HOUSE CONCURRENT RESOLUTION 28

By: Smith of O'Brien

WHEREAS, Senate File 532 enacted by the Sixty-second General Assembly provides that the state board of regents after authorization by a constitutional majority of the General Assembly may carry out any project as defined in the Act at the state university of Iowa, and

WHEREAS, Senate File 532 authorizes the state board of regents to borrow money and to issue and sell negotiable bonds or notes to pay all or any part of the cost of carrying out such projects at the institution payable solely and only from and shall be secured by an irrevocable pledge of a sufficient portion of the University Hospital Income, and

WHEREAS, many of the facilities of the hospitals at the state university of Iowa were built between forty and fifty years ago and are inadequate to meet present and future demands for statewide medical and teaching services, and

WHEREAS, said inadequancy exists in operating room facilities which are located in several different areas at the university hospitals and are not designed for today's advanced surgical techniques and workload of more than fifteen thousand operations annually, and

WHEREAS, present space available for radiological services, one of the most important fields in modern medicine, is less than that recommended by the U. S. Public Health Services for a prototype hospital of five hundred beds although the university hospitals have eleven hundred ninety-two beds, and

WHEREAS, the out-patient clinical facilities are located in widely separated areas of the hospitals and seriously encumber the ability of the clinical specialists to handle almost one-quarter million patient visits annually and concentration of these services in a single area will greatly facilitate services to patients and training for family practice, and improve efficiency, and

WHEREAS, forty percent or four hundred forty of the beds serving annually more than

33,000 in-patients are located in large sixteen to twenty bed wards and do not meet the standards established for Medicare patients or the demands by private patients and, further, detailed studies have shown that remodeling these existing large wards into smaller units would be prohibitively costly and create insurmountable problems in teaching, and

WHEREAS, to alleviate these conditions, the board of regents requests authorization to construct an eight-story structure of 466,000 gross square feet south of the general hospital, to house an operating room suite and facilities, a diagnostic radiology section, out-patient clinic, and in-patient facilities for four hundred beds, at an estimated total cost of $17,550,000 of which not more than $12,000,000 would be financed by borrowing under the provisions of Senate File 532 and the remainder to be financed by federal and other funds; now therefore

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE HOUSE, THE SENATE CONCURRING, That the State Board of Regents be and is hereby authorized to construct an addition of 466,000 gross square feet of floor space, more or less, to the general hospital of state university of Iowa to house an operating room suite and facilities, a diagnostic radiology section, out-patient clinic, and in-patient facilities at an estimated cost of $17,550,000 of which not more than $12,000,000 would be financed by borrowing authorized by the provisions of Senate File 532 enacted by the Sixty-second General Assembly.

Senator Nurse moved the adoption of the resolution, requesting a roll call.

The amendment was lost.

Out of order because they dealt with the same subject matter as the amendment adopted were the following amendments to the amendment:

Amend the Committee Amendment to Senate File 807, section two (2), subsection two (2), line thirty-five (35) by inserting after the comma following "1969" the words "and succeeding years,".

The bill having received a constitutional majority was declared to have passed the Senate and the title was agreed to.

Senator Frommelt moved that the vote by which the bill passed the Senate be reconsidered and that the motion to reconsider be laid on the table, which motion prevailed.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

We voted to reconsider the Glenn et al amendment to Senate File 807 and then against the amendment in order to adopt a first year limit of $2,500.00 instead of the present $5,000.00 limit in the bill. If the present $5,000.00 limit were to become law, there would be inadequate state funds remaining to grant relief to homeowners. It is imperative that people who own or are buying their homes receive some tax relief. Tax relief should not only go to industry, banks, insurance companies, etc. This would be the case if the present $5,000.00 exemption in S.F. 807 were to remain. If the additional revenue to fund this exemption is not raised by enactment at this session of the three factor corporation tax, we intend to work for the repeal of this exemption at the next session.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE ON SENATE FILE 696

I wish to explain my vote on Senate File 696 increasing the road-use tax money for cities and towns to 15%, in which I am in favor and for which I have voted. However, I voted against the Lodwick Amendment for the reason that while it would give Black Hawk County as a whole, more funds under the population-need basis, the only city that would benefit would be Waterloo, whereas, all of the other cities within the county would receive less money, particularly the smaller cities which would lose almost one-half of their present share of funds.

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

I wish to explain my vote against the Conservation and the Board of Regents Bills for operating expenses, not because I am opposed to conservation or education but because it increased the appropriations over 30% above the present appropriations. Neither the Governor nor the Democrat leadership in the Senate has thus far indicated from where the additional funds are to come. So far appropriations made and proposed will expend the surplus and the projected income during the next biennium so far as I have been able to determine from available information.

I have voted for and expect to vote for the capital improvement bills which will be paid out of the surplus but I do not believe in exhausting the surplus with operating costs, so that two years from now the legislature will find it is in the position of having to raise taxes in order to merely meet current operating expenses. It is my belief that any increase in operating costs should be limited to natural anticipated growth under present tax laws unless additional sources of income are provided by the legislature.

I so intend to vote on all appropriation bills in accordance herewith.

TO THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE AND THE SPEAKER OF THE HOUSE: We the undersigned members of the Conference Committee, appointed to consider the differences between the Senate and the House on House File 686 "A Bill for An Act relating to a method for general property tax replacement and equalization; and relating to the payment of agricultural land tax credits and making an appropriation therefore."; beg leave to report and make the following recommendations:

That everything after the enacting clause is hereby stricken and the following substituted in lieu thereof.

Section 1. The purpose of this act shall be to provide a method for general property tax replacement and equalization; and relating to the payment of agricultural land tax credits and making an appropriation therefor. This Act shall be liberally construed to that end.

Sec. 2. Definitions of terms used in this Act:

- 1. The "basic school tax unit" is conterminous with the county school system and is a term to define a local tax area to be used for public school support only.
- 2. The 'basic school tax' on property is a uniform levy on all taxable property in the basic school tax unit for support of public schools within the unit. This levy will be the millage necessary to raise an amount of money equal to forty (40) percent of the total of the proposed general fund expenditures, reduced by anticipated receipts from other sources of all the school districts in the basic school tax unit.
- 3. The 'basic school tax equalization fund' is a local fund in the county treasurer's office from which operating revenues are distributed to the school districts within the local basic school tax unit.
- 4. The "percent of allowable growth" is the percent of increase in revenue computed on a state wide basis for the sales and use taxes and the individual and corporate income taxes as well as the percent of increase in assessments for property tax for each year of the last three years. The sum of the individual percentages thus obtained shall be divided by six to arrive at the percent of allowable growth. In making such computations the comptroller shall adjust for changes in rates or basis of the income tax of sales and use tax and for statewide changes in assessment practices. He shall thereupon certify the percent of allowable growth per pupil to the several school districts of the state on or before June 30 of each year.

- 5. The 'adjusted state average reimbursable expenditure' is the preceding year's average state reimbursable expenditure per pupil in average daily membership increased by the percent of allowable growth.
- Sec. 3. There are hereby created in the state ninety-nine (99) basic school tax units. Said units shall be identified by the name of the county comprising the major part of each unit. The boundaries of the basic school tax unit shall be conterminous with the county school system and in case of joint districts with area in more than one (1) county, each area shall become a part of the basic school tax unit in which there are the greatest number of school electors in the district and the records of the department of public instruction compiled from the school secretaries' reports shall determine the basic school tax unit of which the area becomes a part. Where county school systems have been merged under section two hundred seventy-three point twenty-two (273,22). Code of Iowa, such district shall be deemed part of the basic tax unit comprising the county system which would exist and of which it would be a part but for such merger.
- Sec. 4. The county auditor of each county shall, prior to making the levies for school purposes in his county, starting with the 1967-68 school budgets and continuing with each school year thereafter, total the askings for general school purposes of the various school districts in the basic school tax unit. He shall then multiply said yearly total by forty hundredths (.40) and spread the levy to raise the amount that ascertained at a uniform rate over all the taxable property in the basic school tax unit. In the case of joint districts such levy shall be spread in the same manner as heretofore employed for the purpose of making other school levies in such circumstances. The money collected from said levy shall be placed by the county treasurer in the basic school tax equalization fund.
- Sec. 5. On or before August 15, 1967, and each year thereafter, the state tax commission shall make an accounting of the individual state income tax collected under division two (II) of chapter four hundred twenty-two (422) Code of Iowa, applicable to tax returns for the most recent completed tax year, as defined by section four hundred twenty-two point four (422.4), subsection four (4), Code of Iowa, from taxpayers in each of the various school districts in the state and certify to the state comptroller and the state department of public instruction forty (40) percent of the total credited from the taxpayers of each basic school tax unit.
- Sec. 6. The county auditor shall, by August 15, 1967, and each year thereafter, certify to the state department of public instruction the amount of the basic school tax, as provided by section four (4) of this Act, to be placed in the basic school tax equalization fund.
- Sec. 7. The state comptroller shall pay the state income tax collected, as provided in section five (5) of this Act, to each county treasurer in equal semiannual installments on or about April 1 and October 1 of each year, with the first installment to begin April 1, 1968. There is hereby appropriated from the general fund of the state the amounts necessary to make such payments. The county treasurer shall deposit said payments in the basic school tax equalization fund.
- Sec. 8. The moneys in the basic school tax equalization fund in each basic school tax unit shall be distributed by the county treasurer on the tenth day of the month following the month of collection, to each of the respective districts in the basic school tax unit equally on the basis of the per pupil in average daily membership. A report of the distributions so made shall be certified by each county treasurer to the state department of public instruction.
- Sec. 9. Section twenty-four point seventeen (24.17), Code of Iowa, is hereby amended by inserting in line six (6) after the word "year" the words "and school districts the fifteenth day of July each year.".

- Sec. 11. The local school district's state share of the cost of public education in each school district maintaining a public high school shall be determined by the ratio of its property value to that of the entire state, together with the ratio of its income to that of the entire state
- Sec. 12. For the purpose of computing state financial aid to local school districts under the formula herinafter prescribed, the real value of taxable property and the adjusted gross income within each public high school district shall be determined by the state department of public instruction from data furnished it by the department of revenue. For purposes of this Act, a "high school district" shall mean a district which maintains at least twelve (12) grades of instruction above the level of kindergarten. - 2. The total adjusted gross income, as defined by section four hundred twenty-two point seven (422.7) Code of Iowa, reported in the manner required by section four hundred twenty-two point twenty-one (422.21) Code of Iowa, for the last preceding calendar year or taxable year by residents of each public high school district in the state for which data or estimates are available.

Code of Iowa.

The aggregate assessed value of personal property for each assessing district as established in the 1967 assessment year, after adjustment for equalization, shall be the basic taxable value upon which the credit granted herein shall be determined, subject to the following annual adjustments:

- 1. Add: additional personal property brought into each assessing district, but not to include replacement of personal property with like personal property, in accordance with section four hundred forty-one point twenty-one (441.21), Code of Iowa.
- 2. Subtract: personal property removed from each district by reason of transportation therefrom, personal property destroyed, and personal property comsumed or disposed of and not replaced.

For the purpose of ascertaining assessed value of personal property added or subtracted from the aggregate assessed value of personal property for each district as established in the 1967 assessment year, assessors shall utilize personal property listing forms prescribed and furnished by the department of revenue, and shall distribute such forms in triplicate to persons possessed of such property for assessment, first by regular mail, and, where necessary, by personal service. Such assessed value of such personal property shall be determined in accordance with section four hundred forty-one point twenty-one (441.21), Code of Iowa.

- Sec. 43. No taxpayer in the state shall be allowed a credit on personal property tax in excess of two thousand five hundred (2,500) dollars assessed valuation. Any taxpayer who owns personal property subject to taxation in more than one (1) county of the state shall designate in reporting such property as required in section thirty-nine (39) of this Act in which counties of the state the property is located and may claim the credit or a proportionate part thereof in each county where the property is situated and in no case shall he claim more than the two thousand five hundred (2,500) dollars assessed value for all personal property assessed in all counties. At the time of making such claim, the taxpayer shall state by affidavit or affidavits made a part of the personal property listing form filed in each county where his personal property is situated, that he has not claimed a total personal property tax credit on all counties in excess of a total of two thousand five hundred (2,500) dollars assessed valuation.
- Sec. 44. If personal property is owned jointly, the owners may not respectively take a tax credit on such property in excess of the proportionate ownership in said property and said proportionate ownership shall be determined by dividing the total assessed value of the property by the number of owners unless they show their actual interest and ownership on the personal property listing form provided by the assessor. Any such proportionate credit may be applied only to the extent that the owner's total respective credit of two thousand five hundred (2,500) dollars of assessed valuation is not used up and in no event is an additional credit to be allowed for property held as hereinabove described in this section.
- Sec. 45. On or before January 1 of each year, the auditor of each county shall prepare a statement listing for each taxing district in the county all personal property upon which taxes shall not be collected due to the tax credit granted in this Act. The statement shall show the tax rates of the various taxing districts and the total amount of taxes which shall not be collected in each district because of the tax credit. The auditor shall certify and forward one (1) copy each of the statement to the state comptroller and to the department of revenue on or before January 15 of such year.
- Sec. 46. The amounts due each taxing district certified by the county auditor shall be paid in two (2) equal payments by the state comptroller with the first payment to be paid March 15, 1968 and on or before September 15 and March 15 of each year thereafter, drawn upon warrants payable to the respective county treasurers. The county treasurer upon receipt of the warrants from the comptroller shall apportion the proceeds among the taxing districts in the county as certified by the county auditor.

- Sec. 48. Section four hundred twenty-five point one (425.1), Code of Iowa, is hereby amended by adding a new subsection as follows:

"In addition to the homestead credit of twenty-five (25) mills on twenty-five hundred (2,500) dollars of assessed valuation allowable under this chapter, in the event the owner, as defined in this chapter, is over sixty-five (65) years of age, and provided that the income of such owner, when included with that of his spouse, if any, is less than three thousand five hundred (3,500) dollars per annum, there shall be credited against the tax levied on his eligible homestead (an amount in dollars equal to the difference between such tax levied in the current year and such tax levied in the year 1967 or 1968, whichever year resulted in the lowest tax, or in the year in which he became sixty-five (65) years of age, or in the year in which he acquired the homestead, whichever, is latest, if the tax levied in the current year is greater.) If any such addition or improvement, exclusive of repairs and maintenance, has been made the assessor shall determine whether the assessed valuation of the homestead shall be increased and if so the amount thereof. The additional credit provided herein shall not be allowed if such increases in valuation are in excess of one thousand (1,000) dollars, in the aggregate, during each five-year period commencing with the year in which application is first made under this subsection.

"The tax credit under this subsection shall also be allowable where there is more than one (1) "owner" as defined in this chapter, if any one of them is more than sixty-five (65) years of age and is occupying the premises as a homestead within the meaning of this chapter. The state tax commission shall determine the evidence requirements for all matters of fact to be shown by each owner making application for credit.

"For the purpose of this subsection income," means taxable income for federal income tax purposes plus income from securities of state and other political subdivisions exempt from federal income tax and income from social security and other tax-exempt retirement or pension plans."

the same time pay the tax due on the basis thereof. If such taxpayer shall fail within that time to file such return, the director shall make for him a return, from his own knowledge and from such information as he can obtain through testimony or otherwise, and assess a tax on the basis thereof, which tax shall be paid within ten days after the director has mailed to such taxpayer a written-notice of the amount thereof and demand for its payment. The director in issuing his final assessment pursuant to subdivision 3 shall add to the amount of tax found due and unpaid a penalty of ten percent thereof, except that, if he finds that the taxpayer has made a false and fraudulent return with intent to evade the tax imposed by sections 1 to 9, the penalty shall be 25 percent of the entire tax as shown by the return as corrected. The director in assessing a tax on the basis of a return made pursuant to subdivision 4 shall add to the amount of tax found due and unpaid a penalty of 25 percent thereof.

Harold E. Hughes Governor

July 2, 1967

The Honorable Robert D. Fulton President of the Senate Sixty-second General Assembly State Capitol Des Moines, Iowa

HONORABLE MEMBERS OF THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY:

As the Sixty-second General Assembly stands ready for sine die adjournment, it is my privilege to convey to you my sincere congratulations on a productive session and to comment briefly on the contributions you have made to the future of Iowa.

Currently, a great deal of attention is focused upon the fact that the 1967 session, which completed its regular work at dawn of the 175th day, was the longest session in Iowa's history. To this point, I would repeat what I have said before -- that the measure of success of a legislative session, in the perspective of history, is in what it accomplishes, not how long it lasts. Primarily, the record length of the session resulted from the volume and complexity of the problems with which you had to deal. While the cost of operating a legislature is not inconsiderable, the price of a few extra weeks of operation is small by comparison with the potential cost of leaving major legislative needs unmet. You stayed on the job until you had taken care of the major jobs and I commend you for it.

In this reference, I applaud your wisdom in approving the constitutional amendment for Annual Sessions initiated by the 1965 Assembly. The work of a modern, progressing state of nearly three million people can no longer be satisfactorily handled by unprofessional legislators who meet every two years for a period of a few months.

About 1,750 bills were introduced in the current session. But it isn't just the volume of the legislation that has increased the load on the General Assembly. The sophistication of the problems facing a state that has entered its most phenomenal era of economic growth and general development imposes demands on legislative decision-making that far exceed anything known in the past.

The legislative achievements of this session range far and wide from Permanent Reapportionment and Subdistricting to State Civil Service, Increase of IPERS Benefits, Medical Aid for the Aging and Educational TV.

But the cardinal accomplishment of this session, by almost anyone's evaluation, was your courage in meeting the long-standing need for Major Tax Revision in Iowa.

In this period of unprecedented economic growth and general development for lowa, you had two ways you could have gone on a tax program.

You could follow the course outlined in my budget message, which provided for meeting the state's essential needs plus giving substantial increases in school aid and other refunds to local governments without increasing state taxes.

Or you could go the route of major tax reform and local property tax relief.

You chose the latter course. And whatever anyone's reservations may be about specific aspects of the tax and property tax relief program you adopted, I believe you deserve public praise for meeting forthrightly this complicated problem the people had long clamored for you to meet.

The three words most often heard in the 1966 campaign and in this legislative session were property tax relief.

Members of both parties were committed to this objective, and it was apparent throughout the session that the people did not want you to go home until you had provided some meaningful plan of property tax relief.

To be sound, a major tax revision program of this nature must provide for a fair distribution of property tax relief credits to all citizens and must distribute the tax load fairly among all citizens of our society.

The tax and school aid package you enacted is an honest attempt to fulfill these two objectives.

It gives much - needed relief to rural citizens from heavy and regressive taxation on real and personal property. And it has provisions that extend this tax relief, in the form of school aid, to city and town dwellers, including low and middle income people; offer special relief to the elderly in modest circumstances, and repeal the annoying and costly-to-collect personal property tax on household goods.

Naturally, massive property tax relief on the local level entails substantial tax increases on the state level. Cutting 20 mills or so off of your real estate taxes and giving a tax credit for up to $2,500 valuation on your personal property cannot be purchased cheaply.

The extensive tax program enacted to finance the massive property tax relief represents, on your part, a conscientious effort to equalize the tax load among all segments of our society.

There isn't a citizen who won't carry his proportionate share of the tax load, nor is there a citizen who won't share, in some measure, the relief from regressive taxes on property.

This is the first time, to my knowledge, that the legislative leadership of both political parties and the chief executive have worked out, together, a major tax revision program.

I want to express to leaders of both parties my deep appreciation for their spirit of cooperation and "give and take" that made it possible to arrive at a common ground of solution in the public interest.

I also want to commend legislators in both houses for the long hours of conscientious work they put in during this longest of all sessions in order to keep faith with the people on their pledge of property tax relief.

It should be noted also that the effort was aided by a comprehensive professional study of our state and local tax system, wisely provided for by the 1965 session of the General Assembly.

We all realize that no product of the human mind is perfect. Certainly a vast and comprehensive tax reform, such as this one, will require some revisions by future sessions of the Legislature.

But the fact is that you have, at long last, delivered a major revision of our tax system, in accordance with the public demand, that removes the major inequities in our state-local system that have long been recognized and condemned.

Judged in its entirety -- and this is the only fair way in which it can be judged -you have given Iowa a tax program that is as fair to all citizens as could be devised and is properly responsive to economic change. In other words, the revenues and aids will increase or diminish as the economy of the state changes so that new taxes and major alterations in the tax system won't be required at each successive session of the Legislature.

An integral part of the tax revision package was the enactment of a sound assessment bill which provides for the state-wide equalization of property assessments at 27 per cent of fair market value.

Ranking alongside of tax revision as a major bipartisan objective of this session was State Government Reorganization.

The foundation of the proposed comprehensive reorganization of the state government was laid out in a number of constitutional amendments passed by the 1965 Assembly. As you know, I was disappointed in the rejection of some of these amendments — notably the four-year term for Governor and Lieutenant Governor, with the two running as a team, and the amendment calling for appointment of state officials by the chief executive.

However, I am deeply gratified that you adopted Annual Sessions, Permanent Reapportionment, Item Veto, and then added a new amendment I strongly supported for Subdistricting.

In connection with constitutional amendments, certainly one of the most important and historic actions you took was to give legislative approval for the second time to constitutional home rule for Iowa's cities and towns. With the exception of reforms in legislative apportionment, no constitutional change has been more urgently needed and widely supported than Municipal Home Rule.

The reorganization of the more than 120 sprawling administrative agencies of state government into some 13 modern departments under single directors, as proposed in the Public Administration Service report, was a large undertaking that might well have occupied an entire legislative session in itself. Although the major part of the re-structuring awaits future legislative sessions, you deserve great credit for taking two major, pioneering steps by creating a Department of Revenue to replace the Tax Commission and by combining the Department of Social Welfare, the Board of Control and other kindred agencies into a new Department of Social Services.

I have frequently said that the keystone of any sound plan of government reorganization must be the establishment of an effective state civil service system in Iowa. As you may recall, in my inaugural message, I stated that if only one single measure could be enacted by the Sixty-second General Assembly, I would urge you to make it Civil Service.

The mass political hirings and firings that have been practiced through the years by both parties in the state have shamed all of us and have been a severe deterrent to good government in Iowa. In the face of political realities, this situation would never change until the system was changed. Now this had been done, and I am deeply grateful to the members of both parties who put the good of the state before partisan considerations and arrived at agreement on this long-needed legislation.

No service of modern government is more important than Education. It is closely linked to economic development; it is essential to the good life we all seek.

Besides voting a historic $141 million in school aid in this session, you provided generous support for higher education, including much needed capital improvements; you voted to establish a state-wide educational TV system -- in itself, a milestone; you legislated and appropriated wisely for vocational-technical schools and community colleges; and you retained our state scholarship program, although somewhat short of the level I had hoped for. All in all, it was a constructive session for education.

In this period of explosive social tensions, we all recognize the priority need for upgrading the standards and public prestige or our police and other law enforcement officials. You can't have respect for the law unless you have respect for those who enforce the law. The establishment of a State Law Enforcement Academy is a major step in the right direction.

At the same time, by enacting the state's first Fair Housing Legislation and by providing increased support for the State Civil Rights Commission, you moved constructively toward eliminating some of the major causes of social unrest. I commend you for these particularly outstanding contributions to the public well-being.

The addition of 10 men to the Highway Patrol complement will be helpful in our unceasing labors to control the slaughter on our highways, although I deeply believe the increase of 60 officers I had recommended is more realistic.

One of the landmark achievements of the session was the enactment of an Interstate Toll Bridge Authority to permit the Highway Commission to issue bonds to build toll bridges over the Mississippi and Missouri Rivers -- an enactment absolutely imperative to the state's continuing economic growth and development.

You enacted a wide range of other constructive measures for the good of the state which I had recommended and for which I am deeply appreciative.

You broke new ground in widely divergent areas by providing state disaster aid for Iowa's communities for the first time in history in the form of interest-free loans, by adopting guidelines on conflicts of interest for state officials, and by supporting a State Arts Council.

You passed a Humane Slaughter Act and you enacted a number of measures desired by agriculture, including the appropriating of a half million dollars to indemnify farmers for the loss of hogs in the state's cholera eradication program.

You prudently removed the interest ceiling on invested public funds, an action that will enable the state to strengthen its economy by investing its sinking funds and temporarily idle operating funds in Iowa banks without loss of interest to the taxpayers.

You furthered Iowa's industrial development by updating and improving our Industrial Revenue Bond Law.

You provided additional funds for the acquisition of lands for state parks and outdoor recreational facilities, and you met an urgent need for additional state office space.

You passed the enabling legislation for Medicaid; you increased the retirement benefits of public employees for state and local governments; and you wisely initiated a constitutional change to modify the present unfair residence requirements for voting in lowa.

There was one enactment by this session that affects relatively few people, but which I believe will make Iowa stand tall and proud in the long reach of history. I refer to the law you passed that permits the Old Order Amish to continue to educate their children in their own schools.

I always recognized the logic and the integrity of those who sincerely believed that such an exception should not be made. But sometimes it is wiser to be tolerant of non-uniformity and to bend laws, rather than people.

I am sure that no session of the Legislature has ever turned out perfectly in the view of the man who sits in the Governor's chair. I would be less than honest if I did not admit to certain disappointments, some of which I have already mentioned. But the work of a session must be judged in its entirety, not by a few selected issues.

The failure to set a minimum wage law, even at a very low wage level, was a matter of regret and disappointment to me. I was also disappointed that the legal voting age was not lowered to 18. I commend you for putting some legislation on the books, even though it was considerably watered down, to protect the young children of migrant workers from being compelled to work in the fields at the expense of their education and possibly their health.

On the whole, you did well by the recommendations I submitted to you, and in fairness I want to write this into the record. Moreover, there were compensations in some areas in which you either did more on behalf of causes I support than I had hoped for or did not enact measures against causes for which I stand.

As you know, I have long supported the proposition of allowing private school children to ride on public school buses. While I was disappointed that the bus bill was not enacted, I was gratified that the measure to restore capital punishment in Iowa was not enacted.

Naturally, some of the changes you made in my budget recommendations were not to my liking. But I fully respect the prerogatives of the Legislature in this area and did not expect my recommended budget to emerge unscathed.

What I asked was that you meet the vital needs of state government operations to assure our continuing progress and development. You have done this and I salute you for it.

In our lifetimes, we have seen the social and economic pattern of Iowa change greatly with increasing urbanization and industrialization, and with the continuing exodus of people from rural to urban areas. I believe our Legislatures need to be more sensitive and responsive to these changes than they have sometimes been.

One of the areas in which the Sixty-second General Assembly might have strengthened its record was in its response to the legislative needs of city and town governments and urban citizens. In justice to members of this particular session, let me say that this comment applies to Iowa legislatures generally and not exclusively to this one. Traditionally, our legislatures have fallen short of giving city and town legislation the consideration it should have in this urbanized era.

There are nearly 950 incorporated communities in the state; they are afflicted with severe revenue problems and with property taxes that have reached the level of "all the traffic will bear," as is the case with rural taxpayers.

In the absence of home rule, city and town governments are powerless to act without specific legislative authorization. As a consequence, they move into each session with a multiplicity of requests for needed legislation. To an overworked Legislature, these problems of municipalities seem endless and lacking in political magnetism. The tendency, therefore, is to relegate these matters to a position of secondary importance, and even, at times, to take a punitive attitude toward some reasonable city and town requests.

This is unfortunate because these municipal measures are important, often critically important, to the communities where more than three-quarters of our people now live. They are, therefore, important to the present and future well-being of all lowa.

In this session, the cities and towns asked the Legislature for a modest increase in the urban share of the Road Use Tax Fund. The municipalities need additional money for streets, deserve it and should have received it.

The allocation of some 3.2 million dollars in additional money to cities and towns from liquor receipts was helpful. But the dimension of urban needs had not yet been placed in proper focus.

Clearly, the long-range interests of the state lie in fairly meeting the needs of both rural and urban Iowa -- and this in realistic terms of the present and future and not the past.

In my adjournment message to the Sixty-first General Assembly, I referred to four main recommendations that had been made by national public interest studies on improving what has been referred to as "our horse and buggy state legislatures."

These recommendations were: (1) Annual sessions to cope with the vastly increasing workloads of modern states; (2) Increased pay for legislators; (3) More adequate office space and facilities for legislators and staff; and (4) Improved legislative research facilities.

I pointed out that the 1965 Legislature took some action relating to all four of these points. This session should be given credit also for taking action to improve the Legislature along each of the four lines suggested.

In my view, the fourth recommendation, relating to improved legislative research facilities, has yet to be given the consideration its importance deserves, and should therefore be high on the priority list of the next Assembly.

It has been a long and difficult session and I know that many of you have served through it at considerable personal sacrifice and inconvenience. We have had our disagreements as well as our agreements, and at times there have been blunt words between us. But I assure you that I bear only good will toward each and every one of you who served so faithfully in this Sixty-second General Assembly.

Again, I want to express my deep appreciation for the constructive work you have done and the personal courtesies you have accorded me. I wish you health and happiness and hope that your interest in Iowa's public affairs and her future development will continue, undiminished, through the years ahead.

Very truly yours,

HAROLD E. HUGHES, Governor

President Fulton made the following remarks at the closing of the 62nd General Assembly:

The 62nd session of the Iowa General Assembly was a productive session. While at times there seemed to be an attempt to deny the course set by the 61st General Assembly, the end product continued Iowa on the road of progress. There were some disappointments and refusals to squarely confront issues, but in most instances this General Assembly realized that state government must continue to adapt itself to the changes in our political, social, and economic structures.

The fundamental achievement was the revision of Iowa's tax structure and the method of distributing school aid. The demand from the populace has been great and this General Assembly responded.

These changes were accomplished bi-partisanly and based upon two premises. The first being that a shift from the property tax to state sources of revenue to finance education should result in a more progressive tax structure, and the second being that a new formula for distributing state aid should provide an equal educational opportunity for each child in Iowa. These laws should permit Iowa to finance elementary and secondary education more equitably.

The accomplishments of this session in reapportionment were historical. The permanent apportionment plan first passed by the 61st General Assembly was passed for the second time. The legislature sub-districted the larger counties and provided for a reduction in its size beginning in 1971. And by that date both houses of the legislature will be apportioned on a population basis as required by the law of the land. This being accomplished with divided control of the legislature is a tribute to both political parties.

The legislature's refusal to pass the "Dirksen amendment" will be noted historically. The Iowa Senate's willingness to trust the people regardless of their residence will result in stability in state government and allow it to function as it was intended.

The General Assembly's accomplishments were in many areas.

The constitutional amendments for annual sessions, home rule, item veto, and changing the method of paying legislators were passed for the second time and submitted to the people.

Iowa's vocational-technical school system was protected from destructive attacks and continued as provided by the 61st General Assembly.

A civil service system was established.

Governmental reorganization was begun by establishing a department of social services and department of revenue.

An educational T. V. network was begun.

A state law enforcement academy was established.

Air pollution control was initiated.

Soil conservation was strengthened.

A conflict of interest law was passed.

In these and many other areas the legislature responded to the needs of our state. There were disappointments as well. Most of these were caused by the House of Representatives failing to enact bills passed by the Senate.

In governmental reorganization the House failed to pass bills other than those mentioned above and failed to pass the resolution continuing reorganization in the interim.

The House failed to pass the resolution establishing a study of the legislative processes.

It failed to pass for the second time the constitutional amendments for an appointive cabinet and providing for a four-year term for Governor and Lieutenant Governor.

It failed to pass the court reform bills passed by the Senate that would have provided the people of Iowa with a modern court system.

The House refused to allow the Board of Regents to use long-term financing for classroom buildings.

The House seriously damaged Iowa's scholarship program for college students by severely cutting appropriations for this program.

The Senate failed to enact a law defining intoxication and both houses combined in refusing to provide the number of additional highway patrolmen recommended by the Governor.

There was disagreement between the two houses of the legislature controlled by the opposite political parties that at times became petty bickering, but all competition resorts to this at times. The result was basic advancement for the State of Iowa. For this both political parties may be proud.

My sincere thanks to the members of the Senate of the 62nd General Assembly for their courtesy and cooperation and to all who contributed to the success of the 62nd General Assembly.
