This is the first comprehensive study in recent years of the degree programs offered at Iowa institutions of higher education, in relation to the degrees conferred in each major field. The project was funded by a comprehensive planning grant under Title I of the Higher Education Facilities Act (1963), as amended, from the Division of Academic Facilities, U. S. Office of Education.

Data was provided by the Iowa colleges, universities and area community colleges for the academic year 1970-71 on a survey form devised by the Higher Education Facilities Commission. All institutions were given the opportunity to review the data prior to publication to insure the greatest possible accuracy. Throughout the text of this report, the term "degree" is used generically to denote all types of degrees, certificates, diplomas, and completions.

An earlier HEFC-sponsored study¹ reported on the number of degrees conferred by major subject field during the academic year 1968-69, providing an interesting basis for comparison with the current data.

It is the Commission's hope that the information provided in these studies will be useful to policy makers at the state level, to students, to high school and college administrators, and to business and industrial planners throughout the state.

The number of degrees conferred by Iowa public universities has increased by 22.7 per cent during the past two years, while the degrees granted by private 4-year colleges have remained stable. Certificates and associate degrees awarded by Iowa public community colleges have gained by 17 per cent.

This growth in the number of students completing degree requirements becomes even more significant when compared to 1968 and 1970 fall enrollments at the three types of institutions. Enrollments at the public universities have increased by 7.1 per cent, 4-year private college enrollments have dropped by 1.8 per cent, and community college enrollments have expanded by 23.5 per cent during the two-year period, according to figures published annually by the Iowa College Presidents' Association and the Department of Public Instruction.

It is worthy of note, too, that 1,910 more degrees were granted to women in 1970-71 than in 1968-69 — a proportionate increase of 2.7 per cent of the total degrees granted in each of the two periods. The underlying reasons for these trends might be a provocative topic for further study.

Using statistics from an earlier Higher Education Facilities Commission publication, A Profile of Iowa College and High School Students (1969), the following table draws a comparison between degrees conferred in 1968-69 and in 1970-71:

	1968-69		1970-71		% of Change
	#	%	#	%
Regents institutions	9,162	40.8	11,246	44.0	22.7
Private 4-year colleges	7,371	32.8	7,365	28.9	----
Public community colleges	5,924	26.4	6,927	27.1	17.0
Degrees earned by females	8,887	39.5	10,787	42.2	21.5
Degrees earned by males	13,580	60.5	14,751	57.8	8.6

Comparative data for the College of Osteopathic Medicine and Surgery, the two-year private colleges, and the private business schools are omitted from the above statistics as 1968-69 data for these institutions were not included in the 1969 publication.

An analysis of all degrees conferred during 1970-71 academic year shows that:

- 7,344 (27.8%) were associate degrees, certificates, or diplomas requiring less than four years
- 14,668 (55.5%) were baccalaureate degrees
- 2,651 (10.0%) were masters degrees
- 1,018 (3.9%) were doctoral degrees
- 749 (2.8%) were other degrees or completions

An analysis of the degree programs offered in institutions of higher education in Iowa during 1970-71 academic year shows the following:

14 were programs leading to associate degrees, certificates, and diplomas requiring less than four years of study

24 were baccalaureate degree programs

21 were master and specialist degree programs

8 were doctoral degree programs
