How Telebridge Works

- Microphones and speakers are used by students and instructors to interact and create a "statewide" (audioconferencing) classroom.
- Each site has a facilitator to serve as the nonformal educational settings. Major topics to be covered during the course will be as follows: concepts of being adult, conditions of adulthood as factors in instruction, characteristics and circumstances affecting adults as learners, theories of instruction for adult and continuing education, and techniques of instruction appropriate for adult learners. The structure of the course will combine class sessions via the Telebridge system with individualized independent study activities.

Tuition: $81 per semester hour (undergraduate status) or $103 per semester hour (graduate status), billed by The University of Iowa.

Registration deadline: August 28, 1987. To inquire about registering after the deadline, phone one of the numbers listed below.

equipment. Compensation for facilitators is by way of partial tuition credit. If you are interested in being considered as the facilitator at your site, please check the appropriate box on the registration form.

- Information about local facilities, ordering of textbooks and further details about the course will be sent to each student after the registration deadline.

Please note: If you are interested in having one of the courses offered in your community also, phone the Center for Credit Programs at 1-800-272-6430 (toll free in Iowa).
