JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FIRST CALENDAR DAY
FIRST SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Monday, January 14, 2019

Pursuant to chapter two (2), sections two point one (2.1) and two point three (2.3), Code of Iowa, the 2019 Regular Session of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly convened at 10:00 a.m., and the Senate was called to order by President Schneider.

Prayer was offered by The Most Reverend Richard E. Pates, Bishop of the Diocese of Des Moines. He was the guest of President Schneider.

PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Ella, Elin, and Drew Whitver, children of Senator Whitver.

ADOPTION OF TEMPORARY RULES AND TEMPORARY COMPENSATION

Senator Whitver moved that the rules of the Senate adopted by the Eighty-seventh General Assembly and provisions for compensation adopted by the Eighty-seventh General Assembly be adopted as the temporary rules and temporary compensation provisions for the 2019 Session of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote.

SPECIAL GUEST

President Schneider welcomed to the Senate chamber the Honorable Patrick Deluhery, former member of the Senate from Scott County, Davenport, Iowa.

The Senate rose and expressed its welcome.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT

Senator Whitver placed in nomination the name of Senator Charles Schneider of Dallas as a candidate for the office of President of the Senate for the Eighty-eighth General Assembly.

There being no further nominations, the Chair put the question to the Senate, and Senator Schneider was unanimously elected by a voice vote.

Senator Schneider appeared before the rostrum and took the oath of office administered by Chief Justice Mark S. Cady.

ELECTION OF PRESIDENT PRO TEMPORE

Senator Whitver placed in nomination the name of Senator Jerry Behn of Boone County as a candidate for the office of President Pro Tempore for the Senate for the Eighty-eighth General Assembly.

There being no further nominations, the Chair put the question to the Senate, and Senator Behn was unanimously elected by a voice vote.

Senator Behn appeared before the rostrum and took the oath of office. President Schneider presented President Pro Tempore Behn to the Senate.

OPENING REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

President Schneider addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Good morning.

Welcome to the First Session of the 88th General Assembly.

I would like to offer a special welcome to the new members of the Iowa Senate – Senator Whiting, Senator J. Smith, Senator Nunn, Senator Celsi, Senator Koelker, Senator T. Taylor, Senator Wahls, Senator Miller-Meeks and Senator Cournoyer.

It strikes me the new members hold almost 1 in 5 seats of this body. This is a positive sign that Iowans are willing to give their time and talents at the state Capitol in the service of their neighbors. While this is a sacrifice for some, especially those who come from the far corners of our state, I can speak for those who have served in this chamber before when I say it is also extremely humbling and a unique honor to serve the people of this state in the Iowa Senate. I wish you all the best during this General Assembly.

I am proud to say Iowa is thriving. Our state boasts the lowest unemployment rate in the country. Thanks in part to the reforms passed during the last General Assembly, Iowans' incomes are rising, their taxes are shrinking, and our economy is growing.

Most of you have probably heard that US News & World Report ranked Iowa the #1 state in the country. This recognition is something we should all be proud of. After all, it didn't come about because of one General Assembly. It is something that we have worked on collectively over many years, and through split control of government.

Being #1 doesn't give us the freedom to rest on our laurels. Iowa may be the #1 state in America today, but the other 49 states are looking for opportunities to make their states more desirable. Becoming the best hard, but it's more difficult to stay there.

Being #1 does not mean that we have achieved perfection. We still face many challenges: brain drain; workforce training; improving our business climate; improving student achievement in education; enhancing our quality of life. Most of us would agree that these are all areas that need our attention. I believe we are up to the challenge.

Addressing some of these challenges means getting government out of the way. Taxes that hinder growth will result in fewer jobs, lower incomes, and less economic development.

We need to find ways to continue to reduce the tax burden on hardworking Iowans – particularly when it comes to property taxes, which have an unfair, disparate impact on Iowans who live on fixed incomes, like many seniors.

Regulations and job licensing requirements can go too far. Some regulations and requirements are necessary for public health or safety reasons. But if they go too far, they can trap the unwary in debt and discourage people with ambition from taking a chance to start a business or a new career, crushing the American dream.

Addressing some of these challenges requires government involvement. We must continue to invest in education and workforce development if we want to ensure that all Iowans are able to share in the state's success. We must ensure we have a safety net for those who are most in need.

As we make these and other investments, we need to remember that taxpayers expect us to use their tax dollars wisely. Doing so requires setting priorities.

I look forward to working with my colleagues in the Senate, and with the House and Governor Reynolds, to address these challenges. It won't be easy, but I have faith in our ability to overcome adversity.

Part of my faith lies in our proud tradition of being a true citizen legislature. In this chamber today, virtually none of us is a career politician. Many of us leave our regular occupations as farmers, teachers, lawyers, or business owners to serve in the state capitol. We know that we need to get our work done so we can return to our normal lives.

I hope this means the Iowa Senate can operate without the harsh partisanship that is infecting our current political discourse. For too many politicians, politics has become a sport. Some politicians focus on supporting their own team, or furthering their own ambitions, rather than shaping good public policy. When that happens, discourse suffers.

As we all know, it is a violation of a long-time Senate rule to question the motives of another senator on the floor. The rule justifiably recognizes what we sometimes forget – every senator deserves the benefit of the doubt when it comes to his or her motives on an issue. I believe that every person here decided to run because they have the best interests of their constituents in mind. I believe that is what drives the passion each of us has for the work we do here. I hope we can all aspire to keep this in mind as we go through this legislative session.

As elected officials and leaders of our state, we have a responsibility to bring people together. The time for drawing contrasts is over. The time to govern has arrived. We are all Iowans. We are all here to make our state a better place for our families, neighbors and communities. Now is the time to come together and focus on Iowa's future.

I wish everyone in this chamber, including the staff, clerks and pages, a happy, healthy and productive legislative session. I look forward to working with all of you to continue the success of our state.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Senator Petersen addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Thank you, President Schneider.

Welcome to the Iowa Senate and the beginning of the 2019 Legislative Session.

Welcome back to our returning Senators and staff and a warm welcome to our new Senators, pages, clerks and staff.

The Iowa Senate has called this chamber home for more than 130 years.

The laws and budgets we pass or don't pass this session have the ability to impact the lives of every Generation living in our state today – and Generations who will be sitting in our chairs long after we are gone.

We have six generations represented in this chamber – the Greatest Generation, the Silent Generation, Baby Boomers, Generation X, Millennials, and even Generation Z with our Senate Pages.

I fall into the category of Generation X. I have seen how public policies and leaders can shape our lives and even impact our future.

My pathway to public service began with my mom – a member of the Silent Generation.

She is the youngest of 10 children. Her mom, my grandma, was born in 1891. My grandparents had children in public schools for nearly 50 consecutive years and each one of them graduated from high school.

With 10 kids, you can imagine, my maternal grandparents didn't have much money. Social Security wasn't offered to farm families until the mid-1950s when my mom was in high school.

When the federal government made a decision to let farmers and domestic workers sign up for Social Security – my mom took her parents to the nearest city to apply.

My grandma was born before the state of Missouri kept birth records so she brought a family Bible that had her birthdate written in it and letters attesting to its accuracy from her living siblings. Fortunately, the federal government accepted it as proof. It was Social Security and Medicare that gave my grandma enough economic security to stay in her home until she was 97. It also allowed her children to focus forward on the financial needs of their own families instead of worrying about their mom.

My mom got to go to college thanks to small acts of kindness from people who wanted to help her succeed.

My uncle Earl was one of those people. He is a quiet, unassuming man – a retired pig farmer who lives in Bedford, Iowa.

As a new farmer, he gave his little sister an old sow and told her she could have the litter. That helped pay for a year of her college.

My grandpa made a similar deal with her another year.

And a woman from Bedford who had taught home ec at my mom's high school just across the state line in Missouri encouraged my mom to go to college, and offered her an interest-free loan. My mom took her up on her offer and borrowed $300, which she paid back before she graduated.

My mom was lucky. College was within reach for families – even if you grew up without means. And she had amazing public school teachers who pushed her to follow her dreams.

We must work together to put the opportunity to go to college and community college back in the hands of more Iowa families. And we cannot afford to strap our Millennials and Generation Z with student debt – that holds them back from getting married, starting a family, and starting a new business.

My mom left Missouri and moved to Iowa for a job – as a high school home ec teacher in Brooklyn. There, she met my dad – the ag teacher. Unlike my mom, my dad was an only child. My grandparents met on my grandpa's family farm in Denmark while they were teenagers.

My grandpa dreamed of coming to the United States and at 22 he left Denmark and made his way to West Branch to farm. Five years later, he had enough money to go back to Denmark to ask my grandma to marry him. This was just a few years before WWII.

My grandma followed my grandpa back to the United States two weeks later— not knowing a word of English. They spoke Danish at home and relied on public school teachers to help my dad learn English.

Immigrants make our state stronger. I am so proud to be the granddaughter of immigrants. I am proud of the financial assistance other immigrants offered me in the form of a college scholarship. I am also proud of our state's reputation of supporting refugees. Democrats stand ready to work on immigration policy that will help our state's economy and continue its reputation of being a welcoming place to live.

My parents taught school in Brooklyn and Pella before Pioneer Hi-Bred recruited my dad away from teaching to Des Moines when my mom was pregnant with me.

Three years later, my mom would find herself a single parent with two young girls to raise after losing my dad to cancer.

My sister Barb and I are so grateful our mom had an education to fall back on when she needed to re-enter the workforce to keep our family out of poverty. Democrats believe public education is the great equalizer.

As my mom looked for work, the minister at our church, Jim Kratz, encouraged her to apply for a new job – as a lobbyist for a coalition of various faith communities who were coming together to push social justice policies.

I watched her spend her career standing up for people and being a strong voice for people who needed it most.

Each generation is impacted by previous generations...

Both of my grandmas were born before women had the right to vote.

Today, just two generations later in my family – I serve as a leader in the Iowa Senate, and our state has its first elected female governor, we have gender balance in our federal delegation in Washington, DC, and more women than ever before are serving in the Iowa Legislature.

Next year, 2020, will mark the 100th anniversary of women's right to vote. Let's put Iowans at the front of the line in elections. IT IS TIME to expand voting rights for our next generation. Let's restore voting rights for felons. Let's help every Iowa teen-ager, angler, hunter, taxpayer and new citizen get automatic voter registration. We should be doing all we can to make Iowa the #1 voting state in the nation to go along with our status as the first caucus state in the nation.

We can make this happen.

My grandpa was born the year the bicycle was invented. My grandma was born the year before the first gasoline-powered tractor was invented in Clayton County, Iowa.

My parents were born the same year as Iowa State University (then Iowa State College) built the first automatic electronic digital computer that weighed 700 pounds. I was born the same year the pocket calculator was invented and my youngest was born the year the iPhone was invented.

Getting electricity to rural areas was the issue of my grandparents' generation.

Let's help more Iowans enjoy the many advantages of innovative renewable energy and renewable fuels – to help lower their utility bills and reduce our dependence on foreign oil. Unfortunately, last year's energy power grab legislation pushed by Republican lawmakers, the Governor and government-protected energy monopolies shoved Iowans to the back of the line, making energy efficiency less accessible to hard-working Iowans and seniors.

Communications is one of the biggest infrastructure needs of our time. No matter where you live in Iowa, you should have access to technology. Let's make a commitment to put Iowans at the front of the line for access to technology before another multi-billion dollar company gets access to another big check from the economic development cookie jar.

Let's put workers and businesses begging for a bigger, more skilled workforce at the front of the line this year. Democrats will be at the center of the fight to fully fund job training programs and apprenticeships that help Iowa workers get better opportunities for a decent life and human dignity.

Instead of campaign rhetoric and empty promises, we need to offer Iowans a brighter future. It's time to give Iowans a raise, provide equal pay for equal work, safe pregnancy accommodations in the workplace, affordable safe child care options, and let's quit sticking it to Iowa taxpayers to subsidize low-wage employers who don't pay enough for their employees to have a decent place to live and enough money to feed their families. Democrats stand ready to reward businesses that put their employees at the front of the line.

When we put people at the front of the line, good things can happen.

Instead of "reforming" stuff that isn't broken, let's fix the things that are broken like...

Medicaid Privatization – Let's finally get honest answers and more accountability for Iowa Medicaid recipients, health care providers and taxpayers.

Protecting our Children – It shouldn't be too much to ask to put our kids at the front of the line.

Today, I renew my call to get rid of the Statute of Limitations that puts the rights of serial predators ahead of survivors. As William Paul Young, author of "The Shack," once said: "I don't think there is anything that is the equivalent of sexual abuse that tears apart the fabric of the human soul. It empowers the lies of shame."

Let's Care for Our Seniors

There's no reason to push seniors to the back of the line by "fixing" or "tweaking" a retirement system doesn't need to be fixed. Hard-working Iowans deserve retirement security.

Let's Keep Our Promises

Let's keep our promises by fully funding the water quality initiative and mental health expansion...and let's not renege on any promises that will result in higher property taxes for homeowners!!!

And let's restore safe health care for women

Republicans "reformed" family planning program has not improved access – in fact, participation has dropped more than 70 percent. Democrats stand ready to help women – especially those in rural areas and small towns – get access to affordable health care.

When we lift up Iowans, we create a better society for all.

Finally, I renew my commitment today to Senators Whitver and Schneider to continue working in a bipartisan manner to make the Iowa Capitol a safe environment for everyone. That includes making appropriate changes to the Senate's Code of Ethics and Harassment Prevention Policy to ensure better pathways to justice.

Thank you to my Iowa Senate Democratic colleagues and staff for their support. It is an honor to be part of a team of people who have such a heart for public service. I promise to listen, to learn and to fight for bluer skies in Iowa's future.

Now, let's get to work!!

REMARKS BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Senator Whitver addressed the Senate with the following remarks:

Thank you Mr. President.

Mr. President, Senators, staff, families, and friends—Good morning and welcome to the 88th General Assembly of the Iowa Legislature.

It is great to be back today in this historic chamber, and great to see so many friends and colleagues. We are a citizen legislature, here from all walks of life. We are mothers, fathers, grandparents, small business owners, and farmers, to name a few. We bring a variety of experiences to the table, and represent even more back in our home districts. We are here to represent the interests of everyone who has the privilege of calling our great state home.

To our nine new members in this chamber, I want to welcome you to the Iowa Senate. I wish you the best as you are sworn in and represent your respective districts. My hope for you as you begin your time serving in the Iowa Senate is that you never forget WHY you ran. No matter if you serve one term, or 5 terms, it is extremely important to always remember why you first put your name on the ballot.

And, that is a question I would ask all of you here in this room...why is it that you first ran for office. What is your WHY?

As I begin my (first session) as Majority Leader and have been thinking a lot about our agenda for the upcoming session, it is a question I have found myself thinking a lot about lately.

I am blessed to have my wife and children here today. For years, when my kids asked me what we do in the Iowa Senate, I always said “We make laws.” Last week, my oldest daughter Ella asked me what we do in the Senate and I had a different answer. I told her, “We work to make your life better.” Shortly after saying that, it struck me.....We are not here to change laws; we are here to change lives.

Our mission is simple: Improve the lives of Iowans through challenging the status quo and reforming Iowa for the next generation.

Looking toward the next generation is extremely important to me. Not just because I have three young children of my own, but because too often politicians are too worried about the next election to think about the next generation.

This should never be the case. As we begin our 2019 session, our focus should not be on the next election; instead we must look toward lifting up our next generation.

When I think about the last two years, I often think about a quote I first heard while in business school at Iowa State—from a best-selling business author—he said, “Greatness is not a matter of circumstance, greatness is a choice.”

Over the past two years, this body has CHOSEN greatness. We have made a conscious decision to make our state the Number One state in the nation. We have made tough decisions, taken political risks - we have chosen greatness for the state of Iowa.

Those choices are not always easy. Often in politics, the greatest challenge is not finding the solution. We often know what the solution is. The greatest challenge is finding the political will to make it happen.

I am proud this body has shown the political will to make those tough decisions.

Two years ago, we set out to implement a better job climate in the state of Iowa. Today, we have THE LOWEST unemployment rate in the entire nation. We went from a state asking “where are the jobs” to a state asking “where are the workers?”

Two years ago, we set out to improve our educational system in the state of Iowa. Today, schools have more local control over their school districts; have more flexibility with the financial resources we give them and more funding for transportation in our rural districts.

Two years ago, we inherited a budget with a $113 million deficit. Today we have a balanced budget, our cash reserves are full, and we have an expected surplus of over $196 million in the current budget year.

Two years ago, we had one of the highest tax burdens in America. Last year we passed historic tax reform resulting in the largest tax cut in Iowa history for hard-working Iowans.

Additionally over the past two years we have passed mental health reform, water quality legislation, tort reform, strengthened Iowans 2nd Amendment rights, and protected the sanctity of life.

The past two years have been the most productive and historic two years this state has ever seen. It is hard to argue with the results—we were named the Number One state in the nation by US News and World Report.

As I traveled the state this last election cycle meeting with Iowans, we talked about the progress we have made. At every stop, I said that this last election would be a defining moment in the history of our state - where the people would decide which direction we want to go and what kind of state we want to be.

I am grateful the people of Iowa have given us the responsibility and honor of continuing to lead in the Iowa Senate. They expect us to step up to make tough decisions and continue down the path that has made us Number One. We are grateful the voters have joined us in choosing greatness for the state of Iowa!

Now, as we look toward the upcoming session, we will continue to deliver bold action to build our workforce, continue to reduce taxes, and reduce government dependence in our state.

We will continue to be dedicated to our pro-growth agenda for Iowa—growth for our businesses, growth for our schools, and growth for our rural and urban areas.

We are devoted to the Iowans who elected us to this chamber and we are committed to keeping the promises we made on the campaign trail.

We will continue to challenge the status quo and continue to push reforms that will keep us as the Number One state in the nation.

I am honored to serve as the majority leader of Iowa Senate, and look forward to working with each and every one of you to make Iowa the best we can.

Let's get to work!

In accordance with law and concurrent resolution duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order at 2:14 p.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

President Schneider declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

CANVASS OF VOTES

President Schneider announced that the time had arrived for the canvass of votes for the offices of Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the General Election held on November 6, 2018, and announced as Chief Teller on the part of the Senate, Senator R. Smith, and assistant tellers, Senators Mathis and Rozenboom; and as Chief Teller on the part of the House, Representative Jacobsen, and assistant tellers, Representatives Jeneary and Oldson.

President Schneider further announced that, in accordance with statute, the six tellers just named would constitute the judges of said canvass.

The joint convention stood at ease at 2:15 p.m., until the fall of the gavel.

The returns were opened in the presence of the joint convention and the tellers then proceeded to canvass the vote for Governor and Lieutenant Governor of the State of Iowa, cast at the General Election held on November 6, 2018.

The joint convention resumed session at 2:35 p.m.

Senator Whitver moved that the joint convention be dissolved.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote and the joint convention was dissolved.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber.

ADJOURNMENT

On motion of Senator Whitver, the Senate adjourned at 2:36 p.m. until 9:00 a.m., Tuesday, January 15, 2019.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

SECOND CALENDAR DAY
SECOND SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Tuesday, January 15, 2019

The Senate met in regular session at 9:03 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Prayer was offered by Minister Eli Suddarth of the Lutheran Church of Hope in Ankeny, Iowa. He was the guest of Senator Whitver.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senate Page Jackson Birdwell.

The Journal of Monday, January 14, 2019, was approved.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

The Senate stood at ease at 9:13 a.m. until the fall of the gavel for a Democratic party caucus.

The Senate resumed session at 9:44 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 1, duly adopted, the Senate proceeded to the House chamber under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms.

JOINT CONVENTION

The joint convention convened at 9:51 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

President Schneider declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Whitver moved that a committee of six, three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify Governor Kim Reynolds that the joint convention was ready to receive her.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote, and the Chair announced the appointment of Senators Feenstra, Koelker, and Mathis on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Jones, Brink, and Konfrst on the part of the House.

Secretary of Agriculture, Mike Naig; Auditor of State, Rob Sand; Treasurer of State, Mike Fitzgerald; and Attorney General, Tom Miller were escorted into the House chamber.

The Chief Justice and the Justices of the Supreme Court and the Chief Judge and the Judges of the Court of Appeals were escorted into the House chamber.

Lieutenant Governor Adam Gregg, his wife Cari, son Jackson, daughter Lauren, and parents Larry and Carol were escorted into the House chamber.

First Gentleman Kevin Reynolds, daughter Jessica Erger, grandsons Emory and Reed Erger, daughter Nicole Springer, and parents Charles and Audrey Strawn were escorted into the House chamber.

The committee waited upon Governor Kim Reynolds and escorted her to the Speaker's station.

President Schneider presented Governor Kim Reynolds, who delivered the following Condition of the State Address:

Mr. Lt. Governor, Mr. President, Madam Speaker, legislative leaders, senators, representatives, justices, judges, elected officials, distinguished guests, family, friends, my fellow Iowans:

The job of government, above all else, is to provide for the health and safety of its citizens.

So I want to begin this address by thanking the people who are on the front lines of providing that protection: the men and women who serve in military, law enforcement, and as first responders.

They risk their lives for us. And some of them give the ultimate sacrifice. It was with great sadness that, last week, we laid to rest Clinton firefighter Lt. Eric Hosette. And it is with prayerful hope that we watch Firefighter Adam Cain recover from the same tragic event.

For these men and women, service isn't just part of their job. It's who they are—whether the uniform is on or off.

Take Billy Fox. After graduating from Central College, he enlisted in the Army and joined the special forces. After almost eight years of active service and tours in the Middle East, Billy returned to civilian life.

He began his job search through Home Base Iowa and eventually landed at Vermeer, back home in Pella. He started on the production line and quickly became the head of security, where his instincts to serve and protect would be put to use—in ways that no one would have imagined.

On July 19, a tornado ripped through Vermeer's campus, completely destroying one factory and heavily damaging others. It was devastating. I saw it first-hand the next day. Metal was everywhere; cars were piled on top of each other; and brick walls were leveled.

Yet there was not a single fatality. Not one.

Thanks to Billy's calm and experienced leadership, the 3,000 employees and visitors attending Vermeer's customer appreciation day were safe. Even though an "all clear" was issued by a paid weather service, Billy and his team kept everyone sheltered—and in doing so, saved their lives.

Billy, please stand so that we can recognize your service, leadership, and bravery.

On the same day a tornado struck Vermeer, separate tornadoes ripped through Bondurant and Marshalltown, destroying homes and businesses in their path.

In the days and weeks after, hundreds of volunteers showed up to help clear debris and rebuild.

Last year, we saw the same thing play out again and again across Iowa. In times of need, Iowans came together. Neighbor-helping-neighbor. And often, stranger helping stranger.

Whether it was cleaning up after a flood or a tornado, looking for a missing loved one, or bringing in a harvest after a tragedy, Iowans showed up.

It's who we are, and it's why I am so proud to be your governor.

Join me in recognizing the Iowans who, every day, show acts of kindness, and who truly make this the greatest state in the nation.

For those of us who have the honor to represent these Iowans, it's our job to live up to the example they set. And there's no better time than the Condition of the State and the days that follow to set aside our differences and forge a common vision.

Iowans expect no less.

Working across the aisle isn't an impossible task; we've done it. And by continuing to put Iowans first, we honor four public servants, whose belief in diplomacy, principles, and bipartisanship made an incredible difference in millions of lives.

In 2018, America lost a great leader with the passing of President George H.W. Bush. A man whose legacy is one of service, statesmanship and values, and whose commemoration served as a reminder to all Americans of the nobility of public service.

Iowa mourned the passing of Gov. Robert Ray whose civility, courage and common-sense style of governing set the highest standard for those who followed.

We grieved the passing of Congressman Leonard Boswell, a proud veteran and public servant who willingly reached across the aisle on many issues to make Iowa a better place.

And three weeks ago, we lost legendary Sen. John Culver, whose energy, passion for politics, and timeless wit highlighted the best of Iowa.

If we've learned anything from the passing of these public servants, it's this: Working together, with deep resolve, we can achieve more than we ever dreamed possible.

Last year was another year of significant accomplishments. Together, we: passed the largest income tax cut ever as part of a groundbreaking tax reform package; continued making education a priority by investing a record amount in K-12 schools and our children's future; enacted a collaborative water-quality bill, my first as governor; protected the sanctity of life; provided affordable insurance options to thousands of Iowans; and—with unanimous support—enacted comprehensive mental health reform and the Future Ready Iowa Act.

Indeed, it was a historic year.

As we begin a new general assembly, I'm proud to declare that the condition of the state is strong. Our budget is balanced and our cash reserves are full; wages are going up while unemployment is at an all-time low.

Because of our people and the power of their ingenuity, Iowa is soaring.

I know, however, that not everyone feels that success. I know that in family rooms, workplaces—and even in this chamber—there are Iowans who are struggling, sometimes in silence.

Today, I am asking this Legislature to work with me again to fight for those individuals. To make sure that Iowa's success is every Iowan's success.

One year ago, I stood at this podium and told you that my vision for the future is an Iowa overflowing with opportunity—opportunity for our working families, young people, and our communities, both rural and urban.

A place where it doesn't matter if you're rich or poor, young or old, male or female.

Where your last name and zip code aren't nearly as important as your ability to dream and willingness to reach for it.

A place where, if life got in the way of those dreams, you can make a new start.

And if you've made mistakes, you can find a second chance.

My vision for the future of Iowa hasn't changed. But the future I see isn't around the corner, or after the next election. The future is now. The time is now to deliver on the promises we've made to Iowans looking for a way up.

It starts by taking the next step to prepare Iowans for dynamic careers and lifelong learning.

That's Future Ready Iowa.

At its core, Future Ready Iowa recognizes that there is dignity in meaningful work, that Iowans yearn for the opportunity to better themselves, and that those opportunities exist right here in Iowa.

It directs resources where we need them most. Identifying high-demand jobs like computer programmers and electricians. Educating Iowans about those great opportunities while providing support for individuals seeking those rewarding careers.

We've already started putting the policy into action. Last fall, Future Ready Iowa summits were hosted in 18 communities across the state.

We brought together employers, educators and local leaders, to discuss how communities could use the Future Ready Iowa Act as a springboard to propel Iowans into new careers.

In fact, after one of the summits, the North Scott superintendent decided to launch a Registered Apprenticeship program for advanced manufacturing. Local employers like John Deere and Eagle Engineering already have expressed interest. And students, like Myah Harrington, are eager to sign up.

To encourage education and training beyond high school, Fareway has started a program to help employees pay down their student debt. And Ruan Transportation started a technology apprenticeship program that will give young Iowans yet another great career path.

We will see this play out again and again over the next few years.

Future Ready Iowa is a powerful tool to grow family incomes, meet employer needs and strengthen communities.

The time is now to invest in Iowans and their future. Today, I'm calling on the Legislature to take the next step, to appropriate $20 million to fund the plan we put in place last session.

This investment will take Iowa to the next level. And more important, it will give more Iowans an opportunity to find a rewarding career.

Of course, the road to finding a rewarding career doesn't start after high school. A strong K-12 education system is the foundation of any state, and Iowa has a solid foundation to build upon.

Our schools are filled with innovative teachers, who are making things happen; we have the most extensive teacher leadership and compensation system in the country; a nationally recognized STEM initiative; and we're getting closer to our goal to have students reading proficiently by the end of third grade.

That's just a sample of the critical work that is underway in our state. But there is always more to do.

Kids today are growing up immersed in a world of digital technology. The workforce is continually impacted by innovation and globalization. And we need an education system that adapts to those changes.

Because of our investment in STEM, apprenticeships, work-based learning and computer science, it's happening now across our state.

In August we launched a new program called Computer Science is Elementary. Through STEM grants, this public-private partnership will transform six high-poverty elementary schools into models of computer science instruction by weaving computer coding into the class lessons.

We're also seeing other elementary schools expanding or creating computer science programs.

Clear Lake is expanding coding and other fundamentals for fourth- and fifth-graders; Kingsley-Pierson is training teachers to teach computer science; and Indianola is teaching coding to kindergarteners, first- and second-graders.

Iowa students are getting amazing real-world learning experiences.

Like Central Campus in Des Moines, where this week, high-school students will start a semester-long program called NeuroSMART. Through a partnership with Kemin and Des Moines University, and with the support of a STEM Council award, these students will get hands-on experience in the fields of neuroscience and business.

In the gallery today, we have students from Central Campus. Please stand to be recognized. We are excited to see what the future has in store for you.

The budget I'm submitting today proposes over $93 million in additional funding for preschool through high school education, which includes a 2.3% increase in per pupil funding.

I'm also requesting $11.2 million to help districts with disproportionate transportation costs.

And I'm asking for a $1 million increase in STEM funding.

In total, that will bring our preK-12 investment to almost $3.4 billion this year.

That's an investment we can be proud of. But Iowans also know that a quality education can't be reduced to a dollar figure or a percentage increase. It's about one thing and one thing only: How well we prepare our children to succeed.

Over the last eight years, I've been fortunate to travel the nation and the world on behalf of Iowa.

These trips have provided ideas on what we can do better, but they've also given me perspective on what makes Iowa so unique.

From river to river and border to border, Iowa is speckled with vibrant communities, each with its own character and story to tell.

Every 10, 15 or 20 miles, there's another town, with another school brimming with pride, and another Main Street filled with excitement and hope.

These welcoming and unique communities motivate thousands to ride their bikes from the Missouri to the Mississippi each year. They're what gives Iowa its character.

Unfortunately, in some places, that character is fading. We cannot let that happen.

Our communities and Main Streets tell a story to the outside world. My question for each of you is this: How do we want our story to read?

That we've given up, or that we have hope for the future? That we're tired, or full of energy? That we've lost our vision, or are innovative and creative? That we're fading or growing?

As I travel all 99 counties, I've seen the story that many Iowans are writing and the potential to do more.

That's what led me to create the Governor's Empower Rural Iowa Initiative, a partnership between my office and the Iowa Rural Development Council.

Led by Lt. Governor Gregg and Sandy Ehrig, the initiative focused on connecting, investing and growing our rural communities.

I want to thank the Lt. Governor and Sandy for their leadership. And I want to thank the members of the Empower Rural Iowa Initiative for their work in providing the initial recommendations.

It's no secret, we need to keep our rural communities connected if we hope to keep our young people or attract others to Iowa. Over a century ago, a town's proximity to the railroad was key; over the last 100 years, our focus has been on highways and interstates. And, by the way, it's that focus that finally gave us a completed four-lane Highway 20.

Now, though, it's virtual connectivity that has become essential. Businesses, schools, hospitals, and even our combines, rely on high-speed internet.

We have come a long way already. U.S. News & World Report says "the Hawkeye state leads the nation in efforts to bring ultra-fast internet access to every city block and every rural acre." But there's still more to do.

To ensure that every part of Iowa has the same opportunity, I am requesting $20 million, split over two years, for broadband infrastructure. This funding will accelerate expansion and leverage an additional $120 million in private investment for high-speed internet.

Rural communities also can't thrive without access to housing. Businesses in rural Iowa are growing and hiring, but the employees they need won't make the move if there's no place for their family to call home.

I am therefore requesting that we double the amount of workforce housing tax credits that are set aside for rural communities, putting the total at $10 million. I'm also asking that these tax credits be competitive, meaning that they will go to those projects that are well planned, not just first in line.

When it comes to building strong communities, the talent is there. The drive is there. And often, the programs are there, but the coordination isn't.

That's why I'm announcing the establishment of a Center for Rural Revitalization within the Iowa Economic Development Authority. This center will focus on making rural Iowa an even greater priority and give our Main Streets a roadmap for success.

In places like Jefferson, Iowans are already showing that, with ingenuity and drive, our small towns can be as vibrant as they've ever been.

Since 2012, over 100 Greene County residents volunteered more than 29,000 hours to raise funds, write grants and work on committees.

They've transformed downtown Jefferson, attracting 14 businesses and rehabbing dozens of buildings. And recently, voters overwhelmingly approved a bond referendum that will build a new high school that will house a career academy that will feed a new downtown business called the Forge.

The Forge, which is owned by Pillar Technologies, will employ 30 technology consultants, many of them just out of high school. Pillar has successfully brought this same concept to Silicon Valley, Columbus, Ohio, Ann Arbor, Michigan, and recently Des Moines.

And now it's coming to downtown Jefferson.

Why? Because even people in our nation's largest cities can see what rural Iowa has to offer. People like Kevin Scott, the chief technology officer of Microsoft and a group of technology investors who paid a visit to Jefferson just last month.

Not every Iowa town will be home to a new technology consulting firm. But we should help ignite every community with the passion of the people of Greene County, some of whom are with us here today. Thank you for being that spark. Please stand up and be recognized.

Since taking the oath of office, one of my priorities has been to create an integrated and coordinated health care system. We made great strides on that effort last year.

We passed legislation that gave Iowans affordable health care options.

We worked diligently, and still are, to ensure that our Medicaid program is sustainable and focused on patient outcomes.

And we unanimously passed mental health reform, which built on the changes we began in 2013.

And we're seeing results. In a recent report, Mental Health America declared that Iowa's overall mental health system is the seventh best in the nation, and third when it comes to the adult system.

That's before the legislation from last year has been fully implemented.

This year, the mental health regions will continue developing new services. To help sustain them, I've set aside an additional $11 million in my two-year Medicaid budget.

And I'm calling on the Legislature to extend the time the regions have to spend down their capital balances and to increase the percentage of their operating budgets that may be carried from one year to the next.

There may still be more to do, so I'm asking everyone in this chamber to work with me to ensure that we have sustainable funding that will keep our mental health system strong.

Another essential piece of a strong mental health system is having adequate behavioral healthcare providers. To build on the existing psychiatric residency program, my budget proposes to fund four additional psychiatric residencies at the University of Iowa for doctors who will practice in rural communities. And I'm asking the Legislature to appropriate additional money to train nurse practitioners and physician assistants in mental health.

Our efforts aren't over yet. But by working together, we will have the best adult mental health system in the country.

When it comes to our children and their changing mental health needs, we are not as far along.

That's not for a lack of talking about it. We've been doing that for more than 20 years.

It's time to move past the talking phase.

There is no worse pain than that of a child who is suffering in silence. And there is no greater agony than that of a parent who watches helplessly—not knowing where or to whom they can turn.

Diagnosing and healing illness is never guaranteed, but when it comes to physical pain parents know the path to get there. "The doctor will see you now," is usually just a few minutes or hours away.

When it comes to mental health, however, part of the fear and the pain is in not knowing where to begin. In being told "no one provides those services" or "your child is on a wait list, we can see her in two to three months."

We must create a children's mental health system where the path to healing is clearly marked. A system that lets parents know where to begin—and that their child can begin immediately.

That's why, at the end of last session, I signed an executive order creating a children's mental health board. I asked this group of educators, mental health professionals, parents, legislators and children's advocates to devise a plan and create a structure for a children's mental health system.

The board has completed its initial task, and based on its recommendation, I will be introducing a bill that finally creates a children's system that will work in tandem with our adult system.

I'm also calling on the Legislature to appropriate additional money for home- and community-based children's mental health services so that we can eliminate the waiting list that currently exists.

And I'm requesting $3 million to train teachers to better recognize early signs of mental illness.

Creating a comprehensive children's mental health system will take time. But we can and must take action. The days of merely talking are over.

Three years ago, we began to offer apprenticeship programs in our state prisons. The concept isn't hard to understand: Most of our inmates aren't inmates for life. They will reenter society—and when they do, we want them to be successful. Those who can't get a job often find their way back to crime and then back to prison.

So from a public safety perspective, training our inmates is the right thing to do.

But there's more to it than that. As I said earlier, there is dignity in work. There is also beauty in grace.

Talk with someone who, by their own actions, hit rock bottom but decided to turn their life around. Watch their face light up when they tell you about the person who offered them a helping hand. A family member, a friend, or maybe a stranger.

There are few things as powerful as the joy of someone who got a second chance and found their purpose.

If you talk to Michael Willoughby or Steve Shewry, you'll see it. Both men completed an apprenticeship program in prison: Michael prepared to be a computer operator and Steve prepared for a career in welding. Both men committed serious crimes.

Today, both men are star employees at jobs they landed before leaving prison. They were offered a second chance, they took it, and they succeeded.

Frontier Co-Op in Norway and Winger Companies in Ottumwa are the other half of this story. Those are the employers who saw something in Michael and Steve. They looked beyond the rap sheet and found high-quality employees for hard-to-fill jobs.

Too often, employers overlook these skilled workers because of the fear of lawsuits. Let's take that off the table. Our correctional system and parole board are the judge of whether an inmate is ready to be released. Let's not punish employers for offering an offender a second chance. I am also calling on the Legislature to send me a bill that protects employers like Frontier and Winger who hire Iowans with criminal records.

Michael and Steve are with us today. So are Megan Schulte, head of of human resources at Frontier, and Jim Keck, general manager of Winger. Thank you for showing us the value of second chances.

Now, more than ever, we need people like Michael and Steve. We have a skilled worker shortage and prisons full of inmates, many of whom will soon re-enter society. Let's get them the skills they need and place them with the Frontiers and Wingers of this state.

To that end, I am announcing today that we are establishing a new home building program at the Newton Correctional Facility. In partnership with the nonprofit Homes for Iowa, this program will provide housing that is needed throughout rural Iowa. And it will provide training for jobs that are in high demand. It's a win-win.

There are other programs across the state that are working to ensure criminal offenders are finding a new purpose.

Through a pilot program, the Department of Corrections is currently working with Iowa Central Community College in Fort Dodge to offer Pell Grants to prison inmates. This program is one of the most successful in the country, with more than 420 students participating, earning an average GPA of 3.5.

I also recently met with a group of Iowans, led by Tim Krueger, who are working to bring a nonprofit organization called The Other Side Academy to Des Moines. It's a two-year residential rehabilitation program that is an alternative to prison or jail. And it operates without government funding, sustaining itself through the businesses run by its participants.

These are just two examples. Together, I believe there is even more we can do.

And we can start with felon voting. Our constitution takes away the voting rights of anyone convicted of a felony. Forever.

Only two other state constitutions have a similar provision, and last November, the people of Florida voted to remove their ban.

Through the power of clemency, the governor can restore those rights, and I have done that 88 times since taking office.

But I don't believe that voting rights should be forever stripped, and I don't believe restoration should be in the hands of a single person.

After the election, an Iowan stopped me at my grandson's basketball game in Waukee. I had restored his rights and he wanted to tell me, in person, how much it meant to him. How, when he stepped into the voting booth, he felt a dignity that had been missing, even after leaving prison.

I don't think this man and others like him who have completed their sentences should have to wait for my say or any future governor's say before they get that dignity back.

Our founders gave us a process to amend the constitution, should the passage of time change our view. Let's begin that process now. I believe Iowans recognize the power of redemption; let's put this issue in their hands.

That's not the only constitutional amendment we should consider.

As it should, our constitution deals extensively with the rights of the accused and convicted. But it never mentions victims.

In all of the focus on second chances and forgiveness, we should never forget about the victims. I know each of you in this room believe that. So let's show it. This year, let's start the process of enshrining victim's rights into the Iowa Constitution. Like 36 other states have done, let's send victims a loud and clear message: We will protect you.

Over the next few months, I look forward to working with all of you to enact these priorities and yours. Whether it's looking for ways to further reform our tax code, or passing legislation that strengthens our health care system, I am excited for what's in store.

We have laid the foundation for a bright future. Let's build on it.

The time is now to finish what we started.

The time is now to cement Iowa's status as the best state in the nation.

The time is now to deliver on the promises we've made to Iowans looking for a way up.

Thank you, God bless you, and God bless the great state of Iowa.

Governor Reynolds was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Representative Hagenow moved that the joint convention be dissolved, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

REPORTS OF THE SECRETARY OF STATE

January 14, 2019

W. Charles Smithson
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol
Des Moines, Iowa 50319

Dear Secretary Smithson,

Enclosed you will find a copy of the required report filed pursuant to Iowa Code section 49A.3. Due to a procedural oversight, my office failed to cause SJR #2006 and HJR #2009 to be published in two newspapers of general circulation in each congressional district in the state for the three months preceding the November 2018 General Election.

I accept full responsibility for this oversight and offer my sincerest apology to the legislators and supporters who worked so hard on these bills. There is no excuse, and I am instituting a system that will ensure an error like this never happens again. I have been a vocal supporter of both measure and I deeply regret this oversight. I am truly sorry.

At my direction, my staff has adopted a policy for identifying proposed constitutional amendments for publication. As a part of this policy, we would ask that you, or another member of your staff, flag any proposed constitutional amendments for special attention prior to submitting them to the Secretary of State for filing. Additionally, at the conclusion of each legislative session, I would request a meeting with both yourself and the Chief Clerk of the House to review the journals and discuss any joint resolutions that require action on the part of the Secretary of State.

As you are aware, a similar oversight occurred in 2004 under the Chet Culver administration. To the best of my knowledge, no information regarding the Culver oversight, or constitutional amendments generally, was included in transition documents provided to me in December 2014. To ensure that future Secretaries of State are informed about the constitutional amendment process, my office's new policy will be included with transition documents at the time that a new Secretary of State is elected. Additionally, I intend to have a letter to all future Secretaries printed into the record book kept by pursuant to Iowa Code section 49A.3.

Finally, I would request that the legislature review Iowa Code Chapter 49A and determine if there are any legislative safeguards that can be put in place to prevent this oversight from occurring in the future. An option the legislature may consider is moving the duty of publication to the Legislative Services Agency and amending the definition of publication to include publication on an Internet website. As a non-partisan agency, LSA does not experience the same turnover and loss of institutional knowledge as the Secretary of State's Office and already has a process in place to automatically publish all joint resolutions on their website, which is free and available to all Iowans. Allowing the publication requirements to be met using LSA's website is a step that helps modernize the constitutional amendment process and better reflect how Iowan's receive their news.

In closing, while there is not a quick fix for this situation, I can guarantee that I will do everything in my power to prevent future oversights.

Sincerely,

Paul D. Pate
Secretary of State
State of Iowa

I, Paul D. Pate, Secretary of the State of Iowa, do hereby certify that the following newspapers were designated to publish SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION #206, Acts of the Eighty-seventh General Assembly. Publication in accordance with Chapter 49A, Code of Iowa, did not occur.

THIRD CALENDAR DAY
THIRD SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Wednesday, January 16, 2019

The Senate met in regular session at 9:02 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Prayer was offered by Reverend Dr. Lindsay Watkins of Trinity Lutheran Church in Boone, Iowa. He was the guest of Senator Behn.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senate Page Seth Fiala.

The Journal of Tuesday, January 15, 2019, was approved.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

RECESS

On motion of Senator Whitver, the Senate recessed at 9:07 a.m. until 9:45 a.m.

RECONVENED

The Senate reconvened at 9:49 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 3, duly adopted, the Senate proceeded to the House chamber under the direction of the Secretary of the Senate and the Sergeant-at-Arms.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and House Concurrent Resolution 3, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order at 9:55 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

President Schneider declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

Senator Whitver moved that a committee of six, three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to escort Governor Kim Reynolds to the Condition of the Iowa Judiciary Message.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote and the Chair announced the appointment of Senators Chapman, Hogg, and Zaun on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Kaufmann, Lundgren, and Williams on the part of the House.

Senator Whitver moved that a committee of six, three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify the Honorable Mark S. Cady, Chief Justice of the Iowa Supreme Court, that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote and the Chair announced the appointment of Senators Carlin, Ragan, and Whiting on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Derry, Holt, and McKean on the part of the House.

Secretary of State, Paul D. Pate; Secretary of Agriculture, Mike Naig; Auditor of State, Rob Sand; State Treasurer, Mike Fitzgerald; and Attorney General, Tom Miller were escorted into the House chamber.

The Justices of the Supreme Court, the Chief Judge and the Judges of the Court of Appeals, and the Chief Judges of the District Courts were escorted into the House chamber.

Becky Cady, wife of Chief Justice Cady; his son, Spencer Cady; daughter-in-law, Reilly Cady; and granddaughter, Corah Cady, were escorted into the House chamber.

Lieutenant Governor Adam Gregg was escorted into the House chamber.

The committee waited upon Governor Kim Reynolds and escorted her into the House chamber.

The committee waited upon Chief Justice Mark S. Cady and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Schneider then presented Chief Justice Mark S. Cady who delivered the following Condition of the Judiciary Message:

Mister president, madam speaker, distinguished members of the Iowa General Assembly, Governor Reynolds, Lieutenant Governor Gregg, state officials, colleagues, family, friends, and everyone who joins us this morning to hear the condition of Iowa's judicial system.

Today is the ninth time I have stood before you to report on the condition of Iowa's judiciary. Much has changed since the first time. For my wife Becky and me, our daughter was only a few years into her career as a speech therapist, our son had just started law school, and I had considerably less gray hair. Today, our family has grown with the addition of our four beautiful granddaughters. While we always look for opportunities to be together, when we cannot, today's technology allows us to share special moments in real time. We keep up with milestones and events with family group chat. We share photos of activities an instant after they are taken and respond just as fast with likes and comments. I have even watched my granddaughters in Des Moines and San Antonio while reading them a bedtime story from my living room in Fort Dodge. Technology has opened a new world and fortified the eternal hope of all grandparents for life to be better for their children and grandchildren. It is the same hope Iowans have always wished for each new generation.

Vital Importance of the Courts

I begin my message today where we all stand together united in our hope for the future and with hope my report to you on the work of the courts will strengthen our bond and help move us closer to that more perfect union for our children and grandchildren. As for my gray hair, I am afraid there is no hope.

The law binds all of us in this chamber together. Legislators and judges each hold unique and vital roles in Iowa's legal system. For judges and your justice system, our contribution to the law begins with the disputes Iowans bring into our courts. This work can be as difficult as life itself and every day have direct and real consequences for thousands and, at times, all Iowans. The work may involve a complex business dispute or something as simple as a speeding ticket. It may involve conduct of a young Iowan who has not yet grown up or is growing up in need of help not found in the home or involve an older Iowan no longer able to care for herself in her home. It may involve an Iowan with a physical or mental disability or involve an Iowan with a physical or mental illness. It may involve an Iowan with an alcohol or drug addiction or involve one who deals drugs to others. In each dispute, the justice Iowans deserve is what makes the courts vitally important and drives us to become better.

In past years, I shared with you the ways our court system has been changing to better meet the needs of Iowans. Year after year, our problem solving courts continue to improve the lives of Iowans. Drug courts, mental health courts, veterans' courts, family treatment courts, and juvenile diversion courts bring our judges and community providers together at the center of our comprehensive efforts to resolve the underlying problems of Iowans suffering from mental illness or substance abuse. In the same way, our juvenile court officers are using a systematic approach to help troubled youth and their families address their disruptive choices, reinforce positive behaviors, and in some cases, avoid a criminal record. I have shared powerful stories of families on the verge of destruction reunified and strengthened, children in the pipeline from juvenile court to prison placed on a path to a brighter future, and drug-addicted Iowans who have embraced sobriety and earned a second chance. These stories not only continue to be told across the state but also continue to give shape to the gift of justice.

Essential Work of Juvenile Court Services

In September, I visited the juvenile court services office in Iowa City. There, I met with the juvenile court service team, including their intern named Faith. The team told me the story of a sixteen-year-old girl referred to its office eight years ago. The problems began when she and her mom struggled to communicate. The situation then escalated into physical altercations. This young girl was at risk of losing her home and her dreams. She needed help and so did her mom. With treatment and help from Justin, the juvenile court officer assigned to her, she worked through her problems, reconciled with her mother, and graduated from high school with her dreams intact. She then went on to graduate from the University of Iowa with a Bachelor's Degree in Psychology and will graduate with a Master's Degree in Social Work in May.

The story the team told was Faith's story, the intern I met that day. Faith works in the same juvenile court services office that helped her and her mom, and put her on this path to success. Faith's story demonstrates the importance of juvenile court services. It is an example of how juvenile court officers and community providers across the state work together to use the appropriate levels of treatment and services to help youth and their families avoid the criminal justice system and reach their potential. Yet, this story tells us so much more.

Faith is now there to help others as she was helped, and the lives she impacts will help improve lives for generations to come. If there is any doubt about how justice serves to fulfill our hope of a better life for the next generation, there should be no more. It takes each one of us. It takes faith.

A Culture of Continuous Improvement

Iowans do not need to look far to see how past generations have paved the way for our current achievements and future successes. Iowa has a proud history of successful, multigenerational family businesses that contribute to our great state. Last summer, I traveled to Pella and Sheffield to meet with the leaders of two of Iowa's most successful, multigenerational family businesses: Jason Andringa from Vermeer Manufacturing and Steve Sukup from Sukup Manufacturing. Both companies have grown to the heights of international success, and it did not take me long to understand the reason. I witnessed their culture of continuous improvement, a culture devoted to improving their products and the lives of those who build them.

This successful culture is not unique to business. It is essential for the success of all, including the courts. Like the Vermeer and Sukup companies, and so many others, our court system must focus on where we are going, not where we have been. It is the Iowa way and the way for our courts. Let me explain how we are building this culture, beginning with our business courts.

Business Courts. We are committed to providing a dedicated court with specially trained judges who operate in ways that are compatible with the needs of businesses. Today, I am pleased to announce we have expanded the operation of our business courts so they will be available to more businesses. Since its inception five years ago, the business court program has been under the steady oversight of Justice Daryl Hecht. With his retirement from the supreme court last month, I am pleased Justice Thomas Waterman will now oversee the program. Expanding the business court to more businesses is just the next step. We are committed to exploring other ways to enhance the value of the business courts, especially to farmers and other ag-based businesses. We want a top-notch specialty court that contributes to a flourishing economy by working with Iowa's businesses to resolve their disputes efficiently and fairly.

Criminal Justice System. We are also working on changes to our criminal justice system. Justice Edward Mansfield is leading a task force of prosecutors and criminal defense lawyers to update and improve the rules of criminal procedure as a part of our continuing efforts to achieve greater fairness in the trial process. We also have a committee reviewing court rules governing the imposition and collection of criminal debt. Last year, Justice David Wiggins chaired a committee on jury reform that led to changes now making jury service more efficient and manageable. This is another step to expand Iowans' participation in jury service so all juries reflect their communities. At the same time, we have continued implicit bias training for all judges and court staff.

Our culture of continuous improvement applies to every component of Iowa's justice system, but no more than in the criminal justice system. We hope you know that we are always willing to be a partner with you, and the governor, in discussions to reform the criminal justice system. We can and must work together to ensure Iowa's criminal justice system is fair to all Iowans regardless of wealth, geography, race, or gender.

Court Representation. Our judges and justices are changing too. As mentioned, Justice Hecht retired last year, as did Justice Bruce Zager. Justice Zager's retirement was planned, but, sadly, Justice Hecht retired in December after the cancer he has been valiantly battling took away his ability to meet the demands of his work on the court. Justice Susan Christensen of Harlan joined the court in September, and the process to fill Justice Hecht's vacancy is underway. We welcome Justice Christensen to the court, and I look forward to working with her for many years. I would like us to take this moment to express our appreciation and gratitude to Justice Hecht and Justice Zager for all they have done for our system of justice.

While Justice Christensen is the first new justice on the supreme court in 7½ years, the transition of judges is always occurring throughout our court system. Last year, eighteen judges retired. We are grateful for their service. Yet there is value in the transition of judges, and we are reminded that in the end it is justice that endures. The new judges are giving us something else that is very important. The new judicial appointments are moving us closer to achieving greater diversity in our judicial ranks. Last year, the number of female and male judges appointed to the bench was equal. I would like to take this moment to thank those who serve on all judicial nominating commissions, and Governor Reynolds, for their commitment to selecting the best people to serve as judges. Iowa's judiciary has a strong, national reputation for fairness and impartiality. We should all be very proud of the quality and the changing face of our judiciary.

New Opportunities to Lead the Nation

The judicial branch is moving forward with our ongoing programs, our new judges, and a commitment to advance justice within a culture of continuous improvement. In doing so, we continue to follow the global expansion of technology that is rapidly shaping the future for all of us. We see the vast potential of technology to improve the operation of our justice system and justice itself. Few understood the benefits and value of a paperless court system when it launched ten years ago. Without those few people, the Iowa court system would not have the first-in-the-nation comprehensive electronic filing system on which lawyers and court users depend. Embracing change is the part of a culture of continuous improvement that is so critical to our success. Today, the age of technology is propelling courts into a new age of justice. With more opportunities to achieve justice than ever imagined, Iowa has new opportunities to lead the nation once again.

Digital Opportunities Initiative. The power of technology has stirred our imagination and allowed us to identify more than 130 critical projects to serve better more Iowans, who are our customers. Our “Digital Opportunities Initiative” contains projects such as electronic search warrants, text messages to defendants and other court users, remote court reporting and interpreting, and online dispute resolution.

Online dispute resolution has started in a few states with promising early results. The State of Utah established an online dispute resolution pilot project for small claims cases that substantially reduced the steps needed to resolve a case. It has streamlined the process and made it more convenient for court users. We want to do the same for the 75,000 Iowans who use our small claims courts each year.

Imagine an online process that will allow Iowans to resolve some of their legal disputes without taking time from work to go to the courthouse. Imagine a time when law enforcement officers will no longer need to drive from the scene of an investigation to a courthouse to request a warrant because judges will be able to transmit search warrants to officers in their vehicles. Imagine a time when defendants receive reminders of their court dates on their phones so there are fewer delays and fewer adverse collateral consequences for defendants who miss appearance dates.

Access to Justice Initiative. We developed many of our technology projects in response to an increase in the number of self-represented litigants in our civil justice system over the last decade. The cost of legal services today is preventing many Iowans with legal problems from obtaining the services of a lawyer. This problem can no longer be addressed by only legal aid programs and relying on lawyers to provide pro bono representation. With help from the Iowa Access to Justice Commission chaired by Justice Brent Appel, our “Access to Justice Initiative” will increase the availability of online access to court information. This will help self-represented Iowans provide the essential information for a judge to adjudicate their disputes fully and fairly. Imagine a time when self-represented litigants in Iowa will be able to access the courts and navigate through the legal system without being disadvantaged because they are unable to afford a lawyer. It is a problem shared across the nation. Imagine Iowa again leading the way to solving it.

Problem Solving Courts Initiative. Technology can also help expand Iowa’s problem solving courts into every county and improve the lives of more Iowans. We currently have no mechanism to collect, track, and analyze data from our thirty-nine specialty courts. The “Problem Solving Courts Initiative” we hope to pursue will enable us to draw data from problem solving courts to identify and develop consistent statewide practices and help ensure we are delivering the best possible outcomes for Iowans and their families. We want to know our work is helping Iowans.

Imagine if every Iowa veteran has access to a veterans’ court, if every Iowan suffering from mental illness has access to a mental health court, if every Iowan suffering from drug addiction has access to a drug court, and if every Iowa family struggling with dependence has access to a family treatment court.

Imagine a coordinated court process that not only holds people responsible for their conduct but also works to identify and resolve the problems of those people ready for help. Some people need to be incarcerated. More people just need help. A justice system must do both.

Rural Courts Initiative. Your justice system is committed to utilizing data and research to make data-driven decisions and policies that promote efficiencies and better services for Iowans. Using data, we have developed other projects that will increase the efficiency of our internal operations. We propose the “Rural Courts Initiative,” which will expand our presence in all ninety-nine counties and allow us to operate more efficiently by removing the artificial barriers preventing clerks in one county from assisting people in another county. We continue to look for new ways to make our clerk offices more efficient while still providing a physical presence in all counties. The judicial branch is committed to providing full-time, full-service access in all ninety-nine counties so Iowans can access their justice system. We see technology as a way to strengthen rural Iowa. Justice is a community responsibility, and a system of justice needs every community. Imagine a revitalized and bustling judicial branch presence in every courthouse in every county.

The Iowa Way: A Vision for the Future

Your justice system provides critical, unduplicated services to Iowans. We have a plan for the future that maintains our core services but maximizes our resources through technology and a physical presence in all ninety-nine counties. We are developing a culture of continuous improvement that is always searching for better ways to provide services to Iowans. We are committed to the transparency and accountability you need from us in order to make informed funding decisions. That is why we will issue an annual report next year with information on where we are succeeding and where there are opportunities for improvement. We will have the report to you by this time next year, with metrics and outcomes of our work. While this report will contain numbers, we promise to see each number as an Iowan to whom we are accountable to deliver on our promise of justice for all. Our annual report will showcase our culture, share our accomplishments and new endeavors, and lay the groundwork for greater justice for all. Imagine a justice system not only committed to achieving justice through its decisions but also using data it collects to advance justice and identify injustices that could not previously be seen.

While we have depended on technology to find improvements in the past, the technological revolution is coming at an unprecedented pace, and it will run us over if we do not get up to speed. Let me illustrate. It took the telephone seventy-five years to reach fifty million users, air travel sixty-eight years, the automobile sixty-two years, and television twenty-two years. Compare that to the four years it took the Internet to reach fifty million users. Facebook did it in 3½ years. Twitter did it in two years and Pokémon Go in nineteen days. It has been suggested that the 100 years of the 21st Century will, when they are concluded, feel more like 20,000 years of progress when compared to the 20th Century.

We simply can no longer proceed into the future thinking it will be a modest linear extension from where we are today. Imagine how my grandchildren will someday read a bedtime story to their grandchildren. New tools and a new understanding of our transforming world truly create an opportunity to do what we could not have previously imagined.

The Iowa way is to improve continuously. It is to plan, with each step taking us forward to the next, with each step as important as the next. Our future can no longer be about taking small steps or standing still. We need to think big and take big steps. Every day, we must seek to achieve what can be imagined.

All of us in this great chamber came into public service to make a difference. So, let us imagine together. Let us imagine what your courts can be and where they can take us in our pursuit to achieve justice for all Iowans. When we have a chance to make a difference we should take it. Let us make that difference together.

Chief Justice Mark S. Cady was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Governor Kim Reynolds was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Representative Hagenow moved that the joint convention be dissolved, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

ADJOURNMENT

On motion of Senator Whitver, the Senate adjourned at 10:41 a.m. until 9:00 a.m., Thursday, January 17, 2019.

PRESENTATION OF VISITORS

Senator Behn welcomed to the Senate chamber 5th through 8th grade students from Trinity Lutheran School in Boone, Iowa, who were present in the northeast balcony.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FOURTH CALENDAR DAY
FOURTH SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday, January 17, 2019

The Senate met in regular session at 9:03 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Prayer was offered by Pastor LeAnn Stubbs of Plymouth United Church of Christ in Des Moines, Iowa. She was the guest of Senator Petersen.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senate Page Kate Hapgood.

The Journal of Wednesday, January 16, 2019, was approved.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

The Senate stood at ease at 9:08 a.m. until the fall of the gavel for the purpose of a Democratic party caucus.

The Senate resumed session at 9:49 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

JOINT CONVENTION

In accordance with law and House Concurrent Resolution 4, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order at 9:55 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President of the joint convention be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

Senator Whitver moved that a committee of six, three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to escort Governor Kim Reynolds to the House chamber.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote and the Chair announced the appointment of Senators Cournoyer, Danielson, and Miller-Meeks on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Lohse, A. Meyer, and Sunde on the part of the House.

Senator Whitver moved that a committee of six, three members from the Senate and three members from the House, be appointed to notify the Adjutant General of the Iowa National Guard, Major General Tim Orr, that the joint convention was ready to receive him.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote and the Chair announced the appointment of Senators Dawson, Nunn, and R. Taylor on the part of the Senate, and Representatives Gustafson, B. Meyer, and Thompson on the part of the House.

Secretary of State, Paul D. Pate; Secretary of Agriculture, Mike Naig; State Auditor, Rob Sand; State Treasurer, Michael Fitzgerald; and Attorney General, Tom Miller were escorted into the House chamber.

Lieutenant Governor Adam Gregg was escorted into the House chamber.

Major General Tim Orr's wife, Suzanne Orr; and special guest, Consulate General Xhavit Gashi of Kosovo were escorted into the House chamber.

The committee waited upon Governor Kim Reynolds and escorted her into the House chamber.

The committee waited upon Major General Tim Orr and escorted him to the Speaker's station.

President Schneider presented Major General Tim Orr, Adjutant General of the Iowa National Guard. Major General Orr delivered the following Condition of the Guard Address:

Good morning and thank you for your warm welcome.

Governor Reynolds, Lieutenant Governor Gregg, Mr. President, Madam Speaker, legislative leaders, senators, representatives, distinguished guest, family, friends, my fellow Iowans, I am honored to be here this morning to provide an update on the Condition of the Iowa National Guard.

As I begin this morning I want to once again thank Governor Reynolds and Lieutenant Governor Gregg for their strong and enduring support of our Soldiers, Airmen, their families and civilian employees.

Your untiring efforts on behalf of our military, is greatly appreciated.

Thank you for attending our send-off and welcome home ceremonies, and thanks for being a part of last week's patching ceremony, where we initiated more than 120 new Soldiers into the Iowa Army National Guard as they begin their journey of service to our State and Nation.

Likewise, I want to thank you, our citizen-legislators, for all you do to support the Iowa National Guard and all Iowans who serve in uniform.

And finally, thanks to the citizens of Iowa for their incredible support, which is absolutely vital to our continued success.

Since our founding nearly 180 years ago, the Iowa National Guard has strived to accomplish every mission assigned, respond without fail to natural and manmade disasters here at home, and deployed abroad to meet the national security needs of our country.

The profession of arms is one of service above self.

No profession asks more of its members than serving ones country in uniform.

We are entrusted with the defense of our nation, the protection of our citizens, and the preservation of our way of life.

As National Guard members we serve both as protectors of our state, and when called, in defense of our nation.

Our legendary Iowa National Guard reputation was earned through the blood, sweat, and hard work of those who came before, and is proudly carried on by those who serve today.

We are committed to preserving this legacy and passing it on to those who step forward to take up the mantle of defending our state and nation in the years to come.

We share common attributes of integrity, courage, competence, and as military professionals, we are defined by our strength of character, life-long commitment to Army and Air Force values, and a dedication to mission accomplishment.

I am so proud to serve with the men and women of the Iowa National Guard, they are true professionals in every sense of the word and who have sworn an oath to defend our state and nation with their honor, with their service, and with their very lives.

Our Soldiers and Airmen are treasures that benefit our society in ways large and small, making a difference every day in their communities and adding value to our state and nation beyond their military service.

Recruiting and retaining quality individuals is our highest priority.

In doing so we must broaden the appeal of military service to include people from across the fabric of our society.

The strength of our Republic depends on willing individuals from every corner of our state, every social economic, and demographic group, and every ethnic background, to step forward and serve alongside their fellow citizens.

As I've reported before and is well documented in the media, the burden of national defense is currently borne by less than one percent of our population.

And nearly 80 percent of those who do serve come from families with multiple generations of military service.

The pride and honor of military service should not be reserved for just those who hail from a tradition of military service.

It is an opportunity that must be available and sought throughout society in order to balance the responsibilities of national defense across all our citizens.

Given the increased emphasis on the operational role of the National Guard, recruiting high-quality men and women is a key component of my readiness mission.

With only three of ten 17 to 24 year-olds eligible for military service, there's concern among military and civilian leaders alike about the readiness of our military forces to defend this nation in the years to come.

In order to sustain a strong democracy and ensure the safety and security of our citizens both at home and abroad, we must encourage young Americans to consider military service as a viable and honorable option.

Experiences gained through military service provide a lifetime of personal and professional benefit.

It provides life and professional skills that translate to a significant lower unemployment rate of 2.7% for veterans, compared to a national average for the general population of 3.5%.

Beyond the practical benefit of gaining marketable skills to better their lives, military service gives young people a chance to serve a cause greater than themselves.

This is something that study after study tells us is critically important to Centennials, a generation of young men and women, who strive to live a life of meaning.

Because of this, our Iowa National Guard motto of "We live here, we work here, we serve here" is more fitting today than ever before.

For those seeking greater meaning in their lives, the Iowa National Guard provides a multitude of opportunities to make a difference.

Our Soldiers and Airmen serve for many reasons:

To be an integral part of a world class team.

To seek leadership and training opportunities.

To gain hands-on experience working with state-of-the-art technology and equipment.

To graduate debt-free with a two-year, four-year or technical school degree.

To learn an occupational skill that leads to meaningful employment.

To secure their financial future with a military retirement.

To carry on a proud tradition of family service.

Or to just be part of something bigger than themselves.

To do something that 99% of the population will never experience.

No matter the reason, we are grateful for their service and the value they add to the well-being of our state.

As we look around the globe, both here at home and abroad, the challenges we face today are among the most complex and demanding that I have seen in over 40 years of military service.

In order to meet these challenges, we are committed to ensuring the Iowa National Guard remains ready and resourced to accomplish our four core priorities:

(1) Defending our state and nation;

(2) Protecting Iowa and the US homeland;

(3) Building enduring partnerships at the local, state, federal and international levels; and

(4) Making our communities better places to live.

Defending our state and nation is our number one priority.

We do this by providing ready forces to the President of the United States and the Governor of Iowa when called.

Our state's contribution in providing ready forces is significant.

Since September 11, 2001, the Iowa National Guard has mobilized and deployed more than 19,000 Iowa National Guard Soldiers and Airmen.

There is no doubt that Iowa has done and will continue to do its part to defend our state and nation.

As we sit here today, nearly 300 Iowa National Guard Soldiers and Airmen are deployed supporting overseas contingency operations in US Central and US Southern Command Areas of Operations.

In September, approximately 400 Soldiers assigned to the 248th Aviation Support Battalion from Muscatine, Davenport, Waterloo, and Boone returned home from the Middle East where they provided aviation maintenance and logistical support to a combat aviation brigade.

The 248th received the Army's 2018 Outstanding Aviation Logistics Support Unit award for superior theater-wide support of Operations Inherent Resolve and Spartan Shield, operating at 12 locations across Kuwait, Iraq, Syria, Jordan and Turkey.

An example of the Iowa work ethic our Soldiers and Airmen bring to the fight is that of Captain Joshua Gates from Council Bluffs.

Captain Gates, a company commander with the 248th Aviation Support Battalion, recently returned from his third overseas deployment.

He enlisted in the Iowa National Guard in 1999 and commissioned as a Second Lieutenant through the Iowa National Guard's Officer Candidate School in 2013.

His personal example of service and commitment extends beyond his military uniform.

When not serving his state and nation, Captain Gates serves his community as an Emergency Medical Technician and Firefighter with the Council Bluffs Fire Department.

One Soldier, making twice the difference in and out of his military uniform, CPT Gates please stand to be recognized.

This past year, the Iowa Air National Guard was also fully engaged supporting overseas missions and other active duty requirements.

The 185th Air Refueling Wing in Sioux City deployed more than 200 Airmen to the Middle East where they provided critical support to theater commanders and continue to provide ongoing air refueling support for real-world missions.

The 133rd Test Squadron in Fort Dodge deployed approximately 60 members to the Middle East where they conducted critical testing on Air Force Command and Control systems.

The 132nd Wing in Des Moines deployed nearly 100 Airmen around the globe to provide overseas contingency support and continues on a daily basis to support overseas operations from home by performing remotely piloted aircraft missions, intelligence analysis, and cyber security tasks.

While deployed, SSgt Rik Zortman from Avoca, Iowa, spends his spare time creating awareness for cancer and has helped raise close to $10,000 for two organizations fighting childhood cancer, in memory of his son Armstrong, who he lost to this horrible disease.

Known as the human etch-a-sketch, SSgt Zortman runs pre-determined patterns that spell out the names of children affected by cancer on a map.

Since July 2017, he has sketched close to 300 names and has run over 930 miles for this cause.

SSgt Zortman's passion for serving others is a bedrock Iowa National Guard value. SSgt Zortman cannot be with us today, he is currently serving overseas.

Here at home, our second priority is to be the primary military crisis response force for Iowa, and the United States when necessary.

To do this, we capitalize on the experience and capabilities gained from our federal deployments and military training to assist civilian authorities in responding to large scale natural and man-made disasters here in Iowa.

Thankfully, 2018 was a relatively quiet year for our emergency response operations. We used this time to further plan, prepare, and rehearse for potential disaster response operations on a multitude of scenarios.

Part of these plans include working with other state agencies and several local communities to develop a multi-agency exercise that will occur in Woodbury County later this year.

This exercise will improve our ability to prepare for and respond to complex domestic emergencies.

Another area of increased state support is within the cyber security field.

The 168th Air National Guard's Cyber Operations Squadron, located in Des Moines, is uniquely organized to assist our state with professionally trained cyber-warriors during a potential cyber security attack on critical infrastructure.

The 168th Cyber Operations Squadron works with local, state, and independent organizations to plan and conduct cyber response table top exercises in order to determine potential cyber security vulnerabilities.

Many of those who serve in the 168th Cyber Squadron are part-time Traditional Airmen, working as either IT professionals in civilian companies, public institutions, or are students taking advantage of state educational benefits to obtain higher level cyber security credentials and degrees.

These uniquely skilled cyber warriors are a valuable asset in both their service to our state and nation, and as highly trained IT employees available to our state's companies and public institutions.

A fine example of this is Airman First Class Josiah Reeves, a farm kid from Maxwell, where he was homeschooled and worked part-time at Hy-Vee before joining the Iowa Air National Guard in 2018.

Growing up, Airman First Class Reeves had a passion for working with electronics and the technical training offered by the Iowa Air Guard made his enlistment an easy decision.

Airman First Class Reeves graduated from Air Force tech school this past September and now currently serves full-time with the 132nd Wing at the Des Moines Air Base.

The Iowa National Guard provided this Citizen-Airmen training and employment opportunities and next fall he plans to use his education benefits to pursue a STEM focused degree at Iowa State University. Airman Reeves, please stand to be recognized.

Another important domestic support asset we have in the state is the Iowa National Guard's Counterdrug program and Midwest Counter Drug Training Center.

This federally funded program, which has existed since 1989, plays an important role in helping reduce the supply and demand of illicit drugs in the State of Iowa.

In addition, this center provides critical training at no cost to local law enforcement personnel and drug prevention and treatment professionals.

The Iowa National Guard is an important partner in the fight against opioid abuse.

In 2018, the Counterdrug program trained 824 law enforcement officers across the state to properly administer Narcan, the antidote for opioid overdoses.

Through the assistance of Counterdrug specialists, more than one pound of fentanyl, which equates to more than 180,000 fatal doses, and nearly 15 pounds of heroin, were seized and taken off the street in Iowa.

And in 2018, more than $63 million in drugs and $3.5 million in cash and assets were seized from drug dealers in Iowa with the assistance of the Iowa National Guard's Counterdrug program.

Our third priority is building enduring partnerships at the local, state, federal, and international levels.

One of our most important collaborations is through our State Partnership Program with the Kosovo Security Force and the Republic of Kosovo through our whole of society partnering endeavor.

Last May, we participated in Eagle 6, an international disaster response capstone training exercise, with our Kosovo Security Force partners.

This exercise brought together over 8 international countries, 55 Iowa National Guard Soldiers and Airmen, and our Kosovo Security Force partners to test their ability to respond quickly and effectively during an international natural disaster response.

Another vital element to the success of our Kosovo partnership is our whole of society vision, which has expanded this important program of exchanges far beyond the Iowa National Guard into our local communities.

Today, a number of Sister City relationships between cities in Kosovo and Iowa have developed.

The cities of Johnston, Fort Dodge, Norwalk, and Des Moines have all created official partnerships with cities in Kosovo while Sioux City and Dubuque are working to finalize their agreements.

A critical element to the success of our Kosovo partnership is Consul General Xhavit Gashi. General Gashi has been a part of this special relationship from the beginning.

From his time as the Kosovo Security Force Attaché in Washington, D.C., to his work for the last three years as Kosovo's top diplomat in Iowa, General Gashi played a key role in making this partnership the best in the country.

I am honored that he is with us this morning and I am proud to call him a friend and partner. Ladies and Gentlemen, please join me in thanking General Gashi for his tireless work on behalf of his fellow citizens in Kosovo and his friends in Iowa.

My fourth and final priority is working to make our communities better places to live for everyone.

One of the ways we do this is through our collaboration with the Governor's STEM Advisory Council as well as working with Career and Technical Education, or CTE programs.

Unique to the Iowa National Guard, we offer a wide variety of educational and career opportunities for students interested in STEM and CTE career fields.

This past summer we hosted two high school teachers, one from Waukee and one from West Des Moines Valley, for six weeks as part of the State's STEM externship program.

These educators spent time at multiple Iowa National Guard facilities working in a variety of STEM-related career fields to gain firsthand knowledge of how to take an educational STEM standard and apply it in a real-world setting.

The combination of hands-on learning, coupled with strong educational connections, enable these teachers to now engage their students in more meaningful and substantial ways.

Understanding the science behind how a helicopter flies through the air or the mathematical calculations that enable operators to pilot an unmanned aerial vehicle from half a world away, allows students to experience STEM related concepts in action.

An example of this is Senior Airman Jessica Thomerson, of the 233rd Intelligence Squadron, Iowa Air National Guard, who recently supported disaster response planning during exercise PATRIOT NORTH 18 at Fort McCoy and Volk Field, Wisconsin.

While flying missions with the Civil Air Patrol she pioneered a means for transmitting overhead pictures via radio frequency to help first-responders immediately assess damage from natural disasters and access routes to help victims.

Airman Thomerson, a Des Moines native and current DMACC community college student, takes her real-world experience gained through the military, and uses it to mentor kids studying STEM related topics in the classroom.

Her passion for education and action, helps lead STEM engagements that inspire students in learning core concepts while having fun with hands-on projects.

Airman Thomerson provides value to her community, state and nation through her training and service with the Iowa National Guard, Airman Thomerson, please stand to be recognized.

We are able to add value back into our communities because the state has invested in the Iowa National Guard through support of important programs such as the Iowa National Guard Educational Assistance Program, or NGEAP.

NGEAP, which is administered by our friends at the Iowa College Student Aid Commission, provides our Soldiers and Airmen an opportunity to further their education at institutions of higher learning throughout the state of Iowa.

Thanks to your generous support, nearly 1,200 Iowans a year, who choose to serve their state and Nation in the Iowa National Guard, have 100% of their tuition paid at the State Regents' rate to attend Iowa colleges, universities, and community colleges. Because of the NGEAP program, the Iowa National Guard is able to keep young people in the state while providing them with a high-quality Iowa education.

NGEAP is much more than simply a benefit to our Soldiers and Airmen, it is the beginning of a professional career path that provides opportunities through intensive training, education, leadership and practical experience.

When combined with a life-long commitment to Army and Air Force values, numerous STEM/CTE opportunities, and our committed diversity outreach programs, the Iowa National Guard offers a diverse foundation of education, service, and flexible career choices for young Iowans across the state to consider.

As you leave here today, I ask that you carry our message back to your districts and local communities, share our stories of service, opportunity, and encourage all young Iowans to consider serving in the Iowa National Guard.

As I come to a close, history reminds us that our state and nation will undoubtedly face domestic or international challenges now and in the future, but you can take comfort knowing that the Iowa National Guard is poised to respond when called.

We stand ready to Defend America, at home and abroad, just as we have done continuously since 1839.

I am so very proud of all our service men and women, our rich heritage, and our resolve, as we continue our role in the preservation of the ideals upon which our nation and state were founded.

On behalf of our Soldiers, Airmen, and their families, thank you for this opportunity to provide you with an update on the Condition of the Iowa National Guard.

Thank you ladies and gentlemen.

Major General Tim Orr was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Governor Kim Reynolds was escorted from the House chamber by the committee previously appointed.

Representative Hagenow moved that the joint convention be dissolved, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

ADJOURNMENT

On motion of Senator Whitver, the Senate adjourned at 10:36 a.m. until 8:00 a.m., Friday, January 18, 2019.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

FIFTH CALENDAR DAY FIFTH SESSION DAY

Community Choice Credit Union Convention Center
Des Moines, Iowa, Friday, January 18, 2019

The Senate met in regular session at 8:10 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Prayer was offered by The Honorable Dennis Guth, member of the Senate from Hancock County, Klemme, Iowa.

THE PLEDGE OF ALLEGIANCE

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by President Schneider.

The Journal of Thursday, January 17, 2019, was approved.

COMMITTEE FROM THE HOUSE

A committee from the House of Representatives appeared and announced that the House was ready to receive the Senate in joint convention.

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 5, duly adopted, the Senate proceeded to the joint convention with the House in Rooms 303 and 304 of the Community Choice Credit Union Convention Center.

JOINT CONVENTION

The joint convention was called to order in the Community Choice Credit Union Convention Center, adjacent to Wells Fargo Arena, in downtown Des Moines at 8:16 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver moved that the roll call be dispensed with and that the President be authorized to declare a quorum present, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

President Schneider declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

REPORT OF CANVASS OF VOTE

The report of the canvass of the vote was read by Carmine Boal, the Secretary of the Joint Convention, as follows:

MISTER PRESIDENT AND GENTLEMEN AND LADIES OF THE JOINT CONVENTION:

Your tellers, appointed by the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House of Representatives to canvass the vote cast for candidates for Governor and Lieutenant Governor at the election held November 6, 2018, beg leave to make the following report of the total vote cast for Governor:

The invocation was delivered by Pastor Craig Ferguson.

Chief Justice Mark S. Cady administered the oath of office to Lieutenant Governor-elect Adam Gregg, who was assisted by his wife, Cari Gregg.

President Schneider presented Lieutenant Governor Adam Gregg, who gave the following remarks:

Madam Governor, Mr. President, Madam Speaker, members of the General Assembly, elected officials, justices and judges, family, friends, and fellow Iowans...

What an honor it is to stand before you today as this state's 47th lieutenant governor.

Among our state's former lieutenant governors are governors, ambassadors, senators, judges, business leaders, education leaders, and honorable public servants—company I certainly don't deserve, but which I'm incredibly honored and humbled to keep.

The most important thing I want to say today is this: thank you for giving me this opportunity to serve. It's truly the honor of a lifetime to serve the people of Iowa, and I will forever be grateful for this opportunity.

There are a few people I'd like to especially thank.

First of all, to my wife Cari, and my children Jackson and Lauren. Thank you for the silent sacrifice each of you make every day to allow me to serve. Cari not only works full time, but she takes on more than her fair share of the load at home to make things work. I simply could not do this job without her.

No matter how hard I try, Jackson and Lauren see less of their dad than they should. Public service is a sacrifice, but oftentimes the sacrifice is theirs. Jackson and Lauren, my goal is to never lose sight of the fact that my most important job is being your dad. My hope is that you will see the honor and privilege that public service represents, and will someday seek to model that for your own children. Thank you, Cari, Jackson, and Lauren for your unconditional love and support.

To my parents, Larry and Carol. Thank you for being my first supporters, and my champions from day one—whether that's been on the football field, or an even more dangerous arena—politics! Most of all, thank you for giving me a gift that seems to be increasingly rare—a stable home, and a loving family.

And of course, Madam Governor: thank you for placing your confidence in me to serve alongside you in this role. I think one of the reasons Iowans chose you as their governor is because they can see so much of themselves in you. You are undoubtedly "one of us."

But I must say, the things I respect and admire most about you are the things that make you distinctly uncommon. Iowa's only president, Herbert Hoover, famously noted "that the great human advances have not been brought about by mediocre men and women. They were brought about by distinctly uncommon people with vital sparks of leadership."

Governor, what I admire most is your uncommon strength to overcome challenges; your uncommon grit to persevere; your uncommon record of public service; and, perhaps most uncommon of all, your history-making rise to become Iowa's first female governor.

You're the one who shattered that glass ceiling under the golden dome. You're the one who made it possible for little girls to know that even they, someday, might achieve the highest level of leadership in our state. You're the one who made history.

That's a distinction no one else can or will ever hold. You will be eternally uncommon for that accomplishment. I, along with the people of the state of Iowa, will be eternally thankful for that. Will you all please join me in saying thank you to Governor Reynolds?

We are living in a fast-changing economy, and it's impacting everything around us. I heard a quote recently from an economist which I think captures the scale of it. I'll paraphrase what he said:

"A billion hours ago, the modern human race emerged. A billion minutes ago, Christianity began. A billion seconds ago, the first PC was released. A billion Google searches ago.... was earlier this morning."

Yes, technology is changing everything very rapidly—from the way we access and use information, to the way we produce and purchase goods, to the way we connect to one another, to the way we need to educate our children and our workforce, to the very face of our nation and state.

The challenges this changing economy presents may prove to be especially profound in the rural parts of our state— or perhaps they represent our great opportunity.

Governor Reynolds has very clearly made rural Iowa a priority for our administration. I especially appreciate the opportunity she's given me to lead the Governor's Empower Rural Iowa Initiative.

Empowering rural Iowa is all about making sure our entire state is positioned to be successful today and in the future.

There is incredible opportunity in our state. As I like to say, in Iowa, you can have it all. You can have a good job, a house with a yard, a very reasonable commute - or no commute at all in our smaller towns. You can live in a safe neighborhood, and you can send your kids to good schools. You can be a meaningful part of your community, and your state.

That's unique—that's not true everywhere in our country. In most places, you have to choose among those things.

But in Iowa, you can have all that if you want it. That's the kind of quality of life and opportunity we need to preserve and expand in every corner of our state - and it's uniquely available in rural Iowa.

Despite changing demographics, despite changing economics, despite changing technology, together we can position rural Iowa to not just survive in this new economy, but to thrive.

It won't be easy—if it were easy it would already be done. There's no single silver bullet solution - we'd have already found it.

But through hard work and creative thinking and problem-solving, we can make Iowa the place to seek the American dream in this new economy. Where you can have a nice, safe place to live. Where you can attain the education you need to have a career and support your family. And where you can connect to the rest of the world - whether that's to sell your product, monitor your livestock, operate your machinery - or simply to let your kids battle their friends in Fortnite!

There are two paths for rural Iowa as I see it—we can acquiesce to wherever an uncertain future takes us. Or we can fight like heck to make sure that same rural character—that same quality of life and opportunity—exists for our kids and grandkids. As long as Governor Reynolds and I are around, we're going to fight for rural prosperity.

Speaking of the American dream, I'd like to take a moment to talk to you about two individuals who embody that dream for me. More specifically, I'd like to tell you about two mementos I keep that remind me of them, and what they stood for. One is a Bible. The other is a flag.

When I was sworn in a moment ago, I placed my hand on a Bible which was once the property of Lauren Leaders. He was my grandpa, my mom's dad, and the namesake of my daughter Lauren. And he's one of the best men I was ever lucky enough to know.

They say the condition of your soul is in an inverse relationship with the condition of your Bible. Well, Grandpa's soul must have been darn near pristine, because his Bibles were torn to shreds. And not just one Bible. After he passed away, we found boxes full of the Bibles he'd worn down over the years. Dozens of them. The one I used today is circa 2007, one of his last, certainly in the best condition.

The other memento I keep is the American flag that adorned the casket of Glenn Gregg. He was also my grandpa, my dad's dad, a World War II veteran and the namesake of my son, Jackson Glenn. That flag reminds me of the service he so willingly gave for our country.

Serving in the infantry in Europe, he eventually he took a bullet in his leg while fighting along the Belgian-German border. But for some reason, he never received the Purple Heart he earned—and he never said a word about it for nearly 70 years. And the only reason he said anything was because that same gunshot wound from the European battlefield was about to necessitate the amputation of his leg nearly 70 years after the fact. What incredible humility.

He was also a man who - fondly remembering how the United States of America had made sure he had a warm Thanksgiving meal on a cold day on the front lines in 1944—always insisted on standing for the National Anthem, on his one remaining leg, as if he owed it to the country, rather than the other way around.

We could all afford to be more like Lauren Leaders and Glenn Gregg. I know I could. To set an example for our children and grandchildren on how to live our lives in a Christ-like fashion. To serve others with pride, with dignity, with humility, and grace. To stand for principles larger than ourselves—like faith and American freedom.

So as I humbly enter this role as your lieutenant governor, know that I will strive to exhibit the values represented in those two special mementos—Lauren Leaders' Bible and Glenn Gregg's flag.

Thank you, God bless you, and God Bless this great state we call home.

"This is Me" was sung by Chris Weaver.

Prayer was delivered by Pastor Chuck DeVos.

Justice Susan Christensen administered the oath of office to Governor-elect Kim Reynolds, assisted by her husband, Kevin Reynolds.

President Schneider presented Governor Kim Reynolds who delivered the following inaugural address:

Senator Grassley, Senator Ernst, Congresswoman Finkenauer, Congresswoman Axne, Governor Vilsack, Lt. Governor Gregg, Madam Speaker, Mr. Leader, Mr. Chief Justice, justices and judges, legislators, other elected officials, distinguished guests, family and friends:

I am incredibly honored and humbled to stand before you today to take the oath as the first woman elected governor of our great state.

I am grateful for the faith you have placed in me, I am humbled by the generosity you've shown me, and I am eager to serve the people of Iowa.

This is a journey that began over 24 years ago at our kitchen table, when Kevin challenged me to put my ideas into action by running for county treasurer.

Kevin, I'm not sure either of us knew where that challenge would lead, but thank you for that little push and for being a willing partner in this life of public service.

The people of Iowa are truly lucky to have you as their First Gentlemen. Whether it's your work with disabled veterans or your passion for conservation, you have embraced this new role with enthusiasm and purpose. Thank you for being my source of strength, a loving husband, and an amazing father and grandfather.

To our three daughters, Nicole, Jen, and Jess: Thank you for always being there, for believing in me, and reminding me to keep things in perspective.

Ryan, Jason, and Scott, our sons-in-law: Thanks for always saying "Sure, we can do that!" when I know you weren't probably thinking "Really, are you kidding me?"

To our 10 active grandchildren: Did you know that being your grandma is the best job ever? I know I've missed a few ballgames and concerts, and that I haven't seen you as much as I'd like. But please know, there is nothing more important to me than all of you.

Mom and Dad—thank you for raising me in Iowa. My life has been deeply blessed because of it. And thank you for leading by example, showing us through your 60 years of marriage what true devotion and commitment are all about.

To all of my family, I want you to know this: When I've succeeded, it's because I've stood on your shoulders. And when I've failed, I moved forward because you carried me. I wouldn't be here today without your love and support.

Lt. Governor Gregg—thank you for your inspiring remarks this morning. Your passion and love of Iowa are contagious. I am grateful for your counsel and friendship.

I am so blessed to stand before you today and address a state I truly love.

In 1948, well after his time as president had passed, Herbert Hoover delivered an address in his hometown of West Branch titled "I am proud to be an Iowan." He opened by talking about his parents and grandparents, and of them he said this: "They worshiped God; they did their duty to their neighbors. They toiled to bring their children greater comfort, better education and to open to them a wider opportunity than had been theirs."

I love that quote. President Hoover was describing his family, but he could have said the same thing of so many Iowans—then and still today.

We worship God; we take care of our neighbors; and we strive to teach our children the same values and give them a life that is better than our own.

It's that simple. And it's why Iowa is the best state in the nation.

We may not have snow-capped mountains or white sandy beaches. And we don't have year-long 70-degree weather. (We're lucky if we get two weeks of it.)

What we have—what makes Iowa so special—is the character of our people, no matter where they came from.

As your Lt. Governor and now Governor, I've been fortunate to travel to all 99 counties every year for eight years. Very few Iowans get that opportunity—though I spot a few others in the crowd who do.

This travel gives me a unique vantage point. I get to see Iowa as a whole, and when I do—when I take a step back, squint my eyes and focus—here's what I see: one, big small town.

In a small town, residents don't wait for the government or far-flung strangers to take care of their ailing neighbors; they do it themselves.

When a farmer gets sick, the community drops everything to harvest his crops. When a neighbor loses her job and is struggling to get back on her feet, the town sees her through it; food and clothing are provided, and Christmas presents find their way under the tree.

In a small town, everyone works together and does life together, and because of that everyone takes care of each other.

That's Iowa. Whether it's in Des Moines or Sioux Center, Decorah or Davenport, Iowans exhibit those small-town values. They work hard, but not so much for themselves. They're ambitious, but not at the expense of others.

Last year, I witnessed this again and again. Whether it was cleaning up after a flood or a tornado, looking for a missing loved one, or reaching out to someone who had lost their way, Iowans were flashing their small-town character. They took care of each other.

Over the next four years and beyond, everything we do should be done with an eye towards preserving and strengthening this way of life.

It will not be easy. And it will truly take all of us. Government didn't make Iowa the best state in the nation, and government can't keep it that way.

But too often, across the country, people are looking not to themselves but to government to solve their neighbors' problems. They are focused less on what they can do and more on what they believe someone else is doing wrong.

Social media has become the accelerant for this way of thinking.

The internet has given a voice to millions of Americans. You no longer need a printing press to publish your ideas. A phone in your pocket will do.

That's powerful. But it is also making many of us powerless.

Too many have become dependent on their phones, captives of social media and to the bitterness and pain that exist there.

I see it less here than in other parts of the country. But I see it. And if we aren't vigilant, we will lose our character. We will lose our small-town way of life.

My ask of all Iowans, as we go into the next four years, is that we devote less time to online political arguments and more time to each other. That we don't let a screen steal time from our family and friends, from our communities and schools.

Because here's the thing: If we look up and to each other, we will see that great things are happening in this state. And if we put our energy into action instead of outrage, we will find that there are even greater days to come.

Today, we have the lowest unemployment rate in the nation, more Iowans are working than ever before, and their wages are going up. Iowans have more access to affordable healthcare, and we are beginning to focus as much on our mental health as we do our physical well-being.

Our fields are more productive than they've ever been, and we are harvesting energy from the wind and sun.

Our teachers are connecting the classroom to the real world, and our schools are more innovative than ever. That's preparing our students for success in a changing and dynamic environment.

And we are just beginning. We're doubling our efforts to show young people the opportunities that exist, and we're giving them the skills they need to seize that opportunity when it comes.

Of course, we must do more than just prepare our kids for a career. We have to teach them to be moral, productive members of society. We must instill in them the Iowa values that our parents instilled in us.

That kind of education doesn't just happen in a classroom. It starts at home and must be supported by the community. Our children learn from observing—from watching you and me. So we all play a part. We must all take responsibility for nurturing the character of the next generation.

We must also understand that our education is never over. We are never done learning and we should never stop challenging ourselves.

The economy is changing and the jobs are changing with it. Across Iowa, in cities and small towns, businesses are expanding and help-wanted signs are everywhere. These new jobs pay well, and the careers are rewarding, but they require more skills and training than we've seen in the past.

That presents a challenge, but also an opportunity. Many Iowans are rising to the occasion. They're signing up for apprenticeship programs or going back to school. Employers are stepping up too, creating new scholarships and training programs.

But there are still Iowans who are struggling. They work hard but feel like they can't get ahead. They want something more, but believe that time has passed them by.

For those Iowans, I'm here to tell you it's not too late. I'm living proof of that. Our lives are not set at age 22, 30 or even 50. In Iowa, it's not just our values that are timeless, so are our opportunities.

If we're to be successful in all of this—in educating Iowans young and old, in paving the way for opportunity, and most of all, in keeping our small-town way of life—we must be sure that every part of the state is succeeding.

Iowa is unique in that our people aren't concentrated in one city or even one part of the state. In every part of Iowa—in every corner and in every county—there are vibrant communities with a school, multiple houses of worship, and a Main Street that displays the community's pride.

Iowans live out small-town values no matter where they are—whether it's Cedar Rapids or Red Oak. But those values were born in these rural communities. That's where Iowa's character comes from.

So if we are going to protect that way of life, we must show our sons and daughters that there is a future here for them, and that this future is bright.

As I travel the state, I'm seeing a resurgence in many places. Our young people are coming home, new shops are opening, and the schools are brimming with as much pride as they ever have.

In the months and years ahead, it's my hope that we can ignite that kind of passion in even more communities. That we can connect every part of Iowa to high-speed internet; that we can connect every Iowan to a rewarding career and affordable healthcare; and that we can connect Iowa, our products, and services to every part of the world.

If we do that—if we bring prosperity to every corner—then Iowa will remain the best state in the nation.

That's not to say there won't be challenges ahead. The world is constantly changing—sometimes for the better and sometimes not. We must be prepared to embrace the change that enriches our lives and lets us focus on what's important.

But when it comes to the qualities that define our great State, let's not let the world change us. Let's change the world.

Let's worship God and take care of our neighbors. Let's strive to teach our children the same values, and let's give them a life that is better than our own.

If we do that, we will have lived a life we can be proud of. A life that is worthy of the freedoms we've been given. A life that is truly Iowan.

Thank you, God bless you, and God bless the great State of Iowa.

The benediction was offered by Pastor Mike Housholder.

Governor Kim Reynolds and her family were escorted from the Joint Convention by Major General Orr.

Lieutenant Governor Adam Gregg and his family were escorted from the Joint Convention by Brigadier General Ford.

Representative Hagenow moved that the joint convention be dissolved, which motion prevailed by a voice vote.

Mr. W. Charles Smithson
Secretary of the Senate
State Capitol Building

Dear Mr. Smithson:

Our office submitted the list of gubernatorial interim appointments qualifying as the January group. These appointments were made to fill board and commission vacancies having become vacant since the conclusion of the 2018 legislative session.

However, not all positions meeting this description have thus far been filled. You will find all remaining vacancies requiring senate confirmation listed on the following sheet. The Governor's office has included the remaining vacancies in the February 1/March 1 List of 2019. This list has since been approved by Secretary of the Senate. The vacancies on the following sheet will be filled with a gubernatorial appointment or deferred by March 1 2019 in accordance with the Iowa Code Section 2.32 and Senate Rule 59.

If you believe this writing and subsequent list of appointments and vacancies does not meet all legal requirements within the Senate or the Iowa Code, please contact Nick Boeyink at 515-725-3509 to resolve the issue.

Sincerely,
Nick Boeyink
Director of Boards and Commissions

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

February 26, 2019

Members of the Senate Ethics Committee
Via Email

Re: Report of Personal Financial Disclosure Forms

Dear Senate Ethics Committee Members:

Pursuant to Iowa Code section 68B.35 and Rule 11 of the Senate Code of Ethics, Senators and certain Senate employees are required to file Personal Financial Disclosure Statements. Rule 11 also requires the Secretary of the Senate to inform the Ethics Committee with the results of these filings and I do so as follows:

1. The filing period was to commence on February 13, 2019, and end on February 25, 2019 (the 10 day filing period ended on a weekend and was thus extended to the next working day).
2. By 5:00 p.m. on February 25, 2019, all current Senators and the Secretary of the Senate had filed the appropriate form.¹
3. To the best of my knowledge, each form has been completed. As such, there has been compliance by each Senator and the Secretary of the Senate with Iowa Code section 68B.35 and Senate Ethics Rule 11 and your Committee need not take action.

If the Ethics Committee has any questions or concerns, please notify me.

Respectfully submitted,

W. Charles Smithson
Secretary of the Senate

Former Senator Jeff Danielson resigned on the second day of the filing period and was no longer required to submit a form.

Sixty-fifth Biennial Session
House Chamber

In accordance with House Concurrent Resolution 12, duly adopted, the joint convention was called to order at 2:05 p.m., President Schneider presiding.

Senator Whitver declared a quorum present and the joint convention duly organized.

The Pioneer Lawmakers were seated in the House chamber.

Senator Behn welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the Senate.

President Schneider presented the Honorable Linda Upmeyer, Speaker of the House of Representatives, who welcomed the Pioneer Lawmakers on behalf of the House.

President Schneider presented the Honorable William A. Dotzler, Jr., member of the Senate and President of the Pioneer Lawmakers Association, who responded to the welcome.

Honorary members of the 2019 class were the following: Joni Arnett, Susan Cameron Daeman, John Pederson, Bill Petroski, Gary Steinke, Kristi Wentz, and Mark Willemsen.

Senator Dotzler presented Bill Petroski, retired reporter from the Des Moines Register, who addressed the joint convention:

Good afternoon Speaker Upmeyer, President Schneider, distinguished members of the Iowa House and Senate, and special guests:

One of my favorite political quotes came from the late U.S. Sen. and Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey. He remarked, "It is always a risk to speak to the press: they are likely to report what you say."

Thank you to so many of you who have been so helpful to the men and women on the Iowa House and Senate press benches, as well as your local news organizations, in their effort to share news with the citizens of Iowa. I have already told many of you how grateful I have been for your cooperation for so many years.

I truly believe I have had one of the best jobs in American journalism the past 37 years as a state government reporter for the Des Moines Register.

I have been to all 99 Iowa counties over and over in one of the most beautiful states in the nation to write about some of the most interesting people and issues you could imagine. As a journalist, I have been able to walk down Main Street of any community in Iowa, or into any cafe or tavern, tell them I work for the Register, and almost everybody has been nice and pleasant to talk with. I have almost always had the same experience at the Iowa Capitol.

But being an older, balding reporter who always wears a coat and tie as I have traveled the state to write about politics has sometimes created unanticipated situations. Near the end of the 2016 presidential campaign, I covered vice presidential candidate Mike Pence as he spoke to a Republican rally at Iowa Central Community College in Fort Dodge. Lots of prominent Iowa Republicans were there, as you might expect. I particularly remember talking with Sen. Tim Kraayenbrink, who told me he was very optimistic about GOP chances in state legislative races, and he turned out to be right.

After Pence finished speaking, I wrapped up some work on my laptop and headed back to my car in the parking lot. A very nice man who I had never met stopped me and thanked me for coming, which isn't unusual for a Register reporter. We talked seriously for a few minutes and he asked me some questions about Washington politics. As we departed, the man expressed good wishes to me and remarked, "Thank you very much. It was a great honor and a pleasure to meet you, Congressman King. You are Congressman King, aren't you?"

This wasn't the first time somebody in the 4th Congressional District has mistaken me for Steve King, which has amused my journalistic colleagues. But I quickly explained that no, I was a reporter from the Des Moines Register. Now I want you to know that Steve King called me to wish me well when I retired, so I am pretty sure he wouldn't be offended by the mix-up.

I have had some experiences covering state government in Iowa that most Iowans will never have. This includes having had lunch in the inmate dining halls of all nine of Iowa's state prisons and talking with many inmates in their cells and work areas. At the maximum-security Fort Madison penitentiary, which I have visited many times to talk with inmates and staff, the warden's executive officer Ron Welder used to joke that if the prison staff didn't like the story I wrote that day that they wouldn't let me leave the next time I came there.

On a couple of other occasions, I have sat in the front seat of an Iowa State Patrol car with the gas pedal floored on Interstate Highway 35 with a state trooper who was issuing tickets to speed violators. It was probably the only times I have ever been traveling in a car at around 100 mph while we were doing it legally.

On July 19, 1989, I was in Sioux City to cover the worst airplane disaster in Iowa history – the emergency crash landing of United Airlines Flight 232, which killed 112 people, but saw 184 people miraculously survive. The Sioux City airfield that day was filled with dozens of ambulances and volunteer fire trucks from many communities from long distances away, and metal pieces of the DC-10 aircraft were scattered everywhere. It was an incredibly tragic and stunning scene of life and death that I and many others will never forget. But the response by the hundreds of volunteers and professionals who rushed to crash site and Sioux City's hospitals was inspiring as well and they were called heroes for their efforts.

I have spent time on U.S. Army bases in five states outside of Iowa to report on Iowa National Guard troops who were away from home while serving our country. I have also written many, many stories about the deaths of Iowa military service members and I have attended some of their funerals. There's a memorial in the Iowa Capitol Rotunda downstairs with the pictures of fallen Iowa soldiers, sailors, airmen and Marines who have died in Iraq, Afghanistan and other combat zones. I urge you to visit that memorial and study their names and faces. I say a silent prayer every time I see those pictures because I have interviewed the family members or friends of so many people who are included on that memorial. I know what good people those Iowa service members were and how much they are missed.

I was asked to reminisce today, but I wasn't told any topics were off limits. So I want to talk for a minute about the #metoo movement, the personal conduct of public officials, and being a journalist covering state government.

Everybody in this state knows there's been a lot of controversy regarding some incidents involving some Iowa legislators and other government officials over the past few years. But the truth is, this has been a bipartisan problem as long as I have been here, and well before then. And I can assure you it was a serious matter when I spent four sessions at the Minnesota Capitol in St. Paul covering the Minnesota Legislature before I came to Iowa in 1981. I particularly I recall a prominent older male legislator from a small town in southern Minnesota being the focus of controversy after being accused in a Minneapolis Star newspaper story of making suggestive remarks to a young female lobbyist while they were having a dinner to discuss legislative policies. There was also lots of the same innuendo and gossip that we hear in Iowa that was heard at the Minnesota Capitol. And some of it was definitely true there, just as it has been here.

If there is one lesson I have learned about covering state government in Iowa it's that when someone gets involved in an affair or other questionable conduct as a politician or as a state administrator, somebody who knows about it will often respond by calling me, sending me a letter, or emailing the Des Moines Register or contacting one of my colleagues at another news organization. And while we couldn't always corroborate what happened, I have had many serious discussions with editors over the years about these types of situations, and we have written about some of them.

There's one incident from the 1990s that I won't forget. That's because I was standing outside this chamber in the Iowa Capitol Rotunda one day trying to find a male state legislator after he was named in a paternity lawsuit. He had abruptly disappeared on a busy day at the Legislature and I subsequently found out that an Iowa Department of Human Services employee had tipped him off that I was trying to interview him. The legislator had fled the chamber and ran out of the Iowa Capitol building and drove home for the weekend in an effort to avoid me. However, that lawsuit story still did get printed in the Des Moines Register.

And everyone from my generation who was covering state government will never forget an infamous bachelor party held at the Back Forty Lounge in Mingo in 1986. The party was attended by about 25 legislators, plus lobbyists and legislative staffers and at least a couple of journalists, but not me. It became newsworthy after we heard reports about a loud, cheering crowd, women dancing without their clothes on, and a shocking allegation of sexual misconduct. Five people were subsequently indicted for misdemeanor offenses, including two legislators as well as a lobbyist who lived across the street from me in Des Moines, although a judge later dismissed some of the charges against some of the accused.

One legislator eventually apologized for "inexcusable behavior" which I won't elaborate on, but you can do a Google search and find out more details. We wrote many stories about the Mingo party, but as you might imagine, a lot of people who were in attendance claimed they were in the kitchen or the restroom and they didn't hear or see anything. Let me just say that those people were fortunate that they were not required to take a lie detector test.

Despite the personal shortfalls of some individuals, what I am sure many of us will remember most about government in Iowa is that there are a lot of sincere people from both parties who are very caring and community minded.

This makes me think of people like Jacqueline Day of Des Moines' east side. She was a former confidential secretary to Govs. Bob Ray and Norman Erbe. She also served on the Iowa Board of Parole, where I became acquainted with her.

Jackie Day was one of my best sources for years and she died in 2002. She had two sons who had enlisted in the Marine Corps and one of them was badly wounded in the Vietnam War. So when plans were unveiled for the Vietnam War Memorial on the Iowa Capitol grounds in the early 1980s, she helped to lead the fundraising effort. And when fundraising slowed down, Jackie did what she felt was the right thing for Iowa veterans. She and her family were people of working-class financial means, definitely not wealthy. But she signed a $59,000 personal note to ensure the work would proceed — and it got done. She later repaid the note with contributions from the public. Everyone who was there when the monument was dedicated across the street from the Iowa Capitol on Memorial Day in 1984 will never forget the sight and sounds of the military helicopters flying overhead in the missing man formation. Jackie's unselfish dedication prevailed.

Some of you here today attended a ribbon cutting in northwest Iowa last fall for the completion of U.S. Highway 20 as a four-lane expressway across the entire state – 300 miles between Dubuque and Sioux City. I first wrote about the U.S. 20 project in the 1980s, but it had already been underway for decades by then.

The U.S. 20 project is an example of what patience and persistence can accomplish. DOT engineers for years were against widening the two-lane road to four lanes in northwest Iowa. They had good reason because low traffic counts couldn't justify the high cost in sparsely populated rural areas.

But state leaders and members of Iowa's congressional delegation – along with dozens of community leaders across northern Iowa – never gave up. I particularly saw those community leaders over and over again for years as they pleaded their cases at Iowa Transportation Commission meetings in Ames. The U.S. 20 project had to wait until other four-lane road projects were finished elsewhere in Iowa and after the state's gas tax was increased by the Iowa Legislature in the 2015 session. But eventually it was completed, providing a much safer corridor for motorists, shorter travel times and alternative freight routes for shippers.

Iowa probably has one of the better systems of rural four-lane highways in the nation. Some of the most important corridors were developed as part of a Commercial and Industrial Highway Network supported by Gov. Branstad and backed by many state legislators from both parties and community leaders along the routes who believed it would bolster economic development. These were people like former Iowa Republican Senate leader Robert Rigler of New Hampton, who chaired the Iowa DOT Commission; and another former DOT chairman – Austin Turner of Corning. Some others included businessman Ernie Hayes of Mount Pleasant, who was a key advocate for the Avenue of the Saints highway; and people like Ed Augustine and Buck Boekelman of Fort Dodge, Shirley Phillips of Sac City, and many, many others. They supported road improvements because they felt they were the best for Iowa in the long run, not because they stood to benefit personally.

There haven't been many times when I have failed to get an interview with a politician when I was assigned to do it. But when I was a much younger reporter – back in 1975 and 1976 and prior to joining the Register, I worked at the Albert Lea Tribune on the Minnesota-Iowa border, where our coverage area included Iowa communities like Lake Mills and Northwood. My editor, Jim Oliver, asked me to write a story about a young Republican legislator who was considered an up and comer in Iowa politics. Unfortunately, I got tied up on another assignment that Saturday so I was late arriving at the Winnebago County GOP convention in Forest City. The young legislator had already left to speak at another Republican event and I missed him, so it was another five or six years before I got hired by the Register and actually saw Terry Branstad for the first time. After he was elected governor in 1982, I ended up covering his administration during all six of his terms in office.

However, I did have an opportunity to interview a freshman member of Iowa's congressional delegation a few months later. His name was U.S. Rep. Charles Grassley. That was almost 43 years ago and believe me, he wasn't any different then than he is now. I remember asking Grassley at the time his thoughts about right-to-work laws, which he strongly favored. I mentioned this interview to U.S. Sen. Grassley a few years ago, and he clearly recalled every detail about why he was there that day and the Republican candidate he was helping by speaking at a campaign fundraiser.

After coming to the Register in the early 1980s I wasn't actually assigned to cover the Iowa House when Rep. Delwyn Stromer of Garner was Iowa House speaker. But I was covering state government agencies, and I did need to interview him. Speaker

Stromer – everybody just called him Del - was a Republican who was well respected as a fair man who tried to work with people from both parties. So when his daughter, Rep. Linda Upmeyer, became Iowa House speaker more than three decades later, I honestly felt it was the most wonderful thing for me to be able to be here to see that happen and that I had the opportunity to say that I had interviewed her as well. I felt like I had a front row seat on Iowa history as it was being made, just as I stood in the Rotunda and saw Gov. Kim Reynolds be inaugurated in May 2017.

I have also had the honor of witnessing the careers of many other prominent Iowa politicians, including former Senate Majority Leader Michael Gronstal, whom I first met when he served in the Iowa House in the early 1980s. Another was former Iowa Gov. and state Sen. Tom Vilsack, whom I first became acquainted with when he was a lawyer and mayor in Mount Pleasant because his wife, Christie, was a correspondent for the Des Moines Register. I can tell you that when Gronstal and Tom Vilsack were just first-term lawmakers they were both meticulously well versed on government policies and I think most people took them very seriously.

I particularly recall the first time I telephoned the Washington office of Iowa Congressman Neal Smith, a Democrat from Des Moines who still holds the record as the longest serving U.S. House member in Iowa history, holding his seat from 1959 to 1995. He is now 99 years old and he is a humble man who has never had any pretensions. When I called Smith's office that day, I asked to talk with his press secretary, but his aide Park Rinard explained that Smith didn't have a press secretary. This was the first time I had ever heard of such a thing for a congressman. Rinard asked me to wait a minute so Smith could call a recess during a U.S. House committee meeting he was chairing in Washington so the congressman could come to the phone and take the call himself, which he did.

If there is one thing that has changed since I have arrived here it's been a much sharper division of partisanship and much less representation of the entire political spectrum within both political parties. If you look at the history of Iowa politics, there has always been vigorous party activity and negative campaigning certainly isn't anything new. But the degree of polarization is significantly greater now than when I arrived here. I could dedicate an entire speech to this topic, but just let me say that the past era saw far less money being spent on campaigns, there was no Facebook or Twitter or non-stop political arguments on cable TV shows. It was also not uncommon in the past to have some conservative Democratic politicians and some liberal Republicans.

Of course, the process of news gathering has changed dramatically since I covered my first legislative session in 1978. We didn't have the Internet back then, but I did write stories on one of the first portable computers – a 40-pound suitcase-sized device with a keyboard and a tiny black and white electronic screen. I sent my stories to my editors via a telephone line that connected with equipment in the newsroom that printed out the type for publication.

Today, covering legislative news has changed dramatically because of the Internet and social media. In recent years, I have posted stories at every hour of the day and night and on Saturdays and Sundays, which is why I have had to call some of you folks at home at night, on weekends and at other times.

One thing hasn't changed, though. We still have disagreements with state and local government officials on a fairly regular basis over what information should be classified as public and what should be kept private. I agree with Justice Louis Brandeis, who favored a policy of transparency, saying "If the broad light of day could be let in upon men's actions, it would purify them as the sun disinfects."

One of my late Register colleagues, reporter Nick Lamberto, was a Remsen native from northwest Iowa who had been a U.S. combat pilot who hunted German U-Boats in the North Atlantic during World War II. When occasions arose when a public official in Iowa refused to talk with him or denied him public records, he used to read them the riot act, which I personally witnessed many times. He told them we fought in World War II against the Nazis for the right to have an open government and that's what differentiated us from Hitler and the other fascists. And believe me, that was a convincing argument. When Nick died, he was buried in his military uniform.

As I close today, I want everyone to know how grateful I am that I have had the opportunity to cover state government in Iowa the past 37 years. I know how hard many legislators work because I have sat at the press bench in empty House and Senate chambers late in the day or at night when no one else from the public was around and seen many legislators – Democrats and Republicans – as well as their staffs, putting in long hours to get their work finished. You folks know who you are.

People at the Iowa Capitol are not all perfect; we know that because as journalists we have written many stories citing their shortcomings and failures. But overall, I can honestly say from having been here that I have respect for the many very dedicated, well-intentioned people who give 100 percent here every day with the goal of providing the best public service they can accomplish.

You have been great to work with and I wish everyone well. God Bless. Thank you.

Representative Hagenow moved that the joint convention be dissolved.

The motion prevailed by a voice vote.

The Senate returned to the Senate chamber.

RECESS

On motion of Senator Whitver, the Senate recessed at 2:37 p.m. until 3:00 p.m.

RECONVENED

The Senate reconvened at 3:05 p.m., President Schneider presiding.

The Senate stood at ease at 3:06 p.m. until the fall of the gavel for the purpose of party caucuses.

The Senate resumed session at 4:13 p.m., President Schneider presiding.

LEAVES OF ABSENCE

Leaves of absence were granted as follows:

Senators Breitbach and Nunn, until they arrive, on request of Senator Whitver.

CONFIRMATION OF GOVERNOR'S APPOINTMENT (Individual Confirmation Calendar)

Senator Whitver called up the appointment of Kathleen Law as a member of the Judicial Nominating Commission, placed on the Individual Confirmation Calendar on March 26, 2019, found on page 753 of the Senate Journal.

Senator Whitver moved that the foregoing appointment be confirmed by the Senate.

JOURNAL OF THE SENATE

SEVENTY-FOURTH CALENDAR DAY
FORTY-FOURTH SESSION DAY

Senate Chamber
Des Moines, Iowa, Thursday, March 28, 2019

The Senate met in regular session at 9:02 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

Prayer was offered by Father Gehling, chaplain of Mercy One Hospital in Mason City, Iowa. He was the guest of Senator Ragan.

The 2019 Memorial Choir, directed by Representative Rob Bacon, sang a selection of songs.

The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Senate Page Jackson Birdwell.

The Journal of Wednesday, March 27, 2019, was approved.

INTRODUCTION OF GOVERNOR'S APPOINTEES

The Secretary of the Senate introduced Janet Phipps Burkhead, the governor's appointee to be Director of the Department of Administrative Services. She was the guest of Senators R. Smith and Giddens and the committee on State Government.

The Secretary of the Senate introduced Gerd Clabaugh, the governor's appointee to be Director of Public Health. He was the guest of Senators Miller-Meeks and Carlin and the committee on Human Resources.

The Senate stood at ease at 9:10 a.m. until the fall of the gavel for the purpose of party caucuses.

The Senate resumed session at 10:32 a.m., President Schneider presiding.

CONSIDERATION OF BILL
(Regular Calendar)

Senator Whitver asked and received unanimous consent to take up for consideration Senate File 570.

Senate File 570

On motion of Senator Sweeney, Senate File 570, a bill for an act providing for immunity from civil liability for registered architects and professional engineers providing disaster emergency assistance under specified circumstances, was taken up for consideration.

Senator Sweeney offered amendment S-3088, filed by her from the floor, striking and replacing everything after the enacting clause and amending the title page of the bill, and moved its adoption.

Amendment S-3088 was adopted by a voice vote.

With the adoption of amendment S-3088, the Chair ruled the following amendments out of order:

Amendment S-3054, filed by Senator Sweeney on March 20, 2019, to pages 1-2 of the bill; and Amendment S-3057, filed by Senator Hogg on March 20, 2019, to pages 2 and 3 of the bill.

Senator Sweeney moved that the bill be read the last time now and placed upon its passage, which motion prevailed by a voice vote, and the bill was read the last time.

On the question "Shall the bill pass?" (S.F. 570), the vote was:

EXPLANATION OF VOTE

MR. PRESIDENT: I was necessarily absent from the Senate chamber on Tuesday, April 23, 2019, when the vote was taken on Senate File 548. My vote yea represented an inadvertent and accidental use of the green button (yea), when in fact I had intended to utilize the red button (nay) in the vote. The President of the Senate had closed the voting system prior to my being able to change my vote. Let it herein be noted that I was not in favor of final passage of Senate File 548.

REMARKS BY THE MAJORITY LEADER

Senator Whitver provided the following remarks:

Mister President, Senator Petersen and colleagues in the Senate,

I will start by expressing my gratitude to the staff and senators in this building for all the work they have done this session. It is a privilege to lead such a dynamic and unified caucus. Every day I have the distinct honor of being a part of a caucus full of leaders with bold, fresh ideas for our state. Even with all our differences, our caucus remains committed to each other as a team.

It is hard to believe the 2019 session is drawing to a close. Just 103 short days ago, I asked you all to keep in mind the reason you ran for office. I ran for office to make our state and country a better place for my kids and our family—a place where they can grow up, go to school, succeed in a career they enjoy and spend a lifetime in a place we all love and are proud to call home...Iowa.

When we began the 2019 Legislative Session I urged my colleagues in this body to be bold, challenge the status quo and enact meaningful policies that serve as a roadmap for the next generation to flourish for decades to come. I urged us to maintain the reform-minded perspective of the first two years in the majority. Together we set an agenda to strengthen and grow our economy, while allowing Iowans to keep more of their hard-earned money.

To implement that agenda, we did not want to just make small changes to a couple lines in an Iowa Code book; instead, we focused on generational changes to bring more prosperity, growth and opportunity to our state.

These policies are already yielding an abundance of positive results. We rank as one of the top states for jobs, high school graduation and concurrent enrollment. Our unemployment rate is among the lowest in the country. Last year, Iowa was rated the Number One state in America by US News and World Report. Achieving that top ranking is not easy—but staying there is even more challenging.

This year, we provided an additional $89 million in sustainable funding for our K-12 schools, and extended the sales tax dedicated to help support their infrastructure costs. We passed four welfare reform bills to make those programs run more effectively and efficiently. These bills help ensure assistance is only for those truly in need, encourages people to join the workforce, and could save taxpayers millions of dollars. We passed a bill to protect Iowa businesses and workers, and promote better hiring practices through the use of E-Verify. We created a children's mental health system in our state. We passed legislation to allow our state's farmers to grow another crop and another to level the playing field for utility customers. We passed a bill to protect Iowa's agriculture industry, and a bill to protect the First Amendment rights of students at our public universities.

We proposed a budget that was conservative, responsible and sustainable. It funded the necessities of our state, like education and public safety, and provided the state a cushion to respond to the massive flooding in western Iowa. Responsible budgeting always has been important to this caucus, just as it is important to every hard-working person in our state.

One of the number one concerns we heard when talking with Iowans over the last couple years was property taxes. And, they have reason to be concerned. Property tax collections have more than doubled in the last 18 years. These increases exceed more than $3 billion across Iowa. Meanwhile, during that same time frame, Iowans incomes have risen only 43 percent.

After passing income tax relief for Iowa's hard-working families during the last Legislative Session, this year we passed property tax reform, to control increases for those who have seen their assessments rise year after year, improve transparency, and hold public officials accountable for any increase in property taxes.

Our work doesn't stop when we leave this building. There are many issues we can work on next year and continue to forge a path to help grow our economy, retain young graduates and attract new Iowans to call our state home.

I want to extend a heartfelt thank you to all my colleagues on both sides of the aisle for another outstanding session and for all the work we accomplished. Thank you for the thoughtful debate and discussion and the work you do on behalf of your constituents and our great state. We made a lot of progress this year for Iowa and Iowans, and I look forward to working with all of you next January as we continue this journey toward long-term prosperity.

REMARKS BY THE PRESIDENT OF THE SENATE

President Schneider provided the following remarks:

Senators, guests and fellow Iowans:

I would first like to say it was a great honor to serve again as President of the Senate. I appreciate the trust my colleagues placed in me. I returned it by always doing my best to fulfill the responsibilities of the role to which you elected me.

My goal this session, and every session since I was elected to the Senate, was to make Iowa the best state in the country to live, work, and raise a family. I believe we made progress toward this goal during the 2019 legislative session.

I am proud of the work we did to bring transparency and accountability to the process by which property taxes are determined.

Many Iowans felt their property tax burden getting worse, but could not explain why it was happening. Our convoluted property tax system made it difficult for property owners to hold the right people accountable.

We believe the key to holding down property taxes is to bring more accountability to local budgeting processes. The bill passed by the Legislature will hold down budget expansions in cities and counties that had been on autopilot thanks to rising valuations, while allowing local leaders in growing communities to provide critical services to their constituents.

As a result, Iowans should expect to see the amount they pay in property taxes more closely align to local government budgets than their property valuations. This bill will remove what amounts to a government-imposed penalty on an appreciating asset regardless of the taxpayer's ability to pay.

The property tax reform bill will shine a spotlight on city and county budget processes, while still allowing local government officials to make choices that make sense for their communities. As a former West Des Moines City Council member and a Senator who represents some of the fastest growing communities in our state, I understand these local leaders need the flexibility to grow their physical infrastructure and staff resources to keep up with their changing jurisdictions. I am proud this bill will allow well-managed, fast-growing cities, like those in my Senate district, to continue to make smart choices for their futures.

While many outside this chamber focus on the issues that divide us, I am proud the Senate was able to come together on a number of key issues facing our state.

For me, the children's mental health bill we passed this session will be a legacy item. This bill demonstrates that the Legislature understands there is a children's mental health crisis in our state. Unfortunately, this problem is not specific to our state. But, I believe the provisions in the children's mental health bill position our state to be a leader on this issue. I hope the solutions that result from this legislation will be a model for other states to follow.

I am also proud of the lower-profile issues the Senate came together this year to address. Every session, Iowans from around the state petition their government to resolve issues in their day-to-day life. Though many of these issues do not make the front page of the newspapers, they are important to people in our state and I am proud of our work on them.

While we made important progress this session on a number of key issues, there is still work for us left to do during this General Assembly.

Businesses throughout the state are still experiencing a serious skilled worker shortage. We hear this shortage is already stifling economic growth in our state. While I am proud we supported the governor's Future Ready Iowa initiative this session, there is still more work to do.

There also continues to be too many barriers to success in our state. Unnecessary occupational licensing requirements threaten to limit opportunities for Iowans to pursue their dreams. Iowa has one of the most heavily licensed workforces in the country. States like Arizona have made important strides to rebalance protecting the public with reducing barriers to economic opportunity. I believe policymakers in Iowa should have a serious conversation next session about this issue.

I would like to wish everyone a safe, healthy and prosperous summer. Thank you for your hard work on behalf of your constituents and our state. God bless you and your families. And, God bless the great state of Iowa.

REMARKS BY THE MINORITY LEADER

Senator Petersen provided the following remarks:

Thank you, Mr. President.

As we wind down the 2019 Legislative session, I want to thank my Democratic colleagues for the honor of serving as your Leader. It is an honor leading a team of senators who care deeply about our state and the Iowans we serve.

I want to give a special "thank you" to the new members of our caucus: Senators Claire Celsi, Eric Giddens, Jackie Smith, Todd Taylor and Zach Wahls. They have all brought new enthusiasm and ideas to the Iowa Senate and we're all grateful for their service.

Thank you to our dedicated caucus staff and leadership team who put in countless hours and have their fingerprints on every piece of legislation that runs through this chamber. We are fortunate to have such smart, caring and talented people working for us, and more importantly, working for Iowans. A special thanks to the Republican caucus staff and leadership team as well.

Thank you to the Secretary of the Senate, your staff, and the Senate pages who keep this chamber running smoothly.

Thank you to everyone at the Legislative Services Agency, to our joint legislative employees, and the Legislative Ombudsman's Office for your putting your gifts to work on behalf of Iowans.

Let's give them all a round of applause!

Mr. President, Mr. Majority Leader, Senate colleagues, and to all the Iowans we serve: On the opening day of the 2019 Legislative Session, I talked about how the Iowa Senate has called this chamber home for more than 130 years.

The laws and budgets we pass or don't pass have the ability to impact the lives of every Generation living in our state today – and Generations who will be sitting in our chairs long after we are gone.

This session we did some good things for the people of this state.

One of the most significant pieces of legislation we passed was the guardianship bill, a cause championed by Josie Gitler of Iowa City and so many others who worked with her. That bill will help protect hundreds of lives.

We passed the Iowa CARE Act, and established a governance structure for a children's mental health system in our state.

We finally passed a bill opening the door to hemp production in Iowa.

There were missed opportunities as well.

Once again, we saw Republicans "fixing" things that weren't broken instead of fixing things that are broken...

Iowans want strong public schools. Instead of fully funding our public schools, we saw Republicans push for private school vouchers that would take resources away from thousands of Iowa's children.

Iowans want legislators to work on initiatives to prevent crime; deal with substance abuse and mental health problems; make our neighborhoods, workplaces and schools safer; and reduce racial disparities in our criminal system. Instead of tackling many of those issues, we saw a bill to completely revamp Iowa's highly respected judicial nominating system to politicize Iowa's courts.

Iowans are innovative and making great strides in solar, wind and other renewable energy areas. Instead of supporting those efforts, Senate Republicans passed a bill that would give government-supported monopolies the power to squelch Iowa's growing solar industry. They also put further restrictions on energy efficiency programs for homes and businesses. Democrats believe we should be working together on renewable energy policies that help our entire state thrive.

Instead of focusing on health prevention and wellness efforts, our state is still reeling from the Governor's privatized Medicaid mess that has gone on for more than three years. More than 425,000 Iowans and hundreds of health care providers will soon find themselves navigating through a web of red tape of yet another for-profit Managed Care Organization. Democrats believe health care dollars should be going to health care, not helping out-of-state, for-profit companies with their bottom line.

Democrats pushed for automatic voter registration and improved cyber security oversight for elections. Instead of expanding voter rights in Iowa, we saw Senator Roby Smith and his Republican colleagues push for more voter suppression legislation that would have made it harder to vote for Iowa college kids, veterans, and those who don't work a 9 to 5 job.

Speaking of elections, it's a real shame that Senate Republicans dropped the ball on a proposal by Governor Reynolds to restore voting rights to felons who have served their time. The Governor's proposal was approved on 95-2 vote in the House nearly a month ago and clearly had bipartisan support in the Iowa Senate. There's no excuse for Senate Republicans turning their backs on Iowans who deserve a second chance.

Iowa lost another eight labor and delivery departments last year and our state's maternal mortality rate has more than doubled in less than three years. Yet, several maternal and reproductive health care bills Democrats proposed did not get taken up. The Governor did not get her pharmacy access to birth control bill through the legislature nor did the Republicans restore access to health care providers again for the thousands of women who were banned seeing many of Iowans most highly qualified providers in 2017. And in the final hours of the session, Republicans voted for anti-Planned Parenthood legislation that will actually lead to more abortions in our state, not fewer. That's shameful!

It's also shameful that legislative Republicans decided at the 11th hour of this session to take away the civil rights of Iowans who are already marginalized in our society. Democrats believe in expanding and protecting the civil rights of ALL Iowans. That is how we help our state grow.

Democrats pushed for putting more money in the pockets of Iowans with fairer tax policies, better job and apprenticeship opportunities, and decent wage and benefit policies for Iowans who work hard every day to support themselves and the people they love. Senate Republicans pushed for more red tape and hurdles for Iowa families struggling to make ends meet.

Children and adult survivors of child sexual abuse also lost again this session. A bill that would finally give survivors a chance to seek justice against their perpetrators and the organizations that covered up the crime were kept in a desk drawer and only a small window of time was added to the criminal statute of limitation for child sexual abuse.

While I am disappointed, that we did not accomplish more good things for Iowans in 2019, I am hopeful we can work together to make bigger strides next session.

I truly believe there are more things that unite us than divide us and we must continue looking for ways to work together to make Iowa a state we can proud to call home.

Thank you Iowans for making your voices heard this session.

KIM REYNOLDS
Governor

REPORT OF THE SECRETARY OF THE SENATE

April 29, 2019

The Honorable Kim Reynolds
Governor of Iowa
Hand-Delivered

Re: Notice of Senate Disapproval of a Gubernatorial Nominee

Dear Governor Reynolds,

On April 9, 2019, the Iowa Senate failed to approve the confirmation of Phil Hemingway as a member of the Board of Educational Examiners. Pursuant to Iowa Code section 2.32(11), this triggers certain timelines.

Notice of this disapproval was filed with your office on April 11, 2019. As part of that notice, it was also stated that a motion to reconsider the vote on the confirmation had been filed. When the Senate adjourned on April 27, 2019, a vote on the motion to reconsider had not been taken. As such, pursuant to Senate Rule 24 the motion is deemed to have failed as an operation of procedure. Therefore, the disapproval of Phil Hemingway is now official and the timelines in Iowa Code section 2.32(11) are official.

If you have any questions or concerns, please notify me.

Sincerely,
W. Charles Smithson
Secretary of the Senate

FINAL DISPOSITION OF MOTION TO RECONSIDER

Pursuant to Senate Rule 24, the following motion to reconsider, which remained on the Senate Calendar upon the adjournment of the 2019 Regular Session of the Eighty-eighth General Assembly, was determined to have failed:

The motion to reconsider the vote by which Phil Hemingway, the governor's appointee as member of the Board of Educational Examiners, failed to pass the Senate on April 9, 2019. (Motion to reconsider filed by Senator Whitver on April 9, 2019.)

W. CHARLES SMITHSON
Secretary of the Senate

GOVERNOR'S ITEM VETO MESSAGE

Senate File 615

May 22, 2019

The Honorable Paul Pate
Secretary of State of Iowa
State Capitol Building
LOCAL

Dear Mr. Secretary:

I hereby transmit Senate File 615, an act relating to appropriations to the justice system, and including effective date and retroactive applicability provisions.

Senate File 615 is approved on this date with the exception of sections 24 and 28, of which I disapprove. These sections would have amended the Attorney General's statutory duties to require the approval of the Governor, Executive Council, or Legislature to prosecute any action or proceeding, including signing onto or authoring amicus briefs or letters of support, in any court or tribunal other than an Iowa state court.

I share many of the concerns expressed by members of the Legislature about the past actions of Attorney General Tom Miller in courts outside of Iowa. He has participated in litigation throughout the nation, repeatedly taking positions in the name of the State of Iowa that are in conflict with Iowa's statutes, the policy goals of the Legislature and Governor, and the best interests of Iowans. But I am cautious about approving a provision that redefines the scope of the Attorney General's duties because I am mindful that the Attorney General is also elected by, and directly accountable to, the people of Iowa.

As a result of the Legislature's leadership on this issue, Attorney General Miller and I have had the opportunity to engage in a thoughtful discussion about the appropriate balance of authority between the Governor and the Attorney General with respect to Iowa's involvement in litigation. And ultimately, Attorney General Miller agreed to my proposal to adjust our litigation practices in a manner that I believe addresses my core concerns without amending Iowa's current statutes.

Attorney General Miller has agreed that so long as he serves as Attorney General, he will not prosecute any action or proceeding or sign onto or author an amicus brief in the name of the State of Iowa in any court or tribunal other than an Iowa state court without the consent of the Governor. He retains the authority to participate in litigation or author letters in his own name, as Attorney General of Iowa. Attorney General Miller has also agreed that if the Governor requests that he prosecute an action or proceeding or file an amicus brief in any court, he will do so or facilitate outside counsel, and that such participation requested by the Governor shall be conducted in the name of the State of Iowa.

This agreement is an appropriate interpretation of the authority and duties provided for under existing Iowa law and our constitutional structure. It ensures that the State of Iowa will speak with one consistent voice when it participates in court proceedings outside of our state. And it respects the Attorney General's independent authority and accountability to the people of Iowa.

I commend the Legislature for starting this important discussion and Attorney General Miller for his willingness to reevaluate our practices with respect to engaging in litigation on behalf of the State of Iowa. I look forward to working with Attorney General Miller to ensure that the State's litigation advances the interests of Iowans.

For these reasons, I respectfully disapprove Senate File 615 in part, only as specified above, in accordance with Article III, Section 16, of the Constitution of the State of Iowa. The remainder of Senate File 615 not disapproved as stated herein is approved on this date.

Sincerely,

KIM REYNOLDS
Governor of Iowa

- 11 655A.6 Rejection of notice.
- 12 1. If either the mortgagor, or successor in interest of
- 13 record including a contract purchaser, within thirty days of
- 14 service of the notice pursuant to section 655A.3, files with
- 15 the recorder of the county where the mortgaged property is
- 16 located, a rejection of the notice reasonably identifying
- 17 the notice which is rejected together with proofs of service
- 18 required under section 655A.4 that the rejection has been
- 19 served on the mortgagee, the notice served upon the mortgagor
- 20 pursuant to section 655A.3 is of no force or effect.
- 21 2. Rejection of notice pursuant to subsection 1 shall not be
- 22 available to a mortgagor, or successor in interest of record
- 23 including a contract purchaser, of a mortgaged property that a
- 24 court of competent jurisdiction determined has been abandoned
- 25 pursuant to section 657A.2, on or after the date as determined
- 26 in section 657A.2, subsection 5.

27 Sec. 3. Section 657A.1, subsections 1 and 3, Code 2019, are
28 amended to read as follows:

29 1. “Abandoned” or “abandonment” means that a building ~~has~~ 30 ~~remained~~ is vacant, or is occupied only by trespassers, and has 31 ~~been~~ in violation of the housing code or building code of the 32 city in which the property is located or the housing code or 33 building code applicable in the county in which the property
34 is located if outside the limits of a city ~~for a period of six~~
35 ~~consecutive months.~~

1 3. “Building” means a building or structure, excluding a
2 mobile home, a modular home, and a manufactured home as defined
3 in section 435.1, unless the mobile home or manufactured
4 home has been converted to real estate pursuant to section
5 435.26, located in a city or outside the limits of a city in 6 a county, which is used or intended to be used for commercial
7 or industrial purposes or which is used or intended to be 8 used for residential purposes and includes a building or 9 structure in which some floors may be used for retail stores,
10 shops, salesrooms, markets, or similar commercial uses, or for 11 offices, banks, civic administration activities, professional
12 services, or similar business or civic uses, and other floors
13 are used, designed, or intended to be used for residential 14 purposes.

15 Sec. 4. Section 657A.1, Code 2019, is amended by adding the
16 following new subsection:

17 NEW SUBSECTION. 8. “Responsible building official” or 18 “official” means the person appointed by the city or, if the 19 building is outside the limits of a city, the county, to 20 enforce its building codes and regulations in general or to 21 enforce this chapter in particular.

22 Sec. 5. NEW SECTION. 657A.1A Preliminary inspection of 23 building.

24 1. No sooner than one hundred thirty-five days after a
25 property has become vacant, a person, other than a governmental 26 entity, may request that the responsible building official
27 inspect the property and certify that a property is both
28 abandoned and in need of abatement. The responsible building
29 official may also initiate an inspection on the official’s own
30 initiative at any time.

31 2. If the responsible building official finds from an 32 exterior view of the property, in addition to any other
33 credible information that the official may have, that there
34 is reasonable cause to believe that the property is abandoned
35 and in need of abatement, the official shall schedule a date

1 and time for an inspection of the property by the official.
2 The person requesting the inspection shall provide written

3 notice of the scheduled inspection by first class mail and 4 certified mail to the owner and all interested persons at 5 least twenty days before the inspection. The notice must
6 state the date, time, and place of the inspection and state
7 that unless the owner appears at the inspection to allow the 8 responsible building official access to the interior of the 9 property, the official, accompanied by the person serving
10 notice and any interested persons appearing for the inspection, 11 may enter the property to determine whether the property is 12 abandoned and in need of abatement and, if so, to estimate
13 the costs of abatement. The official may enter the property
14 for an inspection, along with the person serving notice and 15 any interested persons, if the owner is not present for the 16 inspection. Upon request, the inspection may be rescheduled
17 as needed. The responsible building official must obtain an 18 administrative search warrant pursuant to section 808.14 to 19 enter any building to conduct an inspection pursuant to this 20 section.

21 3. The responsible building official's findings shall 22 be in writing with copies provided to the person requesting 23 the inspection, the owner, and all interested parties. The 24 governmental entity employing the responsible building official
25 may establish and charge a fee to cover the reasonable costs
26 of the inspection, which shall be added to costs in an action
27 under this chapter.

28 4. Evidence that financial obligations in respect to a
29 building, including but not limited to payments of a mortgage,
30 bills, or property taxes, are currently met does not rebut a
31 finding of abandonment if the property is substantially in need
32 of abatement in an action filed under section 657A.2.

33 Sec. 6. Section 657A.2, Code 2019, is amended by striking
34 the section and inserting in lieu thereof the following:

35 657A.2 Petition.

1 1. No sooner than the latter of thirty days after provision
2 of the responsible building official's findings under section
3 657A.1A and six months after a building has become abandoned,
4 a petition for abatement under this chapter may be filed in 5 the district court of the county in which the property is 6 located by the city in which the property is located, by the 7 county if the property is located outside the limits of a city,
8 by a neighboring landowner, or by a duly organized nonprofit
9 corporation which has as one of its goals the improvement of 10 housing conditions in the county or city in which the property
11 in question is located. The petition shall not demand a 12 personal judgment against any party, but shall concern only
13 the interests in the property. A petition for abatement filed
14 under this chapter shall include the legal description of 15 the real property upon which the public nuisance is located 16 unless the public nuisance is not situated on or confined to

17 a parcel of real property, or is portable or capable of being 18 removed from the real property. Service shall be made on all
19 interested persons by personal service or, if personal service
20 cannot be made, by certified mail and first class mail to the 21 last known address of record of the interested person and by 22 posting the notice in a conspicuous place on the building,
23 or by publication. The last known address of record for the 24 property owner shall be the address of record with the county
25 treasurer of the county where the property is located. Service
26 may also be made as provided in section 654.4A.

27 2. If entering judgment, the court shall determine any 28 issues at law, including issues relating to title, raised by 29 the plaintiff or by a party in interest who has filed a motion
30 or answer.

31 3. In any evidentiary hearing or motion in a proceeding
32 under this chapter, the written findings of the responsible 33 building official relating to the condition of the building and 34 other matters within the scope of this chapter, if provided 35 at least ten days before the hearing to all persons not in

1 default, shall be accepted as evidence without prejudice to the 2 right of any party to require the personal testimony of the 3 responsible building official at the hearing.

4 4. If the court finds at a hearing pursuant to this section
5 that the building is abandoned or is a public nuisance, the 6 court may issue an injunction requiring the owner to correct
7 any conditions that make such building a public nuisance, or 8 issue another order that the court deems appropriate to address
9 the public nuisance.

10 5. If the court finds at a hearing pursuant to this
11 section that the building is abandoned, unless the court
12 order establishes otherwise, the property shall be deemed
13 continuously abandoned from the date the action is indexed
14 pursuant to section 617.10, subsection 1.

15 6. A property shall not be claimed as homestead pursuant to 16 chapter 561 on or after the date determined in subsection 5.

17 7. In a proceeding under this section, if the court
18 determines the building is not abandoned, the court shall 19 dismiss the petition and may require the petitioner to pay an 20 interested party's reasonable attorney fees. An owner of the 21 property who failed to appear for an inspection pursuant to 22 section 657A.1A shall not be awarded attorney fees under this
23 section.

24 8. If a party to the action holds an interest in the 25 property as a nominee, a fiduciary, or another representative
26 capacity for a third party, or an underlying loan on the 27 property is guaranteed by a third party, the party to the 28 action may apply to the court for a stay of action, as it
29 affects the party's interest, for a reasonable time to allow 30 the party to obtain the appropriate authority, information, or

31 instructions from or on behalf of the beneficiary or guarantor
32 as related to the property interest or underlying loan.
33 Sec. 7. Section 657A.3, Code 2019, is amended to read as
34 follows:
35 657A.3 Interested persons — opportunity to abate public

1 nuisance.

2 1. Before appointing a receiver to perform work or to
3 furnish material to abate a public nuisance under this chapter,
4 the court shall ~~conduct a hearing at which the court shall~~
5 ~~offer mortgagees of record, lienholders of record, or other~~
6 ~~known interested persons in the order of priority of interest~~
7 ~~in title, the opportunity to undertake the work and to furnish~~
8 ~~the materials necessary to abate the public nuisance. The~~ 9 ~~establish a date before which interested persons may file with~~ 10 ~~the court shall require the person selected to demonstrate~~
11 ~~the written proof of intent and ability to promptly undertake~~
12 ~~promptly the work required and to post security for the~~
13 ~~performance of the work. If no such written proof is filed~~
14 ~~by that date, the court may appoint a receiver pursuant to~~ 15 ~~subsection 3.~~

16 2. All amounts expended by the person toward abating the 17 public nuisance are a lien on the property if the expenditures
18 ~~were are~~ approved in advance by ~~the a~~ judge and if the person
19 desires the lien. ~~The Unless an interested person has a~~
20 ~~contract with the owner providing for a different interest~~
21 ~~rate, the~~ lien shall bear interest at the rate provided for 22 judgments pursuant to section 535.3, and shall be payable upon
23 terms approved by the judge. If a certified copy of ~~the a~~
24 court order ~~that approved~~ approving the expenses and the terms
25 of payment for the lien, and a description of the property
26 in question, are filed ~~for~~ of record within thirty days of 27 the date of issuance of the order in the office of the county
28 recorder of the county in which the property is located, the 29 lien has the same priority as the mortgage of a receiver as 30 provided in section 657A.7.

31 ~~2- 3.~~ If the court determines by the date established
32 in subsection 1 or at the a hearing conducted pursuant 33 to subsection 1, on the sufficiency of a timely filed
34 rehabilitation plan that no interested person can undertake the 35 work and furnish the materials required to abate the public

1 nuisance, or if the court determines at any time after the
2 hearing that an interested person who is undertaking corrective
3 work pursuant to this section cannot or will not proceed, or
4 has not proceeded with due diligence, the court may appoint a
5 receiver to take possession and control of the property. The 6 receiver shall be appointed in the manner provided in section

7 657A.4.

8 4. If the building is a historic building or is located in 9 a designated historic district, the court shall give preference
10 to an economically feasible rehabilitation plan that preserves
11 the historical nature of the building.

12 5. Unless a receiver's mortgage provides for periodic
13 payments, a notice, in lieu of the notice pursuant to section
14 654.2D, shall also be served by ordinary or electronic mail
15 informing all interested persons of the date certain for the 16 maturity of the mortgage note, or the event triggering maturity
17 of the mortgage note, and that on maturity the receiver's
18 mortgage loan will be payable in full and the mortgagee may 19 then commence foreclosure without further notice. A notice
20 pursuant to section 654.4B shall also be served by ordinary or 21 electronic mail on the owner of record of the property. The 22 mortgagee shall not commence foreclosure of the mortgage until 23 sixty calendar days have passed since the date of service of a
24 notice under this subsection.

25 Sec. 8. Section 657A.4, Code 2019, is amended to read as
26 follows:

27 657A.4 Appointment of receiver.

28 ~~After conducting~~ If after expiration of a date established
29 pursuant to section 657A.3, subsection 1, or a hearing
30 pursuant to section 657A.3, the court may appoint a receiver
31 to take possession and control of the property in question.
32 A person shall not be appointed as a receiver unless the 33 person has first provided the court with a viable financial 34 and construction plan for the rehabilitation of the property
35 in question and has demonstrated the capacity and expertise

1 to perform the required work in a satisfactory manner. The
2 appointed receiver may be a financial institution that
3 possesses an interest of record in the property, a nonprofit
4 corporation that is duly organized and exists for the primary
5 purpose of improving housing conditions in the county or city
6 in which the property in question is located, or any person
7 deemed qualified by the court. No part of the net earnings of a
8 nonprofit corporation serving as a receiver under this section
9 shall benefit a private shareholder or individual. Membership
10 on the board of trustees of a nonprofit corporation does not 11 constitute the holding of a public office or employment and is 12 not an interest, either direct or indirect, in a contract or 13 expenditure of money by a city or county. No member of a board
14 of trustees of a nonprofit corporation appointed as receiver
15 is disqualified from holding public office or employment, nor 16 is a member required to forfeit public office or employment by 17 reason of the membership on the board of trustees.

18 Sec. 9. Section 657A.6, subsection 9, Code 2019, is amended
19 to read as follows:

20 9. Issue notes and secure the notes by mortgages bearing

21 interest at the rate provided for judgments pursuant to 22 section 535.3, and any terms and conditions as approved by 23 the court. The court may provide for a higher interest rate
24 if the receiver has established to the satisfaction of the 25 court that the receiver has sought financing from individuals
26 and institutions willing to lend money for rehabilitation
27 of property and that the terms proposed by the receiver are 28 reasonable. When transferred by the receiver in return for 29 valuable consideration ~~is~~ including money, material, labor,
30 or services, the notes issued by the receiver are freely
31 transferable. If the receiver has notice that the mortgagee
32 of the receiver's mortgage is contemplating a transfer of the 33 mortgage, the receiver shall disclose such to the court in the 34 application for approval of the mortgage.
35 Sec. 10. NEW SECTION. 657A.6A Receiver — prohibited acts.

1 Notwithstanding section 657A.10, it shall be unlawful, and a
2 receiver may be held liable for actual damages as determined
3 by a court, for entering a residential property that is not
4 abandoned for the purpose of forcing, intimidating, harassing,
5 or coercing a lawful occupant of the property to vacate in 6 order to render the property vacant and abandoned, and it shall
7 be unlawful to otherwise force, intimidate, harass, or coerce
8 a lawful occupant of a residential property to vacate so the 9 property may be deemed vacant and abandoned. A receiver who 10 peacefully enters a property for the purpose of rendering the 11 property vacant and abandoned shall be immune from liability
12 if the receiver makes a good-faith effort to comply with this 13 chapter and all terms of any applicable mortgage, lease, or 14 other agreement related to the occupancy of the building.

15 Sec. 11. Section 657A.7, subsection 1, Code 2019, is amended
16 to read as follows:

17 1. If the receiver's mortgage is filed ~~for~~ of record in 18 the office of the county recorder of the county in which the 19 property is located within sixty days of the issuance of a 20 secured note, the receiver's mortgage is a first lien upon the 21 property and is superior to claims of the receiver and to all
22 prior or subsequent liens and encumbrances except taxes and 23 assessments, including taxes and assessments advanced by any 24 mortgagee in the twelve-month period immediately preceding the 25 date a petition is filed pursuant to section 657A.2. Priority
26 among the receiver's mortgages is determined by the order in 27 which the mortgages are recorded.

28 Sec. 12. Section 657A.7, Code 2019, is amended by adding the
29 following new subsection:

30 NEW SUBSECTION. 3. If a mortgagee of the receiver's
31 mortgage begins foreclosure procedures pursuant to chapter 655A
32 and an interested party desires to pay off the mortgage loan,
33 the interested party shall also pay the mortgagee's reasonable
34 costs and attorney fees.

35 Sec. 13. Section 657A.8, Code 2019, is amended to read as

1 follows:

2 657A.8 Assessment of costs.

3 The court may assess the costs and expenses set out in
4 section 657A.6, subsection 2, and may approve receiver's fees
5 to the extent that the fees are not covered by the income
6 from the property. The receiver shall pay the costs and 7 reasonable attorney fees of a plaintiff who requested an 8 inspection pursuant to section 657A.1A unless an interested
9 party not in default who appeared for the inspection objects
10 to the fees and costs in whole or in part. The court shall 11 determine the merits of such objection. If the court finds 12 that a neighboring landowner has pursued an action pursuant to 13 this chapter in bad faith, the court may assess attorney fees
14 against the neighboring landowner and may bar such neighboring 15 landowner from filing future actions under this chapter. If a
16 foreclosure of the receiver's mortgage pursuant to chapter 655A
17 is contemplated, the court may retain jurisdiction to determine
18 the amount of attorney fees payable under section 657A.7,
19 subsection 3.

20 Sec. 14. Section 657A.10A, subsection 1, paragraph a, Code
21 2019, is amended to read as follows:

22 a. In lieu of the procedures in sections ~~657A.2~~ 657A.1A
23 through 657A.10 and 657A.10B, a city in which ~~an abandoned a~~
24 building that has been abandoned for at least six consecutive 25 months is located may petition the court to enter judgment
26 awarding title to the abandoned property to the city. A
27 petition filed under this section shall include the legal 28 description of the abandoned property. If more than one
29 abandoned building is located on a parcel of real estate, the 30 city may combine the actions into one petition. The owner of 31 the building and grounds, mortgagees of record, lienholders
32 of record, or other known persons who hold an interest in the 33 property shall be named as respondents on the petition.

34 Sec. 15. NEW SECTION. 657A.10B Applicability.

35 The provisions of sections 657A.1A through 657A.10 shall

1 only apply to cities and counties that have, by ordinance,
2 provided that the provisions shall apply.

3 Sec. 16. NEW SECTION. 657A.10C Petition for injunction.

4 As an alternative to the remedies under this chapter, a
5 city, or a county if a property that is alleged to be a public
6 nuisance is located outside the limits of a city, may petition
7 the court for an injunction that requires the owner of the 8 property to correct or eliminate the condition or violation
9 causing the public nuisance. Service of the original notice
10 shall be made as provided in section 657A.2, subsection 1.

- 11 Sec. 17. CODE EDITOR DIRECTIVE.
12 1. The Code editor is directed to renumber section 657A.10B,
13 as enacted in this Act, as section 657A.10A, and to renumber
14 section 657A.10A as section 657A.10B.
15 2. The Code editor shall correct internal references in the 16 Code and in any enacted legislation as necessary due to the 17 enactment of this section.>

7 as chairperson. If a chairperson of a judicial nominating
8 commission desires to be relieved of the duties of chairperson
9 while retaining the status of commissioner, the chairperson
10 shall notify the governor and the other commissioners of 11 the commission. At the next meeting of the commission, the 12 commissioners shall elect a new chairperson for the remainder
13 of the two-year term.

14 Sec. ____ Section 46.7, Code 2019, is amended to read as
15 follows:

16 46.7 Eligibility to vote.

17 To be eligible to vote in elections of district judicial 18 nominating commissioners, a member of the bar must be eligible

6 and who is the spouse of an active duty member of the military
7 forces of the United States.

8 b. If the board determines that the professional or 9 occupational licensing requirements of the state where 10 the spouse is licensed are substantially equivalent to the 11 licensing requirements of this state, the procedures shall 12 require the expedited licensing of the spouse in this state.

13 c. If the board determines that the professional or 14 occupational licensing requirements of the state where the 15 spouse is licensed are not substantially equivalent to the 16 professional or occupational licensing requirements of this
17 state, the procedures shall allow the provisional licensing
18 of the spouse for a period of time deemed necessary by the 19 board to obtain a substantial equivalent to the licensing
20 requirements of this state. The board shall advise the 21 spouse of required education or training necessary to obtain 22 a substantial equivalent to the professional or occupational 23 licensing requirements of this state, and the procedures shall

4 <Section 1. Section 335.3, Code 2019, is amended to read as
5 follows:
6 335.3 Powers.
7 1. Subject to section 335.2, the board of supervisors
8 may by ordinance regulate and restrict the height, number of 9 structures, and size of buildings and other structures, the 10 percentage of lot that may be occupied, the size of yards,
11 courts, and other open spaces, the density of population,
12 and the location and use of buildings, structures, and land

13 for trade, industry, residence, or other purposes, and may 14 regulate, restrict, and prohibit the use for residential 15 purposes of tents, trailers, and portable or potentially 16 portable structures. However, such powers shall be exercised 17 only with reference to land and structures located within the 18 county but lying outside of the corporate limits of any city.
19 2. When there is a replacement of a preexisting
20 manufactured, modular, or mobile home with another
21 manufactured, modular, or mobile home containing no more than 22 the original number of dwelling units, or a replacement of
23 a preexisting site-built dwelling unit with a manufactured,

28 of the property owner's lawful nonconforming use that had 29 existed relating to the preexisting home unless any of the 30 following apply:
31 a. A discontinuance is necessary for the safety of life or 32 property.
33 b. The nonconforming use has been discontinued for 34 the period of time established by ordinance, unless such 35 discontinuance is caused by circumstances outside the control

1 of the property owner. The period of time so established shall
2 be not less than one year.
3 c. The replacement results in the overall nature and
4 character of the present use being substantially or entirely
5 different from the original lawful preexisting nonconforming
6 use.
7 d. The replacement results in an obstruction to a shared
8 driveway or shared sidewalk providing vehicular or pedestrian
9 access to other homes and uses unless the property owner
10 makes modifications to such shared driveway or sidewalk
11 that extinguishes such obstruction or the effects of such 12 obstruction.
13 Sec. 2. Section 414.1, subsection 1, Code 2019, is amended

17 manufactured, modular, or mobile home containing no more than 18 the original number of dwelling units, or a replacement of
19 a preexisting site-built dwelling unit with a manufactured,
20 modular, or mobile home or site-built dwelling unit, within a
21 manufactured home community or a mobile home park, the city
22 shall not adopt or enforce any ordinance, regulation, or 23 restriction that would prevent the continuance of the property
24 owner's lawful nonconforming use that had existed relating to 25 the preexisting home unless any of the following apply:
26 (1) A discontinuance is necessary for the safety of life or

27 property.

28 (2) The nonconforming use has been discontinued for 29 the period of time established by ordinance, unless such
30 discontinuance is caused by circumstances outside the control
31 of the property owner. The period of time so established shall

4 <Section 1. Section 9B.1, Code 2019, is amended to read as
5 follows:

6 9B.1 Short title.

7 This chapter may be cited as the “Revised Uniform Law on 8 Notarial ~~Acts~~” Acts (2018)”.

9 Sec. 2. Section 9B.2, subsection 10, paragraph b, Code 2019,
10 is amended to read as follows:

11 b. “~~Personal~~ Except as provided in section 9B.14A, “personal 12 appearance” does not include appearances which require video,
13 optical, or technology with similar capabilities.

14 Sec. 3. Section 9B.2, Code 2019, is amended by adding the 15 following new subsections:

16 NEW SUBSECTION. 4A. “Instrument affecting real property”
17 means a written instrument conveying or encumbering real 18 property including an instrument affecting real estate as 19 defined in section 558.1 or any similar instrument provided in 20 chapter 558.

21 NEW SUBSECTION. 11A. “Remote facilitator” means a person
22 who participates in performing a notarial act under section
23 9B.14A, by doing any of the following:

24 a. Providing communication technology used by a public
25 notary or remotely located individual.
26 b. Creating, transmitting, or retaining audio-visual
27 recordings on behalf of a notary public.
28 Sec. 4. Section 9B.4, Code 2019, is amended by adding the
29 following new subsection:
30 NEW SUBSECTION. 2A. A notarial officer may certify that a 31 tangible copy of an electronic record is an accurate copy of 32 the electronic record as provided in section 9B.14A.
33 Sec. 5. Section 9B.6, Code 2019, is amended to read as
34 follows:
35 9B.6 Personal appearance required.

Page 2

1 1. If a notarial act relates to a statement made in or
2 a signature executed on a record, the individual making the
3 statement or executing the signature shall appear personally
4 before the notarial officer.
5 2. This section is satisfied by a remotely located
6 individual using communication technology to appear before a
7 notary public as provided in section 9B.14A.
8 Sec. 6. NEW SECTION. 9B.14A Notarial act performed for 9 remotely located individual.
10 1. As used in this section unless the context otherwise
11 requires:
12 a. "Communication technology" means an electronic device or 13 process that does all of the following:
14 (1) Allows a notary public and a remotely located individual 15 to communicate with each other simultaneously by sight and 16 sound.
17 (2) When necessary and consistent with other applicable
18 law, facilitates communication with a remotely located
19 individual who has a vision, hearing, or speech impairment.
20 b. "Foreign state" means a jurisdiction other than the 21 United States, a state, or a federally recognized Indian tribe.
22 c. "Identity proofing" means a process or service by which 23 a third person provides a notary public with a means to verify
24 the identity of a remotely located individual by a review of 25 personal information from public or private data sources.
26 d. "Outside the United States" means a location outside
27 the geographic boundaries of the United States, Puerto Rico,
28 the United States Virgin Islands, and any territory, insular
29 possession, or other location subject to the jurisdiction of 30 the United States.
31 e. "Remotely located individual" means an individual who is 32 not in the physical presence of the notary public who performs
33 a notarial act under subsection 3.
34 2. A remotely located individual may comply with section
35 9B.6 by using communication technology to appear before a

1 notary public.
2 3. A notary public located in this state may perform a
3 notarial act using communication technology for a remotely
4 located individual if all of the following applies:
5 a. The notary public has any of the following:
6 (1) Personal knowledge under section 9B.7, subsection 1, of 7 the identity of the individual.
8 (2) Satisfactory evidence of the identity of the remotely
9 located individual by oath or affirmation from a credible
10 witness appearing before the notary public under section 9B.7,
11 subsection 2, or this section.
12 (3) Obtained satisfactory evidence of the identity of the 13 remotely located individual by using at least two different
14 types of identity proofing.
15 b. The notary public is able reasonably to confirm that a 16 record before the notary public is the same record in which the 17 remotely located individual made a statement or on which the 18 individual executed a signature.
19 c. The notary public, or a person acting on behalf of 20 the notary public, creates an audio-visual recording of the 21 performance of the notarial act.
22 d. For a remotely located individual located outside the 23 United States, all of the following applies:
24 (1) The record complies with any of the following:
25 (a) Is to be filed with or relates to a matter before a
26 public official or court, governmental entity, or other entity
27 subject to the jurisdiction of the United States.
28 (b) Involves property located in the territorial
29 jurisdiction of the United States or involves a transaction
30 substantially connected with the United States.
31 (2) The act of making the statement or signing the record
32 is not prohibited by the foreign state in which the remotely
33 located individual is located.
34 4. If a notarial act is performed under this section, the 35 certificate of notarial act required by section 9B.15 and the

1 short-form certificate provided in section 9B.16 must indicate
2 that the notarial act was performed using communication
3 technology.
4 5. A short-form certificate provided in section 9B.16 for a
5 notarial act subject to this section is sufficient if any of 6 the following applies:
7 a. It complies with rules adopted under subsection 8,
8 paragraph "a".
9 b. It is in the form provided in section 9B.16 and contains
10 a statement substantially as follows: "This notarial act
11 involved the use of communication technology".
12 6. A notary public, a guardian, conservator, or agent of

13 a notary public, or a personal representative of a deceased
14 notary public shall retain the audio-visual recording created
15 under subsection 3, paragraph “c”, or cause the recording
16 to be retained by a repository designated by or on behalf
17 of the person required to retain the recording. Unless a
18 different period is required by rule adopted under subsection
19 8, paragraph “d”, the recording must be retained for a period of 20 at least ten years after the recording is made.

21 7. Before a notary public performs the notary public’s
22 initial notarial act under this section, the notary public
23 must notify the secretary of state that the notary public will 24 be performing notarial acts with respect to remotely located
25 individuals and identify the technologies the notary public
26 intends to use. If the secretary of state has established
27 standards under subsection 8 and section 9B.27 for approval
28 of communication technology or identity proofing, the 29 communication technology and identity proofing must conform to 30 the standards.

31 8. In addition to adopting rules under section 9B.27, the 32 secretary of state may adopt rules under this section regarding 33 performance of a notarial act. The rules may do all of the 34 following:

35 a. Prescribe the means and process, including training

Page 5

1 requirements, of performing a notarial act involving a remotely
2 located individual using communication technology.

3 b. Establish standards for communication technology and 4 identity proofing.

5 c. Establish requirements or procedures to approve providers
6 of communication technology and the process of identity
7 proofing.

8 d. Establish standards and a period for the retention of an
9 audio-visual recording created under subsection 3, paragraph 10 “c”.

11 9. Before adopting, amending, or repealing a rule governing
12 performance of a notarial act with respect to a remotely
13 located individual, the secretary of state must consider all
14 of the following:

15 a. The most recent standards regarding the performance of 16 a notarial act with respect to a remotely located individual
17 promulgated by national standard-setting organizations and the 18 recommendations of the national association of secretaries of 19 state.

20 b. Standards, practices, and customs of other jurisdictions
21 that have laws substantially similar to this section.

22 c. The views of governmental officials and entities and 23 other interested persons.

24 10. By allowing its communication technology or identity
25 proofing to facilitate a notarial act for a remotely located
26 individual or by providing storage of the audio-visual

27 recording created under subsection 3, paragraph “c”, the 28 provider of the communication technology, identity proofing,
29 or storage appoints the secretary of state as the provider’s
30 agent for service of process in any civil action in this state
31 related to the notarial act.

32 10A. A document purporting to convey or encumber real 33 property that has been recorded by the county recorder for the 34 jurisdiction in which the real property is located, although 35 the document may not have been certified according to this

1 section, shall give the same notice to third persons and be
2 effective from the time of recording as if the document had
3 been certified according to this section.

4 10B. A notary public who performs a notarial act under this
5 section must be duly commissioned under and remain subject to 6 the requirements of section 9B.21 and all other applicable
7 requirements of this chapter.

8 Sec. 7. NEW SECTION. 9B.14B Remote facilitator.

9 To be eligible to directly facilitate a notarial act using 10 communication technology for a remotely located individual as 11 provided in section 9B.14A, a remote facilitator must designate
12 and continuously maintain in this state one of the following:

13 1. Its usual place of business in this state.

14 2. A registered office, which need not be a place of its 15 activity in this state, or a registered agent for service of 16 process, as required by the secretary of state. In addition,
17 the remote facilitator shall file a foreign entity authority
18 statement with the secretary of state. The statement shall 19 describe the current street and mailing address of the 20 registered office or the name and current street and mailing
21 address of the remote facilitator’s registered agent.

22 Sec. 8. NEW SECTION. 9B.14C Use of information.

23 1. a. As used in this section, unless the context
24 otherwise requires, “personally identifiable information” means
25 information about or pertaining to an individual in a record
26 which identifies the individual, and includes information that 27 can be used to distinguish or trace an individual’s identity,
28 either alone or when combined with other information.

29 b. “Personally identifiable information” includes but is 30 not limited to a person’s photograph, social security number,
31 driver’s license number, name, address, and telephone number.

32 2. A notary public or a remote facilitator shall not sell,
33 offer for sale, use, or transfer to another person personally
34 identifiable information collected in the course of performing 35 a notarial act for any purpose other than as follows:

1 a. As required to perform the notarial act.

2 b. As necessary to effect, administer, enforce, service, or

3 process the transaction for which the personally identifiable
4 information was provided.

5 3. Subsection 2 does not apply to the transfer of personally
6 identifiable information to another person in any of the 7 following circumstances:

8 a. Upon written consent of the person for the use or release
9 of that person's personally identifiable information.

10 b. In response to a court order, subpoena, or other legal 11 process compelling disclosure.

12 c. As part of a change in the form of a business entity's
13 organization or a change in the control of a business
14 entity, including as a result of an acquisition, merger, or 15 consolidation. However, any reorganized or successor business
16 entity shall comply with the same requirements as provided in
17 subsection 2.

18 4. A person who violates this section is guilty of a simple
19 misdemeanor.

20 Sec. 9. Section 9B.20, Code 2019, is amended by adding the
21 following new subsection:

22 NEW SUBSECTION. 2A. The office of the recorder of a county
23 in which real estate is located may accept for recording
24 a tangible copy of an electronic record of an instrument
25 affecting real property, if the electronic record is evidenced 26 by a certificate of a notarial act pursuant to section 9B.15.

20 PUBLIC ASSISTANCE PROGRAM ACCOUNTABILITY — MEDICAID MANAGED
21 CARE EXTERNAL REVIEW

22 Sec. ____ MEDICAID MANAGED CARE ORGANIZATION APPEALS
23 PROCESS — EXTERNAL REVIEW.

24 1. a. A Medicaid managed care organization under contract
25 with the state shall include in any written response to 26 a Medicaid provider under contract with the managed care
27 organization that reflects a final adverse determination of the 28 managed care organization's internal appeal process relative to 29 an appeal filed by the Medicaid provider, all of the following:

30 (1) A statement that the Medicaid provider's internal 31 appeal rights within the managed care organization have been 32 exhausted.

33 (2) A statement that the Medicaid provider is entitled to 34 an external independent third-party review pursuant to this 35 section.

1 (3) The requirements for requesting an external independent
2 third-party review.

3 b. If a managed care organization's written response does
4 not comply with the requirements of paragraph "a", the managed
5 care organization shall pay to the affected Medicaid provider a
6 penalty not to exceed one thousand dollars.

7 2. a. A Medicaid provider who has been denied the provision
8 of a service to a Medicaid member or a claim for reimbursement
9 for a service rendered to a Medicaid member, and who has 10 exhausted the internal appeals process of a managed care
11 organization, shall be entitled to an external independent
12 third-party review of the managed care organization's final
13 adverse determination.

14 b. To request an external independent third-party review of 15 a final adverse determination by a managed care organization,
16 an aggrieved Medicaid provider shall submit a written request
17 for such review to the managed care organization within sixty
18 calendar days of receiving the final adverse determination.

19 c. A Medicaid provider's request for such review shall 20 include all of the following:

21 (1) Identification of each specific issue and dispute
22 directly related to the final adverse determination issued by 23 the managed care organization.

24 (2) A statement of the basis upon which the Medicaid
25 provider believes the managed care organization's determination
26 to be erroneous.

27 (3) The Medicaid provider's designated contact information, 28 including name, mailing address, phone number, fax number, and 29 email address.

30 3. a. Within five business days of receiving a Medicaid
31 provider's request for review pursuant to this subsection, the 32 managed care organization shall do all of the following:
33 (1) Confirm to the Medicaid provider's designated contact,
34 in writing, that the managed care organization has received the 35 request for review.

1 (2) Notify the department of the Medicaid provider's
2 request for review.

3 (3) Notify the affected Medicaid member of the Medicaid
4 provider's request for review, if the review is related to the 5 denial of a service.

6 b. If the managed care organization fails to satisfy the
7 requirements of this subsection 3, the Medicaid provider shall
8 automatically prevail in the review.

9 4. a. Within fifteen calendar days of receiving a Medicaid
10 provider's request for external independent third-party review,
11 the managed care organization shall do all of the following:

12 (1) Submit to the department all documentation submitted
13 by the Medicaid provider in the course of the managed care
14 organization's internal appeal process.

15 (2) Provide the managed care organization's designated
16 contact information, including name, mailing address, phone
17 number, fax number, and email address.

18 b. If a managed care organization fails to satisfy the 19 requirements of this subsection 4, the Medicaid provider shall
20 automatically prevail in the review.

21 5. An external independent third-party review shall 22 automatically extend the deadline to file an appeal for a
23 contested case hearing under chapter 17A, pending the outcome
24 of the external independent third-party review, until thirty 25 calendar days following receipt of the review decision by the 26 Medicaid provider.

27 6. Upon receiving notification of a request for external 28 independent third-party review, the department shall do all of 29 the following:

30 a. Assign the review to an external independent third-party
31 reviewer.

32 b. Notify the managed care organization of the identity of 33 the external independent third-party reviewer.

34 c. Notify the Medicaid provider's designated contact of the 35 identity of the external independent third-party reviewer.

1 7. The department shall deny a request for an external
2 independent third-party review if the requesting Medicaid
3 provider fails to exhaust the managed care organization's
4 internal appeals process or fails to submit a timely request

5 for an external independent third-party review pursuant to this
6 subsection.

7 8. a. Multiple appeals through the external independent
8 third-party review process regarding the same Medicaid
9 member, a common question of fact, or interpretation of common
10 applicable regulations or reimbursement requirements may 11 be combined and determined in one action upon request of a 12 party in accordance with rules and regulations adopted by the 13 department.

14 b. The Medicaid provider that initiated a request for 15 an external independent third-party review, or one or more
16 other Medicaid providers, may add claims to such an existing 17 external independent third-party review following exhaustion
18 of any applicable managed care organization internal appeals
19 process, if the claims involve a common question of fact 20 or interpretation of common applicable regulations or 21 reimbursement requirements.

22 9. Documentation reviewed by the external independent
23 third-party reviewer shall be limited to documentation
24 submitted pursuant to subsection 4.

25 10. An external independent third-party reviewer shall do
26 all of the following:

27 a. Conduct an external independent third-party review
28 of any claim submitted to the reviewer pursuant to this
29 subsection.

30 b. Within thirty calendar days from receiving the request
31 for review from the department and the documentation submitted
32 pursuant to subsection 4, issue the reviewer's final decision
33 to the Medicaid provider's designated contact, the managed 34 care organization's designated contact, the department, and 35 the affected Medicaid member if the decision involves a denial

1 of service. The reviewer may extend the time to issue a final
2 decision by fourteen calendar days upon agreement of all
3 parties to the review.

4 11. The department shall enter into a contract with
5 an independent review organization that does not have a
6 conflict of interest with the department or any managed care
7 organization to conduct the independent third-party reviews
8 under this section.

9 a. A party, including the affected Medicaid member or 10 Medicaid provider, may appeal a final decision of the external
11 independent third-party reviewer in a contested case proceeding
12 in accordance with chapter 17A within thirty calendar days from 13 receiving the final decision. A final decision in a contested
14 case proceeding is subject to judicial review.

15 b. The final decision of any external independent
16 third-party review conducted pursuant to this subsection shall 17 also direct the nonprevailing party to pay an amount equal to 18 the costs of the review to the external independent third-party

reviewer. Any payment ordered pursuant to this subsection shall be stayed pending any appeal of the review. If the final outcome of any appeal is to reverse the decision of the external independent third-party review, the nonprevailing party shall pay the costs of the review to the external independent third-party reviewer within forty-five calendar days of entry of the final order.

4 <Sec. ____ Section 822.3, Code 2019, is amended to read as
5 follows:
6 822.3 How to commence proceeding — limitation.
7 A proceeding is commenced by filing an application verified
8 by the applicant with the clerk of the district court in 9 which the conviction or sentence took place. However, if the 10 applicant is seeking relief under section 822.2, subsection 1,
11 paragraph “f”, the application shall be filed with the clerk
12 of the district court of the county in which the applicant
13 is being confined within ninety days from the date the 14 disciplinary decision is final. All other applications must 15 be filed within three years from the date the conviction or 16 decision is final or, in the event of an appeal, from the date
17 the writ of procedendo is issued. However, this limitation
18 does not apply to a ground of fact or law that could not have 19 been raised within the applicable time period. An allegation
20 of ineffective assistance of counsel in a prior case under this 21 chapter shall not toll or extend the limitation periods in this 22 section nor shall such claim relate back to a prior filing to 23 avoid the application of the limitation periods. Facts within 24 the personal knowledge of the applicant and the authenticity
25 of all documents and exhibits included in or attached to the 26 application must be sworn to affirmatively as true and correct.
27 The supreme court may prescribe the form of the application and 28 verification. The clerk shall docket the application upon its 29 receipt and promptly bring it to the attention of the court
30 and deliver a copy to the county attorney and the attorney
31 general.>

- 1 Amend Senate File 528 as follows:

- 2 1. Page 7, after line 25 by inserting:

3 <Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 578B.10 Disclosure of flood zone.

4 Prior to the execution of a rental agreement, an operator
5 must disclose to the potential occupant if the storage facility
6 is located in a flood zone as defined by the federal emergency
7 management agency as a “special flood hazard area” in 44
8 C.F.R. pt. 61, Appendix A(3). The disclosure must be made in 9 a separate paragraph in a bold, twelve-point, non-serif font.
10 If the storage facility is located in a “special flood hazard
11 area”, the disclosure must recommend that the prospective
12 occupant purchase flood insurance.

13 Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 578B.11 Disclosure of damage to 14 personal property.

15 If the operator knows, or should reasonably know, that an 16 occupant’s personal property has been damaged, the operator
17 must disclose the damage to the occupant by verified mail as 18 soon as possible but not later than three business days.

19 Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 578B.12 Fire, flood, or other
20 casualty damage.

21 1. If the leased space is damaged or destroyed by fire,
22 flood, or other casualty to an extent that enjoyment of the 23 leased space is substantially impaired, the occupant may do
24 either of the following:

25 a. As soon as is practicable, remove all personal property
26 from the leased space and notify the operator in writing within 27 fourteen days of the occupant learning of the fire, flood, or 28 other casualty of the occupant’s intention to terminate the 29 rental agreement, in which case the rental agreement terminates
30 as of the date of vacating.

31 b. If continued use of a portion of the leased space is 32 practicable, the occupant has the sole discretion to elect to 33 terminate under paragraph “a” or to vacate any part of the 34 leased space rendered unusable by the fire, flood, or casualty, 35 in which case the occupant’s liability for rent is reduced in

Page 2

- 1 proportion to the diminution in the fair rental value of the
- 2 leased space.

- 3 2. If the rental agreement is terminated, the operator shall
- 4 return all prepaid rent and security. In accounting for rent
- 5 in the event of termination or apportionment, the termination

6 or apportionment is effective as of the date of the fire,
7 flood, or other casualty.>

1 Amend Senate File 589 as follows:

2 1. Page 11, after line 23 by inserting:

3 <Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 704A.1 Restriction on the defense
4 of provocation.

5 For purposes of determining sudden, violent, and
6 irresistible passion resulting from serious provocation
7 sufficient to excite such passion in a person, the provocation
8 was not objectively reasonable if it resulted from the 9 discovery of, knowledge about, or potential disclosure of 10 another person's actual or perceived gender, gender identity, 11 gender expression, or sexual orientation, including under 12 circumstances in which the other person made an unwanted,
13 nonforcible, romantic or sexual advance towards the person, or 14 if the person and the other person dated or had a romantic or 15 sexual relationship. This section shall not preclude a jury
16 from considering all relevant facts to determine whether the 17 person was in fact provoked for purposes of establishing a
18 provocation defense.

19 Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 704A.2 Restriction on the defense
20 of diminished capacity.

21 A person does not suffer from reduced mental capacity based 22 on the discovery of, knowledge about, or potential disclosure
23 of another person's actual or perceived gender, gender
24 identity, gender expression, or sexual orientation, including
25 under circumstances in which the other person made an unwanted,
26 nonforcible, romantic or sexual advance towards the person, or
27 if the person and the other person dated or had a romantic or 28 sexual relationship.

29 Sec. ____ NEW SECTION. 704A.3 Restriction on the defense of 30 self-defense.

31 A person is not justified in using force against another
32 person based upon the discovery of, knowledge about, or 33 potential disclosure of another person's actual or perceived
34 gender, gender identity, gender expression, or sexual 35 orientation, including under circumstances in which the other

- 4 CONTROLLED SUBSTANCES
- 5 Sec. ____ Section 124.401, subsection 5, Code 2019, is
- 6 amended to read as follows:
- 7 5. It is unlawful for any person knowingly or intentionally
- 8 to possess a controlled substance unless such substance was
- 9 obtained directly from, or pursuant to, a valid prescription
- 10 or order of a practitioner while acting in the course of the
- 11 practitioner’s professional practice, or except as otherwise
- 12 authorized by this chapter. Any Except as otherwise provided
- 13 in this subsection, any person who violates this subsection
- 14 is guilty of a serious misdemeanor for a first offense. A
- 15 person who commits a violation of this subsection and who has
- 16 previously been convicted of violating this chapter or chapter
- 17 124B or 453B, or chapter 124A as it existed prior to July 1,
- 18 2017, is guilty of an aggravated misdemeanor. A person who
- 19 commits a violation of this subsection and has previously
- 20 been convicted two or more times of violating this chapter or
- 21 chapter 124B or 453B, or chapter 124A as it existed prior to
- 22 July 1, 2017, is guilty of a class “D” felony.

23 a. (1) ~~If Except as otherwise provided in subparagraph (4),~~
24 if the controlled substance is marijuana, the punishment shall 25 be by imprisonment in the county jail for not more than six
26 months or by a fine of not more than one thousand dollars, or by 27 both such fine and imprisonment for a first offense.
28 (2) If the controlled substance is marijuana and the person
29 has been previously convicted of a violation of this subsection
30 in which the controlled substance was marijuana, the punishment
31 shall be as provided in section 903.1, subsection 1, paragraph 32 "b".
33 (3) If the controlled substance is marijuana and the person
34 has been previously convicted two or more times of a violation 35 of this subsection in which the controlled substance was

1 marijuana, the person is guilty of an aggravated misdemeanor.
2 (4) If the controlled substance is marijuana and is five
3 grams or less and subparagraphs (2) and (3) do not apply, the 4 person is guilty of a simple misdemeanor.
5 b. A person may knowingly or intentionally recommend,
6 possess, use, dispense, deliver, transport, or administer
7 cannabidiol if the recommendation, possession, use, dispensing,
8 delivery, transporting, or administering is in accordance 9 with the provisions of chapter 124E. For purposes of this
10 paragraph, "cannabidiol" means the same as defined in section
11 124E.2.
12 c. All or any part of a sentence imposed pursuant to 13 this subsection may be suspended and the person placed upon
14 probation upon such terms and conditions as the court may 15 impose including the active participation by such person in a
16 drug treatment, rehabilitation or education program approved
17 by the court.
18 d. If a person commits a violation of this subsection, the 19 court shall order the person to serve a term of imprisonment of 20 not less than forty-eight hours. Any sentence imposed may be 21 suspended, and the court shall place the person on probation
22 upon such terms and conditions as the court may impose. If 23 the person is not sentenced to confinement under the custody
24 of the director of the department of corrections, the terms
25 and conditions of probation shall require submission to random
26 drug testing. If the person fails a drug test, the court may 27 transfer the person's placement to any appropriate placement
28 permissible under the court order.
29 e. If the controlled substance is amphetamine, its salts, 30 isomers, or salts of its isomers, or methamphetamine, its 31 salts, isomers, or salts of its isomers, the court shall order
32 the person to serve a term of imprisonment of not less than 33 forty-eight hours. Any sentence imposed may be suspended, 34 and the court shall place the person on probation upon such 35 terms and conditions as the court may impose. The court may

- 1 Amend Senate File 283 as follows:
2 1. By striking everything after the enacting clause and
3 inserting:
4 <Section 1. Section 279.7A, Code 2019, is amended to read
5 as follows:
6 279.7A Interest in public contracts prohibited — exceptions.
7 1. A member of the board of directors of a school
8 corporation shall not have an interest, direct or indirect, in 9 a contract for the purchase of goods, including materials and 10 profits, and the performance of services for the director's
11 school corporation. A contract entered into in violation of 12 this section is void.
13 2. This section does not apply to contracts for the 14 purchase of goods or services which benefit a director, or 15 to compensation for part-time or temporary employment which 16 benefits a director, if the benefit to the director does not
17 exceed two thousand five hundred dollars or the optional
18 threshold amount in a fiscal year, and contracts made by 19 a school board, upon competitive bid in writing, publicly
20 invited and opened. For purposes of this subsection, "optional 21 threshold amount" means six thousand dollars for a purchase of 22 goods and services if the purchase is approved by the board
23 following public notice and without the vote of any benefitted

24 director.

25 3. This section does not apply to a contract that is a
26 bond, note, or other obligation of a school corporation if the 27 contract is not acquired directly from the school corporation,
28 but is acquired in a transaction with a third party, who may 29 or may not be the original underwriter, purchaser, or obligee
30 of the contract, or to a contract in which a director has an 31 interest solely by reason of employment if the contract is made 32 by competitive bid in writing, publicly invited and opened, or 33 if the remuneration of employment will not be directly affected
34 as a result of the contract and the duties of employment do not 35 directly involve the procurement or preparation of any part of

1 the contract.

2 4. The competitive bid qualification of this section
3 does not apply to a contract for professional services not
4 customarily awarded by competitive bid.

5 Sec. 2. Section 331.342, subsection 1, Code 2019, is amended
6 to read as follows:

7 1. As used in this section, ~~“contract”~~;

8 a. “Contract” means a claim, account, or demand against
9 or agreement with a county, express or implied, other than a
10 contract to serve as an officer or employee of the county.
11 However, contracts subject to section 314.2 are not subject to 12 this section.

13 b. “Optional threshold amount” means six thousand dollars
14 for a purchase of goods and services if the purchase is 15 approved by the county following public notice and without the 16 vote of any benefitted officer or employee of the county.

17 Sec. 3. Section 331.342, subsection 2, paragraph j, Code
18 2019, is amended to read as follows:

19 j. Contracts not otherwise permitted by this section, for 20 the purchase of goods or services by a county, which benefit a 21 county officer or employee, if the purchases benefiting that 22 officer or employee do not exceed a cumulative total purchase
23 price of one thousand five hundred dollars or the optional
24 threshold amount in a fiscal year.

25 Sec. 4. Section 362.5, subsection 1, Code 2019, is amended
26 to read as follows:

27 1. When used in this section, ~~“contract”~~;

28 a. “Contract” means any claim, account, or demand against or 29 agreement with a city, express or implied.

30 b. “Optional threshold amount” means six thousand dollars
31 for a purchase of goods and services if the purchase is 32 approved by the city following public notice and without the 33 vote of any benefitted officer or employee of the city.

34 Sec. 5. Section 362.5, subsection 3, paragraphs j and k,
35 Code 2019, are amended to read as follows:

1 j. Contracts not otherwise permitted by this section, for
2 the purchase of goods or services by a city having a population
3 of more than two thousand five hundred, which benefit a city
4 officer or employee, if the purchases benefiting that officer
5 or employee do not exceed a cumulative total purchase price of 6 one thousand five hundred dollars or the optional threshold
7 amount in a fiscal year.

8 k. Contracts not otherwise permitted by this section for
9 the purchase of goods or services by a city having a population
10 of two thousand five hundred or less, which benefit a city
11 officer or employee, if the purchases benefiting that officer
12 or employee do not exceed a cumulative total purchase price of 13 two thousand five hundred dollars or the optional threshold
14 amount in a fiscal year.>

4 <Section 1. NEW SECTION. 633F.1 Definitions.

5 1. “Agent” means a person granted authority to act for a
6 parent, guardian, or legal custodian under a power of attorney
7 created under this chapter.

8 2. “Child” means a person under eighteen years of age.

9 3. “Power of attorney” means a writing that grants authority
10 to an agent to act in the place of a parent, guardian, or legal 11 custodian regarding the care or custody of a child.

12 Sec. 2. NEW SECTION. 633F.2 Power of attorney — temporary
13 delegation of parental authority.

14 1. A parent, guardian, or legal custodian of a child, by a
15 properly executed power of attorney, may delegate to another
16 person any authority regarding the care or custody of the child
17 except for any of the following powers:

18 a. The power to consent to the child’s marriage.

19 b. The power to consent to the child’s adoption.

20 c. The power to consent to the performance or inducement of 21 an abortion on or for the child.

22 d. The power to consent to the termination of the parental
23 rights of a parent of the child.

24 e. The power to transfer the power of attorney to another
25 person unless the other person is designated as a successor
26 agent in the power of attorney.

27 2. A power of attorney executed under this chapter must be 28 signed by all parents, guardians, and legal custodians. The 29 power of attorney must be acknowledged before a notary public
30 or other individual authorized by law to take acknowledgments.
31 An agent named in the power of attorney shall not notarize the 32 principal's signature. An acknowledged signature on a power of 33 attorney is presumed to be genuine.

34 3. A parent, guardian, or legal custodian of the child shall 35 have the authority to revoke or terminate a power of attorney
