uncertain and costly. Commerce between the states was negligible and each little district within a state was self-sufficient. Each such district knew little of the others within the same state; practically nothing of the other states, to which only rarely and for the most urgent reasons did a man ever travel. Local prejudices were intense; distrust of other states and their inhabitants was bitter. It is small wonder perhaps that the thirteen nation states fell apart as soon as the bonds of war ceased to hold them together. Fall apart they did. The war ended in 1783. New York state led the way in a policy of greedy monopoly and sectional hate. It compelled every rowboat which crossed the Hudson river from the New Jersey farms to pay entrance fees and obtain clearance papers like a foreign ship. Every cartload of firewood or goods from neighboring Connecticut on the north paid a heavy duty to New York. New Jersey retaliated by taxing heavily certain New York state property within its boundaries; a great meeting of indignant business men in New London, Connecticut, resolved to suspend all commerce with New York state for twelve months. There was talk of war.

The legislature of Pennsylvania in 1784, bitter against a colony of Connecticut families, foreigners from an alien state, not only refused them aid in time of flood but sent soldiers who drove the people from their villages into the wilderness. Many died. The other Connecticut settlers in Pennsylvania took arms; men were killed. There was grave danger of a war between Connecticut and Pennsylvania; but sanity and decency returned just in time to the Pennsylvania authorities.

There was bitterness, too, between New York, New Hampshire and Vermont over boundaries and territory. New York sent troops to her frontier; New Hampshire prepared to do likewise; for a moment war seemed unavoidable. Only the personal intervention of General Washington himself prevented armed conflict.

The credit of the United States was almost zero. John Adams, ambassador of the United States in London, was refused by the Dutch government a loan of $300,000 on the pledge of that credit.

Financially and economically the results of the war spelled disaster in America. The entire country was pauperized. If a man paid his taxes it was regarded as an amiable eccentricity. Large sections of the country reverted to barter. By the year 1786, when nearly all trade had ceased, there appeared a craze for paper money. The value of money fell. Attempts at coercion failed. Exchange between the states and between areas within each state was "a labyrinth that no human mind could explore." The frantic demand for paper money exploded in Massachusetts in disorders, riots and armed rebellion which was suppressed in a five months campaign by state troops.

So far had Congress fallen in esteem that on June 21, 1783, some 80 mutinous, drunken soldiers drove the Congress of the United States out of the state house in Philadelphia! The Congress was powerless to carry out the American agreements in the peace treaty signed on September 3, 1783.

But there was even more. In addition to local state loyalties and local jealousies there were deep cleavages. There was an extensive Dutch speaking population in New York state, a German speaking population in Pennsylvania. The great plantation owners of Virginia and the Carolinas, a landed aristocracy, looked with hostility upon the merchants and traders of the northern maritime states such as New Hampshire, Massachusetts and New York. They feared, too, that the latter might monopolize the carrying trade and charge ruinous rates for transporting southern cotton and agricultural products. In the northern states, moreover, slavery was fast disappearing and the movement to abolish it was growing strong, but in the south despite the opposition of intelligent men it was deeply embedded in the economic system. And there were profound differences between the southern and the northern states in interests, in attitudes and ways of life.

The small states feared with an intensity which today seems fantastic the dominance of the larger states. Moreover, five of the states asserted irreconcilable and hostile claims to great tracts of unoccupied western land. The other states dreaded the growth of the five into overbearing empires. In the winter of 1787 a controversy between northern and southern states as to the maintenance of commerce through the mouth of the Mississippi river in defiance of Spain, almost tore the country apart.

Disunion seemed irretrievable. Statesmen of Europe were sure that the United States would disintegrate. Even after the Constitutional Convention had sat for two months, General Washington himself, having presided for days over the acrimonious debates between the large and small states as to the basis of their representation in the proposed legislature, wrote to Alexander Hamilton, "I almost despair of seeing a favorable issue to the proceedings of our convention, and do therefore repent having had any agency in the business. * * * The crisis is equally important and alarming, and no opposition under such circumstances should discourage exertions till the signature is fixed."

It was a bold step to ask the thirteen jealous, quarreling nation states to give up to a new form of super government some of the sovereignty, some of the independence for which they had just fought a war. That the states proved willing to give up some of their sovereignty, that their people had vision, that they had a sense of what unity might mean, goes to show that when disaster looms men have a way of rising to meet the challenge; of finding a remedy great and wide and deep enough to meet the threat of great catastrophe. No student of history needs to be told that, as a distinguished American once said, "Conditions sometimes have to become very bad indeed before they can be made very good indeed." It was a bold step and a gallant one for that Constitutional Convention to propose replacing a mere congress of ambassadors of the states with an unknown and powerful central government capable of acting on individuals, having powers strictly limited but adequate for unity. Only a bold step would have been enough to capture the imagination of the people of the thirteen nation states. Too little is never enough. Then, as throughout history, sacrifice and vision and unity of purpose in full measure were indispensable prerequisites of achievement. "Give and it shall be given unto you," "Without vision a people perish," "A house divided against itself cannot stand." And there was given to them a new nation destined to be great.

Give and it shall be given unto you; without vision the people perish; a house divided against itself cannot stand. The people of the thirteen little nation states gave up, because they had a vision and a sense of what unity might mean, a sense of the necessity for unity, some of the sovereignty, some of the independence for which they had just fought a long and bitter war against a foreign enemy. It had become clear as crystal to them that the Articles of Confederation, a league of the thirteen colonies, was utterly impotent because it could not operate upon individuals but could only make requests of the member nation states. Now, there is no way to compel a nation state to do anything, no way to compel it to refrain from war, except by going to war against it! The first League of Nations of which I happen to know was the Delian League of the Greek city states of the year 478 B. C. Its history is the history of every league since then; it depended upon treaties and promises; when one of the member states became frightened enough or greedy enough so that in the pious phrase of diplomacy its high interests demanded that it go to war, the only way to prevent it from going to war was to go to war against it. And the Delian League a few years later exploded into the Peloponnesian War. The League of Nations went the way of all leagues, went the way that all leagues must go if they can act only by compelling nation states and not by arresting, trying and punishing individuals. The United Nations has not even the legal power to prevent any of the Big Five, with their right of veto, to do anything or refrain from doing anything. The United Nations organization has not even the right to go to war against some member which wishes to start a war! It has not even the legal right to begin a total war for the sake of preventing a total war. The veto prevents it!

We know quite well, we Americans, what the world needs today to prevent another war. We know it from our own history.

Now I am not one of those people who believe that the League of Nations ought to be abolished or scrapped or diminished or made impotent. The United World Federalist Organization to which I have the honor to belong believes that it is vital and indispensable to preserve the League of Nations and to strengthen it into a federal world government with powers adequate to prevent war and insure peace. The United World Federalists believe that there MUST not be another war; that the first job of every statesman and of every citizen is to take those steps which will prevent another war. We believe that in the light of what conditions are today and in view of the alternative of possible destruction, the world and its peoples or most of them possess and will show if given a lead by the United States the generosity, the vision, and the sense of what unity might mean so that the world conditions which today are very bad indeed, can be made very good indeed.

What are the requirements for a federal world government? In the first place, a charter or constitution to be agreed upon between the nations of the world or such of them as will join—and we believe that the vast majority of all the nations of the earth would join at once or soon, and that there is a possibility at least, perhaps a probability, that after a few years the rest will join;—we should remember that after the American constitution was drawn it was ratified by nine of the states at first, and later on by the rest, some of them a long time later.

Under the world constitution one needs a police force. In every town and village and state in the nation the majority of the people of the United States are people of good will. But there is a gangster element; if all the good citizens signed an agreement to the effect that they would behave themselves, and abolish the police force in the town or city or state government, you would have precisely what happened in the city of Boston years ago when the entire police force went on strike. A great world statesman, a leader of the United Nations organization, said in a speech advocating federal world government the other day, "The trouble with the United Nations today is, there's burglars in the shop and there ain't no cops!" The United Nations is doing a magnificent job with its specialized agencies on food, health, narcotics, finance and the rest. But we know in our own communities that it isn't the grocer, the doctor, the banker, the druggist, who keeps the peace. We still need a policeman!

We need a world police force then, an army strong enough to enforce the peace, and if any nations stayed outside the world federal government, an army strong enough to be unchallengeable by them. Just as citizens are not allowed to keep stocks of tommy-guns, so each member nation of the world federal government must give up to the central army its heavy equipment, its bombers, fighter planes, heavy field guns, tanks, battleships, destroyers, submarines. Also, the entire control of the manufacture of atomic fissionable materials must be turned over to the central world government, and there must be constant, unremitting, careful inspection to make certain that no one is breaking the federal law, that no one is preparing for or fomenting war.

If you have a police force you need a law to be sure the police force doesn't operate arbitrarily. To make a law you need a legislature. To make sure that the legislature does not make laws in violation of the world charter and unfairly burdening the citizens of any country, you need a high tribunal more or less parallel to the supreme court of the United States. You must have, of course, a dependable power of revenue—that means a very strictly limited right to tax.

That is all—it is easy to state. It is hard to achieve; but hard only if the peoples of the earth and the United States in particular fail to understand what it means, and how vital it is to their self-preservation. It means that if the leaders or industrialists of some one nation are fomenting war, are preparing to manufacture heavy equipment for war or are violating the law for manufacturing fissionable materials except under control of the central federal government, the world federal government sends its police in to arrest them. It tries them as war criminals. The trials would be like the trials at Nuremburg of the German war criminals; except for one enormous difference—that is that the trials would take place before four million men had lost their lives in a devastating and destructive war, not afterwards.

I am always asked, what about Russia. I doubt if Russia would be willing to enter such a federal world government at the beginning. The Russian statesmen and the communists in America who follow the Russian party line, have attacked the United World Federalists as a group which wants to organize a power alliance against Russia. But if a federal world government were formed of thirty or forty or fifty nations, it is possible that Russia might have confidence enough in it to join. Certainly, being realistic, she and her statesmen would see that it would be difficult for Russia to enter into an arms race against that many nations, federated into a world government with strictly limited powers, but adequate and strong enough to be unchallengeable. If Russia did not come in, and entered into an armaments race against such a federated world government, the burden of such a race would fall more heavily on Russia. It sends its police in to arrest them. It tries them as war criminals. Their military expenditures would probably be considerably less, year by year, than if each of the member nations was attempting to maintain its own separate and to some extent duplicating military establishment. But Russia would have to carry the burden alone. It is said that the living conditions of her people and their standards are low even now. They might progressively get lower. Imports would be denied to Russia of steel and machinery and tractors and all of the thousand and one items which she needs to make her economy function well. The time might well come when her standard of living was so low that even the soldiers in her army became discontented. Even Russian soldiers might not like to see their wives and children and parents starving. Moreover, to a Russia who had disarmed herself and submitted faithfully to a constant inspection, further concessions could be made. Not only could she be allowed to have all the imports she wanted; she could have her share of near-Eastern oil, of control of the Dardanelles and of the Suez Canal and Gibraltar; there are other considerations which all of them added together would constitute a real and perhaps powerful inducement for Russia to join the federated world government on the principle well known to us, "If you can't beat 'em, join 'em!" Whether she would or not I cannot say. I am no prophet. I can only repeat that the inducement to do so would be great.

In Europe last summer I talked with the leaders of the federal world government in a number of different countries. The movement is strong there. It is growing rapidly. Again and again and again I was told that an active step forward by the United States of America would electrify the world; that the other countries are waiting for us to give the lead.

Some people ask, "If you can't get the nations to cooperate in such a thing as the United Nations, if you can't get Britain and France and Belgium and Holland and Luxemburg to agree upon a form of federation, how can you hope to induce the nations to take the enormously greater step of forming a federal world government?" In my opinion the answer to both questions is precisely the same. Everybody knows, who thinks about it, that the United Nations, despite its great accomplishments and its great promise, cannot prevent a war. It is legally deprived of the power to do so. Everybody knows, moreover, that an alliance of the five nations mentioned would be nothing but an alliance for military purposes against Russia and that it, too, could not possibly prevent a war. At most, it may buy time. I favor the alliance. I favor the United States remaining very strong, to buy time. But that will not end the race of armaments. It will not create a climate favorable to peace. These are half measures. In all history half measures have never been enough. Half measures cannot capture the imagination of the people of the world; cannot assure the people of the world of a good chance of preventing the war which is coming nearer and nearer. I do not believe that war is inevitable. I do believe that it will inevitably come, and perhaps before very long, unless we take the steps to prevent it. There is but one step that will give us a good chance of preventing it. It is not a guarantee. But I think it is "the last best hope of earth."

We hear many voices telling us that Stalin and the communists have electrified their people with a faith in something—something to be sure which we detest. We hear voices urging us to make democracy work, to make it come alive again as it was alive once when the fathers of our country in the thirteen nation-states gave up a little of their sovereignty and independence for the vision and for the hope of what unity would mean. Here is our chance to show that we have not quite forgotten the lesson which they learned so well. Here is a chance for us Americans to form once more a more perfect union, to make democracy work, to create in the world tomorrow an environment in which the free nations can exist and still remain free. No higher task has faced any people. I think that Americans will prove themselves worthy of the responsibility. For it is our task in this generation of 1949, if again I may use the words of an older time, to make invincible among the nations a commonwealth to invite the souls of men.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Kruse of Floyd moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber and resumed regular session, President Evans presiding.

2. If it purports to be or is represented as a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, and its strength differs from, or its quality or purity falls below, the standard set forth in such compendium. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States it will be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

3. If any word, statement or other information required by or under authority of this act to appear on the label or labeling is not prominently placed thereon with such conspicuousness (as compared with other words, statements, designs or devices, in the labeling) and in such terms as to render it likely to be read and understood by the ordinary individual under customary conditions of purchase and use.

4. If it is for use by man and contains any quantity of the narcotic or hypnotic substance alpha-eucaine, barbituric acid, beta-eucaine, bromal, cannabis, carbromal, chloral, coca, cocaine, codeine, heroin, marihuana, morphine, opium, paraldehyde, peyote, or sulphonmethane, or any chemical derivative of such substance, which derivative has been by the board, after investigation, found to be and, by regulations under this act, designated as, habit forming, unless its label bears the name and quantity or proportion of such substance or derivative and in juxtaposition therewith the statement "Warning—May be habit forming."

established by regulations promulgated by the board.

7. If it purports to be a drug the name of which is recognized in an official compendium, unless it is packaged and labeled as prescribed therein; provided, that the method of packing may be modified with the consent of the board. Whenever a drug is recognized in both the United States Pharmacopoeia and Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, it shall be subject to the requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia with respect to packaging and labeling unless it is labeled and offered for sale as a homeopathic drug, in which case it shall be subject to the provisions of the Homeopathic Pharmacopoeia of the United States, and not to those of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

8. If it is found by the board to be a drug liable to deterioration, unless it is packaged in such form and manner, and its label bears a statement of such precautions, as the board shall by regulations require as necessary for the protection of public health. No such regulation shall be established for any drug recognized in an official compendium until the board shall have informed the appropriate body charged with the revision of such compendium of the need for such packaging or labeling requirements and such body shall have failed within a reasonable time to prescribe such requirements.

9. (1) If it is a drug and its container is so made, formed, or filled as to be misleading; or (2) if it is an imitation of another drug; or (3) if it is offered for sale under the name of another drug.

the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of the doctor, dentist or veterinarian.

12. A drug sold on a written prescription signed by a doctor, dentist or veterinarian (except a drug sold in the course of the conduct of a business of selling drugs pursuant to diagnosis by mail) shall be exempt from the requirements of this section if—

(1) such doctor, dentist or veterinarian is licensed by law to administer such drug, and

(2) such drug bears a label containing the name and place of business of the seller, the serial number and date of such prescription, and the name of the doctor, dentist or veterinarian.

13. If it is a drug for use by man and contains any quantity of the narcotic or hypnotic substance alpha-eucaine, barbituric acid, beta-eucaine, bromal, cannabis, carbromal, chloral, coca, cocaine, heroin, marihuana, morphine, opium, paraldehyde, peyote or sylphonmethane, or any chemical derivative of such substances, or such substances as are dangerous and habit forming drugs which derivative or substances have been by the board after investigation found to be and by regulation under this act designated as dangerous and habit forming drugs, and the sale or dispensation (except on written prescriptions to be filled by pharmacists) of said drugs, derivatives, or substances is made by doctors or dentists incident to their practice, unless the doctor or dentist keeps a dated record of the name and address of the patient, and amount and name of the drugs, substances or derivatives sold and dispensed each time, and the said sale or dispensation has not been delegated to any person, nurse or attendant.

Sec. 11. 1. No person shall sell, deliver, offer for sale, have for sale or give away any new drug unless (1) an application with respect thereto has become effective under section 505 of the federal act, or (2) when not subject to the federal act unless such drug has been tested and has not been found to be unsafe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the labeling thereof, and prior to selling or offering for sale such drug, there has been filed with the board an application setting forth (a) full reports of investigations which have been made to show whether or not such drug is safe for use; (b) a full list of the articles used as components of such drug; (c) a full statement of the composition of such drug; and (d) a full description of the methods used in, and the facilities and controls used for, the manufacture, processing and packing of such drug. The application shall be accompanied by such samples of such drug and of the articles used as components thereof as the board may require, specimens of the labeling proposed to be used for such drug, and a fee of fifty dollars.

2. An application provided for in subsection one part (2) shall become effective on the sixtieth day after the filing thereof, except that if the board finds, after due notice to the applicant and giving him an opportunity for a hearing, that the drug is not safe for use under the conditions prescribed, recommended, or suggested in the proposed labeling thereof, it shall, prior to the effective date of the application, issue an order refusing to permit the application to become effective.

3. This section shall not apply—

(1) to a drug intended solely for investigational use by experts qualified by scientific training and experience to investigate the safety in drugs, provided the drug is plainly labeled "For investigational use only"; or

This product must not be used for dyeing the eyelashes or eyebrows; to do so may cause blindness," and the labeling of which bears adequate directions for such preliminary testing. For the purposes of this paragraph and paragraph five the term "hair dye" shall not include eyelash dyes or eyebrow dyes.

2. If it consists in whole or in part of any filthy, putrid, or decomposed substance.

3. If it has been produced, prepared, packed or held under insanitary conditions whereby it may have become contaminated with filth, or whereby it may have been rendered injurious to health.

state have not and will not be paid; that this state is seriously disadvantaged by such use of the postal offices and mails of the United States for the purpose of evading the laws of Iowa; and that Iowa faces and is now suffering serious losses of revenue as a result of such system of evasion, and

Whereas, it has been brought to the attention of the Senate and the House of Representatives of Iowa that there is now pending before the Congress of the United States a proposed bill which would aid the states by requiring shippers of cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish to the taxing authority of the state to which shipped a copy of the invoice on each shipment and the name and address of each person to whom shipped; now, therefore,

IOWA
STATE HIGHWAY COMMISSION

Ames, Iowa

March 2, 1949.

Hon. W. N. Skourup
Senate Chamber
Hon. Wm. Kruse
House Chamber
State House
Des Moines, Iowa
Gentlemen:

Re: State Highway Commission Budget Bill, S. F. 296.

As indicated to you in previous conversations, this bill is entirely satisfactory to us, both as to form of the bill and as to the amounts authorized therein. This letter is written to mention certain detailed amendments which it appears should be made, as follows:

A. In Section 1:

In the printed copy of the bill, some words are left out of line nine (9) of section 1. This point is covered by an amendment by Senator Lynes which appears on page 534 of the Senate Journal of February 24. This amendment is satisfactory.

B. In Section 2:

We would recommend that the words "or farm to market roads" be inserted after the word "roads" and preceding the period (.) in line seven (7) of section 2.

Under Section 310.22, Code 1946, the county board frequently requests the highway commission to condemn right of way for farm to market roads. Also under Section 310.14, Code 1946, the highway commission lets all contracts for farm to market road construction. Occasionally there is litigation in which the highway commission is a party, growing out of this farm to market road work. Under the present law (section 2 of chapter 7, Laws of the Fifty-second General Assembly) and under this bill as drawn, this litigation fund cannot be used to pay the cost of such cases relating to farm to market roads. In fact, neither the highway commission nor the attorney general has any funds under present law with which to pay the costs incident to such farm to market road litigation. This proposed amendment would make this $15,000.00 litigation fund available for payment of the cost of farm to market road litigation to which the highway commission may be a party.

C. In the Title:

Since section three (3), Senate File 396, amends section 313.5, Code 1946, we would suggest the advisability of amending the title to this bill by adding thereto approximately the following: "and amending section three hundred thirteen point five (313.5), Code 1946, relating to the state highway commission budget".

Respectfully submitted,
F. R. WHITE, Chief Engineer.

Senator Skourup offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend the title to Senate File 396 by adding thereto the following: "and amending section three hundred thirteen point five (313.5), Code 1946."

The amendment was adopted.

Senator Skourup moved that the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 44:

Augustine	Gillespie	McCarville	Skourup

R. C. L. P. W. A., of the city of Des Moines, opposing legislation pertaining to powers of cities and towns to levy taxes; also from residents of Plymouth county favoring legislation pertaining to the practice of pharmacy.

Senator Miller asked and received unanimous consent to have the following communication printed in the Senate Journal:

Resolution passed on March 1, 1949, by the P.-T. A. of Ottoson, in Humboldt county, Iowa, and signed by 250 residents of the district.

Resolved: That we the undersigned are opposed to many features of the high school reorganization plan. Because it would take away rights of smaller districts to determine their own course, if interpreted as some do by the majority vote of all voters in the proposed new district and the proposed change; to give the state department power to dictate funds and areas; contrary to the American way of life.

It would eliminate many high schools as centers of community activities.

We fear it would make additional taxes in the outlying districts without compensating benefits.

Also the loss to students from outlying districts, in extra curricular activities, and of time from home in long rides to school and many other unfavorable conditions.

We further believe that improvement of the schools should be evolutionary, not revolutionary. That there should be some regrouping based on what we would call natural communities, and according to the divergent conditions of different localities. That this regrouping be by self-determination of the districts themselves.

We believe that the rural communities, with their consolidated schools, are the last bulwark against the rising tide of state socialism and communist philosophy.

We believe that several of the smaller high schools could go together and employ some of the best teachers for special subjects, dividing their time among the several schools.

We suggest that the existing high schools be allowed more state aid, also the right to tax their properties heavier if need be so that they might continue to operate according to the highest standards of education.

Also; by Senator Miller, from residents of Buena Vista, Hancock and Humboldt counties favoring local option; also, from residents of Humboldt county opposing local option.

By Senator Parker, from residents of Cherokee and Plymouth counties favoring legislation pertaining to the practice of pharmacy.

By Senator Prentis, from residents of Ringgold county favoring local option.

By Senator Roberts, from residents of Marion county favoring legislation pertaining to the practice of pharmacy.

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That a special recess be held on Good Friday afternoon, April 15, during the hours of twelve to three o'clock, out of reverence to the passion and death of our Lord.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 13

Whereas, in the Forty-ninth General Assembly of the state of Iowa, House Concurrent Resolution Eighteen (18) was adopted providing, among other things, for a Senate and House committee on interstate cooperation, which committee members in turn became members of the Iowa commission on interstate cooperation; and,

Whereas, under the provisions of the resolution the Speaker of the House of Representatives was and is empowered to appoint five (5) members of the House of Representatives for the House standing committee on interstate cooperation; and,

Whereas, under the provisions of the resolution the president of the Senate was and is empowered to appoint five (5) members of the Senate for the Senate standing committee on interstate cooperation;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House of Representatives, the Senate Concurring: That the Speaker of the House of Representatives appoint five (5) members of the House to the House standing committee on interstate cooperation, designating one of the committee as chairman, and that the President of the Senate appoint five (5) members of the Senate to the Senate standing committee on interstate cooperation, designating one of the committee as chairman.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 14

A concurrent resolution memorializing and requesting the Congress of the United States to take notice of the great number of grade crossing accidents and suggesting legislation requiring the reflectorizing of the sides of railroad cars so same can be more readily seen.

Whereas, official records and newspaper accounts disclose a considerable number of serious grade crossing accidents in Iowa and throughout the nation; and,

Whereas, this situation has been tragically called to our attention by the grade crossing accident on December 18, 1948, in which the wife of one of our legislators lost her life and other members of the family were seriously injured; and,

Whereas, one means of protection of grade crossings at night time appears to be the reflectorizing of the sides of railroad cars so as to make them visible during the night time by reflecting light from highway vehicle headlights; and,

Whereas, the only effective way to accomplish this end by regulation would be through legislation by the Congress of the United States; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring Therein: That the attention of Congress be called to these circumstances with the recommendation that appropriate action be taken by Congress.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution duly authenticated be sent to the Speaker of the House of Representatives and the President of the Senate of the United States Congress, the chairman of the interstate commerce commission and the Senators and Congressmen from Iowa.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 15

Whereas, Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt is appearing in Des Moines on Monday evening the 14th of March at the KRNT Theater; and,

Whereas, a large number of people will not be able to attend that evening; and,

Whereas, she has received world wide recognition for her service as a delegate to United Nations and for her work in other civic bodies; therefore,

Be It Resolved that she be invited to address a joint session of the House and Senate on Tuesday morning, March 15, at 9:30 a.m.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 16

Whereas, House File 12 a bill for an act to amend chapter two hundred eighty-four (284), Code 1946, and providing for the distribution and expenditure of funds which may be received from the federal government as a share of federal receipts from the operation of flood control projects, has been passed by both houses of the Fifty-third General Assembly and is now in the office of the Governor for his approval or disapproval; and,

Whereas, it has been found that certain corrections should be made to said bill; now, therefore

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That House File 12 be recalled from the Governor for further consideration.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

In accordance with Senate Concurrent Resolution 12, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, Kenneth A. Evans, President of the Senate, presiding.

The committee previously appointed escorted the Pioneer Lawmakers to the House chamber.

Music was furnished by the music department of Drake University.

President Evans presented to the joint convention Justice H. J. Mantz, president of the Pioneer Lawmakers.

Justice Mantz introduced to the joint convention Senator Fred Maytag and Representative A. H. Avery.

MR. PRESIDENT AND MEMBERS OF THE PIONEER LAWMAKERS ASSOCIATION:

It is indeed an honor, as the baby of the Senate, to have the privilege of welcoming the Iowa Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly. It gives me particular pleasure to do so because of the fact that my grandfather was a member of this body forty years ago, and served with some of you who are today the recipients of our affection and esteem. Our meeting thus bridges the gap of three generations of Iowa lawmakers, and in so doing carries us back, for this fleeting moment, over nearly half the life span of Iowa's statehood.

We who have put aside for an hour the many tasks of a busy session of the legislature in order that we may honor you, our elder statesmen, look forward in our daily tasks to the future of this great state. It is appropriate that on this occasion we should look back with you and examine the great heritage which you have given us.

Iowa was richly endowed by nature with fertile land and favorable climate, but it took the sturdy pioneers who came here in search of a new home to convert those natural resources to useful purpose. We are grateful to them for having first tilled our soil, built our cities and towns, and established our industries, all of which have helped to make this the prosperous state that it is.

Even more, however, we are grateful to the early pioneers for having bred and reared such men as you, who continued to build upon the foundations of our constitution the good government which we now enjoy and which it is our duty and privilege to perpetuate.

It is said that every generation inevitably believes that the younger generation is going to the "dogs". I wonder what thoughts must be going through your minds, as you, with the greater wisdom and mellowness of your elder statesmanship, sit on the sidelines and observe our efforts to carry on the functions of our government in the tradition which you have established. Do you regard us as rambunctious young upstarts? My grandfather sometimes felt that way about me. Or do you see in us the same qualities that you had when you were here? My grandfather was considered sort of rambunctious in his day, if we can believe the campaign literature put out by his political opponents.

Let us hope that as you watch us in our labors you can view our petty bickerings and our follies with a smile of amusement, our failures with tolerant understanding, and our successes with a nod of approval.

Whatever may be your attitude, we are happy to have you in our midst. Iowa is rich, indeed, to have such as you among our elder statesmen. With high regard for the service which you have rendered to the state, appreciation for the heritage you have passed on to us, and with the earnest hope that we may carry on in the fine tradition which you have established, I welcome you to this joint convention in the name of the Senate.

Representative Avery, on behalf of the House, welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers and offered the following remarks:

MR. CHAIRMAN, PIONEER LAWMAKERS, MEMBERS OF THE JOINT SESSION, LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

About half an hour ago, my clerk passed this slip of paper over to me and said "Do you know that you are to make an address of welcome this afternoon?" I said "No." She said, "There is the paper." I said, "By-gum, I am going to fulfill the duty. I am strong for Pioneers, whether they are lawmakers or otherwise."

The Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa have set a pace that we, of the present General Assembly here, would do well to follow. I recall back in 1916 when W. L. Harding of Sioux City made a campaign for Governor on a platform of "Mud Roads and the King Drag," and he had Jim Pierce of the Iowa Homestead backing him up; and they won that election on mud roads and the King drag in 1916.

And I recall later on we had a proposition that stirred the state from one end to the other, and that was to vote bonds to the tune of one hundred million dollars to build primary roads. The Supreme Court held it unconstitutional. They did not vote them. But we went ahead on the basis of that which you had planned, but never dreamed of the fulfillment probably; we built primary roads in Iowa.

And the other day the House passed a bill appropriating fifty million dollars a year out of current revenues to build roads in Iowa. Some progress! Some progress!

I thank you Pioneers for the privilege of welcoming you on this occasion. I have always had a warm place in my heart for Pioneers and I now have an especially warm place in my heart for the Pioneer Lawmakers of Iowa. Thank you.

Justice Mantz, on behalf of the Pioneer Lawmakers, acknowledged the welcoming remarks by Senator Maytag and Representative Avery.

Justice Mantz introduced to the joint convention the Honorable Ray O. Garber, former Representative from Adair county, who delivered the following address:

It has been twenty-five years since I have attempted to talk in this chamber. I perhaps am somewhat removed from the problems confronting you; so the story is applicable of the fellow who wandered into the club car on a train and said, "Is there a lawyer in the car?" No one answered, and he went out. After a while he came back in and evidently he was slightly intoxicated. He said, "Is there a doctor in the car?" No one answered, and he went out. Finally, he came back for the third time and before he could say anything a gentleman, who had been sitting in the corner of the car, stepped up and said, "I have noticed that you have been asking for a lawyer and a doctor. I am a Presbyterian minister. Could I do anything for you?" The fellow looked at him and said, "Hell, no. I am looking for a corkscrew. I don't think you could do anything."

I think that applies to Judge Mantz' asking me to come here and talk to this Assembly, and I feel the association has done you an injustice to schedule me for an address, for I feel that no group is as much entitled to have one who speaks here think carefully and prepare that which he presents to you, because, after all, it is through you that there is reflected the hopes and aims of the men and women of Iowa.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association, however, deems it a distinct privilege to be invited to attend and take part in a joint session of the Fifty-third General Assembly. A little more than two years ago, we celebrated the one hundredth year of statehood. In December of 1846, President Polk signed the bill admitting Iowa into the Union as the twenty-ninth state. At that time less than 100,000 people lived within our borders. In 1846 Iowa was a great undeveloped state and the citizens of that day could hardly venture a guess relative to the progress that would be made during the first century of statehood. They were, however, deeply concerned as to the future and great credit is due the state officials and members of early Iowa legislatures, and judges of the supreme and district courts, for the enactment and interpretation of laws that established the course, which, through a full century of progress, has made this the greatest state in the Union.

The members of the early sessions of the General Assembly, following the admission of Iowa into the Union, were, as are the men and women of this session, of high intelligence and open minds. They were charged with framing the legislation for this great state.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association was organized in 1886 by a group of members of early legislatures, state officials, judges and congressmen. It is met today for the thirtieth session, and each session since the founding has been an enjoyable reunion and the session this morning at the state historical building will long be remembered.

It was my great privilege to serve as a member of the General Assembly in the Thirty-ninth, Fortieth and Fortieth Extra, or code revision, sessions. It was delightful today to mingle again and visit with a number of men with whom I served in 1921, 1923 and 1924, and after the morning meeting of the association recessed, I was convinced that it was an organization of friendship and for the upbuilding of our great state with a wish and desire for peace and good-will among men. The members of the association have full understanding of the American idea and ideals. Its basic tenet is that man is made in God's image, endowed by his Creator with inalienable rights among which are the rights to life, liberty and to pursue happiness. They understand that the colonists were actuated in their coming to America by two primary ideals. One, the right in freedom of conscience to worship their Creator in accordance with the dictates of their conscience; and the other, to pursue happiness with freedom to earn their bread as they would; the right to aspire; the right without regimentation or undue regulation to be self-respecting, self-sufficient sons of God. These people faced a wilderness and land almost untouched but from their own energies applied to nature's bounties they progressed and gained security. The ruling classes of the old world still sought to levy taxes upon them without right to be heard as to their imposition. Although compromise and understanding was sought, it was in war that the declared liberties of these peoples were won.

A period intervened—ringing in the ears of the patriots were those immortal words, "Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." Yet, defensive measures lagged. The serious minded people of that day believed that "In union there is strength." The weakness of the federation immediately became apparent, and seven years after hostilities ceased, a constitutional form of government for the several states was erected. Some of the citizens yet retained the thought of the ultimate sovereignty of the separate state, yet broader minds, realizing the universality of the concept of freedom, and realizing the force and power necessary to its preservation, sought to protect and preserve the Union of the states as the true guardian of our liberties. Through sixty years of almost unceasing debate the issue was ever present and finally that issue took the aggregated form of secession and with it came the Civil War, and at enormous cost the Union of States survived.

Up to that time a nation had existed—half slave and half free. Man in his racial pride had, in a portion of our country, denied to great numbers of our people, because of color alone, the thought of their common brotherhood—had denied to them the liberties and the freedom which were conceived to be the privileges of the white man and refused them the independent rights as said in the Declaration to come from the Creator.

Beyond the graves of Bunker Hill, Valley Forge and of Yorktown, that progress to universal freedom might be made, it became necessary that there should be thousands upon thousands of graves at Bull Run, Gettysburg and Richmond.

In a meeting such as this we must look back to that other day and time, if we are to understand the America which is ours today, for in all the pages of modern warfare there is no warfare yet described where men of equal mentality, of equal education and of equal bravery met on a field of battle nor fought so long nor made such equal sacrifices.

War leaves its aftermath. There may be surrender but unless the spirit of reconstruction, while fair and firm, be a spirit as well of charity and one without malice, the feeling of suspicion and hate will yet survive—and so it was with America after the Civil War.

In 1917 and 1918 came the true test of our nation's greatness. The true proof that the assuaging hand of time had overcome the red-hot tempers that had survived Appomattox was that the first great American army, raised by selective service, came from the north, the south, the east and the west to protect and preserve the American ideal. Not on the shores of its own land but to protect the American ideal against the challenging forces of the old world which sought again to enslave Europe and of necessity constituted a threat of enslavement to America. The men of that Army fought a good fight and fought it to victory.

We won the war, but for those things for which Americans fought and died, we lost a peace. The dragon's teeth of another conflict were taken from the councils of Versailles to the far-flung corners of the earth and there implanted in the hearts of ambitious men and desperate people. They grew, ripening into spheres of influence, and step by step came the invasion of Manchuria, the occupation of Ethiopia; the Sudetanland and invasion of Czechoslovakia, of Poland, of Denmark, of Norway, the lowlands and France, until the first phase of the World War was dwarfed in the blood and ruthlessness and fury with which man marched against his fellowmen.

All of the world's progress in the communication of intelligence and transportation, and in the improvement of the basic gifts of nature, were turned not to the improvement of the world, nor to the improvement of the state of man, but to man's destruction and his enslavement.

The counsel of certain groups and individuals went unheeded—a counsel which sought to advise the American people that there were people on the face of the earth so desperate that they were meat upon which their false Caesars might feed; that America, if she were to preserve the peace of the world, must make the sacrifice which would make her strong enough to be determinative, should she be drawn into the conflict, or, better still, that she be strong enough to prevent the first steps toward the total involvement of the world in war. But these counsels went unheeded. There were men, who, observing the audience given to the pacifists, observing the small minority of youth taking Oxford oaths and combating the ideas of service, were concerned for the protection of America and her ideals.

Pearl Harbor was a rude awakening against the dissipation of our energies and social dreams and isolationist fancies. Notwithstanding the courage evidenced at Bataan and Corregidor there should always survive in the minds of Americans the humiliation and disgrace which are to be found in the words, "Too little and too late."

I have never believed that the American principles of the American form and system of government, the God-given principles, on which our government was erected and established to preserve, are for Americans alone, but I do say that of all the governments of the world ours is the only national government which is devoted to the establishment and preservation of the liberties of all mankind. A government which has demonstrated itself sufficiently universal to accept and absorb peoples from all lands, a nation broad enough to house the places of worship of those of every religion. A land big enough to receive and accord its rights and privileges of citizenship to the peoples of every color. A land protecting and preserving the rights of conscience and permitting freedom of speech to its every citizen. A land where any or all may freely assemble. A land which affords to every man the economic opportunity to be free from want and which affords him a strength and unity, which renders him free from fear.

For the most part the people of Iowa have been outstanding examples of the feeling which should exist throughout America and throughout the world. They have worked in the works of peace and, while expressions of intolerance at times arise, those expressions are minority expressions and, in the end and as a result of common sacrifice, reason can and does prevail. America promises for the world the last best hope of earth.

The soldiers of the second phase of the World War, which ended in 1945, fought for the same things that the soldiers in 1917 and 1918 fought for, and those who are veterans of the war of 1917-18 are comrades with the soldiers of the second phase of the world's modern struggle. The soldiers of World War II fought on step by step, and no step without its cost, to the victory that could not be denied, and we can today well charge ourselves with the thought that we must be unceasing in our efforts to preserve the ideals for which they fought.

The Fifty-second and Fifty-third General Assemblies of Iowa have, by enactment, provided for a bonus for the Iowa men and women who served in World War II. The grateful people of Iowa, by a vote of five to one, approved the payment of the bonus to assist those men and women to rehabilitate and restore themselves to normal life. To preserve the things for which they fought, we in Iowa must uphold the representatives of this nation, who speak for us in the councils of the United Nations. Peace will not come if, while giving lip service to the American idea, we deny it in our hearts and in our conduct. Understanding will not exist abroad if it does not exist among Americans at home. We must be ready in peace to extend our hands to all people without thought of selfishness or greed or hate. We must see to it that through a concert of nations the sacrifice of the honored dead of all wars, which have established the American idea and the American ideal, shall not have been in vain. We must pledge to ourselves that the war which ended in 1945 is in truth and in fact the last world war—but, come what may, America, in the face of the ambitions of man and of people, shall never be weak again.

The Pioneer Lawmakers Association extends to all the present state officials and the members of this, the Fifty-third General Assembly, its sincere greetings. We have great confidence that your work during this session will not only bring credit to the membership, but will render great service to all the people of this great state.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved, which motion prevailed.

By Jacobson

A Senate resolution relating to an invitation to the executive council and secretary of state of the state of Iowa for the display of the original constitution of the state of Iowa.

Preliminary Statement

The constitution of the state of Iowa was signed on March 5, 1857, at Iowa City, Iowa, and was adopted by the constitutional convention of the state of Iowa on that date.

This historic document is within the custody and control of the secretary of state of the state of Iowa.

During the deliberations of the Fifty-third General Assembly, the members thereof have become more and more cognizant of the importance of this great document. It would be stimulating to the members of the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa if they were given an opportunity to view the original copy of the constitution of the state of Iowa in the Senate chamber.

It would likewise be of educational interest if such document were displayed in such manner that school children and other persons who visit the General Assembly each day were given an opportunity to see the original longhand copy of the constitution of the state of Iowa.

Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa: That the executive council of the state of Iowa be invited to make arrangements with the secretary of state to display the original constitution of the state of Iowa in the Senate chamber for examination by the members of the Senate and their employees, provided the executive council and the secretary of state conclude that such display is feasible and may conveniently be arranged by them.

That such display in the Senate chamber be temporary only and be made for only such period of time as will give the members of the Senate and their employees an opportunity to view such document.

That the secretary of the Senate be authorized to cooperate with the executive council and the secretary of state in making arrangements for such display and that he be authorized to designate from the employees of the Senate proper personnel to have such instrument under their supervision and protection while being displayed.

That the executive council be invited to make arrangements with the secretary of state for the public display of the original copy of the constitution of the state of Iowa in the rotunda of the state house, outside the door to the Senate chamber, so that the same may be viewed by school children and others who visit the Senate during the present session of the Fifty-third General Assembly.

That the secretary of the Senate be authorized to make personnel from the employees of the Senate available to the secretary of state for the purpose of guarding such document while being so displayed.

Senator Jacobson asked and received unanimous consent to take up Senate Resolution 5 and moved its adoption.

The motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

Senator Jacobson moved that the Secretary of the Senate be instructed to forward copies of Senate Resolution 5 to the secretary of state and to the secretary of the executive council, which motion prevailed.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 15

By Bekman, Zastrow, Benson, Whitehead, McCarville, Augustine, West, Berg, Faul, McMurry, Watson of Pottawattamie, Gillespie, Skourup, Risk, Ridout, Reilly and Knudson.

Whereas, war is now a threat to the very existence of our civilization, because modern science has produced weapons of war which are overwhelmingly destructive and against which there is no sure defense; and,

Whereas, the effective maintenance of world peace is the proper concern and responsibility of every American citizen; and,

Whereas, the people of the state of Iowa, while now enjoying domestic peace and security under the laws of their local, state and federal governments, deeply desire the guarantee of world peace; and,

Whereas, all history shows that peace is the product of law and order, and that law and order are the product of government; and,

Whereas, the United Nations, as presently constituted, although accomplishing great good in many fields, lacks authority to enact, interpret or enforce world law, and under its present character is incapable of restraining any major nations which may foster or foment war; and,

Whereas, the charter of the United Nations expressly provides, in article 109, a procedure for reviewing and altering the charter; and,

Whereas, at least seventeen states have memorialized Congress, through resolutions by their state legislatures or in referenda by their voters, to initiate steps toward the creation of a world federal government; and,

Whereas, several nations have recently adopted constitutional provisions to facilitate their entry into a world federal government by authorizing the delegation to such a world federal government of a portion of their sovereignty sufficient to endow it with powers adequate to prevent war; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House Concurring: That application is hereby made to the Congress of the United States, pursuant to article V of the constitution of the United States, to call a convention for the sole purpose of proposing amendment of the constitution to expedite and permit the participation of the United States in a world federal government, open to all nations, with powers which, while defined and limited, shall be adequate to preserve peace, whether the proposed charter or constitution of such world federal government be presented in the form of amendments to the charter of the United Nations, or by a world constitutional convention, or otherwise.

Be It Further Resolved: That the secretary of state of the state of Iowa is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the chairmen of the Senate foreign relations committee and the House foreign affairs committee of the said Congress, to the members of the said Congress from the state of Iowa, and to the presiding officers of each of the legislatures in the several states, requesting their cooperation.

TO THE SENATOR FROM LEE

In honor of Senator Hart who today celebrates his birthday, and on motion of Senator Faul, the following, which was presented by Senator Lynes, was ordered printed in the Senate Journal:

Of all the guys in the Senate clan,
Among the best is Lee county's Stan;
He's dapper and gay and full of fun too,
And at serious work his share he'll do.

The man's big and strong and doesn't worry,
He does right well with a shady story.
Stan puts plenty of pep in his fun or work,
And he goes for the scenery of a pretty clerk.

He's had lots of experience from banks to cheese,
When chairman of sifting he learned how to squeeze.
For a show or a party if you need an M. C.
You can't find a better one than our Stan will be.

It took his first assembly to find and assume,
That the northwest corner was not a committee room.
But from then till now he's never late,
In case of doubt he calls rule eight.

Stan is friendly with all, but he has a twin,
The distinguished sage, the Senator from Linn.
Whether in dive or pub or aristocratic bower,
In their coat lapels you'll find a beautiful flower.

And now on this birthday of our Senator brother,
Here's hoping he lives for many another.
When in future years he thinks of this time,
May his worries be few as he recalls the rhyme.

"1903 — 1949"

Senator Faul asked and received unanimous consent to take up the following resolution by the members of the Senate as a committee of the whole:

SENATE RESOLUTION 46

Whereas, Minnesota has Paul Bunyan, who sat down on ten acres and was stronger than an onion; and,

Whereas, Iowa has no legendary characters all ready made with which to rake off a little of that profitable Bemidji tourist trade; and,

Whereas, it does have one character with muscles bigger than bustles; and,

Whereas, he has been known to take a sideshow wrestler who weighed three hundred pounds less an ounce, and make him bounce and bounce and bounce; and,

Whereas, he is one of the members of the Iowa Senate sufficiently rash or sufficiently powerful to raise a mustache; and,

Whereas, you could put the Governor's residence between his left shoulder blade and his right shoulder blade, and he casts a remarkable amount of shade;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate: Without anyone concurring, that "Buster" Lynes should be made into a state monument like the soldiers and sailors or one of those other chunks of stone; and when the word gets to Minnesota that Iowa has got that kind of a figger, they won't find any bigger. And this shall be effective when published in a city brief, in the Perry Daily Chief.

Senator Hattery offered the following amendment to the resolution and moved its adoption:

Amend Senate Resolution 46 by adding thereto the following: "That the Senator from Bremer be required to present to each member of the Senate a Farm Bureau necktie to be worn by each Senator for the remainder of the session and especially when Farm Bureau legislation is being considered.

"That the statute provided for in this resolution shall be enacted without any expense to the state and shall come purely from voluntary donations by the members of the Senate, the clerks of the Senate and any other interested parties."

The amendment was adopted.

The resolution as amended was unanimously adopted with Best Wishes.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Whereas, war is now a threat to the very existence of our civilization, because modern science has produced weapons of war which are overwhelmingly destructive and against which there is no sure defense; and,

Whereas, the effective maintenance of world peace is the proper concern and responsibility of every American citizen; and,

Whereas, the people of the state of Iowa, while now enjoying domestic peace and security under the laws of their local, state and federal governments, deeply desire the guarantee of world peace; and,

Whereas, all history shows that peace is the product of law and order, and that law and order are the product of government; and,

Whereas, the United Nations, as presently constituted, although accomplishing great good in many fields, lacks authority to enact, interpret or enforce world law, and under its present charter is incapable of restraining any major nations which may foster or foment war; and,

Whereas, the charter of the United Nations expressly provides, in article 109, a procedure for reviewing and altering the charter; and,

Whereas, at least seventeen states have memorialized Congress, through resolutions by their state legislatures or in referenda by their voters, to initiate steps toward the creation of a world federal government; and,

Whereas, several nations have recently adopted constitutional provisions to facilitate their entry into a world federal government by authorizing the delegation to such a world federal government of a portion of their sovereignty sufficient to endow it with powers adequate to prevent war; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That application is hereby made to the Congress of the United States, pursuant to article V of the constitution of the United States, to call a convention for the sole purpose of proposing amendment of the constitution to expedite and permit the participation of the United States in a world federal government, open to all nations, with powers which, while defined and limited, shall be adequate to preserve peace, whether the proposed charter or constitution of such world federal government be presented in the form of amendments to the charter of the United Nations, or by a world constitutional convention, or otherwise.

Be It Further Resolved: That the secretary of state of the state of Iowa is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the chairmen of the Senate foreign relations committee and the House foreign affairs committee of the said Congress, to the members of the said Congress from the state of Iowa, and to the presiding officers of each of the legislatures in the several states, requesting their cooperation.

POINT OF ORDER

Senator Hattery called to the attention of the Senate action taken on House File 206 and raised a point of order that House File 206, which was originally passed by the House and later rejected by the Senate, was by unanimous consent recalled from the House, and that on March 8, 1949, the following action was taken: "Senator Faul moved that the record of the Senate action on House File 206 on February 15 be expunged from the Senate Journal, and that the bill be referred to the sifting committee. Division was called for. The motion prevailed by a two-thirds majority of those present and the record was expunged, and House File 206 was referred to the sifting committee."

Senator Hattery stated that, since the motion expunging the record of the Senate action on House File 206 was adopted, the bill is not now eligible for consideration by the Senate due to the fact that it must be read a first and second time and then referred to the sifting committee.

The chair ruled the point well taken.

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and the title agreed to.

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

The Senate proceeded to the House under the direction of the Sergeant-at-arms.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 17, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order, Kenneth A. Evans, President of the Senate, presiding.

Brown of Mahaska moved that a committee of three be appointed to notify the Governor and his official party that the joint convention was ready to receive them.

Motion prevailed and President Evans appointed as such committee Brown of Mahaska and Clark of Marion on the part of the House, and Senator Augustine on the part of the Senate.

The committee previously appointed escorted Governor Beardsley and his party to the House chamber.

MARY MARGARET

The cutest little stranger
Came to us the other day,
And from the way she feels at home,
I'm sure she wants to stay.

They named her Mary Margaret,
A good old fashioned name,
But if she had no name at all,
We'd love her just the same.

Her hands are tiny little things;
Her eyes a pretty blue;
It won't be many weeks, I'm sure—
'Till she will smile and coo.

I may be wrong, she may not be Much sweeter than the rest,
But some folks call me Grandpa now,
That's why I love her best.

MY VALENTINE

Two little girls, sisters they are,
And both sweethearts of mine.
Picture them on their Grandpa's knee—
You have my Valentine.

One can visit and tell about
Alice in Wonderland,
And seems amazed if I pretend
I do not understand.

She tells me how babes have turned to pigs,
And all that Tommy-rot,
And won't permit a Ripley's choice
Believing it or not.

The other talks mostly with her hands,
Her eyes, they talk some too;
But I know everything she's said
Sometimes before she's through.

You do not need to envy me
The happiness that's mine,
For I defy the world to show
A sweeter Valentine.

NOC NEE AND HANK-SHUS

He said, "Noc Nee, will you be mine,
If I bring you a valentine
Of Pangburn candies, fresh and sweet,
And lay it at your korny feet?"

She said, "Hank-Shus, the proper thing
Would be a little diamond ring,
But since Pangburn's is so divine
I shall accept your valentine."

PETER RAT

Said Papa Rat to Mamma Rat,
"Let's go and build a cozy flat,
Quite near a corn and oat bin
To raise our growing family in."

Not thinking of the slightest harm;
They hied away to McCarty's farm;
Their appetites to gratify
Likewise to add and multiply.

Soon Papa Rat was a Grandpa,
And Mamma was a Grandma;
In spite of all the dogs and cats,
They soon produced a thousand rats.

And every day from night till morn,
They kill his chickens, ate his corn.
They chewed his harness, spoiled his grain,
And nearly drove the man insane.

But just before he lost his mind,
A ray of hope he chanced to find.
He acted on what Osborn said,
And now McCarty's rats are dead.

MOTHER

In memory you may recall
The days that used to be,
When someone stroked your tousled head,
And kissed you tenderly.

You may recall a furrowed brow
Beneath locks turning gray,
And eyes that seem to understand
The paths wherein you stray.

Picture again two willing hands,
Tired by the cares of day;
That righted you whene'er you fell,
And brushed your tears away.

Call back those golden happy hours,
In memory live o'er
The days you spent in paradise,
Not far from Mother's door.

No other shrine beneath the stars
Has brought the heart such ease,
As that that's found in humbleness
The altar at her knees.

EPHRAHAM

The cotton pickin' days were o'er;
Plantation life was slow.
Old Ephraham and his mule, Ike,
To Birmingham must go.

He hitched old Ike onto a cart,
A two wheeled rattle trap
And says, "We sho will find dat place
If it am on de map."

Three times that day old Ephraham
Passed strangers on the way.
Though miles apart to each of them,
Here's what he had to say.

"Howdy, Howdy, Mistuh.
My name is Ephraham.
Can yo' all tell how far it is On up to Birmingham?"

"Just twenty miles," each one replied;
Anxiety was shown.
Eph cracked his whip and said, "Old Ike, Yo' sho can hold yo' own."

THE OLD DINNER BELL

Where memory loves to dwell,
I think the most of us recall
That old, old dinner bell.

Somewhere within our yesterdays,
We hear the gentle knell
That brings to mind the life around
That old, old dinner bell.

No music, ever was quite so sweet,
No wave length e'er will tell,
A message that will charm your life
That old, old dinner bell.

Our horses gave an anxious neigh;
It seems they knew full well
Just what was meant when mother rang
That old, old dinner bell.

I'd like to hear that sweet refrain,
The world I'd like to tell,
The magic of its melody,
That old, old dinner bell.

THE TOURIST

It was midnight on the highway,
Their hearts beat with regret;
"We are lost," the tourist whispered
As he lit a cigarette.

But when day broke o'er the landscape,
Their hearts beat with delight,
They had parked between two cornfields
In Iowa over night.

DUMB AND BLIND

I dreamed I went to Washington,
To Washington, D. C.;
To meet and greet the President,
And see what I could see.

I dreamt I walked a hundred miles,
And knocked on every door,

And not a soul bid me come in,
No wonder I was sore.

I was about to rave and rant,
And give up in despair,
When the sweet voice of Eleanor said,
"Won't you have a chair?"

Since I was weary, worn and tired,
With gratitude, I wept;
Quite mindful she could change her mind
Before I could accept.

I thanked her in a kindly way,
And said, "Dear Eleanor,
It seems to me, the Democrats
Are guarding every door."

She pointed to my coat lapel,
The light began to dawn;
Old fool, I was, I found I had A Hoover button on.

- Mary Margaret Osborne and Kathleen Osborne, granddaughters of Mr. Osborne, were introduced to the joint convention.

"The Iowa Flag Song" was sung by Mrs. Lyall H. Mitchell, of Oskaloosa, accompanied by the composer, Esther May Clark, at the piano, and Ruth Ann Augustine on the flute.

Clark of Marion moved that "The Iowa Flag Song" be adopted as the official flag song of the state of Iowa.

Motion prevailed.

The minutes of the joint convention were read and approved.

Weichman of Benton moved that the joint convention be now dissolved.

Motion prevailed.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 18

Senator Bekman called up the following resolution and moved its adoption:

Whereas, war is now a threat to the very existence of our civilization, because modern science has produced weapons of war which are overwhelmingly destructive and against which there is no sure defense; and,

Whereas, the effective maintenance of world peace is the proper concern and responsibility of every American citizen; and,

Whereas, the people of the state of Iowa, while now enjoying domestic peace and security under the laws of their local, state and federal governments, deeply desire the guarantee of world peace; and,

Whereas, all history shows that peace is the product of law and order, and that law and order are the product of government; and,

Whereas, the United Nations, as presently constituted, although accomplishing great good in many fields, lacks authority to enact, interpret or enforce world law, and under its present charter is incapable of restraining any major nations which may foster or foment war; and,

Whereas, the charter of the United Nations expressly provides, in article 109, a procedure for reviewing and altering the charter; and,

Whereas, at least seventeen states have memorialized Congress, through resolutions by their state legislatures or in referenda by their voters, to initiate steps toward the creation of a world federal government; and,

Whereas, several nations have recently adopted constitutional provisions to facilitate their entry into a world federal government by authorizing the delegation to such a world federal government of a portion of their sovereignty sufficient to endow it with powers adequate to prevent war; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That application is hereby made to the Congress of the United States, pursuant to article V of the constitution of the United States, to call a convention for the sole purpose of proposing amendment of the constitution to expedite and permit the participation of the United States in a world federal government, open to all nations, with powers which, while defined and limited, shall be adequate to preserve peace, whether the proposed charter or constitution of such world federal government be presented in the form of amendments to the charter of the United Nations, or by a world constitutional convention, or otherwise.

Be It Further Resolved: That the secretary of state of the state of Iowa is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the President of the United States, to the Vice President of the United States, to the Speaker of the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States, to the chairmen of the Senate foreign relations committee and the House foreign affairs committee of the said Congress, to the members of the said Congress from the state of Iowa, and to the presiding officers of each of the legislatures in the several states, requesting their cooperation.

Roll call was demanded.

Senator Elthon moved that the resolution be left in its present status and that further action on the resolution be deferred for ten legislative days before being further considered by the Senate.

Senator Walter moved as a substitute that House Concurrent Resolution 18 be referred to the committee on judiciary 1 for further study.

HOUSE AMENDMENT TO SENATE FILE 470

Amend Senate File 470 as follows:

1. Section 1, lines 3 and 4, by striking the following words and figures "two hundred eight thousand six hundred dollars ($208,600)" and inserting in lieu thereof the words and figures "two hundred twenty thousand dollars ($220,000)".

4. Further amend section 1, line 13, by striking the figures "$208,600" and inserting in lieu thereof the figures "$220,000".

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

Whereas, Iowa produces, both as to value and numbers, more eggs than any other state in the Union; and,

Whereas, the farm income of Iowa from eggs alone in 1948 was approximately $140,000,000; and,

Whereas, the people of Iowa are strongly in favor of a fair and adequate price support program for eggs; and,

Whereas, the United States department of agriculture and all state extension departments have approved and promoted a program whereby eggs would be sold strictly on a quality basis, which program resulted in eighty per cent of all eggs sold in Iowa being evaluated on standards of quality and grade; and,

Whereas, in the administration of the support program by the federal government only the price of dry eggs has been supported, while the price of frozen and shell eggs has not been supported, with the result that undergrade eggs in the present market command almost the same price as the top consumer grade AA eggs; and,

Whereas, this policy has destroyed the producer's ability to market eggs on a quality basis according to grade and has undermined the grading program, which formerly encouraged production of a quality product; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Congress of the United States is memorialized to require price support of eggs at the top grade, including frozen and shell eggs, with deductions for undergrade eggs, and to eliminate the present practice of supporting only the price of dry eggs.

Be It Further Resolved: That the Chief Clerk be instructed to send a copy of this resolution to the United States Senators from Iowa and to the Representatives in Congress from Iowa and to the secretary of agriculture of the United States.

W. N. SKOURUP.

Amend Senate File 342 by striking all after the enacting clause and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

Section 1. There is hereby created as a permanent fund in the office of the treasurer of state a fund to be known as the school tax credit fund, and for the purpose of maintaining and establishing such fund there is hereby appropriated from the general fund of the state of Iowa the sum of twenty million dollars ($20,000,000) for each of the calendar years beginning on January 1, 1950, and January 1, 1951. Any balances remaining in such fund on January 1 of each year after 1950 from funds previously appropriated shall revert to the general fund of the state of Iowa.

Sec. 2. School tax credit funds shall be apportioned each year in the manner hereinafter provided to give a credit against the tax imposed upon all real and personal property in the state of Iowa, other than moneys and credits or other intangible personal property, for the benefit of the general fund of the school district in which such property is taxable. Whenever the general school fund levy imposed upon such property for collection the following year shall be in excess of fifteen (15) mills upon the dollar of taxable valuation, such credit shall be in the amount of fifty (50) per cent of the excess of the millage levies for the general school fund above fifteen (15) mills, except as otherwise provided by this act. In case there shall be insufficient funds in the school tax credit fund for reimbursement in full of fifty (50) per cent of the school tax general levies upon all property in the state subject to such credit, the credit upon such tax shall be proportionate to the amount available for allocation throughout the state.

Sec. 3. In any case when any property is subject to a credit under the provisions of chapter four hundred twenty-five (425), Code of 1946, there shall be deducted from the school tax credit herein defined an amount which shall be equal to any excess over fifteen mills which is credited or subject to credit to the school district in which such property is located in the form of homestead credits as provided by such chapter four hundred twenty-five (425), Code of 1946. Such excess millage shall be determined by applying the percentage which the millage levy for the general school fund in such districts bears to the total millage for all purposes levied in such district, not including any levy for state purposes, to twenty-five (25) mills, and the deduction, if any, shall be computed by multiplying the taxable valuation of the property subject to such homestead credit by the number of mills in excess of fifteen mills as determined by this section.

Sec. 4. Immediately upon receiving the certification of the budget from each school district in each year beginning in 1949 the county auditor shall determine the tax rate for the general fund of the district in the manner as provided in section four hundred forty-four point three (444.3) of the Code of 1946, and if the tax rate in such district is in excess of fifteen (15) mills he shall multiply 50 per cent of the millage which is in excess of 15 mills by the total taxable valuation of real and personal property other than moneys and credits or other intangible personal property subject to school tax credit as provided by this act. He shall, when he has determined the amount of property subject to school tax credit in all school districts, and when he has determined the amount which will be required for a credit of 50 per cent of the tax levied on such property in the county in excess of 15 mills, certify the amount of such allowable tax credit to the state comptroller, less the amount of credits which are deductible upon property subject to homestead credits in school districts where the millage credit for which such districts of the county receive payments from the homestead credit fund is in excess of fifteen (15) mills, as provided by the preceding section. Such certification shall be made not later than December 1 of each year.

Sec. 5. After receiving from the several county auditors of the state the certifications provided by the previous section of this act, the state comptroller shall draw a warrant on the school tax credit fund created by this act, payable to the county treasurers of the several counties of the state, for fifty (50) per cent total amount certified by the county auditors of the respective counties, and shall mail such warrants to the county auditors of said counties, provided that in the event the school tax credit fund is insufficient to pay the full total of the amount certified to the state comptroller, he shall prorate the fund to the several county treasurers and notify the several county auditors of the pro rata percentage which has been applied in the apportionment of school tax credit funds throughout the state. He shall, on or before July 15 of each year, forward to the county treasurer of each county the remaining fifty (50) per cent of credits certified by the said county.

Sec. 6. Upon receiving the warrants for the first payment from the state comptroller the county auditor shall determine the amount thereof to be credited upon the tax list to each and every property entitled to school tax credit and shall enter such credit upon the tax list, fifty (50) per cent of such amount being credited upon the taxes payable for the first half of the year, and fifty (50) per cent upon the taxes payable for the second half of the year, and such credits shall be shown upon the receipts issued upon payment of taxes. The county treasurer shall credit to the general fund of each school district in which property receiving school tax credits is located the amounts payable for school tax credits as provided herein. Such credit shall be given to the school district general funds as rapidly as possible after the receipt of warrants from the state comptroller. If the amount received from the state comptroller is inadequate to make school tax credit allowances in the full amount as provided, the credit allowed shall be in the proportion as fixed by the state comptroller.

Sec. 7. This act shall apply to property located in school districts which include cities under special charter or any part of such cities.

Sec. 8. Chapter two hundred eighty-six (286) of the Code, 1946, as amended, is hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. Section four hundred twenty-six point one (426.1), Code 1946, is hereby amended by substituting a period for the comma at the end of line four (4) thereof and striking the remainder of said section.

Sec. 10. Sections one (1), two (2), three (3), four (4), five (5) and six (6) of chapter one hundred fifty-two (152), Laws of the Fifty-second General Assembly, are hereby repealed.

Sec. 11. Section seven (7) of chapter one hundred fifty-two (152), Laws of the Fifty-second General Assembly, is hereby amended by striking all of line one (1) of said section and the words "for the distribution of general aid herein appropriated", and by capitalizing the word "the" preceding the word "funds" in line two (2) thereof; also by striking from said section seven (7) lines five (5), six (6), seven (7) and eight (8) and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "all school tax credit funds apportioned to any school district of the state from the school tax credit fund shall be credited to the general fund of said district which fund shall be used only for the following purposes:".

Sec. 12. In any county in which payments of credits are received from the state treasurer which are in excess of the amounts as finally credited, any balance remaining shall be returned to the state treasurer not later than January 15 of each year subsequent to 1950, and the state treasurer shall restore the same to the school tax credit fund.

Sec. 13. The state comptroller and the state tax commission shall cooperate with the auditors and treasurers of the various counties in carrying out the provisions of this act, and the state comptroller and the state tax commission are authorized jointly to issue such rules and regulations as are required for proper administration of this act.

Amend the title to Senate File 342 by striking all after the word "Act" in line one (1) and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"providing for an appropriation of $20,000,000 annually from the general fund of the state of Iowa for the purposes of relieving real and personal property of the state from the burden of school general fund taxes upon such property, providing for the granting of school tax credits in the amount of fifty per cent of the levies of the general funds of the school districts of the state in excess of fifteen mills upon taxable valuation, providing the crediting of funds appropriated upon the tax lists, providing for the allocation of school tax credit payments

In case there shall be insufficient funds in the school tax credit fund for reimbursement in full of fifty (50) per cent of the school tax general levies upon all property in the state subject to such credit, the credit upon such tax shall be proportionate to the amount available for allocation throughout the state.

Sec. 3. In any case when any property is subject to a credit under the provisions of chapter four hundred twenty-five (425), Code of 1946, there shall be deducted from the school tax credit herein defined an amount which shall be equal to any excess over fifteen mills which is credited or subject to credit to the school district in which such property is located in the form of homestead credits as provided by such chapter four hundred twenty-five (425), Code of 1946. Such excess millage shall be determined by applying the percentage which the millage levy for the general school fund in such districts bears to the total millage for all purposes levied in such district, not including any levy for state purposes, to twenty-five (25) mills, and the deduction, if any, shall be computed by multiplying the taxable valuation of the property subject to such homestead credit by the number of mills in excess of fifteen mills as determined by this section.

Sec. 4. Immediately upon receiving the certification of the budget from each school district in each year beginning in 1949 the county auditor shall determine the tax rate for the general fund of the district in the manner as provided in section four hundred forty-four point three (444.3) of the Code of 1946, and if the tax rate in such district is in excess of fifteen (15) mills he shall multiply 50 per cent of the millage which is in excess of 15 mills by the total taxable valuation of real and personal property other than moneys and credits or other intangible personal property subject to school tax credit as provided by this act. He shall, when he has determined the amount of property subject to school tax credit in all school districts, and when he has determined the amount which will be required for a credit of 50 per cent of the tax levied on such property in the county in excess of 15 mills, certify the amount of such allowable tax credit to the state comptroller, less the amount of credits which are deductible upon property subject to homestead credits in school districts where the millage credit for which such districts of the county receive payments from the homestead credit fund is in excess of fifteen (15) mills, as provided by the preceding section. Such certification shall be made not later than December 1 of each year.

Sec. 5. After receiving from the several county auditors of the state the certifications provided by the previous section of this act, the state comptroller shall draw a warrant on the school tax credit fund created by this act, payable to the county treasurers of the several counties of the state, for fifty (50) per cent total amount certified by the county auditors of the respective counties, and shall mail such warrants to the county auditors of said counties, provided that in the event the school tax credit fund is insufficient to pay the full total of the amount certified to the state comptroller, he shall prorate the fund to the several county treasurers and notify the several county auditors of the pro rata percentage which has been applied in the apportionment of school tax credit funds throughout the state. He shall, on or before July 15 of each year, forward to the county treasurer of each county the remaining fifty (50) per cent of credits certified by the said county.

Sec. 6. Upon receiving the warrants for the first payment from the state comptroller the county auditor shall determine the amount thereof to be credited upon the tax list to each and every property entitled to school tax credit and shall enter such credit upon the tax list, fifty (50) per cent of such amount being credited upon the taxes payable for the first half of the year, and fifty (50) per cent upon the taxes payable for the second half of the year, and such credits shall be shown upon the receipts issued upon payment of taxes. The county treasurer shall credit to the general fund of each school district in which property receiving school tax credits is located the amounts payable for school tax credits as provided herein. Such credit shall be given to the school district general funds as rapidly as possible after the receipt of warrants from the state comptroller. If the amount received from the state comptroller is inadequate to make school tax credit allowances in the full amount as provided, the credit allowed shall be in the proportion as fixed by the state comptroller.

Sec. 7. This act shall apply to property located in school districts which include cities under special charter or any part of such cities.

Sec. 8. Chapter two hundred eighty-six (286) of the Code, 1946, as amended, is hereby repealed.

Sec. 9. Section four hundred twenty-six point one (426.1), Code 1946, is hereby amended by substituting a period for the comma at the end of line four (4) thereof and striking the remainder of said section.

Sec. 12. In any county in which payments of credits are received from the state treasurer which are in excess of the amounts as finally credited, any balance remaining shall be returned to the state treasurer not later than January 15 of each year subsequent to 1950, and the state treasurer shall restore the same to the school tax credit fund.

Sec. 13. The state comptroller and the state tax commission shall cooperate with the auditors and treasurers of the various counties in carrying out the provisions of this act, and the state comptroller and the state tax commission are authorized jointly to issue such rules and regulations as are required for proper administration of this act.

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGES

STATE OF IOWA
Office of the Governor
Des Moines

April 7, 1949.

Honorable Kenneth A. Evans
President of the Senate

Dear Mr. President:

I am returning Senate File 475 without my signature for the following reasons:

The state of Iowa has no authority in fixing rate schedules for electric current within the municipalities of the state and therefore the power to change the rate or establish rates is entirely within the control of the several municipalities of the state. In view of this fact, it seems to me that it is a bad precedent for the legislature to enact legislation of this type.

I have, therefore, disapproved Senate File 475, and I am returning the same herewith.

Respectfully yours,
WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

April 7, 1949.

Honorable Kenneth A. Evans
President of the Senate

Dear Mr. President:

I am returning Senate File 484 without my signature for the following reason:

There has been no showing that in complying with the provisions of the statutes that this act is necessary.

I have, therefore, disapproved Senate File 484, and I am returning the same herewith.

Respectfully yours,
WM. S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

By Faul and Bekman

Whereas, the United States has developed in the atom bomb the greatest instrument of destruction ever conceived by the mind of man; and,

Whereas, the construction and functioning of said bomb is now a secret possessed by the scientists of the United States alone and constitutes the world's foremost secret; and,

Whereas, dissemination of such knowledge to irresponsible persons would constitute a grave danger to the peace and security of free peoples, and the control of said bomb by the United States is a great deterrent to open warfare against the United States; and,

Whereas, it is generally believed that should a third world war develop with all nations involved possessing the secret of the atom bomb it would result in cataclysmic suicide of the human race on a global basis;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly of the State of Iowa, the House Concurring:

Section 1. That the Congress of the United States is hereby memorialized to permit no action to be taken to reveal or divulge the secrets of the atom bomb, its ingredients, composition or functioning to any foreign nation, except and until such action may be sanctioned and approved by the people of the United States voting in a special plebiscite on that question, or as such action may be necessary by the President of the United States under wartime powers.

Sec. 2. The secretary of state is hereby directed to forward copies of this resolution to the President and Vice President of the United States and to the Speaker of the House of Representatives under seal of his office.

"repealed."

"Sec. 3. Power to establish. In order to provide for the graveling, oiling or other suitable surfacing of secondary roads, the board of supervisors shall have power, on petition, to establish secondary road assessment districts.

"Sec. 4. Width of district. Any such secondary road assessment district shall be not more than one mile wide on each side of the road or roads to be improved by said district.

"Sec. 5. Amount of assessment. Special assessments in the aggregate amount of not less than twenty-five per cent of the total estimated cost of surfacing any road included in a secondary road assessment district project shall be apportioned and levied on the lands included in said secondary road assessment district.

"Sec. 6. County line road. Whenever it is desired to surface a secondary road on a county line, as a secondary road assessment district project, the board of supervisors of any county concerned may establish an assessment district in its county, and levy and collect special assessments for the payment of that portion of the estimated cost of such project assessable against lands in that county. Each county shall pay its share of the cost of said project as provided in this act, in the same manner as though the project were located wholly within that county.

"Sec. 7. Project in city or town. Any road or street which is a continuation of a secondary road within any city or town and which the county board desires to improve by graveling, oiling or other suitable surfacing, may by resolution of the county board and concurrence by the council of the city or town be improved as a secondary road assessment district project or part thereof as herein provided. The lands within such city or town abutting on or adjacent to such street or road may be included within such secondary road assessment district and assessed on account of such improvement upon the same basis and in the same manner as though such lands were located outside of a city or town.

"Sec. 8. Petition—information required.

The petition for a secondary road assessment district proposing to establish such district shall intelligently describe the road or roads proposed to be improved, the nature of the proposed improvement and the lands proposed to be included in such district.

"Such petition shall be signed by thirty-five per cent of the owners of the lands within such proposed district, or by thirty-five per cent of the owners of the land within such proposed district who reside within said county.

"Sec. 9. When any owner or group of owners of not less than seventy-five per cent (75%) of the lands adjacent to, or abutting upon any secondary road or roads shall, on or before December first of any year, petition the board of supervisors of their county for the improving by graveling, or other suitable surfacing, of said road or roads, and for the assessment of not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the cost of such improving, by graveling or other suitable surfacing, to the lands adjacent to, or abutting upon said road or roads, the board of supervisors shall, in the order in which such petitions were filed with it, include and give preference to said project or projects in the secondary road construction program of said county for the ensuing year.

"The board of supervisors shall proceed during the ensuing year with the construction and completion of said project under the same procedure as is prescribed generally for the improvement of secondary roads by assessment, and shall, as the law may provide, establish a special secondary road assessment district and assess against the lands included therein not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the engineer's estimated cost of the surfacing of the road or roads included in said project against all the lands adjacent to or abutting upon the said road or roads.

"Provided, that should the owner or owners of all the lands included in any special secondary road assessment district under this section subscribe and deposit with the county treasurer an amount not less than fifty per cent (50%) (or such greater portion as may be provided in said petition) of the engineer's estimated cost of the surfacing of the road or roads included in said project, the board of supervisors shall not establish such special assessment district as herein provided, but shall accept the said donations in lieu of an assessment, and shall otherwise proceed to the improvement of said road or roads as herein provided.

"Upon the completion of such road or roads, and the satisfaction of all claims in relation thereto, any balance then remaining of the funds provided by the sponsors shall be returned to them according to their respective interests, providing all guarantees made by such sponsors have been fulfilled.

"Any road or roads so improved by graveling or other suitable surfacing under the provisions of this section shall be maintained by the county from the secondary road fund.

"Sec. 10. County engineer's report. Upon the filing of such petition with the county auditor proposing the establishment of such secondary road assessment district, the county engineer shall file a report thereon with the county auditor, which report shall include:

"a. An estimate of the cost of the surfacing proposed on the road or roads included in such proposed district;

"b. A plat of said proposed district which plat shall show the road or roads proposed to be improved, the various tracts and parcels of real estate included in said proposed district, and the ownership of such lands;

"c. An approximately equitable apportionment of not less than twenty-five per cent of the estimated cost of said improvement among the tracts and parcels of real estate included in such proposed district;

"d. A statement whether all of the secondary roads to be surfaced in said proposed secondary road assessment district project have been built to permanent grade and properly drained;

"e. Any information the county engineer may deem pertinent.

"Sec. 11. Publicly owned real estate. In making said apportionment, real estate owned by the state, county or any city or town shall be treated as other real estate, but no other publicly owned real estate shall be included. In apportioning benefits to real estate owned by a town, city, the county or the state, no consideration shall be given to the buildings thereon.

"Sec. 12. Estimate and apportionment—presumption. Said estimated cost shall carry the presumption, in the absence of a contrary showing, that the same correctly represents the probable cost of said project as nearly as can be determined in advance of the actual doing and completion of the work. Said apportionment shall carry the presumption, in the absence of a contrary showing, that the same is fair, just, equitable, and in proportion to the benefits and not in excess thereof.

"Sec. 13. Hearing—notice. The board of supervisors shall fix a time for hearing on the proposal for the establishment of said secondary road assessment district and on the apportionment of not less than twenty-five per cent of the estimated cost of the proposed improvement, and shall cause the county auditor to publish notice of said hearing. "2. The road or roads proposed to be improved,
"3. The type of surfacing proposed,
"4. The estimated cost of the proposed improvement,
"5. A description of the lands lying within said proposed district,

"6. The ownership of said lands as shown by the transfer books in the auditor's office,

"7. A statement of the amount apportioned to each tract or parcel of real estate as shown by the engineer's report,

"8. That at said hearing the amount apportioned to any tract or parcel of land may be increased or decreased without further notice,

"9. That all objections to the establishment of said district, to the said apportionment report, or to the proceedings relating thereto must be specifically made in writing and filed with the county auditor on or before noon of the day set for such hearing, and

"10. That a failure to make and file such objections will be deemed a conclusive waiver of all such objections.

"Sec. 14. Publication of notice. Such notice shall be published once each week for two successive weeks in some newspaper published in the county as near as practicable to said district. The last publication shall be not less than five days previous to said hearing. Proof of such publication shall be made by the publisher by affidavit filed with the county auditor.

"Sec. 15. Errors in notice or apportionment report. Any omission or error in said apportionment report or notice with respect to any tract or parcel of real estate or the description thereof, or the name of the owner, or the amount of the assessment apportioned thereto shall work no loss of jurisdiction on the part of the board over such proceeding. Such omission or error shall only affect the particular tract of real estate or person in question. If, before or after the board has entered its final order in the establishment of the said district or in the apportionment proceedings, such omission or error is discovered, the board shall fix a time for a hearing as to such party or real estate and shall cause service of notice to be made upon them, either by publication as in this act provided, or by personal service in the time and manner required for service of original notices in the district court. After such hearing the board shall proceed as to such person or land as though such omission or error had not occurred.

"Sec. 16 Appearance. The appearance of any interested party, either in writing or personally, or by authorized agent, before the board of supervisors at any stage of the pending proceedings for a secondary road assessment district shall be deemed a full appearance. Only interested parties shall have the right to appear in such proceedings. All persons so appearing shall state for whom they appear. The clerk of the board shall make definite entry accordingly in the minutes of the board.

"Sec. 17. Hearing—adjournment—order. Hearings on the proposed establishment of said district may be adjourned from time to time without loss of jurisdiction by the board. On final hearing the board shall proceed to a determination of said matters. It may reject, approve, or modify and approve said proposal. The board may exclude lands from the district or may add lands thereto or otherwise modify the proposal.

"Should the proposal be approved in whole or in part, the board shall establish such district. The order of the board establishing such district shall state the road or roads to be improved, the type of improvement, and the lands included in said district. Said order shall be final. No lands shall thereafter be added to or excluded from said district.

"Sec. 18. Final hearing—assessment levied. On final hearing the board shall hear and determine all objections filed. The board may increase, diminish, annul, or affirm the apportionment made in said report, or any part thereof, as may appear to the board to be just and equitable.

"On the final determination the board shall levy such assessments and all installments thereof upon the real estate within said district as finally established. The entire amount of said assessment shall be then due and payable, and bear interest at six per cent per annum commencing twenty days from the date of said levy, and shall be collected at the next succeeding March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes.

"Sec. 19. Assessments over ten dollars—waiver. If any owner, other than the state or a county, city or town, of any tracts of land on which the assessment is more than ten dollars shall, within twenty days from the date of said assessment, agree in writing filed in the office of the county auditor that, in consideration of his having the right to pay his assessment in installments, he will not make any objection of illegality or irregularity as to said assessment upon his said real estate, and will pay the same with six per cent interest thereon, then and in that case said assessment shall be payable in ten equal installments. The first installment shall be payable on the date of such agreement. The other installments with interest on the whole amount unpaid shall be paid annually thereafter at the same time and in the same manner as the March semiannual payment of ordinary taxes.

"An owner of land who has availed himself of said ten-year option may at any time discharge his assessment by paying the balance then due on all unpaid installments, with interest on the entire amount of the unpaid installments for thirty days in advance.

"Sec. 20. Assessment delinquent—penalties. All such taxes shall become delinquent on the first day of March next after their maturity, shall bear the same interest, the same penalties, and be attended with the same rights and remedies for collection as ordinary taxes.

"Sec. 21. Assessment ten dollars or less. Assessments of ten dollars or less against any tract of land, and assessments against lands owned by the state, county, city or town shall be due and payable from the date of levy by the board of supervisors, or in the case of any appeal, from the date of final confirmation of the levy by the court.

"In case of assessments on lands owned by the county, the same shall be paid from the county general fund. In case of assessments on lands owned by the state, the same shall be paid out of any funds in the state treasury not otherwise appropriated. In case of assessments on lands owned by a city or town, the same shall be paid from the city or town general fund.

"Sec. 22. Variation between estimated and actual cost. Any variation between the engineer's estimated cost and the actual cost of a secondary road assessment district project shall in no way affect the validity of the assessment. It is the intent of this act that the assessment shall be based on the estimated cost and not on the actual cost.

"Sec. 23. Procedures. The preparation and approval of plans and specifications, the advertising for bids, the award and approval of contract, the supervision and inspection of construction work, and the approval and payment of claims on any secondary road assessment district project shall be conducted in the manner provided in the laws for secondary road construction work generally.

"Sec. 24. Road graded and drained. Any such secondary road shall be built to permanent grade and drained in a manner approved by the county engineer before being surfaced, as provided in this act.

"Sec. 25. Payment of construction costs. The total cost of any secondary road assessment district project shall in the first instance be paid out of the secondary road fund of said county. Any assessments which are paid in cash and in anticipation of which assessments no certificates have been issued shall be transferred to the secondary road fund.

"If no special assessment certificates are issued and sold on account of any particular secondary road assessment district, the special assessments on lands included in that district, and the interest on such assessments, when collected, shall be transferred to the secondary road fund of said county. If certificates are issued and sold in anticipation of the special assessments levied on any such district as herein provided, the proceeds of such certificates shall be credited to the secondary road fund of said county. In that event, the special assessments in anticipation of which certificates have been issued, and the interest on such assessments shall, when collected, be used to retire such certificates.

"Sec. 26. Appeal from assessment. Any owner of land in a secondary road assessment district may appeal to the district court from the order of the board of supervisors in levying the assessment against his real estate, by filing with the county auditor, within fifteen days of the date of such levy, a bond conditioned to pay all costs in case the appeal is not sustained, and a written notice of appeal wherein he shall, with particularity, point out the specific objection which he desires to lodge against such levy. The appearance term shall be the trial term. Said appeal shall have precedence over all other business of the term except criminal matters. The appeal shall be heard as in equity. The court may raise or lower the assessment in question and make an equitable assessment in the judgment of the court. The clerk of the district court shall, upon the entry of the final order of the court, certify such final order to the county auditor. The board of supervisors shall at once so adjust the assessments as to comply with the final order of the court.

"Sec. 27. Appeal docketed. When an appeal is taken, the county auditor shall at once make a transcript of the notice of appeal and appeal bond and transmit the same to the district court. The appellant shall, on or before the first day of the first term of the court, after taking said appeal, docket said appeal and file a petition setting forth the order or decision of the board of supervisors appealed from, and his specific objections thereto. A failure to comply with either of these requirements shall be deemed a conclusive waiver of the appeal and in such case the court shall dismiss the same. Appellee need not file answer, but may do so.

"Sec. 28. Assessments certified to county treasurer. When the board of supervisors has entered its final order as to the amounts of all special assessments on a given improvement, the county auditor shall at once certify a list of such assessments and a list of real estate upon which each assessment has been levied, with the specific designation of the district embracing such real estate, to the county treasurer, who shall enter each assessment on the tax books and continue such entry until such assessment is paid.

"Each special assessment and all installments thereof shall be a lien upon the real estate upon which it is levied from the date of such certificate by the county auditor to the same extent and in the same manner as taxes levied for state and county purposes. Changes in the amount of any special assessment by reason of any ruling of the district court on appeals shall be likewise certified and the county treasurer shall make the proper correction on his books.

"Sec. 29. Each district separate unit. Each assessment district shall be considered a unit and all funds received by the county treasurer for or on behalf of such unit shall be carried as a distinct and separate account and under the same specific name as that used by the board in establishing such unit.

"Sec. 30. Certificates anticipating assessments. In order to render immediately available that amount of the estimated cost of an improvement which has been specially assessed, the board may issue road certificates in the name of the county in an aggregate amount not exceeding the then unpaid amount of the special assessment levied in said district. Each issue of certificates shall be under, and in accordance with, a duly adopted resolution of the board and which shall recite (1) the name or designation of the road district on account of which the certificates are issued; (2) that a stated amount (naming the amount) has been specially assessed against the lands within said district; (3) that a stated amount of said aggregate special assessment has not been paid (naming the unpaid amount); (4) that it is necessary to render such unpaid amount immediately available; (5) the number of road certificates authorized and the specific amount of each certificate; (6) the specific numbering or designation of such certificates; (7) the rate of interest which each certificate shall bear from date, to wit, not to exceed six per cent per annum; (8) the fact that said certificates are payable solely from the proceeds of the special assessments which have been levied on the lands within said districts; (9) that each certificate shall be payable on or before the first day of January of the first year following the maturity of the last installment of such special assessments, and that interest thereon shall be paid annually; (10) the authorization to the chairman of the board, and to the county auditor, respectively, to sign and countersign each of said certificates.

"Sec. 31. Sale of certificates. Upon the signing of each of said certificates by the chairman of the board, said certificates shall be delivered to the county auditor, who shall countersign the same, charge the county treasurer with the amount thereof, and deliver the same to the latter officer, who shall be responsible therefor on his bond. The treasurer may apply said certificates in payment of any warrants duly authorized and issued for surfacing the roads within said district, or he may sell the same for the best attainable price and for not less than par, plus accrued interest, and credit the proceeds to the secondary road fund. Such certificates shall be retired in the order of the consecutive numbering thereof.

"Sec. 32. Certificates registered—payment. The county treasurer shall, in connection with the road account for said district, enter the name and postoffice address of all persons to whom any of said certificates are issued, with a particular designation of the certificates delivered to each person. Any subsequent holder may present his certificate to the county treasurer and cause his name and postoffice address to be entered in lieu of that of such former holder. Whenever the fund for such particular district has money to pay the first retirable certificate or certificates, the county treasurer shall, by mail, as shown by his records, promptly notify the holder of such certificate of such fact and that from and after ten days after the mailing of such letter all interest on such certificates will cease.

"Sec. 33. Previous assessments not invalidated. The passage of this act, the provisions hereof, and the repeal of sections hereby repealed shall not in manner affect or invalidate any secondary road district assessments levied before this act became effective, or any certificate in anticipation of such assessments issued before or after this act becomes effective.

"Said assessments and taxes shall be collected and applied to the purpose for which they were levied. Certificates in anticipation of such assessments may be issued. The proceeds of such certificates shall be applied to the purpose intended, and such certificates issued before or after this act becomes effective shall be paid in conformance with the provisions of this act."

HOUSE AMENDMENTS TO SENATE FILE 514

1. Amend Senate File 514, section two (2), line eighteen (18), by inserting after the word "shall" the following: "admit at least one hundred twenty (120) freshmen students per year to its medical courses if there are that many applicants and".

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 23

Whereas, the use of alcoholic beverages is rapidly increasing in Iowa; and,

Whereas, the habit-forming practice of the use of alcoholic beverages in many cases results in lowered physical and mental efficiency, broken homes, juvenile delinquency, increased crime, and general disregard for law and order, all detrimental to the general public welfare; and,

Whereas, the General Assembly of Iowa does recognize the inherent right and duty of government to protect and safeguard the general public welfare of its people by all proper means; and,

Whereas, the above habit-forming practice is constantly being stimulated and encouraged by the use of advertising and propaganda, much of which comes from out of state and which has for its purpose financial profit rather than the general public interest and welfare; and,

Whereas, there has been introduced in Congress, at various times, legislation to prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of advertising of alcoholic beverages; and,

Whereas, it is desirable to place this General Assembly on record as not favoring such advertisement in this state;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa disapproves of the practice of advertising of alcoholic beverages in publications printed in this state or transported into Iowa in interstate commerce, and urges both the Congress of the United States and the next General Assembly of Iowa to take such steps as are necessary to control and eliminate such practice to the end that the general welfare of the people and especially the youth of Iowa and of the United States be safeguarded and protected.

Senator Elthon called up the following resolution:

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 22

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Fifty-third General Assembly adjourn sine die at twelve o'clock noon, Friday, April 15, 1949.

Senator Elthon offered the following amendment and moved its adoption:

Amend House Concurrent Resolution 22 by striking line 3 and inserting in lieu thereof the following: "at four o'clock p.m., Wednesday, April 20, 1949."

The amendment was adopted.

On motion of Senator Elthon the resolution as amended was adopted.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 21

Whereas, Iowa produces, both as to value and numbers, more eggs than any other state in the Union; and,

Whereas, the farm income of Iowa from eggs alone in 1948 was approximately $140,000,000; and,

Whereas, the people of Iowa are strongly in favor of a fair and adequate price support program for eggs; and

Whereas, the United States department of agriculture and all state extension departments have approved and promoted a program whereby eggs would be sold strictly on a quality basis, which program resulted in eighty per cent of all eggs sold in Iowa being evaluated on standards of quality and grade; and,

Whereas, in the administration of the support program by the federal government only the price of dry eggs has been supported, while the price of frozen and shell eggs has not been supported, with the result that undergrade eggs in the present market command almost the same price as the top consumer grade AA eggs; and,

Whereas, this policy has destroyed the producer's ability to market eggs on a quality basis according to grade and has undermined the grading program, which formerly encouraged production of a quality product; now, therefore,

Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Congress of the United States is memorialized to require price support of eggs at the top grade, including frozen and shell eggs, with deductions for undergrade eggs, and to eliminate the present practice of supporting only the price of dry eggs.

Be It Further Resolved: That the Chief Clerk be instructed to send to copy of this resolution to the United States Senators from Iowa and to the Representatives in Congress from Iowa and to the secretary of agriculture of the United States.

The motion prevailed and the resolution was adopted.

HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 23

Whereas, the use of alcoholic beverages is rapidly increasing in Iowa; and,

Whereas, the habit-forming practice of the use of alcoholic beverages in many cases results in lowered physical and mental efficiency, broken homes, juvenile delinquency, increased crime, and general disregard for law and order, all detrimental to the general public welfare; and,

Whereas, the General Assembly of Iowa does recognize the inherent right and duty of government to protect and safeguard the general public welfare of its people by all proper means; and,

Whereas, the above habit-forming practice is constantly being stimulated and encouraged by the use of advertising and propaganda, much of which comes from out of state and which has for its purpose financial profit rather than the general public interest and welfare; and,

Whereas, there has been introduced in Congress, at various times, legislation to prohibit the transportation in interstate commerce of advertising of alcoholic beverages; and,

Whereas, it is desirable to place this General Assembly on record as not favoring such advertisement in this state;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the House, the Senate Concurring: That the Fifty-third General Assembly of Iowa disapproves of the practice of advertising of alcoholic beverages in publications printed in this state or transported into Iowa in interstate commerce, and urges both the Congress of the United States and the next General Assembly of Iowa to take such steps as are necessary to control and eliminate such practice to the end that the general welfare of the people and especially the youth of Iowa and of the United States be safeguarded and protected.

The resolution was lost.

RECONSIDERATION OF SENATE FILE 435

Senator Maytag called up for further consideration Senate File 435, a bill for an act to amend chapter three hundred twenty-one (321), Code 1946, motor vehicles and law of road and relating to school buses.

Senator Hattery moved that the record of the Senate action on Senate File 435 from and including his motion that the Senate concur in the House amendments found on page 1048 of the Senate Journal be expunged, which motion prevailed by a two-thirds majority.

Senator Hattery offered the following amendment by Senators Hattery and Maytag to the House amendments to Senate File 435:

Amend Senate File 435, section 2, by striking all of lines 34, 35, 36 and 37 and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

"This section shall not apply to 'business' and 'residence' districts but shall apply in suburban districts of cities and towns."

Amend section 3 by striking all of subsection eighteen (18).

On motion of Senator Hattery, the first paragraph of the amendment was adopted.

On motion of Senator Hattery, the balance of the amendment was adopted.

Senator Hattery moved that the bill be read a third time now, which motion prevailed, and the bill was read a third time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" the vote was:

Ayes, 44:

COMMUNICATION

Senator Leo asked and received unanimous consent that the following communication be printed in the Senate Journal:

April 15, 1949.

Dear Senator Leo:

I want to write and let you know how much we appreciate your thoughtfulness of Ralph.

The flowers from the members of the Senate were beautiful. I have never seen a more beautiful arrangement of Easter lilies. There were two potted plants with several blossoms arranged in a rectangular container. I wish that each one of you could have seen them. The red roses are still beautiful and until Ralph can thank them personally, you thank them for him. They arrived Wednesday when he was feeling much more comfortable than he is now, and he did so enjoy them; and most of all the nice card with all of your signatures. He was so proud of it and had to show it to all of the doctors who came in to see him. Your letters and others from the members of the Senate gave him so much pleasure, for you have become his dearest acquaintances.

This has been a terrible shock to Ralph and it will be some time before he will be out and letters give him so much pleasure.

Ralph underwent a very serious operation, but he is getting along very fine considering everything. This is a wonderful institution. Maybe more legislators should know the wonderful things they are doing here. It is Iowa's "Mayo's" and Iowa can be proud of it.

I understand, one more week and you will be going home. I know you are all anxious for the closing, although it is always a very interesting experience. Ralph's great disappointment was that he could not continue until the end, although we both knew he should have given up long before. He has always enjoyed his legislative work and his associations with all of you. Now that the doctors have told me he will never be able to do active work, maybe he will have to continue in politics.

Again our sincere thanks to all of you,

Sincerely,

MRS. RALPH E. BENSON.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 22

By Walter

Whereas, there is now proposed before the Congress of the United States legislation which through the guise of social reform and betterment of the health of the citizens would provide for a system of federal legislation and control commonly known as socialized medicine or compulsory health plan; and,

Whereas, legislation of such a nature is not deemed to be capable of accomplishing the end which it purports to seek; and,

Whereas, legislation of such a nature is repugnant to the ideal of personal enterprise, self-sufficiency and individual responsibility of citizens as conceived by the people of this sovereign state; and,

Whereas, legislation of such a nature is a step toward the abandonment of the present system of enterprise of our citizens and into the false premises of socialization;

Now, Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate, the House of Representatives Concurring: That the Congress of the United States be memorialized to reject all legislation proposing to socialize the practice of medicine or to provide a compulsory health program and that the secretary of state of the state of Iowa is hereby directed to transmit copies of this resolution to the Senate and the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States and to the members of the said Senate and House of Representatives from this state.

SENATE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 23

By Doud

Whereas, there is now proposed before the Congress of the United States legislation which through its guise of betterment of the education of our youth would provide a program commonly known as federal aid to education; and,

Whereas, any inroad of the federal government into the system of state and local education now prevailing would in fact be harmful to the best interests of education and take from the state and local governments their present control of education; and,

Whereas, grants from the federal government would tend to lessen the sense of responsibility of local citizens and leave the schools less responsive to local needs; and,

Whereas, education is by its very nature best administered and directed by authorities close to the persons sought to be educated without financial or other direction from a remote bureaucratic source;

Senator Jacobson called up the following report and moved as a substitute for the motion by Senator Faul, the adoption of the following minority report:

MINORITY REPORT OF THE CONFERENCE COMMITTEE
ON SENATE FILE 201

TO THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE AND THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE:

The undersigned, one of the Senate members of the conference committee appointed to consider the difference between the Senate and the House on Senate File 201 relating to the deductions from the actual value of property which any person is required to have listed or assessed and property which is taxable and property exempt from taxation, begs leave to report that he is unable to concur in the majority report of such committee and that he believes that there is no valid reason why the corporate stock of Montgomery Ward & Company, Kresge, Sears Roebuck & Company, The American Telephone and Telegraph Company, and other shares of corporate stock which are now exempt under code section 427.1, subsection 20, of the 1946 Code, should not be subject to the tax.

Strike all of Senate File 201 after the enacting clause and substitute in lieu thereof the following:

"Section 1. In making up the amount of moneys and credits, corporation shares or stocks which any person is required to list, to have listed or assessed, including actual value of building and loan shares, he will be entitled to deduct from the actual value thereof the gross amount of all debts in good faith owing by him, and in addition thereto an amount of five thousand dollars ($5,000).

"Sec. 2. That subsection twenty (20) of section four hundred twenty-seven point one (327.1), Code 1946, be amended by inserting before the word 'telegraph' in line two (2) thereof the word 'domestic'; by striking from lines three (3) and four (4) thereof the words and comma (,) 'freight line and equipment companies,'; by inserting before the word 'transmission' in line four (4) the word 'domestic'; by striking from line five (5) the words and comma (,) 'express companies,'; by inserting before the word 'corporation' in lines five (5) and six (6) the word 'domestic'."

GOVERNOR'S VETO MESSAGE ON SENATE FILES

TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE,
FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF IOWA:

GENTLEMEN: It appears that the bill (Senate File 150) permits misrepresentation of agency by former agents of companies for long periods of time after the termination of agency by refusal or failure to return licenses.

The bill would impose a large and expensive burden upon the various insurance companies and their agents by its requirement that the licenses be returned.

The provisions of the bill are unenforceable in the courts of Iowa against former agents of companies who are or who have become non-residents of this state.

The provisions of the bill are unenforceable against non-resident agents of companies not domiciled in Iowa and as against such companies. For that reason, it discriminates against Iowa companies.

I have, therefore, disapproved Senate File 150.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY, Governor

Disapproved May 17, 1949.

TO THE HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE SENATE,

FIFTY-THIRD GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF IOWA:

GENTLEMEN: Senate File 173 reserves an established and well settled rule of statutory construction, which is that a statute which incorporates another by reference does not include subsequent amendments thereto. Legislators have depended upon this rule. The courts have followed it.

This bill would make necessary a complete research each time a statute is amended, due to the practice of incorporating by reference. Failure to preserve the intention expressed by the legislature at the time that the original law was enacted would result in a complete change of the law or laws which had referred to the statute being amended. It places upon the legislature the duty to negative that presumption by reserving the provisions of a law which had incorporated provisions of another statute by reference, or having it changed without a complete consideration of the effect of such a change in the statute incorporated by reference. This practice could easily result in making of changes by amendment which are undesirable and unintended. It seems an undesirable way to legislate and extends the questionable practice of legislating by reference too far in my opinion.

I have, therefore, disapproved Senate File 173.

Respectfully submitted,

WILLIAM S. BEARDSLEY, Governor.

Disapproved May 17, 1949.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread on the Journal of the Senate, and that the Secretary of the Senate be directed to forward an enrolled copy to the members of the family of the deceased.

JOSEPH H. ALLEN

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee, appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Joseph H. Allen, begs leave to submit the following:

Mr. Joseph Holmes Allen, attorney, banker and legislator, died at Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, June 13, 1948; tributes were paid at services held in the First Congregational Church of Detroit Lakes, Minnesota.

Mr. Allen was born in Marshall county, Iowa, November 12, 1870. He grew up on his father's farm, was educated in the rural school, and Marshalltown high school, graduating from there in 1889. For two years he was engaged in banking and abstract business with his father and brothers at Laurens, Iowa. He had always taken a prominent part in civic affairs; was a member of the board of deacons and had taught an adult Bible class in the local Congregational Church. Was a past member of the board of the Civic and Commerce association and a member of that organization's industrial committee. A charter member of the VFW in Iowa, he affiliated with the local post and was its oldest member.

Having made and saved enough in a few years, he enrolled at the University of Iowa in 1891, and by combining the collegiate and law courses, was graduated from the two departments in 1895.

Located at Laurens in the practice of law; formed a company of volunteers at Laurens in 1898 for service in the Spanish-American War, but when it became evident that the organization could not be entered as a unit, he, with eleven others of the company, enlisted as privates in Company F., Forty-ninth Iowa volunteer infantry, remaining with the regiment until its return from Cuba.

Soon after returning home, June 29, 1899, he married Miss Grace Gilchrist, daughter of one of the founders and first president of the Iowa State Teachers College.

In 1900 he joined with his brothers in the establishing of a private bank at Pocahontas, Iowa. Was elected a member of the board of regents of the State University in 1902, and resigned to take a seat in the Iowa Senate upon election, serving from 1907 to and including 1916, from the Fiftieth district, composed of Pocahontas, Buena Vista and Humboldt Counties; resided at Pocahontas, Iowa, practicing law and in banking for twenty-five years; became a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in the 1916 state primary, receiving 48,000 votes, losing in a three-cornered race between himself, George Cosson and William L. Harding, the latter receiving the nomination.

In 1918, the Allen family moved to Des Moines, where Mr. Allen became interested in the First Mortgage Corporation of Iowa, serving as President thereof. Practiced law as a member of the firm of Allen & Whitfield. Was elected mayor of Des Moines in 1936, serving one term. During the term of office there were many changes in Des Moines municipal government and in public improvements. His campaigns brought him ardent support and his efforts in reform made fighting enemies.

He later moved to Detroit Lakes, Minnesota, and engaged in the real estate and farm management business with his son Byron G. Allen, a former representative in the Iowa House from 1927 to 1931.

Surviving Mr. Allen are his wife, Grace; his daughter, Josephine; his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Byron G. Allen; grandchildren, Virginia and Eric G. Allen, third grandchild, Joseph W. preceded him in death, is buried beside him at Pocahontas.

Mr. Allen was a member of the Congregational Church, a 32nd degree

Mason; affiliated with the Phi Delta Theta college fraternity and Phi Delta Phi, a legal fraternity, and for several years had been annually recognized in "Who's Who" in America.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly: That in the passing of Senator Allen, Iowa has lost a distinguished citizen, valued and honored; a man who devoted many years of his life to public service; a man of friendship and ability, and the Senate extends its most sincere sympathy to each and all of the members of his family.

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the Senate and that the Secretary be directed to forward enrolled copies to the members of the family of the deceased.

J. F. MILLER,

BURL N. RIDOUT,

PAUL E. MCCARVILLE,

AARON VALE BLACKFORD

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee, appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Aaron Vale Blackford of Bonaparte, Iowa, begs leave to submit the following:

Aaron Vale Blackford was born on a farm near Hillsboro, Iowa, December 18, 1871, and died on August 31, 1948. He was a descendant of Martin Blackford, who came to this country in 1751, and settled in York county, Pennsylvania. His parents, John W. and Nancy Atland Blackford, came to Iowa in 1858, and settled on a farm near Hillsboro. His father was a member of the Thirty-fifth General Assembly, representing Henry county.

Senator Blackford secured his early education in the rural schools of Van Buren county, then attended Iowa Wesleyan academy. In 1897 he was graduated from Iowa Wesleyan college at Mt. Pleasant, Iowa, with a degree of Bachelor of Arts. During his college career he served on the college debating team; he was a member of the Beta Theta Pi fraternity, and was chapter delegate to the national convention during his junior year. After leaving college, he taught school two years, then entered the hardware, implement and automobile business with his brother in Bonaparte, which association continued until his brother's death. He then engaged in the insurance and real estate business and was active until his last illness. For twenty years he served on the Bonaparte board of education.

He was a member of the Methodist church, a thirty-second degree Mason, a Knight Templar, a member of the Mystic Shrine and the order of the Eastern Star. He was a Republican in politics and served as representative from Van Buren county in the Forty-first, Forty-second and Forty-second Extra ordinary sessions of the General Assembly. He also served as State Senator from the Jefferson-Van Buren district in the Forty-third and Forty-fourth General Assemblies.

Senator Blackford had been twice married and had one son by his first marriage, Kenneth S. Blackford. On December 20, 1925, he was married to Katherine Alice Lundgren of Burlington, who with his son, survives him.

Senator Blackford was a staunch believer in the Republican form of representative government. He was active in political, educational, church and community affairs. To his associates and the Senate, he was regarded as an able and fair-minded legislator, an ardent advocate of the present state highway system and a supporter of good government.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly: That in the passing of the Honorable Aaron Vale Blackford of Bonaparte, Iowa, the state has lost a valuable and honorable citizen and an honest statesman.

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee, appointed to prepare a memorial resolution commemorating the life and public service of the late Grant L. Caswell, begs leave to submit the following:

Grant L. Caswell, publisher and legislator, died at his home in Clarinda, Iowa, May 12, 1948; born in Boone county, Iowa, July 18, 1869.

Mr. Caswell, who had been a partner in the Clarinda Publishing company since 1930, had made his home in Clarinda for five years, since his retirement in 1943 after 60 active years in the printing business. However, his retirement was incomplete as he continued as a newspaper broker on occasional request and almost daily lent a helping hand on many of the lighter but pressing tasks at the Herald-Journal office virtually up to the day of his death.

Mr. Caswell was given an introduction to printer's ink at the Coon Rapids Enterprise when he was 13 years of age, working as a typesetter before and after school without pay. The thrill of seeing his type in print started him on a career seldom approached in Iowa in longevity or recognition by fellow-publishers.

Acquiring pay of $5 a month for 10-hour work days at the age of 16, he progressed as a printer to jobs at Manning, Cherokee, Sheldon, and finally at Ashton, Iowa, where he acquired his first ownership in a paper at the age of 19. He was associated in or owned newspapers at Sibley, Rock Rapids and Denison in succession from 1893 until after World War I. In 1915 he became secretary of the Iowa Press association which he helped organize, and after disposing of his newspaper at Denison, he assumed full-time active management of the association. So successful was his work that he was called into 17 different states to help organize associations along similar lines.

While serving as state senator for Crawford, Harrison and Monona counties from 1915-1919, Mr. Caswell had a part in establishing the press association which he served as managing director with offices at Ames until 1937.

In recognition of his service to the 300 newspapers of Iowa, Mr. Caswell was presented the IPA's Master Editor award in 1937 at the close of his twenty-two years' work as secretary and managing director. He had originated this annual award a few years before. From 1937 until he moved to Clarinda in 1943, he operated his newspaper broker's office in Ames.

He was married 57 years ago at Ashton to Miss Evalena Clark, who survives him.

He also leaves three sons and a daughter, Carl C. Caswell of Clarinda, Paul H. Caswell of Salinas, California, Don L. Caswell of Royal Oak, Michigan, and Mrs. Flo B. Guthrie of Oklahoma City.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly: That in the passing of the Honorable Grant L. Caswell, the state has lost a valuable and honored citizen and the Senate would tender by this resolution its sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family, and

Be It Further Resolved: That a copy of this resolution be spread upon the Journal of the Senate, and that the Secretary be instructed to send enrolled copies to the family of the deceased.

E. C. MYRLAND,
EDWARD S. PARKER,
JAY C. COLBURN, Committee.

The resolution was unanimously adopted.

THEODORE CHARLES CESSNA

MR. PRESIDENT: Your committee, appointed to prepare suitable resolutions commemorating the life, character and public service of the late Honorable Theodore Charles Cessna, a former member of the General Assembly of Iowa, begs leave to submit the following report:

Theodore Charles Cessna was born March 21, 1867 in Bedford county, Pennsylvania. He was the son of William and Rachel Rose Cessna.

He came to Iowa when twenty years of age and located in Grinnell where he resided continually until his death, December 3, 1947.

His marriage to Ella Buchanan, January 21, 1891, was performed in Grinnell by Bishop Matt Hughes of the Methodist Church. His death preceded by a month their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary.

His formal education, received before he came to Iowa, was from private instruction and in the public schools.

Senator Cessna was recognized as an expert stockman and was actively and extensively engaged in farming and the cattle business for more than thirty years. He was an active member of the Corn Belt Meat Producers' Association.

Always interested in public affairs and having at heart those interests which make a community worth living in, he promoted and participated in those organizations which look toward a development of a fuller and more prosperous farm life.

He was a life-long Republican and his faithful service to his party won him recognition from the twelfth Iowa district when elected to the state senate. He served in the Thirty-eighth, Thirty-ninth, Fortieth, Fortieth Extra and Forty-first General Assemblies.

Senator Cessna was a loyal friend and was held in high esteem as a man and a patriotic citizen. Patton of Tusculum college at Greeneville, Tennessee, he is survived by one grandson, Kenneth Dean Cessna of Grinnell. Also three sisters and two brothers. Four sons, Dale, John, Karl and Kenneth preceded him in death.

Therefore, Be It Resolved by the Senate of the Fifty-third General Assembly: That in the passing of the Honorable Theodore Charles Cessna, the state has lost a valuable and honorable citizen and the Senate expresses by this resolution its appreciation of his character and public service and tenders sincere sympathy to the surviving members of his family, and,
